DATE OF HEARING: July 07, 2000 Toronto

DECISION AND REASONS

This is an appeal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal by the Applicant respecting a decision of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Respondent") pursuant to section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act (Ontario).

EXHIBITS:

By the Applicant:

a) Exhibit # 1 Notice of Appeal - received June 9, 2000

By the Respondent:

b) Exhibit # 2 Ministry of Transportation submissions – tabs 1 – 10
- received June 22, 2000.

PRELIMINARY MATTERS:

The Representative of the Ministry provided the Tribunal with a file summary with respect to this matter, as well as certified copies of documents on file.

FACTS:

The Applicant is appealing the suspension of his driver's licence effective '99 12 10" (Exhibit # 1).

The Applicant came to the attention of the Ministry as a result of an unsolicited Medical Report from Physician # 1. Physician # 1 reports that the Applicant "...fell asleep at the wheel investigation to follow ...alcohol problem but abstinent x 2 mth..." (Exhibit # 2 Tab 1)

In a hand written note, dated "Jan 25/00," Physician # 1 explains that "... At the time of his accident he was not under the influence ...had had a GI bleed ...and I believe the reason for his accident was his anemia and therefore fatigue ...he is an alcoholic but I have never been concerned about drinking and driving otherwise I would have recommended a suspension a long time ago." (Exhibit # 2 Tab 3 A)

MINISTRY OF TRANSPORTATION ASSESSMENT FORM, dated January 10, 2000, completed by Physician # 1, the Applicant's physician since 1986, reports as follows:

1. "YES" is checked under "Personal Health History" for "Addictions" and "Hospitalizations within last 12 months".
2. Under Medical Consequences Related to Alcohol Use, "Liver Disease" is indicated
3. According to the "PHYSICAL ASSESSMENT AND LABORATORY EVALUATION," "...Blood Pressure - NORMAL 130-140/60- 70; LIVER - see form; GGT 48; MCV NORMAL 89".
4. Under the heading 'DSM-IV CRITERIA FOR ALCOHOL DEPENDENCE, " number "7 - Continued drinking despite knowledge of alcohol related physical or psychological problems," was circled.
5. The "RECOMMEND GOAL FOR ALCOHOL CONSUMPTION - REDUCED DRINKING" (Exhibit # 2 Tab 6)

MEDICAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE CASE STUDY, dated February 4, 2000, upheld suspension. (Exhibit # 2 Tab 4)

ADMINISTRATIVE REVIEW - MEDICAL SUSPENSIONS, dated "March 3 2000," completed by Harry Ansara, details the Applicant's history as explained by the Applicant. The Applicant states that "...when the owner of his apartment building didn't see him for two days, the paramedics were called ...taken to Queensway Hospital ...transferred to Toronto Western Hospital leaving the hospital after two days..." (Exhibit # 2 Tab 6)

In a second hand written note, dated "March 12/00", Physician # 1, asserts that "...had upper GI bleed ...caused him to be extremely anemic ...the Ministry has decided that his alcohol problem has affected his driving, which is not the case ...I was told by the Ministry that he has drinking and driving offences. This is not true. I am appalled at the response I have gotten from the Ministry when asked as a physician to consult with another physician about his case ...No one has returned my calls..." (Exhibit # 2 Tab 6 a)

MEDICAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE CASE STUDY, dated April 20, 2000, upheld suspension, on the grounds that the Applicant is "...Still Drinking; No Formal Treatment or Relapse Programs; Liver Disease..." (Exhibit # 2 Tab 7)

Exhibit # 2 Tab 10, Ministry of Transportation driving record for the Applicant since 1977, shows no infractions.

The Respondent, at the hearing, relied on the information contained in the documents presented for the hearing, entered as Exhibit # 2, tabs 1 through 10.

Through detailed tab by tab cross-examination by the Applicant's solicitor the Respondent maintains that the grounds for suspension were based on Physician # 1's comments regarding the Applicant's history of alcoholism.

The Respondent admitted to having no conclusive evidence that the Applicant has ever driven under the influence. The Ministry's conclusion that the Applicant is addicted from alcohol were derived from association, i.e. the Applicant's falling asleep at the wheel was due to GI bleeding which in turn was a result of excessive alcohol consumption.

The Respondent agreed that the information of the Applicant's "...past drinking and driving..." is erroneous.

In closing, the Respondent emphasized Section 14 of Regulation 340/94 under the Highway Traffic Act as the basis for the Ministry's suspension of the Applicant's driver's licence.

The Applicant's solicitor called Physician # 1 as a witness on behalf of the Applicant. Physician # 1 attested that, to the best of her knowledge, and she has known the Applicant for approximately fourteen years, the Applicant has never had any of the social difficulties generally associated with alcohol abuse, i.e. family or work related incidents.

Physician # 1 confirms that she has had conversations with the Applicant regarding the effects of alcohol on the body. Nonetheless, Physician # 1 does not believe the Applicant is a classic example of alcohol dependency given the fact that on several occasion he has been able "...stop and start ...stop and start..."

The incident of falling asleep at the wheel, was according to Physician # 1's evidence, a case of fatigue due to the GI bleed possibly caused by Advil, not necessarily alcohol.

In his closing remarks, the Applicant's Solicitor summarized the evidence before the Tribunal.

Based on Physician # 1's comments, the Applicant's Solicitor questioned the Medical Advisory Committee's decision of February the 4, 2000. The Applicant's Solicitor noted that the Medical Advisory Committee briefly mentions the original cause of the incident, i.e. the GI bleeding, but focuses on the issue of alcoholism.

The Applicant's Solicitor similarly dismissed the second Medical Advisory Committee's decision of April 20, 2000 and indicates that although the "Medical Condition" stated is "Anemic (GI/Bleed/Alcohol)" the emphasis is placed on a perceived alcohol addiction rather than on Physician # 1's diagnosis.

The Applicant's Solicitor commented on the criteria of Section 14, of Regulation 340/94, and pointed out that the Applicant adhered to the requirements of the law as he does not drink and drive.

ISSUES:

Should the decision of the Registrar to suspend the Applicant's licence be confirmed, modified or set aside?

LAW:

Regulation 340/94, Section 14 states:

An applicant for or a holder of a driver's licence must not,

- (a) suffers from an mental, emotional, nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely; and
- (b) be addicted to the use of alcohol or a drug to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle safely.

Section 47(1) states:

Subject to section 47.1, the Registrar may suspend or cancel,

- (a) the plate portion of a permit as defined in Part II;
- (b) a driver's licence; or
- (c) a CVOR certificate,

on the grounds of,

- (d) misconduct for which the holder is responsible, directly or indirectly, related to the operation or driving of a motor vehicle;
- (f) conviction of the holder for an offence referred to in subsection 210(1) or (2);
- (f) the Registrar having reason to believe, having regard to the safety record of the holder or of a person related to the holder, and any other information that the Registrar considers relevant, that the holder will not operate a commercial motor vehicle safely or in accordance with this Act, the regulations and other laws relating to highway safety; or

(g) any other sufficient reason not referred to in clause (d), (e) or (f).

Section 50 of the Act states:

50.(1) every person aggrieved by a decision of the Minister under subsection 17(2) or (3) or subclause 32(12)(b)(i) or a decision of the Registrar under section 47 may appeal the decision to the Licence Appeal Tribunal.

(2) The Tribunal may confirm, modify or set aside the decision of the Minister or the Registrar.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

Section 47(1) empowers the Registrar to “...suspend or cancel” a driver’s licence for “any...sufficient reason...” The Applicant came to the attention of the Registrar as a result of an unsolicited Medical Report from Physician # 1, who reports that the Applicant “...fell asleep at the wheel investigation to follow ... alcohol problem but abstinent x 2 mth...” (Exhibit # 2 Tab 1).

The Tribunal finds that the Ministry acted properly and in accordance with the Regulation, at the time of the suspension.

Nonetheless, as early as January 25, the Ministry had evidence from Physician # 1 that “...At the time of the his accident he was not under the influence ...the reason for his accident was his anemia and therefore fatigue ...never been concerned about drinking and driving...” (Exhibit # 2 Tab 3 A)

On March 12, Physician # 1 again takes the time to correct the Ministry’s inaccurate assumption by assuring “...the Ministry has decided that his alcohol problem has affected his driving, which is not the case...” (Exhibit # 2 Tab 6 a)

Based on the Medical Advisory Committee’s decision, the Ministry opted to continue the suspension.

Both parties to the action, referred to Section 14 of Regulation 340/94 as grounds for suspension, each with a different interpretation.

The applicable Section 14 (b) of Regulation 340/94 under the HTA states:

“An applicant for or a holder of a driver’s license must not,

b) be addicted to the use of alcohol or drug to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle safely.”

First, this Tribunal finds that there is absolutely no evidence to substantiate the Ministry’s determination that the Applicant is addicted to alcohol. The Tribunal notes Physician # 1’s presence at this hearing to testify on behalf of the Applicant. Physician # 1 clearly expressed, that unlike other patients at her clinic, she has always found the Applicant to be absolutely candid with her as far as his drinking habits were concerned. Physician # 1 testified that Applicant was able to “...start and stop ...start and stop...”. This is not the symptom of an individual addicted to alcohol.

Second, this Tribunal concurs with the Applicant Solicitor's interpretation that the key words in Section 14 (b) of Regulation 340/94 are "...to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle safely".

There is no evidence whatsoever, to suggest that the Applicant's consumption of alcohol has in any way affected the Applicant's ability to drive. The Tribunal notes that the Applicant's record is in fact spotless. Exhibit # 2 Tab 1)

The Tribunal finds that the Respondent has not proven that the Applicant is currently suffering from an alcohol addiction which is likely to significantly interfere with his ability to drive a motor vehicle as described by Regulation 340/94 section 14 (b) of the HTA.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the decision dated December 10, 1999 of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles ("Registrar") to suspend his driver's licence pursuant to Section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA"), and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

IT IS THE DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50(2) of the Act that the decision of the Registrar be set aside.

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

This is a hearing before the Commercial Registration Appeal Tribunal (which as of April 1, 2000 is known as the Licence Appeal Tribunal), arising out of a Notice of Proposal issued by the Registrar under the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act (the "Registrar, and the "Act" respectively). The combined effect of the original Notice dated March 16, 2000, and the Notice of Further or Other Particulars dated July 4, 2000 was to refuse the registration of 1384706 Ontario Inc. o/a Perfect Auto Sale and Frank Menhem Faoual and the Notice of Proposal to revoke the registration of George Fiddaoui under the Act.

The Applicants were duly notified by Notice of Hearing dated May 2, 2000, which was faxed to all parties in this matter. The hearing was scheduled to proceed at 9:30 a.m. on July 24, 2000 in Ottawa. But the Applicants did not appear in person or by agent. At 9:30 a.m. the hearing was adjourned until 10:00 a.m. to allow the Applicants time to arrive or make contact by telephone if they wished to participate. At 10:00 a.m., there being no communication from the Applicants, the hearing was carried on in their absence.

FACTS:

The Registrar under the Act proposed to refuse the registration 1384706 Ontario Inc. o/a Perfect Auto Sale as a motor vehicle dealer and Frank Menhem Faoual as a salesperson and to revoke the registration of George Fiddaoui. The reasons relied upon by the Registrar for the Proposal are set out below.

The intention and objective of the Act is to protect the public interest. The requirements of the Act include that Registrants be financially responsible in the conduct of business and that Registrants carry on business in accordance with the law and with integrity and honesty. The Salespersons' past conduct is inconsistent with the intention and objective of the Act, and therefore warrants disentitlement to registration under the Act. Therefore, the Registrar is unwilling to register 1384706 Ontario Inc. o/a Perfect Auto Sale as a motor vehicle dealer and Frank Faoual as a salesperson under the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act. And further, the Registrar is no longer willing to continue the registration of George Fiddaoui.

The Proposal of the Registrar with the three amendments from the Notice of Further and Other Particulars reads as follows:

PARTICULARS

- 1) 1384706 Ontario Inc. o/a Perfect Auto Sale, hereinafter the Dealer applied for registration as a motor vehicle dealership on or about February 10, 2000.
- 2) Frank Menham Faoual (hereinafter Faoual) applied for registration on or about February 10, 2000. Faoual is an officer and director of the dealer.
- 3) George Fiddaoui (hereinafter Fiddaoui) was first registered as a motor vehicle salesperson on or about May 28, 1996.
- 4) On the application to become a Registered Salesperson, question 10 asks: "Have you ever been found guilty or convicted of an offence under any law or are there any charges pending? Fiddaoui answered "yes". Fiddaoui disclosed charges from 1982 until 1991. He stated that in 1991, he was charged with assault.
- 5) After running a routine criminal history check, it came to the Registrar's attention that Fiddaoui had the following convictions that include, but are not limited to:

Assault	November 4, 1993
Mischief to private property	November 4, 1993
Possession of an unregistered restricted weapon	February 5, 1988
Cause a disturbance	February 5, 1988
Point a firearm	February 5, 1988
Possession of narcotic	November 15, 1990
Assault with a weapon	November 19, 1990
Possession of prohibited weapon	June 24, 1991
Assault	March 26, 1992
Assault causing bodily harm	November 13, 1992
- 6) On all previous applications submitted to the Registrar, Fiddaoui provided false information by not disclosing his prior convictions.
- 7) On or about March 8, 2000, representatives of the Registrar attended 617-619 Street. Laurent Blvd Ottawa, Ontario, the Dealers proposed registered premise, and found that the Dealer was operating without benefit of registration.

THE ISSUE:

The legal issue in this case is whether the past conduct of the individual Applicants are such that the Registrar had reasonable grounds to believe that the Applicants would not carry on business in accordance with law and with honesty and integrity. And with respect to the Corporation it is whether the past conduct of its directors affords reasonable grounds for belief that its business will not be carried on with law and with honesty and integrity.

THE LAW:

Under Section 5(1) of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act an Applicant is entitled to registration by Registrar, except where:

Section 5(1)

- (a) having regard to the financial position of the applicant, the applicant cannot reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of business; or
- (b) the past conduct of the applicant affords reasonable grounds for belief that the applicant will not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty; or
- (c) the applicant is a corporation and,
 - (i) having regard to its financial position, it cannot reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of its business, or
 - (ii) the past conduct of its officers or directors affords reasonable grounds for belief that its business will not be carried on in accordance with integrity and honesty; or

Section 6(1) of the Act states as follows:

Section 6(1) Subject to section 7, the Registrar may refuse to register an applicant where in the Registrar's opinion the applicant is disentitled to registration under section 5.

Section 7(4) and 7(5) set out the powers of the Tribunal at a hearing:

Section 7(4) Where an applicant or registrant requires a hearing by the Tribunal in accordance with subsection (2), the Tribunal shall appoint a time for and hold the hearing and, on the application of the Registrar at the hearing, may by order direct the Registrar to carry out the Registrar's proposal or refrain from carrying it out and to take such action as the Tribunal considers the Registrar ought to take in accordance with this Act and the regulations, and for such purposes the Tribunal may substitute its opinion for that of the Registrar.

Section 7(5) The Tribunal may attach such terms and conditions to its order or to the registration as it considers proper to give effect to the purposes of this Act.

EVIDENCE:

The evidence in the seven exhibits tendered by the Registrar confirms the particulars given in the Registrar's reasons. It also confirms that Faoual and Fidaoui were the sole directors of the company which was negotiating to sell a vehicle without being registered as required under the Act.

The Applicant Fidaoui has a serious criminal record, the significance of which is magnified by the lack of full disclosure.

There was no evidence given by the Applicants as they did not appear at any time during the hearing.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The onus of proof is on the Registrar to justify the proposal being renewed. In the absence of any contradictory evidence, the evidence submitted suffices.

The leading case of Brenner and the Registrar of Motor Vehicle Dealers and Salesmen 19 CRAT SCO Decisions and Orders (1971-1989) sets out the test to be applied by the Tribunal as follows:

The effect of Section 7(4) is that the Tribunal should only have refused to direct the Registrar to carry out his proposal if it thought the Registrar was in error in concluding that the past conduct of the Applicant afforded reasonable grounds for belief that he would not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty. The Board does not appear to have directed itself to this question and makes no finding that, in its view, the past conduct of Brenner did not afford reasonable grounds for belief that Brenner would not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty. Instead, the Board appears to have been preoccupied with sympathetic concern as to whether or not Brenner had genuinely reformed, and appears to have decided that it ought to give him a second chance because there was a possibility that he, indeed, might have reformed himself.

On this evidence, the Tribunal cannot find that the Registrar was in error in coming to his conclusion with respect to his proposal to refuse the registration of 1384706 Ontario Inc. o/a Perfect Auto Sale and Frank Menhem Faoual and to revoke the registration of George Fiddaoui under the Act.

Counsel for the Registrar made a motion for costs to be awarded against the three applicants in the amount of $2,500 to $3,000 jointly and severally. This was supported by evidence of the costs for attendance of the Registrar's legal counsel and a witness from Toronto and for one witness from Ottawa scheduled for two days.

Counsel relied on the wording in section 8 of the Licence Appeal Tribunal Act, which reads as follows:

Section 8,

If, on the application of a party to a hearing before the Tribunal with notice to the other parties (emphasis added), the Tribunal is satisfied that the application for the hearing is frivolous or vexatious, the Tribunal may refuse to grant the hearing or may terminate the hearing at any time and make an order for costs as it considers appropriate in the circumstances.

The Tribunal finds that these costs would be well deserved, however there has to be notice given to the other parties. Since that was done in this case, the motion was denied.

DECISION:

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority vested in it by Section 7(4) of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act, the Tribunal directs the Registrar to carry out his Proposal dated March 16, 2000, to refuse the registration of 1384706 Ontario Inc. o/a Perfect Auto Sale and Frank Menhem Faoual and to revoke the registration of George Fiddaoui.

TO DISALLOW A CLAIM

APPEARANCES:

STEVEN MAHADEO, appearing on his own behalf

DATE OF HEARING:

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") from a written decision of the Ontario Motor Vehicle Dealers Compensation Fund (the "Fund"), dated May 11, 2000, wherein the claim for compensation of Steven Mahadeo (the "Applicant") was denied.

The claim of the Applicant is for the sum of $6,150.00 being the amount of a default judgement obtained by the Applicant in the Whitby Small Claims court against B & J Auto Sales and Leasing. The default judgement has not been satisfied by B & J Sales and Leasing.

MOTION BY THE FUND:

At the commencement of the hearing, Counsel for the Fund brought a motion that the Tribunal was without jurisdiction to hear this appeal for the following reasons:

1. The Applicant's claim against the Fund identifies the basis of his claim as being a default judgment, dated July 26, 1999, for $6,150.00 granted in favour of the Applicant against B & J Sales and Leasing.
2. Subsequent to the default judgement being granted by court, B & J Sales and Leasing brought a motion to that court for rescission of that default judgement.

3. Pursuant to the Applicant's motion for rescission of the default judgement, the court heard evidence and rendered a decision. The decision of the court, issued on July 17, 2000, was:

Judgement for the Plaintiff against the Defendant in the sum of $3,000.00; counterclaim dismissed; no costs; no pre-judgment interest.

4. The July 17, 2000 decision was not a final judgement and would not become a final judgement until the expiration of the time for an appeal. The time for the filing of an appeal has not expired.
5. The proprietor of B & J Sales and Leasing who was present under subpoena when the Fund's motion was heard, advised the Tribunal that an appeal was about to be filed to the court's judgement of July 17, 2000. The Applicant also advised the Tribunal that he intended to appeal the judgement as to quantum.
6. Until the judgement of the court becomes final by reason of the expiration of the time for appeal, the Applicant's claim is premature, and the Tribunal is without jurisdiction to hear this matter.
7. The time for an appeal of the court's July 17, 2000 judgement has not expired and the Tribunal was therefore without jurisdiction to hear the Applicant's appeal.

FACTS FOUND PROVEN:

The Tribunal found the following to be proven facts:

1. On July 26, 1999, the Applicant was granted default judgement against B & J Sales and Leasing in an amount of $6,150.00 which judgement has not been satisfied by the B & J Sales and Leasing.
2. On July 17, 2000, the default judgement for $6,150.00 against B & J Sales and Leasing was rescinded by order of court.
3. On July 17, 2000, the court that rescinded the default judgement, granted judgement in favour of the Applicant against B & J Sales and Leasing for the sum of $3,000.00

THE ISSUE:

The legal issue raised by the motion brought by the fund is:

Has this Tribunal the jurisdiction to hear the Applicant's appeal under section 12(3)1. of Regulation 801 to the Act?

THE LAW:

MOTOR VEHICLE DEALERS ACT

Section 1. "Motor vehicle dealer" means a person who carries on business of buying a or selling motor vehicles, whether for the person's own account or the account of any other person, or who holds himself, herself or itself out as carrying on the business of buying or selling motor vehicles

Section 24. The Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations,

- (o) providing for the establishment, maintenance and administration of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Compensation Fund including prescribing provisions relating to investing and paying out of money from the Fund;

.....

- (p) providing for payment out of the Fund of claims and procedures to be followed in respect thereto;

REGULATION 801 TO THE MOTOR VEHICLE DEALERS ACT

Section 12(3) A customer may make a claim against the Fund where the customer gives written notice of the claim to the Registrar within two years of the participant's refusal or failure to pay, even if the motor vehicle dealer with respect to whom the claim is being made ceased to be a participant after the refusal or failure to pay, and where the claim meets one of the following requirements:

1. The customer has recovered in any court in Ontario a judgement in respect of the claim and the judgement has become final by reason of the expiration of the time for appeal or of having been confirmed by the highest court to which an appeal may be taken and the customer makes an application, supported by the judgement and statement of claim, for payment of the unsatisfied portion of the judgement and costs as assessed.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The Applicant when filing his notice of claim against the Fund, dated October 27, 1999, stated that his claim was based upon an unsatisfied default judgement for $6,150.00 against a motor vehicle dealer, namely B & J Sales and Leasing.

The Applicant, accordingly, filed his claim in terms of section 12(3)1. of regulation 801. B & J Sales and Leasing successfully challenged the default judgement in a motion brought before court and upon the court setting aside the default judgement for $6,150.00 there was no longer a judgement upon which the Applicant could found his claim.

However, when setting aside the default judgement, the court granted a new judgement for $3000.00 in favour of the Applicant. This judgment was granted on July 17, 2000 and the time within which an appeal may be filed to that judgement has not, at this stage, expired. Accordingly, the July 17, 2000 judgement is not a final judgement as is required by section 12(3)1. of regulation 801. Until that judgement becomes a final judgement, this Tribunal does not have jurisdiction to hear the Applicant's appeal.

The Tribunal records that Counsel for the Fund indicated to the Tribunal that the Fund would consent to the Applicant amending the basis of his claim so as to bring his claim within the terms of section 12(3)4. of regulation 801. The Applicant, however, did not respond to this aspect, and it was not dealt with further.

DECISION:

By virtue of what is stated above, the Tribunal finds it does not presently have jurisdiction to hear this appeal and accordingly this hearing is concluded.

DATE OF HEARING: July 28, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: August 3, 2000 London

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on July 28, 2000, at London, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended (“HTA” or the “Act”).

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to Section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the “Act”).

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the “Registrar”), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: Edward and Kathleen Kleist (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle: 1987 Chev CRS, plate # ADEF 528 (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal: July 10, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the motor vehicle was stolen at the time it was being driven as provided in section 50.2(3) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on July 28, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the motor vehicle was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

"I Edward Kleist would like to apply for this appeal for I didn't give Mr. Haines permission to drive this car. So on the ground this would be considered stolen he was charge with auto theft of this car on July 2, 2000 when impounded."

The Applicant testified that his car was parked in his yard prior to him retiring around 7 p.m. on July 1, 2000. Sometime during the night, Bradley Haines, his border for the past eight months, took the Applicant's vehicle without consent or permission. The Ontario Provincial Police, Constable Ted Smith, advised him by telephone around 2:30 a.m. on July 2, 2000, that his vehicle was being impounded and the driver had been arrested and charged with providing false identification under the Highway Traffic Act and for "driving while disqualified."

In his testimony, the Applicant conceded that this was not the first time that Mr. Haines had taken his vehicle without prior consent or permission. However, in previous incidents, the vehicle was only used to joyride around the Applicant's one hundred-acre farm. The Applicant testified that he was aware that Mr. Haines' driver's licence was under suspension for the offence of "driving while disqualified," and he had cautioned Mr. Haines on one occasion about driving the vehicle on private property without consent or permission.

No measures were taken to deny access to the keys before this recent incident. The keys were normally kept on top of the fridge in plain view to all the occupants of the household. In his testimony, the Applicant stated that his vehicle could be started and driven without the benefit of keys due to a faulty steering wheel switch. It is his intention to repair the defective switch once the vehicle is released from impound.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Bradley Haines;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence driving while disqualified under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until February 17, 2002.

Police Constable Ted Smith, of the Ontario Provincial Police, testified that he stopped the Applicant's vehicle while on routine patrol near Gadshill, Ontario. The driver, Mr. Bradley Haines, identified himself as Mr. Edward Kleist and produced a business card and a Petro Canada points card both displaying the name Edward Kleist. Regardless, Constable Smith pursued the matter further since the vehicle was being operated without the benefit of a key in the ignition.

With Mr. Haines' arrest and more intense questioning, he admitted to taking the vehicle without the owner's consent or permission and produced the keys that were normally kept on top of the fridge. Mr. Haines stated that he and his friend were on their way to London, Ontario and that he did not intend to deprive Mr. Kleist of his vehicle. Numerous charges i.e., "obstruction of a Police Officer" as well as "driving while disqualified" and "taken without consent" were processed. The charges are currently before the Court.

On the basis of the evidence given at this hearing, the Tribunal finds the following to be the fundamental facts found proven:

1. The Applicant is the owner of the motor vehicle that was the subject of the impoundment order.
2. At the time of the impoundment order, the Applicant's motor vehicle was driven by Bradley Haines.
3. At the time of the impoundment of the Applicant's motor vehicle, Bradley Haines' driver's licence was under suspension for "driving while disqualified."
4. Neither Constable Ted Smith or the Applicant believes that Bradley Haines had any intent to deprive the owner of the benefit of ownership (or possession) permanently.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

- (1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Board.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The “owner” for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

“Owner” means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar’s order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Board may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver’s licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver’s licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(a).

With respect to an appeal under subsection 50.2(3)(a) alleging that the vehicle was stolen, the meaning of “stolen” is not provided in The Highway Traffic Act.

The Shorter Oxford Dictionary, provides the definition of “stolen” as follows:

Stolen: 1. Obtained by theft. 2. Accomplished or enjoyed by stealth; secret. 3. Of time: obtained by contrivance

Theft: 1. The action of a thief; the felonious taking away of the personal goods of another; larceny 2. That which is or has been stolen; the proceeds of thieving.

Black’s Law Dictionary (Sixth edition), page 1419-1420 provides the definition of “stolen” as follows:

Stolen: Acquired, or possessed, as a result of some wrongful or dishonest act or taking, whereby a person willfully obtains or retains possession of property which belongs to another, without or beyond any permission given, and with the intent to deprive the owner of the benefit of ownership (or possession) permanently.

The word “stolen” as used in the crime of interstate transpiration of stolen motor vehicles includes all wrongful and dishonest taking of motor vehicles with the intent to deprive the owner of the rights and benefits of ownership, regardless of whether theft constitutes common-law larceny; and felonious taking may be effected by diverse means known to both common and statutory law, such as larceny, embezzlement, false pretenses, larceny by trick and other types of wrongful acquisition. Lake v. U.S., Colo, 338F.2d 787,788. It is not necessary that the taking of the vehicle be unlawful. Even if possession of the vehicle is lawfully acquired, the vehicle will be deemed “stolen” if the defendant thereafter forms the intent to deprive the owner of the rights and benefits of ownership, and converts the vehicle to his own use. United States v. Turley, 352 U.S. 407, 417, 77 S.Ct. 397, 402. 1 L.Ed.2d 430.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the motor vehicle was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made?

The burden of proof is on the Applicant to establish whether the vehicle was in fact stolen.

The Tribunal has found that the driver took the Applicant's vehicle without the Applicants prior knowledge or consent. However, there is no evidence before the Tribunal that the actions on the part of the driver constituted theft of the vehicle. While the Applicant had cautioned Mr. Haines about joyriding around the family farm without consent or permission, the keys continued to be left on top of the fridge and the motor vehicle ignition switch remained in disrepair. The evidence does not indicate that either Mr. Haines or Mr. Kleist felt that Mr. Haines intended to steal the Kleist vehicle, which is the basis of the Kleists' appeal.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

IRVIN HOMES LTD.

APPEAL FROM A PROPOSAL OF THE REGISTRAR UNDER THE ONTARIO NEW HOME WARRANTIES PLAN ACT

TO REFUSE TO RENEW REGISTRATION

TRIBUNAL: DAVID J. HUNT, Vice-Chair presiding
IRVING ANDRE, Vice-Chair

APPEARANCES: EDWARD IRVIN, Agent representing the Applicant
ANDREW LEWIS, Counsel representing the Registrar, Ontario
New Home Warranty Program

DATE OF HEARING: July 20, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

This is a hearing before the Commercial Registration Appeal Tribunal (which as of April 1, 2000 is known as the Licence Appeal Tribunal) arising out of a Notice of Proposal issued by the Registrar of the Ontario New Home Warranty Program (the "Registrar, and the "Act", respectively). The Notice of Proposal dated February 10, 2000 proposed to refuse to renew the registration of Irvin Homes Ltd. (the "Applicant") under the Act.

BACKGROUND:

The registrant in this matter is a builder that has been registered with the Ontario New Home Warranty Program (the "Program") since 1988 at which time a guarantee was executed by Mr. Edward Irvin who has been the principal and sole officer of the Irvin Homes Ltd. since the company was first registered. At the time of the initial registration, a Vendor/Builder Agreement was also executed by Mr. Irvin as the President of Irvin homes Ltd.

It is agreed by all parties that Irvin Homes has a record of excellence as a builder, and has no history of claims as a registrant with the Program.

In May 1999 the application for the renewal of registration was made by Irvin Homes, and the required financial statements of the company and a personal statement of net worth were provided by Mr. Edward Irvin. After examination of this information, the Registrar determined that the financial position of the Company and the net worth of Mr. Irvin were not sufficient, and a guarantee was required from Mr. Irvin's wife, Mrs. Margaret Irvin. The registrant did not provide a copy of this guarantee.

The Registrar under the Act proposed to refuse to renew the registration of Irvin Homes Ltd. The grounds relied upon by the Registrar for the Proposal are set out below:

1. Pursuant to the provisions of section 8 (2) of the Act, the Registrar, having regard to the registrant's financial position, finds that the registrant cannot reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of its undertakings as required by the provisions of section 7(1)(c)(i) of the Act, TO WIT;
 - (a) The registrant's financial statement shows a deficit and the registrant thereby has failed to provide sufficient evidence of financial ability as required by the Registrar. Further Edward Irvin the sole principal officer, director and guarantor of the registrant declared assets on his personal net worth statement that can not be taken into account as they are registered in the name of Margaret Irvin who is not presently a principal, officer, director, or guarantor of the registrant. The registrant has failed to provide an executed guarantee in duplicate from Margaret Irvin as requested from the registrant by letter dated September 8, 1999, and the registrant has thereby failed to provide sufficient evidence of financial ability as required by the Registrar.
2. Pursuant to the provisions of section 8(2) of the Act, the registrant is in breach of a term or condition of registration, TO WIT;
 - (a) The registrant has failed to comply with subsections 5 and 6 of Regulation 894 requiring the registrant to furnish such documentation as the registrar may require and request and which was requested in accordance with the letter of September 8, 1999.

THE LAW:

Section 7(1)(c)(i) of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act (the "Act"), states as follows:

7(1) An applicant is entitled to registration by the Registrar except where,

(c) the applicant is a corporation and,

- (i) having regard to it's financial position, it cannot reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of its undertakings, or
- (ii) the past conduct of its officers or directors affords reasonable grounds for belief that its undertakings will not be carried on in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty; or

Section 8(2) of the Act states as follows:

.....

Section 8(2) Subject to section 9, the Registrar may refuse to renew or may suspend or revoke a registration for any reason that would disentitle the registrant to registration under section 7, if the registrant were an applicant, or where the registrant has a record of breaches of warranties or of failure or unwillingness to complete performance of contracts or is in breach of a term or condition of the registration.

Section 9 of Regulation 892 to the Act states as follows:

Section 9(1) Each applicant desiring registration under the Plan shall complete, execute, and deliver to the Registrar such form or forms of application as the Registrar may require from time to time.

Section 9(3) The applicant shall furnish to the Registrar;

.....

3. Financial statements of the applicant and such other information relating to the applicant's financial affairs as the Registrar may require.

.....

5. Such additional documentation related to the application as the Registrar may reasonably require.

Section 5 of Regulation 894, to the Act states as follows:

Section 5. The registrant shall from time to time, at the registrant's expense, furnish the Registrar with such documents relating to the plan as the Registrar may reasonably require.

Section 6 of Regulation 894, to the Act states as follows;

Section 6. The registrant shall furnish the Registrar with such information relating to the registrant's financial affairs and position as the Registrar may reasonably request.

CASELAW:

Brenner v Ontario (Registrar of Motor Vehicle Dealers and Salesman) 1983 O. J. No. 1017 Ontario Supreme Court-High Court of Justice Divisional Court

This was appeal by the Registrar of Motor Vehicle Dealers and Salesman from a decision of the Commercial Registration Appeal Tribunal in which the Tribunal directed the registrar to grant a conditional registration to the respondent. The applicant had a very serious criminal record which he had disclosed in his application spot had not disclosed three further convictions which were considered by the Registrar to be minor offences. The applicant heard evidence from a potential employer and a criminal lawyer who testified that the applicant was rehabilitated himself. The court found that the Tribunal had not applied the proper test and set out this test in paragraph nine of the judgment as follows:

"the Tribunal should only have refused to direct the Registrar to carry out his proposal if it thought the Registrar was in error concluding that the past conduct of the applicant afforded reasonable grounds for belief that he would not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty. The board does not appear to have directed itself to this question and makes no finding that, in its view, the past conduct of Brenner did not afford reasonable grounds for the belief that Brenner would not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty. Instead the Board appears to have been preoccupied with sympathetic concern as to whether or not Brenner had genuinely reformed, and appears to have decided that it thought to give him a second chance because there was the possibility that he, indeed, might have reformed himself."

Ontario (Registrar of Real Estate and Business Brokers) v Vogelsberg (Ont. Divi. Ct.) (1994) O.J. No. 266

In this case the respondent had interfered with a trust account, and although no one suffered a loss, the court found at page 3 that the proper question for the Tribunal was whether:

"the respondent has carried on activities in contravention of the Act and regulations, and whether his past conduct afforded reasonable grounds for the belief that he would not carry on business in accordance with law, integrity, and honesty".

The Tribunal failed to make a finding of whether the activities contravened the statute, and failed to determine whether the past conduct afforded the grounds to believe that business would not be carried on in accordance with law, integrity, and honesty. The Court found that that the Tribunal must make both determinations. Although no one suffered a financial loss as a result of the conduct, it did not take away from the fact that interfering with the trust account was a wrongful act. As in the Brenner case, the Court held at page 3 that:

"unless the Tribunal found that his conduct does not afford such reasonable grounds, the Tribunal should not order the Registrar to refrain from carrying out his proposal."

Ontario (Registrar of Real Estate and Business Brokers) v Faccenda (1994) O.J. No. 954 (Ontario Court of Justice-General Division- Divisional Court)

In this case the Commercial Registration Appeal Tribunal refused to direct the Registrar to carry out his proposal, and concluded that the Registrar was in error, but did not set out what error was made or what test was applied. It appeared that the Tribunal did not make a qualitative assessment of the respondent's conduct based on the evidence before it, and did not apply the standards of integrity, honesty, and law as provided for in the statute. The Court found that the Tribunal should only have refused to direct that the Registrar carry out the proposal if it found the Registrar was in error in his belief.

Re: Skinner and Laprise General Contractors Limited (1999) O.C.R.A.T.D. No. 99

In this matter the Registrar had refused to renew the registration of the Applicant as a builder on the basis that having regard to the Applicant's financial position, it could not reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of its undertakings. In the case, attempts were made to reach an appropriate solution but without success. The Applicant was a well respected builder of the highest quality that had received awards for excellence. At the time of the application, the company was in serious financial difficulty and was suffering increasing losses. A risk assessment was carried out under the terms of Builder Bulletin 28 and a security amount was determined on the basis of the number of units produced. The builder had a poor credit rating, with only a 4 point financial score based on the risk assessment criteria. A security arrangement was made, but at the next renewal the risk assessment showed that the financial score was zero, and the Registrar proposed to refuse to renew the registration. Although the owner of the company was making every effort to keep the company from going bankrupt, he was not able to make appropriate plans for what would happen if he was unable to continue funding the company. The Tribunal found that in a regulated industry, certain requirements must be met for the continued registration of the company for the mutual advantage of both the industry and the consumer. In this way, the consumer is guaranteed some protection against business failures which cause negative consequences for consumers, and the companies that continue to work in the industry benefit from the enhanced public credibility resulting from effective regulation of the industry. The Tribunal ordered that the Registrar carry out the proposal.

Star Development Inc. (1998) O.C.R.A.T.D. No.135

In this matter, the applicant was applying for initial registration but, in the opinion of the Registrar, did not provide sufficient information for the assessment. The issue was whether the Registrar could require personal guarantees. In its first year of operation, the company had a net loss. The Tribunal found at page 4 that:

"the Act is consumer protection legislation and it gives builder warranties. Due to subrogation, the Program must honor the financial obligations if the builder is unable or unwilling to do so."

The Tribunal found that the Applicant was advised in the Vendor/ Builder Agreement that guarantees could be required, and the Program has specific statutory authority to request guarantees, statements of personal net worth, or other documentation it reasonably requires. In this case, although the owner of the company agreed to provide a guarantee, it was not sufficient to protect the public interest and the interest of the Program as a subrogated party.

V.M.A. Construction Limited v Ontario New Home Warranties Program (February 9, 1982)

In this case, the Registrar had concerns due to the financial situation of the Applicant. The Tribunal found that given the financial position of the applicant, it was reasonable to require a personal guarantee from the principal shareholder of the Applicant. The Tribunal directed the Registrar to carry out the proposal to refuse to renew the registration unless within 30 days of the date of the order the applicant provided personal guarantees of the principal shareholders along with the required statements of their net worth.

Garnet Lane Developments Ltd. (1997) O.C.R.A.T. No. 132

In this matter, the Registrar proposed to refuse to renew the registration of two companies based on financial grounds and on the past conduct of an officer. There was a history of claims with the Program, and it was found to be reasonable that the Registrar would have serious concerns about the Applicant carrying out its undertakings. In the circumstances, the Tribunal followed the decision of Brenner found that the Registrar was not in error in his decision and directed the Registrar to carry out the proposal.

Lauramat Homes Inc. (1999) O.C.R.A.T. No, 102.

In this matter, the Registrar proposed to refuse registration of the Applicant as it had failed to provide the latest available financial statement requested and had thereby failed to provide evidence of financial ability as required by the Registrar. There was also past conduct by the principal of the company as he had failed to discharge a judgment against him in favour of the Ontario New Home Warranty Program in the amount of $20,000.00 plus post judgment interest. Information provided by the Applicant was found to be vague, insufficient and unreliable. In these circumstances together with the past conduct of the principal of the company, the Tribunal found that the company could not reasonably be expected to be financially responsible, and based on the past conduct, there were reasonable grounds to believe that the company's undertakings would not be carried out in accordance with law, integrity, and honesty.

ISSUES:

The issues in this case are whether the Applicant has provided sufficient evidence of financial ability to show that it can reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of its undertakings, and whether it is reasonable, pursuant to Section 5 of Regulation 894 under the Act, for the Registrar to require the Applicant to provide the guarantee as requested by the Registrar.

WITNESS FOR THE REGISTRAR:

Testimony was given by Mr. Adil Dahr who is a senior underwriting analyst employed by the Program for eight months. He is a Chartered Accountant, and prior to his employment by the Program, worked for three years with K.P.M.G. Financial Services Co.

In the later part of 1999, Mr. Dahr reviewed the financial documentation submitted by the Applicant, and the Personal Net Worth Statement submitted by Mr. Edward Irvin to assess the financial viability of the Company. He testified that Mr. Irvin had signed a personal guarantee in 1988 (Exhibit 3, Tab 1) to indemnify the Program from the loss which they suffered by reason of failure of the Applicant to perform its obligations under the Ontario New Home Warranty Program, and had signed a Vendor/ Builder Agreement. (Exhibit 3, Tab 4) in which he agreed in paragraph 4.4(e) to provide, upon request for purposes of renewal, any financial information, guarantee, statement of personal net worth or other documents that the Program may reasonably require.

Mr. Dahr explained that the purpose of the financial assessment and provision of the guarantee was to ensure that there was equity to cover any future claims in the event that the Applicant was unable to meet its financial obligations due to a bankruptcy or other situation of inadequate resources. If the guarantor does not have sufficient assets to cover the loss, then the Program would pay a claim and have no opportunity for reimbursement. To ensure that the guarantee is sufficient, the Program requires a Net Worth Statement from the individual, and verifies the ownership and value of the assets shown. In this case, the Applicant had applied for a renewal and provided financial statements showing that Irvin Homes had liabilities of over $300,000.00, had lost money for the past two years, had an accumulated deficit of $219,63.17, and had a significant bank overdraft which would be expensive to service. In the witness's opinion, the company was in very weak financial condition. When the personal Net Worth Statement of Mr. Irvin was examined, it was found that the home was in the name of Mr. Irvin's wife, and there were insufficient personal assets to cover the liabilities of Irvin Homes under his personal guarantee. A letter was sent to the Applicant on September 8, 1999 (Exhibit 3, Tab 18) requiring that the enclosed guarantee form be signed by Mrs. Margaret Irvin to include her assets in the risk assessment calculations as per Bulletin No. 28.

The witness explained that Builder Bulletin 28 (Exhibit 4) sets out assessment criteria to be used as guidelines for risk assessment and because of the financial situation of Irvin Homes and Mr. Edward Irvin, the company was in the high risk category with a point total of zero. On that basis, the company was unable to be registered without a sufficient guarantee. To calculate the point score, the witness calculated the total number of housing units controlled before the proceeding, and took 50% of the units which were not closed, and 50% of those within the first-year warranty period. He then considered the equity situation of Mr. Irvin and Irvin Homes Limited, and he determined that the point score was zero. Although there is discretion, he testified that when there is a point total below 10, this outweighs the other factors and registration will be refused even though the Applicant had an excellent service record, and apparently no claims. In his estimation, the Applicant would not been able to show sufficient financial responsibility in the absence of a sufficient further guarantee.

In cross-examination, the witness was asked how much money would be needed for registration, and he was unable to name a figure or a method to calculate it. He testified that there was no magic number, and any decision would be based on the consideration of a number of factors. It would depend on the number of homes constructed or expected to be constructed, the consideration of competence and the interview. Even though only 50 percent of the score related to financial issues, he repeated that a minimum score of 10 must be met, or the financial considerations outweigh other factors and registration will be refused. If the score is above 10, but is low, the assessor can use judgment and may still grant registration. In this case, the financial score was zero, and there was a refusal of the registration. Mr. Dahr testified that even though he had only been with the Program since October 1999, he was permitted to make the decision. It was suggested to the witness that the Program was trying to reduce the number of builders, and he denied hearing any such rumor. The witness also denied that he knew that it was a common practice to protect assets by putting them into the name of a spouse. He testified that he did not know that the maximum deposit that could be claimed by a person was $20,000.00. The witness confirmed that a credit check had been done on Irvin Homes, and agreed that it showed nothing negative. Although there was a small enrollment fee owing, the witness agreed that it was simply an adjustment based on the increase in the sale price of a home and did not reflect negatively on the Applicant. On the issue of the builder's reputation, the witness agreed that his information showed that there was no history of complaints, and the Applicant had received a Certificate of Excellence from The Ontario New Home Warranty Program in 1999. The witness also had no knowledge of the extent of the financial resources of the Program when it was suggested that there was an enormous fund that was being somehow drained off.

WITNESS FOR THE APPLICANT:

Mr. Edward Irvin gave evidence on behalf of the Applicant. He testified that he refused to allow his wife to be a guarantor, and was acting on a matter of principal. He considered the Registrar's decision to be unfair, and wished to take a stand on behalf of himself and other builders.

When the company was first registered, he had less money than he did now, and has now proven that he knows what he is doing. He stated that at the time he provided the registration information it was not his year end for the company and this had an effect on the information.

During the previous two years there had been two situations which had hurt the company financially and had caused the present financial problems. The first problem was that the company had been involved in a subdivision development plan with three other partners. One partner ran off with the wife of another partner. This led to a general deterioration of the arrangement, and Mr. Irvin had to remove Irvin Homes from the partnership resulting in a financial loss. Under cross-examination, he stated that if he had not been able to get out of this situation, it would have been the end of his company. Even though the Bank of Montreal had issued a $300,000.00 line of credit, and made $1,500,000.00 in mortgages available, he was not able to work his way through the situation, and had to take a serious loss through no fault of his own. The second problem was that Mr. Irvin was unable to work for a considerable period of the previous year due to a serious health problem. As a result of this inability to build and sell homes, the company suffered financial losses as shown on the financial statements.

Mr. Irvin testified that he had obtained a mortgage approval for his home (Exhibit 6) and was also trying to sell the home for $609,000.00. He was unhappy about the company's deficit, and was trying to work his way out of it. In addition, the Royal Bank had extended a $50,000.00 line of credit to him to help finance Irvin Homes. Under cross-examination, he agreed that his wife had signed as a guarantor for this line of credit and had agreed to apply for the mortgage on the home which was in her name.

The witness testified that while he was unable to construct homes, he had upgraded his qualifications by taking courses in the United States. He produced a series of articles and certificates showing the extent of his achievements as a builder, and the general recognition of Irvin Homes as an excellent builder. In addition to this, he testified that he works on various committees of builders and for the Ontario New Home Warranty Program.

In cross-examination, he agreed that he had signed the original guarantee and the Vendor Builder Agreement. When questioned about his Net Worth Statement, he testified that he had assets that were not on the statement but was not specific. When asked if the major asset was his home, he stated that it was not and said that the house was in his wife's name to protect it from lawsuits against Irvin Homes or him personally. He explained that business people put assets in their spouses' names to protect the assets from lawsuits and that the goal of his accountant was to render his personal worth as close to zero as possible to protect his assets. Effectively, he was seeking to be judgement proof. He explained that there is a general security agreement with the bank, guaranteed by his wife, and that she does not understand why she has to sign another guarantee. The witness testified that the bank would hold the mortgage, and there would be no risk to the Program as the trades would be covered by the holdbacks. When asked how this arrangement with the bank would protect a home buyer with claims for deficiencies after closing, or in case of bankruptcy, he stated that he would take care of repairs, and that his record for customer service was excellent. During cross-examination, he said that a bond should be put in place rather than a guarantee, and raised the question of what type of bond the Program would require. He also stated that it is his wife and not he, who is refusing to provide a guarantee.

Mr. Irvin raised the issue that Mr. Brian Campbell, a lawyer, would be angry if Mr. Irvin's wife signed the guarantee, and that he was taking a stand against it on principle, on behalf of other builders. He also mentioned how builders who are not registered with the Program are building individual homes and selling them as their private residence or acting as the customer's subcontractor. Mr. Irvin expressed his wish to be registered with the Program, and did not want to be put in the situation of having to resort to one of these methods of building.

FACTS FOUND PROVEN:

The Tribunal finds that the Applicant is a builder of exceptional quality that is recognized within the building industry for its competence and virtually perfect record of customer satisfaction. In addition, Mr. Edward Irvin the principle of the company has taken steps to upgrade his skills, and gives the Program the benefit of his expertise through his work on committees and within the industry.

In the preceding years, the company suffered financial setbacks unrelated to the skill, diligence or integrity of Mr. Irvin. Due to his involvement in one building project which put the company heavily in debt, and his inability to work for a period of time due to health problems, the company now finds itself with a serious debt problem. A personal guarantee was provided by Mr. Irvin as required in the original Vendor/ Builder Agreement, however this guarantee is now of little use as Mr. Irvin has sought to ensure that he has few assets in his name to protect himself in case of litigation.

For business reasons, the home is in his wife's name, and his personal assets which are subject to the guarantee are insufficient to cover the debts of the company. Although in his evidence he claimed that he did have assets, and implied that there were assets beyond those shown in the information provided, the Tribunal has no proof of this. If Mr. Irvin has assets which he has chosen not to disclose, and has filed an incomplete or misleading Statement of Net Worth, the Tribunal cannot go behind the documents provided.

It is clear to the Tribunal that Mr. Irvin intends to make every possible effort to improve the financial situation of his company, and has a history of hard work and honesty. The Tribunal cannot find as a fact that Mr. Irvin will be able or not be able to turn around the financial fortunes of his company in the future as this will involve many factors beyond his control. Recently, Irvin Homes has suffered financial setbacks due to a failed project, and his health problem, despite Mr. Irvin's best efforts and hard work. The Tribunal has no concern over Mr. Irvin's intention to continue to serve his customers with the highest standard of personal service while his company is operating and he is financially able to do so. Arrangements made for financing give some protection up until the time of closing of transactions. Although the arrangements made with the bank also give some measure of protection for the payment of subcontractors and the return of deposits, it does not deal with the issue of warranty claims by purchasers. If Irvin Homes does not have assets to cover the claims, and Mr. Edward Irvin has protected himself from lawsuits by moving the bulk of his assets to his wife's name, the Program would have no recourse against him, and any claims would be paid out of the compensation fund.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The first issue is whether the Applicant has provided sufficient financial information to show that it can reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of its undertakings. Based on the financial information provided by the Applicant, the Tribunal finds that the assets of Irvin Homes combined with those of Mr. Edward Irvin are not sufficient to discharge the liabilities of the company. In order to protect his assets from creditors, Mr. Irvin has put his home into his wife's name, and sought to reduce his personal exposure in the event of a lawsuit. To enhance the financial viability of the company, Mr. Irvin has made arrangements for a mortgage on his home, is trying to sell the home, and has arranged a line of credit for the company from a bank. Based on the financial information before the Tribunal, it appears that efforts are being made by Mr. Irvin that would give some protection for deposits by purchasers and money owed to the subcontractors. When he was asked about how warranty claims would be dealt with, Mr. Irvin responded that he would carry out the repairs, and did not appear to be aware that the Program is responsible for warranty claims of up to $100,000.00 for single-family homes pursuant to the limits of liability established under section 6 (3) of Regulation 892, under the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act.

The second issue is whether it is reasonable pursuant to section 5 of Regulation 894 for the Registrar to require the Applicant to provide the guarantee as requested, and if so has the Applicant failed to comply with subsections 5 of Regulation 894. The Tribunal finds that the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act is consumer protection legislation enacted to protect the public in the event that new home builders fail to perform their contracts either through an unwillingness or financial inability to do so. This provides new home buyers with protection against finding themselves with a valid warranty claim against a company which has gone bankrupt despite the efforts of the owner, or has been operated as a judgment proof "shell" corporation with little or no assets to satisfy any claims against it. The Registrar has chosen to require a guarantee from builders. The Registrar has chosen not to devise a system whereby a bond in a predetermined amount would be posted to cover all potential claims for each unit or project. The Registrar does not wish to simply depend on the integrity of a builder or on the hope that a builder will never go bankrupt or transfer away assets. This Tribunal finds that it is not unreasonable for the Program to request a guarantee together with supporting financial documentation as proof of the financial viability of the builder in making the determination of whether the Applicant can be reasonably expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of its undertakings.

Based on these findings of fact and their application to the law, this Tribunal finds that the Applicant has failed to provide documentation reasonably required by the Registrar. The decision of the Registrar to refuse to renew the registration in the absence of a sufficient guarantee was not in error. In the circumstances of this particular case, however, the Tribunal finds that Irvin Homes Ltd. is entitled to registration subject to providing a sufficient guarantee as required by the Registrar.

DECISION:

Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in it under section 9(4) of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act, the Tribunal directs the Registrar to refrain from carrying out his proposal dated February 10, 2000 to refuse to grant the Applicants registration and directs the Registrar to issue the renewal of the Applicant's registration subject to the following term and condition:

1. The Applicant shall provide the Registrar with a guarantee and supporting documentation satisfactory to the Registrar within 40 days of the issuance of this order, failing which the Tribunal directs the Registrar to carry out his proposal.

DATES OF HEARING: July 7, July 18,

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

1296347 Ontario Ltd. o/a Bargain Travel Holidays (the "Applicant") appeals the written Notice of Proposal issued by the Registrar under the Travel Industry Act (the "Act") to revoke the registration of the Applicant as a travel agent.

The Proposal dated May 2, 2000 was issued in terms of section 6(1) of the Travel Industry Act, which reads as follows:

Section 6(1) Where the Registrar proposes to refuse to grant or renew a registration or proposes to suspend or revoke a registration or to refuse to name a branch office in a registration, he or she shall serve notice of his or her proposal, together with written reasons therefor, on the applicant or registrant.

The Registrar bases his proposal to revoke on section 4(1) of the Act, which reads as follows:

Section 4(1) An applicant is entitled to registration or renewal of registration as a travel agent or travel wholesaler by the Registrar except where,

.....

- c) the applicant is a corporation and,
 - i) is incorporated without share capital, or
 - ii) having regard to its financial position, it cannot reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of its business, or
 - iii) the past conduct of its officers or directors affords reasonable grounds for belief that its business will not be carried on in accordance with law and with integrity and honest; or

d) the applicant is carrying on activities that are, or will be, if the applicant is registered, in contravention of this Act or the regulations.

The Registrar takes the position that the Applicant's registration should be revoked as, having regard to its financial position, it cannot reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of its business and the past conduct of its officers or directors affords reasonable grounds for belief that its business will not be carried on in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty. The Registrar also takes the position that the Applicant is carrying on activities that are in contravention of the Act or the Regulations.

Subsequent to the Notice of Proposal to revoke being served on the Applicant the Applicant served notice in terms of section 6(2) of the Act that it appeals the Registrar's Notice of Proposal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal").

By Notice dated June 21, 2000 the Registrar served on the Applicant an Order temporarily suspending the Applicants' registration in terms of section 7 of the Act and in the aforementioned Notice, the Registrar furnished the Applicant with further or other particulars relating to his Proposal.

At the commencement of the hearing on July 7, 2000, Counsel for the Registrar requested the Tribunal, in terms of section 7 of the Act, extend the temporary suspension of the Applicant's registration until the hearing is concluded. The agent for the Applicant consented to the extension of the temporary suspension of the Applicant's registration until the conclusion of the hearing, and the Tribunal accordingly so ordered.

Counsel for the Registrar also made a motion that certain documents, or part thereof, which would be tendered in evidence during the hearing, be ordered not to be accessible to the public. The basis for the motion was that certain documents or part thereof, contain intimate confidential and personal information of a financial nature relating to certain consumers who have complaints against the Applicant. Counsel also contended that such information should not be disclosed in the interests of the consumers with complaints against the Applicant. The agent for the Applicant consented to the exclusion of access of such documentation from the public. Counsel for the Registrar undertook to identify in a written list, which she would submit to the Tribunal for its approval and acceptance, all such documents.

A separate order is being issued by the Tribunal in respect of the above motion.

THE EVIDENCE:

The evidence in this matter was both oral and documentary. The following persons appeared before the Tribunal and testified as follows on behalf of the Registrar.

MICHAEL PHILIP PEPPER

Michael Philip Pepper ("Pepper") was the first witness for the Registrar.

He is the Chief Executive Officer of the Travel Industry Council of Ontario and the Registrar under the Act. In his capacity as Registrar his responsibilities include ensuring that:

- Registrants' under the Act comply with the Act and its regulations and that certain standards and criteria are met by Registrants
- Financial filings by Registrants required in terms of the regulations are complied with and that contributions to the Compensation Fund established under the regulations are made by Registrants
- Working capital requirements under the regulations are being met and that consumer's monies are kept in a trust account as required by the regulations

The duty to regularly monitor Registrants is to ensure that consumers and their monies are not at risk and that Registrants are financially viable. In addition the Registrar attempts to ensure that complaints of consumers regarding Registrants are attended to by Registrants and are resolved where possible.

Pepper also stated that when the Applicant was originally registered as a travel agent, on September 22, 1998, it executed, through its duly authorized officer, an acknowledgment that it would comply with the terms and conditions imposed upon it by the regulations to the Act. When it was brought to his notice that the Applicant appeared to be putting through double debits on consumer's credit cards, Pepper decided that it was necessary to immediately suspend the Applicant's registration and did so by notice dated June 21, 2000.

The apparent double billing to consumers' credit cards caused the Registrar concern respecting the financial viability of the Applicant as it could indicate a cash flow problem. The double billing against consumers' credit cards could indicate the opportunity for the Applicant to create additional cash flow to satisfy a cash flow problem. In the present instance there were eight consumers who has complained to the Registrar's office that they had been double billed by the Applicant without their authority or permission. The Applicant had also failed, despite repeated requests by the Registrar, to file financial statements as required by the regulations and had not filed Form 1 as required by the regulations regarding compulsory contributions due by it to the Ontario Travel Industry Compensation Fund. ("Compensation Fund")

Taking into account the complaints of numerous consumers, the failure to file financial statements as called for by the regulations as well as the failure to file Form 1 and make payment of amounts due to the Compensation Fund, the Registrar issued the Proposal to revoke the Applicant's registration.

In concluding his testimony, Pepper stated that it is accepted in the travel industry that when a consumer tenders his or her credit card to a travel agent in payment of anticipated travel services to be supplied by an end supplier, the cost of such services are debited by the end supplier only against the credit card of the consumer. The Travel agent does not charge the consumer with the cost of anticipated travel services

LORI FURLAN

The next witness called to testify on behalf of the Registrar was Lori Furlan who stated that she is the claim's coordinator in the office of the Registrar and as such is responsible for the assessment of all Registrants' obligations under the regulations insofar as their contributions to the Compensation Fund are concerned.

Form 1 filings and Compensation Fund payments

Furlan testified that she is familiar with the Applicant. She became involved with the Applicant when it failed to file the Form 1 due to be filed for the period ending November 30, 1999. All registrants, including the Applicant, are required to contribute twice a year to the Compensation Fund. Such contributions are based upon financial information disclosed by a Registrant in the Form 1.

Contributions to the Compensation Fund shall be made within 45 days after the end of a Registrant's fiscal year and fiscal half year. The fiscal year end of the Applicant is November 30.

Furlan testified that the Form 1 due for the fiscal period ending May 31, 1999 was filed by the Applicant on August 27, 1999 although the due date for filing same was July 15, 1999.

The Form 1 for the fiscal period ending November 30, 1999 due to be filed by January 14, 2000 has not been filed by the Applicant despite reminders sent to the Applicant on January 27, 2000 and February 9, 2000.

Financial Statements

Furlan stated that under section 24 of the regulations under the Act, Registrants must file with the Registrar financial statements for each fiscal year.

The Applicant was required to file financial statements for the fiscal period ending November 30, 1999 by February 29, 2000. The Applicant was advised by letter dated November 4, 1999 from the Registrar that the aforementioned statement was due on February 29, 2000 but was not filed by Applicant. On March 2, 2000, the Applicant was again reminded by the Registrar to file such statement and was given until March 24, 2000 to file same. On March 24, 2000, Roy Smith an employee of the Applicant advised the Registrar that such statements would be filed by April 15, 2000.

Despite Smith's promise, no financial statements, as required by the regulations, have been filed by the Applicant with the Registrar.

RACHEL PALOZZI

Rachel Palozzi was the next witness to testify on behalf of the Registrar. She stated that she is a compliance officer and investigator with the office of the Registrar. She was made aware of certain complaints by consumers against the Applicant, and made certain enquiries and investigations. The following consumers' complaints are those of which Palozzi became aware.

Complaint by Patricia Onysko

Onysko's complaint was that in February 1999 she had booked four airline tickets with the Applicant and had paid the cost of such tickets, totaling $1,820.00 by way of her mother's credit card. Subsequently, when her mother received her credit card statement from the bank she found that she had been debited by Air Transat in the sum of $1,820.00 and had been debited a further $1,820.00 by the Applicant.

The aforesaid debits were entered on the cardholder's account at the beginning of February 1999. By approximately the end of April 1999 this double charge against the cardholder's account had not been rectified by the Applicant despite the complaint having been brought to the Applicant's attention by Onysko as far back as March 22, 1999. When Onysko complained to the Applicant regarding the double debit, the Applicant "as a goodwill gesture" undertook to pay the cost of early seat selection for the four tickets. Despite this undertaking, a charge of $120.00 appeared on the cardholder's account in respect of early seat selection.

Upon Onysko filing a complaint with the Registrar, Palozzi unsuccessfully attempted to communicate with the Applicant by telephone. Accordingly, Palozzi made a site inspection of the Applicant's premises. When Palozzi came to the Applicant's premises, she noted that the site was under construction and did not appear to contain an office of a travel agent.

Some four days after the site visit, Palozzi was able to speak with Roy Smith, an employee of the Applicant. Palozzi advised Smith of Onysko's complaint and requested an explanation or response. Subsequent to speaking with Smith, Palozzi met with Smith and the President of the Applicant, one Edward Barclay, on May 10, 2000.

Only then were the charges by the Applicant of $1,820.00 and $120.00 resolved, by the Applicant passing the necessary credits to the cardholder's account.

Complaint by David Strachan

Strachan booked hotel accommodation in the United States through the Applicant and authorized the use of his credit card for payment of $400.00 as a deposit on the accommodation. On March 24, 1999 this sum was debited to Strachan's credit card account by the hotel. The cost of hotel accommodation (less the deposit) was to be paid by Strachan to the hotel when the services were provided to Strachan. The Applicant had no permission from Strachan to authorize any other debit to his credit card. Despite this Strachan, when he received his credit card account, found an unauthorized debit of $1,000.00 by the Applicant for the cost of hotel accommodation. When in the United States, Strachan had already paid the hotel for the cost of accommodation. At that time he had not received his credit card account reflecting the charge of $1,000.00 by the Applicant.

When Strachan, after his return from the United States, received his credit card account, he contacted the Applicant. Unsuccessful in obtaining repayment of the charge put through by the Applicant, Strachan enlisted the assistance of the Registrar who took the matter up with the Applicant. It was only on July 9, 1999 that the Registrar closed its file when, not having heard further from Strachan the Registrar assumed the matter had been settled by Applicant to Strachan's satisfaction.

Complaint by Mary DeSwert

On February 4, 2000, Scotiabank wrote to Palozzi on behalf of a customer, one Ms. DeSwert, who claimed that her credit card had been debited by Premier Holidays for travel services supplied to DeSwert. This charge for $675.00, was entered against DeSwert's credit card account on March 15, 1999. On April 27, 1999 a further debit for the sum of $675.00 was passed against DeSwert's same account by the Applicant. Upon complaining to the Applicant regarding the unauthorized charge by the Applicant, the matter was rectified by the Applicant passing a credit against her account.

In January 2000, DeSwert noticed that once again her credit card account had been debited with the sum of $675.00 by the Applicant. No permission or authorization from DeSwert had been given to the Applicant regarding this debit. On February 9, 2000, the Registrar, following a complaint made by DeSwert, wrote to the Applicant for an explanation. Not having heard from the Applicant, the Registrar wrote again on February 29, 2000 requesting an explanation.

By letter dated March 8, 2000 addressed to the Registrar, the Applicant stated that it had corrected the January 2000 debit passed against DeSwert's credit card account.

Complaint by William Curry

According to Palozzi, Mr. Curry advised the Registrar on February 18, 2000 that he had purchased two air tickets through the Applicant for the sum of $1,320.00. This purchase was made on January 12, 2000. Curry stated that his credit card account was debited twice in regard to this transaction, once by Air Transat on January 13, 2000 and again by the Applicant on the same date. In both instances the debits were for $1,320.00. When Curry complained to the Applicant on January 25, 2000, he was assured that the debit passed by the Applicant would be reversed. By February 18, 2000 no credit had been passed to the account of Curry and after being assured by the credit card company that it had received no reversal notice from the Applicant, Curry took the matter up with the Registrar.

Palozzi testified that a letter was addressed to the Applicant on February 29, 2000 and telephone messages were subsequently left with the Applicant. On March 8, 2000 the Applicant furnished the Registrar with documentation to the effect that Curry's complaint had been resolved.

Complaint by Paul Gazo

On March 15, 2000 the Registrar received a complaint from Paul Gazo who stated that he booked two airline tickets to Vienna through the Applicant. Gazo gave his credit card number to the Applicant and authorized the debit only of the deposit of $400.00 to his credit card account. Gazo was advised by the Applicant that the balance on the airline tickets would become due by mid April 2000. When Gazo received his credit card statement there appeared two charges on that statement, each charge being for $1,500.00. One charge was in favour of Canada 3000, an airline, and the other charge was in favour of the Applicant.

When Gazo complained to the Applicant, he was assured the double billing would be rectified by the Applicant. When no rectification took place, Gazo contacted the credit card company who "charged back" $1,500.00 to his account. Gazo was expecting a charge of only $400.00 on his credit card account. The credit card company at the request of Gazo "charged back" the second $1,500.00 charge as well.

When Gazo's complaint came into the hands of the Registrar, a complaints officer named Minah Oh contacted the Applicant and spoke with Smith of the Applicant who stated "the tour operator" had charged $1,500.00, the full cost of the airline tickets, when only the deposit of $400.00 should have been charged. The Applicant, according to Smith, then guaranteed the full amount of the two airline tickets to the "tour operator". The Applicant at that time placed a $400.00 charge in respect of the deposit against Gazo's credit card account. He explained that the two airline tickets, the cost being guaranteed by the Applicant, were then delivered to the Applicant's office, and on payment by Gazo to the Applicant of the cost of the tickets the Applicant would release the tickets to Gazo.

No further assistance was required of the Registrar to finalize the matter.

Complaint by Joe D'urzo

D'Urzo complained to the Registrar that he had booked six airline tickets, at $199.00 per ticket, through the Applicant. The total charge for the tickets was $1,194.00. However, the Applicant also placed a charge of $123.00 per ticket against the credit card of D'Urzo for a total $738.00 in respect of "service charges and taxes". When D'Urzo queried this latter charge, he was advised by the Applicant that it would be rectified. According to Palozzi, there is no indication that this matter has been rectified by the Applicant.

Complaint by John Andrews

Andrews' complaint relates to a hotel booking at Nassau Beach. The Applicant made this booking on behalf of Andrews. The cost of the accommodation was $1,052.00 and was paid by Andrews authorizing a charge against his credit card account. When Andrews received his credit card statement, there were two charges reflected on the account, each for $1,052.00. Both charges were entered against his account on April 17, 2000. One charge was in favour of Sunquest Vacations, the supplier, and the other charge was in favour of the Applicant. Palozzi stated in her testimony that no resolution of Andrews' complaint of double billing has been reached, and the unauthorized charge of $1,052.00 by the Applicant has not been reversed.

Complaint by North American Leisure Group

Palozzi testified that the above group operates under the name of Sunquest Vacations, suppliers of package vacations.

On June 20, 2000, the collection coordinator of the Group contacted Palozzi and reported that the Group's bank had advised that three consumers had complained to the bank "regarding double charges" that the Applicant had made. The three consumers were Nuno Martins, Emilia Lonsdale and Peter Frankfort, and the amount involved in each instance was $2,110.52, $1,400.00 and $1,569.76 respectively. In each instance, Sunquest Vacations had charged the above persons for travel services in the amounts stated while at the same time the Applicant through whom the travel service reservations were made, had put through identical charges against the persons' credit card accounts.

The dates on which the double charges were put through by the Applicant, according to the documents supplied by Sunquest Vacations to Palozzi, were April 10, May 5 and May 1, 2000 respectively.

Due to the recent nature of these allegations, Palozzi could not comment on whether the double charges had been resolved.

Complaint by Conquest Vacations

Palozzi testified that Travel Reservations drew a cheque dated June 14, 2000 payable to "Conquest" for $356.22. "Conquest" is a tour operator and a supplier of travel services. This cheque was not honoured by Travel Reservations bank upon presentation for payment and was returned to Conquest marked "N.S.F.".

The Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations (the "Companies Branch") issued a report produced by it on June 21, 2000 that the Applicant had on April 4, 1999 registered as one of its current business names, the name "Travel Reservations".

Palozzi further testified that the Registrar's inspector stated that when serving the Temporary Suspension Order on the Applicant on June 21, 2000, he was advised by Roy Smith that the Applicant had that morning delivered to Conquest Vacations a money order dated June 21, 2000 for $381.22 in respect of the dishonoured cheque. Roy Smith also informed the inspector that the Form 1 filing together with accompanying payment, as well as overdue financial statements, "were at the Licence Appeal Tribunal".

Following the Registrar's witnesses, Roy F. Smith, agent for the Applicant gave evidence.

ROY F. SMITH

Smith testified that he is employed by the Applicant on a contract basis to assist in the administration of the Applicant's business. In that capacity, he manages the accounting aspects of the Applicant. He stated that he was a licenced Chartered Accountant in Ontario and has some 20 years experience in the travel industry, having been employed with various travel agencies during that time. Since the Applicant's registration in September 1998, he has worked for the Applicant.

Financial Statements

Smith stated he was aware that the Applicant is obliged to file financial statements and Form 1's with the Registrar as prescribed by the Act and its regulations.

He is aware that the Applicant is required to file financial statements for each fiscal year. The filing of financial statements is to be made within three months of the end of the fiscal year; semi-annual financial statements are to be filed within forty five days of the end of each half year during the fiscal year. The Applicant originally chose August 31 as its fiscal year end but changed this fiscal year end to November 30.

He conceded that the Applicant was reminded by the Registrar on November 4, 1999 that the November 30, 1999 financial statements were to be filed by no later than February 29, 2000. He further acknowledged that the Registrar wrote to the Applicant on March 2, 2000 reminding the Applicant to file the then overdue November 30, 1999 financial statements. Again on March 9, 2000, the Registrar wrote to the Applicant requesting the filing of the financial statements for the fiscal year ended November 30, 1999 by no later than March 24, 2000. He further conceded that when on March 27, 2000, one Jack Foster, an inspector designated by the Registrar, visited the Applicant, Foster again reminded him that the overdue financial statements had yet to be filed by the Applicant.

Smith admitted that to date no financial statements have been filed by the Applicant with the Registrar which comply with section 24(1) of regulation 806/93 and the Applicant has not complied with either sections 24(2) or (3) or (4) of that regulation.

Smith stated he knew Form 1 filings were to be made by the Applicant and were to be accompanied by payment as required by the regulations under the Act. He knew that such filings and payments are to be made within forty five days after the Applicant's fiscal year end and fiscal half-year end.

Smith conceded that the Form 1 filing due on July 15, 1999 for the original fiscal year ending May 31, 1999 had only been filed on August 27, 1999. He also conceded that the Form 1 filing due for the period ending November 30, 1999 was not filed by the due date of January 4, 2000 and that the Registrar had written the Applicant by letter dated January 27, 2000, giving it until February 10, 2000 to file and make due payment. Smith conceded that a further letter was sent by the Registrar to the Applicant requiring the filing of this Form 1 by no later than February 24, 2000.

Smith also stated that on July 7, 2000, after the service of the Notice of Proposal to Revoke the Applicant's registration and after the commencement of the hearing of the Applicant's appeal, the Applicant did file the Form 1 that was originally due for filing by January 14, 2000.

Trust Account

Smith stated that the Applicant was receiving monies from clients and that the Applicant's trust account was active. He also stated that the Applicant's trust account was "running" in a negative position at various times and that he knew this "is not proper". He further stated that, for a time, payments received by the Applicant from consumers were being deposited by the Applicant into its General banking account.

Smith also stated that the Applicant had four permitted and authorized bank accounts upon which it operated. There was, he stated, a corporation unrelated to the Applicant that conducted a banking account under the style or name of Travel Reservations. This corporation had authorized Smith to operate on its aforesaid banking account.

Smith stated that funds were received by the Applicant from a client of the Applicant for travel services. These travel services were to be supplied by Conquest Vacations. Smith stated that a cheque drawn by Travel Reservations on its banking account in favour of Conquest Vacations in payment of this client's travel services was dishonoured on presentation by Conquest Vacations to the bank. This cheque was dated June 14, 2000 and was for the sum of $365.22. Smith stated further that this non-payment of monies due to Conquest Vacations had been rectified by the Applicant on June 21, 2000 when a money order was sent to Conquest Vacations. Smith conceded that the funds due for the Conquest Vacations travel services were not deposited to Applicant's trust account as they should have been.

Complaint by Patricia Onysko

Smith did not deny that both Air Transat and the Applicant had charged Onysko the sum of $1,820.00 for air tickets issued by Air Transat. Smith stated that the Applicant took details of Onysko's credit card from her and obtained her authorization to have the cost of the air tickets debited to her credit card account. The Applicant obtained approval from the credit card company and passed the approval number given to the Applicant to Air Transat so that the latter could charge the air tickets to Onysko's credit card account. The Applicant advised Air Transat of the approval number.

Smith conceded that the Applicant also charged Onysko's credit card account with the sum of $1,820.00 upon obtaining the credit card company's approval. He denied that the Applicant received a credit to its bank account in respect of the charge it made against Onysko's account. He also denied that the $120.00 charge against Onysko's account was an error and stated it was never agreed that the seat selection charge would be free to Onysko. He did concede that the Applicant did pass credits to Onysko's account in respect of the charges of $1,820.00 and $120.00.

Complaint by David Strachan

Smith stated that Strachan booked a package deal through the Applicant. The package was in respect of accommodation at Seacrest Resort in Myrtle Beach together with golf privileges. He stated that Strachan gave the Applicant his credit card account number so that the Applicant could attend to the reservation in Myrtle Beach and that he passed Strachan's credit card information to the Seacrest Resort. Seacrest Resort charged the credit card account of Strachan with $200.00 U.S. ($306.76 Canadian) being the deposit required to reserve the accommodation.

Smith admitted that the Applicant also put through a charge against Strachan's credit card account for $1,000.00. This sum, he said, was then forwarded by the Applicant to Seacrest Resort on behalf of Strachan for accommodation services that Strachan would receive from Seacrest Resort. Strachan was due to arrive at the resort on April 3, 1999 but did not show up until April 4, 1999 at which time the accommodation was no longer available to Strachan and he was told by the resort that the $1,000.00 paid by the Applicant on his behalf was forfeited. The resort, however, did obtain other accommodation for Strachan which Strachan then paid. When Strachan returned to Toronto after his trip, he lodged a complaint. The Applicant then approached the Seacrest Resort and as a result refunded the $1,000.00 to the Applicant which was in turn refunded to Strachan.

Complaint by DeSwert

Smith stated that it obtained travel services for DeSwert through a wholesaler, Premier Holidays. DeSwert authorized the cost of the Travel Services, namely $675.00, to be debited to her credit card account. She gave the Applicant details of her credit card, which the Applicant passed to Premier Holidays who, on March 15, 1999, charged the $675.00 to DeSwert's account. The Applicant also debited $675.00 to her account on the same date that Premier Holidays charged $675.00 to DeSwert's account. When this latter debit of $675.00 was brought to the Applicant's attention, it passed a credit on April 27, 1999 to DeSwert's account. Smith stated that the credit of the $675.00 was passed as the debit was an error and unauthorized by DeSwert.

Subsequently, on June 21, 2000, the Applicant again charged the credit card account of DeSwert with $675.00 which Smith stated was reversed after Palozzi of the Registrar's office took the matter up with the Applicant following a complaint lodged with the Registrar by DeSwert.

Complaint by Curry

Smith stated the while he does not dispute that Curry's credit card statement reflects two debits of $1,320.00 each, one regarding Air Transat and the other regarding the Applicant, the Applicant at no time requested the credit card company to debit Curry's credit card statement with $1,320.00. Smith could not say how it occurred that the Applicant was shown on Curry's credit card statement to have been paid or credited with the sum of $1,320.00.

Complaint by Gazo

Smith stated that Gazo did book air tickets on Canada 3000 through the Applicant. Gazo gave his credit card account information to the Applicant and authorized payment to be made against his card account. The cost of the air tickets, namely $1,500.00, was charged by Canada 3000 against the credit card account of Gazo. Simultaneously, the Applicant charged the credit card of Gazo with $1,500.00. This charge by the Applicant was conceded by Smith to have been made in error by the Applicant who had no authorization from Gazo to charge this account. When the Applicant discovered its error, it reversed the charge of $1,500.00 although the reversal took some time to take effect.

Complaint by D'Urzo

Smith conceded the there had been an incorrect charge made by the Applicant to the credit card account of D'Urzo. The incorrect charge related to service charges and taxes on air tickets debited D'Urzo on May 2, 2000.

Smith contended that the fare charged by the Applicant for each air ticket was $199.00. In addition, the Applicant charged $123.00 per ticket in respect of service charges and taxes. There were six air tickets charged to D'Urzo which, including taxes and service charges, totalled $1,932.00. D'Urzo complained to the Applicant that he had been overcharged on service charges and taxes. Upon investigating, the Applicant discovered there had been an overcharge on service charges and taxes of $24.00 per ticket, which amounted to a total overcharge by the Applicant in respect of the six air tickets of $144.00. Smith contended that this sum of $144.00 was refunded to D'Urzo by cheque dated May 19, 2000.

Complaint by Andrews

Smith conceded that the Applicant had debited the credit card account of Andrews with the amount of $1,052.00. He also conceded that Sunquest Vacations had on the same date debited Andrew's account with $1,052.00. He stated that the Applicant had obtained Andrew's credit card information from Andrews and had passed this information through to Sunquest Vacations, the supplier of the travel services. The Applicant had no authorization from Andrews to charge Andrew's account with travel services.

Complaint by North America Group

Smith denied that the Applicant had charged the credit card accounts of Martins, Lonsdale or Frankfort with any amounts as alleged by these three parties.

18. It is normal and accepted practice in the Travel Industry in Ontario that a travel agent when selling travel services to a consumer, which travel services are to be supplied by a wholesaler, shall not debit or charge the consumer's credit card account for such travel services and that such travel services are only debited or charged by the wholesale supplier of the travel services to the credit card account of the consumer.

DECISION AND REASONS:

The onus of proof in this matter falls on the Registrar.

The Tribunal has had the opportunity to listen to and observe the various witnesses for the Registrar as well as Roy F. Smith the sole witness for the Applicant. There was some divergence as regards the evidence tendered by the Registrar and his witnesses and the evidence of Smith. Where the parties' evidence diverged the Tribunal prefers the evidence of the Registrar and his witnesses to the evidence of Smith. The Tribunal was not impressed by Smith's evidence. The Tribunal found Smith's testimony to be without credibility on a number of major issues. He was also evasive when giving testimony and under cross-examination.

The Tribunal rejects the contention advanced by Smith that even where a consumer has produced his or her credit card statement which shows that the Applicant had charged for travel services, the Applicant has not received payment for such travel services by way of a credit to its bank account. This contention is inconsistent with the Applicant, time and time again, making restitution to consumers. The Applicant would not have done this if the Applicant had not originally debited the consumers' credit card accounts and obtained payment from such consumers' credit card company.

The Tribunal finds that where a consumer's credit card statement reflects a charge against the consumer in favour of the Applicant, the Applicant was in fact paid such sum as is reflected on the statement.

The requirement that registrants file financial statements in terms of section 24(1) of the Regulation 806/93 and file Form 1 with the requisite payment in terms of section 47(1) of Regulation 806/93 are peremptory. The reason for the filing of financial statements for each fiscal year is to enable the Registrar to adequately gauge the financial health of a registrant. In this matter, no financial statements have been filed by the Applicant with the Registrar, and accordingly the Applicant has not complied with section 24 of regulation 806/93. If the Registrar had ignored the Applicant's failure to file financial statements, the Registrar would have failed in his duties under the Act to monitor the financial health of the Applicant and to protect the interests of the consumer which are of paramount importance.

The failure of the Applicant to file financial statements leads to an inability by the Registrar to determine the minimum working capital that the Applicant should maintain as required by section 25 of regulation 806/93.

The Applicant contended, through the testimony of Smith, that difficulties the Applicant experienced with its accountants and/or Revenue Canada in the completion of its balance sheet was a reason or excuse for the not filing Form 1 on its due date. The Tribunal does not agree. The form need not be accompanied by financial statements. All that is required is the completion of Form 1 indicating the registrant's sales for the reporting period and the payment of any amount owing to the Compensation Fund in respect of sales during the reporting period. There has clearly been a failure on the part of the Applicant to comply with the mandatory requirements of section 47(1) of regulation 806/93.

In addition, Section 36(1) of the aforementioned regulation requires all registrants to maintain a trust account and 36(2) requires all registrants to deposit all customer funds received into that account. While the Applicant may have maintained a trust account, Smith conceded that the Applicant's trust account was in a negative position from time to time. From the documentary evidence placed before the Tribunal it is apparent that the Applicant's trust account reflects a negative balance on many occasions. This Smith conceded was improper.

The Tribunal views the fact that the trust account of the Applicant was in negative position as indicative of poor or inadequate supervision of customer's monies which should have been scrupulously safeguarded in a properly managed trust account. In and of itself, this poorly managed account indicates and supports the Registrar's belief that the Applicant cannot reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of its business.

As to the complaints by various consumers, the Tribunal reiterates that the evidence of witnesses for the Registrar, whose evidence was supported by documentary evidence, is far more compelling and probable than Smith's testimony. Quite apart from the aforesaid, Smith conceded that the Applicant passed debits against consumers well knowing that those consumers also faced a legitimate debit by the supplier of travel services. When faced with repeated evidence of so called "double debits", Smith attempted to have the Tribunal accept that such double debits were due to errors committed by the Applicant. The Tribunal does not accept that the repeated double debiting by the Applicant were errors. The repeated double debiting by the Applicant indicates, in the Tribunal's opinion, a deliberate course of conduct by the Applicant to, as Pepper stated in his testimony, create additional cash flow for the Applicant at the expense of innocent consumers.

The Applicant, by debiting various customers' credit card accounts with unauthorized amounts, wrongfully obtained the use of funds for varying periods of time. Its repetition indicatives and supports the belief of the Registrar that a cash flow problem exists and there was and is justifiable concern as to the financial viability of the Applicant.

In summary therefore the Tribunal finds that,

- the non filing of financial statements by the Applicant as required by the regulations,
- the non filing of Form 1 by the Applicant as required by the regulations,
- the negative balance in the Applicant's trust account over various periods of time,
- the Applicant as recently as June 14, 2000 issuing a cheque to a supplier of travel services without having the necessary funds to meet that cheque resulting in that cheque being dishonoured and marked "N.S.F.", and
- the unauthorized debiting of customer's credit card accounts thereby obtaining the use of funds when those funds were not due to the Applicant, all lead the Tribunal to find that the Applicant cannot reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of it business as is required by section 4(1)(c)(ii) of the Act. Also, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant is carrying on activities that are in contravention of the Act or the regulations as stated in section 4(1)(d) of the Act.

DECISION:

Pursuant to the authority vested in it by subsection 6(4) of the Travel Industry Act, the Tribunal directs the Registrar to carry out his proposal to revoke the registration of the 1296347 Ontario Ltd. o/a Bargain Travel Holidays.

General Motors Acceptance Corporation Of Canada
Limited ("GMAC Leaseco")
Applicant

DATE OF MOTION: August 4, 2000

ORDER

A motion was heard on August 4, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's request for an extension of time to appeal the impoundment order of the Registrar affecting the Applicant's motor vehicle. The motion is brought pursuant to Section 20(7) of Ontario Regulation 632/98 amending Regulation 574 of the Revised Regulations of Ontario, 1990 made under the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990. c.H.8 amended ("HTA").

Submissions of Written Material

The Applicant submitted the following documents:

1. Copy of Notice of Appeal/Owner's Position in Appeal received July 14, 2000 (Exhibit #1).

2. Copy of letter from GMAC Leaseco dated July 13, 2000 authorizing Ms. Vivian to appeal the impoundment (Exhibit #2).
3. Copy of a letter dated June 12, 2000 from the Ministry of Transportation addressed to Ms. Vivian advising of the 180-day impoundment (Exhibit #3).
4. Copy of owner's vehicle ownership permits (Exhibit #4).
5. Notice of Motion dated and received by the Tribunal on July 25, 2000 by Paul S. Lewin, Agent for Ms. Vivian (Exhibit #5).
6. Copy of Ministry of Transportation's Notice of Motion to dismiss ground of exceptional hardship (Exhibit "6").
7. Certified copies of 5 Orders to Impound for GMAC Leaseco including Ms. Vivian's recent impound (Exhibit "7").

The Facts

The Applicant is the owner of a motor vehicle impounded for a period of 180 days pursuant to an order of the Registrar issued under section 55.1 of the Highway Traffic Act R.S.O. 1990, c. H.8 as amended (the "Act"). The Applicant leases the vehicle to Karen A. Vivian, who entered into a 3-year lease agreement with the Applicant in April, 1998. Karen A Vivian acted as agent for the Applicant in this appeal.

The Applicant's explanation for not filing an appeal of the impoundment of its vehicle within the required 15 days was that:

1. The motor vehicle was impounded on June 11, 2000, by Ms. Vivian's son-in-law, whose driver's licence was under suspension at the time of impoundment. An Order to Impound was issued on June 12, 2000.
2. The Applicant testified that she is employed by the New Democratic Party ("NDP"). The NDP's annual convention was to take place on June 14, 2000 through to June 18, 2000. She was obliged to work late leading up to the convention as well as having to stay in Hamilton during the course of the convention.
3. During the week of June 19, 2000, after her return from the convention, she spent the week trying to contact the Ministry of Transportation as well as the Licence Appeal Tribunal at the phone numbers provided on the back of the yellow copy of the Notice to Registrar without success.
4. On or about June 26, 2000, Ms. Vivian faxed the Ministry of Transportation hoping that someone would contact her with regard to this impoundment. Once she did speak with someone at the Ministry of Transportation, she was advised that the reason for the 180-day impoundment was because she had a history of vehicle impoundments. The Ministry of Transportation advised her in calling GMAC Leaseco to obtain information with regard to the impoundment.
5. On or about July 4, 2000, Ms. Vivian contacted the Licence Appeal Tribunal to obtain information and documentation with regard to the appeal process for her impounded vehicle. She received the materials sent by the Tribunal with regard to appealing the impoundment on July 10, 2000.
6. GMAC Leaseco forwarded their authorization letter to Ms. Vivian by letter dated July 13, 2000 to bring this appeal.
7. The Notice of Appeal together with the Owner's Position in Appeal was submitted and received by the Tribunal on July 14, 2000.

The Law

Section 20(1) of Regulation 632/98 states:

20. (1) An appeal to the Board under section 50.2 of the Act shall be commenced by filing a notice of appeal with the Board within 15 days of the issuance of the order to impound, together with a fee of $100 payable to the Minister of Finance.

Section 20(7) of Regulation 632/98 states:

20. (7) Despite subsection (1), the Board may extend the time for commencing an appeal if the owner establishes that the owner, acting in good faith, was unable through accident, illness, or other cause beyond the owner's control to bring the appeal within the prescribed 15 days.

Section 7 of the Licence Appeal Tribunal Act, 1999 states:

7. Despite any limitation of time fixed by or under any Act for the giving of any notice requiring a hearing by the Tribunal or an appeal from a decision or order of the Tribunal under section 11 or any other Act, if the Tribunal is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for applying for the extension and for granting relief, it may,

- (a) extend the time for giving the notice either before or after the expiration of the limitation of time so limited; and
- (b) give the directions that it considers proper as a result of extending the time.

The Order

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO REFUSE TO GRANT an extension of the time to commence this appeal for the following reasons.

REASONS FOR ORDER

Section 20(7) of Regulation 632/98, provides the Tribunal with the specific criteria that the Applicant must meet to satisfy the Tribunal that an extension of the time for commencing an appeal ought to be granted. The Applicant must establish that the owner, acting in good faith, was unable through accident, illness or other cause beyond the owner's control to bring the appeal within the prescribed 15 days in circumstances where the Registrar does not give his or her consent in writing for an appeal to be commenced after the expiry of the prescribed time. The criteria listed in Section 20(7), which the Tribunal should consider in granting an extension, are matters outside the Appellant's control. There is no provision for the Applicant's failure to communicate with the Ministry of Transportation and the Licence Appeal Tribunal. Such circumstances are not beyond the Applicant's control.

The evidence presented does not establish that the Applicant's delay in appealing the order impounding the vehicle, under Section 55.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, was the result of accident, illness or other cause beyond the Applicant's control as required by section 20(1) as read with section 20(7) of Regulation 632/98.

Accordingly, the Applicant has not demonstrated to the Tribunal that there was cause beyond the Applicant's control to bring the appeal within the prescribed 15 days as required by section 20(1) as read with section 20(7) of Regulation 632/98.

Shortly after Ms. Vivian was provided with the yellow copy of the Notice to Registrar from her son-in-law following the impoundment, it is the Tribunal's opinion that reasonable steps were not taken on Ms. Vivian's part to expeditiously inquiry and/or file the necessary paperwork for the appeal process. In lieu of the fact that she was detained on work-related issues for approximately 1 week, the option of having a friend, family member and/or her son-in-law look into determining what steps she should need to take during her absence were not considered.

Ms. Vivian's Notice of Appeal to the impoundment was dated July 14, 2000. The Tribunal received it on the same day, 33 days into the impoundment period, and 18 days past the appeal deadline date prescribed by Section 20(1) of Regulation 632/98 made under the Highway Traffic Act. The motion presently before the Tribunal is for an order, in terms of section 20(7) of the above regulation, for an extension of the time for the filing of the Notice of Appeal.

Further, the Applicant has not demonstrated to the Tribunal that there are reasonable grounds for applying for the extension and for granting relief. Accordingly, the requirements under section 7 of the Licence Appeal Tribunal Act also have not been met.

The motion brought by the Applicant to the Tribunal for an extension of time to appeal is therefore dismissed. It follows that this Tribunal will not proceed with the Applicant's appeal, and that the proceedings in this matter are therefore concluded.

DATES OF HEARING: May 29, 30, 31, 2000
and June 1, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

The Registrar, Motor Vehicle Dealers Act, issued his Notice of Proposal on February 3, 1999, to revoke the registration of Gaetan Lagace o/a Gater's Auto Refinishing and Auto Sales and to refuse the registration of 1302734 Ontario Inc. By letter dated February 11, 1999, the Applicants requested a hearing before the Commercial Registration Appeal Tribunal (which as of April 1st, 2000 is known as the Licence Appeal Tribunal). A Notice of Further or Other Particulars was issued by the Registrar on May 3, 1999.

The initial hearing dates for this matter were scheduled for June 9,10,11, 1999. At the request of the Registrar an adjournment was granted. The hearing was adjourned to September 9, 1999 for a prehearing. No prehearing was held on September 9, 1999. On consent of the parties the matter was scheduled for a hearing for January 26, 27, and 28, 2000. The parties then agreed to a further adjournment but could not agree as to the length of the adjournment. A motion on that issue was held on January 26, 2000. The order by the Tribunal was to adjourn the matter for a hearing to start on May 29 and continue as necessary on May 30, 31 and June 1, 2000. A prehearing was scheduled for May 1, 2000. The prehearing proceeded, and the Tribunal made certain orders as to disclosure of documents and the evidence to be presented by certain witnesses. The hearing proceeded before all parties on May 29, 30, 31 and June 1, 2000.

ISSUES:

Did the Registrar have reasonable grounds for belief that the Applicants will not carry on their business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty?

PRELIMINARY ISSUES:

It was brought to the attention of the Tribunal by Counsel for the Applicants and Counsel for the Registrar that there were issues as to the admissibility of certain evidence; in particular, the Tribunal was asked to consider the witness statements of consumers who would not be testifying at the hearing. Counsel agreed to hear the evidence of several of the customers and of the police officers who had been subpoenaed and ready to present their evidence. The argument on the admissibility of hearsay evidence was put over to the second day of the hearing. The Tribunal will deal with this matter now and then proceed to comment on the evidence of the witnesses.

Position of Counsel for the Applicants:

Counsel for the Applicants argued that while section 15 of the Statutory Powers Procedures Act permits the Tribunal to admit hearsay evidence, the Tribunal should refuse to admit such evidence if its admission will cause unfairness and violate the rules of natural justice. Counsel, argued that the hearsay evidence provided by consumers who did testify, for example, what a mechanic said to them, should not be admitted. She also argued against admitting as evidence the statements of what consumers who would not be testifying at the hearing said to an investigator for the Registrar. Her points were as follows:

1. This is a hearing for the revocation of a licence. It has serious impact on the ability of the Applicants to earn a livelihood. Any allegations made by such consumers as to dishonesty go straight to the issue of the credibility of the Applicants.
2. Cross-examination is an important concept of the rules of natural justice and one cannot cross-examine their evidence through a third person or via witness with say statements. In this case, evidence from 6 or 7 consumers would not be open to cross-examination by Counsel for the Applicants.

Counsel for the Applicant referred to a number of cases as follows:

RE Coates et al and Registrar of Motor Vehicle Dealers and Salesmen (1988) 65 O.R.(2d) 526 Div. Ct. which states at page 534: "In revoking a registration the tribunal is interfering with a right to make a living that has been equated to a property right...." "While the grant or refusal of a licence may be regulated as a matter of privilege, rather than right, the revocation of an existing licence has always been regarded as an interference with a right, not a privilege."

Re: B and Catholic Children's Aid Society of Metropolitan Toronto (1987) 59 O.R. (2d) 417 Div.Ct., which at page 420 dealt with there being no reason why the victim could not have testified. At page 421 the Court states: "It is our view that in the circumstances mentioned, where the appellant was denied the right to cross-examine the alleged victim, the admission of hearsay evidence did amount to a denial of natural justice; the hearing in this case fell below the minimum requirement of fairness."

Innisfil Township v Vespra Township (1981) 2 S.C.R.145 which states at page 165: “The Statutory Powers Procedure Act 1971 supra does not assist the respondent or the intervener, the Attorney General of Ontario in their opposition to the cross-examination of Mr. Fleming on the letter.....Section 10(c) is directly applicable to the issue at hand.”

Gilbert v Ontario (Provincial Police) (1999) O.J.No. 4784 (Sup.Ct.) which at page 2 speaks of the principle in Re B and Catholic Children’s Aid Society of Metropolitan Toronto “that the admission of hearsay evidence may result in a denial of natural justice if it prevents the subject of the inquiry from cross examining the complainant in respect of vital issues.”

Willette v R.C.M.P. (1985) 1 F.C. 423 (C.A.) at page 429 states: “The role of cross-examination has been described by the learned editors of Wigmore on Evidence (Chadbourn Rev.1974) vol. 5 at page 32, para. 1367, “as a vital feature of the law”, and as “the greatest legal engine ever invented for discovery of truth”. It has been observed that while an untruthful witness may show no sign of untruthfulness in his examination in chief yet “under skillful cross-examination it may be disclosed that he is unworthy of belief, that he is affected by some motive or bias which wholly destroys the value of his evidence”... and at page 430 refers to the Cheung v Minister of Employment and Immigration (1981) 2 F.C.764 decision where Mr. Justice Heald stated at p. 770 “essential that applicant’s counsel be given the opportunity to test and challenge” the evidence by cross-examination.

Bond v New Brunswick (Board of Management) (1992) 8 Admin. L.R.(2d) 100 (N.B.C.A.) which states at page104: “Is there a duty, however, on the adjudicator with respect to the grievor and the absence of this key evidence? I think that this was the fundamental concern of the judge on judicial review, that is, procedural fairness and natural justice.”

Barftashunas v Psychology Examiners (Ont. Div. Ct.) (1992) O.J.no. 1845 which states at page 3: “Under the SPPA hearsay evidence is admissible so long as its admission does not in the circumstances result in unfairness.”

Dayday v MacEwan (Ont. Div. Ct.) (1987) O.J.no. 1675 which states at page 8: “ I add only that, as a general rule, a trier of fact must always be vigilant of the inherent unreliability of hearsay evidence and that only in limited circumstances may a person properly be deprived of his liberty on the strength of such evidence.”

Position of Counsel for the Registrar:

Counsel for the Registrar stated that while some of the consumers will testify via the telephone, others were unable to be found. They have all given witness will say statements both to the police and to the Registrar's investigator. Counsel for the Registrar argued that the counsel for the Applicant can cross-examine the investigator as to the circumstances of the statements. It is entirely a fair procedure. There is no prejudice to the Applicants as will say statements have been provided.

Counsel argued that in the Dayday case, above, the court held that section 15 of the Statutory Powers and Procedures Act was applicable and that the review board did not error in its decision to admit and rely upon hearsay evidence.

In the Bartashunas case supra, the court held on page 4: "Although the Statutory Powers and Procedures Act might permit a wider use of this evidence than could be made in a court proceeding, it is clear that even on the civil or criminal standard the evidence was admissible and no misuse was made of it."

The RE: B and Catholic Children's Aid Society of Metropolitan Toronto case dealt with an alleged victim whose had recanted her previous testimony, which counsel stated is not the case here.

ORDER OF TRIBUNAL RESPECTING ADMISSABILITY OF EVIDENCE:

The oral decision of the Tribunal was to allow the hearsay evidence of those consumers who testified. They spoke of their cars being examined by mechanics, and they spoke of what these mechanics said to them as to the condition of their cars. Counsel for the Applicants had the opportunity to test them on their statements. The hearsay evidence was relevant to the proceeding. Its value outweighed any prejudice in it being hearsay. The Tribunal has the authority to allow such evidence under the Statutory Powers and Procedures Act ("SPPA"). The Tribunal can put such weight on this evidence as it feels it warrants under the circumstances.

The oral decision of the Tribunal was to disallow the hearsay evidence of the investigators who had spoken or interviewed certain consumers as to what those consumers were told by others, where these consumers would not be testifying at the hearing. The testimony of the consumers goes straight to the issues at hand – are these Applicants dishonest and lacking in integrity? There is no method by which the counsel for the Applicants can cross-examine these consumers. Cross-examination of a third party does not permit any opportunity to test those consumers for improper motive or bias or lack of recollection.

Procedural fairness is a concept that must be recognized by adjudicators of administrative tribunals and determined by the adjudicator in the particular circumstances of each case. It is trite law that the opportunity to cross-examine is a fundamental element of natural justice, which should be discarded lightly.

In this case, the statements of the consumers as to what Mr. or Mrs. Legace said to consumers who were examining vehicles at their motor vehicle dealership is key evidence to the proposal of the Registrar to revoke their licence. The Tribunal must always balance the duty to protect the public with the ability of an applicant to work in a regulated industry. Taking away the right of an applicant to have his business is an extremely serious action, and it should only be done when the Tribunal is convinced by the evidence before it. Hearsay evidence requires a consideration not only of its weight, but also its prejudice to the applicants. The ability to cross-examine is enshrined in the SPPA at section 10.

In this case, counsel for the Registrar has put before the Tribunal a number of consumers as witnesses. Counsel for the Applicants has had the opportunity to fully cross-examine those witnesses. This is the best evidence and should be viewed as such by the Tribunal. The decision to deny the hearsay evidence of a number of other consumers does not mean that the Registrar has had no ability to present his case. In these circumstances this Tribunal finds that the prejudicial nature of the hearsay evidence of the consumers not before this the Tribunal as witnesses outweighs its relevance to the case, and that evidence is excluded from this hearing.

EVIDENCE:

Testimony of Eric Lemieux:

Mr. Lemieux testified that he bought a 94 Mercury Tracer from Gater's Auto in September, 1998. The Tracer is the American version of the Escort. Mr. Lemieux spoke to Mr. Lagace and agreed upon the price of $7,000.00. Mr. Lagace told Mr. Lemieux that the car had been repaired and there was a spot showing from overspray from the paint used to repair the car. Mr. Lagace never told him that the car had been damaged. Mr. Lemieux does not remember if he asked Mr. Lagace if Mr. Lagace had repaired the car. Mr. Lemieux testified that he probably would have bought the car if he had known it was a salvage repair.

Under cross-examination Mr. Lemieux stated that Mr. Lagace had told him that the car looked like it could have been repaired but he did not know for sure.

Testimony of Laurie Noel:

Ms. Noel testified that she bought a 1995 Neon in October, 1997 from Gater's Auto. Mr. Lagace sold it to her. Ms. Noel obtained a lien package, checked the car, and there were no problems. It was an American car and it had a little rear end damage, minor damage, but no frame damage, according to Mr. Lagace. It had low mileage and was a low price, that being $9,000.00. About a year to a year and a half after buying the car, the police came and took it from her under a search and seizure warrant. They kept her car for about two months. She testified that she would not have purchased the car if she had known it was a write off. She was without a car for two months. Now she is nervous going across the U.S.A./Canada border in her car.

Under cross-examination, Ms. Noel agreed that her bill of sale states the car was accident repaired. She twice saw the car before buying it. She had her father with her, and they both talked to Mr. Lagace. Mr. Lagace said it was a minor fender bender. They thought he meant the bumper.

Ms. Noel agreed that the statement about no frame damage had not been mentioned to the police or the OMVIC investigator and she cannot be sure if Mr. Lagace said that.

Ms. Noel said her opinion of her car would have been affected even if she were told that only one part of it was damaged. She had an accident in April, 1998 on the QEW and sustained minor damage to her car and some back problems.

Testimony of Rich Ornel:

Mr. Ornel bought a 1995 Z24 Cavalier from Gater's Auto on March 18, 1998. He was told by Mr. Lagace that it had light front end damage. He noticed that the wiring was taped up and he was told it came from the manufacturers like that. Mr. Lagace told him it had two new air bags and a new windshield.

Mr. Ornel took his car to a mechanic who told him the car had been straightened out in the rear, the wheels were not parallel, the trunk closes in a crooked fashion and there has been bodywork done on the vehicle. The mechanic saw these things when he had the car up on the lift. Mr. Ornel stated that if he had known about this damage, he would not have purchased the car.

Under cross-examination Mr. Ornel stated that Mr. Lagace had told him it was an American car and that the air bags and the windshield had been replaced. He was told it was a light front end accident. He had seen the car 2 or 3 times before buying it. His statement to the police was made 8 months after buying the car, and his statement to the Registrar's investigator was in March, 1999. The car had gone to the mechanic as a prospective purchaser wanted it checked out. Mr. Ornel agreed that he had not told the Registrar's investigator about the doors and hood of the car not being parallel.

Testimony of Ann Robb:

Ms. Robb produced her retail bill of sale which did not have stamped on it a notation that it was an accident repair. The copy of her retail bill of sale in the documents submitted by the Registrar had accident repair stamped on it.

Ms. Robb testified that she bought a 1996 Dodge Neon from Gater's Auto. She was told by Mr. Lagace that it was an American car with 80,000 miles. She was told by Mr. Lagace that it had a little bit of damage to the right front end but nothing major. She took the car for two test drives and then bought it.

Ms. Robb submitted her estimates that she obtained after the car was returned to her from the police. The estimate showed work was required on her air conditioner, the left front bumper skirt, the left inner tie rod, and the right front strut. The repairs previously done to the car; including the right fender, rear exhaust and transmission, appear to be safe and functioning properly.

Ms. Robb testified that the police came on November 22, 1998 and took away her car under a warrant. She got it back in early February, 1999. In January, 1999 she suffered from depression and was hospitalized for 24 days. She was a high school teacher and could not work at her job again until April, 1999.

She understood that her car had come from Florida, gone to the west and then come to Gater's Auto. Mr. Lagace had said to her that it had been in a minor accident to the right front end with the damage being under $1000.00. Mr. Lagace said he repaired it.

Ms. Robb testified that in March, 1999 she had four new tires, and a brake system installed at Speedy Muffler. The mechanic pointed out to her that there were two different colour paints on the car – one red and the other blue. Ms Robb took her car back to Gater's as the rear speakers did not work and the car windows whistled. Mr. Lagace did give her two new speakers

Ms. Robb stated that she now understands that the right front end of her car has been replaced, including the strut, the tie rod, the drive axle and the transmission. If she had known of the car's condition, she would not have purchased the car.

Under cross-examination, Ms. Robb stated that her original bill of sale did not have accident repair stamped on it. She did get a safety certificate from another person. She had two visits with her father to view the car before she bought it. She gave a statement to the police in November, 1998 and a statement by telephone to Ian Knox of the Registrar's office in March, 1999.

Ms. Robb agreed that she cannot recall the exact words of her conversations with Mr. Lagace. She remembered Mr. Lagace saying "nothing major" and probably he said no frame damage. She knew it was an American car. She knew the warranty was voided due to the accident. She purchased another warranty, but she cannot recall if she paid extra for that warranty.

Ms. Robb stated that the police officers told her that they had traced the history of her car, and it had been involved in a severe car accident and had been US salvage. Mr. Knox told her they have pictures of the damage to her car.

Ms. Robb stated she was not told what is meant by "wreck" or "salvage". She thought the insurance company determines that. When she was out of the hospital, she did confront Mr. Lagace about her car.

Ms. Robb agreed that Mr. Lagace had offered to fix the whistling windows, but she had not brought the car back to allow him to do that.

Testimony of Jeff Levesque:

Mr. Levesque bought a 1995 Pontiac Sunfire from Mr. Lagace. He was told by Mr. Lagace that it had been in a minor rear end accident.

Under cross-examination Mr. Levesque stated that he had been told by Mr. Lagace that the rear end of the vehicle had been repaired. He cannot remember if Mr. Lagace used the word "minor". His statement to the Registrar's investigator states it was minor, but that word is not used in his statement to the police. The car was bought in July, 1997, and the invoice states it is accident repaired.

Testimony of Douglas Victor Cousens:

Mr. Cousens has been an officer with the Ontario Provincial Police ("O.P.P") since 1983. Prior to that time he worked for the Metropolitan Toronto police force. He has been assigned to the auto theft unit since February, 1995. He took a course on auto theft at the Canadian Police College in 1995. Since then, he has had on the job training and works in close liaison with vehicle manufacturers. He has not taken a course in auto body repair work.

Mr. Cousens testified that his primary concern is with the identification of cars. He determines the history and background of the cars. His main focus is not on the repairs made to the car.

Mr. Cousens testified that he assisted with the execution of some of the search warrants.

Mr. Cousens stated that he examined a 1995 red Sunfire with VIN# 3G2JB5246SS806498 on December 9, 1998. He noticed evidence of stickers on the back trunk lid. The language was in French and there was a telephone number. He found no one at that telephone number.

Mr. Cousens examined a 1995 red Neon vehicle with VIN#1P3ES47C6CD325271 on January, 1999. This vehicle had high profile stickers (anti theft stickers) with the VIN# 1B3ES47C6SD325271 and 1B3ES47C5TD512830. Mr. Cousens concluded that this vehicle had been made up from two different vehicles. He thought the VIN high profile stickers were original ones. Airbags are to have ID stickers but on this car both the airbag stickers had been removed.

Mr. Cousens examined a 1995 purple Cavalier VIN # 1G1JF12D1S7219299 on January 12, 1999. The front right fender was off this vehicle. There were parts of the vehicle in its interior and the passenger side airbag had only 3 of the 4 bolts.

Mr. Cousens examined a 1995 red Cavalier Z24 VIN#1G1JF12D6S7196943 on November 24, and 25, 1998. He found evidence of body work to the front end. There was no secondary number found where normally there should be one.

Under cross-examination Mr. Cousens testified that it takes from one half day to two days to examine the cars. He looks for secondary numbers and to do so he must remove parts of the car. The public VIN number is found on the dashboard and the Federal certificate label is found on the driver's door. The secondary VIN numbers are confidential and only known to insurance adjusters and specialized officers. In the normal course of business these numbers would not be known by motor vehicle dealers or salespersons.

Mr. Cousens stated that the 1995 red Sunfire's public and secondary VIN numbers matched. He spent 8 hours examining this car and concluded that it was likely not stolen. The sticker on the back trunk lid was from a car wash.

Regarding the 1995 red Neon, Mr. Cousens stated that he examined this car for 9 hours. He had to remove parts of the car to check for the ID stickers on the airbags. He has on file that this is not a stolen vehicle but a salvage vehicle, which had been sold for $1925.00. He knew nothing about an accident with this vehicle on the QEW.

Regarding the 1995 purple Cavalier, Mr. Cousens stated that the car was in the process of being repaired. He understood that the damage to the right front of the car was due to the owner of the vehicle being in an accident. He does not know why the bolt was missing from the airbag. He spent 7 hours examining this car.

Regarding the 1995 red Cavalier Z24, he spent 7 hours examining this vehicle. Mr. Cousens stated that he cannot tell the precise details of the repairs to this vehicle.

Mr. Cousens stated that he recommended returning the cars to their owners. He agreed that it is not unlawful to rebuild salvage cars or to use parts of salvage cars for repairs.

On redirect, Mr. Cousens testified that on the 1995 red Neon the component numbers for the rear right fender, and the front left fender had been removed. There were no stickers on the front bumper and the rear bumper was a genuine Chrysler replacement part.

Testimony of David Robinson:

Mr. Robinson testified that he had been an OPP officer since November, 1988. Since April, 1995 he had worked with the criminal investigation bureau on the auto theft team and had achieved the rank of Detective Constable. His duties included the identification of motor vehicles and dealing with auto theft investigations. He also lectures at the OPP academy.

Mr. Robinson testified that he took the advanced auto investigators course at the Canadian Police Academy in Ottawa in 1995. He is a member of the International Association of Auto theft investigators. He takes many tours of vehicle and heavy equipment manufacturers plants. He has not taken a course in auto body work. His job is to identify stolen vehicles and the primary responsibility is not to look at repair work. Mr. Robinson is a class A motor vehicle mechanic.

On November 22, 1998 Mr. Robinson examined a 1992 blue Ford van VIN #1FMDA31XXP2A653354 for four hours. The secondary numbers matched as did the transmission engine number. The vehicle had been repainted and had a history of being a salvage vehicle.

On December 3, 1998 Mr. Robinson examined a 1994 white Mercury Tracer VIN #3MARM10J9RR610986 for five hours. The secondary numbers matched as did the engine transmission number. It had a history as a salvage vehicle.

On January 11, 1999 Mr. Robinson examined a 1996 green Cavalier for seven hours. The secondary numbers matched as did the engine transmission number. It had a history as a rebuilt salvage vehicle.

Under cross-examination, Mr. Robinson stated that he looked at the insurance crime prevention records to find the salvage histories of the vehicles. He agreed that the history must be done to determine if they are salvage vehicles.

Testimony of Malcolm Roy Barber:

Mr. Barber is an OPP officer with the rank of detective constable. He has been with the OPP for eighteen years. He is a member of the Western Region auto theft team, the International association of auto theft investigators, and the Ontario auto theft team. He took a course on auto theft at the Canadian police academy in Ottawa. He has taken no auto bodywork courses.

Mr. Barber stated that he is involved with the identification of the vehicles which may be stolen vehicles, not with examining the vehicles for bodywork repairs.

Mr. Barber stated that on January 11, 1999 he examined a 1996 tan Cavalier VIN#3G1JF5246TS899792 for six hours. The secondary numbers matched. A parts # 1G1JC5245S7207155 belonged to a 1995 Chevy Cavalier whose owner was Gater's Auto Refinishing. He found blue paint on the roof and gas lid of the gas tank. He concluded that two cars had been welded together to make one car. The dashboard had been previously removed and a key behind it belonged to Aderly Chevrolet. Some of the component parts had labels removed.

Under cross-examination, Mr. Barber stated that he checks component numbers and with those numbers can check the public VIN numbers with the car manufacturers. To check this car, he had to disassemble some of the components. He found that the little plastic keepers were broken after he had removed the dashboard. Mr. Barber could not state what were the specific repairs.

Testimony of Bruce Crocker:

Mr. Crocker is a special agent with the Insurance Crime Prevention Bureau. It is linked to the Canadian Automobile Theft Bureau or CATB. He is a retired police officer, and he works as a liaison person with the police and insurance agencies. There is also a National Insurance Crime Bureau or NICB which is located in the United States.

Mr. Crocker testified that when there is a theft of a car and it is written off, the insurance companies report it to either the Canadian or American database.

In the latter part of 1998, Mr. Crocker was asked to assist the OPP and the Niagara police with their investigations. He made database inquiries using VIN numbers supplied by the officers.

Mr. Crocker stated the State Farm Insurance company report from Maine, USA on a 1997 Pontiac Grand Prix showed a cash value of $20,875.00 and a salvage value of $4,100.00. This indicated to him that there had been appreciable repairs to the vehicle. It was considered as a total loss by the insurance company on the basis that the repairs could not be justified. Mr. Crocker had contacted the State Farm insurance company for these documents, and he had made them available to both the police authorities and to OMVIC.

Mr. Crocker stated that the Liberty Mutual Insurance report on a 1994 Mercury Tracer showed a market value of $8,343.00 and a salvage value of $1,125.00

Mr. Crocker stated that the insurance report on a Honda Accord showed a cash value of $12,700.00 and a salvage value of $4,700.00.

Some of the vehicles did not have such an insurance report. The use of the databases in Canada and some states of the United States are voluntary with the insurance companies.

Mr. Crocker stated that the insurance report on a 1994 Pontiac Grand AM showed a market value of $10,925.00 and a salvage value of $1,550.00.

Mr. Crocker stated that the insurance report on a 1995 Cavalier showed it to be an inactive vehicle which means it was stolen and recovered. Its market value was $14,000.00 and a salvage value of $2,278.00.

Mr. Crocker stated that the insurance report on a 1996 Neon showed it to have a market value of $12,610.00 and a salvage value of $1,500.00.

Mr. Crocker testified that the insurance report on a 1995 Neon showed a market value of $10,875.00 and a salvage value of $1,925.00.

Mr. Crocker testified that the insurance report on an Aerostar ford showed it was a salvage vehicle.

Mr. Crocker testified that the insurance report on a Cavalier showed it to be a salvage vehicle.

Mr. Crocker testified that the insurance report on a 1995 Escort showed it to be a salvage vehicle with a market value of $12,400.00 and a salvage value of $1,776.00.

Under cross-examination, Mr. Crocker testified that neither the police nor the public have access to the Canadian and American databases. In the insurance industry, terms are used such as "total loss". On the registration such a car is called a "salvage vehicle". An insurance company identifies a vehicle as a salvage vehicle if it feels that the car either could not be repaired or it is not commercially viable to repair the vehicle. The term salvage by itself does not mean the car cannot be repaired and it does not mean that the entire car has suffered damage. Once a car is declared salvage there is no manufacturer's warranty. The Branding program in Ontario came into effect on July 27, 1998. It is a voluntary program. "Irreparable" is now a term used for the branding program.

Mr. Crocker testified that he does not know the precise definition of the specific insurance companies in declaring a car to be salvage. Prior to July, 1998 there had been no distinction between a car in an accident and one that was salvaged. Now there is a structural inspection required if the car is branded as a salvage vehicle.

Mr. Crocker testified that branding is to protect the public and to insure that the proper repairs are made. He acknowledged that the database system in Canada is not yet designed to be used by the motor vehicle dealers to check on the status of a vehicle.

Testimony of Brian Smith:

Mr. Smith is a sergeant with the Halton Regional Police. He has been with that police force for twenty three years, fourteen in the detective bureau. He has spent ten years dealing with auto theft and for the past four years has been on the Provincial auto theft team. He attended courses on auto theft at the Canadian Police college in Ottawa and in New York City. He is a member of the International association of auto theft investigators, has lectured on the subject and has toured the manufacturer's plants. He has not taken a course on autobody work. He stated that his responsibility is to identify vehicles and to determine if vehicles have been damaged and repaired. He does the body work on his own cars.

On November 24, 1998 and on February 1, 1999, Mr. Smith examined a 97 Grand Prix GT with a VIN #1G2WP52K0VF305167. It had extensive damage to the driver's side, both the doors, and the post column. He found shards of glass under the floor panel. He determined that the two doors on the driver's side were from another vehicle. The high profile number had been removed from the left rear door. The records from State Farm Insurance showed the car to be a total loss on June 15, 1998 and the photographs from the insurance company showed the damage to the driver's side.

Under cross-examination, Mr. Smith stated that he had to remove some of the components to examine the vehicle. When he took up the floor carpeting he found the shards of glass and the newly welded door post. The rear door had no public number on it. The public and secondary VIN numbers were fine. It was not a stolen car but a repaired/damaged vehicle. The roofline had buckled, as shown by the welding of the post.

Testimony of Ernie Sersen:

Mr. Sersen testified that he bought a 92 Accord from Mr. Lagace. It had low mileage. He had it examined by a mechanic who found it to be sound. There was small damage on the passenger side at the front and rear. The speedometer was in miles.

Mr. Sersen stated that the police came with a search warrant and took away his car. It was returned two months later. He understood it was from Quebec. The police said it had been in an accident. Mr. Sersen said he looked in the Lemon Aid book for prices and if he had known the car had been in a major accident, he would not have paid the price for it that he did. He was under the impression that Mr. Lagace had done the work, on his car but he never directly asked Mr. Lagace that question.

Under cross-examination, Mr. Sersen said that the damage was to the right front fender and the right rear fender. He has no recollection that anyone told him that Mr. Lagace had done the repair work. He agreed with his statement made to the police that the car had come from Florida. When he took the car to the mechanic, he had told the mechanic that he was interested in buying the car. Although he did not recall the exact words of Mr. Lagace, his understanding of what he said was quite clear.

Testimony of Todd Maccabe:

Mr. Maccabe bought a 1997 Grand Prix from Gater's Auto. He dealt with Mrs. Lagace. He was told by her that there was minor damage to the driver's side door and that Gater's Auto had done the repairs to the car. He only had the car for about 3 or 4 days before the police took it. The police had it for about ten weeks, and they damaged it. The police showed him the photographs of the damage to the driver's side from front to rear. They labelled it as serious damage and it did not seem to him to be minor damage.

Under cross-examination, Mr. Maccabe stated that he knew the car had been damaged when he bought it. He recalls making statements to the police and the Registrar's investigator and agreed that his memory was better then than now.

He recalls Mrs. Lagace telling him the car was smashed up. There was no mention in his statement to the police that she had said the damage was minor. He did tell the Registrar's investigator that he did not know the extent of the damage of the car. But, when he got the car back from the police, they did show him the damage records for the car. He cannot recall the date when he talked to the Registrar's investigator.

Mr. Maccabe stated that Mrs. Lagace had told him that Gater's Auto had repaired the car. This was not in the police statement.

Testimony of William Arthur:

Mr. Arthur testified that he has been a provincial offences officer with the Ontario Motor Vehicle Industry Council ("OMVIC") since April, 1997. From 1986 to 1996 he worked at the OPP. He worked in vice and auto theft and outlaw motorgang team. From 1994 to 1996 he worked on the homicide squad. The Provincial auto theft team invited him to attend with them at Gater's Auto on November 22, 1998. Mr. Arthur's role was to explain the contents of the documents that they found on the premises. In February, 1999 the OPP provided him with the wholesale documents from Gater's Auto.

Mr. Arthur examined the wholesale and retail documents from Gater's Auto. For the 1994 Mercury Tracer, the retail bill is dated September 1, 1998 and the wholesale bill is dated September 21, 1998. For the 1992 Honda Accord, the retail bill is dated September 1, 1998, while the wholesale bill is dated September 30, 1998 and has accident reconstructed written on it in French. For the 1996 Cavalier, the wholesale bill is dated 10/06/98 and has accident reconstructed in French on it. The retail bill does not have a date, but it has accident repaired stamped on it, and the VIN number for the car differs from the VIN number for the car on the wholesale bill of sale. For the 1995 Cavalier, the wholesale bill is dated April 28, 1998, while the retail bill is dated March 18, 1998. The wholesale bill for the 1996 Neon is dated January 7, 1998, while the retail bill is dated December 23, 1997 and has accident repaired stamped on it. The 1995 Neon wholesale bill is dated October 22, 1997, and the retail bill is dated October 7, 1997, and has accident repaired stamped on it.

Mr. Arthur testified that there is a voluntary branding agreement between the insurance companies and the Province of Ontario. A car that is a total write off to the insurance company is either considered as repairable salvage or as irreparable salvage only to be used for parts. Not all insurance companies are participating in this voluntary plan. Mr. Arthur testified that none of the vehicles he dealt with from Gater's Auto were purchased from an insurance company. Most came from auto wholesalers located in the Province of Quebec.

Mr. Arthur examined a number of cars with their VIN numbers as listed in the wholesale dealer contract from Auto LN Inc. to Gater's Auto Refinishing. He could not find these cars listed in the garage registry for Gater's Auto. An examination of the garage registry for Gater's Auto showed that none of the odometer readings for the cars were listed. It did list in most cases where he purchased the cars, their VIN numbers, the date and who was the person who bought the car. Garage registries are kept by auto wrecking yards, used autoparts businesses and motor vehicle dealerships. Of all the wholesale dealer contracts that Mr. Arthur examined and then compared to the garage registry, none of the cars listed on the wholesale dealer contracts were listed in the garage registry of Gater's Auto except for one vehicle. That was a 1997 Jimmy on a wholesale contract dated November 6, 1998 from Les Automobiles Lin Inc. The registration permits for these cars were found in purolator packages being sent to Quebec dealers. According to Mr. Arthur, all the registrations listed the cars as brand-salvage which means the cars can be repaired.

There were salvage bills of sale which corresponded to the cars listed on the wholesale contracts. These bills of sale mostly showed that the cars were purchased by Quebec dealers at salvage auctions in Western Canada. Not all of these salvage bills of sale identified the cars as salvage vehicles. A few stated the cars were sold "as is" and some stated the cars were a "write off" from out of province. At least one of the cars was from the United States and had an Ohio Certificate of Title showing the car to be a salvage vehicle.

Mr. Arthur also examined a cheque dated November 6, 1998 from Automobiles L.N. Inc to Gater's for the amount of $2247.00. It did not state the reason for payment to Gater's by this dealer.

Under cross-examination, Mr. Arthur stated that he saw the documents being seized by the police authorities. The documents had been kept in the filing cabinets at Gater's Auto. He himself did not personally seize the documents.

Mr. Arthur agreed that it is not required by law to put the word salvage on the bill of sale. The insurance adjusters determine if the car can be repaired. The voluntary Branding program has only been in operation since September, 1998.

Mr. Arthur agreed that the criminal charges against Gater's Auto are still before the courts. He agreed that section 60 of the Highway Traffic Act deals with buying or selling wrecks. It does not say that transfer of ownership must be entered into the garage registry. There is nothing to show that the vehicles listed in the wholesale dealer contracts were ever in Ontario or at Gater's Auto.

Mr. Arthur agreed that the registration of a vehicle can be done by someone who is not the owner of that vehicle. He is not aware of investigators going into Gater's Auto before November, 1998. He agreed that there is no legal requirement that a cheque for the purchase of a vehicle be made out to the person who buys the vehicle.

He agreed that the notes by the Ministry of Transportation on how to keep a garage registry are not part of Regulation 595.

Testimony of Mary Jane South:

Ms. South is the deputy registrar and director of operations at OMVIC. Section 5 of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act provides the criteria and requirements for the issuance and revocation of registration as a motor vehicle dealer.

Ms. South stated that it is in the public interest that those purchasing a motor vehicle be aware that the vehicle is an insurance write off. Ms. South was concerned about the non disclosure to customers that the vehicles were salvage vehicles. In her opinion, the vehicle could be unsafe. The knowledge that the vehicle is a salvage vehicle is important from the financial aspect as well as from the public safety aspect.

When a wrecker purchases a salvage vehicle, they often get a statement of loss form issued by the insurance company.

In the opinion of Ms. South, there are ways for a dealer to investigate the history of a vehicle. One of those ways is through the use of Carfax, a database from insurance companies that is on the internet now and is available to motor vehicle dealers. It is a voluntary database system. An inquiry is made using the serial number of the vehicle.

Another method is via the warranty records kept by car manufacturers. The manufacturer's warranty can be voided for such cars.

Ms. South stated that consumers should be armed with sufficient information so there is no misrepresentation as to the extent of the damage to the vehicle. The extent of damage can affect the price of the vehicle or whether the vehicle is purchased.

Although some of the bills of sale are stamped accident repair, in the opinion of Ms. South, this is not sufficient disclosure as it does not state the extent of the damage done in the accident. There needs to be sufficient disclosure to the consumer, such as, the car was a write off.

In the case of Ms. Robb there was no accident disclosure on her original bill of sale though there was a stamp of accident repair on the copy of it. There should not be different versions of the bill of sale.

All material facts in the contract of purchase are required under the Business Practices Act. In the opinion of Ms. South a write off is a material fact.

Ms. South was concerned that the retail bills of sale had sale dates earlier than the wholesale bills of sale. Therefore, Gater did not own the car when it was sold to the consumer. There were no consignment agreements between Gater and the wholesale dealers. Ms. South questioned whether, if Gater sells vehicles that it does not own. Gater is selling vehicles away from the place of business or is acting as an unregistered sales person for the owner of the car. She would like to have seen consignment agreements for these vehicles.

Ms. South testified that everyone who is in the business of selling cars should be registered. As well, Ms. South had concern as to why Gater's was putting vehicles into its name for registration, this a scheme to try to clean up titles. She noted that the registration system is not a title system.

Under cross-examination, Ms. South said that some of the purchase transactions of the cars in Western Canada occurred after the start of the voluntary branding program in Ontario, when such salvage bills of sale of the vehicles would be branded salvage by the Ministry of Transportation ("MTO"). Ms. South was unsure if the old registrations for a vehicle is required in order to register that vehicle in other provinces. She agreed that the vehicles listed in the wholesale contracts were all registered as brand salvage. She agreed that if there is proper disclosure to the consumers, then it is fine to sell salvaged vehicles.

Ms. South testified that OMVIC has started a certification course in November, 1999. She understood that the course stated that "as is" should be put on such contracts but was uncertain if the word "salvage" is to be used. OMVIC now has Rules of Business Practice as of the spring of 2000. All new dealership registration kits now contain copies of the relevant legislation. OMVIC has not issued any written directives on how to disclose the condition of vehicles or the level of disclosure that should be standard for dealerships.

Ms. South agreed that salvage vehicles can be repaired. She testified that it is important to differentiate between irreparable cars and salvage cars. The safety certificate is the minimum standard for a vehicle to be driven on the highway.

Ms. South felt that the dealers could ask the insurance companies for the statement of loss or at least ask for the name of the insurance company and its policy number. She is unsure if this is standard practice with dealers. She felt that Carfax would usually have the information on Canadian and American cars.

Ms. South testified as to information she had obtained from her own searches using the Carfax system of the vehicles in question at this hearing. Ms. South stated that unlimited use of the Carfax system for a period of 60 days is available for the cost of $19.95. It is a voluntary database. The Robson vehicle did not show any salvage history. The Noel vehicle did not show any salvage history. The Robb vehicle did show that it was a salvage title issued in the State of Connecticut. The Sersen vehicle, Lemieux vehicle, and Ormel vehicle all showed a salvage title. The Maccabe vehicle showed no salvage history.

Ms. South stated that Carfax was available prior to 1998, but she was unsure when the internet service commenced. Prior to using internet, a search was available via fax or telephone.

Ms. South agreed that there are no written directives stating you must say "salvage" or "write off" on the retail bill of sale. She was relying on the Business Practices Act and standards of integrity in the industry. She agreed that the MTO registration history depends on the truthfulness of information provided by the previous owner. She also agreed that the check on manufacturer's warranty is applicable to warranty repairs only. Ms. South reiterated that the consumer needs to know the extent of the repairs and that can only be provided by clear written disclosure. In her opinion the standard should be to put in writing any major accident and expensive repairs made on the vehicle.

Ms. South stated that the Used Cars Dealers Association ("UCDA") requires that dealers disclose accident repairs for "as is" vehicles. She was unsure if "as is" means "salvage".

Testimony of Gaetan Lagace:

Mr. Lagace testified that he has been married to Susan Lagace for 22 years, and they have three daughters age 20,18,and 13. He has a Grade 12 education and is certified as an autobody damage repair person. He has no criminal record. He does community service such as sponsoring a baseball team, helping with fundraisers for children with cancer and youth bowling. He is a member of the Sacred Heart Roman Catholic church.

Mr. Lagace testified that he has had his dealership since 1987. There are pending criminal charges to which he has pleaded not guilty and the criminal matter continues in September, 2000.

Mr. Lagace testified that the cars sold by him come mainly from dealers in Quebec. He stated that he repaired a 1993 Aerostar Ford van and sold it to Alice Zimmer. He repaired a 1995 Ford Escort wagon and sold it to Mr. Robson.

Mr. Lagace stated that he mainly deals with Auto C.B., M.I. Auto, Auto. L.N., Lis Recycle, Auto Deslaroché, Berio Automobile and 1317 Auto, all being motor vehicle dealers in the province of Quebec. He would call the dealers and ask for a type of car. Sometimes the dealers called him about selling a certain car. He would get the VIN number for the car and fax it to Autochek. He would look at the results of that search and then decide to take the car or not. If he took the car he would sell it to his customer and then pay the dealer off. Mr. Lagace stated that 90% of the cars on his lot were accident repair cars. He might repair about 25% of those cars himself. The dealers in Quebec would tell him where the car had been damaged, such as, hit in the front.

Mr. Lagace said Autochek is an accident reporting system that tells you the amount of claim and the damage to the car. He would do an Autochek search for most of his cars. He did not keep the searches, and the police took what ones he did have when they searched his dealership.

Mr. Lagace stated that Autochek would fax him information within a couple of hours. The search would show of any activity, the VIN number of the car, if it had been in an accident, the market value of the car before the accident and the value of the damage. For instance, Mr. Lagace bought a 1992 Ford F150 truck. He saw that the value of the damage was more than the market value of the truck, but Mr. Lagace was able to fix up that truck for about $6000.00 and has been driving it for the past three years.

Mr. Lagace stated that if customers asked about the car, he would tell him the car has had accident repairs and has no factory warranty. The customer could stay or could leave the lot. He would tell the customer if the car was from the USA. He would not say if the damage was minor or major.

When Mr. Lagace initially obtained a car from the dealer, he would visually examine it and see if the components worked. He stated that if a car is repaired properly, one cannot tell the nature of the precise repairs. He did not put a car on a hoist or take it apart.

Because the warranties were void with these cars, Mr. Lagace would provide a 2 year, 40,000 km warranty on all cars 1998 or newer. For the older cars he provided an one year, 20,000 km warranty. Lubrico provided warranties which Mr. Lagace would purchase. Lubrico has been in that business since 1976.

Mr. Lagace stated that he had been doing business with the various Quebec dealers for the past 4 or 5 years. He had a relationship with one Quebec dealer who told him about the other dealers. He relied on what the Quebec dealers told him about the damage. He had not seen the insurance company reports on the cars prior to selling them. Now he knows that the dealers were right on some cars and misled him about others. He trusted the dealers too much, and he would not buy cars from them again.

Mr. Lagace stated that to him salvage was a car in an accident. If the value of the estimate for car repairs and car rental exceeded 75% of the value of the car than the insurance company would write it off and get the policy holder a new car. But Mr. Lagace stated that the car could be rebuilt and rebuilt cheaper than what was quoted by the insurance companies. He would use new and old parts. For instance, he would use rebuilt air bags as new one could cost up to $6000.00. He could buy these used parts which were just as good as new. But someone who had a new car did not want it to be repaired with used parts. Mr. Lagace stated that he knew how to rebuild a car properly as he took a five year course. He knew how to use the machinery and the books with the factory specifications. He agreed that there are some people who do not know how to rebuild cars properly, but he had no concerns with his own rebuilt truck. His labour costs were cheaper as well.

Mr. Lagace stated that if the title document said a vehicle was not repairable, that meant it could not be licenced again and could be used only for parts.

Mr. Lagace testified that he gave the same information to his customers as was given to him by the Quebec dealers. He did not use the words "salvage" or "write off" but used the words "accident repair".

Mr. Lagace stated that the cars he sold in the fall of 1998 were involved in their accidents prior to the voluntary branding program becoming into operation.

Mr. Lagace stated that about 3 or 4 years ago he spoke to Mr. Hamilton, lawyer for the Used Cars Dealers Association about the nature of disclosure. He was told that he should tell customers that the car was an accident repair car and where the car had been repaired. He told Mr. Hamilton about putting a stamp on his retail bill of sale, and Mr. Hamilton told him his action was better than 75% of used car dealers.

Mr. Lagace testified that he never intended to mislead his customers by not using the term salvage. He told customers everything he knew about the cars.

Mr. Lagace testified that his wife answered the telephone and did the paperwork at the dealership, but she has not come into the dealership since November, 1998. Mr. Lagace regularly works 12 to 16 hours at the dealership. One day he decided to take the day off and go fishing, and he left his wife in charge of the shop. Although Susan, his wife, had a salesperson registration in 1993/94 she did not have one in November, 1998 when Mr. Maccabe bought his car. It was a mistake and will not happen again. He has instructed her to tell customers to come back when he is there.

Regarding the 1997 Pontiac Grand Prix that he sold to Mr. Maccabe, Mr. Lagace stated that the dealer had told him the damage was on the driver's side and it was repaired. He gave that information to Susan when she telephoned him about the car. Susan does not deal with the Quebec dealers because she does not speak French.

Regarding the 1994 Mercury Tracer that he sold to Mr. Lemieux, Mr. Lagace stated that he told Mr. Lemieux that the car was repaired in the front and that the car was from the United States.

Regarding the 1992 Honda Accord that he sold to Mr. Sersen, Mr. Lagace was told by the Quebec dealer that it was repaired in the front and back and that is what he told Mr. Sersen. Mr. Sersen wanted to take the car to his mechanic and Mr. Lagace agreed to that. Then Mr. Sersen purchased the car.

Mr. Lagace testified that often customers will take cars to be examined by mechanics before they buy the car. Mr. Lagace stated that he did not tell Mr. Sersen that the damage was minor or small.

Mr. Lagace sold a 1995 Cavalier Z24 to Mr. Ormel. He was told by the Quebec dealer that the car was repaired in the front and that the air bags had been deployed and the windshield replaced. Mr. Lagace told Mr. Ormel about the front end repair and the airbags and also that it had no factory warranty. He cannot remember if he told Mr. Ormel about the windshield. He did not say it had light front end damage.

Regarding the 1996 Neon that he sold to Ms Robb, Mr. Lagace was told by the Quebec dealer that the car had been repaired in the front. Ms. Robb had come to the dealership with her father and a friend who repairs car and who is known to Mr. Lagace. They took the car for a ride for a couple of hours. He told her there was no factory warranty. When she had problems with the speakers he got her new ones but they were the wrong kind. Ms. Robb worked in London, and it was difficult as she was only home on weekends and he was only open to 2 p.m. on Saturdays. He remembers telling her father and her friend about the repairs in the front but did not say the damage was minor. His copy of the retail bill of sale was seized by the police. The retail bill of sale is preprinted carbonless. The stamp does not go through it and both copies have to be stamped.

Regarding the 1995 Neon that he sold to Ms. Noel, Mr. Lagace was told by the Quebec dealer that the car was repaired at the back. Mr. Lagace told that to her and her father and said there was no factory warranty. It sold the car to her with a two year warranty. He did not tell her the repair was minor.

Regarding the 1995 Pontiac Sunfire that he sold to Mr. Levesque Mr. Lagace stated that he would have told him what the Quebec dealer told him. He lives in a small town and he cannot lie to his customers.

Mr. Lagace cannot remember if he did Autochek searches on all of the vehicles, and his records were seized by the police.

Mr. Lagace stated that he still sells accident repair cars, but he buys them from an autobody shop called Semmones. They get the cars from PH & H vehicle management who get them from the insurance companies. That accounts for 90% of his cars. The other cars he buys at auctions. He goes to car auctions held by Impacts in London and other places. He repairs the cars. They are branded salvage under the voluntary branding program. Once the cars are rebuilt, he takes them to the inspection centre where a structural inspection is done. The inspector looks at the frame and the parts used. It is a body safety inspection. Then, he takes the structural inspection document to the licence bureau and has the car's status changed from salvage to rebuilt. The registration permit then says the car was rebuilt. That designation stays with the car for the rest of its life. That is the registration that is given to the customers. Mr. Lagace stated that about 90% of the cars he sells are branded.

Mr. Lagace stated that he would be willing to look at conditions on his registration and take any dealer education courses. He stated that the cars he buys and sells are put into the garage registry.

Those cars listed on the wholesale dealer contracts from dealers in Quebec are ones where he is just doing a transfer of registration and putting the car into his name. He gets the wholesale contract and then sends back the registration permit. With the wholesale contract, he gets the auction bill of sale. In Western Canada the cars at auctions come with a bill of sale as the titles are returned to the Ministry. In Ontario you can get registration with a bill of sale but not in Quebec. Mr. Lagace stated that he never purchased the cars, he just changed the registration into his name. These cars never come to Ontario. The registration shows them to be branded.

If a vehicle is a salvage car, in Quebec it is stamped "garvemente accidente". It is not a rebuilt car and there are no inspections. If it is a rebuilt car, in Quebec it is stamped "reconstruit", and it must have gone through two inspections- structural and mechanical. The Quebec dealers want to rebuild the cars at their own shops in Quebec so they cannot get them registered in Western Canada.

Mr. Lagace stated that doing such a registration does not permit you to hide the history of the car. He wrote "service charge" on the bill as he was not purchasing the car, and he did not put it in his garage registry. But he did keep these records at the dealership. Other dealers do this, such as, Coast to Coast Auto in Orillia, L.F. Auto in Brantford and T & T Auto in Thunderbay. It was the dealer in Brantford who told him about the process of taking the original bill of sale to the licence bureau and filling out the forms. The registrations are all branded as salvage. Mr. Lagace stated that some of his cars were from the United States and had been branded salvage there. Again those cars were not in his garage registry as he did not purchase them. He did purchase the 1997 Jimmy and he made out the cheque for it to the name of the individual as requested. That car is in his garage registry.

The cheque for the $2,247.00 was his payment for "service charges" for the transfer of registrations.

Mr. Lagace stated that he spoke to a Claudia Sabona at the licence bureau in Welland about this process. She checked it out and told him the Ministry of Transportation had no problems with it. The original bill of sale is required to obtain registration.

Mr. Lagace stated that he paid the dealer in Quebec after he had sold the car to the customer in Ontario. The cars were brought in to be sold and when sold, the Quebec dealer was paid. He did not use any consignment document. He was not aware of any restrictions about selling cars on his property. His garage registry was inspected by the Ministry sometime in 1996 or 1997 and nothing was said about this. He had started doing business with the Quebec dealers about 4 or 5 years ago.

Regarding the Maccabe vehicle, the Autochek search showed accident damage of $11,512.00. The Autochek search on the Lemieux vehicle showed accident damage of $7,235.00. The Autocheck on the Sersen vehicle showed accident damage of $10,349.00. That vehicle could be worth $20,000.00 or $21,000.00. It was labelled a total loss by the insurance company because they did not repair it.

Mr. Lagace stated that he had not heard of Carfax until the hearing.

Under cross-examination Mr. Lagace stated he did not know if the figures for the accident damage was in American or Canadian dollars. You need to look at the mileage of the car, its year and the condition of the car.

Mr. Lagace knew that the branding system is voluntary. He knew the vehicles were accident repairs. He had met some of the dealers and others he had inquired about through his friend. He knew that the cars did not have to be inspected in Quebec for them to be sold in Ontario. He trusted the Quebec dealers. He had a floater insurance policy which covered the cars even if they were not owned by him.

Mr. Lagace stated that he did not ask how serious the damage was when speaking to the Quebec dealers. He did not know the specifics of the repairs to the car. He knew he was dealing with accident repair cars. He would open the hood and doors and take the cars for test drives. He got his training at Centennial College with a 7200 hour apprenticeship plus 2 months per year in the class room for two years. He knows how to dismantle a car and join cars together. He would look at the door gaps, for ripples, paint job and how it drove. He could tell what was new and old on a car. Since the police involvement, Mr. Lagace has stopped doing business with the Quebec dealers. Some of those dealers did not tell him the correct information on the condition of the cars.

Mr. Lagace stated he never told Mr. Maccabe that the damage was minor. He never told Mr. Sersen that the front end damage was light. He never told Ms Robb that it was a small accident. He would have sold maybe 50 to 75 cars in 1998 and he kept no notes of his conversations with the customers, but he knew he never said minor or major damage. He would tell the customers that he bought the car repaired, except for the cars that he himself repaired. He agreed that there was nothing on the Bill of Sale to Mr. Sersen saying it was an accident repair vehicle.

Mr. Lagace stated that he spoke to the Lubrico representative, Mr. Ron Bosche, and told him that the cars were accident repairs. He knows the system in Quebec where photo's are taken of the unrepaired car, the repair made, a full wheel alignment done and take the vehicle to the inspection station with the photos to obtain the body inspection certificate, and then attendance at the licence bureau.

Mr. Lagace agreed that he had not told the customers that they were getting cars with used parts. He saw no difference between an accident and a salvage car. The car had to be in an accident before the insurance company would declare it to be a total loss.

Mr. Lagace stated that he knew of no legal requirement to have a written consignment agreement rather than a verbal deal. He had no concerns with selling other dealers' cars and indeed does that all the time.

Testimony of Ron Bosche:

Mr. Bosche is a sales distributor for the Niagara Region for Lubrico, a company based in London, Ontario. Lubrico began in 1977. It offers car warranties to licensed car dealers. There are a wide range of warranties, though none for car body work. The primary focus of the company is on supplying warranties for used vehicles. These warranties are reinsured by London Guarantee.

Mr. Bosche testified that he started having business dealings with Mr. Lagace about 1990. Mr. Bosche knew that the majority of the cars being warranted were accident repair cars. He does business with several hundred dealers, and he considers Mr. Lagace to be in the top 25% of those dealers. In his opinion, Mr. Lagace is a good dealer who is honest and has integrity. His company likes to do business with dealers who take pride in their product.

Under cross-examination, Mr. Bosche stated that he understands that Mr. Lagace uses Lubrico exclusively. Mr. Bosche is paid sales commissions, but he stated that he receives only small commissions from his dealings with Mr. Lagace. Mr. Bosche knows that some of his warranty customers have called his company when their cars were seized by the police. Their cars were returned by the police as it was not proven the cars had been stolen. Mr. Bosche extended the warranty for those customers. Mr. Bosche stated that he understood the purpose of this hearing.

Testimony of Luc Gaston Bissonnette:

Mr. Bissonnette works in the casino at Niagara Falls. He has known Mr. Lagace since 1983. He apprenticed under Mr. Lagace from 1989 to 1991. He knows of the criminal charges against Mr. Lagace, and he knows the purpose of this hearing. He believes that the people in the community trust Mr. Lagace. He, himself, trusts Mr. Lagace.

Under cross-examination Mr. Bissonnette agreed that he has no specific knowledge of the consumers in question and their cars.

Testimony of Liliane Guertin:

Ms. Guertin testified that she was born and raised in Welland. She sells after market car parts through her company, LMG Distributing in Welland. She has known Mr. Lagace for almost sixteen years. When Mr. Lagace was fourteen years old, he worked for her husband. She is aware of the criminal charges against Mr. Lagace. She knows the purpose of this hearing. Ms. Guertin knows that Mr. and Mrs. Lagace are honest people. She knows nothing derogatory about them. She will continue to send customers to them.

Under cross-examination, Ms. Guertin stated that Mr. Lagace is not one of her biggest clients. She does not know the specifics of the customers in question or their cars.

Testimony of James F. Hamilton:

Mr. Hamilton is a lawyer and has been employed as Counsel for the Used Car Dealers Association since March, 1996. This is a non profit corporation which acts as a trade association for the used car dealers. The members pay membership fees to the association. Mr. Lagace became a member in 1993.

Mr. Hamilton stated that he does not have an independent recollection of a conversation with Mr. Lagace some years ago. He stated that it is his opinion that the dealer should be general in speaking of the condition of the car and not be specific about which area of the car has been repaired. He advises dealers to tell their customers about the accident damage if it is serious or material. He considers serious damage to include structural or frame damage. If the car has been seriously damaged and the dealer does not know the particulars, then he should find out about that damage.

Mr. Hamilton stated that he thought using a stamp saying accident repair on the bill of sale was a good idea as it tells the customers that the car has been in an accident.

Mr. Hamilton stated that if a dealer knows the vehicle has been a total loss, a write off or salvage, it is a good idea to write that on the bill of sale but disclosure using these labels does not mean much to the customers. For instance, write off and total loss are economic terms used by insurance companies who decide to buy off the vehicle rather than repair it. The term write off could include accident damaged, stolen damage or constructive write off.

Mr. Hamilton stated that in a perfect situation the dealer would write accident damage, accident repair or write off. But if a dealer does not know if it is a salvage vehicle, then the dealer should use the term "accident repair". If a dealer does know it is a salvage vehicle then put the term salvage or write off on the bill of sale.

Under cross-examination, Mr. Hamilton stated that disclosing that a vehicle was an accident repair vehicle is the fact of principal importance. There is no obligation by law to put salvage or write off on a bill of sale. This is done to protect the dealers from the customers. It is a grey area whether or not a dealer should say anything more about accident damage. But if a vehicle has a serious accident damage, such as frame damage, then a dealer should disclose it. For instance if a car worth $20,000.00 sustains over $10,000.00 in repairs plus frame damage, then that is a serious accident and should be disclosed. It is necessary to look at the value of the car and the nature of the repair. If the damage is a $2,000.00 bumper on a $20,000.00 car, then it need not be disclosed.

Mr. Hamilton testified that there is a grey area between minor and major damage. A dealer should err on the side of caution; that is, disclose the damage and avoid criticism in the future. If over one half of the value of the car is in repairs, then that is a seriously damaged vehicle, and a dealer must say to the customer that there has been accident repair.

Mr. Hamilton agreed that it was amazing what a good bodyshop could do in repairing cars. He stated that an accident repair car can be safe.

Mr. Hamilton stated that if a dealer feels his disclosure is accurate, it is not wrong to tell that to the customer.

There is no law on "as is". The Used Car Dealers Association has printed on its bill of sale an "as is" clause which says that the car is not fit for the road and can cost money to fix it. The Association recommends that the customer sign beside this clause. In such a case, the customer should not drive that car off the lot but have it towed off. Under the Sale of Goods Act, there is an implied warranty of fitness so the "as is" clause was developed by the Association. An "as is" vehicle is not a roadworthy vehicle.

CLOSING STATEMENTS:

Counsel for OMVIC:

Counsel stated that Mr. Lagace did not tell his customers about not having an ownership interest in the cars, what kind of repairs were done to the cars and where the car was repaired. Mr. Lagace is saying that the customers are all wrong; yet, the consumers all had a similar pattern of conduct. Counsel submitted that Mr. Lagace should have told his customers about the accidents.

Counsel submitted that Mr. Lagace is now changing his practice and not buying from the Quebec dealers. He is trying to say he is a victim, but the consumers are the victims. The testimony of the consumers is that, except for one, they would not have bought the cars.

Counsel submitted that it was dishonest for Mr. Lagace to stamp only one copy of the Bill of Sale for the Robb purchase. Counsel submitted that one incident justifies revocation of his registration under the Act. As well, Mr. Sersen's bill of sale does not say accident repaired on it.

Counsel stated that the issue was what were the consumers being told. One needs to look at the standards of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act and the Business Practices Act. Mr. Lagace made no meaningful inquiry on the condition of the cars. There is no paperwork on the condition of the cars.

Mechanics showed both Ms. Robb and Mr. Ormel the problems with the repairs in their cars. With due diligence, Mr. Lagace could have known the extent of the repairs on the cars.

Counsel for the Registrar stated that record keeping is a concern. The motor vehicle industry is a regulated industry, and it is important to know who owns the vehicles. Normally, a dealer sells cars that are his own. The Ministry of Transportation provides a garage registry which has space for the odometer readings of vehicles. Why is Mr. Lagace registering cars in his name when the vehicles are in Quebec? It is a questionable activity. Under section 13 of Regulation 801 a salesperson cannot be registered to more than one dealer unless they have common controlling interests. The lack of paperwork on the sale of the vehicles is of concern to the Registrar.

Counsel for the Applicant:

It is the position of the Applicant that he did not act intentionally in a dishonest fashion or lack integrity in his acts. This is different from odometer tampering which is a deliberate act of dishonesty. Here, all of the consumers were told the cars had been in accidents and told the general area of repair. As well, Mr. Lagace has stopped dealing with those Quebec dealers since the search warrant in November, 1998. The Registrar has pointed out some methods that dealers can follow. There is no industry standard or practice or even a "norm" to follow in this situation.

It is the position of the Applicant that if the Registrar's concern has not been particularized, it cannot be grounds for a revocation. Here the issue is the past conduct of the Applicant and whether the past conduct provides reasonable grounds to believe that the Applicant's conduct in the future will not be carried out in accordance with honesty and integrity.

Mr. Lagace in his evidence stated he would be prepared to live with terms and conditions.

Counsel for the Applicant stated that the standard of proof is found in the Brenner case, supra. If the Tribunal finds that the Registrar is wrong then the Tribunal can intervene. In the Coates v Ontario (Registrar of Motor Vehicle Dealers and Salesmen) 65 O.R.(2d) 526 the Divisional Court stated at page 534 "In revoking a registration the tribunal is interfering with a right to make a living that has been equated to a property right: see Evans, Janisch, Mullan and Risk Administrative Law 2d ed. (Toronto, Edmond-Montgomery Publications, 1984) at p.80. While the grant or refusal of a licence may be regulated as a matter of privilege, rather than a right, the revocation of an existing licence has always been regarded as an interference with a right, not a privilege." In that case, the Divisional Court held to the standard of proof as found in the RE Bernstein and College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario (1977) 15 O.R. (2d) 447 where Garrett, J. stated at p. 485 "I hold that the degree of proof required in disciplinary matters of this kind is that the proof must be clear and convincing and based upon cogent evidence which is accepted by the tribunal."

Counsel submitted that the evidence of the Applicant was honest, forthright and consistent. He has lived in this community all his life. He knows how to repair cars. There is character evidence which should be given some significance.

Regarding the issues of disclosure, Mr. Lagace used Autochek which is fallible as is Carfax. Mr. Lagace would look at the cost of repairs and based on what the dealers said in Quebec he would take the car. He would do a visual inspection and a test drive to verify the information given to him by the Quebec dealers. Mr. Lagace had testified that he equated salvage repair to accident repair as they all came due to an accident. Mr.

Lagace did not have a practice of saying the repair was minor or major. He never lied to his customers who are his livelihood.

Regarding the seven customers that testified before the tribunal, all seven said the car had been in an accident and repaired but four said they were told the damage was minor. Mr. Maccabe testified that he was told the car was smashed up, not that there was minor or major damage. Mr. Lemieux was not told of major or minor damage. Mr. Levesque had no recollection of being told of major or minor damage. Regarding the others, they are trying to recall events that occurred two to three years ago. They cannot recall the exact words. If these customers got the wrong impression or failed to ask the questions, that does not make Mr. Lagace dishonest. Mr. Sersen had a mechanic look at the car who said the damage was minor. Mr. Ormel knew the air bags had been engaged and the windshield broken. Ms. Noel had poor recollection. Ms. Robb had a hospital stay due to depression and an overdose and that affects her state of mind. All of these customers could have taken the car to an independent mechanic prior to purchasing it.

Counsel for the Applicant submitted that the onus is on the Registrar, and if there is any doubt the Tribunal should find for Mr. Lagace. It is credible that Mr. Lagace states that he has a general practice of not saying minor or major repairs. It is important to note that there are no written directives from OMVIC regarding such disclosure. Even the course recently started states that the dealer should give full disclosure, but it is unsure if the dealer needs to put salvage or write off on the documents. Here, the customer was told of accident repairs.

Counsel submitted that section 2 of the Business Practices Act deals with a question of interpretation. Here, there is an unintentional lack of disclosure. Mr. Lagace felt he was making the required disclosure to his customers. If he was wrong, then the Tribunal can put on conditions and a period of supervision and training to his registration. Counsel referred to the case of Keshvari-Rasti (c.o.b. North York Fine Cars) (1999) O.C.R.A.T.D. No. 17 whereby extensions terms and conditions were put on the registration of the dealer. Mr. Lagace has stopped buying from the Quebec dealers and when he repairs the cars, they are branded.

Regarding Ms. Robb's bill of sale, Mr. Lagace stated he had forgotten to stamp her copy of it. He had done so for Mr. Levesque and Ms. Noel.

Regarding Mr. Lagace's research methods, Counsel submitted that none of them are foolproof. Mr. Lagace asked for information from the Quebec dealers. He did a visual inspection and test drove the car. He used Autochek. Neither Autochek or Carfax have all the cars listed or all of the information required on the cars. Asking the manufacturer about the void warranty does not tell you the exact damage or its amount. Dealers are not being encouraged to use the Canadian and American databases established by the insurance companies.

According to Counsel, as the cars were not in Ontario and Mr. Lagace did not buy or sell them he was not obliged to put them into the garage registry. It is permissible to register a car in Ontario without the car being in Ontario. Mr. Lagace had confirmed this with the licence bureau. A registration is not a declaration of ownership. There is no evidence that such a registration was done to hide the history of the car. There is no legal requirement to put the car odometer reading in the garage registry. There is no statutory requirement to have a written consignment agreement. This is not dealt with under section 13 of Regulation 801.

Counsel stated that Mrs. Lagace had dealt with Mr. Maccabe and that was wrong. She would not do that again.

Counsel referred to the cases of Brenner (c.o.b. Monster Deals) (1999) O.C.R.A.T.D. No. 139 for the proposition of whether or not the dealer can be governable; Brenner v Ontario (Registrar of Motor Vehicle Dealers and Salesmen) (1983) O.J. No. 1017 for the proposition that the Tribunal should look at the passage of time since the Registrar's Proposal was issued; and Ontario (Registrar of Motor Vehicle Dealers and Salesman) v. Clermont (1974) O.J. No. 1028 for the proposition that one should look at the complete context of the case when viewing past conduct.

Reply by Counsel for the Registrar:

Counsel for the Registrar stated in reply that Sersen and Maccabb's evidence was that they were told the damage was minor. One should note the practice of having the client initial beside the accident repair stamp on the bill of sale. Both Sersen and Maccabb had the impression that the damage was minor and that is found under the Business Practices Act.

of each motor vehicle or trailer bought, sold or wrecked by the person and the information with reference thereto that may be required by the Ministry.

ANALYSIS:

This is a case dealing with the revocation of the registration of a motor vehicle dealer, Gaetan Lagace who carries on a business known as Gater's Auto Refinishing and Auto Sales and also the refusal to allow the registration of a numbered company 1302734 Ontario Inc. This numbered company would be under the control of Mr. Lagace. The issues in this case were (1) whether or not Mr. Lagace failed to disclose the true condition and history of motor vehicles that he sold to members of the public, and (2) whether or not Mr. Lagace failed to keep his books and records in accordance with relevant legislation.

During the course of testimony, a number of other issues were mentioned such as Mrs. Lagace acting as an unregistered salesperson for the sale of one of the vehicles and whether or not there was some sort of scheme to violate legislation by obtaining Ontario registration papers for cars situated in Quebec. These issues were not mentioned in the particulars of the Proposal of the Registrar but presumably were brought to the attention of the Tribunal as matters that affected the credibility of the registrant. The Tribunal will comment on them in the course of this decision.

The Motor Vehicle Dealers Act is a piece of legislation designed to both protect the public and to regulate the industry. The Registrar is concerned with ensuring that the public has confidence in the motor vehicle industry and in those who choose to work within this industry. As a regulated industry, the motor vehicle dealers and salespersons have responsibilities under the legislation. The Tribunal must balance the interests of the public against those who wish to make a livelihood within a regulated industry. Those working within the motor vehicle industry must abide by the standards of conduct as set forth in the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act.

The legislation states that a registration can be revoked or not granted if the Registrar feels the applicant/registrant lacks honesty, integrity or does not act in accordance with the law. This is what the Registrar is alleging against Mr. Lagace. In making this assessment, the Registrar is required by the legislation to consider the past conduct of the applicant. The case law since Brenner v The Registrar of Motor Vehicle Dealers and Salesmen (1983) O.J. No. 1017 has been quite clear that neither the Registrar nor the Tribunal should be considering the prospective conduct of the Applicant but should be basing their decisions on the Applicant's past conduct. Recent caselaw in the Divisional Court has emphasized that the Tribunal in making its decision has to carefully review the facts of the particular case and state the basis of its decision. The Tribunal, as stated in Keith Mark Baldwin (1997) CRAT 19, must consider the whole of the evidence in arriving at its decision. The Tribunal must assess the evidence as it relates to the dictates of the relevant legislation.

The Tribunal has concerns regarding the conduct of Mr. Lagace as a motor vehicle dealer. The Tribunal has a duty to protect the public who wish to buy or lease motor vehicles. They should not be deceived as to what they have purchased. But the Tribunal also is concerned over the revocation of a registration as that is interference with the right to make a living. As stated by the Divisional Court in Coates supra "While the grant or refusal of a licence may be regulated as a matter of privilege, rather than right, the revocation of an existing licence has always been regarded as an interference with a right, not a privilege.” In the present case, this Tribunal is prepared to grant the registration as a motor vehicle dealer to Mr. Lagace on terms and conditions. However, this Tribunal agrees with the Registrar that the granting of a registration as a motor vehicle dealer to the numbered company, 1302734 Ontario Inc. be refused at this time. Mr. Lagace is the sole officer and director of this company. As the Tribunal finds that he requires supervision on his business dealings under his sole proprietorship, it is not prepared to allow him to expand his business dealings until he has demonstrated to the Registrar that he fully understands and complies with his responsibilities under the Act.

Regarding the matter of Mrs. Lagace’s conduct in acting as an unregistered sales person, the Tribunal cannot condone such behaviour which contravenes the whole purpose of the Act. One such incident has been brought to the attention of the Tribunal, that being the sale of a vehicle to Mr. Maccabe. That occurred in November, 1998. Mr. Lagace has testified, and there has been no evidence to the contrary, that Mrs. Lagace no longer does her bookkeeping at the dealership since the police raid in November, 1998. He has instructed her to refer customers to himself. She does not deal with the car buying public. He admits it was a mistake. The Tribunal is not prepared to deny him his registration based on this incident, particularly when it is not enumerated in the particulars of the Registrar’s Proposal. If the Registrar wished to make this incident part of the past conduct of the registrant, the Registrar should have amended his Proposal to mention it.

There was considerable evidence as to the actions of the registrant in acting as a conduit for Quebec dealers by registering their cars in Ontario when the vehicles were not brought to Ontario nor ever in the possession of Mr. Lagace. Although the Tribunal shares the disquiet of the Registrar that this kind of arrangement looks suspicious, closer examination does not show that it violates any rule or regulation currently in force in Ontario. The registration process in Ontario does not confirm ownership of the vehicles, just that the vehicle has been registered to a particular person. The registration forms entered into evidence all show that the cars have been branded salvage. There is a paper trail of their history. The car dealers in Quebec wish to avoid having to repair the vehicles at out of province shops. In Western Canada, title only goes with the vehicle if it has been repaired there. Cars can be registered in Ontario with a bill of sale but cannot be registered with a bill of sale in Quebec. The scheme does permit the car dealers in Quebec to bring in vehicles that have not been repaired, then repair them in their shops and have them inspected and sold in Quebec. It is cheaper for the Quebec car dealers to do their own repairs then have a repair shop in Western Canada do the repairs.

The Tribunal does not find that Mr. Lagace’s involvement in this scheme violates any provision of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act or its regulations. If the Registrar frowns upon it, then the Registrar needs to educate the dealers not to do it, seek a change to the Act or its regulations to forbid it or seek a change in the registration process so it cannot be done. The Tribunal does not see how the public, whether in Quebec or Ontario, is harmed by this scheme; consequently, the Tribunal will not impose any sanctions upon Mr. Lagace for his participation in it. As well, this matter was not mentioned in the Proposal of the Registrar or his Particulars. If the Registrar wished to impose sanctions on the registrant for this type of conduct he should have revised his Notice of Proposal.

One issue that was mentioned in the Notice of Further or Other Particulars was whether Mr. Lagace’s failed to keep his books and records in accordance with either the Highway Traffic Act or the regulations attached to the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act. The Tribunal initially had concerns as to Mr. Lagace selling cars for Quebec under verbal agreements. But the Tribunal was not shown any regulation which stated that this course of conduct was forbidden. It is trite law to say that verbal contracts are contracts but with some potential for problems on evidentiary issues. In his garage registry, Mr. Lagace put the date into stock and the date out of stock. So there were records available for inspection by the Ministry officials which showed he first sold the car and then bought the car from the Quebec dealer. There is nothing before the Tribunal stating that consignment agreements need to be signed on such deals. The Tribunal finds this omission in the legislation disquieting as it would be preferable that the public buying a car know that the person selling actually has title to that car. It would be preferable if the Ministry of Transportation had regulations clearly stating that the garage registry must list the odometer reading and similar pertinent information. While the forms given by the Ministry have a place to put such information, the Tribunal has found no duty on a motor vehicle dealer to fill in all of this information. Mr. Lagace did put in his garage registry the cars that he bought and sold, so he has technically complied with the regulation 801 under the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act and section 60(1) of the Highway Traffic Act.

As Mr. Lagace did not take ownership of the vehicles that he put under his registration on behalf of the Quebec dealers, he was not obliged to put the vehicles into his garage registry. The evidence shows that when he did purchase a 1997 Jimmy from Les Automobiles Lin Inc., that vehicle was listed in the garage registry.

The main contention by the Registrar was that Mr. Lagace did not disclose the true condition and history of the motor vehicle to his customers. The evidence before the Tribunal does not display a pattern of patent dishonesty but it does indicate that Mr. Lagace was playing close to the line when he spoke to his customers and that he failed to be pro active in obtaining information from the Quebec dealers on the accident history of the vehicles. Because of these aspects of the evidence, the Tribunal feels Mr. Lagace needs to be supervised to ensure that he understand his responsibilities to his customers.

The difficult point in this case is that there is nothing in the legislation that clearly sets out the level of disclosure to be given to customers. The Tribunal notes that while the Registrar would like the motor vehicle dealers to state that the vehicles are salvage vehicles or have the phrase "write off" on the bill of sale, the Ontario Motor Vehicle Industry Council has not issued any written directives on how to disclose the condition of the vehicles or the level of disclosure that should be standard for dealerships. Indeed, the branding program which only was proclaimed in July, 1998 and became actively used in the Fall of 1998 is a voluntary program for the insurance companies.

All of the disclosure programs mentioned in this case such as Carfax or Autochek are voluntary programs. A car may be severely damaged in an accident and if the insurance company fails to list its condition with such disclosure or branding programs, then both the motor vehicle dealer and the consumer will not obtain the correct information. The Tribunal agrees with the statement of Ms. South that consumers should be armed with sufficient information so there is no misrepresentation as to the extent of the damage to the vehicle. However, the tools to allow this to happen have not been provided by OMVIC, the provincial government or the insurance industry.

The Tribunal found the testimony of Mr. Hamilton to be informative. Mr. Hamilton is the Counsel for the Used Car Dealers Association. This Association helps used car dealers and collects a membership fee from them. Mr. Hamilton felt that dealers should advise their customers of serious or material accident damage. He stated that the terms "write off", "salvage" and "total loss" are not necessarily helpful terms to the buying public as they are economic terms used by the insurance companies. Mr. Hamilton felt that it was very important to disclose that a car has been accident repaired. He thought there was some grey areas on what is minor damage or major damage, and it is best to put "accident repair" on a dealer's bill of sale. His comments on "as is" were of interest to the Tribunal.

He advises the used car dealers to put "as is" on vehicles that are not fit for the road. He agreed that under the Sale of Goods Act there is an implied warranty on fitness. The Tribunal found the evidence of Mr. Hamilton to be clear and concise and has placed a great deal of reliance upon it. It is obvious that the consumer needs to know that the vehicle has been in an accident. If a used car dealer states that a vehicle has been in an accident and there is no manufacturer's warranty, a reasonable consumer would take that to mean that the car has suffered sufficient damage to void the manufacturer's warranty and that further investigation is required.

The evidence of the customers is obviously of importance in determining this issue. Mr. Lemieux knew he had bought a car that had been repaired even though he was not sure where exactly the car had been damaged. He had no complaints about Mr. Lagace. Ms Noel was more upset about the extent of repairs done to her vehicle. She knew it was accident repaired, and the bill of sale is stamped accident repaired. She is vague about what exactly Mr. Lagace said to her, as evidenced in her mention of frame damage but not mentioning this to the police or Registrar's investigator.

Mr. Orel stated he would not have bought his car if he had known about its damage. He was told by Mr. Lagace that it was an accident repair and had new air bags and a new windshield.

Ms. Robb's bill of sale did not have accident repair upon it, though the copy of Mr. Lagace did have that stamp. She was very concerned about her car after being told of the extent of its repairs by the police. She testified that she suffered from depression and had a bout of hospitalization during the time her car had been seized by the police. She had a safety certificate for her car, and she knew the warranty was voided as she bought a new warranty when she bought the car. She agreed that Mr. Lagace had fixed items when she had brought the car back to his garage.

Mr. Levesque told the Registrar's investigator that Mr. Lagace had used the words "minor accident" but he did not say that to the police. His bill of sale stated it is an accident repair vehicle. Mr. Sersen had a mechanic examine the car prior to buying it from Mr. Lagace. The mechanic thought the car was sound. He knew that there had been damage to the passenger side of the car at the front and rear. He complained that he might have paid too much for the car, if it had suffered extensive damage.

Mr. Maccabe bought a car from Mrs. Lagace. He remembered her saying there had been minor damage to the car but there is nothing in the statements to the police or Registrar's investigator to corroborate that statement. He knew he had bought a damaged car.

Most of the evidence of the consumers was vague as to what exactly Mr. or Mrs. Lagace said as to the actual damage to the car. Some understood it to be minor damage, others did not know or care about the extent of the damage. Some were nervous about their car once they were told by the police as to the extent of the damage. None stated they had major problems with their cars prior to the police involvement. All knew that their car had been in an accident. The evidence is not conclusive that Mr. or Mrs. Lagace deliberately misled the consumers as to the extent of the damage to the cars. Mr. Lagace stated in his evidence that he did not know precisely the extent of the damage as the Quebec dealers gave him only general information, such as front end damage. The Autochek program he used told him about the market value of the car prior to the accident and what it was worth after the accident. In many cases the difference was dramatic, but Mr. Lagace did state that insurance companies overstate the cost of repairing a vehicle when they consider whether or not to take an economic loss on the vehicle. For example, he fixed up a 1992 Ford F150 truck for considerably less than what was given as the damage value.

The Tribunal finds it disquieting that Mr. Lagace failed to ask the dealers for more information on the extent of repairs to these cars. The Tribunal finds it disquieting that Mr. Lagace had knowledge that some of these vehicles had substantial accident damage. For example, in the case of the Sersen vehicle the accident damage came to about 50% of the market value of the vehicle. That should have caused him to make further investigation on exactly what was the extent of the damage to that vehicle. Instead, Mr. Lagace took the easy way out. He relied on the verbal assurances of Quebec dealers, when he did not have any kind of a substantial relationship with many of them. As a used motor vehicle dealer, Mr. Lagace should not have been so cavalier in his approach regarding the extent of damage to a car. He has a duty to know enough about the prior history and condition of the vehicle that he can answer the queries of his customers.

On the other hand, his customers were buying relatively new vehicles at low prices. They were being told the car had been in an accident, and in most cases they were told the manufacturer's warranty was void. The customers had the opportunity to test drive the car. If they wished to have the car examined by their own mechanic, that was permitted by Mr. Lagace. The consumer has a responsibility as well to understand that they are not buying a brand new vehicle and further investigations are required especially when buying a newer car at lower than normal prices. If Mr. Lagace could not answer their questions about the specifics of the repairs, they could either do further investigation on the car after obtaining its VIN number or decide not to continue with the negotiations for its purchase.

None of the consumers complained of serious defects to their cars although some of them were shocked by the extent of the repairs and would not have bought the vehicle if the full information had been provided. Under the current legislation and regulations, no motor vehicle dealer has to provide that full information or state that a vehicle is an insurance write off or an total loss or a salvage vehicle. It is not even technically a requirement that the bill of sale have stamped on it accident repair, even though the practice encouraged by the Used Car Dealers Association. Only recently, OMVIC introduced courses for new dealers that looks at this issue, and there has been no industry wide policy implemented by OMVIC on this issue.

The Tribunal has concerns over the bill of sale to Ms. Robb not having an accident repair stamp on it though the dealer's copy does have such a stamp. Mr. Lagace explained that as his bill of sale documents are preprinted carbonless, stamp does not go through both copies. The Tribunal is prepared to accept the explanation of Mr. Lagace regarding Ms Robb's situation. There were several other bill of sales that did not have accident repair stamped on them. It is evidence of an inadequate business practice, and the Tribunal wishes to see improved business practices in place which will prevent such omissions in the future. It is important that consumers know they are purchasing accident repair vehicles. Ms. Robb was told that her vehicle had been in an accident. She stated that Mr. Lagace said there was a little bit of damage to the right front end but nothing major. Mr. Lagace states that he told her there was no factory warranty but did not say that the damage was minor or major. Mr. Lagace states that it is his practice not to say to consumers whether the damage is minor or major but that the car had been in an accident, has been repaired and the general location of the repair. The Tribunal accepts the evidence of Mr. Lagace over that of Ms Robb. He spoke in a forthright fashion and was not evasive in his answers. Ms Robb was an emotional witness and has admitted suffering from depression in the recent past, which required 24 days of hospitalization. The Tribunal does not accept her claim that her hospitalization was due solely to the police seizure of her vehicle.

Though the Tribunal has concerns that Mr. Lagace was not fulsome in his comments to his customers on the extent of the damage to the vehicles, the Tribunal is prepared to give him the benefit of the doubt that this was not done in a dishonest fashion. The Tribunal accepts the standard of proof as found by the Divisional Court in Coates supra, that being that the "proof must be clear and convincing and based upon cogent evidence which is accepted by the tribunal".

The Tribunal finds that this is an appropriate case for conditions upon the registration. Mr. Lagace has stopped dealing with the Quebec auto dealers. He states that now 90% of the cars he sells are branded. He is prepared to accept conditions on his registration and to take education courses for motor vehicle dealers. The Tribunal finds that Mr. Lagace is governable and is a suitable person for the imposition of conditions on his dealership registration.

ORDER:

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority vested in it by Section 7(4) of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act the Tribunal directs the Registrar to grant Mr. Lagace his registration as a motor vehicle dealer on the following terms and conditions:

1. Mr. Lagace is to inform the Registrar of any criminal charges laid against him.
2. Mr. Lagace is to stamp all bills of sale for accident repaired vehicles with the words "accident repair".
3. Mr. Lagace is to register all accident repair cars under the voluntary branding program as either salvage or rebuilt on the registration permits.
4. Mr. Lagace is to attend the motor vehicle dealer certification course offered by OMVIC. He is to provide a copy of his certificate from that course to the Registrar at the time of his next renewal of his dealership registration.
5. Mr. Lagace is to obtain a copy of the Rules of Business Practice as prepared by OMVIC. He is to follow those business practices in his dealership.
6. Mrs. Lagace is to have no involvement with the customers at the dealership unless she obtains her registration as a motor vehicle salesperson.
7. Mr. Lagace is to consistently utilize such programs as Autochek or Carfax when purchasing used vehicles.

8. These terms and conditions remain in force for two years from the date of the issuance of this order.

In accordance with the authority vested in it by section 7(4) of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act the Tribunal directs the Registrar to carry out his Proposal to refuse to register 1302734 Ontario Inc. as a motor vehicle dealership.

TO APPEAL AN ORDER TO IMPOUND A MOTOR VEHICLE ISSUED BY THE REGISTRAR OF MOTOR VEHICLES

BRIDGETTE N. HAYNES, Applicant

DATE OF HEARING: August 15, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: August 17, 2000 Oshawa

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on August 15, 2000, at Oshawa, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO SET ASIDE the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the “Registrar”), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: Bridgette N. Haynes (the “Applicant”)
Motor Vehicle: 1986 Dodge RMV Van, plate # 171 5EL (the “vehicle”)
Date of Appeal: July 31, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the “Tribunal”) together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on August 15, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant’s request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant’s appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar’s order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant’s evidence follows.

Applicant’s written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

I need my van as I use it on a daily basis for work, and it is my only source of transportation. I have 2 children 5 months and 13 years old that I need to support. Without my van I can’t continue to work as my job totally relies on having a van. If I take any more time from work they will have to give my work to someone else as they are very busy at this time. I have already lost a weeks work which has caused me a lot of stress and financial problems as my rent is due, hydro food on the table for my kids ect. To sum this all up my van is a very important part of my life I can’t live without it. And I will make sure nothing like this happens again I will keep my keys on me at all times.

The following is a summary of the Applicant's testimony given under oath.

The Applicant is a mother of two children ages five months and thirteen years old. She currently owns two vehicles, the first vehicle is a 1986 Pontiac, which is inoperable due to problems with the motor, and the other is the impounded van. Jason Nugent, the alleged driver of the impounded vehicle is the common-law husband and sole provider for the family.

Mr. Nugent is employed at Kawartha Carpet & Tile Company Limited. He installs carpets, tiles and flooring. His income is approximately $35 per hour. Mr. Nugent's uncle and Kevin Arscott own the company.

In her testimony, the Applicant left her job to chauffeur her common-law husband to and from work each day because he had a suspended licence. She spent many hours each day waiting for him either in the vehicle or on the job site. Since the impoundment, Mr. Nugent has been working in the company's warehouse, in Lindsay, one to two days a week earning approximately $9 per hour. His contracted jobs have been delegated to other employees.

The family was evicted from their home on a verbal 30-day notice effective July 31, 2000. They extended their stay until August 31, 2000. The month of July represented their last month's rent and they currently do not have the funds to pay August's rent. They have not yet found accommodations commencing September 2000 and will not have the funds to pay the first and last month's rent on a new place.

The Applicant has looked into obtaining some financial assistance.

Due to various medical concerns, the Applicant, Mr. Nugent and their five-month-old child are awaiting medical results from their physician to determine whether their tap water has been contaminated.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows (Exhibits 5 & 6):

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Jason Nugent;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of impaired driving under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until February 3, 2002.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

(1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines “exceptional hardship” as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

(h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22
- (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Tribunal shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety or any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
 - (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Tribunal shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
 - (3) The Tribunal may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;

- (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
- (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS

The Applicant has appealed on the grounds of "exceptional hardship" as per section 50.2(3)(d).

Before investigating whether all the criteria has been established on the grounds of exceptional hardship, there is an important and vital matter to be considered by the Tribunal. The item for consideration is whether the police officer is "satisfied" that a person was driving the motor vehicle on a highway while that person's driver's licence was under suspension under section 41 or 42 of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA").

Section 55.1 of the Act reads as follows:

(2) Where a police officer or officer appointed for carrying out the provisions of this Act is satisfied that a person was driving a motor vehicle on a highway while his or her driver's licence is under suspension under section 41 or 42, even if it is under suspension at the time for any reason, the officer shall

- (a) notify the Registrar of the fact or cause the Registrar to be notified; and
- (b) detain the motor vehicle that was being driven by the person whose driver's licence is under suspension until the Registrar issues an order under subsection (3).

According to the Applicant's testimony, Mr. Nugent was making a purchase at a 711 store. Upon leaving the store, he found the police by the van. Mr. Nugent was then arrested and told that they received a report that someone was drinking while in care and control of the impounded vehicle. The impounded vehicle was searched and no alcohol was found.

The Applicant stated that she had been told that a witness had observed the driver. There was no evidence of whether the observation was made by the police officer, a known witness, or an unknown witness who called in an anonymous tip.

By the express wording of the Act, an impoundment under section 55.1 requires that a police officer be satisfied that a person was driving a motor vehicle on a highway while his or her driver's licence was under suspension.

There was no evidence from the police officer that he was "satisfied that Mr. Nugent was driving the motor vehicle on the highway while his driver's licence was under suspension. In the absence of the required proof, the Tribunal cannot assume that the arresting officer was "satisfied" as required by section 55.1 of the Act.

Under section 50.2(5), the Tribunal is given jurisdiction to "confirm or set aside the order to impound". The evidence is lacking with regard to section 55.1 of the Act, and therefore a fundamental condition required by the Tribunal before making its decision had not been met.

Accordingly, in the absence of this evidence, the ground of exceptional hardship upon which the Applicant appeals does not require consideration by the Tribunal.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal sets aside the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

TO APPEAL AN ORDER TO IMPOUND A MOTOR VEHICLE ISSUED BY THE REGISTRAR OF MOTOR VEHICLES

TRIBUNAL: STUART CORK, Presiding Member

APPEARANCES: KIM BEINTEMA
Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

TERESIA E. VEITENBERG, Applicant
GLEN LIVINGSTON, Agent for the Applicant

DATE OF HEARING: August 16, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: August 23, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on August 16, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner:	Teresia E. Veitenberg (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle:	1999 Nissan SXG, plate # TCK 529 (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal:	July 28, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the vehicle owner exercised due diligence (i.e. all reasonable efforts) to determine that the driver's licence was not suspended and the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in sections 50.2(3)(c) and (d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on August 16, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

The Applicant's representative submitted a letter from the Applicant dated August 15th, 2000.

The Respondent submitted a set of original certified documents, copies of which had been previously filed with the Tribunal.

The documents tendered by the Applicant and the Respondent were entered into evidence as exhibits with the consent of both parties.

The hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension?

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

- (1) owner was shown an invalid licence from an old picture licence found
- (2) owners vehicle used for emergency
- (3) owners vehicle being a handicap vehicle
- (4) owner 75 years old with chronic pain nurse's care & aid

I exercised diligence to determine status now I'm experiencing extreme hardship without my handicap vehicle for emergencies and dr. appy etc.

Mr. Glen Livingston, the Applicant's representative and the driver of the vehicle at the time of the impoundment, testified that he is a tenant of the Applicant, and also acts as her caregiver. The Applicant suffers from a variety of physical ailments. She is taking medication and is under a doctor's care.

Mr. Livingston was under the impression that his suspension had been served. Under this belief in July of this year, he offered to drive the Applicant's vehicle to assist her in her errands, and taking her to her medical appointments. He stated that the Applicant asked to see his driver's licence before he was given the keys to her car. Mr. Livingston further stated that he produced the photo card portion of an old licence that he still had in his possession. This was supported by the August 15th, 2000 letter of the Applicant in which she stated that she trusted the licence to be valid and that the photo was that of Mr. Livingston. He became aware that his licence was still under suspension when he was stopped for a traffic violation, and the vehicle was subsequently impounded. He stated that the vehicle carried a handicapped parking permit, but the vehicle was not equipped in any way with any special equipment that would facilitate a disabled person driving it.

Mr. Livingston further testified that since the loss of her vehicle, the Applicant has had to incur the financial burden of taking taxis to get to her medical appointments, and for her household errands.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Glen K. Livingston;

3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of driving while disqualified or prohibited under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until October 8, 2002.

In response to the testimony and submissions of the Applicant, the Respondent submitted a letter from Abrams Towing Services Ltd., that was entered into evidence as exhibit #7. This letter stated that the impounded vehicle "does not appear to be equipped to facilitate a disabled person".

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

- (1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Board.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Board may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of sections 50.2(3)(c) and (d).

With respect to an appeal under subsection 50.2(3)(c) alleging that the owner exercised due diligence prior to releasing the vehicle to the driver, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary provides the definition of "due diligence" as follows:

Due: A. adj. 1. That is owing or payable, as a debt. 2. Belonging or falling to by right. 3. That ought to be giving or rendered; merited. 4. Such as ought to be; fitting; proper; rightful. 5. Such as is requisite or necessary; adequate. 6. To be ascribed or attributed; owing to, caused by, in consequence of. 7. Under engagement or contract to be ready or arrive (at a defined time).

Diligence: 1. The quality of being diligent; industry, assiduity. 2. Speed, dispatch. 3. Careful attention, heedfulness, caution. 4. Law. The attention and care due from a person in a given situation....

Also, "due diligence" in Black's Law Dictionary (sixth edition) at page 457 is as follows:

Due diligence: Such a measure of prudence, activity, or assiduity, as is properly to be expected from, and ordinarily exercised by, a reasonable and prudent man under the particular circumstances; not measured by any absolute standard, but depending on the relevant facts of the special case.

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines "exceptional hardship" as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

- (4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

- (h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Board in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22
- (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety of any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
 - (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
 - (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
 - (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension as per section 50.2(3)(c) of the Act?

The Applicant's evidence is that one month prior to the impoundment, the Applicant asked for and was shown a driver's licence, prior to allowing Mr. Livingston to driver her car. Mr. Livingston believed that his licence suspension had been served, though he came to realize that, as he stated, he was "grossly mistaken". The documentary evidence before the Tribunal shows that Mr. Livingston's current suspension was in fact not due to have been completed until October of 2002. Furthermore, there was no evidence adduced that would indicate that the Ministry of Transportation had given any notification to Mr. Livingston that his licence had been re-instated. The last valid licence that Mr. Livingston would have held, would show an expiry date of February 11th, 1995. Had the Applicant checked the licence, she would have seen that it was no longer valid. At the time that two part licences were being issued, the photo card alone did not constitute the whole licence document, but only served to identify the bearer of the adjoining blue slip.

Since the Applicant would have been shown only part of an expired licence, which would clearly not be sufficient to determine the status of Mr. Livingston's suspension at that time, she would have still had to further rely upon Mr. Livingston's assurance that he believed that his suspension had been served, and that his licence had been reinstated. This is in spite of the fact that the Applicant only had this partial and expired licence document before her.

The Tribunal finds that the reliance upon the assurance of the driver that his driver's licence was valid, does not constitute due diligence as defined by the Act, and is not sufficient to meet the standards of this ground of appeal.

The Applicant has also appealed on the grounds of exceptional hardship, in accordance with section 50.2(3)(d). Section 22 of Regulation 632/98 is very specific, in that it provides the Tribunal with the specific criteria the Applicant must meet to determine if exceptional hardship under the Act will result from the impoundment. The Tribunal is precluded from considering other factors not arising from or directly related to the impoundment itself.

The Applicant has made no specific claims of exceptional hardship as described by section 22(1)(a) or (b).

In order for the Applicant's claims to be considered under section 22(2)(a), (b), and (c), she must have demonstrated that all of section 22(3) has been met. Furthermore, section 22(4) of the Regulation provides that the Applicant demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered for an alternative to the vehicle.

The Applicant has not presented the Tribunal with any evidence that would demonstrate that every reasonable alternative option has been considered and inquired into as required by section 22(4) of the Regulation. Furthermore, no attempt was made by the Applicant to demonstrate to the Tribunal that no other alternatives to the impounded vehicle existed. In fact, the Applicant's testimony was that she has made use of alternatives to the impounded vehicle, including taking taxis on a regular basis.

The Tribunal finds that the Applicant has failed to meet the onus under the section 22(3) and 22(4) of the Regulation, and the Tribunal is therefore precluded from considering the Applicant's claim of exceptional hardship under section 22(2) of the Regulation.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

DECISION RELEASED: August 23, 2000 Ottawa

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on August 14, 2000, at Ottawa, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended (AHTA@ or the AAct@).

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to Section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the Act).

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the Registrar), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner:	Marc T. E. Kelly (the Applicant)
Motor Vehicle:	1989 Pontiac Sunbird LE, plate # ACMP 723 (the Vehicle)
Date of Appeal:	July 28, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the Tribunal) together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the vehicle owner exercised due diligence (i.e. all reasonable efforts) to determine that the driver's licence and the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in sections 50.2(3)(c) and (d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on August 14, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension?

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

my position is to appeal the vehicle impoundment
I have attached a written explanation of the reasons as they apply to me according to the guidelines set out in Section 22

To whom it may concern;

I wish to appeal the decision to impound my vehicle for 45 days under the reasons set out in Section 22.(3), parts a) through d) which I feel directly and honestly apply to me and my family.

In part a) the guideline says: no alternative to the impounded vehicle is available;

This directly applies to me and is significantly felt by me and my family as we live two miles to the nearest village, twenty miles to the nearest town where we regularly buy groceries and necessities. I work sixty km away from home in Renfrew, Ont.

I start work at 3:30 p.m. and work until 2 a.m., Monday to Thursday. Finding a way to and from work is incredibly difficult and two days so far I have missed work, due to an inability to get there. I have two young daughters who live with me and are in a shared custody situation with their mother. Their mother has no vehicle and does not drive. The responsibility to transport the children is solely up to me. My children and I have suffered greatly in the past two weeks without a vehicle and I wish to be granted a successful appeal to continue driving to and from work, support my children and myself, and continue to be without a situation like this in the future.

In section b) it states: the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting. This directly applies to me and my family. When my vehicle was impounded, I was in Renfrew at the time. I was without transportation to home and was forced to find a way back to Westmeath by hitch-hiking. (Extremely humiliating and inconvenient) Since that day, I have had to rent a vehicle on days where I had to go to work, and pick up my children. I cannot afford to continue renting a vehicle to go to work and go to Pembroke to buy groceries and to pick up and drive my children to their mother's home. The significant impact of the loss of my vehicle is overwhelming, and I do not see how I can continue to be without it for another 32 days. I feel that section c) would be covered in my appeal as well.

Section d), [i] states: the impact of the loss will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her's driver's license was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle and

[ii] will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause 2(b),(c), or (d).

Section 4 requires that I demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered to eliminate the loss of the vehicle.

I have done everything possible to find alternate ways to pick up my children, get to work, buy groceries and after nearly two weeks without my vehicle, I am at the end of my rope and can no longer be without my vehicle without the loss of said vehicle being a threat to our health and welfare, my job, my children's well-being. I no longer have a way to get to the basics of my family's needs. I urgently plea my appeal in all truth and honesty, with respect to legislation.

I hope to hear a reply as soon as possible. Sincerely;

Marc T. E. Kelly

The Applicant testified as follows:

The Applicant was a passenger in his own motor vehicle driven by an unlicensed driver; they were pulled over by an Ontario Provincial Police officer. The occupants of the vehicle were driven home by the police officer who intercepted them. When the Applicant attended at the police station to retrieve his vehicle, he learned that the driver in question was a person under licence suspension, pursuant to sections 41 and 42 of the Highway Traffic Act of Ontario.

The Applicant readily admits that he now knows that it is his responsibility to inquire whether a person to whom he intends to loan his vehicle is the holder of a motor vehicle licence; he also admits that he merely assumed that the proposed driver was a licensed driver without making any inquiries whatsoever. His assumption was based upon the fact that he had seen the person in question driving another vehicle at various times in the recent past. The driver in question was a new acquaintance whom he did not really know.

The Applicant lives approximately two miles (3.2 kms.) from the hamlet of Westmeath, Ontario in a rural area; he works in Renfrew approximately 60 kms. from his home.

The Applicant's family consists of two young daughters and he enjoys shared custody of them, periodically, and at extended times during each month; the mother of his two daughters lives approximately 25 kms. away; the Applicant used to pick up and deliver the children himself using his vehicle, as the children's mother did not have an automobile; she got a car shortly after the Applicant's motor vehicle was impounded and she now assumes "pick up and delivery" of the children.

The Applicant testified that his job is not threatened but that it was incredibly difficult for him to get to and from work and that he now had no way to get to town for groceries or to the hospital for medication for one of his children who has an asthma condition; upon cross-examination, he admitted that he picks up his groceries using his parents' car; upon cross-examination he also stated that if a threat to the health and safety of his children arose, either with respect to running out of medication or for an emergency, he could and would, either call his parents or get an ambulance .

The Applicant has traveled to his work with his brother, who works in Pembroke, but he states that he cannot rely on him, as they work different shifts. Although the Applicant did miss eight (8) days of work, it happens that those days were during his employer's scheduled holidays and that he volunteered to work during the rest of the holidays to enhance his image at his new job and because he needed the money; he has not missed any regular employment days; he borrows (rents) his parents' car although this is very embarrassing to him and inconvenient for them; he borrowed a car to attend at the hearing.

The Applicant admits that he has not considered the possibility of renting an automobile from a rental company.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Tyson R. Forstner;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence impaired driving under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until March 17, 2002.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

(1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of sections 50.2(3)(c) and (d).

With respect to an appeal under subsection 50.2(3)(c) alleging that the owner exercised due diligence prior to releasing the vehicle to the driver, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary provides the definition of "due diligence" as follows:

Due: A. adj. 1. That is owing or payable, as a debt. 2. Belonging or falling to by right. 3. That ought to be giving or rendered; merited. 4. Such as ought to be; fitting; proper; rightful. 5. Such as is requisite or necessary; adequate. 6. To be ascribed or attributed; owing to, caused by, in consequence of. 7. Under engagement or contract to be ready or arrive (at a defined time).

Diligence: 1. The quality of being diligent; industry, assiduity. 2. Speed, dispatch. 3. Careful attention, heedfulness, caution. 4. Law. The attention and care due from a person in a given situation....

Also, "due diligence" in Black's Law Dictionary (sixth edition) at page 457 is as follows:

Due diligence: Such a measure of prudence, activity, or assiduity, as is properly to be expected from, and ordinarily exercised by, a reasonable and prudent man under the particular circumstances; not measured by any absolute standard, but depending on the relevant facts of the special case.

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines "exceptional hardship" as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

- (h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Board in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22 (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
- (a) a threat to the health or safety of any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
- (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
- (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
- (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
- (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

As to the first issue filed: the evidence established that the Applicant misapprehends the meaning of the phrase "exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension"; he understood this to mean that he could assume that the proposed driver was a licensed driver by the mere fact that he had seen him driving a motor vehicle often, recently, and that he did not need to ask for proof of his possession of a valid motor vehicle licence to drive or to inquire from the Registrar of Motor Vehicles whether the proposed driver was the holder of such a licence, and if not, to inquire whether the reason for not having such a licence was as a result of a conviction of a Criminal Code of Canada offence as contemplated by sections 41 and 42 of the Highway Traffic Act of Ontario.

With respect to the second issue filed: Whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Applicant has demonstrated that he has been able to cope; the Applicant has made use of various alternatives to get to work; his brother, his parents, as well as the mother of his two daughters, pick up and deliver his children to him when he does not have the use of his parents' vehicle. He has established that he does have alternatives and that he is using them to the maximum. The gist of the Applicant's submissions with respect to this issue is to the effect that it's a constant stress for him to find alternatives...it's just too much."

The Applicant has not met the "exceptional hardship" threshold to support his appeal.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on August 04, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to Section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA").

The Tribunal released its Decision on August 8, 2000, with Reasons to follow.

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the suspension imposed by the Registrar pursuant to Section 48.3 HTA for the following reasons.

REASONS

BACKGROUND:

Notice of Appeal and Prescribed Fee

This appeal comes before the Tribunal on behalf of the Applicant, by way of a Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990 as amended, chapter H.8. The Applicant elected that his appeal be decided by the Tribunal by way of an oral hearing. The form of Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act was dated July 13, 2000, and was received by the Tribunal on July 13, 2000, together with the prescribed fee of $100.00.

Reason for the Appeal

The reason for the appeal cited by the Applicant was stated as follows in the said notice:

"I was unable to provide the required breath sample because of a medical reason."

The Respondent requested that the record be noted that the Applicant's medical information, i.e. page 2 of the Notice of Appeal and the report from Physician # 1 were filed late. So noted.

ISSUE:

Having established that this appeal falls within subsection 50.1(2)(b) of the Highway Traffic Act, and the Tribunal thereby having jurisdiction, the question to be answered is: Did the Applicant fail or refuse to comply with a demand made to provide a sample of breath or blood because he was unable to do so for a medical reason?

LAW:

The legislation governing the Administrative Drivers Licence Suspension (ADLS) under subsection 50.1(1) and (2) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA") states:

50.1 (1) "A person whose driver's licence is suspended under Section 48.3 may appeal the suspension to the Tribunal.

(2) The grounds on which a person may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may order that the suspension be set aside are,

- (a) that the person whose licence was suspended is not the same individual to whom a demand for a sample of breath or blood was made, or from whom a sample of breath or blood was taken, as the case may be, under or pursuant to the provisions of the Criminal Code (Canada) referred to in subsection 48.3(3); or
- (b) that the person failed or refused to comply with a demand made under section 254 of the Criminal Code (Canada) to provide a sample of breath or blood because he or she was unable to do so for a medical reason”.

The HTA states under Section 50.1(4):

The Tribunal may confirm the suspension or may order that the suspension be set aside.

Regulation 574 (amended), Highway Traffic Act at subsection 15(1), (2) and (3) requires that a medical report must contain:

15. (1) “a report of a legally qualified medical practitioner that is to be submitted in evidence shall clearly state,

- (a) the name, telephone number and address, with the postal code, of the medical practitioner;
- (b) the name, date of birth and address of the person who is the subject of the report;
- (c) that the medical practitioner has prepared the report, or is aware that the report may be used, in support of an appeal to the Board from the suspension of a driver’s licence under section 50.1 of the Act;
- (d) the length of time and frequency with which the medical practitioner has attended upon the person who is the subject of the report, including the date of the most recent examination of the person that supports the findings set out in the report;
- (e) whether the medical practitioner is the family physician of the person who is the subject of the report; and
- (f) whether the medical practitioner is a specialist and, if so, the field of speciality.

(2) The report shall provide the details of any present condition, diagnosis and history of the condition that precludes the person who is the subject of the report from providing a breath or blood sample including the results of any related tests.

(3) The report shall be signed by the medical practitioner.”

Finally, section 13 of Regulation 574 (amended) provides:

“A person appealing a suspension has the onus of establishing the merit of the appeal”.

FACTS:

The Applicant’s driver’s licence was suspended “June 30 2000” as set out in the Applicant’s Notice of Appeal. (Exhibit # 1)

An undated letter from (place of employment) confirms that the Applicant has been an employee "...since 1994." The signator, whose signature is illegible goes on to state that: "...Before that he employed as an Appliance Refrigeration Technician... he was exposed to poisonous fumes... developed breathing difficulties which have symptoms similar to asthma..." (Exhibit # 3)

An appeal application to the Workplace Safety and Insurance Appeals Tribunal indicates that the Applicant filed an appeal with the said Tribunal on August 10, 1999. (Exhibit # 4)

Page 2 of the Notice of Appeal, dated July 31, 2000, was prepared by Physician # 2, the Applicant's physician for 11 years. Physician # 2 verifies the Applicant suffers from "...Acute anxiety and panic attacks related to low level odours and exposure; shortness of breath; allergic rhinitis; long standing since 1989." (Exhibit # 5)

Physician # 2 lists the last visit to the office had occurred on 'Nov 30/98' when the Applicant was "...referred to Physician # 3" (Exhibit # 5)

A letter from Physician # 1, Occupational Services Program, dated January 7, 1999, specifies "...history of recurrent anxiety, shortness of breath and intolerance to odourants ...He finds that he is now bothered by a variety of odourants such as hair sprays and pesticides... Physician # 4, an allergist/immunologist... felt that he had somatization with panic attacks ...Physician # 5, a neurologist ...could not find any underlying abnormality ...saw a respiratologist ...asthma ...was also negative ...does have allergic rhinitis both seasonal and perennial... referred him to Physician # 6, a psychiatrist..."(Exhibit # 5)

The Respondent provided the following Documents:

- Notice to Registrar.
- Driving Record
- Vehicle Record
- Synopsis of Constable Officer # 1, Badge # (number), Toronto Police Service
- Videotape of Breath Testing Session.

Applicant's driver's record shows no infractions. (Exhibit # 7)

Synopsis of Constable Officer # 1, Badge # (number), Toronto Police Service, indicate that he turned the Applicant over to "...PC Officer # 2 # (number), a qualified breath technician ...the accused made several attempts but failed to provide suitable samples of his breath..." (Exhibit # 7)

At the hearing, the Applicant read a prepared statement. The Applicant described the incident that led to the collision and subsequently to the suspension of his licence. On his way home from work, the Applicant was involved in an accident. The Applicant testified that he was shook up after avoiding a "...major..." collision, and that he "...repeatedly told the officers..." he was having difficulties. Nonetheless, "...the policemen were ignorant and ignored..." his condition.

The Applicant further testified that while in the small room at the police station, he was feeling out of breath, but feels he was not understood by the officers. The Applicant asserted that after he got home and took a shower everything was back to normal.

The Applicant testified that he sees his physician three to four times a week. He did not see Physician # 2 after the incident as Physician # 2 was sick. He saw many doctors, but was only able to obtain the report on July 31, 2000.

The Respondent relied on the written information provided for the hearing, as well as on the testimony of PC Officer # 2, and the videotaping of the breathalyzer session at the station.

PC Officer # 2 testified that he is a qualified breath technician and has been since February 2000. PC Officer # 2 related the information provided to him by PC Officer # 1, and summarized his dealings with the Applicant.

The Applicant was given several opportunities to provide a breath sample, but failed to do so. PC Officer # 2 did not notice any breathing difficulties on the part of the Applicant and notes that the Applicant, "...did not appear to be out of breath..."

A videotape of the test showed that the Applicant claimed he is suffering from poisoning and his gums have been damaged as a result. The Applicant's ability to speak and the timbre of his voice exhibited no indication that he was short of breath.

At one point, the Applicant appeared to collapse and was assisted by PC Officer # 2.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

The Tribunal accepts and considered the Applicant's medical reports as evidence. Although the Respondent requested that the record be noted, no formal objection was raised by the Respondent as to admissibility.

Further, the Tribunal notes that the videotape of the breathalyzer session entered in evidence by the Respondent was submitted on the same day as the Applicant's reports.

At issue is, how does the medical condition of the Applicant relate to section 50.1 (2) (b) of the HTA, and did this medical reason cause him to fail or not comply with the breath demand. By section 13 of Regulation 574 (amended), the onus is on the Applicant to provide the Tribunal with a medical reason as to why he was unable to provide a breath sample.

The Tribunal reviewed the "Applicant's Medical Information" prepared by the Applicant's physician on July 31, 2000, and the report from Physician # 1, dated January 7, 1999. The Tribunal concurs with the Respondent. It is hard to accept that the Applicant has severe breathing difficulties, for which he "...sees a physician three or four times a week..."

Physician # 2 diagnoses the Applicant with "...Acute anxiety and panic attacks related to low level odours and exposure; shortness of breath; allergic rhinitis; long standing since 1989". Physician # 1 lists the various specialists seen by the Applicant "...Physician # 4, an allergist/immunologist... felt that he had somatization with panic attacks ...Physician # 5, a neurologist ...could not find any underlying abnormality ...saw a respirologist ...asthma ...was also negative ...does have allergic rhinitis both seasonal and perennial..." (Exhibit # 5)

Neither physician suggests the Applicant suffers from any respiratory condition, other than possible shortness of breath brought on by anxiety and panic attacks.

PC Officer # 2, affirmed that he did not, at any time, during the test, observe the Applicant to be out of breath. The videotape of the session corroborates PC Officer # 2's testimony. There is no indication from the Applicant's voice and demeanour that he was experiencing breathing difficulties, of any type.

During his last attempt to provide a breath sample, the Applicant appeared to collapse and was assisted by PC Officer # 2. The Tribunal finds the Applicant's instantaneous recovery incongruent with a collapse caused by medical reasons. The evidence supports PC Officer # 2's suggestion that the Applicant's apparent collapse was "...theatricals" on the part of the Applicant.

In assessing the Applicant's testimony at the hearing, the Tribunal is not satisfied as to its credibility. The onus being on the Applicant to establish the merit of his appeal, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant has failed to do so. Thus, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant does not meet the criteria of section 50.1 (2) (b), in that he was not able to demonstrate that he suffers from a medical condition which would prevent him from providing a breath sample.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the suspension order dated June 30, 2000 of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles pursuant to section 48.3 of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA") and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

Pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50.1(4) of the HTA, the Tribunal confirms the suspension.

Motor Vehicle Dealers Act

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

This hearing arises from a Notice of Proposal dated January 11, 2000, issued by the Registrar under the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act (the "Act") to refuse the registration of Gene E. Borg (the "Applicant") as a motor vehicle salesperson under the provisions of the Act. By Hearing Request Form dated February 11, 2000, the Applicant requested a hearing before the Commercial Registration Appeal Tribunal (which as of April 1st, 2000 is known as the Licence Appeal Tribunal), (the "Tribunal").

REGISTRAR'S POSITION

The particulars of the Applicant's past conduct which the Registrar found to be inconsistent with the intention and objectives of the Act are firstly set out in the Notice of Proposal to Refuse Registration dated January 11, 2000 and are as follows:

On the application of the Applicant for registration as a motor vehicle salesperson made on or about October 15, 1999, the Applicant answered "yes" to Question 9 which asks "Have you ever been found guilty or convicted of an offense under any law or are there any charges pending? This includes where a conditional discharge or absolute discharge has been ordered." The Applicant attached a one-page schedule to his application disclosing one conviction.

Subsequently, on or about December 20, 1999, the Registrar received further disclosure for the Applicant.

After running a criminal history check, it came to the Registrar's attention that the Applicant has the following convictions, which include but are not limited to:

- (a) possession of stolen property - July 2, 1980;
- (b) public mischief - March 22, 1982;
- (c) possession of property obtained by crime (2 charges) - October 7, 1987;
- (d) fraud - October 7, 1987;
- (e) failing to comply with recognizance - January 12, 1990;
- (f) failing to comply with recognizance - September 16, 1998; and
- (g) assault - November 20, 1998.

By Notice of Further or Other Particulars dated April 10, 2000, the Registrar gave notice to the Applicant that further information had come to the attention to the Registrar relating to the fitness for registration of the Applicant which further particulars are as follows:

1. the Applicant was previously registered as a motor vehicle dealer operating as Quinte Auto Sales from October 11, 1990 to October 11, 1992 at which time the registration lapsed;
2. a further application was submitted in November 1992 but the application was abandoned; and
3. the Applicant did not disclose his criminal record on the application submitted to the Registrar's office in 1990 and 1992.

THE EVIDENCE:

Mary Jane South, Deputy Registrar and Director of Operations of the Ontario Motor Vehicle Industry Council ("OMVIC"), after testifying with respect to the purposes of the Act and OMVIC's role with respect thereto, referred to the criminal record check at Tab 4 of the Book of Disclosure which had been entered as Exhibit 3 in these proceedings. Ms. South explained that where the criminal record check does not agree with an application received by OMVIC, OMVIC sends a copy of the criminal record check to the Applicant seeking an explanation for the discrepancy and the correspondence at Tab 5 of Exhibit 3 is the response from the Applicant to his criminal record provided by OMVIC.

Tab 7 of Exhibit 3 contains a copy of the first application of the Applicant dated September 28, 1990, where the Applicant answered "no" to Question 7 which is similar to Question 9 on the current application which, based upon the recent criminal record check, is an untrue answer. Ms. South testified that at the time that the September 1990 application was made, a record check was not done on every applicant.

Tab 6 of Exhibit 3 contains a copy of the application made by the Applicant in 1992 where, in response to Question 10 which is, again, similar in wording to Question 9 on the present application, the Applicant answered "no" with respect to convictions. Ms. South noted that there is no record as to what happened to this application, and it appears that it was abandoned.

In her testimony, Ms. South noted that in the addendum to the Applicant's current application, as an explanation as to why he answered "yes" to Question 9, the Applicant made reference to only one criminal charge being the assault charge and stated that this "...related to ongoing divorce. Appeal pending." but made no reference to the previous charges.

On cross-examination, it was acknowledged that the Applicant had stated that his birthday was August 14, 1963 and that at the time of the first charge, July 20, 1980, he would have been 16 years old and at the time of the second charge, March 20, 1982 for public mischief, the Applicant would have been 18 years of age.

The agent for the Applicant then suggested that under the Young Offenders Act certain convictions may not form part of a criminal or were removed if the accused did not re-offend within five years and perhaps the Applicant believed the earliest convictions were not part of his record. Ms. South testified that there had been a change in the wording of Question 9 from the previous applications to avoid such confusion.

The witness then confirmed that there were only two categories of registration, motor vehicle dealers or motor vehicle salespersons. When questioned regarding who could attend motor vehicle auctions, Ms. South acknowledged that one must be registered under the Act. Ms. South was then questioned with respect to the need for the same level of public protection if one was acting only as a "wholesaler" buying and selling at automobile auctions as opposed to dealing in the retail sector selling to consumers. Ms. South stated that there is no distinction for the purposes of registration. Ms. South did not agree with the assertion that there was not the same need for safeguards. When asked about the possibility of attaching terms and conditions to the registration of the Applicant, Ms. South responded that the Registrar did not believe that the Applicant would comply with such terms and conditions.

The Applicant testified that he had completed and signed the 1990 application and that he had completed and signed the 1992 application. With respect to the current application, the Applicant acknowledged that it was his signature but that he had been assisted by the sister of the owner of G.W. Motors and it was she who issued the cheque in payment of the application fee. The Applicant testified that the page attached to the application as an addendum setting forth the particulars of the assault conviction was one of two pages that were to have been attached, however, the other page which contained reference to other of the criminal charges had gone missing.

With respect to the various offenses, the Applicant testified that at the time he committed the offence for which he was convicted in 1980, he was 15 years old and that he had a solicitor who advised that he plead guilty. The same was true for the 1982 offence which occurred when he was 18 years old. The Applicant stated that at the time he was charged in 1987, he only spent half a day at the police station and was released on his own recognizance. His conviction for this offence, which was with respect to the possession of miscellaneous car parts, resulted in probation and he did not serve any time in prison.

The Applicant stated that he was not aware of the 1990 charge for failure to comply with recognizance and that with respect to the 1998 assault charge, it had been appealed and he had received a conditional discharge with probation and a prohibition regarding firearms, etc., for five years. It was the Applicant's testimony that he left a two page summary of his convictions with G.W. Motors who was to forward it together with a photocopy of his passport and a cheque. When the Applicant was contacted by Nita Castro, on the behalf of OMVIC, the Applicant provided the disclosure at Tab 5 which was similar to the missing page which was to have been affixed to the application.

Mr. Borg testified that he worked as an evaluator, attending at motor vehicle auctions and providing advice with respect to what cars to be purchased as he had some expertise with respect to used motor vehicles. The Applicant stated that he had taken mechanic's courses, however, he did not have a certificate. He worked part-time in the body shop and did miscellaneous jobs at the dealership. The Applicant indicated that he needed the registration in order to obtain regular employment and that when previously registered, he had been selling to the public and had received few, if any, complaints and those received were minor and were dealt with immediately.

Under cross-examination, Mr. Borg testified that he had had a serious snowmobile accident during the period of his earlier registration and that he had been unable to work. More recently, the Applicant stated he had been divorced and there were numerous court attendances with respect to those proceedings.

When questioned regarding the application at Tab 3, the Applicant repeated his testimony that he had been assisted by the sister of Mark Harris, an owner of G.W. Motors, but she was not available to attend this hearing. Efforts to locate the missing page had not been successful. He testified that the one page that was attached to the application was in the sister's handwriting.

Mr. Borg testified that he contacted Nita Castro after receiving messages that she had called G.W. Motors several times and, as two other applications which were made by the same dealer at the same time had been processed, Mr. Borg called to learn what, if anything, could be done to speed up his application. It was Mr. Borg's evidence that the letter appearing at Tab 5 of Exhibit 3 was typed out with the assistance of his previous lawyer's secretary and had been faxed to OMVIC and provided to Mark Harris who had read the letter and signed the bottom as it appears in Exhibit 3.

Mark Harris gave evidence on behalf of the Applicant. He stated that G.W. Motors was a small dealer of used cars in the retail and wholesale area and that the business was currently operated by him, his sister and his wife. Mr. Harris came to Canada in 1993 and came to know Mr. Borg through his sister who had had previous dealings with the Applicant. Mr. Harris testified that the dealership was dealing more with wholesale than retail sales and that they were looking for someone to assist with sales. Mr. Harris testified that they buy some vehicles from leasing companies but most are purchased at motor vehicle auctions.

Mr. Harris confirmed that he had signed the notation made, possibly by his wife, on the letter at Tab 5. He saw no reason why Mr. Borg should not be brought into what is essentially, a family operation. Mr. Harris testified that he had seen all the pages containing the application at Tab 3 of Exhibit 3 prior to signing the document on behalf of G.W. Motors. Mr. Harris confirmed that the application for Mr. Borg was mailed together with two other applications by his wife, Fiona Harris.

It was Mr. Harris' testimony that he viewed the majority of the convictions against Mr. Borg as being youthful mistakes which he did not find to be a reason not to hire the Applicant. Mr. Harris indicated that there had been no specific discussion with respect to with the Applicant's duties at the dealership.

FACTS FOUND PROVEN:

The following facts are found by this Tribunal to have been proven:

The Applicant answered Question 9 with respect to his criminal history in the affirmative, but the particulars provided made reference only to the most recent conviction and did not disclose prior convictions.

In his original application of September 1990, the Applicant answered a similar question in the negative even though at the time he had at least three convictions of which he was aware.

In making his application in 1992, the Applicant, once again, answered a question with regards to his criminal history in the negative even though the same three charges were known to him.

ISSUE:

The issue before this Tribunal is whether or not the Registrar has erred in proposing to deny the registration of the Applicant under the Act.

THE LAW:

The authority granted to the Registrar is provided in subsection 5(1)(b) of the Act which states:

Section 5(1) An applicant is entitled to registration or renewal of registration by the Registrar except where,

(b) the past conduct of the applicant affords reasonable grounds for belief that the applicant will not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty;

.....

The Registrar has the onus of proof to satisfy the Tribunal that the Registrar has reasonable grounds to believe that the registration of Gene Borg should be refused.

This Tribunal must determine whether the past conduct of the Applicant provides the Registrar with reasonable grounds for the belief that the Applicant will not carry on business as required by section 5(1)(b) of the Act. It is the Registrar's belief which is at issue in these proceedings not that of the Tribunal.

In order for the Tribunal to carry out its responsibilities pursuant to the Act, the Tribunal must review the decision of the Registrar by examining the allegations of the Registrar with respect to the activities of the Applicant and to consider such allegations in light of the evidence given by the Registrar and the Applicant with respect to those allegations.

The Registrar's concern with respect to the past conduct of the Applicant is twofold:

1. The Applicant, on two occasions, failed to disclose his criminal record and on the third occasion, disclosed only the most recent conviction which was for assault which could, arguably, not be directly related to the Applicant's activities as a motor vehicle salesperson if his registration was accepted.
2. Certain of the convictions are for offences which, by their nature, are of direct concern to the Registrar those being possession of stolen property, possession of property obtained by crime over $1,000.00 (two charges) and fraud.

Although the Applicant suggested that there was confusion as to whether the first two convictions were still part of his criminal record, the Applicant chose not to disclose those convictions or to make inquiries in order to determine whether those convictions were still part of his criminal record.

The Tribunal gives no weight to the argument that the Applicant was only going to act as a salesperson at motor vehicle auctions as someone dealing in the wholesale area today might move to the retail area tomorrow and the registration would still be valid. Further, the evidence of Mr. Harris, who would be the Applicant's employer, was that the Applicant would carry on general duties at the dealership, and there was no suggestion that those activities would be limited solely to purchasing vehicles at auction.

DECISION AND ORDER:

In applying the evidence placed before to the relevant legal principles, the Tribunal finds that the past conduct of the Applicant did afford reasonable grounds for Registrar to believe that the Applicant will not carry on business in accordance with the law and with integrity and honesty.

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority vested in it by section 7(4) of the Motor Vehicle Dealer Act, the Tribunal directs the Registrar to carry out the Registrar's proposal dated January 11, 2000 to refuse the registration of Gene E. Borg as a motor vehicle salesperson under the Act.

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

This hearing before the Commercial Registration Appeal Tribunal (which as of April 1, 2000 is known as the Licence Appeal Tribunal), arises out of a Notice of Proposal dated May 1, 2000 issued by the Registrar under the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act (the "Registrar, and the "Act" respectively).

1159274 Ontario Ltd. was incorporated in 1997 and carries on business as Thrifty Auto Sales ("the company"). It has two directors: Basil Easterbrook, who is the president, and Eleanor his wife, who is secretary-treasurer. A previous business which was started for an older son has been sold and this company business was started for the benefit of the younger son, Justin, who is 21 years old.

The father, Basil, who is 76 years old, has been in the auto trade business for some fifty years. The son Justin, has been around the business since he was 4 or 5 years old. All the family savings are now in Thrifty Auto Sales which has 11 full time employees.

Some records that would have been useful were not produced during the hearing. The Applicants only retained their counsel that day.

FACTS:

The Registrar proposed to revoke the registration of 1159274 Ontario Ltd. o/a Thrifty Auto Sales as a motor vehicle dealer and to revoke the registration of Basil Easterbrook and Justin Easterbrook as salespersons. The reasons relied on by the Registrar for the proposal are as follows.

The intention and objective of the Act is to protect the public interest. The requirements of the Act include that Registrants be financially responsible in the conduct of business and that Registrants carry on business in accordance with the law and with integrity and honesty. The registrants' past conduct is inconsistent with the intention and objective of the Act, and therefore warrants disentanglement to registration under the Act. Therefore, the Registrar is unwilling to continue the registration of 1159274 Ontario Ltd. o/a Thrifty Auto Sales and Basil Easterbrook and Justin Easterbrook.

PARTICULARS:

The reasons for the proposal are:

- 1) 1159274 Ontario Ltd o/a Thrifty Auto Sales has been registered as a motor vehicle dealer pursuant to the Motor Vehicles Dealers Act since on or about September 10, 1996.
- 2) Justin Easterbrook is a salesperson registered to the dealer. Justin Easterbrook has been registered under the Act since on or about June 2, 1997
- 3) On or about March 8, 2000 the dealer purchased a vehicle, vehicle identification number (VIN) 1GNDX06E1VD123703 with an odometer reading of 59,192 km and a declaration that the odometer is defective. The Dealer subsequently sold the vehicle but did not disclose that the odometer was defective.
- 4) On or about March 9, 2000 the Dealer through its salesperson Justin Easterbrook purchased a motor vehicle, VIN 3H1JF12T1VS843990 with the disclosure that the vehicle was accidented and repaired and had structural damage. The Dealer subsequently sold the vehicle without any disclosure.
- 5) On or about March 8, 2000 the Dealer purchased a motor vehicle VIN 12GCHK33F8WF032061 with the disclosure that the vehicle was accidented and repaired and had structural damage. The dealer subsequently sold the vehicle without any disclosure.

THE ISSUE:

With respect to the individual Applicants, the legal issue is whether their past conduct is such that the Registrar had reasonable grounds to believe that the Applicants would not carry on business in accordance with the law and with honesty and integrity. With respect to the corporation, the issue is whether the past conduct of its directors affords reasonable grounds for belief that its business will not be carried out with integrity and honesty.

THE LAW:

Under Section 5(1) of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act, an Applicant is entitled to registration by Registrar, except where:

Section 5(1)

(a) having regard to the financial position of the applicant, the applicant cannot reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of business; or

(b) the past conduct of the applicant affords reasonable grounds for belief that the applicant will not carry on business in accordance with the law and with integrity and honesty; or

(c) the applicant is a corporation and,

(i) having regard to its financial position, it cannot reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of its business, or

(ii) the past conduct of its officers or directors affords reasonable grounds for belief that its business will not be carried on in accordance with the law and with integrity and honesty;

Sections 7(4) and 7(5) set out the powers of the Tribunal at a hearing:

Section 7(4) Where an applicant or registrant requires a hearing by the Tribunal in accordance with subsection (2), the Tribunal shall appoint a time for and hold the hearing and, on the application of the Registrar at the hearing, may by order direct the Registrar to carry out the Registrar's proposal or refrain from carrying it out and to take such action as the Tribunal considers the Registrar ought to take in accordance with this Act and the regulations, and for such purposes the Tribunal may substitute its opinion for that of the Registrar.

Section 7(5) The Tribunal may attach such terms and conditions to its order or to the registration as it considers proper to give effect to the purposes of this Act.

EVIDENCE:

There is no dispute about the evidence itself. The dispute between the parties is about its significance.

Both individual Applicants gave their evidence in a straightforward manner which is to their credit. It is clear that Justin, who is a registered salesperson, was given full authority to bind the company buying and selling motor vehicles at auctions where only registered salespersons people representing dealers are allowed to trade. Half of the buying for the company was done by Justin who has bought and sold about 50 to 60 cars a month during the current year. (This is a rate of several millions of dollars a year).

The three vehicle transactions complained of by the Registrar were at auctions.

On March 8, 2000 at the Adesa auction in Montreal, GMAC sold a 1997 Venture van for $10,600.00 to Thrifty Auto Sales. On the sales agreement was the following notation.

"DEFECTIVE ODOMETER/ODOMETRE DEFECTIVE 59,192 KM AND MORE" .

Six days later Thrifty sold this vehicle, at the Toronto Auto Auctions for $14,000.00 without any disclosure. In the meanwhile Justin had obtained and installed a used odometer with a reading of 57,652 .

Justin testified that he thought the odometer reading marked on the sales contract to Thrifty from GMAC looked about right as compared to the condition of the vehicle, but on cross examination admitted he could not say if the vehicle had 150,000 Km or 250,000 Km. His father, Basil Easterbrook, admitted the profit on the resale was larger than usual.

Also at the Adesa auctions in Montreal on March 8, 2000, Justin procured for Thrifty Auto Sales a 1998 Cheyenne from GMAC for $19,600.00. Marked in capital letters on the sales contract was:

"ACCIDENTED AND REPAIRED FRAME DAMAGE..... STRUCTURAL DAMAGE"

The vehicle was resold in the Brampton auctions on April 5, 2000 for $22,300.00. There was no disclosure made to the buyer about the accident, repairs or frame and structural damage. Consequently, the buyer bought the vehicle without being aware of the potential problems.

The profit was larger than usual according to Basil Easterbrook. He took the position that this sort of disclosure warning could be triggered simply by paint damage or a crimped unibody from a garage hoist. If there is real damage, he said, there are signs to look for such as welding, misaligned doors or hood and so on.

On March 9, at the Adesa auction in Vars, GMAC sold a 1997 Cavalier for $8300.00 to Thrifty Auto Sales. Marked on the sales contract was,

"SOLD AS IS / VENDU TEL QUE TEL ACCIDENTED & REPAIRED"

Five days later, Thrifty sold the same vehicle for $10,400.00 without disclosing anything. In the meanwhile, if the usual procedure had been followed, as long as no problems had been found on the inspection by their unlicensed mechanic and bodyman, the vehicle would be released for resale without the warning Thrifty had received. But no supporting records were produced by the Applicants to show this was in fact done although they have these records respecting time and parts used. In addition, Justin claimed that the GMAC representative said they had a policy to over declare to prevent recourse.

Basil Easterbrook agreed the profit was larger than usual, the average expense on a motor vehicle bought at auction being $800.00. He emphasised that although not licensed, the mechanic who inspected the vehicles had been a long-term employee.

Justin said that the bodywork man was licenced. Had there been more than paint damage on any vehicle purchased, apart from a more thorough inspection, it called for the history which would have been obtained.

After the Registrar complained, Basil Easterbrook went through some of Justin's other transactions in the last three years and found two or three other similar discrepancies.

Justin testified he knew that these non-disclosures were wrong. The Toronto Auto Auctions have forbidden him to go to their auctions for six months.

On the other side, telling testimony was given by Aviva Harari for the Registrar. Her experience has been as counsel to the Registrar, as a manager and as an inspector. With great clarity she set out the significance of what had taken place and in that respect the Tribunal is entirely in agreement. These were serious infractions.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The onus is on the Registrar in this hearing to justify the proposal being reviewed.

The test is set out in the leading case of Brenner and the Registrar of Motor Vehicle Dealers and Salesmen CRAT SCO Decision and Orders (1971-1989) as follows:

The effect of section 7(4) is that the Tribunal should only have refused to direct the Registrar to carry out his proposal if it thought the Registrar was in error in concluding that the past conduct of the applicant afforded reasonable grounds for belief that he would not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty. The Board does not appear to have directed itself to this question and makes no finding that, in its view, the past conduct of Brenner did not afford reasonable grounds for belief that Brenner would not carry on business in accordance with the law and with integrity and honesty. Instead, the Board appears to have been preoccupied with sympathetic concern as to whether or not Brenner had genuinely reformed, and appears to have decided that it ought to give him a second chance because there was a possibility that he, indeed, might have reformed himself.

In Re Herman Motor Sales Inc and the Registrar of Motor Vehicles Dealers and Salesmen (1980) 29 OR 431 the Court made the point that in the experience of mankind, when assessing the probable future action of men, some reliance may properly be placed on the past act of the individual to be assessed. It then turned its attention to the importance of odometer readings. The Court stated that there can be no doubt that the readings form the basis for assessment in value of most vehicles. To tamper with the odometer readings must be considered seriously and must constitute a grave breach of the duty of the dealer. This statement by the Court underscores the fact that the odometer reading in motor vehicle dealings is central to consumer protection in the industry.

In the three transactions complained of, the Tribunal finds that the past conduct of Justin is inexcusable. It was clearly the type of conduct proscribed by the Act. The odometer infraction was grave, but the other two are potentially more serious as non-disclosures of accidents, as well as frame and structural damage, affect both price and safety.

Justin has done a great disservice to himself, and to his father and mother by bringing the whole business and his father's livelihood into jeopardy.

The situation with Basil Easterbrook is different. He is 76 years old, and has been in the business for fifty years without a blemish as far as is known. He was obviously irresponsible and sloppy by giving Jason such wide ranging responsibilities without a close scrutiny. How effective such a scrutiny would have been is hard to assess because until new draft standards were recently brought to his attention, the father did not believe that there was the same obligation of disclosure to dealers as there was to retail customers.

To revoke Basil Easterbrook's or Thrifty Auto Sales' registration, or to suspend them for a period of time would effectively destroy the business. On the other hand, there is no reason why known buyers who purchased without the full disclosure they should have had, should not be reasonably compensated .

DECISION:

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority vested in it by section 7(4) of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act, the Tribunal directs the Registrar to carry out his proposal dated May 1, 2000 with respect to Justin Easterbrook to revoke his registration as a sales person. He can apply for registration in the future at the discretion of the Registrar.

With respect to the company, 1159274 o/a Thrifty Auto Sales within thirty days it is to notify the present owners of the three motor vehicles in the transactions complained of, giving them the particulars of the disclosure that should have been made. Copies of these notifications are to go concurrently to OMVIC.

With respect to Basil Easterbrook, subject to his taking and passing the certification course approved by the Ontario Motor Vehicle Industry Council for salespersons by the end of the year, his registration is to continue.

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal to the Commercial Registration Appeal Tribunal (which as of April 1st, 2000 is known as the Licence Appeal Tribunal) from a written decision of the Board of Trustees of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Compensation Fund (the "Board") dated December 14, 1999, wherein the Board denied the Applicant's claim as the Applicant did not appear to have suffered a pecuniary loss arising from a transaction involving a trade-in of a motor vehicle.

The basic facts giving rise to the claim of the Applicant are not in dispute and may be summarized as follows:

1. By agreement dated February 25, 1999, the Applicant agreed to purchase from Monster Deals of Waterloo, Ontario a 1997 beige Chevrolet Malibu (the "Malibu") showing a distance travelled of 7,020 (presumably kilometers although neither box was marked on the contract) for a purchase price of $12,500.00 plus provincial sales tax of $1,000.00, GST of $875.00 and a registration fee of $70.00 for a total acquisition cost of $14,445.00.
2. The Applicant experienced problems with the vehicle and took it to a GM dealer to have certain warranty work done to the vehicle and was advised that the vehicle, contrary to the representations made to the Applicant by the salesperson at Monster Deals, was no longer under warranty as the vehicle had been written off due to a prior accident. The Applicant had various repairs made to the vehicle and ultimately traded the Malibu for a 1997 Buick LaSabre (the "Buick") which had a sale price of $23,788.00 and received a trade-in credit for the Malibu of $14,168.00.

POSITION OF THE PARTIES:

It is the Registrar's position that the Applicant purchased the Malibu for $14,445.00 from Monster Deals, spent $2,300.00 in repairs, drove the vehicle for 5,000 kilometers, traded it in to Kerr Cadillac Pontiac Buick Inc. ("Kerr Cadillac") and received a credit of $14,168.00 for the vehicle and a $2,100.00 savings on GST and PST. Therefore the Applicant has not suffered a pecuniary loss.

It is the Applicant's position that, because he was not told the vehicle had been written off, he incurred repair costs which he should not have had and ultimately had to trade the vehicle and received less for the vehicle when trading it in. The loss experienced on the trade-in together with the cost of repairs is $7,540.10 and he claims the amount of the Kitchener Small Claims Court judgment he obtained against Monster Deals of $6,100.00.

THE EVIDENCE:

At the commencement of the hearing, the Board's document brief was entered as Exhibit 3 and the Applicant's brief of documents was entered as Exhibit 4.

The Applicant testified that he purchased the 1997 Malibu for $12,500.00 and believed the vehicle to be in excellent condition with low mileage (approximately 7,500 kilometers). He was advised that it had been in a minor accident but was under warranty. The Applicant did not drive the vehicle prior to purchasing it.

The Applicant referred to the letter written by the Applicant to the Board dated January 6, 2000, where he summarized his loss which is comprised of three components:

- (a) the sum of $2,365.10 being the amount paid to Miltowne Collision Inc. for repairs made to the vehicle on or about July 5, 1999;
- (b) the amount he overpaid in acquiring the Buick to replace the Malibu, which overpayment is alleged to be $5,095.00 based upon the Red Book values for the Buick and for the Malibu; and
- (c) an administration fee of $80.00, for a total of $7,540.10.

In the Application for Claim (the "Application") completed by the Applicant, the Applicant claimed the amount of $6,150.00 being the amount of the judgment obtained from the Kitchener Small Claims Court of $6,000.00 plus $150.00 for costs.

On cross-examination, the Applicant testified that he was a semi-retired real estate agent and that his previous occupation had been working in the pension department of Confederation Life Insurance Company for approximately 30 years. At the time of his retirement, the Applicant had been a manager of that department which was responsible for administration of pension benefits for group plans. The Applicant had worked for Royal LePage selling real estate with approximately a 50/50 split between residential and commercial real estate.

The Applicant testified that he traded-in vehicles approximately every two to three years and travelled approximately 30,000 to 35,000 kilometers per year. It was the Applicant's evidence that when considering the purchase of a vehicle, he would shop around and that his main considerations were the age of the vehicle, the mileage and if it had a factory warranty. As part of his search, he would check the newspaper and the Auto Trader to see what was available and would then determine what price he was prepared to pay for the vehicle in which he was interested. Reference was made to the advertisement attached to the Applicant's Application at Tab 1 of Exhibit 3 which is an advertisement for various vehicles being sold by Monster Deals and shows the Malibu for a purchase price of $13,250.00 in the March 8, 1999 Auto Mart magazine.

The Applicant testified that he called Monster Deals and went to see the vehicle and felt that it was a "attractive" price and was told that the vehicle was so priced as it had been in a minor accident. The Applicant was further told that the vehicle was still under factory warranty. The Applicant was advised that the purchase price had been reduced by approximately $2,000.00 because of the accident and without the accident, the purchase price of the vehicle would have been $15,250.00.

The Applicant stated that he had been looking for a vehicle to purchase for a month or so but not specifically for a Malibu. He could not explain how he knew that this was good price for this vehicle as he had not been looking specifically for a Malibu but was concentrating on vehicles of a certain age and mileage. He did indicate that he may have looked in the newspaper at advertisements for Malibus to determine a price for vehicles for a certain age and mileage. The Applicant saw the Malibu on only two occasions but did not test drive the vehicle or take the vehicle to a mechanic to be checked over.

The Applicant stated that he looked at the Malibu at the showroom and sat in it. It appeared to be in good condition and was told it was under warranty. He stated that he estimated that he had spent part of an hour at the dealership. The Applicant acknowledged that he was not mechanically inclined.

During his first visit to the dealership, the price was established at $12,500.00, and it was the Applicant's belief that he gave a deposit. However, the Applicant's bank draft to Monster Deals, which was enclosed with the Application at Tab 1 of Exhibit 3, is for the full amount of $14,445.00. The Applicant stated that an individual by the name of Mike Brenner was the salesperson involved in the transaction and it was he that made the notation "accident damage to vehicle repaired and declared" on the contract.

The Applicant stated that he spoke to Mike Brenner approximately one month after the transaction but after that conversation, he could not find Mr. Brenner and therefore did not have any further discussions regarding the state of the vehicle with Mr. Brenner.

When questioned about the price that the Applicant paid for the Malibu, the Applicant stated that he had done a price check previously and had anticipated paying about $1,000.00 to $1,500.00 more. It was his evidence that a 1997 Malibu would sell for between $15,000.00 and $16,000.00 and that he knew that it was a good deal to buy the car for $12,500.00 especially if a factory warranty was in place which he understood applied to the moving parts but not the body. It was his evidence that the body work appeared to be fine.

When the Applicant took the vehicle to a Chevrolet dealership for some warranty work, he was advised that the vehicle had been written-off. It was in response to this information that he wrote to Mike Brenner at Monster Deals by letter dated March 20, 1999, which letter appears as part of the Applicant's Application at Tab 1 of Exhibit 3. The Applicant made reference to the VIN Search Synopsis - Record Retrieval appearing as Item 8 in Tab 1 of Exhibit 3.

The Applicant referred to the invoice from Miltowne Collision Inc. ("Miltowne") dated June 30, 1999 and explained that he had tried to drive the Malibu for a period of time then took it to Miltowne to try and have the various problems repaired. It was his evidence that there was a "clunk" in the car but unfortunately Miltowne was not able to fix the problem as it was an internal problem. The Applicant was uneasy with respect to the performance of the vehicle and took it back to Miltowne with a variety of other problems.

The Applicant testified that from February, when he purchased the Malibu, through to July 1999, he worked full-time and that in the period between when he purchased the Malibu and traded it in, he put on the vehicle approximately 5,000 kilometers. Mr. Runnalls decided to find a replacement vehicle and started looking for a good vehicle of about the same year. He drove by several lots but only visited one dealership. He did not inquire regarding the trade-in value of the Malibu. On one particular occasion, the Applicant drove by a lot and saw a vehicle that appealed to him. However, he was advised that it was not available, and the salesperson said that he would contact the Applicant if he had something that the salesperson thought that the Applicant might wish to consider.

When asked why the invoice for the purchase of the Buick did not indicate that the Malibu had been in an accident, the Applicant testified that although he told the Kerr Cadillac salespeople that there had been accident damage repaired, he did not tell them that the Malibu had been written-off and did not tell them that there was no longer a factory warranty. He stated that he told the Kerr Cadillac salesperson that repairs had been made by Miltowne but did not tell them what work had been done. He stated that he knew that he would not receive the same value if he disclosed that there was frame damage and that the Malibu was an insurance write-off.

When questioned regarding a previous transaction, the Applicant indicated that he understood that no GST or PST was payable on the value of a trade-in when another vehicle was being purchased.

When asked with respect to certain of the statements made in the Kitchener Small Claims Court claim and particularly, reference to certain items which needed to be repaired but were too costly, the Applicant indicated that one such item was the cruise control. He acknowledged that he did not inform Kerr Cadillac about such repairs.

When questioned further about the Small Claims Court action, the Applicant stated that he was not certain whether the trial occurred before or after he completed the transaction with Kerr Cadillac. Reference was made to the notation contained in the material provided by the Applicant wherein an entry is made showing that judgment for $6,000.00 plus accrued interest was given on the 16th day of September, 1999. The Applicant stated that he had not and would not tell the Court about the Kerr Cadillac transaction in any event as he did not believe that it was relevant.

When questioned regarding the Kerr Cadillac transaction, the Applicant stated that he knew that the Buick was higher priced than other vehicles and he had checked out the price. He said that neither the purchase price for the vehicle or the trade-in value of the Malibu mattered as the only thing that was material was the final dollar amount that he had to pay in order to acquire the Buick. When asked regarding the figures that the Applicant had taken from the Red Book, he acknowledged that he had no practical experience with respect to the use of the Red Book and that he did not check the Red Book figures prior to completing his transaction with Kerr Cadillac.

It was suggested to the Applicant that if one took the total amount paid for the Malibu of $14,445.00 added on the amount paid by the Applicant to Miltowne of $2,365.00, the total was $16,810.00. When one examines the value that the Applicant received for the trade-in, he received $14,168.00 as a credit for the trade-in plus saved himself 15% of that amount or $2,125.20 in taxes, for a total benefit of $16,293.20 leaving a difference of $526.00. It was also suggested to the Applicant that he paid more for the Buick because it was a more expensive car of a higher class than the Malibu, to which the Applicant responded that he purchased the Buick as he could not find a similar Malibu.

Jack Rudnicki was called to give evidence on behalf of the Board and stated that he had been with Kerr Cadillac for approximately two years and was now sales manager of its new and used car division. He had been with Saturn for five to six years before that and prior to that, had lived in Europe. Mr. Rudnicki confirmed that he was a registered salesperson.

Mr. Rudnicki testified that he had met the Applicant at the dealership three or four times and that he had been involved in the transaction with Mr. Runnalls with respect to the purchase of the Buick. Mr. Rudnicki explained that Kerr Cadillac was an Optimum dealership and that as part of the Optimum program, a sticker was placed on each used vehicle stating the mileage and the price, and that there was not a great deal of negotiating room between the sticker price and the final selling price of a vehicle. The witness testified that he had some experience with Malibus and referred to a 1998 Malibu that they had sold which had 20,000 to 26,000 kilometers on it for a price of approximately $16,495.00.

When Mr. Rudnicki examined the Malibu, he noted that there was over-spray and was told that there was some damage but was not told the extent of the damage done to the vehicle. When asked what value would be attached to the vehicle had Mr. Rudnicki known then what he knows now about the condition of the Malibu, he gave a price of between $8,000.00 and $9,000.00. The witness testified that in his opinion a party trading in a vehicle has an obligation to tell the dealer of any serious accidents with respect to the vehicle.

With respect to the application of the Red Book prices and the Applicant's calculation of his loss, the witness testified that he did not agree that the Applicant had overpaid for the Buick even though the price paid was greater than that shown in the Red Book and stated that he was buying the Buick at retail and trading in the Malibu at wholesale and therefore, the Red Book value of the Malibu was irrelevant. A dealer, when taking a car in on a trade-in, has to take into consideration the profit margin, the cost of advertising, reconditioning, etc.

Mr. Rudnicki testified that under the Optimum program there would have been little or no change in the price of the Buick and that the price did not change due to the amount allocated to the trade-in. He stated that the price of the Buick was not inflated, and the value attributed to the Malibu was not given in relationship to the price being charged for the Buick. The value of the trade-in made no difference in the price charged by Kerr Cadillac for the Buick.

The witness testified that two days after the transaction had been completed, a technician drew to his attention stretch marks on the frame. When interior panels were removed, they noted that serious damage had occurred to the vehicle and that led them to determine that the warranty had been cancelled because the vehicle had been written-off. The salesperson involved with the transaction, Doug Outerson, called the Applicant and reported back that the Applicant claimed to be unaware of the Malibu being in an accident. Kerr Cadillac found out through the Ontario Motor Vehicle Industry Council that Monster Deals had sold the Malibu to the Applicant.

A second telephone call was placed to the Applicant by Mr. Outerson in the presence of the witness, and the Applicant repeated that he did not know that the vehicle had been written off. The vehicle was ultimately sold at an auto auction by Kerr Cadillac for $10,000.00 as evidenced by the form appearing at Tab 11 of Exhibit 3.

Reference was made to the Black Book values for a 1997 Malibu which appear at Tabs 12 and 13 of Exhibit 3 and show, respectively, that as of February 1, 1999, the rough value for the Malibu would have been $12,500.00 and as of August 15, 1999, that value had dropped to $11,900.00. The witness stated that he would have offered approximately $11,000.00 for the Malibu if he would have taken it as a trade-in.

ISSUE:

The issue in this hearing is whether or not the Applicant suffered a pecuniary loss with respect to the series of transactions described in the evidence.

THE LAW:

It is the fundamental principle of the Compensation Fund that in order for a party to make a claim to the Fund, the party must have incurred a pecuniary loss and the relevant section of the Regulations under the Act appears as part of Regulation 801 under the Schedule "Terms of Compensation Fund", section 1 "Definitions" wherein a "claim" is defined to mean:

"a claim for pecuniary loss arising out of a transaction involving a trade in motor vehicle (emphasis added)."

DECISION:

In the present circumstances, it is impossible to accept that the Applicant has suffered a pecuniary loss with respect to the acquisition and disposition of the Malibu.

The Applicant purchased the vehicle for $14,445.00, spent $2,365.00 in repairs for a total of $16,810.00, drove it for 5,000 kilometers and received a credit when trading the vehicle in of $14,168.00 together with a tax benefit of $2,125.20, for a total of $16,293.20.

The Applicant's analysis that the difference between the Red Book values for a 1997 Buick and a 1997 Chevrolet Malibu is $5,095.00 less than the difference that he paid when trading in the Malibu for the Buick is without merit. There is no indication that he should have only paid the Red Book value for the Buick in the first instance. To use the Red Book value for the value that the Applicant should have received for the Malibu ignores the fundamental point that a dealer when viewing a trade-in applies the wholesale scale for valuing the vehicle.

If any party suffered a pecuniary loss in these series of transactions, it was Kerr Cadillac who gave the Applicant credit in the amount of $14,168.00 for a vehicle that they in turn were only able to sell through auction for $10,000.00.

ORDER:

The Tribunal finds that the Applicant has not proven his claim for compensation and therefore, pursuant to the provisions of section 15(3) of the Schedule to Ontario Regulation 801, R.R.O., 1990 as amended, made pursuant to the Act, the Tribunal hereby confirms the decision of the Board with respect to the application of the Applicant.

DATE OF HEARING: August 18, 2000 Toronto

DECISION AND REASONS

This is an appeal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal by the Applicant respecting a decision of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Respondent") pursuant to section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act (Ontario).

EXHIBITS:

By the Applicant:

a) Exhibit #1 Notice of Appeal – dated July 21, 2000

By the Respondent:

a) Exhibit #2 Ministry of Transportation submissions – tabs 1 – 11
- received August 3, 2000

PRELIMINARY MATTERS:

The Respondent submitted a file summary, containing an itemized list of the items submitted prior to the hearing.

FACTS:

The Applicant is appealing the suspension of driving privileges effective "99 01 22" as set out in the Applicant's Notice of Appeal. (Exhibit # 1)

In the Appeal Form the Applicant claims that:

*"Medical condition is stable
Vascular surgeon states there is no reason to prevent driving need license for work + home license renewal will help improve condition"*

Exhibit # 2 Tab 1, is a Ministry of Transportation driving Record for the Applicant since 1990, showing no offences.

The Applicant came to the attention of the Ministry as a result of an unsolicited letter, dated November 5, 1998. Physician # 1 informs the Ministry that the Applicant "...has a thoracic aortic dissection with secondary aneurysmal dilation extending from her aortic arch to her common iliac artery on the left side ...aneurism measures six centimeters ...risk of rupture ...driving could result in a significant motor vehicle accident...". (Exhibit # 2 Tab 2)

On January 7, 1999, Physician # 2 reports to Physician # 1 "...saw the Applicant...January 6th ...has chronic Type "B" dissection and the maximum transverse diameter is 53 mm. I do not believe she should be operated on now ...prescribed Atenolol ...continue on medical therapy and having annual thoracic CT scan..." (Exhibit # 2 Tab 3)

A letter from Great-West Life, dated August 4, 1999, signed by Althea Carasco, denies disability, to the Applicant, on the grounds that information received from Physician # 1 confirmed the Applicant did "...not have a physical disability related to ...problem ...but ...emotional disability". Applicant was referred to psychiatrist to deal with anxiety/panic attacks. (Exhibit # 2 Tab 5)

In a letter to the Ministry, dated August 11, 1999, the Applicant relays her belief that Physician # 1 only wrote to the Ministry to "...eliminate liability..." (Exhibit # 2 Tab 6)

A MEDICAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE CASE STUDY, dated September 13, 1999, upheld the suspension pending "Satisfactory vascular surgeon's report". (Exhibit # 2 Tab 7)

An ADMINISTRATIVE REVIEW - MEDICAL SUSPENSIONS, dated "February 18, 2000", completed by Harry Ansara, Driver Improvement Counsellor, details the Applicant's history as explained by the Applicant. The Applicant was diagnosed in 1995 during her second pregnancy. There have been no hospitalizations due to her condition. The Applicant professes to having "...adjusted to...illness well..." and that

"...life is normal..." At this time, the Applicant is no longer on medication but "...has CAT SCAN done twice a year and sees family doctor as needed..." (Exhibit # 2 Tab 9)

By letter dated July 4, 2000, Physician # 1 reports that Applicant "...had thoraco-abdominal aortic dissection about 3 years ago ...has been stable with no evidence of aneurism expansion ...reasonable that she be able to return to driving..." (Exhibit # 2 Tab 11)

At the hearing, the Respondent reiterated the contents of the information contained in the written material provided for the hearing and filed as Exhibit # 2 Tabs 1 through 11, as well as on the text of the file summary.

The Applicant was assisted by her husband. Both the Applicant and her husband emphasized that it has been five years since the Applicant was first diagnosed. She has lead and continues to lead a normal life. Medication is no longer necessary.

The Applicant's husband pointed out that the Applicant had this condition for approximately one year prior to being diagnosed. He submitted that in fact anything can happen to any one at any time and thus, it is unfair to prohibit his wife from driving due to a problem that has stabilized. The Respondent was unable to provide the Applicant with statistics as to how many accidents occur to individuals in similar circumstances

As the Tribunal did not feel Physician # 1's last letter was satisfactory, an opportunity was afforded to the Applicant to provide a further more detailed report from a cardiologist. The Tribunal has received, within the time specified, a letter from the Applicant's husband, together with an e-mail from Physician # 1. Physician # 1 assures that he has "...been following the Applicant for about 4 years ...been stable for many years ...a return to driving may be appropriate..."

ISSUES:

Should the decision of the Registrar to suspend the Applicant's licence be confirmed, modified or set aside?

LAW:

Regulation 340/94, Section 14 states:

An applicant for or a holder of a driver's licence must not,

- (a) suffers from an mental, emotional, nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely; and
- (b) be addicted to the use of alcohol or a drug to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle safely.

Section 47(1) states:

Subject to section 47.1, the Registrar may suspend or cancel,

- (a) the plate portion of a permit as defined in Part II;

- (b) a driver's licence; or
 - (c) a CVOR certificate,
- on the grounds of,
- (d) misconduct for which the holder is responsible, directly or indirectly, related to the operation or driving of a motor vehicle;
 - (e) conviction of the holder for an offence referred to in subsection 210(1) or (2);
 - (f) the Registrar having reason to believe, having regard to the safety record of the holder or of a person related to the holder, and any other information that the Registrar considers relevant, that the holder will not operate a commercial motor vehicle safely or in accordance with this Act, the regulations and other laws relating to highway safety; or
 - (g) any other sufficient reason not referred to in clause (d), (e) or (f).

Section 50 of the Act states:

- 50.(1) Every person aggrieved by a decision of the Minister under subsection 17(2) or (3) or subclause 32(12)(b)(i) or a decision of the Registrar under section 47 may appeal the decision to the Licence Appeal Tribunal.
- (2) The Tribunal may confirm, modify or set aside the decision of the Minister or the Registrar.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

Section 47(1) empowers the Registrar to “...suspend or cancel” a driver's licence for “any...sufficient reason...”. The Registrar originally suspended the Applicant's driver's licence after receiving an unsolicited letter from Physician # 1 informing that the Applicant “...has a thoracic aortic dissection with secondary aneurysmal dilation extending from her aortic arch to her common iliac artery on the left side ...aneurism measures six centimeters ...risk of rupture ...driving could result in a significant motor vehicle accident...”. (Exhibit # 2 Tab 2)

Regulation 390/94, Section 14 (a) is clear in that:

“An applicant for a holder of a driver's licence must not,

- a) suffer from a mental, emotional nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely...”*

The Tribunal finds that the Ministry acted properly and in accordance with the Regulation in suspending the Applicant's driving privileges.

The original medical findings, by the physician involved, is indisputable, an aortic aneurism measuring six centimeters. Nonetheless, it is the opinion of Physician # 1, the vascular surgeon who has observed the Applicant for the past four years, that her condition “...has been stable with no evidence of aneurism expansion ...reasonable that she be able to return to driving...” (Exhibit # 2 Tab 11)

In his latest report, in the form of an e-mail addressed to the Applicant, Physician # 1 repeats his previous statement "...been stable for many years... a return to driving may be appropriate..."

In weighing the evidence presented and considering the criteria described in Regulation 340/94 section 14(a) of the HTA, the Tribunal concludes that the evidence does not establish that the Applicant is currently suffering from a physical disability likely to significantly interfere with her ability to drive a motor vehicle. Thus, the Tribunal orders that the Applicant's driver's licence be re-instated on condition that the Applicant provide the Ministry, every six months, with the results of a CAT SCAN.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the decision, dated January 22, 1999, of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles ("Registrar") to suspend her driver's licence pursuant to section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA"), and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

IT IS THE DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50(2) of the Act that the decision of the Registrar be set aside provided the Applicant provide the Ministry every six months with the results of a recent CAT SCAN.

Appeal under section 50(1) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H.8 as amended, from a Decision of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles pursuant to section 47(1) of that Act.

TO APPEAL A SUSPENDED LICENCE

TRIBUNAL: ANTOINE AOUAD, M.D., Presiding Member
ROY MELVIN, M.D., Member

APPEARANCES: KYLE BIEL
Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

Applicant,
unrepresented

DATE OF HEARING: August 3, 2000 Hamilton

DECISION AND REASONS

This is an appeal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal by the Applicant respecting a decision of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Respondent") pursuant to section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act (Ontario).

EXHIBITS:

By the Applicant:

- a) Exhibit #1 Notice of Appeal – received June 12, 2000
- b) Exhibit #3 Letter from the Tom Baker Cancer Centre - dated July 4, 2000,
- received August 3, 2000

By the Respondent:

- a) Exhibit #2 Ministry of Transportation submissions – tabs 1 – 8
- received July 19, 2000

PRELIMINARY MATTERS:

The Respondent provided the Tribunal with a file summary with respect to this matter, as well a certified copy of document on file.

The Applicant submitted a letter, dated July 4, 2000, from the Tom Baker Cancer Centre. This letter was entered in evidence, with the consent of both parties, and filed as Exhibit # 3.

FACTS:

The Applicant is appealing the suspension of her driving privileges effective "00/03/04" as per Ministry of Transportation driver's record. (Exhibit # 2 Tab 8)

An unsolicited letter, written December 17, 1999 by neurologist Physician # 1, was received by the Ministry. Physician # 1 states "...This is to inform you that the Applicant suffers from brain tumor and associated seizure disorder which is incompletely controlled...". (Exhibit # 2 Tab 1)

An unsolicited letter to the Ministry, written February 22, 2000, by Physician # 2, Geriatrics and Internal Medicine, states "...continues to drive a car ...continues to have seizures on a daily basis ...very confused when attending the Credit Valley Day Hospital Program ...not willing to discontinue driving on the advise of the therapist ...or the physicians...". (Exhibit # 2 Tab 3)

A letter written March 28, 2000, by neurologists Physician # 1, states "...has history of surgically treated left frontal tumor ...followed by radiation treatment in 1993 ... currently on Lamictal 300 mg p. bid, Topimax 200 mg per day and Frisium ...having brief episodes of right partial motor seizures involving her right face but not her arm. These are not associated with altered consciousness and there are no significant neurological deficits on bedside testing, She has not had a recent generalized tonic clonic seizure ...I believe the partial motor seizures involving the right of her face would not prevent her from safely operating a motor vehicle and certainly there is no neurological deficit at this time that would make her physically unable to maintain control of a vehicle." (Exhibit # 2 Tab 4)

A Medical Advisory Committee hearing on April 12, 2000 upheld suspension, pending one year seizure free and an oncologist's report.

Exhibit # 2 Tab 8, Ministry of Transportation driving record for the Applicant since 1979, shows no infractions.

At the hearing, the Respondent relied on and reiterated the information contained in the documents presented for the hearing, entered as Exhibit # 2, tabs 1 through 8.

The Applicant referred to her diagnosis in December of 1992, and her subsequent radiation treatments. She was a patient of the Alberta Cancer clinic in Alberta until 1998.

The Applicant testifies that after moving to Toronto, she saw Physician # 1 on January 21, 1999. She has no further contact with Physician # 1. On December 15, she was evaluated for the rehabilitation programme at the Credit Valley Hospital. She notes that the letter from Physician # 1 was written on December 17th, 1999 as a result of the rehabilitation clinic asking for his file information.

The Applicant attended the rehabilitation center twice a week, for “...physiotherapy, speech therapy, social work and to see the nurse...”

The Applicant affirmed that she had only one grand mal seizure and that was while in the hospital at the time of her biopsy. The Applicant's almost daily seizures occur usually in the morning, after getting up. These seizures are not painful but affect the side of her mouth and sometimes affect her speech.

The Applicant explained that she has taken several kinds of medication but that the current medication is the best she has taken and does not make her drowsy.

ISSUES:

Should the decision of the Registrar to suspend the Applicant's licence be confirmed, modified or set aside?

LAW:

Regulation 340/94, section 14 states:

An applicant for or a holder of a driver's licence must not,

- (a) suffers from an mental, emotional, nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely; and
- (b) be addicted to the use of alcohol or a drug to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle safely.

Section 47(1) states:

Subject to section 47.1, the Registrar may suspend or cancel,

- (a) the plate portion of a permit as defined in Part II;
- (b) a driver's licence; or
- (c) a CVOR certificate,

on the grounds of,

- (d) misconduct for which the holder is responsible, directly or indirectly, related to the operation or driving of a motor vehicle;
- (f) conviction of the holder for an offence referred to in subsection 210(1) or (2);
- (f) the Registrar having reason to believe, having regard to the safety record of the holder or of a person related to the holder, and any other information that the Registrar considers relevant, that the holder will not operate a commercial motor vehicle safely or in accordance with this Act, the regulations and other laws relating to highway safety; or

- (g) any other sufficient reason not referred to in clause (d), (e) or (f).

Section 50 of the Act states:

50.(1) Every person aggrieved by a decision of the Minister under subsection 17(2) or (3) or subclause 32(12)(b)(i) or a decision of the Registrar under section 47 may appeal the decision to the Licence Appeal Tribunal.

- (2) The Tribunal may confirm, modify or set aside the decision of the Minister or the Registrar.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

Section 47(1) unquestionably empowers the Registrar to “...suspend or cancel” a driver’s licence for “any ...sufficient reason...” The Registrar originally suspended the Applicant’s driver’s licence, upon receipt of an unsolicited letter from a neurologist. Physician # 1 informed the Ministry that “...the Applicant suffers from brain tumor and associated seizure disorder which is incompletely controlled...”. (Exhibit # 2 Tab 1)

The Tribunal finds that the Ministry acted properly and in accordance with the Regulation, at the time of the suspension.

In a letter, dated March 28, 2000, Physician # 1, recants his previous statement and asserts that “...I believe the partial motor seizures involving the right of her face would not prevent her from safely operating a motor vehicle and certainly there is no neurological deficit at this time that would make her physically unable to maintain control of a vehicle.” (Exhibit # 2 Tab 4)

To substantiate his position, the Applicant has also provided a letter, dated July 4, 2000, from her previous oncologist Tom Baker Cancer Centre in Alberta. Physician # 3 acknowledges the Applicant “...developed some symptoms in the early 1990’s from a brain tumor that led to surgery followed by radiation therapy in 1993 ...followed since then ...seen by. colleague Physician # 4, an epileptologist ...she has never had an episode that was associated with impairment of her responsiveness ...she is neurologically safe to drive.” (Exhibit # 3).

This matter is before the Tribunal as a result of a suspension pursuant to Section 14 of Regulation 340/94.

The applicable clause of Section 14 states that:

“An applicant for a holder of a driver’s licence must not,

- a) suffer from a mental, emotional nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely...”*

After evaluation of the evidence in its entirety, the Tribunal accepts Physician # 1 and Physician # 3’s opinions about the ability of the Applicant to safely operate a motor vehicle in spite of her medical condition. The Applicant's impeccable driving record further substantiates this finding.

The Tribunal finds that the Respondent has not proven that the Applicant is currently suffering from a medical condition, which is likely to significantly interfere with the ability to drive a motor vehicle as described by Regulation 340/94 section 14 (a) of the HTA.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the decision, dated March 04, 2000, of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles ("Registrar") to suspend her driver's licence pursuant to section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA"), and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

IT IS THE DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50(2) of the Act that the decision of the Registrar be set aside and that Applicant's driver's license be reinstated on condition that the Applicant file a yearly medical report from a neurologist with the Ministry of Transportation.

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on July 31, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA").

The Tribunal released its Decision on August 1, 2000, with reasons to follow.

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the suspension imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 48.3 HTA for the following reasons.

REASONS

BACKGROUND:

Notice of Appeal and Prescribed Fee

This appeal comes before the Tribunal on behalf of the Applicant, by way of a Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990 as amended, chapter H.8. The Applicant elected that her appeal be decided by the Tribunal by way of an electronic hearing (telephone conference). The form of Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act was dated July 11, 2000, and was received by the Tribunal on July 13, 2000, together with the prescribed fee of $100.00.

Reason for the Appeal

The reason for the appeal cited by the Applicant was stated as follows in the said notice:

AI was unable to provide the required breath sample because of a medical reason.®

Preliminary Matters

Solicitor for the Applicant requested that the Tribunal not consider the documentary evidence presented by the Respondent. It was the Applicant's solicitor's contention that evidence did not directly relate to the Applicant's medical condition and should not be allowed. As the Applicant was not present to give oral testimony and only documentary evidence in the form of sworn affidavits were presented by the Respondent, the Tribunal allowed the documentary evidence presented by both parties to be filed as exhibits and gave consideration to all of the documents presented.

Submissions of Written Material

By the Applicant:

- a) Exhibit # 1 Notice of Appeal, dated July 11, 2000
- b) Exhibit # 2 Letter from Physician # 1, dated June 19, 2000
- c) Exhibit # 3 Suspension Reminder Notice, dated May 18, 2000

By the Respondent:

- a) Exhibit # 4 Ministry of Transportation submissions- 23 pages received July 26, 2000

ISSUE:

Having established that this appeal falls within subsection 50.1(2)(b) of the Highway Traffic Act, and the Tribunal thereby having jurisdiction, the question to be answered is: Did the Applicant fail or refuse to comply with a demand made to provide a sample of breath or blood because she was unable to do so for a medical reason?

LAW:

The legislation governing the Administrative Drivers Licence Suspension (ADLS) under subsection 50.1(1) and (2) of the Highway Traffic Act (HTA) states:

50.1 (1) A person whose driver's licence is suspended under Section 48.3 may appeal the suspension to the Tribunal.

(2) The grounds on which a person may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may order that the suspension be set aside are,

- (a) that the person whose licence was suspended is not the same individual to whom a demand for a sample of breath or blood was made, or from whom a sample of breath or blood was taken, as the case may be, under or pursuant to the provisions of the Criminal Code (Canada) referred to in subsection 48.3(3); or
- (b) that the person failed or refused to comply with a demand made under section 254 of the Criminal Code (Canada) to provide a sample of breath or blood because he or she was unable to do so for a medical reason.

The HTA states under section 50.1(4):

The Board may confirm the suspension or may order that the suspension be set aside.

Regulation 574 (amended), Highway Traffic Act at subsection 15(1), (2) and (3) requires that a medical report must contain:

15. (1) A report of a legally qualified medical practitioner that is to be submitted in evidence shall clearly state,

- (a) the name, telephone number and address, with the postal code, of the medical practitioner;
- (b) the name, date of birth and address of the person who is the subject of the report;
- (c) that the medical practitioner has prepared the report, or is aware that the report may be used, in support of an appeal to the Board from the suspension of a driver's licence under section 50.1 of the Act;
- (d) the length of time and frequency with which the medical practitioner has attended upon the person who is the subject of the report, including the date of the most recent examination of the person that supports the findings set out in the report;
- (e) whether the medical practitioner is the family physician of the person who is the subject of the report; and
- (f) whether the medical practitioner is a specialist and, if so, the field of specialty.

(2) The report shall provide the details of any present condition, diagnosis and history of the condition that precludes the person who is the subject of the report from providing a breath or blood sample including the results of any related tests.

(3) The report shall be signed by the medical practitioner.

Finally, section 13 of Regulation 574 (amended) provides:

A person appealing a suspension has the onus of establishing the merit of the appeal.

FACTS:

Solicitor for the Applicant was affirmed and presented evidence. Solicitor for the Applicant stated that he had only one piece of evidence and that was the medical report written by Physician # 1. The Applicant was not present and presented no evidence in the form of a sworn statement. The report from Physician # 1, according to the Solicitor for the Applicant satisfied the requirements of section 15 (1). According to the Solicitor for the Applicant, the report did indicate the name, telephone number and address and postal code of the medical practitioner. The report also contained the name, date of birth of the person who is the subject of the report but was lacking the address of the patient. The medical practitioner was aware that the report was being used in support of an appeal. The report also indicated the length of time that the patient was attended to by the medical practitioner. In this report Physician # 1 eludes to two lung function tests. One in 1991 and the second test in May 2000. From these tests, Physician # 1 has concluded that the patient had a reduction of airflow to 30% of normal for a person of her age and size. Physician # 1 stated that because of her chronic and severe lung condition, she was unable to provide enough force to activate the breathalyzer.

The Solicitor for the Applicant had nothing further to present. The Respondent provided the Tribunal with documentary evidence which the Tribunal accepted and entered as an exhibit.

The first document was a statement of Constable Officer # 1 OPP Cambridge Detachment. In this statement, Constable Officer # 1 described the events which led to the Applicant's arrest for operation of a motor vehicle while impaired. The Applicant was transported to the station where she was processed and subsequently released to her husband. According to the statement, the Applicant had noticeable red and bloodshot eyes and a strong odour of an alcoholic beverage on her breath. She denied consuming alcohol. The Applicant was turned over to P.C. Officer # 2 who provided an affidavit which was entered into evidence.

Constable Officer # 2 received the Applicant into his custody at 11:27pm on the evening of May 15, 2000. A secondary caution and breath demand was made of the Applicant, and she responded that she understood. According to the affidavit, the Applicant made six attempts to blow. After the first three attempts, a new mouth piece was provided to ensure that there was no blockage or obstruction. The Applicant was advised that if she failed to provide a proper sample, she would be charged. It was at this time that the Applicant stated that she was trying and that she had bronchitis. According to the affidavit, this was the first time that the Applicant mentioned a medical condition. After three more unsuccessful attempts, the Applicant was charged with refusal. Constable Officer # 2 stated that he asked the Applicant if she was sick to which she replied no. He asked the Applicant if she was on any medication and was informed, estrogen progesterone which she last took at noon. Constable Officer # 2 also stated that he noticed an odour of an alcoholic beverage on her breath as well he observed her eyes to be watery and bloodshot.

In an appeal of this nature, the onus is on the Applicant to substantiate her position. The evidence presented on behalf of the Applicant, does not substantiate her claim to the effect that she had a present medical condition which precluded her from providing a breath or blood sample.

The report of Physician # 1 M.D. Family Physician, fails to meet the specific requirements of section 15 (1) of Regulation 574 of the Highway Traffic Act in the following respects. Physician # 1 does not provide the Tribunal with any test results to substantiate the Applicant's assertion that due to her medical condition she was not able to provide a proper breath sample. There was no mention of referral to a respiratory specialist. Physician # 1 refers to the May 2000 Pulmonary function test, but he does not indicate the date of attendance at his office or the results of that examination and the reason for the visit. Physician # 1 also does not indicate if the Applicant is on medication(s) for her condition and what effect the medication if any would have had on her ability to provide a breath sample. The Tribunal has found that the report submitted by Physician # 1 has not addressed the issue of how the Applicant's condition precluded her from providing a proper sample of her breath. Accordingly, the Tribunal attaches little weight to this report.

The Tribunal accepts the evidence presented by the Respondent that both Constable Officer # 1 and Constable Officer # 2 are not trained medical personnel, they are trained observers and did not observe the Applicant to be in any kind of medical distress.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

After reviewing the foregoing facts, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant has not related her medical condition to Regulation 574 and section 50(1)(2)(b).

The evidence is that the Applicant refused to provide an adequate sample of breath for no proven medical reason. The evidence submitted suggests that the actions of the Applicant were such as to lead this Tribunal to believe that she had no intention of giving a proper sample. As indicated in the affidavit by P.C. Officer # 2, that "During these attempts, the subjects' face became flushed and her cheeks puffed but not enough air was entering the device to complete a sample." After a caution, the Applicant was able to activate the tone in the Intoxilyzer which is contrary to Physician # 1's conclusion that she would not have enough force to activate the tone, and the Applicant stopped blowing.

In the Tribunal's opinion, these are actions to prevent a suitable sample from being retrieved and not the actions of someone having difficulty providing a sample because of a medical reason. The Applicant has not indicated that she required medical attention after her release and there is no indication that she required medication(s) for her condition.

The Applicant has not discharged the onus to establish a valid medical reason for her failure to provide a breath sample when demanded under section 254 of the Criminal Code (Canada).

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the suspension order, dated May 16, 2000, of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles pursuant to section 48.3 of the Highway Traffic Act (HTA) and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

Pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50.1(4) of the HTA, the Tribunal confirms the suspension.

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on August 15, 2000, at Timmins, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to Section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA").

The Tribunal released its Decision on August 16, 2000, with Reasons to follow.

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the suspension imposed by the Registrar pursuant to Section 48.3 HTA for the following reasons.

REASONS

BACKGROUND:

Notice of Appeal and Prescribed Fee

This appeal comes before the Tribunal on behalf of the Applicant, by way of a Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990 as amended, chapter H.8. The Applicant elected that his appeal be decided by the Tribunal by way of a written hearing. The form of Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act was dated July 25, 2000, and was received by the Tribunal on July 27, 2000, together with the prescribed fee of $100.00, paid by money order.

"I was unable to provide the required breath sample because of a medical reason."

ISSUE:

Having established that this appeal falls within subsection 50.1(2)(b) of the Highway Traffic Act, and the Tribunal thereby having jurisdiction, the question to be answered is: Did the Applicant fail or refuse to comply with a demand made to provide a sample of breath or blood because he was unable to do so for a medical reason?

THE LAW:

The legislation governing the Administrative Drivers Licence Suspension (ADLS) under subsection 50.1(1) and (2) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA") states:

50.1 (1) "A person whose driver's licence is suspended under Section 48.3 may appeal the suspension to the Tribunal.

(2) The grounds on which a person may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may order that the suspension be set aside are,

(a) that the person whose licence was suspended is not the same individual to whom a demand for a sample of breath or blood was made, or from whom a sample of breath or blood was taken, as the case may be, under or pursuant to the provisions of the Criminal Code (Canada) referred to in subsection 48.3(3); or

(b) that the person failed or refused to comply with a demand made under section 254 of the Criminal Code (Canada) to provide a sample of breath or blood because he or she was unable to do so for a medical reason".

The HTA states under section 50.1(4):

The Tribunal may confirm the suspension or may order that the suspension be set aside.

Regulation 574 (amended), Highway Traffic Act at subsection 15(1), (2) and (3) requires that a medical report must contain:

15.(1) "a report of a legally qualified medical practitioner that is to be submitted in evidence shall clearly state,

(a) the name, telephone number and address, with the postal code, of the medical practitioner;

(b) the name, date of birth and address of the person who is the subject of the report;

(c) that the medical practitioner has prepared the report, or is aware that the report may be used, in support of an appeal to the Board from the suspension of a driver's licence under section 50.1 of the Act;

(d) the length of time and frequency with which the medical practitioner has attended upon the person who is the subject of the report, including the date of the most recent examination of the person that supports the findings set out in the report;

(e) whether the medical practitioner is the family physician of the person who is the subject of the report; and

(f) whether the medical practitioner is a specialist and, if so, the field of speciality.

(2) The report shall provide the details of any present condition, diagnosis and history of the condition that precludes the person who is the subject of the report from providing a breath or blood sample including the results of any related tests.

(3) The report shall be signed by the medical practitioner."

Finally, section 13 of Regulation 574 (amended) provides:

“A person appealing a suspension has the onus of establishing the merit of the appeal”.

FACTS:

On June 24, 2000, Officer # 1, of the Niagara OPP, pulled over a green BMW plate # 701 NSL, after observing it speeding and driving unsafely. Officer # 1 detected an odour of an alcoholic beverage from the interior of the vehicle and from the driver's breath.

The driver, the Applicant, produced a valid Ontario driver's licence and admitted to drinking wine. A breath demand was made of the Applicant at roadside. Officer # 1 explained and demonstrated giving a proper sample and the Applicant understood.

In paragraphs 13-21 of his affidavit, Officer # 1 describes the Applicant's failure to provide a proper sample. The Applicant was then charged and served a 90-day suspension and notice to appear.

The Applicant never informed Officer # 1 that he was unable to provide a sample due to a medical condition. The Applicant did not request medical attention, medication or any type of assistance. Officer # 1 did not have any reason to suspect the Applicant's need for medicine or medical attention and as such “did not feel a blood test was necessary”.

The reports of Physician # 2 and Physician # 1 were filed with this Tribunal.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

Section 15(1), (2) and (3) of Regulation 574 provides the required contents for a medical report to be submitted by this Tribunal. The Applicant has failed to obtain a report from Physician # 1 as required by that Regulation. Physician # 1 simply gives anecdotal/hearsay evidence that he received from the Applicant. This does not constitute a medical report as required or under Regulation 574 (amended) HTA at subsection 15 (1), (2), and (3).

The Applicant also submitted a report written by his wife, Physician # 2. This evidence contains the statement that “as asthma has a natural course of sudden exacerbation.... access to treatment and assessment as quickly as possible is of prime importance.” However, the Tribunal notes that the Applicant did not carry his medication with him especially during his “seasonal pattern, May to Sept” and cannot conclude that the Applicant's asthma was severe.

Physician # 1 and Physician # 2 submit that the Applicant suffers from asthma and this is undisputed by the Tribunal.

Physician # 1 and Physician # 2 failed to submit any objective evidence of the Applicant's asthmatic condition such as F. E. V. or P.F.V. This evidence fails to prove that at the time the breath demand was made the Applicant suffered from a medical condition as contemplated under section 50.1 of the Act.

The Applicant did not submit his own statement to outline the details or answer any questions set forth in the submission of the Respondent. Rather, his lawyer responded on his behalf by providing hearsay evidence and by attempting to attack statements of the police officer, Officer # 1.

Counsel for the Applicant also indicated that the process of obtaining evidence from professionals such as Dr. E. Mate is not objective, stating (in paragraph 4b) "Dr. Mate was specifically retained by the Ministry to contradict the Applicant's assertion."

In the Applicant's submission, it is stated that the Applicant's offer to submit a blood sample should have been accepted by the police officer, Officer # 1. Section 254 of the Criminal Code states (Synopsis cc/431) "When the police officer has reasonable and probable grounds to believe that the physical condition of the person is such that he may not be capable of providing the breath sample...a demand may be made that blood samples be taken under the supervision of a qualified physician." The evidence is that Officer # 1 was not given reasonable and probable ground to believe that a blood sample was required, he merely observed the Applicant's unwillingness to provide a breath sample.

In his submission in reply, the Applicant's Counsel also states that "The appellant clearly told the officer that he could not give a suitable breath sample." That statement is nowhere to be found in the statement of facts submitted and admitted as exhibit #6. The statement "I will give a blood sample, I am a doctor" is stated in the submission and related in Constable Officer # 1's notes, however according to section 254 of the Criminal Code, it is at the discretion of the police officer that blood samples are taken and not by a police officer but under supervision of a qualified physician. This obviously can not be done roadside.

Furthermore, in the Applicant's written submission, received July 27, 2000, in the statement of facts, it is stated "His wife drove him directly to the hospital". In the letter, received August 14, 2000, submitted by the Applicant's counsel, Barrister, point #34 "The Applicant treated his medical condition at his home, prior to attending the hospital." The Tribunal notes that the Applicant's statements are contradictory.

The Respondent submits that the Applicant's "actions throughout the breath testing process are consistent with attempting to evade giving a sample" The Respondent also submits that the Applicant did not have a health problem at the time the breath demand was made.

In his affidavit, Constable Officer # 1 states his observations while dealing with the Applicant. Although it is recognized that he is not a medical professional, the Tribunal accepts that he can recognize when he sees a person in acute respiratory distress. He does not have to be a qualified medical professional to make such an observation, and he would have been able to recognize if the Applicant was in respiratory distress. Also, if such were the case, Physician # 2 would have made the same observation and interjected as a qualified caring physician and wife, and suggested the need for urgent medical attention. In her letter, dated July 24, 2000, Physician # 2 states that "Access to treatment... quickly as possible is of prime importance to the asthmatic sufferer". This did not occur. In her report Physician # 2 states "his symptom further deteriorated en route home," but she did not feel it necessary to seek attention en route.

Section 13, Reg. 574, R.R.O 1990 as amended by Ontario Reg. 510/96 states that the Applicant has the onus of establishing, the merit of his appeal. It is the opinion of this Tribunal that the Applicant has failed to establish the merit of his appeal.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the suspension order dated June 24, 2000 of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles pursuant to section 48.3 of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA") and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on August 14, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to Section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA").

The Tribunal released its Decision on August 15, 2000, with Reasons to follow.

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the suspension imposed by the Registrar pursuant to Section 48.3 HTA for the following reasons.

REASONS

BACKGROUND:

Notice of Appeal and Prescribed Fee

This appeal comes before the Tribunal on behalf of the Applicant, by way of a Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990 as amended, chapter H.8. The Applicant elected that his appeal be decided by the Tribunal by way of an oral hearing. The form of Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act was dated July 21, 2000, and was received by the Tribunal on July 21, 2000, together with the prescribed fee of $100.00.

Reason for the Appeal

The reason for the appeal cited by the Applicant was stated as follows in the said notice:

"I was unable to provide the required breath sample because of a medical reason."

Preliminary Matters

There were no preliminary matters, the hearing proceeded.

Submissions of Written Material

By the Applicant:

- a) Exhibit #1 Notice of Appeal – dated JULY 21, 2000
- b) Exhibit #2 Letter from the Applicant – dated July 20, 2000
- c) Exhibit #3 Notice of Suspension of Driver's Licence – dated June 26, 2000
- d) Exhibit #4 Applicant's submissions – 9 pages – received July 21, 2000

By the Respondent:

- a) Exhibit #5 MTO submissions – received August 4, 2000
- b) Exhibit #6 Videotape of the Breath Testing Session – received August 4, 2000

ISSUE:

Having established that this appeal falls within subsection 50.1(2)(b) of the Highway Traffic Act, and the Tribunal thereby having jurisdiction, the question to be answered is: Did the Applicant fail or refuse to comply with a demand made to provide a sample of breath or blood because he was unable to do so for a medical reason?

THE LAW:

The legislation governing the Administrative Drivers Licence Suspension (ADLS) under subsection 50.1(1) and (2) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA") states:

50.1 (1) "A person whose driver's licence is suspended under Section 48.3 may appeal the suspension to the Tribunal.

(2) The grounds on which a person may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may order that the suspension be set aside are,

- (a) that the person whose licence was suspended is not the same individual to whom a demand for a sample of breath or blood was made, or from whom a sample of breath or blood was taken, as the case may be, under or pursuant to the provisions of the Criminal Code (Canada) referred to in subsection 48.3(3); or
- (b) that the person failed or refused to comply with a demand made under section 254 of the Criminal Code (Canada) to provide a sample of breath or blood because he or she was unable to do so for a medical reason”.

The HTA states under Section 50.1(4):

The Board may confirm the suspension or may order that the suspension be set aside.

Regulation 574 (amended), Highway Traffic Act at subsection 15(1),(2) and (3) requires that a medical report must contain:

15. (1) “a report of a legally qualified medical practitioner that is to be submitted in evidence shall clearly state,

- (a) the name, telephone number and address, with the postal code, of the medical practitioner;
 - (b) the name, date of birth and address of the person who is the subject of the report;
 - (c) that the medical practitioner has prepared the report, or is aware that the report may be used, in support of an appeal to the Board from the suspension of a driver's licence under section 50.1 of the Act;
 - (d) the length of time and frequency with which the medical practitioner has attended upon the person who is the subject of the report, including the date of the most recent examination of the person that supports the findings set out in the report;
 - (e) whether the medical practitioner is the family physician of the person who is the subject of the report; and
 - (f) whether the medical practitioner is a specialist and, if so, the field of speciality.
- (2) The report shall provide the details of any present condition, diagnosis and history of the condition that precludes the person who is the subject of the report from providing a breath or blood sample including the results of any related tests.

(3) The report shall be signed by the medical practitioner.”

Finally, section 13 of Regulation 574 (amended) provides:

“A person appealing a suspension has the onus of establishing the merit of the appeal”.

FACTS:

The Applicant's driver's licence was suspended '21/06/00' as stated in the Notice of Appeal (Exhibit # 1)

Physician #1, notes that he has been the Applicant's family physician for “8 years” except “...between 1993 – 1998”. Physician #1, prepared the “Applicant's Medical Information” form dated “17/07/00”. In the “Details and Diagnosis of patient's present condition”, Physician #1 refers to a “...history of alcoholism...”, and details the episode which the Applicant described as having been the reason for his conduct at the time of the suspension. The Applicant told Physician #1, that "...a female ...rubbed alcohol on his skin, causing a reaction (he was on Antabuse) i.e. confusion + disorientation therefore he was unable to take a breath test". Physician #1 states the Applicant "...cancelled an appointment on 21/06/00..." not seen until "5 July 00". (Exhibit #1)

In a letter dated July 20, 2000, the Applicant requests an "...opportunity to explain..." and states that he "...had a very hard drug reaction due to accidental exposure to alcohol ...I have a couple of glasses of wine during dinner ...on Disulfiram drug to completely stop taking alcohol..." (Exhibit # 2)

A document on the drug Antabuse and its side effects was submitted by the Applicant. (Exhibit # 4)

The Respondent provided the following documents:

- Notice to Registrar.
- Driver Record.
- Vehicle history, JHMRA 186XSC803093
- Sworn and Commission notes of PC Officer #1, Toronto Police Service.
- Affidavit of PC Officer #2, Breath Technician, Toronto Police Service.
- Video Recording June 21, 2000 Toronto Police Service.

The Applicant's driver's record since 1991, shows two infractions. (Exhibit # 5)

In the form of an Affidavit, Police Constable Officer #2 attests to the events surrounding the charge and the Applicant's subsequent arrest. PC Officer #2 swore that "...On June 21, 2000 at approximately 8:57 p.m ...was handed custody of the Applicant to administer a breath testing session ...asked if he was on any medication and he replied 'no'...the Applicant was ...swearing and being verbally abusive ...in breath testing room ...continued yelling and verbally abusive ...made no attempts to give a proper sample ...at no time did I observe any sign of a medical condition which would have prevented to giving a breath sample..." (Exhibit # 5)

At the hearing, the Applicant alluded to personal events in his life, which he believes led to the incident.

Both, during examination-in-chief and in cross-examination, the Applicant testified, several times, that he has no recollection of the events that occurred that evening. He remembers not feeling well and pulling into a parking lot to rest. He also remembers being approached by a police officer, being handcuffed, speaking to a lawyer, and an officer making rude finger gestures to him.

The Respondent relied on the written information provided for the hearing.

A videotape of the breathalyzer session clearly shows the Applicant being abusive and expressing his refusal to provide a breath sample. The Applicant's voice is slurred.

In his closing remarks, the Applicant emphasized that he did not remember what had taken place. In his own opinion, the Applicant "...was not in his senses at the time..."

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

At issue is, how does the medical condition of the Applicant relate to section 50.1 (2) (b), and did this medical reason cause him to fail or not comply with the breath demand. Pursuant to section 13 of Regulation 574 (Amended) the onus is on the Applicant to provide the Tribunal with a medical reason as to why he was unable to provide a breath sample.

The Tribunal reviewed the "Applicant's Medical Information" prepared by the Applicant's physician for this hearing. Other than noting a history of alcoholism, there is no indication from Physician #1 that the Applicant suffers from any kind of respiratory ailment. (Exhibit #1)

In his letter to the Tribunal, and his oral testimony, the Applicant presented several explanations regarding his family life and his accidental exposure to alcohol, on the day in question, which are not relevant to the issue to be decided in this matter.

The videotape taken during the attempted breathalyzer session leaves no doubt that the Applicant refused, not only by his actions but by his words, to provide a breath sample. To succeed in this appeal, the Applicant must establish that this refusal was based on a medical reason.

The onus being on the Applicant to establish the merit of his appeal, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant has failed to do so. Thus, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant does not meet the criteria of section 50.1 (2) (b) which requires the Applicant to demonstrate that his failure to provide a breath sample was due to medical reasons.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the suspension order dated June 21, 2000 of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles pursuant to section 48.3 of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA") and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

Pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50.1(4) of the HTA, the Tribunal confirms the suspension.

DATES OF HEARING: May 10, May 11, and July 17, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal to the Commercial Registration Appeal Tribunal (which as of April 1st, 2000 is known as the Licence Appeal Tribunal) from a written decision of the Ontario New Home Warranty Program (the "Program") dated November 17, 1999.

Russell Lazarus and Rhonda Roth (the "Applicants") base their claim on the provisions of section 14(1)(a) and 14(1)(b) of the Ontario New Home Warranty Plan Act (the "Act").

The Tribunal heard evidence from the applicant Russell Lazarus on behalf of himself and his wife. Mr. Lazarus is a chartered accountant. He and his wife have owned other homes prior to purchasing the Subject Property.

Henry Smith gave evidence on behalf of the added party Rosedale Garden Homes Limited ("Rosedale"). Mr. Smith has been involved in building houses for some 27 years. He is the secretary of Rosedale and is involved in the day to day operations of the company.

Dave Henderson gave evidence on behalf of the Program. Mr. Henderson has a bachelor of technology and architectural science from Ryerson. He has been the operations manager of the Newmarket office Program for some 2 years. Prior to that he was employed by the Ontario Home Builders Association as Manager of Technical Services for 7 years. He made the decision to deny the claim in this matter.

THE FACTS:

Based on the evidence, the witnesses and the documentary evidence presented at the hearing, the Tribunal finds the following as fact.

On or about November 17, 1997, the Applicants and the added party, Rosedale entered into a written Agreement of Purchase and Sale whereby the Applicants purchased from Rosedale a new home to be constructed at premises known municipally as 504 Highcliffe Drive, Thornhill, Ontario (the "Subject Property"). At the time the Agreement of Purchase and Sale was signed, the Applicants anticipated that the home would comprise a gross floor area of 2,920 square feet.

The Agreement of Purchase and Sale permitted the builder, Rosedale, to alter the plans and specifications of the Subject Property such that the alteration did not diminish the value of the real property or substantially alter the dwelling. The Applicants had independent legal advice prior to the execution of the Agreement of Purchase and Sale. The Applicants consulted a number of persons who had previously purchased newly constructed homes from builders in order to ensure that their Agreement of Purchase and Sale contained provisions favourable to the Applicants. The Applicants read the Agreement of Purchase and Sale very carefully. The Applicants knew Rosedale had the rights pursuant to the Agreement to make modifications to the home.

The Agreement of Purchase and Sale contained a schedule which had elevations, as well as floor plans for the Subject Property. Quite clearly on the face of the schedule were the words "2920 sq. ft.". In very small print were the words:

"Materials, specifications and floor plans are subject to change without prior notice. All illustrations are artist concepts. All floor plans are approximate dimensions and actual useable floor space may vary from stated floor space."

Elsewhere in the Agreement of Purchase and Sale at Schedule A, the following provisions were contained.

"43. All plans, elevations and specifications are subject to modification from time to time by the builder according to the Ontario Building Code and the National Building Code."

"48. The purchaser acknowledges that the builder may be required to make some minor and non-substantial construction alterations to the house in compliance with the architectural control provisions of the subdivision and the purchaser agrees to accept any such changes provided the same were made at no cost to the purchaser."

When the home was built, it was 79 square feet smaller or 2.7% of the total square footage of the Subject Property. This fact was expressly agreed by the parties at the opening of the hearing.

The Applicants relied on the representation made in the elevation section of the Agreement of Purchase and Sale and the change in the size of the home was not a minor and non-substantial construction alteration to the house.

The transaction closed on September 10, 1998. The Applicants paid in the order of $410,000.00 inclusive of GST for the home.

Prior to the closing, it became apparent to the Applicants that the home that they purchased would be smaller (ultimately as noted above it was agreed it was 79 square feet smaller) than that represented in the Agreement of Purchase Sale. Correspondence was exchanged between the solicitors for the Applicants and Rosedale prior to closing directed specifically at the discrepancy in the size of the home. The solicitors for Rosedale took the position that the difference was not material, the Agreement of Purchase and Sale gave them the right to make such modifications and that they expected the Applicants to close the transaction.

The Applicants were advised by a representative of the Program to indicate their protest on the PDI form to be tendered on closing. Rosedale refused to accept the PDI form as so indicated. The closing went ahead without the protests being indicated on the closing documents. The Applicants agreed to close, but their solicitors in a letter dated September 4, 1998 indicated that they would require the deficiency to be addressed to their satisfaction without stating specifically what that would entail.

The house was built smaller as the result of municipal side yard set back requirements. Rosedale was unaware of the necessity to alter the size of the Subject Property until the Agreement of Purchase and Sale was executed, the lot chosen and the lot "sited" by an Architect retained by Rosedale. It was only after the Applicants agreed to waive the conditions in the agreement that it "went solid" and the home was sited on the lot purchased by the Applicants.

The difference in area of the home was achieved by narrowing the footprint of the Subject Property by 11 inches. This decrease of area manifested itself by way of a more narrow front entrance foyer and 3 inches off the width of the family room, 6 inches off the width of the kitchen and 7 inches off the width of the library on the first floor and 11 inches off the width of bedroom number 2 on the second floor.

The change in area adversely affected the utility of the Subject Property for the Applicants only insofar as they were unable to place a fridge they had purchased in their new kitchen.

There was no appreciable cost benefit to Rosedale achieved by making the home smaller by 79 square feet. All the major components of the home, the heating, wiring, windows, stairs, electrical, roof, plumbing and trim all cost the same to Rosedale as if the property had been constructed 79 square feet larger.

On November 5, 1998 after having occupied the Subject Property for little over a month, the Applicants made known their concerns to the Program in a detailed and concise manner.

Following receipt of the complaints, Rosedale satisfactorily addressed all of the Applicants' concerns, save and except the dispute of the size of the Subject Property. On March 25, 1999 Rosedale made a without prejudice offer to compensate the Applicants in the amount of $1,500.00. The Applicants did not accept this amount.

The Applicants entered into the conciliation process with the Program. A conciliation report dated June 17, 1999 was prepared. The report identified the difference in square footage as being greater than a 2% industry standard, a change which was not considered equal or better quality and was therefore to be considered as substitution. The Program indicated that amount to be refunded by Rosedale was $5,135.00.

On August 26, 1999 the Applicants' rejected the Program's offer and made a counter proposal.

On September 24, 1999 the Program sent a further letter to the Applicants attempting to explain its position. The Program expressly indicated that it was prepared to be of assistance to the Applicants, but not to the extent they wished. Specifically addressing the claim for compensation for reduced square footage, the Program indicated;

"This claim is beyond the scope of the Act. You will need to pursue your builder in other forums to obtain such a settlement".

The letter continued to explain the basis for the $5,135.00 number previously advanced and indicated that the claim had been assessed pursuant to section 14(1)(a) of the Act although no such reference to the Act had been previously made in the conciliation report.

On October 2, 1999 the Applicants' wrote to request a further explanation of the Program's position and stated;

"I have to be compensated for my out of pocket and I will accept nothing less".

The Program did not respond in a manner that satisfied the Applicants and on October 17, 1999 the Applicants by letter requested a "formal ruling" in the matter.

A decision letter dated November 17, 1999 denied the Applicants' claim. The letter of appeal by the Applicants was received by the Tribunal on November 23, 1999.

ISSUE:

Are the Applicants entitled to be paid out of the guarantee fund an amount of damages pursuant to Section 14 (1)(a) or 14 (1)(b) of the Act?

THE LAW:

Section 14 of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act provides:

Section 14(1) Where,

- (a) a person who has entered into a contract with a vendor for the provision of a home has a cause of action in damages against the vendor for financial loss resulting from the bankruptcy of the vendor or the vendor's failure to perform the contract;
- (b) an owner has a cause of action against a vendor for damages resulting from a breach of warranty; or"

Certain general principles concerning the jurisdiction of the Tribunal and the general purposes of the Act are relevant to the application of the law to the facts as found by the Tribunal.

While the Act gives a person (in Section 14(1)(a)) and an owner (in Section 14(1)(b)) an entitlement to seek compensation from the guarantee fund following a hearing before this Tribunal in the event the Program denies such claims, it cannot be implied from the language of the Act, that the jurisdiction of this Tribunal is exclusive and a person or an owner is precluded from seeking a remedy from the vendor of a home in another forum, namely the Ontario Court of Justice. (Belanger vs 686853 Ontario Inc. 74 O.R. 2nd (114)) DCO 1990, Wright D.C.J.).

The general purposes of the Act were summarized by Judge Zalev (as he then was) in the Ontario New Home Warranty Program v. Crown Trust Co. (1984), 50 O.R. (2d) 588, 32 R.P.R. 214 (Co. Ct.)[affd (1985), 50 O.R. (2d) 593 (note (C.A.))], at p. 590 O.R., p. 217 R.P.R., Judge Zalev said;

“In my view the object of the statute is to provide the warranties set out in s. 13 of the Act to persons who first acquire a home from its vendor for occupancy, and to protect such persons from any unscrupulous, financially irresponsible, or technically incompetent person from whom they might purchase”.

The Applicants bear the onus of proving that their situation falls within the meaning of the relevant sections.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO THE FACTS:

The words used in Section 14(1)(a) were chosen deliberately by the legislature. Accordingly, the Tribunal is required to determine if the Applicants come within the meaning of Section 14(1)(a) having closed the transaction and become “owners” of the Subject Property and whether they have been subjected to “a failure to perform the contract” by Rosedale as the result of the admitted 79 square foot deficiency of the home.

The Applicants are clearly “persons” who at one point entered into a contract with a vendor for the provision of a home. However, the transaction at issue closed and they are now more precisely described as “owners” of the Subject Property. The use of the word “person” in Section 14(1)(a) of the Act as contrasted with the use of the word “owner” in Section 14(1)(b) to me is instructive. Section 14(1)(a) refers to “persons” (a more general term) as opposed to “owners” because the section expressly requires that the transaction has not been completed. In order for compensation to be payable pursuant to Section 14(1)(a) the transaction cannot have been completed and the person not yet have become an owner because of bankruptcy and/or the failure to perform by the vendor.

It appears that Section 14(1)(a) is not intended to apply to persons who have completed transactions for purchases of homes such that at the time a breach is alleged to have occurred they can be then most accurately described as owners. The use of the words “failure to perform the contract” in the section are also important in determining whether compensation is payable given the facts of this case.

The Applicants' solicitor argued that the words "vendor's failure to perform the contract" in Section 14(1)(a) should be interpreted as meaning precisely the same as the words "vendor's breach of contract". While the 79 square foot deficiency in this case does represent a breach of contract, the issue is whether this situation represents a failure to perform the contract in order that compensation is otherwise payable pursuant to Section 14(1)(a).

There is a material legal difference between a "breach of contract" and a "failure to perform a contract" and if the legislature had intended to mean "breach of contract" those specific words would have been used.

The Tribunal has considered the statement of Fletcher Moulton L.G. in Wallis Son and Wells vs. Pratt (1910 2 K.B. 1003, and [1911] A.C. 394) whose statement was adopted by the Ontario Court of Appeal in a decision Cork vs. Greavett Boats Ltd. [1940] O.R. 352-366. The learned Lord Justice succinctly differentiated the term "failure to perform a contract" from a "breach of contract" saying:

There are some obligations which go directly to the substance of a contract, or in other words, are so essential to its very nature that their non-performance may be fairly considered by the other party as a substantial failure to perform the contract at all. On the other hand, there are obligations which, although they must be performed, are not so vital that a failure to perform them goes to the substance of the contract. Both classes of terms are equally obligated under the contract and a breach of any one of them entitles the other party to damages, but in the case of a failure to perform a contract, the plaintiff has the alternative of treating the contract as completely broken by the non-performance, and if he takes the proper steps, can refuse to perform any of the obligations resting upon himself and sue the other party for total failure to perform the contract.

The words in Section 14(1)(a) require the breach at issue to be of the nature the Applicants would have been entitled to elect not to perform their side of the bargain and to seek rescission of the contract because of the actions of the vendor. In this case, the vendor did breach the agreement by providing 79 less square feet, but was a breach that was not of the nature that would have allowed the Applicants to refuse to perform their obligations and close the transaction. The Tribunal considers it significant that the Applicants had independent legal advice and chose to close the transaction notwithstanding the fact that they did object to the fact that the home was 79 feet smaller than that for which they contracted.

While the Tribunal finds that the lack of 79 square feet represents a breach of contract by Rosedale, it is not one which can be characterized as a failure to perform the contract by Rosedale as they did complete the home and deliver it to the Applicants on closing and the Applicants chose not to seek to rescind the agreement.

Much was made in argument by the Applicants' counsel concerning the fact that a reference to Section 14(1)(a) was made in the letter to the Applicants from the Program dated September 24, 1999. A careful reading of the letter indicates that it is an attempt by one person to explain the actions of another. In argument, and indeed in the evidence, the Program took the position that Section 14(1)(a) did not apply and the letter was simply wrong as far as it identified Section 14(1)(a) having any applicability to the facts at issue. The statement of a representative of the Program concerning the applicability of a particular section to a certain set of facts cannot absolutely fetter the discretion of the Tribunal to review the facts and come to a different conclusion as to whether or not the particular section applies.

The Tribunal does not agree with the Applicants' contention that the September 24, 1999 letter represented an exercise of statutory decision making and that afterwards the Program was functus officio and therefore had no authority to make the subsequent decision that it did and which was the subject of this hearing. The Applicants themselves requested a formal decision following the letter of September 24, 1999, and again a careful reading of the letter of September 24, 1999 indicates that it is not a decision, but rather an explanation of a settlement position taken by the Program during the conciliation process.

The Tribunal finds that virtue of the August 26, 1999 letter the Applicants expressly rejected the Program's offer of payment of $5,135.00. Consequently the offer was no longer available to be accepted by the Applicants. Under the law respecting offer and acceptance, it is not open for a person (absent some express statutory provision or scheme, such as those provided for Rule 49 offers to settle in the Rules of Civil Procedure) to attempt to revive, rely upon and accept an initial offer once it is specifically rejected by them unless the offering party subsequently expressly remakes the offer. In this case the Applicants specifically rejected the September 24, 1999 letter (to the extent it can be construed as a further offer) by their October 2, 1999 letter stating that they would accept nothing less than their out of pockets, which were more than the amount offered by the Program.

While it is obviously a less than satisfactory practice for the Program to be making offers to home buyers without clearly marking them as being without prejudice, the applicant cannot have it both ways. They expressly rejected an offer and cannot now come before the Tribunal and expect that a portion of an offer they rejected (the alleged admission of liability by virtue of the reference to Section 14(1)(a)) can be said to definitively bind the Program and take away the Tribunal's ability to make findings of fact and law following a hearing of evidence by the parties.

While the Tribunal finds that the lack of 79 square feet represents a breach of contract by Rosedale, it is not one which can be characterized as a failure to perform the contract by Rosedale as they did complete and deliver the home to the Applicants on closing, and the Applicants chose not to seek to rescind the agreement. In this case, the Tribunal finds that the applicant owners do not have a cause of action in damages against the vendor either resulting from the bankruptcy of the vendor or the vendors failure to perform the contract such that they come within the meaning of Section 14(1)(a) of the Act.

The facts of this case do not lead to the conclusion that compensation is payable pursuant to section 14(1)(a) of the Act. The issue now is whether or not the Applicants have made out a case such that their situation entitles them to compensation pursuant to Section 14(1)(b).

"Warranty" is a defined term in the Act. A "warranty" is defined as those set out under Section 13 of the Act or otherwise as defined in the Regulations. Section 18(1) of Regulation 892 provides a warranty that no substitutions be made in respect of those items for which the purchaser is entitled to make selection pursuant to the purchase agreement without the written consent of the purchaser.

The Tribunal finds that the Applicants had a right pursuant to Schedule A, and specifically paragraph 48, of the Agreement of Purchase and Sale to be consulted on any major and substantial construction alterations to the house in the event such were required to be made in compliance with the architectural control provisions of the subdivision. It is clear from the evidence that the Applicants did not make an agreement to reduce the size of their home and were not consulted in respect of Rosedale's decision to alter the size of the home in order to comply with municipal side yard set backs.

Accordingly, the Tribunal finds that the builder has breached the warranty contained in Section 18(1) of Regulation 892 by substituting a smaller home for that agreed to in the Agreement of Purchase and Sale.

Counsel for the Program referred to the reasons of Vice-Chair Dryden in a decision of this Tribunal in the matter of Yi Lo and Pei Wen Dong dated May 25th, 1994. In Lo and Dong purchasers of a condominium unit contracted for one that was 1,000 square feet. The unit delivered was 980 square feet. However it was recognized in the decision that the deficiency in area was within the 2% industry guideline. That is not admitted in the present case as, in fact, the deficiency is clearly above the guideline, and this case is distinguished from the Lo & Dong case on that basis.

Having found that the Applicants' owners have a cause of action against Rosedale for damages resulting from a breach of warranty, the Tribunal must determine the amount the Applicants are entitled to be paid out of the guarantee fund.

DAMAGES:

As much as the evidence in this case went on for a day and half, it was telling, as to what was not introduced as evidence by the parties. There was no market data given by the Applicants to indicate that the market value of the Subject Property was in any way diminished as a result of the lack of 79 square feet. In cross-examination the applicant stated that he had difficulty placing his refrigerator into his kitchen, but there was no other evidence given concerning the lack or loss of utility for the Subject Property as a result of the changes made by Rosedale.

In any event, evidence was presented by all parties respecting damages calculated on a cost basis. The Tribunal finds that the best evidence concerning the appropriate measure of damages on a cost basis was that presented by the witness for Rosedale. In argument, this amount was identified by the solicitor for the Applicants as being $56.00 a square foot. Given the 2% tolerance for errors in measurement of areas of homes which is acceptable in the industry, at best, the applicant has been deprived of .7% of the home he bargained for, which again was identified in argument as 20.44 square feet x $56.00 = $1,144.64.

DECISION:

Accordingly, for the reasons stated above, pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 16(3) of the Act, the Tribunal directs the Program to pay to the Applicants the sum of $1,144.00 for breach of warranty pursuant to section 14(1)(b) of the Act, such payment to be made no later than sixty (60) days after the release of this Decision and Order.

Appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap.H.8 as amended (the "Act"), from the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the Act.

TO APPEAL AN ORDER TO IMPOUND A MOTOR VEHICLE ISSUED BY THE REGISTRAR OF MOTOR VEHICLES

TRIBUNAL: JOE HEWITT
Presiding member

APPEARANCES: F.C. ROWETT
Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

DALIP DHILLON, Agent for the Applicant

DATE OF HEARING: August 25, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: August 30, 2000 Kitchener

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on August 25, 2000, at Kitchener, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the “Registrar”), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner:	1090498 Ontario Inc. (the “Applicant”)
Motor Vehicle:	1990 Dodge Van, plate # AATR 971 (the “vehicle”)
Date of Appeal:	August 11, 1000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the “Tribunal”) together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the vehicle owner exercised due diligence (i.e. all reasonable efforts) to determine that the driver's licence was not suspended and the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on August 25, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

The hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension?

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

1. Owner was aware that MIRKO JOSIMOVIE lost his driver licence around x-mas of 1999. In the beginning of April, 2000 he produced a valid licence, owner was not aware and neither told by MIRKO JOSIMOVIE that he lost his driver licence again.
2. As result of the impound of this vehicle the loss is upon the owner and is not on MIRKO JOSIMOVIE who was driving while his driver's licence was under suspension.
3. The impact of loss is immediate to this owner, because it result in lost sales because deliveries and pick up can't be made due to the non-availability of the vehicle.

Mr. Dalip Dhillon, the representative of the Applicant, testified that Mr. Mirko Josimovie was a part time contract carpet installer that the company used from time to time. In December of 1999, Mr. Josimovie lost his driver's licence for an impaired driving charge while using the company van. The company was called by the police to pick up the van and were told of Mr. Josimovie's charge.

In April of 2000, Mr. Josimovie produced a driver's licence, and the company hired him again. Mr. Dalip Dhillon or Mrs. Mandeep Dhillon never asked Mr. Josimovie to produce a drivers licence again when they hired him in August. The company assumed Mr. Josimovie's licence was still valid. The company does not conduct driver abstracts on people that use its vehicle.

Mr. Dhillon stated that the loss and hardship is on the company and not on Mr. Josimovie. That the company has lost sales because they did not have a truck for deliveries or installations. The company has made no attempt to rent a vehicle during the impoundment. The company is in no threat of bankruptcy. The company does four to five carpet installations per month.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Mirko Josimovie;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of impaired driving under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until June 7, 2001.

The Respondent did not introduce any witnesses. The evidence of the Registrar consisted mainly of the documented evidence herein before listed.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

(1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Board.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Board may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of sections 50.2(3)(c) and (d).

With respect to an appeal under subsection 50.2(3)(c) alleging that the owner exercised due diligence prior to releasing the vehicle to the driver, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary provides the definition of "due diligence" as follows:

Due: A. adj. 1. That is owing or payable, as a debt. 2. Belonging or falling to by right. 3. That ought to be giving or rendered; merited. 4. Such as ought to be; fitting; proper; rightful. 5. Such as is requisite or necessary; adequate. 6. To be ascribed or attributed; owing to, caused by, in consequence of. 7. Under engagement or contract to be ready or arrive (at a defined time).

Diligence: 1. The quality of being diligent; industry, assiduity. 2. Speed, dispatch. 3. Careful attention, heedfulness, caution. 4. Law. The attention and care due from a person in a given situation....

Also, "due diligence" in Black's Law Dictionary (sixth edition) at page 457 is as follows:

Due diligence: Such a measure of prudence, activity, or assiduity, as is properly to be expected from, and ordinarily exercised by, a reasonable and prudent man under the particular circumstances; not measured by any absolute standard, but depending on the relative facts of the special case.

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines "exceptional hardship" as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

- (h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Board in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22
- (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety or any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
 - (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
 - (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
 - (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

FACTS FOUND PROVEN

- 1) The Applicant is the owner of the motor vehicle that was the subject of the impoundment order.
- 2) At the time of the impoundment order, the Applicant's vehicle was driven by Mirko Josimovie.
- 3) At the time of the impoundment of the Applicant's motor vehicle, Mirko Josimovie's driver's licence was under suspension due to a conviction under the Criminal Code of Canada for driving with more than 80 mg of alcohol in blood.
- 4) The loss of income to the company has not been significant or lasting, and the company has not looked into or used alternatives to the impounded vehicle.

ONUS OF PROOF

The onus of proof, based on the balance of probabilities, rests upon the Applicant.

Did the owner exercise due diligence respecting the driver's licence of the driver of the impounded vehicle?

The Applicant did not ask or inspect the driver's licence of Mirko Josimovie on or after April of 2000, knowing that he had an impaired driving charge in December of 1999. The Applicant showed no measure of prudence in his inquiries that would normally be expected in these circumstances.

The Tribunal therefore cannot conclude that the Applicant exercised due diligence within the meaning of section 50.2 (3)(c) of the Act.

EXCEPTIONAL HARDSHIP

The Applicant remains in business with no immediate threat, significant loss or lasting effect from this impoundment.

While the Applicant's profit may be reduced as a result of this impoundment, there is no possibility of bankruptcy.

Section 22(4) of Regulation 574 requires that no alternative to the impounded vehicle is available to the Applicant. The Applicant has not inquired into vehicle alternatives. The use of this vehicle in the Applicant's business is, in any event, limited to four to five days per month.

In consideration of all the evidence presented, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant has not demonstrated exceptional hardship under section 22 of Ontario Regulation 632/98 amending Ontario Regulation 574 under the Highway Traffic Act.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

TO APPEAL AN ORDER TO IMPOUND A MOTOR VEHICLE ISSUED BY THE REGISTRAR OF MOTOR VEHICLES

TRIBUNAL: KENNETH KOPROWSKI
Presiding member

APPEARANCES: KIM BEINTEMA
Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

BONNIE McGONEGAL, Applicant

DATE OF HEARING: August 29, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: August 31, 2000 Fort Frances

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on August 29, 2000, at Fort Frances, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO SET ASIDE the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: Bonnie McGonegal (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle: 1986 Plymouth Voyager, plate # AEWC 188 (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal: August 2, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on August 29, 2000 and proceeded as a written hearing.

There was one preliminary matter.

On the 24th day of August, 2000, the date on which this decision was to have been written originally, I received, by facsimile transmission, in the mid-afternoon, a further 27 pages of supplementary materials and submissions by the Applicant, which the Applicant had filed with the Tribunal only earlier that day, one day after it was due.

I have allowed this late filing by the Applicant. The reason is that, under Rule 2.7 of the Rules of Practice of the Licence Appeal Tribunal, this Tribunal may waive any of the Rules at any time. Such discretion should not be exercised capriciously, nor without regard to the facts of the particular circumstances at hand. It is inherent in the concept of fairness to all parties, to this or any hearing, that this Tribunal should wish to be apprised of all relevant facts and materials in order to arrive at an informed decision. The Applicant is a lay person, to whom all reasonable courtesy and fairness should be extended to permit disclosure of such facts and materials.

Using the identical reasoning, I also allowed the filing, by facsimile transmission to me on August 29, 2000, of further material from the Respondent; namely, its Reply to the Supplementary materials and submissions of the Applicant.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

Dear Sir or Madam

I am asking for this appeal as we live 10 miles in the country outside a small town called Perth. Our area has no bus service and taxi fare to town is $15.00. My husband is ill and requires medical attention quite often. We are on disability from the Ontario government and unable to replace our van because of financial stress. A 30.00 taxi fare to town and back each week for groceries or doctor appointments leaves quite handicapped as far as finances go and the impound fee would leave us unable to reclaim our vehicle or replace it. A trip to a specialist in Ottawa would be impossible as it is the nearest city and it is 100 kilometres away and taxi fare would be unbelievable.

I hope this will help in making your decision. If a doctor's letter or a more detailed financial statement would help I will be glad to send you any added information you may require by way of priority post.

By way of exhibit 4, the further submissions of the Applicant, the Applicant states as follows:

- (a) not having the impounded vehicle, and if family members help with her and her husband's transportation to town, the Applicant must leave at 7:30 a.m. when the family members go to work, and must return at 4:30 or 5:00 p.m. when they return from work. As for the neighbours, most are working, or have only one car, where the working person takes the vehicle.
- (b) the Applicant has hitch-hiked to town before for medicines, but her husband is unable to walk great distances.
- (c) Although a Para-Med service could drive her husband around, in town, it does not provide transportation from their house to the town itself.
- (d) Taxi fare to Perth from the Applicant's residence costs $15.00.
- (e) The Applicant's husband suffers from chronic liver disease, and such things as allergies and chronic bronchitis. He has attended at the Emergency Department at Perth and Smiths Falls Hospital on numerous occasions, as confirmed by 5 pages of hospital records, filed by the Applicant as part of Exhibit 4, covering the period January 19, 1995, to September 29, 1999.
- (f) Although the Applicant has 8 other vehicles registered to her name, they are all at the wrecker's junkyard and are unroadworthy.
- (g) The Applicant's monthly income is in the amount of $1,293.85, being Social Assistance from the Ministry of Community and Social Services. Her bank balance, as at August 8, 2000, is shown to be $5.66. This, according to the Applicant, makes it difficult to afford taxi fares or to hire anyone privately to drive her or her husband where and when they must go.

(h) No financial help is forthcoming from Bradley McGonegal, the suspended driver, because he is unemployed and is on social assistance himself.

(i) A payment of $557.91 is due to Hydro One Networks on September 1, 2000, as confirmed by a letter dated August 15, 2000, from Hydro One Networks to the Applicant, and filed as part of exhibit 4. Failing this payment, hydro service to the Applicant's residence will be interrupted.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Bradley Carl McGonegal;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of impaired driving under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until September 9, 2002.

In response to Exhibit 1, the Notice of Appeal from the Applicant, the Respondent denies that the Applicant had shown exceptional hardship in Exhibit 1 and, correctly, continuously recites a lack of details provided by the Applicant in Exhibit 1. These details were subsequently provided by the Applicant's later filing of Exhibit 4.

Nevertheless, by way of Reply, Exhibit 5, the Respondent argues as follows:

(a) the Applicant's hardships are more consistent with inconvenience, which is something that this Tribunal cannot consider in reaching a decision in this matter. Further, the Applicant fails to state how often it is necessary to go into town at all.

(b) the last visit to Perth and Smiths Falls hospital by the Applicant's husband was September 29, 1999, but has had no "emergencies" during the impound period. Therefore, his medical condition is not life threatening, and being without a vehicle does not pose a threat to his health and safety.

(c) no visits to the hospital were life threatening and certainly not due to a chronic life threatening medical condition. In any event, in an emergency, the Applicant could use the 911 service at the hospital. The Respondent states that the hospital has this service, although there is no evidence of this before this Tribunal.

(d) the bankbook and statement of monthly expenses show that the Applicant has not incurred any financial loss as a result of the impound. The Applicant, further, does not state how often she must use the taxi to go to town, and has found an alternative with family members. However, as I read the Applicant's evidence, this argument of the respondent ignores the point that I read that the Applicant was making in revealing her financial circumstances; namely, there is exceptional hardship involved in paying for such cab services, regardless of how often it is used.

(e) the amount of $557.91 owing to Hydro One Networks and the threat of hydro being cut off is not a result of the vehicle being impounded. However, again, this seems to ignore the point that I read that the Applicant was making; namely, there is exceptional hardship arising from their total financial circumstances which the impoundment only exacerbates.

(f) the fact that the Applicant is distressed with worry is not an exceptional hardship as defined by Regulation 632/98 of the Highway Traffic Act.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

(1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines "exceptional hardship" as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

- (h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22
- (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety of any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
 - (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
 - (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
 - (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

Contrary to what the Respondent has stated in its Reply, Regulation 632/98 does not "define" exceptional hardship. The Regulation outlines factors which are to be considered in concluding whether an Applicant has proved "exceptional hardship", but the actual definition is as given earlier in these reasons. A hardship, to be exceptional, must be "of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual." In turn, "hardship" is defined as: "1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. hardness of fate or circumstances; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation." (emphasis is mine).

Any conclusion about whether a person's circumstances amount to "exceptional hardship" must be a matter of the facts in each particular case. No one definition can hope to cover every set of circumstances that one may come across.

In this case, I have no hesitation in finding that the Applicant has proved exceptional hardship.

The circumstances of the Applicant involve more than an inconvenience. How can it be a mere inconvenience not to be able to attend to a person's medical needs immediately as and when they may arise? How is it mere inconvenience to have to hitch-hike 20 miles, round trip, to and from the nearest town or to have to wait all day in town for a ride to return home at the end of the driver's work day? I do not find that these circumstances are mere inconveniences.

No viable, reasonable alternative is available to the Applicant to meet her needs and those of her husband on a regular, consistent basis. Therefore, I find that there is a threat, hovering over their heads continuously, to the health or safety of her husband, who is a person "ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle."

The Applicant and her husband are ill positioned, by virtue of the amount of their Social Assistance payments, to weather any financial loss, which would, therefore, be, to them, immediate, significant and lasting. The impact of the loss would be upon the Applicant's husband, the person ordinarily transported by the impounded vehicle, and not upon Bradley McGonegal, the suspended driver.

In effect, as regards Regulation 574 RRO 1990, as amended by O.R. 632/98, I find that:

- (1) the criteria in s. 22(1)(a) have been satisfied.
- (2) we are, here, considering more than an inconvenience, which is a matter which this Tribunal would not be able to consider, by virtue of s. 22(2)(a).
- (3) because I find that there is no viable alternative to the impounded vehicle, I must, and do, find, in accordance with s. 22(3), and based on the evidence outlined in these reasons, that the criteria outlined therein have also been satisfied.
- (4) no reasonable option or mitigation of any threat or loss to the person is available to the Applicant on the facts of this case, in accordance with the matters I must consider under s. 22(4).

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal sets aside the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on August 24, 2000, at Peterborough, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to Section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA").

The Tribunal released its Decision on August 25, 2000, with Reasons to follow.

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the suspension imposed by the Registrar pursuant to Section 48.3 HTA for the following reasons.

REASONS

BACKGROUND:

Notice of Appeal and Prescribed Fee

This appeal comes before the Tribunal on behalf of the Applicant, by way of a Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990 as amended, chapter H.8. The Applicant elected that his appeal be decided by the Tribunal by way of an oral hearing. The form of Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act was dated July 31, 2000, and was received by the Tribunal on August 9, 2000, together with the prescribed fee of $100.00, paid by money order.

Reason for the Appeal

The reason for the appeal cited by the Applicant was stated as follows in the said notice:

“I was unable to provide the required breath sample because of a medical reason.”

Preliminary Matters

There were no preliminary matters, the hearing proceeded.

Submissions of Written Material

By the Applicant:

- a) Exhibit #1 Notice of Appeal – dated July 31, 2000
- b) Exhibit #2 Notice of Suspension of Driver’s Licence – dated July 5, 2000
- c) Exhibit #3 Notice to Registrar – dated July 3, 2000
- d) Exhibit #4 Discharge Summary Sheet & Care Plan – dated May 23, 2000
- e) Exhibit #6 Shoppers Drug Mart Prescription Information – 7 pages
- received August 24, 2000
- f) Exhibit #7 Letter of apology, dated June 20, 2000 – received August 24, 2000

By the Respondent:

- a) Exhibit #5 MTO Submissions – 18 pages – received August 18, 2000

ISSUE:

Having established that this appeal falls within subsection 50.1(2)(b) of the Highway Traffic Act, and the Tribunal thereby having jurisdiction, the question to be answered is: Did the Applicant fail or refuse to comply with a demand made to provide a sample of breath or blood because he was unable to do so for a medical reason?

LAW:

The legislation governing the Administrative Drivers Licence Suspension (ADLS) under subsection 50.1(1) and (2) of the Highway Traffic Act (“HTA”) states:

50.1 (1) “A person whose driver’s licence is suspended under Section 48.3 may appeal the suspension to the Tribunal.

(2) The grounds on which a person may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may order that the suspension be set aside are,

- (a) that the person whose licence was suspended is not the same individual to whom a demand for a sample of breath or blood was made, or from whom a sample of breath or blood was taken, as the case may be, under or pursuant to the provisions of the Criminal Code (Canada) referred to in subsection 48.3(3); or
- (b) that the person failed or refused to comply with a demand made under section 254 of the Criminal Code (Canada) to provide a sample of breath or blood because he or she was unable to do so for a medical reason”.

The HTA states under Section 50.1(4):

The Board may confirm the suspension or may order that the suspension be set aside.

Regulation 574 (amended), Highway Traffic Act at subsection 15(1),(2) and (3) requires that a medical report must contain:

15. (1) “a report of a legally qualified medical practitioner that is to be submitted in evidence shall clearly state,

- (a) the name, telephone number and address, with the postal code, of the medical practitioner;
 - (b) the name, date of birth and address of the person who is the subject of the report;
 - (c) that the medical practitioner has prepared the report, or is aware that the report may be used, in support of an appeal to the Board from the suspension of a driver's licence under section 50.1 of the Act;
 - (d) the length of time and frequency with which the medical practitioner has attended upon the person who is the subject of the report, including the date of the most recent examination of the person that supports the findings set out in the report;
 - (e) whether the medical practitioner is the family physician of the person who is the subject of the report; and
 - (f) whether the medical practitioner is a specialist and, if so, the field of speciality.
- (2) The report shall provide the details of any present condition, diagnosis and history of the condition that precludes the person who is the subject of the report from providing a breath or blood sample including the results of any related tests.

(3) The report shall be signed by the medical practitioner.”

Finally, section 13 of Regulation 574 (amended) provides:

“A person appealing a suspension has the onus of establishing the merit of the appeal”.

FACTS:

The Applicant's driver's licence was suspended “July 04 2000” as indicated in the Applicant's Notice of Appeal (Exhibit # 1)

Page 2 of the Notice of Appeal, dated August 2, 2000, was prepared by Physician # 1, the Applicant's physician for one month. Physician # 1 wrote: “May 17/2000 - fractured rib - still healing at time of x - ray ...pneumothorax - resolved on x ray May 30/00 -.” (Exhibit # 1)

A Discharge Summary Sheet, dated "May 23/00," details instructions for the Applicant to follow at home. (Exhibit # 4)

The Respondent provided the following Documents:

1. Notice to Registrar.
2. Driving Record
3. Vehicle Record
4. Crown Brief Synopsis

The Crown Synopsis states that the Applicant refused to provide a breath sample. (Exhibit # 5)

At the hearing, the Applicant testified that he believed he was incoherent and irrational due to a reaction to the strong medication he was on at the time. The Applicant fell off a chair and fractured some ribs, some months ago. On the day he was accosted by the police, he had taken several painkillers.

During his testimony, the Applicant produced a summary list of all the medications he was taking, as well as Shopper's Drug Mart information sheets for said medications. These documents were entered on consent as Exhibits 6. The Respondent had no objections but did request that the Tribunal note that documents were presented on the day of the hearing.

During cross-examination, the Applicant produced a letter which was entered as Exhibit 7. This letter is dated "June 20, 2000" and appears to be a letter of apology to Constable Officer # 1.

Both, during examination-in-chief and in cross-examination, the Applicant declared he has no recollection of the events that occurred that evening. He remembers not feeling well. The reason that he refused to blow into the breathalyzer was that he knew he would not be able to, due to the pain he was feeling.

The Applicant called Witness #1 as a witness. Witness #1 confirmed the amount of alcohol shared by the two men on the evening in question.

The Respondent relied on the written information provided for the hearing, and on the testimony of Constable Officer # 1 of the Peterborough Lakefield Police Service.

Constable Officer # 1 has been a police officer since 1989; a breathalyzer technician since 1990 and an Intoxilyzer technician since 1996.

Constable Officer # 1 swore that the Applicant did not appear to be in any physical pain. In response to questions posed by Constable Officer # 1, the Applicant stated that he had HIV, and that his injury was in "...knowing you..." At no time did the Applicant request medical assistance.

When asked to provide a breath sample, the Applicant refused. Constable Officer # 1 declared that he asked the Applicant three times to stand and provide a breath sample, and the Applicant refused.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

At issue is, how does the medical condition of the Applicant relate to section 50.1(2)(b), and did this medical reason cause him to fail or not comply with the breath demand. The onus is on the Applicant to provide the Tribunal with a medical reason as to why he was unable to provide a breath sample.

The Tribunal reviewed the "Applicant's Medical Information" prepared by the Applicant's physician for this hearing. Physician # 1 noted: 'May 17/2000 - fractured rib - still healing at time of x - ray ...pneumothorax - resolved on x ray May 30/00 -.' (Exhibit # 1)

Pertinent law, i.e. Subsection 48.3 establishes the criteria for the suspension of a driver's licence:

(1) Where a police officer is satisfied that a person driving or having care, charge or control of a motor vehicle meets one of the criteria set out in subsection (3)...

(3) Criteria for the purpose of subsection (1)...

(2) The person failed or refused to provide a breath or blood sample...

The Applicant may have had several reasons for not being able to provide a breath sample, some of which might even be medical. Yet, the facts are clear and simple, by his own admission he refused to provide a breath sample. Further, at the time the Applicant offered no reasonable explanation as to why he was refusing to do so.

The onus being on the Applicant to establish the merit of his appeal, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant has failed to do so. Thus, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant does not meet the criteria of section 50.1(2)(b) which requires the Applicant to demonstrate that his failure to provide a breath sample was due to medical reasons.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the suspension order dated July 4, 2000 of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles pursuant to section 48.3 of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA") and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

Pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50.1(4) of the HTA, the Tribunal confirms the suspension.

WEISS

THOMAS JOSEPH WEISS

APPEAL FROM A PROPOSAL OF THE REGISTRAR
OF THE MOTOR VEHICLE DEALERS ACT

TO REFUSE REGISTRATION

TRIBUNAL: E. ALAN GARBE, Vice-Chair

APPEARANCES:

THOMAS JOSEPH WEISS, appearing on his own behalf
AVIVA R. HARARI, Counsel, representing the Registrar,
Motor Vehicle Dealers Act

DATE OF
HEARING: June 22, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

This hearing arises from a notice of proposal dated March 8, 2000, issued by the Registrar under the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act (the "Act") to refuse the registration of Thomas Joseph Weiss (the "Applicant") as a motor vehicle salesperson under the provisions of the Act.

REGISTRAR'S POSITION

The Registrar's Notice of Proposal refers to the Applicant applying for registration as a motor vehicle salesperson by application dated March 3, 2000 (the "Application"), wherein he proposes to work for AAA Auto Wholesale o/a Daewoo London. The past conduct of the Applicant which the Registrar found to be inconsistent with the intention and objectives of the Act is as follows:

1. In response to Question 6 of the Application which asks if the Applicant had been involved in personal bankruptcy proceedings, the Applicant answered "yes" to this question. The Applicant filed for an assignment in bankruptcy in or about April 1995 and was discharged in or about January 1996.
2. In response to Question 9 which asks if the Applicant has ever been found guilty or convicted of an offence under any law, the Applicant answered "yes" to this question and disclosed a conviction in January 1995 on a charge of fraud.

3. A criminal history check conducted by the Registrar indicated that the Applicant had convictions on two charges of fraud over $1,000.00.

THE EVIDENCE:

Amanda LeeDempsey, was called to give evidence on behalf of the Registrar and identified herself as a manager for the Ontario Motor Vehicle Industry Council ("OMVIC"). She testified with respect to OMVIC's role in administering the Act and the application of section 5 to registrations and renewals of registrations under the Act.

Ms. Dempsey referred to the Notice of Proposal to Refuse Registration dated March 8, 2000, appearing at Tab 1 of the Book of Disclosure provided by the Registrar which is Exhibit 3 in these proceedings and confirmed that the refusal is based upon the previous convictions and bankruptcy of the Applicant.

Ms. Dempsey reviewed the Application which appears at Tab 2 of Exhibit 3 and specifically Question 6 regarding personal bankruptcy proceedings which the Applicant had answered "yes" and Question 9 with respect to convictions, which again, the Applicant had answered "yes". Ms. Dempsey indicated that the procedure generally followed was to look at an Applicant's history, do a criminal check and occasionally a credit check was conducted as well.

In the present situation, a criminal record check was obtained and appears at Tab 3 of Exhibit 3 and discloses that the Applicant was charged, on or about February 22, 1995 in London, Ontario with two counts of fraud over $1,000.00 and received a sentence of 18 months on each charge to be served concurrently. It was the witness's testimony that convictions such as these failed all tests with respect to the acceptability of past conduct.

Ms. Dempsey testified that the convictions registered against the Applicant indicated that there had been a breach of trust, dishonesty and unlawful conduct. Ms. Dempsey indicated that it would be negligence on the part of the Registrar to ignore such convictions. The witness confirmed that the Notice of Taxation of Trustee's Accounts and Discharge of Trustee appearing at Tab 4 of Exhibit 3 was provided with the Application and that page 3 of that document stated that the Applicant received an automatic discharge on January 27, 1996 and reveals the amounts involved in the bankruptcy.

The witness stated that the Registrar maintained his position that the Application of the Applicant should be refused.

The Applicant gave evidence on his own behalf and stated that he believed that the filing for personal bankruptcy was an act of financial responsibility and that as a result of his convictions and incarceration; he could not meet his financial obligations, and he felt that filing for bankruptcy was part of his rehabilitation.

The Applicant indicated that he was still with his wife and family living in London, Ontario.

The Applicant testified that his time with the Citizen Group of companies (the "Citizen Group"), which were the companies by whom he was employed at the time the fraud charges were laid, shows that he endeavored to act responsibly as he was endeavoring to recoup money misappropriated by others. During what the Applicant referred to as the "Citizen fiasco", he did not have signing authority.

The Applicant testified that when he became aware of the misuse of funds within the Citizen Group, he ceased soliciting funds and looked for ways in which the moneys could be recouped. At that time, there were three properties owned by the Citizen Group and it was the Applicant's intention to sell these properties in order to recover moneys necessary to repay investors. The Applicant testified that the properties were ultimately liquidated however, unbeknownst to him at the outset, there were mortgages, tax arrears, sewer charges, etc., which reduced the amounts received from the sale of these properties substantially.

It was the Applicant's evidence that during the period from when he learned that funds had been misused by the companies until the matter was reported to the police, he tried to find ways to return moneys to investors. He had hoped that a significant commission of about $800,000.00, which was payable to Citizen Insurance Agency, a company within the Citizen Group, as a result of underwriting a large policy, would be received and would be applied to return moneys to investors. However, the moneys had not come in by the time the matter was reported to the police. Other efforts to recoup moneys were unsuccessful.

The Applicant acknowledged that people did lose money as a result of the collapse of the Citizen Group and that he pleaded guilty to the charges and did go to jail. He stated emphatically that he would never repeat such offences.

Reference was made to the letter from the Ministry of Correctional Services dated April 18, 2000 which is Exhibit 6 in this hearing signed by J. Tom de Gryp, probation and parole officer which states that the Applicant was under parole supervision from August 22, 1995 to August 21, 1996 and that during the term of supervision, he took his responsibilities seriously, found gainful employment and provided for his family. When asked about the period after August 1996, the Applicant advised that after that date, there was no requirement for his activities to be monitored.

With respect to his bankruptcy, the Applicant stated that he had been leasing two vehicles from Municipal Leasing which he returned and anticipated that he would be sued for the balance. He felt therefore, that the responsible thing to do was to file for bankruptcy as he did not intend to defend a claim made by the leasing company.

The Applicant testified that he joined the Citizen Group in 1990 and became aware in July 1991 that funds had been misappropriated. He stayed until October 1992 when the matter was reported. The Applicant admitted that he did not notify the authorities of the financial trouble within the Citizen Group.

The Applicant repeated that once he became aware of the activities within the companies, he did not continue to solicit money. He also stated that the salespeople did not report to him. The Applicant testified that he had worked in the insurance side and that the Citizen Insurance Agency was part of the Citizen Group. The Applicant stated that his annual compensation from the Citizens group was approximately $45,000.00 in each of the years 1991 and 1992.

When asked about the convictions for fraud, the Applicant stated that he had pleaded guilty primarily because the criminal lawyer he retained wanted a substantial further retainer to continue which the Applicant could not afford.

The Applicant stated that he did not intent to commit any crime and reiterated that he would never do so again. The Applicant stated that he had not previously worked as an automobile salesperson but had worked in trailer sales and was aware of the forms used. When asked, the Applicant acknowledged that salespeople do, on occasion, commit fraud.

The Applicant stated that he had many heated arguments with the two principals of the Citizen Group with respect to reporting the financial activities of the corporations to the authorities. He repeatedly urged them to report what was going on, however, he was continually told that there were ways that the moneys could be repaid. The matters came to a conclusion when one of the principals committed suicide. The misappropriation of funds within the Citizen Group was reported to the authorities the following week.

The Applicant was referred to his personal history prepared by Donald C. Root dated October 25, 1993, which appears at Tab 7 of Exhibit 3 with particular reference to page 3 thereof where it is indicated that the Applicant joined the Citizen Group in October 1990 and became a partner in the parent organization in January 1991 and received 12% of the shares of that company. The Applicant stated that the 12% was a gift that he had never signed for those shares and indeed his signature had been forged. The Applicant acknowledged that Vernon Robertson, the surviving principal of the Citizen Group, was never charged with forgery.

The Applicant reiterated that he only stayed with the Citizen Group after he became aware of what was going on as he believed that he could help direct money back to the investors.

It was his evidence that some money was returned to the investors and estimated that approximately $1,000,000.00 was received after July 1991 which moneys were received from partial payments on mortgages held by the Citizen Group.

The Applicant stated that it was his believe that the losses suffered were less because he continued with the Citizens Group after July 1991, the date he learned of the financial mismanagement of the companies.

It was the Applicant's evidence that by October 1992 it was clear that there was no chance to recover the moneys however, to his knowledge, a receiver was not appointed as the authorities took over the corporations. The Applicant did not know what action was taken to collect the substantial commission payable to the insurance agency within the Citizen Group.

The Applicant stated that the misappropriated moneys were used to pay the operating expenses of the companies within the group because the Citizen Group had grown faster than expected.

Donald Root was called to give evidence on behalf of the Applicant. Mr. Root is a retired probation and parole officer with 31 years experience in the field of corrections and holds a masters degree in applied criminology. Mr. Root is also a half brother of the Applicant.

Counsel for the Registrar objected to Mr. Root being called by the Applicant as an expert witness as the Applicant had failed to give timely notice to OMVIC and the report of Mr. Root received by OMVIC was incomplete. Mr. Root therefore gave testimony as a character witness only.

Mr. Root made reference to the personal history contained at Tab 7 of Exhibit 3 and particularly page 6 thereof and stated that he believed that the Applicant was "endeavouring to redeem himself."

When cross-examined, Mr. Root stated that in creating the personal history, he had drawn from his childhood relationship with the Applicant as his half-brother and that some of the information came as a result of discussions with the Applicant. Mr. Root stated that he knew nothing about fraud with respect to the 12% shares that are referred to on pages 3 and 6 of the personal history at Tab 7.

At the conclusion of the cross-examination, Mr. Root, by way of reply, indicated that the personal history was prepared in about September 1993. Mr. Root stated that he had for several years been a member of the legal aid area committee and was recently interviewed for an appointment as a justice of the peace. Mr. Root indicated to the Tribunal that, although he was the Applicant's half-brother and may appear to be biased, he had a particular appreciation for the criminal justice system and he took the actions of his half-brother very seriously and wished the Tribunal to take the witness' background into consideration when evaluating his comments regarding the Applicant.

FACTS FOUND PROVEN:

The following facts are found by this Tribunal to have been proven:

1. Prior to joining the Citizen Group in 1990, the Applicant had worked in banking and financial institutions for approximately 16 years.
2. The Applicant joined the Citizen Group in October 1990.
3. In or about July 1991, the Applicant became aware that moneys had been misappropriated within the Citizen Group.
4. The Applicant did not report the misuse of funds within the companies but did take steps to try to recoup moneys to reimburse investors.
5. The Applicant did not actively participate in the misappropriation of funds.
6. The Applicant was charged with two counts of fraud in October 1992 and pleaded guilty and served a total of 18 months incarceration.
7. As a result of his incarceration, there were certain debts which he could not satisfy and therefore he voluntarily placed himself into personal bankruptcy from which he has now been discharged.

THE LAW:

The authority granted to the Registrar is provided in subsection 5(1)(b) of the Act which states:

5. (1) An applicant is entitled to registration or renewal of registration by the Registrar except where,

(a) having regard to the financial position of the applicant, the applicant cannot reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of business; or

(b) the past conduct of the applicant affords reasonable grounds for belief that the applicant will not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty;

.....

The Registrar has the onus of proof to satisfy the Tribunal that the Registrar has reasonable grounds to believe that the registration of Thomas Joseph Weiss should be refused.

In order for the Tribunal to carry out its responsibilities pursuant to the Act, the Tribunal must review the decision of the Registrar by examining the allegations of the Registrar with respect to the activities of the Applicant and to consider such allegations in light of the evidence given by the Registrar and the Applicant with respect to those allegations to determine whether the past conduct of the Applicant provided the Registrar with reasonable grounds for the belief that the Applicant will not carry on business as required by section 5(1)(b) of the Act. It is the Registrar's belief which is at issue in these proceedings not that of the Tribunal.

ISSUE:

The issue to be determined is whether the convictions on two charges of fraud and the personal bankruptcy of the Applicant provides, in the present circumstances, the Registrar with reasonable grounds to believe that the Applicant will not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty nor be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of business.

There can be no doubt that when the Registrar becomes aware that an applicant had been convicted of fraud, particular care must be taken to ascertain if such conduct is of the type that would lead the Registrar to conclude that such an applicant should not be registered under the Act.

However, the mere fact of a conviction or convictions such of those of which the Applicant has been convicted can not, automatically, provide reasonable grounds for the conclusion that the Applicant must be refused registration.

In the present circumstances, the two convictions for fraud involved the misappropriation of funds by others at the Citizen Group and, the Applicant's bankruptcy was directly related to his imprisonment pursuant to the those convictions.

The past conduct of the Applicant which gave rise to the Registrar's proposal to refuse registration arise from one set of facts.

Counsel for the Registrar referred the Tribunal to the case of Clermont and the Registrar of Motor Vehicle Dealers and Salesmen, 1974 O.J. No. 1028 (Divisional Court), wherein Madam Justice Van Camp speaking on behalf of the Court:

"The past conduct referred to in s. 5(1) of the Act may in certain circumstances consist of one isolated mistake, if it is of such a nature and in circumstances that there are reasonable grounds for belief that the person applying to be registered would not carrying on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty."

Is the past conduct of the Applicant, which gave rise to his convictions, which consist of an isolated mistake, of such a nature and in circumstances that provide the Registrar with reasonable grounds for the belief that the Applicant would not carrying on business in accordance with the law and integrity and honesty?

DECISION:

As a result of the review of the nature and the circumstances of these offences, the Tribunal does not agree that the Registrar had reasonable grounds for his conclusion to the refuse the registration of the Applicant for the following reasons:

1. There is no suggestion that during the 16 year period the Applicant worked in the financial industry prior to joining the Citizen Group, the Applicant acted dishonestly or contrary to the law. Indeed while at the Bank of Montreal, he received commendation for his work.
2. It was after joining the Citizen Group in October 1990 that the Applicant learned that moneys were missing from two companies within the Group, and the evidence before this Tribunal is that the funds were misappropriated by others without the Applicant's knowledge and that the moneys had begun to disappear prior to the Applicant joining the Citizen Group.
3. The Applicant played no active role in the actual misappropriation of funds and notice is taken that in the charges filed against the Applicant, which appear as Exhibit 4 in these proceedings, the police charged that the unlawful acts of which the Applicant was accused commenced on the 1st day of March 1990 approximately seven months prior to the Applicant joining the Citizen Group.
4. Although one may speculate as to whether the Applicant, had he been able to afford a full defence, would, given the circumstances involved with these charges, have been convicted, the Applicant acknowledged his involvement and pleaded guilty to the charges.
5. Since his release, the Applicant has conducted himself in a responsible fashion notwithstanding that during the period of his parole, the Applicant and his family suffered a personal loss with the death of their eldest daughter.

6. The statement of the probation and parole officer who supervised the Applicant from August 22, 1995 to August 21, 1996, which is Exhibit 6 in these proceedings, clearly states that the Applicant "took his responsibilities seriously, found gainful employment and provided for his family." The probation and parole officer proceeds to state that in comparison to offenders throughout the Province, the Applicant "demonstrated sincere remorse and was considered a low risk to reoffend." The statement of the parole officer concludes with reference to the family tragedy referred to above which "could have had more serious consequences than it did if Mr. Weiss had not taken a positive prospective at that time."
7. It is reasonable for someone who had been involved in the financial service industry to conclude, as the Applicant did, that, as he no longer had an income due to his incarceration, the reasonable and practical method of dealing with creditors was to declare personal bankruptcy and the trustee's statement appearing at Tab 4 of Exhibit 3 indicates that, in relative terms, the amounts claimed by unsecured creditors were not substantial.

The Registrar has not satisfied the Tribunal that the Registrar has reasonable grounds to believe that the registration of the Applicant should be refused. The Tribunal's view may have been different had the Applicant played an active role in the misappropriation of funds however, the only evidence before the Tribunal is that the Applicant's role was a passive role and this passivity was explained by the Applicant in his belief that moneys could be retrieved in order to repay the defrauded parties.

The Tribunal does not agree that the bankruptcy of the Applicant in the present circumstances indicates a lack of financial responsibility.

ORDER:

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority vested in it by section 7(4) of the Motor Vehicle Dealer Act, the Tribunal directs the Registrar to refrain from carry out the Registrar's proposal dated March 8, 2000 to refuse the registration of Thomas Joseph Weiss as a motor vehicle salesperson under the Act.

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

This hearing arises from a Director's Notice of Intention dated 29 December 1999 to refuse to renew a licence under the Day Nurseries Act (DNA) held by Isha (Ruby) Persaud, operator of Academy Preschool day nursery. An appeal was lodged with the Child and Family Services Review Board. The hearing of this appeal was opened on 15 February 2000. Because of the large number of witnesses to be called and prior commitments of some of the participants, all parties agreed to waive the 90 day time limit established in the DNA, pursuant to s.4 of the Statutory Powers Procedure Act. After the fifteenth day of testimony on 19 June 2000, the hearing was adjourned pending receipt of written submissions.

The proclamation of the Licence Appeal Tribunal Act (the "Act") part way through the proceedings transferred jurisdiction in this matter from the Child and Family Services Review Board to the new tribunal. The panel members became members of the Licence Appeal Tribunal pursuant to the new Act for purposes of the hearing.

The Director's Notice contains some 35 allegations of non-compliance with the DNA and Regulation, many of which contain sub-points.

The following witnesses were called by the Director:

Bonnie Corey	the Director
Karen Carrigan	Program Advisor
Mary Ballantyne	Program Advisor
Susan Stephen	former Program Advisor
Wayne Alldridge	co-op student
Janet Plens	teacher
Julie Jennison	parent
Karen Crabbe	former Academy employee
Kathleen Crabbe	former Academy employee
Kimberly Burns	former Academy supervisor
Freida Hone	former Academy supervisor
Sandra Edwards	parent

The following witnesses were called by the Appellant:

Danielle Panchyshyn	parent
Karen Gray	parent
Anita Wein	parent
Debbie Chedore	parent
Misty Buckley	parent
Julie Pryor	parent
Melanie Garcin	parent
Michael Clarkson	parent
Cameron Carnegie	parent
Zorina Ali-Swallow	parent
Debbie Blades	parent
Patricia LeBlanc	parent
John Persaud	employee at Academy
Tina Ellwanger	supervisor at Academy
Isha Persaud	Appellant

A total of 103 exhibits were entered by the parties. The panel ruled that information pertaining to Academy Preschool's licensing history prior to September 1995 would not be admitted. It was on 1 September 1995 that a new enforcement policy for the DNA became effective.

THE ISSUE:

The Tribunal is empowered to issue an order directing the Director to carry out her proposal, to refrain from carrying out her proposal and to take such action as it considers the Director ought to take in accordance with the DNA and the regulations, and for such purposes, the Tribunal may substitute its opinion for that of the Director. The issue before the Tribunal is to determine which of these courses of action to take.

PRELIMINARY ISSUES:

Suspension of hearing

As a preliminary issue, counsel for the Applicant moved that the hearing be suspended and that the Board order the Director to conduct another inspection. It was alleged, among other things, that reports to come before the panel arose from violations of the Applicant's fundamental rights and that there was malicious intent on the part of the Ministry personnel who conducted the inspections. Counsel was unable to identify legal authority for the action requested. After careful consideration, the panel concluded that it would assess the validity of the evidence as it was presented and give it weight as deemed appropriate. The motion was denied.

Standard of proof

It is Academy Preschool's submission (7) that there are two standards of proof pertinent to this hearing:

1. balance of probabilities for administrative and competency issues
2. beyond reasonable doubt for all personal allegations of moral turpitude.

The submission contains no citations of law to support this contention.

The Director's reply submissions refute the contention and provide ample legal precedent to support her position that the standard of proof in civil matters is a balance of probabilities. The Tribunal takes particular note of Sopinka and Lederman, The Law of Evidence in Canada, Toronto, pp. 156, 157. A balance of probabilities is the standard of proof that is applied by the Tribunal.

THE LAW:

Section 12 of the Child and Family Services Act (the "Act"), states as follows;

Section 12(1) Subject to section 13, a Director may refuse to issue a licence where in the Director's opinion,

- (a) the applicant or any employee of the applicant or, where the applicant is a corporation, its officers, directors or employees is or are not competent to establish, operate or maintain a day nursery or a private-home day care agency, as the case may be, in a responsible manner in accordance with this Act and the regulations;
- (b) the past conduct of the applicant or any employee of the applicant or, where the applicant is a corporation, of its officers, directors or employees, affords reasonable grounds for belief that the day nursery or the private-home day care agency, as the case may be, will not be established, operated or maintained in accordance with this Act and the regulations; or
- (c) the building or buildings or accommodation in which the applicant proposes to establish, operate or maintain the day nursery or provide private-home day care, as the case may be, does not comply with the requirements of this Act and the regulations.

Section 12(2) Subject to section 13, a Director may refuse to renew or may revoke a licence issued to a day nursery or a private-home day care agency, where in the Director's opinion,

- (a) the licensee or any employee of the licensee, or where the licensee is a corporation, any officer, director or employee thereof, has contravened or has knowingly permitted any person under the control or direction of or associated with the licensee, officer, director or employee, as the case may be, to contravene,
 - (i) any provisions of this Act or the regulations or of any other Act or the regulations thereunder applying to the establishment, operation or maintenance of the day nursery or the provision of private-home day care, as the case may be, or
 - (ii) any term or condition of the licence;
 - (b) the building or buildings or accommodation in which the day nursery is established, operated or maintained or the private-home day care is provided, does not comply with the requirements of this Act and the regulations;
 - (c) the day nursery is established, operated or maintained or the private-home day care is provided in a manner that is prejudicial to the health, safety or welfare of the children cared for in the day nursery or in the place or places where private-home day care is provided;
 - (d) any person has made a false statement in the application for the licence or renewal thereof, or in any report, document or other information required to be furnished by this Act or the regulations or by any other Act or regulation that applies to the day nursery or private-home day care agency, as the case may be; or
 - (e) a change in the officers or directors of the applicant would, if the applicant were applying for the licence in the first instance, afford grounds for refusing to issue a licence under clause 1(b).
- R.S.O. 1990, c.D.2,s. 12.

Section 13 of the Child and Family Services Act (the "Act"), states as follows;

Section 13(1) Where a Director proposes under section 12 to refuse to issue a licence or to refuse to renew or to revoke a licence issued under that section, the Director shall cause notice to be served of the Director's proposal together with written reasons therefor, on the applicant or the licensee, as the case may be.

Section 13(2) A notice under subsection (1) shall inform the applicant or licensee, as the case may be, that the applicant or licensee is entitled to a hearing by the Tribunal if the applicant or licensee mails or delivers, within fifteen days, after the notice is served on the applicant or licensee, notice in writing to the Director and the Tribunal, requiring a hearing and the applicant or licensee, as the case may be, may so require such a hearing.

Section 13(3) Where an applicant or licensee does not require a hearing by the Tribunal in accordance with subsection (2), the Director may carry out the proposal stated in the Director's notice under the subsection (1) without a hearing.

Section 13(4) Where an applicant or licensee requires a hearing by the Tribunal in accordance with subsection (2), the Tribunal shall appoint a time for and hold the hearing and, at the hearing, may by order direct the Director to carry out the Director's proposal or refrain from carrying out the Director's proposal and to take such action as the Tribunal considers the Director ought to take in accordance with this Act and the regulations, and for such purposes, the Tribunal may substitute its opinion for that of the Director.

Section 13(5) Sections 199, 201 and 202 of Part IX of the Child and Family Services Act apply with necessary modifications to proceedings before the Tribunal, to the powers of the Tribunal under this Act and to appeals therefrom.

Section 13(6) Where, within the time prescribed therefor or, if no time is prescribed, before expiration of a licence, a licensee has applied for renewal of a licence and paid the prescribed fee, the licence shall be deemed to continue,

(a) until the renewal is granted; or

(b) where the licensee is served with notice that the Director proposes to refuse to grant the renewal, until the time for requiring a hearing has expired and, where a hearing is required, until the Tribunal has made its decision. R.S.O. 1990, c. D.2, s. 13.

THE EVIDENCE:

Documentary evidence and credible testimony give an account of events that led up to the Director's decision not to renew the licence.

History

Mrs. Persaud (commonly known as and called Ruby) has been in the daycare field for some thirty years. She is the owner-operator of Academy Preschool located at 3049 Guelph Line, Burlington, Ontario. Despite her long experience, she has never obtained Early Childhood Education (ECE) certification.

1995

On 1 September 1995 the new enforcement policy had a significant impact on daycare operators: it placed the onus for compliance with the DNA and regulations on the operators. It also shortened the amount of time allowed to remedy any non-compliances that had been identified. The Ministry of Community and Social Services (the "Ministry") provided training opportunities for operators and provided them with printed material, including samples of the new licensing checklist, the summary forms, descriptions of how they would be used, and samples of how they would be filled in.

On 4 June 1996 Susan Stephen conducted a licensing inspection of Academy Preschool. The Day Nursery Licensing Checklist arising from that inspection (Exhibit 53.2) identifies eleven instances of non-compliance. Ms. Stephen made a follow-up visit on 24 June 1996 and found that all areas previously identified as non-compliances had been brought into compliance. The licence was renewed on that date.

On 27 September 1996 Ms. Hone, then supervisor at Academy, complained to the Ministry about the licence not being posted and ratios not being met. Ms. Stephen visited the centre on 1 October to investigate and found two instances of non-compliance (Exhibit 54.3). On a follow-up visit on 8 October, Ms. Stephen found that the specific issues identified had been dealt with appropriately, but found four more instances of non-compliance (Exhibit 55).

On 11 December 1996, the Ministry received a complaint from a mother who claimed to have witnessed Mrs. Persaud screaming at the children and that the centre was understaffed. The mother claimed that her 4 year old child says that Ruby is always screaming (Exhibit 56.1). Ms. Stephen again visited the centre on 17 December and did not see evidence of the issues mentioned in the complaint. She did, however, notice a number of other non-compliances and left instructions for thirteen actions to be taken. On a follow-up visit on 23 December, the appropriate actions had been taken.

On 21 February 1997, Ms. Stephen received a complaint from a mother that a ceiling tile fell in the toddlers' room during rest time (Exhibit 57). She and Mary Ballantyne visited the centre on 25 February and saw that the ceiling had been repaired. When they arrived, however, they saw 17 children in the playground but no staff were visible. After two or three minutes staff appeared and said they had been taking equipment from the shed.

Ms. Stephen's next visits were made on 3 and 4 June 1997 to investigate a number of complaints that had been received from staff and from parents with children at the centre (Exhibit 58), and to conduct a licensing inspection. The complaints covered a variety of issues including, among other things, inappropriate treatment of staff and children, failure to maintain ratios, mouse droppings on cots, and overcrowding of sleep rooms. The Checklist resulting from that inspection (Exhibit 59.2) identifies 28 areas of non-compliance. Ms. Stephen testified that typically a licensing file would contain a checklist and one or two summary forms [identifying non-compliances]. In this case there were twelve pages of summary forms (Exhibit 59.1), the most Ms. Stephen could recall ever having used for an inspection.

On 8 June 1997, a meeting was held with Ms. Stephen, her supervisor, Mrs. Persaud, and Karen Chan from the Regional Municipality of Halton. Following this meeting a licence was issued expiring on 30 November 1997 with a number of conditions attached (Exhibit 9). A letter accompanying the licence indicated that the Ministry would be monitoring the centre for compliance during the term of the licence.

In early June 1997, the Ministry received a number of complaints about the centre including, among other things, Mrs. Persaud yelling, force feeding of children, transportation problems, and rodents being present (Exhibit 60). Ms. Stephen visited the centre on 10 June to follow up the complaints. Instructions were given the operator to amend the policy/program statement and to develop a contract for parents requiring transportation (Exhibit 61). She made a subsequent visit on 19 June and left instructions for revision of the playground plan. A further visit on 27 June resulted in instructions to make changes in the centre's policy manual.

Ms. Stephen made monitoring visits to the centre on 12 August, 2 September, 22 September, 4 November and 3 December 1997. On the first of these visits there were seven items that required action by the operator (Exhibit 62). On the second visit there were five (Exhibit 63), on the third there was one (Exhibit 64), on the fourth there was none, and on the final visit there was one (Exhibit 65). Ms. Stephen attributes the improved performance to the efforts of a new supervisor at the centre, Ms. Kim Burns.

On 6 January 1998, Ms. Stephen made a licensing inspection of Academy Preschool. The Summary sheets from that inspection show six areas on non-compliance, of which several related to record keeping (Exhibit 66). All these items had been brought into compliance by the 20 January follow-up visit. The licence issued after the inspection contains a number of conditions, including one that reads: "operator shall ensure that kitchen is inaccessible to children at all times." (Exhibit 8) Ms. Stephen had in 1997 seen a child in the kitchen when there were hazardous products stored under the sink and there was no lock on the cupboard. Ms. Stephen can recall no occasion when she needed to visit the centre during the remainder of 1998.

Ms. Stephen made a licensing inspection of Academy Preschool on 14 January 1999. The Checklist resulting from this visit records fourteen instances of non-compliance (Exhibit 5). Her follow-up visit on 2 February found all items to have been brought into compliance. That was the last visit Ms. Stephen made to the centre, as she left Ministry employ later that month.

Karen Calligan was assigned to be the program advisor for Academy Preschool. Her first contact with the centre was in connection with a Serious Occurrence Report sent to the Ministry by Mrs. Persaud dated 24 March 1999 (Exhibit 25). A child had been found unconscious in the playground. Staff called 911 and paramedics tended the child and pronounced her fine. Mrs. Persaud nevertheless had insisted that the child be taken to the hospital and the parents informed. Ms. Calligan and a colleague visited the centre on 9 April and were satisfied that appropriate action had been taken.

On 7 December 1999, the Ministry received a telephoned complaint from Karen Crabbe making a number of allegations against Mrs. Persaud and the way the centre was operated (Exhibit 27). The complaint was given to Ms. Calligan, who phoned the complainant on 8 December. She spoke to Kathleen Crabbe, Karen's sister. Both sisters were on staff of Academy Preschool. In a phone conversation on the evening of 8 December, Kathleen told Ms. Calligan that the two sisters and a third teacher, Laurie Laking, had resigned that day. Kathleen had also phoned in a complaint containing many allegations (Exhibit 28).

On December 8 another complaint was received, this time from a parent of a child enrolled in the centre (Exhibit 29). This complaint alleged, among other things, inappropriate treatment of children who cannot sleep, unprofessional attitude of the owner towards staff, and sarcastic treatment of a child.

Ms. Calligan visited the centre on the morning of 9 December. She was unsure whether to make it a licensing visit as well as one dealing with complaints. She called her supervisor from the centre and was told to make it a complaint investigation and to do the licensing at some later date. She then relayed this information to Mrs. Persaud. Because Mrs. Persaud was involved in program activities with the children, there was no opportunity for a substantial discussion with her until the afternoon.

From the notes she made as she went along (Exhibit 30), Ms. Calligan prepared a five-page Summary (Exhibit 18) in which she recorded twelve actions that were to be taken, setting 21 December as the date for completion. She reviewed the Summary with Mrs. Persaud, who undertook to see that all was done. Ms. Calligan testified that "I found Mrs. Persaud to be extremely cooperative on December 9th. . . . in terms of her cooperation with me it was absolutely fine." She left a copy of the Summary with Mrs. Persaud, who had signed each page.

Ms. Calligan also testified that while she was at the centre that day, Wayne, a co-op student, approached her and said that he wanted a change of placement because he was concerned about what was happening there. He also told her that she had seen Mrs. Persaud ". . . force a child, trying to put a toy into the child's mouth." This was said in Ruby's presence.

As a follow up to the visit, Ms. Calligan called the Children's Aid Society (CAS) to report that a complaint had been made about the treatment of children and to the Health Department in connection with the complaints about cat feces and rodents.

The following day, 10 December, Mrs. Persaud called Ms. Calligan for advice about what to tell parents concerning the three resignations.

Ms. Calligan was made aware of another complaint, this one received on 9 December from Laurie Laking (Exhibit 31). Ms. Calligan treated it as having been covered by the 9 December visit, since it contained no new allegations.

Other complaints about Academy Preschool arrived at the Ministry. A handwritten note (Exhibit 32) is a follow-up to exhibit 29. Exhibit 33 is a handwritten, six-page letter faxed on 10 December from the three teachers who quit making 33 specific allegations. In a follow-up phone conversation with Kathleen Crabbe it was alleged that the centre had "received calls from concerned citizens who had seen the Academy Preschool car driving down the street with children standing in the back seat who were clearly not buckled into place.” Ms. Crabbe also said that a twelve year old had told her that two children were dropped off on the other side of the street from the school, requiring them to cross the road on their own.

A Health Department report dated 10 December (Exhibit 34) mentions the bathroom floor, mouse droppings and holes around the exterior of the building that need attention. Exhibit 35 is a Serious Occurrence report sent to the Ministry by Ms. Persaud outlining a complaint by a parent. Exhibit 36 is a report dictated by Wayne Alldridge, a co-op student who had been placed at Academy Preschool, to Ms. Calligan on 14 December. It contains reports of seven incidents that Wayne had observed and some other comments and observations. Exhibit 37 is a Serious Occurrence report date 15 December indicating a parent’s concern about information given to parents regarding the staff quitting. Ms. Calligan followed up these issues on her next visit to the centre on 17 December.

On 17 December 1999, Ms. Calligan and Mary Ballantyne, another program advisor, visited Academy Preschool to conduct a licensing inspection.

Ms. Calligan testified that when she asked John Persaud, who was about to drive some children to school, for his list of children and destinations, Mr. Persaud became angry. Her testimony is as follows: “. . . at that point he screamed at me in front of the children in a very fierce sounding voice, ‘I know where they going. Do you think because I’m black I’m stupid? I don’t need a list’ and then he said something about ‘you assholes keep coming around here’ and all of it was screamed in the presence of the children with a child sitting right beside him.” Mr. Persaud’s account of the incident is somewhat different, and he claimed that he did not scream but only spoke loudly enough to be heard.

At the end of the visit, the two Program advisors (Calligan and Ballantyne) reviewed some of their findings with Mrs. Persaud and Tina Ellwanger, the supervisor. Ms. Ballantyne had to leave half way through that discussion. Ms. Calligan testified that neither Mrs. Persaud nor Ms. Ellwanger indicated that they thought that any of the areas of non-compliance that were discussed were in their view unfair or unreasonable. Ms. Calligan told them that she would be returning in the coming days to go through the checklist in full. The findings of the program advisors were consolidated the next working day, Monday, 20 December, into ten pages of Summary (Exhibit 19) and the Checklist (Exhibit 20).

The two exhibits mentioned immediately above show that there were a total of 48 sections of the DNA where non-compliances were cited and 64 indicators of those 48 sections. Indicators are observable non-compliances noted during the inspection. Ms. Calligan testified that in an average inspection there could be two or three sections where non-compliances are observed, “. . . perhaps something around documentation where they were missing a health card on a child or an incomplete address on a doctor’s address.”

Ms. Calligan testified that she and Ms. Ballantyne met with their supervisor, Bonnie Corey, because of their concern about the number of non-compliances and “. . . what I observed to be blatant irresponsibility and disregard for the requirements under the legislation and disregard for safety practices and disregard for following their own policies and procedures.” Consideration was given to what action they should take, and consultation was held with legal services. No decision was made at this time as to what action would be taken.

On 20 December, the two program advisors met with someone from the CAS to share information and tell each other what action they were contemplating. They told the CAS representative that they were taking the situation very seriously but no decision had been taken. That same day, Ms. Calligan placed calls to the Health Department to report allegations about mouse droppings, cat feces and hazardous products under the sink in the kitchen, and to the Fire Department with concerns about storage in the furnace room and the hot heaters in the toddlers’ room.

21 December

On 21 December, Ms. Calligan and Ms. Ballantyne returned to Academy Preschool to have a full discussion of the results of the licensing inspection. While there, Ms. Calligan noted four further non-compliances (Exhibit 21).

Mrs. Persaud refused to meet with the program advisors and told Ms. Ellwanger to deal with them. The program advisors reviewed the Checklist with the supervisor. When told that the Ministry was in the process of deciding whether to propose not to renew the licence or to issue a stop order, Ms. Ellwanger said that this should be told to Mrs. Persaud personally. Mrs. Persaud agreed to meet with the two and when told of the choices being considered, according to the site visit notes (Exhibit 45): “Ruby said that the Ministry would be up against a good fight from her. She said that she has never had problems before and has operated for 30 years. Staff complain when they are not happy with her and are trying to get back at her.”

Subsequent events

On 23 December, the Ministry received faxes from Academy Preschool (Exhibit 76). One indicated that the behaviour management policy had been reviewed with two staff, a matter that had previously been noted as a non-compliance. The second is a Serious Occurrence report concerning a child who had allegedly been dropped off at school by Mr. Persaud, left unattended, and had been unable to gain entrance to the school. This report indicates that the CAS was satisfied that the child was not left unattended. The lack of a report to the Ministry about this incident, which happened on 6 October, had been noted as a non-compliance. Compliance date for the matters dealt with in these faxes had been 21 December.

During the week before Christmas, according to the testimony of Ms. Corey, the decision was taken to refuse to renew the Academy Preschool licence.

A document headed “Log Entries Policies & Procedures” (Exhibit 77) was faxed to the Ministry from Academy Preschool on 29 December. It had been required from the 9 December visit and was due by 21 December.

On 29 December, Ms. Calligan and another program advisor delivered the notice of intent to the centre and gave it to Mrs. Persaud, and told her what it was and that she had the right to appeal. Mrs. Persaud said thank you and the two advisors left. That same day Ms. Calligan called the Fire and Health Departments to inform them of the action the Ministry was taking. In addition, Ms. Corey sent a letter to the parents of children enrolled in Academy Preschool telling them of her decision to refuse to renew the licence, that an appeal could be made, and that inquiries should be directed to Mary Ballantyne (Exhibit 14).

On 30 December, three letters from parents complaining of the program advisors' manner on 17 December (Exhibits 15, 16 & 17) were faxed to the Ministry from the centre, along with other material (Exhibit 23). Ms. Corey discussed these matters with the advisors, but after receiving legal advice, did not respond to the authors. Ms. Corey was satisfied that Ministry staff had followed appropriate procedures and policies in carrying out their inspections.

Academy Preschool held a meeting on 6 January to which parents were invited to discuss the Notice and the allegations it contains. Later in the month, the Ministry received letters from parents in support of Academy Preschool (Exhibits 83, 84, 85 & 86).

Parents who called Ms. Ballantyne as suggested in Ms. Corey's letter were told that there was no immediate threat to the health, safety and welfare of the children at the center and that there was no issue of abuse.

CREDIBILITY OF WITNESSES AND WEIGHT OF EVIDENCE:

The Tribunal found the great majority of the testimony it received to be credible. The Ministry officials testified as fully as memory allowed, and freely admitted when recollection was unclear. The former supervisors at Academy, Ms. Burns and Ms. Hone, were similarly forthright in their evidence. Because of evidence of animosity on the part of the Crabbe sisters towards Mrs. Persaud, particular attention was given to the plausibility of their testimony. Much of their testimony was corroborated by Wayne Alldridge, a seventeen-year-old highschool student at the relevant time. Wayne gave the Tribunal no reason to doubt that he was being as truthful as he could. Ms. Plens, Wayne's teacher, had no axe to grind in this matter and no reason to shade her evidence. With one exception, the parents who testified were credible as far as their testimony went. The exception dealt with an incident that other testimony covered in more satisfactory ways. Ms. Ellwanger, although feeling caught in the middle, provided the evidence asked of her.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Persaud were difficult for counsel to pin down in certain areas, and their testimony has been assessed in light of the consequences to them of the outcome of the hearing. Mr. Persaud appeared at times evasive, and Mrs. Persaud seemed almost offhand and dismissive of the proceedings. Where their testimony is in conflict with that of Ministry officials, the latter has usually been preferred.

While the Tribunal fully believes the parents who testified to their satisfaction with the service provided by Academy Preschool, it cannot place much weight on their ability to assess whether the centre is in compliance with the DNA and Regulation, or on how important they think certain requirements are.

THE ALLEGATIONS:

The Notice of Intention (Exhibit 2) cites a number of allegations of non-compliances with the DNA and Regulation. An examination of these issues follows. The Notice states:

A. It is alleged that contrary to s. 12(2)(a)(i) you have contravened or have knowingly permitted persons under your control or direction or associated with you to contravene the provisions of the Day Nurseries Act and the Regulation thereunder applying to the establishment, operation and maintenance of the day nursery in that:

1. You failed to comply with directions from the Medical Officer of Health contrary to ss. 4(1)(b), 25(2) and 31 of the Regulation to the Day Nursery Act including but not limited to:

(a) On December 17, 1999, there were no daily recordings of fridge temperatures as stipulated by the Ministry of Health's inspection report.

Exhibit 92, dated 5 January 2000 indicates that the taking of these temperatures is good practice but not mandatory. Ms. Calligan testified that recording fridge temperatures is "pretty standard" and that most operators do it. Thus, while it is not strictly a non-compliance, it is an indication that Mrs. Persaud has not taken all possible steps to ensure the health and safety of the children in her care.

2. You failed to properly store hazardous products so that they are not accessible to children contrary to s.5(3) of the Regulation . . .

(a) On December 17, 1999, spray disinfectant and other cleaning supplies were stored in an unlocked cupboard underneath the kitchen sink. The kitchen had no door or gate to restrict entrance by children.

The issue of children's access to the kitchen and the products kept there had been raised in previous inspections and was a condition on the licences issued in 1997, 1998 and 1999 (Exhibits 7, 8 & 9). Mrs. Persaud had a Stop sign posted and a tape placed at the entrance to the kitchen to tell children that the kitchen was out of bounds. This, however, did not prevent children from gaining access to it, as the testimony of Wayne Alldridge indicates.

Hazardous products were removed from the unlocked cupboard under the kitchen sink during the inspection on 17 December 1999. They were found there once again on 21 December although no physical barrier had been installed. The Tribunal finds that this is a clear non-compliance, showing a disregard for the regulations, the advice of program advisors, and the safety of children.

3. You failed to provide a staff rest area contrary to s.5(4) of the Regulation . . .

(a) On December 17, 1999, the previous staff area was being used as a children's quiet room.

Kim Burns testified that when she arrived at Academy Preschool the staff room was unusable because it was filled with boxes. After it was cleaned up it was later used as a children's quiet room. This remained the practice at the time of the 17 December inspection. Mrs. Persaud testified that it is used as a quiet room. Ms. Stephen's 14

January 1999 inspection report recommended placing adult furniture in this room so that it not lose its function as a staff rest area. The 17 December inspection required that adult furniture be placed in the room. Without adult furniture, the room cannot be reasonably designated as a staff rest area as called for in the Regulation. Ms. Ellwanger testified that there was an adult chair in the room. The Tribunal finds that this allegation of non-compliance has not been clearly demonstrated.

4. You failed to maintain a temperature for the nursery at 20 degrees Celsius contrary to s.12 of the Regulation. . .

(a) On December 17, 1999, the back room of the nursery registered 65 degrees Fahrenheit.

There is testimony from Ms. Calligan, Ms. Ballentyne and Ms. Stephen that during inspections in 1997 and 1999 the temperature was below what is required even though the heaters were on and hot enough to be dangerous to touch. The Tribunal finds that this is a non-compliance.

5. You failed to ensure proper bedding was provided to each child during rest periods contrary to s.15.3 of the Regulation . . .

(a) On December 17, 1999, sheets did not fit children's cots resulting in children sleeping on vinyl.

There is ample testimony to support this allegation. Mrs. Persaud testified that if the advisor's observation was correct it was the staff's fault for not putting the sheets on properly. The Tribunal finds that this is a non-compliance

6. You failed to provide suitable cots for children eighteen months or older contrary to ss.15.5, 15.6 of the Regulation . . .

(a) On December 17, 1999, cots for toddlers were torn and warped.

Mrs. Persaud testified that this allegation was untrue, but she bought new cots anyway. That action is inconsistent with a belief that the allegation is unfounded. The Tribunal finds that this is a non-compliance.

7. You failed to ensure that equipment and furnishings used in the day nursery were maintained in a safe and clean condition and kept in a good state of repair contrary to s.16 of the Regulation . . .

(a) On December 17, 1999:

- (i) cover over baseboard heaters extremely hot to touch with a child on cot sleeping directly beside hot heater;
- (ii) blue disinfectant bottle not labelled;
- (iii) toddler car seat not tethered to car as per safety standard;
- (iv) at 9:20 am, driver for the day nursery arrived at nursery with a child not in a car seat (toddler age child);
- (v) ladder propped up against wall in cloak room;
- (vi) no lock on door leading to storage room near stairs which could result in children being trapped inside storage room;

- (vii) furnace room used for storage with materials too close for safety standards to furnace;
 - (viii) cold air returns covered in dust;
 - (ix) cobwebs on ceilings;
 - (x) hole in ceiling in quiet room;
 - (xi) window sill dusty and broken in back room;
 - (xii) yellow paint on small table peeling;
 - (xiii) light switch in back room broken and hazardous;
 - (xiv) playground swings not complying with safety standards with minimal clearances.
- (b) On December 17 and December 21, 1999:
- (i) the heater in back room extremely hot to touch;
 - (ii) three children's chairs backed against room heaters also hot to touch;
 - (iii) cleaners and hazardous products under sink and accessible to children.
- (c) A broken highchair is used to feed children.

The hot baseboard heaters had been brought to Mrs. Persaud's attention prior to the 17 December inspection. Although in her testimony Mrs. Persaud said that the fireman explained that they were hot enough to burn bare skin, she still thought the allegation is unfair. The wire covers over the heaters were installed pursuant to Ms. Stephen's requirement: "Ensure heating units are inaccessible to children. Investigate options for 'covering' units. Gain approval of fire dept." in January 1999. Grills were placed over the heaters with Fire Department approval. Although an electrician said the heaters were CSA approved (Exhibit 46), he recommended getting rid of the wire covers. Whether or not the covers were installed at the instigation of the Ministry, the fact remains that the heaters continued to present a safety risk because of their extreme heat. The operator had an obligation to overcome this danger to children. The Tribunal finds this to be an ongoing and a dangerous non-compliance.

Mrs. Persaud agreed that allegations (a)(v)(vii)(viii)(ix)(x)(xi)(xii)(xiii) were true. She was not aware, but did not deny that allegations (a)(ii) and (b)(ii) were true. There was uncontradicted testimony from Ms. Calligan, Ms. Ballantyne, Ms. Ellwanger and Ms. Stephen that disinfectant bottles were not labeled. This matter had been brought to Mrs. Persaud's attention in January 1999, but had not been corrected by December. The Tribunal finds this to be non-compliances.

Whether or not the clearances of the swings in the playground present a danger could easily be determined if the operator followed the requirement to have a CSA inspection. The onus is surely on the operator to ensure that all equipment is safe, regardless of the legal status of CSA standards.

Although Mrs. Persaud denied that most of the other allegations under this head were true, there was credible evidence to support them and, on the balance of probabilities, they are found by the Tribunal to be non-compliances.

8. You failed to ensure that the outdoor play space for toddlers be approved by the Director as a licensed space contrary to s.21(1) of the Regulation . . .

No licence for the toddler playground was found in Ministry or Academy Preschool files. Staff had been concerned that the playground was not licensed and stopped using it, according to the testimony of Ms. Burns and Kathleen Crabbe. Nevertheless, on 17 December Ms. Calligan saw toddlers using this space. Ms. Stephen did not note a non-compliance in this respect in January 1999. Nevertheless, the December 1999 inspection could find no evidence at all of the area ever having been licensed. On the balance of probabilities the Tribunal finds that this space was not licensed and that its use is a non-compliance.

9. You failed to ensure the necessary medical and emergency information for each child at the day nursery was readily accessible to staff members contrary to s.29 of the Regulation . . .

There is credible evidence that certain information was missing from several cards, including doctor's address, home telephone numbers, and OHIP numbers. Ms. Ballantyne noticed that two epi-pens were left in the kitchen when they should have been with the children or supervising staff in the playground. The Tribunal finds this is a non-compliance.

10. You failed to ensure that a daily written record is maintained that includes a summary of any incident affecting the health, safety or well-being of the staff or any child enrolled in a day nursery contrary to s.30 of the Regulation . . .

- (a) The nursery's driver dropped a child off at school and the child was forced to wait some 15 minutes because the school doors were locked resulting in the parent of the child contacting CAS to complain, no notation of this incident appeared in the daily log.

Ms. Calligan testified that she saw a notation of this incident in the more detailed log in the office and made a note of it in her Summary (Exhibit 18). Although she said that the notations were sketchy, the Tribunal finds that this allegation of non-compliance has not been established.

11. You failed to ensure recommendations or instructions of a medical officer of health with respect to any matter that may affect the health or well-being of a child enrolled at the day nursery were carried out contrary to s.31 of the Regulation . . .

- (a) On December 17, 1999, children did not wash their hands before snack.

There is no evidence that washing hands before a snack is a recommendation or instruction from a medical officer of health. A Health Department inspection on 10 December 1999 found mouse droppings in a storage cabinet. The report of that inspection said that the area should be cleaned and sanitized and that measures should be taken to cork these openings and get rid of harborage areas where mice can hide. There is no evidence that these steps were not taken. The Tribunal finds that this allegation of non-compliance has not been established.

12. You failed to ensure that the policies and procedures with respect to sanitary practices and procedures were followed in the day nursery contrary to s.32 of the Regulation . . .

(a) Sheets returned to cots soiled and smelling of a foul odor.

(b) Face cloths washed with diaper change cloths.

Although Mrs. Persaud denied these allegations were true, the Crabbe sisters testified that they had witnessed them. It is in the operator's interest to deny the allegation. It seems unlikely that the sisters would fabricate such distasteful evidence. On the balance of probabilities, the Tribunal finds that this has been established as a non-compliance.

13. You failed to ensure that before a child is admitted to a day nursery operated by the operator the child is immunized as recommended by the local medical officer of health contrary to s.33 of the Regulation . . .

(a) Grandchild of operator attends nursery without following proper procedures for enrollment and attendance at nursery.

Mrs. Persaud denied that her unimmunized granddaughter was ever admitted to the nursery. She said "If they bring her down on their lunch or break that's their choice but she was never part of the children, the child/teacher ratio or in the day care." There is credible evidence, from a former staff, the co-op student, and a parent, that the child was frequently present in the nursery. Ms. Ballantyne saw her there on 21 December.

The Concise Oxford Dictionary defines "admit" to mean "Allow (person, etc.) entrance or access to (place, class, privileges, etc.)." Clearly, the child has been admitted to the nursery even though she could not be enrolled. The Tribunal finds that this is a non-compliance.

14. You failed to ensure that a child separated from other children because of an illness had his/her parent contacted to take the child home and where that was not possible for the parent and where it appeared the child required immediate medical attention that the child be examined by a legally qualified medical practitioner or a registered nurse contrary to s.34(3) of the Regulation . . .

(a) A child, who as a result of a fall, bruised his face and caused a nose bleed did not have his parent called or a legally qualified medical practitioner, on the advice of the operator.

The Director's submissions give a definition of "illness" that does not comprehend the injury cited in the allegation. The Tribunal finds that this allegation is not established.

15. You failed to have appropriate written policies and procedures with respect to serious occurrences at the nursery contrary to s.35(a) of the Regulation . . .

(a) On December 9, 1999, no definition of serious injury or the procedures to handle such an occurrence were in the nursery's policies.

Exhibit 90 contains the nursery's policy concerning serious occurrences. It was not available to advisors on December 9 or 17, and there is no evidence that the Ministry was made aware of it prior to the hearing. The policy, which was reportedly developed with the assistance of Ms. Stephen, was found to be unacceptable by Ms. Calligan. It certainly does not cover the range of events itemized in the Ministry Serious Occurrence Reporting Procedures (Exhibit 101). By specifically excluding any injury that does not require a second medical attention, the nursery's policy defies common sense. The Tribunal finds that this allegation has been established as a non-compliance.

16. You failed to notify a program adviser of a serious occurrence contrary to s.35(b) of the Regulation . . .

(a) A child was left at Bruce T. Lindley school by the nursery's driver. The child could not get back into the school and waited outside alone for 15 minutes. School staff found the child crying outside. The parent of the child called CAS but this incident was not reported to the Ministry or its staff.

(b) A child's ankle cut by a knife became infected. The injury allegedly occurred by the fault of a staff member yet was not reported to the Ministry.

There is contradictory testimony about item (a), the incident at the school. It is impossible to determine with any confidence whether the child's plight was caused by any negligence on the part of the nursery driver. Since the CAS were contacted about it, it would seem reasonable that the operator should have notified the Ministry. In Mrs. Persaud's judgement, however, the incident was not serious enough to require such action.

Item (b) is much clearer cut. The Ministry Serious Occurrence Reporting Procedures specifically require reporting "Any injury to a client caused by the Service Provider." The Tribunal finds that the failure to report this injury is a non-compliance.

17. You failed to ensure that adequate policies and procedures were being followed in the administration of drugs and medications contrary to s.37(1)(a)(ii), (b)(ii), (d) and (e) of the Regulation . . .

(a) On April 26, 1999, medication noted on an Administration Form had not been signed to indicate it was given to the noted child.

(b) On December 17, 1999,

(i) four Administration of Medication forms were on file yet only one medication matched the forms

(ii) fourteen medications were in the medicine box with no Administration Forms

(iii) two medications in the box were not labelled with a child's name.

(c) On December 21, 1999, two medications in the medicine box were without current authorization signed by a parent.

(d) Notations to administer Tylenol to a child appear on the Administration Form one day but have not been signed by staff as administered.

- (e) A medication form indicates a start and end date for administering medicine to a child but is then followed up in the form with a notation to administer "as necessary."*

The consequences of giving medication improperly or giving it to the wrong child could be severe indeed. Mrs. Persaud admitted that five of these allegations were true, a number which the Tribunal finds sufficient to constitute a serious non-compliance.

- 18. You failed to ensure that where food or drink was supplied by a parent the containers were labelled with the appropriate child's name and was safely stored to prevent contamination contrary to s.39 of the Regulation . . .*

- (a) On December 17, 1999, four baby bottles were in the fridge but only one bottle was labelled with a child's name and one bottle of milk and one toddler cup of milk were stored for the morning in non-refrigerated cubbies.*

There is credible testimony from Ms. Calligan, Ms. Ballantyne, Ms. Stephen, and Sandra Edwards to support this allegation. Mrs. Persaud denied that the allegation was true, but then said that it was the fault of parents or staff if bottles were not labeled and the fault of the staff if bottles were not stored properly. Passing off blame to others does not absolve the operator of the responsibility to comply with the Regulation. The Tribunal finds that this is a non-compliance.

- 19. You failed to ensure that adequate nutrition was provided to the children contrary to ss.40(1), (2) of the Regulation . . .*

There was testimony from former staff saying that there was little variety in the food provided, with the same menu used every week. Ms. Ballantyne testified that lunch on the day of her inspection was cheese sandwiches that appeared burnt and hard for children to eat, along with potato chips, which are not recommended. The Crabbe sisters testified that there was lots of rice but often not enough vegetables. Mrs. Persaud makes milk by combining an unmeasured amount of skim milk powder with an unmeasured amount of water. There is also testimony from parents that their children's eating habits improved as a result of being at the nursery. A review of parent testimony failed to find any adverse comments on the food served at the centre. Neither party produced menus to assist the Tribunal in assessing this allegation, nor was the nursery cook called to testify. While the children's food may not always have been the best, there is insufficient evidence to conclude that this allegation has been proven.

- 20. You failed to ensure that accurate menus were posted in the day nursery contrary to s.41 of the Regulation . . .*

Although Mrs. Persaud denied this allegation, there is credible testimony that the posted menu was not always followed. This was observed by Ms. Ballantyne on 17 December 1999, and had been noted by Ms. Stephen in her 3 & 4 June 1997 inspection. The Tribunal finds that this is a non-compliance.

- 21. You permitted behaviour and action towards children contrary to s.45 of the Regulation . . .*

- (a) On numerous occasions, children are force fed.*

- (b) Children are forced to sleep for long periods (beyond two hours) and not given alternatives for nap time if they cannot sleep.*

- (c) Children yelled at if they do not sleep on appointed cots at nap time.*
- (d) The operator ridicules behaviour of children who cry or "act out" and demeans those children in front of other children.*
- (e) The operator forced a toddler to dress himself and left him in the bathroom alone and crying after he had soiled himself.*
- (f) Operator tried by force to detain a misbehaving child and refused to take action when that same child began beating another child.*
- (g) Operator tried to stick a toy in a child's mouth as punishment for using bad language.*

- (a) There is testimony that Mrs. Persaud doesn't allow children to leave the table until they have eaten. Ms. Stephen testified that a parent complained that Mrs. Persaud screamed at a child and forced her to eat carrots. Karen Crabbe testified: "If a child didn't want to eat or whatever and Ruby felt that they needed to eat or whatever and wouldn't allow them to leave the table or you know, tried to make them eat or whatever Kim would stand up to her and say you know this isn't allowed or you know you can't do this . . ." She also testified about a child who did not like oranges: "Ruby talked to his mother. The mother said the child does not like oranges and doesn't eat them at home. Well, they were having morning snack and she [Ruby] had given Scott an orange and the child didn't want to eat it, so Ruby wouldn't let him leave the table. So she left and went to circle time and did her circle and this child was still sitting at the table crying with his orange." Mrs. Persaud said that she did not force feed children but did insist that at least they try a mouthful or two. Ms. Stephen on 10 June 1997 had required that words in the centre's policy statement be altered to eliminate that part that would require children to take even small amounts of food that they do not want or cannot eat. It is clear that while force feeding may not be a regular practice at the centre, Mrs. Persaud does adopt inappropriate behaviour in regard to children eating. The Tribunal finds that this is a non-compliance.
- (b) The Regulation requires that children who attend the day nursery for six hours per day or more be provided a rest period of up to two hours, but that a child who is still awake or who awakens after one hour is allowed to get up and engage in quiet activities (Regulation 262, s.53(5)(a) & (c)). In 1996 Ms. Stephen found a non-compliance because Mrs. Persaud left children in a darkened room after one hour and would not permit them to engage in suitable alternative activities. The testimony of the Crabbe sisters and Wayne Alldridge indicated that the practice is continuing. Mrs. Jennison said that her daughter was required to nap for two hours although she was not a sleeper and was at the nursery for less than six hours each day. The Tribunal finds that this is a non-compliance.
- (c) Wayne Alldridge testified that he had many times seen Mrs. Persaud get angry with children when they got up from their cots during nap time. The Tribunal finds that this is a non-compliance.
- (d) There was testimony from Wayne Alldridge, the Crabbe sisters and Ms. Hone that Mrs. Persaud frequently yelled at children (Ms. Hone said that it was yelling, not just talking loudly). Ms. Hone testified that Mrs. Persaud told staff that some mothers looked like whores, made fun of people on subsidy, and called a little girl who dressed up in a dress an idiot. The Crabbe sisters testified that Mrs. Persaud told other children that a particular child was an animal and belonged in a cage. Mrs. Persaud denied this allegation, but the testimony supporting it is consistent and relates to different time periods. Ms. Hone was not at the centre when the other three were there and she had never met or spoken to them. The Tribunal finds that this is non-compliance.

- (e) The Crabbe sisters testified to this allegation. Mrs. Persaud denied it. Given the number of incidents in the Crabbes' testimony that are substantiated by other witnesses, it is unlikely that they would have manufactured this unusual event. On the balance of probabilities, this allegation is substantiated and the Tribunal finds that this is non-compliance.
- (f) The Crabbe sisters testified to this incident (herein the Christian incident). Tellingly, Wayne Alldridge testified: "Ruby had mentioned later on to my teacher; I only heard it second-hand from my teacher, that her excuse was that she was drained physically and could no longer restrain the child and that is why she let him go and just sat there and let him beat another child." Ms. Plens testified that Mrs. Persaud asked her to come see her and wanted to know what Wayne might have told her (Ms. Plens) about the incident. Although Mrs. Persaud denied the allegation, there is enough substantiating evidence to conclude that it did occur. The Tribunal finds that this is a non-compliance.
- (g) This incident was observed by Wayne Alldridge, who saw all of it, and by the Crabbe sisters, who saw parts of it. Wayne reported it to his teacher, Ms. Plens. Ruby asked Ms. Plens for a letter saying that she (Ms. Plens) knew nothing about it. Ms. Plens refused. Wayne testified that Mrs. Persaud tried to get him to write a letter setting out her version of the incident. He refused because it would force him to be untruthful. Ms. Plens had no reason to be other than truthful in her testimony. Mrs. Persaud would not have wanted letters concerning the incident if it did not happen and did not reflect badly on her behaviour. Given the amount of credible testimony supporting the allegation, the Tribunal finds this to be a non-compliance.

22. You failed to ensure that written policies and procedures with respect to discipline, punishment and isolation measures to be used in the day nursery are reviewed by employees and students contrary to ss. 46(3)(a), (b) of the Regulation . . .

(a) On December 17, 1999, the behaviour management policies and procedures were not signed by an employee and a student working at the day nursery.

Mrs. Persaud testified that this allegation is true. It is a non-compliance.

23. You failed to ensure that written policies and procedures as well as measures to deal with behaviour management were monitored and reviewed by yourself as well as your employees contrary to s.47.1(2)(b), 47.2 and 47.3(1), (3) of the Regulation . .

(a) On December 17, 1999, the driver for the nursery was approached by a Ministry Policy adviser and asked for a list of children and the respective schools required for accurate transporting. The driver became irate with this request and screamed at the Ministry employee (and in front of four children), "I know where they go, do you think because I'm black I'm stupid? You assholes keep coming around here because you think we are stupid because we're black."

Ms. Stephen testified that in 1997 Mrs. Persaud was directed and then reminded to put behaviour management policies in place, that in January 1999 there was no staff review of these policies, especially by John Persaud, and that the policies were not being followed. Mr. Persaud's version of the incident in 23(a) varies somewhat from that of Ms. Calligan, although he admitted to using foul language. He said that the children could not hear this. The incident upset Ms. Calligan and she made careful notes of it shortly after it happened. While she had no interest in fabricating her account, Mr. Persaud has reason to question it. On the balance of probabilities, the Tribunal finds that Ms. Calligan's version is true and that this allegation is substantiated as a non-compliance.

24. You failed to ensure that up to date records were available for inspection by a program adviser and were kept on the premises with respect to each child enrolled at the day nursery contrary to s.48 of the Regulation . . .

(a) On December 17, 1999:

- (i) one child's application form and health assessment were absent;*
- (ii) arrival and departure times for children were missing;*
- (iii) attendance records were not complete.*

(b) The operator removes children for outings without proper authorization from parents.

Mrs. Persaud admitted that allegation 24(a)(iii) was true. Incomplete medical records are dealt with under allegation 9. Although Mrs. Persaud denies (i) and (ii) there is no apparent reason why the advisors would make an incorrect observation. Nevertheless, by 21 December item 24(i) had been brought into compliance. With regard to 24(b), Mrs. Persaud testified that she gets a general authorization that is on the enrollment form, and Exhibit 100 appears to be the form in question. She said she posts signs about outings or telephones parents for permission. The references to testimony in the Director's submissions indicate that Mrs. Persaud does take children from the centre for various purposes, but they do not substantiate the allegation that children are taken from the centre without parental permission. The Tribunal finds that this allegation has not been substantiated.

25. You failed to ensure there is a written statement that outlines program philosophy and method of operation for specialized services contrary to s.52(2)(d)(vii) of the Regulation . . .

(a) transportation to and from school of nursery attendees has no clearly defined procedures and no accountability mechanisms for children in transition from driver to the school.

Mrs. Persaud admitted that this allegation is true, and the Tribunal finds this to be a non-compliance.

26. You failed to provide sufficient employees required for the care and guidance of the children enrolled in accordance with the ratios set out in column 2 of the schedule 3 or 4, contrary to s.55 of the Regulation . . .

(a) On December 17, 1999:

- (i) 18 children (between 21/2 and 5 years old) were in the upstairs room with only 2 staff members present;*

- (ii) supervisor inappropriately counted as program staff when supposed to be given time off program to carry-out supervisory duties.

Mrs. Persaud admitted that allegation 26(a)(ii) is true and that sometimes ratios were not met. In the Tribunal's view it would be unfair to fault the centre for not having appropriate staff so soon after three teachers, half the staff, had resigned without notice. Nevertheless, there is abundant testimony, from Ms. Stephen, the Crabbe sisters, Ms. Ballantyne, Ms. Hone, and Wayne Alldridge, that compliance with ratios is a recurrent problem for Academy Preschool. There was testimony from Ms. Calligan and Ms. Ballantyne that Mrs. Persaud's interpretation of ratio requirements is incorrect. Repeatedly not meeting ratios is a serious non-compliance, an allegation that the Tribunal finds is substantiated.

27. You failed to ensure that every child in attendance at the day nursery was supervised by an adult at all times contrary to s.57 of the Regulation . . .

(a) On December 17, 1999:

- (i) four children observed in cloak room with no supervision;*
- (ii) operator ignored children despite having responsibility for supervising children;*
- (iii) two junior children were in washroom with staff while other seven children remained in the back room unsupervised;*
- (iv) nine children left unsupervised in the play room [incorrectly called (iii)];*
- (v) staff on maternity leave without proper notice given to Ministry [incorrectly numbered (iv)].*

(b) On December 21, 1999, a child was left alone in the quiet room asleep while staff and other children were in the large room.

Although Mrs. Persaud denied all items in this allegation except (a)(v), which she admitted to be true, there is no reason to suspect that Ms. Calligan or Ms. Ballantyne made inaccurate observations or fabricated them. Mrs. Persaud did not deny the observations or provide an explanation when the program advisors reviewed the Summary Sheet with her or when she signed it. Ms. Ellwanger denied that 29(b) was a non-compliance because the door to the quiet room was open. Ms. Hone and Mrs. Edwards testified that teachers did cleaning during times when they were supposed to be supervising children. There is enough credible evidence to substantiate this allegation, and the Tribunal finds this to be a non-compliance.

28. You failed to employ the appropriate staff contrary to s.59 of the Regulation . . .

(a) On December 17, 1999, there were no qualified staff in the upstairs preschool room.

Mrs. Persaud said instance (a) of this allegation was true. Some allowance should be made for the fact that this observation was made nine days after three qualified staff had resigned without notice. Nevertheless, one would have hoped that the operator would have a list of people she could call on at short notice to fill in, even on a temporary basis, when needed. There are mitigating circumstances, but the Tribunal finds this is a non-compliance.

The Regulation requires a Director's approval for someone to be the supervisor of a day nursery. Mrs. Persaud had not sought such approval for Ms. Ellwanger. Her testimony was that only someone without the necessary qualifications (ECE qualification or equivalent and two years experience) need apply for approval. Yet Mrs. Persaud had gone through the same situation during the inspection of 3 & 4 June 1997 where she was required to get approval for a new supervisor (Exhibit 59). This appears to be a deliberate disregard for legal requirements and the Tribunal finds it to be a non-compliance.

29. You failed to ensure that each person employed at the day nursery had a health assessment and immunization contrary to s.62 of the Regulation . . .

Mrs. Persaud admitted that this allegation was true in respect of her son-in-law, who was employed at the centre. The Tribunal finds this to be a non-compliance.

B. It is alleged that contrary to the provisions of section 12(2)(e) of the Day Nurseries Act, the day nursery is operated and maintained in a manner prejudicial to the health, safety and welfare of the children cared for in the day nursery for the reasons already set out in the Notice and further it is alleged that:

1. The operator transports children in an unsafe manner (i.e. no seatbelts, inadequate insurance, and no authorization by parents).

Ms. Calligan testified that Mr. Persaud told her that he transports toddlers in an untethered car seat. This is contrary to CSA standards (Exhibit 79). The testimony about seat belts is sketchy and inconclusive. There is insufficient evidence to make a finding about insurance. Parental consent for outings is dealt with above.

2. Children left alone during pick-ups and drop-offs to and from nursery.

The incident about the child who could not get into the school is dealt with above. Mr. Persaud dropped two children off by the fence of a school and left. With two children there, they were not alone, although unsupervised. Ms. Hone's testimony related to events some years ago and does not indicate a recent problem. Several parents testified that they were satisfied with the transportation provided for their children. There is insufficient evidence to support this allegation.

3. Children are not picked up by nursery driver even when pre-arranged.

There is testimony from five witnesses giving instances where children were not picked up. Again, there was testimony from parents satisfied with the service. Better organization should have prevented the many miscues.

Consideration of these three transportation allegations does not lead the Tribunal to the conclusion that the transportation service provided by the centre seriously prejudices the health, safety and welfare of the children. It leads to the conclusion that a more rigorous and disciplined program to ensure efficiency should have been made.

4. Operator has heated disagreements with staff in front of parents and children.

There is testimony from four witnesses to substantiate this allegation. Mrs. Persaud denied it. On the balance of probabilities, the Tribunal finds that such incidents have occurred. While this may indicate unprofessional behaviour, unless it was very frequent it is unlikely to seriously jeopardize the well-being of children. The Tribunal does not find the evidence in this regard substantiates the allegation.

5. Operator has threatened staff if they disclose information (about the safety of children) regarding the nursery to authorities.

There is testimony from Karen Crabbe that Mrs. Persaud told staff whenever there was controversy she could fire them just as easily as she hired them. Ms. Hone testified that Mrs. Persaud would say to staff if challenged about her directions, policies or behaviour: "If you don't like it, there's the door." Wayne Alldridge testified that Mrs. Persaud said that she would fire him if he spoke to anyone about the Christian incident. Mrs. Persaud told him that he was young and stupid and to "stay out of it." Mrs. Persaud testified that the allegation was false, and Ms. Ellwanger testified that she had never heard threats to any staff.

The overall impression from the whole body of testimony is that Mrs. Persaud has a somewhat volatile personality and is quite capable of giving in to angry outbursts. On the balance of probabilities, therefore, the Tribunal finds that threats have been made to staff that would have constrained them from reporting matters that affect the health, safety and welfare of children at the centre.

6. Operator sleeps during periods she is supposed to be supervising the children.

There is credible testimony from Ms. Burns and the Crabbe sisters of Mrs. Persaud sleeping on the floor of the sleep room when she was supposed to be supervising the children there. Mrs. Persaud denied that the allegation was true, but there is no reason to doubt the explicit testimony of Ms. Burns, who had nothing to gain from falsifying her evidence. On the evidence, the Tribunal finds this allegation to be substantiated.

POINTS OF CONTENTION:

The written submissions of the parties raise certain points that merit consideration here.

Fairness of investigation of complaints

Academy contends that the Director did not act fairly in investigating the complaints received about the day nursery. Among other things it is contended that complaints were not discussed with the operator and the operator was not told of the purpose of the 9 December visit, that Ms. Calligan never asked to inspect daily logs, complaints concerning Ms. Calligan's conduct on 17 December were not investigated, and that the Director did not take into account the bias of the resigned staff who made complaints.

The evidence shows that Mrs. Persaud was told of the purpose of the 9 December visit, Ms. Calligan did ask for and saw the daily logs and made a note of it in her Summary, and Ms. Corey did question the program advisors about what happened on 17 December. It also shows that the Director took many things into account in making her decision, of which the complaints of the resigned staff were only a part. The Director and Ministry witnesses all testified that normal Ministry procedures were followed in the investigation of the complaints about the centre.

In respect to the timing of the 9 December visit, the Ministry would have been negligent if no visit were made when the centre was clearly in difficulty, three staff having just resigned. Ms. Calligan testified that she made every allowance for the circumstances in which Academy found itself that day. At the time Mrs. Persaud did not object to the visit and undertook to ensure that all Ms. Calligan's requirements would be fulfilled.

Even had there been unfairness in the Ministry's investigation, the Director's decision was not a final one, as the Director's submissions point out. The final decision is the Tribunal's, and the hearing offered an opportunity to have all complaints fully aired and examined.

Amount of time allowed for compliance

Academy argues that insufficient time was allowed—one business day—to comply with the issues resulting from the 17 December inspection.

The evidence shows that a number of non-compliances found on 21 December were ones that have been pointed out on 9 December, issues that Mrs. Persaud had convinced Ms. Calligan would be corrected. She had a copy of the Summary Sheet prepared during that visit and so was fully aware of the areas of non-compliance.

Mrs. Persaud knew that the licensing visit would be conducted shortly after the December 9th visit, and this gave her the advantage of being forewarned so she could ensure she was in compliance on December 17th when the inspection was conducted. Although no Summary Sheet was left on the day, non-compliances found were discussed with Mrs. Persaud and Ms. Ellwanger.

The allowance of ten days to comply is the maximum that may be given. The onus is on the operator to be in compliance at all times, and there is no evidence that the advisors acted improperly in setting compliance dates.

Date of Director's decision

Academy submits that the decision either to propose not to renew or to issue a stop order was made before 21 December, the date many issues were to be brought into compliance. It is submitted that this conduct of the Director was unfair, partial and inequitable and not in accordance with her duty to act fairly.

The evidence shows that, indeed, before 21 December the Director was considering which of these two possible courses of action she should take. She was discussing it with the two program advisors and was taking legal advice.

The decision is one that only the Director can take, and one that she testified she does not take lightly. It is clear from the evidence that she thought that whether or not compliance was achieved by 21 December, she had sufficient reason to close down the centre.

The responsibility of the Tribunal is to determine whether the Director acted within the requirements of the DNA. The Tribunal's responsibility is to assess the evidence before it and to determine what action it will order the Director to take.

Possible use of options to non-renewal

Academy contends that the Director did not consider such options as issuing a conditional licence or instituting monitoring for compliance.

A careful perusal of the testimony has found no evidence that Ms. Corey, who was familiar with the DNA and regulations, failed to consider the options available to her.

Characteristics of the allegations in the Notice

Academy contends that the allegations in the Notice are unduly repetitive, inaccurate, non-factual. The Tribunal's findings regarding the allegations are given above.

Motivation of personal animus

Academy contends that the Director was motivated by personal animus towards Mrs. Persaud. There is nothing in the evidence to support this contention. Ms. Corey testified that she had never met nor spoken to Mrs. Persaud. There is no basis for animus.

Testimony indicates that Ms. Calligan came away from the 9 December visit with a good feeling. Mrs. Persaud testified that she did not think Ms. Calligan was being over-zealous. Again, there was no basis for animus.

Costs

Academy asks to be awarded costs. Costs can only be awarded where a tribunal's rules make provision for such an award. The Tribunal's Rules make no such provision, so no costs can be awarded.

ANALYSIS:

The evidence shows an extended history of Academy failing to comply with the DNA and regulations. Compliance, once achieved after an inspection, is soon lost. Through monitoring, and the diligence of Ms. Burns as supervisor, compliance was achieved for some time, although conditions continued to be attached to the licences issued. Evidence shows that those conditions were not always complied with.

The Tribunal has found that the great majority of the allegations of non-compliance have been established to its satisfaction. Some of the instances of non-compliance noticed in the 17 December inspection are relatively minor, others have the possibility of seriously jeopardizing the health, safety and welfare of the children at the centre. The number of non-compliances is unprecedented in the program advisor's experience. A number are issues that have been noted in previous inspections.

With thirty years experience in the day care field, one would expect Mrs. Persaud to be familiar with all the relevant rules and regulations. Nonetheless she proposed interpretations of the serious occurrence requirements, ratio requirements, and the procedures for approving supervisors that are clearly wrong. Her attitude in answering questions about the allegations was sometimes dismissive and indicated less than high regard for the need for continuous compliance.

It may well be that no child at Academy has met with tragedy as a result of the care offered there. Nevertheless, the provisions of the DNA and regulations that are cited in the allegations all have the overriding purpose of ensuring the health, safety and welfare of children in day nurseries.

It is the Tribunal's finding that Mrs. Persaud has not in the past and would not in the future operate Academy Preschool in compliance with the DNA and regulations. Whether this is the result of inability or of deliberate disregard for the requirements is immaterial. Operators who are in habitual and serious non-compliance should not be permitted to continue to operate day nurseries.

The Tribunal concludes that the licence of Academy Preschool should not be renewed. The Tribunal is aware of the effect that this decision will have on the operator, staff and parents of children at the centre. Accordingly it calls for a period of one month after the date of decision to allow for alternative arrangements to be made.

DECISION:

Pursuant to the authority vested in it by section 13(4) of the Day Nurseries Act, the Tribunal orders the Director to carry out her proposal not to renew the licence of Academy Preschool, such proposal to be effective 30 days from the date of the release of this order.

DATE OF
HEARING: August 29, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

This is an appeal to the Commercial Registration Appeal Tribunal (which as of April 1, 2000 is known as the Licence Appeal Tribunal) by the Applicant Truus Vis-Veerman. The appeal is from a decision letter dated February 10, 2000 from the Ontario New Home Warranty Program ("the Program") denying her claim for warranty on her home.

At the outset of this hearing, the Program made a motion to have the appeal dismissed as the Program had not received the required notification within the time limit prescribed by the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act ("the Act"). For the purpose of the motion, the Program assumed, only for simplicity, that the longest notification period provided in the Act pertained, namely five years for major structural defects.

BACKGROUND:

At the end of July 1993, the Applicant took possession of a house she purchased for $59,000 from a numbered company. The house was designated as unit 137, 383 McNabb Street, in the town of Southampton. It was part of a 32 unit condominium. She was the second occupant as the house was originally rented to another person.

At the time she took possession of the house the Applicant had just separated from her husband and had numerous problems with her health and with custody proceedings over her 14 year old son. Her problems were compounded when, at the end of April 1994, the crawl space under her house flooded with 4 ft of water floating bits of furniture and boxes around in it.

THE FACTS:

The evidence presented consisted of documents entered as exhibits by consent of both parties. In addition, two witness gave evidence, the Applicant and a witness from the Program. The date of registration of the condominium's declaration was October 10, 1990. The date of the certificate of completion and possession was December 23, 1990.

The Applicant, who was unrepresented, had difficulty understanding the technical issue of the motion being argued. The applicable sections of the Act were read out to her step by step, but unfortunately this did not help.

The Applicant testified that at the end of April 1994, when she discovered the flooding, she was unaware of the warranty program. She only became so much later. At the time of the flooding, she complained to the builder without success, and that has since led to court proceedings between them.

The evidence is clear. The first notice of a problem in the Applicant's house came in a letter from a member of the Board of the Condominium Corporation received by the Program on February 14, 1996. This is more than five years both from the day of the condominium's registration and declaration (October 10, 1990) and from the start of the warranty and first occupancy of the unit (December 23, 1990). The Applicant herself had made no earlier contact and did not write to the Program with her complaint until October 15, 1997.

THE LAW:

The applicable sections of the Act are as follows;

Section 13(1) Every vendor of a home warrants to the owner,

.....

(b) that the home is free of major structural defects as defined by the regulations; and

(4) A warranty under subsection (1) applies only in respect of claims made thereunder within one year after the warranty takes effect, or such longer time under such conditions as are prescribed.

Section 14 (1) Where,

(c) the owner suffers damage because of a major structural defect as defined in the regulations for the purpose of section13, and the claim is made within four years after the warranty expires or such longer time under such conditions as are prescribed, the person or owner is entitled to be paid out of the guarantee fund the amount of such damage subject to such limits as are fixed by the regulations.

.....

Section 16. Where a home was enrolled after the 31st day of December, 1990, the claim for damages because of a major structural defect may be made within seven years of the date specified in the certificate of completion and possession.

DECISION:

The motion by the Program has to be granted. Notice of the complaint on the Applicant's house was not received within the maximum five-year limitation period then allowed for major structural defects. Both the Program and the Tribunal are therefore without jurisdiction to deal with the Applicant's complaint. This has been dealt with in previous Tribunal decisions, such as, Chewerda CRAT 1997. The time limits provided in the Act are absolute.

Accordingly, for these reasons and pursuant to the authority vested in it by section 16(3) of the Ontario New Home Warranty Plan Act, the Tribunal directs the Program to disallow the Applicants claim.

DATE OF HEARING: August 30, 2000 Whitby

DECISION AND REASONS

This is an appeal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal by the Applicant respecting a decision of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Respondent") pursuant to section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act (Ontario).

EXHIBITS:

By the Applicant:

a) Exhibit #1 Notice of Appeal – dated August 5, 2000

By the Respondent:

a) Exhibit #2 Ministry of Transportation submissions – tabs 1 – 9
- received August 17, 2000

PRELIMINARY MATTERS:

The Representative of the Ministry provided the Tribunal and Applicant with a file summary with respect to this matter.

FACTS:

The Applicant is appealing the suspension of driving privileges effective "99 08 16" as per Exhibit # 1.

In the Appeal Form the Applicant claims that:

"I have broken no laws, and I am a safe driver. I'd like to know why my licence was suspended on the word of one doctor who did nothing in treatment." (Exhibit # 1)

The Applicant came to the attention of the Ministry as a result of an unsolicited letter, dated "January 20, 1999". Physician # 1, a psychiatrist with the Oshawa Clinic, informs the Ministry that the Applicant "...has been abusing alcohol for the last couple of weeks and have serious concerns that his abuse of alcohol could be affecting his ability to drive a vehicle safely..." (Exhibit # 2 Tab 1)

Physician # 1 attached to his letter, a Medical Condition Report, dated "January 20, 99", stating that the Applicant "...who has been suffering panic disorders was abusing alcohol for the last two weeks. Pt is not on any medication ...concerns that his abuse of alcohol may make it dangerous to operate a motor vehicle." (Exhibit # 2 Tab 1 A)

MINISTRY OF TRANSPORTATION ASSESSMENT FORM- authorized for release by the Applicant on "Feb 08/99" was prepared by Physician # 2 on "15/Feb/98" (?). Physician # 2, who has been the Applicant's physician since 1984, reports as follows:

The sections on "Personal Health History" and "Medical Consequences Related to Alcohol Use" are blank.

"PHYSICAL ASSESSMENT AND LABORATORY EVALUATION" shows "Blood Pressure - ABNORMAL 150/100; LIVER - NEUROLOGICAL - MCV -GGT " are checked off under the column for "NORMAL"

Under TREATMENT, the physician notes that the Applicant attended the "...Detox 12 yrs ago; 3 weeks Pinewood Treatment Centre; relapse - uncontrollable panic attacks ...2 yrs member of A.A. But it didn't address root problem"

"ABSTINENCE" is the "RECOMMEND GOAL FOR ALCOHOL CONSUMPTION" (Exhibit # 2 Tab 2)

MINISTRY OF TRANSPORTATION ASSESSMENT FORM- prepared on "10/06/99", by Physician # 2 who has been the Applicant's physician since 1984, Physician # 2 reports as follows:

"YES" is checked under "Personal Health History" for "Psychiatric Disorders... Days absent from work within past two years "5 days"

Under "Medical Consequences Related to Alcohol Use," "YES" is checked off for "Blackouts" with an explanation "NOT IN LAST 10 YEARS"

"PHYSICAL ASSESSMENT AND LABORATORY EVALUATION" shows "Blood Pressure - NORMAL 130/80; LIVER - NORMAL; NEUROLOGICAL - NORMAL; GGT 29; MCV - 92"

Under TREATMENT, the physician notes that the Applicant attended the "Pinewood Treatment Centre - OSHAWA; 2 ½ yrs member of A.A.; Relapse to control panic cronic anxiety disorder; yes - belongs to discussion group"

"ABSTINENCE" is the "RECOMMENDED GOAL FOR ALCOHOL CONSUMPTION"; "12 years abstinence - 2 short set backs to control anxiety; currently on medication to do the same" (Exhibit # 2 Tab 4)

A MEDICAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE CASE STUDY, dated August 6, 1999, upheld suspension pending "detailed assessment from a physician specializing in addictions medicine which confirms successful completion of a treatment program, total abstinence from alcohol for a period of one year..." (Exhibit # 2 Tab 5)

An ADMINISTRATIVE REVIEW - MEDICAL SUSPENSIONS, dated "June 27 2000", completed by Review Officer Alana Best provides the following: "...recommendation and comments: ...recommend that the Applicant provide an up-to-date report from Physician # 2, family physician. Since the Applicant does not believe that he needs treatment or relapse prevention, he was further advised to ask Physician # 2 to provide his opinion with respect to these requirements in his report. The lab tests provided today did not include and MCV reading." (Exhibit # 2 Tab 7)

The ADMINISTRATIVE REVIEW - MEDICAL SUSPENSIONS details the Applicant's view of the situation as interpreted by Ms Best. (Exhibit # 2 Tab 7). The Applicant believes, as he has been told by Physician # 2, that he is suffering from an hereditary disorder. The Applicant's relapses were due to his anxiety returning, but he does not drink and drive. (Exhibit # 2 Tab 7)

Exhibit # 2 Tab 9, is a Ministry of Transportation driving Record for the Applicant since 1968, showing no offences. The Applicant is appealing the suspension of his driver's licence effective "99 12 10" as per Exhibit # 1.

The Respondent, at the hearing, relied on the text of the written summations presented to the Tribunal, as well as on the information contained in the documents presented for the hearing, entered as Exhibit # 2, tabs 1 through 9.

The Respondent referred to: The Physician's Guide to Driver Examination and National Safety Code - Medical Standards for Drivers, as well as described the composition of the Ministry of Transportation Advisory Committee.

The Respondent argued that "Based on medical information on file the Applicant is suffering from two medical conditions which will impair his ability to drive (as required by Reg. 340/94 14 (a) and/or (b)). The Canadian Medical Association reports that chronic alcohol abuse and panic attacks are a serious medical disability, individually. In this case the Applicant suffers from both and has admitted to using one disorder to resolve problems with the other". (CMA 13.2, 15.1. The Canadian Council of Motor Transport Administrators supports this position and comments that person habitually dependent on alcohol should not drive any class of motor vehicle until evidence of alcoholism is no longer a problem. (NSC 11.2, 12.1, 13.2)

The Applicant testified that in his younger years he drank with his buddies. Then, after getting married and acquiring more responsibilities he changed his habits.

The Applicant testified that his major problem is the anxiety attacks he has been having since his mid twenties. The symptoms of these attacks resembled a heart attack. The initial "...shakes and shivers", left him totally debilitated for hours. According to the Applicant, the attacks had the effect of making him phobic. At the time, the Applicant felt that although alcohol did not give him a high, it alleviated the symptoms of the anxiety attacks. Recognizing he was drinking too much, the Applicant asked for help and voluntarily admitted himself to Pinewood. He also became a member of A.A.

The Applicant confirmed that over the years, after reading several books and watching programmes on self-help, he learned to control his condition to an extent.

A couple of years ago, he sought the assistance of a psychiatrist to help him with the anxiety attacks. Physician # 1 changed his medication and continued treating the Applicant for over a year. The Applicant felt the new medication was not having the desired effects and that his condition was not improving. At this time he turned to drink again. He would drink "...4 to 6 oz ...after work in the evening..."

The Applicant confronted Physician # 1 with his belief that treatment was not helping, and believes this is the reason Physician # 1 reported him.

The Applicant testified that he works on an assembly line and has not missed time from work due alcohol. Further, the Applicant affirmed that he would not drink and drive.

ISSUES:

Should the decision of the Registrar to suspend the Applicant's licence be confirmed, modified or set aside?

LAW:

Regulation 340/94, Section 14 states:

An applicant for or a holder of a driver's licence must not,

- (a) suffers from an mental, emotional, nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely; and
- (b) be addicted to the use of alcohol or a drug to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle safely.

Section 47(1) states:

Subject to section 47.1, the Registrar may suspend or cancel,

- (a) the plate portion of a permit as defined in Part II;
 - (b) a driver's licence; or
 - (c) a CVOR certificate,
- on the grounds of,
- (d) misconduct for which the holder is responsible, directly or indirectly, related to the operation or driving of a motor vehicle;
 - (e) conviction of the holder for an offence referred to in subsection 210(1) or (2);
 - (f) the Registrar having reason to believe, having regard to the safety record of the holder or of a person related to the holder, and any other information that the Registrar considers relevant, that the holder will not operate a commercial motor vehicle safely or in accordance with this Act, the regulations and other laws relating to highway safety; or
 - (g) any other sufficient reason not referred to in clause (d), (e) or (f).

Section 50 of the Act states:

50.(1) Every person aggrieved by a decision of the Minister under subsection 17(2) or (3) or subclause 32(12)(b)(i) or a decision of the Registrar under section 47 may appeal the decision to the Licence Appeal Tribunal.

(2) The Tribunal may confirm, modify or set aside the decision of the Minister or the Registrar.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

Section 47(1) unquestionably empowers the Registrar to “...suspend or cancel” a driver's licence for “any ...sufficient reason...” The Applicant came to the attention of the Registrar as a result of an unsolicited letter from a psychiatrist, Physician # 1, informing the Ministry that the Applicant “...has been abusing alcohol for the last couple of weeks and have serious concerns that his abuse of alcohol could be affecting his ability to drive a vehicle safely...” (Exhibit # 2 Tab 1)

The Tribunal finds that the Ministry acted properly and in accordance with the Regulation, at the time of the suspension.

The Respondent suggests that both clauses of Regulation 390/94, Section 14, i.e. (a) and (b) are applicable in this case. The Tribunal will rule, on each clause separately.

Regulation 390/94, section 14 (a) states that:

"An applicant for a holder of a driver's licence must not,

- a) suffer from a mental, emotional nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely..."*

The Applicant has been diagnosed as suffering from "uncontrollable panic attacks...", by Physician # 2. Under the column "Personal Health History" for "Psychiatric Disorders" MINISTRY OF TRANSPORTATION ASSESSMENT FORM, Physician # 2 also checked "YES". (Exhibit # 2 Tab 4)

It is evident that the Applicant suffers from an enfeebling condition. Nonetheless, the Tribunal accepts the testimony of the Applicant, and is satisfied, that he has attempted to gain insight into his condition, and now recognizes and tries to curb the symptoms. More importantly, the Tribunal finds no evidence to substantiate that the Applicant's condition will "...significantly interfere with his ability to drive a motor vehicle".(Exhibit # 2. Tab 4)

The Tribunal will now proceed to review the evidence adduced with respect to section 14 (b) of Regulation 340/94.

The Respondent eloquently expounded the policies considered by the Ministry of Transportation Medical Advisory Committee and contained in the; "Physician's Guide to Driver's Examination; the National Safety Code; the Canadian Medical Association (CMA 13.2, 15.1.): the Canadian Council of Motor Transport Administrators (NSC 11.2, 12.1, 13.2). The Tribunal notes that these policies are to be used as guidelines and are not legislation.

The pertinent legislation in this matter is section 14 (b) of Regulation 340/94 of the Highway Traffic Act which reads:

"An applicant for or a holder of a driver's licence must not,

- b) be addicted to the use of alcohol or drug to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle safely."*

Neither MINISTRY OF TRANSPORTATION ASSESSMENT FORM- prepared by Physician # 2 is checked as "YES" under the "Addictions". In fact Physician # 2 is quite explicit in his clarification "2 yrs member of A.A. But it didn't address root problem". (Exhibit # 2 Tab 2)

The "PHYSICAL ASSESSMENT AND LABORATORY EVALUATION" portion of the MINISTRY OF TRANSPORTATION ASSESSMENT FORM specifies that Applicant's "...GGT 29; MCV - 92...", both well within "NORMAL" range.(Exhibit # 2 Tab 4)

There are two components to section 14 (b):

- 1. addiction to the use of alcohol or drug*
- 2. extent of interference with ability to drive a motor vehicle safely.*

The Applicant testified that he believes that he was an alcoholic and as such sought treatment twelve years ago. Today, the Applicant confirmed that he is able to drink "...four to six ounces..." and stop. The Ministry determined that the Applicant is still addicted to alcohol. The Dictionary defines "addiction" as a "strong habit that is difficult to break...". The Tribunal is not entirely satisfied that the Applicant meets the criteria for addiction.

The second component is the extent of interference where addiction is established (which the Tribunal has not found in the evidence). Were the intent of the legislators to have been strictly moralistic in scope, the regulation might have stated that "An applicant for or a holder of a driver's licence must not, be addicted to the use of alcohol or drug". This is not the case. Under the Regulation, the addiction must be to the extent that it is likely to significantly interfere with the ability to drive a motor vehicle in order to be of consequence.

There is no evidence in this hearing to suggest that the Applicant's consumption of alcohol, whether or not an addiction, has in any way affected the Applicant's ability to drive. The Tribunal notes that the Applicant's record is in fact spotless. Exhibit # 2 Tab 1)

Under section 47 of the Highway Traffic Act, the Registrar must establish sufficient reason to suspend the Applicant's driver's licence. Therefore, the onus is on the Respondent to prove the merits of the Ministry's case in suspending the Applicant's licence under Regulation 340/94 section 14(a) and (b) of the HTA.

In reviewing all the evidence presented at the hearing, the Tribunal finds that the Respondent has not proven that the Applicant is currently suffering from a mental or emotional condition or an alcohol addiction which is likely to significantly interfere with his ability to drive a motor vehicle described by Regulation 340/94 sections 14(a) and (b), respectively, of the HTA.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the decision dated August 16, 1999 of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles ("Registrar") to suspend his driver's licence pursuant to Section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA"), and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

IT IS THE DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50(2) of the Act that the decision of the Registrar be set aside.

HEARING: September 8, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

This is a hearing before the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") arising out of a Notice of Proposal issued by the Registrar under the Motor vehicle Dealers Act ("the Registrar", and the "Act" respectively). The Notice of Proposal dated March 23, 2000 proposed to revoke the registration of Mohammad Amin Shaqiq o/a East & West Used Car Sales under the Act.

BACKGROUND:

The Registrar under the Act proposed to revoke the registration of Mohammad Amin Shaqiq o/a East & West Used Car Sales. The grounds relied upon by the Registrar for the Proposal are set out below:

1. The past conduct of Mohammad Amin Shaqiq, the Registrant, affords reasonable grounds for belief that the Registrant's undertakings will not be carried out in accordance with law, and with integrity and honesty, TO WIT;

On December 2, 1999 the Registrant was found to be offering two vehicles for sale with false odometer readings, and when the inspector requested further information from the Registrant on December 2, 1999, and further on January 5, 2000 the Registrant did not respond. Further the Registrar received complaints from consumers that the Registrant was selling vehicles from a location other than his registered premises.

THE LAW:

Section 3 of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act (the 'Act'), states as follows,

- (1) No person shall,
 - (a) carry on business as a motor vehicle dealer unless the person is registered under this Act; or
 - (b) act as a salesperson of or on behalf of a motor vehicle dealer unless the person is registered as a salesperson of such dealer and such dealer is registered as a motor vehicle dealer under this Act

Section 5 of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act (the 'Act'), states as follows;

- 5(1) An applicant is entitled to registration by the Registrar except where,
 - (a) having regard to the financial position of the applicant, the applicant cannot reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of business; or
 - (b) the past conduct of the applicant affords reasonable grounds for belief that the applicant will not carry on business in accordance with law, and with integrity and honesty; or
 - (c) the applicant is a corporation and
 - (i) having regard to its financial position, it cannot reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of business, or
 - (ii) the past conduct of its officers or directors affords reasonable grounds for belief that its business will not be carried on in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty; or
 - (d) the applicant is carrying on activities that are or will be, if the applicant is registered, in contravention of this Act or the regulations.
- (2) A registration is subject to such terms and conditions to give effect to the purposes of this Act as are consented to by the applicant, imposed by the Tribunal or prescribed by the regulations.

Section 6 of the Act states as follows;

- (1) Subject to section 7, the Registrar may refuse to register an applicant where in the Registrar's opinion, the applicant is disentitled to registration under section 5.
- (2) Subject to section 7, the Registrar may refuse to renew or may suspend or revoke a registration for any reason that would disentitle the registrant to registration under section 5, if the registrant were an applicant, or where the registrant is in breach of a term or condition of the registration.

CASELAW:

Brenner v Ontario (Registrar of Motor Vehicle Dealers and Salesman) 1983 O. J. No. 1017 Ontario Supreme Court-High Court of Justice Divisional Court

This was an appeal by the Registrar of Motor Vehicle Dealers and Salesmen from a decision of the Commercial Registration Appeal Tribunal in which the Tribunal directed the Registrar to grant a conditional registration to the Respondent. The Applicant had a very serious criminal record which he had disclosed in his application, but he had not disclosed three further convictions which were considered by the Registrar to be minor offences. The Applicant heard evidence from a potential employer and a criminal lawyer who testified that the Applicant was rehabilitated himself. The Court found that the Tribunal had not applied the proper test, and set out this test in paragraph nine of the judgment as follows:

"the Tribunal should only have refused to direct the Registrar to carry out his proposal if it thought the Registrar was in error concluding that the past conduct of the applicant afforded reasonable grounds for belief that he would not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty. The board does not appear to have directed itself to this question and makes no finding that, in its view, the past conduct of Brenner did not afford reasonable grounds for the belief that Brenner would not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty. Instead the Board appears to have been preoccupied with sympathetic concern as to whether or not Brenner had genuinely reformed, and appears to have decided that it ought to give him a second chance because there was the possibility that he, indeed, might have reformed himself."

Re-Herman Motor Sales Inc. at al. and Registrar of Motor Vehicle Dealers and Salesman 113 D.L.R. (3d) 370, High Court of Justice Divisional Court, July 2 1980

The issue in this case was whether the past conduct of the officers and directors of the motor vehicle dealership provided reasonable grounds to believe the business would not be carried out in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty in the future. The case involved evidence of past good behavior and exemplary business conduct, however, the dealer had pleaded guilty to a charge of fraud relating to instances of odometer tampering. It was found by the Tribunal that the evidence justified the revocation of the dealer's licence as odometer readings are of great importance as the basis for assessing the value of most vehicles. The court found on page 3 of the decision that:

"to tamper or interfere with odometer readings must be considered seriously and must constitute a grave breach of the duty of the dealer."

Although the consequences for the applicant were severe, the penalty was found to be appropriate. The court also found that reliance could be placed on past behavior to predict future behavior as provided for in statute.

Ontario (Registrar of Motor Vehicle Dealers and Salesman) v Clermont (1974) O.J. No. 1028 Ontario Supreme Court-High Court of Justice

In this matter, the issue of past conduct was dealt with in the context of a single mistake which although willful did not cause actual harm to the public. The act being dealt with involved improprieties in the trust account by the motor vehicle dealer. The Tribunal found that the one isolated mistake was of such a nature that it provided reasonable grounds to believe that the person would not carry on business with integrity, honesty, and in accordance with law in the future.

ISSUES:

The issue in this case is whether the Registrar was wrong in his decision to revoke the Applicant's licence under the Act on the basis of the Applicant's conduct respecting the allegations of changing the odometers, failing to comply with the requests by the Registrar for information, engaging in selling motor vehicles from a location other than his business premises.

WITNESS FOR THE REGISTRAR:

Matthew McKenzie and Laura Gordon testified on behalf of the Registrar.

Matthew McKenzie testified that he was employed as inspector by the Ontario Motor Vehicle Industry Council from September 1997 until February 2000 and presently holds the position of marketing manager at Freeway Ford Sales Ltd.

On December 2, 1999 he attended at the business premises of the Registrant to complete a standard inspection of a new dealer. He requested records from the dealer to ensure compliance with the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act and was provided with the material requested. When he obtained 4 or 5 random bills of sale for vehicles purchased at auction, he inspected the vehicles on the lot to ensure that the V.I.N. numbers matched, and he discovered that on two vehicles the odometer readings were lower than listed on the Bills of Sale. A 1992 grey Honda Civic had an odometer reading on the Bill of Sale from the auction of 254,137 kms but an odometer reading at time of the inspection of 154,268 kms. A 1992 green Honda Civic had an odometer reading of 220,565 kms on the Bill of Sale from the auction, but an odometer reading of 160,849 km at time of the inspection. When the witness discovered this problem he spoke to the Applicant and received a response. Based on this, he filled out his Inspection Findings report (Ex. 4, Tab 4), and wrote that: "the dealer acknowledges that he has admitted to tampering with the odometers of the two preceding vehicles and has stated that there are on unknown quantity of other vehicles involved." He testified that the Applicant became excited at this time, and ask for his help. He made a list of information that he required wanted from the Applicant, and advised him that he could not provide help, but it would be the best interests of the Applicant to cooperate with him. The Applicant provided him with copies of the Bills of Sale from the auction for the two cars in question, which he then photo copied and returned. Prior to leaving the premises, Mr. McKenzie read over the report to the Applicant, and they both signed it. Mr. McKenzie did not receive the required information from the Applicant by the December 12, 1999 deadline, and as a result two letters were sent out requesting that the Applicant contact him. The first letter was dated January 5, 2000 and a second letter was dated January 28, 2000. The deadline of February 10, 2000 was given in these letters but there was no contact. After the completion of the Applicant's testimony,

Mr. McKenzie was recalled and clarified what he was told by the Applicant concerning the alleged odometer tampering. At this time, the witness stated that the Applicant admitted that he "changed" the odometers.

The next witness for the Registrar was Laura Gordon who is the Director of Compliance for the Ontario Motor Vehicle Industry Council ("OMVIC") which is a group established in 1997 as a nonprofit organization to administer the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act. Its four areas of responsibility are to mediate disputes, carry out inspections of motor vehicle dealers, enforce compliance, and deal with registrations.

Mr. Gordon testified that under the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act, a person is entitled to registration unless the Registrar has reasonable grounds to believe that the person cannot be financially responsible or on the basis of past conduct will not carry on business with honesty, integrity, and in accordance with the law. The Motor Vehicle Dealers Act is consumer protection legislation and was established to protect vulnerable consumers from the improper conduct of motor vehicle dealers. Mr. Gordon explained that it is essential that odometer readings be correct or that the customer be advised of the distance traveled by the car, as that information goes directly to the issue of price, safety, and future maintenance costs, among other things.

Ms. Gordon also testified that she received information that two vehicles were transferred into the dealership's name after the 6 day period contrary to section 11 of the Highway Traffic Act. A green Suzuki Swift was purchased on April 5, 2000 by the Applicant at an auction on behalf of East and West Used Car Sales and was finally transferred into the dealer's name on July 28, 2000. A blue Suzuki Swift was purchased by the Applicant on behalf of East and West Used Car Sales which was never transferred into the company name. The witness also confirmed that there had been a Consent Order (Ex. 4, Tab 13) made prior to the hearing in which it was agreed that further documentation would be provided, but this was not done.

Ms. Gordon also referred to information which came to her attention of a complaint made to an inspector or a mediator. This complaint referred to the Applicant selling a car off his premises. When she contacted the Applicant, he told her that the customer had purchased the car, returned it for him to resell, and he arranged a sale to another customer. The address of the transaction was not the business premises of the Applicant. Ms Gordon was concerned that a customer dealing with a person whom the customer believes to be a private vendor will have different expectations than if they are dealing with a motor vehicle dealer.

WITNESS FOR THE APPLICANT:

The Applicant testified on his own behalf. With regard to the two Suzuki vehicles, the Applicant testified that his dealer's licence had expired on April 1, 2000 which was a Saturday, and he did not pay his renewable fee until Monday April 3, 2000. At this point his dealer's licence had expired, and was not capable of being renewed as the notice of proposal was pending. As a result, the auto auction advised him that he could not have the two Suzuki vehicles registered in his business name, and the cars stayed at the auction premises.

He testified that the vehicles were resold, and he paid the fee for both buying and selling at the auction. His evidence was that he did not come into possession of either car.

On the issue of the odometers, the Applicant testified that the odometer readings at the time of the inspection differed from the readings shown on the Bills of Sale when the cars were purchased at auction. His explanation was that the odometers had to be replaced, and the cars had not been sold yet, so they were simply sitting on his lot with different odometer readings from the Bills of Sale. In his opinion, this was not improper as they had not been sold, and it would be his policy to tell the purchasers that the odometer readings were not accurate. He testified that other cars had been sold in the same way, and he did notify the purchasers. However, no Bills of Sale were produced for any such transactions to show that purchasers had been effectively put on notice. He also said that he could not find the mechanic who installed the odometers for him because the mechanic had moved. There was no paperwork for the purchase or installation of the odometers. Mr. Shaiq testified that he was driving the grey Civic automobile and had reinstalled the old odometer, but for the green Civic, the odometer had been thrown away, and the vehicle was sold on June 29, 2000. A Bill of Sale was produced showing 'distance traveled' of 222,105 km. (Ex. 8) He did not explain how this vehicle was sold by East and West Used Car Sales on that date if the dealer's number was lost on April 1, 2000. His evidence was that the used odometers were purchased for cash as it was cheaper, and they were installed by the same mechanic who had been at a garage near his sales lot, and had moved. Unfortunately he also did not know the mechanic's name.

In reference to his dealings with the OMVIC inspector, the Applicant testified that he did ask Mr. McKenzie to help him, as he was an old man with a family, and was an honest man. He then explained how he is responsible for the rent on the dealership lot, his wife has health problems due to an injury, and his daughter is attending the University of Toronto with the result he is in a bad financial situation.

In cross-examination, the Applicant said that he had told the OMVIC inspector, Mr. McKenzie that the odometers were changed, and had meant that they were replaced. He agreed that the 'Inspection Findings' were read to him by the inspector although he repeatedly said that it was too hard to read for himself, and on the first few attempts did not answer the question of whether it was read to him. He also did not clearly answer the question of whether he understood what was meant by the word 'tampering' used in the report. Mr. Shaiq stated that he told the inspector that the customers who were sold the cars with the replaced odometers were told about the problem, but Mr. McKenzie did not write it down.

The witness agreed that he received the letters from Mr. McKenzie, but did not answer them and did not provide any Bills of Sale or other documents showing that purchasers had been advised of the odometer problem. Further, he confirmed that he had no record whatsoever of the odometer replacements. He complained that he had no business transactions since April 2000 due to the termination of his licence, but when confronted with apparent vehicle sales, went on to discuss the sales, which appeared to be an attempt to liquidate his stock through private sales. He stated that he needed the money. His evidence was that two or three cars were sold this way, and he had received information from someone in authority that it was legal to do this. The Applicant explained that there were still cars on the lot, the office was locked, and the telephone number rang through to his home telephone. When he was faced with the fact that Ministry records showed a number of vehicles transferred into his name, he answered by saying that these were vehicles purchased by his business prior to the termination of his licence, and by also saying that he did not know how they were transferred into his name. He speculated that somehow when he sold a vehicle to someone, a transfer was done but did not explain how that would affect the transfer of multiple vehicles into his name. He explained the sales of two vehicles on the basis that they were purchased at auction after the termination of his licence but before he was aware of it, that the auction was not able to transfer the cars into his business name so he arranged for them to sell the cars for him, and that the vehicles were transferred into his name for purposes to complete.

As to selling a vehicle off his premises, the Applicant stated that he did not sell the car off his premises, but had sold it to Mr. Abdul Rahim of 86 Cornwall Dr, Ajax, Ontario, "as is" and that after two days Mr. Rahim decided to sell it back to him, and asked him to write another Bill of Sale for a new purchaser. At that time, the Applicant's registration number was not operative, and he sold the car as O.M.V.I.C. told him he could do.

FACTS FOUND PROVEN:

The facts found by the Tribunal are that the odometers on the two cars viewed by the inspector and at least three cars referred to by the Applicant were sold or held out for sale with odometer readings different from the time of purchase at auction by the Applicant. There is consistent evidence from Mr. McKenzie and the Applicant that the word "change" was used by the Applicant.

The Tribunal does not accept the evidence of the Applicant that the odometers were replaced and the readings were thereby lowered. Even if this were the case, there would still remain the issue of whether the proper procedure was used by the Applicant upon the replacement of the odometers. There is no evidence to support the Applicant's claim that the purchasers of the vehicles which had the odometers replaced were notified that the odometers did not give a true reading. No Bills of Sale were produced for any car other than one of the two found by the inspector, and that does not show that the purchaser was notified of an incorrect odometer reading.

There is no document produced by the Applicant showing purchasers were advised of these changes. There is no record of the purchase or installation of used odometers. The Applicant testified that the units were purchased for cash. There is no record of payment for a mechanic to install them and no records from the mechanic to support the assertions. The mechanic has disappeared and cannot locate him. Despite his repeated dealings with this mechanic, the Applicant is unable to remember the name of the person or the garage. His evidence on this very critical issue is found to be not credible.

This Tribunal finds that the Applicant has not proven that there were replacement odometers, that there was a mechanic, or that the cars were taken to a garage for this service to be performed. Further, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant has not proven that any purchasers of the other vehicles with the lower odometer readings were notified of any change in the reading caused by the alleged replacement.

On the issue of the two Suzuki automobiles, the Tribunal finds that the evidence of the Applicant could be accurate although there is no supporting evidence and his testimony throughout has not been very credible. The Tribunal finds that this evidence is not reliable but little turns on it, as the issue of the odometers was sufficient for the decision of the Registrar.

With regard to the allegation of vehicles being transferred into the Applicant's name on July 11, 2000 there is outright denial by the Applicant that this ever happened. He tried to explain that it could be the fault of an unnamed purchaser who caused a vehicle to be registered in his name, but did not explain how this could occur. He also became confused or evasive when these questions were asked and appeared to interpret them to mean new vehicles transferred into his name, rather than vehicles which were owned by his company prior to the inactivity of his dealer's number. When he finally understood this distinction, he explained away the sales of these vehicles on the basis that he needed the money but did not explain how the vehicles were transferred into his name or sold by him. This confirms the vehicles were in fact transferred into his name after the inactivity of his company. These sales appear to be very consistent with the vehicles being parked on his lot, telephone calls being re-routed to his home, and his existing stock being sold by him. This shows a pattern of behavior of carrying on business not in accordance with the law. On its own, this might not be sufficient for the revocation of the licence, but it is supportive of the improper behavior related to the odometers.

It is also found that there was no explanation for why he failed to respond to the correspondence from the Inspector.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The Act provides that the Registrar may revoke the registration of the Applicant where the Applicant's past conduct affords reasonable grounds for belief that the Applicant will not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty. The Tribunal finds, as set out above, that the conduct of the Applicant in relation to the motor vehicle odometers, supported by the unexplained transfers to the Applicant's name after the termination of his licence, the private sales, and the failure to respond to correspondence are all indicative of past and continuing conduct that is not meet the statutory requirements of honesty, integrity, and carrying on business in accordance with the law. This may be used as an indicator of future behavior. The legal test to be used by the Tribunal is whether the Registrar was in error in deciding that the past conduct of the Applicant provided reasonable grounds for his belief that the Applicant would not carry on business in accordance with integrity honesty and with the law. On the basis of the facts as found, and the application of the law to those facts, the Tribunal finds that the decision by the Registrar was not in error.

DECISION:

Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in it under section 7(4) of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act, the Tribunal directs the Registrar to carry out his proposal to revoke the registration of the Applicant.

Appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap.H.8 as amended (the "Act"), from the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the Act.

TO APPEAL AN ORDER TO IMPOUND A MOTOR VEHICLE ISSUED BY THE REGISTRAR OF MOTOR VEHICLES

TRIBUNAL: ELMER MERKLEY
Presiding member

APPEARANCES: KIM BEINTEMA
Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

CRYSTAL RUBY HOLLAND, Applicant
unrepresented

DATE OF HEARING: September 7, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: September 13, 2000 Windsor

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on September 7, 2000, at Windsor, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: Crystal Ruby Holland (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle: 1995 Pontiac Gas, plate # 948 TSC (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal: August 16, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the motor vehicle was stolen at the time it was being driven as provided in section 50.2(3) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on September 7, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #2) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the motor vehicle was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

On Sat July 30, 2000 approx @ 10:30 pm I was driving my ex-boyfriend Pat O'Hearn to his brother-in-laws Body Shop on Church Ave. When we got into an argument (very bad) argument I pulled into an alley way off Bruce and Wyndotte. We continued to argue and I told Pat to get out of my car 3 times and he refused to. So I turn off my car off took my keys and got out. I started walking to a near by store 7-11 Wyndotte W. to cool off and get something to drink. When I arrived at the store I realized I didn't have my purse. So I started back to my car when I got there my car was gone by this time I was very very upset because Pat knew he is not to drive any vehicle. And that I wouldn't let him drive my car for any reason. Also that I know his licence is under suspension. I then walked to Pat's brother-in-laws Body Shop no one was there. I then walked home very upset when I arrived home approx @ 12:30 B 12:45 pm. My car and Pat weren't there. I paged Pat right away he returned my call. He said he used my spare keys out of my purse and moved my car up the alley way. So it wasn't blocking the alley way.

* I received my letter Order to Impound on August 2, 2000.

The Applicant testified that she is a 36-year-old single mother with a 10-month-old baby and a 14-year-old boy. Mr. Pat O'Hearn, the car driver, had been living with her for about nine years, but they had recently separated. Since the separation, the Applicant has continued to provide complete transportation for Mr. O'Hearn to and from work and any other points of interest.

The Applicant is quite aware that Mr. O'Hearn's driver's licence was under suspension at the time and remains under suspension until July 6, 2001 for the offence of "impaired driving" under the Criminal Code of Canada.

In her testimony, the Applicant stated that on July 30, 2000, she was driving Mr. O'Hearn to his brother's body shop on Church Avenue in the City of Windsor. Along the way, the two of them got into a heated argument which caused her to pull into an alley and ask Mr. O'Hearn to leave the car. When he refused to leave, the Applicant removed her keys from the ignition, left the car, and walked to a nearby 7-11 store to cool off and get something to drink. At this point, she remembered leaving her purse in the car which contained another set of keys for her residence and car. On her return to the alley, she observed her car missing and immediately walked to Mr. O'Hearn's brother-in-law's body shop. Finding no one there, she walked about twenty-five (25) blocks to her home. She paged Mr. O'Hearn on the telephone and later picked him up with a vehicle borrowed from her girlfriend.

Mr. O'Hearn told her that he took the spare keys from her purse and drove her vehicle to his brother-in-law's body shop. While travelling along the alley, he was stopped by the Windsor City Police and the car was impounded. This information was confirmed on August 2, 2000 when the Applicant received a copy of the impoundment notice.

The Applicant made no effort whatsoever to contact the Windsor Police about the whereabouts of her car or to pursue any charges against Mr. O'Hearn for "theft" or "taking the vehicle without consent." She simply called a few towing agencies in Windsor in an attempt to retrieve her car. Nevertheless, the "notice of impoundment order" did eventually supply the needed information.

The Applicant does not believe that Mr. O'Hearn intended to deprive her of the vehicle. He simply intended to return the vehicle to her residence.

Mr. O'Hearn, in his testimony, confirmed that he took the keys from the Applicant's purse and drove to his brother's body shop. Along the way, he was stopped by the police and the Applicant's car was impounded. Mr. O'Hearn confirmed that he operated the vehicle while he was disqualified from driving. He testified that he knew there was a spare set of keys around for the vehicle and that he had his own keys for the car prior to his suspension.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Patrick O'Hearn;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of impaired driving under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until July 6, 2001.

Police Constable Michael Robertson of the Windsor Police Department confirmed observing Mr. O'Hearn operating the vehicle in the alley and following the vehicle to an apartment unit at 29 Bruce Street in the City of Windsor. He confirmed charging Mr. O'Hearn for "driving while disqualified" as well as impounding the Applicant's vehicle.

Since both the Applicant and Mr. O'Hearn were well known by the officer, including their previous relationship, no charges were considered for "taking without consent." He stated that it would be very doubtful if the Windsor Police Department would accept a "stolen" report in this case based on the known circumstances. The alley is considered a public roadway within the meaning of the Highway Traffic Act.

On the basis of the evidence given at the hearing, the Tribunal finds the following to be the fundamental facts found proven:

1. The Applicant is the owner of the motor vehicle that was the subject of the impoundment order.
2. At the time of the impoundment order, the Applicant's motor vehicle was driven by Patrick O'Hearn.
3. At the time of the impoundment of the Applicant's motor vehicle, Patrick O'Hearn's driver's licence was under suspension for "impaired driving."
4. Neither the Applicant or Constable Michael Robertson believes that Patrick O'Hearn had any intent to deprive the owner of the benefit of ownership (or possession) permanently.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

(1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Board.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

- (3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Board may set aside the order to impound are,
- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
 - (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;

- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(a).

With respect to an appeal under subsection 50.2(3)(a) alleging that the vehicle was stolen, the meaning of "stolen" is not provided in The Highway Traffic Act.

The Shorter Oxford Dictionary, provides the definition of "stolen" as follows:

Stolen: 1. Obtained by theft. 2. Accomplished or enjoyed by stealth; secret. 3. Of time: obtained by contrivance

Theft: 1. The action of a thief; the felonious taking away of the personal goods of another; larceny 2. That which is or has been stolen; the proceeds of thieving.

Black's Law Dictionary (Sixth edition), page 1419-1420 provides the definition of "stolen" as follows:

Stolen: Acquired, or possessed, as a result of some wrongful or dishonest act or taking, whereby a person willfully obtains or retains possession of property which belongs to another, without or beyond any permission given, and with the intent to deprive the owner of the benefit of ownership (or possession) permanently.

The word "stolen" as used in the crime of interstate transpiration of stolen motor vehicles includes all wrongful and dishonest taking of motor vehicles with the intent to deprive the owner of the rights and benefits of ownership, regardless of whether theft constitutes common-law larceny; and felonious taking may be effected by diverse means known to both common and statutory law, such as larceny, embezzlement, false pretenses, larceny by trick and other types of wrongful acquisition. Lake v. U.S., Colo, 338F.2d 787,788. It is not necessary that the taking of the vehicle be unlawful. Even if possession of the vehicle is lawfully acquired, the vehicle will be deemed "stolen" if the defendant thereafter forms the intent to deprive the owner of the rights and benefits of ownership, and converts the vehicle to his own use. United States v. Turley, 352 U.S. 407, 417, 77 S.Ct. 397, 402. 1 L.Ed.2d 430.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the motor vehicle was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made?

The burden of proof is on the Applicant to establish whether the vehicle was in fact stolen.

The Tribunal has found that the driver took the Applicant's vehicle without the Applicant's prior knowledge and consent. However, there is no evidence before the Tribunal that the actions on the part of the driver constituted theft of the vehicle.

The Applicant testified that she made no attempt whatsoever to call the police and pursue "stolen vehicle" charges against the driver since Mr. O'Hearn had been charged for "driving while disqualified", and she did not believe the driver intended to deprive her of the benefit of ownership (or possession) permanently.

Therefore, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant has insufficient grounds for appeal under section 50.2(3)(a).

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

DATE OF HEARING: June 14,15 and 16, 2000 and

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

This is an appeal to the Commercial Registration Appeal Tribunal (which as of April 1st, 2000 is known as the Licence Appeal Tribunal) (the "Tribunal") by Uranus Auto Sales Inc. ("Uranus") and Norallah Ahrari ("Ahrari") from a Notice of Proposal (the "Proposal") dated December 13, 1999 issued by the Registrar to revoke the registrations of Uranus and Ahrari, as motor vehicle dealer and salesperson, respectively, under the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act (the "Act").

Venus Auto Sales Inc. ("Venus") and Foroozan Vafaei ("Vafaei") also appeal the Registrar's proposal of December 13, 1999 to refuse their registrations as motor vehicle dealer and salesperson, respectively, under the Act.

The Proposal was issued in terms of section 7(1) of the Act, which reads as follows:

Section 7(1):

Where the Registrar proposes to refuse to grant or renew a registration or proposes to suspend or revoke a registration, the Registrar shall serve notice of the proposal, together with written reasons therefor, on the applicant or registrant.

The Proposal is further based on section 5(1),(b),(c),(ii) and (d) of the Act, which read as follows:

Section 5(1):

An Applicant is entitled to registration or renewal of registration by the Registrar except where,

.....

(b) the past conduct of the applicant affords reasonable grounds for belief that the applicant will not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty;or

(c) the applicant is a corporation and,

.....

(ii) the past conduct of its officers or directors affords reasonable grounds for belief that its business will not be carried on in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty;or

(d) the applicant is carrying on activities that are, or will be, if the applicant is registered, in contravention of this Act or the regulations.

THE EVIDENCE:

The evidence presented by the Registrar at the hearing dealt with a number of allegations, all of which the Registrar contends warrants revocation of the registrations of Uranus and Ahrari and refusal of registrations of Venus and Vafaei.

ALLEGATIONS REGARDING URANUS AND AHRARI

ODOMETERS

(i) MARJORIE ALEXANDER

The first witness for the Registrar was Marjorie Alexander who testified that she observed from a trade magazine called the "Auto Trader" that Uranus had advertised a 1992 Nissan Maxima motor vehicle for sale. Pursuant to the advertisement, Alexander went to the premises of Uranus on or about August 25, 1998 to see the advertised motor vehicle and observed the odometer reading of the motor vehicle as 126,800 kms.

When at Uranus' premises, she spoke with two men regarding the motor vehicle and was given a business card by one of these men. The business card given to her reflected the name "GOLDEN AUTO INC." as well as the name "DARIUS YAZDI". On the back of the business card the man who gave it to her wrote the words "1992 Black Maxima, 126 kms, fully loaded, sun roof" (Exhibit 1, Tab 10).

On August 25, 1998 when Alexander was at Uranus' premises a bill of sale was prepared and Alexander signed it. (Exhibit 1, Tab 10) At the time of signing the bill of sale, she left a cheque for the agreed deposit of $300.00. This deposit cheque was made in favour of Golden Auto Inc. She was informed by the man who handed her the business card that her deposit cheque of $300.00 was to be made to Golden Auto Inc. hence her making that cheque in its favour (Exhibit 1, Tab 10). The following day Alexander obtained an ownership history of the vehicle from the Ministry of Transportation and telephoned the previous owner of the vehicle, one Joseph Mittleman. Alexander was told by Mittleman that he had traded in the Maxima to a motor dealer when he purchased a new vehicle on January 24, 1998. At the time of the trade in the vehicle's odometer read 178,000 kms. Mittleman further stated that by arrangement he continued using the car after January 24, 1998 until early April 1998, during which period he estimated he put another 3000 to 4000 kms on the vehicle. Upon learning this, Alexander decided not to proceed with the purchase of the vehicle. She demanded, and received, the return of the deposit.

Alexander stated she was of the firm opinion that she was dealing with Uranus when she bought the vehicle, as it was Uranus that advertised the vehicle under its name, address and the telephone number and the premises where she viewed the vehicle on August 25, 1998, had Uranus' sign displayed outside. Alexander further stated that it was of importance to her what distance the vehicle had travelled and that if she knew it had travelled more than 180,000 kms she would not have bought it.

Further documentary evidence tendered at the hearing by the Registrar's counsel indicated that the vehicle was sold to Uranus at a motor vehicle auction held in Montreal on May 6, 1998. The bill of sale issued by the auctioneers indicated that the vehicle sold at the auction to Uranus had an odometer reading of 185,968 kms at the time of the auction sale. (Exhibit 1, Tab 12)

During the testimony of Ahrari, he conceded that he attended the auction on May 6, 1998 on behalf of Uranus and that the vehicle was purchased by it for $7,250.00, plus taxes. He also conceded he signed the bill of sale on Uranus' behalf and that the vehicle was, pursuant to its purchase by Uranus at the auction, registered in Uranus' name and was at no time registered in the name of Golden Auto Inc. Ahrari denied he tampered with the vehicle's odometer.

(ii) MARIO PIPIA

Mario Pipia and his wife Agate Pipia both gave their testimony through an interpreter who translated from Italian into English. Mr. Pipia stated he did not speak or read English.

Both Papias attested to Mr. Pipia having purchased a 1991 Chevrolet Cavalier motor vehicle from Uranus in terms of a bill of sale dated July 7, 1999.

The Papias testified that the vehicle's odometer indicated about 147,000 kms when Mr. Pipia purchased it from Uranus. Mrs. Pipia was present when her husband signed the bill of sale and paid a deposit of $300.00. (Exhibit 1, Tab 18) Mrs. Pipia could not remember if there was any handwriting on the left side of the bill of sale under the heading "basic vehicle". Mr. Pipia contended that when he signed there was no handwriting on the bill of sale under the heading "basic vehicle". Both Papias and Ahrari agree that there was a dispute concerning the actual purchase price of the vehicle which centred around whether the agreed purchase price was $5,300.00 or $5,405.00. Papias claim the agreed price was $5,300.00 which they paid in full to Uranus. Ahrari contends the agreed price was $5,405.00 and after the Papias paid $5,300.00 there was an outstanding balance of $105.00 due to Uranus which was never paid.

The Papias contend that Ahrari refused to hand them a copy of the bill of sale until the $105.00 was paid to Uranus. Pursuant to Ahrari's refusal, the Papias' son complained to OMVIC and asked it to obtain a copy of the bill of sale. OMVIC interceded on the Papias behalf and did obtain a copy for them.

The Papias further contend that after obtaining delivery of the vehicle, they became aware of the vehicle's odometer not giving a true reading as to the distance travelled. The odometer appeared to overregister the distance travelled. They did not complain to Ahrari regarding this over-reading as they had already experienced "other troubles" with the vehicle and had had Uranus fix those other troubles. The Papias claim to have found Ahrari unpleasant to deal with, and they therefore did not raise the odometer issue with Ahrari. They contend that Ahrari never indicated to them that the odometer was faulty or that it was not giving a correct reading. Ahrari, according to the Papias, at no stage indicated what "T.K.U." meant and neither of the Papias recollected seeing these letters behind the "distance travelled" on the bill of sale.

Ahrari testified that when Uranus purchased the Cavalier motor vehicle, it was delivered by the vendor to Uranus from Hamilton, Ontario. On delivery, the driver of the vehicle reported to Ahrari that the odometer was not registering correctly. Accordingly, on June 15, 1999, Uranus purchased from an auto recycling firm a used odometer for the vehicle and had it installed in the vehicle. The invoice for Uranus' purchase of the used odometer reflected that that odometer indicated a reading of 145,000 kms. (Exhibit 11, Tab 14) The bill of sale, between Uranus and Papias reflects a distance travelled of "146,990 kms T.K.U".

The Papias testified that had they known that the vehicle had travelled a distance of 206,000 kms, they would not have purchased the vehicle. They also testified that they were at no time told about the letters "T.K.U." or what those letters meant.

The documentary evidence, attested to by inspector Louise Gingras of OMVIC, indicates that Uranus, represented by Ahrari, purchased the motor vehicle on June 11, 1999 from Daleo Motors and according to the bill of sale executed when Uranus purchased the vehicle, it had travelled a distance of 206,419 kms. (Exhibit 1, Tab 18 page 2) This evidence was not disputed by Ahrari.

(iii) DENNIS SUKHAL

The evidence of OMVIC's witnesses was that during the course of investigating Uranus, certain documents were obtained including a copy of a bill of sale dated May 26, 1999 between Uranus and Dennis Sukhal for a Toyota Camry. (Exhibit 7) This document indicated to the investigator that the document was incomplete as to detail. The detail that did not appear on the bill of sale was the address and telephone numbers of Sukhal and the "distance travelled" by the vehicle which was left entirely blank. A written query was addressed by OMVIC to Sukhal after enquiries revealed his address. The query addressed to Sukhal was as to the distance travelled by the vehicle when he purchased it from Uranus. Sukhal replied to OMVIC's query and advised that the odometer reading was 124, 000 kms at the time of purchase (Exhibit 6). Since receipt of this communication from Sukhal, it has not been possible to establish further contact with him and it was not possible to ensure Sukhal's attendance at the hearing.

OMVIC's documentary evidence shows that Uranus purchased the vehicle, which it subsequently sold to Sukhal at an motor dealer's auction on April 21, 1999. A copy of the bill of sale dated April 21, 1999 was tendered in evidence and indicated that the odometer reading on the Toyota Camry was 183,492 kms at the date of the sale. (Exhibit 9)

Ahrari in his testimony did not contest that the Toyota Camry was purchased by Uranus at the auction on April 21, 1999 and did not deny that his signature appears on the bill of sale as representative of Uranus when Uranus purchased the vehicle at the auction. Ahrari did not deny the odometer reading of 183,492 kms on the bill of sale.

(iv) 1993 CAMRY, 1988 PRELUDE, TOYOTA 4 RUNNER AND MAZDA 626

Louise Gingras, an inspector with OMVIC, testified regarding the above four motor vehicles.

She stated that she attended at the premises of Uranus on August 5, 1999 to inspect of books and records of Uranus. During that visit to Uranus' premises, she noted the vehicle identification numbers (VIN's) relating to some 18 motor vehicles on Uranus' premises. She also noted the kilometers registered on some eleven motor vehicles. She committed her observations to writing at the time (Exhibit 1, Tab 20). Among the vehicles seen by Gingras on the premises of Uranus on August 5, 1999 were the four vehicles referred to above. At that time, Gingras observed and recorded in her notes the kilometers shown on each of the four vehicles' odometers.

When recording the kilometers, she "rounded off" the kilometers shown to the nearest thousand. She therefore noted the kilometers on the odometers of the four vehicles as follows:

1993 Camry	138,000 kms
1988 Prelude	158,000 kms
Toyota 4 Runner	135,000 kms
Mazda 626	134,000 kms

Gingras went on to testify that on August 10, 1999 she was again at the premises of Uranus inspecting documents. While there, she received instructions by telephone from Laura Gordon, Director of Compliance with OMVIC, to inspect and verify the odometer readings of the above four motor vehicles, as the odometer readings on the bills of sale provided to OMVIC by Ahrari did not accord with odometer readings taken by Gingras on August 5, 1999.

Gingras, immediately inspected and checked the four vehicle's odometer readings and recorded her observations(Exhibit 1, Tab 21) as follows:

1993 Camry	184,000 kms
1988 Prelude	198,000 kms
Toyota 4 Runner	249,000 kms
Mazda 626	234,000 kms

On October 20, 1999, Gingras visited the premises of Uranus again and met with Ahrari. She raised the odometer readings of the above vehicles with Ahrari and asked for an explanation as to the different readings she had noted on August 5, 1999 and August 10, 1999. She stated that Ahrari told her he had been approached by a man from Africa, Mr. Housin, who wished to buy the above four vehicles from Uranus for export to Africa. Housin gave Ahrari $10,000.00 U.S. in cash as a deposit on the vehicles. Housin then took the vehicles for inspection and then returned them to Uranus' premises. Ahrari stated he was unaware that Housin had altered the vehicles' odometers when he took them for inspection. After returning the vehicles, Housin cancelled the deal, as he was not able to proceed with exporting the vehicles. Ahrari refunded the $10,000.00 U.S. deposit to Housin. When Ahrari later discovered that Housin had altered the odometers, Ahrari changed the odometers back to their original readings. At the October 20, 1999 meeting, Gingras made notes of her discussion with Ahrari. (Exhibit 1, Tab 28)

Counsel for Ahrari and Uranus conceded, on behalf of his clients, that when the above four motor vehicles were acquired by Uranus their odometer readings were as follows:

1993 Camry	184, 541 kms
1988 Prelude	198, 829 kms
Toyota 4 Runner	249,252 kms
Mazda 626	234,802 kms

Ahrari in his testimony, essentially confirmed the evidence of Gingras. However, on June 16, 2000, he stated under cross-examination by the Registrar's counsel, that Housin "never took the cars away" from Uranus' premises and that Housin "never had the keys to the cars". When on August 29, 2000 (to which date the hearing had been adjourned on June 16, 2000), Ahrari was again asked whether or not the vehicles were removed from the premises of Uranus, he answered that they were removed by Housin and then returned.

Gingras stated that during her questioning of Ahrari on October 20, 1999, she asked Ahrari for the bill of sale between Uranus and Housin. Ahrari told her there had been no bill of sale drawn up.

Under cross-examination, Ahrari stated that he did not know the whereabouts of Housin. He also stated that he had placed the $10,000.00 U.S. cash deposit received from Housin in an envelope and did not deposit it into a bank. When the transaction with Housin collapsed he handed back the $10,000.00 U.S. in cash to Housin. He had no receipt available from Housin that he refunded the deposit of $10,000.00 U.S. to Housin.

CONTRAVENTION OF ACT AND REGULATIONS

The evidence at the hearing was that Uranus was initially registered under the Act as a motor vehicle dealer on May 31, 1990 and Ahrari as a salesperson on July 5, 1990. At that time the registered premises of Uranus was 894 1/2 Queen Street, West, Toronto.

The evidence further revealed that on June 6, 1990 an inspector from the Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations visited the above premises and spoke with Ahrari.

During this visit, Ahrari was given a garage register as well as a copy of regulations to the Act all of which were discussed with Ahrari. (Exhibit 1, Tab 8)

On May 27, 1993 an inspection at Uranus' premises revealed deficiencies and contraventions of the regulations under the Act and such deficiencies and contraventions were noted and brought to Uranus' attention. Included in the noted contraventions was the failure by Uranus to keep books and records at its registered place of business. (Exhibit 1, Tab 9)

On September 3, 1998 a further inspection was held at Uranus' premises. The books and records were not available for inspection. At this inspection, it was ascertained by OMVIC's inspector, Ms. LeeDempsey, that Uranus had vacated its premises at 4000 Steeles West and no longer had premises from which to operate as a motor vehicle dealer. When on September 14, 1998 the books and records of Uranus were requested for inspection Ahrari's wife informed Ms. LeeDempsey that they were "at home", but it was not known where. (Exhibit 1, Tab 14)

On September 28, 1998, Ms. LeeDempsey again met with Ahrari. Ahrari told Ms. LeeDempsey that Uranus had moved out of its premises, which he stated it had sublet. He said its books and records were stored in Brampton at another business, while some cars were at Ahrari's home and others were at his mechanic's shop. (Exhibit 1, Tab 16)

Despite the various visits and demands to inspect the books and records of Uranus, they have not been made available to the Registrar for inspection.

Ahrari stated in his testimony that effective August 1, 1998, Uranus had sublet the premises it had leased at 4000 Steeles Avenue West and had moved out of those premises (Exhibit 11, Tab4). Ahrari further testified that Uranus, after it had moved from 4000 Steeles Avenue West, had found other premises and from January 1, 1999 had commenced operating from those other premises at 141 Oakdale Road, North York, Ontario. Prior to moving from 4000 Steeles Ave. West on August 1, 1998, Ahrari conceded that as from April 1998 he permitted the Lavasani brothers to operate a motor vehicle dealership from 4000 Steeles Avenue West. He also allowed the brothers to use Uranus' name when buying or selling motor vehicles.

Ahrari stated that on October 7, 1998 he had his motor vehicle broken into and articles were stolen from it. Among the stolen articles were "some bills of sale, some files of Uranus and some auction cards". He made a written report of this theft to Peel Region Police (Exhibit 11, Tab 11). Ahrari also stated that Revenue Canada had on July 13, 1998 taken some of Uranus' books and documents which included:

- Bank statements and cancelled cheques for 1995, 1996 and 1997
- Sales invoices and sales journals for 1995, 1996 and 1997
- Cheque disbursements and journal for 1995, 1996 and 1997
- General ledger for 1995, 1996 and 1997
- Purchase invoices for 1995, 1996 and 1997

Revenue Canada returned the above books and documents to Ahrari on April 14, 1999 (Exhibit 11, Tab 13).

In addition to evidence covering the various above aspects, further evidence was placed before the Tribunal regarding the allegation that unregistered salespersons had been used by Uranus in the course of its business. One of such allegations was made by Farhad Pourgolafshan ("Farhad"), a witness who gave evidence at the hearing for Ahrari and Uranus.

In his testimony, Farhad stated that he is an engineer and doctor of Chinese medicine who met Ahrari in or about 1997/1998. Ahrari spoke with Farhad regarding his concerns with two brothers by name Lavasani. Ahrari told Farhad that he had entered into an agreement with the Lavasani brothers in relation to the business of and premises occupied by Uranus. Ahrari stated that he was worried about the deal and not happy in his association with the Lavasani brothers. Ahrari wanted to extricate himself from the Lavasani brothers and the arrangement he had made with them and enlisted the support of Farhad to intercede with the brothers on his behalf.

Farhad stated he was happy to represent Ahrari and try and mediate a resolution. During the period of his representing Ahrari, Farhad had visited the premises of Uranus at 4000 Steeles Avenue West and he had seen both Lavasani brothers upon the premises. He had also observed both brothers negotiating with prospective customers of Uranus in regard to the sale of motor vehicles. He stated that each brother had a desk within the premises of Uranus from which they operated. During his acting as mediator to try and resolve the issues that had arisen between Ahrari and the Lavasani brothers, he had become aware that the brothers had invested financially in Uranus and had moved their business, known as Golden Auto Inc., into Uranus' premises and brought their inventory of cars to Uranus' premises. During the time that the Lavasani brothers were operating from 4000 Steeles Avenue West, Farhad observed that Ahrari was in and out of the premises on a daily basis. He appeared to be attempting to collect monies due to him. During this time, the Lavasani brothers showed little respect for Ahrari. In mediating a dissolution of the arrangements between Ahrari and the Lavasani brothers, certain issues arose including the return of motor vehicles to either Uranus or Golden Auto Inc., the return of files that belonged to either party and resolving who would remain at the premises at 4000 Steeles Avenue West. The resolution of these issues required that Uranus move its designated premises and inventory from 4000 Steeles Avenue West.

Ahrari also called Nayebyazdi Daryoush ("Yazdi") to testify. Yazdi stated that he met with Reza Lavasani, one of the two Lavasani brothers, when Reza proposed a partnership in a motor vehicle dealership with Yazdi. The Lavasani brothers operated a business as motor vehicle dealers which was called Golden Auto Inc. Golden Auto Inc. had moved into 4000 Steeles Avenue West where Uranus was operating. In order to better know whether or not to enter into partnership with the Lavasani brothers, Yazdi spent time at 4000 Steeles Avenue West, and it was while there that Marjorie Alexander came into the premises. Reza Lavasani was sitting with Yazdi when Alexander entered. Reza asked Yazdi to help him in negotiating with Alexander. Yazdi did so and it was then that he gave his business card (Exhibit 1, Tab 10) to Alexander. At this time, Yazdi believed Golden Auto Inc. was registered as a motor vehicle dealer, but a week or so thereafter he learned that this was not the case. He did not thereafter persist in investigating a partnership with the Lavasani brothers and left the business at 4000 Steeles Avenue West.

ALLEGATIONS REGARDING VENUS AND VAF AEI

The evidence introduced during the hearing was that Venus was incorporated under the Business Corporations Act, on May 9, 1990. At that time Ahrari was appointed first Director of the Venus and its registered office was at 894 1/2 Queen Street West, Toronto (Exhibit 11, Tab 2). On May 15, 1990 Vafaei became a Director and Officer of Venus together with Ahrari. Ahrari ceased to be a Director and Officer of Venus on September 15, 1998.

On May 15, 1990, Uranus was incorporated under the Business Corporation Act, with Ahrari and one Deena Qayumzada as its first Directors. The registered office of Uranus was at 894 1/2 Queen Street West, Toronto (Exhibit 11, Tab 3). Ahrari was also appointed Uranus' President and Officer on May 15, 1990.

Vafaei testified that she is the wife of Ahrari and was a registered salesperson under the Act. She was employed by Uranus from November 1996 to November 1998 as a salesperson as well as secretary and bookkeeper. Initially, Venus was a "shelf company" and did not operate. Vafaei further testified that it was intended that Venus, once registered as a dealer under the Act, would operate out of one and a half units situated at 141 Oakdale Road. Uranus would occupy the other units at 141 Oakdale Road and would sublet the one and a half units to Venus. In August 1998, Vafaei applied for reinstatement as a salesperson while Venus applied for registration as a dealer. Both applications were refused. Vafaei also stated that if Ahrari was to be denied his salesperson's registration she was herself no longer interested in furthering her application for registration.

She also stated under cross-examination that Ahrari would act as a salesperson for Venus if Venus obtained registration and that she needs the assistance of Ahrari in order to operate Venus. For this reason she will locate Venus' business at 141 Oakdale Road alongside the premises of Uranus.

Laura Gordon, Director of Compliance with OMVIC, stated in her testimony that she had serious concerns regarding the registration of Venus and Vafaei. The relationship of Ahrari and Vafaei was a close one and not at arms length. The sublease of August 1999 (Exhibit 1, Tab 33) for the premises Venus hoped to occupy at 141 Oakdale Road supported Gordon's belief regarding the ongoing close relationship between Ahrari and Vafaei. The difficulty experienced by OMVIC in obtaining access to the books and records of Uranus, the poor and inadequate manner in which Ahrari had completed bills of sale, the critical aspect of apparent odometer tamperings as well as the employing of persons who are not registered salespersons, all lead Gordon to have serious concerns to permitting either Venus or Vafaei being registered.

FACTS FOUND PROVEN:

The following are the facts found to have been proven.

1. Uranus was registered as a Corporation under the Business Corporation Act R.S.O. 1990 on May 15, 1990.
2. Venus was registered as a Corporation under the Business Corporation Act R.S.O. 1990 on May 9, 1990.
3. Ahrari was appointed Director, President and Officer to Uranus on May 15, 1990.

4. Ahrari was appointed Director and an Officer of Venus on May 9, 1990.
5. Vafaei was appointed a Director and an Officer of Venus on September 15, 1999.
6. Uranus was registered as a motor vehicle dealer under the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act R.S.O. 1990 on May 31, 1990.
7. Ahrari was registered as a motor vehicle salesperson under the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act R.S.O. 1990 on July 5, 1990.
8. Vafaei was registered as a motor vehicle salesperson under the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act R.S.O. 1990 from November 13, 1996 to November 13, 1998.
9. Ahrari and Vafaei have at all relevant times been husband and wife.
10. On May 6, 1998, Uranus, then represented by Ahrari, purchased a 1992 Nissan Maxima motor vehicle at a motor vehicle dealers auction and the disclosed odometer reading of that vehicle on the auctioneers bill of sale was 185,968 kms.
11. Uranus advertised the aforesaid 1992 Nissan Maxima motor vehicle for sale in an publication known as the "Auto Trader" and pursuant to such advertisement Marjorie Alexander viewed the motor vehicle at the premises then occupied by Uranus at 4000 Steeles Avenue West, Toronto.
12. The odometer reading on the 1992 Nissan Maxima was, on the day Alexander viewed it at Uranus' premises, 126,800 kms. In fact, when the vehicle was shown to Alexander at Uranus' premises, the distance travelled by it was in excess of 180,000 kms.
13. Uranus, therein represented by Ahrari, entered into a bill of sale with one Mario Pipia in respect of a 1991 Chevrolet Cavalier motor vehicle. Ahrari represented to Pipia on the bill of sale that the aforesaid motor vehicle had travelled a distance of 146,990 kms with the letters "T.K.U." behind the figures of 146,990 kms. Ahrari did not inform Pipia that "T.K.U." meant "true kilometers unknown". Ahrari knew and failed to disclose to Pipia that the true kilometers travelled by the vehicle, when Uranus purchased the vehicle was 206,419 kms.
14. Uranus did not deliver to Pipia a duplicate original copy of the bill of sale upon completion of the sale transaction, as required by section 16(7) of Regulation 801 to the Act.
15. Uranus represented by Ahrari, when completing the application form for a limited power train warranty for the vehicle purchased by Pipia, falsely informed the warranty corporation, to whom application was made, that the vehicle had travelled 146,990 kms.
16. Uranus represented by Ahrari, when entering into a bill of sale with Dennis Sukhal in relation to the sale of a Toyota Camry motor vehicle, failed to disclose the distance travelled by that vehicle, in breach of section 16(2)(a) of Regulation 801 of the Act. The bill of sale also did not comply with section 16(2)(a) of Regulation 801 of the Act.

17. Uranus, when it purchased the above-noted 1993 Camry, 1998 Prelude, Toyota 4 Runner and Mazda 626 motor vehicles, knew that those vehicles' odometers had, respectively, indicated that the vehicles had travelled a distance of 184,541 kms, 198,829 kms, 249,252 kms and 234,802 kms. During the period that the four vehicles were in the possession and control of Uranus and displayed by it for the purposes of sale to the public, the odometers of the vehicles were altered to show in each instance lesser kilometers than when Uranus purchased the vehicles.
18. The four motor vehicles referred to in the previous paragraph were not removed from Uranus' premises by one Housin.
19. Uranus represented by Ahrari, failed to notify the Registrar of the change of location from 4000 Steeles Avenue West, Toronto as required by Section 13(5) of Regulation 801 to the Act.
20. Uranus represented by Ahrari, failed and/or refused to give the Registrar's investigators free access to the premises to inspect the books and documents of Uranus as required by Section 11(1) of the Act.
21. Ahrari permitted the Lavasani brothers to act as salespersons on behalf of Uranus at a time that he knew or ought to have known that such brothers were not registered as salespersons and, in doing so, contravened Section 4 of the Act.
22. Ahrari permitted the Lavasani brothers to share the premises at 4000 Steeles Avenue West with Uranus and to trade using the name of Uranus and its registration number.

DECISION AND REASONS:

The onus of proof rests upon the Registrar to prove that:

- (i) The past conduct of Ahrari affords reasonable grounds for the Registrar's belief that Ahrari will not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity as required by section 5(1)(b) of the Act;
- (ii) The past conduct of Ahrari as Officer and Director of Uranus affords reasonable grounds for the Registrar's belief that Uranus' business will not be carried on in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty, as required by section 5(1)(c)(ii) of the Act;
- (iii) Ahrari and/or Uranus are carrying on activities that are in contravention of section 5(1)(d) of the Act
- (iv) The past conduct of Vafaei affords reasonable grounds for the Registrar's belief that Vafaei will not carry on business in accordance with law and integrity as required by section 5(1)(b) of the Act.

- (v) That past conduct of Vafaei as Officer and Director of Venus affords reasonable grounds for belief that its business will not be carried on in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty as required by section 5(1)(c)(ii) of the Act.
- (vi) Venus and/or Vafaei are carrying on activities that will be, if Venus and/or Vafaei are registered, in contravention of the Act and the regulations in terms of section 5(1)(d) of the Act.

The Registrar bases his proposal on a number of grounds which were dealt with in evidence at the hearing and which are analyzed and considered hereunder.

1. ODOMETERS

(a) MURIEL ALEXANDER

The evidence of Ms. Alexander, which is accepted by the Tribunal, was that she observed a Nissan Maxima advertised by Uranus for sale in a magazine. The advertisement gave the name and address of Uranus where the vehicle could be viewed and pursuant to the advertisement, Ms. Alexander called at the premises of Uranus where she inspected the vehicle. During her inspection, she observed that the vehicle's odometer registered 126,800 kms. Based on the odometer reading, she was prepared to purchase the vehicle subject to checking on the vehicle's history. When she began to check on its history she learned from a previous owner, one Mittleman, that in or about April 1998, some four months prior to Ms. Alexander viewing the vehicle at Uranus' premises, it had in excess of 180,000 kms. Alexander did not proceed with the purchase of the vehicle and demanded and received a refund of the $300.00 deposit.

When the vehicle was sold to Uranus on May 6, 1998, the auctioneer's bill of sale clearly indicates that the vehicle had at that date an odometer reading of 185,968 kms. Ahrari conceded that he attended the auction on behalf of Uranus and that his signature appears on the auctioneer's bill of sale when the vehicle was sold to Uranus.

Based on the evidence placed before it, the Tribunal concludes that after Uranus took possession and ownership of the vehicle in May 1998, and while it was in Uranus' possession, Ahrari caused, or permitted, the odometer reading to be altered so as to indicate a lesser distance than it had, in fact, travelled. In the Tribunal's opinion, this is an act of dishonesty which, at the very least, reflects on the lack of integrity of Ahrari. The result of reducing an odometer reading by some 60,000 kms. prejudices that vehicle's purchaser, or potential purchaser, and is a breach of the duty owed by the dealer to such purchaser or potential purchaser.

Cory J. in his decision in the matter of Herman Motor Sales Inc. et al and Registrar of Motor Vehicle Dealers and Salesmen 29 O.R. (2d) 431 stated as follows:

"....., the Act and Regulations stress the importance of odometer readings. There can be no doubt that the readings form the basis for the assessment in value of most vehicles. To tamper or interfere with the odometer readings must be considered seriously and must constitute a grave breach of the duty of the dealer."

(b) PIPIA

Mr. and Mrs. Pipia's evidence is that they observed the odometer of the vehicle they had purchased was not registering correctly. It was, in fact, over registering. There was no evidence that Ahrari had deliberately altered with the odometer's reading. The evidence showed that the malfunctioning of the vehicle's odometer was brought to the attention of Ahrari when the vehicle was delivered to Uranus' premises immediately after it had purchased the vehicle. Ahrari cannot be faulted when he replaced the malfunctioning odometer, as the Tribunal finds that he did.

However, Ahrari should have made full disclosure to the Papias' that the odometer had been replaced and he should, in addition, have disclosed the reading of the defective odometer when it was removed for replacement, so as to comply with section 19(2) of Regulation 801 to the Act. This Ahrari did not do. The Papias were left with an inaccurate and untrue picture of the distance travelled by the vehicle. The failure to disclose, quite apart from it resulting in breach of the regulations under the Act, was a breach of duty which he owed to the Papias.

Additionally, Ahrari should have explained to the Papias the meaning of the words "T.K.U.". This he also did not do and this failure is most disturbing in that Mr. Pipia clearly did not understand English as was apparent when he gave his evidence through an interpreter.

The Tribunal believes that Ahrari should have recognized the Papias' lack of knowledge of the language and should have clearly spelled out the meaning of "T.K.U." This, Ahrari failed to do.

The Tribunal finds that Ahrari's conduct amounted to deception and dishonesty and reflects a lack of integrity.

(c) SUKHAL

The documentary evidence tendered by the Registrar was that Sukhal had indicated in writing, in answer to a query addressed to him by OMVIC, that the vehicle he purchased from Uranus had an odometer reading at the time of sale of 124,000 kms. This evidence was not disputed by Ahrari's counsel. However, he did complain that Sukhal was not present to give viva voce evidence. This complaint is without justification in view of the fact that the bill of sale between Uranus and Sukhal (which the Registrar had obtained from Uranus' records) did not contain Sukhal's address or telephone number. According to the Registrar's counsel, Sukhal was only found after considerable effort and then only when the written query was addressed to him. When later efforts were made to have Sukhal give evidence at the hearing, he could not be found. The Tribunal therefore accepted the best evidence that was available.

It was not disputed by Ahrari that when Uranus purchased the vehicle at a motor dealers auction, the odometer registered 183,492 kms. The copy of the bill of sale between Uranus and Sukhal, obtained by the Registrar from the records of Uranus pursuant to the Registrar's investigation, reflected a blank where the "distance travelled" by the vehicle should have been inserted by Uranus.

The failure of Ahrari to have fully completed the Sukhal bill of sale in respect of the odometer's reading and Sukhal's address is a breach of Sections 15(2)(o) and (a) respectively of Regulation 801 to the Act.

Ahrari left undisputed Sukhal's statement that when he took possession of the vehicle its odometer indicated 124,000 kms. This fact, as well as Ahrari's not disputing that when Uranus purchased the vehicle at an auction, the bill of sale indicated an odometer reading of 183,492 kms., leads the Tribunal to the belief that while the vehicle was in Uranus' possession, the odometer was turned back. At no stage did Ahrari deny the above facts. He did not contend that he was not the controlling mind of Uranus or that some other party was responsible for the odometer's differing readings.

Accordingly, the Tribunal finds that Ahrari tampered with the vehicle's odometer or caused it to be tampered with. In so doing, he breached the duty he owed to Sukhal and to the public at large. His conduct in the Tribunal's view was not only lacking in integrity but was dishonest and, once again, the Tribunal refers to the Herman decision, supra.

(d) 1993 CAMRY, 1988 PRELUDE, TOYOTA 4 RUNNER AND MAZDA 626

The Tribunal had the opportunity of observing witnesses Gingras and LeeDempsey, both investigators with OMVIC and of listening to their testimony. Having done so, the Tribunal has no hesitation in accepting their testimony and preferring it to the testimony given by Ahrari, who was found to be evasive and contradictory. In his testimony given on June 16, 2000 Ahrari clearly stated, when under cross-examination, that the four above vehicles did not leave Uranus' premises with Housin and that Housin was not given the keys to the vehicles. Yet, when the hearing resumed some two months later, Ahrari stated that Housin had removed the vehicles and, after their return to Uranus' premises had observed that the odometers had been tampered with. The contradictory evidence given by Ahrari reflects poorly on his credibility .

In addition, the Tribunal finds the version of events described by Ahrari to be so far fetched as to border on a flight of fantasy. There was no bill of sale given to the investigators by Ahrari when they asked him for a bill of sale during their investigation. There was no bank deposit regarding the $10,000.00 U.S. There were no documents either available or produced to the investigators when they closely discussed this matter with Ahrari. It is, in the Tribunal's opinion, unlikely in the extreme, that a motor dealer would, even temporarily, part with possession of four vehicles without having some form of written agreement with Housin, of whose whereabouts Ahrari had little or no knowledge.

The Tribunal finds that the odometers of the above four vehicles were altered by Ahrari after such vehicles came into Uranus' possession and ownership. Such alterations occurred before August 5, 1999 and the Tribunal finds that the odometers of the four vehicles were again altered by Ahrari after August 5, 1999 and before August 10, 1999. This latter alteration by Ahrari was done due to his concern that he knew that OMVIC's investigators had observed, on August 5, 1999, readings that did not accord with odometer readings when the vehicles were purchased by Uranus.

The Tribunal finds that the alteration of the vehicles odometers prior to August 5, 1999 while the vehicles were in the possession of Uranus was done by Ahrari with the intention to mislead the public as to the true distance travelled by each of such vehicles. This conduct was dishonest and indicated a lack of integrity.

CONTRAVENTIONS OF THE ACT AND REGULATIONS

Exhibit 11, Tab 4 indicates that Uranus sublet the premises it had leased at 4000 Steeles Avenue West to Golden Automotive. The exhibit is a copy a sub-lease agreement entered into between Uranus and Golden Automotive and was effective August 1, 1998. Ahrari confirmed the existence of this sublease during the hearing and stated that Uranus left 4000 Steeles Avenue West on August 1, 1998. There was no evidence placed before the Tribunal that the Registrar was notified of the change of location within five days after such change and as such it is a breach of section 13(5) of Regulation 801 to the Act.

On June 22, 1990, the premises, then occupied by Uranus, were visited by an inspector from the Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations and the relevant Regulations under the Act were discussed with Ahrari, at length and left with him.

On May 27, 1993, a further visit was made by a Compliance Officer of the Ministry. That visit revealed a contravention by Uranus in regard to the non-maintenance of books and records on the premises. Ahrari acknowledged receipt of the contravention notice left at Uranus' premises.

On September 3, 1998, an inspector from OMVIC, Ms. LeeDempsey, called at the premises of Uranus to inspect its books and records but was unable to do so as the records were not on the premises or available for inspection.

On September 14, 1998, inspector LeeDempsey spoke with Vafaei, who was then at the premises of Uranus, and again requested the books and records of Uranus to inspect them. Vafaei advised her that the books and records were not on Uranus' premises but were "at home" and that their specific location there was unknown.

Again on September 28, 1998, inspector LeeDempsey called upon Ahrari to produce the books and records of Uranus. Again, they were not available for inspection, with Ahrari claiming they were at an address in Brampton.

On October 7, 1998, Ahrari claims the books and records of Uranus were stolen, not from Uranus' premises, but from Ahrari's motor vehicle.

On August 10, 1999, inspector Louise Gingras called at the premises of Uranus for the purpose of conducting an inspection. Again books and records were not available and not on the premises.

The above synopsis confirms that Uranus' books and records were not available for inspection as a result of the conduct of Ahrari. Ahrari's conduct denied the Registrar an opportunity to measure Uranus' compliance, or otherwise, with the Act and regulations.

Quite clearly, Ahrari's repeated failure to make available the required books and records was a violation of Ahrari's obligations under the Act and its regulations. Ahrari made no effort to comply with the requirements of the Act and regulations to make the books and records of Uranus available for inspection. His conduct was obstructive.

In the Tribunal's opinion, the past conduct of Ahrari reflects adversely on Ahrari's preparedness or willingness in the future to work in a spirit of co-operation with the Registrar. Ahrari's repeated non-compliance with the Act and regulations does not augur well for his future compliance with his legal obligations.

Quite apart from Ahrari's failure to allow access to and inspection of Uranus' books and records in terms of Sections 10 and 11 of the Act, he has failed to comply with other aspects of the Act and Regulation 801. As previously pointed out, he has failed to comply with Section 19 of Regulation 801 in relation to the exchange of an odometer in the Pipia vehicle. He has failed to comply with Section 16 of that regulation concerning the correct and full completion of bills of sale. Considering Ahrari's ten years in the industry coupled with his repeated non-compliance with both the Act and its regulations, the Tribunal finds no reason to disagree with the Registrar's belief that the past conduct of Ahrari affords reasonable grounds for the Registrar's belief that he will not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty.

Finally, the Tribunal finds that Ahrari knew that the Lavasani brothers were not registered as dealers or salespersons. Despite this knowledge, Ahrari assisted the Lavasani brothers and permitted them not only to use and trade in motor vehicles from Uranus' designated premises but also to use Uranus' registration and to buy and sell motor vehicles. This conduct and attitude in and of itself shows a total lack of integrity on Ahrari's part and cannot be condoned, even if Ahrari was fearful of harm at the hands of the Lavasani brothers, as he claimed.

VENUS AND VAFAEI

Although Vafaei has no criminal convictions registered against her and has not offended against the Act or regulation during such time as she operated as a registered salesperson, it is the opinion of the Registrar that she is an unsuitable candidate for registration as a salesperson. The Registrar bases his views on the spousal relationship that exists between Ahrari and Vafaei. The Tribunal has noted the evidence of Vafaei that she does not wish registration as a salesperson if Ahrari is denied his application and further notes that Vafaei, on her own evidence, stated that she will rely on Ahrari's advice and assistance in operating Venus.

In summary and conclusion based on the evidence placed before this Tribunal as well as the reasons dealt with, it is the decision of the Tribunal to confirm the Registrar's proposal and to revoke the registrations of both Ahrari and Uranus. For the reasons already stated the Tribunal finds Ahrari to be unworthy of registration. For the same reasons, the Tribunal finds that due to the existing close relationship of Ahrari and Vafaei and Vafaei's clearly stated intent to involve Ahrari in the business of Venus should it be registered under the Act, it would be inappropriate to allow either or both registrations of Vafaei's and Venus because the obvious control of Venus would lie in the hands of Ahrari, whose past conduct is fully discussed above.

DECISION:

Accordingly, by virtue of the authority vested in it under Section 7(4) of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act, this Tribunal directs the Registrar to carry out his proposal to revoke the registration of Uranus and Ahrari and to refuse the registration of Venus and Vafaei.

Appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap.H.8 as amended (the "Act"), from the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the Act.

TO APPEAL AN ORDER TO IMPOUND A MOTOR VEHICLE ISSUED BY THE REGISTRAR OF MOTOR VEHICLES

TRIBUNAL: NIVES MONTANO, Presiding member
WILLIAM WARBURTON, Member

APPEARANCES: KIM GROSSKURTH,
Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

ANDREW PEWNGAM,
Agent representing KNP Corporation Canada

DATE OF HEARING: September 15, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: September 20, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on September 15, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the “Registrar”), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: KNP Corporation Canada (the “Applicant”)
Motor Vehicle: 1993 Nissan Maxima, plate #AFYE 668 (the “vehicle”)
Date of Appeal: August 24, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the “Tribunal”) together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on September 15, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant’s request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant’s appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar’s order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant’s evidence follows.

Applicant’s written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

I, Andrew Pewngam on behalf of the vehicle owner, KNP Corporation Canada wish to appeal the impound order no. 0602226 on the following reasons.

This vehicle; 1993 Nissan Maxima VIN # JN1HJ01C4PT023351 bearing plate # AFYE668 was leased to Luu, Thi-Vui of 2801 Jane Street apartment # 1115, Downsview, Ontario M3V 2H8 on September 28, 1999. Attached herewith the lease agreement.

At the time of the lease, the leasee's driver's license is valid. But being a leaser, we have no control over the operation of the vehicle. Since the lease is behind three months payment, we are taking over the possession of the vehicle. As such we are paying for all charges incurred to this date upon your release.

In consideration of the above, we hope you could set aside the above impound order and release the said vehicle to us on receipt of our payment.

KNP Corporation Canada rents and leases new and used vehicles. Its fleet consists of approximately 15 vehicles. The impounded vehicle was leased in September of 1999. As of June 2000, the leasee has been in default of its monthly lease obligation.

When a leasee signs a lease agreement with the Applicant, the leasee is required to remit a security deposit upon signing the lease. In this case, the security deposit was in the amount of $3,000. This security deposit is a safety net for the Applicant in the event the leasee falls behind on monthly lease payments. This money may also go towards repairing any damage incurred to the vehicle when it is returned to the Applicant on completion of its lease.

In the Agent's testimony, he indicated the Applicant's rule of practice towards repossessing a vehicle consists of:

- (a) a 30-day grace period in which the leasee is given a chance to pay back the defaulted amount;
- (b) if the leasee fails to remit its monthly payment, the monthly payment is deducted from the security deposit; and
- (c) if the payments continue to remain in arrears for an additional two months, the Applicant commences proceedings to repossess the vehicle.

In this case, the Applicant was in a position to repossess the vehicle in August at which time the vehicle was impounded.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows (Exhibits 4 & 5):

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Vinh Duc Luu;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of driving with more than 80 mgs alcohol in blood under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until September 20, 2000.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

(1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines "exceptional hardship" as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

- (h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22 (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety of any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
- (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,

- (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
- (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The Applicant has requested an appeal on the grounds of "exceptional hardship" under section 50.2(3)(d). Section 22 of Regulation 632/98 is very specific, in that it provides the Tribunal with the criteria the Applicant must meet to determine if in fact "exceptional hardship" will result from the impoundment. The Applicant in this case has argued that the impoundment will result in hardship as described by section 22(2). In order for its claim to be considered under section 22(2), the Agent must have demonstrated that all of section 22(3) has been met. Furthermore, section 22(4) of the Regulation provides the criteria for demonstrating that every reasonable option has been considered for an alternative to the impounded vehicle.

With regard to section 22(3),

- (a) the Applicant is a leasing company. In the Agent's testimony, its fleet consists of approximately 15 vehicles. Therefore, there may be available vehicles to be rented and/or leased.
- (b) The Applicant has not proven that the loss of the vehicle will be immediate, significant and lasting. The vehicle is scheduled to be released from impoundment on September 23, 2000. The Applicant currently holds in its possession $3,000, which represents a security deposit for the impounded vehicle. Therefore, the Applicant in its sole discretion may have the right to apply these monies towards the defaulted monthly payments (approximately $437 per month) as well as the impoundment fees (approximately $1,200 to $1,400).

- (c) The Applicant being a leasing company is also not considered a person ordinarily transported by the vehicle.

Evidence was heard that the Applicant may have incurred some financial hardship as a result of the loss of the vehicle. The Applicant's Agent may pursue compensation from the suspended driver, Vinh Duc Luu, as is stated in section 55.1(21) of the Highway Traffic Act:

"The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under this section may bring an action against the driver of the motor vehicle at the time the order was made to recover any costs or other losses incurred by the owner in connection with the order".

The Applicant and its Agent have not presented the Tribunal with any evidence that would demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered as contemplated by section 22(4) of the Regulation.

The Tribunal accordingly finds the Applicant has not established that it has or will suffer exceptional hardship as defined by Ontario Regulation 632/98, subsection 22.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

APPEAL FROM A DECISION OF THE BOARD OF
DIRECTORS OF THE ONTARIO TRAVEL INDUSTRY
COMPENSATION FUND CORPORATION UNDER THE TRAVEL INDUSTRY ACT

TO DISALLOW A CLAIM

TRIBUNAL: JOHANNE N. MORISSETTE ,Vice-Chair

APPEARANCES: DANIEL GHEBRE-MEDHIN, appearing on his own behalf
FATIMA HUSAIN, Counsel representing the Board of Trustees, Ontario Travel Industry Compensation Fund

DATE OF HEARING: August 30, 2000 Ottawa

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

The Board of Directors of the Ontario Travel Industry Compensation Fund Corporation by its decision letter dated June 5, 2000, refused the claim of Mr. Daniel Ghebre-Medhin for reimbursement from the Travel Industry Compensation Fund. They stated that the claim was received beyond the filing deadline set out in Regulation 806/93 under the Travel Industry Act (the "Act").

Mr. Daniel Ghebre-Medhin, filed a Notice of Appeal on June 20, 2000, to the Licence Appeal Tribunal.

ISSUES:

Is the claim non-eligible because it was filed beyond the limitation period?

EVIDENCE:

Mr. Ghebre-Medhin, on April 22, 1997, booked travel services with 141603 Canada Ltd., o/a Unitravel Services (the "Registrant"), a formerly registered travel agent, for travel services departing on July 1, 1997, from Ottawa to Asmara, Eritrea, and return. The Applicant paid a deposit for the services in the amount of $1000.00 to the Registrant, and received a receipt for the deposit. In or around the end of June 1997, the Applicant testified that he no longer required to travel to Eritrea since his sister was no longer ill and accordingly attended Unitravel to cancel his travel plans. He further testified that

Ms. Edda Battistella of Unitravel advised him that he would get his money back as soon as she got the money from the airline. He further testified that throughout the summer of 1997, he kept going to the office asking for his money and she kept saying to him that she was still waiting for the money from the airline. In or around the second week of September, he attended the office of Unitravel only to find the office closed and the premises vacated with only a sign on it saying "for rent". He further testified that it was only around January 2000 that he met Ms. Battistella when she advised him that he should make his claim from the Travel Industry Council of Ontario ("TICO") and she gave him the phone number. On January 24, 2000, he filed his claim with the Travel Industry Compensation Fund (the "Fund"). By letter dated March 13, 2000, the claimant was informed that he was not within the required six months deadline.

TESTIMONY OF THE RESPONDENT

Ms. Laurie Ferlan is the claims coordinator for the Fund and testified to the effect that on September 17, 1997, the Registrant voluntarily terminated its registration and ceased to operate. The Tribunal accepts this date as the latest date that could be considered the date of the event giving rise to the claim. She further testified that arising out of the failure of Unitravel Services, 24 claims have been received at the Travel Industry Council of Ontario. Of these claims, 23 were received between the dates of September 26, 1997 and February 19, 1998. Of the claims received to date, 18 claims have been paid from the Ontario Travel Industry Compensation Fund for a total amount of $21,221.89.

THE LAW:

Section 50(1) of Regulation 806/93 under the Travel Industry Act states that:

Section 50(1) A customer is entitled to be reimbursed for travel services paid for but not provided if,

- a) the customer made payment for the travel services directly to or through a registered travel agent;
- b) the customer has made a demand for payment from the registered travel agent or the appropriate registered wholesaler; and
- c) the customer has not been reimbursed by,
 - i) the registrant because the registrant is unable to pay by reason of bankruptcy or insolvency,
 - ii) any other person who has received the customer's money, or
 - iii) any other person who may be legally obliged to reimburse or compensate the customer, including a person obliged under a contract for insurance.

Section 50(2) A reimbursement under Section (1) is limited to the amount paid by the customer to the travel agent for those travel services that were not provided.

Section 53. A customer or a registrant shall make a claim for reimbursement in writing to the board of directors within six months after the event that gave rise to the claim for reimbursement.

Section 54(1) The claimant shall provide such evidence to the board of directors as it may require to prove the claim.

ANALYSIS:

The Applicant in this matter is definitely a sincere person who was evidently not aware of the laws surrounding this situation. It is also very evident that from September 1997 until January 2000, he was always under the impression that eventually he would get his refund from this travel agent; however, he had, from his own testimony, not seen or heard from Ms. Battistella since January of 1999 and unfortunately did not seek any advice to ascertain his rights concerning the deposit. Had Mr. Ghebre-Medhin sought advice, he would have been able to submit his claim within the prescribed time by legislation. This is a very unfortunate circumstance for an Applicant who can not afford to lose this amount of money.

The Tribunal accepts the submission of Council for the Ontario Travel Industry Compensation Fund Corporation that this claim is excluded due to the limitation period as set out in Section 53 of the Regulation 806/93. Accepting the proposition that the latest date for the event that gave rise to this claim is the business failure of the Unitravel Services, then the Applicant would have had to file his claim by no later than March 18, 1998. Unfortunately this claim was not filed until January 24, 2000.

The Tribunal further accepts the submission that this section is a mandatory section, the word "shall" makes it mandatory and precludes the Tribunal from exercising any discretion to permit an extension of time frame for filing the claim.

Therefore, the Tribunal must deny the claim by the Applicant.

ORDER:

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority vested in it by the provisions of the Travel Industry Act and Regulations made thereunder, the Tribunal directs the Board of Trustees of the Ontario Travel Industry Compensation Fund to disallow the claim of the Applicant.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the “Registrar”), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner:	Sheri Spinks (the “Applicant”)
Motor Vehicle:	1995 Audi A6Q, plate #AHFW 330 (the “vehicle”)
Date of Appeal:	August 29, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the “Tribunal”) together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on September 14, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing. The Applicant presented the Tribunal with a work sheet detailing her monthly expenses, and a copy of her pay stub with earning statement that she wished entered into evidence as exhibits. There was no objection from the Respondent, and these two documents were entered into evidence as exhibit numbers seven and eight. All other documents entered into evidence were exhibited with the consent of both parties.

The Respondent asked that the witness for the Applicant be excluded from the hearing while the Applicant was giving her testimony. The Applicant did not object and the request was granted.

The hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant’s request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant’s appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar’s order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

GROUND FOR APPEAL OF IMPOUNDMENT ORDER

RE: Impoundment Order No. 0501213

I am appealing the impoundment of my vehicle pursuant to section 50.2 (d) of the Highway Traffic Act. The loss of my vehicle for the impoundment period will result in exceptional hardship.

I am a responsible person and have been recognized as such by those who know me. I am a very responsible driver and have never had any problems with my vehicle in the past; my perfect driving record is evidence of that. My car is currently impounded as a result of the fact that my brother, who has suspended license, was caught driving my car.

I was not aware, nor did I give my brother consent to drive my vehicle. My brother was in care of my vehicle for the purposes of repairs. I had dropped off my car to him on the afternoon of the 18th of August for him to replace my brake pads. I was under the impression that the brakes would be fixed at his residence and that I would pick the car up there when the repairs were completed. I would not have allowed my brother to have possession of my vehicle if I was aware his intentions were to drive it.

The impoundment of my vehicle is the result of my brother's actions that were through no control or knowledge of my own. My situation is not all that different from that of an individual who, dropping their vehicle off at a mechanic, is under the impression that the car will be taken care of, and not driven illegally. If I had taken my car to a mechanic to have the brake pads fixed, and without my knowledge someone had operated the car while their license was suspended, I do not think I could be held responsible for their actions, yet I am being held responsible for the actions of my brother.

I am currently employed at two different places. The short period of time that I have been without my vehicle has already proven to be extremely inconvenient and stressful. I work at a restaurant part-time in the evenings, sometimes until 3:00 am or 4:00 am. It is not possible for me to use public transportation at this time in the morning, nor would it be safe. It is also not possible to leave my full time employment and arrive on time for my part-time via public transportation because of the time restrictions and distance. It is not within my budget to take a cab to and from work, especially considering that both my full and part time locations of employment are approximately 15 km from my house. I have inquired with taxi companies in the area and have been informed that a one way fare would cost me approximately $25 to $30. I have looked into all the available alternatives, including a rental car. The expense of a rental vehicle to cover the remainder of the impoundment period is clearly not an option for me due to my financial situation.

Without my vehicle, I fear that I will not be able to maintain the attendance and punctuality records that I have worked hard to establish. This will not only jeopardize my employment but also my reputation within the company.

As well, the cost of recovering my vehicle from the impoundment location is going to cause me extreme financial hardship. The towing costs and related vehicle storage fees are quite hefty and beyond my means.

I thank you in advance for your consideration, and look forward to being able to present my appeal to you in person very soon.

Sincerely,

Sheri Spinks

The Applicant testified that she had taken the vehicle to her brother, Kenneth Spinks' house so that he could replace the brake pads on her vehicle. Mr. Spinks' driver's licence was under suspension at the time of the impoundment. She thought that the vehicle would be repaired on site and that she could pick it up later that day. She stated that she had no knowledge that her brother would drive her vehicle. At some time during that day, Mr. Spinks drove the Applicant's car, was stopped by police, and the vehicle was subsequently impounded.

The Applicant stated that since the impoundment, she has been having difficulty maintaining her employment schedule at her two places of employment. She testified that she has contacted taxi cab companies, and rental vehicles are beyond her means. In support of her testimony, the Applicant presented the Tribunal with documents showing her monthly earnings and expenses, as well as letters from her two employers.

The Applicant testified that though inconvenienced, she has managed to obtain rides from her mother who has her own vehicle, as well as from a co-worker, however she can not rely on these alternatives. Public transit is available for her to get to her full time job, though her part time job finishes very late at night and she would not use it.

Kenneth Spinks testified that his sister dropped off the vehicle for him to repair the brakes at his residence. He drove the vehicle to pick up some parts for the vehicle without her knowledge.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Kenneth Spinks;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence driving while disqualified under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until July 31, 2001.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

(1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines “exceptional hardship” as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

(h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22
- (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety of any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
 - (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
 - (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;

- (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

The Applicant has appealed on the grounds of exceptional hardship, in accordance with section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act. Section 22 of Regulation 632/98 is very specific, in that it provides the Tribunal with the specific criteria the Applicant must meet to determine if exceptional hardship under the Act will result from the impoundment.

The Tribunal is precluded from considering other factors not arising from or directly related to the impoundment itself. This includes the unfortunate fact that the Applicant's brother chose to drive her vehicle without her knowledge or consent, as well as any fees associated with the impoundment and subsequent release of the vehicle.

In order for the Applicant's claims to be considered under section 22(2)(a), (b), and (c), she must have demonstrated that all of section 22(3) has been met. Furthermore, section 22(4) of the Regulation provides that the Applicant demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered for an alternative to the vehicle. The Applicant has made no specific claims of exceptional hardship as described by section 22(1)(a) or (b).

The Applicant's oral testimony that she investigated alternatives lacked sufficient documentary corroboration, and failed to demonstrate that she could not afford an alternative to the impounded vehicle. The Tribunal finds her testimony insufficient in meeting the onus of proof required by section 22(4) of the Regulation. In fact, under cross examination, the Applicant appeared unwilling to incur additional expenses that would mitigate her situation as she believed that she was not at fault in the matter. Furthermore, the Applicant's testimony was that she has made use of alternatives to the impounded vehicle, including public transit, and occasional rides with her mother and co-workers.

Though inconvenienced, the Applicant has not suffered any loss of employment as a result of the impoundment. Furthermore, the Applicant has not presented the Tribunal with sufficient evidence that would indicate that this loss of the vehicle would be immediate significant and lasting as per section 22(3)(b) of the Regulation.

The Tribunal finds that the Applicant has failed to meet the onus under the section 22(3) and 22(4) of the Regulation, and is therefore precluded from considering the Applicant's claim of exceptional hardship under section 22(2) of the Regulation.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

DATE OF HEARING: September 18, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: September 21, 2000 Kingston

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on September 18, 2000, at Kingston, Ontario, to consider the Applicant’s appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended (“HTA” or the “Act”).

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the “Act”).

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: Nancy Piffl (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle: 1993 Jeep CHK, plate #308 VAF (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal: August 28, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on September 18, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

The matter of ownership was questioned, as at the time of the impoundment the vehicle was owned by the driver, Kevin Brooks.

Present at the hearing was Ms Nancy Grace Piffl, who signed the Notice of Appeal, as owner. Ms Piffl informed the Tribunal that she acquired possession of the vehicle in question on or about August 21, 2000 as per new ownership on file.

The Respondent had no objection to Ms Piffl being accepted as Applicant as applicable legislation states that "The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order of impoundment... may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal." (Sec. 50.2 HTA)

The Tribunal proceeded on the understanding that the matter of jurisdiction would be addressed in the decision.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

License Appeal Tribunal

Toronto, Ontario

Attention: Hearing Co-ordinator

The following letter will outline our reasons for the appeal. Any further information you require we provide upon request. It should be noted that Kevin Brooks & I are considered common law & reside at the same address. It should be noted that I was unaware the license was suspended & Kevin was unaware until the day he was pulled over for an illegal left hand turn. From what we have gathered the license is around a care & control incident that occurred in March of 99 in Ottawa. Kevin moved to Kingston in July of 99 to work at Corcan & to reside with

Type of Hearing

According to the documents faxed on August 25/00 it states that an oral hearing can be done & is carried on in major centers. I reside in Kingston so if you so desired this could be meant. If such a hearing is not present in this city then our best is a written hearing and consent. Kevin & I both work so any travel to a different location will be difficult. A telephone conference may be possible which we could setup. I have checked off written hearing & consent but the alternatives could be meant if so desired provided the oral hearing is possible in Kingston.

Reason For the Appeal

The reason for the appeal is because the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship. Currently Kevin & I both work. I currently work at A&P which is located in the township. Kevin works at Corcan. So we need the vehicle for our employment purposes. My current work place is about 15-20 km from my residence. The other reason we need the vehicle is because my son who is 17 has 2 part time jobs. One of the jobs is pizza delivery with Pizza Hut, which requires a vehicle to do the job. He also requires a vehicle or transportation because he is always on call for extra shifts at both jobs. Without the vehicle it limits his ability to pickup shifts which he requires in order to pay for school and sporting activities. He has a valid driver license. As I am a single mother it is important my son work in order to ease my financial burden related to school and his sport activities. Obviously the biggest reason is the fact that in our household we have 3 people who have employment and require the vehicle to maintain such employment, especially my son.

The other reason the vehicle is required is currently I am assisting my parents who live outside of Kingston. My mother recently just had a heart attack so we need the vehicle in case of medical emergencies and to go to Napanee where his mother resides. She lost her husband in Oct 99 and she has a farm that requires his assistance in maintaining. Obviously until Kevin gets his license back, I will provide the transportation when it is required to go there and to Corcan. Kevin in full agreement of this.

We trust the following information is satisfactory. If you require further information please do not hesitate to call Kevin or myself at the enclosed numbers.

Nancy Piff

Kevin Brooks

The "Owner's Position in Appeal" filed for the Tribunal in support of the Appeal refers to an attached letter, dated August 25, 2000, signed by the Applicant Nancy Piffl and Kevin Brooks. (Exhibit # 3)

The Applicant claims impoundment will result in "...exceptional hardship... current place of employment is about 15-20 km from... residence... son... 17 has 2 part time jobs... pizza delivery... requires vehicle... it is important... son work in order to ease... financial burden... require the vehicle to maintain... employment... assisting... parents who live outside of Kingston... need vehicle in case of medical emergencies..."

At the hearing, the Applicant simply alluded to the letter, as the extent of the evidence to be considered.

In cross-examination, the Applicant confirmed that she has purchased a new vehicle and that "...everyone managed to get around... walk... bike..."

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The evidence of the Registrar consisted of the documents filed for the hearing and entered as Exhibit # 4.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Kevin J. Brooks;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of driving while disqualified or prohibited under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until June 23, 2001.

The evidence of the Registrar consisted of the documentary evidence to on file.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

(1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines “exceptional hardship” as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

(h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22
- (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety of any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
 - (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
 - (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,

- (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS

After reviewing section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, the Tribunal comes to the conclusion that it has no jurisdictional difficulties in accepting Ms Nancy Piffel as the Applicant. At the time the Notice of Appeal was signed, i.e. August 25, 2000, Ms Piffel was in fact the legal owner of the motor vehicle and, in any event, is authorized by Kevin Brooks to proceed with this appeal.

The onus is on the Applicant to establish the exceptional hardship ground of appeal as provided in subsection 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

The Tribunal will proceed to review the criteria required to meet the onus for consideration of financial loss, as per subsection 50.2(3)(d).

Is there no alternative to the impounded vehicle?

According to subsection 22(3)(a) Regulation 574 as amended by O. Reg. 632/98, the Tribunal may not consider financial or economic loss as a ground of appeal unless no alternative to the impounded vehicle is available.

The Applicant testified that she has bought a new car and that everyone “...managed to get around...”.

Is the loss immediate, significant and lasting?

The Applicant does not meet the criteria of O. Reg. 632/98, subsection 22(3)(b) which provides that the Tribunal may not regard economic loss unless the Applicant shows proof that loss will be immediate, significant and lasting.

The Applicant did not offer evidence regarding financial loss, and she did not satisfy the Tribunal that she has in fact incurred any loss of income or extra expenses which could be considered significant and lasting.

Is the loss upon a person ordinarily transported in the motor vehicle?

The evidence indicates that the impact of the loss will be borne by a person or persons who may be transported in the impounded vehicle, particularly Mrs. Piffel and her son.

Is the loss upon a person other than the driver of the motor vehicle and not a result of that driver's loss?

O. Reg. 632/98, subsection 22(3)(d)(i)(ii), amending Regulation 574 provides that this Tribunal may not consider economic loss unless the owner demonstrates that:

- d) the impact of the loss,
 - i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle and...
 - ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause 2(b)(c) or (d).

The Applicant is not one and the same as the person who was found to be "Driving Disqualified", therefore she meets the criteria set out in 22(3)(d)(i).

The criteria tested in subsection 22(3) of Ontario Regulation 632/98 are cumulative. That is, to be successful an Applicant must demonstrate all of the criteria of subsection 22(3). The Applicant has not established that there is no alternative to the vehicle and has not established that the loss is significant and lasting. Therefore, the Tribunal may not consider such loss as an exceptional hardship within the requirements of section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

This is a hearing before the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") arising out of a Decision of the Complaints Committee of the Board of Funeral Services dated March 1, 2000, under the Funeral Directors and Establishments Act (the "Act") that the conduct of Carol Saucier ("the Respondent") does not warrant referral to the Discipline Committee of the Board of Funeral Services.

BACKGROUND:

Mrs. Brenda Sherman (the "Deceased") died on July 23, 1999 and Steeles Memorial Chapel ("Steeles") was hired by Mr. Sam Sherman (the "Applicant") to provide funeral services. The initial contact with Steeles was made minutes after the death of the Deceased. Brian Waterman telephoned Steeles Memorial Chapel at the direction of the Applicant, and spoke to the Respondent to advise her that the Applicant would be coming to make funeral arrangements and that they already owned burial plots at Pardes Shalom Cemetery (the "Cemetery"). Shortly after this telephone call, the Respondent telephoned the Cemetery and advised them of the death of the Deceased as well as other information which is in dispute.

When the Applicant arrived with his family and friends, they were met by the Respondent who introduced them to Larisa Meerova (Meerova), a funeral director employed by Steeles and working under the direction of the Respondent. Arrangements for the funeral were made by the Applicant and Meerova while the other family members and friends were in the office. A contract was signed by the Applicant setting out prices together with terms, and exclusions. The funeral was held July 25, 1999 and the wrong grave was opened by the Cemetery. After discussions with the staff at the Cemetery, the correct grave was opened, and the funeral was completed the same day. The Applicant withheld a part of the payment to Steeles and legal action was commenced to collect the debt.

The decision of the Complaints Committee of the Board of Funeral Services set out in a letter dated March 1, 2000 is as follows:

In accordance with subsection 14(2)(c) of the Funeral Directors and Establishments Act, the Complaints Committee believes that the conduct does not warrant a referral to the Discipline Committee and no other action will be taken.

The Complaints Committee is not in the position to make findings of credibility and cannot determine what actually transpired in light of the conflicting versions of events. However, a significant concern has been raised and the licensee would likely avoid future complaints of a similar nature if the licensee were to obtain the cemetery information from the consumer, confirm it in writing and then convey the information in writing to the cemetery. In acting as agent for the consumer, the funeral director has an obligation to facilitate the arrangements made with the cemetery.

The Applicant by letter dated April 4, 2000 requested a hearing by this Tribunal respecting the decision of the Complaints Committee. This Tribunal conducted a hearing on August 30, 2000. A summary of the evidence is set out below.

ISSUE:

The issue in this case is whether the Complaints Committee erred in finding that the conduct of the Respondent did not warrant a referral of the matter to the Discipline Committee.

THE LAW:

Section 1 of the Funeral Directors and Establishments Act states as follows;

"funeral director" means an individual who provides or directs the providing of funeral services;

"funeral services" means the care and preparation of dead human bodies and the coordination of rites and ceremonies with respect to dead human bodies, but does not include services provided by a cemetery or crematorium owner under the Cemeteries Act;

Section 14 of the Funeral Directors and Establishments Act (the 'Act'), states as follows;

(1) the Complaints Committee shall consider and investigate complaints regarding the conduct or actions of any licensee, but no action shall be taken by the Complaints Committee under subsection (2) unless;

(a) a written complaint has been filed with the Registrar and the licensee whose conduct or actions are being investigated has been notified of the complaint and given at least two weeks in which to submit in writing to the Committee any explanations or representations the licensee may wish to make concerning the matter; and

(b) the Committee has examined or has made every reasonable effort to examine all records and other documents relating to the complaint;

(2) The Complaints Committee in accordance with the information it receives may,

(a) consider all or part of the matter;

(b) direct that all or part of the matter be referred to the Discipline Committee; and

.....

(3) the complaints committee shall advise the Registrar in writing of the action it proposes to take or recommend and its reasons therefor.

.....

(6) the Registrar shall send to the complainant and to the person complained against by prepaid first-class mail a copy of the proposal of the Complaints Committee and its reasons therefor, if any, together with notice that informs the person to whom it is sent that the person is entitled to a hearing by the Tribunal if the person mails or delivers to the Registrar and to the Tribunal, within fifteen days after the notice is served on the person, notice in writing requiring a hearing and the person may so require such a hearing.

(8) If the complainant or the person complained against requires a hearing, the Tribunal shall appoint a time for and hold a hearing.

(9) After holding a hearing, the Tribunal may by order direct the Complaints Committee to carry out the proposal or refrain from carrying out the proposal and to take such action as the Tribunal considers the Complaints Committee ought to take in accordance with this Act and the regulations and, for such purposes, the Tribunal may substitute its opinion for that of the Complaints Committee.

Section 16 of the Act states as follows;

(1) The Discipline Committee shall,

(a) when so directed by the Board, Executive Committee or Complaints Committee, hear and determine allegations of professional misconduct or incompetence against a funeral director;

THE EVIDENCE:

WITNESSES FOR THE APPLICANT

Evidence was given by the Applicant, Mr. Sam Sherman who testified that his son-in-law Brian Waterman volunteered to telephone Steeles Memorial Chapel, at his request, to advise them of the death of the Deceased. After the family arrived at Steeles Memorial Chapel, they were introduced to Meerova who took them into an office to discuss the funeral arrangements. Approximately 10 people were in the office, and it became difficult to hear, so Meerova asked the Applicant to sit close enough to her that she could discuss the matter with him. He recalled telling her that he and the Deceased had prepaid plots at the cemetery, and that the Deceased's mother, Goldie Starr was buried there as well.

His evidence was that he did not remember the plot numbers, and did not bring the documents with him due to the upset caused by the death of his wife. He said that he did offer to return home and get the documents for her, but she advised him that she did not need them as she would take care of it. After that, the costs and payment for the funeral was discussed, and she explained that they had to pay the costs in advance for opening and closing the grave. A contract was presented to him, which he read and signed. He did not read it in great detail and did not give it to anyone else to read. She also asked him to phone her with the Social Insurance Number of the Deceased as she needed it for one of the forms. Mr. Leskiw, agent for the Applicant, asked him if he had authorized Mr. Waterman to make funeral arrangements, and he stated that he did not.

In cross-examination, the Applicant stated that he had asked Mr. Waterman to make the appointment for him at Steeles, and had not asked him to arrange the funeral. He neither overheard the telephone conversation between Mr. Waterman and the Respondent nor what was discussed. Mr. Sherman testified that his mother-in-law, Goldie Starr, had been buried approximately 10 years before at the cemetery, and he was not aware if Mr. Waterman knew she was there. On the issue of the burial plots, the Applicant stated that he told Meerova that they had pre-paid plots, and offered to go home to get the documentation. He testified that the notice to be printed in the newspaper was discussed during the meeting with Meerova, and he knew that the notice had been approved, but he did not remember exactly how. Upon reviewing the notice, he confirmed that there was no mention of Goldie Starr in it.

During cross-examination, Mr. Sherman was shown the contract with Steeles (Exhibit 4, F) the exclusions in paragraph 5 on page 2 were pointed out by counsel, specifically the final paragraph which stated that the Funeral Directors "shall not be responsible for the cemetery property locations, depth, or width of a grave." Again he was unsure if he had read it over carefully or understood it, as he was quite distressed at the time it was first given to him. In his opinion, it was necessary to sign the contract if he wanted to have the funeral take place.

On the date of the funeral (July 25, 1999), the wrong grave was opened. It was a very hot day; many people left due to the delay. He was unsure who sorted out the problem, but he remembered that his niece showed the cemetery staff where the proper plot was, after which it was opened, and the funeral proceeded. Mr. Sherman agreed that it was the cemetery who opened the wrong grave rather than Steeles.

The Applicant testified that after the funeral he withheld $1000.00 from the payment to Steeles, and was seeking some type of compensation and an apology. He wrote a letter to Steeles, but he did not write to the cemetery as he had no contract with them, and in his opinion it was the funeral providers job to look after him. The Respondent did send a response to his letter; however, he could not recall what it said. Mr. Sherman testified that he did have contact with Mr. Spiesman who is the Managing Director of the cemetery, and was advised to complain to the Registrar of the Board of Funeral Services if he had a problem.

The next witness for the Applicant was Mr. Brian Waterman who testified that he is the son-in-law of the Applicant and the Deceased. His evidence was that he went to the hospital when his mother-in-law died, and telephoned her niece Richelle to advise her of the death. The witness stated that Richelle told him that the Deceased wanted to be buried beside her mother Goldie Starr.

At the hospital, Mr. Waterman volunteered to place the phone call to Steeles, and spoke to the Respondent. His evidence was that he advised the Respondent that Mrs. Brenda Sherman had died, the family was coming to Steeles to make the funeral arrangements, and he made it clear to her that the Deceased had wanted to be buried beside her mother Goldie Starr. He advised the Respondent that the family had pre-paid plots at the cemetery, and the Respondent told him that she would advise the cemetery. When they arrived at Steeles, the Respondent told them that Meerova would make the funeral arrangements with them, and they were taken into a meeting room. Meerova sat at a desk with the Applicant and the witness' wife facing her. His evidence was that he was close enough to hear most of what was said although it was noisy and there were distractions. He did remember them discussing the burial plots, and he testified that the Applicant offered to go home and get the documentation concerning the burial plots in order to provide correct information. In reply to this offer, Meerova said she would look after everything, and the Applicant did not need to go home for the documents.

At the conclusion of his evidence in chief, Mr. Waterman repeated that he was not authorized to make the funeral arrangements and simply made a phone call, in which he advised the Respondent that the family was coming, and the Deceased was to be buried beside her mother Goldie Starr.

In cross-examination, Mr. Waterman confirmed that when he placed the phone call to the Respondent there was no one with him. He again repeated that he told the Respondent that the Deceased was to be buried beside her mother and that the Applicant and the Deceased had pre-paid plots. Before that date, he had not visited the cemetery and was not aware of the pre-paid plots. He said that he specifically gave the Respondent the name of the hospital, the name of Sam Sherman, emphasized that the Deceased wanted to be buried beside Goldie Starr and did not specifically say that there were pre-paid plots. At Steeles he confirmed that he did hear most of the conversation with Meerova, but there was confusion as people were talking at once. Forms were filled out, the casket was purchased, the rabbi was arranged, and the newspaper notice was worked out. Although Mr. Sherman was consulting his daughter, neither the witness nor the Applicant's daughter reviewed the contract. Mr. Waterman was present for the funeral, but he was not aware that there was a funeral director, and thought the rabbi might be acting in that capacity.

The next witness for the Applicant was his son Mr. Robert Sherman. He testified that on July 23, 1999 he went to the hospital as his mother had died. It was, of course, a traumatic event for him. He remembers that Mr. Waterman volunteered to call Steeles, and once the death was confirmed by the hospital, the family members and friends went to Steeles Memorial Chapel with the Applicant. As his father made the funeral arrangements, the witness sat by his side, and he remembers his father telling Meerova that they had a double plot and that his mother was to be buried beside Goldie Starr. His father then corrected himself and said there was a triple plot, and offered to go home to get the documentation with all of the particulars. Meerova told them it was not necessary, and asked for a payment in advance for the cemetery to cover the cost of opening and closing the grave. She said that the cemetery would not open the grave and be ready for the funeral without the payment. In cross-examination, he said that he did see his father sign the contract, and he did not read it himself that day.

WITNESSES FOR THE RESPONDENT

The Respondent, Carol Patricia Saucier testified and stated that she had been a licensed funeral director for 14 years, and was the Managing Director of the Steeles Memorial Chapel for 12 years. Her primary duties are to oversee the staff, oversee the funerals, and deal with the accounts receivable. There are 8 funeral directors working under her direction.

Ms. Saucier remembered receiving a telephone call from Mr. Waterman on July 23, 1999 at approximately 9:30 a.m.. He advised her that his mother-in-law had died at the Humber Memorial hospital. She stated that she asked him if there was a plot, and he confirmed that there was a double plot at Pardes Shalom Cemetery. When she asked if the spouse was interred in the other plot, she was advised that he was alive, and would be coming with the family to see her. The last issue dealt with according to the witness was the time for the funeral, and was it agreed that 1:00 p.m. on Sunday would be acceptable. This conversation lasted no longer than 5 minutes, and she prepared a "First Call Sheet" (Exhibit 8) on which she noted the information given to her. She then called the manager of the cemetery to advise him of the death, that there had been a double plot purchased, and that the husband was still living.

Two or three hours later, the family came to arrange the funeral, and Ms. Saucier introduced them to Meerova who is a licensed funeral director, and had been advised of the information given in the initial telephone conversation.

Ms. Saucier next dealt with Mr. Sherman on August 9, 1999 when he came in with a partial payment and told her that there was a problem at the cemetery. She advised him that Steeles had not been advised that there was a third plot, and she says she apologized to him. Her evidence is that this was the first time she had been told about Goldie Starr. She looked up her records and found that on December 7, 1998 Steeles Memorial Chapel had provided the funeral services for Goldie Starr. The Respondent testified that the Applicant had paid a deposit of approximately $2,400.00 including the fee to the cemetery for opening the grave. When he came in August 9, 1999 he paid approximately $2,800.00, and left a balance owing of $1000.00. Her evidence was that he asked her to get the cemetery to come to some type of agreement, and she told him that the cemetery had already been paid. She explained to him that the cemetery did not look at their documents, and if she had been told about Goldie Starr it would have been recorded, and she would have taken out her file from storage. In her opinion, the funeral director had nothing to gain by not mentioning Goldie Starr if she had been given that information.

On the issue of the funeral service, the Respondent stated that the funeral director that day was Mr. Yeheil Ben Ayom who advised her that the wrong grave had been opened, and he was told by the cemetery staff that they would have to come back the next day. He refused to leave, and the Applicant's niece took them to the correct plot which was then opened and the service was completed. The Respondent contacted the cemetery office, and spoke to the Secretary who advised her that the Applicant and the Deceased had purchased plots and were given two copies of the deeds and were required to send one copy back to them. She questioned whether this could be correct as it seemed unusual to her that the cemetery would not keep a copy of the deed in their records and would rely on the customer to send one deed back. Ms. Saucier remembered the letter from Nelia Sherman (Exhibit 4 A) and confirmed that she sent the reply (Exhibit 4 B) in which she said that Mr. Waterman did not explain the situation of Goldie Starr or the third plot. She testified that the second paragraph of the letter was typed by Meerova.

In cross-examination, she was repeatedly asked if she knew that Mr. Waterman did not have authority to make funeral arrangements, and she replied that she was told by Mr. Waterman that he had been asked to call, by the husband of the Deceased. He was to advise her of the death, and arrange for the Applicant to come to Steeles Memorial Chapel to make the funeral arrangements. She was then asked why she called the cemetery if Mr. Waterman did not have authority to make the funeral arrangements. The Respondent repeated that Mr. Waterman did not make the funeral arrangements, and she simply called the cemetery to advise them that the Deceased had died. The cemetery needed to know who had died, and if there was a prior burial. When she was asked why she advised them it was a double plot, she said that it was the information she had, and she expected them to look up the name in the cemetery records as they would have the correct information. In her opinion, it was the responsibility of the cemetery to determine if the person did own the plot, and in 14 years she had never given a plot location or row to a cemetery. Her understanding was that the Pardes Shalom Cemetery does not sell more than two plots in a row, and she had been advised this was a double plot.

Under the standard contract as used in this case (Exhibit 4) the location of the plot is not the responsibility of the funeral home. Her specific recollection was that Mr. Waterman did not mention Goldie Starr. She was unaware of whether Meerova also telephoned the cemetery.

The last witness was Larisa Meerova who has been a licensed funeral director for 2 years and employed by Steeles Memorial Chapel since 1998. She confirmed that she met with the Applicant and approximately 10 other persons on July 23, 1999 after receiving information from the Respondent together with the First Call Sheet. Her evidence was that she took the basic information required for the Statement of Death (Exhibit 5 N) as well as the necessary information for the funeral itself. The obituary notice was written, a casket was selected, and a rabbi was chosen. She went over the contract with Mr. Sherman by explaining the financial arrangements, and having him read the terms and conditions on the second page.

Ms. Meerova's evidence concerning the burial plot was that Mr. Sam Sherman told her that it was a pre-paid double plot and that Goldie Starr was never mentioned. It was pointed out to her repeatedly that the mother was mentioned when information was taken for the Statement of Death, and at item 12 the Deceased's mother's and father's names are shown. (These names as shown on the exhibit are Nathan Starr, and Goldie Shulman) she stated that she received the parents' names, but she was not told that the mother of the Deceased was dead. In her portion of the letter of August 19 1999 (Exhibit B) she agreed that she stated that the name of the Deceased's mother was not mentioned during the arrangements. She testified that the Respondent had told her that she had called the cemetery prior to the arrangements being made with the family, and that the family had a double plot, one space for the Deceased and one space reserved for Mr. Sherman. She denied that the third plot was mentioned, or that Mr. Sherman offered to go home and get the information; however, she said they do not give the plot numbers to the cemetery in any event. As far as she was concerned, she had provided what was needed, and it was the responsibility of the cemetery to look up the plot numbers.

The witness stated that she did ask for the Social Insurance Number of the Deceased, but they did not have it with them, and the Applicant did not call her back with it. She did not call him to get it as she said it was not important to the funeral home although there was a place for it on the Statement of Death.

The last issue was whether there was confusion at the time the information was taken due to the number of people talking. Ms. Meerova testified that she did ask people to lower their voices, but she was not confused while taking information, and simply asked for things to be repeated when necessary. In her view, the arrangement of the funeral is a matter for the whole family, and she did not ask people to leave.

At the completion of the evidence, the Agent for the Applicant sought to have Larisa Meerova added as a Respondent although she was not mentioned in the Decision of the Complaints Committee of the Board of Funeral Services (Exhibit 1) dated March 1, 2000. The Tribunal ruled that this matter had been settled by an Order released August 2, 2000 after a pre-hearing held on August 1, 2000 with both Counsel as well as the Agent for the Applicant in attendance. After considering the arguments made by all parties, the Tribunal ruled that it was bound by the Order, and refused the request to reopen the matter.

FACTS FOUND PROVEN:

The facts found by the Tribunal are that the initial call to Steeles Memorial Chapel was made by Mr. Waterman at the request of the Applicant for the purpose of notifying Steeles that the Deceased had died, and providing initial information. During the conversation the Respondent filled in an intake form known as a 'First Call Sheet' with the information considered relevant. The part of the sheet entitled 'Additional Information' was filled in on or after August 9, 1999 and was not a memo made at the time of the call. The recollections of the Respondent are primarily the information recorded on the form, and the Tribunal finds the evidence of Mr. Waterman credible that he did mention Goldie Starr as well as his understanding that there was a pre-purchased double plot. This conversation took only a few minutes, and may have been difficult due to Mr. Waterman's understandably upset state.

The Respondent believed that Pardes Shalom Cemetery sold no more than two plots in a row, and disregarded any part of the conversation with Mr. Waterman where Goldie Starr was mentioned as it did not seem relevant in light of her prior knowledge. She telephoned the cemetery to put them on notice that there would be a funeral and depended upon them to make inquiries in their records to confirm that the Applicant and Deceased actually did own a double plot so that the Deceased had the right to be buried there.

In due course a group of approximately 10 people made up of the Applicant, members of his family and close friends arrived at Steeles Memorial Chapel, and were met by the Respondent. She introduced them to Larisa Meerova who was a funeral director of 2 years experience employed by Steeles. Ms. Meerova had conversation primarily with the Applicant, and on some occasions there was some difficulty hearing due to the many conversations in the room and questions or answers had to be repeated. She satisfied herself that she had clearly obtained the necessary information and did not order the grieving family members and friends out of the room as she felt that they had a right to be part of the process.

Ms. Meerova presented a contract to the Applicant. Prior to signing it, he took the opportunity to read it and did not give it to anyone else for review. The Tribunal finds that Mr. Sherman did advise her of the pre-paid plots to the best of his knowledge, and did offer to go home and get the paperwork; however, Ms. Meerova advised him that it was not necessary, and that she would take care of it.

It was clearly Ms. Meerova's belief that it was not her responsibility to provide the plot locations to the Cemetery as they had their own reliable records, and it was up to them to look it up.

The Tribunal finds that for the purposes of the "Statement of Death", Ms. Meerova clearly was given the name of the mother as Goldie Shulman, and the name of the father as Nathan Starr as shown on the document. Her evidence that she was not given the name Goldie Starr is displaced by credible evidence that she did receive the name. The Tribunal does not find that she necessarily has a recollection of being told the name Goldie Starr and intentionally misrepresented that fact to the Tribunal. It is probable that she was told the name of Goldie Starr but soon forgot it because she did not consider it relevant or necessary information, given that she had been advised that there was a double plot and the remaining space was reserved for Mr. Sherman. Further, the Tribunal finds Ms. Meerova was not concerned about the Social Insurance Number as she considered it unimportant for the purposes of the funeral home.

The relevant subsequent events are that the funeral proceeded, the wrong plot was opened, the funeral director refused to leave until the mistake was corrected after a significant delay, Mr. Sherman withheld part of the final payment, and Steeles Memorial Chapel commenced an action to recover the balance owing.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

Under section 14(9) of the Act, after holding a hearing, the Tribunal may by order direct the Complaints Committee to carry out its proposal or refrain from doing so and to take such action as the Tribunal considers the Complaints Committee ought to take under the Act and Regulation and for such purpose the Tribunal may substitute its opinion for that of the Complaints Committee.

The Tribunal must consider whether the actions of the Respondent, and the procedures used by the Funeral Directors under her supervision require referral to the Discipline Committee or some other order of this Tribunal.

The Respondent did not provide the Cemetery with information about Goldie Starr and the location (number) of the plots to the cemetery although the Applicant made a specific offer to provide the information to the Respondent. The Respondent refused that offer, gave assurances to the Applicant that the Respondent would "take care of it". The Respondent assumed she could rely on the cemetery to retrieve the information from their own records. That assumption was wrong, and the wrong burial plot was opened for the internment. Also, the contract signed by the Applicant for the funeral services provided an exclusion of liability on the part of the Funeral Director as to the location of the burial plot at the cemetery.

It does not seem reasonable to believe that a cemetery would open a grave, and bury the deceased without confirming the entitlement of the person to be buried in that plot according to the cemetery's own records. If they do not have the responsibility to check their records, then there is the very real probability of an incorrect burial every time honest, though incorrect information is received by a Funeral Director. A grieving relative may not be able to find the plot number and may not even be sure of which cemetery the plot is in. In this case, the Funeral Director, Ms. Meerova specifically refused the offer of reliable information, and accepted responsibility, by telling the customer that she would "take care of it". Ms. Saucier is the Funeral Director for the purposes of the Act. Ms. Saucier, was the Managing Director of Steeles Memorial Chapel and as such she was responsible for the actions of Ms. Meerova.

There is an exclusionary clause in the contract whereby the funeral home is not responsible for the plot location, width, or depth. However, the Tribunal finds that in the particular circumstances of this case it does not apply. In this case, the Applicant specifically offered to obtain the documentation to provide an accurate plot number which offer was specifically refused by the Funeral Director. He was told that the funeral home would "take care of it" and relied on that assurance. The Funeral Director can not now rely on an exclusionary clause in the contract when they have specifically assumed the obligation and caused the Applicant to rely on their representation.

The Tribunal finds that the Complaints Committee erred, and the matter should be sent to the Discipline Committee of the Board of Funeral Services.

DECISION:

Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in it under section 14(9) of the Funeral Directors and Establishments Act, the Tribunal finds that the conduct complained of does warrant a referral to the Discipline Committee of the Board of Funeral Services and directs that this matter be referred forthwith.

APPEAL FROM A DECISION OF THE CORPORATION
DESIGNATED FOR THE PURPOSES OF THE
ONTARIO NEW HOME WARRANTIES PLAN ACT

TO DISALLOW A CLAIM

TRIBUNAL: DAVID J. HUNT, Vice-Chair

APPEARANCES:

KHASHAYAR (KEVIN) SANJARI, representing himself
KAREN JONES, Counsel, representing the Ontario New Home
Warranty Program
PHILIP GORDON, Counsel, representing the Added Party, Royal Chapin Gardens Inc.

DATES OF
HEARING: September 11 & 12, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal from the decision of the Ontario New Home Warranty Program ("the Program") dated March 31, 2000, wherein the Applicant's claim for damages for a breach of the Vendor's warranty was disallowed. The claim was for a repair of the items claimed. As set out herein, the Tribunal found that there was no jurisdiction over two claims, and on the others there was no breach of warranty, defect in materials or workmanship and no breach of contract by the builder. Accordingly, the Applicant is not entitled to succeed in his claim against the Program for the reasons hereinafter set out.

THE FACTS:

It is not disputed by the parties that the home is a house built by the Vendor, and sold to the Applicant and his wife Nazila Darai with a closing date of December 19, 1997.

On November 30, 1998 the Applicant first wrote to the Program requesting help for a number of items. On November 9, 1999 a Conciliation meeting was held between the Applicant, Mr. Jim Fortune the representative for the Program and Mr. Charlie Spillane the representative of the builder. Until the spring of the year 2000, the builder continued to work on the home to try to resolve the outstanding issues with the Applicant, but at the time of this hearing, several issues remain unresolved.

The Program disputes the entitlement of the Applicant to relief under Section 13(1)(a)(i) and Section 14(1)(b) of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act (the "Act").

WITNESSES FOR THE APPLICANT

The Applicant testified. He called no other witnesses. At the conclusion of this hearing, certain claims were abandoned by the Applicant and evidence about them has not been included in the summary of the Applicant's evidence.

Mr. Sanjari testified that the lock on the door between the garage and the interior of his residence never worked properly. He stated that he had reported this problem, but Mr. Fortune omitted it from the Decision Letter. Mr. Sanjari later referred to the problem in his letter of December 16, 1999 to the Program.(Ex. 3, Tab 22)

Mr. Sanjari gave evidence on the issue of squeaking stairs, which is item 10 of the Decision Letter. (Exhibit 1) It was noted as a problem in the report of his home inspector at numbers 38 and 56 which refers to a "loose step". (Exhibit 3, Tab 2) It was reported by the Applicant in the Conciliation Request Form at Exhibit 3, Tab 9, item 14 which refers to loose stairs. In the Conciliation Inspection Report dated November 30, 1999 at item 2, Mr. Fortune noted that it was covered under warranty as a defect in workmanship. However, the Decision Letter of March 31, 2000 (at item 10) denied the claim, and indicated that "at the time of the inspection there was a minor amount of noise". Efforts had been made to repair the squeaking stairs, but the Applicant was not satisfied with the repair.

Mr. Sanjari testified that the ceramic tile in the kitchen was uneven and was noted to be uneven in his home inspector's report. Mr. Sanjari observed that some of the tiles were installed higher than others, leading to the uneven surface. When he put a level on the floor, he found that it was not even. He made no measurement of the height differences between the tiles.

Mr. Sanjari testified that he paid $50 with his Conciliation request and should have received his money back because some of the issues were warrantied. He stated that he did not receive his money back although it was acknowledged in a letter that this should have been sent to him, and he testified that this was another error by the Program.

The next item referred to by Mr. Sanjari was the repair to the sliding door respecting the proper completion with insulation. This matter was not part of the Decision Letter as it was apparently repaired after the Conciliation. However, the evidence of the witness was that the insulation was not re-installed after the problem of water leakage was solved.

Mr. Sanjari testified that there was a problem with the lawn. He claimed that the sod had dried out before it was put down, that the grass was not very even, and that there was a bald patch approximately one foot square.

Mr. Sanjari stated that there was a noticeable defect under the bay window where there were two circular marks caused by nails. They had been painted over five or six times, but the marks were still visible. Mr. Sanjari disagreed with the Decision Letter which stated that the defect was due to knots in the wood and well within industry standards.

The Applicant also stated that there were ridges in the drywall. When he put a level over it, he could rock it to show that it was not even. He said that Mr. Fortune did not want to look at the problem and refused to use the level.

The next item was the wood trim. Mr. Sanjari explained that one of the window sills looked as if someone had dropped something heavy on it, but it had been simply painted over.

In cross-examination, Mr. Sanjari testified that he was the manager for an investigations company. He did not have background in construction. He agreed that he did get legal advice throughout the process of the purchase, had received further advice from the home inspector, and had called the Program on many occasions. When questioned about the Predelivery Inspection, he stated that many items were not completed at the time of the inspection, and he simply signed off on the ones beside which he had put a check mark. He was told that many things would be done later, and the builder continued to do things after he moved in. Mr. Sanjari agreed that he made no complaint to the Program until his letter of November 30, 1998, and asserted that it was his right to do this as he had a full one year period to make his complaint.

It was suggested to Mr. Sanjari that on November 9, 1999 when the Conciliation took place, certain items were removed from the list as still outstanding. He agreed that this was done, but said that Mr. Fortune had missed some items such as the late closing claim which was not put into the Decision Letter. He also disagreed that he consented to the matter of the garage door lock being removed from the items still at issue.

On the issue of the stairs, Mr. Sanjari testified that on April 17, 2000 the builder made another repair, but he did not see what was done as he had to go to work. He was therefore unaware of exactly what repair was carried out, and when he tried to rely on the home inspector's report it was pointed out to him that this document was dated November 21, 1998 and predated the repairs.

In the matter of the ceramic tiles, Mr. Sanjari testified that he was aware that approximately six tiles were replaced by a contractor hired by the builder. He was unaware of whether the tiles had rounded edges, but did know that the surface of the tiles was rough. When he was specifically asked if the variation in surface height was no more than 1/8 of an inch, his evidence was that he did not know and was relying on the inspector's report which said they were uneven and on his own observations.

Mr. Sanjari disagreed that the area under the patio door had been insulated and taped. He agreed that the water leak had been repaired, but maintained his position that the builder has left it open to see if it would leak again.

When the Applicant was asked about the issue of the sod, he stated that he did not know if the grading was approved by the municipality. He testified that at the time of the Conciliation, there was one bald area at the front of the house, and said it was a defect in workmanship or materials. When it was pointed out to him in the Agreement of Purchase and Sale (Exhibit 3, Tab 1, p. 3 item K.) that once the sod was down and the transaction closed, the homeowner who responsible to water and maintain the sod, he repeated his position that there was a defect.

On the issue of the marks under the bay window, he agreed that the spots are the size of dimes, but stated that one did not have to be too close to see it, and it is in a place that is seen when anyone approaches the house. He said that it had been re-painted repeatedly. He agreed that the repairs had been made after the date of the report by his home inspector.

The Applicant was asked if the ridges in the drywall were only visible in a certain light and at certain angles. He said that he could see the ridges and used the level to prove that the drywall was not even. He did not directly answer the question, and stated that the home inspector's report is proof, and that Mr. Fortune refused to see it.

With regard to the surface defect on the sill of the bay window, he testified that he did not think that the mark had been filled, sanded, and painted. In his opinion, it had only been painted. He agreed that the work was done after the inspector's report.

WITNESSES FOR THE PROGRAM

Mr. Jim Fortune and Mr. Charlie Spillane testified for the Program. Their testimony included reference to matters which were withdrawn by the Applicant at the end of the hearing, and reference to these matters has been deleted from this summary of the evidence as it is not relevant to the issues still before this Tribunal.

Mr. Jim Fortune testified that he is the Warranty Representative who dealt with the file on behalf of the Program. Mr. Fortune has been a Warranty Representative for nine years, spent two years as a client service representative. Before his employment by the Program was a building inspector in the town of Tottenham and was the chief building inspector for the Township of Adjula.

He testified that on November 9, 1999 he attended at the Applicant's home for the Conciliation and sat discussed matters with the Applicant and Mr. Spillane as the representative of the builder. At this time, he explained the process and tried to clarify the issues as set out in the three requests for Conciliation. Each item was reviewed, and a check mark was put beside those which had been repaired, and an X was put beside those which remained unresolved. The issue of the gap under the sliding door was marked with both a check mark and an X as the gap had been repaired, but there was still an issue of water seepage. A check mark was placed beside the garage door lock, and it was the understanding of the witness that this matter was resolved. As a result, no inspection of it was made, and it did not form part of the Decision Letter.

The witness testified that he found one loose stair that was squeaking, which he listed as a warrantable item. Since that date, he did not inspect the stair again, and was advised by the builder that a repair had been done. Mr. Fortune observed the ceramic tiles in the kitchen, and was informed that a repair had been carried out. He testified that the tiles were a rough, unglazed type of tile which naturally had an uneven surface. Even though some tiles were a little higher than others, he testified that they were acceptable and within industry standards so there was no defect in workmanship or materials.

On the issue of the refund of the $50 Conciliation fee, he testified that the money should have been returned to the Applicant, and had given a commitment to return the cheque or money order. As far as he knew, the money had not been returned.

Mr. Fortune testified that he did not confirm if the insulation had been put back under the sliding door after the repair was made but agreed that it would be the obligation of the builder to restore the insulation and vapor barrier if it had not yet been done. Mr. Fortune testified that on the day of the inspection, the grass was uneven but not sparse, was green, and was growing well. He did not observe any bald spots, and when he returned to view the exterior of the premises on September 8, 2000 the grass appeared to be in good condition, and he did not observe any bald spots. The witness testified that when he inspected the front of the house for the Conciliation, he observed a surface imperfection on the painted wood trim under the bay window. He described it as a small circular mark in the wood, approximately the size of a dime, which was visible upon close inspection, and not visible from the road. In his opinion, this was not a warranted item as it was well within the standards for building materials, and was not a defect in materials or workmanship. He believed that it was caused by the normal leakage of sap from a knot in the plywood used.

The witness testified that he also examined the drywall to look for the ridges described by the Applicant. He explained that when a home is constructed, drywall is butted together, and the joints are taped with a compound applied over the taped areas causing there to be a different texture from the surface of the drywall. The result is an area which can be noticed if viewed from certain angles, and under certain light conditions. In his opinion, it was not appropriate to test for ridges by applying a level to the area to see if it could be rocked. He explained that any area on a drywall surface would produce this effect if the level was placed over a wooden stud. Mr. Fortune inspected the walls and ceilings by visually examining them based on his experience. Any wall had imperfections, but in his opinion the walls and ceilings in the Applicant's home were acceptable. There was one room in the upstairs of the home that he did not enter, but he assumed that the Applicant would have taken him into it, if there was a problem with the wall or ceiling.

The last issue Fortune dealt with was the claim by the Applicant that there was poor finishing of the wood trim. He observed the window sill in question, but he did not find it to be below the standards of the industry and therefore found that it was not warranted under the Act.

In cross-examination, he testified that he did not think that he missed anything, and agreed that there was a different number of items in the Decision Letter than in the Conciliation. He explained that the issue of the delayed closing claim was not in the Conciliation Report, but was added to the Decision Letter as it was reported beyond the required time period, and it was better to deal with it then, rather than send it through the usual process to be turned down later for the same reason.

Mr. Fortune agreed that he had informed the Applicant that he was entitled to his $50.00 back and had sent a letter saying that it would be returned. When he was questioned about the squeaking stairs, he agreed that in his evidence in chief he had referred to the squeaking at time of the inspection for the Conciliation report as a minor noise. It was pointed out to him in the Conciliation Report, he had described it as 'excessive'. He also confirmed that he been advised by the builder that the problem had been fixed. When he was asked about the lock on the garage door to the dwelling, he testified that he did not remember being told about it, and did not go to the garage to inspect it. On the issue of the defect on the wood under the bay window, he explained that you had to stand very close to see such minor deficiencies, and said that any piece of wood trim is going to have a small sap leak such as this. In his opinion, this was not a defect that would be covered by a warranty.

Mr. Charlie Spillane was called on behalf of the added party. He has been the Service Manager for FRAM Building Group since May 10, 1999. Prior to that he worked as a Defect Technician for different builders in the Toronto area, and is a certified home inspector. He has been very active in the professional organization of home inspectors, producing training materials and is the After Sale Service Chairman of the Metro Toronto Home Builders Association. He outlined the history of the home beginning with the pre-delivery inspection on February 18, 1997, the closing of the transaction on February 19, 1997, the Pre-Delivery Inspection being signed off on April 1, 1998, and a period after April when no complaints were received until December 11, 1998 when notice was sent of deficiencies. After this there was a series of meetings with the homeowner, and repairs of various items until March 2000. Mr. Spillane stated that during this time, a number of items were dealt with as a goodwill gesture even though they were not considered to be the subject of a warranty, and he provided a list.

Mr. Spillane testified that the lock on the garage door leading to the house had been repaired and the matter was withdrawn at the Conciliation meeting. He testified that the squeaking stair had been fixed, and explained that different methods of repair are used depending on the cause of the squeak. After the Conciliation meeting on Monday April 17, 2000, a renovator was hired who removed drywall, re-secured the stair stringers, carried out repairs, and replaced the drywall. The first repair would probably have been to apply hot glue and screw down the stair in the affected area. In his opinion, there was no evidence of an abnormal squeak during his visit to the home on May 14, 2000. He testified that wooden stairs always suffer some amount of deflection and produce some noises. The witness testified that he was involved in repairs to the ceramic tile to try to satisfy the Applicant that the floor was even and level. Matching tiles were found, and approximately 10 new tiles were installed. In the opinion of Mr. Spillane, the color match was good and the floor was sufficiently even.

On the issue of the insulation under the sliding patio door, Mr. Spillane stated that he inspected it on March 14, 2000 and it had been properly reinstalled.

Mr. Spillane testified that two repairs were carried out on the mark in the wood under the bay window. In his opinion there were two knots in the wood which were bleeding sap, and causing a minor discolouration. This was a common occurrence with spruce and pine plywood and is a minor defect which is within the industry standards. Two attempts were made to fix it to try to satisfy the customer. The first time the area was sanded, primed, and painted. When this did not satisfy the Applicant, the area was sanded, a coat of shellac was applied, it was primed, and painted.

Mr. Spillane observed the condition of the lawn. He testified that the sod had been put down before August 11, 1998, the grading was approved by the consulting engineer after installation of the sod, and in his opinion it appeared to be perfect the last time he saw it.

Mr. Spillane said that he observed the mark in the pine window sill, and that it had been repaired by being filled, sanded, and repainted.

Mr. Spillane testified that the drywall was not defective, and that any of the normal problems caused by shrinkage and drying had been dealt with at a year-end drywall inspection, at which time problems are repaired.

In cross-examination, Mr. Spillane testified that he had taken courses involving defect recognition which were a prerequisite to being certified as a home inspector by their professional organization. He stated that he was the service manager for the entire company, and was not present when each repair was carried out but tried to ensure that repairs were done in a timely fashion. When he was questioned about the "goodwill repairs", he said that many of the items done went beyond the warranty and were above the standard required in the industry.

Mr. Spillane testified that he was advised of the problem with the sliding patio door when he got the Conciliation Request. He stated that there was a water leak only after 10 minutes of spraying the outside portion of the bottom of the door with a garden hose, and he recommended repairs be done which eventually lead to the replacement of the door frame. When he was asked about the attempts to fix the stairs properly, he testified that in his opinion the stairs had been fixed properly, but multiple attempts were required as the Applicant expected the stairs to be silent. If the Applicant wanted a staircase without squeaks, it would be necessary that either steel or concrete stairs be installed. He also disagreed with Mr. Fortune's description in the Conciliation Report of the squeaking from the one stair as being excessive. He agreed that the builder guaranteed to repair defects for one year, but he did not consider this a defect.

Mr. Spillane gave his opinion that many of the comments in the home inspector's report provided by Applicant showed that standards were being applied which were above industry standards.

During Mr. Spillane's cross-examination, questions were asked about work which was done unrelated to matters in the Decision Letter, the allegation of an unauthorized entry of the Applicant's home by a contractor and the return of the house key to the Applicant. These issues are beyond the jurisdiction of this Tribunal and not dealt with in this decision.

FACTS FOUND PROVEN:

At the Conciliation with Mr. Fortune, the Applicant and Mr. Spillane, certain issues were removed as they were already settled. The Tribunal accepts the evidence of Mr. Fortune that he did not inspect the lock on the garage door to the interior of the home, and that a check mark was put beside item 16 (the garage door lock) indicating that it was no longer an issue. Mr. Spillane also recalled that the issue had been withdrawn. Although the Applicant testified that he did not withdraw this item, the recollections of Mr. Spillane and Mr. Fortune are consistent with the documentary evidence indicating that it was withdrawn. There was no evidence that Mr. Fortune was taken to see the lock during the inspection, although this would be expected to have occurred if it was still an issue. The item was therefore not part of the inspection, and did not form part of the Decision Letter.

The Tribunal finds that at the time Mr. Fortune inspected the home, he found the squeaking of the stair to be excessive and a defect in workmanship covered by Warranty. Since that date, repairs have been carried out and no further inspection has been done by Mr. Fortune. The report of the home inspector produced by the Applicant predates the repairs and does not reflect the current condition. Mr. Spillane has testified that he has been in the house since the most current repairs, and finds that the stair does not produce more noise than is common and acceptable for a set of wooden stairs, and that the normal type of repair has been carried out by the builder and by a private contractor hired for that purpose. The Applicant has testified that in his opinion the stair still squeaks more than it should, but he is not able to compare this with acceptable standards within the industry.

The Tribunal finds that the ceramic tile on the kitchen floor are unglazed and with a rough textured surface. This surface is described by the Applicant as uneven, and is also described as uneven in the report from his home inspector. There is no evidence from the Applicant as to what the difference in height is from one tile to another, and he was unable to say whether the tiles had rounded edges or not. Repairs were carried out, and some tile were replaced. Mr. Fortune gave the only estimate of the height difference in the tiles and testified that with tiles of this nature they would not be absolutely even. In his opinion, the installation was within industry standards.

The Tribunal has evidence from all witnesses that the tiles are uneven but no evidence that it is beyond the industry standard for that type of tile.

There is no dispute by the Program that the Applicant is entitled to the return of his $50.00 payment as the Conciliation did find some items subject to warranty. Although it is clear that the Program intended to refund this money there is no evidence that this was completed, and the only direct evidence is from the Applicant who gave credible evidence that it was not returned to him.

The Tribunal finds that the builder replaced the door frame for the sliding door and was obliged to replace the insulation and vapor barrier. There is testimony from the Applicant that he has not seen that this was done; however, it is not clear what steps he has taken to examine the area or whether he would recognize the completed repair. Mr. Spillane has testified that he has inspected the repair, and that the insulation and vapor barrier were installed.

The Tribunal finds that there are two small discoloured areas in the wooden panel below the bay window at the front of the house. Each area is found to be approximately the size of a dime. There have been two attempts to repair, and the discolouration has reappeared. In the opinion of the Applicant this is a defect which must be repaired, and in the opinions of Mr. Fortune and Mr. Spillane this discolouration is caused by the bleeding of sap from a knot in the plywood which is a common occurrence when spruce or pine plywood sheets are used in construction. There is evidence that the area has been sanded, shellac has been applied, and it has been primed and repainted. This defect is found to be a common feature of the material used, is not visible except upon close inspection, and is minor in nature.

There is evidence that the Applicant has seen ridges in the drywall and that when a level is put across the ridge and pushed on either end, a sound can be produced proving that the middle is higher than the ends. The Tribunal finds that these ridges are not visible at all times and must be detected by the use of the level, or be viewed from a particular angle under certain lighting conditions. They are consistent with the description by Mr. Fortune that they are the areas where drywall has been butted together, taped and a compound applied thereby increasing the height of the area. The Tribunal finds that these areas with drywall joined are not obvious to the untrained eye and are sufficiently minor that they must be confirmed by the use of the level over the taped and slightly raised area as described.

The Tribunal finds that there is the small mark in the window sill of the bay window at the southeast corner of the living room. This is a surface defect caused by contact with some object at some time on a soft wood, and it has been repaired by the builder.

The Applicant was not at home to observe how all repairs were carried out, and there is evidence from Mr. Spillane that the area was filled, sanded and repainted. There is found to be a small visible mark on the window sill.

The Tribunal finds that the sod was put down on the Applicant's property after a heat wave and was uneven and dry in some areas. There is evidence that at the time of the Conciliation, it had recovered and was green and growing although still uneven, and the Tribunal finds that at the present time there is, at worst, only a bald area of no more than one square foot.

ISSUES:

The issue in this case is whether this Tribunal has jurisdiction over matters not included in the Program's Decision Letter, and on matters over which this Tribunal has jurisdiction, had the Applicant met the burden of proof and proven that his claims are under the Act.

- (3) The Corporation may perform or arrange for the performance of any work in lieu of or in mitigation of damages claimed under subsection (1).

Regulation 892, of Section 1 of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act states:

"major structural defect" means, for the purposes of clause 13 (1)(b) of the Act, any defect in work or materials,

- (a) that results in failure of the load-bearing portion of any building or materially and adversely affects its load-bearing function, or
- (b) that materially and adversely affects the use of such building for the purpose for which it was intended, including significant damage due to soil movement, major cracks in basement walls, collapse or serious distortion of joints or roof structure and chemical failure of materials, but excluding flood damage, dampness not arising from failure of a load-bearing portion of the building, damage to drains or services, damage to finishes and damage arising from acts of God, acts of the owners, and their tenants, licensees and invitees, acts of civil and military authorities, acts of war, riot, insurrection or civil commotion and malicious damage.

Section 16 of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act states:

(1) Where the Corporation makes a decision under section 14, it shall serve notice of the decision, together with written reasons therefor, on the person or owner affected.

.....

(3) Where a person or owner gives notice in accordance with subsection (2), the Tribunal shall appoint a time for and hold hearing and may by order direct the Corporation to take such action as the Tribunal considers the Corporation ought to have taken in accordance with this Act and the regulations, and for such purposes the Tribunal may substitute its opinion for that of the Corporation.

Regulation 892, of Section 4 of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act states:

(1) Each person with a claim under the Plan shall give written notice of the claim to the Corporation.

.....

Regulation 892, of Section 6 of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act states:

.....

(3) In the case of a home of a type referred to in clause (a) or (b) of the definition of "home" in section 1 of the Act, the maximum amount payable to the owner out of the guarantee fund in respect of a claim made after August 1, 1989 under clause 14(1)(b) or (c) of the Act is $100,000.00.

CASE LAW:

Re: ONG (1995) O.C.R.A.T.D. No. 103 (October 2, 1995)

In this matter before the Tribunal, the Applicant made a claim for a defect in workmanship, compensation resulting from a delayed closing and a sum of money provided for as a penalty payable under the Agreement of Purchase and Sale in the event that the builder failed to meet certain deadlines. Although the Tribunal found that the builder was responsible for the payment of the penalty based on the delay, the Tribunal had no jurisdiction over a claim for damages for the breach of a contract which was not a breach of the warranty provided for in section 13 (1) of the Act.

Re: BALDASSARRE (1998) O.C.R.A.T.D. No. 83

In this matter before the Tribunal, the Applicant raised six issues in which he alleged there were defects in workmanship and materials. An architect was called as a witness by the Applicant who pointed out various problems but was vague about the cause of the problem. The Tribunal found that where it was not possible to determine if the defects were caused by shrinkage of materials or poor workmanship it could not find that there was the sustainable claim against the Program as the Applicant had not met the onus to prove his case. The evidentiary test set out on page 6 was that:

"for the Applicant to succeed in this matter, he must prove on a balance of probabilities that there has been a breach of warranty or warranties by the vendor and if he has accordingly suffered damages. This is in terms of s. 14 (1) of the Act."

Re: SOPORITA (1999) O.C.R.A.T.D. No. 166

In this matter before the Tribunal, there were numerous claims made by the Applicant of defects in workmanship and materials. Two Decision Letters had been rendered, only one had been appealed, and the time for an appeal had expired. The Tribunal found that it did not have jurisdiction over the issues in the Decision Letter that had not been appealed. Most of the complaints by the Applicants had been resolved, but there were a few outstanding, and the Tribunal found that the Applicants were seeking unrealistic standards of perfection that were not reasonable. Perfection was not a reasonable expectation for a standard home, and allowances had to be made for minor imperfections. The defects which existed in the home were found to be of a minor nature and the claim was denied.

Re: BREEN (1999) O.C.R.A.T.D No. 86

In this matter before the Tribunal, the Applicant claimed that there were major structural defects together with other defects in workmanship and materials. There was also the issue of claims for matters not included in the Decision Letter. Attempts were made by the builder to remedy the defects which did exist, but these did not meet with the approval of the Applicants. The Tribunal found that it did not have jurisdiction over matters which were not contained in the Decision Letter. Further, the Tribunal found that the Applicants had not provided proof that the repairs did not meet acceptable industry standards so there was no evidence of a defect in workmanship or materials and thereby no breach of the warranty.

Re: CHEWERDA (1997) O.C.R.A.T.D No. 49

In this matter before the Tribunal, the Applicant had made a claim for a breach of warranty, and there was the issue of whether they had filed their claim in time. The Applicants were one day late in filing their claim, and Tribunal found that it did not have power to waive the time requirement in the Act and there was no procedure for an extension to be given. The Tribunal found it had no authority to remedy the situation for the Applicant by giving an extension of time for filing the claim.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The Tribunal finds that it has no jurisdiction to deal with the matter of the garage door lock as it was not covered in the Decision Letter. This Tribunal has authority to substitute its decision for that of the Registrar, but in this case no decision was made by the Registrar.

The Tribunal can not substitute its decision for one which does not exist, and therefore is without jurisdiction to make an order.

The second jurisdictional issue is whether the Tribunal has power to order the reimbursement of the $50.00 Conciliation fee. In this case there was no doubt that the Applicant is entitled to receive the money; however, the Tribunal has no jurisdiction to make an order where there has not been a breach of a warranty under section 13 (1) of the Act. There is no authority in the Act for the order requested by the Applicant, and the Tribunal finds that it has no jurisdiction to make such an order.

The Tribunal finds that repairs have been carried out to the squeaking stair but that it is not to the satisfaction of the Applicant. Mr. Spillane has experience in construction and testified that the problem has been rectified so that the stair is within the reasonable standard for a wooden staircase. The builder warrants that the home is free of defects in the workmanship and materials. However, the standard is not perfection and some allowance must be made for minor imperfections especially with materials which are subject to shrinkage. There is no evidence before the Tribunal that the squeaking noises produced by the stairs exceed acceptable limits and the Applicant has failed to meet the onus of proof upon him, and the Tribunal dismisses this claim.

The Tribunal has found that the ceramic tile floor in the kitchen is not absolutely even. However, there is no proof that it exceeds the tolerable limits for a rough textured and unglazed tile. Although the Applicant states that the tiles are uneven, he has no measurements or photographs to show the extent of it. The only evidence before the Tribunal of the acceptable tolerance within the industry is from Mr. Fortune and Mr. Spillane who testified that it is of a minor nature and within the standard to the industry. In the circumstances, the Applicant has failed to satisfy the onus of proof on him, and the Tribunal dismisses this claim.

The Tribunal has found that the builder did replace the insulation under the sliding door, and that claim is dismissed.

The Tribunal has found that the discolourations under the bay window are of a minor nature and are caused by the bleeding of sap from a knot or knots in the wood which is found to be a common property of the materials used. The Tribunal, therefore, finds that this is not a defect that is covered by a warranty under the Act.

The Tribunal has found that the ridges on the drywall are caused by the normal process of taping. They are not readily apparent to the eye except under certain conditions. There is evidence that they meet industry standards, and the Applicant has failed to meet the onus of proof to show that they are defects subject to a warranty, and the Tribunal dismisses this claim.

The Tribunal has found that the mark on the window sill is of a minor nature, is consistent with the federal property of the building material, and has been repaired. This small mark is found not to be a defect of workmanship or materials covered by warranty, and the Tribunal dismisses this claim.

The Tribunal has found that there is no more than a one foot square bald patch on the Applicant's lawn. This is found to be of a minor nature and consistent with the normal wear and tear on a residential lawn and as such is not a defect in workmanship or materials covered by warranty and the Tribunal dismisses this claim.

DECISION:

Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in it under section 16(3) of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act the Tribunal directs the Registrar of the Ontario New Home Warranty Program to disallow the Applicant's claims.

LITIGE

Compte tenu du fait que le présent appel relève de l'alinéa 50.1 (2) b) du Code de la route et, de ce fait, du Tribunal, voici la question à résoudre: est-ce que le Requérant a omis ou refusé de se conformer à un ordre de fournir un échantillon d'haleine/de sang parce qu'il en était incapable pour des raisons médicales?

LA LOI

Les dispositions des paragraphes 50.1 (1) et (2) du Code de la route, qui régissent la suspension administrative de permis de conduire, prévoient ce qui suit:

50.1 (1) La personne dont le permis de conduire est suspendu en vertu de l'article 48.3 peut interjeter appel de la suspension devant le Tribunal.

(2) Les seuls motifs pour lesquels une personne peut interjeter appel en vertu du paragraphe (1) et les seuls motifs pour lesquels le Tribunal peut ordonner l'annulation de la suspension sont les suivants :

- a) soit la personne dont le permis a été suspendu n'est pas la même que celle à qui a été donné un ordre de fournir un échantillon d'haleine ou de sang, ou sur qui un tel échantillon a été prélevé, selon le cas, en vertu des dispositions du Code criminel (Canada) visées au paragraphe 48.3 (3) ou conformément à celles-ci;
- b) soit la personne ne s'est pas conformée à un ordre donné en vertu de l'article 254 du Code criminel (Canada) de fournir un échantillon d'haleine ou de sang, ou a refusé de le faire, pour des raisons médicales.

Le Code de la route énonce ce qui suit au paragraphe 50.1 (4):

Le Tribunal peut confirmer la suspension ou ordonner son annulation.

Les paragraphes 15 (1), (2) et (3) du règlement 574 (modifié) du Code de la route, exigent qu'un rapport médical contienne :

- 15.(1) a report of a legally qualified medical practitioner that is to be submitted in evidence shall clearly state,
- (a) the name, telephone number and address, with the postal code, of the medical practitioner;
 - (b) the name, date of birth and address of the person who is the subject of the report;
 - (c) that the medical practitioner has prepared the report, or is aware that the report may be used, in support of an appeal to the Board from the suspension of a driver's licence under section 50.1 of the Act;
 - (d) the length of time and frequency with which the medical practitioner has attended upon the person who is the subject of the report, including the date of the most recent examination of the person that supports the findings set out in the report;

(e) whether the medical practitioner is the family physician of the person who is the subject of the report; and

(f) whether the medical practitioner is a specialist and, if so, the field of speciality.

(2) The report shall provide the details of any present condition, diagnosis and history of the condition that precludes the person who is the subject of the report from providing a breath or blood sample including the results of any related tests.

(3) The report shall be signed by the medical practitioner.

Enfin, l'article 13 du règlement 574 (modifié) prévoit ce qui suit :

A person appealing a suspension has the onus of establishing the merit of the appeal.

LES FAITS

Durant l'audience, le Requéant réitère les déclarations faites dans ses remarques écrites et adressées au Tribunal.

Il atteste, en outre, qu'il a compris la demande faite pour qu'il fournisse un échantillon de son haleine. Il refuse puisqu'il croit qu'il ne pourra pas le faire à cause de la condition de ses poumons qu'il a acquise lorsqu'il travaillait comme mineur. Il paraît qu'il a perdu la majorité de ses poumons.

Lorsqu'on lui demande directement, durant l'audience, s'il a refusé de fournir un échantillon de son haleine, le Requéant réplique: "Oui, j'ai refusé".

Le Répondant compte sur l'information écrite fournie pour l'audience.

APPLICATION DE LA LOI AUX FAITS

À la fin, il importe d'établir le rapprochement entre la condition médicale du Requéant et la définition du paragraphe 50.1(2) (b), et si c'est pour cette raison qu'il a échoué et n'a pu fournir un échantillon d'haleine. Le Requéant a la responsabilité de fournir au Tribunal une raison médicale expliquant pourquoi il lui a été impossible de fournir l'échantillon d'haleine demandé.

Le paragraphe 48.3 du Code de la route définit le critère de la suspension du permis du conducteur:

(1) Si un agent de police est convaincu que la personne qui conduit le véhicule automobile ou qui en a la garde, la charge ou le contrôle répond à l'un des critères énoncés au paragraphe (3)...

2. La personne n'a pas fourni un échantillon d'haleine ou de sang à la suite d'un ordre donné en vertu de l'article 254 du Code criminel (Canada) ou refusé de le faire.

Le Requérant a du avoir plusieurs raisons pour ne pas pouvoir fournir un échantillon d'haleine, certaines pourraient être médicales. Pourtant, les faits sont claires et simples étant donné qu'il a admis avoir refusé de fournir un échantillon d'haleine. Le Tribunal considère que le Requérant ne rencontre pas le critère du paragraphe 50.1 (2) (b) qui lui demande de prouver que son échec à fournir un échantillon d'haleine est dû à des raisons médicales.

DÉCISION

Suite à la requête du requérant interjetant appel d'une décision rendue par le Registrateur des véhicules automobiles conformément à l'alinéa 48.3 (2) du Code de la route; et après avoir examiné les preuves déposées auprès du Tribunal ainsi que les observations du Registrateur et du Requérant;

Conformément au pouvoir qui lui est conféré aux termes du paragraphe 50.1 (4) du Code de la route, le Tribunal confirme la suspension.

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on September 12, at Fort Frances, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA").

The Tribunal released its Decision on September 13, 2000, with Reasons to follow.

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the suspension imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 48.3 HTA for the following reasons.

REASONS

BACKGROUND:

Notice of Appeal and Prescribed Fee

This appeal comes before the Tribunal on behalf of the Applicant, by way of a Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990 as amended, chapter H.8. The Applicant elected that his appeal be decided by the Tribunal by way of a written hearing. The form of Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act was dated August 15, 2000, and was received by the Tribunal on August 21, 2000, together with the prescribed fee of $100.00.

Reason for the Appeal

The reason for the appeal cited by the Applicant was stated as follows in the said notice:

"I was unable to provide the required breath sample because of a medical reason."

Preliminary Matters

There were no preliminary matters.

Submissions of Written Material

By the Applicant:

- a) Exhibit # 1 Applicant's Appeal Book - 6 parts

By the Respondent:

- a) Exhibit # 2 Written Argument of Respondent

ISSUE:

Having established that this appeal falls within subsection 50.1(2)(b) of the Highway Traffic Act, and the Tribunal thereby having jurisdiction, the question to be answered is: Did the Applicant fail or refuse to comply with a demand made to provide a sample of breath or blood because he was unable to do so for a medical reason?

LAW:

The legislation governing the Administrative Drivers Licence Suspension (ADLS) under subsection 50.1(1) and (2) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA") states:

50.1 (1) "A person whose driver's licence is suspended under Section 48.3 may appeal the suspension to the Tribunal.

(2) The grounds on which a person may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may order that the suspension be set aside are,

(a) that the person whose licence was suspended is not the same individual to whom a demand for a sample of breath or blood was made, or from whom a sample of breath or blood was taken, as the case may be, under or pursuant to the provisions of the Criminal Code (Canada) referred to in subsection 48.3(3); or

(b) that the person failed or refused to comply with a demand made under section 254 of the Criminal Code (Canada) to provide a sample of breath or blood because he or she was unable to do so for a medical reason".

The HTA states under Section 50.1(4):

The Tribunal may confirm the suspension or may order that the suspension be set aside.

Regulation 574 (amended), Highway Traffic Act at subsection 15(1),(2) and (3) requires that a medical report must contain:

15.(1) "a report of a legally qualified medical practitioner that is to be submitted in evidence shall clearly state,

- (a) the name, telephone number and address, with the postal code, of the medical practitioner;
- (b) the name, date of birth and address of the person who is the subject of the report;
- (c) that the medical practitioner has prepared the report, or is aware that the report may be used, in support of an appeal to the Board from the suspension of a driver's licence under section 50.1 of the Act;
- (d) the length of time and frequency with which the medical practitioner has attended upon the person who is the subject of the report, including the date of the most recent examination of the person that supports the findings set out in the report;
- (e) whether the medical practitioner is the family physician of the person who is the subject of the report; and
- (f) whether the medical practitioner is a specialist and, if so, the field of speciality.

(2) The report shall provide the details of any present condition, diagnosis and history of the condition that precludes the person who is the subject of the report from providing a breath or blood sample including the results of any related tests.

(3) The report shall be signed by the medical practitioner."

Finally, section 13 of Regulation 574 (amended) provides:

"A person appealing a suspension has the onus of establishing the merit of the appeal".

FACTS:

On reading the Affidavit of Senior Constable #1, it is confirmed that this incident took place on August 10, 2000. Constable #1 is a member of the Ontario Provincial Police, Port Credit Detachment, and has been a police officer for 17 years. He is trained in the use of the Approved Screening Device (Alcotest).

While working the RIDE programme that night on westbound Queen Elizabeth Way to northbound Dixie Road in Mississauga, Ontario, Constable #1 stopped a vehicle driven by the Applicant at about 11:00 p.m.

The Constable asked the Applicant if he had had any alcoholic beverages to drink that night, and the Applicant answered that he had. The Constable asked the Applicant to provide a breath sample into an Approved Screening Device, and the Applicant agreed to do this.

To this point in our scenario, the above facts are agreed upon by both Constable #1, by way of his Affidavit, and by the Applicant, by way of his "Statement of Facts", being part 4 of Exhibit 1.

However, from the time that the Applicant agreed to provide a breath sample, the versions of the next sequence of events, as related by the Constable and by the Applicant, vary greatly.

First of all, Constable #1, in his Affidavit, states that, when the Applicant rolled down the window of his car to allow the Constable to speak to him, the Constable immediately smelled a strong smell of an alcoholic beverage from the interior of the motor vehicle. The Constable then smelled alcohol on the Applicant's breath. He observed the Applicant's eyes to be red and glassy, but his speech was not slurred.

On the other hand, the Applicant said, in his material, that he had had a single rye and soda to drink earlier that evening at supper. He had filed a copy of a restaurant receipt to confirm this. The receipt was timed-stamped at 10:23 p.m. on August 10, 2000. The Applicant states that he had not consumed any further alcohol or food during that evening.

Secondly, Constable #1, in his Affidavit, states that, after he had demonstrated to the Applicant how to use the Approved Screening Device (Alcotest), the Applicant was given 12 opportunities to provide a proper sample of his breath. However, no reading could be recorded. The Constable states that, at various times during these attempts, the Applicant would start and stop blowing instead of blowing continuously, despite the Constable's advice to blow continuously; the Applicant was not making a tight seal around the mouthpiece, and was blowing spit and breath onto the Constable's hand; and, on one attempt, the Constable states that the Applicant started to suck, not blow, on the mouthpiece.

The Constable allowed the Applicant to blow two more times (bringing the total attempts to 14), with no greater success in obtaining a reading.

Feeling that the Applicant was not making an honest effort to provide a breath sample, Constable #1 charged the Applicant with refusing to provide a breath sample, and served him with a 90-day suspension.

For his part, the Applicant states, in part 4 of exhibit 1, that he attempted to provide a breath sample, but he could not make the machine work. He states that he has been a diabetic for the past 14 years. He also stated that he is overweight.

In support of his Appeal, the Applicant had filed, as part 5 of Exhibit 1, a letter dated August 16, 2000, from Physician # 1, who has been the Applicant's family physician since November, 1973. Although the doctor does not state the frequency with which he has attended upon the Applicant, nor the date of his most recent examination of the Applicant (as required by section 15 of Regulation 574, as amended), he does state that a pulmonary function test was performed on the Applicant on August 16, 2000, some six days after the Applicant had been stopped by Constable #1.

Physician #1 states that one Physician #2 interpreted the test results. We are not told who Physician #2 is. We are not told how these results, on August 16, relate to the Applicant's condition six days earlier, on August 10, the day that he had been stopped.

In any event, Physician #1 writes that the test result revealed that the Applicant had only 60% of normal lung capacity, which improved to 65% after administration of a bronchodilator. Physician #1 concluded that these results would make it difficult for the Applicant to master up enough expiratory volume for a forceful exhalation.

In response to Physician #1's report, the Respondent has filed two reports from medical specialists who examined the letter of August 16, 2000, from Physician #1.

One report, dated August 24, 2000, is from Dr. Roger S. Goldstein. He is a consultant respirologist in practice since 1979, with a particular interest in chronic respiratory conditions such as asthma, emphysema, and chronic bronchitis. He is the Director of the University of Toronto Respiratory Divisional programme in Rehabilitation, and has been medical advisor to the pulmonary function laboratories for over 16 years. He is familiar with the Alcotest and Intoxilyzer 5000c units.

The second report, dated August 30, 2000, is from Dr. Eva S. Mate. Dr. Mate, of St. Michael's Hospital in Toronto, is a Respiratory Medicine consultant with a practice since 1982. Dr. Mate has had extensive experience in the management of chronic respiratory illness such as chronic obstructive lung disease and asthma. Also, Dr. Mate is aware of the breath sampling criteria required to provide acceptable information using an Intoxilyzer 5000c and Alcotest machine.

It was the Alcotest unit that Constable #1 had presented to the Applicant.

Having reviewed the information in this Appeal, including the report of August 16, 2000, from Physician #1, Dr. Mate concludes that the inability of the Applicant to provide a breath sample was due to inadequate effort on his part, rather than to the presence of underlying restrictive lung disease.

Similarly, having reviewed the report of Physician #1, Dr. Goldstein states that, even with a vital capacity of 60%, Applicant would be able to provide a satisfactory breath sample for analysis.

Since both Dr. Mate and Dr. Goldstein state that they are familiar with the Alcotest unit, and since they had reviewed both the Applicant's Statement of Facts and the report of Physician #1, I place great weight on their conclusions.

It is also noteworthy that, during the 14 attempts that the Applicant made to blow into the screening device, not once did he advise the Constable of any restriction or inability to blow into the unit, nor did he exhibit any physical signs that would evidence an inability to blow properly into the unit.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

Upon reviewing all the evidence, this Tribunal is now required to determine whether the Applicant was unable to provide the required breath sample because of a medical reason.

I have examined carefully the Statement of Facts filed by the Applicant, and the report of Physician #1 dated August 16, 2000. I have also reviewed closely the Affidavit of Constable #1 and the reports of Dr. Goldstein and of Dr. Mate.

Having reviewed all the material in this Appeal, I have no hesitation in concluding that the Applicant has not satisfied the onus of establishing the merit of this Appeal. The observations of Constable #1, and the conclusions of Dr. Goldstein and of Dr. Mate leave me with the inescapable conclusion that there was no medical reason that the Applicant could not provide a sample of his breath.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the suspension order dated August 10, 2000, of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles pursuant to section 48.3 of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA") and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

Pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50.1(4) of the HTA, the Tribunal confirms the suspension.

DATE OF MOTION: September 22, 2000

ORDER

A motion was heard by teleconference on September 22, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's request for an extension of time to appeal the impoundment order of the Registrar affecting the Applicant's motor vehicle. The motion is brought pursuant to section 20(7) of Ontario Regulation 632/98 amending Regulation 574 of the Revised Regulations of Ontario, 1990 made under the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990. c.H.8 amended ("HTA").

Submissions of Written Material

Applicant through its Solicitors submitted the following documents:

1. Copy of Impound Order dated June 23, 2000 relating to the impoundment of the motor vehicle for 180 days. (Exhibit # 1)
2. Original Notice of Appeal dated August 21, 2000 received by the Tribunal on August 28, 2000. (Exhibit # 2)
3. Statement of the Applicant's position under the heading "Summarization of Owner's Position". (Exhibit # 3)

The Facts

The following facts are the agreed facts.

1. The Applicant is the owner of a 1999 Pontiac Sunfire SE coupe, plate number ABKK 053 (the "vehicle").
2. The vehicle was impounded on June 23, 2000 for a period of 180 days pursuant to an order of the Registrar issued under section 55.1 of the Highway Traffic Act R.S.O. 1990, c.H.8 as amended (the "Act").
3. The vehicle at the time of its impoundment was being driven by William P. Kovacs.
4. The vehicle was leased by the Applicant to Kovacs under an agreement of lease.
5. Kovacs' driver's licence was under suspension at the time of the vehicle's impoundment.
6. By notice dated June 23, 2000, the Registrar of Motor Vehicles sent the Order to Impound the vehicle to the Applicant at 3250 Bloor Street West, Suite 800, Toronto, M8X 2Y5.
7. The Applicant sent to the Tribunal a written notice of appeal to the impoundment order, which notice of appeal was dated August 21, 2000 and was received by the Tribunal on August 28, 2000.
8. The notice of appeal by the Applicant was not filed with the Tribunal as required by section 20(1) of Regulation 632/98 under the Highway Traffic Act, within 15 days of the issuance of the order to impound.
9. "The Pound", to where the impounded vehicle had been taken, advised Kovacs about a week after impoundment that the vehicle could be "picked up" on August 7, 2000 but on August 4, 2000 advised Kovacs that the vehicle was to remain impounded until December 20, 2000.

10. By letter, dated June 23, 2000, the Licensing and Control Branch, Driver Improvement Office wrote a letter to Kovacs advising that the motor vehicle had been impounded for a period of 180 days. The address to which that letter was addressed was 175 Hoffman Street, Unit 1, Kitchener, Ontario, N2M 3N2. Kovacs no longer resided at that address.

The Law

Section 20(1) of Regulation 632/98 states:

20. (1) An appeal to the Board under section 50.2 of the Act shall be commenced by filing a notice of appeal with the Board within 15 days of the issuance of the order to impound, together with a fee of $100 payable to the Minister of Finance.

Section 20(7) of Regulation 632/98 states:

20. (7) Despite subsection (1), the Board may extend the time for commencing an appeal if the owner establishes that the owner, acting in good faith, was unable through accident, illness, or other cause beyond the owner's control to bring the appeal within the prescribed 15 days.

Section 7 of the Licence Appeal Tribunal Act, 1999 states:

7. Despite any limitation of time fixed by or under any Act for the giving of any notice requiring a hearing by the Tribunal or an appeal from a decision or order of the Tribunal under section 11 or any other Act, if the Tribunal is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for applying for the extension and for granting relief, it may,

- (a) extend the time for giving the notice either before or after the expiration of the limitation of time so limited; and
- (b) give the directions that it considers proper as a result of extending the time.

The Order

THE BOARD RULED TO REFUSE TO GRANT an extension of the time to commence this appeal for the reasons that follow.

REASONS FOR ORDER

Pursuant to section 20(1) of Regulation 632/98, the Applicant's Notice of Appeal should have been filed with the Tribunal within 15 days of the issuance of the order to impound the motor vehicle. The date of the issuance of the order to impound was June 23, 2000 and the notice of appeal to the Tribunal should accordingly have been filed by July 12, 2000. The notice of appeal was in fact filed with the Tribunal on August 28, 2000 a significantly longer period than permitted by the Regulations. Section 20(1) of Regulation 632/98 is clear and unambiguous. It states that the filing of notice of appeal with the Tribunal shall be within 15 days of the issuance of the impound order.

In support of the Applicant's motion, Kovacs has filed with the Tribunal the following statement:

"When I had my car Impounded on June 23, I called the Pound a week later to confirm when the car could be released and how much it would cost. I was told that the car had to stay for 45 days, and that I could only pick it up on Monday August 07, 2000. So on Friday, August 04, when I called to make a final confirmation about picking my car up on the 7th, they told me that the date was no longer the 7th. They told me that my car had to stay in the Pound until Wednesday, December 20, meaning my car was impounded for 180 days, and not the 45 days that I was told by the pound before. Had I been told about the 180 days by the pound when I first asked them, I would have done the Appeal process within the 15 days."

Section 20(7) of Regulation 632/98 gives the Board power to extend the time for commencing an appeal provided the Applicant establishes that "the owner, acting in good faith was unable through accident, illness or other cause beyond the owner's control to bring the appeal within the 15 days". Accident and sickness have no application in this matter. "Other cause beyond the owner's control" may apply depending on the circumstances.

Apart from section 20(7) of the above quoted regulation, section 7 of the Licence Appeal Tribunal Act, 1999 gives the Tribunal the power to grant an extension if it is of the opinion there are reasonable grounds for applying for an extension and granting relief to the Applicant.

The onus of proof that there are reasonable grounds for the granting of an extension falls upon the Applicant. The Tribunal accepts that, initially, "the Pound" informed Kovacs that the vehicle's release would occur on August 7, 2000. This information came from the Ministry of Transport's own official(s) and Kovacs was entitled to rely on the correctness of this information. The information however proved to be incorrect, and the Tribunal finds that the Applicant, acting on such information, was prejudiced in filing an appeal within the prescribed period of 15 days from June 23, 2000, the date of issuance of the impound order. On the basis of the Ministry's official or officials giving Kovacs incorrect information and Kovacs relying on such misinformation to his detriment, the Tribunal, pursuant to section 7 of the Licence Appeal Tribunal Act, 1999, finds the Applicant had a reasonable ground for not filing its appeal within the prescribed period of 15 days of June 23, 2000.

However, Kovacs on his own statement states that had he been told of the vehicle being impounded for 180 days "I could have done the appeal process within the 15 days". Kovacs knew of the 180 days impoundment on August 4, 2000 and should therefore have filed his appeal by August 19, 2000. He did not do so. He, in fact, filed his appeal on August 28, 2000. No explanation or reason has been placed before this Tribunal as to why the appeal was not filed by August 19, 2000 and no reasonable grounds have been shown to exist for the granting of an extension.

Accordingly, the Tribunal refuses the Applicant's motion for an extension of time to appeal the impoundment order of the Registrar regarding the vehicle.

APPEAL FROM A PROPOSAL OF THE REGISTRAR
OF THE MOTOR VEHICLE DEALERS ACT

TO REFUSE REGISTRATION

TRIBUNAL: MARJORIE L. HILEY, Vice-Chair
SHEENA MACASKILL, Vice-Chair

APPEARANCES: AMEDEO DICARLO, Counsel representing the Applicant
AVIVA R. HARARI, Counsel representing the Registrar,
Motor Vehicle Dealers Act

DATE OF
HEARING: August 25, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal by Abraheem Rahal (the "Applicant") to the Licence Appeal Tribunal from a Notice of Proposal dated February 15, 2000, issued by the Registrar of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act ("the Act") to refuse registration as a salesperson.

The Proposal is based upon subsection 5(1) of the Act. The Registrar argues that the past conduct of the Applicant affords reasonable grounds for the belief that the Applicant will not carry on business in accordance with the law and with integrity and honesty, and that, having regard to the financial position of the Applicant, the Applicant cannot reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of business.

FACTS:

Mr. Rahal, the Applicant, was born on October 23, 1966. He was previously registered as a salesperson under the Act from September 1990 to October 1997, at which time his registration lapsed and was not renewed. Since 1997, Mr. Rahal has been either self-employed or has worked for his brother in an eyeglass business.

In June, 1992 Mr. Rahal and Reza Pourazar incorporated a business known as Connect Trade Auto Sales Ltd. The name of this corporation was subsequently changed to Cars Connect Trade Ltd. According to a corporate search (Ex. 5, Tab 11), Reza Pourazar ceased to be a director in September 1992. Mr. Rahal stated that his name should have been removed as director in 1992 and that the removal of Reza Pourazar's name was an error. Mr. Rahal also stated that he was unaware, until these proceedings, that the corporation was still active and that he continues to be the sole director of Cars Connect Trade Ltd. This evidence is inconsistent with Ex. 5, Tabs 15 and 18 which are applications for the corporation filed in 1993 and 1995 showing the Applicant as a director/owner of Cars Connect Trade Ltd. The corporation's registration under the Act was terminated in April, 1997.

Mr. Rahal stressed that he has no intention of applying to become a registered motor vehicle dealer; he only wants to work as a registered salesperson.

THE ISSUE:

The issue before the Tribunal is whether the evidence affords reasonable grounds for the Registrar's belief, and , as a result, whether the Registrar's proposal should be carried out.

THE LAW:

Section 5 of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act (the "Act"), states as follows;

Section 5(1) An applicant is entitled to registration or renewal of registration by the Registrar except where,

- (a) having regard to the financial position of the applicant, the applicant cannot reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of business; or
- (b) the past conduct of the applicant affords reasonable grounds for belief that the applicant will not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty; or

.....

Section 6 of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act (the "Act"), states as follows;

Section 6(1) Subject to section 7, the Registrar may refuse to register an applicant where in the Registrar's opinion the applicant is disentitled to registration under section 5.

Section 6(2) Subject to section 7, the Registrar may refuse to renew or may suspend or revoke a registration for any reason that would disentitle the registrant to registration under section 5 if the registrant were an applicant, or where the registrant is in breach of a term or condition of the registration.

Section 7 of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act (the "Act"), states as follows;

Section 7(1) Where the Registrar proposes to refuse to grant or renew a registration or proposes to suspend or revoke a registration, the Registrar shall serve notice of the proposal, together with written reasons therefor, on the applicant or registrant.

Section 7(2) A notice under subsection (1) shall state that the applicant or registrant is entitled to a hearing by the Tribunal if the applicant or registrant mails or delivers, within fifteen days after service of the notice under subsection (1), notice in writing requiring a hearing to the Registrar and the Tribunal, and the applicant or registrant may so require a hearing.

Section 7(3) Where an applicant or registrant does not require a hearing by the Tribunal in accordance with subsection (2), the Registrar may carry out the proposal stated in the notice under subsection (1).

Section 7(4) Where an applicant or registrant requires a hearing by the Tribunal in accordance with subsection (2), the Tribunal shall appoint a time for and hold the hearing and, on the application of the Registrar at the hearing, may by order direct the Registrar to carry out the Registrar's proposal or refrain from carrying it out and to take such action as the Tribunal considers the Registrar ought to take in accordance with this Act and the regulations, and for such purposes the Tribunal may substitute its opinion for that of the Registrar.

THE EVIDENCE:

i) Financial Position of the Applicant

Amanda LeeDempsey, Manager of Inspections with the Ontario Motor Vehicle Industry Council ("OMVIC") gave evidence on behalf of the Registrar.

The Registrar listed concern regarding the Applicant's financial responsibility as a ground for refusing to register him as a motor vehicle salesperson.

Ms. Dempsey stated that the Registrar based his conclusion that the Applicant could not be reasonably expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of his business on the following evidence:

- a) the fact that Mr. Rahal was bankrupt in 1989 and did not disclose this information on previous applications;
- b) the outstanding criminal restitution order and civil judgment in favour of the Toronto Dominion Bank;
- c) a debt to the Ministry of Finance in the amount of $33,348.62 against Cars Connect Trade Ltd. for failure to remit retail sales tax during the time that the Applicant was an officer and director of the corporation which was of particular concern to the Registrar because these monies are paid by the consumer to be held in trust by the vendor with the expectation that the funds will be appropriately remitted to the government; and
- d) the fact that the Applicant lied on an application to obtain credit from the Toronto Dominion Bank.

Mr. Rahal testified on his own behalf.

Mr. Rahal testified that he filed for bankruptcy in 1989 when he was unable to close a real estate transaction for the purchase of property in East Gwillumbury for 1.7 million dollars. Two months later he was able to close the deal and thus believed that the bankruptcy application had been withdrawn. Mr. Rahal stated that he did not realize that he was a discharged bankrupt until 1996 when he applied for credit. He states that this is why he answered in the negative in 1990, 1993 and 1995 to the question of whether he had ever been involved in bankruptcy proceedings. Mr. Rahal also stated that he never received the discharge documentation from the Trustee in Bankruptcy.

On cross-examination, Mr. Rahal stated that he had a lot of experience with credit bureaus and considered himself to be a "wise businessman" and an "expert in financing". Accordingly, the Tribunal finds it difficult to believe that the Applicant was unaware of his own bankruptcy.

Mr. Rahal stated that he was aware of Cars Connect Trade Ltd.'s obligation to pay the retail sales tax but that his former partner, Reza Pourazar, was responsible for making the payments. He stated that in 1996 Mr. Pourazar depleted all of the company accounts, fled Canada and left Mr. Rahal responsible for paying this debt.

Correspondence from the Ministry of Finance to the Registrar dated May 11, 2000 (Exhibit 5, Tab 12) shows an outstanding balance owed by Cars Connect Trade Ltd. of $78,641.75. Statements of account from the Ministry of Finance dated June 21, 2000 and June 23, 2000 (Exhibit 7a and 7b) show a revised balance of $33,310.26. The explanation provided on Exhibit 7b reads "Reversal of assessment 8292048 dated 22 Jan, 1999. This amount includes the adjustment of any additional interest charged on this assessment."

Mr. Rahal states that he made a $15,000.00 payment to the Retail Sales Tax office in 1996 and four additional payments of $2000.00 each, totalling $23,000.00. He stated that he has no documentation to prove that he made these payments nor did he make any attempt to obtain documentation from his bank to bring to this hearing.

Although Mr. Rahal squarely blames his former partner for taking the monies owed to the Ministry of Finance, he has taken no steps to collect the monies from Reza Pourazar. This is despite the Applicant's own evidence that Mr. Pourazar is back in Canada, operating a motor vehicle dealership in the Toronto area.

Mr. Rahal admitted that he lied on the Toronto Dominion Bank loan application with respect to the intent to defraud conviction; however, he claims that a bank official advised him to provide incorrect information. This unnamed bank official was not called by the Applicant as a witness.

ii) Past Conduct of the Applicant

In the Registrar's view, as presented by Ms. LeeDempsey, the relevant past conduct which supports the Registrar's belief that the Applicant will not carry on business in accordance with the law and with integrity and honesty is the Applicant's criminal record and his failure to disclose some of these convictions on his application form dated January 17, 2000.

Question 9 on the January 17, 2000 application states:

Have you ever been found guilty or convicted of an offense under any law or are any charges pending? (This includes those instances where a conditional or absolute discharge was ordered). If yes, list all charges and/or Convictions, and the circumstances surrounding each (attach sheets if necessary).

Mr. Rahal listed his convictions including some background facts and circumstances. These are set out in the Registrar's Proposal. Mr. Rahal also wrote "there may be some previous charges that I can't remember, that are prior to 1988." The Tribunal is satisfied that Mr. Rahal made no deliberate attempt to conceal any of his convictions to the Registrar on the January 17, 2000 application.

Ms. LeeDempsey emphasized that in 1997 Mr. Rahal was convicted of possession of stolen licence plates and an electronic control module. In May, 2000 he was convicted of intent to defraud the Toronto Dominion Bank. The sentence for the latter conviction includes probation and a restitution order in the amount of $25,237.87. These recent convictions are industry specific occurring during a period of Mr. Rahal's registration.

Ms. LeeDempsey testified that the Applicant failed to disclose any of his criminal offence convictions in his previous applications in 1990, 1993 and 1995.

Ms. LeeDempsey testified that the nature of the criminal record, the seriousness of the offences and the recent conviction for intent to defraud provide the Registrar with legitimate cause for concern about Mr. Rahal's honesty and integrity.

Mr. Rahal testified that he did not know who had completed the previous 1990, 1993 and 1995 applications. Alternately, he suggested that these forms could have been "slipped" in to substitute his application form. Interestingly, he did acknowledge his signature on the application forms. The Tribunal finds Mr. Rahal's explanation for the prior concealment of his criminal record completely unbelievable and concludes that he did deliberately conceal his criminal record from the Registrar on applications filed in 1990, 1993 and 1995.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

Section 6 of the Act provides that the Registrar may refuse to register an applicant under the Act when the applicant under section 5 can not reasonably be expected to be financially responsible or the past conduct of the applicant affords reasonable grounds for belief that the applicant will not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty.

With respect to the Registrar's decision that the Applicant can not be reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of business, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant is not financially responsible when it comes to monitoring and controlling his own personal and business related finances, and in meeting his obligations thereunder having regard to the Applicant's financial position. The Applicant did not disclose his prior bankruptcy and has an outstanding restitution and civil judgment against him.

With respect to the Registrar's decision that the Applicant would not conduct business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty, it is Mr. Rahal's past conduct and the cumulative effect of the past conduct which must be considered by this Tribunal.

The Tribunal should only refuse to direct the Registrar to carry out his proposal if it believes that the Registrar is in error in concluding that reasonable grounds exist for his belief. The case of Brenner and the Registrar of Motor Vehicle Dealers and Salesmen 19 CRAT SCO Decisions and Orders (1971-1989) sets out the test to be applied by the Tribunal as follows:

"The effect of Sec. 7(4) is that the Tribunal should only have refused to direct the Registrar to carry out his proposal if it thought the Registrar was in error in concluding that the past conduct of the Applicant afforded reasonable grounds for belief that he would not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty. The Board does not appear to have directed itself to this question and makes no finding that, in its view, the past conduct of Brenner did not afford reasonable grounds for the belief that Brenner would not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty. Instead, the Board appears to have been preoccupied with sympathetic concern as to whether or not Brenner had genuinely reformed, and appears to have decided that it ought to give him a second chance because there was a possibility that he, indeed, might have reformed himself."

It is vital that an Applicant show through a recent and sufficiently long course of conduct that he or she is a person to be trusted and not unfit to be registered under this Act. Mr. Rahal is unable to satisfy this test. Clearly, insufficient time has passed since his conviction three months ago. It is the Tribunal's finding that a greater amount of time is needed to persuade the Tribunal that the Applicant has established a new and reliable course of honest conduct in all of his dealings.

Bearing in mind the test outlined in Brenner, the Tribunal finds that the Registrar was not in error in concluding that the past conduct of the Applicant affords reasonable grounds for the belief that he will not carry on business in accordance with the law and with integrity and honesty. He failed to disclose criminal offences in his prior applications in 1990, 1993 and 1995, and has recent industry-specific convictions against him.

DECISION AND ORDER:

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority vested in it by Section 7(4) of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act, the Tribunal directs the Registrar to carry out his proposal to refuse the registration of Abraheem Rahal as a motor vehicle salesperson.

TO APPEAL AN ORDER TO IMPOUND A MOTOR VEHICLE ISSUED BY THE REGISTRAR OF MOTOR VEHICLES

TRIBUNAL: MALCOLM FEALING

APPEARANCES: KIM GROSSKURTH
Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

MARIANNE ZAWADZKI, Applicant

DATE OF HEARING: September 25, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: September 29, 2000 Kitchener

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on September 25, 2000, at Kitchener, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to Section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: Marianne Zawadzki (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle: 1986 Chev CEL, plate no. AATT 261 (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal: September 6, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the motor vehicle was stolen at the time it was being driven as provided in section 50.2(3)(a) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on September 25, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

The Tribunal made its ruling on the preliminary issue which follows.

The hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the motor vehicle was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

Sept 6/00

To whom it may concern,

I am requesting an appeal by the Tribunal for the impoundment of motor vehicle AATT261 on Thursday August 24/00.

The vehicle had been stolen by Adrienne Agar and she drove it with a suspended licence without my knowledge or consent. Therefore, I would like to request an oral hearing to discuss the release of my car.

Adrienne Agar had been renting a room from me since Aug 1/00. She was a roommate who took my car keys while I was at work without my permission. I have no idea how often she had done this prior to the 24th.

Adrienne has been charged with operation while disqualified, Public Mischief, Probation Order, non-compliance, and taking motor vehicle without consent. These are not her first charges or problems with the law.

I, Jennifer Zawadzki, had been given motor vehicle AATT261 by the owner Marianne Zawadzki to take control over while she is in Quebec. I have been placed as primary driver. The ownership address has remained 120 Westwood Dr, Kitchener, as my mother is still owner of that home. However, we have been told by the police that it must be changed to her Quebec current address, which will be done immediately.

To continue with the appeal, my mother has asked that I bring forth the appeal on her behalf as I was the primary driver at the time of the theft. A letter stating this has been included.

Officer Dan Gray from the Stratford police was the officer on duty at the time of the accident, but has been away on 2 weeks holiday immediately following the charges to Adrienne. Therefore, Officer Foster has taken over and his report will be given as evidence the day of the hearing.

If I have left out any information please feel free to call me at 2733530 during the day or at 2735793 in the evenings.

I also please ask that the hearing be scheduled for either before the 15th day of September or after the 23rd day of September as I will be away on holidays during that time.

Sorry for any inconvenience.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Zawadzki

Miss Jennifer Zawadzki did not produce any witnesses at this hearing.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar's evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Adrienne Agar;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of impaired driving under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until September 15, 2002.

The Respondent did not produce any witnesses at this hearing.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

(1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;

- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(a).

With respect to an appeal under subsection 50.2(3)(a) alleging that the vehicle was stolen, the meaning of "stolen" is not provided in The Highway Traffic Act.

The Shorter Oxford Dictionary, provides the definition of "stolen" as follows:

Stolen: 1. Obtained by theft. 2. Accomplished or enjoyed by stealth; secret. 3. Of time: obtained by contrivance

Theft: 1. The action of a thief; the felonious taking away of the personal goods of another; larceny 2. That which is or has been stolen; the proceeds of thieving.

Black's Law Dictionary (Sixth edition), page 1419-1420 provides the definition of "stolen" as follows:

Stolen: Acquired, or possessed, as a result of some wrongful or dishonest act or taking, whereby a person willfully obtains or retains possession of property which belongs to another, without or beyond any permission given, and with the intent to deprive the owner of the benefit of ownership (or possession) permanently.

The word "stolen" as used in the crime of interstate transpiration of stolen motor vehicles includes all wrongful and dishonest taking of motor vehicles with the intent to deprive the owner of the rights and benefits of ownership, regardless of whether theft constitutes common-law larceny; and felonious taking may be effected by diverse means known to both common and statutory law, such as larceny, embezzlement, false pretenses, larceny by trick and other types of wrongful acquisition. Lake v. U.S., Colo, 338F.2d 787,788. It is not necessary that the taking of the vehicle be unlawful. Even if possession of the vehicle is lawfully acquired, the vehicle will be deemed "stolen" if the defendant thereafter forms the intent to deprive the owner of the rights and benefits of ownership, and converts the vehicle to his own use. United States v. Turley, 352 U.S. 407, 417, 77 S.Ct. 397, 402. 1 L.Ed.2d 430.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

As to the evidence established, the Applicant's agent, Jennifer Zawadzki, did not add anything to her written appeal. The grounds of her appeal under second 50.2(3)(a) require that she provide sufficient evidence to convince the Tribunal that her car had been stolen. Zawadzki reiterated the fact that her roommate, Adrienne Agar, took the car without her permission for the second time, but Zawadzki had no reason to believe that Ms. Agar did not intend to return the automobile. Ms. Agar had left all her clothing in the apartment, and at the time of the accident, there was no indication that she had been attempting to deprive the owner of the rights and benefits of ownership, or that she was trying to dispose of it. The representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles based her claim that the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar be confirmed solely on the interpretation of the meaning of "stolen".

The meaning of the word "stolen" is defined in Black's Law Dictionary (sixth edition), page 1419- 1420. See above.

Miss Jennifer Zawadzki, readily admitted that the actions of her roommate did not in any way fit Black's definition of the word stolen. She did not believe that it had been Ms. Agar's intention to deprive her of the rights and benefits of ownership. The Tribunal can not, therefore, conclude that the car had been stolen, which is the ground of appeal the Applicant must establish to succeed in the appeal to this Tribunal.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

ROY MELVIN, M.D., Member

APPEARANCES: F. CLAIRE ROWETT
Representative for the Minister

Applicant,
unrepresented

DATE OF HEARING: September 18, 2000 Hamilton

DECISION AND REASONS

This is an appeal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal by the Applicant respecting a decision of the Minister (the "Respondent") pursuant to section 32(12)(b)(i) of the Highway Traffic Act (Ontario).

FACTS:

Ms. Rowett, an employee with the Ministry of Transportation, was sworn and presented the following evidence.

The Applicant's driver's licence was downgraded effective January 20, 2000. (Exhibit # 2).

The Applicant's driver's licence was downgraded after the Ministry received an unsolicited medical report from Physician # 1. Physician # 1 indicated that the Applicant was suffering from cardiovascular disease namely moderate Aortic Stenosis and controlled atrial fibrillation (on coumadin) and Osteoarthritis of both knees and left shoulder. There was also history of a remote MI in 1997.

In response to Physician # 1's medical report, the Ministry informed the Applicant that his licence had been downgraded as he did not meet the medical standards for a classified licence. However, if he wished to retain his "B" class licence, he would have to apply for a medical waiver of the medical standards.

A medical waiver certificate (Exhibit #2, Tab 3) was submitted by Physician # 2.

A medical report, dated February 15, 2000, submitted by Physician # 2, Cardiologist, reported that the Applicant was asymptomatic from the cardiac standpoint.

Physician # 1, the Applicant's family physician writes that the Applicant "has several ongoing medical conditions which are clinically stable. He is followed diligently by a Cardiologist and is compliant with medication". (Exhibit #2 Tab 3B).

Physician # 2 wrote to Physician # 1 and indicates that "we have no evidence of underlying significant ischemia in this gentleman. Ms. Rowett, in her testimony, indicated that "surgery has been recommended." However, Physician # 2's report of May 10, 2000 states that "antibiotic prophylaxis for dental work and surgery has again been recommended." This means that antibiotic therapy should be taken as a precautionary measure should the Applicant undergo any dental work or surgical procedure.

The Medical Advisory Committee's recommendation, case study #183953, was for the Applicant to hold a "class "G" licence only - reconsider with satisfactory cardiologist's assessment and stress test". The Medical Advisory Committee's reason for the recommendation was for an aortic valve disease, poor exercise test and HTA 340/94; NSC 3.6.1. (Exhibit # 2 Tab 4).

The Ministry advised the Applicant on August 10th, 2000 of their decision that the Applicant not hold a licence higher than a Class "G". He was also told of his right to appeal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal.

The Applicant was sworn and gave testimony. According to the Applicant, he has never been sick or has he missed time from work. He provided a letter from his employer (Exhibit # 3 Pg 5). In addition to the medical reports already presented into evidence by the Respondent, the Applicant provided a report, dated August 18, 2000, from Physician # 2 written to the Ministry of Transportation as well as a letter written by Physician # 1 to Physician # 2.

Ms. Rowett advised that she had not received these documents, copies were made and time was allowed for Ms. Rowett as well as the Tribunal to read them.

The report written by Physician # 2, dated August 18th, 2000, recapped his previous letter to the Ministry (Exhibit #2, Tab 3C). In this letter, Physician # 2 states that "this gentleman has asymptomatic moderate aortic stenosis and chronic atrial fibrillation". Physician # 2 notes that Physician # 1 has a note in her file from the Ministry that the Applicant's licence was revoked because of his stress test. Physician # 2 continues and says, "I am pleased with all of these results, and I am pleased with his coronary status and it is my personal feeling that this gentleman is fit to drive with his present licence. (Exhibit 3 Page 9).

The second letter, dated August 18, 2000 from Physician # 1 to Physician # 2, states: "On a clinical level, in fact, he has never been seen in my office for a syncopal episode or angina. He functions very well, carries out all activities of daily living, and in fact, carries on two jobs, one which involves a significant amount of walking and climbing stairs to deliver newspapers." (Exhibit # 3 Page 10).

The Applicant described his job as a bus driver. He states that there is very little physical demands placed upon him. He transports between five to seven children, aged two to five years who have special needs. There are no wheel chairs at present, and he stated that the company has given these children to other drivers. He also stated that he had two high school students with him during his run in case of an emergency.

When asked why he stopped the stress tests after two and a half minutes, he said the technician told him everything was normal and he did not have to continue. He says that he felt fine to continue as he believes that he is fit and stated that he walks at least three miles per day, delivering newspapers, climbing numerous stairs.

The Applicant was asked if he has increased medication. He stated that in fact he has been reduced in the amount of medication and has his blood monitored on a monthly basis.

The Applicant expressed his deep desire to retain his class "B" licence and believed that he had fulfilled all of the requirements asked of him by the Ministry.

The Applicant was excused from the stand.

In the Respondent's closing remarks, Ms. Rowett submitted that section 17(1)(c) of Regulation 340/94 of the Highway Traffic Act specifically states "Qualifications required by a holder of a Class "B" driver's licence are that the holder has no established medical history of myocardial infarction, angina pectoris, coronary insufficiency of thromosis". Ms. Rowett submitted that it is clear that the Applicant does not meet the standards of the Highway Traffic Act, which is why the Registrar offered a waiver under section 20 of the same regulation. However, the Applicant did not meet even the lower waiver standards set out in the National Safety Code. Therefore, when downgrading the Applicant's driving privilege, the Registrar relied on subsection 32(12)(b)(i) of the Act, which, Ms. Rowett submitted, allows for the downgrade of a driver's licence for any reasons deemed sufficient by the Registrar.

In this case, Ms. Rowett argued, the sufficient reason for the downgrade of the Applicant's driver's licence was that the Applicant suffers from Aortic Stenosis, and he did not meet the minimum requirements of the Stress Test as required under the National Safety Code ("NSC") sections 3.1,3.4,3.6. In downgrading the Applicant's driving privilege, the Registrar has acted in accordance with governing legislation/regulation and has applied the appropriate medical standards. While the Registrar recognizes that the NSC is a guideline and not legislation, it is important to note to the Tribunal that the NSC allows for lowering of the medical standards as imposed by the Highway Traffic Act and it is because of the NSC that the Applicant has been granted a class "G" licence instead of no licence at all. The medical evidence is clear and the actions of the Registrar were correct and within the scope of the authority granted in the Highway Traffic Act.

It is the position of the Registrar that the downgrade of the Applicant's driving privilege not be modified or set aside.

The Applicant presented his closing remarks. He restated his position that he felt he was healthy and his underlying medical conditions were very stable and that he had the full support of his Cardiologist, Physician # 2 and his family physician, Physician # 1. He also stated that the Cardiologist told him that his stress test was excellent and in his opinion, he was fit to drive with a class "B" licence, and he confirmed his belief by signing the Medical Waiver. The Applicant had nothing further to add and the hearing was adjourned.

ISSUES:

Should the decision of the Minister to change the class or class of motor vehicles in respect of which the licence is issued in accordance with the result of the examination be varied, modified or set aside?

LAW:

Regulation 340/94, section 14 states:

An applicant for or a holder of a driver's licence must not,

- (a) suffer from any mental, emotional, nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely; and

Regulation 340/94, section 17 and 18 states:

 - (d) has no established medical history of heart disease including arrhythmia or of respiratory dysfunction likely to interfere with the safe driving of a motor vehicle of the applicable class;

 - (k) has a horizontal visual field of at least 120 degrees in each eye as measured by confrontation tests.
- (2) An applicant for or a holder of a Class A, B, C, D, E or F driver's licence who fails to meet the qualifications referred to in clauses (1)(a) to (i) may, despite the failure, qualify for the class of licence applied for or held if he or she demonstrated the ability to drive a motor vehicle in the applicable class as safely as any person who meets those qualifications.
- (3) An applicant for or a holder of a Class D driver's licence who fails to meet the qualification referred to in clause (1)(c) may, despite the failure, qualify for that class of licence if it is medically determined that he or she has made a full recovery and there is no established history of a second occurrence of myocardial infarction, thrombosis or recurring angina pectoris.
- (4) An applicant for or a holder of a Class B, C, E or F driver's licence whose hearing in one ear is better than in the other must be able to perceive in the better ear, with or without a hearing aid, a forced whisper at a distance of 1.5 metres or, if an audiometer is used to test the person's hearing, must not have a loss in the better ear of more than 40 decibels at 500, 1,000 and 2,000 hertz.

 - (b) a horizontal visual field of at least 120 degrees as measured by confrontation tests.

Section 32(12)(b)(i) states:

32 No person shall drive a motor vehicle on a highway unless the motor vehicle is within a class of motor vehicles in respect of which the person holds a driver's licence issued to him or her under this Act.

(12) An applicant for a driver's licence or a person who holds a driver's licence shall submit to the examinations that are authorized by the regulations relating to this section and required by the Minister at the time and places that the Minister may require and the Minister may,

(b) in the case of a person who holds a driver's licence,

(i) impose or remove the conditions or endorsements authorized by the regulations or change the class or classes of motor vehicles in respect of which the licence is issued in accordance with the result of the examinations, or

....

Section 50 states:

(1) Every person aggrieved by a decision of the Minister under subsection 17(2) or (3) or subclause 32(12)(b)(i) or a decision of the Registrar under section 47 may appeal the decision to the Tribunal.

(2) The Tribunal may confirm, modify or set aside the decision of the Minister or Registrar.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

The Registrar relied on subsection 32(12)(b)(i) of the Highway Traffic Act to downgrade the Applicant's licence to a Class "G". Under that subsection, a holder of a driver's licence "shall submit to the examinations that are authorized by the regulations relating to this section and required by the Minister at the time and places that the Minister may require...". Following this, "...the Minister may ... change the class of motor vehicles in respect of which the licence is issued in accordance with the results of the examinations." The downgrade of the Applicant's driver's licence was in accordance with the basic medical standards found in Regulation 340/94 made under the HTA. The Registrar relied on section 17(1)(c)(d) of that Regulation, which states that "the applicant or holder has no established medical history of myocardial infarction, angina pectoris, coronary insufficiency or thrombosis". Section 17(1) (d) of the Regulations, requires that an applicant or holder has no established medical history of heart disease including arrhythmia or respiratory dysfunction likely to interfere with the safe driving of a motor vehicle of the applicable class.

The Registrar also relied on the NSC section 3.6.1 (a) aortic stenosis.

However, the Medical evidence presented by the Applicant, does not support a downgrade but, in fact, supports the Applicant's retention of his Class "B" driver's licence. By completing the medical waiver, Physician # 2 is of the opinion that the Applicant is medically fit and able to function normally.

The Tribunal finds that the evidence presented does not support the Respondent's position but supports the Applicant's position that he should retain his Class "B" licence and not be downgraded to a Class "G" driver's licence.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the decision dated January 20, 2000, of the Minister (the "Respondent") to change the class or classes of motor vehicle in respect of which the licence was issued pursuant to section 32 (12) (b)(i) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA") and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Respondent and of the Applicant;

IT IS THE DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL, pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50(2) of the Act that the decision of the Registrar be set aside and that the Applicant's Class "B" driver's licence be re-instated.

TO APPEAL A SUSPENDED LICENCE

TRIBUNAL: ANTOINE AOUAD, M.D., Presiding Member

APPEARANCES: CLAIRE ROWETT, Respondent
Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

Applicant,
unrepresented

DATE OF HEARING: September 19, 2000 Toronto

DECISION AND REASONS

This is an appeal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal by the Applicant respecting a decision of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Respondent") pursuant to section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act (Ontario).

EXHIBITS:

By the Applicant:

- a) Exhibit #1 Notice of Appeal, dated August 15, 2000

By the Respondent:

- a) Exhibit #2 Ministry of Transportation submissions – tabs 1 – 10
- received August 25, 2000

PRELIMINARY MATTERS:

The Representative of the Ministry provided the Tribunal with a final written summation with respect to this matter.

FACTS:

The Applicant is appealing the suspension of her driving privileges effective "00/03/11" as set out in Exhibit # 1.

Unsolicited information in the form of a letter written 18 February, 2000, by Physician # 1, states "...on 13 February 2000... had a grand mal seizure at the wheel of her car while traveling along the 401... she has been informed... she should no longer be driving...". (Exhibit # 2 Item 1)

A second unsolicited letter, undated, from Physician # 2 was received by the Ministry. Physician # 2 reports that "...the Applicant has suffered an epileptic seizure and should have her driving licence suspended until reassessed by a neurologist...". (Exhibit # 2 Item 2)

A letter dated February 15, 2000, from Sr. Constable # 1 (badge no.), Central Traffic Management Unit for the Ontario Provincial Police, describes the incident that took place while the Applicant was driving. Sr. Constable #1 obtained information from an interview with the Applicant's daughter, as follows: "...Applicant's daughter advised that her mother looked left and froze in that position then fell to her right across the driver's seat. The car then left the roadway through the snowbank and was slowed by the loose snow. The Buick stopped and the Applicant commenced convulsions. Applicant's daughter advised that she hadn't seen her mother have a seizure in about 11 years..." (Exhibit # 2 Item 3)

The Ministry informed the Applicant on February 29, 2000 that the suspension would be reconsidered "...upon receipt of a satisfactory, detailed neurologist's assessment... the results of... (EEG, MRI, CT SCAN)..." (Exhibit # 2 Item 4)

A letter dated February 28, 2000, under the letterhead of the St. Joseph's Health Centre, executed by Physician # 3, Staff - Neurology Service Department of Medicine, establishes that the "...neurological examination is normal... EEG shows a paroxysmal interictal discharge from the left temporal region... brain scan... arranged... on Tegretol... has been treated for alcoholic pancreatitis..." (Exhibit # 2 Item 5)

In a letter dated March 27, 2000, Physician # 3, neurologist with the St Joseph's Health Centre, confirms that the "...CT scan is normal... She states that she has observed complete abstinence from alcohol... takes Tegretol 200 mg. (She had a grand mal seizure... in my opinion...most likely due to alcohol excess with perhaps an element of withdrawal) neurological examination remains normal..." (Exhibit # 2 Item 6)

Physician # 4 and Physician # 4 dictated but did not read the "CT Head" report dated "19-Mar-2000...". An "Unenhanced study was performed", the physician records "...a normal examination... I do not see a cause for seizures...." (Exhibit # 2 Item 6 A)

A report dated "Feb 21 2000" signed by Physician # 6 indicates "...Interictal discharges are seen from the left posterior temporal region. This would be compatible with a partial seizure disorder..." (Exhibit # 2 Item 6 A)

By letter dated April 6, 2000 the Ministry informed the Applicant that further consideration would be given to her suspension "...upon receipt of a report from a specialist in addiction medicine confirming successful completion of a treatment program for alcoholism, commitment to ongoing relapse prevention requirements of the program and one year totally abstinent from any form of alcohol...seizure free..." (Exhibit # 2 Tab 7)

ADMINISTRATIVE REVIEW - MEDICAL SUSPENSIONS dated "June 30/00" completed by Sandra Quadrini, details the Applicant's history as explained by the Applicant. Applicant states that "her ability to drive is not affected because of the seizure..." (Exhibit # 2 Tab 8)

A note from Physician # 7, St Joseph's Health Centre dated, "FEB/09/95" confirms "ERCP ...normal...bouts of pancreatitis..." (Exhibit # 2 Tab 8 C)

Exhibit # 2 Item 10, is a Ministry of Transportation driving Record for the Applicant since 1989 which shows no infractions.

At the hearing, the Respondent offered a re-iteration of the written summations and the material contained in exhibit # 2, tabs 1 through 10.

The Registrar relied "...on several sets of guidelines... The Physician's Guide to Driver Examination published by the Canadian Medical Association... National Safety Code – Medical Standards for Drivers published by the Canadian Council of Motor Transport Administrators."

In closing, the Respondent emphasizes that the Applicant "...suffers from a seizure disorder that is brought on by alcohol withdrawal... evidence is clear that this condition has significantly interfered with her ability to operate a motor vehicle."

The Applicant testified she firmly believes that the seizure occurred due to her drinking on an empty stomach the day before the incident. She supposes that her blood sugar level dropped and that is the reason she passed out. Nonetheless, the Applicant continues to take the Tegretol as prescribed by her physicians.

According to the Applicant, the Tegretol does not impair either her vision or her ability to drive.

The Applicant further attested that she is not an alcoholic and that she may have drank a bit much twelve years ago, but stopped drinking when advised she was suffering from pancreatitis due to excessive consumption of alcohol.

ISSUES:

Should the decision of the Registrar to suspend the Applicant's licence be confirmed, modified or set aside?

LAW:

Regulation 340/94, Section 14 states:

An applicant for or a holder of a driver's licence must not,

- (a) suffers from an mental, emotional, nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely; and
- (b) be addicted to the use of alcohol or a drug to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle safely.

Section 47(1) states:

Subject to section 47.1, the Registrar may suspend or cancel,

- (a) the plate portion of a permit as defined in Part II;
- (b) a driver's licence; or
- (c) a CVOR certificate,

on the grounds of,

- (d) misconduct for which the holder is responsible, directly or indirectly, related to the operation or driving of a motor vehicle;
- (f) conviction of the holder for an offence referred to in subsection 210(1) or (2);
- (f) the Registrar having reason to believe, having regard to the safety record of the holder or of a person related to the holder, and any other information that the Registrar considers relevant, that the holder will not operate a commercial motor vehicle safely or in accordance with this Act, the regulations and other laws relating to highway safety; or
- (g) any other sufficient reason not referred to in clause (d), (e) or (f).

Section 50 of the Act states:

50.(1) Every person aggrieved by a decision of the Minister under subsection 17(2) or (3) or subclause 32(12)(b)(i) or a decision of the Registrar under section 47 may appeal the decision to the Licence Appeal Tribunal.

- (2) The Tribunal may confirm, modify or set aside the decision of the Minister or the Registrar.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

Section 47(1) unquestionably empowers the Registrar to "...suspend or cancel" a driver's licence for "any...sufficient reason..." The Registrar originally suspended the Applicant's driver's licence after receiving three independent unsolicited reports.

1. Physician # 1 via a letter written 18 February, 2000, notifies the Ministry that the Applicant "...had a grand mal seizure...". (Exhibit # 2 Item 1)

2. Physician # 2 reports that “... the Applicant has suffered an epileptic seizure.... ”. (Exhibit # 2 Item 2)
3. Sr. Constable #1, (badge no.), Central Traffic Management Unit for the Ontario Provincial Police, describes the incident that took place while the Applicant was driving, and concludes “...It might be prudent to suspend this subjects License...” (Exhibit # 2 Item 3)

The Tribunal finds that the Ministry acted properly and in accordance with the Regulation, in suspending the Applicant's driver's license, based on the information received.

At the present time the Respondent contends that the Applicant's license must remain under suspension pursuant to Sections 14 (a) and (b) of Regulation 390/94.

Section 14 (a) states that:

“An applicant for or a holder of a driver's license must not,

- a) suffer from a mental, emotional nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely...”

The Respondent substantiates the position to suspend the Applicant's license for medical reasons, based on medical reports that support the opinion that the Applicant “...suffers from a seizure disorder...”. The Tribunal concurs and refers to the neurological reports by Physician # 3, “...had a grand mal seizure...” and Physician # 6 “...This would be compatible with a partial seizure disorder...” (Exhibit # 2 Item 6 and 6 A respectively)

The Applicant argues that her license should be re-instated, on the grounds that her seizures were not epileptic and that she is not addicted to alcohol.

Whether or not the seizures are brought on by alcohol withdrawal, it is evident that the Applicant suffers from a disorder that from time to time may cause her to have a seizure. This statement is corroborated by the fact that the Applicant suffered such a seizure while behind the wheel of her motor vehicle. The evidence supports the Respondent's premise that “...it is clear that this condition has significantly interfered with her ability to operate a motor vehicle.”

Based on the evidence before the Tribunal, with respect to the medical condition, it appears premature to overrule the Ministry's decision, at this time. The Tribunal is satisfied that the criteria described in Regulation 340/94 section 14(a) of the HTA apply to the Applicant.

The Tribunal notes that the Applicant may seek and provide new neurological evidence to the Ministry, at any time at her convenience.

The Tribunal will now proceed to review the evidence adduced with respect to Section 14 (b) of Regulation 340/94, which reads:

"An applicant for or a holder of a driver's license must not,

b) be addicted to the use of alcohol or drug to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle safely."

On the basis of documentation before it, the Tribunal finds that there is inconclusive evidence to rule that the Applicant is addicted to alcohol and more particularly that said possible addiction has interfered or would interfere with her ability to safely operate a motor vehicle. Thus, at this time, the Tribunal determines that the criteria of Regulation 340/94 section 14 (b) of the HTA do not apply to the Applicant.

The weight of the evidence establishes sufficient cause for the suspension of the Applicant driver's licence. In particular, the evidence establishes that the criteria set out in section 14(a) of Regulation 340/94 section apply to the Applicant.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the decision dated March 11, 2000 of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles ("Registrar") to suspend her driver's licence pursuant to Section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA"), and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

IT IS THE DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50(2) of the Act that the decision of the Registrar be confirmed.

KENNETH W. SMITH, Applicant

DATE OF HEARING: September 28, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: October 2, 2000 Orillia

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on September 28, 2000, at Orillia, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended (“HTA” or the “Act”).

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to Section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner:	Kenneth W. Smith (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle:	1993 Dodge RAM 350, plate #6696EE (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal:	September 14, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the vehicle owner exercised due diligence to determine that the driver's licence was not suspended and the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on September 28, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension?

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

WRITTEN MATERIAL AS EVIDENCE TO SUPPORT APPEAL

This appeal of the Ministry's Impoundment order is based on two (2) grounds; 1. that the owner of the vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the vehicle was not then under suspension, and 2. that the order has and will continue to result in exceptional hardship.

1. Due Diligence

There was no reason to suspect that the driver (David Farmer) of the impounded vehicle did not have a valid drivers licence. In early August, one of our staff members, Sharon German, saw David driving a vehicle on 2 occasions, leaving our yard at Smith's Country Gardens at the end of the day (white car), and driving a different vehicle taking it from the Farm (parking area) to the yard (had to drive onto the highway).

Employee had ample time to inform us of having a suspended licence. In the 1 to 1.5 hour interview, owner, Ken Smith discussed with David the types of equipment he was able to operate. Within approximately one month of David being hired, he, without hesitation, drove Ken's vehicle occasionally, without informing Ken of his licence suspension.

Ken admits that, at no time was the driver asked the direct question "do you have a valid drivers licence, and may I see it?" It is however, standard practice at Smith's Country Gardens, to ask for driver's licence #'s for insurance purposes at 'start-up time' in early May. Unfortunately, this practice "fell through the cracks" at the time David was hired because he was hired in late June.

As a result on this situation, David Farmer was dismissed. Upon his termination, David admitted to Ken that "he took advantage of the situation to get a job".

2. Exceptional Hardship

We have and will continue to suffer hardship from this entire situation. Losing a staff member as well as a 'key' vehicle has set us back significantly. Issues such as increased risk of injury to staff members, and time delays on scheduled jobs resulting in financial loss, have developed. The loss of a staff member, who was part of a two man crew designated for a high profile landscape job, increases the workload of the one remaining crew member, which only increases the risk of injury to that person. Losing the 'key' vehicle, which holds significant value for the business, also increases the risk of injury to that person, and adds time delays in job completion.

It is the only vehicle (1 of 4) with 4 wheel drive and dump box combination, which is required for Landscaping jobs, (hauling stone and large amounts of soil). The remaining three vehicles are not suitable replacements. The vehicles on hand are as follows:

1. 1989 Ford F450 - Has dumping ability, but not 4x4.
2. 1990 Dodge F350 - Has 4x4 but no dumping ability.
3. 1986 Ford 1/2 ton - Too light duty for this type of work.

The impounded vehicle was scheduled for a landscape job on Monday, Sept. 11 & 12 for the purposes of hauling stone down a steep hill, unload stone and using 4 wheel drive to climb back up the hill. Due to the impoundment of the proper vehicle for the job, staff safety and time delays, became serious issues. The job was delayed by 2 days making it very inconvenient to the customer. Also, we had to postpone the Carry All rental machine.

The person doing this job had to handle heavy stone more than is normally necessary. The stone had to be lifted and placed on the ground, then lifted once again to move it to the designated mover machine. With the impounded vehicle, the stone would have been lifted directly from the truck into the designated mover machine. This additional work increases the potential risk of injury. Also, the owner, Ken Smith, who has a history of back problems which limits his ability to work on occasion, has had to step in and assume the duties of David Fanner (lifting stone, etc.). Other employees are not suitable as they are female employees and are not expected to lift such heavy material.

Within the next 2 to 4 weeks, the impounded vehicle is scheduled for at least 4 more on site loading/unloading tasks. The vehicles on hand for possible replacement are 'not' suitable for the job. Not having this vehicle will prove to be an incredible inconvenience, added to the loss of an employee.

We respectfully ask that you set aside the Ministry's Impoundment order.

NOTE: Upon terminating David's employment (Friday, Sept. 11/00), every attempt to find a replacement person was made, I immediately put up the 'Help Wanted' sign at the Garden Centre. On Monday, a 'Job Fax' was sent to Human Resources Development of Canada, and a classified ad was sent to the local paper. No candidates as of this date.

*PHOTO ENCLOSED

The Applicant testified that the vehicle was being driven at the time of the impoundment by Mr. David Farmer, who was an employee of the Applicant's landscaping company. The vehicle was being used to transport rocks that were part of a landscaping project that the Applicant was working on. Specifically, the four wheel drive and dumping features of this truck were to be used to transport the stone directly to the site where it was to be dumped into an on site carry-all transport vehicle.

The Applicant's company policy for all of its employees was to ask for their driver's licence at the time of the employment interview, and for the Applicant's insurance company to verify its status. The Applicant stated that he never suspected that Mr. Farmer's licence was suspended as he had seen him drive on other occasions, and that Mr. Farmer had ample opportunity to volunteer this information to the Applicant. The Applicant further testified that he never saw or asked to see Mr. Farmer's driver's licence at any time, though this was not his stated policy.

Since the loss of this vehicle, the Applicant's project has been delayed by several days. The Applicant has also been forced to manually unload the rock into the carry-all machine, and the carry-all has had to be rented for an increased period of time at an extra cost of $85 per day.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by David C. Farmer;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence driving while disqualified under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until November 21, 2000.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

- (1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

- (3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,
 - (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
 - (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
 - (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
 - (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of sections 50.2(3)(c) and (d).

With respect to an appeal under subsection 50.2(3)(c) alleging that the owner exercised due diligence prior to releasing the vehicle to the driver, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary provides the definition of "due diligence" as follows:

Due: A. adj. 1. That is owing or payable, as a debt. 2. Belonging or falling to by right. 3. That ought to be giving or rendered; merited. 4. Such as ought to be; fitting; proper; rightful. 5. Such as is requisite or necessary; adequate. 6. To be ascribed or attributed; owing to, caused by, in consequence of. 7. Under engagement or contract to be ready or arrive (at a defined time).

Diligence: 1. The quality of being diligent; industry, assiduity. 2. Speed, dispatch. 3. Careful attention, heedfulness, caution. 4. Law. The attention and care due from a person in a given situation....

Also, “due diligence” in Black’s Law Dictionary (sixth edition) at page 457 is as follows:

Due diligence: Such a measure of prudence, activity, or assiduity, as is properly to be expected from, and ordinarily exercised by, a reasonable and prudent man under the particular circumstances; not measured by any absolute standard, but depending on the relative facts of the special case.

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines “exceptional hardship” as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

(h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22 (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
- (a) a threat to the health or safety or any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
- (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.

- (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
- (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
- (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
- (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension as per section 50.2(3)(c) of the Act?

In this hearing, there was no evidence before the Tribunal that any actions could be considered due diligence, as described by section 50.2(3)(c) of the Act, were performed by the Applicant. In fact, the forthright testimony of the Applicant was that Mr. Farmer had not been subject to the normal company policy of the Applicant, and that his licence was never asked for or seen. Furthermore, the Applicant also stated that he normally relied upon his insurance company to verify the status of the licences of his prospective employees. The Applicant's stated reliance upon Mr. Farmer to volunteer information regarding the status of his licence can not be considered an act of due diligence on the part of the Applicant.

By failing to take any initiative to actually determine the status of Mr. Farmer's driver's licence, or to potentially leave this determination up to some third party such as the Applicant's insurance company, the Applicant in his own testimony has failed to meet the onus under the Act.

The Applicant has also appealed on the grounds of exceptional hardship, in accordance with section 50.2(3)(d). Section 22 of Regulation 632/98 is very specific, in that it provides the Tribunal with the specific criteria the Applicant must meet to determine if exceptional hardship under the Act will result from the impoundment. The Tribunal is precluded from considering other factors not arising from or directly related to the impoundment itself.

The Applicant has made specific claims of exceptional hardship as described by both sections 22(1)(a) and 22(2). The Applicant has stated that the loss of the use of this vehicle to transport rock directly to and dumping at the unloading site constitutes a threat to the health and safety of the workers on the project. Furthermore, the loss of this vehicle for this project has caused the Applicant to incur added expenses through the use of alternative means to transport and unload the rock.

The Applicant argues that the manual unloading of the rock from his other truck, that has been used to substitute for the impounded vehicle, constitutes a threat to the health and safety of him and his employees. Section 22(1)(a) of regulation 632/98 refers to exceptional hardship as a threat to the health and safety caused by the loss of this vehicle to any one normally transported by it. There was no evidence before the Tribunal that the Applicant and his employees were facing a threat to their health or safety as a result of not being able to have this vehicle for their own transportation. The Regulation does not refer to a threat to the health and safety of individuals being considered exceptional hardship, if the loss of the vehicle for any use other than individual transportation was to occur. In fact, there was no evidence before the Tribunal as to whom this vehicle normally transported, and how this loss could be considered exceptional hardship under the Act.

In order for the Applicant's claims to be considered under sections 22(1)(a) 22(2)(a), (b), and (c), he must have demonstrated that all of section 22(3) has been met. Furthermore, section 22(4) of the Regulation provides that the Applicant demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered for an alternative to the vehicle.

The Applicant has not presented the Tribunal with any evidence that would demonstrate that every reasonable alternative option has been considered and inquired into as required by section 22(4) of the Regulation. Furthermore, no attempt was made by the Applicant to demonstrate to the Tribunal that no other alternatives to the impounded vehicle existed. In fact, the Applicant's testimony was that he has made use of alternatives to the impounded vehicle, including the use of other vehicles in his possession and the rental of other equipment.

The Tribunal finds that the Applicant has failed to meet the onus under the section 22(3) and 22(4) of the Regulation, and the Tribunal is therefore precluded from considering the Applicant's claim of exceptional hardship under section 22(2) of the Regulation.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

TO APPEAL AN ORDER TO IMPOUND A MOTOR VEHICLE ISSUED BY THE REGISTRAR OF MOTOR VEHICLES

TRIBUNAL: NIVES MONTANO
Presiding member

APPEARANCES: K.M. BIEL
Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

JUNIOR EBAGUA
Agent for the Applicant

DATE OF HEARING: September 29, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: October 2, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on September 29, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to Section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the “Registrar”), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: Goodluck Ugiagbe (the “Applicant”)
Motor Vehicle: 1994 Jeep GRC, plate #AHAF 946 (the “vehicle”)
Date of Appeal: September 9, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the “Tribunal”) together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on September 29, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant’s request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant’s appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar’s order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant’s evidence follows.

Applicant’s written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

- I DID NOT KNOW THAT HIS LICENCE WAS SUSPENDED.
- I NEED MY CAR TO GO WORK
- I PROMISE IT WILL NOT HAPPEN AGAIN
- I DID NOT KNOW THAT THERE IS A 1 800 NUMBER TO CALL TO FIND OUT ONTARIO’S LICENCE VERIFICATION.

The Agent, being a cousin of the Applicant, under oath and to the best of his knowledge provided the following information.

The Applicant is a husband and father of three children ages three, five and nine years of age. He is employed full-time in a supervisory position at ATK Motor Parts Division located in Vaughan, Ontario. The Applicant's wife is also employed full-time at EJ Moving and Cleaning Services. The family currently resides in the area of Jane Street and Sheppard Avenue.

On the day the vehicle was impounded, the Applicant permitted his cousin, Junior Ebagua, to borrow the impounded vehicle. Mr. Ebagua then gave the above-mentioned vehicle to James Bartlett and his girlfriend to attend Mr. Bartlett's mother's wedding in Bancroft, Ontario. On a small side road in or near Bancroft, the vehicle apparently got lodged in some mud in a ditch in which the vehicle could not be released. Mr. Bartlett's girlfriend left Mr. Bartlett with the vehicle and went to call a tow truck. Shortly thereafter, a tow truck as well as an OPP cruiser was at the scene, wherein it was discovered that Mr. Bartlett was a suspended driver. The vehicle was then impounded.

Mr. Ebagua has been friends with Mr. Bartlett for approximately four years. Mr. Ebagua has seen Mr. Bartlett have care and control of numerous vehicles belonging to other mutual friends.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner (Exhibits 4 & 5);
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by James D. Bartlett (Exhibits 4 & 5);
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle (Exhibits 1, 4 and 5);
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of failing or refusing to provide breath or blood sample under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until September 15, 2002 (Exhibits 4 & 5);
5. Certified copy of an abstract from Ministry of Transportation records relating to a 1995 Plymouth vehicle registered in the Applicant's name (Exhibit 6);
6. Certified copy of an abstract from Ministry of Transportation records relating to a 1986 Honda vehicle registered to Gladys Ugiagbe (Exhibit 7);

7. Certified copy of Gladys Ugiagbe's driving record together with past address history (Exhibit 8); and
8. Certified copy of the Applicant's driving record together with past address history (Exhibit 9).

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

(1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines "exceptional hardship" as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

- (h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22
- (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety or any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
 - (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;

- (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
- (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS

The Applicant has requested an appeal on the grounds of “exceptional hardship” under section 50.2(3)(d). Section 22 of Regulation 632/98 is very specific, in that it provides the Tribunal with the criteria the Applicant must meet to determine if in fact “exceptional hardship” will result from the impoundment. The Applicant in this case has argued that the impoundment will result in hardship as described by section 22(2). In order for his claim to be considered under section 22(2), the Agent must have demonstrated that all of section 22(3) has been met. Furthermore, section 22(4) of the Regulation provides the criteria for demonstrating that every reasonable option has been considered for an alternative to the impounded vehicle.

Prior to the vehicle being impounded, the Applicant's wife took the bus to work each day. The Applicant drove one child to elementary school in Etobicoke and two children to primary school located at Keele Street and Finch Avenue before going to work in Vaughan. He would also pick them up at the end of each day. On occasion, the Applicant's wife would pick up either the child in elementary school or the two children in primary school.

The Applicant has two vehicles registered in his name. The first vehicle is the impounded vehicle. The second vehicle is a 1995 Plymouth. In Mr. Ebagua's testimony, the 1995 Plymouth is being driven by a woman named Helen Hemelingua. Ms. Hemelingua would not be able to afford insurance coverage due to her poor driving record, if the Applicant had not registered the Plymouth in his name. Ms. Hemelingua is paying the Applicant for the lower insurance premiums.

Mr. Ebagua testified that the Applicant would not be in a position to ask Ms. Hemelingua for the use of her vehicle on occasion.

In further testimony, the Applicant is of the opinion that taking a taxi is cheaper than renting a vehicle during the impoundment period.

Because of timing during a business day, public transit would be extremely difficult in getting his children to their respective schools as well as getting to work in time. The family has made inquiries with friends and family for assistance, but to no avail. The Applicant's place of employment has no flex hours and there are no co-workers that live in his area.

The Applicant has not missed any days at work but has been warned on two occasions of his tardiness. All his vacation time has been consumed due to a recent trip to Africa.

Although Mr. Ebagua stated that he will be paying for the release of the impounded vehicle, evidence was heard that the Applicant may have incurred some financial hardship as a result of the loss of the vehicle and he may pursue compensation from the suspended driver, James Bartlett, as is stated in section 55.1(21) of the Highway Traffic Act:

"The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under this section may bring an action against the driver of the motor vehicle at the time the order was made to recover any costs or other losses incurred by the owner in connection with the order".

The Applicant and its Agent have not presented the Tribunal with any evidence that would demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered as contemplated by section 22(4) of the Regulation. The Applicant has not proven that the loss of the vehicle will be immediate, significant and lasting.

The Tribunal accordingly finds the Applicant has not established that it has or will suffer exceptional hardship as defined by Ontario Regulation 632/98, subsection 22.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

RANDOLPH M. ADAMS

APPEAL FROM A DECISION OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE ONTARIO MOTOR VEHICLE
DEALERS COMPENSATION FUND

TO DISALLOW A CLAIM

TRIBUNAL: DEREK ISRAEL, Vice-Chair

APPEARANCES:

RANDOLPH M. ADAMS, appearing on his own behalf (the
"Applicant")
A. MITCHELL GOLDBLOOM, counsel representing the Ontario
Motor Vehicle Dealers Compensation Fund, (the "Fund")

DATE OF HEARING: September 26, 2000
Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") from a written decision of the Ontario Motor Vehicle Dealers Compensation Fund (the "Fund") dated May 30, 2000.

The Applicant bases his appeal on the provisions of section 12(3)(1) of the Schedule to Regulation 801 R.R.O. 1990, as amended, pursuant to the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter M.42 as amended (the "Regulations").

The Fund refused the Applicant's claim.

THE EVIDENCE:

The only witness to testify on behalf of the Applicant, was the Applicant himself. The only witness to testify on behalf of the Fund, was Douglas R. Lamb ("Lamb"). Besides the testimony of the Applicant and Lamb there was documentary evidence tendered and accepted by the Tribunal.

The Applicant testified that on October 14, 1998, he purchased a 1992 Nissan Stanza motor vehicle (the "vehicle") from J.K. Motors Ltd. of Mississauga, Ontario. The Bill of sale signed by the Applicant and the Vendor of the vehicle indicates a purchase consideration of $6,324.50 that the vehicle had travelled a distance of 142,680 kms and that it was "sold certified". (Exhibit 3, Tab 1, page 6)

Applicant paid the Vendor the purchase consideration and took delivery of the vehicle.

Within two weeks of delivery of the vehicle the Applicant experienced, as he termed it, a vibration in the vehicle's engine as well as "a noise" from the engine. On occasions the engine would also "cut out". When the vibration occurred, Applicant would stop the vehicle and restart it ten minutes later whereupon it ran without problems for a day or sometimes a week. Applicant also found difficulty with the vehicle's gears in that he could not easily engage first gear and the vehicle, on occasions, "jumped" out of first gear.

Applicant took the vehicle back to the Vendor to have the problems rectified. Vendor was not able to correct the problems. Applicant then, in May 1999, took the vehicle to Tryman's Transmission Inc. ("Tryman's") of Oakville, Ontario at which time the vehicle had travelled a distance of 172,430 kms. The Applicant, since purchase of the vehicle, had continued to use it to go to and from work, to take his family to church and for recreational use.

Tryman's, according to their invoice of May 19, 1999, removed and inspected the vehicle's transaxle assembly and also overhauled the transaxle assembly (Exhibit 3, Tab 1, page 14). Tryman's invoice in respect of the parts and labour supplied amounted to the sum of $1,225.44 which Applicant paid. The work done and materials supplied did not remedy the Applicant's complaints in that the vibration continued. In February 2000, Applicant took the vehicle back to Tryman's complaining about the vehicle's vibration and "not going into reverse sometimes". He was given an estimate of the cost of repair's which amounted to $2,800.40. The repairs suggested by Tryman's were not carried out as Applicant could not afford the estimated cost. Applicant continued to use the vehicle and at present the vehicle has travelled a distance of about 210,000 kms. Presently the noise in the vehicle's engine is no longer there.

With his complaints unresolved, the Applicant contacted Nissan Canada Inc. and was advised by Nissan Canada Inc. that the vehicle was reported "as being a wreck on November 28, 1995".

Applicant filed a claim for damages against the Vendor in the Small Claims Court and obtained a default judgment for $5,000.00 plus costs pursuant to that claim.

Applicant then filed a claim with the Fund who on May 30, 2000 wrote to Applicant as follows:

"On behalf of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Compensation Fund, I am forwarding a cheque in the amount of $1,225.44, which represents the pecuniary loss you suffered in your transaction with J.K. Motors.

We note that you still have the vehicle and have put 50,000 kms on it since the time of purchase. The repairs, other than the transmission, are in the Board's opinion, normal wear and tear on a vehicle with over 200,000 kms."

The Applicant accepted the Fund's cheque for $1,225.44 but did not accept the Fund's conclusions and accordingly appealed its decision to the Tribunal.

Lamb, testifying for the Fund, stated that he is presently employed by City Pontiac Buick as a general technician, has his interprovincial licence as an auto repair technician and is a member of General Motors Technician's Guild. He also stated that he has worked in the automobile industry for approximately thirty years.

Lamb referred to the Bill of Sale in relation to the vehicle's sale by J.K. Motors Ltd. to the Applicant and a statement on that Bill of Sale under "Remarks" which reads that the vehicle was "sold certified". (Exhibit 3, Tab 1, page 6)

Lamb stated that these words meant that the vehicle had been inspected prior to the sale and was in compliance with the legal requirements for the issuance of a Safety Standard Certificate. A Safety Standard Certificate is not a warranty as to the vehicle's condition but that it has been inspected and found to meet the requirements of the Highway Traffic Act and Regulations.

Lamb stated that when a vehicle, such as the vehicle involved in this hearing, is written off as a wreck or salvage it means that the insurer of that vehicle had found it uneconomic to repair having regard to the vehicle's retail value. A salvage vehicle written off by the vehicle's insurer does not mean the vehicle is "no good" but merely not worth repairing having regard to its retail value.

Lamb also stated that according to enquiries made by him, the approximate retail value, as at October 1998, of a 1992 Nissan Stanza which had travelled a distance of approximately 142,000 kms, would have been about $6,000.00 if it was not written off or a salvage vehicle. If that same vehicle had been written off or was salvage, its retail value in October 1998 would have been approximately $4,000.00.

Lamb further testified that from the enquiries made by him, a 1992 Nissan Stanza with approximately 210,000 kms on its odometer would today have a retail value of $2,000.00 irrespective of whether the vehicle had been written off as a wreck or had suffered no damage at all.

Lamb testified, based upon repairs done by Tryman's as evidenced by its invoice of May 20, 1999 (Exhibit 3, Tab 1, page 14) that such repairs bear no correlation to the vehicle having been in an accident. The repairs are indicative, to a major degree, of normal maintenance expenses related to wear and tear which can reasonably be expected of a vehicle that had travelled a distance of about 142,000 kms. The payment by the Fund of this amount indicates, according to Lamb, a goodwill gesture and nothing more.

The items in the invoice of Tryman's for $184.61 dated July 1999 (Exhibit 3, Tab 1, page 16) all relate to labour and parts required as normal routine maintenance of a vehicle.

The estimate for repairs given by Tryman's in February, 2000 indicates further wear and tear to the vehicle, which had by then travelled considerably further than in May of 1999. This estimate, according to Lamb, also appears to contain items that required redoing although apparently paid for by the Applicant in the May 20, 1999 invoice. Lamb stated that nothing in Tryman's estimate of February 2000, leads him to believe that the labour or parts required are as a result of the vehicle being involved in an accident.

FACTS FOUND PROVEN:

The Tribunal finds the following facts to have been proven.

1. Applicant and J.K. Motors Ltd. entered into a Bill of Sale on October 14, 1998 in terms of which Applicant purchased from J. K. Motors Ltd. certain 1992 Nissan Stanza vehicle for the sum of $6,724.50.
2. The vehicle was sold to the Applicant with a Safety Standard Certificate.
3. The distance travelled by the vehicle, as at October 14, 1998 was 142,680 kms.
4. Shortly after Applicant took delivery of the vehicle he became aware of the vehicle vibrating, a noise emanating from its engine and difficulty, on occasions, in selecting a gear or gears.
5. J.K. Motors Ltd. did not satisfy the Applicant's above complaints.
6. The Applicant had work done on the vehicle by Tryman's and paid $1,225.44 for such work. The Fund has reimbursed the Applicant for that sum of $1,225.44.
7. Applicant obtained a default judgment in the Small Claims Court against J. K. Motors Ltd. in the sum of $5,000.00 plus costs.
8. The vehicle was written off as being a wreck or salvage by its insurers in or about 1995.
9. The retail value of the vehicle as at October 1998, was approximately $4,000.00. The retail value of the vehicle had it not been written off as a wreck in 1995, would have been approximately $6,000.00.
10. The retail value of the vehicle at present is $2,000.00 and its present retail value would be the same if it had not been the subject of a write off or if it had not been declared salvage.
11. The Applicant has used the vehicle since October 1998 to enable him to go to and from work and for recreational purposes. The vehicle has presently travelled a distance of approximately 210,000 kms.
12. The work done and materials supplied to the vehicle by Tryman's under its invoice dated May 20, 1999 for the sum of $1,225.44 related to normal wear and tear and/or maintenance and are not related to accident damage that the vehicle may have suffered.
13. The work done and materials supplied to the vehicle by Tryman's in terms of its invoice of July 1999 for the sum of $184.61 related to normal maintenance of the vehicle and is not related to accident that the vehicle may have suffered.
14. The estimate of Tryman's of February 7, 2000, for both labour and parts that are therein referred to, relates to normal wear and tear or maintenance associated with a vehicle regard being had to its age and distance travelled.

ISSUE:

The issue to be determined by the Tribunal is whether the Applicant's claim for damages amounts to a pecuniary loss arising out of the transaction involving a trade in a motor vehicle.

THE LAW:

The Applicant's claim is brought against the Fund pursuant to Regulation 801 to the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act, R.S.O. Chapter M.42.

The Schedule to Regulation 801 states:

1. In this Schedule,

.....

"claim" means a claim for pecuniary loss arising out of a transaction involving a trade in a motor vehicle;

.....

12(3) A customer may make a claim against the Fund where the customer gives written notice of the claim to the Registrar within two years of the participant's refusal or failure to pay, even if the motor vehicle dealer with respect to whom the claim is being made ceased to be a participant after the refusal or failure to pay, and where the claim meets one of the following requirements:

1. The customer has recovered in any court in Ontario a judgment in respect of the claim and the judgment has become final by reason of the expiration of the time for appeal or of having been confirmed by the highest court to which an appeal may be taken and the customer makes an application, supported by the judgment and statement of claim, for payment of the unsatisfied portion of the judgment and costs as assessed.

In the matter of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Compensation Fund v. Maria Didaskalou, (1994) 26 CRAT 1034, the Divisional Court of the Ontario Court (General Division) stated as follows:

In our view, when a claim under this provision is made, the Board of Trustees cannot look behind the judgment to decide whether the judge erred in awarding damages or fixing the amount of those damages. Instead, pursuant to the definition of "claim" in s. 1 of the Schedule, the Trustees are simply required to decide (a) whether the damages awarded amount to a claim for a pecuniary loss and, if so, (b) whether they arose out of a transaction involving trade in a motor vehicle.

In order to amount to a pecuniary loss under s. 12(3)1, the loss must simply be one which is capable of evaluation on a monetary basis. While such a loss would not, by way of example, include damages for pain and suffering, it would as the Tribunal found, include damages referable to the excessive price paid for a motor vehicle and the cost of repairs.

However, mere pecuniary loss will not of itself to a successful claim under s. 12(3)1. The loss must be shown to have arisen out of a transaction involving the trade in a motor vehicle.

In this case, we are satisfied that the amount of $3,500.00, representing the excessive price which the respondent paid for the car, clearly met the second part of the definition of "claim" (supra).

We take a different view of the repair costs. In the particular circumstances of this case, we are not persuaded that those costs were sufficiently linked to the transaction such that they could be said to have arisen from it. To that extent, we are of the view that the Tribunal erred in allowing for those costs.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

The onus of proof in this matter rests upon the Applicant who must prove that he has suffered a pecuniary loss arising out of a transaction involving a trade in a motor vehicle.

The Applicant brought no evidence to prove he had suffered a pecuniary loss and the Tribunal, after considering the evidence of Lamb, finds that the Applicant did not suffer a pecuniary loss.

The Tribunal bases its finding on the following:

1. The work done and materials supplied by Tryman's under its two invoices for $1,225.44 and $184.61 related to normal and reasonable maintenance due to wear and tear associated with a vehicle of six years which had covered a distance of some 142,000 kms when such repairs were done.
2. The estimate of Tryman's for some $2,800.40 related to further wear and tear on the vehicle that had, by the time the estimate was given, travelled in the vicinity of 200,000 kms.
3. The repairs effected by Tryman's under both its invoices were not associated with damage caused to the vehicle prior to the Applicant purchasing it.
4. The Applicant stated that during the time he owned and used the vehicle it had travelled a distance of approximately 68,000 kms and in doing so the Applicant had obtained a clear benefit from its use.
5. The present retail value of the vehicle, namely about $2,000.00, has not been diminished by the fact that the vehicle, prior to Applicant purchasing it, was damaged. Even if the vehicle had not been "written off" in 1995 it would today be worth no more than about $2,000.00 due to its present age of about eight years and the high distance it has travelled.

6. Despite the fact that the Applicant may have paid $2,000.00 in excess of the vehicle's retail value when he purchased it, the Applicant, in a period of some two years enjoyed the use and benefit of the vehicle and some 68,000 kms of travel. Additionally, the Applicant has been compensated by the Fund in the sum of $1,225.44.

DECISION:

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority vested in it by section 15(3) of the schedule to Regulation 801 of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act, the Tribunal confirms the decision of the Board dated May 30, 2000.

TO APPEAL AN ORDER TO IMPOUND A MOTOR VEHICLE ISSUED BY THE REGISTRAR OF MOTOR VEHICLES

TRIBUNAL: STUART CORK

APPEARANCES: KIM BEINTEMA
Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

JIMENA. MERLO, Representative for the Applicant

DATE OF HEARING: September 29, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: October 4, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on September 29, 2000, at Hamilton, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the “Registrar”), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner:	Rodrigo Merlo (the “Applicant”)
Motor Vehicle:	1995 Plymouth Neon, plate #Q66 176 (the “vehicle”)
Date of Appeal:	September 14, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the “Tribunal”) together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on April 26, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

The Representative for the Applicant, Jimena Merlo, presented the Tribunal with a letter from the Applicant which was entered into evidence with the consent of the Respondent as exhibit #5.

The Respondent submitted a set of original certified documents, copies of which had been previously filed with the Tribunal.

The documents tendered by the Applicant and the Respondent were entered into evidence as exhibits with the consent of both parties.

The hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant’s request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant’s appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar’s order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

I live in Rodchester Hills in Michigan. My family owns three cars my car Mitsubishi has been in a Toronto shop for 9 weeks with Mechanical Problems. The vehicle that has been impounded is registered under my name, but my sister is the primary driver of the vehicle. Rodchester Hills does not provide Public transportation. As a result it is imposible for me to get to college since my mother has to get up at 5 am with my 2 siblings to drive my father to work then drive my 2 siblings to school, go to work then pick up my 2 siblings and my father and try to take me to school, pick me up then drive me to work and back from work.

Jimena Merlo, the representative for the Applicant, stated that her brother resides in Michigan with the rest of her family. At the time of the impoundment, a vehicle owned by the Applicant's father was in for repairs in Toronto, and the Applicant was on his way to see about arranging for another garage to do the repairs on that vehicle.

Since the loss of this vehicle, the Applicant's family has had to rely upon a third vehicle that they own in Michigan. Ms. Merlo further stated the impoundment has been difficult for her family, since they have been reduced to a single vehicle for transportation for the father, mother, and other siblings to their various places of employment and schooling. There is no public transportation system in their area. Taxi's and rental vehicles are too expensive. Although the Applicant's brother and sister have missed some after school activities due to a lack of transportation, no one has missed any work as a result of the impoundment.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Rodrigo J. Merlo;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of dangerous driving under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until August 11, 2001.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

- (1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

- (3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at

- the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines “exceptional hardship” as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

- (h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22
- (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
- (a) a threat to the health or safety or any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
- (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
- (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
- (a) inconvenience to any person;
- (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
- (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
- (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.

- (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The Applicant has appealed on the grounds of exceptional hardship, in accordance with section 50.2(3)(d). Section 22 of Regulation 632/98 is very specific, in that it provides the Tribunal with the specific criteria the Applicant must meet to determine if exceptional hardship under the Act will result from the impoundment. The Tribunal is precluded from considering other factors not arising from or directly related to the impoundment itself.

The Applicant's representative has made no specific claims of exceptional hardship as described by section 22(1)(a) or (b).

In order for the Applicant's claims to be considered under section 22(2)(a), (b), and (c), he must have demonstrated that all of section 22(3) has been met. Furthermore, section 22(4) of the Regulation provides that the Applicant demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered for an alternative to the vehicle.

The Applicant has not presented the Tribunal with any evidence that would demonstrate that every reasonable alternative option has been considered and inquired into as required by section 22(4) of the Regulation. Furthermore, no attempt was made by the Applicant to demonstrate to the Tribunal that no other alternatives to the impounded vehicle existed.

In fact, the Applicant's representative's statement was that though inconvenienced, her family has made use of alternatives to the impounded vehicle, including the use of a second vehicle. In this case, the Tribunal finds that for the Applicant's family to have to endure with a single vehicle, however inconvenient, it certainly constitutes an alternative to the impounded vehicle and can not be considered an exceptional hardship. In addition, once the Applicant's father's vehicle, that is being repaired in Toronto, is back on the road, the Applicant's father will have it to drive to work and will not have to rely upon being driven to the work by the Applicant's mother.

The Tribunal finds that the Applicant has failed to meet the onus under the section 22(3) and 22(4) of the Regulation, and the Tribunal is therefore precluded from considering the Applicant's claim of exceptional hardship under section 22(2) of the Regulation.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: JASON AARON REFFLE (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle: 1990 Pontiac Sunbird, plate #AEXD 472 (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal: September 11, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on October 2, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #2) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

IN THE MATTER OF AN APPEAL OF
THE IMPOUNDMENT OF A 1990 PONTIAC SUNBIRD
VIN #1G2JB1LK5L7611484
PLATE # AEXD 472
REGISTERED IN THE NAME OF JASON AARON REFFLE
DATE OF BIRTH – JANUARY 20, 1980
OWNER'S POSITION AND APPEAL

SECTION 50.2 HIGHWAY TRAFFIC ACT, R.S.O. 1990
CHAPTER H.8 AS AMENDED BY O.REG. 632/98 (IMPOUNDMENT ORDER – DRIVER DRIVING WHEN LICENCE UNDER SUSPENSION)

The Owner's position on Appeal is that the Registrar's Order will result in exceptional hardship in that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and the loss to the Owner and his family will be immediate, significant and lasting. This impact will be upon the Owner and other members of his family ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle impounded and the impact of the loss will be upon a person other than the person who was driving while his license was under suspension resulted in the Order to impound the motor vehicle.

The Owner has considered every reasonable option that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to him and other members of his family. It is not possible for him and members of his family to do without the impounded vehicle or to obtain a replacement during the impound period. There is no other vehicle available to him and other members of his family who ordinarily have use of the impounded vehicle.

The Owner requests a written Hearing and further requests the Consent of the Board to a Hearing in writing.

The evidence in support of the Owner's Appeal will be the Affidavit of Marian Reffle sworn the 7th day of September, 2000.

All of which is respectively submitted.

The Applicant testified that he is employed full time at the Jose's Noodle Factory restaurant in Leamington, Ontario. The restaurant is situated approximately 20 minutes away from his residence outside of Kingsville, Ontario. During the impoundment period, he has been using his bicycle to travel to work for a 4:30 p.m. start and gets picked up by his mother around 3 a.m. at the end of his shift. The Applicant stated that the impounded vehicle was periodically used to transport his two sisters to and from their part time jobs at Tim Horton's in Kingsville. The loss of his automobile has placed a lot of pressure and stress on his mother as she must now get to and from her own receptionist position five days per week, transport his two sisters home from their part time jobs at Tim Horton's, as well as provide transportation for him and his bicycle from his job to his residence.

In his testimony, the Applicant stated that he did not ask his co-worker, Mr. Christopher Anson, the driver of the impounded vehicle, if he had a valid driver's licence as it was well known that Mr. Anson's licence was currently suspended under the Criminal Code of Canada for the offence of driving with more than 80 mg of alcohol in blood.

The Applicant admitted that he had not investigated the possibility of renting a vehicle during the impoundment period or using a taxi cab to travel from his work to his residence during hours of darkness. He stated that he never solicited a ride from any of his co-workers since it would be out of their way to provide transportation to his home near Kingsville.

The Applicant's mother testified that she is completely exhausted supplying rides for Jason and her two daughters as well as attending her full time receptionist job. Her husband, a Windsor Chrysler worker, has not assisted with the family transportation problems to date.

Mrs. Reffle stated that Jason earns about $600.00 every two weeks, daughter #1 earns around $220.00 weekly, daughter #2 earns approximately $150.00 weekly, and she earns around $450.00 per week. Her husband earns in the neighbourhood of $600.00 weekly. While none of her family members have lost any workdays or missed school during the impoundment period, daughter #1 has had to delay her involvement in coaching the Ruthven Public School volleyball team. This delay will not impact her OAC program.

In her testimony, Mrs. Reffle stated that she investigated the possibility of renting a car for Jason and utilizing a taxi during the impoundment period, but both options were discarded due to the rental cost of $25.00 per day and the $9.00 one way taxi cab cost. None of the family members are willing to provide any financial assistance to Jason to help with any additional costs while his car is impounded. With the additional driving responsibilities, Mrs. Reffle has had to discontinue teaching power squadron (rules for boating) one night per week. She stated that Jason receives free room and board at home and is only required to purchase his own clothes and maintain his vehicle out of his salary.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Christopher D. Anson;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence driving while disqualified under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until December 22, 2002.

The Respondent submits that the Applicant has not lost any work during the impoundment period or made any effort whatsoever to investigate any alternatives to the impounded motor vehicle.

In respect to the testimony provided by the Applicant's mother, it is clear that the impoundment is causing severe stress and inconvenience, but none of the family has lost any work or school days. Since no workdays have been lost, it is quite unlikely that anyone will be faced with loss of employment or an employment opportunity during the impoundment period.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

(1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines “exceptional hardship” as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

(h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22
- (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety or any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
 - (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
 - (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,

- (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship?

The onus of proof, based on the balance of probabilities, rests upon the Applicant.

The Applicant continues to attend work despite his motor vehicle having been impounded. This is due to the assistance provided by his mother.

The Applicant's mother admits that she is coping with the loss of her son's vehicle, providing rides for him and other family members in order that all work and school commitments can be met. Nevertheless, she testified that she is greatly inconvenienced and near the point of exhaustion with her current responsibilities.

The Applicant testified that he made no attempt whatsoever to investigate any alternative transportation arrangements other than using his bicycle and the rides provided by his mother during hours of darkness.

Therefore, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant has insufficient grounds for appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

DATE OF HEARING: October 3, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: October 4, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION

A teleconference hearing was held on October 3, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: Alexandra Corinne Thorkelson (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle: 1987 Dodge Dakota, plate #812 8CV (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal: September 12, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on October 3, 2000 and proceeded as an electronic hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit # 2) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

OWNERS POSITION

Being the owner of the impounded vehicle, I wish to argue that the impoundment of my vehicle will result in exceptional hardship.

When my vehicle was impounded Andrew Scott Hummel was driving my vehicle. He and I have been together for some time and I have never allowed him to operate my vehicle before. He drove the vehicle in order to make some extra money drywalling a house.

His son Sebastien Darlison is an extreme special needs child and this incurs extra costs which is at times very difficult for us to cover, as it has been recently since recent cutbacks at my workplace. I was not able to drive him there myself, and the job was a very short notice thing. We're both very sorry that an attempt to maintain our quality life and that of Sebastien has resulted in consequences such as this.

I work at Fabrene Inc. which is in North Bay, approximately half an hour drive from my home. There is no public transit system between Powassan and North Bay, since Powassan is a rural community. A recent change in my work schedule from 12 hour shifts to 8 hour shifts makes it impossible for me to car pool, since my shifts rotate from days to evenings, to midnights. There is no one in my area with whom I can ride. Loss of my vehicle could result in the loss of my income which would be devastating to my family, needless to say.

As I am the only driver in the family, being without a vehicle makes everything from grocery shopping to doctors' appointments a near impossibility, since doing any of this requires a vehicle. Scott and I are getting Sebastien into a Daycare program in order to provide the structured care that he needs for improving his development. In doing so, over the next few months I will have to attend meetings with Infant Care Development workers, Speech therapists, Physiotherapists and Occupational Therapists, and resource teachers. Once this system is in place it is imperative that he is attended to by all these people to provide the optimum opportunities for his development. This means he must be driven daily to and from his day care providers.

REQUEST FOR A WRITTEN HEARING

I am also requesting a written hearing since doing so in person is severely cost prohibitive, since I am 4 hours away from Toronto and without a vehicle. I am requesting a written or telephone hearing for this reason. If you do wish to contact me please call (705) 752-5822 and leave a message.

Thank you for your consideration,
Yours truly,
Alexandra Thorkelson

The Applicant testified at the hearing of this matter and stated as follows:

She manages to get to and from work and states she spends $250.00 per week on travelling expenses. Since the impound of the vehicle, she has not missed work but has been late for work on six to eight occasions. She takes home about $400.00 per week from her employment. Her monthly expenses are approximately as follows:

Mortgage	$550.00
Heating oil and furnace rental	268.00
Hydro	150.00
Groceries and food	300.00
	$1268.00

She lives alone in her house. She intends to share accommodation in the future with Andrew Scott Hummel, whose four-year-old son lives with him. At present, she does not live with Hummel or his son. Hummel's son is a special needs child who needs to be in a special needs program. At present, he is not yet in this program. However, although not the child's primary care giver, she gives care and attention to him and he used to be transported in her car which is now impounded. She does not help support the child financially. Mr. Hummel "does the lions share of taking care of his son." Hummel's son will start in the special needs program in the next 14 days and has lost no education due to the vehicle's impoundment. Further, there is no threat to Hummel's son's health or safety due to the vehicle's impoundment. She also stated that she looked into renting a vehicle while her vehicle is in impoundment but is not able to afford the cost of renting a vehicle.

The Applicant finally stated, referring to the vehicle's impoundment, that she "has managed but it will hurt for a while."

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar's evidence follows.

The documents tendered and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation's records indicating that, the driver of the vehicle at the time of its impoundment was Andrew Scott Hummel who has been convicted of the of impaired driving under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which his licence was suspended until March 24, 2001;
2. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation's records indicating that the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as the owner;
3. Copy of the Notice to Registrar indicating, among other things, that the motor vehicle at the time of its being detained was being driven by Andrew Scott Hummel;
4. Copy of the Order of Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle for 45 days, dated August 30, 2000;
5. Copy of the Applicant's Notice of Appeal together with her position in appeal.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

- (1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

- (3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,
- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
 - (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
 - (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
 - (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines "exceptional hardship" as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

- (4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

- (h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22 (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety or any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
- (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
- (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

Facts Found Proven:

The following are the facts found by the Tribunal to have been proven:

1. The Applicant is the owner of the motor vehicle that is the subject of the impoundment order.
2. At the time of the impoundment order, the Applicant's motor vehicle was being driven by Andrew Scott Hummel.
3. At the time of impoundment of Applicant's motor vehicle, Andrew Scott Hummel's driver's licence was under suspension due to a conviction under the Criminal Code of Canada for impaired driving.

To succeed in this appeal, the Applicant must establish that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship.

In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from the order to impound, consideration must be given to section 22 of Regulation 574, R.R.O. 1990, as amended. In considering this section, the Tribunal is of the opinion that alternatives are available to the impounded vehicle as the Applicant, based on her own testimony, is able to get to and from her employment. There has been no loss of employment and the Applicant continues to earn. There has been inconvenience to the Applicant, but no exceptional hardship. Inconvenience may not, however, be considered by the Tribunal in its determination.

Mr. Hummel's child is the primary responsibility of Mr. Hummel himself and is not the responsibility of the Applicant. On the Applicant's testimony, the child's educational needs are not being interfered with as a result of the impoundment and his health and safety is not in jeopardy.

The Tribunal, accordingly, finds the Applicant has not established that she has or will suffer exceptional hardship.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

PRELIMINARY MATTERS:

The Representative of the Ministry provided the Tribunal with a certified copy of the Applicant's driver's record, not available at the time of disclosure. Said record was entered in evidence, as there was no objection from the Applicant.

Also submitted by the Representative of the Ministry, to both the Tribunal and the Applicant, was an itemized list summarizing the documents on file.

FACTS:

The Applicant is appealing the suspension of driving privileges effective '00/02/09" as per Exhibit # 1.

An unsolicited letter written August 31 1999, Physician #1, states "...had single event of unconsciousness etiology uncertain...". (Exhibit # 3 Item 1)

A full report from Physician #1, to Physician #2, dated August 31 1999, relates the blackout episode suffered by the Applicant, results of medical examinations and tests. Physician #1, concludes that the Applicant had: "...no abnormal neurological findings...". (Exhibit # 3 Item 1 A)

Physician #1, attached to his letters, a further report dated '08/16/99" pertaining to the Applicant's check in on "08/12/99" to the York Country Hospital. In summary, Physician #1, reiterates "...normal record... no evidence of a focal or lateralizing process. No epileptiform activity... recorded." (Exhibit # 3 Item 1 B)

A MEDICAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE CASE STUDY, dated October 12, 1999, reinstated the Applicant's driving privileges 'With a follow-up neurologist's report in 6 months.' (Exhibit # 3 Item 2)

An unsolicited letter, dated December 7, 1999, from Physician #1, confirms that the Applicant "...had an event which is not clear cut but might have been a seizure...". (Exhibit # 3 Item 4)

An unsolicited Medical Condition Report, dated "Feb 9/00", from Physician #3, advises that the Applicant had a "...Collapse - LOC -? seizure...". (Exhibit # 3 Item 5)

In a letter addressed to the Ministry, dated April 20, 2000, the Applicant offers a history of both incidents as well as a possible explanation "...due to lack of food, water and or salt...". The Applicant suggests that she is "...now eating a better breakfast and having a mid morning snack..." and requests to have her "...driver's license re-instated...". (Exhibit # 3 Item 7)

The Applicant attaches several medical reports to her letter referring to neurological and cardiac examinations she underwent in 1999.

A MEDICAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE CASE STUDY, dated June 19, 1999, upheld the suspension requesting "AN UP TO DATE NEUROLOGIST'S ASSESSMENT INDICATING ONE YEAR FREE FROM EPISODES OF LOSS OF CONSCIOUSNESS..." (Exhibit # 3 Item 9)

Physician #4, a neurologist, prepared a report for Physician # 2 on March 17, 2000. Physician #4 confirms all neurological tests are normal and that the Applicant "...probably does have an underlying seizure disorder... in view of age of onset... suspect that these are secondary generalized seizures cryptogenic... she should not be driving a motor vehicle at this time..." (Exhibit # 2 & 5 Item 11 C)

A letter executed by L. T., Comptroller of (place of employment), states that the Applicant "...has not missed any time from work due to illness in the past eight months ... work has not suffered in any way..." (Exhibits #2 & 3 Item 11 F)

Under the letterhead of (place of employment), J. M., Human Resources Managers explains the loss of consciousness episodes suffered by the Applicant. (Exhibits #2 & 5 Item 11 G)

A letter, dated September 11, 2000, signed by Physician # 2, under the letterhead of Dixon Medical Centre, informs that the Applicant "...started on Tegretol... complete physical examination... on March 7, 2000... found to be in excellent physical health...exercises and has improved her diet... followed all medical advice and has not had an episode of loss of consciousness since February 9th, 2000" (Exhibit # 2 & 5 Item 11 H)

A MEDICAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE CASE STUDY, dated September 18, 2000, upheld the suspension. (Exhibit # 5 Item 12)

The Applicant's Driver's Record with the Ministry of Transportation shows no infractions. (Exhibit # 4)

Applicant submitted Internet information regarding seizures. (Exhibits # 2)

The Carswell, 1999 Annotated Ontario Highway Traffic Act by Murray D. Segal were presented by the Respondent as precedents.

At the hearing, the Respondent offered a re-iteration of the written material contained in exhibits # 2, tabs 1 through 10, and exhibit #5 tabs 11 through 12.

At this time, the Representative of the Ministry furnished the Tribunal with copies of Exhibit # 5, tabs 11 through 12. Save and except for a decision contained therein from the Medical Advisory Committee, this information was a copy of the document provided by Applicant and filed as exhibit #2.

In closing, the Respondent, asked the Tribunal to support the decision of the Ministry based particularly on section 8.1 of the Physicians' Guide to Driver Examination.

The Applicant read from a prepared statement and made spontaneous comments during her evidence. In summary, the Applicant feels that the loss of consciousness episodes occurred due to poor nutrition and excessive physical demands on her body. The Applicant runs an average of five miles per day, has a career as an accountant as is the mother of four children.

The Applicant has been told by her physician that all tests have proven negative and that “...these things happen...”.

The Applicant does not feel that her driving was affected or will be affected. Both episodes happened prior to noon hour in her office.

ISSUES:

Should the decision of the Registrar to suspend the Applicant's licence be confirmed, modified or set aside?

LAW:

Regulation 340/94, Section 14 states:

An applicant for or a holder of a driver's licence must not,

- (a) suffers from an mental, emotional, nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely; and
- (b) be addicted to the use of alcohol or a drug to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle safely.

Section 47(1) states:

Subject to section 47.1, the Registrar may suspend or cancel,

- (a) the plate portion of a permit as defined in Part II;
 - (b) a driver's licence; or
 - (c) a CVOR certificate,
- on the grounds of,
- (d) misconduct for which the holder is responsible, directly or indirectly, related to the operation or driving of a motor vehicle;
 - (e) conviction of the holder for an offence referred to in subsection 210(1) or (2);
 - (f) the Registrar having reason to believe, having regard to the safety record of the holder or of a person related to the holder, and any other information that the Registrar considers relevant, that the holder will not operate a commercial motor vehicle safely or in accordance with this Act, the regulations and other laws relating to highway safety; or
 - (g) any other sufficient reason not referred to in clause (d), (e) or (f).

Section 50 of the Act states:

50.(1) Every person aggrieved by a decision of the Minister under subsection 17(2) or (3) or subclause 32(12)(b)(i) or a decision of the Registrar under section 47 may appeal the decision to the Licence Appeal Tribunal.

(2) The Tribunal may confirm, modify or set aside the decision of the Minister or the Registrar.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

Section 47(1) unquestionably empowers the Registrar to "...suspend or cancel" a driver's licence for "any...sufficient reason...". The Registrar originally suspended the Applicant's driver's licence after receiving an unsolicited Medical Condition Report. On "Feb 9/00", from Physician #3, advises that the Applicant had a "...Collapse - LOC - ? seizure...". (Exhibit # 3 Item 5)

The Tribunal finds that the Ministry acted properly and in accordance with the Regulation, in suspending the Applicant's driver's licence, based on the information from Physician #3.

The Applicant argues strongly that her licence should be re-instated. The Applicant appears as a credible witness and her evidence is compelling. On the surface, there does not appear to be any neurological or cardiac cause for the Applicant's loss of consciousness.

The Tribunal must consider all relevant guidelines available. The Tribunal acknowledges that section 8.1 of the Physicians' Guide to Driver Examination, alluded to by the Respondent is strictly policy and not legislation. Notwithstanding, it seems pertinent in this matter as it reads: "...A single episode is of little cause for concern provided a neurological and cardiovascular assessment reveals no abnormality. However a person who has had several fainting spells should not be allowed to drive... until the cause has been determined...". The Applicant has suffered two episodes of loss of consciousness, approximately nine months apart. As no diagnosis has been determined, there is the risk of a possible re-occurrence. The prescription drug Tegretol, being taken by the Applicant may prevent further episodes, but it is premature, at this time, to assume that the condition has been halted.

The Tribunal recognizes that all tests are negative, nonetheless, the evidence of two physicians cannot be ignored. In February 2000, Physician #3, reported the Applicant to the Ministry. In March, Physician #4, a neurologist, emphasizes that the Applicant "...probably does have an underlying seizure disorder... in view of age of onset... suspect that these are secondary generalized seizures cryptogenic... she should not be driving a motor vehicle at this time..." (Exhibit # 2 & 3 Item 11 C)

Based on the evidence before the Tribunal, it appears hasty to overrule the Ministry's decision, at this time. The Tribunal notes that the Applicant may seek and provide new neurological evidence to the Ministry, any time at her convenience.

The Tribunal is satisfied that the criteria described in the Regulation 340/94 section 14 (a) of the Highway Traffic Act apply to the Applicant. Thus the Tribunal concurs that the Applicant's driver's licence remain under suspension.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the decision dated February 9, 2000 of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles ("Registrar") to suspend her driver's licence pursuant to Section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA"), and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

IT IS THE DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50(2) of the Act that the decision of the Registrar be confirmed.

DATE OF HEARING: October 5, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: October 6, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on October 5, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the “Registrar”), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: Douglas Paquette (the “Applicant”)
Motor Vehicle: 1986 Ford, plate #AHBY 403 (the “vehicle”)
Date of Appeal: September 18, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the “Tribunal”) together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on October 5, 2000 and proceeded as an electronic hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

The Respondent submitted a set of original certified documents, copies of which had been previously filed with the Tribunal.

The documents tendered by the Applicant and the Respondent were entered into evidence as exhibits with the consent of both parties.

The hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant’s request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant’s appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar’s order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant’s evidence follows.

Applicant’s written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

To Whom It May Concern

I Douglas Paquette throw myself on the mercy of the tribunal. I plead guilty for not asking my new acquaintance, Jennifer Hamilton, when she asked to drive that evening, if she had a licence. I desperately need my vehicle due to my job delivering pizza at Shillelagh's which is causing me to miss shifts and income. I am forced to stay in Sarnia away from my residence in London, at a friend's on a couch. (I need my truck to move my belongings and get a new place in Sarnia.)

Now just starting a new job with LamSar requires me to be in court right daily.

The Applicant testified that on the night of the impoundment of his vehicle, he had given the keys to Jennifer Hamilton, an acquaintance that he had met that evening, so that she could drive himself and another friend home. At some time during the evening, the vehicle was stopped, and it was found that Ms. Hamilton's driver's licence was under suspension, and the vehicle was subsequently impounded. The Applicant currently resides at a temporary residence in Sarnia, where he also has a full time and part time job.

The Applicant stated that he requires his vehicle for transportation of his belongings from his permanent residence in London, for commuting to his full time job, and for use as a delivery vehicle for his part time pizza delivery job. Since the impoundment, the Applicant testified that he has been unable to perform his part time job delivering pizza, though he has managed to find rides to his full time work with other employees. He further testified that he expects to resume his job delivering pizza once his vehicle is released from impoundment.

The Applicant has also had to rely upon an alternate older vehicle that he owns, however he stated that it is unreliable and in need of repairs. He also owns a second older vehicle that was purchased just after the impoundment, however he lacks the financial resources to make it road-worthy. The Applicant had made no other enquiries as the availability of other alternatives such as renting a vehicle as he believes that they would prove to be too costly for him.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Jennifer M. Hamilton;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence driving with more than 80 mgs. alcohol in blood under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until July 17, 2001.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

- (1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

- (3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at

- the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines “exceptional hardship” as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

- (4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

- (h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22
- (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
- (a) a threat to the health or safety of any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
- (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
- (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
- (a) inconvenience to any person;
- (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
- (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
- (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.

- (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The Applicant has appealed on the grounds of exceptional hardship, in accordance with section 50.2(3)(d). Section 22 of Regulation 632/98 is very specific, in that it provides the Tribunal with the specific criteria the Applicant must meet to determine if exceptional hardship under the Act will result from the impoundment. The Tribunal is precluded from considering other factors not arising from or directly related to the impoundment itself.

The Applicant's representative has made no specific claims of exceptional hardship as described by section 22(1)(a) or (b).

In order for the Applicant's claims to be considered under section 22(2)(a), (b), and (c), he must have demonstrated that all of section 22(3) has been met. Furthermore, section 22(4) of the Regulation provides that the Applicant demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered for an alternative to the vehicle.

The Applicant has not presented the Tribunal with any evidence that would demonstrate that every reasonable alternative option has been considered and inquired into as required by section 22(4) of the Regulation. Furthermore, no attempt was made by the Applicant to demonstrate to the Tribunal that no other alternatives to the impounded vehicle existed.

In fact, the Applicant's testimony was that though inconvenienced, he has managed to maintain his attendance at his full time job through the assistance of his co-workers, and he does have a second vehicle available to him.

Though the Applicant has been unable to maintain his part time delivery job as a result of the impoundment, there was no evidence before the Tribunal to indicate that this situation was permanent. The Tribunal does consider this loss to be immediate, however there is no evidence before the Tribunal that can allow it to find this loss to be significant and lasting as prescribed by the Regulation.

The Tribunal finds that the Applicant has failed to meet the onus under the section 22(3) and 22(4) of the Regulation, and the Tribunal is therefore precluded from considering the Applicant's claim of exceptional hardship under section 22(2) of the Regulation.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

APPEARANCES:

WAYNE STRACHAN AND ELIZABETH STRACHAN, appearing on their own behalf, Applicants
KAREN JONES and NETANUS RUTHERFORD, Counsel, on behalf of the Ontario New Home Warranty Program, Respondent
No One appearing for Tri-Brook Homes Ltd., Added Party

DATES OF HEARING: June 26, 27, 28, 29, 2000 and at Toronto
July 10, 11, 12, and 13, 2000

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal by Wayne Strachan and Elizabeth Strachan (the "Applicants") pursuant to their Request for a Hearing dated December 21, 1999, to the Commercial Registration Appeal Tribunal which, as of April 1, 2000, is known as the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal"), from a decision of the Respondent, Ontario New Home Warranty Program (the "Program").

The Applicants in this appeal base their claim on the provisions of section 13 and section 14(1)(b) of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act (the "Act"), R.S.O. 1990. Chapter 0.31.

The Applicants' claim was denied by the Program in its Decision Letter dated December 10, 1999, (the "Program's Decision") and the Applicants are appealing pursuant to section 16 of the Act.

Upon the application made by the Program to the Registrar of the Tribunal dated February 24, 2000, Tri-Brook Homes Ltd. (the "Builder") was joined in this Appeal as the Added Party by the Order of the Chairman of the Tribunal dated February 29, 2000, and the appropriate notice of application and notice of the Order were served upon the Added Party.

In order to expedite a trial of the many issues contained within the Applicants' claim as denied by the Program as aforesaid, a prehearing with notice to all Parties was held by the Tribunal on March 21st and 22nd, 2000, and the Order of the Tribunal was issued dated March 30, 2000, (the "Prehearing" and the "Prehearing Order", respectively). The Prehearing and the Prehearing Order dealt with the settlement of some of the many issues so contained in the Applicants' claim and restricted this hearing of the Tribunal to those issues of the said claim which remained unsettled.

With respect to the Prehearing Order, a clerical error was made relating to the date of the work schedule as being "dated March 3, 1999" both in the first paragraph of the second page of the Prehearing Order and in Schedule "A" attached to the Prehearing Order. Notwithstanding that the individual pages of the said work schedule, from page 2 of 15 to 15 of 15 inclusive, note the date "March 03, 1999", both references to the date of the work schedule in the Prehearing Order and Schedule "A" thereto should have read "dated May 27, 1999" and such clerical error is formally corrected by this Order. The Program's Decision likewise contains the equivalent clerical error.

ISSUES:

The Applicants claim that the Builder is in breach of its several warranties to construct the new home which it contracted to build for the Applicants in a workmanlike manner and free from defects in material, as part of the Agreement of Purchase and Sale entered into between the Applicants and the Builder (the "Agreement").

The Applicants, accordingly, requested conciliation services from the Program and compensation for the defective work and materials. In response to the Applicants' request therefor, the Program provided conciliation services between the Applicants and the Builder on two occasions and issued two Conciliation Reports dated September 8, 1998, and March 31, 1999, respectively (the "First Conciliation Report" and the "Second Conciliation Report", respectively). Whilst all Parties to this Appeal were present at the first conciliation on June 18th, 1998, and thus were affected by the First Conciliation Report, the Builder chose not to respond to the notice of the second conciliation convened on March 3rd, 1999, and accordingly such was not a true 'conciliation' between all such Parties. Nevertheless, out of the Second Conciliation Report was generated the work schedule heretofore noted dated May 27, 1999, (the "Work Schedule") being a listing of all issues claimed by the Applicants which the Program ruled were either deficient or compliant with respect to the several warranties made by the Builder to the Applicants under the Act.

The Program's Decision was made with reference to the First Conciliation Report, the Second Conciliation Report and the Work Schedule as follows:

"It is the decision of the ONHWP (the Program), pursuant to Section 16 of the Act, that your claim must be denied for the reasons indicated within the following reports:

1. All items addressed on Conciliation Report dated September 08, 1998
2. All items addressed on Conciliation Report dated March 31, 1999
3. All items that appear on the Work Schedule dated March 03, 1999"

Each of the many issues claimed by the Applicants were thus referenced as items within these two Conciliation Reports and the Work Schedule, and some of such issues were dealt with therein on more than one occasion or reference on a sequential basis due to the passage of time. The last reference to each issue, therefore, must be considered as the final position taken by the Program. Accordingly, this Tribunal will deal with each issue contained within the Applicants' claim separately and refer to the item numbers as such appear in the two Conciliation Reports and the Work Schedule, and thus, in the Program's Decision.

More specifically, at this hearing the Applicants' claim consisted of some twenty-seven issues which remained unsettled subsequent to the Prehearing and not dealt with in the Prehearing Order. In addition to these twenty-seven issues, the Applicants have brought to the attention of the Tribunal for consideration at this hearing, some twelve supplemental items of deficiencies by the Builder which they claim were included in their list of claims to the Program but were thence omitted by the Program from the First Conciliation Report, the Second Conciliation Report and the Work Schedule. The Applicants, in presenting their case for consideration by this Tribunal, dealt with these unsettled issues and supplemental items in the order of financial importance to the Applicants from the greatest to the least. A listing of the said issues and items which remain unsettled and which are still in issue are summarized as follows:

1. FRONT ELEVATION of RESIDENCE
 - use of parging over concrete blocks replacing warranted brickwork
 - unwarranted substitution of brick for keystones without consent

Each of these said issues and items require to be determined separately with distinct factual treatment and little commonality exists between them. However, there are some general matters which are extant in all the circumstances of this claim which must be addressed.

In particular, the Program's Decision states that some of the issues contain warranties which are or were neither agreed to by the Builder in the Agreement nor subsequent thereto due to the absence of the signature or initials of an authorized officer or agent of the Builder on documentation submitted to the Program by the Applicants or the Builder. Also, the Program contends that a breach of warranty in this particular case is the subject of a valid claim against the Program only when measured against the standards in the industry or compliance with the Building Code, notwithstanding that the Applicants contracted for a higher standard upon accepting the invitation of the Builder in this regard, and to which higher standard the Builder would be bound. Finally, there is a generic issue between the Program and the Applicants in almost all of the said issues and items respecting the quantum of damages which will compensate the Applicants for the alleged breach of warranties of the Builder.

EVIDENCE:

Each of the Applicants, Wayne Strachan and Elizabeth Strachan, testified as to the said issues and items claimed by the Applicants as a breach of warranty with respect to their new home at 6 Golfway Court, Bolton, constructed by the Builder pursuant to the Agreement and situate on Lot 21, Plan 43M-919 in the Town of Caledon, Province of Ontario (the "residential dwelling" and the "residential premises", respectively). It is expedient in this Decision of the Tribunal to deal with the evidence given by the Applicants, and the Program, on the specifics of each of these issues and items at such time as each specific issue and item is itself referenced and decided by this Tribunal. Evidence not specific to any one such issue or item and which by its nature is generic to the events which took place and the contractual relationships between the Parties follows herewith.

The Agreement was originally an offer by one of the Applicants, Wayne Strachan, to Tri-Brook Homes (Bolton) Ltd. dated October 14, 1996, but there is no record of the date of acceptance by the Builder, and as such it is noted by the Program to be "undated". Nevertheless, there is sufficient evidence of dates subsequent to October 14, 1996 on documentation presented at this hearing indicating ongoing negotiations between the stated purchaser or the Applicants and the Builder, and which documentation suggests that a meeting of minds on the essential elements of the Agreement was reached on November 15, 1996. The said documentation also indicates that negotiations continued to take place subsequent to November 15, 1996, and further agreements were made between the Applicants and the Builder with respect to "extras and upgrades" and other modifications to the Agreement during the construction of the residential premises and almost right up to the dates of closing and/or possession. It is alleged by the Applicants that all such "extras and upgrades" and such other modifications became part of the Agreement by way of the verbal assurances of the Builder on many occasions, by subsequent agreement and/or by part performance on its part.

The evidence of the Applicants, corroborated by evidence presented by the Program, is clear that the once amicable relationship between the Builder and the Applicants deteriorated markedly during the latter stages of this period of construction and became adversarial, abusive and even threatening on the part of the Builder. Indeed, at the meeting between the Applicants and the Builder on November 24, 1997, the purpose of which was to agree upon and execute the pre-delivery inspection report, the Builder absolutely refused access to the remainder of the residential dwelling beyond the kitchen area.

Completion of the residential premises and closing of the transaction of purchase and sale was originally scheduled in the Agreement to be February 28, 1997, but this, too, appears to be inaccurate as the said documentation indicates that notice of various extensions were accepted by the Applicants, which in turn postponed the closing date to April 30, May 30, July 4, October 20, and to November 25, 1997. The pre-delivery inspection report is dated November 24, 1997, and occupancy was finally achieved by the Applicants on November 28, 1997, exactly nine months later than scheduled.

The Applicants engaged the services of Steve Balshin, a Registered Home Inspector, of Majestic Home Inspection Service to make a report respecting quality assurances, workmanship and/or the deficiencies of their residential premises and his report (the "Majestic Report") is dated April 4, 1998. The Applicants thence gave notice to the Program on April 14th, 1998, (the "April 14 Notice") of all deficiencies of workmanship and materials in the construction of the residential premises of which they were aware as of that date.

A further report was commissioned by the Builder to Zaretsky Consulting Engineers Inc., with respect to quality assurances, workmanship and/or the deficiencies of the Lower Deck erected by subcontractors of the Builder as part of the residential dwelling. This report (the "Zaretsky Report"), which included construction drawings, was dated January 12, 1999.

The evidence for the Applicants was limited to the Applicants themselves as no expert testimony was submitted on their behalf and no other witnesses were called.

The Respondent called two witnesses, Robert Rosset, a Warranty representative of the Program, and Dwight Lawrence, the Operations' Manager of the Central Unit of the Program. Both witnesses testified as to their various visits to and formal inspections of the residential premises carried out by them.

These visits and inspections lead directly to the First Conciliation Report, the Second Conciliation Report and the Work Schedule. Indeed, Mr. Rosset upon completion of each of these three documents consulted with Mr. Lawrence, as was usual in the circumstances of a difficult decision by the Program in order to obtain a second opinion prior to issuance. Thus, all of these said documents when issued were the product of a discussion and joint decision of these two witnesses due to the importance of the issues raised by the Applicants.

The Tribunal was impressed with the conscientious efforts made by the Program and the great amount of time spent respecting the Applicants' claim. The evidence was given by Messrs. Rosset and Lawrence in a straightforward manner, as indeed was the evidence of each of the Applicants. Thus, the facts in this matter as stated by all witnesses are consistent with virtually no differences and give the Tribunal very little difficulty in ruling as to the veracity of the evidence given over the course of the seven days of testimony.

The Tribunal was equally impressed with the time and efforts of the Applicants to investigate all material evidence and search for and obtain documentation in order to be of assistance to the Tribunal. Not only were the photographs taken by the applicants helpful, but the orderly presentation of their case facilitated an understanding of the issues inherent in the Applicants' claim under the Act.

However, the conclusions which are to be reached from the evidence submitted on the issues, are much more difficult. Before making any findings on the factual evidence given at this hearing, the Tribunal proposes now to turn to the legal matters which must be addressed.

ISSUES OF LAW:

The Applicants are appealing the Program's Decision to the Tribunal under Section 16(2) of the Act and this hearing and this decision of the Tribunal is issued pursuant to Section 16(3) of the Act.

"Section 16(2) A notice under subsection (1) shall state that the person or owner served is entitled to a hearing by the Tribunal if the person or owner mails or delivers, within fifteen days after service of the notice under subsection (1), notice in writing requiring a hearing to the Corporation and the Tribunal.

Section 16(3) Where a person or owner gives notice in accordance with subsection (2), the Tribunal shall appoint a time for and hold the hearing and may by order direct the Corporation to take such action as the tribunal considers the Corporation ought to take in accordance with this Act and the regulations, and for such purpose the Tribunal may substitute its opinion for that of the Corporation."

The Applicants in their submissions to the Tribunal made it clear that the aesthetics of the completed residence represented by the Builder were important to them prior to executing the Agreement and such representations by the Builder as to the quality of workmanship and materials were essential parts of the Agreement as agreed to by the Builder. The residential dwelling was an expensive house situate on one of the fairways on a golf course and would, when completed, be matched and compared with the neighbouring dwellings in the complex and situate within the real estate development, including incidentally the personal home of one of the principals of the Builder. This was the competitive environment of quality and price within which the Builder was operating and offering for sale and construction such a dwelling.

The Program, on the other hand, was consistent during and prior to the conciliations and in its submission to the Tribunal that the workmanship and materials supplied by the Builder were within the general standards of the industry and measured against the Building Code or otherwise the minimum standards of workmanship and adequacy. Indeed, one of the Applicants was heard by the Tribunal to say that she never wished to hear the word "adequate" again. What, then, is the measurement standard against which the quality of workmanship and materials should be judged in this particular case?

This question and the differing views taken by each of the Parties was the essential element why this case was not settled prior to its submission to this hearing. This decision of the Tribunal has been made after considering the many decisions cited by the Parties and other prior decisions of the Licencing Appeal Tribunal and its predecessor Tribunal.

Section 13(1) of the Act specifies certain warranties and sets out a list of circumstances in Section 13(2) in respect of which such specified warranties do not apply.

"Section 13(1) Every vendor of a home warrants to the owner,

- (a) that the home,
 - (i) is constructed in a workmanlike manner and is free from defects in material,
 - (ii) is fit for habitation, and
 - (iii) is constructed in accordance with the Ontario Building Code;

(b) that the home is free of major structural defects as defined by the regulations; and

(c) such other warranties as are prescribed by the regulations.

(2) A warranty under subsection (1) does not apply in respect of,

(a) defects in material, design and work supplied by the owner;

(b) secondary damage caused by defects, such as property damage and personal injury;

(c) normal wear and tear;

(d) normal shrinkage of materials caused by drying after construction;

(e) damage caused by dampness or condensation due to failure by the owner to maintain adequate ventilation;

(f) damage resulting from improper maintenance;

(g) alterations, deletions or additions made by the owner;

(h) subsidence of the land around the building or along utility lines, other than subsidence beneath the footings of the building;

(i) damage resulting from an act of God;

(j) damage caused by insects and rodents, except where construction is in contravention of the Ontario Building Code;

(k) damage caused by municipal services or other utilities;

(l) surface defects in work and materials specified and accepted in writing by the owner at the date of possession."

.....

It is notable that provision is made in Section 13(1)(c) of the Act for these specified statutory warranties to be expanded by regulation, and Part IV of Ontario Regulation 892 (Sections 14 to 24, inclusive) provides for such additional specific warranties by regulation together with terms, conditions, exceptions and exclusions which attach to these regulatory warranties. Such terms, conditions, exceptions and exclusions set forth in Part IV of Regulation 892 can only apply to these additional regulatory warranties and do not affect those specified statutory warranties set out in Section 13(1)(a) and (b) of the Act. As pointed out above, these statutory warranties are, and can only be, modified by the statutory provisions contained in the Act in Section 13(2) and elsewhere in the Act.

Section 13(6) of the Act not only provides that all such specified statutory warranties and specified regulatory warranties apply despite any agreement or waiver to the contrary, but also recognizes that the owner may have other rights and other agreed warranties in addition to the warranties specified in Section 13(1) of the Act and the regulatory warranties prescribed in Section 13(1)(c).

"Section 13(6) The warranties set out in subsection (1) apply despite any agreement or waiver to the contrary and are in addition to any other rights the owner may have and to any other warranty agreed upon."

This latter provision of Section 13(6) is inconsistent with the Program's submissions at this hearing, since under Section 14(1)(b) these additional rights of the owner and additional agreed warranties can also be the subject of a cause of action by an owner against a vendor for damages resulting from a breach of warranty and thence be paid out of the guarantee fund the amount of such damage. The right to make a claim is set out in Section 14(1) in the Act.

"Section 14(1) Where,

(b) an owner has a cause of action against a vendor for damages resulting from a breach of warranty; or the person or owner is entitled to be paid out of the guarantee fund the amount of such damage subject to such limits as are fixed by regulations.

(c).....,

A warranty is a defined term under the Act. Section 1 provides:

"1. In this Act,.....

"warranty" means a warranty set out in section 13."

If the case were otherwise, Section 14(1)(b) would have been specific in limiting its scope to breaches of those warranties specified in Subsection (1) of (emphasis added) Section 13 and likewise the definition of "warranty" in Section 1 of the Act would contain an equivalent limitation. But neither is the case, from Section 13(6) it is thus clear that the warranties in subsection (1) of Section 13 of the Act are not exclusionary and that the Applicants in this particular case may have in addition other rights and other agreed warranties, and specifically the right to claim damages therefor under Section 14(1)(b) of the Act.

Counsel for the Program argued that Section 13(6) provides for all the common law rights of breach of warranty claims to be in addition to the statutory warranties set out in Section 13(1) and that these latter warranties were not intended by the legislation to usurp such common law rights. Pursuant to Section 14(1)(b), all breaches of such warranties would thence afford an owner, as defined under the Act, the opportunity to resort to the guarantee fund as opposed to a fundamental breach of contract under Section 14(1)(a), which was available to a person and not to such an owner. Counsel argued that the use of the words "owner" and "person" in the Act were distinctive and one could not be an owner and a person at the same time under the scheme of the Act. Where the Act used the two words conjunctively, "person or owner", it was intended by the legislation to include both capacities. But where only one of the words was used to the exclusion of the other, such reference could only mean a single capacity to the exclusion of such other. However, the cases cited by Counsel to support this contention appear to be indecisive and in some instances in conflict. Nevertheless, the Tribunal agrees with Counsel in this case as to the distinctive use of the words "person" and "owner" and that it was the intention of the legislators of the Act to deal with two separate and distinct situations, a fundamental breach of contract for a person not yet an owner on one hand, and a breach of a warranty in the case of an owner as defined on the other.

The Applicants in the case before this Tribunal are owners as defined and as such have no claim against the guarantee fund as persons since there was no fundamental breach of contract in this instance. The residential dwelling was supplied by the Builder and accepted as such by the Applicants and they took possession of it. This is not to say, however, that in some other circumstances the cumulative effect of many breaches of essential warranties in providing a home for an owner would not be tantamount to a total failure of consideration from a builder, and as such a fundamental breach of contract for that owner as a person notwithstanding that such a person took possession of the home and thereby became an owner too, consecutively.

The Applicants, as stated above, are owners and the Tribunal finds them so to be as a fact. As such, they are entitled to compensation or remedies from the assets of the guarantee fund for any and all breaches of warranties as defined in the Act by virtue of Section 14(1)(b) thereof, subject only to the limitation of amount as set out in the regulations thereto. Warranties are defined in the Act as set out in Section 13, and Section 13(6) includes all agreed warranties between the Applicants and the Builder in addition to the warranties set out in Section 13(1). Unreasonable or exorbitant agreed warranties are curtailed and limited by the regulatory monetary limitation provided for in the Act and as such it cannot be argued that common law breaches of agreed warranties under Section 13(6) were not intended to be included in the definition of warranty under the Act with consequent access to the guarantee fund.

During the negotiations between the Applicants and the Builder that led up to the Agreement as noted previously, and thereafter in undertakings, representations and discussions between these parties, an enhanced quality of workmanship was agreed upon for many of the items and/or applications of construction of the residential dwelling. Such negotiated agreements, undertakings, representations and discussions were clear in the uncontroverted evidence of the Applicants and were well corroborated by documents or confirming correspondence. Thus it is appropriate, in many cases in the construction of this particular residential dwelling, that the enhanced quality of workmanship agreed upon and required should thence be judged against that enhanced standard of workmanship and not just measured against the basic industry standard. Such an agreement for a high or higher quality of workmanship than the industry standard is equally the subject of a breach of warranty claim and remedied by damages and equivalent to the unwarranted substitution of materials of lesser quality. "Adequate" workmanship cannot measure up against quality workmanship in cases where the latter is represented and agreed upon and thence becomes a warranty itself.

Thus, it is the decision of this Tribunal that the quality of workmanship in some of the issues in this case do not measure up to the quality of workmanship promised by the Builder. As such, it is, of itself, an agreed warranty under Section 13(6) of the Act in addition to the statutory and regulatory warranties in Section 13(1), and as such the subject of a proper claim for damages pursuant to Section 14(1)(b) of the Act. This Tribunal cannot agree with the Program in the Program's Decision that such claims are the personal preferences of the Applicants and thus neither actionable in law nor claimable under the Act.

FACTS FOUND PROVEN:

As hereinbefore stated, all witnesses testified in a consistent manner as to the issues and items claimed by the Applicants and there appears to be little dispute between the Parties appearing at this hearing as to the facts of this matter. It was unfortunate that the Tribunal did not have the benefit of any evidence from the Builder, which chose not to appear at the hearing, for many unanswered questions remain and the Tribunal was denied a full understanding of the matters before it. It is notable that both the Program and the Applicants chose not to subpoena any of the officers of the Builder whose evidence would have been helpful to the Tribunal. However, in all other respects the evidence presented was uniform.

The Tribunal finds, pursuant to the evidence given in these proceedings, the following as proven facts:

- (1) the Agreement was reached on November 15, 1996 as noted in the evidence of the Applicants;
- (2) further agreements between the Applicants and the Builder with respect to "extras and upgrades" and other modifications to the Agreement during the construction of the residential premises were reached as alleged by the Applicants prior to the date of closing, and all such "extras and upgrades" and such other modifications became part of the Agreement;
- (3) the pre-delivery inspection report dated November 24, 1997, was executed by the Applicants in circumstances of duress;
- (4) completion of the residential dwelling and occupancy thereof were achieved on November 28, 1997;
- (5) subsequent to the receipt by the Applicants of the Majestic Report, they gave the April 14 Notice to the Program on April 14, 1998, respecting of all deficiencies of workmanship and materials in the construction of the residential premises of which they were aware as of that date;
- (6) the Zaretsky Report was delivered January 12, 1999;
- (7) the Program made numerous visits and inspections of the residential premises which led to the First Conciliation Report, the Second Conciliation Report and the Work Schedule;
- (9) the Program's Decision was issued by the Program on December 10, 1999;
- (10) the request by the Applicants for a hearing before the Tribunal was made on December 21, 1999; and
- (11) the other facts as hereinafter noted relating to specific issues and items of the Applicants' claim.

DECISION:

With respect to the Prehearing Order, the clerical error made relating to the date of the work schedule as being "dated March 3, 1999" both in the first paragraph of the second page of the Prehearing Order and in Schedule "A" attached thereto is hereby corrected to read "dated May 27, 1999", notwithstanding that the individual pages of the work schedule, from page 2 of 15 to 15 of 15 inclusive, note the date "March 03, 1999".

With respect to the following issues and items and pursuant to the authority vested in it by section 16(3) of the Act, the Tribunal orders and directs the Program as follows:

1. FRONT ELEVATION of RESIDENCE

(i) The first part of this issue was the most complex and difficult of the Applicants' claim, and involved the use of a mortar parging over concrete blocks of approximately twenty-one (21") inches in height of the lower portion of the front elevation of the residential dwelling. This parging-concrete-block treatment replaced brickwork as required and shown in documents attached to the Agreement. Such a substitution by the Builder from grade level to where the brickwork actually begins is not only an improper substitution without notice or consent, but also a clear breach of the Builder's warranty of workmanship. The Tribunal cannot agree with the Program that such is a personal preference and thus beyond the scope of the Program's responsibilities under the Act.

(ii) There is no explanation why the Builder chose this application of parging on top of concrete blocks for the lower portion of this exterior face of the wall since the evidence disclosed it was a non-supporting part of the structure of the residential dwelling and took the place of the veneer brickwork. This is the most glaring deficiency of workmanship on the part of the Builder and affects the aesthetics of the appearance of the whole residential dwelling.

(iii) This part of this issue is referenced in the Program's Decision as item #35 of Schedule A(2) of the First Conciliation Report and item #33 of Schedule A(2) of the Second Conciliation Report. The Program's Decision was based upon the concrete blocks beneath the parging being part of the supporting structure as stone brick could not be utilized for a weight supporting wall. On cross-examination and after viewing the photographs submitted in evidence by the Applicants (Exhibit #15), Mr. Rosset agreed that the concrete blocks and parging were evidently put in place after the framing of the house was complete, and as such, were not part of the supporting structure but rather a concrete block veneer substitution for the warranted brickwork.

(iv) It is the decision of this Tribunal that the Program should arrange or contract for the replacement of the offending concrete blocks and parging treatment of the front elevation of the residential dwelling with matching stone brickwork or, in the alternative and at the option of the Program, pay out of the guarantee fund to the Applicants the sum of thirteen thousand, eight hundred ($13,800.00) dollars as damages for this defect in workmanship and this improper substitution.

(v) The second part of this issue is the substitution of brick for keystones over the windows of the garage as an improper substitution without notice or consent. This part of the Applicants' claim requires an understanding of the agreed alterations to the front elevation of the residential dwelling. Not only was the front elevation reversed from left to right, and visa versa, but also the garage structure was to be placed sideways as opposed to a frontal siting. There was some suggestion that out-dated plans were utilized by the Builder in adapting the original style of the house to the residential dwelling as agreed to be altered, but such was not placed in evidence at the hearing in a way that could be determined as factual. Whether or not these agreed alterations caused a difficulty to the floor height of the garage with respect to the exterior grading would be speculative, and without the evidence of the Builder unexplainable.

(vi) Nevertheless, pursuant to the evidence of all witnesses, it is and was apparent that there was insufficient height above the garage windows to the underside of the soffit of the revised front elevation of the residential dwelling as constructed to accommodate the inclusion of key stones without raising the whole roof of the garage, which the Tribunal finds as a fact. However, the Tribunal finds that any such remedial remedy is an unwarranted expense to correct this improper substitution and agrees with the Program's Decision in the peculiar circumstances of this issue that payment by the Program out of the guarantee fund to the Applicants of seventy ($70.00) dollars is appropriate as compensatory damages for the missing key stones, and the Tribunal so orders.

(vii) This second part of this issue is referenced in the Program's Decision as item #38 of Schedule A(1) of the First Conciliation Report and item #38 of the Work Schedule.

2. PONDING of BACK YARD

(i) The Applicants gave evidence of a serious water accumulation issue affecting the rear yard of the residential premises as it slopes away from the dwelling towards the low point of the conservation area to the south and south-west. This flooding issue was the second most important issue of the Applicants' claim, but on the evidence presented at the hearing must be disallowed.

(ii) This issue was included in the April 14 Notice in the following terms:-

"The house is 118 feet from the creek in the back yard. After rain fall or Spring run-off the creek swells 68 feet over the bank towards the house, creating ponding that is only 26 feet from the end of the deck. Thus, this area can not be landscaped as we had planned. If the weather is more severe in the future, the ponding could rise enough to flood the walk out basement. According to the Town of Caledon, this occurs as a result of the run-off from 92 acres north of the property. The purchasers [Applicants] were in no way advised of this important re-occurring situation."

(iii) The Program made no mention of this issue in the First Conciliation Report, the Second Conciliation Report or in the Work Schedule, and therefore it does not form part of the Program's Decision with respect to which the Applicants are appealing to this Tribunal. It is admitted by the Applicants that this issue is not referenced in the Program's Decision and the Program takes the position that not only is it beyond the scope of the Act, but also it is not the subject of any statutory or regulatory warranty, nor has there been any representation or agreed warranty by the Builder to the Applicants [purchasers] with respect thereto.

(iv) This issue must be warranted to be the subject of a breach on the part of the Builder in order for the Applicants to make a claim against it and against the Program under the Act. With respect to this issue, the Tribunal can find, on the evidence given at the hearing, no basis for an actionable damage claim against the Builder for a breach of warranty or otherwise.

(v) Recent photographs placed in evidence are quite dramatic in showing the extent of the flooding of the residential premises. As unfortunate as this flooding may be, there is no evidence that insufficient grading of the land on the part of the Builder was the proximate cause of the water accumulation, albeit that the grading of the lot and the insufficient application of topsoil were and are the subject matter of another issue claimed by the Applicants and dealt with at this hearing.

3. LOWER DECK CONSTRUCTION

(i) An important and costly issue to the Applicants is the way in which the Builder constructed a custom wooden deck connected to the residential dwelling as provided for in the Agreement. The evidence presented at the hearing establishes that a two-level, pressure-treated-wood deck of approximately 900 square feet was to be constructed by the Builder at the rear of the residential dwelling off the main floor breakfast/family room area in accordance with a permitted design thereof by the Applicants (the "Lower Deck").

(ii) There is no issue as to the completion of the Lower Deck by the Builder's two sequential subcontractors according to the design, except only as to the unsatisfactory workmanship and incomplete brickwork as specified in the Agreement. More particularly, the columns which support the main frame of the Lower Deck were completed by one of the said subcontractors in a clumsy fashion without the agreed brickwork covering and the railing was constructed in an unworkmanlike manner and a resulting unsafe condition.

(iii) The issue is referenced in the Program's Decision as item #12 of Schedule A(1) of the Second Conciliation Report, repeated as item #14 of Schedule A(2) of the said Second Conciliation Report, and as item #19 of the Work Schedule and repeated again as item # 12 on page 13 of 15 of the Work Schedule. Due to the fact that the Lower Deck was only under construction subsequent to the date of possession in the late Spring of 1998, it is just noted without complaint in the April 14 Notice and referenced as item #19 in Schedule A(1) of the First Conciliation Report.

(iv) The Zaretsky Report, complete with drawings respecting construction detail, deals with that part of this issue which concerns poor workmanship and the unsafe condition of the beams, wall-header, wood posts, railing and perimeter trimmer. It is the decision of this Tribunal that the Program should arrange or contract for the remedial work to the Lower Deck specified in the Zaretsky Report or, in the alternative and at the option of the Program, pay out of the guarantee fund to the Applicants the sum of six thousand ($6,000.00) dollars as damages for these defects in workmanship.

(v) With respect to the incomplete brickwork covering the columns as specified in the Agreement, the Tribunal does not accept the reasons in the Program's Decision that this is either an "issue of design" only, or that the Applicants contracted separately with "the deck installer for additional work", and as such, is "beyond the scope and mandate" of the Act or "can not be covered by warranty". Extra money was paid by the Applicants, as admitted by them, to one of the subcontractors of the Builder to expedite the completion of the Lower Deck as agreed with the Builder, and as an accommodation to the Builder, but such extra payment can hardly be deemed the equivalent of entering into a contract with the payee to construct the Lower Deck in any different manner than that which had already been agreed with the Builder.

(vi) It is the decision of this Tribunal that the Program should arrange or contract for the incomplete brickwork surrounding the columns of the Lower Deck as agreed between the Applicants and the Builder or, in the alternative and at the option of the Program, pay out of the guarantee fund to the Applicants the sum of fourteen thousand, five hundred ($14,500.00) dollars as damages for this breach of warranty.

4. BATH TUB in MASTER ENSUITE BATHROOM

(i) This issue involves the installation of a five (5') foot, hourglass-shaped, jetted, acrylic, corner bathtub in the master en-suite bathroom on the second floor of the residential dwelling as an improper substitution without notice or consent for a six (6') foot, oval-shaped, four-jetted porcelain whirlpool tub as specified in the Agreement. It is also claimed by the Applicants that the substituted bathtub was installed by the Builder backwards, in that one of the jets is situated below the water tap instead of at the other end of the bathtub where one would normally recline with one's back facing the jet. Finally, there is a claim by the Applicants that the substituted bathtub is incorrectly installed such that it creaks and allows water accumulation between the marble tiled ledge which surrounds the bathtub and the bathtub itself.

(ii) This issue is referenced in the Program's Decision as item #4 of Schedule A(1) and item #37 of Schedule A(2) of the First Conciliation Report, item #16 of Schedule A(1) and repeated as item #28 of Schedule A(2) of the Second Conciliation Report, and as item #4 of the Work Schedule and repeated again as item #16 on page 15 of 15 of the Work Schedule.

(iii) There is evidence to suggest that the Applicants latterly agreed to the substitution of a "Mirolin Eden IV" bathtub conditional upon receiving a credit or cheque equivalent to the difference in price between that which was specified in the Agreement and the said agreed substitution. This was an appropriate compromise to solve part of the issue since the space available in the bathroom would not, in any event, accommodate the larger six foot, oval-shaped, four-jetted porcelain whirlpool tub as specified in the Agreement without a reconfiguration of, and loss of space to, the already installed shower and adjoining vanity counter. This compromising solution was not concluded as the Builder insisted on an extra payment to cover its costs of possible remedial work to the marble tiled ledge should such be necessary.

(iv) It is the decision of this Tribunal that the Program should arrange or contract for the replacement of the existing five (5') foot, hourglass-shaped, jetted, acrylic, corner bathtub in the master en-suite bathroom on the second floor of the residential dwelling with a "Mirolin Eden IV" bathtub, including appropriate brass fixtures, and pay out of the guarantee fund to the Applicants a sum equivalent to the difference between the cost of the said "Mirolin Eden IV" bathtub and nine thousand, two hundred and seventy-three ($9,273.00) dollars. In the alternative and at the option of the Applicants, they may choose to retain the said existing bathtub and be paid by the Program out of the guarantee fund a sum equivalent to the difference between the cost of a "Mirolin Eden IV" bathtub and nine thousand, nine hundred and twenty-four ($9,924) dollars as damages for this improper substitution of inferior material by the Builder without notice or consent.

(v) In the event that the Applicants choose to retain the said existing bathtub as their option in the preceding paragraph, it is the further decision of this Tribunal that the Program should arrange or contract for the proper installation thereof, if necessary, so as to ensure that the water accumulation and claimed creaking of the existing installation is not the fault of poor workmanship or otherwise lacking proper support and/or leveling.

5. SEPTIC SYSTEM

(i) The evidence given by the Applicants respecting their claim for deficiencies or poor workmanship in the siting and/or installation of the septic system is vague at best, and seems to stem from the absence of the required municipal approval and the lack of any information from the Builder as to the exact location of the septic leaching bed. These two concerns are understandable given these failures on the part of the Builder, but such hardly give rise to a cause of action for damages for a breach of warranty. There was no expert evidence, including that given by the Program, upon which the Tribunal can make any award or find as a fact that the septic system installed at the residential premises was in any way deficient, save for the understandable anxiety of the Applicants.

(ii) This issue is referenced in the Program's Decision as item #23 of Schedule A(1) of the First Conciliation Report, items #33 and #35 of Schedule A(2) of the Second Conciliation Report, and as item #23 of the Work Schedule.

(iii) In dealing with this issue, the evidence is that there was a variety of problems with the septic system subsequent to possession of the residential premises by the Applicants, not the least of which was the deployment of the septic alarm on several occasions due to the failure of the pump and/or soil contamination. The Builder admitted that it was aware of these problems in a letter dated May 25, 1998 to Acchione Construction Co (a copy of which letter was sent by the Builder to the Applicants) and it addressed these problems during the Spring of 1998. According to the Program all such problems with the septic system seem to have been resolved except for the Applicants' anxiety and lack of information as aforesaid.

(iv) The evidence also indicates that the Applicants were not made aware of certain matters contained within a report to the Builder by Shaheen & Peaker, Geo-environmental and Construction Materials Engineers, dated March 13, 1997, (the "Shaheen & Peaker Report"), respecting the particular design and concerns of the septic system to be installed at the residential premises. This report states in part that;

"The Certificate of Approval and the New Home Warranty Program require inspections by the design engineer and certification that the system was properly installed. ...we will inspect exposed surfaces and materials, sample and analyze materials, where appropriate, and advise ... where there are deficiencies. Unless full time supervision is requested, [we] cannot ensure that the contractor will carry out work to design."

There is no evidence from the Program that any such inspection by the design engineer of the septic system was carried out nor is there any evidence that the septic system was installed as designed.

(v) On March 18, 1997, an application to the Regional Municipality of Peel, Health, for a certificate of approval for a Class 2 - 6 Sewage System pursuant to the Environmental Protection Act of Ontario, respecting these residential premises, was made by the Builder (and apparently signed by its agent, Shaheen & Peaker Ltd.) and evidently approved subject to conditions attached, as follows;

"The installation of this private sewage disposal system is proposed to be located within the maintained fairway area of the golf course. The private sewage disposal system must be protected from public golf cart use and care must be taken to prevent any damage from golf club maintenance and grass cutting equipment. The home purchaser (owner and landowner) shall be made aware of the sewage system easement prior to purchase (emphasis added) of the house. In addition the owner is to meet with the tenant (Bolton Golf and Country Club Incorporated) to ensure right of access for the purpose of constructing, maintaining, repairing, replacing, inspecting and reconstructing the private sewage system as outlined under the Subdivision Agreement and Land Lease Agreement dated March 1989 between Albion Fairways Limited (Landlord) and Bolton Golf and Country Club (tenant). The reason for this condition is to ensure that a prospective homeowner is aware of the sewage system location (emphasis added) and ..."

The Tribunal finds as a fact that the Applicants were never notified of these conditions, and in fact, in a request for access to records under the Municipal Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act of Ontario in October of 1998, they were denied "access to the cross sectional drawing of your house [due to the Builder's refusal to the Town's] request to release these drawings". There is a valid reason why Health Authorities place these words in these conditions. The Tribunal sees no basis for the Builder not only to ignore the purport thereof, but also to defeat the purpose of awareness by denying access to documents to which the Applicants have a right.

(vi) It is the decision of this Tribunal that the Program should arrange or contract for the inspection of the septic system of the residential premises as contemplated in the Sheehan & Parker Report, and for the correction of any deficiencies advised in such inspection at the cost of the guarantee fund. If such an inspection fails to locate the "sewage system location" as required by the conditions attached to the approval of the Regional Municipality of Peel, Health, it is the further decision of this Tribunal that the Program should arrange or contract for such steps as may be necessary to so locate the said system.

6. PLACEMENT of RESIDENCE on LOT

(i) This issue involves the lack of consent to the siting of the residential dwelling seven (7') feet closer to the street line than requested by the Applicants and agreed to by the Builder. It was noted by the Applicants in the April 14 Notice but does not appear to have been dealt with in the First Conciliation. It is, however, referenced as item #1 of Schedule A(2) of the Second Conciliation Report.

(ii) The evidence of the Applicants is that this variance of the agreed setback of the residential dwelling was discovered by the Applicants on or about August, 1997, subsequent to the completion of the house excavation in July, 1997, and at that time "nothing could be done so we accepted the situation".

(iii) It is the decision of this Tribunal that the Applicants acquiesced to this variance during the early stages of the amicable relationship with the Builder, noted the variance in the April 14 Notice and only made such variance an issue at the time of the Second Conciliation in the absence of the Builder. The Tribunal finds that in the overall context of the situation, the seven (7') foot variance to the agreed setback of the residential dwelling from the street line is a minor variance with no consequential claim for damages.

(iv) The Tribunal agrees with the position taken by the Program that neither the Builder nor the Program has any jurisdiction with respect to the placement of building structures within the limits of the lot but such is the sole decision of the municipality. As such, this issue is beyond the scope of the Act.

7. GRADING

(i) Of necessity, this issue is, in part, related to the previous issues already dealt with respecting the front elevation, the ponding of the back yard, the septic system and the house placement within the lot. Municipal authority and its approval to grades and levels are the paramount consideration in all these issues and cannot be separated. The Applicants claim that insufficient attention by the Builder to grading and to the application of top soil is the root cause to the unsightly appearance of the residential dwelling, the accumulation of run-off water from adjoining lands and the unsatisfactory performance of the septic system. In all of these issues, the Program takes the position that only the deficiencies of the Builder are within the scope of the Act.

(ii) This issue is referenced in the Program's Decision as item #28 of Schedule A(1) and item #28 of Schedule A(2) of the First Conciliation Report, and items #17, #32 and #33 of Schedule A(2) of the Second Conciliation Report.

(iii) As with the septic system, the evidence of the Applicants is once again sketchy and vague due principally to relying on reports from outside parties without providing direct proof of any deficiencies. This has the understandable result of dissatisfaction and complaints without any real substance to the Applicants' claim for damages under the Act. No expert witness was called to assist this Tribunal in making any findings of fact that there was a breach of warranty on the part of the Builder. It is equally clear that the Builder performed a minimum of grading and top soil application having regard to the worsening of the builder-owner relationship at this late stage of construction.

(iv) It is the decision of this Tribunal that although the Applicants have failed to satisfy the onus of proof with respect to the actual grading of the residential premises, they do have a right to have the grading of the residential premises by the Builder approved by the municipality authority, as the Builder ought to have done. It is therefore the further decision of this Tribunal that the Program should arrange or contract for obtaining the approval by the municipality of the grading of the lot, including all necessary work and materials required by the municipality before issuing such approval.

8. CARPETING

(i) The Agreement, in the extras and upgrades specification schedule, specified that "fifty (50 oz) ounce carpet and high density underlay" was to be utilized in certain areas of the residential dwelling. The colour chart, as that part of the Agreement wherein the Applicants were enabled to make certain selections, further specified "4504 Rose Taupe 50 oz - High Density Underlay" in the selection process of the carpeting and underlay from those choices or samples available to the Applicants from the Builder. The evidence suggests that "4504 Rose Taupe" carpeting was only available in the grade of thirty-two (32 oz) ounce carpeting and such was only discovered by the Applicants as the carpeting was in the course of being laid. The Applicants allege that subsequent to the carpet installation and upon extensive research done by them, they discovered further that the carpet chosen by them from the Builder's samples was not manufactured in the 50 ounce grade in spite of the representations by the Builder's agent on its behalf. Hence, the Applicants in this issue claim that the Builder made an improper substitution of the lower grade of carpet without notice to the Applicants and without their knowledge, and certainly without their consent. This issue is, however, complicated in that no direct evidence was produced either by the Applicants or by the Program to identify positively what grade of carpeting was, in fact, installed in the residential dwelling.

(ii) This issue is referenced in the Program's Decision as item #26 of Schedule A(2) of the Second Conciliation Report.

(iii) It is the decision of this Tribunal that the Applicants have failed to satisfy the onus of proof with respect to this issue of the installation of an inferior grade of carpeting, and the Tribunal confirms the Program's Decision on this issue.

(iv) This issue was not noted in the April 14 Notice but was only brought to the attention of the Program in October of 1998, and as such was not part of the First Conciliation. Hence, the Program does not have the benefit of the Builder's position on the matter, nor indeed, does this Tribunal.

(v) The Applicants allege that an equivalent carpet to "4504 Rose Taupe" in a 50 ounce grade would, at current prices, be nine ($9.00) dollars more expensive for a square yard, and for five hundred and three (503 sq. yd.) square yards the aggregate increased cost would amount to $4,527.00. Again, this Tribunal has no direct evidence of the price differential between the carpet and underlay that was installed in the residential dwelling, whatever it is or they are, and "4504 Rose Taupe 50 oz - High Density Underlay" specified in the Agreement. There is likewise no direct evidence as to the total area in the residential dwelling to be covered by the specified carpet. The Tribunal cannot therefore assess the damages suffered by the Applicants, even if their claim of an inferior material substitution was proved, and nor can the Program.

9. AGREED FLOOR PLAN of SECOND FLOOR (SCHEDULE "Z")

(i) This issue arises due to the left to right reversal or visa versa, of the configuration of the residential dwelling hereinbefore noted and the consequent adjustment to the floor plans and footprint of the actual building.

(ii) The evidence reveals that during the negotiations leading up to the Agreement, the Applicants were invited to customize the first and second floor layout within limits, and Mr. Strachan responded by the preparation of three sketches which were thence annexed to the Agreement as "Schedule Z 2" and referred to on the front page of the Agreement. In effect, these sketches modified the front elevation of the residential dwelling shown in its original configuration in "Schedule Z 1" to the Agreement, but, as pointed out by Mr. Rosset, these first and second floor sketches were hardly detailed floor plans. Such sketches were more akin to rough design layouts with but few actual measurements to guide the Builder's work force beyond approximations.

(iii) The result complained about by the Applicants was the placement of the entry doorway and doors of the master bedroom on a ninety degree plane to the upstairs hallway just outside the master bedroom, or squarely thereto, rather than on an angle as apparently depicted in Mr. Strachan's second floor sketch. Such sketch clearly borrows some space from the adjoining "BEDROOM 2" and incorporates it into an enlarged "MASTER BEDROOM" and thereby turns the former into a "WALK IN LINEN" room. Window placement is also altered in the said sketch as are other enlargements and subtractions of space allocation. The total effect of these alterations to the original reversed second floor plan affords an opportunity to angle the entry doorway to the master bedroom.

(iv) The question for this Tribunal to determine is whether or not the "Schedule Z 2" sketch prepared by Mr. Strachan is clear enough to show the Builder's work force that the second floor entry doorway to the master bedroom should be angled as apparently depicted in the said sketch, or installed squarely as shown in the reversed second floor plan of "Schedule Z 1". Conversely, was there a duty put on the Builder's work force utilizing the sketch to make an enquiry before commencing the installation of the entry doorway in a 'square' manner, or a lack of supervision by the Builder?

(v) Before determining this question, it is expedient to turn to the second complaint of the Applicants in this issue of the second floor layout depicted in "Schedule Z 2", and that is the incorrect hanging of several doors.

(vi) Both in the reversed second floor plan of "Schedule Z 1" and in the "Schedule Z 2" sketch prepared by Mr. Strachan, the doors to the "HIS" and "HERS" closets between the master bedroom and the "ENSUITE" bathroom open outwards, whereas the evidence discloses that the Builder has installed such doors opening inwards thereby robbing the use and utility of already limited space in such closets.

(vii) The hanging of the "FRENCH DOORS" to the "BALCONY" depicted in the "Schedule Z 2" sketch prepared by Mr. Strachan clearly open outward, whereas the evidence discloses that the Builder has installed such doors opening inwards thereby changing the aesthetics of outward opening doors to the "BALCONY". These "FRENCH DOORS" are in replacement to sliding doors in the reversed second floor plan of "Schedule Z 1".

(viii) This issue is referenced in the Program's Decision as item #6 of Schedule A(2) of the First Conciliation Report, item #15(c) of Schedule A(1) and repeated as items #29(c) and 33 of Schedule A(2) of the Second Conciliation Report, and as item #15(c) on page 14 of 15 of the Work Schedule.

(ix) It is the decision of this Tribunal that the Program should arrange or contract for the proper installation of the closet doors and the "FRENCH DOORS" as depicted in the "Schedule Z 2" sketch prepared by Mr. Strachan so that all such doors open outward.

(x) As to the first complaint of the Applicants' in this issue, it is the decision of this Tribunal that, at the option of the Applicants, the Program should arrange or contract for the installation of the second floor doorway to the master bedroom on an appropriate angle as apparently depicted in the "Schedule Z 2" sketch prepared by Mr. Strachan, but without any cost to the Program of any remedial work made necessary by such installation to the flooring, carpeting, painting or otherwise, the cost of such remedial work to be borne by the Applicants should they avail themselves of this option. Should the Applicants choose not to avail themselves of this option, the second floor doorway to the master bedroom shall remain as installed by the Builder at no cost to the Program.

10. EXTERIOR PAINT

(i) The Applicants complain of unworkmanlike exterior paint application and mismatched colours in this issue.

(ii) This issue is referenced in the Program's Decision as item #15 of Schedule A(1) and item #24 of Schedule A(2) of the First Conciliation Report, items #13 and 33 of Schedule A(2) of the Second Conciliation Report, and as item #15 of the Work Schedule.

(iii) The evidence discloses that the Agreement provides "All doors & Windows to try & match EAVESTROUGH" and the Applicants further allege that the Builder's agreement "to match" the eavestroughing is evidenced in the Pre-Delivery Inspection Report (the "PDI") which was never submitted in evidence at this hearing by either the Applicants or the Program. There was also a suggestion that an incorrect paint sample was suspect in that the specified "slate grey" exterior paint selected was mismatched with the exterior "purple-tinged" paint actually applied as shown in the photographic evidence produced by the Applicants.

(iv) Once again, it is clear that the Builder's performance fell far short of its promises made during the early amicable relationship and evaporated in the later adversarial circumstances. The Tribunal cannot find any agreement to support these promises on the part of the Builder and nor, evidently, could the Program in its decision.

(v) It is the decision of this Tribunal that the Applicants have failed to satisfy the onus of proof with respect to this issue of the mismatched colours of exterior paint applied by the Builder and the allegation of poor workmanship in the application of paint primer. The Tribunal therefore confirms the Program's Decision on this issue.

11. WATER LEAK in COLD ROOM

(i) This issue is referenced in the Program's Decision as item #8 of Schedule A(1) of the First Conciliation Report, item #3 of Schedule A(1) of the Second Conciliation Report, and as item #8 and item #3 on page 11 of 15 of the Work Schedule.

(ii) From the evidence of all witnesses, there is no dispute as to the facts of this issue involving the cold room in the residential dwelling. As disclosed in the Program's Decision, there are two parts to the Applicants' complaint of faulty workmanship. One part deals with the water leakage through the foundation, and the other part deals with a half inch gap between the door frame and the foundation wall. These need not be elaborated herein as both parts are described in detail in the respective items contained in the Work Schedule, together with a description of the remedial work necessary to rectify the poor workmanship.

(iii) It is the decision of this Tribunal that the Program should arrange or contract for the remedial work necessary to rectify the poor workmanship in both parts of this issue as described in the Program's Decision or, in the alternative and at the option of the Program, pay out of the guarantee fund to the Applicants the sum of three thousand, five hundred ($3,500.00) dollars as damages for these breaches of warranty.

12. DAMAGE to OIL PAINTING

(i) The evidence of the Applicants is that a work of art owned by the Applicants was damaged by one of the Builder's subtrades, notably the floor finisher, in that floor stain was dripped over the painted canvass and the work of art was thus destroyed. This issue is not referenced in the Program's Decision. The Applicants allege that the work of art was purchased by them for $1,590.00 in currency of the United States of America.

(ii) During cross-examination of Mr. Strachan, it became apparent to him that this claim was beyond the scope of the Act since there could be no breach of warranty on the part of the Builder in the circumstances but rather a claim against his or the Builder's insurance, if any. During the hearing, no further mention was made of this issue nor, indeed, was any argument addressed to me by either party on the matter. The Tribunal therefore finds that this issue was abandoned by the Applicants during the course of this hearing.

13. KITCHEN TILE

(i) This issue is referenced in the Program's Decision as item #3 of Schedule A(2) of the First Conciliation Report, item #11 of Schedule A(1) and items #5 and #33 of Schedule A(2) of the Second Conciliation Report, and as item #11 of the Work Schedule.

(ii) The Agreement required 10" x 10" ceramic tiles to be installed in the kitchen of the residential dwelling but the Builder, without notice or consent, substituted 13" x 13" tiles instead, all as noted in item #3 of Schedule A(2) of the First Conciliation Report. The issue also involves alleged deficient workmanship in the completed installation due to the appearance of the grout.

(iii) This Tribunal finds that the Builder consistently ignored the specifications of material in the Agreement, or otherwise did not pay attention to the written words therein and to which it had agreed. Without having the evidence of the Builder as to why it made the substitution, the Tribunal finds that the Builder is in default of its warranty as agreed with the Applicants in this issue. The Tribunal finds no merit in the Program's Decision that the "tile installation in the kitchen is not of a lesser quality ... [and as such] is not warranted". An elaborate selection process was initiated by the agent of the Builder at the time of negotiations for the purchase which would become a sham if the Builder could ignore the purchaser's selection and do as it pleased. Surely, such representations (or warranties) made to entice purchasers to its product must be enforceable against the Builder and against the corporation charged with administering this consumer protection legislation for the benefit of purchasers who have paid into its guarantee fund.

(iv) It is the decision of this Tribunal that the Program should arrange or contract for the replacement of the 13" x 13" ceramic tiles in the kitchen of the residential dwelling by the tiles specified in the Agreement or, in the alternative and at the option of the Program, pay out of the guarantee fund to the Applicants the sum of two thousand, one hundred ($2,100.00) dollars as damages for this breach of warranty. The subordinate part of this issue respecting the complaint concerning the grout thence becomes of no import.

14. FOYER MARBLE

(i) This issue is almost identical to the immediately preceding issue in that it likewise involves the substitution by the Builder of 12" x 12' marble tiles in the front entrance foyer of the residential dwelling instead of the marble tiles specified in the Agreement without notice to or the consent by the Applicants. The issue also involves alleged deficient workmanship due to cracks appearing in the marble tile of the completed installation.

(ii) This issue is referenced in the Program's Decision as item #29 of Schedule A(2) of the First Conciliation Report and items #33 and #34 of Schedule A(2) of the Second Conciliation Report.

(iii) Without repeating the Tribunal's remarks in the preceding issue, it is the decision of this Tribunal that the Program should arrange or contract for the replacement of the 12" x 12" marble tiles in the front entrance foyer of the residential dwelling by the tiles specified in the Agreement or, in the alternative and at the option of the Program, pay out of the guarantee fund to the Applicants the sum of two thousand, ($2,000.00) dollars as damages for this breach of warranty. Without any evidence as to the cause of the cracked marble tiles, the subordinate part of this issue thence becomes of no import.

15. UPPER DECK FLOORING and RAILING

(i) The Applicants claim that the flooring treatment of the second floor deck leading from the master bedroom (the "Upper Deck") was dissimilar in appearance to that which was agreed to and expected by them, and as such, was an inappropriate substitution of inferior flooring without the consent of or notice to them. This complaint also involves the condition of the railing of the Upper Deck due to poor workmanship in its construction.

(ii) The only references to this issue in the Program's Decision would appear to be item #19 of Schedule A(1) of the First Conciliation Report and item #19 of the Work Schedule.

(iii) The evidence discloses that a black, rubber-like membrane was utilized by the Builder as the floor of the Upper Deck which was not only dissimilar to the flooring treatment of the Lower Deck immediately beneath the Upper Deck, but also was unusable by the Applicants due to the sticky residue which attached itself to footwear or stockings of persons who walked on the floor. In spite of the Program's position that this type of membrane was commonly used in the building industry for such a floor, the Tribunal finds as a fact that this flooring treatment is unsatisfactory and unfit for the purpose of the Upper Deck of the residential dwelling.

(iv) Since the Upper Deck railing does not match the railing of the Lower Deck beneath it and such should be consistent, the Tribunal finds that the Builder has breached its warranty due to the poor workmanship or lack of supervision with respect to the construction of the railing of the Upper Deck.

(v) It is the decision of this Tribunal that the Program should compensate the Applicants in the amount of five hundred ($500.00) dollars out of the guarantee fund, being the equivalent of the amount expended by the Applicants to have a proper floor constructed as contemplated by the Agreement. The Program should also pay to the Applicants the sum of nine hundred and sixty ($960.00) dollars out of the guarantee fund in order that the Applicants might arrange or contract for the replacement of the existing Upper Deck railing of the residential dwelling with a railing which matches the Lower Deck railing as contemplated by the Agreement.

16. METAL INSULATED DOOR

(i) This issue involves the substitution by the Builder of a wood slab door in an exterior location in the place and stead of a metal insulated and weather stripped door as specified in the Agreement.

(ii) This issue is referenced in the Program's Decision as item #1 of Schedule A(2) of the First Conciliation Report and items #30 and #33 of Schedule A(2) of the Second Conciliation Report.

(iii) The Program takes the position that since this particular door provides ingress and egress for persons from or to the exterior to or from the unheated area of the garage, it does not require to be insulated for effectiveness in spite of the representations of the Builder and the clear specifications in the Agreement.

(iv) It is the decision of this Tribunal that the Program should arrange or contract for the replacement of the exterior wood slab door providing ingress and egress for persons to the garage with a metal insulated and weather stripped door as specified in the Agreement or, in the alternative and at the option of the Program, pay out of the guarantee fund to the Applicants the sum of seven hundred ($700.00) dollars as damages for this breach of warranty.

17. DECORATIVE MIRROR

(i) This issue involves the substitution by the Builder of a reflective glass mirror in the powder room on the main floor of the residential dwelling in the place and stead of a decorative mirror as specified in the Agreement.

(ii) This issue is referenced in the Program's Decision as item #2 of Schedule A(2) of the First Conciliation Report and item #33 of Schedule A(2) of the Second Conciliation Report.

(iii) It is the decision of this Tribunal that the Program should pay out of the guarantee fund to the Applicants the sum of five hundred ($500.00) dollars as damages for this improper substitution by the Builder of an inferior mirror without notice or consent.

18. GAS LEAK at BARBECUE LINE

(i) This issue involved a gas leak in the barbecue line installed by the Builder and its immediate repair by the Applicants on a Friday afternoon in the late Spring or Summer of 1998 at a cost of three hundred and sixty-three ($363.00) dollars.

(ii) This issue is referenced in the Program's Decision as item #16 of Schedule A(2) of the Second Conciliation Report.

(iii) It is alleged by the Applicants that this gas leak was caused by a loose fitting installed by the Builder which did not enable the shut-off valve to stop the flow of gas and, in turn, resulted in a dangerous condition and an emergency. Upon consulting with the Program on the telephone, the Applicants were advised to have the dangerous condition rectified immediately. The allegation of the Applicants was the only evidence before this Tribunal and the Tribunal finds it to be factual.

(iv) It is the decision of this Tribunal that the Program should pay out of the guarantee fund to the Applicants the sum of three hundred and sixty-three ($363.00) dollars as damages for this deficient workmanship.

19. SECURITY SYSTEM

(i) This issue involves the installation by the Builder of an alleged inadequate security system in the residential dwelling and not as represented and specified in the Agreement.

(ii) This issue is referenced in the Program's Decision as item #4 of Schedule A(2) of the First Conciliation Report and item #33 of Schedule A(2) of the Second Conciliation Report.

(iii) The Agreement provide for a "security alarm system for your family protection" and such is upgraded to include "smoke detectors provided with home to be hard wired" and "security system to include window contacts on lower level and adequate motion detectors".

(iv) The evidence discloses that in addition to the specified window contacts, a single motion detector was installed by the Builder on the main floor. The Applicants claim that the Agreement specified for more than one motion detector and, on the advise of the installer, paid an extra three hundred and twenty-six ($326.00) dollars to the installer/alarm company for additional motion detectors in the walk-out area of the basement and on the second floor, together with a key-pad in the master bedroom so that the system might be armed and disarmed from the said bedroom for security during night-time use whilst the residential dwelling is occupied. The Program takes the position that the Builder had fulfilled the intent of the Agreement without these additions.

(v) Domestic security systems today require a level of sophistication in order to be effective and a motion detector on each level of the home is appropriate to meet the specification of "adequate motion detectors" as agreed by the Builder in the Agreement. The Builder's interpretation of "security ... for your family's protection is too restrictive and the Program's endorsement thereof is thence inappropriate.

(vi) It is the decision of this Tribunal that the Program should pay out of the guarantee fund to the Applicants the sum of three hundred and twenty-six ($326.00) dollars as compensatory damages for this breach by the Builder of its specific warranty.

20. EXTERIOR LIGHT FIXTURES

(i) This issue involves the installation by the Builder of five exterior brass-plated carriage lights on the outside of the residential dwelling, the finish of which the Applicants claim deteriorated rapidly subsequent to the date of possession and became pitted.

(ii) This issue is referenced in the Program's Decision as item #31 of Schedule A(2) of the Second Conciliation Report.

(iii) The Agreement is silent as to the standard of exterior light fixtures to be installed at the residential dwelling and although the particular exterior light fixtures installed by the Builder seem to have tarnished somewhat within a shorter period of time than might be anticipated, the Tribunal is unable to find a breach of any warranty which the Builder has made to the Applicants in this issue.

(iv) It is speculative to suggest that a program of maintenance on the part of the Applicants might have protected the said exterior light fixtures from this more rapid deterioration, yet such can not be dismissed as a cause. The Tribunal finds that the Applicants, therefore, have not satisfied the onus of proof required in this issue, and it is not appropriate to claim a better standard or grade of light fixture with a "lifetime finish" as the only solution to this unattractive condition.

(v) The Tribunal confirms the Program's Decision on this issue.

21. CROWN MOLDING

(i) This issue is solely dependent upon the interpretation of the words "the entire span" as used in the Agreement to describe that which was intended with respect to the installation of the "deluxe crown molding [for] all 3 dining room walls". The exact phrase utilized in one of the EXTRAS & UPGRADES SPECIFICATIONS SCHEDULES of the Agreement states "Deluxe crown molding as noted in #0659-19 will be at least 6" and run the entire span of all 3 dining room walls." The Builder, or its work force, have concluded that the words "entire span" modify the words "dining room" and the latter words are dominant. The resulting installation has the completed crown molding terminate along the length of the wall which corresponds to the dining room area and thus ends abruptly before completing the entire span of that particular wall.

(ii) This issue is referenced in the Program's Decision as item #5 of Schedule A(2) of the First Conciliation Report and item #33 of Schedule A(2) of the Second Conciliation Report.

(iii) The Tribunal can not agree with the interpretation placed on these words by the Builder and endorsed by the Program. The words "dining room" are adjectival to describe only the walls requiring the installation of the crown molding. The words "entire span" must be given that meaning with reference to the walls so described otherwise they become meaningless. Certainly these words do not modify the words "dining room".

(iv) It is the decision of this Tribunal that the Program should arrange or contract for the replacement of the installed crown molding with deluxe crown molding "for the entire span of the dining room walls" as specified in the Agreement or, in the alternative and at the option of the Program, pay out of the guarantee fund to the Applicants the sum of three hundred ($300.00) dollars as damages for this breach of warranty on the part of the Builder.

22. EXTERIOR POT LIGHT FIXTURES

(i) The Applicants claim that the two exterior pot-light fixtures were installed incorrectly by the Builder. Specifically, two pot-lights in the soffit above the exterior of the front entrance were located of necessity at such a height above the surface intended to be illuminated so as to require either a remote device, such as an extension pole, in order to replace a failed light bulb, or otherwise a large step ladder or extension ladder to accomplish the purpose. The issue complained about was not the situation of the great height of the installation, but rather the more intricate fitting of the retaining collar to hold the whole fixture together as a unit and its critical spring mechanism. On the occasion of such a failed-bulb replacement, the Applicants reported to the Program on November 1, 1998, that each of the pot-light fixtures came apart and accordingly they allege that such were incorrectly installed by the Builder.

(ii) This issue is referenced in the Program's Decision as item #19 of Schedule A(2) of the Second Conciliation Report.

(iii) The evidence disclosed some damage to the springs required to hold together as a unit each of the two pot-light fixtures, and it is speculative to decide whether such damage was due to incorrect installation of the respective fixtures or was caused by excessive force applied thereto in the course of bulb replacement. The Applicants engaged an electrician in August of 1999 to repair the said fixtures but neither the electrician nor any other expert witness was called by the Applicants to give evidence to this Tribunal as to the proximate cause of the alleged failure of the said pot-light fixtures.

(iv) This Tribunal finds that the Applicants have not satisfied the onus of proof required in this issue, and agrees with the Program's Decision that "responsibility for the damage can not be determined." Accordingly, the Tribunal confirms the Program's Decision in this issue.

23. EFFLORESCENCE

(i) The Applicants produced in evidence photographs of the exterior wall of the residential dwelling which showed a noticeable condition of efflorescence on the exterior face of the brickwork proximate to the two-storey-glass-block window of the dining room area. This efflorescent condition was noted in the Majestic Report as a deficiency of workmanship and in spite of this issue not being noted in the April 14 Notice, the Applicants allege that such was brought to the attention of the Program during conversations with Mr. Rosset and Mr. Lawrence. The issue is one of relative insignificance in that it can be cured by an application of muric acid to clean the affected area of brick at an estimated cost of two hundred ($200.00) dollars.

(ii) This efflorescent condition is not referenced in either of the Conciliation Reports nor in the Work Schedule, and as such is not part of the Program's Decision.

(iii) The evidence of the Program and its position on this issue is that the efflorescent condition was never brought to the attention of the Program as an issue for which the Applicants were making a claim against the Builder or the Program. On several occasions the representatives of the Program requested that the Applicants provide a complete list of all claims and in each case this issue was not included.

(iv) Due to the insignificance of this issue and the correct position taken by the Program, it is the Decision of this Tribunal to deny the Applicants' claim for the offending efflorescent condition of the exterior wall of the residential dwelling.

24. DEDICATED ELECTRICAL OUTLET for BUILT-IN VACUUM

(i) The evidence given at this hearing discloses that the rough-in outlet for the built-in vacuum system installed by the Builder was located/installed on the left side of the door from the garage into the home but that the dedicated electrical outlet for the vacuum system was later installed on the right side of the said door. This awkward placement of these related installations would thus require either an electrical extension cord from the outlet to circumvent the door-frame in order to connect to the remote vacuum system, or that the vacuum system be placed proximate to the electrical outlet with an extended vacuum tubing (or conduit) likewise to circumvent the door-frame in order to connect to the vacuum rough-in. The latter solution would, of course, have the effect of reducing markedly the efficiency of the whole vacuum system.

(ii) The Applicants chose the former solution in order to preserve the efficiency of the whole built-in vacuum system only to have the Hydro Utility disapprove of the use of the necessary electrical extension cord and require a proper electrical conduit to an outlet proximate to the installed vacuum unit and its rough-in installation by the Builder. The Applicants thence claimed this expense as damages for the deficient workmanship of the Builder or otherwise its lack of supervision in the remote installation of the dedicated electrical outlet.

(iii) This issue is referenced in the Program's Decision as item #7 of Schedule A(2) of the Second Conciliation Report.

(iv) The Tribunal finds as fact that the Builder installed the dedicated electrical outlet for the central built-in vacuum system on the wrong side of the door from the garage into the home having regard to the positioning of the rough-in for the said system (also installed by it) on the other side of the said door. The Applicants contracted for the rectification of this error as required by the Electrical Inspection Unit of Ontario Hydro at a cost of one hundred and fifty-nine ($159.00) dollars.

(v) It is the decision of this Tribunal that the Program should pay out of the guarantee fund to the Applicants the sum of one hundred and fifty-nine ($159.00) dollars as damages for this breach of warranty on the part of the Builder.

25. REFRIGERATOR WATER LINE

(i) This issue involved the installation by the Builder of a water line for attachment to a refrigerator, which required the subsequent fitting of an adaptor for attachment to the Applicants' appliance.

(ii) This issue is referenced in the Program's Decision as item #26 of Schedule A(2) of the First Conciliation Report and item #33 of Schedule A(2) of the Second Conciliation Report.

(iii) The evidence discloses that, on the occasion of the First Conciliation, the Builder agreed to reimburse the Applicants eighty ($80.00) dollars for their cost of having the adaptor attached to the water line due to this uncompleted part of the Builder's installation of the said water line.

(iv) It is the decision of this Tribunal that the Program should pay out of the guarantee fund to the Applicants the sum of eighty ($80.00) dollars as damages for this deficient workmanship.

26. BASEMENT FLOOR

(i) This issue is referenced in the Program's Decision as item #44 of Schedule A(2) of the First Conciliation Report.

(ii) From the evidence of all witnesses, there is no dispute as to the facts of this issue involving cracks in the concrete basement floor and the description thereof in the Program's Decision.

(iii) It is the decision of this Tribunal that, in the absence of any further technical or expert evidence to support the allegation by the Applicants of deficient workmanship on the part of the Builder respecting this issue, the Applicants have failed to satisfy the onus of proof, and the Program's Decision as noted above is therefore confirmed.

27. ROOFING SHINGLES

(i) This issue is referenced in the Program's Decision as item #18 of Schedule A(2) of the Second Conciliation Report as follows:

18. Complaint: Roof shingles raised and buckling

Observation/Comment: The Homeowner claims that 12 shingles are buckling and that the corners of the tabs are curling upwards. No report of water penetration through the roof was noted by the homeowners.

Reason: Shingles will display some amount of curling which is caused by expansion and contraction due to exposure to seasonal elements. This complaint is not warranted, as there is no defect in workmanship or material. This complaint is considered normal wear.

(ii) From the evidence of all witnesses, there is no dispute as to the facts of this issue involving buckling of roof shingles and the description thereof in the Program's Decision.

(iii) From photographic evidence produced by the Applicants, it is apparent that this shingle buckling condition of the roof of the residential dwelling has been established by the Applicants. It is the decision of this Tribunal that the Program should arrange or contract for the inspection of this condition by a qualified roofing contractor and complete any remedial work necessary to remedy this condition if so advised by such contractor.

28. SUPPLEMENTAL ITEMS

(i) The Applicants submitted to the hearing before this Tribunal twelve additional items of complaint against the Builder as breaches of warranty claims and, therefore, charges against the guarantee fund administered by the Program under the Act. The Program, on the other hand, states that many of these supplementary items have been dealt with in the Programs' Decision and resists all other of such items as being claims not noted or identified in the April 14 Notice or otherwise brought to the attention of the Program by the Applicants at the time of taking possession of the residential premises. Accordingly, these latter supplementary items were neither referenced in either of the two Conciliation Reports nor in the Work Schedule and are thence omitted from the Program's Decision against which this appeal has been taken by the Applicants.

(ii) This Tribunal is of the view that those supplementary items which were part of the Program's Decision should be addressed and dealt with at this time so as to obviate the need for further discussions between the Parties or another hearing before the Tribunal, and does so pursuant to the jurisdiction given to this Tribunal in Section 16(3) of the Act to substitute its decision for that of the Program.

(iii) From the perspective of an over-view of the Act and the administration of the guarantee fund by the Program, it is the opinion of this Tribunal that warranties identified, noted alleged by the owner to be breached by a builder or vendor at the time of possession of the new home are the subject matter of a valid claim for damages under the Act subject only to the onus of proof thereof. Included with such warranties are latent deficiencies in workmanship or materials and/or remedial work as are discovered subsequent to possession and such are covered for the duration of one year from the date of possession or such longer period of time under such conditions as prescribed by the regulations. It is not the purport of the Act as consumer protection legislation to provide an ongoing maintenance service program for an owner from time to time subsequent to occupation of the premises and many of the supplementary items claimed by the Applicants fall into this latter category. The Tribunal notes the concerted efforts of the Program to achieve that elusive objective of a definitive list of issues or claims in this case.

(iv) It is the Decision of this Tribunal that the supplementary items number 6, 7 and 8 which are dealt with in the Program's Decision respecting the non-matching utilization of corner bricks, mud or bricks and uneven or messy masonry and brickwork of the residential dwelling have been proved by the Applicants as breaches as warranties for poor workmanship and materials on the part of the Builder. The Program should therefore arrange or contract for the necessary remedial work to be performed to correct these deficiencies in addition to the arrangement or contract ordered by the Tribunal under Section 1(iv) hereof. In the even that the Program takes the option of remitting monetary damages under Section 1(iv) hereof, the Program shall reimburse the Applicants out of guarantee fund for their costs of such remedial work.

(v) It is the further Decision of this Tribunal that all other supplementary items are hereinbefore described and claimed by the Applicants have either not been proved by the Applicants or have otherwise been included in the Program's Decision with which this Tribunal agrees and hereby confirms.

ORDER:

In the alternative and at the option of the Applicants, they may choose to retain the said existing bathtub and be paid by the Program out of the guarantee fund a sum equivalent to the difference between the cost of a "Mirolin Eden IV" bathtub and nine thousand, nine hundred and twenty-four ($9,924.00) dollars.

(b) In the event that the Applicants choose to retain the said existing bathtub as their option in the preceding paragraph, the Program shall arrange or contract for the proper installation thereof, if necessary, so as to ensure that the water accumulation and claimed creaking of the existing installation is not the fault of poor workmanship or otherwise lacking proper support and/or leveling.

Should the Applicants choose not to avail themselves of this option, the second floor doorway to the master bedroom shall remain as installed by the Builder at no cost to the Program.

Issue 11 - Water Leak in Cold Room

(a) Arrange or contract for the remedial work necessary to rectify the poor workmanship in both parts of this issue as described in the Program's Decision or, in the alternative and at the option of the Program, pay out of the guarantee fund to the Applicants the sum of three thousand, five hundred ($3,500.00) dollars.

Issue 13 - Kitchen Tile

(a) Arrange or contract for the replacement of the 13" x 13" ceramic tiles in the kitchen of the residential dwelling by the tiles specified in the Agreement or, in the alternative and at the option of the Program, pay out of the guarantee fund to the Applicants the sum of two thousand, one hundred ($2,100.00) dollars.

Issue 14 - Foyer Marble

(a) Arrange or contract for the replacement of the 12" x 12" marble tiles in the front entrance foyer of the residential dwelling by the tiles specified in the Agreement or, in the alternative and at the option of the Program, pay out of the guarantee fund to the Applicants the sum of two thousand, ($2,000.00) dollars.

Appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap.H.8 as amended (the "Act"), from the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the Act.

TO APPEAL AN ORDER TO IMPOUND A MOTOR VEHICLE ISSUED BY THE REGISTRAR OF MOTOR VEHICLES

TRIBUNAL: ALAN HOLBROOK
Presiding member

APPEARANCES: F. CLAIRE ROWETT
Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

BEATA VAJDA, Applicant
unrepresented

DATE OF HEARING: October 5, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: October 6, 2000 Hamilton

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on October 5, 2000, at Hamilton, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: Beata Vajda (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle: 1991 Ford TAL, plate #AJRL 309 (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal: September 18, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on October 5, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

The Applicant, Beata Vajda, testified that on the day she purchased her car (September 9, 2000) her father, Laszlo Vajda, was driving it and was stopped by the Ontario Provincial Police. His licence had been suspended for impaired driving and failing or refusing to provide a breath or blood sample. (Exhibit 4). She was unaware that his licence was under suspension. Ms. Vajda said she purchased the car so she could use it to transport her handicapped daughter to therapy at St. Joseph's Hospital. She stated prior to buying the car she relied on friends to drive them, but that she could not ask them everyday.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

When OPP took my car, it was the first day that I bought it. I did not know that my father cannot drive. I bought my car because my daughter is handicapped, and I have to bring her every day for therapy. This is why I need my car. I do not have anybody to bring me everyday.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Laszlo Vajda;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of failing or refusing to provide breath or blood sample under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until June 26, 2001.

The Respondent relied upon The Ministry of Transportation's written submissions.

In cross examination it was established that the Applicant did not have a vehicle prior to the purchase of the one impounded, that her daughter rode a school bus to school, and could ride on public transit. Ms. Vajda had not investigated special needs public transit services, and had talked to some volunteer groups two years previously regarding transportation for her daughter.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

- (1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

- (3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,
- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
 - (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
 - (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
 - (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines "exceptional hardship" as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

- (4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

- (h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22 (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety or any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
- (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
- (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

As to whether the evidence established "exceptional hardship," the Tribunal finds Ms. Vajda failed to satisfy the conditions under section 22 of the Highway Traffic Act in that:

1. Alternative means of transportation were not explored by her. ie: car rental, taxi, public transit, Darts etc.
2. There is no threat to the health or safety of anyone normally transported by the vehicle.
3. The loss will not be immediate, significant or lasting.
4. As well, the vehicle in question was never actually used to transport Ms. Vajda or her children as it was impounded the same day as it was purchased.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

DATE OF MOTION: October 5, 2000

ORDER

A motion was heard by teleconference on October 5, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's request for an extension of time to appeal the impoundment order of the Registrar affecting the Applicant's motor vehicle. The motion is brought pursuant to section 20(7) of Ontario Regulation 632/98 amending Regulation 574 of the Revised Regulations of Ontario, 1990 made under the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990. c.H.8 amended ("HTA").

Submissions of Written Material

The Applicant submitted the following documents:

1. Copy of Impound Order dated August 2, 2000 relating to the impoundment of the motor vehicle for 180 days. (Exhibit # 1)
2. Original Notice of Appeal dated September 13, 2000 received by the Tribunal on September 15, 2000. (Exhibit # 2)
3. Statement of the Applicant's position under the heading "Summarization of Owner's Position". (Exhibit # 3)

The Facts

The Applicant testified that she was unable to submit the application for her appeal of the Order to impound her vehicle in the prescribed 15 days after the impoundment due to financial reasons. The Applicant is a student who relies upon the Ontario Student Assistance Program for her income. She resides in a rural area, and relies upon her vehicle for transportation to school and work. The Applicant testified that she was to begin a new job on a trial basis just after her vehicle was impounded, yet was unable to commence work since she had no transportation to her job. As result of not being able to get to her new work, she lost her job to another Applicant.

The Tribunal heard from one witness, Johnny Blinston, who testified that he loaned the Applicant the $100 for the filing fee following the 15-day submission period. Mr. Blinston also testified that he loaned the Applicant the fee for the release of the vehicle from the impound facility.

The Law

Section 20(1) of Regulation 632/98 states:

20. (1) An appeal to the Board under section 50.2 of the Act shall be commenced by filing a notice of appeal with the Board within 15 days of the issuance of the order to impound, together with a fee of $100 payable to the Minister of Finance.

Section 20(7) of Regulation 632/98 states:

20. (7) Despite subsection (1), the Board may extend the time for commencing an appeal if the owner establishes that the owner, acting in good faith, was unable through accident, illness, or other cause beyond the owner's control to bring the appeal within the prescribed 15 days.

Section 7 of the Licence Appeal Tribunal Act, 1999 states:

7. Despite any limitation of time fixed by or under any Act for the giving of any notice requiring a hearing by the Tribunal or an appeal from a decision or order of the Tribunal under section 11 or any other Act, if the Tribunal is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for applying for the extension and for granting relief, it may,
 - (a) extend the time for giving the notice either before or after the expiration of the limitation of time so limited; and
 - (b) give the directions that it considers proper as a result of extending the time.

The Order

THE BOARD RULED TO REFUSE TO GRANT an extension of the time to commence this appeal for the reasons that follow.

REASONS FOR ORDER

Pursuant to section 20(1) of Regulation 632/98, the Applicant's Notice of Appeal should have been filed with the Tribunal within 15 days of the issuance of the order to impound the motor vehicle. The date of the issuance of the order to impound was August 2nd, 2000 and the notice of appeal to the Tribunal should accordingly have been filed by August 13th, 2000. The notice of appeal was in fact filed with the Tribunal on September 15th, 2000 a significantly longer period than permitted by the Regulations. Section 20(1) of Regulation 632/98 is clear and unambiguous. It states that the filing of notice of appeal with the Tribunal shall be within 15 days of the issuance of the impound order.

Section 20(7) of Regulation 632/98 gives the Tribunal power to extend the time for commencing an appeal provided the Applicant establishes that "the owner, acting in good faith was unable through accident, illness or other cause beyond the owner's control to bring the appeal within the 15 days". Accident and sickness have no application in this matter. "Other cause beyond the owner's control" may apply depending on the circumstances.

Apart from section 20(7) of the above quoted regulation, section 7 of the Licence Appeal Tribunal Act, 1999 gives the Tribunal the power to grant an extension if it is of the opinion there are reasonable grounds for applying for an extension and granting relief to the Applicant.

The onus of proof that there are reasonable grounds for the granting of an extension falls upon the Applicant.

The Applicant testified that she was aware of the requirements for filing her appeal within the legislated 15 day filing period, however she failed to do so as a result of lacking the necessary $100 filing fee required under Section 20(1) of Regulation 632/98. The lack of the $100 for filing her appeal is the only reason given by the Applicant for failing to file within the 15 day period. The Applicant is asking the Tribunal to consider this a cause beyond her control, and a reasonable ground, for her motion to extend the filing period under the Regulations and rules of the Tribunal.

The $100 filing fee has been established pursuant to legislation, as are the other aspects of the filing requirements, and the Tribunal must therefore consider it to be a reasonable requirement for filing an appeal. The Tribunal finds that since paying a filing fee is a reasonable requirement for filing an appeal, not paying the filing fee is not a reasonable ground for extending the time in which to file an appeal. The Tribunal cannot grant an extension to an Applicant for lacking what it finds to be a reasonable requirement for filing an appeal.

Accordingly, the Tribunal refuses the Applicant's motion for an extension of time to appeal the impoundment order of the Registrar regarding the vehicle.

DATE OF HEARING: October 3, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: October 12, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on October 3, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner:	Lawrence T. Patrick (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle:	1992 Chrysler Lebaron, plate # DOL TOC (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal:	September 13, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the vehicle owner exercised due diligence to determine that the driver's licence was not suspended as provided in section 50.2(3)(c) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on October 3, 2000 and proceeded as an electronic hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

The Tribunal made its ruling on the preliminary issue which follows.

The hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

"Son Jeremy drove my vehicle with a suspended driver's licence. Not made aware of his licence suspension until after the car was impounded. Was out of London at the time at cottage. Impounded vehicle at our home in London."

Dr. Lawrence Patrick did not have very much to add to his written submission. He advised that Jeremy had his own car and that he was very much aware that he should not, drive his father's car. Dr. Patrick advised that because of a medical condition, Jeremy sometimes makes impromptu decisions, but that this did not excuse his behaviour, and that Jeremy should take responsibility for his actions.

Dr. Patrick was at the family cottage when Jeremy took the car. Since he trusted his son, he had no reason to check the validity of his driver's licence.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Jeremy L. Patrick;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of driving with more than 80 mgs alcohol in blood under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until August 8, 2001.

The Respondent asked Dr. Patrick only one question, and that was whether he had in fact exercised due diligence in ascertaining whether Jeremy's licence was in good standing before he used the car. Dr. Patrick replied that of course he had not because he was not there when Jeremy took the car. The Respondent rested its case.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

(1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Board.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Board may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(c).

With respect to an appeal under subsection 50.2(3)(c) alleging that the owner exercised due diligence prior to releasing the vehicle to the driver, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary provides the definition of "due diligence" as follows:

Due: A. adj. 1. That is owing or payable, as a debt. 2. Belonging or falling to by right. 3. That ought to be giving or rendered; merited. 4. Such as ought to be; fitting; proper; rightful. 5. Such as is requisite or necessary; adequate. 6. To be ascribed or attributed; owing to, caused by, in consequence of. 7. Under engagement or contract to be ready or arrive (at a defined time).

Diligence: 1. The quality of being diligent; industry, assiduity. 2. Speed, dispatch. 3. Careful attention, heedfulness, caution. 4. Law. The attention and care due from a person in a given situation....

Also, "due diligence" in Black's Law Dictionary (sixth edition) at page 457 is as follows:

Due diligence: Such a measure of prudence, activity, or assiduity, as is properly to be expected from, and ordinarily exercised by, a reasonable and prudent man under the particular circumstances; not measured by any absolute standard, but depending on the relative facts of the special case.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The evidence has established that due diligence was not exercised. The son knew he should not drive the car. His father trusted him, had no reason to check the validity of Jeremy's driver's licence, and took no steps to do so.

Due diligence, the required ground of appeal, has not been established.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

Motor Vehicle Dealers Act

DATE OF
HEARING: August 3, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal by Alan Berk, Clifford Couture, 1236795 Ontario Inc. and Dealerplan Acceptance (the "Applicants") to the Commercial Registration Appeal Tribunal (which as of April 1, 2000 is known as the Licence Appeal Tribunal) from a Notice of Proposal of the Registrar, Motor Vehicle Dealers Act, dated July 14, 2000 to revoke the Applicants' registration under the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter M.42 (the "Act") and regulations as amended. In the Notice of Proposal dated March 23, 2000 the Registrar stated as grounds for the revocation that the Applicants both individually and as corporations (Berk and Couture being officers of the corporate Applicants) failed the requirements of the Act to carry on business in a financially responsible manner.

The circumstances leading up to the proposed revocation are straightforward and not in dispute. A Mr. Jarnes Gray of Toronto purchased a 1993 Honda Civic from the Applicant 1236795 Ontario Inc. on August 1, 1998. Subsequent to the purchase on November 7, 1998 the automobile was stolen. The police were successful in recovering the vehicle, only to discover that it had been stolen prior to coming into the possession of the 1236795 Ontario Inc.

The vehicle was turned over to Allstate Insurance as it had legal title having paid the original owner under the theft provisions of their policy. Mr. Gray's insurers took the position that they were under no legal obligation to pay as Mr. Gray could have no insurable interest in stolen property.

By Statement of Claim dated February 23, 1999 issued in Ontario Court (General Division) Mr. Gray claimed as against the Applicant 1236795 Ontario Inc. damages in the amount of $18,794.00. No successful defense being raised against the claim, a default judgment was entered on June 23, 1999. The judgment remained unsatisfied, and Mr. Gray sought reimbursement from the Compensation Fund established under Regulation 801 of the Act. Mr. Gray's submission, dated October 8, 1999 was reviewed and as he was a customer of a dealer registered under the Act in possession of an unsatisfied judgment against that dealer, his claim was approved. The approved amount was $15,000, the maximum payable under the Act plus $1,500.00 in costs.

As part of the settlement procedure, the rights of the claimant Mr. Gray are subrogated to the compensation fund. Accordingly, payment was sought from the Applicants Berk and Couture. None being forthcoming, the Registrar issued the Licence Revocation proposal which is the subject of this hearing.

ISSUES:

The issues before the Tribunal in this case can be stated as follows:

- 1) Having regard to the financial position of the Applicants can they reasonably be expected to carry on business in a financially responsible manner.
- 2) On the facts before the Tribunal did the Registrar act unreasonably in issuing the proposal for revocation which is the subject of this hearing.
- 3) Should there be any exercise of the Tribunal in allowing the Applicants to maintain their registration subject to terms

THE LAW:

Section 5(1)(a) of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act states:

5(1) An Applicant is entitled to registration or renewal of registration by the Registrar except where,

- (a) having regard to the financial position of the applicant, the applicant cannot reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of business.

.....

Section 5(2) of the Act states:

.....

5(2) A registration is subject to such terms and conditions to give effect to the purposes of this Act as are consented to by the applicant, imposed by the Tribunal or prescribed by the regulations.

Section 7(5) of the Act states:

.....

7(5) The Tribunal may attach such terms and conditions to its order or to the registration as it considers proper to give effect to the purposes of this Act.

The Tribunal was directed to the decision of Southy J. in the case of Brenner and the Registrar of Motor Vehicle Dealers and Salesman (orally) heard March 9, 1983. (Brenner). The case came to the Divisional court on appeal from the Commercial Registration and Appeal Tribunal. The Registrar had revoked Mr. Brenner's Licence on a review of Mr. Brenner's criminal record. The Registrar concluded that, in accordance with Section 5(1)(b) Mr. Brenner would not... "carry on business in accordance with the law and with honesty and integrity".

The Tribunal in reviewing the Registrar's decision accepted evidence to the effect that Mr. Brenner was on the road to rehabilitation and overturned the Registrar's ruling directing the Registrar to grant Mr. Brenner a conditional registration.

The Court allowed the Appeal and ordered a new hearing stating its reasons as follows:

"The Tribunal should only have refused to direct the Registrar to carry out his proposal if it thought the Registrar was in error in concluding that the past conduct of the Applicant afforded reasonable grounds for the belief that he would not carry on business in accordance with law and with honesty and integrity."

The Court went on to say that rather than reviewing the grounds upon which the Registrar had made his finding, the Tribunal had preoccupied itself with evidence evincing the desirability of giving Mr. Brenner a second chance. The matter was ordered back to the Tribunal for re-hearing. The proper question at the re-hearing was to be whether the past conduct of Mr. Brenner afforded reasonable grounds for the Registrar to conclude that Mr. Brenner would not carry on business in conformity with Section 5(1)(b) of the Act stated above.

Here the facts of the inability of the Applicants to satisfy the judgment against them or to reimburse the Fund are not in dispute. The Tribunal did hear evidence from the Applicants that they were innocent of any wrongdoing and that it is extremely difficult for dealers and salesperson to avoid getting stuck with stolen cars. It appeared to them that they were unprotected.

Keeping in mind the legislation and the reasons of Southy J., the Tribunal must decide whether the Registrar had no reasonable grounds for his proposal to revoke the Licences of the Applicants.

To that end the Tribunal was directed to the case of Josef Reznisik (1990) 20 CRAT 65 referred to in Udell (re)(l 995) CRAT No. 4, which held that judgments against an applicant which remain unpaid provide evidence that the applicant is not capable of satisfying the test of financial responsibility set forth in Section 5(1)(a).

Counsel for the Registrar submitted that the Tribunal consider terms and conditions on the Applicants' registration as a middle ground between revocation and continued registration. In essence these submissions were that while the Compensation Fund cannot be seen to be an insurer of dealers it is not the intent of the Registrar in all circumstances of the present nature to deny the Applicants the opportunity to make a living.

The middle ground suggested by Counsel for the Registrar was a continued registration of the Applicants subject to a strict regime of the repayment amount paid out to Mr. Gray

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

In the present case, the Tribunal finds that the Registrar did not act unreasonably in issuing his Notice of Proposal to Revoke the Registration of the Applicants. Their inability to satisfy the judgment for which they were responsible was in light of the case law sufficient grounds for the Registrar's decision.

In line with the discretion allowed the Tribunal under the Act and submissions on behalf of the Registrar, the Tribunal is not averse to the suggestion of counsel that the registration of the Applicants continue subject to a strict regime of repayment of the amount paid out, being $15,000.00 plus $1,500.00 costs for a total of $16,500.00. On the question of a repayment schedule the Tribunal, after hearing submissions, believes an amount of $500.00 quarterly for which Berk and Couture will be jointly and severally liable is reasonable.

DECISION:

Pursuant to the power vested in it by Section 7 of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act, the Tribunal directs that the Registrar refrain from carrying out his proposal herein provided that the Applicants collectively make quarterly payments of $500.00 to the Registrar of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act commencing on January 1, 2001, and continuing on the first day of April, July and October, such payments to take the form of certified or post dated personal cheques with a grace period of 3 days to make good any default in the amount owing, with the payments to continue until such time as the amount owing of $16,500.00 is retired.

In the event the Applicants default in making these payments to the Registrar, the Registrar may revoke the registration of Alan Berk, Clifford Couture, 1236795 Ontario Inc. and Dealerplan Acceptance Corporation under the Act.

Provided further, this decision of the Tribunal is without prejudice to the Registrar proceeding to issue a proposal respecting one or more of the Applicants on any other ground than that specifically dealt with in this decision.

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on October 13, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED SET ASIDE the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: Heather Lynne Beck (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle: 1990 Plymouth Voyager, plate #ADZT 118 (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal: September 21, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on October 13, 2000 and proceeded as an electronic hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

Sept 15/00

To Whom It May Concern

I am writing to you as the owner of the said vehicle above on the grounds of hardship. I am presently a single mom with three children age 7 yrs, 6 yrs, and 20 months old, we reside at the above mentioned address which is about an ½ hr. – 45 minute drive (one way) to the town of Bancroft. The nearest corner convenience store is about 10-15 minute drive away. We live in a pretty secluded area, I do not know any of my neighbours nearest one being about 5 minutes pass my home down in a valley. I am presently on social assistance, there is absolutely no money for another vehicle no matter how cheap the price. My vehicle is my only means to go to town for doctor app's, grocery shopping, banking and to pay bills. I have had health problems in the past (3 lung surgery, ASD repair, asthma, bad nerves and also have signs of a small leaky valve) I am presently on anti-depressant medication. I occasionally have to travel to Peterborough to see a lunge specialist due to a past health problems. My 6 yr old son is awaiting a doctor's app. to decide on surgery for a hernia. In case of an emergency the nearest hospital is Bancroft. There is no bus service at all up here. The driver of the impounded vehicle is presently incarcerated and will be for some time. I have monthly payments on the vehicle impounded till April/2001. Our family doctor's name is Dr. R. Kamerman (telephone number was inserted here) and may be contacted to verify my health past/present problems. I have enclosed a support letter as evidence to confirm my location and situation from Pastor Michael West. I wish to waive the 10-day disclosure period.

Yours truly,
Heather Beck

The Applicant, once affirmed, provided the following testimony.

She is a mother of three children, ages seven, six and 20 months old. She is unemployed and on social assistance. She and her family reside in a remote and secluded area approximately 70 km, one way, to the town of Bancroft. Her husband, the driver of the impounded vehicle, has been incarcerated and will be for the next two years.

There are no local conveniences, banks, doctors or bus routes in her area. Since the impoundment, she has only been able to get into Bancroft once and had to pay someone to take her. The impounded vehicle was used to travel to Bancroft at least twice per month, on the 1st and 20th, to pay bills and grocery shop.

On the day the vehicle was impounded, the Applicant testified that she had gone to the barn to feed the animals. On her return, she realized that vehicle was gone and her husband had taken it. She was aware that her husband was a suspended driver and did not give him permission to take the vehicle.

In the Applicant's defence, her Pastor, Michael West, provided corroboration to some of her testimony. The Pastor has known the Applicant and her family for about one year. She and her family used to attend regularly. He confirmed that she does live "in the middle of nowhere" and resides approximately three-quarters of an hour from his church. To a significant degree, the Pastor is aware of the Applicant's financial constraints. In attending the Applicant's home today, he brought her some food from a food bank. He also confirmed that the driver of the impounded vehicle has been incarcerated.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows (Exhibits 4 & 7):

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;

2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Alexander J. Beck;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of driving while disqualified or prohibited under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until July 16, 2003.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

(1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines "exceptional hardship" as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

- (h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22
- (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety or any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.

- (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
- (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The Applicant has requested an appeal on the grounds of "exceptional hardship" under section 50.2(3)(d). Section 22 of Regulation 632/98 is very specific, in that it provides the Tribunal with the criteria the Applicant must meet to determine if in fact "exceptional hardship" will result from the impoundment. The Applicant in this case has argued that the impoundment will result in hardship as described by section 22(2). In order for her claim to be considered under section 22(2), the Applicant must have demonstrated that all of section 22(3) has been met.

As previously mentioned, the Applicant is collecting social assistance. In her written submission and oral testimony, she has "absolutely no money for another vehicle no matter how cheap the price". She is still making monthly payments on the impounded vehicle until April 2001. There is very little money left after the 1st and 20th of each month and relies on a food bank for help. Prior to the impoundment and Mr. Beck being incarcerated, Mr. Beck was unable to hold a job for an extended period of time and therefore put much hardship on the family.

The Applicant does not live in a close-knit community that has neighbours close by to lend a hand. She lives on a farm far from anyone or anything. There is no means of public transit. She does have 911 access, but in the event of a life-threatening emergency, it would take 1 ½ hours to get to the hospital in Bancroft [45 minutes for the ambulance to be dispatched from Bancroft and drive to her home; and 45 minutes to transport the patient to the hospital in Bancroft].

With regard to the safety and well-being of the children, the Applicant is constantly providing a vigil over her 20 month old child since she has a recurring and unexplainable bleeding nose. The Applicant has been advised by a physician that on the next instance of her child experiencing a bleeding nose, the child should be brought to the hospital in Bancroft.

The Applicant's six year old son is scheduled to see a surgeon at the end of the month with regard to repairing a hernia. The threat of this child getting hurt and rupturing his hernia is a constant pre-occupation of the Applicant.

The Applicant's own health is a factor since she has had three lung surgeries as well as heart surgery.

Therefore, there is a threat to the health of these children who are ordinarily transported by the impounded motor vehicle.

The Applicant has presented the Tribunal with evidence that would demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered as contemplated by section 22(4) of the Regulation. The Applicant has proven that the loss of the vehicle will be immediate, significant and lasting, and in this member's opinion, the Applicant will be unable to provide the necessities of life for her three young children.

The Tribunal accordingly finds the Applicant has established that she has and will suffer exceptional hardship as defined by Ontario Regulation 632/98, subsection 22.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal sets aside the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on October 19, 2000, at Hamilton, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: Elizabeth Beres (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle: 1990 Ford EGT, plate #AJCD 779 (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal: September 29, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on October 19, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

The Respondent submitted a set of original certified documents, copies of which had been previously filed with the Tribunal

The documents tendered by the Applicant and the Respondent were entered into evidence as exhibits with the consent of both parties.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

To Whom It May Concern,

September 21, 2000

I would like to appeal my vehicle's impoundment on the grounds that it will cause personal hardship. I fear I will lose my current position with Ford if I am not able to regain use of my vehicle. Ford is located in Oakville and being that I live here in Hamilton the distance is too great to substitute a may be led too seek Government assistance.

Unfortunately my mother is severely diabetic and depends on me for transportation. She frequently visits doctors and needs transportation to and from her doctor's office. I am also her means of transportation for daily needs such as groceries. She is unable to walk or take a bus due to problems with the orthopedic make up of her feet. My mother has had surgery on more than one occasion and has been advised to stay off her feet as often as possible.

Therefore as you can see the loss of my vehicle is not only of hardship to me, but also to a dependent.

Sincerely,
Elizabeth Beres

The Applicant stated that she had asked her boyfriend, John Pimentel, to drive her vehicle home one evening. It was subsequently stopped by police, who found the driver to be then under suspension, and the vehicle was impounded.

The Applicant stated that she relies upon her vehicle for transportation from her residence in Hamilton to the Ford Motor Company plant in Oakville, where she is employed in the parts receiving yard. Since the loss of her vehicle, she has missed six days of work as a result of not being able to secure transportation to her job. The Applicant also stated that she has occasionally taken rides with friends, and her father, but these alternatives could not be relied upon. The Applicant has not made inquiries into taxis or rental vehicles, as she can not afford them.

The Applicant feels that she could be in jeopardy of losing her job if she is unable to maintain her hours at her job. The Applicant also stated that she has had to drive her mother to various medical appointments, but she does not believe that her mother has missed any appointments since the impoundment.

Jason Ramsay testified that he is employed at the Ford Oakville facility with the Applicant, and serves as her union steward. He stated that the Applicant does not have a contract at this time, and that her inability to arrive on time for her shift could jeopardize her employment situation. He testified that there is a bus service from Hamilton, however it does not stop near the Ford plant. Furthermore, taxis from the bus stop are not reliable at rush hour. He also stated that there are no other co-workers available that live near the Applicant.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by John Pimentel;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;

4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of impaired driving under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until March 7, 2001.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

(1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;

- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines "exceptional hardship" as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

(h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22
- (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety or any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
 - (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or

- (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
- (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The Applicant has appealed on the grounds of exceptional hardship, in accordance with section 50.2(3)(d). Section 22 of Regulation 632/98 is very specific, in that it provides the Tribunal with the specific criteria the Applicant must meet to determine if exceptional hardship under the Act will result from the impoundment. The Tribunal is precluded from considering other factors not arising from or directly related to the impoundment itself.

The Applicant has made no specific claims of exceptional hardship as described by section 22(1)(a) or (b).

In order for the Applicant's claims to be considered under section 22(2)(a), (b), and (c), she must have demonstrated that all of section 22(3) has been met. Furthermore, section 22(4) of the Regulation provides that the Applicant demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered for an alternative to the vehicle.

The Applicant has not presented the Tribunal with any evidence that would demonstrate that every reasonable alternative option has been considered and inquired into as required by section 22(4) of the Regulation. Evidence was heard at this hearing that the Applicant has made use of alternative means of transportation to her job. Though these alternatives may have been sporadic, inconvenient and costly, they do represent some form of an alternative to the impounded vehicle for the Applicant. There was also evidence heard that a bus and taxi service to her job exists. Notwithstanding the fact that there may be delays in getting a taxi from the bus stop to the Ford plant, this alternative does exist and must be considered as such under the regulations by the Tribunal.

The Tribunal finds that the Applicant has failed to meet the onus under the section 22(3) and 22(4) of the Regulation, and the Tribunal is therefore precluded from considering the Applicant's claim of exceptional hardship under section 22(2) of the Regulation.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

DIRECTORS OF THE ONTARIO TRAVEL INDUSTRY
COMPENSATION FUND CORPORATION UNDER THE TRAVEL INDUSTRY ACT

TO DISALLOW A CLAIM

TRIBUNAL: WILLIAM McINTOSH

APPEARANCES:

PATRICIA SLYVAIN, appearing on her own behalf
FRANK WILLIAMS, Counsel, representing the Board of Directors of the Ontario Travel Industry Compensation Fund Corporation

DATE OF
HEARING: October 11, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") from a decision of the Board of Directors of the Ontario Travel Industry Compensation Fund Corporation (the "Fund") denying the Applicant's claim for reimbursement in the amount of $1,065.00. The Fund confirmed the refusal of the Applicant's claim by letter dated July 6, 2000.

The Applicant brings the appeal pursuant to the section 62 of Regulation 806/93 under the Travel Industry Act (the "Act"), and bases her claim on the provisions of section 50(1) of that Regulation.

THE EVIDENCE:

The Applicant paid by personal cheque the sum of $1,065.00 to one Kamral Khan in payment for airline tickets for her sons from Georgetown, Guyana to Toronto. Although Mr. Khan appears as the payee on the cheque, the receipt for the payment was issued by Sunkiss Travel Agency. The Applicant stated that she knew Mr. Khan personally and had done business with him in the past. She simply assumed he and Sunkiss Travel were still bona fide travel agent and agency, respectively. Her sons arrived at the airport in Georgetown, but no tickets for the flight to Toronto had been purchased in their name by Sunkiss Travel. The Applicant was forced to purchase alternative travel arrangements.

The Applicant sought restitution from Mr. Khan but none was forthcoming. Accordingly, the Applicant sought compensation from the Fund by a claim received by the Fund March 20, 2000.

The Fund first responded to the Applicant by letter of May 4, 2000. In that letter, over the signature of Ms. Lori Furlan, Claims Coordinator, the Fund pointed out that Sunkiss Travel had voluntarily terminated its registration as a Travel Agent with the Travel Industry Council of Ontario in September of 1999, some three months prior to the Applicant's payment to Mr. Khan. This being the case, the Fund informed the Applicant that in the past claims such as hers were not honoured in that the legislation provided no means by which the compensation requested could be paid. The Claims Coordinator went on to say that should the Applicant wish her claim to be presented to the Board for its further consideration, it would be done.

This step was taken, and by letter of July 6, 2000 the Fund, over the signature of Dorian Werdia Manager, Administration and Claims, sent the Applicant a formal rejection of her claim, stating as grounds that Sunkiss Travel was not a registered travel agent under the Act. As required, the letter informed the Applicant of her right to appeal the Fund's decision. That appeal constitutes the matter before the Tribunal.

Counsel for the fund took no issue with the facts as given in evidence by the Applicant and relied upon the provisions of the Act to justify the Fund's refusal to compensate her. As evidence that neither Mr. Khan nor Sunkiss Travel were registered under the Act for the provision of travel services at the time of the transaction, a certificate to that effect was entered into evidence pursuant to Section 26 of the Act.

In addition, counsel for the Fund entered into evidence through Lori Furlan, the above noted Claims Co-ordinator, her calculation of the amount owing to the Applicant in the event that the Tribunal allowed the appeal. That amount is stated as $986.00 being the amount paid by the Applicant to Mr. Khan less applicable taxes for which the Fund is not responsible.

ISSUES:

A review of the evidence reveals no dispute as to the fact that the Applicant paid for travel services which were not provided. There is no dispute that neither Mr. Khan nor Sunkiss Travel were registered travel agents under the Act at the time of the transaction for those services. The sole issue for determination is whether the Act provides for compensation to be paid to the Applicants in these circumstances.

THE LAW:

The relevant portion of section 50(1) of Regulation 806/93 under the Travel Industry Act states:

50(1) A customer is entitled to be reimbursed for travel services paid for but not provided if,

- (a) the customer made payment for the travel services directly to or through a registered travel agent;

(b) the customer has made a demand for payment from the registered travel agent or the appropriate registered wholesaler; and

(c) the customer has not been reimbursed by,

- (i) the registrant because the registrant is unable to pay by the reason of bankruptcy or insolvency,
- (ii) any other person who has received the customer's money, or
- (iii) any other person who may be legally obliged to reimburse or compensate the customer, including a person obliged under a contract of insurance.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

Pursuant to section 26 of the Act, the Tribunal was provided with Certificate evidence that neither Mr. Khan to whom the Applicant made her payment for the provision of travel services nor Sunkiss Travel which issued the receipt for the payment were at the time of the transaction complained of registered under the Act.

The Tribunal was directed to a number of cases where the issue of whether the Tribunal has jurisdiction to allow compensation to be paid in circumstances where the travel services were purchased from or through an unregistered travel agent. All of these, despite the Tribunal's expression of the unfairness to the customer, have held that no such jurisdiction exists.

In the case of Di Cianna 2 August 1994 the Tribunal denied an appeal with similar facts. In its decision it quoted from the previous decision of the Tribunal released January 10 1992:

"Ms. Byron at the time that she purchased her ticket, did not make an inquiry as to whether the vendor of the travel services was a travel wholesaler or a travel agent. The tribunal feels that she cannot in any way be blamed for not making that inquiry as it is not reasonable to expect the average consumer to know the difference, much less know that entitlement to compensation from the Compensation Fund somehow hinged upon that distinction. It is apparent to the Tribunal that Ms. Byron is a victim of circumstances who, in fairness, deserves to be compensated. However, the Tribunal has no jurisdiction to award such compensation to Ms. Byron. The Regulation clearly states that compensation can only be given where the consumer purchased travel services from a participant who is a travel agent."

The Compensation Fund was never intended to be a broad form of indemnity covering losses to the travelling public regardless of the type of occurrence giving rise to the loss. It is a scheme of reimbursement established by statute to compensate purchasers of travel services only in certain delineated circumstances.

In the present case, there is a condition precedent to the awarding of compensation contained in section 50(1)(a) set forth above; namely, the purchase of the travel services must be from a travel agent registered under the Act. That condition has not been met here, and the Tribunal cannot expand its jurisdiction under the statute to cover the present case regardless of its unfortunate nature.

DECISION:

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority vested in it by the Travel Industry Act and Regulations thereunder, the Tribunal denies the Applicant's appeal and upholds the decision of the Board of Trustees of the Travel Industry Council of Ontario outlined in their letter to the Applicant of July 6, 2000 denying her claim.

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal by Ann and Norm Reid (the "Applicants") to the Licence Appeal Tribunal (which prior to April 1, 2000 was known as the Commercial Registration Appeal Tribunal) from the decisions of the Ontario New Home Warranty Program (the "Program") dated October 7, 1999 and January 20, 2000, wherein the Applicants' claim for damages for a breach of the Vendor's warranty was disallowed. The claim was for the repair of the alleged defects in workmanship, materials, and for non compliance with the Ontario building Code. The Tribunal found that the Applicants are not entitled to succeed in their claims against the Program for the reasons hereinafter set out.

FACTS:

It is not disputed by the parties that the Applicants' home is a Townhome built by the Vendor, and sold to the Applicants. The warranty period under the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act (the "Act") began September 10, 1997. A Conciliation Request Form was filed March 30, 1998 together with an explanatory letter dated April 6, 1998. A Conciliation Inspection took place on June 26, 1998, and a Conciliation Report was issued the same day. The Program's first Decision letter was issued and dated October 7, 1999. A second Conciliation meeting was held December 10, 1999 and the second Decision letter was issued, dated January 20, 2000. The number of claims by the Applicants has been reduced, with the remaining claims involving assertions of defects in workmanship, materials, and breaches of the Ontario Building Code (the "Code").

The Program disputes the entitlement of the Applicants on the basis that there is no breaches of warranty under section 13(1) of the Act, and therefore no claims under section 14(1)(b) of the Act. The Program's grounds are that there are no defects in workmanship or materials, there has been compliance with the Ontario Building Code requirements, and if not, the Applicants have suffered no damages and have no cause of action against the builder.

WITNESSES FOR THE APPLICANT

Evidence was called by the Applicants, and testimony was given by Ron Tremblay, John Steven, Yancy Ambing, Ann Reid, and Rocky Chew.

The Applicants' first witness, Ron Tremblay, testified that he has been the Chief Building Inspector for the town of Newmarket since 1985. He had some recollection of meetings with various people in relation to the Applicants' home and attended on site on one occasion.

In Mr. Tremblay's opinion there was compliance with the Ontario Building Code, and there were no 'equivalencies' granted according to his file. The building inspectors for the Town of Newmarket had inspected the property as construction went along, and although different inspectors carry out inspections, there are notes and communications between them. The Fire Department carried out the inspection of 'fire separation' compliance. Mandatory inspections were carried out, and he testified that the inspectors may review the drawings at the site depending on how complicated the inspection is expected to be. If there was a major change from the construction drawings, he testified that the builder was expected to notify them so that they could determine if there was compliance with the Ontario Building Code.

On the issue of the substitution of the wooden beam for a steel beam, he stated that so long as the substituted beam met the requirements, it would be approved. If there was a problem, an engineer would be consulted to determine if the substitution met the Ontario Building Code requirements. He testified that when drawings were submitted and stamped by an architect or engineer, the Building Department relies on the architect or engineer to design in compliance with the Ontario Building Code. Even when the drawings are submitted by a professional, the Building Department examines them and if they are found to be insufficient, an explanation is required, and in some cases a new set of drawings must be filed for approval before a building permit is issued. Alternatives to the Building Code can be used by an architect or engineer; however, the Building Department will often require information on specifications if the Building Department is not familiar with the materials or assemblies proposed.

In cross-examination, Mr. Tremblay, confirmed that he was familiar with the examination of plans and drawings as this was part of his duties when he was a building inspector. He does not generally become involved with individual building projects once the plans have been approved and the building permits issued unless the inspectors find particular problems with the project and bring it to his attention. Either he or the building inspector may sign an Occupancy Permit when the building is safe to occupy, even though it may not be fully completed. In this case, the Occupancy Permit was signed August 27, 1997 by John Steven the building inspector. According to Mr. Tremblay's notes, the inspections were carried out appropriately by the building inspector, and there were no notations of serious problems. The inspections for fire separation and fire stopping were carried out by a Fire Prevention Officer from the fire department at the time of the framing. On this project there were no Orders to Comply issued and when the builder was found to be building without a permit, they ceased work when asked to do so. Mr. Tremblay did remember a meeting with Mr. Steven the building inspector, a representative from the fire department, and a representative from the Program concerning fire safety and noise transmission. At this meeting, the Program's representative was advised that in the opinion of the Building Department, the Ontario Building Code standards had been met. The witness was familiar with the claim by the Applicants that there were many unhappy purchasers in this development, however he said that the Applicants were the only ones that he had dealt with.

Mr. John Steven testified that he is the Deputy Chief Building Official for the Town of Newmarket. He has been employed by the Town of Newmarket for approximately 23 years and prior to that had 20 years of experience as a carpenter and site supervisor. Although he is entitled to make decisions on his own if the Chief Building Official is unavailable, he does not make decisions on equivalencies. Together with his building inspections, he examines plans to ensure the joist spans are proper, and other building issues are met. Whether a beam is wooden or made of steel, he checks the Ontario Building Code to ensure that they meet the requirements. Mr. Steven testified that he does look at the "loading points", where one beam rests on another, to determine if there is sufficient strength, and if it becomes a technical issue, he will ask for a structural engineer's drawing with the engineer's stamp to ensure that it is sufficient. Similarly, if the plan is drawn by an architect, he examines it, but he would depend on the expertise of the architect for some technical details. He had no notes of deficiencies. He stated that when deficiencies were found, he would advise the builder, and later check to ensure that the problems were rectified. He confirmed that he did the inspection for the excavation, footings, framing, insulation, and the final inspection on the Applicants' home. Mr. Steven did not remember having seen a revised drawing, although one had been issued and dated September 19, 1997. He thought it was possible that he used the original architectural drawing of March 24, 1997 for his inspections although he did not take it with him. He said he was familiar with the drawing but only up to a point, and did not notice any changes from the original plan. Mr. Steven did not remember a wooden beam, being substituted for a steel beam, and did not remember whether he was told of the substitution by the builder. His evidence was that he would have inspected the beam and based on his experience determine if it were sufficient, just as he examined the roof trusses and determined their suitability.

Mr. Steven stated that he does get down and look at the seal used under the door to inspect the gas proofing in the garage. He also testified that he would determine whether there was proper support for the stairs, and if a support was needed he would ask for a post to be installed. In this case, he did not ask for a post although it was agreed that based on an engineer's report provided by the Applicant, a post was necessary and was later provided by the builder. His evidence was that he does not become involved in fire safety issues and that he did not take part in the question of whether there were back to back outlets as that is a matter for the Fire Prevention Officer, Mr. Jim Bond, who has since died. Mr. Steven testified that he did not observe the installation of the floor tiles, and he did not inspect the finished product. Mr. Steven did not check the calculations for the heating system, but simply inspected it to ensure that the system was installed according to the plans. He did not observe any "form ties" being left exposed by the builder.

The Mr. Yancy Ambling testified that he is a building inspector but was appearing in a private capacity. In the early autumn of 1998 he went to the Applicants' home, made observations, and took notes. His last visit to the Applicants' home was April 1, 2000. He had some concerns over structural issues and recommended that the Applicants hire an engineer. As he went through the home, he noted issues which he considered to be Ontario Building Code violations as well as workmanship issues. He testified that the ceramic floor tile was not even and level, as some tiles were higher than others. There were cracks in the grout and grout coming out.

In his opinion, this was a violation of article 9.30.1.4 of the Ontario Building Code which required that the tile be level and smooth. There was one chip in a tile in the front hall at the base of the stairs. He stated that he could hear a hollow sound with some tile which he said could be caused by an inadequate adhesive. In his opinion this could lead to tile cracking. When he looked at the underside of the floor under the tiled area he found that there was no "blocking" installed as required by article 930. 6 of the Ontario Building Code (Exhibit 7). At the request of the Applicants, strapping had been applied, but the blocking was not in place as required. In his opinion, the system of laying the tile used was common practice in the industry, but did not comply with the requirements of the Ontario Building Code. Mr. Ambling testified that according to the photographs produced to him it appeared to be only half an inch from the top of the tile to the sub floor and this was below the standards in the Ontario Building Code. In the laundry room he observed a "form tie" protruding from the wall under the laundry tub and according to article 9.15.6.3 of the Ontario Building Code it was to be removed. In his opinion, this constituted a safety hazard as it was accessible to small children. He observed that there was no fire separation at the party wall at the stairs. He testified that the fire rating for party walls was from both sides, and the gaps in the drywall meant that there was insufficient fire separation. He testified that according to the chart for article 9.10.3.1 of the Ontario Building Code, the type of wall assembly used in the Applicants' home was described as number 28. He referred to the sound transmission rating, and stated that it was rated at 57. The minimum requirement was 50. Mr. Ambling testified that he did not find acoustical sealant, although it was required where there was a rating over 50 according to the chart.

Mr. Ambling testified that on the left of the landing, the stairs rest on a 2 X 6 beam. There was a joist hanger which had been bent around and nailed. He was unsure if this was correct, and he felt that it had to be examined.

He further testified that he considered the electrical outlets as shown in photograph 42 (Exhibit 4) to be "back to back" and, therefore, not in compliance with article 9.10.9.6 of the Ontario Building Code.

On April 1, 2000 Mr. Ambling noticed a deficiency in the gas proofing under the sill of the garage door to the residence, as it did not appear to be sealed adequately where the drywall met the sill. In his opinion, this did not meet requirements of article 9.10.13.15 of the Ontario Building Code.

Mr. Ambling testified that the master bedroom window appeared to have a problem with vertical displacement of the jam, a bowing of the sill, the caulking and paint pulling apart, and the growth of mildew. In his opinion, the thermal pane had failed as there was more moisture than he had seen on a window before. When he examined the window, he found that the area that opened was less than the 3 square feet needed under the Ontario Building Code section 9.32.2.1 to meet the natural ventilation requirements. If the natural ventilation requirements are not met, it is necessary for there to be sufficient mechanical ventilation as provided for in article 9.32.3 of the Ontario Building Code.

In cross-examination, Mr. Ambing testified that he met the Applicants in 1996 through his employment although he did not socialized with them. He has been to their home approximately seven times. His first attendance there concerning this matter was in the autumn of 1998 when he was asked to look at some items, although he did not remember the exact date. He was unsure of the dates of his other visits to home. During these visits to the home, he inspected every aspect of construction based on his extensive experience as a building inspector, his training and his work in private industry. He did not prepare a report, and the notes were taken by Mrs. Reid. He was present twice when Mr. Rocky Chew a professional engineer examined the home. Drywall had been removed to expose the framing at the master bedroom window and the living room window.

Mr. Ambing testified that he did not remove drywall to examine the issue of fire separation, and his opinions were based on the photographs produced as drywall would have to be removed to look into the wall.

The witness agreed that an architect or engineer can stamp a plan to certify that Ontario Building Code requirements have been met. Where there is a question of Code compliance, questions may be asked by the Building Department as the professional must still meet the minimum requirements. Often a prior approved assembly is used which the plans examiner knows meets the necessary standards.

The next witness was Ann Reid who testified that she took possession of the house September 10, 1997. She stated that the Pre-Delivery Inspection was done with David Vigeon who went through the house quickly and did not examine things in depth. On the issue of the gas proofing in the garage, she stated that she raised the issue in the Pre-Delivery Inspection Report and although Mr. Vigeon did put caulking on it, he missed a spot. According to article 9.4.3 of the Ontario Building Code, if an attached garage is used by one unit, there does not have to be fire separation, but there must be a gas barrier. Her observation was that the barrier was not complete.

Mr. Reid testified that there was one form tie sticking out of the wall under the laundry tub, which she considered to be a safety hazard and wanted it removed. Mr. Vigeon attempted to snap it off but was unable to do so. According to article 9.15.6.3 of the Ontario Building Code the "form tie" must be removed cleanly so that it does not protrude from the surface of the foundation.

Mr. Reid described the separation of drywall in the ceiling and said that in her opinion it was a workmanship issue, and not an issue of shrinkage as drywall tape does not shrink. She did not wish to attempt to repair this matter herself as she could cause damage to the ceiling. There was also one nail pop in the drywall.

Mrs. Reid testified as to the floor tiles and said that there was insufficient support. The joists were sufficient, and the 2 X 6 beams were adequate but there was not enough support under the floor to prevent the cracking of grout. Also, one of the joists hangers with was installed was not properly finished and was simply twisted around the beam.

The Applicant also testified that there was a crack in the caulking between the tile in one area, a hole in the tile at the base of the stairs, and a tile in the kitchen that makes a popping noise when it is stepped on. Repairs were carried out by installing joist hanger's under the floor, but no other repairs had been made. She raised the issue of whether the tile was installed according to the Ontario Building Code article 9.30.1.4 that requires the floor to be smooth and even. The Applicant testified that the installation of the floor was not done properly as they used a "thin set" method with an inadequate base that did not meet the requirements of the Ontario Building Code and also failed to install the blocking necessary at half the distance of the floor joists. She testified that the hole in the tile, and cracking of the grout was attributable to this defective installation and she produced materials showing preferred methods of installation. Her concern was that there was damage, and if it was not fixed it would continue to get worse and the tile in the foyer would develop the same problems.

Mrs. Reid testified that there were unsealed area at the sides of the dust pan portion of the central vacuum system as shown in photographs 1, 2, 6, and 8 of Exhibit 4. She stated that grout or something else should have been used to fill the gap. In her opinion, this is a defect in workmanship as it forms part of the floor, and is an "open defect" as set out in the Ontario Building Code article 9.30.1.4 which requires the floor to be smooth, even, and free of open defects. She testified that she did not repair it herself as she knew that this could void the warranty on it.

Mrs. Reid next gave evidence concerning the window in the master bedroom. She explained that photographs (Exhibit 4) 27 and 23 show that there has been water penetration, and that photograph 29 shows the present condition of the window. The builder has tried to repair it and there is still a gap in the caulking where the window has moved. Dampness is still a problem as shown by a buildup of mold at the corner of the window. She stated that photograph 29 in Exhibit 4 shows the black seal material between the glass and the wood had been "squashed" and was no longer functional. Despite her efforts in cleaning the mold away, it continues to reappear, but only on this one window. Another problem with the window was that there was supposed to be a larger window installed for light and ventilation. Her opinion was that the window failed to meet Ontario Building Code requirements as the area which opens is less than three square feet as required by article 9.32.1.2 to meet the natural ventilation requirements in the absence of sufficient mechanical ventilation. She stated that there was not mechanical ventilation which would be required if the natural ventilation was not sufficient. She concluded that it must have been the seal in the window causing the dampness problem. Her concern with the window was that it was very visible and would be a problem if the house was being sold.

Mrs. Reid testified that she was concerned with the issues of sound transmission and fire separation in different areas of the house. She said that there was a problem in that the fire separation at the stairs was not continuous, and she explained that the party walls are joint walls with the neighboring units and require a minimum one-hour fire resistance rating. Mrs. Reid expressed concerns that she would be left vulnerable if the rating was not met on the neighbor's side of the wall. She explained how she had taken the quarter round off at the stair stringer, moved the insulation out of the way and observed that the drywall was missing on the neighbor's side of the wall. She was also concerned about the fire separation in the basement at the header areas. Her evidence was that there are charts showing particular wall assemblies and the fire separation ratings achieved together with sound transmission ratings. Her opinion was that her party walls did not meet the requirements. There was a requirement for the sound transmission rating of not less than 50, and that any rating of 50 or more had to be sealed with an acoustic sealant around electrical boxes, other openings, and the intersection of walls and floors. In her opinion, this was not present as she had probed one area in the bedroom and did not find acoustic sealant. She described sounds being transmitted from the neighbor's premises in a most disturbing manner. Although she was told that the walls had a sound transmission rating of 57, she disagreed that it met the requirement of 50, although she had not had tests done due to the cost. In cross-examination, she repeated that she wanted acoustic caulking put at the floors, ceilings, and electrical outlets.

Mrs. Reid gave evidence that the electrical outlets were not offset as required by article 9.10.5.1 in the fire safety portion of the Ontario Building Code. She produced photographs 41, 42, and 43 (Exhibit 4) showing that the electrical outlets in her unit and the neighbor's unit were mounted on the studs in each wall with apparently less than six inches between them. She testified that they should have been mounted with a stud between them to be properly offset, and produced written materials suggesting the best ways to meet the Ontario Building Code requirements.

Mrs. Reid testified that she was concerned that the fire separation at her stairs was inadequate. Drywall had been installed on her side of the party wall, but she testified that she had been able to observe that the drywall was not continuous on the neighbors side, and she was therefore left with insufficient fire protection. She stated that the Tribunal should order a repair.

Mrs. Reid testified that she considered the garage to be part of the dwelling unit under article 9.10.9.16 of the Ontario Building Code as it served only one unit and there was still a problem with sound proofing.

The witness then gave extensive background of the many items which were not properly completed at the time of the predelivery inspection, and of the difficulties that she had dealing with the builder. She summarized the repairs that she wished to have done to correct the deficiencies which she said presently exist.

Mrs. Reid testified that there were unfinished gaps to the sides the dust pan installation for her central vacuum system. Photographs were produced showing a gap of approximately half an inch on each side of the two units, and she stated that these gaps should have been filled with grout. In her opinion, this was a workmanship issue as it was left unfinished. She stated that these gaps should be considered part of the floor and were an open and obvious defect so that the floor was not smooth and level as required by the Ontario Building Code article 9.30.1.4. She stated that she did not want to do the work herself to try to finish it as it would void the warranty.

Mrs. Reid testified that there was damage to the window in the master bedroom and that there was obvious water penetration shown by the buildup of mold on the sill and rust forming on a nail. The builder tried to fix it and reattached the window to the studs as it was being twisted. She testified that the area around the window was caulked and had still separated, so there is a gap. She stated that the black material which seals the window had been squashed and there was a problem with water penetration. When the issue was brought to the attention of Mr. Fortune, he suggested that it was normal shrinkage but she stated that it was obviously too close to the brick. She also stated that the ventilation capacity of the window did not comply with the Ontario Building Code article 9.32.1.2 which required a three foot square area that could be opened in each room for natural ventilation. The opening on this window was less than three square feet. She stated that mechanical ventilation was required if the natural ventilation was not sufficient, and the furnace did not meet the requirements as it was a system which re-circulated air within the house. Mrs. Reid stated that she uses her fans within the house in a normal manner and objected to suggestions that the buildup of moisture on the window was caused by a number of plants in the home. She explained that the plants received very little water, and are not the source of the problem. Her concern is that the window sill is very visible and looks worse than it should for its age. In cross-examination, the issue was raised that the question of the mold buildup and a problem with ventilation was in the second Conciliation Request Form signed on August 17, 1999 (Exhibit 6, Tab 21) although it had been mentioned in a letter to the Program dated August 6, 1998. Mrs. Reid confirmed that the builder had done a repair which she described as loosening the window installation.

Mrs. Reid testified that the fire resistance rating is a problem as the fire separation is not continuous and that when there is a party wall there should be a rating from both sides. The wall separating her unit from that of her neighbor must act as a firewall and meet a rating requirement of one hour fire resistance. According to the Ontario Building Code article 9.10.11.2 (2) the fire protection must be continuous from each side of the property. An area was found where the stair stringer in her home had been fixed; however, she had concerns about whether the repairs had been made on the neighbor's side. Mrs. Reid testified that the header areas throughout the basement were missing the drywall necessary to provide fire separation. She produced pictures to show how the problem had been fixed in the laundry room with drywall being installed on the common wall between the ceiling joists. She explained her concerns about the fire separation for the party walls. She testified that designers usually use a tested wall assembly to be sure that fire and sound ratings are met. Mrs. Reid referred to table 9.10.3.A in the Ontario Building Code (Exhibit 13) which described the walls in her unit and set ratings of one hour fire resistance and a total of 57 for sound transmission. In the addendum to that chart, item (2) stated:

"constructions with sound transmission class ratings of 50 or more require acoustical sealant applied around electrical boxes and other openings, and at the junction of intersected walls and floors except intersection of walls constructed of concrete or solid brick".

Mrs. Reid described in detail the level of sound transmission through the walls and stated that the builder said that if he removed the baseboards to apply the sealant it would damage the drywall. She explained that any holes in the assembly would reduce the rating, and that a sound rating of at least 50 is required.

Evidence was given on behalf of the Applicant by Mr. Rocky Chew who is a professional engineer who studied mechanical engineering and has worked in the field of structural engineering, although he does not hold a designation as a consulting engineer or a structural engineer. He was not accepted by the Tribunal as an expert in the field of structural engineering, but gave extensive evidence based on his observations.

Mr. Chew made observations of the living room and bedroom windows and initially concluded that there was a deflection of the beam; however, when he made an examination with some drywall removed, he saw that there was no failure of the beam at that time, and concluded that the apparent movement of the window was caused by the exertion of an external force. Based on this, he concluded that the brick veneer was too close to the window frame thereby putting pressure on the window frame when the brick expanded during warm conditions, and this combined with the natural shrinkage of the wooden framing of the wall caused the bowing of the window. He suggested that there should be a gap left so that these forces would not put pressure on the window. In his opinion, this could cause a break in the seal of the window leading to moisture, and the growth of mould. He suggested that the brick be cut to provide more room or smaller windows be installed in the living room and bedroom.

Mr. Chew testified that cracks in the floor tile are usually the result of movement in the structure below, and that the Ontario Building Code suggests different methods of installation. He suggested that a thicker mortar bed would have to be used or the sub floor could be reinforced with blocking to prevent the floor from moving. He also noted that the hollow sound under some tile suggested that there was an incomplete adhesive which compounded the problem of the insufficient sub floor. Mr. Chew suggested that the blocking would have to be put in every eight inches at center and the adhesive for that tile would have to be re-applied.

In cross-examination, he explained that drywall was removed to permit him to observe the underlying beam, and based on his inspection he changed his conclusion to find that the pressure causing the movement of the windows was not exerted by a failing beam, but was caused by exterior pressure. He agreed that once the wood in a home has stabilized there is very little further movement. The witness was unsure if the window was a double or single pane but agreed that most windows are double. He described the windows as a wood frame containing glass with a rubber seal, and explained that the failure could be caused by external forces. When it was suggested to him that the problem had been fixed, he asked when the repair was done and stated that he was last in the house on November 11, 1999 but did not inspect the windows. He was unsure of the date of his last inspection of the windows, but he thought that it may have been the date that he examined the structure with the drywall removed. On the issue of the floor tile, he indicated that he did see cracks in the grout in the foyer and had concerns about the load bearing capacity of the floor. He found that the floor joists were adequate, but found that the blocking was not installed as required. When he returned to the house at a later time he saw that the cracks were still there in the same area but did not see if they were any worse.

In re-examination, he stated that on subsequent visits to the house he was more concerned with the beam in the basement and did not focus on the floor. He also explained that when he examined the windows he was concerned about possible structural failures and did not take note of the type of window.

WITNESSES FOR THE PROGRAM

Evidence was given on behalf of the Program by Mr. Tibor Pal, Mr. Jim Fortune, and Mr. Mike Larkin.

Mr. Tibor Pal testified that he is a graduate of civil engineering and has specialized in structural engineering. Since 1962 he has worked in different companies in the structural engineering field in various countries, and has been involved in the design and construction of bridges, subway projects, residential construction. In 1967 he established a firm specializing in the design of industrial, commercial, and residential projects. He is an Associate Professor of Engineering, and was also designated as a consulting engineer in 1974. Mr. Pal testified that he does consulting work for the Program, and tries to help resolve claims involving structural problems with single-family detached homes or condominium projects. The Tribunal ruled that he would be accepted as an expert based on his particular experience with structural engineering. He testified that he had extensive experience with wooden structures, and between 1974 and 1986 made inspections and assessments of wooden arenas throughout Ontario and made recommendations for necessary repairs to be carried out.

He attended at the Applicants' home, and made visual inspections on December 10, 1999, inspected the architectural drawings, and assessed the reports of Mr. Rocky Chew dated May 12, 1999 and July 1, 1999. He did not carry out any destructive tests, and no drywall was removed. Mr. Pal did not notice any structural deficiencies with the master bedroom window, and when he made his observations he was advised that the window had been repaired by an adjustment of the attachment of the window to the structural frame. He did not see any evidence of the beam over the living room window showing signs of failure and stated that the tim above the window showed a minor deflection of between 1/8 and 1/16 of an inch over the distance of five feet. He did not see the framing around the windows or the studs, and relied upon the architectural drawings for his information. In his opinion, the framing was adequate to carry the necessary loads to the basement. He also found the 2 X 8 porch lintel to be structurally adequate. When he was shown the photograph of the exposed lintel (Exhibit 4, photograph 36) he found it to be adequate. Mr. Pal stated that he did the engineering calculations for the lintel over the front entrance, and found it to be adequate although he did not bring his calculations. He was questioned about whether allowances had to be made for the beam being 2 X 4 and not 2 X 6, and stated that no allowance had to be made. In doing his calculations, he stated that he had often relied on the sketches and measurements made by Mr. Chew in his report. When he was shown the photograph (Exhibit 4, photograph 34) of the lintel above the porch, he stated that wood did not appear to be two pieces of wood spliced together, and pointed out that the mark in the middle of the wood was thicker than the very thin line that would indicate a splice, and the grain of the wood showed that it was all one piece. Mr. Pal was not able to determine from the photograph whether the wood was 2 X 8 or 2 X 10, and relied on Mr. Chew's calculation that if a 2 X 8 beam was installed rather than the 2 X 10 as set out in the architectural drawings, it would be adequate. In his opinion, the problem with the bedroom window would be repaired by the reattachment of the window to the wood.

Mr. Jim Fortune testified on behalf of the Program. He has been employed by the Program since January, 1989 and for all but two years of the time has been a Warranty Representative. In the course of his duties he draws upon his experience and technical expertise, refers to technical literature and takes training to keep his skills and knowledge up-to-date. He estimated that over the course of his career, he has carried out approximately 1000 Conciliation inspections.

When Mr. Fortune received the Reid file, he did a Conciliation Inspection, and had other visits to the home for reinspection. Many of the complaints were resolved, and he wrote the Decision Letter and the supplemental Decision Letter on the issues which remain outstanding. He explained that when he writes the Decision Letters, he set out each claim by paraphrasing the words of the Applicant, and is not using his own assessment of the situation. When he received the complaint that there were back-to-back outlets in contravention of the Ontario Building Code he was not able to confirm what was on the other side of the party wall as there was drywall in place, and he could not enter the neighbor's home without a proper invitation. He did know of complaints from the neighbors on both sides, but did not carry out inspections as the matters were resolved or withdrawn.

When he was shown the photographs of the wall studs with the electrical outlet boxes attached, he said that they looked as if they were offset. In his opinion, outlet boxes which are within the same stud space, and approximately six inches apart would be considered offset for Ontario Building Code purposes. His understanding was that the Ontario Building Code requires the outlets to be tightly fitted and offset, and he found them to be so. There was no requirement in the Ontario Building Code that boxes must not be placed within the same stud space. Mr. Fortune also testified that in his opinion Mrs. Reid was confusing issues of fire separation and sound transmission. He stated that the explanatory materials presented by the Applicant were not part of the Ontario Building Code. The wall studs in the Applicants' home were staggered in any event, so the electrical outlet boxes mounted on the studs would be offset. Mr. Fortune testified that there had been no complaints from the neighbors regarding sound transmission, and he had been provided with no test results showing that the level of sound transmission exceeded the permissible level.

The continuity of the fire separation at the stair stringer appeared to have been fixed, and now complied with Ontario Building Code requirements on the Applicants' side of the party wall. The neighbors on the other side of that party wall had filed for a Conciliation, and had listed this as a problem, but the request was withdrawn and he was advised by the builder that the problem had been repaired.

Mr. Fortune testified that the neighboring garages have a common wall but each garage serves only one dwelling unit. He explained that article 9.10.9.16 (2) of the Ontario Building Code states:

"storage garages containing five cars or fewer shall be separated from other occupancies by a fire separation of not less than one hour."

Under article 9.10.9.16 (3) there is an exception for storage garages which serve only one unit which states:

"where a storage garage serves only the dwelling unit to which it is attached or built in, it shall be considered as part of that dwelling unit, and the fire separation required in sentence (2) need not be provided between garage and the dwelling unit where (a) the construction between garage and the dwelling unit provides an effective barrier to gas and exhaust fumes, and (b) every door between the garage and the dwelling units conforms to article 9.10.13.15".

Mr. Fortune found that there was no requirement of fire resistance as the garage was for less than five cars, and was attached to the Applicants' unit so only gas proofing was required. There were no work orders from the building department for the construction of the garage. He also found that there was no requirement in the Ontario Building Code setting out sound transmission requirements for the garage.

Mr. Fortune testified that there was an unfinished basement, and there was a complaint of insufficient fire separation at the points of connection with the party wall. He assumed Mrs. Reid was referring to the floor joists. Mrs. Reid had said that she would accept a repair by wrapping the floor joists with drywall, and have it installed between the joists on the ceiling and the wall to become continuous. In his opinion the cost of materials would be $15 for the drywall, and one hour of labor at $35. He did not make personal observations of the area, and did not remember being told about it.

Mr. Fortune testified that Mrs. Reid complained of abnormally loud sounds from the neighbor's residences and believed that the builder failed to apply acoustic caulking and the outlets were too close to each other. Mr. Fortune explained that an architect can design a home to meet the Ontario Building Code requirements, and certifies that he has done so. He referred to the table set out in article 9.10.3.A of the Ontario Building Code (Exhibit 13) which stated that where there is a sound transmission rating of over 50, acoustic sealant will be required. In his opinion there was a design by an architect showing a certain type of construction to achieve the necessary rating, the design was approved by the Building Department, and a building permit was issued. During construction, inspections are carried out by municipal officials and if there had been a breach of the Ontario Building Code, an order would have been issued requiring compliance. No such order was made. Mr. Fortune was aware that the builder had agreed to apply sealant in some areas, but he did not consider that there was a breach of the warranty and the Program was not bound by a promise by the builder which did not involve a repair for a breach of warranty. He testified that acoustic caulking could not be put around electrical outlet boxes as they are screwed onto the studs, and there is nothing to apply it to.

Mr. Fortune testified that originally there were no joist hangers in place, however they were subsequently installed, and in his opinion the floor did not show signs of movement. There had been a breach of the Ontario Building Code, but it was rectified and there was no damage caused. He found that the cracking of the grout was the result of normal shrinkage, and therefore was not covered by a warranty. Since he had first been to the house, there appeared to be no change in the crack in the grout, so he concluded that the floor was stable. He also observed that the hole in the tile is at the foot of the staircase, and could be caused by normal wear and tear. In his opinion, the issue of the depth of the base under the tile was raised after the one year period, and it was the issue of the floor joists that was raised within the proper time.

Mr. Fortune testified that the dust pans are part of the central vacuum system, and he concluded that the small gaps were not warrantied and were not readily visible.

The witness testified that there was some drywall separation and a nail pop which he attributed to normal shrinkage caused by the wood framing drying out. Normal shrinkage of materials is not covered by warranty, and the claim was denied.

One ceramic floor tile in the kitchen made a sound when it was stepped on, but Mr. Fortune stated that he observed no damage. The sound only occurred when the tile was stepped on a certain way once it could be found. He saw no indication that the tile was loose, and denied the claim as there was no damage, and no apparent defect of workmanship or materials.

Mr. Fortune testified that a complaint had been made about damage to the master bedroom window which was similar to the complaints about the living room and kitchen windows. In his opinion, it was an issue of structural adequacy and he agreed with the findings of Mr. Pal that the window jam had appeared to have warped. His opinion was that it did not need to be replaced as the bowing was minor and acceptable. The witness stated that he thought the moisture on the window was due to plants in the room, and he said that the homeowner should use the ventilation fans more often. He observed that the seal in the window did not appear to be broken as there was no moisture between the panes of glass in the window, and there was nothing wrong with the weather stripping.

Mr. Fortune testified that the beam over the front porch was still in issue but he agreed with Mr. Pal that it is adequate, and believes that the mark in the middle of the beam was caused by a metal strap used to bundle the lumber when it was being moved. In his opinion there is not a splice in the beam, and there is no evidence of damage or structural failure. If such a failure had occurred, there would be signs of cracking in the home.

Mr. Fortune stated that he had observed the joist hanger which had been turned to join the end of the joist, and in his opinion it was not a very clean way to finish the job, but it was adequate.

The witness testified that the form tie did stick out of the wall in the laundry room, but it was in an area under and behind the laundry tub. Although it did stick out about three inches from the wall, he did not consider it a health or safety concern covered by the Act. He described how Mr. Vigeon had difficulty getting under the laundry tub and reaching up to try to break it off.

Mr. Fortune testified that he believed that the fire separation at the floor level was now covered and could only be observed in photographs. As he could not see the area, he relied upon the fact that there were no work orders and upon the inspections made by Mr. Pal. Typically a 2 X 4 was put between the stud beams to stop the fire from passing up through the wall. As he could not see between the studs, he could not say whether or not this had been done.

Mr. Fortune stated that he did not observe any penetration of the gas proofing under the door between the garage and the residence. The door is set in a frame and there is drywall with caulking or tape under the aluminum threshold. He did not get down for a close look, but the drywall compound normally used does show cracks, and he did not see anything that appeared to penetrate into the residence.

In cross-examination, Mr. Fortune repeated his background qualifications in more detail and explained the duties that he had performed in assessing builders. He explained that the bulk of his work involves people who have an idea what they would like, but the work does not meet their expectations. He testified that he does read and interpret the Ontario Building Code, and consults with the Ministry of Housing when he has questions, however he did not make inquiries at the Applicant's office in this case as there was a probability of a conflict of interest. He explained that on matters of workmanship, he tries to look for acceptable industry standards and agreed that there could be some difference in interpretation between Warranty Representatives. He tries to ensure that products meet the requirements set by the manufacturer but does not apply a standard of perfection to workmanship or materials. He gave examples of how certain levels of defects are tolerated by manufacturers of various products. Mr. Fortune stated that he would order the repair of any apparent Ontario Building Code deficiency, and he explained that there are no set criterion for the acceptable level of shrinkage for materials. When he was asked if he sought any outside advice on the issue of fire and sound ratings, he explained that he did seek advice and got different opinions from different sources. He said that he was aware of equivalencies being approved by Chief Building Officers but was not sure how often it was done and did not know whether it was done in this case.

The witness was presented with materials from a book produced by the Program (Exhibit 4, p. 104) which showed suggested methods of installing outlet boxes. He testified that the book was a code and construction guide showing better ways to do things, but does not part of the Ontario Building Code and did not show methods of basic Code compliance. Mr. Fortune confirmed that a complaint had been received from the Applicants' neighbor concerning fire separation, however he did not have conversation with them as the problem had been resolved by a repair before the file reached him. When he was asked if he was aware that some people simply gave up in frustration when dealing with these problems he agreed that it can happen but he did not have dealings with the neighbor and does not know the circumstances surrounding their claim. He confirmed that he did not go to their home and did not measure the location of outlets, but still considered the outlets as shown in the photographs to be offset as required by the Ontario Building Code.

Mr. Fortune was cross examined on the issue of fire and sound ratings between the dwelling unit and garage. He repeated that the requirement for a sound transmission rating applies to the dwelling unit and not to the building as a whole, so it did not apply to the garage for the reasons stated in his evidence in chief.

Mr. Fortune was cross examined on the issue of the basement header, and stated that he failed to make observations and there was confusion about whether the area had been repaired. He did not remember how the area was constructed, and could not see into the wall to know if there was fire separation. The witness was shown architectural diagram D-4C of a party wall in the basement (Exhibit 4, p. 73) showing the header area, and he stated that if the construction had not met the requirements of the Code he would have questioned it and would not expect that it would be approved by the building inspector.

He disagreed with the Applicant when she suggested to him that the caulking in the diagram was acoustic caulking, and stated that he believed it would be for fire separation. Mr. Fortune was aware of the repair at the stair stringer to make the fire separation continuous. Mr. Fortune explained that an architect or an engineer has the right to design a system sufficient to meet Code requirements and will often use alternative materials or methods. The plans will be examined by the municipal building department to determine if they are adequate before a building permit is issued. He also did not know if the Chief Building Officer approved any equivalencies. In his opinion, the system as constructed does meet the Ontario Building Code requirements, and he explained that the Ontario Building Code does not contain diagrams of approved systems. When he was questioned about the use of acoustical sealant in the Applicants' unit, he stated that the Applicants' party wall would have a 57 rating due to the insulation, and he had no reason to believe that the wall as built did not meet the Ontario Building Code requirement of a 50 rating. Mr. Fortune explained that he did not remember Mrs. Reid removing the baseboards and looking to see if there was acoustic sealant present, as he was focusing on other issues. He testified that it was not the responsibility of the Program to have acoustic testing done in the unit and said that it was available to the Applicant if she chose to do it.

Mr. Fortune testified that when he inspected the home, he observed that hangers were not installed on the floor joists, and there was no evidence of movement of the joists, as set out in his Conciliation Inspection Report. (Exhibit 6, Tab 10) In his opinion, the cracking in the grout was not related to the issue of the floor joists, and there was no cracking of the tile. Since he has been back to the home, there has been no change in the condition, and he attributed the cracking to normal shrinkage of materials. When he was questioned about the installation of the tiles, he stated that he did not see the installation. He was shown photographs 5, 6 and 8 of Exhibit 4 and observed that the base looks like 3/8 inch, but he was not able to see where the measuring tape started.

Mr. Fortune testified that it was not unusual to see gaps with some flooring, and he observed that the tile was not cracked, and the grout in the kitchen was not cracked. He did not consider the small gaps beside the dust pans to be a defect. In his opinion they were not very noticeable and the dust pans were provided by the homeowner for the builder to install, in any event.

He did hear a sound when one tile was stepped on, however it only occurred when it was stepped on in a certain way, and there were no signs of cracking. Questions were asked about his eyesight. He explained that he does use glasses for reading, and demonstrated that he could read a document several feet away without difficulty.

Mr. Fortune testified that the separation of the drywall tape and the nail pop were normal and consistent with the usual shrinkage of materials and therefore not covered by warranty.

Mr. Fortune was questioned about the issue of ventilation and testified that if he finds a health and safety issue, he will treat it as subject to a two-year time limit. In this case, he determined that the mechanical ventilation was sufficient and admitted that it was confusing as the Ontario Building Code requirements have changed several times. He explained that typically mechanical ventilation is provided by fans and often by a main exhaust fan in the washroom. He did not agree that natural ventilation requirements had to be met if mechanical ventilation was provided, and for that reason he did not consider the window in the bedroom to be under-sized. The ventilation and heating system was inspected, and approved by the building department. He stated that they would not have been passed if they did not meet the Code requirements. Mr. Fortune maintained his opinion that the moisture on the window was caused by condensation which typically occurs at the corner of windows. He did not contact the window manufacturer and could not examine the method of installation as it was not exposed to view. There were plants in the room, and he explained that when there are plants or an aquarium, it was necessary to use the exhaust fan periodically or open the window. He agreed that a system designed and installed in accordance with the Ontario Building Code could still have problems, but in his opinion there should not be problems if it operates properly.

Mr. Fortune testified that it is a Code requirement that form ties be removed; however, the one behind the laundry tub was not a health or safety concern due to its location. He saw Mr. Vigeon get down on the floor and try to reach up behind the laundry tub to try to break it off, but he was unable to do so as it was hard to reach. In his opinion it was possible for a child to scratch themselves, but he did not consider it a hazard.

Mr. Fortune testified that the gas proofing in the garage appeared to have some normal cracks but nothing that appeared to penetrate beyond the surface. He saw drywall compound but was unsure if there was drywall under it. He did bend down to look, but did not manually examine it. This was a minor item, and he agreed that there could be some movement from people stepping on the aluminum still above it.

Mr. Mike Larkin testified that he has been employed as a building inspector for the town of Newmarket for between 3 and 4 years. Prior to that he was a building inspector in Mississauga for approximately 10 or 11 years. His duties involved inspection of heating, plumbing, electrical installations, and Ontario Building Code issues. In Mississauga he was involved with mechanical installations and fire separation. Prior to being a building inspector, he was employed in the construction field. He testified that he has taken all of the Ministry courses to be certified as a building official, and is also certified as an engineering technician as well as being licensed for plumbing and heating. With this designation, he is allowed to design heating and ventilation systems for residential and small commercial construction. On a daily basis he consults and interprets the Ontario Building Code. He explained that when an engineer or architect designs a building, they are allowed to go outside of the Code for some purposes. The drawings are reviewed for Code violations and strict compliance is required on some items while others are allowed latitude so long as they meet performance requirements. An equivalency can be accepted by the Chief Building Officer, the approved drawings are stamped and a building permit issued. No note is made if an equivalency is agreed to, however a record is kept if something is found to be insufficient in which case a permit will not be issued. During construction, if Code violations are seen, the superintendent of the building project is notified and the repair is carried out. If not, an Order to Comply is issued, and if necessary a Stop Work Order can be made. In the case of a very serious defect, an Unsafe Order is made so no one will be allowed to enter the building.

Mr. Larkin testified that he was involved with the Applicant's home from the time of framing until the final inspection, and discussed remedial work as a result of the complaints. He stated that he inspected and dealt with fire separation and sound transmission issues although the fire separation inspection was carried out by Mr. Bond of the fire department. Mr. Larkin stated that deficiencies were repaired, and he did not make notes because they were of a minor nature. The witness stated that the electrical outlet boxes were offset as required by the Code as there is no requirement that there be a stud between them. In his opinion there was no section in the Code relating to sound transmission which required the electrical outlet boxes to be offset. In his opinion, the double insulation used in the party walls produced a higher rating than on the chart in the Code, and would have been specified by the architect and approved by the building department. He stated that drywall is not the only method of meeting the fire separation requirement as the stair stringer is a thick timber and also has a fire resistance rating. During construction, drywall is not installed until there has been an inspection of the framing and the insulation. He confirmed that the town did not receive complaints from the neighbors and there were no Orders to Comply. Mr. Larkin stated that a garage which serves only one residence is considered part of the residence for fire separation purposes, and only a 45 minutes rating is required for the walls or ceiling. In this case, the town approved the design, and it appears to have been built as designed. There is no requirement to meet the sound transmission rating for the garage. With regard to the rest of the home, he found that the sound transmission rating for the party walls based on the chart in the Ontario Building Code would be 57, even though the minimum standard is 50. In his opinion even if there is no acoustical sealant he did not think that it would affect the sound transmission rating enough to bring it below the required standard. In his review of the architect's plants, he did not see that acoustic sealant was required. In his opinion there was no failure to comply with the Ontario Building Code.

Mr. Larkin did not inspect the basement headers, but he stated that if they were wrapped with drywall they would comply with the Ontario Building Code requirements although compliance could be achieved in other ways. Mr. Larkin explained that he did not think a "fire stop" was required in the basement, as the room was not drywalled and there would be no cavity for a fire to travel. The floor joists would also be adequate fire stops for the next floor of the home.

Mr. Larkin testified that the Ontario Building Code allows the home to be ventilated by mechanical means. He explained that the heating system was designed by a well-known heating contractor who would have submitted the plans for approval.

In cross-examination, Mr. Larkin outlined his qualifications again in more detail, and explained that an Occupancy Certificate is issued once the house is safe even though many items may not be completed. He confirmed that he did see the revised drawings for her home and although he was not sure when he saw them, he knew that they had been approved by John Steven the building inspector. Mr. Larkin explained that when plans are submitted they are examined for Ontario Building Code violations and if they are approved, a building permit is issued. In this case the plans were not stamped, but he expected that they were part of the larger group of documents. When revised plans are received from an architect, they are sometimes not stamped, as the building department knows that the architect is on record and treats anything from their office as certified. Mr. Larkin explained that he attended at the Applicants' home with regard to the question of Ontario Building Code deficiencies and discussed the issue of fire separation with the Mrs. Reid. He testified that if he thought that the home did not meet the necessary requirements, he would have made an order declaring it to be unsafe.

Mr. Larkin testified that he did not inspect the tile or the installation, but does inspect the tile bed, and looks for the minimum thickness. He does not carry out destructive testing, and sees that the floor is flat and even with the edges properly trimmed once it is completed.

Mr. Larkin testified that he is certified as an engineering technician for heating and ventilation, and is qualified to design systems. He does calculations of heat loss and examines the duct locations. If a system was not installed in compliance with its plans, the deficiencies would be noted during the inspection, and there is no indication of that in this case. Mr. Larkin testified that mechanical ventilation can be used in place of natural ventilation, and windows are not required. He stated that the principal exhaust fan is often in the washroom and air is circulated through the furnace system as well as the normal infiltration of air through the opening and closing of doors and windows. In his opinion, the Applicant's home is not a "tight" home and is properly serviced by her furnace system.

Mr. Larkin testified that he does not look for form ties inside building and simply breaks them off if he sees them.

In re-examination, Mr. Larkin explained that the party walls in the home consist of drywall attached to 2 X 4 studs with insulation in the air space. The drywall on each side is rated at 40 minutes, the stud is rated at 20 minutes and the insulation is rated at between 5 and 15 minutes so that the rating from the middle of the party wall is between 60 and 70 minutes and the walls exceed the minimum requirements.

WITNESS FOR THE ADDED PARTY

Mr. David Vigeon testified on behalf of the Added Party. He was hired by the builder for approximately five years as a construction manager to assemble drawings, schedule the trades, arrange inspections by the building department and the fire department and to deal with customer complaints. Mr. Vigeon was involved in the construction of approximately 220 homes over that period of time. He worked with his father in construction from the age of 12 years, attended a management course at Sheridan College, operated his own business, and is licensed as a journeyman carpenter. The Applicant's home is part of a 20 block project with approximately 106 units. The architectural plans were prepared by the builder's architects and were submitted to the town for approval. The revised plan was submitted with additional living space included. The building permit was issued, and Mr. Vigeon became involved after the foundations, roads, and sewage were completed. The witness testified that he did remember two fire inspections being done as some drywall was installed before the second inspection and had to be removed so that the inspection could take place. Mr. Vigeon stated that Mr. Steven had been very critical of the fire stopping, and Mr. Bond requested drywall be installed in the air space in the party walls. He also remembered that the Applicant was charged an additional $500 for Roxul insulation which was not installed in the correct house.

Mr. Vigeon remembered that a repair was done to rectify the problem with fire separation at the stair stringers. Drywall was installed as required, and "fire stop caulking" was to be used. His recollection was that deficiencies were dealt with in the homes of both neighbors and included a repair of the fire separation at the stairs. He examined pictures of the basement headers area. He confirmed that the drywall was attached to provide fire separation and that caulking was applied in the basement area although he was unsure if acoustic caulking had been applied. He did not have specific recollections of the Applicants' unit; however, he did know that acoustical sealant had been supplied to the framers and he had seen it being used during construction.

Mr. Vigeon testified that the proper finish for the dust pans would be a cover plate which covers the gaps as well as the screws. He stated that he had the same unit in his house, and the cover plates cost $6.00.

The witness testified that he did not consider the crack in the grout to be a workmanship issue. In his opinion it was a common problem consistent with shrinkage, traffic or the type of grout used. In this case the materials used were the standard for the industry and adequate for the job.

Mr. Vigeon testified that there had the problem with the windows in the project, but it had been remedied. The tabs at the top and sides of the window caused it to move when force was applied by the shrinkage of the wood frame of the house. After experimenting with a sample of this type of window, he devised a repair by removing the tabs at the top and bottom of the window and having it reinstalled. He stated that he saw no evidence of a broken seal in the window, as moisture between the panes of glass would be present if the seal was compromised and there was no moisture between the panes of glass. In his opinion, this was proof that it was a condensation problem.

Mr. Vigeon examined the photograph of the beam over the porch, and stated that the mark in the middle of the beam was the type of mark normally left by the steel band to hold bundles of lumber together. The beam was approved and was adequate for the purpose.

The witness stated that the form tie was under the laundry tub and difficult to get at. In his opinion it could be removed with a cutting tool, but did not present a hazard.

In cross-examination, Mr. Vigeon confirmed that he was a journeyman and had not taken specific courses on the Ontario Building Code but did complete a test by the Program to prove his knowledge of it. He confirmed that there had been a Stop Work Order, however it did not involve work on the Applicants' block. Revised drawings were also issued for the Applicants' model of home as significant changes were made, walls were changed and a different beam was used. He was unsure if the revised drawings were onsite and was unclear about which plans were on site during construction of the Applicants' unit. The witness confirmed that Mr. Steven identified problems during inspections by using a red crayon, and a number code to identify deficiencies by making marks on the wooden studs involved.

Mr. Vigeon testified that he had discussed the issue of back-to-back outlets with the building department, and they accepted the solution. The requirement in the Ontario Building Code is that the outlets be offset, however there is no distance specified.

Mr. Vigeon stated that drywall had to be removed to examine the continuity of the drywall behind the stair stringer. The Applicant was correct in her claim, and the problem was repaired. He knew that the trades had signed off on the repair, but did not have a copy of the note from the repair crew. He was not aware if the neighbour's home required the same repair to the stair stringer as in the Applicants' home. The neighbor did file a deficiency notice, but he recalled having the work done to repair the problem and the claim had been withdrawn. He was also aware that the Program follows up on claims, and he knew that this one had not preceded any further.

Mr. Vigeon stated that garages were built with 2 X 4 wooden studs, insulation and 5/8 drywall. He knew that the garages were insulated and inspected, however he did not have a specific recollection of being present to watch the installation of the insulation into the Applicant's unit.

Mr. Vigeon testified that Mr. Bond of the fire department had required drywall be installed behind the party wall as well as a wooden cross block for fire separation and fire stopping in the area of the headers in the basement. In the opinion of the witness, this exceeded the requirements of the Ontario Building Code but was necessary for Mr. Bond to approve it. He also remembered repairs being done to the header area in the basement but he did not know why, as he did not think it was necessary. The witness explained that Mr. Bond and Mr. Steven met with him on issues of fire separation. Mr. Bond was very particular and gave courses on fire separation issues within the industry. In re-examination, Mr. Vigeon stated that the drywall had been placed between the headers and black acoustical sealant had been installed. After that was done, no complaint was received that the work was not done properly.

Mr. Vigeon testified that he had no notes or records that acoustic sealant was used in the Applicants' home, however he was aware that a large amount was used in the project and has no reason to believe it was not used in construction of the Applicants' home. He could not testify as to the level of workmanship as he did not see it installed.

Mr. Vigeon explained that the ceramic tile was installed on a 5/8 inch thick board rated for interior or exterior use, without underlay, nailed into the floor joists six inches apart, a plastic mesh was then applied with a scratch coat of mortar and stapled down with plastic under the mesh, and thin set used to set the tiles. He stated that this was the industry standard for setting tile and was more stable than a mortar bed. The thickness varies but the mesh is 3/16 inch thick and the scratch coat is therefore thicker. Thin set mortar is then applied with a 1/4 inch trowel and the tiles are set in. Grout is added afterwards. He is familiar with this method of installation as he has used it in his own home and most other construction. The witness did not know if cross bridging was used under the floor and did not see it in the photos shown to him, but he confirmed that strapping was applied at the Applicant's request. In re-examination, Mr. Vigeon testified that if there were problems with the installation, there would be cracked tiles, cracks in the grout and loose tiles as these defects occur when there is an improper installation. After this period of time, there would not simply be the minor cracking in the grout which has occurred.

Mr. Vigeon testified that the framing of the house shrinks naturally and causes nail pops and drywall separation and some movement in the windows. At the time of installation, the instructions for installing the windows required a 3/16 inch clearance from the brick but this had been changed to 3/8 inch. The repair was done, and he had inspected the window subsequently. In his opinion, the caulking was purely cosmetic and was used to repair a small gap.

The witness testified that the form tie behind the laundry tub was difficult to get at, and he did not consider it dangerous because it was bent upwards.

FACTS FOUND PROVEN:

Bedroom window

The evidence given by Mr. Tibor Pal was based on an examination of the plans for the home, the report by Mr. Rocky Chew, and observations of the home made without the removal of any drywall. Mr. Pal was unable to directly observe the wooden structure and framing of the building. He has expertise in this field and testified that in the past he had examined many arenas, had climbed up into the wooden framework to make his observations and recommendations for safety measures that were required. In this case, unfortunately, his conclusions were not based on a direct examination of the wooden structure, and his calculations assume that the plans were followed, and that the beams were a proper size. By the time he examined the windows, some form of repairs had already been made. In cross-examination, he also agreed that if the joists were parallel his calculations would have to be different. The Tribunal does not accept his explanation that the trim around the bedroom window was simply improperly installed, as this does not explain the apparent bowing of the window.

Mr. Rocky Chew, although not found to be an expert witness by the Tribunal, is a qualified mechanical engineer with practical experience in the field of structural engineering. He did have the benefit of making some first-hand observations of the structural elements of the building when drywall was removed. He changed his initial conclusions about the problem of the upstairs window and the structural integrity of the building once he had the opportunity to examine the wooden framing of the area with some of the drywall removed. He observed that there was no obvious deflection of the window assembly or the surrounding structure which led him to the conclusion that there was an improper installation of the window. When the physical evidence disproved his original theory, Mr. Chew used his observations and knowledge of materials to conclude that a proper allowance was not made for the expansion and contraction of the brick around the window resulting in forces being exerted on the window causing movement. Mr. Vigeon testified that the problem was due to external force being exerted on the window but that it was corrected by removing the top and bottom attachments between the window and the surrounding frame. The Tribunal finds that the situation has stabilized since this repair was done, and the external force exerted on the top and bottom of the window has been removed.

There was a further issue that the window did not provide sufficient natural ventilation and was an Ontario Building Code Violation. The Tribunal finds that the Code permits ventilation to be provided by natural or mechanical means. Although the window did not provide the required amount of natural ventilation, there was evidence that the home had mechanical ventilation through exhaust fans and the furnace system combined with the normal infiltration of air. Mr. Larkin testified that this system was designed by a well known company, and installed according to the plans. There was no evidence that the mechanical ventilation system was inadequate. The Tribunal finds that the window does not need to meet the Code requirements for natural ventilation.

Cracked grout, tile chip and sound from kitchen tile

Mr. Pal did not make any observations of what was in place under the tile floor, however it is clear from the evidence of the Applicant, and the photographs that there was no blocking used as required by the Building Code. Mr. Ambling had testified that although this did not meet the Code requirements it was the standard in the industry. He did not testify that it was a problem that in his capacity as a Building Inspector he commonly required to be rectified although it was below Code. Strapping had been applied at the request of the Applicant. The Tribunal finds that there is no cracking of the tile. There is one hole in the tile at the bottom of the stairs, but that tile has not otherwise cracked. There is no evidence if the hole was caused by an impact, or a defect in the tile. One other tile produces a sound when stepped on a certain way, but the tile has not cracked, and there is no visible damage. The problem of cracking is specifically with a small area of grout and does not appear to have become worse. This is not consistent with a tile floor which is insufficiently stable, and there is evidence that it is consistent with normal shrinkage of materials. The claim was made concerning joist hangers in the Conciliation Request on March 30, 1998 and the warranty began to run September 10, 1997.

Outlets

The Tribunal finds that the electrical outlets were installed on the wooden studs in the party walls, and that the studs were staggered. Although the outlets were within the same stud space, they were not directly behind each other. No definition of "offset" is provided in the Ontario Building Code, and the ordinary meaning of the word must apply. The outlets are attached to studs which are not directly behind each other, and the outlet boxes are therefore to the side of each other. This is not the optimum installation as suggested in the published materials, but the Tribunal finds that there has been compliance with the Ontario Building Code.

Fire separation

The fire separation at the stair stringer in the Applicants' unit has been repaired, and Mrs. Reid's concern is that if it is not repaired at the adjoining neighbour's residence, she could be put at risk. The Tribunal accepts the evidence of Mrs. Reid that she observed the apparent lack of drywall on the neighbour's side, however there was credible evidence that it had been repaired as the neighbours withdrew their complaint and provided a letter confirming they were satisfied. Mr. Larkin testified that the fire rating from the middle of the party wall met or exceeded the Code requirements. The Tribunal finds that the Code requirement was met if the repair was made and is also met if the repair was made on the neighbour's side of the wall as there is a sufficient fire rating for the wall assembly even if the drywall is still not continuous.

Garage fire separation and sound transmission rating

The Tribunal finds that the Applicant's garage serves only one dwelling unit and is attached or built into the Applicant's unit. By article 9.10.9,16 (3) of the Ontario Building Code, it need not meet the fire separation rating of one hour from the Applicant's residence and must only meet the gas proofing requirement. The party wall with the neighbour's garage also consists of drywall and studs. There is evidence that insulation was installed as part of the construction process and no evidence that it was not installed. The wall as constructed would meet or exceed the one hour fire separation rating. The Applicant has not satisfied the onus to prove that there was a violation of the Ontario Building Code. There is found to be no requirement of sound proofing.

Sound transmission, party walls and electrical outlet boxes

There is no evidence of independent testing to prove whether the sound transmission rating required in the Ontario Building Code has been met. The only evidence is the evidence of the Applicant that there is too much noise coming through the wall, and she did not find acoustic caulking when she probed an area under a wall. The evidence is that the type of wall assembly used would have a rating of 57 with insulation being installed according to item 28 of the chart at 9.10.3.A of the Ontario Building Code. Item 2 of the Addendum states that acoustical sealant must be applied around electrical boxes and wall intersections if the rating of the assembly is over 50. There was no evidence of the reduction in the rating if acoustic caulking was not used, and the only evidence was the speculation of Mr. Larkin who said he did not think it would reduce it below the required 50 if the intersections were not sealed, but he was not sure. There was no proof that the rating would be under 50 as built, and the Applicant has not met the onus of proof.

Dustpans

There is evidence that there are small gaps at the sides of the dustpans. The dustpans were supplied by the Applicants, and installed by the builder. There are also visible screws on each side of the units. Evidence was given that a face plate is available to cover them, close the gaps, and cover the screws. The Tribunal finds that the units as supplied and installed were incomplete and finds that there is no defect in workmanship.

Separation of drywall tape and one nail pop

There is evidence of an area in a ceiling where there was separation of drywall tape, and a nail pop. The Applicant provided no evidence of what caused this aside from her opinion that there was a defect in workmanship. Evidence was by given by Mr. Chew and other witnesses that the wood in a home dries out for a period of time after construction, and this causes some movement in the structure. The Tribunal accepts the evidence that this takes place, and causes drywall separation and nail pops, and finds that this is not an issue of poor workmanship.

Headers in basement

There is evidence from Mr. Vigeon that during the fire separation inspection, Mr Bond required drywall to be placed in the wall behind the headers before he would pass the job. This area is now covered, and is not visible. The Applicant's best recollection is that it was not in place when she looked, but if it is in place it has been repaired. The evidence of whether the proper fire separation has been made is ambiguous, and the Tribunal can not find that it has not been installed or that it has been installed improperly, which is the onus resting on the Applicants.

Structural sufficiency of the beam over the porch

The Tribunal finds there is no evidence of a splice in the beam. There is evidence that the mark in the middle of the beam is consistent with a metal strap having been applied during transport, and the word grain, as shown in the photograph, appears to be continuous. There is conflicting evidence from Mr. Chew and Mr. Pal who did the calculations and came to different conclusions, and there is no evidence of any visible signs of failure. The Applicants have not satisfied the onus of proof regarding this aspect of their claim.

Joist hanger

There was evidence that one joist hanger was not cleanly finished. The evidence from Mr. Ambling is that it should be looked at. The Applicant said that it was improperly twisted around he beam. Mr. Fortune said that the finishing was not completed neatly, but that it was adequate. Applicants have not established that the workmanship was inadequate.

Fire stop at floor level

The issue of the fire stop at floor level is the same as the header area in the basement as any fire separation installed in the wall at the basement headers would act as a fire stop. There is evidence from Mr. Larkin that the floor joists act as a fire stop, and since the basement is not finished there is no cavity in which a fire could travel below the floor joists. The Applicants have not established this aspect of their claim.

Form tie

The Tribunal finds that the form tie was not removed as required by the Ontario Building Code, however it is located in an area behind the laundry tub, and was difficult to reach when an attempt was made to remove it. This is not one of the form ties on the front porch mentioned in the Request for Conciliation or the attached letter. The claim for this form tie was made within the 2 year limit for health and safety issues, but this form tie is not in a traveled portion of the basement, and does not constitute a hazard unless the laundry tubs are removed.

Gas proofing under garage door

The Tribunal finds that the area under the garage door is gas proofed with drywall compound, caulking or tape. There was evidence of some cracks in the drywall compound. Mr. Ambling stated that he thought it did seal adequately where the caulking met the sill, but there was no evidence whether this was a surface defect or whether there was penetration such that the seal had been compromised.

ISSUES:

The legal issues in these claims are;

1. Is there a breach of warranty resulting in damages due to a defect in workmanship, materials or a breach of the Ontario Building Code.
2. Has the Applicant filed the claim within the required time limits.
3. Has the Applicant met the onus of proof to show that the findings in the Decision Letters were in error.

.....

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

Bedroom window

The Tribunal has found that the problem of movement of the master bedroom window has been repaired, and the Applicant has failed to meet the onus of proof. On the issue of the insufficiency of the opening for natural ventilation, the Tribunal has found that sufficient mechanical ventilation is provided, and the Applicant's claim that the window is undersized is dismissed

Electrical outlets

The Tribunal has found that the installation of the electrical outlets is in compliance with the Ontario Building Code and there is, therefore, no breach of warranty.

Continuity of fire separation

The continuity of fire separation at the stair stringer has been repaired, and the Tribunal has found that the fire separation rating has been met. The Tribunal does not have jurisdiction to order repairs on the neighbour's side of the wall, however there is evidence that a repair has been done. The Applicant has not met the onus of proof and the claim is dismissed

Garage fire separation and sound rating

The Tribunal has found that the Applicant has failed to meet the onus of proof that there is a breach of the Ontario Building Code in relation to the garage fire separation and sound transmission. The claim is therefore dismissed.

Basement header

The Tribunal has found that it has not been proven that the required fire separation at the basement headers has not been installed. The Applicant has therefore failed to meet the onus and the claim is dismissed.

Party wall sound rating and electrical outlets

The Tribunal has found that the Applicant has not met the onus to prove that the sound transmission rating in the party walls including the electrical outlet boxes has not been met, and the claim is dismissed.

Cracked grout, hole in tile, and sound from tile

The Tribunal has found that the crack in the grout is consistent with shrinkage, and is not covered by warranty. There is no evidence that there is any visible damage at the tile which can produce a sound, and there is no evidence whether the small hole in the tile at the foot of the stairs was caused by a defect in materials or an impact. Therefore, there is no proof of damages as a result of a defect in workmanship or materials or a Building Code violation. The onus of proof has not been met, and the claim is dismissed.

Dustpans

The dust pans are part of the central vacuum system, and were installed as provided by the Applicant. A central vacuum system part does not form part of the floor and is not covered by the Ontario Building Code requirements for floors. The dustpans as installed are incomplete, and there is evidence that they are to be finished by a face plate rather than the application of caulking. The Applicant has not met the onus to prove that there is a breach of warranty.

Drywall tape separation and one nail pop

There is evidence that the ceiling drywall tape separation and one nail pop are consistent with shrinkage caused by the drying of materials. There was no evidence of a defect in workmanship or materials. Therefore, the Applicant has failed to meet the onus of proof, and the claim is dismissed.

Structural sufficiency of front porch beam

There is expert evidence that the beam is sufficient, and the Tribunal can not accept the opinion evidence of Mr. Chew as he was not qualified as an expert. If Mr. Chew had been found to be an expert and his opinion evidence was admissible, the Tribunal would then have conflicting credible evidence from two experts, but it would still find that the Applicant had not met the onus of proof. The onus not having been met, the claim is dismissed

Joist hanger

The Tribunal finds that there is no proof that the one joist hanger was not properly installed. Without proof of a defect in workmanship or materials or a Building Code violation, the onus of proof is not met, and the claim is dismissed.

Form tie

The form tie has been found by the Tribunal not to be a health or safety issue, and as the claim was not made within the required time, the claim is dismissed.

Fire stop at floor level

There is no evidence that a fire stop has not been provided at floor level. The onus of proof is not met and the claim is dismissed.

Gas proofing in garage

The Tribunal has found that there was no proof that the gasproofing in the garage had been compromised so that fumes could penetrate into the residence. The Applicant has therefore failed to satisfy the onus of proof, and the claim is dismissed.

DECISION:

Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in it under section 16(3) of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act, the Tribunal directs the Registrar of the Ontario New Home Warranty Program to disallow the claim.

Real Estate and Business Brokers Act

DATE OF
MOTION: October 10, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR RULING

BACKGROUND:

This is a motion by the Registrar of Real Estate and Business Brokers (the "Registrar") for an Order by the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") for a declaration that the Tribunal lacks jurisdiction to hear an appeal requested by Lori Anne Reid. Ms. Reid was served with the Motion Record and Affidavits but did not appear at the motion.

On June 15, 2000 the Registrar issued a Notice of Proposal to revoke the registration of the Ms. Reid as a salesperson under the Real Estate and Business Brokers Act (the "Act"). On July 6, 2000 Ms. Reid mailed a notice in writing under the Act to the Registrar and to the Tribunal, requesting a hearing before the Tribunal.

The Tribunal set the dates of October 13, 2000 for a pre-hearing and November 8 and 9, 2000 for a hearing under the Act.

The Registrar takes the position that Ms. Reid's registration under the Act expired on September 1, 2000 when she ceased to be a member of the Real Estate Council of Ontario ("RECO"). Ms. Reid ceased to be a member of RECO on September 1, 2000 when her membership terminated under RECO's By-Laws due to her failure to submit an insurance application and payment of an insurance premium on or before August 31, 2000. It is the Registrar's position that as a result of the expiration of Ms. Reid's registration, she has no status as a registrant under the Act and there is no valid registration under the Act before the Tribunal. The Registrar submits that as there is no valid registration, the Tribunal lacks jurisdiction to hold a hearing in this matter.

ISSUE:

The issue to be determined on this motion is whether this Tribunal has jurisdiction to hold the hearing requested by Ms. Reid under section 9 of the Act.

THE LAW:

The Act provides for the regulation of real estate brokers and salespersons, including: the registration of brokers and salespersons, the Registrar's authority to propose to revoke or to order suspension of such registration, and a right of appeal by way of a hearing before this Tribunal.

Section 6 of the Real Estate and Business Brokers Act provides:

6(1) An applicant is entitled to registration or renewal of registration by the Registrar except where,

- (a) having regard to the applicant's financial position, the applicant cannot reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of business; or
- (b) the past conduct of the applicant affords reasonable grounds for belief that the applicant will not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty; or
- (c) the applicant is a corporation and,
 - (i) having regard to its financial position, it cannot reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of its business, or
 - (ii) the past conduct of its officers or directors affords reasonable grounds for belief that its business will not be carried on in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty; or
- (d) the applicant is carrying on activities that are, or will be, if the applicant is registered, in contravention of this Act or the regulations.

(2) A registration is subject to such terms and conditions to give effect to the purposes of this Act as are consented to by the applicant, imposed by the Tribunal or prescribed by the regulations.

It is important to note that Applicants are entitled to registration subject only to the factors enumerated above.

Section 8 of the Real Estate and Business Brokers Act provides:

8(1) Subject to section 9, the Registrar may refuse to register an applicant where in the Registrar's opinion the applicant is disentitled to registration under section 6 or 7.

(2) Subject to section 9, the Registrar may refuse to renew or may suspend or revoke a registration for any reason that would disentitle the registrant to registration under section 6 or 7 if the registrant were an applicant or where the registrant is in breach of a term or condition of the registration.

Section 9 of the Real Estate and Business Brokers Act provides:

9(1) Where the Registrar proposes to refuse to grant or renew a registration or proposes to suspend or revoke a registration, the registrar shall serve notice of the proposal, together with written reasons thereof, on the applicant or registrant.

(2) A notice under subsection (1) shall state that the applicant or registrant is entitled to a hearing by the Tribunal if the applicant or registrant mails or delivers, within fifteen days after service of the notice under subsection (1), notice in writing requiring a hearing to the Registrar and the Tribunal.

(3) Where an applicant or registrant does not require a hearing by the Tribunal in accordance with subsection (2), the Registrar may carry out the proposal stated in the notice under subsection(1).

(4) Where an applicant or registrant requires a hearing by the Tribunal in accordance with subsection (2), the Tribunal shall appoint a time for and hold the hearing and, on the application of the Registrar at the hearing, may by order direct the Registrar to carry out the Registrar's proposal or refrain from carrying it out and to take such action as the Tribunal considers the Registrar ought to take in accordance with this Act and the regulations, and for such purposes the Tribunal may substitute its opinion for that of the Registrar.

Section 52 of the Act authorizes the making of regulations:

52. The Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations ,

(c).....

(d) governing applications for the registration or renewal of registration and prescribing terms and conditions of registration;

On January 1, 2000 Regulation 986 under the Act was amended by adding section 17.1. Relevant to this motion, section 17.1 provides that the registration of a registered broker or salesperson expires if the broker or salesperson ceases to be a member of Real Estate Council of Ontario.

17.1 (1) A person registered as a broker or salesperson shall become a member of the Real Estate Council of Ontario immediately after being registered if the person is not a member of the Council.

(2) The registration of a registered broker or salesperson described in subsection (1) expires if the person ceases to be a member of the Real Estate Council of Ontario.

In addition, section 46.1 of the Act provides that RECO may, with the prior approval of the Minister, pass by-laws to establish consumer protection programs.

46.1

(a) pass by-laws to establish consumer protection programs; and

(b) require that a person registered under this Act participate in any consumer protection program established under clause (a). 1988, c. 18, Schedule E, section 205.

Pursuant to section 46.1, RECO passed By-Law No. 12, section 5 which requires all members to participate in the Consumer Protection Program. In essence, this provision requires each member to purchase insurance.

By-Law No. 12 states:

Being the Consumer Protection Program By-law to Establish Compulsory Consumer Deposit Insurance
And Compulsory Errors and Omissions Insurance and Compulsory Commission Protection Insurance

Of the Real Estate Council of Ontario
(hereinafter referred to as the "Corporation")

5. Pursuant to Section 46.1 of REBBA, it is a requirement of the CPP for CDI, EOI and CPI that all persons registered under REBBA (which includes all Members, both voting and non voting, of the Corporation) must participate in the CPP for CDI, EOI and CPI such that the participation of all Members in the CPP for CDI, EOI and CPI is compulsory and obligatory. Participation in the CPP for CDI, EOI and CPI shall include, without limitation, the payment of any annual premium on or before its respective due date together with any applicable taxes, the completion and provision of any relevant forms, information or documentation as requested on or before their respective due dates, as the case may be, or compliance with the CPP. A Member who fails to participate in the CPP is subject to the provisions of the By-laws including the provisions of Section 16 of By-law No. 10.

Members who do not pay their insurance premiums on or before the specified due date are subject to section 16, By-law No. 10.

By-Law No. 10 states:

Membership by-law
Terms of Membership

16. Breaches of the following terms of membership in the Council shall result in the immediate termination of membership:

- (a) revocation of registration under REBBA;
- (b) the Member's registration under REBBA lapses or otherwise terminates;
- (c) failing to complete successfully the articling or other courses specified by the Registrar within the time specified by the Registrar;
- (d) failing to pay fees, dues or other amounts attributable to their being Members as required under the by-laws;
- (e) failing to comply with a direction or order of the Discipline Committee made under this by-law other than a probation order within the time provided by the direction or order or, if there is no such time provided, within three (3) months of the direction or order: or
- (f) failing to comply with any consumer protection programs established by the Council provided such consumer protection programs were or are in effect and they have been approved by the Members at a meeting of Members duly called for such purposes and approved by the Minister of Consumer and Commercial Relations, and any successor thereto or Minister responsible for the administration of REEBA or the SCSAA, as the case may be.

Sections 16(d) and (f) are relevant to this motion.

REGISTRAR'S SUBMISSIONS:

The Registrar's position, simply put, is that Ms. Reid failed to pay her insurance premiums by August 31, 2000 and therefore failed to comply with sections 16(d) and (f) of By-Law 10. As a result of Ms. Reid's non-compliance, her membership in RECO was terminated on September 1, 2000.

The Registrar states that pursuant to section 17.1(2) of Reg. 986, Ms. Reid's registration under the Act expired when her membership in RECO terminated.

It is submitted by the Registrar that Ms. Reid is neither a registrant nor an applicant under the Act and, consequently, she has no right of appeal nor does this Tribunal have jurisdiction to hear this matter.

The Tribunal was referred to two cases dealing with the issue of jurisdiction in similar licensing statutes. In Chadderton, 1997 O.C.R.A.T. No. 155, released November 18, 1997, the issue was whether the Tribunal had jurisdiction to hear an appeal of the applicant who had lost his registration under the Gaming Control Act. The legislation provided that when the employment of a gaming assistant terminates, the gaming assistant's registration terminates. This is subject to the proviso that registration is revived if the applicant finds a new casino employer within thirty days of termination. In Chadderton, the applicant's employment was terminated, and his registration was, consequently, terminated. He did not obtain employment with another casino within the time stipulated. The Tribunal concluded that it did not have jurisdiction to hear the appeal, stating at paragraph 35:

“..section 7 of the Act terms of registration are “ to give effect to the purposes of the Act”, and the Act provides that a gaming assistant is only to work through a registered casino. It is therefore consistent with the public protection purpose of the Act, that termination of a gaming assistant’s employment, voluntary or involuntary, results in termination of the gaming assistant’s registration.”

Chadderton, where loss of employment led to loss of registration, is clearly distinguishable from the facts in this case. In this case, the cause and effect sequence is reversed. There is no evidence that Ms. Reid lost her employment connection to a registered broker which led to loss of registration as a salesperson. On the contrary, the affidavit of Margaret James, filed by the Applicant shows that Ms. Reid was gainfully employed by a registered broker, McMath Realty Ltd., until her loss of membership in RECO on September 1, 2000 and, in the opinion of the Registrar, termination of her registration.

In Blencowe (1980), 8 C.R.A.T. 1, the Tribunal found that a registration had expired under the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act because the Applicant had not transferred his registration within a curative period of 60 days. Consequently, the Tribunal found the Notice of Proposal to revoke the applicant’s registration was no longer valid and that the Tribunal had no authority under the Act to direct the Registrar to take any action with regard to that invalid registration. Ms. Reid finds herself in a very different situation to that faced by the applicant in Blencowe. In the Blencowe case, there was a curative provision to maintain registration under Regulation 98/71 pursuant to the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act, which Mr. Blencowe did not utilize. Section 13(9) of Regulation 98/71 provided:

“Where a salesman has not applied for a transfer of registration within sixty days of termination of his employment, and where he intends to continue as a salesperson, he shall apply for registration by filing an application in Form 2 together with the prescribed fee.”

A similar curative provision was also available in Chadderton where the applicant had thirty days in which to find employment with a new casino employer. In contrast, section 17.1(2) of Reg. 986 provides no “grace” period in which Ms. Reid might, if she so chooses, remedy or correct her non-compliance. As well, section 16 of By-Law 10 states that a breach shall result in the “immediate termination of membership.” Counsel for the Registrar argues that Ms. Reid is not prejudiced because she may make a fresh application for registration to the Registrar. According to the Registrar, such application would be subject to a two year waiting period from the date of termination pursuant to section 14(4) of Reg. 986, which states:

Section 14(4) Where a person who applies for registration has previously been registered and has surrendered his or her registration or has had it terminated, if more than two years have elapsed since such surrender or termination, the person shall not be registered before completing the course or courses of study approved by the Registrar and passing the written examination or examinations approved by the Registrar.

It is the Tribunal's view that this is an incorrect interpretation and application of section 14(4). Clearly, this provision applies only to individuals who have not been registered under the Act for more than two years and it has no relevance to Ms. Reid's situation. In any event, the presence of a curative provision in Blencowe and its absence in this case distinguishes the Blencowe decision from the matter at hand.

ANALYSIS:

The import of the Applicant's position is that section 17.1(2) of Reg. 986 and By-Laws 10 and 12 give RECO a broad discretion to deal with membership and registration of brokers and salespersons under the Act. It is the view of this Tribunal that this subordinate legislation is beyond the scope of the empowering sections of the Act.

The authority to make subordinate legislation must be exercised within the scope of the powers conferred by the empowering legislation; otherwise its validity may be questioned in proceedings directly challenging the legislation in issue or collaterally in proceedings which depend upon the validity of that legislation: R. v. Beaver Creek Correctional Camp, Ex parte McCaud, (1969) 1 O.R. 373 (C.A.); Martineau v Matsqui Institution (1977) 33 CCC (2d) 366 (SCC).

Section 52(d) of the Act states that regulations may be made prescribing "terms and conditions of registration." Section 46.1 of the Act provides that RECO may establish consumer protection programs and require that a "person registered under this Act participate in any consumer protection program." There is no authority given to make regulations which would have the effect of terminating a registration. This power is strictly reserved to the Registrar under sections 6 and 8 of the Act and to the Tribunal in the case where a hearing is held under section 9 of the Act. Sections 52(d) and 46.1 must be read subject to the duties and powers of the Registrar to grant, renew, suspend or revoke registration under sections 6 and 8 of the Act.

Section 2(2) of the Act states:

2(2) The Registrar may exercise the powers and shall discharge the duties conferred and imposed upon him or her by this Act and the regulations under the supervision of the Director.(emphasis added)

The principles of procedural fairness are codified in section 9 of the Act. The duties that shall be discharged by the Registrar include the requirement to give notice of a Proposal to refuse or revoke registration and the requirement to provide written reasons in support of the Proposal (section 9(1)). The powers and duties of the Registrar cannot be delegated. There is nothing in the Act, either express or implied, authorizing the Registrar to delegate his duties.

Further, the only grounds that the Registrar may consider in refusing or terminating a registration are clearly delineated in section 6 of the Act.

Section 9(4) of the Act imposes a duty on the Tribunal to hold a hearing at the request of an applicant or registrant. The Tribunal may direct the Registrar to carry out the Registrar's Proposal or refrain from carrying it out. The Tribunal may also substitute its opinion for that of the Registrar.

In this case, the Registrar relies on section 17.1(2) and the By-Laws to terminate the membership and registration of Ms. Reid without any regard to the procedural safeguards mandated by the empowering statute. Subordinate legislation which narrows the scope, or in this case ignores statutory substantive and procedural rights has been found by the courts to be invalid, see Langlois v Quebec (Minister of Justice) (1984), 7 Admin. L.R. 279 (SCC). It is well settled law that very clear language is expected in the Act if a person's basic right to appeal is affected. In Homex Realty & Development Co. Ltd. v Village of Wyoming (1980) 116 DLR (3d) 1 SCC, Dickson J., as he then was, stated :

The "fundamental rule", formulated by Lord Denning M.R. in Selvarajan v. Race Relations Board (1976) 1 All E.R. 12 (C.A.), and quoted by the Chief Justice in Nicholson applies:

..that, if a person may be subjected to pains or penalties, or be exposed to prosecution or proceedings, or deprived of remedies or redress, or in some way adversely affected by the investigation and report, then he should be told the case made against him and be afforded a fair opportunity of answering it".

And also:

..the presence of a compelling public interest does not alone abrogate or diminish a citizen's right to procedural protection...The public interest, it seems to me, is best served by affording the private interest full disclosure and a fair opportunity to be heard".

Quite apart from the breach of procedural fairness in this case, section 17.1(2), Reg. 986 purports to create an additional ground for termination of registration; namely, non-membership in RECO. Secondly, section 17.1(2) purports to delegate to RECO the authority to terminate registration. As stated above, this delegation is not authorized by the statute.

This Tribunal is mindful of its own ability to determine questions of law and in particular, the validity of subordinate legislation. Section 3 of the Licence Appeal Tribunal Act, 1999 states:

3(1) the Tribunal shall hold the hearings and perform other duties that are assigned to it by or under any other Act or regulation.

(2) Except as limited by this Act, the Tribunal has all the powers that are necessary or expedient for carrying out its duties.

Section 9(4) of the Real Estate and Business Brokers Act provides that the Tribunal "may substitute its opinion for that of the Registrar."

The issue of whether an administrative tribunal has the power to interpret law was considered by the Supreme Court of Canada in Tetreault-Gadoury v Canada (Employment and Immigration Commission) (1991) 81 DLR (4th) 358. Speaking for the court, La Forest J. held at page 364:

..the power to interpret law is not one which the legislature has conferred lightly upon administrative tribunals, and with good reason. Although curial deference will not be extended to an administrative tribunal's holding on a Charter issue, such deference is generally applied to the interpretation of a statute within the tribunal's area of expertise, when the tribunal has been given the power to interpret law."

In the companion appeal, Cuddy Chicks v Ontario (Labour Relations Board) (1991) 81 DLR (4th) 121, La Forest J. held at page 130:

...a formal declaration of invalidity is not a remedy which is available to the board. Instead, the board simply treats any impugned provision as invalid for the purposes of the matter before it."

It is the view of this Tribunal that section 3(2) of the Licence Appeal Tribunal Act and section 9(4) of the Real Estate and Business Brokers Act authorize implicitly, if not expressly, the ability to treat section 17.1(2) of Reg. 986 as invalid for the purposes of this proceeding.

RULING:

For the above reasons, it is the opinion of this Tribunal that the termination of Ms. Reid's registration pursuant to section 17.1(2) of Regulation 986 and By-Law No. 10 is invalid. Accordingly, this Tribunal finds that it has jurisdiction to proceed with the hearing in this matter on November 8 and 9, 2000.

DECISION RELEASED: October 27, 2000 Peterborough

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on October 19, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to Section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to Section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner:	Judith Davidson (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle:	1989 Plymouth Voyager, plate # 393 NHN (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal:	September 22, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the vehicle owner exercised due diligence (i.e. all reasonable efforts) to determine that the driver's licence was not suspended and the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on October 19, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

There were no preliminary matters.

The hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension?

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

- * The vehicle was loaned to my son (Kevin Davidson) and Wendy Philp so Wendy could get to and from work primarily. I need the vehicle returned to me ASAP.
- * I have enclosed a copy of the vehicle ownership as evidence that I own the vehicle.

At the hearing the Applicant, opted to make a statement instead of proffering evidence under oath.

The Applicant stated that the vehicle in question belongs to her, but had been given to "...Wendy Phillips ...son's fiancée, so she could get to work ...she needs the vehicle to get to work ...so far we all have been trying to help her get to work."

The Applicant further states that at the time her son, Kevin, had his own car and was working. The Applicant was not aware until this hearing that her son did not have a valid driver's license.

According to the Applicant, on the day in question she did nothing to ensure that the driver of the vehicle had a valid driver's license.

The Applicant is able to driver her boyfriend's car and has incurred no economic losses from the impoundment of the vehicle in question. She is appealing on behalf of Wendy Phillips, who has a son, and is incurring a loss by the impoundment of the vehicle. The Applicant agreed that the loss incurred by Wendy is a result of her son's actions, and will not result in permanent loss.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Kevin Davidson;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;

4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of impaired driving under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until October 7, 2000.

The Respondent offered no viva voce evidence at the hearing choosing to stand on the information provided.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

- (1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Board.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Board may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsections 50.2(3)(c) and (d).

With respect to an appeal under subsection 50.2(3)(c) alleging that the owner exercised due diligence prior to releasing the vehicle to the driver, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary provides the definition of "due diligence" as follows:

Due: A. adj. 1. That is owing or payable, as a debt. 2. Belonging or falling to by right. 3. That ought to be giving or rendered; merited. 4. Such as ought to be; fitting; proper; rightful. 5. Such as is requisite or necessary; adequate. 6. To be ascribed or attributed; owing to, caused by, in consequence of. 7. Under engagement or contract to be ready or arrive (at a defined time).

Diligence: 1. The quality of being diligent; industry, assiduity. 2. Speed, dispatch. 3. Careful attention, heedfulness, caution. 4. Law. The attention and care due from a person in a given situation....

Also, "due diligence" in Black's Law Dictionary (sixth edition) at page 457 is as follows:

Due diligence: Such a measure of prudence, activity, or assiduity, as is properly to be expected from, and ordinarily exercised by, a reasonable and prudent man under the particular circumstances; not measured by any absolute standard, but depending on the relative facts of the special case.

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines "exceptional hardship" as follows:

Exceptional: Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

- (h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Board in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22
- (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety or any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
 - (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
 - (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
 - (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The onus is on the Appellant to establish due diligence and exceptional hardship ground of appeal as provided in subsection 50.2(3)(c) and 50.2(3)(b) and (d) of the Act, respectively.

The Tribunal will address the matter of due diligence first. Sect. 50.2 (3) (c) requires:

“that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's license of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension.”

The Respondent contends that the Applicant did not exercise due diligence as she did not ask to see her son's driver's license on the occasion in question. The Tribunal concurs. In order to exercise proper due diligence the owner of a motor vehicle must physically see the driver's license of the prospect driver immediately prior to allowing the car to be driven the individual. The Applicant, made no efforts to check that the driver of the vehicle had a valid driver's license. In fact the Applicant admitted, at the hearing, that she was not aware that the driver of the vehicle, at the time of impoundment, did not have a valid driver's license.

The Applicant stated that she had no expectation that her son would be driving the vehicle as the vehicle was given to the care of Wendy Phillips. Nonetheless, it is the Applicant's responsibility, under the law, to ensure that the vehicle is not driven by a person or persons other than the one the vehicle was given to.

The Tribunal is not satisfied that the criteria for due diligence as set out in Section 50.2(3)(c) was met.

With respect to undue hardship as per subsection 50.2(3)(d) of the Act, the Tribunal will proceed to review the criteria required to meet the onus for consideration of financial loss.

Is there no alternative to the impounded vehicle?

Subsection 22(3)(a) Regulation 574 as amended by O. Reg. 632/98 provided that this Tribunal may not consider financial or economic loss as a ground of appeal unless no alternative to the impounded vehicle is available.

The Appellant stated that she has an alternate method of transportation, in that she is able to get about by using her boyfriend's car. As for the person directly affected by the loss, Wendy Phillips, the Applicant confirmed that “...so far we all have been trying to help her get to work.”

Is the loss immediate, significant and lasting?

The Appellant does not meet the criteria of O. Reg. 632/98, Subsection 22(3)(b) which provides that the Tribunal may not regard economic loss unless the Appellant shows proof that loss will be immediate, significant and lasting.

By her own admission the Applicant incurred no loss of income or extra expenses which could be considered hardship. Were the Tribunal to recognize the loss incurred by the individual affected by the loss of the vehicle, Wendy Phillips, said losses are not lasting, according to the Applicant.

Is the loss upon a person ordinarily transported in the motor vehicle?

The evidence indicates that the impact of the loss will be borne by a person regularly transported in the impounded vehicle. Nonetheless the loss is not significant or permanent. Therefore, the requirements under O. Reg. 632/98, Subsection 22(3)(c) are not met.

Is the loss upon a person other than the driver of the motor vehicle and not a result of that driver's loss?

O. Reg. 632/98, Subsection 22(3)(d)(i)(ii), amending Regulation 574 provides that this Tribunal may not consider economic loss unless the owner demonstrates that:

d) the impact of the loss,

i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle and...

ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause 2(b)(c) or (d).

As previously stated the individual affected by the impoundment, has an alternative method of transportation, and has incurred no permanent loss.

After assessing the evidence presented, the Tribunal finds that the Appellant suffered no hardship.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

DATE OF HEARING: October 20, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: October 27, 2000 Cobourg

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on October 20, 2000, at Cobourg, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO SET ASIDE the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the “Registrar”), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: Jenny Barre (the “Applicant”)
Motor Vehicle: 1989 Honda DXC, plate #AANK 265 (the “vehicle”)
Date of Appeal: September 27, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the “Tribunal”) together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on October 20, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

The Applicant submitted an itemized time line of events since the impoundment, as well as copies of bills, and statements of income and expenses.

The Respondent offered no objection to the Applicant’s package being entered as an exhibit.

There were no other preliminary matters and the hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant’s request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant’s appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar’s order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant’s evidence follows.

Applicant’s written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

This is in regards to my vehicle being impounded on Sept. 13/00. I feel I need to appeal this decision for many reasons. Though it was not the wisest decision we have made for Derek to have driven my car, that is something he and I regret very much. We are dealing with the many consequences as we speak. A few days after the impoundment my other vehicle broke down on the 401. (I have documentation from a mechanic as well as a witness along with this letter). The outcome is a replacement of an engine. We do not have the funds and we also have a mortgage we have been struggling with to maintain to keep up to date. Derek, who is the provider in our family, to barely keep us a float had a job in Toronto. It was well paying (Electrical-Union) but since this incident he was told to quit due to an unreliable way up to work. His employer also agreed it was what he had to do at this time. There is no income coming in from him. Our only hope is unemployment insurance to assist us getting back on track. We all know how difficult it is to prove our situation when you quit a job. We have two small children, one starting school the other is 8 months old. It has been extremely difficult being the only one working at this time. I only have relief part time work and to get two kids off to daycare (other side of town) or enough to do my (more) hours is extremely difficult. It is also so much work to get to my job. I do not want to lose everything we are trying to work towards. We've made a big mistake and we just want to make it right. I really need my car back, and I can promise you there will not be a repeat of this situation. We want out of this mess and we understand how serious our stupid mistake was. We are adjusting our needs to finding solutions for Derek to get to jobs.

You can trust my word as I do not have a record and would just like to get pass this. Our money is extremely tight and getting my car out as soon as possible we would probably be able to make a payment. I would hate to think what happens if 45 days are up as I do not have this money to get my car back.

This is an embarrassing part of my life that I just want to get through, I am hoping you can hear my appeal and forgive our wrongful doing. I need my job, I need my car and will do anything to make it right and get it back as soon as possible.

If possible I would appreciate a telephone conference or a written hearing due to the difficulty of getting to a hearing. But if it all helps my situation to get my car back as soon as possible I will have to do what I need to do.

Thank-you for hearing my situation I will appreciate your reply.

A handwritten note signed by George Jacobson confirms Applicant's second vehicle "...stalled on the 401 ...price of engine alone is $850.00 ...does not include installation" (Exhibit # 5)

A Record of Employment for Derek Matthews shows 'First Day Worked 09 02 2000 Last Day Worked 16 09 2000...'Comments': This person have no driver's license so he can't drive to work" (Exhibit # 5)

At the hearing the Applicant opted to make a statement. The Applicant made it clear that she understands the law, nonetheless feels that her situation warrants special consideration.

The Applicant is a social worker with two part-time jobs, one in Port Hope where she can walk to, the other in Colburn. The Applicant has made an effort to get to the shifts scheduled ahead of time. Over and above the regular shifts, the Applicant is on call. The Applicant stated that she has had to give up several calls, as she had no way of getting the children to day care and get to work.

Taking a cab would be counter productive as the income would not warrant the expense.

The Applicant had an opportunity to obtain full time employment but the position required the use of a motor vehicle for the job, thus the Applicant was not hired.

Due to her husband's loss of his job, the family does not have extra health coverage. One of the children has been diagnosed with asthma and the Applicant is afraid of the extra prescription costs that will be coming up.

The Applicant described that meeting her mortgage payments has been a difficulty; one payment has already been missed. The Applicant further expressed a concern of not having the funds required to obtain the release of the vehicle after the impoundment period expires.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Derek Mathews;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of impaired driving under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until January 21, 2001.

The Respondent offered no viva voce evidence at the hearing choosing to stand on the information provided.

In closing the Respondent re-iterated sect 22 of the Act.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

(1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines "exceptional hardship" as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

(h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22
- (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety of any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
 - (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
 - (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).

- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The onus is on the Appellant to establish the exceptional hardship ground of appeal as provided in subsection 50.2 of the Act.

Subsection 22 (2) Regulation 574 as amended by O. Reg. 632/98 provides that for the purposes of considering hardship, inconvenience, financial loss, loss of employment or opportunity for employment cannot be considered, unless there is no alternative vehicle and the economic loss is immediate, significant and long lasting, impact of loss is on person other than suspended driver.

The Tribunal will address each point separately.

Is there no alternative to the impounded vehicle?

A priori, given that public transportation as well as taxis are available, and that the Applicant owns a second vehicle, it would appear that the answer is yes. This Tribunal would remiss if other facts were ignored. While it is an accurate statement that the Applicant owns a second vehicle, there is evidence that this vehicle is currently in need of repair. A note from the Applicant's mechanic reveals that the cost of repairs would be over $850.00 plus "installation". The Applicant has stated she is in financial straits and unable to afford this amount. Thus, at the time of hearing the Applicant's second vehicle could not be considered as alternative method of transportation.

The Applicant is on call and must respond within a certain time. Public transportation is not always practical, as the Applicant has two children, which in most instances are required to be taken to day care when the Applicant has to work. As for taxis, such an expense would aggravate the Applicant's present financial position, and should not be considered as an alternative.

Subsection 22(3)(a) Regulation 574 as amended by O. Reg. 632/98 provides that this Tribunal may not consider financial or economic loss as a ground of appeal unless no alternative to the impounded vehicle is available. The Tribunal finds that there is no alternative vehicle to replace the impounded vehicle.

Is the loss immediate, significant and lasting?

This Tribunal further finds that the Appellant meets the criteria of O. Reg. 632/98, Subsection 22(3)(b) which provides that economic loss may be regarded if the loss is immediate, significant and lasting.

The Applicant has lost an opportunity for a full time position, which required the use of a motor vehicle for work. Such a loss definitely appears to be significant and long lasting. The Tribunal considered the fact that the Applicant has had to refuse extra shifts, as she was not able to take her children to day care and get to work. The loss of income is immediate and its effects cumulative and long lasting.

With respect to retrieving the motor vehicle from the pound, the Applicant has stated that the longer the vehicle is impounded the higher the cost of release. Given the Applicant's current financial situation, it is likely, as she suggested, that the vehicle would have to stay at the pound for a period of time after the expiration of the impoundment period. The extra costs incurred by the extension of the impoundment as well as the continued loss of the use of the vehicle would certainly be punishment over and above that intended by law.

The Applicant satisfied the Tribunal that she has in fact incurred a loss of income and extra expenses which could be considered hardship.

Is the loss upon a person ordinarily transported in the motor vehicle?

The evidence indicates that the impact of the loss will be borne by the owner of the vehicle who is the person who may be transported in the impounded vehicle, not the driver. Therefore, the requirements under O. Reg. 632/98, Subsection 22(3)(c) are met.

Is the loss upon a person other than the driver of the motor vehicle and not a result of that driver's loss?

O. Reg. 632/98, Subsection 22(3)(d)(i)(ii), amending Regulation 574, provides that this Tribunal may not consider economic loss unless the owner demonstrates that:

d) the impact of the loss,

i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle and...

ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause 2(b)(c) or (d).

The Applicant meets the requirements of Subsection 22(3)(d)(i) as the loss of the impounded vehicle is upon a person other than the suspended driver. As the clause is cumulative that Applicant is also required to meet the requirements of 22(3)(d)(i)(ii). There is no doubt that the economic losses incurred by the Applicant are not "...a result of a loss by the suspended driver...". At this point in time the Applicant is the sole provider, the loss of the motor vehicle affects her earning capacity.

After assessing the evidence presented, the Tribunal finds the Applicant has met all the criteria of Subsection 22(3) and that the Appellant suffered extenuating hardship.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal sets aside the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

DATE OF
HEARING: September 27, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal from a written decision of the Ontario New Home Warranty Program (the "Program") dated April 25, 2000 wherein the Applicant's claim was denied by the Program.

Pursuant to an Agreement of Purchase and Sale (the "Agreement"), Vebi Collaku (the "Applicant") bought a new home to be built on Lot 161, Plan 43 M1278, in Mississauga, Ontario from a vendor/builder Zancor Homes Ltd.- Westglen Village 2 (the "builder"). The purchase price of the home was $255,690.00. The Applicant took possession on January 28, 1999.

The said Agreement (Exhibit 3, Tab 1) includes several Schedules. Schedule "A"-1 Standard Features provides that the builder agrees to include several Exterior Features including: "wood sectional roll-up garage doors" and "precast concrete steps as required." In addition, Interior Features include "oak railings, with white painted spindle and natural oak handrail" and "35 oz. Broadloom with underpad in all bedrooms, living, dining, hallway and stairs."

Schedule "A"-3 provides that oak stairs would be included at an extra cost of $2200.00.

Schedule "Y" provides that:

Purchaser acknowledges that Lot 161 (Windsor Model) will be used by the builder as a temporary sales office. Additional upgraded items will be installed in this home at no extra charge to the Purchaser as compensation. The home will come with its full warranty as stated in the Agreement of Purchase and Sale. The Purchaser agrees with the above by signing this Schedule today.

Prior to the Applicant taking possession, the builder used the garage area of the house as a temporary sales office. The space was drywalled, insulated and painted. Electrical fixtures, heating ducts and carpeting were installed. A set of stairs with a railing was built from the garage to the main dwelling through a seven foot archway. The exterior wall facing the driveway was blocked off with wood on one side and double French doors on the other side.

After taking possession, the Applicant made numerous complaints to the builder. These complaints were not resolved and a conciliation inspection by the Program was requested, arranged and held at the Applicant's home on March 10, 2000. The Program issued its conciliation inspection report stating that it did not consider the complaints to be covered under warranty. On March 29, 2000, a re-inspection was arranged with another warranty representative from the Program. The re-inspection report confirmed the opinion set out in the conciliation report.

Following the conciliation report and re-inspection report, the Program issued its decision letter of April 25, 2000 denying all of the Applicant's complaints.

The Applicant restricts his appeal to the denial of four complaints which are set out in the decision letter as follows:

1.Claim: Stairs not oak as was paid for – all levels – Builder paid for oak stairs but not installed.

Reason: As there are no defects in materials or workmanship, and no violations of the Ontario Building Code, this item is not warranted as per section 13(1)(a)(i)(iii) of the Act.

5. Claim: Entrance stairs – front and rear entrance – stairs unstable and unsafe.

Reason: As there are no defects in materials or workmanship, and no violations of the Ontario Building Code, this item is not warranted. The builder agrees to check the steps in the spring once the frost is out of the ground and make any necessary adjustments at that time. This was confirmed by as completed at the re-inspection dated March 29,2000.

6.Claim: Garage Doors – Garage – Garage doors not installed.

Reason: As there are no defects in materials or workmanship, and no violations of the Ontario Building Code, this item is not warranted as per section 13 (1)(a)(i)(iii) of the Act.

9. Claim: New item at the time of inspection: Hardwood floor is lower than the ceramic tile floor in the front entrance, kitchen and bathroom.

Reason: As there are no defects in materials or workmanship, and no violations of the Ontario Building Code, this item is not warranted as per section 13(1)(a)(i)(iii) and 13(4) of the Act.

THE ISSUES:

The issues to be decided in this matter are:

- 1) Do the claims made by the Applicant qualify as a warranty within the meaning of section 13(1) of the Act?
- 2) Does the Applicant have a cause of action against the builder for damages resulting from a breach of warranty in terms of section 14(1)(b) of the Act?
- 3) If the Applicant is entitled to damages, what is the quantum of such damages?

THE LAW:

Section 13(1) of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act states:

13(1) Every vendor of a home warrants to the owner,

(a) that the home,

(i) is constructed in a workmanlike manner and is free from defects in material,

(i) is fit for habitation, and

(ii) is constructed in accordance with the Ontario Building Code;

(b) that the home is free of major structural defects as defined by the regulations; and

(c) such other warranties as are prescribed by the regulations.

Section 14(1) of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act states:

14(1) Where,

.....

(b) an owner has a cause of action against a vendor for damages resulting from a breach of warranty; or the person of owner is entitled to be paid out of the guarantee fund the amount of such damage subject to such limits as are fixed by the regulations.

THE EVIDENCE:

Testimony of the Applicant

The Applicant testified on his own behalf. He did not call any other witnesses. It should be noted that the Applicant gave his evidence through an Albanian interpreter. The Applicant is able to understand some English but cannot read English. The Tribunal is satisfied that the Applicant was able to understand these proceedings with the assistance of an interpreter.

Claim: Stairs not Oak

The Applicant stated that Schedule "A"-3 of the Agreement provides for oak stairs. In consideration for this upgrade, the Applicant paid an additional amount of $2200.00. His complaint is that the builder did not install oak stairs as was bargained for; rather, oak veneer stairs were installed. The Applicant claims that the treads, risers and stringers are made from pieces of wood glued on top of the stairs. In cross-examination, the Applicant was asked whether he agreed that the industry standard regarding oak stairs was to use solid oak treads with oak veneer riser and stringers. The Applicant responded that he agreed with this standard but felt that as he had paid extra money, the standard should be changed.

Claim: Entrance Stairs

With respect to the issue of the front entrance steps, the Applicant stated that the builder should have constructed "permanent" steps at the front entrance of the house. He complains that the steps that were installed are unsafe and unstable. He also stated that the steps looked temporary and move when stepped on. The Applicant testified that he tried to fix the steps himself many times without success. He eventually removed the concrete steps in June, 2000.

In cross-examination, the Applicant agreed that Schedule "A"-1 to the Agreement provided for "precast concrete steps, as required." He also agreed that when the warranty representatives came to inspect the steps on March 10, 2000 and March 29, 2000, the steps did not move.

Claim: Garage Doors

With respect to the issue of the garage, the Applicant complains that the builder failed to install garage doors as per the Agreement. However, the Applicant did not complain about the missing garage doors at the time of the Pre-Delivery Inspection on January 26, 1999. The Pre-Delivery Inspection report dated January 26, 1999 (Exhibit 3, Tab 6) which is signed by the Applicant, states:

"Garage Overhead Doors – OK"

The Applicant states that while he did not complain about the missing garage doors on January 26, 1999, he did call his lawyer who, in turn, contacted the builder.

In cross-examination, the Applicant denied that he made a request in October, 1998 to the builder to leave the garage "as is" (this would be three months prior to taking possession). He also said that he had no knowledge of an application for a Building Permit to allow conversion of the garage (Exhibit 3, Tab 2). Finally, the Applicant denied the suggestion put to him that he told the salesperson that he intended to live in the converted garage space and that his son and his family would live in the main part of the house.

The Applicant admitted that the converted garage is furnished and is currently being used by all members of the family as a recreation or family room.

Claim: Hardwood floor lower than ceramic floor

The Applicant's fourth complaint is that the floors in the house are not level between the hardwood flooring and the ceramic tile. Specifically, he stated that the hardwood floor is $\frac{3}{4}$ inch lower than the ceramic tile floor at entrances to the kitchen, ground floor washroom and front hallway.

In cross-examination, the Applicant agreed that the actual difference between the floors is $\frac{1}{2}$ inch or less. The builder installed a quarter round between the wood floor and ceramic tile floor which the Applicant states makes it difficult to clean because it traps the dirt. The Applicant stated that the builder's offer to replace the quarter round with an oak transition strip is unacceptable to him. The Applicant insists that all of the floors in the house should be level.

Testimony on behalf of the Program

Roger Hicks testified on behalf of the Program and stated he has been a warranty representative for the Program since May 1999. Prior to that, he was employed as a building inspector and construction manager. He has inspected thousands of buildings during his over twenty year career in the construction industry.

Mr. Hicks attended the conciliation inspection on March 10, 1999 with the Applicant and a representative from the builder, Vito Fera. He authored the conciliation report and the decision letter dated April 25, 2000.

Claim: Stairs not Oak

As to the oak stairs, Mr. Hicks stated that the treads or steps are solid oak and the risers are oak veneer. He could not recall whether the stringers were solid oak or veneer. Mr. Hicks testified that a standard oak staircase could be all solid oak or a combination of oak and veneer; however, a solid oak staircase would usually only be constructed in a custom home with specifications in the agreement of purchase and sale. In a production home, such as that purchased by the Applicant, it is industry standard in Ontario to install oak treads with veneer risers and stringers.

Claim: Entrance Stairs

Mr. Hicks stated that the front entrance stairs were precast concrete steps. He testified that he stood on the steps and attempted to rock them, but they were stable and did not move. Mr. Hicks could not detect any defects in workmanship nor did he believe that the steps constituted a safety hazard. Nonetheless, he recalls that Mr. Fera stated at the conciliation meeting that he would return once the frost was out of the ground to ensure that the steps were level.

Claim: Garage Doors

Mr. Hicks described in detail the interior and exterior finishings to the garage. The space is totally finished with drywall, paint, baseboards and trim, electrical outlets, heating ducts, light fixtures and carpeting. He observed that the area was furnished with a couch, chairs, area rug and television. A set of stairs with a handrail and pickets lead from the garage to the main house through a finished archway.

Mr. Hicks stated that when he attended for the conciliation on March 10, 1999, he met with the Applicant and Mr. Fera in the garage/family room area. Also in attendance at that meeting was the Applicant's adult son. Mr. Hicks recalled that Mr. Fera had a discussion with the son to confirm that the Applicant had requested that the garage be left as it is. The son confirmed that this request had been made. Thereafter a disagreement occurred between the Applicant and the son, but Mr. Hicks has no knowledge of what was said by the Applicant.

On reviewing the file in preparation for the conciliation, Mr. Hicks stated that he noted the Building Permit dated January 28, 1999 (Exhibit 3, Tab 2) provides for a revised use of the garage space.

Claim: Hardwood floor lower than ceramic floor

With respect to complaints about the uneven floors, Mr. Hicks testified that it is not uncommon for there to be a discrepancy between different flooring materials. He stated that in his opinion, this was neither a defect in workmanship nor a violation of the Ontario Building Code.

Richard Johnston also gave evidence on behalf of the Program. Mr. Johnston conducted the re-inspection of the home on March 29, 2000.

Claim: Stairs not Oak

He confirmed Mr. Hick's evidence that the oak stairs that were installed represented an upgrade from the standard feature stairs which are typically made from pine, spruce or paper veneer. He stated that the standard in the industry is to use solid oak treads with oak veneer stringers and risers.

Claim: Entrance Stairs

Mr. Johnston stated that he did not address the issue of the front entrance steps in his report because the Applicant indicated to him at the time of the March 29 meeting that this issue had been resolved to his satisfaction.

Claim: Garage Doors

With respect to the garage, Mr. Johnston concluded that the garage doors were not warrantable for the following reasons: first, he stated that it was highly unlikely that a builder would, on his own initiative, go to the time and expense of applying for a permit without the authorization of the homeowner and second, the space could not be used as a garage without revisions to the entrance between the garage and the main house. Mr. Johnston explained that the existing archway would have to be replaced by a sealed door to comply with Ontario Building Code requirements for gas proofing.

Claim: Hardwood floor lower than ceramic floor

Mr. Johnston also confirmed the evidence of Mr. Hicks on the issue of the ½ inch height discrepancy between the floors. He stated that a ½ inch discrepancy is consistent with the requirement of the Ontario Building Code and does not present any safety issue.

Testimony by the Builder

Vito Fera, a manager employed by the builder, also testified at the hearing. Mr. Fera is trained as an architectural contractor and has worked in the construction industry for twenty six years. At present, he manages three companies, including Zancor Homes Ltd. – Westglen Village 2. He is responsible for product development, delivery and after sales service. Mr. Fera was also responsible for the after sales service to the Applicant's home.

Claim: Stairs not Oak

Mr. Fera's evidence with respect to the oak stairs and the prevailing industry standard echoed that of the Program's witnesses. Schedule "A"-1 to the Agreement provides for "oak railings, with white painted spindles and natural oak handrail" with broadloom on the stairs. The Applicant chose to upgrade the stairs to oak as per Schedule "A"-3. Oak stairs as defined by standards in the industry means solid oak treads, oak veneer risers and stringers.

Claim: Entrance Stairs

Mr. Fera stated that 24 by 30 inch precast concrete steps were used at the front and rear entrance of the Applicant's home abutting the foundation wall. He stated that the Applicant may have experienced settlement of the concrete steps near the foundation wall which can create instability or rocking. However, Mr. Fera stated that at the time of the inspections, there was nothing wrong with the steps, and it was his observation that the steps were level and stable. Accordingly, no action was taken. Mr. Fera added that the Applicant has since replaced the steps with interlocking brick using no foundation material.

Claim: Garage Doors

With respect to the garage, Mr. Fera testified that in consideration for the Applicant allowing the builder to use Lot 161 and specifically, the garage area as a sales office, the Applicant received approximately $8000 in upgrades which are detailed in a letter to the Applicant from Mr. Fera dated November 19, 1999 (Exhibit, Tab 5).

Mr. Fera gave direct evidence on the issue of the garage conversion. He testified that on October 19, 1998 he received a written memorandum from his head office asking if it was possible to leave the garage "as is" on Lot 161 (Exhibit 3, Tab 3). It was Mr. Fera's understanding that the request had been made on behalf of the Applicant. Mr. Fera relies on a letter written by Rick Zozourek, sales representative, Zancor Homes Westglen Village, undated (Exhibit 3, Tab 10). This letter states:

.....

"As far as I can remember, Mr. Collaku requested to have the garage left as it was used for the purpose of a Model Home, including Carpeting, Drywall, Electrical (including Baseboard Heaters), Telephone outlets, Stairs, Doors etc. Mr. Collaku purchased the Home with the intention of having his Son and Family living in the main part of the Home and re-open the area from the garage to the Main floor which was going to be the area where he was going to live.

Mr. Collaku was informed that we (Zancor Homes) could not leave the opening from the Garage to the Main floor area open, as this was not possible under the Building Code. He agreed with this and asked to leave the Stairs anyway as he was going to need them when he was going to re-open the area to the main floor."

.....

Following the request of October 19, 1998, Mr. Fera contacted the Zoning Department at the City of Mississauga. According to Mr. Fera, the Zoning Department granted approval of the request because the by-laws allowed the Applicant to park his vehicle in the driveway as opposed to the garage. Final approval was granted on January 28, 1999, the same date that the Applicant took possession of the home.

Mr. Fera stated that the Applicant first complained about the garage in November, 1999, some 10 months after he took possession. By facsimile letter dated November 15, 1999 (Exhibit 7), the Applicant wrote to Zancor Homes complaining of six items, one of which asserted that the garage doors were never put on.

By letter dated November 19, 1999 (Exhibit 3, Tab 5), Mr. Fera responded to the Applicant stating:

Item #5 "As per your request dated October 18,1998 the garage was left as is, attached is a copy of the request.

Mr. Fera admits that other than the memorandum from head office marked as Exhibit 3, Tab 3, there is nothing in writing evidencing the Applicant's request to leave the garage as is. He testified that it is his belief that the request came from the homeowner to the sales office and then to head office. He further testified that at the March 10, 1999 Conciliation Inspection meeting, he asked the Applicant's son if they had put in a request for the garage to be left "as is". According to Mr. Fera, the son responded that he and the Applicant did make this request. Following this exchange, a disagreement ensued between the Applicant and his son.

Mr. Fera explained that complying with the request entailed additional time and expense. He stated that it would be unreasonable for a builder to proceed in this manner without instructions from the homeowner.

With respect to the issue of the difference in level between the ceramic floor and the wood floor, Mr. Fera stated that a difference will usually result if different flooring materials are used. For example, if carpeting had been used instead of wood flooring the same result would occur. Mr. Fera stated that in certain situations, a purchaser may choose to have all of the floors leveled, however, this was not an option requested by the Applicant nor was it an option offered by the builder.

FACTS FOUND PROVEN:

The following are the facts found to have been proven.

- 1) The treads of the stairs in the home are of solid oak while the risers and stairs are of oak veneer which is standard procedure in a production home such as the Applicant's home. The stair as per schedule "A"- 3 to the Agreement conform to industry standards.
- 2) The entrance steps were not unstable and did not rock. The steps did not constitute a safety issue and were not constructed in a defective manner or of defective material. The steps, after installation by the builder, were removed and altered by the Applicant.
- 3) The interior space of the garage is finished with drywall, is painted and has baseboards and trim installed as well as electrical outlets, heating ducts, light fixtures and carpeting. The space is furnished and is used by the Applicant and/or his family as living space at the request of the Applicant and with the Applicant's full knowledge and consent.
- 4) There is a difference of approximately ½ inch in the height of the wood floor and ceramic tile floor in the home. This is common and accords with industry standards where different materials are used. The difference in height is minor, is not reflective of defective or poor workmanship or materials and is not a violation of the Ontario Building Code.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The onus of proof in this matter rests upon the Applicant to satisfy the Tribunal on a balance of probabilities. The only evidence adduced by the Applicant was that of the Applicant himself. He brought no experts or other evidence to support his contentions.

Contrary to the evidence of the Applicant was that of the two warranty representatives, both of whom have had considerable experience in the home building industry and in the assessment of claims by homeowners. They found the workmanship of the builder and the materials used by it to be satisfactory and acceptable by industry standards.

The testimony of Vito Fera was most helpful to this Tribunal. Having regard to his lengthy experience in the home construction business and the candour of his evidence, the Tribunal was most impressed by his testimony.

Oak Stairs

The Applicant complains that the oak stairs were not installed as per Schedule "A"-3 to the Agreement. Schedule "A"- 3 simply states that the oak stairs would be installed at an extra cost to the Applicant of $2200. There are no specifications regarding the stairs found in the Schedules or in the Agreement.

The Tribunal accepts the evidence of the warranty representatives and Mr. Fera that absent any written specifications, oak stairs installed in a production home such as that purchased by the Applicant, consist of solid oak treads, veneer risers and stringers. Further, Schedule "A"-1 clearly provides that the stair railings would consist of oak railings with white painted spindles and natural oak handrails. Accordingly, the Tribunal finds that there is no breach of warranty in terms of section 13(1) of the Act with respect to this claim.

Front Entrance Steps

Schedule "A"-1 sets out the requirement for precast concrete steps. It is common ground between the parties that precast concrete steps were installed. It is also agreed that when the warranty representatives attended in March, 2000 the steps were found to be stable and safe. The Tribunal finds that there is no breach of warranty with respect to this claim.

Even if this Tribunal had decided that there was a breach of warranty with respect to this claim, the warranty would be excluded by virtue of section 13(2)(g) which provides:

13(2) A warranty under subsection (1) does not apply in respect of,

(a).....

(g) alterations, deletions or additions made by the owner;

Garage

The Applicant denies any knowledge of a request to leave the garage "as is". The Tribunal finds this evidence to be completely incredible. While the Tribunal notes that it is unfortunate that the Applicant's instructions were not confirmed in writing, the Tribunal accepts Mr. Fera's evidence that it is highly improbable that a builder would initiate such an application without the authority of the homeowner. Vito Fera, on behalf of the builder, took steps to obtain approval from the municipality for a building permit to allow conversion of the use of the garage. The Tribunal accepts the argument made by counsel for the Program that Mr. Fera would not have undertaken this task but for the homeowner's request. Mr. Fera also testified that he confirmed this request with the Applicant's son, in the presence of the Applicant, during a conversation on March 29, 2000. Mr. Fera's version of the events is supported by what the warranty representatives observed when they attended on March 10 and 29, 2000. The garage area is completely finished, with furnishings, and is used by the Applicant and other members of the family as a recreation/family room. The Tribunal finds it highly unlikely that the Applicant would wait almost one year before making a complaint about the garage doors. For all of the above reasons this Tribunal finds that there is no breach of warranty pursuant to section 13(1) of the Act.

Uneven Floors

It is agreed that there is approximately ½ inch difference in height between the wood parkay floor and the ceramic tile floor. Both witnesses called on behalf of the Program and the builder testified that it is common and standard in the industry to have a minor difference such as ½ inch between floors of different materials.

In Culjak (1998) O.C.R.A.T.D. No. 112, this Tribunal considered the same issue at page 5:

"The Tribunal accepts the Builder's testimony that homes built according to the industry practice can have floor surfaces of different heights. No evidence was adduced to indicate that, in this context, the floors were constructed in other than a workmanlike manner, or that there were defects in material which accounted for a difference in height between the hardwood and ceramic flooring. This claim is therefore not warrantable."

The Applicant has not lead any evidence to prove that the floors have been constructed in a less than workmanlike manner or that defective materials have been used. Accordingly, this claim is not warrantable.

It should be noted that the decision letter dated April 25, 2000 (Exhibit 1), indicates that this claim is statute barred by virtue of section 13(4). Interestingly, this defence was not raised by the Program at the hearing.

DECISION:

Pursuant to the authority vested in it by section 16(3) of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act, the Tribunal directs that the Program to disallow these claims.

ISSUE:

Having established that this appeal falls within subsection 50.1(2)(b) of the Highway Traffic Act, and the Tribunal thereby having jurisdiction, the question to be answered is: Did the Applicant fail or refuse to comply with a demand made to provide a sample of breath or blood because he was unable to do so for a medical reason?

LAW:

The legislation governing the Administrative Drivers Licence Suspension (ADLS) under subsection 50.1(1) and (2) of the Highway Traffic Act (HTA) states:

50.1 (1) A person whose driver's licence is suspended under Section 48.3 may appeal the suspension to the Tribunal.

(2) The grounds on which a person may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may order that the suspension be set aside are,

(a) that the person whose licence was suspended is not the same individual to whom a demand for a sample of breath or blood was made, or from whom a sample of breath or blood was taken, as the case may be, under or pursuant to the provisions of the Criminal Code (Canada) referred to in subsection 48.3(3); or

(b) that the person failed or refused to comply with a demand made under section 254 of the Criminal Code (Canada) to provide a sample of breath or blood because he or she was unable to do so for a medical reason.

The HTA states under Section 50.1(4):

The Tribunal may confirm the suspension or may order that the suspension be set aside.

Regulation 574 (amended), Highway Traffic Act at subsection 15(1), (2) and (3) requires that a medical report must contain:

15. (1) A report of a legally qualified medical practitioner that is to be submitted in evidence shall clearly state,

(a) the name, telephone number and address, with the postal code, of the medical practitioner;

(b) the name, date of birth and address of the person who is the subject of the report;

(c) that the medical practitioner has prepared the report, or is aware that the report may be used, in support of an appeal to the Board from the suspension of a driver's licence under section 50.1 of the Act;

(d) the length of time and frequency with which the medical practitioner has attended upon the person who is the subject of the report, including the date of the most recent examination of the person that supports the findings set out in the report;

(e) whether the medical practitioner is the family physician of the person who is the subject of the report; and

(f) whether the medical practitioner is a specialist and, if so, the field of specialty.

(2) The report shall provide the details of any present condition, diagnosis and history of the condition that precludes the person who is the subject of the report from providing a breath or blood sample including the results of any related tests.

(3) The report shall be signed by the medical practitioner.

Finally, section 13 of Regulation 574 (amended) provides:

A person appealing a suspension has the onus of establishing the merit of the appeal.

FACTS:

The Applicant, was sworn and gave the following testimony. The Applicant had submitted to the Tribunal a typed statement which he proceeded to read to the Tribunal:

"To whom it may concern:

Listed below is the sequence of events, which took place on September 8, 2000 at approximately 12:00 a.m., when I was stopped by two police officers.

A few weeks prior to this, I had been informed that I was probably losing my job due to financial problems of the organization where I work. I have been extremely agitated and stressed and have not been feeling well. On this evening, while driving home from work, I did not feel right, my heart was beating quickly and my breathing was heavy.

The following is what took place when the police stopped me:

- One officer came to my car and advised me I was driving 130km to 140km.
- I advised him I was not: I was doing between 100 & 110km. I had just stopped at a stoplight, made a right turn and had checked my speed shortly before the cruiser approached me.
- The officer told me to get out of the car and asked for my licence. He then asked if I had been drinking.
- I told him no, I was on my way home (Pickering) from work in Port Perry.
- The officer told me to get in the cruiser and asked what type of work I did, did I own or manage the store (I am the Manager at (place of employment)) and had I ever had any trouble with the police.
- I advised I had some speeding tickets over the years (I am 55 years old)
- The officers checked the computer for five or ten minutes then told me to do a breathalyzer test.
- I told them I was not feeling well, was congested and was having trouble breathing.
- I was told to take the test or I would be arrested and my car impounded.
- I attempted to blow, the officer said "keep going, keep going, okay", When he said, okay, I stopped blowing (I took that to mean okay, stop) and he then said, "keep blowing".
- He told me I had to do it a second time.
- I repeated I did not feel right, I was congested, had to catch my breath and that my heart was pounding, my head was aching and I was not feeling well.
- The officer told me he would give me one more chance or he would arrest me and impound my car.
- I made another attempt and was unable to perform as my breathing was very raspy and I had to pant to catch my breath. My heart and head were pounding and I asked to step outside or to lower the window to get some air.
- The officer lowered the window and told me I was under arrest and took my wallet. He then called and arranged for my car to be towed.
- I was in the back seat breathing very heavy, and raspy trying to suck in air. My head was sweating heavily and my heart was beating faster. I had no feeling of strength in my arms or legs. I informed the officers of all this.
- On the way to the police station, one of the officers made a comment about what a "great acting job" I was doing. Then a couple of minutes later asked if I wanted the paramedics to meet us at the station.
- I advised that it would be a good idea.
- At the station I was in the back seat of the cruiser for a few minutes before the paramedics came. I had to request help to get from the cruiser to the stretcher, as I could not stand up.
- The paramedics checked my breathing & blood pressure, which was 160/90.

- In the ambulance oxygen was applied, an E.K.G. done and my blood pressure checked again-it was 170/100.
- At emergency, I required help again to transfer from the ambulance to the stretcher.
- In the hospital the nurse asked if I had been drinking. I told her no. She then said that a blood test could be done to check. I told her to go ahead. She did an E.K.G. and checked my pressure 170/100; no blood was taken.
- The doctor came in a while later, checked my blood pressure which was now 180/120. I was given medication at approximately 2:15-2:30a.m.
- At 3:20 a.m. the officer gave me a summons of impound and suspension and returned my wallet.
- At Approximately 4:30 - 4:40 a.m. the doctor returned, took my blood pressure (160/100) advised me I had a very close call, I was a walking time bomb and to see my family doctor immediately for medication and to change my eating and exercise habits.
- I visited my family doctor the next day at 11:00 a.m. my blood pressure was still 160/100, I was placed on medication and he repeated what the doctor in the hospital told me. He ran blood tests etc. and I received the result of September 22nd. My blood pressure is still high and I am to see a specialist Physician #1 in Ajax on October 26th.

I require my licence to get to work and I appreciate your consideration in waiving this suspension. I was at no time refusing to do the Breathalyzer, due to my breathing problem and heart pounding, etc I was unable to do it properly. Had I not been stopped, I would have had my wife call an ambulance or take me to emergency when I arrived home. "

Under cross-examination, the Applicant was asked if he had ever experienced a prior panic attack. The Applicant responded that he had one about three or four years ago and another about 20 years ago. The Respondent asked if he was familiar with the signs of the attack and the Applicant responded "yes". The Respondent then asked the Applicant if he relayed the signs to the officer's and if he did not, why not? The Applicant stated that he did not relay this to the officers and could not give an explanation as to why not. The Respondent asked the Applicant if he, "seen the emergency room report?" The Applicant stated that he had not seen it, yet it was submitted with his documents and he was in possession of a copy. On that report, the Respondent asked the Applicant if he could explain why the nurse had written, "smells of alcohol, denies drinking"? The Applicant responded that he did not know why. The Respondent also reminded the Applicant that in his statement he indicated that he was having chest pains, "sucking air" yet on the examination in the emergency room, the note states: "resps not labored, chest clear c/o nasally congested, faced flushed, no c/o chest pain," as well as the indication on the Triage code "less urgent" suggesting that he was not in serious degree of distress". The Applicant was then asked "when you left work, you stated that you did not feel right, your heart was beating quickly and your breathing was heavy" and then at the end of your statement said "Had I not been stopped, I would have had my wife call an ambulance or take me to the emergency when I arrived home," the question being, "If you were feeling this ill, why would you not have gone immediately to the hospital instead of going home first?" The Applicant had no response.

The Respondent had no further questions of the Applicant, and the Applicant was excused from the stand.

The Respondent called to the stand, P.C. Officer #1. Badge No. (no.). P.C. Officer #1 is employed by the Durham Regional Police.

P.C. Officer #1 stated that on September 8, 2000 he was on duty with fellow officer #2 patrolling in the Brooklyn area. At approximately 12:20 a.m., he received a call with regard to a possible drunk driver driving a Chrysler mini van in the area. While on patrol, P.C. Officer #1, (the passenger) noticed a Mercury Mystic turn westbound from Durham 23, not stopping at the red light. Officer #1 and Officer # 2 decided to pursue this vehicle. According to P.C. Officer #1, the vehicle, later identified as belonging to the Applicant, was traveling at a very high rate of speed. According to P.C. Officer #1, he noted that they were having a hard time catching up to this vehicle. He stated that their speed was somewhere between 150 km/hr and 160 km/hr and the subject vehicle around 140km/hr. According to P.C. Officer #1, it was approximately 6km before they were able to get close to the Applicant's vehicle. P.C. Officer #1 then stated that P.C. Officer #2 activated his roof lights and siren and the vehicle came to a rapid stop. P.C. Officer #1 exited his vehicle and approached from the passenger's side as he stated that the way the Applicant had stopped his vehicle, he would have been in traffic had he come to the driver's side to speak with the driver. P.C. Officer #1 testified that he "knocked" on the window and got no response from the driver. He stated that he knocked again and again the driver was staring straight ahead, with both hands on the wheel. P.C. Officer #1 stated that he decided to try the door, and it opened. He spoke to the driver, who seemed not to acknowledge his presence. When the Applicant finally responded, he was asked to exit the vehicle. According to P.C. Officer #1, he observed that the Applicant was unsteady on his feet. He also stated that the Applicant would not talk directly to him but turned his head away. P.C. Officer #1 asked the Applicant where he was coming from and the Applicant responded from (place of employment), where he worked. P.C. Officer #1 asked the Applicant if he would perform a few simple tests and if he knew the alphabet to which the Applicant replied, " I, do." However, the Applicant failed the alphabet test forgetting "W, X, Y, Z". P.C. Officer #1 asked the Applicant to walk heel to toe to which the Applicant refused. At this point, P.C. Officer #1 stated that he could detect the smell of an alcoholic beverage on the Applicant's breath.

P.C. Officer #1 asked the Applicant to sit in the back seat of the cruiser so that a roadside screening device could be used but the Applicant would have to supply a sample of his breath for testing. P.C. Officer #1 demonstrated the use of the device and read the Applicant the demand for breath as required. According to P.C. Officer #1, the Applicant provided two "puff" samples. According to the Applicant's own testimony, he was able to provide a sample on the first attempt but stopped blowing because he thought that when the officer said "Okay", it meant for him to stop, not that he was doing it correctly and to continue. However, by the third attempt, according to the Applicant, he was unable to provide the required sample. Officer #1 asked the Applicant, after the second attempt, if there was a medical reason for his inability to provide a sample, according to the officer, the Applicant was unresponsive to his question. Officer #1 also stated that the rear door of the cruiser was open during the entire time that the tests were performed and only closed once it was decided that the Applicant was to be transported home.

When the officers started to take the Applicant home, P.C. Officer #1 observed the Applicant's face to be flushed and the Applicant stated to Officer #1, "you guys have frightened me, I cannot breath". P.C. Officer #1 further testified that he is not a doctor, and he asked the Applicant if he would rather be taken to the hospital or have an ambulance take him, the Applicant was getting upset and replied "do what you want".

The cruiser met the ambulance at the police station where the Applicant was transferred to the ambulance and taken to Scarborough Centenary Hospital. At the Hospital, he was seen in emergency and released four hours later. The Applicant made his own arrangement to get home.

The Tribunal accepts the evidence of P.C. Officer #1.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

In an appeal of this nature, the onus is on the Applicant to substantiate his position. However, the evidence submitted by the Applicant does not substantiate his claim to the effect that he had a present medical condition which precluded him from providing a breath or blood sample.

The report from Physician #2, M.D. family physician, fails to meet the specific requirements of section 15(1) of Regulation 574 of the Highway Traffic Act in the following respects:

Physician #2 does not provide any subjective tests results to substantiate the Applicant's assertion that due to his medical condition he was unable to provide a proper breath sample. The "history" of the condition is a re-iteration of the symptoms told to Physician #2 by the Applicant. There is nothing in the report to indicate any history of the condition(s). Physician #2 recommends that the Applicant see a cardiologist; however, no report or findings have been included with this appeal. Physician #2 does not indicate that he has knowledge of what is actually required to perform the Breathalyzer tests but states in the report that it is suggestive of a panic attack as the applicant stated that he could not give a proper breath sample, since he could not give good respiratory effort. The only possible corroboration from a medical standpoint would have been the emergency room report. The report indicate that the Applicant claims that the police increased his level of anxiety for which he was given Ativan, an anti anxiety medication sublingual. Physical examination at that time indicated respiration not labored, chest clear and no chest pain.

The Tribunal after very careful review of the medical information presented by Physician #2, is of the opinion that this report is speculative in nature as to the condition of the applicant at the time that the demand for breath was made and does not provide sufficient medical evidence to support the position of the applicant. The Tribunal attaches very little weight to this report.

Reviewing the foregoing facts, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant has not related his medical condition to Regulation 574 and Section 50.(1)(2)(b) of the Highway Traffic Act.

The evidence shows that the Applicant refused to provide an adequate sample of breath for no stated medical reason. The evidence submitted suggests the actions of the Applicant were such as to lead this Tribunal to believe that he had no intention of providing a proper breath sample. The evidence presented by P.C. Officer #1 indicated that the Applicant provided only puff blows. The Tribunal can only conclude that the actions taken by the Applicant were not those of someone who was unable to provide a breath sample, but rather the actions of someone who was unwilling to provide the sample because of the negative consequences of providing that sample. By the Applicant's own admission, he was able to provide a proper sample of air during the first attempt but misunderstood the officer's instructions and by the third attempt he was unable to provide a sample because he was have medical difficulties.

The Applicant has not discharged the onus of establishing a valid medical reason for his failure to provide a breath sample when demanded under section 254 of the Criminal Code (Canada).

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the suspension order dated September 8, 2000 of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles pursuant to section 48.3 of the Highway Traffic Act (HTA) and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

Pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50.1(4) of the HTA, the Tribunal confirms the suspension.

DECISION
RELEASED: October 16, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on October 13, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA").

The Tribunal released its Decision on October 16, 2000, with Reasons to follow.

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO SET ASIDE the suspension imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 48.3 HTA for the following reasons.

REASONS

BACKGROUND:

Notice of Appeal and Prescribed Fee

This appeal comes before the Tribunal on behalf of the Applicant, by way of a Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990 as amended, chapter H.8. The Applicant elected that his appeal be decided by the Tribunal by way of an oral hearing. The form of Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act was dated September 20, 2000, and was received by the Tribunal on September 28, 2000, together with the prescribed fee of $100.00, paid by certified cheque.

Reason for the Appeal

The reason for the appeal cited by the Applicant was stated as follows in the said notice:

"I was unable to provide the required breath sample because of a medical reason."

Preliminary Matters

The Respondent objected to the Pulmonary Function Test results, being entered in evidence, as said results were submitted, at the hearing, and therefore, outside the final date for disclosures. The Respondent contended that Dr. Mate, the Respondent's expert adviser, was not given the opportunity to access the results.

The Applicant's solicitor argued that although not previously submitted, the PFT is part of Physician # 1's original report and should be included as such.

Submissions of Written Material

By the Applicant:

- a) Exhibit #1 Notice of Appeal – dated September 20, 2000
- b) Exhibit #2 Applicant's submissions – 3 pages – received September 28, 2000
- c) Exhibit #5 Pulmonary Function Test – dated September 18, 2000
- received October 13, 2000

By the Respondent:

- a) Exhibit #3 MTO submissions – 13 pages – received October 11, 2000
- b) Exhibit #4 Report from Dr. Eva Mate - received October 11, 2000

ISSUE:

Having established that this appeal falls within subsection 50.1(2)(b) of the Highway Traffic Act, and the Tribunal thereby having jurisdiction, the question to be answered is:

Did the Applicant fail or refuse to comply with a demand made to provide a sample of breath or blood because he or she was unable to do so for a medical reason?

LAW:

The legislation governing the Administrative Drivers Licence Suspension (ADLS) under subsection 50.1(1) and (2) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA") states:

50.1 (1) "A person whose driver's licence is suspended under Section 48.3 may appeal the suspension to the Tribunal.

(2) The grounds on which a person may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may order that the suspension be set aside are,

(a) that the person whose licence was suspended is not the same individual to whom a demand for a sample of breath or blood was made, or from whom a sample of breath or blood was taken, as the case may be, under or pursuant to the provisions of the Criminal Code (Canada) referred to in subsection 48.3(3); or

(b) that the person failed or refused to comply with a demand made under section 254 of the Criminal Code (Canada) to provide a sample of breath or blood because he or she was unable to do so for a medical reason".

The HTA states under Section 50.1(4):

The Board may confirm the suspension or may order that the suspension be set aside.

Regulation 574 (amended), Highway Traffic Act at subsection 15(1), (2) and (3) requires that a medical report must contain:

15. (1) a report of a legally qualified medical practitioner that is to be submitted in evidence shall clearly state,

(a) the name, telephone number and address, with the postal code, of the medical practitioner;

(b) the name, date of birth and address of the person who is the subject of the report;

(c) that the medical practitioner has prepared the report, or is aware that the report may be used, in support of an appeal to the Board from the suspension of a driver's licence under section 50.1 of the Act;

(d) the length of time and frequency with which the medical practitioner has attended upon the person who is the subject of the report, including the date of the most recent examination of the person that supports the findings set out in the report;

(e) whether the medical practitioner is the family physician of the person who is the subject of the report; and

(f) whether the medical practitioner is a specialist and, if so, the field of speciality.

(2) The report shall provide the details of any present condition, diagnosis and history of the condition that precludes the person who is the subject of the report from providing a breath or blood sample including the results of any related tests.

(3) The report shall be signed by the medical practitioner.

Finally, section 13 of Regulation 574 (amended) provides:

"A person appealing a suspension has the onus of establishing the merit of the appeal".

FACTS:

Applicant's driver's licence was suspended '05/09/00" as referred to in the Notice of Appeal (Exhibit # 1)

The Notice of Appeal was prepared, on "20/09/00", by Physician #1, who indicates that he has been the Applicant's physician since "18/9/00 ". In the "Details and Diagnosis of patient's present condition" section of the form, Physician #1 reports "...severe asthma and allergic rhinitis". Under "History of Condition", Physician #1 offers a more detailed description of the Applicant's affliction "...since childhood ...he is unable to take air into his lungs or exhale properly due to ASTHMA". Physician #1 refers to "...PFT on Sept 19/00...". (Exhibit # 1)

In a letter dated September 18, 2000, Physician # 2, confirms that he saw the Applicant on March 19 and then again on September 16, 2000. Physician # 2's perception is that the Applicant's "...clinical picture is compatible with that of allergic bronchitis or asthma." (Exhibit # 2)

Physician #1, under the letterhead of the Surrey Medical Health Centre, confirms on September 20, 2000, that the Applicant "...has asthma which makes it difficult for him to take deep breaths... severe allergies ... ragweed, grass and trees... Pulmonary function tests revealed severe asthma ...even with medication ...unable to give deep breaths ...due to asthma it is impossible for him to do an adequate test..." (Exhibit # 2)

The Respondent provided the following Documents:

1. Notice to Registrar.
2. Driver Record of the Applicant
3. Vehicle record
4. Medical Report of Dr. Eva Mate, Respiratologist. (Exhibit # 4)

The Applicant's driver's record since 1974, shows no infractions. (Exhibit # 3)

In a report to the Ministry, dated October 11, 2000, Dr Eva S. Mate, FRCP (C), a consultant in respiratory medicine with St. Michael's Hospital, qualifies that she has been in practice since 1982, and that she has "...extensive experience in the management of chronic respiratory illness such as obstructive lung disease and asthma." Dr. Mate goes on to describe her qualifications: "...lengthy experience with performance and interpretation of pulmonary function tests... Assistant Professor at the University of Toronto ...know the background evaluation of instrumentation such as Intoxilyzer 5000 cc and also Alcotest ...aware of breath sampling criteria required to provide acceptable information using the above instrumentation."

Dr Eva S. Mate, FRCP (C) concludes and notes after reviewing "...summary ...all the information in this case ...the two physicians involved ...i.e. Physician # 2 and Physician

#1 ...failed to provide objective evidence of severity of asthma and ...there is no mention as to previous needs for emergency room visit ...the inability to take deep breaths is not a characteristic of asthma ...inability to provide a breath sample is related to inadequate breath sampling techniques which is secondary to poor cooperation. It is a well known fact that breath sampling is an effort dependent test and is not only related to the presence of underlying lung disease..." (Exhibit # 4)

At the hearing, the Applicant was represented by his solicitor.

Through answers to questions posed by the Applicant's solicitor, the Applicant testified that he believes his asthma is due to allergies treated inappropriately since childhood. He had to be taken twice to the emergency room at Branson Hospital, and has suffered from "...severe bronchitis almost to the point of pneumonia..." since December.

The Applicant has been prescribed and currently uses two inhalers for his condition, Flovent, for long term effect, which he is required to take twice daily and the 'blue' puffer which he uses for emergencies.

According to the Applicant, on the night in question, he had been sitting in a smoke filled room and was feeling congested by the time he left. He was not able to use his inhaler as he had forgotten it at home.

The Applicant further attested that the placement of the breathalyzer machine forced him to lean forward, and that also impaired his ability to provide a breath sample.

After the test, as his car was being towed, the Applicant advised the officer that he has asthma.

The Applicant explained to the Tribunal that he did have a family physician who retired approximately ten years ago. He then consulted another physician for a number of years but found that sitting in the waiting room, for an hour and a half, prior to being seen by the physician, was a waste of time. For a few years now, the Applicant visits Walk-In Clinics and calls upon Med Doctors who make house calls when needed.

The Applicant's solicitor called T. Z. as a witness for the Applicant. T. Z. declared that she has known the Applicant since 1994 and that in 1996 or 1997 she had to take him to the emergency department of Branson Hospital due to an asthma attack.

The Respondent called PC Officer # 1 as a witness for the Ministry. Constable Officer #1 has been a member of the Toronto Police Force for twenty years and a technician with the breathalyzer "...since its acceptance as a screening device, about 10 years ago..."

During examination in chief, PC Officer # 1 attested that the Applicant "...blew softly and unsteadily on the first three attempts ...not reaching proper pressure for the machine to signal ...spit out ...gum ...at one point blew with sufficient breath ...but then reduced it ...one more attempt ...too softly and unsteadily to provide a proper breath sample..."

In cross-examination, PC Officer # 1 confirmed that had no recollection of the Applicant advising him that he suffered from asthma. At no time did PC Officer # 1 notice any signs of physical discomfort on the part of the Applicant.

In closing, the Applicant's solicitor argued that there is no doubt that the Applicant is asthmatic. There are two medical reports verifying this diagnosis. The Applicant's solicitor further contended that both the physicians who provided reports have examined the Applicant, whereas Dr. Mate has not.

In closing, the Respondent countered it may be "undisputable" that the Applicant suffers from asthma, nonetheless the issue is whether or not the Applicant was afflicted at the time he was asked to provide a breath sample. Further, according to the officer there were no visible signs of discomfort.

The Respondent remarked that there is no clear history of the Applicant's condition.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

Prior to setting out the reasons for the decision the Tribunal must rule on the objection raised by the Respondent at the commencement of the Hearing, regarding the admissibility of the Pulmonary Function Test results. At the time, the Tribunal noted the objection and the rebuttal by the Applicant's solicitor, but reserved decision.

The Tribunal finds the PFT results to be inadmissible. The Notice of Appeal alludes to "...copy ...PFT on Sept 19/00..." Physician #1 in his letter dated September 19, 2000 discloses the results, "...Pulmonary function tests revealed severe asthma...", yet, the Tribunal was not offered a valid reason as to why the document was not filed within the time allocated for disclosure.

The issues are, how does the medical condition of the Applicant relate to section 50.1(2)(b), and did this medical condition cause him to fail or not comply with the breath demand? Pursuant to section 13 of Regulation 574 (amended), the onus is on the Applicant to provide the Tribunal with a medical reason as to why he was unable to provide a breath sample.

The Respondent requested that the Tribunal not consider Physician # 2's report as it does not conform to the criteria set out in Regulation 574. The Applicant's solicitor suggested that since Dr. Mate had not examined the Applicant, her report be awarded minimal significance. The Tribunal accepts both propositions. Physician # 2's report offers particulars of the Applicant's condition but offers no explanation as to how this condition may prevent the Applicant from providing a breath sample. As for Dr. Mate, with all due respect to her credentials as an expert in the field, she not only did not observe the Applicant directly, but also was provided with limited patient-specific information with which to form an opinion.

The Applicant asserts that he was not able to provide an adequate breath sample due his medical condition. This statement is corroborated by the medical evidence provided by Physician #1 in the Notice of Appeal and in his subsequent letter. Physician #1 diagnoses the Applicant with "...severe asthma..." and describes how this condition affects the Applicant by making it "...difficult for him to take deep breaths ...even with medication..." There seems to be no doubt in Physician #1's opinion that "...due to ...asthma it is impossible for him to do an adequate test..." (Exhibits # 1 & 2)

The Respondent expressed concerns about the fact that neither physician provided a sufficiently detailed diagnostic history, to substantiate the severity of the Applicant's condition. The Respondent submitted that the Applicant could not have been having difficulty breathing at the time, as none of the recognizable symptoms were noticeable to the officer, i.e. wheezing, coughing, etc.

The Tribunal concurs that the totality of the evidence introduced is conflicting and not comprehensive. Nonetheless, the Tribunal is aware of the various degrees of asthma manifestation and contributing factors, as well as of the fact that breathing impediments are not always perceptible. The Applicant's viva voce evidence cannot be disregarded. It is plausible to accept that, at the time the Applicant's lung congestion was precipitated by a smoke filled room and diminished by his momentary anxiety and position.

Based on the evidence before the Tribunal, and on a balance of probabilities, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant meets the criteria of section 50.1 (2) (b), in that he was able to demonstrate that he suffers from a medical condition which prevented him from providing a breath sample when requested.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the suspension order dated September 5, 2000 of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles pursuant to section 48.3 of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA") and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

Pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50.1(4) of the HTA, the Tribunal orders that the suspension be set aside.

b) Exhibit #3 Original sealed Driver Record Search – received October 17, 2000

PRELIMINARY MATTERS:

The Respondent submitted a file summary, containing an itemized list of the items submitted prior to the hearing, as well as a copy of the National Safety Code for Motor Carriers. Mentioning the fact that disclosures had been waived, the Respondent also introduced a certified copy of the Applicant's driver's licence.

The Applicant submitted a report prepared by Physician #1, dated October 16, 2000, under the letterhead of the North York General Hospital.

As there were no objections from either party to the documents being introduced in evidence, both were filed as exhibits 3 and 4 respectively.

FACTS:

The Applicant is appealing the suspension of driving privileges effective "00/05/22" as per Exhibit # 1

The Applicant came to the attention of the Ministry as a result of an unsolicited letter written April 20, 2000, by a family physician, Physician #2. Physician #2 informs the Ministry that the Applicant is "...very manic..." and suggests that he "...should not be driving until his illness is under control." (Exhibit # 2 Item 1)

An Emergency Record from the Markham Stouffville Hospital indicates the Applicant was admitted "08 02 96" with "...apparent manic behaviour..." (Exhibit # 2 Item 3 a).

An Emergency Psychiatric Nursing Assessment from the Markham Stouffville Hospital, dated "Feb 7" shows last visit to Psychiatrist "Nov. 2/96" (Exhibit # 2 Item 3 b).

A letter executed by D. G. under the letterhead of Family and Credit Counselling Service, refers the Applicant to Physician #3 for a psychiatric evaluation. (Exhibit # 2 Item 3 c)

On April 22, 1997, Physician #3 narrated the Applicant's history "... March 96: very upset with father's illness ...Physician #4 diagnoses him Manic Depressive ...lithium for 6 months ...felt worse ...stopped lithium in Dec." Physician #3 rules out any types of aberrant behaviour (Exhibit # 2 Item 3 d)

On May 26, 1997, Physician #3 states "...doing very well in the last month ...denied any manic episode, but admitted to three episodes of depression in 1994, Sept. 1995, and May 1996 ...history of manic behaviour from Physician #4 influenced by ...wife ...shocked at the diagnosis ...no pressure of speech, no flights of idea, not psychotic, not delusional, not grandiose, not depressed, not elated...". Aberrant behaviour is ruled out by Physician #3. (Exhibit # 2 Item 3 e)

An Administrative Review - Medical Suspension by Kim Grosskurth on June 28, 2000 states "...does not feel that he currently has any medical condition that would affect his ability to drive ...1200 mg Lithium; 75 mg q.h.s. Desyrel; 150 mg b.i.d. Bupropion.ordered by the courts to regular see a psychiatrist..." (Exhibit # 2 Item 4)

Physician #1, Co-Director (Medical) Mood Disorders Program North York General Hospital Assistant Professor of Psychiatry University of Toronto, in a letter dated September 6, 2000, relates the Applicant's history. (Exhibit # 2 Item 5)

MEDICAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE CASE STUDY dated October 3, 2000 upheld the suspension suggesting the need for "...one year freedom of symptoms..." (Exhibit # 2 Item 6)

In a letter dated October 16, 2000 Physician #1, Co-Director (Medical) Mood Disorders Program North York General Hospital Assistant Professor of Psychiatry University of Toronto, informs the Tribunal the Applicant "did not consider ...to show evidence of psychotic functioning not hypomania, euphoria or grandiosity ...seen ...at least once a week ...has not displayed any symptoms ...rendering him unable to exercise ...good judgment...do not feel that he is clinically symptomatic for Bipolar Disorder...compliant with medication attending ...psychoeducational workshops ...responding appropriately ...for him to be denied his driver's license would put undue pressure ...stress ...make recovery more difficult...". (Exhibit # 2 Item 5)

At the hearing the Respondent reiterated the contents of the information contained in the written material provided for the hearing and filed as Exhibit # 2 Tabs 1 through 7, as well as on section 13.4 of the Guide for Motor Carriers.

On his own behalf, the Applicant testified that Physician #2 is not a specialist on mental health. The Applicant stated that on the date of his first appointment he telephoned at 2:45 p.m. to advise that he was across town and would not be able to make his 3 p.m. appointment. When the Applicant did see Physician #2, she told him he was manic depressive and would have to take Lithium.

According to the Applicant, he followed her advise but chose to see a psychologist, Physician #5. After that he saw Physician #1 whom he continues to see on a weekly basis, as well as attending his classes regularly.

The Applicant attested to the fact that he has not stopped taking the medication prescribed.

In closing, the Respondent admitted the Applicant has been cooperative at all times, and that indeed there had been a mistake made regarding his taking of the medication. Nonetheless, in accordance with the decision of the Ministry's Medical Advisory Committee, the Respondent asked that the decision of the Ministry be confirmed.

ISSUES:

Should the decision of the Registrar to suspend the Applicant's licence be confirmed, modified or set aside?

LAW:

Regulation 340/94, section 14 states:

An applicant for or a holder of a driver's licence must not,

- (a) suffers from an mental, emotional, nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely; and
- (b) be addicted to the use of alcohol or a drug to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle safely.

Section 47(1) states:

Subject to section 47.1, the Registrar may suspend or cancel,

- (a) the plate portion of a permit as defined in Part II;
- (b) a driver's licence; or
- (c) a CVOR certificate,

on the grounds of,

- (d) misconduct for which the holder is responsible, directly or indirectly, related to the operation or driving of a motor vehicle;
- (f) conviction of the holder for an offence referred to in subsection 210(1) or (2);
- (f) the Registrar having reason to believe, having regard to the safety record of the holder or of a person related to the holder, and any other information that the Registrar considers relevant, that the holder will not operate a commercial motor vehicle safely or in accordance with this Act, the regulations and other laws relating to highway safety; or
- (g) any other sufficient reason not referred to in clause (d), (e) or (f).

Section 50 of the Act states:

50.(1) Every person aggrieved by a decision of the Minister under subsection 17(2) or (3) or subclause 32(12)(b)(i) or a decision of the Registrar under section 47 may appeal the decision to the Licence Appeal Tribunal.

- (2) The Tribunal may confirm, modify or set aside the decision of the Minister or the Registrar.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

Section 47(1) unquestionably empowers the Registrar to “...suspend or cancel” a driver’s licence for “any ...sufficient reason...”. The Registrar originally suspended the Applicant’s driver’s licence after receiving an unsolicited letter from a family physician, Physician #2 informing the Ministry that the Applicant is “...very manic... should not be driving until his illness is under control.” (Exhibit # 2 Item 1)

Regulation 390/94, Section 14 (a) is clear in that:

“An applicant for a holder of a driver’s licence must not,

- a) suffer from a mental, emotional nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely...”*

The Tribunal finds that the Ministry acted properly and in accordance with the Regulation in suspending the Applicant’s driving privileges based on Physician #2’s report.

In 1997, when the Applicant was diagnosed with Bipolar Disorder, Physician #3 who examined the Applicant on at least two occasions did not find any evidence of deviant or erratic behaviour. (Exhibit # 2 Item 3 d & e)

The Applicant feels that he is stable and able to drive. His view is corroborated by his psychiatrist’s assessment.

The Tribunal is compelled to consider and accept the latest report written by Physician #1 who has been seeing the Applicant on a weekly basis, since August. Physician #1, Co-Director (Medical) Mood Disorders Program North York General Hospital Assistant Professor of Psychiatry University of Toronto, confirms that Applicant “did not ...show evidence of psychotic functioning not hypomania, euphoria or grandiosity...has not displayed any symptoms ...rendering him unable to exercise ...good judgment...for him to be denied his driver’s license would put undue pressure...stress... make recovery more difficult ...”. (Exhibit # 2 Item 5)

In weighing the evidence presented, the Tribunal is satisfied that the evidence does not show that the Applicant is subject to a disability likely to significantly interfere with his ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely, as set out in the criteria described in Regulation 340/94 section 14(a) of the HTA. Thus the Tribunal orders that the Applicant’s driver’s licence be re-instated.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the decision dated May 22, 2000 of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles ("Registrar") to suspend his driver's licence pursuant to Section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA"), and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

IT IS THE DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50(2) of the Act that the decision of the Registrar be set aside.

TO CHANGE THE CLASS OR CLASSES OF MOTOR VEHICLE IN RESPECT OF WHICH THE LICENCE WAS ISSUED

TRIBUNAL: JOHN A. CARMICHAEL, Presiding Member

APPEARANCES: K.M. BIEL, Representative for the Minister

Applicant,
by written submissions only

DATE OF HEARING: October 20, 2000 Kingston

DECISION AND REASONS

This is an appeal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal by the Applicant respecting a decision of the Minister (the "Respondent") pursuant to section 32(12)(b)(i) of the Highway Traffic Act (Ontario).

FACTS:

The Applicant is a 34 year old truck driver, whose job description identifies him as driving up to seven hours a day and over 100,000 kilometers a year. (exhibit #1)

On February 17th, 1999, the ministry received a report (exhibit #2) stating that on February 13th, 1999, the Applicant had suffered an epileptic seizure. Neurological examination two or three days post seizure states that his neurological exam and CAT scan were negative and an EEG inconclusive. The Applicant was started on anti epileptic medication, instructed to return for a repeat EEG exam, and asked not to drive his truck. The examining neurologist also reported that the Applicant had previously been involved in a single vehicle accident September 1998. The details of this episode are incomplete. The parents report that the Applicant was unresponsive for at least four hours, although the records do not report any loss of consciousness. As a result of this accident, the Applicant has been left with "at least 25 miles of retrograde amnesia", and significant disabilities in his lower limbs. A CAT scan of the head, cervical spine and abdomen done at the time of the accident were all normal.

On November 2nd, 1999, the same neurologist reported (exhibit #3) that the Applicant had failed to return for a repeat EEG, was on 700 mgms of dilantin per day, had a dilantin level of 49 on one occasion, and has had no further seizures. The Neurological exam at that visit was negative.

On February 25th, 2000, the Applicant was reviewed at the Toronto Rehabilitation Institute (exhibit #4). At that time a neurological exam, EEG, and CAT scan were all normal. The discharge diagnosis was "Craniocerebral injury, moderate concussion. Post-traumatic epilepsy"

On July 24th, 2000, the Medical Advisory Committee of the Ministry of Transportation recommended the Applicant's licence be downgraded to class "G" (exhibit #5).

On August 11th, 2000, the Applicant was so informed (exhibit #6).

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles has raised the question of the Applicant's credibility based on the Applicant's apparent lack of awareness of his condition despite his repeated neurological examinations, EEGs, CAT scans, MRI, and large doses of anticonvulsants. As well, the Applicant's compliance has been questioned on the basis that he failed to return as requested for a repeat EEG (Feb17, 1999) and the single relatively low serum level of dilantin (49) despite an unusually high dosage level (700 mgms daily). Medical compliance cannot be fairly judged on a single serum level. The other subjective observations need not enter into the decision process here.

The Tribunal also notes the failure on repeat neurological examinations, including CAT Scans EEGs and MRI, to demonstrate an epileptic focus. This does not mitigate the diagnosis of post-traumatic epilepsy. Up to 40% of epileptics fail to show such a focus.

ISSUES:

Should the decision of the Minister to change the class or class of motor vehicles in respect of which the licence is issued in accordance with the result of the examination be varied, modified or set aside?

LAW:

Regulation 340/94, section 14 states:

An applicant for or a holder of a driver's licence must not,

- (a) suffer from any mental, emotional, nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely; and
- (b) be addicted to the use of alcohol or a drug to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle safely.

Regulation 340/94, section 17 and 18 states:

17.
 - (1) Qualifications required by an applicant for a holder of a Class A, B, C, D, E or F driver's licence are that the applicant or holder,
 - (a) has no history or clinical diagnosis of diabetes that requires insulin for control;
 - (b) is not taking any drug that could, in the dosage prescribed or in the dosage recommended by the manufacturer, impair his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely;
 - (c) has no established medical history of myocardial infarction, angina pectoris, coronary insufficiency or thrombosis;
 - (d) has no established medical history of heart disease including arrhythmia or of respiratory dysfunction likely to interfere with the safe driving of a motor vehicle of the applicable class;
 - (e) is not suffering from an aortic aneurysm, whether resected or not;
 - (f) is not suffering from hypertension accompanied by postural hypotension resulting in giddiness when under treatment;

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

He is on a larger than usual amount of anticonvulsants.

The Applicant's history of seizure(s) identified by two neurological consultants plus his continuing large anticonvulsant medication place him clearly within the regulations and guidelines noted and fully support the decision of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

DECISION:

TO CHANGE THE CLASS OR CLASSES OF MOTOR VEHICLE IN RESPECT OF WHICH THE LICENCE WAS ISSUED

TRIBUNAL: ROSS C. BENNETT, M.D., Presiding Member

APPEARANCES: CLAIRE ROWETT
Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

Applicant,
unrepresented

DATE OF HEARING: October 2, 2000 London

DECISION AND REASONS

This is an appeal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal by the Applicant respecting a decision of the Minister (the "Respondent") pursuant to section 32(12)(b)(i) of the Highway Traffic Act (Ontario).

EXHIBITS:

Exhibit # 1 – Notice of Appeal

Exhibit # 2 – Ministry of Transportation Submissions – Tabs 1-4f

Exhibit # 3 – Applicant's Submissions – Tabs A-G

PRELIMINARY MATTERS:

The Respondent provided the Tribunal with a file summary with respect to this matter.

FACTS:

The Applicant is appealing the downgrading of his driving privileges under subsection 32(12)(b)(i) of the Highway Traffic Act. The nature of the downgrading was for medical reasons. The licence was a class 'AM' and is now a class 'GM'.

The Applicant is the owner/driver of a tanker truck and transports gasoline between Windsor and London. He is 39 years old, 6 feet tall, weighs 250 pounds and apparently in good health. He works 10 hour shifts four days a week.

The Ministry of Transportation first became aware of Applicant when a letter was received from him stating he was to drive. A medical report from Physician #1, a neurologist, accompanied the Applicant's letter. Physician #1 had examined Applicant approximately 16 days after he had apparently suffered a single generalized seizure on May 27, 2000. He stated Applicant had experienced lightheadedness in the back of his truck, subsequently became unconscious and fell out of the truck. He had bitten his tongue, voided, was unconscious for about 30 seconds and confused for about 30 minutes. He was examined at the London Health Science Centre and a diagnosis of "first time seizure" was made.

CT scan was normal, EEG unremarkable and neurological examination was negative. Physician #1 prescribed Dilantin 300 mgm. daily and advised Applicant there was a 30% chance of recurrent seizures.

Another letter, dated June 12, 2000, from Physician #1's Resident to a Physician #2, Applicant's family doctor, provides additional information about the event. One week before, he was treated for an upper respiratory tract infection with a cough, congested nose and throat and a low grade fever. For four days prior to the event, he had been working continuously with little sleep. He mentioned that the Applicant had a history of feeling light-headed, when he did not eat regularly.

He stated that the witnesses did not observe any jerky movements after he fell. There was no history of any previous seizure disorder or febrile convulsions and no family history of seizures.

There was a "conflict of evidence" – Applicant stated he did not fall from his truck. He was on the loading dock when he felt light-headed. He sat down, put his head between his knees and it passed off. When he stood up he apparently fell over landing on his left shoulder. He stated that he drank a litre of water during his drive from Windsor and that was why he had urinated. He also thought he had bitten his tongue when he fell.

In a letter dated July 12, 2000 from Physician #1 to the Ministry of Transportation there is a note on the bottom stating "syncopal episode also a possibility", dated August 6, 2000, The letter states the Dilantin should be quite effective in preventing further seizures as long as he is compliant with the medication. A note from Physician #2, dated July 30, 2000 states - re: the Applicant, "Fit to drive a petroleum loaded tanker safely, if taking anti-seizure medication - Dilantin".

The Medical Advisory Committee reviewed Applicant's file and decided he had not been seizure free for one year and, as a result, did not meet the medical requirements to hold a class 'AM' licence, Reconsideration would be given upon receipt of a neurologist's assessment confirming that he had established a one year seizure free period.

ISSUES:

Should the decision of the Minister to change the class or class of motor vehicles in respect of which the licence is issued in accordance with the result of the examination be varied, modified or set aside?

LAW:

Regulation 340/94, Section 14 states:

An applicant for or a holder of a driver's licence must not,

- (a) suffer from any mental, emotional, nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely; and
- (b) be addicted to the use of alcohol or a drug to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle safely.

Regulation 340/94, Section 17 and 18 states:

- 17. (1) Qualifications required by an applicant for a holder of a Class A, B, C, D, E or F driver's licence are that the applicant or holder,
 - (a) has no history or clinical diagnosis of diabetes that requires insulin for control;
 - (b) is not taking any drug that could, in the dosage prescribed or in the dosage recommended by the manufacturer, impair his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely;
 - (c) has no established medical history of myocardial infarction, angina pectoris, coronary insufficiency or thrombosis;
 - (d) has no established medical history of heart disease including arrhythmia or of respiratory dysfunction likely to interfere with the safe driving of a motor vehicle of the applicable class;
 - (e) is not suffering from an aortic aneurysm, whether resected or not;
 - (f) is not suffering from hypertension accompanied by postural hypotension resulting in giddiness when under treatment;
 - (g) has no established medical history of loss of consciousness or awareness due to a chronic or recurring condition;
 - (h) has no established medical history of a disorder of the musculoskeletal or nervous system that may interfere with the safe driving of a motor vehicle of the applicable class;
 - (i) has no established medical history of an intractable psychotic or psychoneurotic disorder, having particular regard for sustained hostile, aggressive, paranoid, suicidal or other destructive tendencies or depression unless it is medically determined that the condition from which the person has suffered is corrected or controlled;

- (j) has a visual acuity by Snellen Rating, with or without the aid of corrective lenses, no poorer than 20/30 in the better eye and 20/50 in the weaker eye; and
 - (k) has a horizontal visual field of at least 120 degrees in each eye as measured by confrontation tests.
- (2) An applicant for or a holder of a Class A, B, C, D, E or F driver's licence who fails to meet the qualifications referred to in clauses (1)(a) to (i) may, despite the failure, qualify for the class of licence applied for or held if he or she demonstrated the ability to drive a motor vehicle in the applicable class as safely as any person who meets those qualifications.
- (3) An applicant for or a holder of a Class D driver's licence who fails to meet the qualification referred to in clause (1)(c) may, despite the failure, qualify for that class of licence if it is medically determined that he or she has made a full recovery and there is no established history of a second occurrence of myocardial infarction, thrombosis or recurring angina pectoris.
- (4) An applicant for or a holder of a Class B, C, E or F driver's licence whose hearing in one ear is better than in the other must be able to perceive in the better ear, with or without a hearing aid, a forced whisper at a distance of 1.5 metres or, if an audiometer is used to test the person's hearing, must not have a loss in the better ear of more than 40 decibels at 500, 1,000 and 2,000 hertz.
- 18. An applicant for or a holder of a G, G1, G2, L, M, M1, M2, or R driver's licence must have,
 - (a) in the case of a person whose vision in one eye is better than in the other, visual acuity in the better eye that is no poorer than 20/40 as measured by Snellen Rating; and
 - (b) a horizontal visual field of at least 120 degrees as measured by confrontation tests.

Section 32(12)(b)(i) of the Highway Traffic Act states:

- 32 No person shall drive a motor vehicle on a highway unless the motor vehicle is within a class of motor vehicles in respect of which the person holds a driver's licence issued to him or her under this Act.
- (12) An applicant for a driver's licence or a person who holds a driver's licence shall submit to the examinations that are authorized by the regulations relating to this section and required by the Minister at the time and places that the Minister may require and the Minister may,
 - (b) in the case of a person who holds a driver's licence,
 - (i) impose or remove the conditions or endorsements authorized by the regulations or change the class or classes of motor vehicles in respect of which the licence is issued in accordance with the result of the examinations, or

.....

Section 50 states:

- (1) Every person aggrieved by a decision of the Minister under subsection 17(2) or (3) or subclause 32(12)(b)(i) or a decision of the Registrar under section 47 may appeal the decision to the Licence Appeal Tribunal.
- (3) The Tribunal may confirm, modify or set aside the decision of the Minister or Registrar.

In the Physicians guide to Driver Examination, under seizure disorders it states -

A person who had a spontaneous seizure should not be allowed to drive until a complete neurological examination has been done to determine the cause. If the evaluation reveals no epileptiform activity, the patient may drive Class 5 or 6 vehicles, Professional drivers (Class 1,2,3 or 4 licence) should be seizure-free for 12 months before being allowed to drive again. An epileptic patient who takes medication to prevent seizures should not be allowed to hold a Class 1,2,3 or 4 licence. Professional drivers are often unable to avoid adverse conditions or high stress situations that may precipitate seizures.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

The Applicant's 'AM' licence was downgraded to a 'GM' under Subsection 32(12)(b)(i). Considering the evidence presented to it, the Tribunal is not totally convinced this was a true seizure suffered by the Applicant. He certainly lost consciousness, voided and bit his tongue, but witnesses did not observe any jerky movements. Nevertheless he was rendered unconscious and was observed to be in a confused state for about 30 minutes. The Registrar downgraded the Applicant's licence after receiving a letter from Physician #1 and investigating the circumstances.

The Tribunal finds that the ministry acted properly and in accordance with the Regulation, in downgrading the Applicant's licence, based on the information received.

The Applicant argues that he has been perfectly well since the May 27th episode and is quite capable of driving his tanker. His family physician agrees and his neurologist believes the Dilantin will prevent future seizures. This might be an acceptable answer for the ordinary driver operating under a 'G' licence, but the Applicant wishes an 'AM' licence to transport thousands of gallons of gasoline and any recurrence while the Applicant was driving could end up being a major disaster.

Based on the evidence before the Tribunal with respect to the circumstances, it appears premature to overrule the Ministry's decision at this time. Further medical tests are required to prove or disprove the diagnosis. The Tribunal is satisfied that the downgrade of licence under section 32(12)(b)(i) of the Highway Traffic Act is appropriate.

The Tribunal suggests the Applicant have another neurologist provide a second opinion and present it to the Ministry at his convenience.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the decision dated August 1, 2000 of the Minister ("Respondent") to change the class or classes of motor vehicle in respect of which the licence was issued pursuant to section 32(12)(b)(i) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA"), and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Respondent and of the Applicant;

IT IS THE DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50(2) of the Act that the decision of the Registrar be confirmed.

TO APPEAL AN ORDER TO IMPOUND A MOTOR VEHICLE ISSUED BY THE REGISTRAR OF MOTOR VEHICLES

TRIBUNAL: JOE HEWITT

APPEARANCES: KIM BEINTEMA
Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

Representative for Applicant

Applicant

DATE OF HEARING: September 27, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: October 4, 2000 Sault Ste. Marie

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on September 27, 2000, at Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, to consider the Applicant’s appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended (“HTA” or the “Act”).

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the “Act”).

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner:	Applicant (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle:	Vehicle (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal:	September 12, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the vehicle owner exercised due diligence to determine that the driver's licence was not suspended as provided in section 50.2(3)(c) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on September 27, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

A preliminary motion was heard on September 22, 2000 by Vice-Chair, Derek Israel with respect to the hearing, made closed to the public and certain documents made non-accessible to the public.

It was ruled on the consent of both parties, that the husband of the Applicant and father of child, would be allowed to remain in the hearing.

The hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

"To my knowledge, based on the documents enclosed, my child's licence was suspended for 30 days, from June 14, 2000. My child returned the licence to Office # 964 on June 13, 2000, as per the instructions in Suspension # 00xxxx. My child had the licence returned in the mail in July. I took my child to pay the reinstatement fee. My understanding was that the licence was reinstated. My child would not have had my permission to drive my vehicle if this was not the case.

To the best of my knowledge the information from the M.T.O. indicated that the licence was reinstated. On September 5, 2000, a representative of the M.T.O. in Sault Ste Marie indicated that a mistake must have been made and that the licence should not have been returned.

The basis of my appeal is that my vehicle should not have been impounded because of miscommunication from M.T.O.

Applicant
September 8, 2000"

The Applicant testified that she was aware of the impaired charge against her child and the conviction in May of 2000. She stated that she read the Notice of Suspension issued by the Ministry of Transportation, dated June 6, 2000. The "Notice" stated that her child's driver's licence would be suspended for 30 days from June 14, 2000. She drove her child to the Ministry office to pay a reinstatement fee. She did not go into the office, but she did see a receipt of payment. She believed that the licence was reinstated after that payment. The Applicant stated that she would have never let her child drive if she knew that the licence was still under suspension. Ms. Applicant's child had limited use of her vehicle, and would only get it on special occasions.

The Applicant stated in hindsight she should have read the Notice of Suspension no. 0077947 more closely as it did not relate to an impaired charge but a Notice of Novice Driver Violation. She never saw Notice of Suspension no. 00xxxx or no. 0xxxxx with respect to impaired violations. At the time of the impoundment, she was aware that her child's driver's licence was under suspension until May 29, 2003.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by the Applicant's child;

3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of impaired driving under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until May 29, 2003.

The Respondent's representative called two witnesses, Officer # 1 and Officer # 2 of the Sault Ste. Police, to give evidence. The officers gave evidence that on the night of the impoundment, the Applicant's child was pulled over for erratic driving. They followed the driver to a gas station where they witnessed the driver jump out of the vehicle and run around and get into the rear seat. The Applicant's child was checked through the computer system and it was found that the driver's licence was under suspension for an impaired conviction. The owner of the vehicle was the Applicant, and as a result the vehicle was impounded.

The Ministry through its representative introduced three documents entered into as exhibits #6, #7, #8, being two NOTICE OF SUSPENSION documents and a registered postage mail receipt signed by the Applicant's husband.

Exhibit #5, the Affidavit of Witness #1, sets out the Ministry's driving record of the driver of the impounded vehicle which clears up any confusion with respect to the two driver's licence numbers issued to the suspended driver.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

(1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Board.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Board may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(c).

With respect to an appeal under subsection 50.2(3)(c) alleging that the owner exercised due diligence prior to releasing the vehicle to the driver, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary provides the definition of "due diligence" as follows:

Due: A. adj. 1. That is owing or payable, as a debt. 2. Belonging or falling to by right. 3. That ought to be giving or rendered; merited. 4. Such as ought to be; fitting; proper; rightful. 5. Such as is requisite or necessary; adequate. 6. To be ascribed or attributed; owing to, caused by, in consequence of. 7. Under engagement or contract to be ready or arrive (at a defined time).

Diligence: 1. The quality of being diligent; industry, assiduity. 2 Speed, dispatch. 3. Careful attention, heedfulness, caution. 4. Law. The attention and care due from a person in a given situation....

Also, "due diligence" in Black's Law Dictionary (sixth edition) at page 457 is as follows:

Due diligence: Such a measure of prudence, activity, or assiduity, as is properly to be expected from, and ordinarily exercised by, a reasonable and prudent man under the particular circumstances; not measured by any absolute standard, but depending on the relative facts of the special case.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

Facts Found Proven

- 1) The Applicant is the owner of the motor vehicle that was the subject of the impoundment order.
- 2) At the time of the impoundment order, the Applicant's vehicle was driven by the Applicant's child.
- 3) At the time of the impoundment of the Applicant's motor vehicle, the Applicant's child's driver's licence was under suspension due to a conviction under the Criminal Code of Canada for driving with more than 80 mg of Alcohol in the blood.

ONUS OF PROOF

The onus of proof based on the balance of probabilities rests upon the Applicant.

Did the owner exercise due diligence respecting the driver's licence of the driver of the impounded vehicle?

The Applicant did not ask or inspect the driver's licence of her child after the conviction of May 29, 2000 for impaired driving. The Applicant made no attempt to contact any office of the Ministry of Transportation with respect to the status of the licence of her child. The Applicant showed no measure of prudence that would be expected in these circumstances. The level of care that is required would be greater as a result of the history of the driver of the impounded vehicle.

The Tribunal therefore cannot conclude that the Applicant exercised due diligence within the meaning of section 50.2(3)(c) of the Act.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

DATE OF HEARING: October 27, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: October 31, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on October 27, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to Section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to Section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: Maria Madruga (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle: 1993 Buick CCH (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal: October 12, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the vehicle owner exercised due diligence (i.e. all reasonable efforts) to determine that the driver's licence was not suspended and the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in sections 50.2(3)(c) and (d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on October 27, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension?

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

"AUTOMOBILE REQUIRED FOR:

1. TRANSPORTATION TO EMPLOYMENT LOCATION IN MARKHAM. BUS SERVICE IS NOT CONVENIENTLY AVAILABLE FOR WORK HOURS BEGINNING AT 7 O'CLOCK A.M.
2. DRIVING TO DOCTORS APPOINTMENTS. LETTER FROM DR. PETER D'ANGELO.

3. DRIVING TO WEEKLY THERAPY TREATMENTS. LETTER FROM NORTH EAST THERAPY SERVICES. NEXT APPOINTMENT OCT. 18TH.
4. REGULAR VISITS TO OWNER'S ELDERLY PARENTS WHO RESIDE IN STREETSVILLE, ONT. WILL NOT BE ABLE TO DRIVE OUT TO PROVIDE ANY ASSISTANCE IF NECESSARY.
5. TRANSPORTATION TO DENTAL APPOINTMENT IN STREETSVILLE ON THUR. NOV 2 AT 8:00 A.M.

MARIA MADRUGA, (OWNER OF VEHICLE), WAS NOT DRIVING THE VEHICLE AND WAS NOT IN THE VEHICLE WHEN IT WAS STOPPED AND, CONSEQUENTLY IMPOUNDED."

The following testimony by the Applicant was given first, separate and apart from Mr. Whitcher, the father of the driver of the impounded vehicle.

The Applicant is employed in the Accounts Payable Department of Acklands Grainer in Richmond Hill. She has maintained this position for approximately 20 years.

The Applicant has known David Whitcher, the driver of the impounded vehicle and his family for 5-6 years. David has been staying with the Applicant since May, 2000 as the court ordered David to stay with someone who would be able to provide a "watchful eye" over him which the Applicant consented to. Her main responsibility was to ensure David did not drive.

The evening the vehicle was impounded, the Applicant retired early for she was not feeling well. David told the Applicant that he would be going out that evening, but failed to elaborate on when or how he was going to be transported. The Applicant kept her keys with her in a pouch, but David unfortunately found the spare set of keys that were hidden. The Applicant was advised later that evening by police that David had been arrested and her vehicle was impounded.

In support of the Applicant's appeal, Mr. Whitcher provided the following testimony. He is 76 years old and does not condone any past or recent activities of his son, David. He sympathizes with the Applicant since she currently resides on her own, is trying to make ends met and is trying to carry on her way of life without a vehicle. He testified that if and when the Applicant needs assistance in getting around, for example, in attending today's hearing, he has and is willing to lend her or take her anywhere she likes.

Mr. Whitcher indicated that he and his wife spend the majority of their time at their home in Muskoka, but has currently closed it for the season. The Whitcher's also have a home in Willowdale.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows (Exhibits 6 and 7):

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by David M. Whitcher;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of driving while disqualified or prohibited under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until December 12, 2001.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owners right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(l) stating:

(1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Board.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(1) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Board may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of sections 50.2(3)(c) and (d).

With respect to an appeal under subsection 50.2(3)(c) alleging that the owner exercised due diligence prior to releasing the vehicle to the driver, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary provides the definition of "due diligence" as follows:

Due: A. adj. 1. That is owing or payable, as a debt. 2. Belonging or falling to by right. 3. That ought to be given or rendered; merited. 4. Such as ought to be; fitting; proper; rightful. 5. Such as is requisite or necessary; adequate. 6. To be ascribed or attributed; owing to, caused by, in consequence of. 7. Under engagement or contract to be ready or arrive (at a defined time).

Diligence: 1. The quality of being diligent; industry, assiduity. 2. Speed, dispatch. 3. Careful attention, heedfulness, caution. 4. Law. The attention and care due from a person in a given situation....

Also, "due diligence" in Black's Law Dictionary (sixth edition) at page 457 is as follows:

Due diligence: Such a measure of prudence, activity, or assiduity, as is properly to be expected from, and ordinarily exercised by, a reasonable and prudent man under the particular circumstances; not measured by any absolute standard, but depending on the relative facts of the special case.

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines "exceptional hardship" as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

(h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Board in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

22 (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,

- (a) a threat to the health or safety of any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
- (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.

(2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,

- (a) inconvenience to any person;
- (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
- (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
- (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.

(3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d)- if the owner demonstrates that,

- (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
- (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
- (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
- (d) the impact of the loss,

- (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
- (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).

(4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

Appeal - Due Diligence

The first issue to be considered in this appeal is whether the Applicant exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that David's driver's licence at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension as required by section 50.2(3)(c) of the Act.

The Applicant has conceded that when she assumed the court-appointed role of being a "watchful eye" over David, her main responsibility was to ensure that David did not drive. She was well aware that he had a suspended licence and he was not permitted to have care and control of a motor vehicle.

The Tribunal therefore has no evidence that the Applicant exercised due diligence as required by section 50.2(3)(c) of the Act.

Appeal - Exceptional Hardship

The Applicant has also requested an appeal on the grounds of "exceptional hardship" under section 50.2(3)(d). Section 22 of Regulation 632/98 is very specific, in that it provides the Tribunal with the criteria the Applicant must meet to determine if in fact "exceptional hardship" will result from the impoundment. The Applicant in this case has argued that the impoundment will result in hardships as described by section 22(2). In order for her claims to be considered under section 22(2), she must have demonstrated that all of section 22(3) has been met. Furthermore, section 22(4) of the Regulation provides the criteria for demonstrating that every reasonable option has been considered for an alternative to the impounded vehicle.

The Tribunal would like to refer to the Applicant's Owner's Position in Appeal (Exhibit 2):

AUTOMOBILE REQUIRED FOR:

1. TRANSPORTATION TO EMPLOYMENT LOCATION IN MARKHAM. BUS SERVICE IS NOT CONVEIENTLY AVAILABLE FOR WORK HOURS BEGINNING AT 7 O'CLOCK A.M.

The Applicant testified her hours of employment are from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Her usual commute to work by car, before the impoundment, would have taken 15 to 20 minutes. Since the impoundment, her current commute including transfers takes approximately 1 ½ hours to 2 hours due to public transit.

The Applicant also testified that she has not taken taxis and cannot afford to rent a vehicle. She is not aware of any co-workers that reside in her area. Mr. Whitcher, in his testimony, as well as that of the Applicant indicated that in the event the Applicant required transportation assistance, he would be able to lend a hand. (For example, Acklands Grainger is performing an inventory commencing October 27 through to October 29, 2000. Since the Applicant is required to work difficult hours, Mr. Whitcher has honourably offered to take her to and from work this weekend.)

The Applicant indicated that in the event she required to work flex hours she was of the opinion that her employers would be sympathetic to her situation and would be able to accommodate her work schedule.

The Applicant has taken four sick days due to stress since the impoundment. Her employer has deducted 30 hours from her pay due to these sick days. She is entitled to four weeks vacation per year, but all has been consumed. When asked if she could make arrangements to work longer hours or weekends to make up the four days, she conceded that her employer would allow her to do so.

2. DRIVING TO DOCTORS APPONTMENTS. LETTER FROM DR PETER D'ANGELO.

3 DRIVING TO WEEKLY THERAPY TREATAIENTS. LETTER FROM NORTH EAST THERAPY SERVICES. NEXT APPOINTMENT OCTOBER 18TH.

Since March, 2000, the Applicant's neck and shoulder pain has been acting up due to an accident a few years ago. Her regiment from March until August, 2000 was physiotherapy twice a week. From August to date, her physiotherapy visits have been reduced to once a week.

Since the impoundment, she has kept three appointments and has had to cancel two. Of the three appointments that she was able to attend, a friend was able to drive her to them.

Her physiotherapist's office is located at Bayview and Sheppard. She has had to reschedule her appointments after work from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. so that she could give herself enough time to make these appointments. The Applicant confirmed that she could manage to take a taxi if it was necessary and also confirmed that she has not called to inquire into the public transit from her place of employment to her physiotherapist's office.

4 REGULAR VISITS TO OWNER'S ELDERLY PARENTS WHO RESIDE IN STREETSVILLE,ONT. WILL NOT BE ABLE TO DRIVE OUT TO PROVIDE ANY ASSISTANCE IF NECESSARY

The Applicant's parents reside in Mississauga as well as her brother and his family. Her father and brother own separate vehicles. In the Applicant's testimony, her "brother is close in the event of an emergency". The Applicant would attend her parents' home on weekends to assist her mother who suffers from severe arthritis in her neck and lower spine. She also stated that her father and brother are "managing" in the care of her mother since she has been unable to attend every weekend.

Once again, in Mr. Whitcher's testimony, he indicated that in the event the Applicant needed to visit her parents in Mississauga, he would lend her his vehicle.

5. TRANSPORTATION TO DENTAL APPOINTMENT IN STREETSVILLE ON THUR.
NOV 2 AT 8:00 A.M.

The Applicant has resided in Thornhill for approximately three to four years. She has been unable to find a dentist suitable to her needs in her immediate area. She has been a patient of the dentist in Streetsville since she was quite young.

Needless to say, there are numerous vehicles available to her as well as public transit for her to attend this appointment.

With regard to section 22(2), the impoundment has been quite "inconvenient" for the Applicant in (1) her ability to get to and from work although she is managing in getting to and from work by way of public transit; (2) attending to her physiotherapy appointments; and (3) visit her parents each weekend in Mississauga.

Technically, there is no financial or economic loss to the Applicant since she could make up the four sick days if she so desired and there is no loss or threat of employment loss.

But as aforementioned in section 22(2) above, these are not criteria which the Tribunal may consider.

In considering the above requirement, the Tribunal is of the opinion that the Applicant has not investigated all reasonable alternatives to the impounded vehicle as required by section 22(4) of Regulation 574 as amended by Regulation 632/98.

As the Applicant has stated that she is under some financial restraints, she may pursue compensation from the suspended driver, David Whitcher, once he is released from prison and able to find employment, as is stated in Section 55.1(21) of the Highway Traffic Act:

"The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under this section may bring an action against the driver of the motor vehicle at the time the order was made to recover any costs or other losses incurred by the owner in connection with the order."

None of the claims presented by the Applicant have been substantiated by the evidence as being exceptional hardship. None of the losses presented in the Applicant's submissions have been proven to be immediate, significant and lasting.

Also, the Tribunal is of the opinion that the Applicant does have alternatives to the impounded vehicle, and under section 22 of Regulation 632/98 can not establish exceptional hardship under section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on October 12, 2000, at Timmins, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA").

The Tribunal released its Decision on October 13, 2000, with Reasons to follow.

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the suspension imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 48.3 HTA for the following reasons.

REASONS

BACKGROUND:

Notice of Appeal and Prescribed Fee

This appeal comes before the Tribunal on behalf of the Applicant, by way of a Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990 as amended, chapter H.8. The Applicant elected that his appeal be decided by the Tribunal by way of a written hearing. The form of Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act was dated September 19, 2000, and was received by the Tribunal on September 20, 2000, together with the prescribed fee of $100.00, paid by money order.

Reason for the Appeal

The reason for the appeal cited by the Applicant was stated as follows in the said notice:

"I was unable to provide the required breath sample because of a medical reason."

Preliminary Matters

The Applicant's information was received by the Tribunal on September 20, 2000. The respondent's submission was received October 2, 2000 by fax. Rebuttal information from the Applicant was received by fax October 11, 2000.

ISSUE:

Having established that this appeal falls within subsection 50.1(2)(b) of the Highway Traffic Act, and the Tribunal thereby having jurisdiction, the question to be answered is:

Did the Applicant fail or refuse to comply with a demand made to provide a sample of breath because he was unable to do so for a medical reason?

LAW:

The legislation governing the Administrative Drivers Licence Suspension (ADLS) under subsection 50.1(1) and (2) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA") states:

50.1 (1) "A person whose driver's licence is suspended under Section 48.3 may appeal the suspension to the Tribunal.

(2) The grounds on which a person may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may order that the suspension be set aside are,

(a) that the person whose licence was suspended is not the same individual to whom a demand for a sample of breath or blood was made, or from whom a sample of breath or blood was taken, as the case may be, under or pursuant to the provisions of the Criminal Code (Canada) referred to in subsection 48.3(3); or

(b) that the person failed or refused to comply with a demand made under section 254 of the Criminal Code (Canada) to provide a sample of breath or blood because he or she was unable to do so for a medical reason".

The HTA states under section 50.1(4):

The Board may confirm the suspension or may order that the suspension be set aside.

Regulation 574 (amended), Highway Traffic Act at subsection 15(1),(2) and (3) requires that a medical report must contain:

15. (1) "a report of a legally qualified medical practitioner that is to be submitted in evidence shall clearly state,

(a) the name, telephone number and address, with the postal code, of the medical practitioner;

(b) the name, date of birth and address of the person who is the subject of the report;

(c) that the medical practitioner has prepared the report, or is aware that the report may be used, in support of an appeal to the Board from the suspension of a driver's licence under section 50.1 of the Act;

(d) the length of time and frequency with which the medical practitioner has attended upon the person who is the subject of the report, including the date of the most recent examination of the person that supports the findings set out in the report;

(e) whether the medical practitioner is the family physician of the person who is the subject of the report; and

(f) whether the medical practitioner is a specialist and, if so, the field of speciality.

(2) The report shall provide the details of any present condition, diagnosis and history of the condition that precludes the person who is the subject of the report from providing a breath or blood sample including the results of any related tests.

(3) The report shall be signed by the medical practitioner."

Finally, section 13 of Regulation 574 (amended) provides:

"A person appealing a suspension has the onus of establishing the merit of the appeal".

FACTS:

On September 7, 2000, S. C. Officer #2 of the Metro Toronto Police Service, observed a black Toyota, licence plate # (no.) traveling at a high rate of speed. S.C. Officer #2 activated his MDR-2 mobile radar set which registered 98 km/h in a posted 60km/h zone. S.C. Officer #2 pulled the vehicle over at Eglinton, east of Royal York Road. The driver identified himself with a valid Ontario photo licence as the Applicant. The officer noted a smell of alcohol on the driver's breath. A roadside demand was made, the driver complied, completing the demand on a DRAGAR 7410 GLC instrument. The instrument registered FAIL.

After reading the driver his rights to legal counsel and breath demand, S.C. Officer #2 states that the driver acknowledged he understood both. The Applicant was transported to 22 Division. He was allowed to call his mother and Duty Counsel.

The Applicant was turned over to P.C. Officer #1, a breath technician for the purpose of breath testing. The driver completed his first test approximately one hour and 50 minutes after he was stopped and registered 103 mgs of alcohol in 100 mls of blood. According to P.C. Officer #1, in his affidavit point #12, "The male now outright refused to provide a second sample."

Both P.C. Officer #1 and S.C. Officer #2 state that they never observed any breathing problems or anything to suggest a medical condition. P.C. Officer #1 states "The male easily provided the first breath sample and I could see no reason why he would not attempt the second test."

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

Subsections 48.3(1), (2) and (3) of the Highway Traffic Act, R. S. O. 1990, Chapter H-8 as amended [hereinafter referred to as "the HTA"], provide:

48.3 - (1) Where a police officer is satisfied that a person driving or having the care, charge or control of a motor vehicle meets one of the criteria set out in subsection (3), the officer shall notify the Registrar of the fact, or cause the Registrar to be notified, in the form and manner and within the time prescribed by the regulations.

(2) Upon being notified under subsection (1), the Registrar shall suspend a person's driver's licence for a period of ninety days.

(3) The criteria for the purpose of subsection (1) are:

1. The person had a concentration of alcohol in his or her blood in excess of 80 milligrams in 100 milliliters of blood, as shown by an analysis of the person's breath or blood taken pursuant to a demand made under section 254 of the Criminal Code (Canada) or pursuant to section 256 of the Criminal Code (Canada).

2. The person failed or refused to provide a breath or blood sample in response to a demand made under section 254 of the Criminal Code (Canada).

It is quite obvious that the Applicant had a concentration in excess of 80 mgs/100 mls, registering 103 mgs almost two hours after he was stopped.

Subsections 50.1 (2) of the HTA provide that a person may appeal the suspension if he failed or refused to comply with a demand to provide a sample ... because he/she was unable to do so for medical reason.

The registrar denies that any medical reason caused the Applicant's failure to provide the required breath sample, and this Tribunal agrees.

The Applicant was able to provide a suitable sample at roadside, and nearly two hours later provided a sample to P.C. Officer #1, registering 103mgs/100mls.

From personal knowledge of these testing procedures, the Tribunal finds that even if the Applicant had a "nose condition", that would not prevent him from providing a suitable sample by mouth. Furthermore, the Applicant states and this is confirmed by his physician, that the stitches in his nose were removed by his specialist on September 8, 2000, the day after the demand. Obviously, the stitches were removed because the tissue had healed, and would in no way have prevented compliance with the demand.

It would appear that the Applicant had no intention of providing a second sample at 22 Division.

The Tribunal must rely on objective evidence when making any decision. Section 13 of Regulation 574, R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 510/96 provides:

"A person appealing a suspension has the onus of establishing the merit of the appeal."

It is the opinion of this Tribunal that the Applicant has failed to establish the merit of his appeal, providing no objective reasons for his failure to provide a sample.

Furthermore, the report submitted by Physician #1 fails to meet the criteria of Regulation 574. HTA, at subsection 15 (1), (2) and (3).

The Applicant refused to provide a breath sample under section 254 of the Criminal Code of Canada, according to the evidence submitted, and has failed to establish the merit of this appeal. The Tribunal is unable to address the plea from the Applicant regarding his need to maintain his licence in order to maintain his job, since this is beyond the scope of the Tribunal.

The decision of this Tribunal is based on the evidence of P.C. Officer #1 and S.C. Officer #2, and the Applicant, and particularly that the Applicant provided two samples, one roadside test that registered FAIL and one at 22 Division that registered 103m/100mls.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the suspension order dated September 8, 2000 of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles pursuant to section 48.3 of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA") and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

Pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50.1(4) of the HTA, the Tribunal confirms the suspension.

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the suspension imposed by the Registrar pursuant to Section 48.3 HTA for the following reasons.

REASONS

BACKGROUND:

Notice of Appeal and Prescribed Fee

This appeal comes before the Tribunal on behalf of the Applicant, by way of a Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990 as amended, chapter H.8. Reason for the Appeal

The reason for the appeal cited by the Applicant was stated as follows in the said notice:

"I was unable to provide the required breath sample because of a medical reason."

Preliminary Matters

There were no preliminary matters. The documents submitted to the Tribunal, with the consent of both parties, were entered into evidence.

Having established that this appeal falls within subsection 50.1(2)(b) of the Highway Traffic Act, and the Tribunal thereby having jurisdiction, the question to be answered is: Did the Applicant fail or refuse to comply with a demand made to provide a sample of breath or blood because he or she was unable to do so for a medical reason?

LAW:

The legislation governing the Administrative Drivers Licence Suspension (ADLS) under subsection 50.1(1) and (2) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA") states:

50.1 (1) "A person whose driver's licence is suspended under Section 48.3 may appeal the suspension to the Tribunal.

(2) The grounds on which a person may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may order that the suspension be set aside are,

- (a) that the person whose licence was suspended is not the same individual to whom a demand for a sample of breath or blood was made, or from whom a sample of breath or blood was taken, as the case may be, under or pursuant to the provisions of the Criminal Code (Canada) referred to in subsection 48.3(3); or
- (b) that the person failed or refused to comply with a demand made under section 254 of the Criminal Code (Canada) to provide a sample of breath or blood because he or she was unable to do so for a medical reason”.

The HTA states under section 50.1(4):

The Tribunal may confirm the suspension or may order that the suspension be set aside.

Regulation 574 (amended), Highway Traffic Act at subsection 15(1),(2) and (3) requires that a medical report must contain:

15. (1) “a report of a legally qualified medical practitioner that is to be submitted in evidence shall clearly state,

- (a) the name, telephone number and address, with the postal code, of the medical practitioner;
- (b) the name, date of birth and address of the person who is the subject of the report;
- (c) that the medical practitioner has prepared the report, or is aware that the report may be used, in support of an appeal to the Board from the suspension of a driver's licence under section 50.1 of the Act;
- (d) the length of time and frequency with which the medical practitioner has attended upon the person who is the subject of the report, including the date of the most recent examination of the person that supports the findings set out in the report;
- (e) whether the medical practitioner is the family physician of the person who is the subject of the report; and
- (f) whether the medical practitioner is a specialist and, if so, the field of speciality.

(2) The report shall provide the details of any present condition, diagnosis and history of the condition that precludes the person who is the subject of the report from providing a breath or blood sample including the results of any related tests.

(3) The report shall be signed by the medical practitioner.”

Finally, section 13 of Regulation 574 (amended) provides:

“A person appealing a suspension has the onus of establishing the merit of the appeal.”

FACTS:

The Applicant took the stand, was sworn and gave the following testimony. On the evening of August 20, 2000, the Applicant was taken into custody by Peel Regional Police and transported to the police station for a breathalyzer test. The events leading up to this point, according to the Applicant, were paramount in his reasoning for not providing a sample of his breath for analysis when requested by police.

According to the Applicant, he had started out the evening by joining some friends for dinner. During the course of the meal, he consumed a large glass of beer and a glass of wine. After dinner, he and his friend E. G., went to a club in the Dixie/Matheson area. The time was around midnight. At the club, the Applicant denied drinking more alcohol as he stated that he was the designated driver.

When the Applicant and his friend left the club, they returned to the apartment parking lot. It was now approximately 2:00 a.m. Instead of going into the apartment, the Applicant decided to stay in his car and listen to his stereo. According to the Applicant, he had beer in the trunk. He was not drinking but his passenger, E. G. was. The Applicant stated that his keys were in the ignition in order to provide power to his stereo, but the car was not running. The Applicant testified that he was unaware of the Police presence. The Applicant claims that he has very limited hearing from his left ear and that this may have been the reason he did not hear the police officer when he was asked to step out of the vehicle. The Applicant testified that he only heard the officer tell him that he was under arrest. The Applicant then testified that he was pulled from the vehicle, punched in the back and then put on the ground. He testified that he heard the officer call for back up and within a very short time, more officers were surrounding him. The Applicant then testified that he was kicked in the legs and testicles. He attempted to see which one kicked him but could not. He was placed in a cruiser, told not to move and was transported to 12 Division and turned over to the breathalyzer technician, P.C. Officer #1, Badge Number (no.).

After he was released in the morning, the Applicant returned to his car, where he had his camera, took pictures of the area, himself and then went to the walk in clinic as he testified that he was not feeling well. He testified that at the walk in clinic he was examined and told that he had no broken bones and some abrasions for which he could apply some cream. The Applicant testified that at the clinic, a urine sample was obtained and indicated blood in the urine.

The Applicant was crossed examined by Mr. Kyle Biel, representative for the Respondent. Mr. Biel asked the Applicant if he co-operated with police. The Applicant answered that he was not given a chance, as he was pulled from the vehicle. His explanation was that he may have not heard police as he has limited hearing in his left ear. When asked if he provided a sample of his breath when asked, the Applicant stated that he was very upset and was having trouble with his breathing because of the punch to the back and chest as well as the kick to his groin area.

The Applicant had a copy of the videotape which was taken during his stay in the breath room at the police station. The video was played for the Tribunal. The videotape clearly showed the Applicant seated next to the breathalyzer machine and P.C. Officer #1 sitting to the Applicant's left, at the desk. The officer, explained to the Applicant the he was asking him to provide a sample of his breath to determine if he has alcohol in his blood. The Officer read the demand for breath and asked the Applicant if he did understand and the Applicant responded that he did. However, the Applicant stated that he was not going to blow into the machine. The Officer asked the Applicant if he wanted to speak with an attorney and that if he could not afford one, one would be provided. The Applicant answered that he did not want a lawyer and would deal with this himself.

The Applicant was asked at least four times if he would provide a breath sample, refusing each time. P.C. Officer #1 told the Applicant that if he did not provide a sample, he would be charged with a criminal offence and asked if he understood this, to which the Applicant replied, "yes, I understand". During the session with P.C. Officer #1, the Applicant was dabbing his forehead with a piece of paper towel, where it appeared there was an abrasion. The officer asked the Applicant. "Could you do the test if you wanted to?", to which the Applicant replied, "yes".

The Applicant testified that on the video he could see a "moment where he held his chest as though he had pain". The Applicant was excused from the stand.

P.C. Officer #1 was called to the stand, sworn and gave the following evidence.

P.C. Officer #1 testified that the taped session was an accurate representation of his dealings with the Applicant. P.C. Officer #1 also testified that the Applicant at no time appeared to be in any physical distress or verbally indicate to him that the Applicant was having difficulty because of a medical condition. According to P.C. Officer #1, had the Applicant indicated to him in any way that there was a medical problem and that he could not blow into the machine, the option of having a blood sample was available to him. P.C. Officer #1 testified that the photographs presented, are a true representation of how the Applicant appeared. He testified that he could not comment on the abrasions under the Applicant's shirt as the Applicant's shirt was not off during his interview with the Applicant.

P.C. Officer #1 asked the Applicant what his reasons were for not providing a breath sample, to which the Applicant replied "I will tell this to the courts".

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

In an appeal of this nature, the onus is on the Applicant to substantiate his position. The documents submitted by the Applicant do not substantiate his claim to the effect that he had a present medical condition which precluded him from providing a breath or blood sample.

The report from Physician # 1, written October 5, 2000, the physician who attended to the Applicant on August 20, 2000, fails to meet the specific requirements of Section 15 (1) of Regulation 574 of the Highway Traffic Act as set out below.

Physician #1 does not provide the Tribunal with any subjective test results to substantiate the Applicant's assertion that due to his medical condition, he was not able to provide a proper breath sample. The actual report/form written at the time, gave a brief history as related to the Doctor by the Applicant: "Police beat him with fists, and hit asphalt and hit in testes", with physical examination findings of "bruised and abrasion to molar area no++ clinical, U.A. gl + wbc "neg Bld +++ " There is also a note to have follow up in one to two days. No follow up was done as the Applicant did not return when requested.

The report dated October 5, 2000 does not indicate that his "injuries" would have prevented the Applicant from providing a breath sample.

The Tribunal has found that the report submitted by Physician #1 has not addressed the issue of how the Applicant's condition precluded him from providing a proper sample of his breath. Accordingly, the Tribunal attaches no weight to this report.

The evidence establishes that the Applicant refused to provide a sample of his breath but does not establish a medical reason for this refusal.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the suspension order dated August 20, 2000 of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles pursuant to section 48.3 of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA") and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

Pursuant to the authority vested under section 50.1(4) of the HTA, the Tribunal confirms the suspension.

TO APPEAL AN ORDER TO IMPOUND A MOTOR VEHICLE ISSUED BY THE REGISTRAR OF MOTOR VEHICLES

TRIBUNAL: NIVES MONTANO

APPEARANCES: KIM GROSSKURTH

DATE OF HEARING: November 3, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: November 6, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on Friday, November 3, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner:	The Applicant (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle:	Ford Mustang, (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal:	October 17, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship (Exhibit 2) as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on November 3, 2000 and proceeded as an electronic hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles brought a Motion (Exhibit 3), under section 7 of the Rules of Practice of the Tribunal, requesting:

- (a) that the hearing not be open to the public; and
- (b) that certain documentation to be submitted at the hearing not be accessible to the public.

for reasons being that intimate personal matters may be disclosed at the hearing, of such a nature, having regard to the circumstances, that the desirability of avoiding disclosure thereof is in the interests of the Applicant's child and disclosure would be in contravention of the Young Offenders Act R.S.C., as amended.

The Tribunal granted and issued such Order under separate cover.

There were no further preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit 2) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

"The vehicle was taken from my driveway with out my permission by my child, who doesn't have a driving licence. Police caught my child and impounded my car. I'm driving to work every day 30 km one way. With out my car I have no means of getting to work.
My child is over 18 years old and I think I shouldn't be punished for the child's actions."

The Applicant is a wife and mother of two children ages 15 and 18 years old. She is also employed full-time as an assembler at St. Clair Technologies located in Wallaceburg, Ontario. Her hours of employment are from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. Her place of employment is approximately 30 kilometers from home.

The day the vehicle was impounded, while the Applicant was asleep after working her shift, her child took the keys from her purse located in the closet and went for a drive with friends. In her testimony, the Applicant is against her child having care and control of her vehicle but did state that her child and friends enjoy driving the impounded vehicle.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows (Exhibits 5 & 6):

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by the Applicant's child;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of failing to stop for a police officer. Before commencing this hearing, the Registrar of Motor Vehicles brought a motion, under section 7 of the Rules of Practice of the Tribunal, requesting that certain documentation to be submitted at the hearing not be accessible to the public since it would be in contravention of the Young Offenders Act R.S.C. Within these documents was evidence that a Criminal Code conviction was registered against the Applicant's child's driving record, which was the basis for the vehicle impoundment.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

(1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines "exceptional hardship" as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

- (h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22
- (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Tribunal shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety or any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.

- (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Tribunal shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
- (3) The Tribunal may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while the child's or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The Tribunal must determine whether it should set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the owner of the impounded vehicle will suffer exceptional hardship.

The Applicant has appealed on the grounds of "exceptional hardship" under section 55.2(3)(d). Section 22 of Regulation 632/98 is very specific, in that it provides the Tribunal with the criteria the Applicant must meet to determine if in fact "exceptional hardship" will result from the impoundment. The Applicant in this case has argued that the impoundment will result in hardships as described in section 22(2). In order for her appeal to be considered under section 22(2), she must have demonstrated that all of section 22(3) has been met. Furthermore, section 22(4) of the Regulations provides the criteria for demonstrating that every reasonable option has been considered respecting an alternative vehicle.

The Tribunal's consideration of subsections 22(3)(a), (b) and (c) follows.

- (a) "no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available" Contrary to Exhibit 2, the Applicant testified that a 1989 Sundance is also registered in her name. A person employed by her and her husband as a hot dog street vendor uses this vehicle. The Applicant also testified that her husband owns his own vehicle. The Applicant has testified that she has not called to determine whether there is public transit from Chatham to Wallaceburg.

- (b) "the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting" Contrary to Exhibit 2, the Applicant testified that (i); she has not missed any days of work or lost any wages due to her vehicle's impoundment; (ii) her friends have been driving her to and from work each day; (iii) the Applicant's husband is employed two kilometers away from the Applicant's place of employment. His hours of employment are from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. In the event the Applicant's friends cannot provide transportation to the Applicant, the Applicant has the option of walking, public transit, or a taxi to her husband's place of employment to borrow his car.
- (c) "the impact of loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle" The Applicant testified that her younger child, after school, is employed part-time at Burger King in Chatham. The Applicant's younger child has managed to get to work either by walking or taking a bike.

After considering the above requirement, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant has alternatives to the impounded vehicle.

None of the claims presented by the Applicant have been substantiated with sufficient evidence. None of the losses presented in the Applicant's submissions have been proven and/or have met the criteria required under the Regulation.

Accordingly, the Tribunal finds the Applicant has not established that she has or will suffer exceptional hardship as provided by Ontario Regulation 632/98, section 22.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

ORDER

PURSUANT to the provisions of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H.8 as amended (the "Act"), Diana Carol Empey (the "Applicant") appealed a decision of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar") made under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a certain 1986 Buick Century Estate Wagon motor vehicle, plate number 866 ZZL, the sole ground of appeal being that of exceptional hardship under subsection 50.2(3)(d) of the Act;

UPON MOTION, made by the representative of the Registrar for an order by the Tribunal dismissing the Applicant's appeal from the decision of the Registrar heard by this Tribunal on Thursday, November 2, 2000 at 1 St. Clair Avenue West, 12th Floor, Toronto, Ontario, with Applicant being present by teleconference.

ON READING the exhibits and hearing submissions of the representative of the Registrar as well as submissions by the Applicant, this Tribunal finds that the ground of exceptional hardship (section 50.2(3)(d)) upon which the Applicant relies in this appeal, does not apply by virtue of section 50.2(4) as a previous order to impound under section 55.1 was made with respect to another motor vehicle then owned by the Applicant.

THIS TRIBUNAL Orders that the appeal by the Applicant is accordingly dismissed and pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Act, the Tribunal hereby confirms the order of the Registrar to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

DATE OF HEARING: October 26, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: November 7, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on October 26, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended (HTA or the Act).

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the Act).

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the ARegistrar@), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: Majid Taheri (the AApplicant")
Motor Vehicle: 1998 Toyota CRV, plate #AERY 988 (the Avehicle")
Date of Appeal: October 12, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the ATribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on October 26, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

Arash Taheri, appeared before the Tribunal and provided a letter of direction to the Tribunal which indicated that the Applicant, Majid Taheri would not be in attendance and that his son, Arash Taheri would be representing him in the matter before the Tribunal. There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

The hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

To Whom It May Concern,

I, Majid Taheri, am the owner of the impounded vehicle make Toyota, year 1998, model CRV with license plate number AERY 988. My son has committed the offence of driving my car without my consent while under suspension. This car has been impounded under Section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act.

My wife and I are over the age of fifty and need to use this car for economical and personal reasons. My wife and I use this car as a form of transportation from and to work daily and we are used to this method and due to our age it is perhaps hard to make transitions from car to public transportation. We are both suffering due to this and ask for you to please help us out in getting back our car from Ottawa. It is understandable that another punishment for my wife and I is to go to Ottawa in order to get the car and drive back for approximately five to six hours. I beg of you to speed the process in order for us to get our car back because we are losing money as well as the hardship this has created for us. We need to go shopping, YMCA for our health, work and personal travelling and without our car we are paralysed. Please help us out.

On top of this a large dollar amount has to be paid for the release of the car in which my son will pay but we are not in a good financial position either. My son is having his own punishment set out for him in the court of law. He is extremely sorry but nothing is going to take us back in time or else everything would be fixed. Please be kind enough to at least help out my wife and I in this situation.

Yours truly,

Majid Taheri
October 12, 2000

The Applicant's Representative, Arash Taheri was sworn and gave the following testimony. It should be noted that Arash Taheri was also the suspended driver who was in the Applicant's vehicle at the time that the order to impound was made.

Arash Taheri stated that he was the driver of the impounded vehicle which was impounded in Ottawa on October 8, 2000. He testified that he was in fact under suspension when the vehicle was stopped and subsequently impounded. He testified that he was appearing before the Tribunal because he had caused his parents enough grief and felt that they should not have to endure any further hardships or embarrassment because of his actions.

Arash Taheri testified that his parents were appealing the impound because they could not afford the costs involved and that this was an exceptional hardship on them. Mr. Taheri testified that his parents are in their early 50's and in a somewhat fragile state of health. Mrs. Taheri is an office cleaner and has weekly income between 500 and 600 dollars. Mr. Taheri, a taxi driver also generates about the same or maybe more. The household income is somewhere around $4,000.00 to $5,000.00 per month. They reside in an apartment at Don Mills and York Mills avenues. They attend work daily but have had to take public transportation to and from their work which they find very difficult. There is no other vehicle available to them to replace the impounded vehicle. They believe that due to their limited income, they just could not afford to rent or lease a vehicle for the duration of the impoundment. Mr. Taheri stated that his parents have lost work because of this situation albeit only the day after they learned of the impoundment of their vehicle. Mr. Taheri testified that his mother has had to stop attending her E.S.L. which is located in the Bathurst/Lawrence area.

The Representative for the Respondent, Mr. Kyle Biel cross-examined Mr. Taheri. Mr. Taheri was asked if there were any other vehicles owned by his father. The representative, Arash Taheri stated that there were not. However, Mr. Biel produced a vehicle records search indicating that in fact there was a 1997 Chevrolet Cavalier plated until the year 2001, registered in Mr. Taheri's name. Arash Taheri explained that this was in fact his brother's vehicle whom his father put in his name because his son had some difficulties but that his brother did not reside at the same address and lived downtown. Mr. Taheri also stated that having his brother come and pick up his parents was not an option available to them as this presented a hardship for his brother and was unrealistic. When asked if his parents had missed any time off work and how did they get there, Arash Taheri testified that his parents have used public transportation and have not missed time from work except for the day after the impoundment as they were too upset to attend work. The Respondent had no further questions for Mr. Taheri and the witness was excused from the stand.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Arash Taheri;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of dangerous driving under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until November 4, 2000.

The representative for the Respondent did not take the stand and stated that all of the evidence had been submitted to the Tribunal and he had no witnesses to call.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

- (1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

- (3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,
- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
 - (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
 - (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
 - (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines "exceptional hardship" as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

(h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22 (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
- (a) a threat to the health or safety of any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
- (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
- (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
- (a) inconvenience to any person;
- (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
- (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
- (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
- (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
- (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
- (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
- (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
- (d) the impact of the loss,

- (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship under section 50.2(3)(d)?

Section 22(1) of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990 as amended by Regulation 632/98 states that when an owner appeals on the basis of exceptional hardship, the Tribunal shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available.®

The Applicant has submitted evidence in the form of a statement indicating that (i) the vehicle is used for economical and personal reasons, (ii) the Applicant uses the car as a method of transportation, (iii) it is difficult to make the transition to public transportation (iv) there will be economic loss due to the cost of returning the vehicle from the impound facility, (v) the Applicant and his wife require the vehicle for shopping, YMCA for his and his wife's health and personal travel, and (vi) without the vehicle "we are paralyzed."

On the evidence before the Tribunal, it is clear that an alternative is available to the Applicant and being used by the Applicant and his wife. That alternative is public transportation. The Applicant has used this method of transportation and will continue to utilize this method during the impound of his motor vehicle. Albeit an inconvenience, the Applicant and his wife will suffer no hardship due to the availability of this alternative.

The Applicant has provided no supporting evidence to support his claim that the impoundment of his vehicle will result in a threat to the health or safety of any one transported by his vehicle, including himself, as described in Regulation 632/98 22(1)(a).

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

REASONS FOR RULING AND ORDER

This is an application to the Licence Appeal Tribunal to extend the time for the Applicants, Jacob Manz and Lillian Ruel-Manz to file an appeal from a decision of the Ontario New Home Warranty Program ("the Program") pursuant to section 16(2) of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act ("the Act").

The hearing of this motion proceeded on consent as an electronic hearing. The Tribunal received material and heard evidence from the Applicants setting forth their reasons for requesting an extension. The oral evidence included information from Mr. Dain, who was contacted to clarify an engineering report he had provided to the Applicants. The Program did not file material on the motion but opposed the application to extend time, referring to the Applicants' evidence and the original decision letter under appeal.

The Tribunal makes the following findings:

The Applicants purchased the home in question in March, 2000. The original owners' date of possession for the home was August 9, 1993. The Applicants contacted the Program after they moved in and made a claim that there were numerous deficiencies in the home. Because the previous owners had not notified the Program of the alleged defects prior to the Applicants taking possession, the first notice of the claim was made over six years from the date of original possession.

The Program inspected the home on June 14, 2000 and the Program, which refused the claims on the basis that they did not constitute major structural defects, issued a Decision Letter dated July 5, 2000. The Applicants received the Decision Letter on July 13, 2000.

The Decision Letter notified the Applicants that if they wished to appeal the decision, they must deliver a notice in writing to this Tribunal within 15 days. An informational brochure about the Tribunal and its process was provided, together with the address for service.

On August 3, 2000, the Tribunal received the Notice of Appeal, relating to damage around windows and doors as a "Claim for Major Structural Defect". The notice was sent by regular mail and is dated July 28, 2000. It states, "We apologize for the short delay in submitting this to the Tribunal, however our Engineer was away on holidays and just got the letter to us."

The Engineering Company employs Mr. Dain, the author of the report in question, but he is not an engineer. He indicated that the damage is not a major structural defect within the meaning of the Act. It is his opinion that the damage has been caused by poor framing around the windows and doors, and that the damage could have been prevented had proper painting and caulking been performed by the builder and by the previous owners.

Under Section 7 of the Licence Appeal Tribunal Act, 1999, an Applicant may request an extension of time for giving notice requiring a hearing. This section reads:

7. Despite any limitation of time fixed by or under any Act for the giving of any notice requiring a hearing by the Tribunal or an appeal from a decision or order of the Tribunal under section 11 or under any other Act, if the Tribunal is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for applying for the extension and for granting relief, it may,
 - (a) extend the time for giving the notice either before or after the expiration of the limitation of time so limited; and
 - (b) give the directions it considers proper as a result of extending the time.

In determining whether there are reasonable grounds for applying for the extension and for the granting of the relief, the Tribunal takes into account the factors set forth in the decision of the Commercial Registration Appeal Tribunal in Re Bilodeau and ONHWP (1994), 26 CRAT 930:

1. That there was an intention to appeal within the time limited;
2. That the reason the notice of appeal was not served on time is such that the Applicants should be excused for not doing so and allowed to do it later if they did so as soon as the true situation was apprehended;
3. That there is not some overriding prejudice to the Respondent in allowing the application;
4. That there is a substantial point in issue and the Applicant has some reasonable chance of success.

This Tribunal notes that the fundamental principle in deciding whether to allow an extension is to see that justice is done.

It appears that the Applicants did have the intention to appeal within the time limited. They were out of time by only a matter of days, apparently not understanding the clear mandate to file the notice within 15 days. The Tribunal is unable to find any substantial prejudice to the Respondent if the matter were to proceed. However, in the circumstances of this case, it is impossible to find that the Applicants have some or any reasonable chance of success. Their claim is for a major structural defect in their home and the evidence they intend to rely on is clearly not sufficient to fall within the definition of major structural defect within the meaning of the Act.

Under these circumstances, it is not appropriate for the Tribunal to exercise its discretion and order that the time for giving the notice be extended, as there are no reasonable grounds to do so.

ORDER:

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority vested in it by the Licence Appeal Tribunal Act, 1999, the Tribunal orders that the application to extend the time for filing of the Appeal by the Applicants be dismissed.

DECISION RELEASED: November 7, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on November 2, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: Joseph McGraw (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle: 1994 Ford Pick up, plate YWR 636 (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal: October 16, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on November 2, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing. The Respondent submitted a set of copies of documents bearing original certification seals.

All documents were submitted into evidence with the consent of both parties.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

IMPOUNDMENT WOULD CAUSE EXTREME FINANCIAL HARDSHIP IF UNABLE TO WORK CANNOT PAY BUSINESS OVERHEAD, HOME MORTGAGE AS I AM SOLE OWNER OF BUSINESS AND LIABLE FOR ALL EXPENSES WOULD ALSO HAVE TO

LAY-OFF HELPER PUTTING HIM OUT OF A JOB. ONLY OWN THIS ONE TRUCK & WITHOUT SAME AM UNABLE TO OPERATE BUSINESS WHICH WOULD LEAD TO BANKRUPTCY.

The Applicant stated that the impounded vehicle is the only vehicle owned by him, and that it is used for a business that he also owns. He further stated that he was the driver of the vehicle at the time of the impoundment. Furthermore, as the loss of this vehicle has caused great hardship to his business, it has also put him under great financial hardship.

The Applicant's wife does not rely on the impounded vehicle for transportation, as she has a vehicle provided for her by her employer. The Applicant further stated that he had not inquired into the use of alternatives to the impounded vehicle, as he felt that due to his current financial situation, none would be affordable.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Joseph McGraw;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of failing or refusing to provide breath or blood sample under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until February 7, 2001.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

- (3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

- (1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

- (3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,
- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
 - (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
 - (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
 - (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines "exceptional hardship" as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

- (4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

- (h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22 (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety of any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
- (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
- (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).

- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

The Applicant has appealed on the grounds of exceptional hardship, in accordance with section 55.2(3)(d). Section 22 of Regulation 632/98 is very specific, in that it provides the Tribunal with the specific criteria the Applicant must meet to determine if in fact exceptional hardship will result from the impoundment. The Tribunal is precluded from considering any other factors not arising from or directly related to the impoundment itself. In the matter before this Tribunal, there was no evidence before the Tribunal that the impoundment had contributed to the pre-existing financial hardships or uncertainty that the Applicant and his company have had to endure.

The Applicant has claimed that the impoundment has affected his business' prospects and financial situation, and thus his own. However, section 22(3)(d) of Regulation 632/98 precludes the Tribunal from considering the impact of any loss as a result of the impoundment that may be upon the person who was driving the vehicle at the time of the impoundment while their driver's licence was then under suspension. Here, the Applicant was the driver of the vehicle at the time of the impoundment. Therefore, the Tribunal may not consider the impacts of the loss that may be experienced by the Applicant.

In order for the Applicant's claims to be considered under section 22(2)(a), (b), and (c), he must also have demonstrated that all of section 22(3) has been met. Furthermore, section 22(4) of the Regulation provides the criteria for demonstrating that every reasonable option has been considered for an alternative vehicle. The Applicant has made no specific claims of exceptional hardship as described by section 22(1)(a) or (b).

The Applicant has not presented the Tribunal with any evidence that would demonstrate that every reasonable alternative option has been considered and inquired into as required under section 22(4) of the Regulation. The Tribunal finds that the Applicant's statement that an alternative is simply not possible due to his financial limitations, and therefore was not inquired into, is insufficient in meeting the onus under this section of the Regulation. The Tribunal finds that the Applicant has failed to meet the onus under section 22(4) of the Regulation and is therefore precluded from considering the Applicant's claim of exceptional hardship under section 22(2) of the Regulation.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

DAVID J. HYRSKI

APPEAL FROM A DECISION OF THE CORPORATION
DESIGNATED FOR THE PURPOSES OF THE
ONTARIO NEW HOME WARRANTIES PLAN ACT

TRIBUNAL: MARJORIE L. HILEY, Vice-Chair

APPEARANCES: WILLIAM HYRSKI, Agent, representing the Applicant
MICHAEL BADER, Counsel, representing the Ontario New Home
Warranty Program
No one appearing for the Added Party, Embi Homes Inc.

DATE OF
HEARING: October 2, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal by David Hyrski (the "Applicant") of a decision dated May 16, 2000 of the Ontario New Home Warranty Program (the "Program") under the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act (the "Act"), respecting a home purchased by the Applicant. The home is located at 1431 Upper Sherman Avenue, Hamilton, Ontario (the "home").

This matter was originally set for a hearing on September 25, 2000 and to continue on September 26 and 27 as necessary. It was adjourned upon the written consent of all of the parties to commence on October 2, 2000 and continue on October 3 and October 4 as necessary. The Added Party by its letter of September 25, 2000 then stated that it could not attend for the hearing on October 2 as had been previously agreed upon. The Registrar, by a letter dated September 26, 2000, stated that the hearing could not be adjourned unless there was consent of all of the parties in writing to the adjournment and the consent of all of the parties to the new hearing dates. Such consent was not obtained and the hearing commenced on October 2, 2000.

The Added Party was not in attendance at the commencement of the hearing. Counsel for the Program stated that he had attempted to serve the Added Party with a summons by mail at the last known address, that being Embi Homes Inc. 1550 Upper James Street 9-314 Hamilton, Ontario L9B 2R8.

The Applicant was not in attendance at the hearing. He had sent his father to be his agent. The father produced a handwritten note to that effect which was made an exhibit. David Hyrski is a paraplegic. He was in hospital at the time of the hearing awaiting an operation. According to his parents he would not be available to attend at a hearing for a number of months and he wished the hearing to be held in his absence.

The Applicant and builder appear to have discussed an agreement for the purchase of the home in January 1998. This agreement was not finalized. The Applicant took possession of the home in March, 1998 under a "licence to occupy" document. On June 10, 1999 an Agreement of Purchase and Sale of the home dated June 10, 1999 was signed by the Applicant and the builder, and the sale was closed later that month.

ISSUES:

1. Is the Applicant entitled to make a claim based on section 14(1)(b) of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act?
2. If so, were the claims made by the Applicant within the statutory time limits under the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act and in compliance with Regulation 892, Part II, section 4(1) as to providing written notice of the claim to the Program?
3. If so, does the Applicant have warrantable claims regarding the garage floor and the cement wheelchair ramp attached to it and regarding the paving of the driveway?
4. Has the Applicant received any benefits which would affect the assessment of damages under the warranties?

THE EVIDENCE:

Opening Statement of the Program:

Counsel for the Program stated that the position of the Program was that the Applicant was not able to make a claim based on the definition of "vendor" under the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act. The Program took the position that the home purchased by the Applicant was not covered by warranty under the Act because it had been previously occupied and, therefore, there was no basis for a claim under section 14(1)(b). If it is held that this is not the case, then the Program took the position that the warranties take effect from the date of possession and that the Applicant had waited over one year to make a claim in writing to the Program. That being the case, the paving of the driveway would be out of warranty but the issue of the wheelchair ramp would be within the warranty period as it is a health and safety violation. The Program knew that David Hyski was a paraplegic prior to his occupancy of the home.

Further, Counsel for the Program stated that the Program relied upon section 14(6) of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act and took the position that the Applicant had received a benefit by living in the home rent free for a period of time. It was the position of the Program that the benefit of the rent free period received by the Applicant exceeded the cost of the repairs, and the Applicant suffered no loss.

Testimony of William Hyski:

Mr. Hyski testified that he is the father of the Applicant, David Hyski. The Applicant was injured in a motorcycle accident in May, 1993. He wanted to own his own home after years of residing in the home of his parents. Mr. Hyski testified that David lived with him and his wife from August, 1993 until March, 1998. At that time, David went to live at the home at 1431 Upper Sherman Avenue in Hamilton. Mr. Hyrski stated that the settlement respecting his son's motorcycle accident was not completed at that time, but the builder told his son to move into the house. David had hoped he would be able to purchase the home soon after the move. Mr. Hyrski had not known of the "licence to occupy" document until he saw it in the Program's Book of Document for the hearing.

Mr. Hyrski was not aware of any arrangements whereby the Applicant paid rent for living in the house from March, 1998 until June, 1999. Mr. Hyrski had never seen the January 30, 1998 Agreement of Purchase and Sale that his son had signed for the purchase of the house. The Applicant had not been able to use the upstairs in his parents' home and his parents, had renovated their home to install a lift and put a bathroom in the basement. Mr. Hyrski was not aware of any inquiries being made to the Program prior to the closing of the house deal in June, 1999. He knew that the two lawyers involved in the real estate transaction and the builder had all said there was New Home Warranty coverage.

Mr. Hyrski stated that in the fifteen months that David lived in the home prior to the closing, the builder did not complete the repairs that David and he and his wife had requested. The builder had agreed to look after the expenses of the home when David lived there while David waited for the funds from the insurance settlement. Mr. Hyrski estimated that the cost of the repairs was approximately six thousand dollars. The builder had said he would fix the house within ninety days of the closing, but that never happened.

Mr. Hyrski repaired a number of the items that had been listed as claims with the Program. He built a deck at the back, put on a railing on the front porch, did the curbing for the driveway, and installed the sod. The cost of these repairs was approximately $3,850.00. As David is on the provincial disability plan, he had to ask for reimbursement of this amount from David's insurance settlement funds.

Regarding the existing items, Mr. Hyrski estimates it will cost $3,200.00 to pave the driveway. This is based on two estimates he received. He does not know what would be the repair cost for the garage floor and the wheelchair ramp. At the present time, David needs help in order to get his wheelchair over the ramp from the garage into the house.

Testimony of Ann Hyrski:

Mrs. Hyrski stated that she had talked to the builder during the time that her son was living in the house prior to closing about doing some of the necessary repairs. She mentioned to the builder that David needed to have the ramp fixed so he could enter and exit his home without assistance. She also mentioned to the builder about a ramp at the back of the house, paving the driveway and doing the sod work. She had talked to the builder about these matters on several occasions between March, 1998 and June, 1999. As well, letters had been sent by her son's lawyer to the builder about these items.

Despite the problems with the lack of repair, David did not discuss with her ever leaving the house and returning to live with his parents in their home.

Testimony of Bob Thoburn:

Mr. Thoburn is a warranty representative for the Program, working out of their Brampton office. He has been with the program for nine years. Prior to that time he had spent many years in the construction industry as a site supervisor, a project manager, and in customer service in a variety of projects including high rise, townhouse and wood frame residential. He did the conciliation report on this application.

Mr. Thoburn testified that the Program received the request for conciliation plus the homeowner complaint form and a three page undertaking form relating to the house purchase on November 23, 1999. Mr. Thoburn inspected the house on February 15, 2000 and his report is dated March 7, 2000. At the time that Mr. Thoburn inspected the house, the builder would not enter the property, and he had to meet with the builder privately after completion of the house inspection. He did not have a copy of the Agreement of Purchase and Sale at the time he did the inspection. After that time he got a number of legal documents from the builder including the Agreement of Purchase and Sale dated June 10, 1999, the licence to occupy dated March 27, 1998, and one page of an Agreement of Purchase and Sale with the date of January 30, 1998 but no signatures. Since then, Mr. Thoburn received other documents from Mr. David Hyrski's lawyer relating to the real estate closing in June of 1999. Mr. Thoburn also has a certificate of completion and possession that has the date stamp of the Program of November 23, 1999. This certificate has two dates for occupancy, that being March 27, 1998 and June 21, 1999 plus two sets of initials beside those dates.

Mr. Thoburn stated that of the eleven items that David Hyrski had complained of to the Program, he would have warranted ten of them (he did not find a problem with item #7 that being the main bathroom floor) if it were not for the problem that these complaints did not fall under the auspices of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act.

Mr. Thoburn combined items 1 and 2 dealing with the garage floor and the wheel chair ramp from the garage floor. He felt these defects were under the Ontario Building Code as health and safety violations and could also be major structural defects. Item # 3, the railing on the front porch, had been done by David's father. The window well defect (item #4) was a first year warranty. Item #5, the back deck, was a first year warranty. The water leakage (item #6) was inconclusive but could have been under section 14 of the Regulation. He found no problem with the main bathroom floor (item #7). The unpaved driveway (item #8) was a first year warranty matter. The laying of sod (item #9) was a first year warranty item. Both item # 10 (drywall separation in master bedroom ceiling) and item #11 (eavestrough leakage) were first year warranty items.

It was the opinion of Mr. Thoburn that the garage floor would have to be removed and rebuilt. Besides the concrete floor, the ramp would need to be rebuilt as a wooden ramp. It was Mr. Thoburn's estimate that such repairs could cost in the neighbourhood of $7,000.00 to $8,000.00. Mr. Thoburn felt the gravelled driveway was acceptable and to pave it would cost approximately $3,000.00.

CLOSING ARGUMENTS

William Hyrski

Mr. Hyrski felt that builder had acted in bad faith respecting his son. The problems were safety issues for someone who is a paraplegic. They are major problems.

Counsel for the Program

There are two issues outstanding. The paving of the driveway is a first year warranty and the garage floor and ramp are second year warranties. The case is decided on the interpretation of the statute. One needs to look at the vendor definition which includes "a home not previously occupied". Here the Applicant took occupancy of the home under a licence agreement prior to purchasing and closing the sale of the home. There was no evidence of representations by the Program that these matters were under its jurisdiction.

The Peter Schatz case CRAT May 21, 1998 dealt with section 14(1) (a) of the Act and the definition of vendor. It was found that the Applicant did not fall within that section.

In the Josip Muncic case CRAT April 1985 it was determined that the certificate of possession was the best evidence of date of possession but not the only evidence to determine that issue.

The Octavio and Maria Carvalho case CRAT March 16, 1999 found that the free rent was a benefit that needed to be considered under section 14 (2) of the Act.

The Russell Lazarus and Rhonda Roth case CRAT August 28, 2000 case discussed the difference between failure to perform under section 14 (1) (a) and a breach of contract.

THE LAW:

The relevant statute is the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act .

Section 14 (1) Where,

.....

(b) an owner has a cause of action against a vendor for damages resulting from a breach of warranty;

the person or owner is entitled to be paid out of the guarantee fund the amount of such damage to such limits as are fixed by the regulations.

(2) In assessing damages, the Corporation shall take into consideration any benefit, compensation or indemnity payable to the person or owner from any source.

Section 1

“owner” means a person who first acquires a home from its vendor for occupancy, and the person’s successors in title.

“vendor” means a person who sells on his, her or its own behalf a home not previously occupied to an owner and includes a builder who constructs a home under a contract with the owner.

Section 13

(1) Every vendor of a home warrants to the owner,

(a) that the home,

(i) is constructed in a workmanlike manner and is free from defects in material,

(ii) is fit for habitation, and

(iii) is constructed in accordance with the Ontario Building Code;

(b) that the home is free of major structural defects as defined by the regulations; and

(c) such other warranties as are prescribed by the regulations.

(3) The vendor of a home shall deliver to the owner a certificate specifying the date upon which the home is completed for the owner’s possession and the warranties take effect from the date specified in the certificate.

(4) A warranty under subsection (1) applies only in respect of claims made thereunder within one year after the warranty takes effect, or such longer time under such conditions as are prescribed.

Regulation 892

Section 4

Each person with a claim under the Plan shall give written notice of the claim to the Corporation.

Section 15

(1) Every vendor of a new home warrants to the owner,

.....

(d) that the home is free from violations of the Ontario Building Code regulations under which the Building Permit was issued, affecting health and safety, including but not limited to fire safety, insulation, air and vapour barriers, ventilation, heating and structural adequacy;

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO THE FACTS:

There are no fundamental disagreement between the parties as to the facts of this case. David Hyrski entered into an Agreement of Purchase and Sale to be completed by the end of January, 1998. He could not close at that time as his settlement funds were not in place, and that agreement expired. He entered into a short term licence to occupy the home dated March 27, 1998. At that time the Applicant lacked the funds needed to purchase the home, but the builder allowed him to occupy the house. David lived in the house from the end of March 1998. It would appear that he lived rent free. There is nothing in the Statement of Adjustments which could be attributed to rental costs. His parents understood that he lived there rent free. He entered into an Agreement of Purchase and Sale dated June 10, 1999, and he closed the sale later in that month. Both David and the builder hoped that his settlement funds would have been released much earlier than June of 1999.

David Hyrski is a paraplegic. He has to use a wheelchair. He needs assistance from his parents and others for his daily living routines. The house has had a number of repair issues ever since David moved into it. The builder never repaired the problems despite complaints from David, his parents and letters from David's lawyer to the builder's lawyer. David's father did many of the repairs. The outstanding repairs include the paving of the driveway and the repair of the garage floor and more particularly the wheelchair ramp from that floor to the entrance to the house. Due to defects with this ramp, David requires assistance to enter his home. It is agreed by all the parties that this is a health and safety issue.

The Tribunal must consider a threshold issue that being the definition of vendor. In order for the Applicant to have a claim under section 14(1)(b) of the Act, he must be acquiring a home from a vendor as defined under the Act. Under section 1 of the Act, the type of vendor covered by the Act is a vendor who sells a home not previously occupied. In this case David had occupied the home on a rent free basis for fifteen months prior to entering into the agreement to purchase the home in June, 1999.

The Tribunal notes that the Program has instituted a policy (not found in the Act) which extends warranty coverage for occupancy prior to selling the property if it is a type of rent- to-buy scheme as approved by the Program, which is not the case here. The document which intercedes between the two Agreements of Purchase and Sale, the licence to occupy document, makes it clear that this is not a tenancy type occupancy. As well, there is no evidence that the Applicant paid any rent during that fifteen months of occupancy. Accordingly, the Tribunal cannot hold that this situation is akin to those who occupy a property whereby the rent paid is to be accredited towards the purchase price of the home as provided by the Program's policy, which is more generous than the wording found within the legislation.

The builder in this case is not selling a "home not previously occupied", and not a "vendor" as required by the Act. Accordingly, the Applicant, David Hyrski, is not then an "owner" as defined in the Act, and he cannot ask for the relief found in section 14(1)(b) of the Act. The Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act is not legislation which covers homeowners for each and every problem they may experience with their builders. It has limited coverage. It requires written notice within set time periods. It permits the Program to offset any other benefits provided to a homeowner. It has restrictions on what kinds of situations will allow for warranty claims.

The Tribunal is most sympathetic to this Applicant. His parents were very credible witnesses. They have been most supportive to their child and obviously are concerned with his best interests. It is an unfortunate situation. The Tribunal understands that the Program must act within the confines of the legislation.

ORDER:

Accordingly, for the reasons stated above, pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 16(3) of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act, the Tribunal directs the Ontario New Home Warranty Program to disallow this claim.

DATE OF HEARING: November 1, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: November 9, 2000 Ottawa

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on November 1, 2000, at Ottawa, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to Section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to Section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner:	Enterprise Rent-a-Car Canada Limited (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle:	2000 Chevrolet Cavalier, plate #AHMZ 485 (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal:	October 12, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the motor vehicle was stolen at the time it was being driven and the vehicle owner exercised due diligence (i.e. all reasonable efforts) to determine that the driver's licence was not suspended as provided in section 50.2(3) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on November 1, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the motor vehicle was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made?

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension?

FACTS:

The Tribunal reviewed the written and oral evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

Owner's Position on Appeal

BACKGROUND FACTS

Enterprise Rent-A-Car Canada Limited, the owner of the 2000 Chevrolet Cavalier seized on October 2, 2000 disputes the seizing of its vehicle under the Impoundment Order for the following reasons:

- The vehicle was subject to a rental agreement number D062900 entered into between Djohara Osmon and Enterprise Rent-A-Car Canada Limited. This contract provided that Ms. Osmon was the only authorized driver of this vehicle. When the vehicle was impounded it was alleged that it was being driven by Ayanle Aden, who was not authorized to drive the car.
- The rental agreement specifically states that the renter, Djohara Osmon, was the only authorized person allowed to drive the vehicle.
- Ms. Osmon at all material times had a valid Ontario drivers license (bearing Ontario permit #080421713686020)
- Pursuant to the terms and conditions of the rental agreement, there were no other authorized drivers and that the renter, Ms. Osmon, was made aware that she was not to permit anyone else to drive the car.
- Ayanle Aden is cited as the operator of the subject vehicle. He has reportedly been charged with driving with a suspended license with the possibility of more charges to be laid after-the-fact.

OWNER'S POSITION AND LEGAL ARGUMENT

Stolen vehicle appeal argument:

The legislation permits as one of the grounds of appeal "that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made".

Section 55.1(2) of the Act states:

Where a police officer or officer appointed for carrying out the provisions of this Act is satisfied (emphasis added) that a person was driving a motor vehicle on a highway while his or her driver's license is under suspension under section 41 or 42, even if it is under suspension at the same time for any other reason, the officer shall,

(a) (a) notify the Registrar of the fact or cause the Registrar to be notified; and

(b) (b) detain the motor vehicle that was being driven by the person whose driver's license is under suspension until the Registrar issues an order under subsection (3).

For the purposes of this ground for appeal that the subject vehicle was stolen at the time of the order, the lack of a definition of "satisfied" is not critical. It is enough to know that the officer's satisfaction determines the applicability of the Act. The officer's judgment is enough to determine "guilt" for purposes of imposing the penalty described in the Act. One must necessarily assume that at the time of the order, the officer was acting competently and with a clear understanding of the facts at hand.

Taken from a decision released by the Tribunal of Derek Israel, Stuart Cork, and John Oostrom on March 14, 2000, a definition of "stolen" from the Shorter Oxford Dictionary is submitted:

Stolen: 1. Obtained by theft. 2. Accomplished or enjoyed by stealth; secret. 3. Of time: obtained by contrivance.

The previously rendered decision also volunteered a definition of "stolen" from Black's Law Dictionary (Sixth edition), page 1419-1420:

Stolen: Acquired, or possessed, as a result of some wrongful or dishonest act or taking, whereby a person willfully obtains or retains possession of property which belongs to another, without or beyond any permission given, and with the intent to deprive the owner of the benefit of ownership (or possession) permanently. It is not necessary that the taking of the vehicle be unlawful. Even if possession of the vehicle is lawfully acquired, the vehicle will be deemed "stolen " if the defendant there after forms the intent to deprive the owner of the rights and benefits of ownership, and converts the vehicle to his own use. United States v. Turley, 352 US. 407, 417, 77 S. Ct. 397, 402. 1L.Ed. 2d 430.

Finally, Section 322 of Martin's Criminal Code, 1994 defines "Theft" as:

322. (1) Every one commits theft who fraudulently and without colour of right takes, or fraudulently and without colour of right converts to his use or to the use of another person, anything whether inanimate or inanimate, with intent,

(a) (a) to deprive, temporarily or absolutely, the owner of it, or a person who has a special property or interest in it, of the thing or of his property or interest in it:

Enterprise Rent-A-Car rental agreement D062900 documents a contract between Djohara Osmon and Enterprise Rent-A-Car Canada Limited. There are no other authorized drivers permitted. Because the vehicle was impounded on authority of section 55.1(2), it must follow that the officer was satisfied that the driver's license of Ayanle Aden was suspended under section 41 or 42. It is a "FUNDAMENTAL BREACH OF THE CONTRACT if the car is used or driven:

- (e) By any person other than the renter without written consent of owner and/or
- (g) Under authority of any license other than his own. Renter warrants that the license shown to owner at time the car was rented is their own and fully valid."

Furthermore, if a renter were to request an Additional Driver, they would have to consent to the following:

"I request owner's permission to allow (additional driver) to drive the vehicle rented by me. I understand and agree they are under my control and direction and that I am responsible for their acts and for the complete fulfillment of all the terms and conditions of this rental agreement. "

Thus, it is clear that in no circumstance would Enterprise Rent-A-Car Canada Limited ever rent to or consent to allowing a person who is subject to section 55.1(2) of the Act to drive the rental vehicle. One can only conclude that for such a person to drive a rental vehicle would constitute an attempt to 'fraudulently and without colour of right convert to his use or to the use of another person, anything whether animate or inanimate, with intent, a) to deprive, temporarily or absolutely, the owner of it, or a person who has a special property or interest in it...' (Martin's Criminal Code, section 322).

By definition, in particular, those suggested by the past tribunal, the subject vehicle is "stolen" if obtained by theft. In addition the subject vehicle is deemed to be stolen if acquired or possessed as a result of some wrongful or dishonest act or taking. Finally, the subject vehicle is deemed stolen if the defendant thereafter forms the intent to deprive the owner of the rights and benefits of ownership, and converts the vehicle to his own use. Since Ayanle Aden made no attempt to obtain permission to drive the vehicle from its owner, and since the owner would never consent to Ayanle Aden's driving of that vehicle while his license was suspended, the vehicle must be declared to be stolen at the time that the charge was laid (driving with a suspended license).

Due diligence appeal argument:

The legislation permits as one of the grounds of appeal, that "the vehicle owner exercised due diligence (ie. all reasonable efforts) to determine that the driver's license was not suspended."

Due diligence has been defined by the Ontario Court of Appeal to be the following:

"[T]he defence of due diligence may take one of two forms: (1) holding a reasonable belief in a mistaken set of facts, and (2) taking all reasonable steps to avoid the offending event " (emphasis added)

In the context of regulator offences the Court in R. v. Bata Industries Ltd. (No. 2.X 1992), 70 C.C.C.(3d)394(Ont. Prov. Div.) held that in order to establish the defence of "due diligence" in relation to a charge under an environmental protection statute [which the owner submits is analogous to the Comprehensive Road Safety Act] the accused must establish that he/she/it exercised all reasonable care by instituting a proper system to prevent the commission of the offence and by taking reasonable steps to ensure the effective operation of such a system.

By taking the steps outlined in the background facts, it is Enterprise's position that they in fact met the standard of due diligence for the following reasons:

- It entered into an agreement with a person who had a valid Ontario driver's license. Pursuant to the contract that was in place, no other drivers were permitted. This specific box was signed by Ms. Osmon indicating that this clause had been explained to her and that she understood that there were no other permitted drivers. At this point, Enterprise allowed its vehicle to be rented on the basis of the above conditions.
- When the vehicle was impounded, it was impounded because it was alleged to have been driven by Ayanle Aden. Ayanle Aden was not an authorized driver under the rental contract. At no time did Enterprise allow Ayanle Aden to gain access to the keys, nor at any time was Ayanle Aden an authorized driver.

Thus the owner submits that prior to the vehicle leaving its lot, it had ensured that the only person allowed to drive the vehicle had a valid driver's license. The contract specifically prohibited other drivers. By checking the license in the manner in which they did and ensuring the rental agreement was understood, the owner submits that within the meaning of the legislation "it took all reasonable steps to avoid the happening of the event."

Owner's Position On How The Legislation Impacts On The Car Rental Industry In Relation To The Legislation's Intended Goal

The intent of the Comprehensive Road Safety Act, 1997, according to its preamble is to promote road safety by ... impounding vehicles of suspended drivers. The intent of the actual "Order to Impound" according to s.55(1)(4) of the legislation is to "promote compliance with this Act and to thereby safeguard the public." The owner submits that these are laudable goals of the legislature. However, the owner disputes that the impounding of this owner's vehicle promotes either of the above two goals for the following reasons:

- It would be expected that the impounding of the vehicle being driven by a suspended driver, will usually impound the vehicle owned by the driver, which would promote safety as the person whose license is suspended has now lost the vehicle that they own.
- The impounding of the vehicle being driven by a suspended driver, but not owned by the driver, punishes the person who gave his/her consent to the suspended driver to drive their vehicle. This too promotes safety as one would expect that the owner upon paying the over $1000 fee for storage etc. and losing their vehicle for a minimum of 45 days, would not likely allow this person, or indeed any other person, to drive their vehicle without showing proof of a valid driver's licence. This too makes common sense and promotes compliance with the Act and safeguards the public.

However, the impounding of an innocent third party's vehicle, notwithstanding their complete compliance with the obligations to ensure that the persons who rented the vehicle had a valid licence, does not promote compliance with the Act, or increase road safety.

In this instance that goal is not met, due to the fact that neither the suspended driver nor the renter have lost a vehicle that they own, nor are they going to have to initially pay the fine. The owner, which in this case is a car rental company, has done nothing wrong, and has in fact ensured in the only feasible and plausible manner available to it, that only an authorized driver was driving their vehicle. To impound their vehicle in no way promotes road safety as it does nothing to penalize the renter or owner, who the car rental company must pursue to try and recover the impound fee and lost rental income.

Impounding a car rental company's vehicle is in no way a deterrent as the car rental company has to continue renting vehicles to the public in order to provide a necessary service to the public as well as continuing its business. Absent requiring an up front deposit equal to the impound fees plus the lost income due to the duration of the penalty (45-180 days), an amount possibly exceeding $7000.00, on every vehicle rented, there is no way that the car rental company can protect itself from having its vehicle impounded, if a renter who is authorized to drive the vehicle gives the keys to a third party who is not, and the car is then impounded.

Assuming that the car rental company has taken reasonable steps to confirm that the renter has a valid driver's license, the appropriate remedy for a situation such as this, is the creation of a strict liability offence for the renter of the vehicle, creating an onus on the renter to establish that they exercised due diligence in giving their keys to someone else. The renter would be assessed the same fine the owner currently faces (the storage and impound fees amount to a de facto fine of approximately $1000 since this amount must be paid in full in order to regain possession of the car), and be responsible for the fine, and the car would then be released back to the rental company. This system would create the necessary deterrent for the renter, and protect those companies that have exercised due diligence in the renting of these vehicles.

Absent a provision such as this, car rental companies will become the dupes of persons who rent vehicles with valid licenses, but give them to people that do not have valid licenses. The renter faces no immediate consequences as they do not lose his or her car for 45 days or more, nor does the renter have to pay the impound fee etc. The car rental company as a condition for the release of the car pays these fees up front. Other than being sued civilly for the approximately $3000-$7000 dollar charge for every impounded vehicle (includes loss of use while the vehicle is impounded) which assumes, that this charge can even be recovered from a renter, there is no deterrent as the legislature had intended, as the renter can go out the next day and simply rent another car from somebody else, and give the keys to the same person whose license is suspended.

It would appear that the legislature did not contemplate the drastic impact that this legislation will have on all vehicle rental businesses in the Province of Ontario, if there isn't consideration given by the License Suspension Appeal Board for situations such as this one.

ALL OF WHICH IS RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED THIS 13TH DAY OF OCTOBER 2000.

Paul Wanamaker
Group Loss Control Supervisor

At the hearing, Paul Wanamaker, representative of Enterprise Rent-A-Car Canada Limited, emphasized that the impounded vehicle was rented to Ms Djohara Osmon. Mr. Wanamaker produced a copy of the rental agreement showing Osmon was the only authorized driver.

In his argument, Mr. Wanamaker contends, on behalf of Enterprise, that since the vehicle was driven without the consent of the owner, and further that the owner, i.e. Enterprise would never allow the vehicle to be driven by a suspended driver, the vehicle is deemed stolen.

Enterprise registered a complaint with the Ottawa police. Complaint number # 00206802 was taken by Constable E. Matthews, and a charge against the suspended driver of "taking a vehicle without consent" is pending. No other evidence as to the facts relating to the taking of the vehicle is before the Tribunal.

Mr. Wanamaker argued that other than by way of the above mentioned terms and conditions for rental being given to every renter, Enterprise Rent-A-Car Canada Limited was not, in any way, in a position to predict and/or prevent that another person would be driving the vehicle. Thus, it is not reasonable to expect Enterprise to carry out due diligence.

Mr. Wanamaker, the representative for Enterprise Rent-A-Car submitted a copy of the rental agreement and documents.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Ayanle Hassan Aden;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of driving while disqualified or prohibited under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until January 10, 2001

At the hearing, the Respondent re-iterated the applicable law.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

(1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Board.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Board may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of sections 50.2(3)(a) and (c).

With respect to an appeal under subsection 50.2(3)(a) alleging that the vehicle was stolen, the meaning of "stolen" is not provided in The Highway Traffic Act.

The Shorter Oxford Dictionary, provides the definition of “stolen” as follows:

Stolen: 1. Obtained by theft. 2. Accomplished or enjoyed by stealth; secret. 3. Of time: obtained by contrivance

Theft: 1. The action of a thief; the felonious taking away of the personal goods of another; larceny 2. That which is or has been stolen; the proceeds of thieving.

Black’s Law Dictionary (Sixth edition), page 1419-1420 provides the definition of “stolen” as follows:

Stolen: Acquired, or possessed, as a result of some wrongful or dishonest act or taking, whereby a person willfully obtains or retains possession of property which belongs to another, without or beyond any permission given, and with the intent to deprive the owner of the benefit of ownership (or possession) permanently.

The word “stolen” as used in the crime of interstate transpiration of stolen motor vehicles includes all wrongful and dishonest taking of motor vehicles with the intent to deprive the owner of the rights and benefits of ownership, regardless of whether theft constitutes common-law larceny; and felonious taking may be effected by diverse means known to both common and statutory law, such as larceny, embezzlement, false pretenses, larceny by trick and other types of wrongful acquisition. Lake v. U.S., Colo, 338F.2d 787,788. It is not necessary that the taking of the vehicle be unlawful. Even if possession of the vehicle is lawfully acquired, the vehicle will be deemed “stolen” if the defendant thereafter forms the intent to deprive the owner of the rights and benefits of ownership, and converts the vehicle to his own use. United States v. Turley, 352 U.S. 407, 417, 77 S.Ct. 397, 402. 1 L.Ed.2d 430.

With respect to an appeal under subsection 50.2(3)(c) alleging that the owner exercised due diligence prior to releasing the vehicle to the driver, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary provides the definition of “due diligence” as follows:

Due: A. adj. 1. That is owing or payable, as a debt. 2. Belonging or falling to by right. 3. That ought to be giving or rendered; merited. 4. Such as ought to be; fitting; proper; rightful. 5. Such as is requisite or necessary; adequate. 6. To be ascribed or attributed; owing to, caused by, in consequence of. 7. Under engagement or contract to be ready or arrive (at a defined time).

Diligence: 1. The quality of being diligent; industry, assiduity. 2. Speed, dispatch. 3. Careful attention, heedfulness, caution. 4. Law. The attention and care due from a person in a given situation....

Also, “due diligence” in Black’s Law Dictionary (sixth edition) at page 457 is as follows:

Due diligence: Such a measure of prudence, activity, or assiduity, as is properly to be expected from, and ordinarily exercised by, a reasonable and prudent man under the particular circumstances; not measured by any absolute standard, but depending on the relative facts of the special case.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The onus is on the Applicant to establish the due diligence ground of appeal as provided in subsection 50.2(3)(c) of the Act.

To succeed in this appeal under section 50.2(3)(c), the Applicant must establish that the Applicant "exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension". The exercise of due diligence is with respect to the status of the driver "at the time in respect of which the order [of impoundment] was made". Here, that is Ayanle Aden. Ayanle Aden, it is agreed, was unknown to the Applicant, and the Applicant made no determination respecting the status of Aynale Aden's driver's licence. That being the fact, the Applicant can not succeed under section 50.2(3)(c) which requires not only that the Applicant make this determination but do so with due diligence. The statute clearly states in subsection 50.2(3) that the only grounds of appeal are those set out in that subsection. The Tribunal has jurisdiction only to deal with the wording of the statute before it.

The Tribunal notes that Enterprise Rent-A-Car Canada Limited ensured that the renter Ms. Djohara Osmon, was the holder of a valid driver's licence, prior to renting the vehicle. However, the law requires that due diligence be carried out upon the driver of the motor vehicle, at the time of impoundment. Mr. Ayanle Hassan Aden, was the driver when the vehicle was impounded, Enterprise failed to carry out diligence to ensure Mr. Aden was the driver of a valid driver's licence.

The second ground of appeal argued by the Applicant is that the motor vehicle was stolen as provided in subsection 50.2(3)(a). The criteria needed to establish "Stolen" are set out above and include not only the taking of a vehicle but an intent to deprive the owner of the rights and benefits of ownership permanently.

Was the vehicle stolen at the time of impoundment?

No charge of theft were laid against the suspended driver. A charge is pending of "taking a vehicle without consent". Little evidence directly relating to the taking of the vehicle is before this Tribunal. The Tribunal finds that there is insufficient evidence before it to support the ground of appeal that the vehicle was stolen at the time of the impoundment, as described by section 50.2(3)(a) of the Act. Accordingly, the Applicant's ground of appeal based on the vehicle being stolen is dismissed.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal by Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. (the "Applicant" or the "Company") respecting the decision of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Respondent") dated July 10, 2000, pursuant to section 47, 47 (10) and 47.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, (Ontario) (HTA" or the "Act"), that CVOR certificate # 113-874-580 issued to Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. and plate portions of permits for all commercial motor vehicles and trailers registered in the name of Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. and Sanghera, Kultar, S., will be suspended for a period of thirty days.

Based upon the review of the safety records of Sanghera, Kultar, S., and Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd., a Notice of Suspension and Seizure dated the 4th day of May 2000, was issued proposing a thirty day suspension of CVOR certificate # 113-874-580 issued to Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. and plate portions of permits for all commercial motor vehicles and trailers registered in the name of Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. and Sanghera, Kultar, S. The notice was sent by fax and courier to both parties at the head office of the Company located in Surrey, British Columbia. The notice was based upon the safety records of Sanghera, Kultar, S. and Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. including Section Analysis/Record Summary/Performance Analysis Reports, Commercial Vehicle Operator Record (search dated April 28, 2000), Safety Net Inspection Reports, Accident Reports and ICON Inquiry Report of Outstanding Fines dated April 27, 2000. It provided for an opportunity to attend a meeting with the Deputy Registrar on the 30th day of May 2000, to show cause why the Suspension and Seizure Order should not be issued.

On May 30th, 2000, a Show Cause Meeting was held at the Ministry of Transportation in St. Catharines. Present were Greg Beatty, Deputy Registrar of Motor Vehicles, Margaret Mooney, Head of Control and Sanctions, William Herale, Carrier Safety Rating Administrator and Kultar Sanghera. Mr. Sanghera stated that he was operating under a Power of Attorney by the owners of the Company who were his brother, Sukjinder

Sanghera and Kuldip Sanghera, who both resided in England. The Ministry records indicated that the President was Kultar Sanghera, although he stated that it was actually his brother, Sukjinder Sanghera. At this meeting, Mr. Sanghera was to produce all documentation upon which he intended to rely; however, he indicated that the suitcase that he brought to Ontario with him containing all of his material to present at the meeting had been lost by the airlines. Accordingly, he presented no documents at that meeting, although matters were discussed. He was given an extended period of time to produce his documentation. Mr. Sanghera reviewed the documentation of the Ministry of Transportation.

The Sanction Analysis of May 2000, was done both on Kultar S. Sanghera and Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. Mr. Sanghera clarified that he personally was not a registered CVOR holder but held a Competency Certificate. Therefore, Mr. Sanghera stated that all events appearing on his personal operating record should be transferred to Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd.'s CVOR as he is not a registered CVOR holder and owns no vehicles.

Mr. Sanghera was not able to accurately state the number of power units operated by the Company at the present time, or the number of double shifted vehicles, or the percentage of travel over the past two years. Mr. Sanghera stated that Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. had purchased ten new Mac trucks this year, replacing some of their own fleet, and that there had been a U.S. D.O.T audit in May of 2000 showing an improvement since the last audit. Also, he had hired Sandy Power as a Safety Supervisor and felt that his Company had improved its level of compliance. In his opinion, there was now better record keeping. Log books/hours were being monitored.

Mr. Sanghera testified that an Accident Review Committee had been set up. All of the Company's accidents had occurred in Ontario except for one and that there had been none in the past six months. It was brought to his attention that U.S. reports had indicated numerous accidents in the United States in the past two years. Mr. Sanghera was unaware of the outstanding fines and indicated he would resolve them.

By June 16, 2000, the Ministry had still not received the information that was requested from Mr. Sanghera during the meeting of May 30, 2000. An updated operating record for Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. including events added since the last meeting was sent to Mr. Sanghera.

On June 22, 2000, Mr. Sanghera responded to the Ministry and enclosed much of the information requested. In the response, Mr. Sanghera also reiterated how Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. was committed to safety and some of the steps that the Company had taken to improve compliance and safety at the Company. Among the documents was a Power of Attorney given May 6, 1996 by Kuldip Singh Sanghera appointing Baland Iqbal Singh Sanghera, Dispatcher, to be his Attorney in accordance with the Powers of Attorney Act. Further information was requested by Mr. Herale of the Ministry and was responded to by Sandy Power on July 6, 2000. The outstanding fines were paid.

On July 10, 2000, the Deputy Registrar of Motor Vehicles issued the Suspension and Seizure Order which is the subject matter of this appeal. That Suspension and Seizure Order, dated July 10, 2000, states as follows:

SUSPENSION AND SEIZURE ORDER

WHEREAS a Notice of suspension and Seizure dated the 4th day of May, 2000 was issued proposing a 30 day suspension of CVOR certificate # 113-874-580 issued to Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. and plate portion of permits for all commercial motor vehicles and trailers registered in the name of Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. and Sanghera, Kultar, S.

AND WHEREAS provided in the Notice, you had the opportunity to attend a meeting with the Deputy Registrar on the 30th day of May, 2000 to show cause why the Suspension and Seizure Order should not be issued. You attended on that day, however your submissions were in a suitcase lost in transit. You were supplied additional time to replicate your submissions and were requested to supply specific documents as outlined in my letter dated June 16, 2000. A written submission dated June 22, 2000 was received and a fax dated July 5, 2000 was sent providing additional information.

AND WHEREAS I have reviewed your written submission dated June 22, 2000, fax dated July 6, 2000, your safety records including your record of convictions, accidents, vehicle inspections, and history of past dealings with the Ministry and I remain concerned for highway safety.

NOW THEREFORE IT IS ORDERED that pursuant to Sections 47, 47(10) and 47.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, that as of the 17th day of July 2000, CVOR certificate # 113-874-580 issued to Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. and plate portion of permits for all commercial motor vehicles and trailers registered in the name of Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. and Sanghera, Kultar, S. will be suspended for a period of 30 days.

AND TAKE NOTICE that the plate portion of permits, or if issued by a jurisdiction other than Ontario, the permits and the number plates, will be seized.

This Suspension and Seizure Order will be effective at 8:00 a.m. Eastern Daylight Savings Time on the 17th day of July, 2000 to 7:59 a.m. Eastern Daylight Savings Time on the 16th of August 2000.

On July 12, 2000, Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. appealed the decision of the Ministry of Transportation upon the following basis:

1. CVOR # 113-874-592 was used by inspection official when CVOR # 113-874-580 should be used. CVOR # 113-874-580 was issued to Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. and all our trucks and trailers are registered to Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. It was not our mistake and we clarified it.
2. Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. have improved its safety records over the years. We have full time Safety Manager on duty to check log books, etc.
3. At Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. we feel this is very harsh penalty to shut down a Company for thirty days. If Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. loses its certificate to operate in Ontario (which is part of our route) we will be forced to shut down and over fifty-five people can lose employment.
4. Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. last U.S. D.O.T. review in May/00. The Company got satisfactory rating, which reflects an improvement.

On August 28, 2000, there was a Pre-hearing Conference between the parties at the offices of the Licence Appeal Tribunal. Mr. Forbes was present as Counsel for the Respondent and Sandy Power as Agent for the Applicant via teleconference. The Pre-hearing Conference was held before Vice Chair Marjorie Hiley, and an Order was released on August 29, 2000. In that Pre-hearing Order, the hearing dates of October 23, 24, and 25, 2000, were established as well as the filing dates for submissions and disclosure of evidence from both the Applicant and Respondent.

PRELIMINARY MATTERS:

At the outset of this Hearing before the Licence Appeal Tribunal on October 23, 2000, the Solicitors for both parties requested a recess to see if any of the issues could be narrowed. Upon the resumption of the Hearing shortly thereafter, the Solicitors for both parties had agreed that the CVOR Certificate of Kultar Sanghera was not in issue as he was not the owner of any vehicles. The safety analysis on Kultar Sanghera with the incidences reported thereunder were transferred to Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. Mr. Di Monte on behalf of the Applicant advised the Tribunal that the CVOR competency certificate of Kultar Sanghera would be surrendered to the Ministry.

Both Mr. Forbes and Mr. Di Monte chose to give opening statements. In Mr. Di Monte's opening statement, he took the position that the purpose of the legislation was to protect the public and that steps taken by Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. prior to and after the meeting with the Deputy Registrar would show that what the legislation sought to achieve had already been achieved. The Company had put into place measures before the hearing which have shown results and demonstrated that the Company was no longer a risk to the public.

Mr. Forbes objected to any new evidence being introduced and relied upon Regulation 574, section 3 (6) and (7). He argued that any evidence to be given at this time must be restricted to evidence that was before the Registrar at the time the Order was made.

Mr. Di Monte argued that the Company would not be producing any fresh evidence to show that there was anything wrong in the material which was before the Registrar, to which he did not object. The evidence would only be to show that measures that had been put in place by the Company and that were before the Registrar, had produced better safety results and were continuing to produce those results.

The Tribunal ruled that the results of continuing procedures which were started before the Show Cause Meeting were relevant and the Tribunal would hear the Applicant's evidence in that regard. The Tribunal has noted that Section 3(7) does not speak of the evidence being only submitted in the forum of a show cause meeting. It refers to "...such evidence as was submitted to the Minister or the Registrar...". It, therefore, appears appropriate that any evidence submitted to the Minister or Registrar at any time leading up to any hearing can be reviewed by the Tribunal as long as that evidence deals with relevant issues which have a nexus with the facts existing at the time of the Registrar's order and meet the timely disclosure requirements of the Tribunal. The relevant issues are those which were under consideration or discussed at the time of the show cause meeting and when the decision of the Registrar was rendered following the show cause meeting. The Tribunal is, therefore, not restricted to hearing only the evidence that was before the Minister or the Registrar at the show cause meeting, providing that the above requirements are met. The Tribunal has the jurisdiction to accept evidence that it finds credible and pertinent to the issues. The information before the Registrar includes, among other things: accidents, convictions, inspections and a comparison of the violation rates and measures taken by the Applicant to improve its safety record which may need time to produce results. Therefore, the results of changes in safety measures implemented by the Applicant at the time the Registrar is formulating the Registrar's decision are relevant to this hearing.

FACTS:

Testimony of William Herale

Mr. William Herale was the only witness presented on behalf of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles. Mr. Herale is a Carrier Safety Rating Administrator. In that position, he researches and compiles materials on operators for presentation to his superior, Margaret Mooney, for further clarification and review. The materials are then presented to the Deputy Registrar.

Mr. Herale explained the workings of the commercial vehicle operator registration (CVOR) system, which was first initiated in 1987 and has been updated since that time. A goal of the CVOR system is to promote safe operation of commercial motor vehicles as defined by the Act. The CVOR system monitors a two-year time frame based upon certain computer data which is updated regularly and entered into the CVOR system. The updating of the system is a continual process.

The system works upon a point rating system. An example is that convictions are rated from 0 to 30 points for violations with the more serious violations having the higher points assigned to them. The accidents are rated on a range from 0 to 12 points depending upon the seriousness and the driver impropriety involved. The out of service (OOS) has a 2 point maximum if two OOS items are reported on a vehicle inspection.

The Commercial Vehicle Safety Alliance (CVSA) is a North American committee of government and industry representatives. It establishes criteria as to truck hazards and as to the OOS criteria whereby a vehicle is detained until repairs are made. Codes are used to distinguish the various OOS defects.

All operators in Ontario must register in the CVOR system. The CVOR system shows only events occurring in Ontario. Upon registration, a CVOR certificate is issued to the operator and each motor vehicle would have a photocopy of the CVOR certificate. The system, which has again been recently updated, continually monitors the operators, and a number of steps are involved. In the first step, warning letters are sent to the operators. This usually occurs when the overall violation rate is over 35%. At 65%, the computer again will bring the record of the operator forth and a facility audit is recommended. At the 80% overall violation rate, the computer again generates a record which results in an interview with a Ministry official. If the overall violation rate does not improve or if there is no compliance by the operator, sanctions will be imposed.

The CVOR system's thresholds were established by taking the worst 5% of the records of operators in Ontario. Therefore, if any CVOR holder is above the threshold, that means that the holder is in the top 5% of the worst records in Ontario. The thresholds are adjusted in accordance with the information received on the operator and its vehicles, and are adjusted in accordance with the number of vehicles and the percentage of distance traveled in Ontario.

In May 2000, there was a sanction analysis of Kultar Sanghera and Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. done by Mr. Herale. The time period examined was from March 29, 1998 to March 28, 2000. The operating record (CVOR) of Kultar Sanghera showed an actual violation rate of 132.22% and an actual violation rate of Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. of 127.77%. It was explained by Mr. Herale that Kultar Sanghera held a competency certificate and had a CVOR number assigned to him, but he did not hold a CVOR certificate. By error, some events that were recorded were done so under Mr. Sanghera's CVOR number instead of the CVOR number of Aman enterprises 1989. This was not corrected until after the meeting on May 30, 2000, wherein Mr. Sanghera advised the respondent of the mistake and that he was not a vehicle owner and did not hold a CVOR certificate. This was despite the fact that Mr. Sanghera was sent a warning letter on April 29th, 1997 to which he did not respond.

The chronology of events regarding Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. is as follows:

1996.12.06	Warning letter to the operator;
1997.11.20	Letter to British Columbia requesting corrective action;
1998.01.12	British Columbia indicated that an audit would be conducted;
1998.03.06	A wheel separation occurred (charged/convicted);
1998.04.22	Trailer inspected with critical defects at a non impound location;
1999.01.25	CVOR interview;
1999.11.03	Safety rating letter sent proposing a "conditional" rating;
1999.11.03	Letter to British Columbia requesting an audit;
1999.11.03	U.S. D.O.T. compliance review (unsatisfactory);

The sanction analysis, taking into account both Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. and Kultar Sanghera, established that there had been compliance interventions by Ontario, British Columbia and the United States and that current combined overall violation rate was 127.77%. There were six accidents within the past two years indicating an impropriety on behalf of the driver. The carrier also had outstanding fines.

In the CVOR interview of January 25, 1999, Kel Sanghera attended on behalf of the Company as his brother, Kuldip Sanghera was living in England. Mr. Herale reported that there were a number of items which were discussed and agreed upon at that meeting. One of the stipulations was that the operator would inform the Ministry in writing about progress made in implementing the action plan every four months beginning in April, 1999. Mr. Herale reviewed the items listed on the action plan and on most of the items; he could not verify any compliance by the operator as reports had not been received from the operator. His records showed that there were a number of driving convictions after April, 1999 which indicated noncompliance by the operator.

On November 3, 1999, the company was given a conditional safety rating which it did not dispute. Another letter was sent to British Columbia requesting an audit of the company. In December 1999, there was a U.S. D.O.T. compliance review of Aman enterprises 1989 Ltd. in which it was given a rating of "unsatisfactory". It was reported to Mr. Herale that that rating remained current in March of 2000. On April 27, 2000, an icon inquiry report of outstanding fines indicated that the company had fines outstanding at that time. Mr. Herale reviewed the safety net inspection reports (April 1, 1998 to March 31, 2000), the CVOR record search dated April 28, 2000 and prepared the sanction analysis of CVOR record, together with record summary and performance analysis reports dated May 2000.

The notice of suspension and seizure for thirty days, dated May 4th, 2000 was then issued. As a result of the show cause meeting of May 30th, 2000 and the subsequent information received from the applicant dated June 16th, 22nd and July 6th, 2000, the Suspension and Seizure Order was issued July 10th, 2000.

The notice of appeal dated July 12th, 2000 and its contents, as well as the Pre-hearing Order of August 29th, 2000, has been described above.

As a result of the information received from Kultar Sanghera at the May 30th, 2000 meeting, subsequent information received, and the CVOR update of information, Mr. Herale compiled an updated sanction analysis in September, 2000.

The updated sanction analysis of September, 2000 prepared by Mr. Herale took into account the transfer of the record of Kultar Sanghera to Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd., pursuant to the information given by Kultar Sanghera. It reflected the fleet size of 25 vehicles (6 owned and 19 owner/operators) with 18 of those units being double shifted.

Ontario travel represented 16.4% of the total kilometers based on IFTA reports. As the Suspension and Seizure Order was signed on July 10, 2000, the two year period taken into account was July 10, 1998 to July 9, 2000. The operating record of Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. over that period of time showed a decrease in the violation rate of convictions and inspections, but an increase in the accident threshold. Mr. Herale gave evidence that when the overall threshold reaches 100%, the operator is within the top 5% of the worst offenders in Ontario. The violation rate of the overall threshold of Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. was 185%. The accident threshold of Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. was 267.9%. Mr. Herale stated that this was the worst record that he had seen in all his years of involvement with the CVOR program.

In cross-examination, Mr. Herale gave evidence that the Suspension and Seizure Order of the Registrar is not vehicle specific and does not discriminate between poor or good drivers and rigs. The order captures all vehicles and drivers operating under that particular CVOR number. It would be possible for an owner/operator to still operate his rig in Ontario if he was under a different CVOR number; however, it would be usual that any new company would screen a driver before hiring, which would reduce the chance of that happening. Also, Mr. Herale agreed that the material he requested on July 6, 2000 was promptly responded to, but the material sent did not significantly change the figures but, reinforced the figures that had been produced by the Ministry. Mr. Herale confirmed that the time period monitored is a two year time frame, but the Ministry also looks at the trend of violations and what occurred in the last six months. The violation rate of Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. actually increased when combined with the violation rate of Kultar Sanghera and the additional violations that were reported late.

Mr. Herale stated that according to the operating record of the Company, it appeared that Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. was having a problem with poor drivers. When he was advised that all but two of the drivers with convictions were no longer working for the company, he agreed that this was not brought to the attention of the Deputy Registrar at the show cause meeting. He stated, however, that the onus is on the Company to show the Deputy Registrar why the Suspension and Seizure Order should not be carried out and, therefore, it was up to the Company to bring that to the attention of the Deputy Registrar. Mr. Herale agreed that the record summary of Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd.

showed an improvement in 2000 over the previous years in most matters; however, there was not a sufficient time frame or number of inspections to show any trend.

Mr. Herale testified that although there had been no repeat of the wheel separation incident of 1998, there were three infractions for failure to maintain logs which indicated that the Company needed quality control. He indicated that the Company should not just hand out a driver's manual but make sure that the drivers comply with it. When Mr. Herale was referred to the dramatic decrease in the number of speeding violations in 1999 and 2000 over the 1998 year, he replied that the year 2000 was only a little more than half over at the time of those records, and conceded that it was too early to see if that was a trend.

Mr. Herale was referred to the U.S. D.O.T. rating which upgraded Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. to "satisfactory" in a May 17, 2000 audit. Mr. Herale stated that the Ministry was aware of this audit from the submissions that were put forth by the company, and the Deputy Registrar had knowledge of this at the Show Cause Meeting. The Deputy Registrar, however, has discretion as to the weight to give that fact. Mr. Herale denied that he had made any recommendations to the Deputy Registrar and stated that it was totally within the Deputy Registrar's discretion whether or not to issue an order based on the records that are submitted to him. The Commercial Vehicle Operator Record of the Company strictly relates to Ontario convictions and does not take into account the convictions in any other jurisdiction. In Ontario, the CVOR holder is responsible for the actions of all its employees and owners/operators signed on with it under the CVOR number.

Testimony of Sandeep Powar

Mr. Powar was the only witness presented on behalf of the Applicant, Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. Mr. Powar was a third class stationary engineer who started working for Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. as full time Safety Manager in April 1999. He obtained a certificate for transporting dangerous goods and drug and alcohol training from the British Columbia Trucking Association.

Mr. Powar testified that all drivers for the Company are hired by him and that he personally takes a thorough history, including prior employee information for five years, which he follows up by faxing or calling prior employers.

On the driver's return from trips, Mr. Powar personally checks all drivers' papers and log books and has four levels of warning for infractions. The first level is a verbal warning, the second level a written warning, the third level is a one week suspension or fine, and the fourth level is termination. He stated that this same system was in force when he started to work for the company in April of 1999.

Mr. Powar testified that he sends all drivers for drug tests before they are hired, presents them with the safety driver's handbooks which they must read, and shows them how to fill out log books. He also stated that all drivers that had poor driving records are no longer with the company except for two drivers which were listed on the Ministry's reports.

The Company, Mr. Powar testified, currently had 23 units of which 7 do not come to Ontario. He thought that about 16% of the total distance driven by the Company's drivers was in Ontario, but he agreed that whatever was in the Ministry records was accurate.

Mr. Powar said that the owners/operators are charged a dispatch fee of 12% and they are responsible for their own units. All Company units are checked by the Company's mechanic when they come in from each trip. The trailers are checked in the yard after every trip and every six months they are inspected by Surrey Inspection, an independent, and are given a Safety Inspection Certificate. This procedure was also in place when he was hired in April 1999, and he has continued the practice. There was also a training program in place when he commenced employment with the Company, but he has made the program more intense. He referred to the Driver's Handbook, which was written by Iqbal Sanghera, but that Handbook was also in place before he started employment in April 1999 and has not been revised.

Mr. Powar produced a number of warning letters as examples of the type of letters sent out to his drivers for infractions committed by them. The Company also had a Safety Committee in place which investigates all accidents.

Mr. Powar referred to the change in the U.S. D.O.T. audit in May of 2000, which rated the Company as "satisfactory" as opposed to the November 1999 audit which rated the Company "unsatisfactory". He stated that the U.S. audits were very thorough and the Auditor spent five days at the Company's head office in 1999 and three days in May of 2000. The U.S. D.O.T. auditor went through all files, driver's records, accident reports, driver's logs and maintenance records. He did not pay too much attention to the Ontario rules because, Mr. Powar testified, the U.S. rules were more strict and if he complied with the U.S. rules, then he would have to be complying with the Ontario rules.

On cross-examination, Mr. Powar clarified that the owners of Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. were Kuldip Sanghera and Sukjinder Sanghera, the latter being President of the Company. Both reside in England. The general manager of the Company is Kultar S. Sanghera who operates the Company under a Power of Attorney given by Kuldip Sanghera. Iqbal Sanghera is the operations manager who also operates under Power of Attorney from his brother.

Mr. Powar testified that if the Tribunal confirms the Suspension and Seizure Order of the Deputy Registrar, that would bankrupt the Company. The Company has a contract for twenty loads a week from Ontario and has eleven owner/operators in Ontario which would leave and go to another Company. Mr. Powar did not produce the contract or any financial information to substantiate his evidence. He referred to a letter dated September 26, 2000 from Shiraz Kaba & Company Ltd., Public Accountants. The letter was addressed "to whom it may concern" regarding Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. The author of the letter, S. Kaba, stated that the Company's operation in Ontario was critical and to shut down the operations in Ontario would have the same effect as shutting down the whole operations of the Company for one month. In his opinion, the Company would lose customers and hundred of thousands of dollars. Mr. Kaba did not attach any contracts, financial information or any other material to substantiate the opinions expressed in his letter.

Mr. Powar testified that another person was Safety Manager before him who went to another Company, but that person remained available for information purposes after Mr. Powar was hired in April, 1999. Mr. Powar admitted that when he was hired in April, 1999 he was not advised of the safety concerns of the Deputy Registrar that were discussed with Mr. Sanghera in the meeting with Ministry representatives at the CVOR interview of January 25, 1999. Also, Mr. Powar was not present at the Show Cause Meeting of May 30, 2000, but he testified that Kultar Sanghera discussed the meeting with him upon his return to British Columbia.

ISSUES:

1. Was the Registrar justified in issuing a thirty-day Suspension and Seizure Order, and should the Tribunal confirm, modify or set aside the Registrar's order.
2. Would the Suspension and Seizure Order result in an exceptional hardship to the Applicant which would justify modification or setting aside the Registrar's order.

LAW:

- 47(1) Subject to section 47.1, the Registrar may suspend or cancel,
- (a) the plate portion of a permit as defined in Part II;
 - (b) a driver's licence; or
 - (c) CVOR certificate, on the grounds of,
 - (d) misconduct for which the holder is responsible directly or indirectly, related to the operation or driving of a motor vehicle;
 - (e) conviction of the holder for an offence referred to in subsection 210(1) or (2); or
 - (f) the Registrar having reason to believe, having regard to the safety record of the holder or of a person related to the holder, and any other information that the Registrar considers relevant, that the holder will not operate a commercial motor vehicle safely or in accordance with this Act, the regulations and other laws relating to highway safety; or
 - (g) any other sufficient reason not referred to in clause (d), (e) or (f).
- (10) The Registrar may, at any time for misconduct or contravention of this Act, the Truck Transportation Act, the Public Vehicles Act or of any regulation thereunder by an owner or lessee of one or more motor vehicles or trailers for which permits have been issued by a jurisdiction or jurisdictions other than the Province of Ontario, order that the permit and number plates issued for the vehicle or vehicles be seized and any police officer or any officer appointed for carrying out this Act or the enforcement of the Public Vehicles Act or the Truck Transportation Act may seize the permit and number plates and deliver them to the Ministry which shall return them to the authority that issued them.

According to section 22(e) HTA:

- 22(e) the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, governing the suspension or cancellation of CVOR certificates under subsection 47(1) or the imposition of a limitation on the fleet size operated under a CVOR certificate under subsection 47(2).

The maintenance requirements under the HTA are found, inter alia, at Regulation 575 (commercial motor vehicle inspections); Regulation 577 (covering of loads); Regulation 587 (re brake push rod travel); Regulation 597 (gross vehicle weights); Regulation 625 (tire standards and specifications); Regulation 762/91 (safety inspections); Regulation 614 (security of loads).

The appeal comes to this Tribunal by virtue of s. 50(1) of the HTA which provides:

- 50(1) Every person aggrieved by a decision of the Minister under subsection 17(2) or (3) or subclause 32(12)(b)(i) or a decision of the Registrar under section 47 may appeal the decision to the Tribunal.
- (2) The Tribunal may confirm, modify or set aside the decision of the Minister or Registrar.

Regulation 574, also addresses appeals to this Tribunal;

- 3(3) Upon receipt of a notice of appeal under subsection (1) the Board shall forthwith notify the Minister or Registrar, as the case may be, and the person notified shall forthwith provide the Board with all the relevant documents and other material in his or her possession.
- 3(6) At any hearing under this section, the person making the appeal has the right to attend and make representations and, subject to subsection (7), to adduce evidence respecting the appeal either personally or through counsel.
- 3(7) At any hearing under this section, the Board shall hear only such evidence as was submitted to the Minister or the Registrar, as the case may be, respecting the matter in dispute.®

APPLICATION OF LAW TO THE FACTS:

Section 47 of the Highway Traffic Act provides that the Registrar may suspend a CVOR certificate on the grounds set out in that section.

The Tribunal has reviewed the considerable volume of evidence brought before it, both as exhibits and through oral testimony. The Tribunal has some concerns that the only witness produced on behalf of the Applicant was a person who had only been employed with the Applicant since April of 1999, who did not have a full knowledge of the business practices of the Applicant and was not an officer or director of the Applicant.

Although, Sandeep Powar was the Safety Manager of the Applicant, he had only been employed there since April 1999. He was not aware of the details of the CVOR interview of January 25, 1999 and was not even advised of that interview when he was hired by the Applicant. It was not explained why the Applicant did not follow through with the Action Plan and inform the MTO in writing about progress made in implementing the Action Plan.

This was to be done every four months beginning in April 1999. He was not present at the show cause meeting of May 30, 2000.

Mr. Powar had very limited knowledge of the current financial situation of the Company to support its allegation that the penalty was too harsh and would result in the Company being forced to shut down. He gave general evidence as to what he thought was the number of contracts in Ontario, but no evidence established such contracts was produced to the Tribunal. The only evidence before the Tribunal was a letter from an accounting firm in British Columbia with an opinion of a member of the firm as to what would happen with the Company if its Ontario operations ceased for one month. The letter made reference to the Company losing hundreds of thousands of dollars, but attached no financial information or any supporting information. The Tribunal has given very little weight to this unsubstantiated letter.

Mr. Powar was knowledgeable in regard to the safety operations of the Company during the limited time that he was employed there as Safety Manager. He referred to the Record Summary to substantiate a decrease in convictions in 1999 over 1998 and a further decrease in the 7.4 months of the year 2000. This was in relation to the overall convictions, although there was an increase in convictions of some areas and an increase in 2000 over 1998 in the careless driving convictions. His evidence was that he personally checks all drivers' papers and log books and has four levels of sanctions for infractions. This was not something which he had initiated; rather, he was carrying on the same system that was in force when he started to work for the Company. The Company also had a Driver's Handbook written by Iqbal Sanghera which was given to each of the drivers, however, this was also not something that was new to the Company and the Handbook had not been updated. He testified that all Company units were checked by the Company's mechanic after each trip and inspected independently every six months. This procedure was also not new and was in place when he was hired in April 1999. The Tribunal had considerable concerns that despite the fact that it was not denied that the Company had a deplorable safety record in the past, there was no evidence given that any new procedures had been initiated by the Company to improve the situation.

One of the items objected to by the Applicant was that the CVOR number of Kultar Sanghera had a number of infractions recorded against it and these should have been under the CVOR number of Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. When this was corrected at the request of the Applicant in the Updated Sanction Analysis of September 2000, the Actual Violation Rate of the Applicant increased from 176.5% over the original analysis period to 187.6%. The Tribunal accepted the evidence of Mr. Herale that when the violation rate of the overall threshold reaches 100%, the operator is within the top 5% of the worst offenders in Ontario. The overall threshold of the Applicant was 185%.

The Tribunal recognizes that under the Highway Traffic Act and its regulations, there is an obligation of the Registrar to ensure the safety of the public. The primary purpose of such legislation is to ensure that those involved in the movement of goods and people do so in a safe fashion for all users of the highways. Public safety must take precedence over the business operations of any one particular carrier. In this case, the Tribunal is of the opinion that the safety of the public has been seriously compromised by the number of safety infractions of the Applicant. Although the Applicant's safety record has shown improvement in the year 2000, there was no evidence that any new safety procedures had been implemented which would account for this improvement. The time frame has not been long enough to establish that there is a continuing trend of the Company to improve its safety record. The Tribunal is not convinced that the Applicant has improved its safety operations in any permanent fashion.

DECISION AND REASONS:

This Tribunal is of the opinion that the sanction as stated in the original Notice of Suspension, that pursuant to sections 47, 47(10) and 47.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, that the CVOR Certificate # 113-874-580 issued to Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. and plate portions of permits for all commercial motor vehicles and trailers registered in the name of Aman Enterprises 1989 Ltd. be suspended for a period of thirty days, is the appropriate sanction.

Pursuant to the authority vested in it under subsection 50(2) of the Highway Traffic Act, the Tribunal confirms the Registrar's Order of Suspension and Seizure, dated July 10, 2000, provided that to accommodate the Applicant's vehicles currently in transit in Ontario, such Order of Suspension and Seizure shall take effect at 8:00 a.m. Eastern Daylight Savings time on 16th day of November, 2000 to 7:59 a.m. Eastern Daylight Savings time on the 16th day of December, 2000.

DATE OF HEARING: November 7, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: November 9, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on November 7, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: Darlene McKenzie (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle: 1998 Ford Taurus, plate AFNM 979 (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal: October 17, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on November 7, 2000 and proceeded as an electronic hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

- an appeal is being asked of this Tribunal on the grounds that
- "a threat to the health or safety of any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle." applies. I have given birth to my first child Oct. 5, 2000. Because we live in the country my vehicle is the only quick access I have to not only getting necessities but in the event of an emergency, the only quick resolution to providing medical attention for my baby.

The Applicant, Mrs. McKenzie advised that she was expecting a baby when the car was impounded. She said she was feeling ill, and her husband used the car to take her to her parents' house, a fifty-minute drive away. He was stopped by the police on his way back home and the car was impounded.

Mrs. McKenzie appealed because of her concern for her new-born child. She said that while all her basic needs were being met, she was worried about the safety of the baby in case of a medical emergency. The nearest doctor is in Cornwall, a fifteen-minute drive from her home.

In response to the Respondent's questions, Mrs. McKenzie admitted that thus far she had not experienced any problems with respect to the care of her baby. She had taken the child to the Doctor once. Her parents had been quite willing to help at the time. She also readily admitted that although she lived in the country, she had many neighbours, who would gladly assist her if her baby fell ill and had to be taken either to the Doctor or to the nearest Hospital in Cornwall.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Roderick B. McKenzie;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of driving with more than 80 mgs alcohol in blood under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until February 25, 2003.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

(1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

- (3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,
- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
 - (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
 - (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
 - (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines "exceptional hardship" as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

(h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22
- (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety of any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
 - (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
 - (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,

- (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The Applicant appealed under section 50.2(3)(d) of the Highway Traffic Act alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98 provides the criteria to be considered and the criteria that is not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound a motor vehicle under section 55.1 of the Act.

The Applicant confined her appeal specifically to section 22(1)(a) of the Act, which states:

“(a) a threat to the health or safety of any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle.”

Her main concern was for her new-born baby. The child is only five weeks old and any illness or hint of same must not be trivialized.

In giving evidence, Mrs. McKenzie advised that her child was slightly congested and that she was planning another visit to the Doctor. Her parents would take her. She did not seem to feel that her baby was in imminent danger. In any event, she could depend on her neighbours in an emergency.

As far as the Tribunal is concerned, Mrs. McKenzie has not demonstrated that, as set out in section 22(3):

- (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
- (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting; or
- (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle.

While the Tribunal is very much aware that the health and care of a new-born infant is of paramount importance, we are satisfied that the child is presumably in good health, and that assistance is immediately available in the event of an emergency.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

A hearing was held on November 10, 2000 at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA").

The Tribunal released its Decision on November 14, 2000, with Reasons to follow.

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the suspension imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 48.3 HTA for the following reasons.

REASONS

BACKGROUND:

Notice of Appeal and Prescribed Fee

This appeal comes before the Tribunal on behalf of the Applicant, by way of a Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990 as amended, chapter H.8. The Applicant elected that his appeal be decided by the Tribunal by way of an oral hearing. The form of Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway

Traffic Act was dated 18 October 2000, and was received by the Tribunal on October 18, 2000, together with the prescribed fee of $100.00, paid by money order.

Reason for the Appeal

The reason for the appeal cited by the Applicant was stated as follows in the said notice:

AI was unable to provide the required breath sample because of a medical reason.®

Preliminary Matters

The Respondent presented to the Tribunal, the stamped certified copies of Notice to Registrar, Driving Record of the Applicant and the Vehicle Record as of Occurrence date. The Applicant presented copies of a Government Pardon for a 1990 drinking and driving conviction, an ETR bill as well as a statement of account from William Osler Health Centre. The Respondent had no objection to these late filings and the documents with consent of both parties were entered into evidence and the hearing proceeded.

- d) Exhibit # 5 ETR statement

ISSUE:

Having established that this appeal falls within subsection 50.1(2)(b) of the Highway Traffic Act, and the Tribunal thereby having jurisdiction, the question to be answered is: Did the Applicant fail or refuse to comply with a demand made to provide a sample of breath or blood because he or she was unable to do so for a medical reason?

LAW:

The legislation governing the Administrative Drivers Licence Suspension (ADLS) under subsection 50.1(1) and (2) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA") states:

50.1 (1) A person whose driver's licence is suspended under Section 48.3 may appeal the suspension to the Tribunal.

(2) The grounds on which a person may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may order that the suspension be set aside are,

(a) that the person whose licence was suspended is not the same individual to whom a demand for a sample of breath or blood was made, or from whom a sample of breath or blood was taken, as the case may be, under or pursuant to the provisions of the Criminal Code (Canada) referred to in subsection 48.3(3); or

(b) that the person failed or refused to comply with a demand made under section 254 of the Criminal Code (Canada) to provide a sample of breath or blood because he or she was unable to do so for a medical reason.

The HTA states under Section 50.1(4):

The Board may confirm the suspension or may order that the suspension be set aside.

Regulation 574 (amended), Highway Traffic Act at subsection 15(1),(2) and (3) requires that a medical report must contain:

15. (1) A report of a legally qualified medical practitioner that is to be submitted in evidence shall clearly state,

(a) the name, telephone number and address, with the postal code, of the medical practitioner;

(b) the name, date of birth and address of the person who is the subject of the report;

(c) that the medical practitioner has prepared the report, or is aware that the report may be used, in support of an appeal to the Board from the suspension of a driver's licence under section 50.1 of the Act;

(d) the length of time and frequency with which the medical practitioner has attended upon the person who is the subject of the report, including the date of the most recent examination of the person that supports the findings set out in the report;

(e) whether the medical practitioner is the family physician of the person who is the subject of the report; and

(f) whether the medical practitioner is a specialist and, if so, the field of specialty.

(2) The report shall provide the details of any present condition, diagnosis and history of the condition that precludes the person who is the subject of the report from providing a breath or blood sample including the results of any related tests.

(3) The report shall be signed by the medical practitioner.

Finally, section 13 of Regulation 574 (amended) provides:

AA person appealing a suspension has the onus of establishing the merit of the appeal@.

FACTS:

The Applicant was sworn and took the stand. He read into evidence his typed submission. He stated:

AO On the 30th of September 2000 at about 7:00 p.m., I got a call from a very good friend of mine, B.M., requesting to be picked up from Scarborough as he had too much to drink and was unable to drive home. So I picked him up at about 9:00 p.m. B. sat on the passenger side of my car. As soon as I took Hwy 407 from Hwy 404, B. dozed off. While I was driving, he kept leaning on my shoulder. This was interfering with my driving. I took the Goreway EXIT, and then took William's Pkwy on Airport Rd. As soon as I took this turn, about 4 or 5 police cars stopped me. A police officer came to my window and asked me to lower down my window. It was cold that night and I had all my car windows shut. As soon as I lowered down my windows, the police officer must have smelled the booze from B.'s heavy breathing in the car. No questions were asked, I was immediately searched, arrested and handcuffed and taken to the police station. There I was met with a police officer from East Indian Origin. He started questioning me in Punjabi. I indicated to him that I do not speak Punjabi fluently and that I prefer a Malay interpreter, as I come from Malaysia and not India. The police officer got very angry and warned me that they will beat me up if I refuse to speak Punjabi. But I kept insisting that I prefer Malay rather than Punjabi. He and another police officer took me into an empty room, where I was punched in the chest. I cried in pain and indicated to them that I have had a 5 By-Pass open-Heart surgery. Soon afterwards I had tremendous pain in the chest and difficulty breathing and collapsed on the floor. Ambulance was called and I was rushed to the hospital. The next day, I was discharged and taken back to the police station where I was shocked to find that I was charged for impaired driving and refusal to give a breath sample. I would like to state here very clearly that not once was I asked to blow into any Breathalyzer or asked to give a blood samples. So how could I be charged for refusal when I was not even approached?"

The Applicant had no further testimony to present and was cross-examined by the representative for the Respondent, Mr. Kyle Biel. The Applicant was asked if he had anything to drink that evening, to which he replied, "yes one beer only, at about 9 p.m." At this point in time, the Applicant had a video tape which he requested to play for the Tribunal. Mr. Biel had no objection and the tape was viewed.

The tape was a video from 22 Division showing the breath taking room with Officer #1 alone in the room. He was reading for the record the fact that the accused, would not provide a sample of his breath for testing and that he was clearly given his rights to counsel, was cautioned, and the demand for breath was read to him. The breath machine runs out of time, as no sample was obtained, and we see nothing else on this video. According to the Applicant, he does not understand why the police did not even take him into the room? Was it not their duty to take him into the room?@

The Applicant at this point in time, stated that AI was feeling fine and had no problem to provide a breath sample, if they asked me to.@ The Applicant then stated that he was removed to a Aroom@ by two officers, whom he did not know their names or badge numbers, and was hit by both of them. He alleges that one officer hit him with his elbow in the side of his chest and the other officer punched him in the front of his chest. The Applicant stated that after he was struck, he had severe pain and told the officers that he was a heart patient. According to the Applicant, they took him out of the room and sat him on the bench. He states he collapsed, an ambulance was called and he was transported to hospital where he stated that blood was taken twice. Upon his release, he stated that he was told that Athe pain was not coming from his heart and if the pain persisted, he should follow up with his family physician. He was released and returned by Officer #2 to 21 Division. He was released on a promise to appear. The Applicant had nothing further to add and was excused from the stand.

No other witnesses were called to testify on his behalf. The Applicant relies on the medical report of Physician #1, his family physician. That report is filed as Exhibit # 2.

The representative for the Respondent, Mr. Kyle Biel, called Officer #2 Badge number 1674 to the stand. The officer was sworn and testified that the Applicant, the driver of a 1986 Oldsmobile, came to the attention of Peel Regional Police because a concerned citizen believed that the driver of the vehicle may have been under the influence of alcohol because of the erratic driving. The subject vehicle was stopped by Peel Regional Police on Airport Road. He was taken from the vehicle, searched, placed in handcuffs and taken to the police cruiser. The arresting officer was identified as Officer #3 Badge # 1720. Officer #2 Badge # 1674 also attended the scene and took charge of the driver. The handcuffs were exchanged and the driver was placed in Officer #2's vehicle. Officer #2 again stated to the accused that he was under arrest for impaired driving and that he was being transported to the police station for the purpose of providing a breath sample. The accused was informed of his rights as well as the demand for breath was made. The driver responded with Athat's your opinion, not mine. I don't speak English@. The accused was transported to 22 Division at approximately 10:23 p.m. for the purpose of obtaining a breath sample. At 22 Division, Officer #2 was met by Officer #4, who speaks Punjabi as well as Officer #1 Badge # 1799. According to the sworn affidavit of Officer #1, he was present with Officer #2 in the cell area when Officer #4 spoke with the driver in Punjabi. Officer #2 asked the questions to Officer #4 in English which Officer #4 then asked the driver in Punjabi. The driver was given his rights to counsel, was cautioned and the breath demand was made. According to Officer #1, the accused informed Officer #4 that he did not wish a lawyer and that he was refusing to blow. The driver indicated that he would not provide a breath sample and would not enter the breath testing room. Officer #4 informed the driver that he was being charged with refusal. In the sworn affidavit, it is clearly stated "I never took over custody of the driver, the driver never gave a reason why he outright refused to give a breath sample.@

Officer #2 testified that she left the accused for about 2 minutes to help move another person to another area. When she returned, she stated that the Applicant, was holding his chest. According to Officer #2, he would neither respond to her questions in English nor indicate to her that he understood her. Officer #2 took the precaution of calling an ambulance for the Applicant. At this time the Applicant said "You hit, I die". He was attended at the station by paramedics and was then transported to the William Osler Health Centre. He was examined and then released. While at the hospital, the emergency room physician asked Officer #2 if the patient had been beaten by police, to which Officer #2 replied "No".

According to Officer #2, the accused had bloodshot eyes, had a strong odour of an alcoholic beverage on his breath, and was unsteady on his feet. The officer had no other testimony to provide. The Applicant asked the officer why he was not taken into the breath room? The officer responded that "You refused". The officer was excused from the stand.

The Board accepts the evidence of Officer #2.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

In an appeal of this nature, the onus is on the Applicant to substantiate his position. The evidence submitted by the Applicant does not substantiate his claim to the effect that he had a present medical condition which precluded him from providing a breath or blood sample.

The report from Physician #1 family physician, fails to meet the specific requirements of section 15(1) of Regulation 574 of the Highway Traffic Act in the following respects:

Physician #1 does not provide the details of any present condition, diagnosis and history of the condition that precludes the Applicant from providing a breath sample, including the results of any related tests to substantiate the Applicant's assertion that due to his medical condition he was unable to provide a proper breath sample. The "history" of the condition is a re-iteration of the events and symptoms allegedly experienced by the Applicant. There is nothing in the report to indicate that the history of the condition would in anyway interfere with the ability to provide a breath or blood sample. Physician #1 clearly states "that this patient's condition prior to this incident does not preclude him to provide a breath or blood sample." Physician #1 recommends that the Applicant be investigated with a stress test and follow-up with his cardiologist, however, no report or findings have been included with this appeal. Physician #1 does not indicate that he has knowledge of what is actually required to perform the Breathalyzer tests nor does he indicate how the Applicant's present medical condition would affect his ability to provide that sample of breath. The only possible corroboration from a medical standpoint would have been the emergency room report; however, this was not provided to the Tribunal and the Tribunal can not speculate as to its contents.

The Tribunal after very careful review of the medical information presented by Physician #1 is of the opinion that this report is speculative in nature as to the condition of the Applicant at the time that the demand for breath was made and does not provide sufficient medical evidence to support the position of the Applicant. The Tribunal attaches very little weight to this report.

The Applicant as well did not submit an emergency room report or a report from the Paramedics who attended to him at the police station and transported him to the hospital.

Reviewing the foregoing facts, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant did not relate his medical condition to Regulation 574 and Section 50(1)(2) (b).

The evidence does not support the Applicant's position that he refused to provide an adequate sample of breath for a medical reason. The evidence submitted suggests to the Tribunal that the actions of the Applicant were more indicative of the Applicant having no intention of providing a proper breath sample. The evidence presented clearly shows that the Applicant flatly refused to provide a sample when requested. The Applicant would not converse with the police officers in English, claiming that he did not understand the language. However, the Applicant has clearly demonstrated to this Tribunal his good command of the English language.

DECISION:

The Applicant has not discharged the onus of establishing a valid medical reason for his failure to provide a breath sample when demanded under section 254 of the Criminal Code (Canada).

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the suspension order dated October 6, 2000 of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles pursuant to section 48.3 of the Highway Traffic Act (HTA) and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant.

Pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50.1(4) of the HTA, the Tribunal confirms the suspension.

TO APPEAL AN ORDER TO IMPOUND A MOTOR VEHICLE ISSUED BY THE REGISTRAR OF MOTOR VEHICLES

TRIBUNAL: ANTOINE AOUAD, M.D.

APPEARANCES: KIM GROSSKURTH
Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

EDITH NORAH HART, Applicant
unrepresented

DATE OF HEARING: November 6, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: November 10, 2000 Orillia

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on November 6, 2000, at Orillia, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended (“HTA” or the “Act”).

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the “Act”).

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the “Registrar”), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: Edith Norah Hart (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle: 1981 Pontiac Parisienne, Plate # ADNN 798 (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal: October 19, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on November 6, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

The Applicant and the Respondent agreed that the above-noted documents filed by the Applicant in support of her appeal at the hearing as evidence.

There being no other preliminary matters and the hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

I, Edith Norah Hart, am the owner of the impounded vehicle. The loss of the vehicle for my use has resulted and will continue to result in exceptional hardship.

On the day that the vehicle was impounded, I was driving the car in the country (Medonte-Oro Twp.) for the purpose of a Thanksgiving outing. I experienced intense pain as a result of a medical condition I am suffering from, and for which my body involuntarily responds through incontinence and loss of control of certain bodily functions. I am scheduled for surgery in order to correct this condition. The loss of these bodily functions complicates further my existing medical conditions. I have never experienced the loss of bodily function in my vehicle before, but the chances of the condition recurring increases each day unless I receive regular medical treatment and until the surgical procedures to correct it are performed. In any event, at that time, I was very surprised to experience the loss of control of my bladder and bowels. I became very upset, naturally.

I needed to return to either home or the hospital immediately, (the location depending on whether my condition worsened during the drive back) but I could not drive. So I asked the person with me to drive, and he did so as an act of courtesy and out of extreme concern for me. During the drive back home, we were stopped by the Barrie O.P.P. and the driver was charged with driving while suspended as he was not supposed to be driving. We tried to explain the situation, but the police officer ignored my explanation, and advised me that my vehicle would be impounded right away. The officer took the driver in the cruiser to the Barrie detachment and made me drive my vehicle, in my upset, painful and unclean condition to the detachment. I had asked to be driven to the hospital, but the officer did not heed my request.

My vehicle has been impounded for 4 days already and it is causing me extreme hardship to be without it. In addition, I and my partner are on disability benefits and cannot afford the impoundment fee. My vehicle is utilized for driving my disabled husband Paul to his regular physician's and therapist's appointments in Newmarket, in Orillia. I also need to drive to Aurora and Newmarket regularly, and to Toronto on occasion for medical intervention. I am concerned that we will not be able to continue with these necessary medical appointments while the vehicle remains impounded, as I am unable, in my unpredictable condition, to take public transit. I also feel that is extreme hardship to permit my vehicle to be impounded under the unusual circumstances involving my medical crisis. Since, the incident, I have made arrangements to be able to contact emergency numbers should such an incident occur again prior to the condition being corrected.

I have not made a claim of exceptional hardship before the Licence Suspension Appeal Board before.

I respectfully ask that the Board order the release of my vehicle and further, hope that the Board will consider waiving the impoundment and appeal filing fee under the circumstances.

Sincerely,

Edith Norah Hart

Please note that this submissions was made in consultation with Ms. Ellie Venhola, LL.B. who is a staff lawyer with the Simcoe Legal Services Clinic, but who is not mandated to act as my agent or legal representative in this matter.

The Applicant claims that the impoundment will result in exceptional hardship as the Applicant "...cannot afford the impoundment fee ...vehicle utilized for driving disabled husband ...to his regular physician's and therapist appointments ...need to drive to Aurora and Newmarket regularly and to Toronto on occasion for medical intervention ...unable in unpredictable condition, to take public transportation ...made arrangements to be able to contact emergency numbers should such an incident occur again..."

In a handwritten note, Dr. L.B. Wilkes confirms that the Applicant is "...disabled by severe stress incontinence..."

Dr. Stephen B. Will, Obstetrician and Gynecologist, states in a letter dated October 16, 2000 that the Applicant "...has a medical condition that is significantly affecting her day-to-day living ...disabling. activity function at work and at home ...testing in near future ...will require further investigation and treatment..."

At the hearing, the Applicant read into evidence a prepared statement which detailed the events that led up to and surrounding the impoundment.

In viva voce and cross-examination, the Applicant testifies that she asked her common-law husband to drive, as a 'favour' to her. She had an accident and soiled herself which made her feel extremely uncomfortable.

The Applicant complained that she felt as if she was "...treated like a criminal..." and wanted to register a complaint as she "expected more compassionate and civilized treatment from ...police force."

Copies of bills for car rental and cabs were provided to the Tribunal. These expenses were incurred as the Applicant went about her daily activities, which included volunteer work.

An opportunity to obtain work as a personal care giver was lost, as the cost of transportation to and from work, i.e. cabs, would override any income earned. The Applicant testified that she is unable to use public transportation as she suffers from a "...social dysfunction ...gets paranoid..."

When asked about her health the Applicant remarked that she has "...a variety of conditions ...did not want to disclose ...just what caused the problem...".

The Applicant attested that due to the fact that she and her spouse come from "dysfunctional families", they have no family or friends on whom they can count on to drive them from place to place.

Both the Applicant and her spouse are required to see their physicians on a regular basis.

The Applicant has been scheduled for surgery in December but is on a waiting list for an earlier date.

With respect to her financial situation, the Applicant testified that both she and her spouse are on disability benefits. They each require medication which are not always covered by Family Benefits.

When asked directly how the impoundment of the vehicle directly affected her health and/or her husband's health, the Applicant replied that they had several appointments with their physicians.

During her cross-examination of Constable Dore, the Applicant chastized him for putting her in a situation of "reckless endangerment", as she was forced to follow him to the detachment as he drove at an excessive speed and failed to signal turns.

In closing, the Applicant suggested that her car was in perfect condition when it was impounded and requested the Tribunal to consider compensation in the event of damages while the vehicle was impounded.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar's evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Paul B. Essery;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence failing to remain at accident under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension for life.

The Respondent called upon Police Constable Dore, Badge number 0333 as a witness. Constable Dore's evidence pertained solely to the events surrounding the suspension.

In closing, the Respondent asked that the Tribunal confirm the decision of the Registrar as the Applicant's testimony amounted to proof of inconvenience which did not constitute hardship.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

- (1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

- (3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,
 - (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
 - (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
 - (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
 - (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines "exceptional hardship" as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

- (4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

- (h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22 (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety or any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
- (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
- (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

Before rendering a decision in this matter the Tribunal will address the complaints raised by the Applicant with respect to her treatment by Constable Dore. As stated at the hearing, this is an issue which may be raised at other proceedings but in which this Tribunal has no jurisdiction.

The onus is on the Applicant to establish the exceptional hardship ground of appeal as provided in subsection 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

The Tribunal will proceed to review the criteria required to meet the onus for consideration of financial loss.

Is there no alternative to the impounded vehicle?

Subsection 22(3)(a) Regulation 574 as amended by O. Reg. 632/98 provided that this Tribunal may not consider financial or economic loss as a ground of appeal unless no alternative to the impounded vehicle is available.

The Applicant testified that she is able to get about by taking cabs or renting a car. Receipts were shown to support this statement.

As the Applicant has alternate methods of transportation available to her, the Tribunal may not consider the provisions of section 22(1) of Regulation 574.

Is the loss immediate, significant and lasting?

The Applicant does not meet the criteria of O. Reg. 632/98, subsection 22(3)(b) which provides that the Tribunal may not regard economic loss unless the Applicant shows proof that loss will be immediate, significant and lasting.

Both the Applicant and her spouse are on disability benefits and have not suffered loss of income due to the impoundment. It must be contemplated that the Applicant is spending extra money on cabs and car rental, however, as she stated, she is "...saving on gas..."

The Applicant has not satisfied the Tribunal that she has in fact incurred any loss of income or extra expenses which could be considered hardship.

Is the loss upon a person ordinarily transported in the motor vehicle?

The evidence indicates that the impact of the loss will be borne by the owner of the vehicle who is a person ordinarily transported in the motor vehicle. Therefore, the requirements under O. Reg. 632/98, subsection 22(3)(c) are met.

Is the loss upon a person other than the driver of the motor vehicle and not a result of that driver's loss?

O. Reg. 632/98, Subsection 22(3)(d)(i)(ii), amending Regulation 574 provides that this Tribunal may not consider economic loss unless the owner demonstrates that:

d) the impact of the loss,

i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle and...

ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause 2(b)(c) or (d).

The Applicant meets the requirements of subsection 22(3)(d)(i) as the loss of the impounded vehicle is upon a person other than the suspended driver. Subsection 22(3) requires the Applicant to establish all of clauses 22(3)(a)(b)(c) and (d). That is, the requirements of subsection 22(3)(a)(b)(c) and (d) are cumulative.

As stated above, the Applicant has not established clauses 22(3)(a) or (b). Therefore, the ground of exceptional hardship has not been established on the evidence.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

TO APPEAL AN ORDER TO IMPOUND A MOTOR VEHICLE ISSUED BY THE REGISTRAR OF MOTOR VEHICLES

TRIBUNAL: NIVES MONTANO

APPEARANCES: KIM GROSSKURTH
Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

JOSEPH ULMAN, Agent for the Applicant
unrepresented

DATE OF HEARING: November 9, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: November 15, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on November 9, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: CorvetteMasters Ltd. (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle: 1990 Chev Corsica, plate # AEFH 511 (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal: October 24, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the vehicle owner exercised due diligence to determine that the driver's licence was not suspended as provided in section 50.2(3) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on November 9, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

"Vehicle was leased to Gaetan Sequin on May 14/99 and we were not aware that his license had been suspended."

The Applicant is owned and operated by Joseph Ulman and his wife. They are the only two employees. The Applicant was incorporated in 1981 and is operating as Lease to Own Unlimited. The Applicant currently has approximately 90 to 100 vehicles out on lease. On average the Applicant leases 10 vehicles per month.

On February 2, 1999, G. Seguin, the driver of the impounded vehicle, signed a lease for a 1988 Pontiac Grand Am. On or about April 5 1999, Mr. Seguin had a minor accident with the 1988 Grand Am and Mr. Seguin's insurance company wrote off the vehicle since the value of the vehicle itself was less than the damage incurred. On April 22, 1999, Mr. Seguin's insurance company paid out the cost of the vehicle to the Applicant.

On May 14, 1999, Mr. Seguin obtained a replacement vehicle from the Applicant, a 1990 Corsica (the now impounded vehicle). When Mr. Seguin initially entered into the lease with the Applicant (Exhibit 5) on January 2, 1999, various particulars were provided including viewing and providing a driver's licence number. When Mr. Seguin obtain the replacement vehicle in May, 1999, the original lease was reviewed for any address and phone number changes as well as viewing and confirming the driver's licence number. This revised leased was entered into for two and half years and the last payment will be on October 15, 2001.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows (Exhibits 3 & 4):

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Gaetan Seguin;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of impaired driving under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until September 5, 2001.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

(1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

- (3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,
- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
 - (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
 - (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
 - (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(c).

With respect to an appeal under subsection 50.2(3)(c) alleging that the owner exercised due diligence prior to releasing the vehicle to the driver, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary provides the definition of "due diligence" as follows:

Due: A. adj. 1. That is owing or payable, as a debt. 2. Belonging or falling to by right. 3. That ought to be giving or rendered; merited. 4. Such as ought to be; fitting; proper; rightful. 5. Such as is requisite or necessary; adequate. 6. To be ascribed or attributed; owing to, caused by, in consequence of. 7. Under engagement or contract to be ready or arrive (at a defined time).

Diligence: 1. The quality of being diligent; industry, assiduity. 2. Speed, dispatch. 3. Careful attention, heedfulness, caution. 4. Law. The attention and care due from a person in a given situation....

Also, “due diligence” in Black’s Law Dictionary (sixth edition) at page 457 is as follows:

Due diligence: Such a measure of prudence, activity, or assiduity, as is properly to be expected from, and ordinarily exercised by, a reasonable and prudent man under the particular circumstances; not measured by any absolute standard, but depending on the relative facts of the special case.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The issue to be considered in this appeal is whether the Applicant exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the Lessee’s driver’s licence at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension.

Mr. Ulman testified that the Applicant is the owner of the vehicle that has been impounded and at the time of impoundment the Lessee was driving the vehicle.

The onus of proof is on the Applicant or its agent to establish that due diligence was performed which is required under section 50.2(3)(c) of the Act.

Mr. Ulman did make the argument and referred to page 3, item #4 (Exhibit 6) and page 7, item #28 (Exhibit 7) of a lease agreement, which states:

- “4(a) The vehicle leased hereunder shall be lawfully operated in accordance with the laws of any jurisdiction to which the use and operation thereof may at any time be subject.
 - (v) operated or driven by a driver without a valid driver's licence issued by the appropriate governmental authority, or by a driver whose driver's license has at any time been suspended or cancelled;
 - (vi) operated contrary to the provisions of any policy of insurance covering the vehicle or in violation of provisions of any statute, law or ordinance, rule or regulation of any governmental or municipal authority having jurisdiction.
- 28. Lessee must have a valid Province of Ontario Drivers Licence at all times during the duration of this lease. In the event of cancellation of the above Drivers Licence by the Ministry of Transport the Lessor must be immediately notified by the Lessee.”

In his testimony, Mr. Ulman indicated that he relies on the honesty and integrity of the Lessee in providing a valid driver’s licence as well as relying on the Lessee’s insurance company to verify that the Lessee has coverage. The insurance company then mails the particulars of the policy to the Applicant within a specific timeframe, but there is no reference or confirmation as to whether a driver's abstract was ever done.

In further testimony, Mr. Ulman advises that his wife routinely, every three to six months, telephones Lessees' insurance companies to obtain verbal confirmations on insurance coverages.

Mr. Seguin's current insurance coverage is effective from February 13, 2000 to February 13, 2001. Mr. Seguin was convicted of drinking and driving on September 5, 2000. If his insurance company obtains an abstract on his customer pending the renewal of his policy, the Applicant would not have known about the suspension until January or February 2001. Mr. Ulman testified that he did not know that Mr. Seguin had a suspended driver's licence until he was made aware of it on or about November 5, 2000.

Unfortunately, neither the Applicant nor Mr. Ulman or his wife took any measures at any time after the execution of the above-mentioned lease agreement to ensure that the Lessee had a valid driver's licence. Viewing a driver's licence on two occasions, does not in itself ensure its validity, particularly when there was a lengthy period between the viewing and the impoundment. Furthermore, here the evidence indicates that the Applicant's actions were passive in nature. The Applicant relied upon others rather than actively make inquiries about the current status of the driver's licence.

The evidence before the Tribunal is that the Applicant has not demonstrated that it made any attempts to satisfy the requirements of section 50.2(3)(c) the Act.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

TO APPEAL AN ORDER TO IMPOUND A MOTOR VEHICLE ISSUED BY THE REGISTRAR OF MOTOR VEHICLES

APPEARANCES: KIM BEINTEMA

DATE OF HEARING: November 16, 2000 By teleconference

DECISION RELEASED: November 22, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on November 16, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the “Act”).

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the “Registrar”), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner:	Wendy A. Strycker (the “Applicant”)
Motor Vehicle:	Chevrolet Cel, plate # AEVT230 (the “vehicle”)
Date of Appeal:	October 27, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the “Tribunal”) together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on November 16, 2000 and proceeded as teleconference hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant’s request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant’s appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar’s order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant’s evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

"The owner's position is that she does not have sufficient income to cover the cost of releasing the vehicle in 45 days & is unable to find full-time work at present due to loss of vehicle & is involved in another legal matter. The hardship being that she is under extreme stress financially & emotionally & has lost quite a lot. She will not be able to pay release costs & does need this vehicle for future living needs."

The following is a summary of the Applicant's affirmed testimony.

The essence of this hearing is based on the Applicant, who is a 36 year old waitress, claiming financial hardship and how she cannot afford the impoundment charges once her vehicle is releasable.

She has been a waitress for the past 2 years at a location on Highway 6, approximately 17 kilometers from her home in Dundas, Ontario. She usually worked a 35 to 40 hour week. On September 29, 2000 a domestic dispute took place wherein her live-in boyfriend was incarcerated for 1 year. She finds it difficult to pay the bills and rent on only one income. She has indicated that she must borrow money for her everyday living expenses.

It must be noted that this Applicant was quite evasive and clearly did not want to answer any questions when asked about her place of employment as well as her health in relation to the domestic dispute.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows (Exhibits 3 & 4):

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Wendy A. Strycker, the Applicant;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of driving with more than 80 mgs alcohol in blood under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until October 19, 2000.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

(1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at

- the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines “exceptional hardship” as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

- (4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

- (h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22
- (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
- (a) a threat to the health or safety or any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
- (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
- (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
- (a) inconvenience to any person;
- (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
- (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
- (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.

- (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
- (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The Applicant has requested an appeal on the grounds of "exceptional hardship" under section 50.2(3)(d). Section 22 of Regulation 632/98 is very specific, in that it provides the Tribunal with the criteria the Applicant must meet to determine if in fact "exceptional hardship" will result from the impoundment. The Applicant in this case has argued that the impoundment will result in financial hardship. In order for her claim to be considered under section 22(2), the Applicant must have demonstrated that all of section 22(3) has been met. Furthermore, section 22(4) of the Regulation provides the criteria for demonstrating that every reasonable option has been considered for an alternative to the impounded vehicle.

The Tribunal would like to examine the Owner's Position in the Applicant's Notice of Appeal (Exhibit 2):

"The owner's position is that she does not have sufficient income to cover the cost of releasing the vehicle in 45 days ..."

Under section 22(2) of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, the Tribunal shall not, consider whether the impoundment will result in

- (a) inconvenience to any person;
- (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
- (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
- (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.

The evidence does not establish this, and unless the Applicant demonstrates all four elements of subsection (3) which include demonstrating that no alternative to the vehicle is available and that the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting, the Applicant's above-referenced sentence is precluded from being considered.

“...& is unable to find full-time work at present due to loss of vehicle & is involved in another legal matter.”

At the onset of this hearing, the Applicant testified that she has quit her highly stressful job as a waitress due to the impoundment and was trying to find another job. When cross-examined by the Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles regarding her last day of employment, the Applicant tried to evade the question but finally indicated that she had gone to work to “give them a hand” on Saturday (November 11, 2000) and Monday (November 13, 2000) (respectively 6 and 4 days prior to this hearing). Therefore, the Tribunal's finds that the Applicant has not ceased her employment all together. In all likelihood, to ease her financial difficulties, the Applicant could remain at this place of employment on a full-time or part-time basis until she was able to find comparable employment elsewhere.

When asked how she had managed to get to work after the vehicle was impounded, the Applicant indicated that a friend and a co-worker drove her to work. If the Applicant is determined in finding a new place of employment, there are alternatives available to her. The Applicant has also testified that her mother owns a vehicle as well.

“The hardship being that she is under extreme stress financially & emotionally & has lost quite a lot.”

It is unfortunate that the Applicant was involved in a domestic dispute, but the fact remains that the majority of what the Tribunal has heard regarding the Applicant's hardship relates to this serious incident which pre-existed the impoundment. For example, there is now only one income in the household to pay for rent, utility bills, and even the impoundment charges. But the Applicant did testify that she is managing to carry on in her day-to-day life by borrowing money. She also indicated that if necessary, she could borrow money from her mother.

The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,

- (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
- (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
- (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and

With regard to clause 2(a), the Applicant has testified that a friend and a co-worker have driven her to work.

With regard to clause 2(b), since she has been a suspended driver for the past year, the impoundment does not qualify as immediate or significant. The loss will not be lasting since (i) the release of the vehicle is scheduled for November 21, 2000; and (ii) the Applicant has the ability to remove the remedial suspension on her driver's licence pending her enrollment and completion of the course schedule for sometime in December.

Last and most importantly, under clause 22(3)(d) of Regulation 340/94, as amended, the exceptional hardship identified in the Applicant's appeal is not available to the driver of the vehicle who was driving while her driver's licence was under suspension. Here, the driver is the Applicant who has been a suspended driver since October 19, 1999. Her suspension with regard to a conviction of the offence of driving with more than 80 mgs alcohol in her blood under the Criminal Code of Canada would have been reinstated on October 19, 2000 pursuant to the completion of a remedial program which the Applicant has indicated will not take place until some time in mid December. On the date of impoundment (October 7, 2000), the Applicant was driving the impounded vehicle to work. It is against the law to have care and control of a vehicle knowing full well that your licence is under suspension.

The Applicant has testified that she has not been charged with driving while disqualified possibly due to the fact that her reinstatement was only a few days away from the date of impoundment. The police officer could have given her some leniency due to the recent domestic dispute. There is no evidence before this Tribunal to substantiate any of the foregoing possibilities.

The Tribunal is of the opinion that the Applicant does have alternatives to the impounded vehicle, and under section 22 of Regulation 632/98 cannot establish exceptional hardship under section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

Claims presented by the Applicant have been substantiated by evidence as being financial hardships not exceptional hardships. None of the losses presented in the Applicant's submissions have been proven to be immediate, significant and lasting.

Also, as the driver, the Applicant can not rely on financial or economic loss or loss of employment or employment opportunity under section 22(3)(d) of Regulation 340/94, as amended.

The Tribunal accordingly finds the Applicant has not established that she has or will suffer exceptional hardship as defined by section 22 of Ontario Regulation 340/94 as amended by 632/98.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

ANGELA J. E. BEER

Appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap.H.8 as amended (the "Act"), from the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the Act.

TO APPEAL AN ORDER TO IMPOUND A MOTOR VEHICLE ISSUED BY THE REGISTRAR OF MOTOR VEHICLES

TRIBUNAL: ALAN HOLBROOK
Presiding member

APPEARANCES: CLAIRE ROWETT
Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

ANGELA J. E. BEER, Applicant
unrepresented

DATE OF HEARING: November 15, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: November 23, 2000 Kingston

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on November 15, 2000, at Kingston, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the “Registrar”), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: Angela J. E. Beer (the “Applicant”)
Motor Vehicle: 1990 Chevrolet GM4, plate # 278 3ES (the “vehicle”)
Date of Appeal: October 26, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the “Tribunal”) together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on November 15, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

The hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant’s request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #2) identifies the basis of the Applicant’s appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar’s order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant’s evidence follows.

Applicant’s written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

Owner’s Position

I (Angela Beer) am the owner of the impounded vehicle. I was, in no way involved in the incident which resulted in the impoundment of my truck. (I was unaware, and not even near the area in which the incident took place). The truck was left with Jason Dobb (the person who incurred the offense) in order for him to make repairs to it (this was the only way, financially, for me to have it fixed). I did not give him permission to drive the vehicle - nor did I, however, specifically state that he was not to drive the vehicle (as I was completely unaware that his licence was not in good standing).

I am filing an appeal under section 50.2(d) of the Highway Traffic Act - the grounds that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

I have no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle, and there are many repercussions for me in not having my truck. I use the vehicle in almost all that I do... Getting to and from classes, going home (to Madoc, ON) to be with my parents, getting to my volunteer position at the hospital, etc.

Having the truck (and one of my reasons for having a vehicle, is that it) definitely decreases the threat that exists to my safety by ensuring that I never need to walk anywhere at night in the city - it allows me freedom, without fear.

I am a 4th year student at Queen's University, finishing my honours degree in life sciences this year. As a student, it is imperative that I regain the use of my truck immediately. And, as I am not the person who committed the offense, I am being unreasonably punished.

If I do not regain the use of my truck, I will be unable to reliably attend my classes, and hence my education is in immediate, severe jeopardy... This will be an immediate, significant and lasting loss, as I will then not be able to attend medical school as planned, and essentially will alter the entire course of my life, and career.

As a student, money is very tight. As an innocent bystander to this offense, I feel that the great financial burdens resulting are unreasonable. I barely have the extra 100$ to file this appeal, let alone face the possibility of paying out approximately $1200 dollars when the vehicle is released. I do not even have this much money...in fact, I have barely enough to see myself through the school year. I do not currently have a job outside of school, as I am trying to focus entirely on my studies to ensure that my dream of becoming a doctor becomes reality. The financial repercussions of this impoundment may force me to curtail my schooling, which I feel is unfair, considering I was not involved in the incident.

Thank you for hearing my appeal. I hope you will find everything in order and I will hear from you soon regarding the Tribunal hearing.

Sincerely,

Angela Beer

I am requesting a written hearing, as it will be the most feasible way for me to proceed. I do not have the means to ensure that I can attend an oral hearing, as I am unsure as to where it will be....and I do not have the resources to hire a legal representative.

Angela Beer

The only witness for the Applicant was Ms. Angela Beer she testified on her own behalf. Ms. Beer reviewed, for the Tribunal, her written submission filed at the time she submitted her Notice of Appeal. Ms. Beer testified arrangements had been made with Mr. Jason Dobbs, of Tweed Ontario, to make repairs to the exhaust system on her truck. She was unaware his Ontario Drivers Licence was under suspension. He did not have permission to drive the vehicle but had taken it and was subsequently stopped by police and the vehicle impounded.

She uses the truck to get to classes and the hospital for her volunteer activities. Ms. Beer also uses it to drive home to Madoc, Ontario to visit her parents. Ms. Beer also feels the vehicle increases her personal safety in that she can drive rather than walk or ride the bus in the city at night.

Ms. Beer stated that her education was in jeopardy because she has trouble getting to University classes without the truck. The associated costs of the impoundment also were cause for concern to her in that she is not working in order to concentrate on her studies. Ms. Beer stated she feels she was an innocent bystander and had not committed the offence and thus was being punished unfairly.

Under cross-examination, Ms. Beer stated she had not checked into alternatives to the vehicle such as a rental car stating she knew they were too expensive. Taxis would also be expensive to use on a regular basis. She does however live on a bus route and is within walking distance of some of her classes and the hospital where she volunteers. She stated she is aware there is a student escort program in place to accompany students walking alone although she has not used its services. Night classes and classes at the West Campus are further from her home. She had not attempted to get a ride with other students or check into other possible alternatives.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Jason R. Dobb;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of Impaired Driving under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until February 23, 2003.

The respondent called no witnesses, relying only upon their written submissions and cross-examination of Ms. Beer.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

- (1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

- 3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,
- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
 - (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
 - (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
 - (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines “exceptional hardship” as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

(h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22
- (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety or any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
 - (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
 - (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;

- (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

As to whether the evidence established "exceptional hardship" The Tribunal finds Ms. Beer failed to satisfy the conditions as set out in section 22.(1), (2), (3), and (4) of Regulation 340/94, as amended, under the Act.

Alternative means of transportation were not fully explored by her.

Ms. Beer's personal safety is of concern to the Tribunal, but the Tribunal finds that the use of Taxis, student escorts and ride sharing can address those concerns.

The cost of the impoundment will no doubt be expensive to Ms. Beer on her limited student budget; however, the Applicant failed to demonstrate that the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

DECISION RELEASED: November 23, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on November 16, 2000 at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner:	Lysandra Wenona Card (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle:	Chevrolet Astro, plate # AHSY356 (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal:	October 31, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on November 16, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing. The Respondent submitted a set of copies of documents bearing original certification seals.

All documents were submitted into evidence with the consent of both parties.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

The hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

HUSBAND WILL LOOSE EMPLOYMENT - 11/4 HR DRIVE
HAVE 3 CHILDREN
LIVE 10 MIN'S FROM TOWN
PARENT'S 75-76 YEAR'S OLD
DEPENT ON ME FOR TRANSPORTATION.

The Applicant testified that she and her family reside in Shelburne Ontario, and that she usually drives her husband to work each day in Maple. On the day of the impoundment, the Applicant was ill, and could not drive her husband to work, so he drove the vehicle himself. The Applicant's husband was subsequently stopped by police, and it was found that his driver's licence was under suspension, and the vehicle was impounded.

The Applicant further testified that she is the only driver in her family. Since the loss of her vehicle, her husband has managed to arrange transportation to his job with a neighbour, and has missed one day of work thus far, with zero loss of income. The Applicant also testified that her children are taken to school by school bus, and that her parents have managed to use taxi's to maintain their medical appointments in Orangeville. The Applicant also has a friend that can drive her to Orangeville for her shopping needs.

The Applicant also owns a 1991 Chevrolet that is need of transmission repairs to make it road worthy, yet has not attempted to pursue this as an alternative to the impounded vehicle. Due to the Applicant's financial situation, she has made no further inquiries into other possible alternatives to the impounded vehicle.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Paul James Card;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of Driving While Disqualified under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until September 2, 2004.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

- (1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

- (3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at

- the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines “exceptional hardship” as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

- (h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22
- (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
- (a) a threat to the health or safety of any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
- (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
- (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
- (a) inconvenience to any person;
- (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
- (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
- (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.

- (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
- (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The Applicant has appealed on the grounds of exceptional hardship, in accordance with section 55.2(3)(d). Section 22 of Regulation 632/98 is very specific, in that it provides the Tribunal with the specific criteria the Applicant must meet to determine if in fact exceptional hardship will result from the impoundment. The Tribunal is precluded from considering any other factors not arising from or directly related to the impoundment itself. In the matter before this Tribunal, there was no evidence before the Tribunal that the impoundment had contributed to the pre-existing financial hardships or uncertainty that the Applicant and her family may have had to endure.

The Applicant has claimed that the impoundment has jeopardized her husband's employment situation. However, section 22(3)(d) of Regulation 632/98 precludes the Tribunal from considering the impact of any loss as a result of the impoundment that may be upon the person who was driving the vehicle at the time of the impoundment while their driver's licence was then under suspension. Here, the Applicant's husband was the driver of the vehicle at the time of the impoundment. Therefore, the Tribunal may not consider the impacts of the loss that may be experienced by the Applicant's husband.

Furthermore, in the forthright testimony of the Applicant, it was adduced that the Applicant's husband has in fact managed to secure alternative transportation to work with a neighbour, and that it would appear to the Tribunal that the Applicant's husband's employment situation is not actually at risk.

In order for the Applicant's claims to be considered under section 22(2)(a), (b), and (c), she must also have demonstrated that all of section 22(3) has been met. Furthermore, section 22(4) of the Regulation provides the criteria for demonstrating that every reasonable option has been considered for an alternative vehicle. The Applicant has made no specific claims of exceptional hardship as described by section 22(1)(a) or (b).

The Applicant has not presented the Tribunal with any evidence that would demonstrate that every reasonable alternative option has been considered and inquired into as required under section 22(4) of the Regulation. The Tribunal finds that the Applicant's statement that an alternative is simply not possible due to her financial limitations, and therefore was not inquired into, is insufficient in meeting the onus under this section of the Regulation. In fact, the Applicant has testified that she and her family have in fact managed to mitigate the loss of the impounded vehicle through a variety of alternative sources, including friends, neighbours, and taxi cab rides.

The Tribunal finds that the Applicant has failed to meet the onus under section 22(4) of the Regulation and is therefore precluded from considering the Applicant's claim of exceptional hardship under section 22(2) of the Regulation.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

TO APPEAL AN ORDER TO IMPOUND A MOTOR VEHICLE ISSUED BY THE REGISTRAR OF MOTOR VEHICLES

APPEARANCES: CLAIRE ROWETT

TREVOR BISH, Applicant

DATE OF HEARING: November 15, 2000 Kingston

DECISION RELEASED: November 23, 2000

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on November 15, 2000, at Kingston, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO SET ASIDE the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner:	Trevor Bish (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle:	1990 Ford Aerostar, plate ADTK 925 (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal:	November 2, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on November 15, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

Docket Information

A request was made by the Respondent's representative for a ruling as to whether or not the Tribunal would allow into evidence (Exhibit 5) three letters from Ms. Kehoe's Doctors, in regard to her medical condition (Exhibit 5). Also, the Applicant asked that a witness (Ms. MacLean) be heard by the Tribunal.

The Respondent's representative was concerned by the lack of notice, regarding Ms. MacLean's appearance but did not object to her testifying. She did object to the three letters (Exhibit 5) feeling they may be prejudicial. She stated the Applicant had indicated that all submissions had been sent to the Board.

The Applicant believed all submissions had been made at the time she filed the Notice of Appeal. After receiving the Respondent's submissions, the previous Wednesday, November 8, 2000, the Applicant's representative, Ms. Kehoe, felt more information regarding the Applicant's health was important for the Tribunal to hear. Time restraints, difficulties in obtaining this information and lack of familiarity with the appeal process were stated as the cause for the Applicant's late submissions.

The Tribunal reserved its decision on the three letters until after Ms. Kehoe's and Ms. MacLean's testimony and after cross-examination by the Respondent. At that time the Tribunal read the letters and ruled that the three letters did not prejudice the Respondent in the appeal although they added credence to the testimony already heard.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #2) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

As the Registered owner Trevor was out of province so I as the common law wife will have to file this appeal with his support letter.

In addition, the Applicant filed the following letter of support dated October 31, 2000:

October 31, 2000

To whom it may concern;

I Michelle Kehoe having the authorization and control from Trevor Bish regarding a black 1990 Ford Aerostar 1fmda31u41za47058 do state, on October 28, 2000. I was delivering Royal Canadian Legion poppies. Upon completing this task I returned to the branch. I was relaxing having a couple of drinks. I felt I should not drive my vehicle. As I had to be a designated driver the following day for a 4 man sports team. Someone else offered to drive my vehicle home and me. The person who offered to take me home showed me an Ontario driver's license, which leads me to believe he was a valid driver. As I did not see this person drinking I thought it would be all right for him to drive. It was not until we were pulled over by the Kingston Police did I realize differently. I was not aware of the new law regarding suspended drivers or their consequences. The vehicle was not involved in any accident or any other serious incident. The registered owner or myself was not driving and I take full responsibility for this error in judgment, as I did not think I was being misled regarding the driver's license. I am forty-six years of age and have the responsibly of four children ages four, six, eight and fifteen. I have been diagnosed with Multiple Sclerosis and I am the sole care provider for these children. The vehicle is the only means of transportation I have for my family. My only financial means of support is my disability pension. I have not the financial means to make other arrangements regarding my family's lively hood. Your consideration in this matter would be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely Yours,
Michelle Kehoe

Ms. Kehoe, is identified as the person who will suffer exceptional hardship as a result of the impoundment. Ms. Kehoe is the common law wife of the Applicant. Ms. Kehoe suffers from Multiple Sclerosis ("M.S.") and asked that Robert Thain be allowed to assist her to present her evidence and testimony. The Tribunal agreed and Mr. Thain was sworn in.

Mr. Thain, assisted by Ms. Kehoe, explained the events that led to the impoundment. The vehicle was registered to Mr. Trevor Bish, Ms. Kehoe's common law husband. Mr Bish is in British Columbia in a training program and was unable to attend.

On October 28, 2000 Ms. Kehoe was doing volunteer work for the Legion and had a few drinks upon her return to the Legion Hall. She decided to call a taxi to take her home and at that time Mr. Harold Marshall insisted he would drive her home in her vehicle (the "van") as that would save her having to return to retrieve the van the next day. Mr. Marshall showed her his drivers licence and told her it was valid. On the way home they were stopped by police and an impoundment order was issued for the van, after police determined the licence was under suspension.

Mr. Thain explained that Ms. Kehoe and he were unaware of the legislation regarding impoundments.

Ms. Kehoe at this point is a single mother, with three children at home ages 5, 6 and 9 years old. She is on a disability pension of some $1777.00 per month. Ms. Kehoe would get her children ready and then drive them to school. She can no longer do this without her van and she cannot walk the distance with them due to her illness. They are too close for the school bus to take them, under school board policy. She feels they must be escorted as the school notified her that her 9 year old cannot properly supervise the other two children and there had been an "incident" with traffic.

In addition Ms. Kehoe uses the van for grocery shopping, taking the children to appointments and activities and it affords her the freedom to get around at her own pace, when she is physically capable of doing so, rather than when someone is available to assist her. Taxis are too expensive to use on a regular basis, on her limited income and public transit is very difficult for her with her limitations.

In cross-examination it was determined, that her husband is not employed and contributes nothing to the family in the way of income. When he left for British Columbia an arrangement was made respecting the ownership of the van. The van was being purchased on a lease to own basis and Ms. Kehoe was to make the balance of the payments in his absence with the understanding that ownership will be transferred to her name. Although the van is not modified in any way for her handicap, she is dependent on it because of the limited distance she can walk, and to permit her to the part in activities when she is feeling well enough to tend to them.

Her 15 year old nephew has since moved out of the house and is unavailable to assist her.

Family and friends work throughout the day and are not readily available to assist or drive her or her children.

She has limited interaction with her neighbours and is hesitant about asking for their help.

She has run into problems with people avoiding her, for fear of her asking for more favours.

A rental car would cost in excess of $400 per month, which she can not afford.

She does not live on a bus route and special bus service is limited.

The additional stress is aggravating her M.S.

Ms. Jan MacLean is an Occupational Therapist and has treated Ms. Kehoe since December 1997. She provided oral and written evidence as to Ms. Kehoe's physical limitations, stating that walking is not an option for her. She fatigues very quickly. Public transit is not safe for her to use, due to balance problems at times. She testified stress further aggravates Ms. Kehoe's MS.

Under cross-examination, Ms. MacLean indicated that the Handicapped bus service is over extended and thus unreliable.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Harold Marshall;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of impaired driving under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until September 3, 2001.

The Ministry relied only on their written submissions and cross-examinations. No additional evidence was presented.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

- (3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

- (1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

- (3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,
- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
 - (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
 - (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
 - (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines "exceptional hardship" as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

- (4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

- (h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22 (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety or any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
- (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
- (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).

- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

As to whether an alternative vehicle is available, the evidence heard by the Tribunal would indicate that every reasonable option has been considered and that on the particular evidence presented in this case, no alternative is available to the Applicant. A rental car or regular use of taxis would be too expensive for Ms. Kehoe's fixed monthly income, public transit is unsafe for her to use and public Handicap Transit too unreliable.

The loss of the vehicle appears to be causing additional stress and thus further aggravating her physical disorder. The Applicant's demeanor during the hearing indicated that the effects are significant and will have lasting impact on Ms. Kehoe and her family.

As stated the van was used on a daily basis to transport Ms. Kehoe and her children.

The Tribunal finds that, Ms. Kehoe's health must be considered in determining the degree of hardship she faces as a result of the impoundment of her only vehicle. Her health is affected by the impoundment as well as her ability to function as a mother and care for, and ensure the safety of her children.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal sets aside the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

DECISION AND REASONS

This is an appeal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal by the Applicant respecting a decision of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Respondent") pursuant to section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act (Ontario).

EXHIBITS:

#1 - Notice of Appeal, filed by Applicant

2 - Notice of Suspension

3 - Letter from Richard Manning, District Attorney, St. Lawrence County, New York, dated August 7, 1995, with abstract of driving record

4 - Photostat of 2 pages from a Medical Text introduced by Counsel

5 - Medical Report from Physician # 1, Applicant's family physician, introduced by Counsel, dated November 13, 2000-11-21

6 - Letter from Physician # 2 dated February 25, 2000, to the Ministry, but introduced by Counsel

PRELIMINARY MATTERS:

The Applicant was quite disturbed by what he considered to be a "run around" by the Ministry since his two convictions for impaired driving in 1996. He stated he was first informed his licence would be suspended until October 3, 1998. At the end of this period, he was told he would have to arrange a driving test. When he applied, he was told his licence was still under suspension for medical reasons. He was confused and angered by this because he had undergone a recent physical by his family doctor and was told everything was normal, including his blood work.

Following complaints to the Ministry, the Applicant received the standard letter from the Deputy Registrar outlining what he had to do in order to have his licence re-instated. He had another physical on November 13, 2000; an appointment with Physician #2, an addiction specialist, who filed a very negative report (Exhibit # 6); and assessment at the TriCounty Addiction Services Unit and an Administrative Review with a Driver Improvement Counsellor. The Applicant had also attended the TriCounty Addiction Services following his convictions.

The Applicant was very confused over the differences in the responses received from the doctors and agencies. The Applicant's counsel wrote to the Ministry (Exhibit # 7) complaining about Physician # 2's report and thought the doctor should have been summoned to the Hearing. The counsel was especially concerned about Physician # 2's reference to three impaired charges instead of two. The Applicant had been charged in New York State for reckless driving in July 1995, with some connotation to driving while intoxicated, but this had been rectified on August 7, 1995.

FACTS:

The Applicant, appears to be a responsible businessman. He is 60 years of age, divorced and has four boys. He owns two G.M. car dealerships with retail sales of $25,000,000. Three of his sons work for him.

In 1996, the Applicant and his wife divorced. He testified that this caused him much distress and financial problems in his business. He began to drink more than usual and was charged twice in a 2-month period for impaired driving. He was also charged for reckless driving in New York State. He pleaded guilty to the charges and said it was because of his marriage breakdown and being under considerable stress.

Following his convictions he went to the TriCounty Addiction Services for sixteen days and received a good report. He was apparently never told that he had to remain alcohol free for one year until the letter from the Deputy Registrar in November 1999. He stated that he likely would have stopped drinking, if he had known, but he now felt it was now, too late. He considers himself a social drinker and is drinking a minimum of alcohol.

The Applicant states his health is good and he is not on any medication for his blood pressure. His liver is not palpable according to his family doctor.

The Medical Advisory Committee recommended his driving privileges remain under suspension based on Physician # 2's report. The Applicant felt his interview with the doctor had gone downhill when he mentioned he had two glasses of wine with dinner the night before, when asked when he had his last drink.

In reviewing Physician # 2's letter and considering the evidence heard, the Tribunal is not convinced it is truly objective. The Applicant stated he had not seen the report after it had been completed and denied giving several of the answers contained in the finished document.

ISSUES:

Should the decision of the Registrar to suspend the Applicant's licence be confirmed, modified or set aside?

LAW:

Regulation 340/94, Section 14 states:

An applicant for or a holder of a driver's licence must not,

- (a) suffers from an mental, emotional, nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely; and
- (b) be addicted to the use of alcohol or a drug to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle safely.

Section 47(1) states:

Subject to section 47.1, the Registrar may suspend or cancel,

- (a) the plate portion of a permit as defined in Part II;
 - (b) a driver's licence; or
 - (c) a CVOR certificate,
- on the grounds of,
- (d) misconduct for which the holder is responsible, directly or indirectly, related to the operation or driving of a motor vehicle;
 - (e) conviction of the holder for an offence referred to in subsection 210(1) or (2);
 - (f) the Registrar having reason to believe, having regard to the safety record of the holder or of a person related to the holder, and any other information that the Registrar considers relevant, that the holder will not operate a commercial motor vehicle safely or in accordance with this Act, the regulations and other laws relating to highway safety; or
 - (g) any other sufficient reason not referred to in clause (d), (e) or (f).

Section 50 of the Act states:

- 50.(1) Every person aggrieved by a decision of the Minister under subsection 17(2) or (3) or subclause 32(12)(b)(i) or a decision of the Registrar under section 47 may appeal the decision to the Licence Appeal Tribunal.
- (2) The Tribunal may confirm, modify or set aside the decision of the Minister or the Registrar.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

Section 47(1) unquestionably empowers the Registrar to ".....suspend or cancel" a driver's licence for "any sufficient reason...". The Registrar originally suspended the Applicant's licence following two (2) convictions for impaired driving in 1996. The suspension was for a period of 3 years (October 3, 1999), but not re-instated at that time because of medical reasons.

The Applicant admitted his guilt, sought help at an addiction centre and completed his probation period without incident and has had no problems of any kind associated with alcohol consumption. He received a clean bill of health from his family doctor, runs a multi-million dollar business and appears on the evidence not to be addicted to alcohol to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his ability to drive a motor vehicle, as contemplated in section 14(a) of Regulation 340/94 under the Highway Traffic Act.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the decision dated October 10, 1996 of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles ("Registrar") to suspend his driver's licence pursuant to Section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA"), and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

IT IS THE DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50(2) of the Act that the decision of the Registrar be set aside.

of that Act.

TO APPEAL A SUSPENDED LICENCE

TRIBUNAL: ROSS C. BENNETT. M.D., Presiding Member

APPEARANCES: KIM GROSSKURTH
Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles, Respondent

The Applicant
Counsel for Applicant

DATE OF HEARING: November 10, 2000 Toronto

DECISION AND REASONS

This is an appeal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal by the Applicant respecting a decision of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Respondent") pursuant to section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act (Ontario).

EXHIBITS:

- Exhibit # 1 Decision to suspend dated April 18, 2000 issued by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles
- Exhibit # 2 Notice of Appeal received at the Tribunal October 12, 2000 filed by the Applicant
- Exhibit # 3 Letter from St. Joseph's Health Centre, dated October 25, 2000 with attached Laboratory results.
- Exhibit # 4 Ministry documents of Applicant's driving record
- Exhibit # 5 Letter from Physician # 1, dated July 7, 2000, with diabetic assessment

PRELIMINARY MATTERS:

When the inquiry was opened the Applicant's lawyer immediately introduced himself and advised the Tribunal that he had two witnesses and would like to introduce a copy of a letter from St. Joseph's Health Centre as an exhibit. He added that he had sent a copy to the Tribunal Office on November 1, 2000.

Ms. Grosskurth objected to the introduction of this letter because neither the Registrar nor the Medical Advisory Committee had an opportunity to examine this information before making their decisions.

Counsel for the Applicant countered that their decisions were based on criteria in the National Driver's Safety Code which recommended a 12 month period of abstinence from alcohol before a suspension is lifted, so the information in the letters would have been no value. Ms. Grosskurth stated that she simply wanted the objection on the record.

FACTS:

The Applicant is appealing the suspension of his driver's licence under section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act.

The suspension was made after receipt of an unsolicited letter from Physician # 2, the Applicant's family physician, dated February 10, 2000. The letter stated in his opinion, the Applicant was not fit to drive a motor vehicle at that time because he is suffering from uncontrolled Diabetes, Alcoholic Liver Disease and Anaemia.

The Respondent stated the Ministry's only concern is the Alcoholism.

The Applicant is a fifty five (55) year old male employed by the TTC for the past thirty one (31) years as a bus driver and cleaner. He had worked regularly, never lost time because of his drinking and had never been disciplined. His drinking occurred on weekends and some nights. His only driving infraction has been a speeding ticket.

Following his physician's warning and the licence suspension, the Applicant realized he had to stop drinking. His last drink of alcohol was March 28, 2000. He was admitted to the alcoholic ward at St. Joseph's Health Centre for a 10-day treatment program and then enrolled in a 21-day program at the Centre for Addiction and Mental Health Therapy (Donwood). He also had a diabetic assessment at St. Joseph's by Physician # 1, an Endocrinologist.

The Applicant's two witnesses, his wife and Witness # 1, his addiction therapist from the Centre, verified his evidence and supported his efforts to overcome his alcohol problems. Witness # 1 stated he attended group therapy with her once a week and AA every weeknight.

The Ministry's Medical Advisory Committee did a case study on August 11, 2000. From a Diabetic point of view his licence could be reinstated, but he should complete a 12 month period of abstinence from alcohol, continue with AA and obtain an up-to-date report from Physician # 2 before this licence is reinstated. The Deputy Registrar of Motor Vehicles concurred with the committee's recommendation.

ISSUES:

Should the decision of the Registrar to suspend the Applicant's licence be confirmed, modified or set aside?

LAW:

Regulation 340/94, section 14 states:

An applicant for or a holder of a driver's licence must not,

- (a) suffers from an mental, emotional, nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely; and
- (b) be addicted to the use of alcohol or a drug to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle safely.

Section 47(1) states:

Subject to section 47.1, the Registrar may suspend or cancel,

- (a) the plate portion of a permit as defined in Part II;
- (b) a driver's licence; or
- (c) a CVOR certificate,

on the grounds of,

- (d) misconduct for which the holder is responsible, directly or indirectly, related to the operation or driving of a motor vehicle;
- (f) conviction of the holder for an offence referred to in subsection 210(1) or (2);
- (f) the Registrar having reason to believe, having regard to the safety record of the holder or of a person related to the holder, and any other information that the Registrar considers relevant, that the holder will not operate a commercial motor vehicle safely or in accordance with this Act, the regulations and other laws relating to highway safety; or
- (g) any other sufficient reason not referred to in clause (d), (e) or (f).

Section 50 of the Act states:

50.(1) Every person aggrieved by a decision of the Minister under subsection 17(2) or (3) or subclause 32(12)(b)(i) or a decision of the Registrar under section 47 may appeal the decision to the Licence Appeal Tribunal.

- (2) The Tribunal may confirm, modify or set aside the decision of the Minister or the Registrar.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

Section 47(1) unquestionably empowers the Registrar to "...suspend or cancel" a driver's licence for "any...sufficient reason...". The Registrar originally suspended the Applicant's driver's licence, upon receipt of an unsolicited letter from the Applicant's family physician. Physician # 2 informed the Ministry that the Applicant was suffering from uncontrolled diabetes, alcoholic liver disease and anaemia and was not fit to drive. The Tribunal finds that the Ministry acted properly and in accordance with the Regulation, at the time of suspension.

The Applicant, realized he was in serious trouble, quit drinking, sought help at St. Joseph's and the Donwood Addiction Centre, got his diabetes under control, joined AA and began attending group therapy.

After evaluation of all the evidence in its entirety the Tribunal accepts the Applicant's positive actions and his desire to change his way of life. There is no history of any problems with drinking and driving and the only driving infraction was a speeding offence. The fact he has been a bus driver for 31 years substantiates the evidence.

The Tribunal finds the Respondent has not proven the Applicant is currently suffering from a medical condition, which is likely to significantly interfere with his ability to drive a motor vehicle as described by section 14(a) of Regulation 340/94 under the Highway Traffic Act.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the decision dated April 18, 2000 of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles ("Registrar") to suspend his driver's licence pursuant to section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA"), and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

IT IS THE DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50(2) of the Act that the decision of the Registrar be set aside.

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on November 10, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA").

The Tribunal released its Decision on November 14, with Reasons to follow.

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the suspension imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 48.3 HTA for the following reasons.

REASONS

BACKGROUND:

Notice of Appeal and Prescribed Fee

This appeal comes before the Tribunal on behalf of the Applicant, by way of a Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990 as amended, chapter H.8. The Applicant elected that his appeal be decided by the Tribunal by way of a written hearing. The form of Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act was dated October 6, 2000 and was received by the Tribunal on October 12, 2000, together with the prescribed fee of $100.00, paid by money order.

Reason for the Appeal

The reason for the appeal cited by the Applicant was stated as follows in the said notice:

AI was unable to provide the required breath sample because of a medical reason.®

Preliminary Matters

There were no preliminary matters, and the documents submitted were entered into evidence.

Submissions of Written Material

By the Applicant:

- a) Exhibit # 1 Notice of Appeal dated October 6, 2000 received October 12, 2000
- b) Exhibit # 2 Medical Letter from Physician # 1 MD dated October 4, 2000

By the Respondent:

- a) Exhibit # 3 MTO Submissions, 27 pages received October 31, 2000

ISSUE:

Having established that this appeal falls within subsection 50.1(2)(b) of the Highway Traffic Act, and the Tribunal thereby having jurisdiction, the question to be answered is: Did the Applicant fail or refuse to comply with a demand made to provide a sample of breath or blood because he or she was unable to do so for a medical reason?

LAW:

The legislation governing the Administrative Drivers Licence Suspension (ADLS) under subsection 50.1(1) and (2) of the Highway Traffic Act (HTA®) states:

- 50.1 (1) AA person whose driver's licence is suspended under Section 48.3 may appeal the suspension to the Tribunal.
- (2) The grounds on which a person may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may order that the suspension be set aside are,

- (a) that the person whose licence was suspended is not the same individual to whom a demand for a sample of breath or blood was made, or from whom a sample of breath or blood was taken, as the case may be, under or pursuant to the provisions of the Criminal Code (Canada) referred to in subsection 48.3(3); or
- (b) that the person failed or refused to comply with a demand made under section 254 of the Criminal Code (Canada) to provide a sample of breath or blood because he or she was unable to do so for a medical reason@.

The HTA states under Section 50.1(4):

The Board may confirm the suspension or may order that the suspension be set aside.

Regulation 574 (amended), Highway Traffic Act at subsection 15(1),(2) and (3) requires that a medical report must contain:

15. (1) Aa report of a legally qualified medical practitioner that is to be submitted in evidence shall clearly state,

- (a) the name, telephone number and address, with the postal code, of the medical practitioner;

- (b) the name, date of birth and address of the person who is the subject of the report;

- (c) that the medical practitioner has prepared the report, or is aware that the report may be used, in support of an appeal to the Board from the suspension of a drivers licence under section 50.1 of the Act;

- (d) the length of time and frequency with which the medical practitioner has attended upon the person who is the subject of the report, including the date of the most recent examination of the person that supports the findings set out in the report;

- (e) whether the medical practitioner is the family physician of the person who is the subject of the report; and

- (f) whether the medical practitioner is a specialist and, if so, the field of specialty.

(2) The report shall provide the details of any present condition, diagnosis and history of the condition that precludes the person who is the subject of the report from providing a breath or blood sample including the results of any related tests.

(3) The report shall be signed by the medical practitioner.@

Finally, section 13 of Regulation 574 (amended) provides:

AA person appealing a suspension has the onus of establishing the merit of the appeal@.

FACTS:

On September 26, 2000 at approximately 11:30 p.m. the Applicant was stopped by Officer #1 for speeding. Officer #1 formed the opinion from his observations of the Applicant that he was driving a motor vehicle after having consumed an alcoholic beverage. Officer #1 asked the driver, identified as the Applicant to come back to his cruiser and provide a road side breath test. The Applicant co-operated. The Applicant was read the demand for breath and a demonstration of how the device was to be used was shown to the Applicant by Officer #1. The Applicant was given six opportunities to provide a suitable sample. According to the affidavit of Officer #1, the Applicant was able to activate the tone indicating sufficient air was entering the machine. However, according to the testimony of Officer #1, the Applicant stopped blowing or simply removed his lips from the device. The Applicant indicated at no time during the testing or while in the presence of the officer that he had a medical condition, congenital or otherwise which was preventing him from providing an adequate sample of his breath. The Applicant was subsequently charged with failure to provide a breath sample and released.

In the Affidavit submitted by Officer #1, the Applicant indicated the reason why he could not blow as being Aa Body Shop worker.® There is no mention of any present medical condition which would have precluded the Applicant from providing an adequate sample of breath.

The Applicant has provided the Tribunal with a medical report from Physician #1 M.D. The report does not indicate how the Applicant's congenital cleft palate would have affected his ability to provide an adequate sample of breath. The report, however, does indicate that there is no lip. The report does not indicate the extent of the cleft palate i.e. size of the defect. Physician #1's report also states that the Applicant would have a difficult time form a seal and that this would present as though there was no expiratory effort. This position may have been advanced had the Applicant or the Applicant's physician provided this Tribunal with medical test result from a respirologist, but none has been provided. Physician #1 also indicated that the defect is congenital and unrepaired. The Tribunal accepts the submission by the Respondent that the condition poses no risk to the Applicant's health and that he is able to compensate for this problem and function quite adequately in his daily activities.

The evidence is quite clear that the Applicant refused to provide an adequate sample of breath for no stated medical reason. The evidence submitted suggests the actions of the Applicant were such as to lead this Tribunal to believe that he had no intention of providing a proper breath sample in fact the evidence presented clearly shows that the Applicant on each attempt stopped blowing when he heard the tone activated on the device.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

In an appeal of this nature, the onus is upon the Applicant to substantiate his position.

Reviewing the foregoing facts, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant did not relate his medical condition to Regulation 574 and Section 50(1)(2)(b) of the Highway Traffic Act.

The Applicant has failed to show to this Tribunal a causal link between his congenital anomaly and his failure to provide an adequate sample of his breath.

The Applicant has not discharged the onus of establishing a valid medical reason for his failure to provide a breath sample when demanded under section 254 of the Criminal Code (Canada), as required by section 13 of Regulation 574.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the suspension order dated September 27, 2000 of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles pursuant to section 48.3 of the Highway Traffic Act (HTA) and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

Pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50.1(4) of the HTA, the Tribunal confirms the suspension.

LARRY RUBIN O/A AFFORDABLE AUTO SALES

APPEAL FROM A PROPOSAL OF THE REGISTRAR
UNDER THE MOTOR VEHICLE DEALERS ACT

TO REFUSE REGISTRATION

TRIBUNAL: BEVERLEY READE, Vice-Chair

APPEARANCES:

Richard Culpeper, Counsel representing the Applicant
Mary Jane South, Agent representing the Registrar, Motor Vehicle Dealers Act

DATE OF HEARING:

November 8, 2000

Thunder Bay

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

The Applicant appeals a Notice of Proposal dated August 18, 2000 issued by the Registrar of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act ("the Act") to refuse to grant the registration of Larry Rubin, operating as Affordable Auto Sales (the "Applicant") as a motor vehicle dealer under the provisions of the Act.

The Registrar's proposal is based on the provisions of section 6(2) of the Act as read with section 5(1)(b) thereof, on the grounds that the past conduct of the Applicant affords reasonable grounds for belief that the Applicant will not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty.

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard evidence from Ms. South, the Deputy Registrar under the Act. No other evidence was presented on behalf of the Registrar. Mr. Rubin testified, and the Tribunal heard from Sharon Low, his former parole officer, Antonio Stranges, a friend, Timothy Slongo, a former business associate, and Officer Popowich, a member of the Thunder Bay Police department. Based on this evidence, the Tribunal makes the following findings of fact:

Larry Rubin is 40 years old. On June 28, 2000, he applied for registration as a motor vehicle dealer. At the time that he applied, he was on parole. He had been convicted on September 4, 1998 of four counts of trafficking in narcotics, possession of a prohibited weapon and possession of property obtained by crime. He was sentenced to two years in federal custody, concurrent on all the convictions. He was released on May 5, 1999, and remained on parole until September 3, 2000. Mr. Rubin made full disclosure of his parole status and criminal record at the time of the application.

Mr. Rubin's criminal record includes a 1982 impaired driving conviction, a 1988 attempted fraud conviction, and a 1993 conviction for trafficking in a narcotic. The Registrar places no reliance on the 1982 conviction.

The Registrar reviewed the application and proposed to refuse registration on the grounds that the intention and objective of the Act is to protect the public interest and that the Applicant's past conduct is inconsistent with that intention. The Registrar is concerned that the past conduct of the applicant as exhibited by his criminal record, affords reasonable grounds for belief that he will not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty.

Ms. South noted that the Registrar is concerned with different risks when an Applicant is applying for registration as a dealer, rather than as a salesperson, because there is no supervisory control on a day to day basis for a dealer. Because a fraud conviction involves deliberate deception, and because the applicant was recently involved in the illegal business of drug trafficking, the Registrar proposes to refuse registration.

Mr. Rubin pleaded guilty to all of the convictions on his record, but gave evidence admitting responsibility for none of them.

He said that the conviction for attempted fraud resulted from the theft of his car. He said that he lived in Thunder Bay and went to Winnipeg for a holiday, where his car was stolen. The car was recovered in Thunder Bay and a registered auto salesperson tried to frame him. He pleaded guilty because it was cheaper than having a trial. The 1993 conspiracy conviction was simply a matter of being in the wrong place, with the wrong people. He said that he was not guilty, but pleaded guilty because the trial would have been lengthy. He was incarcerated for 90 days as a result on that conviction.

The 1998 convictions, according the Applicant, resulted from entrapment and harassment by a police informant. He claims that his life was threatened, his family's safety was in peril and that he was afraid to go to the police. He claims that the cash which formed the basis of the possession of proceeds of crime conviction belonged to his girlfriend and that the prohibited weapons belonged to the police informant. He pleaded guilty because his father was sick and he wanted to get it over with. He did not file a complaint about the police conduct although his lawyer advised him to. He wanted to leave the past where it belonged.

Mr. Rubin noted that the incidents giving rise to his latest convictions took place in 1996, although the convictions were not registered until 1998. He has not engaged in any criminal activity since he was charged. He believes that he has served his debt to society. When incarcerated, he was exposed to a cognitive skills course, as a result of which he now feels comfortable in contacting the police if he were to be threatened in the future.

Mr. Rubin has no experience as a motor vehicle salesperson but has retail experience in other areas. He is not interested in registration as a motor vehicle salesperson, where he would report to a dealer, because he is used to his independence. He wants registration as a motor vehicle dealer.

Various upstanding citizens provided character references for Mr. Rubin. His former parole officer has seen no indication that he will involve himself in criminal activities in the future. He is not known to be associating with drug users in Thunder Bay, according to Officer Popowich. He was trusted with cash by a former employer and is considered honest by his friends.

ISSUE:

The sole issue in this proceeding is whether the Registrar has sufficient grounds for refusing to grant the registration of the Applicant.

THE LAW:

The relevant portions of the Act that are applicable to these proceedings are subsections 5(1) and 6(1), which set out the circumstances under which the Registrar may refuse to register an applicant. The powers of the Tribunal are set out in section 7(4).

The Divisional Court has clearly outlined the proper test to be applied by the Tribunal in Re Brenner, 19 CRAT 58 as follows:

The effect of section 7(4) is that the Tribunal should only have refused to direct the Registrar to carry out his proposal if it thought the Registrar was in error in concluding that the past conduct of the applicant afforded reasonable grounds for belief that he would not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty. The Board does not appear to have directed itself to this question and makes no finding that, in its view, the past conduct of Brenner did not afford reasonable grounds for the belief that Brenner would not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty. Instead, the Board appears to have been preoccupied with sympathetic concern as to whether or not Brenner had genuinely reformed and appears to have decided that it ought to give him a second chance because there was a possibility that he, indeed, might have reformed himself.

In that case, the Divisional Court sent the matter back for a rehearing by the Tribunal, adding:

The proper question at the rehearing remains, however, whether the past conduct of the Applicant affords reasonable grounds for belief that he will not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty. Unless the Tribunal can find that it does not, the Tribunal should not order the Registrar to refrain from carrying out his proposal.

The Tribunal notes that it has only been a matter of weeks since Mr. Rubin has not been on parole. He acknowledged a great incentive to stay within the law during the time that he could have been returned to jail. In Ripani, 18 CRAT 356, the Commercial

Registration Appeal Tribunal discussed a number of cases dealing with this issue, and stated:

What all these cases indicate is that where past conduct includes criminal convictions, generally, unless exceptional circumstances exist, no registration will be permitted until some time after the sentence has been served and parole or probation have been completed; then a period of reformation has been exhibited; and even then, certain terms and conditions will be imposed.

Counsel for the Applicant argues that the Registrar erred in failing to investigate the Applicant's circumstances more fully prior to arriving at the conclusion that registration should be refused. The Tribunal cannot agree. There was ample evidence upon which the Registrar could make the finding, which he did. The evidence submitted at the hearing shows that the Applicant is unwilling to accept responsibility for his criminal activities. His explanations for his involvement leading to various guilty pleas before various courts are not credible.

The Tribunal is unable to find that the Registrar erred in his decision. Rather, the Tribunal agrees that the past conduct of the applicant gives reasonable grounds for belief that Mr. Rubin will not carry on business with integrity, honesty and in accordance with law.

DECISION:

By virtue of the authority vested in it under section 7(4) of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act, the Tribunal directs the Registrar to carry out his proposal to refuse the registration of the Applicant.

TO APPEAL A SUSPENDED LICENCE

TRIBUNAL: ROSS C. BENNETT M.D., Presiding Member

APPEARANCES: KIM BEINTEMA
Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

Applicant,
unrepresented

DATE OF HEARING: October 30,2000 Bracebridge

DECISION AND REASONS

This is an appeal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal by the "Applicant" respecting a decision of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Respondent") pursuant to section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act (Ontario).

EXHIBITS:

- Exhibit #1 Decision, dated March 20, 2000, issued by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles
- Exhibit # 2 Notice of Appeal received at the Tribunal September 18, 2000. Filed by the Applicant
- Exhibit # 3 a) & b) Ministry of Transportation ("MTO") documents regarding driving experience
- Exhibit # 4 Physician # 1's letter to the MTO, February 24, 2000
- Exhibit # 5 Physician #2's letter to Physician #1, March 20, 2000
- Exhibit # 6 EEG Report, March 6, 2000

Exhibit # 7 Fax to MTO, dated March 21, 2000, from Physician #2's office

Exhibit # 8 Physician #1's letter to MTO, March 22, 2000

PRELIMINARY MATTERS:

The Respondent objected to Applicant's physician, Physician #2, giving evidence since notice had not been given to the Registrar of the content of the evidence. Applicant stated he was unaware that this was a necessity. Physician #2 said it was his understanding his presence was required simply to answer questions.

The Tribunal noted the objection for the record and the hearing continued.

The Respondent then requested Physician #2 be excluded until his evidence was required. The Tribunal granted that request.

The Applicant was very upset about the way this whole issue had been handled by the Ministry of Transportation (the "Ministry" or "MTO") and his family doctor. He was not advised that the Ministry was to be informed of his seizure. The Internist, Physician #2 had told him he had to wait for the results of a CT scan and an EEG before he could determine what exactly happened. Physician #2 finally advised him the results were normal except for a minor abnormality on his EEG which did not require the Dilantin Physician #1 had ordered, and that he could drive in one week. Two days later he received a notice from the Registrar informing him of his licence suspension. He later learned Physician #1 had notified the Ministry before the test results were back and without telling him. He was unaware that reporting seizures to the Ministry was mandatory until he was so informed at this hearing.

He went to Huntsville for a Medical Review hearing and the reviewer was a "no show". One of the clerks at the Ministry Office learned the reviewer was on sick leave. An attempt was made to make another appointment, but apparently head office refused. This incensed the Applicant. It required several calls, letters and pleas before a file review was obtained on April 25, 2000. This did not satisfy the Applicant because he did not have an opportunity to state his case. As a result of what he felt was unfair and unjust treatment, he filed a complaint to the College of Physicians and Surgeons against Physician #1 and an appeal to the Tribunal.

FACTS:

The Applicant suffered an apparent generalized seizure on February 20, 2000 just after waking up in his home in Gravenhurst. He was unconscious for a few minutes and was confused until he reached the South Muskoka Hospital in Bracebridge. He was examined by his family physician, Physician #1, and an internist, Physician #2. His physical and neurological examinations were normal, and appointments were made for an EEG, CT Scan and a MRI. Physician #1 notified the Ministry on February 24 that the Applicant had two grand mal seizures and was on medication. On March 16, 2000, the Ministry notified the Applicant his driver's licence was under suspension for medical reasons. Physician #2 had just informed the Applicant his tests were normal and that he could stop his Dilantin and resume driving in a month. The CT Scan on March 2 was reported as normal.

An EEG performed February 23 found characteristics of Petite mal epilepsy with left lateralization indicating a propensity to Grand mal seizures stemming from the left central focus.

Physician #2 originally stated he would take this finding with a "grain of salt"; however, when he gave evidence, he had changed his mind after reviewing the whole case. He felt the findings were significant and could not be ignored. He stated the Applicant had a seizure at the age of nine and had bitten his tongue on several occasions during the night. The Applicant stated it was a febrile convulsion when he was nine and he often bit his tongue when reading and concentrating. The Tribunal did not have before it a neurologist's interpretation of this information.

The Applicant testified that he had been working normally since the day after the seizure without any problems and had only taken the Dilantin 100 mg from February 25th until March 19th. He felt that the seizure was a stress-related seizure and a solitary event. The Applicant testified that two days after the seizure he had an abscessed tooth, he was asked to leave his church for some reason and his 20-year-old cat had just died.

The Ministry's Medical Advisory Committee had confirmed the suspension and recommended reconsideration in February 2001 after receiving a neurologist's report confirming no seizures had occurred in a year.

ISSUES:

Should the decision of the Registrar to suspend the Applicant's licence be confirmed, modified or set aside?

LAW:

Regulation 340/94, Section 14 states:

An applicant for or a holder of a driver's licence must not,

- (a) suffers from an mental, emotional, nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely; and
- (b) be addicted to the use of alcohol or a drug to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle safely.

Section 47(1) states:

Subject to section 47.1, the Registrar may suspend or cancel,

- (a) the plate portion of a permit as defined in Part II;
- (b) a driver's licence; or

- (c) a CVOR certificate,
- on the grounds of,
- (d) misconduct for which the holder is responsible, directly or indirectly, related to the operation or driving of a motor vehicle;
- (g) conviction of the holder for an offence referred to in subsection 210(1) or (2);
- (f) the Registrar having reason to believe, having regard to the safety record of the holder or of a person related to the holder, and any other information that the Registrar considers relevant, that the holder will not operate a commercial motor vehicle safely or in accordance with this Act, the regulations and other laws relating to highway safety; or
- (g) any other sufficient reason not referred to in clause (d), (e) or (f).

Section 50 of the Act states:

- 50.(1) Every person aggrieved by a decision of the Minister under subsection 17(2) or (3) or subclause 32(12)(b)(i) or a decision of the Registrar under section 47 may appeal the decision to the Licence Appeal Tribunal.
- (2) The Tribunal may confirm, modify or set aside the decision of the Minister or the Registrar.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

Section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act unquestionably empowers the Registrar to "suspend or cancel" a driver's licence for "any sufficient reason". Regulation 340/94 lists a number of grounds that must not be present in the holder of a driver's licence. Section 14(a) of that Regulation states:

An applicant for or a holder of a driver's licence must not,

- (a) suffers from an mental, emotional, nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely; and

The Applicant, a 40-year-old man, suffered a Grand mal seizure on the morning of February 20, 2000 and was transferred to a hospital in a confused state. There was a history of another seizure at the age of nine. An EEG on February 23rd revealed abnormalities suggesting a propensity to Grand mal seizures.

The suspension was originally based on an unsolicited letter from the Applicant's family physician, Physician #1, dated February 24th. Subsequently Physician #2, an Internist, wrote to Physician #1 on March 20, 2000, presented his findings and stated the Applicant had been advised to stop his medication and could resume driving in a week's time. On March 22nd, Physician #1 wrote the Ministry and advised them of Physician #2's findings and decision and stated he concurred with Physician #2.

At the hearing before this Tribunal, Physician #2 testified that after a review of the case, he had changed his mind and felt that the evidence indicating that the Applicant had a propensity to Grand mal seizures stemming from the left central focus was significant and could not be ignored.

Based on the evidence before the Tribunal it appears the weight of evidence is in favour of the Ministry's decision that the medical condition of the Applicant is likely to significantly interfere with the Applicant's ability to drive a motor vehicle.

The Tribunal is satisfied that the criteria in Regulation 340/94 section 14 (a) of the HTA applies to the Applicant. Thus, the Tribunal concurs that the Applicant's driver's licence remains under suspension at the present time.

The Tribunal draws to the Applicant's attention that he may at any time provide new neurological evidence to the Ministry.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the decision dated, March 25,2000, the Registrar of Motor Vehicles ("Registrar") to suspend his driver's licence pursuant to Section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA"), and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

IT IS THE DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50(2) of the Act that the decision of the Registrar be confirmed.

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on November 3, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA").

The Tribunal released its Decision on November 7, with Reasons to follow.

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the suspension imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 48.3 HTA for the following reasons.

REASONS

BACKGROUND:

Notice of Appeal and Prescribed Fee

This appeal comes before the Tribunal on behalf of the Applicant, by way of a Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990 as amended, chapter H.8. The Applicant elected that his appeal be decided by the Tribunal by way of a written hearing. The form of Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act was dated September 25, 2000, and was received by the Tribunal on October 2, 2000, together with the prescribed fee of $100.00, paid by cash.

Reason for the Appeal

The reason for the appeal cited by the Applicant was stated as follows in the said notice:

"I was unable to provide the required breath sample because of a medical reason."

Submissions of Written Material

By the Applicant:

- a) Exhibit #1 Notice to Registrar, dated August 29, 2000
- b) Exhibit #2 Notice of Appeal Form - received October 2, 2000
- c) Exhibit #4 Doctors Reports, Pharmacy Receipts and Medication Information - 9 pages – received October 24, 2000

By the Respondent:

- a) Exhibit #3 Ministry of Transportation submissions – 32 pages - received October 17, 2000
- b) Exhibit #5 Ministry of Transportation's Reply to Appellant's Supplementary Materials and Submissions – 7 pages – received November 2, 2000

ISSUE:

Having established that this appeal falls within subsection 50.1(2)(b) of the Highway Traffic Act, and the Tribunal thereby having jurisdiction, the question to be answered is: Did the Applicant fail or refuse to comply with a demand made to provide a sample of breath or blood because he was unable to do so for a medical reason?

LAW:

The legislation governing the Administrative Drivers Licence Suspension (ADLS) under subsection 50.1(1) and (2) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA") states:

50.1 (1) "A person whose driver's licence is suspended under Section 48.3 may appeal the suspension to the Tribunal.

(2) The grounds on which a person may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may order that the suspension be set aside are,

- (a) that the person whose licence was suspended is not the same individual to whom a demand for a sample of breath or blood was made, or from whom a sample of breath or blood was taken, as the case may be, under or pursuant to the provisions of the Criminal Code (Canada) referred to in subsection 48.3(3); or
- (b) that the person failed or refused to comply with a demand made under section 254 of the Criminal Code (Canada) to provide a sample of breath or blood because he or she was unable to do so for a medical reason”.

The HTA states under Section 50.1(4):

The Tribunal may confirm the suspension or may order that the suspension be set aside.

Regulation 574 (amended), Highway Traffic Act at subsection 15(1),(2) and (3) requires that a medical report must contain:

15. (1) “a report of a legally qualified medical practitioner that is to be submitted in evidence shall clearly state,

- (a) the name, telephone number and address, with the postal code, of the medical practitioner;
- (b) the name, date of birth and address of the person who is the subject of the report;
- (c) that the medical practitioner has prepared the report, or is aware that the report may be used, in support of an appeal to the Board from the suspension of a driver’s licence under section 50.1 of the Act;
- (d) the length of time and frequency with which the medical practitioner has attended upon the person who is the subject of the report, including the date of the most recent examination of the person that supports the findings set out in the report;
- (e) whether the medical practitioner is the family physician of the person who is the subject of the report; and
- (f) whether the medical practitioner is a specialist and, if so, the field of speciality.

(2) The report shall provide the details of any present condition, diagnosis and history of the condition that precludes the person who is the subject of the report from providing a breath or blood sample including the results of any related tests.

(3) The report shall be signed by the medical practitioner.”

Finally, section 13 of Regulation 574 (amended) provides:

“A person appealing a suspension has the onus of establishing the merit of the appeal”.

FACTS:

The Respondent provided the following Documents for the hearing:

- b) Part II - The Law: points 25 - 27
- c) Part III - Argument of the Registrar: points 28 - 48
- d) Part IV - Order Requested

- h) Sworn Affidavit of Officer # 1, Arresting Officer, Ontario Provincial Police, Badge #xxxx, sworn October 12, 2000
- i) Sworn Affidavit of Officer # 2, Qualified Breathalyzer Technician, Ontario Provincial Police, Badge #xxxx, sworn October 12, 2000.
- j) Medical Report of Dr. Eva S. Mate, MD. FRCP(C), dated October 12, 2000.

A summary of the facts as presented by the Respondent, indicate the Applicant was stopped by an Ontario Provincial Police Constable, on August 29, 2000, at which time he was demanded to give and failed to provide a breath sample. (Exhibit # 2)

In its Argument, the Respondents contends that "...the appellant did not have a health problem at the time the breath demand was made ...Physician # 1's and Physician #2's reports do not serve to substantiate the appellant was suffering from a medical condition which prevented him from providing a breath sample..." (Exhibit # 2)

The Applicant's driver's record since 1983, shows several infractions (Exhibit # 2)
Officer # 1, a member of Ontario Provincial Police for "...17 years..." deposes in an Affidavit dated 12 October 2000, as follows:

1. "...approximately 9 p.m. ...approached the vehicle..."
2. ...read ...Rights, Breath Demand and Caution...he spoke to me in English and understood..."
3. ...approximately 9:12 p.m....arrived at detachment"
4. ...approximately 9:43 left The Applicant with Officer # 2 to complete breath testing session..."
5. ...approximately 10:06 The Applicant was returned to my custody. I was advised by Officer # 2 that he failed to provided a breath sample..." (Exhibit # 2)

Officer # 2, a member of the Ontario Provincial Police for "...6 years... qualified to operate the Intoxilyzer Model 5000 C... Breath Technician since January 1997, in an Affidavit dated October 12, 2000 attests that:

1. "...I am a Paramedic ...for 13 years...
2. ...set up the Intoxilyzer 5000 C, serial 64-003643...performed diagnostic check and calibration check...passed...
3. ...On his first attempt...observed cheeks sunk in ...I kept telling him to blow out, he continued to suck in ...observed his cheeks ...sunk in...
4. ...on the next attempt ...started to blow ...stopped blowing after 1-2 seconds...again...sucking in his cheeks...
5. ...continued to do this ...advised ...he was being charged..
6. ... at no time during the breath testing session did The Applicant appear to be in any physical or medical distress...not having difficulty breathing or talking ...not coughing, wheezing or gasping for air...
7. ...at no time during the breath testing session did The Applicant make a request ...for medical assistance or medication..." (Exhibit #2)

Dr. Eva S. Mate, FRCP (C) a consultant in respiratory medicine with The Wellesley Hospital, in a letter dated October 12, 2000, qualifies that she has been in "...practice since 1982...", and that she has "...extensive experience in the management of chronic respiratory illness such as obstructive lung disease and asthma." Dr. Mate goes on to describe her qualifications: "...lengthy experience with performance and interpretation of pulmonary function tests... Assistant Professor at the University of Toronto...know the background evaluation of instrumentation such as Intoxilyzer 5000 cc and also Alcotest ...aware of breath sampling criteria required to provide acceptable information using the above instrumentation."

After reviewing the information provided, Dr. Mate comments and concludes that "...on physical examination... no features of advanced disease ...failure to provide a breath sample was ...voluntary ...due to lack of cooperation and unrelated to the existence of underlying COPD..." (Exhibit # 2)

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

At issue is, how does the medical condition of the Applicant relate to section 50.1 (2) (b) of the Highway Traffic Act, and did this medical reason cause him to fail or not comply with the breath demand.

The onus is on the Applicant to provide the Tribunal with a medical reason as to why he was unable to provide a breath sample.

The Tribunal reviewed all evidence submitted by both parties. The Applicant proffers no explanation as to why he failed to provide a breath sample when demanded to do so.

The Notice of Appeal prepared by Physician #1, reports the Applicant's present condition as: "Periodic dyspnea ...asthma ...COLD..." (Exhibit # 1)

The only evidence tendered by the Applicant, other than the information contained in the Notice of Appeal, are two undated reports from Physician #2, pertaining to visits on "29/10/2000" and "23/10/2000". The Tribunal notes that both of these assessments occurred well after the Applicant's driver's licence was suspended for failure to provide a breath sample.

In reviewing all the medical reports provided for the hearing by the Applicant, the Tribunal finds that neither of the reports complies with the requirements of sections 15(1) and (2) of Regulation 574 which provides:

15 (1) (c) " that the medical practitioner had prepared the report or is aware that the report may be used, in support of an appeal to the Tribunal from the suspension of a driver's licence under section 50.1 of the Act."

15 (2) "The report shall provide the details of any present condition, diagnosis and history of the condition that precludes the person who is the subject of the report from providing a breath sample including the results of any related tests."

Physician #2's and Physician # 1's reports simply state the Applicant's present condition, and they offer no reason as to why the Applicant could not provide a breath sample.

There is no indication as to whether the Applicant sought medical assistance at the time of the incident. Physician #1, states that the Applicant's last visit was on "2.10.2000" but does not render a record of previous visits, which might be related to the incident that led to the suspension of the Applicant's driver's licence... (Exhibit # 1).

The Tribunal must rely on the eyewitness testimony offered by the Breathalyzer Technician, who attests that "...at no time ...did The Applicant appear to be in any physical or medical distress ...not having difficulty breathing or talking ...not coughing, wheezing or gasping for air...make a request ...for medical assistance or medication..." (Exhibit #2)

The Tribunal finds that there is insufficient medical reasons as to why the Applicant was unable to comply with the request to provide a breath sample. The onus being on the Applicant to establish the merit of his appeal, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant has failed to do so. Thus, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant does not meet the criteria of section 50.1 (2) (b), in that he was not able to demonstrate that he suffers from a medical condition which would prevent him from providing a breath sample when requested.

DECISION:

Upon the application by The Applicant to appeal the suspension order dated August 29, 2000 of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles pursuant to section 48.3 of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA") and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

Pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50.1(4) of the HTA, the Tribunal confirms the suspension.

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

This is a hearing before the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") arising out of a Notice of Proposal issued by the Registrar under the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act (the "Registrar", and the "Act" respectively). The Notice of Proposal dated June 19, 2000 proposed to revoke the registration of Kirk Sorley ("Sorley"), as a salesperson under the Act. No Notice of Appeal was filed on behalf of 1174793 Ontario Inc. or Jacques Poulin also named in the Notice of Proposal.

BACKGROUND:

The Registrar under the Act proposed to revoke the registration of Kirk Sorley. The grounds relied upon by the Registrar for the Proposal are set out below:

1. Pursuant to the provisions of section 6 (1) of the Act, the Registrar, having regard to the registrant's financial position, finds that the registrant cannot reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of its undertakings as required by the provisions of section 5(1)(a) of the Act, TO WIT;
 - (a) The registrant is an officer of 1174793 Ontario Inc. o/a "The Car Lot" which has failed to comply with the requirements of the Retail Sales Tax Act as to filing of returns and remitting of tax due, and paying assessments when due.
2. The past conduct of the Applicant affords reasonable grounds for belief that the Applicant's undertakings will not be carried out in accordance with law, and with integrity and honesty, TO WIT;
 - a) The Applicant is an officer of 1174793 Ontario Ltd. o/a "The Car Lot" which has failed to comply with the requirements of the Retail Sales tax

Act as to filing of returns and remitting tax due, and paying assessments when due.

THE LAW:

Section 3 of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act (the "Act"), states as follows,

(1) No person shall,

(a) carry on business as a motor vehicle dealer unless the person is registered under this Act; or

(b) act as a salesperson of or on behalf of a motor vehicle dealer unless the person is registered as a salesperson of such dealer and such dealer is registered as a motor vehicle dealer under this Act.

.....

Section 5 of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act (the "Act"), states as follows;

5(1) An applicant is entitled to registration or renewal of registration by the Registrar except where,

(a) having regard to the financial position of the applicant, the applicant cannot reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of business; or

(b) the past conduct of the applicant affords reasonable grounds for belief that the applicant will not carry on business in accordance with law, and with integrity and honesty; or

(c) the applicant is a corporation and,

(i) having regard to its financial position, it cannot reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of business, or

(ii) the past conduct of its officers or directors affords reasonable grounds for belief that its business will not be carried on in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty; or

(d) the applicant is carrying on activities that are, or will be, if the applicant is registered, in contravention of this Act or the regulations.

(2) A registration is subject to such terms and conditions to give effect to the purposes of this Act as are consented to by the applicant, imposed by the Tribunal or prescribed by the regulations.

Section 6 of the Act states as follows;

(1) Subject to section 7, the Registrar may refuse to register an applicant where in the Registrar's opinion the applicant is disentitled to registration under section 5.

(2) Subject to section 7, the Registrar may refuse to renew or may suspend or revoke a registration for any reason that would disentitle the registrant to registration under section 5 if the registrant were an applicant, or where the registrant is in breach of a term or condition of the registration.

Section 43 of the Retail Sales Tax Act (the "Act") states as follows:

(1) Where a corporation has failed to collect tax or has collected tax and failed to remit the tax or has failed to pay any interest or penalty related thereto, the directors of the corporation at the time the corporation was required to collect or remit the taxes or to pay the interest or penalty relating thereto, are jointly and severally liable, together with the corporation to pay such amounts.

(3) A director of a corporation is not liable for a failure described under subsection

(1) if the director exercised the degree of care, diligence and skill to prevent the failure that a reasonably prudent person would have exercised in comparable circumstances.

CASELAW:

Brenner v Ontario (Registrar of Motor Vehicle Dealers and Salesman) 1983 O. J. No. 1017 Ontario Supreme Court-High Court of Justice Divisional Court

This was an appeal by the Registrar of Motor Vehicle Dealers and Salesmen from a decision of the Commercial Registration Appeal Tribunal in which the Tribunal directed the Registrar to grant a conditional registration to the Respondent. The Applicant had a very serious criminal record which he had disclosed in his application, but he had not disclosed three further convictions which were considered by the Registrar to be minor offences. The Applicant heard evidence from a potential employer and a criminal lawyer who testified that the Applicant was rehabilitated himself. The Court found that the Tribunal had not applied the proper test, and set out this test in paragraph nine of the judgment as follows:

"the Tribunal should only have refused to direct the Registrar to carry out his proposal if it thought the Registrar was in error concluding that the past conduct of the applicant afforded reasonable grounds for belief that he would not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty. The board does not appear to have directed itself to this question and makes no finding that, in its view, the past conduct of Brenner did not afford reasonable grounds for the belief that Brenner would not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty. Instead the Board appears to have been preoccupied with sympathetic concern as to whether or not Brenner had genuinely reformed, and appears to have decided that it ought to give him a second chance because there was the possibility that he, indeed, might have reformed himself."

669607 Ontario Ltd. (c.o.b. Carrerra Fine Cars) 1998 O.C.R.A.T.D. No. 45

In this matter, the Registrar based a proposal for the revocation of the dealer's registration on the grounds of the lack of financial responsibility where there was a failure by the Applicant to comply with the requirements of the Retail Sales Act. The Applicant owed an estimated $109,743.60 and had not filed Retail Sales Act returns for "a couple of years". The Ministry of Finance had made an estimate of the tax owing, and although the Registrant admitted he owed money, he disputed the amount although no objection was ever registered. He testified that he had a partner who did the books for the company during the period in question, but the Tribunal rejected this evidence. The Tribunal found that although the company was now operating as wholesaler, this did not eliminate the responsibilities of the Registrant as its sole officer to make payment arrangements. Further, the Tribunal found that the Registrant ignored its obligations to meet these debts, and was obliged to deal with the financial liabilities even when they considered it inconvenient or unfair. On pages 6 and 7 of the decision the Tribunal stated:

"There is no evidence before the Tribunal that the Registrant made any serious attempts to discuss repayment of the debt" and "The Tribunal is more troubled by the fact that for all these years the Registrant has ignored its obligations that it is with the fact that there are debts. Sometimes business practices are not perfect and mistakes can be made, but for the Registrant some five years later to state that it cannot at this time make any repayment arrangements but wants to at some point in time is completely unacceptable. If the Registrant had shown any attempts to make repayment arrangements, the Tribunal would have been inclined to look at strict terms and conditions to allow the wholesale registration to continue."

This inaction was found to go directly to the issue of honesty, integrity, and carrying on business in accordance with law. The explanation given by the Applicant was found to cast doubt on his ability to conduct business with honesty and integrity. The Registrar was ordered to carry out the proposal.

787498 Ontario Inc. o/a Lakeview Motor Sales and Service and Christopher Richard Hiles, July 10, 2000, Licence Appeal Tribunal

In this matter the Registrar based the Proposal for the revocation of the registration as a dealer and a salesman on the failure to remit Retail Sales Tax. Hiles was the sole officer of the company as well as a registered salesperson. He admitted that there was at least $100,000.00 owing by the company and had filed 47 returns which were all in default. By 1999, the Ministry estimated that the debt had grown to approximately $171,000.00. Eight post-dated cheques had been provided but were returned N.S.F. During an audit, the Applicant admitted that trust money was collected but used to pay the expenses of the business. By the time of the hearing the Applicant was making payments of $200.00 per week towards and estimated debt of over $300,000.00. The Applicant had also transferred three properties into his wife's name on the advice of his lawyer as a method of "securing his family position". There were also 14 vehicles registered to him personally. The Tribunal found that the use of trust funds to run the business was a "completely unsatisfactory and irresponsible approach to the conduct of business". Due to the amount owing and the length of time it was owed, the Tribunal found on page 5 that:

"Hiles and Lakeview cannot be reasonably expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of their business on an ongoing basis."

The Tribunal also found Hiles explanation to be unsatisfactory as he knew that the monies were owed and chose not to remit them, and use them for his own purposes. The fact that Hiles transferred properties out of his own name 12 days after the additional visit from the representative of the Ministry caused the Tribunal to doubt whether he was genuinely interested in making arrangements to pay his outstanding debt. In the circumstances, the Tribunal directed the Registrar to carry out the proposal to revoke the registration of Lakeview Motor Sales and Christopher Richard Hiles.

Pilling v M.N.R. 89 DTC 327

In this matter the taxpayers Dale and Heather Pilling were the directors of a contracting business under the name Gilmour Construction & Engineering Co. Ltd. ("Gilmour") Dale was an engineer, and was responsible for the day to day operation of the business. Heather prepared the payroll and tax remittances for the company at the direction of Dale. The cash flow of the company deteriorated in 1982 and no remittances were paid during March and April 1992 and from June to October 1982. The withholding of remittances was at the direction of Dale Pilling and both parties were personally assessed for tax arrears in the amount of $27,170.68 including penalties and interest. In October 1982 the collections officer had discussions with Mr. Pilling and was told that the company had $30,000.00 "on hand" and no payments were made toward the arrears. The Court found that both parties demonstrated the attitude that the Receiver General could wait while available funds were used for the operating expenses of the business. After the closure of Gilmour the parties opened a new company and the pattern of not remitting the statutory deductions continued. At page 7 of the judgment to court stated:

"There is absolutely no evidence that the Pillings gave any consideration to the corporation's obligations under the Act or of their personal liability. Mr. Pilling ran the corporation and Mrs. Pilling followed his instructions without reserve. Payment to the respondent appears never to have been consideration of the part of the Pillings; the attitude of Mr. Pilling to the statutory obligation of the corporation and his and Mrs. Pilling's own personal liability was demonstrated in both the corporation and the company incorporated in 1982: payments to the respondent could wait, money was necessary for the operation of the corporation's business."

In the circumstances, the Court found that neither party fell within the exemption of s. 227.1 (3) of the Act, and neither exercise the degree of skill care, and diligence that he reasonably prudent person would have exercised in comparable circumstances.

Barnett v M.N.R. 85 DTC 619

In this case the Appellant was a minority shareholder, a director and the vice president of the company. He was responsible for the production side of the business and although he was authorized to sign cheques, he did so only once. When he became aware that the company had an income tax problem, the directors who were responsible for financial matters assured him that it was being dealt with and that he did not need to worry. The Court held that he failed to exercise the degree of care, diligence and skill that a reasonable prudent person would exercise in comparable circumstances as he did nothing to prevent the failure to remit the tax, however the Court did not find it necessary to set out what must be done to meet the standard of care required.

Lloyd Youngman & Company Inc. Trustee of the Estate of Harold Fraser in Bankruptcy v The Ministry of National Revenue 87 DTC 250

In this case the Court found that the Appellant did nothing to prevent the failure, and did not even urge the other directors to comply with the requirements. He was not aware of the statutory requirements but that was no excuse. The company did not keep the funds separate from their own operating revenue, and the Court found that he did nothing to ensure that this was done in compliance with the regulations. Internal arrangements within the company may be taken into account in an appropriate case, but it is not a defence for an Appellant to argue that someone else had a better opportunity to prevent the failure. At page 4 of the decision, the Court stated:

“ This is not a case in which a director is forced to rely on other directors or officers or subordinate employees because those others possess skills which he does not. Mr. Fraser did not make an unsuccessful attempt to prevent default. He simply did not try.”

The appeal was dismissed.

Edmondson v M.N.R. 88 DTC 1542

In this case the Appellant had no previous business experience and in 1983 invested money in a company in which he became a director. He was not a signing officer and did not go to the company offices or attend directors' meetings. In 1984, the Appellant became aware that payments had not been made to Revenue Canada. He mortgaged his home and put further money into the company so that Revenue Canada was paid and insisted on cosigning all cheques and having his daughter do the books as she was an experienced bookkeeper. Later Revenue Canada examined the company books as there were still arrears, and it was found that the cheques had not been forwarded to Revenue Canada.

The Court examined the requirements for due diligence and found that the high degree of vigilance is required for a director to rely on the 'due diligence' defence. The Revenue Canada Taxation directive of October 6, 1987 was referred to by the Court on page 3 where it was stated:

"directors must take positive action to prevent the failure of the corporation to deduct, withhold and remit if they wish to rely on the defence provided in subsection 227.1(3)."

The Court found that the Appellant although unsophisticated in corporate management arranged to pay the arrears, and insisted on being a co-signer on cheques, and had his daughter as the bookkeeper. Unfortunately, the cheques were not mailed and his efforts were frustrated. Counsel for the Receiver General argued that in the Appellant was not familiar with the director's duties and personal liability but this was no defence. Dealing with this proposition, the Court cited the case of Cybulski v M.N.R. 88 DTC 1531 in which Christie A.C.J. stated that:

"In my opinion the principle that ignorance of the law is no excuse [FOOTNOTE 1: it is not correct to say that everyone is presumed to do the law. The true proposition is that no man can excuse himself from doing his duty by saying that he did not know the law of the matter. Ignorantia juris neminem excusat, Kiriri Cotton Co. Ltd. v Ranchhoddas Keshavji Dewani, [1960] A.C. 193, Lord Denning at 204] can have no application here. In enacting subsection 227.1(3) Parliament established an exonerating standard of conduct the presence of which is to be determined in particular cases by the actual relevant facts and not by fixing to a taxpayer knowledge of a somewhat esoteric point of corporation law that in reality is probably not within the actual knowledge of the good number of legal practitioners."

The Court found that although the Appellant was completely unaware of his director's duties, he took protective action when he was almost forced to do so. In the circumstances the Court found that he did bring himself within the exempting provisions of the Act and allowed the appeal.

ISSUES:

The legal issue in this case is whether the Registrar erred in his decision to revoke the Applicant's registration under the Act on the basis of a lack of financial responsibility or that the Applicant would not act with integrity, honesty, and carry on business in accordance with the law.

EVIDENCE:

Witness for the Registrar

Deborah Price testified that she is a senior collections officer for the Ministry of Finance of Ontario and has been employed there since 1998. She dealt with the Ontario Retail Sales Tax arrears for "The Car Lot" and explained that as of May 11, 2000 the sum of $84,981.70 had not been remitted and that with penalty and interest the balance was $106,194.82. On May 11, 2000 a letter (Exhibit 4, Tab 6) was sent to O.M.V.I.C. requesting that they issue a Proposal to revoke the registration of the motor vehicle dealer. She explained that this is a standard procedure when an account is in arrears. Ms. Price had made arrangements with Sorley for monthly payments of $1000.00 from November 8, 1999 to April 8, 2000 together with the current filings and payments being kept up to date. The monthly payments were made, but the arrangement had gone into arrears as the current filings and payments were not made. From March 31, 2000 until September 13, 2000 no returns had been filed and no payments made. A Writ of Seizure was issued and she was advised by the Sheriff that the company was operating under another name. In August, 2000 a letter was sent to Sorley and the other three directors of "The Car Lot" advising them that they would be held personally responsible for the debt, and in September 2000 they all declared personal bankruptcy.

Ms. Price testified that when she had originally called the dealership, she spoke with Sorley and had no reason to speak to Mr. Poulin as Sorley had authority to deal with her. She did not know that Mr. Poulin was a Director until the corporate search was done, then learned from Sorley that Mr. Poulin was no longer on the premises, and was not taking part in the business. The Applicant advised her that he had reduced the expenses for the business, and was paying $2,500.00 per month for nine months for G.S.T. arrears. Ms. Price did not remember asking the Applicant for payments of $5,000.00 per month, and denied that she told him to ignore his G.S.T. obligations.

During cross-examination, Ms. Price confirmed that there was no evidence of dishonesty by the Applicant in dealing with members of the public, or any conduct such as tampering with odometers; however, the Ontario Retail Sales Tax money was to be held in trust, and there was an obligation by the company to remit these trust funds. The Applicant did not contest his liability as a Director, so the issue was never adjudicated and. Mr. Sorley did not raise the defence of "due diligence". The witness also confirmed that she had no knowledge of any Retail Sales Tax problems with the new company operating as "The Car Lot 2000".

Mary Jane South testified that she is the Deputy Registrar of O.M.V.I.C. which is the administrative authority for the Ontario Motor Vehicle Dealers Act. She stated that a person is entitled to registration as a motor vehicle salesperson unless they do not meet the requirements of financial responsibility or their conduct demonstrates that they would not carry on business with honesty, integrity, and in accordance with the law. In the case of this particular Applicant, she was concerned that trust funds had been collected by the dealer, and they had not been kept separate and remitted to the Ministry as required. On this basis, she decided to revoke the registration of the dealer and the salespersons as they were directors of the company. She was given no information to lead her to conclude that Sorley should not be responsible as a director. Ms. South testified that she had concerns about the present situation as the Applicant was working in what appeared to be a very small dealership where he would have a great deal of responsibility rather than a large dealership where there would be checks and balances in place. When a corporate search was done, it was also discovered that the Applicant was a director of the new company. Although Sorley made arrangements for payment of arrears, it was only a token amount, and the default in filings and payments for current months breached the arrangement with the Ministry. Therefore in making her decision to issue the Proposal, she considered that there was a lack of financial responsibility due to the failure to maintain the agreement with the Ministry, and a failure to act in accordance with the law as the trust funds were not kept separate as required.

In cross-examination Ms. Price said that she did not consider the Applicant as dishonest and agreed that she had not discussed the issue of due diligence with him. Her knowledge came from the forms sent to her from the Ministry of Finance, and there has been no communication with anyone involved in the new company. She agreed that she received the letter of May 11, 2000 from Ms. Price requesting that there be a Proposal to revoke the motor vehicle dealer registration, but she stated that the decision was made by her.

Witness for the Applicant

Mr. Kirk Sorley testified that he is 48 years of age, is married, and has two children. One child is still living at home in Niagara Falls and the other is in Alberta. After graduating from High School, the Applicant was a member of the R.C.M.P. in Alberta from 1972 until 1980 when he left the force with an honourable discharge. He moved to Ontario, and operated an automobile rust proofing business from 1980 until 1988. In 1988 he opened a small motor vehicle dealership with a partner which operated until 1990 when he moved to Niagara Falls so that he could be closer to his parents who were not good health and needed his assistance.

For two years he worked as a salesman at a dealership in St. Catherines, then moved to a Honda dealership in Niagara Falls. Jack Poulin was the manager of the dealership, and they developed a good working relationship. In January 1993, they formed a partnership and opened The Car Lot. Sorley was the main buyer and seller of vehicles, and Poulin carried out the administrative duties as well as a few sales. Poulin was computer literate and did the day-to-day record keeping. They hired an accountant who they later found was only a bookkeeper, but he was replaced by the time they incorporated the company. The Applicant was the president of the company as he had invested the majority of the money, but Poulin made most of the financial decisions. Sorley, his wife, and Poulin all had signing authority for the company.

After a couple of years, Sorley discovered that there was a problem with cash flow, the payment of bills and the timely payment of taxes. By 1998, the Applicant had problems getting Poulin to do things and by the middle of the year he began to get involved. He made an arrangement with the Receiver General of Canada to pay G.S.T. arrears at $2500.00 per month and in 1999 was contacted by Ms. Price from the Ministry of Revenue regarding the problem with the Ontario Retail Sales Tax. The first written notification he received was the final notice dated October 20, 1999 (Exhibit 5, Tab 1), and he immediately telephoned Ms. Price to make arrangements for sending the necessary returns and arranging monthly payments. He stated that she told him that she did not care about his G.S.T. payments, but he said he could pay $1000.00 per month. In January or February, 2000 an auditor came from the Ministry of Finance and Mr. Sorley testified that he tried to be as helpful as possible. After the audit was completed, Sorley, sent a letter to Ms. Price on Feb. 25, 2000 (Exhibit 5, Tab 3) showing his financial plan to reduce the expenses for his business and asking her to work with him to keep the business running and reduce his debt. He testified that Ms. Price advised him that his efforts were not enough and she wanted $5000.00 per month. Unfortunately, Poulin could not put any money into the business, and the witness could not afford the payment requested. Sorley testified that he was never told by Ms. Price that forms had to be submitted and, in any event, after March 1, 2000 no Provincial Sales Tax was collected. He testified that to meet the filing requirements Ms. Price sent him some blank forms a month ago and he submitted them showing that there was nothing owing.

Mr. Sorley testified that the accountant for the new company had included him as a first director so that he could make deposits, but really he was just a salesperson. He would be willing to abide by terms and conditions that he act only as a salesperson and take no part in the administration of the business. In his capacity as a salesperson, he has never had any complaints about dishonesty, and the present company has had the O.M.V.I.C. inspector come in without any difficulties being found. The Applicant testified that this situation has resulted in problems with his marriage and his family, his health has suffered, and his self respect has been seriously reduced. To try to keep the business going and pay the debts, he has mortgaged his home to the extent of his equity, has no money in the bank and has borrowed from his parents as an advance on his inheritance. He testified that he has no other work that he can do.

In cross-examination, he confirmed that Poulin did not steal money from the business or do anything dishonest with the corporate records, and he does not challenge the tax liability calculated by the Ministry of Finance. Mr. Sorley agreed that the trust money was simply used by the company to keep the business going. Sorley testified that he is not an owner of the new business, which is owned by his sister and brother-in-law. He was unclear on how he is being paid, and testified that he is receiving a wage but that it is somehow based on the profitability of the company. He could not describe how it was calculated. When he was questioned about whether Retail Sales Tax remittances should have been made on January 4, 2000 or March 6, 2000, he had no knowledge of any such payments being due, and stated that the accountant would have filled out the form.

FACTS FOUND PROVEN:

The facts found by the Tribunal are that Sorley was an officer of 1174793 Ontario Inc. operating as "The Car Lot", and invested the majority of the money. His primary responsibility was buying and selling cars, and his partner Poulin carried out the administrative duties together with the book keeper or accountant. Poulin decreased his participation in the business, and Sorley became aware of a cash flow problem. This situation was clarified when he was contacted concerning G.S.T. arrears and Retail Sales Tax arrears. Sorley made arrangements for payments to be made on the tax arrears, and he issued company cheques which were honoured.

Sorley did not file further Retail Sales Tax returns until after he was contacted. There is no reliable evidence of further sums of Retail Sales Tax owed. Sorley tried to re-organize the business to reduce expenses so that he could keep the business going, and contributed most of his personal assets to the business. The Retail Sales Tax had been collected but was used as general company revenues leading to the accumulation of the debt. The company ceased operation, and a new company was formed, and is operating at the same location with Sorley as a founding director as well as his sister and brother in law. In May 2000, Sorley applied to transfer his registration as a salesperson from 1174793 Ontario Inc. o/a The Car Lot to 1302766 Ontario Inc. o/a The Car Lot 2000. There is no evidence of any irregularities with filings or remittances from that company. Sorley is a salesman with the company and is paid according to the profitability of the company. The Tribunal accepts the evidence of Sorley that he does not intend to act in an administrative capacity with the new company, and intends to be removed as a director and officer if this has not already been done.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The Act provides that the Registrar may revoke the registration of the Applicant where the Applicant's past conduct affords reasonable grounds for belief that the Applicant will not carry on business in accordance with the law, and with integrity and honesty.

The Tribunal finds it significant that there is no evidence that the Applicant took an active role in the administration of the business as Poulin acted in an administrative role due to his experience and skill. In the "Carrera" decision, the Tribunal specifically rejected the Applicant's evidence that someone else did the books. Mr. Sorley finally became involved in the administration once Poulin had effectively withdrawn, and arrangements had to be made to begin to pay tax arrears. Although the payments made were small amounts compared to the arrears, Sorley did try to deal with the situation when he had the opportunity, unlike the "Carrera" case where the Applicant was found to be ignoring his responsibility to make arrangements for payment. In this case, Sorley also used his own resources unlike the "Hiles" case where the Applicant transferred properties out of his name to protect the financial position of himself and his family. There was no indication in the case now before this Tribunal that the Applicant was hiding assets to evade payment of tax, and there was no reliable evidence that any new tax was owing after the audit.

This Tribunal's jurisdiction is set out in the provisions of the Ontario Motor Vehicle Dealers Act and does not extend to a determination of whether the Applicant has an exemption for liability for unremitted Ontario Retail Sales Tax in his capacity as a director on the basis of due diligence. The Tribunal will, however, be guided by the principles set out in the above cases as they relate to standards of conduct since the matter of due diligence has not been determined by the courts. In this case, the Applicant contributed his own money to the business and took control of the financial matters once he was aware of the problems in the business. Unlike the cases of "Pilling" and "Barnet" he tried to take positive steps to deal with the arrears, and did not ignore the problem.

The legal test to be used by the Tribunal is whether the Registrar was in error in deciding that the past conduct of the Applicant provided reasonable grounds to believe that the Applicant would not carry on business in accordance with integrity honesty and with the law. On the basis of the facts as found, and the application of the law to those facts, the Tribunal finds that the decision by the Registrar was in error, and the Applicant is entitled to registration as a salesperson only.

DECISION:

Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in it under section 7(4) of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act, the Licence Appeal Tribunal directs the Registrar not to carry out his proposal to revoke the registration of the Applicant, but to permit him registration as a salesperson only on the conditions that he is neither an officer nor a director of any motor vehicle dealership, and that he takes no part in the administration or the financial affairs of any motor vehicle dealership.

APPEARANCES: KIM GROSSKURTH
Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

MARY B. JOHNSTONE, Applicant
unrepresented

DATE OF HEARING: November 29, 2000 by teleconference

DECISION RELEASED: December 4, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on November 29, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: Mary B. Johnstone (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle: 1986 Pontiac Grand Prix, plate # AHRP 059 (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal: November 10, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on November 29, 2000 and proceeded as a teleconference hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

The Respondent filed certified copies of documents on file.

The Applicant and the Respondent agreed that the hereinto before mentioned documents be filed at the hearing as evidence.

There being no other preliminary matters and the hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

I AM THE OWNER OF THE IMPOUNDED CAR. MY CAR ('86 PONTIAC) WAS LEFT AT MY SON'S (MICHAEL BRENNAN) RESIDENCE (219 BOULLEE ST LONDON) WHILE I WAS IN FLORIDA FOR THE MONTH OF OCT/2000, AS I LIVE IN AN APARTMENT COMPLEX AND DID NOT WANT TO LEAVE IT THERE. I NEED THE CAR TO GET BACK AND FORTH TO DOCTOR'S APPTS., AND TO GET MY GROCERIES.

The Applicant claims impoundment will result in extreme hardship as the vehicle is needed "...to get back and forth to the doctor's appts., and to get. groceries."

At the hearing the Applicant gave evidence as to the events that led up to and surrounding the impoundment.

In viva voce and cross-examination the Applicant testified that she owns another vehicle, but that she does not like to drive it in the winter.

When asked directly how the impoundment of the vehicle directly affected her health, the Applicant replied that she has several appointments with her physicians, but confirmed that her daughters would be driving her to the appointments.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Michael L. Brennan;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of Driving While Disqualified under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until October 16, 2001.

The Respondent offered no evidence other than the documentation offered prior to the hearing. At the hearing the Respondent introduced a certified copy of proof of ownership of the Applicant's second vehicle.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

(1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

- (3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,
- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
 - (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
 - (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
 - (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines "exceptional hardship" as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

(h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22
- (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety or any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
 - (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
 - (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under

- suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The onus is on the Applicant to establish the exceptional hardship ground of appeal as provided in subsection 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

Is there no alternative to the impounded vehicle?

Subsection 22(3)(a) Regulation 574 as amended by O. Reg. 632/98 provided that this Tribunal may not consider financial or economic loss as a ground of appeal unless no alternative to the impounded vehicle is available.

The Applicant testified that she is able to get about by with the assistance of her daughters. Further the Applicant admitted to owning another vehicle.

As the Applicant has alternate methods of transportation available to her, the Tribunal may not consider the provisions of 22.1 of Regulation 574.

Is the loss immediate, significant and lasting?

The Applicant does not meet the criteria of O. Reg. 632/98, Subsection 22(3)(b) which provides that the Board may not regard economic loss unless the Applicant shows proof that loss will be immediate, significant and lasting. The Applicant denied having incurred any financial burden.

The Applicant has not satisfied the Board that she has in fact incurred any loss of income or extra expenses which could be considered hardship.

Is the loss upon a person ordinarily transported in the motor vehicle?

The evidence establishes that the Applicant was being transported by the vehicle as required by O. Reg. 632/98, Subsection 22(3)(c).

Is the loss upon a person other than the driver of the motor vehicle and not a result of that driver's loss?

O. Reg. 632/98, Subsection 22(3)(d)(i)(ii), amending Regulation 574 provides that this Tribunal may not consider economic loss unless the owner demonstrates that:

d) the impact of the loss,

i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's license was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle and...

ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause 2(b)(c) or (d).

The loss will be upon the Applicant who is a person other than the driver whose licence was under suspension as required by subsections 22(3)(d).

Although the Applicant meets two of the four criteria under subsection 22(3), two are not met. The subsection requires all four criteria to be met before considering financial or economic loss or loss of employment or employment opportunity or loss of education or training as exceptional hardship. Also subsection 22(2)(a) prevents inconvenience as being considered as exceptional hardship pursuant by this Tribunal. There is no evidence that the Applicant's health or safety is at risk due to this impoundment.

After assessing the evidence presented, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant has not established exceptional hardship under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

DECISION RELEASED: December 4, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on November 29, 2000 at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO SET ASIDE the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: Aliscia B. Razack (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle: 1995 Toyota Camry, plate # 069 VPM (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal: November 15, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on November 29, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

The hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

Re: My car- I use the car to get my (2) kids 9mths & 3 1/2yrs old to & from the babysitter. My job is with an agency. I work from one end of the city to the other. My shifts are mostly (95%) 3-11pm. My babysitter lives at Birchmount & Finch. I lives at Lawrence/Morningside. It takes 40 mins to get to the sitter on my way then on to work. Considering the time of my shifts using the bus is not even an option. If I don't work my bills ie mortgage $1025.00 Insurance 200.00 Loan $195.00 Car Loan $425.00 not forgetting my kids and the expense of everyday living. I'm really sorry that before lending my car I didn't check to see if that person can drive. I hope on the day of my hearing I can explain better how much I need my car for survival.

Thank you.
Aliscia

Ms. Aliscia Razack gave evidence that she is the owner of the impounded motor vehicle. That the car is a necessity in order for her to transport her two children 9 months and 3 1/2 years old to her babysitter. Ms. Razack works as a health care worker in senior citizens homes. That is, she works for a temporary work agency that assigns her to fill in at a number of locations. She works a full week but not usually at one location in Toronto. Her work may be at Keele and Sheppard or Dufferin and Finch area. Her shifts are normally 3:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m., and she testified that she has no person other than her friend, to be the babysitter to leave her children with. The babysitter's house is at Birchmount and Finch. She testified that it is impossible for her to use public transit to drop off her children at her babysitter's home and then get to work and later pick them up after work. That a taxi would be cost prohibitive because it would cost $30.00 to $35.00 each way. She testified that alternative childcare would be approximately $300.00 per week for her infant child and her daughter.

Ms. Razack stated that since the impoundment of her vehicle, she has not been able to work at all. She has made inquiries of agencies that would transport her to work, but they would not provide transportation for her children. She has looked into car rentals which would cost $25.00 per day.

Ms. Razack testified that she currently has $200.00 dollars in her bank account which she will be using for food and formula for her children. Her mortgage, car payments, insurance, utility bills, food and living expenses do not leave much in the way of savings in a normal month, and now she does not know how she will meet her current financial obligations of mortgage and car payments. She stated that she is in no position to pay impoundment fees and without her car cannot earn a living.

Ms. Razack stated that Mr. St.-Kitt, the driver of the car at the time of its impoundment, pays half of the households bills. She was never told of his driving suspension.

Ms. Razack testified that Mr. St.-Kitt was an occasional driver of her car.

Ms. Razack submitted financial statements and loan documents to support her sworn testimony, and the Tribunal finds that Ms. Razack was a credible witness.

Evidence for the Registrar

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Mark A. St-Kitt;

3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of Driving with more than 80 mgs alcohol in blood under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until January 5, 2001.

Ms. Kim Grosskurth tendered original documents for the record and stated that Mr. St.-Kitt had this vehicle impounded for one night on December 16, 1999 but provided no documents with respect to the one day impoundment. She tendered a ruling of September 14, 2000 by member Stuart Cork.

Ms. Razack was not aware of the one night impoundment or the suspension given to Mr. St.-Kitt on December 16, 1999.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

- (1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines "exceptional hardship" as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

- (h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22
- (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety of any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or

- (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
- (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
- (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

In determining exceptional hardship under section 50.2 of the Act, the Tribunal is bound by the restrictions set out in section 22 of Regulation 574 as amended by Regulation 632/98. It is not disputed that:

1. The Applicant is the owner of the motor vehicle that was the subject of the impoundment order.
2. At the time of the impoundment order the Applicant's motor vehicle was driven by Mr. Mark St.-Kitt
3. At the time of the impoundment of the Applicant's motor vehicle Mr. Mark St.-Kitt driver's licence was under suspension due to a conviction under the Criminal Code of Canada for driving with more than 80mg. Of alcohol in blood.

Section 22 of Regulation 574, as amended, require that the Applicant establish that no alternative to the impounded vehicle is available, and to establish this subsection 22(4) requires that the owner has demonstrated that every reasonable option has been considered to replace the impounded vehicle. Here the unique combination of lack of resources, nature of Applicant's employment and childcare responsibilities establishes that there is no alternative for the Applicant.

The Tribunal has next considered the criteria contained in subsection 22(1) with respect to the health and safety of persons ordinarily transported in the vehicle. The young age of the Applicant's children, the distance to travel to their babysitter, the hours of work of the Applicant and the Applicant's lack of resources establishes that the impoundment will result in the health or safety of the Applicant's children.

The Tribunal also has considered the criteria under subsection 22(2) of Regulation 573 as amended by Regulation 632/98. The evidence establishes that the impoundment will result in economic loss to the Applicant which is immediate, significant and lasting. This impact will be upon the Applicant who is ordinarily transported in the vehicle and who is not the driver at the time of the impoundment.

In consideration of all the evidence presented, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant has demonstrated exceptional hardship as circumscribed by Section 22 of Ontario Regulation 632/98 amending Ontario Regulation 574 under the Highway Traffic Act.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal orders that the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle be set aside.

APPEAL FROM A PROPOSAL OF THE REGISTRAR
UNDER THE MOTOR VEHICLE DEALERS ACT

TO REFUSE REGISTRATION

TRIBUNAL: MARJORIE L. HILEY, VICE-CHAIR

APPEARANCES: No one appearing for the Applicant
AVIVA R. HARARI, Counsel, representing the Registrar,
Motor Vehicle Dealers Act

DATE OF
HEARING: November 21, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

This is a hearing before the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") arising out of a Notice of Proposal issued by the Registrar under the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act (the "Registrar" and the "Act" respectively). The Notice of Proposal dated August 22, 2000 proposed to refuse the registration of Jafar Amiri as a motor vehicle salesperson on the basis that the Applicant responded "no" to Question 9 on the application but a criminal history check showed that the Applicant had been charged with assault with a weapon and weapons dangerous.

Question 9 asks, "Have you ever been found guilty or convicted of an offence under any law or are any charges pending? This includes those instances where a conditional or absolute discharge has been ordered. If yes, list all charges and or convictions and the circumstances surrounding each.

The Applicant by his Notice of Appeal dated September 5, 2000 requested a hearing before the Tribunal. He provided an explanation stating "No Assault; No Weapon; No Danger". He also stated that when he did the application he had not understood Question 9 but after making that mistake he explained everything to the Ontario Motor Vehicle Industry Council ("OMVIC").

The hearing date was scheduled for November 21, 2000. On November 20, 2000 a fax from the Applicant was received at the offices of the Tribunal. It stated: "To Whom It May Concern: The reason of this letter that I am not going to show up at court on November 21, 2000. Because I've already lost my job and I am not concern about this job any more." This fax was entered as an exhibit at the Hearing on November 21, 2000.

On the date of Hearing, that being November 21, 2000, Counsel for the Registrar and her witnesses appeared before the Tribunal. The hearing was convened at 9:30 am and then adjourned for thirty minutes in case the Applicant did decide to attend. At 10:00 am the hearing recommenced and the Tribunal heard the evidence of the Registrar and the witnesses. The Applicant was not in attendance during the course of the hearing.

ISSUE:

Did the Registrar act on a reasonable basis in his refusal to grant registration to the Applicant?

EVIDENCE:

Opening statement by Counsel for the Registrar:

Counsel stated that the basis of the Proposal of the Registrar was two fold: 1. the non disclosure by the Applicant on his application of the two pending charges of assault with a weapon and weapon dangerous; 2. The conduct of the Applicant which resulted in those charges.

Testimony of Ralph Ashford:

Detective Ashford is with the major crime unit, 31 Division of the Metropolitan Toronto Police.

Detective Ashford testified that on May 8, 2000, Mr. Amiri was arrested and brought to 31 Division. Reading from his notes, Detective Ashford stated that on May 2, 2000 the victim had gone to National Best Auto Sales and test drove a vehicle. That vehicle had a sale price of $10,000.00. The victim gave $4,000.00 as a down payment and obtained a receipt. On May 8, 2000 the victim attended again at National Best Auto Sales. He approached Mr. Amiri and presented his receipt. An argument ensued. Mr. Amiri threw the receipt on the floor. The victim bent down to pick up the receipt and Mr. Amiri punched the victim in the face. A witness went to help the victim and Mr. Amiri pulled a knife.

Detective Ashford testified that he interviewed Mr. Amiri. Following that interview, he charged Mr. Amiri with assault with a weapon and weapon dangerous.

Testimony of Laura Gordon:

Ms. Gordon is the Director of Compliance at OMVIC. She has held that post for over three years.

Ms. Gordon testified that under section 5 of the Act there are requirements that the past conduct of registrant show that he will carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty. Ms. Gordon was of the opinion that the past conduct of the Applicant as it related to the pending charges and the non disclosure of those charges showed that the Applicant could not meet those requirements.

Ms. Gordon stated that the Applicant answered "no" to Question 9. There was no disclosure on the application form of the pending charges. When OMVIC did its CPIC check, it was determined that the Applicant had been charged on May 8, 2000 with assault with a weapon and with weapons dangerous. The date of the application for registration by the Applicant was July 3, 2000, after the charges had been laid by the police. It was the understanding of Ms. Gordon that there had been no disposition of the charges at the date of the hearing before this Tribunal.

Ms. Gordon stated that she was concerned as the charges related to an incident at the very dealership, National Best Auto Sales, that the Applicant wished to be registered as a salesman. These charges occurred at a motor vehicle dealership, and Ms. Gordon was concerned for the safety of the public.

Submission of Counsel for the Registrar:

Counsel submitted that the Registrar had reasonable grounds for the Proposal to refuse to grant registration to the Applicant.

As well, Counsel requested costs under section 8 of the Licence Appeal Tribunal Act. Counsel stated that the Notice of Proposal contained the notice to the Applicant that the Registrar would be asking for such costs.

Counsel stated that the facts in this case are similar to the LAT case of 1384706 Ontario Inc. o/a Perfect Auto Sale and George Fiddaoui and Frank Menhem Faoual released August 2, 2000.

If the Tribunal were to grant costs, the Registrar was requesting the amount of $1,200.00. That amount would cover the administration fee paid by OMVIC to have a case before the Tribunal, the witness fees for Detective Ashford and the lawyer's time at the hearing.

LEGISLATION:

The relevant legislation respecting registration of the Applicant is the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act, and the relevant legislation respecting the issue of costs is the Licence Appeal Tribunal Act, 1999.

Motor Vehicle Dealers Act:

Section 5

(1) An applicant is entitled to registration or renewal of registration by the Registrar except where,

(b) the past conduct of the applicant affords reasonable grounds for belief that the applicant will not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty;

Section 7

(4) Where an applicant or registrant requires a hearing by the Tribunal in accordance with subsection (2), the Tribunal shall appoint a time for and hold the hearing and, on the application of the Registrar at the hearing, may by order direct the Registrar to carry out the Registrar's proposal or refrain from carrying it out and to take such action as the Tribunal considers the Registrar ought to take in accordance with this Act and the regulations, and for such purposes the Tribunal may substitute its opinion for that of the Registrar.

Licence Appeal Tribunal Act, 1999

Section 8

If, on the application of a party to a hearing before the Tribunal with notice to the other parties, the Tribunal is satisfied that the application for the hearing is frivolous or vexatious, the Tribunal may refuse to grant the hearing or may terminate the hearing at any time and make an order of costs as it considers appropriate in the circumstances.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO THE FACTS:

At the conclusion of the oral hearing the Tribunal stated on the record that it was satisfied that the Registrar had acted on a reasonable basis in refusing to grant the registration of the Applicant. The act of non disclosure itself has been held to be sufficient to disqualify an Applicant from being registered under the Act. In this case, the non disclosure occurred within two months of the charges being laid against the Applicant. The Tribunal does not put any weight on the written statement of the Applicant that he failed to understand Question 9. The Question asks if there are any charges pending. The Applicant has not provided the Tribunal with any reasonable explanation for why he did not understand this statement.

Further, the Tribunal is disturbed by the fact that the charges were laid as the result of an incident at the dealership where the Applicant wishes to work as a registered salesperson. There exists a question of what the Applicant was doing at the dealership some two months prior to requesting registration as a salesperson. But putting that question aside, there is still the fact that the place of the incident was at a motor vehicle dealership. This raises questions as to judgment of the Applicant and to his honesty and integrity based on his past conduct. Again, the Applicant was not present to provide any explanations to the Tribunal concerning this incident.

Counsel for the Registrar requested costs under section 8 of the Licence Appeal Tribunal Act 1999. The Tribunal is satisfied that the paragraph included in the Notice of Proposal of the Registrar provides the notice requirement found in section 8 of the Licence Appeal Tribunal Act 1999.

This section contains the words “Frivolous” or “Vexatious”. An examination of these words in Black’s Law Dictionary 6th ed. Finds the following:

Frivolous: of little weight or importance. A pleading is “frivolous” when it is clearly insufficient on its face and does not controvert the material points of the opposite pleading, and is presumably interposed for mere purposes of delay or to embarrass the opponent. A claim or defense is frivolous if a proponent can present no rational argument based upon the evidence or law in support of that claim or defense...

Vexatious proceeding: proceeding instituted maliciously and without probable cause....Type of malicious prosecution.....when the party bringing proceeding is not acting bona fide, and merely wishes to annoy or embarrass his opponent, or when it is not calculated to lead to any practical result. Such a proceeding is often described as "frivolous and vexatious", and the court may dismiss it on that ground.

The section states that the application can be frivolous or vexatious. Using the above definitions it would be much easier to find under this section for a frivolous application.

The present case is not similar on its facts to the case of 1384706 Ontario Inc. o/a Perfect Auto Sale and George Fiddaoui and Frank Menhem Faoual supra. In that case, Mr. Fiddaoui had numerous prior convictions which he failed to disclose to the Registrar. As well the dealer was operating without benefit of registration. The case was held in Ottawa at the convenience of the Applicants, but they failed to attend and did not notify either the Registrar or the Tribunal. Most of the other participants in the hearing were not from the Ottawa area and were inconvenienced and put to the expense of having to travel to Ottawa. Though the Tribunal found that costs would be well deserved they were denied due to lack of prior notice to the Applicants of this matter.

Here the Registrar has provided prior notice to the Applicant in the Notice of Proposal. But the Applicant did provide some notice, if only to the offices of the Tribunal, that he was not attending at the hearing. Of course that was of no benefit to the Registrar whose Counsel and witnesses did attend on the date of the hearing. The Tribunal would be more inclined to have awarded costs under section 8 on the basis of a frivolous proceeding if the Applicant had convictions rather than charges. The Tribunal can take notice that in some instances charges do not lead to convictions under our criminal justice system. So the Applicant might have had some rational argument to make on this matter if he had attended and provided his explanations to the Tribunal. The matter is not as self evident as stated by Counsel for the Registrar on its merits and does not meet the standard of "no rational argument based upon the evidence or law in support of that claim or defense". On that basis the motion for costs is denied.

ORDER:

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority vested in it by section 7(4) of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act, the Tribunal directs the Registrar to carry out his Proposal dated August 22, 2000 to refuse the registration of Jafar Amiri as a motor vehicle salesperson.

Warranty Program

DATE OF
HEARING: November 16, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal from a decision of the Ontario New Home Warranty Program (the "Program") dated June 16, 2000.

The Applicant and his spouse and Town Wood Homes Limited (the "vendor"), entered into an Agreement of Purchase and Sale (the "Agreement") dated August 18, 1996, in terms of which the vendor built a single family residential home for the Applicant at 119 Galleon Crescent, Mississauga, Ontario. The Applicant took possession on February 25, 1997.

Prior to the date of possession and subsequent to February 25, 1997, the Applicant made numerous complaints to the vendor and to the Program concerning deficiencies in the house. The Program conducted an inspection of the home on August 26, 1999, which results are summarized in the Conciliation Inspection report dated September 6, 1999 (Ex. 3, Tab 6). Re-inspections were conducted on November 4, 1999 and April 20, 2000, resulting in reports dated November 16, 1999 (Ex. 3, Tab 9) and April 27, 2000 (Ex. 3, Tab 14), respectively.

Many of the items claimed were warrantable and the vendor attended at the home at various times to make repairs. Subsequent to the second re-inspection on April 27, 2000, the Program issued its decision letter dismissing all ten of the Applicant's remaining claims. The Applicant appeals the following claims:

- 1.all interior walls should be painted with semi-gloss latex;
2. poor finishing defects on the parquet floors;
3. warpage of the master bedroom and ensuite doors;
4. minor and major creaks and squeaks;
5. poor finish on the kitchen cabinets;
6. shingles buckling under the master bedroom window;
7. water accumulation in eavestrough and dent;
8. poor finish of some heat registers;
9. cracked grout on ensuite shower floor; and
10. basement floor cracks.

ISSUES:

The issues to be decided in these proceedings are as follows:

1. Whether the claims fall within the warranty prescribed in section 13(1) of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act (the “Act”)?
2. Whether the Applicant has a cause of action for damages resulting from a breach of warranty pursuant to section 14(1) of the Act?

THE LAW:

Section 13(1) of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act states:

13(1) Every vendor of a home warrants to the owner,

(a) that the home,

(i) is constructed in a workmanlike manner and is free from defects in material,

(i) is fit for habitation, and

(ii) is constructed in accordance with the Ontario Building Code;

(b) that the home is free of major structural defects as defined by the regulations; and

(c) such other warranties as are prescribed by the regulations.

Section 14(1) of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act states:

14(1) Where,

.....

(b) an owner has a cause of action against a vendor for damages resulting from a breach of warranty; or the person of owner is entitled to be paid out of the guarantee fund the amount of such damage subject to such limits as are fixed by the regulations.

EVIDENCE:

The Applicant testified on his own behalf. He did not call any other witnesses or adduce any expert evidence.

The Program relied on the evidence of the warranty representative, Mark Roccatagliata, who attended at the three inspections and authored all of the reports. Mr. Roccatagliata has worked as a warranty representative with the Program for fourteen years and has a degree in architectural technology.

The vendor relied on the evidence of its agent, Steve Papaikonomou, who is an employee of Town Wood Homes Limited.

1. interior walls

Schedule "A-1" to the Agreement states that the vendor agrees to include certain items in the purchase price including "standard semi gloss paint throughout". The Applicant states that the vendor used a flat latex on the interior walls instead of semi gloss paint. After complaining to the vendor about this error, the vendor offered to pay to the Applicant the sum of $200 which represents the difference in cost, to the vendor, between semi gloss latex and flat latex. The Applicant states that he wants a semi gloss finish on the walls because he has children and it is easier to clean. He specifically asked for semi gloss because this was the paint finish used in his previous home. He asserts that it is much harder to wash fingermarks and dirt from walls painted with a flat latex finish.

On cross-examination, the Applicant stated that he only wants damages awarded to cover the cost of re-painting the walls. He is content to leave the ceiling and trim as is. The estimated cost of re-painting the walls in the home is approximately $2200.

Mr. Roccatagliata testified that he was aware at the time of the conciliation that Schedule "A-1" to the Agreement provided for standard semi gloss paint throughout. He stated that the vendor made a substitution of materials and that according to section 19 of Reg. 892 to the Act, where a vendor makes a substitution, the item must be of "equal or better quality than the item referred to in the purchase agreement." It is Mr. Roccatagliata's view that the vendor's offer of $200 fairly compensates the Applicant for the difference in value between semi gloss latex and flat latex.

On cross-examination by the Applicant, Mr. Roccatagliata conceded that in his experience, semi gloss paint is more resistant to moisture and dirt than flat latex. Mr. Roccatagliata also agreed that it would cost a homeowner approximately $2200 to repaint the walls but that the cost to the vendor to repaint would be approximately $1200.

Mr. Papaikonomou confirmed that the cost differential between the two paint finishes was $200 at the time that the Agreement was signed. This is reflected on a Lead Sheet dated August 18, 1996, prepared by the vendor's sales representative (ex. 18). The Lead Sheet indicates that the base price of the house was $224,900. The extra items in the contract total $8475 for a stated grand total of $233,375. The final purchase price of the home was $230,000; a difference of $3375. Mr. Papaikonomou argues that the cost of the semi gloss paint was included in the purchase price and therefore the Applicant did not pay an additional $200 for this item. However, a Work Order produced by the vendor dated May 15, 1997 (Ex. 5, page 11) states:

“Homeowner did not receive the oil base painting as requested and as quoted in his offer and for which he paid $200.”

In the alternative, Mr. Papaikonomou asserts that the fact that one type of paint costs more does not necessarily make it a better product.

2. finishing defects on parquet floor

The Applicant identified two problem areas on the parquet flooring. Ex. 6 includes three photographs showing an area of parquet flooring in the Master Bedroom located directly below the northwestern window. The Applicant complains that there are black marks on the wood with lifting of the parquet. It is noted that black marks are evident in this photograph adjacent to the wall extending approximately four feet in length along the wall.

Ex. 8 is a photograph of an area of parquet flooring in the family room near a heat register. The Applicant asserts that this area of the floor is also blackened and lifted although this was not obvious from a review of the photographs filed.

The Applicant testified that he was told by Mr. Roccatagliata that these two blackened areas were caused by moisture accumulation. Specifically, he says that he was told that the heat registers were not producing enough heat below the windows to prevent condensation. As well, venetian blinds on the windows were blocking the heat. The Applicant states that he has venetian style blinds on all of his windows in the house. He does not accept the explanation that venetian blinds are responsible for moisture accumulation in only the master bedroom and family room.

The Applicant estimates that it will cost approximately $220 to repair the floors.

Mr. Roccatagliata testified that he addressed the Applicant's complaints of poor finishing defects and squeaks in the parquet floor at paragraph 3 of his Conciliation Report dated September 6, 1999 (Ex. 3, Tab 6).

Specifically, paragraph 3(c) describes an area in the Master Bedroom approximately one foot inside the door near the heat register where the floor has lifted. Paragraph 3(e) describes a six-foot area in the family room in front of the right windows near the right heat register. These items were deemed warrantable and have been repaired by the vendor.

It is Mr. Roccatagliata's opinion that the Applicant's present complaints of black marks are not warrantable because they relate to condensation and over accumulation of moisture due to insufficient venting by the windows. Mr. Roccatagliata could detect no other source of moisture which would explain the black marks.

3. warpage of master bedroom and master ensuite doors

The original concern with the master ensuite door was that it did not lock properly. This claim was deemed to be warrantable at the first inspection, and the vendor repaired the problem. The Applicant states that while the door locks, it is now warped at the top. The Applicant states that a serviceman told him that the framing of the door shifted, thereby causing the door to shift.

With respect to the master bedroom double doors, the Applicant complains that when the doors are latched, there is excessive rattling and movement of the doors when one enters the room. The Applicant filed photographs of the master ensuite door and the master bedroom doors (Ex. 10 and 9), however these photographs, unfortunately, were not of great assistance to the Tribunal.

Mr. Roccatagliata stated that the Applicant made no complaint about a warped door during the first year of possession. In any event, it is his opinion that the slight warpage of the door at the top is within acceptable standards of workmanship.

With respect to the master bedroom double doors, Mr. Roccatagliata agreed that there is some minor movement or “play” of the doors; however, it is his view that some play is necessary to facilitate the latching mechanism at the top of the door.

4. minor and major squeaks throughout the house

The Applicant states that all areas of the parquet floor that squeak were reported to Mr. Roccatagliata at the time of the conciliation. The Applicant further states that Mr. Roccatagliata made a determination that these squeaks were not covered under warranty, without documenting the specific location of the squeaks.

Mr. Roccatagliata states that he did consider the claim of minor and major squeaks at the time of the conciliation. At paragraph 3, ‘Items Not Covered Under Warranty’, he concludes:

Reason: It is the opinion that some of the squeaks heard are a result of transformation of loading on the floor joists and the noise heard is caused by the deflection of the wood joists. All the floor areas listed on the Schedule A1 of this report are the only locations where excessive floor movement is occurring.

Paragraph 3 of Schedule A1 refers to five specific areas of the floor under the heading “Complaint: some areas in the parquet floor have poor finishing defects.” It is the Applicant’s contention that these areas relate only to poor finishing defects and that the warranty representative forgot to address the concern about squeaks.

Mr. Roccatagliata testified that he dealt with the complaint of squeaks under “Items Not Covered Under Warranty” in his initial report and this has resulted in a misunderstanding between Mr. Roccatagliata and the Applicant. At the time of the re-inspection on November 4, 1999, the issue of minor and major squeaks was revisited. Mr. Roccatagliata stated that he and the Applicant went through the whole house again and new areas of squeaks were documented. Mr. Roccatagliata stressed that although these new areas were outside the one year warranty period, he gave the Applicant the “benefit of the doubt” in his report. At paragraph 19 of the Re-Inspection Report dated November 16, 1999 (Ex. 3, Tab 9) it states:

Observation/Comment – This was previously stated as item #3 sched. A2

Re-inspec – Nov. 4 – The builder is to repair the flooring at the following locations to eliminate the excessive movement – a) Approximately 4’-0” from the right set of windows in the master bedroom b) In the upper hall along the outside of the main washroom wall c) in the family room approximately 2’-0” from the hall along the kitchen wall d) in the kitchen approximately 2’-0” and 4’-0” from the sink.

Reason: Poor workmanship

Mr. Roccatagliata stated that to the best of his knowledge, the above identified squeaks have been repaired by the vendor. Further, he stated that any other squeaks reported at the time of the third inspection on April 20, 2000 were well outside the one year warranty period and therefore not warrantable.

Mr. Papaikonomou testified that the vendor has acted in good faith by repairing squeaks in the floor 2 ½ years after the date of possession. Mr. Papaikonomou produced a written checklist of items repaired following the November 4, 1999 re-inspection (Ex. 5, page 3). This document indicates that the four areas identified in the Re-Inspection Report at paragraph 19 were repaired. It also indicates that these repairs were initialed by the Applicant.

5. poor finish on kitchen cabinet doors

The Applicant states that the finish is peeling off the kitchen cabinets at the seams. The worst defects are found on the two cabinets directly under the sink and adjacent to the dishwasher. The builder’s serviceman told the Applicant that the problem was due to steam from the dishwasher. According to the Applicant, the warranty representative told him that the problem was caused by water spillage from the sinks. In addition, some of the kitchen drawers are evidencing peeling of the finish by the handles and the seams. The Applicant filed six photographs of the kitchen cabinets and drawers (Ex. 11). These photographs were taken two days before the commencement of this hearing – some 3 ½ years after the Applicant took possession.

The Applicant does not accept the explanation given to him by the warranty representative that the peeling of the finish is due to human oils and/or cleaning products. He states that human oils cannot be responsible for the peeling of the cabinets at the seams because the seams are generally not touched by hands. In addition, he states that cleaning products cannot be responsible for the peeling because the same product is used on all of the cabinets and the problem is only occurring in certain areas under the sink and beside the dishwasher.

Mr. Roccatagliata testified that the peeling of the finish on the kitchen cabinets has been caused by excessive humidity from the sink and the dishwasher. He stated that it is a common problem for cabinets situated beside dishwashers to peel in homes where the humidity levels are extreme.

On cross-examination, Mr. Roccatagliata agreed that if the manufacturer had not stained or sealed the cabinets properly then peeling might result. However, he went on to state that if this was the case, he would expect the peeling to be uniform on all of the cabinets.

Mr. Papaikonomou's evidence was most helpful on this point. He pointed out that the finish on the kitchen cabinets is exactly the same as the finish on the powder room cabinets " Princess Bleach Burgundy H-1" (Ex. 4, page "A-2-1"). Mr. Papaikonomou contends that the Applicant has made no complaint about the cabinets in the powder room, therefore the problem in the kitchen must be due to excessive humidity.

6. shingles under master bedroom buckling

This claim was denied because it was the opinion of the Program that it was not reported within the warranty period. The Applicant contends that this claim was made in his letter listing all first year end deficiencies (Ex. 4, page B-1 5):

"shingles on some areas of the roof are popping"
"one area underneath shingles is not levelled, seems to be sagging"

On cross-examination, the Applicant admitted that his letter does not refer specifically to the area of the roof under the master bedroom window. The Applicant also admitted that the builder did perform some repair work on the roof on May 2, 1998 (Ex. 3, Tab 5). However, it should be noted that the builder's Work Order dated May 2, 1998, does not mention any repairs to the shingles (Ex. 19).

Mr. Roccatagliata testified that this claim is not warrantable for three reasons. Firstly, the claim was not made within the one year warranty period; Mr. Roccatagliata stated that the Applicant first brought this concern to his attention at the re-inspection on November 4, 1999. Secondly, Mr. Roccatagliata states that the complaint about some shingles not being level was addressed in his Conciliation Report dated September 6, 199 (Ex. 3, Tab 6) at paragraph 13:

The following items were repaired prior to conciliation.

13. Complaint: one area underneath shingles is not levelled.

In addition, Mr. Roccatagliata stated that he made a handwritten notation "rep" as a short form for the word " repaired" in the margin of the Applicant's letter at the time of the conciliation on August 26, 1999. This notation is documented at Ex. 3, Tab 2.

Thirdly, Mr. Roccatagliata testified that even if the claim had been made in a timely manner, it is his opinion, based on his review of recent photographs of the roof (Ex. 12), that the workmanship is acceptable. Mr. Roccatagliata describes a slight lifting of the shingles near the bottom corners of the window which is caused by the counterflashing underneath. It is his opinion that this slight lifting is within acceptable standards of workmanship.

7. water accumulation in eavestrough and dent

The Applicant states that approximately 1 – 2 inches of water accumulates in the northwest corner of the eavestrough after every rainfall. He is concerned that this accumulation of water will attract dirt and insects. The Applicant admitted that no damage has been caused by the water accumulation in the eavestrough.

The Applicant also complains that there is a dent in the southwest corner of the eavestrough as illustrated in a photograph marked as Ex. 13. The Applicant states that both of the foregoing complaints were made on February 24, 1998.

Mr. Roccatagliata testified that in his view, the installation of the eavestroughs have been done to an acceptable tolerance of workmanship and materials. He stated that it is normal to have some accumulation of water in an eavestrough after a rainfall and that 1-2 inches of water will not cause any damage.

With respect to the dent at the southwest corner of the eavestroughs, Mr. Papaikonomou testified that this complaint was not mentioned in the Applicant's letter to the vendor following the pre-delivery inspection of the home on February 21, 1997. Mr. Papaikonomou states that it is impossible to attribute responsibility for the dent because it was not reported until one year after the Applicant took possession of the house.

8. heat registers have poor finish where they meet the floor.

The Applicant states that the heat registers are not finished properly at the level of the floor. His specific complaint is that the opening to the duct is rough, making it difficult to remove the grate for cleaning. The Applicant filed three photographs of heating registers without the grate in place (Ex. 14 and 15).

Mr. Roccatagliata testified that the ducts and heat registers in the Applicant's home are common in production homes. He stressed that neat workmanship is not required as long as the heat flow is preserved and the duct is generating adequate heat to the room. Mr. Roccatagliata also stated that when the removable grate is in place, the rough finish cannot be seen.

9. cracked grout on ensuite shower floor

The Applicant complains that there is a crack in the grout in the ensuite shower floor running from the drain to the back wall. He states that the vendor caulked the area, but the grout came apart after only two weeks.

On cross-examination, the Applicant agreed that his letter to the Program received February 24, 1998 refers only to separation of caulking around the tub and floor area. There is no mention in this letter of cracked grout in the shower stall.

Mr. Roccatagliata testified that this complaint was not raised at the time of the first inspection on August 26, 1999. Paragraph 12 of the Conciliation Report dated September 6, 1999 (Ex. 3, Tab 6) refers to caulking around the tub and floor area only. Repairs were done to these areas subsequent to the conciliation. Mr. Roccatagliata stated that the first time that the Applicant complained of a crack in the shower floor was in a letter dated October 11, 1999 (Ex. 3, Tab 8). At the time of the re-inspection on November 4, 1999, Mr. Roccatagliata made a notation to check to see if this complaint was reported in the first year. Although the complaint was not made within the first year, the builder agreed to fix the cracked grout as a courtesy to the Applicant.

10. basement floor cracks

The Applicant testified that there are cracks in his concrete basement floor. He stated that he understands that normal shrinkage of materials caused by drying can cause cracks in the floor, however he is concerned that there are different levels in the floor between the cracks. The Applicant filed two photographs of the cracks in the basement floor (Ex. 17). It is the view of this Tribunal that these photographs do not depict different levels in the floor.

Mr. Roccatagliata testified that in the thousands of homes that he has inspected during his career, he has never seen a concrete basement floor without cracks. He stated that these floor cracks are caused by normal shrinkage and therefore are excluded from warranty coverage. Mr. Roccatagliata does not recollect seeing any evidence of different levels in the floor between the cracks.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The onus is on the Applicant to show that his ten complaints fall within the one year warranty pursuant to section 13(1) of the Act. The onus is also on the Applicant to prove lack of proper workmanship or defect in materials.

1. interior walls

Schedule "A-1" to the Agreement states that the vendor agrees to include, as an upgrade, standard semi gloss paint throughout. Instead, the vendor used flat latex paint on the interior walls without the consent of the Applicant. The cost to the vendor to upgrade to semi gloss paint product is $200. This is the amount that the vendor has offered to pay to the Applicant to compensate him for the substitution of materials. It is uncontroverted that it would now cost the Applicant at least $2200 to re-paint his walls with semi gloss paint.

Section 19, Reg. 892 to the Act states:

Every vendor of a new home warrants to the purchaser that where the vendor makes a substitution with respect to an item that is referred to in the purchase agreement that is not an item that is to be selected by the purchaser, the item will be of equal or better quality than the item referred to in the purchase agreement.

The evidence before the Tribunal is that semi gloss paint costs more than flat latex paint and that semi gloss paint is more resistant to moisture and dirt than flat latex.

The functionality of the substituted item must be considered in an assessment of whether the substituted item is of equal or better quality than the specified item. This has been stated in the case of Mr. And Mrs. Stephen Wood (1994) CRAT 26, Pt. II, p. 671.

The Applicant did not choose semi gloss paint for aesthetic reasons. He chose semi gloss because of it's functionality. The evidence is clear that functionally, flat latex is not of equal or better quality than semi gloss paint. Accordingly, the Applicant is entitled to have standard semi gloss paint throughout his house as was contracted for in the Agreement.

2. poor finishing defects on parquet floor

The evidence before the Tribunal is that the black marks and lifting of the parquet flooring in the master bedroom and family room were caused by moisture due to insufficient venting by the windows. Accordingly, this item is excluded by virtue of s. 13(2)(e) which states:

(2) A warranty under subsection (1) does not apply in respect of,

...

(d) damage caused by dampness or condensation due to the failure by the owner to maintain adequate ventilation.

3. warpage of the master bedroom and ensuite doors

No complaint was made of a warped ensuite door within the first year warranty period therefore this item does not fall within s. 13(1) of the Act. The Tribunal accepts the evidence of the warranty representative that the minor movement of the master bedroom double doors is within acceptable standards of workmanship.

4. minor and major squeaks

The documentary and oral evidence shows that minor and major squeaks that were reported within the first year were repaired. The evidence also shows that four additional complaints of minor and major squeaks made at the time of re-inspection on November 4, 1999 were repaired by the vendor.

Counsel for the Program relies on the statement made in the Teitelman decision 16 CRAT (1987) 178 at 181:

"....no house, new or old, is perfect or is warranted to be perfect. Floors and stairs will squeak, wood will shrink and warp, cracks will appear and paint will peel. All that can be done is to keep these imperfections at reasonably acceptable levels. The limited warranty provided by the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act recognizes these facts, and this Tribunal is obliged to make it's findings in accordance with the statutory provisions and not otherwise."

This Tribunal concludes that the vendor has repaired all areas of parquet floor that were reported on or before November 4, 1999 to an acceptable level of workmanship and materials.

5. poor finish on kitchen cabinets

The uncontroverted evidence is that the peeling of the finish on the kitchen cabinets below the sink has been caused by excessive humidity and moisture from the dishwasher. The Applicant did not prove lack of proper workmanship or defect in materials. This claim is excluded from warranty by virtue of s. 13(2)(e).

6. shingles under the master bedroom window buckling

The Applicant has not satisfied this Tribunal that this claim was made within the one year warranty period. Furthermore, the only evidence before the Tribunal is that a slight lifting of the shingles near the bottom corners of the window is within acceptable standards of workmanship and materials.

7. Water accumulation in eavestrough and dent

The Applicant has not discharged his onus of proving that the eavestrough has not been installed to an acceptable level of workmanship nor has he proven that any damage has occurred as a result of the water accumulation.

With respect to the dent in the southwest eavestrough, this damage was not reported by the Applicant until one year after he took possession. Accordingly, it is impossible for this Tribunal to attribute responsibility to the vendor for this damage.

8. heat registers have poor finish

The Tribunal accepts the evidence of the warranty representative that the rough finish around the opening to the heat registers is common in production homes. Further, the Tribunal accepts the evidence that neat workmanship is not required because the grate covers the opening on the floor.

9. cracked grout on ensuite shower floor

The Applicant has not satisfied that Tribunal that this claim was made within the one year warranty period.

10. basement floor cracks

There is no clear evidence that there exists different levels between the cracks in the basement floor. There is evidence that cracks in a basement floor are common and within an acceptable standard of workmanship and materials. Accordingly, the Applicant has failed to discharge his onus of proving lack of proper workmanship or defect in materials.

ORDER:

Pursuant to the authority vested in it by section 16(3) of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act, this Tribunal directs the Program to complete the painting of the interior walls of the Applicant's home, 119 Galleon Crescent, Mississauga, Ontario with standard semi gloss latex paint, such work to be completed within three months of the release of this Order, and provided further that the Applicant provide the Program or its agents with reasonable access to the home to complete this work.

This Tribunal directs the Program to disallow all other claims.

APPEAL FROM A PROPOSAL OF THE REGISTRAR
UNDER THE MOTOR VEHICLE DEALERS ACT

TRIBUNAL: MARJORIE L. HILEY, VICE-CHAIR

APPEARANCES:

ANTHONY BAK, Counsel, representing the Applicant
AVIVA HARARI, Counsel, representing the Registrar, Motor Vehicle Dealers Act

DATES OF HEARING:

August 14 and 15, 2000

Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

The Registrar by his Proposal dated May 1, 2000 proposed to revoke the registration of the Applicant on the grounds of odometer tampering, failure to maintain books and records and failure to operate from registered premises. The Applicant by his letter of May 11, 2000 requested a hearing before the Tribunal. The hearing was held on August 14 and 15, 2000.

ISSUES:

Does the Registrar have reasonable grounds to believe that the Applicant will fail to carry on business in accordance with the law and with honesty and integrity?

EVIDENCE:

There was an initial issue about the testimony of a witness via the telephone. Counsel for the Registrar was to check to see if the witness could not come at another time even if it split the case so that there was the opportunity of personal cross-examination. If not the Tribunal would rule on the issue. Later in the hearing it was determined that the witness could testify in person and the matter did not need a decision of the Tribunal.

Opening Statement of the Registrar:

Counsel for the Registrar stated that the Registrar wished to revoke the registration of the Applicant who was operating as Five Star Motors, a sole proprietorship. This proprietorship had been registered in November, 1991. The registered premises for the dealer was unit 55, 4801 Keele Street. It was the position of the Registrar that the Applicant was not operating from those premises.

Counsel stated that the investigator for the Registrar attempted to inspect the books and records of the dealership but was unable to complete the inspection. The books and records were never complete. The inspector was obstructed, according to the Counsel, because the Applicant failed to provide access to the complete books and records.

Counsel stated that the main issue was the odometer misrepresentation. The Applicant purchased cars at the wholesale auction. The cars were sent to the United States of America ("U.S.A."). There the cars were titled in Virginia. There was a discrepancy between the odometer reading at the time of purchase and at the time of being titled in Virginia. There were thirteen incidences of this happening.

It was stated by Counsel for the Registrar that the Applicant should not be registered due to his conduct. Counsel alleged that the Applicant has continued to show non compliance with his duties as a registrant. Counsel stated that the Act does not distinguish between a registration as a retail or wholesale dealer.

Opening Statement of Counsel for the Applicant:

Counsel stated that there are four issues before the Tribunal:

1. the evidence of obstruction – the Tribunal needs to look at the particulars. The language of obstruction does not enter into this matter.
2. Notice of Particulars and Further Particulars: Six of the allegations deal with technical or administrative breaches. Even if the Tribunal is satisfied that there is a breach in these matters Counsel for the Applicant stated that the sanction of revocation of the licence is too harsh a penalty. The proper remedy, according to Counsel for the Applicant, is to have a conditional order.
3. The thirteen counts of odometer tampering: Counsel for the Applicant stated that there was a lot of "finger pointing" but no direct evidence that the Applicant is a party or principal in any illegal act. The evidence, according to Counsel, is hearsay and is unreliable as there are reasons for the misrepresentation of the facts. There is a presumption of innocence under the Charter of Rights. Odometer tampering is a criminal act. Though hearsay is permissible under the Statutory Powers Procedures Act the Tribunal must decide what weight to give to it.
4. The Act is a public protection statute. Counsel stated that no one has been misled or inconvenienced by the Applicant's actions. Although there might be some technical breaches, no one has been injured. Here the Applicant is not conducting business with the public.

Testimony of Robert V. Whitmore:

Mr. Whitmore is a senior special agent with the Department of Motor Vehicles, Commonwealth of Virginia. He has held that position since 1993. Prior to that time he was a Sargeant in Investigations with the police department of Orange County, New York.

Mr. Whitmore testified that in Virginia an individual has to supply proof of ownership, fill out a Form 17A and then obtain the Virginia registration paper.

Mr. Whitmore examined a number of documents that had been submitted as exhibits in this proceeding dealing with the thirteen vehicles in question. These included a certificate of record from the Department of Motor Vehicles, Commonwealth of Virginia Form 17A (front and back pages, though in some cases both pages were not available) and the Province of Ontario registration permit (front and back pages, though in some cases both pages were not available). Mr. Whitmore explained that when pages were missing it was likely the error of the clerk who had microfiched the originals. In some cases there were original Ontario registration permits and original Form 17A forms were submitted as exhibits, and in those circumstances Mr. Whitmore reviewed those originals as well as their microfiche copies.

Regarding a 1998 Ford vehicle with an Ontario registration permit number 92760368, (car #1), Mr. Whitmore stated that the owner on the Form 17A was AceHy, a dealership registered in Virginia. Both the Ontario registration form and the Form 17A showed an odometer reading of 39414.

Mr. Whitmore explained that the purchaser would enter the Vehicle Identification Number ("VIN"), the vehicle permit number and the odometer reading from the Ontario registration permit on the Form 17A. The purchaser would then sign and date the form and provide it to a clerk at a motor vehicle office for it to be checked and then given Virginia title. There is a great deal of reliance placed on the information provided by the Ontario registration permit.

Mr. Whitmore stated that Virginia uses miles rather than kilometers so the mileage on the Ontario car would have to be calculated on the basis of .62 km to a mile.

Regarding a 1996 Ford with a registration permit number of 92760369 (car #2), Mr. Whitmore stated that the odometer reading on the Ontario registration permit was 38336 while on the Form 17A it read 43462. He felt that one explanation for this discrepancy was that the dealer could have driven the vehicle for some time prior to formally applying for its title. The original documents for this vehicle were before the Tribunal.

Regarding a 1997 Ford with a registration permit number of 91047595 (car #3), the odometer reading on the Form 17A was 38483. It could not be compared to the Ontario registration permit due to a missing back page for that permit. There were no original documents for this vehicle.

Regarding a 1998 Ford with a registration permit number of 92752523 (car #4), the Form 17A and the Ontario registration permit showed an odometer reading of 34,843. The original documents for this vehicle were before the Tribunal.

Regarding a 1997 Ford with a registration permit number of 89904733 (car #5), the Form 17A showed an odometer reading of 37869. It could not be compared to the Ontario registration permit due to a missing back page for that permit. There were no original documents for this vehicle.

Regarding a 1998 Ford with a registration permit number of 94267998 (car #6), the Form 17A and the Ontario registration permit showed odometer readings of 44659. The original documents for this vehicle were before the Tribunal.

Regarding a 1998 Ford with a registration permit number of 92753238 (CAR #7), the Form 17A and the Ontario registration permit showed odometer readings of 39355. The odometer statement signed by a representative of Global Leasing showed an odometer reading of 39355. There were no original documents for this vehicle.

Regarding a 1997 Ford with a registration permit number of 94267999 (car #8), the Form 17A showed an odometer reading of 33969. The Ontario registration permit had no odometer reading on it. The original documents for this vehicle were before the Tribunal.

Regarding a 1997 Ford with a registration permit number 92533365 (car #9), the Form 17A and the Ontario registration permit showed odometer readings of 37314. The odometer statement signed by a representative of Global Leasing showed an odometer reading of 37314. There were no original documents for this vehicle.

Regarding a 1996 Ford with a registration permit number of 93349185 (car #10), the Form 17A and the Ontario registration permit showed odometer readings of 52760. The odometer statement signed by a representative of Global Leasing showed an odometer reading of 52760. There were no original documents for this vehicle.

Regarding a 1997 Ford with a registration permit number of 92533366 (car #11), the Form 17A and the Ontario registration permit showed odometer readings of 39455. The original documents for this vehicle were before the Tribunal.

Regarding a 1997 Ford with a VIN number of 1FMDU34E4VU1336818 (car # 12), (this could be slightly incorrect as the microfiche copy was very difficult to read) the odometer reading on the Ontario registration permit was 32616. There was no odometer reading on the Form 17A. There were no original documents for this vehicle.

Regarding a 1997 Ford with a registration permit number of 90233428 (car #13), the Form 17A and the Ontario registration permit showed odometer readings of 39012. There were no original documents for this vehicle.

Mr. Whitmore explained the VIN numbers on the above mentioned vehicles as they appeared on the Ontario registration permits and the Form 17A forms. Four of the vehicles did not have sufficient documentation to permit him to make this comparison. The other nine vehicles had the same VIN number on the Ontario registration permit as was shown on the Form 17A.

Mr. Whitmore testified that there was a consent search of AceHy Enterprise's offices. One hundred and sixty one blank odometer disclosure statement forms in the name of Five Star Motors with the address of 131 Snowshow Crescent, Thornhill, Ontario were located there. These type of forms are used between the wholesale dealers to indicate the odometer readings of the cars.

Mr. Whitmore had an interview with a Mr. Gormic of AceHy. Initially Mr. Gormic disclaimed any knowledge of these blank forms. Then Mr. Gormic stated that he had wanted Mr. Barak to fill out these forms so that he could complete his paperwork on the deals. AceHy had the documents respecting the Virginia title to these vehicles and who were the vehicles' purchasers.

Mr. Whitmore stated that Mr. Barak has been indicted by the Grand Jury for one count of conspiracy, motor vehicle fraud.

Mr. Whitmore stated that he had some knowledge of the State of Florida seizing three vehicles belonging to a dealer, Vinlow Motors. Mr. Carstaria of that dealership had been arrested. Mr. Whitmore stated that he had been told that Mr. Carstari told the Florida officials that Mr. Carstari knew Mr. Barak's brother. From that relationship, Mr. Carstari established a business relationship with Mr. Barak. Mr. Carstari would purchase odometer disclosures from Mr. Barak, and Mr. Barak would get the Florida titles and then drive the vehicles to Florida.

Under cross-examination, Mr. Whitmore stated that his background was 21.5 years with the police force. He was 2 years as a deputy in the courts, 8 years on the road, and 11.5 years as an investigator, of which 5 of those years was as a Sergeant. He was familiar with criminal prosecutors and aware of plea bargains and courtroom deliberations.

Mr. Whitmore stated that Form 17A for the 1998 Ford with the title number of 92760368 (car #1), was a preprinted form for AceHy Enterprises filled out by a Mr. Gormis in the State of Virginia. Mr. Barak did not fill out this form. While the odometer reading is 39414, the form does not state the unit of measurement. As well, there is no check in any of the three boxes following the odometer reading. Mr. Whitmore agreed that a clerk would check this form prior to processing it and that this form was not properly filled out prior to registration.

Mr. Whitmore agreed that the cars in question were purchased either by Global Leasing or AceHy Enterprises. The 7501 is a form used for customs purposes when a car crosses the border. There was no such document for this car. Mr. Whitmore testified that due to this particular case, it is now obligatory to have such a customs form. This new requirement came into force in the State of Virginia approximately two months prior to August, 2000.

Regarding the Application for Transfer document, Mr. Whitmore agreed that the signature on it plus an initial by the odometer reading was in blue ink, but the rest of the form was in black ink. The Form 17A for this vehicle was also in black ink.

Mr. Whitmore agreed that the easiest way to register ownership in Virginia was to have the Ontario registration form filled out.

Regarding the 1996 Ford Number 92760369 (car #2), Mr. Whitmore agreed that the VIN number had not been put on the Form 17A. There was an odometer reading of 43,462 with no unit of measurement. It was registered in Virginia in February 18, 2000. The Ontario registration had an odometer reading of 38,386. Part of the paperwork was in black ink and Mr. Barak's signature and the date was in blue ink.

Regarding the 1997 Ford number 91047595 (car #3), there was no check off in the boxes following the odometer reading on the Form 17A.

Regarding the 1998 Ford number 92752523 (car #4), there was an odometer reading struck off and a new reading inserted. The ownership document had two different colours of ink.

Regarding the 1997 Ford number 89904733 (car #5), there was only the front page of the Ontario registration which does not show the odometer reading. None of the boxes following the odometer reading on the Form 17A were checked off.

Regarding the 1998 Ford number 94267998 (car #6), none of the boxes following the odometer reading on the Form 17A were checked off. The Ontario registration had two different colours of ink, with Mr. Barak's signature and the date being in blue ink and the rest in black ink.

Regarding the 1998 Ford number 92753238 (car #7), none of the boxes following the odometer reading were checked off. The odometer statement was filled out by a representative from Global Leasing.

Regarding the 1997 Ford number 94267999 (car #8), the Ontario registration was left blank for odometer reading. Such a reading is necessary prior to registration of the car in Virginia.

Regarding the 1997 Ford number 92533365 (car #9), there were no boxes checked off after the odometer reading on the Form 17A. The odometer statement was signed by a representative of Global Leasing and their stamp was on the Ontario registration form.

Regarding the 1996 Ford number 93344185 (car #10), there were the same document defects as the previous vehicle.

Regarding the 1997 Ford number 92533366 (car #11), there were no boxes checked off following the odometer reading.

Regarding the 1997 Ford number 90233427 (car #12), there is no back page to the Ontario registration and no odometer reading. The signature on the front page of the registration form does not seem the same as the other signatures on the other registration forms.

Regarding the 1997 Ford number 90233428 (car #13), it is on an old Form 17A which says the odometer reading is correct unless there is something saying it is an exception.

Mr. Whitmore examined the preprinted forms for the odometer disclosure statements. He stated that an American printing company printed the forms in Virginia. There were one hundred copies of the form. There were discovered at the offices of AceHy Enterprises. At first, Mr. Gormis denied knowledge of the forms, but later he stated that his partner had them printed. The invoice for the forms show Five Star as the purchaser of the documents.

Mr. Whitmore testified that Mr. Gormis has been indicted in the U.S.A. for 6 felonies, including as false application for Virginia title. As well, he is charged with 3 misdemeanours. The penalties would be a maximum of two years in a state prison plus a $5,000.00 fine. If Mr. Gormis assisted the prosecution, he could receive a more lenient position on sentencing. Mr. Whitmore has found Mr. Gormis not to be a truthful person.

He has lied to Mr. Whitmore. There is no transcript of Mr. Gormis's statements before this Tribunal.

Mr. Whitmore testified that Mr. Caricas is on probation. Mr. Whitmore has no documents respecting the case being handled by the State of Florida.

Testimony of David Wagner:

Mr. Wagner is an investigator with the Ontario Motor Vehicle Industry Council ("OMVIC") since May, 1997. Prior to that, he was a Metropolitan Toronto police officer for 22 years, 8 years in traffic and almost 15 years dealing with auto theft and the fraud unit. As well, Mr. Wagner has been licenced as a sole proprietor/manager under the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act for the past 8 years.

He became involved in this case at the request of Louise Gingras in December, 1999. He did a follow up investigation through Carfax which showed the third party source of the vehicle, the lien, and write off data, and the title data.

Mr. Wagner explained that the RIN is the registrant identification number. It is assigned to a particular individual or firm in the motor vehicle industry.

Mr. Wagner testified that he investigated the sale of vehicles to the United States. He found data in both the State of Virginia and the State of Florida.

Although Mr. Wagner had received the notes provided by Louise Grangras as to her contacts with Mr. Barak, Mr. Wagner was never able to set up an appropriate time to meet with Mr. Barak. On a couple of occasions Mr. Barak never contacted him despite saying he would do so. Mr. Wagner drove by the premises on a couple of occasions. He saw the name Five Star Motors posted on a sign outside the building. It was a small sign in the glass door of unit 55.

Mr. Wagner testified that he contacted Mr. Wagner and another investigator in Virginia and he was sent a number of documents on the vehicles in question. Based on that documentation, he felt there had been some misrepresentation on the documents that were leaving Ontario.

Mr. Wagner executed a search warrant dated March 27, 2000 on March 29, 2000 at 4801 Keele Street, Toronto, Ontario. At that time, he found no documents relating to Five Star Motors. All the property at that premises was identified as belonging to Manny's Auto Repair. Even the desk calendar on the desk in the premises was identified as belonging to Manny. Mr. Wagner's notes on this matter indicate that he spoke to a Mr. Butavia (Manny). He was told that Mr. Barak had been using the premises for about 5 years for no rent. Mr. Butavia stated that Mr. Barak gets parts from UPS in the United States. Mr. Butavia also said that he told Mr. Barak to fix up his problem with OMVIC.

Mr. Wagner testified that he obtained a search warrant to search the UPS offices. There documents were seized of which copies were made for Mr. Wagner. These documents show shipping records from a Higgins Auto Wrecking in the USA of a number of 1996 Explorer clusters to Five Star Motors at 4801 Keele Street unit 54.

Mr. Wagner testified that unit 54 and 55 are joined. The units are in an industrial complex with about 80 to 90 units. One may drive up to each individual unit. Access through the door at unit 54 as the door to unit 55 is closed. There is an office behind that closed door.

Mr. Wagner testified that he telephoned Higgins Auto Wrecking in Bakersfield, California. He was faxed a number of documents that related to 4 speed head clusters. The mileage was included with each cluster.

Mr. Wagner testified that the conversion factor from kilometres to miles is .6214.

Mr. Wagner stated that the Canadian Auction Group ("CGA") obtained a 1998 Ford Explorer (car #1) from Ford Credit Canada. It had an odometer reading of 118,253 km or 73,482 miles. The Auction Group sold this vehicle to Five Stars Motors. The Form 17A showed the odometer reading as 39,414 which is a difference of 34,608 miles.

Car Source sold car #2 to Five Star Motors. The Canadian Auction Group document shows the odometer reading to be 157,917 km or 92,129 miles. The Form 17A showed the odometer reading as 43,462 and the Ontario registration form showed the odometer reading as 38,386.

The Canadian Auction Group sold Car #3 to Five Star Motors. The CAG document shows the odometer reading to be 112,958 or 38,493 miles. The Form 17A showed the odometer reading at 38, 483 miles or a difference of 31,699 miles.

The Canadian Auction Group sold car #4 to Five Star Motors. The CAG document shows the odometer reading to be 103,328 km or 64,208 miles. The Form 17A showed the odometer reading at 34,843 miles or a difference of 29,365 miles.

The Canadian Auction Group sold car #5 to Five Star Motors. The CAG document shows the odometer reading to be 137,687 km or 85,458 miles. The Form 17A showed the odometer reading at 37,869 miles or a difference of 47,589 miles.

The Canadian Auction Group sold Car #6 to Five Star Motors. The CAG document shows the odometer reading to be 194,173 km or 120,659 miles. The Form 17A showed the odometer reading at 44,659 miles or a difference of 76,000 miles.

The Canadian Auction Group sold car #7 to Five Star Motors. The CAG document shows the odometer reading to be 179,458 km or 111,515 miles. The Form 17A showed the odometer reading at 39,355 miles or a difference of 72,160 miles.

The Canadian Auction Group sold car #8 to Five Star Motors. The CAG document shows the odometer reading to be 131,703 kms or 81,839 miles. The Form 17A showed the odometer reading at 33,964 miles or a difference of 47,875 miles.

Under cross-examination Mr. Wagner stated that he found no bills of sale from AceHy Enterprises or Global Leasing.

Mr. Wagner testified that the Ministry of Transportation (Ontario) search showed the address of Mr. Barak to be 72 Peter Andrew Crescent, Thornhill. That was the same address as the address for the RIN # 101856153 registered under his name. A second RIN# 111865157 under his name also had that address. The blank odometer disclosure statement showed the address of Five Star Motors to be 132 Snowshow Crescent, Thornhill. Mr. Wagner went to the Snowshow Crescent address and found a number of vehicles there registered under the 111865157 RIN number. He believed that Mr. Barak lived at the Snowshow Crescent address. Five Star Motors had a RIN # 108376523 with an address of 72 Peter Andrew Crescent Thornhill. Mr. Wagner stated that a dealer as a sole proprietorship should only have one RIN number.

Mr. Wagner stated that there is no legislative authority for a "trade freeze". It is an administrative measure. He stated that at the time he executed the warrant there was a sign for Five Star Motors on display at 4801 Keele Street, Toronto, Ontario.

Mr. Wagner agreed that there was nothing illegal in selling vehicles outside of Ontario. He stated that the thrust of his investigation dealt with the odometer discrepancies. If there are fifty incidents of discrepancy with an odometers, he does not treat the matters as random incidents.

Mr. Wagner stated that when he went to the premises of Five Star Motors, he did not make a written inventory of the contents of the room as Mr. Butavai had said everything in it was his. Mr. Wagner did not see anything that looked like paperwork for a dealership.

Mr. Wagner stated that he had attended at 72 Peter Andrew Crescent in Thornhill perhaps four or five times. It was a residential area. He did not speak to anyone inside that residence.

Testimony of Menhem Butavai:

Mr. Butavai is a registrant under the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act. He has his business at 4801 Keele Street in Toronto, unit 54 and 55. He has been there since 1991. Mr. Barak used his address and office to get his licence as a motor vehicle dealer. Mr. Barak does wholesale, not retail sales, but Mr. Butavai does not know exactly what Mr. Barak does in the business. There is no rental agreement between Mr. Butavai and Mr. Barak, and Mr. Barak does not pay rent.

Mr. Butavai testified that he usually does not see Mr. Barak. Sometimes he takes deliveries on behalf of Mr. Barak. These are packages sent via UPS. Some of them were from OMVIC. Mr. Butavai stated he would call Mr. Barak and tell him to come and get his mail.

There was a sign posted for Five Star Motors at 4801 Keele Street, but Mr. Butavai took it down. He was upset about the inquiries regarding Five Star Motors, and he wanted Mr. Barak to do something about this situation. Mr. Butavai stated that he spoke to a Mr. Wagner on March 29, 2000. Mr. Butavai does not know if Mr. Barak works with odometers. Regarding any instructions from Mr. Barak, Mr. Butavai stated that Mr. Barak told him not to show anyone from OMVIC any material unless they asked for it.

Mr. Butavai testified that there is a separate door for unit 55 that can be used. Mr. Butavai did not know if there were any goods belonging to Mr. Barak, in particular a box of paper, in that unit. Mr. Barak does not have his own telephone line there.

Testimony of Matthew Rispin:

Mr. Rispin is the operations manager for the Canadian Auction Group, Toronto branch. He testified that only licenced dealers can purchase at its auction.

The process at the auction is as follows: the vehicle is taken to the marshalling area, the dash card is filled in with the odometer reading and VIN, this dash card information is then entered into the computer system by a person on a headset speaking to the computer person, the information is verified, the odometer reading is put onto the contract, and a bill of sale is generated.

This auction house processes 1100 to 1500 cars per week. A contract is always printed, but the filing system to retrieve the contracts can be disorganized. A number of the contracts for cars involved in the hearing had no original bill of sale as it could not be located. The auctioneer writes down the selling price, and the purchaser signs the contract which also states the GST. The purchaser supplies a cheque. A copy of the contract is given to the buyer, the seller and the auction house.

Regarding the ownership papers, the process is usually that the seller turns in the ownership papers by Friday at noon. Then the auction house does the paperwork to transfer the ownership. The seller does not receive the cheque until the ownership papers have been received by the auction house.

Often the ownership papers have not been filled out by the seller, and the auction house will complete the paperwork and sign it. The Ministry of Transportation for Ontario permits the auction house to do this.

Mr. Rispin stated that Ford Credit supplies the ownership papers right at the time of the auction sale. On cars from Ford Credit, the ownership papers are not completed by the auction house but by the buyer who is to fill in the odometer reading on the transfer document.

The auction house keeps files on the licensed dealers. Information as to changes of address for dealers must be provided by the dealers themselves. Any mail is sent to the last known address on the file for that dealer.

Testimony of Louise Gingras:

Ms. Gingras is an inspector with OMVIC. On September 10, 1999 she attended at units 54 and 55, 4801 Keele Street to conduct an inspection of Five Star Motors. This was a routine inspection and was done without an appointment. The door was locked at unit 55, and the sign stated to enter via unit 54 which she did. In unit 54 there was a waiting area and an office to the right and also a garage area. Ms. Gingras stated that she spoke to a mechanic to inquire about the whereabouts of Five Star Motors. He showed her a room in front of the door to unit 55. Inside that room were mechanic's clothes, supplies, shelving and repair parts but no desk, filing cabinet or chair or any telephone or business cards for Five Star Motors.

Ms. Gingras testified that she thought this room was a storage area for the garage due to the boxes and materials in it. As she could not see any area for Five Star Motors to conduct business and she could not review the books and records, she decided to put a trade freeze on the dealership.

On September 13, 1999 Mr. Barak attended at the offices of OMVIC. Ms. Gingras interviewed him. She informed him that the premises were not conducive to a retail sales operation, but as most of his sales were wholesale, he needed to sign a wholesale affidavit. Mr. Barak told her that he would sign such an affidavit and that he would get a desk and keep his records at the Unit 55, 4801 Keele Street location.

On September 14, 1999 Ms. Gingras met Mr. Barak at unit 55. There was a table and chair there amidst the boxes. Mr. Barak gave her some purchase bills of sale and some retail bills of sale but no wholesale bills nor sales bills for the actual sale. She told him that she wanted documents from the customs brokers and the sales contracts.

On September 16, 1999 Mr. Barak attended at the offices of OMVIC and provided Ms. Gingras with a fax of an invoice from a broker in Niagara Falls. He also provided her with some retail bills of sale which showed that the cars were shipped to the United States. Mr. Barak told her that sometimes he drove the cars into the United States and sometimes he used this broker in Niagara Falls. He provided Ms. Gingras with a business card of a dealer in the United States but no customs documents or bills of sale for export.

Ms. Gingras subsequently investigated through CARFAX the purchase bills of sale Mr. Barak gave to Ms. Gingras. Most of the cars involved were Ford Expeditions. She found odometer discrepancies between the information provided on these cars using CARFAX and the information on the purchase bills given to her by Mr. Barak.

Under cross-examination, Ms. Gingras stated that during her three years as an inspector she has taken the certificate course offered to the dealers. She explained that a trade freeze means that the dealer is prevented from transferring ownership on the cars in his possession. A trade freeze is not specifically mentioned in the legislation, and it does not require a court order. In deciding on a trade freeze, Ms. Gingras did consult with her supervisor. The trade freeze was lifted when Mr. Barak got a desk and chair for the office. Ms. Gingras stated that the trade freeze was not related to the issue of the records of the company.

Ms. Gingras stated that she is more lenient about the office premises when it is a wholesale operation. She stated that she did not know the requirements of US customs when cars are brought into the United States to be sold there. Ms. Gingras could not remember if the discrepancies she noted when she checked on the CARFAX related to the thirteen vehicles that are the subject of this Proposal. She stated that Mr. Barak did swear to a wholesale affidavit and that his operation is now a wholesale operation.

Testimony of Mary Jane South:

Ms. South is the Deputy Registrar for OMVIC since the inception of OMVIC in 1997. Prior to that, she had worked for a number of years at the Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations (Ontario) including being the Registrar and Deputy Registrar for the branch dealing with the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act.

She stated that the purpose of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act is that of a public protection statute. The public wants to have a level of confidence in motor vehicle dealerships and their salespeople. There is a requirement that the dealerships and salespeople show financial responsibility. Under section 5 of the Motor Vehicle Dealers

Act, you are entitled to registration if you can demonstrate that you act with honesty, integrity, in accordance with the law and with financial responsibility.

Ms. South stated that the registered premises of Five Star Motors is 4801 Keele Street unit 55. That was its registered premises in September, 1999. OMVIC's records show Mr. Barak's address to be 72 Peter Andrew Crescent, Thornhill. There has been no record of any change in the addresses for Mr. Barak or Five Star Motors.

Ms. South testified that a trade freeze is an administrative step. Each dealer has an active number with the Ministry of Transportation (Ontario). OMVIC would deactivate that number in their system and say that dealer number is not on file and please call OMVIC. Then the Ministry would call OMVIC and request approval to transfer the vehicle. Their authorization then overrides the deactivation in the OMVIC system. Trade freezes are used when there are issues as to the trade premises. The dealer is still deemed to be registered under the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act (Ontario) even with the trade freeze. Regulation 801 under that statute deals with the issue of the premises and states that the premises have to be approved by the Registrar, Motor Vehicle Dealers Act. Besides the approval of the Registrar the dealership has to have the approval of the local municipality to allow retail sales at that address. Ms. South testified that if a dealer is a wholesale operation, the dealer must have an office and must maintain the dealer's books and records at the premises. She testified that a dealer cannot operate a motor vehicle business out of a residence.

Ms. South explained that the concept of "phantom dealer" means one who operates away from a business premises. In such cases there are problems of disclosure and gaining access to the books and records of that dealer.

Under section 10 and 11 of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act, the Registrar can inspect the dealer's books and records. Often these inspections are done without prior arrangement. Under the Highway Traffic Act the garage register must be stored at the place of business.

Ms. South stated that the Registrar acts in a preventative fashion and does not require complaints to investigate activities such as odometer rollbacks. Those who export cars are not exempt from the requirements of the Act and Regulations. She cited section 16(2) of Regulation 801 which does not exempt the books and records for used motor vehicles being exported.

Ms. South testified that she is concerned about the actions of Mr. Barak. She felt he is responsible for at least an act of omission in allowing odometer rollbacks. There is a lack of documentation.

Under cross-examination Ms. South stated that Mr. Barak has been registered since 1991. The certification course became effective as of November, 1999 and those registered prior to that time are not required to take it.

Testimony of Mr. Barak:

Counsel for Mr. Barak stated that Mr. Barak would not be testifying at the hearing. Currently there are Grand Jury investigations in the United States. There have been indictments for Mr. Gormic and AceHy Enterprise.

Counsel for Mr. Barak stated that there is some uncertainty as to the applicability of section 5 of the Evidence Act (Ontario) to these American jurisdictions. Accordingly, Mr. Barak exercised his right to remain silent. There had not been time to consult with legal counsel in Virginia on these issues.

Submissions:

Counsel for the Registrar:

Counsel for the Registrar stated that the issues are as follows:

1. conduct of Mr. Barak in operating Five Star Motors
2. participation of Mr. Barak in odometer rollbacks
3. his compliance with the requirements for books and records
4. whether or not he is operating from a licensed premises
5. his failure to cooperate with the inspector regarding access to his books and records

Counsel stated that the onus rests with the Registrar to establish he has the grounds under the legislation to deny registration. The Divisional Court decision of Brenner and the Registrar of Motor Vehicle Dealers and Salesman (orally) heard March 9, 1983 sets out the test in this matter. This is a hearing as to the continuation of Mr. Barak's registration.

Counsel stated that the Tribunal must look at the totality of the evidence, not at each incidence in a vacuum. The conduct, according to Counsel, is interrelated and must be viewed in its totality.

Regarding the failure to maintain books and records, Counsel stated that it is an important tool for the Registrar to inspect and ensure compliance. Here, there were no documents available which is akin to non compliance under sections 10 and 11 of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act. Counsel referred to the Markview decision. Books and records must be kept at the premises and an inspector must be allowed access to them. Counsel referred to the evidence that on September 14 during a pre arranged meeting, Mr. Wagner found no such documents at the registered premises.

Counsel stated that under section 16 of Regulation 801, bills of sale are required as part of the business records. There is no exemption for sales outside of Ontario. For instance, the dealer needs to record the distance travelled by the vehicle in the records. Under section 19 of Regulation 801, replacement odometers are to have records kept. No such records were provided by Mr. Barak.

Counsel stated that under section 15 of Regulation 801, records are to be kept for at least two years of reconditioning or repairs. Here, Mr. Barak provided some limited number of retail contracts and some purchase of sale documents. He provided none of the subsequent sales bills when the vehicles were sold. Counsel contended that the lack of documentation was a deliberate act to cover up the discrepancies in the odometer readings. This, in the opinion of Counsel, shows a lack of integrity.

Regarding the access to documents, Mr. Barak has a duty to provide the inspector with existing documents. If the documents do not exist, they ought to exist.

Regarding the premises, Counsel stated that section 3(4) and section 13(4) of Regulation 801 deals with the requirement to operate a dealership from registered premises. There is a requirement under section 13(4)(b) to have an office. Here, Mr. Butavai allowed Mr. Barak to use his address and accepted deliveries for him. Counsel stated that Mr. Barak breached the requirement for an office and also did not provide the Registrar with up-to-date information as to his address. Although Mr. Barak's RIN indicated one address, Mr. Wagner, the investigator, felt that Mr. Barak was at another address.

Regarding the odometer issue, Counsel stated that the application for transfers appear to have the signature of Mr. Barak. It is in the normal course of business that the odometer reading is recorded on the documentation. Under section 11 of the Highway Traffic Act, it is the responsibility of the seller to complete the paperwork. Canadian Auction Group acted as an agent, but the seller needs to complete the section regarding the odometer reading.

Counsel cited the Herman case as to how odometer readings affect the value of the vehicle. There is no explanation given by Mr. Barak for the inconsistencies of the odometer readings. It is irrelevant whether or not there are victims. Counsel cited the Vogelsburg Divisional Court case.

Counsel felt this was an appropriate case for revocation of the registration rather than terms and conditions as the conduct of the Applicant will continue if he is permitted his registration. This is a regulated industry and odometer tampering is a serious issue. Mr. Barak showed no good faith when he failed to provide bills of sale for the sales of the vehicles. This is not one mistake. Thirteen vehicles have been the subject of this hearing.

By Counsel for the Applicant:

Counsel stated that the concept of an office is not defined in the legislation. Mr. Barak did make his office more presentable. He was not conducting a retail business. OMVIC was aware of his business address.

Regarding the issue of records, Counsel stated that there were no wholesale records to provide to the inspector. It is the responsibility of the purchaser to provide customs documents. The issue of maintenance of documents can be remedied under terms and conditions to the registration.

Regarding the issue of the odometers, Counsel stated that the allegations regarding the conduct of Mr. Barak were made by those who were either convicted or being charged in the United States. There were no transcripts or affidavits to prove these allegations. Mr. Barak provided the information on the transfer documents, and there was no evidence that he intentionally misrepresented the odometer readings. Indeed, the documents show that different colour of ink was used which indicates that more than one person filled in the forms. Original documents are missing and some documentation is incomplete. One could characterize this situation as Mr. Barak being careless. There is evidence that numerous dealers permit the auction staff to fill out the transfer of ownership forms.

Counsel stated that it was wrong to take away the livelihood of a person based on poor evidence and hearsay. The stronger the penalty the greater the need to be vigilant in assessing the evidence.

Counsel stated that the other issues can be dealt with by a conditional order. The Applicant should not lose his licence due to his sloppiness.

ANALYSIS OF LAW AND FACTS:

This is a case whereby the Registrar, Motor Vehicle Dealers Act, wishes to revoke the registration of Aron Ehud Barak who carries on business under the name of Five Star Motors. The Registrar contends that Mr. Barak's conduct violates the requirements under section 5 of the Act that he act with honesty, integrity and in accordance with law. There was no evidence presented that dealt with the financial responsibilities of Mr. Barak and his business.

The motor vehicle industry is a regulated industry and those who wish to sell vehicles or operate a dealership must be registered in accordance with the legislation. Such people must also abide by the requirements in the Act and its regulations as to the maintenance of records and the need for a business premises distinct from their residence. It is trite law to state that the Tribunal in considering the proposal of the Registrar must abide by the rationale stated in Brenner v Ontario (Registrar of Motor Vehicle Dealers and Salesmen) (1983) O.J.No. 1017 Divisional Court. Mr. Justice Southey stated, "The effect of s.7(4) is that the Tribunal should only have refused to direct the Registrar to carry out his proposal if it thought the Registrar was in error in concluding that the past conduct of the applicant afforded reasonable grounds for belief that he would not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty." It is not for the Tribunal to try to second guess the Registrar. The "past" conduct of the applicant is the conduct that must be considered, not whether the Applicant could act within the dictates of the Act in the future.

The Tribunal must examine all of the evidence, both written and oral, and based on the totality of the evidence make its findings. The Motor Vehicle Dealers Act is legislation designed to protect the public who deal with the motor vehicle industry. The Tribunal, as does the Registrar, has a responsibility to ensure that the public has confidence in those who work within the motor vehicle industry. But the Tribunal is also aware of its responsibilities to those who wish to make a livelihood in this industry. It is a serious matter to deny the ability for someone to work within a regulated industry, and the Tribunal must be satisfied that the evidence presented is credible and trustworthy.

In this case, the Registrar has presented a number of issues upon which he states the Applicant should not be permitted to continue to be registered within the Act. The Tribunal will examine each issue separately.

1. Premises issue

The Registrar has stated that the Applicant did not have a proper office to conduct his business. The evidence of Ms. Gingas and Mr. Wagner was that in September, 1999 and then in March, 2000 they did not see an office space at 4801 Keele Street unit 55 which could be called the office premises of Five Star Motors. Ms Gingas did state that upon her second visit to the premises on September 14, 1999 there was now a desk and chair visible. She also stated that Mr. Barak did sign an affidavit that his business was wholesale and that the premises issue is not as significant for a wholesale operation. If that was the main issue of this hearing, the Tribunal would not have found it of significance to revoke the registration of the Applicant. It is true that an office premises is required under the legislation but the Applicant was operating a wholesale operation, and he was showing some attempt to comply with the requirement. Terms and conditions on the registration would have been appropriate to those circumstances.

2. Maintenance of books and records and

3. Access to the Applicant's books and records by the inspector

These two issues are of more serious nature. Throughout the investigation, Ms. Gingas only received a few pieces of the business documentation of the Applicant. It is evident from the vehicles listed in the RIN reports conducted by the Registrar that the Applicant had an active business. There were a number of vehicles listed under each of the three RINs that can be attributed either to the Applicant personally or to Five Star Motors. Under these circumstances it is unusual that Ms. Gingas was only provided with some purchase bills of sale and some retail bills of sale but no wholesale bills, no customs forms and no sales bills for the export for sale of the cars to the United States. At no time either in September, 1999 or afterwards when the Applicant's premises were the subject of a search warrant did any other documentation come forward from the Applicant. His Counsel stated that the Applicant had no responsibility for obtaining the customs forms for the United States. That was the responsibility of the purchasers. But the Applicant had nothing in his files. No records whatsoever to account for the export sale of these vehicles to the United States. This was not an omission for one or two vehicles but for all the vehicles that he sold to purchase in the United States. It was stated that he signed an affidavit saying his operation was that of a wholesale dealer, but he provided no wholesale forms to the inspector. Any documents that formed part of the materials at the hearing appeared to have been provided by Mr. Whitmore of the State of Virginia or by Canadian Auction Sales.

The Applicant did not testify, and the Tribunal has no information from him directly as to what has happened to all of this paperwork. The Applicant has obligations in the regulations to maintain proper books and records and in the case of used motor vehicles to keep repair bills for two years and to keep documentation on what vehicles had replacement odometers. There is evidence that Mr. Barak purchased Explorer clusters from a Higgins Auto Wrecking in the United States. That in itself is perfectly acceptable. But the Tribunal finds it unusual that there is no documentation of what happened to these Explorer clusters which is a contravention of section 19(2) of the Regulation 801 if these clusters were inserted into other automobiles. In the Tribunal's opinion that is a reasonable assumption, particularly as the actual clusters were not themselves located at the registered premises for the dealership at 4801 Keele Street, either by the investigation during the search of the premises in March of 2000 or subsequently by the Applicant himself.

Counsel for the Applicant argues that the Applicant is sloppy with his paperwork and this can be corrected by terms and conditions on his registration. The Tribunal disagrees with that characterization of the circumstances. It is one matter to find that a number of documents are missing or incomplete but it is quite another matter to find no documents whatsoever relating to any wholesale contract or export sale of vehicles to the United States. Such a massive failure to provide proper records cannot be attributed to poor record keeping methods but as intentional behaviour on the part of the Applicant.

The Tribunal finds that on this issue the Registrar has shown reasonable grounds for his proposal to revoke the registration of the Applicant.

4. discrepancies with odometer readings

Evidence was presented to the Tribunal of thirteen cars who were purchased by the Applicant, and transferred to one or two dealers in the State of Virginia. The documentation presented was not fully complete and some of the vehicles lacked original documents. But the scale of the documentation when coupled with the testimony of Mr. Whitmore and Mr. Wagner shows that the odometer discrepancies cannot be attributed to inadvertence. The Tribunal could understand one transfer form where the odometer readings could have been incorrect through sloppy paperwork or other such inadvertence. But in this case the Tribunal has before it significant discrepancies in the odometer readings of thirteen cars purchased by Mr. Barak and transferred by him to AceHy Enterprises or Global Leasing. The Tribunal had before it the evidence from Mr. Whitmore that dealers in the United States, in particular Mr. Gormic of AceHy in the State of Virginia and a Mr. Carstaria of a dealership in the State of Florida have made accusations against Mr. Barak being part of a scheme to sell Ontario cars in the United States with tampered odometers.

The Tribunal agrees with Counsel for the Applicant that such hearsay must be viewed with considerable caution. The Tribunal has reviewed the considerable documentation provided by Mr. Whitmore and Mr. Wagner including blank odometer disclosure statement forms with the name of Five Star Motors and the address of 131 Snowshow Crescent, Thornhill. This is an address that has been alleged to be the correct address of Mr. Barak. The Tribunal has carefully examined the original documents and noted the different colours of ink on some of the originals. In many instances Mr. Barak's signature would be in one colour of ink and the rest of the information would be in a different colour of ink.

Counsel for the Applicant is correct in stating that there is no direct evidence that Mr. Barak filled in the American Form 17A and put down the wrong odometer reading, an odometer reading that was substantially lower than was the actual odometer reading from the Ontario documents, in particular the bills of sale from the Canadian Auction Sales organization. The Tribunal reviewed the whole of the materials before it, both documents and verbal testimony. The Tribunal finds that the Applicant failed to act responsibly in his duties to transfer the vehicles with the proper and accurate information on the odometer reading. The legislation indicates that tampering of odometer readings is a serious issue as evidenced by section 19 in Regulation 801. The Applicant has been registered since 1991. He has experience in the motor vehicle industry and should be aware of his responsibilities to transfer vehicles using accurate information. Unlike auction sales organizations who are exempt under section 14 of Regulation 801 from the responsibilities of the Act and its regulations, the Applicant has specific responsibilities as found in section 16 of Regulation 801. The Applicant cannot now say this is all a mystery, particularly when the Applicant has failed to provide any documentation on his wholesale sales which would have recorded the odometer readings for the vehicles being sold to the United States. Based on the totality of the evidence presented, the Tribunal finds that the Registrar acted in a reasonable fashion in holding that the Applicant did not act in an honest manner or with integrity in his sales of these thirteen cars to dealers in the United States, all of which had considerable discrepancies in the odometer readings when compared to the odometer readings from the Ontario documentation.

ORDER:

Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in it by section 9(4) of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act, the Tribunal directs the Registrar to carry out his Proposal.

Appeal under section 50(1) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H.8 as amended, from a Decision of the Minister pursuant to section 32(12)(b)(i) of that Act.

TO CHANGE THE CLASS OR CLASSES OF MOTOR VEHICLE IN RESPECT OF WHICH THE LICENCE WAS ISSUED

TRIBUNAL: ROSS C. BENNETT M.D., Presiding Member

APPEARANCES: Ms. KIM BEINTEMA, Respondent
Representative for the Minister

Applicant,

DATE OF HEARING: November 22, 2000
Toronto

DECISION AND REASONS

This is an appeal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal the Applicant respecting a decision of the Minister (the "Respondent") pursuant to section 32(12)(b)(i) of the Highway Traffic Act (Ontario).

FACTS:

The Applicant, a 46 year old heavy equipment driver (dump trucks, snowplows, pickup trucks etc, suffered an unwitnessed seizure in his kitchen on May 9,1999. He did not bite his tongue or void.

It was subsequently determined the seizure was caused by a right frontal brain tumour, an oligodendroglioma, which is malignant, but low grade. As much of the tumour was resected as possible, without damaging normal brain tissue and he received thirty (30) radiation treatments. Dilantin 500 mg. daily was ordered for an indefinite period.

Physician # 1, the neurosurgeon, on September 2, 1999, reported the seizure and resection of a brain tumour to the Ministry.

Physician # 2, the Applicant's family physician, also reported the Applicant's problems to the Ministry on October 7, 1999. He mentioned the condition was well controlled and there was no seizure activity.

The Ministry advised the Applicant on October 19, 1999 that his "AC" driver's licence was being suspended under section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act.

Physician # 1, reported to the Ministry on December 3, 1999 and stated that the Applicant had no neurological deficit and the CT scan looked as if the disease was well controlled.

Physician # 3, a radiation oncologist reported on December 14, 1999 he had examined the Applicant on that date and found no evidence of symptoms of progressive disease and his neurological status appeared to be stable.

All three doctors recommended the Applicant's licence status be re-assessed considering he had been seizure-free since his surgery in June, 1999.

Applicant requested reinstatement of his A,C licence. The Ministry's Medical Advisory Committee ("MAC") recommended re-instatement of the Applicant's "G" licence on March 7, 2000 but not his A,C licence. A neurologist's assessment on August 15, 2000 was requested.

Physician # 4, a neurologist, reported on May 2, 2000 that the Applicant had been re-assessed and was asymptomatic and without seizures. His MRI showed encephalomalacia in the right frontal area, consistent with the surgical intervention and radiation therapy. The EEG showed some short wave activity from the right frontal temporal area, but no evidence of any epileptiform activity.

Physician # 3 reported on September 12, 2000 that the Applicant's MRI showed some persistent enhancement in the tumour area, which was of uncertain significance. He again requested re-assessment considering the Applicant's clinical stability and seizure free status.

Physician # 5, a neurologist replacing Physician # 4, wrote on September 27, 2000 stating the Applicant's neurological status was essentially stable and there was no significant impairment preventing him from operating a motor vehicle.

MAC recommended on October 23, 2000 that only a class GM licence be allowed until a neurologist confirmed he had been seizure free for 5 years.

ISSUES:

Should the decision of the Minister to change the class or class of motor vehicles in respect of which the licence is issued in accordance with the result of the examination be varied, modified or set aside?

LAW:

Regulation 340/94, Section 14 states:

An applicant for or a holder of a driver's licence must not,

- (a) suffer from any mental, emotional, nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely; and
- (b) be addicted to the use of alcohol or a drug to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle safely.

Regulation 340/94, Section 17 and 18 states:

- 17. (1) Qualifications required by an applicant for a holder of a Class A, B, C, D, E or F driver's licence are that the applicant or holder,
 - (a) has no history or clinical diagnosis of diabetes that requires insulin for control;
 - (b) is not taking any drug that could, in the dosage prescribed or in the dosage recommended by the manufacturer, impair his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely;
 - (c) has no established medical history of myocardial infarction, angina pectoris, coronary insufficiency or thrombosis;¹⁴⁽¹⁾
 - (d) has no established medical history of heart disease including arrhythmia or of respiratory dysfunction likely to interfere with the safe driving of a motor vehicle of the applicable class;
 - (e) is not suffering from an aortic aneurysm, whether resected or not;
 - (f) is not suffering from hypertension accompanied by postural hypotension resulting in giddiness when under treatment;
 - (g) has no established medical history of loss of consciousness or awareness due to a chronic or recurring condition;
 - (h) has no established medical history of a disorder of the musculoskeletal or nervous system that may interfere with the safe driving of a motor vehicle of the applicable class;

- (i) has no established medical history of an intractable psychotic or psychoneurotic disorder, having particular regard for sustained hostile, aggressive, paranoid, suicidal or other destructive tendencies or depression unless it is medically determined that the condition from which the person has suffered is corrected or controlled;
 - (j) has a visual acuity by Snellen Rating, with or without the aid of corrective lenses, no poorer than 20/30 in the better eye and 20/50 in the weaker eye; and
 - (k) has a horizontal visual field of at least 120 degrees in each eye as measured by confrontation tests.
- (2) An applicant for or a holder of a Class A, B, C, D, E or F driver's licence who fails to meet the qualifications referred to in clauses (1)(a) to (i) may, despite the failure, qualify for the class of licence applied for or held if he or she demonstrated the ability to drive a motor vehicle in the applicable class as safely as any person who meets those qualifications.
- (3) An applicant for or a holder of a Class D driver's licence who fails to meet the qualification referred to in clause (1)(c) may, despite the failure, qualify for that class of licence if it is medically determined that he or she has made a full recovery and there is no established history of a second occurrence of myocardial infarction, thrombosis or recurring angina pectoris.
- (4) An applicant for or a holder of a Class B, C, E or F driver's licence whose hearing in one ear is better than in the other must be able to perceive in the better ear, with or without a hearing aid, a forced whisper at a distance of 1.5 metres or, if an audiometer is used to test the person's hearing, must not have a loss in the better ear of more than 40 decibels at 500, 1,000 and 2,000 hertz.
- 18. An applicant for or a holder of a G, G1, G2, L, M, M1, M2, or R driver's licence must have,
 - (a) in the case of a person whose vision in one eye is better than in the other, visual acuity in the better eye that is no poorer than 20/40 as measured by Snellen Rating; and
 - (b) a horizontal visual field of at least 120 degrees as measured by confrontation tests.

Section 32(12)(b)(i) of the Highway Traffic Act states:

- 32 No person shall drive a motor vehicle on a highway unless the motor vehicle is within a class of motor vehicles in respect of which the person holds a driver's licence issued to him or her under this Act.

(12) An applicant for a driver's licence or a person who holds a driver's licence shall submit to the examinations that are authorized by the regulations relating to this section and required by the Minister at the time and places that the Minister may require and the Minister may,

(b) in the case of a person who holds a driver's licence,

(i) impose or remove the conditions or endorsements authorized by the regulations or change the class or classes of motor vehicles in respect of which the licence is issued in accordance with the result of the examinations, or

Section 50 of the Act states:

(1) Every person aggrieved by a decision of the Minister under subsection 17(2) or (3) or subclause 32(12)(b)(i) or a decision of the Registrar under section 47 may appeal the decision to the Licence Suspension Appeal Board.

The Board may confirm, modify or set aside the decision of the Minister or Registrar.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

Section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act unquestionably empowers the Registrar to "...suspend or cancel" a driver's licence for "any ...sufficient reason...".The original suspension came after the Registrar received two unsolicited Medical Condition Reports, from a Physician # 1, a neurosurgeon and Physician # 2, a family physician concerning the Applicant having a seizure and subsequently, a resection and radiation of a low grade brain tumour. The Applicant's "G" licence was re-instated five months later, but the Ministry refused to return his "AC" licence, inspite of positive reports from the four specialists and his family physician, who are treating him. The downgrade of a driver's licence is permitted under section 32(12)(b)(i) of the Highway Traffic Act and an appeal of that decision to this Tribunal is permitted under section 50(1) of the Highway Traffic Act.

Section 14 of Regulation 340/94 states " a holder of a driver's licence must not

(a) suffer from ... a physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his.. ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely ...".

Section 17 of Regulation 340/94 provides further qualifications for the holder of a Class A,B,C,D,E, or F driver's licence.

A review of the medical reports available leave little doubt the Applicant had a seizure as a result of a brain tumour, which was removed and radiated successfully.

Regular follow up examinations by the neurosurgeon, two neurologists and an oncologist, with MRI's every three months have revealed no "epileptiform" activity and he is taking Dilantin 500 mg daily indefinitely.

The MAC recommended a neurologist's confirmation that the Applicant remain free of seizure activity for five (5) years before his "AC" licence is restored. This recommendation is based on a MRI which shows a lesion scar in the frontal lobe. The neurosurgeon and neurologists do not consider this of any significance since it is simply a surgical deficit.

The Tribunal finds the Applicant no longer suffers from a demonstrable physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely with the medical follow-up he is receiving.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the decision dated October 19,1999 of the Minister ("Respondent") to change the class or classes of motor vehicle in respect of which the licence was issued pursuant to Section 32(12)(b)(i) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA"), and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Respondent and of the Applicant;

IT IS THE DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50(2) of the Act that the decision of the Minister be modified to reinstate the Applicant's Class C,A driver's licence so long as the Applicant remains seizure free and provided that every three months following the release of this decision the Applicant be examined by his family physician to confirm in writing to the Registrar of Motor Vehicles the Applicant's satisfactory medical condition, failing which the Applicant's Class C,A driver's licence is suspended.

Vehicle Inspection Standards under the Highway Traffic Act.

DATES OF
HEARING: September 11, 2000 & November 14, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

Checker Towing Inc. ("Checker") appeals the Proposal of the Director of Vehicle Inspection Standards (the "Director") under the Highway Traffic Act (the "Act") to refuse Checker's registration as a motor vehicle inspection station. The Director's Proposal is dated May 9, 2000 and was issued in terms of section 95(1) of the Act which reads as follows:

95(1) Where the Director proposes,

- (a) to refuse to issue or renew a licence;
- (b) to refuse to make registration; or
- (c) to revoke a license or registration,

the Director shall serve notice of his or her proposal, together with written reasons therefor,

- (d) in the case of a proposal to refuse to issue a licence, upon the applicant;
- (e) in the case of a proposal to revoke or to refuse to renew a licence, upon the licensee;
- (f) in the case of a proposal to refuse to make a registration, upon the applicant or licensee and upon the proposed registrant; and
- (g) in the case of a proposal to revoke a registration, upon the registrant and the licensee of the motor vehicle inspection station in which the registrant is employed.

The Director bases his Proposal on section 91(3)(a) of the Act which reads as follows:

91(3)(a) Subject to section 95, the Director may refuse to issue a motor vehicle inspection station licence where, in his or her opinion,

- (a) the past conduct of the applicant or, where the applicant is a corporation, is of its officers or directors affords reasonable grounds for belief that the motor vehicle inspection station will not be operated in accordance with the law and with honesty and integrity;

The Director's position is that Checker's application for registration as a motor vehicle inspection station should be refused as, having regard to the past conduct of Ross Ladouceur, the President and Officer of Checker, there is reasonable grounds for belief that the motor vehicle inspection station will not be operated in accordance with the law and with honesty and integrity.

During the first day of hearing on September 11, 2000, Vice-Chair, Derek Israel presided with Ray Kolynchuk and Dino Bottero, Members.

Derek Israel did not sit as he was taken ill and therefore the matter proceeded before Members, Ray Kolynchuk and Dino Bottero, only.

THE EVIDENCE INTRODUCED BY THE DIRECTOR:

The evidence presented at the hearing before the Tribunal consisted of a number of allegations. The witnesses for the Director were Mr. Ronald McGee, a transport enforcement officer with the Ministry of Transport and Mr. Carl Douglas Newton, a licensed mechanic who was employed by Checker.

FIRST ALLEGATION:

The first allegation concerns three Safety Standard Certificates whose numbers are 6852395, 7208283 and 8101782 dated April 11, 1997, July 4, 1997 and March 20, 1998 respectively.

Safety Standard Certificate 6852395

The first witness for the Director was Ronald McGee an inspector employed by the Ministry of Transportation and whose area of work is Barrie, Ontario. He testified that Mr. Ross Ladouceur ("Ladouceur") was the President of Checker and Carl Douglas Newton ("Newton") was employed by Checker as a licensed mechanic regarding inspections of motor vehicles for safety standard certificates. Checker was licensed to issue safety standard certificates in 1994 and first came to McGee's attention on May 1997 when Inspector Tomasoni of the Ministry of Transportation forwarded McGee an inspection report he had written pursuant to a complaint the Ministry had received. The complaint related to a 1991 GMC Sonoma motor vehicle and a safety Standard Certificate issued in respect thereof by Checker and signed by Newton and Ladouceur (Exhibit 1 Tab 5). The certificate stated that the date of inspection of the vehicle was April 11, 1997. According to the vehicle inspection report of Tomasoni, he inspected the vehicle 21 days after April 11, 1997. On May 15, 1997, Tomasoni attended at Checker's premises, inspected certain records and spoke to Ladouceur and Newton. Newton gave a written statement to Tomasoni in which he stated he was the certifying mechanic regarding the inspection and that repairs were found necessary for certification. The parts and labour in respect of the repairs were to be supplied by Tim Byers, the customer who requested the certification.

When the safety standard inspection was conducted the following defects were noted and had to be corrected prior to issuance of the certificate. The defects noted were:

- lamps and reflectors
- exhaust system
- brakes – drums and discs
- brakes – parking brake performance, adjustment
- suspension – ball joints

On April 11, 1997, Checker issued an invoice to the customer and in terms of that invoice noted a charge of $40.00 plus tax of $6.00 in respect of the “Ministry of Transportation Safety Inspection.” No charge was made for the “parts and labour” which the customer, Tim Byers, supplied according to the invoice. The invoice reflected across its face the words “paid in cash” with the signature of C.D. Newton thereunder.

When Tomasoni inspected the vehicle pursuant to the complaint of Harwood, he noted some seven components that he considered defective. These seven components were:

- (1) Measured rotor thickness and drum diameter.
L/F rotor 0.880" R/F rotor 0.908"
L/R drum 9.600" R/R drum 9.600"
Manufacturer specifications: Discard rotor at 0.965"
 Machine drum to 9.560"

Also the left rear drum friction surface was scored, due to the lining on the primary shoe wearing down to the metal.
Reg. 611 Sch. 2 Sec. 1(b)(e) Pg 30

- (2) The automatic brake adjuster on both rear brake assemblies were seized
Reg. 611 Sch. 2 Sec. 1(o) Pg. 30
- (3) The friction material on the primary brake shoe – (left rear) – was worn to the metal.
The top inner surface of the brake shoe was worn down to the metal support.
Reg. 611 Sch 2 Sec. 1(l)(g) Pg 30
- (4) Both rear park brake cables were seized. The left rear was partially holding brakes in the applied position. The right rear would not apply at all.
Reg. 611 Sch 1 Sec. 2(2) Pg 17
- (5) Left front brake flex line was cracked beyond cord. The line was cracked at calliper side.
Reg. 611 Sch 1 Sec. 2(1)(b) Pg. 17
- (6) Both front tires had cracks along inside and outside circumferences. The left front also had visible bumps and cuts exposing the cords.
Reg. 611 Sch 1 Sec. 7(2)(d)(e) Pg. 28
- (7) The wheel cylinder on the left rear brake assembly had shifted and contacting the brake shoes at the outer diameter of the piston. This normally happens when backing plate is corroded around wheel cylinder mounting area.
Reg. 611 Sch 2 (1)(m) Pg. 30

In my opinion all defects were present the day SSC 6852395 was issued.

Pursuant to the statement made to Tomasoni and his field report and its findings, Newton and Ladouceur were charged with contravening section 90(3)(a) of the Act which reads as follows:

90.(3) A safety standards certificate in respect of a motor vehicle shall not be issued or a vehicle inspection sticker affixed to a vehicle unless,

- (a) the vehicle has been inspected by a motor vehicle inspection mechanic in the motor vehicle inspection station and the vehicle complies with the inspection requirements and performance standards prescribed by the regulations; and

Both Newton and Ladouceur pleaded guilty to the charge and a fine of $400.00 was imposed.

Newton also testified for the Director. He stated that he was employed by Ross Ladouceur to work as a motor vehicle inspection mechanic at Checker. He was paid $200.00 cash per week. He confirmed that his signature appears on this safety standard certificate as well as on certificate numbers 7208283 and 8101782.

Prior to becoming employed by Checker, Newton suffered a broken back that effectively precluded him from working as a motor vehicle mechanic.

Prior to working for Checker, Newton worked for 5 Star Mechanical Services doing paper work. While there, Ladouceur would come to Newton with mileage and ownership information regarding motor vehicles to be certified. Newton would write out the safety standard certificates regarding these vehicles and have the owner of 5 Star Mechanical Services sign same. Newton and the owner of 5 Star Mechanical Services did not see the vehicles to be certified. Ladouceur would pay Newton for the certification and Newton would give the money received to 5 Star Mechanical Services' owner.

When 5 Star Mechanical Services closed its doors in December 1994, Newton began working for Ladouceur at Checker. Newton was hired by Ladouceur because he was a licensed safety standards certificate mechanic. His duties involved signing the certificates issued by Checker.

Some safety standard certificates issued by Checker were legitimate although the great majority were not. Newton did not see the majority of motor vehicles in respect of which he signed safety standard certificates nor did he inspect them for defects prior to the issue of safety standard certificates.

Ladouceur worked with curb siders and he merely presented details of vehicles and their mileages to Newton who would complete and sign safety standard certificates for such vehicles without seeing the vehicles.

Newton stated that he kept a list – which he referred to as a journal – of all motor vehicles for which safety standard certificates were issued while Newton was working at Checker. Part of the list is contained in Exhibit 1 Tab 9 commencing from page 42 up to and including page 60. Other than very few entries on this list all are in Newton's handwriting. According to Newton, "98%" of the safety standard certificates listed on the various pages of the list are false in that the vehicles were never seen or inspected by Checker. The cash cost to the customers in regard to the issue of the certificates was entered onto the list at a price that was higher than the cost reflected on the customer's invoice. This was done so as to save Checker income tax. Where on the list the word "Ross" appears after customer cost that means, according to Newton, that the customer's vehicle was not seen or inspected but the information necessary for the issue of the safety standard certificates was supplied by Ladouceur. Newton, using the information given to him by Ladouceur then made out the safety standard certificates and signed same as the issuing mechanic.

Newton admitted he did not see the motor vehicle for which safety standard certificate number 6852395 was issued.

Safety Standard Certificate 7208283

The evidence of Officer McGee and Newton surrounding this certificate was as follows:

A safety standard certificate was signed by Newton as inspecting mechanic and by Ladouceur on behalf of Checker. The date of inspection according to the certificate was July 4, 1997.

A complaint was made on July 25, 1997. McGee investigated the complaint which related to the safety standard certificate issued under number 7208283 by Checker. On July 28, 1997 a field inspection of the vehicle was conducted by McGee and a report was completed by him. (Exhibit 1 Tab 6)

Twenty-four days had elapsed since the date of the safety standard inspection as stated on the safety standard certificate issued by Checker. The field inspection by McGee indicated the following six defects:

- Defect #1 = Left lower ball joint measured .031" radial play. Right lower ball joint measured .049" radial play. Man-Specs: No perceptible play allowed. Contrary to Reg 611 Schedule 1 clause 4(1)()
- Defect #2 = R.R. parking brake cable binding, L.R. parking brake cable seized. Actuating handle travels to top and no parking brake action. Will not hold forward or reverse. Contrary to HTA Reg 611 Schedule 1 Sub 2(2) and clause 2(8)(a)
- Defect #3 = Hole in passenger side floor pan, right rear section rust perforation – measured 11½" x 5¼" hole. (affected area) Left rear floor pan, rear passenger foot area rust perforation, measured, measured 4" long rm affected are contrary to Reg 611 clause 1(4)(b)
- Defect #4 = Back plate of muffler ½ " x ¼" hole measured contrary to Reg 611 clause 1(9)(b)
- Defect #5 = Horn not operational. Attempting to actuate horn causes smoke visible in steering column. Contrary to Reg 611 clause 5(1)(b)
- Defect #6 = One of two licence plate lamps not operational. Contray b Reg 611 clause 6(1)(a)

McGee stated that item numbers 1, 2 and 3 on the field inspection report would have been present at July 4, 1997. Pursuant to the field inspection report, McGee called at Checker's premises on August 29, 1997 and spoke with Ladouceur and Newton in regard to the circumstances surrounding the issue of this safety standard certificate. McGee made notes of the discussion that took place.

Ladouceur admitted signing the safety standard certificate for Checker. He could not remember the vehicle's defects although he did remember the vehicle had been in Checker's premises. Newton, however, refused to make a statement to McGee.

Subsequently, both Checker and Newton were charged under section 90(3)(a) of the Act. Both pleaded guilty as charged and convictions were registered on November 3, 1997 and fines were imposed.

Newton testified that after these convictions relating to safety standard certificate 7208283, he and Ladouceur discussed the future course of how they would proceed regarding the issue of safety standard certificates. They agreed that in future they would only "sell" certificates to people that they knew and not to strangers. It was also agreed that they would reduce the number of safety standard certificates that would henceforth be issued by Checker and that they would have to be more careful in the issue of safety standard certificates.

Newton stated further, that Checker had purchased, on behalf of the vehicle's owner, parts to be used in the vehicle to which this certificate applies. The owner had paid Checker for these parts and the safety standard certificate was handed to the owner. The owner drove off with the certificate together with the spares which he was supposed to install in the vehicle. However, the owner never had the opportunity of doing as he was arrested while the spares were still in the back of the vehicle together with the safety standard certificate issued by Checker.

SECOND ALLEGATION:

This allegation by the Director concerns three safety standard certificates numbered 7367978 to 7367980 inclusive. The Director contends that these three certificates were pre-signed in blank by Newton in anticipation of later being completed by Checker's Ladouceur.

The evidence of the Director in regard to this allegation was given by McGee and Newton.

McGee stated that he visited Checker on August 29, 1997 in order to carry out a garage inspection. Pursuant to the inspection, McGee noted the following:

Investigation re = pre-signed SSC # 7367978 to 7367980 by inspecting mechanic Carl D. Newton. Also several issued in series 7367961 to 7367980 issued when mechanic Newton on vacation.
Voided SSC # 7367978 to 7367980. Design made to issue written warning via this document.

Present during this inspection were Ladouceur and Newton both of whom signed having received above quoted note.

McGee stated that upon completion of his visit to Checker, he took with him the book containing the three pre-signed safety standard certificates and made copies thereof. Apart from these three certificates, the booklet contained about 20 other certificates which McGee has misplaced.

Newton, in his testimony, conceded that he did sign the safety standard certificate numbers 7367978 to 7367980 inclusive. The date of inspection was left blank on each certificate that he signed as was all details of the vehicle namely, the VIN number, the make, year, type of body and odometer reading.

Newton stated that he remembered he was going on a short vacation and he left the incomplete certificates when he departed for vacation. Ladouceur told him to sign the incomplete safety standard certificates and he did so as he would have had no job had he refused to do so as instructed. Before this occasion, Newton had pre-signed partially blank safety standard certificates. This previous occasion was prior to Newton being hospitalised in 1995 or 1996. Ladouceur suggested that Newton pre-sign the certificates before entering hospital and Newton accordingly did so.

McGee also testified that the Ministry was concerned regarding the high number of safety standard certificates Checker was issuing. According to the Ministry of Transportation's records, Checker issued 2,412 certificates during the period December 16, 1994 to April 1998. The Ministry was also concerned that people appeared to be coming to Checker for safety standard certificates from places as distant as Midland/Penetanguishene when there were garages nearer to such people that could issue safety standard certificates. Furthermore, the Ministry was receiving complaints from the police relative to safety standard certificates that were being issued by Checker.

The Ministry decided to do a full audit of Checker to determine the position in regard to the question of safety standard certificates. An audit involves the seizure of garage records and the immediate re-inspection of vehicles which were the subject of safety standard certificates. On April 30, 1998, McGee visited Checker. There he met with Ladouceur and Newton and informed them of the full audit that was to take place. McGee was asked what could be done in view of the impending audit and McGee stated he could not advise on what should be done. McGee, however, did advise that as an option, if Checker surrendered its licence an audit would not occur. Ladouceur commented that the "way out" would be to surrender the licence and enquired of McGee as to "how long, if we surrendered the licence would we have to stay out?" McGee told Ladouceur that if Checker "stayed out " for two years "and let the dust settle" an application could then be made. Ladouceur and Newton then had a discussion and they then took the licences down as well as the sign regarding Checker being an authorized motor vehicle inspection station. McGee then completed his audit report reading as follows:

Close MVIS Type II station. Rec'd MVIS 1998 licence. MVIS manual and MVIS sign.
Voluntary termination of licence. Rec'd insp. certificate # D732085 to D732090. Agreed to by Ross 'Ladouceur' = owner.

Note = SSC # 8228133 to 8228140 had been partially filled out. (Name of station).
These SSC's have been removed and destroyed.

Refund to be issued to = Checker Towing Inc.

228 'Tiffin' St.
Barrie Ont.
L4N – 2N4

McGee stated that subsequent to April 30, 1998, Newton came to him with information, which had not been solicited by him from Newton. This information related to the journal kept by Newton. The journal showed a series of dated entries cross referenced back to Checker work orders/invoices. The final column of this journal showed customer cost. In almost all cases, the Journal entry when checked to the referenced invoices shows a higher actual cost paid by customers. For example, the Journal shows that Central Ontario Tire paid $64.20 in respect of invoice No. 0134 dated August 12, 1997 whereas, the actual invoice No. 0134 shows they paid $42.80.

Mr. Newton stated that the difference in customer cost on the invoice and what was recorded in the Journal was taken by Mr. Ladouceur.

EVIDENCE INTRODUCED BY APPLICANT:

The witnesses for the Applicant were Ross Ladouceur, owner of the Applicant and his wife, Kathleen Luck-Ladouceur.

ROSS LADOUCEUR'S EVIDENCE

Ladouceur's background presented a history in the automotive towing, repair and resale business. The current business, the Applicant, is operated on the same premises as Ladouceur's principal residence.

Ladouceur's response to the improper issuance of the following safety standard certificates:

- Safety Standard Certificate No. 6852395, April 11, 1997;
- Safety Standard Certificate No. 7208283, July 4, 1997; and
- Safety Standard Certificate No. 8101782, March 20, 1998

was that blame rested with the company's mechanic, Carl Newton. Ladouceur stated that he had trusted Newton to comply with all requirements of the Highway Traffic Act with respect to motor vehicle inspections. He also stated that he had difficulties reading and writing in English. He often asked Newton to assist him by having Newton explain written words to him.

Ladouceur stated he released Carl Newton from his employment at the Applicant's business in 1998 shortly after the company voluntarily gave up the licence issued by the Ministry.

Ladouceur summarized his situation by stating that his business difficulties were a result of providing Carl Newton too much leeway and also, because he was away from the business "a lot".

He had voluntarily given up his license on the assumption that he could reapply for such licence after a waiting period. He further stated that if his application was successful he would be using Bert Jolly from ATD Auto Sales as the Applicant's new mechanic.

In cross-examination by the counsel for the Director, Ladouceur acknowledged that he had not notified the Ministry of the change of mechanics.

He also stated that his business dealings resulted in his being away from the business for 3 to 4 days per week. He further stated that of all the safety certificates issued from Checker Towing, only 25% were properly approved by him. In the remaining cases, Ladouceur stated that Carl Newton had improperly signed his (Ladouceur's) name and issued the certificates.

KATHLEEN LUCK LADOUCEUR'S EVIDENCE

Kathleen Luck-Ladouceur indicated that she was employed outside the business of the Applicant and was at the business infrequently. She indicated that she signed only three or four of the certificates issued by the Applicant and only after asking Carl Newton if the work was completed. She confirmed that she signed Safety Standard Certificate 8101782 dated March 20, 1998. She also indicated that she was principally involved in receiving the payments from Carl Newton and making the deposits to the company bank account. She further stated that the first she saw of Carl Newton's Journal was "as part of these Tribunal proceedings".

FACTS FOUND PROVEN:

The following are the facts found to have been proven:

1. Checker Towing Inc. (the "Applicant") was registered as a motor vehicle inspection station under the Highway Traffic Act and Regulations to issue Safety Standard Certificates in respect of motor vehicle's.
2. Carl Newton was at all relevant times employed by the Applicant as an Inspecting Mechanic under the Highway Traffic Act and Regulations and was authorized to inspect motor vehicle's prior to the issue of safety standard certificates and to sign and complete such certificates.
3. Ross Ladouceur was at all relevant times the President and directing mind of the Applicant and Kathleen Luck-Ladouceur was at all relevant times the Secretary/Treasurer of the Applicant.
4. Safety Standard Certificate 6852395 was issued by the Applicant on or about April 11, 1997 and such certificate was signed on behalf of the Applicant by Ross Ladouceur and Carl Newton. The aforementioned Certificate was issued by the Applicant in contravention of Section 90(3) of the Highway Traffic Act and pursuant thereto Ross Ladouceur and Newton plead guilty to a charge under that section and were fined $400.00.
5. Safety Standard Certificate 7208283 was issued by the Applicant on or about July 4, 1997 and such certificate was signed on behalf of the Applicant by Ross Ladouceur and Carl Newton. The aforesaid Certificate was issued by the Applicant in contravention of Section 90(3) of the Highway Traffic Act and pursuant thereto Ross Ladouceur and Carl Newton plead guilty to a charge when that section and paid fines as imposed.
6. Safety Standard Certificate 8101782 was issued by the Applicant on or about March 20, 1998 and such certificate was signed on behalf of the Applicant by Kathleen Luck-Ladouceur and Carl Newton. The aforesaid Certificate was issued by the Applicant in contravention of Section 90(3) of the Highway Traffic Act and pursuant thereto guilty pleas were entered by Ross Ladouceur and Carl Newton and $900.00 in fines were paid by them pursuant to the guilty plea.

7. Certain Safety Standard Certificate numbers 7367978 to 7367980 inclusive were presigned by Carl Newton in an incomplete form as to motor vehicle details, VIN numbers and the make, year, type of body and odometer reading. The aforesaid Certificates were signed by Carl Newton at the instigation and on the directions of Ross Ladouceur who at all relevant times knew that certain Safety Standard Certificates were presigned by Carl Newton.

DECISION AND REASONS:

The onus of proof in this matter rests upon the Director to prove that the past conduct of the Applicant and its Officers and Directors affords reasonable grounds for belief that the motor vehicle inspection station will not be operated in accordance with the law and with honesty and integrity; and that accordingly, the Director is entitled to refuse the Applicant's registration as a motor vehicle inspection station in terms of section 91(8)(a) of the Highway Traffic Act.

The grounds upon which the Director bases his refusal are dealt with in the Director's Appeal Book (Exhibit 1, Tab 1) and are set out fully in this decision under the evidence adduced by the Director.

Ronald McGee, a transport enforcement officer with the Ministry of Transportation and Carl Newton a licenced mechanic who was employed by the Applicant were the witnesses for the Director. The Tribunal has no hesitation in accepting the testimony of McGee who was found to be honest and forthcoming and whose testimony the Tribunal has no hesitation in accepting. At all stages of his investigation of the Applicant, he made full and comprehensive notes of what took place, which notes were made contemporaneously with the events related therein. At the hearing, McGee made reference to those notes when giving evidence. He was in no way shown during the hearing to be either untruthful or unreliable as a witness.

Newton's evidence corroborated McGee's evidence and he too was not shown to be untruthful in his answers to various questions posed to him. He freely admitted his part in issuance of false and/or blank Safety Certificates.

The evidence against Ross Ladouceur was substantiated. He admitted to being an officer and director of the Applicant and he did not deny he was the controlling mind of the Applicant. He did not deny his signatures on the safety standard certificates which formed the basis of the Directors case (except for the certificate signed by his wife Kathleen). His conduct was dishonest and ongoing. He plead guilty to three separate charges of contravening section 90(3) of the Highway Traffic Act which in and of itself is an admission of having practiced deception in the issuance of certificates. He knew and encouraged Newton to sign incomplete certificates which were found in the Applicant's offices. The abnormally high number of certificates issued by the Applicant in and of itself is supportive of the facts testified to by McGee and Newton that safety standard certificates were issued without any inspection having taken place or inadequate inspections.

The evidence indicates an ongoing course of conduct in the issuing of certificates which was dishonest or at the very least negligent. The attitude of the Applicant as manifested by the conduct of Ross Ladouceur indicates a serious disregard to the safety of consumers, who in good faith purchase motor vehicle's in the belief that they are safe to drive whereas the motor vehicle is unsafe and not worthy of being upon a public road.

Accordingly, by virtue of the authority vested in it by virtue of Section 95(4) of the Highway Traffic Act, the Tribunal directs the Director to carry out his proposal to refuse registration of the Applicant as a motor vehicle inspection station.

APPEARANCES: KIM GROSSKURTH

KIM KENNEDY, Applicant

DATE OF HEARING: December 5, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: December 15, 2000 Toronto

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on December 5, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to Section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to Section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the “Registrar”), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner:	Kim Kennedy (the “Applicant”)
Motor Vehicle:	1989 Chrysler Lebaron (the “vehicle”) Plate # AACW399
Date of Appeal:	November 16, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the “Tribunal”) together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that vehicle owner exercised due diligence (i.e. all reasonable efforts) to determine that the driver's licence was not suspended and the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in sections 50.2(3)(c) and (d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on December 5, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing. The Respondent submitted a set of copies of documents bearing original certification seals.

All documents were submitted into evidence with the consent of both parties.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension?

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

I am a single mother two, my son 11yrs and daughter 10 yrs. I am their sole provider and have struggled to give them a home and a decent life. I have no means of paying the impound cost which would result in my losing my car which took me 4 yrs to pay for. It is the only transportation me and my children have. We have suffered greatly because of this, both of my children have given up there afterschool activities (i.e. hockey, skating, riding) as a result of not having a vehicle. I would not have put my family in this situation had I had knowledge of my suspension which I did not. My licence was never taken from me when I was notified my licence was to be reinstated October 17, 2000 which to my knowledge it was. Please release my car so my situation does not worsen beyond repair. I am a commision salesperson and my income has gone from modested to nothing leaving me unable to support my family.

The Applicant stated that she was being driven home one evening by her boyfriend when, upon seating herself in the driver's seat after dropping him at his house, she was apprehended by police. The Applicant's driver's driver's licence was found to be then under suspension, and her vehicle was subsequently impounded.

The Applicant believed that her driver's licence had been re-instated, and that it had been returned to her seven months following her original suspension of December 1998. In July of 2000 she had been pulled over for a seat belt violation, and the police officer did not indicate to her that her driver's licence was not then valid. The Applicant stated that she never received any information from the Registrar indicting that her licence was not valid, nor had she ever attended at the court hearings regarding the charges and subsequent appeal of her Impaired Driving conviction. Therefore, she did not realize that her licence suspension had been reimposed by the Appellate Court in May of 2000.

The Applicant stated that she relies upon her vehicle for her delivery business in the town of Jackson's Point where she lives. There is no public transit available in this small rural community, and she has been unable to maintain her business or to take her children to their various extra curricular activities.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Kim Kennedy;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;

4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of Impaired Driving under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until December 25th, 2000.

The Respondent also submitted a certified copy of the Notice of Suspension that was served on the Applicant by registered mail, dated June 1, 2000. This document was entered into evidence as exhibit #4.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

- (1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of sections 50.2(3)(c) and (d).

With respect to an appeal under subsection 50.2(3)(c) alleging that the owner exercised due diligence prior to releasing the vehicle to the driver, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary provides the definition of "due diligence" as follows:

Due: A. adj. 1. That is owing or payable, as a debt. 2. Belonging or falling to by right. 3. That ought to be giving or rendered; merited. 4. Such as ought to be; fitting; proper; rightful. 5. Such as is requisite or necessary; adequate. 6. To be ascribed or attributed; owing to, caused by, in consequence of. 7. Under engagement or contract to be ready or arrive (at a defined time).

Diligence: 1. The quality of being diligent; industry, assiduity. 2. Speed, dispatch. 3. Careful attention, heedfulness, caution. 4. Law. The attention and care due from a person in a given situation....

Also, "due diligence" in Black's Law Dictionary (sixth edition) at page 457 is as follows:

Due diligence: Such a measure of prudence, activity, or assiduity, as is properly to be expected from, and ordinarily exercised by, a reasonable and prudent man under the particular circumstances; not measured by any absolute standard, but depending on the relative facts of the special case.

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines "exceptional hardship" as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

- (h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22
- (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety of any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
 - (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
 - (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).
 - (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension as per section 50.2(3)(c) of the Act?

In this case the owner and the driver of the vehicle at the time of the impoundment were the same person. Therefore, in order to meet the onus under the legislation, the Applicant would have had to exercise some manner of due diligence on determining that her own licence was not under suspension at the time of the impoundment.

In this hearing, there was no evidence before the Tribunal that any actions that could be considered due diligence, as described by section 50.2(3)(c) of the Act, were performed by the Applicant. In fact, the forthright testimony of the Applicant was that she had assumed that her licence was valid since she had no reason to suspect otherwise. Furthermore, the Applicant also stated that she relied upon the police officer who charged her with a seat belt infraction, and who made no mention of her licence being under suspension, to verify the status of her licence. The Applicant's passive reliance upon the MTO or the police to forward to her, without request, information regarding the status of her licence can not be considered an act of due diligence on the part of the Applicant.

By failing to take any initiative to actually determine the status of her driver's licence, or to potentially leave this determination up to the actions of some third party such as the local police, the Applicant in her own testimony has failed to meet the onus under the Act.

The Applicant has also appealed on the grounds of exceptional hardship, in accordance with section 55.2(3)(d). Section 22 of Regulation 632/98 is very specific, in that it provides the Tribunal with the specific criteria the Applicant must meet to determine if in fact exceptional hardship will result from the impoundment. The Tribunal is precluded from considering any other factors not arising from or directly related to the impoundment itself.

In the matter before this Tribunal, there was no evidence before the Tribunal that the impoundment had contributed to the pre-existing financial hardships or uncertainty that the Applicant and her family may have had to endure. The Applicant has made no specific claims of exceptional hardship as described by section 22(1)(a) or (b).

The Applicant has claimed that the impoundment has jeopardized her own employment and financial situation. However, section 22(3)(d) of Regulation 632/98 precludes the Tribunal from considering the impact of any loss as a result of the impoundment that may be upon the person who was driving the vehicle at the time of the impoundment while their driver's licence was then under suspension. Here, the Applicant was the driver of the vehicle at the time of the impoundment. Therefore, the Tribunal may not consider the impacts of the loss that may be experienced by the Applicant.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

APPEARANCES: KIM BEINTEMA

EDGAR HISS, Applicant

DATE OF HEARING: December 13, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: December 18, 2000 Hamilton

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on December 13, 2000, at Hamilton, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to Section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to Section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner:	Edgar Hiss (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle:	1981 Chev CHV, Plate # RZS 402 (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal:	November 27, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the motor vehicle was stolen at the time it was being driven and the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in sections 50.2(3)(a) and (d) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on December 13, 2000 and proceeded as an oral hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

The Applicant and the Respondent agreed that the herein mentioned documents be filed at the hearing as evidence.

There being no other preliminary matters and the hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the motor vehicle was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made?

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

I, Edgar Hiss am the registered owner of the impounded vehicle. My son Michael L. Hiss took the car from my house without consent during a time I was out of the country. I have documentation to support my claim.

Applicant claims his son took the car without permission

At the hearing, the Applicant gave evidence that the vehicle was driven without permission while the family was away. Nonetheless, no charges were laid, as the Applicant commented “...how can you charge your own son...”

In direct viva voce and cross-examination the Applicant testified that the family “...has three vehicles in the driveway...”. The family has been managing with the one other car that they own. However, it is getting more difficult as the Applicant's wife needs to run errands. The impoundment vehicle was normally driven by the Applicant's wife.

The Applicant attested to the fact that no significant financial loss has been incurred as a result of the impoundment.

Michael Hiss, the Applicant's son testified that his mother was a victim.

In cross-examination he declared that he impulsively took the car, as he needed to use it, but had no intention of stealing it.

In closing the Applicant stated that all he wants is “...for his son to get his life back in shape...”

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows:

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Michael E. Hiss;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of driving while disqualified under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until April 25, 2005.

At the hearing, the Respondent provided the Tribunal with certified copies of Ministry of Transportation documents on file.

The Respondent in the closing remarks gave a brief definition of the word “stolen” as defined by Black's legal dictionary: “...the act has to be dishonest and with the intent to deprive another person permanently...". The Respondent contends that this was not the case as Mr. Hiss' son admitted that he took the car to use only as needed. Thus the grounds of "stolen vehicle" have not been met.

The Respondent further argued that the grounds for hardship were also not met, as the Applicant owns another vehicle and there is no evidence of any financial losses incurred.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

- (1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

(3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,

- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
- (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of sections 50.2(3)(a) and (d).

With respect to an appeal under subsection 50.2(3)(a) alleging that the vehicle was stolen, the meaning of "stolen" is not provided in The Highway Traffic Act.

The Shorter Oxford Dictionary, provides the definition of "stolen" as follows:

Stolen: 1. Obtained by theft. 2. Accomplished or enjoyed by stealth; secret. 3. Of time: obtained by contrivance

Theft: 1. The action of a thief; the felonious taking away of the personal goods of another; larceny 2. That which is or has been stolen; the proceeds of thieving.

Black's Law Dictionary (Sixth edition), page 1419-1420 provides the definition of "stolen" as follows:

Stolen: Acquired, or possessed, as a result of some wrongful or dishonest act or taking, whereby a person willfully obtains or retains possession of property which belongs to another, without or beyond any permission given, and with the intent to deprive the owner of the benefit of ownership (or possession) permanently.

The word "stolen" as used in the crime of interstate transportation of stolen motor vehicles includes all wrongful and dishonest taking of motor vehicles with the intent to deprive the owner of the rights and benefits of ownership, regardless of whether theft constitutes common-law larceny; and felonious taking may be effected by diverse means known to both common and statutory law, such as larceny, embezzlement, false pretenses, larceny by trick and other types of wrongful acquisition. Lake v. U.S., Colo, 338F.2d 787,788. It is not necessary that the taking of the vehicle be unlawful. Even if possession of the vehicle is lawfully acquired, the vehicle will be deemed "stolen" if the defendant thereafter forms the intent to deprive the owner of the rights and benefits of ownership, and converts the vehicle to his own use. United States v. Turley, 352 U.S. 407, 417, 77 S.Ct. 397, 402. 1 L.Ed.2d 430.

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines "exceptional hardship" as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

- (4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

- (h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22 (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety or any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.
- (2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Board shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) inconvenience to any person;
 - (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
 - (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
 - (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.
- (3) The Board may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,
 - (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
 - (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
 - (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
 - (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).

- (4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The onus is on the Applicant to establish the ground of appeal that the vehicle had been stolen at the time of the impoundment, as provided in subsection 50.2(3)(a) of the Act.

No charge of theft was laid against the suspended driver and the evidence does not support an intention to steal the vehicle. The Tribunal finds that there is insufficient evidence before it to support the ground of appeal that the vehicle was stolen at the time of the impoundment, as described by section 50.2(3)(a) of the Act. Accordingly, the Applicant's ground of appeal based on the vehicle being stolen is dismissed.

Regarding the hardship ground for appeal, the onus is also on the Applicant to establish exceptional hardship, as provided in subsection 50.2(3)(d) of the Act.

In considering its decision, the Tribunal has reviewed several questions which delineate the criteria and establish the merits on the evidence.

Is there no alternative to the impounded vehicle?

Subsection 22(3)(a) Regulation 574 as amended by O. Reg. 632/98 provided that this Tribunal may not consider financial or economic loss as a ground of appeal unless no alternative to the impounded vehicle is available.

The Applicant testified the family has been managing to get about, as there are at times "...three cars in the driveway...", one of which belongs to his son, but the Applicant does own another vehicle.

As the Applicant has alternate methods of transportation available, the Tribunal may not consider the provisions of 22.1 of Regulation 574.

Is the loss immediate, significant and lasting?

The Applicant does not meet the criteria of O. Reg. 632/98, Subsection 22(3)(b) which provides that the Tribunal may not regard economic loss unless the Applicant shows proof that loss will be immediate, significant and lasting. The Applicant denied having incurred any financial burden.

The Applicant has not satisfied the Tribunal that she has in fact incurred any loss of income or extra expenses which could be considered hardship.

Is the loss upon a person ordinarily transported in the motor vehicle?

The Applicant's wife was normally the driver of the impounded vehicle. Nonetheless, there was no evidence of any losses financial or otherwise created by the loss of the vehicle. The Applicant's wife inconvenience cannot be considered, therefore the does the requirements under O. Reg. 632/98, Subsection 22(3)(c) are not met.

Is the loss upon a person other than the driver of the motor vehicle and not a result of that driver's loss?

O. Reg. 632/98, Subsection 22(3)(d)(i)(ii), amending Regulation 574 provides that this Tribunal may not consider economic loss unless the owner demonstrates that:

d) the impact of the loss,

i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's license was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle and...

ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause 2(b)(c) or (d).

According to the Applicant there were no such losses.

In any event, the provisions of section 22 are cumulative, and must all be established, which has not been done.

After assessing the evidence presented, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant has not established exceptional hardship under section 50.2 of the Act.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

MOTION FOR AN ORDER TO STAY

Motor Vehicle Dealers Act

REASONS FOR RULING

BACKGROUND:

This is a motion by the Applicants requesting an order to stay the revocation of the licence of Justin Easterbrook pending the appeal to the Divisional Court. The hearing in the matter was held before the Tribunal on August 9, 2000. By the order of the Tribunal released on August 25, 2000 the licence of Justin Easterbrook as a motor vehicle salesperson was revoked. The registration of his father, Basil Easterbrook, was to continue if he took and passed the certificate course approved by the Ontario Motor Vehicle Industry Council ("OMVIC"). As well the dealership, 1159274 Ontario Ltd. o/a Thrifty Auto Sales was to notify the owners of the three vehicles in question of the particulars of the disclosure within thirty days of the date of the order.

FACTS:

The Applicants by their Notice of Appeal dated September 22, 2000 have appealed to the Divisional Court (General Division). There is no date scheduled for the hearing of this appeal.

1. Affidavit Evidence:

In support of the Applicants motion two affidavits have been filed. One is from Basil Easterbrook and the other from Justin Easterbrook.

Mr. Basil Easterbrook states that he is 76 years of age and has worked in the used automobile business for fifty years. His business currently has ten employees, including himself and his son Justin. Mr. Basil Easterbrook states that he and his son Justin are the only employees to purchase automobiles for the business and this type of purchasing requires frequent trips to auctions in Toronto and Montreal. Mr. Basil Easterbrook states that the viability of the business depends on the person doing the purchasing having the ability to purchase the appropriate vehicles at the correct price so that the vehicles can be resold at a profit.

In his affidavit, Mr. Basil Easterbrook also states that he depends on his son Justin to do the purchasing because he can trust his son. Mr. Basil Easterbrook is concerned that if he must do all of the purchasing, he cannot maintain the pace of the travelling and would have to lay off two employees. He states that it is difficult to find someone who has these particular skills and who he can trust to purchase the vehicles. He states that he has made an agreement with the owner of the Venture Automobile (one of the three motor vehicles noted above) and the car will be replaced, and he will resell it with the appropriate disclosure. He undertakes to review each and every transaction of Justin Easterbrook.

Mr. Justin Easterbrook, in his affidavit, states that he did comply with the order of the Tribunal and has negotiated a settlement with the owners of the vehicles having the body damage. He paid $2,000.00 to the owner of the Cheyenne and $3,000.00 to the owner of the 1997 Cavalier.

In his affidavit Mr. Justin Easterbrook states that he further investigated the odometer which was put into the third vehicle. He has determined that the odometer reading was 59,194 km some two weeks prior to purchasing the vehicle.

Mr. Justin Easterbrook states that his only source of income is that of working for the company of his father. If he cannot purchase cars, then he will have to take some other position with the company, and an employee will be displaced. He states that he is more than willing to have OMVIC scrutinize each and every transaction that he conducts at the company.

There was no affidavit evidence on behalf of the Registrar, Motor Vehicle Dealers Act.

2. Decision of the Tribunal which is appealed:

The Tribunal found, inter alia, the following:

- a) that there were sufficient grounds for the Registrar's decision to revoke the registration of Justin Easterbrook as a motor vehicle salesperson,
- b) that the Registrar's decision to revoke the registration of Justin Easterbrook is based on section 5(1) of the Act, which reads as follows:

5(1) An applicant is entitled to registration or renewal by the Registrar except where,

.....

- (b) the past conduct of the applicant affords reasonable grounds for belief that the applicant will not carry on business in accordance with the law and with integrity and honesty;
- (c) that Basil Easterbrook could continue with his registration as a motor vehicle salesperson if he passed a certification course approved by the Ontario Motor Vehicle Industry Council for salespersons

- (d) that the company, 1159274 o/a Thrifty Auto Sales had thirty days to notify the owners of the three motor vehicles in the transactions complained of, giving them the particulars of the disclosure. Copies of these notifications were to be sent to OMVIC.

3. Grounds of Appeal:

The Applicants Notice of Appeal lists the following grounds upon which it bases its appeal:

- a) that findings of fact were not supported by the evidence, that the infractions alleged had an effect on public safety;
- b) that 1159274 Ontario Ltd. is not responsible in law for the actions of Justin Easterbrook;
- c) that Basil Easterbrook is not responsible in law for the actions of Justin Easterbrook;
- d) that opinion evidence should not have been before the Tribunal when it had not been disclosed in advance, contrary to the Ontario Evidence Act and the Rules of Practice of the Licence Appeal Tribunal
- e) that it was an unreasonable sentence to revoke the registration of Justin Easterbrook as a salesperson
- f) such further and other grounds as Counsel may advise and review of the transcript may disclose

4. Grounds for Stay of Proceedings:

The Applicants rely on the following grounds for a stay of the Tribunal's decision:

- a) that the Applicants have a strong prima facie case on appeal;
- b) that there will be irreparable harm if the order is not stayed;

ARGUMENT BY COUNSEL:

By Counsel for the Applicants:

Counsel stated that there has been no request for cross-examination on the affidavits in support of the motion. There is also acknowledgement by both counsel that there is a serious issue to be tried.

Counsel stated that there had been three problems – two of repairs not disclosed and one of non disclosure of a replacement odometer. All three customers have been dealt with by the Applicants in accordance with the requirements of the Tribunal's decision.

Counsel stated that a main issue on the appeal will be the fact that no notice was given by the Registrar of the intent to call evidence from Ms. Harari. As well it is the position of the Applicants that Ms Harari is not qualified to give opinion evidence.

Counsel cited a number of cases in support of the application for the stay.

RJR-MacDonald Inc. v. Canada (Attorney General) (1994) 1 S.C.R.311 is the pivotal case which defines the current test for stay applications. Counsel stated that the Supreme Court of Canada held that it is not the magnitude but whether the wrong can be righted when looking at the concept of irreparable harm. Counsel stated that there are no damages available from the Ontario Motor Vehicle Industry Council. In this case, the nature of the damages is irreversible.

Regarding the test of balance of convenience, Counsel stated that the situation can be monitored by Basil Easterbrook or copies of the sales bills can be provided to OMVIC.

Uppal v Toronto (Metropolitan) Licensing Commission (1998) O.J. No. 2406 was distinguished by Counsel as a case involving a taxicab company where the Applicant indicated a preference to continue working in that business.

Counsel stated that Dudzic and Law Society of Upper Canada 71 O.R. (2d) 272 is a case in 1989 where the Divisional Court said that irrevocable harm has to be to the individual applying for the stay. But this concept has been clarified by RJR MacDonald supra.

Counsel stated that Falkiner v Ontario (Ministry of Community and Social Services) 49 O.R. (3d) 564 used the wrong test, as the court found no irreparable harm but granted the stay.

James Kenneth Foster, a CRAT case released April, 1993, was decided prior to RJR MacDonald supra. The case held that the ability to practice your profession was not serious enough issue to grant a stay.

Off Lease Motor Car Sales Inc. (Re) (1999) O.C.R.A.T.D.I 292, Counsel submitted, did not mean that there must be exceptional circumstances in order to grant a stay. That case cited Jacob Sales and Service Inc., Ont. Div. Ct. file No. 558/98, in which a stay was granted and irreparable harm found as the applicant would be put out of business.

Counsel stated that the role of Justin Easterbrook was essential to the well being of the business as his role was to purchase the vehicles at auction and then the business would sell those vehicles at a profit. His position is not one which could be easily replaced.

Golab (RE) (1998) O.C.R.A.T.D. No. 176 dealt with the seriousness of odometer tampering.

1240 Ontario Inc. (c.o.b. Delta Minivan & Cars Inc.) (Re) (1998) O.C.R.A.T.D. 160 dealt with the what is a serious issue to be tried.

Ontario Leasing supra distinguished Foster supra and held that the balance of convenience was tipped in favour of the applicant.

Counsel stated that in this case it can be confirmed that inappropriate incidents do not happen again through the scrutiny of the bills of sale.

Rosso (Re) the Tribunal distinguished Foster supra and allowed the stay application.

The dissenting judge in Camp Cars Ltd. v Ontario (Registrar of Motor Vehicle Dealers and Salesmen) (1973) O.J.578 held that as the applicant had been caught once it was doubtful that this type of incident would reoccur while waiting for the decision on appeal.

Counsel stated that the Applicants would be content with terms and conditions. Basil Easterbrook could review all of the bills of sale or the bills of sale could be sent to OMVIC to be reviewed there.

Counsel stated that there is a serious fairness issue here regarding the inclusion of opinion evidence. The Tribunal needs to balance all of the interests.

Counsel for the Registrar:

Counsel stated that the Tribunal needs to look back to the past conduct of the Applicants. The motor vehicle industry is a regulated industry. While the Statutory Powers Procedure Act section 25(1) speaks of an automatic stay, the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act section 7 states that the order of the Tribunal takes effect immediately, and the Tribunal can then consider a stay.

RJR Macdonald supra illuminates the three tests for a stay. Foster supra stands for the proposition that stays should not be easily given.

Counsel stated that this is not a case where Justin Easterbrook suffers irreparable harm. At worst, he displaces another employee at the company.

Counsel stated that in OffLease Motor Car Sales Inc. supra, the Applicant would lose his home. In Milani (c.o.b. Milan Auto Sales) supra, there was no other position for the Applicant. In Golab (Re) supra, the Applicant was the sole source of income. In 1240 Ontario Inc. (c.o.b. Delta Minivan & Cars Inc.) supra, the business would be lost.

Counsel stated that was not the case here. Basil Easterbrook is stating he would prefer not to be doing all of the purchasing. There is no evidence of a search for another person to do the purchasing.

Counsel stated that the case of Dudzic v Law Society of Upper Canada supra stood for the proposition that a good and cogent reason is required for a stay to be given. The Uppal v Toronto (Metropolitan) Licensing Commission supra stated that being in a profession is not sufficient to grant a stay.

In Agha (c.o.b. Saeid Aghomohammadi) (Re) (1999) O.C.R.A.T.D. 69, the RJR MacDonald supra case was quoted on page 5, stating: "In the case of a public authority, the onus of demonstrating irreparable harm to the public interest is less than that of a private applicant."

Counsel stated that the facts in this case do not show irreparable harm.

THE LAW:

Section 25 (1) of the Statutory Powers Procedures Act states:

25(1) Unless it is expressly provided to the contrary in the Act under which the proceeding arises, an appeal from a decision of a Tribunal to a Court or other appellate tribunal operates as a stay in the matter except where the Tribunal or the Court or other body to which the appeal is taken otherwise orders.

Section 7(9) of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act states:

7(9) Although a registrant appeals from an order of the Tribunal under section 11 of the Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations Act, the order takes effect immediately, but the Tribunal may grant a stay until disposition of the appeal.

Metropolitan Stores (MTS) Ltd. v Manitoba Food and Commercial Workers, Local 832 (1987) 38 D.L.R. (4th) 321 sets out a three stage test. This three stage test was followed by the Supreme Court of Canada in RJR MacDonald Inc. v Canada (Attorney General) (1994) 1 S.C.R. 311

The three stage test is as follows:

First test: A preliminary assessment must be made of the merits of the case to ensure that there is a serious question to be tried.

Second test: It must be determined whether the Applicant would suffer irreparable harm if the application were refused.

Third test: An assessment must be made as to which of the parties would suffer greater harm from the granting or refusal of the remedy pending a decision.

ANALYSIS:

The operation of section 7(9) of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act results in the decision by this Tribunal of August 25, 2000 taking immediate effect. An appeal from the decision does not operate as a stay to that decision but the Tribunal can grant a stay of the decision until the disposition of the appeal. The Applicants, 1159274 Ontario Ltd. o/a Thrifty Auto Sales, Basil Easterbrook and Justin Easterbrook have brought a motion before the Tribunal requesting that it stay one part of the decision of August 25, 2000, that being the immediate revocation of the motor vehicle salesperson registration for Justin Easterbrook. They have not requested any stay of those parts of the decision that relate to 1159274 Ontario Ltd. o/a Thrifty Auto Sales or Basil Easterbrook.

The Tribunal has reviewed the affidavit evidence and the law and legal analysis referred to by Counsel in their arguments.

It is trite law to state that in considering a stay this Tribunal is not in the position to judge on the merits of the appeal itself. The Supreme Court of Canada in RJR MacDonald supra has stated at paragraph 44 "In American Cyanamid Co. Ethicon Ltd. (1975) A.C.396, however, Lord Diplock stated that an applicant need no longer demonstrate a strong prima facie case. Rather it would suffice if he or she could satisfy the court that "the case is not frivolous or vexatious; in other words, that there is a serious question to be tried." The American Cyanamid standard is now generally accepted by the Canadian courts, subject to the occasional reversion to a stricter standard." The question before the Tribunal is whether or not based on a preliminary assessment, there is an arguable case. Here Counsel have agreed that there is such an arguable case.

Regarding the second test, it is necessary to consider whether the Applicants will suffer irreparable harm unless the stay is granted. The Supreme Court of Canada in RJR MacDonald supra stated at paragraph 58, "At this stage the only issue to be decided is whether a refusal to grant relief could so adversely affect the applicants' own interests that the harm could not be remedied if the eventual decision on the merits does not accord with the result of the interlocutory application." Here, the Tribunal needs to look at the irreparable harm to all of the Applicants, that being the corporate Applicant as well as Basil Easterbrook and Justin Easterbrook. The Applicants are stating through the affidavit evidence of Basil Easterbrook and Justin Easterbrook that the revocation of the motor vehicle salesperson registration to Justin Easterbrook during the period awaiting the decision on appeal will do irreparable harm to all of them.

The Supreme Court of Canada in the case of RJR MacDonald supra at paragraph 59 defines irreparable harm to mean, "Irreparable" refers to the nature of the harm suffered rather than its magnitude. It is harm which either cannot be quantified in monetary terms or which cannot be cured, usually because one party cannot collect damages from the other."

In this case it is the position of the Applicants that the inability of Justin Easterbrook to purchase used motor vehicles at auctions will affect the continued financial well being of the company and lead to a reduction in the number of employees working for this company. Mr. Basil Easterbrook emphasizes his age (76) years and difficulty he would have to take on this purchasing by himself, particularly during the winter months when he would have to travel to these auctions from Belleville area. As well, Mr. Basil Easterbrook states that it would be exceedingly difficult to find a person with the skills of his son and who he can trust with these crucial financial decisions. If the purchaser does not act skillfully, then there can be no profit for the business which exists to resell those vehicles purchased at auctions. Mr. Basil Easterbrook makes the point that his son has been involved in some fashion with this family business for Justin's entire life. The son, Justin Easterbrook, states that his skills are with the purchase of used motor vehicles for this family business. The Tribunal reads his affidavit to say that his work experience has been confined to that particular job for that particular company.

The Tribunal finds these facts to fall within the definition of irreparable harm as set out in RJR MacDonald supra. The nature of the harm is not such that it could be quantified in strictly monetary terms nor could it be easily cured by an award of damages.

Regarding the third test, there must be a determination of which of the parties would suffer the greater harm from the granting or refusal of the stay pending the decision.

The Tribunal is aware of the public interest considerations within the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act. Considerations of the public interest are of great importance to this Tribunal. The Registrar has an obligation to be vigilant in protecting the public from motor vehicle salespersons who transgress the provisions of the Act.

This case deals with three incidents: one involves non disclosure of the replacement of an odometer and the two others with non disclosure of the history of prior repairs. The Tribunal is impressed with the reparation made by the Applicants to the owners of all three motor vehicles. All owners have been satisfied either with cash payments or the replacement of the vehicle.

As well, the Tribunal is impressed with the acknowledgement by Justin Easterbrook that he erred in these three transactions. The Applicants have stated that they would be willing to abide by terms and conditions.

There is no affidavit evidence from the Registrar regarding any special considerations to be considered when balancing the public interest with that of the Applicants. This is not a Charter case whereby the public interest becomes a "special factor" as stated in the case of Metropolitan Stores supra. There is no evidence before the Tribunal to indicate that there is any serious risk that Justin Easterbrook would continue with such behaviour during the time period while the appeal is before the courts. In these circumstances the public interest can be protected by the use of terms and conditions. The Applicants would suffer the greater harm from a refusal to grant the stay.

DECISION:

For the reasons stated above, pursuant to the authority vested in it by section 7(9) of the Motor Vehicle Dealers Act, the Tribunal directs that there shall be a stay of its order issued herein on August 25, 2000 respecting the revocation of the licence of Justin Easterbrook, until the disposition of the Applicants' appeal to the Divisional Court. The stay of the order contains the following terms and conditions:

1. The Applicant, Justin Easterbrook, cannot move his motor vehicle salesperson registration from the dealership, 1159274 Ontario Ltd. o/a Thrifty Auto Sales.
2. All of the sales bills of the Applicant, Justin Easterbrook, shall be reviewed by the Applicant, Basil Easterbrook. Full disclosure of any repairs or odometer replacements shall be made on the bills of sale.
3. All the sales bills of the Applicant, Justin Easterbrook, shall be available at any time for the review by employees of the Ontario Motor Vehicle Industry Council. Copies of such sales bills shall be provided to the Ontario Motor Vehicle Industry Council if so requested by them.
4. Any failure to abide by terms #1 through #3 will result in the Registrar having the ability to bring this matter back to the Tribunal for further consideration.
5. These terms shall be in force until such time as the Divisional Court has issued its decision on the appeal of the Applicants.

REASONS FOR DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND:

This is an Appeal by the Applicants, Steven and Dolores Marchi (the "Applicants") pursuant to their Request for a Hearing dated December 30, 1999, to the Commercial Registration Appeal Tribunal which, as of April 1, 2000, is known as the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal"), from a decision of the Respondent, Ontario New Home Warranty Program (the "Program").

The Applicants in this Appeal base their claim on the provisions of section 13 and section 14(1)(b) of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act (the "Act"), R.S.O. 1990. Ch. 0.31.

The Applicants' claim was denied by the Program in its Decision Letter dated December 16, 1999, (the "Program's Decision") and the Applicants are appealing pursuant to section 16 of the Act.

Upon the application made by the Program to the Registrar of the Tribunal dated February 3, 2000, Kevin Doble Properties Ltd. (the "Builder") was joined in this Appeal as the Added Party by the Order of the Chairman of the Tribunal dated March 6, 2000, and the appropriate notice of application and notice of the Order were served upon the Parties.

ISSUES:

The Applicants have complained to the Program that the Builder is in breach of several of its warranties to construct the new home which it contracted to build for the Applicants in a workmanlike manner and free from defects in material, as part of the Agreement of Purchase and Sale entered into between the Applicants and the Builder (the "Agreement").

The Applicants, accordingly, requested conciliation services from the Program respecting the defective work and materials, and in response the Program provided such conciliation services between the Applicants and the Builder on July 15, 1999. The Program thence issued the Conciliation Inspection Report dated August 5, 1999 (the "Conciliation Report"), being a listing of twenty-one complaints made by the Applicants which the Program decided were either deficient or compliant with respect to the several warranties made by the Builder to the Applicants under the Act.

The Program's Decision was made with reference to nineteen of the twenty-one complaints made by the Applicants and, subsequent to making Observations/Comments and Reasons with respect to each of the said nineteen items considered by the Program to be "not covered under warranty", the Program made the following decision:

"Your claim that a breach of warranty exists ... resulting in a cause of action for damages against the vendor (Builder) is denied."

Following receipt of the Applicant's Request for a Hearing, the Applicants specified five of the nineteen items listed in the Program's Decision which they wished to appeal as follows:

- Item #3 Audible bang often occurs upon flushing toilet in main bathroom upstairs;
- Item #10 Damaged locking mechanism on overhead garage door;
- Item #11 Installation of Front Door;
- Item #13 Finished Basement Family Room not completed as agreed by Builder; and
- Item #18 Colour of Brick and colour contrast not as agreed by Builder.

At the hearing of the Applicants' Appeal before this Tribunal, it was agreed by all Parties that these five items would be dealt with separately and in the order specified as above noted. It was further agreed that the Applicants' Appeal to this Tribunal would be limited to the said five items out of the nineteen complaints listed in the Program's Decision, and as such, these five items become the sole five issues for decision by this Tribunal.

EVIDENCE:

Each of the Applicants, Steven Marchi and Dolores Marchi, testified as to the said five issues claimed as a breach of warranty with respect to their new home at 7 Northland Avenue constructed by the Builder as a Model Type Hewett Elevation "A" pursuant to the Agreement and situate on Lot 33L according to a Site Plan of Hunter's Farm in Brooklin, in the Town of Whitby, in the Province of Ontario (the "residential dwelling").

The Agreement was originally an offer by the Applicants to the Builder dated May 29, 1996, which was accepted by the Builder on May 30, 1996, and which included several Schedules. The Agreement was amended formally in writing on two occasions, June 6, 1996 and February 8, 1997, respectively.

Completion of the residential dwelling and closing of the transaction of purchase and sale was originally scheduled in the Agreement to be exactly one calendar year after acceptance on May 30, 1997, but was delayed and/or postponed. The pre-delivery inspection report is dated October 7, 1997, and occupancy of the residential dwelling was finally achieved by the Applicants on October 8, 1997, (the "Date of Possession").

The evidence for the Applicants was limited to the Applicants themselves as no expert testimony was submitted on their behalf and no other witnesses were called by the Applicants.

The Respondent called one witnesses, Chad Foreshow, a Warranty representative of the Program, who testified as to the inspection of the residential dwelling carried out by him and his various dealings with the Applicants and the Builder with respect thereto. The inspection and dealings lead directly to the Conciliation Report.

The evidence given by the Applicants in-chief examination was clear on each of the five issues, but tended to be confused during cross-examination by the Program's Counsel. Particularly in the case of the evidence given by Steven Marchi, it became confrontational and evasive to the extent of his responses being given in the manner he wished to rather than answering the question put to him by Counsel. The evidence given by Mr. Foreshow was straightforward and, in the few cases of conflicting evidence by all witnesses, is preferred by the Tribunal. The conclusions which are to be reached from the evidence submitted on the issues, are more difficult.

In correspondence subsequent to the Conciliation Report, the Applicants alleged that the views of the Program, and particularly Mr. Foreshow were biased in favour of the Builder. This Tribunal was disturbed by this allegation and took special care to question both Applicants on the subject. It became evident that such allegation was but an exaggerated disagreement with Mr. Foreshow's decisions contained in the Conciliation Report and the Program's Decision itself, and as such, this serious allegation was withdrawn with apologies.

ISSUES OF LAW:

The Applicants are appealing the Program's Decision to the Tribunal under Section 16(2) of the Act and this hearing and this decision of the Tribunal is issued pursuant to Section 16(3) of the Act.

"16(2). A notice under subsection (1) shall state that the person or owner served is entitled to a hearing by the Tribunal if the person or owner mails or delivers, within fifteen days after service of the notice under subsection (1), notice in writing requiring a hearing to the Corporation and the Tribunal.

(3). Where a person or owner gives notice in accordance with subsection (2), the Tribunal shall appoint a time for and hold the hearing and may by order direct the Corporation to take such action as the tribunal considers the Corporation ought to take in accordance with this Act and the regulations, and for such purpose the Tribunal may substitute its opinion for that of the Corporation."

Section 13(1) of the Act specifies certain warranties and sets out a list of circumstances in Section 13(2) in respect of which such specified warranties do not apply.

"13.(1) Every vendor of a home warrants to the owner,

(a) that the home,

(i) is constructed in a workmanlike manner and is free from defects in material,

(ii) is fit for habitation, and

(iii) is constructed in accordance with the Ontario Building Code;

(b) that the home is free of major structural defects as defined by the regulations; and

(c) such other warranties as are prescribed by the regulations.

(2) A warranty under subsection (1) does not apply in respect of,

(a) defects in material, design and work supplied by the owner;

(b) secondary damage caused by defects, such as property damage and personal injury;

(c) normal wear and tear;

(d) normal shrinkage of materials caused by drying after construction;

(e) damage caused by dampness or condensation due to failure by the owner to maintain adequate ventilation;

(f) damage resulting from improper maintenance;

(g) alterations, deletions or additions made by the owner;

(h) subsidence of the land around the building or along utility lines, other than subsidence beneath the footings of the building;

(i) damage resulting from an act of God;

(j) damage caused by insects and rodents, except where construction is in contravention of the Ontario Building Code;

- (k) damage caused by municipal services or other utilities;;
- (l) surface defects in work and materials specified and accepted in writing by the owner at the date of possession.”

It is notable that provision is made in Section 13(1)(c) of the Act for these specified statutory warranties to be expanded by regulation, and Part IV of Ontario Regulation 892 (Sections 14 to 24, inclusive) provides for such additional specific warranties by regulation together with terms, conditions, exceptions and exclusions which attach to these regulatory warranties. Such terms, conditions, exceptions and exclusions set forth in Part IV of Regulation 892 only apply to these additional regulatory warranties and do not affect those specified statutory warranties set out in Section 13(1)(a) and (b) of the Act.

Section 13(6) of the Act not only provides that all such specified statutory warranties and specified regulatory warranties apply despite any agreement or waiver to the contrary, but also recognizes that the owner may have other rights and other agreed warranties in addition to the warranties specified in Section 13(1) of the Act and the regulatory warranties prescribed in Section 13(1)(c).

“13.(6)The warranties set out in subsection (1) apply despite any agreement or waiver to the contrary and are in addition to any other rights the owner may have and to any other warranty agreed upon.”

Under Section 14(1)(b), where an owner has a cause of action against a vendor for damages resulting from a breach of warranty, such an owner is entitled to be paid out of the guarantee fund the amount of such damage. The right to make a claim is set out in Section 14(1) in the Act.

“14. (1) Where,

(a) ... ;

(b) an owner has a cause of action against a vendor for damages resulting from a breach of warranty; ...

(c) ... ,

the person or owner is entitled to be paid out of the guarantee fund the amount of such damage subject to such limits as are fixed by regulations.”

A warranty is a defined term under the Act. Section 1 provides:

“1. In this Act, ...

“warranty” means a warranty set out on section 13.”

The Applicants, as stated above, are owners as defined by the Act and the Tribunal finds them so to be as a fact. As such, they are entitled to compensation or remedies from the assets of the guarantee fund for any and all breaches of warranties by virtue of Section 14(1)(b) thereof, subject only to the limitation of amount as set out in the regulations thereto.

FACTS FOUND PROVEN:

As hereinbefore stated, all witnesses testified respecting the five issues claimed by the Applicants and there appears to be wide differences of opinion and many conflicting questions. It was unfortunate that the Tribunal did not have the benefit of any evidence from the Builder, whose representative chose to appear only during the first day of the hearing and did not call any witnesses to testify. The evidence of a knowledgeable representative of the Builder would have clarified many of the unanswered questions respecting the issues in this matter. The Tribunal was therefore denied a full understanding of the issues before it and neither the Program nor the Applicants chose to subpoena any of the officers of the Builder whose evidence would have been helpful to the decision by this Tribunal.

The Tribunal finds, pursuant to the evidence given in these proceedings, the following as proven facts:

- 1) The Agreement was reached on May 30, 1996;
- 2) Two amendments to the Agreement were made and agreed to between the Applicants and the Builder with respect to modifications to the Agreement on June 6, 1996, and February 8, 1997, respectively, and such modifications became part of the Agreement;
- 3) The pre-delivery inspection report was made on October 7, 1997, and the Date of Possession of the residential dwelling was October 8, 1997;
- 4) More than one year after the Date of Possession, the Applicants completed a list of "outstanding deficiencies" dated as of November 20, 1998, which was received by the Program on December 21, 1998. This list included some, but not all, of the five issues before this Tribunal;
- 5) In their request for conciliation dated March 22, 1999, the Applicants listed sixteen items of complaint which included all of the said five issues. Further written comments by Dolores Marchi dated June 12, 1999, respecting the sixteen items listed in the said Applicants' conciliation request, were delivered to the Program's representative at the time of the conciliation inspection on July 15, 1999;
- 6) The Program issued its Conciliation Report on August 5, 1999 which listed two "Items Covered Under Warranty" and nineteen "Items Not Covered Under Warranty", which said nineteen items included all of the said five issues;
- 7) The Program's Decision was issued by the Program on December 16, 1999;

- 8) The request by the Applicants for a hearing before the Tribunal was made on December 30, 1999; and
- 9) The other facts as hereinafter noted relating separately to the five issues of the Applicants' claim.

DECISION AND ORDER:

With respect to the five issues presented by the Applicants to this hearing and pursuant to the authority vested in it by section 16(3) of the Act, the Tribunal makes the following decisions and orders:

Issue One (Item #3 - Audible bang often occurs upon flushing toilet in main bathroom upstairs)

The evidence given by the Applicants is clear that a "loud bang" is audible on many occasions when the flushing mechanism is deployed on the toilet in the main bathroom of the second floor of the residential dwelling. It was unclear and even contradictory as to just when during the flushing process such audible noise occurred on these said occasions. Unfortunately, there was no other evidence given at the hearing respecting the audible noise of the said toilet as it did not occur during the several times that the said flushing mechanism was deployed at the conciliation inspection, nor at any other time in the presence of the only other witness who gave evidence at the hearing. Indeed, Mr. Foresheew gave evidence that the said toilet operated normally in all instances in test flushings with variable loadings conducted during the conciliation inspection.

Mr. Marchi suggested in his evidence that the phenomenon known as "water hammer" could well be the explanation of the said audible noise heard by the Applicants but such could only occur in the supply side of the water delivered under pressure to the toilet at the commencement of the flushing process when the supply water pressure was released. He also suggested that the problem was in the drainage side of the system which is not under pressure and depended on the particular loading condition of the toilet, which would be inconsistent with his "water-hammer" theory.

In any event, this Tribunal does not doubt that the Applicants have heard the said audible noise but it cannot speculate, in the absence of further evidence, what causes the noise, nor indeed, whether or not the noise is the result of faulty workmanship or materials supplied by the Builder.

As explained to and acknowledged by the Applicants, the onus of proof in such a case is upon them to show unacceptable workmanship or materials and without further evidence, technical, expert or otherwise, they have failed to establish any claim against the Builder in this issue. This Tribunal agrees with the Program's Decision on this issue.

This issue was first noted by the Applicants in their conciliation request dated March 22, 1999, but was absent in their deficiency list as of November 20, 1998, more than one year subsequent to the Date of Possession.

Issue Two (Item #10 - Damaged locking mechanism on overhead garage door)

The Applicants, in their deficiency list as of November 20, 1998, noted that the garage door was "not properly tracked - fell off - not fixed properly - wood frame pulled away with damage - gap!". A similar note from the Applicants dated September 10/98, received by the Program prior to one year subsequent to the Date of Possession on September 21, 1998, stated "garage door > collapsed and fell off track. Cable needs correct tightening > did damage to frame. Created gap from Brickwork."

In the request for conciliation dated March 22, 1999, the Applicants noted, "Garage Door fell off track - damaged - not fixed", and at the conciliation inspection noted further in writing "Garage Door - damaged - will be fixed - track/handle, pulled away framing - painted - simple correction".

At the conciliation inspection, Mr. Foreshow noted in his report that "the owners were concerned that the [garage] door could not be unlocked from the interior; ... [and he] explained that the [garage] door can be unlatched at anytime from the interior by pulling the latch cable."

The Applicants gave evidence at the hearing that "every third or fourth time the garage door is opened, the latching mechanism on the interior of the door falls off" and thus one cannot access the garage. Several inconsistent theories were advanced by the Applicants as to the cause of this latest complaint in an effort to connect it to the original event when the garage door fell off the track (which was later repaired by the Builder).

The Tribunal is unable to connect this latest complaint to any breach of warranty by the Builder and agrees with the Program that a defect in workmanship or material is not apparent. At best, this complaint is a matter of maintenance and as admitted by the applicants is simple to repair. This Tribunal agrees with the Program's Decision on this issue.

Issue Three (Item #11 - Installation of Front Door)

In the request for conciliation dated March 22, 1999, the Applicants noted, "Front Entrance door - opens By itself - Oct 4/97". In all previous correspondence and lists of deficiencies initiated by the Applicants there is no mention of this particular complaint. Once again, and without any expert evidence to support their claim, the Applicants suggested in their evidence that this problem was connected to a minor gap of 1/8" to 3/16" between the door leaf and the doorjamb.

In the Conciliation Report, and in the evidence given by Mr. Foreshow at the hearing, it is clear that "a defect in workmanship is not apparent" with respect to this "factory-hung" door. It would therefore, be speculative on the part of this Tribunal to assert the cause of this complaint without some direct evidence of such cause beyond the mere happening of the event of which the Applicants complain. The onus of proof upon the Applicants with respect to this issue has not been discharged.

This Tribunal is in accord with the Observation/Comment and Reason expressed by the Program in the Conciliation Report and in the Program's Decision.

Issue Four (Item #13 - Finished Basement Family Room not completed as agreed by Builder)

The Applicants, in their deficiency list as of November 20, 1998, noted that the finished basement had not been completed as agreed by the Builder and made specific reference that "there was to be no Poles, no cut up/Box ceiling, ...". A similar note from the Applicants dated September 10/98, received by the Program prior to one year subsequent to the Date of Possession on September 21, 1998, stated ">NOT BUILT TO original plan in offer. Made major structural and layout mistakes so Basement was not finished to offer plans. Even though Project MGR, SITE Supervisor were informed of mistake Before finishing done - still went ahead and Built differently! Had to redesign Basement and was told By "Builder" we would be compensated!! question: when? how?" The November 20, 1998 deficiency list also makes note of compensation as follows:

"Doble said to Steve Marchi that we would be compensated for screw ups on Basement. Again - asked what Steve would want!"

The Builder, in a letter to the Applicants dated February 1, 1999, denies that any compensation was offered with respect to the finishing of the basement in the following terms:

"Mr. Doble said he did discuss compensation with Steve, but that was for the closing date extensions (please see attached Release) and the inconvenience it caused your family.

Changes did have to be made to your original finished basement layout, but you were aware of why these changes were necessary. On August 27/98 you faxed via our sales office a basement layout with revisions for Mr. Doble to approve, he did agree on August 28/98 to try to accommodate your requests. Note, I can not find on any document that states there would be no columns in the basement. We feel that compensation is not warranted with regards to your finished basement."

As stated above, the Agreement was modified on two occasions, and it was the second of such modifications on February 8, 1997 which amended the Agreement by the addition of a "finished basement as per sketch" and increased the purchase price by some $8,310. The sketch was likewise altered on several occasions subsequent to February 8, 1997 in order to accommodate changes which were either required to be made or agreed to by the Parties. The difficulty for this Tribunal in reaching an understanding of the facts was to determine what was, and what was not agreed to upon viewing the several sequential versions of the sketch, all of which were facsimile variations of the original sketch with varying notations, and not only undated but unsigned.

The sequential versions of the original sketch including the notations do, however, show the changes moving in an orderly manner to the final 'as-built' or 'as-finished' basement as shown in photographs filed as Exhibits at the hearing, and this Tribunal concludes that the Applicants were and are more interested in the alleged, but unproven offer of compensation from the Builder than damages due to faulty workmanship or materials on the part of the Builder.

In the request for conciliation dated March 22, 1999, the Applicants noted this issue briefly and in their post-conciliation correspondence once again noted "compensation" as the remedy.

In the evidence of the Applicants given at the hearing, it was unbelievable to attempt to stretch the symbol of an electrical outlet box in the versions of the sketch as a notation for the omission of columns, except perhaps as an after-thought, and this Tribunal can not find any evidence to support this alleged agreement on behalf of the Builder.

This Tribunal is in accord with the Observation/Comment and Reason expressed by the Program in the Conciliation Report and in the Program's Decision.

Issue Five (Item #18 - Colour of Brick and colour contrast not as agreed by Builder)

The Applicants have made it clear from the Date of Possession that they did not receive the brickwork on the exterior of the residential dwelling that was promised by the Builder. From the pre-delivery inspection report dated October 7, 1997, they have consistently complained that not only was the colour of the brick not as agreed, but also the contrast in colour from the brick quoining was not as definite and pronounced as a Victorian House ought to exhibit, and, indeed, as was exhibited by other neighbouring houses in the development constructed by the Builder and shown to the Applicants by the Builder's agent.

The evidence given by both Applicants on this issue was clear and consistent. The documentary evidence including photographs is also consistent and this Tribunal finds as a fact that the Builder breached its warranty in providing a non-contrasting brick for the quoining brick of the residential dwelling. At best, the Builder was careless or insensitive to the wishes of the Applicants in its choice of a non-contrasting colour of brick for use in the quoining and ought to have sought the approval of the Applicants to the colour of brick utilized.

The Builder was made a party to this hearing at the request of the Program. The Builder chose to abandon the hearing before its conclusion and declined to give evidence on this matter which would have been helpful to this Tribunal. Neither the Applicant nor the Program chose to call a representative of the Builder to give an explanation thus depriving this Tribunal of what surely is the 'best evidence' on this issue.

The hearings of the Tribunal are conducted in an atmosphere less formal than that of a Court of Law in an attempt to ascertain the facts, including an explanation of why the contract to build was performed in a peculiar or particular manner. Here, only the Applicants were at the hearing to give first hand testimony as to the contract. The Program did not produce a representative of the Builder to give evidence but rather relied solely on the expert opinion evidence of the Program's Warranty Representative.

The Program's request to have the Builder added as a party to the hearing creates an expectation that the Builder will give evidence at the hearing. Failure of a representative of the Builder to testify could have been dealt with had either party requested the Tribunal to issue a summons to the Builder.

The Applicants have established their claim respecting the colour of the brick and colour contrast. It is therefore the decision and order of this Tribunal that the Program shall arrange or contract for the application of external colouring of the brick quoining in order to achieve the colour contrast to which the Applicants and the Builder's agent had agreed. The application of external colouring by the Program shall include a guarantee that such colouring shall not bleed or otherwise discolour the remaining brickwork of the residential dwelling. Such colouring to be completed within six months of the release of this decision and provided further that the Applicants shall permit the Program and its agents reasonable access to the home to complete such work.

Appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap.H.8 as amended (the "Act"), from the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the Act.

TO APPEAL AN ORDER TO IMPOUND A MOTOR VEHICLE ISSUED BY THE REGISTRAR OF MOTOR VEHICLES

TRIBUNAL: Derek Israel
Presiding Vice-Chair

APPEARANCES: Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

Angyline Millar, Applicant
by Written submission only

DATE OF HEARING: December 22, 2000

DECISION RELEASED: December 27, 2000

REASONS FOR DECISION

A written hearing was held to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to Section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to Section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: Angyline Millar (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle: 1988 Pontiac 6000 LE, Plate # 662 ZKW (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal: December 1, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Suspension Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship as provided in section 50.2(3) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on December 22, 2000 and proceeded as a written hearing.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #8) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the order will result in exceptional hardship?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states:

Attached is my written appeal and supporting material. Unfortunately, I can not find my last bank statement so I am attaching a cancelled cheque and green machine statement of my current acct. Limited funds. Also I am enclosing a map of the region where I live to show you how isolated an area CARAMAT is.

P.S. I found my last statement which is enclosed.

November 25, 2000

The Licence Suspension Appeal Board
1 St. Clair Ave. West, 12th floor
Toronto, Ont. M4V 1K6

To whom it may concern,

I am submitting this appeal regarding the impoundment of my vehicle on Thursday evening, November 23rd. on the grounds that the loss of the vehicle will result in exceptional hardship.

As I told Reegit, the agent at the Licence Suspension Appeal Board, yesterday, I made an unsound decision to ask my partner, Don Pattison to drive for me on the wilderness logging road to Caramat that night. By the law I shouldn't have made that choice but I did spontaneously for the following reasons. It was late, about 10:30pm, I was tired and not feeling well enough to drive the icy conditions of the winding and hilly road in the dark. I am not use to driving in such winter conditions on these kinds of roads since I have lived most of my life on the west coast of B.C. and the past 5 years in Collingwood, Ontario. I only recently moved into this wilderness community on October 1st 2000. I had been told by local residents of the close calls and accidents people have had with the fast moving logging trucks along this road.. Also, that afternoon a Hydro truck had been towed out of the ditch because of icy spots along that same road. I was not up to the challenge since I was feeling head achy, muscle soreness and tired like a flu bug was upon me. Under the circumstances, I made the best choice I felt confident doing but a poor decision under the law because I asked my partner with a suspended licence to drive. He was not drinking and I trusted him to drive in these winter conditions better than myself because he has driven his whole life in Ontario.

I had no idea of the consequences of my choice to feel safer in the hands of a competent, sober driver with a suspended licence second to my fear of driving this curvy, icy back road feeling unsafe and not well.

I think it was interesting to see that night the police officer who drove us home and who has lived in the area all his life lost control of the police car on an icy corner and had us sliding all over the road before he gain control again. I know I don't I have the same knowledge of winter driving as this police officer or my partner so when I pulled off the main highway to ask my partner to drive I made the right choice in the present moment of my winter driving ability, health and conditions on this outback road.

Here we are on this dark logging road in the middle of the woods; no houses, no cars, except the odd logging truck and my partner driving the speed limit, and carefully when this police car comes out of the darkness on the side of the road then follows us eventually stopping us because he was doing a sobriety check.

What occurred next as a result of my ill decision to break the law instead of driving under the influence (sic) of fear of a possible accident has created an unbearable situation for my partner and I. The police officer who impounded my car had no compassion for my circumstance. I told him we had recently moved to Caramat. When he told me he was going to impound my car, I was devastated. I told him that we would be stuck in Caramat without a car. I needed to look for work, to buy food and to reach medical facilities in case of health problems or an accident. There are none of these amenities in this extremely rural community.

The village of Caramat is a community of approximately 50 families. This rural hamlet has no transit system, no post office, banks or grocery stores. So everyone has to drive to Long Lac or Geraldton, 45-75km to the next larger communities to shop and conduct business.

Now, without my car, I can not look for work or start my own business. We have lived here in the north for only 2 months so my neighbours I do not know well enough to burden them with my present situation. My partner, Donald Pattison, can not drive so he has been dependant on me for help to advertise for his small engine repair business he has started. He has very limited opportunities without a driver's licence to get work and supplies without my driving him places.

We have just been scrapping by since we moved here and paying bills has been a struggle. I need to find work in either Long Lac or Geraldton to sustain this poverty level of existence so without my vehicle I hate the option of thinking I will become a welfare case stranded in Caramat without any positive options.

The officer did not want to listen to my plea or even give me the courtesy of telling me that he was impounding my car for 45 days and sending it to Thunder Bay which is a 3-1/2 hour drive one way from Caramat. He gave the notice of impoundment to my partner not me so I didn't understand our severe predicament until we arrived home.

Now I am stuck without any means of transportation in a really desperate situation; to look for work, to pay my telephone and hydro bills, a Visa debt of approximately $1700.00 and only $48.00 in my bank account. What a degrading position that I am forced to reveal because I broke the law in the middle of the wilderness. For a person with money having their car impounded for 45 days may not mean too much but there is no way that I can afford to pay the impoundment fees and towing fees besides survive out in this forest community for 45 days without a car to occasionally go to Long Lac to buy some groceries, or network for prospective work in the area..

I really, would appreciate some leniency because of my limited financial situation. I can not afford to buy another car and the extraordinary hardship of living out here in Caramat without a vehicle is a frightening state of affairs for me. Enclosed please find copies of my recent Visa Statement and bank statement.

I have borrowed $100.00 to make this appeal. With some difficulty I have found an appeal application form at a legal aid clinic in Geraldton, 75km away. The nearest Motor Vehicle Branch in Long Lac, 45km away, told me that they did not have any appeal forms. Living in such an isolated area, I would appreciate an oral hearing in Caramat at the Community Centre which is close enough I can walk to in winter conditions or in Long Lac which is next closest location to where the incident happened, so that I could find someone to drive me into town.

Enclosed is a copy of the unsigned form the officer did not serve me but gave to my partner, Don Pattison. Also, find the appeal application form. I look forward to an understanding consideration of this appeal and a recovery of my vehicle before Christmas would be a wonderful gift of compassion.

Thank you for your time and caring concern of my isolated case.

Yours truly,

"Angyline Millar"

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar's evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record were as follows:

- 1) Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
- 2) Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Donald Pattison;
- 3) Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
- 4) Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence impaired driving under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension.
- 5) Copy of Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the Applicant is the registered owner of 1988 Pontiac 6000 LE motor vehicle plate # 662 ZKW.
- 6) Written submissions.

THE LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

(1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

- (3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,
- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
 - (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;

- (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
- (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of 50.2(3)(d).

With respect to an appeal under section 50.2(3)(d) alleging that the impoundment results in exceptional hardship, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary defines "exceptional hardship" as follows:

Exceptional : Of the nature of or forming an exception; unusual.

Hardship: 1. The quality of being hard to bear; hardness; severity. 2. Hardness of fate or circumstance; severe toil or suffering; extreme privation.

Also, where the owner appeals on the ground of exceptional hardship, subsection 50.2(4) provides:

(4) Clause (3) (d) does not apply if an order to impound under section 55.1 was previously made with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the same owner.

Further, subsection 55.1(28) of the Act provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, and specifically provides in clause (h) of subsection 55.1(28),

(h) prescribing criteria to be considered, and criteria not to be considered, by the Tribunal in determining in an appeal under section 50.2 whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound that is made under this section.

Section 22 of Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 632/98, provides for criteria to be considered and criteria not to be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 as follows:

- 22
- (1) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Tribunal shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available and, if no alternative is available, whether the impoundment will result in,
 - (a) a threat to the health or safety of any person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; or
 - (b) a threat to the public health and safety or to the environment or property of a community in whose service the motor vehicle is ordinarily used.

(2) In determining whether exceptional hardship will result from an order to impound under section 55.1 of the Act, the Tribunal shall not, subject to subsection (3), consider whether the impoundment will result in,

- (a) inconvenience to any person;
- (b) financial or economic loss to any person;
- (c) loss of employment or employment opportunity to any person; or
- (d) loss of education or training or of an educational or training opportunity to any person.

(3) The Tribunal may consider the criteria set out in clauses (2) (b), (c) and (d) if the owner demonstrates that,

- (a) no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available;
- (b) the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting;
- (c) the impact of the loss will be upon a person ordinarily transported by the motor vehicle; and
- (d) the impact of the loss,
 - (i) will be upon a person other than the person whose driving while his or her driver's licence was under suspension resulted in the order to impound the motor vehicle, and
 - (ii) will not be a result of a loss by the suspended driver of the type set out in clause (2)(b), (c) or (d).

(4) In order to show that no alternative to the impounded motor vehicle is available under subsection (1) or clause (3) (a), the owner must demonstrate that every reasonable option has been considered and inquired into that could eliminate or adequately mitigate any threat or loss to the person, including using another vehicle to replace the impounded motor vehicle and making arrangements to do without the impounded motor vehicle or a replacement during the impound period.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

FACTS FOUND PROVEN:

The following are the facts found by the Tribunal to be proven:

- 1) The Applicant is the owner of the motor vehicle that was subject to the impoundment order.
- 2) At the time of the motor vehicle's impoundment, it was being driven by Donald Pattison.
- 3) At the time of the motor vehicle's impoundment, Donald Pattison's driver's licence was under suspension due to a conviction under the Criminal Code of Canada for impaired driving.

By Appointment for and Notice of Written ("the notice") hearing dated December 8, 2000, the Tribunal required that the Registrar respond, in writing, by December 15, 2000, to the Appeal of the Applicant in this matter. The notice was sent to both the Registrar and the Applicant by courier on December 8, 2000 and was received by the Registrar in the central mail room at 2680 Keele Street, Downsview, Ontario, on December 11, 2000 but was only delivered to the Driver Improvement Office at that address on December 14, 2000. The party in the Driver Improvement Office responsible for responding to the Applicant's appeal in the matter was not able to file the Registrar's written submissions until December 18, 2000.

The Registrar's written submissions were accordingly filed late, and the Registrar requests that the Tribunal accept the late filing of his submissions.

The Tribunal in terms of Rule 5.2 of its Rules of Practice may extend the time prescribed under the rules on such terms as are just.

The Tribunal accordingly allows the late filing by the Registrar of his submissions and accepts the submissions of the Registrar dated December 18, 2000.

The onus of proof rests upon the Applicant to prove that the order to impound will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant did not deny that she is the registered owner of the impounded motor vehicle nor did she deny that the vehicle, at the time of its impoundment, was being driven by Donald Pattison and that the latter's driver's licence was at that stage under suspension.

Section 22 of Regulation 574, R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Regulation 632/98 states that the Tribunal shall consider whether no alternative to the impounded vehicle is available. In examining the Applicant's written reasons in support of her appeal the Applicant has in no way dealt with possible alternatives that she has enquired into. In fact from a perusal of Applicant's credit card statement of November 3, 2000 there is clearly stated thereon that the Applicant has $2,231.00 "available credit". This credit could be used by the Applicant to rent a motor vehicle while her vehicle remains impounded. The Applicant could, in addition to temporarily renting a motor vehicle, pay the storage charges following upon the motor vehicle's impoundment.

Apart from the foregoing the Applicant has not alleged or placed before the Tribunal any evidence that the impoundment will result in a threat to the health or safety of any person ordinarily transported by the vehicle. Furthermore, there has been no evidence that "the loss will be immediate, significant and lasting".

At best the Applicant may be able to claim that the vehicle's impoundment would result in inconvenience; however inconvenience shall not be considered by the Tribunal in determining whether exceptional hardship will result from the impound order.

The Tribunal finds the Applicant has not established that she has or will suffer exceptional hardship.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal by Equipment Express Inc. (the "Applicant"), and Cambridge Rigging Central Limited and 1130887 Ontario Inc. o/a Latta Crane Services respecting the decision of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Respondent") pursuant to section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act (Ontario) ("HTA"). The Registrar did not proceed against the latter two companies.

Equipment Express Inc. is a for-hire operator based in Ayr, Ontario. The company has a fleet size of 50 vehicles with 30% Ontario travel and an adjusted fleet size of 15. It operates primarily under special permits issued under section 110 of the Highway Traffic Act as an oversize/overweight operator. The officers of the company are Dean W. Merkley, president, and John J. Fitzpatrick, secretary/treasurer.

PRELIMINARY MATTERS:

The respondent wished, as a preliminary matter, to file at the hearing, correspondence between counsel for the parties which was dated subsequent to the correspondence included in the exhibits before the Tribunal and prior to the hearing on issues of disclosure pertaining to evidence that the Applicant had chosen not to present on the hearing and for the purpose of displaying the Applicant's attitude.

The Tribunal held that the ambit of the appeal is to review the Registrar's decision and the Registrar's material upon which the decision is based. The onus is on the Applicant to show why the Registrar should change his decision and it can, at the show cause hearing provide further evidence to the Registrar. The Applicant can, because this appeal is a hearing de novo, provide evidence that could have been presented and considered by the Registrar in making his decision or evidence that has a nexus to the facts that the Registrar considered or should have considered. The parties are entitled to disclosure and to know the case they must meet, but it is not for the Respondent to seek or require new evidence from the Applicant under the guise of disclosure and fairness. The Applicant has provided the Exhibits he intends to rely on and the documents in support of that. It is the Applicant's appeal/hearing and the onus is on the Applicant to prove that the decision of the Registrar should be altered. The Applicant decides on the case it wishes to present as long as there has been full and fair disclosure of that case to the Respondent.

It is the understanding of the Tribunal that the correspondence sought to be filed by the Respondent now was to display the attitude of the Applicant.

The Tribunal finds that the stance of counsel for the Applicant in properly putting forth his/her client's case is not relevant. It is the attitude of the Applicant regarding safety of the carrier on the highways as presented to the Registrar (or as could have been presented to the Registrar and as is presented through proper evidence on this hearing de novo) that is relevant on this appeal. The Tribunal ruled that the additional correspondence sought to be admitted by the Respondent would not be filed.

FACTS:

The Show Cause Proceeding

Cambridge Rigging Central Limited and 1130887 Ontario Inc. are two affiliated companies for which the Suspension and Seizure Order was withdrawn by the Registrar.

After the show cause hearing on December 7, 1999, the initial 15 day Suspension and Seizure Order was changed pursuant to a Fleet Limitation Order dated February 3, 2000 to a 30 day fleet limitation, restricting the number of commercial motor vehicles operated within Ontario by Equipment Express Inc. to thirty (30), effective from 8:00 a.m. on February 21, 2000 to 7:59 a.m. on March 22, 2000. The Fleet Limitation Order also provided that the Applicant's rating would remain conditional for a minimum of 6 months.

The Registrar's Fleet Limitation Order is Set Out Below:

WHEREAS, a notice of suspension and seizure dated 22nd day of November, 1999 was issued proposing a 15 day suspension of the CVOR certificate issued to Equipment Express Inc., Cambridge Rigging central Limited and 1130887 Ontario Inc. o/a Latta Crane Services and seizure of plate portions of permits and number plates.

AND WHEREAS, provided in the notice, you had the opportunity to make submissions at a meeting with the Deputy Registrar on the 7th day of December, 1999 to show cause why the suspension and seizure should not be issued.

AND WHEREAS, I have considered your submissions and your safety record including your record of convictions, accidents, vehicle inspections, history of past dealings with the ministry and investigation summary results of January 10, 2000. I remain concerned for highway safety.

NOW THEREFORE IT IS ORDERED that pursuant to section 47 of the Highway Traffic Act that as of the 21st day of February, 2000, a fleet limitation be imposed for thirty (30) days. This Order restricts the number of commercial motor vehicles operated within Ontario by Equipment Express Inc. to thirty (30).

The fleet limitation will be effective at 8:00 a.m. Eastern Standard Time on the 21st day of February, 1999 [2000] to 7:59 a.m. on the 22nd day of March, 2000.

During the said period, the driver of any commercial vehicle operated by Equipment Express Inc. must carry and surrender upon demand for inspection an(d) ORIGINAL Fleet Limitation Certificate. This is in addition to any other required documentation. Thirty (30) original fleet limitation certificates bearing series numbers AB 9747 to AB 0776 inclusive accompany this order.

FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that your rating will remain Conditional for a minimum of 6 months.

DATED at St. Catharines this 3rd day of February, 1999 [2000].

ISSUES:

1. Is the Order made by the Registrar required to ensure that the Applicant will operate its commercial vehicles safely or in accordance with the HTA, the regulations or other laws related to highway safety?
2. Do the facts as they stood before the Registrar warrant the issuance of the 15 day Fleet Limitation Order for 30 of the Applicant's commercial motor vehicles?
3. Is the Registrar's Order fair?
4. Is the penalty imposed by the Order appropriate?

THE LAW:

47.(1) Subject to section 47.1, the Registrar may suspend or cancel,

- (a) the plate portion of a permit as defined in Part II;
- (b) a driver's licence; or
- (c) CVOR certificate, on the grounds of,
- (d) misconduct for which the holder is responsible directly or indirectly, related to the operation or driving of a motor vehicle;
- (e) conviction of the holder for an offence referred to in subsection 210(1) or (2); or
- (f) the Registrar having reason to believe, having regard to the safety record of the holder or of a person related to the holder, and any other information that the Registrar considers relevant, that the holder will not operate a commercial motor vehicle safely or in accordance with this Act, the regulations and other laws relating to highway safety; or
- (g) any other sufficient reason not referred to in clause (d), (e) or (f).

(2) As an alternative to a suspension or cancellation under subsection (1), the Registrar may, subject to section 47.1, restrict the number of commercial motor vehicles that may be operated by a holder of a CVOR certificate during the period that the Registrar stipulates.

.....

(10) The Registrar may, at any time for misconduct or contravention of this Act, the Truck Transportation Act, the Public Vehicles Act or of any regulation thereunder by an owner or lessee of one or more motor vehicles or trailers for which permits have been issued by a jurisdiction or jurisdictions other than the Province of Ontario, order that the permit and number plates issued for the vehicle or vehicles be seized and any police officer or any officer appointed for carrying out this Act or the enforcement of the Public Vehicles Act or the Truck Transportation Act may seize the permit and number plates and deliver them to the Ministry which shall return them to the authority that issued them.

According to Section 22(e) HTA:

- 22.(e) the Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations, governing the suspension or cancellation of CVOR certificates under subsection 47(1) or the imposition of a limitation on the fleet size operated under a CVOR certificate under subsection 47(2).

The maintenance requirements under the HTA are found, inter alia, at Regulation 575 (commercial motor vehicle inspections); Regulation 577 (covering of loads); Regulation 587 (re brake push rod travel); Regulation 597 (gross vehicle weights); Regulation 625 (tire standards and specifications); Regulation 762/91 (safety inspections); Regulation 614 (security of loads).

The appeal comes to this Board by virtue of s. 50(1) of the HTA which provides:

- 50.(1) Every person aggrieved by a decision of the Minister under subsection 17(2) or (3) or subclause 32(12)(b)(i) or a decision of the Registrar under section 47 may appeal the decision to the Licence Suspension Appeal Board.
- (2) The Board may confirm, modify or set aside the decision of the Minister or Registrar.

Regulation 574 under the Act, also addresses appeals to this Board. Section 3 of that Regulation provides:

3. (3) Upon receipt of a notice of appeal under subsection (1) the Board shall forthwith notify the Minister or Registrar, as the case may be, and the person notified shall forthwith provide the Board with all the relevant documents and other material in his or her possession.

.....

- (6) At any hearing under this section, the person making the appeal has the right to attend and make representations and, subject to subsection (7), to adduce evidence respecting the appeal either personally or through counsel.

- (7) At any hearing under this section, the Board shall hear only such evidence as was submitted to the Minister or the Registrar, as the case may be, respecting the matter in dispute.

THE EVIDENCE:

Margaret Mooney, head of Control and Sanctions for the Ministry of Transportation, testified on behalf of the Respondent and explained generally how the Commercial Vehicle Operator's Registration Certificate ("CVOR") rating system works. She also explained that after June of 1999, all inspections, whether they were "clean" (without defects noted during the inspection) or not, were included in the analysis whereas prior to June of 1999, only inspection identifying defects were included in the analysis.

Ms. Mooney explained that the objective of the Registrar was to keep Ontario highways safe. She reviewed the process of inspections done on commercial motor vehicles under which the results are measured against the standards set under the Highway Traffic Act and regulations, using the National Safety Code (Exhibit 3, Volume 2, Tab 34) and The Commercial Vehicle Safety Alliance (CVSA) (Exhibit 3, Volume 2, Tab 33) criteria. The carrier is given points for accidents, detentions and convictions which are registered against its CVOR.

Ms. Mooney also reviewed the processes used by the Ministry of Transportation, Ontario (the "Ministry") to assess a carrier's safety record, including inspections resulting in a CVIR, a warning letter, facility audits, the interview and the manual analysis of the carrier's history of interventions and CVOR record to ensure that there are no duplicate events, whether the company has affiliates, verification of the fleet size and an analysis of the OOS rates and threshold, a review of the SafetyNet reports which is a record of all defects and OOS defects found on the carrier in Ontario (Tab 21) and the police accident reports.

The evidence referred to by Ms. Mooney can be found at Exhibit 3:

- m) Facility Audit Findings – report dated September 5, 1997 indicating a 45% compliance rate for Drivers and an overall Audit Compliance Achieved of 64.50%. Specific driver files reviewed indicated problems with driver logs, hours of work, lack of a monitoring system for drivers, qualification of drivers with a detailed Action Plan with seven listed items and signed by Mr. Merkley. This audit was conducted at the request of another operator after an accident in St. Thomas where the Applicant's trailer broke in two. Tab 23;
- n) Interview dated March 31, 1998 – Mr. Merkley acknowledges that the company management has focused on business and neglected safety, there has been rapid growth, no driver training, no driver discipline, no accident follow-up and policies or processes. An action plan with a strong commitment to improvement is signed by Mr. Merkley: p.296, Tab22;
- o) Safety Action Plan signed by D.J. Adams, Safety Manager in March of 1998 indicates: “Equipment Express Inc. is committed to ensuring our vehicles are well maintained with a clear line of reporting; drivers are qualified, capable with equipment as well as rules of the road, are alert and rested; in order to follow the addage of “STRIVE TO ARRIVE ALIVE”. We are encouraged by the goal of
- p) government and industry to do our part in “Making Ontario's Roads Safer”.: Tab 22, p. 300;
- q) Bond Audit – October 4, 1999 indicated a driver compliance rate of 24.4% (as compared to the previous audit driver compliance rate of 45% in September of 1997 (see p.332 – Tab23). This audit indicated that the Applicant has not established a monitoring system to identify occasions when drivers violate the provisions of the HTA relating to hours of work and failed to document training for all drivers in the proper completion of daily logs. The operator has failed to demand all records within the twenty days and failed to monitor drivers daily logs for accuracy with the records required to be maintained. Operator has no disciplinary policy or procedure to ensure drivers maintain accurate daily logs or surrender the required documents or records. Also a “no” was indicated for “safety programs and training evaluated”. Odometer readings were not kept for broker vehicles at the time of repair, maintenance or inspection. Accident records/particulars were to be kept on file for not less than two years.

Tab21- p.281,282

Analysis of the CVOR at Tab 10, p.160; dated November 9, 1999 of the Applicant's CVOR for the period 1997-09-23 to 1999-09-22 indicates:

- i) A violation rate for the 24 month period of 95.56% (which did not include 13 points for an accident and 2 convictions occurring in that period and an OOS rate of 80% for the period from April 1, 1998 to March 31, 1999. It was Ms. Mooney's evidence that the violation rate is what translates into “on the road performance” and is calculated based on accidents, convictions and detentions;
- ii) Equipment Express had 5 “pointable” accidents over a 24 month period of the analysis. This is 250% over the standard. Its accident threshold percentage was 154.61%; The applicant had a conviction threshold percentage of 98.54%. Tab 15, p.245 CVOR Performance Analysis Worksheet.

- iii) Ms. Mooney testified that the CVOR program triggers the top 5% carriers or the worst offenders of the safety standards in Ontario.

IN CROSS-EXAMINATION, Ms. Mooney's evidence included the following:

Ms. Mooney did concede that the Applicant undertook to improve its accident record in March of 1998 and had no further "pointable" accidents since April of 1998.

The Applicant's position was that there was no indication in the action plan(s) that 25% improvement was required (which Ms. Mooney says is the minimum over each six month period the MTO requires of a carrier under review) and therefore the Applicant did not have the benefit of the improvement in the accident rate since April of 1998 for the Registrar's analysis.

There was a total of 9 convictions for permit violations out of 6400 loads (.001%),
Tab 10: p. 164

Tab 22, p.321 – the Safety Action Plan Review indicates i) policies and procedures were developed including a Terms of Reference and Information package for each member. The Applicant was now developing guidelines as set by WSIB; ii) an Accident Prevention and Health and Safety Committee was established with training set for October 17th. The applicant hired a Safety Manager trained as a certified member as at Sept.10/98; iii) Driver Training Program – Training began for new company drivers and owner-operators and a quarterly newsletter focusing on sharing information and safety issues was started.

A Safety Manager was hired March 1998, although Mr. Adams could not remember who this was.

There was a significant improvement in the OOS rate immediately following the 80% OOS rate. From April 1, 1999 to August 31, 1999, there was an OOS rate of 14.3%. This rose to 20% for the period spanning a whole year, i.e. Sept.98 to Oct.1999.

The January 6,7 & 10, 2000 audit focussed solely on log books.

Mr. Bond told Adams that in his opinion, it would take 6 months for the log monitoring system implemented by the Applicant to work. The audit clerk, Ms. White, was hired October 18th, 1999, trained and then started her job in November of 1999.

The next witness was Mr. McKay, a facility audit administrator with the MTO's audit program. He oversees audits, quality control and conducts audits himself. He and Mr. Brown did the investigation on the hours of work audit on the Applicant on January 6, 7 and 10, 2000. The scope of the investigation was an analysis over a one month period, since the Applicant's compliance clerk was hired on October 18, 2000. The audit consisted of a review only of paperwork, that is, checking the location of the vehicle when there is a change in duty so that this can be used as a check against other information such as speed, distance, driving times, work cycles (over 60 hours in 7 days; over 70 hours in 8 days and over 120 hours in 14 days). The log records are required pursuant to the regulations so that compliance with hours of work legislation may be verified.

Mr. McKay and Mr. Brown's audit was done in January of 2000 for a period of November and December of 1999. The result was a compliance rate of 24.4%. 55% is a passing compliance rate. None of the 10 driver files reviewed were in compliance for cycles.

Mr. Adams, Mr. Merkley and Ms. White testified for the Applicant.

Mr. Adams is the Safety Manager for the Applicant who was hired in March of 1998. His responsibilities are compliance, safety and training of drivers and vehicles. He testified that he reports to the president and has full authority to stop activity that results in non-compliance and has authority to discipline drivers. His mandate when hired in March of 1998 was to solve the problem regarding accidents identified in the last six months and to review the training of drivers and safety and compliance, but his priority was to address the accident record which was done primarily through the training of drivers.

Mr. Adams testified that upon his review of the CVOR Certificate in March of 1998, he concluded that there was no issue regarding hours of work infractions. This did not surprise him because in his words, "being a heavy haul carrier, there was no pressure on the drivers not to comply with hours of work regulations as could happen for other types of load carriers. He also prepared and implemented policies regarding the hiring process and a training profile in order to meet the Action Plan set out at Exhibit #3, Tab 22, p. 297. This took him 18 months to develop and he has assessed the success of this effort by the fact that there were no "pointable" accidents after March of 1998.

Mr. Adams testified that the audit done by Mr. Bond (Ex. #3, Tab 21) was a surprise to him because he could not detect the problems regarding hours of work and OOS rates from the CVOR or from his own inspection. Pursuant to Mr. Bond's recommendation that a full-time person was needed to review logs, Ms. White was hired. At Exhibit #3, Tab 15 – "Detailed Record Chart", the OOS rates over two years are shown as decreasing (p.242), accidents are shown as decreasing with the last "pointable" accident in February of 1998, and convictions are shown as decreasing.

Mr. Adams testified that there were 10 permit violations in 24 months out of 6400 loads (see p. 164). He also testified that he did not say at the Show Cause meeting that the problem regarding logs was fixed but that he had a system to identify problems so that they could be addressed.

Mr. Adams said he inspected the CVOR of the Applicant in order to prepare the Action Plan (pgs. 298-300) filed with the Ministry, but he did not review the facility audit done by MTO on September 2, 1997. He also testified that until the Bond audit, he did not check logs for falsification of records.

Ms. White testified for the Applicant. She confirmed the date of hire and her mandate as indicated by Mr. Adams. She confirmed that she reported to Mr. Adams and not to Mr. Snobgrass. She also confirmed that she did not work with the dispatcher, and she did not have authority to discipline the drivers. Her evidence included a review of the mechanics of her job. She also confirmed that the software recommended by the MTO in January of 2000 during their audit was purchased and installed on January 11, 2000. A review of the charges laid by the MTO as a result of the January 2000 investigation, as set out at Exhibit 3, Tab 6B was done. Ms. White testified she learned during the audit of some of the problem areas which she was not detecting.

The evidence of Dean Merkley, president and part owner of the Applicant, included an historical review of his involvement in the company. He was first hired to increase sales for the company. His involvement in operations began in 1993 when he and Mr. Fitzpatrick bought into the company. The equipment at that time was in poor shape and a serious problem. In January of 1994, Mr. Merkley participated for the first time in an audit by MTO. It was undertaken at that time to implement a driver training program. Mr. Merkley confirmed that this was not done until March of 1998 when he hired Mr. Adams to set up a program.

He also testified that the logs and hours of work were not addressed for three years after his first involvement with MTO. The hours of work monitoring for accuracy and completeness was outsourced after the audit by Mr. Bond in September of 1997. It was not until the 1999 audit confirmed that the outsourcing of the hours of work monitoring was not working that Ms. White was hired.

Mr. Merkley was then involved in the interview by MTO in August of 1994 (Exhibit #3, Tab 27), and an Action Plan was prepared (Exhibit #3, p. 362) where a commitment was made to address the problem with accidents. Mr. Dietrich was hired. He worked as a dispatch co-ordinator and was responsible for staff training. As the fleet grew, he had less time for training and log monitoring and became overworked.

The audit by Mr. Bond was done in September 1997, and accidents continued to be a problem. The accidents had increased and were more serious. It was apparent that some things were not working, and the logs were outsourced. Finally in March of 1998, Mr. Adams was hired to address this problem and by the time the audit of October 1999 took place, the problem with accidents seems to have been rectified.

Mr. Merkley said the reason for the delay in addressing these problems was that he was allocating resources to up-date equipment and make it safe. Oddly enough, the SafetyNet report for the period April 1, 1998 to March 31, 1999 indicated an increase in the violation rate to 80%. This is the year immediately following the hiring of Mr. Adams.

The audit done by Mr. Bond in October of 1999 showed the log problem to continue. This problem was the same one identified as far back as 1993 when Mr. Merkley became involved in operations and 1994 when he became involved with the MTO interventions and actions plans. The monitoring of the logs was not effective because the underlying documents were not being used to verify and monitor the information on the logs.

The next two witnesses were sworn in and empanelled to testify together with respect to the Gough Report (Exhibit #5). It was held that Mr. Gough and Mr. McMaster would be accepted as expert witnesses on the four points outlined at pages 17 and 18 of Exhibit #5: (reproduced below)

1. Whether the policies, procedures and systems which Equipment Express Inc. now has in place are sufficient to ensure compliance by Equipment Express Inc. with the requirements of the HTA and its regulations;

2. Whether the policies, procedures and systems which Equipment Express Inc. has in place meet the highest industry standards for ensuring compliance with the HTA and its regulations;
3. What changes, if any, in the policies, procedures and systems which Equipment Express Inc. are required to ensure compliance;
4. Whether the system designed to ensure that drivers meet the hours of work requirements is an appropriate one, and second, an assessment of how long it would take the system if operating properly to ensure that drivers comply with the hours of work requirements.

The empanelled witnesses testified as follows:

1. They were hired in March of 2000 to look at the Applicant's system.
2. They spoke to Mr. Adams and to Mr. Merkley about the systems in place. They did not speak to Mr. Snodgrass or to Mr. Tait. They spoke briefly to Mr. Fitzpatrick and did not meet Mr. Dietrich. Their review consisted of identifying the systems that were in place but did not extend to testing any of the systems.
3. No specific overweight infractions were examined.
4. When analyzing the OOS defects and points on the CVOR, the panel members did not look at the CVIRs.
5. They categorized a flat tire as something that could happen anytime without inquiring as to whether there was anything that could have been done to prevent the flat tire. There was no reference back to the prior inspection of this vehicle to see when the last inspection was done and whether tires were a problem.
6. The schedule of training was not cross-referenced to the specific driver files.
7. One accident file was reviewed, but the panel members kept no note of which file it was. They focussed on the fact that an accident review committee was established and that a file was created when an accident occurred.
8. The report was largely based on what the panel members were told as opposed to their own review and testing of the system, including hours of work.
9. There was a visual inspection of the maintenance system by Mr. McMaster. Mr. McMaster has no mechanical background. He did facility audits for 7 years but never did CVSA inspections.

10. The log charges arising from the January 2000 inspection were not looked at because the panel members were not requested to do so and could not therefore assist this Tribunal regarding the nature of the findings.
11. It was the opinion of Mr. Gough that there was no established trend of problems regarding hours of work for the Applicant and, therefore did not see a problem with the hours of work. It was further explained that the mandate for his report was to look at a certain point which does not include the period of the McKay Brown Audit (January 2000) and the Bond Audit (October 1999).

Mr. Merkley testified that his concerns were the loss of revenue during the fleet limitation and even more so, his loss of reputation which was invaluable. He was also concerned that competitors would use the information against them with their customers.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO THE FACTS:

Under subsection 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act, the Registrar may suspend or cancel a plate portion of a permit, driver's licence or CVOR and under subsection 47(2) of the Highway Traffic Act, restrict the number of commercial motor vehicles operating under a CVOR for a period stipulated by the Registrar.

Throughout the long history of interventions by the Ministry of Transportation of Ontario, since 1991, the Applicant has continually indicated it would take steps to achieve a level of performance that would bring its operating record into compliance. This did occur during the period under review albeit after repeated intervention by the MTO. The evidence of the president of the company was that he acknowledged the company was concentrating on growth and other associated issues and not safety issues until about 1998. He did however, indicate that when he hired Mr. Adams, he gave him complete authority to address the safety issues and was committed to improving the safety record. From the time Mr. Adams was hired, the accident record improved dramatically and driver hiring, training and discipline procedures were implemented.

Mr. Adam's review of the logs did not indicate to him a serious problem, and this remained inadequately addressed. Upon identification again of this problem at the October 1999 audit, Ms. White was hired and a manual monitoring system was implemented. At the time of the hearing before the Tribunal, the applicant took the position that it was not given ample opportunity, in light of the type of carrier it was, to be able to prove that the system would be effective in reducing or eliminating the log problems. The applicant relied heavily on the opinion of an MTO officer who indicated that he estimated that it would take 6 months to see the results of the system implemented due to the nature of the carrier's work.

The Tribunal finds that the Applicant has made the commitment to safety and has taken the necessary steps to ensure that its record comes into and remains in compliance in all respects, its drivers are trained, monitored and disciplined when necessary. Although the results of the January 2000 audit are unsatisfactory, the Tribunal is prepared to give the Applicant the benefit of the doubt based on the evidence of the system implemented and the time that would be required to obtain satisfactory results, that the Applicant is fully committed to rectifying the log problems and that they will indeed do so and that the Applicant is fully committed to continue working on a good safety record overall.

The Tribunal has given no weight at all to the Gough Report. The period of review of the safety record and commitment of the Applicant considered by the Registrar ended on February 3, 2000 which was the date of the Fleet Limitation Order. The Gough Report does not address the relevant time period and the facts in existence during that time period. Nonetheless, had the Gough Report been based on the appropriate period of time and the facts arising within that period, the Tribunal would give very little weight to the report. The report was vague and did not address the relevant issues. The opinions expressed were based largely on unsubstantiated hearsay and not on documents or facts reviewed and tested by the authors of the report.

DECISION:

Pursuant to the jurisdiction vested in it under subsection 50(2) of the Highway Traffic Act and FOR THE REASONS GIVEN ABOVE, the Tribunal orders that the decision of the Registrar to impose a 30 day Fleet Limitation Order restricting the number of commercial motor vehicles operated within Ontario by Equipment Express Inc. to thirty (30) motor vehicles be set aside.

TO APPEAL AN ORDER TO IMPOUND A MOTOR VEHICLE ISSUED BY THE REGISTRAR OF MOTOR VEHICLES

TRIBUNAL: NIVES MONTANO
Presiding member

APPEARANCES: KIM BEINTEMA
Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

SHARON IRENE PIGDEN, Applicant
unrepresented

DATE OF HEARING: December 21, 2000 Toronto

DECISION RELEASED: December 28, 2000 By teleconference

REASONS FOR DECISION

A hearing was held on December 21, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O., 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA" or the "Act").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the Order to Impound imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 55.1(3) of the HTA.

BACKGROUND:

This is an appeal under section 50.2 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter H.8, as amended (the "Act").

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Registrar"), made an order under section 55.1 of the Act to impound a motor vehicle. That order has been appealed by the owner. The owner, motor vehicle, and date of appeal are as follows:

Owner: Sharon Irene Pigden (the "Applicant")
Motor Vehicle: 1988 GMC Sierra SLE 1500, plate # 647 8CT (the "vehicle")
Date of Appeal: December 4, 2000

The Applicant filed an appeal of this impoundment order with the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") together with supporting documentation and the required $100.00 fee payable to the Minister of Finance.

The owner appeals on the basis that the vehicle owner exercised due diligence to determine that the driver's licence was not suspended as provided in section 50.2(3) of the Act.

This matter came before this Tribunal on December 21, 2000 and proceeded as a teleconference hearing.

The Tribunal asked the parties if they wished to make any submissions prior to the Tribunal commencing the hearing.

There were no preliminary matters in dispute between the parties and the hearing proceeded.

ISSUE:

The Applicant's request for a hearing filed with this Tribunal (Exhibit #1) identifies the basis of the Applicant's appeal.

Should the Tribunal set aside the Registrar's order to impound the vehicle on the basis that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension?

FACTS:

The Tribunal heard the evidence given in support of the Applicant and the Respondent.

Evidence for the Applicant

A summary of the Applicant's evidence follows.

Applicant's written submission filed with the Tribunal in support of appeal states (Exhibit #2):

To: Registrar and Board

I knew that Mr. Baldwin had a license but did not know that there was an unpaid fine which suspended his license. With no notice, people do not realize this.

I am asking for a telephone conference as I have no transportation there and cannot afford to take time off of work as I work for a temp. service and need every shift I can get.

The following is a summary of the Applicant's affirmed testimony.

The Applicant has been dating/living with Mr. Baldwin, the driver of the impounded vehicle, for the past 3 months. The Applicant indicated that she had seen Mr. Baldwin's driver's licence strewn on a table and just glanced at it. She did not examine it in any way or make any inquiries with regard to its validity.

On the day the vehicle was impounded, Mr. Baldwin was visiting family in Toronto and was stopped by police on his return home to Belleville. He was impaired and was ultimately incarcerated. The Applicant was advised of what had transpired by a voicemail message left on her answering machine at 2 a.m. on November 18, 2000.

In the Applicant's testimony, Mr. Baldwin drove "quite a bit" even though he was not to have care and control of a vehicle until January 16, 2002 due to a Criminal Code conviction dated February 11, 1999 for driving while disqualified.

Evidence for the Registrar

A summary of the Registrar evidence follows.

The documents tendered by the Registrar and admitted into the record on consent of the Applicant were as follows (Exhibit #4):

1. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that, among other things, the impounded motor vehicle herein is registered in the name of the Applicant as owner;
2. Copy of Notice to the Registrar indicating, among other things, that the vehicle at the time it was detained was being driven by Rodger Baldwin;
3. Copy of the Order by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the vehicle;
4. Copy of the Ministry of Transportation records indicating that the driver at the time of impoundment had been convicted of the offence of driving while disqualified or prohibited under the Criminal Code of Canada pursuant to which the driver's licence of the driver was then under suspension until January 16, 2002.

LAW:

Section 55.1 of the Act provides that the Registrar may make an order that a motor vehicle be impounded, and section 50.2 provides the motor vehicle owner's right of appeal to the Tribunal. The Tribunal on the appeal may, pursuant to subsection 50.2(5) of the Act, confirm or set aside the order to impound, and the decision of the Tribunal is, pursuant to subsection 50.2(8) final and binding.

Subsection 55.1(3) of the Act states:

(3) Upon notification under subsection (2), the Registrar may, without a hearing, issue an order to release the motor vehicle or issue an order to impound the motor vehicle that was being driven by the driver whose driver's licence is under suspension, as follows:

1. For 45 days, if an order to impound under this section has not previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
2. For 90 days, if one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.
3. For 180 days, if more than one order to impound under this section has previously been made, within a prescribed period, with respect to any motor vehicle then owned by the owner of the vehicle currently being impounded.

Ontario Regulation 574 R.R.O. 1990, as amended by Ontario Regulation 631/98 provides that the prescribed period, referred to above, is two years.

The right of the owner to appeal to this Tribunal where that owner's motor vehicle has been impounded is provided in section 50.2 of the Act, with subsection 50.2(1) stating:

- (1) The owner of a motor vehicle that is subject to an order to impound under section 55.1 may, upon paying the prescribed fee, appeal the order to the Tribunal.

By subsection 50.2(2) of the Act, the parties to an appeal are the owner and the Registrar. The "owner" for the purposes of the section is defined in subsection 50.2(11) as:

"Owner" means the person whose name appears on the certificate of registration for the vehicle, and, where the certificate of registration for the vehicle consists of a vehicle portion and plate portion, means the person whose name appears on the vehicle portion.

The owner may appeal the Registrar's order on only four specific grounds set out in subsection 50.2(3):

- (3) The only grounds on which an owner may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may set aside the order to impound are,
- (a) that the motor vehicle that is subject to the order was stolen at the time in respect of which the order was made;
 - (b) that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension;
 - (c) that the owner of the motor vehicle exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that the driver's licence of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension; or
 - (d) that the order will result in exceptional hardship.

The Applicant here appeals on the basis of subsection 50.2(3)(c).

With respect to an appeal under subsection 50.2(3)(c) alleging that the owner exercised due diligence prior to releasing the vehicle to the driver, the Shorter Oxford Dictionary provides the definition of "due diligence" as follows:

Due: A. adj. 1. That is owing or payable, as a debt. 2. Belonging or falling to by right. 3. That ought to be giving or rendered; merited. 4. Such as ought to be; fitting; proper; rightful. 5. Such as is requisite or necessary; adequate. 6. To be ascribed or attributed; owing to, caused by, in consequence of. 7. Under engagement or contract to be ready or arrive (at a defined time).

Diligence: 1. The quality of being diligent; industry, assiduity. 2. Speed, dispatch. 3. Careful attention, heedfulness, caution. 4. Law. The attention and care due from a person in a given situation....

Also, "due diligence" in Black's Law Dictionary (sixth edition) at page 457 is as follows:

Due diligence: Such a measure of prudence, activity, or assiduity, as is properly to be expected from, and ordinarily exercised by, a reasonable and prudent man under the particular circumstances; not measured by any absolute standard, but depending on the relative facts of the special case.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO FACTS:

The issue to be considered in this appeal is whether the Applicant exercised due diligence in attempting to determine that Mr. Baldwin's driver's licence at the time in respect of which the order was made was not then under suspension.

The Applicant testified that she is the owner of the vehicle that has been impounded and at the time of impoundment Mr. Baldwin was driving the vehicle.

The onus of proof is on the Applicant to establish that due diligence was performed which is required under Section 50.2(3)(c) of the Act.

The evidence before the Tribunal, in the Applicant's own testimony, was that the Applicant at no point in time asked Mr. Baldwin if he possessed a valid driver's licence. She merely assumed that Mr. Baldwin had a valid driver's licence and the thought never crossed her mind to check. She relied on his honesty and integrity. Unfortunately, the Applicant did not take any measures to ensure that he had a valid driver's licence. By merely viewing a driver's licence does not constitute the necessary step to ensure its validity. Furthermore, there was no evidence heard that would confirm the Applicant's actions were anything but passive in nature.

The Tribunal therefore has no evidence that the Applicant exercised due diligence as required by section 50.2(3)(c) of the Act.

DECISION:

After considering the evidence, pursuant to the authority vested in the Tribunal under section 50.2(5) of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended, the Tribunal confirms the Order of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to impound the Applicant's motor vehicle.

FACTS:

The Director's Grounds for Revocation:

By Notice dated May 24, 2000, the Director of Vehicle Inspection Standards revoked pursuant to subsection 91(8)(a) and (e) and section 93(a) and (c) of the Highway Traffic

Act R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H8 as amended:

- 6. Certificate Number 0187756 dated on or about February 18, 2000 concerning a 1986 Ford.

AND FURTHER ON THE GROUNDS that the licensee has failed to comply with the Act and regulations in operation of its station, in failing to maintain proper equipment in the station indicated in a report dated May 27, 1997, and dated February 18, 2000 and in the issuance of Certificate Number 6933298 dated January 23, 1998 concerning a 1981 GMC

(b) to revoke effective 21 days after service of this Notice, the registration of Motor Vehicle Inspection Mechanic, Winston Prescod who holds Trade Certificate Number 310S-059177

AND FURTHER ON THE GROUNDS that the mechanic has failed to comply with the Act and regulations in the issuance of Safety Standard Certificates as follows:

- 7. Certificate Number 6861908 dated on or about May 1, 1997 concerning a 1986 Ford.
- 8. Certificate Number 7809331 dated on or about April 7, 1998 concerning a 1983 Pontiac.

12. Certificate Number 0187754 dated on or about February 8, 2000 concerning a 1986 Ford.
13. Certificate Number 0187756 dated on or about February 18, 2000 concerning a 1986 Ford.

The Respondent called several inspectors for the Ministry of Transportation that were involved in the investigation of the Applicant.

MTO Inspector, Larry Grimaldi, testified that in response to a complaint (exhibit #5 page 40), he performed several facility audits of the Applicant's premises, and initiated an investigation of several of the vehicles for which Safety Standards Certificates ("SSC's") had been issued by the Applicant (exhibit #5 page 38). Subsequent charges and convictions were also recorded.

The audits determined that the Applicant was consistently missing specific equipment and measuring devices that were necessary for the performance of safety inspection on vehicles as required under the regulations. It was also determined that the Trade Certificate for the Applicant had expired in 1995. Inspector Grimaldi summarized the intervention history of the Director with the Applicant, and noted that convictions for violations relating to the Applicant's operations in issuing SSC's had also been recorded in 1978, 1982, 1984, 1986 and in 1988.

MTO Inspector Andrew Soutar acting on the above mentioned complaint, performed an inspection at the owners request, on a 1986 Ford. The owner, Mr. Paul Murray, had purchased the vehicle for his daughter's use. While driving the vehicle, the daughter was flagged down by another motorist who noticed that a wheel was loose. Inspector Soutar testified that this vehicle had traveled 62 kilometers since being issued an SSC by the Applicant. Numerous safety related defects were found on the vehicle by Inspector Soutar relating to brakes, wheels, and steering items. Inspector Soutar also inspected the Applicants premises, and testified that the Applicant had missing or inoperable specific tools and measuring devices that were necessary for the performance of safety inspections on vehicles as required under the Regulations. Inspector Soutar also recovered the inspection station copy of the SSC issued for the above mentioned vehicle from the Applicant (exhibit #5 page 49), and it bears the Applicant's signature. Inspector Soutar determined that all the defects found on this vehicle were present at the time the SSC was issued by the Applicant.

MTO Inspector Donald Rutherford testified that he performed a routine CVSA inspection on a 1981 GMC truck that had been issued an SSC by the Applicant 15 days and 417 kilometers prior. The vehicle was found to have several leafs of one of its leaf spring assemblies broken (exhibit #5 page 61), and the vehicle was declared unfit and had its plates removed by Inspector Rutherford. Inspector Rutherford determined that all the defects found on this vehicle were present at the time the SSC was issued by the Applicant.

MTO Inspector Gary Spence testified that he performed an inspection (exhibit #5 page 73) on a 1983 Pontiac some 44 days and 81 kilometers since the SSC had been issued by the Applicant. It was found to have severe defects relating to parking brake, control arms, chassis and frame integrity, and brake system.

MTO Inspector Mark Horton testified that he performed a follow up investigation at the premises of the Applicant, and found that there had been no work order for the issuance of the SSC for this vehicle, and that the Applicant was lacking several tools required for the performance of SSC inspections.

Upon another complaint from a vehicle owner, MTO Inspector Gordon Waldron performed an inspection (exhibit #5 page 105) on a 1986 Chevrolet at the owner's home. The vehicle had been purchased through an auction with an SSC from the prior owner. The vehicle was un-drivable as it was found to have a forward sub frame assembly that had separated from the rest of the vehicle due to severe corrosion damage (exhibit #6). 11 days and 269 kilometers had elapsed since the SSC was issued. It was also determined by Inspector Waldron, that the SSC for this vehicle bearing the date of January 13, 2000 had come from an SSC book that had been purchased by the Applicant from the MTO head office on January 21, 2000. Inspector Waldron concluded that the SSC issued for this vehicle had in fact been back-dated by the Applicant.

MTO Inspector Peter Dodsley testified that he performed an inspection on a 1982 Oldsmobile some 44 days and 2,545 kilometers after it's SSC had been issued by the Applicant (exhibit #5 page 127). The vehicle was found to have numerous rust perforations as well as brake and exhaust defects (exhibit #7). The SSC for this vehicle was found to have been back-dated, in that it was dated January 18, 2000, yet came from a book of SSC's issued by MTO head office on January 21, 2000.

Inspector Dodsley also performed an inspection on a 1981 Chevrolet (exhibit #5 page 136), that was found to have numerous and severe safety related defects, and the vehicle was declared unfit and its plates were removed. Inspector Dodsley also noted that the SSC for this vehicle had been back-dated, and that the mileage indicated on the odometer of the vehicle was less than the mileage recorded on the SSC.

Inspector Dodsley also performed an inspection on a 1986 Ford at the premises of its owner. The vehicle had numerous safety related defects and had an SSC issued for it by the Applicant dated February 8, 2000, yet the vehicle was reported by the owner to have not been moved from the owner's garage since December of 1999 when it was purchased.

MTO Inspector Cheryl Flynn testified that she performed an inspection on a 1986 Ford some 16 days and 920 kilometers since an SSC had been issued for it by the Applicant (exhibit #5 page 146) that was found to have various safety related defects, including a severely corroded parking brake actuator cable that snapped when applied by the owner during the inspection (exhibit # 8).

The Applicant appeared on his own behalf. He did not call any witnesses. The Applicant testified that he has been a licenced mechanic since 1979, and he has operated his present business in Hamilton for 15 years. He has recently been working for a car dealer in Woodstock Ontario, and has recently been receiving various complaints but has been unable to contact this dealer.

The Applicant has numerous private customers, and has also sold some of the vehicles mentioned by the MTO inspectors. The Applicant stated that the 1981 GMC truck referred to by Inspector Rutherford did not have the broken leaf springs when it was certified and sold by the Applicant.

The Applicant also indicated that there was a possibility that vehicles may have been certified that were not the vehicles as shown by their ownerships. He stated that he did not always check the vehicle identification numbers of vehicles he inspects. The Applicant also denied certifying the vehicles that were discussed in the testimony of the MTO inspectors.

FACTS FOUND PROVEN:

The following are the facts found to have been proven:

1. 1006525 Ontario Limited d/b/a Flamborough Auto Wreckers (the "Applicant") was registered as a motor vehicle inspection station under the Highway Traffic Act and Regulations to issue Safety Standard Certificates in respect of motor vehicle's.
2. Winston Prescod (the "Applicant") was at all relevant times employed as an Inspecting Mechanic under the Highway Traffic Act and Regulations and was authorized to inspect motor vehicles prior to the issue of SSC's and to sign and complete such certificates.
3. The aforementioned vehicles as described by the Notice of the Director of Vehicle Inspection Standards (exhibit #1) and listed herein, were issued Safety Standard Certificates by the Applicant, and contained various safety defects that were present at the time of the issuance of their respective SSC's.
4. The Applicant issued SSC's for several of the aforementioned vehicles that bore inaccurate dates, and mileage entries.
5. The Applicant, after repeated cautions through the course of several facility audits, was found to have consistently lacked the necessary tools in operable condition for performing safety inspections.

ISSUES:

The issues in this case may be summarized as follows:

Should the decision of the Director of Vehicle Inspection Standards to revoke the Motor Vehicle Inspection Station licence be carried out?

Should the decision of the Director of Vehicle Inspection Standards to revoke the Motor Vehicle Inspection Mechanic licence be carried out?

LAW:

The Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990 Chap H.8 as amended, provides as follows:

Motor Vehicle Inspection Station Licence:

- 91(1) No person shall establish, operate or maintain a motor vehicle inspection station except under the authority of a licence issued by the Director under this Act and the Director may issue a licence for a motor vehicle inspection station subject to the conditions that the Director may specify in the licence.
- 91(2) Subject to subsection (3), any person who applies in accordance with this Act and the regulations for a licence to establish, operate or maintain a motor vehicle inspection station and who meets the requirements of this Act and the regulations and who pays the prescribed fee is entitled to be issued the licence

Revocation of a Licence

- 91(8) The Director may revoke or refuse to renew a motor vehicle inspection station licence where,
- (a) any person has made a false statement in the application for the licence or a renewal thereof or in any safety standards certificate signed by the licensee or a person authorized in writing by the licensee or in any report, document or other information required to be furnished by this Act or the regulations or any other Act or regulation that applies to the motor vehicle inspection station;
 - (b) any inspection authorized by the licence is incompetently performed;
 - (c) the licensee or any motor vehicle inspection mechanic employed in the motor vehicle inspection station has misrepresented the condition of a vehicle with respect to the standards of equipment and performance prescribed by the regulations upon an inspection of the vehicle in the station for the purpose of determining whether or not to issue a safety standards certificate, sign a vehicle inspection record or affix a vehicle inspection sticker;
 - (d) there is a breach of condition of the licence;
 - (e) the licensee does not comply with this Act or the regulations;
 - (f) the inspections that can be performed by the motor vehicle inspection station are misrepresented; or
 - (g) a change in the officers or directors of any corporation that is a licensee would afford grounds for refusing to issue a motor vehicle inspection station licence under clause (3)(a)

Motor Vehicle Inspection Mechanic:

- 92(1) No person shall sign a vehicle inspection record as mechanic or certify in a safety standards certificate that a vehicle complies with the standards of equipment and performance prescribed by the regulations unless the person is registered by the Director as a motor vehicle inspection mechanic in a motor vehicle inspection station and the Director may so register any person for whom application is made under subsection (2).
- (2) Where a licensee or an applicant for a motor vehicle inspection station applies for the registration as a motor vehicle inspection mechanic in the motor vehicle inspection station of the licensee or in the proposed motor vehicle inspection station of the applicant for a licence, as the case may be, of any person who meets the requirements of this Act and the regulations, the person is entitled to be registered as a motor vehicle inspection mechanic in the motor vehicle inspection station.

93 The Director may revoke the registration of a motor vehicle inspection mechanic where,

- (a) the registrant or the licensee has made a false statement in the application for registration of the registrant or in a safety standards certificate or in any report, document or other information required to be furnished by this Act or the regulations or any other Act or regulation that applies to the registrant;
- (b) any inspection performed under the authority of the mechanic's registration is incompetently performed by the registrant; or
- (c) the registrant does not comply with this Act or the regulation.

Appeal before the Licence Appeal Tribunal:

95(1) Where the Director proposes,

- (a) to refuse to issue or renew a licence;
- (b) to refuse to make a registration; or
- (c) to revoke a licence or registration,

the Director shall serve notice of his or her proposal, together with written reasons therefor,

- (d) in the case of a proposal to refuse to issue a licence, upon the applicant;
- (e) in the case of a proposal to revoke or to refuse to renew a licence, upon the licensee;
- (f) in the case of a proposal to refuse to make a registration, upon the applicant or licensee and upon the proposed registrant; and
- (g) in the case of a proposal to revoke a registration, upon the registrant and the licensee of the motor vehicle inspection station in which the registrant is employed.

(2) A notice under subsection (1) shall inform the person who is the applicant, licensee, registrant or proposed registrant, as the case may be, that the person is entitled to a hearing by the Tribunal if the person mails or delivers, within fifteen days after receiving service of the notice under subsection (1), notice in writing to the Director and the Tribunal requiring a hearing by the Tribunal and the person may so require the hearing.

(4) Where the applicant, licensee, registrant or proposed registrant requires a hearing by the Tribunal in accordance with subsection (2), the Tribunal shall appoint a time for and shall hold the hearing and may by order direct the Director to carry out his or her proposal and to take the action that the Tribunal considers the Director ought to take in accordance with this Act and the regulations, and for such purposes the Tribunal may substitute its opinion for that of the Director.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO THE FACTS:

Under the HTA, the relevant sections dealing with revocation state:

91 (8) The Director may revoke or refuse to renew a motor vehicle inspection station licence where,

- (a) any person has made a false statement in the application for the licence or a renewal thereof or in any safety standards certificate signed by the licensee or a person authorized in writing by the licensee or in any report, document or other information required to be furnished by this Act or the regulations or any other Act or regulation that applies to the motor vehicle inspection station;
- (e) the licensee does not comply with this Act or the regulations;

93. The Director may revoke the registration of a motor vehicle inspection mechanic where,

- (a) the registrant or the licensee has made a false statement in the application for registration of the registrant or in a safety standards certificate or in any report, document or other information required to be furnished by this Act or the regulations or any other Act or regulation that applies to the registrant;
- (b) any inspection performed under the authority of the mechanic's registration is incompetently performed by the registrant; or
- (b) the registrant does not comply with this act or the regulations.

As to the revocation of the motor vehicle inspection licence, in this case the evidence has established that the facilities of the Applicant have been shown to have lacked various tools and equipment necessary under the regulations for the performance of safety inspections.

As to the revocation of the registration of the motor vehicle inspection mechanic, in this case the evidence has established that the vehicles that have been shown to have had SSC's issued by the Applicant have all had safety defects present at the time of their inspections and SSC issuance. Furthermore, the veracity of the testimony of the MTO inspectors has been well supported by photographic evidence and a sample component from one of the subject vehicles. These defects were of a very serious nature, and include defects in braking and control systems, as well as vehicle structural integrity. In the Tribunal's opinion, these defects constitute an immediate safety hazard to both the vehicle owners, and to the motoring public. Furthermore, the Applicant has been shown to have made false entries for dates and mileage on the SSC's themselves.

The Tribunal finds that the Director has shown the Applicant to have acted in a manner that defeats the integrity of the MVIS system, and misled the public, in an apparent quest for profit. The Tribunal rejects the notion as presented by the Applicant, that he did not certify the vehicles in question, or that some of the defects described were not present on the vehicles at the time of inspections. The Tribunal heard no evidence that would support this position.

Each SSC bears the statement above the Applicant's signature: "We hereby certify that the above described motor vehicle has been inspected in accordance with the provisions of Sections 88 to 100 of the Highway Traffic Act and Regulations issued thereunder, and that the items inspected met the prescribed standards on the Date of Inspection."

In this case the Director has shown that the Applicant, in signing SSC's for vehicles which have been shown to have had numerous and serious safety defects at the time of issuance, has made a false statement on each of the SSC's that Winston Prescod issued. This gives the Director the necessary grounds for the revocation of the Appellants MVIS Licence under sections 91(8)(a) and 93(a) and (c) of the Highway Traffic Act.

Furthermore, the Tribunal finds that the Director has demonstrated justification for his Order on the grounds that the actions of the Applicant have clearly shown that "the past conduct of the applicant or, where the applicant is a corporation, is of its officers or directors affords reasonable grounds for belief that the motor vehicle inspection station will not be operated in accordance with the law and with honesty and integrity;" as described by section 91(3)(a).

DECISION:

IT IS THE DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL to confirm the Order of the Director to revoke the MVIS License of Winston Prescod and 1006525 Ontario Limited d/b/a Flamborough Auto Wreckers, and to revoke the registration of Winston Prescod as a Motor Vehicle Inspection Mechanic.

TRIBUNAL: Ross C. Bennett M.D., Presiding Member

APPEARANCES: Kyle M. Biel, Respondent
Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

Applicant,

DATE OF HEARING: December 20, 2000 Toronto

DECISION AND REASONS

This is an appeal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal by the Applicant respecting a decision of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Respondent") pursuant to section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act (Ontario).

EXHIBITS:

- Exhibit #1 A Notice of Suspension dated February 17, 2000 issued by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles.
- Exhibit #1 B Notice of Suspension dated August 18 ,2000 issued by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles.
- Exhibit # 2 Notice of Appeal Form received at the Tribunal October 31, 2000. Filed by the Applicant.
- Exhibit # 3 Letter from Physician # 1 dated December 7, 2000 filed by Applicant.
- Exhibit # 4 Driver's Information from Ministry dated November 9, 2000.
- Exhibit # 5 Tabulated documents (1-49) received from the Registrar of Motor Vehicles, Dated December 5, 2000.

FACTS:

The Applicant, a 54 year old lawyer had his licence suspended on February 17, 2000 after the Ministry received a letter, dated January 25, 2000, from Physician # 1, a neurologist who had been treating the Applicant for the past seven years. He reported the Applicant had a complex partial seizure while cross-examining a witness in court on January 24, 2000. The Applicant, who normally consumed one or two glasses of wine a week, on January 21, 2000, had three glasses of wine, four bottles of beer and one shot of vodka, over the course of eight hours. Physician # 1 felt the seizure was the result of a combination of alcohol withdrawal and fatigue.

The Applicant was first diagnosed as having epilepsy in 1993 and has suffered a few sporadic seizures since that time. He was controlled on Dilantin 400 mg. daily for a long periods of time and then had a couple of breakthrough seizures, associated with drinking wine. His last seizure had been on March 27, 1997. Following this episode, Physician # 1 changed his medication to Tegretol 200 mg., three times daily.

The Applicant's drivers licence had been suspended a number of times since 1993, following each reported seizure. Physician # 1 had repeatedly advised the Applicant to restrict wine to one to three glasses a week; but not necessarily to abstain because he did not consider him an alcoholic.

The last EEG report on March 30, 2000 reported a borderline abnormality and the Tegretol dose was increased to 200 mg, four times daily.

The Medical Advisory Committee interviewed the Applicant July 21, 2000 and recommended his licence remain suspended until his case could be reconsidered after a one year alcohol/seizure free period. This decision was reported to the Applicant on August 18, 2000, by the Registrar.

The Applicant was infuriated, because he had been seizure free for seven months and abstaining from alcohol had never been mentioned before. This meant he could not drive for another whole year. Without his licence he was losing all of his out of Toronto referrals. He fully understood his problem and had learned to modify his drinking habits to avoid further seizures.

ISSUES:

Should the decision of the Registrar to suspend the Applicant's licence be confirmed, modified or set aside?

LAW:

Regulation 340/94, Section 14 states:

An applicant for or a holder of a driver's licence must not,

- (a) suffers from an mental, emotional, nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely; and

- (b) be addicted to the use of alcohol or a drug to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle safely.

Section 47(1) states:

Subject to section 47.1, the Registrar may suspend or cancel,

- (a) the plate portion of a permit as defined in Part II;
 - (b) a driver's licence; or
 - (c) a CVOR certificate,
- on the grounds of,
- (d) misconduct for which the holder is responsible, directly or indirectly, related to the operation or driving of a motor vehicle;
 - (e) conviction of the holder for an offence referred to in subsection 210(1) or (2);
 - (f) the Registrar having reason to believe, having regard to the safety record of the holder or of a person related to the holder, and any other information that the Registrar considers relevant, that the holder will not operate a commercial motor vehicle safely or in accordance with this Act, the regulations and other laws relating to highway safety; or
 - (g) any other sufficient reason not referred to in clause (d), (e) or (f).

Section 50 of the Act states:

- 50.(1) Every person aggrieved by a decision of the Minister under subsection 17(2) or (3) or subclause 32(12)(b)(i) or a decision of the Registrar under section 47 may appeal the decision to the Licence Appeal Tribunal.
- (2) The Tribunal may confirm, modify or set aside the decision of the Minister or the Registrar.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

Section 47(1) empowers the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to "-----suspend or cancel" a driver's licence for "any---sufficient reason---". The Registrar originally suspended the Applicant's licence after receiving an unsolicited letter dated January 25, 2000 from Physician # 1, advising that the Applicant had a complex partial seizure on January 24, 2000, which he attributed to alcohol withdrawal and fatigue.

The alcohol factor was noted in the Deputy Registrar's letter of suspension, but there was no mention of refraining from alcohol. An Alcohol Assessment Form was requested and completed by Physician # 1. He stated twice that the Applicant was not an alcoholic. His score was that of a social drinker. The MRI, Haematology, Biochemistry and EEG tests were all reported as normal.

The Applicant testified that he has continued to drink wine in moderation. as his neurologist has recommended and has been seizure free, since January 24, 2000. The Medical Review Committee, however, followed the C.M.A.'s "Determining Medical Fitness to Drive" 3.2, and categorized him as an alcohol abuser. The decision was to continue the suspension until the Applicant had completed a 12 month alcohol/ seizure free period. The Registrar concurred with this decision and the Applicant was notified on August 18, 2000. The Applicant has now been seizure-free for eleven months and alcohol free for four months.

The Tribunal finds that the eleven month seizure-free period, while drinking very moderately, should be taken into account and little could be gained by demanding abstinence for a further eight months, when the alcohol was not having any apparent effect.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the decision dated August 18, 2000, by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles ("Registrar") to further suspend his driver's licence pursuant to Section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA"), and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

IT IS THE DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50(2) of the Act that the decision of the Registrar be set aside.

TRIBUNAL: ANTOINE AOUAD, M.D., Presiding Member
ROBERT EHRLICH, M.D., Member

APPEARANCES: F. CLAIRE ROWETT
Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

Applicant,

Solicitor for Applicant

DATE OF HEARING: December 19, 2000 Toronto

DECISION AND REASONS

This is an appeal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal by the Applicant respecting a decision of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Respondent") pursuant to section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act (Ontario).

EXHIBITS:

By the Applicant:

- a) Exhibit #1 Letter of Suspension dated August 11, 2000, issued by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles.
- b) Exhibit #2 Notice of Appeal Form – received at the tribunal November 20, 2000

By the Respondent:

- a) Exhibit #3 Ministry of Transportation submissions – Tabs 1 – 6 –
- received December 8, 2000

PRELIMINARY MATTERS:

There were no preliminary matters and the hearing proceeded

FACTS:

The Applicant is appealing the suspension of his driving privileges effective 00 08 25 as per Exhibit # 1.

The Applicant came to the attention of the Ministry as a result of an unsolicited letter dated June 16, 2000, from Physician # 1, informing the Ministry that the Applicant "...has been diagnosed with untreated alcohol dependence. He has admitted to drinking and driving. He has failed to return for follow-up...". (Exhibit # 2 Tab 2)

Exhibit # 2 Tab 6, a Ministry of Transportation driving Record for the Applicant since 1970, shows two impaired driving convictions in 1976 and in 1981.

At the hearing the Respondent, relied on the information contained in the documents presented for the hearing, entered as Exhibit # 2, tabs 1 through 6.

The Respondent confirmed that the Applicant's driver's license remained under suspension according to Sections 14(a) and (b) of Regulation 340/94.

During cross-examination by the Applicant's solicitor, the Respondent admitted to not having any knowledge as to when or by whom the diagnosis of "alcohol dependency was made." Nor was the Respondent aware as to the last time that the Applicant drank and drove.

In reply to Applicant's solicitor's questions, the Respondent emphasized that section 47.1(g) allows the suspension of a driver's license for "...any ...sufficient reason...".

In closing, the Respondent cited Section 14(a), contending that the Applicant's alcohol dependency is a physical disability; quoted several Guidelines requiring one year abstinence in cases of alcohol addiction; and asked the Tribunal to uphold the suspension.

Applicant's solicitor offered no evidence on behalf of his client. In closing, Applicant's solicitor cited "...lack of evidence..." to continue the suspension. He reiterated his previous comments that there is no evidence as to when and by whom the diagnosis was made. Applicant's solicitor, also questioned Physician # 1's qualifications.

ISSUES:

Should the decision of the Registrar to suspend the Applicant's licence be confirmed, modified or set aside?

LAW:

Regulation 340/94, Section 14 states:

An applicant for or a holder of a driver's licence must not,

- (a) suffers from an mental, emotional, nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely; and
- (b) be addicted to the use of alcohol or a drug to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle safely.

Section 47(1) states:

Subject to section 47.1, the Registrar may suspend or cancel,

- (a) the plate portion of a permit as defined in Part II;
- (b) a driver's licence; or
- (c) a CVOR certificate,

on the grounds of,

- (d) misconduct for which the holder is responsible, directly or indirectly, related to the operation or driving of a motor vehicle;
- (f) conviction of the holder for an offence referred to in subsection 210(1) or (2);
- (f) the Registrar having reason to believe, having regard to the safety record of the holder or of a person related to the holder, and any other information that the Registrar considers relevant, that the holder will not operate a commercial motor vehicle safely or in accordance with this Act, the regulations and other laws relating to highway safety; or
- (g) any other sufficient reason not referred to in clause (d), (e) or (f).

Section 50 of the Act states:

50.(1) Every person aggrieved by a decision of the Minister under subsection 17(2) or (3) or subclause 32(12)(b)(i) or a decision of the Registrar under section 47 may appeal the decision to the Licence Appeal Tribunal.

(2) The Tribunal may confirm, modify or set aside the decision of the Minister or the Registrar.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

Section 47(1) unquestionably empowers the Registrar to "...suspend or cancel" a driver's license for "any ...sufficient reason...". The Applicant came to the attention of the Ministry as a result of an unsolicited letter from Physician # 1, (Exhibit # 2 Tab 2). The letter dated June 16, 2000 consists of one paragraph which states:

"Please be advised that the Applicant has been diagnosed with untreated alcohol dependence. He continues to be in pre-contemplation. He has admitted to drinking and driving. He has failed to return for follow-up."

No other evidence respecting the medical condition of the Applicant was before this Tribunal.

The Respondent considers alcohol dependency a medical condition and relies on section 14(a) of Regulation 340/94 under the HTA, as grounds for maintaining the suspension.

The Tribunal notes that section 14(a) does not refer to a “medical condition”, it specifically details the criteria to be considered as: “...a mental, emotional nervous or physical disability...”

The Respondent argues that alcohol dependency is a “physical disability”. The Tribunal disagrees. Albeit a possible disability, alcoholism cannot be viewed as a physical disability.

Section 14(b) of Regulation 340/94 under the HTA, also relied on by the Respondent as being applicable, states:

“An applicant for or a holder of a driver’s license must not,

- b) be addicted to the use of alcohol or drug to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle safely.”*

The premise put forth by Physician # 1, that the Applicant is alcohol dependent, has been challenged by Applicant's solicitor. The Tribunal concurs with Applicant's solicitor, that there is no supporting basis for Physician # 1's allegation before this Tribunal. Thus, the Tribunal finds that there is no evidence to substantiate the Ministry's determination that the Applicant is at the present time, addicted to alcohol.

The Tribunal views Physician # 1's comment that the Applicant “...admitted to drinking and driving...” as vague. The Tribunal cannot presume the context in which the Applicant may have admitted to Physician # 1 to drink and drive. It is not possible to determine from this statement, whether the drinking and driving is past or present. There is no evidence to corroborate that any drinking and driving is current. According to the Applicant's Driver's Record, his last conviction for impairment was in 1981. (Exhibit # 2 Tab 6)

The Respondent alluded to the guidelines of the Ministry of Transportation Medical Advisory Committee and the National Safety Code for Motor Carriers. The Tribunal notes that these guidelines are only policy not legislation, and must be shown to apply to the Applicant on the basis of evidence before the Tribunal.

Under section 47 of the Highway Traffic Act, the onus is on the Respondent to establish that the Registrar has sufficient reason to suspend the Applicant's licence. The Respondent decides on how best to gather evidence to support the Respondent's case, including using statutory authority given the Respondent, including the right to request that a witness be given a summons to testify at the hearing. The only evidence the Respondent relied on to establish the Respondent's case is Physician # 1's letter. Physician # 1 was not called as a witness. No other corroborative evidence was presented by the Respondent.

Based on the evidence before the Tribunal, on a balance of probabilities the Tribunal can not find that the Applicant is currently suffering from a medical condition or an alcohol addiction which is likely to significantly interfere with his ability to drive a motor vehicle as described by Regulation 340/94 section 14(a) and (b) of the HTA.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the decision dated August 25, 2000 of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles ("Registrar") to suspend his driver's licence pursuant to Section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA"), and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

IT IS THE DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50(2) of the Act that the decision of the Registrar be set aside.

TO APPEAL A SUSPENDED LICENCE

TRIBUNAL: Ross C. Bennett M.D., Presiding Member

APPEARANCES: Claire Rowett
Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

Applicant,
Counsel for Applicant

DATE OF HEARING: December 13, 2000 Peterborough

DECISION AND REASONS

This is an appeal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal by the Applicant respecting a decision of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Respondent") pursuant to section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act (Ontario).

EXHIBITS:

Exhibit #1 Notice of Suspension dated February 26, 2000 issued by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles.

Exhibit # 2 Notice of Appeal Form received at the Tribunal October 23,2000.
Filed by the Applicant.

Exhibit #3 Tabulated documents received from the Registrar of Motor Vehicles.

THE FACTS:

The Applicant, 39 years old, had his drivers licence suspended March 5,1999 after the Registrar of Motor Vehicles received an unsolicited medical report, dated December 18, 1998, from Physician # 1, the Applicant's family physician. The report alleged the Applicant admitted to consumption of alcohol prior to driving, but denied it had any effect on his driving. Physician # 1 noted a strong odour of alcohol on his breath on his last 3 visits to her office.

The Applicant, a dry-waller and plasterer, gave evidence that he had been working on a rush job that had started at 1900 hours the evening prior to his doctor's visit, and he had worked all night. During this period of time he consumed a 6 pack of beer. The last bottle was at 0530 hours, after which he slept on the floor for an hour or so. He had attempted to cancel the appointment, which had been requested by the physician to check his blood pressure, but he was told she wanted to see him. He was upset because he did not have an opportunity to clean up or change his clothes.

When the Applicant went into the office, Physician # 1 asked if he was still smoking and then commented that she could smell beer. He stated he explained the 16 hour shift he had just completed and that he had consumed some beer. She then replied that "North American Indians are recognized as heavy drinkers". The Applicant, who is an Aboriginal, responded that "was her opinion, but each nationality other than Natives have a problem with drugs and alcohol".

Physician # 1 then took out a form, asked some personal questions, circled some things on the form and told him she was going to notify the Ministry. She neither checked his blood pressure nor took any blood tests. He never felt he and Physician # 1 had ever formed a good relationship, but it was difficult to change doctors in Peterborough.

He subsequently phoned in a complaint to the College of Physicians and Surgeons. Later she notified him she did wish to treat him any longer.

Counsel for the Applicant stated she believed the comment about Indians was discriminatory and the notification to the Ministry was vindictive. She also believed the issue was not drinking and driving, but simply drinking. There was no evidence to prove the Applicant was impaired at any time. Physician # 1 simply said there was a strong odour of alcohol. There is no law against any person having a drink and smelling of alcohol and then driving, unless their blood alcohol is over 80 mg %.

The Ministry apparently based the suspension on two previous convictions in 1988 and 1998 for having an elevated blood alcohol while driving and a GGT level of 258, reported in May 1999. The normal range is up to 65. The Applicant stated that the two alcohol offences occurred when he was young, but he has since matured and settled down. His Counsel submitted that the GGT liver test is not specific for excessive alcohol consumption, but could indicate hepatitis or cancer and many other liver diseases.

On March 24 and April 6, 1999 the Applicant attended the Four Counties Addiction Services Team in an effort to have his licence reinstated. The Counsellor's recommendations and summary were as follows:

"Name's drinking has been problematic or heavier at various times of his life with an impaired charge, high liver count, drinking to cope with loneliness, boredom and pain, possible correlation to his high blood pressure. From what Name reports now, his drinking is within moderate range of no more than 12 drinks maximum weekly. It is recommended he have some non drinking days and definitely no driving after drinking. If Name finds it difficult to think of alternatives to drinking when he is stressed then I would recommend that he attend addictions counselling to further develop his coping strategies".

The Applicant stated in evidence that he no longer uses alcohol to cope with any stress he might have and he limits his drinking to 1-3 beers during an evening after work and never drives after drinking.

ISSUES:

Should the decision of the Registrar to suspend the Applicant's licence be confirmed, modified or set aside?

LAW:

Regulation 340/94, Section 14 states:

An applicant for or a holder of a driver's licence must not,

- (a) suffers from an mental, emotional, nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely; and
- (b) be addicted to the use of alcohol or a drug to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle safely.

Section 47(1) states:

Subject to section 47.1, the Registrar may suspend or cancel,

- (a) the plate portion of a permit as defined in Part II;
- (b) a driver's licence; or
- (c) a CVOR certificate,

on the grounds of,

- (d) misconduct for which the holder is responsible, directly or indirectly, related to the operation or driving of a motor vehicle;
- (g) conviction of the holder for an offence referred to in subsection 210(1) or (2);
- (f) the Registrar having reason to believe, having regard to the safety record of the holder or of a person related to the holder, and any other information that the Registrar considers relevant, that the holder will not operate a commercial motor vehicle safely or in accordance with this Act, the regulations and other laws relating to highway safety; or
- (g) any other sufficient reason not referred to in clause (d), (e) or (f).

Section 50 of the Act states:

50.(1) Every person aggrieved by a decision of the Minister under subsection 17(2) or (3) or subclause 32(12)(b)(i) or a decision of the Registrar under section 47 may appeal the decision to the Licence Appeal Tribunal.

(2) The Tribunal may confirm, modify or set aside the decision of the Minister or the Registrar.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

Section 47(1) empowers the Registrar to "-----suspend or cancel" a driver's licence for "any sufficient reason----". The Registrar originally suspended the Applicant's licence, upon receipt of an unsolicited letter from the Applicant's family physician, Physician # 1, informing the Ministry that she had smelled alcohol on the Applicant on three separate occasions. This statement was not supported by any evidence that even suggested the Applicant was impaired or addicted to alcohol to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his ability to drive safely as stated in Reg. 340/94 14 (b).

The Tribunal feels this was insufficient cause for suspending the Applicant's licence without further investigation or follow-up, which apparently was not done. The Tribunal can not conclude that the smelling of alcohol on a person, warrants the finding that a person as "suffering from any mental, emotional, nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his ability to drive a motor vehicle safely", as stated in Reg. 390/94 14(a). Also, an elevated GGT test is a non specific diagnostic test and requires further investigation before it should become a factor.

If criteria such as these are used without any investigation whatsoever, a large percentage of the population of the province could be in danger of having their licences suspended.

Physician # 1's letter stated "Strong odour of ETOH with last three office visits" and "patient admits to consumption of ETOH prior to driving, but denies any effect on driving" (Exhibit # 3, tab # 1). The Tribunal did not feel this is sufficient to warrant suspension of a licence, especially when a truck is essential for his work.

The Tribunal agrees with the Applicant's Counsel who stated this was not a question of drinking and driving, but simply drinking. The Applicant impressed the Tribunal as being forthright and credible. He thought he was being treated unfairly by the Ministry and could not understand why there were so many demands put upon him, when he did not do anything. He sought help at the Ministry to find a physician who specialized in addiction medicine, but no one could tell him.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the decision dated February 26, 2000, by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles ("Registrar") to suspend his driver's licence pursuant to Section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA"), and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

IT IS THE DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50(2) of the Act that the decision of the Registrar be set aside.

TO APPEAL A SUSPENDED LICENCE

TRIBUNAL: Ross C. Bennett M.D., Presiding Member

APPEARANCES: Claire Rowett
Representative for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles

Applicant,

DATE OF HEARING: December 15, 2000 Hamilton

DECISION AND REASONS

This is an appeal to the Licence Appeal Tribunal by the Applicant respecting a decision of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles (the "Respondent") pursuant to section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act (Ontario).

EXHIBITS:

Exhibit #1 Notice of Suspension dated February 10, 2000 issued by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles.

Exhibit # 2 Notice of Appeal Form received at the Tribunal November 10, 2000. Filed by the Applicant.

Exhibit #3 Tabulated documents received from the Registrar of Motor Vehicles Dated November 23, 2000.

THE FACTS:

The Applicant is a 51 year old retired heavy equipment operator, whose licence was suspended after the Ministry received an unsolicited letter from Physician # 1, the Applicant's family physician, reporting that the Applicant has a history of alcoholism and a remote history of a seizure disorder. Physician # 1 had reported in 1994 that the Applicant suffered from alcoholism and was on Antabuse.

The Applicant retired in 1995 after suffering three Myocardial Infarctions. Along with Arteriosclerotic Coronary Artery Disease, he has Chronic Obstructive Lung Disease, Alcoholism, a recent Gastro-intestinal bleed and three compression fractures of his vertebrae. He is presently taking Vasotec, Lipitor, Nitrospray, Nitropatches, Amitriptyline, ASA, Theodur, Ventolin Salbutamol, Atrovent, Flovent and Pulmocort. He had a Coronary Artery Bypass in May 2000 and a recent stress E.C.G..

Physician # 2, a neurologist at McMaster University wrote to the Ministry on February 1, 2000 after examining the Applicant at the request of Physician # 1 to assess an episode of loss of awareness. The Applicant's brother died and following this he began drinking very heavily from June until December 28, 1999, when this episode occurred. In five days he consumed 120 ozs. of alcohol. Within 48 hours of stopping, he was observed by a nephew to grab his chest and collapse. He was taken to a hospital, examined and released. There is no evidence whether he convulsed or not, but he stated he was neither incontinent nor did he bite his tongue. He told Physician # 2 it was similar to an episode he had in 1976, when epilepsy was diagnosed and he was put on Dilantin for an indefinite period.

The Applicant has no insight into any of his medical conditions. He has been a heavy smoker for years and only cut down recently despite his serious respiratory problems. Since this episode he has stopped "heavy " drinking, but still drinks about 20 ozs. on the week-ends.

In the hearing, the Applicant's main statement was " I don't think it was a seizure. I fainted from lack of food while drinking, because I only had 2 sandwiches in 5 days. The doctors only think it was a seizure, they said they really don't know. I think it was my heart, because I grabbed my chest".

A blood alcohol level was sent to Physician # 2 which is recorded as 61.9. He states in his letter the toxic level is apparently greater than 17, so he had an incredibly high level of alcohol in him. It is not certain when this blood was taken.

Physician # 2's impression is that the Applicant has a lower seizure level and is likely to suffer from seizures and alcohol plays a substantial role in his symptomatology. It is possible that alcohol withdrawal will trigger the seizure, and he should completely refrain from drinking. He added this man certainly should not be driving.

Following the Respondent's report, which was all inclusive, the Applicant did not ask one question.

ISSUES:

Should the decision of the Registrar to suspend the Applicant's licence be confirmed, modified or set aside?

LAW:

Regulation 340/94, Section 14 states:

An applicant for or a holder of a driver's licence must not,

- (a) suffers from an mental, emotional, nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely; and
- (b) be addicted to the use of alcohol or a drug to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle safely.

Section 47(1) states:

Subject to section 47.1, the Registrar may suspend or cancel,

- (a) the plate portion of a permit as defined in Part II;
- (b) a driver's licence; or
- (c) a CVOR certificate,

on the grounds of,

- (d) misconduct for which the holder is responsible, directly or indirectly, related to the operation or driving of a motor vehicle;
- (h) conviction of the holder for an offence referred to in subsection 210(1) or (2);
- (f) the Registrar having reason to believe, having regard to the safety record of the holder or of a person related to the holder, and any other information that the Registrar considers relevant, that the holder will not operate a commercial motor vehicle safely or in accordance with this Act, the regulations and other laws relating to highway safety; or
- (g) any other sufficient reason not referred to in clause (d), (e) or (f).

Section 50 of the Act states:

50.(1) Every person aggrieved by a decision of the Minister under subsection 17(2) or (3) or subclause 32(12)(b)(i) or a decision of the Registrar under section 47 may appeal the decision to the Licence Appeal Tribunal.

- (2) The Tribunal may confirm, modify or set aside the decision of the Minister or the Registrar.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS :

Section 47(1) empowers the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to "-----suspend or cancel" a driver's licence for "any---sufficient reason---". The Registrar originally suspended the Applicant's licence after receiving an unsolicited letter dated January 10, 2000 from Physician # 1 advising that the Applicant had a history of alcoholism; a remote history of seizure disorder and recently experienced an episode of what might be a seizure. This was followed by a letter from Physician # 2, a neurologist, February 1, 2000 outlining more history and stating it was either an epileptic seizure or a seizure triggered by alcohol withdrawal. He further stated the Applicant should not be driving.

The Tribunal finds the Ministry acted properly and in accordance with the Regulation, in suspending the Applicant's driver's licence, based on the information received from Physician # 1 and Physician # 2.

The Applicant's only argument was that it was not a seizure, it was his heart. The Tribunal felt it matters little whether it was a seizure or his heart, since he was rendered unconscious. There is a history of a seizure in 1976 and he stated the two were similar. He also has severe Arteriosclerotic Cardiovascular Disease which caused three Myocardial Infarctions and a Coronary Artery Bypass.

The Tribunal is satisfied that the criteria in Regulation 340/94 section 14(a) of the Highway Traffic Act applies to the Applicant. Thus, the Tribunal concurs that the Applicant's driver's licence remain under suspension.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the decision dated February 10, 2000, by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles ("Registrar") to suspend his driver's licence pursuant to Section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA"), and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

IT IS THE DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50(2) of the Act that the decision of the Registrar be confirmed.

PRELIMINARY MATTERS:

Counsel for the Applicant objected to a reference in the material presented by the Ministry regarding an Administrative Driver's Licence Suspension on April 25, 1998 for which the Applicant was acquitted.

FACTS:

The Applicant gave evidence that he usually was a beer drinker, but at a birthday party in November 1998 he drank 14-15 Rum drinks. The following day, while with two friends, he complained of feeling terrible and they suggested he should have a beer and it would help. As soon as he drank it, he felt light headed and collapsed. The friends said he was unconscious for approximately 30 seconds. He was incontinent, but did not bite his tongue. He was unsure whether he had convulsed.

He was taken to the hospital, examined and referred to a neurologist. The ER physician notified the Ministry November 7, 2000, "new onset seizure". No action was taken on this notification until April 12, 1999, when the Applicant's licence was suspended.

Physician # 2, the neurologist sent in a report dated May 6, 1999 (Exhibit 4, tab 3), which outlined the involvement of alcohol. This report provided a complete physical and neurological examination, including all the tests required by the Ministry. The previously unknown alcohol factor prompted the Ministry to continue the suspension and demand additional information and tests (Exhibit 4, tab 4).

Physician # 1, the Applicant's physician for 35 years, completed a Ministry's Alcohol Assessment Form, dated October 26, 2000 (Exhibit 3).

The Respondent stated the form was rejected because it was incomplete and inaccurate. His signature was not on the document, and the question regarding "seizures related to alcohol" was answered in the negative. The 1982 conviction for impaired driving was also not mentioned.

The Applicant responded that he believed the questions asked related to the interval between his seizure and October 26, 2000 when the assessment form was being completed, and Physician # 1 simply forgot to ask the Applicant to sign the document. He also stated that the seizure had really frightened him and he abstained from alcohol for a thirteen (13) month period until Christmas 1999.

The Applicant has worked as a welder at a steel company for five years and has never lost time because of drinking or sickness. He never drinks during the week and often does not drink for a month at a time. When he drinks he might have 4-5 beers on a week-end, but no more.

ISSUES:

Should the decision of the Registrar to suspend the Applicant's licence be confirmed, modified or set aside?

LAW:

Regulation 340/94, Section 14 states:

An applicant for or a holder of a driver's licence must not,

- (a) suffers from an mental, emotional, nervous or physical disability likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle of the applicable class safely; and
- (b) be addicted to the use of alcohol or a drug to an extent likely to significantly interfere with his or her ability to drive a motor vehicle safely.

Section 47(1) states:

Subject to section 47.1, the Registrar may suspend or cancel,

- (a) the plate portion of a permit as defined in Part II;
- (b) a driver's licence; or
- (c) a CVOR certificate,

on the grounds of,

- (d) misconduct for which the holder is responsible, directly or indirectly, related to the operation or driving of a motor vehicle;
- (e) conviction of the holder for an offence referred to in subsection 210(1) or (2);
- (f) the Registrar having reason to believe, having regard to the safety record of the holder or of a person related to the holder, and any other information that the Registrar considers relevant, that the holder will not operate a commercial motor vehicle safely or in accordance with this Act, the regulations and other laws relating to highway safety; or
- (g) any other sufficient reason not referred to in clause (d), (e) or (f).

Section 50 of the Act states:

50.(1) Every person aggrieved by a decision of the Minister under subsection 17(2) or (3) or subclause 32(12)(b)(i) or a decision of the Registrar under section 47 may appeal the decision to the Licence Appeal Tribunal.

(2) The Tribunal may confirm, modify or set aside the decision of the Minister or the Registrar.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

Section 47 of the Highway Traffic Act gives the Registrar of Motor Vehicles the authority to suspend the Applicant's licence for sufficient reason and the Registrar suspended the Applicant's driver's licence. Section 14(1) of Regulation 340/94 under the Act, states that the holder of a driver's licence must not suffer from a disability likely to significantly interfere with the driver's ability to drive a motor vehicle.

When the Ministry was notified by a physician that a seizure had occurred the Registrar suspended the Applicant's driver's licence. It took five months before the Applicant was notified of the suspension. During this period, the Applicant had been examined twice by a neurologist; had undergone a series of tests which were all normal. Shortly after the suspension, the neurologist notified the Ministry that all of the required tests were normal, and he considered the event to be related to alcohol withdrawal and the chance of recurrence was not very high.

The guidelines contained in the "National Safety Code for Motor Carriers" states - "An individual whose seizures are clearly precipitated by alcohol should not drive any motor vehicle until at least a twelve month seizure-free period while also abstinent from alcohol."

The Tribunal finds the Applicant to be a creditable witness who has attempted to do what was required to regain his licence. The Applicant has fulfilled the requirements under the "National Safety Code for Motor Carriers".

The Tribunal accepts the Applicant's testimony that he has abstained from alcohol following his seizure for thirteen months until Christmas 1999 and his evidence as to the amount of his consumption of alcohol thereafter.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the decision dated April 23, 1999 of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles ("Registrar") to suspend his driver's licence pursuant to Section 47(1) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA"), and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

IT IS THE DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50(2) of the Act that the decision of the Registrar be set aside.

REASONS FOR DECISION

A Written hearing was held on December 15, 2000, at Toronto, Ontario, to consider the Applicant's appeal pursuant to section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chap. H.8 amended ("HTA").

THE TRIBUNAL RULED TO CONFIRM the suspension imposed by the Registrar pursuant to section 48.3 HTA for the following reasons.

REASONS

BACKGROUND:

Notice of Appeal and Prescribed Fee

This appeal comes before the Tribunal on behalf of the Applicant, by way of a Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act, R.S.O. 1990 as amended, chapter H.8. The Applicant elected that his appeal be decided by the Tribunal by way of a written hearing. The form of Notice of Appeal under section 50.1 of the Highway Traffic Act was dated October 31, 2000, and was received by the Tribunal on November 16, 2000, together with the prescribed fee of $100.00, paid by certified cheque.

Reason for the Appeal

The reason for the appeal cited by the Applicant was stated as follows in the said notice:

"I was unable to provide the required breath sample because of a medical reason."

Submissions of Written Material

By the Applicant:

- a) Exhibit #1 Notice to Registrar to suspend dated October 7, 2000
- b) Exhibit #2 Notice of Appeal Form - received November 16, 2000
- c) Exhibit #3 Medical report from Physician # 1 – dated October 10, 2000
- d) Exhibit #5 Applicant's additional submissions - 13 pages –
- received December 11, 2000

By the Respondent:

- a) Exhibit #4 Ministry of Transportation submissions – received December 5, 2000

ISSUE:

Having established that this appeal falls within subsection 50.1(2)(b) of the Highway Traffic Act, and the Tribunal thereby having jurisdiction, the question to be answered is: Did the Applicant fail or refuse to comply with a demand made to provide a sample of breath because he was unable to do so for a medical reason?

LAW:

The legislation governing the Administrative Drivers Licence Suspension (ADLS) under subsection 50.1(1) and (2) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA") states:

50.1 (1) "A person whose driver's licence is suspended under Section 48.3 may appeal the suspension to the Tribunal.

(2) The grounds on which a person may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may order that the suspension be set aside are,

(a) that the person whose licence was suspended is not the same individual to whom a demand for a sample of breath or blood was made, or from whom a sample of breath or blood was taken, as the case may be, under or pursuant to the provisions of the Criminal Code (Canada) referred to in subsection 48.3(3); or

(b) that the person failed or refused to comply with a demand made under section 254 of the Criminal Code (Canada) to provide a sample of breath or blood because he or she was unable to do so for a medical reason".

The HTA states under Section 50.1(4):

The Tribunal may confirm the suspension or may order that the suspension be set aside.

Regulation 574 (amended), Highway Traffic Act at subsection 15(1),(2) and (3) requires that a medical report must contain:

15. (1) "a report of a legally qualified medical practitioner that is to be submitted in evidence shall clearly state,

(a) the name, telephone number and address, with the postal code, of the medical practitioner;

(b) the name, date of birth and address of the person who is the subject of the report;

(c) that the medical practitioner has prepared the report, or is aware that the report may be used, in support of an appeal to the Board from the suspension of a driver's licence under section 50.1 of the Act;

(d) the length of time and frequency with which the medical practitioner has attended upon the person who is the subject of the report, including the date of the most recent examination of the person that supports the findings set out in the report;

(e) whether the medical practitioner is the family physician of the person who is the subject of the report; and

(f) whether the medical practitioner is a specialist and, if so, the field of speciality.

(2) The report shall provide the details of any present condition, diagnosis and history of the condition that precludes the person who is the subject of the report from providing a breath or blood sample including the results of any related tests.

(3) The report shall be signed by the medical practitioner."

Finally, section 13 of Regulation 574 (amended) provides:

"A person appealing a suspension has the onus of establishing the merit of the appeal".

FACTS:

The Applicant's driver's licence was suspended "October 07, 2000" as per Notice of Appeal (Exhibit # 2)

Page 2 of Notice of Appeal, dated October 31, 2000, was prepared by Physician # 2 (ING), the Applicant's physician for "96 years 9 months". (?) Physician # 2 writes: "hx of chronic bronchitis recurrent posterior/anterior chest pain increased with breathing ...chest pain non-specific type ...chest x ray Oct 10 00 - normal." (Exhibit # 2)

The Applicant's last visits to the physician were on "Oct 10, 17, 31" (Exhibit # 2)

In a handwritten note, dated Oct 10 00, Physician # 2 confirms that the Applicant "...is under ...care ...for chest pain which increases with breathing ...is going to have chest x ray ...unable to take deep breaths due to chest pain." (Exhibit # 3)

The Applicant's solicitor, from the firm of Harvey Katz and Associates, in a brief prepared for the appeal, submitted a copy of the documents above stated and argued as follows:

Summary:

"The Appellant's first language is Cambodian. His second language is Vietnamese and he has very limited use or understanding of the English language" (Exhibit 5 - 1. Statement of Facts paragraph 2)

"The Appellant was requested to provide a breath sample and he attempted to do so at least 12 times. He blew as hard as he could and for as long as he could. The Appellant is unable to take deep breaths due to chest pain he experienced and he was therefore unable to blow for 10 full seconds." (Exhibit 5 - 1. Statement of Facts paragraph 7)

"The Appellant tried to explain to the police officer conducting the test that he was unable to blow for any longer duration." (Exhibit 5 - I. Statement of Facts paragraph 8)

In "II. ARGUMENTS", the Applicant's solicitor confirms the Applicant's position that he did not provide a breath sample due to medical reasons. She refers to Physician # 2's handwritten note to substantiate her assertion, and writes: "...the Appellant submits that the words "chest pain nonspecific type" were not stated as the medical reason for the Appellant's inability to provide a breath sample. Instead, these words were used to describe the history of the Appellant's condition..." (Exhibit 5 - II. Arguments paragraph 12 & 15 respectively.)

Further the Applicant's solicitor disputes the Respondent's claims in "...paragraphs 4 and 47..." regarding the Applicant's understanding of the English language. (Exhibit 5 - II. Arguments paragraph 16)

In paragraph 19 of her submission the Applicant's solicitor advises that the "...Appellant disagrees with the allegation made in paragraph 54 of the Respondent's report which states that Physician # 2 failed to link the Appellant's chest pain and chronic bronchitis to the lack of sample obtained ...namely, Physician # 2 states that the Appellant was unable to take deep breath, which is required when providing a breath sample, due to chest pain." Exhibit 5 - II. Arguments paragraph 19)

The Respondent provided the following Documents:

1. Part I - The Facts: points 1-41
2. Part II - The Law: points 42-44
3. Part III - Argument of the Registrar: points 45-67

A summary of the Respondent's "Part I - THE FACTS " follows:

- the Applicant "...made several feeble attempts to provide a sample of his breath that were inadequate..." when asked by Police Officer # 1 to do so at the side of the road. (Exhibit 4 - Part I - point 10)
- the Applicant understood the request being made to provide a breath sample as he replied "yea yea" to Police Officer # 2's query (Exhibit 4 - Part I - point 23)
- The Applicant failed to provide an adequate breath sample after fourteen attempts. (Exhibit 4 - Part I - points 25 - 33)

Police Officer # 1, gives a general account of the events leading up to the attempts to obtain a breath sample from the Applicant.

A summary of an Affidavit sworn on November 21, 2000, Police Officer # 1 indicates that:

- "I asked the Applicant if he understood this demand. He seemed not to understand so I said to him, "you have to blow like me." I then demonstrated to him how to successfully blow into the Alcotest device.” (Exhibit 4 - Affidavit. of Police Officer # 1 paragraph. 14)

- the Applicant “...made several feeble attempts to provide a sample of his breath that were inadequate...” (Exhibit 4 - Affidavit. of Police Officer # 1 paragraph. 16)
- “...attempted to explain ...without success...” (Exhibit 4 - Affidavit. of Police Officer # 1 paragraph. 22)
- “...at 9:50 pm ...turned over the Applicant to a Qualified Intoxilyzer Technician...” (Exhibit 4 - Affidavit. of Police Officer # 1 paragraph. 30)
- “Police Officer # 2 returned the Applicant to my custody...” (Exhibit 4 - Affidavit. of Police Officer # 1 paragraph. 32)
- “The Applicant did not indicate to me that he was suffering from a medical problem and did not appear to be in pain or discomfort. He never requested medical treatment and I observed no reason why medical attention would be required.” (Exhibit 4 - Affidavit. of Police Officer # 1 paragraph. 36)

The following is a summary of the Affidavit sworn on November 22, 2000, by Police Officer # 2 wherein he attests:

- “...police officer with the Ontario Provincial Police ...for 16 years...” (Exhibit 4 - Affidavit. of Police Officer # 2 paragraph. 1)
- “...qualified breath technician since 1987.” (Exhibit 4 - Affidavit. of Police Officer # 2 paragraph. 2)
- “I asked the Applicant ‘Is there any reason you are not able to provide a breath sample?’ The Applicant ‘No, I had test 5 years ago.’ (Exhibit 4 - Affidavit. of Police Officer # 2 paragraph. 9)
- “...asked him if he understood and the Applicant replied ‘yea yea’” (Exhibit 4 - Affidavit. of Police Officer # 2 paragraph. 11)
- “On the first attempts the Applicant puffed out his cheeks and there was no tone ...second attempt the Applicant again puffed out his cheeks and there was no tone ...third attempt the Applicant again puffed out his cheeks and no tone was activated” (Exhibit 4 - Affidavit. of Police Officer # 2 paragraph. 13)
- “On the forth attempt the Applicant activated the tone for 2 seconds and then stopped blowing...” (Exhibit 4 - Affidavit. of Police Officer # 2 paragraph. 14)
- “On the fifth and sixth attempts the Applicant again just puffed out his cheeks without activating the tone...” (Exhibit 4 - Affidavit. of Police Officer # 2 paragraph. 15)

- “On the seventh attempt the Applicant did activate the Intoxilyzer for 1 second and then stopped blowing...” (Exhibit 4 - Affidavit. of Police Officer # 2 paragraph. 16)
- “On the eight, ninth and tenth attempt the Applicant again puffed his cheeks without activating the Intoxilyzer.” (Exhibit 4 - Affidavit. of Police Officer # 2 paragraph. 17)
- “On the eleventh attempt the Applicant now sucked in his cheeks.” (Exhibit 4 - Affidavit. of Police Officer # 2 paragraph. 18)
- “The twelfth attempt he again puffed his cheeks out without activating “ (Exhibit 4 - Affidavit. of Police Officer # 2 paragraph. 19)
- “On the thirteenth attempt the Applicant activated ... but stopped blowing after 1 second” (Exhibit 4 - Affidavit. of Police Officer # 2 paragraph. 20)
- “The fourteenth attempt the Applicant again puffed our his cheeks without activating...” (Exhibit 4 - Affidavit. of Police Officer # 2 paragraph. 21)
- “The Applicant informed me that his back hurt and that it why is why he could not blow...” (Exhibit 4 - Affidavit. of Police Officer # 2 paragraph. 24)
- “At no time did the Applicant request medical treatment or appear to be in pain or discomfort...” (Exhibit 4 - Affidavit. of Police Officer # 2 paragraph 25)

In a letter dated November 28, 2000, Physician # 3, MB,ChB, FRCP(UK)FRCP(C) FCCP, Director of Program in Respiratory Rehabilitation - University of Toronto, states that he is a “...consultant respiratologist in practice since 1979 with particular interest in chronic respiratory conditions such as: asthma, emphysema and chronic bronchitis ...Director of the University of Toronto, Respiratory Divisional Program in Rehabilitation, ...medical advisor to the pulmonary function laboratories for over 16 years ...familiar with the Alcotest and the Intoxilyzer 5000C...” .

After assessing “...the medical report of Physician # 2, as well as the Affidavits of Police Officer # 1 and Police Officer # 2...”, Physician # 3 asserts that “From the information provided ...cannot conclude that the Applicant's failure to provide a breath sample related to medical grounds...” (Exhibit 4)

As the Argument, the Respondent contends in Part III, that “The appellant ...appealed under Section 50.1(2)(b) of the Highway Traffic Act...” (Exhibit 4 - Part III - point 45)

The Respondent evaluated the documentation provided for the hearing and “submits that the appellant was very capable of providing a suitable sample of breath at all relevant times...” (Exhibit 4 - Part III - point 49)

In support of its position the Respondent cites precedent decisions, and disputes the medical evidence available in this matter:

- “Physician # 2 fails to link the appellant’s chest pain and/or his chronic bronchitis ...to ...refusal to provide a sample... Physician # 2’s sparse description of ...ailments provide no insight or conclusive evidence as to why the Applicant was unable to complete the test...”(Exhibit 4 - Part III - point 54)
- “Physician # 2 to provide any history of testing done on the appellant ...no test results are presented...” (Exhibit 4 - Part III - point 58)
- “...lack of specialist’s report ...no mention of a referral ...suggests ...appellant’s condition is so minor ...does not require treatment...” (Exhibit 4 - Part III - point 59)

In closing, the Respondent alludes to “...any possible language barrier ...any imaginable communication difficulties are not ground for appeal...” (Exhibit 4 - Part III - point 61)

In conclusion the Respondent emphasizes that “...the appellant has not provided any evidence of his own detailing any breathing difficulties on October 7, 2000.” (Exhibit 4 - Part III - point 64)

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

Prior to setting out the reasons for the decision, The Tribunal must point out that although noted as part of the documentation available, the Applicant’s Driver Record does not form part of Exhibit 4, the Respondent’s submissions.

The omission of the Applicant’s driving record is not relevant as at issue is, how does the medical condition of the Applicant relate to Section 50.1 (2) (b), and did this medical reason cause him to fail or not comply with the breath demand.

The onus is on the Applicant to provide the Tribunal with a medical reason as to why he was unable to provide a breath sample.

The Tribunal reviewed all evidence submitted by both parties. The Applicant proffers no explanation as to why he failed to provide a breath sample when demanded to do so. The Applicant’s solicitor maintains that the Applicant was not able to provide a breath sample due to medical reasons.

This Tribunal finds the Applicant’s solicitor takes certain contradictory liberties in presenting her interpretation of Physician # 2’s reports. Her arguments are somewhat ambiguous if not negating. It is not possible to argue that “...the words ‘chest pain non specific type’ are not stated as the medical reason for the Appellant’s inability to provide a breath sample ...these words were used to describe the history of the Appellant’s condition in the medical report of Physician # 2 ” and that “...Physician # 2 states that the Appellant was unable to take deep breath, ...due to chest pain.” (Exhibit 5 - II. Arguments paragraph 15 & 19 respectively)

The Notice of Appeal prepared by Physician # 2, reports a “hx of chronic bronchitis ...posterior/anterior chest pain increased with breathing ...chest pain non-specific type ...chest x ray Oct 10 00 - normal.” (Exhibit # 2)

The only other medical evidence tendered by the Applicant, other than the information contained in the Notice of Appeal, is a handwritten note from Physician # 2, "...is under ...care ...for chest pain which increases with breathing ...unable to take deep breaths due to chest pain." (Exhibit # 3)

The Tribunal concurs with the Respondent that there is insufficient evidence to substantiate the Applicant's appeal on medical grounds as "Physician # 2 fails to link the appellant's chest pain and/or his chronic bronchitis ...to ...refusal to provide a sample..." (Exhibit 4 - Part III - point 54).

Further, in reviewing both medical reports provided for the hearing, by the Applicant the Tribunal finds that neither of the reports submitted by Physician # 2 complies with the requirements of Sections 15(1) and (2) of Regulation 574 which provides:

15 (1) (c)

" that the medical practitioner had prepared the report or is aware that the report may be used, in support of an appeal to the Tribunal from the suspension of a driver's licence under section 50.1 of the Act."

15 (2)

"The report shall provide the details of any present condition, diagnosis and history of the condition that precludes the person who is the subject of the report from providing a breath sample including the results of any related tests."

Physician # 2's reports simply state the Applicant's present condition, and in no way offer any reason as to why the Applicant could not provide a breath sample.

There is no indication as to whether the Applicant sought medical assistance at the time of the incident. Physician # 2, notes that the Applicant's first visit was on "Oct 10. 2000", three days after the Applicant was stopped by Police Officer # 1. (Exhibit # 3)

The Tribunal has taken into consideration that the Applicant's chest x ray taken on October 10th was "normal". Further, as the Respondent contends it appears that Physician # 2 did not access the problem as being severe enough, in nature, to warrant a referral to a specialist.

As to the issue of language, there may be some doubt as to whether the Applicant understood Police Officer # 1. Nonetheless, the Applicant's answer Police Officer # 2 question shows unequivocally that he understood not only the question but the process: "I asked the Applicant 'Is there any reason you are not able to provide a breath sample?' The Applicant ' No, I had test 5 years ago.'" (Exhibit 4 - Affidavit. of Police Officer # 2 paragraph. 9)

The Applicant's reply to Police Officer # 2 further establishes that the Applicant did not advise of any medical condition preventing him from providing a breath sample.

Physician # 2 suggests that the Applicant is unable to take deep breaths because of chest pains. Yet there is no indication that the Applicant was suffering from chest pains at the time he was asked to provide a breath sample.

The Tribunal must also rely on the eyewitness testimony offered by both officers. At no time did either officer observe the Applicant to be suffering any physical discomfort. (Exhibit # 4)

The onus being on the Applicant to establish the merit of his appeal, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant has failed to do so. Thus, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant does not meet the criteria of Section 50.1 (2) (b), in that he was not able to demonstrate that he suffers from a medical condition which would prevent him from providing a breath sample.

The Tribunal finds that there is insufficient medical reasons as to why the Applicant was unable to comply with the request to provide breath sample.

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the suspension order dated October 7, 2000 of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles pursuant to section 48.3 of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA") and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

Pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50.1(4) of the HTA, the Tribunal confirms the suspension.

The legislation governing the Administrative Drivers Licence Suspension (ADLS) under subsection 50.1(1) and (2) of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA") states:

50.1 (1) "A person whose driver's licence is suspended under Section 48.3 may appeal the suspension to the Tribunal.

(2) The grounds on which a person may appeal under subsection (1) and the only grounds on which the Tribunal may order that the suspension be set aside are,

- (a) that the person whose licence was suspended is not the same individual to whom a demand for a sample of breath or blood was made, or from whom a sample of breath or blood was taken, as the case may be, under or pursuant to the provisions of the Criminal Code (Canada) referred to in subsection 48.3(3); or

- (b) that the person failed or refused to comply with a demand made under section 254 of the Criminal Code (Canada) to provide a sample of breath or blood because he or she was unable to do so for a medical reason".

The HTA states under Section 50.1(4):

The Board may confirm the suspension or may order that the suspension be set aside.

Regulation 574 (amended), Highway Traffic Act at subsection 15(1),(2) and (3) requires that a medical report must contain:

15. (1) "a report of a legally qualified medical practitioner that is to be submitted in evidence shall clearly state,

- (a) the name, telephone number and address, with the postal code, of the medical practitioner;
- (b) the name, date of birth and address of the person who is the subject of the report;
- (c) that the medical practitioner has prepared the report, or is aware that the report may be used, in support of an appeal to the Board from the suspension of a driver's licence under section 50.1 of the Act;
- (d) the length of time and frequency with which the medical practitioner has attended upon the person who is the subject of the report, including the date of the most recent examination of the person that supports the findings set out in the report;
- (e) whether the medical practitioner is the family physician of the person who is the subject of the report; and
- (f) whether the medical practitioner is a specialist and, if so, the field of speciality.

(2) The report shall provide the details of any present condition, diagnosis and history of the condition that precludes the person who is the subject of the report from providing a breath or blood sample including the results of any related tests.

(3) The report shall be signed by the medical practitioner."

Finally, section 13 of Regulation 574 (amended) provides:

"A person appealing a suspension has the onus of establishing the merit of the appeal".

FACTS:

The Applicant, was sworn and took the stand. He testified that on the night in question, a friend of his called him and asked that he pick him up because he had car trouble. The Applicant agreed to pick up his friend. He testified that he was driving on Markham Rd. at which time he was pulled over by police. He believed that he may have run a yellow light and that is why he was being stopped. He testified that he was pulled out of the car by a policeman. The Applicant was asked to stand on the sidewalk. He obeyed the officer. His car was searched by plain clothes policeman and nothing was found. According to the Applicant, an officer, identified as Police Officer # 1 took him and put him into the back seat of his car. He claims that he stated to the officer that he had previously been injured in motor vehicle accident and had injured his neck, chest and back. According to the Applicant, he was not asked any questions, nor was he read the demand for a breath sample. According to the Applicant, he was charged and then released.

The Applicant testified that he was seen by his family physician, Physician # 1 on November 10, 2000 for examination and treatment of injuries received as a result of a motor vehicle accident. Physician # 1's report (Exhibit # 3) noted that the Applicant complained of severe chest and neck pain. The last noted visit was on November 21, 2000 and according to his physician, was still complaining about chest and neck pain.

The Applicant was asked if he was taking therapy and he responded "yes".

When asked if the officer, identified as Police Officer # 1, read anything to him from his notepad, he replied "yes" he did. The Applicant had no further testimony to give and was excused from the stand.

Police Officer # 1 took the stand and was affirmed. He testified that the Applicant, was stopped by Metro Toronto Police on Wednesday, November 15, 2000. The Applicant was questioned by Police Officer # 1 who formed the opinion that the Applicant, was most likely to be operating a motor vehicle with alcohol in his body. Police Officer #1 asked the applicant when he had his last drink, and the Applicant responded "one hour ago, beer". According to Police Officer # 1, he cautioned the driver, read the demand for a breath sample. The officer testified that he also demonstrated the use of the device,

According to Police Officer # 1, the driver stated " I am not doing it, I don't want to." The officer explained the consequences of not providing a breath sample. According to the officer, the driver continued to say: "No, I don't want to" when asked to provide a sample of his breath. The Applicant was subsequently charged with dangerous driving and failure to provide a breath sample and released.

Police Officer # 1 stated that he is not a medical doctor but he is a trained observer. He stated that he did not observe any respiratory distress. He also stated that the driver did not request any medication and did not request any medical attention.

The Tribunal accepts the evidence as presented by Police Officer # 1. The Tribunal recognizes that Police Officer # 1 is not a trained medical person but a trained observer, and the Tribunal accepts his evidence that at no time did the Applicant exhibit any form of respiratory distress or indicate to him that he had a medical condition which would not allow him to provide a sample of his breath.

The report of Physician # 1, the Applicant's medical practitioner, fails to meet the specific requirements of Section 15(1) and Section 15(2) of Regulation 574 of the Highway Traffic Act. Physician # 1 does not indicate that she is aware that the report will be used in support of an appeal to the Board from the suspension of a driver's licence under section 50.1 of the Act. Physician # 1's report does not indicate what condition the Applicant suffers from nor how that condition would affect the Applicant's ability to provide a breath sample.

There is no indication in the report as to what treatment(s) have been afforded to the Applicant with respect to physical therapy or drug therapy. The only tests indicated are X-rays, however no radiological report has been included.

APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO FACTS:

In an appeal of this nature, the onus is upon the Applicant to substantiate his position. The documents submitted by the Applicant do not substantiate his claim to the effect that he had a medical condition which precluded him from providing a breath or blood sample.

After reviewing the foregoing facts, the Tribunal finds that the Applicant has not related any medical condition to Regulation 574 and Section 50(1)(2) (3) of Act.

The evidence is clear that the Applicant failed to provide a suitable sample for no established medical reason. In fact the evidence is quite clear that the Applicant flatly refused to provide a sample when requested to by police. In the testimony of Police Officer # 1, the Applicant refused to even attempt to provide a sample. The evidence submitted suggests that the actions of the Applicant were such as to lead this Tribunal to believe that he had no intention of providing a proper breath sample.

The Tribunal concludes from the evidence that there was no medical reason for not providing a suitable breath sample.

The Applicant has not discharged the onus under section 50.1 of the HTA to establish a valid medical reason for his failure to provide a breath sample following a demand made under Section 254 of the Criminal Code (Canada).

DECISION:

Upon the application by the Applicant to appeal the suspension order dated November 15, 2000 of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles pursuant to section 48.3 of the Highway Traffic Act ("HTA") and having considered the evidence filed with the Tribunal, and the submissions of the Registrar and of the Applicant;

Pursuant to the authority vested in it under section 50.1(4) of the HTA, the Tribunal confirms the suspension.

WAIVER AND CONSENT

In accordance with section 4.1 of the Statutory Powers Procedure Act, the parties hereto waive the requirement of a hearing and consent to a Decision in writing based upon the following Agreed Statement of Facts and Joint Submission.

AGREED STATEMENT OF FACTS

BACKGROUND

1. Impact Travel Group Inc. (hereinafter referred to as the "Registrant") is a company incorporated pursuant to the laws of Ontario and has been registered as a travel agent under the Travel Industry Act, R.S.O., c. T-19, as amended (hereinafter referred to as "the Act") since November 12, 1997.
2. On November 12, 1997, the Registrant agreed to comply with the terms and conditions for all registrants under the Act and Regulation 806/93 made under the Act (hereinafter referred to as "the Regulation"). Among the terms and conditions of registration to which Ms Finn agreed were the requirement, under section 24 of the Regulation, to file financial statements reviewed by a licenced public accountant at fiscal year end or more frequently depending on the Registrant's sales volume, the requirement, under section 25 of the Regulation, to maintain a minimum working capital level that is dependent on the Registrant's sales volume, and the requirement to comply with the trust accounting provisions and section 36 of the Regulation.

WORKING CAPITAL – GROUNDS FOR THE PROPOSAL

3. On November 30, 1999, TICO received the Registrant's financial statements for the year ended January 31, 1999, which were due on April 30, 1999. The Registrant's financial statements revealed a working capital deficiency of $155,338.00.
4. By letter dated January 12, 2000, TICO advised the Registrant that the financial statements for the year ended January 31, 1999 revealed a working capital deficiency of $155,338.00. The Registrant was reminded of the obligation, under the Regulation, to maintain a minimum positive working capital. Based on the Registrant's reported sales of $763,000.00, a minimum working capital of $5,000.00 was required. TICO advised the Registrant that in order to comply with the Regulation, an improvement of $160,338.00 in working capital was required by January 31, 2000.

5. On February 3, 2000, TICO conducted an inspection of the Registrant. The inspection revealed that the working capital deficiency remained outstanding, despite TICO's January 12th letter. The Registrant claimed not to have received the letter. The inspector left a copy of the letter with the Registrant and advised that a second request would be issued giving an approximate deadline of late February to address the working capital deficiency. The inspection also revealed that the Registrant was not adhering to the Act's requirement for trust accounting.
6. By letter dated February 7, 2000, the Registrar of TICO ("the Registrar") requested that the Registrant correct the working capital shortfall of $160,338.00 and advised the Registrant that it was in contravention of subsection 25(1) of the Regulation. The Registrar also informed the Registrant that if TICO did not receive a reply and evidence of correction by February 23, 2000, the Registrar would have no alternative but to initiate administrative action, including a possible proposal to revoke registration under the Act.
7. The working capital deficiency was not corrected by the February 23, 2000 deadline. Therefore, on February 25, 2000, pursuant to section 6 of the Act, the Registrar issued a Notice of Proposal to Revoke Registration on the grounds that the Registrant was in contravention of the Act and regulations by maintaining a working capital shortfall of $160,338.00.

Events After the Issuance of the Proposal

8. By letter dated March 1, 2000, the Registrant gave written notice of the Registrant's desire to appeal the Proposal to Revoke Registration.
9. On April 17, 2000, the Registrant advised TICO that it expected to be purchased by another company and that the transaction was expected to close on or before May 31, 2000. The Registrant anticipated that the sale would address TICO's concerns about the Registrant's working capital shortfall.
10. By May 10, 2000, the Registrant, who has a fiscal year end of January 31st, had not submitted its financial information for the year ended January 31, 2000, as required under section 15 of the Act and section 24 of the Regulation, despite a request for such information from TICO on February 3, 2000.
11. On December 8, 2000, the Registrant provided its financial statements for the year ended January 31, 2000, which were due on April 30, 2000. A review of these statements revealed that the Registrant's working capital deficiency had not been corrected.
12. To date, the Registrant has not been sold due to delays in the purchaser obtaining approval from the Securities Exchange Commission and the NASDAQ.
13. The Registrant's working capital deficiency has not been corrected.
14. The parties agree that the facts set out in the above-noted document are true.

JOINT SUBMISSION

Accordingly, the parties consent to an order of the Licence Appeal Tribunal under subsections 6 (4) and (5) of the Travel Industry Act directing that:

- (i) the Registrar refrain from carrying out the Proposal to Revoke Registration dated February 25, 2000;
- (ii) the Registrant's registration is to be subject to the following conditions:
 - (a) The Registrant shall correct any and all working capital deficiencies and provide proof of such correction, to the satisfaction of the Registrar, by February 28, 2001. At all times thereafter, the Registrant shall maintain a minimum working capital as required pursuant to section 25 of the Regulation or such subsequent provision as may be in force from time to time, and which it has acknowledged in its Terms and Conditions of Registration;
 - (b) The Registrant shall file complete financial statements for the fiscal year ended January 31, 2001 no later than April 30, 2001;
 - (c) If the above-noted financial statements as filed are incomplete and/or reveal an insufficient working capital amount, the Registrant will have 30 days from the date of notice of the amount of the deficiency to fully and completely address any deficiency and produce proof of such correction to the Registrar. Notice of the working capital deficiency, if any, shall be sent by registered mail to the Registrant;
 - (d) In future, the Registrant shall file any and all interim and final financial statements for every year of registration as required by section 24 of the Regulation or such subsequent provision as may be in force from time to time on or before the legislated due date;
 - (e) If any of the Registrant's future financial statements reveal a working capital deficiency, the Registrant will have 30 days from the date of notice of the amount of the deficiency to fully and completely address any deficiency and produce proof of such correction to the Registrar. Notice of the working capital deficiency will be sent by registered mail to the Registrant.
 - (f) The Registrant shall maintain a proper trust account and comply with the trust accounting requirements as stipulated in section 36 of the Regulation or such subsequent provision as may be in force from time to time;
 - (g) The Registrant shall submit a monthly trust account reconciliation to the Registrar on or before the last business day of each month for the preceding month, beginning on February 28, 2001, for the month of January, 2001, for so long as the Registrar shall so require; and
 - (h) If the above-noted trust account reconciliations as filed according to (ii)(g) are incomplete or reveal a customer deposit deficiency, the Registrant will have ten (10) days from the date of the notice of the deficiency to fully and completely address any deficiency and produce proof of the correction acceptable to the Registrar in his sole discretion. TICO shall send notice of the deficiency, if any, by courier or registered mail to the Registrant.

- (iii) Should the Registrant fail to comply with any of the above conditions (ii) (a) to (c) inclusive, the Registrar shall revoke the Registrant's registration on five (5) days written notice sent via hand delivery or by registered mail.
- (iv) This order shall enure to the benefit of and be binding upon the respective successors and assigns of each of the parties to this order.

WAIVER AND CONSENT

In accordance with section 4.1 of the Statutory Powers Procedure Act, the parties hereto waive the requirement of a hearing and consent to a Decision in writing based upon the following Agreed Statement of Facts and Joint Submission.

AGREED STATEMENT OF FACTS BACKGROUND

1. Golfplus Vacations Inc./Vacances Golfplus Inc. (hereinafter referred to as the "Registrant") is a company incorporated pursuant to the laws of Ontario and has been registered as a travel wholesaler under the Travel Industry Act, R.S.O., c. T-19, as amended (hereinafter referred to as "the Act") since August 12, 1998.
2. On July 22, 1998, the Registrant agreed to comply with the terms and conditions for all registrants under the Act and Regulation 806/93 made under the Act (hereinafter referred to as the "Regulation"). Among the terms and conditions of registration to which the Registrant agreed were the requirement, under section 24 of the Regulation, to file financial statements reviewed by a licenced public accountant at fiscal year end or more frequently depending on the Registrant's sales volume, the requirement, under section 25 of the Regulation, to maintain a minimum working capital level that is dependent on the Registrant's sales volume, and the requirement to comply with the trust accounting provisions and section 36 of the Regulation.
3. On August 12, 1998, the Registrant agreed to additional terms and conditions of registration in which and further acknowledged that it read, understood, and would ensure compliance with the terms and conditions under the Act and the Regulation.

WORKING CAPITAL – GROUNDS FOR THE PROPOSAL

4. On November 30, 1999, TICO received the Registrant's Financial Statements for the period from July 6, 1998 (Date of Incorporation) to January 31, 1999, which were due on April 30, 1999. The Registrant's Financial Statements revealed a working capital deficiency of $77,349.00.

5. By letter dated December 15, 1999, TICO advised the Registrant that the financial statements for the year ended January 31, 1999 revealed a working capital deficiency of $77,349.00. The Registrant was reminded of the obligation, under the Regulation, to maintain a minimum positive working capital. Based on the Registrant's reported sales of $160,938.00, a minimum working capital of $5,000.00 was required. TICO advised the Registrant that in order to comply with the Regulation, an improvement of $82,349.00 in working capital was required by January 6, 2000.
6. By letter dated January 12, 2000, the Registrant was again requested to address the working capital deficiency.
7. On February 3, 2000, TICO conducted an inspection of the Registrant. The inspection revealed that the working capital deficiency remained outstanding at the time of the inspection, despite the two letters from TICO. The Registrant claimed that they did not receive TICO's requests. The inspector left a copy of the request with the Registrant and advised the Registrant that the Registrar for TICO ("the Registrar"), would issue a third request giving an approximate deadline of late February to address the working capital deficiency. The inspection also revealed that the Registrant was not adhering to the Act's requirement for trust accounting.
8. By letter dated February 7, 2000, the Registrar requested that the Registrant correct the working capital shortfall of $82,349.00 and advised the Registrant that it was in contravention of subsection 25(1) of the Regulation. The Registrar also informed the Registrant that if TICO did not receive a reply and evidence of correction by February 23, 2000, the Registrar would have no alternative but to initiate administrative action, including a possible proposal to revoke registration under the Act.
9. The working capital deficiency was not corrected by the February 23, 2000 deadline. Therefore, on February 25, 2000, pursuant to section 6 of the Act, the Registrar issued a Notice of Proposal to Revoke Registration on the grounds that the Registrant was in contravention of the Act and regulations by maintaining a working capital shortfall of $82,349.00.

Events After the Issuance of the Proposal

10. By letter dated March 1, 2000, the Registrant gave written notice of the Registrant's desire to appeal the Proposal to Revoke Registration.
11. On April 17, 2000, the Registrant advised TICO that it expected to be purchased by another company and that the transaction was expected to close on or before May 31, 2000. The Registrant anticipated that the sale would address TICO's concerns about the Registrant's working capital shortfall.
12. By letter dated August 10, 2000, TICO reminded the Registrant of its obligation to submit its financial information under section 15 of the Act and section 24 of the Regulation. TICO required the information on or before November 30, 2000.
13. On December 8, 2000, the Registrant provided its financial statements for the year ended January 31, 2000, which were due on April 30, 2000. A review of these statements revealed that the Registrant's working capital deficiency had not been corrected.

14. To date, the Registrant has not been sold due to delays in the purchaser obtaining approval from the Securities Exchange Commission and the NASDAQ.
15. The Registrant's working capital deficiency has not been corrected.
16. The parties agree that the facts set out in the above-noted document are true.

JOINT SUBMISSION

Accordingly, the parties consent to an order of the Licence Appeal Tribunal under subsections 6 (4) and (5) of the Travel Industry Act directing that:

Notice of the working capital deficiency will be sent by registered mail to the Registrant.

- (f) The Registrant shall maintain a proper trust account and comply with the trust accounting requirements as stipulated in section 36 of the Regulation or such subsequent provision as may be in force from time to time;

REGISTRAR OF THE CONSUMER REPORTING AGENCIES UNDER SECTION
14(1)(2) TO THE CONSUMER REPORTING ACT

Before: Southey J., Kuzak J., Lederman J.

Date : Dec. 6/00

The appellant failed to put forward any cogent evidence that the decisions of the Registrar, dated March 11/99 and May 5/99 were inaccurate for failed to comply with the provisions of the Consumer Reporting act or regulations. He appealed to CRAT, but again failed to produce any evidence. Indeed, he did not appear at the second hearing on January 25, 2000. CRAT was justified in dismissing his appeal, and we find no error in the decision of CRAT. The appeal is dismissed. In the circumstances, there will be no order as to costs.

v.

REGISTRAR OF MOTOR VEHICLE DEALERS AND SALESMEN

Court File No. 558/98

Before: Gravely J., Matlow J., Marchand J.

Date : Nov. 23/00

We are not satisfied the Tribunal was in error. There was ample evidence to allow it to reach the conclusion it did. Nor was the penalty overly severe. Integrity of odometer readings is fundamental to the proper governing of a motor vehicle dealer and the appeal by both appellants must be dismissed.

The evidence is that Mr. Jacobs has made sincere efforts to reform his business practices. He no longer employs the salesperson who was involved in at least some of the odometer tampering. He no longer deals in T.M.U. vehicles and has not reoffended. He may then wish to reapply for registration. To allow him to do so or take whatever steps may be necessary to reorganize his business affairs we agree to temporarily stay the Tribunal decision.

The appeal is dismissed. The Decision of the Tribunal is stayed for a period of 60 days.

Costs are fixed @ $1500.

O'DRISCOLL J. (orally)

[1] The appellants/applicants appeal to this Court under the provisions of s.11(1) of the Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. M.21 from the decision of the Commercial Registration Appeals Tribunal (CRAT), dated May 14, 1998, directing the Ontario New Home Warranty Program (Program) to disallow the appellants' claim.

[2] The appellants each contracted with Buckingham Estates Limited for the purchase of a new condominium. The condominiums in question were located in Niagara Falls. Pursuant to two (2) contracts entered into by Edmunds and Buckingham, Edmunds agreed to purchase and the developer agreed to sell two (2) units of the condominium. The appellant, Linklater, entered into a similar agreement with Buckingham for the purchase of one (1) unit. The three (3) contracts required the payment of a deposit of $17,900 per condominium, which was to be applied to the purchase price. Both appellants paid all required deposits under the contracts. According to the agreements, the date of possession of all three (3) units was June 1, 1989. The agreements allowed for an extension of the dates of possession until June 1, 1992. The appellants submit that a further term of the three agreements required the vendor, Buckingham, to provide mortgage financing to Edmunds and Linklater for the balance of the purchase price due upon closing.

[3] In February 1991, Buckingham's principal became bankrupt, and, as a result, Buckingham abandoned the condominium project. According to the CRAT decision, by the terms of their agreements, the appellants agreed and undertook to accept the transfer of the title of their respective units from Coventry. According to the appellants, however, Coventry made it clear that it would not provide the mortgage financing, an essential term of the contracts between the appellants and Buckingham and would not complete those contracts pursuant to their terms.

[4] A written notice was given by Coventry and received by the appellants toward the end of September 1991. The notice required the appellants to make payments of outstanding interim occupancy charges and it advised the appellants of Coventry's readiness to honour the agreements between the appellants and Buckingham and to close the transactions by November 1, 1991. The appellants did not comply with Coventry's request for payment of the occupancy fees and did not make any payments with respect to any amounts due and owing under the said agreements.

[5] Subsequently, Coventry sold the three (3) units in question to third parties and reduced the purchase price of each unit so sold to the new purchasers by the amount of the deposits that were paid to Buckingham by the appellants.

[6] The appellants argued before CRAT that they did nothing to forfeit their right to the return of the deposits under the purchase agreements with Buckingham. As a result, they submitted a claim to the Program for compensation for the loss of their deposits. The Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act, states:

"14.(1)Where,

- (a) a person who has entered into a contract with a vendor for the provision of a home has a cause of action in damages against the vendor for financial loss resulting from the bankruptcy of the vendor or the vendor's failure to perform the contract;

.... the person or owner is entitled to be paid out of the guarantee fund the amount of such damage subject to such limits as are fixed by the regulations."

[7] We are of the view that,

1) the principal of the vendor went bankrupt and, thereafter, Buckingham breached the contract between Buckingham Estates and the appellants/purchasers;

2) there was no new or second agreement between the appellants and Coventry. At pages 84-85 of the transcript, the witness, called by the Program before CRAT, a lawyer named Mr. Paul Heath, who was acting for Coventry, gave evidence as follows:

THE CHAIR: So is there - do you feel that this is possibly a variation of the agreement?

THE WITNESS: From our perspective, from Coventry's perspective, we had no agreement.

[8] We are also of the view that there was no agency relationship as between Buckingham Estates and Coventry. We are also of the view that the appellants have fulfilled the conditions of s. 14(1) of the Act and are entitled to be paid out of the fund. Moreover, we are of the view that s. 14(2) of the Act:

(2) In assessing damages, the Corporation shall take into consideration any benefit, compensation or indemnity payable to the person or owner from any source.

is not applicable to the facts of this case.

[9] In the result, the appeal is allowed, the decision on appeal is set aside. The appellants are entitled to be paid out of the Fund the amounts of the deposits, namely, three times $17,900 plus interest as set out in:

- 1) Regulation 892 under the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act,
- 2) Section 53 of the Condominium Act, R.S.O. 1990, c.C.26, and
- 3) Section 35 and s.53 of Regulation 96 made under the Condominium Act of Ontario.

[10] After hearing submissions and then consulting with my colleagues, I have endorsed the back of the Appeal Book as follows:

"This appeal is allowed for the oral reasons given for the Court by O'Driscoll J.
Costs of this appeal are fixed at $5,000.00 payable by the Respondent to the Appellants."

[1] Florio is the original purchaser and registered owner of property municipally known as 48 Eldorado Street, Richmond Hill, Ontario. He purchased the property by way of an agreement of purchase and sale dated May 6, 1997, and took possession of the home on August 28, 1997.

(2) He appeals from a decision of the-Commercial Registration Appeal Tribunal, overturning certain decisions of the Ontario New Home Warranty Program.

(3) The most significant issue raised by Florio on this appeal is the alleged failure of the Tribunal to apply the contra proferentem rule against the builder vendor in dealing with an ambiguity in the agreement of purchase and sale.

[4] One clause in the agreement provided the vendor was to construct a bungalow of a type chosen by the purchaser and identified by way of a sketch, the plans for which when prepared disclosed a nine foot ceiling. Another clause provided the "bungalow" (meaning the standard bungalow usually built by the vendor) was to have a ten foot ceiling.

[5] It is doubtful in our view that in the circumstances existing here that the contra proferentem rule applies to such an ambiguity for it is not just a question of interpreting a particular clause but of deciding which of two clauses reflects the agreement of the parties. As well, it cannot be said that the purchaser was faced with an agreement "with no opportunity to modify its wording", (see Hillis Oil & Sales Ltd. v. Wynn's Canada Ltd. (1986), 25 D.L.R. (4th) 649 @ p. 657.

[6] Indeed, the purchaser did alter the wording of the agreement by providing that the vendor build a bungalow in accordance with a sketch he produced, the very alteration that created the ambiguity. In resolving the ambiguity and deciding that the parties had understood the height of the ceiling was to be nine feet, the Tribunal took into account that the purchaser knew before closing, that the bungalow had been constructed with a nine foot ceiling, made no complaint and closed the transaction. We see no error in that finding.

[7] Virtually all the other issues raised relate to findings of fact made by the Tribunal. There was, in our view, evidence to support all of those findings and they cannot be disturbed by us.

[8] In summary, we find no errors in law or misapprehension of the evidence by the Tribunal. The appeal is, therefore, dismissed.

[9] For reasons given orally, the appeal is dismissed with costs to Ontario New Home Warranty fixed at $2,000.00 and 753907 Ontario Inc. fixed at $1,000.00.

BEFORE: MacFarland, Lang, Ground

DATE: October 6, 2000

DISPOSITION – THIS APPEAL is dismissed

While the tribunal made no specific finding that the appellant's past conduct – in its view – did not afford reasonable grounds for a belief that he would not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty – it is implicit that it did so.

That the tribunal was aware of the proper test is clear from its reasons. At page 2 thereof it states the Registrar's findings, at page 7 the Brenner case.

The tribunal analyzed the evidence which the Registrar had relied upon and found it wanting at page 8 thereof: "Having reviewed all the evidence and the principles of law to which I have referred, I have come to the conclusion that the Tribunal should direct the Registrar to grant registration to the applicant".

It is implicit that the tribunal found the Registrar in error in her finding that the past conduct did afford reasonable grounds for a belief that he would not carry on business in accordance with law and with integrity and honesty and in effect failed to appreciate the evidence before her.

Moreover, there is no error and the appeal is dismissed.

TOWN-WOOD HOMES LIMITED

Appellant (Added Party)

HEARD at Toronto: September 13, 2000

M.A. Cohen, for the Town-Wood Homes Limited

THE COURT:

I. Nature of the Proceedings

[1] The Ontario New Home Warranty Program (Program) appeals to the Divisional Court under the provisions of s. 1 (1) of the Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. M. 21.

s. 11(1) Any party to proceedings before the Tribunal may appeal from its decision or order to the Divisional Court in accordance with the rules of court

(5) An appeal under this section may be made on questions of law or fact or both and the court may exercise all the powers of the Tribunal, and for such purpose the court may substitute its opinion for that of the Registrar or of the Tribunal, or the court may refer the matter back to the Tribunal for rehearing, in whole or in part, in accordance with such directions as the court considers proper.

[2] The appeal is from a decision of the Commercial Registration Appeal Tribunal (CRAT), dated September 17, 1998, ordering the Program to obtain title to certain property on behalf of Donna Gourlay or, in the alternative, to pay to Ms. Gourlay $4,889.12, being CRAT's estimate of the value of the property alleged to be in dispute.

[3] At the opening of the appeal, an order was made under rule 13.03 of the Rules of Civil Procedure adding Town-Wood Homes Limited as a party to this appeal.

The appeal fails.

II. Background and Chronology

[4] On June 3, 1996 Ms. Gourlay signed a Purchase and Sale Agreement (Agreement) with Town-Wood Homes Limited (Town-Wood) to purchase Lot 108-40, Unit, 1, Plan 43 M-1175, Brampton, known municipally as 49 Yellow Brick Road, The Agreement states:

The undersigned Donna G. Gourlay (the "Purchaser") hereby agrees to and with Town-Wood Homes Limited (the "Vendor"), to purchase all and singular the premises on the East side of Yellow Brick Road in the City/Town of Brampton (the "Municipality"), in the Regiona.1 Municipality of Peel (the "Region") and being (part of) Lot No. 108 according to Registered Plan No. 43M-1175 (the "Plan of Subdivision") having a frontage of about per schedule "L" metres, more or less, by a depth of XXXXXXXX metres more or less, (the "Real Property") for the sum of One Hundred and Twenty-Four Thousand Nine Hundred----- DOLLARS ($124,900,00)

[5] Unit 40 and Unit 37 share a side yard which gives each of those units access to its main entrance. The side yard for Unit 40 and Unit 37 is fully owned by the owner of Unit 37. Ms. Gourlay has an easement over the side yard. Schedule "L" (supra) depicts Lots 106, 107 and 108. Schedule "L" shows the division of the lots into separate parts and gives approximate dimensions. However, Schedule "L" does not indicate which property is owned by each of the individual units on the given lot. Thus, Schedule "L" is helpful as an overall site plan of Lot 108 but did not describe the property Ms. Gourlay was purchasing. Before CRAT, Ms. Gourlay so admitted.

[6] To identify what property Ms. Gourlay was purchasing according to The Agreement, it was necessary to examine the description set out in the Transfer Deed and compare that description with the registered plan.

[7] The plan of subdivision was deposited with the Land Registrar for Land Titles Division of Peel on September 9, 1996 and became Plan 43R21797. The north half of Lot 108 is shown to have four (4) parts:

Part 35: a 40 cm. strip bordering the north wall of Unit 40

Part 36: a 1.2 m. irregularly-shaped strip of the Side Yard, bordering
Part 35 and 37

Part 37: the property occupied by Unit 40, the patio and driveway

Part 38: the property occupied by Unit 37, the patio, the driveway and all the Side Yard, save for Parts 35 and 36.

Parts 35 and 36 represent the Side Yard.

[8] In a letter, dated September 12, 1996, the solicitor for the vendor, Town-Wood sent to Ms. Gourlay's solicitor a reproduction of that part of Registered Plan of survey 43R21797 showing Lot 108. Town-Wood's solicitor in the same letter sent to Ms. Gourlay's solicitor a draft transfer deed. It showed that Part 37 was being conveyed to Ms. Gourlay along with an easement over Part 35 and Part 36 (Side Yard) and that no title in Parts 35 and 36 was being conveyed to Ms. Gourlay.

[9] Ms. Gourlay's solicitor made no objections to title. The transaction closed on September 27, 1996.

[10] One year later, by letters of September 12, 1997 and September 24, 1997, Ms. Gourlay asserted that she should have received legal title (rather than an easement only) to a 25.564 square meter area of land at the side of her fourplex (the Side Yard).

[11] The Program contacted Town-Wood's president, Antonio Guglietti.

[12] On August 6, 1997, Mr. Guglietti wrote to Ms. Gourlay and acknowledged that TownWood had accidentally failed to include a right of way for access with the transfer deed and advised Ms. Gourlay that Town-Wood had obtained a right of way for access and enclosed a copy of the document providing access. The form was ready for registration, Ms. Gourlay has never registered the document granting access to the Side Yard.

[13] In his affidavit, sworn August 27, 1998, Antonio Guglietti, president of Town-Wood Homes Limited, deposed:

14. It was always the intention of Town-Wood to convey ownership of the access route to the rear-unit owner.

15. In order to complete Donna Gourlay's title, on or about October 31, 1997, I delivered to Donna Gourlay a Transfer of Access Right-of-Way (the "Transfer"), executed by the rear unit owner, Lori Cullen, to be registered by Donna G. Gourlay's solicitor. Attached hereto to this my affidavit and marked as Exhibit "G" (Tab 9), is a true copy of my correspondence to Donna G. Gourlay, and a true copy of the enclosed form of transfer.

16. The Ontario New Home Warranty Program was satisfied with this solution as can be seen in its letter dated May 21, 1998, to Donna Gourlay. Attached hereto to this my affidavit and marked as Exhibit "H" (Tab 10) is a true copy of this letter,

17. Out of the 65 quattroplex units sold to purchasers who were represented by solicitors, only Donna Gourlay has taken the position that there is a defect in title involving their quattroplex unit.

18. 35 out of 65 quattxoplexes have front entrances for each of the two front-unit owners. Accordingly, each of the rear-unit owners have an exclusive side entrance. Of the 30 quattroplex buildings with front-units having side entrances, one of which contains the Gourlay unit, access was reconfigured to the side of the building rather than the front, resulting in an access route over the side-yard for the front-unit owner, This access route is achieved by way of an easement, as the side-yard is owned by the rear unit owner.

22. It is apparent from By-law 151-88 and from the photographs of the Gourlay quattroplex, that the quattroplex was built in compliance with the By-law's requirements. Attached hereto to this my affidavit and marked as Exhibit "K" (Tab 13) are true copies of photographs of the Gourlay quattroplex, taken August 15, 1998.

22. Also apparent from Schedule "L" to the Agreement is that the 1.2 meter side yard exists adjacent to the front unit, though it was intentionally deeded to the rear unit owner, rather than to the front-unit owner who was to receive an easement.

[14] Ms. Gourlay continued to claim that she should have obtained title to the Side Yard.

[15] Ms. Gourlay's claim is based on the fact that Schedule "Q" was appended to the Agreement. It is an artist's depiction of Lot 108 - it does not set out metes and bounds and does not divide Lot 108 into parts. Schedule "Q" was not appended to define/show property limits – that was done by the documents sent to her solicitor by the solicitor for Town-Wood.

[16] On April 15, 1998, Ms. Gourlay completed a Conciliation Request Form and claimed compensation from the Program for "Financial loss" resulting from Town-Wood's alleged failure to convey to her title to the Side Yard.

[17] In its letter of May 21, 1998, the Program denied Ms. Gourlay's Claim under s.14 of the Ontario New Home Warranties Plan Act (the Act). The Program took the position that:

- (a) Pursuant to the Agreement, the Survey and the Transfer Deed, Town-Wood was only required to transfer Part 37 to Ms. Gourlay. Therefore, Ms. Gourlay received exactly what she had agreed to purchase and Town-Wood had agreed to sell.
- (b) In any event, the doctrine of merger applied.
- (b) Ms. Gourlay was an "owner" within the meaning of the Act and thus was not entitled to make a claim under s. 14(1)(a) of the Act and, because of the nature of the claim, it did not fall under s.13(1)(a) of the Act.

[18] By letter, dated May 26, 1998, Ms. Gourlay appealed the Program's decision to CRAT. The appeal was heard on September 9, 1998.

[19] As a result of the words/actions of the Gourlays, Town-Wood commenced an action (Toronto - 98BN03252) against the Gourlays for defamation. In that action, the Gourlays counterclaimed and claimed the same relief as claimed against the Program. Town-Wood moved for summary judgment to dismiss the counterclaim.

[20] On September 17, 1998, Ferrier J., dismissed Gourlay's counterclaim; he held:

"...it is apparent from the agreement of purchase and sale, schedule L and the survey (all of which were reviewed by her solicitor prior to closing) she [Gourlay] appears to have got what she bargained for.

Alternatively, if the document identified as "schedule Q" amounts to a representation... the doctrine of merger nevertheless applies."

[21] On the same day as Ferrier J. dismissed the Gourlay counterclaim (September 17, 1998), CRAT allowed the appeal from the Program and ordered it to acquire "the transfer of title to Parts 35 and 36 to the applicant (Gourlay), or, if unable to acquire such title by a date that is 60 days from the date of release of this Decision, to pay to the Applicant the sum of $4,889.12, plus any applicable taxes. Either action shall fully discharge the Program's obligations under this order."

III. The Applicable Section of the Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations Act (the Act)

s. 14. (1) - Where,

- (a) a person who has entered into a contract with a vendor for the provision of a home has a cause of action in damages against the vendor for financial loss resulting from the bankruptcy of the vendor or the vendor's failure to perform the contract;
- (b) an owner has a cause of action against the vendor for damages resulting from a breach of warranty; or
- (c) the owner suffers damage because of a major structural defect as defined in the regulations for the purposes of section 13, and the claim is made within four years after the warranty expires or such longer time under such conditions as are prescribed,

the person or owner is entitled to be paid out of the guarantee fund the amount of such damage subject to such limits as are fixed by the regulations.

[22] CRAT's decision correctly held that s. 14(1)(b) and (c) of the Act do not include any warranty for deficiencies in the amount of land sold or conveyed. Thus, the claim, if any, must fit into s. 14(1)(a).

IV. Conclusion

[23] Section 14(1)(a) of the Act is intended to protect those who contract with a vendor and suffer financial loss where the vendor/builder never completes the transaction. Here, CRAT erred in applying s. 14(1)(a), to a situation where the transfer had been completed. The claim of Ms. Gourlay is for an alleged deficiency in the quantity of land conveyed.

[24] CRAT in making the impugned order is compensating for alleged deficiencies in matters of title.

[25] In the following cases, CRAT had previously correctly held that s. 14(1)(a) of the Act was not intended to compensate any and every breach of contract but was intended to cover "financial loss" when the vendor had failed to complete the contract:

Re Lu, [1994] O.C.R.A.T.D. No. 86

Re Armstrong, [1995] O.C.R.A.T.D. No. 32

Re Legacy, [1991] O.C.R.A.T.D. (1991) C.R.A.T. 790

Re Greenberg, [1997] O.C.R.A.T.D. No. 148 affirmed (Nov. 22, 1993) Div. Ct.

Re Kaminski, [1994] O.C.R.A.T.D. No. 126

[26] It is our view that CRAT erred in concluding that the Gourlay claim fell under s.14(1)(a) of the Act.

[27] On the record before us, we -echo what Ferrier J. said on September 17, 1998: "Ms. Gourlay got what she bargained for and that if Schedule "Q" amounts to a representation, the doctrine of merger applies".

V . Result

[28] The appeal is allowed, the decision of CRAT, dated September 17, 1998, is set aside and the decision of the Program as set out in its letter of May 21, 1998 to Ms. Gourlay is restored.

VI. Costs

[29] The Respondent, Ms. Gourlay, shall forthwith pay to the Program costs of this appeal in the sum of $3,000.00 and to Town-Wood Homes Limited the sum of $1,000.00.
