Interprovincial migration

In the second quarter of 2018, Ontario had a net inflow of 3,274 people from other provinces and territories compared to a net gain of 3,236 people in the same quarter of 2017. Ontario experienced net gains in its exchanges with six of the 12 other provinces and territories. The largest gains came from Quebec (2,258) and Manitoba (958). The largest losses were to Nova Scotia (-461) and British Columbia (-198). Over the last 12 months, Ontario's total net interprovincial migration gain was 17,886, compared to a net gain of 13,382 during the previous year.

Year-over-year growth

Over the last 12 months, Ontario's population grew by 251,312 or 1.8%, higher than growth of 196,051 during the previous year. Among the provinces, Ontario had the fastest population growth rate, followed by Prince Edward Island (1.8%) and Alberta (1.5%). Canada's population grew at a rate of 1.4% over the period.

1. Statistics Canada's population estimates for total population and components of growth are based on the 2016 Census (shaded areas). All other estimates are based on the 2011 Census.
2. Except for Canada, projections are produced by the Ontario Ministry of Finance (Spring 2018). Projections for Canada are from Statistics Canada (based on 2011 Census).
3. Total dependency ratio is the ratio of the population aged 0–19 and 65+ to the population aged 20–64.
4. Total Fertility Rates and life expectancy estimates are for calendar year, and projections are for census year. Life expectancy estimates represent three-year averages (e.g., 2006 reported life expectancy corresponds to the average recorded over 2005–2007).
5. Households are Census data.
6. In the "Components of Change" table, flows are for the 12-month period July 1 to June 30. Net international migration is calculated as the net balance of immigrants, net emigrants and net non-permanent residents (NPRs). Components may not add up due to existence of residuals.

Note: All population figures are for July 1st.
