

Staff Changes at the JPPC Secretariat

EXPLORING NEW HORIZONS

BOTH Gary Spencer and Kanini Rodney recently left the JPPC to take on new challenges.

Gary has joined the Oshawa General Hospital where he will be applying the knowledge, skills and experience he acquired during his three years with the JPPC toward assisting the Senior Management Team.

Kanini has made a decision to return to Emory University in Atlanta for a combined degree of MD/PhD (yes, we'll have to call her Doctor, Doctor when she graduates). We hope her two years at the JPPC will have provided her with an appreciation of the relationship between clinical and funding issues that will serve her well during her academic pursuits.

Best of luck to both of you!

As well, Natalie Rashkovan will be heading off on maternity leave for the last half of the (calender) year. We wish her and her impending arrival all the best.

A WARM WELCOME

The JPPC would like to welcome the new staff that have recently joined the Secretariat.

Alexandra Flatt joins the JPPC Secretariat from the Toronto East General Hospital. Alexandra was a former student resident with the JPPC during her MBA (Health Specialty) Program at McMaster University.

Nizar Ladak joins the JPPC Secretariat from the Bloorview MacMillan Centre.

Nizar has a Master of Education and is working toward the completion of his Doctoral Dissertation.

Rob Stewart has also joined the JPPC Secretariat for the next six months. Rob has been engaged in various consulting assignments in Ontario and other provinces.

Invitation to Participate in the JPPC

THE JPPC maintains a data base of individuals who have expressed an interest in contributing to and participating in the work and activities of the JPPC. When the need arises to recruit interested individuals for JPPC committees, ad hoc work groups, focus sessions, etc., we often refer to this 'pool' of potential contributors/participants.

We are issuing an invitation to anyone who might be interested in being involved in JPPC activities to complete the attached form and return it via fax (416-360-1510). If you would like more information about the JPPC please indicate this on the form below or call us.
