Bureau du directeur

February 15, 2005

The Honourable Alvin Curling
Speaker of the Legislative Assembly
Queen's Park
Toronto ON
M7A 1A2

Dear Mr. Speaker:

It is my pleasure to submit the Annual Report covering the affairs of my Office under the Election Finances Act and the Taxpayer Protection Act, 1999 conducted during the year 2003.

This Report is submitted pursuant to subsection 2(4) of the Election Finances Act.

In this Report, I have addressed annual activity related to political party registration, filings by the registered political parties and constituency associations, and the second return for the Progressive Conservative Party's 2002 leadership contest, as well as the returns specific to the 38th Provincial General Election, held on October 2, 2003. This Report also presents areas that merit review and clarification for administration of this activity in the future.

In addition, the timing presented by the delivery of this Report has provided an opportunity for me to inform you of the activities of my Office during 2003 under the Municipal Elections Act, 1996.

Yours sincerely,

John L. Hollins
Chief Election Officer

THE MANDATE OF THE CHIEF ELECTION OFFICER

The primary responsibilities of the Chief Election Officer under the Election Finances Act fit broadly into five areas:

- Registering Ontario's political parties, constituency (or riding) associations, contestants for the leadership of a registered party, and the candidates in general elections and by-elections
- Supervising the limits on campaign expenses and political contributions
- Providing subsidies for campaign expenses
- Issuing tax credit receipts for contributions to parties, constituency associations and candidates, and
- Publishing information and materials filed under the Act.

In addition, during an election campaign, the Taxpayer Protection Act, 1999 requires the Chief Election Officer to consider statements that may be provided by a political party with respect to its intention to increase the tax rate in designated tax statutes, establish new taxes or create new authorities to tax should it form the government after the election. The Chief Election Officer is required to determine if the statements are clear, concise and unambiguous and, once satisfied that the statements meet the requirements of the legislation in this regard, make his decision available to the public.

In 2000, the passage of the Direct Democracy through Municipal Referendums Act introduced a new mandate for the Chief Election Officer, through amendments to the Municipal Elections Act, 1996. He now carries a responsibility to consider and decide appeals with regard to questions proposed for submission to municipal electors, on the grounds that they are not clear, concise and neutral, or they are not capable of being answered in the affirmative or the negative.

I am pleased to report that, throughout 2003, my Office successfully met its obligations within its budget and in a timely manner.

ANNUAL ACTIVITY

PARTY DEREGISTRATION

During 2003, two registered political parties applied to my Office for voluntary deregistration under paragraph 12 (1) (a) of the Election Finances Act.

- The Natural Law Party (NLP), registered on May 24, 1995, was deregistered on July 21, 2003.
- The Reform Party of Ontario (Reform), registered on January 22, 1997, was deregistered effective September 15, 2003.

2002 ANNUAL RETURNS

The routine activity of the Election Finances division within my Office began with the submission and processing of over 400 annual returns from the registered parties and their constituency associations. In 2003, this activity occupied a significant proportion of staff time throughout the year following the May 31 filing deadline. While compliance with requirements and deadlines for annual filings was generally satisfactory, late filings continue to present us with significant challenges. My Office will continue to review processes and procedures, and offer support and guidance to the large volunteer community that carries the reporting obligation.

2002 PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE PARTY LEADERSHIP CONTEST

Further to the first filings completed in 2002, the deadline for filing second returns for the Progressive Conservative Party leadership contest held on March 23, 2002 was November 24, 2003. This filing covered the period from May 24, 2002 to May 23, 2003. Filings from the five candidates were received on time and in compliance with the Election Finances Act.

BY-ELECTIONS

While no by-elections were held in 2003, the resignation of the member of the Legislative Assembly for the Electoral District of Mississauga West, and the resultant Speaker's Warrant issued on March 18, 2003, meant that my Office had to be ready to manage a possible event in this District throughout the spring and summer of 2003. Ultimately, the call of a general election on September 2, 2003 eliminated the need for a by-election in this electoral district.

THE 38TH PROVINCIAL GENERAL ELECTION: OCTOBER 2, 2003

The Writs for the 38th Provincial General Election were issued on September 2, 2003. By polling day, 522 candidates had registered under section 13 of the Election Finances Act. This was 46 fewer than the number of candidates registered in the previous general election in 1999.

FINANCIAL FILINGS

As in previous general elections, the chief financial officers (CFOs) of every registered political party, constituency association and candidate are required to file a financial statement with my Office. By the filing deadline of April 2, 2004, 673 returns, representing 69.7 percent of the total participants, had been filed. At the date of publication of this Report, as a result of their failure to file the required returns, six candidates who registered for the 2003 general election face a ban on candidacy through to the next general election under subsection 43 (1) of the Election Finances Act. In addition, two constituency associations did not file campaign period returns and have subsequently been deregistered under subsection 12 (2) of the Election Finances Act.

All the financial information in this Report and the accompanying Appendices reflect the information as filed with my Office and as subsequently revised to the date of publication. Our review of some filings continues and, as a result, some information in this Report may subsequently be revised after this publication. The Election Finances references within the Elections Ontario web site, www.electionsontario.on.ca, will be adjusted to reflect more up-to-date information as it becomes available.

The Appendices to this Report present a summary of campaign period financial statements as filed for the October 2, 2003 general election by registered political parties (Appendix H), combined income and expense statements as filed for candidates and constituency associations (Appendix I), and subsidy payments.

SPENDING LIMITS

The Election Finances Act establishes limits on the campaign expenses of political parties and candidates and their constituency associations. These amounts are established by following a formula set out in the Act that incorporates a basic amount, an indexation factor reflecting changes in the Consumer Price Index for Canada and the number of electors. The indexation factor component of the formula came into effect on January 1, 2004 and did not apply to the 2003 general election.

ELECTION FINANCES ADMINISTRATION: KEY ACTIVITIES IN 2003

A permanent team of eight staff fulfill the responsibilities of the Election Finances division within Elections Ontario. The election campaign workload required the hiring of temporary data entry staff. We also experienced some challenges in securing the necessary temporary staff with the competencies required to review and understand the large volume of financial documents associated with the campaign period.

OUTREACH

While the principal focus of the division through most of 2003 was on the preparation and delivery of support for the general election, Elections Ontario was represented at the Election Finances sessions of a workshop hosted by Elections Alberta in Edmonton, over two days in February 2003. Unfortunately, preparations for the election precluded Elections Ontario's presence at the 2003 Conference of the Council on Governmental Ethics Laws (COGEL) held in Austin, Texas. Elections Ontario continues to be an active member of this international association.

At home in Ontario, the Advisory Committee of Registered Political Parties continued to provide members with a forum for the exchange of information and discussion of a range of election-related issues with Elections Ontario, including election finances matters. Since the 2002 meetings had provided the opportunity to discuss information sharing and training programs, the meetings held in 2003 reflected a primary focus on the forthcoming general election.

MANAGEMENT ISSUES

The Election Finances division processed over 1,400 filings reflecting annual returns, campaign returns and leadership contest returns relating to activity in 2003. In total, these returns contained over 18,500 pages of documents.

As we reviewed the returns filed for 2003, it was clear that we continue to encounter the same challenges experienced in previous years, and that the greatest problem we face is compliance by filers with the statutory filing requirements. As an example, fewer than 70 percent of the required returns in the campaign period were filed by the April 2, 2004 deadline.

Delayed filing of returns or other important information with the Election Finances division has a direct impact on the publication of timely information and can compromise the basic principles of openness and transparency.

Possible solutions to the challenges of compliance range from increased training, information and operational support for filers through improved processes (such as electronic filing), to stricter enforcement and more significant penalties. Improved compliance will depend on a combination of the available tools and continued close working relationships between Elections Ontario and the other participants in the process.

The Election Finances division of Elections Ontario continues to focus on achieving appropriate balances. This means balancing the integrity of the process with access to meaningful and accurate information for participants, the media and electors, and the participation of the dedicated representatives of parties and candidates, both centrally and in the electoral districts. We will also more rigorously pursue the enforcement opportunities and penalties available under the Act and balance these with our continued efforts to support and assist our stakeholders, most of whom are volunteers, with their compliance obligations.

ELECTION COMMUNICATIONS

While the current business environment of the Election Finances division depends almost completely on paper filings, preparations for the 2003 campaign provided new opportunities to offer technology-based support to clients and the public.

For the first time, we established designated toll-free telephone numbers specifically for parties and candidates. We also provided media with direct access to a spokesperson dedicated to responding to Election Finances inquiries.

These “hotlines” supplemented special sections within the Elections Ontario web site that provided direct access to information of interest and concern to parties, candidates and CFOs. Election calendars, forms, legislative guides and procedural guidelines were all available on-line in 2003.

While post-election research indicated general satisfaction among clients who accessed these information sources, it also showed that many others were not aware of the full range of services that were available from Elections Ontario. We have taken note of this and will use our 2003 experiences to help focus discussions about enhancements to the effectiveness and reach of our communication and information support, and the use of technology in the future.

TRAINING

The program of training workshops and information sessions for CFOs that began in late 2002 continued through 2003, with 330 CFOs attending special sessions including programs facilitated by the Ontario Association of Certified General Accountants, the Ontario Liberal Party, the Ontario New Democratic Party and the Green Party of Ontario.

NEW ELECTORAL DISTRICT BOUNDARIES

Under the Representation Act, 1996, the boundaries of Ontario’s electoral districts are reviewed and redrawn every 10 years in line with the federal electoral boundary revision process. In 2003, the federal process came to a close and new federal boundaries were adopted. As a result, new parallel boundaries will be developed for introduction into Ontario when the Legislative Assembly is dissolved for the next general election.

This process has implications for the dissolution of constituency associations that reflect the “old” electoral district boundaries and the transfer of their assets and liabilities to “new” associations that reflect the new boundaries to be implemented at the next general election.

During 2003, Election Finances staff held discussions with representatives of the registered parties, with the intention of developing proposals for legislative changes that would avoid unnecessary disruption to constituency associations and ensure continued integrity for their accountability and reporting framework. Note: Related legislation (Bill 114 – S.O. 2004, c 14), received Royal Assent on June 24, 2004.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR AMENDMENTS TO THE ELECTION FINANCES ACT

I have informed the Speaker that I do not have any recommendations for changes in various limits and fees under subsection 2 (5) of the Election Finances Act.

However, following the 2003 general election, I have considered a number of areas for potential improvement in the administration of the Act. In this Report, I have restricted my comments to matters that can be considered as possible “housekeeping” topics, should the opportunity for legislative amendment arise.

CANDIDATES

The status of “candidate” is essential to the conduct and administration of an election. Within the Election Finances Act, a candidate may be a person nominated by a registered party’s constituency association, a person who has filed nomination papers in accordance with the Election Act, or a person who declares that he or she is an independent candidate.

Within the Election Act, a candidate is a person elected to the Legislative Assembly, a person nominated as a candidate, or one declared to be a candidate after the Writ of Election, by himself or herself, or by others.

Regardless of the route followed to achieve candidate status, every candidate must file an application for registration before polling day. Likewise, to appear on the ballot, candidates must file nomination papers by 2 p.m. on Nomination Day, 14 days before polling day.

Failure to register as a candidate under the Election Finances Act denies a candidate the opportunity to accept contributions or incur expenses. Failure to file nomination papers under the Election Act denies a candidate the right to appear on the ballot.

Inconsistent references in parallel legislation contribute to reduced clarity in terms of the obligations and benefits that flow from candidate status and possibly compromise the integrity of the electoral process. Two areas of amendment are suggested.

Parallel provisions to link the registration and nomination of candidates. Returning officers should be entitled to reject nomination requests submitted if there is no confirmation of registration under the Election Finances Act. This will have the effect of moving the registration deadline to coincide with the nomination deadline, but will not affect the ability of candidates to register and raise money from the start of the campaign period.

Shortening the registration period and linking registration to nomination will remove the possibility of having the ballot show the names of candidates who have not registered under the Election Finances Act. This provision will become increasingly significant if party affiliations are shown on the ballot, as proposed in my Report on the 38th Provincial General Election: Access, Integrity and Participation: Towards Responsive Electoral Processes for Ontario (available on-line at www.electionsontario.on.ca).

Clarification of legislation covering expenses. Amendments to the Election Finances Act are recommended to provide that only parties, associations, candidates and leadership contestants registered under the Act are authorized to accept contributions and incur expenses. Registered status allows them to accept contributions. It is widely understood that registration must also have occurred in order to incur expenses, although this is not clear in the language of the Act.

CLARIFICATION OF CURRENT LEGISLATION

Party authority to deregister an association. It is proposed that paragraph 12(1) (b) of the Election Finances Act be amended to permit the registered party to apply to the Chief Election Officer for deregistration of a constituency association that it no longer endorses.

Paragraph 12(1) (b) sets out the authority for the Chief Election Officer to deregister a constituency association on application by the constituency association and the party. Recent experience has highlighted the need to clarify the sponsorship relationship between constituency associations and the registered parties.

Registration of a constituency association requires the endorsement of the registered party under subsection 11(2), yet the party may not apply for deregistration without the joint application of the constituency association.

The endorsement by the registered party establishes a degree of proprietorial sponsorship or responsibility; in fact, the constituency association cannot exist without the registered party.

References to registered parties. Subsection 26(3) contains the term “political party.” Throughout the rest of the Act, it is clear that reference to “party” means a reference to a political party registered under the Election Finances Act. Possible misinterpretation could be avoided in the section of the Act that governs group contributions by changing “political party” to “registered party,” which is defined as a political party registered under the Election Finances Act.

POLICY CONSIDERATIONS FOR FURTHER REVIEW

In processing the returns relating to 2003, we have identified areas within the legislation where challenges are emerging.

The following comments are offered as context for broadly based discussions that will be valuable to all stakeholders with interests in the management of election finances, including electors. While these matters are not presented for immediate legislative action, they do merit consideration in the longer term as we strive to enhance integrity, access and participation in electoral processes.

Political advertising blackout periods. The merits of advertising blackouts (under the Election Finances Act) at the beginning of the campaign period and immediately before polling day are increasingly being questioned because of definitional concerns that reflect changes in communications techniques and methods.

Filing deadline for annual returns. The current deadline extends for five months beyond the end of the reporting period. The need for such an extended period should be reviewed, particularly from the perspective of openness and transparency. While we are aware of the competing pressures on the largely volunteer community of chief financial officers around income tax filing deadlines, delayed public reporting does not enhance the process.

Campaign period. At the time of the writing of this Report, there is legislation before the Assembly to implement a fixed date for general elections in early October. Experience in 2003 has clearly identified an administrative challenge as a result of the campaign period ending on January 2, 2004. Having a campaign period spread over two calendar years presents significant difficulties. Adjusting the campaign period to end on December 31 if the current proposed legislation is passed, or otherwise providing that the campaign period is contained within a single calendar year, should address the administrative and definitional challenges for CFOs and Elections Ontario. Consideration of this type of change would clearly support the principles of transparency and integrity. In addition, it will avoid potential confusion about which amounts are eligible for indexation in future years.

Campaign expense exclusions. Although there were modifications in the amendments to the Election Finances Act that took effect in 1999, the lack of clear definition, particularly for the term, “research and polling,” presents challenges to CFOs and Elections Ontario alike. Consistent interpretations and guidelines are essential tools for maintaining integrity in the administration of election finances. Also, a review of campaign expense exclusions would contribute significantly to improvements in the administration of this important feature of the legislation.

References to goods and services. Paragraph 29(1) (b) prohibits certain transfers of “funds.” Section 27 describes permitted transfers, but refers to “... funds, goods and services ...” Working with these related provisions has highlighted difficulties with the inconsistent references. While this is an apparent inconsistency, paragraph 29(1) (b) should be reviewed to more clearly reflect the intent of legislators, either to include or to exclude “goods and services” in the list of prohibited transfers.

Alternate filing mechanisms. In my previous Annual Reports, I have mentioned the need to consider alternate filing mechanisms to aid compliance and reduce the burden on participants. We will be engaging our stakeholders in detailed discussions about possible technological improvements, including electronic filing. While the administrative and technical aspects of these approaches can be addressed, there are associated policy issues to be considered, such as requirements for paper receipts in support of “e-filings.”

Alternate filing methodologies are not limited to technological solutions. Another area to consider relates to the filing relationship between candidates and constituency associations and the separation or combination of their returns. This area has implications for external stakeholders and would benefit from an exploration of the boundaries between administrative efficiencies and the need to clearly report election finances activity.

Financial links between participants. A further area where the policy framework is not completely clear is in the authorized financial links between leadership contestants and constituency associations. A review of the permitted activity will also contribute to the integrity framework for election finances.

Ontario Gazette requirements. The Election Finances Act requires my Office to publish material summarizing candidate and constituency association income and campaign expenses in the Ontario Gazette and on the Elections Ontario web site. The value of Gazette publication as a means of ensuring broad public awareness of important matters has diminished significantly with the advent of electronic communication channels and, in particular, the Internet. At the same time, costs have risen to a point where the financial impact of publishing in the Gazette is significant. The value of this process is also questionable when considered in light of the on-line publication of the materials, the summary details available in this Report, and available access to the physical records at the offices of Elections Ontario and in the Legislative Library. All aspects of publication requirements should be revisited to ensure the broadest range of access to relevant information in a timely and fiscally prudent manner.

The calculation of spending limits and subsidy payments. Spending limits and subsidy payments are based on the count of electors published by the Chief Election Officer. Historically, elector counts have been provided by Elections Ontario based on the initial preliminary lists of electors produced at the beginning of the electoral period, for use as budget guidelines. It is becoming increasingly clear that changes in the counts between the initial publication of the preliminary numbers and the final count prepared following an election place CFOs, candidates and parties at risk of inadvertent over- or under-budgeting. This has become more significant with the introduction of the Permanent Register of Electors for Ontario and registration of electors on polling day.

Consideration should be given to establishing certainty in the calculation from the outset by altering the formulae to be based on the preliminary count of electors. Obviously, this could affect the amounts of spending limits and subsidies, both positively and negatively and should, therefore, be discussed in the broader framework of election finances.

Northern subsidy calculations. On a similar note, certain electoral districts in Northern Ontario are entitled to additional amounts in calculating their campaign expense limitations (section 38). When the subsidy calculation formula is applied under section 44, it is unclear where in the formula consideration should be given to the additional amounts and whether the base for calculating the 20-percent expenditure limit should include the additional amount or not. The initial intent of the legislation is not apparent and should be clarified.

Independent candidates. The basic premise of the Election Finances Act is that candidates exist within a constituency association and sponsoring party framework. A review of the status and obligations attached to independent candidates will contribute to better understanding and greater integrity in the electoral process.

TAXPAYER PROTECTION ACT, 1999

The Taxpayer Protection Act, 1999 frames the environment for public awareness of increases in the tax rates in designated taxing statutes, new taxes or new taxing authorities. This is achieved through a referendum when the legislature is in session or, for parties seeking to form the government following a general election, through a notification and publication process without a referendum.

The provisions affecting this latter occurrence came into effect in 2003 during the first two weeks following the issue of the Writs of Election. Section 4 of the Act permits the leader of a registered party to set out the party's intentions in the areas covered by the Act, in a written statement given to the Chief Election Officer no later than the 14th day before polling day (Nomination Day).

When a party leader provides such a statement, the Chief Election Officer is required to review the statement within five days to determine if it complies with subsections 4(2) and 4(3), specifically:

Statement

- (2) The statement must contain a clear, concise and unambiguous description of the proposed increase, the proposed new tax or the proposal to give an authority to tax.

Estimate

- (3) If the statement refers to a proposed increase or new tax, it must also set out the increase in annual revenues that the leader expects to result from the proposed increase or new tax.

If, after his review, the Chief Election Officer finds that the statement does comply with the requirements of these subsections, he is required to provide the Clerk of the Assembly with the statement and a copy of his opinion. He is also required to make the statement and opinion available to the public.

During the 2003 campaign, I received two statements under subsection 4(1) of the Taxpayer Protection Act, 1999:

- On September 16, 2003, a statement setting out proposals for two tax rate increases, from the leader of the Ontario Liberal Party
- On September 17, 2003, a statement setting out a proposal for new taxing authorities, from the leader of the Progressive Conservative Party of Ontario

I reviewed the statements and determined that, in my opinion, both met the requirements of the legislation. Letters in respect of each statement were prepared and sent to the Clerk of the Legislative Assembly on September 20, 2003.

On September 22, 2003, notices regarding each statement and opinion were published on the Elections Ontario web site and in 42 daily newspapers across Ontario, in English and in French. The text of the two statements was also made available on the web site and could be viewed at the Elections Ontario office.

In addition to Elections Ontario staff time, this activity also required the advice of counsel, both on the process and on the content of the statements.

In discharging my responsibilities under the Taxpayer Protection Act, 1999, my Office incurred $18,302.66 for advertising preparation and placement and $7,300 for legal costs, for a total of $25,602.66.

In my Report on the 2003 general election, Access, Integrity and Participation – Towards Responsive Electoral Processes for Ontario, I question the appropriateness of the assignment of these responsibilities under the Taxpayer Protection Act, 1999 to the Chief Election Officer.

Because the material that the Chief Election Officer is required to consider reflects the election platforms of political parties, there is a risk of compromising the perception of neutrality that the CEO must maintain to assure stakeholders of his independence and non-partisanship.

From an administrative perspective, the work associated with this activity occurs at the time that the Chief Election Officer and Assistant Chief Election Officer are most deeply involved in the delivery of the election. This provides another reason to consider the appropriateness of the assignment of these responsibilities.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS ACT, 1996

Although the Chief Election Officer must also discharge responsibilities under the Municipal Elections Act, 1996 that are distinct from the requirements under legislation already addressed in this Report, there is no funding provided for the discharge of these activities, nor is any reporting required. Nevertheless, I believe that reporting is a necessary part of my accountability to the Speaker, Members and taxpayers, and I am taking this opportunity to present within this document my statutory activities in 2003 under the Municipal Elections Act, 1996.

The Direct Democracy through Municipal Referendums Act, enacted in 2000, established a framework in the Municipal Elections Act, 1996, for questions to be posed to municipal electors. The new section 8.1 of the Municipal Elections Act, 1996 requires municipal by-laws defining the questions to be passed 180 days before municipal voting day, and then provides for the Minister of Municipal Affairs and Housing or any other person to appeal the question to the Chief Election Officer.

The grounds for appeal are restricted to a claim that the question does not meet the requirements of paragraphs 8.1 (2) 3 and 4:

3. It shall be clear, concise and neutral.
4. It shall be capable of being answered in the affirmative or the negative and the only permitted answers to the question are "yes" or "no".

Equipped with materials submitted by the Clerk of each affected municipality, my Office must hold a hearing and render a decision within 60 days of receiving notice of the appeal.

In 2003, appeals were filed in six municipalities under the Municipal Elections Act, 1996, none of which was initiated by the Minister of Municipal Affairs and Housing.

Appeals in 2003 under the Municipal Elections Act, 1996

Municipality	Question topic	Dates of Hearings	Decision
Blue Mountain	Absentee voting	July 10, 2003	Appeal allowed - revised question wording ordered
Eniskillin	Tax increase to fund grant	June 26, 2003	Appeal allowed in part – revised question wording ordered
London	Council size and Board of Control	June 26, 2003	Appeal dismissed
Peterborough	Cost of road extension	July 9, 2003	Appeals dismissed
Thunder Bay	Smoking by-laws	July 23, 2003	Appeal allowed - revised question wording ordered
Timmins	Elections at large	August 12, 2003	Appeal dismissed

These activities require skill in the area of quasi-judicial processes and the conduct of public hearings. My Office engaged the Honourable Gregory T. Evans, the former Chief Justice of the High Court of Ontario (now known as the Superior Court of Justice) and a former Integrity Commissioner of Ontario, to act as my designate and to conduct the required hearings.

The hearings for the appeals were each completed in a single day; however, 12 days of counsel's time were required to assist Mr. Justice Evans in the hearings and prepare briefs and Orders setting out the rulings. In addition, the process required virtually the full-time attention of the Assistant Chief Election Officer and senior staff from my office over the course of the hearing period.

In addition to the commitment of Elections Ontario staff and senior management time, the total cost incurred to administer this responsibility was $36,482.93. This comprised $31,965.01 for fees and expenses and $4,517.92 for other expenses, including staff travel.

Two administrative issues merit comment. First, any future increase in this activity will result in a direct increase in costs. As mentioned earlier, the Chief Election Officer's costs associated with this activity are not funded under any statute. Second, there will be a significant impact on the Office of the Chief Election Officer when these responsibilities conflict with Elections Ontario's preparations for an event in an election year.

In my Report on the 2003 general election, Access, Integrity and Participation – Towards Responsive Electoral Processes for Ontario, I have suggested that there would be value in a closer review of the electoral service structure at the provincial and municipal levels. I propose that my current responsibilities under the Municipal Elections Act, 1996 should be included in any such review that may take place.

Auditor's Report

To the Chief Election Officer

I have audited the statement of expenditure of the Chief Election Officer under the Election Finances Act for the year ended March 31, 2003. This financial statement is the responsibility of the Chief Election Officer. My responsibility is to express an opinion on this financial statement based on my audit.

I conducted my audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that I plan and perform an audit to obtain reasonable assurance whether the financial statement is free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statement. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation.

In my opinion, this financial statement presents fairly, in all material respects, the expenditures of the Chief Election Officer under the Election Finances Act for the year ended March 31, 2003 in accordance with the accounting policies described in note 2 to the financial statement.

Chief Election Officer

Financial Statement March 31, 2003

1. BACKGROUND

The Chief Election Officer is responsible for administering the Election Finances Act. Under the Act, the Chief Election Officer registers and reviews filings from Ontario political parties, constituency associations, candidates and leadership contestants for purposes of monitoring compliance with contribution and expenditure limits provided for under the Act. The Chief Election Officer also pays subsidies to eligible recipients as provided for under the Act.

2. ACCOUNTING POLICIES

(a) Basis of Accounting

This financial statement was prepared on a modified cash basis of accounting, which allows an additional thirty days to pay for goods and services pertaining to the fiscal year just ended.

(b) Furniture and Equipment

Expenditures of a capital nature are expensed in the year of acquisition.

3. SOURCE OF FUNDS

Expenditures under the Election Finances Act were paid by the Office of the Chief Election Officer and are reimbursed out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

4. SUBSIDIES

The Election Finances Act requires payment of the following subsidies:

- Candidate campaign expenses to every registered candidate who receives at least 15% of the popular vote in an electoral district. The reimbursed amount is the lesser of 20% of the candidate's campaign expenses or 20% of the allowable maximum campaign expenditure limit of 96 cents per eligible voter based on the number of voters in the candidate's electoral district. Candidates in designated northern electoral districts may receive an additional $7,000.
- Campaign expenses to every registered party that receives at least 15% of the popular vote in any electoral district. The reimbursed amount is five cents per eligible voter in each electoral district.
- Audit fees for annual and campaign returns of each registered constituency association to a maximum of $600 per return.
- Audit fees for annual and campaign returns of each registered party to a maximum of $1,200 per return.
- Audit fees for campaign returns of each candidate to a maximum of $1,000 per return.
- Audit fees for campaign returns of each leadership contestant to a maximum of $800 per return.

5. ANONYMOUS AND EXCESS CONTRIBUTIONS

Under the Act, anonymous contributions received by a registered political party, constituency association, candidate or leadership contestant must be remitted to the Chief Election Officer. In addition, excess contributions must be remitted to the Chief Election Officer unless the recipient is able to refund the excess contribution to the contributor and recover the official receipt.

6. PENSION PLAN

The Office of the Chief Election Officer provides pension benefits for its permanent employees (and to non-permanent employees who elect to participate) through participation in the Ontario Public Service Pension Plan, which is a multi-employer plan established by the Province of Ontario. This plan is accounted for as a defined contribution plan as the Office has insufficient information to apply the defined benefit plan accounting to this pension plan. The Office's contribution to the plan during the year for its employees was $15,782 (2002 - $11,505) which is included in employee benefits.

Post-retirement non-pension benefits are paid by MBS and accordingly are not included in the statement of expenditure.

7. COMMITMENTS

The Office administering the Election Finances Act shares office space with the Office of the Chief Election Officer. The leasing cost is calculated based on the square footage occupied by the respective offices. The minimum lease payment for the Office administering the Election Finances Act for the following three years are as follows:

2004	55,320
2005	55,320
2006	9,220
	119,860

8. COMPARATIVE FIGURES

Comparative figures have been reclassified where necessary to conform with the current year's presentation.
