Premier,

On Tuesday you will do a series of quick one-on-one hits with a variety of TV newscasts, following the Changing Workplace announcement you will be making alongside Minister Flynn on Tuesday morning. This is the first of 2 days of interviews.

You will be speaking with Dwight Drummond of CBC Toronto, Cynthia Mulligan of CityNews, Taz Boga of CHCH, Alan Carter of Global News, Ken Shaw of CTV Toronto, Graham Richardson of CTV Ottawa and Stephanie Smyth of CP24.

You last spoke with these outlets in April following the Budget Speech.

There will be no embargo for these interviews. However, because of the times scheduled many of these interviews will be pre-taped.

It's going to be a great afternoon. A note for your interviews for Wednesday will follow.

As always, please let me know if you have any questions. I can be reached on my mobile: 647-299-5435.

MESSAGING

What I hear all the way across the province is that people are anxious about their jobs and their futures.

With all the change and uncertainty in the economy and the nature of work itself, it's tough to feel as though you are getting ahead right now.

It's a funny thing. The evidence tells us we are making progress.

We're outperforming other jurisdictions

But while business is expanding and creating wealth — not everyone is feeling it

It instead feels like a time of volatility and change.

And with this uncertainty, we have to protect our people as best we can.

We need to address the concerns of those who worry about falling behind, even as they work so hard to get ahead. And create opportunities so people feel confident about the future

I truly believe that that is the role of government. You've heard me say it before. I believe government must be a force for good

The good news is that we have the ability to support families and build opportunity: because we balanced our Budget.

You've heard a lot from us over the past months. I've been talking about different elements of our plan to build a better Ontario based on fairness.

Free tuition, expanded childcare, free prescription drugs for anyone under 25 —we have focused on strengthening health care and education

We've also announced a basic income pilot, and our Fair Hydro and Fair Housing Plans

And this morning I announced our plan for Fair Workplaces and Better Jobs

This includes hiking the minimum wage, ensuring part-time workers are paid the same hourly wage as full-time workers, introducing paid sick days for every worker and stepping up enforcement of employment laws.

The economy has changed. Work has changed. It's time our laws and protections for workers changed too.

Too many families are struggling to get by on part-time or contract work and unstable employment

With these changes, every worker in Ontario will be treated fairly, paid a living wage and have the opportunities they deserve.

Whether it's child care or health care, rent control or workplace fairness these initiatives all have the same thing in common. The motivation behind each of them is the same.

They will help build an Ontario where greater opportunity is available for everyone and greater security is achievable for everyone.

Because better is definitely possible.
