Hello,

We've updated the remarks and are also now sharing the QA and news release. Please let us know of any further comments/concerns as we are hoping to finalize these materials asap.

Thanks
Ian

Thanks, I think it needs more that conveys that she really understands affordability issues and people's personal situations. She's talked about this a fair bit, but these remarks give it short shrift. This makes it out to seem that only electricity price is the problem - that's not the case - it's where we are applying some much needed relief but it is a broader problem than electricity alone for folks. What we are doing on electricity helps overall though
