Clean version attached.

We've included the caveat that this is based on draft materials, and we've included the minute.

Can you send me a clean copy of the note as it is now. I'm leaning to us sending it out with all kinds of caveats.

Here is final minute, talked to energy and sorted out last pieces. So we have a minute but don't have edits to note or sub and don't expect them in next 15min. Question is should we include the minute in the note now that it has landed from our perspective?

Also do we send note without their final edits and without submission is 4pm rolls around and we have neither (can't print note without their edits).

Continuing to push them to get at least their edits on note as I know they are finalizing the sub and have printed the appendices.

Thanks,
Martha
