When implemented, streamlined processes and automation will reduce the overall cost of transfer payment (TP) administration. TPAM is a boulder initiative, comprised of four streams, the first being common registration. An enterprise wide solution to modernize TP administration has been developed, the Transfer Payment Common Registration (TPCR) system. The TPCR is a one window, online system that will track the full financial relationship between TPRs and the government. Status: Several products are completed. Other products (e.g. Topical article) are in development to support the November 21 launch. Next Steps: Continue to work with program area to plan for upcoming phases.
