Thanks Bill –

Gabby and I will be going over each of the three points you've provided here in briefing the Minister.

So I can brief the Minister on scope in Question Period, how will the Premier be passing questions? We are ready to speak to accounting. As per Kevin's email below, am I correct in understanding that questions featuring FHP policy (like tax-base/rate-base, amortization period) will be directed to ENE?

Sebastian.

Hi Bill,

We'll start off with the attached note, with a focus on the policy question and the outside experts who confirm our accounting. Then we'll go into our broader note to speak to the values of the fair hydro plan and the value of amortizing the assets over a longer period of time.

Hey guys no time for a call. Here are the important points you need to keep in mind for today.

- 1) No matter how heated the oppo get, the minister needs to stay calm and deliver our lines about the accounting dispute
- 2) The lead in to every answer is we made a policy decision to put the cost on the rate base – that is the logical start to our argument
- 3) Hit home that we sought out expert advice and they agree with this accounting treatment
