Too Much, Too Soon

(Queen's Park) The Leader of the Opposition has made his position clear – he is against increasing the minimum wage.

While speaking to media yesterday, Patrick Brown said yesterday that minimum wage is “too much, too soon” - but he left a few other questions unanswered:

Is it “too much, too soon” for the 30% of Ontario workers that make less than $15 an hour?

Is it “too much, too soon” for part-time workers to get paid the same as full-time?

Is it “too much, too soon” for at least two personal emergency leave days each year?

Is it “too much, too soon” to give employees the right to a fair scheduling system?

Is it “too much too soon” to for three weeks of vacation after five years of service?

And what about for free pharmacare for our kids? Is it “too much, too soon” for that?

Or 100,000 new child care spaces?

Or 25% off hydro bills?

Or free tuition?

Or rent control?

Or a basic income?

Unlike the Conservatives, the Ontario Liberals will continue to take strong positions that support families and support fairer workplaces and better jobs.
