Autism

School-Based Pilots

- In-school autism therapy pilots are proceeding, with some modifications based on feedback from the Ontario Autism Program Advisory Committee:

Feedback from Committee	Change in Approach
EDU should consider an alternative to the Geneva Centre for Autism as the provider for Education Assistant training.	Proceed with Geneva Centre for Autism as the training provider for the pilot duration, but require the independent evaluator of the pilot explore alternatives for future roll-out.
Should be more expertise/support from certified professionals in schools during pilots.	Include 1 Board Certified Behaviour Analyst (BCBA) or equivalent in each pilot board.
A separate, dedicated space for the delivery of therapy may stigmatize students with autism.	Require boards (through transfer payment agreements) to report back on how they are promoting equity, inclusion and access to services as part of the pilots, to reduce the stigma from the dedicated space model.

- OAP advisory committee members expressed support for the revised approach.
- EDU sent memos to OAP Advisory Committee, the Council of Ontario Directors of Education, and EDU's Initiatives Committee (unions/federations) on Oct 3rd outlining the changes
- All 18 pilot boards confirmed ongoing participation following these modifications.
 - boards with dedicated space (11 boards) will begin implementing immediately

- EA training and new BCBA oversight aspects of the pilots (all 18 school boards) begin 2nd semester (January/February for most)

Ontario Autism Coalition Protest

- On October 5, 2017, the Ontario Autism Coalition (led by Bruce McIntosh, who is on the Ontario Autism Program Advisory Committee) announced it will be organizing an “Autism Doesn't End At School Protest” on October 26. Please see below for a description of the protest from the Facebook event page:

“Join us at Queen's Park as we send a loud message to the Premier and the Minister of Education that the current special education system in Ontario is failing our kids--and kids with other exceptionalities, too. We'll shine a light on the urgent need for intensive ABA in classrooms, better teacher training, and the lack of accountability for the spending of special education money. We want to call attention to the damage caused to our kids by the lack of sufficient EA support, the need for better EA training, and the urgent need for an Education Accessibility standard. Hear from prominent disability activists, students on the spectrum, political leaders and parents. It's time to get loud!”

ABA Oversight

- MCYS tracking a report back on options to guarantee the qualifications of Applied Behaviour Analysis (ABA) practitioners to October 17 HESP.
 - These measures could help ensure that the public has access to safe, quality autism services; help improve outcomes for children; and facilitate potential integration of ABA practitioners into schools in the future.
- MCYS have asked that the report back be delayed to 2018, to accommodate advice from the Health Professions Regulatory Advisory Council (HPRAC).
 - HPRAC will be reviewing options on how/whether to regulate ABA practitioners, and will be asked to submit their recommendations to the Minister of MOHLTC on January 31, 2018.

 - The discussion paper will be released a few weeks in advance of FES (targeting end of October).
 - The discussion paper will include announcing some new investments, but significant new investments in LTCHs will be deferred to a later date.
