As an option for you, I asked them to include the numbers/graph from the cab sub as a comparative (reflects 25%).

They did not.

Anyway, I put it out there as an idea for you.

Hi Andrew,

Please find attached a short deck with the three slides requested below. This reflects discussions this morning on adding a footnote explaining the 25%.

Matt, we are working on a similar product for the industrial price curve, which we will share shortly.

Thanks,
Martin

Hi.

Sorry – adding Matt.

He asked for a slightly different chart, also for PO.

Matt and I just spoke, we wanted to turn this into one product:

Slide #1 – graph as it would appear in document
Slide #2 – table (numbers) as it would appear in document appendix
Slide #3 – “enhanced” table (numbers) as per a DoP request earlier today.

Really need this product for end of day tomorrow, if not earlier.

Then, as discussed, re-circulate the printed reading copies (plus prepare two others for me : Forgiione, Andrew ; Killorn, William) plus the regular CO/PO cabal for end of week, please?

Many thanks, in advance.

Thank you.

Okay, so what would be great, is to get one product without the options in the earlier enclosure.

Selected graphic option + table appendix in one short slide deck, please?

Hi Andrew,

Yes, we plan to have the appendix with the numbers. However, in the Cabinet submission we adjusted the start date to July to ensure the 25% reduction was visible. The current draft of the table in the LTEP reverted back to a start date of January. So we are working to revise the table to show the start date as July to show the 25%. As a result, we advise not sharing the numbers until tomorrow after we've had a chance to update them.

Thanks,
Martin

Understood. But we will have a table / appendix with all the numbers - right?

Do you have that table, please?

Hi Andrew,

Attached includes both options we provided for the residential price curve line. Option 1 in the attached is what was chosen.

Thanks,
Martin

Recall from last Friday about the price curve. Can you send me the option that we went with as well as the alternative, please. Do you know what I mean?
