Thanks Chris.

Scott, Gadi, and Tim, staff have drafted a preliminary note based on the "bootleg" preliminary deck, including some comments on the broad theme/rationale and the more fiscally-based proposals, as attached. It is a work-in-progress and subject to update for any revisions of Energy's deck to be received.

FYI. This was shared with us as a bootleg, noting that further work is ongoing, including around potential fiscal impact. In addition to obvious electricity sector and fiscal plan tie-ins, there is mention of potential expansion of the Trillium Trust to fund electricity infrastructure projects.

Hi Steve,

Here's an early draft of a rate mitigation package that provides a policy rationale for the proposed measures. It's still an early draft and we need to firm up on the rate relief numbers and fiscal impact. My MO is still reviewing but I wanted you to have an early look.

Serge
