Attached is a first draft of a Q&A in a table format. We can summarize for use by others, but thought it was important to have the facts set out.

I'll work on a summary now.

This CBC story posted Monday quotes a KPMG spokesperson directly:

KPMG spokeswoman Lisa Papas said the accounting issues that IESO addressed during 2017 were complex, contributing to the higher fees.

The accounting practices the auditor is questioning are a "difference of professional judgement," she said.

"The standards for public sector organizations such as IESO are principles-based standards and, accordingly, require the exercise of considerable professional judgement," she said in a statement.

"In many cases, there is more than one acceptable approach that is compliant with the applicable standards."
