Hi Mark, I added a few comments in the E&Y document attached. The KPMG document is more detailed in some areas – they also address certain matters which are not in the E&Y document. I would say the matters not covered by E&Y while not crucial they may want to touch on for completeness. There is also inconsistency in the conclusion reached as to whether the regulated asset is a financial asset. Please drop by if you have any questions.

Hi Jim,

Further to our brief discussion, can you send / update me on any comments or suggestions coming out of your review of the two documents?
