I agree w Alex that we should discuss and delegate together to make most use of time and get you what you need when you need it.

How is 11?

Hi Cindy

Can we do a call today at some point and discuss this issue, along with the request from last night that we obtain a letter covering the partner's approach to surplus.

Rather than various one-offs, I think it would be helpful, especially for our EDU colleagues, to have a conversation about what we need and to what purpose various materials would be used.

I know that Josh is in negotiations at the moment, so perhaps we can start with EDU availability. I am headed into a meeting now, but the rest of the day has flex.

Alex

Subject: OTPP question

Good morning – another question on OTPP:

- if the sponsors of the plan were to decide to increase the benefits under the OTPP (something other than conditional inflation indexation), how would that impact the Province's share of the surplus in the plan.
- With the change in conditional inflation indexation, the impact to the surplus in the plan is a reduction that is tied to (a) increased payment to the teachers and (b) reduced future payments from the province, but I think that is unique to the conditional inflation indexation

Thanks,

Cindy
