Thanks Cindy. Are you ok if I share the materials with the broader group in the meantime?

Just conscious of time and I'd like to give the DM's time to review before the call.

Hi Cindy,

In follow-up to Karen's request to add further detail to Q#4, I have added the highlighted points below--

4. Are you concealing your borrowing as the article claims?

- * No. The province's financial statements are prepared in accordance with Public Sector Accounting Standards (PSAS).
- * In developing Ontario's Fair Hydro Plan (OFHP), the government considered a range of implementation options and consulted with legal, accounting, financial and energy sector third-party experts to provide advice and ensure due diligence was completed.

- * OFHP operates under a financial and accounting framework that is appropriate for the intended purpose.
- * The accounting for OFHP reflects the economic substance of the transaction by differentiating costs borne by taxpayers versus those borne by ratepayers.
- * It is in accordance with PSAS and ensures the goals underlying the program are achieved in a cost-effective manner.
- * The impact of the Fair Hydro Plan will be transparent in the financial statements of the Independent Electricity System Operator (IESO), Ontario Power Generation (OPG) and the consolidated financial statements of the province.

Is this ok with you/did you have anything further you would recommend to add?

Thank you,

Alisha

Thanks – have had a quick read – couple of minor comments

1. In the statement by the SOC – 5th paragraph – “simple as simply agreeing” – would delete the second “simply”
2. Qs and As piece – can there be a more specific answer to question 4 in the 3rd bullet?
3. Q8 – has a “typo” in the question – “Was is” should be “Was it”

Thanks

Karen

Thanks, Cindy and Patrick.

Vivienne – in follow-up to your question as to why Energy specified the savings for an urban ratepayer in the Minister's statement: "We run all numbers against the typical Toronto Hydro customer. $41 would be the assumption for using 750 kWh per month. A rural customer who uses more electricity (esp with electric heating) would actually see a higher rebate."

Thanks,

Alisha

I have completed an initial read and the documents look fine. There are a couple of additional questions I have thought of and will send a note on those when I am back at my computer.

Thx

Hi everyone -

Thanks for putting these together. I've shared the docs with Karen and am copying her in on the thread should she wish to comment prior to a broader distribution.

Thanks, Bryant. The one thing that jumped out at me is the average savings for the urban ratepayer. Why are we specific to urban... it begs the question is the savings significantly less or more for non-urban.

We are providing extra support for rural and low-income families because we want to make life more affordable for all families in this province. Ontario's Fair Hydro Plan is delivering monthly savings of $41 for a typical urban ratepayer.

Thanks.

Hi Cindy and Vivienne,

Per our call yesterday, our team has prepared the attached two statements, one for Minister use and one for SoC use. These have been reviewed by the comms directors at Energy and Finance.

We've also prepared some TBS-specific Qs, using mostly pre-approved material, to respond to the allegations in the article. We've added these to the existing issue note so everything is in one place for the Minister. Energy is currently working on some additional Qs specific to their responsibilities, and we'll add those in once ready.

Would you mind giving these products a look before I distribute them to the broader group, including the three DMs, prior to this afternoon's call? I'd like to distribute materials around 2pm if possible.

Thanks
Bryant
