Hey, sorry for the slow response...but yes, this is a good idea! This has basically been the idea we've been trying to get to stick, and this is a good formulation of it

Subject: FW: Hansard: Brown to Premier (Thibeault) -- Hydro Rate Reduction Plan

We should make a list of things the PC plan doesn't do:

- it doesn't lower bills for families
- it doesn't lower bills for small businesses
- it doesn't lower bills for farms
- it doesn't lower bills for long term care homes
- it doesn't lower bills for greenhouses
- it doesn't lower bills for remote customers
- it doesn't promote conservation
- it doesn't keep our system reliable
- it doesn't confirm support for nuclear energy
- it doesn't support ontario's indigenous communities

Etc etc etc etc etc etc etc etc etc

Just a thought

>> Patrick Brown: Mr. Speaker, again to the Premier. And my question was, given the recent Cabinet document that hydro rates are going to go out of control again -- and that's their graph -- my question was will the Premier commit to showing a new document that shows hydro rates actually going down? This fair hydro plan is a boring plan. It kicks the can down the road. It does nothing on reining in executive salaries. Does nothing on these bad contracts. It does nothing on the water power every day. It does nothing on the hydro we're giving for free to Michigan, Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York. It's not a plan. It's a reelection gimmick. So when will the Premier actually show us the hydro plan with hydro rates going down?
