(a) first, to the payment or remittance of taxes for which a governmental authority is given priority over the Specified Creditors under the laws of the applicable jurisdiction;

(b) second, to pay fees, expenses and reimbursement amounts owing to the Issuer Trustee and the Indenture Trustee;

(c) third, pari passu (i) to pay interest, fees and other amounts (other than principal) owing in respect of Senior Funding Obligations and (ii) to pay all Derivative Funding Obligations (other than termination payments);

(d) fourth, to pay interest, fees and other amounts (other than principal) owing in respect of Subordinated Funding Obligations;

(e) fifth, to pay interest, fees and other amounts (other than principal) owing in respect of Junior Subordinated Funding Obligations;

(f) sixth, to pay principal owing in respect of Warehouse Obligations;

(g) seventh, pari passu (A) to pay principal owing in respect of Senior Funding Obligations (other than Warehouse Obligations) and (B) to pay termination payments owing to Derivative Counterparties where the Derivative Counterparty is not the defaulting party or the sole affected party;

(h) eighth, to pay fees, expenses and reimbursement amounts owing to the Manager;

(i) ninth, to pay principal owing in respect of Subordinated Funding Obligations;

(j) tenth, to pay principal owing in respect of Junior Subordinated Funding Obligations;

(k) eleventh, to pay termination payments owing to Derivative Counterparties where the Derivative Counterparty is the defaulting party or the sole affected party;

(l) twelfth, to pay all indemnity amounts owing to the Manager;

(m) thirteenth, pari passu (i) to the payment or remittance of taxes not previously paid pursuant to paragraph (a), and (ii) to pay all amounts owing to Specified Creditors not specifically referred to above; in each case, including, for each referenced party, any amounts payable to their respective affiliates under the terms of any relevant indemnity; and

(n) fourteenth, to pay any remaining amounts to the Issuer.

However, amounts on deposit in a Series Account will first be used to satisfy all obligations owing to the Debtholders or Derivative Counterparties for whom such Series Account was established. Thereafter, such amounts will be applied in accordance with the priorities set out above. In addition, amounts on deposit in the Protection Account will only be used to satisfy the obligations for which those amounts were deposited.

Rights of Specified Creditors

No Specified Creditor will have the right to institute any proceeding, judicial or otherwise, with respect to the Master Trust Indenture, or for the appointment of a receiver or trustee or similar official, or for any other remedy under the Master Trust Indenture. A Controlling Class Creditor may exercise such rights if:

(a) the Issuer or a Controlling Class Creditor has previously given to the Indenture Trustee written notice of a continuing Event of Default;

(b) Controlling Class Creditors, by Ordinary Resolution, have made written request of the Indenture Trustee to institute the proceeding in its own name as Indenture Trustee;

(c) Controlling Class Creditors have offered the Indenture Trustee a satisfactory indemnity; and

(d) the Indenture Trustee has, for 60 days, failed to institute the proceeding.

Subject to certain powers which may only be exercised by Extraordinary Resolution, Controlling Class Creditors, by Ordinary Resolution, will have the right to direct the time, method and place of conducting any proceeding for any remedy available to the Indenture Trustee, or exercising any trust or power conferred on the Indenture Trustee with respect to all Issuer Funding Obligations. However, the Indenture Trustee may decline to follow such direction if it determines (based on advice from counsel) that such direction (i) conflicts with applicable law or the Master Trust Indenture, (ii) has a substantial likelihood of involving the Indenture Trustee in personal liability or (iii) is unjustly prejudicial to Controlling Class Creditors not taking part such direction. See "— Debtholder Approvals and Meetings — Debtholder Meetings" for a description of certain powers which may only be exercised by Extraordinary Resolution. Specified Creditors (other than Debtholders) do not have any right to direct the time, method and place of conducting any proceeding for any remedy available to the Indenture Trustee, or exercising any trust or power conferred on the Indenture Trustee. Specified Creditors (other than Debtholders) will only have the right to receive proceeds following an Event of Default.

Limited Recourse

The obligation of the Issuer to pay principal of and interest on the Issuer Funding Obligations or any other amount payable to any Specified Creditor is subject to the allocation and payment provisions in the Master Trust Indenture and the applicable Funding Obligation Agreement and limited to amounts available from the Collateral. Neither the Indenture Trustee, the Manager nor the Issuer Trustee in its individual capacity, nor any holder of any unit in the Issuer, nor any of their respective owners, beneficiaries, agents, officers, directors, employees, successors or assigns will, in the absence of an express agreement to the contrary, be personally liable for the payment of the principal of or interest on the Notes or any other Issuer Funding Obligation, or for the Issuer's covenants and agreements contained in the Master Trust Indenture.

No Petition

Each Specified Creditor, by accepting its rights as a beneficiary under the Master Trust Indenture, agrees that until one year and one day following repayment in full of all Issuer Funding Obligations, it will not commence (or join in commencing) a bankruptcy, insolvency or similar proceeding under the laws of any jurisdiction against the Issuer.

Force Majeure

The Indenture Trustee and the Issuer Trustee will not be responsible or liable for any failure or delay in the performance of their obligations under the Master Trust Indenture arising out of or caused by, directly or indirectly, forces beyond their control, including loss or malfunctions of utilities, communications or computer services.

Satisfaction and Discharge

The Master Trust Indenture will cease to be of further effect with respect to any Class, Series or Tranche of Issuer Funding Obligations when:

(a) (x) in the case of Notes, all Notes of that Class, Series or Tranche which had been outstanding, with certain exceptions set forth in the Master Trust Indenture, have been delivered to the Indenture Trustee for cancellation or been cancelled, or (y) in the case of all other Issuer Funding Obligations, all Issuer Funding Obligations of that Class, Series or Tranche have been paid in full, as certified by the Issuer;

(b) the Issuer has paid all other sums payable by it under the Master Trust Indenture with respect to that Class, Series or Tranche of Issuer Funding Obligations; and

(c) the Issuer has delivered to the Indenture Trustee an officer's certificate and an opinion of external counsel each stating that the conditions precedent in the Master Trust Indenture relating to the satisfaction and discharge with respect to that Class, Series or Tranche of Issuer Funding Obligations have been complied with.

The Master Trust Indenture will cease to be of further effect when all Issuer Funding Obligations have been satisfied and discharged in accordance with the previous paragraph and all other Obligations Secured have been paid in full, as certified by the Issuer.

DESCRIPTION OF SENIOR NOTES

The following description of the Senior Notes is a summary of certain of their material attributes and characteristics, and does not purport to be complete. The terms and conditions set forth in this "Description of Senior Notes" section will apply to each Senior Note unless otherwise specified in the Term Sheet applicable to such Offering. For further particulars, reference should be made to the Master Trust Indenture and the Supplemental Indenture and Terms Document, if any, relating to the particular Series or Tranche of Senior Notes.

General

The Senior Notes will be issued under the Master Trust Indenture and will be Funding Obligations issued in connection with the financing program described under the heading "Capital Markets Platform". The specific terms and conditions of each Series of Senior Notes will be set forth in the Supplemental Indenture authorizing that Series and the specific terms and conditions of any Tranche of Senior Notes will be set forth in the Supplemental Indenture or the Terms Document authorizing that Tranche.

Under the Master Trust Indenture, the Issuer may issue an unlimited principal amount of Senior Notes. See "Capital Markets Platform — Conditions Precedent to Incurrence of Obligations Secured — Issuer Funding Obligations". The Senior Notes will be direct obligations of the Issuer and secured in the manner provided for under the Master Trust Indenture. See "Capital Markets Platform — Security".

The Supplemental Indenture or Terms Document will describe the following terms of the Senior Notes:

- the Series designation;
- stated principal amount of the Senior Notes;
- whether such Senior Notes are of a particular Tranche of Senior Notes;
- the currency or currencies in which such Senior Notes will be denominated and in which payments of principal of, and interest on, such Senior Notes will or may be payable;

- the price at which such Series or Tranche of Senior Notes will be issued;
- the times at which such Series or Tranche of Senior Notes may, pursuant to any optional redemption provisions, be redeemed, and the other terms and provisions of any such redemption;
- the rate per annum at which such Series or Tranche of Senior Notes will bear interest, if any, or the formula or index on which such rate will be determined;
- each Interest Payment Date, each Principal Payment Date and the Principal Payment Default Date for such Series or Tranche of Senior Notes;
- the Principal Accumulation Date(s), if any, and Principal Accumulation Amount(s) for such Series of Senior Notes;
- the initial principal amount of such Senior Notes, and the means for calculating the outstanding principal amount of such Series or Tranche of Senior Notes;
- whether or not application will be made to list such Series or Tranche of Notes on any securities exchange;
- any events of default with respect to such Series or Tranche of Senior Notes;
- if such Series or Tranche of Senior Notes will be issued in whole or in part in the form of a global note, the terms and conditions, if any, upon which such global note may be exchanged for other individual Senior Notes, and the depository for such global note;
- if such Class, Series or Tranche of Senior Notes will be issued in whole or in part in registered form, bearer form or both, and if such Senior Notes will be issued with or without coupons;
- if such Class, Series or Tranche will have the benefit of a credit enhancement agreement or liquidity agreement, and the terms and provisions of the applicable agreement;
- the record date for any Interest Payment Date or Principal Payment Date of such Series or Tranche of Senior Notes, if different from the last of the month before the related Interest Payment Date or Principal Payment Date; and
- whether and under what conditions, additional amounts will be payable to Noteholders of such Series or Tranche of Notes.

Limitations

The Senior Notes do not constitute a debt, liability or other obligation of, or interest in, OPG or any of its other affiliates (other than the Issuer) or of the IESO. The Senior Notes are not a debt, liability or obligation of the Province of Ontario or any of its political subdivisions, agencies or instrumentalities. The Senior Notes will not be insured or guaranteed by the Province of Ontario, OPG or any of their respective affiliates or any other person or entity, except that the Province of Ontario has agreed to provide a limited guarantee in respect of the Senior Notes following the occurrence of certain events. See "Change of Law Protection Agreement".

Payments of Principal and Interest

Interest will accrue on the principal balance of each Series or Tranche of Senior Note at the interest rate specified in the related Term Sheet and will be payable on the Interest Payment Date(s) specified in the related Term Sheet. Principal of each Series or Tranche of Senior Notes will be payable in the amounts and on the Principal Payment Date(s) specified in the related Term Sheet. The Term Sheet applicable to a Series or Tranche of Senior Notes will also set out the Principal Payment Default Date for such Senior Notes, which is the date on which failure to pay the principal amount of such Senior Notes will result in an Event of Default.

On each Payment Date, the Issuer will, to the extent funds are available therefor from the Collection Account (see "Capital Markets Platform — Payment Waterfalls Prior to Acceleration — Collection Account"), transfer to the Interest Accumulation Account the aggregate amount of interest that has accrued on each Series of Senior Notes (together with all other amounts to be accrued for other Issuer Funding Obligations). On each Interest Payment Date for a Series or Tranche of Senior Notes, the Paying Agent will pay to the holders of such Senior Notes interest then due on such Senior Notes using amounts available therefor from the Interest Accumulation Account, the Principal Accumulation Account, the IESO Cash Reserve Account, the Program Cash Reserve Account and the Protection Account. See "Change of Law Protection Agreement" and "Capital Markets Platform — Payment Waterfalls Prior to Acceleration".

On each Payment Date, the Issuer will, to the extent funds are available therefor from the Collection Account (see "Capital Markets Platform — Payment Waterfalls Prior to Acceleration — Collection Account"), transfer to the Principal Accumulation Account the aggregate of the amounts the Issuer is required to accumulate for each Series of Senior Notes (together with all other amounts to be accumulated for other Issuer Funding Obligations). The Term Sheet applicable to a Series or Tranche of Senior Notes will set out the Principal Accumulation Amount(s) and the Payment Dates on which such amounts are to be accumulated for such Senior Notes. On each Principal Payment Date for a Series or Tranche of Senior Notes, the Paying Agent will pay to the holders of such Senior Notes the principal then due on such Senior Notes using amounts available therefor from the Principal Accumulation Account, the Program Cash Reserve Account and the Protection Account. See "Change of Law Protection Agreement" and "Capital Markets Platform — Payment Waterfalls Prior to Acceleration". Holders of Senior Notes may receive principal payments earlier than an expected Principal Payment Date if an optional redemption occurs and may receive principal payments later than an expected Principal Payment Date if there are insufficient Available Collections. See "Risk Factors" for a discussion of factors that may affect the timing of principal payments on a Series or Tranche of Senior Notes. It is not an Event of Default if the stated principal amount of a Series or Tranche of Senior Notes is not paid in full on an expected Principal Payment Date. If the stated principal amount of a Senior Note is not paid in full by its Principal Payment Default Date, an Event of Default will occur. See "Capital Markets Platform — Events of Default".

Unless otherwise specified in a Term Sheet, the Issuer has designated the Indenture Trustee as its Paying Agent for all Senior Notes having a place of payment in Toronto, Ontario.

Optional Redemption of Senior Notes

If a Supplemental Indenture for any Series or Tranche of Senior Notes states that such Senior Notes will be redeemable, in whole at any time or in part from time to time, such Senior Notes will be redeemable at the option of the Issuer at the redemption price specified in the Supplemental Indenture. If less than all the Senior Notes of any Series or Tranche are to be redeemed at one time, the Senior Notes of such Series or Tranche to be redeemed will be selected by the Indenture Trustee on a pro rata basis according to the principal amount of such Senior Notes registered in the name of each holder thereof, or in such other manner as the Indenture Trustee may consider equitable.

Notice of any redemption will be delivered to each holder of the Senior Notes to be redeemed, electronically or by mail (postage prepaid) at the address of such holder appearing in the Note register (or published in an authorized newspaper in the case of Senior Notes held in bearer form) or otherwise in accordance with the procedures of the depository, at least 15 days but not more than 30 days before the redemption date, except that redemption notices may be delivered more than 30 days prior to the redemption date if the notice is issued in connection with a satisfaction and discharge of the Master Trust Indenture with respect to such Series or Tranche of Senior Notes. The notice of redemption will state (i) the portion of the principal amount thereof to be redeemed (provided that no Senior Notes in an aggregate principal amount of 1,000 units of the applicable currency or less will be redeemed in part), (ii) the redemption date and (iii) the redemption price. Unless the Issuer defaults in payment of the redemption price, on and after the redemption date, interest will cease to accrue on the Senior Notes or portions of the Senior Notes called for redemption. A replacement note in principal amount equal to the unredeemed portion thereof will be issued in the name of the holder thereof upon cancellation of the original note; provided, however, that, in the case of a global note, an appropriate notation may instead be made on such note to decrease the principal amount thereof to an amount equal to the unredeemed portion thereof.

The Term Sheet for each Offering will identify the redemption provisions of the applicable Notes at the time of such Offering.

Purchase for Cancellation

The Issuer may purchase or otherwise acquire, at any time or from time to time, all or any of the outstanding Senior Notes of any Series or Tranche in the market or by invitation for tenders or by private contract at such prices as it may determine in its sole discretion. All such Senior Notes purchased by the Issuer will be cancelled. If, upon a tender, more Senior Notes of a Series or Tranche are tendered at the same lowest price than the Issuer is prepared to accept, the Senior Notes of such Series or Tranche to be purchased will be selected by the Indenture Trustee on a pro rata basis according to the principal amount of such Senior Notes registered in the name of each holder thereof, or in such other manner as the Indenture Trustee may consider equitable.

DEPOSITORY SERVICES

Except as otherwise provided below, the Senior Notes will be issued in "book-entry only" form and must be purchased, transferred, redeemed or exchanged through participants ("Participants") in the depository service of a depository chosen by the Issuer (the "depository") or its nominee, which include securities brokers and dealers, banks and trust companies. On the closing date of an Offering, the Issuer will cause a global certificate representing the Senior Notes to be delivered to, and registered in the name of, the depository or its nominee. Except as described below, no purchaser of Senior Notes will be entitled to a certificate or other instrument from the Issuer or the depository evidencing that purchaser's ownership thereof, and no purchaser will be shown on the records maintained by the depository except through a book-entry account of a Participant acting on behalf of such purchaser. Each purchaser of Senior Notes will typically receive a customer confirmation of purchase from the registered dealer from which the Senior Notes are purchased in accordance with the practices and procedures of that registered dealer. The practices of registered dealers may vary, but generally, customer confirmations are issued promptly after execution of a customer order. The depository will be responsible for establishing and maintaining book-entry accounts for its Participants having interests in the Senior Notes.

Neither the Issuer, the Indenture Trustee nor the Agents will assume any liability for: (i) any aspect of the records relating to the beneficial ownership of the Senior Notes held by the depository or the payments relating thereto; (ii) maintaining, supervising or reviewing any records relating to the Senior Notes; or (iii) any advice or representation made by or with respect to the depository or those contained in this confidential shelf offering memorandum and relating to the rules governing the depository or any action to be taken by the depository or at the direction of its Participants. The rules governing the depository provide that it acts as the agent and depository for the Participants. As a result, Participants must look solely to the depository and persons, other than Participants, having an interest in the Senior Notes must look solely to Participants for payments made by or on behalf of the Issuer to the depository in respect of the Senior Notes.

If: (i) required by applicable law; (ii) the depository notifies the Issuer in writing that the depository is no longer willing or able to discharge properly the responsibilities of a depository with respect to the Senior Notes and the Issuer is unable to locate a qualified successor; (iii) the Issuer determines the Senior Notes in book-entry only form should be exchanged for definitive certificates and the Issuer delivers a written notice to such effect to the Indenture Trustee; (iv) an Event of Default has occurred and Noteholders holding more than 50% of the Controlling Class Obligations of any Series of Senior Notes determine such book-entry system is no longer in the best interests of the holders of that Series; or (v) the book-entry system is terminated, then certificates representing the Senior Notes will be issued to the beneficial owners of Senior Notes.

Interest on the Senior Notes will be paid directly to CDS while the book-entry only system is in effect. If definitive certificates are issued, interest will be paid by wire transfer of immediately available funds to the accounts specified by the holders thereof or, if no such account is specified, by mailing a cheque to each such holder's registered address. Payment of principal, and the interest due, at maturity, will be paid directly to CDS while the book-entry only system is in effect. If definitive certificates are issued, payment of principal, and interest due, at maturity, will be paid upon surrender thereof at any office of the Trustee or as otherwise specified in the Indenture.

Manner of Effecting Transfer or Redemption

A transfer or redemption of Senior Notes held in "book-entry form" only will be effected through records maintained by the depository or its nominee with respect to interests of Participants, and on the records of Participants with respect to interests of persons other than Participants. Purchasers of such Senior Notes who are not Participants, but who desire to purchase, sell or otherwise transfer ownership of or other interests in the Senior Notes, may do so only through Participants.

DTC, Euroclear and Clearstream, Luxembourg

Where CDS acts as depository for a series of Senior Notes, to the extent the Issuer makes such series of Senior Notes eligible with The Depositary Trust Company ("DTC"), Euroclear Bank S.A./N.V., as operator of the Euroclear System ("Euroclear") and Clearstream Banking, société anonyme ("Clearstream, Luxembourg"), and the Issuer specifies as such in the Term Sheet with respect to the particular series of Senior Notes, holders may hold such series of Senior Notes through the accounts maintained by DTC, Euroclear or Clearstream, Luxembourg, as applicable, as participants in CDS only if they are participants of those systems, or indirectly through organizations which are participants of those systems.

In such case, DTC, Euroclear and Clearstream, Luxembourg will hold omnibus book-entry positions on behalf of their participants through customers' securities accounts in their respective depositaries which in turn will hold such positions in customers' securities accounts in the names of the nominees of the depositaries on the books of CDS. All securities in DTC, Euroclear and Clearstream, Luxembourg are held on a fungible basis without attribution of specific certificates to specific securities clearance accounts.

Transfers of such Senior Notes by persons holding through Euroclear or Clearstream, Luxembourg participants, as applicable, will be effected through CDS, in accordance with CDS rules, on behalf of the relevant European international clearing system by its depositaries; however, such transactions will require delivery of transfer instructions to the relevant European international clearing system by the participant in such system in accordance with its rules and procedures and within its established deadlines (European time). The relevant European international clearing system will, if the transfer meets its requirements, deliver instructions to its depositaries to take action to effect the transfer of the Senior Notes on its behalf by delivering Senior Notes through CDS and receiving payment in accordance with its normal procedures for next-day funds settlement. Payments with respect to the Senior Notes held through Euroclear or Clearstream, Luxembourg will be credited to the cash accounts of Euroclear participants or Clearstream, Luxembourg participants in accordance with the relevant system's rules and procedures, to the extent received by its depositaries.

All information in this confidential shelf offering memorandum concerning CDS, DTC, Euroclear and Clearstream, Luxembourg, reflects the Issuer's understanding of the policies of such organizations which may change at any time without notice.

PLAN OF DISTRIBUTION

The Senior Notes may be sold by the Issuer directly pursuant to applicable statutory exemptions or through agents designated by the Issuer from time to time. Each Term Sheet will identify the Agents engaged in connection with the applicable Offering of Senior Notes and will also set forth the terms of the Offering of Senior Notes, including the net proceeds to the Issuer and, to the extent applicable, any fees payable to the Agents. The Agents will conditionally offer the Senior Notes for sale on a "best efforts" basis, if, as and when issued and delivered by the Issuer in accordance with the conditions contained in an agency agreement (the "Agency Agreement") between the Issuer, OPG and the Agents to be entered into on or about the date of each Term Sheet. The Agents will be paid a fee by the Issuer for their services rendered to the Issuer in connection with the offering, issue and sale of the Senior Notes. The obligations of the Agents under the Agency Agreement may be terminated upon the occurrence of certain stated events. The Agents may over-allot or effect transactions which stabilize or maintain the market price of the Senior Notes at a level different than that which might otherwise prevail in the open market. Such transactions, if commenced, may be discontinued at any time.

The Senior Notes may not be offered or sold, directly or indirectly, in Canada or to or for the account of any Canadian resident except, in the case of sales made in any province of Canada, pursuant to an exemption from the prospectus requirements in Section 2.3 of NI 45-106 and, in the case of a purchaser resident in Ontario, section 73.3(2) of the Securities Act (Ontario), also known as the "accredited investor" exemption. In addition, Senior Notes will not be offered or sold, directly or indirectly, to individuals unless those individuals are also "permitted clients" within the meaning of NI 31-103.

Resale of the Senior Notes will be subject to restrictions under applicable securities legislation which vary depending on the relevant jurisdictions. The Senior Notes may only be sold on a basis that is exempt from the prospectus requirements of applicable securities legislation through an appropriately registered dealer or pursuant to an exemption from the registration requirements of applicable securities legislation. See "Restrictions on Resale".

This confidential shelf offering memorandum does not constitute an offer to sell or a solicitation of an offer to buy any of the Senior Notes in the United States. The Senior Notes have not been and will not be registered under the U.S. Securities Act or any state securities laws and may not be offered or sold within the United States or to, or for the account or benefit of, U.S. persons (as such term is defined in Regulation S under the U.S. Securities Act) unless the Senior Notes are registered under the U.S. Securities Act and applicable state securities laws or an exemption therefrom is available. In addition, until 40 days after the commencement of an Offering, any offer or sale of the Senior Notes within the United States by any dealer (whether or not participating in an Offering) may violate the registration requirements of the U.S. Securities Act if such offer or sale is made otherwise than in accordance with an exemption from the registration requirements of the U.S. Securities Act. Each Agent has agreed that, except as permitted by an Agency Agreement, it will not offer or sell the Senior Notes as part of the distribution of the Senior Notes at any time within the United States or to, or for the account or benefit of, U.S. persons.

RISK FACTORS

An investment in Senior Notes involves certain risks. Prospective investors in the Senior Notes should carefully consider all the information included in this confidential shelf offering memorandum, including the risks described below, before deciding to invest in the Senior Notes. This section does not describe all risks applicable to the Issuer and is intended only as a summary of certain material risks. In addition, prospective investors should consult their own financial and other legal and tax advisors, and should carefully consider, among other matters, the following discussion of risks before deciding whether to purchase Senior Notes.

Judicial, Legislative or Regulatory Risks

Future legal action might challenge or invalidate the FHPA and materially adversely affect a holder's investment in the Senior Notes.

The Investment Asset is a creation of the FHPA, which became effective on June 1, 2017. The Issuer will be the first Financing Entity under the FHPA to issue Funding Obligations as contemplated under the FHPA. The FHPA or any provisions thereof might be directly contested in courts or otherwise become the subject of litigation. The FHPA is novel legislation in Canada and therefore there are no precedents to rely on to support the validity of the FHPA.

As of the date of this confidential shelf offering memorandum, no such litigation has arisen; however, there can be no assurance that a lawsuit challenging the validity of some portion or all of the FHPA will not be filed in the future or that, if filed, such lawsuit will not be successful. If such a lawsuit were successful, and an invalidation of any relevant underlying legislative or regulatory provision were to result that did not constitute a Protection Event under the Change of Law Protection Agreement, a holder of Senior Notes may lose some or all of their investment in the Senior Notes or experience significant delays in recovering their investment in the Senior Notes. Even if the successful lawsuit constitutes a Protection Event, under the terms of the Change of Law Protection Agreement, the Province of Ontario is not obligated to pay or indemnify the Indenture Trustee or any Specified Creditor for consequential, special or punitive damages, or for economic loss or loss of profits (provided that economic loss does not include any amount in respect of an amount due and payable to a Specified Creditor under the Limited Guarantee).

Future legislative action to change the FHPA, the Change of Law Protection Agreement or the electricity market might materially adversely affect a holder's investment in the Senior Notes.

The FHPA provides that no act or omission of the Crown shall be effective to reduce, impair, postpone or terminate the obligations of Specified Consumers to pay amounts in respect of the Clean Energy Adjustment or to impair or postpone the invoicing, collection or remittance of the Clean Energy Adjustment. Ontario does not have a referendum or initiative process by which the FHPA may be amended or repealed. Therefore, the only way for such provisions of the FHPA to be amended or repealed would be through a subsequent legislative action by the Province of Ontario. A determination by the Province of Ontario that, for political or other reasons, the FHPA should no longer be law in Ontario or that the FHPA should be amended to limit or delay the recovery of Clean Energy Adjustments, could result in a decision to make such an amendment, repeal or revocation. Any such action that adversely affects the ability of the Issuer to receive amounts in respect of the Investment Interest so that it can pay Approved Obligations when due and payable (determined after taking into account certain factors described above in the definition of "Protection Event") would be subject to the Change of Law Protection Agreement. Under the Change of Law Protection Agreement, the Province of Ontario is not obligated to pay or indemnify the Indenture Trustee or any Specified Creditor for consequential, special or punitive damages, or for economic loss or loss of profits (provided that economic loss does not include any amount in respect of an amount due and payable to a Specified Creditor under the Limited Guarantee). See "Change of Law Protection Agreement". However, future legislative action by the Province of Ontario could also be taken that would have the effect of voiding or otherwise rendering invalid the Change of Law Protection Agreement.

Canada does not have any constitutional protection of property rights. While an adverse impact of statutory measures on private property has, in some circumstances, been judicially held to entitle property owners to compensation, such entitlements themselves can also be extinguished by legislation. Accordingly, if the provisions of the FHPA referenced in the previous paragraph were amended or repealed through subsequent legislative action of the Province of Ontario and future legislative action was also taken by the Province of Ontario that had the effect of voiding or otherwise rendering invalid the Change of Law Protection Agreement, a holder of Senior Notes may lose some or all of their investment in the Senior Notes or experience significant delays in recovering their investment in the Senior Notes.

Future judicial action could reduce the value of a holder's investment in the Senior Notes.

The Investment Asset is the creation of the FHPA. There is uncertainty associated with investing in Senior Notes payable from an interest in an asset that depends on legislation for its existence because there is no juridical or regulatory experience implementing and interpreting the legislation or similar legislation in Canada. Because the Investment Asset is a creation of the FHPA, any judicial determination interpreting the FHPA or the Investment Asset might have an adverse effect on a holder of Senior Notes' investment in the Senior Notes.

Potential difficulties in enforcing civil liabilities against the Province of Ontario may arise.

Under the Proceedings Against the Crown Act (Ontario), the remedies of injunction and specific performance are not available against the Crown, nor may an order for execution or attachment be made against the Crown, although the remedy of damages is available. Nothing in the Change of Law Protection Agreement or the Program Agreements affects the rights, protections and immunities of the Crown under the Proceedings Against the Crown Act (Ontario). As a result, if the Province of Ontario fails to comply with the Change of Law Protection Agreement, the Indenture Trustee's ability to obtain an effective remedy against the Province of Ontario is limited and holders of Senior Notes may lose some or all of their investments in the Senior Notes or experience significant delays in recovering their investments.

Risks Associated with the Unusual Nature of the Investment Asset

Clean Energy Adjustments will not be payable until May 1, 2021 and until such time the IESO will be the sole source of funds for payment on the Senior Notes. Amounts paid by the IESO are not available to pay principal on the Senior Notes.

During the Moratorium Period, no Clean Energy Adjustments are permitted to be collected from Specified Consumers. During the Moratorium Period, a holder of Senior Notes must rely for payment by the Issuer of interest on the Senior Notes, and the Issuer must rely for payment of all of its Carrying Costs, upon the IESO who is obligated under the Regulations to pay these Carrying Costs to the Issuer. The amounts paid by the IESO with respect to Carrying Costs cannot be applied on account of principal on the Senior Notes. The IESO has granted the Issuer a first-priority security interest in all its accounts receivable from Electricity Vendors, which includes the amounts receivable by the IESO from Electricity Vendors with respect to the global adjustment charge, as security for the performance of its regulatory obligation to pay the Carrying Costs to the Issuer. The IESO also has a $2 billion unsecured credit facility agreement with the Ontario Financing Authority, expiring September 30, 2022, which can be used to pay the Carrying Costs to the Issuer. There can be no assurance that the IESO will continue to have sufficient funds available to pay the Carrying Costs to the Issuer during the Moratorium Period. If the Issuer enforces the security granted to the Issuer by the IESO during this period, there can be no assurance that the IESO's accounts receivable from Electricity Vendors will be sufficient to pay the Carrying Costs to the Issuer and a holder of Senior Notes may suffer material payment delay on the Senior Notes during the Moratorium Period.

The Issuer's ability to enforce security granted by the IESO may be significantly impaired or delayed.

Under various Canadian bankruptcy, insolvency and restructuring statutes or Canadian federal or provincial receivership laws, including the Bankruptcy and Insolvency Act (Canada), the Companies' Creditors Arrangement Act (Canada), the Canada Business Corporations Act, the Winding-up and Restructuring Act, and various provincial corporate statutes (collectively, "Canadian Insolvency and Restructuring Laws"), the Issuer's ability to enforce security granted by the IESO may be significantly impaired or delayed. In view of the broad discretionary powers of courts under Canadian Insolvency and Restructuring Laws, it is not possible to predict how long payments of Carrying Costs by the IESO or enforcement of any letter of credit or performance guarantee provided by the IESO could be delayed following commencement of a proceeding under Canadian Insolvency and Restructuring Laws by the IESO or whether or when the Issuer would be able to repossess or dispose of the assets over which it holds a security interest. Canadian Insolvency and Restructuring Laws also contemplate the granting of super priority security interests or charges (which could be in priority to the security of existing secured creditors) on the assets of the debtor company to secure the repayment of any amounts to be borrowed to facilitate the insolvency proceeding, any amounts owing for the fees and costs of professionals involved in the insolvency proceeding, obligations of directors of the company with respect to their statutory liabilities and sometimes other amounts.

Canadian Insolvency and Restructuring Laws also contain provisions enabling an obligor to prepare and file a proposal or a plan of arrangement or reorganization for consideration by all or some of its creditors, to be voted on by the various classes of creditors affected thereby. Such a restructuring proposal or plan of arrangement or reorganization, if accepted by the requisite majority of each class of affected creditors and if approved by the relevant Canadian court, would be binding on all creditors of the applicable obligor within the affected classes, including the Issuer, whether or not the Issuer votes in favour of the restructuring proposal or plan of arrangement or reorganization. Such a proposal or plan of arrangement or reorganization may have the effect of compromising certain rights available to the Issuer with respect to the payment of Carrying Costs or enforcement of any security provided by the IESO.

A holder of Senior Notes may experience material payment delays because the source of funds for payment after the Moratorium Period is limited.

A holder of Senior Notes may suffer material payment delays on the Senior Notes if the collateral securing the Senior Notes is insufficient to pay the accrued interest on and the principal amount of those Senior Notes in full. During the Moratorium Period, a holder of Senior Notes must rely for payment by the Issuer of interest on the Senior Notes, and the Issuer must rely on the IESO for the funds necessary to pay its Carrying Costs, upon the IESO who is obligated under the Regulations to pay these Carrying Costs to the Issuer. Amounts paid by the IESO are not available to pay principal on the Senior Notes. After the Moratorium Period, the only source of funds for payments of interest on and principal of the Senior Notes will be the collateral. The collateral for the Senior Notes will include:

- the Investment Interest, including the right to impose, bill, collect and receive Clean Energy Adjustment amounts, inclusive of the True-up Amount;
- the cash and investments on deposit in the accounts held by the Indenture Trustee; and

- the Issuer's rights under various contracts described in this confidential shelf offering memorandum and under the FHPA.

The Senior Notes will not be insured or guaranteed by the Province of Ontario, the IESO, OPG or any of their respective affiliates, the Indenture Trustee or any other person or entity, except pursuant to the Limited Guarantee provided by the Province of Ontario upon the occurrence of a Protection Event. See "Change of Law Protection Agreement". The Senior Notes will be nonrecourse obligations, secured only by the collateral. Delays in payment on the Senior Notes might result in a reduction in the market value of the Senior Notes and, therefore, the value of a holder's investment in the Senior Notes.

The Senior Notes do not constitute a debt, liability or other obligation of, or interest in, OPG or any of its other affiliates (other than the Issuer). The Senior Notes are not a debt or general obligation of the Province of Ontario or any of its political subdivisions, agencies or instrumentalities. However, insofar as the Province of Ontario or any such political subdivision, agency or instrumentality is a Specified Consumer, such governmental entity will be obligated, in its capacity as a Specified Consumer, to pay Clean Energy Adjustment amounts that will be collected and remitted to the Issuer in respect of its Investment Interest securing the Senior Notes.

A holder of Senior Notes must rely for payment of principal of and interest on the Senior Notes solely upon the FHPA, rights to enforcement of the FHPA and of various agreements described in this confidential shelf offering memorandum, collections of Clean Energy Adjustment amounts and cash and investments on deposit in the related accounts held pursuant to the Master Trust Indenture.

The Clean Energy Adjustment may not be billed after April 30, 2047, unless further regulations to extend that date are passed.

The Clean Energy Adjustment may not be billed to Specified Consumers after April 30, 2047, unless further regulations to extend that date are passed. If Clean Energy Adjustment amounts billed through this period are not sufficient to repay the Senior Notes in full and further regulations to extend this date are not passed, apart from amounts in the capital accounts, if any, no other funds will be available to pay the unpaid balance due on the Senior Notes.

Foreclosure of the Indenture Trustee's lien on the Investment Interest securing the Senior Notes might not be practical and acceleration of the Senior Notes before maturity might have little practical effect.

Under the Master Trust Indenture, the Indenture Trustee on behalf of the holders of Senior Notes and other creditors has the right to foreclose or otherwise enforce the lien granted to the Indenture Trustee by the Issuer on the collateral securing the Senior Notes. However, in the event of foreclosure, there is likely to be a limited market, if any, for the collateral. Therefore, foreclosure might not be a realistic or practical remedy. Moreover, although principal of the Senior Notes will be due and payable upon acceleration of the Senior Notes before maturity, under the Regulations, the amount of the Clean Energy Adjustment may not be increased to take into account such acceleration (subject to limited exceptions depending on the Fair Allocation Amount at the time). As a result, this limitation on increases to the Clean Energy Adjustment at the time of any acceleration of the Senior Notes prior to maturity will result in principal of the Senior Notes being paid on acceleration as funds become available. However, upon such acceleration, the priority of principal payments to creditors of the Issuer will result in all accelerated Senior Notes being repaid in full before any further payments of principal are made to holders of subordinated indebtedness of the Issuer. In the event of an acceleration, holders of Senior Notes may be paid sooner or later than originally expected.

The Issuer may issue multiple Series of Senior Notes secured by the Investment Interest and some decisions affecting holders of Senior Notes may require the approval of all Series.

The Issuer may issue multiple Series of Senior Notes all of which will be secured by the collateral securing the Senior Notes. The Issuer may not issue additional Series of Senior Notes if the issuance would not satisfy the Rating Agency Condition and certain other conditions precedent in the Master Trust Indenture. See "Capital Markets Platform — Conditions Precedent to Incurrence of Obligations Secured — Issuer Funding Obligations". If additional Series of Senior Notes are issued, Clean Energy Adjustment amounts collected by or for the benefit of the Issuer will be prorated among the Series of Senior Notes based on the respective amounts of interest and principal due and payable or required to be accumulated in respect of each Series of Senior Notes. Any issuance of additional Series of Senior Notes by the Issuer could cause reductions or delays in payment on the Senior Notes. In addition, some matters relating to the Senior Notes issued by the Issuer may require the vote of the holders of all Series of Senior Notes. The interests of holders of a particular Series of Senior Notes in these votes might conflict with the interests of the holders of another Series of Senior Notes. Thus, these votes could result in an outcome that is materially unfavorable to holders of a particular Series of Senior Notes.

The Master Trust Indenture contains Events of Default (other than those pertaining to the insolvency of the Issuer or invalidity of the Change of Law Protection Agreement) that can only be declared by Debtholders who hold at least 25% of the outstanding Controlling Class Obligations. If any such Event of Default has occurred and is continuing, Debtholders who hold at least 50% of the outstanding Controlling Class Obligations may accelerate all Issuer Funding Obligations (other than Derivative Funding Obligations). However, it is possible for individual Series of Senior Notes to have their own acceleration events such that those individual Series of Senior Notes may be accelerated while other Series of Issuer Funding Obligations would not be accelerated. In such a case, (i) the allocation of Available Collections to the holders of accelerated Series of Issuer Funding Obligations in a Class would be higher relative to the non-accelerated Series of Issuer Funding Obligations of that Class than it would otherwise be, and (ii) after payment in full of accelerated Senior Notes and other Senior Funding Obligations and once all amounts due and payable on non-accelerated Senior Notes and other Senior Funding Obligations have been satisfied on any principal payment date, amounts remaining for payment of principal would be allocated to the repayment of principal on both accelerated and non-accelerated subordinated debt, as applicable. In certain cases, a declaration of acceleration or an automatic acceleration may also be rescinded by Extraordinary Resolution if (i) the Issuer has paid all overdue interest, principal that has become due (other than by reason of acceleration) on Controlling Class Obligations and other amounts set out in the Master Trust Indenture, and (ii) all Events of Default (other than non-payment of principal) have been cured or waived. See "Capital Markets Platform — Acceleration and Remedies — General".

If a Series of Senior Notes or all Senior Notes are accelerated, a holder of Senior Notes might receive payment of principal sooner or later than expected.

Under certain circumstances it is possible that all outstanding Senior Notes will be accelerated as a Class or that certain Series of Senior Notes will be accelerated while other Series of Senior Notes will not be accelerated. See "Capital Markets Platform – Acceleration and Remedies". The possibility of certain Series of Senior Notes accelerating while other Series of Senior Notes do not accelerate would arise if (i) an Event of Default occurs but Noteholders holding at least 50% of all outstanding Senior Notes do not approve the acceleration of all outstanding Senior Notes, and (ii) holders of Senior Notes of a particular Series approve the acceleration of the Senior Notes of that Series by the requisite majority of holders of that Series as set out in the applicable supplemental indenture for that Series.

If all Senior Notes are accelerated the application of available funds will be as described under "Capital Markets Platform -- Acceleration and Remedies" for all Senior Notes. It is possible that holders of 50% or more of the outstanding principal balance of all Senior Notes will approve the acceleration of all Senior Notes even if holders of a particular Series of Senior Notes do not vote in favour of the acceleration of the Senior Notes of that Series.

If only certain Series of Senior Notes are accelerated, then the outstanding principal balance of those Series of Senior Notes will become immediately due and payable but the payment due dates of those Series of Senior Notes that have not been accelerated will not change. In this case, the application of available funds will continue as described under "Capital Markets Platform -- Payment Waterfalls Prior to Acceleration".

Where all Series of Senior Notes or only certain Series of Senior Notes are accelerated, available funds that would otherwise be used to pay the principal amount of subordinated indebtedness will be applied to repay principal of the accelerated Senior Notes. This could result in a holder of Senior Notes that have been accelerated receiving payment of principal sooner than expected. If a Series of Senior Notes has not been accelerated, the payment of principal on such Senior Notes should not occur earlier than expected as the payment due dates for such Senior Notes will not have been accelerated.

Where all Series of Senior Notes or only certain Series of Senior Notes are accelerated, available funds that would otherwise be used to pay the principal amount of the Senior Notes in accordance with the original repayment schedules of such Senior Notes may be applied to repay principal of the accelerated Senior Notes pari passu with the principal due on all outstanding Senior Notes (subject to the payment priority given to Warehouse Obligations). If accelerated Senior Notes were not expected to be repaid before a particular Series of Senior Notes at the time the accelerated Senior Notes were issued, the acceleration of such Senior Notes could result in the holder of a particular Series of Senior Notes receiving payment of principal later than expected.

The Issuer may have a co-ownership interest in the Investment Asset with other Financing Entities.

The FHPA authorizes the establishment of one or more Financing Entities that may incur Funding Obligations for the purpose of acquiring Investment Interests. The Master Trust Indenture does not contain any restrictions on the establishment of other Financing Entities or any restrictions on the Transfer by the IESO of specified portions of the Regulatory Asset to other Financing Entities. If additional Funding Obligations are incurred by other Financing Entities to acquire an Investment Interest, the Investment Asset will be co-owned by all Financing Entities (including the Issuer) and consequently Clean Energy Adjustment amounts collected by or for the benefit of the Financing Entities will be prorated among all Investment Interest owners based on the respective amounts of Clean Energy Adjustment amounts invoiced and not yet paid. Any issuance of Funding Obligations by other Financing Entities could cause reductions or delays in payment on the Senior Notes.

If the Clean Energy Adjustment amounts and other funds held in the Issuer Accounts results in investment losses or the investments become illiquid, a holder of Senior Notes might receive payment of principal of and interest on the Senior Notes later than expected.

Funds held in the Issuer Accounts will be invested in Eligible Investments. Eligible Investments include, among other categories, money market funds having a rating in the highest investment category from each applicable Rating Agency. Although investments in these money market funds have traditionally been viewed as highly liquid with a low probability of principal loss, illiquidity and principal losses have been experienced by investors in certain of these funds as a result of disruptions in the financial markets in recent years. If investment losses or illiquidity are experienced, a holder of Senior Notes might experience a delay in payments of principal and interest and a decrease in the value of their investment in the Senior Notes.

Servicing, Operating and Consumer Risks

Payments on the Senior Notes depend on the performance of Electricity Vendors and the IESO.

The Issuer's receipt of Clean Energy Adjustment amounts, which will be used to make payments on the Senior Notes, will depend in part on the skill and diligence of Electricity Vendors and the IESO and their respective successors in performing their respective duties under the FHPA and, with respect to the IESO, the Master Transfer and Servicing Agreement.

The FHPA and the Master Transfer and Servicing Agreement impose new duties and obligations on the IESO and Electricity Vendors. There can be no assurances that the new duties and obligations of the IESO and the Electricity Vendors will be assumed and implemented without difficulty and in accordance with the provisions of the FHPA and the Master Transfer and Servicing Agreement. If the IESO ceases to perform, or inadequately performs, its collection, remittance, forecasting and other functions under the terms of the FHPA and the Master Transfer and Servicing Agreement, it might be difficult to enforce these obligations against the IESO. While the Indenture Trustee has the right to replace the IESO, as servicer, on an Event of Default upon receipt of an Ordinary Resolution, it might be difficult to find a replacement for the IESO or a successor servicer. Also, any successor servicer might have less experience and ability than the IESO and might experience difficulties in collecting Clean Energy Adjustment amounts or providing forecast information, resulting in delays or disruptions to the setting and collection of the Clean Energy Adjustment. Any successor servicer would likely charge fees for the provision of such services and such fees could be material.

If an Electricity Vendor or the IESO fails to collect or remit sufficient Clean Energy Adjustment amounts for any reason, then the IESO's payments to the Issuer in respect of the Clean Energy Adjustments might be delayed or reduced. In that event, payments on the Senior Notes might be delayed or reduced. In addition, any person into which the IESO may be merged, converted or amalgamated or that may succeed to the properties and assets of the IESO substantially as a whole will assume the role of servicer under the Master Transfer and Servicing Agreement, subject only to the satisfaction of the conditions set forth therein. These conditions do not include either the consent of holders of Senior Notes or satisfaction of the Rating Agency Condition.

Payments on the Senior Notes depend on the performance of OPG as Financial Services Manager and as Manager.

The FHPA imposes new duties and obligations on OPG, as Financial Services Manager, and the Program Agreements impose new duties and obligations on OPG, as Manager. There can be no assurances that the new duties and obligations of OPG will be assumed and implemented without difficulty and in accordance with the provisions of the FHPA and the Program Agreements. If OPG, as Financial Services Manager, ceases to perform, or inadequately performs, its statutory duties under the FHPA, including determining the Clean Energy Adjustment (inclusive of the True-up Amount), the Indenture Trustee will have no right to replace OPG as Financial Services Manager. If OPG ceases to perform, or inadequately performs, its management duties under the Management Agreement, the Indenture Trustee has the right to replace the Manager on an Event of Default upon receipt of an Ordinary Resolution but it might be difficult to find a replacement for OPG or a successor manager. Also, any successor manager might have less experience and ability than OPG, resulting in delays or disruptions to the setting and collection of the Clean Energy Adjustment. Any successor manager would likely charge fees for the provision of such services and such fees could be materially higher than the fees charged by OPG.

Inaccurate consumption forecasting or unanticipated delinquencies or write-offs might reduce or delay scheduled payments on the Senior Notes.

Clean Energy Adjustment amounts will be calculated based upon a forecast of Specified Consumer usage to be newly developed based on forecast information provided by the IESO. Under the Regulations, the IESO is required to provide forecast information to the OEB and the Issuer, which forecast information will be used by the OEB to forecast electricity consumption of Specified Consumers in respect of the relevant period. The amount of the Clean Energy Adjustment collected in any period will depend in part on actual electricity usage by Specified Consumers and the amount of collections and write-offs for Specified Consumers. If the IESO or a successor inaccurately forecasts electricity consumption or if OPG uses inaccurate consumer delinquency or write-off data when setting or adjusting the Clean Energy Adjustment, there could be a shortfall or material delay in collections, which might result in missed or delayed payments of principal and interest on the Senior Notes.

Inaccurate forecasting of electricity consumption by the IESO might result from, among other things unanticipated weather, resulting in less electricity consumption than forecast; general economic conditions being worse than expected, causing Specified Consumers to reduce their electricity consumption; the occurrence of a natural disaster, wind storm or an act of terrorism, cyber-attack or other catastrophic event unexpectedly disrupting electrical service and reducing electricity consumption; unanticipated changes in the market structure of the electric industry; Specified Consumers unexpectedly ceasing business or departing from the Province of Ontario; dramatic and unexpected changes in energy prices resulting in decreased electricity consumption; Specified Consumers consuming less electricity than anticipated because of increased energy prices, unanticipated increases in conservation efforts or unanticipated increases in electricity consumption efficiency; differences or changes in forecasting methodology; or Specified Consumers switching to alternative sources of energy, including self-generation or co-generation of electric power in some cases without using Ontario's transmission or distribution system. Self-generators that receive no transmission or distribution service from the Province of Ontario are not liable for the Clean Energy Adjustment. The FHPA does not require exit fees to be charged to any Specified Consumers that might leave the grid to self-generate.

Inaccurate forecasting of delinquencies or write-offs by OPG could result from, among other things unexpected deterioration of the economy, the occurrence of a natural disaster, an act of war or terrorism or other catastrophic events causing greater write-offs than expected or forcing Electricity Vendors to grant additional payment relief to Specified Consumers; the failure of Electricity Vendors to submit accurate and timely information regarding their collections and write-offs; an unexpected change in law that makes it more difficult for Electricity Vendors to terminate service to nonpaying Specified Consumers, or that requires Electricity Vendors to apply more lenient credit standards for Specified Consumers.

Changes to billing and collection practices may reduce the amount of funds available for payments on the Senior Notes.

The methodology for determining the amount of the Clean Energy Adjustment invoiced to each Specified Consumer is specified in FHPA. None of OPG, the IESO or any Electricity Vendor, as it performs its billing and collection functions on the Issuer's behalf, may change this methodology. However, subject to applicable law, tariff and regulatory requirements, billing and collection arrangements with each Specified Consumer may be changed in a manner that delays or reduces the payments to the Issuer in respect of the Clean Energy Adjustment, which might result in missed or delayed payments of principal and interest on the Senior Notes.

Limits on rights to terminate service to Specified Consumers might make it more difficult to collect the Clean Energy Adjustment.

To the extent that Specified Consumers do not pay for their electricity service, Electricity Vendors will not be able to collect the Clean Energy Adjustment from these Specified Consumers. Electricity Vendors have the ability to terminate service for non-payment subject to the terms of their conditions of service, which conditions must be consistent with the OEB's rules regarding disconnection. Under OEB rules, Electricity Vendors are prohibited from disconnecting or threatening to disconnect homes for non-payment during the winter from November 15 to April 30 every year. Historical rates of non-payment are included in the calculations of the Clean Energy Adjustment, but increases in the rates of non-payment would reduce the Clean Energy Adjustment until it is adjusted through the True-up Amount in a subsequent Reference Period.

It might be difficult for the Issuer to collect the Clean Energy Adjustment from Specified Consumers

Under the FHPA, the Issuer may bring an action against a Specified Consumer for non-payment of the Clean Energy Adjustment, but only an Electricity Vendor may terminate service for failure to pay the Clean Energy Adjustment. The FHPA provides that partial payment of electricity invoices shall be allocated pro rata among the Clean Energy Adjustment and other charges on the invoice. Since the Issuer does not have the threat of termination of service available to enforce payment of the Clean Energy Adjustment, it would need to rely on the Electricity Vendor to threaten to terminate service for nonpayment of other portions of the electricity invoice. This inability might reduce the value of a holder's investment in the Senior Notes.

Delinquent or partial payments of electricity bills may make payments on the Senior Notes occur later than expected.

The amount and the rate of collection of the Clean Energy Adjustment, including the True-up Amount, will impact whether there is a delay in the scheduled payments on the Senior Notes. If the Clean Energy Adjustment amounts are collected at a slower rate than expected, OPG might have to make adjustments to the Clean Energy Adjustment for a subsequent Reference Period through the True-up Amount. Until such adjustments are made or, if those adjustments are not timely and accurate, there may be a delay in payments of principal and interest and a decrease in the value of the Senior Notes.

Indemnification obligations of OPG and the IESO are limited and might not be sufficient to protect the investments in the Senior Notes.

OPG will be obligated under the Management Agreement to indemnify the Issuer and the Indenture Trustee only in specified circumstances. Likewise, the IESO will be obligated under the Master Transfer and Servicing Agreement and the Acknowledgement and Indemnity Agreement to indemnify the Issuer and the Indenture Trustee only in specified circumstances.

Furthermore, neither OPG nor the IESO may have sufficient funds available to satisfy its indemnification obligations, and the amount of any indemnification paid by OPG or the IESO, as applicable, might not be sufficient for holders of Senior Notes to recover all of their investment in the Senior Notes. In addition, if OPG or the IESO becomes obligated to provide indemnification, the ratings on the Senior Notes might be downgraded as a result of the circumstances causing the breach.

Power outages could impair payment of the Senior Notes.

Ontario experiences seasonal conditions typical of southeastern Canada. Summers are usually hot with high temperatures in excess of 20° Celsius. Winters include snow and icy conditions that can be damaging to overhead power lines. Transmission and/or distribution and generation facilities could be damaged depending on weather conditions and usage of electricity could be interrupted temporarily or for long periods of time, reducing the Clean Energy Adjustment amounts collected in one or more Reference Periods.

Technological changes that make alternative energy sources more attractive in the future or significant population fluctuations may result in fewer Specified Consumers from whom to collect the Clean Energy Adjustment.

Technological developments and/or tax or other economic incentives might result in the introduction of economically attractive, more fuel-efficient, more environmentally-friendly and/or more cost-effective alternatives to purchasing electricity through Electricity Vendors for increasing numbers of Specified Consumers. Manufacturers of self-generation facilities may develop smaller-scale, more fuel-efficient on-site generating and/or storage units that can be cost-effective options for a greater number of Specified Consumers. Moreover, an increase in self-service power may result if extreme weather conditions result in regular shortages of grid-supplied energy or if other factors cause grid-supplied energy to be less reliable. Specified Consumers who self-generate their electricity may use it to offset, or eliminate, their consumption from the grid thereby reducing, or eliminating, the Clean Energy Adjustment amounts payable by such Specified Consumers. Technological developments might allow greater numbers of Specified Consumers to reduce or even altogether avoid the payment of Clean Energy Adjustment amounts under such provisions through on-site generation, including where coupled with on-site storage capacity. This might reduce the kilowatt-hours of electric energy delivered to Specified Consumers by means of an Electricity Vendor's system, thereby causing Clean Energy Adjustment charges to the remaining Specified Consumers to increase. Such increases may reduce the collectability of the Clean Energy Adjustment.

Unexpected significant population decreases in the Province of Ontario or Specified Consumers unexpectedly ceasing business or departing from the Province of Ontario may adversely affect the amount of the Clean Energy Adjustment to be invoiced, collected and recovered from Specified Consumers. The decrease in the population of the Province of Ontario may result in fewer Specified Consumers from whom to collect the Clean Energy Adjustment. The increased impact on the remaining Specified Consumers could lead to increased potential consumer defaults and delays, billing lags and write-offs or variations in billing due to variations in electricity consumption.

Insolvency-Related Risks

If the Issuer were to become subject to Canadian Insolvency and Restructuring Laws, the Indenture Trustee's ability to enforce security granted by the Issuer may be significantly impaired or delayed.

Trusts such as the Issuer ordinarily cannot seek protection under the principal Canadian Insolvency and Restructuring Laws (other than a receivership). However, in view of the broad discretionary powers of courts under Canadian Insolvency and Restructuring Laws, the courts' inherent jurisdiction and otherwise, it is not possible to state with certainty that the Issuer could not become subject to Canadian Insolvency and Restructuring Laws. If the Issuer were to become subject to Canadian Insolvency and Restructuring Laws, the Indenture Trustee's ability to enforce security granted by the Issuer may be significantly impaired or delayed. It is not possible to predict how long payments under the Senior Notes could be delayed following commencement of a proceeding under Canadian Insolvency and Restructuring Laws by the Issuer or whether or when the Indenture Trustee would be able to enforce upon or dispose of the assets over which it holds a security interest. Canadian Insolvency and Restructuring Laws also contemplate the granting of super priority security interests or charges (which could be in priority to the security of existing secured creditors) on the assets of the debtor company to secure the repayment of any amounts to be borrowed to facilitate the insolvency proceeding, any amounts owing for the fees and costs of professionals involved in the insolvency proceeding, obligations of directors of the company with respect to their statutory liabilities and sometimes other amounts.

Canadian Insolvency and Restructuring Laws also contain provisions enabling an obligor to prepare and file a proposal or a plan of arrangement or reorganization for consideration by all or some of its creditors, to be voted on by the various classes of creditors affected thereby. Such a restructuring proposal or plan of arrangement or reorganization, if accepted by the requisite majority of each class of affected creditors and if approved by the relevant Canadian court, would be binding on all creditors of the applicable obligor within the affected classes, including the Indenture Trustee and the Noteholders, whether or not the Indenture Trustee or any holders of Senior Notes votes in favour of the restructuring proposal or plan of arrangement or reorganization. Such a proposal or plan of arrangement or reorganization may have the effect of compromising certain rights available to the Indenture Trustee and the holders of Senior Notes under the Master Trust Indenture or in respect of the collateral.

If the IESO were to become subject to Canadian Insolvency and Restructuring Laws, the Transfers of specified portions of the Regulatory Asset by the IESO may not be respected as true sales of the Regulatory Asset.

Ordinarily, the interests of the Issuer as acquirer of an Investment Interest may be subordinate to statutory deemed trusts and other non-consensual liens, trusts and claims created or imposed by statute or rule of law on the property of the IESO arising prior to the time the corresponding Regulatory Asset was Transferred to the Issuer. This could reduce the amounts that may be available to the Issuer in respect of the Investment Interest and, consequently, the holders of Senior Notes. Section 27(3) of the Act provides that at the time of the Transfer of the Regulatory Asset to a Financing Entity, such Transfer shall be deemed to have been perfected, vested, valid and binding against the IESO and all other persons who have claims of any kind against the IESO. Section 27(4) of the Act provides that section 27(3) applies regardless of whether the persons who have claims have received notice of the Transfer and the property rights and interests acquired by the Transferee shall have priority over any liens in favour of those persons. However, in the event that the IESO becomes insolvent, its insolvency would be subject to federal bankruptcy and insolvency legislation and the effect of these provisions of the Act in such circumstances is untested. The Transfers of the Regulatory Asset to the Issuer will be made in accordance with section 26 of the Act. Section 27(1) of the Act provides that a Transfer of a specified portion of the Regulatory Asset under section 26 constitutes a valid and enforceable absolute assignment, conveyance and sale of the corresponding Investment Interest to the Transferee. Therefore, the Investment Interest would not form part of the assets of the IESO and would not be available to the creditors of the IESO. However, with respect to certain insolvency events relating to the IESO, it is possible that an insolvency administrator or a creditor of the IESO may attempt to argue that the transactions between the IESO and the Issuer are not true sales of the Regulatory Asset. This position, if accepted by a court applying federal bankruptcy and insolvency laws, could prevent timely or ultimate payment of amounts due to the Issuer and, consequently, due from the Issuer to holders of Senior Notes.

These risks are in addition to the insolvency risks of the IESO noted above under "Risks Associated with the Unusual Nature of the Investment Asset".

If the IESO or any Electricity Vendor were to become subject to Canadian Insolvency and Restructuring Laws, collections that have been commingled may be unrecoverable and the Issuer's ability to enforce its rights against the IESO or such Electricity Vendor may be significantly impaired or delayed.

Under the Master Transfer and Servicing Agreement, collections received by the IESO are to be held by the IESO in a segregated account. Until Clean Energy Adjustments are remitted to the IESO by Electricity Vendors, amounts collected by the Electricity Vendors are to be held by Electricity Vendors in segregated accounts. If the IESO or any Electricity Vendor fails to hold collections in a segregated account, then to the extent that funds are commingled and used for the benefit of the IESO or such Electricity Vendor prior to making required deposits, in the event of the liquidation, insolvency, receivership or administration or other proceeding under Canadian Insolvency and Restructuring Laws of the IESO or the Electricity Vendor, the ability of the Issuer to enforce its rights to the collections in a timely manner may be adversely affected and collections that have been commingled may be unrecoverable. In the event of the insolvency of the IESO, the right of the Issuer under the Master Transfer and Servicing Agreement to appoint a replacement servicer may be stayed or prevented.

These risks are in addition to the insolvency risks of the IESO noted above under "Risks Associated with the Unusual Nature of the Investment Asset".

If OPG were to become subject to Canadian Insolvency and Restructuring Laws, the Issuer's ability to enforce its rights against the Manager may be significantly impaired or delayed and the Issuer's assets and liabilities may be substantively consolidated with those of OPG.

Section 53.1 of the Electricity Act, 1998 (Ontario), as amended by the Fair Hydro Act, 2017 (Ontario), provides that, regardless of whether a Financing Entity is or is not a subsidiary of OPG: (a) the assets and liabilities of the Financing Entity shall not form part of the assets and liabilities of OPG or any of its subsidiaries (excluding the Financing Entity if it is a subsidiary); and (b) the assets and liabilities of OPG or any of its subsidiaries (excluding the Financing Entity if it is a subsidiary) shall not form part of the assets and liabilities of the Financing Entity. However, in the event that OPG becomes insolvent, its insolvency would be subject to federal bankruptcy and insolvency legislation and the effect of these provisions of the Electricity Act, 1998 (Ontario), as amended by the Fair Hydro Act, 2017 (Ontario), in such circumstances is untested. In particular, in the event of the liquidation, insolvency, receivership or administration or other proceeding under Canadian Insolvency and Restructuring Laws of OPG, the ability of the Issuer to enforce certain of its rights in and to the Investment Interest in a timely manner may be adversely affected. Such affected rights may include the right to appoint a replacement Manager. It is possible that the creditors of OPG may attempt to substantively consolidate the assets and liabilities of OPG and the Issuer. The Issuer and OPG have taken steps to minimize this risk. However, no assurance can be given that, in the case of the insolvency of OPG, a court would not order that the Issuer's assets and liabilities be substantively consolidated with those of OPG. Such substantive consolidation would result in all creditors of OPG and the Issuer being paid out of a common pool of assets, with no distinction as to which assets are property of OPG and which assets are property of the Issuer, and could cause payment of the claims of the beneficial owners of the Senior Notes to be subject to substantial delay and to adjustment in timing and amount.

If the Issuer Trustee were to become subject to Canadian Insolvency and Restructuring Laws, the assets and liabilities of the Issuer may be substantively consolidated with the Issuer Trustee.

In the case of the insolvency of the Issuer Trustee, it is possible that the creditors of the Issuer Trustee may attempt to argue that the assets of the Issuer are held by the Issuer Trustee in its personal capacity (and not as trustee of the Issuer) and are to be available to the creditors of the Issuer Trustee. Assuming that the Issuer Trustee deals with the assets of the Issuer in accordance with the provisions of the Declaration of Trust, the assets of the Issuer would not constitute property of the Issuer Trustee available for distribution to the creditors of the Issuer Trustee. An insolvency administrator appointed with respect to the Issuer Trustee may be able to recover from the property of the Issuer a portion of its costs that are incurred until a replacement for the Issuer Trustee, as trustee of the Issuer, is appointed or pending any proceeding in respect of the property of the Issuer. Such costs may exceed the compensation provided for in the Declaration of Trust.

If a Specified Consumer were to become subject to Canadian Insolvency and Restructuring Laws, the Issuer's ability to collect Clean Energy Adjustment amounts from such Specified Consumer may be adversely affected.

The application to a Specified Consumer of Canadian Insolvency and Restructuring Laws and related provincial laws could also affect the ability to collect the Clean Energy Adjustments due for the period prior to the insolvency. Federal bankruptcy laws generally discharge bankrupt Specified Consumers who are individuals of their obligation to pay Clean Energy Adjustment amounts due for the period prior to the individual being discharged from bankruptcy.

If amounts in the Issuer Accounts for any Series are invested with entities that become subject to insolvency proceedings, the Issuer's ability to make payments to holders of Senior Notes may be adversely affected.

Amounts that are on deposit from time to time in the Issuer Accounts for any Series may be invested in Eligible Investments. If insolvency proceedings were to be commenced by or against any entity with which an Eligible Investment is made or which is an issuer, obligor or guarantor of any Eligible Investment, the ability of the Indenture Trustee to enforce its rights in respect of any such Eligible Investment and the ability of the Issuer to make payments to holders of Senior Notes in a timely manner may be adversely affected. In order to reduce this risk, the Eligible Investments must satisfy certain ratings criteria. See "Rating Agency Condition".

Other Risks

The credit ratings are not an indication of the expected rate of payment of principal on the Senior Notes.

The Senior Notes will be rated by one or more established rating agencies. A rating is not a recommendation to buy, sell or hold the Senior Notes. The ratings merely analyze the probability that the Issuer will repay the total principal amount of each series of Senior Notes at its final principal payment date (which is later than the Principal Payment Date(s)) and will make timely interest payments. The ratings are not an indication that the rating agencies believe that principal payments are likely to be paid on time according to any expected sinking fund schedule. Thus, the Issuer might repay the principal of a holder of Senior Notes later than expected, which might materially reduce the value of a holder's investment in the Senior Notes.

If the ratings on the Senior Notes are withdrawn or revised downward, the value of a holder's investment in the Senior Notes may be adversely affected.

There is no assurance that any credit rating will remain in effect for any given period of time. The ratings on the Senior Notes may be withdrawn or revised downward at any time without notice, which may have an adverse effect on the market price of the Senior Notes. A rating is not a recommendation to buy, sell or hold the Senior Notes. The ratings merely analyze the probability that the Issuer will repay the total principal amount of each series of Senior Notes at its final principal payment date (which is later than the Principal Payment Date(s)) and will make timely interest payments. The ratings are not an indication that the rating agencies believe that principal payments are likely to be paid on time according to any expected sinking fund schedule. Ratings on the Senior Notes may be lowered, qualified or withdrawn at any time without notice.

The credit ratings of the IESO, OPG and the Province of Ontario might affect the market value of the Senior Notes.

The Senior Notes will not be insured or guaranteed by the Province of Ontario, IESO, OPG or any of their respective affiliates or any other person or entity, except that the Province of Ontario has agreed to provide a limited guarantee in respect of the Senior Notes following the occurrence of certain events. See "Change of Law Protection Agreement". Although neither the IESO nor OPG are obligors in respect of the Senior Notes, a downgrading of the current credit ratings of the IESO, OPG or the Province of Ontario might have an adverse effect on the market value of the Senior Notes, particularly, with respect to the IESO, during the Moratorium Period when no Clean Energy Adjustments are permitted to be collected from Specified Consumers. Credit ratings might change at any time. A rating agency has the authority to revise or withdraw its rating based solely upon its own judgment.

The absence of an established market for the Senior Notes might limit the ability to resell or refinance the Senior Notes.

There is no public market for the Senior Notes, and the Issuer does not intend to apply for a listing of the Senior Notes on any stock exchange. There can be no assurance as to the liquidity of the trading market for the Senior Notes or that a trading market for the Senior Notes will develop.

There is currently no secondary market for the Senior Notes. There can be no assurance that a secondary market will develop or, if a secondary market does develop, that it will provide holders of such Senior Notes with liquidity for their investment or that it will continue for the term of such Senior Notes. Accordingly, purchasers of the Senior Notes may be required to bear the financial risk of investing in the Senior Notes until the maturity date of the Senior Notes.

If an active market does develop for the Senior Notes, the market price on the Senior Notes will depend on many factors including, but not limited to, (i) the Issuer's credit rating and the credit rating of the Senior Notes; (ii) the prevailing interest rates being paid on similar securities; (iii) the Issuer's financial condition and future prospects; and (iv) the overall condition of the economy and the financial markets. The condition of the financial markets and prevailing interest rates have fluctuated in the past and are likely to fluctuate in the future. Fluctuations could have an adverse effect on the market price of the Senior Notes.

The Financial Services Manager has the ability to determine whether to refinance Senior Notes maturing after May 2024 through the issuance of another Series of Senior Notes. However, there can be no assurance that Senior Notes can be refinanced on or before their applicable Principal Payment Default Date.

Restrictions on resale might limit the ability to resell the Senior Notes.

The Senior Notes may not be offered or sold, directly or indirectly, in Canada or to or for the account of any Canadian resident except, in the case of sales made in any province of Canada, pursuant to an exemption from the prospectus requirements under applicable securities laws. The Issuer currently does not intend to file a prospectus or similar document with any securities regulatory authority in Canada qualifying the resale of the Senior Notes to the public in any province of Canada in connection with any Offering of Senior Notes. As a result, the Senior Notes purchased pursuant to this confidential shelf offering memorandum will be subject to restrictions on resale, and may only be resold if a further statutory exemption may be relied upon by the investor or if an appropriate discretionary order or consent is obtained pursuant to applicable securities laws. See "Restrictions on Resale".

(p) it will execute, deliver and file such reports, undertakings and other documents relating to his, her or its purchase of the Senior Notes as may be required by applicable securities laws, regulations and rules, or assist the Issuer and the Agents, as applicable, in obtaining and filing such reports, undertakings and other documents;

By purchasing the Senior Notes, the purchaser consents to the disclosure of such information.

LANGUAGE OF DOCUMENTS

Upon receipt of this confidential shelf offering memorandum, each purchaser hereby confirms that it has expressly requested that all documents evidencing or relating in any way to the sale of the Senior Notes described herein (including for greater certainty any purchase confirmation or any notice) be drawn up in the English language only. En recevant le présent document, chaque acquéreur confirme par les présentes qu'il a expressément demandé que tous les documents qui attestent la vente des débentures décrites dans les présentes ou qui s'y rapportent de quelque manière que ce soit (y compris, plus particulièrement, une confirmation d'achat ou un avis) soient rédigés en langue anglais seulement.

RESTRICTIONS ON RESALE

The distribution of the Senior Notes in the provinces of Canada is being made on a private placement basis and is therefore exempt from the requirement that the Issuer prepare and file a prospectus with the relevant Canadian securities regulatory authorities. Accordingly, any resale of the Senior Notes must be made: (a) through an appropriately registered dealer or pursuant to an exemption from the dealer registration requirements of applicable provincial securities laws; and (b) in accordance with, or pursuant to an exemption from, the prospectus requirements of applicable provincial securities laws. These resale restrictions may in some circumstances apply to resales made outside of Canada. Purchasers are advised to seek legal advice prior to any resale of the Senior Notes.

Purchasers are advised that the Issuer does not intend to file a prospectus or similar document with any securities regulatory authority in Canada qualifying the resale of the Senior Notes to the public in any province of Canada in connection with any Offering.

Furthermore, each purchaser of Senior Notes, by its purchase thereof, will be deemed to have represented, acknowledged or confirmed, as the case may be, to the Issuer and any dealer who is involved in the sale of the Senior Notes to such purchaser that such purchaser understands that the Senior Notes are subject to transfer and resale restrictions in Canada and that the certificates representing the Senior Notes (or the relevant ownership statement under a direct registration system or other book-entry system) or other applicable document or notice (including this document) will bear or will notify the purchaser of the following legend:

> "EXCEPT IN THE PROVINCE OF MANITOBA, IN ACCORDANCE WITH NATIONAL INSTRUMENT 45-102 — RESALE OF SECURITIES, UNLESS OTHERWISE PERMITTED UNDER CANADIAN SECURITIES LEGISLATION, THE HOLDER OF THIS SECURITY MUST NOT TRADE THE SECURITY BEFORE THE DATE THAT IS FOUR MONTHS AND A DAY AFTER THE LATER OF (I) THE DATE ON WHICH THE SECURITY IS ISSUED; AND (II) THE DATE THE ISSUER BECOMES A REPORTING ISSUER IN ANY PROVINCE OR TERRITORY OF CANADA.
> IN THE PROVINCE OF MANITOBA, UNLESS OTHERWISE PERMITTED UNDER APPLICABLE CANADIAN SECURITIES LAWS OR WITH THE PRIOR WRITTEN CONSENT OF THE APPLICABLE REGULATORS, THE HOLDER OF THIS SECURITY MUST NOT TRADE THE SECURITY BEFORE THE DATE THAT IS TWELVE MONTHS AND A DAY AFTER THE DATE THE PURCHASER ACQUIRED THE SECURITY."

The Issuer is not and does not intend to become a reporting issuer.

There is currently no secondary market for the Senior Notes. There can be no assurance that a secondary market will develop or, if a secondary market does develop, that it will provide holders of such Series of Senior Notes with liquidity for their investment or that it will continue for the life of such Senior Notes. Accordingly, purchasers of the Senior Notes may be required to bear the financial risk of investing in the Senior Notes until the maturity date.

REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

The Issuer is not a reporting issuer or the equivalent thereof under the securities legislation in any jurisdiction. Accordingly, the Issuer is not subject to the continuous reporting and disclosure requirements prescribed by such securities legislation. Therefore, there is no requirement that the Issuer comply with such requirements, including, without limitation, the requirements to provide prompt notification of material changes by way of press releases, to formally file disclosure documents with applicable securities regulatory authorities or to prepare and file annual audited financial statements or quarterly unaudited financial statements. However, the Issuer will provide audited annual financial statements and unaudited quarterly financial statements in accordance with the terms of the Master Trust Indenture. See "Capital Markets Platform — Covenants of the Issuer — Financial Statements; Statement as to Compliance".

STATUTORY RIGHTS OF ACTION

Securities legislation in certain of the provinces of Canada provides purchasers, in addition to any other rights they may have at law, with a remedy for rescission or damages where an offering memorandum or any amendment to it, and in some cases, advertising and sales literature used in connection therewith, contains a misrepresentation. These remedies, or notice with respect thereto, must be exercised or delivered, as the case may be, by the purchaser within the time limit prescribed, and are subject to the defences contained, in the applicable securities legislation. Purchasers should refer to the applicable provisions of the securities legislation of their province for the particulars of these rights or consult with a legal advisor. The following is a summary of the rights of rescission or rights to damages available to purchasers of the Senior Notes.

Rights for Purchasers in Ontario

Section 5.2 of Ontario Securities Commission Rule 45-501 — Ontario Prospectus and Registration Exemptions provides that when an offering memorandum, such as this confidential shelf offering memorandum, is delivered to an investor to whom securities are distributed in reliance upon the "accredited investor" prospectus exemption in section 73.3 of the Securities Act (Ontario) or a predecessor exemption to section 73.3 of the Securities Act (Ontario) the right of action referred to in section 130.1 of the Securities Act (Ontario) ("Section 130.1") is applicable, unless the prospective purchaser is:

(a) an association governed by the Cooperative Credit Associations Act (Canada) or a central cooperative credit society for which an order has been made under section 473(1) of that Act;

(b) a bank, loan corporation, trust company, trust corporation, insurance company, treasury branch, credit union, caisse populaire, financial services cooperative, or league that, in each case, is authorized by an enactment of Canada or a jurisdiction of Canada to carry on business in Canada or a jurisdiction of Canada;

(c) a Schedule III bank, meaning an authorized foreign bank named in Schedule III of the Bank Act (Canada);

(d) the Business Development Bank of Canada incorporated under the Business Development Bank of Canada Act (Canada); or

(e) a subsidiary of any person referred to in paragraphs (a), (b), (c) or (d), if the person owns all of the voting securities of the subsidiary, except the voting securities required by law to be owned by the directors of the subsidiary.

Section 130.1(1) provides such investors who purchase securities offered by an offering memorandum with a statutory right of action against the Issuer of securities for rescission or damages in the event that the offering memorandum and any amendment to it contains a "misrepresentation". The term "misrepresentation" is defined to mean an untrue statement of a material fact or an omission to state a material fact that is required to be stated or that is necessary to make any statement not misleading in the light of the circumstances in which it was made. These remedies, or notice with respect to these remedies, must be exercised or delivered, as the case may be, by the purchaser within the time limits prescribed by applicable securities laws.

Where this confidential shelf offering memorandum is delivered to a prospective purchaser of Senior Notes in connection with a trade made in reliance on section 73.3 of the Securities Act (Ontario), and this document contains a misrepresentation, the purchaser will have, without regard to whether the purchaser relied on the misrepresentation, a statutory right of action against the Issuer for damages or, while still the owner of Senior Notes, for rescission, in which case, if the purchaser elects to exercise the right of rescission, the purchaser will have no right of action for damages, provided that the right of action for rescission will be exercisable by the purchaser only if the purchaser commences the action not more than 180 days after the date of the transaction that gave rise to the cause of action; or, in the case of any action other than an action for rescission, the earlier of: (i) 180 days after the plaintiff first had knowledge of the facts giving rise to the cause of action, or (ii) three years after the date of the transaction that gave rise to the cause of action.

The Issuer will not be liable for a misrepresentation if it proves that the purchaser purchased the Senior Notes with knowledge of the misrepresentation.

In an action for damages, the Issuer will not be liable for all or any portion of the damages that the Issuer proves do not represent the depreciation in value of the Senior Notes as a result of the misrepresentation relied upon.

In no case will the amount recoverable for the misrepresentation exceed the price at which the Senior Notes were offered.

The liability of all persons and companies referred to above is joint and several. The Issuer, however, shall not be liable where it is not receiving any proceeds from the distribution of the securities being distributed and the misrepresentation was not based on information provided by the Issuer, unless the misrepresentation, (a) was based on information that was previously publicly disclosed by the Issuer, (b) was a misrepresentation at the time of its previous public disclosure and (c) was not subsequently publicly corrected or superseded by the Issuer prior to the completion of the distribution of the securities being distributed.

The foregoing statutory right of action for rescission or damages conferred is in addition to and without derogation from any other right the purchaser may have at law.

This summary is subject to the express provisions of the Securities Act (Ontario) and the regulations and rules made under it, and prospective investors should refer to the complete text of those provisions.

Rights for Purchasers in Saskatchewan

Section 138 of The Securities Act, 1988 (Saskatchewan), as amended (the "Saskatchewan Act") provides that where an offering memorandum (such as this confidential shelf offering memorandum) or any amendment to it is sent or delivered to a purchaser and it contains a misrepresentation (as defined in the Saskatchewan Act), a purchaser who purchases a security covered by the offering memorandum or any amendment to it has, without regard to whether the purchaser relied on the misrepresentation, a right of action for rescission against the Issuer or a selling security holder on whose behalf the distribution is made or has a right of action for damages against:

(a) the Issuer or a selling security holder on whose behalf the distribution is made;

(b) every promoter and trustee of the Issuer or the selling security holder, as the case may be, at the time the offering memorandum or any amendment to it was sent or delivered;

(c) every person or company whose consent has been filed respecting the offering, but only with respect to reports, opinions or statements that have been made by them;

(d) every person who or company that, in addition to the persons or companies mentioned in (a) to (c) above, signed the offering memorandum or the amendment to the offering memorandum; and

(e) every person who or company that sells securities on behalf of the Issuer or selling security holder under the offering memorandum or amendment to the offering memorandum.

Such rights of rescission and damages are subject to certain limitations including the following:

(a) if the purchaser elects to exercise its right of rescission against the Issuer or selling security holder, it will have no right of action for damages against that party;

(b) in an action for damages, a defendant will not be liable for all or any portion of the damages that he, she or it proves do not represent the depreciation in value of the securities resulting from the misrepresentation relied on;

(c) no person or company, other than the Issuer or a selling security holder, will be liable for any part of the offering memorandum or any amendment to it not purporting to be made on the authority of an expert and not purporting to be a copy of, or an extract from, a report, opinion or statement of an expert, unless the person or company failed to conduct a reasonable investigation sufficient to provide reasonable grounds for a belief that there had been no misrepresentation or believed that there had been a misrepresentation;

(d) in no case will the amount recoverable exceed the price at which the securities were offered; and

(e) no person or company is liable in an action for rescission or damages if that person or company proves that the purchaser purchased the securities with knowledge of the misrepresentation.

In addition, no person or company, other than the Issuer or selling security holder, will be liable if the person or company proves that:

(a) the offering memorandum or any amendment to it was sent or delivered without the person's or company's knowledge or consent and that, on becoming aware of it being sent or delivered, that person or company immediately gave reasonable general notice that it was so sent or delivered; or

(b) with respect to any part of the offering memorandum or any amendment to it purporting to be made on the authority of an expert, or purporting to be a copy of, or an extract from, a report, an opinion or a statement of an expert, that person or company had no reasonable grounds to believe and did not believe that: (i) there had been a misrepresentation, or (ii) the part of the offering memorandum or any amendment to it did not fairly represent the report, opinion or statement of the expert, or was not a fair copy of, or an extract from, the report, opinion or statement of the expert.

Not all defences upon which the Issuer or others may rely are described herein. Please refer to the full text of the Saskatchewan Act for a complete listing.

The liability of all persons and companies referred to above is joint and several.

Similar rights of action for damages and rescission are provided in section 138.1 of the Saskatchewan Act in respect of a misrepresentation in advertising and sales literature disseminated in connection with an offering of securities.

Section 138.2 of the Saskatchewan Act also provides that, subject to certain limitations and defences, where an individual makes a verbal statement to a purchaser that contains a misrepresentation relating to the security purchased and the verbal statement is made either before or contemporaneously with the purchase of the security, the purchaser has, without regard to whether the purchaser relied on the misrepresentation, a right of action for damages against the individual who made the verbal statement.

Section 141(1) of the Saskatchewan Act provides a purchaser with the right to void the purchase agreement and to recover all money and other consideration paid by the purchaser for the securities if the securities are sold in contravention of the Saskatchewan Act, the regulations to the Saskatchewan Act or a decision of the Financial and Consumer Affairs Authority of Saskatchewan.

Section 141(2) of the Saskatchewan Act also provides a right of action for rescission or damages to a purchaser of securities to whom an offering memorandum or any amendment to it was not sent or delivered prior to or at the same time as the purchaser enters into an agreement to purchase the securities, as required by Section 80.1 of the Saskatchewan Act.

The rights of action for damages or rescission under the Saskatchewan Act are in addition to and do not derogate from any other right which a purchaser may have at law.

Section 147 of the Saskatchewan Act provides that no action will be commenced to enforce any of the foregoing rights more than:

(a) in the case of an action for rescission or cancellation, 180 days after the date of the transaction that gave rise to the cause of action; or

(b) in the case of any other action, other than an action for rescission or cancellation, the earlier of:

(i) one year after the plaintiff first had knowledge of the facts giving rise to the cause of action; or

(ii) six years after the date of the transaction that gave rise to the cause of action.

The Saskatchewan Act also provides that a purchaser who has received an amended offering memorandum delivered in accordance with subsection 80.1(3) of the Saskatchewan Act has a right to withdraw from the agreement to purchase the securities by delivering a notice to the person who or company that is selling the securities, indicating the purchaser's intention not to be bound by the purchase agreement, provided such notice is delivered by the purchaser within two business days of receiving the amended offering memorandum.

This summary is subject to the express provisions of the Saskatchewan Act and the regulations and rules made under it, and prospective investors should refer to the complete text of those provisions.

Rights for Purchasers in Nova Scotia

The right of action for rescission or damages described herein is conferred by section 138 of the Securities Act (Nova Scotia). Section 138 provides, in the relevant part, that in the event that this confidential shelf offering memorandum (which shall for the purposes hereof be considered to include any document or record incorporated or deemed to be incorporated by reference herein), together with any amendments hereto (which shall for the purposes hereof be considered to include any document or record incorporated or deemed to be incorporated by reference therein), or any advertising or sales literature (as defined in the Securities Act (Nova Scotia)) contains an untrue statement of material fact or omits to state a material fact that is required to be stated or that is necessary in order to make any statements contained herein or therein not misleading in light of the circumstances in which it was made (a "misrepresentation"), a purchaser of Senior Notes is deemed to have relied upon such misrepresentation if it was a misrepresentation at the time of purchase and has, subject to certain limitations and defences, a statutory right of action for damages against the Issuer, its trustees, any person who signed this confidential shelf offering memorandum, any selling security holder and the directors of any such selling security holder at the date of this confidential shelf offering memorandum or, alternatively, while still the owner of the Senior Notes, may elect instead to exercise a statutory right of rescission against the Issuer, in which case the purchaser will have no right of action for damages against any person listed above, including the Issuer, provided that, among other limitations:

(a) no action may be commenced to enforce the right of action for rescission or damages by a purchaser resident in Nova Scotia under Section 138 later than 120 days after the date payment was made for the Senior Notes (or after the date on which initial payment was made for the Senior Notes where payments subsequent to the initial payment are made pursuant to a contractual commitment assumed prior to, or concurrently with, the initial payment);

(b) no person will be liable if it proves that the purchaser purchased the Senior Notes with knowledge of the misrepresentation;

(c) no person or company, other than the Issuer, is liable under Section 138 if the person or company proves that:

(i) this confidential shelf offering memorandum, or any amendment hereto, was sent or delivered to the purchaser without the person's or company's knowledge or consent and that, on becoming aware of its delivery, the person or company gave reasonable general notice that it was delivered without the person's or company's knowledge or consent;

(ii) after delivery of this confidential shelf offering memorandum, or the amendment hereto, and before the purchase of the Senior Notes by the purchaser, on becoming aware of any

(d) no person or company, other than the Issuer, is liable under Section 138 with respect to any part of this confidential shelf offering memorandum, or amendment hereto, or any record incorporated or deemed incorporated by reference herein, not purporting to be made on the authority of an expert, or to be a copy of, or an extract from, a report, opinion or statement of an expert, unless the person or company failed to conduct a reasonable investigation to provide reasonable grounds for a belief that there had been no misrepresentation, or believed that there had been a misrepresentation;

Rights for Purchasers in New Brunswick

Section 2.1 of New Brunswick Securities Commission Rule 45-802 provides that the statutory rights of action in rescission or damages referred to in Section 150 of the Securities Act (New Brunswick) ("Section 150") apply to information relating to an offering memorandum, such as this confidential shelf offering memorandum, that is provided to a purchaser of securities in connection with a distribution made in reliance on the "accredited investor" prospectus exemption in Section 2.3 of NI 45-106. Section 150 provides investors who purchase securities offered for sale in reliance on an exemption from the prospectus requirements of the Securities Act (New Brunswick) with a statutory right of action for damages against (i) the Issuer; (ii) the selling security holder on whose behalf the distribution was made; (iii) every person who was a director of the Issuer as at the date of the offering memorandum; and (iv) every person who signed the offering memorandum in the event that an offering memorandum provided to such investor contains a "misrepresentation". Alternatively, if the investor purchased the securities from a person referred to in (i) or (ii) above, an investor may elect a right of rescission, in which case the investor shall have no right of action for damages. "Misrepresentation" means an untrue statement of a material fact or an omission to state a material fact that is required to be stated or that is necessary to make a statement not misleading in the light of the circumstances in which it was made.

Where this confidential shelf offering memorandum is delivered to a prospective purchaser of Senior Notes in connection with a trade made in reliance on Section 2.3 of NI 45-106, and this document (including any documentation incorporated or deemed to be incorporated by reference) contains a misrepresentation, a purchaser who purchases the securities will be deemed to have relied on the misrepresentation and will have, subject to certain limitations and defences, a statutory right of action against the Issuer for damages or, while still the owner of Senior Notes, for rescission. If the purchaser elects to exercise the right of rescission, the purchaser will have no right of action for damages. The right of action for rescission will be exercisable by the purchaser only if the purchaser commences the action against the defendant, not more than 180 days after the date of the transaction that gave rise to the cause of action; or, in the case of any action other than an action for rescission, the earlier of: (i) one year after the plaintiff first had knowledge of the facts giving rise to the cause of action, or (ii) six years after the date of the transaction that gave rise to the cause of action.

No person other than the Issuer or the selling security holder is liable under Section 150 if the person proves that:

(a) the offering memorandum was delivered to the purchaser without the person's knowledge or consent and that, on becoming aware of its delivery, the person gave written notice to the Issuer that it was delivered without the person's knowledge or consent;

(b) upon becoming aware of a misrepresentation in the offering memorandum the person withdrew the person's consent to the offering memorandum and gave written notice to the Issuer of the withdrawal and the reason for the withdrawal; or

(c) with respect to any part of the offering memorandum purporting to be made on the authority of an expert or purporting to be a copy of, or an extract from, a report, opinion or statement of an expert, the person had no reasonable grounds to believe and did not believe there had been a misrepresentation or that the relevant part of the offering memorandum did not fairly represent the report, opinion or statement of the expert or was not a fair copy of, or extract from, the report, opinion or statement of the expert.

In addition, no person other than the Issuer or the selling security holder is liable under Section 150 with respect to any part of an offering memorandum not purporting to be made on the authority of an expert and not purporting to be a copy of, or an extract from, a report, opinion or statement of an expert unless (i) the person failed to conduct such reasonable investigations as to provide reasonable grounds for a belief that there had been no misrepresentation or (ii) the person believed that there had been misrepresentation.

The defendant will not be liable for a misrepresentation if it proves that the purchaser purchased the Senior Notes with knowledge of the misrepresentation.

In an action for damages, the defendant will not be liable for all or any portion of the damages that the defendant proves do not represent the depreciation in value of the Senior Notes as a result of the misrepresentation relied upon.

In no case will the amount recoverable for the misrepresentation exceed the price at which the Senior Notes were offered.

The liability of all persons referred to above is joint and several.

The foregoing statutory right of action for rescission or damages conferred is in addition to and without derogation from any other right the purchaser may have at law.

This summary is subject to the express provisions of the Securities Act (New Brunswick) and the regulations and rules made under it, and prospective investors should refer to the complete text of those provisions.

Not all defences upon which the Issuer or others may rely are described herein. Please refer to the full text of the Securities Act (Prince Edward Island) for a complete listing.

If the purchaser elects to exercise a right of action for rescission, the purchaser will have no right of action for damages.

In no case will the amount recoverable in any action exceed the price at which the Senior Notes were offered to the purchaser.

In an action for damages, the defendant will not be liable for any damages that the defendant proves do not represent the depreciation in value of the Senior Notes as a result of the misrepresentation.

Agents Commission:	$● per $1,000 principal amount of Series 2018-1 Senior Notes sold (payable from existing cash resources of the Issuer)
Interest Payment Dates:	The Interest Payment Dates for the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes are as follows: (i) prior to the occurrence of an Amortization Event, interest on the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes shall be payable in equal semi-annual instalments (except the first interest payment) in arrears on May 15 and November 15 of each year, commencing May 15, 2018 (short first coupon); and (ii) following the occurrence of an Amortization Event, interest will be payable in arrears on the outstanding principal amount of the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes on each Payment Date thereafter at a rate equal to the monthly equivalent of the Series 2018-1 Interest Rate; that is, the interest rate that, when compounded monthly for six months on a stated outstanding principal amount, yields interest in an amount equal to the Series 2018-1 Interest Rate, multiplied by such outstanding principal amount and divided by two. The first interest payment on the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes will include accrued and unpaid interest for the period from, and including, the closing date of this Offering (the "Series 2018-1 Senior Notes Offering") to, but excluding, the first Interest Payment Date. Subject to the occurrence of an Acceleration Event, the first interest payment will be in an amount equal to $● per $1,000 principal amount of Series 2018-1 Senior Notes. If an Interest Payment Date is not a business day in Toronto, then the payment will be made on the next business day with no adjustment. For any period less than a full semi-annual interest period, interest will be calculated on an actual/365 basis. The record date for each Interest Payment Date is the last day of the calendar month preceding such Interest Payment Date. "Amortization Event" means either an Acceleration Event has occurred with respect to the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes, or the outstanding principal amount of the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes has not been paid in full on the Expected Principal Payment Date (as defined below). An "Acceleration Event" means either (i) all Issuer Funding Obligations are declared due and payable in accordance with the provisions of the Master Trust Indenture, or (ii) the outstanding principal amount of the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes and all interest thereon is declared due and payable in accordance with the Indenture as a result of the occurrence of a Series 2018-1 Event of Default (as defined below).
Principal Payment Dates and Principal Payment Amount:	Subject to the occurrence of an Acceleration Event, the outstanding principal amount of the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes shall be due and payable on May 15, 2033 (such Payment Date, the "Expected Principal Payment Date"). Following the occurrence of an Amortization Event, each Payment Date thereafter shall be a Principal Payment Date in respect of the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes and the then outstanding principal amount of the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes shall be due and payable on each such Payment Date.
Principal Payment Default Date:	May 15, 2035

Principal Accumulation Amounts:	Subject to the occurrence of an Amortization Event, the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes shall have the Principal Accumulation Amounts for the Payment Dates specified in Appendix A hereto. Following the occurrence of an Amortization Event, the Principal Accumulation Amount with respect to each Payment Date thereafter shall be an amount equal to the outstanding principal amount of the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes.
Subordination:	Concurrent with the issuance of the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes, OPG will subscribe for (i) $● of ●% subordinated notes due May 15, 2033, Series 2018-1 (the "Series 2018-1 Subordinated Notes"); and (ii) $● of ●% junior subordinated notes due May 15, 2033, Series 2018-1 (the "Series 2018-1 Junior Subordinated Notes"). The Series 2018-1 Subordinated Notes shall be subordinated to the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes (and all other Senior Funding Obligations), and the Series 2018-1 Junior Subordinated Notes shall be subordinated to the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes (and all other Senior Funding Obligations) and the Series 2018-1 Subordinated Notes (and all other Subordinated Funding Obligations), in each case in the manner described in the confidential shelf offering memorandum under the heading "Capital Markets Platform – Subordination Provisions".
Optional Redemption:	The Series 2018-1 Senior Notes will be redeemable at the option of the Issuer, in whole or in part, at any time and from time to time, on not less than 15 nor more than 60 days' notice at the redemption price specified below. At any time prior to the Par Call Date, the redemption price will be equal to the greater of (i) the Series 2018-1 Canada Yield Price and (ii) par, plus, in each case, accrued and unpaid interest to, but not including, the date of redemption. On or after the Par Call Date, the redemption price will be equal to par, plus accrued and unpaid interest to, but not including, the date of redemption. "Par Call Date" means November 15, 2032. "Series 2018-1 Canada Yield Price" means a price equal to the price of the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes calculated to provide a yield to the Par Call Date, compounded semi-annually and calculated in accordance with generally accepted Canadian financial practice, equal to the Government of Canada Yield calculated at 10:00 a.m. (Toronto time) on the third business day preceding the date of redemption, plus ●% per annum. "Government of Canada Yield" on any date means, in respect of the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes being redeemed, the yield from the redemption date to the Par Call Date compounded semi-annually and calculated in accordance with generally accepted Canadian financial practice, which a non-callable Government of Canada bond would carry if issued in Canadian dollars in Canada at 100% of its principal amount on such date with a term to maturity equal to the remaining term to the Par Call Date (calculated from the date of redemption), such yield being the average of the yields provided by two major Canadian investment dealers specified by the Issuer.

Limited Recourse:	The Series 2018-1 Senior Notes do not constitute a debt, liability or other obligation of, or interest in, OPG or any of its other affiliates (other than the Issuer). The Series 2018-1 Senior Notes are not a debt, liability or obligation of the Province of Ontario or any of its political subdivisions, agencies or instrumentalities. The Series 2018-1 Senior Notes will not be insured or guaranteed by the Province of Ontario, OPG or any of their respective affiliates or any other person or entity, except that the Province of Ontario has agreed to provide a limited guarantee in respect of the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes following the occurrence of certain events. See "Consolidated Capitalization". Expenses of the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes Offering are to be paid from existing cash resources.
Ranking:	Subject to the applicable payment waterfalls in the Master Trust Indenture, the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes will be direct, secured and unsubordinated obligations of the Issuer, and will at all times rank equally and proportionately with each other and all other Senior Funding Obligations issued by the Issuer from time to time pursuant to the Indenture, without discrimination or preference.
Change of Law Protection Agreement:	The Series 2018-1 Senior Notes are Approved Obligations under the Change of Law Protection Agreement.
Series 2018-1 Events of Default:	In addition to the Events of Default contained in the Master Trust Indenture and described in the confidential shelf offering memorandum, each of the following events constitute a "Series 2018-1 Events of Default": (a) failure to pay interest on the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes when due, subject to a 5-day cure period; (b) failure to pay principal on the Principal Payment Default Date for the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes; (c) breach of representation or warranty in the Series 2018-1 Senior Supplemental Indenture applicable to the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes, subject to materiality requirements and a 60-day cure period; (d) breach of a covenant in the Series 2018-1 Senior Supplemental Indenture, subject to materiality requirements and a 60-day cure period; and (e) an event occurs and as a result thereof, all or any portion of the principal amount of any other Senior Funding Obligation has been accelerated.

Acceleration upon a Series 2018-1 Event of Default:	Upon the occurrence of a Series 2018-1 Event of Default, the holders of Series 2018-1 Senior Notes may, by Ordinary Resolution, declare the outstanding principal and all accrued and unpaid interest on the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes to be immediately due and payable, whether or not all Issuer Funding Obligations have been accelerated pursuant to the Master Trust Indenture. For a discussion of the consequences of such declaration, see the confidential shelf offering memorandum under the headings "Capital Markets Platform – Acceleration and Remedies" and "Risk Factors – If a Series of Senior Notes or all Senior Notes are accelerated, a holder of Senior Notes might receive payment of principal sooner or later than expected".
Rating Agency Condition:	"Rating Agency Condition" means with respect to any action in respect of the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes subject to such condition, the Issuer shall deliver written notice of the proposed action to such Rating Agency or Rating Agencies at least 10 business days prior to the effective date of such action (or if 10 business days prior notice is impractical, such advance notice as is practicable) and (i) the Rating Agencies shall not have informed the Issuer prior to the effective date of such action that such action will result in the reduction or withdrawal of the rating in effect with respect to the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes immediately before the taking of such action, or (ii) in the case of DBRS, or any successor thereto, DBRS shall have informed the Issuer in writing prior to the effective date of such action that such action will not result in the reduction or withdrawal of the rating in effect with respect to the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes immediately before the taking of such action.

The Issuer may use a portion of the net proceeds of the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes Offering to repay certain indebtedness under the Warehouse Facilities. See "Relationship between the Issuer and the Agents".

CERTAIN CANADIAN FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSIDERATIONS

In the opinion of Torys LLP and Osler, Hoskin & Harcourt LLP, the following summary describes the principal Canadian federal income tax considerations generally applicable under the Income Tax Act (Canada) (the "Tax Act") to a holder who acquires Series 2018-1 Senior Notes as beneficial owner pursuant to the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes Offering and who, for purposes of the Tax Act and at all relevant times, deals at arm's length and is not affiliated with the Issuer, and holds Series 2018-1 Senior Notes as capital property (a "Holder"). Generally, the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes will be capital property to a Holder provided that the Holder does not acquire or hold the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes in the course of carrying on a business or as part of an adventure or concern in the nature of trade. Certain holders who might not otherwise be considered to hold their Series 2018-1 Senior Notes as capital property may, in certain circumstances, be entitled to treat their Series 2018-1 Senior Notes and any other "Canadian security" (as defined in the Tax Act) owned by them in the taxation year of the election and all subsequent taxation years as capital property by making the irrevocable election permitted by subsection 39(4) of the Tax Act. Such holders are advised to consult their own tax advisors to determine whether such an election is available and desirable in their particular circumstances.

This summary is not applicable to a holder: (i) that is a "financial institution" (as defined in the Tax Act for purposes of the "mark to market property" and "specified debt obligation" rules); (ii) an interest in which is a "tax shelter investment" (as defined in the Tax Act); (iii) that reports its "Canadian tax results" (as defined in the Tax Act) in a currency other than Canadian dollars; or (iv) that has entered into or will enter into a "derivative forward agreement" as defined in the Tax Act in respect of the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes. Any such holders should consult their own tax advisors with respect to an investment in the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes. In addition, this summary does not address the deductibility of interest by a holder who has borrowed money to acquire Series 2018-1 Senior Notes.

On July 18, 2017, the Minister of Finance (Canada) released a consultation paper that included an announcement of its intention to amend the Tax Act to increase the amount of tax applicable to passive investment income earned through a private corporation. No specific amendments to the Tax Act were proposed in connection with this announcement and this summary does not consider the implications of this announcement. On November 18, 2017, the Minister of Finance (Canada) announced that the government intends to move forward with the planned amendments subject to further developments to address concerns of business owners the details of which are not yet available. Holders that are private corporations should consult their own tax advisors regarding the implications of these announcements with respect to their particular circumstances.

This summary is based upon the facts set out in the confidential shelf offering memorandum, the current provisions of the Tax Act and the regulations thereunder (the "Regulations"), all specific proposals to amend the Tax Act and the Regulations publicly announced by or on behalf of the Minister of Finance (Canada) prior to the date hereof (the "Tax Proposals") and counsel's understanding of the current published administrative policies and practices of the Canada Revenue Agency. There can be no assurance that any Tax Proposals will be implemented in their current form or at all. This summary does not otherwise take into account or anticipate any changes in law or administrative policies and practices, whether by legislative, administrative or judicial action nor does it take into account provincial, territorial or foreign tax legislation or considerations, which may differ significantly from those discussed herein.

This summary is not exhaustive of all possible Canadian federal income tax considerations applicable to an investment in the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes. Moreover, the income and other tax consequences of acquiring, holding or disposing of the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes will vary depending on the Holder's particular circumstances, including the province or territory, or provinces or territories, in which the Holder resides or carries on business. Accordingly, this summary is of a general nature only and is not intended to be legal or tax advice to any particular Holder, and no representations with respect to the income tax consequences to any Holder are made. Investors should consult their own tax advisors for advice with respect to the tax consequences of an investment in the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes based on their particular circumstances. This summary does not address any tax considerations applicable to persons other than Holders and such persons should consult their own tax advisors regarding the consequences of acquiring, holding and disposing of Series 2018-1 Senior Notes under the Tax Act and any jurisdiction in which they may be subject to tax.

Foreign Exchange

For purposes of the Tax Act, all amounts relating to the acquisition, holding or disposition of Series 2018-1 Senior Notes must be expressed in Canadian dollars, including any interest, adjusted cost base and proceeds of disposition. For purposes of the Tax Act, amounts denominated in a currency other than the Canadian dollar generally must be converted into Canadian dollars in accordance with the Tax Act on the date such amounts first arose. A Holder may realize a capital gain or a capital loss on the disposition or deemed disposition of a Series 2018-1 Senior Note by virtue of fluctuations in the value of the U.S. dollar relative to the Canadian dollar. The amount of interest or other amounts required to be included in computing the Holder's income for a taxation year will also be affected by fluctuations in the U.S. dollar relative to the Canadian dollar.

Interest on Series 2018-1 Senior Notes

A Holder that is a corporation, partnership, unit trust or any trust of which a corporation or partnership is a beneficiary will be required to include in computing its income for a taxation year all interest on the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes that accrues or is deemed to accrue to such Holder to the end of the particular taxation year or that becomes receivable or is received by the Holder before the end of that taxation year, including on a redemption or repayment on maturity, except to the extent that such interest was included in computing the Holder's income for a preceding taxation year.

Any other Holder, including an individual, will be required to include in computing its income for a taxation year all interest on the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes that is received or receivable by the Holder in that taxation year (depending upon the method regularly followed by the Holder in computing income), including on a redemption, purchase for cancellation, or repayment on maturity, except to the extent that the interest was included in the Holder's income for a preceding taxation year.

Any premium paid by the Issuer to a Holder on the redemption of a Series 2018-1 Senior Note or a purchase for cancellation of a Series 2018-1 Senior Note (other than in the open market in the manner any such obligation would normally be purchased in the open market by any member of the public), will generally be deemed to be interest received at the time by the Holder to the extent that such premium can reasonably be considered to relate to, and does not exceed the value at the time of the redemption of or purchase for cancellation of, the interest that, would have been paid or payable by the Issuer on the Series 2018-1 Senior Note for a taxation year ending after the redemption or purchase for cancellation, and to the extent such premium was not otherwise included in computing the Holder's income for that taxation year or a previous taxation year.

Where a Holder is required to include in income interest on a Series 2018-1 Senior Note that accrued before such Series 2018-1 Senior Note was acquired by the Holder, the Holder will be entitled to a deduction in computing income of an equivalent amount. The adjusted cost base to the Holder of the Series 2018-1 Senior Note will be reduced by the amount which is so deductible.

If a Series 2018-1 Senior Note is purchased by a Holder at a discount from its face value, the Holder may be required to include an amount equal to such discount in computing income, either in accordance with the deemed interest accrual rules contained in the Tax Act and Regulations or in the taxation year in which an amount in respect of the discount is received or receivable by the Holder. Holders should consult their own tax advisors in these circumstances as the treatment of the discount may vary with the facts and circumstances giving rise to the discount.

Disposition of Series 2018-1 Senior Notes

On a disposition or deemed disposition of a Series 2018-1 Senior Note (including a redemption, purchase for cancellation or repayment at maturity), a Holder will generally be required to include in income any premium deemed to be interest and the amount of interest accrued, or deemed to have accrued, on the Series 2018-1 Senior Note from the date of the last interest payment to the date of disposition to the extent that such amount has not otherwise been included in the Holder's income for the taxation year or a previous taxation year.

A disposition or deemed disposition by a Holder of a Series 2018-1 Senior Note will generally result in the Holder realizing a capital gain (or capital loss) equal to the amount by which the proceeds of disposition, net of any accrued interest or any amount deemed to be interest, exceed (or are exceeded by) the aggregate of the Holder's adjusted cost base thereof and any reasonable costs of disposition.

One half of any capital gain (a "taxable capital gain") generally must be included in the Holder's income for the taxation year of the disposition, and one half of any capital loss (an "allowable capital loss") realized in a taxation year must be deducted from taxable capital gains realized in that year. Allowable capital losses in excess of taxable capital gains realized in a taxation year may be deducted from net taxable capital gains realized in the three preceding taxation years or any subsequent taxation year, subject to detailed rules contained in the Tax Act in this regard. A capital gain realized by an individual (other than certain specified trusts) may give rise to a liability for alternative minimum tax.

Eligibility for Investment

The Series 2018-1 Senior Notes would, if acquired on the date hereof and if they (i) are issued as part of a single issue of debt of at least $25 million and (ii) have an investment grade rating with certain rating agencies prescribed under the Tax Act, be qualified investments under the Tax Act for a trust governed by a registered retirement savings plan ("RRSP"), registered retirement income fund ("RRIF"), registered education savings plan ("RESP"), registered disability savings plan ("RDSP"), tax free savings account ("TFSA") and deferred profit sharing plan ("DPSP") (except for a trust governed by a DPSP to which the Issuer has made a contribution).

Even if the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes may be qualified investments for a trust governed by an RRSP, RRIF, RESP, RDSP or TFSA, if the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes are "prohibited investments" (as defined in section 207.01 of the Tax Act) for an RRSP, RRIF, RESP, RDSP or TFSA, then a holder of the TFSA or RDSP, a subscriber of the RESP or an annuitant of the RRSP or RRIF, as the case may be, will be subject to a penalty tax as set out in the Tax Act. The Series 2018-1 Senior Notes would not be prohibited investments on the date hereof, provided (i) the holder of the TFSA or RDSP, the subscriber of the RESP or the annuitant of the RRSP or RRIF, as the case may be, deals at arm's length with the Issuer within the meaning of the Tax Act, and (ii) does not have a "significant interest" within the meaning of subsection 207.01(4) of the Tax Act in the Issuer. Investors intending to hold the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes in a TFSA, RRSP, RRIF, RESP or RDSP should consult their own advisors as to whether the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes would be a prohibited investment in their particular circumstances.

RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN THE ISSUER AND THE AGENTS

CIBC World Markets Inc., RBC Dominion Securities Inc. and Goldman Sachs Canada Inc. are each, directly or indirectly, a wholly-owned or majority-owned subsidiary or affiliate of a financial institution which is a lender to the Issuer and to which the Issuer is currently indebted under the terms of the Warehouse Facilities. The Issuer may use a portion of the net proceeds of the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes Offering to repay certain indebtedness under the Warehouse Facilities. Consequently, the Issuer may be considered to be a "connected issuer" of certain of the Agents under applicable Canadian securities legislation. As of the date of this Term Sheet, the Issuer is in compliance with the terms of its indebtedness under the Warehouse Facilities. Since the indebtedness under the Warehouse Facilities was incurred, the financial position of the Issuer has not materially changed. As of ●, 2018, the Issuer had approximately $● outstanding under the Warehouse Facilities. CIBC World Markets Inc., RBC Dominion Securities Inc. and Goldman Sachs Canada Inc. have each advised that the decision to act as Agents for the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes Offering was made independently of the lenders under the Warehouse Facilities and the lenders had no influence as to the determination of the terms of the distribution. None of CIBC World Markets Inc., RBC Dominion Securities Inc. and Goldman Sachs Canada Inc. will receive any benefit in connection with the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes Offering other than its respective portion of the Agents' commission payable by the Issuer.

LEGAL MATTERS

Certain Canadian legal matters in connection with the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes Offering will be passed upon by Torys LLP on behalf of the Issuer and by Osler, Hoskin & Harcourt LLP on behalf of the Agents.

CONFIDENTIAL SHELF OFFERING MEMORANDUM

New Issue By Way of Private Placement — January 22, 2018

FAIR HYDRO TRUST

Senior Secured Notes

Fair Hydro Trust (the "Issuer"), a special purpose trust established under the laws of the Province of Ontario by Computershare Trust Company of Canada, acting as trustee of the Issuer, and caused to be established by Ontario Power Generation Inc. ("OPG"), as Financial Services Manager (as hereinafter defined), has created a program providing for the offering and issuance of senior secured notes (the "Senior Notes"), in one or several offerings. The Issuer was established in connection with the Ontario Fair Hydro Plan Act, 2017 (together with the regulations promulgated thereunder, the "FHPA"). Under the FHPA, OPG is appointed as financial services manager (in such capacity, the "Financial Services Manager") and is given the authority to, among other things, establish, or cause to be established, one or more financing entities (each, a "Financing Entity") to incur payment obligations (referred to as "Funding Obligations") for the purposes prescribed under the FHPA. The Issuer is a Financing Entity under the FHPA and the Senior Notes are Funding Obligations being offered for the purposes of the FHPA.

The Senior Notes do not constitute a debt, liability or other obligation of, or interest in, OPG or any of its other affiliates (other than the Issuer). The Senior Notes are not a debt, liability or obligation of the Province of Ontario or any of its political subdivisions, agencies or instrumentalities. The Senior Notes will not be insured or guaranteed by the Province of Ontario, OPG or any of their respective affiliates or any other person or entity, except that the Province of Ontario has agreed to provide a limited guarantee in respect of the Senior Notes following the occurrence of certain events. See "Change of Law Protection Agreement". The Senior Notes will be limited recourse obligations, secured only by the collateral described in this confidential shelf offering memorandum. See "Capital Markets Platform — Acceleration and Remedies — Limited Recourse" and "Risk Factors".

The specific terms of any offering of Senior Notes, including, without limitation, the aggregate principal amount of Senior Notes being offered, the currency of the Senior Notes, the issue price (at par, at a discount or at a premium), the issue, delivery and maturity dates, any redemption or repayment provisions, the rating of the Senior Notes at the time of such offering, the interest (either fixed or floating and the circumstances, if any, under which the rate may be adjusted), the interest rate basis and interest payment dates, will be established by the Issuer and set forth in a term sheet (a "Term Sheet") that will accompany, be incorporated by reference in and form an integral part of this

Other Statutory Protections

The FHPA provides certain protection and assurances in respect of the obligations of Specified Consumers to pay amounts in respect of the Clean Energy Adjustment. Generally, no action or omission by the OEB, the Minister of Energy or the Crown, and no regulation under the FHPA, will be effective to reduce, impair, postpone or terminate the obligations of Specified Consumers to pay amounts in respect of the Clean Energy Adjustment or to impair or postpone the invoicing, collection or remittance of the Clean Energy Adjustment. If an Electricity Vendor, the IESO or the Financial Services Manager, has failed, or will fail, to comply with the FHPA, the Issuer may apply to an Ontario court to make an order directing such party to comply and requiring compensation to be provided to the Issuer by such non-compliant party. Additional contractual protections are provided in the Change of Law Protection Agreement described below.

CHANGE OF LAW PROTECTION AGREEMENT

The following brief summary of certain provisions of the Change of Law Protection Agreement does not purport to be comprehensive or definitive. All references in this confidential shelf offering memorandum to the Change of Law Protection Agreement are qualified in their entirety by reference to the Change of Law Protection Agreement and the detailed provisions thereof. The Change of Law Protection Agreement may be reviewed at the principal office of the ~~Issuer Trustee~~Manager in Toronto, Ontario during normal business hours while any Senior Notes are outstanding.

Pursuant to the Change of Law Protection Agreement, upon a Protection Event and delivery by the Indenture Trustee of a written payment demand, the Province of Ontario is required to make payments of amounts that are due and payable in respect of all Approved Obligations when due and payable into the Protection Account. The Issuer and Indenture Trustee must ensure that amounts deposited into the Protection Account are applied to pay Specified Creditors to whom amounts are due and payable under an Approved Obligation in accordance with the provisions of the Master Trust Indenture. See "Capital Markets Platform". The Province of Ontario's obligation to make such payments under the Change of Law Protection Agreement upon a Protection Event and delivery by the Indenture Trustee of a written payment demand is referred to as the "Limited Guarantee".

The payment obligations of the Province of Ontario under the Limited Guarantee differ depending on whether an Acceleration has occurred. If no Acceleration has occurred in respect of any Senior Notes on or before a date on which the Province of Ontario is to perform the Limited Guarantee, the Change of Law Protection Agreement provides that the Province of Ontario is to pay the amounts due and payable on such date in respect of Approved Obligations. If an Acceleration has occurred in respect of any Senior Notes on or before a date on which the Province of Ontario is to perform the Limited Guarantee, the Province of Ontario is to pay the amounts that would be available to be paid on such date in respect of the Approved Obligation on an applicable payment date in respect of the Approved Obligation under the applicable payment provisions of the Master Trust Indenture, determined on the assumption that the amount available for allocation to Specified Creditors in accordance with such applicable payment provisions of the Master Trust Indenture in respect of each relevant month during each Reference Period is equal to the estimated Finance Amount determined in respect of such Reference Period, divided by the number of months in such Reference Period. See "Capital Markets Platform — Acceleration and Remedies — Limitation on Available Amounts on Acceleration" for a description of the amounts that would be available to be paid under the Master Trust Indenture in such circumstances.

The Province of Ontario is not obligated to pay or indemnify the Indenture Trustee or any Specified Creditor for consequential, special or punitive damages, or for economic loss or loss of profits (provided that economic loss does not include payments of amounts that are due and payable in respect of the Senior Notes).

Under the Change of Law Protection Agreement, the right to deliver a written payment demand on occurrence of a Protection Event to enforce the Limited Guarantee is the only remedy available to the Indenture Trustee (and to Specified Creditors, to the extent they are permitted to exercise any rights, interests or elections under and in accordance with the Master Trust Indenture). Specified Creditors are not permitted to exercise any rights, interests, or elections under the Change of Law Protection Agreement, other than in the manner and to the extent effected and exercised under, in accordance with and subject to the limitations set forth in the Master Trust Indenture as at December 21, 2017.

THE ISSUER

The Issuer is an unincorporated open-ended unit trust established under the laws of the Province of Ontario pursuant to the Declaration of Trust. The beneficial interest and rights generally of the Unitholders in the Issuer are limited to the right to participate in distributions when and as declared by the Issuer Trustee and distributions upon the termination of the Issuer. The legal ownership of the trust property and the right to conduct the activities of the Issuer are vested exclusively in the Issuer Trustee and no Unitholder has any right of ownership in any of the trust property. The Unitholders will also not be subject to any liability arising out of the activities of the Issuer.

CAPITAL MARKETS PLATFORM

The Financial Services Manager has developed a Financing Plan for the Issuer which encompasses an ongoing program which allows for the issuance of a variety of short and long term debt, as well as interest rate and currency swaps and other hedging instruments.

The Master Trust Indenture establishes common security and a set of common covenants given by the Issuer for the benefit of all of its creditors. Notes are issued under Supplemental Indentures and in certain cases, Terms Documents. Borrowings are incurred pursuant to liquidity agreements or loan agreements. Notes and Borrowings incurred by the Issuer are Issuer Funding Obligations. Each Issuer Funding Obligation will be part of a Class and Series of Issuer Funding Obligations, and may include one or more Tranches. A Class designation determines the relative seniority for receipt of cash flows. See "— Subordination Provisions", "— Payment Waterfalls Prior to Acceleration" and "— Acceleration and Remedies — Payment Waterfall Upon Acceleration". Tranches of Issuer Funding Obligations may differ from each other as to the interest rate, maturity and the timing, sequential order and amount of payments of principal or interest, or both.

The following summary of the principal provisions contained in the Master Trust Indenture does not purport to be comprehensive or definitive. This overview summarizes certain provisions of the Master Trust Indenture and omits descriptions of many provisions which may be considered to be of a customary nature. Good morning,
A process certificate was received in the DMO from OPG. A scan is being sent to me – does anyone have a view that the scan should go to someone else here? Or are you comfortable with me forwarding it on to this group once I receive it?
Anna

Hi Dave,
Would you please scan it and send a copy to me and also to Anna Strathy? Anna: please confirm if it should be sent to you or someone else at the OFA. We do have an advance copy but think it would be prudent for you to scan and send the one you receive to us.
The delivery of this certificate is a requirement of the Process Agreement entered into by the Province and the Fair Hydro Trust in order to keep the Province advised of the Fair Hydro Trust obligations that are covered by the Province's Change of Law Assurance Agreement. Fair Hydro Trust is required to deliver the certificate prior to entering into the obligations (i.e. the closing date) and confirm a number of items to the Province including the material terms and that they are to be issued under terms and conditions substantially similar to the terms of reference documentation for the program, that the terms are in compliance with law and the Financing Plan, are of a type and terms that a reasonably prudent financial services manager would incur in similar circumstances and reflect arm's length terms and conditions.
As part of the closing of the term deal by Fair Hydro Trust, the Trust must confirm that it has delivered the certificate to the Province.
If you have any other questions please let us know.
Thank you.

Alena, Malle and Toby, hope you are all well. In case you have not been made aware, we wanted to let you know that we are closing the Fair Hydro Trust term deal tomorrow morning and will be delivering, on behalf of OPG, the required process certificate by fax to the attention of the Ministers and Deputy Ministers later today. As with the warehouse closing, Brett Saulnier from Torys will send all of you an email with a PDF of the signed process certificate and accompanying cover letter for your records.

Just FYI, you will see that the cover letter will also reference the delivery (pursuant to Section 2.01(c) of the process agreement) of a brief 2-page agreement that will be entered into between the Trust and the warehouse lenders on closing tomorrow which simply permits delivery of the decrease notice 2 business days prior to closing and repayment of the warehouse notes on a day other than the 15th business day of the month.

Thanks,
Rima

CERTAIN CANADIAN FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSIDERATIONS

In the opinion of Torys LLP and Osler, Hoskin & Harcourt LLP, the following summary describes the principal Canadian federal income tax considerations generally applicable under the Income Tax Act (Canada) (the "Tax Act") to a holder who acquires Series 2018-1 Senior Notes as beneficial owner pursuant to the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes Offering and who, for purposes of the Tax Act and at all relevant times, deals at arm's length and is not affiliated with the Issuer, and holds Series 2018-1 Senior Notes as capital property (a "Holder"). Generally, the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes will be capital property to a Holder provided that the Holder does not acquire or hold the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes in the course of carrying on a business or as part of an adventure or concern in the nature of trade. Certain holders who might not otherwise be considered to hold their Series 2018-1 Senior Notes as capital property may, in certain circumstances, be entitled to treat their Series 2018-1 Senior Notes and any other "Canadian security" (as defined in the Tax Act) owned by them in the taxation year of the election and all subsequent taxation years as capital property by making the irrevocable election permitted by subsection 39(4) of the Tax Act. Such holders are advised to consult their own tax advisors to determine whether such an election is available and desirable in their particular circumstances.

This summary is not applicable to a holder: (i) that is a "financial institution" (as defined in the Tax Act for purposes of the "mark to market property" and "specified debt obligation" rules); (ii) an interest in which is a "tax shelter investment" (as defined in the Tax Act); (iii) that reports its "Canadian tax results" (as defined in the Tax Act) in a currency other than Canadian dollars; or (iv) that has entered into or will enter into a "derivative forward agreement" as defined in the Tax Act in respect of the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes. Any such holders should consult their own tax advisors with respect to an investment in the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes. In addition, this summary does not address the deductibility of interest by a holder who has borrowed money to acquire Series 2018-1 Senior Notes.

On July 18, 2017, the Minister of Finance (Canada) released a consultation paper that included an announcement of its intention to amend the Tax Act to increase the amount of tax applicable to passive investment income earned through a private corporation. No specific amendments to the Tax Act were proposed in connection with this announcement and this summary does not consider the implications of this announcement. On October 18, 2017, the Minister of Finance (Canada) announced that the government intends to move forward with the planned amendments subject to further developments to address concerns of business owners the details of which are not yet available. Holders that are private corporations should consult their own tax advisors regarding the implications of these announcements with respect to their particular circumstances.

This summary is based upon the facts set out in the confidential shelf offering memorandum, the current provisions of the Tax Act and the regulations thereunder (the "Regulations"), all specific proposals to amend the Tax Act and the Regulations publicly announced by or on behalf of the Minister of Finance (Canada) prior to the date hereof (the "Tax Proposals") and counsel's understanding of the current published administrative policies and practices of the Canada Revenue Agency. There can be no assurance that any Tax Proposals will be implemented in their current form or at all. This summary does not otherwise take into account or anticipate any changes in law or administrative policies and practices, whether by legislative, administrative or judicial action nor does it take into account provincial, territorial or foreign tax legislation or considerations, which may differ significantly from those discussed herein.

This summary is not exhaustive of all possible Canadian federal income tax considerations applicable to an investment in the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes. Moreover, the income and other tax consequences of acquiring, holding or disposing of the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes will vary depending on the Holder's particular circumstances, including the province or territory, or provinces or territories, in which the Holder resides or carries on business. Accordingly, this summary is of a general nature only and is not intended to be legal or tax advice to any particular Holder, and no representations with respect to the income tax consequences to any Holder are made. Investors should consult their own tax advisors for advice with respect to the tax consequences of an investment in the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes based on their particular circumstances. This summary does not address any tax considerations applicable to persons other than Holders and such persons should consult their own tax advisors regarding the consequences of acquiring, holding and disposing of Series 2018-1 Senior Notes under the Tax Act and any jurisdiction in which they may be subject to tax.

Foreign Exchange

For purposes of the Tax Act, all amounts relating to the acquisition, holding or disposition of Series 2018-1 Senior Notes must be expressed in Canadian dollars, including any interest, adjusted cost base and proceeds of disposition. For purposes of the Tax Act, amounts denominated in a currency other than the Canadian dollar generally must be converted into Canadian dollars in accordance with the Tax Act on the date such amounts first arose. A Holder may realize a capital gain or a capital loss on the disposition or deemed disposition of a Series 2018-1 Senior Note by virtue of fluctuations in the value of the U.S. dollar relative to the Canadian dollar. The amount of interest or other amounts required to be included in computing the Holder's income for a taxation year will also be affected by fluctuations in the U.S. dollar relative to the Canadian dollar.

Interest on Series 2018-1 Senior Notes

A Holder that is a corporation, partnership, unit trust or any trust of which a corporation or partnership is a beneficiary will be required to include in computing its income for a taxation year all interest on the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes that accrues or is deemed to accrue to such Holder to the end of the particular taxation year or that becomes receivable or is received by the Holder before the end of that taxation year, including on a redemption or repayment on maturity, except to the extent that such interest was included in computing the Holder's income for a preceding taxation year.

Any other Holder, including an individual, will be required to include in computing its income for a taxation year all interest on the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes that is received or receivable by the Holder in that taxation year (depending upon the method regularly followed by the Holder in computing income), including on a redemption, purchase for cancellation, or repayment on maturity, except to the extent that the interest was included in the Holder's income for a preceding taxation year.

Any premium paid by the Issuer to a Holder on the redemption of a Series 2018-1 Senior Note or a purchase for cancellation of a Series 2018-1 Senior Note (other than in the open market in the manner any such obligation would normally be purchased in the open market by any member of the public), will generally be deemed to be interest received at the time by the Holder to the extent that such premium can reasonably be considered to relate to, and does not exceed the value at the time of the redemption of or purchase for cancellation of, the interest that, would have been paid or payable by the Issuer on the Series 2018-1 Senior Note for a taxation year ending after the redemption or purchase for cancellation, and to the extent such premium was not otherwise included in computing the Holder's income for that taxation year or a previous taxation year.

Where a Holder is required to include in income interest on a Series 2018-1 Senior Note that accrued before such Series 2018-1 Senior Note was acquired by the Holder, the Holder will be entitled to a deduction in computing income of an equivalent amount. The adjusted cost base to the Holder of the Series 2018-1 Senior Note will be reduced by the amount which is so deductible.

If a Series 2018-1 Senior Note is purchased by a Holder at a discount from its face value, the Holder may be required to include an amount equal to such discount in computing income, either in accordance with the deemed interest accrual rules contained in the Tax Act and Regulations or in the taxation year in which an amount in respect of the discount is received or receivable by the Holder. Holders should consult their own tax advisors in these circumstances as the treatment of the discount may vary with the facts and circumstances giving rise to the discount.

Disposition of Series 2018-1 Senior Notes

On a disposition or deemed disposition of a Series 2018-1 Senior Note (including a redemption, purchase for cancellation or repayment at maturity), a Holder will generally be required to include in income any premium deemed to be interest and the amount of interest accrued, or deemed to have accrued, on the Series 2018-1 Senior Note from the date of the last interest payment to the date of disposition to the extent that such amount has not otherwise been included in the Holder's income for the taxation year or a previous taxation year.

A disposition or deemed disposition by a Holder of a Series 2018-1 Senior Note will generally result in the Holder realizing a capital gain (or capital loss) equal to the amount by which the proceeds of disposition, net of any accrued interest or any amount deemed to be interest, exceed (or are exceeded by) the aggregate of the Holder's adjusted cost base thereof and any reasonable costs of disposition.

One half of any capital gain (a "taxable capital gain") generally must be included in the Holder's income for the taxation year of the disposition, and one half of any capital loss (an "allowable capital loss") realized in a taxation year must be deducted from taxable capital gains realized in that year. Allowable capital losses in excess of taxable capital gains realized in a taxation year may be deducted from net taxable capital gains realized in the three preceding taxation years or any subsequent taxation year, subject to detailed rules contained in the Tax Act in this regard. A capital gain realized by an individual (other than certain specified trusts) may give rise to a liability for alternative minimum tax.

Eligibility for Investment

The Series 2018-1 Senior Notes would, if acquired on the date hereof and if they (i) are issued as part of a single issue of debt of at least $25 million and (ii) have an investment grade rating with certain rating agencies prescribed under the Tax Act, be qualified investments under the Tax Act for a trust governed by a registered retirement savings plan ("RRSP"), registered retirement income fund ("RRIF"), registered education savings plan ("RESP"), registered disability savings plan ("RDSP"), tax free savings account ("TFSA") and deferred profit sharing plan ("DPSP") (except for a trust governed by a DPSP to which the Issuer has made a contribution).

Even if the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes may be qualified investments for a trust governed by an RRSP, RRIF, RESP, RDSP or TFSA, if the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes are "prohibited investments" (as defined in section 207.01 of the Tax Act) for an RRSP, RRIF, RESP, RDSP or TFSA, then a holder of the TFSA or RDSP, a subscriber of the RESP or an annuitant of the RRSP or RRIF, as the case may be, will be subject to a penalty tax as set out in the Tax Act. The Series 2018-1 Senior Notes would not be prohibited investments on the date hereof, provided (i) the holder of the TFSA or RDSP, the subscriber of the RESP or the annuitant of the RRSP or RRIF, as the case may be, deals at arm's length with the Issuer within the meaning of the Tax Act, and (ii) does not have a "significant interest" within the meaning of subsection 207.01(4) of the Tax Act in the Issuer. Investors intending to hold the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes in a TFSA, RRSP, RRIF, RESP or RDSP should consult their own advisors as to whether the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes would be a prohibited investment in their particular circumstances.

RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN THE ISSUER AND THE AGENTS

CIBC World Markets Inc., RBC Dominion Securities Inc. and Goldman Sachs Canada Inc. are each, directly or indirectly, a wholly-owned or majority-owned subsidiary or affiliate of a financial institution which is a lender to the Issuer and to which the Issuer is currently indebted under the terms of the Warehouse Facilities. The Issuer may use a portion of the net proceeds of the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes Offering to repay certain indebtedness under the Warehouse Facilities. Consequently, the Issuer may be considered to be a "connected issuer", of certain of the Agents under applicable Canadian securities legislation. As of the date of this Term Sheet, the Issuer is in compliance with the terms of its indebtedness under the Warehouse Facilities. Since the indebtedness under the Warehouse Facilities was incurred, the financial position of the Issuer has not materially changed. As of ●, the Issuer had approximately $● billion outstanding under the Warehouse Facilities. CIBC World Markets Inc., RBC Dominion Securities Inc. and Goldman Sachs Canada Inc. have each advised that the decision to act as Agents for the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes Offering was made independently of the lenders under the Warehouse Facilities and the lenders had no influence as to the determination of the terms of the distribution. None of CIBC World Markets Inc., RBC Dominion Securities Inc. and Goldman Sachs Canada Inc. will receive any benefit in connection with the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes Offering other than its respective portion of the Agents' fee payable by the Issuer

Certain Canadian legal matters in connection with the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes Offering will be passed upon by Torys LLP on behalf of the Issuer and by Osler, Hoskin & Harcourt LLP on behalf of the Agents.

CERTAIN CANADIAN FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSIDERATIONS

In the opinion of Torys LLP and Osler, Hoskin & Harcourt LLP, the following summary describes the principal Canadian federal income tax considerations generally applicable under the Income Tax Act (Canada) (the "Tax Act") to a holder who acquires Series 2018-1 Senior Notes as beneficial owner pursuant to the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes Offering and who, for purposes of the Tax Act and at all relevant times, deals at arm's length and is not affiliated with the Issuer, and holds Series 2018-1 Senior Notes as capital property (a "Holder"). Generally, the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes will be capital property to a Holder provided that the Holder does not acquire or hold the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes in the course of carrying on a business or as part of an adventure or concern in the nature of trade. Certain holders who might not otherwise be considered to hold their Series 2018-1 Senior Notes as capital property may, in certain circumstances, be entitled to treat their Series 2018-1 Senior Notes and any other "Canadian security" (as defined in the Tax Act) owned by them in the taxation year of the election and all subsequent taxation years as capital property by making the irrevocable election permitted by subsection 39(4) of the Tax Act. Such holders are advised to consult their own tax advisors to determine whether such an election is available and desirable in their particular circumstances.

This summary is not applicable to a holder: (i) that is a "financial institution" (as defined in the Tax Act for purposes of the "mark to market property" and "specified debt obligation" rules); (ii) an interest in which is a "tax shelter investment" (as defined in the Tax Act); (iii) that reports its "Canadian tax results" (as defined in the Tax Act) in a currency other than Canadian dollars; or (iv) that has entered into or will enter into a "derivative forward agreement" as defined in the Tax Act in respect of the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes. Any such holders should consult their own tax advisors with respect to an investment in the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes. In addition, this summary does not address the deductibility of interest by a holder who has borrowed money to acquire Series 2018-1 Senior Notes.

On July 18, 2017, the Minister of Finance (Canada) released a consultation paper that included an announcement of its intention to amend the Tax Act to increase the amount of tax applicable to passive investment income earned through a private corporation. No specific amendments to the Tax Act were proposed in connection with this announcement and this summary does not consider the implications of this announcement. On October 18, 2017, the Minister of Finance (Canada) announced that the government intends to move forward with the planned amendments subject to further developments to address concerns of business owners the details of which are not yet available. Holders that are private corporations should consult their own tax advisors regarding the implications of these announcements with respect to their particular circumstances.

This summary is based upon the facts set out in the confidential shelf offering memorandum, the current provisions of the Tax Act and the regulations thereunder (the "Regulations"), all specific proposals to amend the Tax Act and the Regulations publicly announced by or on behalf of the Minister of Finance (Canada) prior to the date hereof (the "Tax Proposals") and counsel's understanding of the current published administrative policies and practices of the Canada Revenue Agency. There can be no assurance that any Tax Proposals will be implemented in their current form or at all. This summary does not otherwise take into account or anticipate any changes in law or administrative policies and practices, whether by legislative, administrative or judicial action nor does it take into account provincial, territorial or foreign tax legislation or considerations, which may differ significantly from those discussed herein.

This summary is not exhaustive of all possible Canadian federal income tax considerations applicable to an investment in the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes. Moreover, the income and other tax consequences of acquiring, holding or disposing of the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes will vary depending on the Holder's particular circumstances, including the province or territory, or provinces or territories, in which the Holder resides or carries on business. Accordingly, this summary is of a general nature only and is not intended to be legal or tax advice to any particular Holder, and no representations with respect to the income tax consequences to any Holder are made. Investors should consult their own tax advisors for advice with respect to the tax consequences of an investment in the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes based on their particular circumstances. This summary does not address any tax considerations applicable to persons other than Holders and such persons should consult their own tax advisors regarding the consequences of acquiring, holding and disposing of Series 2018-1 Senior Notes under the Tax Act and any jurisdiction in which they may be subject to tax.

Foreign Exchange

For purposes of the Tax Act, all amounts relating to the acquisition, holding or disposition of Series 2018-1 Senior Notes must be expressed in Canadian dollars, including any interest, adjusted cost base and proceeds of disposition. For purposes of the Tax Act, amounts denominated in a currency other than the Canadian dollar generally must be converted into Canadian dollars in accordance with the Tax Act on the date such amounts first arose. A Holder may realize a capital gain or a capital loss on the disposition or deemed disposition of a Series 2018-1 Senior Note by virtue of fluctuations in the value of the U.S. dollar relative to the Canadian dollar. The amount of interest or other amounts required to be included in computing the Holder's income for a taxation year will also be affected by fluctuations in the U.S. dollar relative to the Canadian dollar.

Interest on Series 2018-1 Senior Notes

A Holder that is a corporation, partnership, unit trust or any trust of which a corporation or partnership is a beneficiary will be required to include in computing its income for a taxation year all interest on the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes that accrues or is deemed to accrue to such Holder to the end of the particular taxation year or that becomes receivable or is received by the Holder before the end of that taxation year, including on a redemption or repayment on maturity, except to the extent that such interest was included in computing the Holder's income for a preceding taxation year.

Any other Holder, including an individual, will be required to include in computing its income for a taxation year all interest on the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes that is received or receivable by the Holder in that taxation year (depending upon the method regularly followed by the Holder in computing income), including on a redemption, purchase for cancellation, or repayment on maturity, except to the extent that the interest was included in the Holder's income for a preceding taxation year.

Any premium paid by the Issuer to a Holder on the redemption of a Series 2018-1 Senior Note or a purchase for cancellation of a Series 2018-1 Senior Note (other than in the open market in the manner any such obligation would normally be purchased in the open market by any member of the public), will generally be deemed to be interest received at the time by the Holder to the extent that such premium can reasonably be considered to relate to, and does not exceed the value at the time of the redemption of or purchase for cancellation of, the interest that, would have been paid or payable by the Issuer on the Series 2018-1 Senior Note for a taxation year ending after the redemption or purchase for cancellation, and to the extent such premium was not otherwise included in computing the Holder's income for that taxation year or a previous taxation year.

Where a Holder is required to include in income interest on a Series 2018-1 Senior Note that accrued before such Series 2018-1 Senior Note was acquired by the Holder, the Holder will be entitled to a deduction in computing income of an equivalent amount. The adjusted cost base to the Holder of the Series 2018-1 Senior Note will be reduced by the amount which is so deductible.

If a Series 2018-1 Senior Note is purchased by a Holder at a discount from its face value, the Holder may be required to include an amount equal to such discount in computing income, either in accordance with the deemed interest accrual rules contained in the Tax Act and Regulations or in the taxation year in which an amount in respect of the discount is received or receivable by the Holder. Holders should consult their own tax advisors in these circumstances as the treatment of the discount may vary with the facts and circumstances giving rise to the discount.

Disposition of Series 2018-1 Senior Notes

On a disposition or deemed disposition of a Series 2018-1 Senior Note (including a redemption, purchase for cancellation or repayment at maturity), a Holder will generally be required to include in income any premium deemed to be interest and the amount of interest accrued, or deemed to have accrued, on the Series 2018-1 Senior Note from the date of the last interest payment to the date of disposition to the extent that such amount has not otherwise been included in the Holder's income for the taxation year or a previous taxation year.

A disposition or deemed disposition by a Holder of a Series 2018-1 Senior Note will generally result in the Holder realizing a capital gain (or capital loss) equal to the amount by which the proceeds of disposition, net of any accrued interest or any amount deemed to be interest, exceed (or are exceeded by) the aggregate of the Holder's adjusted cost base thereof and any reasonable costs of disposition.

One half of any capital gain (a "taxable capital gain") generally must be included in the Holder's income for the taxation year of the disposition, and one half of any capital loss (an "allowable capital loss") realized in a taxation year must be deducted from taxable capital gains realized in that year. Allowable capital losses in excess of taxable capital gains realized in a taxation year may be deducted from net taxable capital gains realized in the three preceding taxation years or any subsequent taxation year, subject to detailed rules contained in the Tax Act in this regard. A capital gain realized by an individual (other than certain specified trusts) may give rise to a liability for alternative minimum tax.

Eligibility for Investment

The Series 2018-1 Senior Notes would, if acquired on the date hereof and if they (i) are issued as part of a single issue of debt of at least $25 million and (ii) have an investment grade rating with certain rating agencies prescribed under the Tax Act, be qualified investments under the Tax Act for a trust governed by a registered retirement savings plan ("RRSP"), registered retirement income fund ("RRIF"), registered education savings plan ("RESP"), registered disability savings plan ("RDSP"), tax free savings account ("TFSA") and deferred profit sharing plan ("DPSP") (except for a trust governed by a DPSP to which the Issuer has made a contribution).

Even if the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes may be qualified investments for a trust governed by an RRSP, RRIF, RESP, RDSP or TFSA, if the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes are "prohibited investments" (as defined in section 207.01 of the Tax Act) for an RRSP, RRIF, RESP, RDSP or TFSA, then a holder of the TFSA or RDSP, a subscriber of the RESP or an annuitant of the RRSP or RRIF, as the case may be, will be subject to a penalty tax as set out in the Tax Act. The Series 2018-1 Senior Notes would not be prohibited investments on the date hereof, provided (i) the holder of the TFSA or RDSP, the subscriber of the RESP or the annuitant of the RRSP or RRIF, as the case may be, deals at arm's length with the Issuer within the meaning of the Tax Act, and (ii) does not have a "significant interest" within the meaning of subsection 207.01(4) of the Tax Act in the Issuer. Investors intending to hold the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes in a TFSA, RRSP, RRIF, RESP or RDSP should consult their own advisors as to whether the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes would be a prohibited investment in their particular circumstances.

RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN THE ISSUER AND THE AGENTS

CIBC World Markets Inc., RBC Dominion Securities Inc. and Goldman Sachs Canada Inc. are each, directly or indirectly, a wholly-owned or majority-owned subsidiary or affiliate of a financial institution which is a lender to the Issuer and to which the Issuer is currently indebted under the terms of the Warehouse Facilities. The Issuer may use a portion of the net proceeds of the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes Offering to repay certain indebtedness under the Warehouse Facilities. Consequently, the Issuer may be considered to be a "connected issuer", of certain of the Agents under applicable Canadian securities legislation. As of the date of this Term Sheet, the Issuer is in compliance with the terms of its indebtedness under the Warehouse Facilities. Since the indebtedness under the Warehouse Facilities was incurred, the financial position of the Issuer has not materially changed. As of ●, the Issuer had approximately $● billion outstanding under the Warehouse Facilities. CIBC World Markets Inc., RBC Dominion Securities Inc. and Goldman Sachs Canada Inc. have each advised that the decision to act as Agents for the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes Offering was made independently of the lenders under the Warehouse Facilities and the lenders had no influence as to the determination of the terms of the distribution. None of CIBC World Markets Inc., RBC Dominion Securities Inc. and Goldman Sachs Canada Inc. will receive any benefit in connection with the Series 2018-1 Senior Notes Offering other than its respective portion of the Agents' fee payable by the Issuer

DCM Weekly Market Update

Monday, January 22, 2018

The Canadian corporate primary market continued to be active last week with five issuers accessing the market for C$2.2 billion in aggregate proceeds. Last week's transactions were concentrated in the short-end and belly of the curve with the financial sector making up for the bulk of the volume, representing 88% of the total volume. To kick off the week, Laurentian Bank of Canada launched and priced a C$550 million 1.8-year floating rate note offering shortly after the highly anticipated Bank of Canada rate decision meeting on Wednesday. On Thursday, Toyota Credit Canada priced a C$600 million dual-tranche offering at the tight-end of guidance with RBC acting as Joint Bookrunner; both tranches generated strong investor interest to achieve attractive pricing versus secondary levels. On the same day, H&R Real Estate Investment Trust priced a C$250 million 5-year offering, while Lloyd's Banking Group returned to the Canadian market since its last issuance in 2011 with a C$750 million 7-year offering, marking the first Maple transaction of the year. Finally to end the week, Canadian Western Bank priced a C$250 million 1.5-year floating rate note. Looking ahead, primary market activity is expected to continue to be steady as market tone remains highly supportive of new issues, providing corporate issuers with attractive funding levels as they begin their 2018 funding programs.

The secondary market was active last week despite investors' focus turned towards the Bank of Canada rate decision. On the week, there was some good two-way trading activity in the short-end and the belly in financials while there was some sizeable flow in long-end telcos, utilities and infrastructure credits. Overall, corporate credit spreads closed the week generically 3bps tighter.

The Government market was busy last week with C$1.6 billion of domestic supply across four provincial offerings. There were two transactions earlier in the week prior to the Bank of Canada meeting with the Province of Alberta printing a C$700 million 2048 re-opening, including a C$200 million tranche that was privately placed, followed by the Province of Manitoba printing a C$300 million 10-year re-opening. Later in the week, Province of Quebec returned to the market with a C$500 million 2027 re-opening, and finally Saskatchewan printed an opportunistic C$100 million Jan 2021 FRN re-opening. Ontario will be releasing its Net Roadshow presentation early this week in conjunction with a potential upcoming Global SEC Registered 7-year CAD Green Bond with RBC acting as a bookrunner. In the offshore market, Alberta printed an A$50 million Apr 2028 re-opening and an A$55 million re-opening of its 3.10% Dec 14 2026 Kangaroo bond with RBC acting as Sole Lead on both deals. In secondaries, trading volumes picked up with net better selling that drove provincial spreads 2-3 bps wider across the curve with a steepening bias. In CMBs, spreads were better bid and tightened by 1-1.5bps as relative value dynamics improved.

EQUITY MARKET UPDATE

North American stock indices soared to new heights last week as accommodative policies, strong corporate earnings and evidence of economic growth spurred investor sentiment higher. Over the past year, since President Trump took office, the S&P 500 climbed more than 20% while the Dow Jones broke through the 26,000 level. Furthermore, U.S. equities indices edged further into the green despite a potential US government shutdown that became a reality over the weekend, leading to bipartisan talks continuing over the weekend on government spending and immigration to try to reach an agreement before the beginning of the week; the S&P500 rose 0.9% to 2,810 and the Dow Jones rose 1.0% to 26,072. In Canada, the S&P/TSX rose 0.3% to 16,353 as gains in the industrial and financial sectors to end the week helped offset the decline from the energy sector. In commodities, crude oil ended the week $0.93/bbl lower as surging U.S. oil production is expected to outweigh that of Russia and Saudi Arabia while gold fell $5.80 to $1,331.84/oz. On the week, the Canadian dollar depreciated 0.3% against the greenback to end at $1.2493 USDCAD.

NORTH AMERICAN RATES UPDATE

North American bond yields rose on both sides of the border last week, signaling optimism around inflation and global growth. In Canada, market participants' focus was turned towards the Bank of Canada rate decision meeting where Governor Poloz increased its benchmark rate to 1.25% following strong employment reports and optimistic business spending out of the Business Outlook Survey. However, NAFTA negotiation concerns were highlighted by the Bank of Canada and focus will turn to the January 23rd negotiation round in Montreal. On the week, the government yields increased 5-7bps in tenors below 10-year while the long-end was unchanged. South of the border, market participants did not appear too overly concerned with threats of a government shutdown as U.S. Treasury yields ended the week 7-11bps higher across all tenors; notably, the 10-year Treasury yields surpassed 2.65% for the first time since 2014. Looking ahead to the next FOMC meeting, markets are currently discarding a rate hike at the end of January but are pricing an 88% probability of a March hike.

DCM Weekly Market Update

Monday, January 29, 2018

The Canadian corporate primary market was moderately active last week with 4 transactions priced for C$2 billion in gross proceeds. The offerings in the Canadian market this week well-diversified across sectors demonstrate the continued strong demand for corporate new issues with heavily oversubscribed orderbooks supporting tight pricing, negative new issue concessions and notable post-pricing secondary performance. Also notable on the week was the very strong demand for floating rate product, with three of the week's four offerings for C$1.8 billion printed as FRNs. Dollarama was in the market with a C$300 million 3-year FRN offering with RBC acting as Lead Left Bookrunner. The transaction also capitalized on the technical bid for credit and took advantage of recent non-deal investor marketing conducted towards the end of 2017. Also in FRN product, Bank of Montreal printed a C$1 billion 5-year floating rate Covered Bond – BMO' first Canadian dollar Covered Bond – and Morgan Stanley priced a self-led C$500 million 3.75NC2.75-year TLAC-eligible Maple FRN. The Morgan Stanley offering also marks the second Maple transaction of the year and continues the momentum from last year which saw near-record Maple supply. Of note, the bonds priced largely in line with recent US$ offerings, further highlighting the continued strength of the C$ market from a global perspective. From the real estate sector, CT Real Estate Investment Trust accessed the market with a C$200 million 10-year trade, which follows their last offering of C$175 million 10-years in June 2017. Away from the primary market, Fair Hydro Trust announced cross-country marketing efforts last week to take place in Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg and Vancouver between January 29th and Feb 2nd in anticipation of an inaugural trade with RBC acting as Joint Bookrunner. Looking ahead, market tone continues to be very constructive for new issue supply as issuers evaluate the market for stable funding windows and as the roadshow calendar continues to build.

The secondary market started the week light but saw more activity over the course of the week with flows balanced and trading two-way. The week started with better buying of utilities while financial names saw good two-way flow in the belly of the curve over the next couple sessions. Short-dated deposit notes in particular traded actively through the week among financial names, while energy credits were better bid in the long end. To close the week, there was a net selling bias across select telcos and auto finance names in shorter-dated tenors. Corporate credit spreads generally closed the week 3 bps tighter.

Governments had a very active week with 5 transactions pricing for C$2.7 billion. Province of Ontario completed 2 transactions on the week, first pricing a C$600 million long-dated offering with RBC acting as Lead and then their fourth ever Green Bond with a C$1 billion new 7-year with RBC acting as Joint-Lead. This marked the first green offering of 2018 after a very active prior year in the C$ green space, which in total absorbed C$1.9 billion across 4 transactions. Montreal completed the first municipal offering of the year with a C$400 million 10-year and Province of BC completed a C$500 million 30-year re-opening with RBC acting as Lead. Province of Manitoba also completed the first issue of their new 2068 ultra-long bond for C$150 million. Secondary flows were healthy this week with good two-way trading of Provincials in the front-end and belly of the curve, while CMBs saw better selling activity in 5-years. Spreads ended the week 1bp tighter in 10-year provincials and 0.5bp wider through the rest of the curve, and CMBs closed 0.5-1bp wider.

EQUITY MARKET UPDATE

North American equity markets closed the week mixed as headlines originating from the World Economic Forum in Davos and, in particular, US President Trump's "America First" address rallied US stocks. The Dow Jones and S&P 500 indices significantly rose by 2.1% and 2.2%, respectively, to close the week at fresh all-time highs. Conversely, the Canadian stock market saw valuations decline as intense international trade negotiations continued in a sixth round in Montreal over the course of the week with investors shedding risk assets in the face of an overhanging threat of a US withdrawal from NAFTA negotiations. The S&P/TSX composite fell 0.7% and touched the lowest point since December 2017 led by declines in commodity-linked sectors including energy and materials names. In commodity markets, crude oil futures rose $2.77 to close the week at $66.14/bbl, while gold prices also rose $17.28 to finish the week at $1,349.12/oz. In currency markets, the Canadian dollar appreciated 1.5% against the US greenback to close at 1.2308 USDCAD.

NORTH AMERICAN RATES UPDATE

North American government yield curves bear flattened over the course of the week on both sides of the border as NAFTA negotiations continued and headlines surrounding a US government shutdown remained at the forefront with regard to market tone. In particular, the US government formally shutdown for two days after a failure to pass legislation to fund government operations mainly stemming from a dispute over immigration policy; however the situation was remedied when the Senate Democrats agreed to end the filibuster in exchange for continued dialogue on legislation. In the US, Treasury yields were 2-5 bps higher at the front-end of the curve, while the 10-year benchmark yield closed unchanged and the long-end of the curve fell 2bps. The Government of Canada curve shifted in sympathy with its US counterpart as the 2- to 10-year part of the curve rose 1-3bps while the 30-year benchmark yield finished 4bps lower. In international markets, the ECB left its benchmark rate unchanged during its meeting on January 25th citing uncertainties that continue to persist globally. In Canadian swap markets, the curve generally rose 0.25-0.5bps, while the 30-year rose 4.75bps.

DISCLAIMER FOR CLIENT PRICING

The indicative price is not an offer to purchase or sell any instrument or enter into, transfer and assign, or terminate any transaction, or a commitment by Royal Bank of Canada and its subsidiaries (collectively RBC) to make such an offer, or an indication of RBC's willingness to make such an offer at any time. As a general matter, and particularly in times of distressed markets or limited liquidity, an indicative price of an instrument or transaction such as the instrument or transaction for which an indicative price is being provided to you may differ substantially from a firm price of such instrument or transaction. The indicative price may vary significantly from prices or valuation estimates available from other sources. If RBC decides to quote a firm price, the firm price can differ from prior prices or valuations for the instrument or transaction and can be less favourable to you.

The indicative price does not necessarily reflect the price or valuation used by RBC for different purposes, such as accounting, internal reporting or capital adequacy purposes. The difference between the indicative price and the price or valuation used for RBC's internal purposes may be substantial and not immaterial. The provision of the indicative price to you by RBC does not bind or obligate RBC to continue to provide prices to you in regard to this product or transaction or to provide prices to you in regard to any other existing or future transactions between you and RBC. The indicative price does not in any way amend, modify, alter or restate the terms and conditions to which any existing instruments or transactions are subject. This indicative price does not commit RBC to execute any transaction with any counterparty at this price.

The indicative price is provided by way of example only, and is not intended to replace or supplant advice of your auditors, lawyers and other advisors, and does not create any relationship between RBC and you or any individual or entity at RBC by using the indicative price. The indicative price is provided without any warranty, express or implied, as to its legal effect or completeness. IN NO EVENT SHALL RBC OR ITS AGENTS OR OFFICERS BE LIABLE FOR ANY DAMAGES WHATSOEVER (INCLUDING, WITHOUT LIMITATION, DAMAGES FOR LOSS OF PROFITS, BUSINESS INTERRUPTION, LOSS OF INFORMATION) ARISING OUT OF THE USE OF OR INABILITY TO USE THE MATERIALS. You should discuss with your auditors, lawyers and other advisors whether the indicative price is adequate or appropriate for your purposes.

The information provided in this valuation (the "Information") (i) is intended for your information only and is not to be disclosed to, provided to, or used by, any other person or party; (ii) is supplied by us in good faith; and (iii) is based on information which we believe, but do not guarantee, to be accurate or complete. Hi Bonnie, Ken,
Could you please take a look at the attached Q&As that will support our Deputy and Gadi at their SCOPA appearance? Note, there are still several placeholders for input from TBS and Energy related to Pension Asset Accounting and the OFHP. We should be reviewing the Q&As on pgs 6-8 related to our debt burden and credit ratings. Please make your edits in track changes and send to me by NOON tomorrow.
Usman, I'll consolidate OFA/CEFD comments for Gadi's review.
Mike, this is just an FYI for you right now. Once we have the input from Energy on the Q&As related to the OFHP, I'll circulate to your team for review.
Thanks, Anna

Subject: For Review - SCOPA QAs

Hi all,
Please see attached draft QAs to support DM Thompson at the Standing Committee of Public Affairs later this month. These will be joint consolidated QAs with TBS and Energy. Could you please fact-check your relevant sections and get back to us by EOD tomorrow, February 2?
OFA – I've included a draft QA on the records disclosed as previously discussed. We haven't seen Energy's QA on this yet but we're including this for now as a placeholder at least. We're still ironing out the approvals process with TBS and Energy so I'll let you know more about this next week.
Please let me know if you have any questions/concerns.

Hi John,
Anthony at IESO has approached us to begin discussions on an increase to the $2B cap to the FHP. Is this a discussion that you would initially be having with IESO?
Thanks,
Sarah

We need to begin discussions in Oct 2018 on making an amendment to increase the $2B cap.
The FH Trust did not purchase this month's variance and I have no further info on if or when a purchase will occur.
IESO will be at $1.175B drawn this month.
Should I set up time to talk?

Will

Just a courtesy email …nothing to do yet.

The IESO:OFA Fair Hydro line of credit is at about $1 billion drawn out of the $2 billion max capacity.

We are drawing on avg about $200-300million/month.

The Fair Hydro Trust has not purchased the IESO's reg asset for a few months….if this continues I will be coming back to OFA to seek to increase the line of credit.

Regards.

Hi John,
Anthony at IESO has approached us to begin discussions on an increase to the $2B cap to the FHP. Is this a discussion that you would initially be having with IESO?
Thanks,

The FH Trust did not purchase this month's variance and I have no further info on if or when a purchase will occur.
IESO will be at $1.175B drawn this month.

The IESO:OFA Fair Hydro line of credit is at about $1 billion drawn out of the $2 billion max capacity.

We are drawing on avg about $200-300million/month.

The Fair Hydro Trust has not purchased the IESO's reg asset for a few months….if this continues I will be coming back to OFA to seek to increase the line of credit.

FYI.
OPG will be issuing the next tranche of the FHT senior debt tomorrow. Target size is $300-400 million.
OPG contacted Moody's to find out whether their placement of our debt on negative outlook would affect the FHT rating. OPG was told that structured finance ratings don't have outlooks, they just have a rating, so even though Moody's has directly tied the FHT rating to ours (and included it in their analysis of our debt when they put us on negative outlook yesterday - it was a small part, so far, and not the reason for the outlook change) there is no immediate ratings impact on the FHT.

Thanks Ron. Yes, I just reviewed and the quote from the OPG website that OPCD had put in, and agreed. Looks good. I'll see if Malle can have a quick look.

Hi Anna,
I thought that the response OPCD already put in looked okay. Did you want to run it by MOF Legal?

Summary

We have assigned provisional ratings to the Series 2018-1 notes (the notes) to be issued by Fair Hydro Trust (FHT or the Issuer), which was established in connection with the Ontario Fair Hydro Plan Act, 2017 (the FHPA) to finance a temporary electricity rate reduction for all residential consumers, small businesses and farms (specified consumers) in the Province of Ontario (Aa2 stable) in accordance with the terms of the FHPA and related regulations.

Specifically, FHT will purchase and finance an investment interest in a regulatory asset (the investment asset). The regulatory asset represents the right to recover the difference between (i) the reduced electricity costs paid by specified consumers in the Province of Ontario under the FHPA, and (ii) the higher actual costs payable for that electricity. All debt incurred by FHT to finance the investment interest is recoverable through a "Clean Energy Adjustment", which is a special charge (the recovery charge) to be imposed on the electricity bills of all specified consumers in the Province, starting in May 2021 and continuing through April 2047. The notes will be the first term series of utility cost recovery notes issued by FHT, which is serviced by Ontario's Independent Electricity System Operator (IESO; Aa2 stable).

This pre-sale report addresses the structure and characteristics of the proposed transaction based on the information provided to Moody's as of 19 January 2018. Investors should be aware that certain issues concerning this transaction have yet to be finalized. Upon conclusive review of all documents and legal information as well as any subsequent changes in information, Moody's will endeavor to assign definitive ratings to this transaction. The definitive ratings may differ from the provisional ratings set forth in this report. Moody's will disseminate the assignment of definitive ratings through its Client Service Desk. This report does not constitute an offer to sell or a solicitation of an offer to buy any securities, and it may not be used or circulated in connection with any such offer or solicitation.

Our provisional ratings on the notes reflect our assessment of (1) the strength of the FHPA and the related regulations authorizing the creation and recovery of the investment asset; (2) the credit enhancement in the form of a mandatory uncapped true-up mechanism; (3) the size, stability and diversity of the Province's ratepayer base; (4) the ability and experience of the IESO, as servicer, and; (5) the integral role of the Province of Ontario, and related entities, in the creation and operation of the Fair Hydro program and as guarantor to address the risk of a future adverse change in law.

The program as structured and under current law and regulations is considered to be of similar credit quality to US utility cost recovery programs rated by Moody's. However, the FHT program's 30-year term, combined with the pervasive role of the Province and its related entities in many aspects of this transaction, increase the risk that the Province could make future changes to the law or related regulations that could adversely affect the outstanding obligations under the FHT program. The Provincial guarantee is a mitigant to this risk, but it is not as robust as the constitutional protection found in similar US programs. Accordingly, we have linked the provisional ratings of the notes to the Aa2 rating of the Province. Future changes to the Province's rating will result in similar changes to the ratings of the notes.

Credit strengths

Strength of the law and regulations: The FHPA, coupled with the related regulations, permits the securitization program and protects the investment asset securing the notes. The legislation deems that the investment asset and the related rights to collection are a current and irrevocable property right and interest. In addition, the FHPA contains the typical strong true-sale and security interest provisions.

The law effectively authorizes the Issuer to recover all debt incurred by the Issuer to acquire the investment interest, plus related debt service costs and expenses of FHT, through collecting the monthly recovery charges from all existing and future specified consumers of electricity in Ontario. Ownership of the investment interest grants the Issuer the irrevocable right to impose, bill and collect non-bypassable recovery charges based on electricity usage, plus related rights, including the ability to periodically adjust the charges through a mandatory uncapped rate setting and true-up mechanism to ensure timely debt service payments until all the notes are repaid in full. In this context, "non-bypassable" means that the Issuer must levy the charges on all of the existing and future specified consumers receiving electricity distribution services in Ontario and those consumers may not legally avoid payment of such charges.

Rate Setting and true-up adjustment mechanism: The rate setting and true-up adjustment mechanism is the key form of credit enhancement supporting the notes. The legislation and the related regulations authorize a rate setting process that mandatorily adjusts the recovery charges semi-annually (and more frequently if required) to ensure timely debt service payments. The semi-annual rate setting incorporates a true-up to capture any shortfalls in collections from previous periods.

Strength of the ratepayer base: The size, economic stability and diversity of the ratepayer base in Ontario is a credit strength. The service area covers the entire province and the category of specified consumers is comprised of about five million residential and small commercial customers. There are no industrial customers included in the program, which is a credit positive because energy consumption by industrial customers is more dependent on economic conditions and therefore tends to be more volatile.

Strength of the servicer: We rate the IESO at a Aa2 with a stable outlook. The IESO is responsible for operating the real-time electricity market in Ontario. It does not have any shareholders or owners, but it is governed by an independent board of directors appointed by the Minister of Energy for the Province of Ontario.

Credit challenges

Change of law: There is no Canadian equivalent to the US protection of property rights under the federal and state constitutions. As such, the transaction is exposed to the risk of future adverse changes to the FHPA, the related regulations, the investment interest, or the recovery charges over the term of the FHT program that could reduce the ability of the Issuer to make timely payments on the notes. To help mitigate this risk, the Province has entered into a Change of Law Protection Agreement with the Issuer, under which it agrees to guarantee the debt service payments of the Issuer upon a change in law or regulation that has an adverse impact on the Issuer's ability to make all debt service payments when due.

This publication does not announce a credit rating action. For any credit ratings referenced in this publication, please see the ratings tab on the issuer/entity page on www.moodys.com for the most updated credit rating action information and rating history.

In similar US utility cost recovery transactions, the state that passes the securitization law pledges to and agrees with bondholders and the issuer that it will not 1) take or permit any action that limits, alters or impairs the value of the property right, or 2) reduce, alter or impair the charges that are imposed, collected and remitted for the benefit of the bondholders until the bonds have been repaid in full. We view it as a remote risk that the state would take legislative action that compromises its non-impairment pledge to the significant detriment of bondholders because impairment would give rise to claims under state and federal laws prohibiting impairment of contracts and reasonable reimbursement under state and federal "taking" claims.

Delayed collection period: Interest and other costs incurred by FHT prior to the start of the collection period in May 2021 will be paid monthly in advance by the IESO as servicer, as required under the regulations. The IESO will have the ability to capitalize those costs by adding them to the balance of the regulatory asset, and may subsequently recover those costs through the sale of an investment interest to FHT.

Decentralized Billing and Collection: The decentralized nature of the billing, collection and remittance process for the recovery charges gives rise to operational and cash commingling risk. All billing and collection of the monthly recovery charges will be done through local electricity distribution companies (LDCs), which under the FHPA are required to add the recovery charge to each customer's bill, then collect and remit those charges each month to the IESO as servicer for the Issuer. In Ontario, all electricity is delivered to residential and small commercial companies through LDCs, which purchase electricity through the IESO in the real-time market and sell it to customers in their respective local distribution areas. LDCs are predominantly municipally owned, and all have a regulated monopoly in their service area. Recovery charges collected by the LDCs are required to be immediately transferred to segregated accounts held in trust for FHT, remitted to the IESO on a monthly basis, and then remitted on to FHT.

Potential for insufficient collections: Collections arising from the investment interest could fall short of required distributions on the notes as a result of inaccurate forecasting of electrical consumption by the servicer, unanticipated customer delinquencies and defaults, population migration or self-generation, including solar and wind. Customers that self-generate will only be responsible for paying the charges based upon their electric consumption provided that they are connected to the electricity grid. The IESO's estimates of market demand, energy prices and growth within its service area could also be inaccurate. These concerns are substantially mitigated through the mandatory uncapped rate adjustment mechanism, in which the recovery charges are adjusted on a semi-annual basis to ensure timely debt service payments on the notes. True-up adjustments for shortfalls in collections from previous periods are incorporated into this process, and can occur on an interim basis as needed.

Ontario Electricity Industry

The Ontario electricity industry is principally comprised of three components: Generation, Transmission and Distribution. The IESO is at the center of this highly regulated market.

Asset description

The notes are secured by the Issuer's investment interest in a regulatory asset (the investment asset), which consists of all rights and interest of the Issuer under the FHPA and related regulations to impose, bill, collect and receive irrevocable, binding, non-bypassable charges based on the usage of electricity from all existing and future specified consumers receiving electricity distribution services in Ontario.

The notes are also secured by funds on deposit in the collection account and reserve accounts, the Issuer's rights under the various transaction documents, all payments on or under the pledged collateral and all proceeds arising from the pledged collateral.

The securitization law

The FHPA was passed on 1 June 2017, to reallocate certain electricity costs over time and provide rate relief to specified consumers. Further clarity on certain aspects of the FHPA were defined in subsequent regulations promulgated under the FHPA.

From 1 July 2017 until 30 April 2018, the electricity rate payable by specified consumers is the rate that results in a representative consumer being charged an invoice amount that is 25% less than the rate that would otherwise have been determined by the OEB for that period. Of the 25% reduction, 8% comes through a sales tax rebate and 17% comes from a rate reduction on the specified consumers' electricity bills.

The initial reduction runs to 30 April 2018, and rates are expected to then increase at the rate of inflation to 30 April 2019. Permitted increases after that date will be determined by the Ontario government through additional regulations, although the Province has indicated that rate increases will be held to the rate of inflation until 2021. Under the legislation, the difference between the amount invoiced to the specified consumers and the amount payable by the IESO to the generators of the related electricity is accrued in a variance account. The cumulative amount of the variance is projected to grow to a peak of just over $19 billion by 2029.

Under the FHPA, the IESO is responsible for determining the shortfall each month resulting from the rate reduction and adding this amount, together with the costs of financing the shortfall, to the balance of the variance account. Under the FHPA, the IESO has the right to recover the full balance of the variance account from specified consumers, which qualifies the variance account as a regulatory asset. The FHPA expressly permits the transfer of all or a portion of the regulatory asset to a financing entity. Under the Act, such transfer creates an investment asset, which is a current and irrevocable property right and interest, and confers the following rights to the Issuer, as the owner of the investment asset:

» The right and interest to impose, invoice, collect receive and recover a monthly recovery charge from specified consumers, including the right to determine the amount of the recovery charge in accordance with the FHPA;

» The right to receive, collect and recover any amounts of the recovery charge held by LDCs or the IESO;

» The right to enforce the duties and obligations under the FHPA of each LDC and the IESO to collect, receive and remit amounts received by it in respect of the recovery charge, including all collections and the proceeds of any enforcement action undertaken by any LDC pursuant to the FHPA.

The FHPA expressly confirms the ability of a financing entity to secure a funding obligation by granting a valid and perfected security interest over its investment interest under the Personal Property Security Act (Ontario).

The recovery charge and true-up mechanism

Under the Act, the recovery of the investment interest is to begin on 1 May 2021 and continue to 30 April 2047 through a separate charge on the electricity bill of all specified consumers. The recovery charge (referred to in the FHT program documents as the "Clean Energy Adjustment") is a non-bypassable, consumption-based charge, separate and apart from normal base rates. The charge is to be paid by all existing and future specified consumers receiving electricity distribution service in the Ontario market. No customer receiving distribution service can avoid the charge, unless they disconnect from the electricity grid.

The amount of the recovery charge is required to be calculated by Ontario Power Generation Inc. (OPG) in its role as Financial Services Manager for the Issuer in advance of each six month reference period by taking the total of the following amounts:

1. The estimated finance amount for the upcoming reference period, which is defined as the amount payable by the Issuer over the next six months in respect of principal payments (including sinking fund payments for bullet bonds), interest costs, transaction expenses, reserve account deposits and derivative payments.

2. A true-up amount that captures the difference between the finance amounts actually incurred by the financing entities and the amount previously collected from the specified consumers. The true-up amount also includes other anticipated shortfalls, taking into account historical and reasonably foreseeable differences between amounts invoiced and amounts collected due to various factors, including specified consumer defaults and delinquencies.

OPG must then notify the OEB of the total amount recoverable for each upcoming reference period. The OEB must accept this amount and will determine the rates at which specified consumers are to be invoiced to recover that amount by dividing (i) the total recoverable amount in respect of the relevant reference period by (ii) the forecasted electricity consumption provided by the IESO for specified consumers in respect of that period. The LDCs are then required to invoice specified consumers for the recovery charge by applying the rate set by the OEB, which is required to be included as a separate line item on each customer's bill.

Under the FHPA, the LDCs are required to collect the recovery charges as agent of the Issuer, deposit such amounts into a segregated trust account established for the purpose of receiving those amounts and for the benefit of the Issuer, and then remit such amounts to the IESO on a monthly basis. If a LDC does not receive payment in full for an invoice issued to a specified consumer, the LDC must allocate the payment received on a pro rata basis to the recovery charge and the other amounts payable under the particular invoice. It is a deemed condition of their licenses that LDCs comply with their obligations under the FHPA.

Recovery charges will be phased in over time, with the peak recovery periods corresponding with the timing of expected reductions in market electricity costs due to efficiencies gained from the renegotiation of expiring fixed-price generation contracts. The average monthly recovery charge is projected to represent 6.9% of the total bill for an average residential customer over the 26 year collection period and peak at 10% of the total bill. Both are comparable with other utility cost recovery transactions that we rate.

Initial financing of carrying costs

From 1 July 2017 until 30 April 2021, no recovery amounts are permitted to be collected from specified consumers, so during this period and up until 31 July 2021, the IESO is required under the FHPA and related regulations to pay and remit to the Issuer each month any interest owing on the notes plus other expenses of the Issuer.

Immediate funds for that payment will come from the IESO's $2 billion unsecured credit facility established by the Province of Ontario for this purpose, which matures in 2022. Funds advanced by the IESO will be added to the variance account and recorded as part of the regulatory asset, which may then be sold to the Issuer and become part of the Issuer's investment interest.

As backing for its payment obligation, the IESO has granted the Issuer a first-priority security interest in all of its accounts receivable.

The Provincial pledge

The FHPA deems that the investment asset and the related rights to collection are a current and irrevocable property right and interest, and that no action or omission by the OEB or the Province and no regulation under the Act will be effective to reduce, impair, postpone or terminate the obligations of specified consumers to pay amounts in respect of the recovery charge, or to impair or postpone the invoicing, collection or remittance of that recovery charge.

Notwithstanding, there is no Canadian equivalent to the US constitutional protection of property rights under the federal and state constitutions that would make it a violation of law to take an action that could impair the Issuer's right to collect the recovery charges. It is therefore possible that, for political or other reasons, the Province could make a determination that the FHPA or the related regulations should no longer be law in Ontario or that the FHPA or the regulations should be amended to limit or delay the billing of the recovery charge.

Over the medium term, we believe it's unlikely that the Province will take an action that would adversely impact the investment asset or the related rights of collection. However, over the 15-year term of the notes and 30-year term of the FHT program there is greater potential for this to occur, particularly if the recovery charge and/or electricity prices are higher than expected.

The Change of Law Protection Agreement

To protect against the risk that the Province or any other entity controlled by the Province could take a future action that could impair the rights of the noteholders, the Province of Ontario has entered into a Change of Law Protection Agreement with FHT, under which the occurrence of certain "Protection Events" will allow the Issuer and/or a majority of senior noteholders at such time to require that the Province make all debt service payments on the Notes as they become due and payable.

A "Protection Event" means any of the following:

1. The Ontario government repeals (and does not replace on an equivalent basis) or amends the FHPA in whole or part;
2. The government enacts or amends any other statute;
3. The government repeals (and does not replace on an equivalent basis) or amends the regulations made under the Act in whole or part;
4. The government an official of the government or a board or commission appointed by the government makes or amends any regulation; or,

5. There is a change in the organization or structure of the IESO or Ontario's electricity market undertaken at the initiative of the Province or an entity controlled by the Province.

in each case that adversely affects (i) the ability of the Issuer to receive amounts in respect of its investment interest so that it can pay all outstanding debt in accordance with its terms, taking into account any funds in reserve accounts and any credit enhancement and the potential effect of the true-up amount, or (ii) the Change of Law Protection Agreement or any of the agreements under which the debt arises. A Protection Event also includes a court determining that all or a portion of the FHPA or the related regulations are invalid in a way that adversely affects the ability of the Issuer to receive amounts on its investment interest so that it can pay outstanding debt in accordance with its terms.

Once invoked, the terms of the Change of Law Protection Agreement are consistent with the standards set by Moody's methodology "Rating Transactions Based on the Credit Substitution Approach: Letter of Credit-backed, Insured and Guaranteed Debts" as outlined in Exhibit 5.

Key elements of credit substitution

Mitigation of bankruptcy of Issuer	• The Province assumes all debt service payments for all approved obligations, thereby insulating Investors from the risk of an inability to pay principal and interest as due from the cash flows generated by the securitization's collateral • Amounts advanced each month by the Province for payment under the guarantee are to be deposited into a segregated account (the Protection Account) with an eligible institution in the name of the Indenture Trustee for the benefit of the noteholders • Any debt service payments that are recovered from noteholders due to preference are deemed not to have been paid, and the liability of the Province is not diminished by such payment
Sufficiency of credit support	• The payment obligation for each month is equal to the sum of the required principal payments (including sinking fund payments for bullet bonds), interest costs, Issuer expenses, and derivative payments, plus any true-up amount for prior period deficiencies
Structural provisions that provide for the timely payment of debt service	• Mechanics and timing for submitting a claim for payment and the making of such payment are clearly defined • Duties and actions of the trustee under the Protection Agreement are clearly defined
Bondholders to be paid in full if credit support expiration or termination will result in a change in credit quality	• The Change of Law Protection Agreement will remain in force until the notes are repaid in full
High quality investments that preserve funds held for the payment of debt service	• The Protection Account must be with an eligible institution in the name of the Indenture Trustee for the benefit of the noteholders • An eligible institution must have a minimum unsecured debt rating of A2/P-1 • If at any time the institution holding the Protection Account ceases to be an eligible institution, the funds must be transferred to a new Protection Account with an eligible institution within 30 days
Legally Enforceable Credit Support	• Legal opinions support that the Change of Law Protection Agreement is legal, binding and enforceable against the Province of Ontario

The service area

The size and geographic diversity of Ontario, and the inclusion in this transaction of approximately five million residential and small commercial customers is considered a key strength. Ontario covers approximately one million square kilometers (416,000 square miles), which is more than twice the size of California, and includes the cities of Toronto, Ottawa, Mississauga and Hamilton. In total, there are more than 5.1 million residential, commercial and industrial customers in Ontario, but the group of "specified consumers" participating in the Fair Hydro program numbers about five million.

Billing and Collection

The IESO will be the servicer under the FHT program, but billing and collection of the recovery charges from the specified consumers, and the remittance of those amounts to the IESO will be the responsibility of the LDCs.

There are currently 65 LDCs in Ontario, of which the majority are municipally owned, and all have a licensed, regulated monopoly for electricity distribution in their geographic service area. In Ontario, LDCs purchase about 80% of electricity sold by the IESO, which is then distributed to residential, commercial and industrial users in the LDC's respective service areas. Large industrial users directly purchase the remaining 20% of electricity from the IESO. The three largest LDCs (Hydro One, Alectra & Toronto Hydro) account for about 60% of the 5.1 million LDC customers in Ontario, and the top ten LDCs have almost 80% of the customers.

The OEB has regulatory oversight of LDCs and the authority to issue a distribution license that must be obtained by owners or operators of an electricity distribution system in Ontario. The OEB prescribes license requirements and conditions including, among other things, specified accounting records, regulatory accounting principles, separation of accounts for distribution and other activities, and requirements for rate setting and other legal filings.

LDCs are required to charge their customers for the following amounts (all of which, other than distribution rates, represent a pass-through of amounts payable to the IESO):

» Commodity Charge – The commodity charge represents the market price of electricity consumed by customers and is passed through the IESO to operators of generating stations » Transmission Rate – The transmission rate represents the costs incurred in respect of the transmission of electricity from generating stations to local distribution networks. Retail transmission rates are passed through the IESO to operators of transmission facilities.

» Regulatory Charge – The regulatory charge represents various wholesale market support costs, such as the cost of the IESO to administer the wholesale electricity system, operate the electricity market, and maintain reliable operation of the provincial grid. Wholesale charges are passed through to the IESO.

» Distribution Rate – The distribution rate is designed to recover the costs incurred by LDC in delivering electricity to customers, plus an OEB-allowed cost of capital (assuming a deemed equity level of 40%). Distribution rates are regulated by the OEB and include fixed and usage-based components, based on a forecast of LDC's customers and demand.

» Under the terms of the Act and related regulations, the recovery charge (Clean Energy Adjustment) must be added as a separate line item on each invoice issued to specified consumers.

LDCs are rate-regulated, and the OEB approves distribution rates charged by LDCs using a cost of service model, through which the OEB evaluates the cost base of the LDC and, providing those costs are prudently incurred, sets rates to allow for a recovery of those costs plus a fixed rate of return on equity (assuming a deemed equity level of 40%).

LDCs under the OEB's Retail Settlement and Distribution System Code may obtain a security deposit or letter of credit from their customers to mitigate risk of payment default. LDCs are also able to include an amount for accounts receivable write-offs within operating expenses for rate setting purposes. They can also apply for any extraordinary write-offs as a variance account adjustment to be considered by the OEB.

The OEB closely tracks the performance of each LDC on a number of measures and publishes annual scorecards for each LDC, as well as a consolidated industry comparison. Metrics tracked include service quality, operational effectiveness, public policy responsiveness and financial performance. The OEB also tracks and publishes financial data for each LDC, including the levels of arrears and write-offs, and aggregates the data so it can be tracked on a system-wide basis, as Exhibit 7 shows.

Starting in May 2021, each LDC will be required under the terms of the FHPA and corresponding regulations to add a line item to the bill of each specified consumer for the usage-based recovery charge, based on the rate set by the OEB in advance of each six month period. The legislation mandates that the recovery charge shown on an invoice issued to a specified consumer is determinative of the amount of the consumer's indebtedness, and is irrevocable on invoicing and may not be set off or bypassed.

Recovery charges received by an LDC are required to be immediately segregated into an eligible account (minimum bank rating of A2/P-1), which must be explicitly designated as a trust account for the benefit of Fair Hydro Trust. Any partial payments of invoices by a specified consumer are required to be split between the recovery charge and the electricity charge for that invoice period.

To address commingling risk, the IESO will provide a letter of credit (L/C) or performance guarantee to FHT in an amount equal to 50% of 45 days of anticipated recovery charge collections by each LDC that is unrated by Moody's or is rated non-investment grade. Moody's currently only rates one LDC, Hydro One (A3), which is the largest LDC in Ontario with approximately 25% of the total customers.

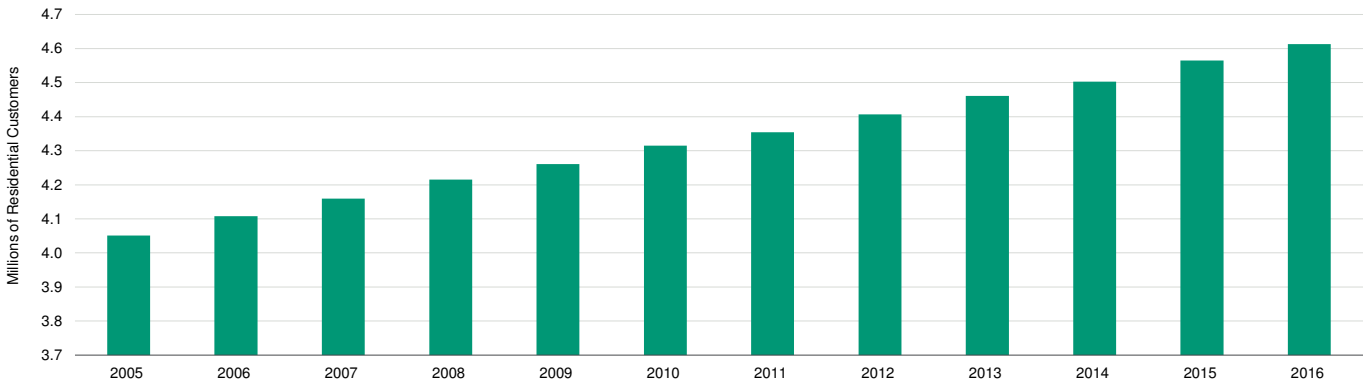
The billing and settlement process for the remittance to the IESO of the regulatory charges held by the LDCs will leverage the existing infrastructure in place for the IESO's billing and collection of monthly electricity purchases from those same LDCs.

Since 2002, LDCs and industrial purchasers of electricity in the Ontario market have been required to adhere to specific market rules under the Ontario Electricity Act. The rules are in respect of amounts owing to the IESO for the LDCs purchase of electricity, and govern the timing of payments, collateral posting, and margin calls.

On the 10th business day of each month, the IESO sends out an invoice to every LDC for the amount owing for electricity purchased in the previous month. Those invoices are required to be paid in full on the 12th business day, and then the IESO is required to pay the generators and transmitters of electricity in full on the 14th business day. As part of this process, the IESO conducts daily monitoring of all LDC's electricity market financial exposures. Since the opening of the current market in 2002, virtually all amounts due from LDCs have been collected in full on the 12th business day, and an LDC has never been in default of their payment obligations.

The monthly remittances of recovery charges from the LDCs are required to be immediately segregated by the IESO into a trust account for the benefit of FHT, before being transferred to FHT on each monthly settlement date.

Asset analysis



Strong service area

This transaction benefits from the size and diversity of the ratepayer base within Ontario and the projected population growth and economic stability of the Province. Ontario is the largest province in Canada, with a growing population of 14 million, which is up 5.4% over the past five years, and represents 38.7% of the total Canadian population. Toronto is Ontario's largest city and ranks as the fourth largest city in North America behind Mexico City, New York and Los Angeles. Since 2009, Ontario's unemployment rate has been trending down, and was 5.5% at the end of 2017, versus 5.7% for all of Canada.

Over the years 2005-2016, the number of residential electricity customers in Ontario has grown by 14% to 4.6 million in 2016 from just over 4 million in 2005.

Remote risk of severe ratepayer base declines

The Series 2018-1 bonds are exposed to the risk of declines in the ratepayer base in the Province. However, declines in the ratepayer base dramatic enough to impact the rating of the bonds are unlikely given the size, projected population growth and economic stability of the province's ratepayer base. We view the risks of ratepayer base declines due to any of the following factors to be low.

Self-generation

We view the potential for increased use of self-generation as a minor headwind to the transaction. Self-generation, which primarily includes solar and wind, has the potential to reduce energy consumption and increase the burden of the recovery charges on other non-self-generating ratepayers. Self-generators that receive no transmission or distribution service in Ontario are not liable for payment of the recovery charge, and neither the FHPA nor the related regulations provide for exit fees to be charged to any specified consumers that might leave the grid to self-generate, although such charges are not precluded.

Currently, self-generation is not an efficient option for the residential and small commercial customers that make up the specified consumer category for this program. Costs are relatively high, Ontario's weather is not conducive, and there are only emerging options for storage. However, given the term of this financing program, technological developments will likely allow greater numbers of specified consumers to reduce or even altogether avoid the payment of recovery charges through on-site generation, including where coupled with on-site storage capacity.

Storm damage

The physical size of Ontario and its northern location reduce the potential for a weather event to have a significant impact on transmission, distribution or consumption, such that there would be a significant impact on recovery charge collections. It's unlikely that Ontario will be impacted by hurricanes, tropical storms or wind storms. Snow or ice damage may occur in winter months, but those tend to be localized and less likely in the more heavily populated southern sections of the Province.

Forecasting electricity consumption

The recovery charges will be assessed based on forecast usage by the specified consumers. The amount of the charge collected in any period will depend on actual electricity consumption, the amount billed and remitted, and write-offs. If the servicer inaccurately forecasts electricity consumption or underestimates customer delinquency or write-offs when setting or adjusting the recovery charges, there could be a shortfall or material delay in collections.

The mechanism for calculating the recovery charge in the FHT program will minimize forecast error, since the amount of the charge is required to be recalculated every six months for the next following six month period. As previously described, the charge will be based on the amount required by FHT to meet its debt service obligations and pay trust expenses over that six month period, plus true-up recoveries for any prior period deficiencies, which will then be divided by forecast energy consumption to arrive at a rate per kWh.

Forecast variance

For there to be insufficient funds for the Issuer to pay ultimate principal and timely interest on the notes, there would need to be an unexpected, persistent and extensive drop in electricity consumption within a six month period. If that were to occur, the legislation allows for interim true-up adjustments as required prior to the end of the six month period.

Cash flow analysis

We examined the cash flows that the recovery charges will generate under various scenarios. In light of the strength of the ratepayer base, the purpose was primarily to see how high the charges can go as a percentage of a typical specified consumer's bill and also to illustrate how the recovery charges behave under various stress scenarios of customer demand. Our rating is primarily based on qualitative analysis of the political, legal and regulatory aspects of the FHT program, and the strength of the ratepayer base. However, we run these stress scenarios to confirm that the level of the recovery charges is consistent with other comparable transactions.

The concern is that the recovery charges or the law that authorizes them could be subject to challenge in the courts or to future political pressure to rescind or change them through legislation. That becomes more likely as recovery charges rise. Consequently, our economic analysis focuses on the size of the cost recovery charge, both in absolute terms and as a percentage of the customer's energy bill.

We looked at three scenarios, assuming the projected issuance of the full $19 billion in debt:

Scenario description and projected output

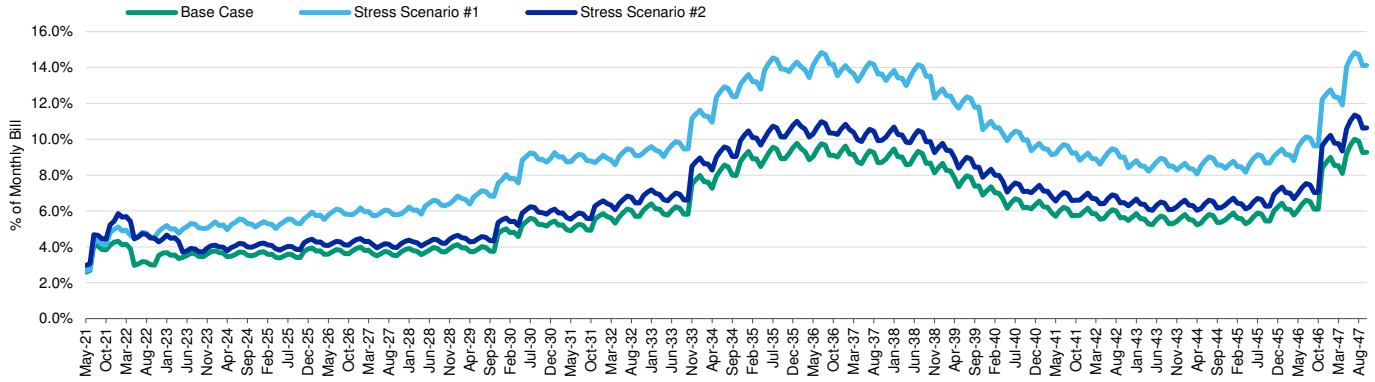
Base Scenario

1. Electricity consumption in accordance with the IESO's projections, which increases by an average compounded rate of 0.2% per year from 2018-2047, with specified consumers representing 50% of total consumption
2. Implied net charge-off rate of 0.28%
3. Collection curve projects 96.5% of collections within 30 days and 98% of collections within five months
4. There is no servicing fee so long as the servicer remains the IESO. While a back-up servicer has not been retained, the Issuer can increase servicing fees to 0.60% to attract one if needed

Stress Scenario 1

1. Electricity consumption decreases linearly by 5% every year until it reaches 50% of the projected consumption for all specified consumers
2. Annual net charge-offs are the same as in base case
3. Collection curve is the same as in base case
4. Loss of 100% of the collections from the peak consumption month and 50% of the collections from the second highest consumption month each year
5. Replacement servicing fee of 0.60% per year of the initial bond balance with other expenses the same as in the base case

Stress Scenario 2



1. Electricity consumption is reduced by 25% permanently against the first year base case projection
2. Annual net charge-offs the same as in base case
3. Collection curve is the same as in base case
4. Servicing fee and all other fees the same as in base case

For all of the scenarios, the bonds are fully paid by their legal final maturity dates.

Exhibit 9 shows the projected recovery charge as a percentage of an average 750 kWh residential customer's total bill, and Exhibit 10 shows the projected dollar amount of recovery charges for customers per 750 kWh over the life of the program. The periodic variance in the charges under the stress scenarios is due to the semi-annual rate resets and true-ups.

Comparables

As Exhibit 11 shows, stress scenario 1 is the most stressful and results in a peak recovery charge equal to about 14.8% of a 750 kWh per month customer's bill. This is moderate compared to other utility cost recovery deals rated by Moody's.

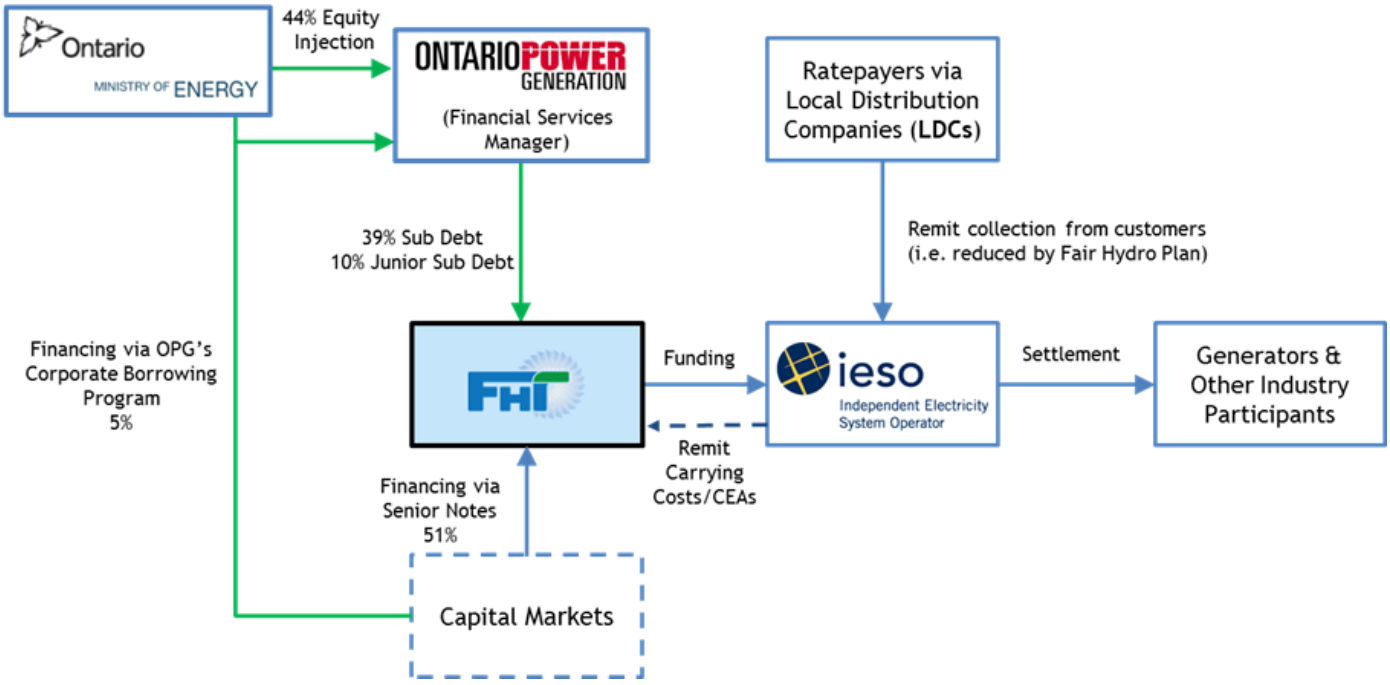
Securitization structure



On an ongoing basis, the IESO will sell an investment interest in the regulatory asset to the Issuer pursuant to a sale agreement between the Issuer and the IESO. The IESO will service the investment asset pursuant to a servicing agreement between the Issuer and the IESO.

Structural diagram

1. Each month, the IESO will determine the shortfall resulting from the rate reduction mandated by the FHPA and record the amount as a regulatory asset.
2. The IESO may transfer a specified portion of the regulatory asset to the Issuer pursuant to a master transfer and servicing agreement.

3. Upon such transfer, the Issuer will acquire an investment interest in the investment asset, which is a current and irrevocable property right consisting of the right to impose, invoice, collect and receive the recovery charges from specified consumers in accordance with the FHPA.
4. The purchase of the investment interest by FHT is to be initially funded by senior notes (51%), subordinate notes (39%) and junior subordinate notes (10%), although there is the potential for senior notes to comprise up to 65% of the capital structure.
5. The Issuer has contracted with the IESO as servicer to, among other things, collect recovery charges from LDCs, deposit such amounts promptly into a designated account in trust for FHT, and remitting such amounts to FHT on a monthly basis.
6. LDCs are also required to collect the recovery charge, as agent of the Issuer, deposit such amounts into a segregated account established for the purpose of receiving those amounts, hold such amounts in trust for the benefit of FHT until deposited with the IESO, and remit such amounts to the IESO for the benefit of the Issuer.
7. The FHPA and the related regulations require LDCs to invoice specified consumers for the recovery charge commencing 1 May 2021 and continuing to 30 April 2047, as determined by applying the rate set by the OEB, and to include such charge as a separate line item on each invoice sent to specified consumers.

Detailed description of the structure

Capital structure and subordination

The purchase of the 2018-1 investment interest by FHT is to be funded by senior notes (51%), subordinate notes (39%) and junior subordinate notes (10%).

On an ongoing basis, the senior notes will consist of:

(i) A 2017-1 warehouse senior note

» Issued to fund the monthly purchase of the investment interest by FHT

» Amount is revolving subject to a purchase limit, and will be drawn down to fund new monthly purchases and repaid periodically through the issuance of term notes

(ii) The 2018-1 and subsequent series of senior notes issued to ABS investors

Subordinated notes and junior subordinated notes will be issued to OPG, which in turn will fund the notes through an equity injection by the Province equal to 90% of the total subordinated note balance, and direct funding equal to 10%. Subordinated and junior subordinated notes will consist of:

(i) A 2017-1 warehouse subordinated note and 2017-1 warehouse junior subordinated note

» Amount is revolving subject to a purchase limit, and will be drawn down to fund new monthly purchases and repaid periodically through the issuance of term notes

(ii) The 2018-1 and subsequent series of subordinated and junior subordinated notes

Credit enhancement

Credit enhancement for the notes will be provided by the semi-annual reset of the recovery charge, which incorporates the true-up mechanism, as well as subordination and cash reserves as Exhibit 13 shows.

Cash commingling

Each LDC is required to immediately deposit all recovery charge collections into a segregated account containing a designation that the deposited amounts are held in trust for the Issuer. The LDCs are required to remit those collections to the IESO on each monthly payment date. Each month, the IESO is required to reconcile the amounts received from each LDC with the amounts shown on the monthly reporting provided by each LDC.

As additional protection for commingling risk on the part of the LDCs, the IESO is required to provide the Issuer with a performance guarantee or letter of credit in an amount equal to 50% of 45 days of estimated recovery charge collections from each LDC that is either unrated by Moody's or is rated less than investment grade. Moody's currently only rates one LDC (Hydro One: A3), which is the largest LDC in Ontario with approximately 25% of the total customers.

Upon receipt of the recovery charges from the LDCs, the IESO is required to deposit those funds in a segregated account containing a designation that the deposited amounts are held in trust for the Issuer, before remitting the funds each month to the Issuer's collections account. If the rating of the IESO drops below Baa2, it must remit funds to the Issuer's collections account within two business days of receipt.

Payment priority

On each monthly payment date prior to an event of default, the indenture trustee will pay all amounts on deposit in the collection account in the following order of priority:

1. Payment of any taxes for which a governmental authority is given priority;
2. Payment to the indenture trustee and issuer trustee in respect of fees, expenses and reimbursement amounts owing, each not to exceed (x) $150,000 multiplied by (y) the number of series of senior funding obligations then outstanding, divided by (z) 12;
3. Transfer of interest then owing on senior notes to the interest accumulation account, and payments to derivative counterparties on a pro rata basis, excluding derivative termination payments
4. Transfer of interest then owing on subordinated notes to the interest accumulation account
5. Transfer of interest then owing on junior subordinated notes to the interest accumulation account
6. Transfer to the principal accumulation account the warehouse debt principal allocation amount
7. Transfer on a pari passu basis (i) to the principal accumulation account the senior debt principal allocation amount for such period, and (ii) to derivative counterparties on a pro rata basis, any termination payment where the derivative counterparty is not the defaulting party or sole affected party
8. To debtholders on a pro rata basis all fees and other amounts (other than principal) then due and payable on the senior notes
9. To the financial services manager all fees, expenses and reimbursement amounts owing
10. To the principal accumulation account the subordinated debt principal accumulation amount for such period

11. To debtholders on a pro rata basis all fees and other amounts (other than principal) then due and payable on the subordinated notes
12. To the principal accumulation account the junior subordinated debt principal allocation amount for such period
13. To the program cash reserve account, the program cash reserve required amount
14. Replenishment of any amounts drawn from any other senior series reserve account
15. Replenishment of any amounts drawn from any other subordinated series reserve account
16. To debtholders on a pro rata basis all fees and other amounts (other than principal) then due and payable on the junior subordinated funding obligations
17. Replenishment of any amounts drawn from any other junior subordinate series reserve account
18. To derivative counterparties, any termination payment where the derivative counterparty is the defaulting party or the sole affected party
19. To the issuer trustee for the account of the beneficiaries of the Issuer
20. To the financial services manager for any indemnity amounts owing
21. Payment on a pari passu basis to (i) the indenture trustee and issuer trustee in respect of fees, expenses and reimbursement amounts owing and not previously paid, (ii) to the payment of all taxes due and not previously paid, and (iii) payments to all other specified creditors of the Issuer not previously referred to
22. Any amounts remaining are to be (a) held in the collection account for distribution in the same order of priority on the next succeeding payment date, or (b) after the final Issuer payment obligation is paid in full, to the Issuer

On each interest payment date the amounts on deposit in the interest accumulation account will be used to pay interest then due to the noteholders in order of priority. On each principal payment date, the amounts on deposit in the principal accumulation account will be used to pay principal amounts then due in order of priority. Principal payments on warehouse obligations will be in priority to payments on note obligations.

Events of default

An event of default with respect to the bonds is defined in the indenture as any one of the following events:

1. A default of more than five days in the payment when due of any senior interest (and when all senior debt is repaid, a default of more than five days in the payment when due of any subordinate interest, and when all subordinate debt is repaid a default of more than five days in the payment when due of any junior subordinate interest)
2. A default in the payment of principal with respect to any senior series by the principal payment default date for that series (and when all senior debt is repaid, a default in the payment of principal with respect to any subordinate series, and when all subordinate debt is repaid a default in the payment of principal with respect to any junior subordinate series)
3. Any representation or warranty made by the Issuer in the indenture proves to be incorrect in any material respect as of the time made, and is not remedied within 60 days, and at least 25% of the affected creditors have provided a notice of default
4. A default in the observance or performance of any covenants or agreements made by the Issuer in the indenture, which continues and is not remedied within 60 days, and at least 25% of the affected creditors have provided a notice of default
5. The Issuer fails to maintain its existence or its status as a financing entity under the legislation, or an insolvency event occurs with respect to the Issuer
6. The Change of Law Protection Agreement ceases to be in full force and effect against the Province, or the validity of the agreement shall be disaffirmed by the Province

7. An acceleration event has occurred under any senior series funding agreement (and when all senior debt is repaid, an acceleration event under any subordinate series payment obligation, and when all subordinate debt is repaid an acceleration event with respect to any junior subordinate series) and at least 25% of the affected creditors have provided a notice of default
8. A default by the Issuer in the performance of its obligations to provide detailed payment instructions in advance of each payment date, and such breach continues for three business days
9. Amounts withdrawn from the program cash reserve account exceed the sum of (a) 0.50% of the largest outstanding principal amount of all senior, subordinated and junior subordinated funding obligations, plus (b) the sum of all amounts previously deposited to the program cash reserve account, plus (c) net earnings in the program cash reserve account
10. A servicer default shall occur

Remedies

If an event of default (other than #5 or #6 above) occurs, the indenture trustee or holders of a majority in principal amount of the senior-most notes then outstanding may declare the unpaid principal of the bonds and all accrued and unpaid interest thereon to be immediately due and payable. However, payment of principal upon an acceleration of the bonds will be made as funds become available. Foreclosure of the indenture trustee's lien on the investment assets might not be practical.

If an event of default as specified in #5 or #6 above has occurred, the Issuer's funding obligations will become immediately due and payable without notice or demand. If an event of default occurs and remains unremedied, and payment has been deemed to be due and payable, the indenture trustee may proceed to realize upon the security interest and to enforce the rights of the indenture trustee and the secured creditors by (i) application to any court for an order of sequestration and payment of amounts in respect of recovery charges collected by the trust (ii) possession of the collateral (iii) an appointment of a receiver with respect to the collateral, (iv) proceedings in a court for the appointment of a receiver or for sale of the collateral or any part thereof, or (v) exercise of any of the rights of the Issuer under any of the program agreements, including the right to replace the financial services manager or servicer, or (vi) any other action or remedy permitted under the trust indenture or by applicable law.

Issuance of additional notes

As authorized by the legislation and the Issuer's program documents, FHT is expected to continue to issue new series of notes to finance the build-up of its investment interest in the regulatory asset. Each new series of notes will share in the aggregate investment interest of the Issuer and the recovery charges for the purpose of paying debt service charges on all series. Any new series of notes could include terms and provisions that would be unique to that particular series of notes. However, the Issuer may not issue additional series of notes unless the rating agency condition for the existing rated notes has been satisfied.

Asset transfer, true sale and bankruptcy remoteness

Under the FHPA, the IESO has the right to recover the full balance of the variance account from specified consumers, which qualifies the balance of the variance account as a regulatory asset. The FHPA expressly permits the transfer of all or a portion of the regulatory asset to a financing entity. Under the FHPA, such transfer:

» Constitutes a valid and enforceable absolute sale of the corresponding investment interest to the financing entity

» Shall be treated for all purposes as an absolute sale of the IESO's right to recover the corresponding amount in the variance account and not merely as a security interest

» Shall be perfected, vested, valid and binding as against the IESO and all other persons who have claims of any kind against the IESO

The FHPA expressly confirms the ability of a financing entity to secure a funding obligation by granting a valid and perfected security interest over its investment interest under the Ontario Personal Property Security Act.

The Declaration of Trust for the creation of FHT does not permit the Issuer to engage in any activities not directly related to purchasing and owning the investment interest in the regulatory asset, pledging such interest to the indenture trustee for the purpose of securing funding obligations, and issuing and redeeming such funding obligations. The list of permitted activities set forth in the Declaration of Trust may not be altered, amended or repealed without the satisfaction of the rating agency condition, and, if materially adverse to the noteholders, the approval of all noteholders.

Under the Trust Indenture and 2018-1 Supplemental Indenture, creditors acknowledge that they only have rights against the collateral securing their obligations and that all payments are limited by the allocation and payment provisions of those documents. Creditors also agree to a non-petition clause, so it is unlikely that a proceeding would be brought against FHT under Canadian bankruptcy or insolvency law.

Seller and Servicer

The IESO will be the seller of the regulatory asset and will service the Issuer's investment interests on behalf of the Issuer. The IESO is a not-for-profit corporation established in 1998 by the Electricity Act of Ontario, and governed by an independent board whose Chair and Directors are appointed by the Province of Ontario.

The IESO oversees Ontario's electricity system, which has 36,130 MW of installed generation. Responsibilities include direction of the operation of the transmission system including providing transmission-related information to all market participants, maintaining the reliability of the grid, participating in the development of energy policies, establishing and enforcing criteria and standards related to the reliability of the integrated power system, engaging in activities related to electricity supply and capacity procurement and energy conservation, forecasting electricity demand and the adequacy and reliability of electricity resources for Ontario, promoting cleaner energy sources for fuel diversity, assisting the OEB by facilitating stability in rates for certain type of customers, and managing the Ontario Electricity Support Program.

On 1 January 2015, the Ontario Power Authority (OPA) and the IESO amalgamated and continued to operate as the IESO pursuant to an Act of Provincial parliament passed in July 2014. The Act provides that for all intents and purposes the IESO will fulfill all of the same roles and functions as its predecessor organizations. The amended Act stipulates effective separation of functions between the IESO's market operations and its procurement and contract management activities. The pre-amalgamated OPA managed about 22,500 MW of capacity as an off-taker under long term power purchase agreements.

Administrator

The Trust, as a financing entity under the FHPA, was established at the initiative of OPG as Financial Services Manager. OPG has entered into a management agreement with the Issuer under which the Issuer has delegated to OPG all of the powers and duties of managing the Issuer, including determining whether to incur new funding obligations to acquire an investment interest or refinance existing funding obligations, negotiating and entering into program agreements, maintaining accounts and banking records, preparing any offering documents and preparing financial statements and tax filings on behalf of the Issuer. In addition, OPG will be responsible each six months for determining the aggregate amount of the recovery charge for the following six month period, inclusive of any true-up amount, and notifying the OEB of such amount. Subject to OEB approval, OPG is also entitled to charge the Issuer a fee to earn a return and to recover costs and expenditures incurred by OPG in relation to the establishment, management and administration of the Issuer and its investment interest.

OPG is a corporation formed under the Business Corporation Act (Ontario), whose sole shareholder is the Province of Ontario, and is Ontario's largest generator of electricity. OPG currently operates two nuclear generating stations, 66 hydroelectric generating stations, three thermal generating stations, and one wind power turbine.

Securitization structure analysis

The key structural feature of this transaction is the semi-annual rate setting and true-up mechanism (or more frequent, if needed). Our rating is highly dependent on the extent to which the mechanism adjusts the charges to correct for past shortfalls or forecasted future shortfalls. The effectiveness of those rate changes in raising funds depends, in turn, on how easily customers can escape the charges and how sensitive electricity usage is to increases in the utility charges. Therefore, our analysis of the rate setting and true-up mechanism goes together with our analysis of how bypassable the cost recovery charges are and how easily customers can cut back on electricity usage.

In this transaction, the strong rate setting and true-up mechanism combined with non-bypassable charges mitigates the need for credit enhancement in the form of alternative sources of funds. The required cash reserve accounts provide sufficient funds to offset the typical variance in collections versus projections in order to meet the projected principal accumulation schedule between the semi-annual rate setting and true-ups.

Methodology and monitoring

The principal methodology used in this rating was Moody's Approach to Rating Securities Backed by Utility Cost Recovery Charges published in June 2015. Please see the Ratings Methodologies page on www.moodys.com for a copy of this methodology.

Other methodologies and factors that may have been considered in the process of rating this issue, including Rating Transactions Based on the Credit Substitution Approach: Letter of Credit-backed, Insured and Guaranteed Debts, can also be found in the Rating Methodologies sub-directory on www.moodys.com.

In monitoring this transaction, we apply the key components of our methodology. More specifically, we analyze whether note balances are in line with the scheduled principal accumulation, which indicates the extent to which payments have been in line with our original expectations.

We review the periodic information received and look at whether there has been a draw on the reserve accounts. This data point provides further clues as to the steadiness of the cash flows and accuracy of true-up adjustments.

In addition, we analyze the factors that determine the future strength of the transaction. For example, we monitor any legal or political developments that could indicate an increased risk of changes in the legislation that could impair future cash flows to the transactions. Such risk may materialize, for example, in case of continued high financial imbalances in the system that may lead the system deficit to be viewed as unsustainable over the long-term.

We also follow the economic health of the Province of Ontario and the potential for changes in the size and composition of the ratepayer base. Furthermore, we monitor the rating of the IESO (as an indicator of its financial condition) to track the risk, typically quite small, that a bankruptcy could lead to disruption in billing and collections and in the remittance of payments to the noteholders.

Thus changes in our expectations and other analytical components could have an impact on the rating of the securities and may result in a reassessment of the rating.

FYI – Here is the rating report for the FHT. I am still waiting for the initial draft of the credit opinion for the province. There will be a small section on the FHT and how Moody's views this debt in their report on the province.

RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

Given that the Province owns all of the shares of OPG, related parties include the Province and other entities controlled by the Province.

The related party transactions summarized below include transactions with the Province and the principal successors to the former Ontario Hydro's integrated electricity business, including Hydro One, the IESO and the OEFC. The transactions between OPG and related parties are measured at the exchange amount, which is the amount of consideration established and agreed to by the related parties. As one of several wholly-owned government business enterprises of the Province, OPG also has transactions in the normal course of business with various government ministries and organizations in Ontario that fall under the purview of the Province.

The related party transactions for the years ended December 31 are summarized below:

As at December 31, 2017 and December 31, 2016, the Nuclear Segregated Funds were reported net of amounts due to the Province of $4,462 million and $3,415 million, respectively.

The receivable, AFS securities, payable and long-term debt balances between OPG and its related parties are summarized below:

OPG holds interest-bearing Province of Ontario bonds in the Nuclear Segregated Funds and the OPG registered pension fund. As at December 31, 2017, the Nuclear Segregated Funds held $1,503 million of interest-bearing Province of Ontario bonds, while the registered pension fund had no such holdings. As at December 31, 2016, the Nuclear Segregated Funds and the registered pension fund held $1,652 million and $284 million of interest-bearing Province of Ontario bonds, respectively. These bonds are publicly traded securities and are measured at fair value. OPG jointly oversees the investment management of the Nuclear Segregated Funds with the Province.

In December 2017, the Fair Hydro Trust purchased its first tranche of Investment Interest from the IESO for an exchange amount of $1.18 billion, which has been classified as a financing receivable on OPG's consolidated balance sheet. The transaction was settled in cash using proceeds from the Trust's issuance of senior and subordinated debt. Pursuant to the general regulation of the Fair Hydro Act, the IESO is required to pay and remit carrying costs of the Trust, excluding repayment of principal on any debt obligations, up to July 31, 2021. Commencing May 1, 2021, Specified Consumers will be invoiced by their local distribution company for the Clean Energy Adjustment to pay the carrying costs of the Trust. These funds will be remitted to the Trust through the IESO and will be used to settle all funding and other related expenses of the Trust that underlie the financing receivable.

As at December 31, 2017, OPG's consolidated balance sheet included approximately $7 million of unbilled revenue from the IESO, primarily for OPG's general fee for 2017 as the Financial Services Manager under the Act relating to incurred third-party and certain direct labour costs.

~~Under one of the Trust's program agreements,~~ The~~the~~ Province has provided a limited guarantee to specified creditors of the Fair Hydro Trust. The limited guarantee would be triggered in the event that the Trust's ability to receive amounts in respect of its Investment Interest to pay for certain funding obligations is adversely affected due to the occurrence of any one of the following: the Province changes the Fair Hydro Act or any other legislation or regulation; Ontario's electricity market significantly changes due to actions undertaken by the Province; or a court declares that the Act is ~~declared~~ invalid or unconstitutional.

These funds will be remitted to the Trust through the IESO and will be used to settle all funding and other related expenses of the Trust that underlie the financing receivable.

As at December 31, 2017, OPG's consolidated balance sheet included approximately $7 million of unbilled revenue from the IESO, primarily for OPG's general fee for 2017 as the Financial Services Manager under the Act relating to incurred third-party and certain direct labour costs.

~~Under one of the Trust's program agreements, the~~The Province has provided a limited guarantee to specified creditors of the Fair Hydro Trust. The limited guarantee would be triggered in the event that the Trust's ability to receive amounts in respect of its Investment Interest to pay for certain funding obligations is adversely affected due to the occurrence of any one of the following: the Province changes the Fair Hydro Act or any other legislation or regulation; Ontario's electricity market significantly changes due to actions undertaken by the Province; or a court declares that the Act is ~~declared~~ invalid or unconstitutional.

DCM Weekly Market Update

Monday, May 28, 2018

Activity in the Canadian corporate primary market picked up last week despite the holiday shortened week with ~C$5.1 billion of new issue supply across 5 transactions, which were primarily comprised of financial issuances. OMERS Realty kicked off the week's activity with a C$800 million dual-tranche offering; RBC acted as joint bookrunner on the deal. The transaction was well received by investors, with oversubscription of ~2.5x allowing the issuer to upsize and price at the tight end of guidance across both tranches. Banks were also active coming out of earnings blackout, with CIBC and TD both issuing deposit notes for a combined C$4 billion or ~80% of total supply last week. Away from financials, TMX Group was also in the market with a C$200 million 10-year offering generating strong momentum which resulted in tight pricing and fills in the 10-15% range. Last week's transactions were well received, garnered strong investor interest and achieved attractive pricing as credit spreads remain near historical lows despite the increase in underlying bonds yields since the beginning of 2018. On the marketing front, RBC announced a fixed income investor roadshow for ENMAX Corporation to be held in Montreal and Toronto on May 29th and 30th in connection with a C$300-350 million offering of senior unsecured debentures. Also this week, RBC will be hosting its annual CMT Fixed Income Conference in Toronto on Tuesday. Looking forward, primary market activity is expected to continue as the roadshow pipeline continues to be strong and market tone is constructive for new issue supply in the near term despite the recent softness in markets globally.

The secondary market experienced another week of active trading as new issue supply and banks earning releases helped fuel the trading activity which was characterized by relatively balanced two-way flow. On the week, deposit notes were most topical while there was good two-way trading in pension, energy, and infrastructure names. On average, corporate credit spreads closed 3 bps wider.

The government primary market had an active week with C$1.55 billion priced across 2 provincials trades and 1 municipal offering. In the municipal space, City of Montreal issued C$250 million of a new 20-year benchmark while provincial issuances were focused in longer tenors, with Saskatchewan completing a C$300 million re-opening of its 30-year benchmark, and Ontario pricing a C$1 billion re-opening of its June 2049 maturity, of which C$400 million was privately placed on behalf of the syndicate. In secondary trading, provincials were better bought due to a few large block trades, while CMBs saw strong two-way flows across the week. Looking ahead, it is anticipated that the issuance pipeline will moderate as Ontario nears election related blackout while other provincial issuers remain in strong funding positions; New Brunswick, Newfoundland and Quebec continue to be potential issuers in the near term.

EQUITY MARKET UPDATE

North American equity markets closed the week modestly higher despite a weak finish to the week amid negative geopolitical news amidst trade talks between the U.S. and China, the cancellation of the U.S. summit with North Korea, and political instability in Italy. In the U.S., the S&P 500 and Dow Jones rose 0.3% and 0.2%, respectively, where broad based gains were partially offset by losses in energy. The sector, which had been leading gains in recent weeks, is facing pressure amid statements by Saudi Arabia and Russia that said easing oil production cuts will be discussed at OPEC's next meeting on June 22nd in Vienna. In Canada, the TSX ended the week 0.5% lower amid negative reactions to bank earnings last week and lower oil prices. On that note, crude oil declined $3.40 to close the week at $67.88/bbl, while gold prices rose $9.21 to finish the week at $1,302.25. In currency markets, the Canadian dollar depreciated 0.7% against the greenback to close at 1.2973.

NORTH AMERICAN RATES UPDATE

North American government bond yields ended the week lower amid the release of the FOMC meeting minutes and heightened geopolitical tensions. In the U.S., the Fed struck a more dovish tone, as it prepared market participants for an inflation overshoot, which coupled with geopolitical news pushed down Treasury yields by 12-13bps in the 5 and 10-year sectors. However, the market implied probability of an increase at the June 13th meeting still remains mostly priced-in. On Thursday, Trump cancelled the scheduled summit with North Korea leader in Singapore on June 12th, only to take a step back after North Korea stated they are still willing to meet with the U.S.; Trump's most current rhetoric is that the summit with Kim Jong Un may proceed, and "could even be the 12th". In Canada, the economic calendar was light, with the only meaningful data coming from wholesale trade sales which slightly beat the consensus, leading GoC yields to largely mirror their U.S. counterparts as the 5 and 10-year yields were down 11 and 14bps on the week. Ahead of the BoC rate decision on Wednesday, the odds of a hike continued to decline and now stand at ~25%, while the odds of a hike at the July meeting have also fallen and are now at ~60%, from 75% two weeks ago.

DCM Weekly Market Update

Monday, February 5, 2018

The Canadian corporate primary market absorbed C$5.8 billion of supply last week across 9 issuers, with supply diversified across industry and credit rating spectrum. Of note, floating rate notes accounted for ~C$2.2 billion of the week's issuance, compared to C$6.7 billion of FRN issuance in all of 2017. Financials accounted for the lions' share of new issues ($4.7 billion) with Central1 Credit Union as well as 4 of the big 6 Canadian banks all accessing the market. Auto and REIT credits were also topical with BMW Canada pricing a dual-tranche offering while RioCan and Artis REIT both came to market in the shorter end of the curve. Superior Plus rounded out supply with the first high yield deal of the year via a C$220 million long 7-year. All of the week's transactions benefitted from healthy investor reception, allowing issuers to achieve size and pricing targets, with RBC leading 4 of the 5 non-bank offerings. Also notable on the week, Canadian National Railway accessed the US$ market with a $900 million dual-tranche offering consisting of a 2-year and a 30-year, with RBC acting as joint bookrunner on the transaction. On the marketing front, RBC announced non-deal fixed income investor marketing on behalf of Cameco Corporation to take place on February 12th and 14th in Toronto and Montreal, and will also be hosting its annual Montreal Fixed Income Symposium on February 22nd .

In the secondary market, bank paper was active with deposit notes and NVCC paper garnering healthy two-way flow across the curve on the back of elevated bank supply over the course of the week. Also topical were long-dated utilities and pipeline credits in the belly of the curve, as well as FRNs with paper coming out against the new supply. Spreads ended the week unchanged to ~2bps softer as the market digested the week's new issuance.
The Government market absorbed C$1.1 billion of supply across 2 provincial offerings. The Province of Ontario completed a C$750 million 10-year offering in the middle of the week followed by Manitoba which printed a C$300 million 30-year re-opening. In the secondary market volumes were decent throughout the week with good two-way trading of provincials and activity concentrated in the front end. CMB volumes picked up versus the week prior with the majority of volumes occurring in the 5-year part of the curve. Spreads closed the week 0.5-1.5bps tighter in CMBs and 1-2bps tighter in provincials.

EQUITY MARKET UPDATE

North American stocks made headlines as indices plunged dramatically on both sides of the border, down 3.5% to 4.1% in line with global counterparts as stocks sold off globally amidst a stronger than expected jobs report and wage growth driving concern about inflation and rising rates.. On Friday the Dow experienced its worst daily performance since the Brexit turmoil in June 2016 (down 660+ points). North of the border, the TSX posted its worst week in 2 years with healthcare stocks spearheading losses amidst underperformance in marijuana stocks while energy shares also declined as the WCS/WTI differential widened to its largest level since 2013 ($30.55). Commodities also closed lower on the week, with WTI down 1.0% to $65.45/boe while gold fell 1.2% to $1,333.39/oz. The US dollar outperformed versus CAD, rising 1.0% to 1.2429 USDCAD fueled by strong employment data south of the border.

NORTH AMERICAN RATES UPDATE

North American bond yields ended the week higher with both the US and Canadian yield curves steepening significantly, with yields up 3-11 bps in Canada and 3-18 bps in the US. The Federal Reserve unanimously opted to leave its target rate unchanged on Wednesday in what was Janet Yellen's last meeting as Fed Chair, although the tone of its release was noticeably more hawkish noting that growth in employment and business investment are "solid" and inflation is expected to move up this year, setting up expectations for a rate hike in March. Nonfarm payrolls rose 200k in January while the US unemployment rate remained at 4.1%, driving Treasury yields up further on Friday. In Canada, the November GDP release marked the week's primary data point, coming in at +0.4% following a flat reading in October, driven by a surge in the mining and manufacturing sectors and consistent with 1.9% annualized pace of growth in Q4. This week's data calendar sees a handful of housing reports as well as unemployment and the first formal speech by a BoC Governing Council member with Senior Deputy Governor Wilkins scheduled to speak on February 8th.

DCM Weekly Market Update

Tuesday, May 22, 2018

The Canadian corporate primary market was relatively quiet last week, with Honda Canada Finance being the only corporate issuer to access the C$ market, pricing an upsized C$500 million 7-year transaction with RBC acting as joint bookrunner. The offering was well received by investors, with strong reception and oversubscription north of 3.5x allowing the issuer to upsize and price at the tight end of guidance, with broad distribution to ~60 buyers. South of the border, RBC led a US$800 million dual-tranche trade for Great West Lifeco priced as part of a liability management exercise. Finally, on the marketing front, Nouvelle Autoroute 30 Financement Inc. ("A30") announced a deal-related roadshow scheduled to take place this week in Montreal and Toronto in connection with a planned C$1.2 billion P3 offering, on which RBC will be acting as lead left bookrunner. Looking ahead, investor appetite for corporate product remains healthy albeit market sentiment continues to be headline-driven, and issuers looking to access the market in the near-term are encouraged to adopt a nimble and opportunistic approach and prepare for quick access during windows of stable tone.

In the secondary market, utility and infrastructure credits were among the most actively traded, with the Enbridge complex in particular being very topical on the back of the company's restructuring announcement which would see it purchase back several of its publicly traded subsidiaries, including Enbridge Income Fund, in a response to a recent loss of a US tax allowance for certain interstate pipelines. Auto finance names were also actively traded as bonds came out against the week's new issuance. Overall, secondary spreads closed the week unchanged to modestly tighter.

The government market was very active with C$2.3 billion pricing in provincials in addition to a C$4.5 billion CMB offering. CMHC completed its third offering of 2018 with a C$4.5 billion dual-tranche offering consisting of a C$2.25 billion 10-year re-opening and C$2.25 new 5-year FRN, bringing total borrowing on the year to C$14 billion. In the provincial space 4 long-dated offerings were completed for C$2.3 billion. Quebec completed a C$500 million Dec 2048 re-opening, Alberta printed a C$900 million Dec 2048 re-opening, Ontario priced a C$600 million June 2049 re-opening and Manitoba printed a C$300 million Sep 2048 re-opening. In the secondary market provincials and CMBs were relatively active with better client selling of front-end provincial product and two-way flows through the CMB curve. Spreads tightened on the week as underlying yields sold-off, with provincials 1bp tighter and CMBs 0.5-1bp tighter.

EQUITY MARKET UPDATE

North American equites ended the week mixed on either side of the border, with US indices closing the week 0.5% to 0.7% lower across the board while the TSX outperformed, rising 1.1% week over week. US-China trade talks continued to dominate headlines as markets contemplated the future of trade relations between the two largest economies in the world. North of the border, Canadian equities rose over the course of the week with energy names driving outperformance on the back of an increase in the price of oil, which rose 0.8% to close the week at $71.28/bbl after hitting a 52-week high mid-week as geopolitical fears and looming US sanctions on Iran caused concerns about potential supply disruptions. Also on the week, gold fell $26.26 to $1,293.04 while the US dollar rose 0.7% against the loonie to close at 1.2885 USDCAD.

NORTH AMERICAN RATES UPDATE

North American bond yields ended the week sharply higher in both Canada and the US. In the US, the Treasury curve steepened with the 10-year Treasury yield reaching its highest level since 2011 mid-week following economic and retail data that indicated the Fed may raise rates more aggressively in 2018 than previously contemplated. Canadian inflation and retail sales data released on Friday, the last major releases before the BoC's May 30 meeting, reinforced BoC Governor Poloz's statement last month that "inflation is on target and the economy is operating close to potential", with April inflation coming in modestly lower than expectations at 2.2% although the Bank of Canada's core measures generally increased in April, averaging 2% for the third consecutive month. Ahead of the next overnight rate decision on May 30th, the Bank is also expected to closely monitor NAFTA developments, with the futures market currently pricing in ~30% probability of a rate hike. Of note, the curve between the GoC 10-year and 30-year benchmark yields sits at only 1bp, following a brief window on Thursday which saw the 10-year briefly rising above the 30-year yield for the first time in over a decade.

DCM Weekly Market Update

Monday, May 7, 2018

The Canadian corporate primary market continued to be active last week with C$1.9 billion of new supply priced across 3 transactions primarily comprised of auto finance issuers. Highlighting the supply, BMW Canada Auto Trust started the week's activity with a C$500 million multi-tranche ABS offering which followed a mandate announcement the prior week; RBC acted as structuring lead on the offering. In addition, Ford Credit Canada priced a C$1.25 billion dual-tranche offering; both tranches were upsized and priced at the tight end of guidance. Lastly, the infrastructure space was active with a C$181 million dual-tranche offering from Mosaic Transit Partners, a special purpose entity formed to design, build, finance, maintain and rehabilitate a new light rail transit system in Toronto. Of note, 2018 total corporate volume is off to a strong start with more than C$44 billion of supply since the beginning of the year, a C$5.4 billion increase (+14%) versus the same period in 2017; the increase is largely attributable to the re-emergence of banks and other financials which are up C$4.9 billion YoY (+21%). Looking ahead, primary market activity is expected to continue as market tone remains constructive for new issue supply in the near term.

The secondary market was active last week with activity skewed toward deposit notes and energy names as new supply fueled trading activity. On the week, there was some front-end net buying in deposit notes while there was good two-way trading in energy, auto, P3s and telco names. On average, corporate credit spreads closed 2 bps wider.

The government market remained active with ~C$1.5 billion of supply. Province of Manitoba completed a C$450 million 10-year offering with C$150 million placed privately, and Province of Ontario printed a C$1 billion 30-year issue with C$400 million placed privately. Recent weeks have seen an increase in carve-out activity, with 7 orders completed year-to-date for C$2.1 billion in aggregate. In the secondary market volumes remained modest through the week with small net selling of 10-year provincial paper and net buying of front end CMBs. Provincial spreads closed the week 0.5bp wider in 10-years and 1.5bps wider in longs, while CMB spreads were 0.5bp tighter.

EQUITY MARKET UPDATE

North American equities ended the week mixed, as a rally on Friday partially offset declines accumulated throughout the week. In the U.S., earnings season continued on a positive note as 75% of companies that reported earnings beat consensus, with the average beat at 7.2%. In addition, the impact of geopolitics was more tempered than in recent weeks, with the highlight being U.S. Treasury Secretary Mnuchin touching down in China on Thursday to discuss trade between the two countries; however, little was achieved in the way of deals. On the week, the S&P500 and the Dow Jones both fell 0.2%. North of the border, the TSX composite rose 0.4% supported by strong performance from all sectors to end the week. Also on the week, oil gained $1.62 to $69.72/bbl while gold fell $9.50 to $1,314.50/oz. In currencies, the Canadian dollar depreciated against the greenback to 1.2846 USDCAD.

NORTH AMERICAN RATES UPDATE

North American government bond yields ended the week relatively unchanged in an economic data packed week that saw an FOMC rate decision, U.S. payrolls and Canada's GDP. In the US, as expected, the Fed kept its benchmark rate unchanged and signaled greater confidence on inflation. The initial market reaction was dovish, but Treasury yields and the U.S. dollar quickly rebounded; markets are currently pricing a 100% probability of a rate hike at the June meeting. On the back-end of the week, U.S. payrolls were softer than expected; however, including the upward revision to the prior month, payrolls additions were relatively in-line with expectations. In Canada, GDP rebounded in February helped by strong contributions from oil & gas and manufacturing which was largely expected. On the monetary policy front last week, BOC Governor Poloz reiterated that high levels of household debt increases the downside risks of hiking rates; however he did make a more rare acknowledgment concerning prolonged policy accommodation and the related risks of encouraging more household debt. On the week, government yields were 1bp higher across the curve while the long-end was unchanged.

Canadian Debt Capital Markets

DCM Weekly Market Update

Monday, April 30, 2018

The Canadian corporate primary market was moderately active last week with ~C$2.8 billion of new issue supply priced across 5 transactions, primarily comprised of financial issuances. Among the banks, RBC issued its first deposit note of the year with a C$2 billion 5-year offering, while Canadian Western Bank printed a C$250 million reopening of its September 2021 maturity. Both transactions were well-received with oversubscribed orderbooks and competitive pricing at the tight-end of initial guidance. Coast Capital was also in the market with its inaugural debt offering of C$200 million 10NC5-year subordinated notes, with RBC acting as a bookrunner. The transaction came on the heels of an extensive cross-country roadshow, which allowed the company to generate strong momentum into the trade and upsize on the back of investor demand. On the real estate front, Chartwell Retirement Residences priced a C$150 million 7-year senior offering, representing the issuer's first offering since its inaugural print in June 2017, while in the securitization space, WTH Car Rental ULC priced a C$150 million ABS transaction with RBC acting as a bookrunner. Away from the primary market, RBC hosted non-deal fixed income investor roadshows for German real estate company Aroundtown SA as well as for Medavie, both of which were well-attended by the investor base. Looking ahead, a busy and growing roadshow calendar coupled with a constructive market backdrop should remain conducive for new issue supply in the near term.

The secondary market experienced another week of active trading characterized by relatively balanced flows over the course of the week before experiencing some selling flow on Thursday, particularly in deposit notes on the back of the new issue. Subordinated financials were also well traded last week on the back of the Coast Capital deal. Among corporate sectors, the CMT space, select long utilities and midstream names were the most active on the week trading two-way in size, while automotive financials saw heavier selling earlier in the week. On average, corporate credit spreads closed 2 bps wider.

The government market remained active with C$800 million priced across 2 provincial transactions from Quebec and New Brunswick. Of note, this April has marked the busiest month on record, with C$10.1 billion of government supply priced in the domestic market. On the whole, secondary volumes remained solid albeit with some chunky flows as large offshore and domestic pension investors accounted for a number of sizeable tickets. Directionally, there was small net selling of provincials and net buying of CMBs with the front end and belly accounting for the majority of flows. Spreads ended the week 1-2bps wider in CMBs and 1.5-2bps wider in Provincials.

EQUITY MARKET UPDATE

North American equities ended the week mixed with Canadian stocks finishing higher, while the ongoing run-up in government yields put a lid on US equity markets over the course of the week. The S&P 500 closed the week flat to the prior week, while the Dow Jones and NASDAQ indices finished 0.4-0.6% lower. Despite a continued, decent string of earnings overall with positive surprises running at ~80% (with a quarter of the S&P 500 having already reported), equity markets remain constrained by a slowing growth outlook in the face of rising borrowing costs and other macroeconomic and political uncertainties that remain at the forefront. In Canada, a strong domestic GDP reading (A: 0.3% vs. E: -0.1%) and improving tone through the NAFTA negotiations last week provided a tailwind to Canadian stocks with the S&P/TSX index closing 1.2% higher. In commodity markets, crude oil fell $0.28 to $68.10/bbl while gold prices ended the week $12.36 lower to finish at $1,324.00/oz. In currency markets, the Canadian dollar depreciated by 0.5% to close at 1.2828 CADUSD.

NORTH AMERICAN RATES UPDATE

North American government bond yields ended the week mixed on both sides of the border as BoC dialogue around the pace of monetary policy drove tone in Canada, while broader markets benefited from some positive trade and political headlines, including a historic meeting between leaders on the Korean peninsula. In Canada, GoC yields ended 1-4 bps lower across the curve as BoC Governor Poloz and Senior Deputy Governor Wilkins made their way to Parliament Hill to testify to the House

Finance Committee, where they re-emphasized that current monetary conditions are “roughly where they should be” and that there is essentially no hurry to move in the near term; however they did reinforce the need for higher rates in the medium term. The odds of a near-term 25bps rate hike have continued to drift lower over the last few weeks (~36% for May and ~65% for July) but interestingly the odds for two full rate increases by the end of the year still remain high at 70%+. The US market was fairly muted with the US Treasury curve closing the week slightly flatter with the belly of the curve remaining unchanged week-over-week, while the 2-year benchmark yield closed 3bps higher and 30-years ended 2bps lower.

DCM Weekly Market Update

Monday, April 23, 2018

The Canadian corporate primary market was active last week with C$3 billion of new issue supply priced across 6 transactions, including a financial Maple, 3 securitization trades and a C$ high yield offering. All of last week's transactions were well-received and featured strong orderbooks, broad investor distribution and healthy aftermarket performance. Bank of America was first to issue on the week with a dual-tranche senior Maple offering of 6NC5-year fixed/floating rate notes and a 4NC3-year FRN with RBC acting as Joint Bookrunner. The transaction represents the 6th Maple of the year and the 4th largest on record; the transaction generated a well oversubscribed orderbook, demonstrating strong ongoing demand for well-branded Maple credits. In the securitization space, CNH Capital Canada Receivables Trust and MBARC Credit Canada together priced just under a C$1 billion of new ABS supply across multiple tranches, while Fair Hydro Trust was also in the market with an upsized C$400 million offering of Utility Cost Recovery notes consisting of senior, subordinated and junior subordinated tranches. RBC acted as a Bookrunner on all three securitization transactions. The Fair Hydro deal, in particular, comes on the heels of the issuer's inaugural trade in February and capitalized on strong investor appetite for well-rated product. The Canadian high yield sector also saw primary flow on the week with Kruger Products LP printing a C$125 million 7NC3 senior unsecured offering to bring total C$ high yield supply to C$715 million for 2018. Away from the primary market, RBC hosted a successful multi-city non-deal investor roadshow for Coast Capital Savings Credit Union and also announced non-deal investor roadshows for German real estate company Aroundtown SA, to take place in Toronto, Montreal and Vancouver between April 24th and 26th, as well as for Medavie to take place in Toronto on April 26th. Looking ahead, the corporate primary market remains constructive for new issuance and is expected to remain steady as the roadshow calendar grows and as investors look to deploy built-up cash balances.

The secondary market experienced an active week of trading characterized by heavier net buying to start and close the week, while trading through the week was fairly balanced with good two-way flow across corporate sectors. Volumes were skewed to Maples at the start of the week on the back of new issue activity in the space, while autos, utilities and consumer names were mostly active in the short-end of the curve. Deposit notes and subordinated financial paper was also well-traded through the week with a focus in the belly. On the week, corporate credit spreads generally closed the week 2 bps tighter.

The government market remained active last week with C$3.8 billion pricing across 4 domestic issues. Province of Alberta started the week with a C$600 million 10-year tap, while Saskatchewan came to market with a C$300 million long-end print. Ontario accessed the market twice, first with a C$1.35 billion 10-year offering which included a C$600 million carve-out, and followed on with a C$1.5 billion 5-year offering. Of note, domestic issuance in April 2018 has reached C$9.3 billion, the highest issuance level on record for the month of April. In the secondary market, volumes remained active with new supply spurring trading flow. Provincials saw net better buying on the week with activity concentrated in 10-years, while CMBs saw net buying on front-end activity. Spreads closed out the week 2-3bps tighter across the curve in provincials and 1.5-2.5bps tighter in CMBs.

EQUITY MARKET UPDATE

North American equity markets ended the week higher on both sides of the border despite some weakness heading into the weekend as solid corporate results lifted tone earlier in the week before a slide in technology shares partially reversed gains on Friday. In the US, the S&P 500 and Dow Jones indices ended the week higher by 0.4-0.5% as earnings releases continued their positive trend with many of the banks beating estimates and upside surprises running at nearly 80% so far in the quarter. However, losses steepened to close Friday with the rout in chipmakers and other technology shares precipitating a broader equity selloff. In Canada, the S&P/TSX index outperformed its US counterpart with gains of 1.4% led by strength in the CME, consumer and financial sectors, which largely offset weakness in the energy space. In commodities, crude oil ended higher by about $1.00 to close the week at $68.38/bbl, while gold prices fell $10.21 to finish at $1,335.99/oz. In currencies, the Canadian dollar depreciated against the US greenback by 1.2% to close at 1.2753 USDCAD.

NORTH AMERICAN RATES UPDATE

North American government bond yields rose week-over-week as overall risk tone showed signs of improvement as trade tensions seemed to subside for the near-term and as inflation expectations continued to rise. In Canada, GoC yields rose steadily through the week and ended 6-9 bps higher with a steepening bias as rates in the belly rose to levels not seen since early February. In an unsurprising move, the Bank of Canada left the overnight policy rate unchanged at 1.25% on Wednesday morning, citing potential risks from “trade conflicts” and weaker near-term growth projections. Interestingly, the Bank revealed what seemed to be an apparent tolerance for firmer near-term inflation readings potentially arising from the impact of transitory factors (i.e. higher minimum wages). In particular, BoC Governor Poloz described the inflation trajectory as “rock solid” and expressed that slightly above-target readings would be unlikely to serve as the immediate trigger towards hiking rates, especially given the average rate of inflation in the last few years has been trending below the midpoint of the policy range. The Canadian CPI reading on Friday came out at 2.3% (E: 2.4%). In OIS markets, the probability of a BoC rate hike by the May meeting moderated to ~35% from above 50% earlier in the month. South of the border, the US market experienced a more pronounced shift with the 2-year benchmark yield rising 10bps, while the rest of the curve ended 12-13bps higher, sending the 10-year yield back to February highs of nearly 3.00% during the Friday session. On the data front, a strong US retail sales reading and a solid jobs report on Friday further supported the risk-on trade. Overnight Fed futures markets are currently pricing in a 92% probability of a rate hike by the June meeting, which is up from 73% at the start of April.

DCM Weekly Market Update

Monday, April 9, 2018

The Canadian corporate primary market was relatively quiet last week, with John Deere Canada being the only corporate issuer to access the C$ market, pricing a C$200 million 3.5-year transaction with RBC acting as joint bookrunner. Despite elevated volatility in broader markets which has persisted through recent weeks on the back of global trade-related concerns, John Deere was able to capitalize on a window of stable tone in Canada, with the capped deal size and investor support for the credit allowing them to price at the tight end of guidance with a modest new issue concession. South of the border, Enbridge Inc. priced a US$600 million offering (including greenshoe) of retail-targeted 60NC5 hybrid notes, also led by RBC, representing Enbridge's second hybrid priced this year. On the marketing front, RBC will be hosting its annual Canadian Municipal Symposium on Monday as well as its annual Green Bond Conference on Tuesday. Looking ahead, market tone and investor sentiment continue to be headline-driven, and issuers looking to access the market in the near-term are encouraged to adopt a nimble and opportunistic approach and prepare for quick access during windows of stable tone.

In the secondary market, bank paper was active with both deposit notes and NVCC paper active in the belly of the curve. Hybrid paper was also topical on the week with sizable flows on the back of the new supply south of the border, while energy and infrastructure credits were active primarily in the long end of the curve. Credit spreads fluctuated over the course of the week amidst elevated volatility, ending the week unchanged to modestly wider depending on the industry.

Activity in the government market picked up with C$2.1 billion priced across 4 deals, all in the 10-year part of the curve. Quebec accessed the market twice for C$1 billion aggregate with two C$500 million offerings of their new 10-year benchmark offering, while Ontario printed C$750 million of a new 10-year benchmark, and Manitoba tapped their 10-year for C$300 million. In the secondary market better client buying was seen through the week with the majority of volumes occurring in the 10-year part of the curve. Spreads ended the week 0.5-1.5bps wider in CMBs and 3-4bps wider in Provincials.

EQUITY MARKET UPDATE

North American equites ended the week lower on both sides of the border after a dramatic selloff on Friday wiped out modest gains mid-week, with major equity indices closing 0.7% to 2.1% lower on the week. Broad-based fears of a trade war continued to fuel sentiment after President Trump ordered a review of additional tariffs on an estimated $100 billion of Chinese exports, with major US equity indices plunging in response and all 30 members of the DJIA retreating, while the CBOE Volatility Index spiked to above 20, nearly double its level for the past year. Global concerns were exacerbated further after Treasury Secretary Steve Mnuchin indicated that a trade war between the US and China was a real possibility. The NASDAQ experienced the greatest weekly declines of US indices, ending 2.1% lower as technology heavyweight Facebook was hit with uncertainty around the reported data breach and CEO Mark Zuckerberg's Congress testimony in the week ahead. North of the border, Canadian equities declined in sympathy with their US counterparts despite statements from Canada's foreign minister indicating that NAFTA discussions are progressing well and that the tone of discussions with US and Mexican counterparts has been "positive". Also on the week, oil retreated 4.4% to $62.06/bbl while gold rose 0.6% to $1,333.03/oz, while the US dollar fell 0.8% against the loonie to close at 1.2782 USDCAD.

NORTH AMERICAN RATES UPDATE

North American government bond yields ended the week higher on a week-over-week basis, with both the US and Canadian yield curves steepening despite the flight to quality move on Friday which fueled a bid for government securities in the tail-end of the week in response to trade war concerns. On the economic data front, March employment data releases on both sides of the border diverged, with nonfarm payrolls in the US disappointing markets, coming in at 103k (versus increases of 176k and 326k in January and February, respectively) while the unemployment rate held steady at 4.1%; in Canada the unemployment rate continued to sit at its lowest level since the mid-1970s (5.8%) despite ~40k job losses in Q1 of this year. The futures market is pricing in a ~22% probability of a rate hike at the Bank of Canada's April 18th meeting, with the Bank's Business Outlook survey (set to release on Monday) being the last major indicator ahead of the meeting.

DCM Weekly Market Update

Monday, April 2, 2018

The Canadian corporate primary market was active last week despite the Friday holiday, with five issuers accessing the Canadian dollar market for aggregate proceeds of ~C$3.5 billion. RBC acted as lead left bookrunner on the only Canadian league table eligible offering during the week, a C$500 million 19.2-year offering from Greater Toronto Airports Authority, of which net proceeds were used in part to fund the GTAA's previously announced redemption of its outstanding 2019 maturity. South of the border, Bell Canada priced its first US$ offering in over 20 years, capitalizing on attractive relative pricing dynamics in the US market with a US$750 million 30-year transaction, led by RBC. The remainder of the week's supply was concentrated in the financial space, with CIBC and Bank of Nova Scotia pricing C$2.5 billion in NVCC and deposit note offerings, while in the securitization space Laurentian Bank priced an NHA MBS transaction and MCAP priced an offering of mortgage pass-through securities. From an overall tone perspective, the week's new issuance was well received by investors despite persisting volatility globally, with encouraging levels of oversubscription allowing issuers to achieve target size objectives and tight pricing. Looking ahead to coming weeks, investor appetite for corporate product remains healthy despite ongoing geopolitical uncertainly and recent new issues continue to trade well in the secondary market.

In the secondary market, trading flows were healthy across the curve. Maple bonds were active in the belly, while utility and infrastructure names traded in the long end on the back of the week's new supply while telco names were also active two-way across the curve. Credit spreads fluctuated over the course of the week amidst elevated volatility, with IG spreads ending the week ~4 bps wider and the 10-year part of the curve outperforming.

The government market was quiet this week with no new issues. Of note, the Provinces of Newfoundland, Quebec, and Ontario released their FY2018/19 budgets this week with Quebec and Ontario noting borrowing needs of C$13.4 billion and C$31.7 billion respectively. With most Provinces having released their budgets, healthy issuance can be expected in the coming weeks as issuers look to have a strong start to the new fiscal year. In the secondary market flows were healthy given it was a shortened week, with good two-way flow in provincals with volumes concentrated in the 10-year sector. CMBs also had a decent week with two-way volumes spread evenly across the curve. Spreads ended 3-4.5bps wider in provincials and 1-1.5bps wider across the curve.

EQUITY MARKET UPDATE

North American equity markets ended the week higher after a series of choppy trading sessions. Trade war concerns remained a driver of market tone globally as Chinese representatives issued a warning to the US not to “open the Pandora’s box” and spark a flurry of protectionist practices across the globe, despite statements by Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin indicating optimism that the US and China could avert a trade war. Away from trade, technology shares were topical over the course of the week including Facebook as the company continued to grapple with the aftermath of its involvement in the Cambridge Analytica incident, while Amazon also made headlines after President Trump accused the company, via Twitter, of not paying taxes. Despite volatility throughout the week, equity indices closed higher by 1% to 2.4% on either side of the border. Commodities underperformed, with oil down $0.93 to $64.95/bbl while gold fell $22.03 to $1325.30. Also on the week, the US dollar fell 0.1% against the loonie to 1.2885 USDCAD.

NORTH AMERICAN RATES UPDATE

North American bond yields ended the week sharply lower on both sides of the border. GoC yields ended the week 8-10 bps lower after a disappointing January GDP reading (-0.1% versus consensus expectation of 0.1% growth) on Thursday dominated an otherwise quiet week from an economic data perspective. Market implied odds of a BoC rate hike at the April 18th meeting declined over the course of the week, from ~32% to approximately 23% heading into the long weekend. In the US, Treasury yields from the 5-year outwards fell 4-9 bps after reaching mid-week levels which were the lowest since early February, on the back of risk-off tone in broader asset markets as selloffs in equities weighed on sentiment, with the market largely ignoring the third reading of Q4 GDP which came in at an annualized pace of 2.9%, ahead of consensus expectations for 2.7%.

DCM Weekly Market Update

Monday, March 26, 2018

The Canadian corporate primary market was very active last week with 7 unique issuers accessing the market for C$5.6 billion despite equity markets sell-off on the back-end of the week brought by the Trump administration's decision to impose tariffs on China's exportations to the U.S. Last week's supply was concentrated in the financial space representing more than C$4.6 billion, or 80%+, of total issuance. Notably, Manulife Bank of Canada priced an innovative and unique short-dated callable C$300 million floating rate note with RBC acting as sole bookrunner. Activity continued in the auto finance space with a C$1.5 billion three-tranche offering from VW Credit Canada Inc., which represented VW's return to the Canadian market since its last trade in June 2015, with RBC acting as bookrunner. Away from financials, NAV CANADA priced a broadly distributed 30-year offering with a new issue spread representing the lowest 30-year spread since the credit crisis by over 23bps, with RBC acting as lead left bookrunner. In addition, Pembina Pipeline, the sole BBB corporate offering of the week, priced a C$700 million dual-tranche offering where both tranches were upsized and priced inside initial guidance. Across all offerings, new issue concessions remained modest despite broader market volatility. On the marketing front, RBC hosted a North American debt investor update call on behalf of Sydney Airport and organized non-deal fixed income marketing in the U.S. for Bell Canada. Looking forward, supply is expected to be front-loaded this week ahead of the Easter break with issuers closely monitoring markets for constructive tone.

The secondary market was moderately active last week with activity skewed toward the financial space as new supply fueled trading activity. On the week, there was some front-end net selling in deposit notes while there was good two-way trading in infrastructure and telco names.

The Canadian government market saw C$300 million of supply on the week as a number of provincial issuers remained in budget blackout. City of Toronto completed their first offering of 2018 with a C$300 million 10-year re-opening, marking their first issue since August 2017. This week saw both Alberta and Nova Scotia release their provincial budgets for the upcoming fiscal year, with Quebec, Ontario, and Newfoundland expected to release theirs this coming week. While the March break holidays have passed, secondary trading remained relatively light. CMBs experienced better client buying in the 5-year part of the curve while provincials traded two-way with small selling in the 10-year area. Spreads closed 1-3bps wider in provincials and relatively unchanged in CMBs.

EQUITY MARKET UPDATE

North American equity markets ended the week lower following a steady sell off at the back-end of the week. On the political front, escalating trade tensions between the U.S. and China, and returning concerns of a government shutdown at the start of the week accelerated declines caused by a rising interest rate environment and sliding technology shares. The Trump administration's aggressive pursuit to reduce the country's trade deficit and the recent retaliation from China has pressured the Dow and S&P 500 lower by 5.7% and 6.0%, respectively. Also topical last week was mounting political pressures on technology companies following the announcement of the data breach that impacted 50 million Facebook users; the NASDAQ ended the week 6.5% lower. In Canada the TSX also ended the week lower despite concessions made by the US surrounding NAFTA negotiations in the auto sector and a better-than-expected inflation print to end the week. As markets took on a risk-off tone, the commodity sector posted gains with crude oil up $3.40 to $65.74/bbl, and gold rallied $33.09 to $1,347.33/oz. In currencies, the Canadian dollar appreciated against the greenback by 1.5% to 1.2895.

NORTH AMERICAN RATES UPDATE

North American government bond yields diverged following another politically charged week with new shifts in trade policy across major partnerships. The GoC curve bear flattened as it rose by 3-9 bps while the US Treasuries curve fell by 2-4bps after a swift flight to quality on Thursday following the announcement of trade tariff on China's exports to the U.S.; the Trump administration imposed tariffs on over $60 billion of Chinese imports and restricted investments. On the monetary policy front, the Federal Reserve, as expected, increased its Fed fund rate by 25 bps last Wednesday; the announcement ushered in the first increase in 2018 and is in line with the Fed's target of three hikes this year. In addition, the Fed had a small hawkish tilt as they updated their dot plot to include three rate hikes in 2019 (vs. two from the December meeting). In Canada, the government yield curve ended the week with a bear steepening bias as the short-end was driven higher by a better than expected inflation print; the CPI rose 2.2% on a year-over-year basis, beyond the market expectation of 1.9%.

DCM Weekly Market Update

Monday, February 5, 2018

The Canadian corporate primary market absorbed C$5.8 billion of supply last week across 9 issuers, with supply diversified across industry and credit rating spectrum. Of note, floating rate notes accounted for ~C$2.2 billion of the week's issuance, compared to C$6.7 billion of FRN issuance in all of 2017. Financials accounted for the lions' share of new issues ($4.7 billion) with Central1 Credit Union as well as 4 of the big 6 Canadian banks all accessing the market. Auto and REIT credits were also topical with BMW Canada pricing a dual-tranche offering while RioCan and Artis REIT both came to market in the shorter end of the curve. Superior Plus rounded out supply with the first high yield deal of the year via a C$220 million long 7-year. All of the week's transactions benefitted from healthy investor reception, allowing issuers to achieve size and pricing targets, with RBC leading 4 of the 5 non-bank offerings. Also notable on the week, Canadian National Railway accessed the US$ market with a $900 million dual-tranche offering consisting of a 2-year and a 30-year, with RBC acting as joint bookrunner on the transaction. On the marketing front, RBC announced non-deal fixed income investor marketing on behalf of Cameco Corporation to take place on February 12th and 14th in Toronto and Montreal, and will also be hosting its annual Montreal Fixed Income Symposium on February 22nd .

In the secondary market, bank paper was active with deposit notes and NVCC paper garnering healthy two-way flow across the curve on the back of elevated bank supply over the course of the week. Also topical were long-dated utilities and pipeline credits in the belly of the curve, as well as FRNs with paper coming out against the new supply. Spreads ended the week unchanged to ~2bps softer as the market digested the week's new issuance.

The Government market absorbed C$1.1 billion of supply across 2 provincial offerings. The Province of Ontario completed a C$750 million 10-year offering in the middle of the week followed by Manitoba which printed a C$300 million 30-year re-opening. In the secondary market volumes were decent throughout the week with good two-way trading of provincials and activity concentrated in the front end. CMB volumes picked up versus the week prior with the majority of volumes occurring in the 5-year part of the curve. Spreads closed the week 0.5-1.5bps tighter in CMBs and 1-2bps tighter in provincials.

EQUITY MARKET UPDATE

North American stocks made headlines as indices plunged dramatically on both sides of the border, down 3.5% to 4.1% in line with global counterparts as stocks sold off globally amidst a stronger than expected jobs report and wage growth driving concern about inflation and rising rates.. On Friday the Dow experienced its worst daily performance since the Brexit turmoil in June 2016 (down 660+ points). North of the border, the TSX posted its worst week in 2 years with healthcare stocks spearheading losses amidst underperformance in marijuana stocks while energy shares also declined as the WCS/WTI differential widened to its largest level since 2013 ($30.55). Commodities also closed lower on the week, with WTI down 1.0% to $65.45/boe while gold fell 1.2% to $1,333.39/oz. The US dollar outperformed versus CAD, rising 1.0% to 1.2429 USDCAD fueled by strong employment data south of the border.

NORTH AMERICAN RATES UPDATE

North American bond yields ended the week higher with both the US and Canadian yield curves steepening significantly, with yields up 3-11 bps in Canada and 3-18 bps in the US. The Federal Reserve unanimously opted to leave its target rate unchanged on Wednesday in what was Janet Yellen's last meeting as Fed Chair, although the tone of its release was noticeably more hawkish noting that growth in employment and business investment are "solid" and inflation is expected to move up this year, setting up expectations for a rate hike in March. Nonfarm payrolls rose 200k in January while the US unemployment rate remained at 4.1%, driving Treasury yields up further on Friday. In Canada, the November GDP release marked the week's primary data point, coming in at +0.4% following a flat reading in October, driven by a surge in the mining and manufacturing sectors and consistent with 1.9% annualized pace of growth in Q4. This week's data calendar sees a handful of housing reports as well as unemployment and the first formal speech by a BoC Governing Council member with Senior Deputy Governor Wilkins scheduled to speak on February 8th.

DCM Weekly Market Update

Monday, June 4, 2018

The Canadian corporate primary market was moderately active last week with ~C$1.8 billion of aggregate supply priced across 4 transactions. The highlight of the week was a C$300 million 10-year senior unsecured offering from ENMAX Corp with RBC acting as Joint Bookrunner. The transaction represented the company's first outing since 2014 and capitalized on a successful 2-day fixed income investor roadshow earlier in the week, which helped to generate momentum into the launch, drive a well oversubscribed orderbook and allowed for aggressive pricing at the tight-end of the marketed range. Also on the week, HSBC Bank Canada printed a benchmark C$1.25 billion 5-year offering, which represents the company's return to the Canadian market since it last printed a C$1.5 billion 5-year in November 2017. On the marketing front, RBC hosted select 1x1 investor meetings for Vesta Energy, a fixed income investor update for EPCOR Utilities as well as its 10th Annual Telecommunications & Media Fixed Income Conference in Toronto, which was well-attended by both investors and issuers. This week, RBC will be hosting fixed income marketing for John Deere Canada and Canadian Tire Corporation as well as a two-day C$ high yield roadshow for Millar Western Forest Products Ltd in advance of a contemplated C$150 million 5NC2-year senior secured first lien notes offering. Looking ahead, as the roadshow calendar continues to grow the new issue market remains highly constructive for supply with investors looking to put cash to work in light of the death of new corporate issuance in recent weeks.

The secondary market was fairly muted during the first couple sessions with activity picking-up towards the back-end of the week. Short-dated deposit notes were fairly active with a bias towards selling on the back of new bank supply, while corporate trading was generally concentrated in the insurance space, which saw some large block trades to close the week, and select retail and auto finance names that traded two-way in size through multiple sessions. On average, corporate credit spreads closed 3 bps wider versus the prior week.

The Canadian provincial primary market remained active this week with long-dated issues from Ontario and Quebec for C$750 million and C$500 million, respectively. The 30-year tenor has remained the preferred term of issuance for provincial issuers in May, accounting for 43% of supply as issuers have taken advantage of recent curve flattening and investor demand ahead of the index extension. In municipals, Region of Waterloo completed a C$26.6 million 1-10 year serial with RBC as Lead, representing the issuer's first offering of 2018. In the secondary market trading was active ahead of the June 1 index extension and June 1-2 coupon flows with two way trading throughout the curve and a number of large extension trades in both CMB and provincial names. Spreads ended the week 0.5bp wider in provincials and 1.5-2.5bps wider in CMBs.

EQUITY MARKET UPDATE

North American equity markets ended the week mixed as overseas headlines surrounding the political shakeup in Italy dominated market tone through the week causing investors to pull out of risky assets. The week began with a sharp reversal in tone with overnight news coming out that political developments in Italy had taken a turn for the worst, with the Italian populist coalition leaders having planned a day of protest against the government. Local financial markets were hit hard and the reaction spilled over into other peripheries in the earlier part of the week. However, Friday's session brought some relief after overnight news had come out that the political debacle had seen some resolution with the coalition leaders having agreed upon a cabinet and new government officials. US equity markets partially recovered losses to end the week with the Dow Jones rising from a trough to close just 0.5% in the red, while the S&P 500 rose 0.5% to end the week. In Canada, the S&P/TSX finished marginally lower by 0.2% after initially plummeting by 1.2% mid-week. In commodity markets, crude oil finished the week $2.07 lower to close at $65.81/bbl, while gold prices also fell by $8.85 to close at $1,293.40/oz. In currency markets, the Canadian dollar appreciated a modest 0.2% versus the greenback to close at 1.2951 USDCAD.

NORTH AMERICAN RATES UPDATE

North American government bond yields ended the session lower on both sides of the border last week as political headlines out of Italy, central bank activity and economic data releases sparked a risk-off trade. In the US, the Treasury curve flattened modestly with the front-end falling 0-2 bps, while the 30-year benchmark yield ended 4bps lower. The move in Canada was more pronounced than its US counterpart with the yield curve flattening as the short-end fell 4-7bps, while the 10 and 30-year benchmark yields ended 10 bps lower. Last week notably featured a Bank of Canada rate announcement, which brought no change to the overnight policy rate, as widely expected, but interestingly there was a shift to a slightly more hawkish tone following several consecutive meetings characterized by reticence. In particular, Governor Poloz admitted that recent developments "further reinforced" that higher interest rates would be warranted – dropping the "over time" modifier. Notwithstanding the Bank's constructive outlook, Thursday's Q1 GDP report fell a little short of consensus (1.3% vs. 1.8%) in the headline measure. The market implied odds of a rate hike by July spiked from ~50% just before the BoC announcement to nearly 75% to close the week.

Hi Gadi
In short, that's true. Moody's action on Ontario will have no immediate effect on the ratings of FHT. Moody's rates FHT in line with the Province's rating, and has stated that any move on Ontario will also move their ratings on the FH program. However, under securitization methodology, rating directions are not used, so there is no current change on FHT, but if the Province is downgraded, FHT will also be downgraded.

Thanks, Alex. I was told that structured finance ratings don't have negative outlooks; the rating is simply the rating, so Moody's putting us on negative outlook doesn't immediately affect their rating of the FHT. It's only if we were to get downgraded that they would also downgrade FHT. Seems weird to me, but that's what I was told, and given that you've proceeded with the FHT transaction, I assume it's true?

The key point being, Moody's assumes at some point over the horizon of the program the Province will step in, thus linking the ratings. As a reminder, if this were to happen, the Province will assume the debt.

DBRS

* Look at the transaction through a structured finance lens
* Change of law that could invoke a Protection Event is mitigated by the risk the FHT platform would become a liability of the Province, legislation took a long time to draft and pass, adverse change of law could bring into question other Provincial guarantee arrangements
* Significant enhancement (almost 100%) supports the senior notes, as does true-up mechanism, non-bypassability of recovery charge
* Amount of recovery charge is small as a percentage of the overall electricity user bill

Moody's

* The program as structured and under current law and regulations is considered to be of similar credit quality to US utility cost recovery programs rated by Moody's
* However, the FHT program's 30-year term, combined with the pervasive role of the Province and its related entities in many aspects of this transaction, increase the risk that the Province could make future changes to the law or related regulations that could adversely affect the outstanding obligations under the FHT program
* The Provincial guarantee is a mitigant to this risk, but it is not as robust as the constitutional protection found in similar US programs. Accordingly, Moody's has linked the provisional ratings of the notes to the Aa2 rating of the Province
* Future changes to the Province's rating will result in similar changes to the ratings of the notes.

Given that MOE has the debt and repayment forecasts on an annual basis they may want to take a crack at the impact using the 23 bps as a start.

Hi Ken,
We've been asked to review and provide input to the attached "long-form answers" for SCOPA. As you heard in the meeting today, Gadi feels they need quite a bit of work, so please let your team know to edit/delete/add as they see fit. There's not much for us in the "Balanced Budget" answer (more an OB/OEP lead), but the debt and Fair Hydro answers will require our review.
Could I ask for your edits by noon tomorrow?
Usman - I assume CEFD is looking at the Fair Hydro answer as well? Let's coordinate our input.

Subject: FW: SCOPA QA Fact Check Request

Hi Ken,

We've been asked to review and provide input to the attached "long-form answers" for SCOPA. As you heard in the meeting today, Gadi feels they need quite a bit of work, so please let your team know to edit/delete/add as they see fit. There's not much for us in the "Balanced Budget" answer (more an OB/OEP lead), but the debt and Fair Hydro answers will require our review.

Could I ask for your edits by noon tomorrow?

Usman - I assume CEFD is looking at the Fair Hydro answer as well? Let's coordinate our input.

Thanks, Anna

I haven't seen material recently on what OPG is doing on the rate on the sub-debt. Would one of you have an update on the current thinking on that?

If you have the original spread assumption, it may be relatively easy to do a back of the envelope estimation.

Thanks will review shortly, not sure if you saw Gadi's email on the impact of OPG borrowing on the OFHP.

Given that MOE has the debt and repayment forecasts on an annual basis they may want to take a crack at the impact using the 23 bps as a start.

Cc'ing Mike since he may have something to add.

Thanks

Hi John

I spoke to our DM's office and Scott's email is Scott.Thompson@ontario.ca, As required by the Process Agreement between the Province and OPG, pls forward the documents pertaining to the upcoming term deal by email to Scott with a cc to the following:

Given that the Process Agreement requires OPG to also provide the same documents to MOE, I am cc'ing Steen and Tim so that they can inform their DM's Office as well.

With regard to the waiver, pls see Malle's comments below, it would also be useful if OPG were to provide a rationale as to why waiving the 10 business days requirement which may allow for term debt issuance in mid-January by the Trust is more beneficial than issuance either later in the same month or early February.

Thanks

It would be very helpful if OPG and Torys could provide to us a timetable and schedule for delivery of reference documents that are being prepared and when do we expect to get them and when is the proposed issuance. On that basis we can review the timing and determine whether a waiver will be necessary and if it is how it might be processed. Unfortunately we haven't received any updates or draft documents since the closing of the warehouse deal. Also is there a plan for distributing to the Province the documents from the warehouse closing?
Thanks

I should add that the waiver of the 10 BD requirement needs to be executed in writing by the Province (which means we will need signatures from each Minister). Will that be achievable? If not, perhaps we can proceed on the basis of an email waiver with the waiver signed by the Ministers to follow as soon as possible. Sorry but it is going to be a pain in the butt navigating through this agreement … hopefully the Province will realize that and agree to make some amendments!

Subject: Change of Law Process Agreement - Section 2.1(b)(ii) Document Deliveries
Importance: High

All,

Reference is made to the Change of Law Process Agreement between Her Majesty the Queen in Right of Ontario, as represented by the Minister of Energy and the Minister of Finance (the Province") and Ontario Power Generation Inc. ("OPG") to be dated as of December 21, 2017 (the "Change of Law Process Agreement"). All capitalized terms used and not defined in this email shall have their respective meanings in the Change of Law Process Agreement.

On behalf of OPG, we have hand-delivered today to the Ministers and the Deputy Ministers the forms of Transaction Documents set out in the attached cover letter. For ease of reference, we also attach these documents here and attach blacklines to the last versions of the term supplemental indentures circulated to you. If you would like a blackline of any other Transaction Document, please send us the version you reviewed last.

We consider these forms settled other than:

- There is one change that has been proposed by the dealers, and which is under discussion, that will impact the term supplemental indentures and will necessitate some additional disclosure to the term sheet. The dealers have advised that following a Principal Payment Date (i.e. the date on which all amounts owing under the notes are expected to be repaid in full), it would be typical for the interest payment dates to accelerate to monthly (instead of semi-annually). Once the dealers and OPG have an opportunity to discuss and come to an agreement on this point next week, the necessary changes to reflect this will be made to the term supplemental indentures and the term sheet

- there are still some bullets in these documents which will be addressed closer to closing (including dates, pricing information and the names of all of the Agents)

- we expect there will be some minor clean up to the OM (including making sure all of our cross-references are correct and that the glossary picks up all defined terms).

Please let us know if you have any questions.

Best Regards,
Nina

Subject: Change of Law Process Agreement - Section 2.1(b)(ii) Document Deliveries
Importance: High

All,

Reference is made to the Change of Law Process Agreement between Her Majesty the Queen in Right of Ontario, as represented by the Minister of Energy and the Minister of Finance (the Province") and Ontario Power Generation Inc. ("OPG") to be dated as of December 21, 2017 (the "Change of Law Process Agreement"). All capitalized terms used and not defined in this email shall have their respective meanings in the Change of Law Process Agreement.

On behalf of OPG, we have hand-delivered today to the Ministers and the Deputy Ministers the forms of Transaction Documents set out in the attached cover letter. For ease of reference, we also attach these documents here and attach blacklines to the last versions of the term supplemental indentures circulated to you. If you would like a blackline of any other Transaction Document, please send us the version you reviewed last.

We consider these forms settled other than:

· There is one change that has been proposed by the dealers, and which is under discussion, that will impact the term supplemental indentures and will necessitate some additional disclosure to the term sheet. The dealers have advised that following a Principal Payment Date (i.e. the date on which all amounts owing under the notes are expected to be repaid in full), it would be typical for the interest payment dates to accelerate to monthly (instead of semi-annually). Once the dealers and OPG have an opportunity to discuss and come to an agreement on this point next week, the necessary changes to reflect this will be made to the term supplemental indentures and the term sheet

· there are still some bullets in these documents which will be addressed closer to closing (including dates, pricing information and the names of all of the Agents)

· we expect there will be some minor clean up to the OM (including making sure all of our cross-references are correct and that the glossary picks up all defined terms).

Please let us know if you have any questions.

Best Regards,
Nina

Hi Nina

I am having trouble receiving the email with the attachments because the attachments are large. Is it possible for you to resend the attachments in separate emails? Sorry about that and would appreciate it so I can review.

Other than the 55 School Board Trust, which I think was 15 or so years ago, and has since been wound up (or at least we've taken on the debt), I can't think of any special purpose entities that raise debt. Maybe I'm missing something.

Having said that, it isn't the Province that is using a trust to raise debt in his case, it is OPG. Maybe the question should be asked of them as to why they're using this structure instead of borrowing directly as OPG?

Is your office able to review these responses in a short time frame so that we can respond to the G&M reporter soon?

Hi Malle,

OPCD has received a few follow-up questions from the Globe and Mail journalist that authored the April 21st article, "Bad Books". One of the questions below requires the OFA's review as it relates to the protection agreement. We don't have any concerns with the language OPCD has provided below (as taken from OPG's financial statements)– could you let us know whether you have any concerns? I understand that OPCD is hoping to respond to the G&M by 10am this morning.

5. The Auditor General has said that the Province on Ontario provides capital markets with a guarantee on debt instruments issued by the Fair Hydro Trust. Please provide a copy of that guarantee.

Anna,

I was pondering how to respond to the Special Purpose Trust question, but OPCD came back and did a fair response on it. "Trust" is used loosely by people and it could mean many things.

OPCD's response for #1 and #3 may be too technical and convoluted for non-accountants to understand to be honest, but I don't see how to avoid it.

Our only action item appears to be highlighted in yellow in #5 about what is our standard response on guarantees to investors wrt the FH. I'll have to check with Mike first thing tomorrow morning if there is a prior blurb given to the public or a standard Q&A about guarantees in general.

Thanks.

John

Hi DMO & OPCD colleagues,

I have received follow-up questions from Matt McClearn in follow-up to the table of corrections that was shared with him last week. See below:

"Just working through your document. Some of the issues you raise are quite technical in nature. I have a few questions and requests arising from them:

- Where does the borrowing of the Fair Hydro Trust appear on the Government of Ontario's Consolidated Statement of Financial Position?
- How does the borrowing of the Fair Hydro Trust affect the Province of Ontario's reported net debt?
- How does OPG's borrowing related to the Fair Hydro Trust appear on the Government of Ontario's Consolidated Statement of Financial Position?
- How does OPG's borrowing related to the Fair Hydro Plan affect the Province of Ontario's reported net debt?
- The Auditor General has said that the Province on Ontario provides capital markets with a guarantee on debt instruments issued by the Fair Hydro Trust. Please provide a copy of that guarantee.
- When did the government begin using special purpose trusts to issue debt? Please provide a list of all special purpose trusts controlled by the government, the date they were created, and how much debt they had outstanding at Mar. 31, 2018.
- When you refer to "gross debt," what are you referring to? Where is that item reported on the Public Accounts?"

We will work with OPCD to develop responses to the above.

Hi all, confirming that Lawvin has also reviewed the response and didn't flag any concerns.
Alisha will be responding to the reporter when she gets back to her computer around 9pm tonight.
Copying Sarah H for awareness.

For sure.

Re timing, I believe Helen had asked that this go to the reporter today. Alisha can send after 9pm if that's essential. If not we can do it first thing. Do you have a preference?

Hi Jason,

Attached is the proposed response to the follow-up questions from the G&M reporter.

The responses have been fact checked by OTB/OPCD, OFA, and OPG.

Is your office able to review these responses in a short time frame so that we can respond to the G&M reporter soon?

Thanks.

Yes I understand that, but they requested it nevertheless which would have resulted in the Province having very little time to review these documents.

To clarify Malle, the waiver requested related to an issue date of Jan 15th, given that as per the attached email the date is now the 22nd no waiver is required.

Yes this would be my understanding based on the emails so far. They want to meet the 10 business day deadline for sending reference documents to the Province before their proposed transaction date. They have even requested that this time period be waived which would result in the Province having less time to these documents. As you know we haven't received a draft of the OM since November.

I am little concerned that with a proposed date of Jan 22nd for the term deal, delivery today will ensure that the 10 business day expire on Jan 19th, whereas delivery on Monday means that the expiry is on the day of the deal itself. Cutting it too close.

Thanks

Hi Malle, we expect the documents being delivered today will be “Substantially in the Form” (as defined in the change of law process agreement) of the final documents — we will need to fill in some bullets such as dates, pricing information, the names of all of the Agents and I expect there will be some minor clean up to the OM (for instance, making sure all of our cross-references are correct and that the glossary picks up all defined terms) but otherwise we are not anticipating any material changes to the forms of the documents being delivered.

Hi Rima,

I have a further question for clarification and perhaps it would make sense to have a call this morning. As you know we have not seen any further drafts of these documents since before the warehouse closing. Have all of these transaction documents now been done in final form? What is their status?

Thanks,

Hi Rima

Thanks for the update. I think it would be helpful if you included Toby, Alena and myself on the email where you attach the documents in order to save time. Also it would be helpful if you include track changes versions as you suggest.

Thanks

Subject: RE: EXTERNAL – Delivery of Reference Documentation to Province

Hi Malle, Alena and Toby, Happy New Year to all of you. John forwarded the email below and attached and asked that I connect with you and provide an update. I have included the business folks on this email to make sure we are all on the same page. As John notes below, we had been working towards being in a position to commence marketing for the term deal on January 15th but if marketing is pushed to January 22 or later, then a waiver of the 10 business day requirement should not be necessary. I will let our respective clients advise us on that point and we can come back to the logistics/process for obtaining a waiver should we need one.

(1) Supplemental Indenture for the Series 2018-1 Term Notes

(2) Supplemental Indenture for the Series 2018-1 Subordinated Term Notes

(3) Supplemental Indenture for the Series 2018-1 Junior Subordinated Term Notes

(4) Agency Agreement

(5) Offering Memorandum (including the investor presentation attached as an exhibit to the OM)

(6) Term Sheet supplementing the Offering Memorandum

As you may recall, under the change of law process agreement, all deliveries are required to be made by mail, fax or delivered by hand to each of the Ministers and Deputy Ministers of the MOF and the MOE. To comply with the agreement, we plan on hand delivering the above documents to each of the Ministers and Deputy Ministers tomorrow. We can also email all of these documents to all of you and anyone else you would like us to send these to (in addition to Scott Thompson, Gadi Mayman, Anna Strathy, David McLean, Jonathan Tekle, Mike Manning and Ken Kandeepan -- as requested in Ken's email below). I believe that earlier drafts of all of the term supplemental indentures and the agency agreement were previously circulated to you -- for ease of reference, please let us know if it would be helpful for us to include blacklines to the last versions we sent to you in the email.

Let us know if you agree with the above approach, and feel free to reach out if you have any questions or would like to discuss.

Malle, you had also asked about delivery of the documents from the warehouse closing -- closing books are in progress and we expect to have those ready for circulation next week. Again, in order to comply with the change of law process agreement, the electronic closing books will be delivered to the Ministers and Deputy Ministers of each of the MOF and MOE, but we are happy to also send a copy to others on your instruction.

Thanks,

Rima

Ken/Steen:

We are operating under the assumption that it was the Province desire to execute the term deal as early as possible in 2018 which would involve a launch on the 15th. If the preference is now to adhere to the 10 business day requirement and not waive it we are happy to do so and commence marketing later in the month on the 22nd.

Please advise and we will adjust the work plan accordingly.

Hi John

I spoke to our DM's office and Scott's email is Scott.Thompson@ontario.ca<mailto:Scott.Thompson@ontario.ca>, As required by the Process Agreement between the Province and OPG, pls forward the documents pertaining to the upcoming term deal by email to Scott with a cc to the following:

Given that the Process Agreement requires OPG to also provide the same documents to MOE, I am cc'ing Steen and Tim so that they can inform their DM's Office as well.

With regard to the waiver, pls see Malle's comments below, it would also be useful if OPG were to provide a rationale as to why waiving the 10 business days requirement which may allow for term debt issuance in mid-January by the Trust is more beneficial than issuance either later in the same month or early February.

Thanks

Subject: Re: Waiver Process

It would be very helpful if OPG and Torys could provide to us a timetable and schedule for delivery of reference documents that are being prepared and when do we expect to get them and when is the proposed issuance. On that basis we can review the timing and determine whether a waiver will be necessary and if it is how it might be processed. Unfortunately we haven't received any updates or draft documents since the closing of the warehouse deal. ?Also is there a plan for distributing to the Province the documents from the warehouse closing?

Thanks

I should add that the waiver of the 10 BD requirement needs to be executed in writing by the Province (which means we will need signatures from each Minister). Will that be achievable? If not, perhaps we can proceed on the basis of an email waiver with the waiver signed by the Ministers to follow as soon as possible. Sorry but it is going to be a pain in the butt navigating through this agreement … hopefully the Province will realize that and agree to make some amendments!

OK. I assume the DM of Finance will sign off on behalf of the Minister of Finance. But what about the Minister of Energy? > I'm not sure how this materiality discussion will relate to the Province commenting on the OM. The base form of the OM was not envisioned as of December 20th, and so it is unclear to me that the material effect discussion is relevant for that purpose.

> I have been expecting that the Province would be quite involved in the production of the OM, and not just for information purposes.
> To illustrate the sorts of items I would anticipate being relevant to the Province in reviewing the OM, I attach a partial mark-up of the Nov 17th OM (the only one we ever saw) to show how (among other things) the narratives included at that time were not aligned with the legislation. The partial mark-up is a comparison to the version circulated by Alena that included James Rehob's comments. Also, as you know, the Change of Law terms were substantially settled after November 17th, and so those portions of the OM will also be quite different.
> Generally, the sorts of things I think the Province may be concerned about in reviewing the OM will include:
> (a) ensuring that the description of the Protection Agreement is accurate and does not overstate the Province's obligations,
> (b) ensuring that the limitations contemplated in s. 40 of OFHPA and s.19 of the General Regulation have been observed,
> (c) eliminating any implied/moral undertakings by the Province to bondholders,
> (d) scrutinizing any "risk factors", particularly as they might relate to the context in which Protection Events may arise,
> (e) confirming any disclosures regarding the Province's (Ministers') roles, including in setting the "fair allocation amount", accepting the "Financing Plan" provided to the Minister of Energy, etc.,
> (f) ensuring that any description of the Crown, Crown immunity, the OFHPA, the regulations made under it, the OIC, the authority of the LGIC, the provisions of the Electricity Act and related regulations and processes, the Financing Plan, the electricity market regulatory infrastructure and other relevant legal principles and contexts are all properly and accurately described (recognizing the risk that any statement may be attributed to the Province based on its close proximity to the program, and could become consequential in any future legal process that seeks to interpret the statute),
> (g) scrutinizing disclosures that could later become evidence in any legal proceeding that would challenge the validity of the OFHPA and related laws,
> (h) confirming any "electricity market" disclosures that could impact on underlying considerations, such as the potential for and impact of off-grid migration and by-pass risks, and

> In addition, the Province will need to confirm how James Rehob's earlier comments have been reflected in the OM.
> Given all this and the offering timing described by Torys, I think it makes sense to insist on getting the OM now and confirming with OPG that the Province will be taking a careful look at the document, which will take some time (at least 5 business days), and so that could impact the overall timing.

> As you know prior to the warehouse closing we were sent informally drafts of the reference documents as they developed. Since Dec 20th we have received no further drafts of these documents. I don't understand whether it is OPG's plan that they send final transactions documents today (10 days before) and then the Province has the right to object based on the parameters of "material effect" as defined in the Process Agreement. A draft of the investor presentation was circulated to the Province and some comments were being collected yesterday by Energy and the OFA.

> ""Material Effect" means a material adverse effect on the obligations or the rights of the Province under the Limited Guarantee, the Change of Law Protection Agreement or this Agreement that relates to, and in each case, differs in any material respect from the terms or conditions applicable to any other Transaction Document that forms part of the Reference Documentation at the relevant time, the following: (i) the timing of or circumstances under which related payments would or may become due or accrue (including as a result of any default, acceleration, termination, wind-up, liquidation or realization) that, in each case, is inconsistent with the Fair Allocation Amount; (ii) the appointment, obligations or duties of OPG as the Manager; (iii) the existence, powers or authority of the Financing Entity or the Financing Entity Trustee; (iv) the obligations of the Indenture Trustee to or in respect of the Province as a Specified Creditor; (v) the payment provisions and associated priorities set forth in the Trust Indenture; (vi) compliance by the FSM with the then applicable Financing Plan; (vii) compliance by the FSM or the Financing Entity with the Act or the General Regulation; or (viii) the Province's rights of subrogation or assignment (including pursuant to Sections 1.05, 2.01 or 5.01 of the Change of Law Protection Agreement) or its interests as a subrogee or an assignee, that would arise as a result of performing the Limited Guarantee in respect of the applicable Primary Obligation."

> Hi Malle, Alena and Toby, Happy New Year to all of you. John forwarded the email below and attached and asked that I connect with you and provide an update. I have included the business folks on this email to make sure we are all on the same page. As John notes below, we had been working towards being in a position to commence marketing for the term deal on January 15th but if marketing is pushed to January 22 or later, then a waiver of the 10 business day requirement should not be necessary. I will let our respective clients advise us on that point and we can come back to the logistics/process for obtaining a waiver should we need one.

> As you may recall, under the change of law process agreement, all deliveries are required to be made by mail, fax or delivered by hand to each of the Ministers and Deputy Ministers of the MOF and the MOE. To comply with the agreement, we plan on hand delivering the above documents to each of the Ministers and Deputy Ministers tomorrow. We can also email all of these documents to all of you and anyone else you would like us to send these to (in addition to Scott Thompson, Gadi Mayman, Anna Strathy, David McLean, Jonathan Tekle, Mike Manning and Ken Kandeepan -- as requested in Ken's email below). I believe that earlier drafts of all of the term supplemental indentures and the agency agreement were previously circulated to you -- for ease of reference, please let us know if it would be helpful for us to include blacklines to the last versions we sent to you in the email.

Again, in order to comply with the change of law process agreement, the electronic closing books will be delivered to the Ministers and Deputy Ministers of each of the MOF and MOE, but we are happy to also send a copy to others on your instruction.

On that basis we can review the timing and determine whether a waiver will be necessary and if it is how it might be processed. Unfortunately we haven't received any updates or draft documents since the closing of the warehouse deal. Also is there a plan for distributing to the Province the documents from the warehouse closing?

If not, perhaps we can proceed on the basis of an email waiver with the waiver signed by the Ministers to follow as soon as possible. Sorry but it is going to be a pain in the butt navigating through this agreement … hopefully the Province will realize that and agree to make some amendments!

Hi Malle, we expect the documents being delivered today will be “Substantially in the Form” (as defined in the change of law process agreement) of the final documents — we will need to fill in some bullets such as dates, pricing information, the names of all of the Agents and I expect there will be some minor clean up to the OM (for instance, making sure all of our cross-references are correct and that the glossary picks up all defined terms) but otherwise we are not anticipating any material changes to the forms of the documents being delivered.

I have a further question for clarification and perhaps it would make sense to have a call this morning. As you know we have not seen any further drafts of these documents since before the warehouse closing. Have all of these transaction documents now been done in final form? What is their status?

Thanks,

Hi Malle, Alena and Toby, Happy New Year to all of you. John forwarded the email below and attached and asked that I connect with you and provide an update. I have included the business folks on this email to make sure we are all on the same page. As John notes below, we had been working towards being in a position to commence marketing for the term deal on January 15th but if marketing is pushed to January 22 or later, then a waiver of the 10 business day requirement should not be necessary. I will let our respective clients advise us on that point and we can come back to the logistics/process for obtaining a waiver should we need one.

We are planning on delivering the following additional reference documentation to the Province tomorrow:

(1) Supplemental Indenture for the Series 2018-1 Term Notes
(2) Supplemental Indenture for the Series 2018-1 Subordinated Term Notes
(3) Supplemental Indenture for the Series 2018-1 Junior Subordinated Term Notes
(4) Agency Agreement
(5) Offering Memorandum (including the investor presentation attached as an exhibit to the OM)
(6) Term Sheet supplementing the Offering Memorandum

As you may recall, under the change of law process agreement, all deliveries are required to be made by mail, fax or delivered by hand to each of the Ministers and Deputy Ministers of the MOF and the MOE. To comply with the agreement, we plan on hand delivering the above documents to each of the Ministers and Deputy Ministers tomorrow. We can also email all of these documents to all of you and anyone else you would like us to send these to (in addition to Scott Thompson, Gadi Mayman, Anna Strathy, David McLean, Jonathan Tekle, Mike Manning and Ken Kandeepan -- as requested in Ken's email below). I believe that earlier drafts of all of the term supplemental indentures and the agency agreement were previously circulated to you -- for ease of reference, please let us know if it would be helpful for us to include blacklines to the last versions we sent to you in the email.

Let us know if you agree with the above approach, and feel free to reach out if you have any questions or would like to discuss.

Malle, you had also asked about delivery of the documents from the warehouse closing -- closing books are in progress and we expect to have those ready for circulation next week. Again, in order to comply with the change of law process agreement, the electronic closing books will be delivered to the Ministers and Deputy Ministers of each of the MOF and MOE, but we are happy to also send a copy to others on your instruction.

Thanks,
Rima

Ken/Steen:
We are operating under the assumption that it was the Province desire to execute the term deal as early as possible in 2018 which would involve a launch on the 15th. If the preference is now to adhere to the 10 business day requirement and not waive it we are happy to do so and commence marketing later in the month on the 22nd.

Please advise and we will adjust the work plan accordingly.

Hi John

I spoke to our DM's office and Scott's email is Scott.Thompson@ontario.ca<mailto:Scott.Thompson@ontario.ca>, As required by the Process Agreement between the Province and OPG, pls forward the documents pertaining to the upcoming term deal by email to Scott with a cc to the following:

Given that the Process Agreement requires OPG to also provide the same documents to MOE, I am cc'ing Steen and Tim so that they can inform their DM's Office as well.

With regard to the waiver, pls see Malle's comments below, it would also be useful if OPG were to provide a rationale as to why waiving the 10 business days requirement which may allow for term debt issuance in mid-January by the Trust is more beneficial than issuance either later in the same month or early February.

Thanks

It would be very helpful if OPG and Torys could provide to us a timetable and schedule for delivery of reference documents that are being prepared and when do we expect to get them and when is the proposed issuance. On that basis we can review the timing and determine whether a waiver will be necessary and if it is how it might be processed. Unfortunately we haven't received any updates or draft documents since the closing of the warehouse deal. Also is there a plan for distributing to the Province the documents from the warehouse closing?
Thanks

I should add that the waiver of the 10 BD requirement needs to be executed in writing by the Province (which means we will need signatures from each Minister). Will that be achievable? If not, perhaps we can proceed on the basis of an email waiver with the waiver signed by the Ministers to follow as soon as possible. Sorry but it is going to be a pain in the butt navigating through this agreement … hopefully the Province will realize that and agree to make some amendments!

Ken/Steen:
We are operating under the assumption that it was the Province desire to execute the term deal as early as possible in 2018 which would involve a launch on the 15th. If the preference is now to adhere to the 10 business day requirement and not waive it we are happy to do so and commence marketing later in the month on the 22nd.

Please advise and we will adjust the work plan accordingly.

Hi John

I spoke to our DM's office and Scott's email is Scott.Thompson@ontario.ca, As required by the Process Agreement between the Province and OPG, pls forward the documents pertaining to the upcoming term deal by email to Scott with a cc to the following:

Given that the Process Agreement requires OPG to also provide the same documents to MOE, I am cc'ing Steen and Tim so that they can inform their DM's Office as well.

With regard to the waiver, pls see Malle's comments below, it would also be useful if OPG were to provide a rationale as to why waiving the 10 business days requirement which may allow for term debt issuance in mid-January by the Trust is more beneficial than issuance either later in the same month or early February.

Thanks

It would be very helpful if OPG and Torys could provide to us a timetable and schedule for delivery of reference documents that are being prepared and when do we expect to get them and when is the proposed issuance. On that basis we can review the timing and determine whether a waiver will be necessary and if it is how it might be processed. Unfortunately we haven't received any updates or draft documents since the closing of the warehouse deal. Also is there a plan for distributing to the Province the documents from the warehouse closing?
Thanks

Thanks, didn’t realize that all waivers have to be signed by the respective ministers, which as you know is difficult on an operational basis.

I am cc'ing our legal counsel to see if they have any suggestions.

Please advise.

I should add that the waiver of the 10 BD requirement needs to be executed in writing by the Province (which means we will need signatures from each Minister). Will that be achievable? If not, perhaps we can proceed on the basis of an email waiver with the waiver signed by the Ministers to follow as soon as possible. Sorry but it is going to be a pain in the butt navigating through this agreement … hopefully the Province will realize that and agree to make some amendments!

OK. I assume the DM of Finance will sign off on behalf of the Minister of Finance. But what about the Minister of Energy? The agreement requires notices to both Ministers on behalf of the Province and I recall on the warehouse closing, we had to wait for a representative from each Ministry to sign off.

Hi Malle, we expect the documents being delivered today will be “Substantially in the Form” (as defined in the change of law process agreement) of the final documents — we will need to fill in some bullets such as dates, pricing information, the names of all of the Agents and I expect there will be some minor clean up to the OM (for instance, making sure all of our cross-references are correct and that the glossary picks up all defined terms) but otherwise we are not anticipating any material changes to the forms of the documents being delivered.

Hi Malle, Alena and Toby, Happy New Year to all of you. John forwarded the email below and attached and asked that I connect with you and provide an update. I have included the business folks on this email to make sure we are all on the same page. As John notes below, we had been working towards being in a position to commence marketing for the term deal on January 15th but if marketing is pushed to January 22 or later, then a waiver of the 10 business day requirement should not be necessary. I will let our respective clients advise us on that point and we can come back to the logistics/process for obtaining a waiver should we need one.

We are planning on delivering the following additional reference documentation to the Province tomorrow:

(1) Supplemental Indenture for the Series 2018-1 Term Notes
(2) Supplemental Indenture for the Series 2018-1 Subordinated Term Notes
(3) Supplemental Indenture for the Series 2018-1 Junior Subordinated Term Notes
(4) Agency Agreement
(5) Offering Memorandum (including the investor presentation attached as an exhibit to the OM)
(6) Term Sheet supplementing the Offering Memorandum

As you may recall, under the change of law process agreement, all deliveries are required to be made by mail, fax or delivered by hand to each of the Ministers and Deputy Ministers of the MOF and the MOE. To comply with the agreement, we plan on hand delivering the above documents to each of the Ministers and Deputy Ministers tomorrow. We can also email all of these documents to all of you and anyone else you would like us to send these to (in addition to Scott Thompson, Gadi Mayman, Anna Strathy, David McLean, Jonathan Tekle, Mike Manning and Ken Kandeepan -- as requested in Ken's email below). I believe that earlier drafts of all of the term supplemental indentures and the agency agreement were previously circulated to you -- for ease of reference, please let us know if it would be helpful for us to include blacklines to the last versions we sent to you in the email.

Let us know if you agree with the above approach, and feel free to reach out if you have any questions or would like to discuss.

Malle, you had also asked about delivery of the documents from the warehouse closing -- closing books are in progress and we expect to have those ready for circulation next week. Again, in order to comply with the change of law process agreement, the electronic closing books will be delivered to the Ministers and Deputy Ministers of each of the MOF and MOE, but we are happy to also send a copy to others on your instruction.

Thanks,
Rima

Hi John

I spoke to our DM's office and Scott's email is Scott.Thompson@ontario.ca<mailto:Scott.Thompson@ontario.ca>, As required by the Process Agreement between the Province and OPG, pls forward the documents pertaining to the upcoming term deal by email to Scott with a cc to the following:

Given that the Process Agreement requires OPG to also provide the same documents to MOE, I am cc'ing Steen and Tim so that they can inform their DM's Office as well.

With regard to the waiver, pls see Malle's comments below, it would also be useful if OPG were to provide a rationale as to why waiving the 10 business days requirement which may allow for term debt issuance in mid-January by the Trust is more beneficial than issuance either later in the same month or early February.

Thanks

Ken k

It would be very helpful if OPG and Torys could provide to us a timetable and schedule for delivery of reference documents that are being prepared and when do we expect to get them and when is the proposed issuance. On that basis we can review the timing and determine whether a waiver will be necessary and if it is how it might be processed. Unfortunately we haven't received any updates or draft documents since the closing of the warehouse deal. Also is there a plan for distributing to the Province the documents from the warehouse closing?
Thanks

Thanks, didn't realize that all waivers have to be signed by the respective ministers, which as you know is difficult on an operational basis.

I am cc'ing our legal counsel to see if they have any suggestions.

Given the importance of the Protection agreement and the desire to follow it to the "letter" ……see Torys comments below. Have you made provisions on the Province side to operationalize the delegation of waivers and amendments to facilitate the request. If not then the debt issuance date will get pushed out by the full 10 days.

Please advise.

I should add that the waiver of the 10 BD requirement needs to be executed in writing by the Province (which means we will need signatures from each Minister). Will that be achievable? If not, perhaps we can proceed on the basis of an email waiver with the waiver signed by the Ministers to follow as soon as possible. Sorry but it is going to be a pain in the butt navigating through this agreement … hopefully the Province will realize that and agree to make some amendments!

OK. I assume the DM of Finance will sign off on behalf of the Minister of Finance. But what about the Minister of Energy? The agreement requires notices to both Ministers on behalf of the Province and I recall on the warehouse closing, we had to wait for a representative from each Ministry to sign off.

I was speaking to Ken Kandeepan on the process this afternoon and he indicated to me that we should send the documents and the waiver request to the Deputy Minister of Finance with a cc. Gadi. Ken was going to send along the contact info for the DM of Finance and also alert their Office of the inbound email so they would not be surprised.

Dear all – all parties have now confirmed that they are signed off on all applicable transaction documentation and that their respective opinions and signature pages will be automatically released tomorrow. On that basis, we are dispensing with the scheduled 9 am closing call. The necessary wires have been set up this evening and will be initiated as soon as possible in the morning in accordance with my email below. We look forward to tomorrow's closing and receiving the confirmations requested below. Thanks,

On that basis we can review the timing and determine whether a waiver will be necessary and if it is how it might be processed. Unfortunately we haven't received any updates or draft documents since the closing of the warehouse deal. Also is there a plan for distributing to the Province the documents from the warehouse closing?

If not, perhaps we can proceed on the basis of an email waiver with the waiver signed by the Ministers to follow as soon as possible. Sorry but it is going to be a pain in the butt navigating through this agreement … hopefully the Province will realize that and agree to make some amendments!

Debt markets show approval for Fair Hydro Plan financing

06.02.2018 David Hains Environment and Energy,

Investors gave Ontario Power Generation a boost as they piled into bonds sold for the province's Fair Hydro Plan.

OPG issued $500 million worth of debt on Tuesday, earning a low interest rate of 3.357 per cent from markets hungry for a safe investment.

Ratings agency DBRS gave the debt security a triple-A rating, while Moody's gave slightly less than its top grade, declaring it to be Aa2.

The debt issuance came amid a roller coaster market that saw the Dow Jones fall by more than 1,000 points yesterday, its largest one-day decline in six years. But OPG, which pitched the investment to investors last week on a road show that took them to Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver, decided to pull the trigger to send the debt to market.

The funds will help pay for the province's Fair Hydro Plan, which was passed by the majority Liberal government in June 2017. A large part of the plan effectively reduced short-term hydro bills by deferring some costs to future bills. A complicated security was created to finance the plan, and it came in for criticism from Ontario's auditor general for, in her analysis, adding $4 billion in costs in order to keep the proposal off of the government budget. Officials from the Treasury Board and Ministry of Energy said at the time that it was not the case, and they were being diligent about following proper procedure.

Energy Minister Glenn Thibeault praised the debt issuance and the government's hydro plan in a statement.

"Today's announcement by Ontario Power Generation (OPG) regarding the successful issuance of secured debt in relation to Ontario's Fair Hydro Plan is a positive sign that our plan is working."

The 3.357 per cent effective interest rate is a strong one for OPG, and bodes well for keeping the borrowing costs for the Fair Hydro Plan low. The rate is 15 basis points lower than Toronto Hydro, OPG noted, and more competitive than industry peers.

In a conference call, OPG said that the final interest rate was slightly better than expectations. The ministry of energy previously stated that they expect a 4.5 per cent average interest rate over the lifetime of the debt issuance for the security.

OPG plans to issue debt tranches two to three times a year to secure $300 million to $500 million worth of debt each time. Bond durations will vary, but the first issuance is 15.25 years.

A second round of financing is anticipated in the second quarter of 2018.

OK. OPG has been having email issues today so they may not be able to reply to this email chain quickly – however, we understand that there is an interest protocol agreement that has been settled with the Province that sets out how the interest on the sub debt is supposed to be calculated. Steve, can you also please confirm that Blakes will be able to sign off today instead of at 9 am tomorrow (the dealers are asking)?

Hi Aaron, can you please advise whether we should expect additional comments from Blakes on the documents? Since we are closing in the morning and the rating agencies have already signed off on everything, we are going to have trouble managing any additional changes. Also, FYI, in order to avoid any delays in the wires tomorrow morning, the dealers have asked that all counsel sign off on the closing documents as soon as possible today, with all parties to agree that everything is to be automatically released from escrow first this in the morning (i.e. without the need for having a 9 am closing call). Please let us know if you will be in a position to do that today – we will obviously send you any final signed docs by email that you need to sign off.

Thanks,

Aaron,

It was intended. OPG has a certain protocol for calculating the interest rate it should charge on its subordinated and junior subordinated notes. Until such time as these classes of notes obtain a rating, the pricing of these notes is to be measured off the “all-in funding costs” of the senior notes.

I am looping in OPG as they are in a better position to explain why its protocol is what it is.

Hi Michael,

The Sub Note supplements include a change to the Base Rate definition that is surprising and I'm not sure if it was intended:

[cid:image002.png@01D379C4.A8DEF010]

Would this addition of "and fees" catch Commitment Fees or any other fees?

Best regards, Aaron

OK. OPG has been having email issues today so they may not be able to reply to this email chain quickly – however, we understand that there is an interest protocol agreement that has been settled with the Province that sets out how the interest on the sub debt is supposed to be calculated. Steve, can you also please confirm that Blakes will be able to sign off today instead of at 9 am tomorrow (the dealers are asking)?

Rima, I think we have provided all of our comments and have seen responses on all but the new Base Rate definition, which Aaron just exchanged with Michael on. We are following up with the Province on Michael's response, which anticipated that some more background on the point will be provided. I think that's where this stands. Regards, Steve

Hi Aaron, can you please advise whether we should expect additional comments from Blakes on the documents? Since we are closing in the morning and the rating agencies have already signed off on everything, we are going to have trouble managing any additional changes. Also, FYI, in order to avoid any delays in the wires tomorrow morning, the dealers have asked that all counsel sign off on the closing documents as soon as possible today, with all parties to agree that everything is to be automatically released from escrow first this in the morning (i.e. without the need for having a 9 am closing call). Please let us know if you will be in a position to do that today – we will obviously send you any final signed docs by email that you need to sign off.

Thanks,

Rima

Aaron,

It was intended. OPG has a certain protocol for calculating the interest rate it should charge on its subordinated and junior subordinated notes. Until such time as these classes of notes obtain a rating, the pricing of these notes is to be measured off the “all-in funding costs” of the senior notes.

I am looping in OPG as they are in a better position to explain why its protocol is what it is.

Hi Michael,

The Sub Note supplements include a change to the Base Rate definition that is surprising and I'm not sure if it was intended:

[cid:image002.png@01D379C4.A8DEF010]

Would this addition of "and fees" catch Commitment Fees or any other fees?

That would of course be a significant change to the deal documents.

Best regards, Aaron

Rima, I think we have provided all of our comments and have seen responses on all but the new Base Rate definition, which Aaron just exchanged with Michael on. We are following up with the Province on Michael's response, which anticipated that some more background on the point will be provided. I think that's where this stands. Regards, Steve

Hi Aaron, can you please advise whether we should expect additional comments from Blakes on the documents? Since we are closing in the morning and the rating agencies have already signed off on everything, we are going to have trouble managing any additional changes. Also, FYI, in order to avoid any delays in the wires tomorrow morning, the dealers have asked that all counsel sign off on the closing documents as soon as possible today, with all parties to agree that everything is to be automatically released from escrow first this in the morning (i.e. without the need for having a 9 am closing call). Please let us know if you will be in a position to do that today – we will obviously send you any final signed docs by email that you need to sign off.

Thanks,
Rima

Aaron,

It was intended. OPG has a certain protocol for calculating the interest rate it should charge on its subordinated and junior subordinated notes. Until such time as these classes of notes obtain a rating, the pricing of these notes is to be measured off the “all-in funding costs” of the senior notes.

I am looping in OPG as they are in a better position to explain why its protocol is what it is.

Hi Michael,

The Sub Note supplements include a change to the Base Rate definition that is surprising and I'm not sure if it was intended:

<image002.png>

Would this addition of "and fees" catch Commitment Fees or any other fees?

That would of course be a significant change to the deal documents.

Subject: Fair Hydro OM -- Revised Risk Factor

Hi Malle, we are proposing a change to one of the risk factors in the OM to address a comment raised by Osler (to disclose the risk related to the fact that OPG is a subsidiary of the Province and that this relationship may impact the performance of its duties as FSM and Manager). Attached is a revised draft of the relevant risk factor showing the changes we are proposing. Before sharing this with Osler, we wanted to run it by your team for review to ensure you are comfortable with the disclosure from the Province's perspective.

I understand we should be receiving comments on the OM, term sheet and investor deck from the Province tomorrow. If you're able to provide your feedback on the attached at the same time, that would be much appreciated.

Thanks,
Rima

Subject: Change of Law Process Agreement - Section 2.1(b)(ii) Document Deliveries
Importance: High

All,

Reference is made to the Change of Law Process Agreement between Her Majesty the Queen in Right of Ontario, as represented by the Minister of Energy and the Minister of Finance (the Province") and Ontario Power Generation Inc. ("OPG") to be dated as of December 21, 2017 (the "Change of Law Process Agreement"). All capitalized terms used and not defined in this email shall have their respective meanings in the Change of Law Process Agreement.

On behalf of OPG, we have hand-delivered today to the Ministers and the Deputy Ministers the forms of Transaction Documents set out in the attached cover letter. For ease of reference, we also attach these documents here and attach blacklines to the last versions of the term supplemental indentures circulated to you. If you would like a blackline of any other Transaction Document, please send us the version you reviewed last.

We consider these forms settled other than:

· There is one change that has been proposed by the dealers, and which is under discussion, that will impact the term supplemental indentures and will necessitate some additional disclosure to the term sheet. The dealers have advised that following a Principal Payment Date (i.e. the date on which all amounts owing under the notes are expected to be repaid in full), it would be

typical for the interest payment dates to accelerate to monthly (instead of semi-annually). Once the dealers and OPG have an opportunity to discuss and come to an agreement on this point next week, the necessary changes to reflect this will be made to the term supplemental indentures and the term sheet

· there are still some bullets in these documents which will be addressed closer to closing (including dates, pricing information and the names of all of the Agents)

· we expect there will be some minor clean up to the OM (including making sure all of our cross-references are correct and that the glossary picks up all defined terms).

Please let us know if you have any questions.

Best Regards,
Nina

Subject: FW: Fair Hydro Trust - Disclosure Documents

Should we discuss this approach? It may have implications for future documents and transactions. I have not had the opportunity to review the changes that were accepted but if we think they are important it would be best to be able to preserve those as the version of the "OM" as a reference document under the Process Agreement for future transactions rather than the initial version they sent us. I realize there is a problem with the 10 days but if we could figure out a way to make the final version (or close to final) become the reference document that would be best. So I'm not sure that we want to write back and just agree with Les that we don't take a contrary view without considering carefully. Technically if the 10 days expire without the Province objecting the document becomes a reference document. I know Toby has drafted a delegation of the powers under the process agreement for MOF/OFA. Not sure what the timing of the deal is right now.

Thanks,

Malle

Dear Alena and Malle,

You will have seen the revised draft of the OM and term sheet circulated by Torys (attached again for reference). A revised draft of the Investor Presentation is also in progress and will be circulated once available. We do not view the changes made to the OM, term sheet or the IP as material (in form or substance) and we would appreciate it if you could confirm that the Province does not take a contrary view. As you know, under the change of law process agreement, OPG is required to certify that these documents are substantially in the form as previously provided to the Province, which we believe is the case. Therefore, there is no reason for us to restart the 10 Business Day clock running following delivery of the revised documents. If you have any concerns with our interpretation or approach please let us know.

Regards,

Les

All,

Please find attached revised versions of the Offering Memorandum and Term Sheet. We have accepted the majority of the Province's comments where appropriate and I have included blacklines of each document against the version circulated by Jon below. The attached also reflect comments received from the IESO and some additional clean-up changes made since the documents were provided to the Province on January 5.

In the interest of time, we are circulating these drafts to all parties concurrently. Accordingly, they remain subject to review and comment by OPG, IESO, the dealers and their respective counsel.

Thanks,
Brett

I thought that the response OPCD already put in looked okay. Did you want to run it by MOF Legal?

Hi Gadi
In short, that's true. Moody's action on Ontario will have no immediate effect on the ratings of FHT. Moody's rates FHT in line with the Province's rating, and has stated that any move on Ontario will also move their ratings on the FH program. However, under securitization methodology, rating directions are not used, so there is no current change on FHT, but if the Province is downgraded, FHT will also be downgraded.

Thanks, Alex. I was told that structured finance ratings don't have negative outlooks; the rating is simply the rating, so Moody's putting us on negative outlook doesn't immediately affect their rating of the FHT. It's only if we were to get downgraded that they would also downgrade FHT. Seems weird to me, but that's what I was told, and given that you've proceeded with the FHT transaction, I assume it's true?

Hi Gadi - FYI

Subject: Rating Agencies views on Fair Hydro
Date: 18 April 2018 15:51
To: "+DS-GM-Bond Sales Desk" <DS-GM-BondSalesDesk@rbc.com>>

Here are some bullet points outlining how each agency views Fair Hydro Trust in the context of the ratings of the Province.
The key point being, Moody's assumes at some point over the horizon of the program the Province will step in, thus linking the ratings. As a reminder, if this were to happen, the Province will assume the debt.

Here is Ian's outline for those that want a deeper dive:

DBRS

* Look at the transaction through a structured finance lens
* Change of law that could invoke a Protection Event is mitigated by the risk the FHT platform would become a liability of the Province, legislation took a long time to draft and pass, adverse change of law could bring into question other Provincial guarantee arrangements
* Significant enhancement (almost 100%) supports the senior notes, as does true-up mechanism, non-bypassability of recovery charge
* Amount of recovery charge is small as a percentage of the overall electricity user bill

Moody's

* The program as structured and under current law and regulations is considered to be of similar credit quality to US utility cost recovery programs rated by Moody's
* However, the FHT program's 30-year term, combined with the pervasive role of the Province and its related entities in many aspects of this transaction, increase the risk that the Province could make future changes to the law or related regulations that could adversely affect the outstanding obligations under the FHT program
* The Provincial guarantee is a mitigant to this risk, but it is not as robust as the constitutional protection found in similar US programs. Accordingly, Moody's has linked the provisional ratings of the notes to the Aa2 rating of the

Province
* Future changes to the Province's rating will result in similar changes to the ratings of the notes.

Thanks will review shortly, not sure if you saw Gadi's email on the impact of OPG borrowing on the OFHP.

Given that MOE has the debt and repayment forecasts on an annual basis they may want to take a crack at the impact using the 23 bps as a start.

Cc'ing Mike since he may have something to add.

Hi Ken,
We've been asked to review and provide input to the attached "long-form answers" for SCOPA. As you heard in the meeting today, Gadi feels they need quite a bit of work, so please let your team know to edit/delete/add as they see fit. There's not much for us in the "Balanced Budget" answer (more an OB/OEP lead), but the debt and Fair Hydro answers will require our review.
Could I ask for your edits by noon tomorrow?
Usman - I assume CEFD is looking at the Fair Hydro answer as well? Let's coordinate our input.

It would be very helpful if OPG and Torys could provide to us a timetable and schedule for delivery of reference documents that are being prepared and when do we expect to get them and when is the proposed issuance. On that basis we can review the timing and determine whether a waiver will be necessary and if it is how it might be processed. Unfortunately we haven't received any updates or draft documents since the closing of the warehouse deal. Also is there a plan for distributing to the Province the documents from the warehouse closing?

Thanks, didn't realize that all waivers have to be signed by the respective ministers, which as you know is difficult on an operational basis.

I am cc'ing our legal counsel to see if they have any suggestions.
