a) la personne n'a pas fourni l'accès, l'aide, les renseignements ou les documents bien qu'elle en soit tenue par les articles 231.1 ou 231.2;

(7) Malgré les paragraphes 152(4) à (5), le ministre peut établir les cotisations voulues et déterminer ou déterminer de nouveau les sommes voulues pour l'application du paragraphe (8).

Pénalité

(8) Toute personne qui ne produit pas de déclaration de renseignements concernant une opération à déclarer selon les modalités prévues au paragraphe (2) et dans le délai fixé au paragraphe (5) est passible d'une pénalité égale au total des sommes dont chacune représente les honoraires auxquels un conseiller ou un promoteur relativement à l'opération, ou toute personne avec laquelle il a un lien de dépendance, a ou avait droit, dans l'immédiat ou pour l'avenir et conditionnellement ou non, au titre de l'opération à déclarer, de toute opération qui fait partie de la série d'opérations comprenant l'opération à déclarer ou de la série d'opérations comprenant l'opération à déclarer, si ces honoraires, selon le cas :

a) sont visés à l'alinéa a) de la définition de opération à déclarer au paragraphe (1);

b) ont trait à une protection contractuelle fournie dans les circonstances visées à l'alinéa c) de cette définition.

(b) in respect of contractual protection provided in circumstances described in paragraph (c) of the definition reportable transaction in subsection (1).

Joint and several liability

(9) If more than one person is liable to a penalty under subsection (8) in respect of a reportable transaction, each of those persons are jointly and severally, or solidarily, liable to pay the penalty.

Joint and several liability — special cases

(10) Notwithstanding subsections (8) and (9), the liability of an advisor or a promoter, or a person with whom the advisor or promoter does not deal at arm's length, to a penalty under those subsections in respect of a reportable transaction shall not exceed the total of each amount that is a fee referred to in subsection (8) to which that advisor or promoter, or a person with whom the advisor or promoter does not deal at arm's length, is or was entitled, either immediately or in the future and either absolutely or contingently, to receive in respect of the reportable transaction.

Due diligence

(11) A person required to file an information return in respect of a reportable transaction is not liable for a penalty under subsection (8) if the person has exercised the degree of care, diligence and skill to prevent the failure to file that a reasonably prudent person would have exercised in comparable circumstances.

Reporting not an admission

(12) The filing of an information return under this section by a person in respect of a reportable transaction is not an admission by the person that

(a) section 245 applies in respect of any transaction; or

(b) any transaction is part of a series of transactions.

Application of sections 231 to 231.3

(13) Without restricting the generality of sections 231 to 231.3, even if a return of income has not been filed by a taxpayer under section 150 for the taxation year of the taxpayer in which a tax benefit results, or would result but for section 245, from a reportable transaction, sections 231 to 231.3 apply, with such modifications as the circumstances require, for the purpose of permitting the Minister to verify or ascertain any information in respect of that transaction.

Responsabilité solidaire

(9) Lorsque plusieurs personnes sont passibles de la pénalité prévue au paragraphe (8) relativement à une opération à déclarer, ces personnes sont solidairement responsables du paiement de la pénalité.

Responsabilité solidaire — cas spéciaux

(10) Malgré les paragraphes (8) et (9), le conseiller ou le promoteur, ou toute personne avec laquelle il a un lien de dépendance, n'est responsable du paiement de la pénalité prévue à ces paragraphes relativement à une opération à déclarer que jusqu'à concurrence du total des sommes dont chacune représente les honoraires visées au paragraphe (8) auxquels il a ou avait droit ou auxquels a ou avait droit une personne avec laquelle il a un lien de dépendance, dans l'immédiat ou pour l'avenir et conditionnellement ou non, relativement à l'opération.

Diligence

(11) La personne tenue de produire une déclaration de renseignements relativement à une opération à déclarer n'est pas passible de la pénalité prévue au paragraphe (8) si elle a agi avec autant de soin, de diligence et d'habileté pour prévenir le manquement que ne l'aurait fait une personne raisonnablement prudente dans des circonstances comparables.

Déclaration

(12) La production par une personne d'une déclaration de renseignements conformément au présent article relativement à une opération à déclarer ne constitue pas la reconnaissance par la personne :

a) que l'article 245 s'applique relativement à l'opération;

b) qu'une opération quelconque fait partie d'une série d'opérations.

Application des articles 231 à 231.3

(13) Sans préjudice de leur portée générale, les articles 231 à 231.3 s'appliquent, avec les adaptations nécessaires, en vue de permettre au ministre de vérifier des renseignements concernant une opération à déclarer, même si une déclaration de revenu n'a pas été produite conformément à l'article 150 par un contribuable pour l'année d'imposition de celui-ci au cours de laquelle un avantage fiscal découle ou découlerait, en l'absence de l'article 245, de l'opération.

Tax shelters and flow-through shares

(14) For the purpose of this section, a reportable transaction does not include a transaction that is, or is part of a series of transactions that includes,

(a) the acquisition of a tax shelter for which an information return has been filed with the Minister under subsection 237.1(7); or

(b) the issuance of a flow-through share for which an information return has been filed with the Minister under subsection 66(12.68).

Tax shelters and flow-through shares — penalty

(15) Notwithstanding subsection (8), the amount of the penalty, if any, that applies on a person under that subsection in respect of a reportable transaction shall not exceed the amount determined by the formula

A is the amount of the penalty imposed on the person under subsection (8), determined without reference to this subsection; and

B is

(a) if the reportable transaction is the acquisition of a tax shelter, the amount of the penalty, if any, that applies on the person under subsection 237.1(7.4) in respect of the tax shelter,

(b) if the reportable transaction is the issuance of a flow-through share, the amount of the penalty, if any, that applies on the person under subsection 66(12.74) in respect of the issuance of the flow-through share, and

(c) in any other case, nil.

Anti-avoidance

(16) Subsection (14) does not apply to a reportable transaction if it is reasonable, having regard to all of the circumstances, to conclude that one of the main reasons for the acquisition of a tax shelter, or the issuance of a flow-through share, is to avoid the application of this section.

Solicitor-client privilege

(17) For greater certainty, for the purpose of this section, a lawyer who is an advisor in respect of a reportable transaction is not required to disclose in an information return in respect of the transaction any information in

Abris fiscaux et actions accréditives

a) l'acquisition d'un abri fiscal à l'égard duquel une déclaration de renseignements a été présentée au ministre aux termes du paragraphe 237.1(7);

b) l'émission d'une action accréditive à l'égard de laquelle une déclaration de renseignements a été présentée au ministre aux termes du paragraphe 66(12.68).

Abris fiscaux et actions accréditives — pénalité

(15) Malgré le paragraphe (8), la pénalité dont une personne est passible aux termes de ce paragraphe relativement à une opération à déclarer ne peut excéder la somme obtenue par la formule suivante :

A – B

où :

A représente le montant de la pénalité imposée à la personne selon le paragraphe (8), déterminé compte non tenu du présent paragraphe;

a) si l'opération consiste à acquérir un abri fiscal, la pénalité dont la personne est passible aux termes du paragraphe 237.1(7.4) relativement à l'abri fiscal,

b) si l'opération consiste à émettre une action accréditive, la pénalité dont la personne est passible aux termes du paragraphe 66(12.74) relativement à l'émission de l'action,

c) dans les autres cas, zéro.

Anti-évitement

(16) Le paragraphe (14) ne s'applique pas à une opération à déclarer s'il est raisonnable de conclure, compte tenu des circonstances, que l'un des principaux objets de l'acquisition d'un abri fiscal ou de l'émission d'une action accréditive consiste à se soustraire à l'application du présent article.

Privilège des communications entre client et avocat

(17) Il est entendu que, pour l'application du présent article, l'avocat qui est un conseiller relativement à une

Disposition générale anti-évitement

(2) En cas d'opération d'évitement, les attributs fiscaux d'une personne doivent être déterminés de façon raisonnable dans les circonstances de façon à supprimer un avantage fiscal qui, sans le présent article, découlerait, directement ou indirectement, de cette opération ou d'une série d'opérations dont cette opération fait partie.

(3) L'opération d'évitement s'entend :

(v) any other enactment that is relevant in computing tax or any other amount payable by or refundable to a person under this Act or in determining any amount that is relevant for the purposes of that computation; or

(a) any deduction, exemption or exclusion in computing income, taxable income, taxable income earned in Canada or tax payable or any part thereof may be allowed or disallowed in whole or in part,

(c) the nature of any payment or other amount may be recharacterized, and

(d) the tax effects that would otherwise result from the application of other provisions of this Act may be ignored, in determining the tax consequences to a person as is reasonable in the circumstances in order to deny a tax benefit that would, but for this section, result, directly or indirectly, from an avoidance transaction.

a) l'autre fiducie est réputée, après le transfert, être la même fiducie que la fiducie donnée et en être la continuation;

b) il est entendu que si, par suite d'une opération ou d'un événement, le bien était réputé être un bien canadien imposable de la fiducie donnée en vertu des alinéas 51(1)d), 85(1)i) ou 85.1(1)a), du paragraphe 85.1(5), de l'alinéa 85.1(8)b), des paragraphes 87(4) ou (5) ou des alinéas 97(2)c) ou 107(3.1)d), le bien est également réputé être un bien canadien imposable de l'autre fiducie à tout moment de la période de 60 mois suivant l'opération ou l'événement.

(ii) the particular unit is not capital property and subparagraph 53(2)(h)(i.1) does not apply in respect of the amount described in paragraph (a) but would so apply if that subparagraph were read without reference to clauses 53(2)(h)(i.1)(A) and (B).

c) selon le cas :

(i) l'unité est une immobilisation et la somme ne représente pas le produit de disposition d'une participation au capital de la fiducie,

(ii) l'unité n'est pas une immobilisation et le sous-alinéa 53(2)h)(i.1) ne s'applique pas à la somme visée à l'alinéa a), mais s'y appliquerait s'il n'était pas tenu compte des divisions 53(2)h)(i.1)(A) et (B).

Where acquisition by another of right to enforce

(25.4) If at a particular time a taxpayer's capital interest in a trust includes a right to enforce payment of an amount by the trust, the amount shall be added at the particular time to the cost otherwise determined to the taxpayer of the capital interest where

(a) immediately after the particular time there is a disposition by the taxpayer of the capital interest;

(b) as a consequence of the disposition, the right to enforce payment of the amount is acquired by another person or partnership; and

(c) if the right to enforce payment of the amount had been satisfied by a payment to the taxpayer by the trust, there would have been no disposition of that right for the purposes of this Act because of the application of paragraph (i) of the definition disposition in subsection (1).

Acquisition par un tiers du droit d'exiger le versement d'une somme

(25.4) Dans le cas où la participation d'un contribuable au capital d'une fiducie comprend, à un moment donné, le droit d'exiger de celle-ci le versement d'une somme, la somme doit être ajoutée, à ce moment, au coût de la participation pour le contribuable, déterminé par ailleurs, si les conditions suivantes sont réunies :

a) immédiatement après le moment donné, le contribuable dispose de la participation;

b) par suite de la disposition, le droit en question est acquis par une autre personne ou société de personnes;

c) s'il avait été réglé au moyen du versement, par la fiducie, d'une somme au contribuable, le droit en question n'aurait pas fait l'objet d'une disposition pour l'application de la présente loi en raison de l'application de l'alinéa i) de la définition de disposition au paragraphe (1).

c) le montant pour lequel cette partie de dette a été émise est considéré comme égal à la fraction — qui se rapporte à cette partie — du montant pour lequel la dette plus importante a été émise.

(b) the transferor of the property establishes to the satisfaction of the Minister that the transfer was made with the intention to make a gift.

Intention de faire un don

(30) Le fait qu'un transfert de bien donne lieu à un montant d'un avantage ne suffit en soi à rendre le transfert inadmissible à titre de don à un donataire reconnu si, selon le cas :

Opérations factices

(38) Le montant admissible d'un don effectué par un contribuable est nul s'il est raisonnable de conclure que le don est lié à une opération, ou à une série d'opérations, à l'égard de laquelle l'un des faits ci-après se vérifie :

a) pour l'application du paragraphe (31), la juste valeur marchande du bien qui fait l'objet du don ou de la contribution par le contribuable est réputée

b) si le don important est une immobilisation du contribuable, pour l'application des définitions de produit de disposition au paragraphe 13(21) et à l'article 54, l'excédent de la juste valeur marchande du bien qui fait l'objet du don (déterminée compte non tenu du présent article) sur la juste valeur marchande déterminée selon l'alinéa a) est appliqué en réduction du prix de vente du don.

(i) si le montant de revenu ou de capital de la fiducie qu'une personne peut recevoir à titre de bénéficiaire de la fiducie est fonction de l'exercice ou de l'absence d'exercice, par quiconque, d'un pouvoir discrétionnaire, ce pouvoir est réputé, selon le cas, avoir été pleinement exercé ou ne pas avoir été exercé,

(ii) il n'est pas tenu compte de la participation d'une personne à titre de bénéficiaire d'une fiducie lorsqu'il s'agit de déterminer si la personne traite sans lien de dépendance avec la fiducie, dans le cas où la personne, en l'absence de cette participation, serait considérée comme n'ayant aucun lien de dépendance avec la fiducie,

(iii) une fiducie n'est un bénéficiaire détenant une participation majoritaire d'une autre fiducie que si elle a une participation à titre de bénéficiaire du revenu ou du capital de l'autre fiducie,

(iv) pour déterminer si le cotisant d'une fiducie est affilié au cotisant d'une autre fiducie, les personnes unies par les liens du sang, du mariage, d'une union de fait ou de l'adoption sont réputées être affiliées les unes aux autres.

Corporations associated through a third corporation

(2) For the purposes of

(a) this Act, subject to paragraph (b), two corporations are deemed to be associated with each other at a particular time if

(i) they would, but for this subsection, not be associated with each other at the particular time, and

(ii) each corporation is associated with, or is deemed by this subsection to be associated with, the same corporation (in this subsection referred to as the third corporation) at the particular time; and

(b) section 125,

(i) if the third corporation is not a Canadian-controlled private corporation at the particular time, the two corporations are deemed not to be associated with each other at the particular time, and

(ii) if the third corporation is a Canadian-controlled private corporation that elects in prescribed form to apply this subparagraph in its taxation year that includes the particular time, the two corporations are deemed not to be associated with each other at the particular time and the business limit of the third corporation for its taxation year that includes the particular time is deemed to be nil.

Anti-avoidance

(2.1) For the purposes of this Act, where, in the case of two or more corporations, it may reasonably be considered that one of the main reasons for the separate existence of those corporations in a taxation year is to reduce the amount of taxes that would otherwise be payable under this Act or to increase the amount of refundable investment tax credit under section 127.1, the two or more corporations shall be deemed to be associated with each other in the year.

Saving provision

(3) Where one corporation (in this subsection referred to as the "controlled corporation") would, but for this subsection, be associated with another corporation in a taxation year by reason of being controlled, directly or indirectly in any manner whatever, by the other corporation or by reason of both of the corporations being controlled, directly or indirectly in any manner whatever, by the same person at a particular time in the year (which

Sociétés associées par l'association à une autre

a) pour l'application de la présente loi, sous réserve de l'alinéa b), deux sociétés sont réputées être associées l'une à l'autre à un moment donné si, à la fois :

(i) n'eût été le présent paragraphe, elles ne seraient pas associées l'une à l'autre au moment donné,

(ii) chaque société est à ce moment associée à une même société (appelée tierce société au présent paragraphe) ou réputée l'être par le présent paragraphe;

b) pour l'application de l'article 125 :

(i) si au moment donné la tierce société n'est pas une société privée sous contrôle canadien, les deux sociétés sont réputées ne pas être associées l'une à l'autre à ce moment,

(ii) si la tierce société est une société privée sous contrôle canadien qui choisit, sur le formulaire prescrit, d'appliquer le présent sous-alinéa pour son année d'imposition qui comprend le moment donné, les deux sociétés sont réputées ne pas être associées l'une à l'autre à ce moment et le plafond des affaires de la tierce société pour son année d'imposition qui comprend ce moment est réputé nul.

Présomption d'association en cas d'évitement

(2.1) Pour l'application de la présente loi, s'il est raisonnable de considérer qu'un des principaux motifs de l'existence distincte de plusieurs sociétés au cours d'une année d'imposition consiste à réduire les impôts qui seraient payables par ailleurs en vertu de la présente loi ou à augmenter le crédit d'impôt à l'investissement remboursable prévu à l'article 127.1, ces sociétés sont réputées être associées les unes aux autres au cours de l'année.

Réserve

(3) Lorsqu'une société — appelée « société contrôlée » au présent paragraphe — serait, sans le présent paragraphe, associée à une autre société au cours d'une année d'imposition du fait qu'elle est contrôlée, directement ou indirectement, de quelque manière que ce soit, par l'autre société ou du fait que les deux sociétés sont contrôlées, directement ou indirectement, de quelque manière que ce soit, par la même personne à un moment donné de

b) que la raison pour laquelle la société contrôlée était ainsi contrôlée au moment donné était la sauvegarde des droits de la partie qui contrôle afférents :

(ii) soit à toutes actions du capital-actions de la société contrôlée qui appartenaient à la partie qui contrôle au moment donné et qui devaient, en vertu de la convention ou de l'arrangement, être rachetées par la société contrôlée ou achetées par la personne ou le groupe de personnes visées au sous-alinéa a)(ii), la société contrôlée et l'autre société à laquelle elle serait par ailleurs associée ainsi au cours de l'année sont réputées, pour l'application de la présente loi, n'être pas associées l'une à l'autre au cours de l'année.

Réserve

(4) Lorsqu'une société serait, sans le présent paragraphe, associée à une autre société au cours d'une année d'imposition, du fait que les deux sociétés sont contrôlées par le même liquidateur de succession, exécuteur testamentaire ou fiduciaire, les deux sociétés sont réputées, pour l'application de la présente loi, ne pas avoir été associées l'une à l'autre au cours de l'année si le ministre est convaincu :

Idem

(5) Lorsqu'une société serait, sans le présent paragraphe, associée à une autre société au cours d'une année d'imposition, du seul fait que l'autre société est le fiduciaire en vertu d'une fiducie dans le cadre de laquelle la société est contrôlée, les deux sociétés sont réputées, pour l'application de la présente loi, n'être pas associées l'une à l'autre au cours de l'année, sauf si, à un moment donné de l'année, un disposant de la fiducie contrôlait, ou était membre d'un groupe lié qui contrôlait l'autre société qui est le fiduciaire en vertu de la fiducie.

(5.1) For the purposes of this Act, where the expression "controlled, directly or indirectly in any manner whatever," is used, a corporation shall be considered to be so controlled by another corporation, person or group of persons (in this subsection referred to as the "controller") at any time where, at that time, the controller has any direct or indirect influence that, if exercised, would result in control in fact of the corporation, except that, where the corporation and the controller are dealing with each other at arm's length and the influence is derived from a franchise, licence, lease, distribution, supply or management agreement or other similar agreement or arrangement, the main purpose of which is to govern the relationship between the corporation and the controller regarding the manner in which a business carried on by the corporation is to be conducted, the corporation shall not be considered to be controlled, directly or indirectly in any manner whatever, by the controller by reason only of that agreement or arrangement.

Toutefois, si cette influence découle d'un contrat de concession, d'une licence, d'un bail, d'un contrat de commercialisation, d'approvisionnement ou de gestion ou d'une convention semblable — la société et l'entité dominante n'ayant entre elles aucun lien de dépendance — dont l'objet principal consiste à déterminer les liens qui unissent la société et l'entité dominante en ce qui concerne la façon de mener une entreprise exploitée par la société, celle-ci n'est pas considérée comme contrôlée, directement ou indirectement, de quelque manière que ce soit, par l'entité dominante du seul fait qu'une telle convention existe.

a) si la créance est libellée en monnaie canadienne, ces sommes sont converties en leur équivalence dans

(b) where the pre-transition debt is denominated in a currency (referred to in this paragraph as the "debt currency") that is neither Canadian currency nor the taxpayer's elected functional currency, those amounts are to be converted from the debt currency to the taxpayer's elected functional currency using the relevant spot rate for the last day of the taxpayer's last Canadian currency year.

Pre-transition debts

(9) A pre-transition debt of a taxpayer that is denominated in a currency other than the taxpayer's elected functional currency is deemed to have been issued immediately before the taxpayer's first functional currency year for the purposes of

Créances pré-transition

(9) Toute créance pré-transition d'un contribuable qui est libellée dans une monnaie autre que la monnaie fonctionnelle choisie du contribuable est réputée avoir été émise immédiatement avant la première année de déclaration en monnaie fonctionnelle du contribuable lorsqu'il s'agit, à la fois :

B is the amount of the particular payment (expressed in the debt currency), and

C is the principal amount of the pre-transition debt at the beginning of the taxpayer's first functional currency year (expressed in the debt currency); and

(b) where the taxpayer would have sustained a loss — or, if the pre-transition debt was not on account of capital, would have had a loss — (referred to in this paragraph as the "hypothetical loss") attributable to a fluctuation in the value of a currency if the pre-transition debt had been settled by the taxpayer's having paid, immediately before the end of its last Canadian currency year, an amount equal to the principal amount (expressed in the debt currency) at that time, the taxpayer is deemed to sustain or to have a loss in respect of the particular payment for the taxation year equal to the amount that would be determined by the formula in paragraph (a) if the reference in the description of A in that paragraph to "hypothetical gain or income" were read as a reference to "hypothetical loss".

A représente :

(i) si l'année d'imposition est une année de déclaration en monnaie fonctionnelle du contribuable, le montant du gain ou revenu hypothétique converti en son équivalence dans la monnaie fonctionnelle choisie du contribuable selon le taux de change au comptant affiché le dernier jour de sa dernière année de déclaration en monnaie canadienne,

(ii) si l'année d'imposition est une année de rétablissement du contribuable, le montant déterminé selon le sous-alinéa (i) converti en dollars canadiens selon le taux de change au comptant affiché le dernier jour de la dernière année de déclaration en monnaie fonctionnelle du contribuable,

B le montant du paiement donné, exprimé dans la monnaie de la créance,

C le principal de la créance au début de la première année de déclaration en monnaie fonctionnelle du contribuable, exprimé dans la monnaie de la créance;

b) dans le cas où le contribuable aurait subi une perte ou, la créance n'étant pas au titre du capital, aurait eu une perte (appelées « perte hypothétique » au présent alinéa) attribuable à la fluctuation de la valeur d'une monnaie si la créance avait été réglée au moyen du paiement par lui, immédiatement avant la fin de sa dernière année de déclaration en monnaie canadienne, d'une somme égale au principal (exprimé dans la monnaie de la créance) à ce moment, le contribuable est réputé avoir subi une perte ou avoir eu une perte, selon le cas, relativement au paiement donné pour l'année d'imposition égale à la somme qui serait obtenue par la formule figurant à l'alinéa a) si le passage « du gain ou revenu hypothétique » à l'élément A de cette formule était remplacé par « de la perte hypothétique ».

A is the amount of the hypothetical gain or income converted to Canadian currency using the relevant spot rate for the last day of the taxpayer's last functional currency year,

B is the amount of the particular payment (expressed in the debt currency), and

C is the principal amount of the pre-reversion debt at the beginning of the taxpayer's first reversionary year (expressed in the debt currency); and

(b) where the taxpayer would have sustained a loss — or, if the pre-reversion debt was not on account of capital, would have had a loss — (referred to in this paragraph as the "hypothetical loss") attributable to a fluctuation in the value of a currency if the pre-reversion debt had been settled by the taxpayer's having paid, immediately before the end of its last functional currency year, an amount equal to the principal amount (expressed in the debt currency) at that time, the taxpayer is deemed to sustain or to have a loss in respect of the particular payment for the reversionary year equal to the amount that would be determined by the formula in paragraph (a) if the reference in the description of A in that paragraph to "hypothetical gain or income" were read as a reference to "hypothetical loss".

a) dans le cas où le contribuable aurait réalisé un gain ou, la créance n'étant pas au titre du capital, aurait eu un revenu (appelés « gain ou revenu hypothétique » au présent alinéa) attribuable à la fluctuation de la valeur d'une monnaie si la créance avait été réglée au moyen du paiement par lui, immédiatement avant la fin de sa dernière année de déclaration en monnaie fonctionnelle, d'une somme égale au principal (exprimé dans la monnaie dans laquelle la créance est libellée, appelée « monnaie de la créance » au présent paragraphe) à ce moment, le contribuable est réputé avoir réalisé un gain ou avoir eu un revenu, selon le cas, pour l'année de rétablissement égal à la somme obtenue par la formule suivante :

où :

A représente le montant du gain ou revenu hypothétique converti en dollars canadiens selon le taux de change au comptant affiché le dernier jour de la dernière année de déclaration en monnaie fonctionnelle du contribuable,

B le montant du paiement donné, exprimé dans la monnaie de la créance,

C le principal de la créance au début de la première année de rétablissement du contribuable, exprimé dans la monnaie de la créance;

b) dans le cas où le contribuable aurait subi une perte ou, la créance n'étant pas au titre du capital, aurait eu une perte (appelées « perte hypothétique » au présent alinéa) attribuable à la fluctuation de la valeur d'une monnaie si la créance avait été réglée au moyen du paiement par lui, immédiatement avant la fin de sa dernière année de déclaration en monnaie fonctionnelle, d'une somme égale au principal (exprimé dans la monnaie de la créance) à ce moment, le contribuable est réputé avoir subi une perte ou avoir eu une perte, selon le cas, relativement au paiement donné pour l'année de rétablissement égal à la somme qui serait obtenue par la formule figurant à l'alinéa a) si le passage « du gain ou revenu hypothétique » à l'élément A de cette formule était remplacé par « de la perte hypothétique ».

(c) it would, in the absence of this subsection and subsection (21), be reasonable to consider that a fluctuation at any time in the accrual period in the value of the taxpayer's tax reporting currency relative to the value of the related corporation's tax reporting currency

(i) increased the taxpayer's loss in respect of the specified transaction,

(ii) reduced the taxpayer's income or gain in respect of the specified transaction, or

c) en l'absence du présent paragraphe et du paragraphe (21), il serait raisonnable de considérer qu'une fluctuation au cours de la période d'accumulation de la valeur de la monnaie de déclaration du contribuable par rapport à la valeur de la monnaie de déclaration de la société liée a eu pour effet :

(i) d'accroître la perte du contribuable relativement à l'opération déterminée,

(ii) de réduire le revenu ou le gain du contribuable relativement à l'opération déterminée,

(iii) de faire subir une perte au contribuable, et non de lui faire réaliser un revenu ou un gain, relativement à l'opération déterminée.

Income, gain or loss determinations

(21) En cas d'application du présent paragraphe, chaque fluctuation de valeur mentionnée à l'alinéa (20)c) est réputée ne pas s'être produite lorsqu'il s'agit de déterminer le revenu, le gain ou la perte du contribuable relativement à l'opération déterminée et malgré toute autre disposition de la présente loi.

Partnership transactions

(22) For the purposes of this subsection and subsections (18) to (21),

I wanted to keep you apprised of where we are with Tax Policy on OPG's request for specific PILs exemptions as part of OFHP. See below for details – we are hoping to punt to regulations.

Hi Krista, John,

We shared your ask with Finance Tax Policy and they have been mulling this over for the past few days. We had a conversation this morning and I wanted to provide a synopsis of that call:

- Tax Policy is of the view that if this is structured as a Trust will be a taxable entity under the Income Tax Act. However, because OPG is the beneficiary of the Trust, it will not pay any taxes. For greater certainty, Tax Policy suggested seeking a ruling from CRA. If necessary, we could seek an exemption from CRA (there is precedent with the Nuclear Funds Trust). Please let me know whether that is consistent with your assessment.
- Since all income from the Trust will flow to OPG, all revenues would be subject to PILs (unless we take action to make specific exemptions).
- As we discussed last week, we have proposed the language that you provided with PILs exemptions for specific earning streams from the trust.
- Tax Policy has a number of questions about how to define those exempted revenue streams and the rationale for those exemptions. They want considerably more detail and more time to consider this issue.

- According to Tax Policy, existing Legislation (James I will leave it to you to describe) provides authority to set out PILs exemptions in regulations. Therefore they suggest we do not need to add anything in to the OFHP legislation at this time. That will provide time to more fully consider the issue and discuss the need for these exemptions.
- I suggested I was generally comfortable with this approach, subject to input from OPG and Torys. I think it is better for us to have more time and the flexibility to include these provisions in regulations. Given where we are in the process, I think we are out of time to settle legislative language that will work for Tax Policy.

James, please feel free to add / modify if I missed anything. Please let us know ASAP if you have concerns.

Hi,

I interpreted the "As we discussed last week, we have proposed the language that you provided with PILs exemptions for specific earning streams from the trust" that the reference was revenues from the Trust to OPG that they are seeking a PILs exemption for, so, different than I had understood.

Hi Sriram,

I received the following responses to your question on structure and types of potential income:

1) OPG is planning for the initial financing entity to be a trust. However, the Fair Hydro Plan Act allows for flexibility on the types of structures that can be used (trusts, corporations, partnerships, limited partnerships, other special purpose entities). Because the Fair Hydro Plan envisions a 30 year program, it is important that the PILs exemptions be broad enough to cover all of the various types of entities in the event that a different form is used for one or more future financing entities.

2) The memo we sent addressed types of income that might arise in a trust. As you'll have seen from the memo, it is strongly recommended that a PILs exemption be promulgated which would exempt from PILs any income distributed by a trust financing entity to OPG as beneficiary. This would allow the trust to flush its income to OPG as beneficiary. If a corporation is used as a financing entity, it is important that any income earned in that corporation be exempt from PILs. If a partnership or limited partnership is used as a financing entity, it is important that any income distributed to OPG (or any of its subsidiaries) as a partner or limited partner be exempt from PILs.

OPG is keen to move forward on these regulations. Without the regulations and the PILs exemptions, any taxes payable by a financing entity (whether it's a trust, corporation or otherwise), will be collected from ratepayers which will eat up part of the fair allocation amounts. In addition, the costs of the Fair Hydro Plan will increase as the rating may be affected and the capacity available from the debt markets will decrease as the lenders add a contingency for future taxes that may be collectible at some point in the future from ratepayers.

I would suggest we set up a call to further discuss, perhaps next week.

Please let me know if that makes sense,
Scott

Scott,

Thank you for sharing the Torys Memorandum, dated May 17, 2017, with us.

The structure was not finalized at the time we first reviewed the proposal. Based on the Memorandum, it appears that the type of structure is still being determined. If there has been progress in this regard, we would be happy to conference with Torys and OPG to discuss the appropriate next steps.

As the PILs relief sought appears to be appropriate given the policy objective, we would probably recommend amendments to ensure the structure is not subject to PILs. However, we would suggest that a ruling from the tax administration division may be appropriate in this case, provided the final structure is not subject to regular federal tax and if authority can be found in the existing legislation and regulations.

Our recommendation would depend on the type of structure that is ultimately selected and on other particulars such as the types of income that would be earned in the special purpose vehicle.

Regards,

Sriram

Thanks, Scott. I understand their objective, but there are risks to the government with a very broad tax exemption. We'd have to add safeguards that would be complicated. We could design for a trust, if that's the route, and adjust if the structure changes down the road. Also, as I mentioned, we should first check against current rules. A call may be helpful.

Hi Sriram,

I received the following responses to your question on structure and types of potential income:

1) OPG is planning for the initial financing entity to be a trust. However, the Fair Hydro Plan Act allows for flexibility on the types of structures that can be used (trusts, corporations, partnerships, limited partnerships, other special purpose entities). Because the Fair Hydro Plan envisions a 30 year program, it is important that the PILs exemptions be broad enough to cover all of the various types of entities in the event that a different form is used for one or more future financing entities.

2) The memo we sent addressed types of income that might arise in a trust. As you'll have seen from the memo, it is strongly recommended that a PILs exemption be promulgated which would exempt from PILs any income distributed by a trust financing entity to OPG as beneficiary. This would allow the trust to flush its income to OPG as beneficiary. If a corporation is used as a financing entity, it is important that any income earned in that corporation be exempt from PILs. If a partnership or limited partnership is used as a financing entity, it is important that any income distributed to OPG (or any of its subsidiaries) as a partner or limited partner be exempt from PILs.

OPG is keen to move forward on these regulations. Without the regulations and the PILs exemptions, any taxes payable by a financing entity (whether it's a trust, corporation or otherwise), will be collected from ratepayers which will eat up part of the fair allocation amounts. In addition, the costs of the Fair Hydro Plan will increase as the rating may be affected and the capacity available from the debt markets will decrease as the lenders add a contingency for future taxes that may be collectible at some point in the future from ratepayers.

I would suggest we set up a call to further discuss, perhaps next week.

Please let me know if that makes sense,
Scott

Scott,

Thank you for sharing the Torys Memorandum, dated May 17, 2017, with us.

The structure was not finalized at the time we first reviewed the proposal. Based on the Memorandum, it appears that the type of structure is still being determined. If there has been progress in this regard, we would be happy to conference with Torys and OPG to discuss the appropriate next steps.

As the PILs relief sought appears to be appropriate given the policy objective, we would probably recommend amendments to ensure the structure is not subject to PILs. However, we would suggest that a ruling from the tax administration division may be appropriate in this case, provided the final structure is not subject to regular federal tax and if authority can be found in the existing legislation and regulations.

Our recommendation would depend on the type of structure that is ultimately selected and on other particulars such as the types of income that would be earned in the special purpose vehicle.

Regards,

Sriram

Hi Sriram, Ron,

Further to our conversations from earlier this spring, we received the following from OPG on its request for PILs exemptions relating to Ontario's Fair Hydro Plan. Please let me know if you have questions or comments. Torys and OPG have also asked whether we would like to set up a call in the next few days to discuss.

Thanks,

Hi Michael and Ron,

Tagging on to an existing Fair Hydro briefing would be our preferred approach. Do we know if there are any briefings coming up?

We will also add this item to our DM/MO agenda for tomorrow to walk Kaj and Jamille through. We've included Marianne as well. We will forward the invite and provide a teleconference number as well – the meeting is currently scheduled for 1pm.

Best,
Lesley

The DMO and MO may have already scheduled other briefings already re the Fair Hydro Plan, as I think the Minister is being asked to sign a guarantee. Maybe the PILs reg could be added to one of those briefings.

So this would be a joint briefing with Energy? It was not clear from the email.

If it's a joint briefing, then I think we would have to have an entirely separate meeting and a more formal briefing with DM/MO and yes, it would make sense to raise it on the call with them first.

I think we need to ask Energy if next Tuesday meets their timeline.

Perhaps this issue can be raised in the Sriram's call with Energy?

We have our bi-weekly DM/MO briefing scheduled for next Tuesday – will that work? If so, I'll add it to the agenda.

Hi Lesley,

There were a few emails on this issue this morning. We should get some DMO / MO briefing time and invite those on this cc list.

I think the regulation, despite drafting issues, should be ready soon.

Rob / Daniela, we will need a briefing note that describes the proposed change, the rationale and considerations.

We have at times provided a "comfort letter" in different contexts (non-tax), but they are not binding and any commitments are subject to final approval.

Is a discussion with OPG tax folks needed?

These changes are essentially consistent with the earlier descriptions below in terms of content. My understanding is that OPG Trust is unlikely to generate significant (non-PILs applied) revenues, so this is largely an administrative change designed to avoid unintended consequences arising from potentially large, unrealized gains associated with swaps etc.

Thanks Sriram. We still working with OPG and Torys to understand what exactly they are requesting and why. Based on conversations so far, I think the risk of creating a loophole should be limited, as net revenues from the Trust would be subject to PILs once they flow up from the sub into to OPG corporate entity.

Hi Sriram,

See the email chain on a tax / PILs exempt ask by OPG with respect to the OPG Trust / special purpose vehicle (SPV) for the Fair Hydro Plan.

Perhaps to over-simplify, The SPV would be a new OPG subsidiary that would, in part, obtain financing from the capital markets in order to have the funds to acquire a regulatory asset from the IESO so that the IESO can cover the difference between what it is paying generators and what it is passing through to consumers under the "global adjustment" mechanism. The regulatory asset is the IESO's right to collect from consumers in the future the amounts to cover the global adjustment deferral (including a financing cost).

Note that the timelines for drafting legislation generally for the Plan is very tight.

Scott N. will ask for more detail from OPG.

Would Ann and Rob be the right people to loop in on this?

Ron

Subject: Fair Hydro Plan - question on taxation

Scott,

I understand there was a question regarding the taxation exclusion reference in Summary document. I understand this question is in reference to the following footnote (which is footnote 4 on page 5):

4 MOE to confirm that the legislation will provide that any Financing Entity that is a wholly-owned subsidiary of OPG (1) would not be subject to Part VI of the Electricity Act (Ontario) and (2) in the case of any Financing Entity that is a trust, any income of such trust (for purposes of the Income Tax Act (Canada) or the Taxation Act, 2007 Ontario)) which is paid or made payable to OPG or a wholly-owned subsidiary of OPG as a beneficiary of such trust will not be taken into account in calculating the amount of a payment required to be made by OPG (or such subsidiary) by section 89 or 90 of the Electricity Act.

Overall it is expected that the financing entity, either as a trust or a corporation, will have minimal net income. However, there could be tax situations creating a larger income or loss due to differences in timing or treatment (income vs capital). Given the unique nature of the transaction and lack of precedent to guide treatment then there are uncertainties with respect to tax. The objective is to minimize the tax consequences on both entities hence the request identified in the footnote.

Hope this helps.

Thanks,

Ken

Hi Scott, Rob,

Would it be helpful to have a call so that TPD can get some more context on the proposed Fair Hydro Plan and proposed structure?

Scott, if you're busy, staff here could provide Rob some context if you're not available.

Regular tax will not apply on the distribution of income to OPG because OPG is exempt from regular tax.

I am hoping you get you something more focused, but in the interest of time I thought I would share this version. These changes are essentially consistent with the earlier descriptions below in terms of content. My understanding is that OPG Trust is unlikely to generate significant (non-PILs applied) revenues, so this is largely an administrative change designed to avoid unintended consequences arising from potentially large, unrealized gains associated with swaps etc.

I am also available to answer questions on concept. As John knows, all of this is moving extremely quickly so comments as soon as possible would be extremely helpful. My legal colleagues only semi-joking suggested yesterday would be ideal. In the mean time the draft legislation will continue to take up these concepts as they are currently written.

See the email chain on a tax / PILs exempt ask by OPG with respect to the OPG Trust / special purpose vehicle (SPV) for the Fair Hydro Plan.

Perhaps to over-simplify, The SPV would be a new OPG subsidiary that would, in part, obtain financing from the capital markets in order to have the funds to acquire a regulatory asset from the IESO so that the IESO can cover the difference between what it is paying generators and what it is passing through to consumers under the "global adjustment" mechanism. The regulatory asset is the IESO's right to collect from consumers in the future the amounts to cover the global adjustment deferral (including a financing cost).

Note that the timelines for drafting legislation generally for the Plan is very tight.

Scott N. will ask for more detail from OPG.

Would Ann and Rob be the right people to loop in on this?

Scott,
It is meant to exempt the net earnings of the trust. Any income OPG earns from its services to the trust would still be subject to taxation. As well, revenue that OPG receives from the subordinated debt to the trust would be subject to taxation.
Thanks,
Ken

Hi Ryan,

I appreciate the explanation. I want to make sure I understand the scope of the exclusion. Does this exempt any earnings in the trust and any earnings that OPG derives from the trust (interest income) from both income tax and PILs?

Thanks,

Subject: Fair Hydro Plan - question on taxation

Scott,

I understand there was a question regarding the taxation exclusion reference in Summary document. I understand this question is in reference to the following footnote (which is footnote 4 on page 5):

4 MOE to confirm that the legislation will provide that any Financing Entity that is a wholly-owned subsidiary of OPG (1) would not be subject to Part VI of the Electricity Act (Ontario) and (2) in the case of any Financing Entity that is a trust, any income of such trust (for purposes of the Income Tax Act (Canada) or the Taxation Act, 2007 Ontario)) which is paid or made payable to OPG or a wholly-owned subsidiary of OPG as a beneficiary of such trust will not be taken into account in calculating the amount of a payment required to be made by OPG (or such subsidiary) by section 89 or 90 of the Electricity Act.

Overall it is expected that the financing entity, either as a trust or a corporation, will have minimal net income. However, there could be tax situations creating a larger income or loss due to differences in timing or treatment (income vs capital). Given the unique nature of the transaction and lack of precedent to guide treatment then there are uncertainties with respect to tax. The objective is to minimize the tax consequences on both entities hence the request identified in the footnote.

Hope this helps.
Thanks,
Ken

Hi Gadi, Scott,

I'd think we'd need to loop in TPD on this as well, to get the drafting right, and see about any such policy concerns.

Ron always understands the nature of these sorts of complexities around electricity financing way better than I do, so I'm sure he'll have more thoughts or questions, but the only one that comes to mind for me is how this would be structured in legislation to ensure that there isn't the ability for OPG to move income to the non-taxable (I don't think there is a term "non-PiLable") entity from the taxable part of the company? Regular tax will not apply on the distribution of income to OPG because OPG is exempt from regular tax.

I am hoping you get you something more focused, but in the interest of time I thought I would share this version. These changes are essentially consistent with the earlier descriptions below in terms of content. My understanding is that OPG Trust is unlikely to generate significant (non-PILs applied) revenues, so this is largely an administrative change designed to avoid unintended consequences arising from potentially large, unrealized gains associated with swaps etc.

My legal colleagues only semi-joking suggested yesterday would be ideal. In the mean time the draft legislation will continue to take up these concepts as they are currently written.

Thanks Sriram. We still working with OPG and Torys to understand what exactly they are requesting and why. Based on conversations so far, I think the risk of creating a loophole should be limited, as net revenues from the Trust would be subject to PILs once they flow up from the sub into to OPG corporate entity.

Hi Sriram,

See the email chain on a tax / PILs exempt ask by OPG with respect to the OPG Trust / special purpose vehicle (SPV) for the Fair Hydro Plan.

Perhaps to over-simplify, The SPV would be a new OPG subsidiary that would, in part, obtain financing from the capital markets in order to have the funds to acquire a regulatory asset from the IESO so that the IESO can cover the difference between what it is paying generators and what it is passing through to consumers under the "global adjustment" mechanism. The regulatory asset is the IESO's right to collect from consumers in the future the amounts to cover the global adjustment deferral (including a financing cost).

Note that the timelines for drafting legislation generally for the Plan is very tight.

Scott N. will ask for more detail from OPG.

Would Ann and Rob be the right people to loop in on this?

Ron

It is not anticipated that the trust itself would earn substantial revenues (as explained to me, this would be limited to swap spreads, currency fluctuations etc.). Any revenues that OPG would receive from the trust would be subject to PILs, therefore I'm not sure this will make any difference to the Province. Please let me know if you have any concerns.

Hi Ryan,

I appreciate the explanation. I want to make sure I understand the scope of the exclusion. Does this exempt any earnings in the trust and any earnings that OPG derives from the trust (interest income) from both income tax and PILs?

Thanks,
Scott

Subject: Fair Hydro Plan - question on taxation

Scott,

I understand there was a question regarding the taxation exclusion reference in Summary document. I understand this question is in reference to the following footnote (which is footnote 4 on page 5):

4 MOE to confirm that the legislation will provide that any Financing Entity that is a wholly-owned subsidiary of OPG (1) would not be subject to Part VI of the Electricity Act (Ontario) and (2) in the case of any Financing Entity that is a trust, any income of such trust (for purposes of the Income Tax Act (Canada) or the Taxation Act, 2007 Ontario)) which is paid or made payable to OPG or a wholly-owned subsidiary of OPG as a beneficiary of such trust will not be taken into account in calculating the amount of a payment required to be made by OPG (or such subsidiary) by section 89 or 90 of the Electricity Act.

Overall it is expected that the financing entity, either as a trust or a corporation, will have minimal net income. However, there could be tax situations creating a larger income or loss due to differences in timing or treatment (income vs capital). Given the unique nature of the transaction and lack of precedent to guide treatment then there are uncertainties with respect to tax. The objective is to minimize the tax consequences on both entities hence the request identified in the footnote.

Hope this helps.
Thanks,
Ken

Ron,

Generally, Minister's regulations need not go to LRC and this is a Minister's reg.

Only cabinet regs go to LRC.

Sriram,

We had hoped to have the regulation finalized almost three weeks ago. Legislative counsel changed the draft significantly.

We had shared the draft with OPG's tax counsel and we were a bit dismayed at the number of changes, most of which seemed to have no reason.

I will follow up with Doug and see where we are now.

Hi Sriram,

Just wanted to check in on the status of this OPG request. At a recent implementation update meeting at Energy on the Fair Hydro Plan, there was a brief update by Energy on the regulation. Energy conveyed that this is now considered to have to go to LRC. There was also a comment from CO that the LRC agenda is very full.

My recollection of the discussions earlier in the year that it would be a Minister's reg and could be done faster. Has this changed, and just trying to understand why.

Thanks,
Ron

Thanks, this came up at this morning's rate mitigation meeting, and the IESO people were happy to hear that we're on this, as they're a little nervous about how they're going to finance the regulatory asset until OPG is set up to take it on and pay for it.

I'm adding Ken to close the loop on the exchange that we had last night about the OPG letter - I asked Serge to add in the OFA, and he instructed Steen to do so, and, yes, the letter will be posted, at some point, on OPG's website.

In the half hour that I was able to attend the meeting, the discussion was around the legislation. The biggest point of contention was about OPG's need to have a direct recourse to ratepayers, and the legislative need for a thread directly from individual ratepayers to the lenders to the GA smoothing. The OEB doesn't like that concept at all. The other point that is of interest to us is that they are not looking at putting the guarantee mechanism into the legislation - although there will be some description in the legislation about what, I think they called indemnification will be needed, and then they will leave the guarantee to a commercial one. No surprise that OPG's dealer advisors are saying they need a full provincial guarantee, which OPG is pushing back on, and saying that the guarantee can only be if a future government changes the value of the regulatory asset (this is where the indemnification language in the legislation is necessary). Cindy, of course, as well as me for different reasons, is fussed about the nature of that guarantee, so we asked if they could sort that out with the dealers before the legislation is tabled. We don't want to end up with the dealers holding OPG hostage six months from now - not that they'd ever do that, would they Mike ?

I'm sure Scott will send out his fuller synopsis later today, and that'll also cover what happened in the last hour, after I'd left.

Yes, that was the crux of the OEB's concern, given that's not how the system currently works when a ratepayer doesn't pay their bill.

All very interesting.

On one point, how would a thread directly from individual ratepayers to the lenders to the GA smoothing work? That would seem particularly challenging.

Hi,

I assume this is to protect the interest revenue OPG earns from its sub-debt to the SPV.

PILs would hurt OPG's ROE and bottom line.

No net fiscal impact for the Province on PILs vs net income, but would the Province want a higher ROE to protect the asset value of the equity on the Province's books?

Subject: RE: Comments

Hi Krista, John,

We shared your ask with Finance Tax Policy and they have been mulling this over for the past few days. We had a conversation this morning and I wanted to provide a synopsis of that call:

- Tax Policy is of the view that if this is structured as a Trust will be a taxable entity under the Income Tax Act. However, because OPG is the beneficiary of the Trust, it will not pay any taxes. For greater certainty, Tax Policy suggested seeking a ruling from CRA. If necessary, we could seek an exemption from CRA (there is precedent with the Nuclear Funds Trust). Please let me know whether that is consistent with your assessment.
- Since all income from the Trust will flow to OPG, all revenues would be subject to PILs (unless we take action to make specific exemptions).
- As we discussed last week, we have proposed the language that you provided with PILs exemptions for specific earning streams from the trust.
- Tax Policy has a number of questions about how to define those exempted revenue streams and the rationale for those exemptions. They want considerably more detail and more time to consider this issue.
- According to Tax Policy, existing Legislation (James I will leave it to you to describe) provides authority to set out PILs exemptions in regulations. Therefore they suggest we do not need to add anything in to the OFHP legislation at this time. That will provide time to more fully consider the issue and discuss the need for these exemptions.
- I suggested I was generally comfortable with this approach, subject to input from OPG and Torys. I think it is better for us to have more time and the flexibility to include these provisions in regulations. Given where we are in the process, I think we are out of time to settle legislative language that will work for Tax Policy.

James, please feel free to add / modify if I missed anything. Please let us know ASAP if you have concerns.

Scott
