(d) terminate the Agreement, including immediately, without liability, penalty or costs to the Province upon giving Notice to the Recipient.

The transfer of Funds in accordance with the Agreement is made by the Province with the expressed intention and reservation that the transferred Funds shall be returned to the Province and the entitlements of the Recipient in remaining Funds shall thereby be revoked with reversion thereof to the Province in the circumstances contemplated in Section 11.2(c).

ANNEX A

Principles

~~[Insert from Principles Annex once settled in the Declaration of Trust]~~

The Trustee shall have regard to, but shall not be specifically bound by, the following principles in applying its discretion in relation to the administration of the Trust:

4. Identification of Primary Beneficiary Payees

4.1 Except in exceptional circumstances, a Primary Beneficiary would not be expected to receive a benefit from the Trust unless at the time of consideration it satisfies, in addition to the requirements contemplated in the definition of "Primary Beneficiary", each of the following criteria (the "Selection Factors"):

(i) it has a participant agreement with an applicable Electricity Distributor to undertake measures (its "Energy Plan") to improve the electricity efficiency and/or promote the conservation of electricity at its Ontario residence;

(ii) its Energy Plan involves one or more Eligible Measures, as may be designated by the Trustee from time to time from;

(iii) it confirms that:

1. the primary purpose of its Energy Plan is the conservation and efficient use by the Primary Beneficiary of electricity, and is not for the purposes of the Primary Beneficiary making a profit;

2. it would otherwise not have the financial resources to undertake the Eligible Measures included in its Energy Plan; and

3. it would otherwise not be eligible to receive amounts in respect of the Eligible Measures as a HAP Eligible Person;

(iv) it has demonstrated a need for financial assistance on the basis that its periodic electricity bills represent a financial burden, relative to its available financial resources; and

(v) such other criteria as the Trustee may determine, including based on the recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable Implementation Agreement.

4.2 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, an efficient basis upon which to allocate funds to the Primary Beneficiaries across different areas and regions within Ontario may be based on the areas and regions serviced by the Electricity Distributors operating within Ontario.

4.3 It would not be contrary to the Purposes if funds are made available by the Trustee to the Primary Beneficiaries unequally across different areas and regions within Ontario, and it is expected that in making such an unequal division it would be appropriate to have regard to:

(i) broad economic parameters of economic activity and the specific financial resources of the residents of the areas and regions, in each case as an indication of the relative need of such residents across the areas and regions;

(ii) electricity use and efficiency levels of residential electricity customers across the areas and regions;

(iii) specific regional indicators of economic weakness and need; and

(iv) such other factors as the Trustee may determine are relevant, including based on the submissions, advice and recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable implementation Agreement.

4.4 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the designated Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides would be expected to:

(i) be a reliable source for the purpose of assessing and confirming whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors;

(ii) be an efficient intermediary for the purpose of communicating with the Primary Beneficiary, including with respect to matters such as regarding the availability, terms, conditions and intended purposes of Program;

(iii) be able to facilitate an efficient payment of distribution determined to be made to or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary, having regard to the Electricity Distributor's established practices, procedures and systems for dealing with its customers; and

(iv) have established contractual arrangements with the Primary Beneficiary that may apply to the protection and confidentiality of information provided by or respecting the Primary Beneficiary, which information may be useful in the consideration by the Electricity Distributor in its assessment of whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors, which information may not otherwise be available or readily accessible or verifiable by the Trustee.

4.5 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides will have market and utilization information that may be useful in assessing the relative needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its area or region. Such information is expected to be relevant in assessing the extent to which one such Primary Beneficiary's financial needs and the merits of its Energy Plan are greater or more compelling than those of another such Primary Beneficiary, which comparison may be relevant to the extent that the funds allocable to the Primary Beneficiaries resident in the area or region are otherwise insufficient to meet the requests for funding by all such Primary Beneficiaries.

4.6 Accordingly, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it is consistent with the Purpose that the recommendations of Electricity Distributors be utilized and relied upon by the Trustee to guide the process of identifying particular Primary Beneficiaries in making distributions to the Primary Beneficiaries.

4.7 If an Electricity Distributor for a particular area or region is unable or unwilling to assess or confirm the application of the Selection Factors to Primary Beneficiaries residing in the area or region or to make recommendations in relation to such matters, one or more of the following may provide a suitable alternative source of information and for information gathering, assessment and confirmation purposes in relation to such area or region:

(i) other Electricity Distributors operating in adjacent or other areas or regions in Ontario;

(ii) the Ontario Energy Board;

(iii) the Independent Electricity System Operator; and

(iv) anyone else having relevant expertise and access to information regarding the electricity market of the Province, in each case as may be considered relevant by the Trustee.

4.8 To the extent that privacy law or other legal requirements limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or making available specific information respecting the application of the Selection Factors to a particular Primary Beneficiary or group of Primary Beneficiaries, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it may be appropriate to redact or make generic affected information regarding such Primary Beneficiary in connection with the identification and confirmation of a Primary Beneficiary's eligibility and participation in the Program. If such limitations or restrictions would limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or confirming the name of a particular Primary Beneficiary to the Trustee, then it should be sufficient that such information may be obtained or disseminated on a confidential basis if and when required by the Trustee for the proper administration of the Trust and on that basis such impediments should not disqualify a Primary Beneficiary from participating in the benefits of the Program, provided that the confidential record-keeping of the Electricity Distributor would be available in connection with the application of any applicable legal process predicated on the identification of such Primary Beneficiary for the purposes of substantiating its rights as a Primary Beneficiary of the Trust or as to the validity or subsistence of the Trust.

5. Eligible Measures

5.1 It is expected that the Trust will identify eligible measures that, taking into consideration the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, have regard to the following (the "Measures Factors"):

(i) is the measure generally expected to result in reduced electricity consumption by a Primary Beneficiary if properly installed and used;

(ii) is the measure recognized under another Provincial program as being appropriate for achieving electricity conservation among a population analogous to the Primary Beneficiaries;

(iii) does the measure present any unacceptable health or safety considerations, either with respect to the Primary Beneficiary, a party providing or installing the measure, or the physical environment;

(iv) is the measure broadly available to residents across different areas and regions of the Province; or

(v) is the measure a requirement or precursor to another measure, the other measure being one which meets any of the other Measures Factors.

5.2 In identifying and applying the Measures Factors, Electricity Distributors would be expected to have expertise in assessing the suitability of efficiency and conservation measures in their respective areas and regions, which may differ across areas and regions across the Province based on factors (among other things) such as the climate, geography, density, electricity infrastructure, residential structures, and electricity use rates applicable within such areas or regions.

5.3 The measures specified in Schedule A to this Principles Annex may initially be considered to be consistent with the Measures Factors (subject to change as contemplated under the Permitted Delegations Annex).

6. Promotion of the Program

6.1 It is expected that the Trustee will undertake or engage others to undertake diligent efforts to promote the availability, terms and benefits of the Program to Primary Beneficiaries, including by establishing consistent communications through the Electricity Distributors.

6.2 It is expected that the Trustee will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the establishment and the funding for the Program, including in any external communications to or marketing directed at the Electricity Distributors and the Primary and Residual Beneficiaries. In its delegation of any duties or powers to the Electricity Distributors through Implementation Agreements it is expected that Electricity Distributors will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the program including in any communications or marketing to Primary Beneficiaries.

7. Conduct of the Trust and the Program

7.1 It is expected that administrative expenses of the Board of Trustees and its members, including any expenses relating to the Trust, to the establishment of the Trust and any expenses related to the implementation and operation of the Program, including by or through Electricity Distributors and other relevant entities, will be recognized and subject to reimbursement on a basis that is substantially consistent with the accountability provisions contemplated in the Transfer Payment Agreement and the principles in the Province's Travel, Meal and Hospitality Expenses Directive, as set out in Schedule B to this Principles Annex.

7.2 The Trustee is expected to conduct its activities in a manner that complies in all material respects with the Transfer Payment Agreement, including to:

(i) act prudently and in furtherance of the Purpose;

(ii) report not less frequently than annually the results of its activities for information purposes to the Province in connection with the Program;

(iii) comply with the Province's request for any independent verification or audit if determined to be necessary or appropriate by the Province;

(iv) return Assets that have not been distributed if it is determined that the Trustee has breached its Standard of Care in discharging its material duties under the Declaration, and has not cured such material breach despite having been given a reasonable opportunity by the Province to do so in light of the circumstances of such material breach, with the result that all or a significant part of the Assets have not been or are not being applied and distributed in furtherance of the Purpose or are being applied and distributed in a manner that is directly contrary or without regard to the Purpose.

7.3 Electricity Distributors are not intended to directly profit from distributions of funds made from the Trust, although it is recognized that the objectives of electricity efficiency and conservation of Primary Beneficiaries located in the service area or region of an Electricity Distributor, and the cost savings and improved credit worthiness of such Primary Beneficiaries, may be financially beneficial to the Electricity Distributor.

7.4 Distributions from the Trust are intended to allow receiving Primary Beneficiaries to undertake Eligible Measures at no or minimal personal cost.

7.5 Without in any way limiting the discretion of the Board of Trustees to extend the period during which the benefits of the Program may be available to the Primary Beneficiaries, up to and including the Final Distribution Date, it is expected that the Trust Assets would be distributed to Primary Beneficiaries during the period from the Original Trustee Replacement Date to April 30, 2019.

Subject: FW: Affordability Fund Trust (Further Revisions to the DoT and TPA)

Hello Lisa,

Please find attached updated versions of the TPA and Declaration. Changes are tracked against the previous versions we had sent you.

There are three main outstanding elements that we are working to address:

1. On page 2 and 10 of the TPA, we need to add Computershare's relevant contact info. Could you kindly add this to the TPA?

2. For now we have left a placeholder for the effective date. We will replace that with tomorrow's date once you review.

3. Both documents have some formatting issues (Blakes is working to address):

- inconsistent page numbering and footers for both the TPA and Declaration

- incorrect sub section numbering in Annex A of the TPA

- Schedule B reference to the hospitality directive needs to be updated

Could you kindly review the TPA and Declaration and give us your final OK. Appreciate if you can let us know by tomorrow morning (Mar 23).

We can then circulate clean versions for your signature.

Thank you,

Emma

The fiscal year of the Trust shall end on December 31 of each year.

SECTION 3
DISTRIBUTIONS

3.1 Distributions to Primary Beneficiaries

After the Original Trustee Replacement Date and prior to the Final Distribution Date, the Trustee shall undertake diligent efforts in good faith to distribute the Assets (including capital or income) to the Primary Beneficiaries identified based on the application of the principles specified in the Principles Annex and in the manner and in the amounts determined on the basis contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex, in each case in the amounts and to the extent specified herein and therein, subject in all respects to the exercise by the Trustee of its discretion hereunder and to the exclusion of the other Beneficiaries.

3.2 Amount of Distributions to Primary Beneficiaries

For the purposes of determining the amount of distributions to be made to the Primary Beneficiaries, the Trustee shall have regard to and be entitled to rely on the recommendations of and information provided by Electricity Distributors acting as Implementation Agents appointed for the purposes, in the manner and substantially on the terms contemplated in the Permitted Delegations Annex, without any duty or obligation to verify or makes enquiries regarding the basis for or propriety of such recommendations or the accuracy or completeness of such information, except if and to the extent that the Trustee, in its discretion, determines that (i) it has actual knowledge that such recommendations are contrary to the reasonable application of the principles set forth in the Principles Annex or have been made on a basis that is manifestly contrary to such principles or the delegations and activities specified or contemplated to be undertaken under the Permitted Delegations Annex or (b) such information is known by the Trustee to be erroneous, contain a material misrepresentation or is materially incomplete.

3.3 Distributions to Residual Beneficiaries

Prior to the Final Distribution Date, the Trustee shall identify the Residual Beneficiary, or if more than one the Residual Beneficiaries and their respective allocations, by consulting with and having regard to the recommendations of the Ontario Energy Board, based on those charitable organizations which provide support services for Low Income Energy Assistance Program Emergency Financial Assistance (LEAP EFA) and the Ontario Electricity Support Program (OESP) or other charities that OEB may identify as relating to the Purpose. Following the Final Distribution Date, the Trustee shall, subject to compliance with section 7.3 and completion of a final audit, distribute all remaining Assets (including capital or income) to the Residual Beneficiaries, in each case in the amounts and to the extent determined by the Trustee in its discretion hereunder (having consulted with and having had regard to the recommendations of the Ontario Energy Board as aforesaid) and to the exclusion of the other Beneficiaries.

SECTION 4
POWERS OF THE TRUSTEE

4.1 General

Subject to and in compliance with the terms, limitations and restrictions of this Declaration and notwithstanding applicable trust legislation, the Trustee shall have, without other or further authorization, full, exclusive and absolute power, control and authority over the Assets and over the affairs and activities of the Trust to the same extent as if the Trustee were not a trustee, but rather the sole and absolute owner of the Assets in its own right, including such power, control and authority to do all such acts and things as in its sole judgment and discretion are necessary, incidental or desirable for carrying on the affairs and activities of the Trust, with such powers of delegation as may be permitted or otherwise contemplated by this Declaration. Except as expressly provided in this Declaration, the enumeration in this Declaration of any specific power or authority shall not be construed as limiting the aforesaid general power or authority or any other specific power or authority set out herein. Subject to the terms, limitations and restrictions of this Declaration, every discretion or power hereby conferred on the Trustee is an absolute and uncontrolled discretion or power.

4.2 Specifically Enumerated Powers

The Trustee shall have the following specific powers and authorities:

(a) Transfer Payment Agreement. The Trustee shall have the power to enter into, amend, supplement, modify and perform its obligation under the Transfer Payment Agreement.

(b) Contracts and Undertakings. The Trustee shall have the power to enter into, amend, supplement, modify and perform its obligation under any contract entered into or undertaking given by the Trustee in furtherance of the Purpose, including any Administrative Services Agreement and any Implementation Agreement.

(c) Power to Own, Hold and Manage. Subject to section 4.2(d), the Trustee shall have the power to own, hold and manage the Assets in such manner as the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, may consider appropriate or advisable.

(d) Power to Invest in Eligible Investments. The Trustee shall have the power to invest the Assets only in Eligible Investments, and to change such Eligible Investments at any time and from time to time, all as the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, may consider appropriate or advisable, but always having regard to the Trustee's expectations regarding the timing of payments to be made to the Beneficiaries hereunder. If an investment of Assets in Eligible Investments would not be authorized under the applicable trust laws of Ontario, the Trustee shall nevertheless be permitted to make an investment of the Assets in such Eligible Investments. The Trustee will have no liability for the diminution in the value of any investment in Eligible Investments made hereunder.

(e) Power to Dispose of Assets. The Trustee shall have the power to sell, convey, assign, transfer, exchange and in any other manner dispose of the Assets or any part or parts thereof free and clear of any and all trusts established under this Declaration, by public or private sale, for cash or on credit, with or without advertisement, and subject to such restrictions, stipulations, agreements and reservations as the Trustee in its sole and absolute discretion may consider appropriate or advisable, and to execute and deliver and perform any agreement, deed, conveyance, transfer or other document or instrument in connection with the foregoing.

(f) Power to Apply Assets and Proceeds to Make Distributions to Beneficiaries. The Trustee shall have the power to apply the Assets and the proceeds and income derived therefrom to make distributions to the Beneficiaries contemplated by Section 3, and to execute and deliver and perform any agreement, deed, conveyance, transfer or other document or instrument in connection therewith.

(g) Power to Delegate and to Appoint Agents, etc. The Trustee shall have the power to appoint, employ or contract with any Person as the Trustee in its sole and absolute discretion may consider appropriate or advisable in connection with the activities of the Trust. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing:

(i) the Trustee will have the power at any time and from time to time to appoint, employ or retain consultants, financial advisers, technical advisers, legal counsel, accountants, administrative services agents, implementation agents, insurers, insurance agents and insurance brokers, as the Trustee may require for the purpose of discharging its duties hereunder and shall not be responsible for or for the actions of any of them, including to:

(A) act for and on behalf of the Trust in connection with any and all matters in any way relating to the negotiation, settlement, entering into, amending, performance and enforcement of the Transfer Payment Agreement, the Administrative Services Agreements, the Implementation Agreements, and any other agreements and contracts to which the Trust becomes a party in accordance with this Declaration;

(B) to provide or cause to be provided any or all kinds of administrative and other services in any way relating to the activities of the Trust;

(C) to act as attorney in fact, agent or trustee in the acquisition, holding, investment, application, sale or other disposition of the Assets and in the handling, prosecuting, defending or settling of any claims of or made against the Trust;

(D) to value the Assets and determine the net income of the Trust; and

(E) to make any filings, elections and submissions (including in respect of taxation matters) in connection with the Trust's compliance with applicable laws and regulatory requirements; and

(ii) the Trustee may pay remuneration and reimbursements from the Assets for services performed for it or on its behalf in the discharge of the trusts hereof without taxation for costs or fees of any counsel, solicitor or attorney.

Without limiting the foregoing, it is expected that the Board of Trustees will seek to enter into Implementation Agreements with Electricity Distributors for the purposes contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex, and on such terms and conditions (including terms and conditions as to the payment of reasonable fees and expenses) not inconsistent therewith as the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, may consider appropriate or advisable.

(h) Power to Operate Accounts. The Trustee shall have the power to (i) open and operate accounts at any chartered bank, trust company or other financial institution in Canada or elsewhere, as the Trustee in its sole and absolute discretion may consider appropriate or advisable; (ii) deposit therein any moneys or securities forming part of the Assets whether or not such deposits will earn interest; (iii) withdraw such deposits at such times and in such manner as the Trustee may determine; (iv) draw, make, endorse, deposit or otherwise deal in cheques, bills of exchange, promissory notes, drafts and other kinds of instruments and securities; and (v) enter into contracts or agreements with any such chartered bank, trust company or other financial institution containing such terms and provisions as the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, may consider appropriate or advisable. In connection therewith, the Trustee shall have no liability or responsibility for any loss which may occur by reason of the failure of any such chartered bank, trust company or other financial institution.

(i) Power to Collect, etc. The Trustee shall have the power to (i) collect, sue for, receive and give receipts for all sums of money or other property due to the Trust; (ii) consent to extensions of time for payment or to the renewal of any securities or obligations; (iii) engage or intervene in, prosecute, defend, compound, compromise, abandon or adjust by arbitration or otherwise, any demands, claims, actions, suits or proceedings relating to the Trust or the Assets; (iv) exercise any and all remedies available to the Trustee under any agreement or as may otherwise be available, including any power of foreclosure or sale available at law; (v) in connection with any such foreclosure or sale, purchase or otherwise acquire title to any property and to convey good title thereto free of any and all trusts hereby established, or to take or retake possession of any property secured under any agreement or instrument; (vi) extend the time, with or without security, for the payment or delivery of any debts or property; (vii) execute and deliver releases, acquittances, discharges, agreements or other instruments related thereto; and (viii) pay or satisfy any debts or claims upon any evidence that the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, may determine to be sufficient.

(j) Power to Obtain Insurance. The Trustee shall have the power to enter into contracts for or in relation to or otherwise obtain policies of insurance for the purpose of insuring the risks associated with the Trust, including to insure the Trustee (including the members of the Board of Trustees) against any risk of loss associated with assuming and performing the duties as Trustee. Without limiting the foregoing, it is expected that the Board of Trustees will obtain commercial general liability insurance from insurers having a secure A.M. Best rating of B+ or greater, or the equivalent, that in the opinion of the Recipient a prudent person similar to the Recipient would maintain, and having an inclusive limit of not less than $2,000,000 per occurrence and providing for contractual liability coverage.

(k) Power to Pay Trustee's Fees. The Original Trustee shall be entitled to be paid and receive the fees set forth in the Original Trustee's schedule of fees delivered as of or prior to the date hereof as compensation for its services under this Declaration, and to be reimbursed for its out-of-pocket expenses reasonably incurred, in each case from the Assets and without the approval of any Beneficiary or any court. The Original Trustee shall be entitled, in its sole and absolute discretion, to withdraw funds from time to time for such purpose from any account of the Trust. Members of the Board of Trustees shall be entitled to reimbursement for and in respect of their out-of-pocket expenses reasonably incurred in discharging their respective duties and obligations under this Declaration, in each case without the approval of any Beneficiary or any court, provided that the members of the Board of Trustees have general regard to the accountability principles set out in Schedule B to the Principles Annex.

(l) Power to Pay Taxes. The Trustee shall have the power to (i) pay, deduct, withhold or remit any taxes or assessments which are required by law to be paid, deducted, withheld or remitted together with or from any payment made by the Trustee; (ii) pay all taxes or assessments of whatever kind or nature imposed upon or against the Trust or the Trustee in connection with the Assets or any part thereof; (iii) collect and remit all taxes and assessments of whatever kind or nature required to be collected and remitted by the Trust or the Trustee in connection with their activities or the Assets or any part thereof; (iv) appeal, settle or compromise tax claims or liabilities; and (v) for the foregoing purposes, to make such returns, elections and submissions and do all such other acts and things as the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, may consider appropriate or advisable.

(m) Power to Appoint Auditors. The Trustee shall have the power to select and appoint and discharge and re-appoint, in its sole and absolute discretion, an auditor or auditors of the Trust and to settle and pay the fees of any such auditor or auditors from any account of the Trust.

(n) Form of Accounts. The Trustee shall have the power to determine and change from time to time, in its sole and absolute discretion, the method or form in which the accounts of the Trust will be kept and shall not be required to keep or provide accounts in the form usually required by law to be kept or provided by trustees; provided that such method or form reasonably complies with generally accepted accounting principles in effect in Canada to the extent applicable.

(o) Title to Assets. The Trustee shall have the power to cause all or any part of the Assets to be held by or registered, in its sole and absolute discretion, in the name of any Person.

(p) Delegation of Discretion. The Trustee shall have the power to delegate the right and power to exercise, or concur in the exercise of any discretion or power, conferred on the Trustee in this Declaration or conferred by law to any one or more of its directors, officers, employees, agents, representatives or to such other Person, as the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, may think is appropriate or advisable, including to one or more Administrative Services Agents under an Administrative Services Agreement and to one or more Implementation Agents and their respective employees, officers and directors under a related Implementation Agreement entered into by the Trust substantially on the basis contemplated in the Permitted Delegations Annex. In particular, the Trustee shall have the power to accept, rely on and follow the recommendations of an Electricity Distributor made under and having regard to the Permitted Delegation Annex with respect to the identification of, and the determination of distributions (if any) to be made to, any Primary Beneficiary, except if and in so far as the Trustee has actual knowledge that (1) such Primary Beneficiary did not in fact satisfy the "Selection Factors" specified in the Principles Annex as of the applicable time of determination; and/or (ii) the amount recommended to be distributed to the Primary Beneficiary was not calculated in substantial compliance with, or was calculated in a manner that is manifestly contrary to the requirements set forth or contemplated in, the Permitted Delegation Annex or the applicable Implementation Agreement.

(q) Additional Powers. The Trustee shall have the power to perform and do all such other acts, to take such steps and to execute all such deeds, transfers, assignments, agreements and other documents and instruments as the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, may consider appropriate or advisable for the carrying out of any of its powers hereunder or of any of the activities of the Trust as herein contemplated, or for the carrying out, promotion or advancement of the interests of the Trust, whether or not any of such acts, things, documents or instruments are herein expressly mentioned. Any good faith determination by the Trustee as to what is necessary, desirable or appropriate to carry out its powers or activities of the Trust as contemplated under this Declaration or to carry out, promote or advance the interests of the Trust shall be conclusive. Any construction of this Declaration or any determination as to the activities of the Trust or the existence of any power or authority hereunder made in good faith by the Trustee, relying upon the advice of counsel, shall be conclusive. In construing the provisions of this Declaration, there shall be a presumption in favour of a grant of power to the Trustee.

SECTION 5
CONCERNING THE TRUSTEE

5.1 Duty of Trustee

In performing its duties and exercising its powers under this Declaration, the Trustee shall act honestly, in good faith and with a view to the best interests of the Trust and the Beneficiaries and shall exercise that degree of care, diligence and skill that a reasonably prudent trustee would exercise in comparable circumstances (the "Standard of Care"). The Trustee shall observe and act in accordance with the terms of, and shall observe and comply with the limitations and restrictions set forth in, this Declaration, including having due regard to the principles set forth in the Principles Annex. To the extent that the Trustee has so delegated any of its duties or powers, it shall be deemed to have satisfied the Standard of Care in respect of the subject matter of such delegation, subject to the Trustee's overall duty as a trustee to exercise prudent oversight in relation to such delegation. Unless required by law, the Trustee will not be required to give any security, bonds or sureties in any jurisdiction for the performance of any of its duties and obligations under this Declaration. The Trustee (including the individual members of the Board of Trustees) will not be required to devote its entire time to the trust activities.

5.2 Limitation of Liability

The Trustee shall not be personally liable in tort, contract or otherwise to any Beneficiary or any other Person for any loss or diminution in the value of the Assets, or for any action or failure to act on the part of the Trustee or any of its employees or agents or any other Person, and shall not be subject to any personal liability for any debts, liabilities, obligations, claims, demands, judgments, costs, charges or expenses incurred by or against the Trust, howsoever arising, and resort will be had solely to the Assets for the payment, performance or satisfaction thereof. No property or assets of the Trustee, owned in its personal capacity or otherwise, will be subject to levy, execution or other enforcement procedures with respect to any obligation under this Declaration. However, the foregoing limitations in this Section shall not apply where the Trustee has demonstrated gross negligence, bad faith, fraud or wilful misconduct.

5.3 Liability of Trustee under Contracts

Any document or instrument creating a liability or obligation of the Trust or of the Trustee will be conclusively deemed to have been executed by the Trustee only in its capacity as Trustee of the Trust and will be binding upon the Trustee only in its capacity as trustee hereunder and resort may not be had to, nor recourse or satisfaction be sought from, the property of the Trustee other than the Assets, whether owned by its in its personal capacity or in any other capacity other than in its capacity as Trustee of the Trust, or from its employees or agents, and in all cases resort will be had solely to the Assets for the payment, performance or satisfaction of any such liability or obligation. However, the foregoing limitations in this Section shall not apply where the Trustee has demonstrated gross negligence, bad faith, fraud or wilful misconduct. Each document or instrument creating a liability or obligation of the Trust or of the Trustee shall contain a provision providing for the aforesaid limitation of liability.

5.4 Funds of the Trustee

The Trustee shall not be required to expend or risk its own funds or otherwise incur financial liability in the performance of any of its duties hereunder, or in the exercise of any of its rights or powers.

5.5 Indemnification of Trustee

In addition to and without limiting any other protection hereunder or otherwise by law of the Trustee and its respective employees, agents, representatives and assigns (in this Section 5.5, collectively, the "Representatives"), the Trustee and its respective Representatives shall be indemnified, defended and saved harmless out of the Assets from, against and in respect of any and all liabilities arising or related to actions taken or omitted to be taken by any agent of the Trustee, losses, claims (including any claim arising out of the assessment of any tax on income by a taxing authority), damages, penalties, fines, actions, suits, demands, levies, assessments, costs, charges, expenses and disbursements (including, without limitation, any and all legal and advisor fees and disbursements) (in this Section 5.5, collectively, the "Liabilities") of whatever kind or nature which may at any time be suffered by, imposed upon, incurred by or asserted against the Trustee and its Representatives, whether groundless or otherwise, howsoever arising from or out of any act, omission or error of the Trustee, in each case made in connection with its acting as Trustee hereunder, in each case except and to the extent that the Liabilities are a result from or are caused by gross negligence, wilful misconduct, bad faith or fraud. Further, except as provided in section 5.2, the Trustee shall not be liable to any Beneficiary for any loss or damage relating to any matter regarding the Trust, including any loss or diminution in value of the Assets. Notwithstanding any other provision hereof, the obligations provided for in this section 5.5 shall survive any termination of the Trust, whether by reason of removal or resignation of the Trustee, termination or discharge of this Declaration or otherwise.

5.6 Reliance upon Advice

Subject to section 5.1, in performing its duties and exercising its powers hereunder, the Trustee may rely and may act or not act, and shall be fully protected in relying and acting or not acting, upon (a) any statement, telecopy or other electronic means of communication, writing, notice, resolution, report, opinion or other document or conversation believed by it to be genuine and correct and to have been signed, sent or made by the proper Person; (b) any opinion or advice received or information obtained from auditors, solicitors, or other professional advisers, whether retained by the Trustee or otherwise, and shall not be responsible or held liable for any loss or damage resulting from so relying or acting or not acting; and (c) the advice and actions of any Administrative Services Agent or Implementation Agent, including in connection with the delegations and reliances contemplated under the Permitted Delegations Annex. For greater certainty, it shall not be necessary for the Trustee to ascertain whether or not the Persons who have executed, signed or otherwise issued, authenticated or receipted such papers, writings or documents (including any Administrative Services Agreement or any Implementation Agreement or any other contract entered into by the Trustee) have authority to do so or that they are the same Persons named therein or otherwise to pass upon any requirement of such papers, writing or documents that may be essential for their validity or effectiveness or upon the truth and acceptability.

5.7 Replacement of the Original Trustee

The Persons identified in the Trustee Replacement Annex are hereby appointed to comprise the Advisory Committee contemplated therein (the "Advisory Committee"). The Original Trustee shall promptly request that the Advisory Committee make recommendations with respect to the composition of the "Board of Trustees", as contemplated by the Trustee Replacement Annex. The Original Trustee shall have no duty or obligation to investigate the basis for any of the Advisory Committee's recommendations and may rely on such recommendations without any duty of enquiry, supervision or oversight with respect to the activities and decision-making processes adopted by the Advisory Committee in its discretion, in full satisfaction of the Original Trustee's Standard of Care with respect to such matters hereunder. Except where it is manifestly apparent to the Original Trustee that the individuals recommended by the Advisory Committee to become members of such Board of Trustees are disqualified from so acting on the basis of manifest non-compliance with the "Selection Factors" set forth in the Trustee Replacement Annex, the Original Trustee shall appoint, as members of the Board of Trustees, the six (five voting and one non-voting) individuals recommended for appointment to the Board of Trustees by the Advisory Committee. If the Original Trustee declines to appoint any individual recommended by the Advisory Committee, the Original Trustee will promptly request that the Advisory Committee provide a further recommendation whom the Original Trustee shall appoint as a member of the Board of Trustees unless it is manifestly apparent to the Original Trustee that the individual so recommended is also disqualified from so acting on the basis of manifest non-compliance with the "Selection Factors" set forth in the Trustee Replacement Annex,. Upon the appointment of such six individuals pursuant to this provision and their agreement to act as members of the Board of Trustees, the Original Trustee shall be deemed to have resigned and shall cease to be a trustee (such resignation occurring on the "Original Trustee Replacement Date").

5.8 Rules and Procedures of the Board of Trustees

(a) Initial Requirements. As soon as practicable and in any event no later than one month following the Original Trustee Replacement Date, the Board of Trustees is expected to meet to take such decisions and actions as they deem necessary to ensure the proper management and administration of the Trust. The date (and location if in person) of the initial meeting shall be determined by a majority of the Board of Trustees.

(b) Meetings. Subject to the Board of Trustees' discretion to make such rules and procedures that they may deem desirable, meetings of the Board of Trustees may be held at such time and place as the trustee members of the Board of Trustees may agree upon or as they may fix by resolution for the purpose or if the meeting is called as hereinafter mentioned then at such time as may be designated in the notice calling the meeting. A meeting of the Board of Trustees may be called at any time by any two members of the Board of Trustees by two Business Days' notice given to the members of the Board of Trustees. No notice of any Board of Trustees' meeting shall be necessary when a quorum is present if those comprising the quorum consent to the transaction of the affairs of the Trust and the absent trustee or trustees, if any, either before or after the meeting shall waive in writing notice of the meeting. Meetings of the Board of Trustees may be conducted in person, by telephone, or in such other manner as determined by the Board of Trustees. The Board of Trustees may elect a Chairperson.

(c) Quorum. At any meeting of the Board of Trustees, a majority of the voting members of the Board of Trustees shall be a quorum irrespective of the number of members in office. The decision of the majority of the voting members where quorum exists shall govern and shall be binding for all purposes and shall be acted upon and carried out in the same manner and with the same effect as if all the voted members concurred therein; provided always that in the case of equality of votes the Chairperson, if any, shall not be entitled to cast a second or deciding vote.

(d) Power to Adopt Rules and Procedures. The Board of Trustees may make such rules and procedures not inconsistent herewith as it may deem desirable for the proper management and administration of the Trust and the discharge of the responsibilities of the Board of Trustees.

(e) Replacement of Members of the Board of Trustees. The Board of Trustees shall have the power to replace any vacancy arising following the Original Trustee Replacement Date according to such rules and procedures as they deem appropriate subject to compliance with the Selection Factors specified in Trustee Replacement Annex and having regard for such considerations necessary to ensure that the composition of the Board of Trustees will be able to discharge its responsibilities in respect of the Declaration. If necessary, the Board of Trustees may fill any vacancy by application to the Courts of Ontario in the event of an unfilled vacancy.

(f) Decisions of the Board of Trustees. Decisions and actions of the Board of Trustees shall be made by voting, with each individual voting member having one vote. Subject to quorum requirements, a majority vote shall be determinative in respect of such decisions and actions. Subject to quorum requirements, any decision or action taken by the majority of voting members will represent the decision or action of the Trustee, and not any member of the Board of Trustees.

(g) Conflicts of Interest. With respect to any matter before the Board of Trustees, to the extent of a conflict of interest, whether actual, perceived or potential, involving a member of the Board of Trustees' personal interests and a matter concerning the Trust, such member shall abstain from voting on the matter or taking any other discretionary action on the matter. For the purposes of the foregoing, no member of the Board of Trustees shall be deemed to have a conflict by reason only that the member holds any office or position with an Electricity Distributor, social services agency or governmental or quasi-governmental agency or entity (such as the Independent Electricity System Operator); provided, however, that in relation to any decision of the Board of Trustees pertaining specifically to a particular Electricity Distributor, any member of the Board of Trustees who is a director, officer or employee of the Electricity Distributor would be expected to recuse himself or herself from participating in deliberations, discussions or voting in respect of such decision.

(h) Expense Reimbursements to Members of the Board of Trustees. Members of the Board of Trustees shall be entitled to reimbursement for and in respect of their out-of-pocket expenses reasonably incurred in discharging their duties and obligations as members of the Board of Trustees. Members of the Board of Trustees shall serve without compensation.

5.9 Confidentiality

Notwithstanding the resignation or removal and discharge from the trusts and powers reposed in and conferred on the Trustee by this Declaration, or the termination of this Declaration, the Trustee so resigning or removed shall continue to treat as confidential all information relating to the Trust, the Assets and the Beneficiaries and shall only be entitled to make disclosures concerning such information if disclosure is required in the performance of the functions of the resigning or removed Trustee or is ordered by a court of competent jurisdiction or is otherwise required by law. The Trustee shall not be responsible or liable to any Person for any loss or damage arising out of or in any way sustained or incurred in any way relating to any such required disclosure. The obligations arising under this section 5.9 shall survive the termination of the Trust.

5.10 Vesting in Successor Trustee

Any successor trustee (including any reconstituted Board of Trustees) shall automatically become vested with the Assets and with the same powers, rights, duties, responsibilities and trusts as if it, he or she had originally been named as Trustee under this Declaration, without the requirement of any further instrument or act or conveyance, and the Trustee ceasing to act shall execute all such transfers and other documents and do all such other acts or things as may be necessary or desirable to assign, transfer, deliver to, and vest in, the successor trustee, upon the trusts expressed in this Declaration, all the Assets and all the rights, powers and trusts of the Trustee ceasing to act. The expense of any act, document, deed or other instrument or thing required under this Section 5.10, including for greater certainty, outstanding fees and unreimbursed expenses of the Trustee (including any member of the Board of Trustees) ceasing to act, shall be satisfied from the Assets.

5.11 Execution of Instruments

The Trustee shall have the power to execute all deeds, transfers, agreements, promissory notes and other instruments on behalf of the Trust. Such power may be exercised by any one or more Administrative Services Agents acting in accordance with any delegated right to do so pursuant to an applicable Administrative Services Agreement or by any one or more Implementation Agents acting in accordance with any delegated right to do so pursuant to an applicable Implementation Agreement, and any such execution of instrument by an Administrative Services Agent, acting in such capacity as agent of the Trust pursuant to the terms and conditions of an Administrative Services Agreement or by an Implementation Agent acting in such capacity as agent of the Trust pursuant to the terms and conditions of an Implementation Agreement shall in each case be deemed to be a proper execution of such instrument by the Trustee and shall be binding for all purposes on the Trust.

5.12 Decisions by the Trustee

If there is more than one Trustee, decisions of the Trust may be made by a majority of Trustees eligible to vote on the applicable matter. Whenever the Trustees are unable to agree in relation to the commission or omission of any act or howsoever in the execution of the Trust, the decision of a majority of such Trustees shall prevail.

SECTION 6
AMENDMENTS AND SUPPLEMENTS

6.1 Amendments

Subject to the requirements of the Transfer Payment Agreement, the Trustee shall have the power in its sole and absolute discretion from time to time without the approval of any Beneficiary or any court to amend, vary, supplement, replace or restate this Declaration in its entirety or any portion thereof; provided, however that it is expected that any amendment shall be consistent with the intent of the principles set forth in the Principles Annex and with the intended scope and effect of the permitted delegations and activities of any Implementation Agent pursuant to the Permitted Delegations Annex. Without in any way limiting the foregoing, any such amendments, variations, supplements, replacements or restatements may:

(a) add provisions for the replacement of or appointment of additional trustees to act with the Original Trustee prior to the Original Trustee Replacement Date;

(b) in the case of the Original Trustee, add provisions to those contemplated in the Trustee Replacement Annex in respect of the appointment of the members and the formation and empowerment of the Board of Trustees;

(c) in the case of the Original Trustee, vary the terms and requirements applicable to the duties, responsibilities, obligations, liabilities, indemnities, protections, limitations, restrictions, compensation, expense reimbursements and such other matters, in each case as the Advisory Committee may indicate are necessary to be made in order to attract and receive confirmation of appointment of appropriately qualified individuals that the Advisory Committee specifies are to be appointed as members of the Board of Trustees in accordance with its recommendations;

(d) add additional or replace existing Trustees;

(e) add to or reasonably clarify the principles set forth in the Principles Annex;

(f) add to or reasonably clarify the delegations and activities contemplated to be made in the Permitted Delegation Annex;

(g) include provisions for the management of the Trust by the Trustees, including the making of rules, requirements and procedures governing the decision-making of the Board of Trustees;

(h) add provisions for the replacement of members of the Board of Trustees (in addition to those provisions contemplated in section 5.7 and the Trustee Replacement Annex);

(i) provide for the engagement of any Person or Persons as managers, administrators or other service providers to the Trust, including any additional or replacement Administrative Services Agent or Implementation Agent or representative thereof;

(j) specify supplemental procedures for the identification of Primary Beneficiaries and the exchange of information with Electricity Distributors in connection with identifying such Primary Beneficiaries; or

(k) specify procedures for the transfer and transmission of funds from the Trust or any Implementation Agent acting on its behalf and with delegated responsibility over funds constituting Assets, to or for the benefit of, Beneficiaries or their designated representatives, payees or assignees.

6.2 Supplemental Declarations

The Trustee is authorized to execute any supplemental declaration of trust (including one or more amendments and restatements from time to time of this Declaration) to give effect to amendments to this Declaration made pursuant to section 6.1.

SECTION 7
TERMINATION

7.1 Duration

Subject to sections 7.2 and 7.3, the Trust will continue in full force and effect so long as there are any Assets and until all of the debts, liabilities and obligations of the Trust have been paid and satisfied in full.

7.2 Termination and Distribution of Assets

The Trustee shall terminate the Trust and wind up its affairs as soon as practicable after the Final Distribution Date. In connection with the termination of the Trust, the Trustee shall identify the Residual Beneficiaries and distribute or cause to be distributed the remaining Assets, in cash or in kind or partly in each, to the Residual Beneficiaries, in each case in accordance with section 3.3. Despite the foregoing, the Trust will only be terminated and wound up after the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, determines that all debts, liabilities and obligations of the Trust have been paid or otherwise adequately provided for and satisfied and upon receipt of such releases, indemnities and discharges as the Trustee, relying on the opinion of counsel, deems necessary for the protection of the Beneficiaries and for its own protection.

7.3 Distribution of Assets on Final Distribution Date

If the Trust holds Assets on the Final Distribution Date, the Trustee shall pay or provide reserves for the payment, and otherwise shall satisfy, all debts, liabilities and obligations of the Trust and shall provide or arrange to provide such investigations, audits, releases, indemnities and discharges as the Trustee, relying on the opinion of counsel, deems necessary for the protection of the Beneficiaries and for its own protection. Thereafter, any remaining Assets shall be paid to the Residual Beneficiaries in accordance with section 3.3.

SECTION 8

The Trustee shall have regard to, but shall not be specifically bound by, the following principles in applying its discretion in relation to the administration of the Trust:

1. Identification of Primary Beneficiary Payees

1.1 Except in exceptional circumstances, a Primary Beneficiary would not be expected to receive a benefit from the Trust unless at the time of consideration it satisfies, in addition to the requirements contemplated in the definition of "Primary Beneficiary", each of the following criteria (the "Selection Factors"):

(i) it has a participant agreement with an applicable Electricity Distributor to undertake measures (its "Energy Plan") to improve the electricity efficiency and/or promote the conservation of electricity at its Ontario residence;

(ii) its Energy Plan involves one or more Eligible Measures, as may be designated by the Trustee from time to time from;

(iii) it confirms that:

1. the primary purpose of its Energy Plan is the conservation and efficient use by the Primary Beneficiary of electricity, and is not for the purposes of the Primary Beneficiary making a profit;

2. it would otherwise not have the financial resources to undertake the Eligible Measures included in its Energy Plan; and

3. it would otherwise not be eligible to receive amounts in respect of the Eligible Measures as a HAP Eligible Person;

(iv) it has demonstrated a need for financial assistance on the basis that its periodic electricity bills represent a financial burden, relative to its available financial resources; and

(v) such other criteria as the Trustee may determine, including based on the recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable Implementation Agreement.

1.2 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, an efficient basis upon which to allocate funds to the Primary Beneficiaries across different areas and regions within Ontario may be based on the areas and regions serviced by the Electricity Distributors operating within Ontario.

1.3 It would not be contrary to the Purposes if funds are made available by the Trustee to the Primary Beneficiaries unequally across different areas and regions within Ontario, and it is expected that in making such an unequal division it would be appropriate to have regard to:

(i) broad economic parameters of economic activity and the specific financial resources of the residents of the areas and regions, in each case as an indication of the relative need of such residents across the areas and regions;

(ii) electricity use and efficiency levels of residential electricity customers across the areas and regions;

(iii) specific regional indicators of economic weakness and need; and

(iv) such other factors as the Trustee may determine are relevant, including based on the submissions, advice and recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable Implementation Agreement.

1.4 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the designated Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides would be expected to:

(i) be a reliable source for the purpose of assessing and confirming whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors;

(ii) be an efficient intermediary for the purpose of communicating with the Primary Beneficiary, including with respect to matters such as regarding the availability, terms, conditions and intended purposes of Program;

(iii) be able to facilitate an efficient payment of distribution determined to be made to or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary, having regard to the Electricity Distributor's established practices, procedures and systems for dealing with its customers; and

(iv) have established contractual arrangements with the Primary Beneficiary that may apply to the protection and confidentiality of information provided by or respecting the Primary Beneficiary, which information may be useful in the consideration by the Electricity Distributor in its assessment of whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors, which information may not otherwise be available or readily accessible or verifiable by the Trustee.

1.5 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides will have market and utilization information that may be useful in assessing the relative needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its area or region. Such information is expected to be relevant in assessing the extent to which one such Primary Beneficiary's financial needs and the merits of its Energy Plan are greater or more compelling than those of another such Primary Beneficiary, which comparison may be relevant to the extent that the funds allocable to the Primary Beneficiaries resident in the area or region are otherwise insufficient to meet the requests for funding by all such Primary Beneficiaries.

1.6 Accordingly, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it is consistent with the Purpose that the recommendations of Electricity Distributors be utilized and relied upon by the Trustee to guide the process of identifying particular Primary Beneficiaries in making distributions to the Primary Beneficiaries.

1.7 If an Electricity Distributor for a particular area or region is unable or unwilling to assess or confirm the application of the Selection Factors to Primary Beneficiaries residing in the area or region or to make recommendations in relation to such matters, one or more of the following may provide a suitable alternative source of information and for information gathering, assessment and confirmation purposes in relation to such area or region:

(i) other Electricity Distributors operating in adjacent or other areas or regions in Ontario;

(ii) the Ontario Energy Board;

(iii) the Independent Electricity System Operator; and

(iv) anyone else having relevant expertise and access to information regarding the electricity market of the Province, in each case as may be considered relevant by the Trustee.

1.8 To the extent that privacy law or other legal requirements limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or making available specific information respecting the application of the Selection Factors to a particular Primary Beneficiary or group of Primary Beneficiaries, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it may be appropriate to redact or make generic affected information regarding such Primary Beneficiary in connection with the identification and confirmation of a Primary Beneficiary's eligibility and participation in the Program. If such limitations or restrictions would limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or confirming the name of a particular Primary Beneficiary to the Trustee, then it should be sufficient that such information may be obtained or disseminated on a confidential basis if and when required by the Trustee for the proper administration of the Trust and on that basis such impediments should not disqualify a Primary Beneficiary from participating in the benefits of the Program, provided that the confidential record-keeping of the Electricity Distributor would be available in connection with the application of any applicable legal process predicated on the identification of such Primary Beneficiary for the purposes of substantiating its rights as a Primary Beneficiary of the Trust or as to the validity or subsistence of the Trust.

2. Eligible Measures

2.1 It is expected that the Trust will identify eligible measures that, taking into consideration the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, have regard to the following (the "Measures Factors"):

(i) is the measure generally expected to result in reduced electricity consumption by a Primary Beneficiary if properly installed and used;

(ii) is the measure recognized under another Provincial program as being appropriate for achieving electricity conservation among a population analogous to the Primary Beneficiaries;

(iii) does the measure present any unacceptable health or safety considerations, either with respect to the Primary Beneficiary, a party providing or installing the measure, or the physical environment;

(iv) is the measure broadly available to residents across different areas and regions of the Province; or

(v) is the measure a requirement or precursor to another measure, the other measure being one which meets any of the other Measures Factors.

2.2 In identifying and applying the Measures Factors, Electricity Distributors would be expected to have expertise in assessing the suitability of efficiency and conservation measures in their respective areas and regions, which may differ across areas and regions across the Province based on factors (among other things) such as the climate, geography, density, electricity infrastructure, residential structures, and electricity use rates applicable within such areas or regions.

2.3 The measures specified in Schedule A to this Principles Annex may initially be considered to be consistent with the Measures Factors (subject to change as contemplated under the Permitted Delegations Annex).

3. Promotion of the Program

3.1 It is expected that the Trustee will undertake or engage others to undertake diligent efforts to promote the availability, terms and benefits of the Program to Primary Beneficiaries, including by establishing consistent communications through the Electricity Distributors.

3.2 It is expected that the Trustee will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the establishment and the funding for the Program, including in any external communications to or marketing directed at the Electricity Distributors and the Primary and Residual Beneficiaries. In the Trustee's delegation of any duties or powers to the Electricity Distributors through Implementation Agreements it is expected that Electricity Distributors will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the program including in any communications or marketing to Primary Beneficiaries.

4. Conduct of the Trust and the Program

4.1 It is expected that administrative expenses of the Board of Trustees and its members, including any expenses relating to the Trust, to the establishment of the Trust and any expenses related to the implementation and operation of the Program, including by or through Electricity Distributors and other relevant entities, will be recognized and subject to reimbursement on a basis that is substantially consistent with the accountability principles set out in Schedule B to this Principles Annex.

4.2 The Trustee is expected to conduct its activities in a manner that complies in all material respects with the Transfer Payment Agreement, including to:

(i) act prudently and in furtherance of the Purpose;

(ii) report not less frequently than annually the results of its activities for information purposes to the Province in connection with the Program;

(iii) comply with the Province's request for any independent verification or audit if determined to be necessary or appropriate by the Province;

(iv) return Assets that have not been distributed if it is determined that the Trustee has breached its Standard of Care in discharging its material duties under the Declaration, and has not cured such material breach despite having been given a reasonable opportunity by the Province to do so in light of the circumstances of such material breach, with the result that all or a significant part of the Assets have not been or are not being applied and distributed in furtherance of the Purpose or are being applied and distributed in a manner that is directly contrary or without regard to the Purpose.

4.3 Electricity Distributors are not intended to directly profit from distributions of funds made from the Trust, although it is recognized that the objectives of electricity efficiency and conservation of Primary Beneficiaries located in the service area or region of an Electricity Distributor, and the cost savings and improved credit worthiness of such Primary Beneficiaries, may be financially beneficial to the Electricity Distributor.

4.4 Distributions from the Trust are intended to allow receiving Primary Beneficiaries to undertake Eligible Measures at no or minimal personal cost.

4.5 Without in any way limiting the discretion of the Board of Trustees to extend the period during which the benefits of the Program may be available to the Primary Beneficiaries, up to and including the Final Distribution Date, it is expected that the Trust Assets would be distributed to Primary Beneficiaries during the period from the Original Trustee Replacement Date to April 30, 2019.

PERMITTED DELEGATION ANNEX

1. Under section 4.2(g) of the Declaration, the Trustee has the power to: (a) appoint, employ or retain Implementation Agents for the purpose of discharging its duties and obligations under the Declaration; and (b) enter into, perform, enforce and amend Implementation Agreements.

2. In accordance with section 4.2(g) of the Declaration, consistent with the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, the Trustee or its agent will seek to enter into one or more Implementation Agreements with individual Electricity Distributors under which the Electricity Distributors will act as Implementation Agents to the Trustee. In this manner, the Trustee will delegate certain of its powers and duties to the Electricity Distributors.

3. Under section 5.1 of the Declaration, to the extent the Trustee has delegated any of its duties or powers, it shall be deemed to have satisfied the Standard of Care in respect of the subject matter of such delegation, subject to the Trustee's overall duty to exercise prudent oversight thereof. The Trustee is entitled to rely on an Electricity Distributor to discharge the duties delegated to it, as Implementation Agent, pursuant to an Implementation Agreement as described in this Annex.

4. Accordingly, and without limiting the Trustee's right to delegate under the Declaration and its other rights, powers and discretion as Trustee, the Trustee will be permitted to, and is expected to seek to, enter into Implementation Agreements with Electricity Distributors in order to further the Purpose. Without limiting the Trustee's discretion to negotiate and settle the terms and conditions of such Implementation Agreements, it is expected that such Implementation Agreements will include customary terms and conditions for arrangements of this type and, in addition, would (subject to the acceptance and agreement of the applicable Electricity Distributor counterparty) address the following points in particular:

    a. Identification of Applicable Primary Beneficiary Payees and Determination of Individual Distribution Amounts

        i. Each Electricity Distributor would make an initial assessment of the financial needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its designated service area or region, having regard to the Selection Factors set forth in section 1.3 of the Principles Annex, together with applicable economic data, in order to prepare and provide to the Trustee an estimate of the number of Primary Beneficiaries who the Electricity Distributor reasonably expects would satisfy the Selection Factors.

        ii. Each Electricity Distributor would make an initial assessment of the measures it would recommend be included as Eligible Measures, having regard to the Measures Factors set forth in section 2.1 of the Principles Annex, in order to prepare and provide to the Trustee an estimate of the average cost per Primary Beneficiary Payee (as defined below) of such Eligible Measures that the Electricity Distributor reasonably expects would apply in respect of Primary Beneficiaries resident in its service area or region.

        iii. Based on the product of (i) and (ii), above, and such other considerations as it considers to be directly relevant, each Electricity Distributor would make a written recommendation to the Trustee regarding the aggregate funding amount that the Electricity Distributor anticipates would be utilized under the Program by the Primary Beneficiaries resident in its service area or region (the "Local Funding Estimate"). Such recommendation would be accompanied, when submitted to the Trustee, by a detailed explanation regarding the assumptions, financial parameters, suitability considerations and other information underlying the Local Funding Estimate (including the type of information contemplated by the Selections Factors and the Measures Factors) which would be relied upon by the Trustee in its assessment regarding the allocation of available funding to or for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiaries across the specified areas and regions of Ontario.

iv. The Trustee would inform the Electricity Distributor regarding the aggregate of the amount determined by the Trustee to be made available under the Program for Primary Beneficiaries in the Electricity Distributor's designated service area or region (for each Electricity Distributor, its "Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation") and as to any maximum amount that may be paid to or for the benefit of any single Primary Beneficiary located in the service area or region of the Electricity Distributor (the "Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount"). The Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation and Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount may vary between areas and regions, among the Primary Beneficiaries within such areas and regions, and may be increased by the Trustee from time to time in its discretion.

v. Each Electricity Distributor would apply the principles set forth under "Identification of Primary Beneficiary Payees" in the Principles Annex to identify and make recommendations to the Trustee regarding the amount of funds (if any) to be distributed to or for the benefit of Primary Beneficiaries resident within its service area or region from time to time (the "Primary Beneficiary Payees").

vi. Each Electricity Distributor would ensure that the aggregate of the amounts it recommends be distributed to or for the benefit of Primary Beneficiary Payees from time to time does not exceed (1) its Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation and (2) for any single Primary Beneficiary located in the service area or region of the Electricity Distributor, the lesser of (x) the applicable Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount and (y) the estimated costs (including any applicable taxes, but excluding any amount payable to the Electricity Distributor by or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary) to be incurred by or on behalf of such Primary Beneficiary (whether or not such costs have been paid or remain outstanding) in respect of Eligible Measures applied or to be applied in respect of the Primary Beneficiary's Ontario residence.

vii. The Trustee would provide written confirmation to each Electricity Distributor:

1. Either (x) that the recommendations specified of the Electricity Distributor in clause (v), above, have been accepted, or (y) as to the specific reasons for any non-acceptance; and

2. The amount of the distributions to be paid to or for the benefit of each Primary Beneficiary Payee that is resident in the Electricity Distributor's service area or region.

viii. With respect to each Primary Beneficiary resident in a Electricity Distributor's service area or region that is confirmed as a Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Electricity Distributor would provide the Trustee written confirmation as to:

1. The identity of such Primary Beneficiary Payee; and

2. The amount of the distribution paid to or for the benefit of such Primary Beneficiary Payee.

ix. If the amount of a distribution to be made to a Primary Beneficiary Payee is based on the estimated costs to be incurred by or on behalf of such Primary Beneficiary and, prior to making the distribution to the Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Electricity Distributor determines that the actual costs (including any applicable taxes but excluding any amount payable to the Electricity Distributor by or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary) incurred or to be incurred by or on behalf of such Primary Beneficiary in respect of Eligible Measures applied or to be applied in respect of the Primary Beneficiary's Ontario residence has or would be less than such estimated costs, then the amount to be distributed to the Primary Beneficiary shall be based on such actual costs.

b. Making of Distributions to Primary Beneficiaries

i. It is expected that promptly after the Trustee confirms the identity of a Primary Beneficiary Payee resident in an Electricity Distributor's service area or region and the amount of the distribution to be paid to or for the benefit of such Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Trustee would arrange for payment to or on the direction of the Electricity Distributor of an amount equal to the amount of such distribution.

ii. It is expected that promptly upon receipt of funds in respect of a distribution to be made to a Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Electricity Distributor would arrange for payment of the full amount of such distribution to or for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payee (including by direct payment to a third party of, or as a reimbursement or rebate of, the costs of applicable Eligible Measures installed at the residence of and for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payee), without reduction or set-off by the Electricity Distributor.

iii. If the amount paid to an Electricity Distributor in respect of a distribution to be made to a Primary Beneficiary exceeds the actual amount of the distribution made to or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary, it is expected that the Trustee would require Electricity Distributor to return such excess to the Trustee, whereupon the proceeds of such returned amount shall continue to form part of the Assets.

c. Establishment of Operational, Administrative, Record-Keeping and Other Systems and Policies by Electricity Distributors to facilitate the Program

i. It is expected that the Electricity Distributor would establish such operational, administrative, record-keeping and other systems and policies as are necessary to facilitate the Program and perform its duties under the Implementation Agreement, including systems or policies to: identify Primary Beneficiary Payees; comply with applicable privacy and regulatory laws; communicate with Primary Beneficiaries on behalf of the Trust; assess Eligible Measures; determine the Local Funding Estimate; monitor its recommendations to the Trustee against its Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation and the Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount; receive funds from the Trust in respect of distributions to the Primary Beneficiary Payees and transfer such funds to the appropriate recipients for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payees; preparation and timely delivery to Primary Beneficiary Payees of such documents as are required by the Income Tax Act (Canada); and create and maintain records in respect of the foregoing.

ii. The Electricity Distributor would set up a separate bank account for the purpose of receiving funds from the Trust in respect of distributions to the Primary Beneficiary Payees and the transfer of such funds to the appropriate recipients for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payees.

d. Reporting, Record-Keeping, Inspection and Disclosure and Compliance Matters

i. The Electricity Distributor would provide record-keeping, clerical and bookkeeping services relating to all matters relating to its recommendations and the performance of its other duties and obligations under its Implementation Agreement.

ii. The Electricity Distributor would keep and maintain all financial records and non-financial documents and records relating to the provision of services under its Implementation Agreement.

iii. The Electricity Distributor would provide to the Trustee quarterly and annual reports ("Reports") for the duration of its Implementation Agreement. Such Reports would set out, among other things, the amounts of the distributions paid to or for the benefit of applicable Primary Beneficiary Payees, the average distribution amount per such Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Eligible Measures for which distributions have been made, and the uptake of energy efficiency measures.

iv. The Electricity Distributor would agree to provide to the Trustee such information as is necessary for the Trustee to (v) comply with applicable law;

(w) prepare financial statements for the Trust; (x) prepare and submit such documents as are required under the Income Tax Act (Canada); (y) comply with the Trust's applicable obligations under the Transfer Payment Agreement; and (z) such other matters as the Trustee reasonably requests.

v. The Trustee, its authorized representatives or an independent auditor would be permitted to, at its own expense, on twenty-four hours' notice to the Electricity Distributor and during normal business hours, inspect the records of and information respecting the Electricity Distributor to confirm its compliance with the Implementation Agreement, including regarding its processes for recommending the Primary Beneficiary Payees and their respective distribution amounts and regarding the delivery of Trust funds on behalf of the Trustee to or for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payees.

e. Standard of Care

i. The Electricity Distributor would be required to agree to perform its duties provided under the Implementation Agreement exercising the degree of care, diligence and skill that a reasonably prudent Person would exercise in comparable circumstances.

ii. In performing its duties under the Implementation Agreement (including the recommending of Primary Beneficiary Payees to the Trustee), the Electricity Distributor would be required to agree to seek to avoid actual, potential or perceived conflicts of interest.

iii. The Electricity Distributor would be required to agree that it would not, in performing its obligations under the Implementation Agreement, take any action which it knows or ought reasonably to know would cause the Trustee or the Trust to be in violation of any law, rule or regulation applicable to it.

f. Expenses

The Electricity Distributor would be eligible to receive reasonable compensation and reimbursement of its actual out-of-pocket costs associated with the performance of its duties and obligations under the Implementation Agreement, subject to adherence with the accountability principles set out in Schedule B to the Principles Annex. Such compensation amounts and reimbursement entitlements would be specified in the Implementation Agreement.

g. Representations

The Electricity Distributor would make customary representations to the Trust regarding, among other things, its legal capacity; authorization; non-contravention of law or material contract to which it is a party; and the enforceability of the Implementation Agreement.

h. Indemnification

The Electricity Distributor would be required to agree to provide customary indemnities to the Trust and the Trustee from and against claims, damages and liabilities which the Trust or Trustee may suffer or incur as the result of any breach of the Implementation Agreement by the Electricity Distributor or its representatives.

ANNEX A

Principles

Except as otherwise defined herein, capitalized terms used in this Annex A shall have the respective meanings given to such terms in the Declaration of Trust.

The Trustee shall have regard to, but shall not be specifically bound by, the following principles in applying its discretion in relation to the administration of the Trust:

1. Identification of Primary Beneficiary Payees

1.1 Except in exceptional circumstances, a Primary Beneficiary would not be expected to receive a benefit from the Trust unless at the time of consideration it satisfies, in addition to the requirements contemplated in the definition of "Primary Beneficiary", each of the following criteria (the "Selection Factors"):

(i) it has a participant agreement with an applicable Electricity Distributor to undertake measures (its "Energy Plan") to improve the electricity efficiency and/or promote the conservation of electricity at its Ontario residence;

(ii) its Energy Plan involves one or more Eligible Measures, as may be designated by the Trustee from time to time from;

(iii) it confirms that:

1. the primary purpose of its Energy Plan is the conservation and efficient use by the Primary Beneficiary of electricity, and is not for the purposes of the Primary Beneficiary making a profit;

2. it would otherwise not have the financial resources to undertake the Eligible Measures included in its Energy Plan; and

3. it would otherwise not be eligible to receive amounts in respect of the Eligible Measures as a HAP Eligible Person;

(iv) it has demonstrated a need for financial assistance on the basis that its periodic electricity bills represent a financial burden, relative to its available financial resources; and

(v) such other criteria as the Trustee may determine, including based on the recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable Implementation Agreement.

1.2 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, an efficient basis upon which to allocate funds to the Primary Beneficiaries across different areas and regions within Ontario may be based on the areas and regions serviced by the Electricity Distributors operating within Ontario.

1.3 It would not be contrary to the Purposes if funds are made available by the Trustee to the Primary Beneficiaries unequally across different areas and regions within Ontario, and it is expected that in making such an unequal division it would be appropriate to have regard to:

(i) broad economic parameters of economic activity and the specific financial resources of the residents of the areas and regions, in each case as an indication of the relative need of such residents across the areas and regions;

(ii) electricity use and efficiency levels of residential electricity customers across the areas and regions;

(iii) specific regional indicators of economic weakness and need; and

(iv) such other factors as the Trustee may determine are relevant, including based on the submissions, advice and recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable Implementation Agreement.

1.4 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the designated Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides would be expected to:

(i) be a reliable source for the purpose of assessing and confirming whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors;

(ii) be an efficient intermediary for the purpose of communicating with the Primary Beneficiary, including with respect to matters such as regarding the availability, terms, conditions and intended purposes of Program;

(iii) be able to facilitate an efficient payment of distribution determined to be made to or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary, having regard to the Electricity Distributor's established practices, procedures and systems for dealing with its customers; and

(iv) have established contractual arrangements with the Primary Beneficiary that may apply to the protection and confidentiality of information provided by or respecting the Primary Beneficiary, which information may be useful in the consideration by the Electricity Distributor in its assessment of whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors, which information may not otherwise be available or readily accessible or verifiable by the Trustee.

1.5 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides will have market and utilization information that may be useful in assessing the relative needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its area or region. Such information is expected to be relevant in assessing the extent to which one such Primary Beneficiary's financial needs and the merits of its Energy Plan are greater or more compelling than those of another such Primary Beneficiary, which comparison may be relevant to the extent that the funds allocable to the Primary Beneficiaries resident in the area or region are otherwise insufficient to meet the requests for funding by all such Primary Beneficiaries.

1.6 Accordingly, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it is consistent with the Purpose that the recommendations of Electricity Distributors be utilized and relied upon by the Trustee to guide the process of identifying particular Primary Beneficiaries in making distributions to the Primary Beneficiaries.

1.7 If an Electricity Distributor for a particular area or region is unable or unwilling to assess or confirm the application of the Selection Factors to Primary Beneficiaries residing in the area or region or to make recommendations in relation to such matters, one or more of the following may provide a suitable alternative source of information and for information gathering, assessment and confirmation purposes in relation to such area or region:

(i) other Electricity Distributors operating in adjacent or other areas or regions in Ontario;

(ii) the Ontario Energy Board;

(iii) the Independent Electricity System Operator; and

(iv) anyone else having relevant expertise and access to information regarding the electricity market of the Province, in each case as may be considered relevant by the Trustee.

1.8 To the extent that privacy law or other legal requirements limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or making available specific information respecting the application of the Selection Factors to a particular Primary Beneficiary or group of Primary Beneficiaries, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it may be appropriate to redact or make generic affected information regarding such Primary Beneficiary in connection with the identification and confirmation of a Primary Beneficiary's eligibility and participation in the Program. If such limitations or restrictions would limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or confirming the name of a particular Primary Beneficiary to the Trustee, then it should be sufficient that such information may be obtained or disseminated on a confidential basis if and when required by the Trustee for the proper administration of the Trust and on that basis such impediments should not disqualify a Primary Beneficiary from participating in the benefits of the Program, provided that the confidential record-keeping of the Electricity Distributor would be available in connection with the application of any applicable legal process predicated on the identification of such Primary Beneficiary for the purposes of substantiating its rights as a Primary Beneficiary of the Trust or as to the validity or subsistence of the Trust.

2. Eligible Measures

2.1 It is expected that the Trust will identify eligible measures that, taking into consideration the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, have regard to the following (the "Measures Factors"):

(i) is the measure generally expected to result in reduced electricity consumption by a Primary Beneficiary if properly installed and used;

(ii) is the measure recognized under another Provincial program as being appropriate for achieving electricity conservation among a population analogous to the Primary Beneficiaries;

(iii) does the measure present any unacceptable health or safety considerations, either with respect to the Primary Beneficiary, a party providing or installing the measure, or the physical environment;

(iv) is the measure broadly available to residents across different areas and regions of the Province; or

(v) is the measure a requirement or precursor to another measure, the other measure being one which meets any of the other Measures Factors.

2.2 In identifying and applying the Measures Factors, Electricity Distributors would be expected to have expertise in assessing the suitability of efficiency and conservation measures in their respective areas and regions, which may differ across areas and regions across the Province based on factors (among other things) such as the climate, geography, density, electricity infrastructure, residential structures, and electricity use rates applicable within such areas or regions.

2.3 The measures specified in Schedule A to this Principles Annex may initially be considered to be consistent with the Measures Factors (subject to change as contemplated under the Permitted Delegations Annex).

3. Promotion of the Program

3.1 It is expected that the Trustee will undertake or engage others to undertake diligent efforts to promote the availability, terms and benefits of the Program to Primary Beneficiaries, including by establishing consistent communications through the Electricity Distributors.

3.2 It is expected that the Trustee will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the establishment and the funding for the Program, including in any external communications to or marketing directed at the Electricity Distributors and the Primary and Residual Beneficiaries. In the Trustee's delegation of any duties or powers to the Electricity Distributors through Implementation Agreements it is expected that Electricity Distributors will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the program including in any communications or marketing to Primary Beneficiaries.

4. Conduct of the Trust and the Program

4.1 It is expected that administrative expenses of the Board of Trustees and its members, including any expenses relating to the Trust, to the establishment of the Trust and any expenses related to the implementation and operation of the Program, including by or through Electricity Distributors and other relevant entities, will be recognized and subject to reimbursement on a basis that is substantially consistent with the accountability principles set out in Schedule B to this Principles Annex.

4.2 The Trustee is expected to conduct its activities in a manner that complies in all material respects with the Transfer Payment Agreement, including to:

(i) act prudently and in furtherance of the Purpose;

(ii) report not less frequently than annually the results of its activities for information purposes to the Province in connection with the Program;

(iii) comply with the Province's request for any independent verification or audit if determined to be necessary or appropriate by the Province;

(iv) return Assets that have not been distributed if it is determined that the Trustee has breached its Standard of Care in discharging its material duties under the Declaration, and has not cured such material breach despite having been given a reasonable opportunity by the Province to do so in light of the circumstances of such material breach, with the result that all or a significant part of the Assets have not been or are not being applied and distributed in furtherance of the Purpose or are being applied and distributed in a manner that is directly contrary or without regard to the Purpose.

4.3 Electricity Distributors are not intended to directly profit from distributions of funds made from the Trust, although it is recognized that the objectives of electricity efficiency and conservation of Primary Beneficiaries located in the service area or region of an Electricity Distributor, and the cost savings and improved credit worthiness of such Primary Beneficiaries, may be financially beneficial to the Electricity Distributor.

4.4 Distributions from the Trust are intended to allow receiving Primary Beneficiaries to undertake Eligible Measures at no or minimal personal cost.

4.5 Without in any way limiting the discretion of the Board of Trustees to extend the period during which the benefits of the Program may be available to the Primary Beneficiaries, up to and including the Final Distribution Date, it is expected that the Trust Assets would be distributed to Primary Beneficiaries during the period from the Original Trustee Replacement Date to April 30, 2019.

5.6 Reliance upon Advice

Subject to section 5.1, in performing its duties and exercising its powers hereunder, the Trustee may rely and may act or not act, and shall be fully protected in relying and acting or not acting, upon (a) any statement, telecopy or other electronic means of communication, writing, notice, resolution, report, opinion or other document or conversation believed by it to be genuine and correct and to have been signed, sent or made by the proper Person; (b) any opinion or advice received or information obtained from auditors, solicitors, or other professional advisers, whether retained by the Trustee or otherwise, and shall not be responsible or held liable for any loss or damage resulting from so relying or acting or not acting; and (c) the advice and actions of any

The Persons identified in the Trustee Replacement Annex are hereby appointed to comprise the Advisory Committee contemplated therein (the "Advisory Committee"). The Original Trustee shall promptly request that the Advisory Committee make recommendations with respect to the composition of the "Board of Trustees", as contemplated by the Trustee Replacement Annex. The Original Trustee shall have no duty or obligation to investigate the basis for any of the Advisory Committee's recommendations and may rely on such recommendations without any duty of enquiry, supervision or oversight with respect to the activities and decision-making processes adopted by the Advisory Committee in its discretion, in full satisfaction of the Original Trustee's Standard of Care with respect to such matters hereunder. Except where it is manifestly apparent to the Original Trustee that the individuals recommended by the Advisory Committee to become members of such Board of Trustees are disqualified from so acting on the basis of manifest non-compliance with the "Selection Factors" set forth in the Trustee Replacement Annex, the Original Trustee shall appoint, as members of the Board of Trustees, the six (five voting and one non-voting) individuals recommended for appointment to the Board of Trustees by the Advisory Committee. If the Original Trustee declines to appoint any individual recommended by the Advisory Committee, the Original Trustee will promptly request that the Advisory Committee provide a further recommendation whom the Original Trustee shall appoint as a member of the Board of Trustees unless it is manifestly apparent to the Original Trustee that the individual so recommended is also disqualified from so acting on the basis of manifest non-compliance with the "Selection Factors" set forth in the Trustee Replacement Annex,. Upon the appointment of such six individuals pursuant to this provision and their agreement to act as members of the Board of Trustees, the Original Trustee shall be deemed to have resigned and shall cease to be a trustee (such resignation occurring on the "Original Trustee Replacement Date").

A meeting of the Board of Trustees may be called at any time by any two members of the Board of Trustees by two Business Days' notice given to the members of the Board of Trustees. (g) Conflicts of Interest. With respect to any matter before the Board of Trustees, to the extent of a conflict of interest, whether actual, perceived or potential, involving a member of the Board of Trustees' personal interests and a matter concerning the Trust, such member shall abstain from voting on the matter or taking any other discretionary action on the matter. For the purposes of the foregoing, no member of the Board of Trustees shall be deemed to have a conflict by reason only that the member holds any office or position with an Electricity Distributor, social services agency or governmental or quasi-governmental agency or entity (such as the Independent Electricity System Operator); provided, however, that in relation to any decision of the Board of Trustees pertaining specifically to a particular Electricity Distributor, any member of the Board of Trustees who is a director, officer or employee of the Electricity Distributor would be expected to recuse himself or herself from participating in deliberations, discussions or voting in respect of such decision.

Such power may be exercised by any one or more Administrative Services Agents acting in accordance with any delegated right to do so pursuant to an applicable Administrative Services Agreement or by any one or more Implementation Agents acting in accordance with any delegated right to do so pursuant to an applicable Implementation Agreement, and any such execution of instrument by an Administrative Services Agent, acting in such capacity as agent of the Trust pursuant to the terms and conditions of an Administrative Services Agreement or by an Implementation Agent acting in such capacity as agent of the Trust pursuant to the terms and conditions of an Implementation Agreement shall in each case be deemed to be a proper execution of such instrument by the Trustee and shall be binding for all purposes on the Trust.

5.12 Decisions by the Trustee

If there is more than one Trustee, decisions of the Trust may be made by a majority of Trustees eligible to vote on the applicable matter. Whenever the Trustees are unable to agree in relation to the commission or omission of any act or howsoever in the execution of the Trust, the decision of a majority of such Trustees shall prevail.

PRINCIPLES ANNEX

The Trustee shall have regard to, but shall not be specifically bound by, the following principles in applying its discretion in relation to the administration of the Trust:

1. Identification of Primary Beneficiary Payees

1.1 Except in exceptional circumstances, a Primary Beneficiary would not be expected to receive a benefit from the Trust unless at the time of consideration it satisfies, in addition to the requirements contemplated in the definition of "Primary Beneficiary", each of the following criteria (the "Selection Factors"):

(i) it has a participant agreement with an applicable Electricity Distributor to undertake measures (its "Energy Plan") to improve the electricity efficiency and/or promote the conservation of electricity at its Ontario residence;

(ii) its Energy Plan involves one or more Eligible Measures, as may be designated by the Trustee from time to time from;

(iii) it confirms that:

1. the primary purpose of its Energy Plan is the conservation and efficient use by the Primary Beneficiary of electricity, and is not for the purposes of the Primary Beneficiary making a profit;

2. it would otherwise not have the financial resources to undertake the Eligible Measures included in its Energy Plan; and

3. it would otherwise not be eligible to receive amounts in respect of the Eligible Measures as a HAP Eligible Person;

(iv) it has demonstrated a need for financial assistance on the basis that its periodic electricity bills represent a financial burden, relative to its available financial resources; and

(v) such other criteria as the Trustee may determine, including based on the recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable Implementation Agreement.

1.2 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, an efficient basis upon which to allocate funds to the Primary Beneficiaries across different areas and regions within Ontario may be based on the areas and regions serviced by the Electricity Distributors operating within Ontario.

1.3 It would not be contrary to the Purposes if funds are made available by the Trustee to the Primary Beneficiaries unequally across different areas and regions within Ontario, and it is expected that in making such an unequal division it would be appropriate to have regard to:

(i) broad economic parameters of economic activity and the specific financial resources of the residents of the areas and regions, in each case as an indication of the relative need of such residents across the areas and regions;

(ii) electricity use and efficiency levels of residential electricity customers across the areas and regions;

(iii) specific regional indicators of economic weakness and need; and

(iv) such other factors as the Trustee may determine are relevant, including based on the submissions, advice and recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable implementation Agreement.

1.4 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the designated Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides would be expected to:

(i) be a reliable source for the purpose of assessing and confirming whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors;

(ii) be an efficient intermediary for the purpose of communicating with the Primary Beneficiary, including with respect to matters such as regarding the availability, terms, conditions and intended purposes of Program;

(iii) be able to facilitate an efficient payment of distribution determined to be made to or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary, having regard to the Electricity Distributor's established practices, procedures and systems for dealing with its customers; and

(iv) have established contractual arrangements with the Primary Beneficiary that may apply to the protection and confidentiality of information provided by or respecting the Primary Beneficiary, which information may be useful in the consideration by the Electricity Distributor in its assessment of whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors, which information may not otherwise be available or readily accessible or verifiable by the Trustee.

1.5 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides will have market and utilization information that may be useful in assessing the relative needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its area or region. Such information is expected to be relevant in assessing the extent to which one such Primary Beneficiary's financial needs and the merits of its Energy Plan are greater or more compelling than those of another such Primary Beneficiary, which comparison may be relevant to the extent that the funds allocable to the Primary Beneficiaries resident in the area or region are otherwise insufficient to meet the requests for funding by all such Primary Beneficiaries.

1.6 Accordingly, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it is consistent with the Purpose that the recommendations of Electricity Distributors be utilized and relied upon by the Trustee to guide the process of identifying particular Primary Beneficiaries in making distributions to the Primary Beneficiaries.

1.7 If an Electricity Distributor for a particular area or region is unable or unwilling to assess or confirm the application of the Selection Factors to Primary Beneficiaries residing in the area or region or to make recommendations in relation to such matters, one or more of the following may provide a suitable alternative source of information and for information gathering, assessment and confirmation purposes in relation to such area or region:

(i) other Electricity Distributors operating in adjacent or other areas or regions in Ontario;

(ii) the Ontario Energy Board;

(iii) the Independent Electricity System Operator; and

(iv) anyone else having relevant expertise and access to information regarding the electricity market of the Province, in each case as may be considered relevant by the Trustee.

1.8 To the extent that privacy law or other legal requirements limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or making available specific information respecting the application of the Selection Factors to a particular Primary Beneficiary or group of Primary Beneficiaries, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it may be appropriate to redact or make generic affected information regarding such Primary Beneficiary in connection with the identification and confirmation of a Primary Beneficiary's eligibility and participation in the Program. If such limitations or restrictions would limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or confirming the name of a particular Primary Beneficiary to the Trustee, then it should be sufficient that such information may be obtained or disseminated on a confidential basis if and when required by the Trustee for the proper administration of the Trust and on that basis such impediments should not disqualify a Primary Beneficiary from participating in the benefits of the Program, provided that the confidential record-keeping of the Electricity Distributor would be available in connection with the application of any applicable legal process predicated on the identification of such Primary Beneficiary for the purposes of substantiating its rights as a Primary Beneficiary of the Trust or as to the validity or subsistence of the Trust.

2. Eligible Measures

2.1 It is expected that the Trust will identify eligible measures that, taking into consideration the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, have regard to the following (the "Measures Factors"):

(i) is the measure generally expected to result in reduced electricity consumption by a Primary Beneficiary if properly installed and used;

(ii) is the measure recognized under another Provincial program as being appropriate for achieving electricity conservation among a population analogous to the Primary Beneficiaries;

(iii) does the measure present any unacceptable health or safety considerations, either with respect to the Primary Beneficiary, a party providing or installing the measure, or the physical environment;

(iv) is the measure broadly available to residents across different areas and regions of the Province; or

(v) is the measure a requirement or precursor to another measure, the other measure being one which meets any of the other Measures Factors.

2.2 In identifying and applying the Measures Factors, Electricity Distributors would be expected to have expertise in assessing the suitability of efficiency and conservation measures in their respective areas and regions, which may differ across areas and regions across the Province based on factors (among other things) such as the climate, geography, density, electricity infrastructure, residential structures, and electricity use rates applicable within such areas or regions.

2.3 The measures specified in Schedule A to this Principles Annex may initially be considered to be consistent with the Measures Factors (subject to change as contemplated under the Permitted Delegations Annex).

3. Promotion of the Program

3.1 It is expected that the Trustee will undertake or engage others to undertake diligent efforts to promote the availability, terms and benefits of the Program to Primary Beneficiaries, including by establishing consistent communications through the Electricity Distributors.

3.2 It is expected that the Trustee will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the establishment and the funding for the Program, including in any external communications to or marketing directed at the Electricity Distributors and the Primary and Residual Beneficiaries. In its delegation of any duties or powers to the Electricity Distributors through Implementation Agreements it is expected that Electricity Distributors will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the program including in any communications or marketing to Primary Beneficiaries.

4. Conduct of the Trust and the Program

4.1 It is expected that administrative expenses of the Board of Trustees and its members, including any expenses relating to the Trust, to the establishment of the Trust and any expenses related to the implementation and operation of the Program, including by or through Electricity Distributors and other relevant entities, will be recognized and subject to reimbursement on a basis that is substantially consistent with the accountability provisions contemplated in the Transfer Payment Agreement and the principles in the Province's Travel, Meal and Hospitality Expenses Directive, as set out in Schedule B to this Principles Annex.

4.2 The Trustee is expected to conduct its activities in a manner that complies in all material respects with the Transfer Payment Agreement, including to:

(i) act prudently and in furtherance of the Purpose;

(ii) report not less frequently than annually the results of its activities for information purposes to the Province in connection with the Program;

(iii) comply with the Province's request for any independent verification or audit if determined to be necessary or appropriate by the Province;

(iv) return Assets that have not been distributed if it is determined that the Trustee has breached its Standard of Care in discharging its material duties under the Declaration, and has not cured such material breach despite having been given a reasonable opportunity by the Province to do so in light of the circumstances of such material breach, with the result that all or a significant part of the Assets have not been or are not being applied and distributed in furtherance of the Purpose or are being applied and distributed in a manner that is directly contrary or without regard to the Purpose.

4.3 Electricity Distributors are not intended to directly profit from distributions of funds made from the Trust, although it is recognized that the objectives of electricity efficiency and conservation of Primary Beneficiaries located in the service area or region of an Electricity Distributor, and the cost savings and improved credit worthiness of such Primary Beneficiaries, may be financially beneficial to the Electricity Distributor.

4.4 Distributions from the Trust are intended to allow receiving Primary Beneficiaries to undertake Eligible Measures at no or minimal personal cost.

4.5 Without in any way limiting the discretion of the Board of Trustees to extend the period during which the benefits of the Program may be available to the Primary Beneficiaries, up to and including the Final Distribution Date, it is expected that the Trust Assets would be distributed to Primary Beneficiaries during the period from the Original Trustee Replacement Date to April 30, 2019.

PERMITTED DELEGATION ANNEX

1. Under section 4.2(g) of the Declaration, the Trustee has the power to: (a) appoint, employ or retain Implementation Agents for the purpose of discharging its duties and obligations under the Declaration; and (b) enter into, perform, enforce and amend Implementation Agreements.

2. In accordance with section 4.2(g) of the Declaration, consistent with the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, the Trustee or its agent will seek to enter into one or more Implementation Agreements with individual Electricity Distributors under which the Electricity Distributors will act as Implementation Agents to the Trustee. In this manner, the Trustee will delegate certain of its powers and duties to the Electricity Distributors.

3. Under section 5.1 of the Declaration, to the extent the Trustee has delegated any of its duties or powers, it shall be deemed to have satisfied the Standard of Care in respect of the subject matter of such delegation, subject to the Trustee's overall duty to exercise prudent oversight thereof. The Trustee is entitled to rely on an Electricity Distributor to discharge the duties delegated to it, as Implementation Agent, pursuant to an Implementation Agreement as described in this Annex.

4. Accordingly, and without limiting the Trustee's right to delegate under the Declaration and its other rights, powers and discretion as Trustee, the Trustee will be permitted to, and is expected to seek to, enter into Implementation Agreements with Electricity Distributors in order to further the Purpose. Without limiting the Trustee's discretion to negotiate and settle the terms and conditions of such Implementation Agreements, it is expected that such Implementation Agreements will include customary terms and conditions for an administrative services arrangement of this type and, in addition, would (subject to the acceptance and agreement of the applicable Electricity Distributor counterparty) address the following points in particular:

    a. Identification of Applicable Primary Beneficiary Payees and Determination of Individual Distribution Amounts

        i. Each Electricity Distributor would make an initial assessment of the financial needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its designated service area or region, having regard to the Selection Factors set forth in section 1.3 of the Principles Annex, together with applicable economic data, in order to prepare and provide to the Trustee an estimate of the number of Primary Beneficiaries who the Electricity Distributor reasonably expects would satisfy the Selection Factors.

        ii. Each Electricity Distributor would make an initial assessment of the measures it would recommend be included as Eligible Measures, having regard to the Measures Factors set forth in section 2.1 of the Principles Annex, in order to prepare and provide to the Trustee an estimate of the average cost per Primary Beneficiary Payee (as defined below) of such Eligible Measures that the Electricity Distributor reasonably expects would apply in respect of Primary Beneficiaries resident in its service area or region.

iii. Based on the product of (i) and (ii), above, and such other considerations as it considers to be directly relevant, each Electricity Distributor would make a written recommendation to the Trustee regarding the aggregate funding amount that the Electricity Distributor anticipates would be utilized under the Program by the Primary Beneficiaries resident in its service area or region (the "Local Funding Estimate"). Such recommendation would be accompanied, when submitted to the Trustee, by a detailed explanation regarding the assumptions, financial parameters, suitability considerations and other information underlying the Local Funding Estimate (including the type of information contemplated by the Selections Factors and the Measures Factors, which would be relied upon by the Trustee in its assessment regarding the allocation of available funding to or for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiaries across the specified areas and regions of Ontario.

iv. The Trustee would inform the Electricity Distributor regarding the aggregate of the amount determined by the Trustee to be made available under the Program for Primary Beneficiaries in the Electricity Distributor's designated service area or region (for each Electricity Distributor, its "Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation") and as to any maximum amount that may be paid to or for the benefit of any single Primary Beneficiary located in the servicer area or region of the Electricity Distributor (the "Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount"). The Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation and Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount may vary between areas and regions, among the Primary Beneficiaries within such areas and regions, and may be increased by the Trustee from time to time in its discretion.

v. Each Electricity Distributor would apply the principles set forth under "Identification of Primary Beneficiary Payees" in the Principles Annex to identify and make recommendations to the Trustee regarding the amount of funds (if any) to be distributed to or for the benefit of Primary Beneficiaries resident within its service area or region from time to time (the "Primary Beneficiary Payees").

vi. Each Electricity Distributor would ensure that the aggregate of the amounts it recommends be distributed to or for the benefit of Primary Beneficiary Payees from time to time does not exceed (1) its Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation and (2) for any single Primary Beneficiary located in the service area or region of the Electricity Distributor, the lesser of (x) the applicable Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount and (y) the estimated costs (including any applicable taxes, but excluding any amount payable to the Electricity Distributor by or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary) to be incurred by or on behalf of such Primary Beneficiary (whether or not such costs have been paid or remain outstanding) in respect of Eligible Measures applied or to be applied in respect of the Primary Beneficiary's Ontario residence.

vii. The Trustee would provide written confirmation to each Electricity Distributor:

1. Either (x) that the recommendations specified of the Electricity Distributor in clause (v), above, have been accepted, or (y) as to the specific reasons for any non-acceptance; and

2. The amount of the distributions to be paid to or for the benefit of each Primary Beneficiary Payee that is resident in the Electricity Distributor's service area or region.

viii. With respect to each Primary Beneficiary resident in a Electricity Distributor's service area or region that is confirmed as a Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Electricity Distributor would provide the Trustee written confirmation as to:

1. The identity of such Primary Beneficiary Payee; and

2. The amount of the distribution paid to or for the benefit of such Primary Beneficiary Payee.

ix. If the amount of a distribution to be made to a Primary Beneficiary Payee is based on the estimated costs to be incurred by or on behalf of such Primary Beneficiary and, prior to making the distribution to the Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Electricity Distributor determines that the actual costs (including any applicable taxes but excluding any amount payable to the Electricity Distributor by or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary) incurred or to be incurred by or on behalf of such Primary Beneficiary in respect of Eligible Measures applied or to be applied in respect of the Primary Beneficiary's Ontario residence has or would be less than such estimated costs, then the amount to be distributed to the Primary Beneficiary shall be based on such actual costs.

b. Making of Distributions to Primary Beneficiaries

i. It is expected that promptly after the Trustee confirms the identity of a Primary Beneficiary Payee resident in an Electricity Distributor's service area or region and the amount of the distribution to be paid to or for the benefit of such Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Trustee would arrange for payment to or on the direction of the Electricity Distributor of an amount equal to the amount of such distribution.

ii. ii. The Electricity Distributor would set up a separate bank account for the purpose of receiving funds from the Trust in respect of distributions to the Primary Beneficiary Payees and the transfer of such funds to the appropriate recipients for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payees.

e. Standard of Care

i. The Electricity Distributor would be required to agree to perform its duties provided under the Implementation Agreement exercising the degree of care, diligence and skill that a reasonably prudent Person would exercise in comparable circumstances.

ii. In performing its duties under the Implementation Agreement (including the recommending of Primary Beneficiary Payees to the Trustee), the Electricity Distributor would be required to agree to seek to avoid actual, potential or perceived conflicts of interest.

iii. The Electricity Distributor would be required to agree that it would not, in performing its obligations under the Implementation Agreement, take any action which it knows or ought reasonably to know would cause the Trustee or the Trust to be in violation of any law, rule or regulation applicable to it.

f. Expenses

The Electricity Distributor would be eligible to receive reasonable compensation and reimbursement of its actual out-of-pocket costs associated with the performance of its duties and obligations under the Implementation Agreement, subject to compliance with requirements substantially equivalent to the Province's Travel, Meal and Hospitality Expenses Directive. The Trustee shall have the power to enter into contracts for or in relation to or otherwise obtain policies of insurance for the purpose of insuring the risks associated with the Trust, including to insure the Trustee (including the members of the Board of Trustees) against any risk of loss associated with assuming and performing the duties as Trustee. Without limiting the foregoing, it is expected that the Board of Trustees will obtain commercial general liability insurance from insurers having a secure A.M. Best rating of B+ or greater, or the equivalent, that in the opinion of the Recipient a prudent person similar to the Recipient would maintain, and having an inclusive limit of not less than $2,000,000 per occurrence and providing for contractual liability coverage.

(k) Power to Pay Trustee's Fees. The Original Trustee shall be entitled to be paid and receive the fees set forth in the Original Trustee's schedule of fees delivered as of or prior to the date hereof as compensation for its services under this Declaration, and to be reimbursed for its out-of-pocket expenses reasonably incurred, in each case from the Assets and without the approval of any Beneficiary or any court. The Original Trustee shall be entitled, in its sole and absolute discretion, to withdraw funds from time to time for such purpose from any account of the Trust. Members of the Board of Trustees shall be entitled to reimbursement for and in respect of their out-of-pocket expenses reasonably incurred in discharging their respective duties and obligations under this Declaration, in each case without the approval of any Beneficiary or any court, provided that the members of the Board of Trustees have general regard to sorts of limitations as are set forth in the "Travel, Meal and Hospitality Expenses Directive of the Province" specified and amended by the Province from time to time, a copy of the current version of which is attached as Exhibit 1 to the Principles Annex.

(l) Power to Pay Taxes. The Trustee shall have the power to (i) pay, deduct, withhold or remit any taxes or assessments which are required by law to be paid, deducted, withheld or remitted together with or from any payment made by the Trustee; (ii) pay all taxes or assessments of whatever kind or nature imposed upon or against the Trust or the Trustee in connection with the Assets or any part thereof; (iii) collect and remit all taxes and assessments of whatever kind or nature required to be collected and remitted by the Trust or the Trustee in connection with their activities or the Assets or any part thereof; (iv) appeal, settle or compromise tax claims or liabilities; and (v) for the foregoing purposes, to make such returns, elections and submissions and do all such other acts and things as the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, may consider appropriate or advisable.

(n) Form of Accounts. The Trustee shall have the power to determine and change from time to time, in its sole and absolute discretion, the method or form in which the accounts of the Trust will be kept and shall not be required to keep or provide accounts in the form usually required by law to be kept or provided by trustees; provided that such method or form reasonably complies with generally accepted accounting principles in effect in Canada to the extent applicable.

(o) Title to Assets. The Trustee shall have the power to cause all or any part of the Assets to be held by or registered, in its sole and absolute discretion, in the name of any Person.

(p) Delegation of Discretion. The Trustee shall have the power to delegate the right and power to exercise, or concur in the exercise of any discretion or power, conferred on the Trustee in this Declaration or conferred by law to any one or more of its directors, officers, employees, agents, representatives or to such other Person, as the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, may think is appropriate or advisable, including to one or more Administrative Services Agents under an Administrative Services Agreement and to one or more Implementation Agents and their respective employees, officers and directors under a related Implementation Agreement entered into by the Trust substantially on the basis contemplated in the Permitted Delegations Annex. In particular, the Trustee shall have the power to accept, rely on and follow the recommendations of an Electricity Distributor made under and having regard to the Permitted Delegation Annex with respect to the identification of, and the determination of distributions (if any) to be made to, any Primary Beneficiary, except if and in so far as the Trustee has actual knowledge that (1) such Primary Beneficiary did not in fact satisfy the "Selection Factors" specified in the Principles Annex as of the applicable time of determination; and/or (ii) the amount recommended to be distributed to the Primary Beneficiary was not calculated in substantial compliance with, or was calculated in a manner that is manifestly contrary to the requirements set forth or contemplated in, the Permitted Delegation Annex or the applicable Implementation Agreement.

(q) Additional Powers. The Trustee shall have the power to perform and do all such other acts, to take such steps and to execute all such deeds, transfers, assignments, agreements and other documents and instruments as the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, may consider appropriate or advisable for the carrying out of any of its powers hereunder or of any of the activities of the Trust as herein contemplated, or for the carrying out, promotion or advancement of the interests of the Trust, whether or not any of such acts, things, documents or instruments are herein expressly mentioned. Any good faith determination by the Trustee as to what is necessary, desirable or appropriate to carry out its powers or activities of the Trust as contemplated under this Declaration or to carry out, promote or advance the interests of the Trust shall be conclusive. Any construction of this Declaration or any determination as to the activities of the Trust or the existence of any power or authority hereunder made in good faith by the Trustee, relying upon the advice of counsel, shall be conclusive. In construing the provisions of this Declaration, there shall be a presumption in favour of a grant of power to the Trustee.

CONCERNING THE TRUSTEE

5.1 Duty of Trustee

In performing its duties and exercising its powers under this Declaration, the Trustee shall act honestly, in good faith and with a view to the best interests of the Trust and the Beneficiaries and shall exercise that degree of care, diligence and skill that a reasonably prudent trustee would exercise in comparable circumstances (the "Standard of Care"). The Trustee shall observe and act in accordance with the terms of, and shall observe and comply with the limitations and restrictions set forth in, this Declaration, including having due regard to the principles set forth in the Principles Annex. To the extent that the Trustee has so delegated any of its duties or powers, it shall be deemed to have satisfied the Standard of Care in respect of the subject matter of such delegation, subject to the Trustee's overall duty as a trustee to exercise prudent oversight in relation to such delegation. Unless required by law, the Trustee will not be required to give any security, bonds or sureties in any jurisdiction for the performance of any of its duties and obligations under this Declaration. The Trustee (including the individual members of the Board of Trustees) will not be required to devote its entire time to the trust activities.

5.2 Limitation of Liability

The Trustee shall not be personally liable in tort, contract or otherwise to any Beneficiary or any other Person for any loss or diminution in the value of the Assets, or for any action or failure to act on the part of the Trustee or any of its employees or agents or any other Person, and shall not be subject to any personal liability for any debts, liabilities, obligations, claims, demands, judgments, costs, charges or expenses incurred by or against the Trust, howsoever arising, and resort will be had solely to the Assets for the payment, performance or satisfaction thereof. No property or assets of the Trustee, owned in its personal capacity or otherwise, will be subject to levy, execution or other enforcement procedures with respect to any obligation under this Declaration. However, the foregoing limitations in this Section shall not apply where the Trustee has demonstrated gross negligence, bad faith, fraud or wilful misconduct.

5.3 Liability of Trustee under Contracts

Any document or instrument creating a liability or obligation of the Trust or of the Trustee will be conclusively deemed to have been executed by the Trustee only in its capacity as Trustee of the Trust and will be binding upon the Trustee only in its capacity as trustee hereunder and resort may not be had to, nor recourse or satisfaction be sought from, the property of the Trustee other than the Assets, whether owned by its in its personal capacity or in any other capacity other than in its capacity as Trustee of the Trust, or from its employees or agents, and in all cases resort will be had solely to the Assets for the payment, performance or satisfaction of any such liability or obligation. However, the foregoing limitations in this Section shall not apply where the Trustee has demonstrated gross negligence, bad faith, fraud or wilful misconduct. Each document or instrument creating a liability or obligation of the Trust or of the Trustee shall contain a provision providing for the aforesaid limitation of liability.

5.4 Funds of the Trustee

The Trustee shall not be required to expend or risk its own funds or otherwise incur financial liability in the performance of any of its duties hereunder, or in the exercise of any of its rights or powers.

5.5 Indemnification of Trustee

In addition to and without limiting any other protection hereunder or otherwise by law of the Trustee and its respective employees, agents, representatives and assigns (in this Section 5.5, collectively, the "Representatives"), the Trustee and its respective Representatives shall be indemnified, defended and saved harmless out of the Assets from, against and in respect of any and all liabilities arising or related to actions taken or omitted to be taken by any agent of the Trustee, losses, claims (including any claim arising out of the assessment of any tax on income by a taxing authority), damages, penalties, fines, actions, suits, demands, levies, assessments, costs, charges, expenses and disbursements (including, without limitation, any and all legal and advisor fees and disbursements) (in this Section 5.5, collectively, the "Liabilities") of whatever kind or nature which may at any time be suffered by, imposed upon, incurred by or asserted against the Trustee and its Representatives, whether groundless or otherwise, howsoever arising from or out of any act, omission or error of the Trustee, in each case made in connection with its acting as Trustee hereunder, in each case except and to the extent that the Liabilities are a result from or are caused by gross negligence, wilful misconduct, bad faith or fraud. Further, except as provided in section 5.2, the Trustee shall not be liable to any Beneficiary for any loss or damage relating to any matter regarding the Trust, including any loss or diminution in value of the Assets. Notwithstanding any other provision hereof, the obligations provided for in this section 5.5 shall survive any termination of the Trust, whether by reason of removal or resignation of the Trustee, termination or discharge of this Declaration or otherwise.

5.6 Reliance upon Advice

Subject to section 5.1, in performing its duties and exercising its powers hereunder, the Trustee may rely and may act or not act, and shall be fully protected in relying and acting or not acting, upon (a) any statement, telecopy or other electronic means of communication, writing, notice, resolution, report, opinion or other document or conversation believed by it to be genuine and correct and to have been signed, sent or made by the proper Person; (b) any opinion or advice received or information obtained from auditors, solicitors, or other professional advisers, whether retained by the Trustee or otherwise, and shall not be responsible or held liable for any loss or damage resulting from so relying or acting or not acting; and (c) the advice and actions of any

Administrative Services Agent or Implementation Agent, including in connection with the delegations and reliances contemplated under the Permitted Delegations Annex. For greater certainty, it shall not be necessary for the Trustee to ascertain whether or not the Persons who have executed, signed or otherwise issued, authenticated or receipted such papers, writings or documents (including any Administrative Services Agreement or any Implementation Agreement or any other contract entered into by the Trustee) have authority to do so or that they are the same Persons named therein or otherwise to pass upon any requirement of such papers, writing or documents that may be essential for their validity or effectiveness or upon the truth and acceptability.

5.7 Replacement of the Original Trustee

The Persons identified in the Trustee Replacement Annex are hereby appointed to comprise the Advisory Committee contemplated therein (the "Advisory Committee"). The Original Trustee shall promptly request that the Advisory Committee make recommendations with respect to the composition of the "Board of Trustees", as contemplated by the Trustee Replacement Annex. The Original Trustee shall have no duty or obligation to investigate the basis for any of the Advisory Committee's recommendations and may rely on such recommendations without any duty of enquiry, supervision or oversight with respect to the activities and decision-making processes adopted by the Advisory Committee in its discretion, in full satisfaction of the Original Trustee's Standard of Care with respect to such matters hereunder. Except where it is manifestly apparent to the Original Trustee that the individuals recommended by the Advisory Committee to become members of such Board of Trustees are disqualified from so acting on the basis of manifest non-compliance with the "Selection Factors" set forth in the Trustee Replacement Annex, the Original Trustee shall appoint, as members of the Board of Trustees, the six (five voting and one non-voting) individuals recommended for appointment to the Board of Trustees by the Advisory Committee. If the Original Trustee declines to appoint any individual recommended by the Advisory Committee, the Original Trustee will promptly request that the Advisory Committee provide a further recommendation whom the Original Trustee shall appoint as a member of the Board of Trustees unless it is manifestly apparent to the Original Trustee that the individual so recommended is also disqualified from so acting on the basis of manifest non-compliance with the "Selection Factors" set forth in the Trustee Replacement Annex,. Upon the appointment of such six individuals pursuant to this provision and their agreement to act as members of the Board of Trustees, the Original Trustee shall be deemed to have resigned and shall cease to be a trustee (such resignation occurring on the "Original Trustee Replacement Date").

5.8 Rules and Procedures of the Board of Trustees

(a) Initial Requirements. As soon as practicable and in any event no later than one month following the Original Trustee Replacement Date, the Board of Trustees id expected to meet to take such decisions and actions as they deem necessary to ensure the proper management and administration of the Trust. The date (and location if in person) of the initial meeting shall be determined by a majority of the Board of Trustees.

(b) Meetings. Subject to the Board of Trustees' discretion to make such rules and procedures that they may deem desirable, meetings of the Board of Trustees may be held at such time and place as the trustee members of the Board of Trustees may agree upon or as they may fix by resolution for the purpose or if the meeting is called as hereinafter mentioned then at such time as may be designated in the notice calling the meeting. A meeting of the Board of Trustees may be called at any time by any two members of the Board of Trustees by two Business Days' notice given to the members of the Board of Trustees. No notice of any Board of Trustees' meeting shall be necessary when a quorum is present if those comprising the quorum consent to the transaction of the affairs of the Trust and the absent trustee or trustees, if any, either before or after the meeting shall waive in writing notice of the meeting. Meetings of the Board of Trustees may be conducted in person, by telephone, or in such other manner as determined by the Board of Trustees. The Board of Trustees may elect a Chairperson.

(c) Quorum. At any meeting of the Board of Trustees, a majority of the voting members of the Board of Trustees shall be a quorum irrespective of the number of members in office. The decision of the majority of the voting members where quorum exists shall govern and shall be binding for all purposes and shall be acted upon and carried out in the same manner and with the same effect as if all the voted members concurred therein; provided always that in the case of equality of votes the Chairperson, if any, shall not be entitled to cast a second or deciding vote.

(d) Power to Adopt Rules and Procedures. The Board of Trustees may make such rules and procedures not inconsistent herewith as it may deem desirable for the proper management and administration of the Trust and the discharge of the responsibilities of the Board of Trustees.

(e) Replacement of Members of the Board of Trustees. The Board of Trustees shall have the power to replace any vacancy arising following the Original Trustee Replacement Date according to such rules and procedures as they deem appropriate subject to compliance with the Selection Factors specified in Trustee Replacement Annex and having regard for such considerations necessary to ensure that the composition of the Board of Trustees will be able to discharge its responsibilities in respect of the Declaration. If necessary, the Board of Trustees may fill any vacancy by application to the Courts of Ontario in the event of an unfilled vacancy.

(f) Decisions of the Board of Trustees. Decisions and actions of the Board of Trustees shall be made by voting, with each individual voting member having one vote. Subject to quorum requirements, a majority vote shall be determinative in respect of such decisions and actions. Subject to quorum requirements, any decision or action taken by the majority of voting members will represent the decision or action of the Trustee, and not any member of the Board of Trustees.

(g) Conflicts of Interest. With respect to any matter before the Board of Trustees, to the extent of a conflict of interest, whether actual, perceived or potential, involving a member of the Board of Trustees' personal interests and a matter concerning the Trust, such member shall abstain from voting on the matter or taking any other discretionary action on the matter. For the purposes of the foregoing, no member of the Board of Trustees shall be deemed to have a conflict by reason only that the member holds any office or position with an Electricity Distributor, social services agency or governmental or quasi-governmental agency or entity (such as the Independent Electricity System Operator); provided, however, that in relation to any decision of the Board of Trustees pertaining specifically to a particular Electricity Distributor, any member of the Board of Trustees who is a director, officer or employee of the Electricity Distributor would be expected to recuse himself or herself from participating in deliberations, discussions or voting in respect of such decision.

(h) Expense Reimbursements to Members of the Board of Trustees. Members of the Board of Trustees shall be entitled to reimbursement for and in respect of their out-of-pocket expenses reasonably incurred in discharging their duties and obligations as members of the Board of Trustees. Members of the Board of Trustees shall serve without compensation.

5.9 Confidentiality

Notwithstanding the resignation or removal and discharge from the trusts and powers reposed in and conferred on the Trustee by this Declaration, or the termination of this Declaration, the Trustee so resigning or removed shall continue to treat as confidential all information relating to the Trust, the Assets and the Beneficiaries and shall only be entitled to make disclosures concerning such information if disclosure is required in the performance of the functions of the resigning or removed Trustee or is ordered by a court of competent jurisdiction or is otherwise required by law. The Trustee shall not be responsible or liable to any Person for any loss or damage arising out of or in any way sustained or incurred in any way relating to any such required disclosure. The obligations arising under this section 5.9 shall survive the termination of the Trust.

5.10 Vesting in Successor Trustee

Any successor trustee (including any reconstituted Board of Trustees) shall automatically become vested with the Assets and with the same powers, rights, duties, responsibilities and trusts as if it, he or she had originally been named as Trustee under this Declaration, without the requirement of any further instrument or act or conveyance, and the Trustee ceasing to act shall execute all such transfers and other documents and do all such other acts or things as may be necessary or desirable to assign, transfer, deliver to, and vest in, the successor trustee, upon the trusts expressed in this Declaration, all the Assets and all the rights, powers and trusts of the Trustee ceasing to act. The expense of any act, document, deed or other instrument or thing required under this Section 5.10, including for greater certainty, outstanding fees and unreimbursed expenses of the Trustee (including any member of the Board of Trustees) ceasing to act, shall be satisfied from the Assets.

5.11 Execution of Instruments

The Trustee shall have the power to execute all deeds, transfers, agreements, promissory notes and other instruments on behalf of the Trust. Such power may be exercised by any one or more Administrative Services Agents acting in accordance with any delegated right to do so pursuant to an applicable Administrative Services Agreement or by any one or more Implementation Agents acting in accordance with any delegated right to do so pursuant to an applicable Implementation Agreement, and any such execution of instrument by an Administrative Services Agent, acting in such capacity as agent of the Trust pursuant to the terms and conditions of an Administrative Services Agreement or by an Implementation Agent acting in such capacity as agent of the Trust pursuant to the terms and conditions of an Implementation Agreement shall in each case be deemed to be a proper execution of such instrument by the Trustee and shall be binding for all purposes on the Trust.

5.12 Decisions by the Trustee

If there is more than one Trustee, decisions of the Trust may be made by a majority of Trustees eligible to vote on the applicable matter. Whenever the Trustees are unable to agree in relation to the commission or omission of any act or howsoever in the execution of the Trust, the decision of a majority of such Trustees shall prevail.

SECTION 6
AMENDMENTS AND SUPPLEMENTS

6.1 Amendments

Subject to the requirements of the Transfer Payment Agreement, the Trustee shall have the power in its sole and absolute discretion from time to time without the approval of any Beneficiary or any court to amend, vary, supplement, replace or restate this Declaration in its entirety or any portion thereof; provided, however that it is expected that any amendment shall be consistent with the intent of the principles set forth in the Principles Annex and with the intended scope and effect of the permitted delegations and activities of any Implementation Agent pursuant to the Permitted Delegations Annex. Without in any way limiting the foregoing, any such amendments, variations, supplements, replacements or restatements may:

(j) specify supplemental procedures for the identification of Primary Beneficiaries and the exchange of information with Electricity Distributors in connection with identifying such Primary Beneficiaries; or

(k) specify procedures for the transfer and transmission of funds from the Trust or any Implementation Agent acting on its behalf and with delegated responsibility over funds constituting Assets, to or for the benefit of, Beneficiaries or their designated representatives, payees or assignees.

6.2 Supplemental Declarations

The Trustee is authorized to execute any supplemental declaration of trust (including one or more amendments and restatements from time to time of this Declaration) to give effect to amendments to this Declaration made pursuant to section 6.1.

SECTION 7

7.1 Duration

Subject to sections 7.2 and 7.3, the Trust will continue in full force and effect so long as there are any Assets and until all of the debts, liabilities and obligations of the Trust have been paid and satisfied in full.

7.2 Termination and Distribution of Assets

The Trustee shall terminate the Trust and wind up its affairs as soon as practicable after the Final Distribution Date. In connection with the termination of the Trust, the Trustee shall identify the Residual Beneficiaries and distribute or cause to be distributed the remaining Assets, in cash or in kind or partly in each, to the Residual Beneficiaries, in each case in accordance with section 3.3. Despite the foregoing, the Trust will only be terminated and wound up after the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, determines that all debts, liabilities and obligations of the Trust have been paid or otherwise adequately provided for and satisfied and upon receipt of such releases, indemnities and discharges as the Trustee, relying on the opinion of counsel, deems necessary for the protection of the Beneficiaries and for its own protection.

PRINCIPLES ANNEX

The Trustee shall have regard to, but shall not be specifically bound by, the following principles in applying its discretion in relation to the administration of the Trust:

1. Identification of Primary Beneficiary Payees

1.1 Except in exceptional circumstances, a Primary Beneficiary would not be expected to receive a benefit from the Trust unless at the time of consideration it satisfies, in addition to the requirements contemplated in the definition of "Primary Beneficiary", each of the following criteria (the "Selection Factors"):

(i) it has a participant agreement with an applicable Electricity Distributor to undertake measures (its "Energy Plan") to improve the electricity efficiency and/or promote the conservation of electricity at its Ontario residence;

(ii) its Energy Plan involves one or more Eligible Measures, as may be designated by the Trustee from time to time from;

(iii) it confirms that:

1. the primary purpose of its Energy Plan is the conservation and efficient use by the Primary Beneficiary of electricity, and is not for the purposes of the Primary Beneficiary making a profit;

2. it would otherwise not have the financial resources to undertake the Eligible Measures included in its Energy Plan; and

3. it would otherwise not be eligible to receive amounts in respect of the Eligible Measures as a HAP Eligible Person;

(iv) it has demonstrated a need for financial assistance on the basis that its periodic electricity bills represent a financial burden, relative to its available financial resources; and

(v) such other criteria as the Trustee may determine, including based on the recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable Implementation Agreement.

1.2 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, an efficient basis upon which to allocate funds to the Primary Beneficiaries across different areas and regions within Ontario may be based on the areas and regions serviced by the Electricity Distributors operating within Ontario.

1.3 It would not be contrary to the Purposes if funds are made available by the Trustee to the Primary Beneficiaries unequally across different areas and regions within Ontario, and it is expected that in making such an unequal division it would be appropriate to have regard to:

(i) broad economic parameters of economic activity and the specific financial resources of the residents of the areas and regions, in each case as an indication of the relative need of such residents across the areas and regions;

(ii) electricity use and efficiency levels of residential electricity customers across the areas and regions;

(iii) specific regional indicators of economic weakness and need; and

(iv) such other factors as the Trustee may determine are relevant, including based on the submissions, advice and recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable implementation Agreement.

1.4 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the designated Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides would be expected to:

(i) be a reliable source for the purpose of assessing and confirming whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors;

(ii) be an efficient intermediary for the purpose of communicating with the Primary Beneficiary, including with respect to matters such as regarding the availability, terms, conditions and intended purposes of Program;

(iii) be able to facilitate an efficient payment of distribution determined to be made to or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary, having regard to the Electricity Distributor's established practices, procedures and systems for dealing with its customers; and

(iv) have established contractual arrangements with the Primary Beneficiary that may apply to the protection and confidentiality of information provided by or respecting the Primary Beneficiary, which information may be useful in the consideration by the Electricity Distributor in its assessment of whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors, which information may not otherwise be available or readily accessible or verifiable by the Trustee.

1.5 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides will have market and utilization information that may be useful in assessing the relative needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its area or region. Such information is expected to be relevant in assessing the extent to which one such Primary Beneficiary's financial needs and the merits of its Energy Plan are greater or more compelling than those of another such Primary Beneficiary, which comparison may be relevant to the extent that the funds allocable to the Primary Beneficiaries resident in the area or region are otherwise insufficient to meet the requests for funding by all such Primary Beneficiaries.

1.6 Accordingly, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it is consistent with the Purpose that the recommendations of Electricity Distributors be utilized and relied upon by the Trustee to guide the process of identifying particular Primary Beneficiaries in making distributions to the Primary Beneficiaries.

1.7 If an Electricity Distributor for a particular area or region is unable or unwilling to assess or confirm the application of the Selection Factors to Primary Beneficiaries residing in the area or region or to make recommendations in relation to such matters, one or more of the following may provide a suitable alternative source of information and for information gathering, assessment and confirmation purposes in relation to such area or region:

(i) other Electricity Distributors operating in adjacent or other areas or regions in Ontario;

(ii) the Ontario Energy Board;

(iii) the Independent Electricity System Operator; and

(iv) anyone else having relevant expertise and access to information regarding the electricity market of the Province, in each case as may be considered relevant by the Trustee.

1.8 To the extent that privacy law or other legal requirements limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or making available specific information respecting the application of the Selection Factors to a particular Primary Beneficiary or group of Primary Beneficiaries, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it may be appropriate to redact or make generic affected information regarding such Primary Beneficiary in connection with the identification and confirmation of a Primary Beneficiary's eligibility and participation in the Program. If such limitations or restrictions would limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or confirming the name of a particular Primary Beneficiary to the Trustee, then it should be sufficient that such information may be obtained or disseminated on a confidential basis if and when required by the Trustee for the proper administration of the Trust and on that basis such impediments should not disqualify a Primary Beneficiary from participating in the benefits of the Program, provided that the confidential record-keeping of the Electricity Distributor would be available in connection with the application of any applicable legal process predicated on the identification of such Primary Beneficiary for the purposes of substantiating its rights as a Primary Beneficiary of the Trust or as to the validity or subsistence of the Trust.

2. Eligible Measures

2.1 It is expected that the Trust will identify eligible measures that, taking into consideration the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, have regard to the following (the "Measures Factors"):

(i) is the measure generally expected to result in reduced electricity consumption by a Primary Beneficiary if properly installed and used;

(ii) is the measure recognized under another Provincial program as being appropriate for achieving electricity conservation among a population analogous to the Primary Beneficiaries;

(iii) does the measure present any unacceptable health or safety considerations, either with respect to the Primary Beneficiary, a party providing or installing the measure, or the physical environment;

(iv) is the measure broadly available to residents across different areas and regions of the Province; or

(v) is the measure a requirement or precursor to another measure, the other measure being one which meets any of the other Measures Factors.

2.2 In identifying and applying the Measures Factors, Electricity Distributors would be expected to have expertise in assessing the suitability of efficiency and conservation measures in their respective areas and regions, which may differ across areas and regions across the Province based on factors (among other things) such as the climate, geography, density, electricity infrastructure, residential structures, and electricity use rates applicable within such areas or regions.

2.3 The measures specified in Schedule A to this Principles Annex may initially be considered to be consistent with the Measures Factors (subject to change as contemplated under the Permitted Delegations Annex).

3. Promotion of the Program

3.1 It is expected that the Trustee will undertake or engage others to undertake diligent efforts to promote the availability, terms and benefits of the Program to Primary ~~and Residual~~ Beneficiaries, including by establishing consistent communications through the Electricity Distributors.

3.2 It is expected that the Trustee will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the establishment and the funding for the Program, including in any external communications to or marketing directed at the Electricity Distributors and the Primary and Residual Beneficiaries. In its delegation of any duties or powers to the Electricity Distributors through Implementation Agreements it is expected that Electricity Distributors will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the program including in any communications or marketing to Primary Beneficiaries.

4. Conduct of the Trust and the Program

4.1 It is expected that administrative expenses of the Board of Trustees and its members, including any expenses relating to the Trust, to the establishment of the Trust and any expenses related to the implementation and operation of the Program, including by or through Electricity Distributors and other relevant entities, will be recognized and subject to reimbursement on a basis that is substantially consistent with the accountability provisions contemplated in the Transfer Payment Agreement and the principles in the

Province's Travel, Meal and Hospitality Expenses Directive, ~~the current form of which attached~~ as set out in Schedule B to this Principles Annex.

4.2 The Trustee is expected to conduct its activities in a manner that complies in all material respects with the Transfer Payment Agreement, including to:

(iii) comply with the Province's request for any independent verification or audit if determined to be necessary or appropriate by the Province;

(iv) return Assets that have not been distributed if it is determined that the Trustee has breached its Standard of Care in discharging its material duties under the Declaration, and has not cured such material breach despite having been given a reasonable opportunity by the Province to do so in light of the circumstances of such material breach, with the result that all or a significant part of the Assets have not been or are not being applied and distributed in furtherance of the Purpose or are being applied and distributed in a manner that is directly contrary or without regard to the Purpose.

4.3 Electricity Distributors are not intended to directly profit from distributions of funds made from the Trust, although it is recognized that the objectives of electricity efficiency and conservation of Primary Beneficiaries located in the service area or region of an Electricity Distributor, and the cost savings and improved credit worthiness of such Primary Beneficiaries, may be financially beneficial to the Electricity Distributor.

4.4 Distributions from the Trust are intended to allow receiving Primary Beneficiaries to undertake Eligible Measures at no or minimal personal cost.

4.5 Without in any way limiting the discretion of the Board of Trustees to extend the period during which the benefits of the Program may be available to the Primary Beneficiaries, up to and including the Final Distribution Date, it is expected that the Trust Assets would be distributed to Primary Beneficiaries during the period from the Original Trustee Replacement Date to April 30, 2019.

PERMITTED DELEGATION ANNEX

1. Under section 4.2(g) of the Declaration, the Trustee has the power to: (a) appoint, employ or retain Implementation Agents for the purpose of discharging its duties and obligations under the Declaration; and (b) enter into, perform, enforce and amend Implementation Agreements.

2. In accordance with section 4.2(g) of the Declaration, consistent with the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, the Trustee or its agent will seek to enter into one or more Implementation Agreements with individual Electricity Distributors under which the Electricity Distributors will act as Implementation Agents to the Trustee. In this manner, the Trustee will delegate certain of its powers and duties to the Electricity Distributors.

3. Under section 5.1 of the Declaration, to the extent the Trustee has delegated any of its duties or powers, it shall be deemed to have satisfied the Standard of Care in respect of the subject matter of such delegation, subject to the Trustee's overall duty to exercise prudent oversight thereof. The Trustee is entitled to rely on an Electricity Distributor to discharge the duties delegated to it, as Implementation Agent, pursuant to an Implementation Agreement as described in this Annex.

4. Accordingly, and without limiting the Trustee's right to delegate under the Declaration and its other rights, powers and discretion as Trustee, the Trustee will be permitted to, and is expected to seek to, enter into Implementation Agreements with Electricity Distributors in order to further the Purpose. Without limiting the Trustee's discretion to negotiate and settle the terms and conditions of such Implementation Agreements, it is expected that such Implementation Agreements will include customary terms and conditions for an administrative services arrangement of this type and, in addition, would (subject to the acceptance and agreement of the applicable Electricity Distributor counterparty) address the following points in particular:

    a. Identification of Applicable Primary Beneficiary Payees and Determination of Individual Distribution Amounts

        i. Each Electricity Distributor would make an initial assessment of the financial needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its designated service area or region, having regard to the Selection Factors set forth in section 1.3 of the Principles Annex, together with applicable economic data, in order to prepare and provide to the Trustee an estimate of the number of Primary Beneficiaries who the Electricity Distributor reasonably expects would satisfy the Selection Factors.

        ii. Each Electricity Distributor would make an initial assessment of the measures it would recommend be included as Eligible Measures, having regard to the Measures Factors set forth in section 2.1 of the Principles Annex, in order to prepare and provide to the Trustee an estimate of the average cost per Primary Beneficiary Payee (as defined below) of such Eligible Measures that the Electricity Distributor reasonably expects would apply in respect of Primary Beneficiaries resident in its service area or region.

iii. Based on the product of (i) and (ii), above, and such other considerations as it considers to be directly relevant, each Electricity Distributor would make a written recommendation to the Trustee regarding the aggregate funding amount that the Electricity Distributor anticipates would be utilized under the Program by the Primary Beneficiaries resident in its service area or region (the "Local Funding Estimate"). Such recommendation would be accompanied, when submitted to the Trustee, by a detailed explanation regarding the assumptions, financial parameters, suitability considerations and other information underlying the Local Funding Estimate (including the type of information contemplated by the Selections Factors and the Measures Factors, which would be relied upon by the Trustee in its assessment regarding the allocation of available funding to or for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiaries across the specified areas and regions of Ontario.

iv. The Trustee would inform the Electricity Distributor regarding the aggregate of the amount determined by the Trustee to be made available under the Program for Primary Beneficiaries in the Electricity Distributor's designated service area or region (for each Electricity Distributor, its "Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation") and as to any maximum amount that may be paid to or for the benefit of any single Primary Beneficiary located in the servicer area or region of the Electricity Distributor (the "Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount"). The Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation and Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount may vary between areas and regions, among the Primary Beneficiaries within such areas and regions, and may be increased by the Trustee from time to time in its discretion.

v. Each Electricity Distributor would apply the principles set forth under "Identification of Primary Beneficiary Payees" in the Principles Annex to identify and make recommendations to the Trustee regarding the amount of funds (if any) to be distributed to or for the benefit of Primary Beneficiaries resident within its service area or region from time to time (the "Primary Beneficiary Payees").

vi. Each Electricity Distributor would ensure that the aggregate of the amounts it recommends be distributed to or for the benefit of Primary Beneficiary Payees from time to time does not exceed (1) its Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation and (2) for any single Primary Beneficiary located in the service area or region of the Electricity Distributor, the lesser of (x) the applicable Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount and (y) the estimated costs (including any applicable taxes, but excluding any amount payable to the Electricity Distributor by or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary) to be incurred by or on behalf of such Primary Beneficiary (whether or not such costs have been paid or remain outstanding) in respect of Eligible Measures applied or to be applied in respect of the Primary Beneficiary's Ontario residence.

vii. The Trustee would provide written confirmation to each Electricity Distributor:

1. Either (x) that the recommendations specified of the Electricity Distributor in clause (v), above, have been accepted, or (y) as to the specific reasons for any non-acceptance; and

2. The amount of the distributions to be paid to or for the benefit of each Primary Beneficiary Payee that is resident in the Electricity Distributor's service area or region.

viii. With respect to each Primary Beneficiary resident in a Electricity Distributor's service area or region that is confirmed as a Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Electricity Distributor would provide the Trustee written confirmation as to:

1. The identity of such Primary Beneficiary Payee; and

2. The amount of the distribution paid to or for the benefit of such Primary Beneficiary Payee.

ix. If the amount of a distribution to be made to a Primary Beneficiary Payee is based on the estimated costs to be incurred by or on behalf of such Primary Beneficiary and, prior to making the distribution to the Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Electricity Distributor determines that the actual costs (including any applicable taxes but excluding any amount payable to the Electricity Distributor by or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary) incurred or to be incurred by or on behalf of such Primary Beneficiary in respect of Eligible Measures applied or to be applied in respect of the Primary Beneficiary's Ontario residence has or would be less than such estimated costs, then the amount to be distributed to the Primary Beneficiary shall be based on such actual costs.

b. Making of Distributions to Primary Beneficiaries

i. It is expected that promptly after the Trustee confirms the identity of a Primary Beneficiary Payee resident in an Electricity Distributor's service area or region and the amount of the distribution to be paid to or for the benefit of such Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Trustee would arrange for payment to or on the direction of the Electricity Distributor of an amount equal to the amount of such distribution.

ii. It is expected that promptly upon receipt of funds in respect of a distribution to be made to a Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Electricity Distributor would arrange for payment of the full amount of such distribution to or for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payee (including by direct payment to a third party of, or as a reimbursement or rebate of, the costs of applicable Eligible Measures installed at the residence of and for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payee), without reduction or set-off by the Electricity Distributor.

iii. If the amount paid to an Electricity Distributor in respect of a distribution to be made to a Primary Beneficiary exceeds the actual amount of the distribution made to or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary, it is expected that the Trustee would require Electricity Distributor to return such excess to the Trustee, whereupon the proceeds of such returned amount shall continue to form part of the Assets.

c. Establishment of Operational, Administrative, Record-Keeping and Other Systems and Policies by Electricity Distributors to facilitate the Program

i. It is expected that the Electricity Distributor would establish such operational, administrative, record-keeping and other systems and policies as are necessary to facilitate the Program and perform its duties under the Implementation Agreement, including systems or policies to: identify Primary Beneficiary Payees; comply with applicable privacy and regulatory laws; communicate with Primary Beneficiaries on behalf of the Trust; assess Eligible Measures; determine the Local Funding Estimate; monitor its recommendations to the Trustee against its Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation and the Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount; receive funds from the Trust in respect of distributions to the Primary Beneficiary Payees and transfer such funds to the appropriate recipients for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payees; preparation and timely delivery to Primary Beneficiary Payees of such documents as are required by the Income Tax Act (Canada); and create and maintain records in respect of the foregoing.

ii. The Electricity Distributor would set up a separate bank account for the purpose of receiving funds from the Trust in respect of distributions to the Primary Beneficiary Payees and the transfer of such funds to the appropriate recipients for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payees.

d. Reporting, Record-Keeping, Inspection and Disclosure and Compliance Matters

i. The Electricity Distributor would provide record-keeping, clerical and bookkeeping services relating to all matters relating to its recommendations and the performance of its other duties and obligations under its Implementation Agreement.

ii. The Electricity Distributor would keep and maintain all financial records and non-financial documents and records relating to the provision of services under its Implementation Agreement.

iii. The Electricity Distributor would provide to the Trustee quarterly and annual reports ("Reports") for the duration of its Implementation Agreement. Such Reports would set out, among other things, the amounts of the distributions paid to or for the benefit of applicable Primary Beneficiary Payees, the average distribution amount per such Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Eligible Measures for which distributions have been made, and the uptake of energy efficiency measures.

iv. The Electricity Distributor would agree to provide to the Trustee such information as is necessary for the Trustee to (v) comply with applicable law; (w) prepare financial statements for the Trust; (x) prepare and submit such documents as are required under the Income Tax Act (Canada); (y) comply with the Trust's applicable obligations under the Transfer Payment Agreement; and (z) such other matters as the Trustee reasonably requests.

v. The Trustee, its authorized representatives or an independent auditor would be permitted to, at its own expense, on twenty-four hours' notice to the Electricity Distributor and during normal business hours, inspect the records of and information respecting the Electricity Distributor to confirm its compliance with the Implementation Agreement, including regarding its processes for recommending the Primary Beneficiary Payees and their respective distribution amounts and regarding the delivery of Trust funds on behalf of the Trustee to or for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payees.

e. Standard of Care

i. The Electricity Distributor would be required to agree to perform its duties provided under the Implementation Agreement exercising the degree of care, diligence and skill that a reasonably prudent Person would exercise in comparable circumstances.

ii. In performing its duties under the Implementation Agreement (including the recommending of Primary Beneficiary Payees to the Trustee), the Electricity Distributor would be required to agree to seek to avoid actual, potential or perceived conflicts of interest.

iii. The Electricity Distributor would be required to agree that it would not, in performing its obligations under the Implementation Agreement, take any action which it knows or ought reasonably to know would cause the Trustee or the Trust to be in violation of any law, rule or regulation applicable to it.

f. Expenses

The Electricity Distributor would be eligible to receive reasonable compensation and reimbursement of its actual out-of-pocket costs associated with the performance of its duties and obligations under the Implementation Agreement, subject to compliance with requirements substantially equivalent to the Province's Travel, Meal and Hospitality Expenses Directive. Such compensation amounts and reimbursement entitlements would be specified in the Implementation Agreement.

g. Representations

The Electricity Distributor would make customary representations to the Trust regarding, among other things, its legal capacity; authorization; non-contravention of law or material contract to which it is a party; and the enforceability of the Implementation Agreement.

h. Indemnification

The Electricity Distributor would be required to agree to provide customary indemnities to the Trust and the Trustee from and against claims, damages and liabilities which the Trust or Trustee may suffer or incur as the result of any breach of the Agreement by the Electricity Distributor or its representatives.

ANNEX A

Principles

The Trustee shall have regard to, but shall not be specifically bound by, the following principles in applying its discretion in relation to the administration of the Trust:

4. Identification of Primary Beneficiary Payees

4.1 Except in exceptional circumstances, a Primary Beneficiary would not be expected to receive a benefit from the Trust unless at the time of consideration it satisfies, in addition to the requirements contemplated in the definition of "Primary Beneficiary", each of the following criteria (the "Selection Factors"):

(i) it has a participant agreement with an applicable Electricity Distributor to undertake measures (its "Energy Plan") to improve the electricity efficiency and/or promote the conservation of electricity at its Ontario residence;

(ii) its Energy Plan involves one or more Eligible Measures, as may be designated by the Trustee from time to time from;

(iii) it confirms that:

1. the primary purpose of its Energy Plan is the conservation and efficient use by the Primary Beneficiary of electricity, and is not for the purposes of the Primary Beneficiary making a profit;

2. it would otherwise not have the financial resources to undertake the Eligible Measures included in its Energy Plan; and

3. it would otherwise not be eligible to receive amounts in respect of the Eligible Measures as a HAP Eligible Person;

(iv) it has demonstrated a need for financial assistance on the basis that its periodic electricity bills represent a financial burden, relative to its available financial resources; and

(v) such other criteria as the Trustee may determine, including based on the recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable Implementation Agreement.

4.2 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, an efficient basis upon which to allocate funds to the Primary Beneficiaries across different areas and regions within Ontario may be based on the areas and regions serviced by the Electricity Distributors operating within Ontario.

4.3 It would not be contrary to the Purposes if funds are made available by the Trustee to the Primary Beneficiaries unequally across different areas and regions within Ontario, and it is expected that in making such an unequal division it would be appropriate to have regard to:

(i) broad economic parameters of economic activity and the specific financial resources of the residents of the areas and regions, in each case as an indication of the relative need of such residents across the areas and regions;

(ii) electricity use and efficiency levels of residential electricity customers across the areas and regions;

(iii) specific regional indicators of economic weakness and need; and

(iv) such other factors as the Trustee may determine are relevant, including based on the submissions, advice and recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable implementation Agreement.

4.4 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the designated Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides would be expected to:

(i) be a reliable source for the purpose of assessing and confirming whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors;

(ii) be an efficient intermediary for the purpose of communicating with the Primary Beneficiary, including with respect to matters such as regarding the availability, terms, conditions and intended purposes of Program;

(iii) be able to facilitate an efficient payment of distribution determined to be made to or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary, having regard to the Electricity Distributor's established practices, procedures and systems for dealing with its customers; and

(iv) have established contractual arrangements with the Primary Beneficiary that may apply to the protection and confidentiality of information provided by or respecting the Primary Beneficiary, which information may be useful in the consideration by the Electricity Distributor in its assessment of whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors, which information may not otherwise be available or readily accessible or verifiable by the Trustee.

4.5 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides will have market and utilization information that may be useful in assessing the relative needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its area or region. Such information is expected to be relevant in assessing the extent to which one such Primary Beneficiary's financial needs and the merits of its Energy Plan are greater or more compelling than those of another such Primary Beneficiary, which comparison may be relevant to the extent that the funds allocable to the Primary Beneficiaries resident in the area or region are otherwise insufficient to meet the requests for funding by all such Primary Beneficiaries.

4.6 Accordingly, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it is consistent with the Purpose that the recommendations of Electricity Distributors be utilized and relied upon by the Trustee to guide the process of identifying particular Primary Beneficiaries in making distributions to the Primary Beneficiaries.

4.7 If an Electricity Distributor for a particular area or region is unable or unwilling to assess or confirm the application of the Selection Factors to Primary Beneficiaries residing in the area or region or to make recommendations in relation to such matters, one or more of the following may provide a suitable alternative source of information and for information gathering, assessment and confirmation purposes in relation to such area or region:

(i) other Electricity Distributors operating in adjacent or other areas or regions in Ontario;

(ii) the Ontario Energy Board;

(iii) the Independent Electricity System Operator; and

(iv) anyone else having relevant expertise and access to information regarding the electricity market of the Province, in each case as may be considered relevant by the Trustee.

4.8 To the extent that privacy law or other legal requirements limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or making available specific information respecting the application of the Selection Factors to a particular Primary Beneficiary or group of Primary Beneficiaries, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it may be appropriate to redact or make generic affected information regarding such Primary Beneficiary in connection with the identification and confirmation of a Primary Beneficiary's eligibility and participation in the Program. If such limitations or restrictions would limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or confirming the name of a particular Primary Beneficiary to the Trustee, then it should be sufficient that such information may be obtained or disseminated on a confidential basis if and when required by the Trustee for the proper administration of the Trust and on that basis such impediments should not disqualify a Primary Beneficiary from participating in the benefits of the Program, provided that the confidential record-keeping of the Electricity Distributor would be available in connection with the application of any applicable legal process predicated on the identification of such Primary Beneficiary for the purposes of substantiating its rights as a Primary Beneficiary of the Trust or as to the validity or subsistence of the Trust.

5. Eligible Measures

5.1 It is expected that the Trust will identify eligible measures that, taking into consideration the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, have regard to the following (the "Measures Factors"):

(i) is the measure generally expected to result in reduced electricity consumption by a Primary Beneficiary if properly installed and used;

(ii) is the measure recognized under another Provincial program as being appropriate for achieving electricity conservation among a population analogous to the Primary Beneficiaries;

(iii) does the measure present any unacceptable health or safety considerations, either with respect to the Primary Beneficiary, a party providing or installing the measure, or the physical environment;

(iv) is the measure broadly available to residents across different areas and regions of the Province; or

(v) is the measure a requirement or precursor to another measure, the other measure being one which meets any of the other Measures Factors.

5.2 In identifying and applying the Measures Factors, Electricity Distributors would be expected to have expertise in assessing the suitability of efficiency and conservation measures in their respective areas and regions, which may differ across areas and regions across the Province based on factors (among other things) such as the climate, geography, density, electricity infrastructure, residential structures, and electricity use rates applicable within such areas or regions.

5.3 The measures specified in Schedule A to this Principles Annex may initially be considered to be consistent with the Measures Factors (subject to change as contemplated under the Permitted Delegations Annex).

6. Promotion of the Program

6.1 It is expected that the Trustee will undertake or engage others to undertake diligent efforts to promote the availability, terms and benefits of the Program to Primary Beneficiaries, including by establishing consistent communications through the Electricity Distributors.

6.2 It is expected that the Trustee will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the establishment and the funding for the Program, including in any external communications to or marketing directed at the Electricity Distributors and the Primary and Residual Beneficiaries. In its delegation of any duties or powers to the Electricity Distributors through Implementation Agreements it is expected that Electricity Distributors will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the program including in any communications or marketing to Primary Beneficiaries.

7. Conduct of the Trust and the Program

7.1 It is expected that administrative expenses of the Board of Trustees and its members, including any expenses relating to the Trust, to the establishment of the Trust and any expenses related to the implementation and operation of the Program, including by or through Electricity Distributors and other relevant entities, will be recognized and subject to reimbursement on a basis that is substantially consistent with the accountability provisions contemplated in the Transfer Payment Agreement and the principles in the Province's Travel, Meal and Hospitality Expenses Directive, as set out in Schedule B to this Principles Annex.

7.2 The Trustee is expected to conduct its activities in a manner that complies in all material respects with the Transfer Payment Agreement, including to:

(i) act prudently and in furtherance of the Purpose;

(ii) report not less frequently than annually the results of its activities for information purposes to the Province in connection with the Program;

(iii) comply with the Province's request for any independent verification or audit if determined to be necessary or appropriate by the Province;

(iv) return Assets that have not been distributed if it is determined that the Trustee has breached its Standard of Care in discharging its material duties under the Declaration, and has not cured such material breach despite having been given a reasonable opportunity by the Province to do so in light of the circumstances of such material breach, with the result that all or a significant part of the Assets have not been or are not being applied and distributed in furtherance of the Purpose or are being applied and distributed in a manner that is directly contrary or without regard to the Purpose.

7.3 Electricity Distributors are not intended to directly profit from distributions of funds made from the Trust, although it is recognized that the objectives of electricity efficiency and conservation of Primary Beneficiaries located in the service area or region of an Electricity Distributor, and the cost savings and improved credit worthiness of such Primary Beneficiaries, may be financially beneficial to the Electricity Distributor.

7.4 Distributions from the Trust are intended to allow receiving Primary Beneficiaries to undertake Eligible Measures at no or minimal personal cost.

7.5 Without in any way limiting the discretion of the Board of Trustees to extend the period during which the benefits of the Program may be available to the Primary Beneficiaries, up to and including the Final Distribution Date, it is expected that the Trust Assets would be distributed to Primary Beneficiaries during the period from the Original Trustee Replacement Date to April 30, 2019.

(d) terminate the Agreement, including immediately, without liability, penalty or costs to the Province upon giving Notice to the Recipient.

The transfer of Funds in accordance with the Agreement is made by the Province with the expressed intention and reservation that the transferred Funds shall be returned to the Province and the entitlements of the Recipient in remaining Funds shall thereby be revoked with reversion thereof to the Province in the circumstances contemplated in Section 11.2(c).

ANNEX A

Principles

~~[Insert from Principles Annex once settled in the Declaration of Trust]~~

The Trustee shall have regard to, but shall not be specifically bound by, the following principles in applying its discretion in relation to the administration of the Trust:

4. Identification of Primary Beneficiary Payees

4.1 Except in exceptional circumstances, a Primary Beneficiary would not be expected to receive a benefit from the Trust unless at the time of consideration it satisfies, in addition to the requirements contemplated in the definition of "Primary Beneficiary", each of the following criteria (the "Selection Factors"):

(i) it has a participant agreement with an applicable Electricity Distributor to undertake measures (its "Energy Plan") to improve the electricity efficiency and/or promote the conservation of electricity at its Ontario residence;

(ii) its Energy Plan involves one or more Eligible Measures, as may be designated by the Trustee from time to time from;

(iii) it confirms that:

1. the primary purpose of its Energy Plan is the conservation and efficient use by the Primary Beneficiary of electricity, and is not for the purposes of the Primary Beneficiary making a profit;

2. it would otherwise not have the financial resources to undertake the Eligible Measures included in its Energy Plan; and

3. it would otherwise not be eligible to receive amounts in respect of the Eligible Measures as a HAP Eligible Person;

(iv) it has demonstrated a need for financial assistance on the basis that its periodic electricity bills represent a financial burden, relative to its available financial resources; and

(v) such other criteria as the Trustee may determine, including based on the recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable Implementation Agreement.

4.2 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, an efficient basis upon which to allocate funds to the Primary Beneficiaries across different areas and regions within Ontario may be based on the areas and regions serviced by the Electricity Distributors operating within Ontario.

4.3 It would not be contrary to the Purposes if funds are made available by the Trustee to the Primary Beneficiaries unequally across different areas and regions within Ontario, and it is expected that in making such an unequal division it would be appropriate to have regard to:

(i) broad economic parameters of economic activity and the specific financial resources of the residents of the areas and regions, in each case as an indication of the relative need of such residents across the areas and regions;

(ii) electricity use and efficiency levels of residential electricity customers across the areas and regions;

(iii) specific regional indicators of economic weakness and need; and

(iv) such other factors as the Trustee may determine are relevant, including based on the submissions, advice and recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable implementation Agreement.

4.4 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the designated Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides would be expected to:

(i) be a reliable source for the purpose of assessing and confirming whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors;

(ii) be an efficient intermediary for the purpose of communicating with the Primary Beneficiary, including with respect to matters such as regarding the availability, terms, conditions and intended purposes of Program;

(iii) be able to facilitate an efficient payment of distribution determined to be made to or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary, having regard to the Electricity Distributor's established practices, procedures and systems for dealing with its customers; and

(iv) have established contractual arrangements with the Primary Beneficiary that may apply to the protection and confidentiality of information provided by or respecting the Primary Beneficiary, which information may be useful in the consideration by the Electricity Distributor in its assessment of whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors, which information may not otherwise be available or readily accessible or verifiable by the Trustee.

4.5 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides will have market and utilization information that may be useful in assessing the relative needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its area or region. Such information is expected to be relevant in assessing the extent to which one such Primary Beneficiary's financial needs and the merits of its Energy Plan are greater or more compelling than those of another such Primary Beneficiary, which comparison may be relevant to the extent that the funds allocable to the Primary Beneficiaries resident in the area or region are otherwise insufficient to meet the requests for funding by all such Primary Beneficiaries.

4.6 Accordingly, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it is consistent with the Purpose that the recommendations of Electricity Distributors be utilized and relied upon by the Trustee to guide the process of identifying particular Primary Beneficiaries in making distributions to the Primary Beneficiaries.

4.7 If an Electricity Distributor for a particular area or region is unable or unwilling to assess or confirm the application of the Selection Factors to Primary Beneficiaries residing in the area or region or to make recommendations in relation to such matters, one or more of the following may provide a suitable alternative source of information and for information gathering, assessment and confirmation purposes in relation to such area or region:

(i) other Electricity Distributors operating in adjacent or other areas or regions in Ontario;

(ii) the Ontario Energy Board;

(iii) the Independent Electricity System Operator; and

(iv) anyone else having relevant expertise and access to information regarding the electricity market of the Province, in each case as may be considered relevant by the Trustee.

4.8 To the extent that privacy law or other legal requirements limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or making available specific information respecting the application of the Selection Factors to a particular Primary Beneficiary or group of Primary Beneficiaries, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it may be appropriate to redact or make generic affected information regarding such Primary Beneficiary in connection with the identification and confirmation of a Primary Beneficiary's eligibility and participation in the Program. If such limitations or restrictions would limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or confirming the name of a particular Primary Beneficiary to the Trustee, then it should be sufficient that such information may be obtained or disseminated on a confidential basis if and when required by the Trustee for the proper administration of the Trust and on that basis such impediments should not disqualify a Primary Beneficiary from participating in the benefits of the Program, provided that the confidential record-keeping of the Electricity Distributor would be available in connection with the application of any applicable legal process predicated on the identification of such Primary Beneficiary for the purposes of substantiating its rights as a Primary Beneficiary of the Trust or as to the validity or subsistence of the Trust.

5. Eligible Measures

5.1 It is expected that the Trust will identify eligible measures that, taking into consideration the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, have regard to the following (the "Measures Factors"):

(i) is the measure generally expected to result in reduced electricity consumption by a Primary Beneficiary if properly installed and used;

(ii) is the measure recognized under another Provincial program as being appropriate for achieving electricity conservation among a population analogous to the Primary Beneficiaries;

(iii) does the measure present any unacceptable health or safety considerations, either with respect to the Primary Beneficiary, a party providing or installing the measure, or the physical environment;

(iv) is the measure broadly available to residents across different areas and regions of the Province; or

(v) is the measure a requirement or precursor to another measure, the other measure being one which meets any of the other Measures Factors.

5.2 In identifying and applying the Measures Factors, Electricity Distributors would be expected to have expertise in assessing the suitability of efficiency and conservation measures in their respective areas and regions, which may differ across areas and regions across the Province based on factors (among other things) such as the climate, geography, density, electricity infrastructure, residential structures, and electricity use rates applicable within such areas or regions.

5.3 The measures specified in Schedule A to this Principles Annex may initially be considered to be consistent with the Measures Factors (subject to change as contemplated under the Permitted Delegations Annex).

6. Promotion of the Program

6.1 It is expected that the Trustee will undertake or engage others to undertake diligent efforts to promote the availability, terms and benefits of the Program to Primary Beneficiaries, including by establishing consistent communications through the Electricity Distributors.

6.2 It is expected that the Trustee will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the establishment and the funding for the Program, including in any external communications to or marketing directed at the Electricity Distributors and the Primary and Residual Beneficiaries. In its delegation of any duties or powers to the Electricity Distributors through Implementation Agreements it is expected that Electricity Distributors will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the program including in any communications or marketing to Primary Beneficiaries.

7. Conduct of the Trust and the Program

7.1 It is expected that administrative expenses of the Board of Trustees and its members, including any expenses relating to the Trust, to the establishment of the Trust and any expenses related to the implementation and operation of the Program, including by or through Electricity Distributors and other relevant entities, will be recognized and subject to reimbursement on a basis that is substantially consistent with the accountability provisions contemplated in the Transfer Payment Agreement and the principles in the Province's Travel, Meal and Hospitality Expenses Directive, as set out in Schedule B to this Principles Annex.

7.2 The Trustee is expected to conduct its activities in a manner that complies in all material respects with the Transfer Payment Agreement, including to:

(i) act prudently and in furtherance of the Purpose;

(ii) report not less frequently than annually the results of its activities for information purposes to the Province in connection with the Program;

(iii) comply with the Province's request for any independent verification or audit if determined to be necessary or appropriate by the Province;

(iv) return Assets that have not been distributed if it is determined that the Trustee has breached its Standard of Care in discharging its material duties under the Declaration, and has not cured such material breach despite having been given a reasonable opportunity by the Province to do so in light of the circumstances of such material breach, with the result that all or a significant part of the Assets have not been or are not being applied and distributed in furtherance of the Purpose or are being applied and distributed in a manner that is directly contrary or without regard to the Purpose.

7.3 Electricity Distributors are not intended to directly profit from distributions of funds made from the Trust, although it is recognized that the objectives of electricity efficiency and conservation of Primary Beneficiaries located in the service area or region of an Electricity Distributor, and the cost savings and improved credit worthiness of such Primary Beneficiaries, may be financially beneficial to the Electricity Distributor.

7.4 Distributions from the Trust are intended to allow receiving Primary Beneficiaries to undertake Eligible Measures at no or minimal personal cost.

7.5 Without in any way limiting the discretion of the Board of Trustees to extend the period during which the benefits of the Program may be available to the Primary Beneficiaries, up to and including the Final Distribution Date, it is expected that the Trust Assets would be distributed to Primary Beneficiaries during the period from the Original Trustee Replacement Date to April 30, 2019.

Hi Michel.

I just wanted to share the final signed docs. Thanks again for all of your help!! I'll be updating my control analysis again this evening. If you have any comments on the revised draft I sent you yesterday, it would be much appreciated.

I attended the PSAB ADG last week, and I've been pondering some of the discussion. It may influence the final documentation on the accounting, once the control analysis is complete. Would welcome a chat with you on that front when you have some time.

Talk soon,

Nadine

Hello Lisa,

Please find attached updated versions of the TPA and Declaration. Changes are tracked against the previous versions we had sent you.

There are three main outstanding elements that we are working to address:

1. On page 2 and 10 of the TPA, we need to add Computershare's relevant contact info. Could you kindly add this to the TPA?

2. For now we have left a placeholder for the effective date. We will replace that with tomorrow's date once you review.

3. Both documents have some formatting issues (Blakes is working to address):

- inconsistent page numbering and footers for both the TPA and Declaration

- incorrect sub section numbering in Annex A of the TPA

- Schedule B reference to the hospitality directive needs to be updated

Could you kindly review the TPA and Declaration and give us your final OK. Appreciate if you can let us know by tomorrow morning (Mar 23).

We can then circulate clean versions for your signature.

Thank you,

Emma

3.1 Distributions to Primary Beneficiaries

After the Original Trustee Replacement Date and prior to the Final Distribution Date, the Trustee shall undertake diligent efforts in good faith to distribute the Assets (including capital or income) to the Primary Beneficiaries identified based on the application of the principles specified in the Principles Annex and in the manner and in the amounts determined on the basis contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex, in each case in the amounts and to the extent specified herein and therein, subject in all respects to the exercise by the Trustee of its discretion hereunder and to the exclusion of the other Beneficiaries.

3.2 Amount of Distributions to Primary Beneficiaries

For the purposes of determining the amount of distributions to be made to the Primary Beneficiaries, the Trustee shall have regard to and be entitled to rely on the recommendations of and information provided by Electricity Distributors acting as Implementation Agents appointed for the purposes, in the manner and substantially on the terms contemplated in the Permitted Delegations Annex, without any duty or obligation to verify or makes enquiries regarding the basis for or propriety of such recommendations or the accuracy or completeness of such information, except if and to the extent that the Trustee, in its discretion, determines that (i) it has actual knowledge that such recommendations are contrary to the reasonable application of the principles set forth in the Principles Annex or have been made on a basis that is manifestly contrary to such principles or the delegations and activities specified or contemplated to be undertaken under the Permitted Delegations Annex or (b) such information is known by the Trustee to be erroneous, contain a material misrepresentation or is materially incomplete.

3.3 Distributions to Residual Beneficiaries

Prior to the Final Distribution Date, the Trustee shall identify the Residual Beneficiary, or if more than one the Residual Beneficiaries and their respective allocations, by consulting with and having regard to the recommendations of the Ontario Energy Board, based on those charitable organizations which provide support services for Low Income Energy Assistance Program Emergency Financial Assistance (LEAP EFA) and the Ontario Electricity Support Program (OESP) or other charities that OEB may identify as relating to the Purpose. Following the Final Distribution Date, the Trustee shall, subject to compliance with section 7.3 and completion of a final audit, distribute all remaining Assets (including capital or income) to the Residual Beneficiaries, in each case in the amounts and to the extent determined by the Trustee in its discretion hereunder (having consulted with and having had regard to the recommendations of the Ontario Energy Board as aforesaid) and to the exclusion of the other Beneficiaries.

POWERS OF THE TRUSTEE

4.1 General

Subject to and in compliance with the terms, limitations and restrictions of this Declaration and notwithstanding applicable trust legislation, the Trustee shall have, without other or further authorization, full, exclusive and absolute power, control and authority over the Assets and over the affairs and activities of the Trust to the same extent as if the Trustee were not a trustee, but rather the sole and absolute owner of the Assets in its own right, including such power, control and authority to do all such acts and things as in its sole judgment and discretion are necessary, incidental or desirable for carrying on the affairs and activities of the Trust, with such powers of delegation as may be permitted or otherwise contemplated by this Declaration. Except as expressly provided in this Declaration, the enumeration in this Declaration of any specific power or authority shall not be construed as limiting the aforesaid general power or authority or any other specific power or authority set out herein. Subject to the terms, limitations and restrictions of this Declaration, every discretion or power hereby conferred on the Trustee is an absolute and uncontrolled discretion or power.

4.2 Specifically Enumerated Powers

The Trustee shall have the following specific powers and authorities:

(a) Transfer Payment Agreement. The Trustee shall have the power to enter into, amend, supplement, modify and perform its obligation under the Transfer Payment Agreement.

(b) Contracts and Undertakings. The Trustee shall have the power to enter into, amend, supplement, modify and perform its obligation under any contract entered into or undertaking given by the Trustee in furtherance of the Purpose, including any Administrative Services Agreement and any Implementation Agreement.

(c) Power to Own, Hold and Manage. Subject to section 4.2(d), the Trustee shall have the power to own, hold and manage the Assets in such manner as the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, may consider appropriate or advisable.

(d) Power to Invest in Eligible Investments. The Trustee shall have the power to invest the Assets only in Eligible Investments, and to change such Eligible Investments at any time and from time to time, all as the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, may consider appropriate or advisable, but always having regard to the Trustee's expectations regarding the timing of payments to be made to the Beneficiaries hereunder. If an investment of Assets in Eligible Investments would not be authorized under the applicable trust laws of Ontario, the Trustee shall nevertheless be permitted to make an investment of the Assets in such Eligible Investments. The Trustee will have no liability for the diminution in the value of any investment in Eligible Investments made hereunder.

(e) Power to Dispose of Assets. The Trustee shall have the power to sell, convey, assign, transfer, exchange and in any other manner dispose of the Assets or any part or parts thereof free and clear of any and all trusts established under this Declaration, by public or private sale, for cash or on credit, with or without advertisement, and subject to such restrictions, stipulations, agreements and reservations as the Trustee in its sole and absolute discretion may consider appropriate or advisable, and to execute and deliver and perform any agreement, deed, conveyance, transfer or other document or instrument in connection with the foregoing.

(f) Power to Apply Assets and Proceeds to Make Distributions to Beneficiaries. The Trustee shall have the power to apply the Assets and the proceeds and income derived therefrom to make distributions to the Beneficiaries contemplated by Section 3, and to execute and deliver and perform any agreement, deed, conveyance, transfer or other document or instrument in connection therewith.

(g) Power to Delegate and to Appoint Agents, etc. The Trustee shall have the power to appoint, employ or contract with any Person as the Trustee in its sole and absolute discretion may consider appropriate or advisable in connection with the activities of the Trust. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing:

(i) the Trustee will have the power at any time and from time to time to appoint, employ or retain consultants, financial advisers, technical advisers, legal counsel, accountants, administrative services agents, implementation agents, insurers, insurance agents and insurance brokers, as the Trustee may require for the purpose of discharging its duties hereunder and shall not be responsible for or for the actions of any of them, including to:

(A) act for and on behalf of the Trust in connection with any and all matters in any way relating to the negotiation, settlement, entering into, amending, performance and enforcement of the Transfer Payment Agreement, the Administrative Services Agreements, the Implementation Agreements, and any other agreements and contracts to which the Trust becomes a party in accordance with this Declaration;

(B) to provide or cause to be provided any or all kinds of administrative and other services in any way relating to the activities of the Trust;

(C) to act as attorney in fact, agent or trustee in the acquisition, holding, investment, application, sale or other disposition of the Assets and in the handling, prosecuting, defending or settling of any claims of or made against the Trust;

(D) to value the Assets and determine the net income of the Trust; and

(E) to make any filings, elections and submissions (including in respect of taxation matters) in connection with the Trust's compliance with applicable laws and regulatory requirements; and

(ii) the Trustee may pay remuneration and reimbursements from the Assets for services performed for it or on its behalf in the discharge of the trusts hereof without taxation for costs or fees of any counsel, solicitor or attorney.

Without limiting the foregoing, it is expected that the Board of Trustees will seek to enter into Implementation Agreements with Electricity Distributors for the purposes contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex, and on such terms and conditions (including terms and conditions as to the payment of reasonable fees and expenses) not inconsistent therewith as the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, may consider appropriate or advisable.

(h) Power to Operate Accounts. The Trustee shall have the power to (i) open and operate accounts at any chartered bank, trust company or other financial institution in Canada or elsewhere, as the Trustee in its sole and absolute discretion may consider appropriate or advisable; (ii) deposit therein any moneys or securities forming part of the Assets whether or not such deposits will earn interest; (iii) withdraw such deposits at such times and in such manner as the Trustee may determine; (iv) draw, make, endorse, deposit or otherwise deal in cheques, bills of exchange, promissory notes, drafts and other kinds of instruments and securities; and (v) enter into contracts or agreements with any such chartered bank, trust company or other financial institution containing such terms and provisions as the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, may consider appropriate or advisable. In connection therewith, the Trustee shall have no liability or responsibility for any loss which may occur by reason of the failure of any such chartered bank, trust company or other financial institution.

(i) Power to Collect, etc. The Trustee shall have the power to (i) collect, sue for, receive and give receipts for all sums of money or other property due to the Trust; (ii) consent to extensions of time for payment or to the renewal of any securities or obligations; (iii) engage or intervene in, prosecute, defend, compound, compromise, abandon or adjust by arbitration or otherwise, any demands, claims, actions, suits or proceedings relating to the Trust or the Assets; (iv) exercise any and all remedies available to the Trustee under any agreement or as may otherwise be available, including any power of foreclosure or sale available at law; (v) in connection with any such foreclosure or sale, purchase or otherwise acquire title to any property and to convey good title thereto free of any and all trusts hereby established, or to take or retake possession of any property secured under any agreement or instrument; (vi) extend the time, with or without security, for the payment or delivery of any debts or property; (vii) execute and deliver releases, acquittances, discharges, agreements or other instruments related thereto; and (viii) pay or satisfy any debts or claims upon any evidence that the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, may determine to be sufficient.

(j) Power to Obtain Insurance. The Trustee shall have the power to enter into contracts for or in relation to or otherwise obtain policies of insurance for the purpose of insuring the risks associated with the Trust, including to insure the Trustee (including the members of the Board of Trustees) against any risk of loss associated with assuming and performing the duties as Trustee. Without limiting the foregoing, it is expected that the Board of Trustees will obtain commercial general liability insurance from insurers having a secure A.M. Best rating of B+ or greater, or the equivalent, that in the opinion of the Recipient a prudent person similar to the Recipient would maintain, and having an inclusive limit of not less than $2,000,000 per occurrence and providing for contractual liability coverage.

(k) Power to Pay Trustee's Fees. The Original Trustee shall be entitled to be paid and receive the fees set forth in the Original Trustee's schedule of fees delivered as of or prior to the date hereof as compensation for its services under this Declaration, and to be reimbursed for its out-of-pocket expenses reasonably incurred, in each case from the Assets and without the approval of any Beneficiary or any court. The Original Trustee shall be entitled, in its sole and absolute discretion, to withdraw funds from time to time for such purpose from any account of the Trust. Members of the Board of Trustees shall be entitled to reimbursement for and in respect of their out-of-pocket expenses reasonably incurred in discharging their respective duties and obligations under this Declaration, in each case without the approval of any Beneficiary or any court, provided that the members of the Board of Trustees have general regard to the accountability principles set out in Schedule B to the Principles Annex.

(l) Power to Pay Taxes. The Trustee shall have the power to (i) pay, deduct, withhold or remit any taxes or assessments which are required by law to be paid, deducted, withheld or remitted together with or from any payment made by the Trustee; (ii) pay all taxes or assessments of whatever kind or nature imposed upon or against the Trust or the Trustee in connection with the Assets or any part thereof; (iii) collect and remit all taxes and assessments of whatever kind or nature required to be collected and remitted by the Trust or the Trustee in connection with their activities or the Assets or any part thereof; (iv) appeal, settle or compromise tax claims or liabilities; and (v) for the foregoing purposes, to make such returns, elections and submissions and do all such other acts and things as the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, may consider appropriate or advisable.

(m) Power to Appoint Auditors. The Trustee shall have the power to select and appoint and discharge and re-appoint, in its sole and absolute discretion, an auditor or auditors of the Trust and to settle and pay the fees of any such auditor or auditors from any account of the Trust.

(n) Form of Accounts. The Trustee shall have the power to determine and change from time to time, in its sole and absolute discretion, the method or form in which the accounts of the Trust will be kept and shall not be required to keep or provide accounts in the form usually required by law to be kept or provided by trustees; provided that such method or form reasonably complies with generally accepted accounting principles in effect in Canada to the extent applicable.

(o) Title to Assets. The Trustee shall have the power to cause all or any part of the Assets to be held by or registered, in its sole and absolute discretion, in the name of any Person.

(p) Delegation of Discretion. The Trustee shall have the power to delegate the right and power to exercise, or concur in the exercise of any discretion or power, conferred on the Trustee in this Declaration or conferred by law to any one or more of its directors, officers, employees, agents, representatives or to such other Person, as the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, may think is appropriate or advisable, including to one or more Administrative Services Agents under an Administrative Services Agreement and to one or more Implementation Agents and their respective employees, officers and directors under a related Implementation Agreement entered into by the Trust substantially on the basis contemplated in the Permitted Delegations Annex. In particular, the Trustee shall have the power to accept, rely on and follow the recommendations of an Electricity Distributor made under and having regard to the Permitted Delegation Annex with respect to the identification of, and the determination of distributions (if any) to be made to, any Primary Beneficiary, except if and in so far as the Trustee has actual knowledge that (1) such Primary Beneficiary did not in fact satisfy the "Selection Factors" specified in the Principles Annex as of the applicable time of determination; and/or (ii) the amount recommended to be distributed to the Primary Beneficiary was not calculated in substantial compliance with, or was calculated in a manner that is manifestly contrary to the requirements set forth or contemplated in, the Permitted Delegation Annex or the applicable Implementation Agreement.

(q) Additional Powers. The Trustee shall have the power to perform and do all such other acts, to take such steps and to execute all such deeds, transfers, assignments, agreements and other documents and instruments as the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, may consider appropriate or advisable for the carrying out of any of its powers hereunder or of any of the activities of the Trust as herein contemplated, or for the carrying out, promotion or advancement of the interests of the Trust, whether or not any of such acts, things, documents or instruments are herein expressly mentioned. Any good faith determination by the Trustee as to what is necessary, desirable or appropriate to carry out its powers or activities of the Trust as contemplated under this Declaration or to carry out, promote or advance the interests of the Trust shall be conclusive. Any construction of this Declaration or any determination as to the activities of the Trust or the existence of any power or authority hereunder made in good faith by the Trustee, relying upon the advice of counsel, shall be conclusive. In construing the provisions of this Declaration, there shall be a presumption in favour of a grant of power to the Trustee.

SECTION 5
CONCERNING THE TRUSTEE

5.1 Duty of Trustee

In performing its duties and exercising its powers under this Declaration, the Trustee shall act honestly, in good faith and with a view to the best interests of the Trust and the Beneficiaries and shall exercise that degree of care, diligence and skill that a reasonably prudent trustee would exercise in comparable circumstances (the "Standard of Care"). The Trustee shall observe and act in accordance with the terms of, and shall observe and comply with the limitations and restrictions set forth in, this Declaration, including having due regard to the principles set forth in the Principles Annex. To the extent that the Trustee has so delegated any of its duties or powers, it shall be deemed to have satisfied the Standard of Care in respect of the subject matter of such delegation, subject to the Trustee's overall duty as a trustee to exercise prudent oversight in relation to such delegation. Unless required by law, the Trustee will not be required to give any security, bonds or sureties in any jurisdiction for the performance of any of its duties and obligations under this Declaration. The Trustee (including the individual members of the Board of Trustees) will not be required to devote its entire time to the trust activities.

5.2 Limitation of Liability

The Trustee shall not be personally liable in tort, contract or otherwise to any Beneficiary or any other Person for any loss or diminution in the value of the Assets, or for any action or failure to act on the part of the Trustee or any of its employees or agents or any other Person, and shall not be subject to any personal liability for any debts, liabilities, obligations, claims, demands, judgments, costs, charges or expenses incurred by or against the Trust, howsoever arising, and resort will be had solely to the Assets for the payment, performance or satisfaction thereof. No property or assets of the Trustee, owned in its personal capacity or otherwise, will be subject to levy, execution or other enforcement procedures with respect to any obligation under this Declaration. However, the foregoing limitations in this Section shall not apply where the Trustee has demonstrated gross negligence, bad faith, fraud or wilful misconduct.

5.3 Liability of Trustee under Contracts

Any document or instrument creating a liability or obligation of the Trust or of the Trustee will be conclusively deemed to have been executed by the Trustee only in its capacity as Trustee of the Trust and will be binding upon the Trustee only in its capacity as trustee hereunder and resort may not be had to, nor recourse or satisfaction be sought from, the property of the Trustee other than the Assets, whether owned by its in its personal capacity or in any other capacity other than in its capacity as Trustee of the Trust, or from its employees or agents, and in all cases resort will be had solely to the Assets for the payment, performance or satisfaction of any such liability or obligation. However, the foregoing limitations in this Section shall not apply where the Trustee has demonstrated gross negligence, bad faith, fraud or wilful misconduct. Each document or instrument creating a liability or obligation of the Trust or of the Trustee shall contain a provision providing for the aforesaid limitation of liability.

5.4 Funds of the Trustee

The Trustee shall not be required to expend or risk its own funds or otherwise incur financial liability in the performance of any of its duties hereunder, or in the exercise of any of its rights or powers.

5.5 Indemnification of Trustee

In addition to and without limiting any other protection hereunder or otherwise by law of the Trustee and its respective employees, agents, representatives and assigns (in this Section 5.5, collectively, the "Representatives"), the Trustee and its respective Representatives shall be indemnified, defended and saved harmless out of the Assets from, against and in respect of any and all liabilities arising or related to actions taken or omitted to be taken by any agent of the Trustee, losses, claims (including any claim arising out of the assessment of any tax on income by a taxing authority), damages, penalties, fines, actions, suits, demands, levies, assessments, costs, charges, expenses and disbursements (including, without limitation, any and all legal and advisor fees and disbursements) (in this Section 5.5, collectively, the "Liabilities") of whatever kind or nature which may at any time be suffered by, imposed upon, incurred by or asserted against the Trustee and its Representatives, whether groundless or otherwise, howsoever arising from or out of any act, omission or error of the Trustee, in each case made in connection with its acting as Trustee hereunder, in each case except and to the extent that the Liabilities are a result from or are caused by gross negligence, wilful misconduct, bad faith or fraud. Further, except as provided in section 5.2, the Trustee shall not be liable to any Beneficiary for any loss or damage relating to any matter regarding the Trust, including any loss or diminution in value of the Assets. Notwithstanding any other provision hereof, the obligations provided for in this section 5.5 shall survive any termination of the Trust, whether by reason of removal or resignation of the Trustee, termination or discharge of this Declaration or otherwise.

5.6 Reliance upon Advice

Subject to section 5.1, in performing its duties and exercising its powers hereunder, the Trustee may rely and may act or not act, and shall be fully protected in relying and acting or not acting, upon (a) any statement, telecopy or other electronic means of communication, writing, notice, resolution, report, opinion or other document or conversation believed by it to be genuine and correct and to have been signed, sent or made by the proper Person; (b) any opinion or advice received or information obtained from auditors, solicitors, or other professional advisers, whether retained by the Trustee or otherwise, and shall not be responsible or held liable for any loss or damage resulting from so relying or acting or not acting; and (c) the advice and actions of any Administrative Services Agent or Implementation Agent, including in connection with the delegations and reliances contemplated under the Permitted Delegations Annex. For greater certainty, it shall not be necessary for the Trustee to ascertain whether or not the Persons who have executed, signed or otherwise issued, authenticated or receipted such papers, writings or documents (including any Administrative Services Agreement or any Implementation Agreement or any other contract entered into by the Trustee) have authority to do so or that they are the same Persons named therein or otherwise to pass upon any requirement of such papers, writing or documents that may be essential for their validity or effectiveness or upon the truth and acceptability.

5.7 Replacement of the Original Trustee

The Persons identified in the Trustee Replacement Annex are hereby appointed to comprise the Advisory Committee contemplated therein (the "Advisory Committee"). The Original Trustee shall promptly request that the Advisory Committee make recommendations with respect to the composition of the "Board of Trustees", as contemplated by the Trustee Replacement Annex. The Original Trustee shall have no duty or obligation to investigate the basis for any of the Advisory Committee's recommendations and may rely on such recommendations without any duty of enquiry, supervision or oversight with respect to the activities and decision-making processes adopted by the Advisory Committee in its discretion, in full satisfaction of the Original Trustee's Standard of Care with respect to such matters hereunder. Except where it is manifestly apparent to the Original Trustee that the individuals recommended by the Advisory Committee to become members of such Board of Trustees are disqualified from so acting on the basis of manifest non-compliance with the "Selection Factors" set forth in the Trustee Replacement Annex, the Original Trustee shall appoint, as members of the Board of Trustees, the six (five voting and one non-voting) individuals recommended for appointment to the Board of Trustees by the Advisory Committee. If the Original Trustee declines to appoint any individual recommended by the Advisory Committee, the Original Trustee will promptly request that the Advisory Committee provide a further recommendation whom the Original Trustee shall appoint as a member of the Board of Trustees unless it is manifestly apparent to the Original Trustee that the individual so recommended is also disqualified from so acting on the basis of manifest non-compliance with the "Selection Factors" set forth in the Trustee Replacement Annex,. Upon the appointment of such six individuals pursuant to this provision and their agreement to act as members of the Board of Trustees, the Original Trustee shall be deemed to have resigned and shall cease to be a trustee (such resignation occurring on the "Original Trustee Replacement Date").

5.8 Rules and Procedures of the Board of Trustees

(a) Initial Requirements. As soon as practicable and in any event no later than one month following the Original Trustee Replacement Date, the Board of Trustees is expected to meet to take such decisions and actions as they deem necessary to ensure the proper management and administration of the Trust. The date (and location if in person) of the initial meeting shall be determined by a majority of the Board of Trustees.

(b) Meetings. Subject to the Board of Trustees' discretion to make such rules and procedures that they may deem desirable, meetings of the Board of Trustees may be held at such time and place as the trustee members of the Board of Trustees may agree upon or as they may fix by resolution for the purpose or if the meeting is called as hereinafter mentioned then at such time as may be designated in the notice calling the meeting. A meeting of the Board of Trustees may be called at any time by any two members of the Board of Trustees by two Business Days' notice given to the members of the Board of Trustees. No notice of any Board of Trustees' meeting shall be necessary when a quorum is present if those comprising the quorum consent to the transaction of the affairs of the Trust and the absent trustee or trustees, if any, either before or after the meeting shall waive in writing notice of the meeting. Meetings of the Board of Trustees may be conducted in person, by telephone, or in such other manner as determined by the Board of Trustees. The Board of Trustees may elect a Chairperson.

(c) Quorum. At any meeting of the Board of Trustees, a majority of the voting members of the Board of Trustees shall be a quorum irrespective of the number of members in office. The decision of the majority of the voting members where quorum exists shall govern and shall be binding for all purposes and shall be acted upon and carried out in the same manner and with the same effect as if all the voted members concurred therein; provided always that in the case of equality of votes the Chairperson, if any, shall not be entitled to cast a second or deciding vote.

(d) Power to Adopt Rules and Procedures. The Board of Trustees may make such rules and procedures not inconsistent herewith as it may deem desirable for the proper management and administration of the Trust and the discharge of the responsibilities of the Board of Trustees.

(e) Replacement of Members of the Board of Trustees. The Board of Trustees shall have the power to replace any vacancy arising following the Original Trustee Replacement Date according to such rules and procedures as they deem appropriate subject to compliance with the Selection Factors specified in Trustee Replacement Annex and having regard for such considerations necessary to ensure that the composition of the Board of Trustees will be able to discharge its responsibilities in respect of the Declaration. If necessary, the Board of Trustees may fill any vacancy by application to the Courts of Ontario in the event of an unfilled vacancy.

(f) Decisions of the Board of Trustees. Decisions and actions of the Board of Trustees shall be made by voting, with each individual voting member having one vote. Subject to quorum requirements, a majority vote shall be determinative in respect of such decisions and actions. Subject to quorum requirements, any decision or action taken by the majority of voting members will represent the decision or action of the Trustee, and not any member of the Board of Trustees.

(g) Conflicts of Interest. With respect to any matter before the Board of Trustees, to the extent of a conflict of interest, whether actual, perceived or potential, involving a member of the Board of Trustees' personal interests and a matter concerning the Trust, such member shall abstain from voting on the matter or taking any other discretionary action on the matter. For the purposes of the foregoing, no member of the Board of Trustees shall be deemed to have a conflict by reason only that the member holds any office or position with an Electricity Distributor, social services agency or governmental or quasi-governmental agency or entity (such as the Independent Electricity System Operator); provided, however, that in relation to any decision of the Board of Trustees pertaining specifically to a particular Electricity Distributor, any member of the Board of Trustees who is a director, officer or employee of the Electricity Distributor would be expected to recuse himself or herself from participating in deliberations, discussions or voting in respect of such decision.

(h) Expense Reimbursements to Members of the Board of Trustees. Members of the Board of Trustees shall be entitled to reimbursement for and in respect of their out-of-pocket expenses reasonably incurred in discharging their duties and obligations as members of the Board of Trustees. Members of the Board of Trustees shall serve without compensation.

5.9 Confidentiality

Notwithstanding the resignation or removal and discharge from the trusts and powers reposed in and conferred on the Trustee by this Declaration, or the termination of this Declaration, the Trustee so resigning or removed shall continue to treat as confidential all information relating to the Trust, the Assets and the Beneficiaries and shall only be entitled to make disclosures concerning such information if disclosure is required in the performance of the functions of the resigning or removed Trustee or is ordered by a court of competent jurisdiction or is otherwise required by law. The Trustee shall not be responsible or liable to any Person for any loss or damage arising out of or in any way sustained or incurred in any way relating to any such required disclosure. The obligations arising under this section 5.9 shall survive the termination of the Trust.

5.10 Vesting in Successor Trustee

Any successor trustee (including any reconstituted Board of Trustees) shall automatically become vested with the Assets and with the same powers, rights, duties, responsibilities and trusts as if it, he or she had originally been named as Trustee under this Declaration, without the requirement of any further instrument or act or conveyance, and the Trustee ceasing to act shall execute all such transfers and other documents and do all such other acts or things as may be necessary or desirable to assign, transfer, deliver to, and vest in, the successor trustee, upon the trusts expressed in this Declaration, all the Assets and all the rights, powers and trusts of the Trustee ceasing to act. The expense of any act, document, deed or other instrument or thing required under this Section 5.10, including for greater certainty, outstanding fees and unreimbursed expenses of the Trustee (including any member of the Board of Trustees) ceasing to act, shall be satisfied from the Assets.

5.11 Execution of Instruments

The Trustee shall have the power to execute all deeds, transfers, agreements, promissory notes and other instruments on behalf of the Trust. Such power may be exercised by any one or more Administrative Services Agents acting in accordance with any delegated right to do so pursuant to an applicable Administrative Services Agreement or by any one or more Implementation Agents acting in accordance with any delegated right to do so pursuant to an applicable Implementation Agreement, and any such execution of instrument by an Administrative Services Agent, acting in such capacity as agent of the Trust pursuant to the terms and conditions of an Administrative Services Agreement or by an Implementation Agent acting in such capacity as agent of the Trust pursuant to the terms and conditions of an Implementation Agreement shall in each case be deemed to be a proper execution of such instrument by the Trustee and shall be binding for all purposes on the Trust.

5.12 Decisions by the Trustee

If there is more than one Trustee, decisions of the Trust may be made by a majority of Trustees eligible to vote on the applicable matter. Whenever the Trustees are unable to agree in relation to the commission or omission of any act or howsoever in the execution of the Trust, the decision of a majority of such Trustees shall prevail.

SECTION 6
AMENDMENTS AND SUPPLEMENTS

6.1 Amendments

Subject to the requirements of the Transfer Payment Agreement, the Trustee shall have the power in its sole and absolute discretion from time to time without the approval of any Beneficiary or any court to amend, vary, supplement, replace or restate this Declaration in its entirety or any portion thereof; provided, however that it is expected that any amendment shall be consistent with the intent of the principles set forth in the Principles Annex and with the intended scope and effect of the permitted delegations and activities of any Implementation Agent pursuant to the Permitted Delegations Annex. Without in any way limiting the foregoing, any such amendments, variations, supplements, replacements or restatements may:

(a) add provisions for the replacement of or appointment of additional trustees to act with the Original Trustee prior to the Original Trustee Replacement Date;

(b) in the case of the Original Trustee, add provisions to those contemplated in the Trustee Replacement Annex in respect of the appointment of the members and the formation and empowerment of the Board of Trustees;

(c) in the case of the Original Trustee, vary the terms and requirements applicable to the duties, responsibilities, obligations, liabilities, indemnities, protections, limitations, restrictions, compensation, expense reimbursements and such other matters, in each case as the Advisory Committee may indicate are necessary to be made in order to attract and receive confirmation of appointment of appropriately qualified individuals that the Advisory Committee specifies are to be appointed as members of the Board of Trustees in accordance with its recommendations;

(d) add additional or replace existing Trustees;

(e) add to or reasonably clarify the principles set forth in the Principles Annex;

(f) add to or reasonably clarify the delegations and activities contemplated to be made in the Permitted Delegation Annex;

(g) include provisions for the management of the Trust by the Trustees, including the making of rules, requirements and procedures governing the decision-making of the Board of Trustees;

(h) add provisions for the replacement of members of the Board of Trustees (in addition to those provisions contemplated in section 5.7 and the Trustee Replacement Annex);

(i) provide for the engagement of any Person or Persons as managers, administrators or other service providers to the Trust, including any additional or replacement Administrative Services Agent or Implementation Agent or representative thereof;

(j) specify supplemental procedures for the identification of Primary Beneficiaries and the exchange of information with Electricity Distributors in connection with identifying such Primary Beneficiaries; or

(k) specify procedures for the transfer and transmission of funds from the Trust or any Implementation Agent acting on its behalf and with delegated responsibility over funds constituting Assets, to or for the benefit of, Beneficiaries or their designated representatives, payees or assignees.

6.2 Supplemental Declarations

The Trustee is authorized to execute any supplemental declaration of trust (including one or more amendments and restatements from time to time of this Declaration) to give effect to amendments to this Declaration made pursuant to section 6.1.

SECTION 7
TERMINATION

7.1 Duration

Subject to sections 7.2 and 7.3, the Trust will continue in full force and effect so long as there are any Assets and until all of the debts, liabilities and obligations of the Trust have been paid and satisfied in full.

7.2 Termination and Distribution of Assets

The Trustee shall terminate the Trust and wind up its affairs as soon as practicable after the Final Distribution Date. In connection with the termination of the Trust, the Trustee shall identify the Residual Beneficiaries and distribute or cause to be distributed the remaining Assets, in cash or in kind or partly in each, to the Residual Beneficiaries, in each case in accordance with section 3.3. Despite the foregoing, the Trust will only be terminated and wound up after the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, determines that all debts, liabilities and obligations of the Trust have been paid or otherwise adequately provided for and satisfied and upon receipt of such releases, indemnities and discharges as the Trustee, relying on the opinion of counsel, deems necessary for the protection of the Beneficiaries and for its own protection.

7.3 Distribution of Assets on Final Distribution Date

If the Trust holds Assets on the Final Distribution Date, the Trustee shall pay or provide reserves for the payment, and otherwise shall satisfy, all debts, liabilities and obligations of the Trust and shall provide or arrange to provide such investigations, audits, releases, indemnities and discharges as the Trustee, relying on the opinion of counsel, deems necessary for the protection of the Beneficiaries and for its own protection. Thereafter, any remaining Assets shall be paid to the Residual Beneficiaries in accordance with section 3.3.

The Trustee shall have regard to, but shall not be specifically bound by, the following principles in applying its discretion in relation to the administration of the Trust:

1. Identification of Primary Beneficiary Payees

1.1 Except in exceptional circumstances, a Primary Beneficiary would not be expected to receive a benefit from the Trust unless at the time of consideration it satisfies, in addition to the requirements contemplated in the definition of "Primary Beneficiary", each of the following criteria (the "Selection Factors"):

(i) it has a participant agreement with an applicable Electricity Distributor to undertake measures (its "Energy Plan") to improve the electricity efficiency and/or promote the conservation of electricity at its Ontario residence;

(ii) its Energy Plan involves one or more Eligible Measures, as may be designated by the Trustee from time to time from;

(iii) it confirms that:

1. the primary purpose of its Energy Plan is the conservation and efficient use by the Primary Beneficiary of electricity, and is not for the purposes of the Primary Beneficiary making a profit;

2. it would otherwise not have the financial resources to undertake the Eligible Measures included in its Energy Plan; and

3. it would otherwise not be eligible to receive amounts in respect of the Eligible Measures as a HAP Eligible Person;

(iv) it has demonstrated a need for financial assistance on the basis that its periodic electricity bills represent a financial burden, relative to its available financial resources; and

(v) such other criteria as the Trustee may determine, including based on the recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable Implementation Agreement.

1.2 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, an efficient basis upon which to allocate funds to the Primary Beneficiaries across different areas and regions within Ontario may be based on the areas and regions serviced by the Electricity Distributors operating within Ontario.

1.3 It would not be contrary to the Purposes if funds are made available by the Trustee to the Primary Beneficiaries unequally across different areas and regions within Ontario, and it is expected that in making such an unequal division it would be appropriate to have regard to:

(i) broad economic parameters of economic activity and the specific financial resources of the residents of the areas and regions, in each case as an indication of the relative need of such residents across the areas and regions;

(ii) electricity use and efficiency levels of residential electricity customers across the areas and regions;

(iii) specific regional indicators of economic weakness and need; and

(iv) such other factors as the Trustee may determine are relevant, including based on the submissions, advice and recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable Implementation Agreement.

1.4 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the designated Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides would be expected to:

(i) be a reliable source for the purpose of assessing and confirming whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors;

(ii) be an efficient intermediary for the purpose of communicating with the Primary Beneficiary, including with respect to matters such as regarding the availability, terms, conditions and intended purposes of Program;

(iii) be able to facilitate an efficient payment of distribution determined to be made to or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary, having regard to the Electricity Distributor's established practices, procedures and systems for dealing with its customers; and

(iv) have established contractual arrangements with the Primary Beneficiary that may apply to the protection and confidentiality of information provided by or respecting the Primary Beneficiary, which information may be useful in the consideration by the Electricity Distributor in its assessment of whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors, which information may not otherwise be available or readily accessible or verifiable by the Trustee.

1.5 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides will have market and utilization information that may be useful in assessing the relative needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its area or region. Such information is expected to be relevant in assessing the extent to which one such Primary Beneficiary's financial needs and the merits of its Energy Plan are greater or more compelling than those of another such Primary Beneficiary, which comparison may be relevant to the extent that the funds allocable to the Primary Beneficiaries resident in the area or region are otherwise insufficient to meet the requests for funding by all such Primary Beneficiaries.

1.6 Accordingly, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it is consistent with the Purpose that the recommendations of Electricity Distributors be utilized and relied upon by the Trustee to guide the process of identifying particular Primary Beneficiaries in making distributions to the Primary Beneficiaries.

1.7 If an Electricity Distributor for a particular area or region is unable or unwilling to assess or confirm the application of the Selection Factors to Primary Beneficiaries residing in the area or region or to make recommendations in relation to such matters, one or more of the following may provide a suitable alternative source of information and for information gathering, assessment and confirmation purposes in relation to such area or region:

(i) other Electricity Distributors operating in adjacent or other areas or regions in Ontario;

(ii) the Ontario Energy Board;

(iii) the Independent Electricity System Operator; and

(iv) anyone else having relevant expertise and access to information regarding the electricity market of the Province, in each case as may be considered relevant by the Trustee.

1.8 To the extent that privacy law or other legal requirements limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or making available specific information respecting the application of the Selection Factors to a particular Primary Beneficiary or group of Primary Beneficiaries, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it may be appropriate to redact or make generic affected information regarding such Primary Beneficiary in connection with the identification and confirmation of a Primary Beneficiary's eligibility and participation in the Program. If such limitations or restrictions would limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or confirming the name of a particular Primary Beneficiary to the Trustee, then it should be sufficient that such information may be obtained or disseminated on a confidential basis if and when required by the Trustee for the proper administration of the Trust and on that basis such impediments should not disqualify a Primary Beneficiary from participating in the benefits of the Program, provided that the confidential record-keeping of the Electricity Distributor would be available in connection with the application of any applicable legal process predicated on the identification of such Primary Beneficiary for the purposes of substantiating its rights as a Primary Beneficiary of the Trust or as to the validity or subsistence of the Trust.

2. Eligible Measures

2.1 It is expected that the Trust will identify eligible measures that, taking into consideration the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, have regard to the following (the "Measures Factors"):

(i) is the measure generally expected to result in reduced electricity consumption by a Primary Beneficiary if properly installed and used;

(ii) is the measure recognized under another Provincial program as being appropriate for achieving electricity conservation among a population analogous to the Primary Beneficiaries;

(iii) does the measure present any unacceptable health or safety considerations, either with respect to the Primary Beneficiary, a party providing or installing the measure, or the physical environment;

(iv) is the measure broadly available to residents across different areas and regions of the Province; or

(v) is the measure a requirement or precursor to another measure, the other measure being one which meets any of the other Measures Factors.

2.2 In identifying and applying the Measures Factors, Electricity Distributors would be expected to have expertise in assessing the suitability of efficiency and conservation measures in their respective areas and regions, which may differ across areas and regions across the Province based on factors (among other things) such as the climate, geography, density, electricity infrastructure, residential structures, and electricity use rates applicable within such areas or regions.

2.3 The measures specified in Schedule A to this Principles Annex may initially be considered to be consistent with the Measures Factors (subject to change as contemplated under the Permitted Delegations Annex).

3. Promotion of the Program

3.1 It is expected that the Trustee will undertake or engage others to undertake diligent efforts to promote the availability, terms and benefits of the Program to Primary Beneficiaries, including by establishing consistent communications through the Electricity Distributors.

3.2 It is expected that the Trustee will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the establishment and the funding for the Program, including in any external communications to or marketing directed at the Electricity Distributors and the Primary and Residual Beneficiaries. In the Trustee's delegation of any duties or powers to the Electricity Distributors through Implementation Agreements it is expected that Electricity Distributors will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the program including in any communications or marketing to Primary Beneficiaries.

4. Conduct of the Trust and the Program

4.1 It is expected that administrative expenses of the Board of Trustees and its members, including any expenses relating to the Trust, to the establishment of the Trust and any expenses related to the implementation and operation of the Program, including by or through Electricity Distributors and other relevant entities, will be recognized and subject to reimbursement on a basis that is substantially consistent with the accountability principles set out in Schedule B to this Principles Annex.

4.2 The Trustee is expected to conduct its activities in a manner that complies in all material respects with the Transfer Payment Agreement, including to:

(i) act prudently and in furtherance of the Purpose;

(ii) report not less frequently than annually the results of its activities for information purposes to the Province in connection with the Program;

(iii) comply with the Province's request for any independent verification or audit if determined to be necessary or appropriate by the Province;

(iv) return Assets that have not been distributed if it is determined that the Trustee has breached its Standard of Care in discharging its material duties under the Declaration, and has not cured such material breach despite having been given a reasonable opportunity by the Province to do so in light of the circumstances of such material breach, with the result that all or a significant part of the Assets have not been or are not being applied and distributed in furtherance of the Purpose or are being applied and distributed in a manner that is directly contrary or without regard to the Purpose.

4.3 Electricity Distributors are not intended to directly profit from distributions of funds made from the Trust, although it is recognized that the objectives of electricity efficiency and conservation of Primary Beneficiaries located in the service area or region of an Electricity Distributor, and the cost savings and improved credit worthiness of such Primary Beneficiaries, may be financially beneficial to the Electricity Distributor.

4.4 Distributions from the Trust are intended to allow receiving Primary Beneficiaries to undertake Eligible Measures at no or minimal personal cost.

4.5 Without in any way limiting the discretion of the Board of Trustees to extend the period during which the benefits of the Program may be available to the Primary Beneficiaries, up to and including the Final Distribution Date, it is expected that the Trust Assets would be distributed to Primary Beneficiaries during the period from the Original Trustee Replacement Date to April 30, 2019.

PERMITTED DELEGATION ANNEX

1. Under section 4.2(g) of the Declaration, the Trustee has the power to: (a) appoint, employ or retain Implementation Agents for the purpose of discharging its duties and obligations under the Declaration; and (b) enter into, perform, enforce and amend Implementation Agreements.

2. In accordance with section 4.2(g) of the Declaration, consistent with the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, the Trustee or its agent will seek to enter into one or more Implementation Agreements with individual Electricity Distributors under which the Electricity Distributors will act as Implementation Agents to the Trustee. In this manner, the Trustee will delegate certain of its powers and duties to the Electricity Distributors.

3. Under section 5.1 of the Declaration, to the extent the Trustee has delegated any of its duties or powers, it shall be deemed to have satisfied the Standard of Care in respect of the subject matter of such delegation, subject to the Trustee's overall duty to exercise prudent oversight thereof. The Trustee is entitled to rely on an Electricity Distributor to discharge the duties delegated to it, as Implementation Agent, pursuant to an Implementation Agreement as described in this Annex.

4. Accordingly, and without limiting the Trustee's right to delegate under the Declaration and its other rights, powers and discretion as Trustee, the Trustee will be permitted to, and is expected to seek to, enter into Implementation Agreements with Electricity Distributors in order to further the Purpose. Without limiting the Trustee's discretion to negotiate and settle the terms and conditions of such Implementation Agreements, it is expected that such Implementation Agreements will include customary terms and conditions for arrangements of this type and, in addition, would (subject to the acceptance and agreement of the applicable Electricity Distributor counterparty) address the following points in particular:

    a. Identification of Applicable Primary Beneficiary Payees and Determination of Individual Distribution Amounts

        i. Each Electricity Distributor would make an initial assessment of the financial needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its designated service area or region, having regard to the Selection Factors set forth in section 1.3 of the Principles Annex, together with applicable economic data, in order to prepare and provide to the Trustee an estimate of the number of Primary Beneficiaries who the Electricity Distributor reasonably expects would satisfy the Selection Factors.

        ii. Each Electricity Distributor would make an initial assessment of the measures it would recommend be included as Eligible Measures, having regard to the Measures Factors set forth in section 2.1 of the Principles Annex, in order to prepare and provide to the Trustee an estimate of the average cost per Primary Beneficiary Payee (as defined below) of such Eligible Measures that the Electricity Distributor reasonably expects would apply in respect of Primary Beneficiaries resident in its service area or region.

        iii. Based on the product of (i) and (ii), above, and such other considerations as it considers to be directly relevant, each Electricity Distributor would make a written recommendation to the Trustee regarding the aggregate funding amount that the Electricity Distributor anticipates would be utilized under the Program by the Primary Beneficiaries resident in its service area or region (the "Local Funding Estimate"). Such recommendation would be accompanied, when submitted to the Trustee, by a detailed explanation regarding the assumptions, financial parameters, suitability considerations and other information underlying the Local Funding Estimate (including the type of information contemplated by the Selections Factors and the Measures Factors) which would be relied upon by the Trustee in its assessment regarding the allocation of available funding to or for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiaries across the specified areas and regions of Ontario.

iv. The Trustee would inform the Electricity Distributor regarding the aggregate of the amount determined by the Trustee to be made available under the Program for Primary Beneficiaries in the Electricity Distributor's designated service area or region (for each Electricity Distributor, its "Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation") and as to any maximum amount that may be paid to or for the benefit of any single Primary Beneficiary located in the service area or region of the Electricity Distributor (the "Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount"). The Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation and Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount may vary between areas and regions, among the Primary Beneficiaries within such areas and regions, and may be increased by the Trustee from time to time in its discretion.

v. Each Electricity Distributor would apply the principles set forth under "Identification of Primary Beneficiary Payees" in the Principles Annex to identify and make recommendations to the Trustee regarding the amount of funds (if any) to be distributed to or for the benefit of Primary Beneficiaries resident within its service area or region from time to time (the "Primary Beneficiary Payees").

vi. Each Electricity Distributor would ensure that the aggregate of the amounts it recommends be distributed to or for the benefit of Primary Beneficiary Payees from time to time does not exceed (1) its Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation and (2) for any single Primary Beneficiary located in the service area or region of the Electricity Distributor, the lesser of (x) the applicable Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount and (y) the estimated costs (including any applicable taxes, but excluding any amount payable to the Electricity Distributor by or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary) to be incurred by or on behalf of such Primary Beneficiary (whether or not such costs have been paid or remain outstanding) in respect of Eligible Measures applied or to be applied in respect of the Primary Beneficiary's Ontario residence.

vii. The Trustee would provide written confirmation to each Electricity Distributor:

1. Either (x) that the recommendations specified of the Electricity Distributor in clause (v), above, have been accepted, or (y) as to the specific reasons for any non-acceptance; and

2. The amount of the distributions to be paid to or for the benefit of each Primary Beneficiary Payee that is resident in the Electricity Distributor's service area or region.

viii. With respect to each Primary Beneficiary resident in a Electricity Distributor's service area or region that is confirmed as a Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Electricity Distributor would provide the Trustee written confirmation as to:

1. The identity of such Primary Beneficiary Payee; and

2. The amount of the distribution paid to or for the benefit of such Primary Beneficiary Payee.

ix. If the amount of a distribution to be made to a Primary Beneficiary Payee is based on the estimated costs to be incurred by or on behalf of such Primary Beneficiary and, prior to making the distribution to the Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Electricity Distributor determines that the actual costs (including any applicable taxes but excluding any amount payable to the Electricity Distributor by or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary) incurred or to be incurred by or on behalf of such Primary Beneficiary in respect of Eligible Measures applied or to be applied in respect of the Primary Beneficiary's Ontario residence has or would be less than such estimated costs, then the amount to be distributed to the Primary Beneficiary shall be based on such actual costs.

b. Making of Distributions to Primary Beneficiaries

i. It is expected that promptly after the Trustee confirms the identity of a Primary Beneficiary Payee resident in an Electricity Distributor's service area or region and the amount of the distribution to be paid to or for the benefit of such Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Trustee would arrange for payment to or on the direction of the Electricity Distributor of an amount equal to the amount of such distribution.

ii. It is expected that promptly upon receipt of funds in respect of a distribution to be made to a Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Electricity Distributor would arrange for payment of the full amount of such distribution to or for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payee (including by direct payment to a third party of, or as a reimbursement or rebate of, the costs of applicable Eligible Measures installed at the residence of and for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payee), without reduction or set-off by the Electricity Distributor.

iii. If the amount paid to an Electricity Distributor in respect of a distribution to be made to a Primary Beneficiary exceeds the actual amount of the distribution made to or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary, it is expected that the Trustee would require Electricity Distributor to return such excess to the Trustee, whereupon the proceeds of such returned amount shall continue to form part of the Assets.

c. Establishment of Operational, Administrative, Record-Keeping and Other Systems and Policies by Electricity Distributors to facilitate the Program

i. It is expected that the Electricity Distributor would establish such operational, administrative, record-keeping and other systems and policies as are necessary to facilitate the Program and perform its duties under the Implementation Agreement, including systems or policies to: identify Primary Beneficiary Payees; comply with applicable privacy and regulatory laws; communicate with Primary Beneficiaries on behalf of the Trust; assess Eligible Measures; determine the Local Funding Estimate; monitor its recommendations to the Trustee against its Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation and the Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount; receive funds from the Trust in respect of distributions to the Primary Beneficiary Payees and transfer such funds to the appropriate recipients for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payees; preparation and timely delivery to Primary Beneficiary Payees of such documents as are required by the Income Tax Act (Canada); and create and maintain records in respect of the foregoing.

ii. The Electricity Distributor would set up a separate bank account for the purpose of receiving funds from the Trust in respect of distributions to the Primary Beneficiary Payees and the transfer of such funds to the appropriate recipients for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payees.

d. Reporting, Record-Keeping, Inspection and Disclosure and Compliance Matters

i. The Electricity Distributor would provide record-keeping, clerical and bookkeeping services relating to all matters relating to its recommendations and the performance of its other duties and obligations under its Implementation Agreement.

ii. The Electricity Distributor would keep and maintain all financial records and non-financial documents and records relating to the provision of services under its Implementation Agreement.

iii. The Electricity Distributor would provide to the Trustee quarterly and annual reports ("Reports") for the duration of its Implementation Agreement. Such Reports would set out, among other things, the amounts of the distributions paid to or for the benefit of applicable Primary Beneficiary Payees, the average distribution amount per such Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Eligible Measures for which distributions have been made, and the uptake of energy efficiency measures.

iv. The Electricity Distributor would agree to provide to the Trustee such information as is necessary for the Trustee to (v) comply with applicable law;

(w) prepare financial statements for the Trust; (x) prepare and submit such documents as are required under the Income Tax Act (Canada); (y) comply with the Trust's applicable obligations under the Transfer Payment Agreement; and (z) such other matters as the Trustee reasonably requests.

v. The Trustee, its authorized representatives or an independent auditor would be permitted to, at its own expense, on twenty-four hours' notice to the Electricity Distributor and during normal business hours, inspect the records of and information respecting the Electricity Distributor to confirm its compliance with the Implementation Agreement, including regarding its processes for recommending the Primary Beneficiary Payees and their respective distribution amounts and regarding the delivery of Trust funds on behalf of the Trustee to or for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payees.

e. Standard of Care

i. The Electricity Distributor would be required to agree to perform its duties provided under the Implementation Agreement exercising the degree of care, diligence and skill that a reasonably prudent Person would exercise in comparable circumstances.

ii. In performing its duties under the Implementation Agreement (including the recommending of Primary Beneficiary Payees to the Trustee), the Electricity Distributor would be required to agree to seek to avoid actual, potential or perceived conflicts of interest.

iii. The Electricity Distributor would be required to agree that it would not, in performing its obligations under the Implementation Agreement, take any action which it knows or ought reasonably to know would cause the Trustee or the Trust to be in violation of any law, rule or regulation applicable to it.

f. Expenses

The Electricity Distributor would be eligible to receive reasonable compensation and reimbursement of its actual out-of-pocket costs associated with the performance of its duties and obligations under the Implementation Agreement, subject to adherence with the accountability principles set out in Schedule B to the Principles Annex. Such compensation amounts and reimbursement entitlements would be specified in the Implementation Agreement.

g. Representations

The Electricity Distributor would make customary representations to the Trust regarding, among other things, its legal capacity; authorization; non-contravention of law or material contract to which it is a party; and the enforceability of the Implementation Agreement.

h. Indemnification

The Electricity Distributor would be required to agree to provide customary indemnities to the Trust and the Trustee from and against claims, damages and liabilities which the Trust or Trustee may suffer or incur as the result of any breach of the Implementation Agreement by the Electricity Distributor or its representatives.

- Total Affordability Fund interest earned and accrued to date.

As part of an Annual Report, the Recipient would also provide the Province with an audited financial statement for the previous year.

ANNEX A

Principles

Except as otherwise defined herein, capitalized terms used in this Annex A shall have the respective meanings given to such terms in the Declaration of Trust.

The Trustee shall have regard to, but shall not be specifically bound by, the following principles in applying its discretion in relation to the administration of the Trust:

1. Identification of Primary Beneficiary Payees

1.1 Except in exceptional circumstances, a Primary Beneficiary would not be expected to receive a benefit from the Trust unless at the time of consideration it satisfies, in addition to the requirements contemplated in the definition of "Primary Beneficiary", each of the following criteria (the "Selection Factors"):

(i) it has a participant agreement with an applicable Electricity Distributor to undertake measures (its "Energy Plan") to improve the electricity efficiency and/or promote the conservation of electricity at its Ontario residence;

(ii) its Energy Plan involves one or more Eligible Measures, as may be designated by the Trustee from time to time from;

(iii) it confirms that:

1. the primary purpose of its Energy Plan is the conservation and efficient use by the Primary Beneficiary of electricity, and is not for the purposes of the Primary Beneficiary making a profit;

2. it would otherwise not have the financial resources to undertake the Eligible Measures included in its Energy Plan; and

3. it would otherwise not be eligible to receive amounts in respect of the Eligible Measures as a HAP Eligible Person;

(iv) it has demonstrated a need for financial assistance on the basis that its periodic electricity bills represent a financial burden, relative to its available financial resources; and

(v) such other criteria as the Trustee may determine, including based on the recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable Implementation Agreement.

1.2 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, an efficient basis upon which to allocate funds to the Primary Beneficiaries across different areas and regions within Ontario may be based on the areas and regions serviced by the Electricity Distributors operating within Ontario.

1.3 It would not be contrary to the Purposes if funds are made available by the Trustee to the Primary Beneficiaries unequally across different areas and regions within Ontario, and it is expected that in making such an unequal division it would be appropriate to have regard to:

(i) broad economic parameters of economic activity and the specific financial resources of the residents of the areas and regions, in each case as an indication of the relative need of such residents across the areas and regions;

(ii) electricity use and efficiency levels of residential electricity customers across the areas and regions;

(iii) specific regional indicators of economic weakness and need; and

(iv) such other factors as the Trustee may determine are relevant, including based on the submissions, advice and recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable Implementation Agreement.

1.4 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the designated Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides would be expected to:

(i) be a reliable source for the purpose of assessing and confirming whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors;

(ii) be an efficient intermediary for the purpose of communicating with the Primary Beneficiary, including with respect to matters such as regarding the availability, terms, conditions and intended purposes of Program;

(iii) be able to facilitate an efficient payment of distribution determined to be made to or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary, having regard to the Electricity Distributor's established practices, procedures and systems for dealing with its customers; and

(iv) have established contractual arrangements with the Primary Beneficiary that may apply to the protection and confidentiality of information provided by or respecting the Primary Beneficiary, which information may be useful in the consideration by the Electricity Distributor in its assessment of whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors, which information may not otherwise be available or readily accessible or verifiable by the Trustee.

1.5 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides will have market and utilization information that may be useful in assessing the relative needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its area or region. Such information is expected to be relevant in assessing the extent to which one such Primary Beneficiary's financial needs and the merits of its Energy Plan are greater or more compelling than those of another such Primary Beneficiary, which comparison may be relevant to the extent that the funds allocable to the Primary Beneficiaries resident in the area or region are otherwise insufficient to meet the requests for funding by all such Primary Beneficiaries.

1.7 If an Electricity Distributor for a particular area or region is unable or unwilling to assess or confirm the application of the Selection Factors to Primary Beneficiaries residing in the area or region or to make recommendations in relation to such matters, one or more of the following may provide a suitable alternative source of information and for information gathering, assessment and confirmation purposes in relation to such area or region:

(i) other Electricity Distributors operating in adjacent or other areas or regions in Ontario;

(ii) the Ontario Energy Board;

(iii) the Independent Electricity System Operator; and

(iv) anyone else having relevant expertise and access to information regarding the electricity market of the Province, in each case as may be considered relevant by the Trustee.

1.8 To the extent that privacy law or other legal requirements limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or making available specific information respecting the application of the Selection Factors to a particular Primary Beneficiary or group of Primary Beneficiaries, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it may be appropriate to redact or make generic affected information regarding such Primary Beneficiary in connection with the identification and confirmation of a Primary Beneficiary's eligibility and participation in the Program. If such limitations or restrictions would limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or confirming the name of a particular Primary Beneficiary to the Trustee, then it should be sufficient that such information may be obtained or disseminated on a confidential basis if and when required by the Trustee for the proper administration of the Trust and on that basis such impediments should not disqualify a Primary Beneficiary from participating in the benefits of the Program, provided that the confidential record-keeping of the Electricity Distributor would be available in connection with the application of any applicable legal process predicated on the identification of such Primary Beneficiary for the purposes of substantiating its rights as a Primary Beneficiary of the Trust or as to the validity or subsistence of the Trust.

2. Eligible Measures

2.1 It is expected that the Trust will identify eligible measures that, taking into consideration the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, have regard to the following (the "Measures Factors"):

(i) is the measure generally expected to result in reduced electricity consumption by a Primary Beneficiary if properly installed and used;

(ii) is the measure recognized under another Provincial program as being appropriate for achieving electricity conservation among a population analogous to the Primary Beneficiaries;

(iii) does the measure present any unacceptable health or safety considerations, either with respect to the Primary Beneficiary, a party providing or installing the measure, or the physical environment;

(iv) is the measure broadly available to residents across different areas and regions of the Province; or

(v) is the measure a requirement or precursor to another measure, the other measure being one which meets any of the other Measures Factors.

2.2 In identifying and applying the Measures Factors, Electricity Distributors would be expected to have expertise in assessing the suitability of efficiency and conservation measures in their respective areas and regions, which may differ across areas and regions across the Province based on factors (among other things) such as the climate, geography, density, electricity infrastructure, residential structures, and electricity use rates applicable within such areas or regions.

2.3 The measures specified in Schedule A to this Principles Annex may initially be considered to be consistent with the Measures Factors (subject to change as contemplated under the Permitted Delegations Annex).

3. Promotion of the Program

3.1 It is expected that the Trustee will undertake or engage others to undertake diligent efforts to promote the availability, terms and benefits of the Program to Primary Beneficiaries, including by establishing consistent communications through the Electricity Distributors.

3.2 It is expected that the Trustee will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the establishment and the funding for the Program, including in any external communications to or marketing directed at the Electricity Distributors and the Primary and Residual Beneficiaries. In the Trustee's delegation of any duties or powers to the Electricity Distributors through Implementation Agreements it is expected that Electricity Distributors will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the program including in any communications or marketing to Primary Beneficiaries.

4. Conduct of the Trust and the Program

4.1 It is expected that administrative expenses of the Board of Trustees and its members, including any expenses relating to the Trust, to the establishment of the Trust and any expenses related to the implementation and operation of the Program, including by or through Electricity Distributors and other relevant entities, will be recognized and subject to reimbursement on a basis that is substantially consistent with the accountability principles set out in Schedule B to this Principles Annex.

4.2 The Trustee is expected to conduct its activities in a manner that complies in all material respects with the Transfer Payment Agreement, including to:

(i) act prudently and in furtherance of the Purpose;

(ii) report not less frequently than annually the results of its activities for information purposes to the Province in connection with the Program;

(iii) comply with the Province's request for any independent verification or audit if determined to be necessary or appropriate by the Province;

(iv) return Assets that have not been distributed if it is determined that the Trustee has breached its Standard of Care in discharging its material duties under the Declaration, and has not cured such material breach despite having been given a reasonable opportunity by the Province to do so in light of the circumstances of such material breach, with the result that all or a significant part of the Assets have not been or are not being applied and distributed in furtherance of the Purpose or are being applied and distributed in a manner that is directly contrary or without regard to the Purpose.

4.3 Electricity Distributors are not intended to directly profit from distributions of funds made from the Trust, although it is recognized that the objectives of electricity efficiency and conservation of Primary Beneficiaries located in the service area or region of an Electricity Distributor, and the cost savings and improved credit worthiness of such Primary Beneficiaries, may be financially beneficial to the Electricity Distributor.

4.4 Distributions from the Trust are intended to allow receiving Primary Beneficiaries to undertake Eligible Measures at no or minimal personal cost.

4.5 Without in any way limiting the discretion of the Board of Trustees to extend the period during which the benefits of the Program may be available to the Primary Beneficiaries, up to and including the Final Distribution Date, it is expected that the Trust Assets would be distributed to Primary Beneficiaries during the period from the Original Trustee Replacement Date to April 30, 2019.

In consideration of the services provided by the Administrative Services Agent hereunder, for and after the period commencing on the Original Trustee Replacement Date, the Trust shall pay to the Administrative Services Agent regular and periodic fees, the amounts and terms of payment of which shall be agreed upon by the parties from time to time and in any event, not less frequently than annually. Such fees shall be paid within 90 days after the last day of each quarter of each fiscal year of the Trust, unless otherwise agreed by the Administrative Services Agent.

7.2 Expenses

The Trust is responsible for and there shall be paid out of the Assets, in addition to the fees payable under Section 7.1, all expenses reasonably incurred by the Administrative Services Agent as agent for the Trust, for or on behalf of the Trust, including, but not limited to, taxes (other than taxes on the Administrative Services Agent's capital or net income and taxes payable by the Administrative Services Agent either in respect of any supply of property or services by any person to the Administrative Services Agent or any taxes in respect of persons who are employees of the Administrative Services Agent), registry and transfer agency services, audit, accounting, tax advice and legal fees, custodial and safekeeping fees, expenses and fees relating to the opening and operation of accounts and other bank services and the expenses incurred in the preparation, printing and distribution of financial reports, and other reports required to comply with the laws relating to the Trust and the Trust Contracts and all other expenses properly payable by the Trust. In performing its duties under the Administrative Services Agreement, the Administrative Services Agent shall seek to avoid actual, potential or perceived conflicts of interest. The Administrative Services Agent shall not, in performing its obligations under the Administrative Services Agreement, take any action which it knows or ought reasonably to know would cause the Trustee or the Trust to be in violation of any law, rule or regulation applicable to it.

SECTION 9
INDEMNIFICATION AND LIABILITY OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES AGENT

9.1 Indemnity

The Trust hereby indemnifies and saves harmless the Administrative Services Agent out of the Assets from and against all claims, costs, charges, expenses and liabilities whatsoever (including legal costs on a solicitor and his own client basis), brought, commenced, prosecuted against, sustained by, imposed on, incurred by or assessed against the Administrative Services Agent or any Person employed or engaged by it as permitted under this Agreement for or in respect of any act, deed, matter or thing whatsoever made, done, acquiesced in or omitted to be done in connection with the activities of the Trust and the performance of the services and duties of the Administrative Services Agent under this Agreement.

9.2 Exclusion of Liability

Notwithstanding any other provision in this Agreement other than Section 9.3, the Administrative Services Agent assumes no liability for anything other than to render the services it agrees to provide under this Agreement and neither the Administrative Services Agent nor any of its directors, officers, employees or affiliates shall be responsible for any action of the Trust. The Administrative Services Agent shall not be liable to the Trust or to any Beneficiary or creditor of the Trust for any loss, damage, cost, expense or other liability whatsoever relating to any matter regarding the Trust, or for any loss, damage, cost, expense or other liability whatsoever caused to the Trust through the insufficiency or deficiency of any security in or upon which any of the Assets shall be expended or invested, or for any loss, damage, cost, expense or other liability whatsoever arising from the bankruptcy, insolvency or tortious act of any Person with whom any Assets shall be lodged or deposited, or for any loss resulting from the diminution in value of Eligible Investments, or for any loss, damage, cost, expense or other liability whatsoever occasioned by any act or omission under this Agreement or error in judgment or oversight on the part of the Administrative Services Agent, its directors, officers, employees and agents or for any other loss, damage, cost, expense or other liability whatsoever which may happen in the performance by the Administrative Services Agent of its services and duties under this Agreement.

9.3 Liability for Gross Negligence

(1) Notwithstanding the provisions of Sections 9.1 and 9.2, the Administrative Services Agent shall indemnify and hold harmless the Trust against any claim, loss or expense which the Trust may incur that results from a failure by the Administrative Services Agent to perform its duties and obligations hereunder in compliance with Section 8.1 or the gross negligence or wilful misconduct of the Administrative Services Agent in performing or failing to perform its obligations hereunder. It is, however, expressly understood that the Administrative Services Agent is not agreeing to indemnify or hold the Trust harmless with respect to:

(a) any liabilities resulting from the failure of the Trustee to satisfy the standard of care set out in the Declaration of Trust unless such failure arises directly as a result of a failure by the Administrative Services Agent to perform its obligations hereunder in compliance with Section 8.1 hereunder;

(b) any claim arising out of the assessment of any tax on income or franchise tax by a taxing authority against the Trust;

(c) any liability of the Trust accruing after the termination of this Agreement unless attributable to the actions or omissions of the Administrative Services Agent prior to such termination; or

(d) any claim, loss, expense or other liability representing any amount which the Trust has returned to the Province pursuant to the provisions of the Transfer Payment Agreement for any reason whatsoever.

(2) The Administrative Services Agent shall have the exclusive right to compromise or defend, through counsel selected and retained by the Administrative Services Agent, any such liabilities or related claims at its own expense, which decision shall be binding upon the Trust provided that in compromising or defending any such liabilities or related claims, the Administrative Services Agent will ensure that any settlement agreed to by it will not, without the prior written consent of the Trustee, include any admission of liability on the part of the Trustee in its personal capacity.

9.4 Reliance on Advisers

The Administrative Services Agent shall be entitled to rely and act, and shall be fully protected in relying and acting, upon (1) any statement, electronic communication, writing, notice, resolution, report, opinion or other document or conversation believed by it to be genuine and correct and to have been signed, sent or made by the proper Person; and (2) any advice received from auditors, lawyers, or other professional advisers of the Administrative Services Agent and shall not be responsible or held liable for any loss or damage resulting from so relying thereon.

SECTION 10

This Agreement shall continue in full force and effect until December 31, 2022 unless terminated in accordance with the provisions of this Agreement.

10.2 Termination

10.3 Delivery of Records

Upon termination of this Agreement, the Administrative Services Agent shall forthwith deliver to the Trust all records, documents and books of account, and all materials and supplies for which the Administrative Services Agent has been paid by the Trust, which are in the possession or control of the Administrative Services Agent and relate directly or indirectly to the performance by the Administrative Services Agent of its obligations under this Agreement provided, however, that the Administrative Services Agent may retain notarial or other copies of such records, documents and books of account and the Trust shall produce the originals of such records, documents and books of account whenever reasonably required to do so by the Administrative Services Agent for the purpose of legal proceedings or dealings with any governmental authorities.

11.1 Amendments and Waivers

(1) This Agreement may be amended, supplemented, modified, restated or replaced from time to time by written instrument signed by the Trustee on behalf of the Trust and the Administrative Services Agent. The Administrative Services Agent agrees to consider and give timely effect to any reasonable modifications proposed by the Board of Trustees so long as the Administrative Services Agent, in its discretion and acting reasonably, believes that such modifications would not be prejudicial to its interests.

It is, however, expressly understood that the Administrative Services Agent is not agreeing to indemnify or hold the Trust harmless with respect to:

(c) any liability of the Trust accruing after the termination of this Agreement unless attributable to the actions or omissions of the Administrative Services Agent prior to such termination; or

(2) The Administrative Services Agent shall have the exclusive right to compromise or defend, through counsel selected and retained by the Administrative Services Agent, any such liabilities or related claims at its own expense, which decision shall be binding upon the Trust provided that in compromising or defending any such liabilities or related claims, the Administrative Services Agent will ensure that any settlement agreed to by it will not, without the prior written consent of the Trustee, include any admission of liability on the part of the Trustee in its personal capacity.

9.4 Reliance on Advisers

The Administrative Services Agent shall be entitled to rely and act, and shall be fully protected in relying and acting, upon (1) any statement, electronic communication, writing, notice, resolution, report, opinion or other document or conversation believed by it to be genuine and correct and to have been signed, sent or made by the proper Person; and (2) any advice received from auditors, lawyers, or other professional advisers of the Administrative Services Agent and shall not be responsible or held liable for any loss or damage resulting from so relying thereon.

In performing its duties and exercising its powers under this Declaration, the Trustee shall act honestly, in good faith and with a view to the best interests of the Trust and the Beneficiaries and shall exercise that degree of care, diligence and skill that a reasonably prudent trustee would exercise in comparable circumstances (the "Standard of Care"). The Trustee shall observe and act in accordance with the terms of, and shall observe and comply with the limitations and restrictions set forth in, this Declaration, including having due regard to the principles set forth in the Principles Annex. To the extent that the Trustee has so delegated any of its duties or powers, it shall be deemed to have satisfied the Standard of Care in respect of the subject matter of such delegation, subject to the Trustee's overall duty as a trustee to exercise prudent oversight in relation to such delegation. Unless required by law, the Trustee will not be required to give any security, bonds or sureties in any jurisdiction for the performance of any of its duties and obligations under this Declaration. The Trustee (including the individual members of the Board of Trustees) will not be required to devote its entire time to the trust activities.

5.2 Limitation of Liability

The Trustee shall not be personally liable in tort, contract or otherwise to any Beneficiary or any other Person for any loss or diminution in the value of the Assets, or for any action or failure to act on the part of the Trustee or any of its employees or agents or any other Person, and shall not be subject to any personal liability for any debts, liabilities, obligations, claims, demands, judgments, costs, charges or expenses incurred by or against the Trust, howsoever arising, and resort will be had solely to the Assets for the payment, performance or satisfaction thereof. No property or assets of the Trustee, owned in its personal capacity or otherwise, will be subject to levy, execution or other enforcement procedures with respect to any obligation under this Declaration. However, the foregoing limitations in this Section shall not apply where the Trustee has demonstrated gross negligence, bad faith, fraud or wilful misconduct.

5.3 Liability of Trustee under Contracts

Any document or instrument creating a liability or obligation of the Trust or of the Trustee will be conclusively deemed to have been executed by the Trustee only in its capacity as Trustee of the Trust and will be binding upon the Trustee only in its capacity as trustee hereunder and resort may not be had to, nor recourse or satisfaction be sought from, the property of the Trustee other than the Assets, whether owned by its in its personal capacity or in any other capacity other than in its capacity as Trustee of the Trust, or from its employees or agents, and in all cases resort will be had solely to the Assets for the payment, performance or satisfaction of any such liability or obligation. However, the foregoing limitations in this Section shall not apply where the Trustee has demonstrated gross negligence, bad faith, fraud or wilful misconduct. Each document or instrument creating a liability or obligation of the Trust or of the Trustee shall contain a provision providing for the aforesaid limitation of liability.

5.4 Funds of the Trustee

The Trustee shall not be required to expend or risk its own funds or otherwise incur financial liability in the performance of any of its duties hereunder, or in the exercise of any of its rights or powers.

5.5 Indemnification of Trustee

In addition to and without limiting any other protection hereunder or otherwise by law of the Trustee and its respective employees, agents, representatives and assigns (in this Section 5.5, collectively, the "Representatives"), the Trustee and its respective Representatives shall be indemnified, defended and saved harmless out of the Assets from, against and in respect of any and all liabilities arising or related to actions taken or omitted to be taken by any agent of the Trustee, losses, claims (including any claim arising out of the assessment of any tax on income by a taxing authority), damages, penalties, fines, actions, suits, demands, levies, assessments, costs, charges, expenses and disbursements (including, without limitation, any and all legal and advisor fees and disbursements) (in this Section 5.5, collectively, the "Liabilities") of whatever kind or nature which may at any time be suffered by, imposed upon, incurred by or asserted against the Trustee and its Representatives, whether groundless or otherwise, howsoever arising from or out of any act, omission or error of the Trustee, in each case made in connection with its acting as Trustee hereunder, in each case except and to the extent that the Liabilities are a result from or are caused by gross negligence, wilful misconduct, bad faith or fraud. Further, except as provided in section 5.2, the Trustee shall not be liable to any Beneficiary for any loss or damage relating to any matter regarding the Trust, including any loss or diminution in value of the Assets. Notwithstanding any other provision hereof, the obligations provided for in this section 5.5 shall survive any termination of the Trust, whether by reason of removal or resignation of the Trustee, termination or discharge of this Declaration or otherwise.

5.6 Reliance upon Advice

Subject to section 5.1, in performing its duties and exercising its powers hereunder, the Trustee may rely and may act or not act, and shall be fully protected in relying and acting or not acting, upon (a) any statement, telecopy or other electronic means of communication, writing, notice, resolution, report, opinion or other document or conversation believed by it to be genuine and correct and to have been signed, sent or made by the proper Person; (b) any opinion or advice received or information obtained from auditors, solicitors, or other professional advisers, whether retained by the Trustee or otherwise, and shall not be responsible or held liable for any loss or damage resulting from so relying or acting or not acting; and (c) the advice and actions of any

Administrative Services Agent or Implementation Agent, including in connection with the delegations and reliances contemplated under the Permitted Delegations Annex. For greater certainty, it shall not be necessary for the Trustee to ascertain whether or not the Persons who have executed, signed or otherwise issued, authenticated or receipted such papers, writings or documents (including any Administrative Services Agreement or any Implementation Agreement or any other contract entered into by the Trustee) have authority to do so or that they are the same Persons named therein or otherwise to pass upon any requirement of such papers, writing or documents that may be essential for their validity or effectiveness or upon the truth and acceptability.

5.7 Replacement of the Original Trustee

The Persons identified in the Trustee Replacement Annex are hereby appointed to comprise the Advisory Committee contemplated therein (the "Advisory Committee"). The Original Trustee shall promptly request that the Advisory Committee make recommendations with respect to the composition of the "Board of Trustees", as contemplated by the Trustee Replacement Annex. The Original Trustee shall have no duty or obligation to investigate the basis for any of the Advisory Committee's recommendations and may rely on such recommendations without any duty of enquiry, supervision or oversight with respect to the activities and decision-making processes adopted by the Advisory Committee in its discretion, in full satisfaction of the Original Trustee's Standard of Care with respect to such matters hereunder. Except where it is manifestly apparent to the Original Trustee that the individuals recommended by the Advisory Committee to become members of such Board of Trustees are disqualified from so acting on the basis of manifest non-compliance with the "Selection Factors" set forth in the Trustee Replacement Annex, the Original Trustee shall appoint, as members of the Board of Trustees, the six (five voting and one non-voting) individuals recommended for appointment to the Board of Trustees by the Advisory Committee. If the Original Trustee declines to appoint any individual recommended by the Advisory Committee, the Original Trustee will promptly request that the Advisory Committee provide a further recommendation whom the Original Trustee shall appoint as a member of the Board of Trustees unless it is manifestly apparent to the Original Trustee that the individual so recommended is also disqualified from so acting on the basis of manifest non-compliance with the "Selection Factors" set forth in the Trustee Replacement Annex,. Upon the appointment of such six individuals pursuant to this provision and their agreement to act as members of the Board of Trustees, the Original Trustee shall be deemed to have resigned and shall cease to be a trustee (such resignation occurring on the "Original Trustee Replacement Date").

5.8 Rules and Procedures of the Board of Trustees

(a) Initial Requirements. As soon as practicable and in any event no later than one month following the Original Trustee Replacement Date, the Board of Trustees id expected to meet to take such decisions and actions as they deem necessary to ensure the proper management and administration of the Trust. The date (and location if in person) of the initial meeting shall be determined by a majority of the Board of Trustees.

(b) Meetings. Subject to the Board of Trustees' discretion to make such rules and procedures that they may deem desirable, meetings of the Board of Trustees may be held at such time and place as the trustee members of the Board of Trustees may agree upon or as they may fix by resolution for the purpose or if the meeting is called as hereinafter mentioned then at such time as may be designated in the notice calling the meeting. A meeting of the Board of Trustees may be called at any time by any two members of the Board of Trustees by two Business Days' notice given to the members of the Board of Trustees. No notice of any Board of Trustees' meeting shall be necessary when a quorum is present if those comprising the quorum consent to the transaction of the affairs of the Trust and the absent trustee or trustees, if any, either before or after the meeting shall waive in writing notice of the meeting. Meetings of the Board of Trustees may be conducted in person, by telephone, or in such other manner as determined by the Board of Trustees. The Board of Trustees may elect a Chairperson.

(c) Quorum. At any meeting of the Board of Trustees, a majority of the voting members of the Board of Trustees shall be a quorum irrespective of the number of members in office. The decision of the majority of the voting members where quorum exists shall govern and shall be binding for all purposes and shall be acted upon and carried out in the same manner and with the same effect as if all the voted members concurred therein; provided always that in the case of equality of votes the Chairperson, if any, shall not be entitled to cast a second or deciding vote.

(d) Power to Adopt Rules and Procedures. The Board of Trustees may make such rules and procedures not inconsistent herewith as it may deem desirable for the proper management and administration of the Trust and the discharge of the responsibilities of the Board of Trustees.

(e) Replacement of Members of the Board of Trustees. The Board of Trustees shall have the power to replace any vacancy arising following the Original Trustee Replacement Date according to such rules and procedures as they deem appropriate subject to compliance with the Selection Factors specified in Trustee Replacement Annex and having regard for such considerations necessary to ensure that the composition of the Board of Trustees will be able to discharge its responsibilities in respect of the Declaration. If necessary, the Board of Trustees may fill any vacancy by application to the Courts of Ontario in the event of an unfilled vacancy.

(f) Decisions of the Board of Trustees. Decisions and actions of the Board of Trustees shall be made by voting, with each individual voting member having one vote. Subject to quorum requirements, a majority vote shall be determinative in respect of such decisions and actions. Subject to quorum requirements, any decision or action taken by the majority of voting members will represent the decision or action of the Trustee, and not any member of the Board of Trustees.

(g) Conflicts of Interest. With respect to any matter before the Board of Trustees, to the extent of a conflict of interest, whether actual, perceived or potential, involving a member of the Board of Trustees' personal interests and a matter concerning the Trust, such member shall abstain from voting on the matter or taking any other discretionary action on the matter. For the purposes of the foregoing, no member of the Board of Trustees shall be deemed to have a conflict by reason only that the member holds any office or position with an Electricity Distributor, social services agency or governmental or quasi-governmental agency or entity (such as the Independent Electricity System Operator); provided, however, that in relation to any decision of the Board of Trustees pertaining specifically to a particular Electricity Distributor, any member of the Board of Trustees who is a director, officer or employee of the Electricity Distributor would be expected to recuse himself or herself from participating in deliberations, discussions or voting in respect of such decision.

(h) Expense Reimbursements to Members of the Board of Trustees. Members of the Board of Trustees shall be entitled to reimbursement for and in respect of their out-of-pocket expenses reasonably incurred in discharging their duties and obligations as members of the Board of Trustees. Members of the Board of Trustees shall serve without compensation.

5.9 Confidentiality

Notwithstanding the resignation or removal and discharge from the trusts and powers reposed in and conferred on the Trustee by this Declaration, or the termination of this Declaration, the Trustee so resigning or removed shall continue to treat as confidential all information relating to the Trust, the Assets and the Beneficiaries and shall only be entitled to make disclosures concerning such information if disclosure is required in the performance of the functions of the resigning or removed Trustee or is ordered by a court of competent jurisdiction or is otherwise required by law. The Trustee shall not be responsible or liable to any Person for any loss or damage arising out of or in any way sustained or incurred in any way relating to any such required disclosure. The obligations arising under this section 5.9 shall survive the termination of the Trust.

5.10 Vesting in Successor Trustee

Any successor trustee (including any reconstituted Board of Trustees) shall automatically become vested with the Assets and with the same powers, rights, duties, responsibilities and trusts as if it, he or she had originally been named as Trustee under this Declaration, without the requirement of any further instrument or act or conveyance, and the Trustee ceasing to act shall execute all such transfers and other documents and do all such other acts or things as may be necessary or desirable to assign, transfer, deliver to, and vest in, the successor trustee, upon the trusts expressed in this Declaration, all the Assets and all the rights, powers and trusts of the Trustee ceasing to act. The expense of any act, document, deed or other instrument or thing required under this Section 5.10, including for greater certainty, outstanding fees and unreimbursed expenses of the Trustee (including any member of the Board of Trustees) ceasing to act, shall be satisfied from the Assets.

5.11 Execution of Instruments

The Trustee shall have the power to execute all deeds, transfers, agreements, promissory notes and other instruments on behalf of the Trust. Such power may be exercised by any one or more Administrative Services Agents acting in accordance with any delegated right to do so pursuant to an applicable Administrative Services Agreement or by any one or more Implementation Agents acting in accordance with any delegated right to do so pursuant to an applicable Implementation Agreement, and any such execution of instrument by an Administrative Services Agent, acting in such capacity as agent of the Trust pursuant to the terms and conditions of an Administrative Services Agreement or by an Implementation Agent acting in such capacity as agent of the Trust pursuant to the terms and conditions of an Implementation Agreement shall in each case be deemed to be a proper execution of such instrument by the Trustee and shall be binding for all purposes on the Trust.

5.12 Decisions by the Trustee

If there is more than one Trustee, decisions of the Trust may be made by a majority of Trustees eligible to vote on the applicable matter. Whenever the Trustees are unable to agree in relation to the commission or omission of any act or howsoever in the execution of the Trust, the decision of a majority of such Trustees shall prevail.

SECTION 6
AMENDMENTS AND SUPPLEMENTS

6.1 Amendments

Subject to the requirements of the Transfer Payment Agreement, the Trustee shall have the power in its sole and absolute discretion from time to time without the approval of any Beneficiary or any court to amend, vary, supplement, replace or restate this Declaration in its entirety or any portion thereof; provided, however that it is expected that any amendment shall be consistent with the principles set forth in the Principles Annex and with the scope and effect of the permitted delegations and activities of any Implementation Agent pursuant to the Permitted Delegations Annex. Without in any way limiting the foregoing, any such amendments, variations, supplements, replacements or restatements may:

(a) add provisions for the replacement of or appointment of additional trustees to act with the Original Trustee prior to the Original Trustee Replacement Date;

PRINCIPLES ANNEX

The Trustee shall have regard to, but shall not be specifically bound by, the following principles in applying its discretion in relation to the administration of the Trust:

1. Identification of Primary Beneficiary Payees

1.1 Except in exceptional circumstances, a Primary Beneficiary would not be expected to receive a benefit from the Trust unless at the time of consideration it satisfies, in addition to the requirements contemplated in the definition of "Primary Beneficiary", each of the following criteria (the "Selection Factors"):

(i) it has a participant agreement with an applicable Electricity Distributor to undertake measures (its "Energy Plan") to improve the electricity efficiency and/or promote the conservation of electricity at its Ontario residence;

(ii) its Energy Plan involves one or more Eligible Measures, as may be designated by the Trustee from time to time from;

(iii) it confirms that:

1. the primary purpose of its Energy Plan is the conservation and efficient use by the Primary Beneficiary of electricity, and is not for the purposes of the Primary Beneficiary making a profit;

2. it would otherwise not have the financial resources to undertake the Eligible Measures included in its Energy Plan; and

3. it would otherwise not be eligible to receive amounts in respect of the Eligible Measures as a HAP Eligible Person;

(iv) it has demonstrated a need for financial assistance on the basis that its periodic electricity bills represent a financial burden, relative to its available financial resources; and

(v) such other criteria as the Trustee may determine, including based on the recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable Implementation Agreement.

1.2 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, an efficient basis upon which to allocate funds to the Primary Beneficiaries across different areas and regions within Ontario may be based on the areas and regions serviced by the Electricity Distributors operating within Ontario.

1.3 It would not be contrary to the Purposes if funds are made available by the Trustee to the Primary Beneficiaries unequally across different areas and regions within Ontario, and it is expected that in making such an unequal division it would be appropriate to have regard to:

(i) broad economic parameters of economic activity and the specific financial resources of the residents of the areas and regions, in each case as an indication of the relative need of such residents across the areas and regions;

(ii) electricity use and efficiency levels of residential electricity customers across the areas and regions;

(iii) specific regional indicators of economic weakness and need; and

(iv) such other factors as the Trustee may determine are relevant, including based on the submissions, advice and recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable implementation Agreement.

1.4 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the designated Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides would be expected to:

(i) be a reliable source for the purpose of assessing and confirming whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors;

(ii) be an efficient intermediary for the purpose of communicating with the Primary Beneficiary, including with respect to matters such as regarding the availability, terms, conditions and intended purposes of Program;

(iii) be able to facilitate an efficient payment of distribution determined to be made to or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary, having regard to the Electricity Distributor's established practices, procedures and systems for dealing with its customers; and

(iv) have established contractual arrangements with the Primary Beneficiary that may apply to the protection and confidentiality of information provided by or respecting the Primary Beneficiary, which information may be useful in the consideration by the Electricity Distributor in its assessment of whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors, which information may not otherwise be available or readily accessible or verifiable by the Trustee.

1.5 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides will have market and utilization information that may be useful in assessing the relative needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its area or region. Such information is expected to be relevant in assessing the extent to which one such Primary Beneficiary's financial needs and the merits of its Energy Plan are greater or more compelling than those of another such Primary Beneficiary, which comparison may be relevant to the extent that the funds allocable to the Primary Beneficiaries resident in the area or region are otherwise insufficient to meet the requests for funding by all such Primary Beneficiaries.

1.6 Accordingly, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it is consistent with the Purpose that the recommendations of Electricity Distributors be utilized and relied upon by the Trustee to guide the process of identifying particular Primary Beneficiaries in making distributions to the Primary Beneficiaries.

1.7 If an Electricity Distributor for a particular area or region is unable or unwilling to assess or confirm the application of the Selection Factors to Primary Beneficiaries residing in the area or region or to make recommendations in relation to such matters, one or more of the following may provide a suitable alternative source of information and for information gathering, assessment and confirmation purposes in relation to such area or region:

(i) other Electricity Distributors operating in adjacent or other areas or regions in Ontario;

(ii) the Ontario Energy Board;

(iii) the Independent Electricity System Operator; and

(iv) anyone else having relevant expertise and access to information regarding the electricity market of the Province, in each case as may be considered relevant by the Trustee.

1.8 To the extent that privacy law or other legal requirements limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or making available specific information respecting the application of the Selection Factors to a particular Primary Beneficiary or group of Primary Beneficiaries, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it may be appropriate to redact or make generic affected information regarding such Primary Beneficiary in connection with the identification and confirmation of a Primary Beneficiary's eligibility and participation in the Program. If such limitations or restrictions would limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or confirming the name of a particular Primary Beneficiary to the Trustee, then it should be sufficient that such information may be obtained or disseminated on a confidential basis if and when required by the Trustee for the proper administration of the Trust and on that basis such impediments should not disqualify a Primary Beneficiary from participating in the benefits of the Program, provided that the confidential record-keeping of the Electricity Distributor would be available in connection with the application of any applicable legal process predicated on the identification of such Primary Beneficiary for the purposes of substantiating its rights as a Primary Beneficiary of the Trust or as to the validity or subsistence of the Trust.

2. Eligible Measures

2.1 It is expected that the Trust will identify eligible measures that, taking into consideration the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, have regard to the following (the "Measures Factors"):

(i) is the measure generally expected to result in reduced electricity consumption by a Primary Beneficiary if properly installed and used;

(ii) is the measure recognized under another Provincial program as being appropriate for achieving electricity conservation among a population analogous to the Primary Beneficiaries;

(iii) does the measure present any unacceptable health or safety considerations, either with respect to the Primary Beneficiary, a party providing or installing the measure, or the physical environment;

(iv) is the measure broadly available to residents across different areas and regions of the Province; or

(v) is the measure a requirement or precursor to another measure, the other measure being one which meets any of the other Measures Factors.

2.2 In identifying and applying the Measures Factors, Electricity Distributors would be expected to have expertise in assessing the suitability of efficiency and conservation measures in their respective areas and regions, which may differ across areas and regions across the Province based on factors (among other things) such as the climate, geography, density, electricity infrastructure, residential structures, and electricity use rates applicable within such areas or regions.

2.3 The measures specified in Schedule A to this Principles Annex may initially be considered to be consistent with the Measures Factors (subject to change as contemplated under the Permitted Delegations Annex).

3. Promotion of the Program

3.1 It is expected that the Trustee will undertake or engage others to undertake diligent efforts to promote the availability, terms and benefits of the Program to Primary and Residual Beneficiaries, including by establishing consistent communications through the Electricity Distributors.

3.2 It is expected that the Trustee will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the establishment and the funding for the Program, including in any external communications to or marketing directed at the Electricity Distributors and the Primary and Residual Beneficiaries. In its delegation of any duties or powers to the Electricity Distributors through Implementation Agreements it is expected that Electricity Distributors will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the program including in any communications or marketing to Primary Beneficiaries.

4. Conduct of the Trust and the Program

4.1 It is expected that administrative expenses of the Board of Trustees and its members, including any expenses relating to the Trust, to the establishment of the Trust and any expenses related to the implementation and operation of the Program, including by or through Electricity Distributors and other relevant entities, will be recognized and subject to reimbursement on a basis that is substantially consistent with the accountability provisions contemplated in the Transfer Payment Agreement and the principles in the Province's Travel, Meal and Hospitality Expenses Directive, the current form of which attached as Schedule B to this Principles Annex.

4.2 The Trustee is expected to conduct its activities in a manner that complies in all material respects with the Transfer Payment Agreement, including to:

(i) act prudently and in furtherance of the Purpose;

(ii) report not less frequently than annually the results of its activities for information purposes to the Province in connection with the Program;

(iii) comply with the Province's request for any independent verification or audit if determined to be necessary or appropriate by the Province;

(iv) return Assets that have not been distributed if it is determined that the Trustee has breached its Standard of Care in discharging its material duties under the Declaration, and has not cured such material breach despite having been given a reasonable opportunity by the Province to do so in light of the circumstances of such material breach, with the result that all or a significant part of the Assets have not been or are not being applied and distributed in furtherance of the Purpose or are being applied and distributed in a manner that is directly contrary or without regard to the Purpose.

4.3 Electricity Distributors are not intended to directly profit from distributions of funds made from the Trust, although it is recognized that the objectives of electricity efficiency and conservation of Primary Beneficiaries located in the service area or region of an Electricity Distributor, and the cost savings and improved credit worthiness of such Primary Beneficiaries, may be financially beneficial to the Electricity Distributor.

4.4 Distributions from the Trust are intended to allow receiving Primary Beneficiaries to undertake Eligible Measures at no or minimal personal cost.

4.5 Without in any way limiting the discretion of the Board of Trustees to extend the period during which the benefits of the Program may be available to the Primary Beneficiaries, up to and including the Final Distribution Date, it is expected that the Trust Assets would be distributed to Primary Beneficiaries during the period from the Original Trustee Replacement Date to April 30, 2019.

SCHEDULE B TO THE PRINCIPLES ANNEX

PERMITTED DELEGATION ANNEX

1. Under section 4.2(g) of the Declaration, the Trustee has the power to: (a) appoint, employ or retain Implementation Agents for the purpose of discharging its duties and obligations under the Declaration; and (b) enter into, perform, enforce and amend Implementation Agreements.

2. In accordance with section 4.2(g) of the Declaration, consistent with the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, the Trustee or its agent will seek to enter into one or more Implementation Agreements with individual Electricity Distributors under which the Electricity Distributors will act as Implementation Agents to the Trustee. In this manner, the Trustee will delegate certain of its powers and duties to the Electricity Distributors.

3. Under section 5.1 of the Declaration, to the extent the Trustee has delegated any of its duties or powers, it shall be deemed to have satisfied the Standard of Care in respect of the subject matter of such delegation, subject to the Trustee's overall duty to exercise prudent oversight thereof. The Trustee is entitled to rely on an Electricity Distributor to discharge the duties delegated to it, as Implementation Agent, pursuant to an Implementation Agreement as described in this Annex.

4. Accordingly, and without limiting the Trustee's right to delegate under the Declaration and its other rights, powers and discretion as Trustee, the Trustee will be permitted to, and is expected to seek to, enter into Implementation Agreements with Electricity Distributors in order to further the Purpose. Without limiting the Trustee's discretion to negotiate and settle the terms and conditions of such Implementation Agreements, it is expected that such Implementation Agreements will include customary terms and conditions for an administrative services arrangement of this type and, in addition, would (subject to the acceptance and agreement of the applicable Electricity Distributor counterparty) address the following points in particular:

    a. Identification of Applicable Primary Beneficiary Payees and Determination of Individual Distribution Amounts

        i. Each Electricity Distributor would make an initial assessment of the financial needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its designated service area or region, having regard to the Selection Factors set forth in section 1.3 of the Principles Annex, together with applicable economic data, in order to prepare and provide to the Trustee an estimate of the number of Primary Beneficiaries who the Electricity Distributor reasonably expects would satisfy the Selection Factors.

        ii. Each Electricity Distributor would make an initial assessment of the measures it would recommend be included as Eligible Measures, having regard to the Measures Factors set forth in section 2.1 of the Principles Annex, in order to prepare and provide to the Trustee an estimate of the average cost per Primary Beneficiary Payee (as defined below) of such Eligible Measures that the Electricity Distributor reasonably expects would apply in respect of Primary Beneficiaries resident in its service area or region.

iii. Based on the product of (i) and (ii), above, and such other considerations as it considers to be directly relevant, each Electricity Distributor would make a written recommendation to the Trustee regarding the aggregate funding amount that the Electricity Distributor anticipates would be utilized under the Program by the Primary Beneficiaries resident in its service area or region (the "Local Funding Estimate"). Such recommendation would be accompanied, when submitted to the Trustee, by a detailed explanation regarding the assumptions, financial parameters, suitability considerations and other information underlying the Local Funding Estimate (including the type of information contemplated by the Selections Factors and the Measures Factors, which would be relied upon by the Trustee in its assessment regarding the allocation of available funding to or for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiaries across the specified areas and regions of Ontario.

iv. The Trustee would inform the Electricity Distributor regarding the aggregate of the amount determined by the Trustee to be made available under the Program for Primary Beneficiaries in the Electricity Distributor's designated service area or region (for each Electricity Distributor, its "Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation") and as to any maximum amount that may be paid to or for the benefit of any single Primary Beneficiary located in the servicer area or region of the Electricity Distributor (the "Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount"). The Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation and Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount may vary between areas and regions, among the Primary Beneficiaries within such areas and regions, and may be increased by the Trustee from time to time in its discretion.

v. Each Electricity Distributor would apply the principles set forth under "Identification of Primary Beneficiary Payees" in the Principles Annex to identify and make recommendations to the Trustee regarding the amount of funds (if any) to be distributed to or for the benefit of Primary Beneficiaries resident within its service area or region from time to time (the "Primary Beneficiary Payees").

vi. Each Electricity Distributor would ensure that the aggregate of the amounts it recommends be distributed to or for the benefit of Primary Beneficiary Payees from time to time does not exceed (1) its Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation and (2) for any single Primary Beneficiary located in the service area or region of the Electricity Distributor, the lesser of (x) the applicable Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount and (y) the estimated costs (including any applicable taxes, but excluding any amount payable to the Electricity Distributor by or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary) to be incurred by or on behalf of such Primary Beneficiary (whether or not such costs have been paid or remain outstanding) in respect of Eligible Measures applied or to be applied in respect of the Primary Beneficiary's Ontario residence.

vii. The Trustee would provide written confirmation to each Electricity Distributor:

1. Either (x) that the recommendations specified of the Electricity Distributor in clause (v), above, have been accepted, or (y) as to the specific reasons for any non-acceptance; and

2. The amount of the distributions to be paid to or for the benefit of each Primary Beneficiary Payee that is resident in the Electricity Distributor's service area or region.

viii. With respect to each Primary Beneficiary resident in a Electricity Distributor's service area or region that is confirmed as a Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Electricity Distributor would provide the Trustee written confirmation as to:

1. The identity of such Primary Beneficiary Payee; and

2. The amount of the distribution paid to or for the benefit of such Primary Beneficiary Payee.

ix. If the amount of a distribution to be made to a Primary Beneficiary Payee is based on the estimated costs to be incurred by or on behalf of such Primary Beneficiary and, prior to making the distribution to the Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Electricity Distributor determines that the actual costs (including any applicable taxes but excluding any amount payable to the Electricity Distributor by or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary) incurred or to be incurred by or on behalf of such Primary Beneficiary in respect of Eligible Measures applied or to be applied in respect of the Primary Beneficiary's Ontario residence has or would be less than such estimated costs, then the amount to be distributed to the Primary Beneficiary shall be based on such actual costs.

b. Making of Distributions to Primary Beneficiaries

i. It is expected that promptly after the Trustee confirms the identity of a Primary Beneficiary Payee resident in an Electricity Distributor's service area or region and the amount of the distribution to be paid to or for the benefit of such Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Trustee would arrange for payment to or on the direction of the Electricity Distributor of an amount equal to the amount of such distribution.

ii. It is expected that promptly upon receipt of funds in respect of a distribution to be made to a Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Electricity Distributor would arrange for payment of the full amount of such distribution to or for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payee (including by direct payment to a third party of, or as a reimbursement or rebate of, the costs of applicable Eligible Measures installed at the residence of and for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payee), without reduction or set-off by the Electricity Distributor.

iii. If the amount paid to an Electricity Distributor in respect of a distribution to be made to a Primary Beneficiary exceeds the actual amount of the distribution made to or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary, it is expected that the Trustee would require Electricity Distributor to return such excess to the Trustee, whereupon the proceeds of such returned amount shall continue to form part of the Assets.

c. Establishment of Operational, Administrative, Record-Keeping and Other Systems and Policies by Electricity Distributors to facilitate the Program

i. It is expected that the Electricity Distributor would establish such operational, administrative, record-keeping and other systems and policies as are necessary to facilitate the Program and perform its duties under the Implementation Agreement, including systems or policies to: identify Primary Beneficiary Payees; comply with applicable privacy and regulatory laws; communicate with Primary Beneficiaries on behalf of the Trust; assess Eligible Measures; determine the Local Funding Estimate; monitor its recommendations to the Trustee against its Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation and the Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount; receive funds from the Trust in respect of distributions to the Primary Beneficiary Payees and transfer such funds to the appropriate recipients for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payees; preparation and timely delivery to Primary Beneficiary Payees of such documents as are required by the Income Tax Act (Canada); and create and maintain records in respect of the foregoing.

ii. The Electricity Distributor would set up a separate bank account for the purpose of receiving funds from the Trust in respect of distributions to the Primary Beneficiary Payees and the transfer of such funds to the appropriate recipients for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payees.

d. Reporting, Record-Keeping, Inspection and Disclosure and Compliance Matters

i. The Electricity Distributor would provide record-keeping, clerical and bookkeeping services relating to all matters relating to its recommendations and the performance of its other duties and obligations under its Implementation Agreement.

ii. The Electricity Distributor would keep and maintain all financial records and non-financial documents and records relating to the provision of services under its Implementation Agreement.

iii. The Electricity Distributor would provide to the Trustee quarterly and annual reports ("Reports") for the duration of its Implementation Agreement. Such Reports would set out, among other things, the amounts of the distributions paid to or for the benefit of applicable Primary Beneficiary Payees, the average distribution amount per such Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Eligible Measures for which distributions have been made, and the uptake of energy efficiency measures.

iv. The Electricity Distributor would agree to provide to the Trustee such information as is necessary for the Trustee to (v) comply with applicable law;

(w) prepare financial statements for the Trust; (x) prepare and submit such documents as are required under the Income Tax Act (Canada); (y) comply with the Trust's applicable obligations under the Transfer Payment Agreement; and (z) such other matters as the Trustee reasonably requests.

v. The Trustee, its authorized representatives or an independent auditor would be permitted to, at its own expense, on twenty-four hours' notice to the Electricity Distributor and during normal business hours, inspect the records of and information respecting the Electricity Distributor to confirm its compliance with the Implementation Agreement, including regarding its processes for recommending the Primary Beneficiary Payees and their respective distribution amounts and regarding the delivery of Trust funds on behalf of the Trustee to or for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payees.

e. Standard of Care

i. The Electricity Distributor would be required to agree to perform its duties provided under the Implementation Agreement exercising the degree of care, diligence and skill that a reasonably prudent Person would exercise in comparable circumstances.

ii. In performing its duties under the Implementation Agreement (including the recommending of Primary Beneficiary Payees to the Trustee), the Electricity Distributor would be required to agree to seek to avoid actual, potential or perceived conflicts of interest.

iii. The Electricity Distributor would be required to agree that it would not, in performing its obligations under the Implementation Agreement, take any action which it knows or ought reasonably to know would cause the Trustee or the Trust to be in violation of any law, rule or regulation applicable to it.

f. Expenses

The Electricity Distributor would be eligible to receive reasonable compensation and reimbursement of its actual out-of-pocket costs associated with the performance of its duties and obligations under the Implementation Agreement, subject to compliance with requirements substantially equivalent to the Province's Travel, Meal and Hospitality Expenses Directive. Such compensation amounts and reimbursement entitlements would be specified in the Implementation Agreement.

g. Representations

The Electricity Distributor would make customary representations to the Trust regarding, among other things, its legal capacity; authorization; non-contravention of law or material contract to which it is a party; and the enforceability of the Implementation Agreement.

h. Indemnification

The Electricity Distributor would be required to agree to provide customary indemnities to the Trust and the Trustee from and against claims, damages and liabilities which the Trust or Trustee may suffer or incur as the result of any breach of the Agreement by the Electricity Distributor or its representatives.

PRINCIPLES ANNEX

The Trustee shall have regard to~~[~~, but shall not be specifically bound by,~~]~~ the following principles in applying its discretion in relation to the administration of the Trust:

1. Identification of Primary Beneficiary Payees

1.1 ~~[~~Except in exceptional circumstances,~~]~~ a Primary Beneficiary would not be expected to receive a benefit from the Trust unless at the time of consideration it satisfies, in addition to the requirements contemplated in the definition of "Primary Beneficiary", each of the following criteria (the "Selection Factors"):

(i) it has a participant agreement ~~[~~with an applicable Electricity Distributor~~]~~ to undertake measures (its "Energy Plan") to improve the electricity efficiency and/or promote the conservation of electricity at its Ontario residence;

(ii) its Energy Plan involves one or more Eligible Measures, as may be designated by the Trustee from time to time from;

(iii) it confirms that:

1. the primary purpose of its Energy Plan is the conservation and efficient use by the Primary Beneficiary of electricity, and is not for the purposes of the Primary Beneficiary making a profit;

2. it would otherwise not have the financial resources to undertake the Eligible Measures included in its Energy Plan; and

3. it would otherwise not be ~~[a HAP Eligible Person]~~[eligible to receive amounts in respect of the Eligible Measures ~~under~~as a HAP~~]~~ Eligible Person;

(iv) it has demonstrated a need for financial assistance on the basis that its periodic electricity bills represent a financial burden, relative to its available financial resources; and

(v) such other criteria as the Trustee may determine, including based on the recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreement.

1.2 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, an efficient basis upon which to allocate funds to the Primary Beneficiaries across different areas and regions within Ontario may be based on the areas and regions serviced by the Electricity Distributors operating within Ontario.

1.3 It would not be contrary to the Purposes if funds are made available by the Trustee to the Primary Beneficiaries unequally across different areas and regions within Ontario, and it is ~~expect~~expected that in making such an unequal division it would be appropriate to have regard to:

(i) broad economic parameters of economic activity and the specific financial resources of the residents of the areas and regions, in each case as an indication of the relative need of such residents across the areas and regions;

(ii) electricity use and efficiency levels of residential electricity customers across the areas and regions;

(iii) specific regional indicators of economic weakness and need; and

(iv) such other factors as the Trustee may determine are relevant, including based on the submissions, advice and recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable ~~Administrative Services~~implementation Agreement.

1.4 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the designated Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides would be expected to:

(i) be a reliable source for the purpose of assessing and confirming whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors;

(ii) be an efficient intermediary for the purpose of communicating with the Primary Beneficiary, including with respect to matters such as regarding the availability, terms, conditions and intended purposes of Program;

(iii) be able to facilitate an efficient payment of distribution determined to be made to or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary, having regard to the Electricity Distributor's established practices, procedures and systems for dealing with its customers; and

(iv) have established contractual arrangements with the Primary Beneficiary that may apply to the protection and confidentiality of information provided by or respecting the Primary Beneficiary, which information may be useful in the consideration by the Electricity Distributor in its assessment of whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors, which information may not otherwise be available or readily accessible or verifiable by the Trustee.

1.5 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides will have market and utilization information that may be useful in assessing the relative needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its area or region. Such information is expected to be relevant in assessing the extent to which one such Primary Beneficiary's financial needs and the merits of its Energy Plan are greater or more compelling than those of another such Primary Beneficiary, which comparison may be relevant to the extent that the funds allocable to the Primary Beneficiaries resident in the area or region are otherwise insufficient to meet the requests for funding by all such Primary Beneficiaries.

1.7 If an Electricity Distributor for a particular area or region is unable or unwilling to assess or confirm the application of the Selection Factors to Primary Beneficiaries residing in the area or region or to make recommendations in relation to such matters, one or more of the following may provide a suitable alternative source of information and for information gathering, assessment and confirmation purposes in relation to such area or region:

(i) other Electricity Distributors operating in adjacent or other areas or regions in Ontario;

(ii) the Ontario Energy Board;

(iii) the Independent Electricity System Operator; and

(iv) anyone else having relevant expertise and access to information regarding the electricity market of the Province, in each case as may be considered relevant by the Trustee.

1.8 To the extent that privacy law or other legal requirements limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or making available specific information respecting the application of the Selection Factors to a particular Primary Beneficiary or group of Primary Beneficiaries, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it may be appropriate to redact or make generic affected information regarding such Primary Beneficiary in connection with the identification and confirmation of a Primary Beneficiary's eligibility and participation in the Program. If such limitations or restrictions would limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or confirming the name of a particular Primary Beneficiary to the Trustee, then it should be sufficient that such information may be obtained or disseminated on a confidential basis if and when required by the Trustee for the proper administration of the Trust and on that basis such impediments should not disqualify a Primary Beneficiary from participating in the benefits of the Program, provided ~~that~~ that the confidential record-keeping of the Electricity Distributor would be available in connection with the application of any applicable legal process predicated on the identification of such Primary Beneficiary for the purposes of substantiating its rights as a Primary Beneficiary of the Trust or as to the validity or subsistence of the Trust.

2. Eligible Measures

2.1 It is expected that the Trust will identify eligible measures that, taking into consideration the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, have regard to the following (the "Measures Factors"):

(i) is the measure generally expected to result in reduced electricity consumption by a Primary Beneficiary if properly installed and used;

(ii) is the measure recognized under another Provincial program as being appropriate for achieving electricity conservation among a population analogous to the Primary Beneficiaries;

(iii) does the measure present any unacceptable health or safety considerations, either with respect to the Primary Beneficiary, a party providing or installing the measure, or the physical environment;

(iv) is the measure broadly available to residents across different areas and regions of the Province; or

(v) is the measure a requirement or precursor to another measure, the other measure being one which meets any of the other Measures Factors.

2.2 In identifying and applying the Measures Factors, Electricity Distributors would be expected to have expertise in assessing the suitability of efficiency and conservation measures in their respective areas and regions, which may differ across areas and regions across the Province based on factors (among other things) such as the climate, geography, density, electricity infrastructure, residential structures, and electricity use rates applicable within such areas or regions.

2.3 The measures specified in Schedule A to this Principles Annex may initially be considered to be consistent with the Measures Factors (subject to change as contemplated under the Permitted Delegations Annex).

3. Promotion of the Program

3.1 It is expected that the Trustee will undertake or engage others to undertake diligent efforts to promote the availability, terms and benefits of the Program to Primary and Residual Beneficiaries, including by establishing consistent communications through the ~~Electiricy~~Electricity Distributors.

3.2 It is expected that the Trustee will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the establishment and the funding for the Program, including in any external communications to or marketing directed at the Electricity Distributors and the Primary ~~Beneficiaries.~~ and Residual Beneficiaries. In its delegation of any duties or powers to the Electricity Distributors through Implementation Agreements it is expected that Electricity Distributors will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the program including in any communications or marketing to Primary Beneficiaries.

4. Conduct of the Trust and the Program

4.1 It is expected that administrative expenses of the Board of Trustees and its members, including any expenses relating to the Trust, to the establishment of the Trust and any expenses related to the implementation and operation of the Program, including by or through Electricity Distributors and other relevant entities, will be recognized and subject to reimbursement on a basis that is substantially consistent with the accountability provisions contemplated in the Transfer Payment Agreement and the principles in the Province's Travel, Meal and Hospitality Expenses Directive, the current form of which attached as Schedule B to this Principles Annex.

4.2 The Trustee is expected to conduct its activities in a manner that complies in all material respects with the Transfer Payment Agreement, including to:

(i) act prudently and in furtherance of the Purpose;

(ii) report not less frequently than annually the results of its activities for information purposes to the Province in connection with the Program;

(iii) comply with the Province's request for any independent verification or audit if determined to be necessary or appropriate by the Province;

(iv) return ~~of~~ Assets that have not been distributed if it is determined that the Trustee has breached its Standard of Care in discharging its material duties under the Declaration, and has not cured such material breach despite having been given a reasonable opportunity by the Province to do so in light of the circumstances of such material breach, with the result that all or a significant part of the Assets have not been or are not being applied and distributed in furtherance of the Purpose or are being applied and distributed in a manner that is directly contrary or without regard to the Purpose.~~]~~

4.3 Electricity Distributors are not intended to directly profit from distributions of funds made from the Trust, although it is recognized that the objectives of electricity efficiency and conservation of Primary Beneficiaries located in the service area or region of an Electricity Distributor, and the cost savings and improved credit worthiness of such Primary Beneficiaries, may be financially beneficial to the Electricity Distributor.

4.4 Distributions from the Trust are intended to allow receiving Primary Beneficiaries to undertake Eligible Measures at no or minimal personal cost.

4.5 Without in any way limiting the discretion of the Board of Trustees to extend the period during which the benefits of the Program may be available to the Primary Beneficiaries, up to and including the Final Distribution Date, it is expected that the Trust Assets would be distributed to Primary Beneficiaries during the period from the Original Trustee Replacement Date to April 30, 2019.

[NTD: Insert the Province's Travel, Meal and Hospitality Expenses Directive.]

PERMITTED DELEGATION ANNEX

1. Under section 4.2(g) of the Declaration, the Trustee has the power to: (a) appoint, employ or retain ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agents for the purpose of discharging its duties and obligations under the Declaration; and (b) enter into, perform, enforce and amend ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreements.

2. In accordance with section 4.2(g) of the Declaration, consistent with the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, the Trustee or its agent will seek to enter into one or more ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreements with individual Electricity Distributors under which the Electricity Distributors will act as ~~Administrative Service~~Implementation Agents to the Trustee. In this manner, the Trustee will delegate certain of its powers and duties to the Electricity Distributors.

3. Under section 5.1 of the Declaration, to the extent the Trustee has delegated any of its duties or powers, it shall be deemed to have satisfied the Standard of Care in respect of the subject matter of such delegation, subject to the Trustee's overall duty to exercise prudent oversight thereof. The Trustee is entitled to rely on an Electricity Distributor to discharge the duties delegated to it, as ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agent, pursuant to an ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreement as described in this Annex.

4. Accordingly, and without limiting the Trustee's right to delegate under the Declaration and its other rights, powers and discretion as Trustee, the Trustee will be permitted to, and is expected to seek to, enter into ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreements with Electricity Distributors in order to further the Purpose. Without limiting the Trustee's discretion to negotiate and settle the terms and conditions of such ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreements, it is expected that such ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreements will include customary terms and conditions for an administrative services arrangement of this type and, in addition, would (subject to the acceptance and agreement of the applicable Electricity Distributor counterparty) address the following points in particular:

    a. Identification of Applicable Primary Beneficiary Payees and Determination of Individual Distribution Amounts

        i. Each Electricity Distributor would make an initial assessment of the financial needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its designated service area or region, having regard to the Selection Factors set forth in section 1.3 of the Principles Annex, together with applicable economic data, in order to prepare and provide to the Trustee an estimate of the number of Primary Beneficiaries who the Electricity Distributor reasonably expects would satisfy the Selection Factors.

        ii. Each Electricity Distributor would make an initial assessment of the measures it would recommend be included as Eligible Measures, having regard to the Measures Factors set forth in section 2.1 of the Principles Annex, in order to prepare and provide to the Trustee an estimate of the average cost per Primary Beneficiary Payee (as defined below) of such Eligible Measures that the Electricity Distributor reasonably expects would apply in respect of Primary Beneficiaries resident in its service area or region.

iii. Based on the product of (i) and (ii), above, and such other considerations as it considers to be directly relevant, each Electricity Distributor would make a written recommendation to the Trustee regarding the aggregate funding amount that the Electricity Distributor anticipates would be utilized under the Program by the Primary Beneficiaries resident in its service area or region (the "Local Funding Estimate"). Such recommendation would be accompanied, when submitted to the Trustee, by a detailed explanation regarding the assumptions, financial parameters, suitability considerations and other information underlying the Local Funding Estimate (including the type of information contemplated by the Selections Factors and the Measures Factors, which would be relied upon by the Trustee in its assessment regarding the allocation of available funding to or for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiaries across the specified areas and regions of Ontario.

iv. The Trustee would inform the Electricity Distributor regarding the aggregate of the amount determined by the Trustee to be made available under the Program for Primary Beneficiaries in the Electricity Distributor's designated service area or region (for each Electricity Distributor, its "Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation") and as to any maximum amount that may be paid to or for the benefit of any single Primary Beneficiary ~~[or group of related Primary Beneficiaries]~~ located in the servicer area or region of the Electricity Distributor (the "Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount"). The Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation and Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount may vary between areas and regions, among the Primary Beneficiaries within such areas and regions, and may be increased by the Trustee from time to time in its discretion.

v. Each Electricity Distributor would apply the principles set forth under "Identification of Primary Beneficiary Payees" in the Principles Annex to identify and make recommendations to the Trustee regarding the amount of funds (if any) to be distributed to or for the benefit of Primary Beneficiaries resident within its service area or region from time to time (the "Primary Beneficiary Payees").

vi. Each Electricity Distributor would ensure that the aggregate of the amounts it recommends be distributed to or for the benefit of Primary Beneficiary Payees from time to time does not exceed (1) its Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation and (2) for any single Primary Beneficiary ~~[or group of related Primary Beneficiaries]~~ located in the service area or region of the Electricity Distributor, the lesser of (x) the applicable Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount and (y) the estimated costs (including any applicable taxes, but excluding any amount payable to the Electricity Distributor by or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary) to be incurred by or on behalf of such Primary Beneficiary (whether or not such costs have been paid or remain outstanding) in respect of Eligible Measures applied or to be applied in respect of the Primary Beneficiary's Ontario residence.

vii. The Trustee would provide written confirmation to each Electricity Distributor:

1. Either (x) that the recommendations specified of the Electricity Distributor in clause (v), above, have been accepted, or (y) as to the specific reasons for any non-acceptance; and

2. The amount of the distributions to be paid to or for the benefit of each Primary Beneficiary Payee that is resident in the Electricity Distributor's service area or region.

viii. With respect to each Primary Beneficiary resident in a Electricity Distributor's service area or region that is confirmed as a Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Electricity Distributor would provide the Trustee written confirmation as to:

1. The identity of such Primary Beneficiary Payee; and

2. The amount of the distribution paid to or for the benefit of such Primary Beneficiary Payee.

ix. If the amount of a distribution to be made to a Primary Beneficiary Payee is based on the estimated costs to be incurred by or on behalf of such Primary Beneficiary and, prior to making the distribution to the Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Electricity Distributor determines that the actual costs (including any applicable taxes but excluding any amount payable to the Electricity Distributor by or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary) incurred or to be incurred by or on behalf of such Primary Beneficiary in respect of Eligible Measures applied or to be applied in respect of the Primary Beneficiary's Ontario residence has or would be less than such estimated costs, then the amount to be distributed to the Primary Beneficiary shall be based on such actual costs.

b. Making of Distributions to Primary Beneficiaries

i. It is expected that promptly after the Trustee confirms the identity of a Primary Beneficiary Payee resident in an Electricity Distributor's service area or region and the amount of the distribution to be paid to or for the benefit of such Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Trustee would arrange for payment to or on the direction of the Electricity Distributor of an amount equal to the amount of such distribution.

ii. It is expected that promptly upon receipt of funds in respect of a distribution to be made to a Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Electricity Distributor would arrange for payment of the full amount of such distribution to or for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payee (including by direct payment to a third party of, or as a reimbursement or rebate of, the costs of applicable Eligible Measures installed at the residence of and for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payee), without reduction or set-off by the Electricity Distributor.

iii. If the amount paid to an Electricity Distributor in respect of a distribution to be made to a Primary Beneficiary exceeds the actual amount of the distribution made to or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary, it is expected that the Trustee would require Electricity Distributor to return such excess to the Trustee, whereupon the proceeds of such returned amount shall continue to form part of the Assets.

c. Establishment of Operational, Administrative, Record-Keeping and Other Systems and Policies by Electricity Distributors to facilitate the Program

i. It is expected that the Electricity Distributor would establish such operational, administrative, record-keeping and other systems and policies as are necessary to facilitate the Program and perform its duties under the ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreement, including systems or policies to: identify Primary Beneficiary Payees; comply with applicable privacy and regulatory laws; communicate with Primary Beneficiaries on behalf of the Trust; assess Eligible Measures; determine the Local Funding Estimate; monitor its recommendations to the Trustee against its Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation and the Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount; receive funds from the Trust in respect of distributions to the Primary Beneficiary Payees and transfer such funds to the appropriate recipients for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payees; preparation and timely delivery to Primary Beneficiary Payees of such documents as are required by the Income Tax Act (Canada); and create and maintain records in respect of the foregoing.

ii. The Electricity Distributor would set up a separate bank account for the purpose of receiving funds from the Trust in respect of distributions to the Primary Beneficiary Payees and the transfer of such funds to the appropriate recipients for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payees.

d. Reporting, Record-Keeping, Inspection and Disclosure and Compliance Matters

i. The Electricity Distributor would provide record-keeping, clerical and bookkeeping services relating to all matters relating to its recommendations and the performance of its other duties and obligations under its ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreement.

ii. The Electricity Distributor would keep and maintain all financial records and non-financial documents and records relating to the provision of services under its ~~Administrative Services Agreement. [NTD: Consider specifying any particular records regarding individual Primary Beneficiary Payees needed to ensure the proper function of the Trust or the Program]~~Implementation Agreement.

iii. The Electricity Distributor would provide to the Trustee quarterly and annual reports ("Reports") for the duration of its ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreement. Such Reports would set out, among other things, the amounts of the distributions paid to or for the benefit of applicable Primary Beneficiary Payees, the average distribution amount per such Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Eligible Measures for which distributions have been made, and the uptake of energy efficiency measures.

iv. The Electricity Distributor would agree to provide to the Trustee such information as is necessary for the Trustee to (v) comply with applicable law; (w) prepare financial statements for the Trust; (x) prepare and submit such documents as are required under the Income Tax Act (Canada); (y) comply with the Trust's applicable obligations under the Transfer Payment Agreement; and (z) such other matters as the Trustee reasonably requests.

v. The Trustee, its authorized representatives or an independent auditor would be permitted to, at its own expense, on twenty-four hours' notice to the Electricity Distributor and during normal business hours, inspect the records of and information respecting the Electricity Distributor to confirm its compliance with the ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreement, including regarding its processes for recommending the Primary Beneficiary Payees and their respective distribution amounts and regarding the delivery of Trust funds on behalf of the Trustee to or for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payees.

e. Standard of Care

i. The Electricity Distributor would be required to agree to perform its duties provided under the ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreement exercising the degree of care, diligence and skill that a reasonably prudent Person would exercise in comparable circumstances.

ii. In performing its duties under the ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreement (including the recommending of Primary Beneficiary Payees to the Trustee), the Electricity Distributor would be required to agree to seek to avoid actual, potential or perceived conflicts of interest.

iii. The Electricity Distributor would be required to agree ~~to~~ that it would not, in performing its obligations under the ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreement, take any action which it knows or ought reasonably to know would cause the Trustee or the Trust to be in violation of any law, rule or regulation applicable to it.

f. Expenses

The Electricity Distributor would be eligible to receive reasonable compensation and reimbursement of its actual out-of-pocket costs associated with the performance of its duties and obligations under the ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreement, subject to compliance with requirements substantially equivalent to the Province's

The suggestion as discussed (and I thought was agreed to)…

3.2Extension. The term of the Agreement may be extended by further agreement between the Parties.

3.3 Extension of the Declaration of Trust. ~~If the Province determines that an extension of the Declaration of Trust (beyond the "Final Distribution Date" and time for termination, each as specified or determined thereunder) is consistent with and in furtherance of the Purpose and the Province's original intentions and expectations in establishing the Project, the Province may request that the Recipient extend the Declaration of Trust to a date specified by the Province in a Notice (such date not to be later than •), whereupon the Recipient, Where the parties agree under 3.2, to an extension of the date, it is expected that so long as the Trustee does not have a reasonable basis to believe that such an extension would be inconsistent with the Purpose or weaken the protections intended for the benefit of the Trustee pursuant to the Declaration of Trust~~, If under 3.2, the parties agree that the term of the Agreement may be extended, ~~will~~ it is expected that the Trust will undertake such actions as it may consider to be necessary or appropriate to so extend the Declaration of Trust, including by amending the Declaration of Trust to provide for such an extension and to modify any other term or requirement as would be necessary or prudent to conform such term or requirement in light of such extension.

The Original Trustee shall be entitled, in its sole and absolute discretion, to withdraw funds from time to time for such purpose from any account of the Trust. Members of the Board of Trustees shall be entitled to reimbursement for and in respect of their out-of-pocket expenses reasonably incurred in discharging their respective duties and obligations under this Declaration, in each case without the approval of any Beneficiary or any court, provided that the members of the Board of Trustees have general regard to sorts of limitations as are set forth in the "Travel, Meal and Hospitality Expenses Directive of the Province" specified and amended by the Province from time to time, a copy of the current version of which is attached as Exhibit 1 to the Principles Annex.

(l) Power to Pay Taxes. The Trustee shall have the power to (i) pay, deduct, withhold or remit any taxes or assessments which are required by law to be paid, deducted, withheld or remitted together with or from any payment made by the Trustee; (ii) pay all taxes or assessments of whatever kind or nature imposed upon or against the Trust or the Trustee in connection with the Assets or any part thereof; (iii) collect and remit all taxes and assessments of whatever kind or nature required to be collected and remitted by the Trust or the Trustee in connection with their activities or the Assets or any part thereof; (iv) appeal, settle or compromise tax claims or liabilities; and (v) for the foregoing purposes, to make such returns, elections and submissions and do all such other acts and things as the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, may consider appropriate or advisable.

(o) Title to Assets. The Trustee shall have the power to cause all or any part of the Assets to be held by or registered, in its sole and absolute discretion, in the name of any Person.

(p) Delegation of Discretion. The Trustee shall have the power to delegate the right and power to exercise, or concur in the exercise of any discretion or power, conferred on the Trustee in this Declaration or conferred by law to any one or more of its directors, officers, employees, agents, representatives or to such other Person, as the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, may think is appropriate or advisable, including to one or more Administrative Services Agents under an Administrative Services Agreement and to one or more Implementation Agents and their respective employees, officers and directors under a related Implementation Agreement entered into by the Trust substantially on the basis contemplated in the Permitted Delegations Annex. In particular, the Trustee shall have the power to accept, rely on and follow the recommendations of an Electricity Distributor made under and having regard to the Permitted Delegation Annex with respect to the identification of, and the determination of distributions (if any) to be made to, any Primary Beneficiary, except if and in so far as the Trustee has actual knowledge that (1) such Primary Beneficiary did not in fact satisfy the "Selection Factors" specified in the Principles Annex as of the applicable time of determination; and/or (ii) the amount recommended to be distributed to the Primary Beneficiary was not calculated in substantial compliance with, or was calculated in a manner that is manifestly contrary to the requirements set forth or contemplated in, the Permitted Delegation Annex or the applicable Implementation Agreement.

(q) Additional Powers. The Trustee shall have the power to perform and do all such other acts, to take such steps and to execute all such deeds, transfers, assignments, agreements and other documents and instruments as the Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, may consider appropriate or advisable for the carrying out of any of its powers hereunder or of any of the activities of the Trust as herein contemplated, or for the carrying out, promotion or advancement of the interests of the Trust, whether or not any of such acts, things, documents or instruments are herein expressly mentioned. Any good faith determination by the Trustee as to what is necessary, desirable or appropriate to carry out its powers or activities of the Trust as contemplated under this Declaration or to carry out, promote or advance the interests of the Trust shall be conclusive. Any construction of this Declaration or any determination as to the activities of the Trust or the existence of any power or authority hereunder made in good faith by the Trustee, relying upon the advice of counsel, shall be conclusive. In construing the provisions of this Declaration, there shall be a presumption in favour of a grant of power to the Trustee.

CONCERNING THE TRUSTEE

5.1 Duty of Trustee

In performing its duties and exercising its powers under this Declaration, the Trustee shall act honestly, in good faith and with a view to the best interests of the Trust and the Beneficiaries and shall exercise that degree of care, diligence and skill that a reasonably prudent trustee would exercise in comparable circumstances (the "Standard of Care"). The Trustee shall observe and act in accordance with the terms of, and shall observe and comply with the limitations and restrictions set forth in, this Declaration, including having due regard to the principles set forth in the Principles Annex. To the extent that the Trustee has so delegated any of its duties or powers, it shall be deemed to have satisfied the Standard of Care in respect of the subject matter of such delegation, subject to the Trustee's overall duty as a trustee to exercise prudent oversight in relation to such delegation. Unless required by law, the Trustee will not be required to give any security, bonds or sureties in any jurisdiction for the performance of any of its duties and obligations under this Declaration. The Trustee (including the individual members of the Board of Trustees) will not be required to devote its entire time to the trust activities.

5.2 Limitation of Liability

The Trustee shall not be personally liable in tort, contract or otherwise to any Beneficiary or any other Person for any loss or diminution in the value of the Assets, or for any action or failure to act on the part of the Trustee or any of its employees or agents or any other Person, and shall not be subject to any personal liability for any debts, liabilities, obligations, claims, demands, judgments, costs, charges or expenses incurred by or against the Trust, howsoever arising, and resort will be had solely to the Assets for the payment, performance or satisfaction thereof. No property or assets of the Trustee, owned in its personal capacity or otherwise, will be subject to levy, execution or other enforcement procedures with respect to any obligation under this Declaration. However, the foregoing limitations in this Section shall not apply where the Trustee has demonstrated gross negligence, bad faith, fraud or wilful misconduct.

5.3 Liability of Trustee under Contracts

Any document or instrument creating a liability or obligation of the Trust or of the Trustee will be conclusively deemed to have been executed by the Trustee only in its capacity as Trustee of the Trust and will be binding upon the Trustee only in its capacity as trustee hereunder and resort may not be had to, nor recourse or satisfaction be sought from, the property of the Trustee other than the Assets, whether owned by its in its personal capacity or in any other capacity other than in its capacity as Trustee of the Trust, or from its employees or agents, and in all cases resort will be had solely to the Assets for the payment, performance or satisfaction of any such liability or obligation. However, the foregoing limitations in this Section shall not apply where the Trustee has demonstrated gross negligence, bad faith, fraud or wilful misconduct. Each document or instrument creating a liability or obligation of the Trust or of the Trustee shall contain a provision providing for the aforesaid limitation of liability.

5.4 Funds of the Trustee

The Trustee shall not be required to expend or risk its own funds or otherwise incur financial liability in the performance of any of its duties hereunder, or in the exercise of any of its rights or powers.

5.5 Indemnification of Trustee

In addition to and without limiting any other protection hereunder or otherwise by law of the Trustee and its respective employees, agents, representatives and assigns (in this Section 5.5, collectively, the "Representatives"), the Trustee and its respective Representatives shall be indemnified, defended and saved harmless out of the Assets from, against and in respect of any and all liabilities arising or related to actions taken or omitted to be taken by any agent of the Trustee, losses, claims (including any claim arising out of the assessment of any tax on income by a taxing authority), damages, penalties, fines, actions, suits, demands, levies, assessments, costs, charges, expenses and disbursements (including, without limitation, any and all legal and advisor fees and disbursements) (in this Section 5.5, collectively, the "Liabilities") of whatever kind or nature which may at any time be suffered by, imposed upon, incurred by or asserted against the Trustee and its Representatives, whether groundless or otherwise, howsoever arising from or out of any act, omission or error of the Trustee, in each case made in connection with its acting as Trustee hereunder, in each case except and to the extent that the Liabilities are a result from or are caused by gross negligence, wilful misconduct, bad faith or fraud. Further, except as provided in section 5.2, the Trustee shall not be liable to any Beneficiary for any loss or damage relating to any matter regarding the Trust, including any loss or diminution in value of the Assets. Notwithstanding any other provision hereof, the obligations provided for in this section 5.5 shall survive any termination of the Trust, whether by reason of removal or resignation of the Trustee, termination or discharge of this Declaration or otherwise.

5.6 Reliance upon Advice

Subject to section 5.1, in performing its duties and exercising its powers hereunder, the Trustee may rely and may act or not act, and shall be fully protected in relying and acting or not acting, upon (a) any statement, telecopy or other electronic means of communication, writing, notice, resolution, report, opinion or other document or conversation believed by it to be genuine and correct and to have been signed, sent or made by the proper Person; (b) any opinion or advice received or information obtained from auditors, solicitors, or other professional advisers, whether retained by the Trustee or otherwise, and shall not be responsible or held liable for any loss or damage resulting from so relying or acting or not acting; and (c) the advice and actions of any

Administrative Services Agent or Implementation Agent, including in connection with the delegations and reliances contemplated under the Permitted Delegations Annex. For greater certainty, it shall not be necessary for the Trustee to ascertain whether or not the Persons who have executed, signed or otherwise issued, authenticated or receipted such papers, writings or documents (including any Administrative Services Agreement or any Implementation Agreement or any other contract entered into by the Trustee) have authority to do so or that they are the same Persons named therein or otherwise to pass upon any requirement of such papers, writing or documents that may be essential for their validity or effectiveness or upon the truth and acceptability.

5.7 Replacement of the Original Trustee

The Persons identified in the Trustee Replacement Annex are hereby appointed to comprise the Advisory Committee contemplated therein (the "Advisory Committee"). The Original Trustee shall promptly request that the Advisory Committee make recommendations with respect to the composition of the "Board of Trustees", as contemplated by the Trustee Replacement Annex. The Original Trustee shall have no duty or obligation to investigate the basis for any of the Advisory Committee's recommendations and may rely on such recommendations without any duty of enquiry, supervision or oversight with respect to the activities and decision-making processes adopted by the Advisory Committee in its discretion, in full satisfaction of the Original Trustee's Standard of Care with respect to such matters hereunder. Except where it is manifestly apparent to the Original Trustee that the individuals recommended by the Advisory Committee to become members of such Board of Trustees are disqualified from so acting on the basis of manifest non-compliance with the "Selection Factors" set forth in the Trustee Replacement Annex, the Original Trustee shall appoint, as members of the Board of Trustees, the six (five voting and one non-voting) individuals recommended for appointment to the Board of Trustees by the Advisory Committee. If the Original Trustee declines to appoint any individual recommended by the Advisory Committee, the Original Trustee will promptly request that the Advisory Committee provide a further recommendation whom the Original Trustee shall appoint as a member of the Board of Trustees unless it is manifestly apparent to the Original Trustee that the individual so recommended is also disqualified from so acting on the basis of manifest non-compliance with the "Selection Factors" set forth in the Trustee Replacement Annex,. Upon the appointment of such six individuals pursuant to this provision and their agreement to act as members of the Board of Trustees, the Original Trustee shall be deemed to have resigned and shall cease to be a trustee (such resignation occurring on the "Original Trustee Replacement Date").

5.8 Rules and Procedures of the Board of Trustees

(a) Initial Requirements. As soon as practicable and in any event no later than one month following the Original Trustee Replacement Date, the Board of Trustees id expected to meet to take such decisions and actions as they deem necessary to ensure the proper management and administration of the Trust. The date (and location if in person) of the initial meeting shall be determined by a majority of the Board of Trustees.

(b) Meetings. Subject to the Board of Trustees' discretion to make such rules and procedures that they may deem desirable, meetings of the Board of Trustees may be held at such time and place as the trustee members of the Board of Trustees may agree upon or as they may fix by resolution for the purpose or if the meeting is called as hereinafter mentioned then at such time as may be designated in the notice calling the meeting. A meeting of the Board of Trustees may be called at any time by any two members of the Board of Trustees by two Business Days' notice given to the members of the Board of Trustees. No notice of any Board of Trustees' meeting shall be necessary when a quorum is present if those comprising the quorum consent to the transaction of the affairs of the Trust and the absent trustee or trustees, if any, either before or after the meeting shall waive in writing notice of the meeting. Meetings of the Board of Trustees may be conducted in person, by telephone, or in such other manner as determined by the Board of Trustees. The Board of Trustees may elect a Chairperson.

(c) Quorum. At any meeting of the Board of Trustees, a majority of the voting members of the Board of Trustees shall be a quorum irrespective of the number of members in office. The decision of the majority of the voting members where quorum exists shall govern and shall be binding for all purposes and shall be acted upon and carried out in the same manner and with the same effect as if all the voted members concurred therein; provided always that in the case of equality of votes the Chairperson, if any, shall not be entitled to cast a second or deciding vote.

(d) Power to Adopt Rules and Procedures. The Board of Trustees may make such rules and procedures not inconsistent herewith as it may deem desirable for the proper management and administration of the Trust and the discharge of the responsibilities of the Board of Trustees.

(e) Replacement of Members of the Board of Trustees. The Board of Trustees shall have the power to replace any vacancy arising following the Original Trustee Replacement Date according to such rules and procedures as they deem appropriate subject to compliance with the Selection Factors specified in Trustee Replacement Annex and having regard for such considerations necessary to ensure that the composition of the Board of Trustees will be able to discharge its responsibilities in respect of the Declaration. If necessary, the Board of Trustees may fill any vacancy by application to the Courts of Ontario in the event of an unfilled vacancy.

(f) Decisions of the Board of Trustees. Decisions and actions of the Board of Trustees shall be made by voting, with each individual voting member having one vote. Subject to quorum requirements, a majority vote shall be determinative in respect of such decisions and actions. Subject to quorum requirements, any decision or action taken by the majority of voting members will represent the decision or action of the Trustee, and not any member of the Board of Trustees.

(g) Conflicts of Interest. With respect to any matter before the Board of Trustees, to the extent of a conflict of interest, whether actual, perceived or potential, involving a member of the Board of Trustees' personal interests and a matter concerning the Trust, such member shall abstain from voting on the matter or taking any other discretionary action on the matter. For the purposes of the foregoing, no member of the Board of Trustees shall be deemed to have a conflict by reason only that the member holds any office or position with an Electricity Distributor, social services agency or governmental or quasi-governmental agency or entity (such as the Independent Electricity System Operator); provided, however, that in relation to any decision of the Board of Trustees pertaining specifically to a particular Electricity Distributor, any member of the Board of Trustees who is a director, officer or employee of the Electricity Distributor would be expected to recuse himself or herself from participating in deliberations, discussions or voting in respect of such decision.

(h) Expense Reimbursements to Members of the Board of Trustees. Members of the Board of Trustees shall be entitled to reimbursement for and in respect of their out-of-pocket expenses reasonably incurred in discharging their duties and obligations as members of the Board of Trustees. Members of the Board of Trustees shall serve without compensation.

5.9 Confidentiality

Notwithstanding the resignation or removal and discharge from the trusts and powers reposed in and conferred on the Trustee by this Declaration, or the termination of this Declaration, the Trustee so resigning or removed shall continue to treat as confidential all information relating to the Trust, the Assets and the Beneficiaries and shall only be entitled to make disclosures concerning such information if disclosure is required in the performance of the functions of the resigning or removed Trustee or is ordered by a court of competent jurisdiction or is otherwise required by law. The Trustee shall not be responsible or liable to any Person for any loss or damage arising out of or in any way sustained or incurred in any way relating to any such required disclosure. The obligations arising under this section 5.9 shall survive the termination of the Trust.

5.10 Vesting in Successor Trustee

Any successor trustee (including any reconstituted Board of Trustees) shall automatically become vested with the Assets and with the same powers, rights, duties, responsibilities and trusts as if it, he or she had originally been named as Trustee under this Declaration, without the requirement of any further instrument or act or conveyance, and the Trustee ceasing to act shall execute all such transfers and other documents and do all such other acts or things as may be necessary or desirable to assign, transfer, deliver to, and vest in, the successor trustee, upon the trusts expressed in this Declaration, all the Assets and all the rights, powers and trusts of the Trustee ceasing to act. The expense of any act, document, deed or other instrument or thing required under this Section 5.10, including for greater certainty, outstanding fees and unreimbursed expenses of the Trustee (including any member of the Board of Trustees) ceasing to act, shall be satisfied from the Assets.

5.11 Execution of Instruments

The Trustee shall have the power to execute all deeds, transfers, agreements, promissory notes and other instruments on behalf of the Trust. Such power may be exercised by any one or more Administrative Services Agents acting in accordance with any delegated right to do so pursuant to an applicable Administrative Services Agreement or by any one or more Implementation Agents acting in accordance with any delegated right to do so pursuant to an applicable Implementation Agreement, and any such execution of instrument by an Administrative Services Agent, acting in such capacity as agent of the Trust pursuant to the terms and conditions of an Administrative Services Agreement or by an Implementation Agent acting in such capacity as agent of the Trust pursuant to the terms and conditions of an Implementation Agreement shall in each case be deemed to be a proper execution of such instrument by the Trustee and shall be binding for all purposes on the Trust.

5.12 Decisions by the Trustee

If there is more than one Trustee, decisions of the Trust may be made by a majority of Trustees eligible to vote on the applicable matter. Whenever the Trustees are unable to agree in relation to the commission or omission of any act or howsoever in the execution of the Trust, the decision of a majority of such Trustees shall prevail.

SECTION 6

6.1 Amendments

Subject to the requirements of the Transfer Payment Agreement, the Trustee shall have the power in its sole and absolute discretion from time to time without the approval of any Beneficiary or any court to amend, vary, supplement, replace or restate this Declaration in its entirety or any portion thereof; provided, however that it is expected that any amendment shall be consistent with the principles set forth in the Principles Annex and with the scope and effect of the permitted delegations and activities of any Implementation Agent pursuant to the Permitted Delegations Annex. PRINCIPLES ANNEX

The Trustee shall have regard to, but shall not be specifically bound by, the following principles in applying its discretion in relation to the administration of the Trust:

1. Identification of Primary Beneficiary Payees

1.1 Except in exceptional circumstances, a Primary Beneficiary would not be expected to receive a benefit from the Trust unless at the time of consideration it satisfies, in addition to the requirements contemplated in the definition of "Primary Beneficiary", each of the following criteria (the "Selection Factors"):

(i) it has a participant agreement with an applicable Electricity Distributor to undertake measures (its "Energy Plan") to improve the electricity efficiency and/or promote the conservation of electricity at its Ontario residence;

(ii) its Energy Plan involves one or more Eligible Measures, as may be designated by the Trustee from time to time from;

(iii) it confirms that:

1. the primary purpose of its Energy Plan is the conservation and efficient use by the Primary Beneficiary of electricity, and is not for the purposes of the Primary Beneficiary making a profit;

2. it would otherwise not have the financial resources to undertake the Eligible Measures included in its Energy Plan; and

3. it would otherwise not be eligible to receive amounts in respect of the Eligible Measures as a HAP Eligible Person;

(iv) it has demonstrated a need for financial assistance on the basis that its periodic electricity bills represent a financial burden, relative to its available financial resources; and

(v) such other criteria as the Trustee may determine, including based on the recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable Implementation Agreement.

1.2 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, an efficient basis upon which to allocate funds to the Primary Beneficiaries across different areas and regions within Ontario may be based on the areas and regions serviced by the Electricity Distributors operating within Ontario.

1.3 It would not be contrary to the Purposes if funds are made available by the Trustee to the Primary Beneficiaries unequally across different areas and regions within Ontario, and it is expected that in making such an unequal division it would be appropriate to have regard to:

(i) broad economic parameters of economic activity and the specific financial resources of the residents of the areas and regions, in each case as an indication of the relative need of such residents across the areas and regions;

(ii) electricity use and efficiency levels of residential electricity customers across the areas and regions;

(iii) specific regional indicators of economic weakness and need; and

(iv) such other factors as the Trustee may determine are relevant, including based on the submissions, advice and recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable implementation Agreement.

1.4 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the designated Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides would be expected to:

(i) be a reliable source for the purpose of assessing and confirming whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors;

(ii) be an efficient intermediary for the purpose of communicating with the Primary Beneficiary, including with respect to matters such as regarding the availability, terms, conditions and intended purposes of Program;

(iii) be able to facilitate an efficient payment of distribution determined to be made to or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary, having regard to the Electricity Distributor's established practices, procedures and systems for dealing with its customers; and

(iv) have established contractual arrangements with the Primary Beneficiary that may apply to the protection and confidentiality of information provided by or respecting the Primary Beneficiary, which information may be useful in the consideration by the Electricity Distributor in its assessment of whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors, which information may not otherwise be available or readily accessible or verifiable by the Trustee.

1.5 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides will have market and utilization information that may be useful in assessing the relative needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its area or region. Such information is expected to be relevant in assessing the extent to which one such Primary Beneficiary's financial needs and the merits of its Energy Plan are greater or more compelling than those of another such Primary Beneficiary, which comparison may be relevant to the extent that the funds allocable to the Primary Beneficiaries resident in the area or region are otherwise insufficient to meet the requests for funding by all such Primary Beneficiaries.

1.6 Accordingly, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it is consistent with the Purpose that the recommendations of Electricity Distributors be utilized and relied upon by the Trustee to guide the process of identifying particular Primary Beneficiaries in making distributions to the Primary Beneficiaries.

1.7 If an Electricity Distributor for a particular area or region is unable or unwilling to assess or confirm the application of the Selection Factors to Primary Beneficiaries residing in the area or region or to make recommendations in relation to such matters, one or more of the following may provide a suitable alternative source of information and for information gathering, assessment and confirmation purposes in relation to such area or region:

(i) other Electricity Distributors operating in adjacent or other areas or regions in Ontario;

(ii) the Ontario Energy Board;

(iii) the Independent Electricity System Operator; and

(iv) anyone else having relevant expertise and access to information regarding the electricity market of the Province, in each case as may be considered relevant by the Trustee.

1.8 To the extent that privacy law or other legal requirements limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or making available specific information respecting the application of the Selection Factors to a particular Primary Beneficiary or group of Primary Beneficiaries, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it may be appropriate to redact or make generic affected information regarding such Primary Beneficiary in connection with the identification and confirmation of a Primary Beneficiary's eligibility and participation in the Program. If such limitations or restrictions would limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or confirming the name of a particular Primary Beneficiary to the Trustee, then it should be sufficient that such information may be obtained or disseminated on a confidential basis if and when required by the Trustee for the proper administration of the Trust and on that basis such impediments should not disqualify a Primary Beneficiary from participating in the benefits of the Program, provided that the confidential record-keeping of the Electricity Distributor would be available in connection with the application of any applicable legal process predicated on the identification of such Primary Beneficiary for the purposes of substantiating its rights as a Primary Beneficiary of the Trust or as to the validity or subsistence of the Trust.

2. Eligible Measures

2.1 It is expected that the Trust will identify eligible measures that, taking into consideration the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, have regard to the following (the "Measures Factors"):

(i) is the measure generally expected to result in reduced electricity consumption by a Primary Beneficiary if properly installed and used;

(ii) is the measure recognized under another Provincial program as being appropriate for achieving electricity conservation among a population analogous to the Primary Beneficiaries;

(iii) does the measure present any unacceptable health or safety considerations, either with respect to the Primary Beneficiary, a party providing or installing the measure, or the physical environment;

(iv) is the measure broadly available to residents across different areas and regions of the Province; or

(v) is the measure a requirement or precursor to another measure, the other measure being one which meets any of the other Measures Factors.

2.2 In identifying and applying the Measures Factors, Electricity Distributors would be expected to have expertise in assessing the suitability of efficiency and conservation measures in their respective areas and regions, which may differ across areas and regions across the Province based on factors (among other things) such as the climate, geography, density, electricity infrastructure, residential structures, and electricity use rates applicable within such areas or regions.

2.3 The measures specified in Schedule A to this Principles Annex may initially be considered to be consistent with the Measures Factors (subject to change as contemplated under the Permitted Delegations Annex).

3. Promotion of the Program

3.1 It is expected that the Trustee will undertake or engage others to undertake diligent efforts to promote the availability, terms and benefits of the Program to Primary and Residual Beneficiaries, including by establishing consistent communications through the Electricity Distributors.

3.2 It is expected that the Trustee will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the establishment and the funding for the Program, including in any external communications to or marketing directed at the Electricity Distributors and the Primary and Residual Beneficiaries. In its delegation of any duties or powers to the Electricity Distributors through Implementation Agreements it is expected that Electricity Distributors will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the program including in any communications or marketing to Primary Beneficiaries.

4. Conduct of the Trust and the Program

4.1 It is expected that administrative expenses of the Board of Trustees and its members, including any expenses relating to the Trust, to the establishment of the Trust and any expenses related to the implementation and operation of the Program, including by or through Electricity Distributors and other relevant entities, will be recognized and subject to reimbursement on a basis that is substantially consistent with the accountability provisions contemplated in the Transfer Payment Agreement and the principles in the Province's Travel, Meal and Hospitality Expenses Directive, the current form of which attached as Schedule B to this Principles Annex.

4.2 The Trustee is expected to conduct its activities in a manner that complies in all material respects with the Transfer Payment Agreement, including to:

(i) act prudently and in furtherance of the Purpose;

(ii) report not less frequently than annually the results of its activities for information purposes to the Province in connection with the Program;

(iii) comply with the Province's request for any independent verification or audit if determined to be necessary or appropriate by the Province;

(iv) return Assets that have not been distributed if it is determined that the Trustee has breached its Standard of Care in discharging its material duties under the Declaration, and has not cured such material breach despite having been given a reasonable opportunity by the Province to do so in light of the circumstances of such material breach, with the result that all or a significant part of the Assets have not been or are not being applied and distributed in furtherance of the Purpose or are being applied and distributed in a manner that is directly contrary or without regard to the Purpose.

4.3 Electricity Distributors are not intended to directly profit from distributions of funds made from the Trust, although it is recognized that the objectives of electricity efficiency and conservation of Primary Beneficiaries located in the service area or region of an Electricity Distributor, and the cost savings and improved credit worthiness of such Primary Beneficiaries, may be financially beneficial to the Electricity Distributor.

4.4 Distributions from the Trust are intended to allow receiving Primary Beneficiaries to undertake Eligible Measures at no or minimal personal cost.

4.5 Without in any way limiting the discretion of the Board of Trustees to extend the period during which the benefits of the Program may be available to the Primary Beneficiaries, up to and including the Final Distribution Date, it is expected that the Trust Assets would be distributed to Primary Beneficiaries during the period from the Original Trustee Replacement Date to April 30, 2019.

PERMITTED DELEGATION ANNEX

1. Under section 4.2(g) of the Declaration, the Trustee has the power to: (a) appoint, employ or retain Implementation Agents for the purpose of discharging its duties and obligations under the Declaration; and (b) enter into, perform, enforce and amend Implementation Agreements.

2. In accordance with section 4.2(g) of the Declaration, consistent with the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, the Trustee or its agent will seek to enter into one or more Implementation Agreements with individual Electricity Distributors under which the Electricity Distributors will act as Implementation Agents to the Trustee. In this manner, the Trustee will delegate certain of its powers and duties to the Electricity Distributors.

3. Under section 5.1 of the Declaration, to the extent the Trustee has delegated any of its duties or powers, it shall be deemed to have satisfied the Standard of Care in respect of the subject matter of such delegation, subject to the Trustee's overall duty to exercise prudent oversight thereof. The Trustee is entitled to rely on an Electricity Distributor to discharge the duties delegated to it, as Implementation Agent, pursuant to an Implementation Agreement as described in this Annex.

4. Accordingly, and without limiting the Trustee's right to delegate under the Declaration and its other rights, powers and discretion as Trustee, the Trustee will be permitted to, and is expected to seek to, enter into Implementation Agreements with Electricity Distributors in order to further the Purpose. Without limiting the Trustee's discretion to negotiate and settle the terms and conditions of such Implementation Agreements, it is expected that such Implementation Agreements will include customary terms and conditions for an administrative services arrangement of this type and, in addition, would (subject to the acceptance and agreement of the applicable Electricity Distributor counterparty) address the following points in particular:

    a. Identification of Applicable Primary Beneficiary Payees and Determination of Individual Distribution Amounts

        i. Each Electricity Distributor would make an initial assessment of the financial needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its designated service area or region, having regard to the Selection Factors set forth in section 1.3 of the Principles Annex, together with applicable economic data, in order to prepare and provide to the Trustee an estimate of the number of Primary Beneficiaries who the Electricity Distributor reasonably expects would satisfy the Selection Factors.

        ii. Each Electricity Distributor would make an initial assessment of the measures it would recommend be included as Eligible Measures, having regard to the Measures Factors set forth in section 2.1 of the Principles Annex, in order to prepare and provide to the Trustee an estimate of the average cost per Primary Beneficiary Payee (as defined below) of such Eligible Measures that the Electricity Distributor reasonably expects would apply in respect of Primary Beneficiaries resident in its service area or region.

iii. Based on the product of (i) and (ii), above, and such other considerations as it considers to be directly relevant, each Electricity Distributor would make a written recommendation to the Trustee regarding the aggregate funding amount that the Electricity Distributor anticipates would be utilized under the Program by the Primary Beneficiaries resident in its service area or region (the "Local Funding Estimate"). Such recommendation would be accompanied, when submitted to the Trustee, by a detailed explanation regarding the assumptions, financial parameters, suitability considerations and other information underlying the Local Funding Estimate (including the type of information contemplated by the Selections Factors and the Measures Factors, which would be relied upon by the Trustee in its assessment regarding the allocation of available funding to or for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiaries across the specified areas and regions of Ontario.

iv. The Trustee would inform the Electricity Distributor regarding the aggregate of the amount determined by the Trustee to be made available under the Program for Primary Beneficiaries in the Electricity Distributor's designated service area or region (for each Electricity Distributor, its "Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation") and as to any maximum amount that may be paid to or for the benefit of any single Primary Beneficiary located in the servicer area or region of the Electricity Distributor (the "Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount"). The Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation and Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount may vary between areas and regions, among the Primary Beneficiaries within such areas and regions, and may be increased by the Trustee from time to time in its discretion.

v. Each Electricity Distributor would apply the principles set forth under "Identification of Primary Beneficiary Payees" in the Principles Annex to identify and make recommendations to the Trustee regarding the amount of funds (if any) to be distributed to or for the benefit of Primary Beneficiaries resident within its service area or region from time to time (the "Primary Beneficiary Payees").

vi. Each Electricity Distributor would ensure that the aggregate of the amounts it recommends be distributed to or for the benefit of Primary Beneficiary Payees from time to time does not exceed (1) its Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation and (2) for any single Primary Beneficiary located in the service area or region of the Electricity Distributor, the lesser of (x) the applicable Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount and (y) the estimated costs (including any applicable taxes, but excluding any amount payable to the Electricity Distributor by or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary) to be incurred by or on behalf of such Primary Beneficiary (whether or not such costs have been paid or remain outstanding) in respect of Eligible Measures applied or to be applied in respect of the Primary Beneficiary's Ontario residence.

vii. The Trustee would provide written confirmation to each Electricity Distributor:

1. Either (x) that the recommendations specified of the Electricity Distributor in clause (v), above, have been accepted, or (y) as to the specific reasons for any non-acceptance; and

2. The amount of the distributions to be paid to or for the benefit of each Primary Beneficiary Payee that is resident in the Electricity Distributor's service area or region.

viii. With respect to each Primary Beneficiary resident in a Electricity Distributor's service area or region that is confirmed as a Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Electricity Distributor would provide the Trustee written confirmation as to:

1. The identity of such Primary Beneficiary Payee; and

2. The amount of the distribution paid to or for the benefit of such Primary Beneficiary Payee.

ix. If the amount of a distribution to be made to a Primary Beneficiary Payee is based on the estimated costs to be incurred by or on behalf of such Primary Beneficiary and, prior to making the distribution to the Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Electricity Distributor determines that the actual costs (including any applicable taxes but excluding any amount payable to the Electricity Distributor by or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary) incurred or to be incurred by or on behalf of such Primary Beneficiary in respect of Eligible Measures applied or to be applied in respect of the Primary Beneficiary's Ontario residence has or would be less than such estimated costs, then the amount to be distributed to the Primary Beneficiary shall be based on such actual costs.

b. Making of Distributions to Primary Beneficiaries

i. It is expected that promptly after the Trustee confirms the identity of a Primary Beneficiary Payee resident in an Electricity Distributor's service area or region and the amount of the distribution to be paid to or for the benefit of such Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Trustee would arrange for payment to or on the direction of the Electricity Distributor of an amount equal to the amount of such distribution.

ii. It is expected that promptly upon receipt of funds in respect of a distribution to be made to a Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Electricity Distributor would arrange for payment of the full amount of such distribution to or for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payee (including by direct payment to a third party of, or as a reimbursement or rebate of, the costs of applicable Eligible Measures installed at the residence of and for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payee), without reduction or set-off by the Electricity Distributor.

iii. If the amount paid to an Electricity Distributor in respect of a distribution to be made to a Primary Beneficiary exceeds the actual amount of the distribution made to or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary, it is expected that the Trustee would require Electricity Distributor to return such excess to the Trustee, whereupon the proceeds of such returned amount shall continue to form part of the Assets.

c. Establishment of Operational, Administrative, Record-Keeping and Other Systems and Policies by Electricity Distributors to facilitate the Program

i. It is expected that the Electricity Distributor would establish such operational, administrative, record-keeping and other systems and policies as are necessary to facilitate the Program and perform its duties under the Implementation Agreement, including systems or policies to: identify Primary Beneficiary Payees; comply with applicable privacy and regulatory laws; communicate with Primary Beneficiaries on behalf of the Trust; assess Eligible Measures; determine the Local Funding Estimate; monitor its recommendations to the Trustee against its Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation and the Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount; receive funds from the Trust in respect of distributions to the Primary Beneficiary Payees and transfer such funds to the appropriate recipients for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payees; preparation and timely delivery to Primary Beneficiary Payees of such documents as are required by the Income Tax Act (Canada); and create and maintain records in respect of the foregoing.

ii. The Electricity Distributor would set up a separate bank account for the purpose of receiving funds from the Trust in respect of distributions to the Primary Beneficiary Payees and the transfer of such funds to the appropriate recipients for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payees.

d. Reporting, Record-Keeping, Inspection and Disclosure and Compliance Matters

i. The Electricity Distributor would provide record-keeping, clerical and bookkeeping services relating to all matters relating to its recommendations and the performance of its other duties and obligations under its Implementation Agreement.

ii. The Electricity Distributor would keep and maintain all financial records and non-financial documents and records relating to the provision of services under its Implementation Agreement.

iii. The Electricity Distributor would provide to the Trustee quarterly and annual reports ("Reports") for the duration of its Implementation Agreement. Such Reports would set out, among other things, the amounts of the distributions paid to or for the benefit of applicable Primary Beneficiary Payees, the average distribution amount per such Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Eligible Measures for which distributions have been made, and the uptake of energy efficiency measures.

iv. The Electricity Distributor would agree to provide to the Trustee such information as is necessary for the Trustee to (v) comply with applicable law;

(w) prepare financial statements for the Trust; (x) prepare and submit such documents as are required under the Income Tax Act (Canada); (y) comply with the Trust's applicable obligations under the Transfer Payment Agreement; and (z) such other matters as the Trustee reasonably requests.

v. The Trustee, its authorized representatives or an independent auditor would be permitted to, at its own expense, on twenty-four hours' notice to the Electricity Distributor and during normal business hours, inspect the records of and information respecting the Electricity Distributor to confirm its compliance with the Implementation Agreement, including regarding its processes for recommending the Primary Beneficiary Payees and their respective distribution amounts and regarding the delivery of Trust funds on behalf of the Trustee to or for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payees.

e. Standard of Care

i. The Electricity Distributor would be required to agree to perform its duties provided under the Implementation Agreement exercising the degree of care, diligence and skill that a reasonably prudent Person would exercise in comparable circumstances.

ii. In performing its duties under the Implementation Agreement (including the recommending of Primary Beneficiary Payees to the Trustee), the Electricity Distributor would be required to agree to seek to avoid actual, potential or perceived conflicts of interest.

iii. The Electricity Distributor would be required to agree that it would not, in performing its obligations under the Implementation Agreement, take any action which it knows or ought reasonably to know would cause the Trustee or the Trust to be in violation of any law, rule or regulation applicable to it.

f. Expenses

The Electricity Distributor would be eligible to receive reasonable compensation and reimbursement of its actual out-of-pocket costs associated with the performance of its duties and obligations under the Implementation Agreement, subject to compliance with requirements substantially equivalent to the Province's Travel, Meal and Hospitality Expenses Directive. Such compensation amounts and reimbursement entitlements would be specified in the Implementation Agreement.

g. Representations

The Electricity Distributor would make customary representations to the Trust regarding, among other things, its legal capacity; authorization; non-contravention of law or material contract to which it is a party; and the enforceability of the Implementation Agreement.

h. Indemnification

The Electricity Distributor would be required to agree to provide customary indemnities to the Trust and the Trustee from and against claims, damages and liabilities which the Trust or Trustee may suffer or incur as the result of any breach of the Agreement by the Electricity Distributor or its representatives.

Any good faith determination by the Trustee as to what is necessary, desirable or appropriate to carry out its powers or activities of the Trust as contemplated under this Declaration or to carry out, promote or advance the interests of the Trust shall be conclusive. Any construction of this Declaration or any determination as to the activities of the Trust or the existence of any power or authority hereunder made in good faith by the Trustee, relying upon the advice of counsel, shall be conclusive. In construing the provisions of this Declaration, there shall be a presumption in favour of a grant of power to the Trustee.

SECTION 5
CONCERNING THE TRUSTEE

5.1 Duty of Trustee

In performing its duties and exercising its powers under this Declaration, the Trustee shall act honestly, in good faith and with a view to the best interests of the Trust and the Beneficiaries and shall exercise that degree of care, diligence and skill that a reasonably prudent trustee would exercise in comparable circumstances (the "Standard of Care"). The Trustee shall observe and act in accordance with the terms of, and shall observe and comply with the limitations and restrictions set forth in, this Declaration, including having due regard to the principles set forth in the Principles Annex. To the extent that the Trustee has so delegated any of its duties or powers, it shall be deemed to have satisfied the Standard of Care in respect of the subject matter of such delegation, subject to the Trustee's overall duty as a trustee to exercise prudent oversight in relation to such delegation. Unless required by law, the Trustee will not be required to give any security, bonds or sureties in any jurisdiction for the performance of any of its duties and obligations under this Declaration. The Trustee (including the individual members of the Board of Trustees) will not be required to devote its entire time to the trust activities.

5.2 Limitation of Liability

The Trustee shall not be personally liable in tort, contract or otherwise to any Beneficiary or any other Person for any loss or diminution in the value of the Assets, or for any action or failure to act on the part of the Trustee or any of its employees or agents or any other Person, and shall not be subject to any personal liability for any debts, liabilities, obligations, claims, demands, judgments, costs, charges or expenses incurred by or against the Trust, howsoever arising, and resort will be had solely to the Assets for the payment, performance or satisfaction thereof. No property or assets of the Trustee, owned in its personal capacity or otherwise, will be subject to levy, execution or other enforcement procedures with respect to any obligation under this Declaration. However, the foregoing limitations in this Section shall not apply where the Trustee has demonstrated gross negligence, bad faith, fraud or wilful misconduct.

5.3 Liability of Trustee under Contracts

Any document or instrument creating a liability or obligation of the Trust or of the Trustee will be conclusively deemed to have been executed by the Trustee only in its capacity as Trustee of the Trust and will be binding upon the Trustee only in its capacity as trustee hereunder and resort may not be had to, nor recourse or satisfaction be sought from, the property of the Trustee other than the Assets, whether owned by its in its personal capacity or in any other capacity other than in its capacity as Trustee of the Trust, or from its employees or agents, and in all cases resort will be had solely to the Assets for the payment, performance or satisfaction of any such liability or obligation. However, the foregoing limitations in this Section shall not apply where the Trustee has demonstrated gross negligence, bad faith, fraud or wilful misconduct. Each document or instrument creating a liability or obligation of the Trust or of the Trustee shall contain a provision providing for the aforesaid limitation of liability.

5.4 Funds of the Trustee

The Trustee shall not be required to expend or risk its own funds or otherwise incur financial liability in the performance of any of its duties hereunder, or in the exercise of any of its rights or powers.

5.5 Indemnification of Trustee

In addition to and without limiting any other protection hereunder or otherwise by law of the Trustee and its respective employees, agents, representatives and assigns (in this Section 5.5, collectively, the "Representatives"), the Trustee and its respective Representatives shall be indemnified, defended and saved harmless out of the Assets from, against and in respect of any and all liabilities arising or related to actions taken or omitted to be taken by any agent of the Trustee, losses, claims (including any claim arising out of the assessment of any tax on income by a taxing authority), damages, penalties, fines, actions, suits, demands, levies, assessments, costs, charges, expenses and disbursements (including, without limitation, any and all legal and advisor fees and disbursements) (in this Section 5.5, collectively, the "Liabilities") of whatever kind or nature which may at any time be suffered by, imposed upon, incurred by or asserted against the Trustee and its Representatives, whether groundless or otherwise, howsoever arising from or out of any act, omission or error of the Trustee, in each case made in connection with its acting as Trustee hereunder, in each case except and to the extent that the Liabilities are a result from or are caused by gross negligence, wilful misconduct, bad faith or ~~breach of the Confidentiality obligations described in section 5.9.~~fraud. Further, except as provided in section 5.2, the Trustee shall not be liable to any Beneficiary for any loss or damage relating to any matter regarding the Trust, including any loss or diminution in value of the Assets. Notwithstanding any other provision hereof, the obligations provided for in this section 5.5 shall survive any termination of the Trust, whether by reason of removal or resignation of the Trustee, termination or discharge of this Declaration or otherwise.

5.6 Reliance upon Advice

Subject to section 5.1, in performing its duties and exercising its powers hereunder, the Trustee may rely and may act or not act, and shall be fully protected in relying and acting or not acting, upon (a) any statement, telecopy or other electronic means of communication, writing, notice, resolution, report, opinion or other document or conversation believed by ~~its~~it to be genuine and correct and to have been signed, sent or made by the proper Person; (b) any opinion or advice received or information obtained from auditors, solicitors, or other professional advisers, whether retained by the Trustee or otherwise, and shall not be responsible or held liable for any loss or damage resulting from so relying or acting or not acting; and (c) the advice and actions of any Administrative Services Agent~~,~~ or Implementation Agent, including in connection with the delegations and reliances contemplated under the Permitted Delegations Annex. For greater certainty, it shall not be necessary for the Trustee to ascertain whether or not the Persons who have executed, signed or otherwise issued, authenticated or receipted such papers, writings or documents (including any Administrative Services Agreement~~, License~~ or any Implementation Agreement or any other contract entered into by the Trustee) have authority to do so or that they are the same Persons named therein or otherwise to pass upon any requirement of such papers, writing or documents that may be essential for their validity or effectiveness or upon the truth and acceptability.

5.7 Replacement of the Original Trustee

~~As soon as practicable and in any event on or prior to March 31, 2017, the Original Trustee shall appoint the~~The Persons identified ~~by~~in the Trustee Replacement Annex are hereby appointed to comprise the Advisory Committee contemplated therein (~~once constituted,~~ the "Advisory Committee"). ~~As soon as practicable thereafter, the~~The Original Trustee shall promptly request that the Advisory Committee make recommendations with respect to the composition of the "Board of Trustees", as contemplated by the Trustee Replacement Annex. The Original Trustee shall have no duty or obligation to investigate the basis for any of the Advisory Committee's recommendations and may rely on such recommendations without any duty of enquiry, supervision or oversight with respect to the activities and decision-making processes adopted by the Advisory Committee in its discretion, in full satisfaction of the Original Trustee's Standard of Care with respect to such matters hereunder. Except ~~if~~where it is manifestly apparent to the Original Trustee ~~determines~~ that the individuals recommended by the Advisory Committee to become members of such Board of Trustees are disqualified from so acting on the basis of manifest non-compliance with the "Selection Factors" set forth in the Trustee Replacement Annex, the Original Trustee shall appoint, as members of the Board of Trustees, the ~~[~~six~~]~~ (five voting and one non-voting) individuals recommended for appointment to the Board of Trustees by the Advisory Committee. If the Original Trustee declines to appoint any individual recommended by the Advisory Committee, the Original Trustee will promptly request that the Advisory Committee provide a further recommendation whom the Original Trustee shall appoint as a member of the Board of Trustees unless it is manifestly apparent to the Original Trustee that the individual so recommended is also disqualified from so acting on the basis of manifest non-compliance with the "Selection Factors" set forth in the Trustee Replacement Annex,. Upon the appointment of such ~~[~~six~~]~~ individuals pursuant to this provision and their agreement to act as members of the Board of Trustees, the Original Trustee shall be deemed to have resigned and shall cease to be a trustee (such resignation occurring on the "Original Trustee Replacement Date").

5.8 Rules and Procedures of the Board of Trustees

(a) Initial Requirements. As soon as practicable and in any event no later than one month following the Original Trustee Replacement Date, the Board of Trustees ~~shall~~id expected to meet to take such decisions and actions as they deem necessary to ensure the proper management and administration of the Trust. The date (and location if in person) of the initial meeting shall be determined by a majority of the Board of Trustees.

(b) Meetings. Subject to the Board of Trustees' discretion to make such rules and procedures that they may deem desirable, meetings of the Board of Trustees may be held at such time and place as the trustee members of the Board of Trustees may agree upon or as they may fix by resolution for the purpose or if the meeting is called as hereinafter mentioned then at such time as may be designated in the notice calling the meeting. A meeting of the Board of Trustees may be called at any time by any two members of the Board of Trustees by two Business Days' notice given to the members of the Board of Trustees. No notice of any Board of Trustees' meeting shall be necessary when a quorum is present if those comprising the quorum consent to the transaction of the affairs of the Trust and the absent trustee or trustees, if any, either before or after the meeting shall waive in writing notice of the meeting. Meetings of the Board of Trustees may be conducted in person, by telephone, or in such other manner as determined by the Board of Trustees. The Board of Trustees may elect a Chairperson.

(c) Quorum. At any meeting of the Board of Trustees, a majority of the voting members of the Board of Trustees shall be a quorum irrespective of the number of members in office. The decision of the majority of the voting members where quorum exists shall govern and shall be binding for all purposes and shall be acted upon and carried out in the same manner and with the same effect as if all the voted members concurred therein; provided always that in the case of equality of votes the Chairperson, if any, shall not be entitled to cast a second or deciding vote.

(d) Power to Adopt Rules and Procedures. The Board of Trustees may make such rules and procedures not inconsistent herewith as it may deem desirable for the proper management and administration of the Trust and the discharge of the responsibilities of the Board of Trustees.

(e) Replacement of Members of the Board of Trustees. The Board of Trustees shall have the power to replace any vacancy arising following the Original Trustee Replacement Date according to such rules and procedures as they deem appropriate subject to compliance with the Selection Factors specified in Trustee Replacement Annex and having regard for such considerations necessary to ensure that the composition of the Board of Trustees will be able to discharge its responsibilities in respect of the Declaration. If necessary, the Board of Trustees may fill any vacancy by application to the Courts of Ontario in the event of an unfilled vacancy.

(f) Decisions of the Board of Trustees. Decisions and actions of the Board of Trustees shall be made by voting, with each individual voting member having one vote. Subject to quorum requirements, a majority vote shall be determinative in respect of such decisions and actions. Subject to quorum requirements, any decision or action taken by the majority of voting members ~~s~~ will represent the decision or action of the Trustee, and not any member of the Board of Trustees.

(g) Conflicts of Interest. With respect to any matter before the Board of Trustees, to the extent of a conflict of interest, whether actual, perceived or potential, involving a member of the Board of Trustees' personal interests and a matter concerning the Trust, such member shall abstain from voting on the matter or taking any other discretionary action on the matter. For the purposes of the foregoing, no member of the Board of Trustees shall be deemed to have a conflict by reason only that the member holds any office or position with an Electricity Distributor, social services agency or governmental or quasi-governmental agency or entity (such as the Independent Electricity System Operator); provided, however, that in relation to any decision of the Board of Trustees pertaining specifically to a particular Electricity Distributor, any member of the Board of Trustees who is a director, officer or employee of the Electricity Distributor would be expected to recuse himself or herself from participating in deliberations, discussions or voting in respect of such decision.

(h) Expense Reimbursements to Members of the Board of Trustees. Members of the Board of Trustees shall be entitled to reimbursement for and in respect of their out-of-pocket expenses reasonably incurred in discharging their duties and obligations as members of the Board of Trustees. Members of the Board of Trustees shall serve without compensation.

5.9 Confidentiality

Notwithstanding the resignation or removal and discharge from the trusts and powers reposed in and conferred on the Trustee by this Declaration, or the termination of this Declaration, the Trustee so resigning or removed shall continue to treat as confidential all information relating to the Trust, the Assets and the Beneficiaries and shall only be entitled to make disclosures concerning such information if disclosure is required in the performance of the functions of the resigning or removed Trustee or is ordered by a court of competent jurisdiction or is otherwise required by law. The Trustee shall not be responsible or liable to any Person for any loss or damage arising out of or in any way sustained or incurred in any way relating to any such required disclosure. The obligations arising under this section 5.9 shall survive the termination of the Trust.

5.10 Vesting in Successor Trustee

Any successor trustee (including any reconstituted Board of Trustees) shall automatically become vested with the Assets and with the same powers, rights, duties, responsibilities and trusts as if it, he or she had originally been named as Trustee under this Declaration, without the requirement of any further instrument or act or conveyance, and the Trustee ceasing to act shall execute all such transfers and other documents and do all such other acts or things as may be necessary or desirable to assign, transfer, deliver to, and vest in, the successor trustee, upon the trusts expressed in this Declaration, all the Assets and all the rights, powers and trusts of the Trustee ceasing to act. The expense of any act, document, deed or other instrument or thing required under this Section 5.10, including for greater certainty, outstanding fees and unreimbursed expenses of the Trustee (including any member of the Board of Trustees) ceasing to act, shall be satisfied from the Assets.

5.11 Execution of Instruments

The Trustee shall have the power to execute all deeds, transfers, agreements, promissory notes and other instruments on behalf of the Trust. Such power may be exercised by any one or more Administrative Services Agents acting in accordance with any delegated right to do so pursuant to an applicable Administrative Services Agreement or by any one or more Implementation Agents acting in accordance with any delegated right to do so pursuant to an applicable Implementation Agreement, and any such execution of instrument by an Administrative Services Agent, acting in such capacity as agent of the Trust pursuant to the terms and conditions of ~~such~~an Administrative Services Agreement ~~shall~~or by an Implementation Agent acting in such capacity as agent of the Trust pursuant to the terms and conditions of an Implementation Agreement shall in each case be deemed to be a proper execution of such instrument by the Trustee and shall be binding for all purposes on the Trust.

5.12 Decisions by the Trustee

If there is more than one Trustee, decisions of the Trust may be made by a majority of Trustees eligible to vote on the applicable matter. Whenever the Trustees are unable to agree in relation to the commission or omission of any act or howsoever in the execution of the Trust, the decision of a majority of such Trustees shall prevail.

SECTION 6
AMENDMENTS AND SUPPLEMENTS

6.1 Amendments

Subject to the requirements of the Transfer Payment Agreement, the Trustee shall have the power in its sole and absolute discretion from time to time without the approval of any Beneficiary or any court to amend, vary, supplement, replace or restate this Declaration in its entirety or any portion thereof; ~~[~~provided, however~~,~~ that ~~no~~it is expected that any amendment shall ~~conflict~~be consistent with the principles set forth in the Principles Annex ~~or as to~~ and with the scope ~~or~~and effect of the permitted delegations and activities of any ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agent pursuant to the Permitted Delegations Annex.~~]~~ Without in any way limiting the foregoing, any such amendments, variations, supplements, replacements or restatements may:

PRINCIPLES ANNEX

The Trustee shall have regard to~~[~~, but shall not be specifically bound by,~~]~~ the following principles in applying its discretion in relation to the administration of the Trust:

1. Identification of Primary Beneficiary Payees

1.1 ~~[~~Except in exceptional circumstances,~~]~~ a Primary Beneficiary would not be expected to receive a benefit from the Trust unless at the time of consideration it satisfies, in addition to the requirements contemplated in the definition of "Primary Beneficiary", each of the following criteria (the "Selection Factors"):

(i) it has a participant agreement ~~[~~with an applicable Electricity Distributor~~]~~ to undertake measures (its "Energy Plan") to improve the electricity efficiency and/or promote the conservation of electricity at its Ontario residence;

(ii) its Energy Plan involves one or more Eligible Measures, as may be designated by the Trustee from time to time from;

(iii) it confirms that:

1. the primary purpose of its Energy Plan is the conservation and efficient use by the Primary Beneficiary of electricity, and is not for the purposes of the Primary Beneficiary making a profit;

2. it would otherwise not have the financial resources to undertake the Eligible Measures included in its Energy Plan; and

3. it would otherwise not be ~~[a HAP Eligible Person]~~[eligible to receive amounts in respect of the Eligible Measures ~~under~~as a HAP~~]~~ Eligible Person;

(iv) it has demonstrated a need for financial assistance on the basis that its periodic electricity bills represent a financial burden, relative to its available financial resources; and

(v) such other criteria as the Trustee may determine, including based on the recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreement.

1.2 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, an efficient basis upon which to allocate funds to the Primary Beneficiaries across different areas and regions within Ontario may be based on the areas and regions serviced by the Electricity Distributors operating within Ontario.

1.3 It would not be contrary to the Purposes if funds are made available by the Trustee to the Primary Beneficiaries unequally across different areas and regions within Ontario, and it is ~~expect~~expected that in making such an unequal division it would be appropriate to have regard to:

(i) broad economic parameters of economic activity and the specific financial resources of the residents of the areas and regions, in each case as an indication of the relative need of such residents across the areas and regions;

(ii) electricity use and efficiency levels of residential electricity customers across the areas and regions;

(iii) specific regional indicators of economic weakness and need; and

(iv) such other factors as the Trustee may determine are relevant, including based on the submissions, advice and recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable ~~Administrative Services~~implementation Agreement.

1.4 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the designated Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides would be expected to:

(i) be a reliable source for the purpose of assessing and confirming whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors;

(ii) be an efficient intermediary for the purpose of communicating with the Primary Beneficiary, including with respect to matters such as regarding the availability, terms, conditions and intended purposes of Program;

(iii) be able to facilitate an efficient payment of distribution determined to be made to or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary, having regard to the Electricity Distributor's established practices, procedures and systems for dealing with its customers; and

(iv) have established contractual arrangements with the Primary Beneficiary that may apply to the protection and confidentiality of information provided by or respecting the Primary Beneficiary, which information may be useful in the consideration by the Electricity Distributor in its assessment of whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors, which information may not otherwise be available or readily accessible or verifiable by the Trustee.

1.5 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides will have market and utilization information that may be useful in assessing the relative needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its area or region. Such information is expected to be relevant in assessing the extent to which one such Primary Beneficiary's financial needs and the merits of its Energy Plan are greater or more compelling than those of another such Primary Beneficiary, which comparison may be relevant to the extent that the funds allocable to the Primary Beneficiaries resident in the area or region are otherwise insufficient to meet the requests for funding by all such Primary Beneficiaries.

1.7 If an Electricity Distributor for a particular area or region is unable or unwilling to assess or confirm the application of the Selection Factors to Primary Beneficiaries residing in the area or region or to make recommendations in relation to such matters, one or more of the following may provide a suitable alternative source of information and for information gathering, assessment and confirmation purposes in relation to such area or region:

(i) other Electricity Distributors operating in adjacent or other areas or regions in Ontario;

(ii) the Ontario Energy Board;

(iii) the Independent Electricity System Operator; and

(iv) anyone else having relevant expertise and access to information regarding the electricity market of the Province, in each case as may be considered relevant by the Trustee.

1.8 To the extent that privacy law or other legal requirements limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or making available specific information respecting the application of the Selection Factors to a particular Primary Beneficiary or group of Primary Beneficiaries, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it may be appropriate to redact or make generic affected information regarding such Primary Beneficiary in connection with the identification and confirmation of a Primary Beneficiary's eligibility and participation in the Program. If such limitations or restrictions would limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or confirming the name of a particular Primary Beneficiary to the Trustee, then it should be sufficient that such information may be obtained or disseminated on a confidential basis if and when required by the Trustee for the proper administration of the Trust and on that basis such impediments should not disqualify a Primary Beneficiary from participating in the benefits of the Program, provided ~~that~~ that the confidential record-keeping of the Electricity Distributor would be available in connection with the application of any applicable legal process predicated on the identification of such Primary Beneficiary for the purposes of substantiating its rights as a Primary Beneficiary of the Trust or as to the validity or subsistence of the Trust.

2. Eligible Measures

2.1 It is expected that the Trust will identify eligible measures that, taking into consideration the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, have regard to the following (the "Measures Factors"):

(i) is the measure generally expected to result in reduced electricity consumption by a Primary Beneficiary if properly installed and used;

(ii) is the measure recognized under another Provincial program as being appropriate for achieving electricity conservation among a population analogous to the Primary Beneficiaries;

(iii) does the measure present any unacceptable health or safety considerations, either with respect to the Primary Beneficiary, a party providing or installing the measure, or the physical environment;

(iv) is the measure broadly available to residents across different areas and regions of the Province; or

(v) is the measure a requirement or precursor to another measure, the other measure being one which meets any of the other Measures Factors.

2.2 In identifying and applying the Measures Factors, Electricity Distributors would be expected to have expertise in assessing the suitability of efficiency and conservation measures in their respective areas and regions, which may differ across areas and regions across the Province based on factors (among other things) such as the climate, geography, density, electricity infrastructure, residential structures, and electricity use rates applicable within such areas or regions.

2.3 The measures specified in Schedule A to this Principles Annex may initially be considered to be consistent with the Measures Factors (subject to change as contemplated under the Permitted Delegations Annex).

3. Promotion of the Program

3.1 It is expected that the Trustee will undertake or engage others to undertake diligent efforts to promote the availability, terms and benefits of the Program to Primary and Residual Beneficiaries, including by establishing consistent communications through the ~~Electiricy~~Electricity Distributors.

3.2 It is expected that the Trustee will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the establishment and the funding for the Program, including in any external communications to or marketing directed at the Electricity Distributors and the Primary ~~Beneficiaries.~~ and Residual Beneficiaries. In its delegation of any duties or powers to the Electricity Distributors through Implementation Agreements it is expected that Electricity Distributors will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the program including in any communications or marketing to Primary Beneficiaries.

4. Conduct of the Trust and the Program

4.1 It is expected that administrative expenses of the Board of Trustees and its members, including any expenses relating to the Trust, to the establishment of the Trust and any expenses related to the implementation and operation of the Program, including by or through Electricity Distributors and other relevant entities, will be recognized and subject to reimbursement on a basis that is substantially consistent with the accountability provisions contemplated in the Transfer Payment Agreement and the principles in the Province's Travel, Meal and Hospitality Expenses Directive, the current form of which attached as Schedule B to this Principles Annex.

4.2 The Trustee is expected to conduct its activities in a manner that complies in all material respects with the Transfer Payment Agreement, including to:

(i) act prudently and in furtherance of the Purpose;

(ii) report not less frequently than annually the results of its activities for information purposes to the Province in connection with the Program;

(iii) comply with the Province's request for any independent verification or audit if determined to be necessary or appropriate by the Province;

(iv) return ~~of~~ Assets that have not been distributed if it is determined that the Trustee has breached its Standard of Care in discharging its material duties under the Declaration, and has not cured such material breach despite having been given a reasonable opportunity by the Province to do so in light of the circumstances of such material breach, with the result that all or a significant part of the Assets have not been or are not being applied and distributed in furtherance of the Purpose or are being applied and distributed in a manner that is directly contrary or without regard to the Purpose.~~]~~

4.3 Electricity Distributors are not intended to directly profit from distributions of funds made from the Trust, although it is recognized that the objectives of electricity efficiency and conservation of Primary Beneficiaries located in the service area or region of an Electricity Distributor, and the cost savings and improved credit worthiness of such Primary Beneficiaries, may be financially beneficial to the Electricity Distributor.

4.4 Distributions from the Trust are intended to allow receiving Primary Beneficiaries to undertake Eligible Measures at no or minimal personal cost.

4.5 Without in any way limiting the discretion of the Board of Trustees to extend the period during which the benefits of the Program may be available to the Primary Beneficiaries, up to and including the Final Distribution Date, it is expected that the Trust Assets would be distributed to Primary Beneficiaries during the period from the Original Trustee Replacement Date to April 30, 2019.

SCHEDULE B TO THE PRINCIPLES ANNEX

PERMITTED DELEGATION ANNEX

1. Under section 4.2(g) of the Declaration, the Trustee has the power to: (a) appoint, employ or retain ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agents for the purpose of discharging its duties and obligations under the Declaration; and (b) enter into, perform, enforce and amend ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreements.

2. In accordance with section 4.2(g) of the Declaration, consistent with the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, the Trustee or its agent will seek to enter into one or more ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreements with individual Electricity Distributors under which the Electricity Distributors will act as ~~Administrative Service~~Implementation Agents to the Trustee. In this manner, the Trustee will delegate certain of its powers and duties to the Electricity Distributors.

3. Under section 5.1 of the Declaration, to the extent the Trustee has delegated any of its duties or powers, it shall be deemed to have satisfied the Standard of Care in respect of the subject matter of such delegation, subject to the Trustee's overall duty to exercise prudent oversight thereof. The Trustee is entitled to rely on an Electricity Distributor to discharge the duties delegated to it, as ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agent, pursuant to an ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreement as described in this Annex.

4. Accordingly, and without limiting the Trustee's right to delegate under the Declaration and its other rights, powers and discretion as Trustee, the Trustee will be permitted to, and is expected to seek to, enter into ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreements with Electricity Distributors in order to further the Purpose. Without limiting the Trustee's discretion to negotiate and settle the terms and conditions of such ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreements, it is expected that such ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreements will include customary terms and conditions for an administrative services arrangement of this type and, in addition, would (subject to the acceptance and agreement of the applicable Electricity Distributor counterparty) address the following points in particular:

    a. Identification of Applicable Primary Beneficiary Payees and Determination of Individual Distribution Amounts

        i. Each Electricity Distributor would make an initial assessment of the financial needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its designated service area or region, having regard to the Selection Factors set forth in section 1.3 of the Principles Annex, together with applicable economic data, in order to prepare and provide to the Trustee an estimate of the number of Primary Beneficiaries who the Electricity Distributor reasonably expects would satisfy the Selection Factors.

        ii. Each Electricity Distributor would make an initial assessment of the measures it would recommend be included as Eligible Measures, having regard to the Measures Factors set forth in section 2.1 of the Principles Annex, in order to prepare and provide to the Trustee an estimate of the average cost per Primary Beneficiary Payee (as defined below) of such Eligible Measures that the

iii. Based on the product of (i) and (ii), above, and such other considerations as it considers to be directly relevant, each Electricity Distributor would make a written recommendation to the Trustee regarding the aggregate funding amount that the Electricity Distributor anticipates would be utilized under the Program by the Primary Beneficiaries resident in its service area or region (the "Local Funding Estimate"). Such recommendation would be accompanied, when submitted to the Trustee, by a detailed explanation regarding the assumptions, financial parameters, suitability considerations and other information underlying the Local Funding Estimate (including the type of information contemplated by the Selections Factors and the Measures Factors, which would be relied upon by the Trustee in its assessment regarding the allocation of available funding to or for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiaries across the specified areas and regions of Ontario.

iv. The Trustee would inform the Electricity Distributor regarding the aggregate of the amount determined by the Trustee to be made available under the Program for Primary Beneficiaries in the Electricity Distributor's designated service area or region (for each Electricity Distributor, its "Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation") and as to any maximum amount that may be paid to or for the benefit of any single Primary Beneficiary ~~[or group of related Primary Beneficiaries]~~ located in the servicer area or region of the Electricity Distributor (the "Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount"). The Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation and Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount may vary between areas and regions, among the Primary Beneficiaries within such areas and regions, and may be increased by the Trustee from time to time in its discretion.

v. Each Electricity Distributor would apply the principles set forth under "Identification of Primary Beneficiary Payees" in the Principles Annex to identify and make recommendations to the Trustee regarding the amount of funds (if any) to be distributed to or for the benefit of Primary Beneficiaries resident within its service area or region from time to time (the "Primary Beneficiary Payees").

vi. Each Electricity Distributor would ensure that the aggregate of the amounts it recommends be distributed to or for the benefit of Primary Beneficiary Payees from time to time does not exceed (1) its Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation and (2) for any single Primary Beneficiary ~~[or group of related Primary Beneficiaries]~~ located in the service area or region of the Electricity Distributor, the lesser of (x) the applicable Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount and (y) the estimated costs (including any applicable taxes, but excluding any amount payable to the Electricity Distributor by or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary) to be incurred by or on behalf of such Primary Beneficiary (whether or not such costs have been paid or remain outstanding) in respect of Eligible Measures applied or to be applied in respect of the Primary Beneficiary's Ontario residence.

vii. The Trustee would provide written confirmation to each Electricity Distributor:

1. Either (x) that the recommendations specified of the Electricity Distributor in clause (v), above, have been accepted, or (y) as to the specific reasons for any non-acceptance; and

2. The amount of the distributions to be paid to or for the benefit of each Primary Beneficiary Payee that is resident in the Electricity Distributor's service area or region.

viii. With respect to each Primary Beneficiary resident in a Electricity Distributor's service area or region that is confirmed as a Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Electricity Distributor would provide the Trustee written confirmation as to:

1. The identity of such Primary Beneficiary Payee; and

2. The amount of the distribution paid to or for the benefit of such Primary Beneficiary Payee.

ix. If the amount of a distribution to be made to a Primary Beneficiary Payee is based on the estimated costs to be incurred by or on behalf of such Primary Beneficiary and, prior to making the distribution to the Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Electricity Distributor determines that the actual costs (including any applicable taxes but excluding any amount payable to the Electricity Distributor by or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary) incurred or to be incurred by or on behalf of such Primary Beneficiary in respect of Eligible Measures applied or to be applied in respect of the Primary Beneficiary's Ontario residence has or would be less than such estimated costs, then the amount to be distributed to the Primary Beneficiary shall be based on such actual costs.

b. Making of Distributions to Primary Beneficiaries

i. It is expected that promptly after the Trustee confirms the identity of a Primary Beneficiary Payee resident in an Electricity Distributor's service area or region and the amount of the distribution to be paid to or for the benefit of such Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Trustee would arrange for payment to or on the direction of the Electricity Distributor of an amount equal to the amount of such distribution.

ii. It is expected that promptly upon receipt of funds in respect of a distribution to be made to a Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Electricity Distributor would arrange for payment of the full amount of such distribution to or for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payee (including by direct payment to a third party of, or as a reimbursement or rebate of, the costs of applicable Eligible Measures installed at the residence of and for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payee), without reduction or set-off by the Electricity Distributor.

iii. If the amount paid to an Electricity Distributor in respect of a distribution to be made to a Primary Beneficiary exceeds the actual amount of the distribution made to or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary, it is expected that the Trustee would require Electricity Distributor to return such excess to the Trustee, whereupon the proceeds of such returned amount shall continue to form part of the Assets.

c. Establishment of Operational, Administrative, Record-Keeping and Other Systems and Policies by Electricity Distributors to facilitate the Program

i. It is expected that the Electricity Distributor would establish such operational, administrative, record-keeping and other systems and policies as are necessary to facilitate the Program and perform its duties under the ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreement, including systems or policies to: identify Primary Beneficiary Payees; comply with applicable privacy and regulatory laws; communicate with Primary Beneficiaries on behalf of the Trust; assess Eligible Measures; determine the Local Funding Estimate; monitor its recommendations to the Trustee against its Maximum Electricity Distributor Allocation and the Maximum Primary Beneficiary Amount; receive funds from the Trust in respect of distributions to the Primary Beneficiary Payees and transfer such funds to the appropriate recipients for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payees; preparation and timely delivery to Primary Beneficiary Payees of such documents as are required by the Income Tax Act (Canada); and create and maintain records in respect of the foregoing.

ii. The Electricity Distributor would set up a separate bank account for the purpose of receiving funds from the Trust in respect of distributions to the Primary Beneficiary Payees and the transfer of such funds to the appropriate recipients for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payees.

d. Reporting, Record-Keeping, Inspection and Disclosure and Compliance Matters

i. The Electricity Distributor would provide record-keeping, clerical and bookkeeping services relating to all matters relating to its recommendations and the performance of its other duties and obligations under its ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreement.

ii. The Electricity Distributor would keep and maintain all financial records and non-financial documents and records relating to the provision of services under its ~~Administrative Services Agreement. [NTD: Consider specifying any particular records regarding individual Primary Beneficiary Payees needed to ensure the proper function of the Trust or the Program]~~Implementation Agreement.

iii. The Electricity Distributor would provide to the Trustee quarterly and annual reports ("Reports") for the duration of its ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreement. Such Reports would set out, among other things, the amounts of the distributions paid to or for the benefit of applicable Primary Beneficiary Payees, the average distribution amount per such Primary Beneficiary Payee, the Eligible Measures for which distributions have been made, and the uptake of energy efficiency measures.

iv. The Electricity Distributor would agree to provide to the Trustee such information as is necessary for the Trustee to (v) comply with applicable law; (w) prepare financial statements for the Trust; (x) prepare and submit such documents as are required under the Income Tax Act (Canada); (y) comply with the Trust's applicable obligations under the Transfer Payment Agreement; and (z) such other matters as the Trustee reasonably requests.

v. The Trustee, its authorized representatives or an independent auditor would be permitted to, at its own expense, on twenty-four hours' notice to the Electricity Distributor and during normal business hours, inspect the records of and information respecting the Electricity Distributor to confirm its compliance with the ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreement, including regarding its processes for recommending the Primary Beneficiary Payees and their respective distribution amounts and regarding the delivery of Trust funds on behalf of the Trustee to or for the benefit of the Primary Beneficiary Payees.

e. Standard of Care

i. The Electricity Distributor would be required to agree to perform its duties provided under the ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreement exercising the degree of care, diligence and skill that a reasonably prudent Person would exercise in comparable circumstances.

ii. In performing its duties under the ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreement (including the recommending of Primary Beneficiary Payees to the Trustee), the Electricity Distributor would be required to agree to seek to avoid actual, potential or perceived conflicts of interest.

iii. The Electricity Distributor would be required to agree ~~to~~ that it would not, in performing its obligations under the ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreement, take any action which it knows or ought reasonably to know would cause the Trustee or the Trust to be in violation of any law, rule or regulation applicable to it.

f. Expenses

The Electricity Distributor would be eligible to receive reasonable compensation and reimbursement of its actual out-of-pocket costs associated with the performance of its duties and obligations under the ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreement, subject to compliance with requirements substantially equivalent to the Province's Travel, Meal and Hospitality Expenses Directive. Such compensation amounts and reimbursement entitlements would be specified in the ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreement.

g. Representations

The Electricity Distributor would make customary representations to the Trust regarding, among other things, its legal capacity; authorization; non-contravention of law or material contract to which it is a party; and the enforceability of the ~~Administrative Services~~Implementation Agreement.

h. Indemnification

The Electricity Distributor would be required to agree to provide customary indemnities to the Trust and the Trustee from and against claims, damages and liabilities which ~~may~~ the Trust or Trustee may suffer or incur as the result of any breach of the ~~Administrative Services~~ Agreement by the Electricity Distributor or its representatives.

Ontario Northland Transportation Commission (ONTC) Pension Plan merger/transfer to Public Service Pension Plan (PSPP)

Issue:

Will the transfer of Ontario Northland Transportation Commission (ONTC) pension plan transfer/merger to the Public Service Pension Plan (PSPP) create a fiscal impact at the consolidated reporting level of the Province?

Background:

The Ontario Northland Transportation Commission (ONTC) is a Crown Agency of the province of Ontario. The agency is consolidated on a line-by-line basis in the Province's consolidated financial statements.

ONTC currently has a single employer defined benefit plan ("the ONTC Plan") that provides pensions to approximately 1300 retirees and 740 active members as well as former employees of Ontera and the Owen Sound Transportation Company. ONTC Plan has been facing funding pressures since 2008 economic downturn due to persistently low interest rates and the agency is now seeking designation as an employer under the Public Service Pension Plan (PSPP) along with all of its members and all new employees of the ONTC that are eligible to become members and to transfer the assets of the ONTC Plan into PSPP.

Highlights of the Propose Transfer/Merger:

- Designate all permanent employees of ONTC as mandatory members in the PSPP effective April 1, 2018 and to designate ONTC as an employer under PSPP with regard to these employees.

- PSPP to be the successor pension plan to the ONTC pension plan in accordance with Section 81 of the Pension Benefits Act with respect to:
  - The service of designated ONTC employees on and after April 1, 2018;
  - The credit of ONTC employees accrued prior to April 1, 2018 that is purchased through transfer of assets from the ONTC pension plan to the PSPP; and
  - The payment of pension benefits for ONTC employees who retire prior to April 1, 2018 or any ONTC Member who is entitled to an annual deferred vested pension from ONTC Plan and does not retire prior to April 1, 2018.

- Amend the PSPP to document the transfer of ONTC assets and liabilities into the PSPP with respect to the active plan members and to provide for a new part that would replicate the ONTC pension benefits payable under PSPP to transferred deferred members and retirees effective April 1, 2018.

- Once the asset transfer to PSPP is complete, ONTC would no longer be required to make Special Payments to their Pension Plan or the PSPP. Under the PSPP, ONTC would only be responsible for their current service cost contributions. PSPP unfunded liabilities are the responsibility of the Province.

- Though both PSPP and ONTC are sole sponsor defined benefit pension plans however there are differences in plan design features (see Appendix 1). The most significant benefit for ONTC joining PSPP is that active members service will be fully indexed to pension, while in ONTC it was ad-hoc and discretionary.

- Based on the most recent information provided by the ONTC's actuary, and assuming the pension plan merger occurs at the end of fiscal 2017-18, $44 million cash is required in order to make the service whole for ONTC members when they transfer into PSPP. The Ministry is requesting $44 million funds with this request for designation under the PSPP to fulfill this requirement.

- Timeline: Requesting approval of Treasury Board sometime December 2017/January 2018.

ONTC Plan Funding Status of January 1, 2017 Valuation

- Going concern deficit of $70 million:
  - Assets of $552 million; liabilities of $592 million;
  - discount rate of 4.80%;
  - 29% of liabilities for active and suspended members; 71% liabilities for pensioners/beneficiaries and deferred vested members.
- Solvency deficit: $201 million and solvency ratio of 72.2%

Relevant Accounting Principles:

PS3250 Retirement Benefits

Curtailment/Settlement

.074 A plan settlement and a partial plan settlement consist of the discharge, in whole or in part, of a government's obligation existing under a retirement benefit plan. They are irrevocable events by which a government or a plan is relieved of the primary obligation to pay all or some of the benefits promised and is relieved of significant risks in relation to the obligation or the assets used to make settlement. When a full plan settlement occurs, a future actuarial valuation is not required because the government no longer has an obligation related to that plan. Because the cost of discharging the obligation may differ from the related liability recognized previously, a gain or loss may arise.

.075 A plan curtailment is an event that reduces significantly the expected years of future service of present employees or eliminates, for a significant number of employees, the accrual of defined benefits for some or all of their future services. Plan curtailments include termination of a significant number of employees earlier than expected which may involve eliminating a government organization or program; they also include suspension of a plan so that a significant number of employees do not earn additional defined benefits for future services. When a plan curtailment occurs, future actuarial valuations are required because, even though the government's future obligations have been reduced, the government continues to have an obligation related to that plan.

.077 In some circumstances, there will be unamortized actuarial gains and losses incurred prior to the plan settlement or curtailment. The net unamortized balances related to the obligation settled or to the employees affected by the curtailment would be recognized in the period of settlement or curtailment, and is included as part of the gain or loss arising on settlement or curtailment.

.078 Gains and losses determined upon a plan settlement or curtailment should be accounted for in the period of the settlement or curtailment.

Prior period service costs arising from plan amendments

063 A plan amendment occurs when a benefit plan is changed or initiated. In such circumstances, retroactive credit may be given to employees for services rendered previously and, as a result, prior period service costs are incurred. For example, if the benefit formula is changed from one percent to two percent of final pay per year of service, the extra one percent may be credited to employees for years of service prior to the change.

.064 Plan amendments include the inception of a new plan that grants retroactive credit for past service, an increase in benefits related to past service for active employees, or an increase in benefits for former employees already retired.

.066 The cost of plan amendments related to prior period employee services should be accounted for in the period of the plan amendment.

.068 In the period of a plan amendment related to prior period employee services that results in an increase in the accrued benefit obligation, if net unamortized actuarial gains exist, these should be recognized immediately, to a maximum of the prior period service cost, and offset against the prior period service cost in the statement of operations, with separate disclosure in the notes.

PS2500 Principles of Consolidation

.15 Inter-governmental unit gains and losses arising on the sale or transfer of assets and liabilities remaining within the government reporting entity should be eliminated.

.16 Unless items measured at cost or amortized cost are transferred at their carrying value, elimination of unrealized inter-governmental gains and losses on the sale or transfer of assets and liabilities is required to ensure the consolidated financial statements are presented in accordance with paragraph PS 2500.05.

.16A Operating gains and losses associated with inter-governmental unit sales or transfers of financial assets and financial liabilities in the fair value category require elimination. When the related instrument is still held within the consolidated entity, an adjustment is required to eliminate a gain or loss as it is unrealized. To accomplish this, the gain or loss is reclassified from the consolidated statement of operations and presented on the consolidated statement of remeasurement gains and losses.

PS3430 Restructuring Transactions

.20 Individual assets and liabilities received in a restructuring transaction should be recognized by the recipient if they meet the definitions of assets and liabilities and applicable recognition criteria at the restructuring date. [APRIL 2018]

.37 A transferor should derecognize individual assets and liabilities transferred in a restructuring transaction at their carrying amount at the restructuring date. [APRIL 2018]

.38 A recipient should recognize individual assets and liabilities received in a restructuring transaction at their carrying amount with the following adjustments, where applicable, at the restructuring date:

- (a) to comply with PSA standards;
- (b) to align with accounting policies, methods and assumptions to be adopted by the recipient; and
- (c) to reflect the circumstances of the recipient.

.41 A transferor may have adopted different accounting policies and methods from those to be adopted by the recipient. The economic assumptions used by the transferor, such as the expected inflation escalation and discount rate in determining the long-term liabilities transferred in a restructuring, may not be consistent with those to be used by the recipient.

.42 The carrying amount of the assets and liabilities received may need to be adjusted to align with the accounting policies, methods and assumptions to be adopted by the recipient to establish consistent basis for reporting subsequent to the restructuring date. For example, the carrying amount of a transferred long-term liability at the restructuring date would be adjusted to reflect a different discount rate to be used by the recipient.

Analysis:

ONTC's agency reporting level:

From ONTC's point of view a merger/transfer of ONTC plan to the PSPP, would fall under PS3250.74/5, a plan curtailment and or settlement. As expected future services of active ONTC members will be eliminated under the existing ONTC plan on April 1, 2018 and the agency will have no direct or contractual responsibility for the past service obligations, as both the past service obligations and plan assets will be transferred to PSPP as part of the settlement. However, the timing of the recognition of the curtailment and then settlement is unclear.

One may argue recognition of the curtailment/settlement happens when the merger/transfer decision has been approved by the Province and has been communicated to ONTC as the approval and communication commitment provides Province little discretion to avoid the transaction.

On the other hand, one may argue that recognition should be deferred until an actual merger/transfer agreement is signed. Even though the parties are in agreement in principal, the ONTC may not be willing to agree with the terms (i.e. if there is union push back), and actual terms (including timing) may change with further discussions. One may also argue that the timing of the recognition of curtailment/settlement should be further delayed until when Financial Services Commission of Ontario (FSCO) approves the merger. Mergers are reviewed and approved by FSCO and need to meet the minimum requirements covered under the Pension Benefit Act (PBA). FSCO approval may take up to a year or more. Per TBS pension policy, measures have already been taken into consideration to ensure that minimum requirements will be met under PBA and thus it would be unlikely that FSCO would not provide final approval.

The ultimate decision on how the agency will report the merger/transfer as of March 31, 2018 would be up to the agency and their auditors. However OPCD assessment is that recognition of the curtailment would likely occur once the merger agreement is signed. At that time, a curtailment would occur as the active members expected future service in the ONTC plan will cease as of April 1, 2018, and per PS3250.077, net unamortized losses carried by the agency would be recognized immediately.

The actual date of de-recognition of plan assets and accrued benefit obligation by ONTC may be different from the date of curtailment depending on the agreement.

Province's Consolidated Reporting Level:

PS3250 does not address how the government should account for merger/transfer of defined benefit pension plans within the reporting entity.

From a Province reporting perspective, a curtailment and settlement has not occurred as the ONTC employees continue to earn a defined benefit pension after the merger/transfer. As the merger/transfer just shifts pension risk from one part of the reporting entity (ONTC) to another part of the same reporting entity (i.e. PSPP Province itself). The associated risks with the pension benefit obligation and the plan asset still remain within the reporting entity. In accordance with PS2500, intergovernmental unit gains and losses arising on the sale or transfer of assets and liabilities remaining within the government reporting entity should be eliminated.

As expected future services of active ONTC members will still continue under PSPP, the net unamortized losses balance in ONTC should be continued to be amortized (i.e. not recognized immediately on merger) at the consolidated level. A consolidation elimination entry would be needed to reverse the immediate recognition of net unamortized losses and add the net unamortized losses from ONTC to the PSPP amortization schedules. As the ONTC unamortized amounts are small relative to the PSPP unamortized balances, OPCD recommends to amortize the balances over the expected average remaining service life (EARSL) of the all the active members covered under PSPP which would now cover ONTC members as well.

However, the ONTC plan and PSPP are not entirely the same with respect to benefit structure. For instance active ONTC members will have the benefit of guarantee indexation under PSPP while under ONTC plan they only benefited from ad-hoc indexation. In addition, ONTC will be flowing cash payment into the ONTC plan before transfer (i.e. through transfer payment from the Province), to pay off previous unfunded liability including a portion to bring ONTC members to guarantee indexation values before assets are transferred to PSPP. OPCD has confirmed with Treasury Board Secretariat (TBS) Pension Policy that ONTC active members will be receiving a guaranteed indexation for past service. From a reporting entity point of view, one would expect that Province would incur an expense to granting retroactive increase in benefits and in this case indexation. This past service benefit improvement in substance is similar to prior year service cost of plan amendment under PS3250.63.

Cost of plan amendments related to prior period employee services should be accounted for in the period of the plan amendment which in this case would be when the merger agreement is signed. As ONTC itself did not carry net unamortized actuarial gains, there is no offset per PS3250.60.

Measurement issues:

Per PS3450.20 & .37 both the transferor and the recipient would recognized and de-recognize the assets and liabilities on the restructuring date. Based on what has been currently proposed the restructuring date will be April 1, 2018 where by ONTC members will cease earning service in ONTC plan and be designated in the PSPP plan. Though actual transfer of assets and liabilities may not occur until after FSCO approval, the effective date would be April 1, 2018 based on the proposed.

Based on PS3430.38, the Province would recognized the pension assets and liabilities at their carrying amount adjusting for PSA standards, aligning with accounting policies, methods and assumptions of the Province. Pension Assets would be transferred to the Province at the fair value of the pension assets as of April 1, 2018, as ONTC would also de-recognize their assets at fair value.

Accrued benefit obligation (ABO) reported by the Province will likely be different from the ABO reported by ONTC before transfer, as the Province's management assumption discount rate for PSPP is different from the discount rate used by ONTC to value the accounting obligation. As the Province discount rate of 5.75% is higher than the ONTC discount rate of 5.25%, the PSPP will likely be reporting a lower ABO in the transfer than what ONTC's will be de-recognizing. In addition there also maybe other differences due to differences in actuarial assumptions that would be factored in the transfer in as part of the accrued benefit obligation. These differences (including discount rate) would be treated as an experience gain/loss or change in assumptions, and should be included in the net unamortized gains of PSPP and amortized over EARSL. In addition unamortized losses from ONTC that was reversed from consolidation would also be included in the net unamortized gains of PSPP.

Conclusion:

ONTC will recognize a curtailment loss once the merger/transfer agreement is signed, though the ultimate decision on curtailment would the decision between ONTC and its auditor.

At the Province's reporting level, no curtailment has occurred and any curtailment loss would be reversed and included in the PSPP net unamortized gains.

The agency and the Province will recognize and de-recognize the transfer of plan assets/liabilities on the effective date of April 1, 2018. Plan assets/liabilities will be transferred at fair value. Any experience gains or assumption gains on the transfer of ABO would be included in PSPP net unamortized gains and amortized over EARSL.

The Province would likely have to request the actuary to break out the past service cost related to the additional benefit ONTC active members out of the experience gain/loss as this would be recognized immediately similar to a plan amendment. The fiscal impact would equal to the value of the past service cost related to the additional benefit. Based on the preliminary funding analysis from AON Hewitt (page 8 of slide) it would be approximately $21M.

Questions for Ernst & Young:

Timing of recognition:

- Should the recognition of the curtailment by ONTC be once the merger/transfer agreement ultimately signed and not when the Province approve and communicate to ONTC?
- Is there an argument that curtailment will not happen until final FSCO approval?
- Should the restructuring date be April 1, 2018 assuming that would be the final date where ONTC members will be earning benefits in ONTC plan? Or would the date be when FSCO approves the merger/transfer which may be a year later?

Consolidation impact:

- Is there an argument that in substance at the reporting level that a curtailment/settlement has not occurred and that losses on ONTC curtailment should be reversed and included in PSPP unamortized gain/loss sub-ledger?

Past service cost - fiscal impact:

- Should be a past service cost expense related to any benefit improvements ONTC active members will get that is different from what they had in ONTC? If so, should the past service cost need to be recognized immediately upon transfer as there are no net amortized gains on ONTC's side? Is there an argument to offset the past service cost against the net unamortized gains in PSPP?

Journal entries:

- In the draft journals provided (i.e. excel document) which are based on preliminary information provided by ONTC actuary and funding information from PSPP actuary. Does the journal entries provided capture the substance of the transaction and necessary eliminations?

- Are there other items that need to be considered?

Subject: Fw: Discussion Items for IESO Call

Good morning.
We had suggested that EY list some of their questions in advance of today's call (see below). I personally think however, that we first need to establish a common understanding of RRA (eg. Clarity of accounting guidance wrt governing board, independence, different types of RRAs), and perhaps address some of EY's questions/confusion following their read of the AG's recent comments/postings and how they might relate (or not) to the IESO's situation.
Just forwarding these Q's as an info item. Talk soon, N

Hi Nadine,

Below is a list of the items I would like to discuss on our call with the IESO.

Please let me know if you have any questions/concerns with the list.

Regards,
Lee Anne

IESO Financial Statements

Current supply cost variance account

· Where is this recorded on the 2016 balance sheet (Amounts due to/from market participants?)

· Why is this not a regulatory asset? Is it considered to be a financial asset?

· There are similarities between this variance account and the new FHP variance account, but FHP variance account is going to be accounted for a regulatory asset. What is driving different treatment?

Market accounts

· Can we walk through the entries that are booked as part of the settlement process (timing and DRs/CRs)

· What are 'Other liabilities' (Note 3)

Market Administration/Settlement

Confirm/correct the following:

Price consumers pay comprised of:

o Electricity commodity price (HOEP)

o Transmission price

o Distribution price

· Global Adjustment

IESO only settles the electricity commodity price component and the related portion of the Global Adjustment

Supply of electricity comes from:

1. OPG (rate set by OEB)

2. Non-utility generators (rate set by contract – contracts held by OEFC)

3. Generation facilities under contract with IESO (rate set by contract)

4. Imports (paid HOEP)

Are there are other suppliers that are paid HOEP?

Portion of Global Adjustment determined by IESO driven by variances relating to #1, #2, #3 above

What is the nature of the contracts IESO enters into?
Participation agreements

- IESO enters into participation agreements with all market participants (buyers and sellers)

- Participation agreements bind IESO and counterparty to follow market rules

- Participation agreement would be the only contract IESO enters into with #1, #2, #4 above

Supply contracts

- Since IESO does not buy and sell electricity, what is the contract for? (IESO paying for commitment that the counterparty will supply electricity into the IESO grid?)

- Does the IESO negotiate the terms of these contracts?

Buyers of electricity from IESO grid are comprised of:

- LDCs

- Large consumers

The electricity commodity price paid by all buyers is HOEP.
IESO determines HOEP.
Although IESO determines HOEP, IESO is not really determining rates charged to buyers because total price is a bundle of electricity at HOEP plus/minus Global Adjustment and OEB mandates that bundle must (over time) equal cost.

Subject: Discussion to take place at the ASAF / IFASS meetings of September

The contents of this email do not represent the official views of KPMG or the IASB or the AcSB of Canada or the Accounting Standards Advisory Forum (ASAF) or the Korea Accounting Standards Board (KASB). It represents my personal views through a reading of my crystal ball. KPMG accepts no responsibility to anyone for the information contained in this email.

As mentioned in my previous communication, the ASAF will be addressing rate-regulated activities at its meeting of September 2016. Two Agenda Papers have been posted to the IASB website: the first one prepared by the AcSB of Canada and the second one prepared by the KASB (see enclosures and summaries below).

· The AcSB paper takes a fresh look at the topic. It explores what constitutes decision-useful information by assessing data taken from the practical experiences of users of the financial statements of entities with activities subject to rate regulation; and

· The KASB paper examines rationales for recognizing regulatory assets and liabilities based on revenue approach.

The IASB and national standard-setters will be asked to provide input on these two papers. It is my understanding that these two papers will also be presented at the September 2016 meeting of the International Forum of Accounting Standard Setters (IFASS). The IFASS is a grouping of national accounting standard-setters from around the world, chaired by Ms. Tricia O'Malley (former Chair of the AcSB of Canada). IFASS supports the mission of the IASB to develop a single set of high quality, understandable and enforceable global accounting standards.

The Crystal Ball

My views on the two papers:

· The AcSB paper is providing an in-depth analysis of users' needs in our industry. This paper should convince the IASB / ASAF / IFASS that certain regulatory regimes create "real" rights and obligations that affect the value of those entities in the eyes of investors and rating agencies.

· The KASB paper is supporting the recognition of regulatory assets and liabilities. However, the paper refers to the definition of assets and liabilities included in the current conceptual framework, and as a result does not bring any new perspective that has not already been discussed over the past few years.

· The IASB will be paying close attention to discussions that will take place at the ASAF and IFASS meetings of September 2016.

I will keep you informed on the discussions that will take place at the ASAF meeting of September and the reaction of the IASB staff.

Should you have any questions or comments, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Best regards,

Summary of the AcSB paper

1. Section I of the paper demonstrates that rate-regulated entities are an important part of the equity and debt markets in Canada and beyond. Projected future global investment requirements in the power sector highlight the need for capital and, thus, the importance of useful financial information to assist users in making informed decisions.

2. The data in Section II emphasizes the need for users to understand the regulatory framework in which the rate-regulated entity operates. The regulatory framework governs the relationship between the rate regulator and the rate-regulated entity, and has many components. The main components are: the legislation underlying the framework; the rules and procedures established by the rate regulator; and the decisions that interpret the legislation and rules. The regulatory framework:

a. defines the environment in which the rate-regulated entity operates;

b. affects whether the entity has rights and obligations resulting from the performance of its rate- regulated activities; and

c. significant bearing on the entity's financial performance and future cash flows.

3. The components of the regulatory framework influence the form of rate regulation chosen by the rate regulator to establish the rates charged to customers for the regulated goods or services. More commonly today, the form of rate regulation includes attributes of both cost-of-service and incentive-based mechanisms in order to balance both entity and customer interests. Understanding the details of the form of rate regulation is necessary in order to account for the economics of the entity's rate-regulated activities.

4. Section III demonstrates that the strength of the regulatory framework affects the enforceability of the economic resources of, and claims against, the entity. In addition, the nature and risk profile of recognized balances arising from rate regulation can vary. This affects the degree of uncertainty associated with such balances and, as a result, their subsequent measurement to capture the economics of rate-regulated activities.

5. In Section IV, the data demonstrates that the regulatory framework in which an entity operates is a key factor considered by debt and equity analysts, as well as credit rating agencies. The various components of the regulatory framework can affect the financial performance and future cash flows of the entity. Prospective purchasers use financial information that reflects the economics of rate- regulated activities in determining the purchase price to acquire assets used in such activities. The data demonstrates that investors are paying a premium for these assets because they are viewed as capable of generating stable earnings and cash flows when the regulatory framework is strong. For jurisdictions, such as Canada and the U.S., that recognize balances arising from rate regulation on the face of the financial statements, the purchase price allocations examined revealed that the carrying value of these balances generally approximates their fair value.

6. The data presented in the paper supports the conclusion that financial information that reflects the economics of rate-regulated activities is useful. Such financial information has confirmatory and predictive value that is capable of making a difference in the decisions made by users.

Summary of the KASB paper

The KASB supports the revenue approach, and on the basis of the revenue approach, proposes developing a new revenue recognition model for rate-regulated entities, which would reflect the unique natures of rate-regulated environment. A new model based on the revenue approach would be consistent with the definition of asset and the definition of liability in the current Conceptual Framework for Financial Reporting (hereinafter referred to as 'Conceptual Framework') as well as with the requirements of IFRS 15 Revenue from Contracts with Customers. The KASB thinks that the new model would enhance the intercompany comparability among rate-regulated entities and non-regulated entities.

Executive Summary

1. This paper takes a "fresh look" at the topic of rate-regulated activities. It explores what constitutes decision-useful information by assessing data taken from the practical experiences of users of the financial statements of entities with activities subject to rate regulation ("rate-regulated entities").

2. Section I of the paper demonstrates that rate-regulated entities are an important part of the equity and debt markets in Canada and beyond. Projected future global investment requirements in the power sector highlight the need for capital and, thus, the importance of useful financial information to assist users in making informed decisions.

3. The data in Section II emphasizes the need for users to understand the regulatory framework in which the rate-regulated entity operates. The regulatory framework governs the relationship between the rate regulator and the rate-regulated entity, and has many components. The main components are: the legislation underlying the framework; the rules and procedures established by the rate regulator; and the decisions that interpret the legislation and rules. The regulatory framework:

   (a) defines the environment in which the rate-regulated entity operates;

   (b) affects whether the entity has rights and obligations resulting from the performance of its rate-regulated activities; and

   (c) has a significant bearing on the entity's financial performance and future cash flows.

4. The components of the regulatory framework influence the form of rate regulation chosen by the rate regulator to establish the rates charged to customers for the regulated goods or services. More commonly today, the form of rate regulation includes attributes of both cost-of-service and incentive-based mechanisms in order to balance both entity and customer interests. Understanding the details of the form of rate regulation is necessary in order to account for the economics of the entity's rate-regulated activities.

5. Section III demonstrates that the strength of the regulatory framework affects the enforceability of the economic resources of, and claims against, the entity. In addition, the nature and risk profile of recognized balances arising from rate regulation can vary. This affects the degree of uncertainty associated with such balances and, as a result, their subsequent measurement to capture the economics of rate-regulated activities.

6. In Section IV, the data demonstrates that the regulatory framework in which an entity operates is a key factor considered by debt and equity analysts, as well as credit rating agencies. The various components of the regulatory framework can affect the financial performance and future cash flows of the entity. Prospective purchasers use financial information that reflects the economics of rate-regulated activities in determining the purchase price to acquire assets used in such activities. The data demonstrates that investors are paying a premium for these assets because they are viewed as capable of generating stable earnings and cash flows when the regulatory framework is strong. For jurisdictions, such as Canada and the U.S., that recognize balances arising from rate regulation on the face of the financial statements, the purchase price allocations examined revealed that the carrying value of these balances generally approximates their fair value.

7. The data presented in this paper supports the conclusion that financial information that reflects the economics of rate-regulated activities is useful. Such financial information has confirmatory and predictive value that is capable of making a difference in the decisions made by users.

Introduction

Objective of Research

8. The objective of this paper is to explore what constitutes decision-useful information by assessing data taken from the practical experiences of users of the financial statements of rate-regulated entities.

9. General purpose financial reporting should provide financial information about the reporting entity that is useful to existing and potential investors, lenders and other creditors in making decisions about providing resources to the entity.[1] The decisions of financial statement users depend on the returns they expect, which, in turn, depend on their assessment of the amount, timing and uncertainty of the entity's future cash flows. In order to make such an assessment, users need information about the entity's resources, claims against the entity, and how efficiently the entity's management and governing board have discharged their responsibilities to use the entity's resources.

10. In the case of rate-regulated entities, the amount, timing and degree of certainty or uncertainty of the entity's future cash flows is affected by the presence of rate regulation. The IASB's September 2014 Discussion Paper, "Reporting the Financial Effects of Rate Regulation" notes that users have told standard setters that they need information about the effects of rate regulation when such regulation affects both the price charged to customers, and the management and profitability of the business. The objective of the IASB's Rate-regulated Activities project is to identify what information about the financial effects of rate regulation is most relevant to financial statements users, and determine how best to reflect that information in IFRS financial statements.

11. "Balances arising from rate regulation" are the rights and obligations of an entity resulting from the performance of activities to provide goods or services subject to rate regulation. Users often refer to the strength of the regulatory framework in explaining why including the effects of rate regulation on the face of the financial statements provides useful information. They understand that these balances have risk attributes that can affect the amount and timing of their ultimate recovery or settlement. However, when the regulatory framework is strong, these risk attributes may resemble the risk attributes of other financial statement elements. As such, users view audited financial information that reflects the economics of rate-regulated activities as both vital and transparent. In turn, this financial information is helpful to their assessment of the entity's future cash flows and the returns they can expect.

12. In examining the decision-usefulness of financial information that reflects the economics of rate-regulated activities, this paper presents data in several areas pointing to:

    (a) the importance to the capital markets of entities subject to rate regulation; (Section I)

    (b) the importance of understanding the regulatory framework in place, which, in part, determines whether the entity has rights and obligations requiring a particular accounting treatment; (Section II)

    (c) the manner in which the strength or weakness of the regulatory framework can affect the enforceability of the recovery of the entity's economic resources and settlement of claims against it; (Section III) and

    (d) how users have factored financial information that reflects the economics of rate-regulated activities into their decision-making. (Section IV)

Focus

13. Given the time available to prepare this paper and the ability to access the data being sought, this paper focuses mainly on Canadian facts and circumstances. When possible, data from other jurisdictions has also been incorporated as a basis for comparison in a particular area. (See "Next Steps" for further work that could be done to widen the paper's focus and provide a global perspective.) In most cases, the data presented in this paper is from readily available sources such as publications, reports and financial statements. The paper identifies the few instances when published data is not available and anecdotal information has been provided instead.

14. Much information exists on the topic of rate-regulated activities, including information submitted to the IASB as part of its current project. For example, some of the data in this paper is derived from stakeholders' comment letters to the IASB. The AcSB staff has been able to review only a portion of the existing body of information, but thinks the paper addresses points of fundamental significance to the objective of this paper. A neutral approach was taken to collecting the data. That is, pertinent information was sought and included in the paper, regardless of whether a particular piece of information could be viewed by individual readers as either positive or negative in any sense.

Purpose of Discussion

15. The IASB and national standard setters will be asked to provide input on the extent to which:

    (a) the paper's findings apply to their jurisdictions, or

    (b) the data should be updated to be more inclusive from a global perspective.

Section I. Importance to the Capital Markets of Entities Subject to Rate Regulation

Key Observations

- In Canada, rate-regulated entities are mainly in the Utilities and Pipelines sector.
- As of December 31, 2015, approximately $137.3 billion (6%) of the total $2.3 trillion market capitalization in Canada comes from rate-regulated entities. Sizable portions of two of the largest Canadian rate-regulated entities (i.e., Enbridge Inc., and TransCanada Corporation) are owned by investors outside Canada.
- Government-owned rate-regulated entities have over $100 billion of outstanding debt. Investor-owned rate-regulated entities make up over $90 billion of the corporate bond market.
- From a global perspective, the 10 largest utilities (by market capitalization) are located in the U.S. and parts of Europe.
- The International Energy Agency estimates $16.4 trillion of global investment over 2014-2035 will be needed in the power sector to construct new, and refurbish existing, generation plants and transmission and distribution networks. The form of rate regulation used by the regulator will affect an entity's ability to raise capital.

Canadian Rate-regulated Entities

16. There are two main types of rate-regulated entities in Canada:

    (a) Government-owned (i.e., public sector entities that are classified as either "Government Business Enterprises"[2] or "other government enterprises")

    (b) Investor-owned (i.e., publicly-held or privately-held entities)

[2] CPA Canada Public Sector Accounting Handbook defines a Government Business Enterprise as follows: (a) it is a separate entity with the power to contract in its own name and that can sue and be sued; (b) it has been delegated the financial and operational authority to carry on a business; (c) it sells goods and services to individuals and organizations outside of the government reporting entity as its principal activity; (d) it can, in the normal course of its operations, maintain its operations and meet its liabilities from revenues received from sources outside of the government reporting entity.

17. Prior to Canada's adoption of IFRS in 2011, most of these two types of entities applied pre-changeover Canadian GAAP. Similar to United States (U.S.) GAAP, pre-changeover Canadian GAAP permitted the financial statement recognition of balances arising from rate regulation. However, since 2011, greater diversity has appeared in the accounting frameworks being applied by Canadian rate-regulated entities, due in part to efforts by standard setters and Canadian securities regulators to provide some stability for these entities while the IASB completes its work on this topic.

18. The accounting framework landscape for Canadian rate-regulated entities is currently diverse. For annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2015, rate-regulated entities that are Canadian publicly accountable enterprises[3] are required to apply IFRS. Rate-regulated entities that adopted IFRS for the first time after IFRS 14 Regulatory Deferral Accounts was issued continue to recognize these balances. Government Business Enterprises (which operate to generate a profit or on a break-even basis) that are also rate-regulated entities are also directed to apply standards applicable to for-profit entities, and thus apply IFRS. Canadian securities legislation permits dual-listed entities (i.e., Canadian entities also registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission) to apply U.S. GAAP in the normal course. Temporary exemptive relief is also available from the Canadian Securities Administrators that permits rate-regulated entities that are not dual-listed to apply U.S. GAAP in place of IFRS.[4] If a rate-regulated entity is not a publicly accountable enterprise or a Government Business Enterprise, additional accounting framework options may also include Accounting Standards for Private Enterprises or Public Sector Accounting Standards.[5] A non-GAAP reporting framework is used when legislated by the provincial owner of a government-owned rate-regulated entity.

19. As of December 31, 2015, there were approximately 125 rate-regulated entities in Canada. These entities mainly range in size from small entities owned by municipal governments to large investor-owned entities or entities owned by provincial governments.

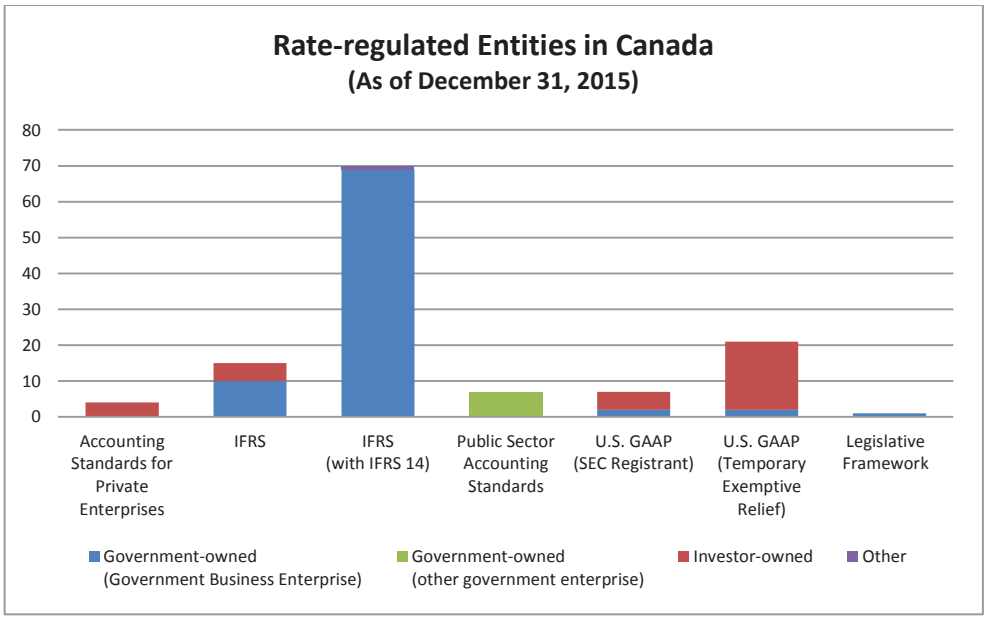
3 CPA Canada Handbook – Accounting defines a publicly accountable enterprise as an entity, other than a not-for-profit organization, that (i) has issued, or is in the process of issuing, debt or equity instruments that are, or will be, outstanding and traded in a public market (a domestic or foreign stock exchange or an over-the-counter market, including local and regional markets); or (ii) holds assets in a fiduciary capacity for a broad group of outsiders as one of its primary businesses.

4 The exemptive relief is in effect until the earlier of January 1, 2019 or the effective date prescribed by the IASB for mandatory application of an IFRS standard specific to entities with activities subject to rate regulation.

5 Accounting Standards for Private Enterprises are domestic standards written by the AcSB and Public Sector Accounting Standards are domestic standards written by the Public Sector Accounting Board, Canada's other accounting standard setter.



Source: Information compiled based on audited financial statements for fiscal year 2015, or information from rate filings that confirmed the accounting framework used by these entities. Due to data collection constraints, the population could be slightly larger.

20. The chart above highlights two key points:

(a) The majority of investor-owned entities have chosen U.S. GAAP over IFRS. A few entities that are not reporting issuers apply Accounting Standards for Private Enterprises. Both U.S. GAAP and Accounting Standards for Private Enterprises permit the recognition of balances arising from rate regulation. Several entities that apply U.S. GAAP have told us this choice was influenced by the need to provide their users with financial statements that accurately reflect the economics of their business. Further, some entities presently using the temporary exemptive relief described in paragraph 18 have said they are considering incurring the cost and effort necessary to become a registrant of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission in order to have the permanent ability to apply U.S. GAAP. While such a decision could be primarily for business reasons such as the entity expanding its operations into the U.S., it could also be attributed to the continuing uncertainty about the ultimate outcome of the IASB's Rate-regulated Activities project and the approaching expiry date of the securities regulators' exemptive relief.

(b) Public sector entities that are Government Business Enterprises tend to apply IFRS. The majority of these entities is made up several large provincially-owned utilities, and many small municipally-owned local distribution utilities that do not issue debt or list in the U.S. stock market, and are not subject to Canadian securities legislation. As a result, they cannot apply U.S. GAAP. As shown in the chart, many of these entities adopted IFRS for the first time after the IASB issued IFRS 14, which allowed them to continue their previous accounting practices for rate-regulated activities.

21. Within the pool of government-owned rate-regulated entities, there are entities that do not meet the characteristics of Government Business Enterprises and are required to apply Public Sector Accounting Standards.

22. The data on the different accounting frameworks in Canada is unique. It demonstrates that when given a choice, rate-regulated entities select an accounting framework that captures the effects of rate regulation on their financial position and financial performance in order to communicate more decision-useful information to users.

Equity Market

23. Investor-owned rate-regulated entities form an important part of the Canadian equity market.

24. As of December 31, 2015:

- $137.3 billion (6%) of the total $2.3 trillion market capitalization in Canada comes from rate-regulated entities.
- The majority of entities with rate-regulated activities are in the Utilities & Pipelines sector.
- Entities that represent 90% of the total rate-regulated entities' market capitalization apply U.S. GAAP.

25. The table below shows the amount of equity capital that continues to be raised year over year by the Canadian Utilities and Pipelines sector as a whole.

in CAD billions

Utilities and Pipelines Sector (includes both rate-regulated and non-rate regulated entities)	2014	2015
Market Capitalization	$189.0	$164.0
Equity capital raised since 2010	$25.1	$31.9
Equity capital raised in the year	$8.0	$6.8
Average offering size for issuers	$0.4	$0.5

26. Global investors also view rate-regulated entities in Canada as an investment opportunity. Staff looked at the two largest entities with rate-regulated operations in Canada (by market capitalization) and noted that, in each case, a sizable portion of the entity's ownership holdings is outside Canada, primarily in the U.S. The extent of U.S. ownership could be one of the reasons why some Canadian rate-regulated entities with operations in the U.S. have decided to apply U.S. GAAP. Also, Canadian rate-regulated entities compete for capital in the North American markets and want their financial statements to be comparable with their competitors in the U.S.

Debt Market

27. Government Business Enterprises are not prominent in the equity market.[7] However, they form an important part of the debt market, as they raise capital by issuing bonds or debentures, and through loan borrowings, in order to carry out their operations and fund their capital infrastructure projects.

28. The following table illustrates the debt outstanding for some of the larger government-owned rate-regulated utilities, and the accounting framework they apply:

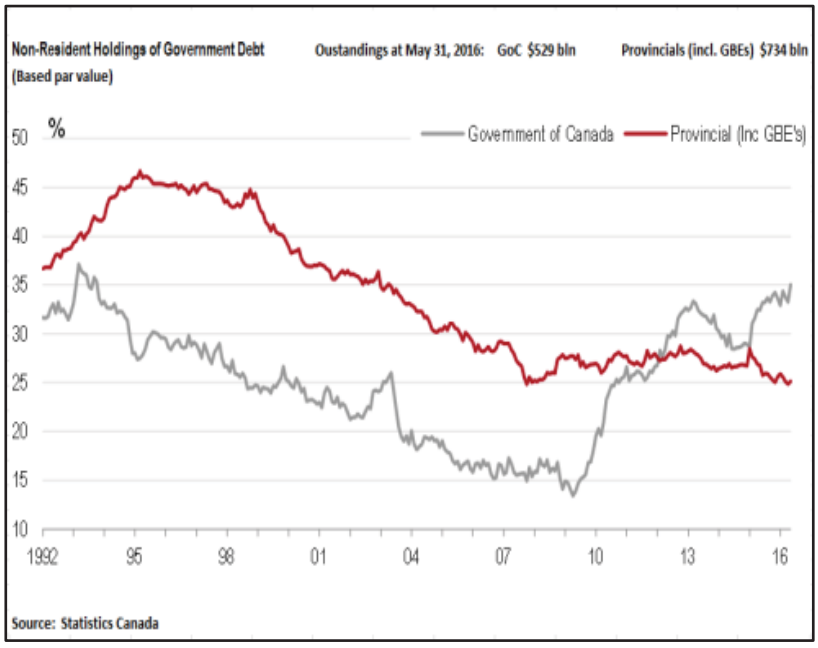
29. Although staff has not been able to gather data indicating how much of the government-owned utilities' debt is held by foreign investors, Statistics Canada shows that the non-resident holdings (i.e., holdings of owners residing outside Canada) of provincial debt that includes Government Business Enterprises was almost 30% in 2015. The chart to the right provides a sense of the percentage of non-resident holdings of government debt from 1992 to 2016.



[7] Due to the recent implementation of the Province of Ontario's privatization plan for Hydro One, this entity currently has shares traded on the TSX.

30. The corporate bond market is equally important for publicly held investor-owned rate-regulated entities in raising capital to fund their capital infrastructure and ongoing business operations. The table below roughly illustrates the portion of the corporate bond market index made up of sub-industry groups containing most of the publicly held investor-owned rate-regulated entities. (Note: The sub-industry groups could also include entities that are not subject to rate regulation.)

Global Perspective – Market Capitalization by Geography

31. Staff also wanted to understand which jurisdictions make up a large part of the global market capitalization for utilities. Research efforts identified a utilities index that captures large- and mid-cap representation across 23 "Developed Markets" and 23 "Emerging Markets" countries.[9] This index has some limitations because certain utilities could be government-owned or privatized and, thus, would not be captured. Furthermore, the index could also contain entities that are both rate-regulated and non-rate-regulated. However, the information provides a general sense of the geographic distribution of utilities in the equity market. It appears that many of the large utilities are in the U.S., with several in Europe (for example, United Kingdom, Spain, Italy).

8 The Universe Bond Index is the broadest and most widely used measure of performance of marketable government and corporate bonds outstanding in the Canadian market. The table above only shows figures relating to Canadian corporate bonds.

9 As per the MSCI ACWI Utilities Index, "Developed Markets" countries include: Australia, Austria, Belgium, Canada, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Hong Kong, Ireland, Israel, Italy, Japan, Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Portugal, Singapore, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, the UK and the US. "Emerging Markets" countries include: Brazil, Chile, China, Colombia, Czech Republic, Egypt, Greece, Hungary, India, Indonesia, Korea, Malaysia, Mexico, Peru, Philippines, Poland, Russia, Qatar, South Africa, Taiwan, Thailand, Turkey and United Arab Emirates.

Future Trends and Investment Requirements

32. Through the research performed, staff has learned that various jurisdictions are undergoing energy reforms. For example:

(a) The regulatory environment of Europe, the Middle East, India and Africa is dynamic, with many countries focusing on opening their power sectors to competition and private investments.

(b) Reforms are occurring to break up monopolies in China. In 2014, China's National Energy Administration submitted plans to the State Council, advising the breakup of grid operators' monopoly in the distribution and retail sale of electricity to the end customer. These reforms will potentially open the power market to private capital and other investments.

(c) In Japan, it is expected that deregulation and the entrance of new players will transform the country's power market as there is a move towards breaking up vertically-integrated utilities and introducing full retail competition. There are plans to unbundle the 10 integrated utilities into separate power generation, transmission, distribution and supply entities over the next few years. In June 2014, Japanese lawmakers voted to open up the residential electricity market to full competition.

33. Based on statistics from the International Energy Agency, the projected global investment requirements in the power sector are in the area of $16.4 trillion over the period 2014-2035. The International Energy Agency's projections indicate:

> "…by far the greater part of the investment will be needed in markets that are mostly regulated. Over 2014-2035, with current market designs, less than $1 trillion will be required in the competitive parts of electricity markets out of the cumulative $9.6 trillion invested in power plants, with an additional $6.8 trillion needed for T&D [transmission and distribution] grids, for cumulative power sector investment of $16.4 trillion."[10]

Investment requirements

Global investment in the power sector amounts to $16.4 trillion over 2014-2035 in the New Policies Scenario, an annual average of about $740 billion per year. This represents some 40% of investment in energy supply infrastructure during that period. About 58% of power sector investment is allocated to the construction of new power plants and refurbishment of existing ones; the remainder is used to build and refurbish T&D networks. At the regional level, cumulative investment needs are largest in China ($3.6 trillion), followed by the European Union ($2.2 trillion), United States ($2.1 trillion), India ($1.6 trillion) and Southeast Asia ($1.0 trillion) (Figure 3.7).

34. With aging infrastructure, government-imposed environmental targets and changing power demand, energy reforms will continue and the form of rate regulation will evolve to balance the needs of the customers and the financial viability of the entity in attracting capital. Providing information about the economics of rate-regulated activities will help investors and lenders to identify the opportunities and risks created by the regulatory framework in which the entity operates and assist them in making more informed decisions.

What this Section Demonstrates

35. Rate-regulated entities are important to the capital markets, and thus, to users making investment and lending decisions. Financial information that reflects the economics of rate-regulated activities, and is consistent between jurisdictions for entities with similar facts and circumstances increases comparability and is more decision-useful.

Section II. Importance of Understanding the Regulatory Framework

Key Observations

- The regulatory framework governs the relationship between the rate-regulated entity and the rate regulator. The regulatory framework has many components. Understanding those components is important in determining whether there are rights and obligations requiring a particular accounting treatment.
- Legislation forms the basis of the regulatory framework.
- The form of rate regulation can vary, and it is becoming more common that the rate-setting mechanism can include both cost-of-service and incentive-based attributes.
- Regulatory decisions, and subsequent court decisions, provide confirmatory and predictive value of the economic resources of, and claims against, the rate-regulated entity.

Identifying "Rate" Regulation

36. The term "regulation" can cover a broad range of activities. The Oxford Dictionary[11] defines regulation as "a rule or directive made and maintained by an authority." Many sectors (e.g., the financial, communications and media sectors) are regulated in some manner. The IASB's Rate-regulated Activities project, and this paper, focus only on rate regulation.

37. Rate regulation, as defined in the IASB's March 2013 Request for Information, is "the mechanism by which a rate regulator imposes a control over the setting of prices that can be charged for services of products." Generally, rate regulation is imposed when an entity has a monopoly or dominant market position that gives it excessive market power. Without rate regulation, the price that the entity can charge would not be constrained since effective market competition is lacking.

38. This paper does not reproduce or expand upon the complete description of rate regulation included in the IASB's September 2014 Discussion Paper, "Reporting the Financial Effects of Rate Regulation." It simply reminds readers of the importance of ascertaining whether all or part of an entity's activities is subject to rate regulation, as opposed to some other form of regulation.

Regulatory Framework

39. Users in Canada have said that the regulatory framework, of which the rate-setting mechanism is a part, has a significant bearing on the entity's financial performance and future cash flows. The regulatory framework governs the relationship between the rate regulator and the rate-regulated entity and has many components. The main components include:

- the legislation that underlying the framework,
- the rules and procedures established by the rate regulator through the design of the rate-setting mechanism (i.e., the form of rate regulation); and
- the regulatory decisions, and subsequent court rulings on those decisions, that interpret the legislation and rules.

40. Understanding the regulatory framework is important because it can affect the determination of whether the entity has rights and obligations that arise from the performance of its rate-regulated activities.

Regulatory Framework Component: Legislation

41. An overall objective of rate regulation in Canada is to balance the fair return earned by an entity, with reasonable rates charged to customers based upon prudently incurred costs. In addition, rate regulators attempt to ensure that customers of varying types pay their fair share of the costs incurred to service the entire customer base. The powers and mandates of rate regulators in Canada come from governing federal and provincial legislation. This legislation typically requires that the rate regulator approve tariffs or rates that are just and reasonable.

42. Even though the relationship between the rate regulator and the entity it regulates may not be contractual, the rate regulator has the ability to affect the entity's financial performance and future cash flows through its regulatory decisions. In light of this ability, the strength of the jurisdiction's regulatory framework becomes very important (as discussed in Section III of this paper).

43. In Canada, the legislation relating to rate regulation contributes to the strength of the regulatory framework because it provides a basis for either challenging or upholding a rate regulator's decisions (or "rulings") and the rates those decisions produce. If a rate regulator establishes rates that are contrary to the principles of the legislation, a rate-regulated entity can challenge the decision by a motion to the regulator, or in a court. Similarly, a rate regulator that disallows costs that are not reasonable or prudently incurred demonstrates rigour in the system to establish reasonable rates for customers.

44. Following are examples of case law that demonstrate the objective of rate regulation, and how legislation can affect the rights and obligations of the rate-regulated entity, as interpreted by the Canadian courts.

Court Interpretations of Canadian Legislation (emphasis added)
The Supreme Court in Northwestern Utilities Ltd v. Edmonton [1929] S.C.R. 186 (Northwestern) defined the scope of the utilities' right to price their product and their right as a result to a fair return. The Court stated "By a fair return is meant that the company will be allowed as large a return on the capital invested in its enterprise (which will be net to the company) as it would receive if it were investing the same amount in other securities possessing an attractiveness, stability and certainty equal to that of the company's enterprise".[12]
A fair rate of return to the corporation is paramount and is all that can be considered in arriving at a fair rate. In the unrealistic situation that a fair return worked a hardship on the consumer, the choices before government to provide relief are unlimited but they should not lower the fair rate of return. Indeed the Federal Court of Appeal (FCA) in TransCanada PipeLines v. Canada National Energy Board 2004 F.C.A. 149 confirmed that a fair return need not be modified out of deference to its impact upon customers.[13]
In Ontario (Energy Board) v. Ontario Power Generation Inc., the Supreme Court reviewed the Ontario Energy Board ("OEB" or the "Board")'s decision to disallow $145 million in labour compensation costs applied for by Ontario Power Generation ("OPG") in its 2011-2012 rates application. The OEB had disallowed these costs, which were related to OPG's nuclear operations, on the basis that OPG's labour costs were not in line with comparable entities in the nuclear industry. The principal question on appeal was whether the Board should have used the "no-hindsight" prudence test to determine whether the labour compensation costs were reasonable. Applying a standard of review of reasonableness, the Court overturned the decision of the Ontario Court of Appeal and reinstated the decision of the OEB and the Divisional Court, holding that the OEB's decision to disallow the $145 in labour compensation costs was reasonable. The Court found that the costs in question were "best understood as at least partly committed" (as opposed to entirely "forecast" costs) because they resulted from collective agreements entered into between OPG and two of its unions but were also subject to management discretion because OPG had some flexibility to manage total staffing levels by way of, among other things, attrition of the workforce.[14]

Regulatory Framework Component: Form of Rate Regulation

45. Pre-changeover Canadian GAAP defined rate regulation as existing when all of the following criteria were present:

14 McCarthy Tetrault, Extracts, http://www.canadianappeals.com/2015/11/24/oeb-and-atco-blog-case-comments/ (November 2015)

(a) The rates for regulated services or products provided to customers are established by or are subject to approval by a regulator or a governing body empowered by statute or contract to establish rates to be charged for services or products.

(b) The regulated rates are designed to recover the cost of providing the services or products.

(c) It is reasonable to assume that rates set at levels that will recover the cost can be charged to and collected from customers in view of the demand for the services or products and the level of direct and indirect competition.

Based on the cause-and-effect relationship between the entity's costs and its rate-based revenue stream

46. Rate regulators in Canada and around the world choose from a variety of forms of rate regulation in order to achieve their objectives. The form of rate regulation is generally based on the terms of the governing legislation. For purposes of this paper, two common forms of rate regulation are described below using information from the IASB's September 2014 Discussion Paper, "Reporting the Financial Effects of Rate Regulation", and other sources.

Cost-of-Service

A mechanism that sets rate to ensure an entity recovers all of its reasonably incurred allowable costs plus a fair return and reasonable return on its capital investment.

Total allowable costs include specific operating costs, and capital costs of assets used to provide regulated goods or services.

The allowed rate of return is what the rate-regulated entity has the opportunity to earn. When applied to the rate base, the allowed rate of return provides an amount equal to the forecast cost of financing the investment required for regulated operations. The financing costs include both the cost of debt and the cost of equity (when an entity has no issued share capital, the rate regulator determines a deemed cost of equity).

Rates are set by means of a rate case based on budget, historical or test year information.

Incentive-Based
(Also referred to as performance-based regulation)

A mechanism that sets rates or components of rates in order to provide an incentive to maximize efficiency, allowing for retaining profits above target level but suffering downside of inefficiency or under-recovery of costs.

The mechanism uses:
- benchmark or target cost and revenue for determining initial rates
- adjusts input measures for inflation and for a variety of output-based objectives, with incentives or penalties applied through the rate formula

Price-cap regulation is a form of incentive-based regulation where limits are set on initial prices and a formula is put in place to allow for future increases in the maximum prices that can be charged.

Hybrid
Combination of cost-of-service and incentive-based mechanisms

47. Rate regulation is designed to ensure that the rate-regulated entity recovers a determinable amount of consideration (the "revenue requirement") in exchange for the rate-regulated activities that it performs.

48. The rate-setting mechanism is an explicit acknowledgement, by the rate regulator, that the original rate determination is provisional to some extent. That is, certain aspects of the approved future rates are adjusted for the difference between the entity's forecasted, and actual, results if the rate regulator has approved the use of variance or deferral accounts. The mechanism works in such a way that the entity has the right to increase, or obligation to decrease, the rate to be charged when the rate-regulated goods or services are provided in the future. Part of that increase or decrease is attributable to the difference between the previous period's provisional rate and actual results for the goods or services rendered in the past.

49. From the research undertaken, the form of rate regulation is constantly evolving as rate regulators try to strike a balance in determining which risks associated with rate-regulated activities:

- are part of the normal cost recovery process and should be assigned to customers; or
- are part of normal business risks that should be borne by an entity's investors or owners as a result of how efficiently the business is managed when providing the rate-regulated goods or services.

This effort to achieve a fair balance between investors and customers is resulting in new forms of rate regulation that are considered hybrid because they encompass attributes of both cost-of-service and performance-based mechanisms. In some cases, different components of an entity's rates could be subject to differing mechanisms.

50. In Canada, most rate-regulated entities are regulated through a cost-of-service mechanism. However, staff has observed that rate regulators are incorporating incentive-based mechanisms to encourage efficiency and productivity among the entities. Typically, the rates set under incentive-based regulation are determined based on the costs of providing the service plus a reasonable return. For subsequent periods, the rates are modified using a formula-based approach that establishes the rates the utility can charge to its customers. There is generally an opportunity to re-base[15] rates on a cost-plus-return basis periodically and/or if the actual incentive return deviates too far from a fair return.

51. To illustrate how the form of rate regulation used can differ across Canada, staff looked at three provinces and the different components of the electricity business:

Business Component	Province
	Ontario	Alberta	Manitoba
Generation	Partially deregulated (one dominant player)	Competitive / market-based (oligopoly in which there are two or more players)	Vertically-integrated regulated electric (and natural gas) utility that is government-owned
Transmission	Fully regulated (one dominant player)	Fully regulated (two major players)
Distribution	Fully regulated (many local distribution companies that are municipally-owned)	Fully regulated (few major distributors)
	Form of Regulation
	Incentive Regulation Mechanism: (Combination of cost-based and incentive-based mechanism. Forecasted costs and revenue information are used to determine a base revenue requirement and the "base" rates that are set to recover the revenue requirement. In subsequent years, the base rates are adjusted by a formula that includes components for inflation, efficiency and productivity gains. At the conclusion of the term, the entity can rebase its rates under cost-of-service.[16])	Generation: not regulated Transmission: Cost-of-service Distribution: Performance-based regulation (Rates using formula that adjusts rate changes to inflation minus an enhanced efficiency or industry productivity factor. Except in limited circumstances, rates can only rise less than inflation.[17])	Cost-of-service

52. In Alberta, although electricity distribution is regulated using performance-based regulation (PBR), there are elements within the PBR that contain some cost-recovery mechanisms. For example, there are adjustments to rates outside the PBR formula involving accounts that are similar to flow-through items found in cost-of-service regulation. There could also be adjustments for events

15 In "rebasing", a utility submits a cost estimate to reset the rate based on a more recent reflection of costs than the ones used in the original rate determination.

16 Based on information from the Ontario Energy Board's Comment Letter to IASB's Request for Information (2013) caused by external factors that are outside the control of the entity and for which there is no other reasonable opportunity to recover the costs within the PBR formula.

53. As for jurisdictions outside Canada, following is an example of an Australian entity that staff thinks helps to illustrate the rules of the rate regulator (see Note 2(g)) and how various components of the rate can have cost-of-service- or incentive-based-like attributes (see Note 2(d)).

TransGrid (Australia) – Extracts from audited financial statements (Accounting framework: IFRS)

Note 2 – Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (g) Trade and Other Receivables

Prescribed Customer Receivables – As at 30 June 2014, TransGrid's total revenue received for prescribed transmission services, including intra-regional settlement residues and inter-regional settlement residue auction proceeds, was less than the revenue entitlement for the financial year. In accordance with the National Electricity Rules (NER), the under-recovered amount and associated interest was entitled to be recovered when setting future transmission service prices. The revenue under-recovery was recognised in Prescribed Customer Receivables.

2014-2015 audited financial statements

Note 2 – Summary of Significant Accounting Policies, (d) Changes in Accounting Policies

Voluntary Change in Accounting Policy – In 2015, TransGrid changed its accounting policy for recognized revenues from the rendering of prescribed services. The rationale for the change reflects the Australian Accounting Standards Board's (AASB) recent clarification of its position on the recognition of rate-regulated assets. Management believes the new accounting policy reflects the AASB view.

As a result of the change, TransGrid has recognized prescribed services revenue on the basis of amounts received or receivable with no amounts accrued for future receipts from (or credits to) customers allowed under any regulatory pricing mechanism.

Previously TransGrid recognized the Maxmium Allowable Revenue (MAR) determined by the AER by recognizing the amount of revenue exceeding the MAR as a payable or the amount of revenue below the MAR as a receivable.

Refer below for further details about deferred revenues or credits that have not been recognized in profit or loss.

i) Transmission Use of System (TUOS) revenue – TransGrid collects its Maximum Allowed Revenue (MAR) based on the transmission prices set in accordance with the pricing methodology approved by the AER and published in May each year for application in the following financial year. In any given year, revenue may exceed or not achieve the MAR due to differences between demand load forecasts and actual loads for TUOS and volatility in settlement residues. As at 30 June 2015, revenue is a total of $110.6m (2014 - $38.2m) below the MAR, which will be included in transmission prices in following years.

ii) Service Target Performance Incentive Scheme – TransGrid is subject to a Service Target Performance Incentive Scheme (STPIS) which provides for the AER to adjust TransGrid's Maximum Allowable Revenue (MAR) in a financial year by between -1% to +3% based on the performance in the previous calendar year. As at 30 June 2015, a STPIS adjustment of $12.1m (2014 - $8.7m) has been determined by the AER and has been built into 2015-16 transmission price.

iii) Network Support – Network support refers to non-network solutions used by transmission network service providers (TNSPs) as a cost effective means of deferring network augmentation. In the prior regulatory period 2009/10 to 2013/14, TransGrid received a network support pass-through allowance which is required to be adjusted for any under-expenditure. As at the reporting date, a total amount of $8.3m (2014 - $15.3m) is required to be credited in following years.

54. In addition to the different forms of rate regulation in use in Canada, it is common for an entity to have both rate-regulated operations and operations not subject to rate regulation. Although some may think of rate regulation as applying to certain industries or sectors, in reality, rate regulation affects specific business activities or services of the entity. Following is an example to illustrate this point.

- Telus Corporation – This entity undertakes activities subject to price cap regulation by the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC). Despite the price-cap regulation, Telus determined that the deferral account mechanism put in place by the regulator (according to its decision on amounts collected related to non-high cost serving areas) created an obligation.

Telus (Canada) – Extracts from 2011 annual report (Accounting framework: IFRS)
Management's Discussion & Analysis 10.3 Regulatory Matters TELUS' telecommunications and broadcasting services are regulated under federal legislation by the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC), Industry Canada and Heritage Canada. The CRTC has taken steps to forbear from the regulation of prices for services offered in competitive markets, such as local residential and business services in selected exchanges, long distance and some data services, and does not regulate the pricing of wireless services. Local telecommunications services that have not been forborne are regulated by the CRTC using a price cap mechanism.
Audited Financial Statements (emphasis added) Note 1 – Summary of Significant Accounting Principles (e) – Revenue recognition Non-high cost service area deferral account – On May 30, 2002, and on July 31, 2002, the CRTC issued Decision 2002-34 and Decision 2002-43, respectively, pronouncements that affected regulated services in the Company's Wireline segment. In an effort to foster competition for residential basic service in non-high cost serving areas, the concept of a deferral account mechanism was introduced by the CRTC, as an alternative to mandating price reductions. The deferral account arises from the CRTC requiring the Company to defer the statement of income recognition of a portion of the monies received in respect of residential basic services provided to non-high cost serving areas. The Company has adopted the liability method of accounting for the deferral account. This resulted in the Company recording incremental liability amounts, subject to reductions for the mitigating activities, during the Decisions' initial four-year periods. The deferral account balance also reflects an interest expense component based on the Company's applicable short-term cost of borrowing, such expense being included in the Consolidated Statements of Income and Other Comprehensive Income as Financing costs. The Company discharges the deferral account liability by undertaking qualifying actions including providing broadband services to rural and remote communities, enhancing the accessibility to telecommunications services for individuals with disabilities and providing customer rebates for the balance. The Company recognizes the drawdown and amortization (over a period no longer than three years) of a proportionate share of the deferral account as qualifying actions are completed; such amortization is included in Other operating income.

Regulatory Framework Component: Regulatory Decisions

55. The rate-setting process generally involves the negotiation of components to be included in the allowed rate. In a rate proceeding, it is common that the rate-regulated entity will not receive everything asked for in its rate case submission. Rate cases submitted by a rate-regulated entity can contain a significant amount of information to support the rate request put forth to the regulator. Similarly, a rate ruling published by a rate regulator is also typically very extensive, in order to explain the regulator's views and set out the reasons for its decision.

56. Regulatory decisions can have both confirmatory and predictive value, as demonstrated below with two examples from Canada. Financial information has confirmatory value if it provides feedback about (confirms or changes) previous evaluations and predictive value if it can be used as an input to processes employed by users to predict future outcomes.[18]

57. Staff looked at the impact of a recent regulatory decision issued by the Alberta Utilities Commission on the Generic Cost of Capital on Canadian Utilities Ltd, a rate-regulated entity in that province. The entity's transmission and distribution business activities are subject to cost-of-service and performance-based regulation, respectively. This entity adopted IFRS before IFRS 14 was issued by the IASB, thus the financial effects of rate regulation are not recognized. The following table describes the effects of the regulatory decision.

Regulatory Decision	Canadian Utilities Ltd.[19] – 2015 audited consolidated financial statements
In Decisions 2011-474 and 2013-459, the Alberta Utilities Commission approved a placeholder of 8.75% for the 2013 and 2014 return on common equity pending a final decision as part of the 2013 Generic Cost of Capital proceedings. March 23, 2015 2013 Generic Cost of Capital AUC Decision 2191-D01-2015 The Alberta Utilities Commission recently issued its decision in the 2013 Generic Cost of Capital proceeding for all gas and electric utilities in the	Note 5 – Segmented Information (Extracts) Adjusted earnings are earnings attributable to equity owners of the Company after adjusting for the timing of revenues and expenses for rate-regulated activities and dividends on equity preferred shares of the Company. Adjusted earnings also exclude one-time gains and losses, significant impairments and items that are not in the normal course of business or a result of day-to-day operations. Adjusted earnings are a key measure of segment earnings used by the CODM to assess segment performance and allocate resources. The Canadian and Australian utilities recognize revenues from regulatory decisions when customer rates are changed and amounts are billed to customers. Under rate-regulated accounting, revenues from regulatory decisions that affect Province. The allowed ROE for Alberta's gas and electric utilities was set at 8.3% for 2015. In addition, the Alberta Utilities Commission determined that the allowed ROE for 2013 and 2014 would be modified from the previous interim rate of 8.75% to 8.3%. The Alberta Utilities Commission also reduced the deemed common equity ratio by one percentage point for most Alberta regulated utilities and decided to forego returning to an automatic formula at this time. The Alberta utilities have filed applications to appeal this decision.[20]	current and prior periods are recognized when the decision is received. Generic Cost of Capital Decision The utilities recorded a reduction in adjusted earnings of $51 million in 2015 for an Alberta Utilities Commission decision which reduced the Return on Equity and deemed common equity ratios for 2013 to 2015. Of the $51 million recorded in 2015, $31 million related to 2013 and 2014. Under IFRS, earnings will be adjusted when the [Alberta Utilities Commission] approves revised customer rates and the amount payable to customers is refunded through future billings; $10 million has been refunded as at the end of the year 2015.

58. Although the interim allowed rate of return of 8.75% had already been billed to customers, through the subsequent regulatory decision, the entity was only permitted to earn an allowed return on equity of 8.3% in 2013 and 2014. This regulatory decision has confirmatory value because it provides feedback about the previous interim rate of return used, and affects the claims against the entity's economic resources. The regulatory decision also has predictive value because it would assist users to understand the effects on the entity's future cash flows, and their assessment of the regulatory framework in Alberta.

59. Staff understands that while a rate regulator's decision can affect an entity's economic reality, sometimes certain parts of the decision do not have an immediate financial statement impact unless the entity's current economic resources or claims against it are affected. Nonetheless, because a regulatory decision illustrates how the rate regulator interprets and applies the legislation and rules, it assists the predictability of future cash flows.

60. Users such as credit rating agencies, and debt and equity analysts, take into consideration how such regulatory decisions, and other factors, could affect the risk profile of the entity. The results affect the entity's credit rating, or the analyst's buy/sell recommendation.

61. This example, relating to TransCanada Pipelines, demonstrates how a regulatory decision can have both confirmatory and predictive value. The following table includes excerpts from: a bond analyst report, a credit rating report, the entity's annual report, and the rate regulator's rate ruling (as pertaining to its interpretation of legislation). Together, this information highlights how certain components of a regulatory decision can have both a current financial effect and a future financial effect, and demonstrate the interpretation of legislation. Emphasis has been added to certain parts of the text below to highlight the areas that provide confirmatory and predictive value.

The National Energy Board's TransCanada Pipelines Mainline Decision

Corporate Bond Research

– Excerpts from Weekly Commentary of Scotiabank Global Views, April 5, 2013 (Pg. 11-14)

We think the National Energy Board's TransCanada Pipelines (A/ A-/ A3) Mainline Decision (which was released on Wednesday, March 27), is somewhat credit negative for TransCanada. The NEB granted some of the several changes TransCanada sought in its Restructuring Proposal, but denied some of TransCanada's most significant toll-reducing components, including the key request, the Alberta System Extension. The Decision also granted a key request of some interveners, setting 5-year fixed tolls, rather than TransCanada's application for tolls for 2012 and 2013. The Decision is long and exceptionally complicated, and TransCanada has yet to comment on its meaning for the Mainline's earnings and cash flow for the five-year period. However, this week, TransCanada announced that it will hold a binding open season to obtain firm commitments from shippers for West to East oil transportation service, which we think could materially raise earnings and cash flow, and would very effectively mitigate risks from the Decision.

Two deferral accounts will accumulate a specified cost deferral and annual variances in actual revenues for deferral and recovery in future tolls. The NEB approved an off-ramp, such that, if the Toll Stabilization Adjustment (TSA) deferral account approaches one-ninth of rate base, or if circumstances unfold that make TransCanada expect that the full TSA balance may be unrecoverable, TransCanada could file a new tolls application. The NEB's rationale for the off-ramp is to try to mitigate adverse credit rating actions from deferral of significant cash flows. The NEB also said that if TransCanada "repurposes" (converts to oil service) significant Mainline assets, "this would also likely warrant revisiting Mainline tolls."

The complex Decision includes a range of favourable actions. The NEB approved several elements of the RP, including all proposed changes to cost allocation, and elimination of toll zones and the Risk Alleviation Mechanism.

Regulatory Compact

Throughout the written and oral evidence and argument presented by TransCanada in its RP application, TransCanada played up the importance of the concept widely referred to as "the regulatory compact." TransCanada believed that the regulatory compact would prevent the regulator from setting rates that would prevent TransCanada from having an opportunity to recover its prudently incurred capital costs, including a return on capital.

The NEB disagreed with TransCanada's views on this important point. "We are not prepared to endorse the concept of the regulatory compact, as a concept that compels the Board to set just and reasonable tolls in a particular manner. In our view, the concept is ill defined. TransCanada's interpretation of the regulatory compact would have the effect of protecting the Mainline from the impact of competition." Further, the NEB said, "In adjudicating the current Application, we are mandated with establishing just and reasonable tolls, that are not unjustly discriminatory, in accordance with the provisions of the NEB Act." And further, "In our view, TransCanada's submission that only prudence determines the opportunity for cost recovery cannot be sustained in the context of NEB regulated pipelines."

We believe that the NEB was more concerned about future shippers' potential exposure than with keeping TransCanada's rate base intact. Although the current Decision does not result in any cost disallowance or writedowns, the Decision clearly opens the door to this happening in future: "If throughput is lower than expected … we would anticipate that TransCanada's next toll hearing would deal with what costs, if any, should be disallowed from recovery in tolls." We believe that this theme in the Decision differs from the financial market's understanding and assumptions of the regulatory compact.

Credit Rating

– Excerpts from DBRS Rating Report, July 4, 2013

On June 18, 2013, DBRS downgraded the Issuer Rating and Unsecured Debentures & Notes rating of TransCanada PipeLines Limited (TCPL) to A (low) from "A", the Junior Subordinated Notes rating of TCPL to BBB from BBB (high) and the Medium-Term Notes & Unsecured Debentures rating of NOVA Gas Transmission Ltd. (NGTL), a wholly owned subsidiary of TCPL, to A (low) from "A", all with Stable trends.

The rating actions followed DBRS's review of the National Energy Board's (NEB) dismissal (the Recent Decision) of TCC's May 1, 2013, application for review and variance (R&V) of the NEB's March 27, 2013, decision (the Original Decision) relating to TCC's 2012-2013 restructuring proposal for tolls and service on its Canadian Mainline.

2013 Annual Report of TransCanada Corporation

2013 Financial Highlights

In March, Canada's National Energy Board (NEB) released its decision on our proposal for restructuring tolls and services on the Canadian Mainline following an extensive public hearing. The decision fundamentally altered some of the long-standing principles of the Mainline's regulated cost-of-service model. TransCanada successfully implemented the NEB decision and shippers have renewed 2.5 Bcf per day of firm contracts on the system through November 2016. In the fall of 2013 we reached a settlement with local natural gas distribution companies in Ontario and Québec that will allow us to continue expanding the eastern portion of the Mainline system to meet the future needs of this growing market. Settlements were also reached with shippers on the NGTL and Great Lakes systems in 2013.

Management's Discussion & Analysis

Canadian Mainline's comparable earnings this year increased by $90 million compared to 2012 because of the impact of the NEB decision. Among other items, the NEB decision approved an ROE of 11.50 per cent on 40 per cent deemed common equity for the years 2012 through 2017 compared to the last approved ROE of 8.08 per cent on 40 per cent deemed common equity that was used to record earnings in 2012.

Consolidated Financial Statement Note 9 – Rate-regulated Business

Canadian Mainline

In March 2013, TransCanada received a decision from the NEB on the comprehensive application it filed to change the business structure and the terms and conditions of service for the Canadian Mainline, including addressing tolls for 2012 and 2013 (the NEB Decision). The decision approved the 2011 revenue requirement as filed, approved tolls charged in 2012 as final with any variance between revenues and costs deferred for recovery in future years, and set tolls for 2013 through 2017 at competitive levels, fixing tolls for some services and providing unlimited pricing discretion for others. The decision established an ROE of 11.5 per cent on a deemed common equity of 40 per cent and included mechanisms to achieve the fixed tolls through the use of a Long Term Adjustment Account (LTAA) as well as the establishment of a Tolls Stabilization Account (TSA) to capture the surplus or the shortfall between our revenues and our cost of service for each year over the five-year term of the decision. In addition, the decision provides an opportunity to generate incentive earnings by increasing revenues and reducing costs. The NEB also identified certain circumstances that would require a new tolls application prior to the end of the five-year term. One of those circumstances is if the TSA balance becomes positive, which occurred in 2013. In December 2013, TransCanada filed an application with the NEB that addresses tolls moving forward.

National Energy Board – Excerpts from Reasons for Decision, TransCanada PipeLines Limited, NOVA Gas Transmission Ltd., and Foothills Pipe Lines Ltd., RH-003-2011, March 2013, (Pg. 39-40) Section on "Regulatory standards for cost recovery" A rule that imposes an obligation upon the Board to approve tolls that allow recovery of all costs in all circumstances is inconsistent with Parliament's grant of discretion to the Board and may not result in tolls that are just and reasonable. In this regard, we disagree with TransCanada's submission to the effect that the Board must approve tolls that allow recovery of all prudently incurred costs, even if the Board knew that those tolls could not be charged in the market. This would be an inefficient and non-sensical outcome. In our view, a regulatory rule that compels the Board to set tolls that allow the return of and on investment, irrespective of whether assets associated with that investment are used and useful for providing service, erodes management's responsibility for its investment decisions and management's responsibility to keep depreciation rates current. This situation, in our view, does not lend itself to creating efficient energy infrastructure and markets. It also provides no incentive for a pipeline company to find better or higher uses for its assets. Given the foregoing, the prudency standard should not be the only standard that determines the opportunity for cost recovery for NEB-regulated pipelines in all circumstances.

62. As these two examples illustrate, regulatory decisions, which are based on the rate regulators' interpretations of the legislation and rules, have both predictive and confirmatory value regarding the economic resources of, and claims against, the entity. Thus, users of rate-regulated entities' financial statements have great interest in the decisions of the rate regulator, and the current and future financial effect of such decisions.

63. Following is an example of an entity outside Canada that has recognized credit balances arising from rate regulation on the basis of its regulatory framework, given its facts and circumstances.

Elia Group (Belgium) – Extracts from 2015 audited consolidated financial statements (Accounting framework: IFRS, as adopted by the European Union)
Note 7.17 – Accruals and deferred income Settlement mechanism A calculation of the amount is given in Note 9.1. The Group operates in a regulated context which states that tariffs must make it possible to realise total revenue consisting of: 1. a reasonable return on invested capital, 2. all reasonable costs which are incurred by the Group. Since the tariffs are based on estimated figures, there is always a difference between the tariffs that are actually charged and the tariffs that should have been charged to cover all reasonable costs of the system operator and to provide shareholders with a reasonable profit margin on their investment. If the applied tariffs result in a surplus or a deficit at the end of the year, this means that the tariffs charged to consumers/the general public could have been respectively lower or higher (and vice versa). A surplus or deficit arising from the settlement mechanism is therefore not classified as revenue or an expense, or as an item under equity. On a cumulative basis, it could be argued that the public has made an advance payment (=surplus) for its future use of the network. As such, the surplus (deficit) is not a commission for a future loss (recovery) of income but instead a deferred/accrued revenue to (with regard to) consumers. On the basis of the Regulatory framework, the Group believes that the surplus (deficit) does not represent an item of revenue (cost). Consequently, the Group booked these amounts under section 'Accruals and deferred income'.

What this Section Demonstrates

64. Financial information is decision-useful when it helps users to understand the regulatory framework in which the entity operates. Such an understanding is important to determine the entity's rights and obligations, and, in turn, assess the amount, timing and uncertainty of its future cash flows.

Section III. Strength of Regulatory Framework and the Effects

Key Observations

- ❖ The strength of the regulatory framework can affect the enforceability of the economic resources of, and claims against, the entity.
- ❖ The nature and risk profile of balances arising from rate regulation can vary, resulting in differing degrees of uncertainty associated with those balances.
- ❖ Regulatory decisions that differ from the entity's interpretation of the legislation and rules can affect the subsequent measurement of recognized balances arising from rate regulation , and reduce the assessed strength of the regulatory framework.

65. One of the primary concerns expressed during the IASB's project on rate-regulated activities relates to the uncertainties about the recoverability of debit balances arising from rate regulation. Staff notes that the strength or weakness of the regulatory framework can affect the enforceability of the recovery of the rate-regulated entity's economic resources and settlement of claims against it.

The Canadian Experience

66. This section looks at data from a sample of rate-regulated entities demonstrating the Canadian experience with:

- the recovery of previously recognized debit balances arising from rate regulation (i.e., the periods over which balances are recovered, and the extent to which they become impaired or are written off);
- the trending of regulatory balances (i.e., are they growing or shrinking in total; how do debit balances arising from rate regulation compare in total with credit balances arising from rate regulation); and
- the different nature and risk profiles of debit balances arising from rate regulation that could influence recoverability patterns.

Write-offs or Impairments of Debit Balances Arising from Rate Regulation

67. Stakeholders have told us that write-offs or impairments of previously recognized debit balances arising from rate regulation have been minimal. Staff has heard anecdotally that a few rate-regulated entities have obtained a legal opinion to demonstrate their right to recover prudently incurred costs, even in a scenario in which the entity ceases operations.

68. To explore the extent of write-offs or impairments of debit balances arising from rate regulation, staff selected a sample of 12 electric utilities and looked at their audited financial statements over a five-year period.[21]

Note 1 - The increase from 2013 to 2014 was primarily due to the rate regulator authorizing changes to certain accounting policies for rate-setting purposes as a result of the entity changing from pre-changeover Canadian GAAP to U.S. GAAP.

Note 2 - Staff notes that there are also debit balances arising from rate regulation related to construction activities, which are capitalized within property, plant and equipment. Those balances are generally not part of the above debit balances (unless the entity applied IFRS 14 which requires regulatory deferral account debit balances to be presented as a separate line item). Regulatory decisions can also affect those non-deferral or non-variance type of accounts.

[21] All the sampled entities have fiscal years ended December 31, except for New Brunswick Power, Manitoba Hydro, and BC Hydro, which have fiscal years ended March 31. For ease of presentation in this table and the table on page 33, the data relating to these three entities is displayed in the column headed the previous calendar year.

69. The data illustrates that write-offs or impairments of debit balances arising from rate regulation have been minimal in Canada. The disallowance of costs is generally a result of a regulatory decision after the rate regulator has further reviewed the cost. In other cases, the entity may decide to set up a provision if there is doubt about the recovery of existing balances arising from rate regulation.

70. Below are examples of note disclosures that explain the reason for writing off, or establishing a provision against, a debit balance arising from rate regulation:

Extracts from Note Disclosures of Audited Consolidated Financial Statement
Toronto Hydro – 2011 (Accounting framework: IFRS) Note 2 – Regulation, (d) Regulation, Contact Voltage (Note, figures below are in dollars) On December 10, 2009, the OEB issued an initial decision in regard to the costs incurred in 2009 for the remediation of safety issues related to contact voltage relating to LDC's electricity distribution infrastructure. The decision provided for the recovery of allowable actual expenditures incurred above the amount deemed as controllable expenses in LDC's 2009 approved electricity distribution rates. At the time of the decision, the Corporation estimated the allowable recovery of costs at $9,050,000. On October 29, 2010, the OEB issued a second decision in the matter, following further review of costs incurred by LDC. In this decision, the OEB deemed the balance allowable for recovery at $5,296,000. The variance from the Corporation's original estimate is mainly due to the OEB's interpretation of the definition of controllable expenses used to determine the final allowable recovery. In connection with this decision from the OEB, the Corporation revised its recovery estimate for contact voltage costs, resulting in an increase in operating expenses of $3,754,000 in 2010. On November 18, 2010, LDC filed a motion to review the decision with the OEB seeking an amendment to allow for recovery in accordance with the initial decision rendered on December 10, 2009. On March 25, 2011, the OEB issued its decision on the LDC motion, denying the requested additional recovery.
BC Hydro – 2011-2012 (Accounting framework: legislative GAAP) Note 4 – Regulation Other Regulatory Accounts – Under Direction 3, total Taxes Regulatory Account liability balance of $14 million was closed and fully amortized into rates and the remaining balance of the PEI asset of $34 million was fully amortized and closed as of March 31, 2012 and will not be included in rates.
Hydro Ottawa – 2011 (Accounting framework: IFRS) Note 7 – Net Regulatory Assets and Liabilities, (d) Provision for doubtful recovery (Note, figures below are in thousands) The Corporation continues to assess the likelihood of recovery of all regulatory assets subject to recovery through a future rate filing. The absence of OEB approval is a consideration in this evaluation. The Corporation has recorded a net provision of $331 [2010 – $2,252] against regulatory assets. If future recovery becomes assured, the Corporation will recognize the recovery in the income for the period during which such a decision is made.
Emera – 2014 (Accounting framework: U.S. GAAP) Note 5 – Regulated Fuel Adjustment Mechanism and Fixed Cost Deferrals The regulated fuel adjustment mechanism ("FAM") included in the Consolidated Statements of Income for NSPI includes the effect of prudently incurred fuel for generation and purchased power and fuel-related costs ("Fuel Costs") in both the current and preceding years, and as detailed in the table below:

- The difference between actual Fuel Costs and amounts recovered from customers in the current year. This amount is deferred to a FAM regulatory asset in "Regulatory assets" or a FAM regulatory liability in "Regulatory liabilities" on the Consolidated Balance Sheets; and
- The recovery from (rebate to) customers of under (over) recovered fuel costs from prior years.

Pursuant to the FAM Plan of Administration, NSPI's fuel costs are subject to independent audit. On July 2, 2014, the FAM audit findings and recommendations relating to fiscal 2012 and 2013 were publicly released and recommended four disallowances totalling $7.0 million. On January 20, 2015, the UARB disallowed $6.0 million of 2012 and 2013 fuel-related costs, which included interest of $0.9 million. The disallowances resulted in a reduction in the amount of FAM deferral at year-end and resulted in an after-tax impact to 2014 net income of $3.3 million.

Ontario Power Generation – 2013 (Accounting framework: U.S. GAAP)

Note 5 – Regulatory Assets and Regulatory Liabilities

In March 2013, the OEB approved the settlement agreement between OPG and intervenors on all aspects of OPG's September 2012 application requesting approval to recover balances in the authorized variance and deferral accounts as at December 31, 2012 (the Settlement Agreement). This resulted in approval of $1,234 million recorded in the authorized variance and deferral accounts as at December 31, 2012, deferral for future review of $34 million recorded in certain accounts as at December 31, 2012, and a write-off of $7 million of interest recorded in certain accounts as at December 31, 2012.

Trending of Balances Arising from Rate Regulation

71. While recoverability of debit balances arising from rate regulation is a primary concern, staff also wanted to understand the trend of balances arising from rate regulation in general. Staff looked at credit balances arising from rate regulation that were recognized by the same 12 electric utilities over the same five-year period.

Note 1 - The increase from 2013 to 2014 was primarily related to the rate regulator's review of useful lives for depreciation purposes of property, plant and equipment related to rate-regulated activities.

Credit Balances as a Percentange of Debit Balances (Arising from Rate Regulation)
9.0%	6.8%	6.5%	6.2%	9.3%

72. The data above demonstrates that credit balances arising from rate regulation are generally far less in magnitude than debit balances arising from rate regulation. This trend could suggest that under-recovery of an entity's revenue requirement (which results in the carry forward of regulator-approved debit balances for inclusion in future rates) is fairly common in Canada.

73. Another contributing factor could be that with aging infrastructure, the cost of replacement or renewal work needs to be spread over time so that customer rates do not fluctuate significantly. Capital infrastructure activities may result in debit balances arising from rate regulation. Rate regulators in Canada usually permit an allowance for funds used during construction to be capitalized as part of property, plant and equipment based on the rate-regulated entity's weighted average cost of capital. This enables the rate-regulated entity to earn a rate of return on these capital infrastructure costs such that the timing of when they are recovered is less significant. The growth in debit balances arising from rate regulation could also relate to temporary timing differences that are reversed when the rate impacts are realized.[22]

74. While increasing debit balances arising from rate regulation do not automatically mean these amounts cannot be recovered, significantly prolonged periods of collection do raise questions about the risk of recoverability, similar to receivables balances.

Influences on Recoverability Patterns of Debit Balances Arising from Rate Regulation

75. Based on the data collected, the period over which a particular debit balance arising from rate regulation is recovered and, indeed, the risks associated with its recovery, are influenced by:

    (a) the nature of the debit balance; and

    (b) the rate regulator's approach to ensuring that the period over which the balance is recovered neither creates rate shocks (i.e., significant increases in customer rates in a particular year) nor unfairly burdens an entity by delaying cash inflows associated with the debit balance.

76. The nature of the debit balance has a direct impact on the risks associated with its recovery, and could affect the period over which it is collected. Members of the IASB's Rate-regulated Activities Consultative Group have suggested that categorizing debit balances according to their risk profile would be more helpful to users of financial statements in predicting future revenue and cash flows.

[22] For example, some rate regulators may require entities to account for pensions or income taxes on a cash basis. In the case of income taxes, entities record a deferred income tax asset or liability for temporary differences, as well as balances arising from rate regulation, to reflect future recoveries from or refunds to ratepayers. These balances are reversed when the temporary differences reverse.

77. The following table describes the possible categories of balances (both debit and credit balances) arising from rate regulation identified by the Consultative Group: [23]

Possible categories of balances arising from rate regulation:
• 'mechanical' adjustment balances that are expected to be recovered/reversed in the short term, such as 'flow-through' commodity price adjustments, which involve little judgment and are relatively easy to measure;
• other adjustment balances that are expected to be recovered/reversed in the short term, but are somewhat subjective, such as bonuses for achieving qualitative performance targets; and
• adjustment balances that may be more readily quantifiable but are only recoverable in the longer term and may be subject to more uncertainty about recovery across multiple regulatory periods.

78. Staff looked at the recovery period and categories of debit balances arising from rate regulation for five of the 12 Canadian rate-regulated entities sampled to provide a general sense of how the recovery periods can vary. The first table presents data on the expected recovery of debit balances arising from rate regulation, broken down by length of recovery period. For each recovery period, the second table analyzes the nature of debit balance having that recovery period.

Note 1 – There is a lack of uniformity in the way the recovery period is disclosed across the sampled entities (i.e., sometimes ranges or exact number of months are disclosed). When ranges were disclosed, the mid-point of the range was used for purposes of this table.

* There can be various reasons why the recovery period is indeterminate:
- Some debit balances are reversed when their rate impacts are realized.
- The recovery period is pending determination by the rate regulator as part of a future regulatory proceeding.

Remaining recovery/ reversal period	Examples of nature of debit balances arising from rate regulation
1 - 24 months	Commodity cost variances
25 - 60 months	Specific items to be spread over longer period authorized by the regulator
60 - 120 months	Costs related to long-term projects and infrastructure planning
121+ months	Programs for construction or or reburbishment infrastructure assets
Indeterminate	Policy difference between the accounting specified by the regulator for rate-setting purposes and general purpose financial reporting requirements (e.g., as occurs sometimes with employee future benefits and income taxes)

79. The two tables above illustrate the diversity in nature of debit balances arising from rate regulation and plans for their recovery, and reaffirm that some balances may be subject to more uncertainty regarding the timeline for recovery than others. Knowledge of the expected recovery pattern for debit balances arising from rate regulation is important to determine whether there could be measurement challenges associated with the balances.

80. Below is an excerpt from a Standard & Poor's Rating Services publication that demonstrates the importance of timely recovery:

> "One of our primary concerns with U.S. regulatory accounting occurs when a company's regulatory assets materially grow with uncertain recovery prospects. The California energy crisis of 2000 and 2001 highlighted this when the regulated utilities could only collect a predetermined amount for electricity but had to purchase electricity at much higher market prices, leading to a material weakening of credit quality. Most companies now have some form of a fuel- or purchased-power adjustment clause that allows for timely recovery of these costs--greatly reducing the risks and enhancing credit quality.
> The high credit quality and (mostly) investment grade ratings for the utility industry are predicated on its monopolistic nature, providing an essential service, and credit-supportive rate regulation. Because a utility's ability to effectively manage regulatory risk is an integral component of credit quality, our assessment of a regulatory jurisdiction's credit supportiveness and a utility's ability to manage regulatory risk within its regulatory jurisdiction are major factors for determining a utility's credit risk (see "Utility Regulatory Assessments For U.S. Investor-Owned Utilities," Jan. 7, 2014.)"[24]

81. The concern pointed out in the excerpt above is shared by those who oppose the recognition of debit balances arising from rate regulation because of the uncertainty associated with their recovery. The concern highlights:

(a) the importance of a rate regulator deciding on reasonable and achievable recovery periods in order to mitigate the risk associated with prolonged growing balances; and

[24] S&P: Analyzing U.S. Rate-Regulated Utilities: The Magic of Regulatory Assets and Liabilities (August 2014)

(b) the need for adequate evidence from rate regulators demonstrating the enforceability of rights or obligations created through their regulatory decision that will result in an economic inflow or outflow within a reasonable period.

82. From an international perspective, below are two examples of entities outside Canada that have recognized debit or credit balances arising from rate regulation. Their note disclosures explain the nature of these balances and the expected period of recovery or settlement (emphasis added below).

Extracts from Financial Statements
Korea Gas Corporation (Korea) – 2015 audited consolidated financial statements (Accounting framework: Korean IFRS) Recorded in "Other non-financial assets" Note 15 – Non-Financial Assets In accordance with the standard for natural gas supply price and the guidelines for raw material cost passthrough adjustment system for city gas and power generation, the settled income, the difference between actual cost incurred and current year's revenues, is reflected in following year's rates upon the approval of the government. The Group recognizes settled income by adjusting cost of sales, and relevant assets and liabilities as other non-financial assets and non-financial liabilities, respectively.
CLP Holdings Ltd. (Hong Kong) – 2015 audited consolidated financial statements (Accounting framework: Hong Kong Financial Reporting Standards) Recorded in "Non-current liabilities" Note 22 – Fuel Clause Account Cost of fuel consumed by CLP Power Hong Kong is passed on to the customers. The variations between the actual cost of fuel and the fuel cost billed are captured in the fuel clause account. The balance of the account (inclusive of interest) represents amounts over-recovered or under-recovered and is treated as an amount due to or from customers. Interest charged to customers on the amount under-recovered is based on the actual borrowing cost of CLP Power Hong Kong, whilst interest is credited to customers at prime rate on the amount over-recovered. Note 23 – Scheme of Control Reserve Accounts The Tariff Stabilisation Fund, Rate Reduction Reserve and Rent and Rates Interim Refunds of the Group's major subsidiary, CLP Power Hong Kong, are collectively referred to as SoC reserve accounts. "Scheme of Control" is explained in the following extract from the entity's Annual Report: Since financial year 1964, the electricity-related operations of CLP Power Hong Kong and CAPCO (the SoC Companies) have been governed by a Scheme of Control Agreement (SoC) with the Hong Kong Government. The SoC specifies the SoC Companies' obligations to supply adequate and reliable electricity supplies to customers at the lowest reasonable cost and the mechanism for Hong Kong Government to monitor their financial affairs and operating performance. In return, CLP Power Hong Kong is allowed to charge tariffs designed to recover the operating costs (including tax) and allowed net return of the SoC Companies.

The current SoC took effect from 1 October 2008. The SoC covers a period of 10 years to 30 September 2018, and provides that the SoC Companies will continue to earn the permitted return until 30 September 2023 on all approved investments.

The current SoC includes a provision to give the SoC Companies protection for stranded costs, which may arise as a result of future changes to the market structure which adversely impact on the SoC Companies' ability to recover and to earn returns on existing investments made in good faith in accordance with the SoC. These costs will include the costs of investments, fuel and power purchase agreements previously approved by the Hong Kong Government. If stranded costs arise after the SoC Companies have implemented mitigation measures reasonably required by the Hong Kong Government, the SoC Companies are entitled to recover them from the market, consistent with international practice. Three years before market changes are introduced, the SoC Companies and the Hong Kong Government will agree on the amount of stranded costs and the mechanism for their recovery by the SoC Companies.

What this Section Demonstrates

83. In order to assess the amount, timing and uncertainty of a rate-regulated entity's future cash flows, users need financial information that signals changes in the entity's right or obligation to collect or return amounts identified in previous regulatory decisions. The strength or weakness of the entity's regulatory framework can affect the enforceability of those rights and obligations and, thus, their measurement.

Section IV. Decision-Making Effects of Financial Information on Rate-regulated Activities

Key Observations

- ❖ The regulatory framework is a key factor considered by debt and equity analysts, as well as credit rating agencies, because it can affect the entity's financial performance and future cash flows.
- ❖ Market participants in Canada and the U.S. have used financial information that reflects the economics of rate-regulated activities to determine the purchase price for acquiring assets used in such activities. The acquisition deals reveal that a premium is generally paid by the acquirer. Investors view rate-regulated businesses as capable of generating stable earnings and cash flows, taking into consideration the strength of the regulatory framework in which the entity operates.
- ❖ The purchase price allocation in jurisdictions, such as Canada and the U.S., that recognize debit and credit balances arising from rate regulation indicate that there is commercial substance to these balances because their carrying value generally approximates fair value. Based on anecdotal information, in jurisdictions that do not recognize balances arising from rate regulation, this value is reflected in goodwill or intangible assets.
- ❖ Academic research suggests that the strength of the regulatory framework can influence market valuation of debit balances arising from rate regulation.

84. This section of the paper looks at how users have factored financial information that reflects the economics of rate-regulated activities into their decision-making.

The User Perspective

85. Throughout the IASB's projects on rate-regulated activities, users analyzing rate-regulated entities have contributed their views on what makes the financial statements relevant for them. From their perspective, financial information on rate-regulated activities assists in:

    - predicting future cash flows;
    - estimating the enterprise value;
    - distinguishing the variability in performance that is compensated for through the rate-setting mechanism, from the variability in performance for which there is no compensation;
    - assessing the entity's financial stability and creditworthiness (e.g., ability to repay debts);

- assessing the strength of rate regulation in order to determine the track record of the entity in recovering costs and earning the allowed rate of return; and
- understanding the drivers that affect the allowed rate of return.

86. Through its September 2014 Discussion Paper on "Reporting the Financial Effects of Rate Regulation," the IASB has sought input from stakeholders to identify what information about the financial effects of rate regulation is most relevant to users of financial statements in making investing and lending decisions. Appendix A to this paper provides extracts from comment letters and other material to capture the essentials of this input. This information is grouped into the three main geographical regions: the Americas, EMEA (Europe, Middle East and Africa) and Asia-Pacific. The appendix is not meant to be exhaustive, and is intended to capture comments made from both sides of the views debated.

87. One comment made by users in the Americas region (see Appendix A) relates to how there could be an increased reliance on non-GAAP disclosures if debit and credit balances arising from rate regulation are not recognized under IFRS. Following are financial statement note disclosures of two entities that staff is aware have applied IFRS and provided an adjusted measure to communicate the financial impact of their rate-regulated activities.

Canada	United Kingdom
ATCO Ltd. – Audited Consolidated Financial Statements – December 31, 2015 (Entity adopted IFRS for the first time before IFRS 14 was issued. Staff notes that the segment note referenced below essentially provides the same information about the entity's rate-regulated activities as was provided in previous years under pre-changeover Canadian GAAP.) Note 5 – Segmented Information (excerpt) Adjusted earnings are earnings attributable to equity owners of the Company after adjusting for the timing of revenues and expenses for rate-regulated activities and dividends on equity preferred shares of the Company. Adjusted earnings also exclude one-time gains and losses, significant impairments and items that are not in the normal course of business or a result of day-to-day operations. Adjusted earnings are a key measure of segment earnings used by the CODM to assess segment performance and allocate resources. Other accounts in the consolidated financial statements have not been adjusted as they are not used by the CODM for those purposes.	National Grid – Audited Consolidated Financial Statements – March 31, 2015 (Entity adopted IFRS for the first time before IFRS 14 was issued) Note 2 – Segment Analysis (excerpt) (Under the title "Unaudited commentary on the results of our principal operations by segment") As a business, we have three measures of operating profit that are used on a regular basis and disclosed in this Annual Report. Statutory operating profit: This is operating profit as calculated under International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS). Statutory operating profit by segment is shown in note 2 on page 98. Adjusted operating profit: Adjusted operating profit (business performance) excludes items that if included could distort understanding of our performance for the year and the comparability between periods. Further details of items that are excluded in adjusted operating profit are shown in note 4 on page 103. Regulatory financial performance: This is particularly relevant for our UK operations and is a measure of operating profit that reflects the impact of the businesses' regulatory arrangements when presenting financial performance.

88. In jurisdictions where users have benefited from the knowledge gained through an understanding of the way rate regulation can affect an entity's financial performance and financial position, there is a possibility that if future financial statements do not provide such relevant information, non-GAAP disclosures could be used. This is because users need to understand the economics of rate-regulated activities in order to make investing and lending decisions.

89. Staff also notes that comments shown in Appendix A expressing concerns about recognizing balances arising from rate regulation are important and will need to be resolved as the project progresses.

Debt and Equity Analysts, and Credit Rating Agencies – What do they Consider?

90. Canadian debt and equity analysts, as well as credit rating agencies, have told us that utilities with regulated operations are viewed differently from those with non-regulated operations. They have also said that even if the financial effects of rate regulation were not recognized in the financial statements, they would continue to analyze and assess rate-regulated entities based on their view of an entity's economic reality. They would do so by making adjustments to the financial statements to compensate for the differences created by accounting standards.

91. In the case of credit rating agencies, different rating methodologies are used based on whether or not the entity is rate-regulated. The staff looked at the rating methodology for three credit rating agencies (i.e., Moody's, Standard & Poor's (S&P), and Dominion Bond Rating Service (DBRS)). Following is a table that illustrates Moody's rating methodology. The rating factors highlighted in blue are specific to regulated utilities.

Broad Rating Factors	Broad Rating Factor Weighting	Rating Sub-Factor and Sub-Factor Weighting
Regulatory Framework (For utilities which typically operate as a monopoly, the regulatory environment and how the utility adapts to that environment are the most important credit considerations.)	25%	Legislative and Judicial Underpinnings of the Regulatory Framework (12.5%): • Consider the scope, clarity, transparency, supportiveness, and rules as they apply to the issuer. • Strength of the regulator's authority over rate-making, other regulatory issues, the effectiveness of the judiciary or other independent body in arbitration • Body of legal precedent for rate-making. • The utility's ability to shape the framework and adapt to it.
		Consistency and Predictability of Regulation (12.5%): • Consider the track record of regulatory decisions in terms of consistency, predictability, and supportiveness.
Ability to Recover Costs and Earn Returns	25%	Timeliness of Recovery of Operating and Capital Costs (12.5%)
		Sufficiency of Rates and Returns (12.5%)
Diversification	10%	Market position (5%)
		Generation and Fuel Diversity (5%)
Financial Strength, Key Financial Metrics (Metrics focus on Cash Flow from Operations Before Changes in Working Capital (CFO pre-WC) because, unlike Funds from Operations, it captures the changes in long-term regulatory assets and liabilities.)	40%	CFO pre-WC + Interest/ Interest (7.5%) • Lower thresholds for regulated utilities (vs. unregulated utilities)
		CFO pre-WC / Debt (15%) • Lower thresholds for regulated utilities (vs. unregulated utilities)
		CFO pre-WC – Dividends / Debt (10%)
		Debt / Capitalization (7.5%)

92. Although the components in determining the credit rating in each of the three rating methodologies examined are somewhat different, the quality of the regulatory framework is consistently identified as one of the most important factors in the credit analysis.

Extracts from Credit Rating Agency's Publications
S&P – The regulatory framework/regime's influence is of critical importance when assessing regulated utilities' credit risk because it defines the environment in which a utility operates and has a significant bearing on a utility's financial performance. We base our assessment of the regulatory framework's relative credit supportiveness on our view of how regulatory stability, efficiency of tariff setting procedures, financial stability, and regulatory independence protect a utility's credit quality and its ability to recover its costs and earn a timely return. Our view of these four pillars is the foundation of a utility's regulatory support. We then assess the utility's business strategy, in particular its regulatory strategy and its ability to manage the tariff-setting process, to arrive at a final regulatory advantage assessment."[25]
DBRS – The quality of the regulatory regime is the main driving factor for regulated utilities as it is the most important [Business Risk Assessment] factor. The regulatory framework also influences a company's [Financial Risk Assessment] as the deemed capital structure and return on equity (ROE) are often set by the regulator.[26]

[25] S&P: Key Credit Factors For The Regulated Utilities Industry (November 2013), Pg. 6

[26] DBRS: Rating Companies in the Regulated Electric, Natural Gas and Water Utilities Industry (October 2015), Pg. 6

93. Understanding the risks of the regulatory framework is important because credit rating downgrades can result in increased borrowing costs for entities.

94. One similarity between the three rating methodologies is that a strong assessment of the regulatory framework can result in more favourable ranges being used in assessing the financial metrics of the entity. For example, S&P states:

> "While our final regulatory advantage assessment has a significant influence on a utility's business risk profile, it can have an even greater impact on its financial risk profile. As regulatory advantage declines, we expect higher cash flow volatility; as such, a utility's regulatory advantage score directly affects which of the three cash-flow volatility tables -- low, medial, or standard -- we'll use as a guideline when assessing the issuer's financial risk. Generally speaking, low cash-flow volatility allows for higher debt levels at the same rating category than medial volatility, and medial volatility allows for more debt than standard volatility."[27]

95. A number of factors are taken into consideration when assessing the regulatory framework. Below are the factors that DBRS considers:

	Considerations
Regulation (most important Business Risk Assessment factor)	Deemed Equity - Percentage of equity investment in the rate base on which utility can earn a return.
	Allowed ROE - In supportive regulatory environments, utilities' actual rate of returns are generally in line with, or exceed, the allowed rate of return.
	Energy Cost Recovery - Considers whether fuel and purchased energy costs are fully passed through to customers; how often is utility allowed to adjust retail rates; whether rate adjustments are subject to regulatory review.
	Capital and Operating Cost Recovery - Assesses likelihood of a utility's capital expenditure being added to rate base, whether there is mechanism to deal with cost overruns, etc.
	Cost of Service versus Incentive Regulation Mechanism Views cost of service as lower risk than incentive regulation mechanism.
	Political Interference - Influence on regulator's ability to independently arrive at decision, passing legislation to override a decision, and the regulator elected instead of appointed.
	Retail Rate - Average price for residential customers (not applicable for gas distribution, water and waster-water utilities).
	Stranded Cost Recovery - Represents costs incurred but faces uncertainty around recovery. Rating depends on frequency of write-downs, time it takes to recover the costs, magnitude of stranded costs, etc.
	Rate Freeze - Longer rate-freeze periods or higher frequency of occurrence increases risk assessment.
	Market Structure (Deregulation) - Rating depends on degree of regulation. The strongest utilities will have fully-integrated operations (generation, transmission and distribution).

[27] S&P Article, How Regulatory Advantage Scores Can Affect Ratings on Regulated Utilities (April 2015)

96. As shown in the table above, one of the factors considered is political interference. Below is an excerpt from S&P's rating of Maritime Electric Co. Ltd (MECL) in March 2016, illustrating how political intervention, along with other factors, is taken into consideration when determining this Canadian entity's credit rating (emphasis added below):

> Our view of MECL's business risk profile continues to be excellent, which in part reflects our assessment of the regulatory framework that supports a stable and predictable cash flow model. The [Island Regulatory & Appeals Commission] continues to administer a regulatory framework that allows full recovery of prudently incurred operating, capital and commodity costs. Under the most recent [General Rate Agreement] decision, which expires in February 2019, MECL's maximum allowed return on equity is 9.35% and the company needs to maintain an average equity base of about 40%, which are slightly lower than the previous rate decision but in line with our expectations, given the current low interest rate environment.
> The provincial government continues to play a significant and active role in energy policy and establishing rates for island customers. A sign of this is the PEI Energy Accord, which expired in February 2016 and was followed with the latest rate settlement between MECL and the PEI government, although this is subject to regulatory approval. We view the government's active involvement in rate-setting as generally less favorable than an independent regulator with a clear, consistent mandate and an established track record of credit-supportive policies. Due to the track record for political intervention (which could negatively or positively affect credit quality), the regulator's limited strength, and its independence, we view MECL's regulatory environment as less favorable compared with that of regulated utilities operating in other Canadian provinces.
>
> Further supporting the excellent business risk profile is that MECL is the legislated monopoly provider of electricity to about 78,000 customers in PEI, which we believe provides the company with a stable market position. In addition, rates are set on a cost-of-service framework, which allows MECL to fully recover its revenue requirement. The province has a mature-but-stable economy that relies primarily on the public sector, fishing, agriculture, and tourism. We believe that the company's limited scale, scope, and diversity are an offsetting factor, given the relatively small market, a limited number of sources of generation, and some customer concentration (with the largest customer accounting for 5%-6% of sales).
> In addition, prudently incurred electricity cost remains a flow-through to ratepayers via the energy cost adjustment mechanism. The utility has successfully renegotiated a power purchase agreement with NB Power, an electricity provider in the Province of New Brunswick, which expires in February 2019. This will ensure adequate supply of electricity at a reasonable cost, reducing regulatory risk of nonrecovery.

97. Credit rating analysts have said that although the regulatory framework is a key factor in their assessment of an entity, there are many other inputs to their models. One area of focus is certainty of timely recovery of debit balances, or settlement of credit balances, arising from rate regulation, as a predictor of future cash flows. While current period cash flow metrics are not much affected by the recognition of these balances, an accumulation of material debit and credit balances is a "red flag" that communicates risks for the future. Debt and equity analysts have also indicated that without the recognition of debit and credit balances arising from rate regulation, earnings volatility would increase and valuation metrics such as the commonly used price/earnings ratio would be affected.

98. Staff understands that users seek out other sources of information, such as rate filings and regulatory decisions, to complete their assessment of an entity.[28] However, consulting these other sources is intended to corroborate or supplement financial information provided in the financial statements, rather than fundamentally adjust it to reflect the economic reality of the entity.

Acquisitions – Does Rate Regulation Affect Purchase Price?

99. Staff understands that in Canada and the U.S., when prospective purchasers look at the margins and growth of an entity, debit balances arising from rate regulation are viewed as having a greater degree of certainty of generating a defined return in the long term. Lower risk tends to be attached to debit balances arising from rate regulation because of the continuing demand for the essential goods and services being provided by the entity. The rate-setting mechanism provides predictability of the regulated asset's earnings during the regulatory period. Below are two extracts from EY publications that look at transactions in the Power and Utilities sector:

> "The reshaping of the US Sector continued as diversified utilities focused on regulated assets and independent power producers (IPPs) grew their presence. The US sector saw 15 billion-dollar-plus transactions – significantly more than in 2013 – with buyers paying a premium for prized rate-regulated assets." (emphasis added)
> ~Source EY: Power transactions and trends, 2014 review and 2015 outlook

> "Regulated assets still command premiums: During the year we saw utilities paying above average premiums on regulated assets, which were already trading at the high end of their historical averages — ~37%, higher than last year's average. While low natural gas prices and rising interest rates present a challenge to the sector, strong balance sheets and availability of low-cost debt are enabling utilities to acquire these assets at premium valuations. With predictable cash flows and rates of return, we expect regulated assets to grow more resilient in 2016 and continue to command high valuations."

100. Regulated assets have higher valuation multiples compared with unregulated assets, suggesting market participants factor the effects of the regulatory framework into the purchase price. Following are two charts that provides information on global (i.e., Americas, Europe and Asia-Pacific) Power and Utilities transactions over the last several years.

[28] IASB Staff Agenda Paper 9A, September 2013, Paragraph 7

101. The chart to the left includes the transaction deals of entities in the segments of generation; transmission and distribution; renewables; and integrated, water and others. The chart to the right relates only to the transaction deals of entities in the transmission and distribution segment, which is commonly regulated.

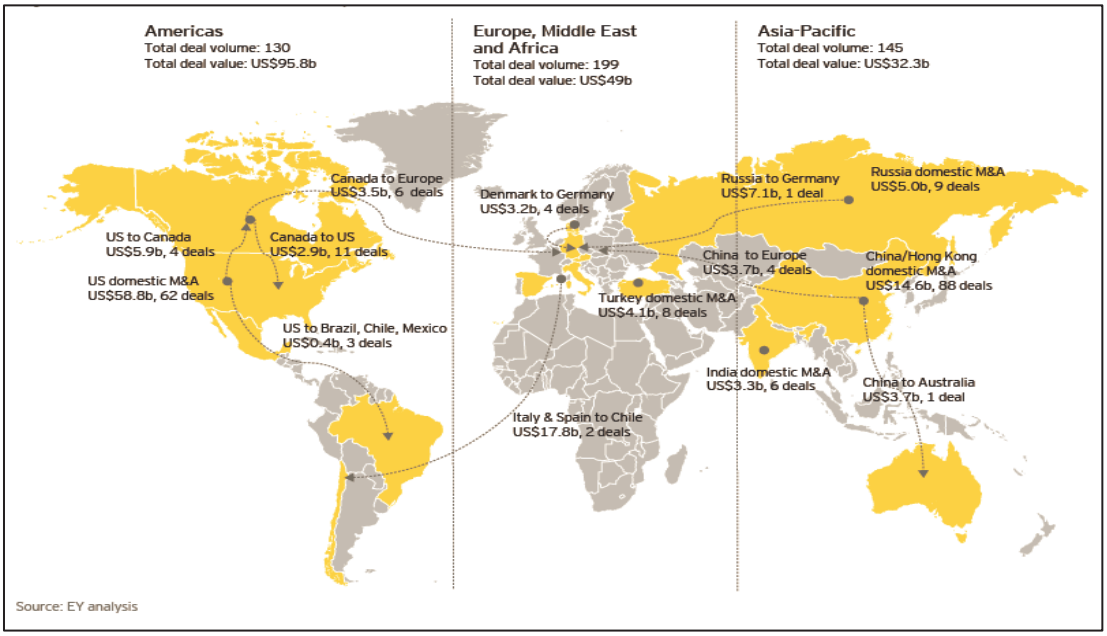
102. Staff notes that while not all the deals over the last five years involve debit and credit balances arising from rate regulation (as it depends on the form of rate regulation and what is purchased), these deals span over different jurisdictions, signaling that investors are looking for opportunities around the globe. Below is a diagram extracted from "EY Power transactions and trends, 2014 review and 2015 outlook" to show the cross-border and domestic capital flow of the 2014 key investment destinations chosen by utilities and financial investors in this dynamic environment.



Canadian and U.S. Acquisitions

103. Since the predominant accounting practice in Canada and the U.S. is to recognize debit and credit balances arising from rate regulation, staff looked at the purchase price in recent acquisitions to determine how investors value these balances. The bidders below apply U.S. GAAP.

104. The corresponding note disclosures relating to these acquisitions have been extracted to explain the valuation of the debit and credit balances arising from rate regulation.

Extracts from Financial Statement Note Disclosure Relating to Acquisition
Fortis Inc. (Source: December 31, 2014 Consolidated Financial Statements) Note 29 – Business Acquisitions UNS Energy's operations are regulated by the ACC and FERC (Note 2). The determination of revenue and earnings is based on a regulated rate of return that is applied to historic values, which do not change with a change of ownership. No fair value adjustments, other than goodwill, were recorded for the net assets acquired because all of the economic benefits and obligations associated with them beyond regulated rates of return accrue to the customers.
Exelon Corp. (Source: June 30, 2016 Consolidated Financial Statements) Note 4 – Mergers, Acquisitions and Dispositions (Exelon, Generation, PHI and Pepco) Through its wholly-owned rate regulated utility subsidiaries, most of PHI's assets and liabilities are subject to cost-of-service rate regulation. Under such regulation, rates charged to customers are established by a regulator to provide for recovery of costs and a fair return on invested capital, or rate base, generally measured at historical cost. In applying the acquisition method of accounting, for regulated assets and liabilities included in rate base or otherwise earning a return (primarily property, plant and equipment and regulatory assets earning a return), no fair value adjustments were recorded as historical cost is viewed as a reasonable proxy for fair value. Fair value adjustments were applied to the historical cost bases of other assets and liabilities subject to rate regulation but not earning a return (including debt instruments and pension and OPEB obligations). In these instances, a corresponding offsetting regulatory asset or liability was also established, as the underlying utility asset and liability amounts are recoverable from or refundable to customers at historical cost (and not at fair value) through the rate setting process. Similar treatment was applied for fair value adjustments to record intangible assets and liabilities, such as for electricity and gas energy supply contracts as further described below. Regulatory assets and liabilities established to offset fair value adjustments are amortized in amounts and over time frames consistent with the realization or settlement of the fair value adjustments, with no impact on reported net income. See Note 5 — Regulatory Matters for additional information regarding the fair value of regulatory assets and liabilities established by Exelon and PHI.
Berkshire Hathaway Energy Company (Source: December 31, 2015 Consolidated Financial Statements) Note 3 – Business Acquisitions The operations of ALP are subject to the rate-setting authority of the AUC and are accounted for pursuant to GAAP, including the authoritative guidance for regulated operations. The rate-setting and cost recovery provisions establish rates on a cost-of-service basis designed to allow ALP an opportunity to recover its costs of providing service and a return on its investment in rate base. Except for certain assets not currently in rates, the fair value of ALP's assets acquired and liabilities assumed subject to these rate-setting provisions are assumed to approximate their carrying values and, therefore, no fair value adjustments have been reflected related to these amounts.
Emera, Inc. (Source: June 30, 2016 Condensed Consolidated Interim Financial Statements) Note 31 – Acquisition Except for unregulated long-term debt acquired and deferred taxes, preliminary fair values of tangible and intangible assets and liabilities subject to these rate-setting provisions approximate their carrying values. The goodwill reflects the value paid primarily for access to regulated assets, net income and cash flows in growth markets with constructive regulatory environments, opportunities for adjacency growth, long-term potential for enhanced access to capital as a result of increased scale and business diversity, and an improved earnings risk profile. Allocation of goodwill to the reporting units is not complete as at August 8, 2016.

105. Based on the analysis above, entities with rate-regulated businesses typically attract a premium in purchase price because of the stable earnings and cash flows those businesses can generate. The fair value assigned to the debit and credit balances arising from rate regulation is generally their carrying values, demonstrating there is commercial substance to these balances.

106. Shown in the next table, recent trends also suggest increasing deal activities in the Americas. In Canada, utilities and pipelines are heavily regulated with just a handful of key players in some geographical areas. Therefore, Canadian entities in this sector are looking for opportunities to expand their regulated asset portfolio. They are seeking higher returns in a larger market by buying assets in the U.S. This factor, coupled with the current interest environment, fuels the deal activities in the Americas.

> "As hybrid utilities and financial institutions sought stable earnings in the low interest rate environment by adding regulated assets to their portfolios, transactional activity in the regulated transmission and distribution (T&D) segment increased significantly."
> ~Source: EY Power transactions and trends, Q1 2016

Below are examples of some recent major deals that involve Canadian entities and investment funds buying outside the country. The cross border acquisitions demonstrate the need for comparable accounting in order to assist users in making investing and lending decisions.

107. This research indicates that prospective purchasers look closely at an entity's rate base when considering an acquisition. The rate base is the amount of investment in a rate-regulated operation for which the entity is allowed to earn a return (emphasis added). The rate base generally affects two components of the entity's revenue requirement: depreciation that is allowed to be recovered, and return on capital (i.e., rate base multiplied by the allowed rate of return). Prospective purchasers consider the rate base to be a measure of the net value of the assets used by the entity in its rate-regulated operations. The recent acquisitions that we have seen in Canada are intended to grow the regulatory asset base in order to earn a higher rate of return.

Acquisitions outside Canada and the U.S.

108. We wanted to understand how entities that apply IFRS without recognizing debit and credit balances arising from rate regulation (i.e., the predominant IFRS practice) treat premiums paid for rate-regulated businesses. Accordingly, we made enquiries of a European valuations expert to understand how this difference in accounting possibly affects the purchase price equation.

109. Although anecdotal, the information we obtained was helpful. We were told that, consistent with our understanding, investors generally pay a premium to buy into a monopolistic industry. Theoretically, without the recognition of balances arising from rate regulation, their value would be captured in goodwill. A utility's right to charge a higher tariff in the future or obligation to reduce future prices, provides additional information about the value of the acquired business that could also be captured in the fair value of the licence recognized on acquisition. However, in both cases, it would be difficult to identify amounts attaching specifically to the value placed on the acquiree's rate-regulated activities in IFRS financial statements.

110. Staff corroborated this information by looking at the goodwill note disclosure of an entity in France (see the following table). This entity applies IFRS. While the note disclosure does not confirm that a portion of the goodwill relates to unrecognized debit and credit balances arising from rate regulation, it suggests that there could be a correlation between goodwill and the cash flows from the regulated asset base.

Engie (France) – Extract from 2015 annual consolidated financial statements
Note 12.3.1.2 Goodwill allocated to the Distribution CGU The total amount of goodwill allocated to the Distribution CGU was €4,009 million at December 31, 2015. The Distribution CGU groups together the Group's regulated natural gas distribution activities in France. The value-in-use of the Distribution CGU was calculated using cash flow projections drawn up on the basis of the 2016 budget and the medium-term 2017-2021 business plan, as approved by the Group Management Committee and Board of Directors. The terminal value calculated at the end of the medium-term business plan corresponds to the expected Regulated Asset Base (RAB) with no premium at the end of 2021. The RAB is the value assigned by the regulator (CRE) to the assets operated by the distributor. It is the sum of the future pre-tax cash flows, discounted at a rate that equals the pre-tax rate of return guaranteed by the regulator. The cash flow projections are drawn up based on the tariff for public natural gas distribution networks, known as the "ATRD 4 tariff", which entered into effect for a period of four years on July 1, 2012, and on the overall level of investments agreed by the French Energy Regulatory Commission (CRE) as part of its decision on the ATRD 4 tariff. Given the regulated nature of the businesses grouped within the Distribution CGU, a reasonable change in any of the valuation parameters would not result in the recoverable value falling below the carrying amount.

Academic Research – Views on Market Valuation of Debit Balances Arising from Rate Regulation

111. Staff looked at an academic research paper that examined how markets value debit balances arising from rate regulation. Although the research paper is somewhat dated, staff thinks certain observations made are still relevant in today's environment. Below are two extracts from the research paper, entitled "Market Valuation of Regulatory Assets in Public Utility Firms" (July 1996).

> "We provide evidence that the market values regulatory assets on average, but discounts the reported accounting values of regulatory assets conditional on the uncertainty inherent in the regulatory environment. In other words, investors of utilities operating in unfavorable regulatory environments appear to assign a non-zero probability to the possibility that the firm will fail to receive future revenues sufficient to recover the actual incurred costs that have been previously deferred. These findings are consistent both with those of Clinch and Magliolo (1992), who show that investors in oil and gas firms adjust for uncertainty in the pricing of required reserve disclosures, and with those of Khurana and Loudder (1994), who show that the market of utility firms to the exposure draft of SFAS No. 106 is inversely related to the favorableness of the regulatory environment." (emphasis added)

> "Market participants incur adjustment costs when accounting measures economic events with error, and as accounting measurement error increases, the usefulness of accounting information decreases. Adjustment costs and information quality have important implications for the cost of capital for the individual firm and the economy. Adjustment costs might be reduced and usefulness for utility investors increased by (1) considering the effect on information quality of multiple measurement attributes applied to essentially the same type asset, (2) requiring adequate footnote disclosure about regulatory risk issues, and (3) requiring disclosure of the time periods over which regulatory assets will be recovered." (emphasis added)

112. The above extracts highlight the concerns that some have with including debit and credit balances arising from rate regulation on the face of the financial statements. Mention of this point has already been made in connection with the measurement challenges of such debit balances (see paragraph 79).

What this Section Demonstrates

113. The decision-usefulness of financial information that reflects the economics of rate-regulated activities and the strength of the regulatory framework is evidenced by the fact that such information is factored into investment, lending and credit rating decisions. In acquisition scenarios, the capital markets appear to attach a premium to rate-regulated assets because of the stable earnings and cash flows they are capable of generating when the regulatory framework is strong.

Conclusions

114. Entities subject to rate regulation have a formidable presence in the capital markets, both in terms of market capitalization and bond issuances. Based on projected future investment requirements in the regulated markets, this presence is likely to only increase. Market participants view the rate-setting mechanism as a unique feature that provides stability in earnings and predictable cash flows.

115. The regulatory framework is a key determinant of the success of a rate-regulated entity because it defines the environment in which the rate-regulated entity operates. The regulatory framework governs the relationship between the rate regulator and the rate-regulated entity. The underlying legislation, the form of rate regulation, and the regulatory and court decisions that interpret the legislation and rules, all of which are a part of the regulatory framework, affect the determination of whether the rate-regulated entity has certain rights and obligations. Furthermore, the strength of the regulatory framework can affect the enforceability of those rights and obligations, translating into measurement challenges that affect the value of the economic resources of, and claims against, the rate-regulated entity. An understanding of the regulatory framework is essential in order to reflect the economics of rate-regulated activities in financial information.

116. Users, such as debt and equity analysts, and credit rating agencies, have all emphasized the importance of the regulatory framework. In their view, the components of the regulatory framework are capable of affecting the rate-regulated entity's ability to recover costs and earn a reasonable return for providing the regulated goods or services to customers.

117. Financial information assists users in making decisions when it helps them assess the amount, timing and uncertainty of future cash flows. In the case of rate-regulated entities, users take into consideration the financial effects of rate regulation when making their assessments. For example, entities contemplating an acquisition factor in financial information on rate-regulated activities when the potential acquiree operates in that sector. In fact, the data demonstrates that rate-regulated assets command a premium in purchase price given the stable earnings and predictable cash flows they can offer. In jurisdictions, such as Canada and the U.S., that permit the recognition of debit and credit balances arising from rate regulation, acquisitions demonstrate that there is commercial substance to these balances, as the carrying value of these balances generally approximates the fair value they are assigned in the purchase price allocation. For jurisdictions that do not account for these balances, staff has heard anecdotally that this premium is captured in goodwill or intangible assets.

118. The data in this paper provides evidence, from existing practice, demonstrating what information users need to understand the economics of rate-regulated activities, and how this information factors into their decision-making. This data supports evidence-based standard-setting and should assist the IASB's continued deliberations, and decisions, on how best to reflect the financial effects of rate regulation in IFRS statements.

119. As part of its deliberations, the IASB is encouraged to examine the adaptability of its proposed asset and liability definitions to regulatory frameworks that could give rise to rights and obligations. The manner in which such rights and obligations are reflected in financial statements, both qualitatively and quantitatively, can affect the transparency and comparability of the statements and, therefore, the degree to which they help users to make decisions. As evidenced by the data in this paper, information on the economics of rate-regulated activities appears differently in an entity's financial statements depending on the jurisdiction in which it operates. From a theoretical perspective, such diversity is only justified when the rights and obligations differ between entities.

Next Steps

120. The AcSB will be considering the findings in this paper at its September 21-22, 2016 meeting and discussing the appropriate next steps for the paper. These steps could include obtaining more data in a particular area (e.g., comparative information on the rate regulatory environment in other jurisdictions), or examining other aspects of rate-regulated activities they think the paper should also address.

121. In addition, the views of other national standard setters are being sought. This paper is being discussed at the September 2016 meetings of the International Forum of Accounting Standard Setters and the Accounting Standards Advisory Forum. The IASB and national standard setters will be asked to provide input. The AcSB's views on the paper will be shared orally at those meetings.

122. Once the paper has been updated for the feedback obtained, the AcSB will consider publishing the findings in order to serve as a formal reference document on the topic of rate-regulated activities.

"Most of the users broadly favour the inclusion of the financial effects of rate-regulated activities in the primary financial statements as this would enhance the usefulness of the information provided. Users believe that recognising the economic effects of rate regulation in the primary statements would: a) result in a measure of performance that reflects what an entity is entitled to earn; b) result in useful financial information to assess prospects of future cash flows; and c) portray the economic reality of entities operating rate-regulated activities. Such accounting is implemented mainly in the financial statements of entities providing utilities such as electricity and water. These entities, although operating as business entities, are owned and controlled by the government and regulated by special governmental authorities. We are not aware of special problems in investment or lending decisions stemming from the recognition of such deferral accounts by these entities. This may partially result from the fact that these entities are owned and controlled by the government and, therefore, lenders usually regard them as part of the government itself (even if the liabilities of such entities are not formally covered by governmental guarantees)." This paper has been prepared for discussion at a public meeting of the Accounting Standards Advisory Forum (ASAF) and does not represent the views of the International Accounting Standards Board (the Board) or any individual member of the Board. Comments on the application of IFRS® Standards do not purport to set out acceptable or unacceptable application of those Standards. Technical decisions are made in public and reported in an IASB® Update.

Purpose of the session

1. The purpose of this session is to obtain advice and comment from ASAF members on conceptual basis for revenue recognition of rate-regulated activities, expecting to:
   - explore rationales for recognising regulatory assets and liabilities based on revenue approach;
   - contribute to the IASB's development of a new standard for rate-regulated activities; and
   - share and exchange ideas on improving accounting for rate-regulated activities.

Purpose of this paper

2. This agenda paper (Agenda Paper 3B) is a cover note that provides the scope of discussion and an overview of the agenda papers (Agenda Papers 3Ba to 3Bc) on the issues relating to Rate-Regulated Activities project.

Scope of discussion

3. It is expected that the IASB will undertake the Rate-Regulated Activities project as a major project and publish a second Discussion Paper. The discussion for this project up to now can be summarised as three approaches: (a) revenue approach; (b) cost deferral approach; and (c) disclosure in foot notes only approach.

4. As the revenue approach was supported by the majority of IASB members, the discussion at the IASB meeting in July 2015 revolved around accounting treatments based on the revenue approach. One of the key issues that the IASB discussed at that meeting relates to the case in which revenue requirement includes consideration for performance obligations that are not directly relevant to the transfer of goods or services to the individual customers.

5. The KASB supports the revenue approach, and on the basis of the revenue approach, proposes developing a new revenue recognition model for rate-regulated entities, which would reflect the unique natures of rate-regulated environment. A new model based on the revenue approach would be consistent with the definition of asset and the definition of liability in the current Conceptual Framework for Financial Reporting(hereinafter referred to as 'Conceptual Framework') as well as with the requirements of IFRS 15 Revenue from Contracts with Customers. The KASB thinks that the new model would enhance the intercompany comparability among rate-regulated entities and non-regulated entities.

Overview of Agenda Papers

6. The agenda papers (Agenda Papers 3Ba to 3Bc) are summarised as follows.

   (a) Agenda Paper 3Ba—examines differing views on how to account for regulatory revenue requirement in the light of the current Conceptual Framework and IFRS 15.

   (b) Agenda Paper 3Bb—addresses the differing views in Agenda Paper 3A, using an illustrative example of raw material cost for the adjustment of revenue requirement (simple case).

   (c) Agenda Paper 3Bc—addresses the differing views in Agenda Paper 3A, using an illustrative example of construction cost for the adjustment of revenue requirement (complex case).

7. Agenda Paper 3Ba compares differing views as to how to account for the difference between regulatory revenue requirement (ie revenue in accordance with rate regulation) and contract revenue (ie revenue in accordance with contracts with customers). Agenda Paper 3Ba explores and assesses the rationales for each differing views in the light of the current Conceptual Framework and IFRS 15.

8. To put the scope of Agenda Papers 3Bb and 3Bc in perspective, regulatory revenue requirement can be expressed as the sum of 'required costs' and 'required margin' (ie regulatory revenue requirement = required costs + required margin). Also, for the convenience of discussion, 'required costs' is divided into 'required costs that are currently expensed' and 'required costs to be expensed in future periods' (ie required costs = required costs that are currently expensed + required costs that will be expensed in future periods).

9. In the case of 'required costs that are currently expensed', when there is a difference between the amount billed to and collected from customers and 'required costs that are currently expensed', the difference (ie the 'revenue requirement adjustment'[1]) is collected or settled through the contracts with customers in the subsequent periods. Agenda Paper 3Bb addresses differing views on how to account for this 'adjustment', using a simple example of raw material cost.

10. In the case of 'required costs to be expensed in the future period', there is a rate regulation that allows a rate-regulated entity to collect a certain amount of money to acquire a related asset from customers in advance and the related asset is put to use in future periods. Agenda Paper 3Bc addresses differing views on how to account for this revenue requirement adjustment, using an example of construction costs.

This paper has been prepared for discussion at a public meeting of the Accounting Standards Advisory Forum (ASAF) and does not represent the views of the International Accounting Standards Board (the Board) or any individual member of the Board. Comments on the application of IFRS® Standards do not purport to set out acceptable or unacceptable application of those Standards. Technical decisions are made in public and reported in an IASB® Update.

Background

1. The IASB published a first Discussion Paper in September 2015. The Discussion Paper defined the term, 'defined rate regulation' and limited the scope of discussion to defined rate regulation. In defined rate regulation, it is believed that there exist unique rights and obligations that would affect the recognition of assets and liabilities. The Discussion Paper considered the following possible approaches:

   (a) recognising the package of rights and obligations established by the regulatory agreement as an intangible asset;

   (b) reporting using the regulatory accounting requirements;

   (c) developing specific IFRS requirements to defer/accelerate the recognition of costs and/or revenue; and

   (d) prohibiting the recognition of regulatory deferral account balances in IFRS financial statements.

2. Among the four approaches, it appears that the most widely supported approach has been 'developing specific IFRS requirements to defer/accelerate the recognition of revenue (ie revenue approach)'. The KASB supports this approach because defined rate regulation gives rise to unique rights and obligations in addition to those created by contracts with customers. Hence the KASB thinks that a new revenue recognition criteria should be developed to reflect unique rights and obligations arising from defined rate regulation.

Overview of this paper

3. This Agenda Paper purports to offer a conceptual basis for a new revenue recognition model for defined rate regulation, drawing upon the definition of assets and liabilities in the Conceptual Framework for Financial Reporting (hereinafter referred to as ' Conceptual Framework') and the requirements of IFRS 15 Revenue from Contracts with Customers.

4. The Agenda Paper consists of three analyses as follows.

   (a) (Analysis 1) The economic substance of rate-regulated activities under defined rate regulation

   (b) (Analysis 2) Regulatory assets and liabilities in the context of the Conceptual Framework

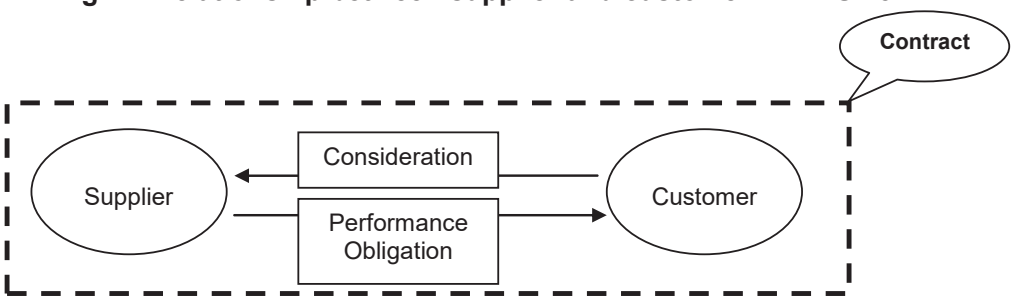
   (c) (Analysis 3) Revenue recognition model for rate-regulated activities derived from IFRS 15

Analysis 1–The economic substance of rate-regulated activities under defined rate regulation

5. To consider the economic substance of rate-regulated activities in the context of the revenue approach mentioned above, it would be necessary to understand the accounting requirements in IFRS 15. IFRS 15 addresses accounting treatments based on the contract between the supplier and the customer. Specifically, it requires that the supplier recognise the consideration it receives for transferring goods or services to the customer as revenue when the supplier satisfies the performance obligation that is contained in the bilateral contract between the supplier and the customer.

<Fig. 1> Relationship between supplier and customer in IFRS 15



6. The accounting for rate-regulated activities in accordance with IFRS 15 would not fully represent the economic substance because the tripartite (the supplier, the customer and the regulator) relationship of rate-regulated activities affects the mechanism of determining the consideration for transferring goods or services to customers. The regulatory agreement changes the nature of a contract between the supplier and the customer; it considerably changes the amount, timing, and uncertainty of future cash flows of the supplier. Accordingly, it is necessary to develop a new IFRS standard to faithfully represent the economic substance of rate-regulated activities.

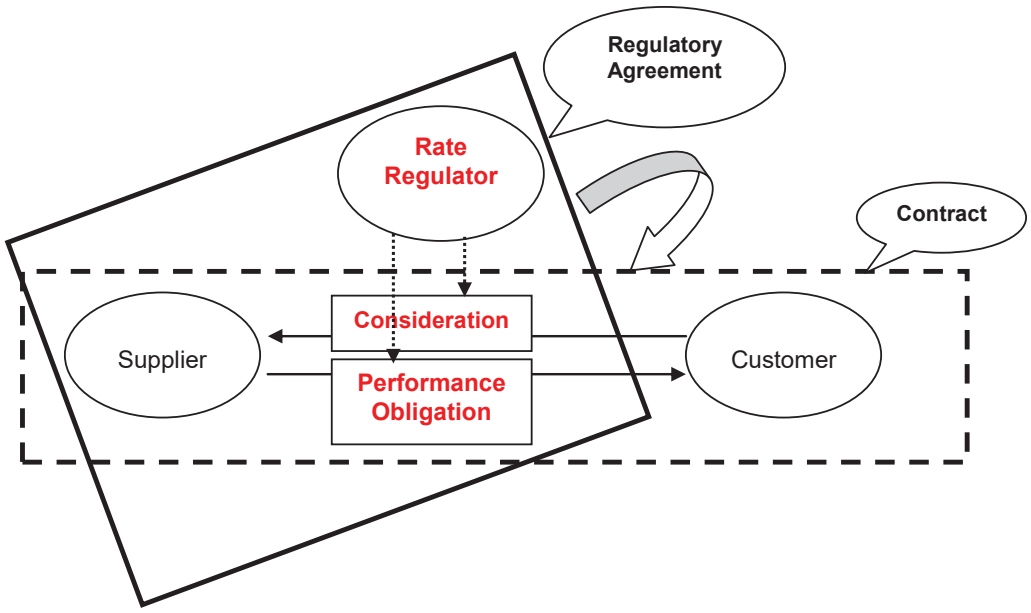
7. As will be discussed further below, the KASB believes that the rate regulator essentially involves the whole process of executing the contract between the supplier and the customer. This means that the effect of the rate regulation should be addressed in terms of the effect on the entire consideration that the supplier receives until the supplier transfers goods or services to the customer in order to satisfy the performance obligation. In other words, the effect of the rate regulation should not be separately addressed in terms of the effect on the part of the consideration that the supplier receives in the input process, for example, repair or construction of a PPE to generate goods or services. Figure 2 illustrates the interaction among the supplier, customer and rate regulator and also the effect of the rate regulation on the relationship between the supplier and the customer.

<Fig. 2> Tripartite relationship among supplier, customer and rate regulator



Analysis 2– Regulatory assets and liabilities in the context of the Conceptual Framework

8. Most respondents to the Discussion Paper[1] on rate-regulated activities agreed to recognise the financial effect of rate regulation in IFRS financial statements. However, many respondents maintained that there should be an examination on whether rights and obligations of a rate-regulated entity arising from enforceable rate regulation would meet the definition of asset and liability under the Conceptual Framework.

9. There are differing views on this issue. Specifically, the issue is whether the recognition of a regulatory asset would be consistent with the concept of 'control' in the Conceptual framework and whether the recognition of a regulatory liability would be in line with the concept of 'present or conditional obligation' in the Conceptual Framework.[2] The analysis below looks at how regulatory assets and regulatory liabilities would meet the definition of an asset and the definition of a liability, respectively.

Control in terms of definition of asset

10. The defined rate regulation (ie no effective competition to supply) has the following characteristics:

    (a) the regulatory agreement is enforceable and the rate-setting mechanism therein ensures that the rate-regulated entity recovers a determinable amount of consideration (the 'revenue requirement') from customers.

    (b) the customer has little or no choice but to purchase the rate-regulated goods or services from the rate-regulated entity.

    (c) the rate-regulated entity has an exclusive right to provide the rate-regulated goods or services and is entitled to recover the revenue requirement.

11. The rate-regulated entity would have an enforceable right for the revenue requirement that is not recovered from customers. This is because the rate-regulated entity is able to collect such revenue requirement by adjusting future rates as the revenue requirement represents the consideration that the rate-regulated entity receives in exchange for goods or services it has already provided.

[2] See the paragraph 5.14-5.31 of IASB Discussion Paper, Reporting the Financial Effects of Rate Regulation, September 2014.

12. The rate-regulated entity operates in an environment different from the non-regulated entity's: (1) there is a rate regulator; and (2) the regulatory agreement between the rate regulator and the rate-regulated entity entitles the rate-regulated entity to have an exclusive rights to provide goods or services and recover the revenue requirement. Accordingly, the rate-regulated entity has 'control' that could justify the recognition of the revenue requirement for the goods or services transferred to customers as an asset.[3] (See Agenda Paper 3Bb for a relevant illustrative example.)

Present or conditional obligation to transfer an economic resource in terms of definition of liability

13. In defined rate regulation, the rate-regulated entity has an obligation that the entity has no practical ability to avoid through the enforceable regulatory agreement or laws when the entity collected the amount from customers that exceeds the revenue requirement (ie the sum of the current year's required cost and required margin). The collected amount that exceeds the revenue requirement is an amount received in advance that will be part of the next year's revenue requirement (ie the sum of the next year's required actual cost and required margin). When the rate-regulated entity sets the rate for goods and services to provide in future periods, it deducts the overly-charged amount in prior periods from the rate. (See Agenda Paper 3Bb for a relevant illustrative example.)

14. In other words, as the rate-regulated entity is obliged to provide goods or services in future periods, the amount it received that exceeds the revenue requirement (See Agenda Paper 3Bb) or the amount related to consideration for future performance obligation (See Agenda Paper 3Bc) is similar to unearned revenue, which represents an obligation to provide goods or services in future periods.[4]

Analysis 3– Revenue recognition model for rate-regulated activities derived from IFRS 15

15. There are two differing views as to the revenue recognition for rate-regulated activities. View 1 is that the requirements of IFRS 15 should be applied to rate-regulated activities and thus no new revenue recognition model is necessary. On the other hand, View 2 is that the revenue recognition for rate-regulated activities should reflect the regulatory agreement in addition to the

[3] Paragraph 3.27 of the Conceptual Framework Discussion Paper, which notes that: 'For an entity to control an economic resource, the economic benefits arising from the resource must flow to the entity (either directly or indirectly) rather than to another party'.

[4] See paragraph 106 of IFRS 15 Revenue from Contracts with Customers contract with customers and therefore a new revenue recognition model should be established. View 2 supports developing a new revenue recognition model drawing upon the requirements in IFRS 15.

16. The analysis below looks at how the two views (ie View 1 and View 2) are different in the case of unbilled revenue requirement and overbilled revenue requirements. The analysis also addresses how View 2 is split into two sub-views (ie View 2A and View 2B) in the case where the rate-regulated entity has an obligation relating to input activities, which could also be referred as 'indirectly related to delivering goods or services'.

Timing of revenue recognition for unbilled revenue requirement

17. There are two views with respect to how the effect of rate regulation should be considered in terms of timing of revenue recognition for unbilled revenue requirement:

- View 1—Recognise in the future periods the revenue requirement that is not reflected in the contract with customers in the current period because such revenue requirement will be billed to, and collected from, customers in future periods; and
- View 2—Recognise in the current period the revenue requirement that is not reflected in the contract with customers in the current period because such revenue requirement is the consideration for transferring goods or services to customers in the current period.

18. View 1 focuses only on the contract between the supplier and the customers and thus supports that the supplier recognises its revenue when it reflects the 'revenue requirement adjustment'[5] on the contract with customers. According to View 1, an entity recognises its revenue in the period when it satisfies the performance obligation established in the contract with customers. Accordingly the rate-regulated entity should recognise the revenue requirement adjustment in the future periods when it reflects the adjustment in the contract with customers in the future periods; the revenue is a consideration for satisfying the performance obligation in the future periods.

19. View 2 focuses on the interaction of regulatory agreement and contract with customers. View 2 holds that in the rate regulation, revenue amount should not be determined only by contracts with customers but also by reflecting the revenue requirement adjustment established in the regulatory agreement.

[5] See the definition in Appendix 1 of this paper.

20. The KASB supports View 2 (ie the supplier recognises revenue when it satisfies the performance obligation to the customer) by analogising to the requirements in IFRS 15. There are two aspects to look at the requirements in IFRS 15.

21. The first aspect is the requirements for progressive revenue recognition over time in IFRS 15. The KASB notes that the supplier can recognise revenue before the payment is contractually billable to the customer. According to IFRS 15, an entity recognises revenue with a corresponding entry of 'contract asset' to the extent of the progress of construction (for example, up to 25% of the progress when 30% is the contractually billable point), provided the revenue recognition criteria are met, though it is not contractually billable. When the progress of construction reaches up to the contractually billable point (ie 30% in this case), the contract asset that was recognised for the portion of 25% of progress can be replaced with a receivable (ie financial asset).

22. This means that revenue can be recognised even before a financial asset is recognised. In other words, if the supplier satisfies a performance obligation to the customer and has a right to receive a consideration from the customer, the supplier recognises revenue before it bills to the customer.

23. How the rate regulation can be analogised to this requirement in IFRS 15 will be addressed in conjunction with the second point explained below.

24. The second aspect is that the case of adjusted revenue requirements in the rate regulation can be analogised to the concept of variable consideration in IFRS 15. The adjusted revenue requirements in the rate regulation means that the amount of the consideration that was set at the beginning of Year 1 is adjusted at the end of Year 1. According to the regulatory agreement at the beginning of Year 1, such adjusted consideration is, by nature, a post-adjustment to the consideration in return for the performance obligation during Year 1. In other words, such post-adjustment represents a variable consideration that is adjusted in response to unexpected changes in circumstances during the year, which was not considered in setting up the revenue requirements at the beginning of the year. In this sense, the adjusted consideration is conceptually similar to the variable consideration described inIFRS 15. And this adjusted consideration is not contractually billable in Year 1, but is contractually billable in Year 2 by adjusting the amount of consideration in the contract.

25. When the first aspect mentioned above is brought into the context of the rate regulation, it can be said that although the adjusted consideration is not billable in Year 1, revenue for that adjusted consideration can be recognised in Year 1 because it is a consideration in return for satisfying the performance obligation in Year 1. Therefore, a regulatory asset and regulatory revenue will be recognised in Year 1; the regulatory asset recognised in Year 1 will be replaced with a receivable (ie financial asset) and the regulatory revenue recognised in Year 1 will adjust the contract revenue in Year 2 because this adjusting accounting entry should be recorded not to duplicate the revenue.

26. Incidentally, recognising a regulatory asset in Year 1 would not require that there should be the same customer group to bill in Year 1 and Year 2. That is, if the supplier can bill to the customer in Year 2, the regulatory asset that is recognised in Year 1 would meet the definition of asset, regardless of whether the customer group in Year 2 is different from that in Year 1.

Timing of revenue recognition for overbilled revenue requirement

27. In View 1, although the entity may have an obligation to reverse the overbilled revenue requirement by lowering the rate for future sales, this does not involve the transfer of an economic resource. Instead, the entity will earn a lower profit for its future sales. Accordingly, the rate-regulated entity should recognise the overbilled revenue requirement as revenue in the current period.

28. In View 2, overbilled revenue requirement is not a consideration for transferring goods or services to customers in the current period; it is a consideration relating to performance obligation in the future periods and an over-charged amount. Accordingly, the rate-regulated entity should recognise the amount as revenue in the future period.

29. Analogising to the requirements in IFRS 15[6], the rate-regulated entity should recognise the amount billed to customers as revenue by allocating the amount to current period and future periods. The portion that the entity has satisfied the performance obligation for transferring goods or services in the current period is allocated to the current period and the portion that the entity has to satisfy the performance obligation in the future periods is allocated to the future periods.

30. The method of allocation would be based on the required cost and required margin established in the regulatory agreement, matching the revenue requirement (See Agenda Paper 3Bb and 3Bc). Accordingly, after allocating the amount to the current period, the unallocated amount should be presented as unearned revenue that represents a consideration for performance obligation in the future periods because the unallocated amount is carried over to the contract with customers in the future periods through the rate-setting mechanism.

[6] IFRS 15.73 The objective when allocating the transaction price is for an entity to allocate the transaction price to each performance obligation (or distinct good or service) in an amount that depicts the amount of consideration to which the entity expects to be entitled in exchange for transferring the promised goods or services to the customer.

Timing of revenue recognition for input activities costs(performance obligation)

31. In defined rate regulation, the rate-regulated entity often has an obligation for indirect activities (hereinafter referred to as 'input activities') as well as direct activities (hereinafter referred to as 'output activities') (ie to transfer goods or services to customers). Examples of the obligation for input activities are: an obligation to construct a PPE to produce goods or services; and an obligation of restoration after a disaster.

32. Assuming that View 2 is taken, there are two views on this issue. View 2A is that the rate-regulated entity should separately identify performance obligation for input activities and thus allocate consideration for those activities. View 2B is that the rate-regulated entity should regard that performance obligation is satisfied when it ultimately satisfies the obligation for output activities (ie to transfer goods or services to customers). (See Agenda Paper 3Bc for a relevant illustrative example.)

33. From the standpoint of the tripartite relationship, the two views can be summarised as follows:

- View 2A—The rate-regulated entity recognises its revenue when it satisfies the performance obligation to the rate regulator; and
- View 2B—The rate-regulated entity recognises its revenue only when it satisfies the performance obligation to the customer.

34. View 2A focuses on the relationship between the rate-regulated entity and the rate regulator and thus supports that the rate-regulated entity recognises its revenue when it satisfies the performance obligation to the rate regulator.

35. View 2B focuses on the whole process of the rate-regulated entity's operating activity until the entity transfers goods or services to the customer and thus supports that the entity recognises its revenue when it satisfies the performance obligation to the customer.

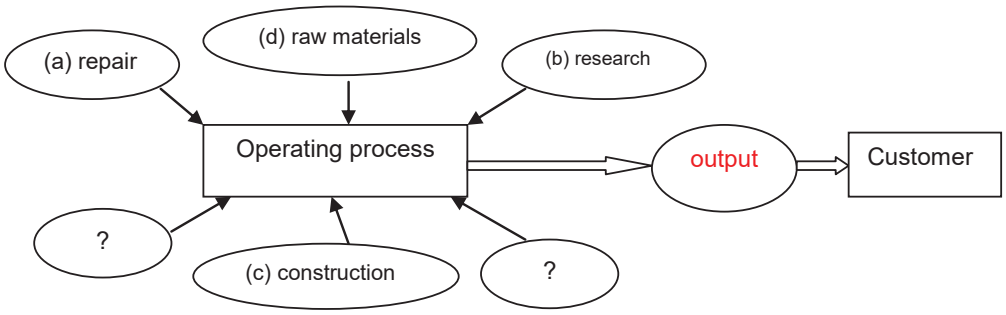
36. The KASB is in favour of View 2B because View 2A would give rise to the following issue. If the rate-regulated entity recognises its revenue when it completes the input process of the operating activity, each of the separate input process would become the unit for recognising revenue. This could lead to the complexity of accounting and conceptual inconsistency because the rate-regulated entity would need to separately identify revenue from input operating process and revenue from output operating process.

<Fig. 3> Input and output operating process of a supplier



37. The KASB thinks that the effect of the rate regulation does not just relate to the input operating activity of the rate-regulated entity. The input operating activity is a necessary condition for the entity performing the obligation to transfer the final output to the customer, but not a sufficient condition for that. The KASB thinks that the effect of the rate regulation should relate to the entire consideration that the rate-regulated entity receives in exchange for performing the obligation to the customer.

38. Accordingly, the rate-regulated entity should not recognise its revenue when it completes the input operating activity (eg. the construction of a PPE) for providing the output to the customer because the obligation to construct the PPE is not a final obligation. This would also be the case even if the amount for the cost to construct the PPE is billed to the customer because the final output has yet to be transferred to the customer. In our view, the rate-regulated entity should recognise its revenue when the whole process is completed, that is, when the entity transfers goods or services to the customer and thus the costs that incurred during the input activities are expensed.

39. The KASB believes that View 2B (ie the rate-regulated entity recognises revenue when it satisfies the performance obligation to the customer) can be supported by analogising to the requirements in IFRS 15. Paragraph 29 of IFRS 15 states:

> Factors that indicate that two or more promises to transfer goods or services to a customer are not separately identifiable include the following:

(a) the entity provides a significant service of integrating the goods or services with other goods or services promised in the contract into a bundle of goods or services that represent the combined output or outputs for which the customer has contracted. In other words, the entity is using the goods or services as inputs to produce or deliver the combined output or outputs specified by the customer. A combined output or outputs might include more than one phase, element or unit.

(c) the goods or services are highly interdependent or highly interrelated. In other words, each of the goods or services is significantly affected by one or more of the other goods or services in the contract. For example, in some cases, two or more goods or services are significantly affected by each other because the entity would not be able to fulfill its promise by transferring each of the goods or services independently.

40. Analogising rate regulated activity to paragraph 29(a) of IFRS 15 above, the input activity that the regulator requires the rate-regulated entity to perform would be similar to the obligation for 'a bundle of goods or services' that is combined with the obligation to transfer goods or services to customers. By this analogy, View 2B would be more appropriate because the obligation for input activities should not be identified as a distinct performance obligation.

41. Analogising the rate regulation to paragraph 29(c) of IFRS 15 above, it can be said that the obligation for input activities that the regulator requires the rate-regulated entity to perform and the obligation to transfer goods or services to customers are highly interdependent or highly interrelated. In other words, each of the goods or services relating to input activity and output activity is significantly affected by one or more of the other goods or services. By this analogy, View 2B would be more appropriate because the obligation for input activities should not be identified as a distinct performance obligation.

Conclusion

42. The requirements of IFRS 15 would not fully represent the economic substance of rate-regulated activities because the revenue recognition requirements of IFRS 15 are only based on contracts with customers and thus cannot properly consider the effect of the rate regulation. A transaction under the rate regulation would be different from that only based on contracts with customers because the rate regulation would affect the amount, timing and uncertainty of future cash flows of the transaction.

43. The rate regulator engages in the input activities of the entity's operation: (1) it may require a rate-regulated entity to perform a certain type of input obligations; or (2) it may determine the amount and timing of consideration that the entity receives from the customer.

44. This engagement of the rate regulator occurs by virtue of a regulatory agreement. The regulatory agreement between the rate regulator and the entity affects the entity's contracts with customers. This effect results in a timing difference between the receipt of consideration from the customer and the satisfaction of the entity's performance of obligation to the customer; that is, the regulatory agreement requires the entity to satisfy the performance obligation before receiving a consideration and vice versa. Accordingly, it would be necessary to develop a new Standard to reflect the timing difference arising from the existence of the rate regulation.

45. The KASB tentatively views that a new IFRS standard can be developed drawing upon the requirements in IFRS 15. Specifically, the KASB thinks that the accounting for rate-regulated activities can be considered by analogising to the concept of progressive revenue recognition over time and variable consideration in IFRS 15.

46. On the basis of the analyses above, The KASB proposes developing a new accounting model for rate-regulated activities as follows:

    (a) the rate-regulated entity recognises its revenue reflecting the revenue requirement adjustment when it satisfies the performance obligation to transfer goods or services to customers;

    (b) the timing of revenue recognition is not dependent on when the consideration for transferring goods or services is billed or contractually billable to a customer; and

    (c) the obligation for input activities that the rate regulator requires the rate-regulated entity to perform (for example, the construction of a PPE to produce goods or services to transfer) is not separately identified for revenue recognition, and the revenue requirement (ie consideration) for those input activities will be recognised as revenue when the cost of the related asset is expensed (for example, as the PPE is depreciated).

Questions for ASAF members

1. Do you think that the regulatory agreement affects the timing, amount and uncertainty of revenue recognition from contracts with customers?

2. Do you support View 2 (ie recognise regulatory assets and liabilities) and also View 2B (ie revenue is recognised when the rate-regulated entity completes the whole process of operating activity to transfer goods or services to customers)?

3. Do you have any comments on the proposal of a revenue recognition model for rate-regulated activities provided in Appendix 2 of this paper?

billable revenue[7]	That is the amount of revenue that the entity bills(invoices) to customers, using the established rate per unit, in exchange for the actual quantity of rate-regulated goods or services delivered in the period (Notes) Billable revenue is the same as 'receivable' that is billed to customer through contracts with customers.

defined rate regulation[9]	Defined rate regulation involves a regulatory pricing (ie rate-setting) framework that includes all of the following: (a) it applies in situations in which customers have little or no choice but to purchase the goods or services from the rate-regulated entity because: (i) there is no effective competition to supply; and (ii) the rate-regulated goods or services are essential to customers (such as clean water or electricity). (b) it establishes parameters to maintain the availability and quality of the supply of the rate-regulated goods or services and other rate-regulated activities of the entity. (c) it establishes parameters for rates (sometimes referred to as prices or tariffs) that provide regulatory protections that: (i) support greater stability of prices for customers; and (ii) support the financial viability of the rate-regulated entity. (d) it creates rights and obligations that are enforceable on the rate-regulated entity and on the rate regulator.

rate regulator[11] An authorised body that is empowered by statute or regulation to establish the rate or a range of rates that bind an entity. revenue requirement[14] That is the amount of consideration to which the entity is entitled in exchange for carrying out the required rate-regulated activities during the period, including those both directly and indirectly related to delivering the rate-regulated goods or services. The regulatory agreement establishes the total amount of consideration (commonly called the 'revenue requirement', 'allowable revenue' or 'authorised revenue') to which the entity is entitled in exchange for all of its rate-regulated activities. This revenue requirement reflects a targeted rate of return, which is established in the defined rate regulation. The entity is not paid directly by the rate regulator or the government for carrying out these activities. Instead, it receives consideration for these activities through the amounts billed to customers.

That is the difference between the revenue requirement established in the regulatory agreement during the regulatory period and the actual amount that has been collected from customers. Revenue requirement adjustment will be collected or reimbursed through the adjustment in the rate in the future periods.

(Notes) Revenue requirement adjustment is similar to variable consideration. While the amount of consideration in IFRS 15 is contingent due to discount, rebate, reimbursement, credits, price concessions, incentive, etc, an adjustment of the revenue requirement in the rate regulation is contingent due to a change in purchasing prices, volume different, etc. An adjustment of the revenue requirement occurs when the revenue requirement is adjusted in accordance with the requirements of the regulatory agreement between the regulator and the rate-regulated entity.

APPENDIX 2 — Proposal of a revenue recognition model for rate-regulated activities

The following table is a proposal of revenue recognition model for rate-regulated activities based on IFRS 15. In the table below, the texts added to IFRS 15 are underlined and highlighted.

IFRS 15	A proposal for rate-regulated activities
The core principle of IFRS 15 is that an entity recognises revenue to depict the transfer of promised goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration to which the entity expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods or services. An entity recognises revenue in accordance with that core principle by applying the following steps:	The core principle of NEW MODEL is that a regulated entity recognises revenue to depict the transfer of promised goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration to which the entity expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods or services based on the contracts with a customer and the regulatory agreement with a regulator. A regulated entity recognises revenue in accordance with that core principle by applying the following steps:
Step 1: Identify the contract(s) with a customer—a contract is an agreement between two or more parties that creates enforceable rights and obligations. The requirements of IFRS 15 apply to each contract that has been agreed upon with a customer and meets specified criteria. In some cases, IFRS 15 requires an entity to combine contracts and account for them as one contract. IFRS 15 also provides requirements for the accounting for contract modifications.	Step 1: Identify the contract(s) with a customer and the regulatory agreement with a regulator—A contract is an agreement between two or more parties that creates enforceable rights and obligations. A regulatory agreement is an agreement between the regulated entity and the regulator that creates enforceable rights and obligations. The requirements of NEW MODEL apply to each contract and regulatory agreement that has been agreed upon with a customer and with a regulator, and meets specified criteria. The regulated entity should take both the contract and the regulatory agreement into account together. In some cases, NEW MODEL requires a regulated entity to combine contracts and account for them as one contract. NEW MODEL also provides requirements for the accounting for contract or regulatory agreement modifications.
Step 2: Identify the performance obligations in the contract—a contract includes promises to transfer goods or services to a customer. If those goods or services are distinct, the promises are performance obligations and are accounted for separately. A good or service is distinct if the customer can benefit from the good or service on its own or together with other resources that are readily available to the customer and the entity's promise to transfer the good or service to the customer is separately identifiable from other promises in the contract.	Step 2: Identify the performance obligations in the contract and the promises in the regulatory agreement. A contract includes promises to transfer goods or services to a customer. A regulatory agreement may include promises to perfor the activities directly or indirectly relevant to transferring goods or services to a customer. If those goods or services are distinct, the promises are performance obligations and are accounted for separately. A good or service is distinct if the customer can benefit from the good or service on its own or together with other resources that are readily available to the customer and the entity's promise to transfer the good or service to the customer is separately identifiable from other promises in the contract.
Step 3: Determine the transaction price—the transaction price is the amount of consideration in a contract to which an entity expects to be entitled in exchange for transferring promised goods or services to a customer. The transaction price can be a fixed amount of customer consideration, but it	Step 3: Determine the transaction price and revenue requirement adjustment is the amount of consideration in a contract to which a regulated entity expects to be entitled in exchange for transferring promised goods or services to a customer. The transaction price and revenue may sometimes include variable consideration or consideration in a form other than cash. The transaction price is also adjusted for the effects of the time value of money if the contract includes a significant financing component and for any consideration payable to the customer. If the consideration is variable, an entity estimates the amount of consideration to which it will be entitled in exchange for the promised goods or services. The estimated amount of variable consideration will be included in the transaction price only to the extent that it is highly probable that a significant reversal in the amount of cumulative revenue recognised will not occur when the uncertainty associated with the variable consideration is subsequently resolved.	requirement adjustment can be a fixed amount of customer consideration, but it may sometimes include variable consideration (when a regulator adjusts the amount of consideration, the adjustment may be reflected in the recognition of revenue) or consideration in a form other than cash. The transaction price and revenue requirement adjustment are also adjusted for the effects of the time value of money if the contract includes a significant financing component and for any consideration payable to the customer. If the consideration is variable, a regulated entity estimates the amount of consideration to which it will be entitled in exchange for the promised goods or services. The estimated amount of variable consideration will be included in the transaction price or revenue requirement adjustment only to the extent that it is highly probable that a significant reversal in the amount of cumulative revenue recognised will not occur when the uncertainty associated with the variable consideration is subsequently resolved.

Step 4: Allocate the transaction price to the performance obligations in the contract—an entity typically allocates the transaction price to each performance obligation on the basis of the relative stand-alone selling prices of each distinct good or service promised in the contract. If a stand-alone selling price is not observable, an entity estimates it. Sometimes, the transaction price includes a discount or a variable amount of consideration that relates entirely to a part of the contract. The requirements specify when an entity allocates the discount or variable consideration to one or more, but not all, performance obligations (or distinct goods or services) in the contract.	Step 4: Allocate the transaction price or the adjusted revenue requirement to the performance obligations in the contract—a regulated entity typically allocates the transaction price or the adjusted revenue requirement to each performance obligation on the basis of the relative stand-alone selling prices of each distinct good or service promised in the contract. If a stand-alone selling price is not observable, a regulated entity estimates it. Sometimes, the transaction price or the adjusted revenue requirement includes a discount or a variable amount of consideration that relates entirely to a part of the contract. The requirements specify when a regulated entity allocates the discount or variable consideration to one or more, but not all, performance obligations (or distinct goods or services) in the contract.
Step 5: Recognise revenue when (or as) the entity satisfies a performance obligation—an entity recognises revenue when (or as) it satisfies a performance obligation by transferring a promised good or service to a customer (which is when the customer obtains control of that good or service). The amount of revenue recognised is the amount allocated to the satisfied performance obligation. A performance obligation may be satisfied at a point in time (typically for promises to transfer goods to a customer) or over time (typically for promises to transfer services to a customer). For performance obligations satisfied over time, an entity recognises revenue over time by selecting an appropriate method for measuring the entity's progress towards complete satisfaction of that performance obligation.	Step 5: Recognise revenue when (or as) the entity satisfies a performance obligation—a regulated entity recognises revenue when (or as) it satisfies a performance obligation by transferring a promised good or service to a customer (which is when the customer obtains control of that good or service). The amount of revenue recognised is the amount allocated to the satisfied performance obligation. A performance obligation may be satisfied at a point in time (typically for promises to transfer goods to a customer) or over time (typically for promises to transfer services to a customer). For performance obligations satisfied over time, a regulated entity recognises revenue over time by selecting an appropriate method for measuring the entity's progress towards complete satisfaction of that performance obligation. Performance obligation may include some activities to be performed according to requirement by a regulator. Obligations of those activities related directly or indirectly to the performance obligation also should be satisfied to recognise the related revenue. Obligations of those activities would be satisfied when the related expenditures are expensed for the purpose of revenue recognition. When there exists a difference between the regulatory asset or liability/regulatory revenue and the contract asset or liability /contract revenue, the contract asset or liability /contract revenue should be reconciled to reflect the difference.

This paper has been prepared for discussion at a public meeting of the Accounting Standards Advisory Forum (ASAF) and does not represent the views of the International Accounting Standards Board (the Board) or any individual member of the Board. Comments on the application of IFRS® Standards do not purport to set out acceptable or unacceptable application of those Standards. Purpose of this paper

1. This paper discuses how the rate-regulated activities have financial effect on rights and obligations of the rate-regulated entity in defined rate regulation. There are two views based on the revenue approach, which have been supported by many stakeholders. By using an illustrative example, this paper will address the two views.

2. This paper provides a simple illustrative example, which relates to the rate-regulated entity's activity of purchasing raw materials. Specifically, it relates to 'required costs that are currently expensed' and is one of the entity's activity directly relevant to transferring goods or services to a customer. The issue is when the entity should recognise revenue if the revenue requirement changes due to the purchasing price change in raw materials and thus an adjustment of revenue requirement is made.

Overview

3. As mentioned above, based on the revenue approach, there are two views as follows:

   (a) View 1—make no adjustment to the predominant existing IFRS practice; and

   (b) View 2—recognise the revenue requirement as the revenue for carrying out the required rate-regulated activities during the period.

4. The two views will be assessed in the light of the Conceptual Framework and IFRS 15, using an illustrative example.

5. The fact patterns of the illustrative example are as follows (See also Appendix of this paper).

Fact patterns[1]

The rate regulated entity (the entity) imports natural gas from overseas and provides it to customers after going through manufacturing process. The raw material cost of natural gas is contingent on foreign exchange rate and oil price. The rate regulator approved that the revenue requirement including the raw material cost of natural gas is CU1,000 per annum. The ex-ante revenue requirement is the same from Year 1 throughout Year 5. And assume that there is no required margin. The selling price is set at CU10 as the entity forecasts that it will sell 100 units of the product per annum. For the convenience of discussion, assume that the entity does not have any transactions involving transfer of business, spin-off, discontinuation of business, etc.

Illustrative Example A: a case of asset recognition

In Year 1, the actual cost was CU1,200, which exceeds the estimated cost of CU1,000, due to the fluctuation in foreign exchange rate and oil price. The actual quantity of sold products was 90 units, which is lower than the estimated quantity of 100 units. The revenue requirement for 90 units was CU1,200.

The regulator approves that the entity increases the rate in Year 2 in order to compensate the amount that was caused by the actual cost that exceeded the estimated cost and the actual quantity that was lower than the estimated quantity. Assume that there is no difference between the actual amount and the estimated amount in terms of cost and quantity from Year 2.

Illustrative Example B: a case of liability recognition

In Year 1, the actual cost was CU800, which is lower than the estimated cost of CU1,000, due to the fluctuation in foreign exchange rate and oil price. The actual quantity of sold products was 110 units, which is higher than the estimate quantity of 100 units. The regulator approves that the rate-regulated entity decrease the rate in Year 2 to reflect the less-than-expected actual cost and the more-than-expected actual volume. Assume that there is no difference between the actual amount and the estimated amount in terms of cost and quantity from Year 2.

[1] Monetary amounts are denominated in 'currency units (CU)'.

Assessment 1— Conceptual Framework perspective

6. The assessment will show that View 2 (ie recognise the revenue requirement as the revenue for carrying out the required rate-regulated activities during the period) can be supported by the Conceptual Framework. The assessment will be made on the basis of three aspects relating to the definition of asset and two aspects of the definition of liability under the Conceptual Framework. The five aspects are as follows:

   Illustrative Example A: a case of asset recognition

   (a) result from past transactions or other past event (relating to definition of asset and illustrative Example A of this paper).

   (b) exercising control (relating to definition of asset and illustrative Example A of this paper).

   (c) future economic benefit (relating to definition of asset and illustrative Example A of this paper).

   Illustrative Example B: a case of liability recognition

   (d) no practical ability to avoid (relating to definition of asset and illustrative Example B of this paper).

   (e) present or conditional obligation to transfer an economic resource (relating to definition of asset and illustrative Example B of this paper).

7. The assessment will be performed below on Illustrative Example A (Assessment 1.1) and Illustrative Example B (Assessment 1.2), respectively.

Assessment 1.1— Illustrative Example A: a case of asset recognition

Result from past transactions or other past event

8. The fact patterns of the illustrative example above (See also Appendix of this paper) show that providing natural gas to customers is a past transaction. And the adjustment of revenue requirement (ie CU300) in Year 2 is a result from this transaction. The revenue requirement adjustment is due to the purchasing price increase in raw materials (ie CU200) and the difference between the actual volume and estimated volume (ie CU 100).

Exercising control

9. The rate-regulated entity has an exclusive right to collect the revenue requirement relating to the required cost (ie raw material cost) in the environment of defined rate regulation where there is no effective competition. And the identified revenue requirement adjustment (ie CU300) is ensured by a regulatory agreement or related law. Accordingly, the revenue requirement adjustment (ie CU300) is an asset that is controlled by the rate-regulated entity.

Future economic benefit in terms of definition of an asset

10. The revenue requirement adjustment (ie CU300) is the amount that will be reflected in the future rate and be collected from customers in the future periods. In other words, there will be future economic benefit to the rate-regulated entity in Year 2.

Assessment 1.2— Illustrative Example B: a case of liability recognition

No practical ability to avoid

11. As the rate-regulated entity billed to the customer more than the revenue requirement in Year 1 (ie CU 300), the rate for the customer in Year 2 is decreased to reflect the amount that exceeds the revenue requirement in Year 1. The rate in Year 2 is determined by deducting the revenue requirement adjustment (ie CU 300) from the revenue requirement in Year 2 calculated on the assumption that there is not unexpected event.

12. The rate-regulated entity has an obligation to continue to provide natural gas to customers at a rate set by the regulator and it should abide by the regulatory agreement or law that enforces the performance of specific activities. Accordingly, the revenue requirement adjustment in Year 1 (ie CU 300) is similar to unearned revenue. The obligation to transfer natural gas is unavoidable by the rate-regulated entity.

Present or conditional obligation to transfer an economic resource

13. The rate-regulated entity has to decrease the rate in Year 2 by the revenue requirement adjustment amount (ie CU 300) in Year 1. In effect, this means that the entity received the revenue requirement of Year 2 in Year 1. In other words, the entity received, in advance, a part of the consideration in return for the goods or services that is to be provided in Year 1. Since the entity does not return this revenue requirement adjustment (ie CU 300) in Year 1 to customers but assumes the obligation to provide natural gas in Year 2, it should recognise such obligation to provide goods or services as non-financial liability. Accordingly, this adjustment meets the definition of liability.

Assessment 2—IFRS 15 perspective

Timing of revenue recognition for unbilled revenue requirement: Two views

14. For the purpose of discussing revenue recognition for unbilled revenue requirement, View 1 and View 2 can be rephrased as follows:

    - View 1—Recognise in Year 2 the revenue requirement adjustment (ie CU 300) that is not reflected in the contract with customers in Year 1 because such revenue requirement will be billed to, and collected from, customers in Year 2; and

    - View 2—Recognise in Year 1 the revenue requirement that is not reflected in the contract with customers in Year 1 because such revenue requirement is the consideration for transferring goods or services to customers in Year 1.

15. In View 1, the revenue requirement adjustment (ie CU300) in Year 1 should be recognised as revenue in Year 2 because it will be reflected in the rate in Year 2 and thus is collectible from customers. The revenue requirement adjustment (ie CU 300) is a consideration for satisfying the performance obligation relating to the contract with customers in Year 2.

16. In View 2, the revenue requirement adjustment (ie CU300) in Year 1 is, by nature, the variable consideration described in IFRS 15 and the rate-regulated entity has satisfied its performance obligation in return for the revenue requirement including the adjustment in accordance with the regulatory agreement in Year 1. Although the revenue requirement including the adjustment in Year 1 is not an explicit variable consideration in the contract with the customers, it is a variable consideration for the performance obligation satisfied in accordance with the regulatory agreement in Year 1.

17. Accordingly, as mentioned in Agenda Paper 3Ba, revenue for this adjusted consideration (ie CU 1,200) can be recognised as revenue in Year 1. This is because it is a consideration in return for satisfying the performance obligation in Year 1 regardless of the fact that this adjusted consideration is not contractually billable in Year 1, but is contractually billable in Year 2 by adjusting the amount of consideration in the contract. This rationale can be analogised to the requirement for progressive revenue recognition over time in IFRS 15.

Fact patterns

Common fact patterns

The rate regulated entity (the entity) imports natural gas from overseas and provides it to customers after going through manufacturing process. The raw material cost of natural gas is contingent on foreign exchange rate and oil price. The rate regulator approved that the revenue requirement including the raw material cost of natural gas is CU1,000 per annum. The ex-ante revenue requirement is the same from Year 1 throughout Year 5. And assume that there is no required margin. The regulator approves that the entity increases the rate in Year 2 in order to compensate the amount that was caused by the actual cost that exceeded the estimated cost and the actual quantity that was lower than the estimated quantity. This paper has been prepared for discussion at a public meeting of the Accounting Standards Advisory Forum (ASAF) and does not represent the views of the International Accounting Standards Board (the Board) or any individual member of the Board. Comments on the application of IFRS® Standards do not purport to set out acceptable or unacceptable application of those Standards. Technical decisions are made in public and reported in an IASB® Update.

Purpose of this paper

1. This paper addresses issues assuming that View 2 as described in the previous Agenda Papers (ie Agenda Papers 3Ba and 3Bb) is taken. Two views (View 2A and View 2B) will be discussed by using an illustrative example.

2. The illustrative example in this paper relates to the activities that are required to be performed as a promise with regulators, which are indirectly relevant to transferring goods or services to customers, whereas the illustrative example in Agenda Paper 3Bb related to the activities performed directly relevant to transferring goods or services to customers.

Overview

3. The illustrative example in this paper is a simplified version of the illustrative case of construction work provided in the agenda paper for the May 2015 IASB meeting. Construction work is one of the obligations required by the regulatory agreement between the rate regulator and the rate-regulated entity; and an obligation to maintain readiness of a related asset to produce goods or services to customers.

4. The rate-setting mechanism in the regulatory agreement reflects the amount to construct or purchase the related asset (ie acquired cost) in the rate as revenue requirement. And the rate-regulated entity recognises depreciation expenses of the related asset over the useful life of the related asset.

5. In practice, the acquired cost, partly or wholly, is often reflected in the rate before the completion of acquiring the asset for the purpose of funding the purchase. In this case, there are three different timings to consider: (i) billing to customers; (ii) completion of the related asset

6. purchase; (iii) the use of the related asset, as part of the activity to provide goods or services to customers. These timing differences raise an issue about the timing of revenue recognition relating to the revenue requirement adjustment.

7. As mentioned above, assuming View 2 is taken, there are two views on this issue.

   (a) View 2A—The rate-regulated entity recognises revenue when it satisfies the performance obligation to the rate regulator; and

   (b) View 2B—The rate-regulated entity recognises revenue only when it satisfies the performance obligation to the customer.

8. The two views will be assessed in the light of IFRS 15, using an illustrative example.

9. The fact patterns of the illustrative example are as follows. (See Appendix of this paper for more detailed information.)

Fact patterns[1]

In Year 3[2], the rate regulator approved a plan for the entity to build a new natural gas plant to expand its capacity to distribute natural gas. The expansion is required because the local government plans to build a new town within the jurisdiction to deal with an expected population increase related to the development of new industrial and business parks. The rate regulator also approved that the rate reflects the construction cost of CU500, to help fund the construction. The construction commenced in Year 3 and is expected to be completed in Year 4. The entity spends CU500 during Year 4, which is capitalised in accordance with IAS 16. The depreciation expense of the plant will be recognised from Year 5 over its useful life of 10 years with the straight line method.

Assessment—IFRS 15 perspective

View 2A

10. In View 2A, the rate regulator represents collective customers and enters into the agreement with the rate-regulated entity in the capacity of collective customers. In this sense, the performance obligation established in the regulatory agreement is the performance obligation of the rate-regulated entity to the customer. Also, the performance obligation in the regulatory agreement includes incidental activities to the main activity of providing goods or services to customers, such as maintaining readiness of the related asset to produce goods or services.

[1] Monetary amounts are denominated in 'currency units (CU)'.

[2] Assume that fact patterns of Year 1 and Year 2 are the same as those in Illustrative Example A of Agenda Paper 3Bb.

11. In the illustrative example, the rate-regulated entity was required to construct a PPE by the regulatory agreement and thus billed CU 500 as part of revenue requirement in Year 3 to fund the construction. The amount collected in Year 3 is recognised as liability (ie unearned revenue) because the entity has not satisfied the obligation to construct the PPE.

12. The entity recognises CU500 as revenue in Year 4 because it has completed its construction of the PPE and thus satisfied the distinctive performance obligation described in IFRS 15.

13. In View 2A, the obligation to construct a PPE (ie indirect obligation) as well as the obligation to transfer natural gas to customers (ie direct obligation) is considered as distinctive performance obligation for revenue recognition (ie a separate unit of performance obligation).

14. Accordingly, the rate-regulated entity recognises revenue when it satisfies the performance obligation established in the regulatory agreement even before the entity has transferred goods or services to customers.

15. In View 2B, an input activity, the activity to construct a plant as a promise with the rate regulator, should be combined with the output activity (ie to transfer natural gas to customers) as a 'bundle of goods or services' and these two activities are 'highly interdependent or highly interrelated'. Therefore, the rate-regulated entity should not identify the obligation to construct a plant as a distinct performance obligation and thus recognises its revenue when it satisfies the ultimate performance obligation to transfer natural gas to customers.

16. The plant is used for satisfying the performance obligation to transfer natural gas to customers, as depreciation expense is incurred. Accordingly, the rate-regulated entity recognises its revenue in correspondence with the depreciation amount over the useful life of the plant (ie for 10 years starting from Year 5).

17. Consequently, the entity recognises revenue annually by allocating the revenue requirement collected in Year 3 (ie CU 500) in correspondence to the depreciation expense of the PPE starting from Year 5 for 10 years onwards.

KASB's view

18. The KASB supports View 2B because View 2B would be more consistent with the requirements of IFRS 15. Also, View 2B would be better than View 2A in that it would not undermine the comparability among non-regulated entities and rate-regulated entities for the purpose of presenting revenue.

ANNEX A

Principles

The Trustee shall have regard to, but shall not be specifically bound by, the following principles in applying its discretion in relation to the administration of the Trust:

1. Identification of Primary Beneficiary Payees

1.1 Except in exceptional circumstances, a Primary Beneficiary would not be expected to receive a benefit from the Trust unless at the time of consideration it satisfies, in addition to the requirements contemplated in the definition of "Primary Beneficiary", each of the following criteria (the "Selection Factors"):

(i) it has a participant agreement with an applicable Electricity Distributor to undertake measures (its "Energy Plan") to improve the electricity efficiency and/or promote the conservation of electricity at its Ontario residence;

(ii) its Energy Plan involves one or more Eligible Measures, as may be designated by the Trustee from time to time from;

(iii) it confirms that:

1. the primary purpose of its Energy Plan is the conservation and efficient use by the Primary Beneficiary of electricity, and is not for the purposes of the Primary Beneficiary making a profit;

2. it would otherwise not have the financial resources to undertake the Eligible Measures included in its Energy Plan; and

3. it would otherwise not be eligible to receive amounts in respect of the Eligible Measures as a HAP Eligible Person;

(iv) it has demonstrated a need for financial assistance on the basis that its periodic electricity bills represent a financial burden, relative to its available financial resources; and

(v) such other criteria as the Trustee may determine, including based on the recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable Implementation Agreement.

1.2 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, an efficient basis upon which to allocate funds to the Primary Beneficiaries across different areas and regions within Ontario may be based on the areas and regions serviced by the Electricity Distributors operating within Ontario.

1.3 It would not be contrary to the Purposes if funds are made available by the Trustee to the Primary Beneficiaries unequally across different areas and regions within Ontario, and it is expected that in making such an unequal division it would be appropriate to have regard to:

(i) broad economic parameters of economic activity and the specific financial resources of the residents of the areas and regions, in each case as an indication of the relative need of such residents across the areas and regions;

(ii) electricity use and efficiency levels of residential electricity customers across the areas and regions;

(iii) specific regional indicators of economic weakness and need; and

(iv) such other factors as the Trustee may determine are relevant, including based on the submissions, advice and recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable implementation Agreement.

1.4 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the designated Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides would be expected to:

(i) be a reliable source for the purpose of assessing and confirming whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors;

(ii) be an efficient intermediary for the purpose of communicating with the Primary Beneficiary, including with respect to matters such as regarding the availability, terms, conditions and intended purposes of Program;

(iii) be able to facilitate an efficient payment of distribution determined to be made to or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary, having regard to the Electricity Distributor's established practices, procedures and systems for dealing with its customers; and

(iv) have established contractual arrangements with the Primary Beneficiary that may apply to the protection and confidentiality of information provided by or respecting the Primary Beneficiary, which information may be useful in the consideration by the Electricity Distributor in its assessment of whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors, which information may not otherwise be available or readily accessible or verifiable by the Trustee.

1.5 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides will have market and utilization information that may be useful in assessing the relative needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its area or region. Such information is expected to be relevant in assessing the extent to which one such Primary Beneficiary's financial needs and the merits of its Energy Plan are greater or more compelling than those of another such Primary Beneficiary, which comparison may be relevant to the extent that the funds allocable to the Primary Beneficiaries resident in the area or region are otherwise insufficient to meet the requests for funding by all such Primary Beneficiaries.

1.7 If an Electricity Distributor for a particular area or region is unable or unwilling to assess or confirm the application of the Selection Factors to Primary Beneficiaries residing in the area or region or to make recommendations in relation to such matters, one or more of the following may provide a suitable alternative source of information and for information gathering, assessment and confirmation purposes in relation to such area or region:

(i) other Electricity Distributors operating in adjacent or other areas or regions in Ontario;

(ii) the Ontario Energy Board;

(iii) the Independent Electricity System Operator; and

(iv) anyone else having relevant expertise and access to information regarding the electricity market of the Province, in each case as may be considered relevant by the Trustee.

1.8 To the extent that privacy law or other legal requirements limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or making available specific information respecting the application of the Selection Factors to a particular Primary Beneficiary or group of Primary Beneficiaries, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it may be appropriate to redact or make generic affected information regarding such Primary Beneficiary in connection with the identification and confirmation of a Primary Beneficiary's eligibility and participation in the Program. If such limitations or restrictions would limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or confirming the name of a particular Primary Beneficiary to the Trustee, then it should be sufficient that such information may be obtained or disseminated on a confidential basis if and when required by the Trustee for the proper administration of the Trust and on that basis such impediments should not disqualify a Primary Beneficiary from participating in the benefits of the Program, provided that the confidential record-keeping of the Electricity Distributor would be available in connection with the application of any applicable legal process predicated on the identification of such Primary Beneficiary for the purposes of substantiating its rights as a Primary Beneficiary of the Trust or as to the validity or subsistence of the Trust.

2. Eligible Measures

2.1 It is expected that the Trust will identify eligible measures that, taking into consideration the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, have regard to the following (the "Measures Factors"):

(i) is the measure generally expected to result in reduced electricity consumption by a Primary Beneficiary if properly installed and used;

(ii) is the measure recognized under another Provincial program as being appropriate for achieving electricity conservation among a population analogous to the Primary Beneficiaries;

(iii) does the measure present any unacceptable health or safety considerations, either with respect to the Primary Beneficiary, a party providing or installing the measure, or the physical environment;

(iv) is the measure broadly available to residents across different areas and regions of the Province; or

(v) is the measure a requirement or precursor to another measure, the other measure being one which meets any of the other Measures Factors.

2.2 In identifying and applying the Measures Factors, Electricity Distributors would be expected to have expertise in assessing the suitability of efficiency and conservation measures in their respective areas and regions, which may differ across areas and regions across the Province based on factors (among other things) such as the climate, geography, density, electricity infrastructure, residential structures, and electricity use rates applicable within such areas or regions.

2.3 The measures specified in Schedule A to this Principles Annex may initially be considered to be consistent with the Measures Factors (subject to change as contemplated under the Permitted Delegations Annex).

3. Promotion of the Program

3.1 It is expected that the Trustee will undertake or engage others to undertake diligent efforts to promote the availability, terms and benefits of the Program to Primary Beneficiaries, including by establishing consistent communications through the Electricity Distributors.

3.2 It is expected that the Trustee will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the establishment and the funding for the Program, including in any external communications to or marketing directed at the Electricity Distributors and the Primary and Residual Beneficiaries. In its delegation of any duties or powers to the Electricity Distributors through Implementation Agreements it is expected that Electricity Distributors will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the program including in any communications or marketing to Primary Beneficiaries.

4. Conduct of the Trust and the Program

4.1 It is expected that administrative expenses of the Board of Trustees and its members, including any expenses relating to the Trust, to the establishment of the Trust and any expenses related to the implementation and operation of the Program, including by or through Electricity Distributors and other relevant entities, will be recognized and subject to reimbursement on a basis that is substantially consistent with the accountability provisions contemplated in the Transfer Payment Agreement and the principles in the Province's Travel, Meal and Hospitality Expenses Directive, as set out in Schedule B to this Principles Annex.

4.2 The Trustee is expected to conduct its activities in a manner that complies in all material respects with the Transfer Payment Agreement, including to:

(i) act prudently and in furtherance of the Purpose;

(ii) report not less frequently than annually the results of its activities for information purposes to the Province in connection with the Program;

(iii) comply with the Province's request for any independent verification or audit if determined to be necessary or appropriate by the Province;

(iv) return Assets that have not been distributed if it is determined that the Trustee has breached its Standard of Care in discharging its material duties under the Declaration, and has not cured such material breach despite having been given a reasonable opportunity by the Province to do so in light of the circumstances of such material breach, with the result that all or a significant part of the Assets have not been or are not being applied and distributed in furtherance of the Purpose or are being applied and distributed in a manner that is directly contrary or without regard to the Purpose.

4.3 Electricity Distributors are not intended to directly profit from distributions of funds made from the Trust, although it is recognized that the objectives of electricity efficiency and conservation of Primary Beneficiaries located in the service area or region of an Electricity Distributor, and the cost savings and improved credit worthiness of such Primary Beneficiaries, may be financially beneficial to the Electricity Distributor.

4.4 Distributions from the Trust are intended to allow receiving Primary Beneficiaries to undertake Eligible Measures at no or minimal personal cost.

Primary Beneficiaries during the period from the Original Trustee Replacement Date to April 30, 2019.

ANNEX A

Principles

The Trustee shall have regard to, but shall not be specifically bound by, the following principles in applying its discretion in relation to the administration of the Trust:

1. ~~4.~~ Identification of Primary Beneficiary Payees

1.1 ~~4.1~~ Except in exceptional circumstances, a Primary Beneficiary would not be expected to receive a benefit from the Trust unless at the time of consideration it satisfies, in addition to the requirements contemplated in the definition of "Primary Beneficiary", each of the following criteria (the "Selection Factors"):

(i) it has a participant agreement with an applicable Electricity Distributor to undertake measures (its "Energy Plan") to improve the electricity efficiency and/or promote the conservation of electricity at its Ontario residence;

(ii) its Energy Plan involves one or more Eligible Measures, as may be designated by the Trustee from time to time from;

(iii) it confirms that:

1. the primary purpose of its Energy Plan is the conservation and efficient use by the Primary Beneficiary of electricity, and is not for the purposes of the Primary Beneficiary making a profit;

2. it would otherwise not have the financial resources to undertake the Eligible Measures included in its Energy Plan; and

3. it would otherwise not be eligible to receive amounts in respect of the Eligible Measures as a HAP Eligible Person;

(iv) it has demonstrated a need for financial assistance on the basis that its periodic electricity bills represent a financial burden, relative to its available financial resources; and

(v) such other criteria as the Trustee may determine, including based on the recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable Implementation Agreement.

1.2 ~~4.2~~ It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, an efficient basis upon which to allocate funds to the Primary Beneficiaries across different areas and regions within Ontario may be based on the areas and regions serviced by the Electricity Distributors operating within Ontario.

1.3 ~~4.3~~ It would not be contrary to the Purposes if funds are made available by the Trustee to the Primary Beneficiaries unequally across different areas and regions within Ontario, and it is expected that in making such an unequal division it would be appropriate to have regard to:

(i) broad economic parameters of economic activity and the specific financial resources of the residents of the areas and regions, in each case as an indication of the relative need of such residents across the areas and regions;

(ii) electricity use and efficiency levels of residential electricity customers across the areas and regions;

(iii) specific regional indicators of economic weakness and need; and

(iv) such other factors as the Trustee may determine are relevant, including based on the submissions, advice and recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable implementation Agreement.

1.4 ~~4.4~~ It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the designated Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides would be expected to:

(i) be a reliable source for the purpose of assessing and confirming whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors;

(ii) be an efficient intermediary for the purpose of communicating with the Primary Beneficiary, including with respect to matters such as regarding the availability, terms, conditions and intended purposes of Program;

(iii) be able to facilitate an efficient payment of distribution determined to be made to or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary, having regard to the Electricity Distributor's established practices, procedures and systems for dealing with its customers; and

(iv) have established contractual arrangements with the Primary Beneficiary that may apply to the protection and confidentiality of information provided by or respecting the Primary Beneficiary, which information may be useful in the consideration by the Electricity Distributor in its assessment of whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors, which information may not otherwise be available or readily accessible or verifiable by the Trustee.

1.5 ~~4.5~~ It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides will have market and utilization information that may be useful in assessing the relative needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its area or region. Such information is expected to be relevant in assessing the extent to which one such Primary Beneficiary's financial needs and the merits of its Energy Plan are greater or more compelling than those of another such Primary Beneficiary, which comparison may be relevant to the extent that the funds allocable to the Primary Beneficiaries resident in the area or region are otherwise insufficient to meet the requests for funding by all such Primary Beneficiaries.

1.6 ~~4.6~~ Accordingly, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it is consistent with the Purpose that the recommendations of Electricity Distributors be utilized and relied upon by the Trustee to guide the process of identifying particular Primary Beneficiaries in making distributions to the Primary Beneficiaries.

1.7 ~~4.7~~ If an Electricity Distributor for a particular area or region is unable or unwilling to assess or confirm the application of the Selection Factors to Primary Beneficiaries residing in the area or region or to make recommendations in relation to such matters, one or more of the following may provide a suitable alternative source of information and for information gathering, assessment and confirmation purposes in relation to such area or region:

(i) other Electricity Distributors operating in adjacent or other areas or regions in Ontario;

(ii) the Ontario Energy Board;

(iii) the Independent Electricity System Operator; and

(iv) anyone else having relevant expertise and access to information regarding the electricity market of the Province, in each case as may be considered relevant by the Trustee.

1.8 ~~4.8~~ To the extent that privacy law or other legal requirements limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or making available specific information respecting the application of the Selection Factors to a particular Primary Beneficiary or group of Primary Beneficiaries, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it may be appropriate to redact or make generic affected information regarding such Primary Beneficiary in connection with the identification and confirmation of a Primary Beneficiary's eligibility and participation in the Program. If such limitations or restrictions would limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or confirming the name of a particular Primary Beneficiary to the Trustee, then it should be sufficient that such information may be obtained or disseminated on a confidential basis if and when required by the Trustee for the proper administration of the Trust and on that basis such impediments should not disqualify a Primary Beneficiary from participating in the benefits of the Program, provided that the confidential record-keeping of the Electricity Distributor would be available in connection with the application of any applicable legal process predicated on the identification of such Primary Beneficiary for the purposes of substantiating its rights as a Primary Beneficiary of the Trust or as to the validity or subsistence of the Trust.

2. ~~5.~~ Eligible Measures

2.1 ~~5.1~~ It is expected that the Trust will identify eligible measures that, taking into consideration the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, have regard to the following (the "Measures Factors"):

(i) is the measure generally expected to result in reduced electricity consumption by a Primary Beneficiary if properly installed and used;

(ii) is the measure recognized under another Provincial program as being appropriate for achieving electricity conservation among a population analogous to the Primary Beneficiaries;

(iii) does the measure present any unacceptable health or safety considerations, either with respect to the Primary Beneficiary, a party providing or installing the measure, or the physical environment;

(iv) is the measure broadly available to residents across different areas and regions of the Province; or

(v) is the measure a requirement or precursor to another measure, the other measure being one which meets any of the other Measures Factors.

2.2 ~~5.2~~ In identifying and applying the Measures Factors, Electricity Distributors would be expected to have expertise in assessing the suitability of efficiency and conservation measures in their respective areas and regions, which may differ across areas and regions across the Province based on factors (among other things) such as the climate, geography, density, electricity infrastructure, residential structures, and electricity use rates applicable within such areas or regions.

2.3 ~~5.3~~ The measures specified in Schedule A to this Principles Annex may initially be considered to be consistent with the Measures Factors (subject to change as contemplated under the Permitted Delegations Annex).

3. ~~6.~~ Promotion of the Program

3.1 ~~6.1~~ It is expected that the Trustee will undertake or engage others to undertake diligent efforts to promote the availability, terms and benefits of the Program to Primary Beneficiaries, including by establishing consistent communications through the Electricity Distributors.

3.2 ~~6.2~~ It is expected that the Trustee will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the establishment and the funding for the Program, including in any external communications to or marketing directed at the Electricity Distributors and the Primary and Residual Beneficiaries. In its delegation of any duties or powers to the Electricity Distributors through Implementation Agreements it is expected that Electricity Distributors will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the program including in any communications or marketing to Primary Beneficiaries.

4. ~~7.~~ Conduct of the Trust and the Program

4.1 ~~7.1~~ It is expected that administrative expenses of the Board of Trustees and its members, including any expenses relating to the Trust, to the establishment of the Trust and any expenses related to the implementation and operation of the Program, including by or through Electricity Distributors and other relevant entities, will be recognized and subject to reimbursement on a basis that is substantially consistent with the accountability provisions contemplated in the Transfer Payment Agreement and the principles in the Province's Travel, Meal and Hospitality Expenses Directive, as set out in Schedule B to this Principles Annex.

4.2 ~~7.2~~ The Trustee is expected to conduct its activities in a manner that complies in all material respects with the Transfer Payment Agreement, including to:

(i) act prudently and in furtherance of the Purpose;

(ii) report not less frequently than annually the results of its activities for information purposes to the Province in connection with the Program;

(iii) comply with the Province's request for any independent verification or audit if determined to be necessary or appropriate by the Province;

(iv) return Assets that have not been distributed if it is determined that the Trustee has breached its Standard of Care in discharging its material duties under the Declaration, and has not cured such material breach despite having been given a reasonable opportunity by the Province to do so in light of the circumstances of such material breach, with the result that all or a significant part of the Assets have not been or are not being applied and distributed in furtherance of the Purpose or are being applied and distributed in a manner that is directly contrary or without regard to the Purpose.

4.3 ~~7.3~~ Electricity Distributors are not intended to directly profit from distributions of funds made from the Trust, although it is recognized that the objectives of electricity efficiency and conservation of Primary Beneficiaries located in the service area or region of an Electricity Distributor, and the cost savings and improved credit worthiness of such Primary Beneficiaries, may be financially beneficial to the Electricity Distributor.

4.4 ~~7.4~~ Distributions from the Trust are intended to allow receiving Primary Beneficiaries to undertake Eligible Measures at no or minimal personal cost.

Primary Beneficiaries during the period from the Original Trustee Replacement Date to April 30, 2019.

ANNEX A

Principles

The Trustee shall have regard to, but shall not be specifically bound by, the following principles in applying its discretion in relation to the administration of the Trust:

1. Identification of Primary Beneficiary Payees

1.1 Except in exceptional circumstances, a Primary Beneficiary would not be expected to receive a benefit from the Trust unless at the time of consideration it satisfies, in addition to the requirements contemplated in the definition of "Primary Beneficiary", each of the following criteria (the "Selection Factors"):

(i) it has a participant agreement with an applicable Electricity Distributor to undertake measures (its "Energy Plan") to improve the electricity efficiency and/or promote the conservation of electricity at its Ontario residence;

(ii) its Energy Plan involves one or more Eligible Measures, as may be designated by the Trustee from time to time from;

(iii) it confirms that:

1. the primary purpose of its Energy Plan is the conservation and efficient use by the Primary Beneficiary of electricity, and is not for the purposes of the Primary Beneficiary making a profit;

2. it would otherwise not have the financial resources to undertake the Eligible Measures included in its Energy Plan; and

3. it would otherwise not be eligible to receive amounts in respect of the Eligible Measures as a HAP Eligible Person;

(iv) it has demonstrated a need for financial assistance on the basis that its periodic electricity bills represent a financial burden, relative to its available financial resources; and

(v) such other criteria as the Trustee may determine, including based on the recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable Implementation Agreement.

1.2 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, an efficient basis upon which to allocate funds to the Primary Beneficiaries across different areas and regions within Ontario may be based on the areas and regions serviced by the Electricity Distributors operating within Ontario.

1.3 It would not be contrary to the Purposes if funds are made available by the Trustee to the Primary Beneficiaries unequally across different areas and regions within Ontario, and it is expected that in making such an unequal division it would be appropriate to have regard to:

(i) broad economic parameters of economic activity and the specific financial resources of the residents of the areas and regions, in each case as an indication of the relative need of such residents across the areas and regions;

(ii) electricity use and efficiency levels of residential electricity customers across the areas and regions;

(iii) specific regional indicators of economic weakness and need; and

(iv) such other factors as the Trustee may determine are relevant, including based on the submissions, advice and recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable implementation Agreement.

1.4 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the designated Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides would be expected to:

(i) be a reliable source for the purpose of assessing and confirming whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors;

(ii) be an efficient intermediary for the purpose of communicating with the Primary Beneficiary, including with respect to matters such as regarding the availability, terms, conditions and intended purposes of Program;

(iii) be able to facilitate an efficient payment of distribution determined to be made to or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary, having regard to the Electricity Distributor's established practices, procedures and systems for dealing with its customers; and

(iv) have established contractual arrangements with the Primary Beneficiary that may apply to the protection and confidentiality of information provided by or respecting the Primary Beneficiary, which information may be useful in the consideration by the Electricity Distributor in its assessment of whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors, which information may not otherwise be available or readily accessible or verifiable by the Trustee.

1.5 It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides will have market and utilization information that may be useful in assessing the relative needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its area or region. Such information is expected to be relevant in assessing the extent to which one such Primary Beneficiary's financial needs and the merits of its Energy Plan are greater or more compelling than those of another such Primary Beneficiary, which comparison may be relevant to the extent that the funds allocable to the Primary Beneficiaries resident in the area or region are otherwise insufficient to meet the requests for funding by all such Primary Beneficiaries.

1.7 If an Electricity Distributor for a particular area or region is unable or unwilling to assess or confirm the application of the Selection Factors to Primary Beneficiaries residing in the area or region or to make recommendations in relation to such matters, one or more of the following may provide a suitable alternative source of information and for information gathering, assessment and confirmation purposes in relation to such area or region:

(i) other Electricity Distributors operating in adjacent or other areas or regions in Ontario;

(ii) the Ontario Energy Board;

(iii) the Independent Electricity System Operator; and

(iv) anyone else having relevant expertise and access to information regarding the electricity market of the Province, in each case as may be considered relevant by the Trustee.

1.8 To the extent that privacy law or other legal requirements limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or making available specific information respecting the application of the Selection Factors to a particular Primary Beneficiary or group of Primary Beneficiaries, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it may be appropriate to redact or make generic affected information regarding such Primary Beneficiary in connection with the identification and confirmation of a Primary Beneficiary's eligibility and participation in the Program. If such limitations or restrictions would limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or confirming the name of a particular Primary Beneficiary to the Trustee, then it should be sufficient that such information may be obtained or disseminated on a confidential basis if and when required by the Trustee for the proper administration of the Trust and on that basis such impediments should not disqualify a Primary Beneficiary from participating in the benefits of the Program, provided that the confidential record-keeping of the Electricity Distributor would be available in connection with the application of any applicable legal process predicated on the identification of such Primary Beneficiary for the purposes of substantiating its rights as a Primary Beneficiary of the Trust or as to the validity or subsistence of the Trust.

2. Eligible Measures

2.1 It is expected that the Trust will identify eligible measures that, taking into consideration the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, have regard to the following (the "Measures Factors"):

(i) is the measure generally expected to result in reduced electricity consumption by a Primary Beneficiary if properly installed and used;

(ii) is the measure recognized under another Provincial program as being appropriate for achieving electricity conservation among a population analogous to the Primary Beneficiaries;

(iii) does the measure present any unacceptable health or safety considerations, either with respect to the Primary Beneficiary, a party providing or installing the measure, or the physical environment;

(iv) is the measure broadly available to residents across different areas and regions of the Province; or

(v) is the measure a requirement or precursor to another measure, the other measure being one which meets any of the other Measures Factors.

2.2 In identifying and applying the Measures Factors, Electricity Distributors would be expected to have expertise in assessing the suitability of efficiency and conservation measures in their respective areas and regions, which may differ across areas and regions across the Province based on factors (among other things) such as the climate, geography, density, electricity infrastructure, residential structures, and electricity use rates applicable within such areas or regions.

2.3 The measures specified in Schedule A to this Principles Annex may initially be considered to be consistent with the Measures Factors (subject to change as contemplated under the Permitted Delegations Annex).

3. Promotion of the Program

3.1 It is expected that the Trustee will undertake or engage others to undertake diligent efforts to promote the availability, terms and benefits of the Program to Primary Beneficiaries, including by establishing consistent communications through the Electricity Distributors.

3.2 It is expected that the Trustee will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the establishment and the funding for the Program, including in any external communications to or marketing directed at the Electricity Distributors and the Primary and Residual Beneficiaries. In its delegation of any duties or powers to the Electricity Distributors through Implementation Agreements it is expected that Electricity Distributors will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the program including in any communications or marketing to Primary Beneficiaries.

4. Conduct of the Trust and the Program

4.1 It is expected that administrative expenses of the Board of Trustees and its members, including any expenses relating to the Trust, to the establishment of the Trust and any expenses related to the implementation and operation of the Program, including by or through Electricity Distributors and other relevant entities, will be recognized and subject to reimbursement on a basis that is substantially consistent with the accountability provisions contemplated in the Transfer Payment Agreement and the principles in the Province's Travel, Meal and Hospitality Expenses Directive, as set out in Schedule B to this Principles Annex.

4.2 The Trustee is expected to conduct its activities in a manner that complies in all material respects with the Transfer Payment Agreement, including to:

(i) act prudently and in furtherance of the Purpose;

(ii) report not less frequently than annually the results of its activities for information purposes to the Province in connection with the Program;

(iii) comply with the Province's request for any independent verification or audit if determined to be necessary or appropriate by the Province;

(iv) return Assets that have not been distributed if it is determined that the Trustee has breached its Standard of Care in discharging its material duties under the Declaration, and has not cured such material breach despite having been given a reasonable opportunity by the Province to do so in light of the circumstances of such material breach, with the result that all or a significant part of the Assets have not been or are not being applied and distributed in furtherance of the Purpose or are being applied and distributed in a manner that is directly contrary or without regard to the Purpose.

4.3 Electricity Distributors are not intended to directly profit from distributions of funds made from the Trust, although it is recognized that the objectives of electricity efficiency and conservation of Primary Beneficiaries located in the service area or region of an Electricity Distributor, and the cost savings and improved credit worthiness of such Primary Beneficiaries, may be financially beneficial to the Electricity Distributor.

4.4 Distributions from the Trust are intended to allow receiving Primary Beneficiaries to undertake Eligible Measures at no or minimal personal cost.

4.5 Without in any way limiting the discretion of the Board of Trustees to extend the period during which the benefits of the Program may be available to the Primary Beneficiaries, up to and including the Final Distribution Date, it is expected that the Trust Assets would be distributed to Primary Beneficiaries during the period from the Original Trustee Replacement Date to April 30, 2019.

(iii) it confirms that:

1. the primary purpose of its Energy Plan is the conservation and efficient use by the Primary Beneficiary of electricity, and is not for the purposes of the Primary Beneficiary making a profit;

2. it would otherwise not have the financial resources to undertake the Eligible Measures included in its Energy Plan; and

3. it would otherwise not be eligible to receive amounts in respect of the Eligible Measures as a HAP Eligible Person;

(iv) it has demonstrated a need for financial assistance on the basis that its periodic electricity bills represent a financial burden, relative to its available financial resources; and

(v) such other criteria as the Trustee may determine, including based on the recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable Implementation Agreement.

1.2 ~~4.2~~ It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, an efficient basis upon which to allocate funds to the Primary Beneficiaries across different areas and regions within Ontario may be based on the areas and regions serviced by the Electricity Distributors operating within Ontario.

1.3 ~~4.3~~ It would not be contrary to the Purposes if funds are made available by the Trustee to the Primary Beneficiaries unequally across different areas and regions within Ontario, and it is expected that in making such an unequal division it would be appropriate to have regard to:

(i) broad economic parameters of economic activity and the specific financial resources of the residents of the areas and regions, in each case as an indication of the relative need of such residents across the areas and regions;

(ii) electricity use and efficiency levels of residential electricity customers across the areas and regions;

(iii) specific regional indicators of economic weakness and need; and

(iv) such other factors as the Trustee may determine are relevant, including based on the submissions, advice and recommendations of Electricity Distributors or other knowledgeable Persons made on the basis and having regard to the delegations contemplated by the Permitted Delegations Annex or any applicable implementation Agreement.

1.4 ~~4.4~~ It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the designated Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides would be expected to:

(i) be a reliable source for the purpose of assessing and confirming whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors;

(ii) be an efficient intermediary for the purpose of communicating with the Primary Beneficiary, including with respect to matters such as regarding the availability, terms, conditions and intended purposes of Program;

(iii) be able to facilitate an efficient payment of distribution determined to be made to or on behalf of the Primary Beneficiary, having regard to the Electricity Distributor's established practices, procedures and systems for dealing with its customers; and

(iv) have established contractual arrangements with the Primary Beneficiary that may apply to the protection and confidentiality of information provided by or respecting the Primary Beneficiary, which information may be useful in the consideration by the Electricity Distributor in its assessment of whether the Primary Beneficiary satisfies the Selection Factors, which information may not otherwise be available or readily accessible or verifiable by the Trustee.

1.5 ~~4.5~~ It is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, the Electricity Distributor for an area or region in which a Primary Beneficiary resides will have market and utilization information that may be useful in assessing the relative needs of Primary Beneficiaries within its area or region. Such information is expected to be relevant in assessing the extent to which one such Primary Beneficiary's financial needs and the merits of its Energy Plan are greater or more compelling than those of another such Primary Beneficiary, which comparison may be relevant to the extent that the funds allocable to the Primary Beneficiaries resident in the area or region are otherwise insufficient to meet the requests for funding by all such Primary Beneficiaries.

1.6 ~~4.6~~ Accordingly, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it is consistent with the Purpose that the recommendations of Electricity Distributors be utilized and relied upon by the Trustee to guide the process of identifying particular Primary Beneficiaries in making distributions to the Primary Beneficiaries.

1.7 ~~4.7~~ If an Electricity Distributor for a particular area or region is unable or unwilling to assess or confirm the application of the Selection Factors to Primary Beneficiaries residing in the area or region or to make recommendations in relation to such matters, one or more of the following may provide a suitable alternative source of information and for information gathering, assessment and confirmation purposes in relation to such area or region:

(i) other Electricity Distributors operating in adjacent or other areas or regions in Ontario;

(ii) the Ontario Energy Board;

(iii) the Independent Electricity System Operator; and

(iv) anyone else having relevant expertise and access to information regarding the electricity market of the Province, in each case as may be considered relevant by the Trustee.

1.8 ~~4.8~~ To the extent that privacy law or other legal requirements limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or making available specific information respecting the application of the Selection Factors to a particular Primary Beneficiary or group of Primary Beneficiaries, it is recognized that, in furthering the Purpose, it may be appropriate to redact or make generic affected information regarding such Primary Beneficiary in connection with the identification and confirmation of a Primary Beneficiary's eligibility and participation in the Program. If such limitations or restrictions would limit an Electricity Distributor from providing or confirming the name of a particular Primary Beneficiary to the Trustee, then it should be sufficient that such information may be obtained or disseminated on a confidential basis if and when required by the Trustee for the proper administration of the Trust and on that basis such impediments should not disqualify a Primary Beneficiary from participating in the benefits of the Program, provided that the confidential record-keeping of the Electricity Distributor would be available in connection with the application of any applicable legal process predicated on the identification of such Primary Beneficiary for the purposes of substantiating its rights as a Primary Beneficiary of the Trust or as to the validity or subsistence of the Trust.

2. ~~5.~~ Eligible Measures

2.1 ~~5.1~~ It is expected that the Trust will identify eligible measures that, taking into consideration the principles set forth in the Principles Annex, have regard to the following (the "Measures Factors"):

(i) is the measure generally expected to result in reduced electricity consumption by a Primary Beneficiary if properly installed and used;

(ii) is the measure recognized under another Provincial program as being appropriate for achieving electricity conservation among a population analogous to the Primary Beneficiaries;

(iii) does the measure present any unacceptable health or safety considerations, either with respect to the Primary Beneficiary, a party providing or installing the measure, or the physical environment;

(iv) is the measure broadly available to residents across different areas and regions of the Province; or

(v) is the measure a requirement or precursor to another measure, the other measure being one which meets any of the other Measures Factors.

2.2 ~~5.2~~ In identifying and applying the Measures Factors, Electricity Distributors would be expected to have expertise in assessing the suitability of efficiency and conservation measures in their respective areas and regions, which may differ across areas and regions across the Province based on factors (among other things) such as the climate, geography, density, electricity infrastructure, residential structures, and electricity use rates applicable within such areas or regions.

2.3 ~~5.3~~ The measures specified in Schedule A to this Principles Annex may initially be considered to be consistent with the Measures Factors (subject to change as contemplated under the Permitted Delegations Annex).

3. ~~6.~~ Promotion of the Program

3.1 ~~6.1~~ It is expected that the Trustee will undertake or engage others to undertake diligent efforts to promote the availability, terms and benefits of the Program to Primary Beneficiaries, including by establishing consistent communications through the Electricity Distributors.

3.2 ~~6.2~~ It is expected that the Trustee will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the establishment and the funding for the Program, including in any external communications to or marketing directed at the Electricity Distributors and the Primary and Residual Beneficiaries. In its delegation of any duties or powers to the Electricity Distributors through Implementation Agreements it is expected that Electricity Distributors will acknowledge the financial support of the Province in connection with the program including in any communications or marketing to Primary Beneficiaries.

4. ~~7.~~ Conduct of the Trust and the Program

4.1 ~~7.1~~ It is expected that administrative expenses of the Board of Trustees and its members, including any expenses relating to the Trust, to the establishment of the Trust and any expenses related to the implementation and operation of the Program, including by or through Electricity Distributors and other relevant entities, will be recognized and subject to reimbursement on a basis that is substantially consistent with the accountability provisions contemplated in the Transfer Payment Agreement and the principles in the Province's Travel, Meal and Hospitality Expenses Directive, as set out in Schedule B to this Principles Annex.

4.2 ~~7.2~~ The Trustee is expected to conduct its activities in a manner that complies in all material respects with the Transfer Payment Agreement, including to:

(i) act prudently and in furtherance of the Purpose;

(ii) report not less frequently than annually the results of its activities for information purposes to the Province in connection with the Program;

(iii) comply with the Province's request for any independent verification or audit if determined to be necessary or appropriate by the Province;

(iv) return Assets that have not been distributed if it is determined that the Trustee has breached its Standard of Care in discharging its material duties under the Declaration, and has not cured such material breach despite having been given a reasonable opportunity by the Province to do so in light of the circumstances of such material breach, with the result that all or a significant part of the Assets have not been or are not being applied and distributed in furtherance of the Purpose or are being applied and distributed in a manner that is directly contrary or without regard to the Purpose.

4.3 ~~7.3~~ Electricity Distributors are not intended to directly profit from distributions of funds made from the Trust, although it is recognized that the objectives of electricity efficiency and conservation of Primary Beneficiaries located in the service area or region of an Electricity Distributor, and the cost savings and improved credit worthiness of such Primary Beneficiaries, may be financially beneficial to the Electricity Distributor.

4.4 ~~7.4~~ Distributions from the Trust are intended to allow receiving Primary Beneficiaries to undertake Eligible Measures at no or minimal personal cost.

4.5 ~~7.5~~ Without in any way limiting the discretion of the Board of Trustees to extend the period during which the benefits of the Program may be available to the Primary Beneficiaries, up to and including the Final Distribution Date, it is expected that the Trust Assets would be distributed to Primary Beneficiaries during the period from the Original Trustee Replacement Date to April 30, 2019.

Michel,

Sharing a copy of our analysis of OPG as a GBE (attached) and OPG's comments on review thereof. As the legislation is being drafted, just wanted to share this with you as one of the items that we continue to monitor in managing the risks associated with the proposed transaction.

Thanks,

Nadine

Nadine,

My team has reviewed the attached write up that the Province's assessment of OPG's continuation as a GBE. We can confirm the accuracy of the assertions in your write up, on the condition that the legislation, that is still in an early draft form, will be consistent with the requirements we had articulated in our white paper (attached again for your reference) as well as the advice in the pre cabinet briefing that we had provided (also attached).

Not being a lawyer, the attached statement in your write up:

, the Trust/SPV would be delegated the authority to hold the right to charge customers (of LDCs) for the benefit of debt holders and/or investors.

Not sure the implications….the Trust "holds the right to charge LDC customers". If that is meant to represent the intangible asset the Trust holds, then fine but I'm not clear if that is how to phrase it.

As for whether the facts, in totality, support a GBE conclusion, we cannot comment.

Thanks

John

OPG as GBE analysis Mar1.pdf

Ontario Power Generation Inc.

Section 4 - Summary of Evaluation for Government Business Enterprises (PS 1300)	Criteria Applies Yes/No
	Status Quo	Post – Global Adjustment Considerations
(A) It is a separate legal entity with the power to contract in its own name and that can sue and be sued	Yes. • OPG was incorporated on December 1, 1998 pursuant to the Business Corporations Act (Ontario) (Note 1); • Wholly owned by the Province of Ontario (Note 1); • A corporation has the capacity and the rights, powers and privileges of a natural person. R.S.O. 1990, c. B.16, s. 15; and • OPG is subject to various claims, legal actions and investigations that arise in the normal course of business and can enter contracts in its own name (Note 15, 18, 6).	Yes OPG would remain a separate legal entity, and through proposed amendments to the Electricity Act would have expanded powers to engage in establishing the GAM Trust/SPV if OPG's Board of Directors evaluated the opportunity as an attractive business initiative. Trust would also be legislated the power to enter into contracts and transactions with the IESO, OPG and external parties.

(B) It has been delegated the financial and operational authority to carry on a business	Yes. • A corporation has the capacity and the rights, powers and privileges of a natural person. R.S.O. 1990, c. B.16, s. 15; • OPG's Board of Directors is made up of individuals with substantial expertise and has established a number of committees to focus on areas critical to the success of the Company; and • The Board exercises its independent supervision over management, who manages the affairs of corporation to achieve its operational and financial goals (http://www.opg.com/about/management/Pages/management.aspx).	Yes Through legislative changes to the Electricity Act, the Trust/SPV would be delegated the authority to hold the right to charge customers (of LDCs) for the benefit of debt holders and/or investors.

(C) It sells goods and services to individuals and organizations outside of the government reporting entity as its principal activity; and	Yes. • OPG is Ontario's largest energy provider. At Dec. 31, 2015, OPG generating portfolio had an in-service capacity of 17,055 megawatts (MW) (2015 Annual Report); • OPG produces almost half of the electricity used by Ontario homes, schools, hospitals and businesses (http://www.opg.com/about/Pages/about.aspx.); • OPG receives regulated prices for electricity generated from most of its hydroelectric facilities and all of the nuclear facilities that it operates (2015 Annual Report); and • OPG earns revenue from five business segments: nuclear generation, nuclear waste management, Hydroelectric, contracted generation portfolio and services, trading and other non-generation (Note 16).	Yes. OPG's principal, active business activity would remain electricity generation; however, it is acknowledged that the level of debt associated with the GAM Trust/SPV may exceed OPG's debt associated with its primary business activity. The controlled SPV structure would be used to hold the right to charge customers (of LDCs) for the benefit of debt holders/investors. With regards to OPG's loan to the Trust/SPV, it is expected that OPG shall, through its ownership of the most subordinated liability, be able to capture and retain the pricing difference between cost of financing and benchmark for interest on the restructured asset, or any residual risk of restructured asset. The targeted return of the subordinated liability should be reflective of the underlying risks and compensate holders for active management that would be required. The benefit of the structure is intended to provide a service to ratepayers who are individuals and organizations outside of the government reporting entity.

(D) It can, in the normal course of its operations, maintain its operations and meet its liabilities from revenues received from sources outside of the government reporting entity.	Yes. OPG has reported positive financial results, does not receive transfers from the Province of Ontario and has demonstrated its ability of maintaining its operations and meeting its liabilities without relying on the Province of Ontario.	Yes. Liabilities of the Trust/SPV will be funded through a combination of both debt from OPG as well as external financing, the latter of which will exceed 50%. Legislation would allow for recovery of interest, carrying and administrative costs, so that the Trust/SPV is able to sufficiently cover any ongoing costs through future recoveries through LDC billings. (Sources of future economic inflows is outside of the government reporting entity). In order to preserve the Trust's ability to recover deferred costs, and to mitigate risks for external and OPG debt, the right to recover will be irrevocable and, if amended by future governments, debt holders would have the right of action against the government to recover the amount outstanding including interest, fees, expenses and any damages resulting from the amendment.
Conclusion Status Quo OPG meets all the four characteristics and therefore qualifies as a GBE.		Post-GA Implementation assuming the legislation works, we will have a view that OPG can fund its operations between the external market and the OFA

Deputy Minister,
Ministry of Energy
4th Floor, Hearst Block
900 Bay Street
Toronto, Ontario

Dear Deputy:

Below is a summary of OPG's preliminary views on the implementation of the Province's proposed Global Adjustment Smoothing Account and financing structure. These views are contingent on the proposed terms and conditions that were sent to the Ministry of Energy on February 21, 2017.

Understanding that the finalization of the legal terms, the Trust indentures, financing structure and other detailed terms will take several months and will involve collaboration between legal counsel, input from capital markets, parties involved and other stakeholders, this letter is intended to provide the guideline and framework which could form the foundation of the plan.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions regarding this summary.

Sincerely,

Mr. Ken Hartwick

Background:

The Province has indicated that it will take steps to reduce electricity bills in the near term. It has identified reductions in the Global Adjustment Charge (GAC) charged to electricity customers as a means to achieve its policy goals. The Province is proposing to temporarily reduce the amount of the GAC charged to electricity customers (primarily RPP-eligible customers). The exact quantum and duration of the program is still not known but based on discussions with the Province GAC charges of approximately $2-5B per year for the next 5-10 years would be deferred and collected over future periods commencing after the deferral period. A combination of senior debt and subordinated debt (mainly sourced by additional equity from the shareholder) would be issued to fund the amount deferred. The financing cost of the debt and other costs of running the program would form part of the amounts recovered from customers over the term of the program.

The Province has requested that OPG administer the GAC deferral, because of OPG's participation in the market, regulatory knowledge and the potential ability to consolidate the activity and accounting with OPG. Given the significant amount of financing required for the GAC deferral, OPG has developed a financing structure (depicted below) to:

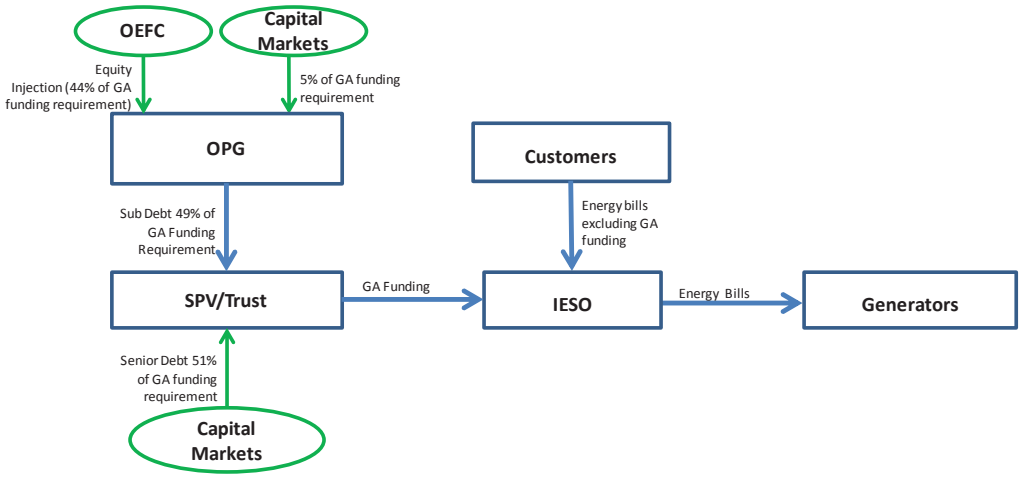
- restrict the risk to OPG;

- maximize the cost-effectiveness of the Trust or the Special Purpose Vehicle ("SPV") financing vehicle; and
- allow for consolidation into OPG financial statements.

The success of this structure is dependent on achieving a number of objectives which are reviewed in the following sections:

A. Ability to Recognize an Asset and Record Revenue
B. Ability to Consolidate the SPV into OPG
C. Ability to Finance
D. External Assessment
E. Risk Summary

All of the percentages shown in the graphic below are indicative and will be highly dependent on the legislation that the Province will enact:



Process:

The IESO will effectively sell the 'right to collect' deferred future revenue from ratepayers (GA Recovery Right asset) to the SPV in return for cash proceeds. In order for the SPV to purchase this asset the SPV will obtain the financing from two key sources: 51% directly from capital markets and 49% as subordinated debt from OPG. OPG will obtain 44% of this financing as an equity injection from the Province and 5% from capital markets.

A. Ability to Recognize an Asset and Record Revenue

Accounting Requirements under International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS)

1) It is our understanding that the IESO and KPMG have concluded that the sale of this 'right to collect' future revenue (or regulatory asset) is not a financing transaction and will not be recorded as a financial liability. Based on that conclusion, the right to collect will be accounted for as an intangible asset in the SPV.

2) In order to the SPV to record this right as an intangible asset, the right must meet the following conditions:
   - The intangible asset must be separable and arise from a contractual or legal right (i.e. mandated by the Legislation and SPV Indenture Agreement).
   - The SPV must have the control and power to obtain future economic benefits from the intangible asset.
   - The SPV must be able to demonstrate that the intangible asset is purchased at fair value.

3) In order for the SPV to recognize appropriate revenue to offset any ongoing costs, the Legislation must require interest, carrying and administrative costs to be paid to the SPV on a monthly basis. This may result in additional amounts to be deferred to achieve the desired customer impact. Payment of revenue to the SPV is also important to service the interest expenses of the debt.

B. Ability to Consolidate the SPV into OPG under IFRS

OPG 'Control' of the SPV - Accounting Requirements

1) In order to meet the accounting definition of 'control', accounting guidance must be considered. There are no bright lines to determine whether OPG has exposure, or rights, to variable returns from its involvement with the SPV, or whether it has the ability to affect the returns of the SPV through its power over the SPV. Rather, all facts and circumstances are considered when assessing whether an entity has control over another entity. Based on the relevant accounting guidance under IFRS, OPG has proposed terms necessary to demonstrate that OPG has control over the SPV. OPG's external auditors, Ernst & Young, has provided their concurrence that based on the information provided to them to date that the following conditions should permit consolidation of the SPV by OPG.

Directive:

1. The SPV must be undertaken by OPG as a business initiative on its merits. A Shareholder Directive is to be limited to direct OPG to investigate the option of establishing a SPV vehicle to administer, finance and operate the Global Adjustment plan. The control, risk and rewards of that SPV will determine its consolidation into OPG as a business enterprise.

SPV:

2. The SPV should not operate in a predetermined way such that OPG does not have decision-making authority over the SPV's ongoing activities after its formation (i.e. should not operate on 'autopilot').
3. OPG must have the ability to appoint and remove the Trustee (or Board of Trustees), with no veto right by the Province. No party shall have the ability to remove OPG from its role and authority in the SPV.
4. The Province cannot have the right to veto OPG's decisions about the relevant activities of the SPV. OPG must have the power over the relevant activities of the SPV and be compensated. The relevant activities of the SPV include (but are not limited to) the evaluation and decisions on financing alternatives, duration, and the strategy to minimize financing costs. OPG must have the power to establish operating and capital budgets of the SPV.
5. OPG must have the power to determine or change operating and financing policies of the SPV, which will affect the variability of risks and returns.
6. The Province or its agencies must not directly or indirectly fund (through debt or equity) more than 50% of the following:
    - The SPV
    - Any of OPG's investments in the most subordinated debt of the Trust
7. OPG must own greater than 50% of the most subordinated debt and targeted to be no less than 5%[1] of the total debt of the SPV. Such ownership must be financed entirely by OPG through operating cash flows or external debt, without assistance from Provincial sources. A quantitative analysis should be performed at a later date to corroborate the appropriateness of the 5% threshold to support that the 5% subordinated debt investment is sufficient to absorb most of the expected variability in the SPV.
8. OPG must have the ability to earn variable returns by exercising its authority, which shall be accomplished as follows:

[1] While the rest of the letter refers to a 10% investment in the most junior subordinated debt with OPG owning 5%, it should be noted that OPG should own more than 50% of the most subordinate debt. For simplicity, the degree to which OPG's ownership beyond 50% is not shown in this letter.

a. The cash flow from the restructured asset shall include interest determined based on a relevant benchmark that is appropriate relative to the restructured asset, plus an appropriate margin consistent with the relevant market and other risks
b. OPG shall have the authority to determine the financing strategy, which will vary the financing costs with the objective of enabling the SPV to achieve a more favourable return compared to the return from the restructured asset
c. The SPV shall establish classes of liabilities (senior, subordinated and the most subordinated). The classes would allow the SPV to delineate financing of lower risk investment and investment that would bear higher residual risk. The delineation would limit OPG's self-funded investment to a reasonable level in order to allow OPG to remain a self-sustaining entity.
d. OPG shall, through its ownership of the most subordinated liability, be able to capture and retain the pricing difference between cost of financing and benchmark for interest on the restructured asset, or any residual risk of restructured asset. The targeted return of the subordinated liability should be reflective of the underlying risks and compensate holders for active management that would be required.
e. OPG should participate in the detailed design of the above and the SPV documentation to ensure that it has substantive power and variability, which will allow OPG's Board of Directors to evaluate the opportunity as a business initiative instead of through a shareholder directive.

Nothwithstanding the above, under certain Defined Forced Majeure for emergency events (e.g. unlikely credit market event or disruption where it is not possible to borrow from the market at a reasonable rate), the OEFC may provide bridge financing beyond the designated percentage for a defined period. The relevant terms should ensure that this temporary measure does not detract from the rights of OPG to direct all of the relevant activities of the SPV. Additionally, OPG should not be protected from risk of loss by the OEFC with respect to its subordinated investment, nor should it lose its right to derive the residual returns should such bridge financing be required.

Legislation

9. The Legislation must require interest, carrying and administrative costs to be paid to the SPV on a monthly basis, so that the SPV is able to recognize appropriate revenue to offset any ongoing costs.
10. The Legislation must dictate the manner in which the restructured asset would be determined, collected, and the period of collection, so that the determination of the restructured asset will not be subject to the Province's decisions on an ongoing basis, but determined based on a formula. Alternatively, the Legislation may allow for an adjustment to the pre-determined deferral formula based on specific parameters that would limit the adjustment to the restructured asset. Adjustments beyond the specific parameters would require approval by the Board of Trustees.
11. The Legislation must be written to avoid legal or constitutional challenges and be irrevocable to reduce the cost of borrowing and with a specific formula which determines the deferral amount. As irrevocability would be difficult under Canadian law one mitigation would be to provide a Provincial guarantee which only applies with cancellation or amendment of the legislation.
12. The spirit of the above terms should be reflected in the SPV Indenture Agreement as well as Legislation, wherever possible.

2) The Trust is expected to be financed as follows:
   - 51% senior secured debt from external markets
   - 39% senior subordinated debt from OPG (via Province equity injection into OPG)

- 10% junior subordinated debt from OPG (5% from external markets and 5% from Province equity injection into OPG).

When assessing control, an investor shall consider the nature of its relationship with other parties and whether those parties are acting on the investor's behalf (i.e. they are 'de facto agents'). If OPG is assessed to be a 'de facto agent' of the Province, it will compromise the ability for OPG to consolidate the Trust. The split above is to meet the following conditions to ensure that OPG is not considered a 'de facto agent' of the Province:

- The Province or its agencies must not directly or indirectly fund (through debt or equity) more than 50% of the following:
  - The Trust
  - Any of OPG's investments in the most subordinated debt of the Trust
- OPG must own greater than 50% of the most subordinated debt and targeted to own no less than 5% of the total debt of the Trust. Such ownership must be financed entirely by OPG through operating cash flows or external debt, without assistance from Provincial sources.

3) The Province will need to conclude on whether OPG still meets the definition of a Government Business Enterprise as defined under Public Sector Accounting Board standards in order to obtain the preferred consolidation treatment after the transaction. We also recommend that the Province to undertake the analysis deemed necessary to confirm the accounting treatment in its consolidated Public Accounts, including if the recognition of the intangible asset would result in an offsetting liability in the Public Accounts.

C. Ability to Finance

Property Right or Right to Collect
Legislative Requirements for Financing
The GA Recovery Right must be structured to encompass the following elements:

- Right to recover from and bill Ontario electricity customers for (1) the principal amount of GA that is being deferred, (2) all interest and other financing costs incurred in respect of the deferral of the GA, (3) all fees, expenses and other administrative costs associated with such financing;
- Repayment/amortization schedule as agreed by the IESO and any purchaser of such GA Recovery Right (or pursuant to a pre-defined schedule/formula that covers all of the purchaser's principal, interest and ongoing financing costs on a monthly basis);
- Repayment/amortization schedule must include a true up mechanism to ensure all costs associated with the deferral can be recovered from customers;
- IESO may dispose of the GA Recovery Right, provided that any such disposition shall be a true sale and absolute transfer to the purchaser of the IESO's right, title and interest in and to the GA Recovery Right;
- Purchaser will have the right to require the IESO (or any successor) to collect the principal amount of GA Recovery Right, together with interest, financing and administration costs, on the agreed repayment/amortization schedule;
- Right must be irrevocable and, if amended by future governments, debt holders have the right of action against the government to recover the amount outstanding including interest, fees, expenses and any damages resulting from the amendment;
- GA Recovery Right will not be subject to any set-off, counterclaim or other defence by the IESO or any successor or affiliated entity; and
- Make certain amendments to the Electricity Act to allow OPG to implement the SPV financing structure (e.g. allowing OPG to create subsidiaries and holding companies, and to have a beneficial interest in the SPV, etc). This would provide flexibility to accommodate possible variations to the financing structure that may be desirable over time.

Detailed legislative requirements are specified in the attachments as follows:

Attachment 1 Legislative requirements to allow deferral of global adjustment amounts to be financeable

Attachment 2 Statutory amendments

The proposed financing structure for the SPV is:

	Risk Profile	Source	% of Total Funding Requirements
Tranche A Senior Debt	The least risky	Capital Markets	51%
Tranche B Sub Debt	In between A&C	OPG via OEFC	39%
Tranche C Sub Debt)	The most risky	OPG via OEFC	5%
		OPG via Capital Markets	5%

SPV structure is used to accomplish the following:

- SPV holds right to charge customers for the benefit of debt holders;
- Allows the financing vehicle to be ring-fenced from OPG as an SPV structure is set up as generally single purpose entities with no other operations that could add risk to the SPV, dilute debt holder rights, allow parties from other operations to claim rights to the future recovery from customers or allow these other parties to initiate bankruptcy proceedings;
- Enables SPV to potentially get a higher credit rating than OPG;
- Supports consolidation with OPG provided accounting requirements are satisfied;

This approach supports a number of objectives of the GA Recovery Right:

- 51% external senior debt supports separation of the SPV from the Province
- 5% junior subordinated debt establishes OPG's "at risk" equity which supports separation of the SPV from the Province
- Subordinated debt provides flexibility to the financing structure and additional credit support to external debt holders
- Subordinated debt sourced from OPG (mainly funded by equity injection from the Province) minimizes impact on OPG credit metrics reducing risk of an OPG rating downgrade that could result in the SPV being consolidated directly with the Province as the SPV would be considered an arm of the Province.

D. External Assessment

Shakerhill Partners, an external advisor, identified the following items in an assessment of the structure and financeability of the structure:

- The structure is financeable however there are a number of significant risks to the structure:
  - Canadian and Ontario law does not provide the same protection to property right as exists in the US federal and state constitutions to limit the ability of governments to adversely impair contracts to the detriment of the holder;
  - Legislation could mitigate some of the risks – deferred recovery asset to be "uncapped", regular semi-annual true up to ensure recovery, Province provides sufficient committed liquidity to the IESO so that temporary shortfall in recovery does not affect payments to SPV, term of the deferral recovery substantially exceeds the longest maturity of debt of the SPV and that true-up mechanism take account of potential for currency, interest rate and duration mis-match between the debt of the SPV and the recovery mechanism;
  - Size of the program may be too large for Canadian securitization market requiring access to the US securitization market;
- Final maturity of debt should not exceed 30 years from inception of the program
- True up mechanism should be designed such that the forecast of recovery is less than 10% of the customer bill under downside scenarios to limit growth of the deferral balance as a higher portion of the customer bill increases the political risk to debt holders which could result in a lower credit rating and potential impact on financeability
- Securitized debt products are specialized and price at a premium to other fixed rate instruments however a successful program supported by a strong credit rating this premium could shrink over time to a minor spread over Provincial debt
- OPG's credit rating should be maintained provided sufficient equity is injected to maintain credit metrics
- While the structure is not expected to impact the Province there are risks that the program could negatively impact the rating agencies view of the Province's financial management.

E. Risk Summary

i. Consolidation

- Elements of the proposed structure were established to support consolidation of the SPV into OPG. These items may not be sufficient to establish OPG as risk owner of the SPV and the SPV may need to be consolidated directly with the Province.

ii. Financeability

- The legislation establishing the structure and the property right for recovering the financing and associated costs may not be adequate for financing purposes resulting in more expensive financing or an inability to obtain the required external financing.

iii. Cost of Financing

- Future governments may enact legislation that changes the right of the SPV to recover amounts from customers.
- The right to recover amounts from future customers must be irrevocable and subject to full recovery from the government in the event that future governments reduce or eliminate the recovery. A legal structure that is weaker than the precedent US transactions increases the risk to debt holders and the cost of financing.
- Interest rates on bonds in the securitization market are higher than equivalent rated bonds. Rate for a AAA securitization credit is about 50 bps higher than GOC (rated AAA) for a 5 year term. This difference is attributable to the specialized structure of the bond, smaller investor pool for this bond, smaller size of the market and higher perceived risks of the bond.
- Any regulator involvement must not be seen to modify any terms of debt issued or the property right securing the debt as this would increase risk to debt holders.

- It may not be possible to issue debt to match the terms of the deferred asset so shorter term debt would be used which raises risk to re-finance the maturing debt as the market may no longer be interested in this product. As well, underlying reference interest rates may be higher and the market may require a higher spread to invest in this product.
- With the GA Recovery Right program continuing for 10 years, debt issued over this period is subject to changes in both the underlying reference interest rates and appetite of the market for this product.

iv. OPG Credit Rating

- Minimizing the impact of significant additional debt on OPG's credit rating is dependent on higher EBITDA arising from earned income on the GA Recovery Right in excess of external debt. Ability of the SPV to record revenue reflecting the growth in asset value.
- Potential OPG credit rating downgrade if legislative structure is not adequate to support long term recoverability, inability to record revenue from growth in asset value or agencies view equity injection as debt.
- OPG credit rating downgrade could result in loss of GBE status or result in SPV being consolidated directly with the Province.

Attachment 1

LEGISLATIVE REQUIREMENTS TO ALLOW DEFERRAL OF GLOBAL ADJUSTMENT AMOUNTS TO BE FINANCEABLE

The IESO currently has a right to collect GA monthly from ratepayers through provisions in the Electricity Act, 1998. It is proposed that collection of a certain portion of the monthly GA be deferred for collection in the future, and that the right to recover the deferred GA from ratepayers be used as a basis for structured financing/securitization.

The current proposal is for a trust to be created as a financing vehicle (the "Trust") in connection the deferred GA. The Trust will finance the deferral of the GA by purchasing the right to recover such deferred GA from the IESO for the principal amount of the GA being deferred. For example, if the amount of GA that is being deferred is $200 million in a given month, the Trust will purchase from the IESO the right to future recovery of the deferred GA and the associated financing costs (including interest and transaction costs) for $200 million in cash.

The Trust is expected to finance these purchases from the IESO through a combination of senior secured financing raised in the capital markets and subordinated financing from OPG (the funding for which will mostly be from equity injections from the OEFC/Province).

For accounting purposes, OPG will need to have the ability to direct the activities of the Trust, through a services agreement and/or through the Trust's constating document.

Based on securitized financing raised by utilities in the US (backed by utility cost recovery orders) and the current regulatory framework in Ontario, the legislation in Ontario would need to be amended to provide the following, at a minimum:

1. The IESO will be empowered to create an asset (the "Regulatory Asset") consisting of all right, title and interest in and to:

   (a) right to recover from and bill Ontario electricity ratepayers for:

   (i) the principal amount of GA that is being deferred for collection;
   (ii) all interest and other financing costs incurred in respect of the deferral of the GA (whether through senior debt raised in the public markets or subordinated debt raised from OPG or others); and
   (iii) (subject to the comments in paragraph 5 below in respect of OPG's internal administrative costs only) all fees, expenses and other administrative costs associated with such financing, including up-front and ongoing financing costs and any indemnity payments;

all on such repayment/amortization schedule as agreed by the IESO and any purchaser of such right (or pursuant to a pre-defined schedule/formula in the legislation that covers all of the purchaser's principal, interest and ongoing financing costs on a monthly basis); and

(b) all revenues, collections, claims, rights to payments, money or proceeds arising from the rights and interests set out in paragraph (a) above, regardless of whether such revenues, collections, claims, rights to payments, money or proceeds are imposed, billed, received, collected or maintained together with or commingled with other revenues, collections, rights to payments, payments, money or proceeds.

2. The IESO may dispose of the Regulatory Assets created from time to time on such terms as the IESO determines in accordance with the terms of directives to be issued to the IESO from time to time by the Minister, provided that any such disposition shall be a true sale and absolute transfer of the IESO's right, title and interest in and to a Regulatory Asset to the purchaser of the Regulatory Asset.

3. The Regulatory Assets will not be subject to any set-off, counterclaim or other defence by the IESO or any successor or affiliated entity thereof.

4. The legislation will need to recognize the Regulatory Assets as amounts that may be recovered by the IESO (e.g. it could be designated as a "GA Deferral" and would be included in the amounts collectible by the IESO through the GA collection mechanism, and would include interest and financing costs).

5. The purchaser of the Regulatory Asset will have the right to require the IESO (or any successor) to collect the principal amount of GA deferred, together with interest, financing and administration costs, on the agreed repayment/amortization schedule. [NTD: In the LIPA securitization rate order, if the entity that is authorized to collect rates to service the bonds ends up defaulting, there is the ability to request a court to order "sequestration" and payments of amounts owing to the owner of the Regulatory Asset. Consider whether to include a similar right here. Alternatively, consider whether a security interest over the moneys collected by the IESO could be provided to the purchaser.]

OEB would be provided with oversight over the internal administrative costs collected by the Financing Trust. This could be accomplished by (a) providing the purchaser of the Regulatory Asset with the right to require the IESO or a successor to collect only the principal amount of GA together with interest and financing costs and third party fees and expenses, and (b) requiring the IESO to collect amounts through the global adjustment and make payments to the purchaser of the Regulatory Asset with respect to the internal administrative costs incurred by the purchaser in connection with the purchase and management of the Regulatory Asset and the Financing Trust, in accordance with the order of the OEB then in effect. Under this mechanism, the OEB would be required to review the purchaser's internal administrative costs through a streamlined process and issue such orders in accordance with rules to be prescribed under a new regulation under the OEB Act, which would clearly limit the OEB's scope of review and could establish the basis for the purchaser to receive an appropriate fee for its services.

6. In the event that any action is taken or permitted by the Province or any regulatory authority that limits, alters, or impairs the value of a Regulatory Asset or reduces the ability of the IESO or the purchaser of the Regulatory Asset to collect or recover the costs associated therewith, the owner of the Regulatory Asset and the holders of any bonds or other securities issued to finance the purchase of the Regulatory Asset, will have a right of action against the Province for any damages suffered as a result of such amendment.

STATUTORY AMENDMENTS

The following is preliminary and is based on our current understanding of the proposed structure and objectives. For example, we have assumed that the structure will not entail the insertion of a new Holdco between OPG and the Province. As these aspects are refined, some of the suggested amendments described below may not be needed and other aspects that we are not aware of may need to be considered. Accordingly, these suggested amendments are provided for discussion purposes and are subject to change. We would welcome the opportunity to work with OPG and the Ministry on refining the scope and substance of required legislative and regulatory amendments.

A. Amendments to Implement Structure

Certain Electricity Act, 1998 amendments would be needed to implement the anticipated structure (which we understand, as noted above, would not include a Holdco), as follows:

- Section 53.1(1): Amend to permit owning and operating generation facilities through subsidiaries (not only directly through OPG). In addition, amend to permit OPG to administer, manage, loan moneys to and have a beneficial interest in, if applicable, Financing Trust.

- Section 53.2: Amend to permit the Minister to acquire, hold, dispose of or otherwise deal with securities or debt obligations of, or any other interest in, OPG or any subsidiaries. This is to accommodate possible variations to the financing structure that may be desirable over time.

- Section 53.■ (new): New statutory section to permit the Minister to enter into arrangements relating to an exercise of powers under 53.2.

- Section 53.■ (new): New statutory section providing that creditors of Financing Trust have no recourse to the assets of OPG or any of its subsidiaries (other than Financing Trust, if applicable). In addition, consideration should be given as to whether the Act should be amended so that the Financing Trust cannot be wound up or liquidated.

B. Miscellaneous Corporate Items to Address

- OPG Articles: Amend the OPG's articles to remove the private company restrictions.

- MOA with Province: Consider whether any amendments to OPG's MOA with the Province are required to contemplate the Financing Trust.

C. Amendments Under Electricity Act to Implement GA Smoothing

Based on our understanding that the global adjustment smoothing mechanism is intended to benefit residential and small business customers only and that the Minister will be responsible for determining how much global adjustment smoothing is to be applied in a given month, if any, amendments to the Electricity Act, 1998 and Ontario Regulation 429/04 (Adjustments Under Section 25.33 of the Act) would be needed to implement the mechanism, as follows:

(i) Electricity Act:

- Section ■ (New): Establish a new power for the Minister to make directives to the IESO in relation to the global adjustment smoothing mechanism and, particularly, for purposes of establishing global adjustment smoothing amounts from time to time (expected to be monthly). To the extent possible, the directive power should be drafted so as to limit the ability for a future Minister to require the IESO to do anything that would materially and adversely affect the Financing Trust or its lenders. [NTD: While our understanding is that the Minister would direct this, we note from other materials we have seen that OPG may instead be recommending a formula approach. It is not clear what the formula would look like, where it would be set out or how it would be applied and by whom]

- Paragraph 25.33(1): This section says that IESO shall make adjustments in accordance with the regulations to ensure that, over time, payments by prescribed classes of market participants reflect amounts paid to OPG, OEFC and distributors, as well as amounts paid to entities with whom IESO has a procurement contract. Add new subsection (c) so as to require IESO to ensure that, over time, payments by prescribed classes of market participants also reflect amounts paid to Financing Trust. [NTD: Not certain this is needed if only to benefit residential and small business consumers, who are not market participants. May be needed in reference to payments from distributors and retailers]

- Paragraph 25.33(2): This section says that distributors and retailers shall make adjustments in accordance with the regulations to ensure that, over time, payments by prescribed classes of consumers reflect amounts paid to OPG, OEFC and distributors, as well as amounts paid to entities with whom IESO has a procurement contract. Add new subsection (c) so as to require distributors and retailers to ensure that, over time, payments by prescribed classes of consumers also reflect amounts paid to Financing Trust.

- Note: As described below, the regulation will need to include new requirements for the IESO to record the global adjustment smoothing amounts in one or more variance accounts and to use those amounts to offset amounts otherwise recorded in the variance accounts under Section 25.33(3) of the Act. For context, we note:

    - Section 25.33(3) says that adjustments under (1) or (2) relating to electricity consumed by consumers whose rates are determined by the OEB under s. 79.16 of the OEB Act (i.e. RPP Customers) shall instead be made in accordance with the regulations to one or more variance accounts established and maintained by the IESO.

- Section 25.33(4) says IESO, distributors and retailers shall make and receive such payments, set-offs and credits as may be required or permitted by the regulations with respect to consumers described in (3), i.e. RPP Customers.

- Section 25.33(5) says that IESO shall establish and maintain such variance accounts as may be needed to record all amounts payable or receivable by it under 25.33.

(ii) O. Reg. 429/04 (Adjustments Under Section 25.33 of the Act):

- Section 1(1): Consider adding definitions for "Financing Trust" and "global adjustment smoothing amount" or such other terms as may be preferred.

- Section 1.2(1) (New): Add section providing that, for the purposes of this Regulation, the global adjustment smoothing amount for a month is the amount determined by the IESO in accordance with a directive from the Minister under section ■ of the Electricity Act in respect of the month. [NTD: See above note re use of Minister directives]

- Section 1.2(2) (New): Consider adding a section providing that the IESO shall publish the global adjustment smoothing amount for a month by no later than the 10th business day of the following month [to align with general publication requirements for global adjustment under s. 1.1(2)].

- Section 10(1): Amend formula for calculating Class B GA rate by subtracting the global adjustment smoothing amount for a month from "M", which is the total amount of the global adjustment for the month. The global adjustment smoothing amount could be designated as "X", such that the formula would be (M-X-N)/(P-Q). Define "X" as the global adjustment smoothing amount for the month as determined by the IESO in accordance with the Minister's directive under section ■ of the Electricity Act for the month. [NTD: See above note re use of Minister directives]

- Section 10.1 (New): Add new section to deal with adjustments under subsection 25.33(3) of the Act, i.e. in respect of RPP consumers. This section should require the IESO to establish, within the variance account(s) it maintains pursuant to subsection 25.33(3) of the Act, one or more subaccounts in which it shall record the global adjustment smoothing amounts applicable to the classes of consumers described in subsection 25.33(3) of the Act. This section must also specify that the IESO shall apply the amounts recorded in the subaccounts against the balances in the variance accounts for purposes of section 79.16(3) of the OEB Act.

  - Note: This is a key aspect because, when the OEB determines RPP rates, it must take into account the balances in the variance accounts established by the IESO under s. 25.33 of the Electricity Act and make adjustments with a view to eliminating the balances within 12 months. This proposed new section 10.1 causes the IESO to reduce (in the near term) the variance account balances by the global adjustment smoothing amounts, as provided by Financing Trust, thereby enabling the OEB to determine RPP rates that, despite being lower for RPP consumers in the near term, still eliminate the relevant variance account balances within 12 months.

- Paragraph 11(2)2.ii: Amend the formula for calculating the allocation of global adjustment for a month to a licensed distributor that is a market participant by subtracting the global adjustment smoothing amount for a month from "M", which has the same meaning as under section 10(1). The global adjustment smoothing amount could be designated as "X", such that the formula would be [(M-X-N) x (R+S-T)]/(P-Q). Define "X" as suggested under section 10(1).

- Paragraph 11(2)3: Amend the formula for calculating the allocation of global adjustment for a month to each Class B market participant by subtracting the global adjustment smoothing amount for a month from "M", which has the same meaning as under section 10(1). The global adjustment smoothing amount could be designated as "X", such that the formula would be [(M-X-N) x U]/(P-Q). Define "X" as suggested under section 10(1).

- Paragraph 16(7)4: Consider amending the description of "Global Adjustment" that is required to be included on certain invoices so as to inform consumers that their portion of the global adjustment for the month (i) may have been reduced by the application of a global adjustment smoothing amount from the Financing Trust, or (ii) may include amounts payable to the Financing Trust in respect of global adjustment smoothing amounts previously applied.

- Section 20(1): This section establishes an obligation for the Ontario Electricity Financial Corporation and every licensed distributor that is a market participant to give the IESO such information as the IESO may require for the purposes of the Regulation in the form specified by the IESO and before the expiry of the period specified by the IESO. Consider amending to extend this obligation to the Financing Trust.

- Section 20(6): This section provides that on request by the OEB, the IESO, a licensed distributor, an embedded generator, a retailer or the OEFC shall give the OEB such information relating to this Regulation as the OEB may require, in the form and within the period specified by the OEB. Consider amending to extend this obligation to the Financing Trust.

D. Amendments Under OEB Act to Implement Cost Recovery for Financing Trust

Amendments to the Ontario Energy Board Act, including amendments to O. Reg. 95/05 (Classes of Consumers and Determination of Rates) and the introduction of a new regulation, would be needed to implement a cost recovery process for the Financing Trust in relation to the global adjustment smoothing mechanism, potentially with limited OEB oversight, as follows:

(i) Ontario Energy Board Act:

- Section 78(3.3): This provision establishes an obligation for the OEB, when determining rates for the retailing of electricity, to take into account balances in variance accounts established under section 25.33 of the Electricity Act and to make adjustments "with a view to eliminating those balances within 12 months or such shorter time periods as the Minister may direct." Consider whether any amendments are needed, and confirm this works with the framework being proposed.

- Section 78.7 (New): We understand that the Province may want the OEB to have an oversight role. One possible approach would be to establish a new statutory section establishing that the IESO shall make payments to the Financing Trust with respect to the internal administrative costs incurred by the Financing Trust in connection with the purchase and management of the Regulatory Asset and the Financing Trust. Such payments by the IESO would need to be made in accordance with the order of the OEB then in effect, which orders shall be made by the OEB in accordance with rules prescribed under a new regulation.

    - The new regulation would need to be clear that the OEB does not have jurisdiction to consider the principal amount or any interest, financing costs, third party fees or expenses. Rather, OEB's role would be limited to considering the internal administrative costs of the Financing Trust and ensuring the Financing Trust receives an appropriate fee for its services, all of which would be recovered by the Financing Trust from the IESO, which would collect those amounts in the global adjustment. Note that, if this approach is accepted, the IESO and distributors and retailers would need the authority to collect such amounts as part of the GA and IESO would need the authority to pay such amounts to the Financing Trust. As such, additional amendments would be needed under O. Reg. 429/04.

- Note: Section 79.16 of the OEB Act does not require changes, but the significance of this provision should be understood.

    - Section 79.16 gives the OEB responsibility for determining electricity commodity prices for eligible consumers. Eligibility is determined under Reg. 95/05 (Classes of Consumers and Determination of Rates), which is also known as the Regulated Price Plan (RPP) Regulation.
    - Section 4(2) of the RPP Regulation defines RPP-eligible consumers as low volume consumers (i.e. those who annually use less than 150,000 kWh or such other amount as prescribed), consumers with demand of 50 kW or less, residential consumers that have accounts with distributors, consumers who annually use 150,000 to 250,000 kW of electricity, and consumers who have accounts with distributors if in the farming business.

- Paragraph 6(1)3 of the RPP Regulation provides that "In determining the rates (for RPP-eligible consumers), the Board shall forecast the cost of electricity to be consumed by the consumers to whom the rates apply, taking into consideration adjustments required under section 25.33 of the Electricity Act, 1998 and shall ensure that the rates reflect those costs."
- The Ontario Energy Board has developed a Regulated Price Plan Manual (revised February 16, 2016) to describe the processes and methodologies it uses for determining electricity commodity prices that are charged to RPP consumers pursuant to Section 79.16 of the OEB Act and paragraph 6(1)3 of the RPP Regulation.

(ii) O. Reg. 95/05 (Classes of Consumers and Determination of Rates)

- Paragraph 6(1)3: Amend so as to require the Board, when forecasting the cost of electricity to be consumed by the consumers to whom the rates apply, to take into consideration not only the adjustments required under section 25.33 of the Electricity Act but also the application or prior application of global adjustment smoothing amounts determined by the IESO in accordance with Minister directives under section ■ of the Electricity Act, and to ensure that the RPP rates reflect those amounts. [NTD: See above note re use of Minister directives]

(iii) New Regulation (Payments to the Financing Trust)

- If the OEB is to be given the role of reviewing and approving the recovery of OPG's internal administrative costs for the Financing Trust under the potential section 78.7 (see above), then this regulation should describe the process and criteria pursuant through which the OEB would determine the amounts that the IESO would be required to collect through the global adjustment, in accordance with section 25.33 of the Electricity Act, and pay to the Financing Trust in respect of the provision of global adjustment smoothing amounts. This part of the regulation should establish:

    - any reporting requirements from the Financing Trust and/or the IESO to the OEB in connection with the global adjustment smoothing mechanism;
    - the frequency of the OEB making determinations under this part of the regulation;
    - the process through which the OEB shall make these determinations, which should be a streamlined administrative process rather than a public hearing process or, if a hearing is needed, then the scope of the proceeding should be clearly and narrowly constrained so as to deter intervenor involvement, lengthy proceedings and reduce/eliminate risk to recovery by Financing Trust;

- the basis for the OEB's determinations as to the payments that shall be made to the Financing Trust, which should specify that:
  - the Financing Trust shall recover its prudently incurred internal administrative costs on a forecast basis each year;
  - the Financing Trust shall receive an appropriate fee each year (with some guidance as to what would be appropriate); and
  - the approved payment amounts shall be collected by the IESO through the global adjustment and paid to the Financing Trust in accordance with the order of the OEB then in effect. Note that O. Reg. 429/04 would likely need amendments to permit IESO (and distributors and retailers) to collect these amounts through the global adjustment.

Global Adjustment Deferral - White Paper - Terms to MOE Feb 21_2017.pdf

GA Smoothing – OPG Accounting Considerations

- An SPV/Trust is a stand-alone entity able to conduct business separately under a Trust agreement

The conditions required for OPG to consolidate the SPV/Trust are outlined in the following table

Issue	Response
1. Decision Making	• OPG must have decision making authority on the operation of the SPV/Trust (without a veto right by the Province), including naming of trustees, establishing operating plans and budgets, setting or changing financing policies. • The SPV/Trust while operating within the legislation, must be controlled by OPG to operate freely and to alter terms and conditions not specified in the legislation to ensure recovery of the deferred amounts
2. Business Risk	• The SPV/Trust must have variability of returns as a normal business enterprise would, including such things as interest charged on deferred amounts, decisions on how to finance these deferred amounts, the ability to make / lose and keep any spread from financing
3. Funding	• The Province cannot directly or indirectly fund more than 50% of SPV/Trust or any investment in the SPV/Trust • OPG must own at least 50% of the most exposed equity /sub-debt in the SPV/Trust
4. Directive	• Directive that is issued should not be prescriptive or direct OPG to set up this business. The directive should only be “guiding” i.e. to allow OPG to evaluate options and put forward to the OPG Board a recommended plan for Shareholder approval

Issue	Response
5. Other required Attributes:	The legislation that supports the formation of the SPV/Trust must have the following attributes: • Must require interest, carrying and administrative costs be paid to the Trust to allow for Revenue recognition • The amount to be deferred must either be specified or be calculated based on a specific formula that is not subject to ongoing decision making by the Province. The Province cannot have the ability to override this formula • Legislation should be written to avoid the possibility of being revoked with wording to ensure the SPV/Trust and its debt holders would have their capital guaranteed and paid for directly by the Province if such a situation were to happen • The spirit of the legislation should be reflected in the Trust Indenture Agreement

GA Financing Structure Requirements

Creation of Strong Property Rights

- Legislation enshrines the ability of the IESO to create a Right to charge customers in the future for the Global Adjustment (GA) deferred today including principal amount deferred, interest and other financing costs on the amount deferred and fees, expenses and other administrative costs.
- The Right can be sold to an appropriate Trust or Special Purpose Vehicle (SPV) to obtain funds to pay amounts due to generators under contracts or regulation. These SPVs are generally single purpose entities with no other operations that could add risk to the entity, dilute debt holder rights, allow parties from other operations to claim rights to the future recovery from customers or allow these other parties to initiate bankruptcy proceedings.
- Right must be irrevocable and if the Right is amended by future governments the debt holders have the right of action against the government to recover the amount outstanding including interest, fees, expenses and any damages resulting from the amendment.
- Right must specify the recovery period or the mechanism for setting the recovery rate including true up of the rate to ensure all amounts are recovered

Economic Factors

- Limits on the recovery amount (principal, interest, fees and expenses) charged to customers in future periods must have compensating elements such as longer recovery period to ensure the full amount deferred plus interest, financing and other administration costs is recovered from customers.
- Need to balance customer relief with debt holder risk. Longer recovery periods and larger deferred balances increase risk to the debt holder of future government intervention.
- The amount required by the SPV to purchase and service the Right will be funded 51% from debt holders, 5% from OPG through capital markets and 44% from OPG via equity injection to OPG from the Province. The funding from OPG will be loaned to the SPV as subordinated debt.

- SPV will be used to raise the GA financing and ring fence OPG from its legal obligations
- SPV will be structured to allow for GBE accounting consolidation into OPG
- Given that SPV will be consolidated into OPG for accounting purposes, the significant amount of debt required to fund the GA deferral will have a severe impact on OPG's credit rating. If 100% of the requirement is funded by debt OPG would be downgraded.
- To manage this exposure and minimize the cost of funding. The required funding would be split into 2 buckets:
    1. 56% from capital markets, and
    2. The remainder provided by the Province via equity injection, which would be loaned to SPV as subordinated debt.
- The use of equity to fund a portion of the GA deferral also allows for an improvement in both Net Income and EBITDA as incremental revenue is captured by the increase in the value of the deferral which would offset the fiscal impact of the borrowing at Province level.
- Credit rating metrics are generally maintained within established limits.

I believe what PWC and John have in mind is the intangible asset which is what is included in the Long island Power Authority's financial statements since 2013.

Met with Pwc late Friday. Not a reg asset but they think OPG Finance Co could set up an asset similar to a royalty or franchise fee concept where OPG has the rights to a portion of future cash flows. May be an intangible asset rather than a financial one.

Problem is whether such legislation would have that asset survive on consolidation since it's that legislation that gave rise to this future right and it's the Province enacting this legislation. Relayed this onto the Provincial controllers office and I think they have EY looking into it.

We're pulling out all the stops to try to make this work.

We'll circle back with Pwc who is following up with their government accounting expert.

Ken fully in the loop as I know there's a meeting Monday afternoon to discuss.

Hi John,

I wanted to circle back on the accounting issue from Friday. My sense is that creating a regulatory asset for OPG is going to be difficult. Have you heard any progress? I am going to get asked tomorrow, how things are going, so if you hear anything please let me know. Is anything the Province can do in legislation to bolster the case that this is OPG's cost?

IIs there any way OPG could finance all of its portion of GA, thereby reducing its annual revenue requirement (akin to nuclear smoothing but on a larger scale)? I realize this would impact OPG's liquidity and solvency ratios. If all borrowing comes from OFA, does the accounting even work? This is a long shot, but I want to make sure we have turned over every stone.

Thanks,

Scott

As discussed, I wonder if your analysis might also include reference to IESO's contemplation of accounting for conservation costs (as rate regulated assets), in addition to the reversal of the costs previously written off to the IESO's bottom line?

With regards to the various components comprising GAM (below), one could argue for similar accounting treatment for items of similar nature.

· IESO (including former Ontario Power Authority) contracts with generators and suppliers of conservation;

generators.

Dear Mr. Bosco:

We have completed our engagement to assist you with understanding the accounting treatment for conservation and demand initiative costs. Our engagement was performed in accordance with our Statement of Work dated January 10, 2017 under our Agreement during the period January 13 to February 17, 2017. You requested that we amend the original Report to include consideration of the application of the US Governmental Accounting Standards Board guidance. This Report replaces the previously issued report dated January 19, 2017.

Results of our work

Based on our procedures performed during the period January 13 to February 17, 2017, we prepared the attached Report for your use. Management of the Company reviewed these documents for completeness, accuracy and reasonableness. Decisions regarding the Company's application of CPA Public Sector Accounting Standards ("PSAS") were made solely by the Company's management.

Background

Under the Statement of Work, our scope of services was to assist you with understanding the accounting for conservation incentive costs. The Ministry of Energy is currently exploring a potential financing arrangement for conservation and demand management ("CDM") initiative programs that would see the IESO borrow funds from the Ontario Financing Authority ("OFA") to fund eligible CDM costs.

Scope of our work

In connection with our engagement, we held discussions with and made inquiries of the IESO's personnel. We also obtained and read the Company's financial statements, certain limited accounting records, and certain computations prepared by the IESO.

The procedures performed by us is included in our Statement of Work. There were no differences between the procedures set forth in this Report and those set forth in our Statement of Work.

Our work was performed under the direction of yourself and was based on inquiries of, and discussions with, you. We have not sought to confirm the accuracy of the data or the information and explanations provided by management.

We did not provide a professional opinion on the application of accounting principles pursuant to Chartered Professional Accountants of Canada ("CPA Canada") or the AICPA's Standards for Reports on the Application of Accounting Principles (as amended and interpreted).

DRAFT

The procedures that we performed were advisory in nature and do not constitute an audit or review in accordance with CPA Canada, PCAOB or AICPA auditing or attestation standards, nor do they constitute an examination of prospective financial statements in accordance with standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. Additionally, the procedures do not address the effectiveness of internal controls over financial reporting under National Instrument 52-109 issued by the Canadian Securities Administrators or Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act. Accordingly, we express no opinion or any other form of assurance on the historical or prospective financial statements, management representations or other data of the Company included in or underlying the accompanying information. While we believe the information obtained is substantially responsive to your request, we are not in a position to assess its sufficiency for your purposes. In addition, we have no responsibility to update the Report for events or circumstances occurring after the date of the Report.

Our work has been limited in scope and time, and more detailed procedures may reveal issues that this engagement has not.

Restrictions on the use of our Report

This Report is intended solely for the information and use of the management of the IESO, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties. EY therefore assumes no responsibility to any user of the Report other than IESO. Any other persons who choose to rely on our Report do so entirely at their own risk.

We appreciate the cooperation and assistance provided to us during the course of our work. If you have any questions, please call Nadira Singh at (416) 943-3896 or me at (416) 943-2094.

IESO – Accounting for Conservation Costs

i. Background

The Independent Electricity System Operator ("IESO") is in the process of evaluating the accounting implications of a potential change to the recovery method of conservation costs.

The IESO is a non-profit entity, owned by the government of Ontario, and is governed by the Ministry of Energy ("Minister") and operates pursuant to a license granted by the Ontario Energy Board ("OEB"). As part of the IESO's operations, it is required to submit its proposed expenditures, revenue requirements and fees for the coming year to the OEB for review and approval. The submission may be made only with the approval of the IESO business plan by the Ministry of Energy.

As part of the IESO's operations, it facilitates conservation and demand management ("CDM") initiatives in Ontario, whereby local distribution companies ("LDC") incur expenditures in accordance with the CDM guidelines prescribed by the IESO. The IESO then reimburses the LDCs on a dollar-for-dollar basis. Currently, the IESO is reimbursed through the global adjustment mechanism in the fiscal year in which the expenditure is incurred as outlined in Ontario regulation 429/04 Adjustments under the Act and as provided by the Minister per the directive dated March 31, 2014, 2015-2020 Conservation First Framework. The IESO receives this reimbursement from the LDCs who collect the global adjustments directly from ratepayers. The calculation of the global adjustment is the difference between the Hourly Ontario Electricity Price ("HOEP") and:

- Ontario Power Generation's regulated nuclear and hydro generation;
- IESO (including former Ontario Power Authority) contracts with generators and suppliers of conservation;
- Contracted rates administered by the Ontario Electricity Financial Corporation paid to existing generators.

The Ministry of Energy has granted authority to the IESO to collect the CDM incentive costs as part of the global adjustment.

The Ministry of Energy is currently exploring a potential financing arrangement for CDM programs that would see the IESO borrow funds from the Ontario Financing Authority ("OFA") to fund eligible CDM costs. This loan would be recognized as a financial liability by IESO. The CDM costs would then be recovered through the global adjustment over an extended period of time. The accounting alternatives for the underlying CDM costs and the loan interest in accordance with Public Sector Accounting Standards is discussed herein.

ii. Accounting guidance

Presently, the IESO accounts for CDM costs as an asset at the time an invoice is received from the entity that has incurred the CDM expenditure eligible for reimbursement (e.g. DR Asset; CR Accounts Payable to the LDC). At the end of each month, the IESO takes the sum of the amounts requested for reimbursement and includes this sum in its submission in the calculation of the total global adjustment for the month. Once the global adjustment is calculated by the IESO, the amount is charged to customers by the LDCs (on the IESO's behalf) and the IESO receives the funds in the subsequent month.

To address the accounting considerations of the inclusion of the CDM costs in the global adjustment over an extended recovery period (that will be determined by the Minister), the IESO must consider the guidance prescribed by the CPA Public Sector Accounting Standards ("PSAS"). PSAS does not provide specific guidance to address the accounting for assets that will be recovered through rates from various customers over future years

In the absence of PSAS that specifically applies to a transaction, professional judgement is required to apply an appropriate accounting policy that is consistent with primary sources and financial statement concepts of PSAS. Other accounting pronouncements may be useful but are not required to be consulted as noted in paragraphs 18 to 22 of PS 1150 Generally accepted accounting principles which addresses other sources that may be referenced:

> .19 Pronouncements issued by other bodies authorized to issue accounting standards may be useful sources to consult. For example, accounting pronouncements published with the authority of the Canadian Accounting Standards Board (AcSB), International Accounting Standards Board (IASB), US Federal Accounting Standards Advisory Board (FASAB), US Governmental Accounting Standards Board (GASB), or International Public Sector Accounting Standards Board (IPSASB) are often important sources to consult on matters not covered by primary sources of GAAP or for assistance in applying a primary source of GAAP to specific circumstances.
> .20 When a public sector reporting entity chooses to consult a source described in paragraph PS 1150.19, it applies professional judgment and evaluates the source in the context of the relative manner in which the standard setter requires its pronouncements to be applied, as well as in the context of the related pronouncement. When an accounting standard setter does not have a conceptual framework that is similar to the concepts referred to in paragraph PS 1150.05(b), the public sector reporting entity needs to ensure that the selected source is consistent with those concepts.

Consequently, to evaluate the accounting considerations of the accounting for CDM costs being evaluated by the IESO, other sources of GAAP may be considered. The following sources of GAAP were reviewed to determine whether specific guidance was provided addressing the recognition of assets related to regulatory activities:

1) Accounting Standards for Private Enterprises (“ASPE”) as issued by the Canadian Accounting Standards Board (“AcSB”)/ CPA provides the following guidance:

   AcG 19 Disclosures by entities subject to rate regulation provides guidance related to the presentation of financial information related to entities with rate regulated activities when a separate asset or liability has been recognized solely as a result of the effects of rate regulation (AcG 19 paragraph 7(c)).

2) The guidance issued by the US Governmental Accounting Standards Board (“US GASB”) addresses accounting for regulated operations in GASB S62—Codification of Accounting and Financial Reporting Guidance Contained in Pre-November 30, 1989 FASB and AICPA Pronouncements. The GASB S62 standard provides clear guidance that regulatory assets may be recognized to the extent certain criteria are met.

3) US GAAP, as issued by the Financial Accounting Standards Board (“FASB”) does provide guidance to address such activities in ASC 980 Regulated Operations, addresses the recognition of regulatory assets.

4) IFRS as issued by the IASB no longer precludes the recognition of regulatory assets and liabilities a rate-regulated entity’s financial statements. Rather, the IASB issued a standard, IFRS 14 Regulatory deferral accounts, which provides the following relevant guidance:

DRAFT

Paragraph 2(a) of IFRS 14 notes that the objective of the Standard was to:

> limit changes to the accounting policies that were applied in accordance with previous generally accepted accounting principles (previous GAAP) for regulatory deferral account balances, which are primarily related to the presentation of these accounts;

Additionally, paragraph 10 of IFRS 14 notes:

> Paragraphs 11–12 of IAS 8 specify sources of requirements and guidance that management is required or permitted to consider in developing an accounting policy for an item, if no relevant Standard applies specifically to that item. This Standard exempts an entity from applying paragraph 11 of IAS 8 to its accounting policies for the recognition, measurement, impairment and derecognition of regulatory deferral account balances. Consequently, entities that recognise regulatory deferral account balances, either as separate items or as part of the carrying value of other assets and liabilities, in accordance with their previous GAAP, are permitted to continue to recognise those balances in accordance with this Standard through the exemption from paragraph 11 of IAS 8, subject to any presentation changes required by paragraphs 18–19 of this Standard.

This IFRS was issued in response to North American entities potentially transitioning to IFRS, because there was a lack of guidance that permitted the continued separate accounting treatment for regulatory assets and liabilities recognized as a result of rate regulated activities. The guidance above, permits rate-regulated entities upon first-time adoption of IFRS to continue to recognize regulatory assets and liabilities in accordance with the framework that was applied previously (i.e. generally, entities recognized assets in accordance with the guidance of ASC 980 (US entities) or AcG 19 (Canadian entities)).

Given the above-noted guidance, an entity can look to the other accounting frameworks while also ensuring that when judgment is applied, the resulting accounting policy is not inconsistent with the accounting guidance of PSAS. For this reason, the evaluation of accounting considerations in the development of the proposed accounting treatment for the recovery of CDM costs, is considered in the following order:

1) Can an asset be recognized in accordance with PS 1000 Financial statement concepts as prescribed by PSAS?

2) Can the IESO reference the guidance of other accounting frameworks to support the recognition of the reimbursement of CDM costs as an asset?

3) Failing the above, is the most appropriate accounting treatment to recognize the reimbursement of CDM costs as an expense of the current period and simply recognize revenue in future periods when the cost is recovered?

1. Qualification of reimbursement of CDM costs as an asset in accordance with PSAS:

Although PSAS does not specifically address the recognition of costs incurred that will be recovered through regulatory operations in future periods, this does not result in the conclusion that such costs cannot be recognized as an asset. In particular, paragraph 5 of PS 1150 notes:

> .05 When the primary sources of GAAP do not deal with the accounting and reporting in financial statements of transactions or events encountered by the public sector reporting entity, or additional guidance is needed to apply a primary source to specific circumstances, the selection of an appropriate accounting policy requires the exercise of professional judgment. In these circumstances, a public sector reporting entity should adopt accounting policies and disclosures that are consistent with:

(a) the primary sources of GAAP; and

(b) the application of the concepts described in FINANCIAL STATEMENT CONCEPTS, Section PS 1000.

In this case, the IESO would consider whether an asset could be supported by the guidance noted in PS 1000 Financial statement concepts, as follows:

Recognition of an asset

Paragraphs 35-37:

.35 Assets are economic resources controlled by a government as a result of past transactions or events and from which future economic benefits are expected to be obtained.

.36 Assets have three essential characteristics:

a) they embody future economic benefits that involve a capacity, singly or in combination with other assets, to provide goods and services, to provide future cash inflows, or to reduce cash outflows;

b) the public sector entity can control the economic resource and access to the future economic benefits; and

c) the transaction or event giving rise to the public sector entity's control has already occurred. [Former paragraph PS 1000.36 retained in Archived Pronouncements.]

.37 An item is not an asset of a government if it lacks one or more of the essential characteristics listed in the preceding paragraph. Thus, for example, an item does not qualify as an asset of a government if the item involves:

(a) no future economic benefit;

(b) future economic benefit, but the government cannot obtain it; or

(c) future economic benefit that the government may obtain, but the events or circumstances that give the government control of the benefit have not yet occurred.

In evaluating the costs incurred by the IESO to reimburse the LDCs, an argument could be made to support the recognition of the costs as an asset as the costs meet the three essential characteristics prescribed by PS 1000. Particularly:

- Future economic benefits – the CDM costs incurred by the IESO are made to reimburse eligible expenditures from market participants or third-party delivery agents (e.g. an LDC). The IESO can expect to generate future economic benefits from the reimbursement of these expenditures because: a) it has a license with the OEB to operate as a system operator and recover reasonable costs incurred (as noted below) and b) it is mandated by the Minister to charge ratepayers the global adjustment, which results in future cash inflows to recover the reimbursed costs.

DRAFT

Paragraph 13 of PS 3210 Assets notes:

.13 The future economic benefits embodied in an asset may also be in the form of generating future cash inflows. Cash inflows benefit the public sector entity because cash can be used to purchase or to provide goods and services, redistribute wealth or settle liabilities. Benefits in the form of cash inflows relate to resources, such as loans receivable, inventory for resale and portfolio investments. Also, some public sector resources generate cash inflows because they have user fees associated with them.

The global adjustment that is charged to ratepayers and calculated by the IESO is not subject to the review or approval of the Ontario Electricity Board ("OEB"). Accordingly, there is limited risk with respect to the IESO's ability to recover the reimbursement costs incurred – even if the costs are recovered over an extended period of time, as the OEB does not have the ability to reject the recovery of these costs. While risk is limited, the recovery of the CDM expenditures reimbursed by the IESO is dependent on future transactions with electricity customers.

Also, while not specifically governed by the OEB, the IESO's license with the OEB provides that reasonable costs of its activities will be recovered:

> 13 Fees and Charges
> 13.1 The Licensee may impose fees and charges to recover the cost of its activities in accordance with an order of the Board, or as permitted by law.
>
> 14 Books of Accounts and Financial Reporting
> 14.3 Unless otherwise provided by law, the Licensee shall, no less than 60 days before the beginning of the Licensee's fiscal year submit the Licensee's proposed expenditure and revenue requirements for the following fiscal year and the fees it proposes to charge during that year to the Board for review and approval. The Licensee's submission shall include a copy of the Licensee's annual business plan for the fiscal year as approved by the Minister under section 24 of the Electricity Act.

Through its mandate from the Ministry of Energy, which provides the IESO with the right to recover costs, in combination with the IESO's license with the OEB, to the extent that CDM costs are incurred (past transaction) in accordance with the IESO's mandate from the Ministry of Energy, these cash inflows (and thus, future economic benefits) are expected to be recovered.

- Public sector entity control's economic resource and access to economic benefits – The IESO controls access to the future cash inflows that are generated from the incurrence of the CDM expenditures, as it is the IESO who has the mandate from the Ministry of Energy to incur these CDM costs and it is also the IESO who has the directive from this Minister to recover the CDM costs through the global adjustment mechanism charged to rate payers. Specifically, the Electricity Act 1998 notes the following:

> IESO to make adjustments
>
> 25.33 (1) The IESO shall, through its billing and settlement systems, make adjustments in accordance with the regulations that ensure that, over time, payments by classes of market participants in Ontario that are prescribed by regulation reflect, > a. amounts paid to generators, the Financial Corporation and distributors, whether the amounts are determined under the market rules or under section 78.1, 78.2 or 78.5 of the Ontario Energy Board Act, 1998; and
>

b. amounts paid to entities with whom the IESO has a procurement contract, as determined under the procurement contract. 2014, c. 7, Sched. 7, s. 8 (1).

Paragraph 16 of PS 3210 provides additional guidance regarding control of an economic resource and access to future economic benefits, which notes that the public entity:

a) Can benefit from the economic resource through its capacity to provide goods and services, to provide future cash inflows or to reduce cash outflows;

b) Can deny or regulate access to those benefits by others; and

c) Is exposed to the risks associated with the economic resource.

As outlined previously, the IESO has control over the economic resource, as it is the sole entity that is entitled to the cash inflows from ratepayers[1]. Furthermore, while risk is limited, the IESO is exposed to the risk associated with the economic resource – as the Ministry of Energy could change their directive or calculation of the global adjustment, or there could be a change in the economic environment (as discussed above) and thus, alter the ability of the IESO to recover the costs.

- Transaction or event giving rise to public sector entity's control has already occurred – When evaluating whether a transaction or event gives rise to control, paragraphs 26 and 27 of PS 3210 provides helpful guidance:

  The past transaction or event that gives rise to control of an economic resource resulting from exchange agreements or contracts usually occurs at the point of exchange. This arises when substantially all the benefits and risks of ownership have been transferred to the public sector entity and normally coincides with the disbursement of funds, exchange of other assets or assumption of liabilities.

  Meeting the eligibility criteria under an authorized transfer often determines the past transaction or event giving rise to control of an economic resource in non-exchange contracts or agreements. Shared cost agreements (reimbursement arrangements) are an example where the control of an economic resource arises when the recipient incurs eligible expenditures.

  Consistent with the guidance in paragraph 26, control over the economic benefits of the IESO's reimbursement via the global adjustment mechanism from the LDC occurs once the IESO has distributed funds to the LDC. At this point in time, the IESO has incurred a cash outflow for which it is entitled to recover through the global adjustment as prescribed by the Ministry of Energy and the Electricity Act 1998.

Based on the characteristics, as prescribed by PS 1000 and the additional guidance of PS 3210, the cash outflows disbursed by the IESO to reimburse CDM costs to LDCs could meet the definition of an asset in PS 1000.

In accordance with the principles of PSAS, there are generally two types of assets that the IESO may consider recognizing 1) financial asset; or 2) non-financial asset. To classify the asset, it must fall into one of the two categories.

[1] Although the administrative framework provides that LDCs invoice the global adjustment to ratepayers on the IESO's behalf, the IESO has sole entitlement to the cash inflows that result from the global adjustment. All global adjustment amounts collected by LDCs are required to be submitted to the IESO.

Financial asset

.39 Financial assets are assets that could be used to discharge existing liabilities or finance future operations and are not for consumption in the normal course of operations.

.40 A financial asset is any asset that is:

a) cash;

b) a realizable asset that is convertible to cash;

c) a contractual right to receive cash or another financial asset from another party;

d) a contractual right to exchange financial instruments with another party under conditions that are potentially favourable to the government;

e) an equity instrument of another entity;

f) an investment in a government business enterprise or government business partnership;

g) a financial claim on an outside organization or individual; or

h) an inventory or item for sale that meets the criteria in FINANCIAL STATEMENT PRESENTATION, paragraph PS 1201.055.

Based on the guidance of PS 1000, paragraphs 39 and 40, it may be difficult to substantiate the IESO's reimbursement of costs is a financial asset. The costs incurred by the IESO creates a right to recover costs as mandated by the Ministry of Energy. However, there is no contract with a specific ratepayer who ultimately reimburses the IESO for the costs incurred if the IESO calculates the global adjustment (i.e. its recovery mechanism) and this amount is then disbursed to all ratepayers in Ontario (regardless of whether an individual ratepayer benefited from the cost incurred). Furthermore, to the extent that a current ratepayer moves outside of Ontario, it could in fact result in a new ratepayer having to incur the additional charge to permit the IESO to recover its costs. It is difficult to argue that there is a contractual right to receive cash from another party, because legislation and the regulatory framework result in the right to future cash inflows from a pool of ratepayers.

An alternative view may be that the LDCs represent the counterparty to the IESO whereby the LDC is responsible for paying the IESO the global adjustment whether or not payment is ultimately received from the ratepayer. In this circumstance, the IESO can argue that a financial asset should be recognized for its contractual right to receive cash is from each specific LDC. An assessment of who is obligated for the global adjustment (e.g. an assessment of whether the LDC is the agent facilitating cash collection or is the entity obligated to pay the amount) would need to support this alternative.

Non-Financial asset

.41 Non-financial assets include tangible capital assets, and other assets such as prepaid expenses and inventories of supplies.

.42 Non-financial assets are acquired, constructed or developed assets that do not normally provide resources to discharge existing liabilities, but instead:

DRAFT

(a) are normally employed to deliver government services;

(b) may be consumed in the normal course of operations; and

(c) are not for sale in the normal course of operations.

Another accounting treatment could be a 'non-financial asset' in accordance with paragraphs 41 and 42 of PS 1000. This accounting treatment may be supportable under the PSAS guidance as an 'other asset'. The reimbursement of CDM costs, results in the incurrence of an upfront cost in which the entity will benefit from economic benefits over a period of time.

Subsequent measurement of a non-financial asset

To the extent that the recognition of an asset is supported under the framework discussed above, the entity would then be required to draw the asset down over the recovery period (i.e. as cash is collected from ratepayers through the global adjustment mechanism). The presentation of the 'draw' down of the asset is dependent upon the IESO's accounting for the global adjustment. To the extent that funds received from the global adjustment are recognized in revenue rather than to directly reduce the asset then the IESO might consider recognizing the draw-down of the asset as a reduction in revenues. Nonetheless, depending on the IESO's view of its role (i.e. principal versus agent) or its view of the nature of costs incurred, an alternative accounting treatment may result. For instance, if the IESO is an agent, then it may reduce the asset balance directly for those amounts collected by way of the global adjustment rather than recording two separate entries for the recognition of revenue (i.e. global adjustment) and reduction of revenue (i.e. over the recovery period). At this time, the IESO has not completed a principal versus agency assessment.

Demonstrating that the CDM costs will meet the definition of a financial or non-financial asset is challenging and the IESO may not be able to support either view and should consider if referencing another accounting framework to inform an accounting policy for these costs may be required as discussed below.

2. Reference to other accounting frameworks:

As previously noted above, other accounting frameworks as issued by the AcSB, GASB, FASB and IASB provide accounting guidance related to the recognition of expenditures as an asset due to rate regulated operations. When referencing the other frameworks, it is important that the costs qualify as an asset under the framework set forth by PSAS to ensure that the principles of PSAS are not violated, and only then can reference to other frameworks be made to record the reimbursement of costs as an asset.

As the IASB and AcSB do not provide detailed guidance, the IESO could explore whether the costs incurred meet the specific criteria established by GASB S62 as note below; however consideration will need to be given to the consistent application of an accounting policy to all similar existing rate regulated assets and whether an established accounting policy is already in place that would require criteria to be met to change this policy:

476. Paragraphs 476–500 may be applied to activities reported in business-type activities that have regulated operations that meet all of the following criteria:

a. The regulated business-type activity's rates for regulated services provided to its customers are established by or are subject to approval by an independent, third-party regulator or by its own governing board empowered by statute or contract to establish rates that bind customers.

DRAFT

b. The regulated rates are designed to recover the specific regulated business-type activity's costs of providing the regulated services.

c. In view of the demand for the regulated services or products and the level of competition, direct and indirect, it is reasonable to assume that rates set at levels that will recover the regulated business-type activity's costs can be charged to and collected from customers. This criterion requires consideration of anticipated changes in levels of demand or competition during the recovery period for any capitalized costs.

To the extent that the criteria of paragraph 476 of GASB S62 are met, paragraph 480 then provides the following guidance:

480. Rate actions of a regulator can provide a business-type activity with reasonable assurance of the existence of an asset. A regulated business-type activity should capitalize all or part of an incurred cost that otherwise would be charged to expense if both of the following criteria are met:

a. It is probable that future revenue in an amount at least equal to the capitalized cost will result from inclusion of that cost in allowable costs for rate-making purposes.

b. Based on available evidence, the future revenue will be provided to permit recovery of the previously incurred cost rather than to provide for expected levels of similar future costs. If the revenue will be provided through an automatic rate-adjustment clause, this criterion requires that the regulator's intent clearly be to permit recovery of the previously incurred cost.

By referencing the guidance of GASB S62, the IESO must first establish that it meets the criteria of paragraph 476. In doing so, the IESO should consider:

a. Established rates for regulated services (GASB S62.474 (a)) - The IESO's business activity rates are regulated services subject to approval. In this particular instance, the IESO's CDM expenditures are governed by legislation, Electricity Act 1998 as noted above, and by its own governing board, being, the Ministry of Energy. The Ministry of Energy has established the calculation of the global adjustment mechanism[2], which in turn, is charged to the ultimate customer who consumes the energy.

b. Regulated rates are designed to recover specific costs (GASB S62.474 (b)) - One element of the global adjustment mechanism is designed to recover the CDM expenditures that the IESO reimburses to the respective LDCs. As the IESO's regulated business activities support the LDCs delivery of energy to customers, these costs form an integral part of the IESO's regulated services to support the transmission and distribution of energy in Ontario.

c. Demand for regulated activities results in reasonable assumption that established rates will be collected and will recover cost of activities (GASB S62.474(c)) - Given that the structure of the IESO is a not-for-profit entity governed by the Electricity Act of 1998 and regulated by the Ontario Energy Board to support the transmission and distribution of energy to customers in Ontario, rates approved to be charged to customers are designed to recover the IESO's costs. Since the reimbursement of CDM expenditures is a program initiated and mandated by the Ministry of Energy, an entity that also controls the Ontario Energy Board, the IESO would need to examine and support whether the CDM expenditures will be recovered through cash inflows from customers through the global adjustment mechanism. For example, the historic demand and dependency and projected demand for electricity could be used to support a judgment or assertion by the IESO that there is no significant risk that future demand levels decline and diminish to the extent that IESO would not be able to recover the reimbursement of CDM expenditures through rates (i.e. global adjustment mechanism).

[2] Section 1.7 of the directive from the Ministry of Energy dated March 31, 2014 titled 2015-2020 Conservation First Framework provides that the Ontario Power Authority (now merged into the IESO) may "recover payments made under the Province-Wide Distributor CDM Programs and Local Distributor CDM Programs from the Global Adjustment Mechanism up to the budget established…"

If the IESO can demonstrate that CDM expenditures meet the criteria as noted above, the fact pattern may support recognition of a regulatory asset in accordance with paragraph 480 of GASB S62. The IESO could consider:

a. Probability of future revenues (GASB S62.480 (a)) - The global adjustment mechanism explicitly includes recovery of the CDM expenditures. The directive from the Ministry of Energy could support the IESO's assertion that it is at least probable that future revenue will be generated in an amount at least equal to the capitalized cost related to the CDM expenditures. The IESO will need to assess if the global adjustment is considered future revenue (i.e. as part of the analysis of principal versus agent).

b. Recovery of previously incurred costs (GASB S62.480 (b)) - The IESO recovers the CDM expenditures through the global adjustment mechanism. The calculation of the portion of the global adjustment mechanism that relates to the CDM expenditures is determined by the amount that the IESO has approved to reimburse the LDC (e.g. the LDC requests reimbursement for costs it has incurred related to the CDM Requirement[3] and if all criteria are met, the IESO then approves the costs for reimbursement). For this reason, there is evidence that the future revenue earned from the global adjustment mechanism permits the recovery of previously incurred costs (i.e. not future costs).

Using the GASB S62 accounting guidance, and the related considerations noted above, the IESO may be able to reference GASB S62 to support the recognition of CDM expenditures as an asset by way of the GAAP hierarchy prescribed by PS 1150, paragraph 19, which explicitly references GASB as a secondary source of GAAP in the event that PSAS does not address a particular transaction. However, the IESO would also need to consider whether it is appropriate to refer to the GASB. First, consideration should be given to whether the GASB accounting guidance to capitalize rate regulated assets is consistent with the primary sources and financial statement concepts of PSAS. This may be challenging as it was noted in a paper prepared by the PSAB Conceptual Task Force Consultation Paper 2: Measuring Financial Performance in Public Sector Financial Statements, that the existing model in the PSA Handbook takes predominately an asset and liability view whereas standards set by the GASB is a financial statement presentation model based on a revenue and expense view. That said, the definition of an asset is similar under both the PSAS and GASB standards (GASB Concepts Statement 4[4]) and because rate regulated assets are not classified as deferred outflows of resources (GASB S65) but rather assets, it may be possible to use the GAAP hierarchy to refer to GASB to formulate an accounting policy. GASB S65 Items Previously Recognized as Assets and Liabilities was applicable for periods beginning after December 15, 2012. In paragraph 48 of GASB S65, rate regulated assets retained the definition of an asset and these assets were not required to be reclassified as a deferred outflow which is defined as the consumption of net assets by the government that is applicable to a future period. Secondly, any existing policy that the IESO currently applies to any other assets that could be considered rate regulated assets would require an evaluation of whether an accounting policy change from expensing to one that capitalizes rate regulated assets meets the criteria that the new accounting policy results in a more appropriate presentation of events or transactions in the IESO's financial statements (PS 2120, paragraph 2).

An alternative view is that it is inappropriate to reference GASB S62 because GASB has provided a special accommodation to permit the capitalization of rate regulated assets when they would otherwise be expensed. If an entity that applies PSAS, determines that the definition of an asset under PS 1000 is not met then for the IESO to use a special accommodation in another framework to avoid expensing the CDM costs would not be appropriate.

[3] The Ministry of Energy issued a CDM Directive as per its letter re: 2015-2020 Conservation First Framework, which instructed the Ontario Energy Board to amend the license of each licensed electricity distributor to add a condition that specifies the distributor would make CDM programs available to customers in its licensed area. The CDM programs are required to achieve reductions in electricity consumption. As part of this, the distributor is required to make province-wide CDM programs, funded by the OPA (now the IESO) available to all customers in its licensed service area.

[4] GASB Concepts Statement 4, paragraph 8, defines assets as 'resources with present service capacity that the government presently controls.'

If the IESO does adopt an accounting policy to capitalize the CDM costs there are examples of entities that capitalize similar rate regulated assets that prepare their financial statements in accordance with GASB in the United States. For instance, the Long Island Power Authority ("LIPA") is an organization that is responsible for supplying electricity to customers within a specified service area. LIPA recognizes regulatory assets on its statement of net position in accordance with the guidance of GASB S62.

The FASB also includes accounting guidance related to the accounting for regulated activities in ASC 980-340-25-1 as follows:

> Rate actions of a regulator can provide reasonable assurance of the existence of an asset. An entity shall capitalize all or part of an incurred cost that would otherwise be charged to expense if both of the following criteria are met:
>
> a) It is probable (as defined in Topic 450) that future revenue in an amount at least equal to the capitalized cost will result from inclusion of that cost in allowable costs for rate-making purposes.
>
> b) Based on available evidence, the future revenue will be provided to permit recovery of the previously incurred cost rather than to provide for expected levels of similar future costs. If the revenue will be provided through an automatic rate-adjustment clause, this criterion requires that the regulator's intent clearly be to permit recovery of the previously incurred cost.
> A cost that does not meet these asset recognition criteria at the date the cost is incurred shall be recognized as a regulatory asset when it does meet those criteria at a later date.

The guidance provided by US GAAP notes that to the extent that a regulator provides reasonable assurance of the existence of an asset, then the entity should capitalize the incurred cost that would have otherwise been expensed. In this case, the Ministry of Energy has provided that the IESO will be able to recover its costs through the global adjustment mechanism[5]. As a result, the IESO can support meeting criterion a) of 980-340-25-1 that it is probable that future revenue will equal the cost capitalized as the IESO will include those reimbursed CDM costs in its calculation of the global adjustment charged to rate payers. Furthermore, the IESO can support criterion b) is met, because the future recovery relates only to those costs paid by the IESO to reimburse eligible CDM costs.

To further support this accounting position, there are system operators (i.e. similar to the IESO) in the United States who recognize regulatory assets. As an example, ISO New England Inc., a not-for-profit organization that regulates the flow of transactions in accordance with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission ("FERC") recognizes regulatory assets for those costs incurred subject to rate recovery mechanisms. The ISO New England Inc. operates in a very similar manner to the IESO, in that both organizations are government regulated, system operators who manage the flow of electricity transactions and are not-for-profit. While ISO New England Inc. prepares its financial statements in accordance with US GAAP, rather than GASB, ISO New England Inc.'s treatment of regulatory items is indicative that the capitalization of expenditures related to regulated activities is not an unreasonable treatment for entities of this nature.

As the application of the hierarchy is a choice and not a requirement, another entity with the same fact pattern could account for the recovery of CDM expenditures differently.

Subsequent measurement of asset

To the extent that the recognition of an asset is supported under one of the frameworks discussed above, the entity would then draw the asset down over the recovery period (i.e. as cash is collected from ratepayers through the global adjustment mechanism). The presentation of the draw down of the asset is dependent upon the IESO's accounting for the global adjustment. To the extent that funds received from the global adjustment are recognized in revenue then the IESO might consider recognizing the recovery of the asset as a reduction in revenues (contra revenue account). Nonetheless, depending on the IESO's view of its role (i.e. principal vs. agent) or its view of the nature of costs incurred, an alternative accounting treatment may result. For instance, if the IESO is an agent, then it may reduce the asset balance directly for those amounts collected by way of the global adjustment – rather than recording two separate entries for the recognition of revenue (i.e. global adjustment) and reduction of revenue (i.e. recovery of asset).

[5] Section 1.7 of the directive from the Ministry of Energy dated March 31, 2014 titled 2015-2020 Conservation First Framework provides that the Ontario Power Authority (now merged into the IESO) may "recover payments made under the Province-Wide Distributor CDM Programs and Local Distributor CDM Programs from the Global Adjustment Mechanism up to the budget established…"

DRAFT

3. Expensing expenditures as incurred

Failing the ability to support that an asset can be recognized from alternatives (1) and (2) above, the IESO would be required to record the reimbursement of an LDC's eligible CDM expenditures as an expense in the period incurred.

Paragraphs 49 to 51 of PS 1000 provide the following guidance related to expenses:

.49 Expenses, including losses, are decreases in economic resources, either by way of decreases in assets or increases in liabilities, resulting from the operations, transactions and events of the accounting period.

.50 Expenses include the cost of economic resources consumed in and identifiable with the operations of the accounting period. For example, the cost of tangible capital assets is amortized to expenses as the assets are used in delivering government programs (see TANGIBLE CAPITAL ASSETS, Section PS 3150). Expenses do not include debt repayments or transfers to other governmental units in the government reporting entity.

.51 Losses can arise from peripheral or incidental transactions and events affecting a government. Such transactions and events include the disposition of assets purchased for use and not for resale, and the liquidation or refinancing of debt.

By referencing paragraphs 49 to 51, it can be noted that the reimbursement of an LDC's CDM expenditures do indeed result in an immediate decrease in the IESO's economic resources – as noted in paragraph 49. If it cannot be substantiated that an asset can be recorded due to the future economic benefits expected to be received through the global adjustment – these expenditures must be recorded as an expense.

4. Accounting for interest costs
