Right but it was the budget projections that were wrong. And that have been outperformed. That is not easily deduced by non experts

I don't think so -- we are closing the books on 2016-17 -- for our purposes these numbers are now final -- further changes would be reflected on 17-18 books

In NR in these bullets, shouldn't the word "projection" be added at end of each bullet?:

Other highlights from this year's Public Accounts include:

- Economic growth, with a 2.7 per cent increase in real gross domestic product (GDP), up from 2.2 per cent in the 2016 Budget
- Total revenue of $140.7 billion, up $2.2 billion from the 2016 Budget

- Total spending of $141.7 billion, down $0.1 billion from the 2016 Budget
- Interest on debt of $11.7 billion, down $0.7 billion from the 2016 Budget

Hi all,

Tomorrow TBS is scheduled to release the 2016-17 Public Accounts.

Attached please find a news release and backgrounder to accompany a technical briefing by officials and media availability with Minister Sandals.

As discussed, member of the pensions panel Uros Karadzic will be there for the briefing.

Please let me know if you have any feedback or comments at your earliest convenience today.

Thanks,
Bryan
