

"The IESO is getting ready for whatever the future may hold. We have the right plans - informed by many voices and stakeholders - because no one can make the types of decisions that need to be made about the energy sector's transformation on their own."

Peter Weiss, President and CEO speaking about embracing the challenges presented by net-zero targets at the Delaware Energy Association Conference on September 11, 2024.

