Hi, Rayhan. I've included three highlighted projects at the end of the spreadsheet for Stakeholder and Public Affairs:

- Additional functionality on the IESO.ca website
- Customer relationship management tool
- Intranet redesign

Please let me know what additional information you may need for these.

Thanks.

Mary

SharePoint is back up. The master copy of the PMO's capital planning template is now available to 'check out' and input new initiatives.

If you have already started with the template that I had provided yesterday given SharePoint being down, feel free to use and send to me and I can update the master copy on SharePoint.

Also, a point of clarification is that for the existing ranked projects provided as reference by the PMO, there is no requirement to complete all the columns since these are already generally known. Please focus on new initiatives along with providing the best available knowledge of interdependencies and future estimates.

Feel free to ask any questions as needed. I will be away as of tomorrow for the remainder of the week but Anil is available to field any questions with their template.

Thank you,
Rayhan

IT Service Desk has indicated that access to the SharePoint continues to be worked on and has escalated the ticket to Accenture to look after.

In the interest of time, the PMO's capital planning template is attached for you to complete. Please send to me the updates and I will merge them together. Also, if anyone has made updates to the SharePoint version, please let me know and I will merge with all of the business unit updates as well.

Please let me know if there are any questions. Thank you for your patience.

Please be advised that the SharePoint site does not appear to be available this morning. I've contacted the IT Service Desk and there has been a ticket issued to hopefully resolve this in a timely manner. Will keep you posted when the site is back up.

Thanks,
Rayhan

All –

This is a friendly reminder, as discussed at the April 6th BPWG meeting, to submit input into the capital planning spreadsheet available on SharePoint and identify any new initiatives planned within your respective business units.

The SharePoint spreadsheet includes projects that are already ranked and prioritized by the Project Portfolio Management Team. Some of these projects will start in 2018 and could span into 2020. Please insert a new row at the end of the list and include any new initiatives, ensuring it aligns with the IESO's strategic objectives. Please also ensure that you check 'in' documents on SharePoint once you have completed your updates.

Anil or myself are available if there are any project specific questions or if further clarification is needed on completing this template.

Otherwise, looking forward to seeing the updates by end of next week, as requested.

Have a great weekend!

Thanks again.
Rayhan
