Thanks to all. I will review once I receive. But I'm sure you have it under control!

We just did a joint review of the new legislation. Martine is going to write up our comments tomorrow during the daytime, as the deadline to have them over to the drafters is noon on Sunday.

The team will then review Martine's draft with a view to getting it to you for your review Saturday evening. The draft will not have been reviewed by Ceiran at that point, but he was involved in the detailed review today, so Martine will draft and we can then address Ceiran's thoughts when we get them Saturday evening.

Thanks to everyone for their help... in particular Martine, who has taken on the lion's share of the drafting.
