New year, new station, new option for you

New Allandale Waterfront GO Station opening in Barrie

Starting January 28, Barrie residents will have more GO Transit options with the opening of our new Allandale Waterfront GO Station. The station is located off Gowan Street in downtown Barrie and will now be the first southbound stop on the Barrie GO Train line.

Allandale Waterfront GO Station is easily accessible for passengers who wish to walk, bike, carpool or take Barrie Transit to the station. Features of the station include a designated passenger drop-off area, bike shelters, parking for scooters and up to 150 cars.

GO Train service to the new Allandale station will start on Monday, January 30th. GO Bus route 68 – Barrie/Newmarket will start serving the new station on Saturday, January 28th. GO customers can travel for free on Barrie Transit when they take it to or from the Allandale Waterfront GO Station as they do to or from the Barrie South GO Station.
