Hi Mary,

Remember last summer you talked about making GO "hip"? Well, this is one move in that direction. No 9, the arts organization we are partnering on this project with, has done very interesting work in the area of art and sustainability, and I think this will be fun for our customers. And, there will be some good buzz and media coverage, starting tomorrow at 5:45 am when the artists are interviewed on Metro Morning.

Stephanie as I'm out in briefings all morning tomorrow, can I ask you to please send Mary and Gary the comms plan and a list of media coverage that has been confirmed to date.

Mary, we have also spoken to Paula, Laura-Gaye and Geri Wice about this so they are in the loop.

Thanks

Dina

Dina: what's the short rationale for why we're doing this? I'm not challenging the event-- only that competing things for my attention prevented me from properly focussing on previously issued backgrounders on this. Thanks. Mary

Hi all,

A bit more information:

At least three media outlets have confirmed they will be in attendance. We're asking people to arrive at 10 a.m. (there's an expectation that the artistic crowd may not quite be on time), but the official press conference will start at 10:30 a.m. We expect anywhere from 15-30 people in attendance, including media, though, realistically, about 20 may show up.

Please let me know if you have questions.

Hi Pat,

I called you about this last week, but I wanted to send you an email to, hopefully, eliminate some of the confusion.

On Tuesday, June 26, 2012, we would like to have a press conference on platform 26/27 to showcase a GO Transit train coach that will be wrapped with the artwork of two local artists. We expect print and television media to show up for the press conference, as well as other VIPs, which include Gary.

I know we did a press conference with the Premier's office on platform 26/27 about eight months ago, but I was not involved in that. I'm sure flagging needs to be arranged for this. Would you please let me know if this is possible? Please let me know as soon as you can.

Thanks.
