Subject: latest ARB draft

Hi Mary

Here is the latest ARB draft. One version is with tracked changes; the other a clean version. Please note that I incorporated all of your comments with the exception of the customer segmentation information. I think it is best to keep the customer description holistic as it is currently described in the brief. That said, when I discuss the current draft with the ARB, I will mention that this segmentation is available and if they believe it adds value with respect to selecting an agency, I will add it.

I have forwarded the clean version to the ARB unofficially for comment. If I hear anything back from them prior to my meeting with them next week, I will certainly share.
