Dear Sir or Madam

Given we all now know that the care homes for seniors have serious and significant issues, particularly the “for-profit” facilities where it was recently reported that one poor gentle man died of starvation and in numerous facilities we have had to call out the military and or take over control—this is not the time to pass new legislation to add further complexity and complications to the system

One of the classic rules of thumb is “if you find yourself in a hole, the first step is to STOP DIGGING!” Please, take a deep breath, get some expert advice, read the old reports and analysis come up with a comprehensive and targeted plan. If what is proposed fits that plan fine but let us first have a plan to solve not action to complicate the issue.

For your consideration.

Thanks in advance for considering my opinion.
