Joſeph Bonaparte has again returned to the ſanguinary means he has adopted before his journey to Paris and to put in practice the ſchemes he had there planned with his brother.

The army under the command of General Marmont has been ſeverely handled, and is a prey to every diſeaſe proceeding from fatigue, agitation and the moſt dreadful ſcarcity of provisions. To remedy the latter in part a convoy of brandy and medicines was diſpatched on the 1ſt of Auguſt.

It is reported that the Marquis of Almanera is appointed to raiſe contributions in Toledo and, La Mancha, and Don Pablo Arribas at Avila, Segovia and other parts of Caſtile.

The Miniſter Menſarado has had a paralytic attack; his life is in imminent danger.

CADIZ, Aug. 26.

Brigadier Don Pablo Morilla has headed a detachment and marched to quell an inſurrection raiſed at La Mancha in conſequence of the heavy exactions of grain which it is ſaid amounts to 900,000 fanegas of wheat and 700,000 of barley.

September 3.

According to the laſt accounts from Catalonia, Gen. Lacey has entered the French Territories to impoſe contributions and ſeize on all the Cattle he can lay his hands on, was attacked by ſome French troops from the blockade of Figueras.

LISBON, Sept. 13.

We learn by the Gazettes of to-day from Eſtremadura, that the ſurveillance through Spain have been ſo very poor as to render it neceſſary to ſend two Secretaries of State from Madrid to ſeize upon the grain wherever found. —As the French have no money in the Treaſury their attacks like robbers will reduce the country to the greateſt diſtreſs, as they did Portugal. It will be neceſſary therefore for the poor inhabitants of the Peninſula to make uſe of every means their ingenuity can ſuggeſt to conceal their grain and remove their herds to the retired places.

Order of the Day.

It is with the greateſt regret that his Excellency makes known to the army the neceſſity he is under to puniſh the Chiefs of Regiments of militia at Vizen, Francifco Sardiva de Aguilar and Manuel Joſſe de Caſtello Mello; and Lieutenant Francisco Sales Almeida Pedroſo, and Enſign Joaquim Antonio Cabral with perpetual degradation of rank, though condemned by the Court Martial to death for deſertion.

Extracts from Official dispatches from Marshal General Lord Wellington, dated 4th September, from Head-Quarters at Fuente Grinaldo, to his Excellency Don Miguel Pereira Forjas.

A diviſion of the Guards of General Dumontier arrived at Salamanca on the 1ſt of September.

I have received information that a diviſion of five corps are moving towards General Baliaſteros at Ayamonte; but that General had retired to Iſla de Canellas, not far from the Guardiana, while the enemy continued at Ayamonte; but as the transports had arrived to conduct Gen. Baliaſteros and his troops, I ſuppoſe they now muſt have left Ayamonte.

According to advices received from Coſta de Sueſte, forwarded me by Mr. Wellefley, it appears that the Spaniſh army of the Kingdom of Murcia retired about the beginning of Auguſt to its poſition at Lores, and that one of the diviſions of the army had ſuffered a repulſe in their retreat from the enemy.

I have juſt received a letter dated he 1ſt inſt. from Gen. Silveira, by which I learn that General Abbadia had retired in the beſt order from Banez, and Ponte de O'Diligo, and was preparing again to occupy his former poſitions in front of Alſorga.

ELVAL, Sept. 6.

Soult in the beginning of Auguſt entered Grenada with 14,000 infantry, and 2000 cavalry, attacked the troops of Freire and Blake. From accounts from the interior of Andaluſia, we learn that the Spaniards with very little loſs remained maſters of he field.

MANCHA, Aug. 25.

On the 13th inſt. General Soult with 20,000 men attacked the army of Friere and Blake cloſe to Lorca, and was repulſed with great loſs.

On the 17th, a diviſion of the count Montijo attacked 4 Pol regiments and entirely deſtroyed them.

6th.—As the Spaniſh army was retiring from Aſtorga, it was twice attacked by the enemy, who, being repulſed took to flight moſt ſhamefully, and was purſued by the Spaniards.

In a letter from Maj. Gen. Pieton to Major Von Arentschildt, of the artillery, (which we cannot copy on account of its length) we read of the great praiſes beſtowed on the Portuguese forces for their conduct in the battles of the 3d, and 5th, begging them to receive and preſent to the officers and ſoldiers his thanks for their behavior on thoſe occaſions.—Lisbon Gazette.

The following may be true, but the account in the Newburg papers is the firſt notice we had of the circumſtance,

NEWBURGH, Oct. 29.

A Female Pirate.—On Monday, the 21ſt inſt. a female, who at preſent commands a French privateer on our coaſt went to the Mechanic Bink, in the city of New York, and depoſited a large quantity of doubloons and other ſpecie, for ſafety. Whether this property had been robbed from American citizens or not we cannot ſay. The lady was of a maſculine appearance, tall, robuſt, and ſuperbly dreſſed. Her huſband had ſacrificed his life and fortune while proſecuting the ſame buſineſs. We have this information from a gentleman of the firſt reſpectability, who ſaw her depoſit the money.

By the ſhip San Joſef, from St. Salvador, (Brazils) which place ſhe left the 8th of Sept. we learn, that a conſiderable body of Portugueſe troops and militia had marched from Rio Grande, to relieve Montivedeo.

A curious Fact.—In digging a well in Alfteo, (N. H.) on the hill near the Meeting houſe, the workmen had dug about nine feet through a hard gravel or pan, when they came to a hard blue clay, intermixed with ſtones and gravel; after digging five feet therein, a lump of clay was taken up in which was enciſed a ſmall brown ſnake with a red belly, and a white ſtripe round his neck, with a ſmall ſnake in his mouth—when expoſed to the air, diſcovered evident ſigns of life, which was witneſſed by ſeveral ſpectators.

Halifax, Oct. 23.

His Excellency Lieutenant General Sir John Coape Sherbrooke, Governor of Nova Scotia, arrived in the Maſilla, together with Lady Sherbrooke, Miſs Sherbrooke, Miſs Addiſon, Capt. Addiſon, as Military Secretary; capt. Blackall and Mr. Otter, Aids de camps.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 25.

We have accounts from Governor Harriſon as late as the 6th inſtant. He was then encamped, with about 3000 men, on the Wabaſh, 70 miles above Vincennes, where he intended building a fort—after which, it was ſuppoſed, he would move on towards the Prophet's town.

Pittsfield. Oct. 26.

Died in this town, yeſterday morning, of hydrophobia, Miſs Dorcas Buſh, daughter of the late Mr. Gideon Buſh, of Waſhington, aged nineteen years. She was bit in the arm by a mad cat the 5th of Sept. laſt, but had no ſymptoms of that dreadful diſorder until Monday laſt, the 25th inſtant. We are informed that her mother Mrs. Buſh, was bitten at the ſame time.

Counterfeiters.—The Rev. Freeman Killingsworth, a magiſtrate of Johnſon County, was apprehended laſt week, on a charge of counterfeiting ſilver dollars. Search being made, a Monkey (or mould in which dollars are ſtamped) was found in his cheſt, and ſome other diſcoveries made.—There is great reaſon to believe that this man and Benj. Clark of this county, and we lament to ſay, many others in different counties (ſome of whom, as a cloak to their villainy, are preachers of the Goſpel) are concerned in counterfeiting. Killingsworth was bailed in four thouſand dollars to appear at the next Johnſton Superior Court.

Naſhville, Oct. 13.

A report has reached town, by a gentleman from Shelbyville, that a courier from Colonel Joſeph H. Daviess, of Kentucky, to the Governor, ſtates he had a rencounter with the Indians on the Wabaſh. He commanded 800 mounted dragoons, and on their approach, the Indians 1500 ſtrong, fired on him and killed 15 of his men. A charge was immediately made on the Indians, and victory enſued, leaving 200 killed on the field of battle. The Indians fired but once and diſperſed.

FRENCH FINANCE.

The Paris papers contain a tranſlation of M. Regnaud's report to the French finances, for 1811; we ſubjoin the following account of what is called in France the Cadaſtre, with which we have been favored by a correſpondent. It is a meaſure, he obſerves, which is little underſtood in England, but which is likely to effect an important change in the financial ſyſtem of France.

The Cadaſtre is a ſurvey by actual admeaſurement of every parith, nay, of every field in France, for the purpoſe of aſcertaining the exact proportion of land tax which each land owner or farmer is to pay. The land is afterwards valued by a kind of jury, taken from among the pariſhioners; and a plan of the pariſh, with the valuation of each field, is ſent to the Miniſter of Finances. One copy of it is given to the Head of the Department, and another remains with the Mayor of the pariſh.

This Cadaſtre is not an invention of the preſent Government of France, the idea originated long before the revolution, with a ſect of theoretical ſtateſmen, known under the name of Economiſts; and who, although well-meaning men, contributed powerfully to the fall of the monarchy, by the prevalency their theories had obtained. A leading tenet of thoſe philoſophers was, that agriculture alone was really productive to the ſtate; it followed of courſe, that the ſtate was to look exclufively to it for its ſupport; but in their romantic notions of juſtice, the burden they thus laid inadvertantly on the agriculture they with ed to foſter, would not be equally ſupported by all, unleſs an actual ſurvey and valuation of all the lands ſhould actually take place. So prevalent were thoſe ideas in France at the beginning of this revolution, that moſt of the aſſem, or written inſtructions given to the Deputies of the National Convention by their conſtituents, contained a recommendation of the Cadaſtre.

Bonaparte thus found the idea thoroughly eſtabliſhed; and ſoon diſcerned the advantages he might derive from it. The Cadaſtre will put every acre of land in France as completely at his diſpoſal, as the laws of the Conſcription mark every man for his ſoldier. When in want of ſupplies he will have only to calculate how much an additional leanc on each acre will produce, and a decree will ſettle the buſineſs. The increaſe of revenue he will thus acquire will be as ſudden as it will be great; for it is well known, that in the pariſhes already aſſeſſed according to the Cadaſtre, land has been eſtimated at the value it had in 1790, and the tax laid accordingly; whereas the fact is, that in thoſe diſtricts the leaſt injured by the Conſtiuental ſyſtem, the value of land has ſince that period fallen one half, and much more in thoſe parts where the produce of the land was chiefly intended for foreign markets.

It appears that the new ſyſtem, which will afford ſuch reſources to the enemy, is to be put in activity in the year 1813. As the epoch the French ſyſtem of taxation is, as ſtated by M. Regnaud, to extend to Holland; it may be concluded, therefore, that the whole empire will be under the ſame regulations.

Royal Cargo,

his Majeſty Louis Bonaparte, late King of Holland, has arrived at Baltimore, with a cargo of gold to the value of FOUR MILLIONS of dollars. This rumor, we have traced to the following letter, received by this morning's mail, from a very reſpectable gentleman in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Oct. 31, 1811.

The following is a copy of a note which I have this moment received from Baltimore :—

"It is currently reported and believed by many, that Louis Bonaparte has fled ſrom Holland and has with him Four Millions of dollars in Gold."

An American ſhip from Bordeaux to N. York, having on board, (beſide brandies) cases of dollars in bulk, and five cases of gold watches, was captured on the Coaſt of France, about the 8th of Sept. by the Britiſh brig Piercer. She was ſaid to be conſigned to a French houſe in New York, by a French houſe in B.

From the Baltimore Sun.

We have been obligingly favoured with Caraccas papers to September the 27th, from which we have made the following tranſlation.

CARACCAS, Sept. 21.

Extract of a letter from Santa Fee, dated Auguſt 7th by which we have the following information—

"The affairs of Popayana go on well, and the laſt diviſion of the troops which are marching againſt the tyrant Tacon, has left that city. A part of them went by Almagner, and a part by Petia, to occupy the point of Castigo, and thence be ſecuring the communication with the forces of Quito which are in Tulcan, to attack the Sittap. But I believe there will be no neceſſity either to fire a gun, or for the troops to proceed as far Paſto, ſince every body knows that Tacon is extremely frightened, is without troops or arms, and without the auxiliaries which he hoped for from Panama, Guayaquil and Lima; and in this ſtate, he is very orderly, and gives way to the ſtrong remonſtrances which the Cabildo of Popayan make him, in order that he ſhall deliver up the arms and effects which he carried off with him in his flight, and promiſe him that they will ſend him his wife and children, in order that he may depart without the dangers to which he is threatened by any other mode. A note which he wrote to his wife, diſcovers that he is ſtruck with amazement, and moreover, we know that his agent Balverde, holds in readineſs for him a ſhip in the port of Pumaco.

Although the communication with Quito is ſtill interrupted by Pasco, we learn by a brigantine arrived at the port of San Buenaventura, that a great revolution has takeu place in Lima—that the Vice Roy Abascal has fled, and that they have eſtabliſhed a Supreme Junta of government on the ſame principle as that Caraccas and Santa Fee. This has reſulted from the approximation of the troops of Buenos Ayres, and in the good diſpoſition exiſting in the temper of the Peruvians. This ſucceſs is very important, not only because it will tend to conſolidate the liberty of South America, but likewiſe, by communicating thro' Acapulco with Mexico, will animate the Mexicans more, and give them more courage againſt their intruſive vizirs.

Likewiſe the news of the revolution in Guayaquil is confirmed by the ſame channel; and it is poſitively known that Gov. Navarro, immediately after he arrived in that city, began to make churches againſt feveral of the principal inhabitants. He ſummoned thirty of them in one day, but they reſiſted, denying his authority. The governor then put the troops under arms, and marched them into the square, where they declared for the people; the ſhip carpenters united with the troops, and the governor was killed by the throat of a pike through his bowels.

Don Jacinto Vejarano was nominated his ſucceſſor, and a junta was eſtabliſhed. By theſe occurrences, you may conjecture what will be the fate of the pseudo preſident Molina, ſince he is now befet on all ſides, and even deprived of Guayaquil, whence he obtained all his ſuccours, and where he conſtantly retired in neceſſity. Without doubt, my friend, Providence wiſhes to ſave us, and will ſignalize the 11th century with the eſtabliſhment of the liberty of all America."

DECREE OF THE SPANISH CORTES.

1. The mediation offered by Great Britain, for the purpoſe of conciliating the Provinces of America, is accepted.

2. The indiſpenſible baſis muſt be, the ſubmiſſion of the Provinces to acknowledge and ſwear allegiance to the Cortes and Government, and to name Deputies who ſhall repreſent them in the ſaid Cortes, and ſhall incorporate themſelves with the other Repreſentatives of the Nation.

3. That all hoſtilities ſhall be reciprocally ſuſpended, and all perſons, of either party, who are priſoners, ſhall be let free.

4. That the pretenſions of the Provinces at variance with the Mother Country (deſidentes) ſhall be heard, and attention paid to them as far as juſtice will permit.

5. At the expiration of 8 months from the commencement of the negociation, or ſooner if poſſible, a report of the progreſs of it ſhall be made to the Spaniſh Government.

6. Great Britain ſhall be permitted, during the negociation, to trade with the ſaid provinces, it being left with the Cortes to conſider whether they ſhall be admitted to a ſhare of the trade with all the Provinces of America.

7. The negociation muſt be concluded within ſixteen months.

8. If, at the expiration of that time, it is not accompliſhed, Great Britain ſhall ſuſpend all intercourſe with the Provinces at variance with Spain, and ſhall aſſiſt the Mother Country in bringing them back to their duty.

9. The Government, in its anſwer to the Engliſh Miniſter, ſhall previouſly explain to him the motives which have induced it to accept the mediation, and to preſerve its honor.

The Decree of the Spaniſh Cortes of the 5th of Auguſt, contains many (eleven in all) wiſe, humane, and ſalutary proviſions, equally eſſential to the general proſperity of the community as honorable to the patriotiſm of the Cortes and advantageous to the rights and liberties of the people. The Juriſdictional Seigniories are abolithed, and merged in the authority of the Crown. All magiſtrates and functionaries are placed on the ſame footing as to appointments with thoſe in the townſhips of Royal juriſdiction. All ſuch appointments, hereafter than in place of Royal juriſdiction, are ſuppreſſed from the date of the decree. All excluſive rights of chaſe, fiſhing, ovens, mills, water-courſes, foreſts, &c. are aboliſhed, and the free uſe of theſe rights is to remain to the people, where the excluſive rights have been purchaſed, the nation is to indemnify the purchaſer, who is to have three per cent intereſt till the money be paid; and though laſt not leaſt, "Henceforward no one can call himſelf Lord of Vaſſals, exercise juriſdiction, appoint Judges, or exercise any of the claims and privileges comprehended in the decree; loſs of its previous proviſions having totally aboliſhed the relation of Lord and Vaſſal, and converted all contracts and agreements between them for rents, dues, &c. into contracts, as between one individual and another.

From the Bennington News Letter.

TANNERS, TAKE NOTICE!

It was mentioned in a Bennington paper, about one year ago, that a new method of tanning leather of all kinds had been diſcovered in this town.

The principles of this new ſyſtem of Tanning was diſcovered by Alexander H. Avery, for which he has lately obtained a patent under the ſeal of the United States. His patent he ſays, "I find that ſheep ſkins can be tanned in 12 or 16 hours—Calf ſkins from about 24 to 50 hours after being deprived of their hair—Upper leather from 3 to 5 days—and ſoal leather from 5 to 15 or 20 days, according to the thickneſs of the hide." He ſays this time is generally allowed for a cold ſolution of Tanning; but by being heated will tan ſomething ſhort of that time. His leather has been tried and is ſaid to be of the very beſt kind. He ſtates that his method of tanning is calculated for a great ſaving of labour and other contingent expences. In his method of tanning, he is not at the uſual expence of ſinking vats in the ground, which is very expenſive; he tans either in large tubs or ſquare vats fixed out of the ground.

The Cardinal in Hell.

The celebrated Michael Angelo, having received ſome inſult from one of the Cardinals of Rome, in revenge painted a moſt ſtriking likeneſs of his enemy, and placed him among the damned, ſuffering the torments of hell —The fatire had its effect. It was a topic of general admiration and merriment. The Cardinal, ſtung with the bitterneſs of caricature, complained to his Holineſs. Pope Leo was too much a lover of the fine arts to gratify the Cardinal's deſire, and therefore told him he had it not in his power to puniſh the offender. "If," ſaid he, "the inſult had been laid to heaven or the earth, or even to purgatory, I could perhaps have redreſſed you, for I have ſomething to ſay in all thoſe places; but I have no intereſt in hell."

THE YORK GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 27.

By the Gloucester, which arrived here on Tuesday evening laſt from Niagara, we have received the following :

BOSTON, Nov. 4.

Lateſt from Portugal.—Yeſterday we received Lisbon papers to the 28th of Sept, by the brig Coromandel, Capt. Meſſervy.

We do not find in them any letters from the Grand Armies, nor any information of any movements thereto.

The verbal accounts is ſtate, that nothing had occurred in the armies.

One of the papers contains Preſident Madiſon's proclamation for convening Congreſs; and the editor conjectures, that one of the ſubjects to which the attention of Congreſs will be called, will be the intercourſe of American commerce to Spain & Portugal: and that as the American trade to S.. Domingo was interdicted on the demand of France: that the ſubmiſſion to her influence will extend to the trade to the Peninſula.

The papers contain numerous accounts of affairs of attacks and defences by the various partizan patriotic corps in Spain. The hatred of theſe devoted patriots to Frenchmen had been (very naturally) increaſed to its higheſt fury by the murders and atrocities which the blood-drinkers of France had perpetrated in all the diſtricts which oppoſed their inroads: Thins, Lunga, Morlot, (Empecinado) Sanchez, Mantilo, and others, continued at the head of their deſperate corps, and daily made great numbers of the French ſacrhments find their ſepulchres. The Engliſh continued liberally to ſupply them with arms, ammunition, &c.

Gen. Ballieſteros was at Algeciras, where the French were ſuppoſed to make an attack, and he made preparations to repel it.

Marſhal Beresford had his head quarters near Lisbon; from whence he was ſending reinforcements to the Portuguese army.

The grand army is ſtationed in Portugal in two large columns, the firſt under Lord Wellington, has 29,000 infantry and 4000 cavalry, in front of Almeida; the 2d column, under Gen. Hill, has 15,000 infantry, and 2,500 cavalry, forming a line from Elvas to Caſtello Branco; each column ſtrong in artillery. The Portuguese troops under Gen. Beresford, are now well diſciplined, and commanded by Britiſh officers; they have no ſmooth in cavalry, but their infantry, &c. ſtand in the field, is 62,000; and ten regiments of riflemen are now raiſed, &c. which are by far the moſt uſeful troops on account of the rocky and mountainous ſtate of the country.

DIED, This morning at his quarters near the Garriſon, Alexander Marſhal, Serjeant in his Majeſty's Royal Artillery, ſincerely and deſervedly regretted by all his acquaintance.

In the name of his Majeſty George III. King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The Proclamation in the name of his Britannic Majeſty of the 5th of December, 1810, having announced that by a former Proclamation, the inhabitants of the Iſle of France would be forthwith informed of the way in which the adminiſtration of this iſland would be eſtabliſhed; it is in conſequence decreed at the Iſle of Bourbon as follows:

Art. 1.—All the eccleſiaſtical eſtabliſhments, and thoſe who fill the religious offices, ſhall be preſerved under the Britiſh government, under the ſame laws and regulations which exiſted in the iſland before its ſurrender.

Art. 2.—All eſtabliſhments, as well judicial as thoſe of the police, ſhall be alike preſerved and continued, durante bene placito, under the Britiſh government, on the ſame baſis and rules as before the ſurrender, except with reſpect to the following regulations:

1ſt. All ſentences ſhall be in the name of George III. King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, inſtead of being entitled as heretofore.

2d. All the decrees of the court of appeal eſtabliſhed in the iſland, againſt which perſons might formerly appeal before the ſuperior courts of the government, in France, ſhall be, until further orders, prefented (provided the parties who conſider themſelves aggrieved ſhall be ſo diſpoſed) to the governor of theſe iſlands, who will decide, after he ſhall have ſubmitted them to the Judge and Magiſtrate of the Colony, for his advice and opinion; nevertheleſs, in all caſes where the parties may wiſh to appeal to his Britannic Majeſty in Council, that right is permitted as it formerly exiſted with reſpect to the courts of appeal in France. In no caſe ſhall any cauſe be referred to his Britannic Majeſty, where the judgment ſhall not exceed the ſum of four million pieces of eight.

Art. 3.—John Shaw, Eſq. Batchelor of Laws, Licenciate and Advocate, has been appointed and commiſſioned Judge and Magiſtrate for this iſland and its dependencies.

Art. 4.—All complaints, except for military offences, which can be brought againſt ſubjects of his Britannic Majeſty, not already ſubmitted to the laws of the colony, ſhall, till further orders be ſubmitted by the complainants without further delay, to the Judge and Magiſtrate, who will hear and examine the complaint, and make his report to the Governor, who will determine on its merits.

Art. 5.—All the inhabitants of this iſland may and will enjoy the ſame privileges in reſpect to commerce, as are and ſhall be legally enjoyed by his Britannic Majeſty's other ſubjects; all perſons deſiring it ſhall be informed of the rules, regulations, and reſtrictions which exiſt relative to commerce, as well as thoſe who ſhall be, to this end, addreſſed to the Tribunals, and depoſited at the Cuſtom-houſes which are or ſhall be eſtabliſhed in the colony.

Art. 6.—All the public Functionaries formerly employed to make reports, will continue to do ſo, from time to time, to the heads of their Departments, who, when ſubmitted to the Governor, will take care to be well acquainted with the ſituation of the colony, as was the cuſtom under the French government.

Art. 7.—Whenever in other parts of the Adminiſtration, not hitherto mentioned, Government ſhall pleaſe to make the neceſſary appointments, it will be invariably determined in its choice of perſons, whoſe morals, talents, and fidelity ſhall be particularly known.

Art. 8.—The Governor will receive at all times, either in writing, or in perſon, juſt complaints as the inhabitants may have to make, in order to redreſs them.

Laſtly, from the publication of theſe preſents, all perſons ſhall be bound to obey them.

The Governor of the Iſles of France, Bourbon, and their dependencies.

R. T. FARQUHAR.

By order: The Chief Secretary to Government.

A. BARRY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.

From the Combined Armies—late and important—We are indebted to a very reſpectable gentleman of this city, for the following extract of a letter, dated

LISBON, Oct. 6, 1811.

"Lord Wellington had inveſted Cindad Roderigo with his whole army notwithſtanding, which, about the 1ſt of October, Gen. Mortier with 10,000 men, found their paſſage into the town. The next day, a body of 4000 cavalry made a dath on the Engliſh army, and completely deſtroyed a whole light diviſion. Lord Wellington's head quarters were precipitately removed to Guarda, where he remained on the 3d of October; but the combined army was in a few days expected at the lines."

Lateſt from England—The Oroonoke is below, in 32 days from Liverpool. The paſſengers have arrived in a Pilot-boat. We have been favored with the peruſal of a file of London papers to the 29th of September, three days later than we had before received.

A paper of the 28th ſtates, that the affairs of Sicily had lately aſſumed the moſt unfavorable aſpect, and there is every reaſon to ſuppoſe, that ſcenes of the darkeſt complexion in regard to the government of that iſland would very ſpeedily be diſcloſed.—Lord W. Bentinck, whoſe miſſion has been unſucceſsful, has returned to England in the Cephalus frigate. It is ſaid that his Lordſhip left his family in Sicily; hence the inference, that he will ſoon return thither.

It is ſaid in a paper of the 27th, that preparations are making at Rotterdam for the arrival of Bonaparte.

LONDON, Sept. 28.

Windſor Caſtle, Sept. 27.

His Majeſty's ſtate has not varied for the laſt three days.

September 28.

There is every reaſon to believe that the moſt important events are on the eve of taking place on the frontiers of Spain. We have ſeen a letter from an officer of high rank in the army of Lord Wellington, dated at head quarters the 4th inſt. which ſtates that the whole army was then concentrated in the neighbourhood of Ciudad Roderigo, and that the meditated grand operations could not be many days delayed, from the difficulty that muſt naturally be experienced in providing the neceſſary forage for the immenſe number of fine cavalry which had juſt arrived to co-operate in the projected enterprize—the preciſe number of the operations about to be undertaken, the writer does not pretend to be acquainted with—as Lord Wellington never diſcloſes his plans even to thoſe officers moſt in his confidence; but he expreſſes a perſuaſion from the formidable diſpoſition that had been made of our forces that a general engagement would very ſhortly take place. From all that we have been able to learn upon the ſubject, we are inclined to think that the opinion of this officer is perfectly correct—we believe that Lord Wellington is determined to give immediate battle to Marmont, and from the admirable plan he has formed for that purpoſe, there is every reaſonable ground of hope that the reſult will prove alike glorious to the allied arms and ſubſtantially beneficial to the common cauſe.

September 29.

A privy council is expected to be holden at the Treaſury Chambers on Tueſday next, for the further prorogation of Parliament till the 13th of Nov. to aſſemble then for the diſpatch of public buſineſs. The urgent neceſſity of additional ſupplies is ſtated as the ground acknowledged by Miniſters for the adoption of this meaſure. The Prince Regent is expected to preſide in perſon at the Council.

The Weſt India Coffee Planters would be very materially benefitted by the adoption of a meaſure which has been ſuggeſted by their agent for the conſideration of miniſters.—namely, to direct the general conſumption of coffee in the navy, and to grant permiſſion for its exportation from the colonies in neutral ſhipping, in return for ſupplies imported in ſuch veſſels.

The conduct of the Sicilian Court is not difficult to be accounted for—the Queen of Sicily is aunt to the Emperor of Auſtria; and the Emperor of Auſtria is father-in-law to Bonaparte.

Our letters of yeſterday, we regret to ſtate, furniſh a melancholy catalogue of ſhipwrecks cauſed by the ſevere equinoxial gales which have prevailed during the laſt three days.

Within the laſt few days the following arms and military ſtores have been ſent from the Tower, to be ſhipped for Malta and Spain:—15,000 ſtand of arms, 3,000,000 ball cartridges, 3,000 bbls. powder, 50 tons lead, one ſhip load rockets, 2000 piſtols, 94 pieces braſs ordnance, 2000 fabics, and 20,000 pikes.

A mail from Anholt arrived yeſterday.—The Ex King of Sweden has arrived at Altona, from whence in all probability, he will proceed to join his family in Switzerland. From Stockholm, we learn, that only one of the murderers of Count Feizen has been ſentenced to ſuffer death; the others are to receive very ſlight puniſhment.

Extract of a letter from Archangel, dated September 11, 1811, to a mercantile houſe in this city—"To judge from appearances, it is not improbable there may be a broil on the Continent. This country, it is ſaid, have 350,000 men under arms on the frontiers; and if Napoleon has leiſure from Spain and Portugal, he will, in all probability, attempt to enforce the ſame meaſures in this country, in which he has ſucceeded in almoſt all others of the Continent; and, as Ruſſia will not ſubmit with out a conteſt, we may date the termination of the preſent peace whenever Spain or Portugal ſhall be evacuated or ſubdued."

Captain Anderſon, arrived at Philadelphia from Cadiz, informs, that on the evening of the 24*th of September an embarkation of troops took place at Cadiz, and under the eſcort of* 18 gun boats, had ſailed for Rota, a French poſt about ſeven miles north of Cadiz, and before he got clear of Cadiz Bay, he heard the action commence, but did not learn the iſſue.

Glaſgow, Sept. 19.

Further Conflagrations on the Continent.—Scarcely a mail has arrived from the continent during the laſt nine months which has not brought an account of ſome calamity peculiar to the ſeaſon, overwhelming the inhabitants of particular towns and diſtricts. Through the ageucy of tempeſts, heavy rains, and accidental fires, great loſſes have been ſuſtained; and we have to add to them freſh recitals.—The exceſſive heats of July have occaſioned the conflagration of ſeveral foreſts in the Tyrol, with the conſequent deſtruction of 64 villages and hamlets, ſituated in their vicinity, and of the loſs of near 10,000 head of cattle. The principal foreſt, which has thus been deſtroyed, is Blamneg, of about ſeven miles in extent, and three in breadth, and diſtant three leagues from Inſpruck. It caught fire on the 26th July, and has not ceaſed burning on the 4th of Auguſt. Near 24,000 peaſants had been deprived of habitations, by theſe conflagrations, which had occaſioned likewiſe an epedemic that carried off great numbers daily.

In addition to the accounts of dreadful conflagrations, elſewhere, we have, in one of our letters, intelligence that the town of Kloff, the capital of the Ukraine, has been almoſt entirely deſtroyed by fire.—Several hundred people loſt their lives, and about 3000 houſes were conſumed.—The loſs is calculated at 15 millions of roubles.

In Sileſia, Poland, and Ruſſian Lithuania, the extreme heat, unaccompanied by the leaſt rain, for near two months, has entirely deſtroyed the hopes of the huſbandman. The fields of wheat, oats, and barley, have been burnt up. The meadows are withered, and the brooks have diſappeared; the trees are defpoiled of their leaves, and the earth rendered ſo hard that they cannot work it. They have offered public prayers for rain. Several villages have been reduced to aſhes by the lightning, because the inhabitants had no water wherewith to extinguiſh the flames.

Lutatia (Germany) July 23.

Yeſterday was a dreadful day for this town; after a long continuance of hot weather a fire broke out with the wind blowing ſtrong to the eaſtward, and which ſpread ſo rapidly that within the ſpace of two hours 125 houſes were laid in aſhes. The flames raged ſo dreadfully that ſeveral people loſt their lives in attempting to ſave their beſt effects.

Bohemia, Auguſt 14.

The 1ſt of Auguſt was a dreadful and lamentable day for the inhabitants of the town of Peesnitz in the circle of Saatz.—At eleven o'clock in the forenoon a fire broke out in the houſe of the tanner Mr. Grana Hahn, ſituated in the centre of the town, which, notwithſtanding every exertion made, ſpread around us with ſo much fury, that by five o'clock, 314 houſes out of 368, of which the town conſiſted, were a prey to the flames. Among theſe are the church, the vicarage, and the town of Archive.—Nine perſons loſt their lives, and many others are ſo much hurt, that no hopes are entertained of their recovery. A woman, far advanced in pregnancy, was ſuffocated in a cellar, with three of her children, having fled there for ſafety.

The affair of the Cheſapeake ſettled.

MR. FOSTER TO MR. MONROE.

SIR,

I had already the honor to mention to you that I came to this country furniſhed with inſtructions from His Royal Highneſs the prince Regent, in the name and on the behalf of His Majeſty, for the purpoſe of proceeding to a final adjuſtment of the differences which have ariſen between Great Britain and the United States in the affair of the Cheſapeake frigate, I have the honor to acquaint you—Firſt, that I am inſtructed to repeat to the American government the prompt diſavowal made by his Majeſty (and received in Mr. Erſkine's note of April 17 1809, to Mr. Smith) on being apprized of the unauthorized act of the officer in command of his naval forces on the coaſt of America, whoſe recal from a highly important and honorable command immediately enſued as a mark of his Majeſty's diſapprobation.

Secondly, that I am authoriſed to offer, in addition to that diſavowal on the part of his Royal Highneſs, the immediate reſtoration as far as circumſtances will admit, of the men who in conſequence of Admiral Berkeley's orders were forcibly taken out of the Cheſapeake to the veſſel from which they were taken; or if that veſſel ſhould be no longer in commiſſion, to ſuch ſeaport of the United States as the American government may name for the purpoſe.

Thirdly, that I am alſo authoriſed to offer to the American government a ſuitable pecuniary proviſion for the ſufferers in conſequence of the attack on the Cheſapeake, including the families of thoſe ſeamen who unfortunately fell in the action, and of the wounded ſurvivors.

Theſe honorable propoſitions, I can aſſure you ſir, are made with the ſincere deſire that they may prove ſatisfactory to the government of the United States, and I truſt they will meet with that amicable reception which their conciliatory nature entitles them to. I need ſcarcely add how cordially I join with you in the wiſh that they might prove introductory to a removal of all differences depending between our two countries.

I have the honor to be &c.

AUG. J. FOSTER.

The Hon. James Monroe, &c. &c. &c.

MR. MONROE TO MR. FOSTER.

November 12, 1811.

SIR—I have had the honor to receive your letter of the 1ſt November, and to lay it before the Preſident.

It is much to be regretted that the ſeparation due to ſuch an aggreſſion as that committed on the United S. frigate the Cheſapeake ſhould have been ſo long delayed; nor could the tranſlation of the offending officer from one command to another, be regarded as conſtituting a part of a reparation otherwiſe ſatisfactory; conſidering however the exiſting circumſtances of the caſe, and the early and amicable attention paid to it by his Royal Highneſs the Prince Regent, the Preſident accedes to the propoſition contained in your letter, and in ſo doing your government will, I am perſuaded ſee a proof of the conciliatory diſpoſition by which the Preſident has been actuated.

The officer commanding the Cheſapeake now lying in the harbor of Boſton, will be inſtructed to receive the men who are to be reſtored to that ſhip.

I have the honor to be &c. &c.

JAS. MONROE.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in St. Albans to a friend in this City, dated 6th Nov. 1811.

"A melancholy circumſtance took place on Sunday laſt at Alburg;—two men from this town, (Meſſrs. Minor Hilliard and Harrington Brooks) had been to St. Johns with produce which they by exchanging, procured eight or nine buſhels of ſalt for their own and three other families, and were returning home in a ſkiff. They were diſcovered early in the morning, by the Cuſtom houſe officers who immediately purſued them and in the courſe of the chaſe fired ſeveral guns (as they ſay) loaded only with powder; after which Mr. Buel (the collector) loaded a double barrell'd gun with Buck ſhot gave it to one Walker with directions to Hail and Fire. Four men were in the Government Cutter and only two in the loaded Skiff, which enabled the cutter to overtake the ſkiff with eaſe; and as was very natural to ſuppoſe, Brooks and Hilliard were for preſerving their property as long as poſſible, did not ſtop on being hailed by Walker, upon which Walker fired and ſhot Brooks in the left breaſt in ſuch a manner that he inſtantly died.

The Coroners inqueſt was wilful murder by Walker, Walker immediately after the transaction abſconded. Hilliard was permited to proceed with the corps; and that part of the ſalt that belonged to Brooks was carried (thro' humanity we ſuppoſe) to the widow and children of the murdered.

We underſtand that Buel has been committed to Jail as acceſſory; but was ſet at liberty by giving bail.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Louiſville, (Ken.) to a gentle man in this city, dated Oct. 22.

"I have nothing new to give you, except that Gov. Harriſon has made a requiſition of about 1000 militia of this ſtate, before the arrival of which he will not leave his preſent quarters on the Wabaſh. The prophet and his party threaten him with an attack if he proceeds any further into his claimed territory, which the Governor is determined to attempt, and erect a garriſon on the northern line of the late purchaſe, made of the Indians in the fall of 1808. Gen. Wells will command the militia."

QUEBEC, Oct. 24.

This city was viſited on Saturday evening, the 12th inſtant, with the ſeverest gale of Eaſterly Wind which has been experienced here for many years. The weather in the courſe of the day on saturday, had been unuſually warm for the ſeaſon, with weſterly wind and ſome rain; in the evening it became almoſt calm, and the ſurface of the ground was covered with a fog apparently riſing out of the earth; about dusk the wind came ſud denly from the north eaſt and continued to blow with the greateſt fury till late in the afternoon of the next day, when it changed to the weſt; from which quarter it blew very hard the whole of the night.

The damage ahore is but triffling; but in the harbor conſiderable.

MONTREAL, Oct. 28.

——On Friday laſt in the Armoury ſhop of Mr. Gollelin, a labourer of the name of Poitra, about 48 years of age, was mortally wounded by a piſtol which was ſent th——— or repair.

The young man was carried it was hewing one of the muſkets what ſer pair was wanting——miſtook the piſtol for its fellow, knapped it, when it went off and ſhot Mr. Poitra a bayſtander through the body. No criminality is attached to the accident, but it is hoped that a ſtatement of it will create a caution in other people.

A letter received at Boſton from Halifax ſtates, that five perſons, calling themſelves Americans, are now confined in priſon, at that place, as priſoners of war, having been taken in the French Privateer brig Adele, captured off Chatelton, a few months ſince. By their own confeſſion, they entered voluntarily on board, but aſſert the plea, that they preſumed the was a merchant man, and were allured by the high wages offered them. Application was mace to Admiral Sawyer for their releaſe, but without effect; the Admiral obſerving, "that had they been impreſſed from American veſſels, he would not detain them after an application was made for their enlargement; but the ſubject of a neutral nation who would voluntarily enliſt under the flag of the common enemy of mankind, to aſſiſt him in his unlawful depredations on the property of their own countrymen, & againſt the only nation that is fighting the battles of the world, ought not to go unpuniſhed."

A gentleman having a pad that darted and broke his wife's neck, a neighboring ſquire told him he wiſhed to purchaſe him for his wife to ride upon. "No, ſays the other, I ſhall not ſell the little fellow, becauſe I intend to marry again my ſelf."

Story of a remarkable Beggar.

A Beggar, to all appearance maimed and miſerable, though in reality a hale fellow, but rather inclined to lazineſs, took his ſtand in Aldersgate ſtreet, London, where he aſked charity from all paſſengers for many years.—There was ſomething ſo winning in the fellow's addreſs, that he was rarely unſucceſsful in procuring ſomething from the paſſers by. Among others, one gentleman, a humane merchant, who paſſed every day through that ſtreet, conſtantly and without failure every morning, after hearing the charity whine, gave ſome ſmall matter.—At laſt the merchant diſappeared and was not ſeen in the ſtreet for ſeveral months. After a while the beggar happened to fall in with his old benefactor, dreſſed rather ſhabbily. He immediately enquired the cauſe of his not having walked his wonted way for ſo long a time. Ah! Mr. Lazarus, ſaid the merchant, I met with ſome loſſes at ſea; my veſſels were taken; my credit was gone, and I no longer would come your way. Sir, ſaid the beggar, how much money would ſet you aſloat again? Why, Lazarus, I believe about one thouſand pounds might put me forward again in a ſmall way. The beggar inſtantly ſtepped into an adjacent houſe, and brought out a parcel of notes to that amount. There, ſir, ſaid he, take the reward of your former charity towards me. If you can ever repay me, it is well; if not you muſt not trouble your head about the matter, your trade may turn out unſucceſsful, but I can always beg.

Lateſt Intelligence.

London Sep. 29.

Murat had lately made ſome movements with the Neapolitan troops, which indicated a deſign to make a new attempt on Sicily. General Maitland commands the Britiſh on the iſland.

In conſequence of the arrival of Lord Bentinck, all the Miniſters were ſummoned to attend a cabinet council.

Immenſe ſhipments of all kinds of military ſtores have been recently made from England to Spain.

It is reported the French continue to march into Spain reinforcements for their armies—and forward large quantities of proviſions.

The French privateers continue to take Sweditſh veſſels, and to carry them into Daniſh ports. They ſay they conform to their inſtructions.

The French requiſitions on the inhabitants of St. Sebaſtians, is ſaid to amount to 50 per cent on their incomes. Some eſtates are taxed at more than they will rent for.

There is an embargo in the French ports ſuppoſed to indicate that the Scheldt fleet of 21 ſail of the line, is about to put to ſea. We hope no neutral veſſels will be met by theſe friends.

His Majeſty's bodily health had rather improved.

The Britiſh parliament was not to meet till the 13th of November.

Little expectation was entertained in England that the orders in council would be repealed.

The general conſumption of coffee in the newy, and its exportation from the colonies by neutrals, is recommended in the London papers.

BOSTON, Nov. 19.

Latest from Portugal—Yeſterday arrived at this port the ſhip Tartar, Capt. Scott, in 29 days from Liſbon, and brought papers to the 13th ult. No new event of great importance had occurred; but in ſeveral parts of Spain, and on the frontiers of Portugal, there were military movements which indicated that active operations were about to be recommenced.

The late Liſbon papers contains no diſpatches from Lord Wellington.

A letter from Liſbon of Oct. 16, mentions, that the price of corn was 4oors. per alquer. About a dollar per bushel.

The ſhip Cordelia, Conner has arrived at Philadelphia, from the iſle of France and Batavia, having touched at the latter port for ſupplies.—Left brig Fox, of Philadelphia diſcharging.—The Cordelia was from Teneriffe for Batavia, but was turned off by a Britiſh blockading Squadron, and was informed that the Governor had burnt the city, and had retired into the interior with the troops and inhabitants.

Inſurrection at Guadaloupe.—By the arrival yeſterday morning of the brig Aheons, capt. Watson, in 18 days from St. Croix, we learn, that an intended inſurrection at Guadaloupe has been lately diſcovered and the leaders arreſted and ſecured. The ſcheme was planned by two Frenchmen, who at the time the iſland was ſurrendered to the Britiſh, were permitted to remain on their parole of honor without taking the oath of Allegiance. One of theſe, Mons. Davite, a Merchant of high ſtanding at Point-Petre, was to have been in caſe of ſucceſs, the Governor of the iſland, and the other, who was formerly an Aid to Ernough, was to have been the Military Chieftain.

The Inſurgents had been ſecretly ſupplied with five thouſand ſtand of arms by Merchants at St. Bartholomews. It is ſaid, that the plan was thoroughly organized, and every part of it in readineſs for execution; and about an hour before the general slaughter was to have commenced, a violent diſpute aroſe between the two civil and militar leaders, which diſarmed them of their diſcretion, and led to a diſcovery of the plot.—Theſe particulars were received at St. Croix, on the 31ſt. of October, by a Packet from St. Thomas.

By the arrival at this port of the ſloop Contractor, J. Baird, maſter, from Chicaugon, information is received of much damage having been done among the ſhipping on the Lake, in the late ſtorms. The ſloop Commencement has loſt her cables & anchors. The ſchooner Amelia, lying near the Cuyahoga, parted her cables and was driven down by the gale. The ſchooners Catharine and Mary, have it is ſaid, alſo ſuſtained ſome injury. The packet of Cuyahoga, Luther Chapin, maſter, has not been heard from, and fears are entertained that ſhe is loſt. LEXINGTON, (K.) Oct. 26.

Lateſt intelligence from the Army on the Wabaſh.

We have had a converſation with Mr. Armſtrong, a gentleman from this neighbourhood, of undoubted veracity, who left the encampment of the army on the Wabath, on the 13th inſtant. Mr. Armſtrong ſtates, that the army had commenced building the fort and had erected ſeveral piquets, and had railed two block-houſes about 10 feet above the foundation; that they had timber ſufficient to complete them, which would be done in a few days. The army conſiſted of about 15,00 men. Colonel Boyd commanded about 400 regulars. Col. Decker, about 600 riflemen. Col. Juleph H. Daviels commanded about 200 cavalry well equipped—the balance of the army were compoſed of companies, who acted as ſcouting parties. On the night of the 10th inſt. one of the centinels (a regular) was fired on by an Indian and shot through both thighs; but the wound was preſumed not mortal. It was believed there were but a few Indians near the encampment, and they were in ſmall ſcouting parties. The troops were well ſupplied with every thing neceſſary for a campaign, and were in very good health. Two of the regulars had died, owing to their being ſo much expoſed on water, in deſcending the Ohio, and being on the Wabaſh.

Governor Harriſon will march againſt the Prophet's towns, which are about 70 miles beyond the fort, as ſoon as he receives a reinforcement from Indiana, and this ſtate. The governor thinks about 500 men in addition to his preſent number will be an adequate force to contend with the Prophet. Mr. Armſtrong could give us no information of the probable amount of the Prophet's forces. There were five deputies or chiefs from the nations that are friendly to the whites in council with the Governor, whilſt Mr. Armſtrong was there; they expreſſed the moſt unequivocal attachment to the whites, and obſerved that the Prophet had made conſiderable efforts to render them hoſtile, but that they had uniformly rejected his overtures and would continue to do ſo as long as the whites treated them with the ſame friendſhip they hitherto had done.

It is likewiſe ſtated that Governor Harriſon had requeſted permiſſion to raiſe a few troops in our ſtate, which requeſt we preſume has been granted, as Mr. Armſtrong ſaw them raiſing troops in Jefferſon as he came on, to march for the encampment on the Wabaſh immediately. It is further ſtated by Mr. Armſtrong, that he never ſaw troops under better diſcipline, particularly the cavalry, under Colonel Daviels's command. He and all his troops ſleep with their boots and ſpurs on during the night, and their horſes are always ſaddled, ready at a moment's warning for active ſervice. Troops who cheerfully ſubmit to ſuch diſcipline, will no doubt, when occaſion offers, do honor to their commander, themſelves and country.

Extract of a letter from Col. John M. Scott, to the Editor of the Frankfort Argus, dated Vincennes, Oct. 23, 1811.

"Since my arrival at this place, I have had only one letter from the Governor, and in that he barely mentioned that a party of the Delaware chiefs had gone to the Prophet's town—their object to prevent war and to perſuade him to accede to the Governor's propoſitions. They had not returned, I was informed, on Saturday laſt. It appears to be the general opinion, that there is a diviſion among the Indians, relative to war meaſures; though the Prophet is for it, and a majority of his adherents, joined by the whole Kickapoo tribe.—Their attack upon the ſentinels and wounding one of the regular ſoldiers, was done, no doubt to ſhut the door of accommodation, and to bring on the war, and hereby compel an union among themſelves for the common ſecurity.

"The governor will not give up the point; he will bring them to his own meaſures, either by fair means, or by hard knocks—they may have their choice; it would not do to relinquiſh the object now—the Prophet would grow inſolent beyond meaſure. As ſoon as the Kentucky volunteers join, we ſhall hear of deciſive meaſures immediately—no more temporizing—they muſt be brought to a ſenſe of their duty; and nothing but a good drubbing in my opinion, will have the effect.

"Laprouzier, whoſe ſpeech you gave us ſome weeks ago in your paper, has changed his tone, and ſays, he was deceived by the prophet—thinks him a bad man, and to ſhew his ſincerity, hrs removed his people, women and children, near to the Governor's encampment, and claims the protection of the United States.

"The Wabaſh is riſing, and has been for three days paſt; this will enable the contractors to bring forward ſupplies for the army, which were likely to fail; the governor has been detained ſome time for the neceſſary depoſits of proviſions:—There are about 1,100 men under his command, including militia and regulars. Col. Daviess is a very active and vigilant officer. When the fight begins, we calculate that he will do wonders, or be killed—he is all for glory, and I ſuppoſe would not miſs the chance of a fight on any account."

From the Baltimore American.

Extract of a letter to the Editor, dated Waſhington, Nov. 11.

"As it is of the firſt importance to merchants to be able to foreſee the courſe of meaſures which government will adopt, in relation to our political and commercial intercourſe with Europe, ſome pains have been taken to aſcertain that courſe. The conjectures heretofore hazarded have neceſſarily and unavoidably been accompanied by that degree of uncertainty, which want of time and want of information were calculated to occaſion.—Calculating on no change, during the winter, in the aſpect of intelligence from Great Britain and France, it may be almoſt certainly relied upon, that ſuch meaſures will be taken as ſhall convince the Britiſh government that unleſs they relinquiſh their obnoxious orders and illegitimate blockade. America will be prepared to aſſert her right by force; that the non-importation with the Britiſh dominions will continue, and be moſt rigidly and effectually enforced by additional means; that our merchants will be authorized to arm and defend their trade with all other nations; and that probably ſuch duties and reſtrictions will be impoſed upon importations from the French dominions as ſhall correſpond with the new duties and reſtrictions decreed in France. All our ſhips, frigates and inferior veſſels of war will, nearly to a certainty, be fitted out, repaired, and ordered into ſervice, as well as inſtructed to convoy fleets of merchantmen bound to or from ports, the trade with which may be dangerous. One or more additional frigates may be built. Direct and immediate hoſtilities with England are not to be apprehended, unleſs they are commenced on the other ſide of the Atlantic. The committees on the different ſubjects of the President's meſſage will likely be appointed to-morrow."

FRANCE.

Palace of Trianon, Auguſt 23.

Napoleon, by the Grace of God, and the conſtitutions, Emperor of the French, &c. to all preſent, and to come, greeting:

Different queſtions having been ſubmitted to us with regard to the condition of Frenchmen eſtabliſhed in foreign countries, we have thought it right to make known our intentions on that subject.

By our decree of the 5th of April, 1809, we have already pronounced with regard to ſuch French men as have borne arms againſt their country; and thoſe, who, reſiding with a power with whom we go to war, do not quit its territory: or who, being ſummoned by us do not obey that order.

But no law has yet been laid down either with regard to Frenchmen naturalized in foureign countries, with or without our authority, or with regard to ſuch as may have already entered, or chooſe to enter in future, into the ſervice of a foreign power.

And as it is not our wiſh to confound thoſe of our ſubjects who are induced from legitimate motives to naturalize themſelves abroad, with thoſe whoſe conduct will aſſume the character of felony, we have reſolved by theſe preſents, to complete and make known this important branch of legiſlation.

For theſe reaſons, on the report of our Grand Judge, Miniſter of Juſtice, and our Council of State, being heard,

We have decreed and ordered, & do decree and order as follows:

TITLE I. Of Frenchmen naturalized abroad with our permiſſion.

Art. 1. No Frenchman can be naturalized abroad, without our authority.

2. Our permiſſion ſhall be granted by letters patent, drawn up by our Grand Judge, ſigned with our hand, counterſigned by our Secretary of State, inſpected by our couſin the Prince Arch-Chancellor, inſerted in the bulletin of laws, and regiſtered in the imperial court of the laſt place of domicil of the perſon to whom they relate.

3. Frenchmen thus naturalized abroad ſhall enjoy the right of poſſeſſing, of transmiting, and of ſucceeding to property, even when the ſubjects of the countries where they ſhall be naturalized, do not enjoy thoſe rights in France.

4. The children of a Frenchman born in the country where he is naturalized, are aliens.

5. Frenchmen naturalized abroad even with our permiſſion, can at no time carry arms againſt France, under pain of being indicted in our courts, and condemned to the puniſhments enacted in the penal code, book 3d, chap. 75.

TITLE II. Of Frenchmen naturalized abroad without our permiſſion.

6. Every Frenchman naturalized abroad without our permiſſion, ſhall incur the loſs of his property, which ſhall be confiſcated; he ſhall no longer enjoy the right of ſucceſſion, and all the ſucceſſion falling unto him ſhall pass to the next heir, provided he be domiciliated in France.

By the 7th, 8th, 9th, and 10th, it is provided, that by a process inſtituted in the courts of juſtice, ſuch persons ſhall loſe their titles if they have any, together with the property attached to them, which ſhall devolve on the neareſt heir, being French, the rights of the wife being ſecured, which ſhall be regulated as in the case of widowhood.

11. Thoſe who are naturalized abroad without permiſſion, and againſt whom the above proceſs has taken place, if found in the territory of the empire, ſhall, for the firſt time, be arreſted and conducted beyond the frontiers; if they return, they ſhall be condemned to a period of imprisonment not leſs than a year, nor more than ten years.

TITLE. Of individuals already naturalized abroad.

12. Individuals naturalized abroad at the period of the publication of this decree, may within a year, if on the continent of Europe; within three years if beyond that continent; within five years if beyond the Cape of Good Hope and in the Indies, obtain our confirmation according to the forms preſcribed in the preſent decree.

TITLE IV. Of Frenchmen in the ſervice of a foreign power.

13. No Frenchman can enter the ſervice of a foreign power without our ſpecial permiſſion, and except under condition of returning, ſhould we recall him either by a general proclamation or a direct order.

14. Thoſe of our ſubjects who ſhall have obtained this permiſſion, cannot take the oaths to the power which they ſerve, without a proviſo of never bearing arms againſt France, and of quitting the ſervice, even without being recalled, ſhould that power happen to go to war with us.

15. The permiſſion of entering the ſervice of a foreign power ſhall be granted by letters patent, according to the forms preſented in act 2d.

16. They cannot act as miniſters plenipotentiary in any treaty where our intereſt comes into diſcuſſion.

17. They muſt not wear a foreign cockade in countries in ſubjection to us, nor there appear in a foreign uniform; they ſhall be authorized to wear the national colours when in the empire.

18. They may nevertheleſs wear the decoration of foreign orders, when they ſhall have received them with our conſent.

19. They may not enter France but with our ſpecial permiſſion.

20. Frenchmen entering the ſervice of a foreign power, without our permiſſion, and remaining in it after war is declared between France and that power, ſhall be conſidered as having borne arms againſt us, from the circumſtance alone of their having continued to form part of a military corps deſtined to act againſt the French empire or its allies.

22. Our miniſters are charged each in his own department, with the execution of the preſent decree.

Paris, Auguſt 19.

Yeſterday Mr. Theotoki, and Duke de Looz, Preſidents of the Deputations from the Ionian iſles (in the Adriatic, of which Corfu is the principal) preſented addreſſes of congratulation to his Majeſty the Emperor; who was pleased to make the following

REPLY:

"Gentlemen Deputies,

"I have caused great works to be completed in your country. I have collected a great number of troops, and ammunition of all kinds. I do not regret the expences which Corfu has coſt MY TREASURY. It is the Key of the Adriatic.

"I will never abandon Iſlands which the ſuperiority of the enemy by ſea has placed in their power. In India, in America, in the Mediterranean, every thing that is and has been French ſhall always be ſo. Conquered by the enemy, by the viciſſitudes of war, they ſhall return into the Empire by the other events of the war, or by the ſtipulations of peace. I ſhould always conſider it as an eternal blot to MY REIGN if I ever ſanctioned the abandonment of a ſingle Frenchman.

An addreſs was alſo preſented by the Deputation from the new department of La Lippe (in Weſtphalia); to which his Majeſty gave this

REPLY:

Gentlemen,

The town of Munſter belonged to an eccleſiaſtical ſovereign;—deplorable effect of ignorance and ſuperſtition!! [Why ſo, any more than under a military ſovereign?] You were without country. Providence, who willed that I ſhould reſtore the throne of Charlemagne, has made you naturally enter, with Holland & the Hanſe Towns, in the boſom of the Empire.

—From the moment in which you became French, my heart made no difference between you and other parts of my ſtates. As ſoon as circumſtances ſhall permit me, I ſhall feel a lively ſatiſfaction in being among you.

Lateſt from La Teſte.—By the Maria Louiſa, from La Teſte, we learn, that the Emperor had gone to Holland—that Mr. Barlow, our miniſter, had gone in purſuit of him—that the Conſtitution frigate was at Cherbourg—that there was an expectation of a war between France and Ruſſia—that troops were ſtill marching into Spain—that no new ſeizures of American Veſſels had lately taken place; but ſeveral American Veſſels had been releaſed.

Great increase.—Mr. James Williams of this city, in June laſt planted two potatoes, from South America, called the Lobiter potatoe which produced one buſhel, three pecks, weighing 94 pounds!—Maryland Gaz.

It is reported, and we hope correctly, ſays the Philadelphia True American, that the proſpect of an accommodation between the United States and Great Britain, is much brightened of late. It is even rumoured, that on the diſcloſure of Mr. Foſter's powers to enter on a negociation which would adjuſt all differences, it has been decided in our cabinet to ſend Mr. John Q. Adams, as miniſter plenipotentiary from the United States, to the court of London. Mr. Ewing, it is ſaid, will ſucceed Mr. Adams at Peters burgh.

From the 1ſt. of October next there will appear at Paris no more than four daily political papers, viz: The Moniteur, the Journal of the Empire, the Gazette of France, and the Journal of Paris.

In the ſupreme Court at Salem, the Will of the late Mrs. Norris has been eſtabliſhed. By it the Eccleſiaſtical Inſtitution in Andover has a legacy of 30,000 dollars, and the Aſiatic Miſſionaries an equal ſum. Cent.

FOREIGN CERTIFICATES.

The clerk who ſome years ſince purloined from the United States Treaſury office, a number of blank certificates of five percent. ſtock, and ſailed for Europe, where he ſold two of them, one filled up with 30,000, the other for 15,000 dollars, arrived in New Y. a few days ſince, from Liverpool, and was immediately apprehended and committed to gaol. We are aſſured, no ſuſpicions of the fraud had ever been entertained by the Regiſter of the Treaſury until the forged certificates were preſented for payment; when they were diſcovered to be forgeries, and ſome circumſtance cauſed the perſon apprehended to be ſuſpected.—He figured away in great ſtyle, in England, and induced a beautiful and accomplished girl in Liverpool, to marry and accompany him in his voyage.

THE YORK GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 11.

SIR,

Pleaſe inſert the encloſed haſty tribute from the people of this place, to the exemplary and exalted worth of our beloved GOVERNOR, now on his way to England; and oblige your old friend J. S.

Cornwall, Oct. 23 1811.

To his Excellency FRANCIS GORE, Eſq. Lieutenant Governor of His Majeſty's Province of Upper Canada.

We the Inhabitants of the Eaſtern Diſtrict of the Province of Upper Canada, having juſt learned that your Excellency is about to return home, haſten to expreſs our ſincere regret on the occaſion, and to preſent our grateful acknowledgements for the many ſubſtantial benefits which we have derived from your ſhort but wiſe adminiſtration.

During that period, we have ſeen with the greateſt ſatisfaction, the moſt flouriſhing ſettlements extending rapidly in all directions, and the general proſperity of the country increaſing far beyond our moſt ſanguine anticipations.

We have ſeen your Excellency moſt anxiouſly careful that the Loyaliſts and their children, ſhould obtain with the leaſt poſſible trouble, the very liberal bounty which His Moſt Excellent Majeſty the King has graciouſly aſſigned them, and extending your benevolence in the moſt delicate manner to thoſe who had fallen into difficulty in their Land affairs, either from ignorance or inadvertency, of the errors incident to the quick ſettlement of ſo populous and important a Colony.

Above all, we have ſeen proviſion made for giving the youth of the Province ſuch a liberal education as may not only qualify them for the learned profeſſions, but eſtabliſh firmly in their minds the pureſt moral and religious principles, principles which ſhall enable them to give the moſt ſalutary direction to the general manners of the Province, and revive that ardent patriotism for which their fathers have been ſo honorably diſtinguiſhed. The fruits of this noble meaſure patronized and ſanctioned by your Excellency, we begin already to enjoy; as many of the young men have left the ſchools crowned with literary honors, and with the faireſt proſpect of future worth.

With the greateſt truth and propriety therefore, may the inhabitants of this Diſtrict repeat what we had formerly the pleaſure to ſtate to your Excellency, "that your government has been only known to us by acts of the pureſt juſtice and the moſt pleaſing condeſcenſion and benevolence." Deeply impreſſed with theſe ſentiments, your Excellency's adminiſtration will always be a ſubject of the moſt pleaſing recollection.

Our beſt wiſhes for the happineſs of your Excellency and your amiable Lady accompany you to England; may the approbation of our gracious Sovereign ſmile upon your return, and confer upon your Excellency a ſuitable reward for your meritorious ſervices in this Province.

 The Editor has much cauſe to regret that Letters, Packages and Papers to his address, are ſo frequently detained and not timely forwarded - through the negligence of his friends; the foregoing encloſure, reached Kingſton on the 2d ult. and was not received by the Editor until the 6th inſtant.

The unuſommon flight of the wild Pigeon in ſuch amazing numbers and their direction eaſtwards at this late period, is for a what novel. Their longer than ordinary ſtay in this quarter, can only be aſcribed to the ſuperabundance of Beech maſt, and other ſeeds which our Foreſts have produced the preſent year——For the laſt two years, the Bears frequented our Woods in incredible numbers, but none have been ſeen, near us, ſince laſt autumn, which muſt evidently ariſe from the ſame cauſe.

Lateſt Intelligence.

BOSTON, Nov. 23.

From Portugal.—Official.—A Liſbon paper has been received in Salem, that contains an official deſpatch from Lord Wellington, dated from his Head Q. at Quadrazes, Sept. 29, 1811, an abſtract of which has been given in the Eſſex Regiſter, which we hope will be followed by the letter in extenſo.

By this abſtract it appears, that the French had united their forces to relieve Ciudad Rodrigo, having been ſtrongly reinforced by troops from various parts of Spain, ſome of which had come from Naples and which augmented the army of Portugal (under Marmont) to 60,000 men, of which 6000 were cavalry, with 125 pieces of artillery:—That againſt this force his Lordſhip could not pretend to continue the blockade of Ciudad Rodrigo, and took meaſures for his greater ſecurity by retreating to the heights of Torres: That in the execution of theſe meaſures he was attacked on the 25th and 27th of September, at the heights of Bodom, and at Aldea de Porte: The immediate reſults of theſe attacks are not ſtated in the abſtract; but that in the former the Engliſh had 1 Lt. Col. 3 Captains, 1 Lieut. 1 Q. Maſter, 12 Sergeants 3 Drummers, 139 Soldiers, and 37 horſes killed, wounded and miſſing; and at Aldea de Porte 1 major, 5 captains, 4 lieutenants, 3 ſergeants, 1 drummer, 86 ſoldiers, 23 horſes killed and wounded: That his Lordſhip repreſents his troops as behaving with great bravery, and is unuſual in the ſtraitе of his officers: that he paſſes very high commendations on the Portugueſe infantry, who though not greatly expoſed, diſcovered firmneſs and diſcipline when preparing to receive their enemy, as well as good order in their retrograde movements; and that their loſs was only 20 ſoldiers: And that on the 28th the Engliſh were at Souto, about a league from the place they occupied on the 27 h, homeward.

In addition to the above, we repeat that we have before us a file of the Liſbon Diary from the 1ſt to the 18th of Oct. (19 days later than the date of the above noticed deſpatch) in which there is no intimation of any retrograde movement of either the combined or French armies. We can alſo add that a letter from a well-informed American in Liſbon has been received, dated 11th Oct. in which it is ſtated, that the above were inconſiderable affairs of outpoſts; that before Lord Wellington took the poſition in the highlands of Torres from whence he advanced to inveſt Rodrigo, he twice offered battle to Marſhal Marmont; that the allied army was conſidered as being ſufficiently ſtrong to defend Portugal, and that not the ſmalleſt degree of anxiety for the fate of the kingdom exiſted in Liſbon.

From France.—By the Dolphin arrived yeſterday from Bourdeaux, we received verbal advices to the 30t, and a file of papers to the 22d Sept. but after a careful peruſal we have not found any thing in them relative to the United States, or their affairs; and very little to the affairs of Europe.

Mr. Gould, a gentleman who was paſſenger, has ſtated, that it was not conſidered in France, that the Berlin and Milan decrees were revoked.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22

Lateſt from Cadiz.—Capt. Wade of the ſhip Jupiter, 31 days from Cadiz has furniſhed papers of that place to the 4th ult. from which was tranſlated the following:

On the 30th Sept. the Commander in Chief received the following letter from Lieut. Gen. Don Francisco Balliſteros, under date of the 25th inſt. from his camp at Xeriana, which has been delayed no doubt by contrary winds.

Moſt Excellent Sir,

I have to communicate to your Excellency for the information of their Royal Highneſs the Council of Regency, the complete victory which has been obtained on this day by the army of his Majeſty. General Rignoux, with a diviſion of 3000 men, chiefly grenadiers, united with the other diviſions which I defeated on the nineteenth at Alcala, had been for nine days maneuvring in front of our preſent poſition, but has finally fallen into the ſnare which I had laid for them, and by our repeated movements and the activity of the troops, I have the honor to command. Having by theſe means been able to ſurpriſe him, we engaged him and finally put him to flight, in the direction of the camp at St. Roche, notwithſtanding a moſt obſtinate reſiſtance. It is now 11 o'clock in the morning, and my troops are in cloſe purſuit at their heels, over the moſt unequal and rugged mountains, in direction of Alcala, the only place they can find refuge in their preſent ſituation. At this moment a number of priſoners are brought in, among them a captain of grenadiers, and a colonel of the Poliſh infantry, No. 4.

The loſs of the enemy has been horrible—but I cannot at preſent detail the circumſtances I am, &c.

,Martinige, Oct. 17, 1811.

"On the 10th inſt. were executed at a Polence au' Anglois, fifteen Engliſh Priſoners (11 mulattoes, two of whom were Hayton Generals, and 4 negroes) in a PLOT formed for the Firing of the Town, and Deſtruction of all the White Men, and Such of the White Ladies as were not deſtined to a worſe fate!—Others of the Chiefs are in priſon, and ſome few of the ſame caſt not yet taken, ſo that I am in hopes of ſeeing another long ſtring of ſuch "Dukes" and "Generals" ſoon tucked up. The Plot had long ſince been forming, and was on the point of commencing when it was accidentally diſcovered by an old Mulattress confeſſing to her Prieſt. Her name is religiouſly kept ſecret. Some of the Chiefs had, indeed, actually commenced by demanding and ſeizing upon the arms of the neighbouring Planters; and but for the timely information received, and the activity ſhewn by the troops, which checked the Progreſs in the commencement of their Career, there would not perhaps in half an hour, have been one white man alive to tell the diſmal tale!—Martial law has been proclaimed, though, from the reſtoration of tranquility, it is conſidered hardly neceſſary."

NEW-YORK, Nov. 28.

VERY LATE FROM ENGLAND.

Yeſterday arrived at this port the ſhip Martha, Hackett, in 35 days from Liverpool, from whence the ſailed on the 23d of October,

By this arrival the Editors of the Mercantile Advertiſer have received a file of London papers to the 20th of October, incluſive, [21 days later than before received] from which the following articles are copied.

The King was a live and the Orders in Council were not repealed.

It was rumoured in London, that a peace had been concluded between Ruſſia and the Ottoman Porte; and that there was a proſpect of war between France and Ruſſia.

London, Oct. 10.

The letters brought by the Anholt mails that arrived yeſterday, are in general of a warlike tendency. The following one gives an account of the force of Pruſſia, which we hope will be found to be correct.

"KONINGSBERG, SEPT. 23—The rumours of the hoſtilities between France, Ruſſia and Pruſſia, have now aſſumed ſomewhat of a tangible ſhape, and we are told that war will break out almoſt immediately.—This ſeems confirmed by the conſtant buſtle and activity in which the troops of this kingdom, Poland and Ruſſia have been kept for ſome time. We are all anxiety, and we unbelieſland that the Emperor of the French will direct his progreſs towards us which is ſaid to be the ſignal for the commencement of war,—Our public papers allude to this event in open terms, and to its conſequences, which makes us the more certain.—The following has been ſhewn as an eſtimate of the amount of Poliſh, Pruſſian and Ruſſian troops in this part of the continent.

At Warſaw and its neighborhood,(Poles) 30,000

Cracow,	14,000
Koningsberg, (Pruſſians)	17,000
Berlin, do.	20,000
Colberg,	12,000
Ruſſians in Old Galicia and Ruſſian Poland,	60,000
Scattered Forces,	20,000

"The frequent movements that have taken place among theſe troops, have rendered the ſtatement leſs accurate than I could with. The French have at Dantzic nearly 30,000, and at Stettin about 16,000. Altogether their force cannot be eſtamated at leſs than 150,000. This number includes a contingent which, it is ſaid, ahe Emperor of Auſtria has entered into a ſecret treaty to contribute. On the whole veiw, we may look with ſome degree of certainty to a war, and that perhaps at a ſhort diſtance.—Some perſons aſſert that it cannot begin before ſpring.

"It is ſaid to be the intention of Bonaparte to erect Poland into a diſtinct kingdom for Murat, who will give up Naples."

October 12.

One of two events has taken place before our readers receive this day's paper. Bonaparte has either ſet out for Magdeburg, or Pruſſia has yielded to his demands and ſealed her ſubmiſſion. The object of this demand was,

That the King of Pruſſia ſhould give up Colberg and Graudenzi.

The King of Pruſſia returned for anſwer, that the ſurrender of thoſe two places would be equivalent to the ſurrender of his crown. He poſitively refuſed.

Our readers ſhould be informed, that the French are already in poſſeſſion of Cuſtrin and Stettin on the Oder, and Dantzic and Talton on the Viſtula. The only paſſage which Pruſſia has remaining for troops from Berlin and her territories on the weſt of the Oder, to her territories between the Oder and the Viſtula, and beyond the Viſtula is by Colberg; Graudentz is another important fortreſs. The ceſſion of theſe fortreſſes, but particularly of Colberg, would give the French the entire command of the Oder; they would thus intereſect the Pruſſian dominion, and entirely inſolate one part from the other. At Colberg there is a large Pruſſian garriſon, and the place is ſtrongly fortified. Cuſtrin and Stettin have French garriſons but not very numerous; at Dantzic there are 18,000 French troops; at Thorn another large detachment.

The refuſal of Pruſſia to give up Colberg is underſtood to have produced another & a more peremptory demand, accompanied with a threat of immediately hoſtilities in caſe of a refuſal. A limited time was given to the King of Pruſſia to return an anſwer. What that anſwer has been, we know not. But if he has perſiſted in his refuſal, Bonaparte is by this time at Magdeburg.

The Diet of Switzerland, by the command of Bonaparte, has paſſed a decree ordering all the Swiſs in the ſervice of England to return home by the end of the year, under pain of loſing their right of citizenſhip, and their property,

The Diet of Hungary is ſaid to have been the ſcene of very ſtormy diſcuſſions.

ALBANY, December 2.

Account of a moſt daring Affray and Riot by a party of French Sailors in the city of Savannah, and the murder of a number of American Citizens!—the burning of two French Privateers by the enraged and indignant inhabitants—and the apprehenſion and commitment to priſon of the Rioters and Murderers.

Does the murder of Pierce call for vengeance? What then muſt be the ſentiments and feelings of every American, when numbers of our fellow citizens are murdered in our public ſtreets.

From the New York Evening Poſt.

The effects of our admitting French Privateers into our harbors.

It has been, for ſome time, feared and predicted, that our affording French privateers ſhelter, comfort and protection in our harbors—with permiſſion to bring in their booty, the moſt of it, probably the very booty which they had plundered from our own fellow citizens, after having hunt or ſunk their veſſels on the high ſeas; and alſo licence to refit, and openly recruit in our principal cities; I ſay, this unprecedented courſe of things, in a country profeſſing itſelf neutral, it has long been apprehended would produce a ſcene of riot and murder, ſimilar to that which is now our painful duty to record in this evening's paper; we give the particulars juſt as they come to us, in extracts from the following letters, written upon the ſpot:

Copy of a letter to Meſſrs. Ogden & Co. of this city dated Savannah, November, 16th, 1811.

"We were an eye witneſs in our city on Thurſday night laſt, and on Friday, to the greateſt ſcene of bloodſhed and murder that has happened in this place ſince the war.

A part of the crew of two French privateers then lying in port, one of them ready to ſail, had a rencontre with a party of American ſailors on Thurſday night and killed one man, and wounded ſix others ſo bad, that they died the next day, one of them the mate of the brig Hetty, of Philadelphia. This ſo exaſperated the captains and ſeamen in port, as well as a great part of our citizens, that an expedition was ſet on foot for their deſtruction. The bodies of thoſe that were killed were brought forward on one of the wharves for the purpoſe of burial, and long before the hour of moving a large number of citizens, captains and ſailors had collected; when they were ſo exaſperated at the inſult which they conſidered countrymen, that before the funeral rites were performed, they made preparations to take forcible poſſeſſion of the privateers. As ſoon as they entered upon the wharf (Anciaux's) where the firſt veſſel lay, they were fired upon by 3 Frenchmen, who had ſecreted themſelves in a ſtore loft (Dupont's) immediately oppoſite the privateer, & where all the ſmall arms belonging to her were ſtored.—Theſe villains fired ſix ſhot in quick ſucceſſion. One of them ſtruck Captain Miller, of the Champlin, in the right eye, and paſſed immediately through the left.

Three ſhot took effect upon a ſailor carrying the American flag, who lived on Jones' iſland, near Savannah, and another grazed the noſe of Capt. Pierce. They however boarded the privateer, and ſoon took poſſeſſion, run her across the river, and ſet her on fire.—An attempt was alſo made to diſlodge the poſſeſſors of the ſtore loft, which could not be immediately effected, from the manner they had barricaded the door and windows. There were, however forced, and ſome blood was ſpilt before they gave up, when ſuch was the fury of the populace, then collected in great numbers, that two of them were thrown out of the upper window; one was killed dead upon the ſpot, a ſecond died the next day from his wounds; the third one made his eſcape out of a back door, but before he reached the top of the bluff was both ſhot and bayonetted. In the mean time the Mayor ordered out the military, and before the firſt privateer was carried, the ſecond and largeſt one which lay at the lower end of the town, prepared for defence. She had about 50 men in complete readineſs. The populace aſſembled around her, and a few of the citizens boarded her, but no ſerious injury was done. The Frenchmen endeavored to get their large gun (then loaded) to bear on the people, but could not effect their purpoſe. At this moment Capt. Marſhall appeared with his company, and immediately charged bayonet on the crew, drove them below, and took poſſeſſion. The Mayor then ordered him to keep her from being burned, and that offi er with the utmoſt difficulty kept her from being fired, not only by his own corps, but by the ſailors, till 10 at night, when in the act of relieving guard, the ſailors headed by ſome American captains boarded her, prepared with tar and a pound of powder, ſoon kindled a fire and burnt her down."

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

Copy of a letter from Mr. Lay, to Capt. H. L. Champan, of this city, dated Savannah, Friday evening, Nov. 15.

"Painful is the taſk to relate, and diſtreſſing beyond imagination, the ſcene that has taken place within the laſt 24 hours. Our poor friend Capt. Miller, of your city, now lies in the next room to me moſt agonizing ſituation. Faint, very faint indeed, are our hopes that he will ever recover.—If he does, it will be only I fear, to linger out a wretched life, for he has loſt one eye entirely, and it is ſtill uncertain whether the other is not alſo loſt. Oh, Sir, you can hardly form an idea of the dreadful ſcene that has occurred. I will relate to you, as nearly as I have been able to aſcertain the circumſtances, the particulars of an affray which began on Thurſday night laſt, on board the French privateers, and thoſe belonging to the American veſſels, two nights ſince, and was repeated again laſt evening, when five or ſix Americans were killed and wounded. Capt. Miller, this afternoon, left our ſtore to attend the funeral of thoſe who were killed, but had not been gone longer, perhaps, than ten or fifteen minutes, when the alarm bell rang. I ran immediately to the Exchange, and the firſt I heard there, was a cry "Miller is dead." I found him lifeleſs in a room ded by a number of his friends, while the citizens and ſailors were cutting down every Frenchman they could meet. A ſcene that baffles all deſcription enſued. One of the Frenchmen it ſeems, had wounded another American ſailor to day, which ſo exaſperated the Americans that 50 or 60 of them, who had aſſembled at Hind and Nicolls, to attend the funeral of their comrade killed the day before, armed themſelves with a determination to take poſſeſſion of the French veſſel.—On their way down a ſhot was fired from a window of a grocery ſtore, occupied

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.

Several Members of Congress have received letters, informing that the Indians have surprized and attacked the troops under Governor Harrison, on the Wabash. After taking off the centinels of Gov. Harrison's troops with their arrows, they rushed into our camp and commenced their slaughter. Our troops instantly rallied, and a severe engagement ensued. About 170 were killed and wounded on each side. The destruction of the Officers of the American troops were great. The forces were about 700 strong on each side."

The same subject.—Since receiving the above, we find the intelligence confirmed in the following letter, which we copy from the Alexandria Gazette:—

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Louisville, to the Hon. Mr. Ormsby, dated the 16th November, 1811.

"An action took place on the 7th November, between the troops under Gov. Harrison and the Indians under the Prophet. The following are some of the particulars:—'I give you a list of a few that were killed in the action—Colonel Daviess, Col. Owen of Shelby, Col. White of the Saline, Capt. Spencer and both his subalterns, and Capt. Berry from Corydon, also Captain Bain of the regulars. There were 170 whites killed and wounded and as many Indians.—The Indians made the attack on the night of the 27th inst.—they surprised our army, they killed all the guards with arrows, and were in the camp before the whites had the least notice of them. The battle was fought in sight of the Prophet's town.—Three Indians attacked Col. F. Geiger in his tent at one time—he killed one and vanquished the other two—he was shot through the arm.—Gov. Harrison was shot through the hat and slightly wounded in the head. Thomas Randolph was amongst the killed; Judge Taylor's horse was killed under him. It is said that Major Floyd fought like Cæsar in his shirt-tail.—The Indians rushed up and came to the point of the bayonet with their tomahawks.—There has been dreadful slaughter.'

Since writing the above I have seen a letter from Hunter to Mr. Clarke—he states that he was slightly wounded, and among the number killed are James Somerville and Stephen Mars—Hunter stated that the Indians got all their beef and a great number of their horses, they got about five thousand bushels of corn and burned the Prophet's town the day after the action."

Extract of a letter from Governor Harrison to the Secretary of War, Dated Head-Quarters, near the Prophet's Town, Nov. 8, 1811.

SIR,

I have the honor to inform you, that the dawn of yesterday terminated an action between the troops under my command, and the whole of the Prophet's force. Their precipitate retreat, leaving a number of the warriors dead on the field, and the subsequent abandonment of their town, (which was partially fortified) attest for us a complete and decisive victory. It has, however, been dearly purchased. A number of brave and valuable men have fallen victims to their zeal for their country's service. The behaviour of the regulars and militia troops was such as would have done honor to veterans. I arrived at my present position (a mile from the town) on the evening of the 6th inst. a correspondence was immediately opened with the Prophet, and there was every appearance of a successful termination of the expedition without bloodshed. Indeed there was an agreement for a suspension of hostilities, until further communication should take place on the next day. Contrary however, to this engagement, he attacked me at half past four o'clock in the morning, so suddenly, that the Indians were in the camp before many of the men could get out of their tents. A little confusion for a short time prevailed, but aided by the great exertions of the officers, I was soon enabled to form the men in order. The companies which were hard prefled were supported, several successful charges made, and about day light the enemy were finally put to flight. Our killed and wounded amount to 179, of these 42 are now dead.

I have not been able to ascertain the number of the Indians in the action, it must, however, have been confiderable.

The principal chief of those Potawatemies, who have joined the Prophet, is wounded, and in our poffeffion. I have taken care of him, and fhall send him back to his tribe. At a more leasure moment I fhall do myself the honor to transmit a more particular account of the action, and of our previous movements; and am, with the higheft respect, sir, your humble servant,

WM. HENRY HARRISON.

The Hon. Wm. Eustis, Secretary of War.

Washington, November, 29. 1811.

The report of the committee of foreign relations, so anxiously looked for, was this day presented to the house. After ftating the injuries we have received from Great Britain, and that France has ceased to violate our neutral rights the committee report six resolutions.

1st. That our present military eftablishment be completed.

2d. That 10,000 additional regular troops be immediately raised for 3 years, on bounties of land.

3d. That the militia be organized to be ready for service.

4th. That the President be authorized to accept the service of 50,000 volunteers.

5th. That the national veffels out of repair, worthy of repair, be repaired and put in commiffion.

6th. That merchant veffels be permitted to arm for their defence.

This is the substance. I have juft heard the report read—you will have it at length in a day or two.

NEW-YORK, Dec. 2.

The Meffengers—Lieut. Biddle, of the United States Navy, and Mr. Taylor, arrived in this city on Saturday evening, from Washington. They are to wait here for their despatches (which are expected by this morning's mail); on the receipt of which they will embark immediately in the United States floop of war Hornet, Capt. Lawrence, for France and England.

A letter has been received from Dublin dated the 23d October, which ftates that the Catholic Convention had met in that city on the 19th, without any interruption from the government.

By the arrival at Baltimore of the Portsmouth, which left Cadiz on the 17th October, we learn, that Souchet had made three attacks on Valencia, in all of which he was defeated. Five thousand men were embarking at Cadiz for Mexico. Gov. Folch's son was a paffenger in the Portsmouth, and bring dispatches to the Spanish Legation. The Cortes had agreed to place an army of 60,000 men under the regulation and command of Britifh officers.

The firft public library recorded in hiftory, was feunded at Athens by Hypparchus, five hundred and twenty fix years before the birth of our Saviour: the fecond was founded at Alexandria in Egypt, by Ptolemy Philadelphus, two hundred and eighty-four years before Chriſt's nativity: and it was burnt when Julius Cæfar fet fire to that city; by which catastrophe fur hundred thoufand volumes in manufcript, were faid to have been deftroyed. A fecond library was founded at Alexandria by Ptolemy's fucceffor, and was reputed to have confifted of feven hundred thoufand volumes, which was totally deftroyed by the Saracens, in the year 642. The largeft collection of books in the United States, it is faid, is the City Library of Philadelphia, which, together with the Loganian Library there, makes in the whole about fifteen thoufand volumes. The firft Circulating Library, in London, was eftablifhed by a Mr. Wright, a bookfeller, about the year 1740. In 1810, the number of thefe libraries in Great Britain, was not leſs than one thoufand.

Scorpions of New Mexico.—"The Scorpions of Durango exhibit the moft remarkable inftance of the phyſical effects of climate or art that I ever heard related. They come out of the walls and crevices in May, and continue about a fortnight in fuch numbers that the inhabitants never walk in their houſes after dark without a light, and always fhift and examine the bed clothes, and beat the curtains previous to going to reſt; after which the Curtains are secured under the bed. —The precautions are fimilar to thoſe we take with our moſcheto curtains. The bite of these Scorpions has been known to prove mortal in two hours. But the moſt extraordinary circumſtance is, that by taking them ten leagues from Durango they become perfectly harmleſs, and loſe all their venomous qualities.—Query, does this arise from a change of air, or of suſtenance?"

The trowsering syſtem displayed by the female children of faſhion, to the total exclusion of petticoats, is, no doubt, wisely intended by their mammas, to teach the young ladies in good time to wear the breeches!

LION.—The largeſt lions are from eight to nine feet in length, and from four to six feet high: thoſe of a ſmaller ſize are generally about five feet and a half long, and about three feet and a half high. The head of this animal is very thick, and his face is beset on all ſides with long bushy yellowiſh hair: this thiggy hair extends from the top of the head to below the ſhoulders, and hangs down to his knees. He is no where ſo large or fierce as in the burning ſands of Africa. There is this mark of generoſity in the lion, that he takes away life, not to gratify cruelty, but merely to ſatisfy hunger. As Mungo Park was croſſing a large open plain, in the interior parts of Africa, ſome few years ago, he, together with his guide, rode very near a large lion, which lay by the ſide of a buſh. Mr. Park expecting the lion would inſtantly ſpring upon him, inſtinctively pulled his feet from the ſtirrups to throw himſelf off on the oppoſite ſide, ſo that his horſe might become the victim rather than himſelf. But the generous beaſt, not being hungry, quietly ſuffered them to paſs, although they were fairly within his reach. The arms even of a Hottentot or a Negro make them more than a match for this powerful creature: and they ſeldom make the attack without coming off victorious. Their uſual manner is to find out his reſpect, and, with ſpears headed with iron, to provoke him to the combat. Four men are reckoned ſufficient for a encounter; and he, againſt whom the lion flies, receives him upon his ſpear, while the others attack him behind. The lion finding himſelf wounded in the rear, turns that way, and thus gives the man that firſt attacked him, an opportunity to recover. In this manner they attack him on all ſides; until at laſt, they entirely diſable, and then diſpatch him. The Romans uſed to tame this formidable beaſt; and Mark Antiony, we are told, rode through the ſtreets of Rome in a chariot drawn by lions.—Encyc. Part'. Trav. Goldſmith.

SCHEIK, or Old man of the Mountain the chief of a moſt formidable tribe of aſſaſſins, who had their reſidence on Mount Lebanon, between Antioch and Damascus. In the Eaſt, the name Scheik was given to this monarch; but the Europeans generally called him the Old Man of the Mountain. The firſt chief of this remarkable clan, was Haſſan Sibah, a subtle impoſter, who by his artifices made fanatical & moſt obedient ſlaves of his ſubjects. Their religion was compounded of that of the Magi, the Jews, the Chriſtians, and the Mahometans; and the capital article of their creed was, that the Holy Ghoſt reſided in their chief, and that all his orders proceeded from God himſelf; implicit obedience to which would inſure to them the joys of Paradiſe. Accordingly, they were accuſtomed to proſtrate themſelves at the foot of his throne, and, at his command, would ſtab themſelves, or throw themſelves headlong down dreadful precipices; not only without murmuring, but with the utmoſt alacrity and ſatisfaction. Some of his ſubjects had learned every language, and could conform themſelves to the manners of every nation; and thus prepared, they were ſent abroad in diſguiſe, to the courts of princes, not only through Aſia and Africa, but alſo in Europe. Any Prince that had refuſed tribute to the Scheik, or in any wiſe offended him, was in danger every moment of receiving death at the hands of his aſſaſſins. Philip Auguſtus, king of France, on being told that the Old Man of the Mountain intended to have him aſſaſſinated; he immediately inſtituted a new body-guard, and never appeared without a club fortified either with iron or gold. The Scheik, darting abroad his thunderbolts from the ſummit of Mount Lebanon, and ſending death to monarchs and noblemen who offended him, held the world in terror, for more than a century. Sovereigns paid him a private tribute; and all beheld him with dread and dismay. The Mogul Tartars overthrew and completely conquered this tribe of aſſaſſins, in the year 1272.

FROM THE CHARLESTON COURIER.

THE CHRISTIAN.

The mind of man can ſcarcely contemplate a ſubject more ſtupendouſly ſublime than that the frame, the variety, and the government of the material creation. The Sun, riſing in his ſtrength, and bedding life and life through attending worlds, the Moon going forth in her brightneſs, and all the ſtars rejoicing in their train; the planets obeying invariable laws and wheeling their ceaseleſs and unſhaken round, preſent a ſcene for wonder and speculation almoſt ſufficient to overwhelm every man at faculty. But when we turn our attention from the material to the intellectual creation; when the mind conſiders its own migh ty capacity, the conqueſt over matter which it has already made, and which it muſt ſtill go on to achieve; when it conſiders that it can meaſure the magnitude and power of the Sun, explain the cauſes of the changes and wanderings of the Moon, and calculate the laſs which bind the reſtleſs planets in their course, wonder is loſt in aſtoniſhment, and speculation, arreſted in its adventurous career, is compelled to acknowledge that it is infinitely more difficult to explore & comprehend the ſecrets of the intellectual than of the material world. Imagination, pluming her ſtrongeſt pinions, the ſun purified from her eyes by religion, and her flight aided by faith and hope, cannot riſe ſufficiently high to form any adequate ideas of that ſtriking IMPERISHABLE GOD, who from nothing called into exiſtence a being ſo exalted and inſcrutable. But though the material world afford a fund of ſublime contemplation, which may almoſt ſatiate the deſire of the moſt ardent curioſity, the grand ſcheme of redemption thro' the only begotten Son of God; the deſcent of the Deity himſelf from his eternal throne to aſſume a human nature; to offer up a propitiatory ſacrifice to ſatisfy his own juſtice, reconcile man to his offended Creator, and to publiſh the fact, that he is not a creature limited in his exiſtence to the narrow period of this evaneſcent life but deſtined to ſuffer or enjoy, to think or to act, through the ages of eternity, open a new proſpect to the eye of reaſon, ſurpaſſing all that the material world can preſent, or the mind can conceive. The reſult of the councils of the Godhead is diſplayed before an admiring univerſe. Angels inquire into the cauſes of this reſult, but they are hidden from their view—The plan is too profound for even their comprehenſion, and ſinging praiſes before the throne of the Majeſty on High, they contemplate, they wonder and adore.—How much more then, ought man, for whom this work was planned & performed; for whom his Savior was born, and ſuffered, and died, and roſe; for whom a manſion of his bliſs is by this means prepared beyond death and the grave; how much more ought man to dwell with enrapturing delight, upon this ſublime myſtery, and adore the wiſdom, the power, and the goodneſs of God. Though he cannot hope now to know the cauſes which lead to this mighty event, he may here behold the bleſſed leſs benevolence of his Creator; the way in which the inſcrutable ſcheme was carried into effect, and the conſequences which muſt reſult from it clearly explained. The hiſtory of the human race is only a record of the ſtrange events by which it was introduced, and the conſequences by which it has been followed.—To use the language of an eloquent writer—

"Here the Almighty made bare his holy arm, and put forth all his ſtrength —The introduction of this religion was the object of all the diſpenſations of the Deity upon earth. This is the centre in which terminates every line in the great circle of Providence. In one nation was victorious and another put under the yoke; if war was commiſſioned to rage and lay deſolate the earth, or peace to make the joyful inhabitants ſing beneath the vine; if kings were crowned, or were depoſed; if empires roſe or fell, all was preparatory and ſubſervient to this grand event. The monatonies which prevailed in the world, whether Aſſyrian, Perſian, Grecian, or Roman, were directed as introductory to the Meſſiah, whoſe kingdom was to be without any bounds, and whoſe reign was to be without end. That great image which the Monarch of the Eaſt beheld in his dream, whoſe head was of gold, whoſe breaſt was of ſilver, whoſe thighs were of braſs, and whoſe legs were of iron was ſet up by Providence, to prepare the way for the ſtone which was cut out without hands, which was deſtined to finite the image, become a great mountain, and fill the whole earth. All events, whether proſperous or adverſe —whether malignant or benign, have co-operated towards the advancement of our religion. Saints have eſtabliſhed it, by their lives; martyrs have confirmed it, by their deaths; hypocrites have added ſtrength to it, by their diſſimulation; tyrants have purified it, by their perſecutions; infidels have coroborated it, by their oppoſition; the arrows of its enemies have ſerved for its protection; the reſiſtance which it has met with from the combined wit and genius and malice of mankind have brought forth thoſe illuſtrious & immortal defences, which eſtabliſh its truth upon the baſis of demonſtration.

"Shall we not, then, reckon ourſelves eternally indebted to the infinite goodneſs of GOD, and ſtir up all that is within us to bleſs his holy name? ſaying, in the language of true fervour of ſpirit—'We will praiſe 'thee, O God! we will praiſe thee 'with our whole heart!—Our ſouls 'ſhall be thy ſacrifice! We will adore 'thee in death, and through eternity!'

THE YORK GAZETTE.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 26.

The annual return of the Holidays brings with it, to us of this Province at this period, ſcenes of neither unpleaſant aſpect, or diſagreeable contemplation; and our cordial wiſh is, that the future recurrence of Chriſtmas and New Year may bring increaſed happineſs to our friends.—The flow of general health little intercepted; the populations and improvement of the country increaſing in the uſual degree; the abundant crops with which the huſbandman and cultivator have been favored, whilſt the conſtitution ſecures their enjoyment under the houſhold vine; the diſintereſted application of the appropriated funds to their deſtined uſe, the facilitating the inland communication, the paternal care and ſuffering hand of the parent extended to this fraction of the Britiſh Empire—ſuch pleaſing combination when viewed with an "unjaundiced eye," muſt beget that degree of holy pride which we zealouſly hope may ever diſtinguiſh the Britiſh SUBJECT.—Our Auguſt SOVEREIGN was living late in October; and our leſſevent prayer is, that our beloved Lieutenant Governor may witneſs his happy reſtoration to health, and receive that perſonal aſſurance of the Royal favor, to which his magnanimity, and his public and private virtues are ſo diſtinguiſhedly entitled.

To our Patrons and R aders, a retroſpective ſtatement of the leading European Occurrences is unneceſſary —all events of public intereſt have been detailed in our Public Sheet—and now, we need ſimply but add, that Northern Europe ſeems laboring with ſome great convulſion.—We can leave their deſtinies only, to the ſupreme diſpoſal of the RULER of Kings and Kingdoms.—In Spain and Portugal we need ſay little.—The proteeting friendſhip of Britain ſtands pledged and is operating to preſerve their integrity;—may the reſult be in uniſon with the exertion, and be ſuch as the Chriſtian's benevolence can deſire.—Of the fate of their South American Provinces little more than conjecture can be formed—there, the agents of diſmemberment are acting—and we can but hope that diſcoun ite awaits their unrighteous league.—To our preſent North American relations, the public are not ſtrangers.

We have peruſed with ſome attention, the correſpondence between our Miniſter, Mr. Foſter, and the American Secretary of State, relative to the pending differences—our impreſſion from their peruſal, deters us from protracting the probable reſult of the negociation—but our ſanguine hopes are, that it may terminate amicably.—The intereſts of the two countries are ſo intimately blended, that waving all minor conſiderations, we cannot ſee a full and fair reaſon why their ſuppoſed cauſes of diſference ſhould not be adjuſted; and we may juſtly infer, that if the American Government are actuated by the ſame pacific and friendly ſpirit by which the Britiſh Government is, the breach in queſtion will, inſtead of being widened, be effectually cloſed—but, if through certain influence, a juſtification of the unfriendly meaſures which have been adopted towards England ſhould be perſiſted in—the ſtands on too juſt and lofty ground to ſuffer either her intereſts or her honor to be compromitted.

The mutilated and imperfect ſkeleton of a man was diſcovered during the laſt week, a few yards off the road near to Mr. Cornwell's, below this town—from fragments of clothes gathered near the place, and from other circumſtances, it is judged to be the remains of John Willſon, a carpenter, who diſappeared from this town about the 6th of June laſt.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.

Several Members of Congreſs have received letters, informing that the Indians have ſurprized and attacked the troops under Governor Harriſon, on the Wabaſh. After taking off the ſentinels of Gov. Harriſon's troops with their arrows, they ruſhed into our camp and commenced their ſlaughter. Our troops inſtantly rallied, and a ſevere engagement enſued. About 170 were killed and wounded on each ſide. The deſtruction of the Officers of the American troops were great. The forces were about 700 ſtrong on each ſide."

The ſame ſubject.—Since receiving the above, we find the intelligence confirmed in the following letter, which we copy from the Alexandria Gazette:—

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Louiſville, to the Hon. Mr. Ormſby, dated the 16th November, 1811.

"An action took place on the 7th November, between the troops under Gov. Harriſon and the Indians under the Prophet. The following are ſome of the particulars:—I give you a liſt of a few that were killed in the action—Colonel Daviess, Col. Owen of Shelby, Col. White of the Saline, Capt. Spencer and both his ſubalterns, and Capt. Berry from Corydon, alſo Captain Bain of the regulars. There were 170 whites killed and wounded and as many Indians.—The Indians made the attack on the night of the 27th inſt.—they ſurpriſed our army, they killed all the guards with arrows, and were in the camp before the whites had the leaſt notice of them. The battle was fought in ſight of the Prophet's town.—Three Indians attacked Col. F. Geiger in his tent at one time—he killed one and vanquiſhed the other two—he was ſhot through the arm.—Gov. Harriſon was ſhot through the hat and ſlightly wounded in the head. Thomas Randolph was amongſt the killed; Judge Taylor's horſe was killed under him. It is ſaid that Major Floyd fought like Cæſar in his ſhirt-tail.—The Indians ruſhed up and came to the point of the bayonet with their tomahawks.—There has been dreadful ſlaughter."

Since writing the above I have ſeen a letter from Hunter to Mr. Clarke—he ſtates that he was ſlightly wounded, and among the number killed are James Somerville and Stephen Mars—Hunter ſtated that the Indians got all their beef and a great number of their horſes, they got about five thouſand buſhels of corn and burned the Prophet's town the day after the action."

Extract of a letter from Governor Harriſon to the Secretary of War, Dated Head-Quarters, near the Prophet's Town, Nov. 8, 1811.

SIR,

I have the honor to inform you, that the dawn of yeſterday terminated an action between the troops under my command, and the whole of the Prophet's force. Their precipitate retreat, leaving a number of the warriors dead on the field, and the ſubſequent abandonment of their town, (which was partially fortified) atteſt for us a complete and deciſive victory. It has, however, been dearly purchaſed. A number of brave and valuable men have fallen victims to their zeal for their country's ſervice. The behaviour of the regulars and militia troops was ſuch as would have done honor to veterans. I arrived at my preſent poſition (a mile from the town) on the evening of the 6th inſt. a correſpondence was immediately opened with the Prophet, and there was every appearance of a ſucceſsful termination of the expedition without bloodſhed. Indeed there was an agreement for a ſuſpenſion of hoſtilities, until further communication ſhould take place on the next day. Contrary however, to this engagement, he attacked me at half paſt four o'clock in the morning, ſo ſuddenly, that the Indians were in the camp before many of the men could get out of their tents. A little confuſion for a ſhort time prevailed, but aided by the great exertions of the officers, I was ſoon enabled to form the men in order. The companies which were hard preſſed were ſupported, ſeveral ſucceſsful charges made, and about day light the enemy were finally put to flight. Our killed and wounded amount to 179, of theſe 42 are now dead.

I have not been able to aſcertain the number of the Indians in the action, it muſt, however, have been conſiderable.

The principal chief of thoſe Potawatemies, who have joined the Prophet, is wounded, and in our poſſeſſion. I have taken care of him, and ſhall ſend him back to his tribe. At a more leaſure moment I ſhall do myſelf the honor to tranſmit a more particular account of the action, and of our previous movements; and am, with the higheſt reſpect, ſir, your humble ſervant,

WM. HENRY HARRISON.

The Hon. Wm. Euſtis, Secretary of War.

Waſhington, November, 29. 1811.

The report of the committee of foreign relations, ſo anxiouſly looked for, was this day preſented to the houſe. After ſtating the injuries we have received from Great Britain, and that France has ceaſed to violate our neutral rights the committee report ſix reſolutions.

1ſt. That our preſent military eſtabliſhment be completed.

2d. That 10,000 additional regular troops be immediately raiſed for 3 years, on bounties of land.

3d. That the militia be organized to be ready for ſervice.

4th. That the Preſident be authorized to accept the ſervice of 50,000 volunteers.

5th. That the national veſſels out of repair, worthy of repair, be repaired and put in commiſſion.

6th. That merchant veſſels be permitted to arm for their defence.

This is the ſubſtance. I have juſt heard the report read—you will have it at length in a day or two.

NEW-YORK, Dec. 2.

The Meſſengers—Lieut. Biddle, of the United States Navy, and Mr. Taylor, arrived in this city on Saturday evening, from Waſhington. They are to wait here for their deſpatches (which are expected by this morning's mail); on the receipt of which they will embark immediately in the United States ſloop of war Hornet, Capt. Lawrence, for France and England.

A letter has been received from Dublin dated the 23d October, which ſtates that the Catholic Convention had met in that city on the 19th, without any interruption from the government.

By the arrival at Baltimore of the Portſmouth, which left Cadiz on the 17th October, we learn, that Souchet had made three attacks on Valencia, in all of which he was defeated. Five thouſand men were embarking at Cadiz for Mexico. Gov. Folch's ſon was a paſſenger in the Portſmouth, and bxing diſpatches to the Spaniſh Legation. The Cortes had agreed to place an army of 60,000 men under the regulation and command of Britiſh officers.

The firſt public library recorded in hiſtory, was founded at Athens by Hyppurchus, five hundred and twenty ſix years before the birth of our Saviour: the ſecond was founded at Alexandria in Egypt, by Ptolemy Philadelphus, two hundred and eighty-four years before Chriſt's nativity; and it was burnt when Julius Cæſar ſet fire to that city; by which cataſtrophe four hundred thouſand volumes in manuſcript, were ſaid to have been deſtroyed. A ſecond library was founded at Alexandria by Ptolemy's ſucceſſor, and was reputed to have conſiſted of ſeven hundred thouſand volumes, which was totally deſtroyed by the Saracens, in the year 642. The largeſt collection of books in the United States, it is ſaid, is the City Library of Philadelphia, which, together with the Loganian Library there, makes in the whole about fifteen thouſand volumes. The firſt Circulating Library, in London, was eſtabliſhed by a Mr. Wright, a bookſeller, about the year 1730. In 1800, the number of theſe libraries in Great Britain, was not leſs than one thouſand.

Scorpions of New Mexico.—"The Scorpions of Durango exhibit the moſt remarkable influence of the phyſical effects of climate or air that I ever heard related. They come out of the walls and crevices in May, and continue about a fortnight in ſuch numbers that the inhabitants never walk in their houſes after dark without a light, and always ſhift and examine the bed clothes, and beat the curtains previous to going to reſt; after which the curtains are ſecured under the bed. The precautions are ſimilar to thoſe we take with our moſchetto curtains. The bite of theſe Scorpions has been known to prove mortal in two hours. But the moſt extraordinary circumſtance is, that by taking them ten leagues from Durango they become perfectly harmleſs, and loſe all their venomous qualities.—Query, does this ariſe from a change of air, or of ſuſtenance?"

The trowering ſyſtem diſplayed by the female children of faſhion, to the total excluſion of petticoats, is, no doubt, wiſely intended by their mammas, to teach the young ladies in good time to wear the breeches!

LION.—The largeſt lions are from eight to nine feet in length, and from four to ſix feet high; thoſe of a ſmaller ſize are generally about five feet and a half long, and about three feet and a half high. The head of this animal is very thick, and his face is ſet on all ſides with long buſhy yellowiſh hair: this ſhaggy hair extends from the top of the head to below the ſhoulders, and hangs down to his knees. He is no where ſo large or fierce as in the burning ſands of Africa. There is this mark of generoſity in the lion, that he takes away life, not to gratify cruelty, but merely to ſatisfy hunger. As Mungo Park was croſſing a large open plain, in the interior parts of Africa, ſome few years ago, he, together with his guide, rode very near a large lion, which lay by the ſide of a buſh. Mr. Park expecting the lion would inſtantly ſpring upon him, inſtinctively pulled his feet from the ſtirrups to throw himſelf off on the oppoſite ſide, ſo that his horſe might become the victim rather than himſelf. But the generous beaſt, not being hungry, quietly ſuffered them to paſs, although they were fairly within his reach. The arms even of a Hottentot or a Negro make them more than a match for this powerful creature: and they ſeldom make the attack without coming off victorious. Their uſual manner is to find out his retreat, and, with ſpears headed with iron, to provoke him to the combat. Four men are reckoned ſufficient for the encounter; and he, againſt whom the lion flies, receives him upon his ſpear, while the others attack him behind. The lion finding himſelf wounded in the rear, turns that way, and thus gives the man that firſt attacked him, an opportunity to recover. In this manner they attack him on all ſides; until at laſt, they entirely diſable, and then diſpatch him. The Romans uſed to tame this formidable beaſt; and Mark Antiony, we are told, rode through the ſtreets of Rome in a chariot drawn by lions.—Encyc. Park'; Trav. Goldſmith.

SCHEIK, or Old man of the Mountain the chief of a moſt formidable tribe of aſſaſſins, who had their reſidence on Mount Lebanon, between Antioch and Damaſcus. In the Eaſt, the name Scheik was given to this monarch; but the Europeans generally called him the Old Man of the Mountain. The firſt chief of this remarkable clan, was Haſſan Sabah, a noble impoſter, who by his artifices made fanatical the moſt obedient ſlaves of his ſubjects. Their religion was compounded of that of the Magi, the Jews, the Chriſtians, and the Mahometans; and the capital article of their creed was, that the Holy Ghoſt reſided in their chief, and that all his orders proceeded from God himſelf; implicit obedience to which would inſure to them the joys of Paradiſe. Accordingly, they were accuſtomed to proſtrate themſelves at the foot of his throne, and, at his command, would ſtab themſelves, or throw themſelves headlong down dreadful precipices; not only without murmuring, but with the utmoſt alacrity and ſatisfaction. Some of his ſubjects had learned every language, and could conform themſelves to the manners of every nation: and thus prepared, they were ſent abroad in diſguiſe, to the courts of princes, not only through Aſia and Africa, but alſo in Europe. Any Prince that had refuſed tribute to the Scheik, or in any wiſe offended him, was in danger every moment of receiving death at the hands of his aſſaſſins. Philip Auguſtus, king of France, on being told that the Old Man of the Mountain intended to have him aſſaſſinated; he immediately inſtituted a new body-guard, and never appeared without a club fortified either with iron or gold. The Scheik, darting abroad his thunderbolts from the ſummit of Mount Lebanon, and ſending death to monarchs and noblemen who offended him, held the world in terror, for more than a century; moſt ſovereigns paid him a private tribute; and all beheld him with dread and diſmay. The Mogul Tartars overthrew and completely conquered this tribe of aſſaſſins, in the year 1272.

FROM THE CHARLESTON COURIER.

THE CHRISTIAN.

The mind of man can ſcarcely contemplate a ſubject more ſtupendouſly ſublime than the frame, the variety, and the government of the material creation. The Sun, riſing in his ſtrength, and ſhedding life and lite through attending worlds, the Moon going forth in her brightneſs, and all the ſtars rejoicing in her train; the planets obeying invariable laws and wheeling their ceaſeleſs and unthaken round, preſent a ſcene for wonder and ſpeculation, almoſt ſufficient to overwhelme every mental faculty. But when we turn our attention from the material to the intellectual creation; when the mind conſiders its own migh ty capacities, the conqueſt over matter which it has already made, and which it might ſtill go on to achieve; when it conſiders that it can meaſure the magnitude and power of the Sun, explain the cauſes of the changes and wanderings of the Moon, and calculate the laws which bind the reluctant planets in their courſe, wonder is loſt in aſtoniſhment, and ſpeculation, arreſted in its adventurous career, is compelled to acknowledge that it is infinitely more difficult to explore & comprehend the ſecrets of the intellectual than of the material world. Imagination, pluming her ſtrongeſt pinions, the film purified from her eyes by religion, and her flight aided by faith and hope, cannot rise ſufficiently high to form any adequate ideas of that ſtarleſs incomprehensible GOD, who from nothing called into exiſtence a being ſo exalted and inſcrutable. But though the material world afford a fund of ſublime contemplation, which may almoſt ſatiate the deſire of the moſt ardent curioſity, the grand ſcheme of redemption thro' the only begotten Son of God; the deſcent of the Deity himſelf from his eternal throne to aſſume human nature; to offer up a propitiatory ſacrifice to ſatisfy his own juſtice, reconcile man to his offended Creator, and to publiſh the fact, that he is not a creature limited in his exiſtence to the narrow period of this evaneſcent life but deſtined to ſuffer or enjoy, to think or to act, through the ages of eternity, open a new proſpect to the eye of reaſon, ſurpaſſing all that the material world can preſent, or the mind can conceive. The reſult of the councils of the Godhead is diſplayed before an admiring univerſe. Angels inquire into the cauſes of this reſult, but they are hidden from their view—The plan is too profound for even their comprehenſion, and ſinging praiſes before the throne of the Majeſty on High, they contemplate, they wonder and adore.—How much more then, ought man, for whom this work was planned & performed; for whom his Savior was born, and ſuffered, and died, and roſe; for whom a manſion of his bliss is by this means prepared beyond death and the grave; how much more ought man to dwell with enrapturing delight, upon this ſublime myſtery, and adore the wiſdom, the power, and the goodneſs of God. Though he cannot hope now to know the cauſes which lead to this mighty event, he may here behold the bound leſs benevolence of his Creator; the way in which the redoubtable ſcheme was carried into effect, and the conſequences which muſt reſult from it clearly explained. The hiſtory of the human race is only a record of the various events by which it was introduced, and the conſequences by which it has been followed.—To uſe the language of an eloquent writer—

"Here the Almighty marſhe bare his holy arme, and put forth all his ſtrength —The introduction of this religion was the object of all the diſpenſations of the Deity upon earth. This is the centre in which terminates every line in the great circle of Providence. If one nation was victorious and another put under the yoke; if war was commiſſioned to ravage and lay deſolate the earth, or peace to make the joyful inhabitants ſing beneath the vine; if kings were crowned, or were dethroned; if empires roſe or fell, all was preparatory and ſubſervient to this great event. The monatonies which prevailed in the world, whether Aſſyrian, Perſian, Grecian, or Roman, were erected as introductory to the Meſſiah, whoſe kingdom was to be without any bounds, and whoſe reign was to be without end. That great image which the Monarch of the Eaſt beheld in his dream, whoſe head was of gold, whoſe breaſt was of ſilver, whoſe thighs were of braſs, and whoſe feet were of iron, was ſet up by Providence, to prepare the way for the ſtone which was cut out without hands, which was deſtined to ſmite the image, become a great mountain, and fill the whole earth. All events, whether proſperous or adverſe —whether malignant or benign, have co-operated towards the advancement of our religion. Saints have eſtabliſhed it, by their lives; martyrs have confirmed it, by their deaths; hypocriſies have added ſtrength to it, by their diſſimulation; tyrants have purified it, by their perſecutions; infidels have corroborated it, by their oppoſition; the arrows of its enemies have ſerved for its protection; the reſiſtance which it has met with from the combined wit and genius and malice of mankind have brought forth thoſe illuſtrious & immortal defences, which eſtabliſh its truth upon the baſis of demonſtrations.

"Shall we not, then, reckon ourſelves eternally indebted to the infinite goodneſs of GOD, and ſtir up all that is within us to bleſs his holy name? ſaying, in the language of true fervour of ſpirit—'We will praiſe thee, O God! we will praiſe thee with our whole heart!—Our lives ſhall be thy ſacrifice! We will adore thee in death, and through eternity!'

THE YORK GAZETTE.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 26.

The annual return of the Holidays brings with it, to us of this Province at this period, ſcenes of neither unpleaſant aſpect, or diſagreeable contemplation; and our cordial wiſh is, but the future recurrence of Chriſtmas and New Year may bring increaſed happineſs to our friends.—The Bow of general health little intercepted; the population and improvement of the country increaſing in the uſual degree; the abundant crops with which the huſbandman and cultivator have been favored, whilſt the conſtitution ſecures their enjoyment under the houſhold vine; the diſintereſted application of the appropriated funds to their deſtined uſes, the facilitating the inland communication, the paternal care and foſtering hand of the parent extended to this fraction of the Britiſh Empire—ſuch pleaſing combination when viewed with an "unjaundiced eye," muſt beget that degree of holy pride which we zealouſly hope only ever diſtinguiſh the BRITISH SUBJECT.—But Auguſt SOVEREIGN was living late on OCTOBER; and our fervent prayer is, that our beloved Lieutenant Governor may witneſs his happy reſtoration to health, and receive that perſonal aſſurance of the Royal favor, to which his magnanimity, and his public and private virtues are ſo diſtinguiſhedly entitled.

To our Patrons and Readers, a reſpective ſtatement of the leading European occurrences is unneceſſary —all events of public intereſt have been detailed in our Public Sheet—and now, we need ſimply but add, that Northern Europe ſeems laboring with ſome great convulſion.—We can leave their deſtinies only, to the ſupreme diſpoſal of the RULER of Kings and Kingdoms—Of Spain and Portugal we need ſay little:—The proteſting friendſhip of Britain ſtands pledged and is operating to preſerve their integrity;—may the reſult be in uniſon with the exertion, and be ſuch as the Chriſtian's benevolence can deſire.—Of the late of their South American Provinces little more than conjecture can be formed—there, the agents of diſmemberment are acting—and we can but hope that diſcourſe are awaits their unrighteous league.—To our preſent North American relations, the public are not ſtrangers.

We have peruſed with ſome attention, the correſpondence between our Miniſter, Mr. Foſter, and the American Secretary of State, relative to the pending differences—our impreſſion from their peruſal, deters us from preſenting the probable reſult of the negotiation—but our ſanguine hopes are, that it may terminate amicably.—The intereſts of the two countries are ſo intimately blended, that waving all minor conſiderations, we cannot ſee one ſubſtantial reaſon why their unſuppoſed cauſes of difference ſhould not be adjuſted; and we may juſtly infer, that if the American Government are actuated by the ſame pacific and friendly ſpirit by which the Britiſh Government is, the breach in queſtion will, inſtead of being widened, be effectually cloſed—but, if through certain influence, a juſtification of the unfriendly meaſures which have been adopted towards England ſhould be periſted in—the ſtands on too juſt and lofty ground to ſuffer either her intereſts or her honor to be compromitted.

The mutilated and imperfect ſkeleton of a man was diſcovered during the laſt week, a few yards off the road near to Mr. Cornwell's, below this town—from fragments of clothes geſthered near the place, and from other circumſtances, it is judged to be the remains of John Willſon, a carpenter, who diſappeared from this town about the 6th of June laſt.

Lateſt Intelligence.

NEW-YORK, Dec. 11.

From France.—Mr. Barney, arrived in town yeſterday from New-London. He arrived there in the ſhip Ann, Bond, of Baltimore, from Bayonne, from which place the Ann ſailed the 8th of October, with a cargo of brandy, merchandize, &c. conſigned to D. Lynch, G. G Howland, and others, of New York.

Mr. Barlow had met with a moſt cordial reception from the Duke de Baſſano, with whom he was formerly on intimate terms; and there was no doubt of a ſpeedy removal of all ſubjects of difference between the two governments. Mr. Lee reported at Bordeaux, that Jona. Ruſſell, Eſq. was to go in the Conſtitution to England as Charge des Affaires in place of Mr. Smith. The French ſtill continue to ſend immenſe reinforcements into Spain and Portugal. The trains of artillery and baggage waggons loaded with ammunition and proviſions were without end, and generally deſtined for the laſt place. Among them were conſiderable quantities of beſieging materials, particularly thoſe deſigned for mining.

We have reaſon to believe that the accounts of an arrangement being entered into by Mr. Foſter and Mr. Monroe, for the Repeal of the Britiſh Orders in Council and the American Non Importation law, as mentioned by Messrs. Lang and Turner, of New-York, IS entitled to credit.—Free. Journ.

The following tranſlations are from the Freeman's Journal.

From the Cadiz Regency Gazette, of October 17.

The old French veteran Regiments and Officers (including Generals, among which is Marſhal Victor) are re-calling into France.

All the French Hoſpitals at Toledo, are full of ſick and wounded. The Hoſpital of St. Lazarus alone, is filled with 2000 ſick, juſt arrived from Marmont's army. Another Hoſpital (formerly a manufactory of arms) is fitting up, to receive 3000 from Talavera.

The whole French force in Madrid, and the ſurrounding towns, amounted only, on the 18th September to 2195 men.

SEVILLE, Octr. 4.

On the 7th ult. at 5 P. M. an officer from the army of Marſhal Marmont arrived here express with deſpatches to Marſhal Soult, who in conſequence, immediately deſpatched an officer to his brother, who is with an army in Grenada, another to General Oudinot, and another to Marſhal Victor, and immediately alſo called a Council of War, compoſed of all the officers of his army! It is aſſured, that thoſe deſpatches contain a detailed account from Marſhal Marmont of his extreme neceſſities, ariſing from the conſtant reinforcements receiv ed by the Britiſh, and that his reſources of proviſions and medicines being nearly exhauſted, he calls for immediate relief!

FROM THE AURORA.

Extracts from letters from Cadiz, of dates, the 2d, 4th, 7th, 10th, 11th, 13th, and 14th Octr. 1812.

Since my laſt, an Engliſh brig, and an Engliſh ſloop of war, has ſent into this port, two French feluccas or row boats, taken off St. Lucar; theſe feluccas are reported to have taken the day before their capture, a large Engliſh transport from Tangier, bound to this port with cattle.

This evening the Engliſh gun boats and the Spaniſh works at Puntales, have been throwing ſhells very briſkly into the French works on the oppoſite ſhores, who have ſent back from forts Napoleon & Matagorda, a number in return; but none towards the town. With the Levanter, now blowing, a number of veſſels, Spaniſh and others, have come in from the coaſt and Mediterranean.

4th. Yeſterday the Levanter continued and brought in a number of coaſters and a few other veſſels, a mong which the Eliza, Bird, of New-York, but deſtined for Gibraltar; in her way in ſhe had the misfortune to drift under the French battery of St. Catalina, and there ſtuck for near half an hour, within gun ſhot, expoſed to the French batteries, 40 or 50 ſhot were fired at her, four of which went on board, and one nearly cut her mizen maſt in two; ſhe muſt have been loſt had it not been for the activity of the Britiſh, who ſoon got aboard and towed her up the bay. An American brig from Alexandria, 54 days, is alſo come in, conſigned to our conſul here

7th. For the two laſt days nothing new. This day about 10 ſail of large transports arrived from the Mediterranean with Britiſh troops, about 4000 in number. Two American brigs, one from Baltimore, the other from Boſton, have alſo come in, with 1900 barrels flour—their paſſage has been above 50 days.

10th. Several of the Engliſh regiments which arrived here a few days since, have been ordered away—the report is, that they are ordered to go and join Gen. Ballaſteros, who is ſaid to be paying the Luſil with the Frenchmen in every direction. The Spaniards appear to have great confidence in this General, and it ſeems to be the opinion, that if they had a better government, they might yet do very well, but as it at preſent exiſts there is no hope.

I ſaw a letter from Alicant of the 29th Sept. which ſays to this effect—"For ſome time back, we knew poſitively that ſome formidable preparations were making at Tortoſa and Tereuil by the French where Suchet has organized a force of 26,000 men, with the intention of attacking Valencia and Alicant.——Laſt night a courier deſpatched from Valencia, bro't General Roach advice that Suchet's advance of 3000 infantry and 400 horſe, had entered Vinaros on the 15th, and had puſhed on to Alcala de Gilbert the next day. That another had at the ſame time advanced from Terrul upon Larion, and entered that place; in conſequence of which all the militia and all the guerrillas of the Province were called upon to take arms, and Gen. Zugar had been directed by General Blake, from the army of the centre, to march for Valencia. This diviſion I have no doubt, will do its duty; but I very much queſtion whether its example will be of any avail, for the troops are accuſtomed to diſperſe when the enemy appears in ſight. Indeed I begin ſeriouſly to fear that our fate is decided, and I am accordingly taking every precaution to put my property in ſafety as well as that of my friends.

11th. Puntales has been firing very briſk all this morning. The French had very early commenced the erection of a ſmall advanced battery oppoſite to Puntales, and immediately as they began to work, the Spaniſh batteries opened upon them. They are ſtrange people, they don't ſeem to mind it, for they ſeldom fire a ſhot in return.

The American Conſul here has made a contract with the Spaniſh government for a conſiderable quantity of proviſions, payable by bills of exchange on London, at two, three, and four months, and has engaged to deliver the whole in fifteen days. I enclose you a copy, which is printed at the government preſs here.

11,500 barrels flour at 15 Dollars.
400 do. pork at - 20
400 do. beef at - 14
300 tierces rice at 6 per 100l.
250 quintals bread at 8 per 100.

Which, if the caſh is forthcoming, may ſell well.

13th. This being Sunday, little news—a Spaniſh boat coming round by Puntales from the Iſland, was fired at by the French from Fort Louis. We have had more firing going on between the Engliſh and Spaniſh, and the French, this month, than there has been theſe four months. Laſt night, all the Engliſh gun boats went out, and placed themſelves directly under Fort St. Catalina, where a pretty heavy fire was kept up for about half an hour, when they returned again.

14. This being the birth day of Ferdinand VII. it is a day of great noiſe—nothing but ſalutes from the Engliſh and Spaniſh men of war, and the batteries on ſhore.

From South America.—Captain Pinell, from Rio Janeiro, informs us, that the Monte Videans continued to blockade Buenos Ayres by ſea, and that the Revolutioniſts on the other hand continued to beſiege Monte Video by land, and was ſo near as to ſometimes throw ſhot into the town; but that it was nevertheleſs ſuppoſed the beſieged would be able to defend themſelves as long as they could obtain ſupplies. The Prince Regent of Portugal had ſent 7000 troops from Brazil, to aid the Monte Videans in their loyalty.—Salem Gaz.

The Spaniards.—Capt. James Derby, of this town, who has arrived at Boſton from the Mediterranean, and who left Gibraltar the 22d of Oct. brings information, as received at that place, that the unconquerable ſpirit of the Spaniards had again manifeſted itſelf in the recovery of the city of Tarragona, in Catalonia, lately taken from them; in which exploit there was a moſt dreadful ſlaughter of the French. We have not seen Capt. D. ourſelves, but this we have from a perſon who converſed with him. —ib.

Foreign Affairs.—Some of the reſpectable papers hold out the belief that an accommodation with England is cordially promoted by certain characters in this country of deciſive influence. We have every reaſon to believe is unfounded. The Britiſh mean to make no favorable change, having long ſince taken their ground; and our adminiſtration will willingly leave things upon their preſent footing, which is that of the continental ſyſtem, equally pleaſing to them and to Bonaparte. If any change is to place, it muſt be produced by the advocates of war in Congreſs, or the managers of the Preſidential caucus.—Fed. Rep.

HALIFAX, Nov. 6.

We are ſorry to learn by a veſſel from the Iſle of Sable, that a ſhip has been lately wrecked on the S. E. end of the Iſland, and every perſon belonging to her, it is feared, has periſhed—the tops of her maſts appear juſt above the ſurface of the water, and her boat has been picked up. As part of an American pendant has been found, it is ſuppoſed ſhe belonged to the United States.

LATEST FOREIGN NEWS.

London, October 21.

The following Bulletin was yeſterday ſhewn at St. James's Palace.

"Windſor Caſtle, Oct. 20.—" The King has continued nearly in the ſame ſtate throughout the week." Signed as uſual.

Government, we underſtand, have come to a determination not to grant any more licences for the exportation of bullion.

We regret to learn, by the moſt recent communications from Windſor, no improvement has taken place in his Majeſty's complaint.—Two deſpatches have been received at York Houſe, the one at 10 o'clock laſt night and the other at 2 this morning. They agree in ſtating, that his Majeſty was not worſe than yeſterday morning, but that he had not left his room the whole of the day. We underſtand that his indiſpoſition has varied conſiderably during the laſt week. On Monday and Tueſday he was worſe than he had been for ſome time paſt, but within the laſt three or four days, he recovered ſufficient ſtrength to be able to take the exerciſe of walking in the rooms. We are ſorry to hear, however, that ſleep has only been procured by the adminiſtration of opiates.

The Anſbott Mail, reached town laſt night, affords an additional proof of Bonaparte's extreme carneſtneſs to reſtore the naval eſtabliſhment of France, and to call, by all poſſible means, into active ſervice, his line of battle ſhips which at preſent, deſtitute of able and experienced ſeamen, the ſoul and life-blood of maritime enterpize, ſerve merely, in their reſpective port and roads, for the purpoſe of idle ſhow and ridiculous oſtentation. The decree to which we allude has been iſſued at Hamburgh, and is ſo very comprehenſive in its operation, as to embrace every individual in any way capable of contributing to the manning and equipment of his fleets. All the inhabitants of the Hanſeatic towns, who have ſailed in armed or merchant veſſels, and who have been employed in the fiſheries, or on the coaſts, rivers, and canals, of the departments, are, by this decree, placed upon the new naval conſcription, and compelled to preſent themſelves and make immediate tender of their ſervices. All deſcriptions of men, from the age of eighteen to that of fifty, are forced to obey the requiſition; and we might have ſome reaſon to apprehend the effects of a meaſure ſo very general and coercive throughout a country abounding in excellent and hardy mariners, were we not convinced that while Bonaparte can, by mere force and terror man his veſſels with them, he will be unable to infuſe into their hearts that malignity and hatred which he entertains for every thing that is Engliſh. They can never banniſh from their minds the recollection of their former opulence and happineſs, the annihilation of their independence and trade, and the deplorable effects of a tyranny unexampled in the hiſtory of mankind.

The Anſbott mail ſupplies us with ſome further accounts reſpecting military operations between the Ruſſians and the Turks. The latter have certainly croſſed the Danube near Widden. It appears, however, that in two engagements, fought on the 22d of July, and the 3d of Aug. the Turks were repulſed with conſiderable loſs.

Some accounts were received on Saturday from Jerſey and Guernſey of the 12th. The expectations of invaſion ſeem to have ſubſided; but every neceſſary precaution was ſtill taken.

A large reinforcement will be immediately ſent to Portugal. The 7th Dragoon Guards, the Huſſar Brigade, and General Campbell's fine Scotch regiment, the 91ſt form part. The latter is now eſteemed one of the beſt infantry regiments in the ſervice.

The departure of Mr. Thornton, formerly Britiſh Miniſter at the Court of Stockholm, who is now on his paſſage to the Baltic, has given riſe to a variety of ſpeculations, both of a political and commercial nature. While ſome maintain that the only object of his miſſion is to re-eſtabliſh by very advantageous offers, certain branches of trade with Sweden, and even with the Court of Peterſburgh; others contend that he is armed with powers to ſupport Ruſſia in the reviſal of a northern war. In conſequence of the latter ſuppoſition, it was reported, both on Saturday and yeſterday, that orders had been iſſued to the Tranſport Board to take up veſſels for the immediate conveyance of a large ſupply of military ſtores for Ruſſia and Pruſſia; and it was even boldly aſſerted that a large battering train was fitting at Woolwich, 15,000,000 cartridges were ſhipping at Puncheon; intended for the Ruſſian and Pruſſian Governments.—The advanced period of the ſeaſon, however, independently of every other conſideration, muſt ſhow the abſurdity of theſe rumours.

With regard to Pruſſia, it is abſolutely impoſſible that any promiſe of ſupport from this country can rouſe her from the dreadful apathy into which ſhe has fallen, or re-invigorate her councils. She is conſcious that ſhe exiſts but by the indulgence of Bonaparte, and we accordingly find his Pruſſian Majeſty moſt anxiouſly eager to contradict every rumour which hints at the probability of a rupture with France. A letter of the 25th ult. from Berlin, after mentioning the alarm which had been generally entertained upon the ſubject, ſays, "But our fears have now begun to ſubſide, as an article appeared in our Court Gazette of the 24 h, contradicting all the rumours which had been circulated, of troops being aſſembled and diſciplined in different diſtricts, and afterwards diſbanded; and ſtating, that the army would remain on its preſent peace eſtabliſhment."—Another letter of the ſame date, notices an article which had appeared in all the Pruſſian Journals, inviting the merchants to renew, under the ſanction of the government, the contracts for ſupplying the French garriſons of Stettin and Cuſtrin with proviſions for the year 1812; and adds, that owing to the efforts of government, the contracts were promptly made, and on terms extremely advantageous to the French.

The laſt is, that the object of Mr. Thornton's miſſion is known to Miniſters only, and he has been probably ſent more to ſound this diſpoſition of the Court of Peterſburgh, and perhaps of Stockholm, than to offer any preciſe terms. It may be called an experimental embaſſy, or a forerunner to real negociation.

The Channel fleet under Sir C. Cotton, it is ſaid, is to rendezvous at Spithead during the winter, and not at Plymouth.

Admiral Young, the Commander in Chief of the North Sea fleet, with Rear Admiral Sir R. Strachan and Vice Admiral Fetter, arrived in the Downs on Friday, with 13 ſail of the line, from off Flushing. The blockade of the Scheldt, except by a ſmall ſquadron, for the purpoſe of obſervation, being for the preſent ſuſpended.—It is generally underſtood, that the French fleet which was aſſembled at Flushing, is gone up the Scheldt towards Antwerp, not being ſufficiently manned and equipped for the ſort of ſervice they might have encountered if they ventured out to ſea. None of the officers were, however, permitted to come on ſhore, as the fleet was expected to return.

October 22.

Deſpatches from Lord Wellington and a Liſbon mail arrived this Morning with letters and papers to the 13th. The head quarters of our army are ſtill at Frexada, and the enemy having retired from the vicinity of Ciudad Rodrigo, are at Placentia, Corea and Salamanca. Our troops are going into cantonments, and no active operations are expected for ſome time to come. Soult was ſuppoſed to be on his way back to Eſtremadura to join Marmont, but a deſpatch from Lord Wellington to the Portuguese government ſtate, that advices from Cadiz of the 13th ult. mentions him to have taken a weſterly direction.

Our Squadron on the Baſque Roads ſtation, and our cruizers all along that part of the French coaſt, have been latterly moſt eminently ſucceſsful in the capture and deſtruction of the enemy's chaſe marines, and coaſting veſſels of different deſcriptions; 23 of which have been carried into Plymouth.

A plan of a moſt deſtructive nature, is now in agitation, and has been originated by a Mr. Fane, and was a few days ſince, examined before the Lords of the Admiralty. It is a four pound ſhot, wrapped round with a prepared cotton, and made very hard, ſo as to appear like a large cannon ball—on firing off which, it has the uſual effect of a cannon ſhot; but the moment it ſtarts from the cannon's mouth it preſents one ſolid maſs of fire—and whatever it hits, whether rigging or hull of a ſhip, will immediately take fire.

The Prince Regent will ſet off in a few days on a tour of military inſpection through the county of Kent. His Royal Highneſs will be attended by a numerous ſtaff, and will firſt review the troops and lines at Chatham, near the garriſon of Canterbury, and afterwards the extenſive fortifications at Dover, and the troops in garriſon thereat at which place the ſeveral regiments cantoned on the Kentiſh coaſt, will alſo be aſſembled and reviewed.

The hereditary Princeſs of Bavaria was delivered the 7th inſt. of a ſon. The infant is bleſſed with a profuſion names, having been baptized Charles, Anthony, Maximilian, Joachim, Zephirin, Florentick, Meinrad.

A great quantity of arms and ammunition, with ſeveral pieces of braſs ordnance, have, within the laſt few days, been ſhipped from the Tower, for Bermuda and Quebec.

The accounts from Conſtantinople, which Sir Harford Jones has communicated to Government, are ſaid to be of an unfavorable nature.

A mediation is determined on and appointed, between Spain and the American Colonies; the Engliſh gentlemen are named the Hon. Gazette, a mong whom we obſerve Mr. Morier, lately our Charge d'Affaires to the United States.

It is reported that Bonaparte meditates the invaſion of Jerſey with an army of 30,000 men from the port of Cherbourg. Advices to this effect have been ſent by Lord Liverpool to Gen. Don, who has taken the neceſſary precautions. It is however probable that the object of the French armament is very different from that which he feigns to threaten.

In the event of an attempt being made ſuddenly upon Jerſey and Guernſey, meaſures of precaution have been taken regarding Portſmouth and Plymouth. Government have determined to leſſen the prodigious accumulation of French priſoners at theſe our two principal naval ſtations and are ſhips are carrying the priſoners to Scotland.

Some more Major Generals, it is ſaid, will be ſent out to Portugal, and ſome of our beſt and moſt active Colonels have the name of Brigadier in that country.—Miniſtry, it is ſaid, have given the choice of all theſe officers to Lord Wellington.

On Thurſday morning, Capt. Burket, Inſpector General of Military Hoſpitals in Plymouth garriſon, in a fit of mental derangement, cut his throat ſo effectually, that his ſervant when he went to call him to breakfaſt, found him lifeleſs. No cauſe is aſſigned for this rath act.

The Gazette of Saturday contains an Order in Council, revoking a previous Order of the 12th of April, 1809, by which the ſubjects of countries in amity with Great Britain were permitted to trade in their own veſſels with the Cape of Good Hope and its dependencies, and declaring that from and after the 12th of April, 1812, the trade with that country ſhall be carried on in Britiſh veſſels only. It is, however, provided, that ſhips belonging to ſtates in amity with Great Britain may enter the ports of that ſettlement for repairs and refreſhment, and under ſuch circumſtances, a part of the cargoes may be diſpoſed of to defray expences:—ſuch veſſels, alſo, being laden with proviſions, and furniſhed with licences which the Governor is permitted to grant, are alſo allowed to enter the ſaid ports.

Some time ago a boat's crew was ſent from the Rebuff, lying at Cadiz to deſtroy a ſmall battery near St. Lucar. Every man left the boat for that purpoſe except one to take care of her, ſome time after two of the crew who had intentionally ſtayed from the party, came to the boat again, and jumped into her, ordered the boatkeeper to put off to the other ſide of the river to the French, in order that they might deſert to them; the man in the boat oppoſed them, and a deſperate ſtruggle enſued: he however ſucceeded in throwing one of them overboard and that the other dead with a piſtol which he ſnatched from the ſtern theet, he afterwards wounded the man in the water, in his attempting to come on board again, in the arm, and ſucceeded in ſaving the boat. What renders this circumſtance more remarkable is that the man is an American, of the name of James Thomſon, who had been preſſed into our ſervice a few weeks before.

The old lady who thought to ſecure herſelf from the effects of the Comet, by taking refuge in a tutt of water has been driven to deſperation by the opinion of an able aſtronomer, that the heat of this new viſitant, ſhould he approach the earth, would be ſo great as to cauſe the water to boil. The poor dame now ſees no alternative between being boiled and being roaſted.

Government, it is ſaid, have determined to carry Capt. Manly's plan for ſaving ſhip wrecked mariners into effect, on every dangerous part of the coaſt of the United Kingdom, under the ſuperintendance of the Captain, with a ſuitable proviſion to ſupport ſo honorable an appointment.

PETERSBURGH, / e 18

By two reports from the Commander in Chief of the Army of Moldavia, we are informed that a Turkiſh corps, under the command of Capt. Bey, had advanced from Serres to Widdin, and taken poſſeſſion of the iſlands in the Danube under cover of the laſt fortreſs, whereby a number of their troops were enabled to take a poſition on the left of the river. On the 22d of July, early in the morning, the Turks made a ſevere attack on our troops, commanded by Gen. Sass, and ſupported by Majors Generals Rabinsky and Sytnowsky. They were but once, by twice repulſed, but were alſo forced to their intrenchments. The conflict was maintained againſt an enemy of twice our force, till toward's noon in the morning the three in the afternoon. The Turks loſt upwards of 1000 men in killed and wounded. Our loſs conſiſts of 18 killed, and 74 wounded; amongſt whom are three officers.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 22.

His Royal Majeſty on the 13th, iſſued an edict of the following effect; namely, "That any Danish ſhip which may be taken by the enemy, but not carried into an Engliſh port, or into any other port, at preſent in poſſeſſion of the enemy, and, conſequently, not condemned by a ſentence of the Court of Admiralty of Great Britain, but merely ſold to the ſubject of ſome foreign power, ſhall, on ſuch veſſel entering into any Danish harbour, on the declaring the war, or after peace being concluded, be delivered up to the Danish owners; or if detained at ſea during the war by Danish cruizers, ſhall be conſidered as a reprize."

Extract of a letter from Liverpool, dated 22d Oct. inſtant.

"I have ſeen a gentleman to-day who is juſt arrived from the Continent. He ſays their official accounts had been received that an amicable adjuſtment of all differences had been made between the Emperor of Ruſſia and Bonaparte; that Alexander claimed the liberty of regulating the trade of his own territories, and Bonaparte acceded to it. In conſequence of this, colonial produce, American cotton, log wood, &c. was down to St. Petersburg 50 per cent. It is ſaid that Alexander negotiated at the head of two hundred thouſand choſen troops and it was ſuppoſed that Bonaparte was not fully prepared to reſiſt the claim of his friend and ally. Ruſſian produce has riſen here. Archangel hemp is 85l in London. It is difficult to ſay what effect this will have upon American produce in this country. I ſhould think it would be rather favorable than otherwiſe for every thing but cotton."

NEW YORK, December 4.

Capt. Bancroft, of the ſchooner Sea Nymph, who arrived at this port on Saturday evening from Algeſiras, which place he left on the 16th of October, has favoured us with the following ſituation of the armies in that neighbourhood, viz.

That a detachment of the French army, ſaid to be commanded by Marſhal Soult, and about 10,000 ſtrong, had within a few days made their appearance in the neighbourhood of Algeſiras, and had compelled General Ballaſteros, whoſe army conſiſted of 6000 effective men and 600 other troops, to retreat from the poſitions they held upon the heights and take protection under the batteries of Gibraltar, which was effected with but any fighting of conſequence. That a ſmall detachmen of Soult's army was fallen in with a few days ſince, and about 30 men were made priſoners, among whom was one Colonel. Since this affair, the lives loſt on both ſides did not exceed ten in all.

General Ballaſteros has very wiſely avoided a general engagement with a force ſo ſuperior in diſcipline and numbers, and has only conſidered the ſecurity of his army, until he can be reinforced.

About two hours before capt. Bancroft ſailed three Engliſh officers arrived with diſpatches from Tarifa, with advices of the arrival of 2500 Engliſh and 4 to Spaniſh troops at that place, and that one half of them were landed when they left Tarifa—that 3000 more were expected from Ceuta.

The French were in full poſſeſſion of St. Roque, and all the inhabitants had fled for protection under the Rock of Gibraltar, as the French were within one league of Algeſiras, where they were momently expected.—That all the inhabitants were leaving the town, with what they could pack up and carry off, and flying for protection on board the veſſels in the harbour, and on Green Iſland; they ſo overloaded the boats with women and children, in the hurry and confuſion, that two of them were ſunk, and ſeveral people were drowned.

On the morning of the 16th of October, there was a conſtant fire kept up between the Iſland and the contending parties, near the neutral ground, and the Engliſh gun boats which were ſtationed there were playing upon the French. At the entrance of the Gut of Gibraltar, capt. B. paſſed a fleet of ten ſail of tranſports full of troops, under convoy of a brigate, bound in.

The Engliſh from Sicily, have captured the iſland of Ponza, off the bay of Gaeta, in Italy.

The Baltic convoy which has juſt arrived, though protected by 7 ſail of the line, were attacked in the Sound by 130 Danish gun boats—The convoy proceeded under the care of five of the men of war, and the Creſſy, Capt. Potter, and Mars, Capt. Raper, of 74 guns each, ſailed into the Baltic, and commenced an engagement, which reſulted in the deſtruction of about 30 of the gun boats & crews.

Latest Intelligence.

NEW-YORK, Dec. 16.

Latest from Europe.

By the arrival this morning of the ship Merchant, Whitemarsh, in 36 days from Liverpool, we have been favoured with a file of English papers, London dates to the 6th and Liverpool to the 8th of November inclusive, sixteen days later than before received; but they contain little news of importance. The following articles are the most interesting.

Plymouth, Nov. 3.

Arrived this morning the American schr. Little Caroline, Trippett, from Bordeaux, with a valuable cargo, consisting of wine, brandy, oil, silks, &c. bound to New York, and detained and sent in here by Sesmaris frigate, capt. Richardson: also arrived this day the brig Midas, Cohee, from Gibraltar, with a cargo consisting of brandy and wine, and is under quarantine.

London, November 5.

It is said that an American house of great eminence and respectability flopped payment in the city, on Friday for upwards of half a million sterling; and that one of the firm (a brother) who is in America, has, from some unexplained cause, made over the whole of the property to the American government.

Lately at Teneriffe three American seamen were shot for murdering their Captain, mate, cook, and a Spanish Priest, passenger in their vessel.

An express was received yesterday forenoon from Windsor, stating, "that his M jesty had a restless night, but was not better." Another express arrived in the evening, stating, "that his Majesty had not walked in the course of the day, and was not considered better."

Liverpool, November 8.

With the Post Letters of this morning, we have been favoured with a communication from an Officer on board Admiral Young's ship, in which it is said, that no person attached to the fleet in waiting in the Downs, whatever be his rank, is permitted on any pretext whatever, to go on shore and this has given rise to the opinion that Ministers are in full expectation of some naval enterprize by the enemy.

Latest from Spain.

Captain Vioberi, in 28 days from Algeziras informs, that a French army of about 10,000 men, was encamped near Algeziras, and that three French Generals had rode through the town without molestation—That the French had evacuated St Roque; and that the Spanish troops under the command of General Ballesteros had entered that place.

Charleston, Dec. 7

LATE FROM PORTUGAL.

By capt. Robinson, of the ship Eagle, 24 days from Lisbon, we learn that on the 5th of November a telegraphic despatch was received at Lisbon, announcing that a detachment of 3000 French troops, under the command of Gen. Fouche, were surprized by the British under Gen. Hill, near Zangano, who made 1000 prisoners, including one Gen. 2 Colonels, and 40 inferior officers—Gen. Fouche was said to be badly wounded, and to have escaped with difficulty. On the 10th, the day on which the Eric sailed, the official account of this affair was received, and on the day following a grand fete was to take place in honor of the achievement.

The accounts from Lord Wellington are only to the 2d November, at which time Ciudad Rodrigo was said to be invested, all supplies entirely cut off, and was expected to fall into hands of the English in a few days.—Reinforcements still continue to arrive from England.

From Lisbon Papers.—The following articles are copied from the Norfolk Ledger, received by this morning's Mail.

NORFOLK, Dec. 15.

By the arrival of the ship Citizen, Capt. Allen, from Lisbon, which place she left the 5th of November, we have received Lisbon papers to the fourth of November, from which a few translations are made for this day's Ledger.

The Head-Quarters of Lord Wellington on the 23d of October were at Frenada, about 25 miles W. S. W. of Ciudad Rodrigo.

An account of an advantage gained over the French by General Hill's division, in which the French lost 1600 men, three pieces of cannon and all their baggage, we received on the 4th of Nov. after which the Citizen had no communication with the shore.

Translated from Lisbon papers for the Public Ledger.

BERGA, (Catalonia) Sept. 27.

Extract of a letter from Field Marshal Baron de Eroles, to General Lacy, dated Mede Islands, Sept. 1.

The Spanish Flag is already flying on the ramparts of Las Medas, the garrison of which, furrendered at discretion to day, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, after an obstinate refistance, and in sight of a division of the enemy four times superior to ours, which in vain exerted their utmost endeavours against us. These Islands possels by nature, so fine a situation, that, besides affording a little coast, a port sheltered from every wind except the S. W. on which side the vessels enter, they are almost inaccessible, on account of the ruggedness of their whole circumference, so that a second Gibraltar might be formed of them. They have also a free and expeditious communication with each other.—The possession of them, which until now, has been looked upon with contempt, will soon shew to the principality, the advantages of which they are susceptible, by affording an asylum to the people in case of any great disaster, by a port for merchandize, and a depositfor magazines of all kinds.—Such are the fruits of the efficacy with which the English Col. Edmin Green, directed this expedition, of the great talents he displayed both in the works and in the direction of the attacks, of the avidity and valour with which they were executed by the troops of both nations, and of the affiftance of every kind, given by Capt. Thomas, commander of His B. M. frigate Undaunted, who performed prodigies in the accomplishment of this object.

LISBON, Nov. 2.

By letters from Alentejo received by yesterday's Mail, we, learn, that the French corps under the command of General Girard was routed on the 28th ult. in Arroyo de Molinos by General Hill, with the lofs of 200 men killed, 1000 taken prisoners; Gen. Girard himself wounded; Gens. Brun au D'Arenberg, chiefs of the ftaff, prisoners, and the victors were in pursuit of the remainder of the said corps.

ALICANT, (Province of Valencia) Oct. 4.

The French attempted a fecond time to take Murviedro by affault, but have again been repulsed with great lofs.

ALCIRAS, Oct. 4.

The enemy have loft fince they entered this province about 960 men.—They advanced within 5 miles of the city of Valencias, but they will succeed no better in this third invafion than they did in the two preceding. A combined plan considerably forces a grand difpofition in the troops and patriots, who anxiouly desire to fight and embrue their hands in the blood of the atrocious Vandals, and above all a surprising energy, promises us the moft favorable result.

The news from Catalonia is, that Gen. Lacy also is for the system of energy; we hope that this fpirit may spread, for it will be the universal remedy for the evils we are suffering.

LISBON, Nov. 4.

The intelligence of Gen. Girard's defeat has been confirmed. Many letters from Elvas and its vicinity, have been received, which ftate that he had loft all his artillery and baggage, that he was madly wounded and had fled to the mountains with 300 men only; that Gen. Morillo was in pursuit of him, that General Hill had entered Merida in queft of the remainder of the enemy's division which had attacked that road, and that the garrison of that city had fled at the approach of our troops.

CADIZ, Oct. 16.

By advices from Gen. Ballafteros, dated the 14th, we learn, that the enemy to the number of 12,000 men had advanced as far as St. Roque; he being unable to oppose such superior forces, retired under the cannon of Gibraltar.

LISBON, Oct. 30.

Extract of an official letter from Marshal General Lord Wellington, dated Head Quarters Frenada, October 23, 1811, to his Excellency, Don Miguel Pereira Forjaz.

The enterprize of Don Julian Sanches to take the cattle, both large and small, belonging to Ciudad Rodrigo, of which I made mention in my laft despatch, was very well conducted, & the very advantageous consequences correspond with the good plan. During the night of the 14th, he ftationed his troops in the places where he had been informed the cattle usually grazed in the morning;—and poffed behind the heights of Elbdon two detachments of cavalry, to lay in wait, for the cattle between these heights and the city.—The Governor General, who had come out of the city, and croffed the Agueda, accompanied by some officers of the ftaff and a party of 20 horsemen, no sooner come among the heights, than he, together with two of his attendants, was surrounded and taken prisoners by Don Julian's detachment, under the cannon of the place. The remainder of the escort escaped, one of the officers who accompanied the Governor was wounded.

Shortly after the detachments poffed by Don Julian on the height of the Agueda, carried off greater part of the cattle, which was grazing within reach of the artillery on that side of the river.

The enemy's troops which are in front of this army has made no movement of importance since my laft advice to your Excellency. A detachment of the army of the north which had croffed the Termes with the object of pillaging the country between this river and Yeites, has returned to its cantonments without any great advantage from the expedition.

I am informed by news from Cadiz to the 15th inft. that Marfhal Suchet with 20,000 men had entered the province of Valencia and advanced as far as Murviedro.

On the 19th of laft month he thrice affailed the fortress of Saguntum (near the above mentioned city) and was thrice repulsed with great flaughter. On the 4th inft. he was ftill before Murviedro.

While this was going on, General Blake entered Valencia—all the ftrong holds in Valencia have been taken poffeffion of, and the greateft exertions are making to collect a large force, for the object of preventing all communication of the enemy with the rearguard. General Blake and the inhabitants of Valencia appeared determined to co-operate in the resistance against the enemy.

Since my laft to your excellency, there has been no movement in the north.

I have the honor to be, &c.

BOSTON, Dec. 16.

From South America.—We have verbal accounts and Spanish Journals from the river of Plate to the 28th of September.—No essential alteration had taken place in the political affairs of that region.—The American Revolutionists continued their career in the interior, but had met with some rebuffs, and it was reported, discord had introduced her snakes into their councils, and that a counter revolution was expected. They continued the investment of Monte Video, but had made little impreffion on it. On the other hand, the Montevideans were in daily expectation of a reinforcement from the Bazils; and their fleet continued the blockade of Buenos Ayres, allowing British veffels to pass when not laden with contraband of war. The Revolutionists had sent a Deputation to the Prince Regent of Portugal, which had been well received.—Their Proclamations are issued in the name of Ferdinand 7th; and the conduct of Bonaparte is severely handled. It appears by various official articles in the papers, that Cordova, Petosis, and Paraguay had joined in the revolution, and had chosen their Provincial Congress.

From Lisbon.—Capt. Foster, arrived here on Saturday, from Lisbon, which place he left Nov. 11, informs that a few hours before he sailed, one of the House of Gould, Brothers & Co. said a report was in circulation, that a great battle had been fought between the combined and French armies—particulars unknown but were expected next day. Cap. F. politely favored us with a Lisbon paper of Nov. 7, but it contains no information from the armies, which remained in cantonment on the frontiers.

Further from Lisbon.—The ship Canton Allen, arrived at this port yesterday in 39 days from Lisbon. She failed on the 11th November, and brings Portuguese papers to the 16th. The article they furnish is the official account of General Hill's action with the French, published at Lisbon on the 16th, of which the following is the substance, as communicated by him in a letter to Lord Wellington, dated Merida, Oct. 30:—

"The progress of our columns was not perceived by the enemy until they were very near; at which time they were retreating from Arroyo de Molino, the road which leads to Merida.—The rear of their column, part of their cavalry, and some of their baggage were ftill in the town. A brigade of the infantry had marched towards Medellin an hour before sunrise.—The 71ft, and 92d regiments rushed into the city and forced them to evacuate at the point of the bayonet. After the retreat of the enemy. Major-General Howard's column advancing to cut off the enemy's Cavalry from the infantry, making repeated charges and putting the enemy to the rout.—The 13th light dragoons took poffeffion immediately of the enemy's artillery; and the 2d regiment of Huffars, and 9th light dragoons made a moft courageous charge; the laft commanded by capt. Gore, and the whole by Major Buffche.—I fhould, however, have previoufly mentioned that the British cavalry were delayed for fome time, in consequence of the darkneis of the night and badneis of the roads; the Spanifh cavalry commanded by the Count Villa Mur, was the firft that engaged the enemy on this occafion, till the British came up. The enemy at this time were in full retreat, but the column under Major-Gen. Howard having gained the position which had been determined upon, enclofed the enemy on every fide, and left them no alternative but to furrender or difperfe through the mountains. Preferring the latter they were clofely purfued by the 28th and 38th infantry regiments, whilft they were furrounded by the 39th Portuguese regiment commanded by col. Ashworth who encircled the mountain by the road to Truxillo, to turn the flank; and at the fame time the infantry of Brigade Gen. Morillo, followed at fome diftance on the left with the same intention. The enemy's troops at this time, as may be imagined, were panic ftruck. The cavalry flying, attempting to efcape;—Gen. Howard making prisoners at every pafs; but his men being few in number & much fatigued, he was obliged to halt in order to fecure the enemy that had fallen into his hands; and leave the purfuit to the Spanifh infantry under Gen. Morillo.

"Since writing the despatches, more priſoners have been made; the number taken will undoubtedly amount to 12 or 14,000. General Morillo has returned from purfuing the fugitives. He affirmed that besides the killed, he found in the mountains 600 wounded.

"The French General Girard escaped in the direction of Sierra, with about 2 or 300 men, many without arms. It is faid that he and his adjutant are both wounded."

Capt. Tuck arrived at Boston from Jacquemel, informs that Chriſtophe was preparing to attack Port-au Prince which place had been put in the beft ftate of defence. Petion has no veſsels of war, but his ports very well fortified. Chriſtophe's fleet was distributed in various ports. Capt. T. saw in Jacquemel, a captain in Chriſtophe's army, who had deserted—this officer ſtated that two American veſſels, said to be schooners had been taken in the Bite of Leogane, by his cruizers, carried into Gonaives, and the crews imprisoned. Paper money has been iſſued by order of Chriſtophe, and any person refuſing to take it would be arreſted, and it is said, ſuffer death.

Letters have been received from the Cherokee, Chocktaw and Creek Agencies, all as late as Nov. 29th, which ſtate that those Indians remain quiet and friendly, and that the Prophet's attempts to inſtigate them againſt the United States had proved unſuccesſful, except with ſome few Creeks, who it is faid, have gone to join his party.—Nat. Int.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.

From the following letter, it appears, that a very rigorous and oppreſſive FORCING ACT is now maturing, and is ſoon to be reported, by the "Committee of Commerce and Manufactures." We invite our readers of all claſſes, sexes and descriptions to examine the features of this new and extraordinary Bill, as recommended by the Secretary of the Treasury.—They will all find ſomething, in which they are themselves personally interested.—The Cuſtom House Officer will find himſelf aided, in his arduous labours by a friendly band of commiſſioned ſpies!—The Merchant will see, that the mere opinion of a board of Examiners may concluſively transform his new New-England Rum into old Jamaica Spirits!—And the Ladies of our Seaport Towns will perceive that they are kindly permitted to throw open their parlors and bed rooms at all times, to a genteel company of Cuſtom-House Inſpectors?

FIRE.—A fire broke out on the morning of the 24th ult. at Pensacola, in the Cuſtom House, which was entirely consumed, together with twenty other buildings.

All the public offices were kept in the Cuſtom-House, and the whole of the papers and records are deſtroyed. This is a very serious thing for the people of W. Florida—the title papers and surveys of all their lands are gone.

It is confidently believed that the fire was intentionally communicated.

It is rumoured in town, that two hundred of the Chickasaw Indians have risen, for the purpose of oppoſing the troops who are directed to open the road through the Creek nation. We know not what credit to attach to such a report; but truſt it may not prove true. We certainly should much sooner suspect oppoſition from the Creeks themselves, than from the Chickasaws.

Since the report above alluded to reached us, we have conversed with a gentleman belonging to the army who says that our troops are prepared for the worſt, and that they expect oppoſition.—Examiner.

Arreſt of Merchants in Holland.—At the very moment when we obtain journals, which would perſuade us that the melancholy faces of the people of Holland, are diſtended with ſmiles of joy and gratitude at the advent of the Deſpot of the Continent, we receive accounts of the moſt inhuman barbarity practiſed by the beſt and greateſt monarch upon them. We were favored to day with the following ſtatement:

"All the perſons of the celebrated houſe of Willinck and Co. of Amſterdam, with their principal clerks, have been ſent to Paris in conſequence of a ſearch having been made, and a ſmall quantity of Engliſh manufactures found in their poſſeſſion. They were tried by the Tribunal in the French capital, and the following ſentence has been paſſed upon them.—"That they ſhall each of them be branded on the forehead, with the letters, V. D. that the houſe ſhall yield up all its property, amounting to more than one million of guilders, or about 100,000l. to be confiscated to the uſe of the French Treaſury, and laſtly, that each of them ſhall ſerve on board the galliſs as ſlaves for ten years."

Such are the bleſſings for which the unhappy people of Amſterdam, are to erect triumphal arches, and illuminate their dwellings. Miſerable beings! perhaps the very candles employed, muſt be paid for out of the French coffers.

SCOTLAND.

A few months ago, the bells of a houſe in Dundee, began to ring without a viſible cauſe; and although ſometimes exhauſted by their own exertions, a ſhort breathing pause was ſufficient to repair their waſted vigour: They were and anon renewed their noiſy peals. The alarmed maid-ſervant communicated all her terrors to her miſtreſs, who ſent to a bell-hanger to inveſtigate the cauſe. In the preſence of their great maſter, the awe-ſtruck bells remained in ſilence, but as there was ſufficient teſtimony of their guilt, the man of ſcience ſhackened the wires.—No ſooner, however, was he abſent, than the bells returned to the charge; continuing to ring in various degrees of loudneſs and rapidity till Monday, when the bell-hanging profeſſor was again called to lull the reſtleſs ſpirits. He now cut the the wires from all the bells, and bound their tongues in fetters. But his departure ſeemed the ſignal for new exertions: the bells ſhook the impediments from off their tongues, and rung "louder ſtill and louder." The Doctor of dilonance being again called, he further exerted the powers of his art; He fluſhed the concavities of the bells with rags, and thus deprived the tongues of utterance. A more alarming circumſtance took place; and the artiſt was recalled to witneſs the oneficiency of the higheſt effort of his genius: The rags had caught fire; and quickly diſappearing in bright coruſcations, the diſentangled tongues resumed their active functions!——What could now be done?——The bell hangers tore the bells from their places, and laid them on the floor!——These are the unembellished facts of a ſtory, which has been narrated, and which has been the ſubject of much converſation among the inhabitants of Dundee. The cauſe of this extraordinary phenomenon is ſtill involved in myſtery.

Died in the end of April laſt, at Duff houſe, Banffſhire, Scotland, the Right Hon. Alexander, Earl of Fife, &c. He was only confined a few days. He is ſucceeded in his titles and eſtates by Viscount Macduff, who is now in Spain.

Cure for Rheumatic Pains and Deafneſs.

FROM THE EUROPEAN MAGAZINE.

So ſimple a thing as brown paper has, from my knowledge, been ſo beneficial in ſeveral inſtances, that I am induced to requeſt your inſerting this in your uſeful Magazine.

The Countess of S—, for a long time has recommended it with ſucceſs.

A Mrs K—, of Oxford ſtreet, cured of Rheumatic pains in a few days by wearing a waiſtcoat of brown paper. Sir William P. I was informed, applied it by only covering the ears, and was cured of deafneſs. Mr. K. Dawſon, a druggiſt of Bath, by wearing a brown paper night cap under his flannel night cap, for a few weeks was cured of a deafneſs he had for two years. Mrs. Croſs, the widow of an eminent upholſterer in Bath, had had what the called a nervous deafneſs for more than 20 years, and had tried many things, was cured by wearing a brown paper cap ſix weeks. Sir Richard Jebb. I have been informed, wore a piece of brown paper to his breaſt for more than 30 years, which was of great benefit to him, as he had the misfortune to inherit a conſtitutional weak ſtate of lungs; to keep it on, it was ſewed to a ſmall ribband, which hung round the neck. It has cured ſore throats by being applied round the neck, under the neckcloth. I could mention many more, who, by putting a large piece of brown paper to the part in pain next the ſkin, and keeping it there for a few weeks, particularly by day (for the brown paper night cap was not worn in the day) have found much relief, after wearing flannel with little or no effect.

"I have cured rheumatic pains in my arms by rubbing the part with the other hand for a quarter of an hour, when in bed, till I was in a glow of warmth. It ſhould also be obſerved, that many have uſed brown paper with little or no effect.

LOOKING-GLASS. a glaſs mirror, which being overſpread on the inſide with quickſilver, exhibits the images of ſuch objects as are placed before it, apparently at the ſame diſtance behind. About the beginning of the fourteenth century, theſe mirrors were made no where in Europe but in Venice; nor was it till lately that large ones were found, unleſs in the houſes of the very rich. We are informed in Cook's voyages, that nothing could exceed the pleaſing aſtoniſhment of Le Boo, the young Prince of Pelew, when he firſt ſaw himſelf in a large looking glaſs. He walked backward and forward, to the right & to the left; he threw himſelf into various attitudes, ſtill fixing his eyes upon the image that ſeemed to mimic all the changes of his motions; he took a peep at the backſide of the glaſs, to ſee if there was nobody behind it. It was all enchantment to the imagination of this untaught but ingenious ſon of nature.

Savannah, the largeſt town in Georgia, and formerly the ſeat of government. It is ſituated on the S. W. of Savannah river, in Chatham county, in lat. 32 5 N. and long. 81 24 W. and about 15 miles from the ocean.—The town is accounted healthy for ſo hot a climate, being ſeated on a bluff in a bend of the river, and elevated conſiderably above the ſurrounding plantations. Veſſels of large burden can moor cloſe to the town; but from its vicinity to the ocean they are often expoſed to tremendous floods. The inhabitants enumerated in 1800, were 5146, of whom 2367 were ſlaves. The trade is great, and increaſes rapidly. In 1803 the exports amounted to two million three hundred and ſeventy thouſand eight hundred and ſeventy five dollars, which almoſt doubled thoſe of the ancient State of Connecticut. Here is a bank of diſcount and depoſit. The town is 115 miles S. W. of Charleſton (South Carolina) 100 S. E. of Louiſville, and 653 S. by W. of Wathington.

A letter addreſſed to the editor of the Autora of the 11th November ſays—"The news of this day is, but probably it will reach you before this, that the Cherokees have driven in the troops employed in cutting the road in the southern part of the Miſſiſſippi territory, and that 13 of our troops have been killed by them—I cannot affert that this actually is the case but from the quarter whence it is recieved, I have no doubt of the truth of it."

N. Y. Spectator.

Capt. Reade, of the brig Champlin, who arrived at this port yeſterday from Savannah, informs that a ſchooner ſailed in company with him, with between fifty and ſixty of the French ſailors on board, bound to Charleſton. Theſe men had been examined and acquitted of being concerned in the murders, and had been ſent off from Savannah to avoid the reſentment of the people, who were ſo exaſperated that it was unſafe for any Frenchman to appear in public.

The Shawanese Prophet.—A Member of Congreſs in writing to his friend in Philadelphia, thus ſpeaks of the views of this renowned leader of the ſavage tribes—

"The object of the Prophet is to bring the Indians back to their primitive ſavage ſtate—renew the uſe of the bow, and to form a national league among the Indian tribes—in which he has ſucceeded too far."—Alb. Gaz.

EPIGRAM.

On hearing a young Lady too frequently exclaim, "THE DEVIL."

The Chariots of Elion who ſhall dare deny?
Youth ſtrikes the heart, and beauty warms her eye;
Her Mouth would mollify a heart of Flint,
So truly tempting—but the Devil's in't.

A MORAL REFLECTION,

On the laſt day of the Year.

Eighteen hundred and Eleven,
Is now forever paſt;
Eighteen hundred and Twelve
Will fly away as faſt.
But whether life's uncertain ſcene
Shall hold an equal pace,
Or whether Death ſhall come between
And end my mortal race,
Or whether ſickneſs, pain, or health,
My future lot ſhall be;
Or whether poverty, or wealth,
Is all unknown to me
One thing I know, that needful 'tis
To watch with careſulneſs,
Since every ſeaſon ſpent amiſs,
Is regiſter'd on high.
Then well I know, what gracious hours
My Saviour's bleeding wounds procure,
And, Oh! I feel, my mortal powers,
To dust and darkneſs ſhrink.
Earth rolls her rapid Seaſons round,
To meet her final fire,
But Virtue is with glory crown'd,
That Suns and Stars expire.
What awful thoughts! what truth ſublime,
What uſeful leſſon this!
Oh! let me well improve my time,
—Oh! let me die in Peace.

Lateſt Intelligence.

From the Morning Chronicle.

GIBRALTAR, Oct. 23, 1811.

The French troops under General Godinot abandoned the heights of St. Roch early in the morning of the 21ſt inſt, and retired with the utmoſt precipitation, by the Ximena road. Nothing poſitive is known as yet reſpecting the motives of this haſty retreat which was the leſs expected as the enemy had been very busy, on the preceding days, in building huts on their poſition, and thus appeared to be preparing for the rainy season. But what ever those motives might have been, General Ballefleros, ever elert, and now happy in the proſpect of being able to haraſs a diviſion whose ſuperiority had rendered it impoſſible for him to meet in the field, immediately set out in purſuit of it, and, leaving his infantry at St. Roch, which exhibited the moſt melancholy scene of deveſtation, marched on with his cavalry and light troops, and, on the next morning overtook, at Ximena the enemy's rear guard. It conſiſted of three battalions and ten companies of Voltigeurs. Unawed, however, by ſuch numbers, General B—— ſpiritedly charged them, thus commenced a ſeries of actions, which laſted from day break until 4 in the afternoon, and the scene of which varied, at every ſtep, from the fields of Ximena as far as the environs of Ubrique. His own was trifling. Not ſo that of the enemy, who had a good many men killed and wounded, although very few taken, as the resentment excited the day before by the sight of the deveſtated town of St. Rochbad not yet time to cool. During this conteſt, the remainder of the troops continued their retreat; and it has since been aſſerted that they have entirely withdrawn from the Sierra. General Ballefleros was joined by his infantry on the 23d, and by the lateſt accounts, was with the whole of his troops, at los Barrios. He will ſhortly be reinforced by Gen. Copon's diviſion, about 3000 ſtrong, which yeſterday arrived at Algeſiras from Cadiz.

To the ſtatement given in laſt Saturday's Chronicle of General Godinot's force on the 14th inſtant, when he firſt made his appearance in the neighborhood, we are at present enabled to add the following particulars, which we copy from an Algeſiras letter received in the courſe of the week:

"The enemy's numbers are not ſuppoſed to have been ſhort of 12,000, of whom 1,000 were cavalry.

"They were firſt seen from S. Roch at day break on the 14th; and at twelve o'clock, noon, they came up in three diviſions, as follows:

On the right of St. Roch, General of Diviſion, Barrois.
Gen. of Brigade, Lacoſagne.
In the centre, —of Diviſion, Semele.
—— Brigade, Divi.
On the left, —— Div. Godinot,
Commander in Chief.
—— Brigade, Rignoux.

Poſitions which they occupied.

"General Godinot, ever ſince the 14th, St. Roch and its territory.

"General Semele proceeded on the 16th, through los Barrois, to the fields of Tarifa.

"General Barrois, ever ſince the 17th, los Barrois. Retreat of the enemy on the 21ſt Oct.

"Semele's Diviſion from the fields of Tarifa to Medina.

"Barros' Diviſion from los Barrois by Ximena.

"Godinot's Diviſion from S. Roque by Ximena."

The ſame letters ſtates, that a quarter before 4 in the afternoon of the 16th, Gen. Semele appeared on the heights of los Alarides, and his dragoons drove before them the Patriots who fell back, through the ſtreets of Algeſiras, on the Tarifa road. Upon this occaſion a few of them entered the town and rode about the ſtreets, but were guilty of no violence; and at half paſt five rejoined their General and all of them, ſhortly, got out of ſight. This was the only time that any of the enemy's men entered the town; for although on the following days their troops were occaſionally seen hovering about the environs, they never went in. "Upon this lucky escape," concludes the writer, "we congratulate ourselves the more heartily, as the unfortunate inhabitants of St. Roch have met with a more barbarous treatment; and it is but juſtice to add, that we are probably indebted for it to the excellent diſpoſitions made by the gallant commander of our flotilla, Capt. Torrontegui, who, after affording every facility in his power for the removal of our perſons and goods to the Green Iſland, kept up a very briſk fire upon the enemy whenever they approached the town, & effectually called off their attention to other quarters, by continually threatening their flanks with ſome ſmall craft which he had manned with troops."

I informed your Excellency in my despatchs dated 23d and 30th Oct. of the orders I had given Lieut. General Hill to put himſelf in motion for Estremadura with the troops under his command, and the progreſs that he made till the 26th of the ſame month. On the 27th, Gen. Hill marched for Aldea del Gano by Alcueses, and in the morning of the 28th, ſurpriſed the enemy's troops commanded by General Girard in the town of Arroyo Molinos, diſpersing a diviſion of infantry and cavalry which he had under his command, making Gen. Brune —the Duke de Eremburg and above 1300 priſoners, taking three pieces of artillery, &c. and killed a great number of men in the action and subsequent purſuit. General Girard being wounded, narrowly escaped. From all accounts that I have received, Gen. Dubrouſky is reported dead. I beg to refer your Excellency to General Hill's despatch, dated from Merida, 30th Oct. a copy of which I have the honor to transmit enclosed, in order that you may be made acquainted with the details of his operations to that date. I have frequently had the pleaſure to announce to your Excellency, the zeal and promptneſs with which Gen. Hill executed the operations left to his charge, and now I feel juſt ſatisfaction in repeating the elogiums which this General deſerves, as also the troops under his command; and particularly on this occaſion, in which the capacity of the Gen. and the valour and diſcipline of the officers and men, have been ſo conſpicuous.

LONDON, Nov. 16.

The private letters by the Anholt Mails, which arrived yeſterday, are from Stockholm of the 27th ult, from Gottenburgh, to the 2d inſt. from S. Petersburgh to the 24th ult, and from other parts of the Baltic, of various dates. Some of the political writers from Ruſſia, as well as the Swediſh capital, have resumed the subject of war in the North. Under date of the 19th ult. from St. Petersburgh they write, that ſome late remonſtrances of the French Ambaſſador to the Ruſſian Government, indicated the ſtrong diſſatisfaction which was felt by Bonaparte at the extent of commerce carried on by Ruſſia with us.

A mail from Anholt arrived laſt night with letters and papers from Germany to the 2d inſt. It is ſtated in an article, under the head of Hamburgh, that the Levant is glutted with colonial produce. Our cruisers, on the 15th laſt, attacked a convoy, fleeing for the Gulf of St. Euphemia, on the coaſt of Calabria; but the latter, ſupported by ſome Napolitan gunboats, reached its deſtination in ſafety.—The action is ſaid to have laſted 5 hours.

An article dated Klagenfurt, 22d of September, ſtates, that the French troops which were in garriſon at Laybach, Villuch, &c. have been marched to Dalmatia. It is ſaid, that a general riſing of the province, and in Istria, is the cauſe of this movement of the French troops, and that the foreigners of diſtinction who arrived in the Scout, have come to conſult our government upon this important subject.

November 19.

His Royal Highness the Prince Regent did not leave Oatlands on Saturday, as he expected, having made too free in exercise with his foot on Friday. He was, in consequence of an increaſe of inflamation, obliged on Saturday evening to ſend a meſſenger to town to York house, to announce that he could not dine there. We are ſorry to ſtate, that his ancle is ſo much ſwelled, he is confined to his room. His Royal Highneſs appears very anxious to come to town. The following is the account received from the general correspondent of the News papers.

"It affords us great pleaſure to say, that the accounts received in the town laſt night of the ſtate of the Prince Regent, was of a very favorable nature; although he had a reſtleſs night on Saturday, yet about 6 o'clock yesterday morning, he got to ſleep very composedly, and was much refreſhed by it, and the inflamation in his ancle, &c. was in a degree leſſened in the morning, but in the afternoon he was considerably better in every respect. —We are extremely happy to say, His Royal Highness is free from fever."

On Saturday laſt, the Court of King's Bench, Dublin, gave judgment on the Demurrer againſt the Catholic Delegates. They delivered their opinions ſeriatim, but there was no difference on the Bench. The judgment was unanimous. The defendants had previously pleaded not guilty. Their trial is fixed for Thursday.

An express was received from Windſor this day at York Houſe, ſtating that his Majeſty, had a reſtleſs night, and was worse this morning.—Signed as usual.

A meeting of the Inhabitants of Birmingham was held laſt week purſuant to notice, when it was unanimously agreed, that a petition ſhould be presented to the Prince Regent praying him to put an immediate ſtop to the diſtillation of grain. Similar measures have been adopted in Liverpool, Glasgow, and other places.

LONDON, Nov. 12.

Bonaparte is ſtill on his tour; tho' we are yet perfectly in the dark with respect to the objects of it. To Holland he does not appear to have vouchſafed one ſingle mark of his favour during his ſtay, except it be deemed a favour to order garriſons and fortifications where there were none before, as if finding from ocular demonſtration how much his yoke was detested, he had determined upon keeping down the people by all the ſeverities of military deſpotism. The laſt mention made of him is his departure from Nimeguen for Weſel. It does not seem from this line of movement as if he was on his return to Paris. We dare say we ſhall hear of his being at Caſſel next. Is he lingering on the frontiers of Germany until he hears the result of ſome negotiations going on with the Courts of Berlin and Petersburgh?

Another praam has been taken and brought into Dover. She was taken by the Skylark ſloop, and Locuſt brig, in an engagement off Calais, with 18 sail of Frenchmen.

A Mail from Heligoland arrived this morning. The Packet brought over ſeveral Weſtphalian ſoldiers, with their accoutrements. They deserted from the Iſland of Baltram, in consequence of ill usage, and seizing a veſſel, proceeded in her to Heligoland. —They have enliſted into our service.

November 14.

Accounts received on Tuesday from France, ſtate, that Bonaparte had ordered (without trial) the Abbot of La Trappe to be inſtantly ſhot.

EDINBURGH, Nov. 12.

Fire in the Exchequer.—Early yeſterday morning, the Upper part of the Exchequer Chamber, Parliament square, was diſcovered to be on fire. On the firſt alarm the engines belonging to the different offices, and alſo the city engines, repaired to the ſpot. At five in the morning the conflagration presented an awful ſpectacle, and to a diſtant beholder, from the ſouth, it seemed as if the whole Parliament-ſquare had been in one blaze. The exertions of the firemen were somewhat impeded by the height of the buildings; ſo that it was nearly seven o'clock before they were able to ſtem the fury of the flames. As that part of the roof of that part of the building where the fire began, gave way: at about 9 o'clock the fire was completely got under.—Great praiſe is due to the unexampled exertions of those who wrought the engines, and to several persons who volunteered their aſſiſtance. Every obſtacle ariſing from the situation of the fire was overcome by the surpriſing zeal of some individuals, who mounted up, regardleſs of the hazard, to the moſt commanding ſtations, and from thence directed the engine pipes with the greateſt coolness and intrepidity, and with such effect, that the fire began visibly to abate.

It was fortunate that the weather was calm, for had there been a ſtrong gale of wind, the flames might have ſpread to the adjacent buildings, viz:—the Parliament House on the Weſt, and Bank of Sir W. Forbes and Co. on the South eaſt. These, however, we have the ſatisfaction to ſtate, have escaped without any injury.

During the continuance of the fire, a number of people were employed in removing the books and papers from the different offices in the Exchequer, and lodging them in the Old Church. The cauſe of the accident is variouſly ſtated; we therefore forbear to give the accounts which have reached us.

November 15.

Two Mails from Anholt arrived this morning. An article from Wurtsburgh theres the attempts made to escape the horrid French Conſcription:

WURTSBURGH, Oct. 12.

"The Regency has addreſſed to all the Authorities of Police, the following Orders:—

"In the name of his Serene Highness the Archduke Grand Duke, it is enjoined to all the Police Authorities of the Grand Duchy, to redouble their vigilence in reſpect to subjects of the French Empire, who may be found in the Grand Duchy, without having permiſſion to travel in foreign countries, and who thus endeavour to avoid the military service, and to arreſt and conduct them as directly as poſſible to the Preſecture of Mayence."

The British Government has agreed to permit merchants to trade with France on a ſyſtem of reciprocity; and a circular letter was sent round to the merchants yeſterday making the propoſal, which of the following is a copy—

"Mr. — is requeſted by the Board of Trade to inform those interested in the trade with France, that licences will be granted, permitting the importation of wine from France in return for certain articles to be exported from this kingdom: the condition of such exports may be learned at the Council Office."

The conditions alluded to are—For every ton of wine imported, the merchants muſt be obliged to export either one hogshead of sugar of 12 cwt. 10 cwt. of coffee, one ton of copper, or 1001. value of British cloths, woollens, or linen. The wine on importation, to pay the duties for home conſumption.

Other licences are ſaid to be in contemplation for the importations of corn.

November 16.

The accounts relative to the diſpoſitions and intentions of the Emperor Alexander, have been so various, that any clear or poſitive opinions is almoſt impoſſible. At one time we are told, though he is at peace with Bonaparte, he feels, that peace on such conditions is degrading and insecure, and that real safety can only be procured by war.

To be thus is nothing;
But to be safely thus;—

At another time we are informed, that the Emperor shrinks from encountering Bonaparte, and is resolved to remain at peace.

Our fears in Bonaparte
Stick deep; and in his—nature keigns that, which would be feared.
'Tis much he dares.

Such are represented to be the alternate workings and vacillations of the mind and councils of Alexander. The accounts laſt night ſtate, that those Councils have again aſſumed an hoſtile aſpect, in consequence of Bonaparte having demanded a categorical answer to the queſtion, "Whether Ruſſia will accept or reject the Continental Syſtem?" He is said to be purpoſely delaying his return to Paris till that answer arrives; nay, it is added that he has expreſſed his intention to proceed to Deſſin in the circle of Upper Saxony, above 40 miles north of Leipsic, there to wait his laſt despatch to Peterſburgh.

There was a report laſt night, which we do do believe, of the French troops having entered Memel.

From Petersburg we are ſupplied with several particulars regarding the Ruſſian and Turkiſh armies, founded on the despatches of General Kutuſoff Commander in Chief of the Imperial troops. By these it appeared on the 10th of September a Turkiſh force of seven thousand men had been defeated with the loſs of many killed and some hundred priſoners. The conſequence was a retreat; but having been reinforced by five thousand men from the army of the Grand Vizier, the Ottomans advanced towards Odenut, and attacked the Ruſſians in their entrenchments, when the result was in favor of the Turks, who remained in poſſeſſion of the field.

November 18.

Some additional accounts have been received from Cadiz of the 29th ult, and among them a private letter, communicating the ſubſtance of a despatch written by Gen. Billefleros to the Regency, dated from head quarters, Ximena, 23d October. After ſtating, that on the morning of the 21ſt, the French broke up from San Roque, leaving behind them a ſmall quantity of provisions, the letter adds that by ſix o'clock a part of the Spaniſh army was in purſuit of the enemy, and ſoon afterwards the whole body was in motion; that the French continued to withdraw ſlowly across the heights in good order until night fell, when they halted, and took up a ſtrong poſition behind the town of San Roque.

Our government has been lately under the neceſſity of ordering the French Aſpirant's and Middſhipmen on parole in this country, into cloſe confinement, in conſequence of the French Government having ſent the Engliſh Midſhipmen on parole in France to priſon, and their not releasing them, though remonſtrated with by our Government.

NEW-YORK, Dec. 25.

The Severe Gale, which commenced laſt night, at 12 o'clock, and which ſtill continued, has done conſiderable damage to the ſhipping in our harbour. Several veſsels, we underſtand, have been driven from their anchorage, and gone aſhore. The ſhip "General Gates," which was loaded for France, has been driven againſt Caſtle Williams, on Governor's Iſland; and it is feared the ſhip and cargo will be greatly damaged. It is probable that much injury has been ſuſtained through the whole length of our coaſt.

Extract of a letter from Buenos Ayres, dated 12th Sept. to a gentleman in this city.

"This Government and that of Montevideo, are now about negociating a peace; that is the latter has promiſed to acknowledge our independence, on condition that we raiſe the siege of Montevideo, and allow the Viceroy to remain in his Government of that city and about 20 or 30 leagues of its arrondiſſement. The Junta are rather inclined to grant it, but the cabildo and the people are oppoſed to it, and I do not think any thing will be done."—Mer. Ad.

An article dated Valencia, Oct. 8. contains an official notice, that the French had attacked the port of Sagunto, but were repulsed by the troops under Gen. Blake, after a warm engagement, in which the latter are ſtated to have done themſelves great honor.

The late Queen of Holland arrived at Baſle, in Switzerland, on the 30th September, and the next day, left that place, it was ſaid for Paris. If ſo, it is probable the Empreſs will give her her conge as ſoon as ſhe returns.

The late King of Sweden, Guſtavus, or as he is called ſince deposed, Count Gottorp, has taken up his residence at Baſle, where he lives quite unceremoniously at an inn.

Miraculous Escape.

THE following moſt ſingular occurrence comes to us from a quarter perfectly authentic, and ſtill forms the subject of conversation in Britanny. During the utmoſt phrenzy of the French Revolution, there was a Curé at Rheims, whose purity and benevolence had so endeared him to people, of all descriptions, that in the height of rage and madneſs, the Septembrizing Committee dared not openly attack him. Determined, however, on private aſſaſſination, they applied to their usual agents, but even they with their hands long ſtained with blood, and hearts accuſtomed to maſſacre, turned a way with horror from the "deep damnation" of that deed. The good Curé remained for ſome time protected by his own purity, till three bravoes were brought down from Paris, by whom was arranged the following plan of his deſtruction: Two of them were at the dead of night to call up the Holy Man in order to attend the laſt moments of a dying penitent. This laſt was to be represented by the third experienced bravo, who during the exhortation of the Prieſt, was suddenly and silently to despatch him. The arrangement so far ſucceeded that the Cure was brought, and the two confederates waited impatiently for the signal, for the body of the victim. To their aſtoniſhment, however, the object that firſt presented itself to them was the Cure, who ſhook his head and ſaid, "Ah! my friends, you applied to me too late; for the poor man is dead, and the corpse is cold already."—The aſſaſſins, ſtruck with remorse and terror, fell on their knees and confeſſed all the circumſtances, imploring his forgiveneess. The Curé, who then for the firſt time obtained a candle from the people of the house, pulling down the bed clothes, saw a dagger in the hand of the breathless aſſaſſin. The whole city of Rheims crowded the next day to be witness of this extraordinary interpoſition, until next day, when the municipality gave orders that the corpse ſhould be taken away. The Cure then finding there was no longer any chance for him, emigrated to England, bringing with him the admiration and regret of every one who knew him.

THE YORK GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 15.

Juſt as our Paper was going to Preſs, we were favored with the following lines:

Ma Premier eſt jeune, Jolie et charmente.
Ma ſeconde veut plus ce qu'elle a été;
Et Ma troiſieme est encore Agacente.
Helas! Ma quatrieme a perdu ſa gaieté.

INTOXICATION, is a term expreſſing that depravity of human nature, which requires no further explanation, as it is but too often practiſed both by the vulgar, and thoſe whoſe profeſſions lead us to expect a very different conduct.

We ſhall now point out a few of the conſequences that commonly reſult from the brutal indulgence in that odious vice.

The ſtate of intoxication greatly reſembles that of an incipient palſy or apoplexy. Inebriated perſons ſtagger in all directions; their ſtammer every thing appears double; their tongue is in a maneer paralytic, and they are in a manner deprived of the faculty of ſpeech. This imbecility extends to the mind, which is thus rendered totally incapable of reflection. As the brain is overcharged with blood, the veſſels preſſing on that part are very liable to burſt, from the leaſt accidental concuſſion; and the unfortunate victim of ſuch folly may expire, while he remains inſenſible of his danger.

Inſtead of expatiating on the long train of miſeries and painful diſorders with which habitual intoxication is sooner or later attended, we ſhall conclude in the words of the philoſophic Shakeſpeare, who very perſpicuouſly remarks, that "Drink provokes or ſtimulates the deſire, but it takes away the performance."—Ency.

[Of the above evil, poverty is the only preventive, and death the only cure.—Yet Heaven hath not forbid us to lament evils which we cannot remedy.

To pervert our faculties to uſes for which they were not beſtowed at the Creator's hands; to ſacrifice the property with which Providence has entruſted us, to the gratification of the worſt of artificial appetites; to rob the bodies of the means of ſuſtenance, and the minds of the means of needed inſtruction of thoſe to whom Nature has made us at once Parents and Sponſors; to rend aſunder the cords of conſanguinity by which as Sons or Brothers we may be bounden; to diſqualify ourſelves for the diſcharge of the ordinary duties of whatever ſituation we may be placed in by the Community, or by common Caſualty; to banish from our ſociety and fellowſhip men, who from an apparent ſimilitude of principles, we were wont to conſider as friends; and to murder, that time which we enjoy only by ſufferance, and of which we know neither the value nor duration, is ſo perverſe a departure from the purpoſes of a Chriſtian's creation, that an awful and ſcrutinizing account of our Stewardſhip will be required—for even the very hairs of our heads are numbered.

With us (who call ourſelves the enlightened) to reaſon with a Drunkard on the effects of intemperance is uſeleſs; advice or reproof are equally thankleſs; and to apply all the force of the moſt friendly argument, joined with all the powers of perſuaſion, in attempts to reclaim one, are as ineffectual as to forbid the winds of Heaven to blow.—Amongſt all its unhappy victims, which the Editor has heretofore known, he has never met with one ſolitary inſtance wherein the Temper has not attempted to juſtify himſelf by the doctrine, that low-ſpirited-neſs, joyful or melancholy occurrences, ill health, or an apprehenſion of ill health, convaleseence, &c. &c. &c. forced them to recur to drink.—Such ideal reaſons can only awaken pity or contempt.—Let us for a moment look to the native inhabitant of our Foreſt, and bluſhing, let us ſhrink from a compariſon.—Heaven in pity to him, the untutored Savage, is raiſing in different tribes, men whoſe precepts and examples are tending to banniſh the pleaſing poiſon from whole nations.

To thoſe who are deſirous of figuring in the bewitching labyrinth, few directions are neceſſary to haſten the attainment—a little determined perſeverance will render it habitual, and the habit not only pleaſant but reputable—for inſtance, to be drunk gives the timid confidence, renders the poltroon a hero, the phyſician a man of ſcience, ever ſo distant politician it fits for a miniſter of ſtate, and ſome divines it raiſes neatly to apoſtles—to the ſpeculator it is a nonpareil auxiliary—it at once generates new, and enlarges his old ideas—what to his ſober moments appeared mountains of obſtructions to his ſchemes, it transforms into diminutive mole-hills—the huſband it renders an amiable inmate, and the father it qualifies to order his houſhold and marſhal his family to his liking; his conduct and example give that general tincture to the morals and manners of his children, which marks their progreſs through life—object of juſt pride even to a Patriarch!!! the taciturn it renders loquacious and communicative, and it aſſimilates itſelf moſt favorably to all conditions and capacities.—Whoever doubts the truth of the aſſertion, are at liberty to try its merits, and the Editor is of opinion that a little fair experience will induce each Votary to exclaim with him 'Oh! Bacchus, thou art the firſt, the beſt, and greateſt of the Gods.']

Lateſt Intelligence.

NEW-YORK, Jan. 1, 1812.

Shocking conflagration at Richmond.—We yeſterday mentioned, as a report, that the Theatre at Richmond had been burnt to the ground and great numbers had periſhed in the flames.

The fire happened on Mr. Placide's benefit night—the houſe was crowded, & the burſt of the flames was ſo inſtantaneous, that very few of the ladies in the upper boxes were ſaved. One gentleman in thoſe boxes escaped almoſt miraculouſly: He was ſitting with two ſmall girls and a boy when the fire was diſcovered. The boy leaped from the window and escaped unhurt. The gentleman took the two girls, one under each arm, resolved on exertion, and flew with them to the ſtaircase, jamming them between his breaſt and the people before him, ſtriving to keep himſelf ſtrait, but in vain; the preſſure from behind, and thoſe leaping over head overpowered him.—He was bent down with the children in his arms, and from that time he knew nothing of what paſſed till ſeveral hours afterwards he came to his senſes and found himſelf in his own bed. He muſt have been wedged up ſo as to be forced along unconſciously by the maſs, as he was picked up at ſome diſtance from the playhouſe. The children escaped with but little hurt. The wife of this gentleman, who was in another part of the houſe, ſaved herſelf by leaping out of a window, in company with a young lady, who periſhed in the attempt. A caſe which excites ſingular ſympathy, is that of young Lieut. Gibbon of the navy. He had got clear from the houſe and ſaved his mother's life with his own, but finding that Miss Conyers was left behind, he ruſhed into the blazing building in ſearch of her, and was never ſeen more: both periſhed in the flames.

A letter from Richmond says, the citizens have purchased the lot of ground on which the Theatre ſtood, for the purpoſe of erecting a CHURCH in its place—and the remains of upwards of 50 of the unfortunate persons who periſhed in the fire have been buried in the pit of the Theatre. The number who loſt their lives, is not aſcertained, but ſuppoſed to be nearly 200 from the number of ſculls taken out of the ruins. Among the whole number there were not ſix of the poorer claſs. By an order of the Common Hall, all public ſhows and dancing aſſemblies are prohibited in that city for 4 months.

Boſton, Dec. 17.

Bonapatte and his Queen were at Amſterdam on the 20th of October. The Empreſs had been on a viſit to Haarlem, and was received every where with joy, reſpect and love.

It is reported that the Britiſh have determined to take poſſeſſion of Sicily and hold it till peace.

Nicholas Thierry, a French farmer convicted of ſmuggling, has been branded, condemned to ten years hard labour and fined.

In 1783, Stewart, the Engliſh traveller, purchased an annuity in the French funds, which has been honorably paid till recently, when Bonaparte ſtopped it by a verbal order to the Miniſter of Finance. Stewart advertiſed the fact.

A London paper of Nov. 2, ſays,—Bonaparte has made propoſals to the King of Denmark for the purchaſe of the town of Altona, for which he has offered about one hundred thouſand pounds ſterling. These terms, it is ſaid, have been rejected, on account of the ſum being deemed by his Danith Majeſty conſiderably ſhort of the value of the place.

Letters from St. Peterſburgh to the 9th ult. ſay, it was the prevalent opinion in the Ruſſian capital, that all idea of a war with France had been relinquiſhed for the preſent.

Philadelphia, December 27.

On Monday night laſt, came on a violent blow of wind, at N. W. attended with a ſmall fall of ſnow, and severe cold, which ſo ſuddenly congealed the water of the Delaware, that many of our river craft and veſſels bound up and down have ſuffered very materially by the ice, which has completely embargoed this port.

Fire.—We are ſorry to learn that the elegant ſeat of General Mareau, at Morriſville, near Trenton, (N. J.) was burnt to the ground on Tueſday morning about 4 o'clock, together with all his valuable furniture. The General and his family, we learn, escaped the flames with ſome difficulty. The fire is ſuppoſed to have originated in the green houſe.

Earthquake.—The agitation of the earth deſcribed in the ſubjoined articles was sensibly felt, about the ſame time as is mentioned below, by many perſons in this city, tho' not ſo violent as it is ſtated to have been in other places:

Alexandria, Dec. 18.

On Monday morning laſt two ſhocks of an earthquake were sensibly felt in this town, the firſt between 2 and 3 o'clock, the latter about 8. We do not find it was attended with any peculiar circumſtances of portention or effect; but being a circumſtance of that rare kind with us, it excited as much curioſity in the inquiſitive, and wonder in the credulous, as did the ſtranger's maſe in Strafsburgh, ſo ſatirically related by Sterne. There appeared to be but one ſhock each time, and its undulations might have continued nearly 30 ſeconds. It had force enough to make the furniture in houſes and move doors upon their hinges, and we have heard ſome inſtances of clocks being ſtopped by its throwing their pendulums out of their regular courſe of vibration.—Herald.

A conſiderable ſhock of an earthquake was felt on the morning of the 18th inſt. at Hackenſack, (New Jerſey.) It took place a few minutes after 8 o'clock, and continued about 30 ſeconds. Thoſe who were ſtanding, experienced ſenſations of dizziness & vertigo. Several ladies who were ſitting, complained that they felt as if ſitting on a poſte, and were afraid of falling from their ſeats. In an upper chamber, ſomething ſuſpended from the wall was obſerved to flip ſenſibly againſt it.

The editor of the Boſton Centinel, in ſpeaking of the contents of London papers per the Merchant, obſerves, "They contain a great number of ſpeculations on American affairs, and ſome of them appear as pipping hot for WAR, as many of our democratic papers are. No intimation is given that any relaxation will be made in the Orders in Council, though we ſee the new appointment of Anthony St. John Baker, Eſq. as Secretary to Mr. Foſter's legation. Affairs in the North had not undergone any change. Mr. Navarro, a Ruſſian agent, had arrived in London. At Hamburgh, the Guillotine had been added, to the French agents employed to execute the "Continental ſyſtem." Bonaparte and his Empreſs were banqueting in Holland. N. Y. Spect.

Comets and Women—Comets doubt leſs anſwer ſome wiſe and good purpoſes in the creation—ſo do Women. Comets are incomprehenſible, beautiful and eccentric—ſo are Women. Comets ſhine with peculiar ſplendour, but at night appear moſt brilliant—ſo do Women. Comets are enveloped with a lucid nebula, through which their forms are viſible—ſo are thoſe of Women through their light and elegant attire. Comets confound the moſt learned when they attempt to aſcertain their nature—ſo do Women. Comets equally excite the admiration of the Philoſopher and of "the cloſeſt valley—ſo do Women.——Comets and Women, are therefore cloſely analogous; but the nature of each being inſcrutable, all that remains for us to do is to view with admiration the one, and almoſt to adoration love the other,—Iriſh paper.

Curious Fact for Naturaliſts.—On the 13th inſt. a Spaniel Dog, belonging to Mr. James Barclay, was taken out of a room in an uninhabited houſe in the city of New York, where he had been confined by accident from the 1ſt Nov. (42 days) without food or drink! The dog was alive, though too weak to ſtand; and he is now recovering from his debility. During his confinement, he had nearly deſtroyed a bed and bedding, the only furniture in the room.—Alb. Balance.

Edward, Prince of Wales, commonly called the Black Prince, from the colour of his armour. He was the eldeſt ſon of Edward III. and born in 1330. He accompanied his father to France when he was but 16 years old, and diſtinguiſhed himſelf there above all the warriors of his age, particularly at the battle of Creſſy. He there took the ſtandard of the king of Bohemia, embroidered with three oſtrich feathers, and having this motto, Ich Dien. This he always wore, and it has continued to be the arms of the Princes of Wales ever ſince. He alſo won the victory at Poictiers, where he took John King of France and his ſon priſoners, and brought them to London. This prince married the lady Joanna, daughter of Edmond, earl of Kent, brother to Edward II. a widow, by whom he had a ſon, who was afterwards Richard II. Edward died, to the grief of the whole nation, in 1376.

Pelew Iſlands.

Were, in all probability, firſt diſcovered by the Spaniards of the Philippines, and by them called the Palloo Iſlands from the tall palm-tree that grow there in great numbers, and which at a diſtance have the appearance of maſts of ſhips; the word palos, in the Spaniſh language, ſometimes ſignifying a maſt. There is every reaſon to ſuppoſe, that no European had ever been upon them, before the Antelope, a packet belonging to the Eaſt India company, and commanded by captain Henry Wilſon, was wrecked there in the night between the 9th and 10th of Auguſt 1783.—This misfortune was the more diſtreſſing to the crew, as they were utterly ignorant what reſources the iſlands afforded, or ſuppoſing them to be inhabited, or what might be the diſpoſition of the inhabitants. However, they found theſe iſlands inhabited, and that the natives were ſimple in their manners, delicate in their ſentiments, friendly in their diſpoſition, and, in ſhort, a people that do honor to the human race. The natives are of a deep copper colour, and go naked; and the aſtoniſhment which thoſe who firſt diſcovered the Engliſh, manifeſted on ſeeing their colour, plainly ſhewed, that they had never before ſeen a white man—The cloaths of the ſtrangers alſo puzzled them exceedingly; for it ſeemed to be a matter of doubt with them, whether theſe and their bodies did not form one ſubſtance. When one of the crew, the captain's brother, was deputed to wait upon the king, who reſided at an iſland at ſome diſtance from that whereon they had ſaved their lives, he accidentally pulled off his hat, at which the gazing ſpectators were all ſtruck with aſtoniſhment, as if they thought it had formed a part of his head. They had no idea of the nature of powder and ſhot, and were exceedingly amazed on ſeeing its effects. The principal arms of this people conſiſt of bamboo darts, of five to eight feet long, pointed with the wood of the beetle nut tree; but there are ſhort ones for diſtant marks, which are thrown by means of a ſtick two feet long. The cupacks, or chiefs, may be conſidered in the ſame light as the European nobles. They wear a bone round one of their wriſts, in the form of a bracelet, which being a mark of great honour conferred by the king on officers of ſtate, commanders, or perſons who by valour or otherwiſe have greatly diſtinguiſhed themſelves, is never to be parted with but with life. They are not all of the ſame degree, as appeared from a difference in the bone they wore. Captain Wilſon was inveſted with the higheſt order of the bone. With reſpect to the property in theſe iſlands, a man's houſe, or canoe, is conſidered as his own, as is alſo the land allotted him, as long as he occupies and cultivates it; but, when we he removes with his family to another place, the ground reverts to the king, who gives it to whom he pleaſes, or to thoſe who ſolicit to cultivate it. The country is well covered with timber trees, the trunks of which furniſh the natives with canoes, ſome large enough to carry 30 men. There are but few other trees of much uſe to the natives. Yams and cocoa nuts being their chief articles of ſubſiſtence, are attended to with the utmoſt care. From the ſcanty produce of the country, it is plain no luxury can reign among the inhabitants in their diet, and the milk of the cocoa nut was their common drink. On particular occaſions, they added to their ordinary fare certain ſweetmeats and ſweet drink, obtained by the aid of a ſyrup, extracted either from the palm-tree, or the ſugar-cane. The houſes are raiſed about three feet from the ground the foundation beams being laid on large ſtones, whence ſpring the upright ſupports of the floors, which are croſſed by other timbers grooved together, and faſtened by wooden pins, the intermediate ſpace being cloſely filled up with bamboos and palm-tree leaves, platted together. The tops of the houſes are thatched with bamboos and palm tree; and the inſide of the houſe is without any diviſion, forming one great room. As to domeſtic implements, they have little baſkets ve y nicely woven from flips of the plantain-tree, and wooden baſkets with covers, neatly carved and inlaid with ſhells. No one ever ſtirs abroad without a baſket, which uſually contains ſome beetle nut, a comb, a knife and a little twine. The beſt knives are made of a piece of the large mother of pearl oyſter, ground narrow, and the outward ſide a little poliſhed. The combs are made of the orange-tree, of which there are a few of the Seville kind; the teeth are faſtened in the ſolid wood. The fiſh-inghooks are of a tortoiſe ſhell; and twine, cord, and fiſhing-nets, are well manufactured from the huſks of the cocoa nut. Of the plantain leaf are formed mats, which ſerve the people as beds. They alſo uſe a plantain leaf at meals, inſtead of a plate, and the ſhell of a cocoa-nut ſupplies the place of a cup. There are veſſels of a kind of earthen ware, of a reddiſh brown colour, in which they boil their fiſh, Yams, &c. A bundle of cocoa nut huſks tied together, ſerves them for a broom; and thick bamboos, with bores five or ſix inches in diameter, are their buckets or ciſterns.—Their hatchets are like thoſe of the South Sea iſlands. They have alſo a few articles, which in theſe iſlands may be called luxuries. The ſhell of the tortoiſe there is remarkably beautiful, and the natives of Pelew have diſcovered the art of moulding it into little trays or diſhes, and ſpoons. Some of the great ladies have alſo bracelets of the ſame manufacture, and ear rings inlaid with ſhells. The natives in general are a ſtout well made people, rather above the middling ſtature, and of a very deep copper colour, but not black. The men are entire naked; the women wear two little aprons, one before, the other behind. Both men and women are tatooed, & their teeth made black by art. Both ſexes are very expert at ſwimming, and the men are ſuch admirable divers, that they will readily fetch up any thing from the bottom of the ſea which attracts their notice. The conduct of theſe people towards the Engliſh was, from firſt to laſt, uniformly courteous and attentive, accompanied with a politeneſs which ſurpriſed thoſe who were the objects of it. Such an opinion had the king of the iſland entertained of the Engliſh, that on their departure he ſuffered his ſecond ſon, Lee Boo, to accompany them to England, where this hopeful youth unhappily died of the ſmall pox, in Dec. 1784. The Eaſt India Company erected a monument over his grave in Rotherhithe church-yard where he was buried. Theſe iſlands were lately viſited by captain M'Cleur, who confirms the account given of them and their inhabitants by captain Wilſon. In his journey, captain M'Cleur ſays, "having pitched my tent in a bay oppoſite to the ſhip, I found myſelf in a perfect paradiſe, and could have been happy to have continued here the remainder of my days." They are ſituated between 5 and 9 degrees of N. Latand 130 and 136 degrees of E. lon. They are long, but narrow, well covered with wood, at leaſt ſuch of the iſlands as our people had an opportunito of ſeeing. They are encircled on the weſt ſide by a reef of coral, of which no end could be ſeen from any eminence our people were on.

Curious Experiment In Natural Hiſtory.

A Lady of the name of Lendon, particularly attached to the ſtudy of nature, about four years ago had a fancy to attempt to hatch an egg by the natural heat of her boſom. Having ſelected a new laid one of favorite breed, and put it in a flannel bag, ſhe placed it between her breaſts, carefully at endling every night, to ſecure that warmth neceſſary to perfect exiſtence, during incubation.—At laſt the time came to releive the nascent chick from the brittle cell of its confinement: the moment was perceptible by the appearance of its little beak thro' the large end of the ſhell; but leaſt any injury ſhould ariſe to the animal by too precipitate a wiſh to emancipate it from its priſon, the lady frequently applied a drop of water to the bill of her nurſling, till at laſt it acquired ſtrength to effect its own deliverance.

It appeared in every reſpect as perfect as if it had been reared by its natural mother, but its foſter parent not thinking her talked ſtuffed, attended to its feeding with the utmoſt aſſiduity, vigilantly protected it from the cold; and, in due time, had the pleaſure to find it a fine hen bird, of perfect growth and beauty.

In the courſe of three years it has laid three hundred eggs, and brought up ſeveral broods of chickens, and one of ducks; but its ſingular habits are yet to be remarked and are well deſerving notice of the curious in natural hiſtory. Its domeſtic qualities are numerous. It conſtantly prefers the houſe and the company of its kind protector to that of its own ſpecies, and ſhews a deſire to accompany her wherever ſhe goes.

This Extraordinary hen obtained the name of Fanny: ſeems to under ſtand its miſtreſs's language, and by marks of affection ſhews it is not inſenſible to gratitude. In a word, it appears to have loſt many of the natural habitudes of its kind, and to have acquired ſome of the beſt qualities of the huma race—a ſenſe of attachment, and a deſire to render itſelf agreeable.

GILIMER or GELIMER, a Vandal, and a deſcendant of Genſeric, was a prince of great virtues and vices. Ilderic, king of the Vandals, having no children, Gilimer was declared his ſucceſſor; but impatient to reign, he depoſed Ilderic and mounted the throne. Juſtinian, being the protector of the depoſed monarch, ſent Belifarius againſt the uſurper, who was quickned in a great battle; and, having concealed himſelf, almoſt periſhed with hunger. PHARAS, a captain of Belifarius, invited him to ſurrender, but he refuſed, and demanded bread, a ſponge, and a lute; bread, which he had not ſeen for three months; a ſponge to cleanſe his wounds; and a lute, to which he might fing of his misfortunes. Although hunger at laſt compelled him to ſurrender, and he was led in triumph by Belifarius through Conſtantinople, his ſpirits was not ſubdued. Juſtianni gave him lands to live on with his family. The emperor offered to make him a patrician, on condition of his renouncing arianiſm, to which he had attached himſelf, but the untamed temper of Gilimer rejected the propoſal.

JAMES GARDINER, a brave and pious officer in the army of George II. In his youth he was very gay and licentious, but the accidental peruſal of a religious book, entiuled, Heaven taken by Storm, made him ſerious, and from thence he became diſtinguiſhed for his piety. He was killed at the battle of Preſton Pans, within ſight of his own houſe, Sept. 12, 1745.

Vaſquet de Gamua the illuſtrious navigator, who diſcovered the paſſage to the Eaſt Indies by the Cape of Good Hope, was born at Sines, a maritime town of Portugal, of a good family. Emanuel, king of Portugal, ſent him out in 1497 to endeavor to double the Cape, which, after great difficulties, he accompliſhed on the 20th Nov. and afterwards ſailed along the eaſtern coaſt of Africa. Having proceeded as far as Calicut, he again doubled the Cape, in April, 1499, and returned to Liſbon. In 1502 he went to ſea with twenty ſhips under his command, and returned in the following year with thirteen rich veſſels. John III. ſucceſſor of Emanuel, appointed him vice roy of India; after which he went there a third time, and eſtabliſhed his government at Cochin, where he died in 1525.

Abdallah, father of Mahommed. He was only a ſlave and camel driver, but he Muſſulmans boaſt that he was offered the fineſt women of his tribe, though he was four ſcore years old; and that on his wedding night, a hundred girls died of grief, for having loſt the honor of being his bride.

Uriel Acoſta, an extraordinary character, was born at Oporto, where his father was a Roman Catholic, though deſcended from Jewiſh anceſtors. At the age of 25, he was made treaſurer of a collegiate church, but having ſecretly embraced Judaiſm, he refuſed to quit Portugal, with his mother and brothers, whom he had brought over to the ſame faith. The new converts went to Amſterdam, where they were received into a ſynagogue. Not long after he became diſſatisfied with the Jewiſh rites as not being conformable to thoſe of Moſes, and expreſſing his ſentiments thereon with freedom, was excommunicated. On this he wrote a book in his own vindication, in which he denied the immortality of the ſoul, and a future ſtate. For this he was thrown into priſon, from whence he was bailed in a few days, but all the copies of his books were ſeized, and a fine levied upon him of 300 ſtorins. After lying under excommunication fifteen years, he was re-admitted into the ſynagogue on making his ſubmiſſion, but ſoon after was again expelled, for not conforming to the laws of Moſes, and for having diſſuaded two Chriſtians, who had come from London to Amſterdam, from turning Jews. In this ſtate he remained ſeven years, abandoned by all his friends, and reduced to the moſt wretched condition. At the expiration of that time he was prevailed upon to make his ſubmiſſion, and underwent an extraordinary penance in the ſynagogue; where after making his recantation, he was publicly ſcourged, and then, laying himſelf down on the threſhold, all the people walked over him. The ſhame of this diſgraceful ceremony, it is ſuppoſed, made him form the reſolution of putting an end to himſelf, which he did with a piſtol in 1643, or according to others in 1647.

SNOWDON, a famous mountain in Carnarvonſhire, generally thought to be the higheſt in Britain, tho' ſome think that its height is equalled, and even exceeded, by mountains in Scotland. Its name ſignifies literally, the Hill of Snow, from ſnow and down. This is the moſt noted eminence in the whole region of Welſh Hill, and may, with propriety, be ſtyled the Britiſh Alps. The height of this mountain was meaſured in 1682, when it was computed to be 3720 feet; but more modern calculations make it only 3568, reckoning from the quay of carnarvon to the higheſt peak. The ſtone that compoſes this mountain is exceſſively hard. Large coarſe crystals, and frequently cubic pyrites are found on the fiſſures. An immenſe quantity of water ruſhes down its ſides in numerous rivulets. It is boggy on the top, and has two Lakes that abound with fiſh, particularly the char and the guinard. It was held sacred by the ancient Britons, as Pernaſſus was by the Greeks. From its ſummit may be ſeen a part of Ireland, of Scotland, and of Cumberland, Lincolnſhire, Cheſhire, and all North Wales.

The late Mr. M——, paid his addreſſes to a lady already prepoſſeſſed in favour of a Mr. Plaiter; her partiality being evident in favor of the latter, the former took occaſion to aſk, in a room full of company, "Pray. Miſs how far have you got in your Plaiter?" "As far, ſir, as bleſſed is the man."

RANULPH GLANVILLE, an Engliſh lawyer of the 12th century, was the firſt who collected the Engliſh laws into one body.

THE YORK GAZETTE.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 24.

Circumſtances have obliged us to alter the iſſuing day of the Gazette, which will be hereafter, ordinarily, the day after the Receipt of the U. States papers. Thoſe received this week are particularly barren of News, which obliges us occaſionally to recur to Miſcellaneous and Biographical matter.

We notice accounts of the loſs of many veſſels on the American coaſt and in the vicinity of their harbors latterly, from very heavy gales and unfavorable weather.

During this and the preceding week, more Snow has fallen in our neighborhood, than we have before witneſſed in this part of the Province; the Snow is conſidered as a rich coat of manure by our Farmers generally.

DIED.] At his houſe in this town on Thurſday night laſt, after a ſhort but painful illneſs, Mr. James Cheney, ſadler, an honeſt induſtrious man.

The following lines having been ſet up in haſte laſt week, two errors escaped our notice in the words "Premier" and "charmeuse," for which read,

Ma Premiere eſt jeune, Jolie et charmante.
Ma ſeconde nest plus ce quelle a été;
Et Ma trouſieme eſt encore Agacente.
Helas! Ma quatrieme a perdu ſa gaieté.

On the border of Alten by the ſide of a mountain,
Where Natures profuſion ſoit beauties ſtrew'd o'er,
In a ſmall white Cot John a widow'd old ſwain
Liv'd the pride of the village sweet Mary La More;
The mind yet untainted by vices base fallion,
Severe to itſelf was unbending'd and pure,
But love, that all conquering dangerous paſſion
Laid siege to the bosom of Mary La More.
The trumpet of Mars loudly ſummon'd her lover,
The scenes of confuſion where Cannon's loud roar,
Where deſtruction's fell genius did ranc'rouſly hover
To threaten the peace of poor Mary La More.
He went, but alas, he departed leave on
His pair ſo pure ſo was found deeply dyed in its gore,
A comrade quick haſtes from the camp to deliver
The tale at the Cottage of Mary La More.
When inform'd of his death, how the Maiden did languiſh,
Such poignant diſtreſs ſhe had ne'er felt before;
Within pets can deſcribe a full ſcene on the anguiſh
That penetrated the bosom of Mary La More;
Of ſenſes bereav'd, ſhe roam'd wild in diſorder
On terrible heights where beneath the waves rear,
And each lonely Cavern on Alten's winding border
Was a scene for the sorrows of Mary La More.
But death's rude attack which o'ca Monarchs can't hinder,
Accompliſh'd the talk he protracted before,
From calamays breath he her memory's defender,
And bewail the misfortunes of Mary La More.
Near yonder lone spot where hangs the green willow,
Deep under yon turf that with ashes bound o'er,
Lies secur'd from alarms, the cold Earth for her pillow
The hapless remains of poor Mary La More.

Lateſt Intelligence.

NEW-YORK, Jan. 8.

Pursuant to sentence, was executed yesterday, at the upper end of Broadway, near Dyde's, on a gallows erected for the purpoſe, George Hart, for the murder of Mary Van Hausen. On this occaſion, a vaſt concourſe of people aſſembled to witneſs the execution!!!

Clergymen of different denominations attended the prisoner to the place of execution. The Rev. Mr. Andrews made a prayer near the gallows, the Rev. Mr. Spring prayed under the gallows; and the Rev. Mr. Strong and Mr. Spring attended the prisoner on the scaffold, where Mr. Strong prayed with the prisoner. The poor man displayed aſtoniſhing fortitude and the utmoſt composure. He manifeſted much gratitude to the zealous and pious miniſters who attended him in his laſt moments, and who had laboured much with him during his confinement; and juſt before his death took an affectionate leave of them, shaking hands with them and kiſſing their hands.

NEW LONDON, Jan. 1.

The late gale will be ever memorable; it extended with more or leſs violence, from Boſton to the Delaware; but appears to have raged with its greateſt power along the coaſt of this ſtate. The veſſels mentioned in our laſt, received no other injury than the loſs of their maſts; excepting the ſchr. Maria Louiſa, Stowel, of New York, bound to France; ſhe drifted from the mouth of the harbour early in the morning, saw the light, and almoſt inevitable deſtruction awaited them, yet being exhauſted with the fatigue of the night, and benumbed with the cold, the crew, twenty-one in number (who were all foreigners,) resigned themselves to despair; the maſter was on ſhore, and mate who was unable to hold an axe, endeavored by entreaty and by threats to induce the men to cut away the maſts, but in vain. The veſſel was given up to the wind and waves, and went on ſhore at the foutheaſt end of Gardiner's iſland, providentially without encountering a rock. They received very early aſſiſtance from John Gardiner, Eſq. the proprietor of the iſland. Three of the people were frozen to death; the remainder, excepting four toes, were carried to the houſe, where every thing was done for them that a benevolent heart, with ample means could adminiſter. It it feared ſome more of them were too far gone to recover. The cargo, conſiſting of coffee, indigo, &c. and 32,000 dollars in ſpecie, is ſaved—the veſſel, it is thought, will be loſt.

Great fears are excited for ſeveral veſſels which drove from anchoring places along the coaſt, into the ſound. It is ſaid that the packet Hunter, from R. Iſland, and the Lady Waſhington, Capt. Comſtock, of this port, lay at Black Point, and are miſſing. A ſloop, Enoch Lee, maſter, of Lyme, was driven from her anchors at Four Mile river, and is yet miſſing; there were on board Capt. Asa Whiteman, of Waterford, his wife and ſiſter, and three young men.

The ſloop Maria, Willard, from Warren for N. York, lay at Great Harbor, Fiſher's Iſland, her maſt was cut away and the ſpring a leak, the cable was cut, when ſtriking on a reef, ſix hogſheads of rum were ſtove, which lightened her ſo much that ſhe went on ſhore without further injury. A ſmack from Millie went on the reef at Fiſher's Iſland, and bilged; the people waded on ſhore and fortunately reached a houſe. A number of smacks and other ſmall craft were caſt away without any lives being loſt. Thirty-five veſſels have been ſeen on ſhore on Long Iſland.

BOSTON, Jan. 1.

Captain Gorham, from Port-au-Prince, reports, that no recent battle had taken place between the two contending Chiefs—no fears were entertained of Chriſtophe at that place; his fleet had returned to C. Francois, and would not ſoon go out again. Capt. G. went into C. Harbour, C. Cod, on Monday laſt, and left it that morning; a Mr. Snow, belonging to Truro, came paſſenger in her from thence, and reports, that three days ſince, it was ſaid a veſſel had gone aſhore to the northward of Chatham, and that pieces of the wreck had drifted on the beach, one had the word "Hope" upon it, and that ſeveral dead bodies had been found, but could give no further particulars.

Highly Important.—It gives us much pleaſure to be enabled to lay before our Commercial Readers the following important intelligence:

MR. LEWIS.

"The Committee of Commerce and Manufactures have, this day, unanimouſly agreed to report a Bill, giving liberty to Merchants to import, from Great Britain and elſewhere, goods purchaſed or ordered, previous to the Preſident's Proclamation of the 2d of November, 1810."

"It is reported here, from no common authority, that, if this government will prohibit licences for trading with France, which prohibition is expected to take place, Great Britain will with draw her Orders in Council."

A TRIBUTE TO MERIT.

COLONEL BOYD.

Of this valuable officer little is known in Virginia—of which the following ſketch may therefore be intereſting:—

Col. Boyd, is now about 40 years of age, was born at or near Boſton; having imbibed an early attachment to arms, he qualified himſelf for a military life at the place of his nativity, and then emigrated to the Eaſt Indies, with but little more than his ſword, and his bravery:—He was ſoon employed in the Eaſt Indies and rapidly roſe to the rank of general.—About ten years ago, he returned to America, with fame, honour and fortune—and though rich, fought and obtained military employment in the ſervice of the United States. How well he has deſerved the confidence of his country, is amply atteſted by the part which he ſuſtained in the late memorable action on the Wabaſh.

From the pen of a friend.
[Virginia Argus.]

Cincinnati, (Ohio,) Dec. 18.—Notwithſtanding the peaceable aſpect of our affairs with the Indians, as ſtated in Mr. Johnſon's communication of Nov. 20, we underſtand that a letter has been received from Mr. Johnſon, of a late date, by Gen. Whiteman, at Yellow Spring, ſtating that Tecumſeh had arrived on the Wabaſh with ſeveral hundred Indians.—In conſequence of which he was drafting every fourth man in his brigade.

BOSTON, January 4.

Lateſt from Spain.—Cadiz accounts to Nov. 11, have been received via Salem. In an attack on the French Fort St. Catalina, an Engliſh gunboat blew up, and with the crew was deſtroyed.

A Cadiz paper of the 8th ſtates, that on the 5th Gen. Balleſteros defeated a French corps under Gen. Semele, near Villamartin, killing and taking ſeveral hundreds. Great rejoicings followed in Cadiz.

New York, January 2.

National Sympathy.—By a view of our congreſſional ſketch this day, it will be ſeen that the Houſe of Repreſentatives have reſolved to wear crape on the left arm for one month, in memory of the late deplorable occurrence at Richmond. When we view the awful nature and circumſtances of that event; the ſevere loſs ſuſtained in the recent battle with the Weſtern Savages; the repeated Earthquakes which have lately viſited ſo great an extent of our country; the dark and dreply diſtreſſing ſtate of our national affairs; the conſequent ſufferings endured in our country; together with the prevailing proſligacy of the times, and the tremendous aſpect of the "proſpect before us"—we cannot but regret that a reſolution had not been moved and adopted throughout the Union, for a day of FASTING HUMILIATION and PRAYER. If it ever was the peculiar duty of a Nation, in a time of general and wide ſelt calamity, to bow with humiliation and reverence, before The Righteous Sovereign of the Univerſe, surely it becomes ours, in the preſent eventful day. Spectator.

Extract of a letter from an officer in the navy, dated Norfolk, Dec. 26.

"A moſt horrid circumſtance took place here laſt evening.—Young Mercer, whom you have often heard me mention, had received an inſult from the mate of ſome merchantman—a challenge followed, and laſt evening about ſun-down they met within a mile of the town—their diſtance of fighting was only ſufficient for them to go to touch the body with each others piſtols—the word was given—both fired, and both fell dead! The whole town is in an uproar on the occaſion. The ſeconds have taken ſafety by flight leaving their dead comrades without a ſoul near them—their bodies were brought to town laſt evening and will this day be interred.

"Mr. Mercer was an officer in the U. S. navy, and nephew to Gen. Mercer.

The Indian Prophet.—It appears, by our Congreſs News of this day, that the Prophet is not ſatisfied with his laſt defeat; that he is again rallying his forces; and has already around him an army of two thouſand men.—Spect.

NEW YORK, January 12.

From the Wabaſh.—Under this head, the Aurora of Saturday contains a number of Documents reſpecting the late battle with the Indians, which altho' addreſſed to the Secretary of War, have not been laid before Congreſs. One of theſe documents, ſigned by Col. Boyd and Capt. Prentiſs, after paſſing a high encomium on the regular troops engaged in the action, adds—"We would not willingly take from the merited applauſe of any brave individual, but we cannot refrain to expreſs our belief, that the daſtardly conduct of ſome whole militia companies led to expoſure, and conſequent loſs of the life of ſome of the militia officers, whoſe men deſerting the lines, were ſeen behind trees, and under waggons, where many were actually killed."

These Documents, if practicable, ſhall be given in our next.

The ſhip Orient, arrived at Newport, from London, on the 3d of January, in a paſſage of 43 days from the Downs, and after having been blown off from near the Hook twice.

On the 24th ult. the was off Montang Point, in forty fathom water, and in leſs than one day's ſail from the Hook.

Capt. Haſſey writes that the gale of wind was the ſevereſt that he ever experienced, and that almoſt all his crew were worn out with fatigue and cold, and that the ſhip had ſuffered much in her ſails, rigging, &c. He will proceed to New York through the Sound with all poſſible ſpeed.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman at Natchitoches, on Red River, to his friend at Fort Columbia.

"That belt of country between the Rio Hondo and the Sabine, called neutral ground, has been ſo infeſted with robbers, thieves, and murderers, that no one was ſafe in travelling through it, without an armed eſcort. These ſtrigans have all been Americans, and ſome time ago were ſaid to exceed 50 in number. Several robberies and murders have been committed. The Spaniſh troops from Nacogdoches have made ſeveral incurſions on this ſide the Sabine, and taken and plundered ſome parties of Spaniards of oppoſite politics on the neutral ground. Governor Claiborne has adviſed us to extend our civil authority to the Sabine. A patrolling party returned yeſterday which had been ſent from here to arreſt ſome robbers—but could not find them.

I have this morning had a viſit from Colonel Manchack and Colonel Bernard, who arrived here yeſterday with their attendants. They are Spaniſh gentlemen from beyond the Rivet Grand, (Rio Brava) attached to the Republican or revolutionary party, and delagated by the Republicans of two provinces to come into the United States for ſome ſupplies. Colonel Bernard will remain here for ſome time, and endeavour to negociate with ſome American merchants for the deliverry of certain articles at a place agreed on, at or near the mouth of the River Grand, where there is a depoſit of money to pay for the articles so delivered. They want muſkets. These gentlemen inform me, that Mexico by the beſt information, was inveſted by a large Republican army, under the command of General Ryan, and they had every reaſon to believe, the city was taken before this.—A gentleman has this minute read me part of a letter he has juſt received from Trinity River, mentioning, that accounts were received there of the fall of Mexico; that General Ryan had taken it, and that all communication was cut off between that city and Vera Cruiz, and that Vera Cruiz, muſt alſo ſoon be taken. Colonels Manchack and Bernard and their party were purſued by a Lieutenant Moſius and thirty-five men, who overtook them at Bayon Pierre in the ſettlement—but with ten men only, they immediately their purſuers by their bravery. Colonel Manchack, I believe, laſt night or this morning, received an invitation to return to Nacogdoches, and put himſelf at the head of the ſoldiery there, who would obey; orders againſt their preſent commander, captain Dominego, an European, and go with him againſt all the out poſts at preſent under European commanders. There were lately 800 troops at Nacogdoches; many of whom, it is ſaid, have deſerted to join the Republicans, as well as thoſe at St. Antonio. These two Colonels, with whom I have had juſt two hours converſation, have no doubt but the Revolutionary party will ſucceed through all Spaniſh America. They ſay, that their accounts from Chili and Peru are the ſame.—That the Republicans are in poſſeſſion of the provinces of Monttey, New Eon, &c. with all the mines.—They inform me, that there were four American Gentlemen, who managed the artillery in General Ryan's army, and ſuſtain the higheſt reputation; one of whom was lately killed by a cannon ball.—They do not diſtinctly recollect their names—but believe Smith and Patterſon are two of them. Smith is brother to Lieut. Col. T. H. Smith of our army. Patterſon is the ſon of Col. Patterſon of Tennessee. They went into that country laſt year from St. Lucia."

PHILADELPHIA, January 7.

On Friday laſt, as a labouring man was digging gravel from a bank on Tacony Creek, (the property of Lewis Waſtmagg) near the entrance of Frankford Creek, for the purpoſe of erecting a ſtone wall, he fortunately diſcovered, at the diſtance of three feet from the ſurface of the earth, a ſmall pitcher containing 110 pieces of antique ſilver coins of various nations (among which are two of New England) the lateſt date of 1652—all in a perfect ſtate, excepting the two largeſt neareſt the earth; which were corroded with verdigreaſe; a tale has been handed down by tradition from father to ſon that Blackbeard, the noted pirate, depoſited his treaſure in the vicinity of the borough of Frankford, a few of the credulous inhabitants thereof, who were anxious to better their fortunes ſpeedily, rather than by the ſlow toil of many years, have been digging in queſt of imaginary treaſure in vain, whilſt the worthy labourer, by the ſweat of his brow, truſting to honeſt induſtry, has been amply repaid for his toil by Providence. Some ſuperſtitious perſons called on a conjurer in the nighbourhood to know his opinion reſpecting the treaſure—who pre dicted that the two largeſt and moſt valued were our two firſt Preſidents, (the ſmalleſt and inferior, the people) whoſe virtuous adminiſtration, tho' obſcured at preſent by calumny, would resume gradually the confidence of the people; and that our preſent gloomy proſpects would disappear, and our country once more bloſſom as the roſe.

Boſton, January 7.

FROM GIBRALTAR.

Our Gibraltar papers contain an official account of the fall of Saguntum, to the French General Suchet. The Spaniſh commandant is blamed. It denies that the Spaniſh army received a ruinous defeat the day previous, although it acknowledges they were un fortunate, but "the reverse does not render them leſs confident of being able to repel the invaſion." In Suchet's ſummons, as printed at Gibraltar, he only mentions taking 3 ſtandards, 20 pieces of cannon, 1400 priſoneis, and 2 Generals, in the battle of Oct. 26.

After taking Saguntum, the French marched under the walls of Valencia.

The yellow fever continued to prevail at Carthagena, Old Spain, Oct. 26, and over all the villages in the province of Murcia. In the town of Murcia 6000 persons had died. Alicant was free from it.

An indiscreet manifeſto of the Spaniſh General Lardizabal, published at Cadiz, appears to have caused much agitation in the Cortes, and to have been calculated to produce diſſentions between the Britiſh and Spaniards.—The Cortes were proceeding to complete a conſtitution for Spain.

A Commiſſion of the Cortes has been appointed to try the Ex Regent Lardizabal. Some of the ſittings of the Cortes have been very boiſterous, and large crouds have collected round their place of meeting. A. M. Valiente was conveyed on board a ſhip, apparently to protect him from the populace.

Algeziae, Nov. 7.

The Spaniſh General Balleſteros obtained a victory on the 5th over the French General Semele, who was at Barnet with 2000 men. The French had many killed and wounded. Among the former the commanding officer of the 16th regiment. We have taken ſome artillery, all their ammunition, many horſes and mules, muſkets, knapsacks, and made many priſoners. Some of our ſoldiers got 1000 dollars, as the ſhare of the ſpecie taken —Our troops continue to advance.

Gibraltar, Nov. 16.

General Balleſteros has puſhed as far as Utrela and is levying contributions and making requiſitions in the territory of Seville. An Algeziras letter ſtates him to have already collected 2000 young men.

The allied troops which marched out from Tariſa on the 6th, advanced as far as Vejer, which they entered, & returned ſhortly after. They have ſince marched out again, in the direction, as reported, of Medina.

Spaniſh Notice of Suchet's late Victory.

General Orders of the 2d Army of the 26th of October.

The Commander in Chief (H. E. General Blake) being accuſtomed to the viciſſitudes of war, does not wonder at the failure of yeſterday's attempt, although he had the beſt foundeed reaſons to hope for a proſperous iſſue, and appearance a the commence ment of the action, were ſufficient ing; nor does that reverſe render him leſs confident of repelling the enemy's invaſion.

He is ſatisfied in general, with the conduct of the Generals, Commandants, Officers and Men, and particularly ſo with the 4th Diviſion of the 4th Army, under the command of Camp Marſhall Zayas; but is highly diſpleaſed with certain corps and a few individuals. He will not diſgrace the latter before they are convicted; as ſoon as their cowardice ſhall have been proved, he will take care, that the whole rigour of juſtice and national vengeance alight upon their heads.

HINDOO SUPERSTITIONS.

1. The natives of Hindoſtan make offerings of their children to the goddeſs Ganga. In certain caſes they devote their firſt born.—They wait a convenient opportunity at their great annual feſtivals. They take the child to the water, and, at the time of bathing, it is encouraged to walk into deep water, till it is carried away by the ſtream. It is unwilling to go forward it is puſhed off by its parents —the moment it floats the parents depart the spot.

2. If a child refuſe the breaſt, it is ſuppoſed to be under the influence of an evil ſpirit. In this caſe the babe is put into a baſket, and hung up in a tree for three days. It generally happens, before the expiration of that time, the infant is dead, being deſtroyed by ants or birds of prey.

3. Without alledging any other reaſon than the difficulty of providing for daughters in marriage, the mothers ſtarve their female infants to death. In ſome places not one half of the females are permitted to live.

Dahomy, a kingdom of Africa, on the coaſt of Guinea, to the N. of Widah. It is ſuppoſed to reach from the sea coaſt about 500, or 200 miles inland, though no European has penetrated above half the diſtance; the capital, Abomay, lies about 9 50 N. lat.; and between the 3d and 4 h deg. E. lon. reckoned from Greenwich. The ſoil is a deep, rich clay, with a little ſand on the ſurface. But there is not to be found a ſtone ſo large as an egg in the whole country, ſo far as it has been viſited by the Europeans, ſo that a pair of ſtones, which they use for grinding corn, weighing together about 12 or 14 pounds, are ſold for five ſhillings. The country abounds with Buffaloes, deer, ſheep, goats, hogs, poultery of various kinds, particularly Guinea hens, and Muſcovy ducks; and the lakes are plentifully ſtored with fiſh. Their religion conſiſts of a jumble of ſuperſtitious nonsense, of which is it impoſſible to convey any idea to the reader. Their government is the moſt perfect deſpotism that exiſts perhaps on the face of the Earth. There is no intermediate degree of ſubordination between the king and the ſlave, at leaſt in the royal preſence where the prime miniſter is obliged to proſtrate himſelf with as much abject ſubmiſſion as the meaneſt ſubject. On his entrance into the palace, he crawls towards the apartment of audience, on his hands and knees, till he arrives in the royal preſence, where he lays himſelf flat upon his belly, rubbing his head in the duſt and muttering the moſt humiliating expreſſions. White viſitors are honoured with a glaſs of ſome cordial liquors, filled by the king's own hand; which, if refuſed, is apt to give offence. Favours of this kind are received with a avidity by his own ſubjects, on account of the honor conferred on them. The ſubject lies on his face while the king holds the bottle to his mouth. He muſt drink till the royal hand be withdrawn, which ſometimes does not happen till the whole contents be emptied, especially when he has a mind to ſport with the drinker. A conſiderable ſtanding army is maintained, who muſt hold themſelves in readineſs to take the field at the command of the ſovereign. Within the different places, likewiſe, are immured no leſs than 3000 women, of whom ſeveral hundreds are trained to the uſe of arms. Theſe warriors are regularly exerciſed, and go through their evolutions with as much expertneſs as the male ſoldiers. The king's palace is ſurrounded with a clay wall of a quadrangular form, and about 20 feet high. In the middle of each ſide is a guard houſe, with two centinels at the gate, and a guard of armed women and eunuchs within. On the thatched roofs of theſe guard houſes are ranged, on ſmall wooden ſtakes, many human ſkulls. Such of the inner apartments as the Europeans have an opportunity of ſeeing, conſiſts of large courts, communicating with each other, generally ſquare or oblong, encompaſſed by clay walls. In each of them is a ſort of piazza, or ſhed, formed of poſts a bout seven feet, planted in the ground at the diſtance of about 12 or 14 feet from the wall. The whole has ſome what the resemblance of an aſſemblage of farm yards, with long thatched barns, hovels for cattle and carts, and low mud walls to ſeparate them from each other.

Congreſſional Recess.—It is mentioned, as a rumour, in the "Alexandria Gazette," that Congreſs are about to adjourn for a month in order to hear further from England."—The ſame rumour is also thus announced in the Baltimore "Federal Republican;"—"an adjournment of Congreſs for a few weeks has been talked of Such a ſtep would be moſt grateful to Mr. Maddiſon's feelings, & would afford a temporary relief to the embarraſſed majority, but it would open the eyes of the people, and clench public opinion as to war with England."

A report originated in Waſhington on Saturday laſt, which is thought to be entitled to ſome credit, viz: That there had been a change of Miniſtry in England, and that the orders in council had been, or would be, rescinded. That Mr. Baker, the Britiſh ſecretary of legation, made a communication to a member of Congreſs, in which he expreſſed his belief of ſuch an event taking place, is certain—it comes too direct to be diſputed.—*Alex. WINTER.

A SEASON FOR REMEMBERING THE POOR.

"Now Winter is come, with his cold chilling breath,
And the verdure has dropp'd from the trees;
All Nature seems touched by the finger of death,
And the ſtreams are beginning to freeze.
Where wanton young lads on the river can ſlide,
And Flora attends as no more;
Where in plenty you sit by a good fire-ſide,
Save me one night in a Winter the Poor."

"When the cold feather'd ſnow does in plenty deſcend,
And whirls in the proſpect around;
When the keen cutting winds from the north ſhall attend,
Hard chilling and freezing the ground;
When the hills and the dales are all candid with white,
When the rivers congeal to the ſhore,
When the tweedling ſtars deem it a cold night,
Then remember the ſtate of the Poor."

"When the poor harmleſs hare may be traced to the wood,
By her footſteps indented in ſnow;
When the lips and the fingers are ſtarting with blood,
When the markſ-men a fowl ſhooning go;
When the poor robin red-breaſt approaches the cot,
And the icicles hang at the door;
When the bowl ſmokes with ſomething reviving and hot,
Then's the time to remember the Poor."

"When a chaſm thair enſue, and the waters increaſe,
And the rivers all impotent grow;
When the fiſhes from priſon obtain a releaſe,
When to danger the traveller go;
When the Meadows are hid with the proud ſwelling flood
When the bridges are waſhed no more,
When to health you have every thing that is good,
Can you man'ner to think on the Poor?"

THE YORK GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 29.

MR. EDITOR,

I have long been reſident in this Town, and latterly view with much pride the increaſe of Town houſes, which I think is an evident proof of growing wealth, for it may be laid down as an Axiom that the general wealth of Citizens is manifeſted by the general appearance of the place they inhabit. I acknowledge that I am one whoſe circumſtances are much bettered ſince my reſidence here; indeed I now feel competent to pay the common charges of a penny poſtman and a hair dreſſer or barber ſurgeon, neither of which the Corporation can yet boaſt of poſſeſſing. In any Town in which I have heretofore lived, their want was not known; indeed after the arrival of the Mail a rap at my Office, generally announced whatever letters were to my addreſs or care, and a penny each in addition to the poſtage, lodged them with me. Independent of the general accommodation this produced, a few pence to the Penny-poſtman, from thoſe in habits of correſpondence, enabled him to adminiſter the common comforts to his family; but in this place people may accommodate themſelves and pocket the pence they would be otherwiſe obliged to ſacrifice to the neceſſary and uſeful Penny-poſtman. As I obſerved before, I feel myſelf ſufficiently rich to pay the daily attendance of a Saver; but mark the conſequence of his nonentity. My Watchers unformed as they are, have ceaſed to ornament my phiz or improve my muſcular beauty, indeed, inſtead of being in any way graceful, they appear like two excreſcent tufts, growing without rhyme or reaſon, a perfect chance medley; and the Beard, which decency dictates to be daily ſhorn, now figures for weeks together, in all its native bloom and dignity. Really Mr. Editor, unleſs ſome remedy for the latter evil ſhould be ſpeedily deviſed, do not be ſurpriſed, if a Coroner's Inqueſt ſhould ſhortly bring in a verdict of felo de se on

To the Editor of the Quebec Mercury.

Sir—I beg leave to address, through the medium of your paper, a few words to the inhabitants of these Provinces, upon the critical state of our political relations with the U. States. I set out with a thorough conviction, in my own mind, that war is at no great distance; and that we shall soon be called upon to defend every thing dear to us against a system of warfare, grounded upon the avowed principles of plunder and rapine. This is no vague conjecture, as every man may soon have his doubts cleared up (if he entertains any) by a reference to the American Journals, where no secret is made of the "ways and means" by which this war is to be carried on. A division of the lands in the Canada, amongst the soldiery of the conquering army is held out as a bait to the enterprising part of their community, to induce them to embark in this wild crusade, and what is still more singular, this is counted upon by their first politicians as forming a regular branch of finance. Every one has heard the of old adage, of counting chickens before they are hatched. The slightest attention to the following statement will place this matter in a true light. Let us suppose war is declared, and every point the enemies of peace in the U. States, have in view carried into full effect. The invasion of the Canadas is commenced in good earnest, and an immense multitude of the most worthless part of the American population poured in upon us. One or two things must happen, they are either kept in their career, by a timely and prompt resistance on our part, or they are allowed to proceed in their career of conquest. If the inhabitants of this Province are true to themselves, and act with any degree of spirit and resentment, or, if they are not greatly degenerated from what their ancestors were, the mercenaries and rapacity of the American democrats will meet with a chastisement they little calculate upon. If the Canadians are loyal, they will be or ganized and trained to arms, in their own defence and, supported by the well known courage and discipline of the British army, they will form an impenetrable barrier, and prove the safeguard and shield of their country. This being so obviously their interest, I have no doubt but they will most cheerfully concur with every measure of the Governor for the defence of the country, as these can exist but one opinion as to the peculiar, and unexampled happiness all classes of the community have enjoyed, under the British Government. Noperied could be more favorable to the defence of our American possessions than the present, whatever our enemies may think, and say to the contrary. The corrupt and venal political speculators in the United States, preach to their deluded adherents, the advantages that would result from an attack upon our possessions, at this moment, presuming upon the circumstance of our having to spare a portion of our disposable forces employed in fighting the battles of Europe in the peninsula, and indeed, in every part of the world, sustaining the honor and glory of their country, and exalting the British name above all the nations upon Earth. They know that if they succeed in embroiling their country in a war with Great Britain, they render a most acceptable service to Bonaparte, who has both the power and inclination to reward such services." They, however, do not calculate (or probably do not care) what the issue of such a measure may be, as a number of individuals have taken a lead in the politics of the United States, who are by birth, and every tie of nature, aliens to the country, and therefore care not what may become of the nation, as no reverse of fortune can render their situation more wretched, in the general wreck, they may be able to come in for a share of the plunder. I shall therefore lay before my countrymen the prospects they may fairly look to, in this impending struggle.

It is pretty clear that if they attack us, it must be with an army compoled of new levies, as they have no disposable force at present. If they are to raise and discipline their troops for the invasion and plunder of Canada, have not we the same means of raising a force for the defence of Canada; nay, have not we every advantage over them in that respect? We have real liberty, grounded upon the most wise and equitable laws; we have property, either transmitted to us by our ancestors, or acquired by our own industry, arising out of the happy connexion subsisting between us and the Parent State.—We have the characteristic feelings and attachments arising out of national associations and virtuous habits.—We have a clergy noted for the morality of their lives, and the lessons of virtue their example daily inculcates. The husbandman cultivates his farm with the comfortable assurance, that what he sows with hope, he will reap in safety. And when we consider that notwithstanding all the heavy demands which press upon the state and generous nation to which we owe our protection and happiness, we are kept free from taxation. That is, we share in her prosperity; but, are exempted from her privations. On the other hand, look at what is generally called the war faction, or democratic part of the American population—the heads of that party are the avowed patrons of slavery and dealers in human blood; a traffic which has a natural tendency to eradicate from their minds every feeling of humanity; or, in short, every feeling whatever, where their interests or personal safety is not concerned. They are loud for war, under the idea that their remote situation will shield them from its terrors. This policy, on their parts, it requires little penetration to foresee, will entail upon them all the calamities incident to war in an aggravated degree. Do they imagine that we are ignorant of their real situation? or that we do not know how to retaliate upon them the calamities they would so willingly heap upon us? I could easily shew how that is to be done; but shall leave that part of the discussion for the present, to say a few words upon the war as it affects us more immediately, upon the frontiers of the Province. Be it known then, that the "Wise acres" in Congress, talk of marching into Canada, as if it were one of the most harmless amusements imaginable; and that after all these Canadites are rooted out, they are to make an allotment of their lands, as a reward to these modern crusaders, for their valiant achievements. No man talks lightly of war who knows any thing about the matter; we may therefore conclude that those who have set up the war-whoop on the other side of the line, have yet the trade to learn. While I deprecate war, and, above all others, this most unnatural war, and the disgraceful and corrupt motives which have led to it; a war waged in co-operation with a bloody Despot, who has wantonly trampled upon the liberties of Europe; and deluged every country around him, with the blood of its inhabitants. And that the American people should enlist under the banners of this fell destroyer of the human race, is a deplorable and striking picture of human depravity. While I deprecate and deplore such madness on the part of the American people, I however beg that it may be clearly understood, that I entertain no fears whatever about the issue of it, come when it will, as there can be no doubt whatever but the Canadian population will cheerfully come forward, and maintain the warlike character of their ancestors. The regular force we have already in these Provinces is great, and more efficient than all the United States' Army; and we can raise militia as fast as they can; and, as they are to be the aggressors, we shall remain quietly home, while they must take a long journey to come to us. That we shall beat them, and send what remains of them home again, there remains no doubt whatever, if we act in a manner consistent with our duty to our country. But should the enemy succeed in persuading the Canadian people that they are come to fraternize, and regenerate them, by blinding their understandings with a dose of republican jargon, the case of the Canadians will be miserable indeed; but that of brother Jonathan very little improved. The British army can keep Canada, as long as "Britannia rules the waves." Quebec is not only invulnerable against any attack of the enemy; but from the facility with which succours can be thrown into it, there never could be a conquest made of this Province, till they have first subdued our fleets, a talk that will require the skill and courage of all their naval commanders, the great and valiant Rogers included. This is the utmost extent of the evil in a national point of view. If the Canadians are from faction or cowardice, so dastardly as to suffer their country to be overrun, they will have time enough for repentance. It is not to be supposed that any army will starve in a country that as any thing left to eat. Feeding their conquerors is a task already imposed upon the countries over-run by the French armies, as some small return for the freedom and happiness conferred upon them. It is not there fore to be supposed that warriors, who have leagued with these modern Vandals, will fail to imitate them in so essential a point. I say nothing of the libertines that may be taken with the weaker and unprotected sex, by the unlicenced Banditti that may come pole this way. I present merely an outline, and leave it to the feelings of every husband and father to fill up the picture. These are evils that I hope will never be felt amongst us, as nothing can be fairer that the prospect we have before us, of a successful issue to the impending war. Our provident Government has placed at our head an officer of great experience, and military talents; and one who cannot fail to inspire confidence, as he has not only merited, but obtained success, in all the vicissitudes of an active military life. Our troops have a confidence grounded upon the nations' glory, which they have no fear of tarnishing; and are longing for an opportunity of giving the Democrats a lesson, that will strike deeper into their minds, than all the moral precepts delivered by the pacific Counsellors at Washington.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Norfolk, (Vir.) to his friend in this town, dated December 18, 1811.

"A week or two ago, a little girl came to the counting-room of Mr.——, and told him her Mother was very ſick, and wanted a little brandy to uſe in Medicine. Mr.——gave her the brandy, and thought no more of it.—A week after, the ſame girl came and told him that her mother was very ſick and poor, and ſent to aſk his aſſiſtance. He then noticed her great ſimplicity, which convinced him that her tale was true. He gave her 5 or 6 dollars, and promiſed to call and ſee her—but being at the ſame time engaged in loading a brig, he forgot it. A day or two after, hearing that ſhe was dead, he went to the houſe in the ſuburbs, and found every mark of extreme wretchedneſs; with the aſſiſtance of one or two others, they buried the woman decently in the Potter's field. She has left three daughters and a ſickly little ſon, who are now comfortably provided for in different Chriſtian families. It ſeems that her huſband is at ſea, mate of a ſhip which ſailed from this port, that they ate from Hartford in Connecticut, that their name is Hewlet, that her name was Hopkins, and it is believed from ſome letters found, that ſhe was of reſpectable connexions, a woman of piety, and good education. Theſe circumſtances I learn from Mr.——, with whom the eldeſt daughter (about 12) lives. I have been thus particular, in hopes that her friends, if ſhe has any, might learn the ſituation of the family."

"Theſe appears to be ſome proſpect of this, as the Executive have engaged many federaliſts to write to their friends in England to uſe their influence to have them taken off. Deſpatches reached here laſt evening from our miniſter in France. The accounts are ſaid to wear a favourable appearance. In addition to this, I am informed that letters have been received from England of a very late date by a ſenator of the United States; the letters place our affairs in a great ſtate of uncertainty; thoſe from London ſcarce indulge a hope of the repeal of the orders in council. Thoſe from Liverpool, which we underſtand have been received at Baltimore, declare poſitively that their orders will be reſcinded in the courſe of 15 days."

It is about 9 months ſince a number of American ſeamen were ſeized at Dantzic, and marched to Antwerp for the French fleet. Mr. Ruſſell made ſome communication to the French government with regard to them; and received a few words in anſwer. The impreſſment had been made by miſtake and the men would be releaſed! But not one of them has reached home, or been heard of ſince, that we know of. Among them was a Mr. Soper, who has a family in this town; when his releaſe was requeſted at Dantzic, as too old to be of much uſe to the Emperor, it was anſwered, if he is not too old to ſerve in a merchantman, he will do for a man of war!

Government have recently received deſpatches from our miniſter at Paris. "The aſpect of our affairs was flattering, although no change had taken place." We truſt the Intelligencer has the ſame meaning as ſailors when they talk of "flattering weather."

Our laughing with France reminds us of Franklin's fiſherman, who, altho' he caught nothing, exulted that he had a "glorious bite" now and then.

It is for the intereſt, and probably gratifying to the feelings of Mr. Barlow, to hold his preſent ſituation. May he not therefore ſtrive to put the beſt face on our French affairs!

Extract of a letter from the Captain of the brig Charlotte, to his owner in Boſton.

"Copenhagen, Oct. 9. 1811.

"Sir—I have the mortification to inform you, that your brig Charlotte, with her cargo, was yeſterday condemned by order of the Court of Chancery in this city, without the knowledge of our miniſter, Mr. Erving, or his being permitted to interfere in the caſe.

"Such is the unjuſt ſyſtem here purſued by this nation, that no veſſel however clear, is ſafe in theſe ſeas, if bearing the American flag.

"I received my final doom laſt evening, and have to pay the coſts of court. Agreeably to your orders I ſhall forward the neceſſary documents for recovering the inſurance, and ſhall take paſſage home immediately, if I can get ready; I ſhall be obliged to remain here until the remaining part of the crew arrives from the brig, which will probably be 15 or 20 days, and ſhall then proceed without loſs of time.—I will juſt mention alſo, that the ſhip Reſolution of New York was condemned yeſterday, valued at 25,000 Spaniſh dollars. Two veſſels, the brig Redon of Salem, and the ſchooner Hero of Marblehead, with valuable cargoes, taken by a French privateer and brought in here, have been condemned at Paris, although as clear as poſſible and direct from America.—Six other veſſels are alſo detained here by the French privateers, which ſwarm here, and a number of the Daniſh privateers.

"Appearances are in this quarter dark and gloomy.

"I remain, Sir, moſt reſpectfully, your unfortunate and obedient ſervant."

Extract of a letter from one of the firſt manufacturing houſes in Yorkſhire (England) dated Oct. 5, 1811.

"Goods of all kinds are well cloths as blankets, which appeared to receive a check at the uſual time of ſhipping for the United States—now go off ſteadily—our general ſtock on hand is decreaſing, & is not large; and wool of all kinds is rather advancing in price—ſo that the expected ſhock from the ſtoppage of our commerce with America, is much leſs than was apprehended."

If our readers do not light upon any probable conjecture as to the object in view, we would briefly remind them of the law paſſed by the laſt Congreſs in ſecret ſeſſion, empowering the President to take poſſeſſion, by force, of both the Floridas.

Waſhington, (Miſs.) Dec. 20, 1812.

"Orders have been juſt received here by Col. Simonds, who commands at this cantonment, to move with the troops under his command to Baton Rouge; whatever may be the motives for the movement conjecture is afloat, and each anticipates what he moſt wiſhes; ſome ſay that a force is expected in Florida by ſea, whether from Europe or the Weſt Indies is not ſaid, but ſuch is the impreſſion with ſome; others, however, ſuppoſe that the force is to proceed to occupy the territory to the margin of the Perdido, and to occupy the fort of Mobile; the Spaniſh troops that were at Penſacola, having erected ſome ſtrong works on an iſland in the bay. Should any foreign force be landed we are committed and muſt nitve them off."

The Great Miſſ Seat.—In the debate of Thurſday laſt, on the Bill for raiſing 25,000 men, Mr. Randolph ſaid—"As the Torpedo ſyſtem had failed in frightening Great Britain the Quixottes in the Houſe, were contriving a Northern Syſtem; they were determined to have the great miſſ ſeat, the excluſive right to the falls of Niagara, and try a machine to go by water, that ſhould conquer the liberties of the ſeas. THE YORK GAZETTE.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY, 4, 1812.

Yeſterday at one o'clock, His Honor ISAAC BROCK, Eſquire, President, adminiſtering the Government of Upper Canada, and Major General Commanding His Majeſty's Forces therein, accompanied by a numerous ſuite, proceeded to the Government Buildings and opened the preſent Seſſion of the Legiſlature, when he was pleaſed to deliver the following SPEECH to both Houſes.

Hon. Gentlemen of the Legiſlative Council. And, Gentlemen of the Houſe of Aſſembly.

I ſhould derive the utmoſt ſatisfaction, the firſt time of my addreſſing you, were it permitted me to direct your attention ſolely to ſuch objects as tended to promote the peace and proſperity of this Province.

The glorious conteſt in which the Britiſh Empire is engaged, and the vaſt ſacrifice which Great Britain nobly offers to ſecure the independence of other Nations, might be expected to ſtifle every feeling of envy, and jealouſy, and at the ſame time to excite the intereſt and command the admiration of a free People; but regardleſs of ſuch generous impreſſions, the American Government, evinces a diſpoſition calculated to impede and divide her efforts.

England if not only interdicted the harbours of the United States, while they afford a ſhelter to the cruiſers of her inveterate enemy, but ſhe is likewiſe required to reſign thoſe maritime rights which ſhe has ſo long exerciſed and enjoyed. Inſulting threats are offered, and hoſtile preparations actually commenced; and though not without hope that cool reflection, and the dictates of juſtice may yet avert the calamities of war, I cannot under every view of the relative ſituation of the Province be too urgent in recommending to your early attention, the adoption of ſuch meaſures, as will beſt ſecure the internal peace of the Country, and defeat every hoſtile aggreſſion.

Principally compoſed of the ſons of a Loyal and brave band of Veterans, the Militia, I am confident, ſtand in need of nothing but the neceſſary Legiſlative proviſions, to direct their ardour in the acquirement of Military inſtruction, to form a moſt efficient force.

The growing proſperity of theſe Provinces, it is manifeſt, begins to awaken a ſpirit of envy and ambition. The acknowledged importance of the Colony to the Parent State, will ſecure the continuance of her powerful protection. Her foſtering care has been the firſt cauſe, under Providence, of the uninterrupted happineſs you have ſo long enjoyed. Your induſtry has been liberally rewarded, and you have in conſequence riſen to opulence.

Theſe intereſting truths are not uttered to animate your patriotiſm, but to diſpel any apprehenſion which you may have imbibed of the poſſibility of England forſaking you, for you muſt be ſenſible, that if once bereft of her ſupport, if once deprived of the advantages which her commerce and the ſupply of her moſt eſſential wants give you, this Colony, from its Geographical poſition, muſt inevitably ſink into comparative poverty and inſignificance.

But Heaven will look favorably on the manly exertions which the Loyal and virtuous inhabitants of this happy land are prepared to make, to avert ſuch a dire calamity!

Our gracious Prince, who ſo gloriouſly upholds the dignity of the Empire, already appreciates your merit, and it will be your firſt care to eſtabliſh by the courſe of your actions, the juſt claim of the Country to the protection of His Royal Highneſs.

I cannot cloſe myſelf the ſatisfaction of announcing to you, from this place, the munificent intention of His Royal Highneſs, the Prince Regent, who has been graciouſly pleaſed to grant, that a ſum of One Hundred Pounds per annum, will be propoſed in the annual Eſtimate, for every future Miſſionary of the Goſpel, ſent from England, who may have faithfully diſcharged for the term of ten years, the duties of his ſtation in this Province.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Aſſembly.

I have no doubt, but that with me, you are convinced of the neceſſity of a regular ſyſtem of Military inſtruction to the Militia of this Province;—on this ſalutary precaution, in the event of a War, our future ſafety will greatly depend, and I doubt not, but that you will cheerfully lend your aid, to enable me to defray the expence of carrying into effect, a meaſure ſo conducive to our ſecurity and defence.

I have ordered the Public Accounts to be laid before you, and have no doubt but that you will conſider them with that attention which the nature of the ſubject may require.

Hon. Gentlemen of the Legiſlative Council, and Gentlemen of the Houſe of Aſſembly.

I have without reſerve, communicated to you, what has occurred to me, on the exiſting circumſtances of this Province.—We with and hope for peace, but it is nevertheleſs our duty to be prepared for War.

The taſk impoſed on you, on the preſent occaſion, is arduous, this taſk however, I hope and truſt, laying aſide every conſideration, but that of the Public Good, you will perform with that firmneſs, diſcretion, and promptitude, which a regard to yourſelves, your families, your Country and your King call for at your hands.

As for myſelf, it ſhall be my utmoſt endeavor to co-operate with you, in promoting ſuch meaſures as may beſt contribute to the ſecurity and to the proſperity of this

SUPPLEMENT TO THE YORK GAZETTE,

GENTLEMEN,

AT a crisis like the present, when the warlike preparations of our neighbours are brought to our very doors, and the attack of the Canadas become a common theme of conversation, not only amongst the idle and speculating part of the community, but is gravely brought forward in Congress as a National Measure; it is high time that we should be prepared to meet the blow, aimed not only at our prosperity, but against the more industrious and virtuous classes in both Countries. My object is to lay before my readers a fair and candid statement of the relative situations of the two countries, now brought to the brink of this awful precipice, and to present a slight sketch of the evils that must result from this most unnatural and detestable policy of the American Government.

It is now evident that war can no longer be avoided, as the calculations of the Democrats, founded upon the forbearance of England, are evidently erroneous.—All their bullying and swaggering about the great exploits they were to perform, such as marching into Canada, &c. if she did not rescind her Decrees, and abandon those Maritime Rights, upon which her very existence as a Nation depends, together with many other civil things they were ready to have dictated to her, having produced no effect whatever upon the British Nation, or her Councils. The consequence of all this is loud and noisy preparation for war. This is an event the corrupt and venal wretches who have sold their Country to our implacable enemy have long been driving at; they have now nearly accomplished their object. An army of 25000 men are voted to invade and lay waste these Provinces, and when she nature of the American population is considered, we can be at no loss in forming a correct estimate of the description of men composing this Army.—It is not to be supposed that the Yeomanry of the Country will quit their comfortable homes, and abandon their families and every tie in life, to expose themselves to the Bayonet or Tomahawk, in fighting the battles of Bonaparte, Madison and Co. It is not my wish, or intention, to deny the Patriotism or Courage of the American People, as I firmly believe, if the cause of their Country required the sacrifice, they would act as they have done on former occasions, and not be found wanting in either. Whilst we are appreciating our enemy, it is both folly and injustice to underrate or withhold from him his due. But there will not be many men found in the invading Army possessed of those virtues. The American who really loves his Country, cannot but deplore the wickedness and folly of his government who have thus dragged the nation into a war with the only country upon earth which stands between them and universal despotism.—Their armies therefore must evidently be composed of the refuse and scum of the earth, Renegadoes and Vagabonds of all nations, who having fled from justice in their native Land, have found an asylum in the United States, and unhappily for that country, and their neighbours, an impunity to their crimes.—Men of this description may no doubt be found to fill up their ranks.—Our fertile plains, and the fruits of our industry are no doubt temptations every way calculated to excite their avarice, and gratify their abominable and licentious passion for plunder and rapine. It is no ideal picture I attempt to delineate, as the objects of the Government of the United States have been fully discussed in Congress, and this system of plunder and robbery openly avowed.

They have no objection whatever in letting loose upon us this horrid Banditti, and pouring in upon these Provinces an army of Savages of the very worst description; and yet they are extreamly tickleish on that head themselves, and are very desirous of fastening upon us every hostile measure of the Indians. They have even carried this jealouly so far, as to accuse us of having stirred up the Prophet, and set him upon the Great, the Modest, and the Consistent General Harrison. It is by these lies they have succeeded in prejudicing the minds of the people against the only nation now left worthy of their alliance and friendship. But every man who knows any thing of war, must know, that this very army prepared to invade our Provinces, will prove the greatest force large to their own Country that they ever experienced. Admitting they are successful to the full extent of their object, and both the Canadas in their possession, let us see for a moment how the case would stand. The horrors to be committed in performing this great exploit, will (like those which have marked every step of their Ally Bonaparte) be gilded over with the false glare which is the sure attendant of successful villainy. The present population put to the sword, or driven from their habitations, the weaker sex disposed of as is usual on like occasions, and the lands divided amongst these modern Vandals.—This, it is to be presumed, is the consummation of their object, and the prize for which the Government of the United States are to commit so many crimes, and pour in upon their unoffending neighbours such a torrent of misery. It is not difficult to shew that this very success would prove the ruin of all the Countries situated on both Banks of the Saint Lawrence, and all the Lakes and Waters of which it is the discharge or outlet. Is it in human nature to suppose, that the British Nation will sit down tamely, and allow her enemy to enjoy the fruits of her rapacious and cruel conquest? The Empire, of which we form an integral part, has in a high degree those attributes which are the surest indications of her strength. Her moderation, justice and magnanimity, are themes of admiration amongst the lovers of virtue in all nations. The glorious contest she is now maintaining for the independence of Europe, is unparalleled in the annals of the world. A nation boldly standing forward, single handed, to stem a torrent that has borne down the greatest military powers, and but for her generous efforts would long ago have obliterated every trace of liberty, and reduced us all to a state of slavery the more insufferable, as we have already felt and enjoyed the blessings of freedom. Is it to be supposed that such a nation, after having driven this modern Attilla from the Ocean, and now beating him in every battle upon land, where he dares present himself, will suffer a parcel of peddling land jobbers to wrest from her a foot of territory? A territory now rendered doubly valuable to her from the abundant supplies she is yearly deriving from it for the use of her Naval arsenals, &c.

The evils of war, as they affect their own Country, no power upon Earth but themselves can avert, as success or defeat are to them equally ruinous. If they had possession of the Canadas without permission to avail themselves of the Sir Lawrence, what benefit could they possibly derive from any increase of their already too widely extended possessions? If we discharge the duty we owe to our Country, and to ourselves, we have nothing to fear. We have daily experience that bold and manly policy is the safest, and the wisest. All the nations of Europe who have temporized, or cringed to the bloody usurper, have invariably been trampled upon in the most barbarous and wanton manner. The brave alone have averted his desolating fury. Let us act worthy of the British character, and instead of becoming the victims of their rapacity, we shall teach our enemies a maxim they seem to have forgotten, that honesty is the best policy.

I do not presume to say what measures our Government has adopted; but what most materially concerns us, every man in this Province may readily know. That the Government are determined to defend the Country to the last extremity, there can be no doubt; and that every means we possess will be called into action, is equally unquestionable. The value of these Provinces to Great Britain is now so greatly enhanced, that we may rest assured she will never abandon them. If a temporary possession of them could even be obtained, they must inevitably be delivered up on a peace taking place.

As I have not withheld from my Countrymen the evils we are threatened with, I shall with equal candour say a word or two for the benefit of my Yankey friends, before they pass the Rubicon. Whilst you gentlemen are playing the Devil with us poor Canadians, what do you imagine we are doing in the mean time? Do you suppose we are a parcel of Quakers? You have probably forgot that Great Britain has either a Navy or an Army. Be assured brother Jonathan, that for every Canadian Cabin you burn or destroy, the British will retaliate upon you ten fold. If you are determined upon becoming such deadly sinners, it is not reasonable to expect that John Bull will be quite a Saint.

You calculate also upon exciting Rebellion amongst us, by making a party in the Country. This gentlemen, is as repugnant to humanity, as it is to good policy. If you will condescend to read the history of the British Nation, you will find that Rebellion never escaped punishment, nor the excitors of it, the chastisement due to their crimes. And as for the policy of the measure, I shall merely beg of you to recollect that there is a certain class of miserable fellow creatures amongst yourselves, that would require the help of very little Logic to see the justice of cutting the throats of their oppressors. You hadbetter not begin to throw stones, left you get your own windows broken. I could mention other dangers you have reason to dread, if it were my wish to intimidate you; but I have no intentions of the sort, my appeal is to your understandings, not to your fears.

I shall now conclude with an earnest exhortation to my fellow Countrymen, that they will come forward and rally round the Government and brave the impending storm like men. No cause can be more glorious, than that in which we are engaged, nor incitement to action greater than ours. The enemy threatens to wrest from us every object that can render life desirable, & reduce us to a state of dependance and misery. The defence of our Country, and all that is dear to us, is a sacred truft, which it would be the highest degree of baseness to betray. However strong the temptations and motives for action may be on the part of the enemy, they hold no degree of comparison with ours. We have therefore every advantage which is derived from a good cause, and an honorable and justifiable motive for entering upon this conteft. The general selected to command us, is perfectly acquainted with the Country and Inhabitants he has been called upon to defend. He can entertain no fears as to the issue, and I am confident there is not an Officer under him, who feels the smalleft apprehension for the safety of the Province. Let us therefore step forward with one accord, and second the efforts of Government by prefenting our services in any way where they can be of use in the common cause, and I will pledge my life for it, that the Province is invulnerable.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY, 12, 1812.

[We publiſhed his Honor the Preſidents Speech in our preceding Sheet, and now re-publiſh it accompanied with the Addreſſes of both Houſes, and his Honor's replies.]

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1812.

Yeſterday at one o'clock, His Honor ISAAC BROCK, Eſquire, Preſident, adminiſtering the Government of Upper Canada, and Major General Commanding His Majeſty's Forces therein, accompanied by a numerous ſuite, proceeded to the Government Buildings and opened the preſent Seſſion of the Legislature, when he was pleaſed to deliver the following SPEECH to both Houſes.

Hon. Gentlemen of the Legiſlative Council, And, Gentlemen of the Houſe of Aſſembly,

I ſhould derive the utmoſt ſatisfaction, the firſt time of my addreſſing you, were it permitted me to direct your attention ſolely to ſuch objects as tended to promote the peace and proſperity of this Province.

The glorious conteſt in which the Britiſh Empire is engaged, and the vaſt sacrifice which Great Britain nobly offers to ſecure the independence of other Nations, might be expected to ſtifle every feeling of envy, and jealouſy, and at the ſame time to excite the intereſt and command the admiration of a free People; but regardleſs of ſuch generous impreſſions, the American Government, evinces a diſpoſition calculated to impede and divide her efforts.

England is not only interdicted the harbours of the United States, while they afford a ſhelter to the cruizers of her inveterate enemy, but ſhe is likewiſe required to reſign thoſe maritime rights which ſhe has ſo long exerciſed and enjoyed. Inſulting threats are offered, and hoſtile preparations actually commenced; and though not without hope that cool reflection, and the dictates of Juſtice may yet avert the calamities of war, I cannot under every view of the relative ſituation of the Province be too urgent in recommending to your early attention, the adoption of ſuch meaſures, as will beſt ſecure the internal peace of the Country, and defeat every hoſtile aggreſſion.

Principally compoſed of the ſons of a Loyal and brave band of Veterans, the Militia, I am confident, ſtand in need of nothing but the neceſſary Legiſlative proviſions, to direct their ardour in the acquirement of Military inſtruction, to form a moſt efficient force.

The growing proſperity of theſe Provinces, it is manifeſt, begins to awaken a ſpirit of envy and ambition. The acknowledged importance of this Colony to the Parent State, will ſecure the continuance of her powerful protection. Her ſoſtering care has been the firſt cauſe, under Providence, of the uninterrupted happineſs you have ſo long enjoyed. Your induſtry has been liberally rewarded, and you have in conſequence riſen to opulence.

Theſe intereſting truths are not uttered to animate your patriotiſm, but to diſpel any apprehenſion which you may have imbibed of the poſſibility of England forſaking you, for you muſt be ſenſible, that if once bereft of her ſupport, if once deprived of the advantages which her commerce and the ſupply of her moſt eſſential wants give you, this Colony, from its Geographical poſition, muſt inevitably ſink into comparative poverty and inſignificance.

But Heaven will look favorably on the manly exertions which the Loyal and Virtuous Inhabitants of this happy Land are prepared to make, to avert ſuch a dire calamity!

Our gracious Prince, who ſo glorioſuly upholds the dignity of the Empire, already appreciates your merit, and it will be your firſt care to eſtabliſh, by the courſe of your actions, the juſt claim of the Country to the protection of His Royal Highneſs.

I cannot deny myſelf the ſatisfaction of announcing to you, from this place, the munificent intention of His Royal Highneſs the Prince Regent, who has been graciouſly pleaſed to ſignify, that a grant of One Hundred Pounds per annum, will be propoſed in the annual Eſtimate, for every future Miſſionary of the Goſpel, ſent from England, who may have faithfully diſcharged for the term of ten years, the duties of his ſtation in this Province.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Aſſembly,

I have no doubt, but that with me, you are convinced of the neceſſity of a regular ſyſtem of Military Inſtruction to the Militia of this Province;—on this ſalutary precaution, in the event of a War, our future ſafety will greatly depend, and I doubt not, but that you will cheerfully lend your aid, to enable me to defray the expence of carrying into effect, a meaſure ſo conducive to our ſecurity and defence.

I have ordered the Public Accounts to be laid before you, and have no doubt but that you will conſider them with that attention which the nature of the ſubject may require.

Hon. Gentlemen of the Legiſlative Council, and Gentlemen of the Houſe of Aſſembly,

I have without reſerve, communicated to you, what has occurred to me, on the exiſting circumſtances of this Province.—We wiſh and hope for peace, but it is nevertheleſs our duty to be prepared for War.

The taſk impoſed on you, on the preſent occaſion, is arduous; this taſk however, I hope and truſt, laying aſide every conſideration, but that of the Public Good, you will perform with that firmneſs, diſcretion, and promptitude, which a regard to yourſelves, your families, your Country and your King call for at your hands.

As for myſelf, it ſhall be my utmoſt endeavor to co-operate with you, in promoting ſuch meaſures as may beſt contribute to the ſecurity and to the proſperity of this Province.

[In the evening, the Members of the Legiſlature, the Officers of the Garriſon, and the principal Gentlemen of the Town and Neighbourhood (amounting to ſixty-two gueſts) partook of a moſt elegant Entertainment, provided for them on the opening of the Provincial Parliament.]

The following Addreſſes were preſented to his Honor the Preſident, in anſwer to his Honor's Speech at the opening of the preſent Seſſion of the Provincial Legiſlature.

To His Honor ISAAC BROCK, Eſquire, President adminiſtering the Government of the Province of Upper Canada, and Major-General commanding His Majeſty's Forces in the ſaid Province, &c. &c. &c.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOR,

WE His Majeſty's moſt dutiful and Loyal Subjects the Legiſlative Council of Upper Canada, in Provincial Parliament aſſembled, do offer you our thanks for your Speech at the opening of this Seſſion of the Legiſlature, and ſhould have felt the greateſt ſatisfaction had it only been neceſſary for your Honor to have called forth our attention to objects of internal regulation and Government, without having occaſion to recommend meaſures of defenſive preparation.

We admire the glorious efforts of Great Britain in the cauſe of Liberty, and of Man; and that noble ſtruggle, which ſhe ſtill with ſucceſs maintains, to avert the yoke of ſervitude from ſurrounding nations, while we lament that ſo great a cauſe ſhould be counteracted by a People who boaſt that they are free, interdicting her ſhips from their Harbours, and while affording ſhelter to her inveterate enemy, call upon her to ſurrender what ſhe has ever held moſt valuable and ſacred—her Maritime Rights.

But we are ſtill not without hope that cool reflection and the dictates of Juſtice, will avert the calamities of War, while we see and feel the neceſſity pointed out by your Honor, of adopting ſuch meaſures as will beſt ſecure, not only the internal proſperity of this Country, but defeat every hoſtile aggreſſion that may affail it.

We will moſt cordially unite with the other branches of the Legiſlature, in adopting ſuch meaſures as may enable our Militia, many of them deſcended from a Loyal and brave band of Veterans, to exert with effect that Loyalty, Zeal and Courage which diſtinguiſhed their Fathers.

The gracious intentions of His Royal Highneſs, the Prince Regent, to this Province, we humbly and gratefully acknowledge.

Highly ſenſible of the comforts and bleſſings which we poſſeſs, and anxious for the continuance of that happineſs which we enjoy, we feel, from the declaration of your Honor, ſatisfaction as well as confidence, that you will co-operate with us in promoting ſuch meaſures as may beſt contribute to the ſecurity and to the proſperity of this Province. (Signed)

THOs. SCOTT,
Speaker.

Legiſlative Council Chamber Wedneſday, February, 5th 1812.

Hon. Gentlemen of the Legiſlative Council.

YOU have given ſo many proofs of your unſhaken Loyalty, and attention to the beſt intereſts of the Province, that I feel confident the profeſſions contained in this Addreſs, are made with a ſincere determination to continue at the preſent criſis, a line of conduct ſo conducive to the Public Good, and honorable to yourſelves.

To His Honor ISAAC BROCK, Eſquire, President adminiſtering the Government of the Province of Upper Canada, and Major General commanding his Majeſty's Forces therein, &c. &c. &c.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOR.

WE his Majeſty's moſt dutiful and Loyal Subjects, the Commons of the Province of Upper Canada in Parliament aſſembled, beg leave to return you our ſincere thanks for your moſt gracious Speech, to both Houſes of the Legiſlature, at the opening of the preſent Seſſion; alſo permit us, Sir, to congratulate you upon your appointment to the high ſtation you fill, which we conſider as a proof of the confidence and high eſtimation of his Royal Highneſs, the Prince Regent, in your Honor's Talents and Experience at this portentous criſis.

We feel a deep ſenſe of the ſatisfaction your Honor would derive from having no other objects to direct our attention to, upon the firſt time of addreſſing us, but ſuch as tended ſolely to promote the Peace and Proſperity of this Province.

With your Honor, We ſhould have expected that the glorious conteſt in which the Britiſh Empire is engaged, and the vaſt ſacrifice Great Britain is making to ſecure the Independence of other nations, would have ſtifled every feeling of envy and jealouſy, and would at the ſame time have excited the intereſt and called forth the plaudits and admiration of a free People, but we view with aſtoniſhment, that the Government of the United States, inſenſible to thoſe impreſſions which beget a generous ſympathy, evinces a diſpoſition to impede and divide thoſe efforts, and by an infatuated partiality, England is not only interdicted the harbours of the United States, while they afford ſhelter and ſupplies to the Cruizers of her inveterate enemy, but ſhe is likewiſe required to reſign thoſe Maritime rights which ſhe has ſo long exerciſed and enjoyed, and which the whole Naval power of Europe has not been able to effect.

We unite with your Honor in the hope, notwithſtanding the inſulting threats and hoſtile preparations of that Government, that cool reflection and the dictates of Juſtice and found Policy may yet avert the calamities of War.

In conformity to the Recommendation of your Honor, we ſhall pay early attention to the adoption of ſuch meaſures as ſhall appear to us, beſt calculated to ſecure the internal peace of the Country and defeat every hoſtile aggreſſion.

We feel highly gratified at the confidence you expreſs to have in the ardour and efficiency of the Militia of this Province, and it ſhall become our immediate duty in our Legiſlative Capacity, to deviſe the means for their acquiring needful Military inſtruction, and truſt they will, if occaſion ſhould require, prove the Loyalty and bravery of their Fathers have not degenerated.

We expreſs our regret that the growing Proſperity of this Colony, and its increaſing importance to our Parent State, ſhould excite a ſpirit of envy and ambition. We rejoice in the happy and peaceable enjoyment of the fruits of our induſtry, and gratefully acknowledge the foſtering care and powerful protection of the Mother Country as the primary cauſes.

The aſſurance your Honor is pleaſed to give us, of England not forſaking us, demands our warmeſt acknowledgements, yet permit us to aſſure your Honor, though conſcious of our dependence on her ſupport and protection and the mutual commercial advantages a riſing to both; we never could imbibe an apprehenſion of her abandoning us, and hope we require no incitements to animate our patriotiſm, but relying on the Juſtice of our cauſe, we fervently implore Heaven to look favourably on ſuch exertions, as we may be enabled to make to avert ſo dire a calamity from the Inhabitants of this happy Land.

Our moſt zealous endeavours ſhall be uſed to eſtabliſh and ensure by the courſe of our actions, a continuance of the protection of our Gracious Prince who ſo glorioully upholds the dignity of the Empire, and we are truly grateful to his Royal Highneſs, for the flattering appreciation of us, which your Honor has been ſo good as to communicate.

We have to return you our unfeigned thanks for the ſatisfaction you feel in announcing to us the munificent intention of his Royal Highneſs, the Prince Regent, who has been graciously pleaſed to ſignify, that a Grant of one hundred pounds per annum will be propoſed in the annual eſtimate, for every future Miſſionary of the Goſpel ſent from England, who may have faithfully diſcharged, for the term of ten years, the duties of his ſtation in this Province, which demands our unbounded gratitude, being a flattering proof that this remote part of the Empire participates the vigilance and ſolicitude of his Royal Highneſs for the general good, amidſt the many weighty and important concerns which muſt at this criſis occupy his Royal Highneſs' attention.

We are perfectly convinced of the neceſſity of a regular ſyſtem of military inſtruction to the Militia of this Province, and ſenſible how far in the event of a war our future ſafety depends on ſo ſalutary a precaution; we ſhall cheerfully lend our aid towards defraying the expence of carrying the meaſure into effect.

When we receive the Public Accounts, we ſhall inveſtigate them, as usual, with the attention they require.

We thank your Honor for the frank unreſerved manner in which you have communicated your ſentiments on the exiſting circumſtances of this Province, and concur with your Honor in the wiſh and hope for Peace, but neverthleſs we conceive it to be our duty to be prepared for war, which often has been the means of averting it.

The taſk impoſed upon us at this criſis we are aware is arduous, but diveſting our minds of every other conſideration but that of the Public Good, and animated by a ſenſe of duty, this taſk we ſhall endeavour to perform with that firmneſs, diſcretion and promptitude which a regard to our King, our Country, our Families, and ourſelves calls for at our hands.

We have the moſt perfect reliance in your Honor's utmoſt endeavour to co-operate with us, in promoting ſuch meaſures as may beſt contribute to the ſecurity and to the Proſperity of this Province.

(Signed)

SAML. STREET,
Speaker.

Commons Houſe of Aſſembly, Wedneſday, 5th Feby. 1812.

To which his Honor was pleaſed to make the following reply.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Aſſembly,

I thank you very ſincerely for this Loyal and Dutiful Addreſs.

I ſhall experience the moſt lively ſatisfaction in communicating for the information of His Royal Highneſs, the Prince Regent, theſe ſentiments of Loyalty and attachment to his ſacred Perſon.—Coming from ſuch a ſource, and evidently the genuine dictates of hearts warm with gratitude, ſuch profeſſions cannot fail proving acceptable, and meeting with a favourable reception.

The congratulations offered upon my appointment to the Honorable ſtation I hold in this Province, and the confidence you ſo early repoſe in me, are, be aſſured, received with pride and heartfelt ſatisfaction.

Impreſſed with the aſſurance of your ſupport, I feel a moſt perfect reliance that the exertions of this Province will be found equal to meet every emergency of this important criſis.

Lateſt Intelligence.

Baltimore, Jan. 15.

By the arrival of the ſchr. Noncuch, capt. Lively, in 29 days from Havana, we learn that a Spaniſh Packet left Cadiz Nov. 5, the Captain of which, reports an entire change in the Junta of Spain, new members having been elected. The Spaniſh frigate Cornelia, from Cora, reported that Gen. Miranda had returned from Valencia. The Britiſh frigate Hyperion, from Vera Cruz, reported that the Mexican government troops had regained poſſeſſion of the mines. She left Vera Cruz without getting any money, the communication between Mexico and the coaſt being cut off by the revolutioniſts.

The houſe uſed for picking oakum in the rear of the Alms-houſe, with its contents, were deſtroyed by fire on Saturday morning.

On Friday evening, two apprentice Boys made an attempt to fire the Factory of Mr. Creighton, near the Phoenix Candle Manufactory. On examination, they confeſſed the fact and the youngeſt, acknowledged that he had ſet fire to Mr. Livingſton's factory at New Haven. They were committed for further examination.

NORFOLK Jan. 13.

Arrived here on Friday laſt, the ſhip John and Alice, Capt. Logan from Cadiz, which place he left the firſt of December——brought no papers. We underſtand that there is nothing new in that quarter, ſince the retreat of the French from Algeziras and St. Roque. Reports were in circulation that Valencia had fallen, but there was nothing authentic.

Captain Logan was bound to Charleſton, and got off the bar, when he was chaſed by a privateer ſchooner, which from information received the day before, he knew to be French—having a conſiderable ſum of money in dollars, and his ſhip ſailing well, Captain Logan determined if he could prevent it, not to be overhauled, and made all ſail for the Cheſapeake. This determination of Captain Logan proved very judicious, for by the Charleſton papers received yeſterday, we obſerve, that the French ſchooner privateer Marenge was cruizing off the bar. By the war—As Britiſh veſſels are prohibited entering our ports, it is unreaſonable to aſk for what purpoſe a French privateer cruizes off our harbors? The information received by Capt. L. the good ſailing of his ſhip, and night coming on, have certainly ſaved 25,000 dollars from the fangs of a piratical herd.

To the Editor of the Quebec Mercury.

SIR,

There is no ſurer mark of the want of dignity and principle in a Government, and of degeneracy in a people, than the indulgence of a propenſity cauſeleſsly to vilify, and knowingly to miſrepreſent the character of any nation with which they may happen to be at war, or between which and them ſelves ſome unfortunate miſunderſtanding may have ariſen, from a temporary colliſion of intereſts. The Government which has reaſon to reſpect itſelf will underſtand the reſpect that is due to others: and the nation which is itſelf brave and generous, will diſdain, gratuitouſly, to impute baſeness and treachery to another, merely because circumſtances may have placed them in a ſtate of oppoſition.

The practice of endeavouring to injure a country by a daring allegation of falſe facts, and a profligate reſort to groundleſs accuſations, has been digeſted into a regular ſyſtem by Bonaparte and his minions. By means thus ihameleſs they have laboured to deprive a magnanimous enemy of the eſteem in which he has ſo long juſtly been held by the whole continent of Europe; to rob her of what is dearer to her than her exiſtence, her honour; to deny her that manly frankneſs of diſpoſition, that plain dealing and pure integrity, and that good faith which form the baſis of her national character; and to aſcribe to her thoſe acts of atrocious wickedneſs, for the utter abhorrence of which ſhe has ever been pre eminently conſpicuous. And this to Britain! generous, even to a fault (politically ſpeaking) towards her enemies; aboundingin mercy to the vanquiſhed; prompt, at all times, to raiſe the fallen, to ſupport the weak, to ſpend her blood and treaſure in the defence of thoſe who have yet virtue left to ſtruggle for the preſervation of their independence and the vindication of their rights! But the infatuated nations that have been thus unworthily induced to withdraw their confidence from the only country capable, under Divine Providence, of reſiſting the career of that wild and unprincipled ambition which aims at ſubjugating the world, have paid the forfeit of their credulity in blood and ſhame; deluded and miſerable victims! bowed to the earth beneath the intolerable impreſſion of the low born deſpot, whom, with enforced ſubmiſſion, they ſo lately hailed as their protector; or, with ignominious diſſimulation, welcomed as their friend!

I have been led to theſe remarks, Sir, by obſerving that this opprobrious ſyſtem of national ſlander, this new ſpecies of warfare, againſt which neither virtue nor valour can always furniſh an adequate defence, has been tranſplanted, with other noxious productions, from the polluted ſoil of France to the political hot beds of the United States; where they have for ſome time, been ſhooting and ſpreading, with a ſort of forced and unnatural exuberance.

That the Britiſh government, in North America, has inſtigated the Indians to make war upon the United States, and has actually furniſhed arms for that purpoſe, has not only been frequently advanced in their public prints, but has been more than inſinuated in official papers, and roundly aſſerted in the ſpeeches of their legiſlators. If I had occaſion to theſe inherent declarers, I would beg leave to ſay to them, where Gentlemen are we to look for the ſource of this unmeaſured enmity to England? "Is there any cauſe in nature that makes theſe hard hearts?" If you really with to go to war within, is it manly previouſly to vent your hoſtility in endeavours to traduce one character? Do you not ſee that the unmerited reproach that you would caſt upon us, will recoil with double force upon yourſelves? Is it politic, if you are bent upon fighting us, to irritate a future enemy by unworthy artifices and fabricated charges, which muſt put his feelings to the rack; to labour to provoke a great and powerful people to forego their natural moderation and to riſe into more than ordinary reſentment, by injurious and inſulting invectives? By accuſation heaped upon accuſation, without conſiſtency, without probability, without even the ſhadow of proof?

In England,—if nothing will ſatisfy you but making her your enemy,—you would have an enemy generous as the is brave; if you deſire to goad her to a war of ſubjugation or extermination? you cannot do it, for it is not in her nature. But let me inform you, Gentlemen, that there is nothing that an Engliſhman ſo warmly reſents; nothing that he is ſo ſlow to forgive as a calumny upon the character of his country; or an inſult offered to her honor. But I feel an aſperity riſing in me that ſhall not be indulged; let me then calmly endeavour to convince you of your injuſtice.

Many very unequivocal ſymptoms of a hoſtile diſpoſition having made their appearance among you, it became the duty of the King's Government in North America to look to the poſſible conſequences; and in ſo doing the magnanimity and the humanity which directed, and ever have directed the proceedings of that Government, were moſt clearly manifeſted how? in taking the earlieſt meaſures to PREVENT the very evil the occurrence of which you have ſo confidently inſiſted in their certainty.

It is a fact well known to every public man, at leaſt in this country, that, at a period far anterior to your famous battle of Wbalth, and your more famous ſpeeches in Congreſs, the Britiſh Government in North America gave the moſt pointed directions to the perſon holding the civil and military command in Upper Canada, to diſſuade the Indians from having recourſe to arms for a ſettlement of their differences with your Government; and that in purſuance of theſe inſtructions, Major General Brock, who had as early as October laſt, ſucceeded to the civil and military command in that Province, did uſe every exertion, and did employ all the means within his power, to reſtrain the Indians from any hoſtile proceedings againſt the United States, and to withhold from them the means of committing ſuch hoſtilities.

This, Mr. Editor, is what I ſhould wiſh to ſay to our accuſers—if they would liſten to me, well: if not, I might perhaps aſk my text and tell them, that every ſubject of his Majeſty is prepared to repel, with indignation and contempt, the charge of treachery brought againſt his Government, as a moſt malicious and moſt calumnious falſehood.

I am, Sir, your obedient Servt.

ISAAC BROCK, Esquire, President, administering the Government of the Province of Upper-Canada, and Major General commanding His Majesty's Forces within the same.

To all Persons to whom these Presents shall come——GREETING.

WHEREAS it has been represented to me by the Indians residing at the Grand River, within this Province, in a Speech addressed in Public Council, to His Majesty's Deputy Superintendant General of Indian Affairs, that many White People are settled on the Indian Land in the County of Haldimand, without due Authority, or Licence from any Governor, Lieutenant Governor, or Person administring the Government of this Province: And whereas by Law, all White Persons are forbidden to establish themselves, or reside in any Indian Village or Country within this Province, without such Licence, under a Penalty for the first Offence, of Ten Pounds, and for the second and every other subsequent offence, of Twenty Pounds—I have thought proper, by, and with the advice of His Majesty's Executive Council, for the affairs of this Province, to issue this Proclamation, to the intent that no person may pretend ignorance of the Law which subjects his contravention to such penalties; and further to declare, that the Law will be henceforth rigidly enforced against all persons who shall, after the publication hereof, continue to reside in the Indian Villages and Countries within this Province without due Licence. And whereas it is further represented to me, that among the White People resident upon the Indian Lands, there are divers to whom it may be expedient to grant Licences to remain, all persons desirous to obtain such Licences, are hereby required to Report themselves to the Hon'ble WILLIAM CLAUS, His Majesty's Deputy Superintendant General of Indian Affairs, together with the circumstances of time, place and condition of their respective residences.

Latest Intelligence.

New York, January 30.

Latest from Havanna.—Capt. Dickinson, of the ship Juſtin, informs that a Spaniſh fleet of transports, with 7000 troops on board, under convoy of a ſeventy-four and a gun brig, from Cadiz bound to La Vera Cruz, put in to the Havanna for proviſions and water.

Boſton, January 30.

FROM SPAIN.

A veſſel from Corrunna, brings information from the north of Spain to the 4th of December. No war event of any magnitude had occurred. L. Wellington's army remained in cantonments on the Portuguese frontier; and the French grand army about 50 miles diſtant, in Spain. The French on the Bay of Biscay had again taken poſſeſſion of Gigon, in Auſturias. Cadiz acquducts to nearly the same date have alſo been recieved. Balleſteros continued manoeuvring in Andaluſia; a ſtrong evidence of the weakneſs of the French in that quarter. Valencia it was reported, had fallen into the hands of Marſhal Suchet and Marmont had given opportunity to the guerillas and other Spaniſh partizans, to renew their active warfare on the French lines of communication, foraging parties and couriers.

From Corrunna.—The ſchooner Regulator arrived at Barnſtable, ſailed from Corrunna Dec. 4; at which time there was no news of any recent battle between the French and Combined armies. No new movements. The Britiſh army ſaid to be about 100 miles from Liſbon. The French had taken Gijon, a ſmall ſea port town in Spain.

We have been favored with a file of Caraccas Gazettes, publiſhed in the new republic of Venezuela, to the 26th Novem r inclusive. They maintain the intereſting character we before gave them. The kingdoms of Carthagena and Truxillo have been added to the confederation: And an army was advancing from Carthagena againſt St. Martha; but a Proclamation inviting the natives of St. Martha to join the confederation, had preceded the army; at the ſame time intimating that powder would be burnt if neceſſary. Gen. Miranda, having eſtabliſhed the new government in valencia, had returned to the Caraccas, accompanied by the gratitude of the magiſtrates of valencia, expreſſed in a handſome addreſs. The papers are replete with diſcourſes on the eſtabliſhment of the Republic; and againſt the Inquiſition; but they are tranſlations verbatim from the writings of the celebrated Abbe Raynal;—the great enemy of Monarchy; and are intended to diſſeminate thoſe principles of policy which have enſured tranquility to Switzerland for two centuries.—We are happy in finding, that with their warlike preparations, theſe new Republics have eſtabliſhed a Military Shool, a Hoſpital, or Medical School, and other ſcientific inſtitutions; and the papers are filled with the names of the contributors to their ſupport.

The expedition againſt the Caraccas, which failed from Porto Rico has been loſt; and ſeveral of the veſſels had been taken—Boſt. Cen.

New York, January 25.

The Next Preſident.—We underſtand, that private letters, received in town this morning, announce, that the Hon. De Witt Clinton, Mayor of this city, has been nominated as the next Preſident of the United States, by a congreſſional caucus at Waſhington; and the Hon. Mr. Clay, Speaker of the Houſe of Repreſentatives, as Vice Preſident. It is ſaid that Mr. Clinton had a majority, over Mr. Madiſon of about 70 votes.

Since the above was prepared, we have been permitted to copy the following extract from the Baltimore Federal Gazette of yeſterday, received in proof ſheet at the office of the New-York Gazette:—

"From Waſhington.—We learn that the die is caſt;—that in a grand caucus, held at Wſhington, on thursday it was decided to ſupport De Witt Clinton for our next Preſident, and H. Clay, of Kentucky, as Vice Preſident."

A Correſpondent is much grieved to find the democratic papers, and their friends and ſupporters, whoſe mouths have watered ſome time to "take Canada," ſhould be ſo much out of temper at the diſcloſure of Mr. Gallatin's projeƈt to raiſe the caſh to ſupport the brave fellows who are expeƈted to go upon this impoſtant ſervice. Surely, the friends of war cannot be ſo unreaſonable, and ſo unfeeling as to wiſh to ſend 25,000 and one men, to that cold province without cloths, without food, and without ardent ſpirits, at leaſt as good as potatoe gin. Well if ſoldiers muſt eat and drink, and muſt have raiment to put on, how, in the name of wonder are the means to be had, without money? As for cloths, when we cannot manufaƈture enough to furniſh the Indians, who muſt upon every principle be firſt taken care of, how can it be expeƈted we can alſo ſupply our own ſoldiers? And if we muſt have money, how are we to get it, without taxes? Mr. Gallatin knows full well, that our government do not poſſeſs Aladdin's Lamp—he knows that direƈt taxes furniſh the only direƈt meaus of raiſing money, when the deſtruƈtion of commerce has deſtroyed all the indirect means. It follows, that, if the democrats will have Canada, they muſt pay for it,—and if they mean to pay for it, they muſt have money—and if they mean to obtain money honeſtly, they muſt lay taxes, and "we the people" muſt ſubmit to it; and if it makes a revolution in our affairs, who can help it.

Symptom of war. "In Earneſt."—Mr. Foſter has lately contributed to diſpel the gloom which has overcaſt the city of Waſhington, by the moſt ſplendid entertainment (as report goes) ever given in America. As this miniſter has certainly aſcertained from the executive the use to which the army is to be employed, how happens it that inſtead of demanding his audience of leave, he has gone on to fit up his houſe in a ſplendid ſtyle, and is engaged in entertaining congreſs and the heads of department. The ſecretary at war, we learn was among the numerous gueſts, while Mr Madiſon absented himſelf to keep up appearances, and avoid the ſtriƈtures of democratic newspapers. Bal. Fed. Rep.

Gen. Henry Dearborn, late Secretary of War, now collector of the port of Boſton, has been appointed by the Preſident of the United States and Senate, a Major General in the army of the United States. This appointment places that gentleman at the head of the army of the U. States. Nat. Intell.

FROM SOUTH AMERICA.

Extract of a letter addreſſed to the editor of the American Daily Adverti-ſer, dated Carthagena, Dec. 6.—"I have given you no accounts from here for a good while, for there was little of real intereſt to communicate. Near a year ago, the provinces began to treat of forming a general congreſs and as yet that objeƈt is unaccomplihed; it is, however, now expected to aſſemble in a place called Ibague, in the province of Neiva, not far from Santa Fe, where the deputies of Carthagena and of the interior provinces are to meet. Santa Martha, Rio Hacha, Porto Bello, and Panama, have not joined in the meaſure, and whether Quito means to join itſelf, or will maintain a ſeperate independent government, is not yet aſcertained. Diſſentions and mutual jealouſies, have been predominant in all provinces, and whether the expected congreſs will be able to eſtabliſh a well conſtituitioned general government, is ſtill to be ſeen.—Santa Fe formed a conſtitution ſome time ago, which however muſt undergo changes, as being incompatible with the eſtabliſhment of a reſpectable federal government. Carthagena and Santa Martha are at open war, the latter being ſtrengthened by the diſaffeƈted natives of old Spain, who reſorted to Santa Martha from here and from other parts.

"The only memorable event for a long time, happened here on the 11th of the laſt month, which produced a declaration of independence of any government in Spain—and though the tumult laſted ſeveral days, and thouſands of the people had forcibly provided themſelves with arms, not a life was loſt. This circumſtance, ſeveral times repeated here and in Santa Fe, as it is a certain proof of moderation and good conduƈt, even in the lower claſſes, muſt induce every ſenſible mind to with them poſſeſſed of a good government, of which they ſhow themſelves not unworthy.

"The moſt memorable circumſtance on the 11th November here, was the abolition of the INQUISITION—it was here they firſt put principle seat for all Terrafirma—but it is now no more. The buildings which belonged to that inſtitution, are deſtined for tribunals and other public uſeful purpoſes.

"It is hoped that the late ſucceſſes here will cement the harmony preva ding in the Interior. A great thing has been accomplihed in doing away the Inquiſition, for though they did not venture at presen' to exercise their power to a great length, ſtill their underhand influence was great & baneful, and in every place they had their emiſſaries and adherents. Only two years ago they excommunicated every individual who had any paper of the political changes at Quito in his poſſeſſion, and who did not deliver it up to them; and if you reflect that excommunication from their church according to their creed, is the ſame thing, if not recalled, as eternal damnation, you will not wonder at the power they exerciſed, ſupported by ſuperſtition and ignotance.

"The news papers ſtates more at large the occurrences as they paſſed, and contains the declaration of independence of theis province, which at present is called the ſtate of Carthagena. Commerce is muſtly dead, and the want of money extreme, yet it is expeƈted that the government will now receive ſome ſupplies of money from the interior.

"I am, &c."

INDIANS.

Extraƈt of a letter from Captain Robert Terry, of Henderſon county, to Major S. C. Hopkins, dated Dec. 19. 1811.

"I extraƈt the following from a note addreſſed to me this morning by Col. Barbour:—I have juſt received information that a number of Indians have aſſembled be ween the Ohio and Wabaſh, about 12 miles from Jefferſes' ferry—it is ſuppoſed about one hundred in number. I have ſent ſpies out, to watch their movements, and to give me notice from time to time. Be you therefore ready to march at a moment's warning."

In addition to the above letter, Col. Bridſong writes to Gen. Ramſey, who represents the adjacent country, that very latterly a party of Indians came into the neighbourhood of Caldwell and Livingſton counties, killed the ſtock of the inhabitants, and menaced them with war. Col. Bridſong ordered out ſome spies, to aſcertain the report of their movements. They ſtate they found the Indians encamped on the Tenneſſee river; that on their ſolicitation they agreed to remove, but before they did ſo, they took by violence, a boat load of corn from a field belonging to one of our citizens: they appeared mad, and were very inſolent. The inhabitants have applied for protection from the military, and Colonel Bridſong has ordered a captain's company to hold themſelves in readineſs to reſtrain any further depredations that may be offered,

May not theſe alarms on the rivers, be occaſioned by the progreſs or return of Tecumſeh's auxiliaries from the ſouthern tribes?

Frankford Palladium.

Extraƈt of a letter from a gentleman in Congreſs to the Editor of the Baltimore Sun.

"Waſhington, Jan. 18, 1812.

"I have before me a letter from a gentleman dated at Gallatin, the 7th inſtant, (I believe the place is in Tenneſſee)—I give you the following extraƈt:

"The laſteſt information we have had from our Indian friends, viz. a Mr. Isaac Weakley, of Montgomery county, dined with me on Sunday laſt, ſtates that on Thursday evening before he ſaw Col. Cook, of this county, who told Weakley, that he had been riding night and day for twenty four hours among the different captain's companies in the county, in order to raiſe men to go againſt a large body, 3 or 400 Indians, which were encamped before the mouth of Cumberland, on the north of Ohio, which had already taken twelve flat bottomed boats and three of keel boats, deſtroyed them and their cargoes, killed every ſoul except two who escaped in a canoe. Did this report of Mr. Weakley need corroboration it is confirmed by a Mr. Wilkinſon who arrived in this neighbourhood laſt night direƈt by land from the mouth of Cumberland, and I muſt add that I am afraid it is but too true. Mr. Weakley adds that they are compoſed of Cherokees, Creeks and Huggas."

INDIAN NEWS—Fort Wayne, Nov. 20. Mr Johnſon, U. S. Indian agent, wrote a letter to the Editor of Liberty Hall, at Cincinnati, concluding as follows—

"My impreſſion at this time is, that the Indians will aſſaſſinate the Prophet and his brother, and that peace will enſue. In my ſpeech to them at this place, offering in the name of the Preſident pardon and forgiveneſs to all thoſe who ſhould immediately abandon their leader, return home, and conduƈt themſelves peaceably in future, I excepted the Prophet and his brother, declaring we could not ſuffer ſuch villians to reſide within the limits of our authority. It was proposed to deliver them up here or at Vincennes; this offer I declined accepting, and told the Indians we left the puniſhment of thoſe persons to themſelves, and calculated confidently on their juſtice. In the action agreeably to their account, there were 28 Indians killed, and a number wounded, some of whom are ſince dead.

"The whole of the Prophet's force at the time of the aƈtion did not exceed 250 fighting men. Theſe were chiefly Kicapoes and Winebagoes, with a few Shawanese, and Potawatamies. There was not a ſingle Miamie or Delaware with him. The public may reſt aſſured, that the aƈtack on our troops is as much diſapproved of by the bulk of the Indians as by the whites; and that there is not any danger to be apprehended at present, on any part of our frontiers. The government agents, at our ſeveral ſtations throughout the the Indian country, will give early information of any approaching; and until ſuch information is received, our citizens may reſt in ſafety.

"JOHN JOHNSTON, Ind. agent."

About the firſt inſtant, near two thouſand hogs were driven into Canada, from the American ſide of the lines, intended for the Montreal market. Feed your enemy, is an injunƈtion of very high authority; but the policy of the meaſure, in a political point of view, on the very eve of an invaſion! may be more than queſtioned.

"The ulterior policy of the French Government towards the United States."—Meſſage.

At this time of day it is impoſſible to miſtake the ulterior policy of the French government towards us, and every nation elſe which it can reach by its arts and by its arms. After drinking the blood of near two millions of its own citizens, it has conſtantly, under its ſeveral different forms for fifteen years at leaſt, been manifeſting a furious luſt for univerſal domination. Though gorged with dominion, it is never ſatiſfied; like the grave, it says not, "it is enough." The helliſh machinery it has uſed, from firſt to laſt, for cruſhing the nations and making them the ſport of its fury, is a compound of fraud and force. It embraces them, and with the hug of a bear ſtifles them in the embrace. It offers them liberty and loads them with chains. It makes them firſt its allies, and then its vaſſals.

This has been the ſteady courſe of the French government for even a conſiderable time before Napolean Bonaparte became the ſole maſter of France; and he himſelf has purſued the ſame courſe as ſteidy as time, and without a ſingle inſtance of deviation—Let facts ſpeak.

It was in the year 1795 that Holland yielded to an alliance with France. The gates of Amſterdam were thrown open to a French army. They were received as friends and brothers. The houses were illuminated. A general feſtival was kept throughout the whole city. The welkin as it were was rent with acclamations of joy. The Hollanders had been promiſed over and over again, that their rights ſhould be reſpected. Oft and many a time Bonaparte himſelf expreſſed ſingular love for the hollanders—We need not relate the reſt.

Again in the year 1798 (Bonaparte being then the prime manager of the affairs of France in Italy) the gates of Rome were opened to an army of Frenchmen, who wanted admiſſion for no other reaſon (as it was pretended) but to amuſe the citizens with a funeral fete which they were about inſtituting in honor of General Duphot. "The fete was very ſplendid, and naturally attracted the curioſity of moſt persons at Rome. The ſolemn drama was aƈted in the piazza of St. Peters. It was received with univerſal applauſe. But the price of the exhibition was dearer than the ſpeƈators imagined—for, while they were performing their theatrical politics, at that moment, in every other part of the city, an ingenious under plot was carrying on, which conſiſted of removing the plate out of all the churches without any diſtinƈtion of the neutrality or alliance of any nation." They proceeded to extort by force, ſilver, household furniture, jewels, and what ever they pleased. They robbed the vatican and palaces of their treaſures, and of their exquiſite works of art. And finally they "obliged the princes, the nobles, and the cardinals to ſerve as common ſoldiers."—Yet the citizens of Rome were their dear allies!

Again, who knows not the fidelity, or rather ſervility, with which Spain cobered to France, in quality of an ally, for more than half a ſcore of years? The mines, the armies, the navies, the very life-blood, of the former, were devoted to the laſtes as a free-will offering. How often and how highly did Bonaparte extol his faithful brother, the monarch of Spain, and his faithful allies the Spaniards. In the meanwhile a dirk was concealed in the ſkirt of his garment. He was plotting the utter ſubverſion of their government and independence. By arts of falſehood he obtained permiſſion to introduce ſwarms of French officers and ſoldiers into Spain, and got poſſeſſion of the paſſes of the Pyrenees and the principal ſtrong holds of the kingdom, under pretext of conquering Gibraltar for the Spaniards. Through means of the Godoys, the traitors he had gained over in Spain, a quarrel was brought about between the monarch and his eldeſt ſon. Bonaparte conſtitutes himſelf umpire and offers to decide the diſpute between them as a common friend to both. All things being ready, he, under the guiſe of friendſhip and deep concern for their intereſts, invites over theroyal family to France, and no ſooner had them in his power, than he ſeized their persons, and forced them at the peril of their lives to abdicate the throne. The letter he wrote to Ferdinand the Seventh, to allure him into his clutches, concludes thus—"Reſign any wiſh to reconcile every thing" "and to find opportunity to give you proof of affeƈion and high regard. And ſo I pray God may keep you, brother, under his holy and worthy proteƈion!"

This may be ſtiled the magnificence of villany. It is the wickedneſs of no ordinary mind. It is worthy of the man who at one time could worſhip at the altars of atheiſm; at another could embrace the religion of Mahomet in Egypt; and then become a devout papiſt and preſent his ſon at the baptiſmal font!—It is worthy of the man, in talents the greateſt, and the worſt in heart, among perhaps all human beings now living upon earth!

The inſtances we have adduced (a few of many) are fair ſpecimens of the nature, genius and diſpoſition of the government of France, and of the perſonal qualities of the "prodigy" who is now himſelf alone, that government: nor can it be ſhort of madneſs for any nation to expeƈt from it either juſtice or mercy.

And is our country drawing toward an alliance with France? Merciful Heaven forbid it! It would be a covenant with death; a league with perdition. An alliance with Napoleon Bonaparte! Then would be heard in it as were the voice of the angel of deſtruƈtion, ſaying, "Woe, woe, woe, to the inhabitants of the United States of America.—

The pitiable caſe of an old Bachelor.

I am now almoſt thirty eight years of age—and one of the oddeſt and moſt unhappy fellows extant. I've been twisted and twirled about by the girls, till I'm as thin as a ſnake. I ſet out early in life to be a great gallant, and though the girls treated me with ſome attention—which I was pleaſed to aſcribe to my gallantry, but ſince I am told it was my merit—this I aſſure you mortified me much. The girls reſpect me now—yet not for my gallantry or merit—but (the dogs take my grey heirs!) for my advanced age. But to the point. I had been addreſſing a young lady ſteady for ſix years—the firſt year I did nothing but look at and ogle her—the ſecond I chatted with her a little—the third I ſqueezed her hand and ſighed—the fourth I made propoſals of marriage to her—the fifth ſhe conſented—and the ſixth we were to be married, but could not agree on the time or place. I was deſirous to marry on the ſecond day of February, and at her own father's houſe. She declared againſt marrying till the laſt day of Auguſt—I begged, prayed, ſighed, raved, ranted, ſwore—but all to no purpoſe—the ſtuck like a tick to her reſolve—till ſhe drove me to deſpair.—So one morning I took a ſword and went to ſee her; when I renewed my suit with all the perſuaſion I was maſter of; but the jade ſtill continued immutable—I then discovered by ſword, and fixed the point to my breaſt, with a determination to put an end to my wretched life, unleſs ſhe would recede from her cruel reſolution. I poſitively declared to her I would do it, and do it inſtantly. She ſeemed a little ſurprized, when the ſaw how determined I looked. I then pricked my breaſt to make it bleed. The blood ran a little, when, Mr. Printer, inſtead of deviating a whit from her purpoſe—inſtead of begging me to ſpare a life ſhe held moſt dear—inſtead of fainting and ſhrieking, ſhe gently laid hold of my arm, and requeſted me to walk to the fire place before I ſtabbed myſelf, for blood was the worſt thing in the world to ſtain a floor, and her's was newly waſhed: In an inſtant I felt as if a thouſand musquetoes had ſaſtened upon my body—my ſword fell out of my hand, and I ran home, determined to remain till the day of my death an OLD BACHELOR.

THE YORK GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY, 19, 1812.

It is underſtood, that a measure suggeſted by peculiar tenderneſs to a certain claſs of people who ſeem to have miſtaken their ſituation and character, has been misconſtrued, and reſulted under pretence of favor to ſuch perſons.

The Oath of Abjuration of foreign allegiance could not have been propoſed, to enable the Government to puniſh ſuch as refuſed to take it, but to direƈt the exerciſe of a benevolent inclination to diſcriminate between the frank and loyal citizen of the United States, who claimed protection as ſuch conformably to Treaty, and the Traitor who under the maſk of loyalty and by a proſtitution of oaths, had aſſumed the character of a Britiſh subject.

It was not required because no proviſion is made by Law to compel every ſubject to take the Oaths of Allegiance and Supremacy, but becauſe it was underſtood that many perſons credulouſly thought that they could be ſubjects of two Sovereigns and owe a double Allegiance at the ſame time. The peculiar nature of the Law of England in favor of alien reſidents, not enemies, had doubtleſs given birth to this prepoſterous idea. When Great Britain by the Treaty of 1783, declared the Thirteen Provinces to be a Sovereign and Independent Nation, ſhe virtually diſcharged all the Coloniſts, who choſe to become citizens of the new States from their natural allegiance and, when, having made that election, they afterwards come into the King's dominions, it is as aliens owing to the King only a temporary and local allegiance, and they are incapable of receiving any grant of office, &c.

Therefore when to entitle themſelves to the privileges of natural born ſubjects, they take the Oaths of Allegiance, they as effectually eleƈt to remain ſubjects of Great Britain as if they in terms abjure all other allegiance.

This doƈtrine, if it wanted confirmation, has received it in the treaty of 1794, by the 9th article of which, alienage ſhall not apply to ſubjects of either Country who then held Lands in either, and themſelves, their heirs and aſſigns ſhall not be regarded as aliens in reſpect of ſuch Lands and the legal remedies incidental thereunto. The effect of a diſcovery to be made by refuſing the Oath of ſpecial abjuration would not be to make them aliens as to Lands held by themſelves or anceſtors at that time, the date of the treaty: But, by the very exception in their favor, proof is afforded that all citizens of the United States were in contemplation of both Governments aliens in all other reſpects in Britain, and vice versa ſubjects of Great Britain, not citizens of the United States were aliens there except only as to the Lands held by them reſpectively at that time. No Sordid conſideration cannot be an object with the King's government. A higher motive muſt have induced the propoſition of this explanatory Oath to Men in Arms. By the exiſting Militia Law, every Male Inhabitant (ſubjeƈt or not) from 16 to 60 is required to enroll his name and ſerve in the Militia.

It may be too late when, under the proviſion of this Law, the Militia is embodied in face of an enemy, for every alien to throw down his Arms and declare that he cannot use them againſt his natural allegiance. It may be too late then to enter into details.—At ſuch a moment the Laws of war may require inſtant and capital puniſhment of the firſt ſymptom of mutiny. The man who objeƈts to a diſcrimination required from ſuch motives, muſt be blind to reaſon or callous to feeling. It cannot be ſuppoſed that, when the ſafety of the Empire in any of its parts, is at ſtake, the Military commanders when all depends on vigorous exertions in Arms, can allow thoſe exertions to be paralized by squeamiſh doubts of the conſtruƈtion of Statutes. It has been a maxim, in all ages and in all countries that in actual warfare the Laws muſt ſleep. A true regard for the Laws muſt ever prompt to defer the neceſſity for their ſilence as long as poſſible, and that is to be done only by anticipating the probable circumſtances which may require it, and providing for them by the Law itſelf.

[For the foregoing clear expoſition of a ſubjeƈt, heretofore but little underſtood, and out of which, doubts affeƈting the allegiance of a few people grew, we are indebted to an obliging gentleman.—EDITOR.]

Lateſt Intelligence.

New York, February 3.

The ſhip Amelia Matilda, Captain Hague, arrived here laſt evening, in 42 days from London and 38 days from the Channel. Captain H. furniſhes London dates to the 18th of December, incluſive. Copious extracts are ſelected for the Commercial Advertiſer of this evening.

Among the articles ſelected is the official account of the ſurrender of Batavia to the Britiſh.

The king of England was ſtill living at our laſt dates.

No repeal, nor any modification of the orders in Council had taken place.

Nor had any change occurred to the adminiſtration in England. Indeed, it is ſaid that Mr. Perceval is in the fulleſt confidence of the Prince Regent.

There is ſome proſpect of a continuance of peace between England and Sweden, and war between Sweden and Denmark.

Peace was expected between Ruſſia and Turkey.

Accounts from Ruſſia ſtate, that Bonaparte has demanded peremptorily, of the Emperor Alexander, the immediate payment of the Dutch loans. The demand, it is ſaid, has had a very ſenſible effect on the Ruſſian exchange."

Lord Melville, it is ſaid, is appointed Governor General of India.

On the twenty firſt of December, the United States' frigate Conſtitution, Capt. Hull, ſailed from Cowes, for the coaſt of France, with deſpatches for Mr. Barlow.

Cotton, flour and grain were advancing in price.

Col. Burr, it is ſaid, was in London in cog. and was to embark in a few days, in the ſhip Jane, for New-York.

The Britiſh ſhip of War Saldenha, of 36 guns, Capt. Pakenham, and the ſloop of war Talbot, were loſt off Cork the 3d of December; and all on board periſhed.

London. Decr. 7.

It appears from the Mexican Gazette which we have received, that a conſpiracy was formed laſt ſummer to overthrow the Government; it was, however, detected, and the conſpirators were arreſted and brought to trial.

Extract of a letter from a Britiſh officer in Spain, dated Iſle de Leon, Nov. 20, 1811.

"Neither the ſpirit or population of this country, are extinguiſhed or ſpared againſt the enemy; the former never was at a higher pitch, and the Guerillas are moſt formidable every where. The French ſuffer tremendouſly in all points, and are not reinforced any where. Ballaſteros in the Sierra de Ronda in this Port, with 7-00 men. He is very ſucceſsful in diſtreſſing and haraſſing the enemy. There are 3500 at Veher, on the left flank of of the enemy, acting as Ballaſteros; and Colonel Skerrit, of the 47th regiment, has 1500 Britiſh, doing the ſame about Medina Sidonia. —We have no great force to ſpare here, otherwiſe we could raiſe the ſiege in a few days.

"Suchet has made a little progreſs in Valencia, but I think it is better that the French ſhould be much ſcattered (if not reinforced) than to be altogether. Gen. Hill's buſineſs has been moſt complete, and has diffuſed alarm among Soult and Victor here, who are always quarrelling.

"Doyles' levy gets on well. He will ſoon have 10,000 men here at the depot. The Britiſh and Portuguese army keep an amazing French force employed, which conſequently gives time to the Spaniards in other points to unite and carry on all ſorts of plans. From all I have heard from the French officers, their own people have no hope of ultimately ſucceeding. The fact is, the Spaniards are better off at this time, than ſince the war began.

Yeſterday's report from Windſor, like moſt of thoſe that have recently reached town, was that there is no alteration in his Majeſty's bodily health or mental affliction.

We are aſſured that an order was on Tueſday Publicly read in the Admiralty Court, directing the immediate releaſe of all Sweditſh veſſels in Britiſh ports, which had been detained theſe by virtue of a former order for that purpoſe.

December 9.

By recent advices which Govern ment have received from Sicily, it appears probable that Murat, Napoleon's King of Naples, is by this time either ſtripped of his precious ſovereignty, or has ventured to ſet up for himſelf. It ſeems that Murat had given the command of the French troops to Gen. Gremer (ci devant Trent, an hotelkeeper in London) which had ſo exaſperated Bonaparte, that he ordered an indignant decree to be publiſhed againſt this Ass, beginning with, "Whereas the Man who at preſent governs the Napolitan Nation, &c. &c." which decree, it is underſtood, Murat has been bold enough to diſregard, and even treat with contempt!

It is generally believed, upon the authority of letters from Portugal, that Marmont, embarraſſed by the difficulty of ſubſiſting his army at this early period of the ſeaſon, had abandoned the idea of advancing into Portugal, and that part of the troops would be detached to ſtrengthen the armies in the Northern and ſouthern provinces.

The rainy ſeaſon had not commenced at the date of theſe letters, though the weather had experienced a change highly favorable to the recovery of our ſick. The advanced poſts of the allied army had been puſhed to the neighborhood of Salamanca, and extended in a northerly direction, even to Zamora. The object of this advance was ſuppoſed to be to favor the movements of General Abadia, who with the Galician army, had ſought temporary refuge in the mountains. Six ſupplemental battalions of Portuguese cacadores, were, by Marſhal Beresford's orders, to be trained under Britiſh officers, and taken into pay.

December 10.

The Prince Regent, we are happy to ſay, is ſo far recovered from his ſprain as to be able to come to town. He left Oatlands yeſterday, and arrived at the York-houſe, in the evening. A little difficulty in walking is the only inconvenience his Royal Highneſs feels. Scarcely, however, allowing themſelves time to congratulate him upon his recovery, the oppoſition are eager to tell us what plans have been formed at Oatlands, what new councils have been reſolved upon, what changes are to be the immediate conſequence of his Royal Highneſs' return to the capital!

December 12.

We can take upon ourſelves to ſay, that the rumours in circulation reſpecting the change in adminiſtration are without foundation, and that Mr. Perceval is fully in the confidence of the Prince Regent.

Buenos Ayres papers to the 20th September, reached town yeſterday. It appears that the belligerent diſtricts of Buenos Ayres and Montevido have not terminated their differences by negociation, but their warfare is not of a very sanguinary deſcription. It is, however, generally ſuppoſed, that an amicable adjuſtment will ſhortly take place. It is ſtated that Admiral De Courcy has remonſtrated ſtrongly againſt the blockade of Buenos Ayres by Elio's veſſel, as far as it applied to Britiſh ſhips, and that in conſequence the blockade has been ſuspended with reſpect to them.

We have information from Copenhagen, that Mr. Erving, ſpecial miniſter from the United States at that Court, has at length received an anſwer to his remonſtrance againſt the condemnation before the tribunals of Paris of American veſſels brought into Daniſh ports. He is informed, that the Daniſh Admiralty Courts have no juriſdiction over the veſſels in queſtion, as they were captured beyond the limits of the Daniſh waters, or at the diſtance of more than four miles from the coaſt.

Some advices of an intereſting nature have been received from Madrid. A private council of the Miniſters had been held, and another, compoſed of Joſeph, Jourdan, and Dultanne. Theſe meetings took place in conſequence of intelligence from Guadalaxara, that Don Juan Martin, the Empecinado, was at Siguenza, and that he was marching towards the city by the road to Tarija and Briguega. From the latter the garriſon had been with drawn to Guadalaxara, where it was ſtrengthened by 250 men from Alcala. Precautions were taken to collect the wheat and other moveable property which was in the neighbourhood of Tarancon, the Guerilla parties approaching that place in great ſtrength. The preſect of Toledo had ſtated the deficiency of his means for the ſupport of his troops and the reduction of his force was occaſioned by the number of ſick in the diviſion of General Foy.

December 16.

Government have received deſpatches late on Saturday evening from Lord Wellington, dated the 17th ult. by which it is confirmed that Marmont had again put his troops in motion, in order to throw in ſuccours to Ciudad Rodrigo, in conſequence of which Lord Wellington had made a corresponding movement, and his head quarters at that date, were at Fuentes de Guimaldo. By the ſame conveyance we received Liſbon papers to the firſt inſt. They contain an extract of a letter, addreſſed by his lordſhip to the Portugueſe government, but it mentions no important fact which our readers were not previouſly acquainted with. General Girard, it is reported, had died of his wounds. On the 29th ult. thirty one of our transports with troops had arrived at Liſbon, and, on the ſame day the cavalry began to disembark. The Portugueſe papers contain ſome documents relative to South America, by which it appears that the court of Brazils had taken a decided part in ſupport of the pretentions of the Vice roy Elio.

December 17.

We mentioned yeſterday, the dread ful ſtorm which had occurred in the Belt. The homeward bound convoy which ſailed from Hanno Bay on the 20th ult. conſiſted of more than 200 ſail; out of this number, it is ſtated, that 17 foundered at ſea, the crews of which were unfortunately loſt; (12 and it is feared more) were taken by Daniſh privateers—73 had reached Marſwitch, a port near Carleshaun, moſt of them in a diſabled ſtate, and where it was feared they would be obliged to winter; and ſeveral others ſought ſhelter in the ports of Zealand. The St. George rode out the ſtorm, but was obliged to cut away her main, mizen and foremaſts.

From the London Gazette Extraordinary, of December 17.

DOWNING STREET, Dec. 16.

Captain Tylden, Military Secretary to Lieut. Gen. Sir S. Auchmuty, arrived at the Secretary of State's office, this day with deſpatches, addreſſed to the Earl of Liverpool by Lord Minto and Sir S. Auchmuty, of which the following are copies:

Weltevreede, Auguſt 31, 1811.

My Lord—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your Lordſhip's deſpatches of the 4th Septem ber laſt, which reached me after my landing on this iſland.

As the expedition againſt Java was undertaken by directions from the Right Hon. Lord Minto, Governor General of India, he has required me to detail to him the operations of the troops. Your Lordſhip will, however, I truſt, pardon the liberty I take in incloſing a copy of my letter, and will permit me to add the following general report.

We landed on the 4th inſt. within 11 miles of Batavia, which was taken poſſeſſion of on the 8th, without opposition. On the 10th, the troops had a ſharp affair at Weltervreede with the elite of General Janſen's army, which terminated in driving them into their ſtrong poſition at Cornelis, which was carried, and the whole army, upwards of 10,000 diſciplined men, were either killed, taken, or diſperſed with the exception of a ſmall party of horſe that eſcaped with Gen. Janſen. We killed about 2000, took three Generals and 5000 priſoners, and are now in poſſeſſion of the whole country weſt of Cheribon.

I have directed my Military Secretary, Captain Tylden, to wait on your Lordſhip with this deſpatch, and I beg leave to refer you to him, for ſuch further particulars as your Lordſhip may be deſirous of being acquainted with.

I have the honor to be, &c.

S. AUCHMUFF, Lt. Gen.

The Earl of Liverpool, &c. &c.

N B The enclosure alluded to in this letter is the deſpatch from Sir S. Auchmuty to Lord Minto, printed with the ſubſequent enclosure.

BATAVIA, 2d Sept. 1811.

My Lord—I have the honor to ſubmit to your Lordſhip a copy of my letter to the Honorable the Court of Directors, of the 1ſt September enclosing his Excellency Sir S. Auchmuty's report of Military proceedings in Java, to the 31ſt Auguſt.

Your Lordſhip will obſerve, with ſatisfaction, that the conquest of Java is already ſubſtantially accomplished although the operations of the army have not hitherto been directed to the eaſtern parts of the iſland. But a powerful force is now embarking againſt Sourabaya, where, with the exception of the crews of two French frigates, the enemy have only a ſmall body of native troops.

The armament, which is now proceeding under the perſonal command of his Excellency the Commander in Chief, and which may reach its deſtination in ten days, cannot fail of overpowering any reſiſtance the enemy may make, if any ſhould be attempted, and finally terminating the conteſt in Java.

An Empire which for two centuries, has contributed greatly to the power, proſperity, and grandeur of one of the principal and moſt reſpected ſtates of Europe, has been that wrefted from the ſhort usurpation of the French government, added to the dominion of the Britiſh crown, and converted from a ſeat of hoſtile machination and commercial competition into an augmentation of Britiſh power and proſperity.

For this ſignal, and as your Lordſhip will collect from the incloſed document, that moſt ſplendid and illuſtrious ſervice, Great Britain is indebted to the truly Britiſh intrepidity of as brave an army as ever did honor to our country; to the profeſſional ſkill and ſpirit of their officers, and to the wiſdom, decition, and firmneſs of the eminent man who directed their courage and led them to victory.

Your Lordſhip will, I am ſure, ſhare with me the gratifying reflection, that by the ſucceſſive reductions of the French iſlands and Java, the Britiſh nation has neither an enemy or a rival left from the Cape of Good Hope to Cape Horn.

(Signed) MINTO.

WINDSOR, Dec. 20.

The king is not better than he was yeſterday.—He frequently refuſes to take nourifhment. An express arrived this morning from Kenſington, ſtating that the Duke of Suſſex was worſe. Sir H. Halford set out to attend him; but is expected back this evening.

Dover, Dec. 20.

Laſt evening there was a heavy firing between Dover & Falkſtone, ſaid to be two privateers engaging a ſhip coming up the Channel.—The French privateers are very thick about here. Several American veſſels have been recently captured and carried into French ports oppoſite.

Went paſt an American ſhip, name unknown.

Deal, Dec. 20.

The Royaliſt has brought in here the French privateer Roideau, of 16 guns and 65 men. This privateer has done more miſchief than any which infeſts our coaſts. The Isaac has arrived at Falmouth from Quebec.

Yarmouth, Dec. 20.

Sent in here by the cutter Prince of Wales, the french privateer Anacreon, of 4 twelves and 30 men. She was formerly the Courier in our ſervice, had taking nothing.

Cove, Dec. 16.

The German Cavalry embarked this day, will proceed to Liſbon the firſt wind.

EDWARD ALLEYN, founder of Dulwich College, in Surrey, was born in 1566. He acquired great reputation as an actor, and became maſter of a large company, proprietor of a playhouse in Moorfields, and a keeper of the royal bear garden, which was worth 500l. a year. Aubrey ſays that the devil appeared to him while he was perſonating the character of Satan, which ſo frightened him, that he grew serious, and left off that profeſſion. He laid the foundation of his college in 1614, and completed it in 1617. at the expence of 10,000l. He then endowed it with 800l. per annum, for the maintenance of one maſter and one warden (who muſt be unmarried, and always of the name of Alleyn, or Allen), and four fellows, of whom three are to be clergymen, and the fourth an organiſt; beſides ſix poor men and ſix women, with twelve poor boys, who are to be educated till the age of fourteen or fifteen, when they are to be apprenticed out to ſome trade. This building is called "The college of God's gift." He was himſelf the firſt maſter. He died in 1626, and was buried in the chapel of the college.

THE YORK GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY, 26, 1812.

From the Kingſton Gazette.

MR. EDITOR,

OUR feelings as men naturally range themſelves on the ſide of the community to which we belong. But when we conſider the pre-eminent character of the United Kingdom, the only remaining barrier againſt that univerſal dominion to which the powerful Usurper of France hath long aſpired; when we contemplate her mighty achievements in a cauſe in which the intereſts of the whole civilized world are at ſtake; ſee her Navy ſweep from the ocean the fleets of her enemies; her Armies uniformly triumphing over thoſe diſtinguiſhed Warriors who have brought the reſt of Europe under the yoke of Bonaparte; when we ſee her deeply and ſucceſsfully engaged in the glorious attempt to reſcue the much abuſed and injured Nations of Spain and Portugal from his cruel dominations; when we ſee Britons of all claſſes vying with each other to relieve the ſufferings of the victims of his ſe vocious and brutal ſoldiery; who but muſt feel proud to be numbered among ſuch a Nation as this?—But it is not alone from the dignified ſentiments excited by theſe honorable and ſplendid diſplays of the National character; nor from the general feelings which naturally attach the ſubjects of every Government to their country: but the has further claims to our attachment from circumſtances peculiar to ourſelves. The very ſoil on which we reſide is the gift of her bounty; nor has ſhe beſtowed it grudgingly, or with a niggardly hand. She has given it unincumbered with Quit Rents, or any other burdenſome conditions; and has moreover liberally aided us in our exertions to cultivate and improve it. And though theſe conſiderations apply more particularly to the American Loyaliſts, the brave and generous aſſertors of the unity of the Empire againſt ſucceſsful rebellion and their deſcendents; they are in ſome degree common to all the inhabitants of this Province.—We enjoy the moſt perfect ſecurity for our perſons and property under her own admirable ſyſtem of Law, adminiſtered by a moſt reſpectable, judicial eſtabliſhment, for which we are at no charge.—She has given us a Conſtitution as dear to that envied one to which ſhe owes her greatness as is conſiſtent with the ſituation of a Colonial eſtabliſhment, and we are called upon for no taxes to defray the expence of the Government by which it is kept in operation. And in matters of religion we are left free from reſtriction.—Thoſe amongst us who are capable of comparing their ſituation here with that of the inhabitants of any other country muſt ſee and acknowledge that their own is ſuperior; that in every point eſſential to human comfort, they enjoy greater advantages, and are ſubject to fewer inconveniences than any other people whatever. Theſe muſt be allowed by the moſt cold-blooded and ſelfiſh, to be ſubſtantial motives of attachment to that Government from which we derive ſuch important benefits. And if we are not animated in its cauſe, no language can be ſufficiently deſcriptive of our baſeneſs.

Suppoſe for a moment that we were to become ſubjects to the American Government, what would be our ſituation? If the dominant faction ſtigmatiſe as tories and adherents to Britain thoſe among themſelves who differ with them about the mode of adminiſtering their own Government, what treatment have we to expect? Our former loyalty would draw upon us all ſorts of abuſe and degradation, and we ſhould be expoſed to every ſpecies of vexation, and probably be plundered as well as hated and deſpiſed. But grant that we were admitted on the looting of equality, what have we to gain? Not much certainly in point of National Honor. To ſay nothing of her tame ſubmiſſion to France, the courſe purſued by America with regard to Spain is the reverſe of every thing generous or dignified.—One immediate conſequence would be, heavy taxes, compenſated for to us by no adequate advantages. The advantages of a Government are not to be eſtimated from theory, but from its practical effects.—Judging from this criterion, I have already ſhewn that we have nothing left us to wiſh for.—Under the Government of the United States the wideſt ſcope is given to the violence of faction. Every family is agitated by political diſcord. The intreagues of a few artful demagogues pervade every State and dictate every public meaſure. Domeſtic happineſs and tranquillity is diſturbed by party feuds; they pollute even the adminiſtration of juſtice; and the conjuncture is perhaps not far diſtant, when the colliſion of factions contending for power ſhall produce explosions ſimilar to thoſe which have deluged other Republics with the blood of their beſt citizens, and which have ended in their ſubjection to ſome ambitious leader.

Thus in every point of view we are urged by intereſt as well as honor to the moſt ſtrenuous exertions in ſupport of that Government under which we have the happineſs to live. That ſuch exertions will not be ineffectual I ſhall endeavor to ſhew in ſome ſubſequent communication.

FALKLAND.

[We have been favored with a Manuſcript, of which the following is a copy; We believe it and the foregoing, to be from the ſame able unprejudiced pen.]

No man deprecates war more than I do.—It is certainly an evil; and an evil of no common magnitude. But it is not to be warded off by indolently deploring the miſeries that attend it. Like other evils it is magnified by timidity and impatience, and the moſt effectual means of averting it or breaking its force, is to be prepared to meet it with courage. Heſitation and fear invite aggreſſion. In vain do we exert ſkill and induſtry in acquiring property if we want courage to protect it. It will ſerve only to allure an invader who has the boldneſs to ſeize what we want ſpirit to defend.

England expects every man to do his duty was the energetic addreſs of the greateſt of heroes to his intrepid aſſociates on that memorable day when he terminated a career of glory unparalleled in the annals of fame, and blaſted for ever the Corſican Tyrant's proud hopes of rivalling his country on the deep. At the preſent crisis we may well ſuppoſe this animating appeal of the illuſtrious Nelſon to the patriotiſm of his fellows in arms, made to ourſelves, and I have ſhewn that honor, gratitude, every generous feeling, nay even intereſt itſelf, ſhould impel us to rouſe at the call. It remains to ſhew that the exertions to which we are thus prompted will not be ineffectual.

It would be an illiberal as well as a dangerous prejudice, to ſuppoſe that the citizens of America want bravery; but we may without arrogance rate our valour as not inferior to theirs. But then we are undiſciplined!—In this reſpect too they are not greatly our ſuperiors. Their preſent regular forces are not numerous; and their militia, for the moſt part, not better ſkilled in military manoeuvres than our own.—We have amongſt us many experienced officers, and many of thoſe veteran Loyaliſts who diſtinguiſhed themſelves in the laſt American War; and it is to be preſumed that at the preſent conjuncture we will all, with alacrity, devote the neceſſary time and attention to acquire that facility in military evolutions which is required to give effect to perſonal valour. In our frontier extenſive and in many parts expoſed?—Theirs is the ſame. Will they aſſail us by predatory incurſions?—We have it in our power abundantly to retaliate. If they reſort to a more regular and honorable mode of warfare, and invade us with an embodied force, this muſt be ſo limited in number by the neceſſary accompaniments of baggage, proviſions and military ſtores, that it will be no difficult matter for us, ſtender as our population is, to meet them with at leaſt equal numbers. This, however, is ſpeaking as though we had no reſources to look to but our own: How do the advantages preponderate on our ſide, when we throw into the ſcale the aſſured cooperation and ſupport of the beſt diſciplined troops in the world, eager for an opportunity to emulate the brilliant exploits of their fellow ſoldiers in Spain and Portugal! Beſides it is evident that on the ſea coaſt our neighbours are more vulnerable and more expoſed to the forces of our mother country than we are to theirs; and that the principal part of their ſtrength and reſources will be required to defend themſelves from invaſion, inſtead of invading us. Indeed it is evident that they preſume upon our making no reſiſtance. When they find that we are not inclined tamely to allow them to diſpoſe of our perſons and property; but are animated with the zeal and ſpirit which the preſent poſture of affairs requires: That we feel as men ought to feel when their beſt intereſts are at ſtake; and are determined to act as becomes Britiſh ſubjects, they will probably paſe a little over this favourite project, and afford another proof of the ſoundneſs of that political maxim, that the moſt effectual way to keep war at a diſtance, is to be well prepared to meet it.

FALKLAND.

MR. PRINTER,

The incloſed Letter having been handed me, by a Friend, for my peruſal, and feeling highly gratified by the judicious and pertinent obſervations it contained, I thought it well worthy the attention of every reflecting character in the Province, and have got permiſſion from the Gentleman to whom it is addreſſed, to publiſh it; therefore, if you think with me, I requeſt you will give it a place in your Paper.

The Letter is written by a Quaker of high reſpectability, who has lately arrived from the United States, and purchaſed a large tract of Land in this Province, on which he is eſtabliſhing a large ſettlement, his remarks and hints are the effuſion of mature obſervation and ſound judgment, unbiaſſed by political or party ſpirit.

A FRIEND.

"Affectionate Friend and Brother,

WE are all in good health, and it is generally ſo with our neighbours—proſpects pleaſing, and as far as I can diſcover all in good ſpirits, perfectly pleaſed with the country; ſome eagerly whether this is a proper Canadian Winter. We live conſiderably out of the way of political news—and what we hear of the bluſtering war ſpeeches in Congreſs, by the French Jacobin party, gives us little uneaſineſs, as it ends only in telling what great things they mean to do when they get ready. I ſuppoſe they mean when their empty treaſury (occaſioned by their embargo and non-intercourſe ſyſtem) ſhall be replenished by import duties and tonnage, ariſing from the carrying trade of the weſt French colonial productions, Weſt Indies, &c. &c. to the mother country—or elſe when they, by their war ſongs, can ſo charm John Bull, as to receive their millions of dollars as a remuneration for impreſſment of their Irith ſeamen, who have been politely favoured with American protections—(but ridicule apart.) Altho' this Province is highly favored with peace and a growing agricultural intereſt, daily opening into the commercial world, yet I muſt ſay, that I feel ſomewhat apprehenſive for its continuance, when I ſee a fly, cunning, buſy, active influence, uſing every art and contrivance to work on the minds of the unwary and uninformed, to warp them from their wonted loyal ſentiments; and if I miſtake not, to prepare their minds, at ſome diſtant day, to hail the American Standard, or I might ſay, Bonaparte's legions as meſſengers of peace and proſperity. —This has ever been French policy, to diſaffect, divide and conquer.—May it pleaſe the Ruler of the Univerſe to to direct the Councils of the Britiſh nation, and in particular, the heads of this Province, in ſuch a firm and temperate policy, and at the ſame time, that every influential character in their reſpective official departments, as well as among their well-meaning uninformed neighbours, ſo to counteract corrupt principles and proffligate manners, as to evince to the underſtanding of all, that they could only change their government and rulers for the worſe.—For ſure I am, if people could only reflect on what French intrigue has done in the Old World, and what it has done and is doing in the States, ſomething party ſpirit and diſtracting their councils—they would at once ſee that their deareſt intereſts & the welfare of their poſterity depended on a firm and faithful adherence to the Government they live under in this Province; and when any trifling local inconvenience ſhould be felt capable of a remedy, that a reſpectful petition or remonſtrance might pave the way for eaſy acceſs to Legiſlative diſcretion, producing a perfect willingneſs in the Adminiſtration to deliberate coolly and impartially on the ſubject of redreſs aſked for, and determine on general principles of public good. I am not without ſome fears, that in this Province as well as in the States, the honeſt flatteſman feels himſelf ſo ſecurely ſhrouded in the conſcious rectitude of his own intentions, and the purity and conſiſtency of the Britiſh Conſtitution, that he can hardly be enough aware of the danger awaiting him through the aſſiduous and unremitting induſtry of thoſe, who with wicked views, are endeavouring to alienate the paſſions and prejudices of the common people, and impoſe on their credulity and prepare their necks for the yoke, which would enable them to riſe on the ferment of ſcum of the boiling pot of political commotion, in hopes of riſing into eminence and power through their ſucceſsful ſtratagem in undermining that government from which they have little to expect, as their diſloyalty and proffligacy has rendered them too well known to ſtand entitled to the patronage of any well regulated government."

Erratum in our laſt. Under the York head, for "No ſordid conſideration cannot be, &c." read, No ſordid conſideration can be, &c.

Copy of a letter from Captain Ferris, of his Majesty's Ship Diana, addressed to Rear Admiral Sir Thomas Williams, and transmitted by Admiral Sir Charles Cotton to John Wilson Croker, Esq.

SIR,—I have the honor to inform you, that while standing towards the Cordovan Light House, in company with his Majesty's ship Semiramis, in the afternoon of the 24th instant, I discerned four sail inside of the shoals at the mouth of the River Gironde, under escort of a national brig of war. I meditated either their capture or destruction, which could only be accomplished by artifice and promptitude, without the sacrifice of many lives. Stratagem was used, which had the desired effect, as they lent a vessel with pilots to our assistance, and I anchored after dark the two ships mid way between the Cordovan and Royan, under whose guns the brig had taken refuge, and close to the brig stationed for the protection of the several convoys passing either way. I despatched three boats under the orders of Lieutenant Sparrow (second) Lieutenant Roper (Third,) and Mr. Holmet, Master's Mate, from the ship, seconded by four boats under the orders of Lieutenants Gardner, Grace, and Nicholson, and Mr. Reneau, Master's Mate, from the Semiramis, to capture or destroy the convoy then anchored up the river, about four miles distant, but the tide prevented their accomplishing it until late in the night, and at day light, finding the captured vessels with the boats far up the river beyond the two brigs, I determined to attack them with the ship, but not without using the same artifice as the preceding night to prevent suspicion: and so convinced were they of our being friends, that the Captain of the Port, Monsieur Michel Auguste Dubourg, Capitaine de Fregate, and commanding the inshore brig, came on board to offer his services, and was not undeceived until he had ascended the quarter deck. The Diana laid the outer brig on board, and Lieutenant Robert W. Parsons (First Lieutenant), Lieutenant Madden, First of the Royal Marines, and Mr. Mark G. Noble, Boatswain, headed about thirty seamen and marines, as many as could be spared by the absence of the boats), and succeeded in gaining possession of his Majesty's late gun brig Teazer, mounting twelve eighteen-pound carronades, and two long eighteen pound guns, commanded by Monsieur Alex. Papineau, Lieutenant de Vaisseau, with a complement of eighty five men, and without loss on either side. It adds to the lustre these officers and men achieved, the humanity they displayed to the over-powered captives, in putting them below without the force of arms, and an unnecessary effusion of blood. It was at this time that alarm was given, and the batteries opened their fire up on the ships, when Captain Richardson, in the Semiramis, in a manner which characterizes the officers and seamen, purfued above on those in the burnt, under the guns of the batteries the French national brig Le Plusier, mounting 16 guns, and 136 men, whose Captain, I have before spoken of, was decoyed on board.

Having obtained to the utmost the object in view, I anchored in the Gironde, out of gun-shot, to repair the damages sustained by the different vessels, when I was rejoined by the boats and captured convoy, a list of which I have the honor to inclose. The services I received from Captain Richardson, the officers, and ship's company of the Semiramis, merit my warmest acknowledgments and I should be committing a great injustice to the officers and ship's company I command, were I not to speak in terms of the highest admiration for their readiness and zeal throughout the whole affair. And could I add stronger encomiums to one more than another, it would be from the great assistance I received from Lieut. R. W. Parsons and Mr. David Bevans, the Master, whose unremitted attention in piloting the ship in the worst navigation, greatly tended to insure the object of pursuit. I also inclose you a letter I received from Captain Charles Richardson, narrating his attack upon the brig, and inclosing a list of wounded in the affray, and I regret to add, that I lost one man over board, after the brig was in our full possession.—I have the honor to be, &c.

His Majesty's Ship Semiramis, Royan Roads, August 25th 1811.

SIR.—I have the honor to report to you, that as soon as the Diana ran on board the enemy's outside brig, her consort, at anchor in front of her, immediately cut her cable and made sail for the beach near the battery of Royan, where she grounded. I followed into five fathoms, anchoring with a spring; the broadside was brought to bear on the enemy's brig, and how guns on the battery, within grape shot of both.

After engaging some time, I found the guns of the enemy's vessel almost silenced, and perceived the boats haul up to quit her.

At this time the barge, pinnace, and cutter rejoined me; I ordered Lieut. Gardner with their boats immediately to board the enemy, which was gallantly effected after receiving his broad side. She proved to be the French National brig Pluvier, of 10 guns and 136 men, commanded, pro. tempore, by Lieutenant Page de St. Wasst.

The prize being fast on shore, the ebb tide running most rapidly, and my own ship only in 20 feet water, I found it necessary to take the remainder of her people out and burn her, which, when completely effected, I made all sail to join you.

I have but to add in this little affair, my officers and ship's company behaved entirely to my satisfaction; and I feel much indebted to my First Lieutenant Gardner, Second Lieutenant Grace, and Mr. Reneau, master's mate, commanding the boats, for the very handsome manner in which they ran alongside the enemy.

Lieutenant Taylor, of the Marines, and Mr. Brickwood Purser, being the only officers on board, were of the greatest use, the former commanding the main deck, the latter the quarter deck guns. I have the honor to be &c.

LONDON, Nov. 15, 1811.

The Secretary of the Admiralty has received from Admiral Pellew, the following letter:

H. M. Ship Aetive, off Sagonita, July 27, 1811.

SIR—I have great pleasure in informing you that the boats of his Majesty's ship under my command, with the small arm men and Royal Marines the whole under the command of Lieutenant Henderson, (First of this ship) were detached on the ships anchoring here, in order to attack a convoy which had run above the island that the town of Sigosniza stands upon, and had taken shelter in a creek of the main. From the narrowness of the entrance and three gun-boats protecting it, with a number of armed men on each point, Lieutenant Henderson was induced to land with the small arm men and marines, on the right, in order to take possession of a hill which appeared to command the Creek, leaving the boats under command of Lieutenant Gibson, to push for the gun boats the moment a concerted signal was made from the top of the hill. On Lieutenant Henderson and his party gaining the top of the hill (after dislodging several soldiers who fired upon them during their ascent,) he found himself immediately above the gun-boats and a convoy of twenty-eight sail, he then made a signal for the boats to advance, at the same time descended the hill, exposed to the fire of one of the gun-boats and several soldiers; but the attack was so well planned, and so nobly executed, that the boats boarded the gun-boats, after the party which landed had only fired two vollies into them. The enemy finding themselves attacked so warmly, fled in all directions, leaving behind them a number of killed and wounded—The crews of the gun-boats (all but three men,) jumping overboard and getting on shore as our boats boarded. The guns were immediately turned on the flying enemy, and the boats took possession of the whole convoy, eighteen of which were brought out with the gun-boats, and ten more burnt, and I am happy to say without the loss of a man on our part; four only were wounded in the boats.

Then follows Captain Gordon's panegyrick on the various officers concerned in the enterprize.

I am informed by the prisoners, and several persons whom I have just seen, that the convoy arrived here the evening before, chiefly laden with grain for the garrison of Rayan, and was defended on shore by 300 armed men which, considering the force opposed to a ship's boat, is a proof that every officer and man did his duty like a British seaman. I shall proceed to join you at Lissa with the prizes, the moment they are put in order.

(Signed) JAMES A. GORDON, Capt.

His Majesty's Ship Thames off Porto del Infreschi, July 21, 1811.

SIR,—Captain Clifford, of the Cephalus, having the look out off Palenjore on the 20th instant, informed me by a Sicilian privateer, of a convoy of 26 sail attempting to gain port, which he with his usual activity prevented them from doing, and compelled them to take shelter in Porto del Infreschi, off which place we arrived at five this evening. I immediately desired Captain Clifford to lead in and anchor, which he performed in most handsome style, and was closely followed by this ship, who soon silenced eleven gun boats, and an armed felucca carrying six eighteen pounders, two 12 pound carronades, three brass and iron six pounders, and two hundred and eighty men, moored across for the protection of fifteen merchat vessels, and thirty six spars for the line of battle ship and frigate at Naples, and under cover of a round tower, and adjacent hills lined with musqueteers from the merchantmen and peasantry.

Marines were then landed under their Lieutenant, M'Adam, and got possession of the tower, performing the light infantry manoeuvres in a very pretty style, taking an officer and eighty prisoners, and driving the reft before them; the boats, at the same time, under capt. Clifford, took possession of the convoy, and all the spars, except two, which could not be got off; all of which were alongside, and the ships under weigh, in less than two hours, without the loss of one man, and only the boatswain and another man badly, and three of the brigs men slightly wounded: on entering the bay her sails and rigging were a good deal cut up. The whole of the officers and ship's company behaved in the most steady manner; which ever reflects the greatest credit on my predecessor, Captain Waldgrave, for the excellent discipline on board. Captain Clifford likewise speaks in highest terms of his First Lieutenant, Richardson, officers, and crew.

I have the honor, &c.

MUS NASCITUR.

The grand legislature of the United States were convened by the President, under the pressing exigency of "great and weighty considerations," which could not be deferred to the usual time of the meeting of Congress. The regular session would have commenced in a few weeks; but so urgent was the occasion that no delay whatever could be admitted. They met—and the President came forth with a tremendous speech—bleathing nothing but vengeance and war. The United States were immediately to put themselves into an armour, and attitude—Mendozalike, prepared both to ward off and give blows—such blows as would convince the world that the spirit of our fathers had waxed strong in their sons.

As the new fangled style of making Executive communications by meffage an echo, in the form of an answer, the report of the Committee of Foreign Relations was prepared, to convince Mr. Madison, and the WORLD that the Congress were as full of fight as their chief magistrate. In any country where words mean any thing, such threats and wrath as marked the speeches of the dominant party, would have been the prelude of such cutting of throats, ere this, as has seldom been witnessed in modern days. To complete the farce, the democratic editors throughout the Union, took their cue from the President's speech. We were now going to work in earnest. The old positions of the eleventh "fabmiffion Congreff" were repeated, to shew what was the character of the nation if we did not now make war—but it was declared with exultation, that the very dregs of humiliation were at last exhausted, and now we were going at it, pell mell. As Mr. Randolph observed, nothing but Canada, Canada, Canada, was heard from every seat in Congress—and Canada, was repeated, by the speaking-trumpets of the party throughout the Union. Federalists were every where warned to take care how they opened their mouths; for their eftates and their perfons were in danger, if they uttered a fyllable againft this glorious war. The puissant editor of the chronicle had already in his mind's eye, even half the citizens of Maffachufetts shipped to Halifax, and had undoubtedly set his heart upon some "Tory's houfe, which he thought would be more comfortable and convenient, and elegant, than his own old wooden thell. It was a dreadful day of alarm, to thofe who had weak nerves—the fhutting of a window fhutter was almoft imagined a bombardment; the rattling of a carriage was fancied to be the rolling of the dreadful artillery.

It cannot be poffible that the majority of our rulers are so ftupid as not to be senfible of the perfectly ridiculous figure they have made, by this pitiful farce they have been playing; but this ridiculous fheepifh looks, when they return to their conftituents. We have told the publick, (by we, I mean all federal editors) that this was all contemptible gasconade; and that the rankeft federalift in the Union was ready for war, with England, as the loudeft vapourer in Congress. We presume, by this time, no doubt remains on the fubject. If the Britifh will let us alone, Mr. Madifon and all his heroes will not harm a hair of their heads. If the war whoop does not frighten them, and they are not much afraid of noifes, they need not dread "the diftant thunder." It muft have been humiliating to our captain Bobadils on the floor of Congress, that at the very time, when they were entering Canada, fword in hand, and mowing down British regiments, Mr. Foller very quietly engaged a houfe at Walhington for three years; and becaufe one was not found altogether convenient, took another, at a confiderable sacrifice, fhewing how little he apprehended a fingle ftep toward hoftilities.

On the subject of our rulers' direful menaces, we cannot be serious. It is true the farce is disgraceful to the laft degree; but we truft the difgrace will attach to the actors and not to the nation. It will confound the rabble who have been electrified by the hue and cry, and were tickling themselves with the profpect of glorious confusion, confiscation and plunder. But while the soap bubbles of legislative fpouting have burft, juft as we expected, the day of forrow, which we have predicted, is no less ftrongly in our view. Congrefs, though they will not make war, they will not do what sound policy and juftice require. They will positively do Great Britain little or no damage; but negatively they will do much. The ftates-men who are the guardians of her profperity care nothing about the empty verbiage of our fwaggering fpeech and report makers—but they care for the prowess and vigour of Bonaparte. They care for the treasures we are pouring gratuitously into his coffers, they cannot with indifference, see the armies of their deadly foe fed, armed and clothed by funds taken from citizens of the U. S. whole government never requires and never expects redress. It is not by ourself ruining embargoes and non-importations, that we can bring Great Britain to gratify France, by declaring war againft us. She will not take a ftep for honor's sake, in this inftance, for the native which ftands like a rock, againft all the world in arms, that will use arms: well knows her honour is secure. But if we continue to make conftant sacrifices to France—burnt offerings at sea, and peace offerings to her ports, there is no doubt but we may, not is there any doubt but we fhall, convince England at laft, that under the garb of neutrals, we contribute more towards the conteft againft her, than we could in the character of avowed enemies, for then the would probably get at leaft as much of us as the would lofe, and cut off a conftant supply of means furnifhed her enemy.

But perhaps some may say, rather than declare war, Great Britain will take fuch fteps as fhall leave her enemy no advantage on the fcore of our paffive character. Should the ever adopt that policy, it needs no prophet to foretell the consequence. The people of the United States, tame and fpiritless as they appear to be, would drive their own daftardly government into a war? so thus the fate of the nation would be as certain as though England ftruck the firft blow. Our town meetings at the time of the Chefepeake affair, which had infinitely more of serious fpirit in them, than the harangues in Congrefs, though generally more decent, fhewed how readily our feelings could be roufed on one fide

Thus, whatever view we take of the subject, we cannot but anticipate the deplorable result, that a war with G. Britain will be the end of our present courfe, unless the people of the United States, now, in season, open their eyes to the dreadful profpect, and determine to change decidedly the politicks of the Country. If our reasoning is fallacious, why does not some one refute it, the democrats at leaft many of them, like our conclufions—the federalifts do not, overtly, profess to point out wherein we miftake; and yet there is about as much difpofition to effect the change, now, as though we propofed to alter the courfe of the sun.

Converfion of the Rev. M. Crowley.

The Rev. Matthew Crowley, who has juft conformed to the Proteftant religion, was profeffor of the facred Scripture in the College of Maynooth near Dublin. This gentleman's converfion was principally occafioned by the following circumftance:—He had been for fome time preparing himfelf to give his class in the college a series of lectures upon "the Proteftant Herefy," as it is theologically termed in the Roman Catholic ecclefiaftical feminaries, and for this purpofe had diligently ftudied all the leading points of controverfy between the Proteftant and the Roman Catholic religion, and moft carefully examined that fountain of all truth, the Holy Scriptures, and critically, and with a mind bent upon impartial inveftigation, perufed Dr. Stackhoufe's Hiftory of the Bible, and the late Bifhop Porteus's Lectures on the Gofpel. The refult has been, his renouncing the tenets of that religion in which he was brought up, and embracing the doctrines and opinions of the Reformed Church. His converfion has, we underftand, produced a very ftrong fenfation in the college of Maynooth, and a great number of the ftudents have manifefted an inclination to follow his example. Mr. Crowley is about 38 years of age, and a gentleman of fingular modefty, fpotlefs reputation, and profound learning.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.

"It is confidently reported in the political circles here, that Mr. Foller has propofed to our cabinet, that the treaty signed in 1806, by Messrs. Monroe and Pinkney, in behalf of the United States, and Lords Holland and Auckland of the part of G. Britain, fhall now be ratified by the two governments. The note annexed to that treaty by the Britifh commiffioners is to be ftricken out. Some provision or arrangement is to be made in relation to impreffment, as foon as practicable. It is believed by some of the friends of government, that the propofition of Mr. Foller will be acceded to. I give you thefe reports, without vouching for their truth. Yet I muft add, that they appear to me not to be devoid of probability. Should they be accurate, an immediate change in our measures muft take place, highly intereffing in more than one respect."

MISCELLANY.

SIR RICHARD ARKWRIGHT, an English manufacturer, was originally a barber at Wirkfworth, in Derbyfhire, which situation he quitted about 1767, and went about the country buying hair. At Warrington he got acquainted with one Kay, a clockmaker, and projected with him a machine for fpinning cotton in perfecting of which, they were affifted by Mr. Atherton of Liverpool. Mr. Arkwright afterwards went into partnerfhip with Mr. Smalley of Preston, but not succeeding there they went to Nottingham and erected a cotton mill, which was worked by horfes. By this time Mr. Arkwright had taken out a patent for his machine, which, however, was fet aside in 1785, in the Court of King's Bench. He afterwards erected works at Cromford, in Derbyfhire, and acquired a fortune of near half a million ferling. He was knighted on presenting an addrefs to his Majefty, in 1786. at high Sheriff of the County of Derby, and died at his feat, Auguft 3, 1792.

QUEBEC, Friday, Feb 21, 1812.

This day at 2 o'clock, His Excellency the Governor in Chief came down in State, to the Legislative Council Chamber, and being seated on the Throne, the Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod was sent to command the immediate attendance of the Assembly, which being come up, His Excellency was pleased to open the Session with the following Speech:—

"Gentlemen of the Legislative Council,

"Gentlemen of the House of Assembly,

"The Prince Regent in the name, and on the behalf of His Majesty, having been graciously pleased to honor me with the appointment of Governor in Chief of the British American Provinces, and having expressly commanded me to assume the Administration of Lower Canada, I hastened to take upon me this important charge.

"The commission by which I have been appointed, has been issued for some time, but, as it has not yet reached me, I continue to administer the Government under the provisions of that authority with which I was honored in the first instance by His Majesty's command.

"I lament that I cannot gratify your anxious expectation, with any favorable information respecting the health of our venerable and beloved Sovereign. His Majesty still suffers, and the paternal heart of the Prince Regent is extended to every part of his dominions, continues to be exercised by the Prince Regent.

"I feel pride and satisfaction in congratulating you on the brilliant achievements which have taken place in the deliverance of Portugal, and for the rescue of Spain from the tyranny of the Chief Ruler in France. Such events cannot be contemplated without acknowledging in humble thankfulness, the interposition of the Great Sovereign of the Universe, who has permitted British Valor to be the means of dispensing his benefits to those unhappy nations.

"Notwithstanding the astonishing changes that mark the age in which we live, the inhabitants of this portion of the Empire have witnessed but as remote spectators, the awful scenes which desolate Europe; and while Britain, "built by nature for herself, against infection and the hand of war," has had her political existence involved in the fate of the surrounding nations, you have, hitherto undisturbed, in the habitations of your Fathers, viewed without fear, the ruin of those around them, and been breathing its sweets towards the peaceful and happy regions.

"Should the unfriendly disposition of the Government of the United States, continue unchanged, by the wide ocean of the Atlantic, the friendship of the Prince Regent it will require no ordinary exercise of loyalty to withstand its effects, and no common energy in the discharge of the important duties we shall be called upon to perform.

"Viewing their circumstances, I recommend an increased and constant vigilance, care and vigilance in fostering the Colony from the dangers of invasion or malicious aggression; And I hope the Provincial Parliament will imbibe the loyal disposition by which it is animated, in its early sessions, which after which experience has proved to be essential for the preservation of His Majesty's Government as by Law happily established in this Province, and able by its resources in supplying His Majesty with such aid as shall be suited to the exigencies of the times, by touching his loyal Canadian subjects to affix to repelling any sudden attack made by a combinatory force, and effectually to participate in the defence of their country, against a regular invasion or any future period.

"I look to your public spirit and your love of the general good, for the amelioration of the internal communications throughout the Province, for the interests of commerce and the encouragement of agriculture, for that the most distant inhabitant may become feasible of the felicitude entertained for his comfort and welfare by the government protecting him.

"Mr. Speaker, and

"Gentlemen of the House of Assembly,

"I have directed to be laid before you, a Statement of the Provincial Revenue of the Crown, and an account of the Expenditure for the last twelve months; I trust I shall experience every willingness and liberality in the grants to His Majesty of Supplies for the services I have communicated materially connected with the security of this Province.

"Gentlemen of the Legislative Council,

"Gentlemen of the House of Assembly,

"The evidence of every day proves, our fellow subjects in Great Britain to have been the founder of the Empire against the machinations of an implacable and a powerful foe, by the exercise of the most splendid political and military and national moral virtues. I cannot doubt your disposition to follow their example, by displaying an equal zeal, and as cordial an unanimity, in supporting and strengthening the hands of His Majesty's Government, and his essential parts, by a consideration of the wisdom and talents you possess, for the preservation of that excellent and most perfect form of Government, you have received from a great, a free and an enlightened people."

(Signed) SAMUEL STREET, Speaker.

Commons House of Assembly,
March 5, 1812.

On Friday last His Honor the President, with the usual Formalities, closed the Session of the Legislature, and was pleased to deliver the following Speech to both Houses:—

Honorable Gentlemen of the Legislative Council,

And Gentlemen of the House of Assembly,

I Embrace the earliest moment in Prorogue this Session of the Legislature, in the Country may derive, at this critical juncture, the full benefit of your personal influence and example.

The exigency of the times can alone authorize me to trespass upon you for the Militia Bill; for under circumstances of less urgency, its very limited duration would oblige me to reject it.

Your liberality in the Militia Bill, to enable me to carry its otherwise salutary provisions into effect, demands my warmest acknowledgments.—While the true interests of the Country are combined, every possible exertion will be paid to the comfort and convenience of the individuals whom the Militia Law may call into action.

The other Bills which you have passed this Session, will, I trust, effectually promote the beneficial purposes for which they are intended.

I place full reliance in the exertion of your best endeavours to diffuse the principles of Loyalty and Attachment to the true principles of the Constitution, which happily at this time pervade every circle of this Community.

Any attempt to disseminate disaffection amongst us, will be repelled with indignation; and you will not fail in your respective Stations, to point out and bring to justice, all persons who, by their conduct may endanger the public Tranquility.

Having communicated every thing that occurs to me on this occasion, Gentlemen, I now sincerely, with a confident hope, that you will use every individuality, to give full efficacy and support to those Laws which can alone preserve the peace, and promote the prosperity of the Province.

After which His Honor was pleased to prorogue the Parliament until Friday the 10th of April next.

Schedule of the Bills passed in the Fourth Session of the Fifth Provincial Parliament of the Province of Upper Canada, and received the Royal Assent March the fixth, 1812.

London, Jan. 7.

HOUSE OF LORDS.

Soon after three o'clock this day, a considerable number of Peers attended in their places, in consequence of his Royal Highness the Prince Regent's Proclamation for the assembling of Parliament for the dispatch of business. The Lord Chancellor, his Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Marquis Wellesley, the Earls of Westmoreland and Camden, being attired in their robes of state, took their seats on the bench in front of the throne, as his Royal Highness's Commissioners.

Mr. Quarme, Acting Usher of the Black Rod, was then dispatched to order the attendance of the Commons, who forthwith appeared at the bar to a considerable number, with the Speaker at their head.

The Lord Chancellor then, as organ of the Commissioners, delivered the following Speech on the part of his Royal Highness the Prince Regent:—

"My Lords and Gentlemen,

"We are commanded by his Royal Highness the Prince Regent to express to you the deep sorrow which he feels in announcing to you the continuance of his Majesty's lamented indisposition, and the unhappy disappointment of those hopes of his Majesty's early recovery which has been cherished by the dutiful affection of his family and the loyal attachment of his people.

"The Prince Regent has directed copies of the last Reports of her Majesty's the Queen's Council to be laid before you and he is satisfied that you will adopt such measures as the present melancholy exigency may appear to require.

"In securing a suitable ample provision for the support of his Majesty's Royal dignity, and the attendance upon his Majesty's sacred person during his illness, the Prince Regent rests assured that you will also bear in mind the indispensible duty of continuing to preserve for his Majesty the facility of resuming the personal exercise of his Royal authority, in the happy event of his recovery, so earnestly desired by the wishes and the prayers of his family and subjects.

"The Prince Regent directs us to signify to you the satisfaction with which his Royal Highness has observed that the measures which have been pursued for the defence and security of the kingdom of Portugal have proved completely effectual, and that on the several occasions in which the British and Portuguese troops have been engaged with the enemy, the reputation already acquired by them has been fully maintained.

"The successful and brilliant enterprise which terminated in the surprise, in Spanish Estremadura, of a French corps, by a detachment of the allied army under Lieut. General Hill, is highly creditable to that distinguished officer and the troops under his command, and has contributed materially to obstruct the designs of the enemy in that part of the Peninsula.

"The Prince Regent is assured that while you reflect with pride and satisfaction on the conduct of his Majesty's troops and of the allies. In their various and important services, you will render justice, to the consummate judgement and skill displayed by General Lord Viscount Wellington in the direction of the Campaign,

"In Spain the spirit of the people remains unsubdued, and the system of warfare so peculiarly adapted to the actual condition of the Spanish nation has been recently extended and improved under the advantages which result from the operations of the allied armies on the frontier, and from the countenance and assistance of his Majesty's navy on the coast.

"Although the great exertions of the enemy have in some quarters been attended with success, his Royal Highness is persuaded you will admire the Perseverance and gallantry manifested by the Spanish armies. Even in those provinces principally occupied by the French forces, new energy has risen among the people, and the increase of difficulty and danger has produced more connected efforts of general resistance.

"The Prince Regent, in the name & on the behalf of his Majesty, commends us to express his confident hope that you will enable him to continue to afford the most effectual aid and assistance in the support of the contest, which the brave nations of the Peninsula still maintain with such unabated zeal and resolution.

"His Royal Highness commands us to express his congratulations on the success of the British arms in the Island of Java.

"The Prince Regent trusts that you will concur with his Royal Highness in approving the wisdom and ability with which this enterprize, as well as the capture of the Islands of Bourbon and Mauritius, has been conducted under the immediate directions of the Governor General of India; and that you will applaud the decision, gallantry and spirit conspicuously displayed in the late operations of the brave army under the command of that distinguished Officer Lieut. General Sir Samuel Auchmuty, so powerfully and ably supported by his Majesty's naval forces.

"By the completion of this system of operations, great additional security will have been given to the British Commerce and Possessions in the East Indies, and the Colonial power of France will have been entirely extinguished.

"His Royal Highness thinks it expedient to recommend to your attention the propriety of providing such measures for the future government of the British possessions in India, as shall appear from experience, and upon mature deliberation, to be calculated to secure their internal prosperity, and to derive from those flourishing dominions the utmost degree of advantage to the commerce and revenue of the United Kingdom.

"We are commanded by the Prince Regent to acquaint you, that while His Royal Highness regrets that various important subjects of difference with the government of the United States of America still remain undecided; the difficulties which the affair of the Chesapeake frigate occasioned have been removed; and we are directed to assure you, that in the further progress of the discussion with the United States, the Prince Regent will continue to employ such means of conciliation as may be consistent with the dignity and honour of His Majesty's Crown, and with the due maintenance of the maritime and commercial rights and interests of the British empire.

"Gent. of the House of Commons,

"His Royal Highness has directed he Estimates for the service of the urrent year to be laid before you.—He trusts that you will furnish him with such supplies as may be necessary to enable him to continue the contest in which His Majesty is engaged with that spirit and exertion which will afford the best prospect of its successful termination.

"His Royal Highness commands us to recommend that you should resume the consideration of the state of the finances of Ireland, which you had commenced in the last session of Parliament. He has the satisfaction to inform you, that the improved receipt of the revenue of Ireland in the last, as compared with the preceding year, confirms the belief, that the depression on which that revenue had experienced is to be attributed to accidental & temporary causes.

"My Lords and Gentlemen,

"The Prince Regent is satisfied that you entertain a just sense of the arduous duties which his Royal Highness has been called upon to fulfil, in consequence of his Majesty's indisposition.

"Under this severe calamity, his Royal Highness derives the greatest consolation from reliance on your experienced wisdom, loyalty and public spirit, to which, in every difficulty he will resort with a firm confidence, that through your assistance and support, he shall be enabled, under the blessing of Divine Providence, successfully to discharge the important functions of the high trust reposed in him, and to the name and on the behalf of his beloved Father, and revered Sovereign, maintain unimpaired the prosperity and honour of the nation."

Intercepted from Spain.—On the 2d of January, the Spanish frigate Ciencia arrived at Cadiz from Lima, with four millions of dollars. She left the British 74 Bulwark, Capt. Fleming, at Lima, taking in specie for Cadiz. The Ciencia brings the most flattering accounts from Peru. Perfect tranquility existed, and the inhabitants displayed the greatest patriotism and attachment to the mother country.—— Amazing voluntary contributions had been raised for the support of the war in the Peninsula.—— *Phil. St. Louis, Upper Louisiana, Dec. 28.

On Wednesday last, an express came to Governor Howard, from St. Genevieve, stating that an attack had been made on the settlement of St. Francis, by the Osage Indians, report says 4 or 500; the express returned immediately (we understand) with orders to Col. Bird of Cape Girardeau, and Col. Cook of St. Genevieve, to call out the Militia of those districts and pursue the offenders; several companies are in requisition in this district. Further information is expected every hour by express.

The Spies sent out by the Governor, report that some horses have been stolen by the Indians on Salt River, and some cattle killed.

Indian Account of the Battle of Wabash, in a letter from a Gentleman at Amherstburg, to another at York.

SIR,

I have the honor to inform you, that just as I had finished writing you yesterday, a Kickapoo Chief, who was in the action on the Wabash, arrived here, and reports that without having sent any previous message, Governor Harrison advanced from his fort against the Indians, with intention of surrounding the Village on all sides, that none might escape if they proved refractory. He completely surrounded it on the land side, and attempted it by the river, but the Indians boldly ordered him to desist, or it would not go well with him. He then asked where he could encamp, and was told, "wherever he pleased, except round their Village." All this time the Officers and Cavalry had their swords ready drawn, and the infantry were drawn up ready to fire on them.

He however retreated about a quarter of a mile, over a little rising ground and encamped by a small rivulet; but before he retreated, the Indians took a negro, and threatened to put him to death if he did not inform them of the Governor's intention. The negro told them that he intended to deceive them, and they let him go. And the Governor, after he had encamped, sent the same negro back to them, to desire them to sleep sound and be at ease, and not approach his Centinels, lest they should be shot, and that he would not allow any of his people to go near them.

The Indians, however, had their spies out, to prevent surprise, and often during the night, ordered the American spies to retire from their posts, without doing them any injury. Two young Winnebagoes, no doubt out of curiosity, (for it appears the Indians had no intention to attack, but defend themselves if attacked) went near-hand of the American Centinels, and were shot at, and fell as wounded men, but on the Centinels coming up he dispatch them, they arose and tomahawked them.

This insult roused the indignation of the Indians, and they determined to be revenged, and accordingly commenced the attack at Cock crowing. They had the Americans between two fires; driven by the Winnebagoes, they were received by the Kikapoos, alternately, until about 9 o'clock, and the Indians then gave way for want of arrows and ammunition.

It appears that not above one hundred Indians fired a shot, the greater number being engaged in plundering and conveying off horses.

The women and children faved themselves by croffing the river during the engagement.

The Americans burned the Prophet's village and all the Corn of the Shawanees, but the Kikapoos faved theirs by having it previously buried. Twenty-five Indians only are killed; the Kikapoo does not know the number of Americans killed, but he fays their lofs muft have been conliderable, not lefs than one hundred.

The Prophet and his people do not appear as a vanquifhed enemy; they preferve their former ground.

The Prophet's brother, who went to the Southward in winter 1810 11, is reported by this man to be on his return, and has reached the farthest Kikapoo town, and is there in council with the different Nations.—He paffed the Vincennes on his way home, and met the army of Governor Harrison retreating, but no infult was offered to him or his few friends who accompanied him.

When the meffenger I fent returns, I no doubt will receive further intelligence refpecting the views of the Indians, and will lofe no time in tranfmitting it to you, or perhaps be the bearer of it myfelf.

The following is an account of the numbers of the different Nations killed in the action, viz.— 1000 9; Winnebagoes 6; Potowatomies 4; Ottawas 3 4 Creeks 2; Shawnees 1.

From the manner in which the Kikapoo tells his ftory, I fincerely believe his account to be correct.

P. S. The Indians forces conlifted of, from 250 to 300, and not more than 100 were ever engaged.

FROM THE QUEBEC GAZETTE.

To his Excellency E. Gerry, Governor of the Commonwealth of Maffachusets.

Sir,

The Speech you delivered to the Legiflature of Maffachusets on the tenth of January laft has been received here; and though so much extravagance in matter, and so much taproom phraseology as it expresses, would have protected it from notice, it acquires some little importance from the ftation you occupy, and the time we live in. In Europe, such a ftate paper would have quallioned the author's friends to aftemble and deliberate on the condition of his mind, and to take certain meafures for his preservation, but your republics have added to the great ftock of hiftorical evidence, a new proof that not only the subftance but the forms of virtue decline rapidly under the intemperate action of democracy. This age is indeed wild with political perverfity, and the diviflon line between reafon and madneis in ftate affairs, is fcarcely now to be difcovered.

You are no doubt aware that a fpeech, hitherto, has been considered to be little else than a dispaffionate recommendation by a Ruler of certain measures to be purfued for the common welfare. But paffion is the only element that nathion popular governments. At present, a man in power in the United States cannot preserve his poft, unleis his ftrains be angrily exciting the moft frightful opinions, and all his language smokes with rage and rancour againft Great Britain. Hence it is that you have declared that the decorum which fhould characterize a communication from one branch of a legiflature to another, hould have you availed yourfelf of the peculiar authority such an occasion fur nifhes to make an impaffioned display of all your complaints againft the government of that country, and to vilify greatly and wantonly the perfonal character of the King and Prince Regent.

Why are national wars to your hatred to Great Britain. It is all that now remains to you of the fpirit of your revolution, and you seem convinced it is the only ligament which binds you together. It is in you what the Navy is to Great Britain, and to France Bonaparte and his armies. It gives you a degree of union, by a contendency of feeling, and furnishes a certain illumination to the Chief Magiftrate of your country. This conftitutional hatred cannot be perceptible to all your countrymen, because their nature was endowed with it at periods beyond their recollections, and they are therefore not more liable to be ftruck with its presence than with the color of the skin. No one capable of you temperate reasoning, in disquiffition concerning the political relations between your government and that of Great Britain. It would be requiring the Salamander to live out of fire. It is not then, in the hope to convince you of your errors on the points adverted to in your fpeech, that I feel impelled to make fome remarks on its contents. In such a ftate of things we ought to falisfy ourselves, and to juftify to our own consciences the conduct we mean to purfue.

Yielding to your favage animosity againft England, you unwiingly revive the recollection of events connected with your revolutionary war. The treaty of peace in 1783, and renewed ftate of amity and commerce in 1794, would, among civilized communities, have been considered as folemnly cancelling all grounds of mutual reproach. Not courtesy alone, but good faith recommend and prafcribe forgetfulneis on such subjects.

But that you may endure to yourself univerfal ridicule, you go out of your way to reprove the British Government for acts lawful at the time of their performance. To weaken the reputation of an enemy, and to deftroy the credit of his public paper are not only lawful, but the leaft exceptionable modes of reducing his power.

The revival of complaints originating in a contract long since formally adjufted, accounts for the facility with which you collect and register new subjects of complaint and claims of reparation againft Great Britain, would it not require a folio to record the vindictals of our rights while colonies of Great Britain, and a plea of compensation stands the acknowledged your independence. The vulgarity of this afternoon is only furpaffed by its falfity. The nature of things offers furnish an irrefiftible refutation of that poftive depofition. The ftruggle in which Great Britain is engaged, impofes on her the neceffity of making great sacrifices to avoid greater evils; and the best of nations, as well as by maintaining the meafure of her commerce to preferve her resources. Independent of the influence so deep an interest muft have on her conduct, the national character and acknowledged good faith dispreve so affertion so general.

"She interdicts our commerce, authorized as it is by the public law."

You are claim no rights under the public law,— You have abdicated your poft in the circle of independent States. The ftates into which the world is divided, have correspondent rights and obligations inftituted and maintained by neceffity, expediency or pofitive convention, and to which they are all equally bound to conform. Thofe rights and duties are defined with precision, and have hitherto been univerfally admitted, under the title of the Law of Nations But the United States deny that they have any duties to perform towards other States, and conftantly refufe the performance of them.

Your general Government, in its relation to other States, is notoriously dumb. The word declare is never in your mouth, but lips and tongs your prints. We hear only of your rights and the violation of them. That ftrit duty of nations, the duty of affifting in preventing one State from deftroying the ftrength of another, by unjuftly endangering the security of the whole, has not only been neglected by your government, but it has otherwise unjuftly encouraged the evil. This duty is indiftinctly explained by VATTEL, the moft popular author on the Laws of Nations, and what may improve his credit in this cafe, a Frenchman.

"Every nation ought as much as poffible, to labour for the preservation of nations, and securing them from ruin and deftruction, as far as it can do this, without expofing itself too much Thus, when a neighbouring nation is unjuftly attacked by a powerful enemy who threatens to oppress it, if you can defend it without expofing yourfelf to great danger, unquestionably it is your duty to give it fuccour; it can be juftly objected to this, that a Sovereign is not to expose the lives of his soldiers, for the safety of a foreign nation with which he has not contracted a defenfive alliance. Each nation, its own care to take in aid of affiftance; and consequently he is acting for the safety of his own nation, in giving energy to the fpirit and diffufing an univerfal terror, and in accordingly, policy here coincides with and enforces obligation and duty." [VATTEL, Book II c 1.

You are most ure diftance from the fcene of action, all commercial relations are nought to each other, and the fpirit of monopoly and avarice has made up deftroyed mariné fpace. Moreover, the occupation of Spain has brought the growing power into near immediate neighbourhood. Hence is the powerful enemy imagined in that clause. For twenty years paft, she has been violating all the provisions of the great compact by which nations are bound, she has deprived Holland, Italy, Switzerland and Spain of their independences, whereby her proferity and ability to retend ftill further her invafions are both encreased. If the laft are no thofe nations of the fecurity, happiness, and moral dignity, which arises from the ancient recollections, national glory and limited poffeffions, have rendered us emotional of sorrow in your breaft, at leaft you fhould have fome concern for your own future welfare. But inftead of encouraging the fpirit of refiftance and checking so violent an invafion of that national law, by which you claim fo many rights, you have been lowering with a kind of complaifant complacence, nothing seems to have been left for us to do. You have furnished the great delinquent with every practicable affiftance. You have not only cafried on with him your ufual trade, but have been promoted his general commerce from the inconveniencies to which it had become fubject. Your ships have conveyed his difpatches and fpies to every part of the world, and your ftates and fenators have gone to his fhips of war, information that has often faved them from the reach of their purfuers. In fhort, your government, during this period of national convulsion, exhibits the picture of a stripped huckfter, who during a great conflagration moves with a bafket under each arm, among the multitude, offering refreshments for fale; and while he refolves to lend any affiftance to check the devaftations calmly enjoys its splendor.

An ACT to prevent Desertion from his Majesty's Regular Forces, by granting a Bounty for Apprehending Deserters in this Province.

[Passed 6th March, 1812.]

WHEREAS from the local situation of this Province, some further provision than the general Laws of the Empire afford, is necessary for the encouragement of persons who apprehend Deserters; Be it therefore enacted by the King's most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and Assembly of the Province of Upper Canada, constituted and assembled by virtue of and under the authority of an Act passed in the Parliament of Great Britain, intituled, "An Act to repeal certain parts of an Act passed in the fourteenth year of his Majesty's reign, intituled, "An Act for making more effectual provision for the government of the Province of Quebec, in North America, and to make further provision for the government of the said Province," and by the authority of the same, That from and after the passing of this Act, any person or persons not being in his Majesty's Regular Forces in this Province, who shall apprehend any Deserter or Deserters from such Regular Forces, and deliver up such Deserter or Deserters to any Officer commanding any military post in this Province, shall for each and every such Deserter or Deserters, so apprehended and delivered up, be entitled to, and shall receive in the manner hereinafter directed, a reward of Five Pounds, current money of this Province, upon producing a certificate of such apprehension and delivery, (specifying the name or names of such Deserter or Deserters, and to what regiment or corps he or they belong, as may appear by confession or otherwise, signed by the officer so commanding, and by any Justice of the Peace for the district before whom such Deserter or Deserters shall be brought, which certificate such Officer and Justice of the Peace are hereby authorized and required to grant; Provided nevertheless, That when any Deserter or Deserters shall be so apprehended in any district of this Province, in which there may be no military post at the time, it shall and may be lawful for any Justice of the Peace before whom any Deserter or Deserters may be brought, and he is hereby required to commit by warrant under his hand and seal, every such Deserter or Deserters, to the common Gaol of the District wherein he or they may be apprehended, to be therein kept in safe custody, until demanded by and delivered up to any officer or detachment of his Majesty's Forces demanding such Deserter or Deserters, then, and in that case, the certificate of such Justice of the Peace, countersigned by the Keeper of such Gaol, acknowledging the receipt of such Deserter or Deserters, into his custody, shall be deemed sufficient.

II. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That when any person or persons who may have apprehended any Deserter or Deserters, may require further assistance for the safe keeping and conveying such Deserter or Deserters to the nearest military post or common goal, such person or persons shall have authority to call upon as many of the inhabitants (not being Quakers, Menonists or Tunkers) as may be required for that purpose, and no more. And each and every person so employed, shall be entitled to receive and demand six-pence per mile for every mile he shall go and return upon such service, to be ascertained if required, by the oath of such person, and the said sum of six-pence per mile, shall be paid under the like certificate, as the aforesaid reward of five pounds is herein directed to be paid.

III. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That every person not being a Quaker, Menonist or Tunker, who may be required to attend upon such service, and shall refuse so to do, upon due proof being made upon oath, of one credible witness, before any Justice of the Peace, shall forfeit and pay the sum of twenty shillings for every such offence, to be levied by distress and sale of the offender's goods and chattels, and in case of no sufficient distress being found, it shall and may be lawful for such Justice of the Peace, by warrant under his hand and seal, to commit every such offender to the common gaol of the District wherein the same shall happen, for a space of time not exceeding one calendar month, and the said sum of twenty shillings so levied as aforesaid, shall be paid into the hands of the Receiver General of this Province, for the support of the Civil Government thereof, to be accounted for by him to the Lords Commissioners of his Majesty's Treasury, in such manner and form as his Majesty, his heirs and successors may be pleased to direct.

IV. And in order to enable any person or persons entitled thereto, to receive the reward before mentioned, with as much facility and as little expence as circumstances will admit; be it therefore enacted by the authority aforesaid, That any public officer in the District where such Deserter shall be apprehended, holding public monies levied under the authority of any Act of the Provincial Parliament of this Province, is hereby authorized and required to pay the reward before mentioned out of any such monies in his hands, and the certificate aforesaid, together with a receipt for the sum of the person or persons receiving such reward, certified by two witnesses, shall be received and taken by the Receiver General of this Province, in discharge of so much of the account of such public officer as shall pay the same; and all money paid in manner aforesaid out of any fund by law appropriated, shall be replaced to such fund out of any unappropriated money remaining in the hands of the said Receiver General.

Latest Intelligence.

Extract of a Despatch from his Excellency the Marshal General Count of Vimeiro, (Lord Wellington) directed to his Excellency Don Miguel Pereira Forjaz, from his Head Quarters at Gallegos, 9th Jan. 1812.

Agreeably to the intention which I lately informed your Excellency that I had, I yesterday invested Ciudad Rodrigo. After the enemy obtained poffeffion of this place, they conftructed fome field works, with paliſades, on the height of San Francifco, and fortified three convents, whole line of defence was connected with the works on that height, and with the old lines by which the fuburbs were furrounded, which rendered the approach to the place difficult, and conſequently it became neceſſary to obtain poſſeſſion of the works on the laſt height, before we could make any progreſs in the attack. With this view Major General Crauford ordered a detachment of the light diviſion, under the command of Lieut. Col. Cockburn of the 52d regt. to make a briſk attack upon thoſe works a little after dark. This attack was ably conducted by the ſaid Lieut. Col. and the fortifications taken by aſſault; our troops took 3 pieces of artillery, and made priſoners of 2 captains and 47 ſoldiers, the reſt of the garriſon being put to the ſword.

I cannot ſufficiently applaud the conduct of Lieut. Col. Cockburn, and of the detachment under his command and I am very happy in being able to ſtate that our loſs in this affair was not great; we had 6 men killed; Captain Mayne of the 53d regt. the Lieuts. Haneſly of the 95th and Woodgate of the 52d regts. and 14 ſoldiers wounded.

The ſucceſs of this operation enabled us immediately to open the trenches at the diſtance of 300 toiſes from the place, and notwithſtanding that the enemy ſtill retained the poſſeſſion of the fortified convents, the captured works were converted into a part of our firſt parallel, and we have formed a good communication with them.

I have arranged our preſent operation in ſuch a manner that I hope that our troops will not ſuffer from the inclemency of the ſeaſon.

Lieut. Gen. Hill arrived at Merida on the 30th of December: he had hopes of ſurpriſing there Gen. Dunbrouſki, who from appearances I ſuppoſed had been killed in the former battle, that the enemy had with Gen. Hill; but his van having on the 29th been diſcovered by a ſmall patrole of the enemy, belonging to a detachment which happened to be at La Nava, and which effected its retreat to Merida, notwithſtanding the efforts made by a detachment of Gen. Hill's cavalry to prevent it, Gen. Dunbrouſki in conſequence retreated from Merida that night, leaving there a depoſit of wheat, and 164,000 pounds of wheat, and many incompleate works of fortification that the enemy had conſtructed.

On the firſt of the preſent month Gen. Hill advanced with intention to attack Gen. Drouet, who was commanding the 5th corps at Almendralejo; that Gen. however retired to Zafra, leaving in the town a depoſit, which contained 450,000 pounds of wheat, and ſome barley.

On the 3d Gen. Hill ordered a detachment conſiſting of the regiment of Infantry No. 28, two ſquadrons of the regiment of Huſſars No. 2, and one of the regiment of Portuguese cavalry No. 10, to Fuente del Maeſtro, under the command of the hon. Lieut. Col. Abercromb. Our cavalry routed an enemy's corps that was there, and took priſoners 2 officers and 30 ſoldiers.—Gen. Hill having learned that General Drouet had retreated to Lerena, finding it impoſſible to follow him any farther, returned on the 5th to Merida, in order to place his troops in better cantonments during the bad weather.

By deſpatches which I have received from Cadiz, dated as late as the 27th Dec. I learn that the enemy invefted Tariffa on the 20th of that month, with a force of near 5000 men, covering their operations againſt that place with another body of troops detached at Veger, under the command of Marſhal Victor. The enemy's artillery for the attack of Tariffa had not arrived on the 24th of December; Col. Skerret with the piquets of British and Spaniſh infantry, thoſe of the garriſon, and a detachment of the 95th regiment had a battle with the enemy on the 20th. On the 21ſt captain Ween with his company belonging to the 11th regt. deſtroyed one of the enemy's piquets. On the 22d Col. Skerret made a ſortie from Tariffa, in co-operation with the Spaniſh troops commanded by Gen. Coppons, in order to oblige the enemy to exhibit their force. On this occaſion the enemy ſuffered conſiderable loſs.

By the Cadiz Poſt of yeſterday, we have received the following extraordinary meſſage from the Gen. Staff.

Saturday, Jan. 11, 1812.

The Commandant General of the 3d army, Don Nicolas Mahy, acquaints the Chief of the General Staff, on the 27th of December laſt, that the enemy reinforced by the army of Marmont, attacked on the 26th the line, which our troops occupied in front of Valencia, and that by reaſon of the ſuperiority of force with which the enemy charged our left, where he commanded, they forced the poſts which he had the charge of, in ſpite of the valour of his troops, whom he was obliged to concentrate near to Valencia. In executing this movement, he was ſeparated from the body of his infantry, with a part of which, and the cavalry, from the nature of the ground, he was under the neceſſity of retreating to Alcira, which was the point aſſigned for re-union to the army; preſuming that the reſt of the troops under his command had retired to Valencia, where he ſuppoſes Gen. Blake to be with the remainder of the army, not being able to tell their fate, nor what took place in the centre of the line, this general having been ſtationed on the left. He praiſes much the bravery of the troops under his command, who maintained their ground with ſtrmneſs until compelled by ſuperior numbers to relinquiſh it.

Deſpatch juſt received from Gen. Coppons, dated Tariffa, Jan. 9.

Moſt Excellent Sir.—The enemy has retired altogether, and yeſterday paſſed Vegar and Medner. I informed your Excellency that they had loſt the greater part of their park of artillery, but it was the whole; they have ſaved nothing. The roads are covered with effects, and the country houſes full of proviſions. They have buried their 24 pounders, and we are ſearching for the place.

LISBON, January 21.

We yeſterday ſaw a letter from Pinhel of the 16th inſt. by which we learn that our troops commenced firing upon Ciudad Rodrigo on the 14th, and that on the 13th a principal baſtion was greatly injured. The French on that day made a ſortie with 1300 men for the purpoſe of deſtroying ſome of our works; but having been received with a diſcharge of grape ſhot, they loſt upwards of 60 men, and the remainder returned rapidly within the place. Many deſerters have come from it, who aſſert that there is a great ſcarcity of proviſions in the city.

NEW YORK March 3.

IMPORTANT.

Capture of Ciudad Rodrigo.—A gentleman of this city has politely favored us with the following letter, received laſt evening by the laſt ſailing ſhip Oronoke from Liſbon.

Liſbon, 24th January, 1812.

"Ciudad Rodrigo, 20th Jan. 1812.

"I have the pleaſure to inform you that Ciudad Rodrigo was taken by ſtorm at 8 o'clock laſt night. There were two breaches practicable, one of which was aſſaulted by General Picton's diviſion, and the other by Gen. Crawford's, whilſt Gen. Pack made a falſe attack on the other ſide of the town. There was very conſiderable reſiſtance made by Gen. Picton, but Gen. Crawford finding the other breach more practicable, though not ſo wide, made a glorious aſſault, while the enemy's attention had been called off by Gen. Pack's pretended attack, and carried it at the point of the bayonet. Gen. Crawford and Gen. Vandileur, are wounded. We have not loſt many men. The French Governor of this place, and the whole of the garriſon that eſcaped our bayonets, are made priſoners. This is a triumphant cloſe of the campaign. Marmont is ſaid to be ſtill in motion; but as ſoon as he hears of this event, it is expected he will make a retrograde movement."

March 7.

Capt. Travis, of the ſchr. John and George, who arrived at this port yeſterday from Port-au-Prince, informs that on the 12th of February, off Cape Nichola Mole, he was boarded from the Britiſh brig Fire Fly, then in company with three frigates and a brig, having in tow one of the Emperor Chriſtophe's frigates, a prize to Sir James Lucas Yeo, commander of the Britiſh irigate Southampton, which he had captured after a deſperate engagement. The battle laſted two hours and an half, in which Chriſtophe's frigate loſt in killed and wounded 300 men. They were proceeding to Jamaica with their prize.

Latest from Portugal.

Laſt evening arrived at this port, the laſt ſailing ſhip Oronoke, Richards, from Liſbon, which port ſhe left on the 26th January.—Capt R. informed us, that great rejoicings took place the day he ſailed, on receiving official news of the fall of Ciudad Rodrigo, which place was taken by ſtorm by the Britiſh army, on the evening of the 18th of January.

Capt. R. further ſtates, two Britiſh regiments were cut to peices, and one Engliſh General killed and another mortally wounded—great ſlaughter took place on both ſides.

We further learn, that the French General Marmont was marching to relieve Ciudad Rodrigo, at the head of 50,000 men, which place he was expected to reach about the 24th of January.

To his Excellency E. Gerry, Governor of the Commonwealth of Maſſachuſetts

SIR,

This duty, thus violated by you, is not mere theory. It is the practical law of Europe. You ſhould then ceaſe to invoke the proviſions of the public law; and whenever you may put forth any claims, you ſhould urge them in virtue alone of the laws of the United States. This will give you the advantage at leaſt of acting with conſiſtency.

It is ſaid that Great Britain interdicts your commerce. You may trade with all the world except with one power, who threatens her with annihilation, and with which power had you contributed to ſupport the public law as you were bound to do, you would have been long ſince at war. There are indeed reſtrictions on your commerce impoſed by the orders in council; but Great Britain might have law fully adopted a ſtill ſtronger rule of conduct.—She might have availed herſelf of one of thoſe primary Laws of Nations, which in your ſpeech, you have ſo ridiculouſly miſapplied; "that every nation is obliged to perform the duty of ſelf-preſervation."—By the common conſent of friend and foe, it is admitted Great Britain is engaged in a conteſt that ultimately involves her national exiſtence. This condition amplifies all her belligerent rights.—She is permitted to conſider almoſt excluſively, all the ſuggeſtions of her own prudence and ſagacity. In this caſe right and duty, become allies in her favor; they both juſtify her in the utmoſt exerciſe of that power it has pleaſed the Almighty to place in her hands for the preſervation of 15 millions of her creatures. Such power ſhould no doubt be exerciſed with the leaſt poſſible injury to other States; but the ſtate in jeopardy muſt from the nature of the caſe, be the ſole judge of the neceſſity, extent and duration of her meaſure of defence. To demand of Great Britain, a ſtudied attention to all the delicate obſervances of the Hayleyon days now paſt, evinces a degree of ſimplicity altogether incredible.—Under this right Great Britain would be juſtified in interdicting the trade of the whole world with France, becauſe ſuch interdiction would reduce the power of an exterminating enemy. No nation ought to complain of ſuch an interdiction, ſince it would form but a ſmall commutation for the abſence of that aſſiſtance, they ought to give to the threatened ſtate. The only fact neceſſary to be previouſly aſcertained, is, whether the nation that avowed her danger, does ſo from reaſonable grounds; and in the caſe before us the evidence is ample. But Great Britain has not yet availed herſelf of this laſt reſource of her rights.

"She pertinaciouſly continues her orders in council." The orders in council reſt on a baſis furniſhed by the enemy herſelf. They are an indiſpenſible reaction of his decrees. Theſe decrees are not revoked. The power that would annul, ſhould equal that which enacts. The French decrees are the public law of the land, but a letter from a State Secretary is not equivalent to a public law. Upon which authority would an independent prize court in France decide, in favour of the decrees, or of the Duke of Cadore's intimation by letter, that at a future day, they would be annulled? That letter and the practical ſuſpenſion of theſe decrees form a ſnare which like the ordinary artifices of the Emperor and King, will probably accomplish its object.

"She alſo perſiſts in ſeizing our brave ſeamen." "She has ſtolen thouſands of our meritorious ſeamen."

It is painful to ſee terms ſo ſtrong uſed with ſo much levity, in a ſtate paper. Such a practice would, in a ſhort time, deprive language of its expreſſion or power of compariſon. A ſyſtem, in reference to ſuch a ſubject, ſignifies a premeditated arrangement, deliberately acted upon. You yourſelf do not believe there exiſts, or ever did exiſt any order given by the Britiſh government to impreſs your ſeamen. Every ſtate has a right to claim the ſervices, not only of that portion of her ſubjects that form her beſt and moſt natural defenders, but indifferently of every member of the community.—You have adduced quotations from Vattel in your Speech which enjoins the right, and ſuch a right, without correſponding power of coercion would be abſurd. There have been inſtances of abuſe, no doubt, in the exercile of this right, ariſing from the great difficulty of diſtinguiſhing a Britiſh from an American ſeaman from their appearance alone; as alſo from the great abuſe of proteſtions. Complaints on ſuch a ſubject ſhould be very much regulated by previouſly eſtimating whether the degree of abuſe is unreaſonably greater than the liability to it. You are ſcarcely entitled to complain of ſuch abuſe, becauſe it is notorious, that the United States encourage deſertion from every country, contrary to the public law you have cited in your favour; and that her officers have publicly enliſted deſerters from Britiſh ſhips of war (e. g. the enliſtments at Norfolk in 1807) and protected them by her national flag.—Moreover, before your government can have a right to be ſo importunate on the ſubject of this evil, the ſhould have ſhewn a diſpoſition to prevent the cauſe of it. She ſhould have adopted meaſures to check the too eaſy acceſs of Britiſh ſeamen into her commercial marine, and to ſtop entirely their introduction into her public ſhips. Every ſeaman, on ſigning articles, ſhould have been required to produce his certificate of baptiſm, to take an oath of his American origin, or furniſh ſome other more efficient mode of proving it. And although ſuch reſtraints may have failed in their application, the trial of them would have diſcharged the Britiſh government of much of its pretenſion, and commanders of ſhips of war of much of their activity.

"Does it (a municipal arrangement confined to Britiſh territory) not place his Royal Highneſs on a level with lawleſs ſmugglers." The Proclamation you here allude to, permits a relaxation of the navigation act, and confines its direct conſequences to places under Britiſh juriſdiction. It is a ſimple act of ſovereignty. Your government juſtify the French decrees in all their extravagant operations, provided they take effect within France. As to the Prince Regent, he moſt eminently deſerves your ſlander.

"Will it (an American war) not accelerate her own deſtruction?" Her deſtruction then you believe is certain, the time when, is all that is doubtful? —A ſublime ſcene is riſing faſt upon the world, Great Britain in adverſity. This extraordinary nation, in whoſe hiſtory moments of error may appear, but not one of weakneſs: this old and faithful guardian of the liberties of Europe: this benefactreſs of nations is threatened to be deſtroyed!—But remember well, that that adverſity which would overthrow the whole ſyſtem of your proſpects, and diſlocate for ever your republics, is the element which nouriſhes her ſtrength and ſurvives her glory. The ſoul of Great Britain is a ſpirit of the deep, intrepid becauſe tired amidſt dangers, great becauſe accuſtomed to the dimenſions of the world. She moves forward under a combination of impulſes, which never favored any nation before. What ever of good belonged to the ancient Briton, the Saxon, or the French, has been united by fortuitous events; invigorated and chaſtened by a free, but corrective conſtitution, and preſerved by inſular limits. The people in the firſt fame by a thouſand titles accrued to them, long before this continent was diſcovered.—The courſe of the nation though often diſaſtrous has always been one of glory. Every period of it has yielded ſome new alliance to draw the people together; and whether proceeding from achievements of war, or the purſuits of peace; whether founded on the recollection of ſuch days as Agincourt or Blenheim, or of ſuch men as Newton or Locke; never had any nation before, independently of the power conferred by the incomparable excellence of all her inſtitutions, ſo many bonds of union. Her ſkill, her heroiſm and ſubſtance, have been perſeveringly employed in promoting the welfare, and elevating the dignity of all mankind; and for the ſervices of Howard and Jenner alone, the world owes her a debt that can never be redeemed. The moral ſtrength of ſuch a nation is infinite, and her ſubjugation, if ever poſſible, muſt be reached through a long and bloody avenue. A war with the United States will indeed increaſe her difficulties: but at the ſame time, that it will multiply the means to endure them, will add to the ſecurity by giving up the ocean excluſively to her flag. On the contrary ſuch a war may compromiſe the beſt intereſts of the United States. By taking advantage of the inſurrections and ſpirit of the Indians along your frontier; and of the diſpoſition your millions of blacks ſhew to terminate their bondage, incalculable evils may be inflicted on you, your flouriſhing foreign and domeſtic trade, would be replaced only, by the precarious gain of privateering. You would ceaſe to have a revenue from the cuſtoms or exciſe, & a land tax would be followed by rebellion. You might too, be diſappointed in your hopes in Canada. You think meanly, therefore wrongfully of the people, becauſe they do not paſs their time in harranguing at elections and town meetings. They are attached by habit, gratitude and good faith to the government, and under able conduct will moſt cruelly undeceive you as to their diſpoſition or ability to defend their King, their Country, and their Altars.

The ſiege of Tariffa is raiſed. The enemy moved off early in the morning of the 5th, leaving behind their heavy ordnance, ammunition, &c. as appears by the Official Return, a copy of which is ſubjoined. We congratulate the Inhabitants of this corner of Andaluſia upon this happy event, which will, for ſome time at leaſt, free them from the Enemy's preſence, and which affords a freſh proof that even the weakeſt points, when gallantly defended, can check the progreſs of the Invincibles, and be occaſion of their ſuſtaining very heavy loſſes. That, ſuffered by Leval's diviſion, in his fruitleſs and injurious attempts, both in killed, wounded, taken and diſabled by ſickneſs, may fairly be computed at 2,000 men, excluſive of the battering train, &c. while our own does not exceed in all, 200 men, moſt of whom are but ſlightly wounded. This plain ſtatement ſufficiently evinces the importance of the advantage obtained, and ſpeaks more loudly than any thing we could ſay ourſelves, in praiſe of the Superior Officer who planned the defence of Tariſa, and of the brave Troops which, with the aſſiſtance of the Navy, carried the plan into effect in ſo maſterly a ſtyle.

Two 8 inch howitzers	Brass—With travelling carriages comp.
Five 10 pounders
Two 12 ditto
Four Cars for conveying heavy Ord.
Twelve ammunition Waggons.
One Gin.
One Forge Cart.

Various other Carts, Limbers, ſpare carriages, ſeveral thouſand ſhells, round ſhot, caſe, grape, &c. for the above ordnance. Great quantities of powder, hand grenades, rockets, rope, iron, ſmall ſtores and implements of all deſcriptions. Alſo entrenching tools for 500 men.

P. J. HUGHES.

We ſtop the preſs to mention, that authentic intelligence has juſt been received from Denia, of the 3d of Jan. by which it appears, that Blake, with part of his army, had retreated to Valencia after the action of the 26th; that on the 28th, the enemy were repulſed in an attack on the town; that proviſions for one month had been thrown into the place, and great hopes were entertained that the enemy would be obliged to raiſe the ſiege, as Mina and el Empecinado were advancing againſt them, by the Segorbe road, and would act in conjunction with the army under General Freyre.

Ruſſia, Dec. 20, 1811.

OFFICIAL REPORT.

"The General in Chief of the Moldavian army, Count Golmeſtchy Kutuſow, reports, that the army of the Grand Viſier, having croſſed the left bank of the Danube on the 26th Nov. was ſurrounded, and the troops compelled to lay down their arms before the Ruſſian army. The whole of the Turkiſh army, including all their Officers and the Commander in Chief, Chaban Ouglow, a Baſhaw of Three Tails, ſurrendered priſoners of war, & with the magazines and the artillery, conſiſting of 56 pieces of cannon, are now in the poſſeſſion of the victorious Ruſſians. This army has, in various actions loſt, in killed and wounded, about 10,000 men. Previouſly to croſſing the Danube, the Turkiſh army conſiſted of 25,000 men, choſen troops, amongſt whom were all the Janiſſaries recently forwarded from Conſtantinople, to reinforce the army of the Grand Vizier."

CADIZ, Jan. 22.

The war in this country appears as if it might laſt many years—and the French are terribly harraſſed and diſtreſſed for want of proviſions, which ultimately will drive them away. The German and other foreign troops in their ſervice deſert continually. In the attack made on Tariffa the 5th inſt. moderately ſpeaking they loſt from 2 to 2500 men, independent of 12 pieces of cannon. The walls of the place are but three feet thick and the breach they made was 12 feet. In making the aſſault they had more than 500 killed, and were drove back, and began their retreat leaving their camp equippage, artillery, &c. behind them.

The Engliſh and Spaniſh troops amounted only to 2300. & the French beſieging army was 10,000 ſtrong, commanded by Gen. Laval. Their principal deſtruction was from 8 or 10 days heavy rain and cold winds, and no proper tents to withſtand ſuch weather. The roads became impaſſable, and they were literally periſhing with cold and hunger, not being able to get regular ſupplies. I think they have enough of it for ſome time to come.——That monſter Suchet, who murdered men, women and children in Tarragona, is now beſieging the city of Valencia—God ſend that he may not take it, for the ſake of its poor inhabitants."

LONDON, Jan. 22.

From the return of the preſent population of Great Britain, preſented to the Houſe of Commons, it exceeds 11,600,000. In January, 1801, the total was about ten millions.

Colonel Cavendiſh, the eldeſt ſon of Lord Geo. Henry Cavendiſh, and couſin to the preſent Duke of Devonſhire, was thrown out of his open carriage on Wedneſday laſt, in Holker park, Lancaſhire, and killed on the ſpot. He was about 28 years of age.

In the Houſe of Commons on the 17th inſt. the Houſe having gone into a committee of Supply, Mr. Yorke ſaid, that in the preſent circumſtances of the country it would not be expedient to reduce the number of ſeamen and he ſhould, therefore, propoſe that the ſame number ſhould be voted for this year as for the laſt, viz. 145,000 ſeamen, including 31,400 marines.

It is now aſcertained from a Daniſh newſpaper of the 31ſt Dec. that only five ſeamen and one marine, were ſaved from the Defence of 74 guns; and it is ſuppoſed the crew of the Saint George of 98 guns periſhed. Theſe two veſſels have loſt upwards of 1400 men.

NEW YORK, March 14.

Laſt evening arrived the ſhip Fanny, Capt. Burke, from Liſbon, which place he left on the 28th Jan. Capt. Burke confirms the account of the capture of Ciudad Rodrigo by the Engliſh on the evening of the 19th. As before ſtated, the attack was made on three points under Gener's Crawford, Pickton, and M'Kinnon. Gen. M'Kinnon was killed and Gen. Crawford dangerouſly wounded. On entering the fort the French ſprung a mine, which deſtroyed near 700 men. The French fought deſperately, and the ſlaughter was great, for every man in the forts was bayoneted or taken priſoners. About 1700 priſoners were ſent to Liſbon. The Engliſh loſs was about 1100 men. Lord Wellington's official account had not been received at Liſbon when the Fanny ſailed.

Waſhington City, March 7.

The Senate have refuſed to authoriſe the building of an additional number of frigates, and have reduced the appropriation made by the Houſe of Repreſentatives, for the repair of veſſels, to 300,000 dollars.

That body alſo reduced from one million to 500,000 dollars the appropriation for the protection of our maritime frontier; in which reduction the Houſe yeſterday concurred.

An article has appeared in the Norfolk Herald of the 28th inſt. purporting to give an explanation of a report which has been circulated of a diſpatch which came directed to the Britiſh miniſter, and was brought by the Macedonian frigate, having been opened, from which it would appear that no ſuch circumſtance had occurred. It is, however, rumored on good authority, that the Britiſh miniſter has actually made a complaint at the Department of State, not of one letter only, but of three; having ſtrong appearance to have been opened. Two of them coming from New York and the other from Norfolk.—Alex. Gaz.

QUEBEC, Saturday, Feb. 29.

This day Mr. Speaker, & the Houſe of Aſſembly went up to the Caſtle of St. Lewis with the following Addreſs, in anſwer to his Excellency's Speech at the opening of the Seſſion:

To his Excellency Sir George Prevoſt, Bart. Captain General and Governor in Chief in and over the Provinces of Upper and Lower Canada, New Brunſwick, Nova Scotia, and the Iſlands of Prince Edward and Cape Breton and their ſeveral Dependencies, Vice Admiral of the ſame, Lieutenant General and Commander of all his Majeſty's Forces in the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, Nova Scotia, and New Brunſwick, and in the Iſlands of Cape Breton, Newfoundland, and the Bermudas, &c. &c. &c.

May it pleaſe your Excellency,

WE his Majeſty's dutiful and loyal ſubjects, the Commons of Lower Canada, in Provincial Parliament aſſembled, beg leave to return your Excellency our humble thanks for your Speech, at the opening of the ſeſſion.

His Royal Highneſs the Prince Regent, having been moſt graciouſly pleaſed, on behalf, and in the name of his Majeſty, to appoint your Excellency Governor in Chief of the Britiſh American Provinces, is an additional mark of the paternal ſolicitude for the welfare of his Canadian ſubjects, which we have on all occaſions experienced, and for which we feel truly grateful; and your Excellency having haſtened to aſſume the Adminiſtration of this Province, without waiting the arrival of your commiſſion, calls forth our beſt thanks.

We ſincerely lament with your Excellency the continued ſufferings of our venerable and beloved Sovereign, and altho' we have felt no diminution of that anxious care which has ſo eminently diſtinguiſhed his long reign, our moſt ardent wiſhes would have been highly gratified, ſince the reins of government have paſſed into the hands of his Royal Highneſs the Prince Regent, by any favorable information upon the intereſting ſubject of his Majeſty's health.

We participate, with equal pride and ſatiſfaction, in the congratulation of your Excellency, on the brilliant atchievements which have taken place in the delivery of Portugal, and for the reſcue of Spain from the tyranny of the uſurper of his throne in France. We offer in humble thankfulneſs, to the great Sovereign of the univerſe, our grateful acknowledgements for theſe events, and for having permitted Britiſh valor to be the means of diſpenſing his benefits to thoſe unfortunate nations.

Amidſt the wondrous changes that mark the preſent age, we have viewed with awful anxiety, altho' remote ſpectators, the ſcenes of horror that deſolate Europe; and whilſt our mother country, ſo pre-eminently protected by nature, has had her political exiſtence involved in the fate of ſurrounding nations, we feel a proper ſenſe of gratitude for having been enabled, undiſturbed hitherto in the habitations of our fathers, to view, without alarm, the diſtant ſtorm, whoſe lowering aſpect ſeems now to threaten this peaceful and happy region.

Should the wiſe meaſures and magnanimous conduct of the Prince Regent, fail to operate a change in the unfriendly diſpoſition and hoſtile character of the Government of the United States, (enſible as we are that it will require no common energy to withſtand their effects and perform the important duties, which will devolve upon us, we confidently aſſure your Excellency, that in the loyalty, unanimity and zeal of his Majeſty's Canadian ſubjects, you will find reſources, under the protection of Divine Providence, fully adequate to the criſis.

We beſeech your Excellency to be perſuaded, that in viewing theſe circumſtances, we will uſe our utmoſt care and vigilance in ſecuring the Colony from open invaſion or inſidious aggreſſion: we will give our attention to thoſe acts which your Excellency ſuggeſts as eſſential to the preſervation of his Majeſty's Government, as by law happily eſtabliſhed in this Colony; and we will recommend to law happily eſtabliſhed in this Colony notwithſtanding the repugnance we might feel from an improper uſe of one of them, and the bad effects which might have reſulted therefrom, to his Majeſty's Government, had it not been for the unbroken fidelity of his Majeſty's loyal Canadian ſubjects, and their conviction of the goodneſs of his Majeſty's government, and the trifling inconveniencies which, from the common fate of human things, are inevitable: we can however aſſure your Excellency, that the confidence we place in your Excellency, diminiſhes conſiderably our fears of theſe which might hereafter be made of this Act. And your Excellency may be perſuaded, we ſhall regard it as a moſt fortunate opportunity, to manifeſt our attachment to his Majeſty's government, and our gratitude for the benefits we have experienced, by granting to his Majeſty, ſuch ſupplies as may be ſuited to the exigencies of the times, and as will enable his loyal Canadian ſubjects, to ſhow their zeal for his Majeſty, in repelling any ſudden attack made by a tumultuary force, and effectually to participate in the defence of their country, againſt a regular invaſion at any future period.

The amelioration of the internal communications throughout the Province, the increaſe of commerce, and the encouragement of agriculture, ſhall alſo meet our early and ſerious attention; and we ſhall endeavour to adopt ſuch meaſures as will convince the inhabitants of every part of the Province of our ſolicitude and that of the Government, for their comfort and welfare.

The ſtatement of the Provincial revenue of the Crown, and of the expenditure for the laſt twelve months, ſhall be duly attended to; and your Excellency may rely on ſuch liberal ſupplies as may be found requiſite to meet the preſſure of the times, and thoſe ſervices connected with the ſecurity of the Province.

The ſplendid political and exalted moral virtues exerciſed by our fellow ſubjects in Great Britain, and which have firmly ſecured the Empire againſt the machinations of our implacable foe, cannot but increaſe our diſpoſition to follow their example, by diſplaying our zeal and unanimity in ſupporting and ſtrengthening his Majeſty's Government at this eventful period, for the preſervation of that moſt excellent form of government conferred on us by a great, a free, and an enlightened people.

The circumſtances of the times impreſſingly call upon us to expreſs to your Excellency, our readineſs & that of our conſtituents, to meet whatever events may ariſe out of them, without fear of the reſult; and tho' we deprecate war with our neighbours, as an evil to be avoided, if practicable, with due regard to the honor and intereſt of the mother country; yet, on no other terms, have we the moſt diſtant wiſh that an accommodation ſhould take place.

To which his Excellency was pleaſed to make the following Reply:

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Aſſembly,

I return you my thanks for this loyal addreſs. Your expreſſions of attachment to his Majeſty's perſon and government, of gratitude to his Royal Highneſs the Prince Regent, and of zeal for the public ſervice, afford me the beſt hopes, that nothing will be wanting on your part, to co-operate in thoſe meaſures which ſhall deem neceſſary for the ſafety of this Province, and in my endeavors to ſecure the continuance of the peace and tranquility of its inhabitants.

I feel obliged to you for the aſſurance you have given me, of your attention to thoſe acts which I have conſidered to be eſſential for the preſervation of his Majeſty's government, as by law happily eſtabliſhed in this colony; at the ſame time, I cannot but regret, that, on this occaſion, you ſhould have thought it expedient to divert to any proceedings which have taken place under any one of thoſe acts; and I earneſtly recommend it you, as the moſt effectual means of enſuring tranquility to the Province, and of evincing your zeal for the public good, to direct your attention ſolely to the preſent ſituation of affairs; and I ſhall hope and expect from you, ſo much of your confidence as ſhall give firmneſs and effect to the legal adminiſtration of the Government, and thereby enable me to promote the welfare and proſperity of this country, and to maintain entire the rights, the honor, and dignity of his Majeſty's Crown. {Quebec Gazette.

ISAAC BROCK, Eſquire, Preſident, adminiſtering the Government of the Province of Upper-Canada, and Major General commanding His Majeſty's Forces within the ſame.

To all Perſons to whom theſe Preſents ſhall come——————GREETING.

WHEREAS it has been repreſented to me by the Indians reſiding at the Grand River, within this Province, in a Speech addreſſed in Public Council, to His Majeſty's Deputy Superintendant General of Indian Affairs, that many White People are ſettled on the Indian Land in the County of Haldimand, without due Authority, or Licence from any Governor, Lieutenant Governor, or Perſon adminiſtering the Government of this Province: And whereas by Law, all White Perſons are forbidden to eſtabliſh themſelves, or reſide in any Indian Village or Country within this Province, without ſuch Licence, under a Penalty for the firſt Offence, of Ten Pounds, and for the ſecond and every other ſubſequent offence, of Twenty Pounds—I have thought proper, by and with the advice of His Majeſty's Executive Council, for the affairs of this Province, to iſſue this Proclamation, to the intent that no perſon may pretend ignorance of the Law which ſubjects his contravention to ſuch penalties; and further to declare, that the Law will be henceforth rigidly enforced againſt all perſons who ſhall, after the publication hereof, continue to reſide in the Indian Villages and Countries within this Province without due Licence. And whereas it is further repreſented to me, that among the White People reſident upon the Indian Lands, there are divers to whom it may be expedient to grant Licences to remain, all perſons deſirous to obtain ſuch Licences, are hereby required to Report themſelves to the Houſe WILLIAM CLAUS, His Majeſty's Deputy Superintendant General of Indian Affairs, together with the circumſtances of time, place and condition of their reſpective reſidences.

GIVEN under my Hand and Seal at Arms, at York, in the Province of Upper Canada, this firſt day of February, in the Year of our Lord one thouſand eight hundred and twelve, and in the fifty ſecond year of His Majeſty's Reign.

It is hereby Notified, that any Perſon cutting Timber on our Crown Lands ungranted, or on our Crown and Clergy Reſerves, within our ſaid Province, is thereby guilty of a Miſdemeanor, which for the firſt offence ſubjects him to the forfeiture of Twenty Pounds of Lawful money of Great Britain, and on non-payment thereof, to Twelve Months Impriſonment, or until the penalty and charges ſhall be paid; and that any Perſon convicted of the like offence a ſecond time, is ſubjected to the forfeiture of Thirty Pounds of like Lawful money, and on non-payment thereof, to eighteen Months Impriſonment, or until the penalty and charges ſhall be paid; and that any Perſon convicted of the like offence a third time, ſhall be deemed guilty of Felony puniſhable by Tranſportation for ſeven years:—To the intent therefore, that our Woods in our Province aforeſaid, may be preſerved, and that ſuch offenders therein may be brought to puniſhment; We have thought fit by the advice of our Executive Council hereby to declare, that all Timber ſo cut without Licence ſhall be ſeized and ſold for the benefit of our Crown and Revenue, and all Perſons therein offending, ſhall be proſecuted with the utmoſt Rigour of the Law.

In Teſtimony whereof we have cauſed theſe our Letters to be made Patent and the Great Seal of Our ſaid Province to be thereunto affixed. NEW YORK, March 16.

French Privateers.—By the brig Joſeph Ricketſon, Capt. Holdridge, in 22 days from New Orleans, we learn, that in coming down the river, they met gun boat No. 5. with a French privateer in tow, a prize. There was found on board the privateer a quantity of flour barrels full of powder, &c. the privateer had ſailed from New Orleans a few days before her capture.

MONTREAL, March 7.

On Sunday evening laſt, arrived in this city, Mr. M'Nab, late chief officer at Surray one of the Hudſon Bay Factories, with three companions, after a moſt arduous journey of ſeventy-ſix days.—The travellers left Mooſe Fort Factory, Head of James Bay, on the 16th December, and proceeded by the way of Abbitibi to Miſcamaingue and Fort Coulonge, a long, dangerous, and moſt threſome route, never before attempted by any European. From the attention, politeneſs, and aid, which they experienced from Meſſrs. M'Dougal, M'Kay, and Godin, Agents to the N. W. Company at the above Forts, they were enabled to proceed with much additional comfort. Mr. M'Nab will ever hold in grateful remembrance the aſſiſtance he met with from the above gentlemen in the time of real need. The object of this journey is to inform the Hudſon's Bay Company, through the channel of the American ports, of the ſafety of their ſhip the Prince of Wales, which failed from Mooſe Roads on the tenth of October laſt for England; and after proceeding on her voyage for ſeveral days, was driven back by contrary winds, and dreadfully cold weather, attended with ſnow, which gave the ſhip almoſt the appearance of a pyramid of ice, and conſequently made her nearly ungovernable. But, however, from the attention and remarkable perſeverance of Captain Hanwell, and his crew, she was providentially conducted into Stratton's Sound, near the iſland where Capt. James wintered many years ago.

Francois Denaud, dit. Jeremie and Joſeph Finchly, indicted for an aſſault on Roderick Storrs with intent to murder—convicted of a common aſſault—judgement, Jeremie to pay a fine of fifty pounds, and Finchly a fine of ten pounds and ſtand committed till the fines are paid.

Jean Baptiſte le Blanc, indicted for grand larceny—convicted of ſtealing to the value of ten ſhillings—ſentenced to be confined in the houſe of correction and kept to hard labour for twelve months.

Duncan MacDougal convicted of privately ſtealing in a ſhop—judgement to be hanged on the firſt day of May next.

Stephen Trafk, convicted of horſe ſtealing—judgement, to be hanged on the firſt of May next.

From a London Paper.

The Comet has now nearly diſappeared from the naked eye, although aided by the telelcope, it is probable that we may be able to diſcern until towards the end of February next. It is the opinion of a French Aſtronomer that had its appearance been delayed about four or five months, its approximation to the earth would have been ſo near, that its apparent diameter would have been ten times greater than it was, and its ſurface, conſequently, one hundred times larger to the eye of a ſpectator on the earth. Its tail, in that caſe, would have been extended to the length of ninety degrees in the firmament, occupying little leſs when the Comet was ſet, than the whole ſpace, from the zenith to the verge of the ſenſible horizon. Imagination can ſcarcely add any thing to the terrific ſublime of ſuch a ſpectacle.

PHILADELPHIA, March 14.

The ſhip Magnet is below from Cadiz.—The day on which the failed, it was reported, that the French had evacuated Seville.—Off the coaſt was boarded by two Britiſh frigates, and treated politely.

Gale at Cadiz and Liſbon.—It appears from our Boſton ſhip news that there has been a very violent gale at Liſbon and Cadiz. It commenced the 1ſt of February and continued three days: ſeveral American veſſels ſuffered at Liſbon, and a Portuguese ſhip foundered at her anchors, and every ſoul on board periſhed. At Cadiz the ſtorm was more ſevere than at Liſbon; and it is ſaid that 100 ſail of veſſels, Engliſh and American, went on ſhore on the French ſide.

The very laſt ſailing ſhip Fair American, capt. Hobſon arrived at Boſton in 26 days from Cadiz, from whence ſhe ſailed on the 17th Jan.

By this arrival we have the moſt flattering news of the ſucceſs of the Allies againſt the French in that part of Spain.—It will be recollected by our readers, that the ſchooner Treaty, which arrived at Boſton ſome time ſince, from Algeziras, paſſed Tarifa on the 20th Dec. It appears, that this French force, after having bombarded the fortreſs for ſome days, ſucceeded in making ſeveral breaches, when they attempted to carry it by ſtorm.—In this attempt they were repulſed with conſiderable loſs, by the Britiſh garriſon, conſiſting of about 2000 men, under the command of col. Skerret. Several other unſucceſsful attempts were afterwards made to gain poſſeſſion of Tariffa, until about the 7th of January, when finding they could not accompliſh their object, and having ſuffered much from the inclemency of the weather, they ſtruck their tents and beat a retreat.—In this retreat they were purſued by the Britiſh garriſon, who attacked them—and fortunately at the ſame moment they were attacked in the rear by General Ballaſteros, with about 5000 Spaniſh troops, who had, by a circuitous route come upon them very unexpectedly, both to the Britiſh and French; in this critical ſituation the French were completely routed and defeated, with the loſs of all their baggage, artillery, &c.

We alſo learn by this arrival, that on the morning of her ſailing, news was received in Cadiz, that General H—l, with 13,000 men, was advancing upon Seville, and that he had approached very near to that place, which being garriſoned but by about 8000 men, it was expected he would be able to take it—in which caſe it was thought he would come down upon the rear of the French troops inveſting Cadiz, and it was very ſanguinely expected by the Spaniards, that they ſhould ſoon be able to wreſt that part of their country from the hands of their cruel invaders.

An Act for granting to his Majeſty a certain ſum of Money, further to encourage the Growth and Cultivation of Hemp in this Province, and for other purpoſes.

MOST GRACIOUS SOVEREIGN,

WHEREAS it would very much encourage and promote the cultivation of Hemp in this Province, if ſome further proviſion was made by the Legiſlature for the purchaſe thereof; to order therefore to make proviſion for ſo beneficial an object, as far as the preſent reſources of the Province will admit, We your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal ſubjects, the Commons of Upper Canada in Parliament aſſembled, do moſt humbly beſeech your Majeſty that it be enacted, and be it enacted by the King's moſt excellent Majeſty, by and with the advice and conſent of the Legiſlative Council and Aſſembly of the Province of Upper Canada, conſtituted and aſſembled by virtue of and under the authority of an Act paſſed in the Parliament of Great Britain, intituled, "An Act to repeal certain parts of an Act paſſed in the fourteenth year of his Majeſty's reign, intituled, "An Act for making more effectual proviſion for the government of the Province of Quebec in North America, and to make further proviſion for the government of the ſaid Province," and by the authority of the ſame, That from and out of any fund or funds now remaining, or which may hereafter come into the hands of the Receiver General, ariſing from and out of the rates and duties already raiſed, levied and collected, or which may hereafter be raiſed, levied and collected, to and for the uſes of this Province, there be granted to his Majeſty, his heirs and ſucceſſors, the ſum of one thouſand pounds, to be diſpoſed of, appropriated, and laid out as a public ſtock or capital, applicable to the purpoſe of purchaſing Hemp, the growth of this Province, and of diſcharging the expences incident to ſuch purchaſes, and the exportation and ſale thereof, in ſuch manner, and under ſuch regulations as the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, or Perſon adminiſtering the government of this Province ſhall direct.

II. And whereas there appears the ſum of four hundred and twenty three pounds eleven ſhillings, appropriated for the purchaſe of Hemp Seed, and for the payment of Bounties for the encouragement of the Growth and Cultivation of Hemp, remains unexpended, Be it therefore further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the ſaid ſum of four hundred and twenty three pounds eleven ſhillings, be applied to the purchaſe of Hemp, in conformity to an Act paſſed in the forty-eighth year of his Majeſty's reign, intituled, "An Act for the further encouragement of the growth and cultivation of Hemp in this Province, and for the exportation thereof."

III. And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That all ſums of money ariſing from the ſale of Hemp received, or to be hereafter received, by either the Receiver General of this Province, or any Commiſſioner or Commiſſioners appointed, or to be appointed to carry into execution the proviſions of the before mentioned Act of the forty eighth year of his Majeſty's reign, and alſo of an Act paſſed in the fifiteth year of his Majeſty's reign, intituled, "An Act to amend an Act paſſed in the forty-fourth year of his Majeſty's reign, intituled, "An Act for granting to his Majeſty a certain ſum of money for the further encouragement of the growth and cultivation of Hemp within this Province, and the exportation thereof," ſhall be expended in the future purchaſe of Hemp, agreeable to the proviſions of the ſaid Act.

IV. And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the money hereby granted to his Majeſty, ſhall be paid by the Receiver General in diſcharge of ſuch warrant or warrants as ſhall for the purpoſes herein ſet forth, be iſſued by the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, or Perſon adminiſtering the government of this Province, and the Receiver General ſhall account to his Majeſty, his heirs and ſucceſſors for the ſame, through the Lords Commiſſioners of his Majeſty's Treaſury for the time being, in ſuch manner and form as his Majeſty, his heirs or ſucceſſors ſhall be pleaſed to direct.

An Act to amend an Act paſſed in the forty-eighth year of his Majeſty's reign, intituled, "An Act to continue an Act paſſed in the forty fifth year of his Majeſty's reign, intituled, "An Act to afford Relief to the perſons who may be entitled to claim Lands in this Province, as heirs or deviſees of the nominees of the Crown, in caſes where no patent hath iſſued for ſuch lands, and further to extend the benefits of the ſaid Act," and to continue part of the ſame.

WHEREAS an Act paſſed in the forty-eighth year of his Majeſty's reign intituled, "An Act to continue an Act paſſed in the forty-fifth year of his Majeſty's reign, intituled, "An Act to afford relief to thoſe perſons who may be entitled to claim lands in this Province, as heirs or deviſees of the nominees of the Crown, in caſes where no patent hath iſſued for ſuch lands, and further to extend the benefits of the ſaid Act," will ſhortly expire, and it is expedient to amend the ſaid Act, and to continue part of the ſame, Be it therefore enacted by the King's moſt excellent Majeſty, by and with the advice and conſent of the Legiſlative Council and Aſſembly of the Province of Upper Canada, conſtituted and assembled by virtue of, and under the authority of an Act paſſed in the Parliament of Great Britain, intituled, "An Act to repeal certain parts of an Act paſſed in the fourteenth year of his Majeſty's reign, intituled, "An Act for making more effectual proviſion for the Government of the Province of Quebec in North America, and to make further proviſion for the Government of the ſaid Province," and by the authority of the ſame, That ſuch part of the ſaid Act paſſed in the forty-eighth year of his Majeſty's reign, as requires that the Commiſſioners therein mentioned, ſhall hold their ſittings at the Town of York twice in the year, ſhall be, and the ſame is hereby repealed.

II. And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That from and after the paſſing of this Act, the ſittings of the ſaid Commiſſioners ſhall be holden in this preſent year during the firſt ten days next ſucceeding the preſent Seſſion of the Legiſlature of this Province, and alſo during fifteen days, to commence on the firſt Monday of July next, and in each and every other year during the continuance of this Act, the ſaid Sittings of the Commiſſioners ſhall be holden at the ſaid Town of York, once in the year, to wit, during fifteen days to commence on the firſt Monday of July. Provided always nevertheleſs, That when the ſaid Commiſſioners ſhall have good reaſon to believe that there will not be ſufficient buſineſs to require their daily attendance throughout the term limited for their ſittings as laſt aforeſaid, they may be at liberty to adjourn for any time within the ſame, that may be conſiſtent with the diſpatch of ſuch buſineſs as may be brought before them.

III. And be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the ſaid Act of the forty eighth year of his Majeſty's reign, and every matter and thing therein contained, except ſuch part thereof as is hereby altered and amended, ſhall be and is hereby continued.

IV. And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That this Act ſhall be, and it is hereby declared to be in force for and during the ſpace of four years, and no longer.

An Act to amend an Act paſſed in the fiftieth year of his Majeſty's reign, intituled, "An Act to provide for laying out, amending and keeping in repair the Public Highways and Roads in this Province, and to repeal the Laws now in force for that purpoſe."

[Paſſed 6th of March, 1812.

WHEREAS by the eighth clauſe of an Act paſſed in the fiftieth year of his Majeſty's reign, intituled, "An Act to provide for the laying out, amending, and keeping in repair the Public Highways and Roads in this Province, and to repeal the Laws now in force for that purpoſe," it is provided, That all Surveyors of Highways, when employed to act as ſuch, ſhall be paid out of the Diſtrict Treaſury; and alſo by the fourth clauſe of the above recited Act, the Surveyors of Land, when directed by the Juſtices in Quarter Seſſions aſſembled, and employed to ſurvey any road or roads, are directed to be paid out of the Diſtrict Treaſury; and whereas it is found from experience, that many roads are unneceſſarily laid out, for remedy thereof, Be it enacted by the King's moſt excellent Majeſty, by and with the advice and conſent of the Legiſlative Council and Aſſembly of the Province of Upper Canada, conſtituted and aſſembled by virtue of, and under the authority of an Act paſſed in the Parliament of Great Britain, intituled, "An Act to repeal certain parts of an Act, paſſed in the fourteenth year of his Majeſty's reign, intituled, "An Act for making more effectual proviſion for the government of the Province of Quebec, in North America, and to make further proviſion for the government of the ſaid Province," and by the authority of the ſame, That when any roads ſhall be hereafter laid out under the authority of the above recited Act, that ſhall not be confirmed by the Juſtices in General Quarter Seſſions, then and in that caſe, the expence or charge of any Surveyor or Surveyors, at the rate and proportion as deſcribed in the above recited Act, ſhall be paid by the party applying for ſuch ſurvey, any law to the contrary notwithſtanding.

An Act further to continue an Act paſſed in the Thirty-third Year of his Majeſty's Reign, intituled, "An Act to provide for the Appointment of Returning Officers of the ſeveral Counties within this Province.

[Paſſed the 6th of March, 1812.]

WHEREAS an Act paſſed in the thirty-third year of his Majeſty's reign, intituled, "An Act to provide for the appointment of Returning Officers of the ſeveral Counties within this Province," which Act has ſince been continued by ſeveral Laws of this Province, which will ſhortly expire; and whereas it is neceſſary that the ſaid Act ſhould be continued, Be it enacted by the King's moſt excellent Majeſty, by and with the advice and conſent of the Legiſlative Council and Aſſembly of the Province of Upper Canada, conſtituted and aſſembled by virtue of, and under the authority of an Act paſſed in the Parliament of Great Britain, intituled, "An Act to repeal certain parts of an Act paſſed in the fourteenth year of his Majeſty's reign, intituled, "An Act for making more effectual proviſion for the Government of the Province of Quebec, in North America, and to make further proviſion for the government of the ſaid Province," and by the authority of the ſame, That the two firſt clauſes of the aforeſaid Act of the thirty-third year of his Majeſty's reign, and every part thereof, ſhall continue and be in force for and during the ſpace of four years, and from thence to the end of the then next enſuing Seſſion of the Provincial Parliament, and no longer.

DREADFUL RETRIBUTION.

The following inſtance of awful vengeance, will contribute to ſhow what Napoleon will have to encounter, and the determined reſolution he will have to ſubdue, before he can bring Spain into that abject ſubmiſſion in which he holds the reſt of continental Europe. I give it, in ſubſtance, from the mouth of a Spaniſh gentleman, and diſtinguiſhed character, who aſſiſted in performing the laſt ſad offices to the intrepid heroine.

When the town of Naval Cornero, about 35 miles ſouth of Madrid, was taken by the troops of the Imperial ſpoiler, among the horrid butcheries that ſucceeded, was the inhuman maſſacre of the father and mother of a lady, named Mariana Samaniego. Aftertahe tumult of blood and murder ſubſided, General Verlaſco, and ſix of his officers, entered the houſe of the above lady, and demanded refreſhment. Probably the reſolution firſt ſtruck her mind. In a ſhort time the meal was ready, and they prepared to eat—when one of the officers ſuggeſted the probability that it was poiſoned, (for ſometimes, when villages were deſerted, whole ſtores are poiſoned, and numbers killed by drinking,) but the firm and fearleſs Mariana, to avert ſuſpicion, offered to eat with them, and accordingly they ſat down together.

After the meal, Mariana ſaid to Velaſco—"You murdered my father, and in return I have deſtroyed you—in a ſhort time you will all be dead."—And, indeed, in a few hours they all expired; a dreadful ſacrifice to the manes of her parents and the freedom of her country. But to crown all, the intrepid Mariana ſoon fell dead among her lifeleſs forms.

While it is impoſſible to mourn for the fate of the miſcreants of Napoleon, we cannot but lament the deſtiny of the heroic maid, and heave a ſigh of regret that a country, once the greateſt in the world, ſhould become a prey to rapine, cruelty and blood. J. H.

WHEREAS it has been repreſented to me by the Indians reſiding at the Grand River, within this Province, in a Speech addreſſed in Public Council, to His Majeſty's Deputy Superintendant General of Indian Affairs, that many White People are ſettled on the Indian Land in the County of Haldimand, without due Authority, or Licence from any Governor, Lieutenant Governor, or Perſon adminiſtering the Government of this Province: And whereas by Law, all White Perſons are forbidden to eſtabliſh themſelves, or reſide in any Indian Village or Country within this Province, without ſuch Licence, under a Penalty for the firſt Offence, of Ten Pounds, and for the ſecond and every other ſubſequent offence, of Twenty Pounds—I have thought proper, by and with the advice of His Majeſty's Executive Council, for the affairs of this Province, to iſſue this Proclamation, to the intent that no perſon may pretend ignorance of the Law which ſubjects his contravention to ſuch penalties; and further to declare, that the ſame will be henceforth rigidly enforced againſt all perſons who ſhall, after the publication hereof, continue to reſide in the Indian Villages and Countries within this Province without due Licence. It is hereby Notified, that any Perſon cutting Timber on our Crown Lands ungranted, or on our Crown and Clergy Reſerves, within our ſaid Province, is thereby guilty of a Miſdemeanor, which for the firſt offence ſubjects him to the forfeiture of Twenty Pounds of Lawful money of Great Britain, and on non-payment thereof, to Twelve Months Impriſonment, or until the penalty and charges ſhall be paid; and that any Perſon convicted of the like offence a ſecond time, is ſubjected to the forfeiture of Thirty Pounds of like Lawful money, and on non-payment thereof, to eighteen Months Impriſonment, or until the penalty and charges ſhall be paid; and that any Perſon convicted of the like offence a third time, ſhall be deemed guilty of Felony puniſhable by Tranſportation for ſeven years:—To the intent therefore, that our Woods in our Province aforeſaid, may be preſerved, and that ſuch offenders thereby may be brought to puniſhment; We have thought fit by the advice of our Executive Council hereby to declare, that all Timber ſo cut without Licence ſhall be ſeized and ſold for the benefit of our Crown and Revenue, and all Perſons therein offending, ſhall be proſecuted with the utmoſt Rigour of the Law.

Lateſt Intelligence.

LONDON, January 21.

The greateſt activity prevails at the reſpective dock-yards at preſent. Many new line of battle ſhips are ordered to be built; others in a great ſtate of forwardneſs completed; and no captain is allowed leave of abſence from his ſhip for more than a week.

It is expected that the line of battle ſhips at Portſmouth, will be ordered to take a reinforcement of troops to Portugal. They are fitting for ſea with more than ordinary celerity. Several tranſports are going to the Mediterranean with the Furieuſe, laden with ordnance ſtores of every deſcription; among which is 20,000 ſtand of arms, 10,000 ſabres, 1000 barrels of powder and a great quantity of ball cartridge, form a part. The tranſports go direct to Minorca. The arms, it is underſtood, are intended for a legion of Greeks, which is raiſing in the Ionian Iſle, and for the Spaniards in Catalonia.

January 22.

The Daſher arrived yeſterday at Portſmouth from Batavia, in three months, with diſpatches relative to the complete reduction of Java.

The debate of laſt night has not left us room to inſert the whole of the Extraordinary Gazette. The moſt material accounts are comprized in Sir Samuel Auchmuty's diſpatch, which we have given entire. The naval letters relate to the capture of different forts and ports in the iſland. All the operations, military and naval, were conducted with admirable ſkill, ſteadineſs and deciſion.

January 27.

Upon the authenticity of the following moſt important intelligence tho' not mentioned in the London papers, the public may confidently rely: His Holineſs the Pope, having complied with the wiſhes of Bonaparte, by nominating to the vacant Biſhopricks in France and its dependencies, has been freed from all reſtraints, and granted a palace at Parma in Italy.

French papers were received on Saturday to the 13th inſtant, which contained nothing very new or important. The conſcripts, and the troops of the Rhenish Confederation, deſerted in ſuch numbers, on their way to join the French armies in Spain, that ſpecial orders were given to the Prefects, Mayors and other civil officers, to patrole all the roads, and apprehend every ſuſpicious perſon. Civil officers neglecting theſe orders, were threatened with heavy penalties and removal. Some idea of the hatred of a military life, particularly the ſervice in Spain, may be formed from theſe orders, which ſtate, that the deſerters travelled in companies of from ſix to fifteen; that they publicly entered the towns, and, ſecure in their numbers, defied apprehenſion.

The Imperieuſe frigate, Captain Duncan, has captured in a moſt gallant manner, in the Mediterranean, ten French feluccas moored under a ſtrong battery, and protected by a conſiderable body of infantry, with the loſs only of one man killed and four wounded.

ANOTHER MESSAGE.

A meſſage was received from the President, communicating the following letter from Mr. Foſter to the Secretary of State.

The underſigned, his Britannic Majeſty's Envoy Extraordinary and Miniſter Plenipotentiary to the United States, has read in the public papers of this city, with the deepeſt concern, the meſſage ſent by the President of the U. States to Congress, on the 9th inſtant, and the documents which accompanied it.

In the utter ignorance of the underſigned as to all the circumſtances alluded to in thoſe documents, he can only diſclaim moſt ſolemnly, on his own part, the having had any knowledge whatever of the exiſtence of ſuch a miſſion or of ſuch a tranſaction as the communication of Mr. Henry refers to; and expreſs his conviction, that from what he knows of thoſe branches of his Majeſty's government with which he is in the habit of having intercourſe, no countenance whatever was given by them to any ſchemes hoſtile to the internal tranquility of the United States.

The underſigned, however, cannot but truſt, that the American government and the Congreſs of the United States, will take into conſideration the character of the individual who has made the communication in queſtion, and will ſuſpend any further judgment on its merits until the circumſtances ſhall have been made known to his Majeſty's government.

The underſigned requeſts the Secretary of State to accept the aſſurance of the higheſt conſideration.

Capt. Robinſon, of the ſhip Erie arrived yeſterday, in 30 days from Liſbon, and brought London papers to the 31ſt January, 12 days later than before received. From theſe papers the editors of the N. York Gazette have given the extracts below.

The capture of Rodrigo, as well as that of Valencia by the French, are officially detailed in the Liſbon Gazette, which we ſhall give as ſoon as tranſlated.

Capt. S. confirms the news of the gale of the 1ſt of February, and adds, that Ad. Berkely continued all in his power to aſſiſt and relieve American veſſels.

A letter from Liſbon, of the 9th ult. informs us, that ſince the fall of Ciudad Rodrigo, Lord Wellington's diviſion of the combined army, had gone into cantonments which, however, was ſaid to be only for a ſhort time.

"I am ſorry to find that we have the appearance of an Indian war on the Miſſiſſippi. I have juſt received information from Fort Madiſon that a party of Indians, ſuppoſed to be the Puoris (Winnebagoes) and ſome of thoſe that eſcaped from the battle of Tippacanoe, had killed a family of Americans about 100 miles below Fort Madiſon by the name of Neil, and declare that they will deſtroy every American they meet with.

"A Scotch Prize" has long been proverbial. The ſame idea may be better expreſſed hereafter an Iriſh Prize, ſince Mr. Madiſon has caught Henry; a prize that has blown him up.

Democratick Preſidents do their utmoſt to degrade our navy. A frigate was ordered by Jefferſon to bring that ſcape gallows, Thomas Paine, from France to America—and the Hornet has been employed by Madiſon to tranſport the double traitor Henry from America to France.

Jamaica papers, received at Naſſau, N. Capt. Williamſon, of the China Packet, failed from Gibraltar the 8th of Feb. He informs that nothing intereſting or important had occurred between the armies in that quarter. It was reported that a diviſion of Ballaſteros's forces had cut off and captured a diviſion of French including a colonel.

Flambro' Eaſt, April 14, 1812.

From the Liſbon Gazette of January 29.

Extract of two despatches from his Excellency Lord Wellington, Count of Vimeiro, addressed to his Excellency Don Miguel Pereira Forjaz, from his Headquarters at Gallegos, dated on the 20th and 21ſt of Jan. 1812.

Moſt illuſtrious and Excellent Sir,

I informed your Excellency in my despatch of the 9th of this month, that I had attacked the place of Ciudad Rodrigo, and on the 15th, I announced the progreſs of the operations up to that day. I have now the pleaſure of acquainting your Excellency, that we took the place by aſſault laſt evening.

We continued employed from the 15th to the 19th, in completing the ſecond parallel and the communications with it, and in ſapping nearly as far as the creſt of the Glacis. In the night of the 15th, we alſo advanced a breach of a mine from the left of the firſt parallel to the declivity of the height in the direction of the convent of St. Francisco, taking a poſition from which the walls of the *fauſſe-braye of the place were viſible, and in which point a battery of 7 pieces was conſtructed and finiſhed, ſo as to open on the morning of the 18th.

The batteries of the firſt parallel continuing at the ſame time their fire, had not only occaſioned great damage to the works, but had alſo opened breaches in the walls, which breaches were conſidered practicable; and the battery on the declivity of the height, which was begun on the 15th, and opened its fire on the morning of the 18th, likewiſe ſucceeded in opening another breach more to the left, and in front of the ſuburb of San Francisco. I conſequently determined to aſſault the place, although the approaches had not yet reached the creſt of the glacis, and the counter ſcarp of the ditch was untouched.

In conformity to my determination the attack was made yeſterday evening in 5 different columns, compoſed of the troops of the 3d and light diviſions, and of the Brigade under the command of Brigadier General Pack. The two columns of the right were led by Lieutenant Col. O'Toole of the 2d Portuguese Chaſſeurs, and Major Riege of the 5th Regiment—it being the object of theſe two columns to protect the march of Major General Mackinnon, whoſe brigade formed the third column, and proceeded to the breach made in the wall of the fauſſe-braye—theſe three columns were compoſed of the troops of the 3d diviſion, and were all commanded by Lieut. General Picton.

The 4th column compoſed of the 43d and 52d Regiments, and part of the 95th, all belonging to the light diviſion under the orders of Major Gen. Crawford, attacked on the left in front of the ſuburb of San Francisco, covering at the ſame time the left of the attack, that the 3d diviſion was making at the principal breach.

The 5th column, compoſed of General Pack's brigade made a falſe attack upon the ſouth front of the place—Beſides theſe 5 columns the 94th Regiment, belonging to the 3d diviſion, proceeded along the ditch in two columns upon the right of Major Gen. Mackinnon's brigade, for the purpoſe of protecting the deſcent of that corps to the ditch, its attack upon the breach of the fauſſe-braye, and facilitating the deſtruction of the obſtacles, which it was ſuppoſed the enemy might oppoſe to its progreſs.

All theſe attacks were made with ſucceſs, and Brigadier Gen. Pack, exceeded my hopes, by converting his falſe attack into a real one: and his advanced guard, under the command of Major Linch, having purſued the enemy's troops that garriſoned the exterior works as far as the fauſſe braye, made priſoners of all who oppoſed it.

Major Riege of the 2d battalion of the 5th regiment, after ſcaling the wall of the fauſſe-braye aſſaulted the main wall at the principal breach, in conjuction with the 24th regiment, commanded by Lt. Col. Campbell which had marched along the ditch at the ſame time, and had mounted by the breach of the fauſſe braye, both entering before the brigade of Maj. Gen. Mac-Kinnon. Theſe two regiments not only covered effectually the march of Maj. Gen. Mac Kinnon's brigade from the trenches by their firſt movements and operations, but alſo preceded it in the attack.

Major Gen. Crawford and Maj. General Vandaleur with the troops of the light diviſion on the left were alſo conſiderably advanced, and in leſs than half an hour after the commencement of the attack, our troops had poſſeſsed themselves of the walls of the place, and formed on the platform, which obliged the enemy to ſurrender; having ſuffered great loſs during the conflict.

I am very ſorry to have to add that our loſs has been great, particularly in officers of the firſt rank and eſtimation in the army. Major Gen. M'Kinnon after having bravely mounted the breach, was unfortunately killed by the explosion of a powder magazine that the enemy had near it, and after having in the moſt ſkilful manner led the troops under his command. Maj. Gen. Crawford, alſo received a ſevere wound when he was leading to the aſſault the light diviſion, and I fear that I ſhall be for ſome time deprived of his ſervices. Maj. Gen. Vandaleur was likewiſe wounded, but not ſo ſeverely, and was able to continue in the field until the end of the action.

I have alſo to add Lieut. Col. Cockburn of the 52d regiment, and Maj. George Napier, who commanded the detachment of the light diviſion deſtined to mount firſt the breach, and was wounded at the top of it.

I have much ſatisfaction in informing your Excellency how general has been the good conduct, valour, patience and perſeverance in great toils, exhibited by the generals, officers and troops of the 1ſt, 2d, 3d, 4th and light diviſions, and General Pack's brigade, who formed the ſiege, and diſtinguiſhed themselves in the operations of it.

Lieut. Gen. Graham has aided me in the direction of the details relating to the ſiege, beſides doing the duty of General Commandant of the ſecond diviſion, and I am much indebted to him for his advice and co-operation in bringing this enterpriſe to a happy concluſion.

The conduct of all who compoſed the 3d diviſion, in the operations which they executed with ſo much gallantry and exactneſs on the 19th, after dark, viſibly displayed the talents and knowledge of Lieut. Gen. Picton and Major Gen. M'Kinnon, who directed the ſaid operations, and led the troops engaged in them; but I beg your Excellency to permit me to call your attention particularly to the conduct of Lieut. Col. O'Toole, of the 2d regiment of chaſſeurs; of Major Riege of the 2d battalion of the 5th regiment; of Lieut. Col. Campbell of the 94th regiment; of Major Marners of the 74th; and of Major Grav of the 2d battalion of the 5th regiment of infantry, who was twice wounded during the ſiege.

I ſhould do injuſtice to the 3d diviſion, if I were to omit ſtating that the ſoldier who were employed in ſapping, belonging to the 45th 74th, and 88th regiments, who were commanded by the Captain of Engineers Maclean, Captain Thompſon of the 74th, and Lieuts. Beresford of the 88th, and Macleod of the 44th, diſtinguiſhed themselves as much in the aſſault of the place, as in the painful labors which they performed during the whole period of the ſiege.

I have already expreſſed to your Excellency in my despatch of the 9th inſt. my ſenſe of the meritorious conduct of Maj. Gen. Crawford, of Lieut. Col. Cockburn, and of the troops of the light diviſion in the aſſault of the redoubt of San Francisco, which took place on the evening of the 8th of this month. The conduct of theſe troops has been uniformly diſtinguiſhed, as well on that occaſion, as in the aſſault of the place, and in the courſe of the ſiege. There is nothing to which I can compare the gallantry with which the brave officers and troops of the light diviſion marched, and performed the difficult operations that were aſſigned to them, notwithſtanding that their officers and leaders were killed or wounded.

Allow me to call your Excellency's particular attention to the conduct of Major Gen. Crawford, of Major Gen. Vandaleur, of Lieut. Col. Barnard of the 95th regt. of Lt. Col. Cockburn, of Major Napier and Gibbles of the 52d, and of Lieut. Col. Maclene of the 43d.

The conduct of Capt. Dalley of the 43d, and of Lieut. Curwood of the 52d, who was wounded, have alſo been particularly commended to me.

Lieut. Col. Elder and the 3d chaſſeurs likewiſe diſtinguiſhed themſelves on this occaſion.

The 15th and 16th Portuguese regiments commanded by Colonels Hill and Campbell, which compoſe the brigade of Gen. Pack, alſo diſtinguiſhed themſelves, and that general particularly commends Major Linch.

In my diſpatch of the 15th I acquainted your Excellency of the attack upon the convent of Santa Cruz by the troops of the firſt diviſion, under the command of lieut. gen. Graham; and of the attack upon the convent of San Francisco on the 14th inſt. conducted by major gen. the hon. C. Colville.

The former enterprize was executed by capt. Larroche Stackenfels of the 1ſt battalion of the line of the Royal German Legion, and the latter by lieut. col. Harcourt, with the 40th regt. that regiment remained from that time in the ſuburb of San Francisco, and contributed eſſentially to the aſſault that was made upon the place on that ſide.

Altho' it did not fall to the lot of the 1ſt and 4th diviſions to finiſh theſe operations, they however diſtinguiſhed themſelves during the progreſs of the ſiege, by the patience and perſeverance with which they performed the neceſſary labors of it. The brigade or Royal Guards commanded by major general H. Campbell, has particularly diſtinguiſhed itſelf in that branch of the ſervice.

The engineer in chief, lieut. col. Fletcher, the major of brigade, Jones, and the officers and ſoldiers of the royal corps of engineers, have equally diſtinguiſhed themſelves—the ſkill with which thoſe officers directed the operations of the ſiege is beyond all praiſe, and I pray your excellency to allow me alſo to call your attention to them.

Major Dickſon of the royal corps of Britiſh artillery, and now added to the Portugueſe, who for ſome time paſt has had the charge of the train of battering artillery belonging to this army, has directed the intricate details of the laſt operations, with the ſame knowledge and ſkill, that he diſplayed in the two ſieges of Badajoz, and has in a high degree merited my approbation.—The rapid effects produced by the fire of our batteries, are a ſufficient eulogium upon the officers, both of the Britiſh and Portugueſe artillery employed on this occaſion. I muſt notwithſtanding, make particular mention of the major of brigade May, Lakytem, Holcombe, Dynely, and Dundas, of the Britiſh artillery—and the captains Colta, Cunha, and lieut. Silva of the 1ſt regiment of the Portugueſe.

I muſt alſo very particularly call the attention of your Excellency to the conduct of major Singeon of the corps of artificers: That officer conſtructed and threw over the Agueda a bridge, without which the enterprize could not have been attempted; beſides that ſervice, he rendered important aſſiſtance to Lieut. Gen. Graham, and to myſelf, in our reconnoitering the place, preparatory to forming the plan of the attack—and laſtly, he guided the 2nd battalion of the 5th regt. and the 2nd regt. of Portugueſe chaſſeurs to the point of attack at the aſſault.

The adjutant general, and the deputy quarter maſter general, with the officers of all the reſpective departments, have given me every kind of co-operation in this ſervice and the officers of my ſtaff have done the ſame; and I have much ſatisfaction in adding, that notwithſtanding the ſeaſon of the year and the increaſe of the difficulties in providing the troops with proviſions, the whole army has been well provided, and all the branches of that ſervice well attended to, by the indefatigable efforts of commiſſary gen. Biſſet, and the officers of his department.

Field Marſhal Don Carlos de Eſpana, and Don Julian Sanches obſerved the movements of the enemy upon the Tormes during the operations of the ſiege, and I am much obliged to thoſe officers, and in general to the inhabitants of Caſtile for the aſſiſtance that they have afforded me. The ſaid inhabitants have invariably manifeſted their hatred of French tyranny, and their deſire of contributing by all poſſible means to deſtroy it.

At another opportunity I ſhall tranſmit to your Excellency a detailed account of the effects that we found in the place; but I believe there will be found 153 pieces, including the battering train of the French army, and a great quantity of ammunition.

We have taken priſoners the governor, general Barrier, with about 78 officers and 1700 ſoldiers.

God preſerve your Excellency many years.—Head Quarters at Gallege, 20th Jan. 1812.

The loſs of the allied army, from the 16th to the 19th, was, Portugueſe killed, wounded and miſſing, 118—Engliſh do. 631.

In the town of Rodrigo the Engliſh found an immenſe quantity of military ſtores, and 153 pieces of artillery.]

ISAAC BROCK, Eſquire, Preſident, adminiſtering the Government of the Province of Upper-Canada, and Major General commanding His Majeſty's Forces within the ſame.

To all Perſons to whom theſe Preſents ſhall come——GREETING.

WHEREAS it has been repreſented to me by the Indians reſiding at the Grand River, within this Province, in a Speech addreſſed in Public Council, to His Majeſty's Deputy Superintendant General of Indian Affairs, that many White People are ſettled on the Indian Land in the County of Haldimand, without due Authority, or Licence from any Governor, Lieutenant Governor, or Perſon adminiſtering the Government of this Province: And whereas by Law, all White Perſons are forbidden to eſtabliſh themſelves, or reſide in any Indian Village or Country within this Province, without ſuch Licence, under a Penalty for the firſt Offence, of Ten Pounds, and for the ſecond and every other ſubſequent offence, of Twenty Pounds——I have thought proper, by and with the advice of His

in general to the inhabitants of Caſtile for the aſſiſtance that they have afforded me. The ſaid inhabitants have invariably manifeſted their hatred of French tyranny, and their deſire of contributing by all poſſible means to deſtroy it.

At another opportunity I ſhall tranſmit to your Excellency a detailed account of the effects that we found in the place; but I believe there will be found 153 pieces, including the battering train of the French army, and a great quantity of ammunition.

We have taken priſoners the governor, general Barrier, with about 78 officers and 1700 ſoldiers.

God preſerve your Excellency many years.—Head Quarters at Gallege, 20th Jan. 1812.

The loſs of the allied army, from the 16th to the 19th, was, Portugueſe killed, wounded and miſſing, 118—Engliſh do. 631.

President's Office, York, 24th March, 1812.

ISAAC BROCK, Eſquire, Preſident, adminiſtering the Government of the Province of Upper-Canada, and Major General commanding His Majeſty's Forces within the ſame.

To all Perſons to whom theſe Preſents ſhall come——GREETING.

WHEREAS it has been repreſented to me by the Indians reſiding at the Grand River, within this Province, in a Speech addreſſed in Public Council, to His Majeſty's Deputy Superintendant General of Indian Affairs, that many White People are ſettled on the Indian Land in the County of Haldimand, without due Authority, or Licence from any Governor, Lieutenant Governor, or Perſon adminiſtering the Government of this Province: And whereas by Law, all White Perſons are forbidden to eſtabliſh themſelves, or reſide in any Indian Village or Country within this Province, without ſuch Licence, under a Penalty for the firſt Offence, of Ten Pounds, and for the ſecond and every other ſubſequent offence, of Twenty Pounds——I have thought proper, by and with the advice of His Majesty's Executive Council, for the affairs of this Province, to iſſue this Proclamation, to the intent that no perſon may pretend ignorance of the Law which ſubjects his contravention to ſuch penalties; and further to declate, that the Law will be henceforth rigidly enforced againſt all perſons who ſhall, after the publication here of, continue to reſide in the Indian Villages and Countries within this Province without due Liceace. And whereas it is further reprefented to me that among the White People reſident upon the Indian Lands, there are divers to whom it may be expedient to grant Licences to remain, all perſons deſirous to obtain ſuch Licences, are hereby required to Report themſelves to the Hon'ble WILLIAM CLAUS His Majeſty's Deputy Superintendant General of Indian Affairs, together with the circumſtances of time, place and condition of their reſpective reſidences.

GIVEN under my Hand and Seal a Arms, at York, in the Province of Upper Canada, this firſt day of February, in the Year of our Lord one thouſand eight hundred and twelve, and in the fifty ſecond year of His Majeſty's Reign.

By His Honor's Command,
WILLIAM JARVIS, Secretary.

Extract of an Ordinance paſſed by the Governor and Legiſlative Council of the Province of Quebec, in the year 1777, intituled, "An Ordinance to prevent the ſelling of ſtrong Liquors to Indians in the Province of Quebec, as alſo to deter Perſons from buying their Arms or Cloathing, and for other purpoſes relative to the Trade and Intercourſe with the ſaid Indians."

III. Provided always that ſuch informations ſhall be brought within ſix calendar months from the time that the offence ſhall have been committed, and not after.

PROCLAMATION

FRANCIS GORE, Lieut. Governor.

George the Third by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland King, Defender of the Faith.

WHEREAS Information has been received, that ſundry Perſons have entered our Woods within our Province of Upper Canada, with intent, in defiance of the Law, to cut down Timber Trees, not being Specially Licenced thereunto by authority derived under our Privy Seal, or that of our Lieutenant Governor of our ſaid Province. It is hereby Notified, that any Perſon cutting Timber on our Crown Lands ungranted, or on our Crown and Clergy Reſerves, within our ſaid Province, is thereby guilty of a Miſdemeanor, which for the firſt offence ſubjects him to the forfeiture of Twenty Pounds of Lawful money of Great Britain, and on non-payment thereof, to Twelve Months Imprifonment, or until the penalty and charges ſhall be paid; and that any Perſon convicted of the like offence a ſecond time, is ſubjected to the forfeiture of Thirty Pounds of like Lawful money, and on non-payment thereof, to eighteen Months Imprifonment, or until the penalty and charges ſhall be paid; and that any Perſon convicted of the like offence a third time, ſhall be deemed guilty of Felony puniſhable by Tranſportation for ſeven years:—To the intent therefore, that our Woods in our Province aforeſaid, may be preſerved, and that ſuch offenders thereon may be brought to puniſhment; We have thought fit by the advice of our Executive Council hereby to declare, that all Timber ſo cut without Licence ſhall be ſeized and ſold for the benefit of our Crown and Revenue, and all Perſons therein offending, ſhall be proſecuted with the utmoſt Rigourof the Law.

In Teſtimony whereof we have cauſed theſe our Letters to be made Patent and the Great Seal of Our ſaid Province to be thereunto affixed. Witneſs our Truſty and well beloved FRANCIS GORE, Eſquire, Our Lieutenant Governor of our ſaid Province of Upper Canada, this 29th day of December, in the year of our Lord One Thouſand Eight Hundred and nine, and in the Fiftieth year of our Reign. F. G.

By His Excellency's Command,
WM. JARVIS, Sec'y.

Lateſt Intelligence.

LONDON, Feb. 11.

The ſeizure of Swediſh Pomerania by Bonaparte ſeems to be part of a plan for appropriating to himſelf all the Southern coaſt of the Baltic to Dantzic, Koningsburg and Memel. On almoſt every ſide Pruſſia is ſurrounded by hoſtile powers, which breaking in will overwhelm her. Bonaparte no doubt has it in contemplation to ſeize her territories, and to cloſe at once upon Ruſſia. His preparations againſt the latter power have been carrying on actively, but ſilently—and troops have been marching for ſome time towards the Polith frontier and the eaſtern confines of Hungary. From the former it is underſtood he will make a direct attack upon Ruſſia, while from the latter he will endeavor to cut off the return of the Ruſſian army employed againſt Turkey. He has about 100,000 men in Dantzic and on the Viſtula, and about a third of that number on the confines of Hungary. His preparations, if we may believe private letters from Paris, are nearly complete; for they ſtate that orders have been given at the Public Offices ſo to arrange the public buſineſs that his preſence may no longer neceſſary at Paris after the concluſion of the preſent month.

The French troops have been withdrawn from the Elbe, the Weſer, and the adjacent rivers, and have all taken the direction of Poland. The ſeizure of Swediſh Pomerania will of course tend to increase the diſſatisfaction of the Swedes againſt Bonaparte, and their diſpoſition to be upon friendly terms with us.—And even the King of Denmark is ſtated to have evinced a more favorable diſpoſition towards us.

In the ſeizure of Pomerania he may read the fate that awaits him—Neither ſervices nor forbearance conciliate Bonaparte—His ambition has no heart, and he will fall upon Denmark with as little remorſe as he committed that infamous treachery againſt Spain. Whether an union between the three Northern Powers is likely, or whether they could oppoſe a ſucceſsful reſiſtance to the tyrant, we preſume not to decide. The iſſue of former coalitions would ſeem to check the indulgence of very confident expectations—but there is one circumſtance which muſt ſtill be taken into the account—Spain has ſhewn what a people can effect, and has taught all other nations a leſſon which they can hardly fail to profit by. It was impoſſible for a nation to be invaded under circumſtances more favorable to an invader, yet the is ſtill unſubdued. And it is in Spain and Portugal that the boaſted invincibility of his armies has been deſtroyed, and his Generals proved to be inferior to the Britiſh by whom they have been beaten in every encounter. There is another fact too, which cannot be denied—Ruſſia and Denmark will not be ſuffered to remain independent. The moſt pacific demeanour will not conciliate BONAPARTE. Their independance is hoſtile to his political ſyſtem. He will not permit them to remain at peace unleſs they are as much the creatures of his will as Auſtria, Bavaria or Wirtemberg or any of the Prefectures into which Germany is divided. They could not be reduced to a meaner condition by the moſt unſucceſsful war, than they muſt be by remaining at peace. Yet, if they fell by war, their fall would have ſome dignity in it—they would at leaſt be able to ſay that they had not deſerved their fate.

February 6.

Yeſterday being the day appointed for a general Faſt, the ſame was obſerved with all due ſolemnity. The ſhops were all cloſed, and the churches all open, moſt of them well attended. Both Houſes of Parliament attended divine worſhip as usual, as did ſeveral volunteer corps in different parts of the Metropolis.

February 10.

It is reported that his Majeſty's Miniſters have received information that Bonaparte intends to ſend the Scheldt fleet to ſea, half manned, with orders to run for America, where, if the war party ſucceed to the extent of their views, they are to be fully manned with American ſeamen. We do not, however, attach much credit to this report.

February 13.

We learn, by a letter received by a Daniſh merchant, now in Leith, that the King of Denmark has prohibited French privateers from bringing their prizes into his ports. A French privateer which attempted to bring in an American her prize, was fired upon by a fort in Jutland.

February 14.

We learn from a ſource that cannot be queſtioned, that Joel Barlow, the American Miniſter at Paris, is attempting to negociate a loan in Holland for the uſe of his government, and it is expected he will ſucceed.

Captain Arthur Batt Bingham, who commanded the Little Belt at the time of her engagement with the American frigate President, has been promoted to the rank of Poſt Captain within theſe few days.

February 17.

The city of Balleen, ſituated on the ſouthern coaſt of Pegu, and one of the principal cities of the Burmah Empire, has been deſtroyed by fire. Some thouſands of the inhabitants periſhed in the flames. This is the ſecond calamity of the ſame deſcription which has, within the ſpace of a few months, viſited that wretched country.

February 20.

In the capitulation of Valencia it had been ſtipulated that "no inquiry, with reſpect to the paſt, ſhould be made into the conduct of thoſe who had taken an active part in the war or revolution."—No ſooner, however, had he got poſſeſſion of the place, than he ordered all the Chiefs of the inſurgents, and thoſe who had been particularly connected with the Britiſh Conſul, Mr. Tupper, to be hanged.

February 22.

In addition to other rumours circulated, of a pacific tendency, it was yeſterday rumoured in the city, that the Earl of Chicheſter is going out on a ſecret miſſion to Paris We have not been able to aſcertain the ſource of this rumour.

A letter from Lisbon, dated Feb. 1, ſays,—"The only part of General Mackinnon which has been found, is one leg, which was recognized by having on the boot a particular kind of ſpur, which he wore."

February 28.

The late accounts from Liſbon ſtated, that both Marmont and Lord Wellington were moving towards the Alentego. Lord Wellington is determined to attack Badajoz which would inevitably bring on a general action.

Some accounts would have us believe, that Marmont is making a move towards Placentia with a view to interrupt us in the ſiege of Badajoz; but that place will not, we underſtand, be beſieged immediately. The next news of importance we ſhall receive, will moſt probably be from General Hill, to whom an expedition of importance is underſtood to have been entruſted. At preſent we cannot ſpeak more fully upon it.—

The commander of the Britiſh Baltic fleet notified to the government of Sweden, that the veſſels of that nation paſſing from Swediſh ports to the ports of Pomerania, ſhould not be moleſted by Britiſh cruizers, provided their cargoes conſiſted of a moiety of colonial produce, or of articles of Britiſh Manufacture.

Under the embarraſſment of the Spaniſh government for their loſt King, a new Candidate has made his appearance; the Portuguese Princess Maria Thereſa, who is married to the Infant of Spain, D. Pedro Carlos, has been delivered of a ſon in the Brazils, and for this happy event, illuminations, diſcharges of artillery, and other demonſtrations of joy were to take place at Liſbon, in conſequence of a public order.

A mail from Liſbon arrived this morning with intelligence from Liſbon to the 18th. Marmont ſeems to have loſt all ſtomach for fighting.—There are no French troops on this ſide of the Tormes. He has himſelf retired from Salamanca to Toro on the Douro, and been promoted to the rank of Poſt Captain. Wellington has returned to his old quarters at Freinida. In a deſpatch to the Portuguese Government, dated the 5th inſt. he doubts whether Bonaparte has evacuated the Aſturias. Upon his own ulterior projects he is ſilent—But Badajoz is expected to be immediately inveſted.

Ciudad Rodrigo has been placed in a proper ſtate of defence.

The indefatigable Guerilla Leader Mina has taken the French garriſon of Huesca priſoners.—On his march from thence with his priſoners, he was attacked by a body of 3000 French troops, whom he attacked and defeated, killing, wounding, and taking priſoners 1500 of them. A junction is expected between him and the Empecinado.

In Catalonia affairs appear to wear a favorable aſpect.

The letters which Government have recived from Lord Wellington dated the 5th and 12th inſt. ſtate, that his Lordſhip's head quarters were at Freynada: They contain no news of importance whatever.

One of the moſt dreadful ſtorms of thunder and lightning in the memory of man, took place on Tuesday. Our port letters this morning mention, that on Torbay the Tonnant had 24 men killed or wounded by the lightening; one man was killed on board the Salvadore del Mundo; two on board a brig; ten were ſtruck down and hurt on board the Helicon. The Cumberland had 20 men beat down, but none killed.—

February 29.

The accounts which have recently been received from the North of Spain ſtate, that the French are falling back. It is generally ſuppoſed that they are ſuffering ſeverely for want of proviſions, but we believe the fact is, that a conſiderable number of French troops are actually on their march out of Spain.

By the Wheeler Captain Roberts, which has arrived in 13 days from St. Lucar, we learn that Soult has made application to the Government of Cadiz, offering to permit the exportation of wines from Seville, on condition of receiving wheat and flour from Cadiz.

Two American ſhips, laden with flour, have lately been carried into St Lucar, by two French Privateers of that place. Their cargoes were immediately condemned, and their crews put into confinement.

By a veſſel which has arrived at Yarmouth, after the ſhort paſſage of five days, there are letters from Oporto to Sunday laſt. The rains had again set in. Marſhal Beresford had quitted his head-quarters, and had repaired with one of his Aides de Camps to Liſbon. The inclemency of the weather had impeded the advance of the forces and artillery deſtined to the ſiege of Badajoz, but the project is to be conſidered only as deferred, not abandoned.

MARCH 2.

Saturday being the laſt ſaturday of the month, all the Phyſicians attended the Queen's Council at Windſor. The Archbiſhop of Canterbury, Earl Winchelſea, and the Earl of Aſyleford, formed the Council. The report of the Phyſicians was, that though his Majeſty now enjoyed uniformly the refreſhment of ſleep for a longer period each day than in the earlier period of his complaint, yet no abatement of the mental deluſions appeared, a circumſtance that ſerved to diminiſh the hopes of his recovery. He has ſlept, on an average, five hours and an half each day.

"Windſor Caſtle, Feb. 29.

"His Majeſty continues nearly in the ſame ſtate".

(Signed by five Phyſicians.)

The following notice was alſo ſhewn, being a communication from the Earl of Winchelſea as Comptroller General, to Lord Somerville, by command of the Queen.—"The bulletin will in future be iſſued from Windſor the laſt Saturday in the month, and ſhewn at St. James's Palace on the following day."

PORTSMOUTH, Feb. 28.

Palermo, January 28.

"I have much pleaſure in ſaying that affairs are adjuſted to the ſatisfaction of our government. Lord W. Bentinck has been indefatigable in this tedious affair. The baniſhed Princes are recalled; the Espair ſailed laſt night to bring them.—Lord W. Bentinck is to have the diſpoſal of the Sicilian army, and a ſeat in Council. The Hereditary Prince is appointed Lieut. Gen. and is to command all their forces. This place is to be garriſoned by Britiſh troops. The Acmile is now at Melatzo, waiting to bring them here. The additional tax levied on our mercantile goods is abolished.

"In the event of this Government not having yielded, we had 8000 ready to embark at Melatzo, and by what I could ſee and learn, the Sicilians in general would have joined us.—The King has abdicated his throne, and the Queen is to meddle no more with the public concerns. The Prince of Peliconte and another of the baniſhed Princes are to have leading ſituations."

The transports that arrived here yeſterday from Corunna, under convoy of the Surveillante frigate, have on board 300 deſerters from the French armies in Spain.

By private letters from Corunna, dated the 17th inſt. we learn that Aſturias was entirely evacuated by the enemy, and ſeveral priſoners, ſtragglers and others, from the corps of Bonner, had been taken and ſent into Corunna by General Pofier.—Four regiments are equipping and clothing at Corunna, under the immediate inſpection of Sir H. Douglass. The enemy in Caſtile and Leon were much in want of proviſions, and freſh contributions had been extorted by General Dorſenne previous to his quitting Valladolid. Ciudad Rodrigo is repairing, and will be made ſufficiently ſtrong to reſiſt for a time any attempt from the enemy, ſhould Lord Wellington move to the Southward. The Britiſh army is rapidly recovering in health. The Surveillante, Sybille, and Spitfire, cruized in company in chaſe of the French ſquadron that had chaſed the former ſhip.

FEBRUARY 5.

One of the Reſolutions ſubmitted by the committee of Foreign Relations to Congreſs was, to authoriſe the arming of merchant veſſels; which reſolution it was afterwards propoſed to amend by adding, "And if attacked by any Britiſh ſhip, it ſhall be lawful to capture and bring into any port of the U. States, ſuch Britiſh ſhip for adjudication." Whether this reſolution has or has not paſſed, we know not; but the American ſhips are acting upon it.—Our Plymouth letter this morning informs us "of the arrival on Monday of the Hannibal, an American veſſel, of 24 24-pounders, from Baltimore, 800 tons, bound to Bordeaux, with colonial produce. She was out in by La Niemen, 44, capt Sir M. Seymour. The American hove to at the Niemen her three chaſers, but fortunately did no harm; and the Niemen firing two or three guns, ſhe have too after a long chaſe, and sent her boat on board. The Medusa was in ſight. She is one of three armed ſhips which ſailed in company from Baltimore, determined to fight her way. It is feared the two others have escaped. We underſtand theſe armed Americans are determined to reſiſt any ſtop of war or inferior veſſel. They have no Letter of Marque from the American Government, but are manned, armed, and equipped for fighting.

BELFAST, (Ireland) March 4.

Corunna papers to the 18th ult. have been received. They contain the gratifying intelligence of ſeveral diviſions of the French army being on their return to France.—Among theſe are the Imperial Guards, with their artillery, & the Poliſh troops who have already arrived at Burgos. All the reſt of the French troops in Spain have been ordered to take a poſition on the Ebro, with a view, as the French themſelves report, to keep up a communication with France, and to obtain ſupplies of proviſions.—Urgent complaints of the want of ſubſiſtence and reinforcements have repeatedly been made by the French generals to their government, but without effect. It is ſaid, in the Spaniſh papers, that the fall of Ciudad Rodrigo is the real cauſe of theſe retrograde movements.

New-York, April 1.

Preparation.—Ninety pieces of field artillery (part of them brass) were received at this place from Waſhington City laſt week, 1[illegible] carriages and harneſs for which are now making, and ſixty of them will be ready for the field by the middle of May, for the use of the old regiment of U. S. light artillery, and the two new regiments of artillery now raiſing. Fifty-ſix pounders for traveling carriages are ordered to be completed as ſoon as poſſible.

An arrival at Providence from St Ubes, bringing accounts that Lord Wellington was on his march to attack Badajoz; that he had ordered ſupplies for 60,000 men; that Marmont and Dorcennes had been recently defeated in a ſmart action, in which General Hill's cavalry had acquired the moſt diſtinguiſhed honor.

APRIL 5

Latest from England.—The late coſtery winds have proved favorable to the ſpeedy paſſage from Europe. Laſt evening came into port the laſt ſailing ſhip Lady Madiſon, in 19 days from Liverpool, in ballast to J. Barker. She sailed the 14th of March, and ſpoke the Grand Banks in 9 days, perhaps as quick a paſſage across the Atlantic as was ever known. By this arrival we have received London Papers to the 14th and Liverpool papers to the 14th March, inclusive. From theſe papers it appears that the two laſt ſet of deſpatches which has been forwarded by Mr Ruffell, our Charge d'Affairs at London, to James Monroe, the American Envoy at Paris, by Canada to Madrid, have been intercepted by order of Bonaparte. In conſequence of this outrageous act, it is ſaid that Mr. Ruffell has ſuſpended all communication to France, until an explanation, of a transaction ſo villanous, ſhall be received from the French Government. The practice of opening and reſealing and breaking open their deſpatches, has long been practiſed by Bonaparte with the powers of Europe; and even our own letters have been repeatedly opened when it was found impracticable to obtain them in any other way. Yet this notorious robber, we are told, is deſirous to give laws to nations, and liberty to the ſeas.

The following extract of a letter from an American gentleman to London, to his friend in this city, under date of the 6th of March, relates to the same ſubject:—

"London, March 7, 1812.

"I expected to have gone to Morlaix a ſpecial Meſſenger the next week, but Mr Ruffell's two laſt Meſſengers have been deprived of their deſpatches by the French Government at Morlaix, I ſhall not now proceed there until this unexpected transaction is explained to Mr. Ruffell's ſatisfaction."

Waſhington April 1, Ten o'clock at night.

The Houſe have juſt adjourned. The Embargo bill paſſed, finally, for 60 days, by a majority of at leaſt 30 voters. Randolph made no oppoſition. The Speaker replied to him, in a manly and argumentative ſtyle. To-morrow the bill will go to the Senate, where it will give riſe to long debate.

It has been very currently reported that the President would in a day or two ſend a Meſſage to the houſe, giving information that the decrees of Berlin and Milan are unrepealed.

Vice-Preſident.—A letter from Waſhington dated the 30th ult. ſays, "Rumour ſpeaks of the Vice-President, Gerry.—" The intelligence this evening is, that his life is near a cloſe: if this mail does not, probably the next will bring you news that he is no more."

The inhabitants of the world at the preſent time are computed by a learned theological writer at 800 millions, of whom he ſuppoſes 2,500,000 to be Jews, 482,000,000 Pagans, 175 millions and a half Chriſtians, and 140,000,000 Mahomedans.

On the 23d of Feb. laſt, died at his houſe in Stoke, a ſmall diſtance from the town of Dock (England) about three o'clock in the morning, Admiral Sir Charles Cotton, Bart. Commander in Chief of the Channel Fleet. Sir Charles went to reſt in perfect health, but was ſuddenly ſeized, and in getting out of bed, fell down and expired, before any medical aſſiſtance could be forwarded.

ISAAC BROCK, Esquire, President, administering the Government of the Province of Upper-Canada, and Major General commanding His Majesty's Forces within the same.

To all Persons to whom these Presents shall come——————GREETING.

WHEREAS it has been represented to me by the Indians residing at the Grand River, within this Province, in a Speech addressed in Public Council, to His Majesty's Deputy Superintendant General of Indian Affairs, that many White People are settled on the Indian Land in the County of Haldimand, without due Authority, or Licence from any Governor, Lieutenant Governor, or Person administering the Government of this Province: And whereas by Law, all White Persons are forbidden to establish themselves, or reside in any Indian Village or Country within this Province, without such Licence, under a Penalty for the first Offence, of Ten Pounds, and for the second and every other subsequent offence, of Twenty Pounds—I have thought proper, by and with the advice of His Majesty's Executive Council, for the affairs of this Province, to issue this Proclamation, to the intent that no person may pretend ignorance of the Law which subjects his contravention to such penalties; and further to declare, that the Law will be henceforth rigidly enforced against all persons who shall, after the publication hereof, continue to reside in the Indian Villages and Countries within this Province without due Licence. And whereas it is further represented to me that among the White People resident upon the Indian Lands, there are divers to whom it may be expedient to grant Licences to remain, all persons desirous to obtain such Licences, are hereby required to Report themselves to the Hon'ble WILLIAM CLAUS His Majesty's Deputy Superintendent General of Indian Affairs, together with the circumstances of time, place and condition of their respective residences.

GIVEN under my Hand and Seal at Arms, at York, in the Province of Upper Canada, this first day of February, in the Year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and twelve, and in the fifty second year of His Majesty's Reign.

(Signed)
ISAAC BROCK, President.

By His Honor's Command,

Extract of an Ordinance passed by the Governor and Legislative Council of the Province of Quebec, in the year 1777, intituled "An Ordinance to prevent the selling of strong Liquors to Indians in the Province of Quebec, as also to deter Persons from buying their Arms or Cloathing, and for other purposes relative to the Trade and Intercourse with the said Indians."

IV. It shall and may be lawful for any person or persons who forever, I sue for the Penalties and forfeitures aforesaid, by information before one or more of the Commissioners of the Peace of the District in which any offence against any of the above articles of this Ordinance shall have been committed; who is, and are hereby authorized and required to hear and determine such information, in a summary manner, and upon the oath of one credible witness (being some other than the informer himself) and to inflict the said imprisonment, and to levy the said Penalties or Forfeitures, together with the costs of suing for the same, by a warrant to seize and sell the goods or lands of the offenders Provided always that such informations shall be brought within six calendar months from the time that the offence shall have been committed, and not after.

Latest Intelligence.

Philadelphia, April 2.

An article from Paris, dated January 29, in one of our late London papers, say, " The surrender of Valencia has given great pleasure to the Emperor.—This favorable circumstance has happened in seasonable time, for it is very current in this capital, and credited, that before long we shall be at war with Russia. This warlike attitude against Russia is assumed, because the latter perfists to trade with England. It is also the general opinion that the American Minister here will not succeed in his mission."

April 6.

Since the last announcement of he intended embargo in this city, he activity of the merchants has been such, that almost every vessel in a situation fit to send to sea, has been loaded and sailed from this port, and most of them got to sea. So that the embargo will not be felt for some time by the merchants or sailors as there are scarcely any sailors worth taking feet.

A letter is said to have been received in town yesterday, mentioning the seizure of the U. States sloop of war Hornet, by order of Bonaparte.

New-York, April 6.

Extract of a letter from a Commercial House in London to another in this city, dated Mar. 11.

We have the pleasure to inform you that we this day received a letter from our correspondents in St. Petersburgh (Messrs. Brothers and Cramer) under date of 26th of January, O. S. with an ukase, declaring that the regulations of trade issued for 1811, are to continue for the present year; and that permission is given to import a long list of mechanical and other instruments, &c. duty free; also hides, bearing a duty of 60 copecks per hide, and staves not worked 90 copecks per cask. The duty on raw sugar is increased to 10 roubles per pood. These are the main features of the ukase, which will doubtless prove interesting to you.

THE EMBARGO.—As we predicted, the 90 days Embargo reached us yesterday morning; but most of the valuable fleet which had been so rapidly loaded, got to sea in time to escape the Nautilus and the boats that were sent in pursuit of them. The Ships Alexander and Hercules, and brig Eunice, were overtaken at the Hook, and ordered back; and the ship Maria Theresa was too late in getting out of port. But very many have gone, and we hope, to good markets. During the four days rumor of another embargo, this port has, and must probably every other in the United States, will have got rid of most of their shipping, and much of the produce in market. From this port alone 36 ships, 24 brigs, 47 schooners, and 23 sloops have sailed, mostly for foreign ports. These, with several inward-bound vessels which have been intercepted by their owners, and ordered off, make at least 140 sail from this port alone. SUCCESS TO THEM.

WAR between RUSSIA and FRANCE.

By the ship Adriana, Abrahams, 37 days from Gottenburgh, we learn that the Northern Powers were all preparing for a hot summer. The French Emperor was at Mayence, and his manifesto momently expected to appear against Russia. The Sound and Belt, this Spring and Summer, will prove impassable without Convoy. The French privateers are numerous, and captured all property, no matter from whence or where bound; the Danes not much better.

Embargo Fruit.—In consequence of the Embargo, the price of flour, it is said, has already fallen at Alexandria, from Nine dollars to five and a half. Spect.

PHILADELPHIA, Apr. 8.

From Aux Cayes, St. Domingo, we learn that that Island, is now governed by three coloured Chiefs, viz. Christophe, Petion, and Bonet, (successor to Rigaud) that after the insurrection had taken place on board Christophe's Frigate, as mentioned some time since, the other 2 vessels belonging to him followed the example of their Commodore, and all went to a port of Bonets.—The Frigate that was captured by the British (as lately mentioned) & sent to Jamaica, has been demanded by Bonet, who sent a flag of truce to Jamaica, for the purpose.

Mr. Hase, of the Bank of England, waited on the Gentlemen of the Stock Exchange this day, with proposals for raising £6,789,625 by Navy Five per cent. Annuities, in addition to the sum of £5,433,700 subscribed in Exchequer Bills, to be funded in the month of February last, making together £12,221,325 which is the whole sum proposed to be funded in 5 per cent. Stock during the present year.

Letters and Newspapers from Paris to the first instant have arrived. The principal Journals are barren of all intelligence respecting the Peninsula, and they seem cautiously to avoid any flatements respecting the North of Europe. Private letters however, say, that Marshal Berthier has already set off from Paris to take the command, ad interim, of the army on the Polish frontiers.

The Emperor himself is expected to follow Berthier in a few days, having signified it to be his intention to command in person—We may add—against Russia.

By extracts from the Paris papers, it appears the Ruffian and Turkish armies still keep the field.

No intelligence has yet been received from Gen. Hill. It is hourly expected.

It is again reported, that an embargo has been laid in the Danish ports, preparatory as it is supposed to the sailing of the expedition against Anholt.

We believe we may confidently state, that the Earl of Cholmondeley, has accepted the office of Lord Steward of the Houshold; and we apprehend the Marquis of Hartford will be appointed Lord Chamberlain, if he has not been so already.

Mr. Henry Wellesley, his Majesty's Ambassador at Cadiz, and Mr. Adair, his Majesty's late Minister at Constantinople, and formerly at Vienna, are we understand, to be decorated with the Order of the Bath, in consideration of their diplomatic services on their respective missions. This mark of the Sovereign's favor is, we are assured, to be conferred in consequence of a special recommendation made by the Marquis Wellesley to the Prince Regent, prior to the noble Marquis's resignation of the Seals of the Foreign Department. It is now admitted that the Earl of Moira definitely refused the Order of the Garter, proffered particularly to him by the Prince Regent, as a special mark of his high personal favor and consideration.

March 3.—We are happy to find, the price of bullion has been, for the last fortnight, considerably declining in the Market. The price of guineas, where such superstitious traffic has been carried on, has fallen so near to the Mint denomination of the value of that coin, that it is now scarcely worth the while of speculators to engage in it—In the same space of time, our Foreign exchanges have most materially improved, and there is every reason to believe, that they will continue improving.

Yesterday Lord Somerville and the Hon. Robert F. Grenville attended in waiting at St James's Palace, for the first time since their appointment under the Windsor establishment.

The Duke of Bedford had an audience of the Prince Regent on Friday last.

Mr. Auftruther, late Advocate General of Madras, is appointed Recorder of Bombay, in the room of Sir J Mackintosh. Mr. Tollon of Lincoln's Inn, succeeds Mr. Auftruther as Advocate General.

An American gentleman in France writes that the French are marching troops towards the North of Europe, and intend to force Alexander to adhere to the continental system. You may look for war.—It is said Berthier is to command the centre, MacDONALD the right, and Ney the left, of the grand army. The Duke of Reggio is to command the light corps.

FROM THE EVENING POST.

The "ulterior measure."—We have now, the "ulterior measure" of our committe of foreign relations.—An Embargo!! Thus ends the long war session—The nation has now taken its "attitude"! The army, the navy, the fighting and the taxes all end in loans and embargo! The whole war fire evaporates in smoke! Congress may now adjourn for a couple of months, then meet, spend three or four weeks in war speeches, pass an act to continue the embargo another 90 days, and again adjourn. O! what a fine thing is this embargo—it is a substitute for every thing: It furpasses lord Peter's brown loaf;—it is to our government bread, meat, fish, and fowl, besides good old wine cider, and whiskey,

His Majesty's ship Active has captured the French frigate La Pomone, of 46 guns and 350 men, after a severe action in which the Active had 10 men killed and sixteen wounded.—The Pomone was convoying two armed store ships, one of which was captured by the Active, the other escaped. We are happy to have it in our power to congratulate the public, on the capture of the last among the Venetian frigates, compoling the Tyrant's Adriatic squadron.

Spanish America.—At a numerous meeting of the Royal Consulado of the Havannah, composed of the most wealthy and respectable Planters and Merchants, assembled on the 5th of February last, taking into consideration the urgent neceffities of the State, lately represented to them by the Consulado at Cadiz, and holding it their duty to contribute on their part to facilitate the succour and assistance which the Supreme Government solicits; it was resolved that a voluntary contribution of 200,000 dollars be raised and transmitted to the Regency at Cadiz, for the use of Government: That 50,000 dollars be placed at the disposal of the Vice Roy of Santa Fe, Don Benito Perez, to enable him to accomplish the views and orders of Government and that said sum be speedily transmitted to him at Santa Martha: And that 10,000 dollars be raised and placed at the disposal of Lieut. Col. Don Thomas Oconnelli, for the use of the Battalion of America, lately arrived from Spain under his command.

CALEDONIAN ASYLUM.

An Institution, to be denominated "The Caledonian Asylum," is about to be established in the metropolis, under the patronage of the Highland Society of London, for the maintenance of a limited number of the sons of such Scottish sailors, soldiers, and marines, as may have served their country, died in the service, or been disabled, &c.

The boys are to be taught reading in English and Gaelic, writing and arithmetic; in addition to which they will receive such preparatory inftructions as may be necessary to qualify them for the Royal Navy, or Merchant service, as well as for the trades connected with the seafaring life, and such of them as shall poffes the Military ardor of their forefathers, are to receive a preparatory education suitable to the army. Into this institution are to be admitted a certain number of girls, the offspring of such parents as are above described, who are to receive an education in life, as well as in every domestic employment, to make them useful servants, and to be brought up in the knowledge and practice of virtue and religion. In order to render this institution the more complete, a Gaelic chapel, in which divine service is to be performed in the Gaelic and English languages alternately on the same day, is to form a prominent branch of the eftablishment.

THE YORK GAZETTE

FRIDAY, MAY 1, 1812.

(Circular.)

HEAD QUARTERS,

SIR,

THE power which is vested in the person administering the Government by the 1st-mentioned Act of the Militia, passed in the Session of the Provincial Parliament, of forming two Flank Companies, to be taken indiscriminately from the Battalions, being limited to the end of the ensuing Session, would almost deter me from incurring publick expence upon a system which must cease to operate before its utility and efficacy can with be ascertained.

But being anxious at this important crisis, to organize an Armed Force, with a view of meeting future exigencies, and likewise to demonstrate by practical experience, the degree of facility with which the Militia may be trained for service; I have to request you to adopt immediate measures for forming and compleating from among such men as voluntarily offer to serve, two COMPANIES, not to exceed Cap. Sub. Drum. Serg. R. & F each, in the Regiment under your Command.

You will have the goodness to recommend two Captains whom you conceive the best qualified to undertake this important duty—the nomination of the Subalterns is left to your discretion.

Such other Regiments as are conveniently situated to receive Military inftruction, shall have an opportunity afforded them of shewing their ardour in the Public Service, which cannot fail creating a laudable emulation among the different Corps.

Affisted by your zeal, prudence and intelligence, I entertain the pleasing hope of meeting with very considerable success, and of being able to establish the sound policy of rendering permanent to the end of the present War, a mode of Military inftruction little burdensome to individuals, and every way calculated to secure a powerful internal defence against hostile aggression.

Every poffible aid will be afforded by the appointment of fit persons to assist you in training both officers and men.

Printed Rules and Regulations for your more guidance, shall be forwarded as soon as poffible; the most simple, and at the same time the most useful movements have been selected for the practice of the Militia.

Experience has shewn the absolute necessity of adopting every poffible precaution to preserve in a proper state the Arms affixed to the Militia, and of guarding against the heavy deterioration which have ever occurred.

For which purpose you are authorized to prepare one or more Depots, in situations the most safe and convenient for affembling and drilling the men of your district, and where the Arms are to be lodged after each day of exercise.

You are allowed to charge in your Contingent Account, at the rate of five Pounds yearly for every Twenty Muskets (that for the present is the number which can with expected will prove ample to defray every expence of keeping the Arms and Accoutrements in a complete state of repair.

The Arms and Accoutrements now in poffession of the Militia, having been ordered to be delivered into Store at the nearest Military Poft, application will be made to the Officer Commanding for the number or each wanting to complete the men actually engaged to serve in the Flank Companies; and the officer has been authorized to comply with your requisition upon your signing duplicate Receipts, one of which is to be forwarded to Head Quarters, that you may become responsible for the Arms delivered to each of your Corps. At the same time, should others, confruction will be given to any representation according for such compliments as are intendent to the service.

The Officer in Command of the Garrison of [illegible] has been directed to furnish you with such non-commissioned Officers and Privates from the Regular Army as may require, to instruct the Volunteers in their duty.

A charge will be allowed in your Contingent Account, at the rate of 3/6 Halifax per day, for each non-commissioned Officer, and 2/6 for each Private, when they are so employed.

One non-commissioned Officer and two Privates, it is imagined, will prove sufficient for the two Companies you are to form; but should any necessity arise, no longer resorted to than the nature of the Service may render necessary.

[illegible] has been appointed to perform the duties of Adjutant, under your command:—Should you find him incompetent to the talk, you will feel it your duty to report the circumstance, from whatever cause it may arise.

I cannot dismiss this subject without expressing my expectations that your knowledge of the localities of your County, will enable you to make such arrangements as will give the utmost facility to the attainment of the important object in view, without subjecting the men to any material inconvenience. Confiding generously toward your Fellow Citizens, they are the more entitled to every consideration.

Not only the place, but likewise the time the most proper for the affemblies of the Companies or squads, will be strictly attended to by you.—It is my earnest wish that the little the men have to learn may be acquired by way of a pastime, and not of drudgery on the light of an irksome restraint.—The generality of the Inhabitants being already acquainted with the use of Arms, will render the less learn. You may therefore under existing circumstances, limit the Parade of the Companies to three times in each Month.

A little attention on the part of the men, will very soon enable you to reduce even that short term of attendance.

The chief object of the Flank Companies, is to have conftitute in readiness, a force composed of Loyal, Brave, and Respectable Young Men, so far instructed as to enable the Government, on any emergency, to augment such part, or the whole Militia as may be necessary, on a flock capable of giving aid in forming them for Military service.

To your zeal, prude ce and attentions I confidently ook, for the attainment of a system so evidently conducive to the safety and tranquility of the Province.

I have the honor to be
Sir,
Your Most Obedient Humble Servant,

& President.

Latest Intelligence.

Latest from Portugal.—A gentleman who came paſſenger in the ſhip Canton from Lisbon, has furniſhed the following account of the ſituation and proſpects of the Combined and French armies:

That Lord Wellington will have it in his power to open before Badajoz at leaſt 70 pieces of heavy artillery, and although it ſhould cauſe him to riſque a general battle, ſome people believe he would not abandon the ſiege.

The French general Marmont, is moving with a large force towards Badajoz, ſhould it be inveſted, and there is a great probability that a general action will ſoon take place. Lord Wellington will have a force of 70,000 men in the neighbourhood of Badajoz, and the French force are ſuppoſed to be about the ſame number.

On the 3d of March, Lord Wellington's head quarters were at Ferrandas, about four days march from Elvas, which place he would move for that day. On the road thither, it was not expected the army would halt only for a few days. Not only the ſpare artillery of the garriſon of Elvas, but a large quantity of heavy pieces of ordnance were ſent from Liſbon to the neighbourhood of Badajoz, for the ſiege of that place.

CADIZ, Feb. 20.

The following diſpatch has been received by the Superior Junta of Catalonia, from Gen. Lacy.

Moſt Excellent Lord,

The enemy has aſſembled to reinforce and ſuccour Tarragona—I moved from Reus to intercept him, and I have to completely defeated him, that the commanding officer was only able to effect his eſcape with a few cavalry—and even of his body guard ſeveral were taken priſoners. The total of priſoners amounts to 800, among them various commandants and many officers—and the number of the ſlain greatly exceeds that proportion, occaſioned by the raſhneſs of ſome, who had ſurrendered, afterwards firing upon our troops.

The mareſchal de camp Baron de Eroles, has, at the ſame time, acted as General, Cuiraſſier, and Grenadier. The corps of Cuiraſſiers, led by their commander Caſafola, have acted in a manner to exceed all praiſe.

The brave Commander Reding, of the battalion of Buſa, has been ſeriouſly wounded. Other chiefs and corps, have equally diſtinguiſhed themſelves. But I reſerve a detail of this glorious action, and the names of thoſe who have excelled for a future diſpatch, aſſuring your Excellency that every thing ſhall be done to improve the advantages acquired by this ſucceſs.

LUIS LACY.

LONDON, March 13.

Rear Admi. Ld. Amelius Beauclere, ſailed yeſterday from Portſmouth in the Royal Oak, 74, accompanied by the Norge, of the ſame force, capt. Ranier, to form the blockade of the Texel, where a force of five ſail of the line is ready for ſea, and by its movements has indicated a diſpoſition to ſlip out at the earlieſt opportunity. The enemy are ſuppoſed to have formed a deſign to ſend this ſquadron northward to ſeize Heligoland, and afterwards Anholt by a coup de main But the preſence of Lord Beauclere will derange that ſcheme.

It appears that the armiſtice between the Turks and Ruſſians is terminated—and an article from Vienna mentions that hoſtilities were ſuppoſed to have re commenced about the middle of February, in conſequence of the Porte having declared, that no territorial ceſſions would be made to Ruſsia. We are alſo told, that couriers from France, Ruſsia and Turkey, have arrived at Vienna, who were ſuppoſed to have been the bearers of diſpatches of conſiderable importance. It is therefore not improbable, that Bonaparte means to take a more open part than he has hitherto done, in the quarrel between Ruſsia and Turkey.

LONDON, March 16.

Mails from Anholt and Heligoland, arrived this morning. The former ſtates that Bonaparte is to take the command of the French army in the North in perſon. It is divided into four grand detachments of 50,000 men each.—Maſſena commands the firſt; Davouſt the ſecond; Oudinot the third; and Berthier the fourth. The French troops have left Hamburg for the Polish frontiers, Hamburgh is to be garriſoned by the Danes.

The accounts reſpecting Pruſſia are contradictory—ſome aſſuring us that ſhe will join France; others that ſhe will unite with Ruſsia, that ſhe has poſitively rejected all the demands of Bonapatte to admit French troops into Colberg, and that her army is in excellent condition.

The Swediſh Government has publiſhed full details of the hoſtile treatment which Swediſh Pomerania has experienced from the French A joint declaration of war from Ruſsia and Sweden is the prevailing expectation at Stockholm.

A manufactory has juſt been eſtabliſhed here for extracting ſugar from Chesnuts. The firſt trials have produced ſugar, which is in no degree inferior to the ſugar produced from the cane.

From La Plata, Jan. 10.

Don Joſe Artegos, who commanded the Buenos Ayres troops, had a battle with a party of Portuguese in December from Rio Janeiro, ſent on to Montivideo, and caused them to retire.—This man commands the Gouchas (country people) and has collected about 8000 men in the country of the Miſſiores, near the Uraguay.—The Junta ſent to his aſſiſtance on the 1ſt of January, 800 men, a black regiment of Buenos Ayres.—This gave umbrage to the Government of Montevideo. All veſſels were immediately embargoed bound to Buenos Ayres, and one or two cruisers ſent up the river with the intention, it was ſuppoſed to prevent troops croſſing.

A plot was recovered in Decr. to remove the Junta, and replace Saavedera, the former President, whoſe particular regiment was active in this affair, and required the whole ſtrength of the government to oppoſe and queil, in which they ſucceeded, after ſome lives being loſt, and the principal leaders arreſted, and a number immediately ſhot. A Capt. Taylor who had command of one of the armed ſhips of Buenos Ayres was in cloſe confinement, under charges of treaſon.

The markets at Montevideo and Buenos Ayres has improved, in conſequence of commerce being renewed.

From the Montreal Courant, received by this day's Mail.

Mr. Mower.—If you think proper to inſert the enclosed copy of a Letter in your Courant you are welcome to it.

A SUBSCRIBER.

MY EVER DEAR FRIEND,

Since my return to this country I have written to my friend and agent in Montreal to diſpoſe of my books and other effects in Canada, and given him orders how to diſpoſe of the proceeds; this I ſuppoſe he has done, if not, and he ſhould need your aſſiſtance or advice, I beg, notwithſtanding what follows, you will give it him.

You will be aſtoniſhed when I tell you that to morrow I ſhall ſail for France on board an American ſloop of war, and forever bid adieu to America.

Soon after my departure I ſuppoſe you will have a ſcene expoſed, which will, in the eyes of the Britiſh rabble, damn my reputation & character, but in thoſe of the more ſenſible and liberal minded, I ſhall be juſtified, or at leaſt excuſed; as to the opinion of the former claſs I care not a cent.

I owe it to you and many of my friends in Canada, fully to explain the motives which have induced me to adopt the meaſures which I have taken: they certainly will at the firſt bluſh appear to you to have been founded in deceit and treachery, but I hope on reflection, and a charitable examination, with a due allowance for my feelings of diſappointment in my application for remuneration in England, for my ſervices under my unfortunate circumſtances, to be looked upon with a forgiving eye. You know my political ſentiments better than any man in America, and I aſſure you, that they remain unalterably the ſame: the abhorrence that I formerly entertained of a republican government, which I have frequently expreſſed to you is ſtill the ſame, and I am happy that I am going to a country where the very name of a republic is deteſted.

When I left you in Canada, my hopes and proſpects were fair and promiſed ſucceſs; I was induced to believe that I ſhould have found little difficulty in obtaining from the Britiſh Miniſter, the place I had in view. I memorialized him, expoſtulated much with his ſecretary on the credentials of the ſervices, which I had rendered, in my miſſion under Sir James Craig; but with all the influence of my friends and my own indefatigable exertions, I could only acquire civilities and a recommendation to the preſent Governor General of Canada, to provide for me; with theſe, you will perhaps ſay, I ought to have been ſatisfied; I was ſo at the moment and came out to America with an intention to avail myſelf of the ſtrong mandates of the miniſter in my favour, to the head of the government. My friends in London aſſiſted me with pecuniary reſources. On my arrival at Boſton I found that my proſpects in life were precarious, and my expences in London had exhauſted the pittance I poſſeſſed. I found alſo that Canada, from the reports which had been circulated there, as to my name and birth, and the manner in which I left Ireland, had ſo injured my reputation, that if I enjoyed any appointment from government in that country, I ſhould at leaſt be ſuſpected Under theſe perplexing circumſtances, loaded with debts in England which I was unable to ſatisfy, I examined the ſtate of politics in the U. States, and found that the means in my power would probably afford me relief. I was long heſitating what courſe to purſue; on the one hand I ſaw penury and diſtreſs, on the other a probable ſacrifice of the reputation and character that I had ſuſtained in this country, and of courſe my being obliged to abandon it & my friends for another, where I might perhaps enjoy the remainder of my days with affluence; I preferred the uncertainty to the certainty, and determined to make propoſals to the government here of revealing the ſecrets in my poſſeſſion.—They were received with avidity, and the terms I ſtipulated for complied with; you may be aſſured that I made my diſcloſures as palatable to the perſons I had to deal with as I poſſibly could; here, perhaps, you may cenſure my conduct more than in any other part of the whole tranſaction; but it was neceſſary, to attain my object to make it to appear to be worth the purchaſe, therefore you will make allowances for the many forgeries and impoſitions which you will readily detect when you read the documents diſcloſed by me, which of courſe will be publiſhed by this government after my departure; this I know well, you will, from the general correctneſs and rectitude of your ſentiments, ſeem a ſpecies of ſwindling; I confeſs it would be ſo in any other country or on any other ſubject than that of a political nature; but when you conſider, that all political queſtions in theſe ſtates are decided by deception (a more moderate term for ſwindling) you will pardon my reſorting to it, while acting under the ſphere of their influence. That I have impoſed on the head of the government, and ſold to them ſecrets of no kind of importance as they relate to the different governments, it true: Examine the communications and intelligence I gave to Sir James while on my miſſion, and you will find they were collected from newſpapers, and perhaps ſometimes from the ſentiments expreſſed by private individuals in ſocieties, wherein I was a gueſt both with Federaliſts and Democrats. I was ſent at a time when G. Britain and the States were on the eve of a war; my object was to diſcover whether the States were ſeriouſly determined on hoſtilities with Britain, this I then thought and ſtill think, under the Laws of Nations, was juſtifiable.

I moſt ſolemnly aſſure you, that the letter which accompanied the documents I tranſmitted to Mr. Monroe, was impoſed upon me.—You know well it does not contain my ſentiments; but I had advanced ſo far there was no retreat, and I was obliged to ſign it. The eſtimate put on my communications by this government was beyond my moſt ſanguine expectations, and the reward I have received for them is infinitely greater than I had contemplated; it is ſo large that it has afforded me and my children an ample competence for life.

I am now a citizen of the world, and go to tread on a new theatre under a government which I always deteſted. I dread to meet the piercing eye of the Great Emperor, but have no alternative; and although cloathed with the warmeſt recommendations of the French Miniſter and the government of this country, ſtill I tremble and doubt what reception I ſhall meet with; however, you will hear from me in France, if I can only get a fair footing there. I have ſuch an opinion of the reſources of my imagination, that I flatter myſelf I ſhall ſucceed; my plans are matured, and do not be ſurprized if you hear from me in England.—But, wherever fortune ſhall fix me, I ſhall ever retain the moſt laſting remembrance of the attentions and civilities you have formerly conferred on me.

Believe me to be
moſt faithfully yours.
JOHN HENRY.

THE YORK GAZETTE.

FRIDAY, MAY 8, 1812.

The following Circular Letter has been addreſſed to the Commanding Officers of Militia Regiments in this Province:—

(Circular.)

HEAD QUARTERS,

SIR,

THE power which is veſted in the perſon adminiſtering the Government by the amended Act of the Militia, paſſed the laſt Seſſion of the Provincial Parliament, of forming two Flank Companies, to be taken indiſcriminately from the Battalion, being limited to the end of the training Seaſon, would almoſt deter me from incurring public expence upon a ſyſtem which muſt ceaſe to operate before its utility and efficacy can well be aſcertained.

But being anxious at this important criſis, to organize an armed force, with a view of meeting future exigencies, and likewiſe to demonſtrate by practical experience, the degree of facility with which the Militia may be trained for ſervice; I have to requeſt you will adopt immediate meaſures for forming and completing from among ſuch men as voluntarily offer to ſerve, TWO COMPANIES, not to exceed Cap. 1 Sub. 1 Serg. 4 Drum. R. & F. each, in the Regiment under your Command.

You will have the goodneſs to recommend two Captains whom you conceive the beſt qualified to undertake this important duty—the nomination of the Subalterns is left to your diſcretion.

Such other Regiments as are conveniently ſituated to receive Military inſtruction, ſhall have an opportunity afforded them of ſhewing their ardour in the Public Service, which cannot fail creating a laudable emulation among the different Corps.

Aſſiſted by your zeal, prudence and intelligence, I entertain the pleaſing hope of meeting with very conſiderable ſucceſs, and of being able to eſtabliſh the ſound policy of rendering permanent to the end of the preſent War, a mode of Military inſtruction little burdenſome to individuals, and every way calculated to ſecure a powerful internal defence againſt hoſtile aggreſſion.

Every poſſible aid will be afforded by the appointment of fit perſons to aſſiſt you in training both officers and men.

Printed Rules and Regulations for your future guidance, ſhall be tranſmitted as ſoon as poſſible; the moſt ſimple, and at the ſame time the moſt uniform movements have been ſelected for the practice of the Militia.

Experience has ſhewn the abſolute neceſſity of adopting every poſſible precaution to preſerve in a proper ſtate the Arms lodged in the Militia, and of guarding againſt the heavy defalcations that have heretofore occurred.

For which purpoſe you are authorized to prepare one or more Depots, in ſituations the moſt ſafe and convenient for aſſembling and drilling the men by squads, and where the Arms are to be lodged after each day of exerciſe.

You are allowed to charge in your Contingent Account, at the rate of Five Pounds yearly for every Twenty Muſkets iſſued for the use of the Men; which ſum it is expected will procure ample to defray every expence of keeping the Arms and Accoutrements in a complete ſtate of repair.

The Arms and Accoutrements now in poſſeſſion of the Militia, having been directed to be delivered into Store at the neareſt Military Poſt, application will be made to the Officer Commanding, for the number of each wanting to complete the ſets actually engaged to ſerve in the Flank Companies; and the officer has been inſtructed to comply with your requiſition upon your ſigning duplicate Receipts, one of which is to be forwarded to Head Quarters, that you may become reſponſible for the Articles delivered to your order. At the ſame time, the moſt liberal conſideration will be given to any repreſentation accounting for ſuch contingencies as are incident to the ſervice.

The Officer in Command of the Garriſon of [illegible] has been directed to furniſh you with ſuch non-commiſſioned Officers and Privates from the Regulars as you may require, to inſtruct the Volunteers in their duty.

A charge will be allowed in your Contingent Account, at the rate of 2s 6d Halifax per day, for each non-commiſſioned Officer, and 1s 6d for each Private, when they are ſo employed.

One non-commiſſioned Officer and two Privates, it is imagined, will prove ſufficient for the two Companies; and you will take care that this temporary aid be no longer reſorted to than the nature of the Service may render neceſſary.

[illegible] has been appointed to perform the duties of Adjutant, under your command:—Should you find him incompetent to the taſk, you will feel it your duty to report the circumſtance, from whatever ſource it may ariſe.

I cannot diſmiſs this ſubject without expreſſing my expectations that your knowledge of the localities of the country will enable you to make ſuch arrangements as will give the utmoſt facility to the attainment of the important object in view, without ſubjecting the men to any material inconvenience.

Coming generously forward with an offer of their ſervices, they are the more entitled to every conſideration.

Not only the place, but likewiſe the time the moſt proper for the aſſembling of the Companies or squads, muſt be ſtrictly attended to by you.—It is my earneſt wiſh that the little the men have to learn may be acquired by way of a paſtime, and not looked upon in the light of an irkſome reſtraint.—The generality of the Inhabitants being already acquainted with the use of the Muſket, have the leſs to learn. You may therefore under exiſting circumſtances, limit the Parade of the Companies to three times in each Month.

A little attention on the part of the men, will very ſoon enable you to reduce even that ſhort term of attendance.

The chief object of the Flank Companies, is to ave conſtantly in readineſs, a force compoſed of Loyal, Brave, and Reſpectable Young Men, to be inſtructed as to enable the Government, on any emergency, to engraft ſuch portions of the Militia as may be neceſſary, on a ſtock capable of giving aid in forming them for Military ſervice.

To your prudence and exertions I confidently look, for the attainment of a ſyſtem ſo evidently conducive to the ſafety and tranquility of the Province.

I have the honor to be
Sir,
Your Moſt Obedient
(Signed) ISAAC BROCK, M. G.
& Preſident.

TO

Adjutant General's Office,
York, 29th April, 1812.

AS it is not aſcertained whether Government will provide Clothing for the Militia, for which application has been made, His Honor the Preſident recommends, in the event of any portion of them being, in the mean time, called into the Field, that for their own convenience, and as the benefit of the Service, each Man, as far as his circumſtances and ſituation allows, will provide himſelf with a Short Coat of ſome dark colored Cloth made to button well round the Body, and Pantaloons ſuited to the Seaſon, with the addition of a Round Hat. It is very deſirable that as much uniformity as poſſible be obſerved in providing this equipment, which will benefit the Public Service, and be equally fit for Private uſe. It is alſo recommended to the Officers on every occaſion when in the Field, to dreſs in conformity to the Men, in order to avoid the bad conſequence of a conſpicuous Dreſs.

ISAAC BROCK, Esquire, President, administering the Government of the Province of Upper-Canada, and Major General commanding His Majesty's Forces within the same.

To all Persons to whom these Presents shall come——————GREETING.

WHEREAS it has been represented to me by the Indians residing at the Grand River, within this Province, in a Speech addressed in Public Council, to His Majesty's Deputy Superintendant General of Indian Affairs, that many White People are settled on the Indian Land in the County of Haldimand, without due Authority, or Licence from any Governor, Lieutenant Governor, or Person administering the Government of this Province: And whereas by Law, all White Persons are forbidden to establish themselves, or reside in any Indian Village or Country within this Province, without such Licence, under a Penalty for the first Offence, of Ten Pounds, and for the second and every other subsequent offence, of Twenty Pounds—I have thought proper, by and with the advice of His Majesty's Executive Council, for the affairs of this Province, to issue this Proclamation, to the intent that no person may pretend ignorance of the Law which subjects his contravention to such penalties; and further to declare, that the Law will be henceforth rigidly enforced against all persons who shall, after the publication hereof, continue to reside in the Indian Villages and Countries within this Province without due Licence. And whereas it is further represented to me that among the White People resident upon the Indian Lands, there are divers to whom it may be expedient to grant Licences to remain, all persons desirous to obtain such Licences, are hereby required to Report themselves to the Hon'ble WILLIAM CLAUS, His Majesty's Deputy Superintendant General of Indian Affairs, together with the circumstances of time, place and condition of their respective residences.

GIVEN under my Hand and Seal at Arms, at York, in the Province of Upper Canada, this first day of February, in the Year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and twelve, and in the fifty second year of His Majesty's Reign.

Lateſt Intelligence.

LONDON, March 17.

The Regent's Meſſage relative to Portugal, was taken into conſideration in both Houses yeſterday. An address was agreed to in the Lords nemine diſsentiente, and two millions were voted by the Commons.—Deciſive evidence has been afforded of the fidelity, zeal, and conſtancy of Portugal—her government has co-operated moſt cordially with ours upon every occaſion, and her inhabitants have invariably ſhewn themſelves worthy of being aſſiſted by Britiſh treaſure and by Britiſh blood.

We have this day made ſome further extracts from the laſt French Papers; we muſt beg to call the attention of our readers to the Decree iſſued at Hamburgh—a decree which could only have proceeded from ſuch a man as Bonaparte, and, in point of atrocity and abſurdity, is we verily believe, unequalled in the annals of mankind.

Hamburg, Feb. 28.—An Order has been publiſhed here by the Governor General of the Hanſeatic Departments of which the following are the regulations:—

All communication with the Engliſh at Heligoland, ſhall be conſidered as treaſon and eſpionage. Every veſſel proved to have been at Heligoland, or to have come from thence, whether it has brought or not correſpondence with the enemy, or goods, or merchandize, ſhall be ſeized; and he commander of the crew puniſhed with death.

The crew ſhall undergo the ſame fate if they are proved to have been accomplices; if not, all who ſhall be capable of doing ſervice by ſea ſhall be ſent from brigade to brigade to Antwerp, to be placed at the diſpoſition of the marine; and the men unfit for ſea ſervice ſhall be puniſhed with three months impriſonment. The Marſhal Governor General orders that there ſhall be formed upon the ſpot a ſpecial permanent military commiſſion, to take cognizance of theſe crimes and try thoſe guilty of them.

The Commiſſion ſhall ſit at Rerzebuttel. All who are to take their trials, ſhall be ſent to the priſons of that place.

The regulations of the preſent arreſt do not extend to the Engliſh veſſels which ſhall be taken or wrecked upon the coaſt, nor to the men which the Engliſh may land, towards whom the orders of the Emperor ſhall continue to be executed. As to the veſſels captured, they ſhall be treated conformably to the laws of war.

Paris, March 10.—The Senate today aſſembled extraordinary, under the Preſidency of his Serene Highneſs the Prince Arch-Chancellor. The orators of Government repaired thither and communicated a project for a Senatus Conſultum.

Peterwaradin, Feb. 12.—Letters from the Turkiſh frontiers for the authenticity of which we do not pledge ourſelves, ſtates, that the Ruſſians have abandoned Belgrade, and deſcended the Danube. A report is likewiſe in circulation, that Czerni Georges has offered to ſubmit to the Porte, provided his demands were allowed, the principal of which was, his being named Pacha of Servia.

Vienna, Feb. 24—According to the lateſt intelligence from Hungary, the General in Chief Count Kutuſow, is ordered to Peterſburgh, and has given up the command of the army; we are ignorant of the reaſon for this. General Count Langeron has ſucceeded him as General in Chief.

The Turkiſh Plenipotentiaries were ſtill at Buchareſt, but quite prepared to ſet out; they only waited the arrival of a Courier from Conſtantinople to paſs to the right of the Danube.

February 26.—The new General in Chief of the Ruſſian army, Count Langeron, has notified to the Servian Senate, that the armiſtice was at an end; and that, therefore, the Servians ſhould place themſelves in a ſituation to recommence the war, and act in concert with the Ruſſian armies. This news has produced a dreadful ſenſation at Belgrade, the country being drained of proviſions, men, and money, and the Servians no longer evince the ſame ardour. It is added, that Czerni Georges has been obliged to employ very ſevere meaſures.

The following are extracts from private letters brought by the Anholt Mail:—

"Koningsburg, Feb. 18.—The French army has at length been put upon the war eſtabliſhment. The inhabitants of Sweditſh Pomerania have been ordered to provide the army with four days proviſions for a march, and the former French army, called the army of the Rhine, is in future to be denominated the Grand Army, and we are in hourly expectation of its arrival under the command of Berthier. It conſiſts of four grand diviſions, under Maſſena, Davouſt, Oudinot, and the King of Weſtphalia. Davouſt is on his way to Stettin, where preparations are making for eſtabliſhing his headquarters."

"Stockholm, March 2.—We have received information that five French Corps are marching againſt Ruſſia. As yet it is uncertain what meaſure this Court will adopt. From Stralſund we learn, that the French General has apologized for having hoiſted the French flag there on board the Sweditſh ſhipping when they entered that port. This meaſure ſeems more friendly towards Sweden."

"Gottenburgh, March 9.—It is again poſitively aſſerted here, that before 14 days we ſhall have peace with England, and it is further ſaid that all Sweditſh ports will ſoon be opened to that Power. The journey of BERNADOTTE is poſtponed to a further day."

"Hamburgh, March 11.—The French troops have evacuated this city, the Hans Towns, and the Kingdom of Weſtphalia, and the Dukes have marched in to do garriſon duty.

March 18.

The ſecond edition of a Dublin paper of Saturday, ſtates, that "The General commanding at Cove, has transmitted, by express, to Government, an account, that the Spaniards has taken Tarragona by aſſault, and put the garriſon, 3000 men to the ſword." [No ſuch account has reached miniſters.]

The Marchioneſs of Buckingham, breathed her laſt on Monday night laſt.

All the detachments belonging to regiments in Portugal, are to be immediately embarked for their reſpective regiments.

It was mentioned a few days ſince, that the deſpatches from Mr. Ruſſell to Joel Barlow, ſent by way of Morlaix, has been intercepted. We now find by a gentleman from that port, that the ſame trick has been played Mr. Barlow, in reſpect to his own deſpatches to Mr. Ruſſell, and the communication between theſe Public Envoys has been, on this account, we believe, wholly ſuſpended.—But, Bonaparte loves the Americans!

From Sweden.—A letter from Gottenburg to a reſpectable gentleman of Baltimore, dated 1ſt of March, ſays that the Sweditſh government had ſignified to the French, that in conſequence of their outrages, (and particularly the taking poſſeſſion of Pomerania). Sweden would open her ports to commerce, in defiance of the "Continental Syſtem;" that ſhe will place herſelf in the attitude of armed neutrality. This letter ſays nothing of the appointment of a Miniſter to the U. States.

NEW LONDON, April 15.

From France.—Came paſſengers in the John & Francis, arrived at New London from Bordeaux, Dr. Joſeph F. Guille, Captain Holden, &c. Captain Holden was maſter of the brig Dolly, of New-Orleans, which was captured by a French frigate, on his paſſage from Liverpool and burnt.

A paſſenger informs, that letters were received at Bordeaux on the 10th March, from Paris, mentioning that the Hornet was expected to ſail from Cherburgh, in 10 days. The Imperial Guards were marching from Spain, through Bordeaux for Paris. The preparations for the war in the North were immenſe, and beyond all former example. It was ſaid that Bonaparte had more than 400,000 troops in motion for this object—120,000 of whom were Polanders.

It was believed, in France that an accomodation would take place before the parties came to blows.

Information was received three days before the ſhip ſailed, that 300 new licences had been granted for the exportation of French produce and manufactures into England, with permiſſion to import colonial produce.

A brig had arrived at Bordeaux under Sweditſh colours from England, laden with copper. Licences continued to be granted for the importation of Weſt-India produce from the United States.

Tranſlated for the Philadelphia Regiſter, from Cadiz papers to the 26th of February.

CADIZ Feb. 23.

Our troops have gained poſſeſsion of Fort Olivo, adjoining Tarragon, and were actually preparing to aſſault the garriſon.

Gen. Ballefteros has lately had an action, at Cuſtama, with 2400 of the enemy, commanded by Gen. Maranchin, Governor of Malaga, who was killed in the affair; the field of battle was left covered with the ſlain; and 100 priſoners taken. Gen. Bollefteros purſued the enemy to within one league of Malaga, and then retreated, on diſcovering a body of the enemy advancing, compoſed of 2500 infantry, and 200 cavalry, under the command of Gen. Rie,

Killed in the above affair, Gen. Maranchin, a Colonel of the Poliſh regiment, No. 9. two commandants of battalions, and many other officers. It was all done at the point of the bayonet, and was supported with ſo much gallantry by our infantry, that the enemy was compelled to a ſhameful flight.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman dated Fort Madiſon, March 8, 1812.

We receive aſſurances every day by friendly Indians, that we are to be attacked at this poſt, by ſeveral nations, as ſoon as the river opens. I am convinced that an attack will be made here ſome time in the ſpring, and it is my opinion that the Indians will take this poſt, and murder every white perſon in it, unleſs we are reinforced in a very ſhort time.

We are at this time ſurrounded by ſcouting parties, who watch our movements; and one of thoſe parties, a few days paſt, caught one of the ſoldiers near half a mile from the Fort, and moſt inhumanly murdered him. He was absent two days without our knowing what had become of him—afterwards he was found by ſome friendly indians who brought him in. The ſight was enough to chill the blood of any feeling heart. His head was ſevered from his body, his arms cut off, and his heart taken out!

On the firſt of this month, five diſcharged ſoldiers, and a man that Mr. G. had hired, left this place for St. Louis. I ſent my horſe by the man, who agreed to take care of him in the neighbourhood of St. Louis, until I arrived there. I am however apprehenſive that the Indians have killed all the men and taken my horſe, as a Sac Indian informed me to day, that he ſaw a large horſe's track near this, which appeared to be going up the river.

I am very apprehenſive, that boats aſcending the river this ſpring will be robbed, and of courſe the crews killed.

It is reported that the Indians are about to cut off all communication between this place and St. Louis both by land and water, ſo that we cannot be reinforced.

A very friendly chief of the Sac nation told Mr. J. and myſelf, that unleſs we were reinforced within a ſhort time, we ſhould be maſſacred without diſcrimination! and that there were five nations had joined to take this Fort and Fort Chicago, on Lake Michigan. He mentioned four of the nations, viz: Winnibagoes, Pottawatomies, Shawanese, and Delawares—that they wait for the river to open, ſo that they can deſcend in canoes. From appearances, the ice will break in the courſe of a few days.

Extract of a letter received at Baltimore per ſchooner Independence from La Guira.

"A few days prior to our arrival, this town was almoſt deſtroyed by an earthquake; it commenced about 4 o'clock, P. M. on Thurſday the 26th March; its duration was about four minutes, and its effects horribly deſtructive; ſince my arrival there have been a few ſhocks, but no material damage done. Such is the alarm of the inhabitants that the town is entirely deſerted, and they are now living without the walls, beneath little tents and huts, which are erected merely to ſhelter them from the rain and heat of the ſun.

"It is not within the compaſs of my ability to deſcribe to you the miſery of theſe people; fear and deſpair, grief and ruin, have completely overwhelmed them. Parents have eſcaped, with the loſs of their children; children with the loſs of their parents, and very few without the loſs of their property. Already five hundred perſons have been found, and the probability is, that a greater number ſtill remain buried beneath the ruins. The deſtruction at Carraccas is much greater; 2500 bodies have been thrown up on the funeral pile and burned already, and it is ſuppoſed that from 5 to 10,000 ſouls are loſt.—Out of 40 churches in that place two convents only remain ſtanding. Such is the lamentable ſituation of theſe two places, that it will be a long time before they can be reinſtated. No buſineſs of any nature is doing. All the Americans here will go to Puerto Cabello."

The following melancholy narration was addreſſed to a reſpectable Merchant of Philadelphia, who has favoured us with a copy for our Readers:

"Ruins of Laguira, April 2, 1812.

"DEAR SIR,

"Many times in my life have I experienced the goodneſs of a Merciful God towards me, but never ſo conſpicuouſly as in my preſervation during the tremendous exertion of His Power, which has ſhaken the mountains to their foundation, and levelled the greateſt part of this city, as alſo that of Carraccas, with the ground—thouſands and tens of thouſands have been buried, and moſt of them now lie, beneath the ruins. The ſtench, ariſing from the dead bodies, is intolerable—ſuch of them as could be come at have been thrown into the ſea, or collected in to heaps and burned to aſhes. It is imagined that ſeven-eighths of the houſes in this city are demoliſhed, and of thoſe which ſtill ſtand, there are not perhaps twenty that will be found tenable. The cuſtom houſe, which was built very ſtrong, is not much injured—the houſe which I occupy is three ſtories high and was likewiſe very ſtrong—it ſtood the ſhock without falling, but it was ſo much injured that I do not intend to ſleep in it, eſpecially as we are conſtantly kept in a ſtate of alarm by the frequent ſhocks which have daily taken place ever ſince the twenty-ſixth ultimo. When the firſt great ſhock occurred I ran out of my houſe, and, in my amazement, I turned round and beheld it rocking like a cradle, which, with the roaring of the earthquake, the ſcreams of the people, and the craſhing, perhaps, of a thouſand buildings, made the ſcene horrible beyond deſcription!"

Extract of a letter from a gentleman at Laguira, to his friend in Philadelphia, dated April 2, 1812.

"I cannot ſufficiently thank the Almighty Diſpoſer of events, for reſcuing me from death, while it played no idle part in this place.

On Thurſday, at 4 P. M. 26th of March, a ſevere ſhock of an earthquake was felt here. I came from the eaſt. On its firſt approach, it appeared as though there were a diſcharge in the neighbourhood of ſome thouſands of cannon; a moment after the earth began to raiſe about 18 inches, and ran in waves for about two ſeconds, of at leaſt that height, it continued altogether for about one & a half minutes, during which time it proſtrated more than two thirds of the houſes, and rendered the others untenantable, killed at leaſt one half of the inhabitants, and wounded very many.—Neither the ſtrongeſt fancy nor the brighteſt imagination, can come any way near to pourtraying the diſmal aſpect of the ſcene. Words to deſcribe it are not in uſe; you can form no idea of it. On every ſide was to be heard my wife, my huſband, my children, my ſiſters, my brothers, where are they, where are they! They are dead! oh they have periſhed! Theſe words were uttered in the ſtrongeſt tones of anguiſh and deſpair.—Carraccas has loſt about 10,000 of its inhabitants.—It was on one of the Holidays, a day rendered remarkable in Chriſtian annals, by being the anniverſary of that day on which our Saviour was nailed to the croſs, an hour only before a repreſentation of that ceremony was to have been carried through the ſtreets.—Every church was full, and every one was ſhaken to the earth. To the amount of 900 or a 1000 perſons, can be counted in 2 churches, all having periſhed. Not a houſe in Caraccas is inhabited. The people have as well as here, left the place and raiſed tents in the open fields. I was a witneſs of the interment of about 50, who on their knees were imploring the proteſtion of the Divinity, and who at a leſs diſtance than 20 ſteps, were covered by the falling of two houſes. My dear friend, it was dreadful to behold, & never will the remembrance of it be effaced from my memory. The heart-rending ſhrieks of thoſe who had loſt their friends, joined to the diſmal groans of the wounded and dying, were enough to cauſe the ſtrongeſt and moſt ſtubborn heart to feel the miſeries of mankind.—Even now, every thing ſmells of death. No more than one third of the unfortunates have been found, thoſe that have been are either thrown into the ſea or burned. Laguira will never aſſume its former appearance; no, never: ſuch a hope is vanity. The ſtreets are filled with ruins. About 20 ſlight ſhocks have been felt ſince."

Extract of a letter from New Orleans, dated March 07.

"There are accounts juſt received here that the province of Mexico is in a very confuſed ſtate. Ryan, a Spaniſh Nobleman, and under him two or three Americans of high rank, are at the head of the Revolutioniſts, and are carrying all before them. It was thought the internal provinces would ſoon be independent."

We inſert the following from the Ontario Meſſenger, publiſhed at Canandaigua, which, we doubt not, had the ordinary effect with nervous matrons, and ſuch loquacious patriots as overflow with Amor Patria.—It recommends the Editor of the conſternation which was ſpread (during the American Rebellion) in the neighborhood of his nativity (near Albany) through the miſchievous waggery of a courier—which was briefly—this courier went weekly to Albany, and one of his ſtopping places was a houſe adjoining the houſe of a Committeeman, the buſineſs of whoſe wife was to collect news for her huſband, whoſe official ſtation required much public and private intelligence. The good woman knew to a moment the time of his arriving at her neighbor's, and ſhe invariably rendezvouſed there at the ſame inſtant, and uſhered herſelf in with "well Mr. Poſt what news?" Annoyed by her inquiſitive intruſions, the fellow, to rid himſelf of ſuch a peſt ſaid, in one inſtance, "Ah Ma'm, woful news this time—the Regulars and Indians, to the number of 10,000 are now undermining Lake George and Lake Champ[illegible] to turn their courſes this way and overflow nine tenths of all North America."—This, our antiquated Dame, ſwallowed as faſt, and the hue and cry with all its groteſque horrors, overſpread the neighborhood—ſuffice it to ſay, that it required the exertion of all the oratory and reaſoning of a Mr. Gardiner (a Preſbyterian Parſon) to remove the ridiculous impreſſion.—He, in his firſt admonition to the Dame ſtated, that in the Scriptures it was declared, that the general diſſolution of the world would take place by fire, and that it would not be deluged a ſecond time by water.—She ſaid "it was impoſſible, for the Continental Poſtman told her otherwiſe, and ſhe would believe him before all the Bibles in the World."

In preſenting to our readers this extraordinary fabrication, which for their amuſement we have copied from the Ontario Meſſenger of the 28th ult. (a democratic paper,) we do not think it neceſſary to offer any comment.

Our Democratic brethren may find, when too late, how miſerably they have been deceived in calculating upon our diſaffection to our government.

CANANDAIGUA, April 28.

Diſturbances in Canada.—We every day hear accounts of new and ſerious diſturbances happening in Canada. The Britiſh government have inſiſted on the oath of allegiance being taken by all ranks, claſſes and deſcriptions of perſons. Many have refuſed, and in conſequence they are immediately baniſhed. The diſaffected are every day arriving within our lines.

A bloody ſcene was lately exhibited at York, The militia are called upon to parade ſix days in a month and are exerciſed and diſciplined by the officers of the Britiſh army. It ſeems a citizen was guilty of ſome trifling error in manœuvring, and was immediately ordered to be flogged by the drummer. This was executed amidſt great murmurs. At the next parade, the ſame private appeared with his equipments in complete order. The commanding officer, probably ſuſpicious of ſome deſign, inſpected his arms, and undertook to take away his firelock, this was reſiſted; the private was again ordered to be flogged. A man in the ranks threatened to ſhoot the firſt man that offered to ſtrike a blow, the drummer was ordered to proceed, he ſtruck one blow, & was immediately ſhot through the head and dropped. A general mutiny immediately enſued, and a bloody engagement between the militia and the regular ſoldiers commenced, in which about thirty lives were loſt. Eighteen of the militia have been ſeized and ſent to Quebec, to be tranſported to England, there to be tried for treaſon. Such is the account which we have received through various channels, and which we believe to be correct. There can be no doubt that there exiſts a general ſpirit of diſaffection to the government, which is reſtrained ſolely by the preſence of the ſoldiery.

Buffalo April 25, 1812.

AT a meeting of a number of the inhabitants of this village, held this afternoon, at the house of Raphael Cook, for the purpoſe of expreſſing their ſenſe on certain Reports in circulation, highly prejudical to the ſettlement and improvement of this part of the country—

E. WALDEN, Esq. Chairman,
ISAAC DAVIS, Secretary

The meeting having taken into conſideration the object for which they had been called, adopted the following Recitals and Reſolutions:

WHEREAS reports are in circulation, that a number of Indians and white People were embodied on the Canada ſide of Niagara river, near Newark, for the purpoſe of making a deſcent upon the inhabitants of the American ſide of ſaid River.

And whereas we have been credibly informed, that MR. JAMES WIGTON, THE BRANCH OPERATOR TO THIS OFFICE IN THE WESTERN PART OF THIS STATE, on his return to Albany, while paſſing through ſome of the counties to the eaſtward, reported that an attack of deſerter had been made by the Indians from Canada, and that a number of the Inhabitants on the American ſide had been killed.

And whereas, pains have been taken to aſcertain the truth of theſe Reports, and upon the inquiry, it has been found that the aforeſaid reports are groundleſs—that neither the Indians nor the white Inhabitants on the Canada ſide of the River, have, by aſſembling, or in any other way, evinced an hoſtile intention or diſpoſition towards the Inhabitants on the American ſide—but, on the contrary, the civil authority on the Canada ſide, have, with a promptitude highly honorable, uſed means to prevent their ſubjects, from committing acts, which might be conſtrued into a menace or diſreſpect, towards the American citizens—Therefore,

RESOLVED, that this meeting regard with deep regret, the circulation of the aforeſaid groundleſs reports, as having a tendency to excite great alarm among our citizens—to check the progreſs of improvements—and to prevent emigration to this part of the country

Reſolved, That this meeting do greatly lament that any perſon ſhould, through want of conſideration, or through deſign, originate groundleſs reports, ſo highly prejudical to our proſperity; and it is a circumſtance much to be regretted, that men of influence in this country ſhould give a currency to them, whoſe local ſituation afforded an opportunity for acquiring correct information

Reſolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be publiſhed.

E. WALDEN, Chairman.
I. DAVIS, Sec'y.

Laſt Sunday morning a man of the name of Ames, his ſon, daughter, ſon-in law and an Indian, upſet in a ſkiff croſſing Cook's Bay, and were all unfortunately drowned. The ſkiff together with a ſmall keg containing ſome whiſkey were taken up in Lake Simcoe. Neither of the bodies have yet been found that we could hear of.

The following Circular Letter has been addressed to the Commanding Officers of Militia Regiments in this Province :—

HEAD QUARTERS,

Sir,

THE power which is vested in the person administering the Government by the amended Act of the Militia, passed the last Session of the Provincial Parliament, of forming two Flank Companies, to be taken indiscriminately from the Battalions, being limited to the end of the ensuing Session, would almost deter me from incurring public expence upon a system which will cease to operate before its utility and efficacy can well be ascertained.

But being anxious at this important crisis, to organize an Armed Force, with a view of meeting future exigencies, and likewise to demonstrate by practical experience, the degree of facility with which the Militia may be trained for service ; I have to request you to adopt immediate measures for forming and completing from among such men as voluntarily offer to serve, TWO COMPANIES, not to exceed Cap. Sub. Drum. Serg. R. & F each, in the Regiment under your Command

You will have the goodness to recommend two Captains whom you conceive the best qualified to undertake this important duty—the nomination of the Subalterns is left to your discretion.

Such other Regiments as are conveniently situated to receive Military instruction, shall have an opportunity afforded them of shewing their ardour in the Public Service, which cannot fail creating a laudable emulation among the different Corps.

Affished by your zeal, prudence and intelligence, I entertain the pleasing hope of meeting with very considerable success, and of being able to establish the sound policy of rendering permanent to the end of the present War, a mode of Military instruction little burdensome to individuals, and every way calculated to secure a powerful internal defence against hostile aggression

Every possible aid will be afforded by the appointment of fit persons to assist you in training both officers and men.

Printed Rules and Regulations for your future guidance, shall be forwarded as soon as possible ; the most simple, and at the same time the most useful movements have been selected for the practice of the Militia.

Experience has shewn the absolute necessity of adopting every possible precaution to preserve in a proper state the Arms issued to the Militia, and of guarding against the heavy defalcations that have heretofore occurred.

For which purpose you are authorized to prepare one or more Depots, in situations the most safe and convenient for assembling and drilling the men by squads, and where the Arms are to be lodged after each day of exercise.

You are allowed to charge in your Contingent Account, at the rate of Five Pounds yearly for every Twenty Muskets issued for the use of the Men ; which sum it is expected will prove ample to defray every expence of keeping the Arms and Accoutrements in a complete State of repair.

The Arms and Accoutrements now in possession of the Militia, having been directed to be delivered into Store at the nearest Military P. S. application will be made to the Officer Commanding, for the number or each wanting to complete the men actually regarded to serve in the Flank Companies ; and the officer has been instructed to comply with your requisition upon your signing duplicate Receipts, one of which is to be forwarded to Head Quarters, that you may become responsible for the Articles delivered to your order. At the same time, the most liberal confruction will be given to any representation accounting for such contingencies as are incident to the service.

The Officer in Command of the Garrison of [ ] has been directed to furnish you with such non-commissioned Officers and Privates from the Regulars as you may require, to instruct the Volunteers in their duty.

A charge will be allowed in your Contingent Account, at the rate of 3/6 Halifax per day, for each non-commissioned Officer, and 1/6 for each Private, when they are employed

One non-commissioned Officer and two Privates, it is imagined, will prove sufficient for the two Companies ; and you will take care that this temporary aid be no longer resorted to than the nature of the Service may render necessary.

[ ] has been appointed to perform the duties of Adjutant, under your command :—Should you find him incompetent to the talk, you will feel it your duty to report the circumstance, from whatever source it may arise.

I cannot dismiss this subject without expressing my expectations that your knowledge of the localities of the country will enable you to make such arrangements as will give the utmost facility to the attainment of the important object in view, without subjecting the men to any material inconvenience, Coming generously forward with an offer of their services, they are the more entitled to every confideration.

Not only the place, but likewise the time the most proper for the assembling of the Companies or squads, will be strictly attended to by you ; as it is my earnest wish that the little the men have to learn may be acquired by way of a pastime, and not looked upon in the light of an irksome task. Indeed, generality of the Inhabitants being already acquainted with the use of the Musket, have the less to learn. You may therefore, under trifling circumfiances, limit the Parade of the Companies to three times in each Month.

A little attention on the part of the men, will very soon enable you to reduce even that short term of attendance.

The chief object of the Flank Companies, is to have conftantly in readiness, a force composed of Loyal, Brave, and Respectable Young Men, so far instructed as to enable the Government, on any emergency, to engraft such portions of the Militia as may be necessary, on a Stock capable of giving aid in forming them for Military service.

To your prudence and exertions I confidently look, for the attainment of a system so evidently conducive to the safety and tranquility of the Province.

I have the honor to be
Sir,
Your Most Obedient
(Signed) ISAAC BROCK, M. G.
& President.

Adjutant General's Office,
York, 29th April, 1812.

AS it is not afcertained whether Government will provide Clothing for the Militia, for which application has been made, His Honor the President recommends, in the event of any portion of them being, in the mean time, called into the Field, that for their own convenience, as well as the benefit of the Service, each Man, as far as his circumftances and fituation allows, will provide himself with a Short Coat of fome dark colored Cloth made to button well round the Body, and Pantaloons fuited to the Seafon, with the addition of a Round Hat. It is very defirable that as much uniformity as poffible be obferved in providing this equipment, which will benefit the Public Service, and be equally fit for Private ufe. LONDON, March 28.

Cadiz papers to the 23d contain an account of a victory having been obtained by General Lacy between Reus and Tarragona. The French corps which was defeated on this occaſion, was a reinforcement for the garriſon of Tatragona, 800 of whom were taken priſoners; the killed and wounded amounted to twice that number.

In Catalonia the Spaniards have 20,000 men in arms, notwithſtanding their late reverſes in that quarter; which has the effect of preventing Suchet from ſending off any detachment to Marmont. All are in high ſpirits at Cadiz.

Blake has been deprived of his office of Counſellor of State, by the Cortes, on the ground of his being a priſoner of war. It was propoſed, that his conduct at Valencia ſhould be publicly ſtated, as the ground of his deprivation of office, but this was negatived.

A Foreign Journal gives the following as a correct ſtatement of the annual produce of the mines of Ruſſia: —Sixteen hundred pounds of gold, fifty thouſand of ſilver, two millions of lead, eight millions of copper, 623 millions of iron, and 156,000 lbs. of vitriol. From the working of thoſe mines the Crown derives a revenue of ſix millions and a half of rubles.

MARCH 30.

Deſpatches have been received from Sir Henry Wellesley, at Cadiz, and letters and papers from that place to the 18th March. The French beſieging army has been greatly weakened by a ſtrong detachment having been ſent off to co-operate in a freſh attack upon Tariffa. The new Regency has refuſed to ratify the Treaty entered into between Elio and the inhabitants of Buenos Ayres.

A Law has been paſſed making it death for any perſon to ſhip any kind of produce whatever, to any port or place in the poſſeſſion of the enemy.

FROM PORTUGAL.

Mr. Bacon, who left Lisbon March 26, has favored us with the following information:—

The head quarters of the Engliſh and Portugueſe army are at Elvas. Gen. Hill marched on the 14th inſt. with a diviſion of the army for Merida, where there were two battalions of French, and Gen Graham was to croſs the Guadiana to cut off their retreat. The French fearing a ſurpriſe had been in the habit of croſſing that river every night, and remaining until the morning, when they returned again to Merida. Badajoz was inveſted on the 17th, the ground broken on the 18th, the French made a ſortie with 2000 men on the 19th, and were repulſed with the loſs of 350 men, killed and wounded, the loſs of the combined armies was about 40 or 50. Deſertions from Badajoz were very frequent; reports of deſertions that the place could not hold out a fortnight for want of proviſions. The laſt returns of the Engliſh and Portugueſe were 51,000 infantry, and 5900 cavalry, 170 pieces cannon. Marmont's army conſiſts of about 37,000 extending from Placentia towards Salamanca. Soult was with the army before Cadiz—Suchet in Valencia. Two regiments of horſe had left Lisbon ſince the returns above mentioned.

FROM SWEDEN.

Extract of a Letter from Gottenburgh, Sweden, March 11.

"Every body looks upon us to be on the eve of a war with France. Bonaparte has marched 20,000 troops into Pomerania under pretext that Sweden had not adhered to the continental ſyſtem, but ſuffered the importation of colonial produce, for which ſearch was made, but none of conſequence found. The French troops nevertheleſs remain, and make the inhabitants maintain them. There were about 9000 Swediſh troops, which government have ſent for, but the French wont let them come. Sweden reſents all this, and is expected to declare herſelf neutral, but it is ſuppoſed France would then declare war on us. But with a Britiſh and Ruſſian alience we think we ſhould be ſecure, 25000 Swediſh troops are to be drawn into Soania, as a defence againſt the Danes, who Bonaparte may force to declare againſt us. Our Crown Prince is very popular for taking the part he does. A private Secretary of his, a Frenchman, has betrayed his truſt, and given information to the French of all our plans and proceedings.—He is arreſted, and it is thought will loſe his life. A Swediſh officer of rank, Tibell, who is in France, has been concerned with him, and has been recalled, but refuſes to come. The Swediſh Commander in Pomerania, if he returns will certainly be ſentenced to be ſhot for not reſiſting the French. We look upon peace with England as certain, and a Britiſh Miniſter is ſoon expected here."

INTERESTING INTELLIGENCE

Extract of a letter from Cadiz, to a gentleman in Boſton, dated February 24, 1812.

Dear Sir—The concerns of this country have eſſentially changed ſince I was here laſt—at that time the Spaniards were confident of their own reſources—repulſing the efforts of the Engliſh to coalleſce with them in any degree of cordial and military —exhaling for effect a making laws for diſtricts not in their poſſeſſion; and in ſhort, every labour except the neceſſary one of checking the enemy. This ſyſtem has ſince that time, perſhed in its own weakneſs and on its ruins has been eſtabliſhed one, that promiſes all that can be promiſed, and ſhould it fail, it muſt be from a change in the diſpoſitions of its members, or ſome unforeſeen fruſtration of their plans. The head of it (whoſe name has been often repeated in America) is the ſtead of Torpedo Blake, in O'Donnel, the defender of Catalonia, and the mover of the moſt vigorous operations during the war.—His character is that of a man of unbounded honor, of activity and peculiar boldneſs. His firſt military decree ſtamps the man. It was a damper of family pride, by attempting to sweep away the number of titled equeſtrian regiments, which all gentlemen of ſafety, and hold the commiſſions of officers with requiſites for privates. His decree ordered all thoſe who could not be received in regiments, to be formed into a corps of ſcouts to be always in the hotteſt ſervice, as candidates for promotion and patterns to others. Thoſe who delayed to enroll themſelves forfeited their commiſſions and are rendered liable to be preſſed into the ranks as privates. Adjoined to him as ſecunds, are the Duke of Infantado, late ambaſſador to London, and two others, whoſe names are not known the other ſide the water.

The poſitive advantage of this change is the ſubſtitution of practical men in the place of theoriſts, men who diſcard patriotal vanity in the outſet, and choose rather to ensure their liberty by leaning to the Britiſh, than forego it by a precarious dependence on their own ſtrength, the conſequence has been the lopping off of many uſeleſs appendages, that hung to the old ſyſtem; and oppreſſed it.

It has repreſſed the ſtrong feeling of the Cortes in their diſcuſſion on the adoption of a Conſtitution, by reminding them that it is adviſable to get the country before they attempt to reform it.

Hitherto their efforts have been principally military, leaving for the more tranquil movements whatever may relate to the civil department—inſtead of ſcolding their troops permanently into the field, they rather, when poſſible, withdraw them, in order, by previous preparation to insure their unſhrunk when their ſervices may be required.—For this laſt purpoſe of preparation, they have sanctioned the eſtabliſhment of Depots (as in Portugal) under Britiſh guidance. They have conſtituted Ballaſteros, Captain General of Andaluſia, with a force gradually increaſing from drafts of the peaſantry, who are placed in the depots before mentioned, nor allowed to join the corps until they are diſciplined and pronounced effective. The former prevailing propenſity for large armies has been reſtrained by repeated orders given to the Guerillas, ſuch as Mina, Empecinado and others who at a slight expence to their own country, hang about the enemy, and are well known. The only by the fatal conſequences of their approach. The military, in ſaid, in every direction have inhibited new life from the vigour of the hant that governs them. The ſpirit of the nation is kept alive, by gallant occaſional efforts of Mina, Empecinado and others, and more than all, and in a large ſcale by Ballaſteros, who lately, by a vigorous deſcent on Grenada, obliged an enemy of ſuperior force to take refuge within the walls of Malaga, and who is ſtill maſter of the hopes of the countrymen, that he may be the Pelagio of their age.

The Britiſh are withdrawing from that negative warfare which they have hitherto conducted, and appear to be preparing for more poſitive proſpects, which if it arrives at maturity, will compel the French to evacuate the largeſt portion of Andaluſia and Estremadura, and leave free the whole north weſtern part of the Peninſula. By the capture of Ciudad Rodrigo and the inveſtment of Badajoz (which miſtaty men say cannot reſiſt) it is preſumed and understood, that Lord Wellington's policy is to push his force in a parellel (or nearly) with Ciudad Rodrigo and Badajoz, as you will ſee by the map including Seres and Seville, and will entirely reach as Gibralter or ſome diſtrict in the rear of Cadiz, the right of which will neceſſarily be raiſed, ſhould ſuch an expanſion take effect.

To oppoſe this the French marſhals have only their own talents and the ſamiſhed force at preſent under their command, no new concepts having been ſent into the country, and their exiſting exertions drawing them from enrolling the Spaniards.

On the taking of Ciudad Rodrigo, Lord Wellington gave the keys of the city to Caſtanos the former governor, from whomſt was taken telling him with ſare regreſt, that Ciudad Rodrigo had paſt its allegiance to Ferdinand, or its governor he had buried under its ruins.

Marſhal Soult has lately come from Seville, to the camp before Badajoz to receive the two half ſtarved followers. The city and garriſon of Cadiz, are under the guidance of the Britiſh, and their ſafety may be deemed equal to that of Gibraltar."

LOUISVILLE, (Ken.) April 17.

By a gentleman direct from Vincennes, on whom reliance may be placed, we have the following information:—An expreſs arrived to Gov. Harriſon on Sunday morning, with the intelligence that the Indians, had recently burnt a houſe on the N. W. ſide of the Wabaſh river about 30 miles from Vincennes. The expreſs ſtated, ſays our informant, that a young man who lived about the houſe was seen murdered in the yard. The family, which conſiſted of women and children, were gone, not known whither—perhaps taken priſoners.

He likewiſe adds, that on his return (Monday laſt) he met an expreſs going on to the governor with intelligence that a man was lately found killed and ſcalped, and attempted to be thrown into Driftwood, fork of White River, but was lodged, and that two men were miſſing out of the ſettlement, who had not been heard of for three days.

Captain Plumer juſt arrived from Cayenne, informs, that a packet boat arrived the day before he ſailed from Surinam, which informed that he law the day before, juſt off Cayenne, a French ſquadron, conſiſting of three frigates, one 74; two corvetts and a gun-brig, and that an Engliſh force, were in purſuit of them. They appeared to be running down the coaſt.

Dreadful effects of Earthquakes.

Official letter from the General commanding the troops of Coro de Domingo Campo Verde, to His Excellency the Governor and commander in chief of the province of Coro.

By the depoſitions of ſeveral individuals, I am informed of the unfortunate event that has viſited the city of Barquiſimeto, which was on the 26th of March, buried under its ruins in a moſt dreadful earthquake, which was generally through the province; all the villages belonging to this diſtrict and the city of Jouyo, with the greateſt part of the villages belonging to Barquiſimeto, have come and offered ſubmiſſion under the banners of Ferdinand the 7th, imploring protection from the vexations of their enemies. Forty men and twenty muſkets more have gone this day to Quiron. I am now only waiting for the reinforcement from Coro, to take poſſeſſion of the ruins of Barquiſimeto.

Your Excellency will endeavor to ſend me a reinforcement of 800 or 1000 men, to enable me to attack Valencia. The Marian troops and thoſe of the regiment of Lapeyos are there, that I want the moſt, therefore I hope from your Excellency's activity, that they will come ſoon to join me.

The enthuſiaſm of my troops, and the cowardice manifeſted by the enemy, aſſures me of ſucceſs to all my undertakings; adding to this, the panic and terror, with which the inhabitants are ſtruck, ſince the dreadful earthquake which has deſtroyed the armed cities, I have no doubt that the army will eventually conquer the provinc of Venezuela. I have intimated the condition of Truxillo, and expect it will capitulate before experiencing the fate of Coro.

God preſerve your Excellency many years.—Head Quarters, Coro, the 29th of March, 1812.

(Signed) DOMINGO MONTE VERDE.

Memorandum of the cities known to this day, to have been deſtroyed by the earthquakes from the 26th to the 28th inſtant, with the greater part of the inhabitants buried. The city of Barquiſimeto, totally deſtroyed; Arlaqua, ſunk; Santa Rosa, do. Caudare, deſtroyed; Phelipe, ſtill worſe; St. Charles, do. Caremacate, in a bad ſituation.

It is preſumed that Carracas and other places have equally ſuffered. And other particulars that may hereafter come to my knowledge, ſhall be immediately communicated to your Excellency.

To the preceeding cities that have ſuffered by the Earthquakes, we have already announced the following:—Carracas, Victoria, Valencia, Porto Cavello, Laguira, New Barcelona, Maiquetia, and Cumana.

SALEM, May 1.

By a French gentleman who came paſſenger in the America from Gottenburg, and who has reſided in the north for ſome time paſt, we learn, that the warlike preparations in that quarter of Europe had not abated, and that a war between France and Ruſſia appeared inevitable. It was even reported at Gottenburg that ſome ſkirmiſhing had taken place. The Ruſſian forces concentrated upon the frontiers were ſtated at 150,000 men. The King of Pruſſia had withdrawn the remains of his armies to the confines of Ruſſia, & had himſelf retired within that empire where he had been preceded by ſome diſtinguiſhed Pruſſians, his whole kingdom being in the power of the French. In Sweden, the general ſentiment was ſtrong againſt the French, whole power in the north however was very great.

NEW YORK May 9

By the ſhip Emulation, capt. Kingſbury, in 23 days from Corunna we learn that the Spaniards have agreed to augment their army in Gallicia to 60,000 men, which army was to be clothed by the Britiſh. The French had evacuated Gijon, a conſiderable number of French priſoners had arrived and were daily arriving at Corunna.

THE YORK GAZETTE.

SATURDAY, MAY 23, 1812.

A melancholy occurrence took place on Thurſday night laſt at Dye's Tavern on Yonge Street—a man of the name of Fuller (lately from the United States, by occupation a maſon) had been arreſted for a ſmall ſum, and was brought to Mr. Dye's, where Colonel Graham was, who took Mr. Dye as his bail.—Fuller having drank pretty freely before, left aſleep on his chair, where he remained till after all in the houſe went to bed—in the morning Mr. Dye was roufed out of bed by a man he employed to clear and ſtone his well, ſaying, "Fuller (that was found in the well houſe," and expreſſing his fears that he had fallen into the well—upon which grapling irons were immediately thrown down, and the body with ſome difficulty, by reaſon of its being wedged in the bottom, was dragged up, with the appearance of many contuſions received in his fall. From many circumſtances, ſuch as, that all the buttons of his pantaloons or trowſers, being unloſed, and that an impulſe of nature had called the man out, and miſſiking the place, the well being unfiniſhed, he fell in and periſhed.—The Editor is authoriſed by Mr. Dye to ſtate, that although he well which has already coſt him a large ſum, in its unfiniſhed ſtate ſhall not be completed but immediately filled up, to prevent the occurrence of a ſimilar accident, and alſo to accommodate the feelings of all who may favor him by calling at his houſe.

In addition to the melancholy accounts of the deveſtations of the earthquake at Carracas and its neighbourhood, we are ſorry to find that the Canary Iſlands, particularly Teneriffe, are in a ſtate of famine, occaſioned by the deſtructive effects of the locuſts.

The following Circular Letter has been addreſſed to the Commanding Officers of Militia Regiments in this Province :—

HEAD QUARTERS,

SIR,

THE power which is veſted in the perſon adminiſtering the Government by the amended Act of the Militia, paſſed the laſt Seſſion of the Provincial Parliament, of forming two Flank Companies, to be taken indiſcriminately from the Battalion, being limited to the end of the enſuing Seſſion, would almoſt deter me from incurring public expence upon a ſyſtem which will, ceaſe to operate before its utility and efficacy can well be aſcertained.

But being anxious at this important criſis, to organize an Armed Force, with a view of meeting future exigencies, and likewiſe to demonſtrate by practical experience, the degree of facility with which the Militia may be trained for ſervice ; I have to requeſt you to adopt immediate meaſures for forming and completing from among each men as voluntarily offer to ſerve, TWO COMPANIES, not to exceed Cap. Sub. Drum Serg. R. & F each, in the Regiment under your Command

You will have the goodneſs to recommend two Captains whom you conceive the beſt qualified to undertake this important duty—the nomination of the Subalterns is left to your diſcretion.

Such other Regiments as are conſtantly ſituated to receive Military inſtruction, ſhall have an opportunity afforded them of ſhewing their ardour in the Public Service, which cannot fail creating a laudable emulation among the different Corps.

Aſſiſted by your zeal, prudence and intelligence, I entertain the pleaſing hope of meeting with very conſiderable ſucceſs, and of being able to eſtabliſh the ſound policy of rendering permanent to the end of the preſent War, a mode of Military inſtruction little burdenſome to individuals, and every way calculated to ſecure a powerful internal defence againſt hoſtile aggreſſion.

Every poſſible aid will be afforded by the appointment of fit perſons to aſſiſt you in training both officers and men.

Printed Rules and Regulations for your future guidance, ſhall be forwarded as ſoon as poſſible ; the moſt ſimple, and at the ſame time the moſt uſeful movements have been ſelected for the practice of the Militia.

Experience has ſhewn the abſolute neceſſity of adopting every poſſible precaution to preſerve in a proper ſtate the Arms iſſued to the Militia, and of guarding againſt the heavy deſtlcations that have heretofore occurred.

For which purpoſe you are authoriſed to prepare one or more Depots, in ſituations the moſt ſafe and convenient for aſſembling and drilling the men by equade, and where the Arms are to be lodged after each day of exercive.

You are allowed to charge in your Contingent Account, at the rate of Five Pounds yearly for every Twenty Muſkets iſſued for the uſe of the Men ; which ſum it is expected will prove ample to defray every expence of keeping the Arms and Accoutrements in a complete ſtate of repair.

The Arms and Accoutrements now in poſſeſſion of the Militia, having been directed to be delivered into Store at the neareſt Military Poſt, application will be made to the Officer Commanding, for the number of each wanting to complete the men actually engaged to ſerve in the Flank Companies ; and the officer has been inſtructed to comply with your requiſition upon your ſigning duplicate Receipts, one of which is to be forwarded to Head Quarters, that you may become reſponſible for the Articles delivered to your order. At the ſame time, the moſt liberal conſtruction will be given to any repreſentation accounting for ſuch contingencies as are incident to the ſervice

The Officer in Command of the Garriſon of [ ] has been directed to furniſh you with ſuch non-commiſſioned Officers and Privates from the Regulars as you may require, to inſtruct the Volunteers in their duty.

A charge will be allowed in your Contingent Account, at the rate of 3/6 Halifax per day, for each non-commiſſioned Officer, and 1/6 for each Private, when they are ſo employed

One non-commiſſioned Officer and two Privates, it is imagined, will prove ſufficient for the two Companies ; and you will take care that this temporary aid be no longer resorted to than the nature of the Service may render neceſſary

[ ] has been appointed to perform the duties of Adjutant, under your command :—Should you find him incompetent to the taſk, you will feel it your duty to report the circumſtance, from whatever ſource it may ariſe.

I cannot diſmiſs this ſubject without expreſſing my expectations that your knowledge of the localities of the country will enable you to make ſuch arrangements as will give the utmoſt facility to the attainment of the important object in view, without ſubjecting the men to any material inconvenience. Coming generouſly forward with an offer of their ſervices, they are the more entitled to every conſideration.

Not only the places, but likewiſe the time the moſt proper for the aſſembling of the Companies or equads, will be ſtrictly attended to by you :—It is my earneſt wiſh that the little the men have to learn may be acquired by way of a paſtime, and not looked upon in the light of an irkſome reſtraint :—The generality of the Inhabitants being already acquainted with the uſe of the Muſket, have the leſs to learn. You may therefore under exiſting circumſtances, limit the Parade of the Companies to three times in each Month.

A little attention on the part of the men, will very ſoon enable you to reduce even that ſhort term of attendance.

The chief object of the Flank Companies, is to have conſtantly in readineſs, a force compoſed of Loyal, Brave, and Reſpectable Young Men, ſo inſtructed as to enable the Government, on any emergency, to engraft ſuch portions of the Militia as may be neceſſary, on a ſtock capable of giving aid in forming them for Military ſervice.

To your prudence and exertions I confidently look, for the attainment of a ſyſtem ſo evidently conducive to the ſafety and tranquility of the Province.

I have the honour to be
Sir,
Your Moſt Obedient
Humble Servant,
(Signed) ISAAC BROCK, M. G.

Adjutant General's Office,
York, 29th April, 1812.

AS it is not aſcertained whether Government will provide Clothing for the Militia, for which application has been made, His Honor the Preſident recommends, in the event of any portion of them being, in the mean time, called into the Field, that for their own convenience, as well as the benefit of the Service, each Man, as far as his circumſtances and ſituation allows, will provide himſelf with a Short Coat of ſome dark colored Cloth made to button well round the Body, and Pantaloons ſuited to the Seaſon, with the addition of a Round Hat. It is very deſirable that as much uniformity as poſſible be obſerved in providing this equipment, which will benefit the Public Service, and be equally fit for Private uſe. It is alſo recommended to the Officers on every occaſion when in the Field, to dreſs in conformity to the Men, in order to avoid the bad conſequence of a conſpicuous Dreſs.

GEORGE the THIRD by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland King, Defender of the Faith.

To all our loving Subjects in the Province of Upper Canada. GREETING.

WHEREAS we being deeply impressed with the Calamities by means of a long and destructive War, with which it has pleased Almighty God to visit us, and being duly sensible that we justly deserve such Punishment, yet still humbly trusting (however unworthily) in the Divine Favour, we have thought fit by and with the advice of our Executive Council for the Province of Upper Canada, to issue this our Royal Proclamation, hereby appointing and commanding that a day of PUBLIC FASTING and HUMILIATION before GOD be observed throughout our said Province upon FRIDAY the Nineteenth Day of JUNE next: And we do hereby strictly charge and command, that the said Day of Public Fasting and Humiliation be reverently and devoutly observed by all our loving Subjects in our said Province, upon pain of such Punishment as we may justly inflict upon all such as contemn or neglect the performance of so Religious a Duty.

IN testimony whereof we have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed, Witness our trusty and well beloved ISSAAC BROCK, Esq. our President administering the Government of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces within our said Province, at York, this fifteenth day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and twelve and fifty-second year of our Reign. PROCLAMATION

FRANCIS GORE, Lieut. Governor.

George the Third by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland King, Defender of the Faith.

WHEREAS Information has been received, that sundry Persons have entered our Woods within our Province of Upper Canada, with intent, in defiance of the Law, to cut down Timber Trees, not being Specially Licenced thereunto by authority derived under our Privy Seal, or that of our Lieutenant Governor of our said Province. It is hereby Notified, that any Person cutting Timber on our Crown Lands ungranted, or on our Crown and Clergy Reserves, within our said Province, is thereby guilty of a Misdemeanor, which for the first offence subjects him to the forfeiture of Twenty Pounds of Lawful money of Great Britain, and on non-payment thereof, to Twelve Months Imprisonment, or until the penalty and charges shall be paid; and that any Person convicted of the like offence a second time, is subjected to the forfeiture of Thirty Pounds of like Lawful money, and on non-payment thereof, to eighteen Months Imprisonment, or until the penalty and charges shall be paid; and that any Person convicted of the like offence a third time, shall be deemed guilty of Felony punishable by Transportation for seven years:—To the intent therefore, that our Woods in our Province aforesaid, may be preserved, and that such offenders there in may be brought to punishment; We have thought fit by the advice of our Executive Council hereby to declare, that all Timber so cut without Licence shall be seized and sold for the benefit of our Crown and Revenue, and all Persons therein offending, shall be prosecuted with the utmost Rigourot the Law.

In Testimony whereof we have caused these our Letters to be made Patent and the Great Seal of Our said Province to be thereunto affixed. Witness our Trusty and well beloved FRANCIS GORE Esquire, Our Lieutenant Governor of our said Province of Upper Canada, this 29th day of December, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and nine, and in the Fiftieth year of our Reign. Latest Intelligence.

LONDON, April 2.—

The Gazette of Tuesday contains the official details of a gallant and successful attack made by the Rosario sloop, on the enemy's flotilla, off Dieppe. Capt. Hervey, on Friday last, while cruizing off the French coast, fell in with a squadron of the enemy's praams, 25 in number. Notwithstanding the disparity of force, Capt. H. determined on engaging them; and after manoeuvering so as to cut off their retreat, he most nobly brought the whole to action, and, after a desperate engagement, succeeded in completely defeating the whole squadron, having captured three, sunk one, and driven five on shore; the others escaped, owing to the incapacity of the Rosario to take charge of any more. The Rosario mounted 10 guns and 75 men, the praams mounted ninety heavy guns and 750 men.

The late King of Sweden has been divorced from his wife, by the court of Switzerland. She with much grief acceded to his wills. Thus has he separated from a sister of the Emperor of Russia, to marry perhaps a sister of the Emperor of France, to be refused to ois throne by Bonaparte's soldiers. He was formerly one of Napoleon's most bitter enemies.

FRANCE AND RUSSIA.

April 3.—We yesterday stated that the Russians were fully prepared for the commencement of hostilities, and we have now to communicate the important intelligence that an express has arrived in town, from Petersburgh, with letters from the capital of the 14th ult. The Russian army on the frontiers of Poland is stated to consist of 380,000 men, but we may presume that this number is as usual over rated —200,000 is more likely to be the real number. The Emperor Alexander is to take the command of this immense force in person. Generals Barclay de Tolli, Bennigsen and D'Armfeldt, are to serve under him.

In the expectation of a large demand on the public treasury, many new taxes have been imposed under the authority of an Imperial Ukase, and others have been augmented: among these are an imposition on land, an excise on tea, a stamp on merchants books, and an increase of the capitation tax, to the extent of one third.

The messenger who had pulled through Berlin on the third of March with the ultimatum of Bonaparte to the Court of St. Petersburgh, it is understood had returned with the ultimatum of the Russian government. Berlin was to be left for Dantzic on the 5th, and it was supposed that Napoleon and Frederick William were to have an interview at Dresden, where the palace had been prepared for their reception.

A gentleman who arrived from Profis by the late Anholt packets, states, that a corps of French troops was daily expected at Koningsberg.

The following are extracts from some letters which have been communicated to us.

"PILAU, MARCH 11.

"All is confusion, in consequence of the arrival of accounts, that the French armies are marching against Russia. It is said that next month 400,000 men are proceeding to that destination, viz. 200,000 French, 150,000 Austrians, and 50,000 of the Confederation.—Thank GOD, none of them are expected to come this way.

LEIPSIC, March 12.

"All the Prussian troops have received orders to march from this neighbourhood, to join the French armies, which are to be commanded by Marshal Ney. It is also said, that Austrian troops to the number of from ninety thousand to one hundred thousand men, have received orders to unite with the French. For this last week there have been French troops continually passing through here; the heavy artillery has also passed through. This day, it is said, that Murat is to join the army, and that he will command the French cavalry. It is also said, that the Austrians will be under the command of French Generals. The whole of the French force is estimated at about 400,000 men. In consequence of all these movements, provisions have got very dear."

RUGENWALD, March 18.

"Sixty thousand French have passed Stettin; the Prussians have joined them; and in Koningsberg there have been quarters ordered for them, as it appears they enter as friends and allies to his Prussian Majesty."

The report of movements in the enemy's fleet in the Scheldt is not without foundation. The ships of war that were at Antwerp have come down to Flushing, but whether for the purpose of coming out is not known. Sir Richard Strachan, in the San Domingo, 74 guns, and Lord A. Beauclerk, sailed from the Downs on Wednesday, for the station off Flushing; and Admiral Young is expected to leave town in a day or two, to assume the chief command.

New York, May 9.

From the following paragraph, copied from the Boston Gazette, it would seem that the United States Standing Army were not to remain long unemployed:—

A town meeting was held on Monday last, at Springfield, for the choice of Representatives, but in consequence of the high and long and protracted dispute as regarding the qualification of the arm-urers (in the service and pay of the U. S.) to vote, the meeting was adjourned to Tuesday next. We have before us a letter, which says, that one of the officers engaged in superintending the armoury Department has been heard to say, that unless the Selectmen permitted these men to vote, there were guns enough in the arsenal, and spunky fellows sufficient in his ranks to enforce the right.

Hon. Mr. Widgery.—We understand that this honorable gentleman stated yesterday at the Coffee House, that the Declaration of War was delayed on account of the expected arrival of two of his own ships from India; and should they arrive in season, War would absolutely be declared by the 5th day of June.

We believe we do not hazard much in giving the following as nearly the precise situation and intention of the administration at this moment: at least, we have it upon authority of no ordinary weight. The last advices from France received by the administration are not of a character corresponding with their calculations. This circumstance, together with the repeated and outrageous captures and destruction of American vessels by France has compelled the government to pause its blind career of devotion to that unprincipled power.

If at the same time has produced an hesitation as to hastily plunging into a war with G. Britain. We are warranted in believing further, that the Hornet is expected to convey information of so unsatisfactory a nature, as will induce the government either to resort to precautionary measures against France or to place both belligerents on their former equal footing. The impediments to a negociation with England being thus removed, it certainly would not be surprising, if the discussions, governed on both sides by a spirit of candour and forbearance, were terminated in an honourable and permanent reconciliation.—Relf.

From the London Gazette of April 14.

A despatch, of which the following is an extract, has been this day received at the Earl of Liverpool's office, addressed to his Lordship, by General the Earl of Wellington, dated Camp before Badajoz, March 27, 1812.

The operations of the siege of Badajoz have continued since I addressed you on the 20th, notwithstanding the badness of the weather, till the 25th inst. On that day we opened our fire from twenty-eight pieces of ordnance in six batteries, in the first parallel; —two of which were intended to fire upon the outwork called La Picurina, and the other four to enfilade or destroy the defences of the fort on the side attack —I directed Major-General Kempt, who commanded in the trenches on that afternoon, to attack La Picurina by storm, after it was dark that night, which service he effected in the most judicious and gallant manner.

The attack was made by 500 men of the third division, formed into three detachments; the right under command of Major Shaw of the 74th; the centre under the Hon. Captain Powys, of the 83d, and the left under Major Rudd, of the 77th regiment. The communication between the outwork and the body of the place was entered on its right and left by the right and left detachments, each consisting of 200 men; half of each of which detachments protected the attack from sallies from the fort, while the other attacked the work in its gorge.

It was first entered, however, by the entire detachment of 100 men, under the command of the Hon. Captain Powys, of the 83d regiment, who escaladed the work at the salient angle, at a point at which the pallisades had been injured by our fire. The detachments which attacked the work by the gorge had the most serious difficulties to contend with, as it was closed by not less than three rows of strong pallisades, defended by musquetry, and a place of arms for the garrison, musket proof, and loop holed throughout. When the attack upon the salient angle, however, succeeded, the whole got into the work.

The enemy's garrison in the outwork consisted of 250 men, with seven pieces of artillery, under the command of Col. Gaspard Thiery, of the 8 at Major of the Army of the South; but very few, if any escaped. The Colonel, three other officers and 86 men, have been taken prisoners, and the remainder were either killed by the fire of our troops, or drowned in the inundation of the River Rivellas. The enemy made a sortier from the ravelin called St. Roque, either with a view to recover La Picurina, or to protect the retreat of the garrison, but they were immediately driven in by the detachment stationed in the communication to protect the attack.

Major General Kempt mentions in high terms in his report the cool and persevering gallantry of the officers and troops; of which indeed the strength of the work which they carried affords the best proof. He particularly mentions Lieut. Colonel Hardinge, of the Staff of the Portuguese army, who attended him on this occasion, Capt. Bennett his Aide de camp, and Brigade Major Wilde, who was unfortunately killed by a cannon shot after the work was in our possession; likewise Capt. Holloway, Lieut. Gibbs and Stanway, of the Royal Engineers, who conducted the several detachments to the points of attack; and Majors Shaw and Rudd, and the Hon. Capt. Powys, who commanded the several detachments.—These three officers were wounded, the latter on the parapet of the work, which he has been the first to mount by the ladders.

We thus established ourselves in La Picurina on the night of the 25th, and opened the second parallel within three hundred yards of the body of the place; in which two batteries were commenced last night.

It is impossible that I can do justice to the zeal, activity, and indefatigable labour of the officers and soldiers with which these operations have been carried on in the most unfavourable weather. The Guadiana swelled so considerably, that, notwithstanding all precautions, our bridge of pontoons was carried away on the 22d inst. and the flying bridges were as must injured, as almost to become useless; but still the operations have been carried on without interruption.

Since I addressed your Lordships on the 20th, Gen. Drouet has had his troops on the line between Medellin on the Guardiana, and Zalamea dela Serena, and Llerena, apparently with the view of keeping the communication open between the Army of the South, and the divisions of the Armies of Portugal, stationed on the Tagus.

Lieutenant General Sir Thomas Graham made a movement to Llerena on the 25th, at night; but the enemy, consisting of three battalions of infantry, and two regiments of cavalry, having heard of his march, retired into the mountains during the night.

Lieutenant General Sir Rowland Hill has likewise sent a detachment to La Guarda, and propoled to march himself this morning upon Medellin, in order to co operate with Lieutenant General Sir Thomas Graham.

Lord Wellington's total loss was 7 officers, 5 serjeants, 95 rank and file killed; 28 officers, 15 serjeants, 2 drummers, 447 rank & file wounded; and 11 rank and file missing.

Portuguese loss—2 officers, 1 drummer, 19 rank and file killed; 6 officers 3 serjeants, 83 rank and file wounded. The French Colonel Thiery, and 86 of his men were taken prisoners; and about 200 were either killed or drowned in the inundation of the river Rivellas.

CHATHAM, March 29.

State of the Navy.—The following is the state and disposition of the British Navy, made up to the present day:—At sea, of the line, 72; from 50 to 44 guns, 52; frig es, 117; sloops, &c. 95; bomb and fire ships, 6; brigs, 115; cutters, 32; schooners, &c. 49. Total, 494—Total in commission, 728. Grand Total, including those in ordinary, building, and under repair, 1068.—Decrease in the Grand Total, eight.

LONDON, April 13.—The enemy's gun-boats at Cherbourg, on Saturday last (April 11,) manifested an intention to attack the Crane, Capt. Stuart during a calm. They got under way; but the Crane, which was close in shore, altering her position, they thought proper to anchor again.

The Grampus, 50, Capt. W. Hanwell, sailed on Friday from Portsmouth, for Cadiz Jamaica, and South America, bearing Cockburn's broad pendant, who, with J. P. Morier, Esq. late Charge d'Affaires in North America, and C. Stewart, our minister at Lisbon, was in October last, appointed a Commissioner in South America, to mediate between the mother Country and the Spanish Colonies. These Commissioners are to act with such Spanish Commissioners as the Cortes shall appoint. Mr. Hooper of the Foreign Office, is Secretary of the Commission. If Spanish jealousies and punctilios do not further prevail, the Commissioners will forthwith proceed from Cadiz to South America and enter on their duties.—The Magnet sloop, Capt. Maurice, will sail in a few days with Col. Conway, to join the mission at Cadiz, and accompany the Grampus.—It is expected they will be absent from England about two years.

A report has been received from the Continent, that a British frigate in the Adriatic, singly and alone, has, after a most gallant action, captured the Rivoli, a new 80 gun ship, on her way from Venice to Corfu, with a convoy, which was completely dispersed, and ran for shelter in the different ports.

NEW YORK, May 20.

"Latest from Lisbon.—Yesterday arrived here, ship Columbus, Jennison, 30 days from Lisbon. Mr. S. A Wells, passenger in the above vessel, reports that Badajoz, after an investment of 21 days, 13 of which was employed in close firing, capitulated to the English on the 6th April; he adds that the assault of the city was most horrid; that the breaches were repeatedly stormed, and the walls scaled; and that the castle was the first point carried. The killed and wounded on the part of the French was not ascertained; the prisoners were from two to 3000; the loss of the English was great, said to be 1500 in killed and wounded, among whom were 5 or 6 Generals, 6 or 7 Colonels, and a considerable number of other officers; during the siege the garrison had blown up two mines. Our next accounts from Lisbon, will probably furnish the official particulars of this important event. Mr. Wells also reports, that just before he sailed, a report was in circulation, that Gen. Ballesteros had on the 7th of April, surprised and taken the city of Seville.

Latest from England.—By the arrival this morning of the ship Criterion, Capt. Baden, in 30 days from Portsmouth, England, we have received London papers to the 18th of April inclusive—2 days later than were before received. From the latest paper, we have copied extracts of a debate on the Orders in Council, which took place in the House of Commons on the 17th April.

The "Sun" of the 18th says—"The Mackerel, schooner, sailed from Falmouth on the 15th inst. with despatches for N. York."—Mr. Ruff, the Messenger, whole departure from the United States was mentioned in one of the latest papers before received, is doubtless on board the Mackerel; and his arrival at this port may be daily expected.

LONDON, April 18.

The call of the House stands for Wednesday, and is to be strictly enforced; the Motion on the Catholic Question comes on the next day.

The account of the capture of the Rivoli, of 80 guns, in her passage from Venice to Corfu, was received from Vienna. It was mentioned in two successive posts from Venice to Vienna, and there is little or no doubt of its being correct. She was laden with flotes, provisions and troops, for Corfu, and was armed en flute. One of the frigates, whose name we have not yet hear, laid her on board in the most gallant style. The action was long and severe. She had most of her masts carried away, and 400 men either killed or wounded.

BOSTON, May 19.

Latest from Portugal.—By the arrivals from Lisbon, we have been favoured with papers to April 16—from which the following articles are extracted.

LISBON, March 29.

Letters from Badajoz have just been received. Our operations there go on most prosperously. On the evening of the 24th, we took by assault, after a most desperate engagement, a strong redoubt, called Picurina, in front of Badajoz; it was occupied by 250 picked men, with 3 guns and a howitzer; 180 were bayoneted, and the remainder surrendered.

Two hundred French dragoons have been made prisoners by a Portuguese regiment.

We are now nearly convinced, that Marmont does not intend to risk another battle. He seems to aim at nothing, but attempting to retake Ciudad Rodrigo, which we hope is in a condition to resist him.

Sir Thomas Graham is in advance at Zafra.

In the storming of the fort of Picurina, the British lost Capt. Muscatter, killed; and among the wounded Mr. Powys, Maj Macleod, Major Shaw and Captain Hatloway.

April 10.

We have this day the pleasure to announce the fall of Badajoz on the 6th inst. after a siege of twenty one days. The investment of the city was commenced on the 16th of March, and the batteries were opened on the 24th of the same month. History affords few examples of such rapid conquests as those of Badajoz and Ciudad Rodrigo.

April 11.

By letters from Elvas of the 8th inst. the assault of Badajoz is represented as most dreadful. The breaches were practicable, and the walls scaled at the same moment, the castle being made the principal point of attack. The French troops appointed to defend the breaches being attacked at all points, were compelled to give way. A terrible slaughter then commenced in the streets of the city, owing to the confusion of the battle, increased by the darkness of the night.

April 15.

This morning arrived in this city Gen. Philloon late Commander of Badajoz; and his Staff; and General Werlin, French General of Engineers. The French had from 2 to 300 killed, and 4500 surrendered prisoners, including the sick and wounded. The British and Portuguese lost was very small.

April 16.

Letters from Elvas, of the 13th, say that Soult retired from Llerena as soon as he heard of the fall of Badajoz. It appears certain that Ballasteros entered Seville; but was compelled by Soult to retire from it again. The French has attempted an incursion in Beira Baixa but has not progressed far. This attempt on the frontiers of Portugal was supposed to have been to divide the attention of Lord Wellington.

Latest from France.—Arrived at Gloucester on Sunday last, schr. Betsey, capt. Haskell 28 days from Bordeaux. Brings very little news. The captain informed that the French troops were returning very fast from Spain and immediately marched to the North. They were not allowed to stop in Bordeaux more than 12 hours. The reason given for their return from Spain was that war was commenced. It was believed that War with Russia had commenced. A gentleman high in office had been beheaded in Paris for giving information to a spy from the Russian Court.

NORFOLK, May 15.

Yesterday arrived here from Cadiz the ship Elizabeth Wilson and brig Searey, Crispin; left Cadiz the 24th March. The French had bombarded the city for ten days and nights but no lives lost; very little damage done.—It has commencement is in consequence of Soult's arrival at Port St. Mary's with a determination to do at such hands, or as he can. In spite of all his efforts we have a well grounded hope, that the French will be compelled to raise the siege and evacuate the whole province of Andalusia in the course of the summer." Another letter of the 23d March says, "You will no doubt hear the most exaggerated account of the bombardment (if it deserves the name) of this place. But in days since its commencement, and not one life lost or any one hurt by it; two shells have been lightly injured: depend on it there is nothing to be apprehended for the safety of property here. Flour was 18 Dollars and 50 Cents.

FAVOURABLE SYMPTOMS.

We learn from undoubted authority, that some of our contractors for furnishing articles for the war establishment, and mechanics employed in the manufactory of implements of war, have received orders to stop their operations. This must gratify every real friend to the peace and prosperity of the U. States. Daily Gaz.

From the Baltimore Federal Republican, of May 21.

IMPORTANT.—We have learnt from Washington, through a channel deeply to entire confidence, that in the first fortnight of next month, it is intended by the administration to cause all the impediments to trade to be withdrawn. We make no comment, for the present, upon the motives which have led to this determination. What we now state, is entitled to the same reliance as our disclosures respecting the propositions to restore the seamen, but it comes from a different and opposite quarter.

THE YORK GAZETTE.

SATURDAY, June 6, 1812.

Thursday last being the Anniversary of His Majesty's Birth Day, the same was observed here with the usual demonstrations of joy.—a Royal Salute was fired from the Garrison. The Third Regiment of York Militia, also paraded very strong, and fired three Vollies.——It was highly gratifying to observe the expertness and correctness with which the two Flank Companies (composed of Smart, active young Men, selected from the Volunteers of the Regiment) performed their Manœuvres, proving the great advantages of the new mode of Disciplining the Militia, adopted by his Honor GENERAL BROCK, and though drilled but a few times, shews how soon young Men animated by a zeal for the honor and defence of their Country, and prompted by an eagerness to learn, can be sufficiently trained fit for effective service.

WHEREAS His Majesty's Royal Proclamation hath been issued for the purpose of calling together a Legislative Council and House of Assembly for the Province of Upper Canada. And whereas by a certain Act of this Province, passed in the forty-eighth year of His Majesty's Reign, intituled, "An Act for the better Representation of the Commons of this Province in Parliament, and to repeal part of an Act passed in the forty eighth year of His Majesty's Reign, intituled, "An Act for the more equal Representation of the Commons of this Province, and for the better defining the Qualification of Electors," it is declared and appointed, that the East Riding of the County of York and County of Simcoe, shall be represented in the said House of Assembly by one Member.

And whereas by a certain Instrument under the Sign Manual, and Sealed with the Seal of His Honor ISAAC BROCK, Esquire, President, administering the Government of this Province, I have been nominated and appointed Returning Officer of the said East Riding of the County of York and County of Simcoe: And whereas by a certain Writ under the Great Seal of Upper Canada, by me received, I am thereby directed to cause one Knight girt with a Sword, the most fit and discreet, to be truly and indifferently chosen, to represent the said East Riding of the County of York and County of Simcoe in the said House of Assembly. And hereof all Freeholders of the said East Riding of the County of York and County of Simcoe are to take notice and attend accordingly.

WILLIAM ALLAN,
Returning Officer for the East Riding of the County of York and County of Simcoe.

Militia General Order

Government House,
York, 25th May, 1812.

THE very satisfactory Report made to the President, by the Officers Commanding Corps, of the Spirit and Zeal manifested by the Men, in Volunteering their Services in the Flank Companies, has afforded His Honor the most lively gratification, and confirmed the opinion which he was always disposed to entertain of their determination to defend bravely, their Country, and in imitation of their veteran Fathers, evince by deeds, the ardent Loyalty they have so often professed.—Conduct so honorable and dignified, has not failed making a deep impression on His Majesty's Provincial Government, and to encrease if possible, their anxious desire to contribute every thing in their power towards the comfort and happiness of the People.

With this view, they have humbly solicited His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, for his gracious permission to allot to the Wives and Children of such Soldiers, Militia and Marines, who may be killed in the present Contest, a portion of the Waste Lands of the Crown; and to afford relief to such as may be disabled in the Service, for whom no provision is otherwise provided.

By Command of the President,

The Houſe of Commons was laſt night chiefly occupied in another diſcuſſion of the Gold Coin Bill, and its extenſion to Ireland. The bill went through a committee, after the houſe, in a diviſion of 87 to 27, had negatived an amendment moved by Mr. Parnell, to delay the proceedings 14 days in order to afford time for a ſelect committee to inquire into its operation on the landed intereſts of that country. In the courſe of the debate, the Chancellor of the Exchequer took an opportunity of ſtating the amount of the Revenue in taxes for the laſt year, ending the 5th of April current. From this it appears, that though the cuſtoms have fallen off, the Exciſe has improved to the amount of about ſix hundred thouſand pounds, including, however, the produce of a new duty, calculated to have raiſed about four hundred thouſand pounds. The totals are—

The general amount of the whole taxes of the country is diminiſhed about a million, as confeſſed by the Right Hon. Gentleman, who ſtated that of 1812 to be 61,33[illegible],000l.; while that of 1811 was 62,136,000l.

Extract of a letter from his Excelly Governor Harriſon, to Col. John M. Scott, of Frankfort, Kentucky, dated Vincennes, April 15, 1812.

"We have war with all its horrors with the Indians. A family were murdered in the Illinois territory about 35 miles above this, on Saturday. The woman and four children were killed in the houſe, and the latter ſet on fire and conſumed with every thing in it. The miſerable huſband had been to mill about four miles off, and upon his return, found the houſe falling in, a young man whom he had hired, killed and ſhockingly mangled in the yard. Laſt night an expreſs arrived with the account of one other man being killed on the ſouth eaſt fork of White River. Two more are miſſing from the ſame neighbourhood, and there is little doubt of their being alſo killed."

Extract of a letter from St. Mary's dated March 7, 1812.

"I live on the trace that leads to the Prophet's party and get all the news—the Indians lying here appear very friendly, but the Prophet and his party are worſe than ever, many of different nations have joined him, and are rebuilding the town that was burnt. I will watch the movement of the Indians, and when I retreat it will be time for the frontier inhabitants to do ſo."—Lexington paper.

MONTE VIDEO.

Extract of a letter from a reſpectable merchant at Monte Video, Jan. 9.

"There is an embargo laid on all veſſels at Buenos Ayres in conſequence of the government ſending troops a croſs the river to reinforce their commander Artegas, againſt the Portugueſe; and in conſequence of this Rephis government are ſending off all their armed veſſels to Maldanado to aſſiſt the Portugueſe. What the reſult of this proceeding will be is difficult to ſay. I ſhould not be ſurpriſed if this town was ſoon again beſieged."

Extract of another letter dated Jan. 31.

"Report ſays that General Artegas has fallen in with the Portugueſe army, and deſtroyed them to a man—my from 7 to 9000 men."

Extract of another letter dated Montevideo Jan. 6.

"We have had a very conſiderable trade with Buenos Ayres ſince the patched up peace; but as to the governments there is little or no communication. A new government has taken place in Buenos Ayres. In the beginning the people were diſſatiſfied with it and the troops mutinied; in order to reſtore peace, and to make an example of the principals, ten were ſhot, and a very great number (among them are ſome of the late Junta) are impriſoned.

"Nothing has been heard lately from the Peruvian army. The laſt account ſays they were upwards of 600 leagues from Buenos Ayres, and report ſays, they have been defeated and cut off by the Indians.

"As to the Portugueſe, they remain at Molanado, waiting no doubt, to ſee what will be the fate of Spain—if loſt they will endeavour to get poſſeſſion of the north ſide of this river, in which I do not think they will ſucceed, particularly now that Chili and Paraguay are united to this province—and before long I expect that Artegas will give them ſuch a doſe as they will not like. By the laſt accounts he had taken poſſeſſion of ſome of their frontier towns."

From the Federal Republican.

A public letter lately received in the Alexandria Gazette, ſtating, that the Britiſh miniſter has offered to reſtore all the American ſeamen impreſſed into the navy of his nation, which our government would deſignate as ſuch. The accuracy of the ſtatement is now proved to our ſatisfaction, accompanied with the remarkable fact, that the overture, though made in writing, had received no anſwer when our informant left Waſhington, which was within a day or two. We pledge ourſelves, that this will be found to be ſubſtantially correct.

NEW ORLEANS, April 6.

An intelligent perſon having furniſhed us with the following information, we lay the ſame before our readers:—Ami des Loix.

Spaniſh America.—It may be advanced without fear of exaggeration, that three fourths of the country under this appellation, have proclaimed independence. Among theſe people, ſome have openly declared their ſeparation from the mother country, while others through reſpect for ancient prejudices have thought it neceſſary to ſave appearances, by acting in the name of Ferdinand VII. This, however, has not prevented them at the ſame time from adopting forms of government, which render null the power of the parent ſtate as well as the authority of the Monarch.

The new Republics are:

Buenos Ayres, which by the treaty concluded under the preſſure of peculiar circumſtances, has circumſcribed the power of the Viceroy of Montevideo within very narrow limits.

Venezuela, whoſe capital is Caracas, and where there are no longer any diſſentions.

Carthagena, de los Indias, which without alledging any vain pretexts, the excuſe only of the weak, has declared independence, by an act as forcible as eloquent.

Santa Fee de Bogato, now called the ſtate of Cendinamaeca.

Quito.

De Payon.

In ſhort Chili, whoſe capital is San Yago. This country, the granery of Lewis and Peru, abounds in corn and wine, as well as with the other productions of Europe.

There is not, as yet, any poſitive information of what is paſſing at Lima. It is, however, known there has been, at ſeveral times, a fermentation, the precurſor of a revolution inevitable.—Lima may be conſidered, in compariſon with the other parts of Spaniſh America, as the cradle of the ſciences—education is there better; and this city has produced men diſtinguiſhed in the republic of letters. Supposing that the Europeans ſucceed in keeping it dependent for ſome time longer, its ſituation in the middle of the countries in inſurrection, is extremely critical. The ſoil of Peru, fandy and generally ſterile, renders it always dependent upon the neighbouring provinces, but particularly Chili. It is in the power of the inſurgents, conſequently, to reduce Lima by famine, if they ſhould not with to employ force.

An important obſervation may be made here on the ſpirit which animates the inſurgents, it is, that wherever independence has been declared, the inquiſition immediately falls.

Whilſt theſe countries begin to act their parts on the world's great theatre and the philanthropiſt rejoices that a revolution of ſuch magnitude has been accompanied with little bloodſhed, the attention of every lover of his ſpecies is ſorrowfully fixed on Mexico, deſtined perhaps to be the ſcene of atrocious crimes, and lawleſs rapine.

It cannot be doubted but that the commencement of the revolution in Mexico was accompanied with ſome diſorders. The Europeans were in ſeveral places victims of the rage long ſtifled of the inhabitants; but this had already by premeditated cruelty, provoked theſe reprifals.

The firſt leaders of the inſurgents behaved with a moderation very uncommon in civil wars. Hidalgo was no barbarian—many officers of the Spaniſh party ſucceſſively fell into his power (two militia colonels, the curate of Cala Rul and of Perez, Calvez a mongſt others) and reſtored them their liberty.—He had alſo in his power the fate of Salcedo and Errero, who afterwards returned his generoſity by delivering him to his executioners.

Inflated by their ephemeral ſucceſs the ruling party abuſed their victory with Caniba[illegible] ferocity. Venegas appointed Vice Roy no doubt to reward his cowardice, for having ſacrificed ſome thouſands of his countrymen in a battle with the French in Old Spain, ſignalized his adminiſtration by unheard of cruelties. Seconded by ſome biſhops, and eſpecially by the inquiſition, he exhibited, in the capital, executions long ſince prohibited by the criminal code of Spain. War was declared to all ſuſpected of poſſeſſing liberal ideas; and the priſons were crowded with thoſe whoſe only crime was, ſecretly deteſting their cruel and cowardly tyrants.

The maxim, that in perſecuting you multiply ſectaries, was then verified for the hundredth time. The intergents appeared, all at once, to ſpring from their aſhes more numerous than ever. Maſters, in a manner, of the country and the mines they overwhelmed their oppreſſors with miſery and terror. Acapulco the beſt harbor in the empire, ſituated on the Pacific Ocean, fell into their power; and they were every day expected in the middle of the metropolis.

The following is an extract from a Paris paper, received by the ſhip Benjamin-Franklin, arrived at this port from Bayonne.

"CONSERVATIVE SENATE."

"Sitting of the 10th March, 1812."

"His Excellency the Duke of Baſſano, Miniſter of Exterior Relations communicated the following Report to his Majeſty the Emperor and King:

"As long as the Britiſh Orders in Council ſhall not be withdrawn, and the principles recognized by the Treaty of Utrecht, towards Neutrals reſtored in full force, the Decrees of Berlin and Milan muſt continue towards thoſe Powers who ſhall ſuffer their Flags to be Denationalized.

"The ports of the Continent muſt not be opened neither to thoſe Denationalized Flags, nor to the Engliſh Merchandize. It is neceſſary that the whole diſpoſeable forces of France ſhould be diſtributed in ſuch a manner, as to prevent the Engliſh Flag, the Denationalized Flag, or thoſe conveyed by Engliſh ſhips of war from landing.

From a London paper.

Extraordinary inſtance of Fanaticiſm.

A foreign journal has the following relation:—"Matthew Loval, a ſhoemaker at Venice, preſents an example of religious melancholy, equally extraordinary as deplorable. His firſt act of infanity was an imitation of the early Chriſtians, to diſarm the temper by mutilating himſelf. Shortly after, he conceived that God had ordered him to die upon the croſs; and he immediately began to employ himſelf in preparing all the inſtruments of his martyrdom. For more than two years he meditated in ſilence upon the means for executing his purpoſe. At laſt the fatal day arrived; no preparation had been omitted: Loval was crowned with thorns, of which three or four penetrated the exterior ſkin.—He ſeated himſelf on the middle of the croſs, adjuſted his feet to the bracket at the bottom, paſſing a nail of 15 inches in length through them with a hammer. He next tied himſelf to the croſs round the body, and, provided with two other long & ſharps nails, he pierced them through both his hands by placing the points in the centre of the palm, and knocking the head againſt the floor. After this he raiſed his hands towards the place where he intended to fix them, and put the nails through the holes he had before periforated, to the extremity of their length. He had previouſly inflicted a deep wound in his ſide with a ſhoemaker's knife in order more cloſely to repreſent the ſufferings of the Redeemer. Nothing now remained but to expoſe himſelf to public view. Loval had contrived ropes to let himſelf forward; and by ſeveral ſtrong motions of the body, the croſs being placed on the edge of the window, eaſily flipped and fell outſide, reſtrained by a cord. In this ſituation he remained ſome hours. Early next morning the neighbours were aſtoniſhed at the ſpectacle that preſented itſelf. His countenance pale, but calm; his body naked, and covered with blood; he appeared, notwithſtanding his ſtanding wounds, to be in a poſture to pain. The populace ran in crowds in view to extraordinary a ſight. He was at length cut down, and conveyed to the Imperial School, under the direction of M. Peruzzi. None of his numerous wounds proving mortal, he was cured of them, but not of his folly. In his third exploit, he imagined himſelf to have fallen under the Divine diſpleaſure for not having truſted to miraculous means of being fed: he determined to ſtarve himſelf: but imagining one night he heard a voice commanding him to go forth and feed like Nebuchadnezzar with the beaſts of the field, he diſpoſed of every thing he had, retired to a deſolate ſpot, and for fifteen months fed upon wild fruits conſtantly crawling upon his hands & feet. Theſe voluntary and repeated abſtinences at length exhauſted his body, and he died in 1811."

NEW YORK, May 27.

Lateſt from Portugal.—The ſhip Ann Williams, capt. Dayton, arrived at this Port, laſt evening, in 34 days from Lisbon.—On the 20th of April, a report reached Lisbon, that the French armies had raiſed the ſiege of Cadiz, and evacuated Seville.—Capt. Dayton furniſhes the following details of the operations of the combined armies againſt Badajoz. He alſo ſtates that the priſoners who were taken with that city, and ſent to Lisbon, failed for England on the 20th of April:—

"After the fall of Ciudad Rodrigo, which happened on the 19th of January, trenches and breaches were filled up, and the army commenced its march to the ſouth. About the 13th of March the whole combined army arrived at Elvas and its vicinity. On the 16th the army was put in motion, and the inveſtment of Badajoz took place that evening. On the 17th the combined armies broke ground. On the 25th the port of Picorini was taken by ſtorm, commanded by Gen. Kemp and the troops of the third diviſion. This fort is of great importance to the troops working on the trenches. The enemy had 280 men in the fort, and only 64 eſcaped the gates of eternity. At 8 o'clock in the evening of the 6th April, the Engliſh attacked Badajoz at three breaches. The light diviſion attacked the ſmall wall, the fourth the principal ones, the fifth the ſmall breach; and the third diviſion, commanded by General Picton, were ordered to make a falſe attack, which he did; but not being ſatisfied with this, he ſcaled the walls with his whole diviſion at the very moment the other diviſions were employed in attacking the breaches. The breaches were found to be nearly inacceſſible, and the conteſt, of courſe, terrible on both ſides: but in this great conflict General Picton had effected his plan, his whole diviſion having ſcaled the walls, and formed in rear between the main body and the citadel, which cut of their retreat from it. On this citadel they had formed ſeveral batteries; and had the tower been taken, they could have deſtroyed the city and made great havock among the ſoldiers.—The manoeuvring of the third diviſion, when completed, formed up in battle array, and commenced a fire upon the enemy. This put them in great confuſion; ſo much ſo, that they gave way to the breaches, allowed the Engliſh to enter, and began to retire upon the citadel, but found it altogether impracticable, by the third diviſion cutting off their retreat. They were under the neceſſity of giving themſelves up to the Engliſh; who took General Phillippon, 117 officers, and 2930 men priſoners, and ſent them to Liſbon, where they arrived on the 16th of April.

"Prior to the hoſtilities againſt Badajoz they conſiſted of 5300 men. From the manner in which the whole buſineſs was conducted, it is ſuppoſed to have been one of the greateſt atchievements the annals of Britiſh hiſtory can produce. The Engliſh loſt upwards of 4000.—The following is an account of the officers killed and wounded.

Killed.—Lieut. Col. Rudge, 5th regiment; Col. Harcourt, 40th: Col. Helder; Major O'Hara.—Wounded.—Lieut. Gen. Picton; Lieut. Gen. Colville; Major-Gen Kemp; Brigadier-Gen. Hewey; Major Gen. Bowers; Major Gen. Walker; Lieut. Col. M'Leod, 43d regiment; Lieut. Col. Gibbs, 52d; Lieut. Col. Aikin, 48th; Colonel Blackney, 74th; Lieut. Colonel French; Majors Carle, Murphy, Mail, Brook, and Olyed."

LONDON April 20.

Our readers will ſee by the following letter, that deſpatches have been received from the French Emperor by flag of truce. We are of courſe unacquainted with the nature of thoſe deſpatches, but in all probability they contain one of thoſe inſidious propoſitions which he has often made before not we ſhould think, with the hope of deluding the Britiſh Government, but for the purpoſe of impoſing upon the unfortunate people over whom he tyranniſes.

"Dover, April 19.—A flag of truce from Calais was ſailed in with half leſs ſecrecy by one of our cruiſers; and her deſpatches landed here. The envelope was addreſſed to the Naval commander at Dover, but the deſpatches themſelves are ſaid to be addreſſed to our Miniſter for Foreign Affairs. The Captain immediately proceeded with them to London.

"A French naval officer accompanied the flag of truce."

We find that the above flag of truce is addreſſed from the French Miniſter of Foreign Affairs to his Majeſty's Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

Accounts have been received from the French coaſt of as late a date as the 17th. They ſtate that Bonaparte had not then quitted Paris. His departure was, however, every moment expected. Cambaceres has been ordered from Holland to Paris, it is ſuppoſed for the purpoſe of preſiding over the council in his abſence. Many of the departments of France continue in a very diſturbed ſtate, notwithſtanding the ſummary puniſhments of Military Tribunals.

The recent movements of the enemy's ſhips in the Scheldt have occaſioned the ſquadron cruiſing off that ſtation under Admiral Young, to be augmented.—Sir Richard Strachan, in the San Domingo, is to be the ſecond in command, and Rear Admiral Ferrier, in the Bellerophon, to be the 3d.

Linz, March 18. For the laſt month ſcarcely a day was paſſed without numerous detachments of French cavalry and infantry arriving from Laybach, Cilly, and its environs.

On the 2d of Feb. a train of artillery conſiſting of 34 pieces of cannon, and drawn by 410 horſes, arrived. The troops have received orders to aſſemble here. We learn that another corps of 6000 men, which is to aſſemble in the neighbourhood of Bolzen, is on its route from Italy.

Liverpool, April 22. We have nothing more deciſive on the alledged approaching hoſtilities between France and Ruſſia than we communicated in our laſt. The Emperor Francis, was to leave Vienna on the 16th ult. for the purpoſe of meeting Bonaparte in the capital of Saxony, and it is alſo rumoured that Alexander had written to Francis to engage him as a mediator on his behalf with France. The Auſtrian army is to be placed on the war eſtabliſhment.

Lateſt from France.—Mercantile friends have favored us with letters from Paris dated the 24th April, from intelligent Americans: their contents are in ſubſtance as follows:—"No proſpect of a favourable arrangement with France, and people were ſurpriſed that Mr. Barlow ſhould have ever indulged in the hope of it.—Napolean had a grand army of 500,000 men ready for the Northern expedition. Weſtphalia, it was thought, would be annexed to France; Jerome to be transferred to Ruſſian Poland, or elſewhere: but, ſuch was the ſcarcity of proviſions in France and ſo ſerious and alarming were the diſturbances in conſequence, that many were of opinion the Emperor could not leave France at a moment ſo critical. Riots had occurred in many provinces, and a bold tone of diſcontent was heard in Paris itſelf."—Balt. Whig.

Letters from the beſt informed Americans in France, as late as the laſt week in April, are explicit in the opinion, that no arrangement will be agreed to by Bonaparte, unleſs we firſt engage, as his allies, to bid Sweden, in the war againſt England. Barlow detained Hornet until theſe letters ſhame ſecounded through his ears; and we fully believe, upon ſufficient information to be relied on, that he reluctantly ſent her off finally, knowing that no ſatisfactory treaty can be made with France.—*Bolt. THE very satisfactory Report made to the President, by the Officers Commanding Corps, of the Spirit and Zeal manifested by the Men, in Volunteering their Services in the Flank Companies, has afforded His Honor the most lively gratification, and confirmed the opinion which he was always disposed to entertain of their determination to defend bravely, their Country, and in imitation of their revolutionary Fathers, evince by deeds, the ardent Loyalty they have so often professed.—Conduct so honorable and dignified, has not failed making a deep impression on His Majesty's Provincial Government, and to encrease if possible, their anxious desire to contribute every thing in their power towards the comfort and happiness of the People.

With this view, they have humbly solicited His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, for his gracious permission to allot to the Wives and Children of such Soldiers, Militia and Marines, who may be killed in the present Contest, a portion of the Waste Lands of the Crown; and to afford relief to such as may be disabled in the Service, for whom no provision is otherwise provided.

Latest Intelligence.

BOSTON, May 30.

Latest from England.—Captain Mayo arrived here yesterday from Gottenburgh, which he left the 24th April;—informs, that it was confidently believed there that Russia had declared war against France.—A letter by this arrival states that the Swedish fleet had captured three French privateers.

Capt. Mayo has favoured us with a London paper (the Pilot) of April 27, and a Bristol paper of the 25th, which he obtained at sea from the Richard and Margaret, Capt. Sisson, from Bristol for Wilmington.

The official account of the capture of Badajoz had reached England; and Parliament had voted thanks to the Earl of Wellington, &c.

A flag of truce had sailed from Deal for Calais with an answer from the British Government to the recent communication from the French Government.—The nature of which is not stated.

The Catholic question had been decided in the House of Lords in favor of the petitioners, by a majority of seventy-four.

ORDERS IN COUNCIL.

The following highly interesting State Papers are copied from the London and British papers:—

At the Court at Carlton House, the 21st day of April, 1812, present his Royal Highness the Prince Regent in Council.

Whereas the government of France has, by an official report, communicated by its Minister of Foreign Affairs to the Conservative Senate, on the 10th of March last, removed all doubts as to the perseverance of that government in the assertion of principles, and in the maintenance of a system, not more hostile to the maritime rights & commercial interests of the British empire than inconsistent with the rights and independence of neutral nations, and has thereby plainly developed the ordinate pretensions which that system as promulgated in the decrees of Berlin and Milan, was from the first designed to enforce.

And whereas his Majesty has invariably professed his readiness to revoke the Orders in Council adopted thereupon, as soon as the said decrees of the enemy should be formally and unconditionally repealed, and the commerce of Neutral nations restored to its accustomed course.

His Royal Highness the Prince Regent (anxious to give the most decisive proof of his Royal Highness's disposition to perform the engagements of his Majesty's government) is pleased, in the name and on the behalf of his Majesty, and by and with the advice of his Majesty's Privy Council, to order and declare, and it is hereby ordered and declared, that if, at any time hereafter, the Berlin and Milan decrees shall, by some authentic act of the French government, publicly promulgated, be absolutely and unconditionally repealed, then, and from thenceforth, the Orders in Council of the 7th day of Jan. 1807, and the Order in Council of the 26th day of April, 1809, shall, without any further order or, and the same are hereby, declared from thenceforth to be wholly and absolutely revoked: and further, that the full benefit of this order shall be extended to any ship or cargo captured subsequent to such authentic act of repeal of the French Decrees, although such ship or cargo may not have sailed from the enemy's ports with knowledge of such repeal, provided the same shall be captured before the time when such knowledge could have been obtained at the ports from which such ship or cargo sailed.

And the Right Hon. the Lords Commissioners of his Majesty's Treasury, his Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, and the Lords of the High Court of Admiralty, and the Judges of the Courts of Vice Admiralty, are to take the necessary measures herein as to them shall respectively appertain.

CHETWYND.

DECLARATION.

"The Government of France, having by an Official Report, communicated by his Minister for Foreign Affairs to the Conservative Senate on the 10th of March last, removed all doubts as to the perseverance of that government in the assertion of principles, and in the maintenance of a system, not more hostile to the maratime rights and commercial interests of the British empire, than inconsistent with the rights of neutral nations; and having thereby plainly developed the inordinate pretentions, which that system, as promulgated in the Decrees of Berlin and Milan, was from the first designed to enforce; his Royal Highness the Prince Regent, acting in the name, and on the behalf of his Majesty, deems it proper, upon this formal and authentic republication of the principles of those decrees, as publicly to declare his Royal Highness' determination still firmly to resist the introduction and establishment of this arbitrary code, which the government of France openly avows its purpose to impose by force upon the world as the law of nations.

"From the time that the progressive injuries and violence of the French government, made it impossible for his Majesty any longer to restrain the exercise of the rights of war within their ordinary limits, without submitting to consequences not less ruinous to the commerce of his dominions, than derogatory to the rights of the Crown, his Majesty, has endeavored, by a restricted and moderate use of those rights of retaliation, which the Berlin and Milan decrees, necessarily called into action, to reconcile neutral states to those measures, which the conduct of the enemy had rendered unavoidable; and which, his Majesty has at all times professed his readiness to revoke, so soon as the decrees of the enemy, which gave occasion to them, should be formally and unconditionally repealed, and the commerce of neutral nations be restored to its accustomed course.

"At a subsequent period of the war, his Majesty, availing himself of the then situation of Europe, without abandoning the principle and object of the Orders in Council of Nov. 18-7, was induced so far to limit their operation, as materially to alleviate the restrictions thereby imposed upon neutral commerce. The Order in Council of April, 1809, was substituted in the room of those of Nov. 1807, and the retaliatory system of G. Britain acted no longer on every country in which the aggtelive measures of the enemy were in force, but was confined in its operation to France and to the countries upon which the French yoke was most strictly imposed; and which had become virtually a part of the dominions of France.

"The U. States of America remained nevertheless dissatisfied, and their dissatisfaction has been greatly increased by an artifice too successfully employed on the part of the enemy, who has pretended that the Decrees of Berlin and Milan were repealed, although the Decree effecting such repeal has never been promulgated; although the notification of such pretended repeal distinctly described it to be dependent on conditions, in which the enemy knew G. Britain could never acquiesce; and although abundant evidence has since appeared of their subsequent execution.

"But the enemy has at length laid aside all dissimulation; he now publicly and solemnly declares, not only that those Decrees still continue in force, but that they shall be rigidly executed until G. Britain shall comply with additional conditions, equally extravagant; and he further announces the penalties of those Decrees to be in full force against all nations, which shall suffer their flag to be, as it is termed in this new code, 'denationalized.'

"In addition to the disavowal of the blockade of May, 1806, and of the principles on which the blockade was established, and in addition to the repeal of the British Orders in Council—he demands an admission of the principles, that the goods of an enemy, carried under a neutral flag, shall be treated as neutral; that neutral property under the flag of an enemy shall be treated as hostile; that arms and warlike stores alone [to the exclusion of ship-timber and other articles of naval equipment] shall be regarded as contraband of war;—and that no ports shall be considered as lawfully blockaded, except such as are invested and besieged, in the presumption of their being taken [en prevention d'etre pris,] and into which a merchant ship cannot enter without danger.

"By these and other demands, the enemy in fact, requires, that Great Britain, and all civilized nations, shall renounce at his arbitrary pleasure, the ordinary and indisputable right of maritime war, that Great Britain, in particular, shall forego the advantages of her naval superiority, and allow the commercial property, as well as the produce and manufactures of France, and her confederates, to pass the ocean in security, whilst the subjects of G. Britain are to be in effect proscribed from all commercial intercourse with other nations; and the produce and manufactures of these realms are to be excluded from every country in the world, to which the arms or influence of the enemy can extend.

"Such are the demands to which the British government is summoned to submit—to the abandonment of its most ancient, essential, and undoubted maritime rights. Such is the code by which France hopes, under the control of a neutral flag, to render her commerce unassailable by sea; whilst the proceeds of invade or incorporate with her own dominions all states that hesitate to sacrifice their national interests at her command, and in addition of these just rights, to adopt a just code, by which they are required to exclude, under the mask of municipal regulation, whatever is British, from their dominions.

"The pretext for these extravagant demands is, that some of these principles were adopted by voluntary compact in the treaty of Utrecht; as if a treaty, once existing between two particular countries, founded on special and reciprocal considerations, binding only the contract ng parties, should be the same powers, which had not been revised, nor ever to be regarded as declaratory of the public laws of nations.

"It is needless for his Royal Highness to demonstrate the injustice of such pretensions. He might otherwise appeal to the practice of France herself, in this and in former wars, and to her own established codes of maritime law; it is sufficient that these new demands of the enemy form a wide departure from those conditions on which the alledged repeal of the French decrees was accepted by America; and upon which alone, erroneously affirming that repeal to be complete, America has claimed a revocation of the British Orders in Council.

"His Royal Highness, upon a review of all these circumstances, persuaded, that so soon as this formal declaration, by the government of France of its unabated adherence to the principles and provisions of the Berlin and Milan decrees, shall be made known in America, the Government of the United States, actuated not less by a sense of justice to Great Britain, than by what is due to its own dignity, will be disposed to recall those measures of hostile exclusion, which, under a misconception of the real views and conduct of the French Government, America has exclusively applied to the commerce and ships of war of Great Britain.

"To accelerate a result so advantageous to the true interests of both countries, and to conducive to the re-establishment of perfect friendship between them; and to give a decisive proof of his Royal Highness's disposition to perform the engagements of his Majesty's Government, by revoking the Orders in Council, whenever the French decrees shall be actually and unconditionally repealed; his Royal Highness the Prince Regent has been this day pleased, in the name and on the behalf of his Majesty, and by and with the advice of his Majesty's Privy Council, to order and declare;

"That if at any time hereafter the Berlin and Milan decrees shall, by some authentic act of the French Government, publicly promulgated, be expressly and unconditionally repealed: then and from thenceforth, the Order in Council of the 7th day of January, 1807, and the Order in Council of the 26th day of April, 1809, shall, without any further order to that effect, be and the same are hereby declared from thenceforth to be wholly and absolutely revoked; and further, that the full benefit of this order shall be extended to any ship or vessel captured subsequent to such authentic act of repeal of the French decrees, although such ship or vessel shall have commenced, and shall be in the prosecution of a voyage, which, under the said Orders in Council, or one of them, would have subjected her to capture and condemnation; and the claimant of any ship or cargo which shall be captured at any time subsequent to such authentic act of repeal by the French Government, shall, without any further order or declaration on the part of his Majesty's government on this subject, be at liberty to give in evidence in the High Court of Admiralty or any Court of Vice Admiralty before which such ship or vessel, or its cargo, shall be brought for adjudication, that such repeal by the French Government had been by such authentic act promulgated prior to such capture; and upon proof thereof, the voyage shall be deemed and taken to have been in the prosecution of a voyage which, under the said Orders in Council, or one of them, would have subjected her to capture and condemnation; and the claimant of any ship or cargo shall be captured or brought to adjudication, on account of any alledged breach of either of the said Orders in Council, at any time subsequent to such authentic act of repeal by the French Government, shall, without any further order or declaration on the part of his Majesty's Government on this subject, be at liberty to give in evidence in the High Court of Admiralty, or any Court of Vice-Admiralty, before which such ship or cargo shall be brought for adjudication, that such repeal by the French government had been, by such authentic act, promulgated prior to such capture, and upon proof thereof, the voyage shall be deemed and taken to have been as lawful as if the said Orders in Council had never been made; saving, nevertheless, to the captors such protection and indemnity as they may be equitably entitled to in the said Court, by reason of their ignorance, of uncertainty as to the repeal of the French Decrees, or of the recognition of such repeal by his Majesty's Government at the time of such capture.

His Royal Highness, however, deems it proper to declare, that, should the repeal of the French Decrees, thus anticipated and provided for, prove afterwards to have been illusory on the part of the enemy; and should the restrictions thereof be still practically enforced, or revived by the enemy;—Great Britain will be compelled, however reluctantly, after reasonable notice, to have recourse to such measures of retaliation as may then appear to be just and necessary.

And the Rt. Hon. the Lords Commissioners of his Majesty's Treasury, his Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, and the Lords of the High Court of Admiralty, and the Judges of the Courts of Vice Admiralty, are to take the necessary measures herein as to them shall respectively appertain.

London, April 22.

DECLARATION.

"The Government of France, having by an Official Report, communicated by his Minister for Foreign Affairs to the Conservative Senate on the 10th of March last, removed all doubts as to the perseverance of that government in the assertion of principles, and in the maintenance of a system, not more hostile to the maratime rights and commercial interests of the British empire, than inconsistent with the rights and independence of neutral nations, and has thereby plainly developed the inordinate pretentions, which that system, as promulgated in the Decrees of Berlin and Milan, was from the first designed to enforce; his Royal Highness the Prince Regent, acting in the name, and on the behalf of his Majesty, deems it proper, upon this formal and authentic republication of the principles of those decrees, as publicly to declare his Royal Highness' determination still firmly to resist the introduction and establishment of this arbitrary code, which the government of France openly avows its purpose to impose by force upon the world as the law of nations.

"From the time that the progressive injuries and violence of the French government, made it impossible for his Majesty any longer to restrain the exercise of the rights of war within their ordinary limits, without submitting to consequences not less ruinous to the commerce of his dominions, than derogatory to the rights of the Crown, his Majesty, has endeavored, by a restricted and moderate use of those rights of retaliation, which the Berlin and Milan decrees, necessarily called into action, to reconcile neutral states to those measures, which the conduct of the enemy had rendered unavoidable; and which, his Majesty has at all times professed his readiness to revoke, so soon as the decrees of the enemy, which gave occasion to them, should be formally and unconditionally repealed, and the commerce of neutral nations be restored to its accustomed course.

"At a subsequent period of the war, his Majesty, availing himself of the then situation of Europe, without abandoning the principle and object of the Orders in Council of Nov. 18-7, was induced so far to limit their operation, as materially to alleviate the restrictions thereby imposed upon neutral commerce. The Order in Council of April, 1809, was substituted in the room of those of Nov. 1807, and the retaliatory system of G. Britain acted no longer on every country in which the aggtelive measures of the enemy were in force, but was confined in its operation to France and to the countries upon which the French yoke was most strictly imposed; and which had become virtually a part of the dominions of France.

"The U. States of America remained nevertheless dissatisfied, and their dissatisfaction has been greatly increased by an artifice too successfully employed on the part of the enemy, who has pretended that the Decrees of Berlin and Milan were repealed, although the Decree effecting such repeal has never been promulgated; although the notification of such pretended repeal distinctly described it to be dependent on conditions, in which the enemy knew G. Britain could never acquiesce; and although abundant evidence has since appeared of their subsequent execution.

"But the enemy has at length laid aside all dissimulation; he now publicly and solemnly declares, not only that those Decrees still continue in force, but that they shall be rigidly executed until G. Britain shall comply with additional conditions, equally extravagant; and he further announces the penalties of those Decrees to be in full force against all nations, which shall suffer their flag to be, as it is termed in this new code, 'denationalized.'

"In addition to the disavowal of the blockade of May, 1806, and of the principles on which the blockade was established, and in addition to the repeal of the British Orders in Council—he demands an admission of the principles, that the goods of an enemy, carried under a neutral flag, shall be treated as neutral; that neutral property under the flag of an enemy shall be treated as hostile; that arms and warlike stores alone [to the exclusion of ship-timber and other articles of naval equipment] shall be regarded as contraband of war;—and that no ports shall be considered as lawfully blockaded, except such as are invested and besieged, in the presumption of their being taken [en prevention d'etre pris,] and into which a merchant ship cannot enter without danger.

"By these and other demands, the enemy in fact, requires, that Great Britain, and all civilized nations, shall renounce at his arbitrary pleasure, the ordinary and indisputable right of maritime war, that Great Britain, in particular, shall forego the advantages of her naval superiority, and allow the commercial property, as well as the produce and manufactures of France, and her confederates, to pass the ocean in security, whilst the subjects of G. Britain are to be in effect proscribed from all commercial intercourse with other nations; and the produce and manufactures of these realms are to be excluded from every country in the world, to which the arms or influence of the enemy can extend.

"Such are the demands to which the British government is summoned to submit—to the abandonment of its most ancient, essential, and undoubted maritime rights. Such is the code by which France hopes, under the control of a neutral flag, to render her commerce unassailable by sea; whilst the proceeds of invade or incorporate with her own dominions all states that hesitate to sacrifice their national interests at her command, and in addition of these just rights, to adopt a just code, by which they are required to exclude, under the mask of municipal regulation, whatever is British, from their dominions.

"The pretext for these extravagant demands is, that some of these principles were adopted by voluntary compact in the treaty of Utrecht; as if a treaty, once existing between two particular countries, founded on special and reciprocal considerations, binding only the contract ng parties, should be the same powers, which had not been revised, nor ever to be regarded as declaratory of the public laws of nations.

"It is needless for his Royal Highness to demonstrate the injustice of such pretensions. He might otherwise appeal to the practice of France herself, in this and in former wars, and to her own established codes of maritime law; it is sufficient that these new demands of the enemy form a wide departure from those conditions on which the alledged repeal of the French decrees was accepted by America; and upon which alone, erroneously affirming that repeal to be complete, America has claimed a revocation of the British Orders in Council.

"His Royal Highness, upon a review of all these circumstances, persuaded, that so soon as this formal declaration, by the government of France of its unabated adherence to the principles and provisions of the Berlin and Milan decrees, shall be made known in America, the Government of the United States, actuated not less by a sense of justice to Great Britain, than by what is due to its own dignity, will be disposed to recall those measures of hostile exclusion, which, under a misconception of the real views and conduct of the French Government, America has exclusively applied to the commerce and ships of war of Great Britain.

"To accelerate a result so advantageous to the true interests of both countries, and to conducive to the re-establishment of perfect friendship between them; and to give a decisive proof of his Royal Highness's disposition to perform the engagements of his Majesty's Government, by revoking the Orders in Council, whenever the French decrees shall be actually and unconditionally repealed; his Royal Highness the Prince Regent has been this day pleased, in the name and on the behalf of his Majesty, and by and with the advice of his Majesty's Privy Council, to order and declare;

"That if at any time hereafter the Berlin and Milan decrees shall, by some authentic act of the French Government, publicly promulgated, be expressly and unconditionally repealed: then and from thenceforth, the Order in Council of the 7th day of January, 1807, and the Order in Council of the 26th day of April, 1809, shall, without any further order to that effect, be and the same are hereby declared from thenceforth to be wholly and absolutely revoked; and further, that the full benefit of this order shall be extended to any ship or vessel captured subsequent to such authentic act of repeal of the French decrees, although such ship or vessel shall have commenced, and shall be in the prosecution of a voyage, which, under the said Orders in Council, or one of them, would have subjected her to capture and condemnation; and the claimant of any ship or cargo which shall be captured at any time subsequent to such authentic act of repeal by the French Government, shall, without any further order or declaration on the part of his Majesty's government on this subject, be at liberty to give in evidence in the High Court of Admiralty or any Court of Vice Admiralty before which such ship or vessel, or its cargo, shall be brought for adjudication, that such repeal by the French Government had been by such authentic act promulgated prior to such capture; and upon proof thereof, the voyage shall be deemed and taken to have been in the prosecution of a voyage which, under the said Orders in Council, or one of them, would have subjected her to capture and condemnation; and the claimant of any ship or cargo shall be captured or brought to adjudication, on account of any alledged breach of either of the said Orders in Council, at any time subsequent to such authentic act of repeal by the French Government, shall, without any further order or declaration on the part of his Majesty's Government on this subject, be at liberty to give in evidence in the High Court of Admiralty, or any Court of Vice-Admiralty, before which such ship or cargo shall be brought for adjudication, that such repeal by the French government had been, by such authentic act, promulgated prior to such capture, and upon proof thereof, the voyage shall be deemed and taken to have been as lawful as if the said Orders in Council had never been made; saving, nevertheless, to the captors such protection and indemnity as they may be equitably entitled to in the said Court, by reason of their ignorance, of uncertainty as to the repeal of the French Decrees, or of the recognition of such repeal by his Majesty's Government at the time of such capture.

His Royal Highness, however, deems it proper to declare, that, should the repeal of the French Decrees, thus anticipated and provided for, prove afterwards to have been illusory on the part of the enemy; and should the restrictions thereof be still practically enforced, or revived by the enemy;—Great Britain will be compelled, however reluctantly, after reasonable notice, to have recourse to such measures of retaliation as may then appear to be just and necessary.

And the Rt. Hon. the Lords Commissioners of his Majesty's Treasury, his Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, and the Lords of the High Court of Admiralty, and the Judges of the Courts of Vice Admiralty, are to take the necessary measures herein as to them shall respectively appertain.

VOLCANO.

"A terrible calamity has just befallen our neighbouring island, of Saint Vincent; within these few days past, a volcanic eruption in the north end of the island, has destroyed a great number of estates, covering the canes and lands entirely with flames and ashes of a bluish colour, and some lives, I understand, have been lost. So immense is the power of this eruption, that the neighbouring island of Saint Lucie (which is the direction in which the mountain vomits forth its fire and ashes) is said to be covered three or 4 inches deep, with the sand, and most of the vessels arriving here, have had their decks covered a great distance from the land, with ashes and small cinders. We heard a few weeks previously, of a dreadful earthquake at Carraccas and Laguira, which destroyed a great many thousand of the inhabitants; and I have no doubt that the explosion at St. Vincent's is somehow or other connected with the fall of these dreadful calamities, for on the night of the eruption, about midnight, great noises were heard both here and at Trinidad, as well as at Tobago, resembling the noise of cannon discharged in a sea fight, and occasionally volies of musquetry, which I apprehend, must have proceeded from subterraneous causes in the volcano's pellige under us, or from the eruption of the mountain of St. Vincent.—The volcano is still continually throwing out its fire, and it is feared, will do great damage."—*Balt. FROM SOUTH AMERICA.

A letter from a respectable American, received here yesterday dated at Pernambuco, Adril 19, 1812, says, "The Montivedians and Buenosyrians are now united together, and have declared war against the Prince Regent of Portugal. Rio Grande South, and St. Catharine, it is said, are captured by the Spaniards; and their next attempt will be on Rio de Janeiro. There is not the least doubt but they will conquer the Portuguese.

NEW YORK, June 2.

From Portugal.—Captain Norton, of the brig Recompence, who arrived this morning in 36 days from Oporto, informs us that there had been no battle in the Peninsula; since the capture of Badajos. The French army had retired to the North of Spain. Capt. N. sailed in company with 20 sail of English transports bound to Lisbon.

Captain Robinson, of the brig Connecticut, from Porto Rico, informed us, that about the 18 of May, 4 Spanish troops embarked at St. Johns for Coro, to oppose the insurgents there, that about the middle of April, an action took place between the Patriots and Insurgents, in which the latter lost 32 armed boats, taken and sunk, and about 700 prisoners, 72 of which arrived at St. Johns on the 5th of May. Twenty three prisoners were brought from Marticabo, and a Col. and Lieut. Col. were taken belonging to Coro, having been stuffed on full opinion of revolting.—Mer. Adv.

VINCENNES, May 5.

On Sunday night last some Indians came to the house of M. J. M'Gowen about 40 miles from this place on the state road, about bed time, there was a light fire burning, and Mr. M'Gowen had just gone to bed, and his wife was getting into bed, when one of the Indians put his gun through a window and shot Mr. M'Gowen.—Three boys who were in the house immediately jumped up, extinguished the light and fired on the Indians—he Indians continued round the house nearly all the night, left a ferry boat and two canoes loose, stole two horses, and a third time before day went off.

"News has just arrived that about 500 Winebagoes (or Puants) are marching to attack us, and, as well as I am, I see out to-morrow morning to oppose them, and it is very probable I shall have a fight before I return.—My Rangers took two of their spies and killed another, as I learn from official communication just received. I have also understood from a gentleman from the upper part of the territory, that another encounter took place between some of them and the Rangers, in which it is believed the Indians sustained considerable loss. War is inevitable.—Russellville Pap.

BLOODY BATTLE.

The Malta Journal of the [illegible]th of March, brings the following account of a serious, and bloody, engagement in the Adriatic.

"H. M. ship Victorious, Captain John Talbot, and the Weasle brig, Capt. Andrews, finding themselves, in the afternoon of the 21st of last month, off Venice, discovered an enemy's squadron consisting of 1 ship of the line, 3 brigs, and 2 gun boats. Upon seeing them, the English immediately set every sail in chace. At 4 in the morning of the 22d, the Weasle commenced the action with a one of the enemy's brigs, and a few minutes after, the Victorious engaged the line of battle ship. At 5 one of the brigs blew up, and the other boge away, favored by the darkness of the morning. In that action, the Weasle suffered confiderably in her sails and rigging. At day break, the other two brigs were yet in fight, and the Weasle giving chace with all the sails she could muster. At 7, Capt. Talbot seeing that the enemy's brigs had got a considerable distance from the Weasle, made the signal of recal. The Victorious was still continuing the action. The Weasle returned, and about 8 o'clock placed herself under the bow of the enemy's ship, and fired several broadsides. At 9 the enemy struck to the Victorious, when she proved to be the RIVOLI, a 74, commanded by Commodore Batie, who had been only 12 hours out of Venice with his squadron, compoled of the Mercury, of 18 guns, which blew up in the action, the Jena, also of 18, the Mamelukе, of 10, and 2 gun boats which ran away during the engagement. The Victorious had 42 killed and 97 wounded, and the Rivoli between 4 and 500 killed and wounded.—The action took place off Seran, in the neighborhood of Trieste, and was one of the most severe that has been fought in the Mediterranean, owing to the Rivoli having a complement of 63a men."

WAR!

On this important topic, every thing is yet in doubt and uncertainty.—Congress are in conclave on a confidential message from the President, which is presumed to relate to a declaration of war against England—but nothing has transpired by which we are enabled to form any opinion of the result of their deliberations—we are, however, inclined to believe, that war against England will be the result. The people therefore will judge of the policy of such a war.

From the Philadelphia Register.

A letter from Washington, by the day's mail we are told, states that a majority of the House of Representatives is in favor of a war with Great Britain—That if such a resolution is sent to the Senate, it will be amended by including France in the declaration—which amendment will be rejected by the House of Representatives—who will then resolve to remove all commercial restrictions, and relieve the people by an adjournment.

It is also stated, that in the opinions of the Senators, as far as collected, are,

Lateſt Intelligence.

New York, June 5.

The Engliſh meſſenger, Mr. Ruff, arrived at this port laſt evening, in the Britiſh ſchooner Mackerel. The Mackerel ſailed from Falmouth on the 15th of April; and Lieutenant Parker, the commander of the ſchooner, was killed, on the paſſage, by the falling of a man upon him from the maſt head.

We underſtand, that the meſſenger left town this morning, with his depatches for Mr. Foſter, who is now at the ſeat of government.

Philadelphia, June 8.

We have seen a letter from the chief of the family of Crillon, to a gentleman now in this city, dated Paris April 17, which, in conſequence of a converſation held with Mr. Borlow, ſtates, that the individual, who ſtyled himſelf Count de Crillon, in this country, is an impoſter, and in no way connected with the family of Crillon.

It will be recollected that this worthy was received in his aſſumed character at the palace at Wathington laſt winter.

So much for the aſſociate of M. Henry, the acquaintance of Governor Gerry and Preſident Madiſon.

Political Regiſter,

From the London Morning Chronicle, of March 31, 1812

The New River Company of London, in a recent addreſs to thoſe who pay annual rents for water, ſtate the following curious facts. That the river delivers about 214,000 hogſheads of water into London every 24 hours. That the groſs price received for water does not exceed two ſhillings for each hundred hogſheads. The average rental upon houſes is twenty-ſeven ſhillings per annum, or about ſix pence per week for each houſe. That the reſervoir has a natural elevation of eighty-five feet above the level of the Thames, and is raiſed to a further height of thirty five feet by machinery.

French ſhips in the Weſt-Indies—By accounts received at New-York from Demarara, by way of Hallifax, it would appear that ſix French ſhips of the line are in the Weſt Indies, and that a cutonade in the direction of Guadaloupe had been heard at Demerara.

Boſton, June 9.

LATE FROM ENGLAND.

We were yeſterday favored with London papers to April 30, and Liverpool to May 1.

In the Houſe of Commons, April 28. Mr. Whitbread read the Preſident's meſſage reſpecting Henry's affair, and demanded whether government was privy to his miſſion, &c. Lord Caſtlereagh replied that the Miniſters knew nothing of Henry's miſſion till it had terminated, and then conſidered it an errand for military information, and took no notice of it, as being at an end; and the letter which mentions a cypher to be furniſhed, was not among Sir James Craig's enclosures to government, and that miniſters knew nothing of it, but what they ſaw in the newspapers.

Lord Holland called the attention of the Houſe of Lords to the ſame ſubject. Lord Liverpool, for himſelf and others, declared there never had been any attempt, deſign or with to effect any ſeparation or diſunion between any parts of the United States, or to foment any diſſatisfaction towards the peace or government of that country; nor had any individual been employed by government on ſuch ſervice; that the employment of Henry was unknown to government; and his engagement by Craig was merely to obtain information, and to which the adminiſtration was not privy.

The convoy for Quebec, Novascotia and Amelia, ſailed from England April 27, having on board detachments of officers and men for regiments.

The Britiſh government diſtruſts the intentions of Bernadotte—and an intercourse opened with Ruſſia is to be carried on without the merchant veſſels ſtopping at a Swediſh port.

The Chancellor of exchequer ſaid in Parliament April 29, that he thought it impoſſible the United States could any longer maintain that the Berlin and Milan decrees were repealed, unleſs they meant to make common cauſe with France.

In the Britiſh Houſe of Lords Apr. 22, the majority againſt the Roman Catholics was 72.

Sweden demands of G. Britain and France to be allowed to remain neutral.

Three French privateers have been carried into Sweden by a ſhip of war.

It is ſaid Bonaparte intends to open the whole range of ports from St. Maloes to Antwerp, for trade with England, inſtead of the late licence trade.

It is reported that France has declared ſhe has no objection to admit Spain and Portugal as parties to a negociation for peace, underſtanding they will cede to France all the Spaniſh territory north of the Ebro.

The Engliſh will not confent that France ſhall hold any territory ſouth of the Pyrenees.

It is ſaid Bonaparte is ſeriouſly indiſpoſed, and that his phyſicians have declared his caſe a dropſical one.

The French government has ordered that two millions of rations of ſoup be diſtributed daily in the different departments.

Among other rumors in England as to the late overtures from France, one is that Bonaparte offers to conſent to a conditional revocation of the Berlin and Milan decrees.

The American meſſengers for Paris are all detained at Morlaix; and no Americans can leave Paris without paſſports, to embark for America.

NEW YORK. June 13.

LATEST FROM PORTUGAL.

Yeſterday arrived at this port, the faſt ſailing ſhip Mentor, Capt. Barnard, from Liſbon, which place he left on the 4 h of May.

Capt. B. informs us, it was reported at Liſbon, that another battle had been fought between the Britiſh and French armies, in which the latter loſt between 3 and 4000 men.

The embargo was not officially known at Liſbon when capt. B. ſailed, but two ſhips (the Erie) and Oronoko) had juſt arrived in the Tagus from New York, having failed the morning our embargo reached them.

Lateſt from France.—We learn, by the brig Regent, arrived here this morning in 39 days from Bordeaux, that the French troops were returning from Spain, in a miſerable emaciated condition. It is believed that Spain will be abandoned by the French armies, except ſome of the ſtrong places near the frontiers of France. It is ſuppoſed to be on account of the ſcarcity of proviſions that this meaſure has been adopted.—Ev. Poſt.

I have juſt received news from Northampton county, (Virginia) which mentions that an inſurrection, among the Negroes was attempted on the 4th inſtant, that 200 Negroes were taken up for trial directly in that neighborhood, and a great many more in Accomack, the adjoining county—it ſeems the plan of the blacks of each family, was to deſtroy the whites of the ſame, at a certain hour of the night of the 4th inſt. to embody and march, putting to death all blacks who ſhould refuſe to aſſiſt. The ſecret was revealed by a ſmall Mulatto boy the day previous to the time appointed.—Dem. Preſs.

STATE PAPERS, laid before Congreſs on the 5th of June, 1812.

To the Senate and Houſe of Repreſentatives of the United States.

I transmit, for the information of Congreſs, copies of a correſpondence of the Miniſter Plenipotentiary of G. Britain, with the Secretary of State.

JAMES MADISON.

June 4 h, 1812.

Mr. Foſter to Mr. Monroe.

Waſhington, May 30, 1812.

SIR,—Notwithſtanding the diſcouraging nature of the converſation which I had the honor to have with you a few days ſince at your office, and the circumſtance of your continued ſilence in regard to two letters from me furniſhing additional proof of the exiſtence of the French decrees, nevertheleſs there does now appear ſuch clear and convincing evidence in the report of the duke of Baſſano dated the 20th of March of the preſent year, of thoſe decrees having not only never been recinded but of their being recently extended and aggravated in the republication of them contained in that inſtrument, that I cannot but imagine it will ſeem moſt important to the Preſident that it ſhould be communicated to Congress without delay, in the preſent intereſting criſis of their deliberations, and therefore haſten to fulfil the inſtructions of my government in laying before the government of the United States the enclosed Moniteur of the 16th of laſt March, in which is contained that report as it was made to the Ruler of France and communicated to the Conſervative Senate.

This report confirms if any thing were wanting to confirm, in the moſt unequivocal manner, the repeated aſſertions of G. Britain that the Berlin and Milan decrees have never been revoked, however ſome partial and inſidious relaxations of them may have been made in a few inſtances as an encouragement to America to adopt a ſyſtem beneficial to France and injurious to Great Britain, while the conditions on which alone it has been declared that thoſe decrees will ever be revoked are here explained and amplified in a manner to leave us no hope of Bonaparte having any diſpoſition to renounce the ſyſtem of injuſtice which he has purſued, ſo as to make it poſſible for G. Britain to give up the defenſive meaſures ſhe has been obliged to resort to.

I need not remind you, Sir, how often it has in vain been urged by Great Britain, that a copy of the inſtrument ſhould be produced by which the decrees of Bonaparte were ſaid to be repealed, and how much it has been defired that America ſhould explicitly ſtate that ſhe did not adopt the conditions on which the repeal was offered.

It is now manifeſt that there was never more than a conditional offer of repeal made by France which we had a right to complain that America ſhould have aſſed us to recognize as abſolute, and which if accepted in its extent by America, would only have formed a ground for declining her demands.

America muſt feel that it is impoſſible for G. Britain to reſcind her orders in council whilſt the French decrees are officially declared to remain in force againſt all nations not ſubſcribing to the new maritime code promulgated in thoſe decrees, and alſo without ſomething more explicit on the part of America, with regard to her underſtanding as to the conditions annexed by France to the repeal of thoſe decrees. For, after what has paſſed, unleſs a full and ſatisfactory explanation be made on both theſe points, Great Britain cannot relinquiſh her retaliatory ſyſtem againſt France, without implying her conſent to the admiſſibility of the conditions in queſtion.

Theſe obſervations will, I am sure appear ſufficiently obvious to you, Sir, on peruſing the enclosed paper.

It will be at once acknowledged that this paper is a republication of the Berlin and Milan decrees, in a much more aggravated form, accompanied as it is with an extenſion of all the obnoxious doctrines which attend upon thoſe decrees, inſtanced by a declaration that Bonaparte has annexed to France every independent ſtate in his neighbourhood which had eluded them; and that he was proceeding a gainſt all other maritime ports of Europe on the pretence that his ſyſtem could not be permanent and complete ſo long as they retained their liberty with regard to it:

The outrageous principle here avowed conneĉts itſelf obviouſly with the propoſition too much countenanced by America, that the continental ſyſtem of Bonaparte, as far as it operates to the confiſcation of neutral property on ſhore, on the ground of ſuch property being Britiſh produce or manufacture, is a mere municipal regulation which neutral or belligerent nations have no right to reſent, becauſe it does not violate any principle of the law of nations; but that it is a mere war meaſure directed with the moſt hoſtile ſpirit againſt Great Britain; and in order to extend this ſyſtem on the principle of municipal regulation all the rights of independent neutral nations are to be violated, their ſtates to be ſeized without any other cauſe of war whatever, but that they may be incorporated with the French nation, and thence becoming ſubjects to her rights of dominion, receive the continental ſyſtem as a municipal regulation of France and thus the mere poſſibility of non-compliance with the whole of the ſyſtem is made the ground for the occupation or invaſion, the incorporation or extenſion of every ſtate where the French arms can reach.

Great Britain cannot believe that America will not feel a juſt indignation at the full developement of ſuch a ſyſtem—ſyſtem which indeed Bonaparte has partially purſued before and has in the inſtances of the Hanſeatic towns, of Portugal and other countries, carried into complete execution, but which he has never completely unfolded in all its extent until the preſent moment; and in what an inſulting and prepoſterous ſhape does he now attempt to bring forward & promulgate this code which he is to force upon all nations? He aſſumes the treaty of U recht to be in force, and to be a law binding upon all nations; becauſe it ſuits his convenience, at this moment when the navy of France is driven from the ocean, to revive the doctrine of "free ſhips making free goods," he has recourſe to a treaty no longer in force, in which ſuch a ſtipulation exiſted—a treaty which, by his own expreſs refuſal at Amiens to renew any of the ancient treaties, was not then revived as even by the ruler of France, in the Duke of Baſſano's report, and at the ſame time the reſolution to march his armies into all ſtates, into the ports of which the Engliſh flag is admitted, acknowledge, that this doctrine and reſolution conſtitutes a complete annihilation of neutrality, and that ſhe is bound as a neutral ſtate to drive and reſiſt them. Every ſtate that acquieſces in this report, muſt act upon the principle, that neutral and enemy are to be conſidered henceforward as the ſame in the language of the French law of nations, and Great Britain has a right to conſider that every nation who refuſes to admit her flag upon the principle aſſumed admits and recognizes the doctrine of the report.

I will not trouble you, Sir, with many obſervations relative to the blockade of May, 18 6 as the legality of that blockade aſſuming the blockading force to have been ſufficient to enforce it, has latterly not been queſtioned by you.

I will merely remark that it was impoſſible G. Britain ſhould receive otherwiſe than with the utmoſt jealouſy the unexpected demand made by America for the repeal of the blockade as well as the orders in council when it appeared to be made ſubſequent to, if not in conſequence of one of the conditions in Bonaparte's pretended repeal of his decrees which condition was our renouncing what he calls "our new principles of blockade;" that the demand on the part of America was additional and new, is ſufficiently proved by reference to the overture of Mr. Pinkney, as well from the terms on which Mr. Erſkine had arranged the diſpute with America relative to the orders in council. In that arrangement nothing was brought forward with regard to this blockade. America would have been contented at that time without any reference to it. It certainly is not more a grievance or an injuſtice now than it was then. Why then is the renunciation of that blockade inſiſted upon now if it was not neceſſary to inſiſt upon it then? It is diſſicult to find any answer but by reference to ſubſequent communications between France and America, and a diſpoſition in America to countenance France in requiring the abandonment of that blockade and the principles upon which it reſted, as the condition ine qua non of the repeal of Berlin and Milan decrees. It ſeems to have become an object with America only becauſe it was preſcribed as a condition by France.

On this blockade and the principles and rights upon which it was founded, Bonparte appears to reſt the juſtification of all his meaſures for abolishing neutrality, and for the invaſion of every ſtate which is not ready with him to wage a war of extermination againſt the commerce of G. Britain.

America, therefore, no doubt, ſaw the neceſſity of demanding its renunciation, but the will now ſee that it is in reality vain either for America or Great Britain to expect an actual repeal of the French decrees until Great Britain renounces: Firſt, the baſis, viz. the blockade of 18 6. on which Bonaparte has been pleaſed to found them; next the right of retaliation as ſubſequently acted upon in the orders in council; further, 'till the is ready to receive the treaty of U recht, interpreted and applied by the Duke of Baſſano's report as the univerſal law of nations; and finally 'till the abjures all the principles of maritime law which ſupport her eſtabliſhed rights now more than ever eſſential to her exiſtence as a nation.

STATE PAPERS, laid before Congress on the 5th of June, 1812.

Great Britain feels confident that America can never maintain or ultimately sanction such pretentions, and his Royal Highness the Prince Regent entertains the strongest hope that this last proceeding of France will strip her measures of every remnant of disguise, and that America in justice to what she owes to the law of nations and to her own honor as a neutral state, will instantly withdraw her countenance from the outrageous system of the French government, and cease to support by hostile measures against British commerce the enormous fabric of usurpation and tyranny which France has endeavored to exhibit to the world as the law of nations.

America cannot now contend that the orders in council exceed the spirit of retaliation what is demanded by the decrees, the principles, or the usurpations of Bonaparte. The United States government must at last be convinced that the partial relaxations of those decrees in favor of America have been unfaithfully adopted by France for the mere purpose of inducing her to close her ports against Great Britain, which France cannot effect herself by force, and the must admit that if Great Britain were now to repeal her orders in council against France, it would be gratuitously allowing to France the commerce of America and all the benefits derivable from her flag as an additional instrument for the annoyance of Great Britain, and that at a moment when every flate is threatened with destruction or really destroyed for merely supporting their own right to trade with Great Britain.

I am commanded, sir, to express on the part of his Royal Highness the Prince Regent, that while his Royal Highness entertains the most sincere desire to conciliate America, he yet can never concede that the blockade of May 1806, could justly be made the foundation, as it avowedly has been, for the decrees of Bonaparte; and further, that the British government must ever consider the principles on which that blockade was reflected (accompanied as it was, by a blockading force) to have been strictly consonant to the established law of nations, and a legitimate instance of the practice which it recognizes.

Secondly, that Great Britain must continue to reject the other spurious doctrines promulgated by France in the Duke of Bassano's report, as binding upon all nations. She cannot admit, as a true declaration of public law, that free ships make free goods, nor the converse of that proposition, that enemy's ships destroy the character of neutral property in the cargo—she cannot consent by the adoption of such a principle to deliver absolutely the commerce of France from the pressure of the naval power of G. Britain, and by the abuse of the neutral flag to allow her enemy to obtain, without the expence of sustaining a navy, for the trade and property of French subjects a degree of freedom and security which even the commerce of her own subjects cannot find under the protection of the British navy.

She cannot admit as a principle of public law, that a maritime blockade can alone be legally applied to fortresses actually invested by land as well as by sea, which is the plain meaning or consequence of the Duke of Bassano's definition.

She cannot admit as a principle of public law, that arms and military stores are alone contraband of war, and that ship timber and naval stores are excluded from that description. Neither can she admit without retaliation that the mere fact of commercial intercourse with British ports and subjects should be made a crime in all nations, and that the armies and decrees of France should be directed to enforce a principle so new & unheard of in war.

Great Britain feels that to relinquish her just measures of self defence and retaliation, would be to surrender the best means of her own preservation and rights, and with them the rights of other nations so long as France maintains and acts upon such principles.

I am commanded to represent to the government of America, that Great Britain feels herself entitled to expect from them an unreserved and candid disclaimer of the right of France to impose on her and on the world the maritime code which has been thus promulgated, and to the penalties of which America is herself declared to be liable if she fails to submit herself to its exactions; America cannot, for her own character, any longer temporise on this subject, or delay coming to a distinct explanation with France as well as with Great Britain, if she wishes to clear herself from the imputation of being an abettor of such injustice.

America, as the case now stands, has not a pretence for claiming from Gt. Britain a repeal of her orders in council. She must recollect that the British government never for a moment countenanced the idea that the repeal of those orders could depend upon any partial or conditional repeal of the decrees of France. What the always avowed was her readinefs to rescind her orders in council as soon as France rescinded absolutely and unconditionally her decrees. She could not enter into any other engagement without the greatest injustice to her allies as well as the neutral nations in general, much less could the do so if any special exception was to be granted by France upon conditions utterly subversive of the most important and indisputable maritime rights of the British empire.

America has now a proceeding forced upon her by France, on which without surrendering any of those principles which she may deem it necessary for her own honor and security to maintain, she may separate herself from the violence and injustice of the enemy. She owes not only to herself to do so; but she is entitled to resent that course of conduct on the part of France which is the only impediment to her obtaining what the desires at the hands of G. Britain, namely the repeal of the orders in council.

I am authorised to renew to the American Government the assurance of his Royal Highness's anxious desire to meet the wishes of America upon this point, whenever the conduct of the enemy will justify him in so doing.

Whilst America could persuade herself, however erroneously, that the Berlin and Milan decrees had been actually and totally repealed, and that the execution of the engagement made on that condition by the British Government had been declined she might deem it justifiable, as a consequence of such a persuasion, to treat the interest and commerce of France with preference and friendship and those of G. Britain with hostility; but this delusion is at an end; America now finds the French decrees not only in full force, but pointed with augmented hostility against G. Britain. Will the government of the U. States declare that the measure now taken by France is that repeal of the obnoxious decrees which America expected would lead to the repeal of the British orders in council? Will the American Government unless upon the principle of denying our retaliatory right of blockade, under any imaginable circumstances, declare that there is at this moment, a ground upon which the repeal of our orders in council can be pressed upon us; or that the repeal could now be warranted upon any other ground than an express abdication of the right itself, which America well knows, whatever may be our desire to conciliate, is a conceffion which the British Government cannot and will not make.

If this be true, for what purpose can the persevere in her hostile attitude towards G. Britain, and her friendly one towards France? Do the American government really wish to aid France in her attempt to subjugate G. Britain? Does America expect that G. Britain, contending against France, will at the instance of America disarm herself, and submit to the mercy of the opponent? If both these questions are answered in the negative, upon what ground can she for a moment longer continue the hostile measures against us? The American non-intercourse act was framed upon the express principle of continuing in force against the power, whether France or G. Britain, that should refuse to repeal its respective laws, of which America thought herself entitled to complain; but the repeal contemplated by that act was a bona fide repeal, and not a repeal upon an inadmissible condition, and America can never be justified in continuing to resent against us that failure of relief which is alone attributable to the insidious policy of the enemy, that has for the purpose of embarrassing the discussions interwoven the question of the decrees with the exaction of a relinquishment of almost the whole system of our maritime law.

It is not for the British government to dictate to that of America what ought to be the measure of her just indignation against the rulers of France, for having originated and persevered in a system of lawless violence, to the subversion of neutral rights which being necessarily retaliated by G. Britain has exposed America, with other neutral states, to loffes which the British government has never ceased most sincerely to deplore; America must judge for herself, how much the original injustice of France towards her has been aggravated by the fraudulent professions of relinquishing her decrees by the steps adopted to mislead. America, in order to embark her in measures which we trust she never would have taken if she could have foreseen what has now happened; and ultimately by threatening America with her vengeance as a denationalized state, if she does not submit to be the instrument of her designs against Great Britain.

These are considerations for America to weigh; but what we are entitled to claim at her hands as an act not less of policy than justice, is that she should cease to treat Great Britain as an enemy.—The Prince Regent does not therefore retrospect when the interests of two countries so naturally connected by innumerable ties are concerned. It is more consonant to his royal highness's sentiments to contribute to the restoration of harmony and friendly intercourse, than to enquire why it has been interrupted. Feeling that nothing has been omitted on his part to relieve America from the inconveniences to which a novel system of warfare on the part of France unfortunately continues to expose her; and that the present unfriendly relations which to their mutual prejudice subsist between the two countries, have grown out of a misconception on the part of America, both of the conduct and purpose of France; his royal highness considers himself entitled to call upon America to resume her relations of amity with Great Britain.—In doing so she will best provide for the interests of her own people; and I am authorized to assure the American government, that altho' his royal highness, acting in the name and on the behalf of his Majesty, can never suffer the fundamental maxims of the British monarchy in matters of maritime right, as confonant to the recognized law of nations, to be prejudiced in his hands, his royal highness will be ready at all times to concert with America, as to their exercise; and so to regulate their application as to combine as far as may be, the interests of America with the object of effectually retaliating upon France the measures of her own injustice.

I will now terminate this letter by assuring you, Sir, as I can with perfect truth, that the most cordial and sincere desire animates the councils of Great Britain to conciliate America, so far as may be consistent with the principles upon which the preservation of the power and independence of the British monarchy is held essentially to depend, and which cannot be abandoned without throwing her helpless and disarmed into the presence of her adversary.

I have the honor to be,

James Monroe, Esq. Secretary of State.

Mr. Monroe to Mr. Foster.

Department of State, June 3d, 1812.

SIR—In the letter of May 10th, which I had the honor to receive from you on the 28 inst. I perceive a difference in a particular passage of it from a passage on the same subject, in the despatch from Lord Castlereagh to you, which you were so good as to communicate to me entire, as appears from the tenor of the letter to have been intended by your government. The passage in your letter to which I allude is as follows: "American, as the case now stands, has not a pretence for claiming from G. Britain a repeal of her orders in council. She must recollect that the British Government never for a moment countenanced the idea that the repeal of those orders could depend upon any partial or conditional repeal of the decrees of France. What the always avowed was her readiness to rescind her orders in council as soon as France rescinded absolutely and unconditionally her decrees. She could not enter into any other engagement without the greatest injustice to her allies as well as the neutral nations in general; much less could the do so if any special exception was to be granted by France upon conditions utterly subversive of the most important and indisputable maritime rights of the British empire."

According to the tenor of the despatch of Lord Castlereagh to you, my recollection is, that in stating the condition which the orders in council were to be repealed in relation to the United States, it was specified that the decrees of Berlin and Milan must not be repealed singly and specially in relation to the United States, but be repealed also as to all other neutral nations, and that in no less extent of a repeal of the decrees had the British government ever pledged itself to repeal the orders in council.

However fusceptible the passage in your letter may be of a construction reconcilable with the import of the despatch from Lord Castlereagh, yet as a similar phraseology of your government on other occasions has had a construction less extensive; and as it is important, in every respect, that there should be no misunderstanding or possibility of error, you will excuse me for requesting that you will have the goodness to inform me whether, in any circumstance, my recollection of the import of this passage in Lord Castlereagh's despatch is inaccurate.

I have the honor to be &c.

Mr. Foster to Mr. Monroe,

Washington, June 3. 1812.

SIR—I have received your letter of to-day, requesting an explanation, relative to the supposed meaning of a passage in a despatch from Lord Castlereagh to me that I had the honor to communicate to you confidentially, & I beg leave to state to you that while I conceive it to be very difficult to give an explanation upon a single point in a note of considerable length, without referring to the whole context, & also believe it to be altogether irregular to enter into a discussion respecting a communication so entirely informal yet I have no hesitation in assuring you that my note of May 3d, contains the whole substance of the despatch alluded to.

In the correspondence that will probably take place between us, in consequence of the new ground upon which the Duke of Bassano's report has placed the question at issue between our two countries, I shall be extremely happy to enter at full length upon any topic which you may with particularity to discuss.

I have the honor to be, with the highest consideration and respect, Sir, your most obedient humble servant,

AUG J. FOSTER.

To the hon. J. Monroe &c.

Mr. Monroe to Mr. Foster.

Department of State, June 4 1812.

SIR—I have had the honor to receive your letter of yesterday, in reply to mine of the same date.

As the despatch of Lord Castlereagh was communicated by you to me, in my official character, to be shewn to the President, and was shewn to him accordingly, and as the despatch itself expressly authorized such a communication to the government, I cannot conceive in what sense such a proceeding could be considered confidential or how it could be undesirable, that the executive was to receive one communication for itself, and transmit to Congress another, liable, in the opinion of the executive, to different or double construction. I cannot but persuade myself, Sir, that on a reconsideration of the subject you will perceive that there can be no impropriety in a compliance with the request contained in my letter of yesterday. Should I be mistaken in the expectation, I flatter myself that you will see the propriety of freeing your own communication from ambiguity and liability to misconstruction. With a view to this, permit me to inquire whether the passage in your letter, stating the condition on which your government always avowed its readiness to rescind the orders in council, namely, as to France rescinded, absolutely and unconditionally, her decrees, includes in its meaning that the decrees must be rescinded in relation to other neutral nations, as well as to the United States, previous to a repeal of the orders in council in relation to the United States?

I have the honor to be, &c.

QUEBEC, May 19.

This day, at three o'clock, his Excellency the Governor in Chief came down in the usual state to the Legislative Chamber, and being seated on the Throne, the Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod was sent to command the presence of the Assembly, which being come up, his Excellency was then pleased to address both Houses in the following Speech:

Gentlemen of the Legislative Council, Gentlemen of the House of Assembly,

The advanced period of the year, renders a remission from your Legislative duties, highly necessary; but before I put an end to the present session of the Provincial Parliament, I am desirous of expressing my warm approbation of the assiduity with which you have attended to the important objects of public concern, for which, when I first met you, I claimed your most serious consideration.

You have wisely bestowed much of your labour upon the improvement of the Militia system; from the law which you have passed upon this subject, and from the increased means you have thereby afforded me for the defence of the Province, I confidently look forward to fresh proofs of the loyalty, zeal, and public spirit of its inhabitants.

Every motive of expediency, as well as of honor, and of duty, calls, for the immediate execution of this act, & you will soon be enabled to discover, by its operation, what are its imperfections, and I feel assured, you will be disposed promptly to remedy those defects which may be found to exist in it, whenever the subject shall be again submitted to your consideration.

Gentlemen of the House of Assembly,

You are entitled to my best thanks for the proofs I have received of your confidence in my administration, by the very liberal provision you have made for the exigencies of the public service.—You may depend upon the exercise of a just and prudent economy, in the application of what you have so freely granted.

Gentlemen of the Legislative Council, Gentlemen of the House of Assembly,

I deeply lament my inability to communicate to you any favorable change in the state of the health of our venerable and beloved Sovereign; the countenance of his Majesty's indisposition, has caused his royal highness the Prince Regent to be invested with the unrestricted Regal Authority; and I must sincerely congratulate you upon the series of brilliant events, each augmenting the power and glory of the Empire, and recently terminating in the conquest of Java, and the fall of Ciudad Rodrigo, which have so eminently distinguished the regency of his Royal Highness.

The embargo laws lately passed by the government of the United States, and other similar unquestionable indications of an unfriendly spirit and disposition towards Great Britain, demand suitable exertions from our people to guard against their possible effects; I am therefore induced earnestly to recommend to you, to carry into your respective counties the same loyal spirit which has guided your legislative proceedings, that you may duly impress upon the minds of your constituents, now much the preservation of the inestimable blessings they enjoy, depends upon their ability, as well as inclination, effectually to co operate with the forces his Majesty has allotted for the defence of this province of his empire in repelling insult or injury from any foreign power.

After which, the Honorable Speaker of the Legislative Council declared the Provincial Parliament to be prorogued to Monday the 29th of June next.

From a London paper of February 12

The army estimate for the present year laid before the House of Commons is for 37 434 men, and deducting the 28,161 for the regiments in the territories of the Eaft India Company, there remains 343,273 to be provided for by Parliament. The expences for this force, and other disbursements of the military department amount to 15,893, 921 3s. 9d. The number of embodied militia is 93,212. The expence for the Local Militia is 72,,078l.

The subalterns of the army are at length rescued from what they denominated Sir D— D—'s Badge, and are to wear the same epaulets as before, under the following order:—"The epaulets and wings of all regimental Officers are, in future, to be the same, without any other distinction than what was prescribed by the General Order of the 19th of February, 1811, in the case of Colonels and Field Officers."

The Brecet that will come out in the month of April next will exceed to a great portion of the Colonels of 1810, and include the whole of the Lieutenant Colonels of 1808-9. the Majors of 1806 7, and the Captains of 1811 2.

The new regulations for officers wearing caps and jackets, instead of cocked hats and long coats, are to be generally adopted on the 4th of June next, in all the regiments at home.

Quebec, June 9. Arrived his Majesty's frigate Spartan, Capt. Brenton, from Halifax, with 33,000l. in specie on board.

SATURDAY, July 4, 1812.

At the present juncture, whilst our information and knowledge of the general facts passing on this Continent at this time, remain in a measure wholly suspended, and whilst such diversity of opinion on the probable result of this novel state of things is afloat, we can say nothing to our Readers which can throw any new light on the subject. But we cannot pass over the late Intramural policy of the American Government in silence—such policy we think as could only emanate from the gilded wards of Bonaparte, the polluting touch of which has fascinated the willing eyes of America's present Rulers from seeing the deformity of the path step she has taken.

On the most calm and unprejudiced view of the situation of the United States, we feel at a total loss to ascribe to any one rational reason, or devise one palpable inducement thus to hurry them into the desperate resort of declaring War against Britain. We see them at this moment encircled by powerful Foes, by Nations, and by Tribes, whom their latter conduct has forced to become their enemies. From the Province we inhabit to the little Island of Bermuda, veteran Britons, Britain's Sons, and her affiliated Sons, will vigorously oppose them.—On the South and West, they have urged the Spanish Provinces and the Indians into actual hostilities.—On the neighbouring frontier (Detroit) a formidable band of Warriors wait our permission to avenge repeated injuries. We have a fleet on their coast. Our Provincial Marine command the interior waters. A powerful land force will be speedily furnished and manned. A handy population in this and the Lower Province will meet aggression with nearly one hundred thousand men, whose loyalty and veneration for the happy Constitution they live under, will make them emulate veterans in the service. The numerous people of colour in Maryland Virginia, &c. want but a rallying point, and a sanguinary revolt will follow (how practicable and easy to have one or two of our West Indian regiments landed on the coast.) The States have above 1000 merchant vessels at sea, (with our fleet sweeping every enemy from the ocean, and a part of it on their coast, into whose hands must they fall?) The reflecting portion of their citizens foresee the horrors and difficulties which so unjust a war must set, must bring upon their country—and have publicly declared their unwillingness to engage in it. America with a defenceless sea coast, without either navy, or an organized army, with little cash, and as little credit, with councils become wretched from having every man of virtue driven from them—with several of their most powerful States deprecating the mania of the general government, and through their legislatures publishing it—in such an actual state of things, with such cheerless prospects, let us ask in the name of God, where is the motive, or what the object to be attained by plunging into a War with Britain.

A few years since, we saw the mountebank mafs of the United States cheering France as their Super Republic; but our heart, but our voice, but the skeleton of our common interest, seemed to unmake them—now we have suddenly seen the shameless and modern transformation—for their then Republican leaders (men of distinguished patriotism and virtue) serving gamesters, and planet speculators are in pursuit.—Could the manes of Washington look upon his sac-

The Editor cannot predict, could he do so, he would say that the expiring reign of the present Molten Calf, whose policy tends to excite national discord and disunion, and invite commotion and civil war, as it did as did the Consulate of Buonaparte—that this hope gives the impulse to his whole conduct, is the Editor's confirmed opinion and that the curses of his country will be his most lasting epitaph.

The Editor is pleased to hear from all ranks of People so many flattering encomiums pronounced on the Volunteer Militia who garrison this Post—well may our mother country be styled the triumphant bulwark of Liberty, when her subject Sons strive to rival each other in proud examples of patriotism and Loyalty. If any thing the Editor could say, could add to the declaration of a Veteran Commander, whose opinion he had the honor of hearing yesterday, to wit, "that the present Garrison were in a set of active and well behaved young men—whose conduct did honor to their King, their Country, and themselves," he would say, that he believed them men who would ably distinguish themselves in preserving the sacred rights of Religion, Property, and Liberty, which we now under the blessing of Providence enjoy.

DIED, On the 24th ult. at Woodhouse, in the District of London, Samuel Ryerse, Esquire, a Captain on half pay, and formerly District Judge and Colonel of the Militia in the County of Norfolk. Those who knew and served with him during the American war, bear ample testimony to his loyalty and personal bravery; and he was not less eminent for his virtues in private life.

He fell a victim to a lingering disease which he bore with a patience and a fortitude becoming a Christian and a Soldier. He died in the 64d year of his age, much and justly regretted by all who knew him.

Latest Intelligence.

From the London Gazette Extraordinary.

War Department April 24, 1812.

Capt. Canning, Aid de Camp to General the Earl of Wellington, arrived last night at this office, bringing despatches, addressed by his Lordship to the Earl of Liverpool, of which the following are extracts or copies.

Extract of a despatch from the Earl of Wellington, dated Camp before Badajoz, April 7, 1812.

We opened our fire on the 31st of March from 26 pieces of cannon, in the second parallel, to breach the face of the bastion at the south east angle of the fort called La Trinadad; and the flank of the bastion by which the face is defended, called Santa Maria. The fire upon these has continued since with great effect.

The enemy made a sortie upon the night of the 29th upon the troops of Gen. Hamilton's division, which invest the place on the right of the Guadiana, but were immediately driven in with loss. We lost no men on this occasion.

The movements of Lieut. Gen. Sir Thos. Graham and of Lieut. Gen. Sir Rowland Hill have obliged the enemy to retire by the different roads towards Cordova, with the exception of a small body of infantry and cavalry which remained at Zalamea de la Serena, in the front of Betalcazar.

Marshal Soult broke up in front of Cadiz on the 23d and 24th, and has marched upon Seville with all the troops which were there, with the exception of four thousand men.

I understand that he was to march from Seville again on the 30th or 31st.

I have not heard from Castile since the 30th ult. One division of the army of Portugal, which had been in the Province of Avila, had on that day arrived at Guadapero, within 2 leagues of Ciudad Rodrigo; and it was supposed that Marshal Marmont was on his march with other troops from the side of Salamanco.

The River Agueda was not fordable for troops on the 30th.

Copy of a Despatch from the Earl of Wellington, dated Camp before Badajoz April 7, 1812.

My Lord—My despatch of the 3d inst. will have apprized your Lordship of the state of the operations against Badajos to that date, which were brought to a close on the night of the 6th, by the capture of that place by storm.

The fire continued during the 4th and 5th against the face of the bastion of La Trinadad, and the flank of the bastion of Santa Maria; and on the 4th in the morning, we opened another battery of 6 guns, in the second parallel, against the shoulder of the ravelin of St. Roque, and the wall in its gorge. Practicable breaches were effected in the bastions above mentioned, in the evening of the 5th; but as I had observed that the enemy had entrenched the bastion of La Trinadad, and the most formidable preparations were making for the defence as well of the breach in that bastion, as of that in the bastion of Santa Maria, I determined to delay the attack for another day, and to turn all the guns in the batteries in the second parallel on the curtain of La Trinadad, in hopes that by effecting a third breach, the troops would be enabled to turn the enemy's works for the defence of the other two the attack of which would besides be connected by the troops destined to attack the breach in the curtain.

This breach was effected in the evening of the 6th, and the fire of the face of the bastion of Santa Maria and of the flank of the bastion of La Trinadad being overcome, I determined to attack the place that night.

I had kept in reserve in the neighbourhood of this camp, the 5th division under Lt. Gen. Leith, which had left Castile only the middle of March, and had but lately arrived in this part of the country, and I brought them up on that evening.

The plan for the attack was, that Lieut. Gen. Picton should attack the castle of Badajoz by escalade with the 3d division; and a detachment from the guard in the trenches, furnished that evening by the 4th division, under Major Wilson of the 48th regt. should attack the ravelin of St. Roque upon his left, while the 4 th division, under the Hon. Major Gen. Colville, & the 1ght division, under Lieut. Col. Barnard, should attack the breaches in the bastions of La Trinadad and of Santa Maria, and in the curtain by which they are connected. The 5th division were to occupy the ground which the 4th and light divisions had occupied during the siege, and Lieut. General Leith was to make a false attack upon the outwork called Pardeleras, and another on the works of the fort towards the Guadiana, with the left brigade of the division, under Major Gen. Walker, which he was to turn into a real attack, if circumstances should prove favorable; and Brigadier Gen. Power, who invested the place with his Portuguese brigade on the right of the Guadiana, was directed to make false attacks on the tete du pont, the fort St. Christoval, and the new redoubt called Mon-coeur.

The attack was accordingly made at ten at night, Lieut. Gen. Picton preceding, by a few minutes, the attack by the remainder of the troops.

Major Gen. Kempt led this attack, which went out from the right of the first parallel; he was unfortunately wounded in crossing the river Rivellas below the inundation; but notwithstanding this circumstance and the obstinate refistance of the enemy, the castle was carried by escalade, and the 3d division established itself at half past 12.

While this was going on, Major Wilson, of the 48th regt. carried the ravelin of St. Roque by the Gorge, with a detachments of 200 men of the guard in the trenches, and with the assistance of Major Squire of the engineers, established himself within that work.

The 4th and light divisions moved to the attack from the camp along the left of the river Rivellas, and of the inundation. They were not perceived by the enemy till they reached the covered way, and the advanced guards of the two divisions descended without difficulty into the ditch, protected by the fire of the parties stationed on the glacis for that purpose; and they advanced to the assault of the breaches, led by their gallant officers with the utmost intrepidity; but such was the nature of the obstacles prepared by the enemy at the top & behind the breach es, and so determined their resistance, that our troops could not establish themselves within the place. Many brave officers and soldiers were killed or wounded by explosion at the top of the breaches; others who succeeded to them, were obliged to give way, having found it impossible to penetrate the obstacles which the enemy had prepared to impede their progress. These attempts were repeated till after 12 at night, when finding that success was not to be attained, and that Lieut. Gen. Picton was established in the castle, I ordered that the 4 th and light divisions might retire to the ground on which they had first assembled for the attack.

In the mean time Lieut. Gen. Leith had pushed forward Major Gen. Walker's brigade on the left, supported by the 53d regt. under Lieut. Col. Nugent, and the 15th Portuguese regt. under Lieut. Col. De Regua; and he had made a false attack upon the Pardeleras with the 8th Cacadores under Major Hill. Major Gen. Walker forced the barrier on the road to Olivenca, and entered the covert way on the left of the bastion of St. Vicente, close to the Guadiana. He there descended into the ditch, and escaladed the face of the bastion of St. Vicente.

Lieut. Gen. Leith supported this attack by the 38th regt. and the 15th Portuguese reg. and our troops being thus established in the castle, which commands all the works of the town, and in the town; and the 4th & light divisions being formed again for this attack of the breaches, all resistance ceased; and at day light in the morning, the Governor, General Philipon, who had retired to Fort St. Christoval, surrendered, together with Gen. Vellande, and all the staff and the whole garrison. I have not got accurate reports of the strength of the garrison, or of the number of prisoners; but Gen. Philipon has informed me that it consisted of 5000 men at the commencement of the siege, of which 1200 were killed or wounded during the operations, besides those lost in the assault of the place. There were five French battalions, besides two of the regiment of Hesse D'Armstadt, and the artillery, engineers, &c.; and I understand there are 4 to 500 prisoners.

It is impossible that any expressions of mine can convey to your Lordship the sense which I entertain of the gallantry of the officers and troops upon this occasion.

The list of killed and wounded will show that the General Officers, the staff attached to them, the commanding, and other officers of regiments, put themselves at the head of the attacks which they severally directed, and set the example of gallantry which was so well followed by their men.

Marshal Sir William Beresford affisted me in conducting the details of this siege, and I am much indebted to him for the cordial affistance which I received from him, as well during its progress, as in the last operation, which brought it to a termination.

The duties in the trenches were conducted successively by the Hon. Major Gen. Colville, Major Gen. Bowes and Major Gen. Kempt, under the superintendance of Lieut. Gen. Picton. I have had occasion to mention all these officers during the course of the operations, and they all distinguished themselves, and were all wounded in the assault. I am particularly obliged to Lieut. Gen. Picton, for the manner in which he arranged the attack of the castle, and for that in which he supported the attack, and established his troops in that important post.

Lieut. Gen. Leith's arrangements for the false attack upon the Pardeleras and that under Major Gen. Walker, were likewise most judicious, and he availed himself of the circumstances of the moment, to push forward and support the attack under Major General Walker, in a manner highly creditable to him. The gallantry and conduct of Major General Walker, who was also wounded, and that of the officers and troops under his command, were high ly conspicuous.

The arrangements made by Major Gen. Colville for the attack by the 4th division, were very judicious, and he led them to the attack in the most gallant manner.

In consequence of the absence, on account of the wounds of Major Gen. Vandeleur and Col. Beckwith, Lieut. Col. Barnard commanded the light division in the assault, and distinguished himself, not less by the manner in which he made the arrangements for that operation, than by his personal gallantry in its execution.

I have also to mention Major Gen. Harvey, of the Portuguese service, commanding a brigade in the 4th division, and Brig. Gen. Champlemond, commanding the Portuguese brigade in the 3d division, as highly distinguished; Brigadier General Harvey was wounded in the action.

Your Lordship will see in the list of killed and wounded, a list of the commanding officers of regiments. In Lieut. Col. M'Leod, of the 43d regt. who was killed in the breach, his Majesty has sustained the loss of an officer who was an ornament to his profession and was capable of rendering the most important services to his country. I must likewise mention Lieut. Col. Gibbs, of the 52d regiment, who was wounded, and Major O'Hara of the 95th unfortunately killed in the breach Lieut. Col. Elder, of the 3d, and Major Algeo of the 1st Cacadores, Lieut. Col. Harcourt, of the 4th, likewise wounded, was highly distinguished, & Lieut. Col. Blakeny of the Royal Fusileers, Knight of the 27th, Erskine of the 48th, and Capt. Leahy, who commanded the 23d regt. Lieut. Col. Ellis having been wounded during the previous operation of the siege.

In the 5th division I must mention Major Hill of the 8th Cacadores, who directed the false attack upon the fort Pardeleras. It was impossible for any men to behave better than they did. I must likewise mention Lt. Col. Brooke of the 4th regt. the hon. Lieut. Col. Carleton, of the 44th, and Lt. Col. Gray, of the 30th, who was unfortunately killed. The 2d bat. of the 38th under Lieut. Col. Nugent, and the 15th Portuguese regt. under Col. De Rigou, likewise performed their part in a very exemplary manner. The officers and troops in the 3d division have distinguished themselves as useful in these operations. Lieut. General Picton has reported to me particularly the conduct of Lt. Col. Williams, of the 60th; Lt. Col. Ridge, of the 5th, who was unfortunately killed in the attack of the Castle; Lt. Col. Forbes, of the 45th, Lt. Col. Fitzgerald, of the 6th; Lt. Col. Trench & Manners, of the 74th; Major Carr, of the 83d, and the Hon. Major Pakenham, Assistant Adjutant General to the 3d division.

He has likewise particularly reported the good conduct of Col. Campbel of the 94th, commanding the Hon. Maj. Gen. Colville's brigade during his absence in command of the 4th division, whose conduct I have so frequently had occasion to report to your Lordship. The officers and men of the corps of engineers and artillery, were equally distinguished during the operations of the siege, and in its close. Lt. Col. Fletcher continued to direct the works (notwithstanding he was wounded in the sortie made by the enemy on the 19th March) which were carried on by Major Squire and Major Burgoyne, under his directions. The former established the detachments under Major Wilson in the ravelin of St. Roque on the night of the storm; the latter attended the attack of the 3d division on the Castle. I have likewise to report the good conduct of Major Jones, Capts. Nicholas & Williams, of the royal engineers.

Major Dickson conducted the details of the artillery service during this siege as well as upon former occasions, under the general superintendance of Lieut. Col. Framingham, who since the absence of Major Gen. Borthwick, has commanded the artillery with this army. I cannot sufficiently applaud the officers and soldiers of the British and Portuguese artillery during the siege, particularly Lieut. Col. Robe, who opened the breaching batteries, Majors Hay and Halcombe, Capt. Gardiner, and Lieut. Bouchier of the Royal Artillery; Capts. De Rettburgh, of the King's German Artillery; and Major Tulloh of the Portuguese.

Adverting to the extent of the details of the ordnance department during this siege, to the difficulty of the weather, &c. with which Major Dickson had to contend, I must mention him most particularly to your lordship.

The officers of the Adjutant and Quarter master General's Departments rendered me every assistance on this occasion, as well as those of my personal staff; and I have to add that I have received reports from the General officers commanding divisions, of the assistance they received from the officers of those departments attached to them, the greatest number of whom and their personal staff are wounded.

In a former despatch I reported to your Lordship the difficulties with which I had to contend, in consequence of the failure of the civil authorities of the province of Alentejo to perform their duty, and supply the army with means of transport; these difficulties have continued to exist; but I must do Gen. Victoria, the Governor of Elvas, the justice to report that he and the troops under his command, have made every exertion, and have done every thing in their power to contribute to our success.

Marshal Soult left Seville on the 1st inst. with all the troops which could be collected in Andalusia; and he was in communication with the troops which had retired from Estremadura, under Gen. Drouet, on the 31, and he arrived at Llerna on the 4 h. I had intended to collect the army in proportion as Marshal Soult should advance; and I requested Lt. Gen. Sir Thomas Graham, to retire gradually while Lieut. Gen. Sir Rowland Hill should do the same from Don Benito, and the upper parts of the Guadiana.

I do not think it certain that Marshal Soult has made any decided movement from Llerna since the 4th, altho' he has patroled forward with small detachments of cavalry, and the advanced guard of his infantry have been at Usagre. None of the army of Portugal have moved to join him.

According to the last reports which I have received to the 4th inst. on the frontiers of Castile, it appears that Marshal Marmont had established a bo dy of troops between the Agueda and the Coa, and he had reconnoitered Almeida on the 3d. Brigr. Gen. Trent's division of militia had arrived on the Coa, and Brig. Gen. Wilson's division was following with the cavalry, & Lt. Gen. the Conde D'Amarante was on his march with a part of the corps under his command towards the Douro.

I have the honor to inclose returns of the killed and wounded from the 31st March, and in the affault of Badajoz, and a return of the ordnance, small arms, and ammunition found in the place in the new despatch.

This despatch will be delivered to your Lordship by my aid de-camp, Capt. Canning; whom I beg leave to recommend to your protection. He has likewise the colors of the garrison & the colors of the Hesse D'Armstadt's regiment, to be laid at the feet of his Royal Highness the Prince Regent.—The French battalions in the garrison had no Eagles.

Copy of a despatch from the Earl of Wellington, dated Camp at Badajoz April 8, 1812.

My Lord—It gives me great pleasure to inform your Lordship that numerous wounded officers & soldiers are doing well.

I have had great reason to be satisfied with the attention paid to them by Mr. M'Gregor, the Inspector General of Hospitals, and the medical gentlemen under his direction, and I trust that the loss to the service, upon this occasion will not be eventually great.

I have the honor to be, &c.

Militia General Order

Government House,
York, 25th May, 1812.

THE very satisfactory Report made to the President, by the Officers Commanding Corps, of the Spirit and Zeal manifested by the Men, in Volunteering their Services in the Flank Companies, has afforded His Honor the most lively gratification, and confirmed the opinion which he was always disposed to entertain of their determination to defend bravely, their Country, and in imitation of their veteran Fathers, evince by deeds, the ardent Loyalty they have so often professed.—Conduct so honorable and dignified, has not failed to make a deep impression on His Majesty's Provincial Government, and to encrease if possible, their anxious desire to contribute every thing in their power towards the comfort and happiness of the People.

With this view, they have humbly solicited His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, for his gracious permission to allot to the Wives and Children of such Soldiers, Militia and Mariners, who may be killed in the present Contest, a portion of the Waste Lands of the Crown; and to afford relief to such as may be disabled in the Service, for whom no provision is otherwise provided.

By Command of the President,
(Signed)
ÆNEAS SHAW,
Adjutant General Militia.

Lateſt Intelligence.

BOSTON, June 25.

We are called upon this day, by im perious duty, and by a public act of the conſtituted authorities, to "proclaim a deed, whereat valour will weep."—an act, totally unneceſſary, inexpedient, and impolitic, and calculated, in our opinion, not to procure a redreſs of grievances from Great Britain; but to aid France in her ſubjugation of the Britiſh empire; & to deſtroy the growing wealth and influence of the New England States. These ſentiments we have no heſitation in maintaining; and were a convention to be called by the patriots and ſages of the differen States, (which we hope to God will be) we believe there would not be a voice in favour of the meaſures now purſuing by our government. "Without funds, without taxes, without an army, navy, or adequate fortifications, with 150 millions of our property in the hands of the nation we are ſeeking to oppoſe; without any of theirs in our power; and with a vaſt commerce a float on the ocean, it is madneſs in the extreme to resort to hoſtility; ſtill with all theſe circumſtances ſtaring them in the face, and againſt the clear and decided ſentiments of a vaſt majority of the nation, they have had the temerity to declare War; and to appeal to the Supreme Being, whoſe doctrines they ſhame, and to their country, whoſe intereſt and welfare they have abandoned, for the reſtitude of their cauſe. For ourſelves, we can ſee nothing in the act but a complete ſubſerviency & obedience to the mandates of France; and conſider our country as now basely and ignominiouſly told to the tyrant and fell deſtroyer of the world—is being bound and covenanted to ſupport all his meaſures—and at laſt, when impoveriſhed like Holland, and degraded like Pruſſia and Auſtria, of becoming the final victim to his luſt of power and dominion.

NEW YORK July 3.

The Land of Beaſy Habits.—From a ſource which may be depended on, we learn that on Saturday laſt, Governor Griſwold, of Connecticut, having received a letter from General Dearborn requiring him to order five companies of the Connecticut militia which had already been draſted, to be marched to the garriſons, four to New London & one to New Haven, and there to be put under the command of the officers of the United States at thoſe places; Governor Griſwold, who at the moment he received the requiſition, was ſetting out on a tour to the Springs for health, put off his journey and diſpatched expreſſes to the members of his council in different parts of the ſtate, with orders to meet him on Monday. The council convened accordingly, and having approved of the promptitude of the executive in having ordered the draſts of the militia, agreeably to the laws of Congreſs, the following queſtions ariſing out of the requiſition made by General Dearborn were then ſubmitted for conſideration by the Governor.

"Can the militia be legally or conſtitutionally demanded, until one or more of the contingencies enumerated in the conſtitution, ſhall have ariſen? And can a requiſition to place any portion of the militia under the command of an officer appointed by the General Government, be executed."

The council impreſſed with the great importance of theſe queſtions, ſeriouſly and deliberately examined them, & the following we are informed is the reſult.

The Conſtitution of the United States has wiſely ordained that Congreſs may provide for calling out the militia in three caſes only, viz. to "execute the laws of the union, ſuppreſs inſurrection, and repel invaſion." The acts of Congreſs of February, 1795, and April, 1812, in ſtrict purſuance of the Conſtitution, provide for the calling forth the militia into actual ſervice in the exigencies above named. The board gave it as their opinion, that as the requiſition of General Dearborn, ſaid to be in purſuance of that of the Secretary of War of the 11th June, was not grounded on any declaration made by the Preſident of the United States, ſtating that the militia were required either to "execute the laws of the union, ſuppreſs inſurrection, or repel invaſion, nor that the United States were in imminent danger of invaſion," and that none of the exigencies recognized by the laws and conſtitution of the United States had been ſhown to exiſt; and therefore the board decreed that the Governor ought of right to retain the excluſive command of the militia of the ſtate, and that he can not be diveſted of it by any power in the general government.

With reſpect to the ſecond enquiry the council obſerved, that the Conſtitution of the United States provides that the appointment of the officers of the militia ſhall be reſerved to the ſtates exclusively. In the event of their being called into actual ſervice of the United States, in any of the exigencies ſpecified, the laws of the United States provide for the calling them forth as militia furniſhed with officers from the ſtate. The five companies required by Gen. Dearborn are to be put under the commanding officers of the ſtations to which they are to be marched, but the council are of opinion that in the conſtitution or laws of the United States, anything to warrant taking the militia from the officers duly appointed by the ſtates: if this could be done it might eventually deſtroy the military force of the ſtate; nor do they find any law authorizing the General Government to place officers over any body of draſted militia already organized.

The council, therefore, adviſed his excellency the Governor, not to comply with the requiſition of General Dearborne; which advice was approved by the Governor.—Even. Poſt.

Two Britiſh merchant veſſels prizes.

Capt. Carse, of the ſchooner Waſhington, from Norfolk, informs us, that on the day Capt. L. ſailed, the Revenge Cutter brought in a Britiſh brig from the Weſt Indies, bound to Halifax, with a full cargo of ſugars, which veſſel the captured off the Capes. Captain C. was informed by a Norfolk pilot, that another Britiſh brig had been captured, and that he ſaw her ſtanding up for Baltimore with the Britiſh flag under the American.

A gentleman from Havanna informs that the Britiſh frigate Southampton, and Sapho ſloop of war, were lying in Havanna on the 10th of June. Three ſchooners with black troops on board, had ſailed from Havanna for Amelia, but one having been caſt away, the others returned.

A ſailor belonging to the Eſſex frigate, who refuſed taking the oath of allegiance to the United States, aſſigning as a reaſon that he was a Britiſh ſubject, was laſt week diſcharged from that ſhip, not however without receiving a coat of tar and feathers.

We greatly lament that an occurrence of this nature, and the more diſgraceful one at Baltimore, ſhould mark our firſt proceedings on changing our national character from that of a neutral to a belligerent.

Extract of a letter from Savannah, dated June 19.

"The Packet has juſt arrived from St. Mary's, which place the left yeſterday, during, that a force of ſix hundred black troops, and a few Seamen had arrived from the Havanna to reinforce the garriſon at St. Auguſtine. It is ſaid that a flag of truce has been ſent to Col. Smith, Commandant of the United States' forces before that place, directing him to withdraw—to which the Col. returned the following laconic reply:—I ſhall continue to hold my ground until repulſed by force."

Mr. FOSTER, the Britiſh Miniſter, has left Waſhington and arrived at Philadelphia. He had his moſt valuable furniture packed up and ſtored, and is reported to have ſaid he ſhould return in three months.

Capt. Wilſon of Marines, belonging to the Britiſh frigate Belvidere, has been recognized and taken priſoner as he was on his way from Norfolk to Hampton, with the declaration of war in his pocket.

ADDRESS

Of the Houſe of Repreſentatives to the PEOPLE OF MASSACHUSETTS.

FELLOW CITIZENS,

The Houſe of Repreſentatives of Maſſachuſetts, having nearly completed the ordinary duties of the ſeſſion, upon the eve of an adjournment, are induced to delay their departure for their homes, by the intelligence juſt received, of War declared by the United States, againſt Great Britain. Though the recent courſe of meaſures had long ſince led us to anticipate this event, as the natural and inevitable conſequence of the inſtitution which has preſided in the national councils, and of the fatal ſyſtem of meaſures purſued by a majority of your own Repreſentatives in Congreſs; yet we are ſenſible that this calamity will fall upon moſt of you as a ſudden and unexpected viſitation, and be regarded by many as an act of inconceivable folly and deſperation. We alſo know, that it will be natural for you to look towards your ſtate Legiſlature, for the intention of ſome meaſure of reſiſtance, or a condition ſo repugnant to your wiſhes and intereſts. Moſt gladly would we devote our time and exertions to any means of repairing the miſchief done, or of averting the ruinous conſequences which await our country. But our diſpoſition unites ſecondary to the active energies of the people can be of no avail. The ſyſtem deliberately adopted at a former ſeſſion for ſecuring permanent power to a majority of the Senate in defiance of the voice of the people, impairs, and defeats the expreſſion of the public will. The approbation of War meaſures by a majority in this branch of the Legiſlature, is ſome preſumption to conclude, that the ſolidity of their motives. We beg you alſo to recollect that the French Decrees, while they were much more outrageous in principle, were long anterior in time, and therefore firſt demanded reſiſtance from our government; and that it appears by public documents, that the Orders in Council would have been revoked, had not our adminiſtration thought proper to connect the revocation with a claim for the relinquiſhment of principles of blockade which are not recognized as ſo obligatory by the Law of Nations. From theſe conſiderations we are conſtrained by a ſenſe of duty to expreſs our fears and perſuaſions, that the unparalleled event which has now come to paſs, is attributable to other cauſes. The moſt prominent of theſe is the embarraſſment ariſing from the Declaration of the Preſident of the United States that the French Decrees, which violated our commercial rights, were repealed. This aſſurance has been contradicted by a ſeries of facts and circumſtances which leave no room for doubt. By the ſinking and burning our veſſels on the high ſeas; by the formal declaration of the Britiſh miniſter of warning and amplifying thoſe decrees; and finally by the language of the laſt Preſidential Meſſage to Congreſs, which, while it ſtill aſſerts the repeal of thoſe decrees, explicitly admits, that ſince the period of ſuch pretended repeal "her government has authorized illegal captures by its privateers and public ſhips, and that other meaſures have been practiced on our veſſels and our citizens; and that no indemnity has been provided or pledged for French confiſcations on the property of our citizens." It is that manifeſt, that the revocation of thoſe decrees is an inſult to common ſenſe. Yet to dignify the impoſition practiced upon our Executive, to gratify its wounded pride, and to evade the reſtoration of error, we are called upon to hazard all that is dear to a nation.

Another and more remote cauſe of this war, we are compelled to refer to a diſpoſition in many, whoſe influence predominates in our National Councils, to aggrandize the Southern and Weſtern States at the expence of the Eaſtern and Middle. That it is unqueſtionably true, that the partial and local intereſts of the people of the different States might, by a ſyſtem of accommodation, be ſo blended and reconciled as to produce a great and harmonious whole, capable of ſecuring the higheſt degree of national felicity and ſtrength. But we cannot diſguiſe our conviction, that a ſyſtem ſeemed with the formation of our Conſtitution was digeſted and has been unceaſingly purſued to create and ſecure a preponderance of wealth and power over the commercial States. Whatever tends to check the growth of the navigating intereſt, and prevent the accumulation of wealth in thoſe ſtates, whatever diverts the increaſe of their population and encourages emigration from them: whatever will contribute to the extenſion of territory to the Southern and Weſtern regions, by conqueſt or otherwiſe, will materially contribute to the attainment of that object. The war now commenced is adapted to produce theſe effects.

Firſt. The impreſſment of American Seamen.

Secondly. The principles of blockade, imputed to the Britiſh Government, by which ports not actually inveſted be conſidered as ſubject to blockade.

Thirdly, and principally. The Orders in Council.

In regard to the impreſſment of our ſeamen, the Britiſh government have at no period pretended to the right of taking them, knowing them to be ſuch. They claim the right of viſiting neutral ſhips in ſearch of their own ſubjects; and in the exerciſe of it, abuſes, though in a much leſs degree than the people have been led to believe, have been practiced. But the concluſive remark upon this ſubject is, that the Secretary of State, and Mr. Pinkney, the preſent Attorney General, had made an arrangement with the Britiſh Government, for the preſervation of our ſeamen, which in their judgment would have been ſufficient to prevent that abuſe. But this arrangement, Preſident Jefferſon, evidently and fatally determined to preſerve every ſource of irritation, refuſed to confirm. Since that period the Britiſh Government has always profeſſed a willingneſs to enter upon new arrangements, their Miniſter has lately explicitly offered to obtain the reſtoration of every American Seaman, upon being furniſhed with a liſt of them. We cannot but add, that the Senate of this Commonwealth has refuſed to concur with the Houſe in the meaſure of procuring from every town a liſt of their impreſſed citizens, the number of which we have reaſon to believe would appear quite inconſiderable in compariſon with the exaggerated aſſertions of our adminiſtration, as well as with thoſe who by this Act of their own Government are now expoſed to capture and to conſignment to priſon ſhips.

Upon the queſtion of conſtructive blockades, ſeparate from the Orders in Council, which reſt on ſpecial circumſtances, there can be no pretence for a controverſy, in the opinion of this Houſe of War. The Britiſh Government has declared in "official communications" that to conſtitute a blockade "particular ports muſt be inveſted, and a poſitive warning given to veſſels bound to them not to enter." To this definition it is underſtood, that the American Government aſſents. But that in the preſent inſtance Great Britain violates her proffered limitation of this right of blockade, by her Orders in Council, which are in effect, a conſtructive blockade of France, and her dependencies.

It is far from the diſpoſition of your Repreſentatives to inveſtigate the reaſons advanced by Great Britain in defence of this meaſure, which by the preſent adminiſtration conſider eſſential to the maintenance of her independence. But we may confidently appeal to your good ſenſe, for confirmation of the aſſertion, that "War againſt Great Britain alone, at the moment ſhe declares her Orders in Council repealed, whenever a revocation of your Decrees ſhall be known, is to place America ſtamped with partiality and injuſtice." By the operation of theſe Orders our commerce is excluded from the ports of France and her dependencies. But were they repealed, the ſeizure of neutral veſſels, heavy duties and other multiplied embarraſſments in thoſe ports, would be obſtacles to that commerce no leſs effectual than the Orders in Council. That to obtain the right of trafick with France, which would not be worth purſuing, we renounce a participation in a lucrative commerce with the reſt of the world. That indemnity to the merchant for his partial loſſes, his whole property is expoſed to capture. To ſecure reſtitution for occaſional depredations, and indiſcriminate ſeizures committed by Britiſh cruizers, the entire navigation of the country and your brave ſeamen will fall a prey to their fleets, which ſcour the ocean.

This curſory view of the alledged cauſes of hoſtility, compared with your own obſervation, and recollection of the courſe of events, will enable you to judge not only of the neceſſity of the adminiſtration, but of the ſolidity of their motives. We beg you alſo to recollect that the French Decrees, while they were much more outrageous in principle, were long anterior in time, and therefore firſt demanded reſiſtance from our government; and that it appears by public documents, that the Orders in Council would have been revoked, had not our adminiſtration thought proper to connect the revocation with a claim for the relinquiſhment of principles of blockade which are not recognized as ſo obligatory by the Law of Nations. From theſe conſiderations we are conſtrained by a ſenſe of duty to expreſs our fears and perſuaſions, that the unparalleled event which has now come to paſs, is attributable to other cauſes. The moſt prominent of theſe is the embarraſſment ariſing from the Declaration of the Preſident of the United States that the French Decrees, which violated our commercial rights, were repealed. This aſſurance has been contradicted by a ſeries of facts and circumſtances which leave no room for doubt. By the ſinking and burning our veſſels on the high ſeas; by the formal declaration of the Britiſh miniſter of warning and amplifying thoſe decrees; and finally by the language of the laſt Preſidential Meſſage to Congreſs, which, while it ſtill aſſerts the repeal of thoſe decrees, explicitly admits, that ſince the period of ſuch pretended repeal "her government has authorized illegal captures by its privateers and public ſhips, and that other meaſures have been practiced on our veſſels and our citizens; and that no indemnity has been provided or pledged for French confiſcations on the property of our citizens." It is that manifeſt, that the revocation of thoſe decrees is an inſult to common ſenſe. Yet to dignify the impoſition practiced upon our Executive, to gratify its wounded pride, and to evade the reſtoration of error, we are called upon to hazard all that is dear to a nation.

Another and more remote cauſe of this war, we are compelled to refer to a diſpoſition in many, whoſe influence predominates in our National Councils, to aggrandize the Southern and Weſtern States at the expence of the Eaſtern and Middle. That it is unqueſtionably true, that the partial and local intereſts of the people of the different States might, by a ſyſtem of accommodation, be ſo blended and reconciled as to produce a great and harmonious whole, capable of ſecuring the higheſt degree of national felicity and ſtrength. But we cannot diſguiſe our conviction, that a ſyſtem ſeemed with the formation of our Conſtitution was digeſted and has been unceaſingly purſued to create and ſecure a preponderance of wealth and power over the commercial States. Whatever tends to check the growth of the navigating intereſt, and prevent the accumulation of wealth in thoſe ſtates, whatever diverts the increaſe of their population and encourages emigration from them: whatever will contribute to the extenſion of territory to the Southern and Weſtern regions, by conqueſt or otherwiſe, will materially contribute to the attainment of that object. The war now commenced is adapted to produce theſe effects.

The firſt reſult will be a wide & waſteful ſweep of our veſſels by capture. Many ſhipping of Maſſachuſetts in her main view. The loſs of it is irretrievable, as it conſtitutes capital. But to a Southern planter, this is at moſt a temporary evil, as foreign returns will carry his crops to market. By the embarraſſments and loſſes thus attendant upon commerce, it is the expectation of ſome politicians, that it will be darned unworthy of proſelytes and credit to be repreſented, and that the attention of men will be diverted from commercial purſuits, and their enterprize promoted in the purſuit of objects intended to be acquired by conqueſt or purchaſe; which form no part of the original territory of the United States, and were not included in our national compact.

Another cauſe of the preſent war muſt be referred to the ſpirit of jealouſy, and competition with Great Britain, to which we have ſeen that we would yield to the preſſure of the continental ſyſtem eſtabliſhed by the Tyrant of Europe, and to a propenſity to extend the influence of that ſyſtem, to the ſacrificing the glory of its ſucceſs, and perpetuating in our Country, the party influence and power of its advocates. By adopting and pertinaciouſly adhering to the Syſtem the party in power acknowledged too far to retreat without diſcredit.—

They have calculated that a change of their meaſures would be a confeſſion of error, and that this muſt be followed by the forfeiture of their claim to public confidence. But

Hon. Gentlemen of the Legislative Council, And, Gentlemen of the House of Assembly.

From the history and experience of our Mother Country, we learn, that in times of actual invasion or in ternal commotion, the ordinary course of Criminal Law has been found inadequate to secure his Majesty's Government from private treachery as well as from open disaffection, and that at such times its Legislature has found it expedient to enact Laws restraining for a limited period, the liberty of individuals in many cases where it would be dangerous to expose the particulars of the charge, and although the actual invasion of the Province might justify me in the exercise of the full powers reposed in me on such an emergency, yet it will be more agreeable to me to receive the sanction of the two Houses.

A few Traitors have already joined the Enemy, have been suffered to come into the Country with impunity, and have been harboured and concealed in the interior; yet the general spirit of Loyalty which appears to pervade the Inhabitants of this Province, is such as to authorize a just expectation, that their efforts to mislead and deceive, will be unavailing.—The disaffected I am convinced are few—to protect and defend the Loyal Inhabitants from their machinations is an object worthy of your most serious deliberations.

Gentlemen of the House of Assembly,

I have directed the Public Accounts of the Province to be laid before you, in as complete a state as the unusual period will admit; they will afford you the means of ascertaining to what extent you can aid in providing for the extraordinary demands occasioned by the employment of the Militia, and I doubt not, but to that extent, you will cheerfully contribute.

Hon. Gentlemen of the Legislative Council And, Gentlemen of the House of Assembly

We are engaged in an awful and eventful contest. By unanimity and dispatch in our Councils, and by vigour in our operations, we may teach the Enemy this lesson—that a Country defended by FREEMEN enthusiastically devoted to the cause of their King and Constitution, can never be conquered

Through the politeness of a friend, the Editor has been favored with late Montreal papers. Extracts from which will appear above.—In addition, we note that his Excellency the Governor in Chief has summoned the Legislature, to meet on the 16th instant: that the American declaration of war, rendered a temporary Embargo expedient: that steps were taken to oblige American subjects of conditional descriptions, to remove from the Province.——Our opinion is that the British orders in Council, so far as they affected the U. S. were repealed in May last. Their wise Rulers however, have foreshalled events and commenced a piratical war with their pigmy Armada: let it figure in the annals of Madison's reign that his squadron of Invincibles, put the British Belvidere in terror.—Under all his disadvantages at commencing the conquest of Britain, he has yet one advantage to boast of, namely, his fleets and his armies might act efficiently 2 months before England could order our movements: vive mos! will Madison with two Months' nett gain in the war course, with Carter's Mountain Magician and with chasing the Belvidere, you may yet be overtaken.

In a late number, we briefly sketched the unwarlike "attitude" in which America must feel herself placed: in such a national state, so uninviting in all its features & members, we may readily pronounce that infatuation only, could hurry its Government into war. Yet, inexplicable as may be their motives, Madison's partizans have declared it.—If he under all the repulsive circumstances through which his mad measures have so far successfully floundered, has built upon the fallacious aid of France, or formed any chimerical projects of personal aggrandizement, we think that he has reckoned without his Host. England, alive to every honorable feeling, will not, we may fairly presume calmly pass over this their insulting and unprovoked aggression. However much she will deplore the calamities which war may bring upon the virtuous part of the American people, still imperative duties to her own dignity, to her magnanimity and justice as a Nation and to her friendly policy as a Government, will not permit her in passive inaction to forgive such wanton hostility.

We observe that troops of colour, have latterly been sent from the Havannah to strengthen the Spanish Posts adjoining the U. S. this we may view as an early earnest of what may speedily follow.—The first object in war, is annoyance of the enemy c.k where emancipation, and policy growing out of the occasion, urge the measure of annoyance, such measure, becomes equally politic and justifiable.

The frank and generous conduct of Britain, has called down blessings on her exertions throughout: not in this novel contest into which, the is to be unfortunately forced. will those blessings be withheld.—In a country like this which we now inhabit, where each man serves his God as his conscience dictates; with temperate climate with equal laws and with fruitful soil, that the PROVIDENCE who gave it, may preserve it to us, and second the efforts of our vigorous and loyal Yeomanry in its defence, is the fervent prayer of the Editor.

TO THE PUBLIC.

By Extracts of Official despatches received from Colonel Proctor, and dated Malden 11th of Auguſt, we are put in poſſeſſion of the gratifying intelligence of the complete defeat of the Enemy, in two engagements, thirty miles in the interior of his Country. By this bold movement of our brave band of heroes, the American Army has lost in killed and wounded, from two to three hundred men, his convoy of provisions captured, and the despatches from Gov. Hull to the Secretary of War intercepted. Col. Proctor speaks of the valor and enthusiasm of all concerned as truly heroic. In the intercepted despatches is described the deplorable condition of Governor Hulls army, whoſe safety he ſtates, will depend on the immediate and determined exertions in his favor, by the American Troops on this Frontier, ſo look out my Countrymen, henceforth denounce every Deserter from his Poſt, as a Coward, and a Traitor, and let us hope and rejoice in the belief, that the time is faſt approaching, when we ſhall be furniſhed with an opportunity of emulating the heroic deeds of our brave brethren in arms at Amherſtburgh.---Both Militia and Indians were crowding to the Britiſh Standard to march againſt the unnatural foe, and as Major-General Brock, with four hundred brave fellows arrived at Malden, the day after the despatch came away, we might confidently expect our next accounts will announce the entire expulsion of Americans from our happy Soil.

An action took place on the 28 inst. in the environs of Barros. General Billaderos attacked General Curtis for the purpose of dislodging him from his position, and at first actually obtained some advantage; but having been charged by a numerous body of Cavalry, he was driven back with the loss of three pieces of cannon and one thousand men killed, wounded or taken. No official account has yet been published.

Cadiz June 2, 1812.

The enclosed relation of an affair minor as to the number of men, yet brilliant in its great importance, is worth your reading. By the success of General Hill, which was a complete surprize of the French, they have now no pass over the Tagus except at Toledo, and of course the communication between Marmont & Soult's army will be in a great measure cut off. In the course of this Summer, you may rely upon it, if Bonaparte don't send 50,000 new reinforcements, this Province will be free.

His Excellency the Marquis de Monsaud, general of the 5th army, under date the 22d inst. from his head quarters a Valencia Alcantara, has given the following information:—

On the 16th, at 6 in the morning, the allied troops under the command of His Excellency Gen. Hill, attacked the new village, the houses of the port, and the redoubts of Almaraz and by a well combined effort, made themselves masters of the bridge of boats, destroying at the same time the works, burning the bridge and spiking the cannon, which they threw into the river, taking and killing Colonel 7 officers, and 350 non commissioned officers and soldiers.

Not being able to take possession of the port of Miravell in consequence of the impossibility to bring artillery to bear upon it, it remained blockaded by the Guerilla Parties under the command of Cuesta D'empranno and Escoiers, who are directed to continue the siege until it surrenders, if it would not be relieved by superior forces. I forward you an account of the provisions and warlike stores taken from the enemy.

God preserve your Excellency many years.

Brass Cannon Mounted.

In Fort Napoleon, 4 of 12, 1 of 8 of 4 pounders, and three mortars of six inches.

In the fort of Reguera, 3 of 12, 2 of 6, and one of four pounds, one mortar of 10 inches, and 4 of 6 inches.

Total, 7 12 pounders,
5 6 pounders,
4 4 pounders,
1 mortar 10 inches,
4 do. 6 inches.

In all, 18 pieces of artillery.

A great quantity of powder in barrels, and boxes of musket cartridges, but as the magazines were destroyed the moment they were taken, it is not possible to state precisely their quantity.

Musket Cartridges,	120,000
Bombs,	68
Muskets with Bayonets,	413
Large and handsome boats which formed the bridge,	20
Great Carts,	60

Many Anchors, a large quantity of wood, and instruments, and all things which are necessary to construct a bridge on a great scale. In the magazines was also found a large quantity of biscuit, brandy wine, rice, many goats and horned cattle, and many other articles, the whole of which has been divided among the troops.

The standard of the foreign regiment No. 5, has been taken by the English regiment No. 71. All the forts, magazines, &c. which were fortified, and the bridge of boats were destroyed on the same day, and the artillery rendered entirely useless and thrown into the river.

The commander of the place, a colonel of the legion of honor.

The loss of General Hill consisted in two officers and twenty soldiers killed, some officers and eighty men wounded.

Ayamonte, May 25.

The misery and famine of Seville, are horrible in the extreme. Wheat is at 32 dollars the fanega (20s. per bushel.) In various streets carts are placed to carry off those who are constantly falling down through debility. It is also said there is a contagious disorder which finishes the patient in four days.

We have received Cadiz letters and papers of the 10th June; the French continued to bombard the City; of 200 shells thrown from the French works in the 24 hours ending 31st May, only 6 reached the city. The bombardment continued on the 10th June, when several shells more than usual had reached the city and did much damage.

The petit guerre in Portugal was carrying on by the enterprising officers of the British army, while the principal armies on both sides had entered into cantonments. Marmont's head quarters at Salamanca, with his left stretching along the strong line formed by the heights of Avila towards the Tagus; and Lord Talavera at Puente del honor, on the mountain portion of Spain and Portugal. This disposition is on the north side of the Tagus, while upon its margin 51 miles above Lisbon of Talavera de la Reyna, and 61 miles south by east of Ciudad Rodrigo; and Salamanca is but 4 miles north of Ciudad Rodrigo.

By the Mary, arrived on Wednesday evening from Cadiz, we received papers of that place of June 16—On a cursory perusal of them, there appears to have been some uneasiness in the city from a conviction that there were French spies among them, and for other causes. The French continued busily engaged in making or improving batteries for the annoyance of the city. The Duke del Infantado, (late Spanish Ambassador to England) had arrived at Cadiz, and was sworn in as one of the Regency. The allied Portuguese and English army was said to be moving towards Salamanca.

New York.

MILITARY MEMORANDA.

Military Notices.—The New-York line on duty, in the service of the U. States, are troops detached from the Militia, and now under arms, amount to 3,203, including the 200 artillery in the forts of this city.

The U. States troops collecting at the encampment in Greenbush opposite Albany, have increased to about one thousand, including the two companies of flying artillery which passed through this city on Saturday, and are almost daily augmenting.

Among the preparations by our indefatigable Commissary General, Mc Lean, for exclusive use of this city and harbour, are five 18-pounders, 8 12 do. and five 5½ mounted on traveling carriages, with harnefs, apparatus and ammunition complete; with one thousand muskets and accoutrements of the best quality and in the best order, and 18,000 rounds of fixed ammunition (besides 450 casks of louse powder); the whole ready for service at a moment's notice.

At Sig Harbour, where being no U. States garrison, the defenceless situation of the harbour is represented to the Lieutenant Governor, in the absence of His Excellency the Commander in Chief) and a military force will probably be stationed there instead of drawing off the detachment as has been done. Last week the Commissary deposited in the public store at that place, under the care of General Rose and Major Sebmain, three pieces of light artillery, 9 and 3 pounders, mounted complete, 200 round shot, 6 casks of powder, and 500 muskets, 10,000 fixed cartridges, flints, match rope, &c. to affist the company of artillery belonging there in repelling any predatory incursion from the enemy. The U. States have but four pieces of cannon at that place. The detachment from Capt. Post's artillery are sent back by Gen. Morton.

Five thousand stand of arms, the property of this State, have been transported into the western districts, and a considerable proportion of them already appropriated to the public use are in the hands of the United States Troops!

The master of the brig George from Rochelle reports, that on the 17th ult. a French Admiral, whose name he does not recollect, came in a dashing style from Brest, to take command of the Rochefort squadron, for the express purpose of destroying the British ships engaged in blockading that port; for which trifling service, he was promised a Marshal's staff of France. Three ships of the line, 3 frigates, and two corvetts had accordingly dropped down to Isle d'Aix, to fall of the line, (among them two from 110 to 120 guns) were fitting at the Dock Yard with the great est expedition, and an order was issued for a body of Conscripts, alias French Volunteers, among which were included some of the most respectable young men in that part of the country, to hold themselves in readiness to embark on board this formidable fleet. The English squadron was said to consist of six ships of the line and two frigates.

The pilot-boat Thorne returned to N. York on Monday last from a cruize of 10 days, having been been employed by government to cruize for Commodore Rogers's Squadron, but did not fall in with them. Went as far as the edge of the Grand Bank; saw only one ship of war, supposed to be British.

It appears that the Militia on the frontiers of Pennsylvania and N. York, as well as Vermont, continue in many important places to be destitute of the means of defence; having little or no munitions of war. In answer to the the late memorial from Erie the President of the U. States declared his inability to furnish arms, &c. Governor Snyder of Pennsylvania has ordered 3000 of the State's muskets to be put in repair, and sent to the frontiers.

HORRID OUTRAGES—AND SAVAGE MURDERS AT BALTIMORE.

Gazette Office, Boston, August 2, 1812.

This morning's Mail gives us a few particulars of a most barbarous Riot in Baltimore, instigated by the friends of the Administration, and completed by French Democracy. Our blood stagnates with cold horr ent the enormity of the scenes; while our indignation is refused at the passive, and therefore encouraging deportment of the Police; and our grief is deep and most painful, from the loss of the eminent, the patriotic, and most worthy characters who have fallen a sacrifice to the fury of the Friends of War and upholders of Administration

From Baltimore, July 29th. 1812.

"The peace of our city has again been disturbed by the mob, the effects of which have been dreadful.—Perhaps some details may not be unacceptable. On Monday Morning, the "Federal Republican," was again issued from the Press in this city. Mr. Hanson, one of the Editors, expecting an attack, had collected his friends in the new Office (which is a brick house in Charles street) to the number of from 50 to 75, completely armed with muskets, pistols daggers, &c. determined to defend the house at all hazards. The mob collected and commenced the attack between 9 and 10 o'clock in the evening, by breaking all the windows with brick bats; and attempting to force the door. The garrison, after warning them of the consequences, fired a few rounds of blank cartridges, which had no other effect than to exasperate them. they then commenced firing with ball and slugs. Two or three were killed, and numbers were desperately wounded. The mob then retreated, and marched to Fell's Point, and procured a cannon, with which they returned about 2 o'clock in the morning. The piece was loaded and placed before the house; but through some defect in the management, they could not get her off. Partial attacks were in this way kept up until morning, when the garrison, seeing no practibility of their being rescued by the civil authority, found means to escape privately; and except about 25, who were determined to hold out. About 7 in the morning, the Mayor of the City, and Gen. Smicker, having collected a force of horse and infantry, amounting in all to something short of one hundred men marched from to the scene of action, and paraded them in front of the house, and took no steps to disperse the mob by which they were surrounded. The small band of heroes, who still garrisoned the house now offered to give themselves up to the Mayor and General Smicker, if they would promise to protect them from the mob. This was acceded to by the Mayor and the Generals give them their word and honor that they should have ample protection from all harm. They were accordingly taken from the house, surrounded by the military, which formed an hollow square, and in this order marched to the city prison, were they were lodged and left without any guard, the troops being immediately dispersed, notwithstanding they were followed by the men (often pelting them with brick bats and paving stones) and swearing that the prison should not protect the damned tories, but that they should all be killed in 24 hours. At noon, verbal orders were issued for the 5th regiment of infantry to turn out at 3 o'clock P. M. and after the utmost exertions of some spirited officers, at 4 o'clock, but about 40 or 50 men were collected; they continued under arms about an hour, when orders came from the Mayor, as the mob had dispersed, to dismiss them.—About 8 in the evening, the mob again collected, attacked the prison, forced the outer door, when the Sheriff, it is said, delivered them the keys of the inner apartments, which they opened, and brought the unfortunate men out two at a time, and beat them with clubs until they thought them dead.—Once they carried away, tarred and feathered him, beat him until he was almost dead, spricked him with pins, and carried him with whoop and hollo. A few days lying in front of the prison apparently lifeless, while these horrid savages were prowling over them and exulting in their worse than savage barbarity; it was indeed a horrid sight, and it makes my blood boil when I think of it. I am informed this morning, that there is but one actually dead, that some can live but a few hours, and the lives of the greatest part are despaired of; they were secured, I am informed by the meritorious exertions of the Doctor, who prevailed the butchers that they were dead, and has them conveyed a way in carriages as fast as they could get them out of their hands.—The one who is ascertained to have been killed, is Gen. Lingan, an old revolutionary officer. General S. Lee of Virginia, was also among them, the cell were chiefly young men whose connections were the most respectable in the city. The inhabitants are in the most excoriation; all business is suspended—people collect in small groups in the streets with a settled gloom on their countenances, and every man looks with suspicion on his neighbour, for no man thinks himself safe while Political creed does not agree with that of the mob; least that an unguarded expression may tax him to their fury, for they now act unlimited sway in the city, and fear no force being sent to oppose them

God forestend it may end here, but I fear it will not.

CAPTURE of a PART of the FOULON FLEET.

The following Letter is just arrived Express from BRIST 4, June 22.

Cotton had succeeded in cutting off four fail of the line of the Toulon fleet, which had been much damnaged, and had met unexpectedly with a violent North Easter. Rear Admiral Teaquin Gantere is a prisoner of war taken.——The names of the ships are. The Ville de Milan, 80 guns; Asuberine, 74; Theseus, 74; and La Junon, 74."

From the Bilbon Papers.

From England.—We have been favoured with London papers to June 24 and Liverpool to June 26.

In the British House of Commons June 23, Messrs. Brougham, Baring, Ponsonby, Whitbread and Burdett, complimented the Ministers on the manner of the revocation of the Orders in Council, declaring that it was to the extent of their desires; they had no doubt but it would be satisfactory to the American Government and restore a good understanding. Sir F. Burdett, wished the impressment subject put on a better footing. Lord Castlereagh said, Mr. Foster was taking steps to put an end to this source of misunderstanding, and had asked for a bill with a view to inquiry and restoration. Mr. Ponsonby said, America role in her demands to what was unreasonable and unjust, no man would be more forward than himself, to support the rights of England.

Messrs. Brougham and Baring expressed similar sentiments with those of Mr. Ponsonby.

Mr. Whitbread hoped concord with America would be speedily restored; and that Ministers would next attempt to make peace with France.

No expectation that our government would have declared war previous to the news of the revocation reaching this country, appeared to be entertained by Members of Parliament: but out of the Legislature such expectation was circulated to some persons. The London "Pilot" says, "if war should have taken place we have no doubt a good understand ing will be immediately restored, and reparation made on both sides.

The Marquis of Wellesley has given notice in the British House of Lords of an intended motion in favor of the Roman Catholics.

Bernadotte, Crown Prince of Sweden, has sent to the Court of Russia (and it is believed to that of London) copies of his correspondence with Bonaparte, to convince them of his opposition to the French Emperor.

The British continue to send additional troops to Lisbon.

The Antelope 50, and Loire frigate sailed from England June 23 for Newfoundland.

A British force have burnt a French national schooner, and 13 of her convoy, in Mosselles Bay; and taken 7 of her convoy.

"Leeds June 20th.—The beneficial effects of the repeal of the Orders in Council, are already apparent in the impetus given to the woolen trade, by the demands which have been flowing in the wire houses of the American merchants for months, in some instances we may say for years, we now in it nait to the place of their destination; and we are perfectly happy to state, that there was more purchases in the Leeds Cloth halls this morning, than there has been on any market day since the enactment of the celebrated Orders in Council."

"Sheffield, June 20th.—Yesterday there were great rejoicings in this town, in consequence of the determination of Government to suspend for a time the Orders in Council, by which America will have an opportunity of evincing her desire to remain on amicable terms with this country. The ringing of bells and the firing of cannon were among the modes reported to by the people to demonstrate their joy on this occasion. We feerently pray that neither the people nor the government may ever have cause to repent this measure evidently conceded by the latter to relieve the present distresses of the former."

On Tuesday last Mr Parnell brought forward a motion, in the House of Commons, for a Committee to be appointed early in the next Session, to take into consideration the state of the law with respect to the Tithes in Ireland, which was negatived by a majority of three only, there being 36 for and 39 against it.

REVOCATION OF THE ORDERS IN COUNCIL.

Tuesday, June 23

Mr. Brougham rose and said—I never addressed the House with such heartfelt satisfaction as on the present occasion; because what passed on a preceding night, it is to myself particularly pleasing to learn, that in a day on order has been issued by His Royal Highness in Council of a nature, which to me, and to the Hon. friends with whom I have consulted, is perfectly in every satisfactory.—(Hear Hear, Hear!) Under these welcome circumstances, I cannot sit down and close my lips as it were forever upon the important subject of the Orders in Council, without expressing my sense of the frank and manly conduct of government in the mode they have adopted of recalling them.—Hear, Hear! ram all sides.—To say more. As one of the country, and on behalf of the country, I beg to thank Ministers or the manly and becoming declaration they have made.—(Hear!)—I know that the effect of the revocation of the Order in Council will be the revival and re animation of our exciting trade and manufactures, and I hope that it will be met with a proper spirit in the U. States.—(Hear!)—The language employed by the British Ministers is not foreign to that of conciliation, and I trust therefore that an equal conciliatory and friendly disposition will be shewn. as indeed it naturally must by the American Executive.—(Hear, Hear!) If such an amicable feeling be not excited, though I cannot anticipate such an event, I shall be one of the last men in the country to say that in such a case, the Government of the British Empire ought not to be firmly supported.

Lord Castlereagh—It must always afford his Majesty's Government great satisfaction to merit the approbation so liberally bestowed, but more particularly at the present moment. I was the with of Government, as expressed on a former occasion, that a suspension and not a revocation, of the Orders in Council should be adopted, and the Hon. Member will not fail to recollect, that in a Resolution which he himself once proposed to the House, a suspension only was recommended.—(Hear, hear! from Mr. Brougham)—On consideration, however, it was found, that the word suspension was not to be found in the Non Importation Act, and the President of the United States was only empowered to repeal it, on condition that the Orders in Council were revoked. It therefore appeared to Ministers proper, in order that no risk might be incurred, that a revocation and not a suspension of the Orders in Council should be determined upon. G. Britain still preserving all the powers and rights she [illegible] possessed provided the other course of proceedings had been deemed more expedient. The House will also find that Ministers in a spirit of conciliation which was not less their desire than their duty—(Hear, hear!)—had made it not merely a revocation but a retrospective revocation, to be in force from the moment that the French Edict declaring the Berlin and Milan Decrees repealed have been communicated to them.

New Hampshire Memorial.

MEMORIAL.

To JAMES MADISON, Esquire, President of the United States.

MORE than fifteen hundred of the Inhabitants and Free Electors of the County of Rockingham, in the State of New Hampshire, being assembled in an orderly and peaceable manner, according to our undoubted Constitutional Rights, at Brentwood, in said County, on the fifth day of August, 1813, to consult on the Common Good and Public Welfare, do now address you, with the respect due to the Chief Magistrate of the Nation.

In affording to expose our opinions on the present state of our National affairs, we are influenced not only by a wish to contribute, as far as in us lies, towards removing the evils which we feel, and averting the greater evils which we fear, but also by a sense of the duty we owe to the Supreme Executive of the Nation.

The Chief Magistrate of a Government which rests on public opinion, and which can only look for the support of its measures to the approbation of the people, has a right to be informed, authentically and unquestionably, of the sentiments entertained by the community concerning measures of great national importance. As one portion of the community is deeply interested in the present state of things, and is intimately connected about their future progress, we beg leave to present to you a brief view of our sentiments and opinions.

We have manifested with sincere and deep regret, a system of policy pursued by the General Government, from the Embargo of 1807, to the present time, tending more obviously, in our view, to the destruction of the Commerce of the United States. We have not been indifferent spectators of this course of measures. Being inhabitants of the Atlantic States, we regard Commerce, as a great and essential interest. It is not only in itself, a leading object, but it is most intimately blended with all our other interests and occupations. And as being naturally from our local situation, and the nature of our soil and products, and now confirmed by the usage of two centuries, are not to be changed. We hold the right of engaging in commerce, and have never delegated to any Government the power of deciding for us, what pursuits and occupations, best comport with our interests, and our situation. When we assented to the National Constitution, it was among other, (but none more important) reasons, to the end that our Commerce might be the better protected, and the farther it entitled us to regard our right of traversing the Seas, as sacred, (and it is to us as important,) as the right of reaping the ground, we have bargained that we should never be deprived of the former, but for reasons, so weighty and important, as would equally justify the prohibition of the latter. We are simply saying something, and can now see no boundaries in the letter, or the spirit, of the National Compact, which makes it our duty, to acquiesce in a system, tending to compel us to abandon our most valuable resources pursuits. We regard the Constitution as "an Instrument of Preservation, not of Change." We take its intention to have been, to protect, by the strong arm of the whole nation, the interests of each particular Section. It could not therefore intend without alarm and apprehension, that we perceived in the General Government a disposition to embarrass and control Commerce by repeated Restrictions, and to make War, by shutting our own ports. Still greater was our astonishment when we beheld the long forbearing administration, finally to retire from the Seas, and not provide for ourselves, those comforts and conveniencies of life, for which it would be unwise EVEN Madness to renounce a dependance."

We do not hesitate to say, that we deem this language equally unconstitutional and arrogant; and it will be with unfeigned regret, mingled with other strong emotions, that we should perceive a bold and fettled resolution in the General Government, to enforce this exhortation by the authority of Laws, and to accumulate upon us, the calamities of War, a ponderous, and crushing System of Restriction, Non-Importation, Non-Intercourse, and Embargo.

The alarm in the Seaport towns of America and long continued "Restrictive System," is raised still higher, by the late Declaration of War against Great Britain, an event which we believe, in the present deranged state of commerce, & navigation, will be productive of evils of unsalculable magnitude.

We are not, Sir, among those, who feel an unmanly confidence in our resources, or a narrow sensibility to the dangers of war.—Many of us had the honor of aiding, by our humble efforts, in the establishment of our Independence, and of expelling our foes, in more than one instance, from the soil of our country's service. We are ready to meet those scenes again, whenever it can be shewn that the vindication of our National Rights, or the preservation of our essential rights, demands it. We shall not be more flow than others, to aspire after distinction, in any cause in which distinction would be honorable.

If we could perceive that the present War was just; if we could perceive that our RIGHTS and LIBERTIES required it; if we could perceive that no A mmodation, however wife, honeft, or impartial, could have carried us clear of it; if we could perceive an opportunity, and a reasonable hope of obtaining its speedier close; if we could perceive these things, the War would, in some measure cease to be horrible. It would grow tolerable, and be felt, as an expedient, which we should meet with fortitude. Its Iron and bloody features would fasten, as its JUSTICE grew apparent.—Give us but once that this war hath CLEAR JUSTICE, NECESSITY, and EXPEDIENCY on its side—and we are ready to pour out our TREASURE, and our BLOOD in its profecution. (To be Continued.)

† Mr. Jefferson's letter to the Legislature of New-Hampshire, August, 1808.

ADDRESS of the HOUSE of ASSEMBLY to the PEOPLE of UPPER CANADA.

ny similar habits, not merely eulogizing the implacable enemy of their parent state, but joining him in the war; and while pretending to nourish the purest principles of liberty, bowing the knee before the foe of all just and rational freedom, and supplicating his acceptance of tribute and adulation.

From this degrading picture, at which the Friends of Mankind and Posterity will weep, we turn with joy to you, many of whom have already risked your lives to maintain the Unity of the Empire—we are confident that the same spirit still animates your breasts and those of your children, that you still retain the same love for our excellent King, the same veneration for our free and happy Constitution that you exhibited during the American war. You preserved your loyal principles amidst the most dreadful political divisions and most implacable hostilities; you were not to be cajoled by those wicked and designing men who looked for private gratification in the public ruin. You were not to be deceived by their flanders on the parent state. You felt no hardship, no cruel oppression You saw no examples of inhumanity and cruelty; these were imaginary evils invented for the most wicked purposes by those who fought for gain amidst slaughter & blood. You relished their influence, and you acted nobly. You were not indeed successful, but the attempt covers you with glory. When we picture to ourselves the sublime prospect which the world would have exhibited this day, had the population of the neighbouring states preferred like you, their filial love, we should not have now behold the Continent of Europe groaning under the yoke of a sanguinary Tyrant, nor his satellites in America studiously imitating his ferocious example.

It is therefore from former experience that we look to you for the same patriotic principles, principles which enabled you to face death in his most dreadful a tire, principles which exalt human nature, and which have been warmly cherished by the most virtuous and renowned in every age; and surely when we are attacked by the same enemy who once already, aided by the mist taken lenity of our Mother Country and the misconduct of her Commanders, were able to drive us from our native homes and possessions to this Province, a people whose lands are manured with the blood of our friends and kinsmen, who drove our wives and children from their houses into the woods, or threw them into dungeons, & who now envy us the habitations which through the blessing of Providence the beneficence of our parent state and our own industry, we have gained from the wilderness; we are confident that you will display the same energy, and certainly with better hopes of success. Great Britain will not now consider Americans as perverse children who may be reclaim d, but as her most unnatural foes. Her commanders will not, as formerly, temporize & attempt to conciliate enemies by their misconduct and delay, but they will hasten to punish them with all the rigour of war.

Already have we the joy to remark, that the spirit of loyalty has burst forth in all its ancient splendour. The Militia in all parts of the Province have volunteered their services with acclamation, and displayed a degree of energy worthy of the British name. They do not forget the blessings and privileges which they enjoy under the protection and fostering care of the British empire, whose government is only felt in this country by acts of the purest justice, and most pleasing and efficacious benevolence. When men are called upon to defend every thing they hold precious, their wives and children, their friend possessions, they ought to be inspired with the noblest resolutions, and they will not be easily frightened with menaces, or conquered by force. And beholding as we do, the flame of patriotism burning from one end of the Canadas to the other, we cannot but entertain the most pleasing anticipations. Our enemies have indeed said, that they can subdue this country by a proclamation; but it is our parts to prove to them that they are sadly mistaken; that the population is determinately hostile, and that the few who might be otherwise inclined, will find it their safety & interest to be faithful.

For nothing is clearer than this, that if there be any person so base and degenerate as to join the enemy after having taken the Oath of Allegiance, he not only forfeits his property but his life. The British Government never will make peace with the American States, till full and ample indemnification has been received for all depredations committed in this country; nor will we permit a single traitor ever to return. Let those who have come from the neighbouring States consider this well and assure themselves that as we are eager to reward loyalty and affection for the Government, so are we not flow in punishing treachery.

Innumerable attempts will be made by falsehood to detach you from your allegiance; for our enemies, in imitation of their European Master, trust more to treachery than to force; and they will, no doubt, make use of many of those lies, which unfortunately for the virtuous part of these States, & the peace and happiness of the world, had too much success during the American Rebellion.—They will tell you, that they are come to give you freedom—yes, the base slaves of the most contemptible faction that ever directed the affairs of any nation—the minions of the very sycophants who lick the dust from the feet of Buonaparte will tell you that they are come to communicate the blessings of liberty to this Province; but you have only to look at your situation, to put such hypocrites to confusion. In order to insure our prosperity and happiness, a constitution has been given us, modelled from that of our Parent State; not the hasty production of a day; but rising out of the experience of centuries. A Governor standing in the place of his Majesty, a Legislative Council composed of a select number of the principal inhabitants of the Province, and the Representatives of the People fairly chosen.—In the appointment of a Legislative Council, a reward is presented to those who shall deserve well of the public, &c.

a foundation laid for an influence different from that which is produced by overgrown wealth. Honors are a cheaper and more effectual mode of remunerating valour, genius and singular attachment, than any sordid or pecuniary benefit.—They are such rewards as meet the feelings of the generous and noble minded, and they nourish that pure and exalted ambition which gives life and energy to public affairs, which rouse the most dignified principles of action, and extinguish that low grovelling policy which only aims at despicable gratifications.

If the real foundation of true liberty, and consequently of solid happiness, consists in being amenable only to the laws which we or our representatives ordain, then are we in possession of that liberty and that happiness, for this principle is fully recognized by our excellent constitution. Your House of Assembly are truly elected by the people—consequently all have a share in the government, because all have a vote in the election of those who make the laws. If these laws are not favourable to virtue—if they are not politic—if they are not clear and precise, we have no body to blame but ourselves, and we have the power of altering them.

The time for which our Representatives are chosen, has a view to the situation of the Province as well as to the state of the public mind This period is infinitely better than annual elections, because it gives the representatives time to comprehend the business for which they are sent, and enables them to bring to maturity regulations which require information from different parts of the country. The qualifications for becoming an elector are simple and moderate, every person may soon possess them, who is not convicted of felony, or who has not yet attained the legal age. Nor is any person excluded from becoming a representative except the public teachers of religion, and such as are not subjects of the King. Is not this constitution perfect above all others? In our laws and institutions there is so much wisdom, such an anxiety to keep the moral code always in view, such an attention to our feelings, such a regard to the preservation of our rights both in person and property, such a steady abhorrence of vice, and such a strict enforcement of virtue, in as far as it can become the object of public regulation, as merits on our parts, the most steady attachment; and in putting them in force there is, if possible, more to praise than in the laws themselves. If ever impartiality in the administration of justice was attained, we have certainly attained it. There is no interference on the part of government. The true interest of the rulers as well as of the people is known to depend upon the unfettered operation of the laws The Judges and Crown Officers select us from an honorable and liberal Profession; men whose minds are raised by their education, far above all narrow and sordid views, are appointed to put the laws in force.—When we behold these upright dispensers of justice without any temptation to the right or to the left, prepared by a long course of study for their awful and important functions; when we behold them heating with the greatest candour and most invincible patience, not merely the causes between different subjects, but those between private citizens and their Sovereign, and instead of leaning to the rulers who appoint them, giving every proper facility to the prisoner, attending particularly to his defence, and even becoming of his counsel when he errs. Shall we not feel grateful to a government which promotes and sanctions so great uprightness, and which seeks so eagerly the happiness of its people. It is not enough that we be obedient subjects to such a government as this; we must be active in its defence against open enemies and internal foes. If there any person who is not conscious that he is completely master of his own conduct—that the quiet possession of his life, his person and property, and good name, are secured to him by the laws. Do we not feel that our Government is able, and not merely able, but careful to protect the rights of every individual, and to allow him as much liberty as is compatible with the rights of his fellow subjects; protecting him against all oppression, giving free scope to the exertion of his talents, and in every way contributing to his comfort and happiness. Such is a faint sketch indeed of the glorious constitution which we enjoy; and this we are called upon to exchange for the government of the United States; a government which has oppressed and impoverished its own people, and deprived them virtually, of all their valuable privileges. For how can liberty exist among a people where officers of state and representatives crouch to a bloody Tyrant. Be vigilant against such an enemy; the contest is indeed awful and to be deplored; but of the event your representatives entertain no dread.

It is not necessary for us to examine the causes alledged by our enemies for this unjust and unnatural war, because an Address from the House of Representatives of the State of Massachusetts, the most respectable in the Union, proves in the most satisfactory manner, that it is wanton and unprovoked, and is the climax of the various outrages previously committed against Great Britain. In this statement they have been joined by the minority in Congress, whose exposition of the secret reasons of the war, and the falsehood of those alledged by the President and his friends is unanswerable, and must hand down the promoters of this diabolical measure to the execrations of posterity. Indeed the more enlightened and best informed persons in the United States, all men who love their native land and think with impartiality, are against the war; and as they form an encreasing majority, we have every reason to suppose that they will be able to hurl their opponents from power, and speedily to restore peace to their country.

Finding on their meeting, that the Province was actually invaded, it became immediately necessary for your Representatives to give as much efficacy as possible to our natural means of defence. For this purpose, several alterations have been made in the Militia laws, which being framed for a state of tranquility, were too weak in many provisions for actual war.

Our long deferred publication will be made up by the substance of the present Sheet—the general contents of which are to us peculiarly interesting. We see that maugre the Michigan Territory man (Mr Hull) had fulmigated his Bulletins, intended to excite disunion and transform men into Rebels——that after the Magic Spell of the name of Anthony Waine's Son sounded to terrify our native warriors—that after proclaiming death to any white man if natives were found in their Ranks, (a declaration of war against Christianity, for many of the fix nations are civilized and exemplary)—that after inviting British subjects to range under his polluted Standard—after all the mean subterfuges to effect his purposes of the meaneft and moft deteftable Democrat, he is taken in his own toils.

In our rencountres recently had with them, the juftice of an all ruling Providence has thrown afide the fhafts of their weapons and but little Britifh blood will rife in judgment againft the hordes of Banditti

As foon as received, we fhall fhall give brief details of the operations, which led to the important conqueft of Detroit—preceded by the atchievements of the forces commanded by the gallant Col. ADDRESS of the Honorable LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL in Anfwer to His Honor the Prefident's SPEECH at the opening of the Firft Seffion of the Sixth Provincial Parliament of Upper Canada.

To His Honor ISAAC BROCK, Efq. Prefident adminiftering the Government of the Province of Upper Canada, and Major General commanding His Majefty's Forces in the faid Province.

May it please your Honor,

WE his Majefty's dutiful and loyal fubjects the Legiflative Council of Upper Canada in Parliament aflembled, return our moft grateful thanks for your Honor's Speech at the opening of this Seffion of the Legiflature.

When invaded by an enemy whofe avowed object is the entire conqueft of this Province, we, laying afide all inferior confiderations, do moft willingly obey your Honor's commands, by appearing in our Legiflative capacity for the purpofe of uling our utmoft efforts for the protection and defence of every thing that is dear to us as fubjects and as men.

We fhall be happy indeed, if by the promptitude, loyalty, and vigour of our conduct, we prove ourfelves worthy of the King whom we ferve, and of the Conftitution which we enjoy.

The commendation which your Honor has been pleafed to beftow on our Militia, affords us the higheft gratification—whilft the attention which you have paid to the laws already enacted refpecting that body of men, calls for our moft grateful acknowledgements, it fhall be our endeavour to confider what improvements may ftill be wanting to render thofe laws more efficient and falutary.

We feel the force of what your Honor has been pleafed to ftate refpecting the laws that have been enacted in times of danger in our Parent Country, whereby a nation, the moft free upon earth, did voluntarily for a time, refign a portion of its liberty, that it might be enabled to tranfmit it entire to future generations.

Placed in fimilar circumftances, it fhall be our moft folemn duty to confider whether we ought not to follow that example.

Altho' a few traitors may have joined the enemy, and may have been harboured and concealed by perfons equally wicked with themfelves, yet we are happy to learn from your Honor, that the disaffected are but few in number, and that a general fpirit of loyalty appears to pervade this Province.

We are fully fenfible that we are engaged in an awful and an eventful conteft, and that it is only by unanimity and defpatch in our councils, and by vigour in our operations, that we can hope to teach our enemies that a country defended by freemen, enthufiaftically devoted to the cauſe of their King, can never be conquered.

Permit us to add, that we repofe the higheft confidence in your Honor's unremitting attention to what ever may be neceffary to the protection, fafety and profperity of this Province.

THOS SCOTT, Speaker.
Legiflative Council Chamber,
29th July, 1812.

To which his Honor made the following Reply :—

Honorable Gentlemen of the Legiflative Council,

The fentiments of loyalty and attachment to the Conftitution, which you express in your Addreſs, accord fo completely with the tenor of your former conduct, that no doubt can remain of their fincerity.

In proportion as the repofe, which you have fo long enjoyed is threatened to be difturbed, you will I feel confident encreafe your exertions: and by fuch honorable example infufe a fpirit in the country which no hoftile force will be able to fubdue.

Accept, Gentlemen, of my perfonal thanks for the confidence you repofe in me.

ADDRESS of the COMMONS HOUSE of ASSEMBLY, in anfwer to His Honor the PRESIDENT's SPEECH, on opening the firft Seffion of the fixth Provincial Parliament of Upper Canada.

To His Honor ISAAC BROCK, Eſquire, Preſident, adminiſtering the Government of the Province of Upper Canada, and Major General commanding His Majeſty's Forces therein.

May it please your Honor,

WE his Majefty's moft dutiful and loyal fubjects, the Commons of Upper Canada in Provincial Parliament aflembled, beg leave to return you our unfeigned thanks for your moft Gracious Speech at the opening of the prefent Seffion.

We are convinced that the urgency of the prefent crifis is the only conſideration that could have induced your Honor to call us together at a time when public as well as private duties muft elfewhere demand our care and attention.

But when invaded by an enemy whofe avowed object is the entire conqueft of this Province, we feel that the voice of loyalty, as well as of intereft, calls aloud to every perfon in the fphere in which he is placed, to defend his Country.

That our Militia have heard that voice and have obeyed it; that they have evinced by the promptitude and loyalty of their conduct, that they are worthy of the King whom they ferve and the Conftitution which they enjoy—are to us fources of the moft pleafing fatisfaction. And we have the utmoft confidence, that in your Honor's anticipation of our readineſs to aſſiſt in the day of danger, not only with our councils but with our arms—you will not be difappointed.

We feel that we muft look to our Militia as well as to the regular Forces for our protection; and we are fully impreſſed with the important truth which experience (the great inſtructor of mankind, as well as of legiſlators) has diſcovered that amendment is neceſſary to our Militia Laws to render them efficient. We will conſider what further improvements may ſtill be neceſſary, and will cheerfully concur in ſuch amendments as will render that part of our force equal to the criſis in which they are called to act.

We agree with your Honor that from the hiſtory and experience of our Mother Country, we learn that in time of actual invaſion or internal commotion, the ordinary courſe of Criminal Law has been found inadequate to ſecure his Majeſty's Government from private treachery as well as from open diſaffection, and that at ſuch times the Legiſlature has found it expedient to enact laws reſtraining the liberty of individuals in many caſes where it would be dangerous to expoſe the particulars of the charge. And we ſhall cheerfully co-operate with the other branches of the Legiſlature in adopting ſuch meaſures (conſiſtent with the liberty and ſafety of his Majeſty's ſubjects) as the preſent criſis and the ſecurity of the Province require.

We feelingly lament that even a few traitors ſhould have already joined the enemy, that they ſhould have been ſuffered to come into the country with impunity, and have been harbored in the interior, their number however is ſmall, and we are happy to perceive that the general ſpirit of loyalty which appears to pervade the inhabitants of this Province is ſuch, as to authoriſe the juſt expectation, that their efforts to miſlead and deceive will be unavailing.

With your Honor we are convinced that the diſaffected are few, and that to protect and defend the loyal inhabitants from their machinations is an object worthy of our moſt ſerious deliberations. We ſhall pay every attention to the ſubject; and will on our parts, adopt ſuch ſalutary regulations as will we truſt fully anſwer the object in view.

When the public accounts are laid before us, we ſhall have the means of aſcertaining to what extent we can aid in providing for the extraordinary demands occaſioned by the employment of the Militia, and to that extent we will cheerfully contribute.

We feel that we are engaged in an awful and eventful conteſt, and that by unanimity and diſpatch in our councils, and vigor in our operations, we may teach the enemy this leſſon—that a country defended by freemen enthuſiaſtically devoted to the cauſe of their King and Conſtitution can never be conquered.

To obtain that important end, we pledge our moſt zealous co-operation, and we truſt that the exertions we ſhall make in defence of our liberties and poſſeſſions will, aided by your Honor's profeſſional talents and experience, be ſuch as to do honor to the cauſe we have to defend, and to the country of which we form a part.

Commons Houſe of Aſſembly,
28th July, 1812.

To which his Honor made the following Reply :—

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Aſſembly,

I thank you for your loyal and dutiful Addreſs.

I place full reliance in the ſincerity of your profeſſions. The attention of the People is now directed towards you. They will be animated with freſh courage when they behold you reſolved to undergo every ſacrifice rather than ſubmit to the dictates of a preſumptuous and raſh invader.

I cannot too ſtrongly urge the neceſſity of diſpatch;

The force of your example in your reſpective diſtricts, is of too much importance to be for a moment with-held.

GENTLEMEN,

Your letter ſigned by ſo many reſpectable Citizens, has been received. I am happy that in having acted upon the well known principles of my Government, as well as my own intentions, I have deſerved your applauſe.

I have the honor to be,

Captain, commanding his Britannic Majeſty's forces.

To the Gentlemen of the United States, who aſſembled for the purpoſe of Addreſſing the Britiſh Commander.

TO THE PUBLIC.

By extracts of Official Deſpatches received from Colonel Proctor, and dated Malden, 11th of Auguſt, we are put in poſſeſſion of the gratifying intelligence of the complete defeat of the enemy in two engagements, thirty miles in the interior of the country. By this bold movement of our brave band of heroes, the American army has loſt in killed and wounded from two to three hundred men, his convoy of proviſions captured, and the deſpatches from Governor Hull to the Secretary of War intercepted.—Colonel Proctor ſpeaks of the valour and enthuſiaſm of all concerned as truly heroic. In the intercepted deſpatches is deſcribed the deplorable condition of Governor Hull's army, whoſe ſafety he ſtates, will depend on the immediate and determined exertions in his favour by the American troops on this frontier, ſo look out my Countrymen, henceforth denounce every Deſerter from his Poſt as a Coward and a Traitor, and let us hope and rejoice in the belief, that the time is faſt approaching, when we ſhall be furniſhed with an opportunity of emulating the heroic deeds of our brave brethren in arms at Amherſtburgh.—Both Militia and Indians were crowding to the Britiſh Standard, to march againſt the unnatural foe, and as Major General Brock, with four hundred brave fellows, arrived at Malden the day after the deſpatch came away, we might confidently expect our next accounts will announce the entire expulſion of Americans from our happy ſoil.

Liſt of killed and wounded.

41ſt Regt. Three rank and file killed; one Captain, one Subaltern, two Sergeants, thirteen Rank and File wounded.

Militia. One Rank and File killed; two Rank and File wounded.

Indians. Tecumſeth (Prophet's Brother) ſlightly wounded, one Interpreter and ſeven killed and wounded.

N. B. The Wyndots, and all the other Indian Tribes had joined the Britiſh to a man.

York, Auguſt 20, 1814.

GLORIOUS NEWS!!!

Diſpatches have juſt now arrived from General Brock, dated Detroit, Aug. 17th, 1812, ſtating that he took poſſeſſion of that important poſt on the 16th, without the ſacrifice of a drop of Britiſh blood.

Every individual, together with their General, was animated with the moſt glorious ſpirit. Upwards of two thouſand five hundred troops have ſurrendered priſoners of war, and about twenty-five pieces of ordnance have been taken.

Thus it hath pleaſed Providence to crown his Majeſty's arms with an early and important victory.

Encouragement to the Americans!

In overhauling the hold of the French ſhip Le Marat, which was taken by the Britiſh ſhip, the Terrible, at the time Bonaparte's fleet made an attempt to croſs the Britiſh Channel; there was found in her hold, the following articles, viz.

12,500 pair of hand-cuffs,
25,040 pair of fetters, and
479 racks.

Many of theſe inſtruments of torture, which were unqueſtionably intended to facilitate the diſcovery of property, had the word Liberty, at full length; and others, the initials L. E. Liberty and Equality, ſtamped on them.

There was alſo found ſeveral packages of opium, probably the remains of the Egyptian expedition; and a vaſt number of daggers. The uſe, for which theſe articles were intended, it is eaſy to conjecture.

ADDRESS of the HOUSE of ASSEMBLY to the PEOPLE of UPPER CANADA.

THE Houſe of Aſſembly having nearly completed the neceſſary buſineſs for which they were called together, beg leave before they return home, to lift up their warning voice to their conſtituents at this eventful criſis. The Declaration of War iſſued againſt Great Britain by the United States, when firſt announced, appeared to be an act of ſuch aſtoniſhing folly and deſperation, as to be altogether incredible, and not only excited the greateſt ſurprize among the inhabitants of this Province, but among the great majority of our enemies themſelves. So many cogent reaſons from intereſt, affection and virtue, pleaded for an oppoſite policy, that the moſt intelligent became the moſt incredulous. That a government profeſſing to be the Friend of Man and the great ſupporter of his liberty and independence, ſhould light the torch of war againſt the only nation that ſtands between itſelf and deſtruction, exhibited a degree of infatuation or of madneſs, altogether incomprehenſible—"it cannot be," ſaid the wiſer part of our inhabitants, "the United States will never declare war againſt a nation which has uniformly treated them with kindneſs and reſpect, whoſe fleets protect their commerce, and whoſe armies ſupport their freedom and independence." But the men at preſent ruling the States, infatuated, or as their more enlightened countrymen ſay, "bribed by the Tyrant of France," regardleſs of the beſt intereſts of their country, and the feelings and affections of the great majority of their own people, have commenced hoſtilities againſt our mother country while treating their veſſels with hoſpitality, and inſtead of threatening their liberties, offering the moſt equitable terms of accommodation. This war, on the part of the United States, includes an alliance with the French Uſurper, whoſe dreadful policy has deſtroyed all that was great & good, venerable and holy on the Continent of Europe. The government of this bloody Tyrant penetrates into every thing—it cruſhes individuals as well as nations; fetters thoughts as well as motives, and delights in deſtroying for ever all that is fair and juſt in opinion and ſentiment. It is evidently this Tyrant who now directs the Rulers of America, and they ſhew themſelves worthy diſciples of ſuch a maſter,—Already have they ſeduced two Provinces from Spain. They firſt tempted the people to rebel againſt their lawful government, and then they deceived and oppreſſed them.

They choſe a time, to themſelves the moſt inglorious, for this infamous conduct, when Spain, overwhelmed with calamities and fighting moſt nobly at home for liberty and every thing dear to man, was not able to ſend ſeaſonable aid to her diſtant Colonies. It is certainly not the leaſt wonderful among the occurrences of this aſtoniſhing age, that we ſhould find a nation deſcended from Engliſhmen, connected ſtill by the ſame language and laws, by conſanguinity and ma-

Algeziras, June 3.

An action took place on the 18 inst. in the environs of Barros. General Ballasteros attacked General Curtis for the purpose of dislodging him from his position, and at first actually obtained some advantage; but having been charged by a numerous body of Cavalry, he was driven back with the loss of three pieces of cannon and one thousand men killed, wounded or taken. No official account has yet been published.

Cadiz June 2, 1812.

The enclosed relation of an affair minor as to the number of men, yet brilliant in its great importance, is worth your reading. By the success of General Hill, which was a complete surprize of the French, they have now no pass over the Tagus except at Toledo, and of course the communication between Marmont & Soult's army will be in a great measure cut off. In the course of this Summer, you may rely upon it, if Bonaparte don't send 50,000 new reinforcements, this Province will be free.

His Excellency the Marquis de Monsaud, general of the 5th army, under date the 22d inst. from his headquarters a Valencia Alcantara, has given the following information:—

On the 16th, at 6 in the morning, the allied troops under the command of His Excellency Gen. Hill, attacked the new village, the houses of the port, and the retoucha of Almaraz and by a well combined effort, made themselves masters of the bridge of boats, destroying at the same time the works, burning the bridge and spiking the cannon, which they threw into the river, taking and killing Colonel 7 officers, and 350 non commissioned officers and soldiers.

Not being able to take possession of the port of Miravesi in consequence of the impossibility to bring our artillery to bear upon it, it remained blockaded by the Guerilla Partida under the command of Curate L'empiano and Escoletes, who are directed to continue the siege until it surrenders, if it would not be relieved by superior forces. I forward you an account of the provisions and warlike stores taken from the enemy.

God preserve your Excellency many years.

Brass Cannon Mounted.

In Fort Napoleon, 4 12s, 1 of 8 of 4 pounders, and three mortars of six inches.

In the fort of Rogers, 3 of 12, 2 of 6 and one of fourteen inches, one howitzer of five inches, 4 of 6 inches.

Total, 7 12 pounders,
1 4 do. do.
1 mortar 16 inches,
4 do. 6 inches.

In all, 18 pieces of artillery.

A great quantity of powder in barrels, and boxes of musket cartridges, but as the magazines were destroyed the moment they were taken, it is not possible to state precisely their quantity.

Musket Cartridges,	120,000
Bombs,	68
Muskets with Bayonets,	413
Large and handsome boats which formed the bridge,	20
Great Carts,	60

Many Anchors, a large quantity of wood, and instruments, and all things which are necessary to construct a bridge on a great scale. In the magazines was also found a large quantity of biscuit, brandy wine, rice, many goats and horned cattle, and many other articles, the whole of which has been divided among the troops.

The standard of the foreign regiment No. 5. has been taken by the English regiment No. 71. All the forts, magazines, &c. which were fortified, and the bridge of boats were destroyed on the same day, and the artillery rendered entirely useless and thrown into the river.

The commander of the place, a colonel of the legion of honor.

Seven officers, 250 non-commissioned officers and soldiers—100 killed, wounded and drowned in the river.—Total, 331.

Ayamonte, May 25.

The misery and famine of Seville, are horrible in the extreme. Wheat is at 32 dollars the fanega (200 lbs. per bushel.) In various streets carts are placed to carry off those who are constantly falling down through debility. It is also said there is a contagious disorder which finishes the patient in our days.

We have received Cadiz letters and papers of the 30th June; the French continued to bombard the City; of 200 shells thrown from the French works in the 24 hours ending 31st May, only 6 reached the city. The bombardment continued on the 30th June, when several shells more than usual had reached the city and did much damage.

The petit guerre in Portugal was carrying on by the enterprising officers of the British army, while the principal armies on both sides had entered into cantonments. Marmont's headquarters at Salamanca, with his left reaching along the strong line formed by the heights of Avitta towards the Tagus, and Lord Talavera at Puento del Honor, on the mountain frontier of Spain and Portugal. This disposition is on the north side of the Tagus, upon its margin 51 miles above Lisbon of Talavera de la Reyna, and 61 miles south by east of Ciudad Rodrigo; and Salamanca is but 4 miles north of Ciudad Rodrigo.

By the Mars, arrived on Wednesday evening from Cadiz, we received papers of that place of June 16—On a cursory perusal of them, there appears to have been some uneasiness in the city from a conviction that there were French spies among them, and from other causes. The French continues busily engaged in making or improving batteries for the annoyance of the city. The Duke del Infantado, (late Spanish Ambassador to England) had arrived at Cadiz, and was sworn in as one of the Regency. The allied Portuguese and English army was said to be moving towards Salamanca.

New York.

MILITARY MEMORANDA.

Military Notices.—The New-York line on duty, to the service of the U. States, are troops detached from the Militia, and now under arms, amount to 3,203, including the 200 artillery in the forts of this city.

The U States troops collecting at the encampment in Greenbush opposite Albany, have increased to about one thousand, including the two companies of flying artillery which passed through this city on Saturday, and are almost daily augmenting.

Among the preparations by our indefatigable Commissary General, Mac Leod, for exclusive use of this city and harbour, are five 18-pounders, 8 12 do. and five 9rs. mounted on travelling carriages, with barrels, apparatus and ammunition complete; with one thousand muskets and accoutrements of the best quality and in the best order, and 18,000 rounds of fixed ammunition (besides 450 casks of loose powder); the whole ready for service at a moment's notice.

At Sag Harbour, there being no U. States garrison, the defenceless situation of the harbour is represented to the Lieut'enant Governor, in the absence of His Excellency the Commander in Chief) and a military force will probably be stationed there instead of drawing off the detachment as has been done. Last week the Commissary deputied in the public store at that place, under the care of General Rose and Major Sermain, three pieces of light artillery, 9 and 3 pounders, mounted complete, 200 round shot, 6 casks of powder, and 500 muskets, 10,000 fixed cartridges, flints, match rope, &c. to assist the company of artillery belonging there in repelling any predatory incursion from the enemy. The U. States have but four pieces of cannon at that place. The detachment from Capt. Pain's artillery are sent back by Gen. Morton.

Five thousand stand of arms, the property of this State, have been transported into the western district, and a considerable proportion of them already appropriated to the public use are in the hands of the United States Troops!

The master of the brig George from Rochelle reports, that on the 17th ult. a French Admiral, whose name he does not recollect, came in a dashing style from Brest, to take command of the Rochefort squadron, for the express purpose of destroying the British ships engaged in blockading that port; for which trifling service, he was promised by Napoleon to be created a Marshal of France. Three ships of the line, 3 frigates, and two corvetts had accordingly dropped down to Isle d'Aix, to fall in the line, (among them two from 120 to 120 guns) were fitting at the Dock Yard with the greatest expedition, and an order was issued for a body of Conscripts, alias French Volunteers, among which were included some of the most respectable young men in that part of the country, to hold themselves in readiness to embark on board this formidable fleet. The English squadron was said to consist of six ships of the line and two frigates.

The pilot-boat Thorne returned to N. York on Monday last from a cruise of 10 days, having been employed by government to cruize for Commodore Rogers's Squadron, but did not fall in with them. Went as far as the edge of the Grand Bank; saw only one ship of war, supposed to be British.

It appears that the Militia on the frontiers of Pennsylvania and N. York, as well as Vermont, continue in many important places to be destitute of the means of defence; having little or no munitions of war. In answer to the late memorial from Erie the President of the U. States declared his inability to furnish arms, &c. Governor Snyder of Pennsylvania has ordered 300 of the State's muskets to be put in repair, and sent to the frontiers.

HORRID OUTRAGES—AND SAVAGE MURDERS AT BALTIMORE.

Gazette Office, Boston, August 2, 1812.

This morning's Mail gives us a few particulars of a most barbarous Riot in Baltimore, instigated by the friends of the Administration, and completed by French Democracy. Our blood flagnates with cold horror at the enormity of the scenes; while our indignation is roused at the passive, and therefore encouraging department of the Police; and our grief is deep and most painful, in the loss of the eminent, the patriotic, and most worthy characters who have fallen a sacrifice to the fury of the Friends of War and upholders of Administration.

From Baltimore, July 29th, 1812.

"The peace of our city has again been disturbed by the mob, the effects of which have been dreadful.—Perhaps some details may not be unacceptable. On Monday Morning, the "Federal Republican," was again issued from the Press in this city. Mr. Harrison, one of the Editors, expecting an attack, had collected his friends in the new Office (which is a brick house in Charles street) to the number of from 50 to 60, completely armed with muskets, pistols daggers, &c. determined to defend the house at all hazards. The mob collected and commenced the attack between 9 and 10 o'clock in the evening, by breaking all the windows with brick bats; and attempting to force the door. The garrison, after warning them of the consequences, fired a few rounds of blank cartridges, which had no other effect than to exasperate them. they then commenced firing with ball and slugs. Two or three were killed, and numbers were desperately wounded. The mob then retreated, and marched to Fell's Point, and procured a cannon, with which they returned about 2 o'clock in the morning. The piece was loaded and placed before the house about three feet from the door, and the man-gement, they could not get her off. Partial attacks were in this way kept up until morning, when the garrison, seeing no practicability of their being rescued by the civil authority, found means to escape privately; and except about 25, who were determined to hold out. About 7 in the morning, the Mayor of the City, and Gen. Stricker, having collected a force of horse and infantry, amounting in all to something short of one hundred men marched them to the scene of action, and paraded them in front of the house and took no steps to disperse the mob by which they were surrounded. The small band of heroes, who still garrisoned the house now offered to give themselves up to the Mayor and General Stricker, if they would promise to protect them from the mob. This was acceded to by the Mayor and the Generals give them their word and honor that they should have ample protection from all harm. They were accordingly taken from the house, surrounded by the military, which formed an hollow square, and in this order marched to the city prison, were they were lodged and left without any guard, the troops being immediately dispersed, notwithstanding they were informed by the men (often pelting them with brick bats and paving stones) and swearing that the person should not protect the damned tories, but that they should all be killed in 24 hours. At noon, verbal orders were issued for the 5th regiment of infantry to turn out at 9 o'clock P. M. and after the utmost exertions of some spirited officers, at 4 o'clock, but about 40 or 50 men were collected; they continued under arms about an hour, when orders came from the Mayor, as the mob had dispersed, to dismiss them.—About 8 in the evening, the mob again collected, attacked the prison, forced the outer door, when the Sheriff, it is said, delivered them the keys of the inner apartments, which they opened, and brought the unfortunate men out two at a time, and beat them with clubs until they thought them dead.—One they carried away, tarred and feathered him, beat him until he was almost dead, pricked him with sharp irons, and corded him with a whip cord. A few o'clock, I saw 5 lying in front of the prison apparently lifeless, while these horrid savages were prowling over them and exulting in their worse than savage barbarity; it was indeed a horrid sight, and it makes my blood boil when I think of it. I am informed this morning, that there is but one actually dead, that some can live but a few hours, and the lives of the greatest part are despaired of; they were tortured. I am informed by the meritorious exertions of the Doctor, who persuaded the butchers that they were dead, and has them conveyed a way in carriages as fast as they could get them out of their hands.—The one who is ascertained to have been killed, is Gen. Lingan, an old revolutionary officer, General S. Lee of Virginia, was also among them, the rest were chiefly young men whose connections were the most respectable in the city. The inhabitants are in the utmost consternation; all business is suspended—people collect in small groups in the streets with a settled gloom on their countenances, and every man looks with suspicion on his neighbour, for no man thinks himself safe whose Political creed does not agree with that of the mob; least that an unguarded expression may subject him to their fury, for they now seem unlimited sway in the city, and fear no force being sent to oppose them.

God foresend it may end here, but I fear it will not.

CAPTURE of a PART of the FOULON FLEET.

The following Letter is just arrived Express from

BREST 6, June 22.

"A fever has just been received by one of the most respectable merchants in this city, from his son, who is a lieutenant of the Crack-sloop of war informing him they spoke the Eddystone frigate on the 18th inst. which had left her main mast in the Chops of the Channel, bringing an account that Sir C. Cotton had succeeded in cutting off four sail of the line of the Toulon fleet, which had been on a cruizing, and had not unexpectedly with a violent North Easter. Rear Admiral Traquin Gantere is a prisoner of those taken.—The names of the ships are. the Ville de Milan. 80 guns; Austerlitz 74; Theseus, 74; and La Jane, 74."

From the Boston Papers.

From England.—We have been favoured with London papers to June 24 and Liverpool to June 26.

In the British House of Commons June 23. Messrs. Brougham, Baring, Ponsonby, Whitbread and Burdett, complimented the Ministers on the manner of the revocation of the Orders in Council, declaring that it was to the extent of their desires; they had no doubt but it would be satisfactory to the American Government and therefore a good understanding. Sir F. Burdett, wished the impressments to be put on a better footing. Lord Cochrane said, Mr. Speaker after making these observations to put an end to this source of misunderstanding, and had asked for a bill with a view to inquiry and restoration. Mr Ponsonby said, that America role in her demands to what was unreasonable and unjust, no man would be more forward than himself, to support the rights of England.

Messrs. Brougham and Baring expressed similar sentiments with those of Mr. Ponsonby.

Mr. Whitbread hoped concord with America would be speedily restored; and that Ministers would next attempt to make peace with France.

No expectation that our government would have declared war previous to the news of the revocation reaching this country, appeared to be entertained by Members of Parliament: but out of the Legislature such an expectation was discovered in some persons. The London "Pilot" says, "if war should have taken place we have no doubt a good understanding will be immediately restored, and reparation made on both sides."

The Marquis of Wellesley has given notice in the British House of Lords of an intended motion in favor of the Roman Catholics.

Bernadotte, Crown Prince of Sweden, has sent to the Court of Russia (and it is believed to that of London) copies of his correspondence with Bonaparte, to convince them of his opposition to the French Emperor.

The British continue to send additional troops to Lisbon.

The Antelope 5, and Lotre frigate sailed from England June 23 for Newfoundland.

A British force have burnt a French national schooner, and 13 of her convoy, in Mesenilles Bay; and taken 7 of her convoy.

"Leeds June 20th.—The beneficial effects of the repeal of the Orders in Council, are already apparent in the encouragement given to the woolen trade. Sales of cloth, which have been stored in the wore houses of the American merchants for months, in some instances we may say for years, are now in a train to the place of their destination; and we are persuaded will happy to state, that there was more purchasers in the Leeds Cloth halls this morning than there has been on any market day since the enactment of the celebrated Orders in Council."

"Sheffield, June 20th.—Yesterday there were great rejoicings in this town, in consequence of the determination of Government to suspend for a time the Orders in Council, by which America will have an opportunity of evincing her desire to remain on amicable terms with this country. The ringing of bells and the firing of cannon were among the modes resorted to by the people to demonstrate their joy on this occasion. We feel only pray that neither the people nor the government may ever have cause to repent this measure evidently conceded by the latter to relieve the present distresses of the former."

On Tuesday last Mr Parnell brought forward a motion, in the House of Commons, for a Committee to be appointed early in the next Session, to take into consideration the state of the law with respect to the Tithes in Ireland, which was negatived by a majority of three only, there being 36 for it and 39 against it.

REVOCATION OF THE ORDERS IN COUNCIL.

Tuesday, June 23.

Mr. Brougham rose and said—I never addressed the House with such heartfelt satisfaction as on the present occasion; because what passed on a preceding night, it is to myself peculiarly pleasing to know, that this day an order has been issued by His Royal Highness in Council of a nature, which to me, and to the Hon. friends with whom I have consulted, is perfectly in every way satisfactory—(Hear, Hear, Hear!) Under these welcome circumstances I cannot sit down and close my lips as it were forever upon the important subject of the Orders in Council, without expressing my sense of the frank and manly conduct of government in the mode they have adopted of recalling them—Hear, Hear! from all sides.—To day more. As one of the country, and on behalf of the country, I beg to thank Ministers for the manly and becoming decision they have made—(Hear!)—I know that the effect of the revocation of the Order in Council will be therefore vival and re animation of our existing trade and manufactures, and I hope that it will be met with a proper spirit in the U. States—(Hear!)—By the language employed by the British Ministers is not foreign to that of conciliation, and I trust therefore that an equal conciliatory and friendly disposition will be shewn. as indeed it naturally must, by the American Executive -(Hear, Hear!) If such an amicable feeling be not exerted, though I cannot anticipate such an event, I shall be one of the last men in the country to say that in such a case, the Government of the British Empire ought not to be firmly supported.

Lord Castlereagh—It must always afford his Majesty's Government great satisfaction to merit the approbation so liberally bestowed, but more particularly at the present moment. I was the wish of Government, as expressed on a former occasion, that a dispension and not a revocation, of the Orders in Council should be accepted, and the Hon. Member will recollect, that in a Return on which he himself once proposed to the House, a suspension only was recommended.—(Hear, hear! from Mr. Brougham)—On consideration, however, it was found, that the word suspension was not to be found in the Non Importation Act, and the President of the United States was only empowered to repeal it, on condition that the Orders in Council were revoked. It therefore appeared to Ministers proper, in order that no ill might be occasioned, that a revocation and not a suspension of the Orders in Council should be determined upon. Great Britain still preserving all the rights and rights she could have possessed provided the other country of proceedings had been deemed more expedient. The House will also find that Ministers in a spirit of conciliation which was not less their desire than their duty—(Hear, hear!)—had made it not merely a revocation but a retrospective revocation, to be in force from the moment that the French Edict declaring the Berlin and Milan Decrees repealed have been communicated to them.

New Hampshire Memorial.

MEMORIAL

To JAMES MADISON, Esquire, President of the United States.

MORE than fifteen thousand of the Inhabitants and Free Electors of the County of Rockingham, in the State of New Hampshire, being assembled in our usual and yearable manner, according to our unbodied Constitutional Right at Brentwood, in said County, on the fifth day of August, 1812, to consult on the Common Good and Public Welfare, do now address you, with the respect due to the chief Magistrate of the Nation.

In attending to express our opinions on the present state of our National affairs, we are influenced by no wish to controvert, as far as in us lies, towards removing the evils which we feel, and averting the greater evils which we fear, and also by a sense of the duty we owe to the Supreme Executive of the Nation.

The Chief Magistrate of a Government which rests on public opinion, and which can only look for the support of its measures to the approbation of the people, has a right to be informed, authentically and unquestionably, of the sentiments entertained by the community concerning measures of great national importance, and in proportion of the community deeply interested in the most essential of things, and historically concerned about their future prosperity, we beg leave to present to you a brief view of our sentiments and opinions.

We have watched with sincere and deep regret, a system of policy pursued by the General Government, from the Embargo of 1807, to the present time, tending most obviously, in our view, to the destruction of the Commerce of these States. We have not been the only sufferers—all parts of this country of manufactures. Being inhabitants of the Atlantic Coast, we regard Commerce, as a great and essential interest. It is not only as fertile a source of wealth, but it is most intimately blended with all our other interests and occupations. Hence, arising naturally from our local situation, and the nature of our soil and products, and now confirmed by the usage of two centuries, are not to be changed. We hold the right of shipping to such ports and countries as we anticipated to any Government the power of declaring for us, what pursuits and occupations, left in part with our citizens, and our situation. When we assented to the National Constitution, it was among other, (but none more important) reasons, to the end that our Commerce might be the better protected, and the farther we should Fought to regard our right of traversing the Seas, as sacred, (and it is to us not less important,) as the right of tilling the ground, we have supposed that we should never be deprived of the former, but for reasons, as weighty and important, as would equally justify the prohibition of the latter. We originally law nothing, and can now see no thing either in the letter, or the spirit, of the Nation al Compact, which makes it our duty, to acquiesce in a system, tending to compel us to abandon our national and accustomed pursuits. We regard the Constitution a "an Instrument of Negotiation, not of Change." We take its intention to have been, to protect, by the strong arm of the whole nation, the interests of each particular Section. It could not therefore be without alarm and apprehension, that we perceived in the General Government a disposition to embarrass and restrict Commerce by repeated Restrictions, and to make War, by shutting our own ports. Still greater was our concern, when we heard ourselves admonished, finally to retire from the Seas, and to provide for ourselves, their comforts and conveniencies of life, for which it would be acwafe EFFICACIOUS to recur to distant Countries."

We do not believe today, that we deem this language equally unconstitutional and arrogant; and it will be with infinite regret, mingled with other strong emotions, that we should perceive a hard and settled resolution in the General Government, to enforce this exhortation by the authority of Law, and to accumulate upon us, in the intervals of War, a ponderous, and crushing System of Restriction, Non Importation, Non-Intercourse, and Embargo.

The alarm excited in our minds by the tavorite and long continued "Restrictive System," is raised still higher, by the late Declaration of War against Great Britain, in event which we believe, in the present determined circumstances of the country, will be productive of evils of incalculable magnitude.

We are not, Sir, among those, who feel an unmanly reluctance to the privations, or a nervous sensibility to the dangers of war.—Many of us had the honor of uniting, by our humble efforts, in the establishment of our Independence, and of expoling our rivers, in more than one field of danger and blood in our country's service. We are ready to meet those scenes again, whenever it can be shewn that the vindication of our National honor, or the preservation of our essential rights, demands it. We shall not be more slow than others, to aspire after distinction, in any cause in which distinction would be honorable.

If we could perceive that the present War was just; if we could perceive that our RIGHTS and LIBERTIES required it, if we could perceive that no honorable, honest, and impartial, could have carried us clear of it; if we should perceive its expediency, and a reasonable hope of obtaining its guarded objects, till we could perceive those things, the War would, in fulness of sure cease to be horrible. It would grow tolerable, in the view, as its expediency should be made manifest. Its loss and bloody train we would submit, as its JUSTICE grew apparent.—Over whatever that War was built CLEAR JUSTICE, APPARENT EXPEDIENCY, and NECESSITY, we would see it established to pass over our TREASURE, and our BLOOD, with [illegible] ny similar habits, not merely eulogizing the implacable enemy of their parent state, but joining him in the war; and while pretending to nourish the purest principles of liberty, bowing the knee before the foe of all just and rational freedom, and supplicating his acceptance of tribute and adulation.

From this degrading picture, at which the Friends of Mankind and Posterity will weep, we turn with joy to you, many of whom have already risked your lives to maintain the Unity of the Empire—we are confident that the same spirit still animates your breasts and those of your children, that you still retain the same love for our excellent King, the same veneration for our free and happy Constitution that you exhibited during the American war. You preferved your loyal principles amidst the most dreadful political divisions and most implacable hostilities; you were not to be cajoled by those wicked and designing men who looked for private gratifications in the public ruin. You were not to be deceived by their flanders on the parent state. You felt no hardship, no cruel oppression. You saw no examples of inhumanity and cruelty; these were imaginary evils invented for the most wicked purpoles by those who fought for gain amidft flaughter & blood. You refilled their influence, and you acted nobly. You were not indeed successful, but the attempt covers you with glory. When we picture to ourselves the sublime prospect which the world would have exhibited that day had the popular [illegible] states prefer[illegible] love, we shall hold the Co[illegible] ing under [illegible] ry Tyrant, [illegible] merica flu[illegible] rocious ex[illegible]

Already have we the joy to remark, that the spirit of loyalty has burst forth in all its ancient splendour. The Militia in all parts of the Province have volunteered their services with acclamation, and displayed a degree of energy worthy of the British name. They do not forget the blessings and privileges which they enjoy under the protection and fostering care of the British empire, whose government is only felt in this country by acts of the purest justice, and most pleasing and efficacious benevolence. When men are called upon to defend every thing they hold precious, their wives and children, their friend possessions, they ought to be inspired with the noblest resolutions, and they will not be easily frightened with menaces, or conquered by force. And beholding as we do, the flame of patriotism burning from one end of the Canadas to the other, we cannot but entertain the most pleasing anticipations. Our enemies have indeed said, that they can subdue this country by a proclamation; but it is our parts to prove to them that they are sadly mistaken; that the population is determinately hostile, and that the few who might be otherwise inclined, will find it their safety & interest to be faithful.

For nothing is clearer than this, that if there be any person to base and degenerate as to join the enemy after having taken the Oath of Allegiance, he not only forfeits his property but his life. The British Government never will make peace with the American States, till full and ample indemnification has been received for all depredations committed in this country; nor will we permit a single traitor ever to a foundation laid for an influence different from that which is produced by overgrown wealth. Honest are a cheaper and more effectual mode of remunerating valour, genius and singular attachment, than any fordid or pecuniary benefit.—They are fuch rewards as meet the feelings of the generous and noble minded, and they nourish that pure and exalted ambition which gives life and energy to public affairs, which roufe the moft dignified principles of action, and extinguifh that low grovelling policy which only aims at defpicable graftications.

If the real foundation of true liberty, and confequently of folid happinels, conffts in being amenable only to the laws which we or our repreftantives ordain, then are we in poffeffion of that liberty and that happinefs, for this principle is fully recognized by our excellent conftitution. Your Houfe of Aflembly are truly elected by the people—confequently all have a fhare in the government, becaufe all have a vote in the election of thofe who make the laws. If thefe laws are not favourable to virtue—if they are not polute—if they are not clear and precife, we have no body to blame but ourfelves, and we have the power of altering them.

The time for which our Repreftantives are chofen, has a view to the fituation of the Province as well as to the ftate of the public mind. This period is infinitely better than annual elections, becaufe it gives the repreftantaves time to comprehend the bufinefs for which they are fent, and enables them to bring to maturity regulations which require information from different parts of the country. The qualifi[illegible] coming an elector [illegible] deratic, every per[illegible] fices them, who is [illegible] felons, or who has [illegible] the legal age. moft invincible patience, not merely the caufes between different fubjects, but thofe between private citizens and their Sovereign, and inftead of leaning to the rulers who appoint them, giving every proper facility to the profecutor, attending particularly to his defence, and even becoming of his counfel when he errs. Shall we not feel grateful to a government which promotes and fanctions fo great uprightnefs, and which feeks fo eagerly the happinefs of its people. It is not enough that we be obedient fubjects to fuch a government as this; we muft be active in its defence against open enemies and internal foes. Is there any perfon who is not conficious that he is completely maffer of his own conduct—that the quiet poffeffion of his life, his perfon and property, and good name, are fecured to him by the laws. Do we not feel that our Government is able, and not merely able, but care ful to protect the rights of every individual, and to allow him as much liberty as is compatible with the rights of his fellow fubjects; protecting him againft all oppreffion, giving free fcope to the exertion of his talents, and in every way contributing to his comfort and happinefs. Such is a faint fketch indeed of the glorious conftitution which we enjoy; and this we are called upon to exchange for the government of the United States; a government which has oppreffed and impoverifhed its own people, and deprived them virtually, of all their valuable privileges. For how can liberty exift among a people where officers ftate and repreftantives crouch to a bloody Tyrant. Be vigilant againft fuch an enemy; the conteft is indeed awful and to be deplored; but of the event your repreftantives entertain no dread.

It is not neceffary for us to examine the caufes alledged by our enemies for this unjuft and unnatural war, becaufe an Addrefs from the Houfe of Repreftantives of the State of Maffachufetts, the moft refpectable in the Union, proves in he moft fatisfactory manner, that it is wanton and unprovoked, and is the climax of the various outrages previoufly committed againft Great Britain. In this ftatement they have been joined by the minority in Congrefs, whofe expofition of the fecret reafons of the war, and the falfehood of thofe alledged by the Prefident and his friends is unanfwerable, and muft hand down the promoters of this diabolical meafure to the execrations of pofterity. Indeed the more enlightened and beft informed perfons in the United States, all men who love their native land and think with impartiality, are againft the war; and as they form an encreafing majority, we have every reafon to fuppofe that they will be able to hurl their opponents from power, and fpeedily to reftore peace to their country.

Finding on their meeting, that the Province was actually invaded, it became immediately neceffary for your Repreftantives to give as much efficacy as poffible to our natural means of defence. For this purpofe, feveral alterations have been made in the Militia laws, which being framed for a ftate of tranquility, were too weak in their provifions for actual war.

number of from 50 to 75, completely armed with muskets, pistols, daggers, &c. determined to defend the house at all hazards. The mob collected and commenced the attack between 9 and 10 o'clock in the evening, by breaking all the windows with brick bats; and attempting to force the door. The garrison, after warning them of the consequences, fired a few rounds of blank cartridges, which had no other effect than to exasperate them. they then commenced firing with ball and slugs. Two or three were killed, and numbers were desperately wounded. The mob then retreated, and marched to Fell's Point, and procured a cannon, with which they returned about a o'clock in the morning. The piece was loaded and placed before the house about through some defect in the management, they could not get her off. Partial attacks were in this way kept up until morning, when the garrison, seeing no practibility of their being rescued by the civil authority, found means to escape privately; and except about 25, who were determined to hold out. About 7 in the morning, the Mayor of the City, and Gen. Stricker, having collected a force of horse and infantry, amounting in all to something short of one hundred men marched them to the scene of action, and paraded them in front of the house and took no steps to disperse the mob by which they were surrounded. The small band of heroes, who still garrisoned the house now offered to give themselves up to the Mayor and General Stricker, if they would promise to protect them from the mob. This was acceded to by the Mayor and the Generals give them their word and honor that they should have ample protection from all harm. They were according y taken from the house, surrounded by the military, which formed an hollow square, and in this order marched to the city prison, were they were lodged and left without any guard, the troops being immediately dispersed, notwithstanding they were followed by the men (often pelting them with brick bats and paving stones) and swearing that the prison should not protect the damned tories, but that they should all be killed in 24 hours. At noon, verbal orders were issued for the 5th regiment of infantry to turn out at 3 o'clock P. M. and after the utmost exertions of some spirited officers, at 4 o'clock, but about 40 or 50 men were collected; they continued under arms about an hour, when orders came from the Mayor, as the mob had dispersed, to dismiss them.—About 8 in the evening, the mob again collected, attacked the prison, forced the outer door, when the Sheriff, it is said, delivered them the keys of the inner apartments, which they opened, and brought the unfortunate men out two at a time, and beat them with clubs until they thought them dead.—One they carried away, tarred and feathered him, beat him until he was almost dead, pricked him with sharp irons, and carded him with a wool card. A to o'clock, I saw 5 lying in front of the prison apparently lifeless, while these horrid savages were prowling over them and exulting in their worse than savage barbarity; it was indeed a horrid sight, and it makes my blood boil when I think of it. I am informed this morning, that there is but one actually dead, that some can live but a few hours, and the lives of the greatest part are despaired of; they were secured, I am informed by the meritorious exertions of the Doctor, who persuaded the butchers that they were dead, and has them conveyed a way to carriages as fast as they could get them out of their hands.—The one who is ascertained to have been killed, is Gen. Lingan, an old revolutionary officer. General S. Lee of Virginia, was also among them, the rest were chiefly young men whose connections were the most respectable in the city. The inhabitants are in the u most co ternation; all business is suspended—people collect in small groups in the streets with a settled gloom on their countenances, and every man looks with suspicion on his neighbour, for no man thinks himself safe while Political creed does not agree with that of the mob; lest they an unguarded expression may subject him to their fury, for they now act unlimited sway in the city, and fear no force being sent to oppose them

God foresend it may end here, but I fear it will not.

From England.—We have been favoured with London papers to June 24, and Liverpool to June 26.

In the British House of Commons June 23, Messrs. Brougham, Baring, Ponsonby, Whitbread and Butdett, complimented the Ministers on the manner of the revocation of the Orders in Council, declaring that it was to the extent of their desires; they had no doubt but it would be satisfactory to the American Government and restore a good understanding. Sir F. Burdett, wished the impressment question put on a better footing. Lord Cochrereagh said, Mr. Fuller was taking steps to put an end to this source of misunderstanding, and had asked for a list with a view to inquiry and restoration. Mr Ponsonby said, America rose in her demands to what was unreasonable and unjust, no man would be more forward than himself, to support the rights of England.

Messrs. Brougham and Baring expressed similar sentiments with those of Mr. Ponsonby.

Mr. Whitbread hoped concord with America would be speedily restored; and that Ministers would never attempt to make peace with France.

MEMORIAL

To JAMES MADISON, Esquire, President of the United States.

MORE than fifteen hundred of the Inhabitants and Free Electors of the County of Rockingham, in the State of New Hampshire, being assembled in an orderly and peaceable manner, executing to our undoubted Constitutional Rights, at Portsmouth, in said County, on the fifth day of August, 1812, to consult on the Common Good and Public Welfare, do now address you, with the respect due to the Chief Magistrate of the Nation.

In addressing to experts our opinions on a point of state or our National affairs, we are influenced naturally by a wish to contribute, as far as in us lies, towards removing the difficulties which we feel, and asserting the greater evils which we fear, and also by a sense of the duty we owe to the Supreme Executive of the Union.

The Chief Magistrate of a Government which rests on public opinion, and which can only look for the support of its measures to the approbation of the people, has a right to be informed, authentically and unequivocally, of the sentiments entertained by the community concerning measures of great and serious importance. To such a portion of that community deeply interested in the present state of things, and honestly concerned about their future prospects, we beg leave to present to you a brief view of our sentiments and opinions.
