"Gentlemen,—I have the painful task to perform of giving you an account of the destruction of the Edward Newton by fire. The impression forces itself upon me, and I cannot help remarking the great mercy of God in our preservation through the perils of a hitherto ocean in open boats, and finally, when our case seemed hopeless, and death (either by sword or famine,) appeared inevitable, by our sudden and unexpected deliverance into the hands of civilized and hospitable people.

"I will endeavour, as well as the bewildered state of my faculties will admit, to give you some particulars of this distressing affair. I left Calcutta on the 18th of December; Madras and Pondicherry on the 28th of the same month—had rounded the Cape of Good Hope, and was making the most of a fair wind, with the prospect of a short passage, when, on the 20th of Feb. in lat. 29. S. long. 10 1-2 E. this dreadful calamity befel us. On the day above mentioned, at half past 5 o'clock in the evening, smoke was discovered issuing from beneath the cabin deck, through the apertures of the ten scuttle, which being instantly removed, discovered the ship to be on fire. Every exertion was made to smother the flames, but all to no purpose, as by opening the hatch it took vent, and fanned the flames, which rushing furiously up, filled the cabin, and obliged us to retreat or perish where we were. The fire followed us so closely and spread so rapidly on the deck, and the thick sulphureous smoke produced by burning saltpetre, having penetrated every part of the hull, we gave up all hope of saving the ship, and turned our attention to the preservation of our lives; and it was by the greatest exertions only that the boats were got out, and that we succeeded in clearing the ship. Some of the particular details are incredible, but is no less true, that in fifty minutes from the time the discovery was made, we were all in the boats, and the ship in a sea of flame, exceeding every thing I ever saw. The flames from all rushed along the main deck with such impetuosity, that the instant the launch was brought to the starn, a lady passenger, with three children, (one an infant) were actually caught up and thrown into her. There was no possibility of getting below after our first retreat from the cabin; consequently not an article could be saved, with the exception of papers, and a bag containing 15 lbs. of bread with a basket of potatoes, we pushed off from the ship, being at the time so entirely enveloped in smoke, as not to be able to discern each other in the same boat. After pulling off, we remained for some time motionless and awe-struck, with all eyes fixed on the shocking scene before us. The flames had now got possession of every part of the hull, and had ascended the masts as before stated to the royal mast heads—the whole presenting one solid body of fire—the dense columns of smoke shooting up and mingling with this dreadful scene sufficient to appal the stoutest heart. At half past 6 o'clock, our goodly ship being dismasted, and burnt to the lower deck, (which had previously blown up) disappeared, and sunk, and nothing remained of her except a few floating fragments of burnt spars, which closed the scene, and left us to realize the misery of our situation. There remained no hope of obtaining any thing that might float from the wreck. All the provisions being below, were destroyed with the ship, and our small stock threatened us with starvation. We had therefore no time to lose, but to take every means in our power to reach the Coast of Africa; and with the help of two pieces of burnt sails and a compass, without charts, or covering of any description, except what we stood in, we shaped our course (as we supposed) for the nearest part of the Continent, in boats—myself, Mrs. Nixon and children; and 10 men in the launch, the officers and three men in the other. Strong south erly winds and a northerly current, greatly protracted our passage, and prevented our making the coast until the 29th. We made the land 5 leagues to the northward of Cabenda, a steep, rocky coast, inhabited by wild negroes and wild beasts, and preventing to us nothing but mountains of burning sands, and, on the sea coast affording no fresh water. To have landed here, would doubtless have been certain death to us, and to attempt to proceed without a supply of water, was impossible, as we were reduced by thirst to a state bordering on desperation, our mouths still prevailed, and we had the fortitude to keep the sea with the land in sight,—and after suffering all that human nature could endure during twenty days, in the boats, we arrived on the 10th inst. at this settlement, and were received by his Governor in the most kind and hospitable manner, whom generous and unremitted exertions to supply our wants, and render our situation comfortable, do honour to himself, and entitle him to our lasting gratitude.

"Since my arrival here, I have interrogated the ship's steward respecting the immediate cause of this sad affair. I mean not to impute to him a design to destroy the ship. I believe the act of setting fire to be accidental; but his own confession to me, proves him to have been guilty of a most unpardonable breach of trust, in disregarding a well known, long established order from me, prohibiting the use of lights in the magazine in any case whatever. He states that not readily finding an article he was in search of, he took advantage of the opportunity, and ventured to use a lanthorn; and there remains no other conclusion, but that fire was communicated in this way to a quantity of straw used for stowage of bott -This took place at 4 o'clock, and the discovery was not made until half past 5. By this time, the fire, as it proved, had communicated with the hold, and no doubt the whole after part of the ship was burning when the smoke was first discovered.

"The constant burning heats of the sun to which I have been exposed, during the days of suffering in the boats, has so affected my eyes, that it is with the greatest pain and difficulty that I use to write, and I find myself obliged to omit many particulars, which I added, could have no other object than to swell the list of past sufferings, which, through the great mercy of God, seem for the present to have ended.

"We are here well fed and comfortably lodged, and gradual ly recovering ourselves, with the promise of being shortly furnished with a passage to the Brazils.

"Mrs. Nixon, the lady passenger before mentioned, is the widow of an officer of the King's 45th Regiment, now in Bengal, a native of Halifax, for whom our friend, Mr. Newton, at Calcutta, interested himself to procure a passage to America.

"Gentlemen, your Obedient Servant.

A. BERTODY."

[Capt Bertody has arrived in Hampton Roads, a passenger on board the Brig Eliza Reilly, from Rio Janeiro]

THE SEDUCER.

The man who lays a snare to entrap innocence, however shielded by the specious name of gallantry or gayety of disposition, is a fiend, and a monster that should be shunned and detested by society.

View thyself seducer! What are thy triumphs! Thou hast perhaps destroyed the fairest bloom of nature—planted the thorn of never ceasing woe, in the bosom of one who loved you—who trusted you; one who, perhaps had formed the tenderest wishes for your welfare, and who prized life, but as your happiness was centered in it; who thought to have nanued you by the most endearing of titles; expectations miserably disappointed! Unfortunate girl! The man whom you hoped one day to have called by the fond name of husband, or protector, has proved you their direst enemy—your cruel destroyer

As the rose that blushes in the garden, if plucked by the hand of the wanton spoiler, is thrown under foot, neglected and forgotten. Alas! like unto it, art thou child of simplicity. Thy innocence had issued in thy ruin; he who once vowed eternal fidelity to thee, by him art thou forsaken and viewed only as an object of contempt.

Yet wretch! canst thou view thyself as her superior;—from whence the guilt that sinks her below thy level? It was from loving you and trusting you—this was her guilt her shame. Betrayed, perhaps, through love, to a momentary weakness, (which her better principles condemn,) your labours are accomplished—you have conqured! but despicable the exultation.

"Amid roses, fierce repentance rears,
Her snaky crest, a quick returning pang
Shoots through the conscious heart."—

She knew of no disguise and expected none. Now view the heart of the afflicted penitent! see the pangs which rend her struggling bosom! The thorn of anguish rankling at her heart, instead of innocence and cheerful gayety—instead of that ease which arises from a knowledge of inward purity and worth, you see the conscious blush of shame, warm her pallid cheek—trembling lest all there might read her crime. Stung when alone by keen reflection—tortured by the pangs of neglected love and lost innocence—contemned by an unfeeling world, she dreads solitude, whilst the society of the virtuous is a constant reproach; and at length, having fallen a prey to sensations too acute, either sinks into an untimely grave, or buries recollection in the commission of new crimes.

Canst thou then, despoiler, behold the unhappy victim of thy desires, sink into the cold arms of death for relief from miseries of which thou art the cause! or see her plunge (by thee led to the brink) into the gulph of woe and infamy! Blush miscreant! Whilst contemplating the deformity of thine own image, nor think the picture exaggerated, and abhor thyself.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

EAST INDIA HOUSE, JUNE 9.

Yesterday a Special General Court of the Proprietors of East India Stock was held at the Company's House in Leadenhall-Street, for the purpose of considering the draft of a Bill before Parliament to authorise the East India Company to import tea direct from Canton in China, to Quebec and other ports in British North America.

The Court met a 12 o'clock, when the proceedings of the last Court were read and approved of.

TEA TRADE IN CANADA.—The Chairman then called the attention of the Court to the draft of the Bill which was before Parliament respecting the Tea Trade with North America. The objects of that bill, and all the circumstances which led to it, would be found fully explained in a letter from Mr. Huskisson, the President of the Board of Trade, to the Chairman of the Court of Directors, which would be read to the Court. Any information which this correspondence did not afford, he professed himself willing to supply to the best of his power.

This letter and the Chairman's answer were then read. The letter bore date the 26th ult. and began by calling the attention of the Court of Directors to the state of the Tea Trade with North America. From official communications made to Government, it appeared that upwards of 10,000 or 12,000 chests of Tea were annually consumed in British America, not a tenth part of which was supplied by the East India Company, but was supplied in from the United States. That by this means a revenue of upwards of £90,000 was levied on the consumption for the use of the treasury of United States. The attention of the Legislature had been called to the subject, and assumed was an Address to the Crown, together with a report of the Assembly of Upper Canada, to which, after alluding to the loss of revenue before stated, three remedies were proposed: namely—Britly, to permit the East India Company to import Teas direct from Canton to Quebec, or some other convenient port for British America; secondly, to open that trade to individual merchants; thirdly, to legalize the traffic already going on, and by imposing some duty on Teas imported from the United States, to indemnify the revenue, in some measure, against loss. Of these propositions, the last was objectionable, that Government would not recommend its adoption, unless nothing better could be devised; and the second was referred to the consideration of the Company, as such a permission would interfere with their Charter. But it was otherwise open to grant the first, and the permission might be immediately or at a short distance of time. The letter concluded with requesting the Court to signify their opinion as to the expediency of strong recommendation to the Company to send to Quebec such a quantity of cheap Tea as would meet the demand there. The inducement to smuggling was stated to be the cheapness of the rate of charging American duties; and running all other goods into the country, although that was subsidiary to Teas imported from this country, although that was subject to no duties outward. The Teas were of inferior quality, but the Company would be no more difficulty in obtaining the same than the Americans. The letter concluded with expressing a strong conviction, that the Company would comply with the suggestion, and that in so doing they would not act for any views of private emolument to influence general principles of commerce.

The answer of the Chairman and Deputy Chairman was then read. It was dated the 29th ult. addressed to Mr. Huskisson. It stated that the Court of Directors were not unobservant of the illegal trade in tea which was carried on with Canada, and the prejudice which the revenue suffered for the benefit of the Company. Being anxious to correct this evil, the Company professed its willingness to import a supply of tea from Canton for the American market, and in fact, orders had been despatched to the Council of Supercargoes at Canton to buy up a quantity of Inferior tea, which was to be ready by the 10th of July next. But it was stated that an Act of Parliament was necessary to legalize this trade, as from the laws respecting the Company, no such intercourse could now take place.

The Chairman said that it was under the circumstances detailed in the correspondence which had been just read, that the Act now under consideration was brought into Parliament. That correspondence was so explicit as to the objects of the Act, that there remained very little to add. It would be observed that the Company had not parted with any of their privileged rights, and that they had done was at the request of Government. They had certainly complied with the wishes of Government, more from considerations of a public and commercial nature than from any views of profit to themselves. He then moved that the Resolutions of the Court of Directors might be confirmed by the Court. He added that the powers given to the Company in the Bill were in the alternative either to trade themselves or to license others to do so.

Mr. Randal Jackson said it was important to know, first, whether the Company meant to trade on their own account; and secondly whether this direct trade from China was to be confined solely to North America, or to extend to the West India islands.

The Chairman said that, for the present, the Company were disposed to engage in the trade in ships freighted by themselves, but he could not answer for future arrangements; and he, for his part, could not answer for future arrangements; and he, for his part, could not answer for future arrangements; and he, for his part,

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE LEFT EYE.

A CALMUC TALE, TRANSLATED FROM THE RUSSIAN.

A rich old man, who resided at the extremity of the camp, quite apart from the rest, had three daughters, the youngest of whom, named Kookju, was as much distinguished for her beauty as for her extraordinary wisdom.

One morning as he was about driving his cattle for sale to the Chan's market-place, he begged his daughters to tell him what presents they wished him to bring to them on his return.—The two eldest asked him for trinkets; but the handsome and wise Kookju said that she wanted no present, but that she had a request to make which it would be difficult and even dangerous for him to execute. Upon which the father, who loved her more than the two others, swore that he would do her wish, though it were the price of his life. "I'll be no replied Kookju, "I beg you do as follows: sell all your cattle except the silver-tailed ox, and ask no other price for it except the Chan's left eye." The old man was startled; however remembering his oath, and confiding in his daughter's wisdom, he resolved to do as she bade him.

After having sold all his cattle, and being asked for the price of the short-tailed ox, he said that he would sell it for nothing else but the Chan's left eye. The report of this singular and daring request soon reached the ears of the Chan's courtiers. At first they admonished him not to use such an offensive speech against the Sovereign; but when they found that he persevered in his strange demand, they bound him and carried him as a madman before the Chan. The old man threw himself at the Prince's feet, and confessed that his demand had been made at the request of his daughter, of whose motives he was perfectly ignorant; and the Chan, suspecting that some secret must be hidden under this extraordinary request, dismissed the old man, under the condition that he would bring him that daughter who had spoke it.

Kookju appeared, and the Chan asked:

"Why didst thou instruct thy father to demand my left eye?"

"Because I expected, my Prince, that after so strange a request, curiosity would urge thee to send for me."

"And why afore dost thou desire to see me?"

"I wish to tell thee a truth important to thyself and thy people."

"Name it!"

"Prince," replied Kookju, "when two persons appear before thee in a cause, the wealthy and noble generally stand on thy right hand, whilst the poor and humble stand on thy left. I have heard in my solitude that thou most frequently favourest the noble and rich. This is the reason why I persuaded my father to ask for thy Left eye; it being of no use to thee, since thou never seest the poor as I suspected."

The Chan, incensed and surprised at the daring of this maiden, commanded his court to try her. The Court was opened, and the president, who was the eldest Lama, proposed that they should try, whether her strange proceeding was the effect of malice or of wisdom.

Their first step was to send to Kookju a log of wood, cut even on all sides, ordering her to find out which was the root and which the top? Kookju threw it into the water, and soon knew the answer, on seeing the root sinking, whilst the top rose to the surface.

After this they sent her two snakes, in order to determine which was a male and which was a female. The wise maiden laid them on mutton, and on seeing that one smelled first and ran up a ring, whilst the other crept away, she judged that the latter was a male and the former a female.

From these trials the court was convinced that Kookju had not offended the Chan from motives of malice, but the imputation of wisdom granted her from above. But not so the Chan; his vanity was hurt; and he resolved to puzzle her with questions, in order to prove that she was not wise. He therefore ordered her before him, and asked:

"On sending a number of maidens into the wood to gather apples, which of them will bring home most?"

"She," replied Kookju, "who, instead of climbing up the trees, remains below and picks up those which have fallen off from maturity or the shaking of the branches."

The Chan then led her to a fen, and asked her which would be the readiest way to get over it; and Kookju said, "to cross it would be farthest, going round, nearest." The Chan felt vexed at the readiness and propriety of her replies; and, after having reflected for some time, he again inquired:

"Which is the safest means of becoming known to many?"

"By assisting many that are unknown."

"Which is the surest means of always leading a virtuous life?"

"To begin every morning with prayer, and conclude every evening with a good action."

"Who is truly wise?"

"He who does not believe himself so."

"Which are the requisites of a good wife?"

"She should be beautiful as a jessamin, gentle as a lamb, prudent as a mouse, just as a faithful mirror, pure as the scale of a fish; she must mourn for her deceased husband like a she-camel, and live in her widowhood like a bird which has lost its wings."

The Chan was astonished at the wisdom of the fair Kookju; yet, enraged at her having reproached him with injustice, he still wished to destroy her.

After a few days he thought he had found the means for attaining his object. He sent to her and asked her to determine the true worth of all his treasures; after which he promised to absolve her from malice in questioning his justice, and to admit that she intended as a wise woman merely to warn him.

The maiden consented, yet under the condition that the Chan would promise her implicit obedience to her commands for four days. She requested that he would eat no food during that time. On the last day, she placed a dish of meat before him, and said, "Confess, O Chan! that all thy treasures are not worth as much as this joint of meat!" The Chan was so struck with the truth of her remark, that he confessed the truth of it, acknowledged her as wise, married her to his son, and permitted her constantly to remind him to use his Left Eye.

POETRY.

LINES.

Addressed by the late lamented Lord Byron to his Lady.

And will thou weep when I am low?
Sweet lady, speak those words again,
Yet if they grieve thee, say not so!
I would not give thy bosom pain.

My heart is cold, my veins congeal,
My blood runs coldly through my breast;
And in my head a thousand reasons reel,
Will sigh above my place of rest.
And yet methinks, a gleam of peace
Doth through my cloud of anguish shine!
And for a while my sorrows cease,
To know thy heart hath felt for mine!

Oh lady, blessed be that tear!
It falls for one that cannot weep;
Such precious drops are doubly dear
To those whose eyes no tears may steep.

Sweet lady, once my heart was warm
With every feeling soft as thine;
But beauty's self hath ceased to charm
A wretch created to repine.

Yet will thou weep when I am low?
Sweet lady, speak those words again!
Yet if they grieve thee, say not so!
I would not give thy bosom pain.

Domestic.

A handsome boat of about 30 tons burthen, with excellent accommodations for passengers, has been fitted up for the purpose of plying on the LaChine Canal, which is expected to be opened for uninterrupted Navigation from St. Gabriel's Farm to LaChine, a distance of about 9 miles, before the end of next week.—We expect to be enabled in our Thursday's paper to give more satisfactory information relative to this interesting event, and to detail the particular objects which the proprietors of this boat have in view.

We understand that the Commissioners of the Canal are making every possible exertion for putting things in such a state of forwardness, so as to enable them to complete this desirable work early in the ensuing season; but until that is effected, the distance from Town to the farm is so short, as to render it only a pleasant walk to where the passage boat will ply from, in time to meet the Steam-Boat Perseverance previous to her departure from LaChine to the Cascades.—Canadian Courant.

GAOL BREAKING.

About seven o'clock on the evening of the 28th ult. the sentinal in front of the Gaol of this city saw a man jammed J. B. Verdon, decending from a window of the tower next the Court House, he immediately ran towards him with charged bayonet, the culprit was instantly secured, and returned to prison where he was placed in irons. This circumstance being known, the ward whence Verdon descended, was examined, when it was ascertained that the following old, and notorious offenders had made their escape, viz. J. M. Desjardins, Joseph Jolicoer, Joseph Moreau, Louis Dufort, Francis Maturin (this fellow formerly escaped from the Goal of Quebec, and was most probably the contriver of the late elopement) and John Reiley.

A prisoner in the room where those men had been confined states that they procured two old knives which they used as files for cutting the bars of the window, and when they had accomplished this part of their design, they cut up the ticking of their beds into stripes, which they tied together, by which they were enabled to lower themselves to the ground; tha they did alternately when the sentry left that part of the prison on his walk to the other end, a considerable distance, and as the projection of the center part of the building prevented their being observed by the sentry they succeeded in escaping. From the manner in which they executed their purpose, there cannot be any blame attached to the sentinel then on duty.

We understand, that double sentries are placed in front and rear of the Gaol every evening at 8 o'clock, this being known by the prisoners they choose an earlier hour for their opperations; we think from the extent of the building, that two centries are necessary in day time as well as night. Not long before the transaction above mentioned Mr. Holland the Gaoler, with the Smith of the prison went to examine the different wards, they found one of the nuts of a screw in an iron gate of the window through which the prisoners escaped, nearly cut off, whereby they could with little exertion force the gate open, and cut the bars of the window. The Smith secured the gate, but the ingenuity of the fellows within overcame all difficulties, and through the very place which had been so lately secured they made their exit.

It is to be hoped for the benefit of Society that these vagabonds will be speedily returned to their old quarters; vigilent search is now making for them, which we trust will prove successful.—ib.

Awful Warning.—A few days ago a child of between 4 and 5 years of age, the son of Mr. Moore clerk to the Brigade Major, got out of Bed, and perceiving a decanter with spirits drank a sufficient quantity to cause his death on the following morning. The most skilful medical aid was procured, but every effort to save the life of the poor child proved unavailing.—ib.

Yamaska Mountain, July 31st, 1824.

REMARKABLE LEAP.—About 2 o'clock on the morning of the 24th July, as several persons were returning home to this place from the Circuit Court at St. Denis in carts, and were passing over Jean Bte. Deneville's Bridge across Yamaska River, the horse in the forward cart sheering a little to the right, the end of the axletree struck against the railing of the bridge, which caused the cart to stop suddenly; the persons in the cart being fatigued with the journey and travelling all night, were a little drowsy at the time; the hat of Mr. Lorenzo Wells who was sitting on the right side of the cart fell off, and between sleeping and waking he leaped suddenly from his cart to recover his hat, and jumped fairly over the railing of the bridge about twenty five feet into the rapids of the river below. Being very athletic, and a Shoemaker by trade, and much use to sitting, he had the good fortune to seat himself very easily in a small bason of water about thirty inches deep and just wide enough to receive him, surrounded by sharp cragged rocks on all sides.—His flight was so sudden, and it being very dark, the other Gentleman in the cart was totally at a loss to know where he was, whether he had like Elijah of old in passing the river Jordan suddenly ascended, or had fallen like Lucifer son of the morning; but Mr. Wells not leaving his mantle behind him, nor a double portion of his spirit, as the old Patriarch did, and the other Gentleman not seeing any chariot and horses of fire, he called out very audibly "Wells where are you?". When he (Mr. Wells) vociferated from his seat below, "here I am under the bridge, and am not dead yet!" He was immediately got out but soon fainted, a Surgeon was immediately called, and after proper treatment is now nearly recovered. A very singular fact is that his skin was not broken, except a small scratch on one finger, and in his side pocket he had a looking glass of about ten inches square, which was not injured.—Canadian Times.

HARTFORD, July 12.

Cows.—A number of Cows in Wethersfield, have been seriously injured by the use of tubes in milking them. Their bags swelled, the milk afterwards taken from them was not fit for use, and then they dried up. We have heard, though it may be a mistake, that three Cows in Windsor have lately died, in consequence of this treatment. If it is so, if should be made known, that the use of this "Invention" may proceed no farther; and gentlemen, in this vicinity, who keep large dairies, are requested, should such occurrences take place, to let some printer or other know of them. The loss of property is the concern of the owners, the saving of time to the boys or girls who are set to milk, and their better disposal of it, are matters of which we cannot judge, but the cruelty to the animals is unwarrantable.—This is not making a fuss about a trifle—a little reflection will convince people that newspaper paragraphs rarely mention matters of half the importance of this single mischief.

Upper Canada Gazette.

New Series.

Vol. III. YORK U.C. THURSDAY, AUGUST 26th, 1824. No. XXXV.

By Authority.

UPPER CANADA.

P. MAITLAND,
Lieut. Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

TO our Beloved and Faithful Legislative Counsellors of our Province of Upper Canada; and to our Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses of our said Province, to the Assembly at our Town of York, on the Ninth Day of August, instant, to be Commenced, Held, Called and Elected, and to every of You—GREETING:

WHEREAS, for certain arduous and urgent affairs Us, and the state of our said Province, concerning, at our said Assembly, at the day and place aforesaid, to be Held, We have Ordained you by our separate Writs at the Town and day aforesaid, to be present, for the purposes therein mentioned Nevertheless for certain causes and considerations Us thereto especially moving, our said Assembly at and upon the Ninth day of August instant, We have thought proper to Prorogue, so that you nor any of you on the said Ninth day at August instant, at our said Town to appear, are to be held or constrained. For We do thought fit to declare, and do hereby declare, that from and after the date of this our Proclamation, the said Port of Ernestown shall cease to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the purposes aforesaid, and shall be and remain, as if the said Proclamation hereinbefore recited, and appointing the same to be a Port of Entry and Clearance, had never been made.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces in North America, at York, this Second day of August, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty-four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign.

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,
JOH. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.
D. CAMERON, Secretary.

Upper Canada.

P. MAITLAND,

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come—GREETING:

WHEREAS by Proclamation bearing date the Fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventeen, our trusty and well beloved FRANCIS GORE Esquire, late our Lieutenant Governor of our Province of Upper Canada, by and with the advice of the Executive Council there of, and by virtue of the Authority in him vested in that behalf, did declare and appoint the Port of Ernestown, otherwise commonly called the Port of Bath, within the Midland District of this Province, to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for all Goods and Merchandize, not being entirely prohibited and for the payment of the Duties, liable to be paid on all Goods and Merchandize brought into this Province from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS by a certain Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the Third Year of our Reign, entitled, "An Act to Regulate the Trade of the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, and for other purposes relating to the said Provinces," it is among other things Enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the Governor Lieutenant Governor, or person Administering the Government of either of our said Provinces respectively, by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council thereof for the time being, from time to time to Establish or Increase, by Proclamation, the number of Ports or places, which then were, or thereafter might be, appointed in such Province for the Entry of Goods, Wares, and Commodities, imported from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS it appears expedient for the avoiding expence in the Collection of our Revenue, that the said Port of Ernestown shall no longer be a Port of Entry and Clearance.—NOW KNOW YE, that by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of our Province of Upper Canada, We have

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,
D. CAMERON, Secretary.
JOH. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

GLEBES.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in Council, having taken into consideration the system indistinctly prescribed, or Granting Licences of Occupation for GLEBE LANDS, is pleased to Order, that in future the Glebes in the several Townships, with the exception of One Lot in each Township, for the accommodation of the Incumbent, shall be Leased on the same terms as Clergy Reserves.

NOTICE is therefore given to those Persons who hold Licences of Occupation for any of the said Glebes, that the same will not be Renewed; and unless they do make application, by Petition, for Leases in the usual manner, through the medium of the Corporation for superintending the Clergy Reserves, before the Twenty-ninth day of September next ensuing, the Lots so held by Licences of Occupation will be Leased to other Applicants.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office,
York, 29th April, 1824. 19-tf.

Executive Council Office,
York, 14th April, 1824.

NOTICE is hereby given, to Jabez Johnson, or his Representative, to make good any claim he may have to Lot Number Two, in the Seventh Concession of the Township of Louth, in the District of Niagara within six months from this date, in default of which, the Lot will be otherwise disposed of.

By order of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor in Council.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Ex's. Council. 17—6m

Executive Council Chamber,
York, 31st January, 1824.

PRESENT,
HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
IN COUNCIL.

HIS Majesty's Government having recently extended their assistance to the class of Emigrants, which it was intended to relieve by gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres of Land, in conveying them to their respective locations:

IT IS ORDERED, that from the first day of May next, no gratuitous Grants be made of any quantity of Land to other than privileged persons.—And that as the Fee on Two Hundred Acres was raised, in order to defray the gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres the consideration being, the fainte Fee on Two Hundred Acres is reduced to Eight Pounds Four Shillings and One Penny Sterling; the existing Fee before 1819, and the Fee on all other Grants, in Townships surveyed since that time, to be the same as established by the Order in Council, of 6th January, 1819.

N. B. Possessors of gratuitous Grants for Fifty Acres, may, by paying the Fee on One Hundred Acres, receive a Grant of the adjoining Fifty Acres if vacant.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Ex'v. Council.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL CHAMBER,
AT YORK, 29th JAN. 1824.

PRESENT:
HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
In Council.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR submitted to the consideration of the Board, the Surveyor's Reports of their respective Lands, together with other Documents relating to a Winter Circuit, by which it appeared that the House of Assembly had expressed His Excellency to that effect, for the Session only; and obviously for the Delivery of the Grafts in the several Districts.

The limitation of such a measure to one season seeming to militate with the Provision of the Law, that when the Communication from the Seat of Government admitted, and the circumstances of the Province required, there should be a regular Second Circuit, the Board would prefer to recommend that Special Commissions to deliver particular Gaols should issue where requisite; but, as the respective Reports from the Sheriffs do not, in the opinion of the Board, require any immediate disposition, His Excellency, with advice of the Council, postpones a Second Circuit until the circumstances of the Province more decidedly require it.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Executive Council.

Executive Council Office,
York, February 7th 1821.

WHEREAS it has been represented, that many persons who have received Locations of Land, have, from Sickness, and other legitimate causes, been unable to fulfil the Settlement Duty, in the time required by the Location Ticket, and have neglected to apply to His Excellency in Council for an extension of the period, for performance of such duty.

BE it Known that the period for completing the Settlement Duty, is hereby extended to Two Years, from the date of Locations until further notice shall be given.

JOHN SMALL. Clk Ex. Com.

WHEREAS by the Tenor of the Location Tickets a Certificate is required to be lodged of the Settlement Duty being done within two Years, or that the said Location should be forfeited, and in case of Locations not gratuitous, that one third of the Patent Fee be lodged with such Certificate; AND WHEREAS it is represented, that in many instances, Certificates of performance of the Settlement Duty, have been withheld from the inability of the settler to deposit such proportion of the Patent Fee, it is deemed expedient to relieve the settler from forfeiture of his location, when he may actually have performed his settlement duty—Notice is hereby given that in all cases where Settlement Duty has been performed within the limited period, the settler shall, on filing Certificate thereof within six Months of this date, be exempted from forfeiture notwithstanding the non-payment therewith of such portion of the Patent Fee, provided the Patent is sued out within One Year from the filing of such Certificate.

And further; His Excellency, in the hope of avoiding the necessity of rescinding any of the Militia grants, is pleased to direct this Public Notification; that all Lands granted to Militia Men, upon which the Settlement Duties shall not have been performed within the limited period, will in pursuance of general instructions given to the Surveyor General in all similar cases, be declared vacant, and will be granted within Six Months after the expiration of that period, to the first applicant, unless the Original Nominee, shall before such subsequent application, have lodged a Certificate of his having performed the Settling Duties.

JOHN SMALL, Clk. Ex. Com.

Executive Council Office,
York, 7th Nov. 1821.

WHEREAS it has become expedient to establish a line of communication through certain remote Townships, for encouragement thereof, Grants will be made to actual Settlers in the Townships hereinafter named on the condition of Settling within two years from the date of the Location, at the reduced Scale of 5th January, 1819, viz.

A Township North of Mariposa, advertised from the Surveyor General's Office on the 19th of October, as Peta, to be called Eldon

N. of Ep		Penelon
N. of Emily advertised as	Emir	Verulam
N. of Smith	Lake	Harvey
E. of do.		Douro
N. of Asphodel	Alma	Dummer
N. of Seymour	Mora	Belmont
N. of Dummer	Yea	Burleigh
N. of M...	Nic...	Lake
N. of Madoc		Tudor
N. of Ebzever	No	Grimsthorpe
N. of Kaladar	Ape	Anglesea
N. of Kennebec	Jos	Barrie
N. of Norma	Olden	Clarendon
N. of Oso	Et	Palmerston
N. of Belmont	Carlos	Methuen

JOHN SMALL, C. E. C.

Government House, ... March, 1820.

HIS Excellency the Lieutenant Governor is pleased to direct that no Location requiring Settlement Duty shall be Confirmed by Patent, without a Certificate from the Land Board of the District in which such Location may be situate, that the Settlement Duty required by the Order in council has bona fide been performed within the time specified by the Location Ticket.

JOHN SMALL Clk. C.

To Militia Pensioners, Notice

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that Payment of Militia Pensions for the year 1824, will commence from this date

Militia Pension Office, York, 15th July, 1824.

EDWD. M'MAHON.
Agent for Paying Militia Pensions

30.—13 w.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District
to wit.

ON Thursday the 12th day of August next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands, as belonging to Richard Bullock, seized by virtue of two Executions issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, the first at the suit of John Kirby, Alex O'Petrie and Thomas Parker, Trustees to the Estate of the late Allan Taylor, and the other at the suit of Edward McCallan, viz—Lot No 87, and one half of 79, 4th Con. from the Bay side, in the Township of Ameliasburgh, in the said District.

N. B. Any person or persons having claims on he above Lands, or upon any part of them by Mortgage, or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN MCLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Kingston, April 20th, 1824. 27—t d.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

HOME DISTRICT
TO WIT.

BY Virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and directed to the Sheriff of the Home District, against the Lands and Tenements of William D. Forest at the Suit of Alexander Wood, I have seized and taken in execution, Lot No Ten on the North side of King Street, and the rear half of Lot No. Nine on the North side of King Street, in the Town of York, containing together three tenths of an Acre, together with the Buildings thereon erected, which are known by the name of the Mansion House Hotel.

All of which property will be sold by Public Auction on Saturday the twenty fourth day of July next at the Market House in the Town of York.

SAMUEL RIDOUT, Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, York,
9th April, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above mentioned Property by Mortgage, or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office, on or before the day of Sale.

26—6 wks.

☞ The Sale of the above House and Premises is adjourned to Saturday the 21st instant, for want of bidders. Sale to commence at the Market House as above, precisely at noon of the same day.

SAMUEL RIDOUT.
Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office York,
24 July 1824.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

NIAGARA DISTRICT
TO WIT.

BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Andrew Heron, at the suit of Alexander Fraser, I have seized and taken the following Lands, viz:—

Lot No. 5, 6, & East half of Lot 67 in the Township of Niagara. } 150 acres

Lot No 156, in the Town of Niagara.

do.	134,	do	do
do	120,	do	do
do	289,	do	do
do	133,	do	do
do	39,	do	do

And Lot No 16, in the 4th Concession of the Township of Gainsboro', containing 200 acres; also, Lot No 15, in the 13th, Concession of the Township of Pelham, containing 100 acres.—All of which property I shall offer for sale on the 28th day of August, 1824, at the Court House, in the town of Niagara, at 12 o'clock noon, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for cash only.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff

By PETER T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office,
Niagra, Aug. 25 1823.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above mentioned premises by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office, on or before the day of sale.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

☞ The sale of the above property is postponed until the 13th of September, next, at the same place and hour.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

26—6 w. By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff

SHERIFF'S SALE.

NIAGARA DISTRICT,
TO WIT

BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of John D. M'Kay, at the suit of Peter M'Gill, I have seized and taken the following Lands, viz:—

Lot No 7, 8, & 9, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Clinton, } 900 acres
Lot No. 7, 8, & 9, in the 6th Concession of do. do.

Lot No 10, 11, & 13, in the 8th Concession of do. do.
Lot No 11, in the 7th Concession of do. do.

Lot No. 4, 5, 6, 7, & 12, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Grimsby. } 800 acres
do. do. 4, in the 2nd Concession of do.

Lot No. 37, & 39, in the 8th & 9th Concession of do. } 400 acres

Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 1st Concession of Bertie. } 495 acres
Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 2d Concession of do.

Lot No. 12 & 14, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Gainsbo'o } 400 acres
Lot No. 4, in the 2d Concession of do. } 200 acres

Lot No. 73, 74, 95, 96, & ¼, of 201, in the town of Niagara.—All of which property I shall offer for sale on the 2d day of August, 1824, at the Court House in the town of Niagara, at 12 o'clock, noon, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for cash only.

RICHARD LEONARD, Sheriff.

By PETER T. PAWLING, Dep'y Sheriff

Sheriff's Office,
Niagara, July 21st, 1823.

N B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above named premises, by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

☞ The sale of the above property is postponed until the 18th of Sept. next, at the same place and hour.

RICHARD LEONARD, Sheriff.
By PETER T. PAWLING, Dep'y Sheriff
26—6 w

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Newcastle District,
To wit.

BY Virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, at the Suit of Mr. Peter McGill, and against the Lands and Tenements of John D. M'Kay, I have taken in execution as belonging to the said John D. M'Kay, the following Lands—viz:

No. 24 & 1-2 23 4th Con. Darlington } 300
15 & do. 14 3d Con. Clarke, } 200
13 " do. 14 4th do do. }

Acres 1100

Which I shall sell and adjudge to the highest bidder on Monday the 9th Day of Aug. next at the House of Mr. Peter Orcutt, in Cobourg.—The Sale to commence at 12 o'clock in the Day at noon, and sold for cash only.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.

By EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Cobourg,
1st. February, 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any claim to the above named Property by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office, on or before the day of Sale.

☞ The sale of the above Lots No 24 and half of 23 in the 4th Concession of Darlington, is postponed until the 29th day of September next, at the same place and hour.

JOHN SPENCER,
Sheriff.
EBENEZER PERRY
Dep'y Sheriff

Sheriff's Office, Cobourg,
August 9th, 1824. 35—td.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Newcastle District,
to wit.

BY virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of Kings Bench, and to the Sheriff of the Newcastle District directed, against the Lands and Tenements of David M'Gregor Rogers Esq. at the suit John Strachan, Thomas A. Dobbs, and Thomas H. Cartwright, Executors of the late Richard Cartwright, Esq. I have taken in Executio as belonging to the said David M'Gregor Rogers the following Lands, viz

S. half of Lot No. 3 Broken Front, A. }
Lot No. 3 do. do. B. } 330 Acres.
Lot No. 3 do. do. C. }
Lot No. 23 2 Concession, 200 do.
Lot No. 26 3 do 200 do.

of the Township of Haldimand, in the county of Northumberland, which Property I shall offer for sale at Public Auction, at the Inn now occupied by Mr. N. W. Mack, in the village of Coburg, on the ninth day of February next at 12 o'clock, at noon.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff,
By EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above described Premises, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber, on or before the day of Sale.

NOTE.—The sale of the above Lots, No. 3, Concession A., B., and C., is postponed until the 25th day of August next at the same place and hour.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
BY EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Cobourg,
28th July, 1824. 34—td.

NOT OFFICIAL.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT.

H. M. Dock Yard, Kingston
17th August 1824.

NOTICE is hereby given, that Sealed Tenders will be received at my Office until Wednesday, the Sixth day of October next, from all persons willing to Contract for the safe transport of such quantities of Naval Store, Naval Ordnance Stores, Provisions and Baggage, as may be required to be forwarded from the following places, for the term of one year, and for a further Indefinite period, until six month's notice for the discontinuance of the Contract be given by one of the parties.

VIZ:—

From York to Holland Landing.—From Holland Landing to Kempenfeldt Bay, and from thence into the Naval Store House at the Head of the Rottawasaga River. From Kempenfeldt Bay by the New Road into the Storehouses of His Majesty's Naval Depôt at Penetanguishine.

The Tenders distinctly to express the rate per hundred weight (of 112lbs.) at which the said Stores will be delivered, and are to contain the names of two competent Sureties for the due performance of the Contract; the said Tenders to be forwarded to my Office, addressed to the "NAVAL STOREKEEPER," and endorsed

"Tender for Transport,"

And the parties making the Tenders, or their authorized agents, are personally to attend at His Majesty's Dock Yard, Kingston, at one o'clock on the 6th day of October next, when the said Tenders will be opened and decided on.

M. B. MENDS
H M. Naval Storekeeper.

35—6w.

NOTICE.

THE Plan and Estimate of a STEAM BOAT, (to be Built by Mr. AMOS S. ROBERTS) about One Hundred Tons Burthen, intended to Ply between this Port and Niagara, may be seen at this Office.—Her Engine is intended to be of Twenty Five Horse Power. The whole Cost is estimated at Two Thousand Two Hundred and Five Pounds Currency. She is to be Built by Stock, made up of Shares, of Twenty Five Pounds each. A few Shares are still wanting. Subscriptions for which will be received at this Office, and at the Office of the Niagara Gleaner, where Estimates and Conditions will be exhibited to those who wish to become Stockholders.

Gazette Office, York,
August 26th, 1824. No. 35.—t. f.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the INHABITANTS of the COUNTY OF MIDDLESEX, will make application at the next SESSION of the PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE by Petition, praying, that the said COUNTY may be erected into a seperate District.

24th July, 1824. 35—6w.

ELOPEMENT.

WHEREAS Catherine, my wife, has Eloped from my bed and board, without provocation, or just cause.—I hereby forbid all Persons whatsoever from harbouring, or trusting her on my account, as I will not be answerable for any debts she may contract whilst thus absent.

STEPHEN SMITH.

Whitby, August 23, 1824. 35—3w.

FINE CUT GLASS WARE, CHINA, BRITANNIA METAL WARE, &c. &c.

For Sale opposite the English Church, a few doors West of P. McDougalls, an Assortment of

FLINT GLASS,

From the Waterford Glass Works, of this Years Importation,

CONSISTING of Decanters, Goblets, Tumblers, Water Jugs, Fruit Dishes, Finger Bowls, Wine Coolers, Custard Cups; Wine, Claret, and Liquor Glasses, &c. Cut and Plain:—and a quantity of Common Tumblers and Wine Glasses.

Also, a few Dinner Sets fine Blue Earthenware; Tea pots, Pitchers, Sugar-boxes, &c. &c.

Cruet and Liquor Frames newest patterns with Cut Glass; a few Sets China, and China Gilt Ornaments—Superior Britannia Metal Tea and Coffee Pots.

A few Sets Cadeau Dinner and Desert Knives & Forks, warranted best Quality. Also, Gilt and Plain British Letter and Writing Paper; Quills and Ink Powder—Shoe Brushes; Pins in packets; Starch in 14lb packages; Calf Skins; Glauber Salts, &c. &c.

☞ The Subscriber intending to stop but a few weeks requests those in want of the above to favor him with their Orders.

Wm. ROBKE.

York, August 19th, 1824.

NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the Co-partnership heretofore existing between JOHN AND GEORGE MONRO, Merchants, of York, Upper Canada, was on the first instant dissolved by mutual consent. All persons indebted to the said firm are requested to pay the amount of their respective accounts to Mr. WILLIAM P. PATRICK of this Town, without delay, who is duly authorized to receive the same—and all persons to whom the said Co-partnership stands indebted will present their accounts to him for adjustment.

JOHN MONRO,
GEORGE MONRO.

York, 17th August, 1824. 34-tf.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS hereby given, that a MEDICAL SCHOOL is opened at St. Thomas, in the Talbot Settlement, under the direction of CHARLES DUNCOMB, Esq. Licentiate, and the immediate patronage of the HON. COLONEL TALBOT, where the Education of young men for the Profession of Medicine and Surgery will be carefully superintended and every opportunity offered them to become intimately acquainted with the Structure and Physiology of the Human Body. Every Student before admission is expected to have a competent knowledge of the Latin Language or give satisfactory assurances of immediately acquiring it; for which purpose a competent teacher will be resident in the village.

CHARLES DUNCOMB, will give a course of Lectures on the Theory and Practice of Medicine.

JOHN ROLPH, is expected to give the first course of Lectures and Demonstrations during the ensuing season on the Anatomy and Physiology of the Human Body.

St. Thomas, Talbot Street,
August 5th, 1824. 34—6w.

THE YORK ALMANACK,

AND

ROYAL CALENDAR

OF

UPPER-CANADA,

For the Year 1824.

Much Enlarged, and Improved from the Edition of last Year.

A FEW Copies of this Work being left on hand may now be had at half the usual Price, on application at the U. C. Gazette Office, York.

August 26th. 1824. t. f.

NOTICE.

VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE.

VIZ:—

In the Township of Vaughan

Lots No. 22, 23, 24, in the 7th Con. and Broken Lot No. 5, in the 10th Concession. } 620 Acres.

Township of York

Lot No. 13, 5th Concession, and Broken Front West of Yonge Street on the Humber, West half of No 15, in 2d Con. West of Yonge St. } 380 Acres.

Township of Percy

Lot No 20, in 3d Concession. } 400 Acres.
Lot No. 21, in 4th Ditto.

For particulars apply to Guy C. Wood, Esq. Cornwall, or the Subscriber in York.

R. G ANDERSON.

19th July, 1824. 30—tf.

NOTICE.

ALL Persons indebted to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire, of Stamford, are requested to make immediate payment to the Subscriber at Vittoria, London District, and those having claims on the Estate, will be pleased to furnish him with their respective Accounts properly authenticated.

(Signed) WALTER NICHOL,
Administrator to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire.

Niagara, 29th May, 1824.

Crown Office, York, }
July 15th, 1824. }

EASTERN CIRCUIT, 1824.

Mr. Justice Campbell.

Assizes, at	Cornwall	on Monday	9th Augt.
Do	Perth,	do	23rd do
Do	Brockville,	do	6th Sept.
Do	Kingston,	do	20th do

HOME CIRCUIT.

Mr. Justice Boulton.

Do	Niagara,	Wednesday	4th Augt.
Do	Newcastle,	do	6th Oct.
Do	York,	do	18th do

WESTERN CIRCUIT.

Chief Justice

Do	Sandwich,	Wednesday	18th Augt.
Do	Vittoria,	Monday	30th do
Do	Gore,	Wednesday	8th Sept.

No. 29 —t. f.

NOTICE.

WANTED, for Fourteen Years, or not less than Ten, a Loan of TWO THOUSAND POUNDS, Currency, for the building of a PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH of ENGLAND, in the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada.

The Subscriber is authorized to offer Efficient Legal Securities for the Repayment of the Loan, at the end of the period, and for the Annual Payment of the Interest accumulating thereon, at Six per Cent. per annum.

(By Order of the Committee.)
GEORGE O'KILL STUART,
Secretary, pro tem.

19-tf.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

THE Board for the General Superintendance of Education, in this Province, give notice that the undermentioned Lands, reserved for the purposes of the Institution, are about to be disposed of on terms advantageous to purchasers; and that, after the sixteenth day of September next, applications may be addressed to Colonel Talbot, residing in the District of London, with respect to any Lands situate in that District, who is fully authorised to enter into any contracts for their sale, and to the Secretary of the Board, at York, with respect to any of the Lands situate in the other Districts.

School Reserves in the London District	Blandford, about	20,000
	Houghton, " "	19,000
	Middleton, " "	14,000
	Southwold, " "	17,000
	Yarmouth, " "	11,963
	Westminster, " "	9,237
Midland District,	Sheffield, " "	5,688
Newcastle do.	Seymour, " "	47,000

By Order of the Board,
JAMES GIVINS, Secretary.

York, 28th July, 1823. tf—31.

N. B. It is requested that all communications respecting the above Lands be post paid.

FIRE INSURANCE.

THE SUBSCRIBER having been appointed Agent in Upper and Lower Canada, for

"The Farmer's Fire Insurance
AND LOAN COMPANY"
OF NEW YORK,

is ready to insure against loss or damage by Fire, in Dwelling Houses, Stores and Buildings in general Merchandize, Household Furniture, and other Personal Property, at moderate rates of Premium.

This Company was Incorporated in 1821, with a Capital of Five Hundred Thousand Dollars, all paid in, and secured on Stock, Loans and Mortgages, and has subsequently by its liberality and promptitude in the settlement of Losses, fully secured the confidence of the public.—A List of its present Board of Directors is subjoined, which, on enquiry, will be found to comprise names of such respectability as amply guarantee that all engagements of the Company will be honourably fulfilled.

Applications for Insurance on Property not in the City of Montreal, should be accompanied with Plans, and a reference to some person in this place

ROBERT ARMOUR, Agent.

Montreal, 28th May, 1824. 1y—95

DIRECTORS.

John T. Chaplin	Benjamin Bailey
President.	John Johnson
Richard Harrison	Thomas S Townsend
James Magee	Francis Saltus
George Griswold	Frederick A Tracy
Ben. Marshall	John S Crary
Jas. D'Wolf Junior	Joseph S. Shotwell
Henry Wheaton	Wm Osburn
G L. Lewis	David S. Kennedy
James McBride	Henry Cary
A. H. Lawrence	Gideon Lee

No, 24—1 m.—6ms

M 1795

FOR SALE.

LOT No. Two, in the First Concession of the Township of York, with the Broken Front, containing about Two Hundred and Forty Acres of Land.

Application to be made to

J. B. MACAULAY

York, 12th June, 1824. 25.-t. f.

NOTICE.

FOR SALE, by private Contracts, the House and Lot lately occupied by Mr. O'Sullivan, Saddler, King's-Street, in the Town of York, the Lot is 26 feet fronting King's-Street, by 112 feet deep.

Also.—A Lot adjoining the above on the West side, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—A Lot adjoining Mr. Duggan's, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—Three Lots on Stuarts Land, each 40, by 60 feet.

Should the above Property and Lots not be sold by Private Contract, the five last described Lots will be sold at Public Sale, on the first day of July ensuing.

Application for Terms of Sale, to be made to
ALEXANDER WOOD, ESQ.

York, 17th March, 1824. t.f.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Inhabitants of the Township of Townsend intend Petitioning both Houses of the Provincial Legislature at its next Session, to pass a Law, Establishing a Line Surveyed in the year 1823, between the 12th and 13th Cons. of the said Township.

Townsend, 20th }
May, 1824. } No. 21—1 m. t. d.

VALUABLE LANDED PROPERTY FOR SALE.

TWENTY-SEVEN TOWN LOTS, eligibly situated in the Village of Cobourg, in Hamilton, Upper Canada, on one of which, a Store and Dwelling House are erected.

Two Neat Small FARMS, contiguous to the above Village, containing, one, about Twenty-eight Acres, the other, about Fifty Acres, with a House and other Buildings on each of them.—A Plan of the above may be seen on application to Mr. J. G. Bethune, Cobourg, (who will shew the Premises,) or to the Subscriber.

Two TOWN LOTS in Picardville, adjoining to the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada, with Houses and other Buildings thereon, being Lots No. 21 and 22.

200 Acres of Land being No. 1, 8th Con. of Murray.

200 do do being No. 4, 4th do of Hungerford.

200 do do being No. 1, 8th do of Winchester.

200 do do being No. 24, 8th do of Mountain.

200 do do being the West halves of No. 31 and 32 in the 2d Concession of Hawkesbury.

Liberal Terms of Payment will be granted.

For particulars apply to

FRS. ANT. LAROQUE.

N. B. The above mentioned Town Lots in the flourishing Village of Cobourg, and the two adjoining Farms, will be disposed of by Public Sale, in the said Village on the 28th May next.

F. A. L. R.

Montreal, 15th March, 1824. t. f.

INTERESTING NOTICE.

THE Surveyor General begs leave to inform the Public, that he has obtained the permission of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, to publish a of the Province, on a large Scale. It is to be engraved in London, in the best style, and will be ready for delivery in a few months.

CORRECT MAP

This information, the Surveyor General thinks it necessary to make, in order to prevent those persons, who are desirous of having an authentic MAP of Upper Canada, from being imposed upon by a Surreptitious Copy, said to be on the eve of Publication.

Surveyor General's Office, }
York, 24 April, 1823. } 14—tf

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the County of Prince Edward, in the Midland District, intend Petitioning the Legislature, at the next Session thereof, to have the said County sett off, and made into a separate District from the said Midland District, and to be called the District of Maitland. No. 24—6ms.

TIMBER WANTED AT BURLINGTON BEACH.

OFFERS will be received until the 10th day of July next, by the Contractor, at Burlington Beach.—Also—by FRANCIS HALL, Engineer, Queenston, for delivering at the works—the following quantities of

TIMBER.

50,000 Lineal Feet of White Oak Timber, Foot Square; in Length varying from 22 to 33 Feet,

37,490 Lineal Feet of 3 Inch White Oak Plank; 18 Inches in width—in Length varying from 12 to 33 Feet

36,400 Lineal Feet of Pine Timber, 12 Inches in diameter—in Length varying from 12 to 33 Feet.

Burlington Beach, June 22d. 1824

No. 23—t f.

TERMS
OF THE U. C. GAZETTE AND WEEKLY REGISTER.

Four Dollars per annum (Postage included) payable half year ly in advance. Three months notice is required previous to the discontinuance of any Subscription.

Price of Advertising,

Six lines and under, two shillings and six pence, and sevenpence nalfpenny, every subsequent insertion.

Six to ten lines, five shillings, and one shilling and threepence subsequently.

All exceeding ten lines, four pence per line for the first insertion, and one penny subsequently.—Bills and Figure work charged Double.—A discount of 25 per cent. allowed to those who advertise by the year.—Advertisements cannot be received after 1 o'clock on the Wednesday afternoon immediately preceding the day of Publication.—Advertisements unaccompanied with positive directions as to the exact number of insertions to be given them, will be continued until expressly forbidden.—or until the day of Sale (if alluding to Sales) and charged accordingly.

☞ Advertisements from the Country must be post paid, with the price of insertion; or, a reference in Town who will pay when demanded, or discontinued.

☞ Any Agent obtaining 3 Subscribers has a paper for himself at half price;—if he obtains 6, he has his own paper gratis; —and, for as many as he obtains above 6, he will receive besides his own paper, a Commission of five per cent. upon the whole amount.

BLANK DEEDS AND MEMORIALS

For Sale at this Office.

WEEKLY REGISTER.

Vol. III. Our endeavour will be to "stamp the very body of the time—its form and pressure"— No. 35 we shall exterminate nothing, nor shall we set down aught in malice.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 26th, 1824.

Editorial Commentary.

We wish to appriss many valuable correspondents in the Canadas, who write to the Editor of reading communications for insertion in this paper—that we have made it a rule to admit none whose authors are entirely unknown to us—or, which may not be traced, should it be necessary to ascertain the writer—Not that we could be induced, by any personal consideration, to give up the name of such an author or communicant—but, for our own satisfaction. It is for this reason that, however much we approve a paper late ly sent to us, and subscribed "A By-Stander" it cannot appear until we know from what quarter it has been sent.

Julian shall appear in due time, and probably with some comments that may not be unacceptable to the readers of his well, written, and well-intended, production.

Our readers must have observed that we have not been regular in noticing the returns of Members, from the various Towns and Counties of the Province entitled to Representation in the new Parliament. The cause of this apparent negligence originated in our willingness to wait until we could give a general return for the whole Province—designating the new, from the old. Members;—which it is our intention to do, as soon as we have all the necessary information.

Several interesting communications on the subject of the late remarkable Contest for the County of Durham are under consideration. Some of those on the conduct of the Returning Officer are inadmissible from their over-violence—for, however much we may have reason to condemn his proceedings, as the whole of his conduct will be inquired into by a competent Tribunal—it would be improper in us to create an unfair bias by any premature exposure of facts regarding his inexplicable conduct.—How a man who is neither a Freeholder, nor an inhabitant, of the County in which he has exercised so high a ministerial function, came to be recommended, is a question quite too delicate, mysterious, and important for us to answer—although we may probably indulge the inquirer, at some future period, with a few remarks on this head.

This number of the paper being nearly made up, before his return, Mr. Fothergill's address of thanks and congratulation to the Independent Freeholders of the County of Durham—cannot appear until next week.

The Speech of His Majesty on the prorogation of the Imperial Parliament, has just reached us, and will be read with that lively interest and satisfaction which the certainty of national prosperity cannot fail to create. Most fervently do we pray that the people of this country will cultivate those feelings of content and attachment to the Constitution so powerfully recommended by our illustrious and beloved Monarch, which He so well knows how to appreciate, and on which not only our individual happiness, but the high station which the British Empire holds among the nations of the world, does indeed, so mainly depend.—A never to be sufficiently praised Constitution; which should be the study of every man in Canada—(the only Colony in the world blessed by its possession,) as the only sure foundation of lasting greatness.

SELECTIONS FROM BRITISH AND FOREIGN JOURNALS.

Biographical Curiosity.—It is asserted that the greatest characters the world has known, have arisen from obscure origin. The following list in proof of this assertion, might be greatly enlarged and particularly by those who have been, or now are, eminent in the United States. Diagoras was the son of a forgeman; Virgil of a baker; Horace of a freedman; Theophrates of an old clothesman; Rosseau, the poet, of a shoemaker; I. J. Ramsden was a watchmaker; Rollin the historian, of a cutler; Massinello of a tanner; James Cook a very indigent peasant; Shakespeare of very poor parents; Benjamin Franklin of a tallow chandler, and himself a printer; James Munroe was the son of a mason; Richardson was a confectioner; Ben Jonson was the son of poor young man of genius. Through the means of industry, perseverance, of good habits, every obstacle to the road of ever lasting fame has often been surmounted. If a young man of talents resolves to be eminent, and pursues the requisite course, he will become eminent.

FROM THE LONDON MEDICAL ADVISER.

Nervousness.—Nothing is more common with people who are and are habitually melancholy, than to feel, as they say, "a sinking" in the breast, a heaviness in respiration and frequently a pain. These symptoms are produced from depressed spirits.—What is the first symptoms of a depression of the mind?—A sighing which is no more than an involuntary exertion of the respiratory muscles to keep themselves free from the weight newly imposed upon them; or, in other words, from the sluggishness which the nerves supplying life to the heart, lungs, and great blood vessels, are disposed to. If this first cause (grief) continues, this sluggishness will follow, and therefore heavy sighing, still increasing as it goes on. The digestive organs—stomach, liver, and spleen, being supplied with nerves from nearly the same branches, are also oppressed—that is, the nerves do not so powerfully convey life to the blood. There acts upon the nervous system, and indigestion and disease is the consequence. No wonder to Carrick; but Caulfield persuaded Hickey not to separate from then that men under affections of the mind become diseased. So him. After the consultation, Caulfield re-joined the first, and suffered with undisturbed composure. A more minute account of great a sympathy exists between the brain, the organs of digestion, and the circulation, that some ancient philosophers supposed the seat of the soul to be the stomach.

The par vagum, or eight pair of nerves, is the largest that comes out from the brain, and this descends to supply the stomach with life and feeling; while the parts immediately surrounding the stomach are supplied with nerves from the spinal marrow.—The brain itself communicates with the stomach directly. Hence affections of the mind in most cases operate upon the stomach—grief, joy, anger, at the strong passions seem to derange it at once. Who has not observed, that after the receipt of a sudden agreeable family favours to eat; in like manner, if a child be punished any thing delightful to it—such as to be taken to the play, the stomach does not crave supply.

Convenient and valuable remedy.—The season has returned when bilious complaints and disorders arising from debility will be found to prevail, and bilious cholic: and for the summer complaint of children. It is specific. If taken in time; the quantity may be increased at pleasure, without the least danger. Every family should be provided with a supply, ready for the moments, as it often happens that a person is suddenly and violently attacked, perhaps in the night, when it is extremely inconvenient if not impossible to prepare it.

Skaneateles.—Grand Trunk, or Trent and Murray Canals.

The additional tunnel through Hardcastle Hill, was commenced last month. It is calculated to occupy the labor of five years, during which several hundred of men must be employed. The expense has been estimated at a guinea an inch, for the whole distance being about one mile and three quarters, or 2880 yards, which alone will make 103,680 guineas. The total expense has been calculated at a quarter of a million sterling. Shafts will be sunk, and steam engines erected for raising the earth, &c at different points of elevation—the deepest of which will be seventy yards in depth from the surface of the hill. The Grand Trunk Canal was begun in 1667 and finished in 1777, and such is the richness of the Company and the interest of the Canal, that the cost is no object compared to the advantages to be gained.—Letter from New Monthly Magazine, for June 1824.

The new Canal is about 130 miles in length, and crosses a hill of 642 feet by 75 locks, and has also a by one tunnel though Hardcastle Hill, 2-88 yards in length, 9 feet wide and 12 feet high, another of French Grass hill, of 1241 yards, and at Barnsley, 572 yards at Salterwood another of 350 yards, and at Preston Brook, 1200 yards.

It has several reservoirs to feed the summit, covering together about 200 acres and there are a number of Fly locks, the boats use no fly reel 1 log and 6 feet wide and the locks 7 of which 11 are to rise 7 feet each.

The rates of tonnage are a penny halfpenny per ton per mile, and the articles carried in general are coals, salt, lime stone, lime, gypsum, slate, and agricultural products. The shares, originally £50 each, sold as high as £2000 each, in May, 1824.

Extraordinary Dream.—Frederick Caulfield was tried for murder before the Lord Chief Justice, Sir George Caulfield, July 25th, 1759, and executed on the 5th of August following. The principal evidence against Caulfield was Adam Rogers; a man of good sense and repute, who kept a public house in Portsmouth. Caulfield, a half pay officer from Waterford in Ireland, Hickey, a journeyman carpenter, had left his business in company with Hickey, the murdered person; but in one of new shoes which Hickey wore, had been on the feet of Caulfield when apprehended, and a pair of old shoes worn by the latter, were on the feet of the deceased. He also described their appearance and clothing with great precision. On his cross examination, Caulfield asked him shrewdly, whether it was not extraordinary that he, who kept a public house, should take so particular notice of the dress of strangers who only called there? Rogers acknowledged he had a particular motive, but resisted to explain it. On being urged, he called upon Mr. Browne, a respectable Roman Catholic Priest, to testify, whether he had not related to him a remarkable dream several days before Hickey and the prisoner had come to Waterford. The priest was ordered to detail the particulars of this dream, and Rogers declared that his wife should be questioned on the same head. She was separately examined and gave the dream nearly as Mr. Brooke rehearsed it, as she also affirmed, that when Hickey and Caulfield came to the house, her husband ran to the inner room, desiring her to take notice that three men were the slaves of their avarice, but that one of them was destined that night to be murdered in his bed, by a traveller. Rogers had been impressed with Hickey to rest for a day, and that he would accompany him to Carrick; but Caulfield persuaded Hickey not to separate from his friend, and gave the dream another turn, which so pleased the latter, that men under affections of the mind become diseased. So him. After the consultation, Caulfield re-joined the first, and suffered with undisturbed composure. A more minute account of this remarkable dream of the perpetration of the crime proven, cleared, will be found in Ackerman's Repository of the Arts, for March, 1824.

DEATH OF MADAME RIEGO.

On Saturday last, Donna Maria Theresa del Riego y Riego, widow of General Don Rafael del Riego y Riego, died at her residence—No. 14, Seymour place, little Chelsea.

This Lady, whose fortunes have so deeply interested public sympathy, was the daughter of Don Miguel del Riego y Florez. She was born on the 10th May, 1800, in the town of Tineo, capital of the district of the same name, in the province of Asturias, and was the eldest of seven children, having at the time of her death their brothers and three sisters living, all of whom were separated from her by the calamities of civil war, except one sister, Donna Lucia, whom neither peril nor privation could distract from the exercise of that regard and attention which she was able to manifest under every trial.

In her infancy, Donna Riego was adopted as an object of peculiar care and affection by her maternal grandmother, with whom she resided in the village of Puna; and to her year the child was obliged, together with himself and the rest of his family, to follow from place to place on the mountains of Asturias, to avoid by from place to place on the mountains of Asturias, to avoid by the incursions of the French Armies. Her father and mother united to her early youth; and in some such years after she lost her affectionate relatives she had adopted her, upon which the care and guardianship of herself, and the other six children, devolved upon the near connection and relation, Don Miguel del Riego, Canon of the Cathedral of Oviedo, in which city he resided, and they with him.

On the 15th October, 1821, she was married by proxy, according to the custom of the country, at Cangas de Tineo, to the affianced husband of whom she was known from her infancy. In February, 1822, they fixed their residence in the city of Madrid, but the political confusion and continued agitation of the time, rendering it necessary to the health of the general proceeded with her, in the month of September following, to Grenada, with the view of effecting the re-establishment of her constitution by a residence in a more southern climate.

During the short but extraordinary Cortes for October, 1822, they returned to Madrid, and continued to be its inmates again! He placed her only for a short time, as he often previously had done, under the guardianship of his brother-in-law, Don Joaquin Freire, a Member of the Cortes, who conveyed her to Madrid, a short time previous to the calamity of its atmosphere. Donna Riego, Grenada, continued in the Cortes, and returned to Madrid, with her attached suite. Donna Lucia and the Canon, to the Capital of Andalusia, and accordingly she embarked, together proceeded to England, and accordingly she embarked, together with her attached suite. Donna Lucia and the Canon, to the Capital of Andalusia, and accordingly she embarked, together with her attached suite. Donna Lucia and the Canon, to the French Channel in the 17th of August.

It was not the month for her to expect that now, at least, she sufferings would find some rest; but the visitation that impended over her was still more calamitous than all that had preceded it. Bereft of parents, separated from her relations, a fugitive from her native land, her anxieties still found a stay in the consoling hope, that she should, some day or other, enjoy the society of her husband as the reward of her more fortitude. Never was there disappointment more terrible or severe belming. It is not necessary to detail the persecutions of her husband, or the consummation which concluded them. Suffice to say, that within three months after her arrival in London, the sanguinary act was perpetrated which extinguished every present consolation and future hope. The account of his death reached on the 15th November. Her poor frame could no longer rally or resist; she wasted and withered daily, under the corroding influence of a restless decline, and at length closed her unhappy course in the embraces of her sister, attended by her devoted protector, the estimable Canon, and several distinguished and faithful Spaniards, who had, to the latest moment, enjoyed the confidence, and adhered to the fortunes of her husband, and never failed in proofs of respect, attention, and regard towards the widow.

Some few days previous to her dissolution she intimated to those around her an anxious desire to execute a testamentary document, and on the 12th last she duly made her last will. In this instrument she not only arranges her private affairs, but furnishes additional proofs of unabated attachment to her native land and solicitude for its happiness. She does ample justice to Great Britain, and directs her Executor, the Canon, to assure the British people of the gratitude which she felt towards them at her dying moments, for the sympathy and support which they extended to her in the hours of her bitter adversity, but what makes the will peculiarly affecting is her solemn and impressive though somewhat obscure attestation to the purity and sincerity of the political life of General Riego, for she states that she esteems it to be her last act of justice and duty to the memory of her beloved husband, solemnly to declare, in the awful presence of her GOD, before whose judgment-seat she feels she must soon appear, that all his private feelings and dispositions respecting his country corresponded with his public actions and profession in defence of its liberties.

Thus perished, in her youth, this amiable and accomplished lady, the story of whose life abounds with incidents of melancholy interest. All those whose feelings or opinions are worthy of consideration will readily extend to her memory the tribute of respectful sympathy.

London Paper, June 22d.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

ONE DAY LATER FROM ENGLAND.

(From the Commercial Advertiser.)

The ship William Penn, arrived at Philadelphia on Monday, bringing Liverpool papers to the 15th, and London to the 25th—being one day later than our preceding advices —We lay before our readers the following items, together with the Speech from the Throne, at the prorogation of Parliament.

LONDON, June 25.

Prorogation of Parliament.—At 12 o'clock, the passage from Whitehall to the House of Lords, was completely stopt by carriages.

By half past 12 the benches appropriated to the ladies were completely occupied; many stood in the passages. The front benches, on both sides, were for the most part reserved for Peers —The display of splendid dresses, elegant plumes, and every variety of ornaments, was brilliant in the extreme. There were about 300 ladies in the House.

A few minutes before one o'clock, the Lord Chancellor entered at the lower door, and proceeded, slowly, in full robes, to the wool sack.

The Bishop of Chester immediately read prayers—Dr. Carr took the oaths and his seat as the Bishop of Chichester.

The Peers continued to enter in their robes. —The twelve Judges took their places on the wool sack.—The Duke of Yorkappeared a few minutes before two. The Ambassadors of the several Powers were stationed at the end of the Bishop's benches.

At twenty minutes past two o'clock, the firing of guns announced the arrival of His Majesty.—The ladies immediately leaped upon the benches, and every eye was directed to the entrance to the right of the throne.—At half past two, His Majesty took his seat on the throne, wearing the crown on his head.

The folding doors were then thrown open for the Commons, when two Speaker entered, accompanied by Mr. Canning and the other Ministers, and followed by a great crowd of Members. The rush was so great that many members cried out for "Order." A cloud of dust was thrown along the House.

The Speaker then addressed His Majesty. He commenced by stating that the House of Commons had attended to all the recommendations of His Majesty's Speech, at the opening of this Session.

In relieving the burthens of the people, two courses had presented themselves to their view, either a direct repeal of direct taxation, or to disencumber the trade of the country from the impediments which restricted it, and which were condemned by enlarged and enlightened views of policy.

With the view of removing these restrictions such alterations had been made in our commercial laws as they hoped would improve the great national resources of this country. But they had never lost sight of the necessity of proceeding cautiously in breaking down a system, which however impolitic, had been the growth of ages.

They had found it their painful duty to re-enact the Insurrection Act in Ireland, not with the vain hope of its curing the evil, not concealing from themselves its harshness and severity, and not as a permanent measure, but such as the pressure of the existing emergency rendered necessary, not only for the protection of the innocent, but in mercy to the guilty.

It would ill become him to detain His Majesty by more minute details of their proceedings. He had only to express a hope that the conduct of his faithful Commons would meet with the gracious approbation of His Majesty.

In conclusion he tendered the appropriation bill, to which, and to several bills, the royal assent was given.

His Majesty then delivered the following gracious Speech.

"My Lords and Gentlemen,

"I cannot dismiss you from your attendance in this Session of Parliament, without returning you my warmest acknowledgements for the diligence and assiduity with which you have applied yourselves to the several objects of public interest which have been submitted to your consideration.

"I deeply regret the painful necessity under which you have found yourselves of renewing for a further period, measures of extraordinary precaution in Ireland. I entirely approve of the inquires which you have instituted as to the true nature of the evils which have long disturbed a part of that country, and I have no doubt you will find it expedient to renew them in another Session of Parliament.

"I continue to receive from Foreign Powers, the strongest assurances of their disposition to preserve their friendly relations with this country, and you may rely on the continuance of my efforts to maintain the peace of Europe, and to extend the commercial relations of my subjects.

"Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

"I thank you for the supplies which you have granted me for the service of the present year, and more especially for the great liberality with which you have provided for the interests of religion and for the maintenance of the splendour of the Crown.

"I am fully sensible of the advantages which may be justly expected from the relief you have afforded to some of the most important branches of the national interests."

"My Lords and Gentlemen,

"I have the greatest satisfaction in repeating my congratulations to you on the general and increasing prosperity of the country, I am persuaded that you will carry with you to your respective counties the same spirit of harmony which has distinguished your proceedings, and that you will cultivate amongst all classes of my people those feelings of confidence in the laws and attachment to the Constitution, on the continuance of which, under Providence, depends not only their individual happiness, but the high station which this country holds among the nations of the world."

The Lord Chancellor then declared the Parliament prorogued to Tuesday, the 24th day of August next; and his Majesty withdrew in the same form as he entered.

It was stated some time ago, in the newspapers, that Mr. Macready was about to quit the sock and buskin for the church; but if the following paragraph from the York Herald be true, it would appear that he has chosen the bar.—"Granby Inn, Harrogate.—We understand that the purchaser of this well established and excellent Inn, which was lately advertised for sale in the York Herald, is no other than the celebrated Mr. Macready, of theatrical notoriety."

The Valeria frigate has arrived in England from Mexico, with $800,000 specie, and an Ambassador from the Mexican Government.

A loan for one million, sterling, to the Buenos Ayres Government, was negotiating.

The Bank Directors have come to the resolution of lending money at the rate of 4 per cent, on Government Securities or on Bank Stock. The advances on Government Securities will be to the amount of three fourths of the market value and for a period of not less than one month, nor more than six months.

This circumstance and the pacific intentions of the Continental powers, announced in the King's Speech, have improved the funds. Consols for Act. 93¾.

The Globe and Traveller of June 25th says, we are assured from a high source, that a loan to the Government of Buenos Ayres will make its appearance in the money market in a few days; it is stated to be for one million sterling, 6 percent interest per annum, to come out at about 85. The same paper says there are letters from Madrid of the 13th of June, from which we learn that the most frightful anarchy continues to reign in that city. From the 9th to the 13th not less than 400 persons were arrested at night upon suspicion of treasonable intentions: but the greater part were released on the morning of the last named day. The king was seriously indisposed in the early part of June, and was visited by several of the leading Ecclesiastics, but he continued obstinate in encouraging the serviles in their resistance to the orders which the ministry, under compulsion of the French Authorities, had given for the amelioration of the condition of the Constitutionalists and the general improvement of the provincial Governments. Ferdinand was closely guarded by a mixed body of French and Spanish royal guards, the latter of whom were chosen chiefly from the sons of the wealthy clergy.

It seems that the difficulties that have arisen in Egypt do not prevent the Viceroy from endeavouring to induce artisans and mechanics to settle in that country. Such is the protection he affords to manufacturers, that he gives 4,500 and even 6000 francs a years to printers of calicoes. These advantageous terms have induced printers without work in the Department des Bouches du Rhone to go to Egypt, and they are waiting at Marseilles for a favourable wind in order to set sail.

MISCELLANEOUS.

From the (London) New Monthly Magazine,

FOR JUNE.

LETTERS FROM THE EAST.

GRAND CAIRO.

Not far from the city, on the way to the Desert, is the burial-place of the Mamelukes, the most splendid cemetery in Egypt. Here repose the Beys, with their followers, for many generations. The forms of the tombs are various and fantastic, and often magnificent; over the sepulchres rise domes which are supported by slender marble columns, and some of these are finely carved.—The tombs of the Caliphs are a mile and a half in another direction from the city, amidst the sand; they are beautiful monuments in the elegant and fantastic style of the Arabian architecture, and are in a very perfect state of preservation. They are built of fine lime-stone, and are fifty square buildings, with domes and minarets; some of the latter are of exquisite workmanship.

One day I met a marriage-procession in the streets, conducting a young Egyptian bride to her husband. A square canopy of silk was borne along, proceeded by several friends and slaves, all women, and three men followed with the tambourines and pipe. Two female relatives, who walked beside the bride, held the canopy over her; she was shrouded from head to foot, so closely and ungracefully, that not the least beauty of figure was discernible, and a thick white veil concealed her features, two holes only being left for her dark eyes to look through. Beneath this coarse exterior the richest dresses are often worn; but all is secred, both form and feature, and splendid attire, till arrived in the harem of the bridegroom, when the disguise is suddenly thrown off, and his impatient looks are least painfully or delightfully on his dear unknown This procession moved at a very slow pace to the sounds of the music, and the lively cries of joy of the women.

Grand Cairo is encompassed by a wall, which is about ten miles in circumference, and of great antiquity. Mount Mokatam stands near the city, of which, and the whole country, it commands a most extensive prospect. This mountain is of a yellow colour, and perfectly barren. Beneath, and in a very elevated position, is the citadel, which is of great extent, and in many parts very extensive. This fortress is now more famous for the massacre of the Mamelukes Beys, than for any other event—The Mamelukes force in Cairo consisted of from five to ten thousand choice troops, commanded by their various Beys. It was a novel and splendid spectacle to a stranger to view the extensive, the rich accoutrements, and capital horsemanship of the Mameluke beys, which were exhibited every day in the great square of the citadel. The chiefs and Mahmoud were constantly jealous of each other; he longed to curtail or destroy their power, and they dreaded his unprincipled ambition. After this state of affairs had lasted a great length of time, and various attempts to establish a good understanding or false friendship, the Pacha professed the most entire and cordial reconciliation. terms of amity were agreed on, and he invited the Beys to a splendid banquet in the citadel. The infatuation of these unfortunate men was singular, in trusting to the profession of one whose faithless character they knew so well. It was a beautiful day, and the three hundred chiefs, on their most superb coursers and in their costliest robes, entered the long and winding pass that conducts to the citadel. This pass was so narrow as to oblige each horseman to proceed singly, and broken and precipitous rocks rose on each side. The massy gate of entrance of the pass was closed on the last Mameluke, and the long file of chiefs; in their pride and splendour, wound slowly up the winding of the defile, proceeding slowly to the gate of the citadel, which was the last shut. From behind the rocks above occasioned, which was the last shut. From behind the rocks above ocpassed at once a fire of musketry so close and murderous, that the unhappy chiefs gazed around incredulity; they drew their pistols, and as their coursers pressed on, fell beneath their wounds, sunk on the ground, and shriek as he sank on the ground, each Bey was heard to utter a wild shriek as he sank on the ground, and in a short time all was hushed. Mahmoud heard from his seat in the citadel the tumult and outcries; and never were sounds more welcome to his ear. This massacre completely broke the power of the Mamelukes; the remains of their chiefs the tro-pol fled from Cairo. A second place of treachery of the same kind was afterwards executed by Ibrahim, the Pacha's eldest son; by the most solemn promises he persuaded those fugitives to descend from a mountain where they had taken refuge in an almost close all was hushed. Mahmoud heard from his in Upper Egypt, and most likely from another motive, he instigated another hundred young men, afterwards governor of Ramia in Palestine, told us the tale during our audience of him, of that scene of murder and treachery, when, turned in on all sides by Ibrahim's numerous forces, after most of his comrades had fallen, by a few more cut his way through the ranks of the enemy, and escaped. The death of the Beys at Cairo, however cruelly achieved, was the only means of confirming the power of Mahmoud, which was continually disturbed by their plots and jealousies.

In one of the streets of this city daily stand a large number of asses for hire; immediately on entering it, you are assailed and besmued in by the keepers on every side, each recommending his own animal. They are handsome little creatures, of a spirited and different breed from those of Europe, with elegant saddles and bridles; many are of a pure white or black colour, and they are used by all ranks, and go at a rapid rate. You pay so much by the hour, and the Arab master, with a long stick in his hand, runs behind or beside you. It is amusing enough to gallop in this way through the crowded streets of Cairo, at one time avoiding, by the dexterity of the Arab, a tall camel, or a soldier mounted on a fine charger, at another jostling foot passengers, or encountering numbers alike mounted with yourself, while the Arab adroitly and gallantly all the time to clear the way

In the citadel is a celebrated well, which goes by the name of Joseph's Well; it is near three hundred feet deep, and twenty or thirty in circumference. The descent to it is by a long winding gallery, and you arrive at every turning with men and cattle conveying the water above The water is raised by means of large wheels, which are worked by buffaloes; it must have been a work of prodigious labour to execute, for the rock from which it descends is the solid rock. This hall of Joseph is also above in the citadel, but the pillars which support it are evidently of Arabian architecture; the granaries of the patriarch, where he deposited the Egyptians' corn, we could not see, as the Pacha had made a store-house of them.

The consul-general gave me a letter to M. Cerisi, a French man, who had resided some time at the Pyramids, where he was most ardently engaged in discovering discoveries. M. C. came to Cairo one day from his desert abode, and invited me where I should return with him. We set out soon after two o'clock, the heat being intense. We crossed the Nile to the village of Gizeh; the direct road to the Pyramids is only ten miles; but the inundation made it near twenty, and obliged us to take a very circuitous course—yet it was a most agreeable ride, over barren and sandy tracks, woods of palm and sycamore, and over barren and sandy tracks, without a vestige of population. Fatigued with heat and thirst, we came to a few cottages in a palm wood, and stopped to drink of a fountain of delicious water. In this northern climate, ingenious as we are, we have no method of drinking in Egypt like—little appetite for food is felt, but when, after crossing the burning sands, you reach the rich line of woods on the brink of the Nile, and pluck the fresh limes, and, mixing their juices and rind with Egyptian sugar and the soft river water, drink repeated bowls of lemonade, you feel the only other pleasure of the senses most similies in Scripture, where the sweetest emotions of the heart are compared to the assuaging of thirst in a sultry land.

The Nile, in its overflow, had encompassed many villages and single groups of trees, and was slowly gathering round cottage and grove and lonely palm. Its fantastic course was beautiful, with many green isles of every possible form, and flowering on the wave, above his form; here a hamlet seemed floating on the wave, above which hung the foliage and fruit of various trees, the stems being moulded beneath; there it was veiled with the Desert, whose hills at sand, rocks, and ruins of temples, looked like so many mountains of the ocean in the watery waste. We passed every long excavations, erected over the flat roof to preserve a passage amidst the inundation; and the sun set as we entered on the long expanse of soft sand, in the midst of which the Pyramids are built. The red light reigning for some time on their enormous sides, produced a fine effect; but a long while we seemed at no great distance from them, but the discovery of their size on the flat expanse of the Desert long mulled us, and it was dark before we arrived.—As we drew near, we heard the loud voice of welcome from the Arabs, who came out of the apartments of the rock on which the Pyramids stand, and surrounded us. We ascended a narrow winding path to a long and low chamber in the rock, that had formerly been a tomb. Here M. Caviglia, his assistant M. Spicerte, a Greman, and myself, sat down on the long sofa, and supped on some boiled fowl and Nile water; and, having well refreshed, some boiled fowl and Nile water; and, having well refreshed, some of the Arabs placed a small light in the walls of this antique abode, and, throwing myself on my hard bed of reeds, I tried to obtain some sleep; yet the novelty of my situation, the thought of being at last on the spot which long interested me, and the fatigue I had undergone, prevented which long interested me, and the fatigue I had undergone, prevented sound slumber, made it long a stranger to my eyes.

The next morning, at sunrise, we took our coffee at one of the natural windows of this cavern, that looked over the plain. My servant, who had followed the day before with the tent, lost his way, and did not arrive till midnight; and here, unable to find either dwelling or inhabitant, he wandered about the Pyramids, shouting and firing his pistols, till at last he lay down in one of the deep holes in the sand, and sheltered himself till sunrise. In the course of the day we visited the tombs of M. C.'s excavations; they are small, and beautiful gateway of fine white stone, covered with heiroglyphics, and of so fresh a colour that it seemed but lately erected. Descending about sixty feet, we entered several subterraneous apartments, one of which contained a large coffin of fine, silky basalt, the lid of the same; some little idols only were found in them; there was also a very curious square room, or place of tombs, the walls covered with figures, discovered by Mr. Salt. M. Caviglia is at present engaged in what would be generally considered as a most hopeless undertaking: he believes that there is a subterraneous communication between the Pyramids of Gizeh and those of Saccara and the remains of Memphis, the former fifteen miles off, the latter a few miles nearer. He has no sanguine of success in his attempts to discover it, and, indeed, has proceeded some length in his excavation of the sand; but even if the work of years before him were he can effect his object, though it is probable he will make some valuable discoveries by the way. A man must be animated by no slight enthusiasm to live in this place of desolation, deprived of all the joys of civilized life, feeding like a slave with forty or fifty Arabs from daybreak to sunset amidst rocks, sands, and beneath burning heats. About two or three hundred yards from the great Pyramid is the Sphinx, with the features and breast of a woman, and the body of an animal; the human parts are after was formerly held; but or thirty feet in height, and about sixty from the ear to the paw. The features are much mutilated—its expression is evidently Nubian — The dimensions of the head are very large, and it being almost buried in the sand with sand. The highest point is due to M. Caviglia's indefatigable exertions to clear the sand from the breast and body of the Sphinx. This work employed him and his Arabs during six weeks; the labour was extreme, for the wind, which had set in from the north-east, blew the sand back again nearly as fast as they removed it: and he is now proceeding to uncover the whole of the figure. Evening now drew on, and the labour of the day being finished, we seated ourselves at a humble table in the door of the place of tombs, which opened on the right, a small tribe of wandering Bedouins, who had just arrived, had pitched their tents; the camels were standing beside, the fires were lighted, and the Arab masters moved about in their wild and picturesque drapery—the only scene of life in that vast solitude. We were to set out at day-break next morning on our return to Cairo; and having taken leave of the Frenchman and his companion, I lay down for the last time on my bed of reeds in the tomb; but every effort to compose myself to sleep was useless —a thousand agitating thoughts prevailed into my mind, scenes of past life returned again, but clothed in dark and distorted colours, and my future journey seemed full of appalling difficulties and perils, the intense heat, and fatigue of the day, with the loneliness of my wild resting place, and the wild Arabs around me, all conspired to banish sleep, but ceased this. I quitted my gloomy bed, and went into the open air; the desert plains and the wide and gathering waters of the inundations were bright with the most vivid moonlight. How deeply interesting and sublime was the scene! All the Pyramids rose clear and distinct, walls. The vast plain of the Pyramids rose clear and distinct, from the first plain of sand as they seemed to rest on the blue field in the splendid heavens! the solemn sound was no longer heard in the desert! Memory will ever forsake those Egyptian scenes, but on this it will linger, should all others fade. Pursuing my way over the soft sand I reached the nearest branch of the overflows, and, the night being excessively warm, I plunged once more in the Nile, a luxury that well supplied the want of sleep. The next morning we set out for Cairo. After quitting the barren tracts, the ride became very agreeable. The palm trees were loaded with large clusters of dates. This fruit is among the people of Egypt, with whom it is an universal article of food; when ripe, it has a sweet and insipid taste, but when dried and preserved in lumps, after the stones are extracted, it is extremely good.

It is interesting to observe the different ways these people have of irrigating the land. Sometimes a buffalo is made to turn a large wheel which is covered all round with a number of pitchers, into which the water being drawn up from beneath, is poured out again, as the wheel turns round, into a small channel; and in the south, and this channel conveys it into various interior is with masses of stones and marble. The few chambers hitherto discovered bear no proportion whatever to the vast extent of the interior. So immensely strong is the fabric, and so little do they appear injured by the lapse of more than three thousand years, that one cannot help believing, when gazing at them, their duration can end only with that of the world.

The celebrated seraphagus which Dr. C. fancifully supposed to have contained the bones of Joseph, stand in the great chamber; it has been much injured by the various pieces struck off by the Grand Cophagus, the passage into which Mr. Belzoni has explored, stands near that of Cheops, but cannot be ascended. The Pyramids stand on a bed of rock a hundred and fifty feet above the Desert, and this elevation contributes to their being seen from a great distance. On one of the days of my stay here the sun shone so violently from morning to night, that the sand was raised, though not in clouds, yet in sufficient quantities to penetrate every thing, and render it difficult to stand against it; my tent, which was pitched in the plain below the rock, was more than I could bear up my abode in the place of tombs—The large chamber excavated in the rock, and inhabited by Belzoni during his residence of six months here, is close to the Pyramid of Cephrenes; it is very commodious and lofty, and of considerable extent. On entering the door, the only place through which the light is admitted, an immense number of bats rushed out against us. All the various apartments and temples in this country are peopled with these animals, which Belzoni countervened to get rid of by lighting large fires in each of which sulphur was burned. On my visit one evening to the Arab Santon, or Dervise, who lived in a handsome and spacious chamber, that was formerly perhaps a tomb, excavated out of the rock, not far from the great Pyramid; he was a man of about 60, of a mild and handsome countenance, and much beard. His wild and singular retreat was divided into two rooms; he was seated cross-legged in the outer one, and appeared engaged in meditation; but he instantly rose, and requested me to allow him to make some coffee for me. Coffee and a visit from a Santon in a tomb this night long for me. Coffee and a visit from a Santon in a tomb this night long for me. Coffee and a visit from a Santon in a tomb this night long through the fields. Or an Egyptian, half naked, stands all day long in the burning sun on the river's bank at a simple machine of wood, to the ends of which a couple of buckets is suspended, these he incessantly lowers into the stream, and then pours the water into the small canals cut in his ground. The inundation does not extend over the whole of the flat cultivated land, as that it is necessary, by these sluices and irrigations, to distribute the water every where. When the inundation has subsided and been absorbed in the earth, a rich black mould is left, which requires little labour. No plough is known here; but, a small furrow being made in the earth, by a stick, the grain is dropped in, and the most abundant crop soon starts up, as if by magic.—There are two harvests, one in March, the other in October. In the way we met an Arab funeral; about twenty men, friends of the deceased, advanced under a row of palm trees, singing in a mournful tone, and bearing the body; they walked two or three abreast, with the priest at their head; and, having forded a stream in front, passed close to us. The corpse was that of a woman, neatly dressed in white, and borne on an open bier, with a small awning of red silk over it.

The market at Cairo, or place where the Circassian woman may be purchased, cannot fail to be interesting, though at the same time requisite to a stranger's feelings. These unfortunate women, as we term them, though it is a doubt if they think themselves so, are bought originally of their parents who are generally peasants, by the Armenian and other merchants who travel through Georgia and Circassia. Their masters procure them an education, as far as music and singing go, give them handsome clothes, and then sell them in private to the rich Turks, or bring them to the market at Cairo, where, however, the business is conducted with tolerable decorum. The lady, habited handsomely, and as best becomes her figure, and veiled, is attended by the merchant whose property she is, and may be seen by the person who wishes to become a purchaser. The veil is lifted, and the beauty stands exposed. This is better, however, than a Turkish lady, who, on the bridal evening, for the first time perhaps, draws aside the shroud of her charms, and throws herself into her husband's arms, when he may revolt with horror from his own wife, perceiving the amazing loveliness he had not guessed, thus changed into a plain, yellow, and faded aspect. But the Georgian style of beauty is rich and joyous, and their dark eyes:—there are no eyes like them in the world. The stranger then casts his eyes over the figure, the hand and foot: a small and delicate hand is, with the Orientals, much valued even, the best acquisition of possessing it. He demands the lady's accomplishments, if she sings or is skilled in music, in this case the price is greatly enhanced; a thousand or fifteen hundred pounds sometimes given for a lovely woman so highly gifted.

One day, in company with another traveller, I paid a visit to a rich Jew, one of the first merchants in Cairo. He received us in a handsome apartment, to which a flight of steps ascended.—The floor was covered with a rich carpet, and the divan, elevated a couple of feet higher, was lined with soft cushions, and laid out for luxurious enjoyment. A lofty dome of glass lighted the chamber. We reclined on the divan with the master of the house; and a few words from us was another and more interesting party; six Oriental ladies, all unveiled and richly dressed, were at dinner, and seated in a circle on soft cushions on the floor round a low table also of a foot high. The lady of the house, a handsome young woman, was just recovered from her confinement, and this was the first day of her receiving her friends. They sat and conversed much at their ease, and took the same sweetmeats, and a pleasant drink like sherbet. The husband told us he and his bride were married at the age of fourteen, and they were then six and twenty, and had a houseful of children. Remarkable! blessings to the Jews, that would have ended, with a devout look; but, he is a Jew, he invoked nobody, but looked very resigned about it. The ladies having finished their repast, each of them had a Turkish pipe, six or seven feet long, brought; and putting the mouth-piece in an easy position, the amber mouth-piece between their lips, and the bell of the pipe resting on the carpet, began to smoke, sip coffee, and chat at intervals. The custom of smoking in the East is very different from that in our country, the tobacco is so very mild and sweet, that it does no injury to the breath; and it is often used as a luxury by the women; and the tube of fine amber would not disgrace any lips; and the attitude, when holding the long chibouque, or flexible argile, displays to advantage a beautiful arm.

The cruel punishment inflicted on the Eastern ladies for infidelity with a Christian is sometimes resorted to on the Bosphorus, the latter may escape by turning Mussulman, but the lady is tied, clad in sacks of stone, and thrown into the sea, or placed in a boat at midnight on the Bosphorus, a sack of stone at the feet, the river lonesome, and a solemn plunge, amidst the silence of the night, announces that all her miseries are over.

ANECDOTES.

Mr. Pitt's plan when he had the gout, was to have no fire in his room, but to load himself with bed clothes. At his house at Bayes he slept in a long room at one end of which was his bed, and his lady's at the other.—His way was, when he thought the Duke of Newcastle had fallen into any mistake, to send for him and read him a lecture. The Duke was sent for once, and came, when Mr. Pitt was confined to his bed by the gout.—"I here was as usual, no fire in the room; the day was very chilly, and the duke as usual, afraid of catching cold. The Duke first sat down on Mr. Pitt's bed, as the warm st place; then drew up his legs into it, as he got colder. The lecture unluckily continuing a considerable time, the Duke at length fairly lodged himself under Mr. Pitt's bed-clothes. A person, from whom I had the story, suddenly going in, saw the two ministers in bed, at the two ends of the room, while Pitt's long nose and black beard, unshaved for some days, added to the grotesque of the scene.

The Earl of Shaftesbury, the author of the Characteristics, when Lord Ashley, and soon after, being seated in the House of Commons proposed to make a speech in support of "the Act for granting Counsel to prisoners, in cases of High Treason," When he rose to deliver his sentiments, he was so intimidated as to be unable to express himself. The House cheered him, and recovering from his confusion, he very happily converted into an argument in favour of the Bill, the difficulty and embarrassment of his own situation. "If I, Sir," said he, addressing the Speaker—"if I, who rise only to offer my opinion on the bill now depending, am so confounded, that I am unable to express the least of what I proposed to say, what must the condition of that man be who, without any assistance, is pleading for his life?"

Lord Exeter invited a large party of friends one day, among whom was the celebrated David Garrick. Mr. West, the late President of the Royal Academy happened to be there, to whom Garrick talked respecting his art. In the course of the conversation, Mr. West asked our great actor how he liked the cartoons which were then at Hampton Court? Mr. Garrick owned that they had not struck him so forcibly. Mr. West expressed considerable surprise at hearing this, observing that at least the action of those pictures had not riveted the attention of so just, so profound an actor.—He insisted, particularly, that of Elimas the sorcerer. Mr. Garrick preferred, he said the well-known figure of Belisarius. Mr. West, upon this, requested that Mr. Garrick would indulge the company by acting a blind man, as he was convinced nature would speak her genuine language in his acting, though he suspected his criticism. After dinner Roscius, with little preparation, assumed the walk of a blind man. When he had advanced into the room some paces, Mr. West desired that he would suddenly stop, and not alter the direction of either his body, arms or legs. "Now, Sir, look at your attitude. Your fingers, you observe, are not spread; your feet are in a straight direction; and if any thing, your toes a little introverted. This unusual walk of yours is the result of natural impulse, guarding against impediments. I have further to tell you, Sir, that the attitude you are now standing in, is precisely that of Elimas, the sorceror. So accurate interpreters of nature are Raphel and Garrick." Some time after this, Mr. Garrick, in town, invited nearly the whole party to dine with him. "Mr. West," said he, "you remember our difference about the cartoons; I have studied them every day since. You threw a new light upon my mind; I have acquired another sense, and am convinced that nature and Raphel are the same.—"At least you have proved," returned the painter, "that was the Garrick of our art."

Much interest has been excited by the accident which has befallen Miss Stocks, the adventurous aerial traveller. We are happy to hear that she is out of danger—being so we may, perhaps, be permitted to observe, that even in the present age of fluctuations, we never remember to have seen Stocks rise so high, and all so suddenly, in the same short space of time before.—John Bull.

Domestic.

THUNDER STORMS.

These visitations have been here more frequent and more destructive this year than for very many years past. They appear to have extended to the Atlantic, and through the United States. We have lately heard of several vessels being burned by lightning, and have heard of many more which have been struck by it.—It is probable that they are regulated by the temperature of the atmosphere, which has been more uniform in this than in other years, attended with mildness in the last winter, and chill this summer, and not approaching as usual either extreams of cold or heat.

On Saturday evening last a thunder cloud from a high approached the City from the north-east, and discharged itself in two very loud peals of thunder about seven o'clock. The air was perfectly overcharged with the fluid, and almost every house in the more elevated parts of the City appears to have been affected by it. The electric matter descended the conductors of the French Cathedral, and entered the Church by the windows, several panes of which it broke. At the other extremities of the City it struck several buildings. It entered the chimney of a house belonging to Mr. C. Hoffman, at the end of St. John's Suburbs, occupied by Mr. Lane, of the Provincial Secretary's Office, and shattered the wall of the north gable, destroyed several window sashes, and struck Mrs. Lane, who wore some steel in her corset, and severely injured her; from which she however has recovered. It entered the house of Mr. J. Gingres, in the rear of the English burying ground, shattered the floor and beams; an individual lighting the fire escaped unhurt. On Mr. Bell's Wharf it descended along some tin shingling, entirely shattering the south end of the store which it is said was at one time on fire. Several persons in that neighbourhood very narrowly escaped. It struck a house in Parlour Street; and in Champlain Street, at the foot of the stairs leading from Mountain Street, it communicated to the ear-ring of a young lady, and descended along her body: she remained for a long time insensible, and has now recovered after much suffering.

In many other houses it was violently felt. During the storm a mass of stone of many tons' weight was detached from the Cape near pres de-ville, which in falling fortunately did not meet with any house.

It appears also to have been felt at Point Levi; and at l'Ancienne Lorette it demolished a house belonging to one Robitaille, affecting a boy so much that it is doubtful whether he will recover.

The late accidents from the same cause, and the general distribution of the electric matter throughout the City, created a very general alarm, and has led every body to look for protection against similar visitations. Neilson's Gazette.

INQUEST.

Yesterday morning about seven o'clock, Henry Gibson, second mate of the Bark Arethusa, which arrived lately with Stores for Government, was unfortunately drowned between the Vessel and the King's Wharf. The Bark lies at about forty feet distance from the Wharf and the crew were employed in beginning to construct a slope from the vessel to the wharf, for the purpose of landing the cargo.—The slope is formed by laying two spars from the bark to the wharf, upon which planks are placed crossways, forming a broad and very safe passage from the one to the other. At the time of the accident one spar only had been placed, upon which the deceased, with another man, of the name of James Douglas, attempted to pass from the vessel to the wharf; when they had advanced about half way the spar, which was unsteady, partly turned with them, and precipitated both into the river.—Three or four boats were manned in a moment, and went to their assistance; they succeeded in saving Jas. Douglas, but the Mate had sunk ere they could reach him. The body was found about three hours after. The deceased was a native of North Shields, about thirty years of age, and a man of excellent character. The verdict was "accidentally drowned." We are informed that Douglas who was fortunately saved is also a mammoth respected by his Captain, who proposes appointing him second mate in the place of his unfortunate companion.—Quebec Mercury.

On Friday last, a passenger on board the Team boat plying from the foot of the Current St. Mary to Longueil, from motives of curiosity to inspect the machinery thrust his body too far, when part of the works laying hold of him, in a moment severed his head from the body.—Montreal Gazette.

DIED.

In London, on the 17th June, the Right Honourable Lord Henry Thomas Howard Molyneux, brother to his Grace the Duke of Norfolk.

PRINTED BY CHARLES FOTHERGILL
GAZETTE OFFICE.

Upper Canada Gazette.

New Series.

VOL. III. YORK U. C. THURSDAY SEPTEMBER 2d, 1824. No. XXXVI

By Authority.

UPPER CANADA.

P. MAITLAND,
Lieut. Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

TO OUR Beloved and Faithful Legislative Counsellors of our Province of Upper Canada; and to our Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses of our said Province, to the Assembly at our Town of York, on the Ninth Day of August, instant, to be Commenced, Held, Called and Elected, and to every of you—GREETING:

WHEREAS, for certain arduous and urgent affairs Us, and the state of our said Province, concerning, at our said Assembly, at the day and place aforesaid, to be Held, We have Ordained you by our separate Writs at the Town and day aforesaid, to be present, for the purposes therein mentioned. Nevertheless for certain causes and considerations Us thereto especially moving, our said Assembly at and upon the Ninth day of August instant, We have thought proper to Prorogue, so that you nor any of you on the said Ninth day of August instant, at our said Town to appear, are to be held or constrained. For We do will that you and each of you be as to Us, in this matter entirely exonerated; Commanding, and by the Tenor of these Presents firmly enjoining you and every of you, and all others in this behalf interested, that on Thursday the Sixteenth day of September next ensuing, at our said Town of York personally you and every of you be and appear to treat, do, act, and conclude upon those things which in our said Assembly by the Common Council of our said Province, by the favour of God may be Ordained.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed.—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces in North America, at York, this Second day of August, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty-four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign. P. M.

By His Excellency's Command.
JNO. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.
D. CAMERON, Secretary.

Upper Canada.

P. MAITLAND,

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come—GREETING:

WHEREAS by Proclamation bearing date the Fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventeen, our trusty and well beloved FRANCIS Gore, Esquire, late our Lieutenant Governor of our Province of Upper Canada, by and with the advice of the Executive Council thereof, and by virtue of the Authority in him vested in that behalf, did declare and appoint the Port of Kingston, otherwise commonly called the Port of Bath, within the Midland District of this Province, to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for all Goods and Merchandize, not being expressly prohibited and for the payment of all Duties, Liable to be paid on all Goods and Merchandize brought into this Province from the United States of America:

AND WHEREAS by a certain Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdoms of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the Third Year of our Reign, entitled, "An Act to Regulate the Trade of the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, and for other purposes relating to the said Provinces," it is among other things Enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the Governor Lieutenant Governor, or person Administering the Government of either of our said Provinces respectively, by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council thereof for the time being, from time to time to diminish or increase, by Proclamation, the number of Ports or places, which then were, or thereafter might be, appointed in such Provinces for the Entry of Goods, Wares, and Commodities, imported from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS it appears expedient for the avoiding expence in the Collection of our Revenue, that the said Port of Kingston shall no longer be a Port of Entry and Clearance.—NOW KNOW YE, that by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of our Province of Upper Canada, We have thought fit to declare, and do hereby declare, that from and at the date of this our Proclamation, the said Port of Kingston shall cease to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the purposes aforesaid, and shall be and remain, as if the said Proclamation hereinbefore recited, and appointing the same to be a Port of Entry and Clearance, had never been made.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed.—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York this Twentieth day of March, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign. P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,
D. CAMERON, Secretary.
JNO. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

Crown Office, York,
July 15th, 1824.

EASTERN CIRCUIT, 1824.

MR. JUSTICE CAMPBELL.

Assizes, at	Cornwall on	Monday	9th Augt.
Do	Perth,	do	23d do
Do	Brockville,	do	6th Sept.
Do	Kingston,	do	20th do

HOME CIRCUIT.

MR. JUSTICE BOULTON.

Do	Niagara,	Wednesday	4th Augt.
Do	Newcastle,	do	6th Oct.
Do	York,	do	18th do

WESTERN CIRCUIT.
CHIEF JUSTICE

Do	Sandwich,	Wednesday	19th Augt.
Do	Vittoria,	Monday	30th do
Do	Gore,	Wednesday	8th Sept.

No. 29.—1 f.

MILITIA GENERAL ORDERS.

Adjutant General's Office York, U. C.
12th August, 1824.

HIS Excellency the Lieutenant Governor is pleased to Order that the Militia residing in the Township of Albion, Chinguacousey, Caledon, and the Gore of Toronto, be formed into a Regiment, and named the Second Regiment of West York Militia.

HIS Excellency is also pleased to make the following Promotions and Appointments in the Militia Forces, viz.—

SECOND REGIMENT OF ADDINGTON.

	Commission dated.
Lt. Col. W. J. McKay, to be Colonel.	12th August, 1824.
Major Colin McKenzie, to be Lt. Colonel.	do do do
Captain George Macauley, to be Major.	do do do

HIS EXCELLENCY is pleased to permit a Troop of Cavalry to be raised within the limits of this Regiment and attached thereto.—Colonel McKay will be pleased to recommend for His Excellency's consideration, such Officers and Gentlemen as he may think most eligible to hold Commissions in the Troop.

SECOND REGIMENT OF PRINCE EDWARD.

Lieut. Col. Owen Richards, to be Colonel.	12th August, 1824.
Major James Young, to be Lieut. Colonel	do do do
Captain David Segar, to be Major.	do do do

SECOND REGIMENT OF WEST YORK.

The Hon. John. Henry Dunn, to be Colonel	do do do
Captain Samuel P. Jarvis, from the 1st Lincoln, to be Major.	do do do

FIRST REGIMENT OF LINCOLN.

To be Captains.

Lieut. Henry Pawling, vice G. A. Bell, who has left the District.	do do do
Lieut. Adam Brown, vice Powers, do do.	do do do
Lieut. Wm. L. Smith, vice Jarvis, do do.	do do do

To be Lieutenants.

Ensign George Fields, vice Pawling promoted.	12	do	do
Ensign Wm. Woodruffe, vice Brown, do.	13	do	do
Ensign James Wilson, vice Smith, do.	14	do	do

To be Ensigns.

Joseph Butler, Gent. vice Fields promoted.	12	do	do
Peter Ten Brook, jun Gent. vice Woodruffe, do.	13	do	do
Francis Gore Swazey, Gent. vice Wilson, do.	14	do	do
James Muirhead, Gent. vice McBride, do.	16	do	do

To be Adjutant with the rank of Lieutenant.

Ensign Edward McBride, vice Thorner left the District. 14 do do

FOURTH REGIMENT OF GORE.

Lieut. Colonel John Chisholm, from the 2d Gore, to be Colonel. 12 do do

Major Wm. Chisholm, to be Lieut. Colonel, vice Wishart deceased. do do do

FIRST REGIMENT OF NORFOLK.

To be Captains.

Captain John Kirkpatrick, from the 2d Norfolk.	12	do	do
Captain Walter Nichol, from the 3d Lincoln.	do	do	do
Francis L. Walsh, Esquire	13	do	do

To be Ensign.

Ensign Joseph Tisdale, from the 2d Norfolk. 12 do do

SECOND REGIMENT OF NORFOLK.

Lieut. Colonel George C. Salmon, to be Colonel, vice Nichol deceased. 4th May, 1824.

Major Isaac Gilbert, to be Lieut. Colonel. do do do

By Command of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor.

N. COFFIN.

Adjt. Genl. Militia Forces.

GLEBES.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in Council, having taken into consideration the system hitherto practised, of Granting Licences of Occupation for GLEBE LANDS, is pleased to Order, that in future the Glebes in the several Townships, with the exception of One Lot in each Township, for the accommodation of the Incumbent, shall be Leased on the same terms as Clergy Reserves.

NOTICE is therefore given to those Persons who hold Licences of Occupation for any of the said Glebe Lots, that the same will not be Renewed; and unless they do make application, by Petition, for Leases in the usual manner, through the medium of the Corporation for superintending the Clergy Reserves, before the Twenty-ninth day of September next ensuing, the Lots so held by Licence of Occupation will be Leased to other Applicants.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office,
York, 29th April, 1824. 19—tf.

Executive Council Office
York, 14th April, 1824.

NOTICE is hereby given, to Jabez Johnson, or his Representative, to make good any claim he may have to Lot Number Two, in the Seventh Concession of the Township of Louth, in the District of Niagara within six months from this date, in default of which, the Lot will be otherwise disposed of.

By order of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor in Council.

JOHN SMALL.
Clk. Ex'v. Council. 17—6m.

Executive Council Chamber,
York, 31st January, 1824.

PRESENT,
HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
IN COUNCIL,

HIS Majesty's Government having recently extended their assistance to the class of Emigrants, which it was intended to relieve by gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres of Land, in conveying them to their respective locations:

IT IS ORDERED, that from the first day of May next, no gratuitous Grants be made of any quantity of Land to other than privileged persons.—And that as the Fee on Two Hundred Acres was raised, in order to defray the gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres the consideration failing, the future Fee on Two Hundred Acres is reduced to Eight Pounds Four Shilling and One Penny Sterling; the existing Fee before 1819, and the Fee on all other Grants, in Townships Surveyed since that time, to be the same as established by the Order in Council, of 5th January, 1819.

N. B. Possessors of gratuitous Grants for Fifty Acres, may, by paying the Fee on One Hundred Acres, receive a Grant of the adjoining Fifty Acres if vacant.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Ex'v. Council.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL CHAMBER,
AT YORK, 26th JAN. 1824.
PRESENT;
HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
In Council.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR submitted to the consideration of the Board, the Sheriffs' Reports of their respective Gaols, together with other Documents relating to a Winter Circuit, by which it appeared that the House of Assembly had addressed His Excellency to that effect, for this Session only; and obviously for the Delivery of the Gaols in the several Districts.

THE limitation of such a measure to one season seeming to militate with the Provision of the Law, that when the Communication from the Seat of Government admitted, and the circumstances of the Province required, there should be a regular Second Circuit, the Board would prefer to recommend that Special Commissions to deliver particular Gaols should issue where requisite; but, as the respective Reports from the Sheriffs do not, in the opinion of the Board, require any unusual interposition, His Excellency, with advice of the Council, postpones a Second Circuit until the circumstances of the Province more decidedly require it.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Executive Council.

Executive Council Office,
York, February 7th 1821.

WHEREAS it has been represented, that many persons who have received Locations of Land, have, from Sickness, and other legitimate causes, been unable to fulfil the Settlement Duty, in the time required by the Location Ticket, and have neglected to apply to His Excellency in Council for an extension of the period, for performance of such duty.

BE it Known that the period for completing the Settlement Duty, is hereby extended to Two Years from the date of Locations until further notice shall be given.

JOHN SMALL. Clk Ex. Coun.

WHEREAS by the Tenor of the Location Tickets a Certificate is required to be lodged of the Settlement Duty being done within two Years, or that the said Location should be forfeited, and in case of Locations not gratuitous, that one third of the Patent Fee be lodged with such Certificate; AND WHEREAS it is represented, that in many instances, Certificates of performance of the Settlement Duty, have been withheld from the inability of the settler to deposit such proportion of the Patent Fee, it is deemed expedient to relieve the settlers from forfeiture of his location, when he may actually have performed his settlement duty—Notice is hereby given that in all cases where Settlement Duty has been performed within the limited period, the settler shall, on filing Certificate thereof within six Months of this date, be exempted from forfeiture notwithstanding the non-payment therewith of such portion of the Patent Fee, provided the Patent is sued out within One Year from the filing of such Certificate.

And further; His Excellency, in the hope of avoiding the necessity of rescinding any of the Militia grants, is pleased to direct this Public Notification; that all Lands granted to Militia Men, upon which the Settlement Duties shall not have been performed within the limited period, will in pursuance of general instructions given to the Surveyor General in all similar cases, be declared vacant, and will be granted within Six Months after the expiration of that period, to the first applicant, unless the Original Nominee, shall before such subsequent application, have lodged a Certificate of his having performed the Settling Duties.

JOHN SMALL, Clk. Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office,
York, 7th Nov. 1821.

WHEREAS it has become expedient to establish a line of communication through certain remote Townships, for encouragement thereof, Grants will be made to actual Settlers in the Townships hereinafter named on the condition of Settling within two years from the date of the Location, at the reduced Scale of 5th January, 1819, viz.

A Township North of Mariposa, advertised from the Surveyor General's Office on the 19th of October, as Zeta, to be called Eldon

N. of Epe		Fenelon
N. of Emily advertised as	Emir	Verulam
N. of Smith	Lake	Harvey
E. of do.		Douro
N. of Asphodel	Alma	Dummer
N. of Seymour	Mora	Belmont
N. of Dummer	Yea	Burleigh
N. of Marmora	Ninia	Lake
N. of Madoc		Tudor
N. of Ebzever	No	Grimsthorpe
N. of Kaladar	Aye	Anglesea
N. of Kennebec	Jus	Barrie
N. of Norma	Olden	Clarendon
N. of Oso	Et	Palmerston
N. of Belmont	Carlos	Methuen

JOHN SMALL, C. E. C.

Government House, 6th March, 1820.

HIS Excellency the Lieutenant Governor is pleased to direct that no Location requiring Settlement Duty shall be Confirmed by Patent, without a Certificate from the Land Board of the District in which such Location may be situate, that the Settlement Duty required by the Order in council has bona fide been performed within the time specified by the Location Ticket.

JOHN SMALL Clk. C.

To Militia Pensioners, Notice

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that Payment of Militia Pensions for the year 1824, will commence from this date.
Militia Pension Office, York, 15th July, 1824.
EDWD. M'MAHON.
30.—13 w. Agent for Paying Militia Pensions

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Newcastle District, } BY Virtue of a Writ of Fieri
To wit. } Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, at the Suit of Mr. Peter McGill, and against the Lands and Tenements of John D. M'Kay, I have taken in execution as belonging to the said John D. M'Kay, the following Lands—viz:

No. 24 & 1-2 23 4th Con. Darlington		300
13 " do. 14. 3d Con. Clarke,	}	800
13 " do. 14 4th do do.

Acres 1100

Which I shall sell and adjudge to the highest bidder on Monday the 9th Day of Aug. next at the House of Mr. Peter Orcutt, in Cobourg.—The Sale to commence at 12 o'clock in the Day at noon, and sold for cash only.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
By EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Cobourg, }
1st. February, 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any claim to the above named Property by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office, on or before the day of Sale.

☞ The sale of the above Lots No 24 and half of 23 in the 4th Concession of Darlington, is postponed until the 29th day of September next, at the same place and hour.

JOHN SPENCER,
Sheriff.
EBENEZER PERRY
Dep'y Sheriff

Sheriff's Office, Cobourg, }
August 9th, 1824. 35—td.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Newcastle District, } BY virtue of a Writ of Fieri
to wit. } Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of Kings Bench, and to the Sheriff of the Newcastle-District directed, against the Lands and Tenements of David M'Gregor Rogers Esq. at the suit John Strachan, Thomas A. Dobbs, and Thomas H. Cartwright, Executors of the late Richard Cartwright, Esq. I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said David M'Gregor Rogers the following Lands, viz

S. half of Lot No 3 Broken Front, A.	}	330 Acres.
Lot No. 3 do. do. B.
Lot No. 3 do. do. C.
Lot No. 23 2 Concession,		200 do.
Lot No. 26 3 do		200 do.

of the Township of Haldimand, in the county of Northumberland, which Property I shall offer for sale at Public Auction, at the Inn now occupied by Mr N. W. Mack, in the village of Coburg, on the ninth day of February next at 12 o'clock, at noon.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff,
By EBENEZER PERRY, D'y Sheriff.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above described Premises, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber, on or before the day of Sale.

NOTE.—The sale of the above Lots, No. 3, Concession A., B., and C, is postponed until the 5th day of October next at the same place and hour.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
BY EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Coburg, }
2d September, 1824. 14—td.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT.

H. M. Dock Yard, Kingston
17th August 1824.

NOTICE is hereby given, that Sealed Tenders will be received at my Office until Wednesday, the Sixth day of October next, from all persons willing to Contract for the safe transport of such quantities of Naval Store, Naval Ordnance Stores, Provisions and Baggage, as may be required to be forwarded from the following places, for the term of one year, and for a further Indefinite period, until six month's notice for the discontinuance of the Contract be given by one of the parties.

VIZ:—

From York to Holland Landing.—From Holland Landing to Kempenfeldt Bay, and from thence into the Naval Store House at the Head of the Rotha nasage River From Kempenfeldt Bay by the New Road into the Storehouses of His Majesty's Naval Depôt at Penetanguishine

The Tenders distinctly to express the rate per hundred weight (of 112lbs) at which the said Stores will be delivered, and are to contain the names of two competent Sureties for the due performance of the Contract; the said Tenders to be forwarded to my Office, addressed to the "NAVAL STOREKEEPER," and endorsed

"Tender for Transport,"

And the parties making the Tenders, or their authorized agents, are personally to attend at His Majesty's Dock Yard, Kingston, at one o'clock on the 6th day of October next, when the said Tenders will be opened and decided on.

M. B. MENDS
35—6w. H. M. Naval Storekeeper.

NOT OFFICIAL.

TO BE LET OR SOLD,

(And possession given at a short notice.)

THAT ELEGANT, and COMMODIOUS MANSION, Built, and lately occupied, by

A. N. McNABB, ESQUIRE.

Situated in King-Street, East, about half way between the Don Bridge and Town of York.—With a Large GARDEN, Spacious Yard, and every necessary Out-Buildings,—occupying altogether One Acre of Land.

The HOUSE is of Two Stories, besides the Ground Floor, and has the following Rooms and conveniences, viz:—A PARLOUR, DRAWING-ROOM, FOUR LODGING ROOMS, and DRESSING ROOM, STUDY, STORE-ROOM, SERVANTS ROOM, KITCHEN, BACK KITCHEN, CELLAR, LOFT, &c &c &c. Water is conducted by Pipes into the KITCHEN, where are the necessary FIXTURES.

Amongst the Out Offices, are, Stables, Harness Room, Cow House, Coach and Cart House, Bake and Smoke House, &c. &c.

The Garden, which contains more than half an acre of Land, has been lately well stocked with various kinds of valuable Fruit-Trees.

For Terms, and further particulars, apply to the U. C Gazette Office. t. f.

FOR SALE.

A very Superior London made
TELESCOPE,
(Imported by a Gentleman who has since returned to England, for his own use)
Prime Cost Thirty Guineas.
Also,—an excellent
NIGHT GLASS.
Prime Cost Fifteen Guineas.

For further particulars inquire at this Office.
1st Sept. 1824. No. 36—4 w.

NOTICE.

THE Plan and Estimate of a STEAM BOAT, (to be Built by Mr. AMOUS S. ROBERTS) about One Hundred Tons Burthen, intended to Ply between this Port and Niagara, may be seen at this Office—Her Engine is intended to be of Twenty Five Horse Power. The whole Cost is estimated at Two Thousand Two Hundred and Five Pounds Currency. She is to be Built by Stock, made up of Shares, of Twenty Five Pounds each. A few Shares are still wanting. Subscriptions for which will be received at this Office, and at the Office of the Niagara Gleaner, where Estimates and Conditions will be exhibited to those who wish to become Stockholders.

Gazette Office, York, } No. 35.—t. f.
August 26th, 1824. }

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the INHABITANTS of the COUNTY of MIDDLESEX, will make application at the next Session of the PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE by Petition, praying, that the said COUNTY may be erected into a seperate District.

24th July, 1824. 35—6w.

ELOPEMENT.

WHEREAS Catherine, my wife, has Eloped from my bed and board, without provocation, or just cause,—I hereby forbid all Persons whatsoever from harbouring, or trusting her on my account, as I will not be answerable for any debts she may contract whilst thus absent.

STEPHEN SMITH.
Whitby, August 23, 1824. 35—3w.

NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the Co partnership heretofore existing between JOHN and GEORGE MONRO, Merchants, of York, Upper Canada, was on the first instant dissolved by mutual consent.—All persons indebted to the said firm are requested to pay the amount of their respective accounts to Mr. WILLIAM P. PATRICK of this Town, without delay, who is duly authorized to receive the same—and all persons to whom the said Co-partnership stands indebted will present their accounts to him for adjustment.

JOHN MONRO,
GEORGE MONRO.
York, 17th August, 1824. 34—tf.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS hereby given, that a MEDICAL SCHOOL is opened at St. Thomas, in the Talbot Settlement, under the direction of CHARLES DUNCOMB, Esq Licentiate, and the immediate patronage of the Hon. COLONEL TALBOT, where the Education of young men for the Profession of Medicine and Surgery will be carefully superintended and every opportunity offered them to become intimately acquainted with the Structure and Physiology of the Human Body. Every Student before admission is expected to have a competent knowledge of the Latin Language or give satisfactory assurances of immediately acquiring it; for which purpose a competent teacher will be resident in the village.

CHARLES DUNCOMB, will give a course of Lectures on the Theory and Practice of Medicine.

JOHN ROLPH, is expected to give the first course of Lectures and Demonstrations during the ensuing season on the Anatomy and Physiology of the Human Body.

St. Thomas, Talbot Street, }
August 5th, 1824. 34—6w.

THE YORK ALMANACK,

AND

ROYAL CALENDAR

OF

UPPER-CANADA,

For the Year 1824.

Much Enlarged, and Improved from the Edition of last Year.

A FEW Copies of this Work being left on hand may now be had at half the usual Price, on application at the U. C. Gazette Office, York.

August 26th. 1824. t. f.

NOTICE.

VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE.

VIZ:—

In the Township of Vaughan

Lots No. 22, 23. 24, in the 7th Con. and Broken Lot No. 5, in the 10th Concession.	}	620 Acres.
Township of York
Lot No. 13. 5th Concession, and Broken Front West of Yonge Street on the Humber, West half of No. 15. in 2d Con. West of Yonge St.	}	380 Acres.
Township of Percy
Lot No 20. in 3d Concession.	}	400 Acres.
Lot No. 21, in 4th Ditto.

For particulars apply to Guy C. Wood, Esq Cornwall, or the Subscriber, in York.

R. G. ANDERSON.
19th July, 1824. 30—tf.

To be Lieutenants.

Ensign George Fields, vice Pawling promoted. 12 do do

Ensign Wm. Woodruffe, vice Brown, do. 13 do do

Ensign James Wilson, vice Smith, do. 14 do do

To be Ensigns.

Joseph Butler, Gent. vice Fields promoted. 12 do do

Peter Ten Brook, jun Gent. vice Woodruffe, do. 13 do do

Francis Gore Swazey, Gent. vice Wilson, do. 14 do do

James Muirhead, Gent. vice McBride, do. 16 do do

To be Adjutant with the rank of Lieutenant.

Ensign Edward McBride, vice Thorner left the District. 14 do do

FOURTH REGIMENT OF GORE.

Lieut. Colonel John Chisholm, from the 2d Gore, to be Colonel. 12 do do

Major Wm. Chisholm, to be Lieut. Colonel, vice Wishart deceased. do do do

FIRST REGIMENT OF NORFOLK.

To be Captains.

Captain John Kirkpatrick, from the 2d Norfolk. 12 do do

Captain Walter Nichol, from the 3d Lincoln. do do do

Francis L. Walsh, Esquire 13 do do

To be Ensign.

Ensign Joseph Tisdale, from the 2d Norfolk. 12 do do

SECOND REGIMENT OF NORFOLK.

Lieut. Colonel George C. Salmon, to be Colonel, vice Nichol deceased. 4th May, 1824.

Major Isaac Gilbert, to be Lieut. Colonel. do do do

By Command of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor.

N. COFFIN.

Adjt. Gen. Militia Forces.

GLEBES.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in Council, having taken into consideration the system hitherto practised, of Granting Licences of Occupation for GLEBE LANDS, is pleased to Order, that in future the Glebes in the several Townships, with the exception of One Lot in each Township, for the accommodation of the Incumbent, shall be Leased on the same terms as Clergy Reserves.

NOTICE is therefore given to those Persons who hold Licences of Occupation for any of the said Glebe Lots, that the same will not be Renewed; and unless they do make application, by Petition, for Leases in the usual manner, through the medium of the Corporation for superintending the Clergy Reserves, before the Twenty-ninth day of September next ensuing, the Lots so held by Licence of Occupation will be Leased to other Applicants.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office,
York, 29th April, 1824. 19—tf.

Executive Council Office
York, 14th April, 1824.

NOTICE is hereby given, to Jabez Johnson, or his Representative, to make good any claim he may have to Lot Number Two, in the Seventh Concession of the Township of Louth, in the District of Niagara within six months from this date, in default of which, the Lot will be otherwise disposed of.

By order of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor in Council.

JOHN SMALL.
Clk. Ex'v. Council. 17—6m.

Executive Council Chamber,
York, 31st January, 1824.

PRESENT,
HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
IN COUNCIL.

HIS Majesty's Government having recently extended their assistance to the class of Emigrants, which it was intended to relieve by gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres of Land, in conveying them to their respective locations:

IT IS ORDERED, that from the first day of May next, no gratuitous Grants be made of any quantity of Land to other than privileged persons.—And that as the Fee on Two Hundred Acres was raised, in order to defray the gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres the consideration failing, the future Fee on Two Hundred Acres is reduced to Eight Pounds Four Shilling and One Penny Sterling; the existing Fee before 1819, and the Fee on all other Grants, in Townships Surveyed since that time, to be the same as established by the Order in Council, of 5th January, 1819.

N. B. Possessors of gratuitous Grants for Fifty Acres, may, by paying the Fee on One Hundred Acres, receive a Grant of the adjoining Fifty Acres if vacant.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Ex'v. Council.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL CHAMBER,
AT YORK, 26th JAN. 1824.
PRESENT;
HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
In Council.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR submitted to the consideration of the Board, the Sheriffs' Reports of their respective Gaols, together with other Documents relating to a Winter Circuit, by which it appeared that the House of Assembly had addressed His Excellency to that effect, for this Session only; and obviously for the Delivery of the Gaols in the several Districts.

THE limitation of such a measure to one season seeming to militate with the Provision of the Law, that when the Communication from the Seat of Government admitted, and the circumstances of the Province required, there should be a regular Second Circuit, the Board would prefer to recommend that Special Commissions to deliver particular Gaols should issue where requisite; but, as the respective Reports from the Sheriffs do not, in the opinion of the Board, require any unusual interposition, His Excellency, with advice of the Council, postpones a Second Circuit until the circumstances of the Province more decidedly require it.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Executive Council.

Executive Council Office,
York, February 7th 1821.

WHEREAS it has been represented, that many persons who have received Locations of Land, have, from Sickness, and other legitimate causes, been unable to fulfil the Settlement Duty, in the time required by the Location Ticket, and have neglected to apply to His Excellency in Council for an extension of the period, for performance of such duty.

BE it Known that the period for completing the Settlement Duty, is hereby extended to Two Years from the date of Locations until further notice shall be given.

JOHN SMALL. Clk Ex. Coun.

WHEREAS by the Tenor of the Location Tickets a Certificate is required to be lodged of the Settlement Duty being done within two Years, or that the said Location should be forfeited, and in case of Locations not gratuitous, that one third of the Patent Fee be lodged with such Certificate; AND WHEREAS it is represented, that in many instances, Certificates of performance of the Settlement Duty, have been withheld from the inability of the settler to deposit such proportion of the Patent Fee, it is deemed expedient to relieve the settler from forfeiture of his location, when he may actually have performed his settlement duty—Notice is hereby given that it all cases where Settlement Duty has been performed within the limited period, the settler shall, on filing Certificate thereof within six Months of this date, be exempted from forfeiture notwithstanding the non-payment therewith of such portion of the Patent Fee, provided the Patent is sued out within One Year from the filing of such Certificate.

And further; His Excellency, in the hope of avoiding the necessity of rescinding any of the Militia grants, is pleased to direct this Public Notification; that all Lands granted to Militia Men, upon which the Settlement Duties shall not have been performed within the limited period, will in pursuance of general instructions given to the Surveyor General in all similar cases, be declared vacant, and will be granted within Six Months after the expiration of that period, to the first applicant, unless the Original Nominee, shall before such subsequent application, have lodged a Certificate of his having performed the Settling Duties.

JOHN SMALL, Clk. Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office,
York, 7th Nov. 1821.

WHEREAS it has become expedient to establish a line of communication through certain remote Townships, for encouragement thereof, Grants will be made to actual Settlers in the Townships hereinafter named on the condition of Settling within two years from the date of the Location, at the reduced Scale of 5th January, 1819, viz.

A Township North of Mariposa, advertised from the Surveyor General's Office on the 19th of October, as

N. of Ep		Fenelon
N. of Emily advertised as	Emir	Verulam
N. of Smith	Lake	Harvey
E. of do.		Douro
N. of Asphodel	Alma	Dummer
N. of Seymour	Mora	Belmont
N. of Dummer	Yea	Burleigh
N. of Marmora	Ninia	Lake
N. of Madoc		Tudor
N. of Ebzever	No	Grimsthorpe
N. of Kaladar	Aye	Anglesea
N. of Kennebec	Jus	Barrie
N. of Norma	Olden	Clarenden
N. of Oso	Et	Palmerston
N. of Belmont	Carlos	Methuen

JOHN SMALL, C. E. C.

Government House, 6th March, 1820.

HIS Excellency the Lieutenant Governor is pleased to direct that no Location requiring Settlement Duty shall be Confirmed by Patent, without a Certificate from the Land Board of the District in which such Location may be situate, that the Settlement Duty required by the Order in council has bona fide been performed within the time specified by the Location Ticket.

JOHN SMALL Clk. C.

To Militia Pensioners, Notice

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that Payment of Militia Pensions for the year 1824, will commence from this date.
Militia Pension Office, York, 15th July, 1824.
EDWD. M'MAHON,
30.—13 w. Agent for Paying Militia Pensions.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Newcastle District, } BY Virtue of a Writ of Fieri
To wit. } Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, at the suit of Mr. Peter McGill, and against the Lands and Tenements of John D. M'Kay, I have taken in execution as belonging to the said John D. M'Kay, the following Lands—viz:

No. 24 & 1-2	23	4th Con. Darlington	300
13 " do.	14	3d Con. Clarke,	800
13 " do.	14	4th do do.

Acres 1100

Which I shall sell and adjudge to the highest bidder on Monday the 9th Day of Aug. next at the House of Mr. Peter Orcutt, in Cobourg.—The Sale to commence at 12 o'clock in the Day at noon, and sold for cash only.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
By EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.
Sheriff's Office, Cobourg,
1st. February, 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any claim to the above named Property by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office, on or before the day of Sale.

☞ The sale of the above Lots No 24 and half of 23 in the 4th Concession of Darlington, is postponed until the 29th day of September next, at the same place and hour.

JOHN SPENCER,
Sheriff.
EBENEZER PERRY
Dep'y Sheriff

Sheriff's Office, Cobourg,
August 9th, 1824. 35—td.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Newcastle District, } BY virtue of a Writ of Fieri
to wit. } Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of Kings Bench, and to the Sheriff of the Newcastle District directed, against the Lands and Tenements of David M'Gregor Rogers Esq. at the suit John Strachan, Thomas A. Dobbs, and Thomas H. Cartwright, Executors of the late Richard Cartwright, Esq. I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said David M'Gregor Rogers the following Lands, viz

S. half of Lot No. 3	Broken Front, A.
Lot No. 3	do.	do. B.	330 Acres.
Lot No. 3	do.	do. C.
Lot No. 23	2 Concession,		200 do.
Lot No. 26	3 do		200 do.

of the Township of Haldimand, in the county of Northumbrland, which Property I shall offer for sale at Public Auction, at the Inn now occupied by Mr. N. W. Mack, in the village of Coburg, on the ninth day of February next at 12 o'clock, at noon.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
By EBENEZER PERRY, D'y Sheriff

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above described Premises, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber, on or before the day of Sale.

NOTE.—The sale of the above Lots, No. 3, Concession A., B., and C, is postponed until the 5th day of October next at the same place and hour.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
BY EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.
Sheriff's Office, Cobourg, 14—td.
2d September, 1824.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT.

H. M. Dock Yard, Kingston,
17th August 1824.

NOTICE is hereby given, that Sealed Tenders will be received at my Office until Wednesday the Sixth day of October next, from all persons willing to Contract for the safe transport of [illegible] Naval Store, Naval Ordnance Stores, [illegible] Baggage, as may be required to be [illegible] following places, the [illegible] further Indefinite period, [illegible] the discontinuance at the [illegible] the parties.

From York to Holland [illegible] ding to Kempenfeldt [illegible]
val Store Houses [illegible]
From Kempenfeldt [illegible]
Storekeepers of the [illegible] gusline.

The Tenders [illegible]
dred weight (of 112lbs.) [illegible]

be delivered, and are to contain the names of two competent Sureties for the due performance of the Contract; the said Tenders to be forwarded to my Office, addressed to the "NAVAL STOREKEEPER," and endorsed

"Tender for Transport,"

And the parties making the Tenders, or their authorized agents, are personally to attend at His Majesty's Dock Yard, Kingston, at one o'clock on the 6th day of October next, when the said Tenders will be opened and decided on.

M. B. MENDS
35—6w. H. M. Naval Storekeeper.

NOT OFFICIAL.

TO BE LET OR SOLD,

(And possession given at a short notice.)

THAT ELEGANT, and COMMODIOUS MANSION, Built, and lately occupied, by

A. N. McNABB, ESQUIRE.

Situated in King-Street, East, about half way between the Don Bridge and Town of York.—With a Large GARDEN, Spacious Yard, and every necessary Out-Buildings,—occupying altogether One Acre of Land.

The HOUSE is of Two Stories, besides the Ground Floor, and has the following Rooms and conveniences, viz:—A PARLOUR, DRAWING-ROOM, FOUR LODGING ROOMS, and DRESSING ROOM, STUDY, STORE-ROOM, SERVANTS ROOM, KITCHEN, BACK KITCHEN, CELLAR, LOFT, &c. &c. &c. Water is conducted by Pipes into the KITCHEN, where are the necessary FIXTURES.

Amongst the Out Offices, are, Stables, Harness Room, Cow House, Coach and Cart House, Bake and Smoke House, &c. &c.

The Garden, which contains more than half an acre of Land, has been lately well stocked with various kinds of valuable Fruit-Trees.

For Terms, and further particulars, apply to the U. C. Gazette Office. t. f.

FOR SALE,

A very Superior London made

TELESCOPE,

(Imported by a Gentleman who has since returned to England, for his own use)

Prime Cost Thirty Guineas.

Also,—an excellent

SHORT GLASS,

Prime Cost Fifteen Guineas.

For further particulars, inquire at this Office.

1st Sept. 1824. No. 36—4 w.

NOTICE.

THE [illegible] a STEAM BOAT [illegible]
[illegible] Small to Mr. Aaron S. Rosseter, of [illegible]
[illegible] Esquire, [illegible]
[illegible] Mr. Rosseter [illegible]
[illegible] Small [illegible]
[illegible] Mr. Small [illegible]
[illegible] Mr. Rosseter

NOTICE.

ALL Persons indebted to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire, of Stamford, are requested to make immediate payment to the Subscriber at Vittoria, London District, and those having claims on the Estate, will be pleased to furnish him with their respective Accounts properly authenticated.

(Signed) WALTER NICHOL,
Administrator to the Estate of the Late ROBERT NICHOL, ESQUIRE

Niagara, 29th May, 1824.

NOTICE.

WANTED, for Fourteen Years, on the term Ten, a LOAN of TWO THOUSAND POUNDS, Halifax Currency, for the building of a PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH of ENGLAND, in the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada.

The Subscriber is authorized to offer Efficient Legal Securities for the Repayment of the LOAN, at the end of the period, and for the Annual Payment of the Interest accumulating thereon, at Six per Cent. per annum.

(By Order of the Committee.)
GEORGE O'KILL STUART,
19-tf. SECRETARY, pro tem.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

THE Board for the General Superintendance of Education, in this Province, give notice that the undermentioned Lands, reserved for the purposes of the Institution, are about to be disposed of on terms advantageous to purchasers; and that, after the sixteenth day of September next, applications may be addressed to Colonel Talbot, residing in the District of London, with respect to any Lands situate in that District, who is fully authorised to enter into any contracts for their sale, and to the Secretary of the Board, at York, with respect to any of the Lands situate in the other Districts.

School Reserves in the London District	Blandford, about . .	20,000
	Houghton, " "	19,000
	Middleton, " "	14,000
	Southwold, " "	17,000
	Yarmouth, " "	11,963
	Westminster, " "	9,237
Midland District, Newcastle do.	Sheffield, " "	56,688
	Seymour, " "	47,000

By Order of the Board,
JAMES GIVINS, Secretary.

York, 26th July, 1823. tf—31.

N. B. It is requested that all communications respecting the above Lands be post paid.

FIRE INSURANCE.

THE SUBSCRIBER having been appointed Agent in Upper and Lower Canada, for

"The Farmer's Fire Insurance AND LOAN COMPANY" OF NEW YORK,

is ready to insure against loss or damage by Fire, in Dwelling Houses, Stores and Buildings in general Merchandize, Household Furniture, and other Personal Property, at moderate rates of Premium.

This Company was Incorporated in 1821, with a Capital of Five Hundred Thousand Dollars, all paid in, and secured on Stock, Loans and Mortgages, and has subsequently by its liberality and promptitude in the settlement of Losses, fully secured the confidence of the public.—A List of its present Board of Directors is subjoined, which, on enquiry, will be found to comprise names of such respectability as amply guarantee that all engagements of the Company will be honourably fulfilled.

Applications for Insurance on Property not in the City of Montreal, should be accompanied with Plans, and a reference to some person in this place.

ROBERT ARMOUR, Agent.

Montreal, 20th May, 1824.

DIRECTORS.

John T. Chaplin	Benjamin Bailey
President.	John Johnson
Richard Harrison	Thomas S Townsend
James Magee	Francis Saltus
George Griswold	Frederick A. Tracy
Ben. Marshall	John S. Crary
Jos. D'Wolf Junior	Joseph S. Shotwell
Henry Wheaton	Wm Osburn
G L. Lewis	David S. Kennedy
James McBride	Henry Cary
A. H. Lawrence	Gideon Lee

No, 24—1 m.—6ms
A 1-95

FOR SALE.

LOT No. Two, in the First Concession of the Township of York, with the Broken Front, containing about Two Hundred and Forty Acres of Land.

Application to be made to
J. B. MACAULAY

York, 12th June, 1824. 25.—t. f.

NOTICE.

FOR SALE, by private Contracts, the House and Lot lately occupied by Mr. O'Sullivan, Saddler, King's-Street, in the Town of York, the Lot is 26 feet fronting King's-Street, by 112 feet deep.

Also.—A Lot adjoining the above on the West side, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—A Lot adjoining Mr. Duggan's, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—Three Lots on Stuarts Land, each 40, by 60 feet.

Should the above Property and Lots not be sold by Private Contract, the five last described Lots will be sold at Public Sale, on the first day of July ensuing.

Application for Terms of Sale, to be made to
ALEXANDER WOOD, ESQ.

YORK, 17th March, 1824. t. f.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Inhabitants of the Township of TOWNSEND intend Petitioning both Houses of the Provincial Legislature at its next Session, to pass a Law, Establishing a Line Surveyed in the year 1823, between the 12th and 13th Cons. of the said Township.

TOWNSEND, 20th May, 1824. } No. 21—1 m. t. d.

VALUABLE LANDED PROPERTY FOR SALE.

TWENTY-SEVEN TOWN LOTS, eligibly situated in the Village of Cobourg, in Hamilton, Upper Canada, on one of which, a Store and Dwelling House are erected.

Two Neat Small FARMS, contiguous to the above Village, containing, one, about Twenty-eight Acres, the other, about Fifty Acres, with a House and other Buildings on each of them.—A Plan of the above may be seen on application to Mr. J. G. BETHUNE, Cobourg, (who will shew the Premises,) or to the Subscriber.

Two TOWN LOTS in Picardville, adjoining to the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada, with Houses and other Buildings thereon, being Lots No. 21 and 22.

200 Acres of Land being No. 1, 8th Con. of Murray.

200 do do being No. 4, 4th do of Hungerford.

200 do do being No. 1, 8th do of Winchester.

200 do do being No. 24, 8th do of Mountain.

200 do do being the West halves of No. 31 and 32 in the 2d Concession of Hawkesbury.

Liberal Terms of Payment will be granted.

For particulars apply to
FRS. ANT. LAROQUE.

N. B. The above mentioned Town Lots in the flourishing Village of Cobourg, and the two adjoining Farms, will be disposed of by Public Sale, in the said Village on the 24th May next.

F. A. L. R.

MONTREAL, 15th March, 1824. t. f.

INTERESTING NOTICE.

THE Surveyor General begs leave to inform the Public, that he has obtained the permission of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, to publish a of the Province, on a large Scale. It is to be engraved in London, in the best style, and will be ready for delivering in a few months.

CORRECT MAP

This information, the Surveyor General thinks it necessary to make, in order to prevent those persons, who are desirous of having an authentic MAP of UPPER CANADA, from being imposed upon by a Surreptitious Copy, said to be on the eve of Publication.

Surveyor General's Office,
York, 2d April, 1823. } 14—tf

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the County of Prince Edward, in the Midland District, intend Petitioning the Legislature, at the next Session thereof, to have the said County set off, and made into a separate District from the said Midland District, and to be called the District of Maitland. No. 24—6ms.

TIMBER WANTED AT BURLINGTON BEACH.

OFFERS will be received until the 10th day of July next, by the Contractor, at Burlington Beach, —Also—by FRANCIS HALL, Engineer, Queenston, for delivering at the works—the following quantities of round and square

TIMBER.

59,000 Lineal Feet of White Oak Timber, Foot Square; in Length varying from 22 to 35 Feet,

37,490 Lineal Feet of 3 Inch White Oak Plank; 18 Inches in width—in Length varying from 12 to 33 Feet

36,400 Lineal Feet of Pine Timber, 12 Inches in diameter—in Length varying from 12 to 33 Feet.

Burlington Beach, June 22d. 1824

No. 28—t f.

THE

Canadian Annual Register.

UNDER THE PATRONAGE OF HIS EXCELLENCY,
SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. LIEU TENANT GOVERNOR.

To whom the Work is Dedicated by Permission.

AS the Projector and Editor of this Great National Work is confident of its ultimate success, if but a moderate share of encouragement is given to its outset,—he takes this opportunity of requesting those Agents of this Paper who have received the names of any Subscribers to the Work to transmit them, together with their address, without delay, to the U. C. Gazette Office, in order that they may be added to those already received in the larger Prospectus about to be issued.

The names and residences of the earliest patronsof this Great Undertaking, will be published, alphabetically arranged, in the first volume of the work, as a perpetual record of their liberality, public spirit, and sound patriotism.

It is again repeated, that no money will be demanded, until the work, which will not exceed the price of the meanest newspaper, is delivered.

A New Type is ordered from Great Britain expressly for this work.

U. C. Gazette Office,
November 20, 1823. }

TERMS
OF THE U. C. GAZETTE AND WEEKLY REGISTER.

FOUR DOLLARS per annum (Postage included) payable half year ly in advance. Three months notice is required previous to the discontinuance of any Subscription.

PRICE OF ADVERTISING,

Six lines and under, two shillings and six pence, and sevenpence halfpenny, every subsequent insertion.

Six to ten lines, five shillings, and one shilling and threepence subsequently.

All exceeding ten lines, four pence per line for the first insertion, and one penny subsequently.—Rule and Figure work charged Double.—A discount of 25 per cent. allowed to those who advertise by the year.—Advertisements cannot be received after 1 o'clock on the Wednesday afternoon immediately preceding the day of Publication.—Advertisements unaccompanied with positive directions as to the exact number of insertions to be given them, will be continued until expressly forbidden.—or until the day of Sale (if eluding to Sales) and charged accordingly.

☞ Advertisements from the Country must be post paid, with the price of insertion; or, a reference in Town who will pay when demanded, or discontinued.

☞ Any Agent obtaining 3 Subscribers has a paper for himself at half price;—if he obtains 6, he has his own paper gratis; —and, for as many as he obtains above 6, he will receive, besides his own paper, a Commission 5of per cent. upon the whole amount.

WEEKLY REGISTER.

VOL. III. Our endeavour will be to "stamp the very body of the time—its form and pressure"— we shall extenuate nothing, nor shall we set down aught in malice. No. 36.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 2d, 1824.

Editorial Commentary.

To the pastoral letter addressed by the present POPE, to his clergy, be an authentic document, it is an important one, and ought to be read with the deepest interest; as shewing that three centuries of religious toleration, in the most enlightened portions of Europe, and the glorious benefits resulting therefrom, to others, have been unable to bring about the slightest change in the Church of ROME.—We are no bigots, nor are we uncharitable in matters of faith, and mere opinion, but we do think that such a fact ought to be duly considered by those who advocate the cause of Catholic Emancipation in Ireland.—For, what can we think of that system which took with more, and worse, than jealousy on the spreading abroad of the sacred writings,—and the consistency of that Apostolic Church which, in practice, denies what its theory boasts—the calling of the unconcerned and the apostate to the salient spring, the only true fountain, of everlasting light and life?—How long will it be before the Head of the Romish Church, cries with the inspired son of AMOZ

"Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money, come ye, buy and eat: yea, come, buy wine and milk without money, and without price"—

Alas, we fear this document, to which we allude, proves such a period to be yet very distant!

Not having room for Mr. FOTHERGILL'S address to the FREEHOLDERS of DURHAM, in the columns of the Gazette, it is printing on a separate sheet.

SELECTIONS FROM BRITISH AND FOREIGN JOURNALS.

British Stocks, London, July 13.—Three per cents. Red 94 1 2. Cons. 93 3-4 French 5 per cents. July, 90 30

Crops.—In Great Britain and Ireland according to the last information the crops promised an abundant supply, and every thing wore the appearance of plenty.

Kirk of Scotland.—His Majesty's Government have voted an annual allowance of £12.000 for the purpose of raising the smaller livings of the Clergy of the Church of Scotland.

It is rumoured that Mr W Wynn will be the new Speaker in the event of a dissolution, and that the present Speaker will get a Peerage.

London.—The population of London at the last census was 1, 274,000, and it is said that workmen and materials cannot be had for the increasing improvements.

Parliamentary Papers.—The value of the produce and manufactures in the United Kingdom, exported from Great Britain, according both to the "real and declared value."

1821	–	–	£35,926 682
1822	–	–	36.176,896
1823	–	–	34 691,124

According to the official rates of valuation—

1821	–	–	£40,194,892
1822	–	–	43.558 488
1823	–	–	43 144,466

The value of the imports, according to the official rate of valuation (the real value of them cannot be obtained—the official rate shews the relation of one year to another),has increased.—It was in

1821	–	–	£29 724 173
1822	–	–	29 491 807
1823	–	–	34 514 215

The Foreign and Colonial Merchandize exported was in value, according to the official rates of valuation in

1821	–	–	£10 692 090
1822	–	–	9 211 967
1823	–	–	8 548 935

These statements relate to Great Britain, and exclusive of the trade to Ireland, which would add about a million to the exports and imports, and not affect the rate of increase and decrease.

The vessels registered in the British Empire on the 30th of September, 1821 amounted to – – 2,560 292 tons 1822 – – – 2 519 014
1823 – – – 2,506,709

The men employed in navigating them, in

1821	–	–	149.179
1822	–	–	166 333
1823	–	–	165,471

The Benefits of Free Trade.—The East India Company pay to their ships to and from China £22 to £27 per ton for the voyage. Last week, the Moffatt and Jullana, two teak built ships, were chartered under the new Act of Parliament to China, and back to the British settlements in North America, with teas, &c. at £10 8s. 6d. and £10 9s. 6d. per ton register for the voyage.

Death of the Queen of the Sandwich Islands.

The death of her Majesty Tamehamaha, consort of his Majesty Tamehamaha, the second King of the Sandwich Islands took place on the 8th of July. Her Majesty was quite sensible and composed. His Majesty took his last farewell about ten o'clock in the morning, previously to which she informed him that she was sensible she was dying, and was quite resigned. Their separation was truly affecting The immediate cause of her Majesty's death was inflamation of the lungs We are no less grieved for his Majesty's loss, as we understand, he has four more wives at home. The Courier adds:—"The mortal remains of the Queen were removed at five o'clock this morning. (12th) from Owhee's Hotel, in a hearse and six followed by some of the suite in a mourning coach, and deposited in a vault under St. Marlin's Church, where it will remain until removed for embarkation."

Death of the Chine e Lady.—To the death of her Majesty the Queen of the Sandwich Islands (says the Courier) we regret to add that of another female of Foreign lady, Yhou Fung Queen, who expired on Friday, July 9.

THE FANCY.

From the Cork Chronicle of July 14.

LANGAN AND SHELTON.

To the Editor of the Globe and Traveller.

SIR,—In consequence of the severe accident which has happened my father, I had determined to go immediately to Dublin, but was prevented from going until I should vindicate my character from the aspersions that some malicious person has cast upon it in this country (either English or Irish,) by which I am charged with dishonesty. No man fought under more disadvantages than I did. I had to travel nearly 300 miles and never slept, only while travelling post have; that I might be in time on the day of fighting at Chichester. I have now to inform Mr Shelton that I have put down fifty pounds in Mr. Spring's hands, and will fight him with six months from the date, as, in my opinion, to meet him sooner, would be unmanly on my part, in consequence of my father's very severe illness.

J LANGAN.

July 7, 1824.

[No man who saw the fight between Spring and Langan can for a moment suppose that it was any thing but a fair manly contest; many rounds before the close there were repeated cries of take him away, such was his beaten state We had no idea that any other opinion prevailed in Ireland.]—Globe and Traveller.

Remote Indians.—Some aborigines, natives of the territory beyond the Rocky Mountains, and the chiefs, it is said, of a population amounting to near 100,000 souls, have lately visited Washington, where they were received with attention, and pompand admitted to audiences with the President. They are very fine bodied men, possessing the good sense common to the natives of this continent, before their intercourse with the whites. Most of them had never seen other civilized persons than the traders.

DUBLIN, June 29

Ireland.—The Patriot says, "tranquility is generally increasing and through all parts of the country there never has been a greater prospect of an abundant harvest.

Steam Navigat on.—It is impossible to foresee the advantages which will result from the application of Steam to navigation, and as a moving power generally; we extract the following lines from the New York paper

"A company is forming in London to establish a Steam boat communication between Great Britain and the United States.—Rees Jeffreys, is of opinion that the project is practicable, and the passage could be made within twelve days."

Gourlay!—Mr. GOURLAY was released from his confinement on Thursday after Parliament was prorogued, but was brought to Hamilton-district, where Sir George Frothill and Dr Munroe, swore that he was a dangerous person of unsound mind and ought not to be suffered to go abroad.—He was then committed to the House of Correction, with directions to have every care taken of him Shocking!—As Mr. Henderson, his Britannic Majesty's Consul General to the Republic of Columbia, was lately proceeding by the river Magdalena to Bogota, accompanied by his family, on their arrival at Mompox, one of his sons, a fine promising youth, was induced to bathe, and in the act he was seized by an alligator, and immediately disappeared. A dog, that was swimming at the same time, met a similar fate.

Arrival of Gen. Fayette in the U. States.

The long expected event has taken place. The roar of artillery, and the long and reiterated cheers of thousands of freemen announce, that the Hero of the Revolution, the friend of the great Washington, has this moment set his foot on the soil of New York! We congratulate our city and the nation on this joyful occasion.—N. Y Spectator.

Mad dogs.—It is calculated, that during the terror of hydrophobia which has lately prevailed, not less than 2,500 dogs have been destroyed in Liverpool. At least an equal number have perished in Manchester and its vicinity; and the alarm has been greatly aggravated in that neighbourhood, by two or three deplorable cases of hydrophobia which have recently occured.

BOSTON, Aug. 14.

The Sea Serpent.—The Newburyport Herald informs us that the Sea Serpent was seen on Wednesday last, by Mr. Rogers, of Bristol county, a mile or two from Plum Island beach, with his family. They had a distinct view of him in different positions for more than half an hour. He came within thirty yards of them, and they had a distinct view of his head, which was shapedlike an ox's; and about two feet long. When he opened his jaws, they could see his teeth, which were white and two or three inches long. The two parts of his body, as much as thirty feet from his head, but did not see his tail.—Mr. R's general description of the animal is similar to that which has been repeatedly given.

Wool Trade.—We have received this morning Frankfort papers, and extract from them the following article of intelligence,

"STOCKHOLM, June 8.

"The following letter has been received from a Saxon merchant, now in L ndon:—

"What is the most sincere apprehensions for the interest of my country, I have to announce to you, that two gigantic projects are on the eve of execution here, which at a future period threaten to do infinite injury to the exportation of German wool to England. The Government, with the consent of the Parliament, has just made a present to a company, composed of a very large and short staple, a portion of acres of land in New South Wales, upon the express condition of sending thither, without delay, flocks of the same kind, and likewise with a large capital raised by shares, is now forming for the purpose of carrying into execution a plan in all respects similar to that in Van Diemen's Land, which the Government will at present direct with 500,000 acres of land. It is ridiculous that the climate and the pasturage of those large and beautiful islands are particularly adapted to the breeding of sheep. Agents are already gone to Germany and Spain to purchase sheep to the number of 50,000 or 60,000. Ships are already hired to convey them to their destination. It is intended to keep the operation a secret in Germany; but indications of it will be seen by the time this letter reaches you."

ON SCOLDING.

From the days of the Spectator to the present time, periodical writers have indulged in invectives against scolding, from an evident misconception of the true nature, principles, and practice of scolding. Nay, our ancestors were more to blame, because they went further, and, considering scolding as a crime, invented a punishment for it. Much light has never been thrown on the subject; but, as I have made it my particular study for the last five and thirty years, I hope I shall have it in my power to dispel the things to eradicate those unreasonable prejudices, which many gentlemen, of our own days, entertain against scolding.

The theory of scolding has been grossly mistaken; it is a disease, principally of the lungs, and when the noxious matter has been long pent up, it affects the organs of speech in a very extraordinary manner, and is discharged with a violence which, while it astonishes the patients, tends very much to disturb and frighten the beholders or persons that happ n to be within hearing.

Such is my theory of scolding; and if we examine all the appearances which it presents to different families, we shall find that they will all confirm this doctrine. It is, therefore, first great cruelty, and the greatest ignorance to consider it as a crime. A person may as well be confined in jail for a fever, or transported for the gout, as punished for scolding, which is, to all intents and purposes, a disease arising from the causes already mentioned.

Nor is it only a disease of itself, but it is also, when improperly treated, the cause of many other disorders. Neglected scoldings have often produced fits, of which a remarkable instance may be found in a treatise written by Dr. Column, entitled The Jealous Wife, in the fourth chapter, or act, as he calls it, of that celebrated work. On the other hand, where the scolding matter has been long pent up, without any vent, I have little doubt that it may bring on consumptions of the lungs and those dreadful hysterical disorders which, if not speedily fatal, at least embitter the lives of many worthy members of society. All these evils might have been averted, if the faculty had considered scolding in the light of a disease, and had treated it accordingly.—In pursuance of my theory, I now proceed to the Symptoms —The symptoms of scolding are these: a quick pulse, generally about one hundred beats in a minute; the eyes considerably inflamed, especially in persons who are fat, or redfaced; a voice varying, "by turns, and nothing loth," from the treble degree; at other times, in the course of the fit, the colour goes and comes in a most surprising manner; an irregular, but violent motion of the hands and arms, and a stamping with the right foot; the voice exceedingly loud; as the disorder advances, it becomes hoarse and inarticulate, and the whole frame is agitated. After these symptoms have continued for some time, they gradually, and in some cases very suddenly, go off; a plentiful effusion of water comes from the eyes, and the patient is restored to health, but the disorder leaves a considerable degree of weakness, and a peculiar foolishness of look, especially if any strangers have been present during the fit. The memory, too, is, I conceive, somewhat impaired; the patient appears to retain a very imperfect recollection of what passed, and, if put in mind of any circumstances, is surprised that he should forget them; it may be supposed, will vary considerably, in different patients, but where they appear at one time, there can be very little doubt of the disorder.

Predisposing Causes.—In all diseases, a knowledge of the predisposing causes will be found to assist us in the cure. In the present case, these causes are, irritability of the vascular system, an exaltation of the passions, and a moderate deficiency of natural temper.

Occasional Causes.—The occasional causes of scolding are many. Among them may be enumerated, the throwing down of a china bason, misplacing a hat or a pair of gloves or an umbrella; leaving a done open; overdoing the meat, under-doing the same; spoiling the soup; letting the fire go out; mistaking the hour, &c. &c. with many others, which I do not think it necessary to enumerate, because these causes are so natural, that we cannot prevent them, and because, whatever the occasional cause of the disorder may be, the symptoms are the same, and the mode of cure the same.

Cure.—Various remedies have been thought of for this distemper, but all, hitherto, of the rough and violent kind, which, therefore, if they remove the symptoms for the present, leave a greater disposition toward the disorder than before. Among these, the common practice frequently prescribes the application of an oak stick, a horse-whip, or a leather strap or belt, which, however, are all liable to the objection I have just stated. Others have recommended argumentation; but this, like inoculation, will sometimes produce the desired effect, unless the patient be in some degree prepared to receive it. Some have advised a perfect silence in all persons who are near the patient, but I must say, that wherever I have seen this tried, it has rather heightened the disorder, by bringing on fits. The same thing may be said of obedience, or letting the patient have her own way. This I precisely like giving drink in a dropsical case, or curing the burning fever by throwing in great quantities of brandy.

As the chief intention of this paper was to prove that scolding is a disease, and not a fault, I shall not enlarge much on the mode of cure; because the management of my theory is adopted, every person will be able to treat the disorder secundum artem. I shall mention, however, the following prescription, which I never found to fail, if properly administered:—

Take—Of Common Sense, thirty grains;
Decent Behaviour, ten grains;
Due Consideration, ten grains;

Mix, and sprinkle the whole with one moment's thought, to be taken as soon as any of the occasional causes appear.

By way of diet, though it is not necessary to confine the patient to a milk or vegetable diet, yet I have always found it proper to guard them against strong or spirituous liquors, or any thing that tends to heat the blood.

But it is time to expand out. . . . I should state a matter of very great importance in the prevention of this disorder, and which I have left till now, that my arguments on the subject may not spoil your dessert, and may be cool, reasoned under one view. It is commonly supposed, and, indeed, has often been asserted, that this disorder is peculiar to one sex only (the fair sex); and, I trust, I need not add, what sex that is. But although it may be true that they are most liable to it, yet it is certain, from the theory laid down respecting the predisposing causes, that the men are equally in danger. Why, then, do we not find as many males afflicted with scolding as we do females? The reason is, that scolding, as proved above, is the effect of a certain nonsensical matter pent up. Now this matter engenders in men as well as in women; but the latter have not the frequent opportunity for discharging it which the former enjoy. Women are by fashion and custom confined modes of life, restrained from all those public compliances, clubs, assemblies, free-masons, &c. &c. where the men have a continual opportunity of discharging the cause of the disorder, with out its ever accumulating in so great a quantity as to produce the fit system. I have said, I admitted. This, and this only, is the cause why the disease appears most often in the female sex. I would propose, therefore, if I were a legislator, or in fluence enough to set a fashion, that the ladies should in all respects, imitate the customs of the men; that they should have their clubs, their coffee-houses, shooting societies, and their Parliament. In such places, they would be able to take that species of exercise that tends to keep down the disorder, which at present accumulates to confinement, and when nature attempts a discharge, the explosion is attended with all the violence and irregularities I have before enumerated.

Thus much I have ventured, at advance respecting scolding, and I hope that I shall succeed in abating the unreasonable prejudices which have been fostered by an affected superiority in our sex, joined to a portion of ignorance, which, to say the least, renders that superiority a matter of great doubt.—Portfolio.

BOW STREET.

THREE MONTHS AFTER MARRIAGE.—Wm. and Mary Warren, a newly married couple, came voluntarily before the magistrate; Mary to complain of William, and William to complain of Mary: but Mary seemed to have the most cause to complain; for though nature had given her a pair of very fine black eyes, William in his waywardness, had made their lids of the same colour; and that too, by no very gentle operation; an operation which would lead one to believe that he considered the wedding ring as a symbol of the ring pugilistic.—Be this as it may, however, we shall state their case, for the benefit of the newly married public in general.

William is in his 23d year, and Mary in her 19th; they have been married just 3 months; it was altogether a love match; Poverty has not peeped in at their door, and yet Love has already flown out through their window. And why has he so soon deserted them? Mary attributed his flight to William's excessive thirstiness; and William ascribed it to Mary's love of money; which, as William very truly observed is the root of all evil. Mary said William was cruel enough to strike her, because she told him of remaining so long at the public house. William, on the contrary, said, Mary was of such a "desperate" bad temper, that she was continually bumping him about from chair to chair, and boxing his ears whenever he came home; not because he spent too much money, but because he did not get enough; she wanted him to live upon water-gruel, in order that they may become rich, and he wanted to enjoy the good things of this world as fast as they came to hand.—Dum vivimus vivamus Mary admitted she was not particularly good tempered; and William admitted that he was ashamed of having struck her—"For," said he, "I love her as well or better than ever I did; and I shouldn't have towelled her if she hadn't tempted me to it!" "And pray how did she tempt you?" said the magistrate. "Why, by boxing my ears," replied William, "and telling me I darn't hit her again."

It was evident to their Worships, that there were faults on both sides. It was clear to them, that Mary had thought to find her husband all perfection; or, at all events, she was determined to make him so; and it was equally clear, that, however William might love his wife, he had still some love to spare for an occasional jollification from home; that in short he could at one time sing—

"When the heart of a man is oppressed with care,
The mist is dispell'd if a woman appear."
And at another—
"When the heart of a man is elated with beer,
The blue is dispelled should his spoury appear"

But of this jovial penchant they thought he might be cured, if his wife would give him soft words instead of hard thumps; and, after recommending him to spend his beer money at home instead of abroad, and censuring him severely for striking his wife, they seriously advised them to shake hands in kindness, and try each other for 3 months longer.

They shook hands accordingly, and left the Office wing in-wing, apparently very well satisfied with what had been done for them.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

PORTUGAL.

LONDON, (Friday Evening.) July 9.

We are informed upon the most respectable authority, that a diplomatic note on the affairs of Portugal, from the Allied Sovereigns to their respective Ambassadors at Foreign Courts, will almost immediately make its appearance. The note will advert generally to the disturbed state of affairs in Portugal and express the determination of the Allied Powers to remove it, with the view of preventing any ill effects to the peace of Europe, and the harmony that subsists between its Cabinets. England, as the ancient Ally of Portugal, is, in the first instance, to send her troops thither for the preservation of tranquility and the support of the Sovereign; but the Allies declare that if such interference should be found insufficient, they will aid, at the request of the KING OF PORTUGAL, fortieth troops for the same purpose.

In contradiction of the reports respecting a British Force being sent to Portugal in support of the King's authority, the Courier remarks:

"We have gleaned at the difficulties which are connected with the request of the KING OF PORTUGAL to this country for the assistance of Foreign troops. These difficulties we have reason to believe, are of a nature very different from any that have been surmised by our contemporaries. The question that has been raised, is not so much what description, or what amount of force should be sent, nor how the consequent expenses are to be defrayed; it embraces considerations of a much higher character. The true state of matters is very distinctly this:—On the part of his Majesty's Government to assist an old and faithful Ally, where the forces by its own resistance is great, and the necessity of doing it unexceptionable. But it would be a more desirable course, if practicable, to organize, by means of that influence which peculiarly belongs to our relations with Portugal, a power sufficient to control the apprehended danger, without resorting to the aid of foreign troops. At all events this seems to be an experiment which should be sincerely tried, before the other is adopted.

It certainly is not desirable to encourage the practice of one Government seeking, from another that kind of interference, which can never be exercised without the danger of compromising those great fundamental principles which should regulate the non-intercourse between independent States. A special case, justifying such interference, may easily be imagined; but it is by less easy to imagine how a special case so arising, and so acted upon, may be perverted into a precedent for a less justifiable purpose. Such consideration obviously imposes the necessity of grave deliberation before any decision is taken, that it would warrant, we may add, a painful and reluctant acquiescence, even when the expediency of that acquiescence can no longer be disputed. We should fulfil a duty with the consciousness that an irreproachable act on our part was too open to misconstruction, and too susceptible of perversion to leave behind it the common reward of self-satisfaction at what we had done.

At present no step has been taken which can place us in such a position. The question has been met with a full and clear explanation of all the embarrassments which belong to it. How it may be finally disposed of, it is not for us to anticipate. Supposing, however, the result should be that the required aid is granted, we can state that not a single British Soldier will be sent."

RUSSIA.

On the 10th of March an Ukase was issued to the following effect:—"No public functionary in the Russian service shall, without special permission of his superior, even in writings in any language whatever, which, though dispensed from censorship, treat of the domestic affairs of the empire."

GREECE.

The affairs of the Greeks continue to prosper. The Turkish expedition against Scinto and north of Negropont has failed. The Greeks are united in the defence of their country from Turkish invasion.

The Greek general Odysseus, at the request of an English Gentleman, has ordered an ancient temple of Athens, to be converted into a museum; and great efforts are said to be making to obtain a fine collection of antiquities. God preserve the collection from the avarice of the Turks! The Greek committee in London, had received information from Prince Mavrocordato, that all parties in Greece were united, and that the Legislative body and executive enjoyed the full confidence of the nation.

From Greece.—The latest intelligence of the movements of the Turkish fleet we believe is contained in letters received in Boston, from Smyrna, dated May 22. At which time it was stated that the fleet was at Salonica, for the purpose of taking on board 18,000 troops. A London paper furnishes the following particulars, of nearly as late a date.

Letters this morning have been received from Salonica, which advise the arrival in the Gulph, which bears that name, of the Turkish fleet, consisting in all of ninety sixty ships. It was reported that it would be joined by thirty transports, having 20 thousand troops on board, and then proceed against some of the most powerful islands in the Archipelago. This force, in addition to the troops expected from Smyrna and Egypt, will again render the Ottomans formidable to the Christians. And Morea there should be more unity among the Grecian chieftains, the successful finish of the war may be more distant, than the favourable completion of the last campaign led the friends of Grecian Independence to expect. Jealousy has hitherto prevented the reduction of the fortress of Patras, and of the castles of Lepanto; and as the Turkish fleet will now probably supply these garrisons with provisions and military stores, a considerable period may still intervene before the barbarians be entirely expelled from the Morea.

TURKISH DEFEAT.

Accounts were received in London, on the 8th, from Greece, by letters from Trieste, dated June 26, which confirm what has been before stated of the defeat of the Turkish commander in chief. It appears that this general, who is one of the best in the Turkish army, had proceeded with much expedition towards the passes of the Thermopylæ, which he made an effort to force.

The Turkish troops fought with more courage than usual, and for a time the issue of the contest seemed doubtful. In the end, however, the patriotic defence of the Greeks prevailed, and the Turks were compelled with some loss to make a retreat to Lamia, where he was to wait for the reinforcements from Romelia.—The same letters state that the corps of Constantine Starris, and the troops of the Pacha of Scutari, had met, and that an engagement had taken place, which must have terminated favourably to the Greeks, as Constantine remained in possession of the field, and the Turks had fallen back 4 and 20 leagues in all directions.

The Greek force of the Turks in the Gulph, of Lepanto is only eight vessels; three frigates, two corvettes, and three brigs. The Greeks have in the waters of Ipsara not less than 180 sail, mostly small.

SOUTH AMERICA.

From Rio Janeiro.—We are indebted to the polite attention of Capt. Heron, of the brig Eliza Reilly, which arrived here yesterday, in 39 days from Rio Janeiro, for a number of Brazil newspapers from 6th May to 15th June inclusive

Among these papers we find a Proclamation of the Emperor Don Pedro, to the Brazilians, dated on June 3, announcing the receipt of information that a powerful armament was about to sail from Portugal to reduce them under the dominion of that Kingdom. He exhorts the Brazilians to the most determined resistance, against the invaders of their liberties; tells them that they must look to their own exertions for independence, and the means of defending it unexceptionable. But it would be a more desirable course, if practicable, to organize, by means of that influence which peculiarly belongs to our relations with Portugal, a power sufficient to control the apprehended danger, without resorting to the aid of foreign troops. At all events this seems to be an experiment which should be sincerely tried, before the other is adopted.

It certainly is not desirable to encourage the practice of one Government seeking, from another that kind of interference, which can never be exercised without the danger of compromising those great fundamental principles which should regulate the non-intercourse between independent States. A special case, justifying such interference, may easily be imagined; but it is by less easy to imagine how a special case so arising, and so acted upon, may be perverted into a precedent for a less justifiable purpose. Such consideration obviously imposes the necessity of grave deliberation before any decision is taken, that it would warrant, we may add, a painful and reluctant acquiescence, even when the expediency of that acquiescence can no longer be disputed. We should fulfil a duty with the consciousness that an irreproachable act on our part was too open to misconstruction, and too susceptible of perversion to leave behind it the common reward of self-satisfaction at what we had done.

At present no step has been taken which can place us in such a position. The question has been met with a full and clear explanation of all the embarrassments which belong to it. How it may be finally disposed of, it is not for us to anticipate. Supposing, however, the result should be that the required aid is granted, we can state that not a single British Soldier will be sent."

RUSSIA.

On the 10th of March an Ukase was issued to the following effect:—"No public functionary in the Russian service shall, without special permission of his superior, even in writings in any language whatever, which, though dispensed from censorship, treat of the domestic affairs of the empire."

GREECE.

The affairs of the Greeks continue to prosper. The Turkish expedition against Scinto and north of Negropont has failed. The Greeks are united in the defence of their country from Turkish invasion.

The Greek general Odysseus, at the request of an English Gentleman, has ordered an ancient temple of Athens, to be converted into a museum; and great efforts are said to be making to obtain a fine collection of antiquities. God preserve the collection from the avarice of the Turks! The Greek committee in London, had received information from Prince Mavrocordato, that all parties in Greece were united, and that the Legislative body and executive enjoyed the full confidence of the nation.

From Greece.—The latest intelligence of the movements of the Turkish fleet we believe is contained in letters received in Boston, from Smyrna, dated May 22. At which time it was stated that the fleet was at Salonica, for the purpose of taking on board 18,000 troops. A London paper furnishes the following particulars, of nearly as late a date.

Letters this morning have been received from Salonica, which advise the arrival in the Gulph, which bears that name, of the Turkish fleet, consisting in all of ninety sixty ships. It was reported that it would be joined by thirty transports, having 20 thousand troops on board, and then proceed against some of the most powerful islands in the Archipelago. This force, in addition to the troops expected from Smyrna and Egypt, will again render the Ottomans formidable to the Christians. And Morea there should be more unity among the Grecian chieftains, the successful finish of the war may be more distant, than the favourable completion of the last campaign led the friends of Grecian Independence to expect. Jealousy has hitherto prevented the reduction of the fortress of Patras, and of the castles of Lepanto; and as the Turkish fleet will now probably supply these garrisons with provisions and military stores, a considerable period may still intervene before the barbarians be entirely expelled from the Morea.

TURKISH DEFEAT.

Accounts were received in London, on the 8th, from Greece, by letters from Trieste, dated June 26, which confirm what has been before stated of the defeat of the Turkish commander in chief. It appears that this general, who is one of the best in the Turkish army, had proceeded with much expedition towards the passes of the Thermopylæ, which he made an effort to force.

The Turkish troops fought with more courage than usual, and for a time the issue of the contest seemed doubtful. In the end, however, the patriotic defence of the Greeks prevailed, and the Turks were compelled with some loss to make a retreat to Lamia, where he was to wait for the reinforcements from Romelia.—The same letters state that the corps of Constantine Starris, and the troops of the Pacha of Scutari, had met, and that an engagement

LONDON, JULY 10.

LORD BYRON.—The crowds that presented themselves this morning at No. 20 Great George Street, to view the above illustrious person lying in state, were without all precedent; and trious person lying in state, were without all precedent; and the uproar and confusion that prevailed, beggar description.—The bustle was so great that it was found expedient to call the aid of Handley and Weale, the two principal Officers of Queen Square establishment, and even their presence was scarcely tended to abate the violence of the applicants—so eager were they to gain admittance.

This morning a wooden frame was erected round the coffin and urn, to keep the spectators off, upon the top of which were plumes of sombre feathers. The pall was then thrown over the coffin, on one side were displayed five escutcheons, and one at the head and foot. Another pall was placed over the urn, which was decorated with four escutcheons.

The pall on the coffin was surmounted with a bit of rich black feathers, which gave to the whole a remarkably grand and funereal aspect.

On the top of the pall that enveloped the urn were displayed his Lordship's splendid coronet and cushion.

Five of the late Lord Byron's suite accompanied the Body to England. Amongst them is a doctor (an Italian) who attended his Lordship, and also his Italian courier; the latter is a man of robust stature, and wears a rich uniform, en militaire, of blue and silver. The muscular form and outline of Bodily strength for which the late Lord Byron was remarkable, were perfectly visible after his decease, notwithstanding the operation of his late paralysing illness, and the previous indisposition which was attended with very debilitating effects The personal appearance continued nearly the same when the body was removed from the coffin, in which it had been conveyed in the voyage to this country, into the coffin finally prepared for its reception. The fine lines of the features had of course collapsed in death, but they were previously reduced, and expressive of much care and anxiety. His hair had grown thin, and became in many places grey this alteration became more visible after death, when the curls lay more extended upon the surface of the head There was no apt earance of convulsion upon the features, and the approach of death was in all probability imperceptible to the deceased. He seemed to have died in a state of extreme langour. Near the coffin, on the ground, is an escutcheon which was painted on wood in Greece, and there displayed when the body of Lord Byron lay in state at Missolonghi.

The late Lord Byron's will passed the Seal of the Prerogative Court in Doctor's Commons on the 6th inst. probate being granted to John Cam. Hobhouse, Esq. and John Hanson, of Clement's-lane, Esquire, executors. The personal estate is in England was sworn under £10,000. The will is dated the 29th July, 1818, and with the exception of a bequest of £1400 each to his Lordship's executors, is made solely to benefit his sister, Augusta Mary Leigh, wife of George Leigh, Esq. and her children; Lady Byron and any family he might have, being stated to be otherwise amply provided for. The manor or Lordship of Rochdale, in the county of Lancaster, is given to the executors in trust to be sold for the above purposes; as is also the manor and estate of Newstead, in the county of Nottingham, which latter is subject to a charge of £30,000 for fulfilling the trusts of his marriage settlements—but which sum, or any part thereof, for so appointed, is to constitute part of the general estate. Mrs. Leigh is to have a life interest, free from her husband's control, and her children are to inherit the principal, according to her appointment by will or otherwise, and failing such provision, in equal portions, to sons at twenty-one, and daughters at that age or marriage, with benefit of survivorship. There is a codicil annexed to the will, dated at Venice, the 17th November, 1818, bequeathing to his executors £8,000 in trust for Allegra Byron, an infant of four years—now months old, " by me brought up and now residing at Venice," to be paid to her at twenty-one or marriage, " provided she does not marry a native of Great Britain."—The interest, in the mean time, for her maintenance and education.

HERESY OF BIBLE SOCIETIES.

The Pope and the Bible Society.—The following is extracted from the Pope's Encyclic letter. What shall I say more? The iniquity of our enemies has so increased, that beside the deluge of pernicious books, contrary to the faith, it even goes so far as to convert to the detriment of religion the Holy Scriptures, which have been given us from above for the general edification."

"You are not ignorant my venerable brethren," says his holiness, "that a society commonly called a Bible Society, is audaciously spreading through the earth, and that in contempt of the traditions of the holy fathers, and against the celebrated decree of the Council of Trent, it endeavours with all its power, and by every means, to translate or rather to corrupt the Holy Scriptures into the vulgar tongues of all nations; which gives just reason to fear that in all the translation s the same thing may happen which has happened with regard to those already known—namely, that we may there find a bad interpretation, and instead of the gospel of Christ, the gospel of men, or what is worse, the gospel of the devil!

"Many of our predecessors have made laws to turn this scourge, and in these latter times, Pius the VII. of sacred memory, sent two briefs, the one to Ignatius, the other to Stanislaus, Archbishop of Mohilow. In these briefs are found passages taken as well from the Holy Scriptures as from tradition, and collated with care and judgment to show how injurious this subtle invention is to faith and morality.

"And we also, venerable brethren, in the discharge of our apostolic duty, exhort you to remove your flocks with care and earnestness from this fatal pasture. Reprove, intreat, insist, on all occasions, with all doctrine and patience, in order that the faithful, attaching them selves exactly to the rules of our Congregation of the Index, may be persuaded, that if they let the Holy Scriptures be indiscriminately translated into the vulgar tongues, there will result, in consequence of the rashness of men, more evil than good.

"This is a truth demonstrated by experience, and which St. Augustine more than all the other fathers, has made known by their words! There have been formed heresies and perverse dogmas, which involve the souls of men in their snares, and drag them down the abyss only because the Holy Scriptures have not been well understood, and because having ill understood them men have supported their false interpretations with rashness and audacity!

"Such, venerable brethren, is the tendency of this society, which, besides, omits nothing for the accomplishment of its pious wishes: for it boasts not only of printing the translations, but of disseminating them by going through the towns; and were to seduce the simple by a pernicious liberality, choose to distribute them gratuitously.

"We exhort you not to let your courage be cast down. You will have for you, and for this we rely with confidence on the Lord, the power of Secular Princes, who as reason and experience show, defend there own cause in defending that of the authority of the Church; for never will it be possible for man to render unto Cæsar the things which are Cæsar's without rendering unto God the things which are God's. You will also have for you, to speak as St. Leon did, the good offices of our ministry towards you all.—In your crosses, in your doubts, and all your necessity, have recourse to this Apostolic guidance For God, as St. Augustine said, has placed the doctrine of truth in the chair of unity."

AGRICULTURE.

From the Boston Centinel.

TO THE BUTTER MAKERS.—The writer of this note could tell a long story about butter, having been 45 years in the trade, but he will make it very short.

Make your butter of sweet cream—work out all the buttermilk; put no more salt to it than will make it palatable, for salt has no good effect as to keeping butter sweet; it is working out all the buttermilk, and excluding the air from it that will accomplish this very desirable object.

Pack your butter in handsome tight kegs, which will contain 28 or 56 lbs.; let the kegs be in a strong pickle, and then tar them; pack the butter mild—not in layers as is too often the case—This method of butter gives you a double chance for sale; for being equally handy for home use, and if it does not sell in the market, it can be inspected, and will be in order for exportation. But when your butter comes to market in tubs, barrels, boxes, &c it can be sold only for home use, for butter cannot be exported except in kegs.

Many tons of butter are now on hand made last year, and the year before, the greater part of which must be sold for soap grease at five cents per pound.

This article, if made good, and well packed, would constitute a very considerable commodity for exportation, but foreigners will not eat our rancid butter. The spring and summer butter must be sold low, for our merchants cannot ship butter at a high price; for the Dutch and Irish butter, stand in our way, and is very excellent. The custom of selling butter in lumps to the traders is a very bad one; every family should first fill a keg no matter if it does not contain more than 12 lbs, than sell it to the trader; but the other method is ruinous.

I hope some gentlemen of education and knowledge of the subject will take it up, for it is very necessary to the welfare of

NEW-ENGLAND.

ANECDOTES.

ANECDOTE OF SIR EDWARD PELLEW, NOW LORD EXMOUTH.

At Portsmouth, several years ago, this gallant officer was sitting alone at dinner, when his servant announced to him that an Indiaman had struck upon the beach, and was in imminent danger of going to pieces. Sir Edward hastened to the shore, and found the first officer very correct; and the surf running so high that no boat durst venture to board the vessel. Sir Edward, addressing himself to the crowd upon the beach, asked if any of them had heart enough to swim off with him to the ship. A young man stepped forward to answer the challenge; and two lines having been procured, Sir Edward and the stranger each took one, gained the vessel, and after safely landing all on board, were the last to return on shore. On stepping upon land, the gallant Admiral, addressing his comrade in danger, exclaimed, "Give me your hand, you're a fine fellow—who are you?—you must sail with me in future!" The young man replied, that he was the mate of a collier, and that he should hesitate to quit a situation so comfortable for the chance of doubtful promotion. Sir Edward overcame his scruples; and this singular introduction added to the heroes of the British Navy an officer unrivalled in heroic exploits—no less in character than Captain Jeremiah Coghlan.

At the meeting of the British and Foreign School Society on Monday, Mr. F. Buxton told the following curious anecdote:—It had been his misfortune, when very young, to live with a gentleman, whose prejudices against the improvement of the poor, were numerous and inveterate.—There were, in that gentleman's opinion, three great causes of the demoralization of the poor—reading, writing and arithmetic—(laughter)—and whenever a quarrel took place in his neighbourhood, he was in the habit of saying, "That is the effect of education." If a theft or a murder was committed, "There," he would say, "is another test of the bad effects of education." In speaking of his own steward, this hater of human improvement would say, "That Man, to his credit be it spoken, is not able to read a word, or to write a figure; and yet he is, perhaps, the best accountant in the county." It was natural to inquire by what process of memory the steward kept his accounts. This was shewn. A drawer was produced, in one compartment there was a parcel of beans, in another a parcel of peas, and in the remaining divisions there were various descriptions of grain. These were the symbols of various debts and payments, which with the aid of a strong memory, the steward kept with great exactness, until one night a rat broke into his account box, and down went the account of what was due from various tenants, and all was thrown into the widest confusion and disorder; another proof that mankind (Mr. Buxton) had been a convert to the superiority of written or printed symbols.

The following exquisite specimen of orthography has been transmitted by a Correspondent to the Chelmham Chronicle, and published in that paper.

GEORGE C——n.

Wrendy, May. 1824.

Sur i hops. u. will nott tak it ill. that i. hav ritten u this leir. Bute as i hav not up at small Jalurs shops in streete is the number. I hops i shall be hourd with ur custom. I sels al. maner of cloths buttons cetrum.—I owd mak a blu cote fur £2., 10. 0 a waistcote fur £0., 6. 0 a pair of trousers fur £1., 6., 0. i also sels sets bisk stoks, bote strps. stokins. and al sorts of glovs. i hav alwas the bist men to wrk fur me I remanes Sur or unble servt. Jon.

Poetry.

HAPPINESS.

By Doctor Heber, the present Bishop of Calcutta.

One morning in the month of May
I wander'd o'er the hill;
The waters all around was gay,
My heart was heavy still.

Can God, I thought, be just, the great,
These meaner creatures bless,
And yet deny to Man's estate
The boon of happiness?

Tell me ye woods, ye smiling plains,
Ye blessed birds around,
In which of Nature's wide domains
Can bliss be found?

The birds wild carol'd over head
The breeze around me blew,
And Nature's awful chorus said—
No bliss for man she knew.

I question'd Love, whose early ray
So rosy bright appears,
And heard the timid goddess say
His light was dim'd by tears.

I question'd Friendship: Friendship sigh'd,
And thus her answer gave—
The few whom fortune never turn'd
Were wither'd in the grave!

I ask'd if Vice could bliss bestow?
Vice boasted loud and well,
But fading fear her wither'd brow
The borrow'd rose fell.

I sought of Feeling, if her skill
Could sooth the wounded breast;
And found her mourning, faint, and still
For others woes distress'd!

I question'd Virtue; Virtue sigh'd,
No boon could she dispense—
Nor Virtue was her name, she cried,
But humble Penitence.

I question'd Death—the grisly shade
Inclin'd his brow severe—
And—"I am Happiness," he said,
"If virtue guides thee here."

Domestic.

Affair of Honour.—We have to congratulate the Cheltenham public on their escape from what might have been a very serious loss. Early on Saturday morning last, a meeting took place, or rather seems to have taken place, immediately behind the House of Assembly in this Town, between two public characters of some note; one of them lately in the Bacchanalian department of a respectable Hotel, and the other a Mercury employed to carry despatches to and from the regions of Midas: in other words the case was, D——n versis F——n; but, fortunately for the public, the mercurial qualities so eminently possessed (along with many others equally valuable) by Mr. F——n, together with his laudable aversion to that—"villanous salt-petre" so pathetically declaimed against by the very pink and flower of all Chivalry, the renowned Knight of La Mancha,—led that gentleman to course in an opposite direction at the precise hour when his presence was required in the field of honour:——where, upon, after parading the ground for nearly an hour, and discharging one of his formidable "brelees" (which were of unusual length and calibre for such occasions being fully FOUR INCHES in length) in the air, by way of triumph,—Mr D——n went forthwith in search of the foe, proposing, as was said, either to place his nose in a close parenthesis, or to give him a twitch,

"Just in the place where honour's lodg'd,
As wise philosophers have judg'd
Because a kick in that place more
Hurts honour than deep wounds before."

The cause of this serious rupture is not yet made public.

MONTREAL Aug. 18.

Our city has been overflowed with strangers during the last month; the principal hotels have been so thronged that great difficulty has been experienced in procuring agreeable entertainment, previous to the departure of the Steam boats for Quebec. We are pleased at this circumstance, it will produce many good consequences, and serve to dissipate that prejudice which has, for so long a period, kept the residents of Canada, and the people of the United States, indifferent to the interests of each other.—Courant.

BERMUDA.—It appears that Sir William Lumley, Governor of Bermuda, has been ordered home to answer the charges brought against him by the inhabitants of that Island.

ARRIVAL OF EARL DALHOUSIE.—His Excellency the Earl of Dalhousie, Governor General and Commander-in-Chief of the Forces in North America, who sailed from Quebec June 6th, arrived at Portsmouth July 3d, and immediately set off for London.

Extract of a letter from Portsmouth Eng. June 8.

"The Halifax Station is now intended to embrace that of Newfoundland—a civil Governor is to be appointed to reside at St. John's; and a Commodore will be sent out, who will winter there, under orders of the Commander in-Chief at Halifax.

ARRIVAL OF SIR H. DOUGLASS.—H. M. S. Jupiter 60, Rear Admiral Lake, Capt. Dunn, arrived at Halifax, from Portsmouth 3d instant. The Samarang, 28, with His Excellency Lt. Governor Sir Howard Douglas arrived at the same port on the 27th ult. he landed under a salute on the following day and was expected soon to proceed to his government.

SERIOUS LOSS.—We regret to learn that seven or eight large Rafts of timber and Staves were wrecked on "Herchimer's Point," during the gale of Saturday last. The owners, we believe, are Messrs. Shuter and Wilkins, Everitt, Leavens Murphy, Fiddler, Allan and others. The value of the property thus unfortunately wrecked, cannot be less than Nine Thousand Pounds.

NEW BOOKS ON CANADA.—The following new works are announced in a late London list of Publications.

"Speedily will be published, Five Years' Residence in the Canadas, including a Tour through the United States of America, in 1823, by E. A. Talbot, Esq. of the Talbot Settlement, Upper Canada.

"An Excursion through the United States and Canada, during the years 1822 and 3, by an English gentleman, is printing.

"Lieut. Morgan has in the press, the Emigrant's Note book, with Recollections of Upper and Lower Canada during the late war."

The following particulars of the Hail Storm, which we noticed last week, were received from a Correspondent in Yonge.

A most tremendous and destructive storm took place here last evening. About 7 o'clock, P. M. a very black and heavy cloud, slowly advanced from the North.—As it approached higher, it seemed to increase in magnitude—clad in all the terrors of pitchy darkness.—Within a few minutes of Eight, it blew a perfect hurricane, accompanied with hail, or rather large pieces of ice, in a triangular form. The scene was now dreadful; so much so, that it baffled all description. The falling trees, the rolling thunder, and the hail dashing with such violence against the windows, sides and roof of the house, produced a combination of sounds, without any manner of distinction; for nearly fifteen minutes nature seemed to be in her last struggle. At this moment the atmosphere was completely illumined, almost without intermission. The incessant glare afforded me a full view of a small field, being a gentle declivity opposite the south side of my dwelling house, the surface of which was literally covered with water.

The morning light exhibited what I may call the wreck of nature—the fruitful fields were turned into a wilderness—and the husbandman's hope laid low in ruin. Last evening about an hour previous to the commencement of the storm, I congratulated a neighbour on having such an excellent crop of Oats, Rye and Pease, all in one field. This morning being desired to examine the same field, I found it swept with the besom of destruction. The straw of the oats and rye, was cut in pieces, and half buried in the earth. I have seldom seen a well reaped field appear so smooth on the surface, as it appeared to be: the pease, which were rather late, were, notwithstanding, so completely thrashed out that nearly two sheds were left on the ground. One circumstance attended the destruction of this field, which I conceive worthy of notice; the field itself was nearly level, and from the centre to the East side, the straw lay in one direction; and from the centre to the West side, it lay exactly different. This, no doubt, was occasioned by two different streams, or currents of air, or rather wind, which at the same moment from two several points, attacked with equal fury, and was equally fatal to the husbandman. A great number of very excellent fields of corn were seriously damaged, and others totally ruined; potatoes though cut and shattered in their tops, may yet recover; Buck wheat is altogether spoiled, garden vegetables exterminated; some small orchards in this neighbourhood had from 15 to 20 bushels of apples cut down, and numbers half buried in the mud, which an overflowing flood brought upon them after they fell to the ground, the remainder of the apples that still adhered to the trees was mostly wounded, some of them in fact were fairly split in two. Window lights broke in pieces, one man lost nearly 40 panes of glass. Winter wheat has been very much hurt indeed, in one word, crops of every description have suffered severely.

The fury of the storm appears to have spent itself on the 4th and 5th Concession of Yonge, Lot No. 1, 2, and 3, and the Western part of the same Concessions in Elizabethtown.

Thus, Sir, I have very imperfectly, and rather in haste, given a brief sketch of a storm, the equal of which, I never witnessed. A storm, all circumstances considered, perhaps the most terrible that ever visited this part of the Province.

J——s G——n.

Yonge, August 10th, 1824.

P. S. Since writing the above, a storm very similar to the one described, took place on Thursday last, at 2 o'clock P. M. on and in the vicinity of the farm, the property of Peter June, Senior, Yonge. The wind was not so high, but a much greater quantity of hail fell, which lay on the ground 20 hours, notwithstanding the season of the year. It has done much hurt.

Yonge, 13th August, 1824. J. G.

AN INSTANCE OF SUDDEN DEATH.—A young man of the name of Thomas Mullins, lately residing with a person of the name of Jones, at Exbury, near Beaulieu, in the new forest, signifying his intention of changing his residence, was asked by his landlady to settle her demand of 9s. previous to quitting her house, when, with great vehemence he exclaimed,—"Mrs. Jones, may God strike me dead, if I owe you more than one shilling!" The words were scarcely uttered before the man dropped down, and he instantly expired, without a struggle. This awful event, (which occurred on the 2d of July) was witnessed by Mrs. Jones, her mother, and sister, and several friends.—Salisbury Journal.

Upper Canada Gazette.

New Series.

VOL. III. YORK U. C. THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 9th, 1824. No. XXXVII.

By Authority.

UPPER CANADA.

P. MAITLAND,
Lieut. Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

TO our Beloved and Faithful Legislative Councillors of our Province of Upper Canada; and to our Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses of our said Province, to the Assembly at our Town of York, on the Ninth Day of August, instant, to be Commenced, Held, Called and Elected, and to every of you—GREETING:

WHEREAS, for certain arduous and urgent affairs Us, and the state of our said Province, concerning, at our said Assembly, at the day and place aforesaid, to be Held, We have Ordained you by our separate Writs at the Town and day aforesaid, to be present, for the purposes therein mentioned. Nevertheless (for certain causes and considerations Us there to especially moving, our said Assembly at and upon the Ninth day of August instant, We have thought proper to Prorogue, so that you nor any of you on the said Ninth day of August instant, at our said Town to appear are to be held or constrained. For We do will that you and each of you be as to Us, in this matter entirely exonerated; Commanding, and by the Tenor of these Presents firmly enjoining you and every of you, and all others in this behalf interested, that on Thursday the Sixteenth day of September next ensuing, at our said Town of York personally you and every of you be and appear to treat, do, act, and conclude upon those things which in our said Assembly by the Common Council of our said Province, by the favour of God may be Ordained.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed.—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces in North America, at York, this Second day of August, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign.

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,
JNO. B. ROBINSON Attorney Gen.
D CAMERON, Secretary,

Upper Canada.

P. MAITLAND,

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come—GREETING:

WHEREAS by Proclamation bearing date the Fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventeen, our trusty and well beloved FRANCIS GORE, Esquire, late our Lieutenant Governor of our Province of Upper Canada, by and with the advice of his Executive Council there of, and by virtue of the Authority in him vested in that behalf, did declare and appoint the Port of Ernestown, where he commonly called the Port of Bath, within the Midland District of this Province, to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for all Goods and Merchandize, and not being entirely prohibited and for the payment of all Duties, liable to be paid on all Goods and Merchandize imported into this Province from the United States of America:

AND WHEREAS by a certain Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the Third Year of our Reign, entitled, "An Act to Regulate the Trade of the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, and for other purposes relating to the said Provinces," it is among other things Enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the Governor Lieutenant Governor, or person Administering the Government of either of our said Provinces respectively, by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council thereof for the time being, from time to time to diminish or increase, by Proclamation, the number of Ports or places, which they were, or thereafter might be, appointed in such Province for the Entry of Goods, Wares, and Commodities, imported from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS it appears expedient for the avoiding expence in the Collection of our Revenue, that the said Port of Ernestown shall no longer be a Port of Entry and Clearance—NOW KNOW YE, that by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of our Province of Upper Canada, We have thought fit to declare, and do hereby declare, that from and after the date of this our Proclamation, the said Port of Ernestown cease to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the purposes aforesaid, and shall be and remain, as if the said Proclamation so cancelled recited, and appointing the same to be a Port of Entry and Clearance, had never been made.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed.—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K.C.B. Lieutenant Governor or of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York this Twentieth day of March in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign. P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,

D CAMERON, Secretary.
JNO. B. ROBINSON Attorney Gen.

Crown Office, York, 15th, 1824.

EASTERN CIRCUIT, 1824.

Mr. JUSTICE CAMPBELL.

Assizes, at	Cornwall on	Monday	9th Augt.
Do	Perth	do	23d do
Do	Brockville,	do	6th Sept.
Do	Kingston,	do	20th do

HOME CIRCUIT.

Mr. JUSTICE BOULTON.

Do	Niagara,	Wednesday	4th Augt.
Do	Newcastle,	do	6th Oct.
Do	York,	do	13th do

WESTERN CIRCUIT.

CHIEF JUSTICE

Do	Sandwich,	Wednesday	18th Augt.
Do	Vittoria,	Monday	30th do
Do	Gore,	Wednesday	8th Sept.

No. 29.—1 f.

Government House, August 24th, 1824.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR has been pleased to appoint THOMAS WARD, Esquire, to be Judge of the District and Surrogate Courts of the Newcastle District.—Vice ROGERS deceased.

GLEBES.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in Council, having taken into consideration the system hitherto practised, of Granting Licences of Occupant on for GLEBE LANDS, is pleased to Order, that in future the Glebes in the several Townships, with the exception of One Lot in each Township, for the accommodation of the Incumbent, shall be Leased on the same terms as Clergy Reserves.

NOTICE is therefore given to those Persons who hold Licences of Occupation for any of the said Glebe Lots, that the same will not be Renewed; and unless they do make application, by Petition, for Leases in the usual manner, through the medium of the Corporation for superintending the Clergy Reserves, before the Twenty-ninth day of September next ensuing, the Lots so held by Licence of Occupation will be Leased to other Applicants.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office, York, 29th April, 1824. 19-tf.

Executive Council Office York, 14th April, 1824.

NOTICE is hereby given, to Asbel Johnson, or his Representative, to make good any claim he may have to Lot Number Two, in the Seventh Concession of the Township of Louth, in the District of Niagara within six months from this date, in default of which, the Lot will be otherwise disposed of.

By order of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor in Council,

JOHN SMALL.
Clk. Ex'o. Council. 17—6m.

Executive Council Chamber, York, 31st January, 1824.

PRESENT,
HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, IN COUNCIL.

HIS Majesty's Government having recently extended their assistance to the class of Emigrants, which it was intended to relieve by gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres of Land, in conveying them to their respective locations:

IT IS ORDERED, that from the first day of May next, no gratuitous Grants be made of any quantity of Land to other than privileged persons.—And that as the Fee on Two Hundred Acres was raised, in order to defray the gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres the consideration failing, the future Fee on Two Hundred Acres is reduced to Eight Pounds Four Shilling and One Penny Sterling; the existing Fee before 1819, and the Fee on all other Grants, in Townships Surveyed since that time, to be the same as established by the Order in Council, of 5th January, 1819.

N. B. Possessors of gratuitous Grants for Fifty Acres, may, by paying the Fee on One Hundred Acres, receive a Grant of the adjoining Fifty Acres if vacant.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Ex'v. Council.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL CHAMBER,
AT YORK, 26th JAN. 1824.
PRESENT;
HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
In Council.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR submitted to the consideration of the Board, the sheriffs' Reports of their respective Gaols, together with other Documents relating to a Winter Circuit, by which it appeared that the House of Assembly had addressed His Excellency to that effect, for this Session only; and obviously for the Delivery of the Gaols in the several Districts.

THE limitation of such a measure to one season seeming to militate with the Provision of the Law, that when the Communication from the Seat of Government admitted, and the circumstances of the Province required, there should be a regular Second Circuit, the Board would prefer to recommend that Special Commissions to deliver particular Gaols should issue where requisite; but, as the respective Reports from the Sheriffs do not, in the opinion of the Board, require any unusual interposition, His Excellency, with advice of the Council, postpones a Second Circuit until the circumstances of the Province more decidedly require it.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Executive Council.

Executive Council Office,
York, February 7th 1821.

WHEREAS it has been represented, that many persons who have received Locations of Land, have, from Sickness, and other legitimate causes, been unable to fulfil the Settlement Duty in the time required by the Location Ticket, and have neglected to apply to His Excellency in Council for an extension of the period, for performance of such duty.

BE it Known that the period for completing the Settlement Duty, is hereby extended to Two Years from the date of Locations until further notice shall be given.

JOHN SMALL. Clk Ex. Com.

WHEREAS by the Tenor of the Location Tickets a Certificate is required to be lodged of the Settlement Duty being done within two Years, or that the said Location should be forfeited, and in case of Locations not gratuitous, that one third of the Patent Fee be lodged with such Certificate; AND WHEREAS it is represented, that in many instances, Certificates of performance of the Settlement Duty, have been withheld from the inability of the settler to deposit such proportion of the Patent Fee, it is deemed expedient to relieve the settler from forfeiture of his location, when he may actually have performed his settlement duty—Notice is hereby given that in all cases where Settlement Duty has been performed within the limited period, the settler shall, on filing Certificate thereof within six Months of this date, be exempted from forfeiture notwithstanding the non-payment therewith of such portion of the Patent Fee, provided the Patent is sued out within One Year from the filing of such Certificate.

And further; His Excellency, in the hope of avoiding the necessity of rescinding any of the Militia grants, is pleased to direct this Public Notification; that all Lands granted to Militia Men, upon which the Settlement Duties shall not have been performed within the limited period, will in pursuance of general instructions given to the Surveyor General in all similar cases, be declared vacant, and will be granted within Six Months after the expiration of that period, to the first applicant, unless the Original Nominee, shall before such subsequent application, have lodged a Certificate of his having performed the Settling Duties.

JOHN SMALL, Clk Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office,
York, 7th Nov. 1821.

WHEREAS it has become expedient to establish a line of communication through certain remote Townships, for encouragement thereof, Grants will be made to actual Settlers in the Townships hereinafter named on the condition of Settling within two years from the date of the Location, at the reduced Scale of 5th January, 1819, viz.

A Township North of Mariposa, advertised from the Surveyor General's Office on the 19th of October, as-

Zeta, to be called Eldon

N. of Ep		Fenelon
N. of Emily advertised as	Emir	Verulam
N. of Smith	Lake	Harvey
E. of do.		Douro
N. of Asphodel	Alma	Dummer
N. of Seymour	Mora	Belmont
N. of Dummer	Yea	Burleigh
N. of Marmora	Ninia	Lake
N. of Madoc		Tudor
N. of Ebzever	No	Grimsthorpe
N. of Kaladar	Aye	Anglesea
N. of Kennebec	Jus	Barrie
N. of Norma	Oiden	Clarendon
N. of Oso	Ei	Palmerston
N. of Belmont	Carlos	Methuen

JOHN SMALL, C. E. C.

Government House, 6th March, 1820.

HIS Excellency the Lieutenant Governor is pleased to direct that no Location requiring Settlement Duty shall be Confirmed by Patent, without a Certificate from the Land Board of the District in which such Location may be situate, that the Settlement Duty required by the Order in council has bona fide been performed within the time specified by the Location Ticket.

JOHN SMALL Clk. C.

To Militia Pensioners, Notice

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that Payment of Militia Pensions for the year 1824, will commence from this date.
Militia Pension Office, York, 15th July, 1824.
EDWD. M'MAHON.
30.—13 w. Agent for Paying Militia Pensions

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Newcastle District, } to wit.

BY virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of Kings Bench, and to the Sheriff of the Newcastle District directed, against the Lands and Tenements of David M'Gregor Rogers Esq. at the suit John Strachan, Thomas A. Dobbs, and Thomas H. Cartwright, Executors of the late Richard Cartwright, Esq. I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said David M'Gregor Rogers the following Lands, viz

S. half of Lot No. 3 Broken Front, A.
Lot No. 3 do. do. B.	}	330 Acres.
Lot No. 3 do. do. C.
Lot No. 23 2 Concession,		200 do.
Lot No. 26 3 do		200 do.

of the Township of Haldimand, in the county of Northumberland, which Property I shall offer for sale at Public Auction, at the Inn now occupied by Mr. N. W. Mack, in the village of Coburg, on the ninth day of February next at 12 o'clock, at noon.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
By EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff
N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above described Premises, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber, on or before the day of Sale.

NOTE.—The sale of the above Lots, No. 3, Concession A., B., and C., is postponed until the 5th day of October next at the same place and hour.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
BY EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.
Sheriff's Office, Cobourg, }
24 September, 1824. } 14—td.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT.

H. M. Dock Yard, Kingston,
17th August 1824.

NOTICE is hereby given, that Sealed Tenders will be received at my Office until Wednesday, the Sixth day of October next, from all persons willing to Contract for the safe transport of such quantities of Naval Store, Naval Ordnance Stores, Provisions and Baggage, as may be required to be forwarded from the following places, for the term of one year, and for a further Indefinite period, until six month's notice for the discontinuance of the Contract be given by one of the parties.

VIZ:—

From York to Holland Landing.—From Holland Landing to Kempenfeldt Bay, and from thence into the Naval Store House at the Head of the Rottawasaga River. From Kempenfeldt Bay by the New Road into the Storehouses of His Majesty's Naval Depôt at Penetanguishine

The Tenders distinctly to express the rate per hundred weight (of 112lbs.) at which the said Stores will be delivered, and are to contain the names of two competent Sureties for the due performance of the Contract; the said Tenders to be forwarded to my Office, addressed to the "NAVAL STOREKEEPER," and endorsed

"Tender for Transport,"

And the parties making the Tenders, or their authorized agents, are personally to attend at His Majesty's Dock Yard, Kingston, at one o'clock on the 6th day of October next, when the said Tenders will be opened and decided on.

M. B. MENDS
35—6w. H. M. Naval Storekeeper.

NOT OFFICIAL.

TO BE LET OR SOLD,

(And possession given at a short notice.)

THAT ELEGANT, and COMMODIOUS MANSION, Built, and lately occupied, by

A. N. McNABB, ESQUIRE.

Situated in King-Street, East, about half way between the Don Bridge and Town of York.—With a Large GARDEN, Spacious Yard, and every necessary Out-Buildings,—occupying altogether One Acre of Land.

The House is of Two Stories, besides the Ground Floor, and has the following Rooms and conveniences, viz:—A PARLOUR, DRAWING-ROOM, FOUR LODGING ROOMS, and DRESSING ROOM, STUDY, STORE-ROOM, SERVANTS ROOM, KITCHEN, BACK KITCHEN, CELLAR, LOFT, &c. &c. &c. Water is conducted by Pipes into the KITCHEN, where are the necessary Fixtures.

Amongst the Out Offices, are, Stables, Harness Room, Cow House, Coach and Cart House, Bake and Smoke House, &c. &c.

The Garden, which contains more than half an acre of Land, has been lately well stocked with various kinds of valuable Fruit-Trees.

For Terms, and further particulars, apply to the U. C. Gazette Office. t. f.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the EASTERN DISTRICT will at the next Session of the LEGISLATURE make application to be authorised to effect a Loan to enable them to erect a Gaol and Court House in the Town of Cornwall. 37—6m.

NOTICE.

AN APPLICATION will be made to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for an Act imposing a Tax on Dogs in the Town of YORK and its vicinity, the proceeds of which to be applicable to the police purposes.

By Order of the Magistrates in Adjourned General Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the Home District assembled on the 6th day of Sept. 1824.

(Signed,)

S. HEWARD.
Clk. Peace Home District.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the COUNTY of GLENGARY intend presenting a Petition to the LEGISLATURE at the next Session for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Glengary and the Town of Cornwall alternately. 37—6m.

FOR SALE.

A very Superior London made

TELESCOPE,

(Imported by a Gentleman who has since returned to England, for his own use)

Prime Cost Thirty Guineas.

Also,—an excellent

NIGHT GLASS.

Prime Cost Fifteen Guineas.

For further particulars inquire at this Office.

1st Sept. 1824 No. 36,—4 w.

NOTICE.

THE Plan and Estimate of a STEAM BOAT, (to be Built by Mr. JAMES S. ROGERS,) about One Hundred Tons Burthen, intended to Ply between this Port and Niagara, may be seen at this Office.—Her Engine is intended to be of Twenty Five Horse Power. The whole Cost is estimated at Two Thousand Two Hundred and Five Pounds Currency. She is to be Built by Stock, made up of Shares, of Twenty Five Pounds each. A few Shares are still wanting. Subscriptions for which will be received at this Office, and at the Office of the Niagara Gleaner, where Estimates and Conditions will be exhibited to those who wish to become Stockholders.

Gazette Office, York, }
August 26th, 1824. } No. 35.—t. f.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the INHABITANTS of the COUNTY of MIDDLESEX, will make application at the next Session of the PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE by Petition, praying, that the said COUNTY may be erected into a seperate District.

24th July, 1824. 35—6w.

ELOPEMENT.

WHEREAS Catherine, my wife, has Eloped from my bed and board, without provocation, or just cause.—I hereby forbid all Persons whatsoever from harbouring, or trusting her on my account, as I will not be answerable for any debts she may contract whilst thus absent.

STEPHEN SMITH.

Whitby, August 23, 1824. 35—3w.

NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the Co partnership heretofore existing between JOHN AND GEORGE MONRO, Merchants, of York, Upper Canada, was on the first instant dissolved by mutual consent.—All persons indebted to the said firm are requested to pay the amount of their respective accounts to MR. WILLIAM P. PATRICK of this Town, without delay, whom duly authorized to receive the same—and all persons to whom the said Co-partnership stands indebted will present their accounts to him for adjustment.

JOHN MONRO,
GEORGE MONRO.
York, 17th August, 1824. 34—tf.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS hereby given, that a MEDICAL SCHOOL is opened at St. Thomas, in the Talbot Settlement, under the direction of CHARLES DUNCOMB, Esq. Licentiate, and the immediate patronage of the Hon. COLONEL TALBOT, where the Education of young men for the Profession of Medicine and Surgery will be carefully superintended, and every opportunity afforded them to become intimately acquainted with the Structure and Physiology of the Human Body. Every Student before admission is expected to have a competent knowledge of the Latin Language or give satisfactory assurances of immediately acquiring it; for which purpose a competent teacher will be resident in the village.

CHARLES DUNCOMB, will give a course of Lectures on the Theory and Practice of Medicine.

JOHN RULPH, is expected to give the first course of Lectures and Demonstrations during the ensuing season on the Anatomy and Physiology of the Human Body.

St. Thomas, Talbot Street, }
August 5th, 1824. } 34—6w.

THE YORK ALMANACK,

AND

ROYAL CALENDAR

OF

UPPER-CANADA,

For the Year 1824.

Much Enlarged, and Improved from the Edition of last Year.

A FEW Copies of this Work being left on hand, may now be had at half the usual Price, on application at the U. C. Gazette Office, York.
August 26th, 1824. t. f.

NOTICE.

VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE.

VIZ:—

In the Township of Vaughan

Lots No. 22, 23, 24, in the 7th Con. and Broken Lot No. 5, in the 10th Concession.	}	620 Acres.
Township of York
Lot No. 13, 5th Concession, and Broken Front West of Yonge Street on the Humber, West half of No 15, in 2d Con. West of Yonge St.	}	380 Acres.
Township of Percy
Lot No 20, in 5th Concession.	}	400 Acres.
Lot No. 21, in 4th Ditto.

For particulars apply to Guy C. Wood, Esq. Cornwall, or the Subscriber in York.

R. G. ANDERSON.
19th July, 1824. 30—tf.

NOTICE.

ALL Persons indebted to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire, of Stamford, are requested to make immediate payment to the Subscriber at Victoria, London District, and those having claims on the Estate, will be pleased to furnish him with their respective Accounts properly authenticated,

(Signed) WALTER NICHOL,
Administrator to the Estate of the Late ROBERT NICHOL, ESQUIRE
Niagara, 20th May, 1824.

NOTICE.

WANTED, for FOURTEEN YEARS, or not less than TEN, a LOAN of TWO THOUSAND POUNDS, Halifax Currency, for the building of a PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH of ENGLAND, in the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada.

The Subscriber is authorized to offer Sufficient Legal Security for the Repayment of the Loan, at the end of the period, and for the Annual Payment of the Interest accumulating thereon, at Six per Cent. per annum.

(By Order of the Committee.)
GEORGE O'KILL STUART,
19—tf. SECRETARY, pro tem.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

THE Board for the General Superintendence of Education, in this Province, give notice that the undermentioned Lands, reserved for the purposes of the Institution, are about to be disposed of on terms advantageous to purchasers; and that, after the sixteenth day of September next, applications may be addressed to Colonel Talbot, residing in the District of London, with respect to any Lands situate in that District, who is fully authorised to enter into any contracts for their sale, and to the Secretary of the Board, at York, with respect to any of the Lands situate in the other Districts.

School Reserves in the London District	Blandford, about	20,000
	Houghton, " "	19,000
	Middleton, " "	14,000
	Southwold, " "	17,000
	Yarmouth, " "	11,903
	Westminster, " "	9,237
Midland District,	Sheffield, " "	56,068
Newcastle do.	Seymour, " "	47,000

By Order of the Board,
JAMES GIVINS, Secretary.
York, 26th July, 1823. tf—31.

N. B. It is requested that all communications respecting the above Lands be post paid.

FOR SALE.

LOT No. Two, in the First Concession of the Township of York, with the Broken Front, containing about Two Hundred and Forty Acres of Land.

Application to be made to

J. B. MACAULAY
York, 12th June, 1824. 25—t. f.

NOTICE.

FOR SALE, by private Contract, the House and Lot lately occupied by Mr. O'Sullivan, Saddler, King's-Street, in the Town of York, the Lot is 26 feet fronting King's Street, by 112 feet deep.

Also.—A Lot adjoining the above on the West side, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—A Lot adjoining Mr. Duggan's, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—Three Lots on Stuarts Land, each 40, by 60 feet.

Should the above Property and Lots not be sold by Private Contract, the five last described Lots will be sold at Public Sale, on the first day of July ensuing.

Application for Terms of Sale, to be made to

ALEXANDER WOOD, ESQ.
YORK, 17th March, 1824. t. f.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Inhabitants of the Township of TOWNSEND intend Petitioning both Houses of the Provincial Legislature at its next Session, to pass a Law, Establishing a Line Surveyed in the year 1823, between the 12th and 13th Cons. of the said Township.

TOWNSEND, 20th May, 1824. } No. 21—1 m. t. d.

VALUABLE LANDED PROPERTY FOR SALE.

TWENTY SEVEN TOWN LOTS, eligibly situated in the Village of Cobourg, in Hamilton, Upper Canada, on one of which, a Store and Dwelling House are erected.

Two Neat Small FARMS, contiguous to the above Village, containing, one, about Twenty-eight Acres, the other, about Fifty Acres, with a House and other Buildings on each of them.—A Plan of the above may be seen on application to Mr. J. G. BETHUNE, Cobourg, (who shall show the Premises,) or to the Subscriber.

Two TOWN LOTS in Prescottville, adjoining to the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada, with Houses and other Buildings thereon, being Lots No. 21 and 22.

200 Acres of Land being No. 1, 8th Con. of Murray.

200 do do being No. 4, 4th do of Hungerford.

200 do do being No. 1, 8th do of Wiechester.

200 do do being No. 24, 8th do of Mountain.

200 do do being the West halves of No. 31 and 32 in the 2d Concession of Hawkesbury.

Liberal Terms of Payment will be granted.

For particulars apply to

FRS. ANT. LAROQUE.

N. B. The above mentioned Town Lots in the flour fishing Village of Cobourg, and the two adjoining Farms, will be disposed of by Public Sale, in the said Village on the 24th May next.

F. A. L. R.

Montreal, 15th March, 1824. t. f.

INTERESTING NOTICE.

THE Surveyor General begs leave to inform the Public, that he has obtained the permission of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, to publish a of the Province, on a large Scale. It is to be engraved in London, in the best style, and will be ready for delivery in a few months.

CORRECT MAP

This information, the Surveyor General thinks it necessary to make, in order to prevent those persons, who are desirous of having an authentic MAP of Upper Canada, from being imposed upon by a Surreptitious Copy, said to be on the eve of Publication.

Surveyor General's Office, }
York, 24 April, 1823. } 14—tf

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the County of Prince Edward, in the Midland District, intend Petitioning the Legislature, at the next Session thereof, to have the said County set off, and made into a separate District from the said Midland District, and to be called the District of Maitland. No. 24—6ms.

TIMBER WANTED AT BURLINGTON BEACH.

OFFERS will be received until the 10th day of July next, by the Contractor, at Burlington Beach—Also—by FRANCIS HALL, Engineer, Queenston for delivering at the works—the following quantities of round and square

TIMBER.

59,000 Lineal Feet of White Oak Timber, Foot Square; in Length varying from 22 to 33 Feet,

37,490 Lineal Feet of 3 Inch White Oak Plank; 18 Inches in width—in Length varying from 12 to 33 Feet

36,400 Lineal Feet of Pine Timber, 12 Inches in diameter—in Length varying from 12 to 33 Feet.

Burlington Beach, June 22d, 1824

No. 28—t f.

THE

Canadian Annual Register.

UNDER THE PATRONAGE OF HIS EXCELLENCY,

SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

To whom the Work is Dedicated by Permission.

AS the Projector and Editor of this Great National Work is confident of its ultimate success, if but a moderate share of encouragement is given to its outset,—he takes this opportunity of requesting those Agents of this Paper who have received the names of any Subscribers to the Work to transmit them, together with their address, without delay, to the U. C. Gazette Office, in order that they may be added to those already received in the larger Prospectus about to be issued.

The names and residences of the earliest patronsof this Great Undertaking, will be published, alphabetically arranged, in the first volume of the work, as a perpetual record of their liberality, public spirit, and sound patriotism.

It is again repeated, that no money will be demanded, until the work, which will not exceed the price of the meanest newspaper, is delivered.

A New Type is ordered from Great Britain expressly for this work.

U. C Gazette Office, }
November 20, 1823. }

TERMS

OF THE U. C. GAZETTE AND WEEKLY REGISTER.

FOUR DOLLARS per annum (Postage included) payable half year ly in advance. Three months notice is required previous to the discontinuance of any Subscription.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Six lines and under, two shillings and six pence, and seven pence halfpenny, every subsequent insertion.

Six to ten lines, five shillings, and one shilling and threepence subsequently.

All exceeding ten lines, four pence per line for the first insertion, and one penny subsequently.—Rule and Figure work charged Double.—A discount of 25 per cent. allowed to those who advertise by the year.—Advertisements cannot be received after 1 o'clock on the Wednesday afternoon, immediately preceding the day of Publication.—Advertisements unaccompanied with positive directions as to the exact number of insertions to be given them, will be continued until expressly forbidden.—Or until the day of Sale (if alluding to Sales) and charged accordingly.

☞ Advertisements from the Country must be post paid, with the price of insertion; or, a reference in Town who will pay when demanded, or discontinued.

☞ Any Agent obtaining 3 Subscribers has a paper for himself at half price;—if he obtains 6, he has his own paper gratis;—and, for as many as he obtains above 6, he will receive, besides his own paper, a Commission 6*d* per cent. upon the whole amount.

BLANK DEEDS AND MEMORIALS

For Sale at this Office.

WEEKLY REGISTER.

VOL. III. Our endeavor will be to "stamp the very body of the time—its form and pressure"—we shall extenuate nothing, nor shall we set down aught in malice. No. 37.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 9th, 1824.

ERRATUM.

For Spottle, in our Commentary of last week READ Apostate.

Editorial Commentary.

Although we cannot pretend to insert an hundredth part of the balderdash, gasconade, and rain compliment, with which the American papers are stuffed, on the arrival of the Marquis LAFAYETTE, we cannot refuse giving the account of his embarkation in France, which is important, as shewing the state of popular feeling in that still unsettled country.—As to the General himself, and his republican brethren on this side the Atlantic, both parties are rapturously engaged from morning to night, and from night to morn, in tuning that well known ditty,—the chorus of which runs in this happy strain.

If you loves me as I love you,
No Knife can cut our love in two.

YANKEE DOODLE DOO!

We rather think Mr. WARD will not be very thankful to the Colonial Advocate for making him the Returning Officer for Durham, which he has done in the 11th number of his miscellany—As to the number of bad votes therein stated, as being on the side of Mr. Boulton, we can assure the Advocate he has greatly underrated them—But the lapse of a few more weeks will probably clear the matter up—and determine who has a right to the seat for that County.

ERRATA is perfectly correct in his conjecture that Mr. Fothergill has a great number of votes in consequence of his having advocated the measures of Government on a certain occasion.—Mr. F. was fully sensible of what would be the consequence at the time;—but he did then, (as he would now, and for ever whilst he has life,) scorn to weigh any personal considerations or advantages of his own—against what he conceived to be the public interests.—He believed the views of the Executive, on the occasion alluded to, to be enlightened and just, and he performed what he thought was his duty.—In a work that is preparing for the press this affair is further, and, as we trust, satisfactorily explained;—that work will be published—; in the mean time, we see no good likely to result from the publication of ERRATA's letter.—

Notwithstanding our remarks on the subject of anonymous communications two weeks ago—we have received another from Whig, involving the character of a man whom we have hitherto always understood to be highly respectable, in a very serious charge, being no less than Felony.—Really some authority ought to be given with such a document.—We have no doubt that the conduct of Mr. SHAW, the Magistrate, was highly meritorious; and, as we hear one of the parties is actually in jail—our communicant, who ever he is, will see a notice of the affair under our domestic head, according to his wish—but we must decline publishing the name of the implied principal—until we have a better authority.

It cannot be at all surprising that Mr. GOURLAY should remember Mr. Fothergill with feelings of bitterness (see No. 11 Col. Advo.)—having received his first serious check in the District of Newcastle, which that wandering patriot was pleased to term the rebel District—But he is totally in error if he imagines that Mr. F—entertains any enmity whatever towards him. Pity, he does feel, and has often cried with the poet,

O, what a noble mind is there o'erthrown!

But, as Mr. G. says he sometimes reads this paper, and seems to court a reply to his abusive postscript, we shall probably grant his desire in our next.

Partially recovered from his delirium, poor Orton has published a very silly letter in the OBSERVER,—on the result of the Durham Election—Surely he cannot be so mad as to court a flagellation from us?—He must know that towards him, particularly, we have the bowels of compassion—nay—they absolutely yearn, for his recovery!—But we doubt whether his friends in Montreal—and neighbours in Hope—will be equally tender and compassionate towards this aspiring representative of a golden city—He has our prayers, however, and until something very pungent and healing comes to our hands, for his benefit—we shall be careful of his wounds.—

* By the bye, CAREY ought to visit the Dull at Shewanish Farm, for a week or two—in order to look into the famous Hebrew Lexicon, kept at that celebrated house of entertainment—for the admiration and astonishment of strangers—since we perceive he is rather deficient in his knowledge of the Mosaic tongue.

SELECTIONS FROM BRITISH AND FOREIGN JOURNALS.

THE GRAND CALEDONIAN BALL.

In consequence of the restoration of the forfeited Peerages, Almack's never before contained such an assemblage of rank, fashion, and beauty, as it did on Friday night.

There where present at midnight, eleven hundred persons, dressed in the costume of every country; and the brilliancy of the scene, from the quantities of diamonds with which almost every female's dress was bedecked, was unequalled.

At half past nine the Duchess of Richmond, and many other leading women of rank, arrived; so great a crowd had they of the approaching crowd. From the hour till half past eleven arrived Mr. Canning and the other Cabinet Ministers, all in the Windsor uniform; the Duchess of Bedford, Duchesses of Argyll, Somerset, Leeds &c. The leading Modistes combined in the banqueting-room, on the ground floor, until the arrival of the Royal party, who entered at the private door opposite Duke Street, at twenty minutes before 12 o'clock. The music announced were—the Princess Augusta, Duke and Duchess of Clarence, and Prince Leopold. The Duke of Argyll, as the Colonel of the Highland Chiefs, attended the Royal Ladies, preceded by the ancient and renowned piper, who came all the way from Gordon Castle to preside on this occasion; he marched up the stairs playing the reel of "Tullochgorum" with that degree of animation so peculiar to the Highlands; all the Ladies of rank followed together with the Gentlemen.

The Appearance of the Gre t Saloon at Midnight—The double orchestra was decorated with flowers; the walls were covered with the banners of Scotland; and, at the top of the room, the arms of England were placed to the left, in those of Scotland. The illumination was brilliant beyond example. The French musicians attempted to strike up "God save the King" on the entrance of the Royal Party, this was opposed, and time's band called for, which was the favourite of the night. The dancing commenced at a quarter past twelve, with a double a la Ecossaise danced by two sets of tall, young, and beautiful women, called "The Ladies of the White Rose." The Rose of Charlie Stuart. Then the Ladies in the right hand, for the first time since the year fifteen and forty-five, was a novelty.

"Tullochgorum" was the next dance, followed by "Colonel McBean" "Moneymusk," and "The auch the Wood to Davie." After this, the crowded room produced heat; and that beat became almost intolerable; about three o'clock the dancing had a pause, about four it was partially revived; at five the music wholly ceased; at six the rooms were cleared.

The following were among the finest and most splendidly dressed Ladies—

The Duchess of Argyll, in a dress of massive golden tissue; her raven looks, and a prodigious plume of feathers of the same colour, produced a contrast with her diamonds equalled only by.

The Duchess of Bedford, whose jewelry astonished all by its glitter and its glare. The latter made a prodigious display indeed. Independently of the necklace, which cost at least fifty thousand guineas, chains of diamonds, with amethysts in the centre, decorated her Grace's dress from the black velvet Spanish hat to the girdle or cestus below the stomacher.

The Hon Mrs. Hope was a meteor in the throng; that lady was a moving firmament; and it was said the cost in brilliants a-lone, in a dress of sombre magnificence (crimson) exceeded seven hundred thousand pounds!

The foreign diplomatists were almost as numerous as the native ones. The Spaniards not abundant, but the Donnas were. The splendour of the scene was not a little heightened by the presence of the Officers of so many Dragoon Regiments. The Marquis of Londonderry wore his uniform of the Tenth. The Marchioness of Winchester, who is a very fine woman, wore a dress of white satin, almost covered with brilliant stars, which had a rich effect. Mrs. Charles Calvert were a plume of fifteen ostrich feathers. Lady Siltoun and the Hon. Misses Fraser wore the Scottish Highland plume. The Misses Addington looked inconceivably well, in golden tissue. Mr. Christie, as Mahommed Ali, the present Viceroy of Egypt was very amusing.

The head of every House was there, except the Duke of Athol; his Grace's place to substitute his son Lord Glenlyon, who looked remarkably well in the kilt and philibeg.

We forgot to mention the Ladies of the "White Rose" were all dressed alike in white gossamer over white silk, with a Spanish hat turned up in front; the crown in on trellis work; the simplicity had a very agreeable effect, which their dancing contributed not a little to increase.

The Duke of Wellington wore the uniform of the Oxford Blues.

Mr Gow's band, by particular desire, played his (Mr. Gow's) first favourite set of Scotch Quadrilles.—Glasgow Herald.

STEAM NAVIGATION.—The advantages which steam navigation affords to travellers will be shortly extended (it is stated to us) in an extraordinary degree on the coast of Scotland; as a steamboat very superior in her size, construction, and accommodations, is about to be established in the month of July, between Leith, Tarbert, Isla, Staffa, Jona, and even the Giant's Causeway. It is needless to point out the advantages which travellers in general, but more particularly the curious, will now enjoy in being thus enabled by means of this pleasant and expeditious conveyance to visit those parts of the North, so celebrated for the remains of antiquity and the wonders of nature.

Extract of a letter dated Aruba, July 16th 1824.

GOLD.—Every person in this island is busily employed in digging for gold, so that they cannot be had for any other employment. No doubt you will be surprised when I inform you one piece of pure gold has been found, weighing 32lb. 8oz. and many pieces weighing from 14 to 16lb. I have seen several pieces of the latter weight myself. The schooner that left yesterday has upwards of 100 pounds on board.

THOMAS D JONES.

Extract of a letter from an American gentleman, dated at Curacoa, July 23

The above extract is entirely confirmed; for since I have been in this island, scarce 8 weeks, upwards of £150,000 in value of pure virgin gold, 24 carrots, have come up from Aruba.

The government of this place have noticed it, and proclamations are in circulation to prevent speculation, and other regulations, respecting this most valuable acquisition. The piece of 32lb weight is here, and appears perfectly pure and in nuclus as usual.

The Dutch Government will have the exclusive benefit, and a very wise measure to secure it.

The levelling system.—A friend of ours relates an Anecdote, which delineates with admirable effect, the levelling spirit felt particularly in the State of New-York

While sitting in a Bar Room near Albany waiting for a Stage, a fat Banisher of a Landlord with a pipe in his mouth, related an interview which had taken place during the morning between him and Mr. Clinton. He said he met the late governor on the road, and having stopped him to converse, he (the landlord, at last addressed him in the following manner:—Now De-Witt, suppose we should put you in this year's stage; tell us honestly whether you will behave yourself?—Tinsta.

From the Boston Daily Advertiser.

CURIOSITY.—In the ship Lucy, which arrived at this port yesterday, from London, came passenger, Mr. Joseph Price, of Wilmington, Del. who was one of the crew of the brig Gen. Gates of Boston, and was taken prisoner by the natives of New Zealand. Mr. P. has furnished Mr. Topliff with a narrative of their capture, from which we extract the following particulars:

"The Gen. Gates sailed from Boston in 1821, on a sealing voyage, and on the 22d March of August following Price was landed with five others, on the coast of New Zealand, to catch seals—after remaining there six weeks, having procured 3263 skins, they were taken by a party of natives of New Zealand, at 10 or 11 o'clock at night. The natives set fire to their huts, burnt their skins and destroyed the provisions, not knowing the use of them. They then tied their hands behind them, and marched them to Looking Glass Bay, a distance of more than a hundred and fifty miles. They had nothing to eat but roasted fish. They were then marched 200 miles to Sandy Bay, where they found a collection of savages, who carried them before their King and Queen. As soon as they arrived, one of their number, John Rawtree of London, was ordered to be killed. He was tied to a tree and struck on the head by two savages, armed with clubs. His head was cut off and buried, and the rest of the body was roasted in a kind of oven under ground, and offered to the survivors to eat; and having nothing else, they were forced by hunger to partake of it. They tied the remaining five to a tree, with fifty men to guard them. The next day, James Weaver was killed and roasted; the day after, Wm Rawson, of New-London; and the day after, Wm. Smith, of New-York, shared the same fate. The next day, from what they could learn from the Chief, James West, of New-York, was to die; but the night previous a heavy squall rose from the east, with thunder and rain, which so frightened the natives, that they all ran away to the west with a hideous noise, leaving the men tied under the tree. They succeeded in untying themselves, escaped to the shore, found their boat, in which they put to sea without provisions. They were not 30 years from the shore when they saw 700 savages coming towards the beach. They had been three days in the boat, when they were picked up by the brig Margery, Captain White, of Sidney, N South Wales, at which place they were landed on the 15th of November."

A new book of Military Instructions has just been published by command of his Majesty, and under the revision of Major General Sir Henry Torrens, of which every officer in the Army and Marines is required to supply himself with a copy. The object is to establish one uniform system of field exercise and movement throughout his Majesty's land forces. The new system is founded on that which was introduced about thirty three years ago, by the late General Sir David Dundas, and embraces all the improvements that have since been partially adopted during the late war, so that a fixed and general principle of formation is now to be universally adhered to, and the Army is no longer to be subjected to the inconvenience necessarily resulting from a doubtful and disunited practice, carried on for some years at the uncertain discretion of commanding officers. The work extends to the number of 335 octavo pages, and has twelve large plates, containing no fewer than 91 figures, representing the different manœuvres and evolutions that are hereafter to be performed by companies, battalions and brigades. Hereto are the number of evolutions under the system of 1792 increased by the addition of nine more than eighteen; but the additional evolutions are considered as essential to the complete management of an Army in all possible positions; and a considerable portion of the work is occupied by salutations as to forming, marching, wheeling in echelons—a species of tactics constantly practised with great success by Buonaparte in his campaigns. It may easily be imagined what an extensive and complicated piece of military machinery this must be. Indeed it is so considered by the old Field Officers, some of whom are unable to make (themselves masters of it; and they will probably on that account be obliged to retire from the service. The work, however, appears to be one of the most complete things of the kind that ever was published; and there is every reason to expect that it will be understood and universally acted upon. It will give to the British Army a degree of celerity and perfection which it never possessed before.

EVILS OF FORTUNE-TELLING.—A lady had been married some years, had three little girls, and was near her confinement a fourth time, when her husband, being absent on business, wrote to request she would search his bureau for a paper of some consequence; in doing which she found another, inscribed, "Minutes of my fortune, told me in the year 1789," which was seven years prior to her marriage. Curiosity prompted her to open it, when she found as follows:—"E. D. tells me that I am to marry, in seven years, a lady with blue eyes, fair complexion, and light hair, with whom I am to live very happily; that I shall have three daughters; that in giving birth to a boy, the fourth child, my wife shall die." This paper fell into the lady's hands but a few days before she was confined, and caused a depression which she could not throw off; but when the sex of the child was known, the strange coincidence of the three girls, and the boy being as predicted, the fourth child, so entirely seized her imagination, that in three days she lost her intellects, and in less than three weeks (during the whole of which time she was completely deranged) she expired.

WARM BATHING.—The luxury of warm bathing is considerably increased in Paris by the bather taking refreshments whilst immersed to the chin in the water. This practice, the Paris physicians contend, additionally opens the pores, and, by a gentle but increased perspiration, proves highly efficacious in removing those disorders for which the tepid bath is prescribed. When the patient is in the bath he rings a bell, and the coffee, chocolate, soup or other deluting refreshments, are introduced upon a waiter made of cork, which floats upon the surface of the water, whilst the bather takes it at his pleasure.

A TOUCH OF THE MARVELLOUS.—Lord Blaney, an Irish Peer, and a General Officer in the English Army, who it will be recollected was taken prisoner near two years ago by the French near Gibraltar, and was afterwards sent into France, has lately published an account of his adventures in that country, in which he relates the following most extraordinary occurrence, stated to have taken place while he and his friends were drinking their wine after dinner, near Gueret in France:

"Three of the wine-glasses broke spontaneously in pieces, and the wine ran about the table and on the floor; the clock which had before struck tolerably correct, now struck two hundred and sixteen; the screech owls, of which there were abundance in the neighbourhood, made a hideous noise; "and appearance," says his Lordship, "were altogether so very strange, that I observed, there must either have been an earthquake, or some most extraordinary event had taken place. Our imaginations, from being wound up in the highest pitch of conjecture and anxiety, to devise a cause for such strange occurrences, were soon set at rest by a most violent rapping at the door, which proved to be an express, that brought the agreeable and wonderful intelligence of Napoleon's abdicating the throne."

From the London Literary Chronicle.

A dead take in.—Some few years back, while an East Indiaman was lying at Canton, a party were sent on shore for fresh water, accompanied by a young officer, who took with him his doubled-barrelled gun, and amused himself, until attacked by several of the natives, when he fired, and unfortunately killed one of the men: this deterred the rest from pursuit, and he escaped. On the following day a great stir was made about the business; the trade was suspended, and, as usual, the officer was demanded as an expiatory sacrifice to the manes of the deceased Chinese. This could not be agreed to; but, instead of the officer, a large sum in dollars was offered to hush up the matter; but no, fond as they are of dollars, the great men of Canton, in this instance, would have a life for a life.

Just at this juncture, the butcher of the Indiaman committed suicide, when some cunning dog of the ship's company found out that he was about the size of the officer who had shot a Chinese instead of a parquet, and it was thought he might be passed off very well for him. The body was, therefore, dressed in a suit of the other's uniform, and the poor butcher was unwittingly promoted after his decease; the dirk was strapped round his body, and every thing done to make it appear that he was the officer, who was very snugly put out of sight; the villainous butcher's knife was changed for a town made razor, which was besmeared with blood, and put into the deceased's hands. When all was ready, a boat was despatched to the shore, to say that the authorities might now have the body of the offending officer. A murderer was sent on board, saw the officer lay dead with his own eyes, and having so seen, and, "it was no fashion (no use,) to take a dead man; but as he was dead, they had better pay him, and put the money at first offered." A very wise decision. Whether truthly known how much money was paid on the deceased, but the dead butcher, who so civilly committed suicide at this critical moment, and a few Spanish dollars, soon set the jnnks at work again.

UTILITY OF A GOOD NOSE.—A few days ago, a respectable gentleman of this town while standing at the door of his house, fancied that he felt a slight titillation in his nasal organ, caused by some effluvia or other, which, from the faint sensation it produced, seemed to imply its having come from a considerable distance.—Doubting at first whether his odorous ventilator had on this occasion transmitted a faithful impression to the sensorium of the soul, he blew it soundly in his handkerchief, and having put it in its best trim for external perception, turned his face to the gale, which was then blowing up High-street, and after taking a few hearty snuffs, plainly perceived that he had been rightly informed, and that the odour, which he now more strongly felt, proceeded from burning. He immediately resolved to scent it out; and after smelling minutely all about his own premises, and satisfying himself of their safety, he proceeded from Church-Place along High-street, poking his head into every entry and opening in search of his game, and making the most strict analysis of each separate scent that rushed upon him in combination through these funnels of fertility. Still, however, the one he sought for was not there—it yet continued to throw its awful burden on the wind at a distance; and in this manner he proceeded, piloted by his faithful nose along the current, through crowds of passing townspeople, whose olfactory tubes, either bedubbed with snuff, or more calous by nature, seemed quite unconscious of the object of his pursuit, till he at last arrived at the head of Bank street. Here his pilot admonished him to turn to the right, and without the smallest ceremony introduced him into the shop of Mr. ——, where, after taking a few hearty inhalations, and looking inquisitively around him, he demanded of the merchant if his shop was not on fire? He was, of course, answered with no small surprise in the negative, and assured that all was right: but this asseveration was by no means strong enough to confute the epodical testimony of his own nose, which had traced the scent to that place, and could trace it no further. Still, too, though unfelt by the merchant, it every moment conveyed to him fresh proofs of its being in the immediate vicinity of where he was standing; and after repeated assurances to that effect, the merchant was induced to examine a back part of his premises in which a fire was kept, where, to the utter confusion of his incredulity, and the complete triumph of the gentleman's nose, some bags of seed were found to be on fire, which might soon have led to disagreeable consequences!—We most sincerely congratulate the happy town of Dunsfries on possessing the inestimable treasure of such a nose, which has thus proved itself to be a complete safeguard to the inhabitants from every danger that snells before it is more fatally felt; and we heartily wish, in gratitude to the gentleman, as well as for our own safety, that this sense may be the last of the five that forsakes him.—Dumfries Courier.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.—For some years past a very strong persuasion has existed in the minds of many of the inhabitants of Lincolnshire, that beds of coal exist under many parts of that county, and might be worked to advantage, but that all the persons who have been employed to search for them have been bribed by the coal-masters in Yorkshire, to render their attempts abortive. A few years ago the Earl of Bristol was prevailed upon to search for coal on one of his estates, and employed a number of men to bore for that purpose. After going to a considerable depth without success, (indeed the finding of coal there is geologically impossible), his Lordship began to tire of the undertaking and the men found that their services would very soon be dispensed with, unless they did something to relieve his hopes. With that view they several times put a small quantities of coal into the bore, which of course were brought up by the instrument, and induced his Lordship's agents to think that at length they had succeeded according to their wish. One day the borers saw the steward approaching the place where they were at work, and one of them who had brought some coals with him, hastily emptied his pocket into the hole, without stopping to scrutinize very minutely what it contained. When the steward arrived, the boring rod was drawn up, and brought with it, not only a quantity of coal, but some bread and cheese, the sight of which greatly disconcerted the borers. Whether the Earl was afraid of alarming the agricultural interests by the discovery of bread and cheese mines, we are not informed: but certain it is that he immediately discontinued boring.—Manchester Guardian.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

FRANCE.

The French Ambassador, Guilleminat, arrived at Constantinople on the 11th of June, and was received in the usual manner.

From an eye witness of the Embarkation of La Fayette:—

"As it was expected that the General would arrive early in the afternoon of the 12th July, several merchants, and a great number of young men, left this at 2 p. m. in six barges, gigs, and one hoy-hack, to go out and meet the Mentor (La Fayette in the Cadmus (6 miles from Havre,) and accompany him into town. The American Consul, and all the American gentlemen, and the captains of ships in the harbour, attended also paying that compliment to the General; but the Sous-Prefet notified to the Consul that the Americans must not do so."

"The road for two miles out of town, continued crowded from 3 in the afternoon till dark, when no tidings of the General having come on, the people returned into town, where they remained in groups all the evening. Here presented the appearance of a town in danger of an enemy's approach. The guards were doubled at all the posts, patroles of soldiers, police men and gensdarmes, marched about, and prevented the crowd from collecting in any one spot."

"At a quarter past 10 the General arrived in a post carriage with his son and secretary. They were accompanied by the carriages that had gone out from Havre, and about 100 young men on foot, who all dressed alike. A strong body of gensdarmes attended the cavalcade. On arriving at the entrance to the city, the gates were shut, and the guard drawn out with fixed bayonets.—It was then asked if it was the Marquis de La Fayette, who was hourly expected, and being answered that it was General La Fayette the gate was opened to admit his carriage, and closed immediately, to prevent the entry of any of those who had gone out to meet the General. After repeated and unavailing attempts to get in, and expostulating with the Gate and City guard, this latter assured the gentleman, on his honour, that if they would go to the Porte de Pincettes, (a gate at the rear side of the city, and a mile from the principal one,) they would be admitted. On proceeding themselves to that gate, it was closed: and they were desired to go back to the principal gate, where they were admitted, two by two, at intervals, and the names of several taken."

"In the mean time the General proceeded to the house of Mr Phillippon, (a most respectable merchant,) where an elegant dinner was provided, and a large party waiting to receive him.—In the evening of the entertainment, a stone was thrown in by some miscreant in through one of the windows, which passed close to the head of one of the gentleman On the morning of the 13th crowds again assembled to witness the embarkation of the General, and their streets presented the same appearance as the evening before. A party of Soldiers were drawn up along the Cadmus, on the Custom-house quay, where it was supposed the embarkation would take place. Every impediment was used to prevent the people from coming near the mark allotted. The Cadmus, in consequence of the tide's falling, was obliged to haul out into the roads. The General, accompanied by a body of gentlemen, arrived, and went on board the Steam-boat, which was immediately cleared by order of the Police, who could not allow them to embark whilst any body of soldiers was near her. They also hauled down the flag belonging to the boat, and would not let it be hoisted whilst M. La Fayette was on board. The gates were shut, to prevent the people going to the pier-head to take a last view of the General and his family, their efforts were unavailing: as every boat that could be had was immediately launched, and followed the Steam-boat to the Cadmus, then two miles off.

A guard of armed and a police officer went out in the Cadmus, to prevent the orderly boat from approaching or going on board. On his coming along side, he was received with cheers and accompanied them from the ship, which were returned from the boats and a few persons on shore, who had got out and assembled a little way from the pier-head. The out of the way of the military, as there was a strong guard at the pier-head.) This closed the scene."

SPAIN.

MADRID, June 29.—A List of Congress formed of the Ambassadors of the Holy Alliance is now talked of. The actual situation of Spain, the occupation of Cadiz and the future destiny of the Balearic Islands, are said to be subjects upon which the Congress will take place. It is not known what part England will adopt, but fears are entertained that she will not fall into the views of the other powers.

General Friet, commander of the Artillery of the French army in Spain, deserves from fortune's caprice, whose garrison is to be increased by that of Carthagena. Letters from Gibraltar speak of the augmentation of the Portuguese army. Every thing is quiet in that country. The question of the causes of the present military measures which the Spanish government have brought forward, is to be taken relative to Gibraltar.

The Pope's Nuncio has transmitted to the King, through the medium of the Chief Secretary of State, the circular bull addressed by Pope Leo XII. to all the Patriarchs, Primates Archbishops and Bishops, upon the occasion of his elevation to the Pontifical dignity, as well as the bull for the publication of the Jubilee for 1825. The Holy Father speaks against indifference in religious matters, against bible societies, and the Holy Scriptures being translated into the vulgar tongues.

HOLY ALLIANCE.

AIX-LA-CHAPELLE, July 6.—The conferences at the village of Johannesburg are upon the point of being ended. Prince Metternich will not delay longer joining his Sovereign at Vienna. He will be followed by the Russian Senator Tatischeff, who also returns to Vienna. This last has sent off, some days since, an extraordinary courier to St. Petersburgh, with despatches. Many points relative to the interior affairs of Germany have been settled at these conferences, at which Count Stadion, Minister of State, and Count Bernstorff, Minister of State for Foreign Affairs of the Kingdom of Hanover, have been present. The Count de Munster, Ambassador of the King of Great Britain, has been expected here for several days, and inquire into the actual state of the poor in this district, and to report to his Excellency the result. On the 22d instant, this gentleman arrived here, and after making some inquiries, he proceeded to Oughterard, fourteen, miles west, and such was the distress and misery which he witnessed there upon his arrival, that he sent an express the same night for a quantity of oatmeal to be immediately sent him, to keep the people alive! —This humane, this excellent gentleman, was shocked at the spectacles of human misery which were presented to him; young men laid down upon the bed of misery, unable to move for want of food, and resigned to die. No pen could describe, no pencil paint, what he beheld—the picture was too appalling for human nature to support—the Commissary General could not sustain himself, he was unmanned, the tear of pity ran down his cheek, every shilling which he and his associates possessed was instantly distributed to stay the hand of death.

The Commissary General having made his arrangements at Oughterard, and having had a supply of thirty tons of oatmeal lodged in the town, he returned here, when, at an early hour, one of the Roman Catholic clergy sent him in a report of upwards of two hundred families in one parish who were in an actual state of want, many of whom had not tasted food for the day before: and had the Commissary General waited in town that day, it was the intention of the other Clergy to make known the state of their parishioners, but we understand he proceeded towards Westport.—While this distress exists in the neighbourhood, cargoes of oatmeal are shipping off every day.—Advertiser.

LONDON, JUNE 28.

STEAM COMMUNICATION WITH AMERICA.

On Saturday, a Meeting of the Noblemen and Gentlemen connected with Ireland was held at the City of London Tavern, for the purpose of establishing a more direct communication between Great Britain and Ireland and America.

At one o'clock there were assembled, the Marquis of Lansdown, the Earls of Meath and Ormond, Lord Carbery, the Hon. C. H. Hutchinson, M. P. the Rt. Hon Maurice Fitzgerald M. P. (the Knight of Kerry) Sir William Adams, and several other gentlemen connected with the South of Ireland and American Trade. Shortly after one o'clock, several persons who were expected not having arrived—

Mr. M. Fitzgerald addressed the Meeting and requested a short delay for the arrival of Mr Randolph, who had just arrived from America, and who was capable of communicating much information which would be useful to the object of the Meeting, and Mr. Thos. Spring Rice who was interested in the project, both of whom were shortly expected.

The object for which the meeting was convened was explained in a prospectus from which the following are extracts:

"It is proposed to establish a line of packets to sail weekly from the excellent harbour of Valentia, in the South West extremity of Ireland to the city of New-York.

"The harbour of Valentia is the nearest point of Europe to the American continent. It is 202 miles more westerly than Falmouth, and may be reached from London in 50 hours, and 40 from Liverpool, by a traveller, who will thus save all the danger and delay attended him he should experience the treatment due to a gentleman.—London Paper.

IRELAND.

GALWAY, June 26.

Famine.—It is with great regret we are obliged to write upon this subject; but the fact is, that our people famish, not only in the midst of plenty, but also in the prospect of superabundance.

In consequence of the representations made to government by the Roman Catholic clergy of the state of distress in this neighbourhood, and the humane disposition of some persons who were pleased to contradict the fact, and to say that none existed, his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant was graciously pleased, to send a two Commissary General Lawsons to enquire and inquire into the actual state of the poor in this district, and to report to his Excellency the result. On the 22d instant, this gentleman arrived here, and after making some inquiries, he proceeded to Oughterard, fourteen, miles west, and such was the distress and misery which he witnessed there upon his arrival, that he sent an express the same night for a quantity of oatmeal to be immediately sent him, to keep the people alive! —This humane, this excellent gentleman, was shocked at the spectacles of human misery which were presented to him; young men laid down upon the bed of misery, unable to move for want of food, and resigned to die. No pen could describe, no pencil paint, what he beheld—the picture was too appalling for human nature to support—the Commissary General could not sustain himself, he was unmanned, the tear of pity ran down his cheek, every shilling which he and his associates possessed was instantly distributed to stay the hand of death.

The Commissary General having made his arrangements at Oughterard, and having had a supply of thirty tons of oatmeal lodged in the town, he returned here, when, at an early hour, one of the Roman Catholic clergy sent him in a report of upwards of two hundred families in one parish who were in an actual state of want, many of whom had not tasted food for the day before: and had the Commissary General waited in town that day, it was the intention of the other Clergy to make known the state of their parishioners, but we understand he proceeded towards Westport.—While this distress exists in the neighbourhood, cargoes of oatmeal are shipping off every day.—Advertiser.

LONDON, JUNE 28.

STEAM COMMUNICATION WITH AMERICA.

On Saturday, a Meeting of the Noblemen and Gentlemen connected with Ireland was held at the City of London Tavern, for the purpose of establishing a more direct communication between Great Britain and Ireland and America.

At one o'clock there were assembled, the Marquis of Lansdown, the Earls of Meath and Ormond, Lord Carbery, the Hon. C. H. Hutchinson, M. P. the Rt. Hon Maurice Fitzgerald M. P. (the Knight of Kerry) Sir William Adams, and several other gentlemen connected with the South of Ireland and American Trade. Shortly after one o'clock, several persons who were expected not having arrived—

Mr. M. Fitzgerald addressed the Meeting and requested a short delay for the arrival of Mr Randolph, who had just arrived from America, and who was capable of communicating much information which would be useful to the object of the Meeting, and Mr. Thos. Spring Rice who was interested in the project, both of whom were shortly expected.

The object for which the meeting was convened was explained in a prospectus from which the following are extracts:

"It is proposed to establish a line of packets to sail weekly from the excellent harbour of Valentia, in the South West extremity of Ireland to the city of New-York.

"The harbour of Valentia is the nearest point of Europe to the American continent. It is 202 miles more westerly than Falmouth, and may be reached from London in 50 hours, and 40 from Liverpool, by a traveller, who will thus save all the danger cable risks of the Channel navigation.

At two o'clock, Lord Carbery took the Chair, and opened the business of the meeting.

Mr. Maurice Fitzgerald then addressed the meeting. In carrying into effect this project, they ought to be guided by two leading principles—the first, that the line of communication should be formed between the nearest convenient points of Ireland and America. The Right Hon Gentleman pointed out in the strongest manner the advantage to personal intercourse with America, which the new plan of establishing steam vessels between the south of Ireland and America would afford, and the ready commercial intercourse which could be kept up by branch vessels between the south of Ireland and the other parts of the kingdom. He pointed out the ready supply of coals which might be had at Valentia from the British Channel, and the steam packets sailing from Valentia to the eastern points of Nova Scotia, they there were within the coal supply from Cape Breton, to enable them to take in a fresh supply for the voyage home.

Mr. Nimmo then addressed the meeting. He estimated that with vessels of 1000 tons burthen (which would carry all the necessary coal,) they could navigate the Atlantic from Valentia to the most eastern cape of Nova-Scotia in less than a fortnight; four hundred tons of coal would do for the voyage. He only intended that the bay and basin of Valentia should sail between Valentia and Nova Scotia. At the latter place smaller vessels could be appointed to carry on the navigation throughout all the channels which were open to all parts of Canada, New-York &c., and the smaller steam vessels which brought coals from the British Channel to the South of Ireland for the use of the larger packets, could also convey the merchandize brought in the latter to its proper consignment to other parts of the kingdom.

Lord Carbery suggested that the port of Valentia should not be finally fixed upon without the concurrence of the great commercial interests engaged in the American trade.

The Hon. C. H. Hutchinson enlarged upon the inestimable advantages which must accrue to Ireland from the investment of British capital.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

(EXTRACT OF A PRIVATE LETTER)

June 16th, arrived off the Isle of Wight, the ship Competitor, Captain Acocugh in 104 days from New South Wales with a cargo consisting of native kangaroo, Colonial Beef, elephant oil, seal skins, and 380 bales of wool, came through Cook's Straits New Zealand, and by way of Cape Horn, touching at St. Salvador for water. Barron Field, Esq. late Judge of the Supreme Court, and his Lady, are passengers by the Competitor. Brought sailed the same day as the Competitor, and the Ocean Harrison, was to follow in ten days after, both loaded with similar cargoes, the Courier and Woodlark, were also charged by the house of Osborn Lady, to load for England, calling at Van Diemen's Land to fill up. All sorts of European goods were dear in Sydney; and provisions had fallen one-third and one-half since the great reductions made by Government, and the alteration in the state of the currency. Good green tea was selling at 2s 6d. per lb. by the chest—Fine Hyson at 4s—Fine sugar at 3d by the 6cwt, and sugar retailing at 4s. currency; beef 6d. and 7d. per lb; wheat, from 3s. 6d. to 4s 6d and maize from 2s 6d. to 3s per bushel, in the market. Mr. Oxley, Surveyor General had returned, in January, from an examination of part of the coast to the North and succeeded in discovering a river in Moreton Bay, lat. 28 (which he has name I the Brisbane,) superior to any yet known in New Holland. He ascended it for 50 miles and saw its course for an additional 50 or 60 miles more, being as expected on return from further examination from want of provisions. It is 2 miles broad at the entrance, and has usually from three to nine fathoms water up to where he left off the survey; but about 20 miles from the sea it is crossed by a ledge of rocks, over which there is only twelve feet water, and to the distance to which he penetrated the tide rose four feet and a half, and ran upwards of four miles per hour. The country all round was an undulating level, abounding in very superior timber, the soil rich and well covered with grass, and in several spots free from trees. The river came from the S. W. in the direction of the Macquarie marshes, of which it may probably prove the outlet, being at the termination of Mr Oxley's survey about 350 miles in a direct line from where he left the Macquarie marshes, and in his former trip into the interior. The country around was not subject to flood, no marks of it being seen exceeding seven feet above the then level of the river, which was considerably within its banks. It contained a boundance of fish, and several specimens were shot in its vicinity, of the same species as has hitherto only been found on the banks of the Macquarie. A river of intelerable magnitude, called the Tweed, was also discovered behind Mount Warning, a little to the south ward of the last, with a good bar harbour of fourteen feet, and the country seemingly good around. A similar one, called the Bayne, was also found in Port Curtis.

The Governor intended proceeding, in April, to explore the Brisbane, in to his Majesty's ship Isis, lately arrived from India.—Mr Oxley's health having been materially injured by his two former hazardous expeditions, the hard-ships encountered in this last had given it a still severer shock; but he had recovered considerably at the period of the Competitor's departure, and was anxious to set out on a further journey of discovery for the benefit of science and the Colony, to which his meritorious and patriotic efforts so have already been so serviceable.

Mr. Archibald Bell, Jr. of Richmond Hill, had also discovered a new route over the Blue Mountains to Bathurst, by way of Richmond, which passes through a fertile, well watered, bushy country. Besides considerably reducing the distance, the road will be found entirely level, and free from nearly all the obstacles which render the bleak and barren one now used so annoying to the traveller, and ill adapted for the passage of carts and driving of cattle. The Victorian Corps, lately disbanded, is to be settled along this line.

A stage coach, with four horses has recently commenced running daily between Sydney and Parramatta, leaving Sydney in the morning and returning in the evening; while a handsome row boat goes every morning and evening to Sydney, starting from Parramatta and returns in the evening. These conveyances were paying so well, that a second caravan was preparing to run between Sydney and Parramatta daily, a third between Parramatta and Liverpool, and a stage coach between Parramatta and Windsor; so that now travellers may proceed by by stages to all the well settled parts of the Colony.

The five sheep first been taken out by Captain Wallace, of the Fortescue, were thriving well and bred thrice all among swamps, the greater part of which had been drained by the hands of man they will, no doubt, multiply fast, from the climate and country being so favourable to their propagation, so that wild honey and wax may hereafter become objects of interest to the Colonists for domestic purposes and exportation, besides what will be produced from them in their tame state.

Mr. Hannibal M'Arthur some time ago, imported six young olive trees from England, from five of which eighty three young plants have been reared, and are now thriving well, while the parent stems have added a full third to their growth. The soil is a very sandy light loam, of which Mr. M'Arthur was clearing several acres with the view of planting an olive grove, as from the luxuriance of their growth, they appeared likely to be well adapted to them. Should the production of the olive progress to any increase at this rate, Mr. M'Arthur will be able in a few years to disseminate this valuable tree over the whole Colony, where it appears at present to be a little thriving.

A bread mill for grinding flour has lately been erected at Sydney, by Government, which answers well as a source of revenue to colonists, and as a means of making the punishment a source of profitable labour, that others were about to be established on a more extensive scale. A quantity of New Zealand flax had also been imported, which the female convicts in the factory were taught to dress in the New Zealand manner by two natives of that country, after which it is spun and manufactured by the female Convicts, under the superintendence of cloth. Should this manufacture be properly encouraged, it may prove only prove a profitable way of employing the female convicts, whose bad characters unfit them for family servants, but by encouraging the New Zealanders to raise a crop which they soon always barter for European articles, may in the end, allow them fewer acts of murder and cannibalism, to that of following a natural occupation by which all their wants may be supplied.

Tobacco has this year been so extensively cultivated, that the Colonists will be independent of all Foreign supply; a duty of 4s per lb. having been laid upon imported tobacco, to encourage that of Colonial growth. This measure has put a complete stop to the cultivation of tobacco in Otaheite, where it had latterly been produced of a very superior quality. Had the duty not exceeded 4d. per lb. upon the Otaheitan, it would have afforded a sufficient protection to the Colonial grower, without annihilating its cultivation in Otaheite, which may be considered as a dependance of New South Wales, and on that account ought to be cultivated to some considerable extent.

The country is rapidly clearing by means of the clearing gangs, the settler paying five bushels of wheat per acre on open forest land, to make it fit for the plough. A large distillery has just been completed, to distil from grain; and all the common earthenware used in the Colony is now made by two Staffordshire potters, who say that the Port Jackson clay is very superior to the English for their purposes.

When the Ocean sails, no less than two vessels will have cleared from New South Wales and Van Diemen's Land for England, with cargoes chiefly the produce of the Colonies. This great increase in exportation is chiefly owing to the duty being taken off Colonial oil and timber at home, so that they now afforded a remunerating profit to the shippers, but it is also, no doubt greatly referable to the reflection of Government expenses in the Colony, and Government bills being no longer disposed of at a fixed price, but sold to the highest bidder; so that the merchants find it more profitable to make their remittances in produce than in bills, which now bear a discount of 10 to 20 per cent.

On our passage home, April 26, in lat 26, 0 longitude by his Majesty' ship Talmer, Captain Bremer, C. B. last from the Cape de Verds bound to the Cape of Good Hope and New-South Wales, on secret service.

MISCELLANEOUS

A Swiss woman is exhibiting in London who is 6 feet 5 inches high. [We former ly heard of an Irishman superior in stature to the common class of his countrymen who went to a shop to purchase a couple of breeks, and while he was being measured for the article, he replied, Arrah Lave enough get to go to England to be shown as the tall woman. Query may not the representative of the Swiss woman be a tall freshman?]

The debts of Mr. Long Wellesley are expected shortly to be di-guished. Sir C. Baggot it is said is to succeed Sir C. Stuart at the Court of France, and Mr. S Canning, formerly Minister of Washington, is to represent the British Government at St. Petersburgh. 200 men are now employed on the repairs at Windsor Castle. A statue in the character of Cato, is to be erected in Westminster Abbey to the memmory of the late John Kemble.

It is expected that Mr. Canning will shortly pay a visit to the Marquis of Wellesly in Dublin. The late Mr. Payne Knight, bequathed bronzes antiques, &c. to the British Museum, which are valued at £70,000. A new establishment is to be formed and called the "Indian Steam packet company," with a capital of £300,000 under the direction of Capt Johnson of the East India Company's service the voyage is computed to be made with certainty in 35 days allowing for detentions, &c.

Communication.

To the Editor of the Weekly Register.

Sir,

When an individual comes before the public in the character of an Independent Editor, what are the qualifications he should be possessed of? — Are they an implacable disposition, ready deliberately to stab the character of every individual of opposite sentiments to himself?—In eagerness to give publicity to the most extravagant statements of things that pass, coupled with falsehood of the most diabolical nature?—Refusing when an incorrect statement is made to correct it?—And abusing the parties aggrieved by his falsehood, by epithets and in terms which they cannot stoop to answer? Or is it fair, open, candid, and manly sentiment, and a readiness on all occasions to correct whatever he may do ifadvisedly or amiss when authentic documents are furnished him for that purpose?—I think, Sir, I can anticipate your reply. It is not my purpose Mr. Editor, nor is it my province, to enter into all the qualifications of an Editor of a public paper; but, I humbly conceive that qualities, such as I have above described, are not those befitting the character of an honest man and an Editor of a public paper, which ranks in the community as a guardian of the people's rights—if the press is the palladium of the rights of free men, it should never become accessary to the injury of any man, or set of men; candid and authentic statements touching public things should always find a place in the columns of an independent paper.

There is a paper, said to be published at Queenston, in this Province, called the "COLONIAL ADVOCATE"—From that name, Mr. Editor, something in character might have been expected, and were I equal to the task, I might point out the benefits which this Province might derive from a paper conducted on principles which that title suggests; but, what is now that paper?—is it not the direct reverse, in——ism, paper extent? and does it not promise to be co-equal with the late "Upper Canada Guardian" with this exception, that its Editor wants the ability with which that paper was conducted:—to say but little of the principles of either; suppose them co-equal also. Great things can frequently be judged by comparison, and if that is a fair criterion, by which the "ADVOCATE" may be estimated, God prevent its circulation in this Province. Its Editor has announced, that when he inserted any thing which afterwards proved to be incorrect, he was ready at all times, and would always give publicity to more authentic accounts: how different has been the conduct of that man in the affair of laying the corner stone of the Church now erecting at Ancaster, you have no doubt seen an anonymous letter, in number 9 of the Advocate, by which it would appear that, among the deposits in the corner stone of the building is No. 1 of that paper, and also that the Editor had been toasted on that day by the company who dined there. Now, Sir, unfavourable as the world may think it of the people of the District of Gore, I hope and trust that neither you, nor any other honest man, ever entertained an opinion that a company of one hundred men would collect very drink such a sentiment as is there inserted whilst indulging in the festivity of enjoying the benefits of a part of the band of the 76th Regt. playing God save the King.—The Committee, appointed to manage the proceedings of that day, feeling themselves aggrieved by the falsehood published in No 9 of the Advocate, and anxious that the public should be informed of the truth, through the same channel, that its baneful effects might at once be checked, addressed a letter to the Editor of that paper, for insertion, severally correcting what had appeared; but, strange as you may think it, Mr. Editor, he refused to publish the true statement!!! but wrote them an impudent letter, informing them, that if his paper was deposited without their knowledge, they must have been remiss in their duty; and as the "ADVOCATE" was now approximating so nearly to the post, medium of politics as to rank as a veteran, he congratulated them upon a discovery which his sagacity had made, and hinted to his friend at Ancaster, that if the committee published their communication with any remarks in any other paper, they might expect what Col Clark got, as he knows the private characters of four of them!!! Thank God, Mr. Editor, we the people of this Province to be gulled into the support of such a man, as an Editor of a public paper? As well may the ba-banditto guard against a nocturnal beast of prey, or the traveller against a midnight robber, as that the committee above alluded to, could guard against felonious intentions of those concerned in the no public transaction of depositing that paper clandestinely.

August 26th, 1824. "A BY-STANDER"

Domestic.

Glengary Election.—The Election commenced on the 2d instant, and continued till the following Saturday Evening, at a late hour.—

The Poll on each respective Evening, stood as below:—viz.

	McDonnel,	Cameron,	McMartin,	Fraser.
1st Day,	185	145	97	66
2d do.	368	278	275	00
3d do.	529	365	373		Retired on the
4th do.	586	398	409		morning of the
5th do.	619	421	432		Second Day
6th do.	667	459	460

A Scrutiny was held on the ensuing Monday, at the request of both Messrs Cameron and McMartin, after which 15 having been struck off from McDonnel's,

Column of Voters.—11 from McMartin's—and 5 from Cameron's,—the numbers stood as follows:—viz. for

McDonnel,	Cameron,	McMartin,
652.	454.	449.

Messrs. Alexander McDonnel (Greenfield,) and Duncan Cameron (Glenivis,) were, of course, declared duly Elected.

It is but justice to the Freeholders of Glengary to state, that, to a man, they behaved with the greatest decorum.

The exertions made by the friends of both Cameron and McMartin, were never on any occasion exceeded.

As for McDonnel, great exertion was unnecessary, his friends were, as they have always been, true blue,—he led from the beginning, he won easily.—

DREDGING THE LAKE ST PETER.

We are glad to find the important subject of deepening Lake St. Peter has begun to attract the notice of men of talent and abilities amongst us. The following scientific remarks, as applicable to this undertaking, has been communicated to us:—

"In the New Edinburgh Encyclopædia, vol. vii. article DREDGING, it is stated that a machine now at work upon the Thames, with a steam engine of 16 horse power when dredging in a moderate depth, will bring up enough to load two barges of thirty five tons each in an hour with only three men to attend the whole; and the engine will consume about 343 lbs. of Newcastle coals per hour." Now if we take 12 feet for a moderate depth, and the weight of a cubic foot of the earth to be removed at 124 lbs, this machine will remove 1264 cubic feet of earth per hour; or if dredging a channel 40 feet wide and 4 feet deep, the machine would advance a little more than 7¾ feet per hour, or 77½ feet per day of 10 hours, or in that proportion, to a channel of any width and depth that may be required".

—Mon. Gazette.

King's Monument.—we understand that a Subscription to erect a Monument to His late Majesty George the III. is about to be collected. It is intended to place the monument on the Place d' Arms, in front of the Chateau, where a species of enclosure is to be made.—Neilson's Quebec Gazette.

New Catholic Church—we have much pleasure in being able to inform our readers, that the Foundation Stone of the new CATHOLIC PARISH CHURCH of this City will be laid on Wednesday next, the 1st of September, with the usual honours.—Montreal Herald.

Tea Trade.—We have been informed that Messrs Forsyth, Richardson & Co. of this place, have obtained the appointment of Agents to the Branch of the Tea Trade about to be established in this Province.—Can. Times.

Earl of Dalhousie.—We have learnt with pleasure that from letters received in this city, it appears that His Excellency the Governor in Chief had been most cordially received at Court, and by His Majesty's ministers. His Excellency had the honour of dining with the KING a few days after his introduction, perfectly en famille

New Appointments.—Rear Admiral Lake assumed the command upon the North American Station on Thursday morning last.

Sir Thomas John Cochrane, Knight, is appointed Civil Governor of the Island of Newfoundland. The naval military command has been annexed to that of Nova Scotia.

QUEENSTON Aug. 28th

Dreadful Accident at General Brock's Monument.—The floor of this tower is stained with blood; the sarcophagus which is designed to perpetuate the memory of a slaughtered British hero, will also serve as the tomb stone and memorial of a youth to 'fortune and to fame unknown!' A young Scots lad, a stone cutter and contractor for quarrying, has met his death on the very spot where the general's bones are intended to be entombed. On Saturday the 28th ult. about dusk in the evening, Donald Keith, a native of Argyleshire in Scotland, accompanied by Peter McIntosh, a stone cutter at the monument, resolved to be hoisted to the top from motives of curiosity. The tower is now 57 feet high, and when they were within about four feet of its summit the rope (which is worked by a horse and pulleys), broke down with their weight and precipitated them 53 feet at once amongst the stones at the bottom, inside the round tower. An Irishman of the name of Riley, who was, with other masons on the top humanely attempted to assist, if possible, the unfortunate men, by sliding down the single rope that remained suspended to the pulley at the top. He held by the rope till within about 15 feet of the base, and then, from a momentary fear, let go, and so fell to the ground. He is a good deal hurt, but none of his bones are broken. McIntosh was standing in the mortar box when they were hoisted; he fell on his breech, the mortar in which he was over the shoes having preserved his equilibrium. He was lifted up insensible, and strange to relate not a bone of his body is broke, nor is his skin even scratched; unless a small contusion on his head.—I was present when he was visited, and he spoke to me and others as he lay in bed quite in a rational manner; he also swallowed a glass of wine which I held to his lips. On Sabbath he became light headed, and lost all remembrance of his fall, but strong hopes are entertained that he will recover.—The other unfortunate man, Keith, received a large and deep wound in his forehead, his skull was broken and shattered in pieces, he was moreover hurt internally, and his thigh broken. When I came upon the hill they were washing away the blood which flowed abundantly from his head. Mr Raymond had rendered him the right arm; we tied up his head. Mr Clarkson very humanely rode off to Niagara for a surgeon; a mattress and pillow were procured, and a hand barrow; on this he was lifted. I sat at the top and held up his head as well as I could. In this way he was carried to Mr Queen's house. Alas! his time was come, for with a gurgle, as if respiration was stopped by blood in his throat, he soon breathed his last. He was a terrible spectacle to behold in death, his ghastly appearance, the deep gash in his forehead, with his whole body covered with his own blood, exhibited in its most awful form the triumph of the king of terrors. He was a fine stout lad, about five and twenty, has a brother at Oak-Orchard Creek, who is sent for; he is to be interred on Monday, and his sudden call will I trust prove a seasonable warning to many to prepare for that great change, by which eternity is unveiled, and the sinner ushered into the presence of the judge of all the earth.

Monday.—An Inquest was held yesterday over the unfortunate Keith's body, the verdict of the jury was accidental death, and it came out in evidence that the rope had twisted, and the pulley not permitting it to go fair, the power of the horse broke it, one of the men who was on the top called out, that they would never reach the summit with that twist. McIntosh replied, "there is no danger," no one stopped the horse, and the result was as I have stated it. No one is at work at the tower to day.—Col. Advocate.

This day was committed to our Goal by WILLIAM SHAW, Esq. Magistrate of Whitby, JOHN HUFF for uttering forged bills, and for having in his possession between 30 and 40 dollars of bills purporting to be of the bank of Canada. It is supposed that this man is but a subordinate agent of a gang, that for some years has been imposing forgeries on the public, and too much praise cannot be given to Mr. Shaw, for his exertions in bringing one of these suspected, indeed implicated, principals, and one of the inferior agents, to the bar of public justice.

Whitby, 1st Sept. 1824.

Upper Canada Gazette.

New Series.

VOL. III. YORK U. C. THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 16th, 1824. No. XXXVIII.

By Authority.

UPPER CANADA.

P. MAITLAND,
Lieut. Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

TO our Beloved and Faithful Legislative Counsellors of our Province of Upper Canada; and to our Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses of our said Province, to our Provincial Parliament at our Town of York, on the Sixteenth Day of September instant, to be Commenced, Held, Called and Elected, and to every of you—GREETING:

WHEREAS, by our Proclamation bearing date the Second Day of August last, We thought fit to Prorogue our Provincial Parliament to the Sixteenth day of September instant, at which time at our Town of York, you are held and constrained to appear, NOW KNOW YE, that We taking into our Royal consideration the ease and convenience of our loving Subjects, have thought fit by and with the advice of our Executive Council, to relieve you and each of you of your attendence at the time aforesaid, hereby convoking, and by these presents enjoining you and each of you, that on Monday, the Twenty Fifth Day of October, next ensuing, you meet Us, in our Provincial Parliament, in our Town of York, there to take into consideration the state and welfare of our Province of Upper Canada, and therein to do as may seem necessary, and herein fail not.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed.—WITNESS, our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces in North America, at York, this Tenth day of Sept. in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty-four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign.

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command.
Jno. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.
D. CAMERON, Secretary.

Upper Canada.

P. MAITLAND,

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come—GREETING:

WHEREAS by Proclamation bearing date the Fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventeen, our trusty and well beloved RALFEH GOOD Esquire, late our Lieutenant Governor of our Province of Upper Canada, by and with the advice of the Executive Council thereof, and by virtue of the Authority in him vested in that behalf, did declare and appoint the Port of Ernestown, otherwise commonly called the Port of Bath, within the Midland District of this Province, to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for all Goods and Merchandize, not being entirely prohibited and for the payment of all Duties, liable to be paid on all Goods and Merchandize brought into this Province from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS by a certain Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdoms of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the Third Year of our Reign, entitled, "An Act to Regulate the Trade of the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, and for other purposes relating to the said Provinces," it is among other things Enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the Governor Lieutenant Governor, or person Administering the Government of either of our said Provinces respectively, by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council thereof for the time being, from time to time to diminish or increase, by Proclamation, the number of Ports or places, which there were, or thereafter might be, appointed in such Province for the Entry of Goods, Wares, and Commodities, imported from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS it appears expedient for the avoiding expense in the Collection of our Revenue, that the said Port of Ernestown shall no longer be a Port of Entry and Clearance:—NOW KNOW YE, that by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of our Province of Upper Canada, We have thought fit to declare, and do hereby declare, that from and after the date of this our Proclamation, the said Port of Ernestown shall cease to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the purposes aforesaid, and shall be and remain, as if the said Proclamation hereinbefore recited, and appointing the same to be a Port of Entry and Clearance, had never been made.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed.—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K.C.B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York this Twentieth day of March in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty-four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign. P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,

D. CAMERON, Secretary.
JNO. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

Crown Office, York,
July 16th, 1824.

EASTERN CIRCUIT, 1824.

Mr. JUSTICE CAMPBELL.

Assizes, at	Cornwall on	Monday	9th Aug.
Do	Perth,	do	23rd do
Do	Brockville,	do	6th Sept.
Do	Kingston,	do	20th do

HOME CIRCUIT.

Mr. JUSTICE BOULTON.

Do	Niagara,	Wednesday	4th Augt.
Do	Newcastle,	do	6th Oct.
Do	York,	do	13th do

WESTERN CIRCUIT.

CHIEF JUSTICE.

Do	Sandwich,	Wednesday	18th Augt.
Do	Vittoria,	Monday	30th do
Do	Gore,	Wednesday	8th Sept.

No. 29.—t. f.

RETURN OF MEMBERS FOR THE NINTH PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT OF UPPER CANADA.

Counties and Towns	Members Elected
Grenville,	Jonas Jones and Hamilton Walker.
Glengary,	Alex. McDonell & Dun. Cameron.
Stormont,	Archibald McLean and Philip Vancoughnet.
Norfolk,	Francis L. Walsh, and Duncan McCall.
Prince Edward,	James Wilson, and Paul Peterson.
Hastings,	Reuben White, & Thos. Coleman.
Kent,	James Gordon.
Northumberland,	Zaccheus Burnham, & Jos. Lyons.
Frontenac,	Hugh C. Thomson, and James Atkinson.
Middlesex,	John Rolph, and John Matthews.
Prescott & Russel,	Donald McDonald.
Lanark,	William Morris.
Oxford,	Thomas Horner, and Charles Ingersoll.
Lincoln,	Bartholomew C. Beardsley, — John Clark, John J Laterty, & Robert Randall.
Leeds,	Charles Jones, & David Jones.
Essex,	Alexander Wilkins.
Wentworth,	John Willson & Geo Hamilton.
Carlton,	George Thew Burke.
Halton,	Richard Beasly, & Wm. Scollick.
Lenox & Addington,	Marshall S. Bidwell, and Peter Perry.
Durham,	George Strange Boulton.
York and Simcoe.	Wm. Thompson, & Ely Playter.
Dundass,	John Chrysler.
Town of York,	John Beverly Robinson.
Town of Niagara	Edward McBride.
Town of Kingston	John Cummings.

SAMUEL P. JARVIS,
Clk. Crown & Chancery.

Clerk of the Crown in Chancery's Office York, September 15th, 1824.

GLEBES.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in Council, having taken into consideration the system hitherto practised of Granting Licences of Occupation for GLEBE LANDS, is pleased to Order, that in future the Glebes in the several Townships, with the exception of One Lot in each Township, for the accommodation of the Incumbent, shall be Leased on the same terms as Clergy Reserves.

NOTICE is therefore given to those Persons who hold Licences of Occupation for any of the said Glebe Lots, that the same will not be Renewed; and unless they do make application, by Petition, for Leases in the usual manner, through the medium of the Corporation for superintending the Clergy Reserves, before the Twenty-ninth day of September next ensuing, the Lots so held by Licence of Occupation will be Leased to other Applicants.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office, {
York, 29th April, 1824. } 19-tf.

Executive Council Office,
York, 14th April, 1824.

NOTICE is hereby given, to Jabez Johnson, or his Representatives, to make good any claim he may have to Lot Number Two, in the Seventh Concession of the Township of Louth, in the District of Niagara within six months from this date, in default of which, the Lot will be otherwise disposed of.

By order of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor in Council.

JOHN SMALL.
Clk. Ex'n Council. 17—6m.

Executive Council Chamber, {
York, 31st January, 1824. }

PRESENT,

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTANANT GOVERNOR,
IN COUNCIL,

HIS Majesty's Government having recently extended their assistance to the class of Emigrants, which it was intended to relieve by gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres of Land, in conveying them to their respective locations;

IT IS ORDERED, that from the first day of May next, no gratuitous Grants be made of any quantity of Land to other than privileged persons.—And that as the Fee on Two Hundred Acres was raised, in order to defray the gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres the consideration failing, the future Fee on Two Hundred Acres is reduced to Eight Pounds Four Shilling and One Penny Sterling; the existing Fee before 1819, and the Fee on all other Grants, in Townships Surveyed since that time, to be the same as established by the Order in Council, of 8th January, 1819.

N. B. Possessors of gratuitous Grants for Fifty Acres, may, by paying the Fee on One Hundred Acres, receive a Grant of the adjoining Fifty Acres if vacant.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Ex'r. Council.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL CHAMBER, {
AT YORK, 26th JAN. 1824. }

PRESENT:
HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
In Council.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR submitted to the consideration of the Board, the Sheriffs' Reports of their respective Gaols, together with other Documents relating to a Winter Circuit, by which it appeared that the House of Assembly had addressed His Excellency to that effect, for this Session only; and obviously for the Delivery of the Gaols in the several Districts.

THE limitation of such a measure to one session seeming to militate with the Provision of the Law, that when the Communication from the Seat of Government admitted, and the circumstances of the Province required, there should be a regular Second Circuit, the Board would prefer to recommend that Special Commissions to deliver particular Gaols should issue where requisite; but, as the respective Reports from the Sheriffs do not, in the opinion of the Board, require any unusual interposition, His Excellency, with advice of the Council, postpones a Second Circuit until the circumstances of the Province more decidedly require it.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Executive Council.

Executive Council Office, {
York, February 7th 1821. }

WHEREAS it has been represented, that many persons who have received Locations of Land, have, from Sickness, and other legitimate causes, been unable to fulfil the Settlement Duty, in the time required by the Location Ticket, and have neglected to apply to His Excellency in Council for an extension of the period, for performance of such duty.

BE it Known that the period for completing the Settlement Duty, is hereby extended to Two Years from the date of Locations until further notice shall be given.

JOHN SMALL, Clk Ex. Coun.

WHEREAS by the Tenor of the Location Tickets a Certificate is required to be lodged of the Settlement Duty being done within two Years, or that the said Location should be forfeited, and in case of Locations not gratuitous, that one third of the Patent Fee be lodged with such Certificate; AND WHEREAS it is represented, that in many instances, Certificates of performance of the Settlement Duty, have been withheld from the inability of the settler to deposit such proportion of the Patent Fee, it is deemed expedient to relieve the settler from forfeiture of his location, when he may actually have performed his settlement duty—Notice is hereby given that in all cases where Settlement Duty has been performed within the limited period, the settler shall, on filing Certificate thereof within six Months of this date, be exempted from forfeiture notwithstanding the non-payment therewith of such portion of the Patent Fee, provided the Patent is issued out within One Year from the filing of such Certificate.

And further; His Excellency, in the hope of avoiding the necessity of rescinding any of the Militia grants, is pleased to direct this Public Notification; that all Lands granted to Militia Men, upon which the Settlement Duties shall not have been performed within the limited period, will in pursuance of general instructions given to the Surveyor General in all similar cases, be declared vacant, and will be granted within Six Months after the expiration of that period, to the first applicant, unless the Original Nominee, shall before such subsequent application, have lodged a Certificate of his having performed the Settling Duties.

JOHN SMALL, Clk. Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office, {
York, 7th Nov. 1821. }

WHEREAS it has become expedient to establish a line of communication through certain remote Townships, for encouragement thereof, Grants will be made to actual Settlers in the Townships hereinafter named on the condition of Settling within two years from the date of the Location, at the reduced Scale of 5th January, 1819, viz.

A Township North of Mariposa, advertised from the Surveyor General's Office on the 19th of October, as

	Zeta, to be called	Eldon
N. of Ep-		Fenelon
N. of Emily advertised as	Emir	Verulam
N. of Smith	Lake	Harvey
E. of do.		Douro
N. of Apsley	Alma	Dummer
N. of Seymour	Mora	Belmont
N. of Dummer	Yea	Burleigh
N. of Marmora	Nina	Lake
N. of Madoc		Tudor
N. of Elzevir	No	Grimsthorpe
N. of Kaladar	Aye	Anglesea
N. of Kennebec	Jus	Barrie
N. of Norna	Oden	Clarendon
N. of Oso	Et	Palmerston
N. of Belmont	Carlos	Methuen

JOHN SMALL, C. E. C.

Government House, 6th March, 1820.

HIS Excellency the Lieutenant Governor is pleased to direct that no Location requiring Settlement Duty shall be Confirmed by Patent, without a Certificate from the Land Board of the District in which such Location may be situate, that the Settlement Duty required by the Order in council has bona fide been performed within the time specified by the Location Ticket.

JOHN SMALL Clk. C.

To Militia Pensioners, Notice

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that Payment of Militia Pensions for the year 1824, will commence from this date.
Militia Pension Office, York, 15th July, 1824.

EDWD. M'MAHON,
30.—13 w. Agent for Paying Militia Pensions

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Newcastle District, {
to wit. }

BY virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of Kings Bench, and to the Sheriff of the Newcastle District directed, against the Lands and Tenements of David M'Gregor Rogers Esq at the suit of John Strachan, Thomas A. Dobbs, and Thomas H. Cartwright, Executors of the late Richard Cartwright, Esq. I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said David M'Gregor Rogers the following Lands, viz.

S. half of Lot No 3 Broken Front, A. } 330 Acres.
Lot No. 3 do. do. B. }
Lot No. 3 do. do. C. }
Lot No. 23 2 Concession, 200 do.
Lot No. 26 3 do. do. 200 do.

of the Township of Haldimand, in the county of Northumberland, which Property I shall offer for sale at Public Auction, at the Inn now occupied by Mr N. W. Mack, in the village of Coburg, on the ninth day of February next at 12 o'clock, at noon

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff,
By EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above described Premises, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber, on or before the day of Sale.

NOTE.—The sale of the above Lots, No. 3, Concession A., B., and C., is postponed until the 5th day of October next at the same place and hour.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
BY EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.
Sheriff's Office, Coburg, { 14—td.
2d September, 1824. }

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT.

H. M. Dock Yard, Kingston {
17th August, 1824. }

NOTICE is hereby given, that Sealed Tenders will be received at my Office until Wednesday, the Sixth day of October next, from all persons willing to Contract for the safe transport of such quantities of Naval Store, Naval Ordnance Stores, Provisions and Baggage, as may be required to be forwarded from the following places, for the term of one year, and for a further Indefinite period, until six month's notice for the discontinuance of the Contract be given by one of the parties.

VIZ:—

From York to Holland Landing.—From Holland Landing to Kempenfeldt Bay, and from thence into the Naval Store House at the Head of the Rottawasaga River. From Kempenfeldt Bay by the New Road into the Storehouses of His Majesty's Naval Depôt at Penetanguishene.

The Tenders distinctly to express the rate per hundred weight (of 112lbs.) at which the said Stores will be delivered, and are to contain the names of two competent Sureties for the due performance of the Contract; the said Tenders to be forwarded to my Office, addressed to the "NAVAL STOREKEEPER," and endorsed

"Tender for Transport,"

And the parties making the Tenders, or their authorized agents, are personally to attend at His Majesty's Dock Yard, Kingston, at one o'clock on the 6th day of October next, when the said Tenders will be opened and decided on.

M. B. MENDS.
35—6w. H. M. Naval Storekeeper.

years,) to be paid off. The intelligence of most prominent interest from that quarter is what relates to the dispute with Algiers. The letter which we subjoin upon this subject, is in tenor the same as several others with which we have been favoured:—

"Off Algiers, May 28, 1824.

"The present capitous war with the Dey of Algiers (for such it is considered here) is, I perceive by the papers yet misunderstood. It is stated in one of the articles for the Dey's signature as an apology for the outrage said to have been committed in breaking upon the consul's house, (which the Dey positively denies, and declares that his [Mr. Mc Donald's] own clerk opened the door and told the soldiers to go in) for the future, the flag should be hoisted on the town house as well as the country one. To this demand the Dey remonstrated—I mean, as it would be one question of religion among his subjects; consequently, he could not answer for the safety of the Consul, if it was hoisted. This he stated himself, in a letter to Lord Bathurst, at the same time he agreed to sign the whole of the articles presented, and denied any objection having been made to Lord Exmouth's treaty, but he could not, after the repeated ill treatment he had experienced from Mr. Mc Donald, allow him to return, but any person beside, "a child," he will respect, that England may send This is the absurd contention to cause another bombardment. Further, there is no objection whatever to our officers wearing their swords in the Dey's presence, for the Admiral (Sir Harry Neale) and his Captain) and Sir Charles Burrard), a Lieutenant and two Midshipmen, waited on the Dey with their swords on, and no little did the Dey think his objection to Mr. Mc Donald would be considered of any consequence, that he himself arranged the different seats, as a proof of his friendly disposition; but when the proposal was made for the Consul to land again, and insisted on as a sine qua non, the Dey broke into a passion, and thus ended the interview and negotiation

There is much expected from the bombs; but we ought to expect more from the disposition of its Janizaries, for if they do not cut off his head, they will laugh at your bombs. Since Lord Exmouth was here, they have strengthened those we knows His Lordship discovered, with three additional batteries, each two tier; on the lower 18 guns, and on the upper 16. It is not supposed the ships will have any thing to do with the attacks, nor indeed would it be at all prudent. They are to anchor near the bombs, to give them assistance only, if necessary.

"The Dey declares that if we bombard the town, he will send all the inhabitants out of it, and hold it to the last!" We fully expect, however, that as soon as the other bombs arrive from England, (the Terror, Capt. Arbuthnott, is arrived,) we shall begin to bombard.—The Naiad is blockading Bona; the Ranger blockading Oran; the Active and Glasgow blockading Algiers; the Revenge is at Malta, the Sybille at Smyrna, the Euryalus, on its passage to Naples, Leghorn and Genoa; the Hinde is gone up to Alexandria, the Pandora and Alacrity are employed in conveying between Malta and Gibraltar. The Terror is gone to Gibraltar.

INDIA.

By the latest arrivals from India, it seems that a very serious war has broken out between the British and the Burman Empire, which is represented to contain a population of 13 000.000 Upon the receipt of this news in England, India Stock declined considerably in value.

SOUTH AMERICA.

By the Brig Elizabeth, from Alvarado arrived at New York official information has been received, of the landing, arrest and execution of the celebrated Iturbide, Ex-Emperor of Mexico His suffered death by shooting at Padilla on the 19th of July, in conformity to a decree of outlawry, passed relative to him in the Sovereign Congress of Mexico, on the 28th of April last.

The Courier of the 20th contains the first of a series of papers, the object of which is to induce a formal and unqualified recognition of South American Independence

ABDUCTION.

From an Irish paper.

Few cases of abduction of a more aggravated complexion than the following have ever fallen under our consideration:—

Mrs. N. of———, in the barony of———, came to Ballaun, about three months ago on a visite to Mr. George Roger's who has a numerous, and now grown-up family; she was accompanied by her accomplished niece. Miss N. who had just attained that age when the female person displays its perfect symmetry, and its natural charms are developed with the greatest advantage. To aid to these gifts of nature, Miss N. had another perfection, generally better prized by lovesick adventurers—she is rich, having a handsome fortune in her own right, and great expectations from two aunts, whose affections she had gained by her kind and endearing conduct towards them.

All these advantages had their due effect upon every individual of Mr. Roger's family. So much beauty and what was more important so much money about not be let slip through their fingers It was, therefore, determined in full conclave, that John, the oldest of several sons (who are all bachelors) should try his fortune. The word was, have her—honourable if you can—but have her.

This hopeful prop to the honours of the family immediately commenced the campaign, and having besieged his fair visitor for some days with his unremitting attentions, at length disclosed the flame that burned within him, and asked her consent to make him happy. Miss N. surprised at such conduct, remonstrated with him, and after using many dissuasive arguments, concluded by assuring him that she was already pledged to another, with the approbation of her friends, and consequently no longer at liberty to dispose of herself. She immediately disclosed the affair to her aunt, and directly afterwards to the situation, however such performances may be rewarded by him who claims them. It misery ensues, it is a consolation that will not be denied it. With such sentiments, and seeing upon them, I do not fear for you.

To form a foundation for married happiness, make the study of your husband's temper your great object, and by conforming your own to it, you may know where to avoid giving offence or incurring even the shadow of dispute. "Never," says Mackenzie, in his Julia de Roubigné, "never was a tribe more fond of its flame than the great articles of duty be will set down as due owing but the lesser attentions he will mark as favours.

Much more is lost or gained of future happiness and influence by a wife's behaviour in the first months of her marriage, than is generally imagined. A woman of sweet temper and good understanding will not be tenacious about trifles, nor in exacting those attentions, which she is even the less gratified in receiving.

Domestic order and regularity ought to be insisted on, as essential to domestic comfort; but any change of house, which her husband finds convenient, she makes agreeable to herself. Every thing, however trivial, which she fancies contributes to his comfort, becomes an object of consequence and interest with her—she gives the greatest attention to any anecdote, which he relates of circumstances which have pleased or interested him.

A wife, though she be not highly accomplished, in the regular acception of the word, ought to be well informed in every species of general knowledge. Conversation well, and she has more than half her task with the ease and elegance of a well bred woman; and by her manners, expressions, and appearance, should evince even to highbred neighbours, that she is a polished, if not a fashionable woman; and thereby reflects credit on her husband's choice, and evidently glories in her own.

As rational religion is the true source from which every good principle springs I must have it understood, that those ladies whom I now address, are supposed to be possessed of this essential and strongest foundation for a man to look for happiness—A woman without religion is to be carefully avoided.

The man may, indeed be congratulated and envied who is so fortunate as to select such a wife, and every day will more convince him of the justness of such congratulations.

If a wife make home agreeable to her husband, he will never go from home in search of amusement, which is sometimes the case when a woman acts differently. Some render themselves and their husbands unhappy, by a too romantic indulgence of overcharged sensibility. If they do not meet with happiness in the form they had expected to find it, they resolutely shut their eyes against every other means of comfort; and, with all the selfishness attached to romance, and what is usually known by the name of sensibility, they disregard wholly the feelings of all around them, and think only of indulging their own.

I hope never to see the day when I shall think there is not any merit in complying with the habits or even prejudices, which custom has made pleasant to my husband

I am a great advocate for family harmony, and I have pleasure and heartfelt gratification in making some sacrifices to secure it.

"Women once anxious to please, have the happy art of finding out the way, and ingenious must his nature be, who is not conquered by tender attentions!"

"As similarity of mind
Or something not to be defined,
First fixed our attention," strongly against any interference on his behalf, and declared, in the most pointed terms, that if he were the only man remaining of the human race, she would not marry him. They might, she said go through a mock ceremony and consign her, by violence, to his will, but she was fully resolved not to act like her dishonour; if no other means were left her, suicide would save her from so infamous an alliance.

The gentlemen at length prevailed on Mr. Rogers to let her go: his myrmidons had already slunk from the blaze of day, she was therefore to conducted to her aunt. A coach having been sent for, they set off for Cosmolina, escorted by Mrs. N's physician. The magistrates offered a military escort, but this the gentleman thought proper to decline, he thinking it unnecessary. On the next day, being some what recovered from her fatigue and agitation, she lodged information before a bench of magistrates, who assembled on purpose to investigate the matter.

MATRIMONY.

"Blest where mate good husbands"—"Marriage," says an elegant writer (Dallas) of the present period, "is a blessing or a curse not according to the sympathy of those united in it"

Congeniality of sentiment, temper, and character, constitute the great essential of wedded life. Before you decide, and you will be sure to act prudently. Before you irrevocably engage yourselves, let it be, with a decided persuasion, that your character, after diligent investigation assimilates. The woman who places her happiness on the idea of being worshipped and adored, and expects the common place attributes of angel and goddess, flimsy and deceitful, builds out but a slender chance of happiness in a rational man. She who is satisfied with being loved, esteemed and respected, is the one most like to love a man of being a happy society of life; and, if I am not much mistaken, there are few, if any, who would have the means, but would wish to enter the marriage state;

"For what's a table richly spread,
Without a woman at its head"

Let me now earnestly recommend to you to have an adequate opinion of all the difficulties attending the state, and a firm resolution to make your husband happy; and to perform every duty annexed to the situation, however such performances may be rewarded by him who claims them. If misery ensues, it is a consolation that will not be denied it. With such sentiments, and seeing upon them, I do not fear for you.

To form a foundation for married happiness, make the study of your husband's temper your great object, and by conforming your own to it, you may know where to avoid giving offence or incurring even the shadow of dispute. "Never," says Mackenzie, in his Julia de Roubigné, "never was a tribe more fond of its flame than the great articles of duty be will set down as due owing but the lesser attentions he will mark as favours.

Much more is lost or gained of future happiness and influence by a wife's behaviour in the first months of her marriage, than is generally imagined. A woman of sweet temper and good understanding will not be tenacious about trifles, nor in exacting those attentions, which she is even the less gratified in receiving.

Domestic order and regularity ought to be insisted on, as essential to domestic comfort; but any change of house, which her husband finds convenient, she makes agreeable to herself. Every thing, however trivial, which she fancies contributes to his comfort, becomes an object of consequence and interest with her—she gives the greatest attention to any anecdote, which he relates of circumstances which have pleased or interested him.

A wife, though she be not highly accomplished, in the regular acception of the word, ought to be well informed in every species of general knowledge. Converse well, and she has more than half her task with the ease and elegance of a well bred woman; and by her manners, expressions, and appearance, should evince even to highbred neighbours, that she is a polished, if not a fashionable woman; and thereby reflects credit on her husband's choice, and evidently glories in her own.

As rational religion is the true source from which every good principle springs I must have it understood, that those ladies whom I now address, are supposed to be possessed of this essential and strongest foundation for a man to look for happiness—A woman without religion is to be carefully avoided.

The man may, indeed be congratulated and envied who is so fortunate as to select such a wife, and every day will more convince him of the justness of such congratulations.

If a wife make home agreeable to her husband, he will never go from home in search of amusement, which is sometimes the case when a woman acts differently. Some render themselves and their husbands unhappy, by a too romantic indulgence of overcharged sensibility. If they do not meet with happiness in the form they had expected to find it, they resolutely shut their eyes against every other means of comfort; and, with all the selfishness attached to romance, and what is usually known by the name of sensibility, they disregard wholly the feelings of all around them, and think only of indulging their own.

I hope never to see the day when I shall think there is not any merit in complying with the habits or even prejudices, which custom has made pleasant to my husband

I am a great advocate for family harmony, and I have pleasure and heartfelt gratification in making some sacrifices to secure it.

"Women once anxious to please, have the happy art of finding out the way, and ingenious must his nature be, who is not conquered by tender attentions!"

"As similarity of mind
Or something not to be defined,
First fixed our attention,"

So manners decent and polite,
The same we practised at first sight,
Must save it from destruction."

Read this address ye married, as well as unmarried women: think of it seriously; it is of vital importance; I implore of you, seek your husband's happiness, and you will promote your own, believe me,

Your truly sincere and disinterested friend,

A VERY HAPPY MARRIED WOMAN.

Anecdote of Buonaparte and Canova.—Canova was very familiar with Buonaparte, and was often alone with him and Josephine. The warrior joked the artist. "You make conquest on marble," said he; "they are harder than mine." "And perhaps more durable," observed Canova; and then he intreated him to rest amidst his trophies, to consolidate his power, and no longer risk a destiny so often assured by victory.—"The Emperor Augustus," continued the sculptor, "ceased to fight new battles, said he, "as you make new statues." "It is very different said the sculptor; "an artist ought never to stop in the pursuit of fine arts; there we may always march on from conquest to conquest. Mediocrity alone conceive that the goal is attained, for a thousand dangers a wait, the warrior on the road of ambition; think of Cæsar, and a multitude besides."—"You anticipate for me, then, the ides of March!" "Ah! I apprehend less for your death than your desert." "I fear neither the one nor the other; both will find me as immoveable as your statues."—After Napoleon had married Maria Louise, he appeared dissatisfied that Canova did not compliment him—Puis feliciter," said Canova, "D'avoir fait divorce avec la Fortune?"

Poetry.

It is not often the American Press produces lines of equal merit with the following, said to be from the pen of "CROAKER"—We agree with the editor of the Pail, that the third stanza does contain one line exquisitely beautiful.—ED.

Lines written at Alnwick Castle, the seat of the Duke of Northumberland, October 1822.

Home of the Percy's high-born race,
Home of their beautiful and brave,
Alike their birth and burial place,
Their cradle and their grave!
Still stands o'er the Castle gate
Their house's Lion stands in state,
As in his proud departed hours;
And warriors frown in stone on high,
And feudal banners flout the sky
Above his princely towers.

A gentle hill its side inclines,
Lovely in England's fairless green,
To meet the quietscene which winds
Through this romantic scene
As silently and sweetly still
As when, at evening, on that hill,
While summer's wind blew soft and low,
Seated by gallant Hotspur's side,
His Catherine was a happy bride,
A thousand years ago.

Gaze on the Abbey's ruined pile,—
Does not the unmouring ivy keeping
Her watch around it seem to smile
As o'er a lov'd one sleeping?—
Thus solitary turret grey
Still tells, in melancholy glory,
The legend of the Chaviot day,
The Percy's proudest border story.
That day its roof was triumph's arch,
Then rang, from aisle to pictur'd dome,
The light step of the soldiers march,
The music of the trumps and drum,
And halls and sire, the old, the young,
And the Monk's hymn, and Minstrel's song,
And woman's pure kiss, sweet and long,
Welcom'd her warrior home.

Wild roses by the Abbey towers,
Are gay in their young bud and bloom,
They were born of a race of funeral flowers
That garlanded, in lower gone hours,
A Templar's knightly tomb.
He died, the sword in his mailed hand,
On the holiest spot of the Blessed Land,
Where the cross was dimm'd with his dying breath,
When blood ran free as festal wine,
And the sainted air of Palestine
Was thick with the darts of death.
Wise with the lore of centuries,
What tales, in there be, "tongues in trees,"
Those great oaks could tell,
Of beings born and buried here,
Tales of the peasant and the peer,
Tales of the bridal and the bier,
The welcome and farewell.
Since, on their boughs, the startled bird,
First, in her twilight slumbers, heard
The Huntsman's curfew call.

I wandered through the lofty halls
Trod by the Percies of old fame,
And trac'd upon the chapel walls
Each high, heroic name,
From him* who once his standard set
Where now, o'er mosque and minaret,
Glitter the Sultan's crescent moons;
To him who, when a younger son,†
Fought for King George at Lexington,
A Major of Dragoons.

That last half stanza—it has dark'd
From my warm lip the sparkling cup
The light has o'er my eye-beam flash'd,
The power that bore my spirit up
Above this bank-note world—is gone;
And Alnwick's but a market town,
And this, alas, its market day,
And beasts and borderers throng the way,
Gems, whose sordid souls are dirt,—
Northumbrian boors, and plaided Scots,
Men in the coal and cattle line,
From Teviot's hard and hero land,
From royal Berwick's beach of sand,
From Wooler, Morpeth, Bapham, and
New-Castle upon Tyne.

These are not the romantic times
So beautiful in Spencer's rhyme,
So dazzling to the dreaming boy;
Ours are the days of fact, not fable,
Of Knights, but not of the Round Table,
Of Bailie Jarvie, not Rob Roy—
'Tis what "our President," Monroe,
Has call'd "the era of good feeling;"
The Highlander,—the bitterest foe
To modern laws, has felt their blow,
Consented to be tax'd and vote,
And put on pantaloons and coat
And leave off cattle stealing;—
Lord Stafford mines for coal and salt,
The Duke of Norfolk deals in malt,
The Douglas in red herrings;
And noble name, and cultur'd land,
Palace, and park, and vassal band
Are powerless to the notes of hand
Of Rothchil, or the Barings.
The age of bargaining, said Burke,
Most come—to day the turban'd Turk,
(Sleep, Richard of the lion-heart!
Sleep on, nor from your ceasments start,)
Is England's friend and fast ally,
The Moslem tramples on the Greek,
And on the Cross, and Alter stone,
And Christendom looks tamely on,
And hears the Christian maiden shriek,
And sees the Christian father die,
And not a sabre blow is given
For Greece and fame, for faith and heaven,
By Europe's craven chivalry.

You'll ask if yet the Percy lives
In the arm'd pomp of feudal state?—
The present representatives
Of Hotspur and his "gentle Kate"
Are some half-dozen serving men,
In the drab coat of William Penn,
A chambermaid, whose lip and eye,
And cheek, and brown hair bright and curling,
Spoke Nature's aristocracy;
And one, half groom, half Seneschal,
Who bow'd me through court, flower, and hall,
From donjon keep to turret wall,
For ten and sixpence sterling.

C

* One of the ancestors of the Percy family was Emperor of Constantinople.

† The late Duke.

Domestic.

Canada.—It gives us sincere pleasure to learn, that his Majesty's Government entertain the most lively interest for the welfare and advancement of these valuable Provinces. It is, we believe, in contemplation, to remove all fees on grants of land to settlers, and to hold out every inducement in favour of extensive colonization by a class of emigrants that will be at once valuable and respectable. It is already known that a large part of the Crown Reserves will be sold, and the proceeds appropriated to the Clergy throughout the Provinces. The large sums of money now paying by Government for indemnification to sufferers during the late war, diffuses cheerfulness and activity among all ranks. It is also hinted that a sum of money may be granted next year, to be expended in internal improvements. We trust it may prove to be the fact, for surely no country is more susceptible of immense internal improvement than Canada.—Albion.

The Election for the County of Grenville closed on Wednesday evening last. Messrs. Jonas Jones & Hamilton Walker were returned. The following is the state of the Poll at the close.

Jonas Jones,	313,
Hamilton Walker,	289,
Zeba M. Philips,	224,
Paul Glasford,	132,

Mr. Glasford retired on the morning of the 2d day.

VALUE OF CANADA.

(From the British American and Provl. News letter)

Of the value of Canada to Britain, and, of its protection to us, the following fact from the above work is sufficient proof. While the population of British North America, scarcely equals one tenth of the United States, its exports in tonnage, during the last year were equal to full the half of the exports of that power—a all important consideration with a Country which like North America abounds in rude produce. The American tonnage of Shipping employed in 1823, was 775,271, by the Report of the Secretary to the Treasury.

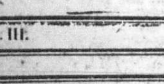
Contradictory Rumours.—Here follow two very contradictary rumours relative to an important ecclesiastical office

We understand that two Archdeacons are to be added to the Establishment of the Episcopal Church in these Provinces. The Honourable and Reverend Dr. Stuart, and the Honourable and Reverend Dr. Strachan; are spoken of as having been selected to fill these offices.—Quebec Mercury.

Rumours.—It is rumoured that the Hon. and Rev. Dr. Strachan, whose mysterious visit to England was briefly noticed in the Herald of the 10th February last, has been consecrated Bishop of Upper Canada: and that his companion, the Hon George H. Markland, will return to the wilds of Canada nothing less than a Baronet. In addition to the above it is stated that the long talked of Union will positively take place this season, and that the Church of Scotland is to share the loaves and fishes with the Church of England in these Provinces. Should the foregoing reports prove true, we shall not fail to apprize our readers at an early period, in order that they may govern themselves accordingly.—U. C. Herald.

Opening of the Lachine Canal.—On Saturday, the 14th inst. the first Canal boat which has been seen in this Province, left the basin situate near Mr. Griffin's Cottage (about 1¼ mile from this city) to proceed to Lachine, on the Canal. The President of the Canal Board, the Hon. John Richardson, and the Commissioners, attended by E. Watson Esq. of Albany, were on board with a view of ascertaining the state of the Canal and locks, preparatory to the admission of loaded boats. The day was remarkably fine. His Majesty's flag graced the stern of the boat, which is called the Jane, and is constructed on a neat and novel plan, and calculated for passengers or for freight. By one of the gentlemen who sailed in the Jane, we are informed that the people along the Canal, at every village or hamlet and at Lachine, evinced much joy in viewing this novel display, which will doubtless prove a stimulus to more extended operations in the Canal line in this country.

The Lachine Canal is 9 miles long, and with the exception of three locks at the outlet is now completed. It will contain 8 locks, each of 6 feet lift and 20 feet wide, built in the most substantial manner; thus surmounting 48 feet of rapids in the space of 9 miles, a hitherto serious obstacle to our internal commerce—The other dimensions of the Canal are 28 feet at the bottom, and 48 at the surface, and it is to contain 5 feet of water. The Bridges are all of a sufficient height, built in a solid manner, of ceder (except at Lachine, where there is a beautiful cut stone bridge) and supported knees similar to those used in the construction of vessels.



The opening of this our first specimen of artificial internal navigation, forms an era in the history of the improvement of Canada. To look forward simply to the benefit which will arise out of this important work itself, we are to take but a limited view of its results. A few years we are convinced will, not only bring conviction to the minds of the people of the vast importance of this work, but will cause our Legislature as well as the whole body of the community to feel an interest, hitherto unknown, in the extension and multiplication of such works.—Can. Times.

Upper Canada Gazette.

New Series.

VOL. III. YORK U. C. THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 23d 1824. No. XXXIX.

By Authority.

UPPER CANADA.

P. MAITLAND,
Lieut. Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

TO our Beloved and Faithful Legislative Councellors of our Province of Upper Canada; and to our Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses of our said Province, to our Provincial Parliament at our Town of York, on the Sixteenth Day of September instant, to be Commenced, Held, Called and Elected, and to every of you—GREETING:

WHEREAS, by our Proclamation bearing date the Second Day of August last, We thought fit to Prorogue our Provincial Parliament to the Sixteenth day of September instant, at which time at our Town of York, you are held and constrained to appear, NOW KNOWYE, that We taking into our Royal consideration the ease and convenience of our loving Subjects, have thought fit by and with the advice of our Executive Council, to relieve you and each of you of your attendance at the time aforesaid, hereby convoking, and by these presents enjoining you and each of you, that on Monday, the Twenty Fifth Day of October, next ensuing, you meet Us, in our Provincial Parliament, in our Town of York, there to take into consideration the state and welfare of our Province of Upper Canada, and therein to do as may seem necessary, and herein fail not.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF. We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed.—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces in North America, at York, this Tenth day of Sept. in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign.

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,
JNO. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.
D. CAMERON, Secretary.

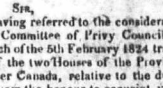
Government House,
York. Sept 22nd, 1824.

A Despatch of which the following is a Copy, has been received by His EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, from His MAJESTY'S Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies.



Downing Street,
June, 1824.

SIR,

Having referred to the consideration of the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade, your Despatch of the 5th February 1824 transmitting an Address of the two Houses of the Provincial Legislature of Upper Canada, relative to the duties on Tobacco, I have now the honour to acquaint you that by an Act which has been very recently passed, 5 Geo. 4 Chap. 43 Sec. 15, Tobacco the produce of His Majesty's Territories in Canada, will from and after the 5th July next, be admitted in this Country on payment of a duty of three pence less per lb. than is payable on Tobacco the Produce of all other Countries.

I have the Honour to be,
&c. &c. &c.
(Signed) BATHURST.

Major General
SIR P. MAITLAND K C B.
&c. &c. &c.

Upper Canada.

P. MAITLAND,

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come—GREETING:

WHEREAS by Proclamation bearing date the Fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventeen, our trusty and well beloved FRANCIS GORE Esquire, late our Lieutenant Governor of our Province of Upper Canada, by and with the advice of the Executive Council there of, and by virtue of the Authority in him vested in that behalf, did declare and appoint the Port of Ernestown, otherwise commonly called the Port of Bath, within the Midland District of this Province, to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for all Goods and Merchandize, not being entirely prohibited and for the payment of all Duties, liable to be paid on all Goods and Merchandize brought into this Province from the United States of America

AND WHEREAS by a certain Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the Third Year of our Reign, entitled, "An Act to Regulate the Trade of the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, and for other purposes relating to the said Provinces," it is among other things Enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the Governor Lieutenant Governor, or person Administering the Government of either of our said Provinces respectively, by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council thereof for the time being, from time to time to diminish or increase, by Proclamation, the number of Ports or places, which there were, or thereafter might be, appointed in such Province for the Entry of Goods, Wares, and Commodities, imported from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS it appears expedient for the avoiding expence in the Collection of our Revenue, that the said Port of Ernestown shall no longer be a Port of Entry and Clearance.—NOW KNOW YE, that by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of our Province of Upper Canada, We have thought fit to declare, and do hereby declare, that from and after the date of this our Proclamation, the said Port of Ernestown shall cease to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the purposes aforesaid, and shall be and remain, as if the said Proclamation herein before recited, and appointing the same to be a Port of Entry and Clearance, had never been made.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed.—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein. At York this Twentieth day of March, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign. P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,
D. CAMERON, Secretary.
JNO. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

RETURN OF MEMBERS FOR THE NINTH PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT OF UPPER CANADA.

Counties and Towns.	Members Elected.
Grenville,	Jonas Jones and Hamilton Walker.
Glengary,	Alex. McDonell & Dan. Cameron.
Stormont,	Archibald McLean and Philip Vaucoughnet.
Norfolk,	Francis L. Walsh, and Duncan McCall.
Prince Edward,	James Wilson, and Paul Peterson.
Hastings,	Reuben White, & Thos Coleman.
Kent,	James Gordon
Northumberland,	Zacheus Burnham, & Jas. Lyons.
Frontenac,	Hugh C. Thomson, and James Atkinson.
Middlesex,	John Ralph, and John Matthews.
Prescott & Russel,	Donald McDonald.
Lanark,	William Morris.
Oxford,	Thomas Horner, and Charles Ingersoll.
Lincoln,	Bartholomew C. Beardsley,—John Clark, John J. Lutersty, & Robert Randall.
Leeds,	Charles Jones, & David Jones.
Essex,	Alexander Wilkins
Wentworth,	John Willson & Geo Hamilton.
Carlton,	George Thew Burke.
Halton,	Richard Beasly, & Wm. Scollick.
Lenox & Addington,	Marshall S Bidwell, and Peter Perry
Durham,	George Strange Boulton
York and Simcoe,	Wm Thompson, & Ely Playter.
Dundas,	John Chrysler.
Town of York,	John Beverly Robinson.
Town of Niagara	Edward McDride.
Town of Kingston	John Cumming.

SAMUEL P JARVIS,
Clk. Crown Chancery.

Clerk of the Crown in Chancery's Office, York, September 15th 1824.

Crown Office, York, July 15th, 1824.

EASTERN CIRCUIT, 1824.

Mr. Justice Campbell.

Assizes, at	Cornwall	on Monday	9th Augt.
Do	Perth,	do	23rd do
Do	Brockville,	do	6th Sept.
Do	Kingston,	do	20th do

HOME CIRCUIT.

Mr. Justice Boulton.

Do	Niagara,	Wednesday	4th Augt.
Do	Newcastle,	do	6th Oct.
Do	York,	do	15th do

WESTERN CIRCUIT.

Chief Justice

Do	Sandwich,	Wednesday	18th Augt.
Do	Vittoria,	Monday	30th do
Do	Gore,	Wednesday	8th Sept.

No. 29 —t. f.

GLEBES.

His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, in Council, having taken into consideration the system hitherto practised, of Granting Licences of Occupation for GLEBE LANDS, is pleased to Order, that in future the Glebes in the several Townships, with the exception of One Lot in each Township, for the accommodation of the Incumbent, shall be Leased on the same terms as Clergy Reserves.

NOTICE is therefore given to those Persons who hold Licences of Occupation for any of the said Glebe Lots, that the same will not be Renewed; and unless they do make application, by Petition, for Leases in the usual manner, through the medium of the Corporation for superintending the Clergy Reserves, before the Twenty-ninth day of September next ensuing, the Lots so held by Licence of Occupation will be Leased to other Applicants.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk Ex. Coun,

Executive Council Office, York, 29th April, 1824. 19—tf.

Executive Council Office York, 14th April, 1824.

NOTICE is hereby given, to Jabez Johnson, or his Representative, to make good any claim he may have to Lot Number Two, in the Seventh Concession of the Township of Louth, in the District of Niagara within six months from this date, in default of which, the Lot will be otherwise disposed of.

By order of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor in Council.

JOHN SMALL.
Clk. Ex'o Council. 17—6m.

Executive Council Chamber. York, 31st January, 1824.

Present,

His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, in Council,

His Majesty's Government having recently extended their assistance to the class of Emigrants, which it was intended to relieve by gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres of Land, in conveying them to their respective locations:

IT IS ORDERED, that from the first day of May next, no gratuitous Grants be made of any quantity of Land to other than privileged persons.—And that as the Fee on Two Hundred Acres was raised, in order to defray the gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres the consideration failing, the future Fee on Two Hundred Acres is reduced to Eight Pounds Four Shillings and One Penny Sterling; the existing Fee before 1819, and the Fee on all other Grants, in Townships Surveyed since that time, to be the same as established by the Order in Council, of 5th January, 1819.

N. B. Possessors of gratuitous Grants for Fifty Acres, may, by paying the Fee on One Hundred Acres receive a Grant of the adjoining Fifty Acres if vacant

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Ex'v. Council.

Executive Council Chamber, at York, 26th Jan. 1824.

PRESENT:
His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, In Council.

His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor submitted to the consideration of the Board, the Sheriffs' Reports of their respective Gaols, together with other Documents relating to a Winter Circuit, by which it appeared that the House of Assembly had addressed His Excellency to that effect, for this Session only; and obviously for the Delivery of the Gaols in the several Districts.

The limitation of such a measure to one season seeming to militate with the Provision of the Law, that when the Communication from the Seat of Government admitted, and the circumstances of the Province required, there should be a regular Second Circuit, the Board would prefer to recommend that Special Commissions to deliver particular Gaols should issue where requisite; but, as the respective Reports from the Sheriffs do not, in the opinion of the Board, require any unusual interposition, His Excellency, with advice of the Council, postpones a Second Circuit until the circumstances of the Province more decidedly require it.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Executive Council.

Executive Council Office, York, February 7th 1821.

WHEREAS it has been represented, that many persons who have received Locations of Land, have, from Sickness, and other legitimate causes, been unable to fulfil the Settlement Duty, in the time required by the Location Ticket, and have neglected to apply to His Excellency in Council for an extension of the period, for performance of such duty.

BE it Known that the period for completing the Settlement Duty, is hereby extended to Two Years from the date of Locations until further notice shall be given.

JOHN SMALL, Clk Ex. Coun.

WHEREAS by the Tenor of the Location Tickets a Certificate is required to be lodged of the Settlement Duty being done within two Years, or that the said Location should be forfeited, and in case of Locations not gratuitous, that one third of the Patent Fee be lodged with such Certificate; AND WHEREAS it is represented, that in many instances, Certificates of performance of the Settlement Duty, have been withheld from the inability of the settler to deposit such proportion of the Patent Fee, it is deemed expedient to relieve the settler from forfeiture of his location, when he may actually have performed his settlement duty—Notice is hereby given that in all cases where Settlement Duty has been performed within the limited period, the settler shall, on filing Certificate thereof within six Months of the date, be exempted from forfeiture notwithstanding the non-payment therewith of such portion of the Patent Fee, provided the Patent is sued out within One Year from the filing of such Certificate.

And further; His Excellency, in the hope of avoiding the necessity of rescinding any of the Militia grants, is pleased to direct this Public Notification; that all Lands granted to Militia Men, upon which the Settlement Duties shall not have been performed within the limited period, will in pursuance of general instructions given to the Surveyor General in all similar cases, be declared vacant, and will be granted within Six Months after the expiration of that period, to the first applicant, unless the Original Nominee, shall before such subsequent application, have lodged a Certificate of his having performed the Settling Duties.

JOHN SMALL., Clk Ex. Coun

Executive Council Office, York, 7th Nov. 1821.

WHEREAS it has become expedient to establish a line of communication through certain remote Townships, for encouragement thereof, Grants will be made to actual Settlers in the Townships hereinafternamed on the condition of Settling within two years from the date of the Location, at the reduced Scale of 5th January, 1819, viz.

A Township North of Mariposa, advertised from the Surveyor General's Office on the 19th of October, as Zeta, to be called Eldon

N. of Emily advertised as	Emir	Fenelon
N. of Smith	Lake	Verulam
E. of do.		Harvey
N. of Asphodel	Alma	Douro
N. of Seymour	Mora	Dummer
N. of Dummer	Yea	Belmont
N. of Marmora	Ninia	Burleigh
N. of Madoc		Lake
N. of Ebzever	No	Tudor
N. of Kaladar	Aye	Grimsthorpe
N. of Kennebec	Jus	Anglesea
N. of Norma	Olden	Barrie
N. of Oso	Et	Clarendon
N. of Belmont	Carlos	Palmerston
		Methuen

JOHN SMALL, C. E. C.

Government House, 6th March, 1820.

His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor is pleased to direct that no Location requiring Settlement Duty shall be Confirmed by Patent, without a Certificate from the Land Board of the District in which such Location may be situate, that the Settlement Duty required by the Order in council has bona fide been performed within the time specified by the Location Ticket.

JOHN SMALL Clk. C.

To Militia Pensioners, Notice

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that Payment of Militia Pensions for the year 1824, will commence from this date.
Militia Pension Office, York, 15th July, 1824.

EDWD. M'MAHON.
Agent for Paying Militia Pensions

30.—13 w.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Newcastle District, to wit.

BY virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of Kings Bench, and to the Sheriff of the Newcastle District directed, against the Lands and Tenements of David M'Gregor Rogers Esq at the suit John Strachan, Thomas A. Dobbs, and Thomas H. Cartwright, Executors of the late Richard Cartwright, Esq. I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said David M'Gregor Rogers the following Lands, viz.

S. half of Lot No. 3 Broken Front, A.
Lot No. 3 do. do. B. } 330 Acres.
Lot No. 3 do. do. C.
Lot No. 23 2 Concession, 200 do.
Lot No. 26 3 do 200 do.

of the Township of Haldimand, in the county of Northumberland, which Property I shall offer for sale at Public Auction, at the Inn now occupied by Mr N. W. Mack, in the village of Coburg, on the ninth day of February next at 12 o'clock, at noon.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff,
By EBENEZER PERRY, D'y Sheriff.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above described Premises, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber, on or before the day of Sale.

Note —The sale of the above Lots, No 3, Concession A., B., and C, is postponed until the 5th day of October next at the same place and hour.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
BY EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Coburg, 2d September, 1824. 14—td.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT.

H. M. Dock Yard, Kingston 17th August 1824

NOTICE is hereby given, that Sealed Tenders will be received at my Office until Wednesday, the Sixth day of October next, from all persons willing to Contract for the safe transport of such quantities of Naval Store, Naval Ordnance Stores, Provisions and Baggage, as may be required to be forwarded from the following places, for the term of one year, and for no further Indefinite period, until six month's notice for the discontinuance of the Contract be given by one of the parties.

VIZ:—

From York to Holland Landing.—From Holland Landing to Kempenfeldt Bay, and from thence into the Naval Store House at the Head of the Rottawasaga River From Kempenfeldt Bay by the New Road into the Storehouses of His Majesty's Naval Depôt at Penetanguishene

The Tenders distinctly to express the rate per hundred weight (of 112lbs.) at which the said Stores will be delivered, and are to contain the name's of two competent Sureties for the due performance of the Contract; the said Tenders to be forwarded to my Office, addressed to the "Naval Storekeeper," and endorsed

"Tender for Transport,"

And the parties making the Tenders, or their authorized agents, are personally to attend at His Majesty's Dock Yard, Kingston, at one o'clock on the 6th day of October next, when the said Tenders will be opened and decided on.

M. B. MENDS
H M. Naval Storekeeper.

35—6w.

NOT OFFICIAL.

VALUABLE LAND IN OTONIBEE,

FOR SALE ON A CREDIT OF YEARS.

ONE of the most valuable Lots in the beautiful Township of Otonibee, on the Rice Lake, consisting of two Hundred Acres, being Lot No. 10, in the Ninth Con. The quality of the Land is first rate, (Maple, Beech, Bass, Elm, and Oak.) It has a Log House, and some small improvements upon it, and is not quite a mile distant from the Rice Lake, and from the Town Plot.—It has also the advantage of being well watered by a Creek that never fails.

Price, two dollars per Acre; and terms of payment, One Eighth at the time of concluding the bargain, and Seven Years Credit, by annual instalments with interest for the remainder, if desired —Inquire at the Gazette Office.

FARM TO LET IN MONAGHAN.

NEAR THE RICE LAKE AND RIVER OTONIBEE IN THE DISTRICT OF NEWCASTLE.

On very Advantageous Terms.

THERE are already 15 Acres cleared, and a Log House erected, upon the Farm, which consists of 600 Acres.—The Terms, which are singularly advantageous to a labouring man with a family are these, —A Lease will be given for three years—on condition that the Tenant Clears and Fences from 5 to 10 Acres of new Land, and more if he is able, in each and every year of the Lease,—for which the Proprietor will pay at the rate of 12½ per Acre—besides allowing all the Crops—(except the Ashes)—to the Tenant

The House stands on the margin of a running stream, and is within 1¼ mile of a Grist and Saw Mill.

For further particulars, apply at the U. C. Gazette Office: or to George Ingle, Cavan.

TO THE PUBLIC.

MR. THOMAS MILBURN.

BEGS LEAVE to acquaint the Gentry, and Inhabitants of York, and its Vicinity, generally—that he has just arrived from London direct with a Select Assortment of Gentlemen's Wearing Apparel;—consisting of Superfine Dress Coats, Vests, and Trousers;—Fustian Shooting Jackets and Trousers;—Round about Jackets;—Flushing Great Coats;—Fancy Waist coats, &c &c. &c. with a quantity of Hosiery, Haberdashery, and Choice Cutlery.

This Assortment has been made with care and to suit the Canadian Market, and will be sold at low prices for CASH. The whole may be seen at the Store next to Mr. Wm. SMITH'S in King's-Street, York.

York, September 15th, 1824. t. f.

TO BE LET OR SOLD,

(And possession given at a short notice.)

THAT Elegant, and Commodious Mansion, Built, and lately occupied, by

A. N. McNABB, ESQUIRE.

Situated in King-Street, East, about half way between the Don Bridge and Town of York.—With a Large Garden, Spacious Yard, and every necessary Out-Building,—occupying altogether One Acre of Land.

The House is of Two Stories, besides the Ground Floor, and has the following Rooms and conveniences viz:—A Parlour, Drawing-Room, Four Lodging Rooms, and Dressing Room, Study, Store-Room, Servants Room, Kitchen, Back Kitchen, Cellar, Loft, &c &c. &c. Water is conducted by Pipes into the Kitchen, where are the necessary Fixtures.

Amongst the Out Offices, are, Stables, Harness Room, Cow House, Coach and Cart House, Bake and Smoke House, &c. &c.

The Garden, which contains more than half an acre of Land, has been lately well stocked with various kinds of valuable Fruit Trees.

For Terms, and further particulars, apply to the U. C. Gazette Office. t. f.

NOTICE.

RUN AWAY from the Subscriber a few days since, Hugh Warren, whoever shall find him, and cause him to be brought back, shall receive the reward of six pence, but no cost or charges paid.—And further, this is to forbid all persons harbouring or trusting the said Hugh Warren, he being a bound apprentice.

THOMAS MORGAN.
Markham, Sept. 9th 1824. 38—3w.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the Eastern District will at the next Session of the Legislature make application to be authorised to effect a Loan to enable them to erect a Gaol and Court House in the Town of Cornwall.

37—6m.

NOTICE.

AN APPLICATION will be made to the Legislature at its next Session for an Act imposing a Tax on Dogs in the Town of York and its vicinity, the proceeds of which to be applicable to the police purposes.

By Order of the Magistrates in Adjourned General Quarter Sessions of the Peace in said for the Home District assembled on the 6th day of Sept. 1824.

(Signed,)
S. HEWARD.
Clk. Peace Home District.

FOR SALE.

A very Superior London made

TELESCOPE,

(Imported by a Gentleman who has since returned to England, for his own use)

Prime Cost Eighteen Guineas.

Also,—an excellent

NIGHT GLASS.

Prime Cost Fifteen Guineas.

For further particulars inquire at this Office.

1st Sept. 1824. No. 36,—4 w.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the County of Glengary intend presenting a Petition to the Legislature at its next Session for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Glengary and the Town of Cornwall alternately.

37—6m.

NOTICE.

THE Plan and Estimate of a STEAM BOAT, (to be Built by Mr. Amous S. Roberts) about One Hundred Tons Burthen, intended to Ply between this Port and Niagara, may be seen at this Office.—Her Engine is intended to be of Twenty Five Horse Power. The whole Cost is estimated at Two Thousand Two Hundred and Five Pounds Currency. She is to be Built by Stock, made up of Shares, of Twenty Five Pounds each. A few Shares are still wanting. Subscriptions for which will be received at this Office, and at the Office of the Niagara Gleaner, where Estimates and Conditions will be exhibited to those who wish to become Stockholders.

Gazette Office, York, August 26th, 1824. No. 35.—t. f.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the County of Middlesex, will make application at the next Session of the Provincial Legislature by Petition, praying, that the said County may be erected into a seperate District.

24th July, 1824. 35—6w.

NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the Co partnership heretofore existing between John and Geo. Monro, Merchants, of York, Upper Canada, was on the first instant dissolved by mutual consent —All persons indebted to the said firm are requested to pay the amount of their respective accounts to Mr. William P. Patrick of this Town, without delay, who is duly authorised to receive the same—and all persons to whom the said Co-partnership stands indebted will present their accounts to him for adjustment.

JOHN MONRO,
GEORGE MONRO.
York, 17th August, 1824. 34—tf.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS hereby given, that a MEDICAL SCHOOL is opened at St. Thomas, in the Talbot Settlement, under the direction of Charles Duncomb, Esq Licentiate, and the immediate patronage of the Hon. Colonel Talbot, where the Education of young men for the Profession of Medicine and Surgery will be carefully superintended and every opportunity offered them to become intimately acquainted with the Structure and Physiology of the Human Body. Every Student before admission is expected to have a competent knowledge of the Latin Language or give satisfactory assurances of immediately acquiring it; for which purpose a competent teacher will be resident in the village.

Charles Duncomb, will give a course of Lectures on the Theory and Practice of Medicine.

John Roler, is expected to give the first course of Lectures and Demonstrations during the ensuing season on the Anatomy and Physiology of the Human Body.

St. Thomas, Talbot Street, August 5th, 1824. 34—6w.

FOR SALE.

LOT No. Two, in the First Concession of the Township of York, with the Broken Front, containing about Two Hundred and Forty Acres of Land.

Application to be made to

J. B. MACAULAY

York, 12th June, 1824. 28—t. f.

THE YORK ALMANACK,

AND

ROYAL CALENDAR

OF

UPPER-CANADA,

For the Year 1824.

Much Enlarged, and Improved from the Edition of last Year.

A FEW Copies of this Work being left on hand, may now be had at half the usual Price, on application to the U. C. Gazette Office, York.

August 26th. 1824. t. f.

NOTICE.

VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE.

VIZ—

In the Township of Vaughan

Lots No. 22, 23. 24, in the 7th Con. and Broken Lot No. 5, in the 10th Concession. } 620 Acres.

Township of York

Lot No. 13. 5th Concession, and Broken Front West of Yonge Street on the Humber, West half of No. 15. in 2d Con. West of Yonge St. } 330 Acres.

Township of Percy

Lot No 20, in 3d Concession. } 400 Acres.
Lot No. 21, in 4th Ditto.

For particulars apply to Guy C. Wood, Esq. Cornwall, or the Subscriber in York.

R. G. ANDERSON.

19th July, 1824. 30—tf.

NOTICE.

ALL Persons indebted to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire, of Stamford, are requested to make immediate payment to the Subscriber at Vittoria, London District, and those having claims on the Estate, will be pleased to furnish him with their respective Accounts properly authenticated.

(Signed) WALTER NICHOL,

Administrator to the Estate of the Late ROBERT NICHOL, ESQUIRE.

Niagara, 29th May, 1824.

NOTICE.

WANTED, for FOURTEEN YEARS, or not less than TEN, a LOAN of TWO THOUSAND POUNDS, Halifax Currency, for the building of a PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH of ENGLAND, in the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada.

The Subscriber is authorized to offer Efficient Legal Securities for the Repayment of the LOAN, at the end of the period, and for the Annual Payment of the Interest accumulating thereon, at Six per Cent. per annum.

(By Order of the Committee.)

GEORGE O'KILL STUART,
SECRETARY, pro tem.

19—tf.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

THE Board for the General Superintendance of Education, in this Province, give notice that the undermentioned Lands, reserved for the purposes of the Institution, are about to be disposed of on terms advantageous to purchasers; and that, after the six teenth day of September next, applications may be addressed to Colonel Talbot, residing in the District of London, with respect to any Lands situate in that District, who is duly authorized to enter into any contracts for their sale, and to the Secretary of the Board, at York, with respect to any of the Lands situate in the other Districts.

School Reserves in the London District.	Blandford, about . .	20,000
	Houghton, " "	19,000
	Middleton, " "	14,000
	Southwold, " "	17,000
	Yarmouth, " "	12,903
	Westminster, " "	9,237
Midland District,	Sheffield, " "	36,648
	Newcastle do.	Seymour, " " 47,000

By Order of the Board,

JAMES GIVINS, Secretary.

York, 26th July, 1823. if—34.

N. B. It is requested that all communications respecting the above Lands be post paid.

NOTICE.

FOR SALE, by private Contracts, the House and Lot lately occupied by Mr. O'Sullivan, Saddler, King's-Street, in the Town of York, the Lot is 26 feet fronting King's Street, by 112 feet deep.

Also.—A Lot adjoining the above on the West side, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—A Lot adjoining Mr. Duggan's, 34, by 112 feet.

Also —Three Lots on Stuarts Land, each 40, by 80 feet.

Should the above Property and Lots not be sold by Private Contract, the five last described Lots will be sold at Public Sale, on the first day of July ensuing.

Application for Terms of Sale, to be made to

ALEXANDER WOOD, ESQ.

YORK, 17th March, 1824. t. f.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Inhabitants of the Township of TOWNSEND intend Petitioning both Houses of the Provincial Legislature at its next Session, to pass a Law, Establishing a Line Surveyed in the year 1823, between the 12th and 13th Cons. of the said Township.

TOWNSEND, 20th MAY, 1824. } No. 21—1 m. t. d.

VALUABLE LANDED PROPERTY FOR SALE.

TWENTY-SEVEN TOWN LOTS, eligibly situated in the Village of Cobourg, in Hamilton, Upper Canada, on one of which, a Store and Dwelling House are erected.

Two Neat Small FARMS, contiguous to the above Village, containing one, about Twenty eight Acres, the other, about Fifty Acres, with a House and other Buildings on each of them —A Plan of the above may be seen on application to Mr J. G. BETHUNE, Cobourg, (who will shew the Premises,) or to the Subscriber.

Two TOWN LOTS in Picardville, adjoining to the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada, with Houses and other Buildings thereon, being Lots No. 21 and 22.

200 Acres of Land being No. 1, 8th Con. of Murray.

200 do do being No. 4, 4th do of Hungerford.

200 do do being No. 1, 8th do of Winchester.

200 do do being No 24, 8th do of Mountain.

200 do do being the West halves of No. 31 and 32 in the 2d Concession of Hawkesbury.

Liberal Terms of Payment will be granted.

For particulars apply to

FRS. ANT. LAROQUE.

N. B. The above mentioned Town Lots in the flourishing Village of Cobourg, and the two adjoining Farms, will be disposed of by Public Sale, in the said Village on the 24th May next.

F. A. L. R.

MONTREAL, 15th March, 1824. t. f.

INTERESTING NOTICE.

THE Surveyor General begs leave to inform the Public, that he has obtained the permission of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, to publish a of the Province, on a large Scale. It is to be engraved in London, in the best style, and will be ready for delivery in a few months.

CORRECT MAP

This information, the Surveyor General thinks it necessary to make, in order to prevent those persons, who are desirous of having an authentic MAP of Upper CANADA, from being imposed upon by a Surreptitious Copy, said to be on the eve of Publication.

Surveyor General's Office,
York, 2d April, 1823. } 14—tf

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the County of Prince Edward, in the Midland District, intend Petitioning the Legislature, at the next Session thereof, to have the said County sett off, and made into a separate District from the said Midland District, and to be called the District of Maitland. No. 24—6ms.

TIMBER WANTED AT BURLINGTON BEACH.

OFFERS will be received until the 10th day of July next, by the Contractor, at Burlington Beach. —Also—by FRANCIS HALL, Engineer, Queenston, for delivering at the works—the following quantities of round and square

TIMBER.

50,000 Lineal Feet of White Oak Timber, Foot Square; in Length varying from 22 to 33 Feet.

37,490 Lineal Feet of 3 Inch White Oak Plank; 18 Inches in width—in Length varying from 12 to 33 Feet

36,400 Lineal Feet of Pine Timber, 12 Inches in diameter—in Length varying from 12 to 33 Feet.

Burlington Beach, June 22d, 1824

No. 28—t f.

THE Canadian Annual Register.

UNDER THE PATRONAGE OF HIS EXCELLENCY,

SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

To whom the Work is Dedicated by Permission.

AS the Projector and Editor of this Ur at National Work is confident of its ultimate success, if but a moderate share of encouragement is given to its outset,—he takes this opportunity of requesting those Agents of this Paper who have received the names of any Subscribers to the Work to transmit them, together with their address, without delay, to the U C. Gazette Office, in order that they may be added to those already received in the larger Prospectus about to be issued.

The names and residences of the earliest patrons of this Great Undertaking, will be published, alphabetically arranged, in the first volume of the work, as a perpetual record of their liberality, public spirit, and sound patriotism.

It is again repeated, that no money will be demanded, until the work, which will not exceed the price of the meanest newspaper, is delivered.

A New Type is ordered from Great Britain expressly for this work.

U C Gazette Office,
November 20, 1823. }

TERMS

OF THE U. C. GAZETTE AND WEEKLY REGISTER.

FOUR DOLLARS per annum (Postage included) payable half year. ly in advance. Three months notice is required previous to the discontinuance of any Subscription.

PRICE OF ADVERTISING,

Six lines and under, two shillings and six pence, and sevenpence halfpenny, every subsequent insertion.

Six to ten lines, five shillings, and one shilling and thr epence subsequently.

All exceeding ten lines, four pence per line for the first insertion, and one penny subsequently.—Rule and Figure work charged Double.—A discount of 25 per cent. allowed to those who advertise by the year.—Advertisements cannot be received after 1 o'clock on the Wednesday afternoon immediately preceding the day of Publication.—Advertisements unaccompanied with positive directions as to the exact number of insertions to be given them, will be continued until expressly forbidden.—Or until the day of Sale (if alluding to Sales) and charged accordingly.

☞ Advertisements from the Country must be post paid, with the price of insertion; or, a reference in Town who will pay when demanded, or discontinued.

☞ Any Agent obtaining 3 Subscribers has a paper for himself at half price;—if he obtains 6, he has his own paper gratis;—and, for as many as he obtains above 6, he will receive, besides his own paper, a Commission 6of per cent. upon the whole amount.

BLANK DEEDS AND MEMORIALS

For Sale at this Office.

WEEKLY REGISTER.

VOL. III. Our endeavor will be to "stamp the very body of the time—its form and pressure"—we shall extenuate nothing, nor shall we set down aught in malice. No. 39.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 23d, 1824.

Editorial Commentary.

IN a paragraph, which has appeared in the Morning Chronicle, contains a true statement, the dreams of ambition, and the love of ashire journey, have at length driven the "Holy Alliance" absolutely lunatic.—We are extremely sorry that we cannot give the passage entire.—But the pith of the matter is this, POZZO DI BORGO—the renowned POZZO, Ambassador from Russia to France; and Paramount Minister of the Allied Sovereigns of the Continent, has gravely proposed the subjugation of the United States of N America, as well as the restoration of the South to the dominion of the sapient, and holy, Ferdinand;—declaring the said conquest to be an easy enterprise!!—The arguments used are inconceivably childish, and remote from all truth and common sense.—We are glad to find this most unholy of all unholy combinations, exhibiting such unequivocal signs of dotage, and incompetency to stay the march and progress of right feelings, and liberal sentiment.

Our readers must place what reliance they please on the extracts from the London Sun relative to the views of Russia towards America.—We can have no doubt how the Czar's inclinations lie, notwithstanding the Quebec Gazette of Dr. FISHER assures us "the ambition of russia is quiescent,"—(one of the most unlikely things in the world).—But it is fortunate for America, and for the world, that the "fast anchor'd isle" is yet safe in her mooring.—

WE this day give an interesting extract from Bell's Weekly Messenger, on the Manufactures and Commerce of England; in which, amongst a great deal of valuable information, we are sorry to find a reiteration of his old absurd doctrine respecting the non-importance of Canada to the mother country, and the evils with which she is said to saddle certain merchants and tradesmen of England, by the support she continues to receive from the imperial Government.—It is highly gratifying however to perceive that he is obliged to contradict himself, and allow that British America and the West Indies, together, receive British exports in amount very nearly equal to the whole trade with the United States!—This is a most glorious fact—and it is astonishing that it has not served to stop his calumniating mouth in regard to this rising country; and yet more surprising that he writes sensible and intelligent should not remember the strict analogy there is between the principles of a wise colonial system and those which support the connection between parents and their children.—How can a man expect to be strengthened, and supported, and have his boundaries enlarged, by his children, in advanced life,—if he refuses his aid to their infancy?—The return of gratitude and of filial affection yield an inheritance infinitely more durable and valuable than any that can be derived from civil discord, political jealousy's, or that deadly hatred which never fails to be engendered by an improper exercise of arbitrary rule.—We need not travel far for illustration.—Happy are we to find, however, that the sentiments of Mr. BELL, Sir ISAAC COFFIN, and other crotchets of opaque intellect, are not those of the British Government

We are sorry it is out of our power to publish the excellent Charge from the Hon. Mr. Justice Campbell, to the Grand Jury of Perth, at the late criminal Term held there—which is, in every respect, a highly valuable and able document—but it length totally precludes its insertion in these columns.

We are anxiously waiting some confirmation of the glorious news given in this day's paper,—from the Albion—relative to the great Canadian Land Company, said to have been formed in London, with a capital of ONE MILLION, Sterling—God grant it may be true!—

SELECTIONS FROM BRITISH AND FOREIGN JOURNALS.

Latest London Papers.—We hear from good authority that ministers are so perfectly satisfied of the tranquil state of politics, that they intend the Cabinet meetings shall cease after the beginning of next week, when all the members will separate on different excursions. Lord Liverpool goes to Walmer Castle, Mr. Canning is about to travel in Ireland. Lord Harrowby intends taking the waters at Spa. It is expected that after next week, not a single member of the Cabinet will remain in town.

The Marquis of HASTINGS arrived at His Government of Malta on the 7th June, where he was received with extravagant rejoicings by the natives.

Grand Improvement in London.—A meeting has taken place in London, to effect a most magnificient plan of improvement in the appearance of the city on the north side of the Thames. It is proposed to build an esplanade or terrace, to extend from London bridge to Blackfriars, and from thence to Westminster bridge, as far as Scotland Yard. The width to be 90, and the height 60 feet. The expense to be defrayed by tolls, and the letting of warehouses under the terrace. It does not appear whether the plan will be finally adopted as some preliminary measures are to be taken.

Catholic Churches in Canada.—In the Cork Reporter of 22nd July, is the following paragraph in an article on Canada.

"Dr. McDonnel is now in London. He has been presented to the King, and has received the most flattering reception. The object of his journey to England is to obtain subscriptions to assist in the building of some new Churches, which have become necessary for the accommodation of the Catholic inhabitants of the Provinces."

News papers.—The Dublin Evening Post says, "a fellow was lately detected in the act of Stealing a Newspaper at the general post office. He was taken into custody, and will be prosecuted under the act of the present session. The practice of purloining papers has of late become so serious a nuisance and the cause of so many disappointments that the public are much indebted to Sir Edward Lees, for his zeal in getting the Bill passed, which makes it a penal offence."

Cotton.—The Cotton planters in the United States appear to feel some apprehension of a serious rival ship on the part of the Pacha of Egypt, who has already begun to send Egyptian Cotton to the English market. The banks of the Nile are represented to be well adapted to the growth of that valuable plant; and, if the inhabitants should become industrious, and be protected in the enjoyment of the fruits of their industry, they might produce it in great abundance.

An acceptable Present.—The Myriorama, of many thousand views, designed by Mr. Clark.—The Myriorama is a moveable Picture, consisting of numerous cards, on which are fragments of landscapes, neatly coloured, and so ingeniously contrived, that any two or more placed together, will form a pleasing view or, if the whole are put on a table at once, will admit of the astonishing number of 20,912,789,888,000 variations: it is therefore certain, that if a person were occupied night and day, making one change every minute, he could not finish the task in less than 39,807, 188 years and 336 days. This ingenious production is admirably adapted to excite amongst young persons a taste for drawing; to increase them with exercises and sports for imitation, and to supply an inexhaustible source of amusement.—London Paper.

Singular.—A Greensburgh (Pa.) paper of the 20th instant, announced the sudden death of Mr. Jame. Montgomery, of Unity township: But after the article was in type, the editor was informed that Mr. M was restored to life, after, as every appearance indicated, it had been suspended for about two hours. It is stated that his body was cold, and that he had no pulse. Every person who saw him, was confident that the vital spark had fled. Mourning preparations were making by his friends to attend his funeral. This circumstance may, and ought to teach, a useful lesson. Let us not be too precipitate in interring those whom we suppose to be dead.

Ingenious Invention.—A patent has been taken out, in England, for a machine, for making all kinds of shoes, gloves, caps and hats, cartouch boxes, sabre Lands and sword sheathes, of one piece of leather, without any seam or sowing whatever.

Death of an Elephant in England.—An Elephant lately died in England at the age of 58 years. It was suffocated by its own trunk, and originally cost £1050.

"A Modern Miracle.—The following account is seriously published in the Norfolk Beacon, under the signatures of three gentlemen, one of whom is the Rev. William Lee," as a singular display of the goodness and power of the Almighty God, at a camp meeting held on Tangier Island, August 15, 1824.

"Miss Narcissa Crippin, a highly respectable young lady, nineteen years of age, and a zealous christian, was, on the evening of the 13th instant, say about 8 o'clock, so operated on by the spirit of God, that her face became too bright and shining for mortal eyes to gaze upon, without producing the most awful feeling in the beholders. It resembled the reflection of the sun upon a bright cloud. The appearance of her face for the space of forty minutes was truly angelic, during which time she was silent, after which she spoke and expressed her happy and heavenly feelings, when her dazzling countenance faded, and her face resumed its natural appearance" !!!

Hyphen Tragedy.—The Propagateur Hayien states that a negress, sixteen years of age, had composed a tragedy, entitled "The Death of Christophe." This work, adds the Propagateur, will be represented at the national theatre of the Republic, by order of the President Boyer.

Shaking Hands.—At a late duel in Kentucky the parties discharged their pistols without effect; whereupon, one of the seconds interfered, and proposed that the combatants should shake hands. To this, the other second objected as unnecessary, for, said he, their hands have been shaking this half hour.—Norfolk paper.

CARLISLE, (Pa.) Aug. 12.

Mysterious Personage.—A female, who professes to cure all manner of diseases to which the human frame is liable, has recently made her appearance in Perry county. The Forewarn states that in one case she restored a person to perfect health who had for many years been obliged to support himself on crutches.—She had also effected the cure of aggravated cancers in the breast! She speaks the languages fluently, is a good chemist, and prepares her medicines from herbs, being very careful to root up the plant by the roots. She is able to obtain from her any account of herself, who she is, or from whence she came.

The Late Lake White, Esq. In the year ——, Mr. Warren, of Belfast, kept one of the most respective and extensive book shops in Ireland. He commenced with a small bag and still smaller capital. He called on Mr. Warren in the course of business, and purchased sed from him some of his cast off novels, and volumes of broken sets as well, as a few ballads and penny pamplets. He displayed, in his dealing with Mr. Warren the greatest honesty and punctuality; and was on more than one occasion, credited by him to the amount of two or three pounds. We have not been able to trace out where he lodged, but we suppose it must have been in no very respectable domicile; as he found it safe and desirable to deposite his bag, "his all" nightly, in Mr. Warren's shop; and next morning when the clerks opened the concern, he resumed his burthen and his toilsome occupation. To think that behind Mr. Warren's counter, should have been deposited in a greasy linen bag the property of a ragged pedlar, the very beginning of such wealth as Mr. White has lately possessed. The lean ragged philosopher, "with spectacles on his nose," and a world of anxious doubt and care reposing in every furrow of his wrinkled brow, peeps, with a palpitating heart into his crucibles, to see whether his chemical discoveries and experiments have produced that long sought for substance, whose touch turns to gold; but not more anxiously, we are sure, than did Luke White con over the bundles of "Chevy Chase," and the. "Fair matilda," which Mr. Warren's shopman supplied him with—the paltry profits from which, were to be increased to two millions of money.

At this time Mr. Robert Hodgson, father to the highly respectable Mr. J. Hodgson, bookseller of Belfast lived in North Street. Luke White was in the habit of calling on him, to get some of his workmen to patch up the broken binding of his second hand purchases. Mr. White was in the practice of selling by auction his pamphlets and imperfect volumes in the public streets of Belfast. On these occasions he used to borrow a three legged stool from Mr. Hodgson, to elevate himself above his literary congregation; and as it the smiling goddess who led him through pleasant walks to a bank of wealth, had determined to flirt with her own freaks, she changed the three legs of the stool in the common street, to three seats in the Common's House.

His future history is well known. The knowledge he thus acquired of public sales procured him the situation of clerk to an auctioneer in Dublin. He opened a small book shop; became eminent in that line; sold lottery tickets, and speculated in the funds. By stock jobbing and contracting for government loans, he was enabled to, bequeath at his death £30,000 a year, and £1,0100,000 in money and securities. This which remained, after the enormous sum of £280 000 expended upon elections, he has bequeathed among his children.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

PORTUGAL.

We understand that at the Cabinet Council, held yesterday, it was determined to address a circular to the different Ambassadors at foreign Courts, explaining the conduct pursued by the English Cabinet with regard to Portugal. In this circular it will be stated that nothing but the most urgent necessity for interference would induce the English Government at all to listen to the proposition of sending troops to Lisbon; but that the Government were happy to state, that by the most recent intelligence from that country, it appeared that no necessity whatever existed for such interference, and that the security of his Most Faithful Majesty would be quite complete by sending an additional ship of war to the Tagus, with a few extra corps of marines, which it was their attention to do forthwith. The English Cabinet also announce, that it is their intention, in future to maintain in Portugal an Ambassador of the first rank, instead of conducting the diplomatic relations of the two countries through the medium of the Charge d' Affaires, as at present. This measure is supposed to have originated on slight feelings of jealousy on the part of the English Government, in having observed, during the late crisis at Lisbon the supreme influence possessed by the French Ambassador, on account of his superior rank as a diplomatist.

[It is said to have been well known, that both Mr Canning and Mr. Peal have strongly opposed the sending troops to Portugal, and that it is principally owing to the interference of these gentlemen that the measure has been entirely abandoned.]

SWEDEN.

One of the minor Paris papers of Thursday gives some curious particulars of an attempt to place Prince Gustavus, son of the Ex-King of Sweden, on the throne. Private letters enter into more particular details, and state, that this young Prince had been invited to Baden, where he was treated by the Emperor of Austria in the most splendid style; and that, during his residence there, he received letters from the Emperor of Russia, the King of Prussia, and some of the inferior Sovereigns of the German states.

BOHEMIA.

We learn from Prague that immense damage has been done to Bohemia by the overflowing of the Elbe and Muldau. The town of Prague was completely inundated.

HOLY ALLIANCE! IMPORTANT!!

We have (says the London Sun of the 21st July,) this morning received most important intelligence by Express, both from Paris and Frankfort. The Readers of the Sun have had abundant evidence of the accuracy and correct information of our Foreign Correspondents, some of whom, indeed, hold stations which enable them to speak with absolute certainty of the important affairs on which they think fit to communicate with us. They may therfore rely, with as unlimited confidence as we ourselves do, on the truth of what we are now about to state.

Our Frankfort Correspondent gives us the momentous and truly alarming information, that the Congress of Minister at Johannesberg have resolved, that assistance shall be given to Spain for the recovery of her South American Colonies. This resolution has been adopted, on the representations made by Spain, as to the distracted and unhappy condition of Spanish America, torn and desolated by military factions, whilst the great majority of the population are attached to the mother country, desirous of being re-united to her, and only awaiting the appearance of an adequate force from Europe to enable them decidedly to manifest their true dispositions. This much for the intelligence from Frankfort, and which at once puts in jeopardy the peace of Europe and the independence of America and more unsatisfactorily accounts for the naval manoeuvres of France and Russia, so opportunely entered upon just at the time that the decision of the Congress of Ministers upon the South America question rendered necessary that the fleets of these two Powers should be put in motion.

Our Express from Paris brings the scarcely less important intelligence, that it is now believed in the Ministerial circles that M. de Villele, cannot by possibility hold his ground, but must retire from the Ministry. The resignation or dismissal of M. de Villele, therefore, may be daily expected. The true position of this Minister was not yet generally known in Paris; but affairs are altogether looked upon as so gloomy in that capital, that the French Funds, instead of recovering from the late shock, are lowering, and were on Monday at 98f. 35c.

From the Liverpool Courier, July 24.

If one were at liberty to judge, from the state of the stock markets, of the general prospects of Europe, one would have apprehension that the state of peace, which has so long endured, and which has been found by all parties so salutary, was about to be disturbed. Our own has declined very considerably, within a short period, and the Parisian market still more. Yet it is not possible, we think, that there can be any real danger to the peace of Europe. There is but one subject that can be a subject of serious difference among the European states,—South America. But, it seems to us, this must remain in the state of a question of opinion only, it is hardly possible that the European Governments will be so highly absurd as to proceed to forceful argument on the subject. It is even now said, in quarters of some authority, that France is not very violently disposed to concur with the high tone of the rest of the holy alliance on this subject, and were there any confidence due to this surmise the question would be almost set at rest; for without the co-operation of France, it is impossible to suppose that the other powers of the alliance would be so Quixotic as to undertake an adventure, which, even with France, would have been sufficiently hopeless, the re-conquest of Spanish America. We must presume, therefore, that the depression in the stock markets is only the reasonable deference which so base a thing as money owes to the august thoughts and humours of Princes, shrinking into itself at a frown, or dilating at a smile of a monarch or a minister.

TURKS, RUSSIANS AND GREEKS.

Information from Constantinople to the 23d of June, positively announces that Lord Strangford, after a long conference with the Reis Effendi, in which he assured him that the English government could no longer, with the Greeks, but would recall all the English officers now engaged in their service, has obtained a written promise that the Turks should evacuate Wallachia forthwith and Moldavia within a very short delay.—Within these two principalities will be established upon the same footing as in 1821, before the insurrection broke out. Lord Strangford, in the excess of his joy, announced that a Russian Ambassador would be sent to Constantinople.

Advices from St. Petersburgh, however, through the Prussian Gazettes, state that the conferences at the former place, upon the affairs of Greece have not had a satisfactory issue. England is opposed to the views of the Emperor Alexander, who requires Greece to be placed under the protection of the European Powers, as well as Walachia and Moldavia. England, on the contrary, wishes Greece to enjoy the same independence as the Ionian Islands. For the rest, says the Hamburgh Gazette, we are assured that however benevolent may be the views of the mediating Powers, neither the assent of the Porte, nor even that of the Greeks will ever be obtained.

Extract of a private letter of the 16th June, from Zante:—The solemn tone of the Anti-Christian Journal which represents itself to be well informed, and which really is so because it is the director of the plan of the Ottoman campaign, announced disasters which have as already in great part averted. It is known that the Turks succeeded in throwing a reinforcement of 2000 men into the Isle of Eubœa, and revictualling Negropont at the moment when that place was upon the point of capitulating. This intelligence was no sooner known here than the Government learned that the Austrian brig Le Pollux of Ragusa, laden with provisions for the Turks at Patras, was to sail from Leghorn with 70 000 double piastres, furnished by the house of Graham to the order of Mehemet Ali, Pacha of Egypt, and that this money was destined to corrupt Colocotroni and some other Greek Chiefs. This notice soon afforded a clue to a conspiracy hatched at Missolonghi by Caralcyses, who commanded part of the garrison of that place. A seizure was made of a correspondence which he kept up with Jussuff Pacha, in virtue of which 5000 Turks were to make a sortie from Lepanto, and take possession of Missolonghi, which the traitor would have surrendered to them. The Ottoman division stationed at Patras, would have seconded the movement. The day was fixed, and advice thereof had already reached Patras, when a post of 500 Greeks, stationed at the defile of Mount Taphias or Kaki Scala, seized the despatches of Caralcyses, which were immediately sent to Mavrocordato. The latter dispatched forthwith reinforcements towards Kaki Scala, leaving Caralcyses who never suspected that his letters had been read to make a favourable reply to Jussuff Pacha. Three thousand Turks immediately marched towards the defile where they were assailed with such impetuosity that very few of them regained Lepanto. The naval division which had sailed from Patras being informed of what had passed, came to anchor on the 2d inst. and has since sailed towards the Levant. Caralcyses is in prison. Mr. Black an English merchant and Count Logatheti of Zante, are charged to pay over the Loan to the Hellenist Government. M. Blaquiers has received advice from the Committee of the Phil-Hellenist Society of London, of the early arrival of a frigate destined to stand on fire the Turkish fleet which is expected upon the coasts of the Morea. The vessels of Hydra, Ipsara, and Spezzia, are ready to put to sea. The intrepid Constantine Canaris is on board the Admiral's ship.—Forty thousand Greeks in the Morea are preparing to oppose themselves to the Ottoman forces, whose object is to make themselves masters of Navarin in order to winter there.

Augsburgh, July 12.—We have received letters from Semlin and Belgrade, which give circumstantial details of the defeat of a part of the army with Derwisk Pacha caused to advance into Livadia according to orders received from Constantinople; and which was to proceed from thence to the Negropont to join the army of the Captain Pacha. This project of a junction, however, completely failed; the detached body of the Derwish Pacha amounted to between 8 and 9,000 men; the whole. A wonderful deficit, and justly alarming unless a satisfactory reason can be given. It is not so difficult to be found, and it mainly falls upon a deficient demand for our home manufactures. The £3 569,000 of the year 1822 and 1823, was compared and made up of two classes of exports,—that of £2.510.907 in British and Irish produce and manufactures, and £1,419,156 in foreign and colonial merchandize. Now, in the year just finished, and the accounts of which are given in the Official Report, the amount of foreign and colonial produce exported is but £806.160, that is to say, more than one million short of what was sent thither in the former year. A vast proportion, therefore, of the actual deficit belongs to a diminished exportation of colonial produce—and sugar, rum, &c. Now, how does this happen? Simply, because the improved and extended cultivation of Spanish America, and more particularly of the Caracas, has enabled Russia to supply herself with sugar at a cheaper rate than from the British Islands. And the same fact will account for the unsaleable stock which has arisen in the British market, and for the consequent complaint of the planters. It is, in this manner, indeed, that the evil of slavery will work its own death and certain abolition.—Let us cease to encourage these islands, or, in other words, the slave trade, by our system of admitting duties upon sugar, and then sugar, under the certain effect of negro labour, can only be afforded at such a price that it will not be able to keep the market against the competition of sugar raised by free labour in the Caracas.

After Russia, the next head in the Official Report is Sweden, Norway and Denmark, the joint amount of the exports of which speak round figures about half a million. The cause of this contemptible amount is no doubt in the absurd and perverse policy of this country, according to which we sacrifice the interest of our manufacturers to the projects of wrong headed men, as we do, as we have to sacrifice the landholders in Canada to the corn growers in England. The interest of the community is to have every thing as cheap as possible, and therefore to traffic in the way of free trade, and with the nearest places. It is a very great misfortune, indeed, whether any circumstance, we ought to be at war with a colony, as to sacrifice such a vast and superior trade as that of the community, to the local interest of a part and only a very small part, of the great body of the empire. When things are equal, it is true, that every one ought to prefer dealing with his own connexions. But where we can only do so at our own great cost, the question then is, whether the good of the few is to be preferred to the good of the many.—In other words, whether we are to pay for retaining our colonies and to give them every year so much out of our own pockets.

Germany, the next head, exhibits the surprising amount of upwards of nine million, and of which not more than two millions are British and Irish produce. This is a head which ought to call forth the most profound consideration of ministers. It is doubtless to be imputed to the number of free marts which abound in that country. With Austria we have little trade, but the free cities of Germany supply themselves almost exclusively from our markets and manufactures.

With Prussia the amount of our trade does not exceed £767.6 11 a small amount, but another proof (in common with that of Austria) how an imperfect government affects all the resources of a state, and how impossible it is for commerce to flourish in the midst of bad institutions. With Holland, though not above one half the magnitude of Prussia, our exports exceed two millions annually. Our depot trade to Gibraltar is very nearly three millions, and our trade with Tuscany Naples, and the Papal States, exceeds five millions. Sicily, and Malta is a very singular trade, nearly the same amount, and the same amount only, that is to say, about one million annually to France and to Turkey.

There is one fact, however, which we hate to notice with much pleasure, and with which we shall conclude, and this is that our trade with British America and the British West Indies (our exports only) very nearly equal the amount of our trade with the United States. Our exports to the United States amount to £7.580.968, while our exports to British America and to the British West Indies, amounted to six millions, wanting about twenty-seven thousand pounds.

In round figures, our export trade with the East Indies and China, amounts to nearly four millions,—our trade to Brazil to nearly two,—our trade to Spanish America to £2.000.000,—and our trade to Portugal to two millions seven hundred thousands pounds.

Upon the whole, the accounts of the year are most flattering in all the departments of our national industry. The only deficit is in our exportation of foreign and colonial produce. But in all our subjects of British industry in our manufactures of cotton, woollens, linens, hardware, cutlery, and brass, our trade is to the most part on the increase. This, after all, is the main point.

The increase of our foreign exports, more especially when the subject matter of such augmentation is our leading domestic manufactures, is necessarily the increase of our real wealth, and is attended with this benefit and that of steadier employment to

From Bell's Weekly Messenger, July 5.

Finance and Commercial Accounts, Shipping and Merchandize for the present year. These accounts, according to annual custom, have been laid before the House of Commons.

We shall not at present occupy our readers with the detail of figures, our notice is to the general character of the returns as compared with those of last year. We shall confine ourselves to the state of our trade (under the head of Exports,) with the different foreign kingdoms with which our commerce is carried on, and endeavour to show the great disparity in our trade between the several nations with which we deal.

And first with regard to Russia. In the Official Report which contains an account of the sum total of our foreign trade with the different nations, it appears that our total exports to Russia, for the year ending January the 5th, 1824, amount to £1,220,148. In the preceding year, the amount was £3 060,963, so that in this branch alone there is a falling off, in the course of one year only, of upwards of £2.400,000, or more than two thirds of the whole. A wonderful deficit, and justly alarming unless a satisfactory reason can be given. It is not so difficult to be found, and it mainly falls upon a deficient demand for our home manufactures. The £3 569,000 of the year 1822 and 1823, was compared and made up of two classes of exports,—that of £2.510.907 in British and Irish produce and manufactures, and £1,419,156 in foreign and colonial merchandize. Now, in the year just finished, and the accounts of which are given in the Official Report, the amount of foreign and colonial produce exported is but £806.160, that is to say, more than one million short of what was sent thither in the former year. A vast proportion, therefore, of the actual deficit belongs to a diminished exportation of colonial produce—and sugar, rum, &c. Now, how does this happen? Simply, because the improved and extended cultivation of Spanish America, and more particularly of the Caracas, has enabled Russia to supply herself with sugar at a cheaper rate than from the British Islands. And the same fact will account for the unsaleable stock which has arisen in the British market, and for the consequent complaint of the planters. It is, in this manner, indeed, that the evil of slavery will work its own death and certain abolition.—Let us cease to encourage these islands, or, in other words, the slave trade, by our system of admitting duties upon sugar, and then sugar, under the certain effect of negro labour, can only be afforded at such a price that it will not be able to keep the market against the competition of sugar raised by free labour in the Caracas.

After Russia, the next head in the Official Report is Sweden, Norway and Denmark, the joint amount of the exports of which speak round figures about half a million. The cause of this contemptible amount is no doubt in the absurd and perverse policy of this country, according to which we sacrifice the interest of our manufacturers to the projects of wrong headed men, as we do, as we have to sacrifice the landholders in Canada to the corn growers in England. The interest of the community is to have every thing as cheap as possible, and therefore to traffic in the way of free trade, and with the nearest places. It is a very great misfortune, indeed, whether any circumstance, we ought to be at war with a colony, as to sacrifice such a vast and superior trade as that of the community, to the local interest of a part and only a very small part, of the great body of the empire. When things are equal, it is true, that every one ought to prefer dealing with his own connexions. But where we can only do so at our own great cost, the question then is, whether the good of the few is to be preferred to the good of the many.—In other words, whether we are to pay for retaining our colonies and to give them every year so much out of our own pockets.

Germany, the next head, exhibits the surprising amount of upwards of nine million, and of which not more than two millions are British and Irish produce. This is a head which ought to call forth the most profound consideration of ministers. It is doubtless to be imputed to the number of free marts which abound in that country. With Austria we have little trade, but the free cities of Germany supply themselves almost exclusively from our markets and manufactures.

With Prussia the amount of our trade does not exceed £767.6 11 a small amount, but another proof (in common with that of Austria) how an imperfect government affects all the resources of a state, and how impossible it is for commerce to flourish in the midst of bad institutions. With Holland, though not above one half the magnitude of Prussia, our exports exceed two millions annually. Our depot trade to Gibraltar is very nearly three millions, and our trade with Tuscany Naples, and the Papal States, exceeds five millions. Sicily, and Malta is a very singular trade, nearly the same amount, and the same amount only, that is to say, about one million annually to France and to Turkey.

There is one fact, however, which we hate to notice with much pleasure, and with which we shall conclude, and this is that our trade with British America and the British West Indies (our exports only) very nearly equal the amount of our trade with the United States. Our exports to the United States amount to £7.580.968, while our exports to British America and to the British West Indies, amounted to six millions, wanting about twenty-seven thousand pounds.

In round figures, our export trade with the East Indies and China, amounts to nearly four millions,—our trade to Brazil to nearly two,—our trade to Spanish America to £2.000.000,—and our trade to Portugal to two millions seven hundred thousands pounds.

Upon the whole, the accounts of the year are most flattering in all the departments of our national industry. The only deficit is in our exportation of foreign and colonial produce. But in all our subjects of British industry in our manufactures of cotton, woollens, linens, hardware, cutlery, and brass, our trade is to the most part on the increase. This, after all, is the main point.

The increase of our foreign exports, more especially when the subject matter of such augmentation is our leading domestic manufactures, is necessarily the increase of our real wealth, and is attended with this benefit and that of steadier employment to manufacturers funds to labour, and to the productive industry of all classes.

They know but little of the true nature, and necessary effects of foreign commerce, who it is practically occupied, not in a carrying trade, but in the vent and distribution of commodities, the work of our own looms and forges, of our own labourers and artizans, who consider the condition of such commerce to be a matter of indifference to all but merchants and manufacturers.—It is only by an entire commerce, that the circulation of money can be maintained and augmented, and such an extended demand for agricultural produce created, as will sufficiently compensate the landlord and the farmer. The prosperous condition of foreign commerce is of equal importance to the landed interest, as to the mercantile classes. The more commerce, the more call for labour, the more extensive employment of labourers, the more demand upon the market for food, and that kind of demand which alone sustains the market namely, the demand of those who can pay for what they require.

The present prosperous, and we will venture to add, the precarious and unsettled condition of the agricultural market, is the fruit of our large and spending foreign trade, and that of our domestic. Of no such consequence is the condition of our trade to all various interests of the country, and to no persons more especially than to landlords and farmers, whose returning prosperity and permanent recovery (as we sincerely trust) from their late severe trials, is regarded by every class of the community without envy or repining.

Domestic.

New Catholic Church in Montreal.

The ceremony of laying the corner stone of the new Parish or Catholic Church of this city took place on Wednday last, amidst a vast concourse of spectators, who seemed to take a deep interest in the solemn and imposing spectacle going on in their presence.

After the celebration of High Mass, at which the most respectable inhabitants of the city were present, the procession left the present venerable Catholic Parish Church about half past ten o'clock and proceeded down Saint Joseph Street to the site of the new building. The procession was led by a person dressed in clerical robes, bearing a large silver cross; and was succeeded by two persons similarly dressed, each carrying a large massy silver candlestick containing a lit wax candle, who again were succeeded by a clergyman carrying a splendid and capacious golden goblet containing the holy water supported by two brothers bearing in a cross boxe suspended by silver chains from the head. Then came the whole body of the Catholic Clergy of the city and neighbourhood, two and two, dressed in their graceful black robes and white surplices, making a very solemn and engaging appearance. The Clergy were followed by the Honourable Justice Foucher of the court of King's-Bench—the Sheriff—Mr. Attorney-General, Uniacke, Mr Ross, and almost the whole respectable gentlemen of the bar, in their bands and gowns. The band of the 70th Regiment, playing appropriate music, with a company of the same regiment to keep off the crowd, brought up the rear of the procession.

His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, Sir Francis Nathaniel Burton, who is now in town, did not join in the procession; but a railed platform, covered with a rich turkey carpet having been erected for him to the left of the forms placed on the area of the new building, for the accommodation of the Ladies, he and his suit, with several other ladies and gentlemen of distinction, took seats on it, where they enjoyed as ample view of the ceremonies of the day.

When the procession arrived at an artificial Arbour, which had been erected almost the centre of the site of the new building, it stopped, and an anthem was sung previous to the approach to the south east corner, where the stone lay. On arriving at the sacred spot, another anthem was chanted, whose reverberating notes excited to strike the numerous spectators with the most respectful sentiments towards those who were more immediately engaged in the ceremony. Prayers were then read, and an appropriate discourse preached by the Reverend M. Le Saulnier, from the very applicable text—" Magna est gloria domus, istius novissima pluquam prima." Previous to the conclusion of the ceremony of laying the foundation, the stone which surmounts the corner stone, so as is the practice on similar occasions in some parts of Europe, was slowly suspended in the air, with the Architect, Mr. O'Donnell, standing upon it holding a scroll in his hand; the band continuing to play a solemn air until his descent, the stone then rested weighing 2125 lbs. The corner stone was then laid by M. Roux, the superior of the Seminary, the whole clergy kneeling, and the band playing the national anthem of God save the King. At this moment a gun was fired, and a signal hoisted from the highest balcony of the spire of the French Church, when a salute of nineteen guns was fired from St Helen's Island, accompanied by the firing of guns from all the steam-boats in the harbour.

In the corner stone were deposited a brass and leaden plate, on each of which was engraven a latin inscription mentioning the day, month, and year, on which this ceremony took place, with the name of His Majesty, and their Excellencies the Governor in Chief and Lieutenant Governor. The names of the Sovereign Pontiff, of the Bishop of the Diocese, of the Rector, and of the present Church Wardens, were also inscribed on these plates. A scroll of parchment, hermetically sealed in a glass tube, was also deposited, containing the names of His Majesty, the Pontiff, the Bishop, his Coadjutors, the Governor and Lieutenant Governor, the Judges of the Court of King's Bench of this District, the Church Wardens, the Gentlemen forming the Building Committee, the Architect and Head Mason; and stating that the expense of the building had, in a great measure, been defrayed by voluntary donations.

A silver medal, weighing sixteen ounces, was also deposited, on which was represented an excellent bust of His late Gracious Majesty George III. on the one side, and the Arms of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, on the reverse. On another medal was commemorated the death of George III. There were likewise deposited a gold sovereign, a silver shilling, and two brass farthings of the present reign with a half-dollar coin of the United States of America.

After the ceremony had been completed, a collection was made towards the expense of the building, to which His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, and other respectable persons present, liberally contributed; the whole scene terminating under those solemn impressions so peculiar to an event of this kind, which connects the present moment with the events of future ages.

A short description of the noble structure thus founded may be attended with some gratification to our readers. It is dedicated to the Virgin Mary, and is to be a chaste and correct specimen of Gothic Architecture, selected, in part, from some of the best models now existing in Europe, of the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth Centuries. It is to front St. Joseph and Notre Dame Streets, and placed upon the natural soil, its extreme length, from East to West, will measure 255 feet, by 134 feet in breadth, from North to South. It will have six towers, so arranged, as that each flank will present three; the East end having two; and the principal front on the West, the same number—each 200 feet high. Three towers will be of a quadrangular form, with octangular batteres placed at the angles of each, and terminating, at the top, in conical pinnacles. The curtain, or space, between the front towers, will be 73 feet, by 112 feet in height, crowned with an embattled parapet. There will be five public and three private entrances to the first floor, and four to the galleries; so that 10,000 people, the number which the edifice is designed to contain, may assemble and disperse in five minutes, through ample and commodious avenues and doors.—All the doors and windows are to be encircled with tripointed arch. The Eastern Window, behind the high Alter, will be 32 feet by 68, separated by shafts into compartments, subdivided by multangular impannelled trefoiled tracery, intended for stained glass. This window will be seen to great advantage from the great front entrance, as well as a perspective view of the flank windows, side galleries, and the groined ceiling, 90 feet in height. The vault of this ceiling will be supported in part by a double range of grouped columns, each three feet six inches in diameter; from these springing the groins of the ceiling, intersected by bosso relievo ribs disposed diagonally over the vaults, which form the groins into grand and decorated compartments.

There will be seven altars, placed so as to be seen from the front entrance—the high alter in a direct line, nearly at the extremity of the nave, elevated in the channel 3 feet above the floor of the Church, and encompassed on three sides by semicircular seats for the Clergy; the front of the channel being left open and accessible by an easy flight of steps in the form of a double semi reversa. The floor will be on an inclined plane, or level, from the front entrance to the high altar, which will contribute much to the general aspect the whole of the interior being arranged for every possible convenience, and disposed so as to produce the most pleasing effect. The Church will be warmed with heated air conveyed from furnaces built in apartments under the floor. The interior will have Buttresses between the windows in the flanks, corresponding in form with those of the Towers, and crowned on the top with pinnacles; these Buttresses will be hollow so as to answer for chimnies.

The windows in the flanks will consist of one range each 10 feet by 36; finished in the same style as the eastern window. The edifice will be surrounded with a spacious terrace, upon which the entrance to all the apartments will be.—This terrace will form the line of a street, also placed another of the same form, which connects the front towers; and between the piers there are treliol canopy-headed niches, intended for marble figures, in alto relievo.

At the termination of the front, between the towers, there will be a promenade 75 feet by 25, elevated 112 feet above the surface of the square; to this promenade there will be a safe and easy access, which will command a delightful and picturesque prospect of the Saint Lawrence and the surrounding country.

The front towers are intended for Chime Bells, Time Clocks, and observatories.

It is not necessary on this occasion to enter into a detail of the arrangements of the plan of this Edifice, but we may observe, that the plan is so digested, as to unite convenience, durability, proportion with effect, and grandeur without ornament. When completed it will present a pile of Gothic Architecture, so bold and impressive, as will, we trust, do honour to Canada.

From the New-York Albion, of Sept. 4.

CANADA.—We mentioned last week the great exertions which are making in England for the improvement of the Canadas. We have now the pleasure further to state, and we derive our information from the most competent authority, that the fees on grants of land are to be positively abolished; in fact, that Government have already issued orders to that effect. We have now to announce a fact of still greater importance, an indistinct rumour of which had previously been received, the formation of a Company, under the immediate patronage of his Majesty's Government, for settling and bringing under cultivation the lands in Canada. This Company will commence its operations with a capital of £1,000,000 sterling, to be made up of 10,000 shares of £10 each. They state their objects to be.

1.—To purchase portions of the Crown and Clergy reserves.

2.—To give immediate employment to emigrants on their arrival in Canada.

3.—To prepare, by clearing the lands and by building houses, &c. for the settlement of persons and families to whome the lands may be sold or let, as may be agreed on.

4.—To make advances of capital, in small sums, (under superintendence, at the legal rate of interest in the Colony, which is 6 per cent.) to such settlers on the lands of the Company as may require it, withholding the titles till the advances are repaid, as well as the price of the lands.

5.—To give in this country, to persons intending to emigrate, information regarding the lands of the Company, and to facilitate the transmission of their funds but not to interfere with the conveyances of emigrants.

6.—To promote the general improvement of the Colony, whether it be in making inland communications, connected with the lands and interests of the Company, or in extending the cultivation of articles of exports such as flax, hemp, tobacco, &c.

The first step taken by the Company will be to purchase the Crown reserves. For this purpose, two commissioners will be appointed on behalf of the Government, to meet two delegated by the Company. The four Commissioners will then proceed to Canada to value the reserves, taking for their guide the average prices of the sale of lands in their vicinity.

It is with sincere pleasure we find that the people of England have at length turned their attention to these Colonies; and the spirit being once awakened, there is no doubt but the investors will be generous as well as liberal, and effectually. It has long been a matter of regret to see the surplus capital of British industry and enterprise employed in foreign loans, on the most questionable and uncertain security, when it could be applied among our own fellow subjects with such safety profit and effect. We have been convinced, and have stated our opinion to several Canadian gentlemen, that the measures for canals and other internal improvements would not be suffered to languish, as has been the case heretofore, if properly made known in England.

Since the above was in type we have been most obligingly favoured with the following additional particulars from a highly respectable and authentic source:—

An Association, composed of highly respectable London Merchants, Members of Parliament, Bankers &c. has been lately formed in England, with the view of purchasing the Crown and Clergy Reserved Lands in Upper Canada.—Several interviews and conferences had taken place on this subject, at Lord Bathurst's Office, before the close of the late session of Parliament; and the arrangements connected with it, were in such forwardness as to raise the belief that the Company would be formally incorporated under the designation of "the Canadian Land Company," in July or August last, by a Royal Charter, to be followed with the further sanction of an act of Parliament, in the course of the ensuing session.

This Company was to be formed very nearly on the same plan and with the same rights and privileges as granted to the New South Wales Land Company, recently established in England.

The whole of the Crown reserved Lands, with two-thirds of the Clergy reserves, were to be purchased by the Canadian Company.

The price at which the lands are to be transferred to the Company, is to be determined by an average valuation formed on the actual sale prices of land in Upper Canada, prior to the 31st March last.

In order to obtain this average value, evidence of the preceding rates of sale is to be collected on the spot, by four Commissioners, two on the part of the Crown and two on the part of the Company.

The amount of the purchase of the lands was to be paid over by instalments. The sum receivable on account of the Clergy reserves to be invested in public securities, the interest applicable to the Church Establishment of the Colony. The amount received for the Crown lands to be appropriated for the public service of Upper Canada, for its general improvement, and for making roads, canals, &c.

The names of the members of the Board of Direction were not announced at the date of the latest advices. In the mean time, Mr. Jno Stuliet, an eminent Merchant Mr. Downie, M. P. Mr. Bidulph, M P. Mr. Hordey Palmer, with several other gentlemen of fortune and distinction, acted as a Committee of Management. Mr. John Galt had been appointed Secretary, ad interim, with the option of coming out to Canada as one of the Commissioners on the part of the Company.

It was expected that the Earl of Liverpool and other patriotic and distinguished noblemen would come forward, as Presidents, Vice-Presidents and Patrons of the Company.

PRINTED BY CHARLES FOTHERGILL
GAZETTE OFFICE.

Upper Canada Gazette.

New Series.

VOL. III. YORK U. C. THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 30th, 1824. No. XL.

UPPER CANADA.

P. MAITLAND,
Lieut. Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

TO our Beloved and Faithful Legislative Councellors of our Province of Upper Canada; and to our Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses of our said Province, to our Provincial Parliament at our Town of York, on the sixteenth Day of September instant, to be Commenced, Held, Called and Elected, and to every of you—GREETING:

WHEREAS, by our Proclamation bearing date the Second Day of August last, We thought fit to Prorogue our Provincial Parliament to the Sixteenth day of September instant, at which time at our Town of York, you are required and constrained to appear, NOW KNOW YE, that We taking into our Royal consideration the ease and convenience of our loving Subjects, have thought fit by and with the advice of our Executive Council, to relieve you and each of you of your attendance at the time aforesaid, hereby convoking, and by these presents enjoining you and each of you, that on Monday, the Twenty Fifth Day of October, next ensuing, you meet Us, in our Provincial Parliament, in our Town of York, there to take into consideration the state and welfare of our Province of Upper Canada, and therein to do as may seem necessary, and herein fail not.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces in North America, at York, this Tenth day of Sept. in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign.

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,
JNO. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.
D CAMERON, Secretary.

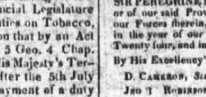
Government House,
York, Sept 22nd, 1824.

A Despatch of which the following is a Copy, has been received by His EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, from His MAJESTY'S Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies.



Downing Street,
June, 1824.

SIR,

Having referred to the consideration of the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade, your Despatch of the 5th February 1824 transmitting an Address of the two Houses of the Provincial Legislature of Upper Canada, relative to the duties on Tobacco, I have now the honour to acquaint you that by an Act which has been very recently passed, 3 Geo. 4 Chap. 43 Sec. 15 Tobacco the produce of His Majesty's Territories in Canada, will from and after the 5th July next, be admitted in this Country on payment of a duty of three pence less per lb. than is payable on Tobacco the Produce of all other Countries.

I have the Honour to be,
&c. &c. &c.
(Signed) BATHURST.

Major General
SIR P. MAITLAND K. C. B.
&c. &c. &c.

Upper Canada.

P. MAITLAND,

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come—GREETING:

WHEREAS by Proclamation bearing date the Fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventeen, our trusty and well beloved FRANCIS GORE Esquire, late our Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada, by and with the advice of the Executive Council thereof, and by virtue of the Authority in him vested in that behalf, did decree and appoint the Port of Ernestown, otherwise commonly called the Port of Bath, within the Midland District of this Province to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for all Goods and Merchandize, not being entirely prohibited and for the payment of all Duties, liable to be paid on all Goods and Merchandize brought into this Province from the United States of America:

AND WHEREAS by a certain Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the Third Year of our Reign, entitled, "An Act to Regulate the Trade of the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, and for other purposes relating to the said Provinces," it is among other things Enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the Governor Lieutenant Governor, or person Administering the Government of either of our said Provinces respectively, by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council thereof for the time being, from time to time to diminish or increase, by Proclamation, the number of Ports or places, which then were, or thereafter might be, appointed in such Province for the Entry of Goods, Wares, and Commodities, imported from the United States of America:

AND WHEREAS it appears expedient for the avoiding expence in the Collection of our Revenue, that the said Port of Ernestown shall no longer be a Port of Entry and Clearance.—NOW KNOW YE, that by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of our Province of Upper Canada, We have thought fit to declare, and do hereby declare, that from and after the date of this our Proclamation, the said Port of Ernestown shall cease to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the purposes aforesaid, and shall be and remain, as if the said Proclamation hereinbefore recited, and appointing the same to be a Port of Entry and Clearance, had never been made.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—Witness our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York this Twentieth day of March, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign. P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,
D. CAMERON, Secretary.
JNO B ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

RETURN OF MEMBERS FOR THE NINTH PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT OF UPPER CANADA.

Counties and Towns	Members Elected
Grenville,	Jon. Jones and Hamilton Walker,
Glengary,	Alex. McDonell & Don. Cameron,
Stormont,	Archibald McLean and Philip Vanconghnet,
Norfolk,	Francis L. Walsh, and Duncan McCall,
Prince Edward,	James Wilson, and Paul Peterson,
Hastings,	Reuben White, & Thos. Coleman,
Kent,	James Gordon
Northumberland,	Zacchieus Burnham, & Jas. Aylsworth,
Frontenac,	Hugh C. Thomson, and James Atkinson
Middlesex,	John Rolph, and John Matthews.
Prescott & Russel,	Donald McDonald.
Lanark,	William Morris.
Oxford,	Thomas Horner, and Charles Ingersoll.
Lincoln,	Bartholomew C. Beardsley,—John Clark, John J. Lafer-ty, & Robert Randall.
Leeds,	Charles Jones, & David Jones.
Essex,	Alexander Wilkins.
Wentworth,	John Willson & Geo Hamilton.
Carlton,	George Thew Burke.
Halton,	Richard Beasly, & Wm. Scollick,
Lenox & Ad.	Marshall S. Bidwell, and Peter Perry
dington,	George Strange Boulton.
Durham,	Wm Thompson, & Ely Playter.
York and Simcoe,	John Chrysler.
Dundass,	John Beverly Robinson.
Town of York,	Edward McBride,
Town of Niagara	John Cumming.
Town of Kingston

SAMUEL P. JARVIS,
Clk. Crown Chancery.

Clerk of the Crown in Chancery's Office, York, September 15th, 1824.

Crown Office, York, July 15th, 1824.

EASTERN CIRCUIT, 1824.

Mr. Justice Campbell.

Assizes, at	Cornwall on	Monday	9th Augt.
Do	Perth,	do	23rd do
Do	Brockville,	do	6th Sept.
Do	Kingston,	do	20th do

HOME CIRCUIT,
Mr. Justice Boulton.

Do	Niagara,	Wednesday	4th Augt.
Do	Newcastle,	do	6th Oct.
Do	York,	do	18th do

WESTERN CIRCUIT.
Chief Justice

Do	Sandwich,	Wednesday	18th Augt.
Do	Vittoria,	Monday	30th do
Do	Gore,	Wednesday	8th Sept.

No. 29—t. f.

GLEBES.

His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, in Council, having taken into consideration the system hitherto practised, of Granting Licences of Occupation for GLEBE LANDS, is pleased to Order, that in future the Glebes in the several Townships, with the exception of One Lot in each Township, for the accommodation of the Incumbent, shall be Leased on the same terms as Clergy Reserves.

NOTICE is therefore given to those Persons who hold Licences of Occupation for any of the said Glebe Lots, that the same will not be Renewed; and unless they do make application, by Petition, for Leases in the usual manner, through the medium of the Corporation for superintending the Clergy Reserves, before the Twenty-ninth day of September next ensuing, the Lots so held by Licence of Occupation will be Leased to other Applicants.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office, York, 29th April, 1824. 19—tf.

Executive Council Office, York, 14th April, 1824.

NOTICE is hereby given, to Jabez Johnson, or his Representative, to make good any claim he may have to Lot Number Two, in the Seventh Concession of the Township of Louth, in the District of Niagara within six months from this date, in default of which, the Lot will be otherwise disposed of.

By order of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor in Council.

JOHN SMALL,
Cl'k, Ex'v. Council. 17—6m.

Executive Council Chamber, York, 31st January, 1824.

PRESENT,

His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor,

in Council,

His Majesty's Government having recently extended their assistance to the class of Emigrants, which it was intended to relieve by gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres of Land, in conveying them to their respective locations:

IT IS ORDERED, that from the first day of May next, no gratuitous Grants be made of any quantity of Land to other than privileged persons.—And that as the Fee on Two Hundred Acres was raised, in order to defray the gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres the consideration failing, the future Fee on Two Hundred Acres is reduced to Eight Pounds Four Shilling and One Penny Sterling; the existing Fee before 1819, and the Fee on all other Grants, in Townships Surveyed since that time, to be the same as established by the Order in Council, of 5th January, 1819.

N. B. Possessors of gratuitous Grants for Fifty Acres, may, by paying the Fee on One Hundred Acres, receive a Grant of the adjoining Fifty Acres if vacant.

JOHN SMALL,
Cl'k. Ex'v. Council.

Executive Council Chamber, at York, 26th Jan. 1824.

PRESENT:

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,

In Council.

His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor submitted to the consideration of the Board, the Sheriffs' Reports of their respective Gaols, together with other Documents relating to a Winter Circuit, by which it appeared that the House of Assembly had addressed His Excellency to that effect, for this Session only; and obviously for the Delivery of the Gaols in the several Districts.

The limitation of such a measure to one season seeming to militate with the Provision of the Law, that when the Communication from the Seat of Government is divided, and the ... inconvenience ... required, there should be a regular Second Circuit, the Board would prefer to recommend that Special Commissions to deliver particular Gaols should issue where requisite; but, as the respective Reports from the Sheriffs' do not, in the opinion of the Board, require any unusual interposition, His Excellency, with advice of the Council, postpones a Second Circuit until the circumstances of the Province more decidedly require it.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Executive Council.

Executive Council Office, York, February 7th 1821.

WHEREAS it has been represented, that many persons who have received Locations of Land, have, from Sickness, and other legitimate causes, been unable to fulfil the Settlement Duty, in the time required by the Location Ticket, and have neglected to apply to His Excellency in Council for an extension of the period, for performance of such duty.

BE it Known that the period for completing the Settlement Duty, is hereby extended to Two Years from the date of Locations until further notice shall be given.

JOHN SMALL. Cl'k Ex. Coun.

WHEREAS by the Tenor of the Location Tickets a Certificate is required to be lodged of the Settlement Duty being done within two Years, or that the said Location should be forfeited, and in case of Locations not gratuitous, that one third of the Patent Fee be lodged with such Certificate; AND WHEREAS it is represented, that in many instances, Certificates of performance of the Settlement Duty, have been withheld from the inability of the settler to deposit such proportion of the Patent Fee, it is deemed expedient to relieve the settler from forfeiture of his location, when he may actually have performed his settlement duty—Notice is hereby given that in all cases where Settlement Duty has been performed within the limited period, the settler shall, on filing Certificate thereof within six Months of this date, be exempted from forfeiture notwithstanding the non-payment therewith of such portion of the Patent Fee, provided the Patent is sued out within One Year from the filing of such Certificate.

And further; His Excellency, in the hope of avoiding the necessity of rescinding any of the Militia grants, is pleased to direct this Public Notification; that all Lands granted to Militia Men, upon which the Settlement Duties shall not have been performed within the limited period, will in pursuance of general instructions given to the Surveyor General in all similar cases, be declared vacant, and will be granted within Six Months after the expiration of that period, to the first applicant, unless the Original Nominee, shall before such subsequent application, have lodged a Certificate of his having performed the Settling Duties.

JOHN SMALL, Clk. Ex. Conn.

Executive Council Office, York, 7th Nov. 1821.

WHEREAS it has become expedient to establish a line of communication through certain remote Townships, for encouragement thereof, Grants will be made to actual Settlers in the Townships hereinafter named on the condition of Settling within two years from the date of the Location, at the reduced Scale of 9th January, 1819, viz.

A Township North of Mariposa, advertised from the Surveyor General's Office on the 19th of October, as Zeta, to be called Eldon

N. of Eps		Fenelon
N. of Emily advertised as	Emir	Verulam
N. of Smith	Lake	Harvey
E. of do.		Douro
N. of Asphodel	Alma	Dummer
N. of Seymour	Mora	Belmont
N. of Dummer	Yea	Burleigh
N. of Marmora	Ninia	Lake
N. of Madoc		Tudor
N. of Ebzever	No	Grimsthorpe
N. of Kaladar	Aye	Anglesea
N. of Kennebec	Jus	Barrie
N. of Norma	Olden	Clarendon
N. of Oso	Et	Palmerston
N. of Belmont	Carlos	Methuen

JOHN SMALL, C. E. C.

Government House, 6th March, 1820.

His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor is pleased to direct that no Location requiring Settlement Duty shall be Confirmed by Patent, without a Certificate from the Land Board of the District in which such Location may be situate, that the Settlement Duty required by the Order in council has bona fide been performed within the time specified by the Location Ticket.

JOHN SMALL Clk. C.

To Militia Pensioners, Notice

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that Payment of Militia Pensions for the year 1824, will commence from this date.
Militia Pension Office, York, 15th July, 1824.
EDWD. M'MAHON.
30.—13 w. Agent for Paying Militia Pensions

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Newcastle District, to wit. } BY virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of Kings Bench, and to the Sheriff of the Newcastle District directed, against the Lands and Tenements of David M'Gregor Rogers Esq. at the suit John Strachan, Thomas A. Dobbs, and Thomas H. Cartwright, Executors of the late Richard Cartwright, Esq. I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said David M'Gregor Rogers the following Lands, viz.

S. half of Lot No. 3 Broken Front, A.
Lot No. 3 do. do. B.	}	330 Acres.
Lot No. 3 do. do. C.
Lot No. 23 2 Concession,		200 do.
Lot No. 26 3 do		200 do.

of the Township of Haldimand, in the county of Northumberland, which Property I shall offer for sale at Public Auction, at the Inn now occupied by Mr. N. W. Mack, in the village of Coburg, on the ninth day of February next at 12 o'clock, at noon.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff,
By EBENEZER PERRY, D'y Sheriff.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above described Premises, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber, on or before the day of Sale.

Note.—The sale of the above Lots, No. 3, Concession A., B., and C, is postponed until the 5th day of October next at the same place and hour.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
BY EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.
Sheriff's Office, Coburg, } 14—td.
2d September, 1824. }

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District to wit. } ON Wednesday the 13th day of November next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands, and tenements, as belonging to Thomas Childs, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of William Usher—viz:

All that part of Town Lot No. 6 in Barriefield, laid out on Lot No. 21, East side of the great river Cataraqui, Pittsburgh, containing ½ of an Acre and five Perches, with the exception of a piece of thirty six feet square, from the North East Corner of the same.

N. B. Any person or persons having claims on the above Lands, or upon any part of them by Mortgage, or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.
Kingston, July 13th, 1824. 40—t d.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit: } ON Saturday the 18th day of December next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, all the right, title, claim and interest of Wm. Bayard Smyth, of Kingston, to the following Town Lots, with the buildings thereon erected, seized by virtue of a Writ of Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at the suit of C. A. Hagerman, Esq. viz:—Lot No 110, and the North West half of Lot No. 107, in the Town of Kingston, containing three tenths of an acre.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above property, or upon any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff M. D.
Kingston, Sept. 14th, 1824.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

District of London To Wit. } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of John W. McIntire at the suit of Thomas Cooper, I have taken in execution the following land which I will offer for sale at the Court House in Vittoria, on Saturday the 6th of November now next, viz:—Lot No. 21 & 22 and the West half of Lot No 23 in the Second Concession of the Township of Zora, containing Five Hundred Acres of Excellent Land, Sale to commence at one o'clock.

A. A. RAPELJE,
Sheriff.
Sheriff's Office, Sept. 13th, 1824.

N B Any person or persons having any legal claims either by mortgage or any other right of incumbrance will make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

A. A. R.
40—t. d.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

District of London To Wit. } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of John Bostwick, at the suit of Messrs. Cross & Fisher, I have taken in execution as the Property of the said Bostwick, Lot No. seven in the second Concession of the Township of Woodhouse, said Lot is situated in a very flourishing part of said Township, about Fifty Acres of improved Land, a good frame Barn &c.—said land I will offer for sale at the Court House, on Saturday the sixth day of November now next, at one o'clock P. M.

A. A. RAPLEJE,
Sheriff L. D.
Sheriff's Office, Sept. 13th, 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any legal claims either by Mortgage or any other right of incumbrance on the above stated Premises will make the same known to me before the day of Sale.

A A R
40—td.

out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of William Usher—viz:

All that part of Town Lot No. 6 in Barriefield, laid out on Lot No. 21, East side of the great river Cataraqui, Pittsburgh, containing ½ of an Acre and five Perches, with the exception of a piece of thirty six feet square, from the North East Corner of the same.

N. B. Any person or persons having claims on the above Lands, or upon any part of them by Mortgage, or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.
Kingston, July 13th, 1824. 40—t d.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit: } ON Saturday the 18th day of December next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, all the right, title, claim and interest of Wm. Bayard Smyth, of Kingston, to the following Town Lots, with the buildings thereon erected, seized by virtue of a Writ of Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at the suit of C. A. Hagerman, Esq. viz:—Lot No 110, and the North West half of Lot No. 107, in the Town of Kingston, containing three tenths of an acre.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above property, or upon any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff M. D.
Kingston, Sept. 14th, 1824.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

District of London To Wit. } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of John W. McIntire at the suit of Thomas Cooper, I have taken in execution the following land which I will offer for sale at the Court House in Vittoria, on Saturday the 6th of November now next, viz:—Lot No. 21 & 22 and the West half of Lot No 23 in the Second Concession of the Township of Zora, containing Five Hundred Acres of Excellent Land, Sale to commence at one o'clock.

A. A. RAPELJE,
Sheriff.
Sheriff's Office, Sept. 13th, 1824.

N B Any person or persons having any legal claims either by mortgage or any other right of incumbrance will make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

A. A. R.
40—t. d.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

District of London To Wit. } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of John Bostwick, at the suit of Messrs. Cross & Fisher, I have taken in execution as the Property of the said Bostwick, Lot No. seven in the second Concession of the Township of Woodhouse, said Lot is situated in a very flourishing part of said Township, about Fifty Acres of improved Land, a good frame Barn &c.—said land I will offer for sale at the Court House, on Saturday the sixth day of November now next, at one o'clock P. M.

A. A. RAPLEJE,
Sheriff L. D.
Sheriff's Office, Sept. 13th, 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any legal claims either by Mortgage or any other right of incumbrance on the above stated Premises will make the same known to me before the day of Sale.

A A R
40—td.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT.

H. M. Dock Yard, Kingston 17th August, 1824.

NOTICE is hereby given, that Sealed Tenders will be received at my Office until Wednesday, the Sixth day of October next, from all persons willing to Contract for the safe transport of such quantities of Naval Store, Naval Ordnance Stores, Provisions and Baggage, as may be required to be forwarded from the following places, for the term of one year, and for a further Indefinite period, until six month's notice for the discontinuance of the Contract, be given by one of the parties.

VIZ:—

From York to Holland Landing.—From Holland Landing to Kempenfeldt Bay, and from thence into the Naval Store House at the Head of the Rottawasaga River. From Kempenfeldt Bay by the New Road into the Storehouses of His Majesty's Naval Depôt at Penetanguishine

The Tenders distinctly to express the rate per hundred weight (of 112lbs) at which the said Stores will be delivered, and are to contain the names of two competent Sureties for the due performance of the Contract; the said Tenders to be forwarded to my Office, addressed to the "Naval Storekeeper," and endorsed

"Tender for Transport."

And the parties making the Tenders, or their authorized agents, are personally to attend at His Majesty's Dock Yard, Kingston, at one o'clock on the 6th day of October next, when the said Tenders will be opened and decided on.

M. B. MENDS
35—6w. H. M. Naval Storekeeper.

NOT OFFICIAL.

FIRE INSURANCE.

The San Insurance Company of New York, having appointed George Crookshank, Esquire, their Agent in Upper Canada—he is ready to Insure against Loss or Damage by Fire, on Dwelling Houses, Stores, Merchandize, House hold Furniture, and other Personal Property; at moderate Rates of Premium.—Persons wishing to be Insured must send a plan of their Building, when wanted out of the Town of York, a respectable reference will be required, and Letters Post Paid —Application to be made to

R. W. PRENTICE.

York, 28th Sept. 1824

FIRE INSURANCE

THE SUBSCRIBER having been appointed Agent in Upper and Lower Canada, for

"The Farmer's Fire Insurance

AND

LOAN COMPANY."

OF NEW YORK.

is ready to Insure against loss or damage by Fire, in Dwelling Houses, Stores and Buildings in general Merchandize, Household Furniture, and other Personal Property, at moderate rates of Premium,

This Company was Incorporated in 1821, with a Capital of Five Hundred Thousand Dollars, all paid in, and secured on Stock, Loans and Mortgages, and has subsequently by its liberality and promptitude in the settlement of Losses, fully secured the confidence of the public.—A List of its present Board of Directors is subjoined, which, on enquiry, will be found to comprise names of such respectability as amply guarantee that all engagements of the Company will be honourably fulfilled.

Applications for Insurance on Property not in the City of Montreal, should be accompanied with Plans, and a reference to some person in this place

ROBERT ARMOUR, Agent.
Montreal, 28th May, 1824.

DIRECTORS.

President.	John Johnson
Richard Harrison	Thomas S Townsend
James Magee	Francis Saltus
George Griswold	Frederick A Tracy
Ben. Marshall	John S. Crary
Jas. D'Wolf Junior	Joseph S. Shotwell
Henry Wheaton	Wm Osburn
G L. Lewis	David S Kennedy
James McBride	Henry Cary
A. H. Lawrence	Gideon Lee

No.—1 24—6ms

TO DISTILLERS & BREWERS.

ROBERT Todd Dean having made Chemistry th study of his life, and having for himself an others both in Scotland and Ireland, for sixteen years conducted a Chemical Manufactory, (Testimonials o the most satisfactory kind can be produced from many respectable individuals to that effect) and having lik others of his Countrymen come to Canada for the pur pose of bettering his condition in life, finds himself so situated, now, as to be obliged to offer his services to persons engaged in the Brewing and Distilling busines both of which branches, together with the Manufactur of Cordials &c he professes, with all their late improvements, to perfectly understand.

Any Person desirous of having his sevices by addressing a letter to him (post paid) to the care of Matthew Crooks Esq. Ancaster Upper Canada, may depend upon its meeting with a ready attention from

Signed,
R. T. DEAN.

N B. Terms will be moderate, and such as will be within the reach of every one, doing even a moderate business, immediate employment is an object to,

R. T. D.
40—13w.

NOTICE.

THE Undersigned Executors to the Estate of the late Neil Lamont, of the Township of Markham, in the Home District, Requests that all persons having any claim against the said Estate, will render their accounts to Francis Lee of the Township of York, and all persons who are indebted to the said Estate, are requested to make payment to the same person.

PETER WHITNEY,
MARY WHITNEY, } Executors.
York, Sept. 30th 1824. 40—3w.

TOWN LOTS IN PORT HOPE.

SEVERAL valuable but ding Lots, in the flourishing village of Port Hope, are for Sale, by private Contract, on the most liberal Terms, and on a credit of seven Years, provided the first instalment be paid down. Either Produce or Manual Labour will be received, if desired, in Payment —For further particulars apply at the U. C. Gazette Office, York, or to Messrs. C. & J. Biowe, Merchants,—Port Hope.

No. 40 —t. f.

VALUABLE LAND IN OTONIBEE,

FOR SALE ON A CREDIT OF YEARS.

ONE of the most valuable Lots in the beautiful Township of Otonibee, on the Rice Lake, consisting of two Hundred Acres, being Lot No. 10, in the Ninth Con. The quality of the Land is first rate, (Maple, Beech, Bass, Elm, and Oak.) It has a Log House, and some small improvements upon it, and is not quite a mile distant from the Rice Lake, and from the Town Plot.—It has also the advantage of being well watered by a Creek that never fails

Price, two dollars per Acre; and terms of payment, One Eighth at the time of concluding the bargain, and Seven Years Credit, by annual instalments with interest for the remainder, if desired.—Inquire at the Gazette Office.

FARM TO LET IN MONAGHAN.

NEAR THE RICE LAKE AND RIVER OTONIBEE IN THE DISTRICT OF NEWCASTLE.

On very Advantageous Terms.

THERE are already 15 Acres cleared, and a Log House erected, upon the Farm, which commands of 600 Acres.—The Terms, which are singularly advantageous to a labouring man with a family are these, —A LEASE will be given for three years—on condition that the Tenant Clears and Fences from 5 to 10 Acres of new Land, and more if he is able, in each and every year of the Lease,—for which the Proprietor will pay at the rate of 18s per Acre—besides allowing all the Crops—(except the Ashes)—to the Tenant

The House stands on the margin of a running stream, and is within 1¼ mile of a Grist and Saw Mill.

For further particulars, apply at the U. C. Gazette Office; or to George Ingle, Cavan.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Mr. THOMAS MILBURN.

BEGS LEAVE to acquaint the Gentry, and Inhabitants of York, and its Vicinity, generally—that he has just arrived from London direct with a Select Assortment of Gentlemen's Wearing Apparel;—consisting of Superfine Dress Coats, Vests, and Trousers;—Fustian Shooting Jackets and Trousers,—Round about Jackets;—Flushing Great Coats;—Fancy Waist coats, &c. &c. &c. with a quantity of Hosiery, Haberdashery and Choice Cutlery.

This Assortment has been made with care and to suit the Canadian Market, and will be sold at low prices for CASH. The whole may be seen at the Store next to Mr. Wm. SMITH'S in King's Street, York.

York, September 15th, 1824. t. f

TO BE LET OR SOLD,

(And possession given at a short notice.)

THAT ELEGANT, and COMMODIOUS MANSION, Built, and lately occupied, by

A. N. McNABB, ESQUIRE.

Situated in King-Street, East, about half way between the Don Bridge and Town of York.—With a Large GARDEN, Spacious Yard, and every necessary Out-Building,—occupying altogether One Acre of Land.

The HOUSE is of Two Stories, besides the Ground Floor, and has the following Rooms and conveniences viz:—A PARLOUR, DRAWING-ROOM, FOUR LODGING ROOMS, and DRESSING ROOM, STUDY, STORE-ROOM, SERVANTS ROOM, KITCHEN, BACK KITCHEN, CELLAR, LOFT, &c. &c. &c. Water is conducted by Pipes into the KITCHEN, where are the necessary Fixtures.

Amongst the Out Offices, are, Stables, Harness Room, Cow House, Coach and Cart House, Bake and Smoke House, &c. &c.

The Garden, which contains more than half an acre of Land, has been lately well stocked with various kinds of valuable Fruit Trees.

For Terms, and further particulars, apply to the U. C. Gazette Office. t. f.

NOTICE.

RUN AWAY from the Subscriber a few days since, Hugh Warren, whoever shall find him, and cause him to be brought back, shall receive the reward of six pence, but no cost or charges paid.—And further, this is to forbid all persons harbouring or trusting the said Hugh Warren, he being a bound apprentice.

THOMAS MORGAN.

Markham, Sept. 9*th* 1824. 38—3w.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the EASTERN DISTRICT will at the next Session of the LEGISLATURE make application to be authorised to effect a Loan to enable them to erect a Gaol and Court House in the Town of Cornwall.

37—6m.

NOTICE.

AN APPLICATION will be made to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for an Act imposing a Tax on Dogs in the TOWN of YORK and its vicinity, the proceeds of which to be applicable to the police purposes.

By Order of the Magistrates in Adjourned General Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the Home District assembled on the 6th day of Sept. 1824.

(Signed,)

S. HEWARD.

Clk. Peace Home District.

FOR SALE.

A very Superior London made

TELESCOPE,

(Imported by a Gentleman who has since returned to England, for his own use)

Prime Cost Eighteen Guineas.

Also,—an excellent

NIGHT GLASS,

Prime Cost Fifteen Guineas.

For further particulars inquire at this Office.

1st Sept. 1824 No. 36—4 w.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the COUNTY of GLENGARY intend presenting a Petition to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Glengary and the Town of Cornwall alternately.

37—6m.

NOTICE.

THE Plan and Estimate of a STEAM BOAT, (to be Built by Mr. AMOS S. ROBERTS) about One Hundred Tons Burthen, intended to Ply between this Port and Niagara, may be seen at this Office.—Her Engine is intended to be of Twenty Five Horse Power. The whole Cost is estimated at Two Thousand Two Hundred and Five Pounds Currency. She is to be Built by Stock, made up of Shares, of Twenty Five Pounds each. A few Shares are still wanting. Subscriptions to, which will be received at this Office, and at the Office of the Niagara Gleaner, where Estimates and Conditions will be exhibited to those who wish to become Stockholders.

Gazette Office, York, }
August 26th, 1824. } No. 35.—t. f.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the INHABITANTS of the COUNTY of MIDDLESEX, will make application at the next SESSION of the PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE by Petition, praying, that the said COUNTY may be erected into a seperate District.

24th July, 1824. 35—6w.

NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the Co partnership heretofore existing between JOHN AND GEORGE MONRO, Merchants, of York, Upper Canada, was on the first instant dissolved by mutual consent.—All persons indebted to the said firm are requested to pay the amount of their respective accounts to MR. WILLIAM P. PATRICK of this Town, without delay, who is duly authorized to receive the same—and all persons to whom the said Co partnership stands indebted will present their accounts to him for adjustment.

JOHN MONRO,
GEORGE MONRO.

York, 17th August, 1824. 34-tf.

FOR SALE.

LOT No. Two, in the First Concession of the Township of York, with the Broken Front, containing about Two Hundred and Forty Acres of Land.

Application to be made to

J. B. MACAULAY

York, 12th June, 1824. 25.—t. f.

THE YORK ALMANACK,

AND

ROYAL CALENDAR

OF

UPPER-CANADA,

For the Year 1824.

Much Enlarged, and Improved from the Edition of last Year.

A FEW Copies left in Town, have just come to hand, may now be had at half the usual Price, on application at the U. C. Gazette Office, York.

August 26th. 1824. t. f.

NOTICE.

VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE.

VIZ:—

In the Township of Vaughan

Lots No. 22, 23, 24, in the 7th Con. and Broken Lot No. 5, in the 10th Concession. } 620 Acres.

Township of York

Lot No. 13, 5th Concession, and Broken Front West of Yonge Street on the Humber, West half of No. 15, in 2d Con. West of Yonge St. } 380 Acres.

Township of Percy

Lot No 20, in 3d Concession. } 400 Acres.
Lot No 21, in 4th Ditto.

For particulars apply to Guy C. Wood, Esq Cornwall, or the Subscriber in York.

R. G. ANDERSON.

19th July, 1824. 30—tf.

NOTICE.

ALL Persons indebted to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire, of Stamford, are requested to make immediate payment to the Subscriber at Vittoria, London District, and those having claims on the Estate, will be pleased to furnish him with their respective Accounts properly authenticated.

(Signed) WALTER NICHOL,

Administrator to the Estate of the Late ROBERT NICHOL, ESQUIRE.

Niagara, 29th May, 1824.

NOTICE.

WANTED, for FOURTEEN YEARS, or not less than TEN, a LOAN of TWO THOUSAND POUNDS, Halifax Currency, for the building of a PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH of ENGLAND, in the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada.

The Subscriber is authorized to offer Efficient Legal Securities for the Repayment of the LOAN, at the end of the period, and for the Annual Payment of the Interes accumulating thereon, at Six per Cent. per annum.

(By Order of the Committee.)

GEORGE O'KILL STUART,
SECRETARY. pro tem.

19—tf.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

THE Board for the General Superintendance of Education, in this Province, give notice that the undermentioned Lands, reserved for the purposes of the Institution, are about to be disposed of on terms advantageous to purchasers; and that, after the sixteenth day of September next, applications may be addressed to Colonel Talbot, residing in the District of London, with respect to any Lands situate in that District, who is fully authorized to enter into any contracts for their sale, and to the Secretary of the Board, at York, with respect to any of the Lands situate in the other Districts.

School Reserves in the London District	Blandford, about	20,000
	Houghton, "	19,000
	Middleton, "	14,000
	Southwold, "	15,000
	Yarmouth, "	11,903
	Westminster, "	9,237
Midland District,	Sheffield, "	56,000

Newcastle do.	Seymour, "	47,000

By Order of the Board,

JAMES GIVINS, Secretary.

York, 26th July, 1823. tf—31.

N. B. It is requested that all communications respecting the above Lands be post paid.

NOTICE.

FOR SALE, by private Contracts, the House and Lot lately occupied by Mr. O'Sullivan, Saddler, King's-Street, in the Town of York, the Lot is 26 feet fronting King's-Street, by 112 feet deep.

Also.—A Lot adjoining the above on the West side, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—A Lot adjoining Mr. Duggan's, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—Three Lots on Stuarts Land, each 40, by 60 feet.

Should the above Property and Lots not be sold by Private Contract, the five last described Lots will be sold at Public Sale, on the first day of July ensuing.

Application for Terms of Sale, to be made to

ALEXANDER WOOD, ESQ.

YORK, 17th March, 1824. t. f.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Inhabitants of the Township of TOWNSEND intend Petitioning both Houses of the Provincial Legislature at its next Session, to pass a Law, Establishing a Line Surveyed in the year 1823, between the 12th and 13th Cons. of the said Township.

TOWNSEND, 20th } No. 21—1 m. t. d.
MAY, 1824. }

VALUABLE LANDED PROPERTY FOR SALE.

TWENTY-SEVEN TOWN LOTS, eligibly situated in the Village of Cobourg, in Hamilton, Upper Canada, on one of which, a Store and Dwelling House are erected.

Two Neat Small FARMS, contiguous to the above Village, containing, one, about Twenty eight Acres the other, about Fifty Acres, with a House and other Buildings on each of them.—A Plan of the above may be seen on application to Mr. J. G. BETHUNE, Cobourg, (who will shew the Premises,) or to the Sub-criber.

Two TOWN LOTS in Picardville, adjoining to the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada, with Houses and other Buildings thereon, being Lots No. 21 and 22

200 Acres of Land being No. 1, 8th Con. of Murray.
200 do do being No. 4, 4th do of Hungerford.
200 do do being No. 1, 8th do of Winchester.
200 do do being No. 24, 8th do of Mountain.
200 do do being No. 31, 8th do of Seymour, and 32 in the 2d Concession of Hawkesbury.

Liberal Terms of Payment will be granted.

For particulars apply to

FRS. ANT. LAROQUE.

N. B. The above mentioned Town Lots in the flourishing Village of Cobourg, and the two adjoining Farms, will be disposed of by Public Sale, in the said Village on the 24th May next.

F. A. L. R.

MONTREAL, 15th March, 1824. t. f.

INTERESTING NOTICE.

THE Surveyor General begs leave to inform the Public, that he has obtained the permission of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, to publish a of the Province, on a large Scale. It is to be engraved in London, in the best style, and will be ready for delivery in a few months.

CORRECT MAP

This information, the Surveyor General thinks it necessary to make, in order to prevent those persons who are desirous of having an authentic MAP of Upper CANADA, from being imposed upon by a Surreptitious Copy, said to be on the eve of Publication.

Surveyor General's Office, }
York, 2d April, 1823. } 14—tf

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the County of Prince Edward in the Midland District, intend Petitioning the Legislature, at the next Session thereof, to have the said County set off, and made into a separate District from the said Midland District, and to be called the District of Maitland. No. 24—6ms.

TIMBER WANTED AT BURLINGTON BEACH.

OFFERS will be received until the 10th day of July next, by the Contractor, at Burlington Beach —Also—by FRANCIS HALL, Engineer, Queenston for delivering at the works—the following quantities of round and square

TIMBER.

59,000 Lineal Feet of White Oak Timber, Foot Square; in Length varying from 22 to 35 Feet.

37,490 Lineal Feet of 3 Inch White Oak Plank 18 Inches in width—in Length varying from 12 to 33 Feet

36,400 Lineal Feet of Pine Timber, 12 Inches in diameter—in Length varying from 12 to 33 Feet.

Burlington Beach, June 22d, 1824

No. 28—t. f.

THE

Canadian Annual Register.

UNDER THE PATRONAGE OF HIS EXCELLENCY,

SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

To whom the Work is Dedicated by Permission.

AS the Projector and Editor of this Great National Work is confident of its ultimate success, if but a moderate share of encouragement is given to its outset,—he takes this opportunity of requesting those Agents of this Paper who have received the names of any Subscribers to the Work to transmit them, together with their address, without delay, to the U. C. Gazette Office, in order that they may be added to those already received in the larger Prospectus about to be issued.

The names and residences of the earliest patrons of this Great National Work, will be preserved, alphabetically arranged, in the first volume of the work, as a perpetual record of their liberality, public spirit, and sound patriotism.

It is again repeated, that no money will be demanded, until the work, which will not exceed the price of the meanest newspaper, is delivered.

A New Type is ordered from Great Britain expressly for this work.

U. C. Gazette Office, }
November 20, 1823. }

TERMS

OF THE U. C. GAZETTE AND WEEKLY REGISTER.

FOUR DOLLARS per annum (Postage included) payable half yearly in advance. Three months notice is required previous to the discontinuance of any Subscription.

PRICE OF ADVERTISING,

Six lines and under, two shillings and six pence, and sevenpence for every subsequent insertion.

Six to twelve lines, five shillings, and one shilling and six pence subsequently.

All exceeding ten lines, four pence per line for the first insertion, and one penny subsequently.—Blank and Figure work charged Double.—A discount of 25 per cent. allowed to those who advertise by the year.—Advertisements cannot be received after TWELVE on the Wednesday afternoon immediately preceding the day of Publication.—Advertisements unaccompanied with positive directions as to the exact number of insertions to be given them, will be continued until expressly forbidden,—and until the day of Sale (if alluding to Sales) and charged accordingly.

☞ Advertisements from the Country must be post paid, with the price of insertion; or, a reference in Town who will pay when demanded, or discontinued.

☞ Any Agent obtaining 3 Subscribers has a paper for himself at half price;—if he obtains 6, he has his own paper gratis;—and for as many as he obtains above 6, he will receive, besides his own paper, a Commission of ten per cent. upon the whole amount.

BLANK DEEDS AND MEMORIALS

For Sale at this Office.

WEEKLY REGISTER.

VOL. III. Our endeavor shall be to "stamp the very body of the time—its form and pressure"—we shall extenuate nothing, nor shall we set down aught in malice. No. 40.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 30th, 1824.

Editorial Commentary.

THE Editors of Papers in the Lower Province make mention of the building of only one Steam Boat to ply between this Town and Niagara—It ought to be known that there are two boats building for that purpose; one at York, and the other at Niagara;—and, that it is proposed they shall sail at a certain hour from each side of the water, alternately, and every day during the season;—so that Travellers and persons on business may calculate the time they may have to spare, for each place, with the utmost nicety.

ALTHOUGH much of our old English feeling, (let it be called prejudice if that term is in fact more truly applicable) still remains, whenever the politics of Great Britain and the United States come in contact, yet we have of late had frequent occasion to rejoice at the manifest improvement which has taken place in the general feeling of our neighbours, towards our beloved country, and which is expressed in a very pleasing and gratifying manner in an extract from a New-York paper published in this day's Register.—If Old England on the eastern, and New England on the western, side of the Atlantic—understand their true interests, and cordially unite in one grand system of Politics for the steady support of rational freedom, enlightened Government, liberal principles, and genuine Christianity, there is not a corner of the earth that will not be eventually blessed by the cordial reconciliation, and future harmony, subsisting in the great English Family, whose children and whose language, laws, and institutions, are destined to cover so wide an expanse of the civilized world!

OUR Town is at present visited, and surely we may say much gratified, by a company of Countrians whose merit is certainly above mediocrity.—Hitherto we have not had an opportunity of witnessing more than one performance, which was that of Dr. Hoadly's famous Tragedy of Douglas—Mr. ARCHBOLD frequently brought, both the look and voice, (as well as the acting, of the late celebrated Mr. COOKE to our recollection;—and, so long was the remembrance, in many instances,—that we have a strong desire to see this gentleman perform some of those characters in which COOKE was so eminent, either RICHARD, IAGO, or THE ARCH MR MACHEATH—we care not which—though we should prefer owing him to the latter, as we imagine his Company would be better able to support him, than in either of the other two.—Mrs. Telbot gave some passages, as Lady Randolph, with considerable effect, and Mr. Davis displayed a good deal of talent, in the last scene, where Young Norval expires under the stroke of an assassin.—We were sorry to find that beautiful play so much curtailed.—The vocal powers of this Company are so respectable that we think the public would be highly gratified by their performance of some Musical Opera, particularly as a good band can be had in York.

* Erroneously printed "Dr. Young" in the Hand-Bills.

SELECTIONS FROM BRITISH AND FOREIGN JOURNALS.

One of the many reports in circulation in London on the morning of the 30th July was, the resignation of Lord Liverpool, and that he was to be succeeded by the Duke of Wellington.

FROM THE NEW YORK COMMERCIAL ADVERTISER.

England. We were looking the other day at the map of Europe, and glancing our eye along the coast of that mighty continent, it rested on the little spot which Englishmen in their pride and security, have denominated the "fast-anchored Isle." A few reflections, like the glittering streaks of the morning, shot through our minds, and we looked in astonishment and admiration upon the little Isle, so insignificant in itself and yet so large in the scale of nations. Our nation has been accustomed to frown upon Englishmen, and to detest their government, and we do now some part of it. But the times of this ignorance and this enmity have passed away, and left the mind free to take in, and to entertain without jealousy and without reproach, the idea of the great resources, the extensive influence, physical, moral and intellectual, which have secured everlasting fame to England and to Englishmen. In contemplating the wonders embodied in the character of this people, we overlook the dark spots in their history, and forget the errors and crimes of their government. We only see that England is our elder-born; that her people speak the same language, profess the same faith, are governed by the same laws, and have the same interest in the support and predominance of free institutions, and of civil liberty.

Look at her, girt within a little compass by the stormy Ocean, in size, to the nations of the Continent, like a drop in the bucket; in climate unpropitious; in soil, unfruitful, and yet her name is known, respected, and has its influence wherever cultivated men have penetrated the seas or the earth. There is a mental and moral influence, no less than physical, and indeed were it the latter only, the passage of a few ages would gradually obliterate her fame, instead of hallowing and adding to it. It is mental superiority, it is the power of letters, it is the observation of the principles of ETERNAL TRUTH, which, more eminently than temporal power or extent of dominion, give prosperity to a nation, and endless glory to her name.

New Holland.—The recent discovery of a large navigable river to the northward of Port Jackson, opens an immense extent of the finest pasturage, affords the means of extending the export of wool for the complete supply of the English woollen manufacturers.

Singular Circumstance.—There is at present residing in George-row, Palmer's Village, Westminster, an individual, by trade a taylor, who although only possessing his left arm, can cut out, iron, sew, measure, and perform the various branches of his trade with equal dexterity to those who have the use of both arms. He is a young man, and lost his arm by an accident, and perfected himself in his peculiar system of workmanship by continual practice.—English Paper.

Recovery from a thunderstroke.—The following extract of a letter, from a gentleman at Bellbroke, in the state of Ohio, to his friend in Washington, dated August 24, gives a vivid sketch of a distressing scene, with an account of a successful attempt to resuscitate a person apparently killed by lightning, which may induce others hereafter, placed in a similar situation, to use like exertions:

"I have now only time to give you a brief sketch of a melancholy occurrence which took place on Friday last, about 3 o'clock. A few minutes after I had been seated in a front room, with a couple of strangers who had called for shelter during a light shower of rain, a sharp flash of lightning appeared accompanied with loud thunder, though apparently at a distance. In two minutes after, a general tremendous blaze appeared—to every one whose eyes were towards the street, balls of liquid fire were seen falling to the earth, which, for a moment destroyed the power of vision. The explosion, which was apparently at the same time with the flash, raised me quite erect. Fearing the consequence, I ran to a room in which my wife lay sick; on opening the door, my eyes were blinded with smoke, and my ears deafen. We supposed the house was struck, and that the gunpowder had exploded. When I got near the stove, I was met by one crying "yonder! yonder!" pointing towards the east end of the porch. I then turned my course and ran with my eyes elevated, expecting every step to meet with a column of flame, until I almost trod upon the lifeless body of my son William. I took him instantly into my arms, and ran out from the smoke and dust which still remained, to the open air, turned up his face to the rain for a moment, then returned to the porch. Blessed be God, who gave me thought and presence of mind! In less than ten minutes after the shock, I had a vein opened in each of my son's arms, his feet and hands in warm salt water, and bathed his face with camphorated spirits. The moment of the application of the last, he gave the first signs of returning life, when his lungs gave a faint heave for air, though at first without effect. It was 12 or 1 o'clock at night before his lungs were sufficiently inflated to give respiration in any thing like its natural order. During this process, no pen can describe the misery which he endured. It could only be expressed by the contortion of his face and limbs, and his feeble attempts to utter groans. But thanks be to God, he is now so far recovered as partly to exercise his reason, although he is very weak and has generally a high fever—a natural consequence of such a case. The house is much shattered and torn; the kitchen utensils, boards and stones hurled in every direction."

"The way of transgressors is hard."—Several years ago, a man stole a stove from the door of a merchant in Philadelphia carrying it off on a wheel-barrow.—After he was arrested, he gave account of the number of times he had removed his plunder to different parts of the town in order to escape detection, and it was found by accurate calculation that, if he had ultimately succeeded, he would have gained only half a dollar a day, whereas by his usual business he could have earned a dollar a day.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

SPAIN.

A Madrid letter states that a decree will shortly be issued, setting forth that all persons who have belonged to Masonic Lodges, will be required to give up to the police, with a delay of 30 days, their diplomas and other papers and documents relating to the lodges and that if they fulfill this condition, they will be considered in the act of amnesty.—Those who refuse to comply, will have a month allowed them to quit the kingdom. Upon the expiration of this delay, all persons suspected of being Masons, and at whose houses papers to prove it may be found, will be hung within 24 hours. The ultras considered this measure as a triumph and a pledge of their early victoy.

AUSTRIA.

An ordinance of the Austrian police, July 21st, renews the order not to suffer any suspicious foreigners to enter the Austrian dominions, and to send beyond the frontier all those respecting whose opinions any suspicions shall arise, or who shall be guilty of any fault whatever.

RUSSIA.

It is stated that some English travellers have lately met with interruptions in their journeys through Russia, and that some of them are treated harshly, and sent out of the country without the slightest reason assigned. The fact is, the Russians entertain a jealousy of those Englishmen who are making investigations with a view to publication, and appear hurt at some of those which have already appeared, and which point out without much ceremony the character of the Russians of all ranks.

GREECE.

An American Missionary has established a Press at Malta, and translated several useful Books into the Greek language. He is in communication with Missolonghi, and has sent there several printers, who are much wanted.

Mr. Blacquiere calculates the population of Continental Greece at one million six hundred thousand souls; of the islands at four hundred thousand souls; and of the Morea, at two millions and a half.

"If to the foregoing calculation be added above a million and a half scattered about in the principalities, Asia, Minor, Thrace, Bulgaria, and the different countries of Europe, the whole number of Greeks may, for the present at least; be given at four millions. Of the Greeks thus dispersed, it is well known that numbers are continually flocking to the standard of independence, and that such is the anxiety of these people to re-establish themselves, that there is every probability of those who are now retained in distant points, gaining the confederation as soon as the situation of affairs and their circumstances will admit. Indeed, it is not likely that any Greek would remain under the sway of Turkey or Russia, while freedom and regeneration invited their return to the most desirable region and finest climate in the world.

"Should the people of Greece secure the advantages they have gained, it is surely no exaggeration to say, that with a population at once so ingenious and industrious, a climate unequalled, and a soil the most productive that could be named, their prospect of wealth and prosperity is almost boundless. In whatever direction a traveller casts his eyes over Greece, he may truly exclaim that it is the land flowing with milk and honey; unlike the staples of other countries, those of Greece are such as can be never depreciated. Cambrics, sugar, coffee, cochineal, and indigo, may be either dispensed with, or be so plentiful as to glut the markets not so with the corn, wine, and oil; the silks and wools of Greece; these will find a sure sale while civilization and its concomitants, trade and population, continue to advance.

AFRICA.

War in Africa.—The last accounts received from Cape Coast Castle state, that the Fantees had seperated from the British troops, and had several skirmishes with the Ashantees. One of the London papers say, it is generally believed, in the first military circles, that the question of the expediency of preserving our possessions in Western Africa at the expense of increasing the army, has at length been determined in the affirmative. The reinforcements, however, will be raised in a manner the least objectionable to those who are advocates for abandoning the scene of so much recent disaster. Two black regiments are to be levied, which will prevent the expense and delay of recruiting in this country. Two white regiments are at the same time intended to be formed from convicts, in the same manner as the 60th was first raised. Such will strengthen the white population in our African possessions. These four regiments, with the increased strength of the 2d West India regiment, and Royal African Colonial Corps, will, it is supposed, prove sufficient to make such a demonstration against the Ashantees, and our other enemies, as shall obtain a settled peace, and prevent a recurrence of such reverses as have been lately experienced. Of this force Major-General Turner takes the command; Col Sutherland second in command; and Major Chisholm will retain the important post of Cape Coast Castle.

INDIA.

War in India.—Letters have been received from Bombay, dated the 22d of March, by the ship Hercules. The greatest activity prevails at Calcutta and Madras; and the whole of the shipping in the country trade were employed to convey the King's and Company's troops on the expedition against the Burmese. Not one ship remained at Bombay belonging to England. It is said that the seizure of Mr. Chew, a branch Pilot in India, by the Burman government, was one of the causes of the present hostility with that power. The reports of his having been ill-treated by the Burman is contradicted. He had been released, and had arrived at Chittagong. The exchange was at Rs. 6d. to 1s 9d. the rupee at six months. Sir Edward Barnes arrived at Ceylon on the 18th of January, the next day was sworn in as governor, commander-in chief, and vice-admiral of that settlement.

MEXICO.

MEXICO.—The government of Mexico was apprized of the conspiracy in behalf of Iturbide, early in May. On the night of the 13th of that month the authorities entered a house and took into custody twenty two individuals who were holding a secret meeting, and in a manner so effectual that not one escaped. All their papers, documents, books, &c. &c. &c. came into possession of. The individuals taken were one brigadier general, three colonels, several other military officers, and six civilians. The examination of these led to the arrest of Don J. Antonio Andrad, General of Division; Count del Valle, and a clerk in the Post Office, through whose agency a correspondence was carried on throughout Mexico. Subsequently the adherents of Iturbide in Guadalazara and other parts of the country, broke out in open rebellion, but were generally subdued in the month of June, and the leaders imprisoned at Mexico.

It was on the faith and promises of these conspirators, no doubt, that Iturbide was induced to return to Mexico in the manner that has been related; and it seems that he must have landed at Sota la Marina in the neighborhood of the residence of the intrepid, the zealous patriot, and the distinguished advocate of the universal rights and liberties of mankind."

The above short address produced a powerful impression on the assembly. The toast was drunk in silence, the company standing.

HIS LORDSHIP'S FUNERAL.

At Hucknall, the doors of the Church were thrown open, and great numbers of persons were there at an early hour, inspecting the vault which was to be the last resting place of the Noble Lord. The coffin which were already there, spoke loudly of the vanity of worldly grandeur. Scarcely a bit of wood or velvet was visible. Nothing but the most costly leaden coffin remained of all the grandeur which had been deposited in that lonely habitation, the most legible inscription is that of the Honorable Catherine Gordon Byron, mother of him whose wishes were this day fulfilled, where he said, speaking of the noble deeds of his ancestors:—

"Like you will he live, or like you will he perish;
"When decay'd, may he mingle his dust with your own."

The following was the inscription upon the coffin of Lord Byrons' mother:—

"The Honorable Catherine Gordon, of Gight, mother of George Lord Byron, and lineal descendant of the Earl of Huntly and the Lady Jean Stuart, daughter of King James the first of Scotland Obit in the 46th year of her age, August 1. 1811."

At half past one, at which hour the minute bell began to toll, the church was filled to excess, but, although the procession left Nottingham at eleven o'clock, and had only eight miles to traverse, it did not reach Hucknall until half past three o'clock—At a quarter before four o'clock, the procession entered the church.

The body and urn being brought in, and placed on two tressels fixed in the aisle, the mourners passed to the seats prepared for them. The coronet and cushion were then placed upon the case containing the urn, and upon the coffin was placed the noble plumed hat and feathers. The Revd. Mr. Nixon, the Vicar, then read a part of the service, and in a few minutes the coffin-bearers and his attendants slowly removed the coffin and urn to the opening of the vault the state-bearer of the coronet supporting it on the cushion at the head of the coffin, whilst the Rev. Vicar read the remainder of the service.

Around the vault stood Colonel Leith, chief mourner (the present Lord Byron was said to be indisposed at Bath); next him Mr. Holthouse and Mr. Hanson; then Lord Rancliffe and Colonel Wildman: the Household of the deceased in the rear.

During the last part of the service of the above sort, and as the coffin was lowering into the tomb, unaffected and overpowering display of feelings, which attested the recollection of much departed worth, and was of a nature to arouse, from the ordinary spectators who beheld it, the warmest sympathy. All the mourners, Mr. Holthouse in particular were much affected.

The whole ceremony was finished at twenty minutes past four o'clock. One wish of the late distinguished poet is gratified by his remains being deposited in his native land and in the tomb of his ancestors, and in his own words, to mingle with ——— The crash'd relics of this mouldering urn

In the last canto of Childe Harold, he bids with a sigh to the chance of dying far from his native island of the sage and free," and beautifully expresses himself.—

"And should I lay
My ashes in a soil which is not mine,
My spirit shall resume it—if we may
Unclothed choose a resting place—the line
My hopes of being remembered in my line,
With my land's language; if too loud and far

Those aspirations in their scope inchse,
If my fame should be as my fortunes are,
Of hasty growth and blight, and dull oblivion bear
My name from out the temple where the dead
Are honored by the nations—let it be—
And light the laurels on a loftier head!
And be the Spartan's epitaph, on me—
'Sparta hath many a worthier son than he.'"

A GREEK'S SPEECH.

The following speech, addressed by a Greek General to his soldiers, on the occasion of Lord Byron's death, has been sent from Missolonghi:

"Brave Helenists.—A painful duty calls me before you to day. I come to strew with flowers, the tomb of a man who has sacrificed his fortune and his life in our sacred cause. His great soul, thirsting after glory, was unable to fix its choice. Now alarming nature brought him forth on the humid banks of the Thames, he traversed the seas to come and brave in our climates the scorching fires of the sun. Gifted with a soul full of generosity and ardent love for liberty, he hesitated not a moment after he heard that the descendants of Leonidas and Themistocles shaking off the chains which had weighed them down during three centuries, had made a noble effort to reconquer liberty, & wrest their unfortunate country from the ferocious Musselman. Like another Tyrtæus, he conceived the bold project of leading us to victory by the sound of his melodious lyre; but, alas! death has snatched him from us at the moment when he was about to add to his poetical crown the flower of honour which is gathered on the field of battle. Weep, brave Helenists over the ashes of this great man, whose country was the whole universe! If this land, with he honoured and rendered illustrious by his residence, be not permitted to keep his mortal remains, at least we shall possess his heart which beat so warmly for liberty; it will watch over us in the midst of the combat, and sustain us in the arduous struggle in which we are engaged. Like to the beacon light which guides the mariner bewildered by tempests, the torch of his genius will point out our way through the storms of revolution. Brave Helenists, it is in union that the strength of the people consists; it is as strife by private resentment. Let us only think of the work we have undertaken. Let us prove to Europe that our courage has been strengthened by adversity, and that we are still worthy of the rank held by our ancestors. If we should fail in this noble attempt, what shame will it not bring on our country, upon which the eyes of the universe are now fixed. If vanquished, how shall we bear to live in a land so full of the great deeds of our ancestors? The first step has been taken; it is now too late to retract. See the heroes of Thermopolæ rising all bloody from their tombs and crying to you 'What! are you frightened by the number of your enemies? And did not we, during three days, check the progress of the innumerable host of Xerxes? We fell overpowered by numbers, but at last we sold our lives dearly, and thereby saved Greece from the yoke of the stranger.' Brave Helenists, this is not a time to be lost in useless words, you know as well as I do the situation of our country. Let us imitate the example of our forefathers Let us swear upon the tombs of Lord Byron, of Bozzaris, and of all the brave men that have perished in our cause, that we will never lay down our arms until our native son shall be purged from our enemies. Let us drive back these Musselmen Lords to the deserts which vomited them forth, and let Greece, raised from their ruins by the hands of her children, serve as an example to those people who are still, owing to a disgraceful influence, kept under the empoisoned daggers of tyranny."

HORRIBLE FANATICISM.

CRUCIFIXION OF A FEMALE.

A book has just been published in Paris, entitled "Narrative of the Atrocities committed in the Canton of Zurich, in 1823, by a Fanatical Association." The details are of so horrible a nature that one would be led to discredit their authenticity, had they not been publicly and juridically proved before the tribunals of Zurich. The following is an abstract of the principal facts:—In the northern part of the Canton of Zurich is a lofty valley, or hamlet, named Wehlenisbach, the inhabitants of which, amounting to about five and twenty families, are employed in agriculture. Amongst these, the family of Jean Peter was considered to be the most prosperous and happy, until the deplorable event which has plunged them in misery and ignominy. Marguerite Peter, aged twenty-eight years, one of the six children of Jean Peter, had acquired for some years back amongst the fanatics of the country, a reputation for sanctity. She was considered a woman endowed with supernatural knowledge, and intrusted with a mission from heaven to relume the torch of faith. Her natural enthusiastic temperament had been excited and nourished by the preachings of certain itinerant missionaries to such a pitch, as to give her, in the ignorant eyes of those around her, an air of inspiration. By this mea she had insensibly acquired a most unbounded influence over her father, her brothers, sister and servants, and had even succeeded in forming numerous assemblies of persons of both sexes and all ages, who in these pious orgies, delivered themselves up to the most revolting practices that folly and superstition can suggest. On the 12 of March, 1823, at seven o'clock in the morning, the neighbours of Jean Peter were surprised to find, contrary to his usual early habits, his house closed, and the windows carefully blinded on the inside.—On approaching they heard a noise, as if proceeding from violent blows of a hatchet, mingled with the confused cries of various persons, and at length they heard the following exclamations—"Invoke all the angles above! Invoke all the holy prophets! Implore the aid of all seraphims! Courage strike. It is a villain—it is a murderer—strike vigorously!" These strange sounds and exclamations continued until two o'clock, and where succeeded by a perfect silence, which lasted until nine o'clock, in the evening, when the same sounds recommenced, and continued until midnight, when a profound silence again ensued. At ten o'clock the next morning these ugubrious noises and exclamations again began, and the neighbours could distinctly hear the blows of hatchets as they were struck against the beams and posts of the house. At two o'clock the noise became so loud and furious, particularly from the upper-story, that all the inhabitants of the village gathered round the house, but none of them dared to approach, for fear of a formidable watch-dog, chained near the door. At half past seven o'clock the noise ceased, but recommenced at midnight with redoubled violence. From Peter's bed-chamber the voices of men and women were heard crying, out "Have pity on us! succour us, God all powerful! deliver us—strike—it is a villain, &c."—After in vain summoning those inside to open the door, the baillie ordered one of the windows to be burst in, and on a light being introduced through it, there were seen five men leaning against the door to prevent it being forced open, a man apparently dead was lying on his face on the floor, a group of men and women lying upon each other near the door, and close to them a woman upon her knees, who was slapping with the palm of her hand the body of the man stretched on the floor, and exclaiming at each slap—"Have pity, have pity!" On the door being forced open, the men, urged on by the women, endeavoured to resist the gendarmes, whilst Marguerite Peter continued to slap a woman near her, crying out—"Have pity, Lord!"—Two men and two women were then discovered lying in such a manner upon the ground, that the head of a man was in the lap of a woman, and the head of a woman in the lap of a man. The gen d'armes being ordered to lead Peter out of the room, the men and women joined in resisting them, but when, in spite of their efforts he was brought out to the porch of the house, they all hung upon him, drew him to the ground, and formed a circle round him, all closely hugging and embracing each other. When Peter attempted to answer the questions of the Magistrate, his daughter Marguerite raised her voice, and said to him "Father, do not answer him continue only to pray." She then added—"Let us die—I shall quit this life like Christ." The others chimed in with a "Lord deliver us! Lord have pity on us." The Baillie seeing that it was in vain to attempt bringing them to reason at that moment, ordered them to be left in the porch of their house, and told the crowd to retire; gen d'armes being placed in front of the house. At four o'clock in the morning of Friday, the 14th, they appeared to be somewhat calmed, and at their request were permitted to enter the house. This was, however, only a deceitful calm, for on their being left alone, Marguerite Peter ordered the prayers to recommence, to prevent as she said "Satan getting the victory over Jesus Christ." These prayers were continued without interruption till about seven o'clock on Saturday morning. At ten o'clock the same day, a great number of persons, many of whom had been specially sent for by Marguerite, had assembled in the house. Marguerite made them ascend into one of the upper rooms, and there declared to them in a prophetic tone, that "the day was at hand when blood should be shed for the salvation of a multitude of souls, and that there was not a moment to be lost if they wished to snatch the victory from Satan. I see, added she, the ghost of my grandmother, who reveals to me, that in order to save the souls of my father and brother, it is necessary that one of us should lay down his own life, I myself am ready to give mine in order to redeem with my blood the souls of several millions of the living and the dead." She concluded by ordering those present to strike their breasts with their hands which they accordingly did. After this exordium, she seized an iron mallet, and inflicted several blows with it upon her brothers, Ursula Kundig, and John Moser. Their blood soon flowed in abundance, and the life of her brother had nearly paid the forfeit of the holy vigour with which she applied the mallet. He was hurried away from her devout fury in the arms of a female servant named Marguerite Jreggi. Elizabeth Peter then offered herself as the first victim, upon which her sister Marguerite, and her friend Ursula Kundig, fell to striking her upon the head until she expired under their blows—Her sister Susanna, and Henry Ernst, helped on the work of blood also with the handle of a large scissors, and a piece of timber torn from the partition. Marguerite then declared to those present, that her sister, though apparently dead, was alive in the spirit, and the Lord would not fail to recall her to visible life—Then announcing her own resurrection as an approaching event, she commenced preparation for her own suffering. It may be asked what was Peter, the father of the family, doing during these hideous scenes? He was in a room below, very calmly occupied with his domestic affairs. He saw with the utmost indifference, his son brought down bathed in blood, and in an apparently dying state, and he awaited with great calmness the dreadful catastrophe preparing above stairs, so completely had a stupid fanaticism stifled in his heart every natural sentiment. In the mean time, Marguerite seated herself upon the bed on which was the still palpitating body of her sister and commenced striking herself on the head with the iron mallet, but not satisfied with her self-execution, she commands Ursula Kundig to take the fatal instrument and try her hand. This did not even content her, for she exclaimed that as she was the expiatory victim offered by Christ to his Father for the ransom of several millions of souls, it was necessary she should not only die, but die the death of the Cross. At these words Ursula and the others present shuddered; but she became indignant at their weakness, and said to her friend—"What! you do not wish to do any thing for Christ? take courage, strike; may God strengthen your arm!" At this command, Ursula redoubled her blows, and the blood which soon followed in abundance was received in a bucket.—

(To be Continued)

Poetry.

BYRON'S ÆNIGMA.

The following ingenious play upon the Letter H. is a masterpiece. It has been the rounds of the European and American presses puzzling the learned and perplexing the ingenious. A French gentleman in Philadelphia at length discovered the key which unlocks the mystry, and which as before observed is the Letter H.

'I was whispered in heaven and muttered in hell,
And echo caught softly the sound as it fell;
In the confines of earth 'twas permitted to rest,
And the depth of the ocean its presence confest;
'Twas seen in the lightning and heard in the thunder,
'Twill be found in the sphères when riven asunder;
It was given to man with his earliest breath,
It assists at his birth and attends him at death;
Presides o'er his happiness, honour and health,
Is the prop of his house, and the end of his wealth;
It begins every hope, every wish it must bound,
And, though questioning, with mourners its crown'd;
In the heaps of the miser 'tis hoarded with care,
But is sure to be lost in the prodigal heir,
Without it the soldier and sailor may roam,
But woe to the wretch who expels it from home;
In the whispers of conscience its voice will be found,
Nor e'er in the whirlwind of passion be drown'd;
It softens the heart, and though dear the ear,
'Twill oft times be acutely and instantly hear;
But in shades let it rest like an elegant flow'r,
Oh! breathing in it softly, it dies in an hour.

Domestic.

QUEBEC THURSDAY, 18 SEPT. 1824.

His Excellency Sir Francis N. Burton, accompanied by Major General Sir Peregrine Maitland, Lt. Governor of Upper Canada, with their respective suites, arrived yesterday from Montreal in the Steam Boat New Swiftsure.

Sir Francis has been on a tour through the Lower Province, and has visited Montreal, Chambly, and the new settlements on the River Ottawa. On Monday last His Excellency was entertained at a public dinner given by the citizens of Montreal.

Sir Peregrine's visit from York is to inspect His Majesty's Forces in this Province, of which, since the absence of the Earl of Dalhousie, he is the Commander-in-Chief.

The Members of the Imperial Parliament accompanying Sir Peregrine Maitland, arrived at Montreal with his Excellency from Upper Canada, and were to remain three days after his Excellency, and will be here on Saturday next.

The 68th Regt. were inspected this morning by Major General Sir Peregrine Maitland, in the Jesuits' Barracks parade and the 71st will also be inspected in the same place to morrow morning at eleven o'clock. On Saturday there will be a grand review on the Plains of Abraham.

FISHERIES IN THE GULPH OF ST. LAWRENCE.

We extract the following list of arrivals from the Boston papers between the 24th ult and 4th inst. It is astonishing to what extent the Americans carry on fishing in the Gulph of St Lawrence. They appear both to fish themselves and to purchase fish from British subjects established in the District of Gaspe, the Magdalen Islands, and the Labrador Coast; and we conceive that they carry off by far the greater part of the fish caught in those waters. It is difficult to tell whether this is owing to the superior enterprize and intelligence of the Americans, or the better markets which they cannot fail to find by having intercourse with all parts of the world, and the higher prices they can afford to pay in consequence, or to many of the articles they exchange, such as bread stuffs, India Goods, and Tea, being obtained by them and given cheaper. It is certain, however, that they do almost monopolize this trade—that it is not unusual through their means to introduce illicitly into Lower Canada both Teas and India Goods, as well as Brandies, French Silks, Wines, &c. obtained from St. Peter's and St. Paul and the United States, to a great extent, and that independant of their taking our fish, and furnishing the supplies for the subsistence of our fishermen, which we ought exclusively to supply, they rob the revenue of the Province, and ensure and maintain smuggling from this quarter.—From Mr. Neilson's Gazette.

Extensive Ship Building.—We copy the following paragraph from the Eastport Sentinel of the 7th instant.

"Sailors Wanted—In consequence of a large fleet of vessels building in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, the call for sailors has been so great; that from fourteen to twenty pounds has been given for the run to England, and upwards of one thousand sailors are still wanted.

Panthers.—We have been informed by a gentleman from St Andrews, that when he left there on Thursday last, the neighbourhood was greatly alarmed by the appearance of two large Panthers, which had been seen by a number of persons within a few perches of the village. They have already committed some depredations on sheep belonging to the inhabitants.

Our informant says, that it was in contemplation amongst the people, when he came away, to rais en masse for the purpose of destroying these dangerous and unwelcome visitors.—Canadian Courant.

Upper Canada Gazette.

New Series.

VOL. III. YORK U. C. THURSDAY, OCTOBER 7th, 1824. No. XLI.

By authority.

UPPER CANADA.

P. MAITLAND,
Lieut. Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

TO our Beloved and Faithful Legislative Counsellors of our Province of Upper Canada; and to our Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses of our said Province, to our Provincial Parliament at our Town of York, on the Sixteenth Day of September instant, to be Commenced, Held, Called and Elected, and to every of you—GREETING:

WHEREAS, by our Proclamation bearing date the Second Day of August last, We thought fit to Prorogue our Provincial Parliament to the Sixteenth day of September instant, at which time at our Town of York, you are held and constrained to appear, NOW KNOW YE, that WE taking into our Royal consideration the ease and convenience of our loving Subjects, have thought fit by and with the advice of our Executive Council, to relieve you and each of you of your attendance at the time aforesaid, hereby convoking, and by these presents enjoining you and each of you, that on Monday, the Twenty Fifth Day of October, next ensuing, you meet Us, in our Provincial Parliament, in our Town of York, there to take into consideration the state and welfare of our Province of Upper Canada, and therein to do as may seem necessary, and herein fail not.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed.—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces in North America, at York, this Tenth day of Sept. in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty-four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign.

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,
JNO. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.
D CAMERON, Secretary.

Government House,
York, Sept 22nd, 1824.

A Despatch of which the following is a Copy, has been received by HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, from HIS MAJESTY'S Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies.

Downing Street,
June, 1824.

SIR,

Having referred to the consideration of the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade, your Despatch of the 5th February 1824 transmitting an Address of the two Houses of the Provincial Legislature of Upper Canada, relative to the duties on Tobacco, I have now the honour to acquint you that by an Act which has been very recently passed, 5 Geo. 4. Chap. 43 Sec. 15 Tobacco the produce of His Majesty's Territories in Canada, will from and after the 5th July next, be admitted in this Country on payment of a duty of three pence less per lb. than is payable on Tobacco the Produce of all other Countries.

I have the Honour to be,
&c. &c. &c.
(Signed) BATHURST.

Major General
SIR P. MAITLAND K. C. B.
&c. &c. &c.

Upper Canada.

P. MAITLAND,

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come—GREETING:

WHEREAS by Proclamation bearing date the Fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventeen, our trusty and well beloved FRANCIS GORE Esquire, late our Lieutenant Governor of our Province of Upper Canada, by and with the advice of the Executive Council thereof, and by virtue of the Authority in him vested in that behalf, did declare and appoint the Port of Ernestown, otherwise commonly called the Port of Bath, within the Midland District of this Province, to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for all Goods and Merchandize, not being entirely prohibited and for the payment of all Duties, liable to be paid on all Goods and Merchandize brought into this Province from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS by a certain Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdoms of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the Third Year of our Reign, entitled, "An Act to Regulate the Trade of the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, and for other purposes relating to the said Provinces," it is among other things Enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the Governor Lieutenant Governor, or person Administering the Government of either of our said Provinces respectively, by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council thereof for the time being, from time to time to diminish or increase, by Proclamation, the number of Ports or places, which then were, or thereafter might be, appointed in such Province for the Entry of Goods, Wares, and Commodities, imported from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS it appears expedient for the avoiding expence in the Collection of our Revenue, that the said Port of Ernestown shall no longer be a Port of Entry and Clearance.—NOW KNOW YE, that by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of our Province of Upper Canada, We have thought fit to declare, and do hereby declare, that from and after the date of this our Proclamation, the said Port of Ernestown shall cease to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the purposes aforesaid, and shall be and remain, as if the said Proclamation hereinbefore recited, and appointing the same to be a Port of Entry and Clearance, had never been made.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed.—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York this Twentieth day of March, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign. P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,
D. CAMERON, Secretary.
JNO. B ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

Crown Office, York,
July 15th, 1824.

EASTERN CIRCUIT, 1824.
Mr. JUSTICE CAMPBELL.

Assizes, at	Cornwall on	Monday	9th Augt.
Do	Perth,	do	23rd do
Do	Brockville,	do	6th Sept.
Do	Kingston,	do	20th do

HOME CIRCUIT.
Mr. JUSTICE BOULTON

Do	Niagara,	Wednesday	4th Augt.
Do	Newcastle,	do	6th Oct.
Do	York,	do	18th do

WESTERN CIRCUIT.
CHIEF JUSTICE

Do	Sandwich,	Wednesday	11th Augt.
Do	Vittoria,	Monday	30th do
Do	Gore,	Wednesday	8th Sept.

No. 29—t. f.

PUBLIC NOTICE

HOME DISTRICT } I SHEREBY GIVEN, that a Court
TO WIT. } of Oyer and Terminer, and General Gaol delivery, and of Assize and Nisi Prius, will be held at the Court House in the town of York, in and for the said District, on Monday the Eighteenth day of October next ensuing, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon of the same day, of which all Justices of the Peace, Coroners, Gaolers, Bailiffs, and Constables, and those otherwise concerned are desired to take notice, that they may be respectively then and there present, with their Rolls, Records, and other Remonstrances, to do and perform all those things which to their several Offices belong.

SAMUEL RIDOUT.
Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office York, }
30th September 1824 } 41—2w.

GLEBES.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in Council, having taken into consideration the system hitherto practised, of Granting Licences of Occupation for GLEBE LANDS, is pleased to Order that in future the Glebes in the several Townships with the exception of One Lot in each Township, for the accommodation of the Incumbent, shall be Leased on the same terms as Clergy Reserves

NOTICE is therefore given to those Persons who hold Licences of Occupation for any of the said Glebe Lots, that the same will not be Renewed; and unless they do make application, by Petition, for Leases in the usual manner, through the medium of the Corporation for superintending the Clergy Reserves, before the Twenty-ninth day of September next ensuing, the Lots so held by Licence of Occupation will be Leased to other Applicants.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk Ex. Coun,

Executive Council Office, }
York, 29th April, 1824. } 19–tf.

Executive Council Office }
York, 14th April, 1824. }

NOTICE is hereby given, to Jabez Johnson, or his Representative, to make good any claim he may have to Lot Number Two, in the Seventh Concession of the Township of Louth, in the District of Niagara within six months from this date, in default of which, the Lot will be otherwise disposed of.

By order of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor in Council.

JOHN SMALL,
Cl'k. Ex'o. Council. 17—6m.

Executive Council Chamber, }
York, 31st January, 1824. }

PRESENT,

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
IN COUNCIL,

HIS Majesty's Government having recently extended their assistance to the class of Emigrants, which it was intended to relieve by gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres of Land, in conveying them to their respective locations:

IT IS ORDERED, that from the first day of May next, no gratuitous Grants be made of any quantity of Land to other than privileged persons.—And that as the Fee on Two Hundred Acres was raised, in order to defray the gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres the consideration failing, the future Fee on Two Hundred Acres is reduced to Eight Pounds Four Shilling and One Penny Sterling; the existing Fee before 1819, and the Fee on all other Grants, in Townships Surveyed since that time, to be the same as established by the Order in Council, of 5th January, 1819.

N. B. Possessors of gratuitous Grants for Fifty Acres, may, by paying the Fee on One Hundred Acres, receive a Grant of the adjoining Fifty Acres if vacant.

JOHN SMALL,
Cl'k. Ex'v. Council.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL CHAMBER, }
AT YORK, 20th JAN. 1824. }

PRESENT;

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
In Council.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR submitted to the consideration of the Board, the Sheriffs' Reports of their respective Gaols, together with other Documents relating to a Winter Circuit, by which it appeared that the House of Assembly had addressed His Excellency to that effect, for this Session only; and obviously for the Delivery of the Gaols in the several Districts.

THE limitation of such a measure to one season seeming to militate with the Provision of the Law, that when the Communication from the Seat of Government admitted, and the circumstances of the Province required, there should be a regular Second Circuit, the Board would prefer to recommend that Special Commissions to deliver particular Gaols should issue where requisite; but, as the respective Reports from the Sheriffs do not, in the opinion of the Board, require any personal interposition, His Excellency, with advice of the Council, postpones a Second Circuit until the circumstances of the Province more decidedly require it.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Executive Council.

Executive Council Office, }
York, February 7th 1821. }

WHEREAS it has been represented, that many persons who have received Locations of Land, have, from Sickness, and other legitimate causes, been unable to fulfil the Settlement Duty, in the time required by the Location Ticket, and have neglected to apply to His Excellency in Council for an extension of the period, for performance of such duty.

BE it known that the period for completing the Settlement Duty, is hereby extended to Two Years from the date of Locations until further notice shall be given.

JOHN SMALL. Cl'k Ex. Coun.

WHEREAS by the Tenor of the Location Tickets a Certificate is required to be lodged of the Settlement Duty being done within two Years, or that the said Location should be forfeited, and in case of Locations not gratuitous, that one third of the Patent Fee be lodged with such Certificate; AND WHEREAS it is represented, that in many instances, Certificates of performance of the Settlement Duty, have been withheld from the inability of the settler to deposit such proportion of the Patent Fee, it is deemed expedient to relieve the settler from forfeiture of his location, when he may actually have performed his settlement duty—Notice is hereby given that in all cases where Settlement Duty has been performed within the limited period, the settler shall, on filing Certificate thereof within six Months of this date, be exempted from forfeiture notwithstanding the non-payment therewith of such portion of the Patent Fee, provided the Patent is sued out within One Year from the filing of such Certificate.

And further; His Excellency, in the hope of avoiding the necessity of rescinding any of the Militia grants, is pleased to direct this Public Notification; that all Lands granted to Militia Men, upon which the Settlement Duties shall not have been performed within the limited period, will in pursuance of general instructions given to the Surveyor General in all similar cases, be declared vacant, and will be granted within Six Months after the expiration of that period, to the first applicant, unless the Original Nominee, shall before such subsequent application, have lodged a Certificate of his having performed the Settling Duties.

JOHN SMALL, Clk. Ex. Coun

Executive Council Office, }
York, 7th Nov. 1821. }

WHEREAS it has become expedient to establish a line of communication through certain remote Townships, for encouragement thereof, Grants will be made to actual Settlers in the Townships hereinafter named on the condition of Settling within two years from the date of the Location, at the reduced Scale of 5th January, 1819, viz.

A Township North of Mariposa, advertised from the Surveyor General's Office on the 19th of October, as-

Zeta, to be called Eldon

N. of Ep		Fenel a
N. of Emily advertised as	Emir	Verulam
N. of Smith	Lake	Harvey
E. of do.		Douro
N. of Asphodel	Alma	Dummer
N. of Seymour	Mora	Belmont
N. of Dummer	Yea	Burleigh
N. of Marmora	Nina	Lake
N. of Madoc		Tudor
N. of Ebzever	No	Grimsthorpe
N. of Kaladar	Aye	Anglesea
N. of Kennebec	Jus	Barrie
N. of Norma	Olden	Clarendon
N.of Oso	Et	Palmerston
N.of Belmout	Carlos	Methuen

JOHN SMALL, C. E. C.

Government House, 6th March, 1820.

HIS Excellency the Lieutenant Governor is pleased to direct that no Location requiring Settlement Duty shall be Confirmed by Patent, without a Certificate from the Land Board of the District in which such Location may be situate, that the Settlement Duty required by the Order in council has bona fide been performed within the time specified by the Location Ticket.

JOHN SMALL. Clk. C.

To Militia Pensioners, Notice

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that Payment of Militia Pensions for the year 1824, will commence from this date,
Militia Pension Office, York, 15th July, 1824.

EDWD. M'MAHON.
30.—13 w. Agent for Paying Militia Pensions

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Newcastle District, to wit. } BY virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of Kings Bench, and to the Sheriff of the Newcastle District directed, against the Lands and Tenements of David M'Gregor Rogers Esq at the suit John Strachan, Thomas A Dobbs, and Thomas H. Cartwright, Executors of the late Richard Cartwright, Esq. I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said David M'Gregor Rogers the following Lands, viz.

S. half of Lot No. 3 Broken Front, A.
Lot No. 3 do. do. B.	}	330 Acres.
Lot No. 3 do. do. C.
Lot No. 23 2 Concession,		200 do.
Lot No. 26 3 do		200 do.

of the Township of Haldimand, in the county of Northumberland, which Property I shall offer for sale at Public Auction, at the Inn now occupied by Mr N. W. Mack, in the village of Coburg, on the ninth day of February next at 12 o'clock, at noon.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff,
By EBENEZER PERRY, D'y Sheriff.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above described Premises, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber, on or before the day of Sale.

NOTE.—The sale of the above Lots, No. 3, Concession A., B., and C, is postponed until the 5th day of October next at the same place and hour.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
BY EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Coburg, }
2d September, 1824 } 14—ld.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District to wit. } ON Wednesday the 13th day of November next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands, and tenements, as belonging to Thomas Chitde, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of William Usher—viz:

All that part of Town Lot No 6 in Barriefield, laid out on Lot No. 21, East side of the great river Cataroquie, Pittsburgh, containing ¾ of an Acre and five Perches, with the exception of a piece of thirty six feet square, from the North East Corner of the same.

N. B. Any person or persons having claims on the above Lands, or upon any part of them by Mortgage, or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.
Kingston, July 13th, 1824. 40—1 d.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit: } ON Saturday the 18th day of December next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, all the right, title, claim and interest of Wm. Bayard Smyth, of Kingston, to the following Town Lots, with the buildings thereon erected, seized by virtue of a Writ of Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at the suit of C. A. Hagerman, Esq. viz:—Lot No 110, and the North West half of Lot No. 107, in the Town of Kingston, containing three tenths of an acre.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above property, or upon any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.
Kingston, 8th July, 1824.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

District of London To Wit. } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of John W. McIntire at the suit of Thomas Cooper. I have taken in execution the following land which I will offer for sale at the Court House in Vittoria, on Saturday the 6th of November now next, viz:—Lot No. 21 & 22 and the West half of Lot No. 23 in the Second Concession of the Township of Zora, containing Five Hundred Acres of Excellent Land, Sale to commence at one o'clock.

A. A. RAPELJE,
Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office }
Sept. 13th, 1824. }

N. B. Any person or persons having any legal claims either by morigage or any other right of incumbrance will make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

A. A. R.
40—t. d.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

District of London To Wit. } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of John Bostwick, at the suit of Messrs. Cross & Fisher, I have taken in execution as the Property of the said Bostwick, Lot No. seven in the second Concession of the Township of Woodhouse, said Lot is situated in a very flourishing part of said Township, about Fifty Acres of improved Land, a good frame Barn &c.—said land I will offer for sale at the Court House, on Saturday the sixth day of November now next, at one o'clock P. M.

A. A. RAPLEJE,
Sheriff L. D.

Sheriff's Office, }
Sept. 13th, 1824 }

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any legal claims either by Mortgage or any other right of incumbrance on the above stated Premises will make the same known to me before the day of Sale.

A A R
40—td.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT
FOR BEEF.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that Tenders will be received at the Commissariat Office, at York, from Persons who may be willing to furnish the Royal Naval Establishment at Penetanguishine, with such quantities as may be required of

FRESH BEEF,

for Twelve Months, commencing the 1st of January, 1825, and ending the 31st of December following.

Sealed Tenders to be delivered into this Office by the 12th of November at noon. No Tender will be noticed, unless the Party and his Sureties, or an Agent on their behalf, attend at the opening of the Tenders, which must be endorsed. Tenders for supplying the Royal Naval Establishment at Penetanguishine with Fresh Beef.

The Conditions of Contract, and other particulars, may be known on application at this Office.

F. T. BILLINGS,
D'y. Ass't. Com'y. General.

Commissariat Office, York, }
October 4th, 1824. } No. 41.—5w.

NOT OFFICIAL.

FIRE INSURANCE.

THE Sun Insurance Company of N. w York, having appointed George Crookshank, Esquire, their Agent in Upper Canada—he is ready to Insure against Loss or Damage by Fire, on Dwelling Houses, Stores, Merchandize, House-hold Furniture, and, on their Personal Property; at moderate Rates of Premium.— Persons wishing to Insure must send a plan of their Buildings, when wanted out of the Town of York, a respectable reference will be required, and Letters Post Paid —Application to be made to

R. W. PRENTICE.

York, 28th Sept. 1824.

TO DISTILLERS & BREWERS.

ROBERT Todd Dean having made Chemistry the study of his life, and having for himself and others both in Scotland and Ireland, for sixteen years conducted a Chemical Manufactory, (Testimonials of the most satisfactory kind can be produced from many respectable individuals to that effect) and having likewise others of his Countrymen come to Canada for the purpose of bettering his condition in life, finds himself so situated, now, as to be obliged to offer his services to persons engaged in the Brewing and Distilling business both of which branches, together with the Manufactory of Cordials &c. he professes, with all their late improvements, to perfectly understand.

Any Person desirous of having his services by addressing a letter to him (post paid) to the care of Matthew Crooks Esq. Ancaster Upper Canada, may depend upon its meeting with a ready attention from

Signed,
R. T. DEAN.

N. B. Terms will be moderate, and such as will be within the reach of every one, doing even a moderate business, immediate employment is an object to,

R. T. D.
40—13w.

NOTICE.

THE Undersigned request that all Persons having any claim against the Estate of the late Neil Dumont, of the Township of Markham, deceased, will render their accounts to Francis Lee of the Township of York and that all persons who are indebted to the said Estate, will make payment to the same person.

PETER WHITNEY, Administrator,
MARY WHITNEY, Administratrix.

York, Sept. 30th 1824. 40—3w.

TOWN LOTS IN PORT HOPE.

SEVERAL valuable building Lots, in the flourishing village of Port Hope, are for Sale, by private Contract, on the most liberal Terms, and on a credit of several Years, provided the first Instalment be paid down. Either Produce or Manual Labour will be received, if desired, in Payment —For further particulars apply at the U. C. Gazette Office, York, or to Messrs. C. & J. Stowe, Merchants,—Port Hope.

No. 40 —t. f

FARM TO LET IN MONAGHAN.

NEAR THE RICE LAKE AND RIVER OTONIBEE IN THE DISTRICT OF NEWCASTLE.

On very Advantageous Terms.

THERE are already 15 Acres cleared, and a Log House erected, upon the Farm, which consists of 600 Acres.—The Terms, which are singularly advantageous to a labouring man with a family, are these;—A Lease will be given for three years—on condition that the Tenant Clears and Fences from 5 to 10 Acres of new Land, and more if he is able, in each and every year of the Lease,—for which the Proprietor will pay at the rate of 12½ per Acre—besides allowing all the Crops—(except the Ashes)—to the Tenant.

The House stands on the margin of a running stream, and is within 1½ mile of a Grist and Saw Mill.

For further particulars, apply at the U. C. Gazette Office; or to George Ingle, Cavan.

VALUABLE LAND IN OTONIBEE,
FOR SALE ON A CREDIT OF YEARS.

ONE of the most valuable lots in the beautiful Township of OTONIBEE, on the Rice Lake, consisting of two Hundred Acres, being Lot No. 10, in the Ninth Con. The quality of the Land is first rate, (Maple, Beech, Bass, Elm, and Oak.) It has a Log House, and some small improvements upon it, and is not quite a mile distant from the Rice Lake, and from the Town Plot.—It has also the advantage of being well watered by a Creek that never fails.

Price, two dollars per Acre; and terms of payment, One Eighth at the time of concluding the bargain, and Seven Years Credit, by annual instalments, with interest for the remainder, if desired.—Inquire at the Gazette Office.

A Meeting of the Subscribers to the Strangers Friend Society, will be held at the Mansion House Hotel, on Saturday next, at half past 3 o'clock precisely, on special business.

TO THE PUBLIC.

MR. THOMAS MILBURN.

BEGS LEAVE to acquaint the Gentry, and Inhabitants of York, and its Vicinity, generally—that he has just arrived from London direct with a Select Assortment of Gentlemen's Wearing Apparel;—consisting of Superfine Dress Coats, Vests, and Trousers;—Puttian Shooting Jackets and Trousers;—Round about Jackets;—Flushing Great Coats;—Fancy Waistcoats, &c. &c. &c. with a quantity of Hosiery, Haberdashery, and Choice Cutlery.

This Assortment has been made with care and to suit the Canadian Market, and will be sold at low prices for CASH. The whole may be seen at the Store next to Mr. Wm. SMITH'S in King's Street, York.

York, September 15th, 1824. t. f

TO BE LET OR SOLD,
(And possession given at a short notice.)

THAT ELEGANT, and COMMODIOUS MANSION, Built, and lately occupied, by

A. N. McNABB, ESQUIRE.

Situated in King-Street, East, about half way between the Don Bridge and Town of York.—With a large GARDEN, Spacious Yard, and every necessary Out-Building,—occupying altogether One Acre of Land.

The HOUSE is of Two Stories, besides the Ground Floor, and has the following Rooms and conveniences, viz:—A PARLOUR, DRAWING-ROOM, FOUR LODGING-ROOMS, and DRESSING ROOM, STUDY, STORE-ROOM, SERVANTS ROOM, KITCHEN, BACK KITCHEN, CELLAR, LOFT, &c. &c. &c. Water is conducted by Pipes into the KITCHEN, where are the necessary Fixtures.

Amongst the Out Offices, are, Stables, Harness Room, Cow House, Couch and Cart House, Bake and Smoke House, &c. &c.

The Garden, which contains more than half an acre of Land, has been lately well stocked with various kinds of valuable Fruit Trees.

For Terms, and further particulars, apply to the U. C. Gazette Office. t. f.

NOTICE.

RUN AWAY from the Subscriber a few days since, Hugh Warren, whoever shall find him, and cause him to be brought back, shall receive the reward of six pence, but no cost or charges paid.—And further, this is to forbid all persons harbouring or trusting the said Hugh Warren, he being a bound apprentice.

THOMAS MORGAN.

Markham, Sept. 9th 1824. 38—3*to*.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the EASTERN DISTRICT will at the next Session of the LEGISLATURE make application to be authorised to effect a Loan to enable them to erect a Gaol and Court House in the Town of Cornwall.

37—6m.

NOTICE.

AN APPLICATION will be made to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for an Act imposing a TAX on Dogs in the TOWN of YORK and its vicinity, the proceeds of which to be applicable to the police purposes.

By Order of the Magistrates in Adjourned General Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the Home District assembled on the 6th day of Sept. 1824.

(Signed,)

S. HEWARD.

Clk. Peace Home District.

FOR SALE.

A very Superior London made

TELESCOPE,

(Imported by a Gentleman who has since returned to England, for his own use)

Prime Cost Eighteen Guineas.

Also,—an excellent

NIGHT GLASS.

Prime Cost Fifteen Guineas.

For further particulars inquire at this Office.

1st Sept. 1824 No. 36—4 w.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the COUNTY of GLENGARY intend presenting a Petition to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Glengary and the Town of Cornwall alternately.

37—6m.

NOTICE.

THE Plan and Estimate of a STEAM BOAT, (to be Built by Mr. AMOUS S. ROBERTS) about One Hundred Tons Burthen, intended to Ply between this Port and Niagara, may be seen at this Office.—Her Engine is intended to be of Twenty Five Horse Power. The whole Cost is estimated at Two Thousand Two Hundred and Five Pounds Currency. She is to be Built by Stock, made up of Shares, of Twenty Five Pounds each A few Shares are still wanting. Subscriptions for which will be received at this Office, and at the Office of the Niagara Gleaner, where Estimates and Conditions will be exhibited to those who wish to become Stockholders.

Gazette Office, York,
August 26th, 1824. } No. 35.—t. f.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the INHABITANTS of the COUNTY of MIDDLESEX, will make application at the next SESSION of the PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE by Petition, praying, that the said COUNTY may be erected into a seperate District.

24*th July*, 1824. 35—6w.

NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the Co partnership heretofore existing between JOHN AND GEORGE MONRO, Merchants, of York, Upper Canada, was on the first instant dissolved by mutual consent.—All persons indebted to the said firm are requested to pay the amount of their respective accounts to MR. WILLIAM P. PATRICK of this Town, without delay, who is duly authorized to receive the same—and all persons to whom the said Co-partnership stands indebted will present their accounts to him for adjustment.

JOHN MONRO,
GEORGE MONRO

York, 17th August, 1824. 34—tf.

FOR SALE.

LOT No. Two, in the First Concession of the Township of York, with the Broken Front, containing about Two Hundred and Forty Acres of Land.

Application to be made to

J. B. MACAULAY

York, 12th June, 1824. 25.—t. f.

THE YORK ALMANACK,

AND

ROYAL CALENDAR

OF

UPPER-CANADA,

For the Year 1824.

Much Enlarged, and Improved from the Edition of last Year.

A FEW Copies of this Work being left on hand may now be had at half the usual Price, on application at the U. C. Gazette Office, York.

August 26th. 1824. t. f.

NOTICE.

VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE.

VIZ:—

In the Township of Vaughan

Lots No. 22, 23, 24 in the 7th Con. and Broken Lot No 5, in the 10th Concession. } 620 Acres.

Township of York

Lot No. 13, 5th Concession, and Broken Front West of Yonge Street on the Humber, West half of No 15, in 2d Con. West of Yonge St. } 380 Acres

Towns ip of Percy

Lot No 20, in 3d Concession. Lot No. 21, in 4th Ditto. } 400 Acres.

For particulars apply to Guy C. Wood, Esq Cornwall, or the Subscriber in York.

R. G. ANDERSON.

19th July, 1824. 30—tf.

NOTICE.

ALL Persons indebted to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire, of Stamford; are requested to make immediate payment to the Subscriber at Vittoria, London District, and those having claims on the Estate, will be pleased to furnish him with their respective Accounts properly authenticated.

(Sign-d) WALTER NICHOL,

Administrator to the Estate of the Late ROBERT NICHOL, ESQUIRE

Niagara, 29th May, 1824.

NOTICE.

WANTED, for FOURTEEN YEARS, or not less than TEN, a LOAN of TWO THOUSAND POUNDS Halifax Currency, for the building of a PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH of ENGLAND, in the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada.

The Subscriber is authorized to offer Efficient Legal Securities for the Repayment of the LOAN, at the end of the period, and for the Annual Payment of the Interest accumulating thereon, at SIX per Cent. per annum.

(By Order of the Committee.)

GEORGE O'KILL STUART,

19—tf. SECRETARY, pro tem.

NOTICE.

FOR SALE, by private Contracts, the HOUSE and Lot lately occupied by Mr. O'Sullivan, Saddler, King's-Street, in the Town of York, the Lot is 26 feet fronting King's-Street, by 112 feet deep.

Also.—A Lot adjoining the above on the West side, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—A Lot adjoining Mr. Duggan's, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—Three Lots on Stuarts Land, each 40, by 60 feet.

Should the above Property and Lots not be sold by Private Contract, the five last described Lots will be sold at Public Sale, on the first day of July ensuing.

Apply to the Proprietor of the same,

ALEXANDER WOOD, ESQ.

YORK, 17th March, 1824. t. f.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Inhabitants of the Township of TOWNSEND intend Petitioning both Houses of the Provincial Legislature at its next Session, to pass a Law, Establishing a Line Surveyed in the year 1823, between the 12th and 13th Cons. of the said Township.

TOWNSEND, 20th MAY, 1824. } No. 21—1 m. t. d.

VALUABLE LANDED PROPERTY FOR SALE.

TWENTY SEVEN TOWN LOTS, eligibly situated in the Village of Cobourg, in Hamilton, Upper Canada, on one of which, a Store and Dwelling House are erected

Two Neat Small FARMS, contiguous to the above Village, containing, one, about Twenty eight Acres, the other, about Fifty Acres, with a House and other Buildings on each of them.—A Plan of the above may be seen on application to Mr J. G. BETHUNE, Cobourg, (who will shew the Premises,) or to the Subscriber.

Two TOWN LOTS in Picardville, adjoining to the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada, with Houses and other Buildings thereon, being Lots No. 21 and 22

200 Acres of Land being No. 1, 8th Cons. of Murray.

200 do do being No. 4, 4th do of Hungerford.

200 do do being No. 1, 8th do of Winchester.

200 do do being No 24, 8th do of Mountain.

200 do do being the West halves of No. 31 and 32 in the 2d Concession of Hawkesbury.

Liberal Terms of Payment will be granted.

For particulars apply to

FRS. ANT. LAROQUE.

N B. The above mentioned Town Lots in the flourishing Village of Cobourg, and the two and three Farms, will be disposed of by Public Sale, in the said Village on the 24th May next.

F. A. L. R.

MONTREAL, 15th March, 1824. t. f.

INTERESTING NOTICE.

THE Surveyor General begs leave to inform the Public, that he has obtained the permission of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, to publish a of the Province, on a large Scale. It is to be engraved in London, in the best style, and will be ready for delivery in a few months.

CORRECT MAP

This information, the Surveyor General thinks it necessary to make, in order to prevent those persons, who are desirous of having an authentic MAP of UPPER CANADA, from being imposed upon by a Surreptitious Copy, said to be on the eve of Publication.

Surveyor General's Office,
York, 2d April, 1823. } 14—tf

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the County of Prince Edward, in the Midland District, intend Petitioning the Legislature, at the next Session thereof, to have the said County set off, and made into a separate District from the said Midland District, and to be called the District of Ashtead.

No. 24—6ms.

THEATRE, YORK.

This Evening, (Thursday, October 7th)

WILL BE PRESENTED

AT MR PHAIRS' ASSEMBLY ROOM.

Otway's Celebrated Tragedy of

VENICE PRESERVED OR A

PLOT DISCOVERED.

Piere,	Mr. Archbold,
Jaffier,	Mr. Talbot,
Priuli,	Mr. Gilbert,
Duke	Mr Trowbridge,
Badamar,	Mr. Davis,
Renault,	Mr. Calvert,
Conspirators, Belvedera,	Mrs. Talbot,

AFTER THE TRAGEDY THE FOLLOWING SONGS.

Comic Song—Cherry Cheek Patty,	Mr. Gilbert,
Song,	Mr. Davis,
Comic Song	Mr. Talbot,

THE WHOLE TO CONCLUDE WITH THE LAUGHABLE FARCE OF NATURE AND PHILOSOPHY.

Brother Philip,	Mr Archbold,
Ronaldo,	Mr Gilbert,
Colin, a Youth 16 years of age, who has never seen a woman,	Mrs. Talbot,
Eliza,	Miss Allan,
Gertrude	Mrs Archbold,

On Friday Evening, will be Presented

The much Admired Comedy of

ANIMAL MAGNETISM,

WITH THE LAUGHABLE FARCE OF THE IRISHMAN IN LONDON.

Together with a variety of Comic Songs, Glees, &c. &c. &c. as will appear in the Bills.

N. B. Mr. Archbold ever anxious to merit the esteem of his generous patrons, has in addition to the Entertainments hitherto afforded, engaged the York Band, which will attend each evening during his stay in York.

Tickets to be had at the U. C. Gazette Office, at the Bar of Mr. Phairs' Tavern, and at the Steam Boat Hotel Boxes 3s 9d. Back Seats 2s. 6d. Cur'y. Children half price Two Tickets will admit a Gentleman and Two Ladies

☞ Doors open at Six o'clock, and performance at Seven precisely

THE

Canadian Annual Register.

UNDER THE PATRONAGE OF HIS EXCELLENCY,

SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

To whom the Work is Dedicated by Permission.

AS the Projector and Editor of this Great National Work is confident of its ultimate success, if but a moderate share of encouragement is given to its outset,—he takes this opportunity of requesting those Agents of this Paper who have received the names of any Subscribers to the Work to transmit them, together with their address, without delay, to the U. C. Gazette Office, in order that they may be added to those already received in the list of Subscribers, as soon as possible.

The names and residences of the earliest patrons of this Great Undertaking, will be published, alphabetically arranged, in the first volume of the work, as a perpetual record of their liberality, public spirit, and sound patriotism.

It is again repeated, that no money will be demanded, until the work, which will not exceed the price of the meanest newspaper, is delivered.

A New Type is ordered from Great Britain expressly for this work.

U. C Gazette Office,
November 20, 1823. }

WEEKLY REGISTER.

VOL. III. Our endeavour will be to "stamp the very body of the time—its form and pressure"—we shall extenuate nothing, nor shall we set down aught in malice. No. 41.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 7th, 1824.

Editorial Commentary.

AMERICAN Sea captains are so famous for manufacturing extraordinary news that we are generally obliged to admit their reports with great caution. As an article of Foreign Intelligence in this day's Register, however, we have given the report of one of these gentlemen, direct from Gibraltar, which is by no means improbable; and, should it turn out correct, events of the greatest importance may be hourly looked for, not in Spain only, but throughout Europe—A tremendous re-action must sooner or later hurl the leaden sceptre of the BOURBONS from the palsied Lands which have hitherto wielded its deadly weight, and roll back those clouds of darkness and superstition in which their monkish rule would shroud forever, a naturally brave, and noble, and generous, and lofty people.

THE scientific world, and Naturalists in particular, (who know so little of that rich quarter of the globe) will deplore the loss of those valuable collections which have been forming for many years in the East Indian Archipelago by the indefatigable, able, and intelligent SIR STAMFORD RAFFLES, so long Governor of Sumatra, all of which have been destroyed by the conflagration of the ship Fame, at sea, and in sight of the port of embarkation—An interesting account of this dire calamity will be found in our columns.

THE ups and downs and changes of this world are really surprising; and, to the philosopher, extremely amusing.—Who would have thought, some few years ago, when beholding the little fat, buxom, rosy, laughing, witty, playful Miss MELLON exhibiting as a strolling actress in the barns of a country village—in an obscure corner of England, that, at this day, as the still young and envied widow of the richest banker of the richest country in the world, she should be giving a public breakfast, in a delightful villa of her own, to a small and select party of only 700 persons and personages of the first rank and fashion in the empire! Eh bien, she is as deserving as any other of the "silver spoon"—She was always a good girl, (saving and except a little more penchant for gallantry than one would have thought agreeable to an old man,) and she bears her "blushing honours" modestly enough, considering she has no less than three Marquises in her train, each desirous to clutch (not a dagger, gentle reader, but) the pelf; (probably to spend it, as a certain Long Pole did the fortune of another rich dame, at the gaming table!—The he new lent MRS COUTTS, however, we are glad to learn, is Mrs Coutts to those dashing fortune-hunters, and knows very well how to mar-quiz all their designs on her person and property.

BY an article under the domestic head, our readers will perceive that a very uncommon Bear, even the "Blessed Bear of Bradwardine" has been unbound in this our Canadian wilderness.—It is not long since we had the record of the Young Pretender flourishing on this side the Atlantic, and now it is actually affirmed that some of us are to drink out of the silver cup of the famous ROB ROY MCGREGOR!—We mean no disrespect to our honest brethren of "ye the north" nor to the worthy Surveyor General of L. C.—but we really should not be surprised to hear that some careful "Hue-lander" had brought out with him the identical dirk which terminated "life's fitful fever" to poor Dan can in the murderous days of "Mac-Beath;"—a large clot of David Rizzio's blood;—or even the long tresses of beauteous QUEEN MARY!!

THE inhabitants of York, and its vicinity, will be pleased to hear that Mr. ARCHBOLD, and his company, intend to revisit us during the sitting of Parliament, to enliven and remove the tedium of our long winter-evenings by the interesting and rational display of theatrical amusement, hitherto so seldom to be enjoyed in this part of the country. Not being too deeply tinctured by the exploded and fanatical doctrines of those hypocritical religionists who rail against the Stage as the peculiar precinct of that celebrated personage, very vulgarly called, "Old Nick," we should be glad to see something like a permanent theatrical establishment in this country; and we are persuaded that if a small, neat, Theatre was erected in each of the three principal towns—York, Kingston, and Niagara, a respectable Company, like that of Mr. ARCHBOLD'S, would find their advantage in occasional visits to those places;—even should a regular, periodical, visit to the shores of Lake Ontario in such an arrangement we should recommend the latter end of summer and fall of the year, for Niagara;—the winter, for York; and the spring, for Kingston. The Stage may be converted, and, indeed, with well ordered communities, it is converted into one of the best schools for practical morality where virtue and vice, with their concomitants, and results, are placed in the strongest possible point of view; and it is no ordinary talent that is required to make the display perfect and fully effective—He who would actually realize, and exhibit in propria persona, that which our greatest poets and men of genius could perhaps, barely conceive, or imperfectly describe, must surely be highly gifted, and possess a genius not less towering and comprehensive than that of the author whom he studies—and we are quite ready to agree with SIR RICHARD STEELE, that,

"If the merit of a performance is to be valued according to the talents which are necessary to it, the qualifications of a player should rank him much above the arts and ways of life which we call mercenary or mechanic. When we look round a full house, and behold how few that can, through they sit there silent and to move so much as the persons on the stage do, come up to what they would appear even in dumb show; how much does the actor deserve our approbation who adds to the advantage of looks and motions the tone of voice, the dignity, the humility, the sorrow, and the triumph, suitable to the character he personates!"

A "FREEHOLDER'S" letter to "PAWKIE" has been received, and, notwithstanding the precautions taken to disguise the hand, the supposed unknown author may rest assured that, by internal evidence, he is known to us—But, in our hands, he is safe. It is really a terrible production, and the more terrible because we have reason to believe the allegations, it contains, to be true—but, to publish, or not to publish?—"that is the question!" We consider ourselves to greatly independent, as to principle at any rate—yet a three years study of the Law of Libel, and an occasional trip or two towards the confines, in order to try the ground, has gone far to convince us that LORD MANSFIELD'S definition of libel—(it any definition can be given)—was about right;—ergo, if this letter is full of truth, it is full of libel; and, with another ergo, it may be quite as well not to try, on the present occasion, how far a Canadian Jury may consider themselves judges of law, as well as of fact;—especially as we are ignorant of the information given.—The author however, has our thanks for his well written, Jonas like, production, which we shall take leave to retain, not absolutely refusing to publish it at some future period, be occasion fitting.—It is a capital letter, and, with many other productions of a like nature, augurs well for the reputation, and rising character, of this promising Country.

SELECTIONS FROM BRITISH AND FOREIGN JOURNALS.

MRS. COUTTS' FETE AT HOLLY LODGE.

"Tuesday having been fixed for a petite dejeuner at Mrs. Coutts' beautiful little villa at Highgate, invitations were issued to a distinguished and select party of her friends, and notwithstanding the unfavorable state of the weather in the early part of the morning, it was attended by about seven hundred LADIES and gentlemen of the FIRST RANK AND FASHION IN THE COUNTRY. The guests began to assemble soon after twelve o'clock, and continued increasing till six."

Here follow the names, which want of room alone prevents our inserting.

Asia and America not connected.—Capt. Cochrane has ascertained that there is no junction between the continents of Asia and America. He had been for two years exploring the north-eastern coast of Siberia, to settle this point.

The Sun lighted with Gas.—M. Arago, of the Academy of Sciences, Paris, communicated to that body on the 14th instant, the results of many curious experiments which he had made upon the polarization of light. From these experiments he considers himself authorised to believe that the luminous part of the sun is nothing else than a gaseous substance in combustion like the flame of candles. It is well known that this was suspected by the celebrated Dr. Herschell.

CATHOLIC ASSOCIATION.

DUBLIN, July 24.

The following letter was read to the Meeting:—

"Sir,—On my return from a visit to the country, I found laying on my table your letter, informing me of the honour done me by the vote of thanks of the Catholic Association. Accept, Sir, mine in return for the very handsome manner in which you have made the communication; and assure the gentleman of the Association that they may rely on my most strenuous exertions, whenever an opportunity is afforded of promoting their just claims on behalf of their countrymen, and the advancement of the great cause of civil and religious liberty, inseparable therefrom, and in which they are so honourably engaged—that I fully participate in all their views, and sympathize in all their feelings, and that nothing shall be wanting on my part to advance, as far as I may be able, the one, or to give effect and satisfaction to the other,—that in my opinion, every principle of good faith, reason, and sound policy imperiously demand it.

"The people of Ireland, without regard to religious distinction, called upon, as they are, and performing, as they do equal duties, can never be denied on equitable or constitutional principles equal rights. It is this fundamental maxim of the English law which made my Lord Coke calls it "the best inheritance of the subject"—the inheritance of inheritance, adding, "Major hereditas venit unicuique nostrum, a fure et legibus, quam a parentibus." To carry this maxim universally into effect, and see it universally applied alike to Irishmen, Englishmen and Scotchmen, and secured by the only means by which it can be practically established—that is, by means of a fair and equal representation of the people of the United Kingdom in the Commons House of Parliament—is the first wish, the most earnest prayer, and most ardent pursuit of "Sir, your most obedient and very humble servant,

F. BURDETT.

"St. James' place, July 22, 1824.

"To Stephen Cappinger, Esq.'

The reading of this letter was frequently interrupted by general and hearty cheering, and the resolution for inserting it in the minutes was carried with the same demonstrations of approbation.

From the Morning Post of Friday.

"Lord Byron's will evinces a desire to distribute his property to those members of his family who stood most in need of his assistance. In addition to the circumstances which have already transpired with respect to the will of this noble and illustrious person, there is this very curious one:—The will contains a bequest of £5000 to a beautiful young Venetian, named NINA, to whome his Lordship was fondly attached. The bequest, however, is made liable to this condition—"that she never marries a British subject." The effect of the will in this respect has since become inoperative, by the death of this beautiful young Lady; but it shows a very sincere (not certainly a very amiable) disposition on the part of his Lordship, of the dissatisfaction, distrust, and even the hatred, he entertained towards the natives of his own country. With every respect for the good old Roman maxim, "De mortuis nil nisi verum," there is very little in the sentiment of this part of his Lordship's will which can either entitle him to the respect of Englishmen or of mankind; it possesses singularity, to be sure; but singularity, without any redeeming virtue to retrieve it from the epithet of very unjust (using unoptional prejudice, and, we may add, unmeaning sarcasm.

The JOHN BULL in alluding to the death of the King and Queen of the SANDWICH ISLANDS, speaks thus:—

We certainly did not anticipate so tragical a termination to the absurd farce which has been acted, in which these poor creatures have been the principal performers—and yet the smallest consideration would have prepared us for the event. A group of savages are suddenly transported from their huts in their native climate, to a pent-up hotel in the dense smoke of London—their limbs, for decency's sake, straitened and confined in European clothing, their hours of rising and sleeping wholly changed, their food suddenly altered from yams and plantains to rich soups and fricandeaux, and all the melancholy attempts at cookery of which the kitchen of the hotel in which they have been confined is susceptible—the pure limpid stream, their wonted beverage, supplanted by the mixture of Buxton, or Whitbread, or Calvert, or some other such Whig washery, in which, together with wines and spirits, the poor creatures have been of course allowed to revel with unlimited and savage profusion—the consequence is, the poor female dies first, and in all probability will shortly be followed by the male.

It is curious enough that we were about to refer our readers, to a number of the Quarterly Review, published last July, for an elaborate description of the present manners and customs of the Sandwich Islanders, before we had heard of the death of Tamahamaih, and we feel it our duty to press attention to that article, with an earnestness proportionate to the folly of those persons who, in writing of the poor creature just killed with kindness, choose to bestow the title of "Majesty" so bountifully whenever they have occasion to allude to her. Three years since we thought we never could see a greater degradation of the word than that which it, then suffered; but we are not prepared to find a ministerial paper, and the King's Physician, dignifying with the title of Majesty, in England, one of four black wives of a savage Chief.

The number of the Quarterly to which we refer is No. 56, and at page 346 is the following picture of society in the Island in question, and Mr. Arago's description of the establishment of the identical man now living, or rather, we fear, dying in the Adelphi:—

"In this one room," says the traveller, "fathers, mothers, boys, girls, sometimes even hogs and dogs, sleep together pêle mêle—there the mothers offer their daughters to strangers." And, speaking of his Majesty's palace, it is thus described:—"A miserable hut, built of straw, from 20 to 30 feet long, and from 12 to 15 broad, entered by a low narrow door—some mats, upon which several half naked giants are reposing, and who bear the titles of Ministers and Gentlemen—two chairs, on which are seated, on days of ceremony, a large dirty heavy proud man, and a stout half naked woman, who allows herself to be quet with every stranger, &c. &c."—This is the description of their pomp and state, from which they have been brought to civilization and death.

A fine tract of character.

CURIOUS LETTER

From Major-General Lesslie, in 1639.

In 1639, during the civil wars, the Scots, as is well known, invaded Northumberland, and laid siege to Newcastle. They stationed themselves at Gates-head-hill, and, under the command of Sir David Lesslie, began to erect batteries, dig treaches &c. A gentleman, having a fine house and gardens situated in the place where they began their works, with a view of getting them preserved, invited Major General John Lesslie, cousin to the General, to dine with him, and after shewing him all the conveniences in his house and gardens, with the horses in his stables, proposed to make him a present of twenty pounds, if he would use his interest with the General, to have the works carried on from some other place. Some time after which, he wrote the gentleman the following letter:—

"I vow to God, Sir Thomas, it makes my heart blud to see the works going this gait through the trim a garden as yours. I have been twa times with my cousin the General, and see will I nae times mair, before the work gaes this gait; but I vow to God, Sir Thomas, you maun make the £20 £30 and the wa trim gay thing that stands in the newk of your hall, chirping and chiming at the noon-time of the day, and the tag-tailed trooper that stands in the staw, and ate the cherrys in your garden, for a present to my lady, (preve you that well Sir Thomas;) and as I am a cavallier of fortune, and a limb of the house of Rothes, as the meickel kist that stands in the auld kirk at Edinburgh can right well witness for this aught hundred years and mair bygane, deil scoup out my gills gin I hurt either ye or yours to the valuedome of a twa penny chicken. I am yours, John Lesslie, Captain and Major-General of sax score and twa men, Governor of Northumberland, Cumberland, Mureland, and Fife; Master of Roxburgh, Thruslebrige, Mussiebrige and Kirkaidy; Laird of Liberton, tooly and whilly Major of Stirling, and Constable of Leith, and Sir John Lesslie' to the boot of all that.

Sir,

Yours,

JOHN LESSLIE."

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

FRENCH IN SPAIN.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM MADRID.

The French seem to have abandoned all idea of returning to their own country, and are making preparations against any attempt which might be made to turn them out, by important additions of strength to the fortified places. It is even said that their anxiety to complete the precautionary measure is such that the French Commander in Chief is expected to set out almost immediately on a general visit of inspection of the fortresses. The consideration of the French troops throughout Spain is, however, to exemplary, that although being here is a reproach upon Spanish courage and patriotism the evil is become so necessary that the lovers of good order dread the moment of their departure, believe when it may, I am happy to inform you that the Piedmontese officer who was taken with Riego has just been released, after nearly ten months confinement in a dungeon. Even cruelty, you see, has its boundaries—for this poor fellow does not belong to a country, the government of which would be likely to protest against his imprisonment, and the act of its release is therefore spontaneous.

LATE FROM GIBRALTER.

By the schooner Lucinda, Capt. Fletcher, from Gibralter, papers the 14th ult. inclusive, have been received. Capt. F. confirms the intelligence, via Philadelphia, that the Constitutionalists had possession of Tarifa. He informs that the Royalist and French armies were in the rear of that place when he passed on the 10th ult. At the same time saw two French frigates, lying off and on the harbour. It was rumored at Gibralter that 9-0 cavalry, which were sent to Tarifa, had joined the Constitutionists. A revolutionary spirit had also discovered itself in several other parts of Spain, and the inhabitants had taken up arms against the King, and it was expected that the whole country would, in a short time, be in a state of revolt.

In addition to the above, we learn from letters received by a respectable merchant in this city, that the French had been repulsed three different times at Tarifa.

We also learn from Capt. Fletcher that he came down the Straits in company with a British squadron from off Algiers, bound to England, the Dey having compromised his differences with Great Britain.

The following is an extract under the date of 12th Aug. at Gibralter. "There is every reason to believe that a simultaneous struggle has been planed throughout Spain, and if in other quarters they have been as successful as at Tarifa, "God take good King Edward to his mercy." The Constitutionalists have been completely successful there—A strong body of French marched from Cadiz to attack them, they suffered it to advance to the second gun when they opened a destructive fire upon them and routed them in every direction, the French commander is among the Killed—Algeciras is crowded with the wounded French of that expedition. A boat has been sent from this garrison to Tarifa, to ascertain the state of affairs there, and has returned with the particulars, in every respect glorious to the Constitutional cause. Even the women took an active part against the French.

"We have accounts from various parts of Spain and all combine to show that great events are following apace, but I shall repeat nothing to you but what is official. Wherever the Constitutionalists go they triumph completely. The struggle is dreadful, for their enemies, as they observe, expect little mercy: all

Spain is now in arms, and although the period of revolt is most unfortunate, (just as they were about securing the vintage) they abandon their limited crop for a nobler harvest—the cry again is "civil constitution, death to the Frenchmen"—we are on the rack of anxiety here, and every hour brings us fresh assurances, that in a short period Liberty will once more wave her banners over Spain, and her enemies be driven beyond the Pyrenees. The proclamations issued from Lisbon are calculated to rouse every Spaniard, a few only have reached us here, but they are sought after with such avidity that I find it impossible to procure one to send to you. They are ingenious, not a word is said about the king; every thing is directed against "The French, the foreigners, in their very bosoms, drawing out the vitals of Spain." In the affair of Madrid, which seemed the signal, a great many French were killed. If this conveyance is detained a day or two, I will be able to give you some interesting particulars; at any rate, my next will, till then, look on Spain as you would on a volcano, threatening by its inwards thunders an immediate eruption.

General O'Donnell, who was at Algesiras had sent two companies on the 5th, to reconnoitre in the neighbourhood of Tarifa, he, who, on their arrival there immediately joined the insurgents—He had arrested 30 individuals at Algesiras, suspected of being connected with the captors of Tarifa, and ordered them for Ceuta. The insurgents at Tarifa having received intimation of it, fitted out a boat, and captured the vessel that was carrying the prisoners to Ceuta.

Two French frigates and a Spanish Schooner of war had been cannonading Tarifa on the 7th instant, but the wind blowing fresh from the west, and the current setting strong through the gut, they could not hold to windward, and bore up for Algeciras, where they anchored about 6 P. M.

The report says 500, another 1000, French troops advanced upon Tarifa, from the neighbourhood of Cadiz.

A body of 200 Exiles, who had been living on board of different crafts, in the harbor of Gibralter, for several months past, left there on the night of the 7th, in small vessels for the purpose of attempting a descent something similar to that at Tarifa, somewhere in the neighbourhood of Malaga. Capt. B left Gibralter at 6 o'clock in the evening of the 8th, at which time the wind was fresh from the east, but the two French frigates in Algesiras Road showed no disposition to get under way when he passed them. At 10 P. M when off the Point of Gautinel, 4 miles east of Tarifa, saw the flashes and heard the report of a sharp skirmish of a duty at the Tower of Gaulmen, which lasted about five minutes.

At 11 being abreast of Tarifa and within 2 miles of the town, saw and heard a cannonading on the hills back of the town and could plainly see the ground hot balls or shells from which appeared to be fired in two directions, viz;—diagonally across and towards the back of the town as the action was at the foot and those very bright, and could distinguish objects on shore tolerably well, which enabled him to remark that the island and top of the Rock was covered with troops, and a number stationed on the small hills apparently about 1 mile back of the town from which he concludes that the constitutionalists had not only kept possession of the Island and town, but made good their footing on the Main.

At half past 11, the firing ceased, with the exception of a signal gun, at long intervals, and at 30 minutes past midnight, the cannonading recommenced and continued to increase in violence until half past 2 A. M. when it became tremendous, and in between the reports could hear heavy and continued volleys of musketry could be plainly heard, as the wind was fast and Tarifa bore East. I could hear the firing until 5 A. M. at which time it was lost to the distance.

The last mail from Madrid, had brought accounts of a quarrel and affray between the Spanish and French troops, in that city, in which many lives had been lost. The Spanish troops in the neighbourhood of Algesiras, were much disatisfied, owing to the badness of their clothing and pay.

STATE OF IRELAND.

(From Mr. Cobbett's Letter to Sir Francis Burdett

I am thoroughly persuaded that if no effectual remedy for the people of Ireland be adopted before the arrival of another war, this country will have to struggle, not for the support of her present power, but for her existence as an independent state.

The movements which we have made downwards since the war, are pretty visible to all the world—This is the plain state of the case; the greatness of this country is owing to the almost absolute power which we have so long possessed on the seas. There are dreamers who talk of universal and everlasting peace; but we shall, and that in a few years be at war again with France, unless (which is by no means impossible) the Jews and Scottish economists should so far prevail as to cause the country to purchase peace by an actual bona fide surrender of its Independence.

This country cannot carry on war against France, with any chance of success, without exercising the right of search. All nations hate this power.

A new maritime power has risen up, or rather has been treated by the folly and malignity of the English boroughmongers. That power has risen in its infancy given us a test of what it can do. The congress of America voted, during the present session, an addition of ten ships of war to their navy: and not the slightest notice is taken of this by the newspaper patriots of England.

Those ten ships, together with the rest of that navy are intended, Sir, to enforce the motto of Capt. Porter—"Freedom of the seas, and sailor's rights." The moment we are at war with France, that moment we are at war with America, unless we yield to this motto; and if we do yield to this motto, we fall down prostrate before our enemy.

Captain Dacres found on board the American frigate by which he was beaten and captured, an Irishman sitting and coolly making buckshot to fire at the English with. Captain Dacres was indignant at this; but he did not tell us whether this Irishman had been at any public like that in Sandwich, or whether he was the father, son, or brother of any of those numerous Irishmen who had been without trial by Jury, transported for seven years for having been found out of their house between sunset and sunrise. Without this information from Captain Dacres, however, is there a man in his senses who does not see how great will be the danger if the next war should find the Irish people in their present state?

Malthus's population lie has gained ground on two accounts: it serves to excuse corruption for the mischiefs she has produced, and it forms an apology for contumely and cruelty from the powerful towards the weak. Talk to corruption of the wretchedness of the people that are under her sway, and she instantly tells you in the words of Malthus, that true parson, that there is a tendency in all nations to produce numbers too great; and that misery is necessary to check this mischievous increase of population. So that this doctrine is, with corruption, the most convenient thing in the world.

The inconsistances are endless. In England it was the poor rates that caused the redundant population. Take away the poor rats, said Malthus and Scarlett, and that will prevent improvident marriages and check population.

In Ireland there are no poor rates, and there they marry earlier than they do in England.

There is a monstrous increase of population in Ireland, where the people are not educated enough.

There is a surprising increase of population in Scotland, where every one is a saint, a moralist a philosopher.

An overflow of population in England, chiefly on account of the poor rates, and of the good living (what a lie!) of the people.

In Ireland there is a monstrously redundant population, where nakedness stalks abroad like a ghost, and where hunger growls like a wolf.

Great lots of capital causes the population of Scotland to increase.

A total want of capital makes the Irish increase.

Long internal tranquility has greatly added to the population of England.

A long and bloody revolution has greatly added to the population of England.

Mr. Cropper says, that slavery diminishes the number of people, and that when a people becomes thick, their state is favourable to freedom.

The Morning Chronicle (a half brother of Cropper who inserts Cropper's letter) says, that if the Irish keep on invading Scotland, the Scots will themselves be reduced to a state of slavery.

It is strange, Sir, that the novelty of these notions and schemes do not induce men to hesitate, at least.

HORRIBLE FANATICISM.

CRUCIFIXION OF A FEMALE.

Continued from our last.

This was termed the precious pledge of the redemption of many. Marguerite then called for a razor, and told Ursula to seat her with it round the neck, and to make a crucical incision on her forehead. The trembling hand of Ursula at first refused the horrible office; but Marguerite aroused her courage by saying, "May God strengthen your arm; now is the moment of victory—the souls are ransomed, Satan is vanquished. I see him plunging into darkness." During the operation, she gave no signs of pain, nor uttered the slightest complaint, unless against the irresolution of her executioner. But all was not yet accomplished. She said that she must be crucified. "What fear you?" said she to those around her on seeing them hesitate. "My hour is come; I am going to resuscitate my sister," and I myself shall come to life in three days." She then had some pieces of timber placed upon the bed in form of a cross. Upon these she laid herself, and at her request, John Moser, Susannah Peter, and Ursula Kundig, commenced nailing her to the cross. Following her reiterated orders, they drove nails into her hands and feet, and into the articulation of her elbows, and through her breasts. Marguerite, in the midst of these hellish operations, never uttered the slightest plaint.—She only found fault with the want of vigor of her executioners. From time to time she exclaimed, "I feel a pain—be strong, in order that Jesus Christ may conquer." Thus fixed upon the cross, and so transpierced with nails that her body was but one wound she cried with a loud voice, "Rejoice you with me! that God may rejoice with you in Heaven!" and at another moment, "As the woman in labor cannot retard the hour of her deliverance, so must my death warrant be accomplished, in order that the souls yet in the power of Satan may be saved." To Conrad Moser, who condeavoured repeatedly to persuade her to put an end to her sufferings, she only replied, "Do what I command you" The crucifixion being completed, Marguerite told them to drive a nail into her heart, or to split her head. Ursula Kundig, who obeyed the most implicitly the wishes of her friend, endeavoured to pierce her skull with a knife, but the point turning, she cried out in a kind of frantic transport, and looking at those near her with a wild and haggard air, "What! must I do so very thing myself? Will no one come to my aid?"—Upon hearing this apostrophe, and after a fresh order from Marguerite, the youngest of the Mosers seized an iron madel, and aided by Ursula Kundig, soon broke to pieces the skull of the victim. A low moan announced to them that the horrid ministry was at an end, the unfortunate wretch had ceased to breathe. When the slaughter was over, and that the hellish excitation of the perpetration had subsided a little, some feeling of horror came over them. At the sight of the mutilated bodies, they shed tears in abundance, and evinced, if not remorse, at least disquietude. However, they soon re-assured themselves by the conviction that they had only performed the most sacred of duties, in obeying the inspired commands of one whose death was to bring salvation to thousands. All these individuals were taken up, and transferred to the prisons of Zurich, whither also the bodies of the victims were transported, and examined in the presence of several members of the tribunals, physicians, surgeons, and medical students.—Never, probably, was there a more hideous spectacle than that offered upon this occasion, by those mutilated and mangled bodies, streaming with a thousand wounds, black and livid from numberless bruises and contusions. Near them were exposed the instruments of death, covered with clotted gore, and portions of flesh, blood, and hair. Eleven individuals were tried upon this occasion. Each of them addressed the Court, and made a public avowal of their monstrous conduct.—None of them were condemned to death. The sentence was, that they should be led through the streets in one day time, the bells ringing, to the town-hall, and there hear the judgment of the Court read;—from thence they were to be conducted to the principal church, there to listen to a sermon analogous to the occasion; after which they were to be confined in the house of correction, Ursula Kundig, for sixteen years; Conrad Moser and John Peter, eight years; Susannah Peter and John Moser, six years; and the other four, three, two and one year; and two of them only to six months. They were to be put to labor proportioned to their ages, sex, and strength. The seven men were moreover declared to have lost their political rights for the rest of their lives. The house of Jean Peter was ordered to be razed to the ground, the materials sold for the benefit of the poor, with the exception of the timber and furniture of the room in which the murders were committed, and which were to be burned. It was moreover expressly forbid ever to erect any building upon the site of the house of Jean Peter. The Consistorial Consistory was charged with looking to the support and condition of a child of Marguerite Peter, the fruit of an adulterous commerce with Jacques Morin.

The condemned heard their sentence with a resigned air, and with some signs of repentance. Ursula Kundig and Conrad Moser appeared grateful for the clemency used towards them; but old Peter seemed inconsolable on hearing that his house was to be demolished Since their confinement, they have behaved with decency and docility. Jaques Morf, the man by whom Marguerite Peter the ill-fated heroine of this tale of horror, had a child, was a shoemaker. She seemed to have been devotedly attached to him; part of one of her letters to him is as follows: "Ah, why are you more dear to me than my mouth can utter? Why have I vowed so much to love you? The Friday after your departure I again ascended the hill where we took leave of each other. I lay many of an hour, long after I had lost sight of you, on the spot where you live. I recognized the chateau of Kybourgh. Since that moment I have often fallen into my delicious reverie." And further on—"Oh, my soul! Oh, my beloved child? Oh, child of love—yes, you are born of God, who is love himself. Nothing can tear thee from my tenderness; oh, thou that I love more than myself," &c. About ten days before the horrible sacrifice above described, Marguerite Peter declared to her followers that she had a new revelation from Heaven which warned her that Napoleon was about to revisit the earth for the purpose of scourging mankind, and that after him would come his son, the young Duke of Reichstadt, under the figure of the Son of God, and that he would be the real Anti Christ, that she was called to combat him, and prevent him, from becoming master of the world, that the signal for the great fight would shortly be given. This was the habitual text of her conversation during the last days of her life. Though the events at Weldensbuch excited only horrors amongst the great majority of the public, yet were then many, both at Zurich and other parts of Switzerland, who talked of these monstrosities with transports of admiration. Numbers from various parts repaired to Weldensbuch, and one person in the ardour of his zeal, was seen to scrape the blood from off the walls and furniture of the apartment, and bear it away as a sacred relic. Were it not for the wise precaution of the Magistrates, in exposing the bodies of the victims to public view, their promised resurrection would have been soon spread through the country and credited by the fanatics. The authors of this narrative state their regret at not being at liberty to expose to public indignation the measures put in practice to trouble the peace of the Canton of Zurich, and excite a spirit of fanaticism there. This, they say, they have been interdicted from doing, and must confine themselves to stating, that the origin of this fanaticism is very recent, and may be dated from the period when certain travellers, well known for the exaltation of their religious doctrines, unfortunately chose Switzerland as their residence, and the theatre of their religious exhibitions.

LOSS OF THE SHIP FAME.

The following is an extract of a letter from Sir Thomas Stamford Raffles late Governor of Benecolen, communicating the destruction by fire of the ship Fame, in which he had embarked with his family and suite on his return to England. A more providential escape is scarcely to be found on record:—

"We embarked on the 2d of February, in the Fame, and sailed at day-light for England, with a fair wind and every prospect of a quick and comfortable passage. The ship was every thing we could wish, and having cleared my charge here much to my satisfaction, it was one of the happiest days of my life. We were, perhaps to happy, for in the evening came a sad reverse. Sophia had just gone to bed, and I had thrown off half my clothes, when a cry of Fire, fire! roused us from our calm content, and in five minutes the whole ship was in flames! I ran to examine whence the flames principally issued, and found that the fire had its origin immediately under our cabin. Down with the boats; where is Sophia? Here; the children are a rope to the side; lower Lady Raffles—give her to me you can't. I'll take her myself, the Captain. Throw the gunpowder overboard, it cannot be got at; it is in the magazine, close to the fire! Stand clear of the powder. Skuttle the water casks.—Water! water!! Where's Sir Stamford? Come into the boat, Nelson! Nelson! come in to the boat. Push off; push off, stand clear of the after part of the ship

"All this passed much quicker than I can write it; we pushed off, and as we did so, the flames were bursting from our Cabins, and the whole of the after part of the ship was in flames; the masts and sails now taking fire, we moved to a distance, sufficient to avoid the immediate explosion, but the flames were now now coming out of the main hatchway, and seeing the rest of the crew, with the Captain, &c still on board, we pulled back to her under the bows, so as to be most distant from the powder. As we approached we perceived that the people from on board were getting into another boat on the opposite side; she pushed off, we hailed her, have you all on board? Yes, all save one. Who is he? Johnson, sick in his cot. Can we save him? No, impossible; the flames were then issuing from the hatchway; at this moment the poor fellow, scorched, I imagine by the flames, roused out most lustily, having ran up on deck. I will go for him says the Captain. The two boats then came together, and we took out some of the persons from the Captain's boat, which was overladen. He then pulled under the bowsprit of the ship, and picked the poor fellow up. Are you all safe? Yes, we've got the man; all safe, thank God; pulled off from the ship; keep your eye on a star, Sir Stamford; there's one barely visible.

"We then hauled close to each other, and found the Captain fortunately had a compass, but we had no light but from the ship. Our distance from Benecolen we estimated to be from 20 to 30 miles in a S.W. direction, there being no landing place to the northward of Benecolen, which, except a few native proas, is entirely unfrequented. We accordingly bore away, and steered N.W. and by N. in order to get into the track of ships from port. The Captain then undertook to lead, and we to follow in a N.N.E course as well as we could. No chance, no possibility being left that we could again approach the ship, for she was now one splendid flame fore and aft and aloft, her masts and sails in a blaze, and rocking to and fro, threatening to fall in every instant. There goes her mizen-mast; pull away, my boys; there goes the gunpowder, thank God!

"You may judge of our situation without further particulars; the alarm was first given at about 20 minutes past eight and in less than ten minutes she was in flames; there was not a moment to go on board at half-past eight, and in less than ten minutes afterwards she was one grand mass of fire.

"My only apprehension was the want of boats to hold the people, as there was not time to have got out a long boat, or make a raft, all we had to rely upon were two small boats, which fortunately were lowered without accident, and in these two small open boats, without a drop of water or a grain of food, or a rag of covering, except what we happened at the moment to have on our backs, we embarked on the wide ocean, thankful to God for his mercies. Poor Sophia having been taken out of her bed, had nothing on but a wrapper, neither shoes nor stockings; the children were just taken out of bed, whence one had been snatched after the flames had attacked it. In short there was not time for any one to think of more than two things. Can the ship be saved? No; let us save ourselves then; all else was swallowed up in one great ruin.

"To make the best of our misfortune, we availed ourselves of the light from the ship. After a tolerably good course towards the shore; she continued to burn till about midnight, when the last pair, of which she had 250 tons on board, took fire, and sent up one of the most splendid and brilliant flames that was ever seen illuminating the horizon in every direction, to an extent of no less than fifty miles, and casting that kind of blue light over us, which is, of all others, most luridly horrible. She burnt and continued to flame in this style for about an hour or two, when we lost sight of the object in a cloud of smoke.

"Neither Nelson, nor Mr. Bell, our medical friend, who had accompanied us, had saved their coats, the tail of mine, with a pocket handkerchief, served to keep Sophia's feet warm; and we made breeches for the children with our neckcloths. Rain now came on, but fortunately it was not of long continuance, and we got dry again—the night became serene and starlight. We were now certain of our course, and the men behaved manfully—they rowed incessantly, and with good heart and spirit, and never did poor mortals look out more for day-light and for land than we did. Both that our sufferings or grounds of complaint were any thing to what has often fallen to others, but from Sophia's delicate health, as well as my own, and the stormy nature of our Coast, I felt perfectly convinced we were unable to undergo starvation, and exposure to the sun and weather many days, and, aware of the rapidity of the currents, I feared we might fall to the southward of the port.

"At day light we recognized the Coast and Rat Island, which gave us great spirits, and though we found ourselves much to the southward of the port, we considered ourselves almost home. Sophia had gone through the night better than could have been expected, and we continued to propel on with our strength. About eight or nine o'clock we saw a ship standing to us from the Roads; they had seen the flame on shore, and sent out vessels in all directions to our relief, and here certainly came a Minister of Providence, in the character of a Minister of the Gospel, for the first person I recognized was one of our Missionaries. They gave us a bucket of water, and we took the captain on board as a pilot. The wind, however, was adverse, and we could not reach the shore, and took to the ship, where we got some refreshment, and shelter from the sun. By this time, Sophia was quite exhausted, fainting continually. About two o'clock we landed safe and sound, and no words of mine can do justice to the expression of feeling, sympathy, and kindness, with which we were hailed by every one. If any proof had been wanting that my administration had been satisfactory, here we had it more equivocally from all; there was not a dry eye, and as we drove back to our former home, loud was the cry of 'God be praised' from every mouth. I myself only said, that we are now greatly recovered, in good spirits, and busy at work in getting ready made clothes for present use. We went to bed at three in the afternoon, and I did not awake till at this morning. Sophia has nearly as sound a sleep, and with the exception of a bruise or two, and a little pain in the bones from fatigue, we have nothing to complain of.

"The property which I have lost, on the most moderate estimate cannot be less than £20,000. I might almost say £30,000. But the loss which I have to regret beyond all, is my papers and drawings; all my papers, of every description, including my notes and observations, with memoirs and collections, sufficient for a full and ample history, not only of Sumatra, but of Borneo, and every other Island in these Seas; my intended account of the Establishment at Singapore; the history of my own Administration; grammars, dictionaries and vocabularies; and last, not least, a grand map of Sumatra, on which I had been employed since my first arrival here, and on which, for the last six months, I had bestowed almost my whole undivided attention; this, however, was not all—all my collection in natural history, and my splendid collection of drawings, upwards of a thousand in number, with all the valuable papers and notes of my friends Arnold and Jack; and to conclude, I will merely notice, that there was scarce an unknown animal, bird, beast, or fish, or an interesting plant, which we had not on board. A living tapir, a new species of tiger, splendid pheasants, &c. &c. all domesticated for the voyage. We were, in short, in this respect, a perfect Noah's Ark—All, all has perished; but, thank God, our lives have been spared, and we do not repine.

"Our plan is to get another ship as soon as possible, and I think you may still expect us in July. There is a chance of a ship, called the Lady Flora, touching here on her way home, and then I shall embark in her. Should she not be procured, we must look out, and take us home, as I have a Captain and crew at command."

Domestic.

The Canadian Company.—Friday last (6th August) the Canadian Company was finally formed in London, and directors appointed; we have seen a prospectus of this great Colonial undertaking, and we rejoice to see that at last, a proper direction is about to be given to British Capital. Under the auspices of this company, the poor emigrant, on his arrival in Canada, will, hereafter find suitable employment; and persons possessed of a small capital which from the circumstances of the country can hardly be made productive here, will find an asylum ready prepared for their reception, without encountering those numerous difficulties which have so often wrecked the means and broken the hearts of first settlers. What profit may ultimately result to the shareholders is not the question that we consider, but the good that this important systematic improvement in Colonial policy seems well calculated to ensure.

Communication.—We understand that the Surveyor General has just completed the first division of his Tour of Inspection:—embracing the Ottawa District, inclusive of the whole of the Townships situated North of that River. The indefatigable diligence and perseverence displayed in discharging this arduous part of his public duty, entitles him to the unqualified praise of every well wisher to the prosperity and Landed Interests of the Country. The varied and extensive fund of important information he has collected relative to the actual resources of the numerous settlers—the numerical strength of their families—present state of their improvements—number of five stock appertaining to each individual or head of family, state of their dwellings, roads, and other highly useful observations connected with the progressive agricultural improvements of the colony, will doubtless when completed afford the Government a more faithful picture of its rising energies than has ever before been given or attempted; and it is presumed that the advantages which are likely to accrue from this laborious and minute survey will not be confined to the Townships, but many of the seigniora will reap immense benefit thereby. The pleasing manners and deportment of this public officer and the general interest he took in the numerous investigations he had to make relative to the claims of the settlers, created a spontaneous feeling of satisfaction, and he was every where received with marked respect and hospitality. A numerous body of horsemen, chiefly freeholders of the Chats settlement and North River, escorted him in procession to the village of St. Andrews, where he delivered an appropriate speech and received the congratulations of the multitude assembled.

A circumstance occurred in the course of his Tour not altogether unworthy of record. In one of the new Scotch settlements, a venerable looking North Briton presented him with the identical silver cup which in olden time contained the libations of the renowned Rob Roy McGregor, and had been preserved as a sort of heir loom by the descendents of the family of this far famed Chieftain; and although perhaps not possessing all the mystic qualities attributed to the celebrated one already so well known by the title of the Blessed Bear of Bradwardine, yet, was probably not less esteemed as a valuable antique curiosity.—Courant.

St Andrews. September 13th, 1824.

PRINTED BY CHARLES FOTHERGILL
GAZETTE OFFICE.

Upper Canada Gazette.

New Series.

VOL. III. YORK U. C. THURSDAY, OCTOBER 14th, 1824. No. XLII.

By AUTHORITY.

UPPER CANADA.

P. MAITLAND,
Lieut. Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

TO our Beloved and Faithful Legislative Counsellors of our Province of Upper Canada; and to our Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses of our said Province, to our Provincial Parliament at our Town of York, on the Sixteenth Day of September instant, to be Commenced, Held, Called and Elected, and to every of you—GREETING:

WHEREAS, by our Proclamation bearing date the Second Day of August last, We thought fit to Prorogue our Provincial Parliament to the Sixteenth day of September instant, at which time at our Town of York, you are held and constrained to appear, NOW KNOW YE, that We taking into our Royal consideration the ease and convenience of our loving Subjects, have thought fit by and with the advice of our Executive Council, to relieve you and each of you of your attendance at the time aforesaid, hereby convoking, and by these presents enjoining you and each of you, that on Monday, the Twenty Fifth Day of October, next ensuing, you meet Us, in our Provincial Parliament, in our Town of York, there to take into consideration the state and welfare of our Province of Upper Canada, and therein to do as may seem necessary, and herein fail not.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed.—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces in North America, at York, this Tenth day of Sept. in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty-four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign.

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,
JNO. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.
D. CAMERON, Secretary.

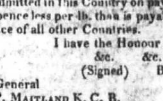
Government House,
York, Sept. 22nd, 1824.

A Despatch of which the following is a Copy, has been received by His EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, from His MAJESTY'S Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies.



Downing Street,
June, 1824.

SIR,

Having referred to the consideration of the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade, your Despatch of the 5th February 1824 transmitting an Address of the two Houses of the Provincial Legislature of Upper Canada, relative to the duties on Tobacco, I have now the honour to acquaint you that by an Act which has been very recently passed, 5 Geo. 4 Chap. 43 Sec. 15 Tobacco the produce of His Majesty's Territories in Canada, will from and after the 5th July next, be admitted in this Country on payment of a duty of three pence less per lb. than is payable on Tobacco the Produce of all other Countries.

I have the Honour to be,
&c. &c. &c.
(Signed) BATHURST.

Major General
SIR P. MAITLAND K. C. B.
&c. &c. &c.

Upper Canada.

P. MAITLAND,

PROCLAMATION:

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come—GREETING:

WHEREAS by Proclamation bearing date the Fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventeen, our trusty and well beloved FRANCIS GORE Esquire, late our Lieutenant Governor of our Province of Upper Canada, by and with the advice of the Executive Council thereof, and by virtue of the Authority in him vested in that behalf, did declare and appoint the Port of Frenchtown, otherwise commonly called the Port of Bath, within the Midland District of this Province, to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for all Goods and Merchandize, not being entirely prohibited and for the payment of all Duties, liable to be paid on all Goods and Merchandize brought into this Province from the United States of America

AND WHEREAS by a certain Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the Third Year of our Reign, entitled, "An Act to Regulate the Trade of the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, and for other purposes relating to the said Provinces," it is among other things Enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the Governor Lieutenant Governor, or person Administering the Government of either of our said Provinces respectively, by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council thereof for the time being, from time to time to diminish or increase, by Proclamation, the number of Ports of places, which then were, or thereafter might be, appointed in such Province for the Entry of Goods, Wares, and Commodities, imported from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS it appears expedient for the avoiding expense in the Collection of our Revenue, that the said Port of Brockville should no longer be a Port of Entry and Clearance.—NOW KNOW YE, that by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of our Province of Upper Canada, We have thought fit to declare, and do hereby declare, that from and after the date of this our Proclamation, the said Port of Brockville shall cease to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the purposes aforesaid, and shall be and remain, as if the said Proclamation here inbefore recited, had appointing the same to be a Port of Entry and Clearance, had never been made.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed.—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K.C.B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York this Twentieth day of March, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign. P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,
D. CAMERON, Secretary.
JNO. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

Government House,
October 6th, 1824.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR has been pleased to appoint GEORGE S. TIFFANY, Gent. to be a Deputy Land Surveyor in this Province.

Crown Office, York,
July 15th, 1824.

EASTERN CIRCUIT, 1824.
Mr. JUSTICE CAMPBELL.

Assizes, at Cornwall on	Monday	9th Aug.
Do	Perth,	do	23rd do
Do	Brockville,	do	6th Sept.
Do	Kingston,	do	20th do

HOME CIRCUIT.
Mr. JUSTICE BOULTON.

Do	Niagara,	Wednesday	4th Augt.
Do	Newcastle,	do.	6th Oct.
Do	York,	do	19th do

WESTERN CIRCUIT.
CHIEF JUSTICE.

Do	Sandwich,	Wednesday	18th Augt.
Do	Vittoria,	Monday	30th do
Do	Gore,	Wednesday	8th Sept.

No. 29—t. f.

PUBLIC NOTICE

HOME DISTRICT, TO WIT. IS HEREBY GIVEN, that a Court of Oyer and Terminer, and General Gaol delivery, and of Assize and Nisi Prius, will be holden at the Court House in the town of York, in & for the said District, on Monday the Eighteenth day of October next ensuing, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon of the same day, of which all Justices of the Peace, Coroners, Gaolers, Bailiffs, and Constables, and those otherwise concerned are desired to take notice, that they may be respectively then and there present, with their Rolls, Records, and other Remembrances, to do and perform all those things which to their several Offices belong.

SAMUEL RIDOUT,
Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office York,
30th September 1824. 41—2w.

GLEBES.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in Council, having taken into consideration the system hitherto practised, of Granting Licences of Oc

ocupation for GLEBE LANDS, is pleased to Order, that in future the Glebes in the several Townships, with the exception of One Lot in each Township, for the accommodation of the Incumbent, shall be Leased on the same terms as Clergy Reserves

NOTICE is therefore given to those Persons who hold Licences of Occupation for any of the said Glebe Lots, that the same will not be Renewed; and unless they do make application, by Petition, for Leases in the usual manner, through the medium of the Corporation for superintending the Clergy Reserves, before the Twenty-ninth day of September next ensuing, the Lots so held by Licence of Occupation will be Leased to other applicants.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk Ex. Coun,

Executive Council Office, {
York, 29th April, 1824. } 19–tf.

Executive Council Office {
York, 14th April, 1824. }

NOTICE is hereby given, to Jabez Johnson, or his Representative, to make good any claim he may have to Lot Number Two, in the Seventh Concession of the Township of Louth, in the District of Niagara within six months from this date, in default of which, the Lot will be otherwise disposed of.

By order of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor in Council.

JOHN SMALL.
Cl'k. Ex'v. Council. 17—6m.

Executive Council Chamber, {
York, 31st January, 1824. }

PRESENT,

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
IN COUNCIL.

HIS Majesty's Government having recently extended their assistance to the class of Emigrants, which it was intended to relieve by gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres of Land, in conveying them to their respective locations;

IT IS ORDERED, that from the first day of May next, no gratuitous Grants be made of any quantity of Land to other than privileged persons.—And that as the Fee on Two Hundred Acres was raised, in order to defray the gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres the consideration failing, the future Fee on Two Hundred Acres is reduced to Eight Pounds Four Shilling and One Penny Sterling, the existing Fee before 1819, and the Fee on all other Grants, in Townships Surveyed since that time, to be the same as established by the Order in Council, of 5th January, 1819.

N. B. Possessors of gratuitous Grants for Fifty Acres, may, by paying the Fee on One Hundred Acres, receive a Grant of the adjoining Fifty Acres if vacant.

JOHN SMALL,
Cl'k. Ex'v. Council.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL CHAMBER, {
AT YORK, 26th JAN. 1824. }
PRESENT;
HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
In Council.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR submitted to the consideration of the Board, the Sheriffs' Reports of their respective Gaols, together with other Documents relating to a Winter Circuit, by which it appeared that the House of Assembly had addressed His Excellency to that effect, for this Session only; and obviously for the Delivery of the Gaols in the several Districts.

THE limitation of such a measure to one season seeming to militate with the Provision of the Law, that when the Communication from the Seat of Government admitted, and the circumstances of the Province required, there should be a regular Second Circuit, the Board would prefer to recommend that Special Commissions to deliver particular Gaols should issue where requisite; but, as the respective Reports from the Sheriffs do not, in the opinion of the Board, require any personal interposition, His Excellency, with advice of the Council, postpones a Second Circuit until the circumstances of the Province more decidedly require it.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Executive Council.

Executive Council Office, {
York, February 7th 1821. }

WHEREAS it has been represented, that many persons who have received Locations of Land, have, from Sickness, and other legitimate causes, been unable to fulfil the Settlement Duty, in the time required by the Location Ticket, and have neglected to apply to His Excellency in Council for an extension of the period, for performance of such duty.

BE IT KNOWN that the period for completing the Settlement Duty, is hereby extended to Two Years from the date of Locations until further notice shall be given.

JOHN SMALL. Cl'k Ex. Coun.

WHEREAS by the Tenor of the Location Tickets a Certificate is required to be lodged of the Settlement Duty being done within two Years, or that the said Location should be forfeited, and in case of Locations not gratuitous, that one third of the Patent Fee be lodged with such Certificate; AND WHEREAS it is represented, that in many instances, Certificates of performance of the Settlement Duty, have been withheld from the inability of the settler to deposit such proportion of the Patent Fee, it is deemed expedient to relieve the settler from forfeiture of his location, when he may actually have performed his settlement duty—Notice is hereby given that in all cases where Settlement Duty has been performed within the limited period, the settler shall, on filing Certificate thereof within six Months of this date, be exempted from forfeiture notwithstanding the non-payment therewith of such portion of the Patent Fee, provided the Patent is sued out within One Year from the filing of such Certificate.

And further; His Excellency, in the hope of avoiding the necessity of rescinding any of the Militia grants, is pleased to direct this Public Notification; that all Lands granted to Militia Men, upon which the Settlement Duties shall not have been performed within the limited period, will in pursuance of general instructions given to the Surveyor General in all similar cases, be declared vacant, and will be granted within Six Months after the expiration of that period, to the first applicant, unless the Original Nominee, shall before such subsequent application, have lodged a Certificate of his having performed the Settling Duties.

JOHN SMALL, Clk. Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office, {
York, 7th Nov. 1821. }

WHEREAS it has become expedient to establish a line of communication through certain remote Townships, for encouragement thereof, Grants will be made to actual Settlers in the Townships hereinafter named on the condition of Settling within two years from the date of the Location, at the reduced Scale of 5th January, 1819, viz.

A Township North of Mariposa, advertised from the Surveyor General's Office on the 19th of October, as

	Zeta, to be called	Eldon
N. of Epe		Fenelon
N. of Emily advertised as	Emir	Verulam
N. of Smith	Lake	Harvey
E. of do,		Douro
N. of Asphodel	Alma	Dummer
N. of Seymour	Mora	Belmont
N. of Dummer	Yea	Burleigh
N. of Marmora	Ninia	Lake
N. of Madoc		Tudor
N. of Ebezever	No	Grimsthorpe
N. of Kaladar	Aye	Anglesea
N. of Kennebec	Jus	Barrie
N. of Norma	Oiden	Clarendon
N. of Oso	Et	Palmerston
N. of Belmont	Carlos	Methuen

JOHN SMALL, C. E. C.

Government House, 6th March, 1820.

HIS Excellency the Lieutenant Governor is pleased to direct that no Location requiring Settlement Duty shall be Confirmed by Patent, without a Certificate from the Land Board of the District in which such Location may be situate, that the Settlement Duty required by the Order in council has bona fide been performed within the time specified by the Location Ticket.

JOHN SMALL Clk. C.

To Militia Pensioners, Notice

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that Payment of Militia Pensions for the year 1824, will commence from this date.
Militia Pension Office, York, 15th July, 1824.
EDWD. M'MAHON.
30.—13 w. Agent for Paying Militia Pensions

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Eastern District, {
To wit. } BY Virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the Lands and tenements of Richard Loucks, at the Suit of John Richardson, John Forsyth, and Alexander Thain, I have seized and taken in execution, Lot number 35, and East half of Lot number 36 in the Front or First Concession of the Township of Osnabruck, containing 300 Acres, with a good frame Dwelling House and Barn with Stables and Out Houses thereon erected, and about 80 Acres of which are well improved and in the highest state of cultivation.—Also Lots number 35, and half of 36 in the Second Concession of the said Township of Osnabruck, containing likewise 300 Acres All which I will sell at Public Auction at the Court House in the Town of Cornwall, on Monday the Twenty Ninth day of November next ensuing, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for Cash.

DONALD McDONELL,
Sheriff, E. D.

Sheriff's Office, Cornwall {
September 22nd, 1824. }

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above mentioned Property by Mortgage, or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office, previous to the day of Sale.

42—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Eastern District {
To Wit } BY Virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Henry Barnhart, at the Suit of William Blackburn and Francois A. Larogue, I have seized and taken in execution Lot number 15 on the South side of Front Street, in the Town Plot of Cornwall, with a good Frame Dwelling House thereon erected.—Also, the North half of Lot number 18 in the Front or First Concession of the Township of Cornwall containing One Hundred Acres more or less.

All which I will sell at Public Auction at the Court House in the Town of Cornwall, in the said District, on Monday the Twenty Ninth day of November next ensuing, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to the highest bidder for Cash.

DONALD McDONELL,
Sheriff, E. D.

Sheriff's Office, Cornwall {
September 22nd, 1824 }

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any Claim on the above Property, my Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my office previous to the day of sale. 42—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Eastern District {
To Wit. } BY Virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the Lands and Tenements of John Loucks, at the Suit of John Forsyth, John Richardson and Alexander Thair, I have seized and taken in Execution as belonging to the said John Loucks, Lots number 3, 4, and East half of number 5 in the Fourth Concession of the Township of Osnabruck, containing 400 Acres, with a good Frame Dwelling House and Barn, with out-houses, and a Saw and Grist Mill thereon erected. All which I will sell at Public Auction at the Court House in the Town of Cornwall, on Monday the Twenty Ninth day of November next ensuing, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to the highest bidder for Cash only.

DONALD McDONELL,
Sheriff, E. D.

Sheriff's Office, Cornwall {
September 22nd, 1824 }

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any Claim on the above Property, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office previous to the day of Sale. 42—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Newcastle District, {
to wit. } BY virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of Kings Bench, and to the Sheriff of the Newcastle District directed, against the Lands and Tenements of David McGregor Rogers Esq. at the suit of John Strachan, Thomas A. Dobbs, and Thomas H. Cartwright, Executors of the late Richard Cartwright, Esq. I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said David McGregor Rogers the following Lands, viz.

S. half of Lot No. 3 Broken Front, A.
Lot No. 3 do. do. B.	}	330 Acres.
Lot No. 3 do. do. C.
Lot No. 23 2 Concession,		200 do.
Lot No. 26 3 do		200 do.

of the Township of Haldimand, in the county of Northumberland, which Property I shall offer for sale at Public Auction, at the Inn now occupied by Mr. N. W. Mack, in the village of Coburg, on the ninth day of February next at 12 o'clock, at noon.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff,
By EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above described Premises, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber, on or before the day of Sale.

NOTE.—The sale of the above Lots, No. 3, Concession A., B., and C., is postponed until the 5th day of October next at the same place and hour.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
BY EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Cobourg, {
2d September, 1824. } 14—1d.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District {
to wit. } ON Wednesday the 13th day of November next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands, and tenements, as belonging to Thomas Chittle, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of William Usher—viz:

All that part of Town Lot No. 6 in Barriefield, laid out on Lot No. 21, East side of the great river Cataraque, Pittsburgh, containing of an Acre and five Perches, with the exception of a piece of thirty six feet square, from the North East Corner of the same.

N. B. Any person or persons having claims on the above Lands, or upon any part of them by Mortgage, or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Kingston, July 13th, 1824. 40—1 d.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, {
To Wit: } ON Saturday the 18th day of December next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, all the right, title, claim and interest of Wm. Bayard Smyth, of Kingston, to the following Town Lots, with the buildings thereon erected, seized by virtue of a Writ of Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at the suit of C. A. Hagerman, Esq viz:—Lot No 110, and the North West half of Lot No. 107, in the Town of Kingston, containing three tenths of an acre.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above property, or upon any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff, M. D.

Kingston, Sept. 14th, 1824.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

District of London {
To Wit. } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of John W. McIntire at the suit of Thomas Cooper, I have taken in execution the following land which I will offer for sale at the Court House in Vittoria, on Saturday the 6th of November now next, viz:—Lot No. 21 & 22 and the West half of Lot No. 23 in the Second Concession of the Township of Zora, containing Five Hundred Acres of Excellent Land, Sale to commence at one o'clock.

A. A. RAPELJE,
Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office {
Sept. 13th, 1824 }

N. B. Any person or persons having any legal claims either by mortgage or any other right of incumbrance will make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

A. A. R.
40—1. d.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

District of London {
To Wit. } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of John Bostwick, at the suit of Messrs. Cross & Fisher, I have taken in execution as the Property of the said Bostwick, Lot No. seven in the second Concession of the Township of Woodhouse, said Lot is situated in a very flourishing part of said Township, about Fifty Acres of it proved Land, a good frame Barn &c.—said land I will offer for sale at the Court House, on Saturday the sixth day of November now next, at one o'clock P. M.

A. A. RAPLEJE,
Sheriff L. D.

Sheriff's Office, {
Sept. 13th, 1824 }

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any legal claims either by Mortgage or any other right of incumbrance on the abovestated Premises will make the same known to me before the day of Sale.

A A R
40—1d.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT
FOR BEEF.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that Tenders will be received at the Commissariat Office, at York, from Persons who may be willing to furnish the Royal Naval Establishment at Penetanguishine, with such quantities as may be required of

FRESH BEEF,

for Twelve Months; commencing the 1st of January, 1825, and ending the 31st of December following.

Sealed Tenders to be delivered into this Office by the 12th of November at noon. No Tender will be noticed, unless the Party and his Sureties, or an Agent on their behalf, attend at the opening of the Tenders, which must be endorsed Tenders for supplying the Royal Naval Establishment at Penetanguishine with Fresh Beef.

The Conditions of Contract, and other particulars, may be known on application at this Office.

F. T. BILLINGS.
D'y. Ass't. Com'y. General.

Commissariat Office, York, {
October 4th, 1824. } No: 41.—6w.

NOT OFFICIAL.

FIRE INSURANCE.

THE Sun Insurance Company of New York, having appointed George Crookshank, Esquire, their Agent in Upper Canada—he is ready to Insure against Loss or Damage by Fire, on Dwelling Houses, Stores, Merchandize, House hold Furniture, and other Personal Property; at moderate Rates of Premium.—Persons wishing to Insure must send a plan of their Buildings, when wanted out of the Town of York, a respectable reference will be required, and Letters Post Paid—Application to be made to

R. W. PRENTICE
York, 28th Sept. 1824. No. 39—t. f.

A LADY having lately arrived from England, and considering an opportunity presents for establishing a SEMINARY of respectability in Kingston, U. C. solicits the patronage of those Ladies who may feel disposed to place their daughters where the most useful and polite Branches of Education are taught, having been accustomed to the best established method of Tuition, she trust that an assiduous and unremitting attention to her Pupils and their Interests may ensure her success.

☞ For Cards of address and Terms, apply (if by letter, post paid,) to Mr. Henry Smith, King-street, Kingston, and to the office of this paper.

TO DISTILLERS & BREWERS.

ROBERT Todd Dean having made Chemistry the study of his life, and having for himself and others both in Scotland and Ireland, for sixteen years, conducted a Chemical Manufactory, (Testimonials of the most satisfactory kind can be produced from many respectable individuals to that effect) and having like others of his Countrymen come to Canada for the purpose of bettering his condition in life, finds himself so situated, now, as to be obliged to offer his services to persons engaged in the Brewing and Distilling business, both of which branches, together with the Manufactory of Cordials &c he professes, with all their late improvements, to perfectly understand.

Any Person desirous of having his savices by addressing a letter to him (post paid) to the care of Matthew Crooks Esq. Ancaster Upper Canada, may depend upon its meeting with a ready attention from

Signed,
R. T. DEAN.

N. B. Terms will be moderate, and such as will be within the reach of every one, doing even a moderate business, immediate employment is at object to,

R. T. D.
40—13w.

NOTICE.

THE Undersigned request that all Persons having any claim against the Estate of the late Neil Lamont, of the Township of Markham, deceased, will render their accounts to Francis Lee of the Township of York, and that all persons who are indebted to the said Estate, will make payment to the same person.

PETER WHITNEY, Administrator,
MARY WHITNEY, Administratrix.
York, Sept. 30th 1824. 40—3w.

TOWN LOTS IN PORT HOPE

SEVERAL valuable building Lots, in the flourishing village of Port Hope, are for Sale, by private Contract, on the most liberal Terms, and on a credit of several Years, provided the first instalment be paid dows. Either Produce or Manual Labour will be received, if desired, in Payment —For further particulars apply at the U. C. Gazette Office, York, or to Messrs. C. & J. Stowe, Merchants,—Port Hope.

No. 40.—t. f.

FARM TO LET IN MONAGHAN.

NEAR THE RICE LAKE AND RIVER OTONIBEE IN THE DISTRICT OF NEWCASTLE.

On very Advantageous Terms.

TO RENT, for a lease of three years, a good Log House erected, upon the Farm, which consists of 600 Acres.—The Terms, which are singularly advantageous to a labouring man with a family are these, —A Lease will be given for three years—on condition that the Tenant Clears and Fences from 5 to 10 Acres of new Land, and more if he is able, in each and every year of the Lease,—for which the Proprietor will pay at the rate of 12½ per Acre—besides allowing all the Crops—(except the Ashes)—to the Tenant.

The House stands on the margin of a running stream, and is within 1½ mile of a Grist and Saw Mill.

For further particulars, apply at the U. C. Gazette Office; or to George Ingle, Cavan.

VALUABLE LAND IN OTONIBEE,

FOR SALE ON A CREDIT OF YEARS.

ONE of the most valuable Lots in the beautiful Township of OTONIBEE, on the Rice Lake, consisting of two Hundred Acres, being Lot No. 10, in the Ninth Con. The quality of the Land is first rate, (Maple, Beech, Bass, Elm, and Oak.) It has a Log House, and some small improvements upon it, and is not quite a mile distant from the Rice Lake, and from the Town Plot.—It has also the advantage of being well watered by a Creek that never fails

Price, two dollars per Acre; and terms of payment, One Eighth at the time of concluding the bargain, and Seven Years Credit, by annual instalments with interest for the remainder, if desired —Inquire at the Gazette Office.

TO THE PUBLIC.

MR. THOMAS MILBURN.

BEGS LEAVE to acquaint the Gentry, and Inhabitants of York, and its Vicinity, generally—that he has just arrived from London direct with a Select Assortment of Gentlemen's Wearing Apparel;—consisting of Superfine Dress Coats, Vests, and Trousers;—Fustian Shooting Jackets and Trousers,—Round about Jackets;—Flushing Great Coats;—Fancy Waistcoats, &c. &c. &c. with a quantity of Hosiery, Haberdashery and Choice Cutlery.

This Assortment has been made with care and to suit the Canadian Market, and will be sold at low prices for CASH. The whole may be seen at the Store next to Mr. Wm. SMITH'S in King's Street, York.

York, September 15th, 1824. t. f

TO BE LET OR SOLD,

(And possession given at a short notice.)

THAT ELEGANT, and COMMODIOUS MANSION, Built, and lately occupied, by

A. N. McNABB, ESQUIRE.

Situated in King Street, East, about half way between the Don Bridge and Town of York.—With a Large GARDEN, Spacious Yard, and every necessary Out-Buildings,—containing altogether One Acre of Land.

The HOUSE is of Two Stories, besides the Ground Floor, and has the following Rooms and conveniences viz:— A PARLOR, DRAWING-ROOM, FOUR LODGING ROOMS, and DRESSING ROOM, STUDY, STORE-ROOM, SERVANTS-ROOM, KITCHEN, BACK KITCHEN, CELLAR, LOFT, &c. &c. &c. Water is conducted by Pipes into the KITCHEN, where are the necessary FIXTURES.

Amongst the Out Offices, are, Stables, Harness Room, Cow House, Coach and Cart House, Bake and Smoke House, &c. &c.

The Garden, which contains more than half an acre of Land, has been lately well stocked with various kinds of valuable Fruit-Trees.

For Terms, and further particulars, apply to the U. C. Gazette Office. t. f.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the EASTERN DISTRICT will at the next Session of the LEGISLATURE make application to be authorised to effect a Loan to enable them to erect a Gaol and Court House in the Town of Cornwall.

37—6m.

NOTICE.

AN APPLICATION will be made to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for an Act imposing a Tax on Dogs in the Town of York and its vicinity, the proceeds of which to be applicable to the police purposes.

By Order of the Magistrates in Adjourned General Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the Home District assembled on the 6th day of Sept. 1824.

(Signed,)

S. HEWARD.

Clk. Peace Home District.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the COUNTY of GLENGARY intend presenting a Petition to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Glengary and the Town of Cornwall alternately.

37—6m.

NOTICE.

THE Plan and Estimate of a STEAM BOAT, (to be Built by Mr. AMOS S ROBERTS) about One Hundred Tons Burthen, intended to Ply between this Port and Niagara, may be seen at this Office —Her Engine is intended to be of Twenty Five Horse Power. The whole Cost is estimated at Two Thousand Two Hundred and Five Pounds Currency. She is to be Built by Stock, made up of Shares, of Twenty Five Pounds each A few Shares are still wanting. Subscriptions for which will be received at this Office, and at the Office of the Niagara Gleaner, where Estimates and Conditions will be exhibited to those who wish to become Stockholders.

Gazette Office, York,
August 26th, 1824. } No. 35.—t. f.

NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the Co partnership heretofore existing between JOHN AND GEORGE MONRO, Merchants, of York, Upper Canada, was on the first instant dissolved by mutual consent —All persons indebted to the said firm are requested to pay the amount of their respective accounts to Mr. WILLIAM P. PATRICK of this Town, without delay, who is duly authorized to receive the same—and all persons to whom the said Co partnership stands indebted will present their accounts to him for adjustment.

JOHN MONRO,
GEORGE MONRO

York, 17th August, 1824. 34—tf.

FOR SALE.

LOT No. Two, in the First Concession of the Township of York, with the Broken Front, containing about Two Hundred and Forty Acres of Land.

Application to be made to

J. B. MACAULAY

York, 12th June, 1824. 25—t. f.

THE YORK ALMANACK,

AND

ROYAL CALENDAR

OF

UPPER-CANADA,

For the Year 1824.

Much Enlarged, and Improved from the Edition of last Year.

A FEW Copies of this Work being left on hand, may now be had at half the usual Price, on application at the U. C. Gazette Office, York.

August 26th. 1824. t. f.

NOTICE.

VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE.

VIZ:—

In the Township of Vaughan

Lots No. 22, 23. 24, in the 7th Con. and Broken Lot No. 5, in the 10th Concession. } 620 Acres.

Township of York

Lot No. 13, 5th Concession, and Broken Front West of Yonge Street on the Humber, West half of No. 15. in 2d Con. West of Yonge-St. } 380 Acres.

Township of Percy

Lot No. 20, in 3d Concession. } 400 Acres.
Lot No. 21, in 4th Ditto.

For particulars apply to Guy C. Wood, Esq. Cornwall, or the Subscriber in York:

R. G. ANDERSON.

19th July, 1824. 30—tf.

NOTICE.

ALL Persons indebted to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire, of Stamford, are requested to make immediate payment to the Subscriber at Vittoria, London District, and those having claims on the Estate, will be pleased to furnish him with their respective Accounts properly authenticated.

(Signed) WALTER NICHOL,

Administrator to the Estate of the Late ROBERT NICHOL, ESQUIRE

Niagara. 29th May, 1824.

NOTICE.

WANTED, for FOURTEEN YEARS, or not less than TEN, a LOAN of TWO THOUSAND POUNDS, Halifax Currency, for the building of a PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH of ENGLAND, in the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada.

The Subscriber is authorized to offer Efficient Legal Securities for the Repayment of the LOAN, at the end of the period, and for the Annual Payment of the Interes accumulating thereon, at Six per Cent. per annum.

(By Order of the Committee.)

GEORGE O'KILL STUART,

19—tf. SECRETARY, pro tem.

NOTICE.

FOR SALE, by private Contracts, the House and Lot lately occupied by Mr. O'Sullivan, Saddler, King's-Street, in the Town of York, the Lot is 26 feet fronting King's Street, by 112 feet deep.

Also.—A Lot adjoining the above on the West side, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—A Lot adjoining Mr. Duggan's, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—Three Lots on Stuarts Land, each 40, by 60 feet.

Should the above Property and Lots not be sold by Private Contract, the five last described Lots will be sold at Public Sale, on the first day of July ensuing.

Application for Terms of Sale, to be made to

ALEXANDER WOOD, ESQ.

YORK, 17th March, 1824. t.f.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Inhabitants of the Township of TOWNSEND intend Petitioning both Houses of the Provincial Legislature at its next Session, to pass a Law, Establishing a Line Surveyed in the year 1823, between the 12th and 13th Cons. of the said Township.

TOWNSEND, 20th
May, 1824. } No. 21—1 m. t. d.

THEATRE, YORK.

This Evening, (Thursday, October 14th.)

WILL BE PRESENTED

AT MR. PHAIRS' ASSEMBLY ROOM.

Kotzebue's Much Admired Tragedy of

PIZARRO, OR THE

DEATH OF ROLLA.

Atalliba, King of Quito,	Mr. Gilbert,
Rolla, Lord of the Peruvians,	Mr. Talbot,
Alonzo, ditto. ditto,	Mr. Talbot,
Orozembo,	Mr. Gilbert,
Almagro,	Mr. Trowbridge,
Pizarro, Leader of the Spaniards	Mr. Davis,
Valverde,	Mr. Archbold,
Elvira,	Mrs. Talbot,
Cora,	Mrs. Talbot,
Cora's Child	Master Talbot,

AFTER THE TRAGEDY THE FOLLOWING SONGS.

Comic Song—Bits & Scraps, . . Mr. Gilbert,
Comic Song . . . . . Mr. Talbot,

THE WHOLE TO CONCLUDE WITH THE MUSICAL OPERA OF THE PURSE,

OR THE BENEVOLENT TAR.

Baron,	Mr. Trowbridge
Theadore,	Mr. Davis,
Edmund,	Mr. Talbot,
Will Steady, (with Songs,)	Mr. Gilbert
Page, (with Songs)	Mrs. Talbot,
Sally	Miss Allen.

Tickets to be had at the U. C. Gazette Office, at the Bar of Mr Phairs' Tavern, and at the Steam Boat Hotel Boxes 3s 9d Back Seats 2s 6d Gallery Children half price Two Tickets will admit a Gentleman and Two Ladies

☞ Doors open at Six o'clock, and performance at Seven precisely

VALUABLE LANDED PROPERTY FOR SALE.

TWENTY SEVEN TOWN LOTS, slightly situated in the Village of Cobourg, in Hamilton, Upper Canada on one of which, a Store and Dwelling House are erected

Two Neat Small FARMS, contiguous to the above Village, containing, one, about Twenty-eight Acres the other, about Fifty Acres, with a House and other Buildings on each of them —A Plan of the above may be seen on application to Mr J. G. BETHUNE, Cobourg, (who will shew the Premises,) or to the Subscriber

Two TOWN LOTS in Picardville, adjoining to the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada, with Houses and other Buildings thereon, being Lots No. 21 and 22.

200 Acres of Land being No. 1, 8th Con. of Murray.
200 do do being No. 4, 4th do of Hungerford.
200 do do being No. 1, 8th do of Winchester.
200 do do being No. 24, 8th do of Mountain.
200 do do being the West halves of No. 31 and 32 in the 2d Concession of Hawkesbury.

Liberal Terms of Payment will be granted.

For particulars apply to

FRS. ANT. LAROQUE.

N. B. The above mentioned Town Lots in the flourishing Village of Cobourg, and the two adjoining Farms, will be disposed of by Public Sale, in the said Village on the 24th May next.

F. A. L. R.

MONTREAL, 15th March, 1824. t. f.

INTERESTING NOTICE.

THE Surveyor General begs leave to inform the Public, that he has obtained the permission of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, to publish a of the Province, on a large Scale. It is to be engraved in London, in the best style, and will be ready for delivery in a few months.

CORRECT MAP

This information, the Surveyor General thinks it necessary to make, in order to prevent those persons, who are desirous of having an authentic MAP of UPPER CANADA, from being imposed upon by a Surreptitious Copy, said to be on the eve of Publication.

Surveyor General's Office,
York, 2d April, 1823. } 14—tf

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the County of Prince Edward, in the Midland District, intend Petitioning the Legislature, at the next Session thereof, to have the said County set off, and made into a separate District from the said Midland District, and to be called the District of Maitland. No. 24—6ms.

THE

Canadian Annual Register.

UNDER THE PATRONAGE OF HIS EXCELLENCY,

SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

To whom the Work is Dedicated by Permission.

AS the Projector and Editor of this Great National Work is confident of its ultimate success, if but a moderate share of encouragement is given to its outset,—he takes this opportunity of requesting those Agents of this Paper who have received the names of any Subscribers to the Work to transmit them, together with their address, without delay, to the U. C. Gazette Office, in order that they may be added to those already received in the larger Prospectus about to be issued.

The names and residences of the earliest patronage this Great Undertaking, will be published, alphabetically arranged, in the first volume of the work, as a perpetual record of their liberality, public spirit, and sound patriotism.

It is again repeated, that no money will be demanded, until the work, which will not exceed the price of the meanest newspaper, is delivered.

A New Type is ordered from Great Britain expressly for this work.

U. C. Gazette Office,
November 20, 1823. }

TIMBER WANTED AT BURLINGTON BEACH.

OFFERS will be received until the 10th day of July next, by the Contractor, at Burlington Beach. —Also—by FRANCIS HALL, Engineer, Queenston, for delivering at the works—the following quantities of round and square

TIMBER.

50,000 Lineal Feet of White Oak Timber, Foot Square; in Length varying from 22 to 33 Feet,

37,490 Lineal Feet of 3 Inch White Oak Plank; 18 Inches in width—in Length varying from 12 to 33 Feet

36,400 Lineal Feet of Pine Timber, 12 Inches in diameter—in Length varying from 12 to 33 Feet.

Burlington Beach, June 22d. 1824

No. 28—t. f.

TERMS

OF THE U. C. GAZETTE AND WEEKLY REGISTER.

FOUR DOLLARS per annum (Postage included) payable half yearly in advance. Three months notice is required previous to the discontinuance of any Subscription.

PRICE OF ADVERTISING,

Six lines and under, two shillings and six pence, and sevenpence half penny, every subsequent insertion.

Six to ten lines, five shillings, and one shilling and threepence subsequently.

All exceeding ten lines, four pence per line for the first insertion, and one penny subsequently.—Rule and Figure work charged Double —A discount of 25 per cent. allowed to those who advertise by the year —Advertisements cannot be received after 3 o'clock on the Wednesday afternoon, immediately preceding the day of Publication—Advertisements unaccompanied with positive directions as to the exact number of insertions to be given them, will be continued until expressly forbidden,—or until the day of Sale (if alluding to Sales) and charged accordingly.

☞ Advertisements from the Country must be post paid, with the price of insertion; or, a reference in Town who will pay when demanded, or discontinued.

☞ Any Agent obtaining 3 Subscribers has a paper for him self at half price;—if he obtains 6, he has his own paper gratis;—and, for as many as he obtains above 6, he will receive, besides his own paper, a Commission of 5 per cent. upon the whole amount.

BLANK DEEDS AND MEMORIALS

For Sale at this Office.

WEEKLY REGISTER.

VOL. III. Our endeavour will be to "stamp the very body of the time—its form and pressure"—we shall extenuate nothing, nor shall we set down aught in malice. No. 42.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 14th, 1824.

SELECTIONS FROM BRITISH AND FOREIGN JOURNALS.

LONDON. Aug. 16.

Awful and Sudden Death —Yesterday, L'Abbee Papillon, one of the Chief Priests of the French Chapel, George street, Portman Square, was preaching to his Excellency Prince Polignac, the French Ambassador and Suite, and a numerous congregation he was observed by his Excellency to stoop in the middle of his discourse, in a very extraordinary position, for above a minute. His Excellency became alarmed, and ordered one of his attendants to request Mr. Cheny, Chief Chaplain, to ascend the pulpit, when, to the inexpressible terror, he found the Reverend Prelate on the point of expiring. Immediate aid was given by Mr. Coyle, Surgeon, of Welbeck street, and Mr. Dissington of York Street, but before they could reach the vestry the vital spark had fled. The deceased was of mild and amiable manners, and was particularly noticed by the present French Monarch and all the Royal Family. The subject of his discourse at the awful moment was very peculiar—the following is the substance of the words he has delivered:—"How precious is our time in this world, for we are not sure at what moment we may be summoned before the Throne of the Almighty, to account for our actions here."

The Princess Polignac and the whole congregation were deeply affected at the loss of their much esteemed pastor. He was in his 79th year. An inquest will be held on the body at the Chapel.

Radical Hunt —Water finds its level. Hunt, the reformer, has turned blacking manufacturer, and now advertises his PATENT POLISH.

Home Land better than Wild!—A quantity of Garden Ground at Watford, in Hertfordshire, about 14 miles from London, was lately sold for the astonishing sum of £1,500 per acre.

ROSES AT CHRISTMAS.—Now that roses are budding and blooming is the time to lay by a treat for Christmas: select from your rose trees such buds as are just ready to blow; tie a piece of thin bread round the stalk of each; do not handle the bud or the stalk; cut it from the tree with the stalk two or three inches in length; melt sealing wax, and quickly apply it to the end of the stalk; the wax should be only so warm as to be ductile; form a piece of paper into a cone like shape, wherein place the rose; screw very close to the stalk the air. Do so by each; put them all into a box, and the box into a drawer, all which is intended to keep them free from air. On Christmas day, or any other day in winter, take them out, cut off the ends of the stalks, place them in a flower pot or bottle, with luke warm water; or, if in a heated room, the water may be cold; in two or three hours they will blow as in the meridian of summer, retaining all their fragrance.—Economist.

A Comfortable Estate!—The Duke of Buccleugh now 18 years of age, having been several years at Eton College, is soon to enter at Oxford. On coming of age, he will succeed to two Dukedoms, those of Buccleugh and Queensbury, and the Earldom of Doncaster. It is also said he is the direct descendant of the unfortunate Duke Monmouth, and that he has a just claim to that ancient title. The estate to which the Duke of Buccleugh succeeds, at the same time, is probably the largest landed property in the United Kingdom, being a rental of £100,000 a year in Scotland, and (on the death of an old Lady), a nearly equal amount in England.

MR. GOURLAY.

The following respecting Mr. Gourlay is from the John Bull:—

The next piece of—what we hardly know—oppression or cruelty which has been displayed, is the case of Mr. Gourlay. Mr. Gourlay, at the suit of the Government, has been committed to Cold Bath fields Prison for being mad—which he is not. No man ever said Mr. Gourlay was mad till now:—we have always opposed him while he was at liberty, because we dislike his political principles, and had enough evidence of his conduct in Canada to pronounce him a troublesome person. At that time, nobody said he was mad—the Opposition papers praised him to the skies; he was the theme for their essays—the burden of their songs; but now, not one of these worthies espouses his cause—not one of them utters a complaint at his present treatment.

Mr. Gourlay has been sentenced to madness by Dr. Munro and Dr. Tootle, and therefore he is to be confined in Cold Bath fields Prison until he comes to his senses again, or can find bail—and this we find is the law, and that the Government can confine any man alledged to be mad in a similar manner—a fact of which we were certainly not previously aware; but what is the real meaning of the thing?—Mr. Gourlay horsewhipped Mr. Brougham—in order to make the thing easy and favourable to that Honourable and Learned Gentleman, the Opposition consent to abandon poor Gourlay to his fate—and in order to show a spirit of liberality and conciliation the Government, on the other hand, insist upon their right to incarcerate him.

Mr. Gourlay has forwarded to us a memorial addressed to the Magistrates, full of power and truth, but containing too much irrelevant matter, and occupying too much space to be inserted here—we ask, however, in his own words, "why should he be twice punished for the same offence?" The House of Commons, as became its dignity, inflicted a punishment, not for horsewhipping Mr. Brougham, but for creating a disturbance in the precincts of their Honourable House—while in confinement there, Mr. Gourlay was visited by doctors from Bedlam to ascertain whether he was mad, which no human being before ever said he was—they report that he is mad, and hints are given to him that he may walk out whenever he pleases—these he very properly rejects, and stays in custody as long as the power which committed him exists—he then is necessarily and legally discharged from confinement, and is walking quietly along the Strand, when he is again apprehended, and sent to Cold Bath-fields for an assault; the Honourable and Learned Gentleman, who must be the prosecutor we suppose does not appear, and then, instead of being discharged, the Government send their solicitor to enforce his further imprisonment, because he is declared by two doctors to be mad!

We suppose, it is constitutional, but if Mr. Maule were to visit the numerous assemblies in London during this hot weather, and exert the power delegated to him, of committing to the House of Correction all such ladies and gentlemen as were accounted mad, and were unable to disprove the fact of being so,

"'Twould thin the town
Such numbers to send To Cold Bath-fields."

This would be enacting the liberty of the subject indeed.

The Proficuous Duke.—The late Duke of Montague was remarkable for achievements of wit and humour, which he conducted with a dexterity and address peculiar to himself. In one of his rambles he observed that a middle aged man, in something like a military dress, of which the lace was much tarnished and the cloth worn threadbare, appeared at a certain hour in in the Park, walking to and fro in the mall with a kind of mournful solemnity, or ruminating by himself on one of the benches, without taking any more notice of the gay crowd that was moving about him, than of so many enmets on an anthill, or atoms dancing in the sun.

This man, the Duke singled out as a fit object for a frolic. He began, therefore, by making some enquiry concerning him, and soon learned that he was an unfortunate, poor creature, who, having laid out his whole stock of money in the purchase of a commission, had behaved with great bravery in the war, in hopes of preferment; but upon the conclusion of peace had been reduced to starve upon half-pay. This the Duke thought a favourable circumstance for his purpose; but he learned upon further enquiry, that the captain, having a wife and several children, had been reduced to the necessity of sending them down to Yorkshire, whither he constantly remitted them one moiety of his half pay, which would not subsist them nearer the metropolis, and reserved the other moiety to keep himself upon the spot where alone he could look for an opportunity of obtaining a more advantageous situation.—These particulars afforded new scope for the Duke's genius, and he immediately began his operations.

After some time, when every thing had been prepared, he watched an opportunity, as the captain was sitting alone, buried in his speculations, on a bench, to send his gentleman to him with his compliments, and an invitation to dinner the next day. The Duke having placed himself at a considerable distance, saw his messenger approach without being perceived, and begin to speak without being heard; he saw his intended guest start at length from his reverie, like a man frighted out of a dream, and gaze with a foolish look of wonder and perplexity at the person who accosted him, without seeming to comprehend what he said, or believe his senses, when it was repeated to him till he did.—In short, he saw with infinite satisfaction all that could be expected in the looks, behaviour, and attitude of a man, addressed in so abrupt and unaccountable a manner; and as the sport depended upon the man's sensibility, he discovered so much of that quality in striking the first stroke, that he promised himself success beyond his former hopes. He was told, however, that the captain returned thanks for the honour intended him, and would wait on his Grace at the time appointed.

When he came the Duke received him with particular marks of civility, and taking him aside with an air of great secrecy and importance, told him that he had de sired the favor of his company to dine, chiefly on account of a lady, who had long had a particular regard for him, and had expressed a great desire to be in his company, which her situation made it impossible for her to accomplish without the assistance of a friend; that having learned these particulars by accident, he had taken the liberty of bringing them together; and added that he thought such an act of civility, whatever might be the opinion of the world, could be no imputation upon his honour. During this discourse the Duke enjoyed the profound astonishment and various changes of confusion that appeared in the captain's face, who, after he had a little recovered himself, began a speech with great solemnity, in which the Duke perceived he was labouring to insinuate, in the best manner, that he doubted whether he was not imposed upon, and whether he ought not to resent it; and therefore to put an end to his difficulties at once, the Duke laid his hand on his breast, and dovoutly swore that he told him nothing which he did not believe, upon good evidence to be true.

When word was brought that dinner was served, the captain entered the dining room with great curiosity and wonder, but his wonder was unspeakably increased, when he saw at the table his own wife and children.—The Duke had began his frolic by sending for them out of Yorkshire, and had as much if not more astonished the lady than he had her husband to whom he took care that she should have no opportunity to send a letter.

It is much more easy to conceive than describe a meeting so sudden and extraordinary; it is sufficient to say that it afforded the highest entertainment to the Duke, who at length, with much difficulty, got his guests quietly seated at the table, and persuaded them to fall too, without thinking of yesterday or to-morrow. It happened that soon after dinner was over, word was brought to the Duke, that his lawyer attended about some business of his Grace's order. The Duke, willing to have a short truce with the various inquiries of the captain about his family, ordered the lawyer to be introduced, who, pulling out a deed that the Duke was to sign, was directed to read it, with an apology to the company for the interuption. The lawyer accordingly began to read, when, to complete the adventure, and the confusion and astonishment of the captain and his wife, the deed appeared to be a settlement which the Duke had made upon them of a genteel sufficiency for life. Having gravely heard the instrument read, he signed and sealed it, and delivered it into the captain's hand, desiring him to accept of it without compliments, "For," said he, "I assure you it is the last thing I would have done, if I thought I could have employed my money or my time more to my satisfaction in any other way."

Odontalgia, or Tooth-Ache.—The tooth ache in general arise from one diseased tooth, although the pain seems to come from all. In bad cases the causes are either cold or violence acting upon the nerve of a carious tooth; yet a pain similar to this frequently arises from a rheumatic affection of the jaw itself; and in pregnancy it is a sympathetic affection. When a small spot appears upon the tooth, as it were eating it away, the person should most particularly attend to to the use of the tooth brush; in order to remove as frequently as possible the carious portions of it When this spot extends, and penetrates into the substance of the tooth, the air and various acrid bodies get into it and irritate the nerve; and when this takes place, it is usual to introduce a bit of lint dipped in either oil of cloves, nutmeg, or cejnut or diluted sulphuric acid; but these remedies in some cases do no good, and generally only palliate. Mr Thomson says, that "a gill of camphor and opium, or a solution of camphor and opium, or a solution of camphor in oil of turpentine, put into the hollow of a carious tooth, affords almost immediate relief in tooth ache." We must confess that we see no remedy so good as the extracti a of the tooth. To prevent a return of the disease, the hole should be widened by a dentist, and stopped up with leaf gold, or leaf lead, and thus the tooth may be preserved a long time without aching, but strict attention must be paid to the daily use of the tooth brush. When the disease is rheumatic, the jaws must be rubbed with equal parts of spirits of camphor and liquor of ammonia, and a blister put behind the ears, on the same night giving ten grains of Dover's powder and bed time. When the tenderness of the gums will prevent the patient from chewing his food, one of the following pills may be held in the mouth till dissolved—"Of powdered pellitory of Spain, one drachm—Mucilage of gum arabic sufficient to make them into twelve pills. The best dentrifice for those with carious teeth is decidedly charcoal; and the way to prepare it is, to burn a lump of charcoal in the fire, blow off the external powder, and pound the remainder finely in a mortar. This will supercade, in wholesome efficacy, all the pompous powders sold in the shops.—Medical Adviser.

Society of Lloyds.—The aggregate property, of the members of Lloyd's is said to be more than fifty millions.

The late Mr. Angerstein stated before a Committee of the House of Commons, in 1810, that he had, in the course of twenty-two years, insured for one mercantile house, property to the amount of eight millions and a half of money, and upon this sum the losses, by insolvency of underwriters, did not amount to three pence half penny per cent.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

FRANCE.

PARIS, Aug. 16.

"Louis by the grace of God, &c.—Having seen the 4th Art. of the law of the 17th March, 1822, which provides as follows:—

"If in the interval of the sessions of Chambers, grave circumstances should render insufficient the established regulations for controuling the press, the laws of the 31st March, 1820, and the 26th of July, 1821, may be immediately put in force by an ordinance of the king, deliberated in council, and counters gned by three ministers.

"This disposition shall cease one month after the opening of the Sessions, if during this period it shall not have been converted into a law.

"It shall equally cease on the day on which an ordinance shall be published pronouncing the dissolution of the Chamber of Deputies.

"Considering that our courts of law have recently recognized in the journals an existance de jure, independent of their existance de facto;

"That this interpretation furnishes sure and easy means of eluding the suspension and the suppression of the journals.

"It follows that the means of repression established by the 3d article of the law of the 17th of March 1822, have become insufficient.

"Desiring under existing circumstances, and until the next meeting of the Chambers, to provide efficaciously for the maintenance of public order: Having heard our council: We have ordered and do order as follows:—

Art. 1. The laws of the 31st of March, 1820, and 26th of July, 1821, are restored in full force from the present day.

Our Minister Secretary of State of the Department of the Interior is charged with the execution of the present ordinance. LOUIS.

Louis, &c. Referring to an ordinance of yesterday, ordering the re-establishment of the laws of 31st March, 1820, and 26th July 1821, relative to periodical papers and writings; upon the report of our Minister, the Secretary of the interior, we have ordered and hereby order as follows:—

Art. 1. There shall be immediately formed at Paris, near the Ministry of the Interior and under the presidency of the Director of the Police, a Committee charged with a preliminary examination of all journals and periodicals. It shall be composed, not including the President, of six members named by the Secretary of the Interior.

2. Every article of a paper or periodical must before being printed, be furnished with a visa, setting forth that the said article has received the previous examination and approbation required by article 5th of the law of 31st March, 1820; which visa shall be given by the Sieur Deliege, whom we name, with that view, Secretary of the said Committee.

3. In the departments, the Prefects shall name as required by circumstances, one or more censors, charged with the preliminary examinations of journals and periodicals published there.

4. Our Minister of the interior is charged with the execution of the ordinance.

Given at the Thuilleries, 16th of Aug. 1824. and of our Reign the 30th. LOUIS.

GREECE.

Various statements are given in the London papers of the capture of Ipsara. Those from Smyrna uniformly represent the Greeks to have behaved in a cowardly manner. One letter, of July 6th, says:—

"About 10 or 12 of the best Greek vessels with the richest Greeks on board with their families, and it is said the public treasure, escaped at the very onset of the business. They sailed out of port, telling their betrayed countrymen that they would attack the Turks at another quarter of the island, and cause a division!"

"All the fire ships, and about 12 or 14 armed vessels of the Greeks were destroyed (burnt) by the Turks, and 18 or 20 of the former struck their colours, and had the Turkish flag flying, when the last accounts came away." "The fleet will go next to Samos, which will most likely be attacked in a very few days" "We have just learned officially that the island of Samos has sent in its submission to the Porte."

Another letter from Smyrna, dated the 10th of July, states that the Captain Pacha had 80 vessels, large and small, when he attacked the island of Ipsara, and having landed 14,000 men, it was unnecessary for the Turkish fleet to fire a gun. The sea was covered with the bodies of Greeks who endeavoured to escape in small boats and vessels so heavily laden, that they sunk. The Albanian Greeks made some resistance, but were repulsed, after killing about 500 Turks, and they took refuge in the last fortress on the eastern side of the Island, which held out the whole day.

The Primates of the Island and the Senate had time to escape with their families in their own vessels, which were lying at Anti-Ipsara, whence they made sail. The Captain Pacha despatched some frigates after them but without overtaking them. The Captain Pacha intends to proceed immediately to Samos, to Tina, and thence to Hydra, to complete by force the submission of the Greeks. He has sent a squadron before him to invite the islanders to submit voluntarily, and to prevent the effusion of blood.

AFRICA.

Further accounts to the 31st of May, have been received in England from the Coast of Africa. Another action with the Ashantees took place on the 21st of May, which lasted five hours and a half, and the loss of the British was about 150 killed and upwards of 200 wounded, including the loss of the native forces attached to them. A letter from Colonel Sutherland to the Colonial Department, communicates the following particulars.

"It appears that Major Chisholm, who commanded during the engagement, had made preparations to attack the enemy, who were encamped within five miles of the castle, and accordingly on the morning of the 21st of May, he commenced his operations. After the ground had been cleared and paths cut, not without great labor and fatigue, in various directions, towards the enemy's camp, the attack commenced. The engagement was long and sanguinary, it lasted upwards of five hours, when the enemy retreated precipitately, after experiencing very considerable loss in killed, wounded, and prisoners. The retreat continued for two days, but it was ascertained that the King of the Ashantees had subsequently joined his army with considerable reinforcements, which it was estimated would raise the whole of his force amount to 16 000 men — Th Fantees and the rest of the co-operating native powers, conducted themselves, during the battle, in a manner extremely unsatisfactory to Maj. Chisholm who, consequently, was not only prevented from pursuing the enemy, but obliged to return to his former position. It was ascertained from the prisoners, that the enemy had resolved to make an attack upon the Castle, which the presence of their King, it was supposed, would expedite. Our loss was inconsiderable The rainy season had begun, and the prisoners reported that the small-pox and dysentery had committed very considerable ravages in the Ashantee camp.

Copy of a letter from Capt. James Leader, of the brig Turners, dated Cape Coast Roads, June 1, 1824 addressed to his owners:—"The war we are waging against the Ashantee nation has proved very disastrous. The country round our forts is in a dreadful state for want of provisions. Thousands have fallen from the sword, but tens of thousands must perish from famine. Beef is now sixteen guineas a tierce at Cape Coast, and flour or bread is not to be had for money. We are as badly off as possible, the season is carrying off daily seven or eight of the white troops, and there is not more than fifty or upwards of three hundred which I found here remaining. The enemy's camp is very near to the come of this devoted place shall only know."

LONDON, AUGUST 22.

A letter from Paris, dated the 18th instant, states that the renewal of the censorship has excited almost general displeasure and that it is likely to render the ministry of M. de Villele of shorter duration than if he had openly braved the opposition of M. de Chateubriand. With respect to the health of the King, which is considered to have an immediate reference to the strength or weakness of M. de Villele's administration, our correspondent states that it is much worse.

We have received the Etoile, dated Thursday, and the other Paris journals of Wednesday. The censorship has not been re-established to no purpose. By [illegible] censors, as may under [illegible] the name, censors have still in their odious office. The Constitutional and the Journal des Debates have been the principal objects of their labours; in each of these papers there are upwards of two columns blank. An Ordinance has been issued, appointing a board of six censors for Paris; in the Departments the Perfects are to appoint them

The Madrid Gazette publishes a Royal Decree, for suppressing Freemasons and Secret Societies in all his Majesty's States in Europe and America.

It is again asserted, that the Captain Pacha had sustained great loss in an action with the Greek fleet, after the destruction of Ipsara, and the Dervich Pacha had lost the whole of his vanguard in an unsuccessful attempt to cross the pass of Thermopylæ The Greeks it is said, suffered it to advance and by a skilful manœuvre cut it off from the main and compelled it to surrender.

A mail arrived from Lisbon with papers to the 8 h inst. The force of an expedition to the Brazils was still kept up, and appointments were announced in the Lisbon Gazette.

VIENNA, Aug. 7.—The damage done by the late inundations in Bohemia, caused by the long continued rains, to buildings, meadows, gardens, bridges, and dikes, is estimated in circle of Buderest at 330,000 florins, in that of Kaaniue at above 500,000 florins, exclusive of the loss arising from the carrying away of the earth from the fields, and the covering the meadows, with sand and stones to the depth of several feet.

Six men were executed at Limerick on Monday (16th Aug.) three of them for the murder of Major Hare, and three for the murder of Colonel Fitzgibbon's driver, near Abbeyfeale. Five of them have left large families.

PROGRESS OF CHRISTIANITY.

From a London paper.

Continental Society.—On the 18th of May the anniversary meeting of the Society for the promotion of Christianity on the Continent was held at the Crown and Anchor Tavern. Upwards of 2000 attended.—Sir Thomas Baring in the Chair. The report stated, that during the last year great progress had been made by the efforts of the Society's agents on the Continent. By means of the colporteurs or book agents, vast numbers of Bibles, Testaments and Tracts, in the vernacular tongue, had been circulated in Fourney, Grenoble, and Bayonne, and several parts of the Netherlands; in the West of Germany, Switzerland, Genoa and the Cantons of Vaus and Berne. As soon as the authorities in Switzerland discovered the success of the mission, they pursued the agent as an enemy and an incendiary. The Council of Lausanne issued an edict against him. One of the officers of the Society had made an excursion into Spain against superstition, with a small army of 500 Bibles and Testiments, besides a number of light troops in the shape of Tracts. He penetrated to the walls of Madrid, and discharged into it his 500 copies, under the protection of the French military.—[Applause.] At Milan, Mr. Tartaro lingered under sentence of death for distributing Bibles. He was tried for Carbonarianism, and the proof was, that he had circulated the Bible. The report concluded with recommending that the exertions of the Society should be strenuously persevered in. It was received with great applause.

...land in West Africa.—It has long been a uniform trait in the character of the Friends, that they have advocated the equal rights of Africa, and borne decided and honorable testimony against the Slave Trade. In this they have secured the sympathies and the good wishes of every consistent friend to liberty. It is seldom, however, that we have been called to notice any remarkable efforts of a female of this Society for the benefit of that injured country — But the New York Observer of the 3d inst. records an example of benevolence in a female of this sect, which is highly pleasing. Early as 1819, Hannah Kilham, of Sheffield, Eng. who had some years felt the obligation of employing her talents for the benefit of the African race, brought forward the subject in London. And so powerful were her arguments on the minds of her brethren, that a subscription was commenced to defray the expenses of educating two African youths of hopeful talents. In 1820, she began to instruct them. One was from Goree, named Sendzane, the name of the other was Mahmadou, from the banks of the Gambia. In the same year, several Friends, who agreed to act as a committee in this business, sent out an agent to the river Gambia, to open a correspondence, and receive instruction. The agent was favorably received, and returned in 1821. In the summer of 1823, Hannah Kilham had prosecuted the study of the Jaloff and Mandingo languages to such an extent that she had prepared a set of elementary school books for the press, together with selections from scripture. The committee on her proposal, then consented that she should depart for Africa, with suitable English companions, and the two native youths, whom she had been three years instructing with success as teachers to their brethern.

Early in December last, this interesting company arrived at Bathurst, a British settlement in West Africa formed within a few years on the island of St. Mary, at the mouth of the Gambia. From a letter written by Hannah Kilham soon after her arrival, it is understood that she will fix her station at Cape Mary, a high and healthy spot at the mouth of the Gambia, eight miles from Bathurst. Her prospects were flattering. The youth whom she had instructed were much attended to, and the natives were desirous to be taught by them.—The expenses of this enterprise are defrayed by the Friends in England.—More than a year since, 3000 dollars had been collected. The ultimate object in view is, the establishment of an institution for cultivating the languages of Africa, the support of schools, and the institution and diffusion of select parts of the holy scripture.—Watchman.

Poetry.

THE MARINER'S DREAM.

In slumbers of midnight, the sailor boy lay,
His hammock swung loose at the sport of the wind,
But watch-worn and weary, his cares flew away,
And visions of happiness danced o'er his mind.

Oh sailor boy! sailor boy! never again
Shall home, love, or kindred, thy wishes repay;
Unheard and unheeded, down deep in the main
Full many a score fathom, thy frame shall decay.

No tomb shall o'er plead to remembrance for thee,
Or redeem form or fame from the merciless surge,
But the white foam of wave shall thy winding sheet be,
And winds, in the midnight of winter, thy dirge!

On beds of green sea-flowes thy limbs shall be laid,
Around thy white bones the red coral shall grow;
Of thy fair yellow locks threads of amber be made,
And every part suit to thy mansion below.

Days, months, years and ages shall circle away,
And still the vast waters above thee shall roll;
Earth tores thy pattern for ever and aye—
O sailor boy! sailor boy! peace to thy soul!

Communication.

For the Weekly Register.

MR EDITOR,

Unused to literary contests and newspaper warfare, it is with much reluctance that I, so unskilled in the weapons of controversy, now present myself to your columns. A painful diffidence of becoming thus prominent and a distrust of my feeble strength would have effectually checked such boldness; but my attachment to the cause which now calls for its advocates, and the impulse of feelings I am proud of avowing have hurried me beyond these opposing barriers, and ranked me, however reluctantly, in the lists of debate. But be assured, Sir, I have not come forward as an adverrary, but as a defender, against the threatening sword, I would merely hold up the buckler of security. Should the effect of this communication be to awake the efforts of some more potent advocate, I will then cheerfully retire again into solitude and obscurity.

I have Sir the happiness of belonging to that pure and venerable Ecclesiastical Establishment, the CHURCH OF ENGLAND; and may I, rejoicing in its pure and faithful lessons, feel that consolation in death which an adherence to its principles has preserved during my life! But, Sir, this venerable fabric, "built upon the foundation of the Apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner stone," is assailed with all the force of bitter hostility; the shafts of malice would fain rase that beautiful structure; and the secret workings of envy undermine that firm foundation. That it is sometimes objected to on the ground of its connection with the government of the Empire, I am fully per-suaded; but alas! Sir, must not its enemies, in that case, be ...

...true are these words of the tragic poet, convicia in magnos qui jaculatur,

haud facile aberrat.

Yet, I speak not of the invectives of an individual, or the transient clamours of a party;—but I lament that silent, unfounded and unfair hostility begotten by prejudice, and nurtured by ignorance—which prevails alas! too widely.

How sad, Sir, are sometimes the pains of recollection! How many, presented, in a retrospective flight, with unveiled happiness are now doomed to sigh over its ruins! And when we review that happy period when the "multitude of them that believed were of one heart and of one soul"—upon contemplating the present deplorable dissensions, destroying that primitive harmony and severing the bond of peace—can we, upon contrasting the past with the present, restrain the tear of sorrow, or hush the sigh of regret? But, Sir, without dreading the charge of unclustered fervour or undue enthusiasm, I profess myself one of those votaries of hope who feel assured that these scenes of blissfulness will yet be restored again.

But why those dissentions in the Church of Christ? why those violent outcries against our venerable Establishment? why resist the appointments of God? why by war the beauty and destroy the harmony of his own sacred work?

The adversaries of the Church of England must object either to its doctrines; its government; its members; or its ministers.

And what are the doctrines it supports that can be objected to? From the very "first principles" even unto "perfection"—in the doctrines of "repentance from dead works, of faith towards God, of baptisms, of laying on of hands, of the resurrection of the dead, and of eternal judgement;" (Heb. VI. 12) wherein does it err? What is there in those admirable compilations of its faith, the Church Catechism and the thirty-nine Articles, which cannot be supported by the authority of Scripture? What is there in its beautiful Liturgy, and in all its sacramental and devotional offices contrary to the revealed word of God?—With Truths in the play, I wait for a reply.

But is it the Ecclesiastical Government of this Apostolic fabric which calls forth so much hostility? I repeat the word Apostolic; for I boldly appeal to the writings of the New Testament in support of the appointment of Bishops, Priests and Deacons. The attentive reader will then, too, readily discover the intended correspondence of these offices in the Christian Church, to those of high-priest, priest and levite in its elder sister and type, the Jewish. The antithesis is thus recognised and applied by St. Clement of Rome writing to the Church of Corinth the duty of Ecclesiastical subordination "to the high-priest were allotted his proper offices; to the priests, their proper places were assigned; to the levites, their services were appointed; and the laymen were restricted within the precepts of laymen." And if the language of our Saviour and the Apostles be not sufficiently explicit to enable us to define exactly what was the original of Church Government; what are the natural inferences? Not, surely, that self-appointment to these offices is justifiable or unforbidden: but the natural conclusion is that we are to be certified concerning the original form of Church Government by the Apostles' successors. I appeal, therefore, to the most common readers of ecclesiastical history, whether the Establishment of the Church of England is not in unison with their appointments; whether Timothy, Titus, Ignatius, Polycarp, Clemens Romanus, &c. did not exercise the episcopal offices in the same manner in which it is now exercised in our Established Church.

Are the members of our Church a cause of objection against the Church? Are they more pervadus to this? As well might they say, we will not live under the laws of our country, because their are transgressors of it: we will not abide by the institutions of Christ, because unworthy men are allowed to partake of their privileges. "But who art thou, O man, that judgest another?" Are they worse men—worse neighbours, worse husbands, parents and children—than those of other communities?

No less futile is the objection arising from a disapprobation of the ministers of the Established Church. "Though they are sinners, it is not for me to judge them." God forbid. "Most true it is that all men are sinners; but of transgressors are they the chief? I trust that none will rest on unqualified an allegation. That many of them have zeal and that "according to knowledge" will, I trust, be admitted: that many are assiduous in the performance of social and private duties, cannot be denied: that their faith is elevated by the purest glow of religious hope, and that the hearts of many are animated with the quickening warmth of Christian charity, must also be admitted. But there is yet a crying sin — They mingle with the polite and the refined of the world—they adopt their unobjectionable customs—they become possessed of their elegancies. They have loved the elegant retreats of "academic shades and learned halls," they occasionally use philosophy as the hand-maid of religion.—They sometimes paint the beauties of holiness in all the beauties of language. They encourage the drooping, abashed and distrusting sinner by the smile of forgiveness; and they condemn not, with ascetic frigidity, the innocent enjoyments of life.—"Happy is he who condemneth not himself in that thing which he alloweth." And to prevent any conclusion detrimental to that institution of which they are ministers, we may repeat with the same Apostle, "Who art thou, O man, that judgeth another man's servant? To his own master he standeth or falleth."

I now, Mr Editor, retire from your columns, perhaps to appear there no more. I am not to be understood as challenging controversy; with that motive I could not expect your attention to this communication.—I am merely acting on the defensive. All that i desire is that they who may be inspirened with what I have written will examine for themselves, and have recourse, for the removal of every scruple, to those who, in their respective residences, are doubtless ready to furnish any information which will be meekly asked. I beg leave Sir, to conclude with subscribing myself,

Your very Obt. Servant,
JULIAN.

* From the supposed want of types a translation is here given of the original Greek.
† Vide Mosheim's Eccles. Hist.

Domestic.

BROCKVILLE, SEPT. 27.

Murder.—Henry Hamilton was commited to the Jail of this District, on Tuesday last, charged with the murder of Samuel Tarbox of Prescott, who has for a considerable time acted as Ferry-man between Prescott and Ogdensburgh. The circumstances of this melancholy affair as we have heard them are as follows:—It seems Hamilton had been to Ogdensburgh and bargained for some chairs to be sent to Prescott for him; the person with whom he made the agreement, being doubtful about getting his pay, took the chairs himself across to Prescott, and after having entered them at the Custom House left them in custody of Mr. Tarbox (Tarbox being then absent) with instructions not to let them go out of her possession until Hamilton should have paid her the amount demanded for them. Shortly after Hamilton called for the chairs, Mrs. Tarbox refused to give them up until he should have paid the sum required, which he refused to do, and swore he would have them, and as he was Deputy Custom House Officer would seize them as smuggled property, and accordingly forcibly took the chairs away. In the evening when Tarbox came home his wife informed him of the affair he went immediately in quest of Hamilton to have the matter arranged, and met with him in the street; a quarrel ensued, after some hard words had passed, Hamilton left Tarbox, and went to his sadler's shop, but shortly returned, and the quarrel was renewed, When Hamilton told Tarbox that he was armed, and requested him to desist from abusing him, but Tarbox continued speaking to him. Hamilton then said he would bear it no longer and made a pass at him, which Tarbox received in the hand which was severely cut, and he retreated but was followed up by Hamilton, who continued to strike at him in which Tarbox was again cut in the hand and breast, and as he was stooping he received the fatal blow in the neck which having entered deep and severed one of the large blood vessels, he fell and shortly after expied. The instrument used by Hamilton is supposed to have been a sadler's round knife, used by them for cutting leather, it being dusk the byestanders could not distinctly discearn what it was and it has not as yet been found. An inquest was held on the body of Tarbox, and from the evidence adduced on the Jury, they were under the necessity of giving a verdict of "Wilful Murder."

ORDINATION.

On Wednesday, 29th being St. Michael's day, the Rev A. N. BETHUNE was admitted to Preist's Orders, in the Cathedral Church of this City, by the Lord Bishop of the Diocese, assisted by the Archdeacon of Quebec, the Rev. Dr. MILLS, Chapl. to H. M. Forces, and the Rev. G. ARCHBOLD, Preacher to Protestant settlers, in parts adjacent to Quebec. The ceremony was to have taken place after the Ember days, on Sunday, 19th but the Bishop's health did not permit his Lordship's attendance on that day. Mr. Bethune has been licensed to the Mission of Grimsby, Niagara District, Upper Canada.—Quebec Mercury.

BIRTH.

On Wednesday the 13th instant, the lady of the Hon. Colonel Wells of a Son.

Upper Canada Gazette.

New Series.

VOL. III. YORK U. C. THURSDAY, OCTOBER 21st, 1824. No. XLIII.

By Authority.

UPPER CANADA.

P. MAITLAND,
Lieut. Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

TO our Beloved and Faithful Legislative Counsellors of our Province of Upper Canada; and to our Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses of our said Province, to our Provincial Parliament at our Town of York, on the Sixteenth Day of September instant, to be Commenced, Held, Called and Elected, and to every of you—GREETING:

WHEREAS, by our Proclamation bearing date the Second Day of August last, We thought fit to Prorogue our Provincial Parliament to the Sixteenth day of September instant, at which time at our Town of York, you are held and constrained to appear, NOW KNOW YE, that We taking into our Royal consideration the ease and convenience of our loving Subjects, have thought fit by and with the advice of our Executive Council, to relieve you and each of you of your attendance at the time aforesaid, hereby convoking, and by these presents enjoining you and each of you, that on Monday, the Twenty Fifth Day of October, next ensuing, you meet Us, in our Provincial Parliament, at the stone house in the Township of Newark, otherwise called the Town of Niagara, within the said Province, there to take into consideration the state and welfare of our Province of Upper Canada, and therein to do as may seem necessary, and herein fail not.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces in North America, at York, the Tenth day of Sept. in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty-four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign.

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command.
JNO. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.
D. CAMERON, Secretary.

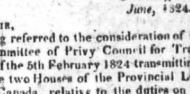
Government House,
York, Sept 22nd, 1824.

A Despatch of which the following is a Copy, has been received by HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, from HIS MAJESTY'S Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies.



Downing Street,
June, 1824.

SIR,

Having referred to the consideration of the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade, your Despatch of the 5th February 1824 transmitting an Address of the two Houses of the Provincial Legislature of Upper Canada, relative to the duties on Tobacco, I have now the honour to acquaint you that by an Act which has been very recently passed, 5 Geo. 4 Chap. 43 Sec. 15 Tobacco the produce of His Majesty's Territories in Canada, will from and after the 5th July next, be admitted in this Country on payment of a duty of three pence less per lb. than is payable on Tobacco the Produce of all other Countries.

I have the Honour to be,
&c. &c. &c.
(Signed) BATHURST.

Major General
SIR P. MAITLAND K. C. B.
&c. &c. &c.

Upper Canada.

P. MAITLAND,

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come—GREETING:

WHEREAS by Proclamation bearing date the Fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventeen, our trusty and well beloved Francis Gore Esquire, late our Lieutenant Governor of our Province of Upper Canada, by and with the advice of the Executive Council thereof and by virtue of the Authority in him vested in that behalf, did declare and appoint the Port of Queenstown, otherwise commonly called the Port of Butlo, within the Midland District of this Province, to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for all Goods and Merchandize, not being actually prohibited and for the payment of all Duties liable to be paid on all Goods and Merchandize brought into this Province from the United States of America

AND WHEREAS by a certain Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the Third Year of our Reign, entitled, "An Act to Regulate the Trade of the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada and for other purposes relating to the said Provinces," it is among other things Enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the Governor Lieutenant Governor, or person Administering the Government of either of the said Provinces respectively, by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council thereof for the time being, from time to time to diminish or increase, by Proclamation, the number of Ports or places, which they may severally might be, appointed in such Province for the Entry of Goods, Wares and Commodities imported from the United States of America

AND WHEREAS it appears expedient for the avoiding expence in the Collection of our Revenue, that the said Port of Queenstown shall no longer be a Port of Entry and Clearance.—NOW KNOW YE, that by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of our Province of Upper Canada, We have thought fit to declare, and do hereby declare, that from and after the date of this our Proclamation, the said Port of Queenstown shall cease to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the purposes aforesaid, and shall be and remain, as if the said Proclamation hereinbefore recited, and appointing the same to be a Port of Entry and Clearance, had never been made.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—Witness our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K.C.B Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York this Twentieth day of March, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign. P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,
D. CAMERON, Secretary.
JNO B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

GLEBES.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in Council, having taken into consideration the system hitherto practised, of Granting Licences of Occupation for GLEBE LANDS, is pleased to Order, that in future the Glebes in the several Townships, with the exception of One Lot in each Township, for the accommodation of the Incumbent, shall be Leased on the same terms as Clergy Reserves

NOTICE is therefore given to those Persons who hold Licences of Occupation for any of the said Glebe Lots, that the same will not be Renewed; and unless they do make application, by Petition, for Leases in the usual manner, through the medium of the Corporation for superintending the Clergy Reserves, before the Twenty-ninth day of September next ensuing, the Lots so held by Licence of Occupation will be Leased to other Applicants.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk Ex. Coun,

Executive Council Office,
York, 29th April, 1824. 19-tf.

Executive Council Office
York, 14th April, 1824.

NOTICE is hereby given, to Jabez Johnson, or his Representative, to make good any claim he may have to Lot Number Two, in the Seventh Concession of the Township of Louth, in the District of Niagara within six months from this date, in default of which, the Lot will be otherwise disposed of.

By order of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor in Council.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Ex'v. Council. 17—6m.

Executive Council Chamber.
York, 31st January, 1824

PRESENT,

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
IN COUNCIL,

HIS Majesty's Government having recently extended their assistance to the class of Emigrants, to such it was intended to relieve by gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres of Land, in conveying them to their respective locations:

IT IS ORDERED, that from the first day of May next, no gratuitous Grants be made of any quantity of Land to other than privileged persons.—And that as the Fee on Two Hundred Acres was raised, in order to defray the gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres the consideration failing, the future Fee on Two Hundred Acres is reduced to Eight Pounds Four Shilling and One Penny Sterling; the existing Fee before 1819, and the Fee on all other Grants, in Townships surveyed since that time, to be the same as established by the Order in Council, of 5th January, 1819.

N. B. Possessors of gratuitous Grants for Fifty Acres, may, by paying the Fee on One Hundred Acres, receive a Grant of the adjoining Fifty Acres if vacant.

JOHN SMALL,
In Council.
Clk. Ex'v. Council.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL CHAMBER,
AT YORK, 26th JAN. 1824.
PRESENT:
HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
In Council.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR submitted to the consideration of the Board, the Sheriffs' Reports of their respective Gaols, together with other Documents relating to a Winter Circuit, by which it appeared that the House of Assembly had addressed His Excellency to that effect, for this Session only; and obviously for the Delivery of the Gaols in the several Districts.

THE limitation of such a measure to one season seeming to militate with the Provision of the Law, that when the Communication from the Seat of Government admitted, and the circumstances of the Province required, there should be a regular Second Circuit, the Board would prefer to recommend that Special Commissions to deliver particular Gaols should issue where requisite; but, as the respective Reports from the Sheriffs do not, in the opinion of the Board, require any unusual interposition, His Excellency, with advice of the Council, postpones a Second Circuit until the circumstances of the Province more decidedly require it

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Executive Council.

Executive Council Office,
York, February 7th 1821.

WHEREAS it has been represented, that many persons who have received Locations of Land, have, from Sickness, and other legitimate causes, been unable to fulfil the Settlement Duty, in the time required by the Location Ticket, and have neglected to apply to His Excellency in Council for an extension of the period, for performance of such duty.

BE it Known that the period for completing the Settlement Duty, is hereby extended to Two Years from the date of Locations until further notice shall be given.

JOHN SMALL. Clk Ex. Coun.

WHEREAS by the Tenor of the Location Tickets a Certificate is required to be lodged of the Settlement Duty being done within two Years, or that the said Location should be forfeited, and in case of Locations not gratuitous, that one third of the Patent Fee be lodged with such Certificate; AND WHEREAS it is represented, that in many instances, Certificates of performance of the Settlement Duty, have been withheld from the inability of the settler to deposit such proportion of the Patent Fee, it is deemed expedient to relieve the settler from forfeiture of his location, when he may actually have performed his settlement duty—Notice is hereby given that in all cases where Settlement Duty has been performed within the limited period, the settler shall, on filing Certificate thereof within six Months of the date, be exempted from forfeiture notwithstanding the non-payment therewith of such portion of the Patent Fee, provided the Patent is sued out within One Year from the filing of such Certificate.

And further; His Excellency, in the hope of avoiding the necessity of rescinding any of the Militia grants, is pleased to direct this Public Notification; that all Lands granted to Militia Men, upon which the Settlement Duties shall not have been performed within the limited period, will in pursuance of general instructions given to the Surveyor General in all similar cases, be declared vacant, and will be granted within Six Months after the expiration of that period, to the first applicant, unless the Original Nominee, shall before such subsequent application, have lodged a Certificate of his having performed the Settling Duties.

JOHN SMALL, Clk. Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office,
York, 7th Nov. 1821.

WHEREAS it has become expedient to establish a line of communication through certain remote Townships, on Lake Huron, thereby, Grants will be made to actual Settlers in the Townships hereinafter named on the condition of Settling within two years from the date of the Location, at the reduced Scale of 5th January, 1819, viz.

A Township North of Mariposa, advertised from the Surveyor General's Office on the 19th of October, as

	Zeta, to be called	Eldon
N. of Ep		Fenelon
N. of Emily advertised as	Emir	Verulam
N. of Smith	Lake	Harvey
E. of do.		Douro
N. of Asphodel	Alma	Dummer
N. of Seymour	Mora	Belmont
N. of Dummer	Yea	Burleigh
N. of Marmora	Nimia	Lake
N. of Mudoe		Tudor
N. of Ebexer	No	Grimsthorpe
N. of Kahdar	Aye	Anglesea
N. of Kenuebec	Jus	Barrie
N. of Norma	Oldea	Clarendon
N. of Oso	Et	Palmerston
N. of Belmont	Carlos	Methuen

JOHN SMALL, C. E. C.

Government House, 5th March, 1820.

HIS Excellency the Lieutenant Governor is pleased to direct that no Location requiring Settlement Duty shall be Confirmed by Patent, without a Certificate from the Land Board of the District in which such Location may be situate, that the Settlement Duty required by the Order in council has bona fide been performed within the time specified by the Location Ticket.

JOHN SMALL Clk. C.

To Militia Pensioners, Notice

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that Payment of Militia Pensions for the year 1824, will commence from this date.
Militia Pension Office, York, 15th July, 1824.
EDWD. M'MAHON.
30.—13 w. Agent for Paying Militia Pensions

SHERIFF'S SALE.

NIAGARA DISTRICT } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri
To Wit: } Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the lands and tenements of John D. M'Kay, at the suit of Peter M'Gill, I have seized and taken the following Lands, viz:—

Lot No. 13, in the 8th Concession of Clinton.
Lot No. 5, 6, 7, & 12, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Grimsby. } 400 acres
Lot No. 37, & 39, in the 8th & 9th Concession of do. } 200 acres
Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 1st Concession of Bertie. } 495 acres
Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 2d Concession of do.
Lot No. 12 & 14, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Gainsbor'o } 400 acres
Lot No. 4, in the 2d Concession of do. } 200 acres

Lot No. 74, 95, 96, & ½, of 261, in the town of Niagara.—All of which property I shall offer for sale on the 2d day of August, 1824, at the Court House in the town of Niagara, at 12 o'clock, noon, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for cash only.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff
By PETER T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.
Sheriff's Office, Niagara,
July 31st, 1823. 4.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claims on the above named premises, by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

☞ The sale of the above property is postponed until the 13th of September, next, at the same place and hour.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff

The Sale of the above Property is postponed until the second Tuesday in January, 1825.

RICHARD LEONARD, Sheriff.
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.
43—6w.

SHERIFF'S SALE

NIAGARA DISTRICT } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri
To Wit: } Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the lands and tenements of Liza, alias, Eliza Skinner, widow of the late Heggie Skinner, deceased, at the suit of James Maclem, and James Cumming, Executors of the late John Faning, deceased, I have seized and taken, as belonging to the said Liza, alias, Eliza Skinner, Lots No. 172, and 161, in the Township of Stamford, 323 acres—Lots No. 2, 3, 6 and 7 in the Township of Pelham, containing 563 acres:—All of which property I shall offer for sale on the second Monday in March, in the year 1825, at twelve o'clock noon, at the Court House in the Town of Niagara, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for cash only.

RICHARD LEONARD, Sheriff,
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.
Sheriff's Office, Niagara,
March 2nd, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim to the above mentioned premises by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.
43—6w. R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Eastern District, } BY Virtue of a Writ of Fieri
To wit. } Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the Lands and tenements of Richard Loucks, at the Suit of John Richardson, John Forsyth, and Alexander Thain, I have seized and taken in execution, Lot number 35, and East half of Lot number 36 in the Front or First Concession of the Township of Osnabruck, containing 300 Acres, with a good frame Dwelling House and Barn with Stables and Out-Houses thereon erected, and about 80 Acres of which are well improved and in the highest state of cultivation.—Also Lots number 35, and half of 36 in the Second Concession of the said Township of Osnabruck, containing likewise 300 Acres. All which I will sell at Publi, Auction at the Court House in the Town of Cornwall on Monday the Twenty Ninth day of November next ensuing, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for Cash.

DONALD McDONELL,
Sheriff E. D.
Sheriff's Office, Cornwall
September 22nd, 18.4.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above mentioned Property by Mortgage, or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office, previous to the day of Sale.

42—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Eastern District } BY Virtue of a Writ of Fieri
To Wit } Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Henry Barnhart, at the Suit of William Blackburn and Francois A. Larogue, I have seized and taken in execution Lot number 15 on the South side of Front Street, in the Town Plot of Cornwall, with a good Frame Dwelling House thereon erected.—Also, the North half of Lot number 18 in the Front or First Concession of the Township of Cornwall containing One Hundred Acres more or less.

All which I will sell at Public Auction at the Court House in the Town of Cornwall, in the said District, on Monday the Twenty Ninth day of November next ensuing, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to the highest bidder for Cash.

DONALD McDONELL,
Sheriff, E. D.
Sheriff's Office, Cornwall
September 22nd, 1824

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any Claim on the above Property, my Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my office previous to the day of sale. 42—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Eastern District } BY Virtue of a Writ of Fieri
To Wit. } Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the Lands and Tenements of John Loucks, at the Suit of John Forsyth, John Richardson and Alex ander Thain, I have seized and taken in Execution as belonging to the said John Loucks, Lots number 3, 4, and East half of number 5 in the Fourth Concession of the Township of Osnabruck, containing 400 Acres, with a good Frame Dwelling House and Barn, with out-houses, and a Saw and Grist Mill thereon erected. All which I will sell at Public Auction at the Court House in the Town of Cornwall, on Monday the Twenty Ninth day of November next ensuing, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to the highest bidder for Cash only.

DONALD McDONELL,
Sheriff, E. D.
Sheriff's Office, Cornwall
September 22nd, 1824

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any Claim on the above Property, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office previous to the day of Sale. 42—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Newcastle District, } BY virtue of a Writ of Fieri
to wit. } Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to the Sheriff of the Newcastle District directed, against the Lands and Tenements of David M'Gregor Rogers Esq. at the suit John Strachan, Thomas A. Dobbs, and Thomas H. Cartwright, Executors of the late Richard Cartwright, Esq. I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said David M'Gregor Rogers the following Lands, viz.

S. half of Lot No. 3 Broken Front, A. } $30 Acres.
Lot No. 3 do. do. B.
Lot No. 3 do. do. G.
Lot No. 23 2 Concession, 200 do.
Lot No. 26 3 do 200 do.

of the Township of Haldimand, in the county of Northumberland, which Property I shall offer for sale at Public Auction, at the Inn now occupied by Mr N. W. Mack, in the village of Coburg, on the ninth day of February next at 12 o'clock, at noon

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff,
By EBENEZER PERRY, Dy. Sheriff.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above described Premises, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber, on or before the day of Sale.

NOTE.—The sale of the above Lots, No. 3, Concession A., B., and C, is postponed until the 27th day of October next at the same place and hour.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.

BY EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.
Sheriff's Office, Cobourg, } 14—td.
2d September, 1824.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District } ON Wednesday the 13th day to wit. } of November next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands, and tenements, as belonging to Thomas Chittle, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of William Usher—viz:

All that part of Town Lot No. 6 in Barriefield, laid out on Lot No. 21, East side of the great river Cataraqui, Thousand, containing, or so much as are Perches, with the exception of a piece of thirty six feet square, from the North East Corner of the same.

N. B. Any person or persons having claims on the above Lands, or upon any part of them by Mortgage, or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.
Kingston, July 15th, 1824. 40—t d.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, } ON Saturday the 13th day of
To Wit: } December next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, all the right, title, claim and interest of Wm. Beyard Smyth, of Kingston, to the following Town Lots, with the buildings thereon erected, seized by virtue of a Writ of Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at the suit of C. A. Hagerman, Esq viz:—Lot No 110, and the North West half of Lot No. 107, in the Town of Kingston, containing three reuths of an acre.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above property, or upon any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.
Kingston, Sept. 14th, 1824.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

District of London } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri
To Wit. } Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of John W. McIntire at the suit of Thomas Cooper, I have taken in execution the following land which I will offer for sale at the Court House in Vittoria, on Saturday the 6th of November now next, viz:—Lot No. 21 & 22 and the West half of Lot No. 23 in the Second Concession of the Township of Zora, containing Five Hundred Acres of Excellent Land, Sale to commence at one o'clock.

A. A. RAPELJE,
Sheriff.
Sheriff's Office
Sept. 13th, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any legal claims either by mortgage or any other right of incumbrance will make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

A. A. R
40—t. d.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

District of London } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri
To Wit. } Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of John Bostwick, at the suit of Messrs. Gross & Fisher, I have taken in execution as the Property of the said Bostwick, Lot No seven in the second Concession of the Township of Woodhouse, and Lot is situated in a very flourishing part of said Township, about Fifty Acres of improved Land, a good frame Barn &c.—said land I will offer for sale at the Court House, on Saturday the sixth day of November now next, at one o'clock P. M.

A. A. RAPELJE,
Sheriff L. D.

Sheriff's Office,
Sept. 13th, 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any legal claims either by Mortgage or any other right of incumbrance on the above stated Premises will make the same known to me before the day of Sale.

A. A. R.
40—td.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT.

FOR

FIRE-WOOD

NOTICE is hereby given, that Tenders will be received at this Office until the 16th day of November next, at Noon, from such Persons as are desirous of Contracting for the Supply of the undermentioned quantity of FIRE WOOD for the use of the Troops at York, viz—

400 CORDS,

To be delivered into the Government Fuel-Yard at this Post, and Corded by the 1st Day of February, 1825. The Wood to be of Sound and Merchantable quality, consisting of—

MAPLE,	IRON-WOOD,
HICKORY,	BLACK &
BEECH,	YELLOW BIRCH,

And to be of the following dimensions, viz.—The Stick to be cut full four feet long, and the Cord to be eight feet long, by four feet four inches in height. Further conditions and particulars may be known on application at this Office; sufficient Security will also be required for the due fulfilment of the Contract entered into, and the parties making Proposals will be required to attend at the time of opening the Tenders which must be Sealed and Endorsed "Tender for Fire-Wood."

F. T. BILLINGS,
Dep't. Ass't. Com'y. Gen'l.
Commissariat Office
York, October 14, 1824. 43—4w.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT

FOR

BEEF.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that Tenders will be received at the Commissariat Office, at York, from Persons who may be willing to furnish the Royal Naval Establishment at Penetanguishine, with such quantities as may be required of

FRESH BEEF,

for Twelve Months, commencing the 1st of January, 1825, and ending the 31st of December following.

Sealed Tenders to be delivered into this Office by the 12th of November at noon. No Tender will be noticed, unless the Party and his Sureties, or an Agent on their behalf, attend at the opening of the Tenders, which must be endorsed. Tenders for supplying the Royal Naval Establishment at Penetanguishine with Fresh Beef.

The Conditions of Contract, and other particulars, may be known on application at this Office.

F. T. BILLINGS.
Dy. Ass't. Com'y General.
Commissariat Office, York,
October 4th, 1824. No 41.—5w.

NOT OFFICIAL.

FIRE INSURANCE.

THE Sun Insurance Company of New York, having appointed George Crookshank, Esquire, their Agent in Upper Canada—is ready to Insure against Loss or Damage by Fire, on Dwelling Houses, Stores, Merchandize, House hold Furniture, and other Personal Property; at moderate Rates of Premitm.— Persons wishing to Insure must send a plan of their Buildings, when wanted out of the Town of York, a respectable reference will be required, and Letters Post Paid.—Application to be made to

R. W. PRENTICE.

York, 28th Sept. 1824. No. 39—t. f.

FOR SALE.

A Farm on Yonge Street, Lot No. 32 in Markham, One Hundred and Ninety Acres, of which ninety Acres are under cultivation with a Frame House and Barn on the same, a stream of water runs across the Lot, and Purdy's Saw and Grist Mills are on the Lot opposite to the same.—Terms of payment will be made easy.—Application to be made to

GEORGE CROOKSHANK.

York, 17th Oct. 18 4.

N. B. Should the above mentioned Farm not be sold by the 1st March next, it will then be leased.

43—tf.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the County of Dundas, intend presenting a Petition to the Legislature at its next Session, for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Dundas, and the Town of Cornwall alternately.

Also to have the Concession line between the fourth and fifth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg in the Eastern District, to have the said line run upon the true course of No. 66 E. and completed.

And also the side lines in the said fourth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg aforesaid, to have the said side lines to run upon the original course No. 24 W. 43—26w.

LAND IN PERCY.

A VERY valuable Lot of Land, consisting of 200 Acres, being No. 7 in the 2nd Concession of the Township of Percy, in the Newcastle District, and not far from the River Trent, in the midst of a good settlement may be had for 2$ per Acre, with an indisputable title, and immediate possession.—Inquire at the U. C. Gazette Office. 43—tf.

A LADY having lately arrived from England, and considering an opportunity presents for establishing a SEMINARY of respectability in Kingston, U. C. solicits the patronage of those Ladies who may feel disposed to place their daughters where the most useful and polite Branches of Education are taught; having been accustomed to the best established method of Tuition, she trusts that an assiduous and unremitting attention to her Pupils and their interests may ensure her success.

☞ For Cards of address and Terms, apply (if by letter, post paid,) to Mr. Henry Smith, King-street, Kingston, and to the office of the paper. 42—3w.

TO DISTILLERS & BREWERS.

ROBERT Todd Dean having made Chemistry the study of his life, and having for himself and others both in Scotland and Ireland, for sixteen years, conducted a Chemical Manufactory, (Testimonials of the most satisfactory kind can be produced from many respectable individuals to that effect) and having likewise of his Countrymen come to Canada for the purpose of bettering his condition in life, finds himself so situated, now, as to be obliged to offer his services to persons engaged in the Brewing and Distilling business both of which branches, together with the Manufactory of Cordials &c he professes, with all their late improvements, to perfectly understand.

Any Person desirous of having his services by addressing a letter to him (post paid) to the care of Matthew Crooks Esq Ancaster Upper Canada, may depend upon its meeting with a ready attention from

Signed, R. T. DEAN.

N B. Terms will be moderate, and such as will be within the reach of every one, doing even a moderate business, immediate employment is an object to,

R. T. D.

40—13w.

TOWN LOTS IN PORT HOPE.

SEVERAL valuable building Lots, in the flourishing village of Port Hope, are for Sale, by private Contract, on the most liberal Terms, and on a credit of several Years, provided the first Instalment be paid down. Either Produce or Manual Labour will be received, if desired, in Payment.—For further particulars apply at the U. C. Gazette Office, York, or to Messrs. C. & J. Stowe, Merchants,—Port Hope.

No. 15—t. f.

FARM TO LET IN MONAGHAN.

NEAR THE RICE LAKE AND RIVER OTONIBEE IN THE DISTRICT OF NEWCASTLE.

On very Advantageous Terms.

THERE are already 15 Acres cleared, and a Log House erected, upon the Farm, which consists of 600 Acres.—The Terms, which are singularly advantageous to a labouring man with a family, are these,—A Lease will be given for three years—on condition that the Tenant Clears and Fences from 5 to 10 Acres of new Land, and more if he is able, in each and every year of the Lease,—for which the Proprietor will pay at the rate of 12$ per Acre—besides allowing all the Crops—(except the Ashes)—to the Tenant.

The House stands on the margin of a running stream, and is within 1¼ mile of a Grist and Saw Mill.

For further particulars, apply at the U. C. Gazette Office; or to George Ingle, Cavan.

VALUABLE LAND IN OTONIBEE,

FOR SALE ON A CREDIT OF YEARS.

ONE of the most valuable Lots in the beautiful Township of Otonibee, on the Rice Lake, consisting of two Hundred Acres, being Lot No. 10 in the Ninth Con. The quality of the Land is first rate, (Maple, Beech, Bass, Elm, and Oak.) It has a Log House, and some small improvements upon it, and is not quite a mile distant from the Rice Lake, and from the Town Plot.—It has also the advantage of being well watered by a Creek that never fails

Price, two dollars per Acre; and terms of payment, One Eighth at the time of concluding the bargain, and Seven Years Credit, by annual instalments with interest for the remainder, if desired.—Inquire at the Gazette Office.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Mr. THOMAS MILBURN.

BEGS LEAVE to acquaint the Gentry, and Inhabitants of York, and its Vicinity, generally—that he has just arrived from London direct with a Select Assortment of Gentlemen's Wearing Apparel;—consisting of Superfine Dress Coats, Vests, and Trowsers;—Fustian Shooting Jackets and Trowsers—Round about Jackets;—Flushing Great Coats;—Fancy Waistcoats, &c. &c. &c. with a quantity of Hosiery, Haberdashery and Choice Cutlery.

This Assortment has been made with care and to suit the Canadian Market, and will be sold at low prices for CASH. The whole may be seen at the Store next to Mr. Wm. SMITH'S in King's Street, York.

York, September 15th, 1824. t. f

TO BE LET OR SOLD,

(And possession given at a short notice.)

THAT Elegant, and Commodious Mansion, Built, and lately occupied, by

A. N. McNABB, ESQUIRE.

Situated in King-Street, East, about half way between the Don Bridge and Town of York.—With a Large Garden, Spacious Yard, and every necessary Out-Building,—occupying altogether One Acre of Land.

The House is of Two Stories, besides the Ground Floor, and has the following Rooms and conveniences viz:—A Parlour, Drawing-Room, Four Lodging Rooms, and Dressing Room, Study, Store-Room Servants Room, Kitchen, Back Kitchen, Cellar Loft, &c. &c. &c. Water is conducted by Pipes into the Kitchen, where are the necessary Fixtures.

Amongst the Out Offices; are, Stables, Harness Room, Cow House, Coach and Cart House, Bake and Smoke House, &c. &c.

The Garden, which contains more than half an acre of Land, has been lately well stocked with various kinds of valuable Fruit Trees.

For Terms, and further particulars, apply to the U. C. Gazette Office. t. f.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the Eastern District will at the next Session of the Legislature make application to be authorised to effect a Loan to enable them to erect a Gaol and Court House in the Town of Cornwall.

37—6m.

NOTICE.

AN APPLICATION will be made to the Legislature at its next Session for an Act imposing a Tax on Dogs in the Town of York and its vicinity, the proceeds of which to be applicable to the police purposes.

By Order of the Magistrates in Adjourned General Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the Home District assembled on the 6th day of Sept. 1824.

(Signed,) S. HEWARD.

Clk. Peace Home District.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the County of Glengary intend presenting a Petition to the Legislature at its next Session for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Glengary and the Town of Cornwall alternately.

37—6m.

NOTICE.

THE Plan and Estimate of a STEAM BOAT, (to be Built by Mr. Amous S. Roberts) about One Hundred Tons Burthen, intended to Ply between the Port and Niagara, may be seen at this Office.—Her Engine is intended to be of Twenty Five Horse Power. The whole Cost is estimated at Two Thousand Two Hundred and Five Pounds Currency. She is to be Built by Stock, made up of Shares, of Twenty Five Pounds each. A few Shares are still wanting. Subscriptions for which will be received at this Office, and at the Office of the Niagara Gleaner, where Estimates and Conditions will be exhibited to those who wish to become Stockholders.

Gazette Office, York, August 26th, 1824. No. 35.—t.

FOR SALE.

LOT No. Two, in the First Concession of the Township of York, with the Broken Front, containing about Two Hundred and Forty Acres of Land.

Application to be made to

J. B. MACAULAY

York, 12th June, 1824. 25—t. f.

NOTICE.

VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE.

Viz:—

In the Township of Vaughan

Lots No. 22, 23, 24, in the 7th Con. and Broken Lot No. 5, in the 10th Concession. } 620 Acres.

Township of York

Lot No. 18, 5th Concession, and Broken Front West of Yonge Street on the Humber, West half of No. 15, in 2d Con. West of Yonge St. } 380 Acres.

Township of Percy

Lot No. 20, in 3d Concession. } 400 Acres.
Lot No. 21, in 4th Ditto.

For particulars apply to Guy C. Wood, Esq. Cornwall, or the Subscriber in York.

R. G. ANDERSON.

19th July, 1824. 30—tf.

NOTICE.

ALL Persons indebted to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire, of Stamford, are requested to make immediate payment to the Subscriber at Vittoria, London District, and those having claims on the Estate, will be pleased to furnish him with their respective Accounts properly authenticated.

(Signed) WALTER NICHOL.

Administrator to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire.

Niagara, 29th May, 1824. 4—tf.

NOTICE.

WANTED, for Fourteen Years, or not less than Ten, a Loan of TWO THOUSAND POUNDS, Halifax Currency, for the Building of a PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH or ENGLAND, in the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada.

The Subscriber is authorized to offer Efficient Legal Securities for the Repayment of the Loan, at the end of the period, and for the Annual Payment of the Interes accumulating thereon, at Six per Cent. per annum.

(By Order of the Committee.)

GEORGE O'KILL STUART,

19—tf. Secretary, pro tem.

NOTICE.

FOR SALE, by private Contracts, the House and Lot lately occupied by Mr. O'Sullivan, Saddler, King's-Street, in the Town of York, the Lot is 26 feet fronting King's-Street, by 112 feet deep.

Also.—A Lot adjoining the above on the West side, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—A Lot adjoining Mr. Duggan's, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—Three Lots on Stuarts Land, each 40, by 60 feet

Should the above Property and Lots not be sold by Private Contract, the five last described Lots will be sold at Public Sale, on the first day of July ensuing.

Application for Terms of Sale, to be made to

ALEXANDER WOOD, ESQ.

York, 17th March, 1824. t.f.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Inhabitants of the Township of Townsend intend Petitioning both Houses of the Provincial Legislature at its next Session, to pass a Law, Establishing a Line Surveyed in the year 1823, between the 12th and 13th Cons. of the said Township.

From my Office,

May, 1824. } No. 21—1 m. t. d.

VALUABLE LANDED PROPERTY FOR SALE.

TWENTY-SEVEN TOWN LOTS, slightly situated in the Village of Cobourg, in Hamilton, Upper Canada, on one of which, a Store and Dwelling House are erected.

Two Neat Small FARMS, contiguous to the above Village, containing, one, about Twenty-eight Acres the other, about Fifty Acres, with a House and other Buildings on each of them.—A Plan of the above may be seen on application to Mr. J. G. Bethune, Cobourg, (who will shew the Premises,) or to the Subscriber.

Two TOWN LOTS in Picardville, adjoining to the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada, with Houses and other Buildings thereon, being Lots No. 21 and 22

200 Acres of Land, being No. 1, 8th Con. of Murray.

200 do do being No. 4, 4th do of Hungerford.

200 do do being No. 1, 8th do of Winchester.

200 do do being No. 24, 8th do of Mountain,

200 do do being the West halves of No. 3) and 32 in the 2d Concession of Hawkesbury.

Liberal Terms of Payment will be granted.

For particulars apply to

FRS. ANT. LAROQUE.

N. B. The above mentioned Town Lots in the flourishing Village of Cobourg, and the two adjoining Farms will be disposed of by Public Sale, in the said Village on the 24th May next.

F. A. L. R.

Montreal, 15th March, 1824. t. f.

INTERESTING NOTICE.

THE Surveyor General begs leave to inform the Public, that he has obtained the permission of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, to publish a of the Province, on a large Scale. It is to be engraved in London, in the best style, and will be ready for delivery in a few months.

CORRECT MAP

This information, the Surveyor General thinks it necessary to make, in order to prevent those persons, who are desirous of having an authentic MAP of Upper Canada, from being imposed upon by a Surreptitious Copy, said to be on the eve of Publication.

Surveyor General's Office,

York, 2d April, 1824. } 14—tf

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the County of Prince Edward, in the Midland District, intend Petitioning the Legislature, at the next Session thereof, to have the said County set off, and made into a separate District from the said Midland District, and to be called the District of Maitland. No. 24—6m.

THEATRE, YORK.

This Evening, (Thursday, October 21st)

WILL BE PRESENTED

AT MR PHAIRS' ASSEMBLY ROOM.

The Much Admired Comedy of

THE RIVALS.

To Conclude with the Celebrated Farce of the SPOILED CHILD.

Tomorrow Evening, (Friday, October 22d) Shakespears' Celebrated Tragedy of

RICHARD THE THIRD.

With a variety of Songs, as will appear in the Bills.

TO CONCLUDE WITH THE LAUGHABLE FARCE OF THE DAY AFTER THE WEDDING.

WEEKLY REGISTER.

VOL. III. Our endeavor will be to "stamp the very body of the time—its form and pressure"— we shall extenuate nothing, nor shall we set down aught in malice. No. 43.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 21st, 1824.

Editorial Commentary.

Being detained on the Niagara frontier longer than we expected, we have only time to say that, in our account of the retirement of the remains of General Sir Isaac Brock and his Aid de Camp—Lt. Col. McDonell, we have purposely avoided giving the names of Gentlemen attending the procession (after the manner of the Observer) as invidious towards those who from various causes, could not attend;—whatever might have been their anxiety to pay their last tribute of national respect and gratitude to the brave men whose obsequies have been thus commemorated—But we shall be more copious when treating of the same subject in the Annual Register.

☞ The Notice of several interesting communications, received, must be reserved until our next.

SELECTIONS FROM BRITISH AND FOREIGN JOURNALS.

The following singular termination of a trial for rape, took place at Limerick, (Ireland) on the 3d of August:—Michael Moloney was indicted for a rape on Mary McMahon; at Mungret on the 8th of November last. The prosecutrix, a well looking girl proved the offence. The Counsel for the defence appeared very anxious that the matter might be settled by a marriage between the parties, before the trial would go any further. One witness, in the course of his evidence, deposed that a marriage was about to take place before the trial, but that the priest refused, and he could not tell why. Mr. Boyce intimated to the judge his belief, that there was a rule in the Roman Catholic Church, which prohibited the marriage of persons under any confinement or restraint. The learned Judge denied this, and mentioned a fact within his own knowledge, of a marriage having been celebrated under similar circumstances, in the Judge's chamber, County Cork, when three priests were present at the ceremony, and the Jury, at the time, engaged in a consultation upon the case. Here the conversation ceased, and his Lordship charged the Jury, who retired. In the interim a clergyman was procured for the purpose, and the parties were married in the Judge's room; after which his Lordship ordered the Jury to be recalled, and stated, that from circumstances that had since come within his observation, he would recommend them to acquit the prisoner.

BOW STREET, Aug. 20.

A young woman, of superior manners and address, who stated her name to be Letitia Peace, was brought before G. R. Minshull, Esq. charged with stealing about £10 worth of wearing apparel the property of a tradesman, of the name of Bricks, residing in Square street, Chelsea.—There was a second charge against the prisoner, of stealing a sheet and other articles, the property of a widow named Green. The prisoner, when put to the bar, concealed her face as much as possible, but was immediately recognised by several in the office, as having appeared here some three or four years ago, under very different circumstances. She had held the situation of governess in a family of respectability, but quitted it to marry a young man by trade a pianoforte maker. They hired a stand in Covent-garden market, and commenced business as fruiterers; but from some cause or other constant disagreements took place between them, and they were often at this office, charging each other. She upon those occasions described herself to be the daughter of a clergyman, and to have been brought up in a state of affluence, and to have been in the length separated, and subsequently, we believe, she became reduced, and got into such opposite course of life. She appeared now to be in a state of extreme despondency. When the evidence had been taken Mr. Minshull said, you have heard what has been stated against you; have you any thing to say? Prisoner (in a tone of deep despair:) Nothing except that I am a murderer as well as a robber! Mr. Minshull. Good God! what is it you mean, young woman? Prisoner: I mean that I am the murderer of my own child. Ford, the gaoler, said, he knew that the prisoner had had a child, which he had not seen with her now for some time. The prisoner, with strong emotion, exclaimed, No, no, it is not that child. Thank God, that is alive and safe. It was another one that I destroyed. Ford: Hold your tongue: you don't know what you say: your brain is turned. Prisoner: No: it is not, indeed, I am perfectly collected, and quite aware of what I am saying. I was near my accouchement, and took something which destroyed the child. She persisted in this assertion, and was taken away; Mr. Minshull desiring that she should be strictly watched. She was fully committed upon the charges of felony. The first child, we understand, is with her husband.

General Moreau.—About a mile from the walls of Dresden stands the rude monument of Moreau, on the spot where he fell. It is composed of unhewn stones of granite, bearing the inscription, "Tibi hero Moreau tell here by the side of Alexander." Some unknown person has lately effaced the word Hero, and carved above it as regularly and deeply as the rest of the inscription, the word traitor, which it has been found impossible to obliterate.

Carlile's Sister.—Mrs. Wright, the sister of Carlile, who, with her brother, was sentenced to several years imprisonment in England for selling what are called blasphemous publications, was lately set at liberty before the expiring of the period of her confinement, in consequence of ill health. She had been so much reduced that she could not leave the prison without the assistance of a coach to carry her home. Her fine had also been remitted.

Heavy Rain.—The River Dee, in Scotland, had been so swelled and rendered so rapid by the heavy rains lately prevailing there, that no less than eleven persons were drowned in attempting to cross it late in the evening.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

From the Commercial Advertiser.

LATE NEWS FROM EUROPE, AND IMPORTANT AND GRATIFYING FROM GREECE.

The old line packet ship Canada, arrived at this port last evening, in 34 days from Liverpool—bringing the Editors of the Commercial Advertiser their regular supply of London and Liverpool papers, the former to the evening of the 30th, and the latter of 31st ult.

THE GREEK REVOLUTION.

The most important news is from Greece, to which of course, our columns must be principally devoted this evening. In addition to the accounts contained in the English papers, an arrival at Boston from Smyrna, has brought us letters from our valued correspondent at that place, as late as the 25th of July. With bleeding hearts our readers have already perused some partial details of the fall of Ipsara. We copy now what has furnished a more particular and interesting account of that bloody and treacherous affair. But the gloom produced by this intelligence, is in a very considerable degree dissipated by advices of the subsequent naval successes of the Greeks, and the recapture of Ipsara. This gratifying news is positively confirmed by our correspondent, and is mentioned in a letter from an American Gentleman in Smyrna, of July 22, to the Editors of the Daily Advertiser, and is also mentioned in letters received and published at Baston. The only circumstance that casts a doubt upon it, is the part taken by Capt. King, who we fear at first, had also sailed "that on the 20th, when he passed Ipsara, the Turkish fleet was then off that Island". But there was evidently some mistake in this matter, as we have a letter from Constantinople of the 23d of July stating that "the Captain Pacha had returned to Smyrna to land his wounded, and to repair four frigates which cannot keep the sea". In addition to this, the accounts of the Greek successes, is published in the Grecian Gazette extraordinary, and the news had caused great rejoicings among the Greeks who had ordered Te Deums to be sung. It appears from this gazette, that all the Grecian vessels but some from the other islands to assist the Ipsariots, and that this fleet after having been to Cnos and so well that site, where there was an equally brave resistance by the Cassiots against the Turks, returned to Ipsara with their fleet of upwards of 80 sail, where the Turkish fleet was beaten with the loss of three capital vessels sunk, and the fleet put to flight. But we will proceed with our Smyrna correspondence, and follow it with such particulars as we may find most important in the London papers.

SMYRNA, July 25.

"As to politics we have rather a sad story, we mentioned in our last, the capture of the island of Ipsara by the Turks; we have since learnt the particulars, which we shall now give you, hoping they will prove interesting. The Captain Pacha, after remaining at the Island of Mytelene upwards of a month, during which time he embarked an immense number of troops, sailed from thence on the afternoon of the 3rd of July. It was observed that the Commodore of the French Station here was continually alongside and on board of the Turkish Admiral, and was often seen going and coming from him to Ipsara. Great conjectures are entertained that the Frenchman was the conveyor of messages between the Captain Pasha and certain Albanian, who had been a Turk before the Revolution, and who has since turned Greek, he gained great reputation among the Greeks for his bravery. The Albanians on the west of Ipsara, on their march, was so far from being suspected of any ill design, that the inhabitants trusted him with two most important posts on the island relying on his great bravery for their defence. On the morning of the 4th of July, the Turkish Admiral sent his transports princi pally armed, except a few small vessels, to anchor off the island, two posts, where the Albanian commanded; and no sooner had they began their debarkation, than the Albanians began firing on the Ipsariots who were to defend the lines with them, and hotly nearly the whole of them. The few who remained were obliged to leave the place thus allowing the Turks to land without opposition, and once on shore, they began firing on the Albanians, who had been joined by a small body of faithful Albanians, and after a desperate conflict (alth great loss to the Turks) defeated them in the first. A letter published in the Journal of Mavrocordato, received at Corfu, on the 21st of July, by express, gives the following account of the Greek success:—"The Greek fleet which left Hydra the 4th July, hastened to the coasts of Ipsara, where the Captain Pacha had returned. A battle took place there between the two fleets was most furious. The Greeks succeeded, by means of fire ships, in burning three Turkish frigates, which were commanded by the Capoudana, Begbey (Vice-Admiral), the Patrona bey (Sub-Admiral), and the Reis-bey (Rear-Admiral). Eighteen Turkish gun boats were likewise sunk, but his vessel was very much damaged; many other Turkish vessels of different dimensions were burnt or taken, the remainder of the Ottoman fleet fled, and took shelter, in a very bad condition at Mitylene. [This statement very satisfactorily accounts for the Captain Pacha's return to Smyrna, having to land his wounded, and repair his frigates which would not keep the sea.] After this decisive victory the Greeks effected a landing on the island of Ipsara. More than 2000 Ipsariots held out in two forts of this island. They favoured eficually the descent of their countrymen. From 1500 to 1800 Turks were in the Island, terrified at the defeat of their fleet, took to flight and being pursued to the utmost, were all cut to pieces."

This cheering intelligence is corroborated from various sources. It was brought to Hydra by "an adverse brig with the wind." The blow was struck by 2000 Samians. A postscript to the Hydra article adds the following important news:—"Still good news! The Ipsariots have beat the Egyptians in the environs of Candia, and obliged them to shut themselves up in that fortress. The open country and valleys are occupied by the troops of the insurgents. A landing which Ismael Gibraliter attempted in the environs of Polycastro, met with no success, and the infidels, every where repulsed, are deceived in their hopes." It is further added, that the Greeks had landed on the Island of Cnos, and that all the Turks in the village of Woollina, were killed.

One account computes the loss of the Turks in their operations against Ipsara, at 22000 men. The Greek fleet has sailed in search of the Captain Pacha.

A late article dated Bucharest in Romania, July 13, announce that "The Island of Candia sees the standard of the cross again afloat. The Greeks who had retired into the steepest rocks of their country, having received a reinforcement of 1500 men, fell upon the barbarians, 2,000 in number, whilst a division entered the port. The battle was not long nor obstinate. The Mussulmans of Candia who were all Egyptian troops, being surprised, were overwhelmed, shot, and not one escaped the just vengeance of the Greeks. Cannons baggage, warlike stores, provisions, all fell into the hands of the victors. The Cross of Christ rises anew in every direction, and the Greeks have taken possession of the whole island. This news is confirmed by official letters, which have been received at Constantinople."

The Austrian Observer of the 30th contains advices from Smyrna and Constantinople, by way of Italy, according to which no doubt remains of the destruction of the Turks at Ipsara. It appears from the reports, that the blowing up of the frigate mentioned in our letters above, destroyed the most of the Turks who were on board of her. A letter published in the Journal of Philomathi, received at Corfu, on the 21st of July, by express, gives the following account of the Greek success:—"The Greek fleet which left Hydra the 4th July, hastened to the coasts of Ipsara, where the Captain Pacha had returned. A battle took place there between the two fleets was most furious. The Greeks succeeded, by means of fire ships, in burning three Turkish frigates, which were commanded by the Capoudana, Begbey (Vice-Admiral), the Patrona bey (Sub-Admiral), and the Reis-bey (Rear-Admiral). Eighteen Turkish gun boats were likewise sunk, but his vessel was very much damaged; many other Turkish vessels of different dimensions were burnt or taken, the remainder of the Ottoman fleet fled, and took shelter, in a very bad condition at Mitylene. [This statement very satisfactorily accounts for the Captain Pacha's return to Smyrna, having to land his wounded, and repair his frigates which would not keep the sea.]" After this decisive victory the Greeks effected a landing on the island of Ipsara. More than 2000 Ipsariots held out in two forts of this Island. They favoured eficually the descent of their countrymen. From 1500 to 1800 Turks were in the Island, terrified at the defeat of their fleet, took to flight and being pursued to the utmost, were all cut to pieces."

This cheering intelligence is corroborated from various sources. It was brought to Hydra by "an adverse brig with the wind." The blow was struck by 2000 Samians. A postscript to the Hydra article adds the following important news:—"Still good news! The Ipsariots have beat the Egyptians in the environs of Candia, and obliged them to shut themselves up in that fortress. The open country and valleys are occupied by the troops of the insurgents. A landing which Ismael Gibraliter attempted in the environs of Polycastro, met with no success, and the infidels, every where repulsed, are deceived in their hopes." It is further added, that the Greeks had landed on the Island of Cnos, and that all the Turks in the village of Woollina, were killed.

One account computes the loss of the Turks in their operations against Ipsara, at 22000 men. The Greek fleet has sailed in search of the Captain Pacha.

A late article dated Bucharest in Romania, July 13, announce that "The Island of Candia sees the standard of the cross again afloat. The Greeks who had retired into the steepest rocks of their country, having received a reinforcement of 1500 men, fell upon the barbarians, 2,000 in number, whilst a division entered the port. The battle was not long nor obstinate. The Mussulmans of Candia who were all Egyptian troops, being surprised, were overwhelmed, shot, and not one escaped the just vengeance of the Greeks. Cannons baggage, warlike stores, provisions, all fell into the hands of the victors. The Cross of Christ rises anew in every direction, and the Greeks have taken possession of the whole island. This news is confirmed by official letters, which have been received at Constantinople."

The Austrian Observer of the 30th contains advices from Smyrna and Constantinople, by way of Italy, according to which no doubt remains of the destruction of the Turks at Ipsara. It appears from the reports, that the blowing up of the frigate mentioned in our letters above, destroyed the most of the Turks who were on board of her. A letter published in the Journal of Philomathi, received at Corfu, on the 21st of July, by express, gives the following account of the Greek success:—"The Greek fleet which left Hydra the 4th July, hastened to the coasts of Ipsara, where the Captain Pacha had returned. A battle took place there between the two fleets was most furious. The Greeks succeeded, by means of fire ships, in burning three Turkish frigates, which were commanded by the Capoudana, Begbey (Vice-Admiral), the Patrona bey (Sub-Admiral), and the Reis-bey (Rear-Admiral). Eighteen Turkish gun boats were likewise sunk, but his vessel was very much damaged; many other Turkish vessels of different dimensions were burnt or taken, the remainder of the Ottoman fleet fled, and took shelter, in a very bad condition at Mitylene. [This statement very satisfactorily accounts for the Captain Pacha's return to Smyrna, having to land his wounded, and repair his frigates which would not keep the sea.]" After this decisive victory the Greeks effected a landing on the island of Ipsara. More than 2000 Ipsariots held out in two forts of this Island. They favoured eficually the descent of their countrymen. From 1500 to 1800 Turks were in the Island, terrified at the defeat of their fleet, took to flight and being pursued to the utmost, were all cut to pieces."

This cheering intelligence is corroborated from various sources. It was brought to Hydra by "an adverse brig with the wind." The blow was struck by 2000 Samians. A postscript to the Hydra article adds the following important news:—"Still good news! The Ipsariots have beat the Egyptians in the environs of Candia, and obliged them to shut themselves up in that fortress. The open country and valleys are occupied by the troops of the insurgents. A landing which Ismael Gibraliter attempted in the environs of Polycastro, met with no success, and the infidels, every where repulsed, are deceived in their hopes." It is further added, that the Greeks had landed on the Island of Cnos, and that all the Turks in the village of Woollina, were killed.

One account computes the loss of the Turks in their operations against Ipsara, at 22000 men. The Greek fleet has sailed in search of the Captain Pacha.

A late article dated Bucharest in Romania, July 13, announce that "The Island of Candia sees the standard of the cross again afloat. The Greeks who had retired into the steepest rocks of their country, having received a reinforcement of 1500 men, fell upon the barbarians, 2,000 in number, whilst a division entered the port. The battle was not long nor obstinate. The Mussulmans of Candia who were all Egyptian troops, being surprised, were overwhelmed, shot, and not one escaped the just vengeance of the Greeks. Cannons baggage, warlike stores, provisions, all fell into the hands of the victors. The Cross of Christ rises anew in every direction, and the Greeks have taken possession of the whole island. This news is confirmed by official letters, which have been received at Constantinople."

death of July, fully confirming the return of the Ipsariots, with the Hydriots and Spezziots; they took eighty armed vessels, & put 8,000 Turks to the sword. The destruction of the Egyptian at Cnos is equal certain. English vessels have brought to Malta the news of the triumph of the Christians.

It is said that Mr Edward Blaquiere is about to carry to Mitylene eight to 10,000 francs, arising from a private subscription of the Greeks of Zante, to enable Mavrocordato to pay the arrears of his troops.

TROUBLES IN SPAIN.

Would it utterly impossible to give the news to-day as copiously as we had first intended. It appears that the troubles at and in the neighbourhood of Tarifa, have been of a more serious character than some of our last accounts would lead them to infer. A letter from Madrid of August 12, to the editor of the London Morning Herald, says:—"for the last four or five days there has been a constant succession of couriers between this place and Andalusia; and every day's Cabinet Council, presided at by the King, has been held. The cause has at length come to light, and it is no less than the landing at Tarifa of the Constitutional General Torijos, for the purpose of raising the country, and acting in co operation with the numerous bands of Constitutionalists who have for some time been in the mountains of Ronda, or extremely favourable situation, and to drive them from which it would require a very considerable force. There are various accounts of this affair, but I shall content myself with that contained in a letter which I received this day; that Torijos is at the head of about a thousand men; that he is abundantly provided with money and arms; that the garrison of Tarifa had joined his standard, and that in all the villages of the mountains of Ronda the Stone of the Constitution had been set up; and finally, that this conspiracy had extensive ramifications in all the principal towns in Andalusia, in consequence of which, a great number of persons had been arrested for a real or suspected understanding with the conspirators of Gibraltar." Gen. O'Donnel, who commanded in this district, has received French Commander at Cadiz, for assistance; and the next news we have is by a telegraphic despatch, received at Paris, on the 27th of August, from "Gen. Digeon to his Excellency the Minister of War," announcing that "the forces of Tarifa was taken by storm on the 19th, at 8 o'clock in the morning by the French and Spanish troops. The rebels, who retreated into the island, were attacked the next morning at day break by the landing of French troops, of the 31st regiment of the line. One chief only escaped in a boat; the rest were killed on the spot. The prisoners have been delivered up to the Spaniards, to be tried according to the law." Thus had the affair ended for the present. In a report from Gen. O'Donnel, he states that the public tranquility has not been interrupted for a moment.

Speaking of the affair of Tarifa, the Morning Herald says the place was taken by a joint force of French and Spaniards. It would appear that, previous to the arrival of this intelligence, great alarm prevailed at Madrid—not a little heightened by the departure of the king for Biterfronse. Some change had taken or was about to take place in the Spanish Ministry—these members of it would be better, or no more. The Government of Old Castile at this Lordship continued to get worse, but Dr. Bruno and he thought letting blood again would save his life; and I lost no time in telling my master how necessary it was to comply with the Doctor's wishes. He replied by saying, he feared they knew nothing about his disorder, and then stretching out his arm said, 'Here, take my arm and do whatever you like.' His Lordship continued to get weaker on the 17th he was bled again, and in the morning and at 10 o'clock in the afternoon; the bleeding at both times was follow'd by fainting fits, which would have fallen down more than once had I not caught him in my arms. In order to prevent such an accident, I took care not to let his Lordship sit without supporting him. On this day we must have said to one another—'I cannot sleep, and you tell me that I have not been able to sleep for more than a week!' I know,' added his Lordship, 'that a man can only be a certain time without sleep, and then he must go mad with or any one being able to tell me when I am to go mad. I have sooner shoot myself than be mad. for I am not afraid of dying! I am more fit to give them people think.' I do not however, believe that his Lordship had any apprehension of his late till the day after, the 18th, when he said, 'I fear you and Tita will be ill by sitting up constantly night and day.' I answered, 'I will not leave you for a week if I know, but Tita will you are better.' As my master had a slight fit of delirium on the 18th, I took care to remove the pistols and stiletto, which had hitherto been kept at his bed-side, in the night. On the 18th his Lordship desired me to write immediately, and seemed to be very much dissatisfied with his medical treatment. He wished to allow me to send for Dr. Thomas;' to which he answered, 'Do so, but be quick. I am only sorry I did not let you do so before.' As he saw that we have mistaken my disease: write yourself, for I know you would not like to trust any other hand. I did not lose a moment in obeying my master's orders, and on informing Dr Bruno and Mr. Millengen of it, they said it was very right, as they now began to be afraid themselves. On returning to my master's apartment, Dr. Thomas arrived in London. 'Here you are!' I have, my Lord.' was my answer: upon which he said, 'You have done right, for I should like to know what is the matter with me.' Although his London did not appear to think his dissolution was so near, I could perceive he was getting weaker every hour, and he even began to call me Fletcher several times. He after and said 'I now begin to think I am seriously ill, and in case I should be taken off suddenly, I wish to give you several directions, which I hope you will be particular in seeing executed.' I answered I would, if necessary, avoid cause to panic; but I expressed a hope that he would live many years, to manifest how much better himself than I could. To this my master replied, 'No; it is now nearly over;' and then added, 'I must tell you all without losing a moment.' I then said, 'Shall I go, my Lord, and fetch pen, ink, and paper?' 'Oh, my God, nothing will lose to much time,' said he, and began:—

had been too long in his wet clothes, and the cold, of which he had complained, more or less, ever since we left Constantinople, must have brought on the fever. Through extreme fever during the night, his Lordship slept pretty well but complained in the morning of a pain in his bones and a head-ache; this did not, however, prevent him from taking a ride in the afternoon, which I grieve to say was his last. On his return, my master said that the saddle was not perfectly dry, from being so wet the day before, and observed that he thought it had made him worse His Lordship was again visited by the same slow fever, and I was sorry to perceive on the next morning that his illness appeared to be increasing. His Lordship's appetite was also quite gone. I prepared a little arrow-root, of which he took three or four spoonfuls, saying it was very good, but could take no more. It was not till the third day, the 12th, that I began to be alarmed about my master's safety. I therefore sent for Dr. Bruno and Mr. Millengen, the two medical attendants, and inquired minutely into every circumstance connected with my master's present illness; both replied that there was no danger, I might make myself perfectly easy on the subject, for all would be well in a few days. This was the 13th. On the following day I found my master in such a state, that I could not feel happy without suggesting that he would send to Zante for Dr. Thomas; his Lordship desired me to consult the doctors, which I did, and was told that there was no occasion for calling in any person, as they hoped all would be well in a few days. Here I should remark, that his Lordship repeatedly said he was sure the doctors did not understand his disease; to which I answered, "Then, my lord, have you not Dr. Thomas at present?" "They tell me," said his Lordship, "that it is only a common cold, which you know I have had a thousand times." "I am sure, my Lord," said I, "that you never had one of so serious a nature." "I think I never had," was his Lordship's answer. I repeated my supplications that Dr. Thomas should be sent for on the 15th, and was again assured that my master would be better in two or three days. These unaccountable assurances I did not renew my entreaties until it was too late. With respect to the medicines that whose given to my master, I beg leave to observe myself that those of a stronger purgative nature were the best adapted for his complaint; considering that as he had nothing on his stomach, the very effect would be to create pain. The whole nourishment taken by my master for the last eight days, consisted of a small quantity of broth, and a few spoonfuls of arrow-root. On the 16th, he got more worse during the day break by the landing of French troops, of the 31st regiment of the line. One chief only escaped in a boat; the rest were killed on the spot. The prisoners have been delivered up to the Spaniards, to be tried according to the law." Thus had the affair ended for the present. In a report from Gen. O'Donnel, he states that the public tranquility has not been interrupted for a moment.

Speaking of the affair of Tarifa, the Morning Herald says the place was taken by a joint force of French and Spaniards. It would appear that, previous to the arrival of this intelligence, great alarm prevailed at Madrid—not a little heightened by the departure of the king for Biterfronse. Some change had taken or was about to take place in the Spanish Ministry—these members of it would be better, or no more. The Government of Old Castile at this Lordship continued to get worse, but Dr. Bruno and he thought letting blood again would save his life; and I lost no time in telling my master how necessary it was to comply with the Doctor's wishes. He replied by saying, he feared they knew nothing about his disorder, and then stretching out his arm said, 'Here, take my arm and do whatever you like.' His Lordship continued to get weaker on the 17th he was bled again, and in the morning and at 10 o'clock in the afternoon; the bleeding at both times was follow'd by fainting fits, which would have fallen down more than once had I not caught him in my arms. In order to prevent such an accident, I took care not to let his Lordship sit without supporting him. On this day we must have said to one another—'I cannot sleep, and you tell me that I have not been able to sleep for more than a week!' I know,' added his Lordship, 'that a man can only be a certain time without sleep, and then he must go mad with or any one being able to tell me when I am to go mad. I have sooner shoot myself than be mad. for I am not afraid of dying! I am more fit to give them people think.' I do not however, believe that his Lordship had any apprehension of his late till the day after, the 18th, when he said, 'I fear you and Tita will be ill by sitting up constantly night and day.' I answered, 'I will not leave you for a week if I know, but Tita will you are better.' As my master had a slight fit of delirium on the 18th, I took care to remove the pistols and stiletto, which had hitherto been kept at his bed-side, in the night. On the 18th his Lordship desired me to write immediately, and seemed to be very much dissatisfied with his medical treatment. He wished to allow me to send for Dr. Thomas;' to which he answered, 'Do so, but be quick. I am only sorry I did not let you do so before.' As he saw that we have mistaken my disease: write yourself, for I know you would not like to trust any other hand. I did not lose a moment in obeying my master's orders, and on informing Dr Bruno and Mr. Millengen of it, they said it was very right, as they now began to be afraid themselves. On returning to my master's apartment, Dr. Thomas arrived in London. 'Here you are!' I have, my Lord.' was my answer: upon which he said, 'You have done right, for I should like to know what is the matter with me.' Although his London did not appear to think his dissolution was so near, I could perceive he was getting weaker every hour, and he even began to call me Fletcher several times. He after and said 'I now begin to think I am seriously ill, and in case I should be taken off suddenly, I wish to give you several directions, which I hope you will be particular in seeing executed.' I answered I would, if necessary, avoid cause to panic; but I expressed a hope that he would live many years, to manifest how much better himself than I could. To this my master replied, 'No; it is now nearly over;' and then added, 'I must tell you all without losing a moment.' I then said, 'Shall I go, my Lord, and fetch pen, ink, and paper?' 'Oh, my God, nothing will lose to much time,' said he, and began:—

now short,' said his Lordship; and immediately after, 'Now pay attention.' His Lordship commenced by saying, 'You will be provided for.' I begged him, however, to proceed with things of more consequence; he then continued, 'Oh, my poor dear child! my dear Ada, my God, could I but have seen her! give her my blessing—and my dear sister Augusta and her children; and you will go to Lady Byron, and say——tell her every thing you see me friends with her.' His Lordship appeared to be greatly affected at this moment. I begged my master's voice failed him; so that I could only catch a word at intervals, but he muttered something very seriously for some time, and would often raise his voice and say—' Fletcher, now if you do not execute every thing which I have given you, I will torment you hereafter, if possible.' Here I told his Lordship he was in a state of great perplexity, that I had not understood a word of what he said; to which he replied, "Oh, my God! then all is lost! for it is now too late—even if it be possible you have not understood me?" "No, my Lord," said I, "had I pay you to try and inform me of your wish?" "How so?" answered he. I told him I did not wish to hear, and all is over.' I said "Not our will, but God's be done" said he answered, "Yes, but mine be done; but I will try——" His Lordship did indeed make several efforts to speak, but could only repeat two or three words at a time; and as, "My wife! my child! my sister! you know all—you must say all—you know my wishes"—the rest was quite unintelligible. Consultation was now held, (about noon) where it was determined to administer some Peruvian bark and wine. My master had now been nine days without any sustenance whatever, except what I have already mentioned. With the exception of a few words, which can only interest those to whom they were addressed, and which, if required, I shall communicate to themselves, it was impossible to understand any thing he muttered, said after taking the bark. He expressed a wish to sleep. I set one time asked whether I should call Mr Parry? to which he replied, "Yes, you may call him." Mr Parry desired him to compose himself. He did not seem, and supremely sank into slumber. Mr Parry went away, expecting to find him refreshed on his return, but it was the commencement of the lethargy preceding his death. The last words I heard my master utter were said a short on the evening of the 18th, when he said 'I must sleep now;' upon which he laid down. never to rise again. He did not move hand or foot during the following twenty-four hours. His Lordship appeared, however, to be in a state of satisfaction at intervals, and had a frequent rattling in the throat; on these occasions I called Tita to assist me in raising his head, and I thought he seemed to get quite stiff. The rattling and choking in the throat took place every half hour; and we continued to raise his head whenever the fit came on, till its object to the evening of the 19th, when I saw my master open his eyes and then shut them, but without showing any symptom of pain, or moving hand or foot. 'Is my God!' exclaimed, 'I fear his Lordship is gone!' The doctors then felt his pulse, and said,—"You are right—he is gone."

Domestic.

ANNIVERSARY OF THE BATTLE OF QUEENSTON,

AND THE RE-INTERMENT

OF THE LATE MUCH LAMENTED MAJOR GENERAL

SIR ISAAC BROCK.

There is something so grand and imposing in the spectacle of a nation's homage to departed worth, which it calls for the exercise of so many interesting feelings, and which awakens so many sublime contemplations, that we naturally seek to perpetuate the memory of an event, so pregnant with instruction, and so honourable to our species.—It is a subject that in other, and in older, countries has frequently exercised the pens, and has called forth all the descriptive power, of the ablest writer's.*—But here it is new; and, for the first time, since we became a separate province, have we seen a great, public, funeral procession of all ranks of people, to the amount of several thousands, bearing

* It is impossible here to forget, (however different were the circumstances and character of the two warriors) that fine passage, by the splendid Historian of Rome, wherein he immortalizes the death and funeral of the ferocious ATTILA, in language at once musical and sublime, and which is probably with all an equal in the whole range of English Literature:—"His body was solemnly exposed in the midst of the plain, under a silken pavilion; and the chosen squadrons of the Huns, wheeling round in measured evolutions, chanted a funeral song to the memory of a hero, glorious in his life, inviolable in his death, the father of his people, the scourge of his enemies, and the terror of the world."— the remains of two lamented heroes to their last dwelling on earth, in the vaults of a grand national monument, overtopping the loftiest heights of the most magnificent section of one of the most magnificent countries in the world. Yet is it not our purpose to follow the bombast and extravagancies of some of our contemporaries, (who seem to have exhausted all their tropes and figures, and exaggerations, on this occasion, talking like the famous O'Rourke, most wonderfully at large of those who were there, and those who were not,) but rather to content ourselves with an outline of what we saw, and know to be true, reserving a more minute account for a future occasion—and in another work.

The 13th of October, being the anniversary of the Battle of Queenston, and of the death of Brock, was judiciously chosen as the most proper day for the removal of the remains of the General, together with those of his gallant Aid de Camp, Lt. Col. McDonell, to the vaults prepared for their reception on Queenston Heights.*

The weather was remarkably fine, and before 10 o'clock a very large concourse of people, from all parts of the country, had assembled on the plains of Niagara, in front of Fort George, in a bastion of which the bodies had been deposited for twelve years. † One hearse, covered with black cloth and drawn by four black horses, each with a leader, contained both the bodies.—Soon after Ten o'clock a lane was formed by the 1st. and 4th Regt. of Lincoln Militia, with their right on the gate of Fort George, and their left extending alough the road towards Queenston;—the ranks being about 40 paces distant from each other:—within this line was formed a Guard of Honour of the 70th Regiment in parade order, having its left on the Fort—as the Hearse moved slowly from the Fort, to the sound of solemn music, a detachment of Royal Artillery began to fire the salute of 19 Guns, and the Guard of Honor presented arms.

On moving forwards, in ordinary time, the Guard of Honour broke into a column of Eight Divisions, with the Right in Front, and the Procession took the following order:—

A Staff Officer,
Subdivision of Grenadiers,
Band of Music,
Right Wing of 76th Regiment,
THE BODY,
A. D. C. to the Late Major General Sir Isaac Brock,
Chief Mourners,
Relatives of the Late Colonel M'Donell,
Commissioners for the Monument,
Heads of Public Departments of the Civil Government,
Judges,
Members of the Executive Council,
His Excellency and Suite,
Left Wing of the 76th Regiment,
Indian Chiefs of the Five Nations,
Officers of Militia not on Duty—Junior Ranks First Forward, Four Deep,
Magistrates and Civilians,

With a long Cavalcade of Horsemen, and Carriages of almost every description.

As the procession passed along the lane of Militia, the latter wheeled inwards by subdivisions in succession as soon as its rear front was clear, and followed the procession. At a certain distance from Fort George, the quick march was taken up, and arms were sloped,—the members of the procession then took their carriages, preserving as nearly as possible the order above mentioned, and the whole proceeded on the road towards Queenston.

The 2d and 3d regiments of Lincoln Militia, in like manner, formed a lane, its left, resting on the Heights, near the entrance of the Monument, and extending along the road towards the village of Queenston. On reaching the commencement of this lane, the procession resumed its formation, all horses, carriages, &c. keeping in the rear; and when the head of the column approached the Monument, it inclined to the right, to allow the body to proceed direct to the entrance. The Guard of Honour then halted, and formed in parade order; the 2d and 3d Lincoln Regiment following the procession, in like manner as the 1st and 4th.

The time occupied in moving from the Fort to Queenston, a distance of nearly seven miles, was about three hours including stoppages—Being arrived opposite the spot where the lamented Hero received his mortal wound, the whole procession halted, and remained for a few minutes in solemn pause.—It then ascended the Heights, and, to thespectator who had his station on the summit, near the monument, nothing could be finer than the effect of the lengthened column winding slowly up the steep ascent, in regular order—surrounded by scenery no where surpassed for romantic beauty.

On the bodies being removed from the Hearse, and and deposited in the vault, the Guard of Honor presented arms, whilst the Artillery (which had been taken from the enemy during the late war) posted on the heights, fired a salute of 19 guns—The troops then marched in ordinary time round the monument, and immediately separated to their respective parades.

All those who were inclined to view the interior of the vault were then permitted to enter in small parties. The remains of the brave Mc'Donell lie to the left of those of the General.—On the General's coffin, which is otherwise quite plain, and covered with black cloth, are two oval plates of silver each 6 inches by 4, one above the other;—on the first is the following inscription.

"Here lie the earthly remains of a brave and virtuous Hero, Major Gen. Sir I. Brock, Commander of the British Forces, and President Administering the Government of Upper Canada, who fell when gloriously engaging the enemies of his Country at the head of the Flank Companies of the 49th Regt. In the Town of Queenston on the morning of the 13th of October, 1812—Aged 42 years."

And on the second plate—the following additional inscription is engraved.—"The Remains of the late Major General Sir I. Brock, K. B removed from Fort George to this Vault on the 13th October, 1824.

Inscription on Colonel McDonell's Coffin.

"The Remains of Lieut. Colonel John McDonell' Provincial Aid-de-Camp to the late Major General Brock, who died on the 14th Oct. 1812, of wounds received in action the day before—Aged 25 years.

Several printed papers, having the following extract from the Government Despatches of the day, were handed about.

"His Royal Highness the Prince Regent is fully aware of the severe loss which His Majesty's Service has experienced in the death of Major General Sir I saac Brock. This would have been sufficient to have clouded a victory of much greater importance. His Majesty has lost in him, not only an able and meritorious Officer, but one who in the excercise of his functions of provisional Lieutenant Governor of the Province, displayed qualities admirably adapted to awe the disloyal, to reconcile the wavering, and animate the great mass of the inhabitants against successive attempts of the enemy to invade the Province, in the last of which he unhappily fell, too prodigal of that life of which his eminent services had taught us to understand the value." Extract of a Letter from Earl Bathurst to Sir George Prevost, Ft. 8th, Dec. 1812.

Besides which, on large placards, to the number of several hundred, copies of the inscription to be placed on the Tablet over the entrance of the Monument, were distributed amongst the assembled multitude; and which is as follows:—

"The Legislature of Upper Canada has dedicated this Monument, to the very eminent civil and military services of the late Sir Isaac Brock, Knight Commander of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath, Provisional Lieutenant Governor, and Major General Commanding the Forces in this Province, whose remains are deposited in the vault beneath. Having expelled the North Western Army of the United States, achieved its Capture, received the Surrender of Fort Detroit, and the Territory of Michigan, under circumstances which have rendered his name illustrious, he returned to the protection of this frontier; and advancing with the small force to repel a second invasion of the enemy, then in possession of these heights; he fell in action; on the 13th of October, 1812, in the 43d year of his age; Honoured and beloved by the people whom he Governed, and deplored by his Sovereign, to whose service his Life had been devoted."

REMARKS.

By the best computation we could make, and avoiding all exaggeration, at the time the procession reached the monument there could not be less than 5,000 persons present; many hundred of whom were from the United States—General Brock, indeed, was a man no less esteemed by the enemy, than he was admired, and almost adored, by his friends and soldiery; and we heard several Americans, who had served against him and saw him fall, say that they lamented his death as much as they would have done that of any of their own Generals, on account of his humanity, and the great attention which he had uniformly shewn to his prisoners.

His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor was in full Dress, and, we are happy to say, appeared in good health after his late fatiguing journey of inspection to the Lower Province.

The two M'Donell's and Captain Wilkinson of the 2d Glengary Regiment, relatives of the decea'd Lt. Col. M'Donell, in the Highland Costume, appeared in the procession to great advantage, and seemed to excite much attention.

But amongst the assembled warriors and civilians, none excited a more lively interest than the Chiefs of the Indian Nations from the Grand River, whose warlike appearance, intrepid aspect, picturesque dress and ornaments, and majestic demeanor, accorded well with the solemn pomp and general character of a military procession—amongst these Young Brant, Beads Foot, and Henry, were distinguished. In our mind we never saw a dress more elegant of its kind, and fit for active service in the woods, than that worn by Anyonwaghs, or Young Brant, who with his Tomahawk in hand, was a perfect resemblance of all that could be imagined of the accomplished Indian Warrior.

Every thing was so well arranged, that we heard of but one accident. A man of the name of M'Gregor had his thigh broken by the fall of a Scaffold, that was crowded with people;—he is, however, doing well.

Difficulties in the North West.—We learn that fourteen persons in the employ of the Hudson's Bay Company, have been lately killed by the Snake and Beaver Indians, in the vicinity of the Rocky Mountains. One of the forts in which a Mr. Hughes, (son of Jas. Hughes, Esq. of this city,) was the principal clerk, was attacked and every person belonging to it destroyed. Those acquainted with the trade of that country, look upon these facts as strong proofs of further serious troubles.—Canadian Courant.

Letters have been received, which state upon undoubted authority, that Lieut. Governor Ready has been promoted to the rank of Colonel and appointed to the Staff in British North America.—Quebec Gazette.

DIED.

On the 2nd inst. at Springfield Park, in Murray, of the Gout in his stomach, Col. Richard Bullock, of the First Regt of Northumberland Militia, and formerly a Captain in the 41st Regt. of the line. In the death of this Gentleman the Province has sustained a severe loss. He was a brave, generous, humane man; an excellent disciplinarian and soldier;—an upright magistrate; a kind parent; and a warm, disinterested friend.—Peace be to his ashes, and heavenly consolation to his afflicted family!

PRINTED BY CHARLES FOTHERGILL
GAZETTE OFFICE.

* The Monument, itself, is not yet finished—we shall therefore defer our description of the Edifice until it is completed.

† It is remarkable that, on inspecting the remains, the body of Col. McDonell was found to be almost entirely decomposed—whilst that of the General was still firm and nearly entire;—some of the flesh, and lineaments of his martial countenance, being yet visible.

Upper Canada Gazette.
New Series.

Vol. III. YORK U. C. THURSDAY, OCTOBER 28th 1824. No. XLIV.

By authority.

UPPER CANADA.

P. MAITLAND,
Lieut. Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith.

TO our Beloved and Faithful Legislative Councellors of our Province of Upper Canada; and to our Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses of our said Province, to our Provincial Parliament at our Town of York, on the Sixteenth Day of September instant, to be Commenced, Held, Called and Elected, and to every of you—Greeting:

WHEREAS, our Proclamation bearing date the Tenth Day of September last, We thought fit to Prorogue our Provincial Parliament to the Twenty Fifth day of October, Instant, at which time at our Town of York, you are held and constrained to appear. NOW KNOW YE, that We, taking into our Royal consideration the ease and convenience of our loving Subjects, have thought fit by and with the advise of our Executive Council, to relieve you and each of you of your attendance at the time aforesaid, hereby convoking, and by these presents enjoining you and each of you, that on Thursday the Second Day of December next ensuing, you meet Us in our Provincial Parliament, in our Town of York, there to take into consideration the state and welfare of our Province of UpperCanada, and therein to do as may seem necessary, and herein fail not.

In testimony Whereof, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed.—Witness, our trusty and well beloved Sir Peregrine Maitland, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces in North America, at York, this Twenty Third day of Oct. in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty-four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign.

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,
Jno. B. Robinson, Attorney Gen.
D. Cameron, Secretary.

Upper Canada.

P. Maitland,

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come—GREETING.

WHEREAS by Proclamation bearing date the Fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventeen, our trusty and well beloved Francis Gore, Esquire, late our Lieutenant Governor of our Province of Upper Canada, by and with the advice of the Executive Council there of, and by virtue of the Authority in him vested in that behalf, did declare and appoint the Port of Queenstown, otherwise commonly called the Port of Bath, within the 3rd District of this Province, to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for all Goods and Merchandize, not being entirely prohibited and for the payment of all Duties, liable to be paid on all Goods and Merchandize brought into this Province from the United States of America, &c.

And Whereas by certain Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the Third Year of our Reign, entitled, "An Act to Regulate the Trade of the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, and for other purposes relating to the said Provinces," it is among other things Enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the Governor Lieutenant Governor, or person Administering the Government of either of our said Provinces respectively, by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council thereof for the time being, from time to time to diminish or increase by Proclamation, the number of Ports or places, which there were or thereafter might be appointed in each Province of the Ports of Goods, Wares, and Commodities, imported from the United States of America.

And Whereas it appears expedient for the accurate payment in the Collection of our Revenue, that the said Port of Queenstown shall no longer be a Port of Entry and Clearance.—NOW KNOW YE, that by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of our Province of Upper Canada, We have thought fit to declare, and do hereby declare, that from and after the date of this our Proclamation, the said Port of Queenstown shall cease to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the purposes aforesaid, and that from and after the said Proclamation herein after recited, and appointing the same to be a Port of Entry and Clearance, no Vessel or Boat shall be allowed to enter at the said Port of Queenstown, or to clear outwards therefrom, for any Port or place in the United States of America.

And Whereas it appears expedient for the accurate payment in the Collection of our Revenue, that the said Port of Queenstown shall no longer be a Port of Entry and Clearance.—NOW KNOW YE, that by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of our Province of Upper Canada, We have thought fit to declare, and do hereby declare, that from and after the date of this our Proclamation, the said Port of Queenstown shall cease to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the purposes aforesaid, and that from and after the said Proclamation herein after recited, and appointing the same to be a Port of Entry and Clearance, no Vessel or Boat shall be allowed to enter at the said Port of Queenstown, or to clear outwards therefrom, for any Port or place in the United States of America.

In testimony Whereof, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed.—Witness our trusty and well beloved Sir Peregrine Maitland, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York, this Twentieth day of March in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign. P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,
D. Cameron, Secretary.

Jno. B. Robinson, Attorney Gen.

GLEBES.

His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, in Council, having taken into consideration the system hitherto practised, of Granting Licences of Occupation for GLEBE LANDS, is pleased to order, that in future the Glebes in the several Townships, with the exception of One Lot in each Township, for the accommodation of the Incumbent, shall be Leased on the same terms as Clergy Reserves.

NOTICE is therefore given to those Persons who hold Licences of Occupation for any of the said Glebe Lots, that the same will not be Renewed; and unless they do make application, by Petition, for Leases in the usual manner, through the medium of the Corporation for superintending the Clergy Reserves, before the Twenty-ninth day of September next ensuing, the Lots so held by Licence of Occupation will be Leased to other Applicants.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk Ex. Coun,

Executive Council Office,
York, 29th April, 1824. 19-tf.

Executive Council Office,
York, 14th April, 1824.

NOTICE is hereby given, to Zabez Johnson, or his Representative, to make good any claim he may have to Lot Number Two, in the Seventh Concession of the Township of Louth, in the District of Niagara within six months from this date, in default of which, the Lot will be otherwise disposed of.

By order of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor in Council,

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Ex's. Council. 17—6m.

Executive Council Chamber,
York, 31st January, 1824.

PRESENT,

His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor,
IN COUNCIL,

His Majesty's Government having recently extended their assistance to the class of Emigrants, which it was intended to relieve by gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres of Land, in conveying them to their respective locations:

IT IS ORDERED, that from the first day of May next, no gratuitous Grants be made of any quantity of Land to other than privileged persons.—And that as the Fee on Two Hundred Acres was raised, in order to defray the gratuitous Grants of fifty Acres be consideration being, the future Fee on Two Hundred Acres is reduced to Eight Pounds Four Shilling and One Penny Sterling; the existing Fee before 1819, and the Fee on all other Grants, in Townships surveyed since that time, to be the same as established by the Order in Council, of 5th January, 1819.

N. B. Possessors of gratuitous Grants for Fifty Acres, may, by paying the Fee on One Hundred Acres, receive a Grant of the adjoining Fifty Acres if vacant.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Ex's. Council.

Executive Council Chamber,
at York, 20th Jan. 1824.

PRESENT,

His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor,
in Council.

His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor submitted to the consideration of the Board, the Sheriff's Reports of their respective Gaols, together with other Documents relating to a Winter Circuit, by which it appeared that the House of Assembly had addressed His Excellency to that effect, for the Session only; and obviously for the Delivery of the Gaols in the several Districts.

The limitation of such a measure to one season seeming to militate with the Provision of the Law, that when the Communication from the Seat of Government admitted, and the circumstances of the Province required, there should be a regular Second Circuit, the Board would prefer to recommend that Special Commissions to deliver particular Gaols should issue where requisite; but, as the respective Reports from the Sheriffs do not, in the opinion of the Board, require any unusual interposition, His Excellency, with advice of the Council, postpones a Second Circuit until the circumstances of the Province move decidedly against it.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Executive Council.

Executive Council Office,
York, February 7th 1821.

WHEREAS it has been represented, that many persons who have received Locations of Land, have, from Sickness, and other legitimate causes, been unable to fulfil the Settlement Duty, in the time required by the Location Ticket, and have neglected to apply to His Excellency in Council for an extension of the period, for performance of such duty.

BE it Known that the period for completing the Settlement Duty, is hereby extended to Two Years from the date of Locations until further notice shall be given.

JOHN SMALL, Clk Ex. Coun.

WHEREAS by the Tenor of the Location Tickets a Certificate is required to be lodged of the Settlement Duty being done within two Years, or that the said Location should be forfeited, and in case of Locations not gratuitous, that one third of the Patent Fee be lodged with such Certificate; AND WHEREAS it is represented, that in many instances, Certificates of performance of the Settlement Duty, have been withheld from the inability of the settler to deposit such proportion of the Patent Fee, it is deemed expedient to relieve the settler from forfeiture of his location, when he may actually have performed his settlement duty—Notice is hereby given that in all cases where Settlement Duty has been performed within the limited period, the settler shall, on filing Certificate thereof within six Months of this date, be exempted from forfeiture notwithstanding the non-payment therewith of such portion of the Patent Fee, provided the Patent is sued out within One Year from the filing of such Certificate.

And further; His Excellency, in the hope of avoiding the necessity of rescinding any of the Militia grants, is pleased to direct this Public Notification; that all Lands granted to Militia Men, upon which the Settlement Duties shall not have been performed within the limited period, will in pursuance of general instructions given to the Surveyor General in all similar cases, be declared vacant, and will be granted within Six Months after the expiration of that period, to the first applicant, unless the Original Nominee, shall before such subsequent application, have lodged a Certificate of his having performed the Settling Duties.

JOHN SMALL, Clk. Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office,
York, 7th Nov. 1821.

WHEREAS it has become expedient to establish a line of communication through certain remote Townships, for encouragement thereof, Grants will be made to actual Settlers in the Townships hereinafter named on the condition of Settling within two years from the date of the Location, at the reduced Scale of 8th January, 1819, viz.

A Township North of Mariposa, advertised from the Surveyor General's Office on the 19th of October, as

	Zeta, to be called	Eldon
N. of Ep		Fenelon
N. of Emily advertised as	Emir	Verulam
N. of Smith	Lake	Harvey
E. of do.		Douro
N. of Apsley	Alma	Dummer
N. of Seymour	Mara	Belmont
N. of Dummer	Yea	Burleigh
N. of Mariposa	Ninis	Lake
N. of Madoc		Tudor
N. of Elsever	No	Grimsthorpe
N. of Kaladar	Aye	Anglesea
N. of Kennebec	Jus	Barrie
N. of Norma	Olden	Clarendon
N. of Oso	Et	Palmerston
N. of Belmont	Carlos	Methuen

JOHN SMALL, C. E. C.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District to wit. BY virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed against the Lands and Tenements of William Phenix, in favour of Ralph Leeming and James Hamilton, I have seized and taken in execution, North half of Lot No. Ten in the First Con. of the Township of Trafalgar, North side of Dundas Street, containing one Hundred Acres, on which are some improvements, and the Lot is beautifully situated, and which I shall offer for Sale on Saturday the Fourth Day of December next, at one o'clock P. M. at Mr. Carpenter's Inn, near the Premises, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for Cash only.

TITUS G. SIMONS
Late Sheriff, G. D.

late Sheriff's Office,
24th Sept. 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any claim on the above described Property by Mortgage, or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber on or before the Day of Sale.

T. G. SIMONS,
Late Sheriff.

No. 44.—6 wks.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District to wit. BY virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Abraham R. Smith, at the Suit of Robert Gillespie, Esquire, I have seized and taken in execution Lots No. Eleven, in the First Range, and Twenty-Two in the Second Range, in the Town of Hamilton, and in the Township of Barton, situate on the North side of the Road leading from Dundas to Niagara, each Lot contains One Fourth of an Acre, on the Former is Erected a beautiful Two-Story House, well finished, and fit for any Gentleman's residence, all this valuable Property I shall offer for sale on Monday the 8th Day of December next, at 10 o'clock, A. M. and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for Cash only.

TITUS G. SIMONS.
Late Sheriff, G. D.

Late Sheriff's Office,
24th Sept. 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any claim on the above described Property by Mortgage or other right of incumbrance, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office, on or before the Day of Sale.

T. G SIMONS
Late Sheriff, G. D,

No. 44,—6 wks.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

NIAGARA DISTRICT To Wit: BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the Lands and tenements of John D. M'Kay, at the suit of Peter M'Gill, I have seized and taken the following Lands, viz:—

Lot No. 13, in the 8th Concession of Clinton.
Lot No. 5, 6, 7, & 12, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Grimsby, } 400 acres
Lot No. 37, & 39, in the 8th & 9th Concession of do. } 200 acres

Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 1st Concession of Bertie.
Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 2d Concession of do. } 495 acres
Lot No. 12 & 14, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Gainsbor'o } 400 acres
Lot No. 4, in the 2d Concession of do. } 200 acres
Lot No. 74, 95, 96, & 1, of 201, in the town of Niagara.—All of which property I shall offer for sale on the 24 day of August, 1824, at the Court House in the town of Niagara, at 12 o'clock, noon, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for cash only.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff
By PETER T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Niagara,
July 31st, 1823. 4.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claims on the above named premises, by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

☞ The sale of the above property is postponed until the 18th of September, next, at the same place and hour.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff

The Sale of the above Property is postponed until the second Tuesday in January, 1825.

RICHARD LEONARD, Sheriff.
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.

48—6w.

SHERIFF'S SALE

NIAGARA DISTRICT To Wit: BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the lands and tenements of Liza, alias, Eliza Skinner, widow of the late Haggie Skinner, deceased, at the suit of James Maclem, and James Cummings, Executors of the late John Fasing, deceased, I have seized and taken, as belonging to the said Liza, alias Eliza Skinner, Lots No. 172, and 161, in the Township of Stamford, 323 acres.—Lots No. 2, 3, 6 and in the Township of Pelham, containing 563 acres:—All of which property I shall offer for sale on the second Monday in March, in the year 1825, at twelve o'clock noon, at the Court House in the Town of Niagara, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for cash only.

RICHARD LEONARD, Sheriff.
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Niagara,
March 2nd, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above mentioned premises by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

43—6w. R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Eastern District, To wit. BY Virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the Lands and Tenements of John Richardson, John Forsyth, and Alexander Thain, I have seized and taken in execution, Lot number 35, and East half of Lot number 36 in the Front or First Concession of the Township of Osnabruck, containing 300 Acres, with a good frame Dwelling House and Barn with Stables and Out Houses thereon erected, and about 80 Acres of which are well improved and in the highest state of cultivation.—All Lots number 35, and half of 36 in the Second Concession of the said Township of Osnabruck, containing likewise 300 Acres. All which I will sell at Public Auction at the Court House in the Town of Cornwall, on Monday the Twenty Ninth day of November next ensuing, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for Cash.

DONALD McDONELL,
Sheriff, E. D.

Sheriff's Office, Cornwall
September 22nd, 18.4.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above mentioned Property by Mortgage, or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office, previous to the day of Sale. 42—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Eastern District To Wit BY Virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Henry Barnhart, at the Suit of Willian Blackburn and Francois A. Laroque, I have seized and taken in execution Lot number 15 on the South side of Front Street, in the Town Plot of Cornwall, with a good Frame Dwelling House thereon erected.—Also, the North half of Lot number 18 in the Front or First Concession of the Township of Cornwall containing One Hundred Acres more or less.

All which I will sell at Public Auction at the Court House in the Town of Cornwall, in the said District, on Monday the Twenty Ninth day of November next ensuing, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to the highest bidder for Cash.

DONALD McDONELL,
Sheriff, E. D.

Sheriff's Office, Cornwall
September 22nd, 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any Claim on the above Property, my Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my office previous to the day of sale. 42—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Eastern District To Wit. BY Virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the Lands and Tenements of John Loucks, at the Suit of John Forsyth, John Richardson and Alexander Thain, I have seized and taken in Execution as belonging to the said John Loucks, Lots number 3, 4, and East half of number 5 in the Fourth Concession of the Township of Osnabruck, containing 400 Acres, with a good Frame Dwelling House and Barn, with out-houses, and a Saw and Grist Mill thereon erected. All which I will sell at Public Auction at the Court House in the Town of Cornwall, on Monday the Twenty Ninth day of November next ensuing, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to the highest bidder for Cash only.

DONALD McDONELL,
Sheriff, E. D.

Sheriff's Office, Cornwall
September 22nd, 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any Claim on the above Property, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office previous to the day of Sale. 42—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Newcastle District, to wit. BY virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of Kings Bench, and to the Sheriff of the Newcastle District directed, against the Lands and Tenements of David M'Gregor Rogers Esq. at the suit of John Strachan, Thomas A. Dobbs, and Thomas H. Cartwright, Executors of the late Richard Cartwright, Esq. I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said David M'Gregor Rogers the following Lands, viz.

S. half of Lot No. 3 Broken Front, A.
Lot No. 3 do. do. B. } 330 Acres.
Lot No. 3 do. do. C.
Lot No. 23 2 Concession, 200 do.
Lot No. 26 3 do 200 do.

of the Township of Haldimand, in the county of Northumberland, which Property I shall offer for sale at Public Auction, at the Inn now occupied by Mr. N. W. Mack, in the village of Coburg, on the ninth day of February next at 12 o'clock, at noon.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff,
By EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above described Premises, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber, on or before the day of Sale.

NOTE.—The sale of the above Lots, No. 3, Concession A., B., and C., is postponed until the 3d day of Nov. next at the same place and hour.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
BY EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Coburg, 14—td.
October 13th, 1824.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District to wit. ON Wednesday the 13th day of November next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands, and tenements, as belonging to Thomas Ushie, seized by virtue of an Execution Issued out of his Majesty's Court of king's Bench, at the suit of William Ushie—viz:

All that part of Town Lot No. 6 in Barriefield, laid out on Lot No. 21, East side of the great river Cataraqui, Pittsburgh, containing ¼ of an Acre and five Perches, with the exception of a piece of thirty six feet square, from the North East Corner of the same.

N. B. Any person or persons having claims on the above Lands, or upon any part of them by Mortgage, or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Kingston, July 13th, 1824. 30—t d.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit: ON Saturday the 13th day of December next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, all the right, title, claim and interest of Wm. Bayard Smyth, of Kingston, to the following Town Lots, with the buildings thereon erected, seized by virtue of a Writ of Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at the suit of C. A. Hagerman, Esq. viz:—Lot No. 110, and the North West half of Lot No. 107, in the Town of Kingston, containing three tenths of an acre.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above property, or upon any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Kingston, Sept. 14th, 1824.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

District of London To Wit. BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of John W. McIntire, at the suit of Thomas Cooper, I have taken in execution the following land which I will offer for sale at the Court House in Vittoria, on Saturday the 6th of November now next, viz:—Lot No. 21 & 22 and the West half of Lot No. 23 in the Second Concession of the Township of Zora, containing Five Hundred Acres of Excellent Land, Sale to commence at one o'clock.

A. A. RAPELJE,
Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office
Sept. 13th, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any legal claims either by mortgage or any other right of incumbrance will make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

A. A. R.
40—t. d.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

District of London To Wit. BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Wm. Bayard Smyth, of Kingston, to the following Town Lots, with the buildings thereon erected, seized by virtue of a Writ of Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at the suit of C. A. Hagerman, Esq. viz:—Lot No. 110, and the North West half of Lot No. 107, in the Town of Kingston, containing three tenths of an acre.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above property, or upon any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Kingston, Sept. 14th, 1824.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

District of London To Wit. BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of John W. McIntire at the suit of Thomas Cooper, I have taken in execution the following land which I will offer for sale at the Court House in Vittoria, on Saturday the 6th of November now next, viz:—Lot No. 21 & 22 and the West half of Lot No. 23 in the Second Concession of the Township of Zora, containing Five Hundred Acres of Excellent Land, Sale to commence at one o'clock.

A. A. RAPELJE,
Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office
Sept. 13th, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any legal claims either by mortgage or any other right of incumbrance will make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

A. A. R.
40—t. d.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

District of London To Wit. BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of John Bostwick, at the suit of Messrs. Cross & Fisher, I have taken in execution as the Property of the said Bostwick, Lot No. seven in the second Concession of the Township of Woodhouse, said Lot is situated in a very flourishing part of said Township, about Fifty Acres of improved Land, a good frame Barn &c.—said land I will offer for sale at the Court House, on Saturday the sixth day of November now next, at one o'clock P. M.

A. A. RAPELJE,
Sheriff L. D.

Sheriff's Office,
Sept. 13th, 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any legal claims either by Mortgage or any other right of incumbrance on the above stated Premises will make the same known to me before the day of Sale.

A. A. R.
40—td.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT.

FOR

FIRE-WOOD

NOTICE is hereby given, that Tenders will be received at this Office until the 16th day of November next, at Noon, from such Persons as are desirous of Contracting for the Supply of the undermentioned quantity of FIRE WOOD for the use of the Troops at York, viz.—

400 CORDS,

To be delivered into the Government Fuel Yard at this Post, and Corded by the 1st Day of February, 1825. The Wood to be of Sound and Merchantable quality, consisting of—

MAPLE,	IRON-WOOD,
HICKORY,	BLACK &
BEECH,	YELLOW BIRCH,

And to be of the following dimensions, viz.—The Stick to be cut full four feet long, and the Cord to be eight feet long, by four feet four inches in height. Further conditions and particulars may be known on application at this Office; sufficient Security will also be required for the due fulfilment of the Contract entered into, and the parties making Proposals will be required to attend at the time of opening the Tenders which must be Sealed and Endorsed "Tender for Fire Wood."

F. T. BILLINGS,
Dep't. Ass't. Com'y. Gen'l.

Commissariat Office
York, October 14, 1824. 43—4w

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT

FOR

BEEF.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that Tenders will be received at the Commissariat Office, at York, from Persons who may be willing to furnish the Royal Naval Establishment at Penetanguishine, with such quantities as may be required of

FRESH BEEF,

for Twelve Months, commencing the 1st of January, 1825, and ending the 31st of December following.

Sealed Tenders to be delivered into this Office by the 12th of November at noon. No Tender will be noticed, unless the Party and his Sureties, or an Agent on their behalf, attend at the opening of the Tenders, which must be endorsed. Tenders for supplying the Royal Naval Establishment at Penetanguishine with Fresh Beef.

The Conditions of Contract, and other particulars, may be known on application at this Office.

F. T. BILLINGS.
D'y. Ass't Com'y General.

Commissariat Office, York,
October 4th, 1824. No. 41.—5w.

NOT OFFICIA

FIRE INSURANCE.

THE Sun Insurance Company of New York, having appointed George Crookshank, Esquire, their Agent in Upper Canada—he is ready to Insure against Loss or Damage by Fire, on Dwelling Houses, Stores, Merchandise, House-hold Furniture, and other Personal Property; at moderate Rates of Premium.— Persons wishing to Insure must send a plan of their Buildings, when wanted out of the Town of York, a respectable reference will be required, and Letters Post Paid —Application to be made to

R. W. PRENTICE.

York, 28th Sept. 1824. No. 53—t. f.

FOR SALE.

A Farm on Yonge Street, Lot [illegible] 32 in Markham, One Hundred and Ninety A[illegible]es, of which ninety [illegible] cleared, with a Frame House and Barn on the same, a stream of water runs across the Lot, and Purdy's Saw and Grist Mills are on the Lot opposite to the same.—Terms of payment will be made easy.—Application to be made to

GEORGE CROOKSHANK.

York, 17th Oct. 1824.

N. B. Should the above mentioned Farm not be sold by the 1st March next, it will then be lease[illegible]

43—tf.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the County of Dundas, intend presenting a Petition to the Legislature at its next Session, for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Dundas, and the Town of Cornwall alternately.

Also to have the Concession [illegible] between the fourth and fifth Concession of the To[illegible]ip of Williamsburg in this Eastern District, to have the said line run upon the true course of No. 6 & 6. and completed.

And also the side lines in the said fourth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg aforesaid, to have the said side lines to run upon the original course No. 24 W.

43—26w.

LAND IN PERCY.

A VERY valuable Lot of Land, consisting of 200 Acres, being No. 7 in the 2nd Concession of the Township of Percy, in the Newcastle District, and not far from the River Trent, in the midst of a good settlement may be had for 2$ per Acre, with an indisputable title, and immediate possession.—Inquire at the U. C. Gazette Office.

43—tf.

A LADY having lately arrived from England, and considering an opportunity presents for establishing a SEMINARY of respectability in Kingston, U C solicits the patronage of those Ladies who may feel disposed to place their daughters where the most useful and polite Branches of Education are taught; having been accustomed to the best established method of Tuition, she trusts that an assiduous and unremitting attention to her Pupils and their interests may ensure her success.

☞ For Cards of address and Terms, apply (if by letter, post paid,) to Mr. Henry Smith, King street, Kingston, and to the office of this paper.

42—3w.

TO DISTILLERS & BREWERS.

ROBERT Todd Dean having made Chemistry the study of his life, and having for himself and others both in Scotland and Ireland, for sixteen years conducted a Chemical Manufactory, (Testimonials of the most satisfactory kind can be produced from many respectable individuals to that effect) and having like others of his Countrymen come to Canada for the purpose of bettering his condition in life, finds himself situated, now, as to be obliged to offer his services to persons engaged in the Brewing and Distilling business both of which branches, together with the Manufactory of Cordials &c he professes, with all their late improvements, to perfectly understand.

Any Person desirous of having his services by address ing a letter to him (post paid) to the care of Matthew Crooks Esq. Ancaster Upper Canada, may depend upon its meeting with a ready attention from

Signed,

R. T. DEAN.

N. B. Terms will be moderate, and such as will be within the reach of every one, doing even a moderate business, immediate employment is an object to

R. T. D.

40—13w.

TOWN LOTS IN PORT HOPE.

SEVERAL valuable building Lots, in the flourishing village of Port Hope, are for Sale, by private Contract, on the most liberal Terms, and on a credit of several Years, provided the first instalment be paid down. Either Produce or Manual Labour will be received, if desired, in Payment —For further particulars apply at the U. C. Gazette Office, York, or to Messrs. C. & J. Stowe, Merchants,—Port Hope.

No. 40.—t. f.

FARM TO LET IN MONAGHAN.

NEAR THE RICE LAKE AND RIVER OTONABEE, IN THE DISTRICT OF NEWCASTLE.

On very Advantageous Terms.

THERE are already 15 Acres cleared, and a Log House erected, upon the Farm, which consists of 600 Acres.—The Terms, which are singularly advantageous to a labouring man with a family, are these, A Lease will be given for three years—on condition that the Tenant Clears and Fences from 5 to 10 Acres of new Land, and more if he is able, in each and every year of the Lease,—for which the Proprietor will pay at the rate of 12$ per Acre—besides allowing all the Crops—(except the Ashes)—to the Tenant.

The House stands on the margin of a running stream, and is within 1½ mile of a Grist and Saw Mill.

For further particulars, apply at the U. C. Gazette Office; or to George Ingle, Esqr. Cavan.

VALUABLE LAND IN OTONABEE,

FOR SALE ON A CREDIT OF YEARS.

ONE of the most valuable Lots in the beautiful Township of Otonabee, on the Rice Lake, consisting of two Hundred Acres, being Lot No. 10, in the Ninth Con. The quality of the Land is first rate, Maple, Beech, Bass, Elm, and Oak.) It has a Log House, and some small improvements upon it, and is not quite a mile distant from the Rice Lake, and from the Town Plot. It has also the advantage of being well watered by a Creek that never fails.

Price, two dollars per Acre; and terms of payment, One Eighth at the time of concluding the bargain, and Seven Years Credit, by annual instalments with interest for the remainder, if desired.—Inquire at the Gazette Office.

TO THE PUBLIC.

MR. THOMAS MIDBURN.

BEGS LEAVE to acquaint the Gentry, and Inhabitants of York, and its Vicinity, generally,—that he has just arrived from London direct with a Select Assortment of Gentlemen's Wearing Apparel;—consisting of Superfine Dress Coats, Vests, and Trowsers;—Fustian Shooting Jackets and Trowsers,—Round about Jackets;—Elastic Great Coats;—Fancy Waist coats, &c. &c. &c.—with a quantity of Hosiery, Haberdashery, and Choice Cutlery.

This Assortment has been made with care and to suit the Canadian Market, and will be sold at low prices for CASH. The whole may be seen at the Store next to Mr. Wm. SMITH'S in King's Street, York.

York: September 15th, 1824. t. f.

TO BE SOLD,

(And possession given at a short notice.)

THAT Elegant, and Commodious Mansion, Built, and lately occupied, by

A. N. McNAB, ESQUIRE.

situated in King-Street, East, about half way between the Don Bridge and Town of York.—With a Large Garden, Spacious Yard, and every necessary Outbuilding;—containing altogether One Acre of Land.

The House is of Two Stories, besides the Ground floor, and has the following Rooms and conveniences viz:—A Parlour, Drawing-Room, Four Lodging Rooms, and Dressing Room, Study, Store Room Servants Room, Kitchen, Back Kitchen, Cellar Loft, &c. &c. &c. Water is conducted by Pipes into the Kitchen, where are the necessary Fixtures.

Amongst the Out Offices, are, Stables, Harness Room, Cow House, Coach and Cart House, Bake and Smoke House, &c. &c.

The Garden, which contains more than half an acre of Land, has been lately well stocked with various kinds of valuable Fruit-Trees.

For Terms, and further particulars, apply to the U. C. Gazette Office.

t. f.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the First Concession of Sophiabsurgh South-west of Green Point.—by reason of the material damage they have sustained these number of years back, on account of the erroneous original Survey of the Second Concession Line, Are determined to Petition the Legislature of this Province at the ensuing Session of Parliament for the alteration of the said Line, and to settle all the differences relating thereunto.

Sophiasburgh, Oct 7th, 1824. } No. 44.—6 m.

NOTICE.

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the Eastern District will at the next Session of the Legislature make application to be authorised to effect a Loan to enable them to erect a Gaol and Court House in the Town of Cornwall.

37—6m.

NOTICE.

AN APPLICATION will be made to the Legislature at its next Session for an Act imposing a Tax on Dogs in the Town of York and its vicinity, the proceeds of which to be applicable to the police purposes.

By Order of the Magistrates in Adjourned General Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the Home District assembled on the 6th day of Sept. 1824.

(Signed,)

S. HEWARD.

Clk. Peace Home District.

NOTICE

IS hereby given that the Inhabitants of the County of Glengary intend presenting a Petition to the Legislature, at its next Session for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Glengary and the Town of Cornwall alternately.

37—6m.

SADDLE AND HARNESS MANUFACTORY.

MESSRS. BALL AND GIBBONS beg leave respectfully to inform the Inhabitants of York, and its Vicinity, that they carry on the Business of Saddle and Harness-Making, in all its branches, next door to Mr. Pitterson's, Merchant, in the Market Square, York;—and they hope, by strict attention to the orders, with which they may be favoured, to merit a share of the Public Patronage.

York, Oct 21st, 1824. No. 44.—6w.

NOTICE.

THE Plan and Estimate of a STEAM BOAT, (to be Built by Mr. Amos S. Rowley,) about One Hundred Tons Burthen, intended to Ply between this Port and Niagara, may be seen at this Office.—Her Engine is intended to be of Twenty Five Horse Power. The whole Cost is estimated at Two Thousand Two Hundred and Five Pounds Currency. She is to be Built by Stock, made up of Shares of Twenty Five Pounds each. A few Shares are still wanting. Subscriptions for which will be received at this Office, and at the Office of the Niagara Steamer, where Estimates and Conditions will be exhibited to those who wish to become Stockholders.

Gazette Office, York, August 26th, 1824. } No. 35.—t. f.

FOR SALE.

LOT No. Two, in the First Concession of the Township of York, with the Broken Front, containing about Two Hundred and Forty Acres of Land.

Application to be made to

J. B. MACAULAY

York, 12th June, 1824. 25—t. f.

NOTICE.

ALL Persons indebted to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire, of Stamford, are requested to make immediate payment to the Subscriber at Vittoria, London District, and those having claims on the Estate, will be pleased to furnish him with their respective Accounts properly authenticated.

(Signed) WALTER NICHOL,

Administrator to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire.

Niagara, 29th May, 1824.

NOTICE.

WANTED, for Fourteen Years, or not less than Ten, a Loan of TWO THOUSAND POUNDS Halifax Currency, for the building of a PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH of ENGLAND, in the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada.

The Subscriber is authorized to offer Efficient Legal Securities for the Repayment of the Loan, at the end of the period, and for the Annual Payment of the Interes accumulating thereon, at Six per Cent. per annum.

(By Order of the Committee.)

GEORGE O'KILL STUART,

19—tf. Secretary, pro tem.

NOTICE.

FOR SALE, by private Contracts, the House and Lot lately occupied by Mr. O'Sullivan, Saddler, King's-Street, in the Town of York, the Lot is 26 feet fronting King's-Street, by 142 feet deep.

Also.—A Lot adjoining the above on the West side, 34, by 142 feet.

Also.—A Lot adjoining Mr. Duggan's, 34, by 119 feet.

Also.—Three Lots on Stuarts Land, each 40, by 60 feet.

Should the above Property and Lots not be sold by Private Contract, the five last described Lots will be sold at Public Sale, on the first day of July ensuing.

Application for Terms of Sale, to be made to

ALEXANDER WOOD, ESQ.

York, 17th March, 1824. t. f.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Inhabitants of the Township of Townsend intend Petitioning both Houses of the Provincial Legislature at its next Session, to pass a Law, Establishing a Line Surveyed in the year 1823, between the 12th and 13th Cons. of the said Township.

Townsend, 20th May, 1824. } No. 21—1 m. t. d.

VALUABLE LANDED PROPERTY FOR SALE.

TWENTY-SEVEN TOWN LOTS, eligibly situated in the Village of Cobourg, in Hamilton, Upper Canada, on one of which, a Store and Dwelling House are erected.

Two Neat Small FARMS, contiguous to the above Village, containing, one, about Twenty-eight Acres, the other, about Forty Acres more or less, with other Buildings on each of them.—A Plan of the above may be seen on application to Mr. J. G. Bethune, Cobourg, (who will shew the Premises,) or to the Subscriber.

Two TOWN LOTS in Picardville, adjoining to the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada, with Houses and other Buildings thereon, being Lots No. 21 and 22.

200 Acres of Land being No. 1, 8th Con. of Murray.

200 do do being No. 4, 4th do of Hungerford.

200 do do being No. 1, 8th do of Winchester.

200 do do being No. 24, 8th do of Mountain.

200 do do being the West halves of No. 31 and 32 in the 2d Concession of Hawkesbury.

Liberal Terms of Payment will be granted.

For particulars apply to

FRS. ANT. LAROQUE.

N. B. The above mentioned Town Lots in the flourishing Village of Cobourg, and the two adjoining Farms, will be disposed of by Public Sale, in the said Village on the 24th May next.

F. A. L. R.

Montreal, 15th March, 1824. t. f.

INTERESTING NOTICE.

THE Surveyor General begs leave to inform the Public, that he has obtained the permission of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, to publish a of the Province, on a large Scale. It is to be engraved in London, in the best style, and will be ready for delivery in a few months.

CORRECT MAP

This information, the Surveyor General thinks it necessary to make, in order to prevent those persons, who are desirous of having an authentic MAP of Upper Canada, from being imposed upon by a Surreptitious Copy, said to be on the eve of Publication.

Surveyor General's Office, York, 2d April, 1823. } 14—tf

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the County of Prince Edward, in the Midland District, intend Petitioning the Legislature, at the next Session thereof, to have the said County sett off, and made into a separate District from the said Midland District, and to be called the District of Maitland. No. 24—6m.

NOTICE.

VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE.

VIZ.—

In the Township of Vaughan

Lots No. 22, 23. 24, in the 7th Con. and Broken Lot No. 5, in the 10th Concession. } 620 Acres.

Township of York

Lot No. 13, 5th Concession, and Broken Front West of Yonge Street on the Humber, West half of No. 15, in 2d Con. West of Yonge St. } 380 Acres.

Township of Percy

Lot No 20, in 3d Concession. } 400 Acres.

Lot No. 21, in 4th Ditto.

For particulars apply to Guy C. Wood, Esq. Cornwall, or the Subscriber in York.

R. G. ANDERSON.

19th July, 1824. 30—tf.

TERMS

OF THE U. C. GAZETTE AND WEEKLY REGISTER.

Four Dollars per annum (Postage included) payable half year ly in advance. Three months notice is required previous to the discontinuance of any Subscription.

Price of Advertising.

Six lines and under, two shillings and six pence, and sevenpence halfpenny, every subsequent insertion.

Six to ten lines, five shillings, and one shilling and the sevenpence halfpenny.

All exceeding ten lines, four pence per line for the first insertion, and one penny subsequently.—Blank and Figure work charged Double.—A discount of 25 per cent. allowed to those who advertise by the year.—Advertisements cannot be received after 1 o'clock on the Wednesday afternoon immediately preceding the day of Publication.—Advertisements unaccompanied with positive directions as to the exact number of insertions to be given them, will be continued until expressly forbidden,—or until the day of Sale (if winding to Sales) and charged accordingly.

☞ Advertisements from the Country must be post paid, with the price of insertion; or, a reference in Town who will pay when demanded, or discontinued.

☞ Any Agent obtaining 3 Subscribers has a paper for himself at half price;—if he obtains 6, he has his own paper gratis;—and, for as many as he obtains above 6, he will receive, besides his own paper, a Commission of 5 per cent. upon the whole amount.

BLANK DEEDS AND MEMORIALS

For Sale at this Office.

WEEKLY REGISTER.

Vol. III. Our endeavor will be to "stamp the very body of the time—its form and pressure"—we shall extenuate nothing, nor shall we set down aught in malice. No. 44.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 28th, 1824.

Editorial Commentary.

The King of France sleeps with his Fathers! The Albion of the 16th instant, thus announces his Death.—"By an express which reached London from Paris on the 14th of Sept. at 3 P. M. the news of this important event was received and published in a second edition of the London evening papers".—The Courier says the demise of the King will occasion no change in the councils or policy of France—Her present ministers are said to possess the confidence of the heir to the throne, who is also popular with the army, as well as with the people.—The Count d'Artois, who must now be proclaimed King is 65 years old.—The next in order of succession, is the Duke d'Angoulême, and after him the infant son of the late Duke of Berry—Louis XVIII. was a scholar, and an able and prudent man. Few could have ascended the crazy throne of the Bourbons at the critical period when he was called to it, and have rendered it as stable, and consolidated the dynasty as firmly, as he has done.

On the subject of the great Canadian Land Company the last Montreal Herald has the following passage:—

We are happy to learn, that Simon McGillivray, Esquire, one of the Directors, and John Galt, Esquire Secretary of the Canadian Land Company, are daily expected to this country, for the purpose of making the necessary arrangements for commencing the opperations of the Company.

The re-capture of Ipsara, by the Greeks is confirmed; but a most formidable demonstration, on the part of the Turks against the Island of Samos!—It is said that the Turkish Government has a project to carry away from the Morea the rest of the Christian population, and settle them in Egypt, and to bring Egyptians to inhabit that beautiful Peninsula!!

In our next we propose giving some very interesting notices relative to the Canadian Land Company.

The New York Spectator informs us that $50,000 have been subscribed in that city towards completing the Welland Canal!!

In the first volume of the Register we gave Dr. Hosmer's description of the Falls of Niagara as the best we had ever seen in print.—This day we present our readers with a worthy supplement to that account, by another hand, describing a scene, under that stupendous and sweet which was imperfectly explored by Hennepin, and in a very forcible, lively, manner.—To the eye of American Literature, it is found as an original communication in the Literary Gazette of the United States, and will be read with pleasure, even by those who are familiar with the wonders it so faithfully portrays.

The Publication of many valuable Communications is still unavoidably postponed

SELECTIONS FROM BRITISH AND FOREIGN JOURNALS.

It is confidently asserted that a certain action for crim. con. which excited a Keen interest, has been compromised.

The daughter of Joseph Bonaparte landed from the Criuis, from New York, at Portsmouth, and proceeded for Gatead.

Mr. Hurtado, the Colombian Minister, has arrived in Paris

The agents of Ferdinand, in this country, secretly endeavouring to raise a loan, have thus far met with positive denials.

[illegible] persons are now in confinement in Prussia for conspiring against the state. Thirty are to be tried at Cologne.

WAVERLY NOVELS.—The new Novel by the author of Waverly is entitled "Tales of the Crusaders," and is stated to be in considerable forwardness.

ELOPEMENT.—The Hon. W. Maule advertises in the Edinburgh Chronicle, that he will pay no debts contracted by his daughters, Georgiana, Ramsay, and Christian, who have eloped from the Brechin Castle.

THE 42D HIGHLANDERS.—The total number of men that belonged to the 42d, or Highland Regiment, from the year 1797 to 1816, was 18,127. In 1817, there were only 3 men living in the corps that fought against Buonaparte in Egypt.

ZOFFANY, AND HIS LATE MAJESTY.—When Zoffany began his picture of the Royal Family there were ten children. He made his sketch accordingly; and attending two or three times, went on with finishing the figures. Various circumstances prevented him from proceeding—his majesty was engaged in business of more consequence; her, Majesty was engaged; some of the Princesses were engaged, and some of the Princes were too well. The completion of the picture was consequently delayed, when a messenger came to inform the artist that another Prince was born, and must be introduced in the picture. This was not easy, but it was accomplished with some difficulty. All this took up much time, when a second messenger arrived to announce the birth of a Princess, and to acquaint him that the illustrious stranger must have a place on the canvass. This was impossible without a new arrangement; one half of the figures were there fore obliterated in order that the grouping might be closer to make room. To do this was the business of some months, and before it was finished, a letter came from one of the maids of honour, informing the painter, that there was another addion to the family, for whom a place must be found. "This" cried the artist, "is too much: I cannot sit with more regularity, I artist, "is too much: I cannot sit with more regularity, I artist, "is too much: I cannot sit with more regularity, I Pardon me, exclaimed she, I did not know it was you

The tooth in Italy is valued at the Princess Borghese has discarded all her teeth for a young Englishman.

TO BE LET ALONE.—Every one has heard of the story of a man who, when looking at a house, asked the servant, a pretty girl if she was to be let with the house. "No, Sir, she replied, "if you please. I am to be let alone." The following is of this witticism to our well known, and it will surprise most readers to learn, that it is to be found in the works of a very pious writer, who was born in the year 1592, namely:—Francis Quarles, who has the following quaint epigram;—

ON THE WORLD.

This house is to be let for life or years;
The rent is sorrow, and her income tears:
Unless that stand long void; her bills made known,
She must be daily out, or let alone.

A VALUABLE SIGN.—A few years since the Proprietor of Vauxhall Gardens lost his celebrated carver of hams, when he advertised for a new carver in that department of harmless anatomy. One of modesty applied, when the worthy Proprietor asked him how many acres he could carve with one ham; he replied, "he did not stand upon an acre or two more or less, but would carve the whole of his gardens with one ham;" upon which he was instantly hired, and told he was the very fellow for the establishment, and to cut away for the benefit of the consumers and of one hand at large.

Useful Machine!—A Yankee patent machine was heard of, says a Georgetown paper, which, says the story, when properly wound up and set in motion, will chase a hog over a ten acre lot, catch yoke, and ring him, "with the utmost precision and alacrity."

Extraordinary Phenomenon.—An extraordinary phenomenon occurred on the 24 Sept. near Haworth, about 24 miles from Leeds. A part of the high lands on the moors, opened into chasms and sunk to the depth of 5 or 6 yards in some places, and formed two eastles, one about two hundred and the other about six hundred yards in circumference, from these issued two large masses volumes of muddy water, which, uniting at the distance of one hundred yards from their sources overwhelmed the country for about two hours from thirty to sixty yards in width, from three to four yards in depth, and for a distance of six or seven miles. All this way there was deposited a black moorish substance, from thirty to thirty-six inches in depth, mixed with sand, rocks, stones, &c. A paragraph dated Leeds, Sept. 6, states that the River Ayre still presented the most extraordinary appearance,—resembling exactly the grounds of coffee. All the woolen manufactures, dye-houses, &c. upon its banks, were completely at a stand, and the most lively apprehensions prevailed as to the ultimate consequences of this unusual phenomenon.

SCHOOL FOR SCANDAL.—A translation of Sheridan's celebrated comedy, without any alteration in the plot, the characters, or the dialogue, was announced for representation at Versailles. We have not heard whether or not it was successful.

SINGULAR COINCIDENCE.—At an obscure house in a court in Piccadilly, London, appropriated for the purpose of an anatomical school, a poor woman occupies the ground flour, who actually deals in muscles, her husband is a bonemerchant, and over the door is a board with this inscription—Mangling done here!

A German, of the name of Klotch, a very worthy man, was cook and maitre d' hotel to the Empress Catharine; though old, he was a court beau, and very spruce about the head; and being a favorite with her imperial Majesty, used to hand some particular dishes to her on great occasions. One of the torments to high northern latitudes, where the summer is so short and hot, is the innumerable host of flies that tease you — Some wags aware of this, got the old gentleman's bag wig, and powdered it with the finest pulverized double refined white sugar, so that when he waited at table, he was beset, like Pharaoh, with the worst of his plagues. He beat with his hands, blew, puffed, reddened in the face and at last, no longer able to bear silently the torment he endured, burst out suddenly with the exclaimation of "Donder and blitz, vat is dat for a fly summer!" Her Majesty, aware of the trick, soothed him; and affecting to wonder the flies should exclusively level all their stings at him, advised him to pull off his wig, which he was reluctantly obliged to do; and actually finished his attendance in a full dressed suit of embroidered clothes, with his naked shaved head.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

FRANCE.

London, Sept. 5.

Surgical Report on Louis XVIII.

"We are informed by a gentleman who has just arrived from Paris, that on Friday last, the King's malady having assumed an alarming appearance, a consultation of his physicians took place. Dr. Dubois was of opinion, that by cupping and scarification, with the exhibition of certain internal remedies, life might be protracted for some months longer. Dr. Albert expressed doubt whether his Majesty's life could, under any medical aid, be protracted beyond a month, and Baron Portal concurred in that opinion. After the consultation, Baron Portal was called into the Royal presence, and his Majesty begged the Baron to be candid with him, and to state what had passed, and more particularly to inform him what was the Baron's own opinion. As the Baron was unwilling to do so, his Majesty repeated his request with more urgency, observing that he was perfectly resigned to the will of Heaven. Upon this, the Baron disclosed the particulars of the consultation, and expressed his own decided opinion that from the progress of his Majesty's malady, he might prepare himself for the termination of all his sufferings in about three weeks. His Majesty is said to have received the melancholy intimation with great fortitude, observing that he was completely prepared for the awful change.

It is worthy of remark, that none of the Kings of France have been succeeded in the throne by their own sons for nearly two centuries: the present king Louis XVIII succeeded his brother Louis XVI who succeeded his father Louis XV. who likewise succeeded his grandfather Louis XIV. when about five years of age; nor has the present king any son to succeed him in the event of his death.

A Dunkirk Journal, anxious to prove, that France possesses animals of rare merit, gives the following as an example, "Mr. Jolly, a Cloth merchant of Abbeyville, is in possession of a beautiful drake, which he has by perseverance for two years, with a hard organ, taught to sing several different airs.—He intends trying the same experiment on a Turkey!!!

SPAIN.

"CADIZ, August 15.—Spain, unhappy Spain, is again likely to become the theatre of anarchy and civil war. The disturbances which first broke out at Algesiras and Tarifa, and which were smeared at by the French, have now assumed a more formidable appearance, and are widely and rapidly extending to the neighbouring towns and to the interior of the country. Throughout all Andalusia the greatest excitement is produced, and almost all the horses are seized by the rebel party, and taken to the mountains to form light troops to scour the country, and to communicate with one another. Several rencontres have already taken place between the French troops and the constitutional party.

"This morning brought the news of Ayamonte having fallen into the hands of the Spaniards, but it is not yet confirmed. Last night, and indeed for several nights past, boats were observed to pass out of the bay, with no lights on board. Signals are likewise continued, beyond a doubt, that their real object was to make a landing in some convenient place on the shore, to co-operate with their brethren in arms.

"It is well known to the authorities, that upwards of 800 men left Cadiz to join the insurgents since last Sunday; but last night the sea being calm, and the moon shining clearly, they were discovered by the French ships, and a heavy firing commenced which obliged some of the boats to return, with several of the crew wounded. In this city the police establishment is much increased, and the greatest vigilance is observed both by the French crewsed, and the greatest vigilance is observed both by the French and Spanish authorities. On Sunday, the Ayuntamiento of Cadiz held a secret meeting, and it was there proposed, by one of the body, to arrest all those who were known to be notorious constitutionalists; but as yet this bold measure has not been carried into effect.

The Courier says—"We understand that an official person from the Spanish Government has made application to our Government, to purchase frigates, to which they have given a decided refusal. The same person, however, has been employing Portuguese, Italian and Indian and ships of a large class, respecting which he has taken the particulars, and left town for Paris last night."

Several of the papers which were quite recently abusing the Constitutional Spaniards, are now prophesying the downfall of Ferdinand and his system.

SOUTH AMERICA.

The day the brig Delaware left Santa Martha information was received there, by letters from Bogota, that an action had taken place in Peru, between the Colombian army under Bolivar, and the Royalists, in which the former were completely victorious. General Cordova, the Colombian army was killed. The law of the Congress of Columbia authorising resident foreigners to transact their own business subject to the same taxes and contributions, and the same privileges as native citizens, had not been put in force at Santa Martha when the D. sailed—Phila Gaz.

The Government has at length acceded to the wish of the merchants trading with Columbia and Mexico, by sanctioning the appointment of packets to sail regularly to those countries. As the packet previously established for the commission to the Spanish Ayres included the convenience of letters to Chili and Peru, the whole of South America and Mexico is now open to the merchants, through the medium of the English Post-office.

The basis of a commercial treaty is said to have been agreed upon between the Great Britain and Buenos Ayres, which when completed, must strengthen the intercourse between the two countries.

The celebrated M. de Pradt has published another work, which he calls, L'Europe et L'Amerique en 1822 et 1823. In one part," observes M. de Pradt, "remains for Europe to play towards America, and this part will be as beneficial to her as glorious; it will cost neither her gold nor her blood; it will cause no other tears to be shed than those of happiness and gratitude — This part consists in putting an end to discord, to distrust, to dispute, to uncertainty. Would you, by frankly acknowledging what really exists, and by terminating the strange spectacle of one world remaining unrecognised by another. The true way of serving Spain is not to flatter her with vain hopes, but to induce her to consent to a separation which, in the actual state of things, is little more than nominal, and to which are attached immense advantages even to Spain herself; advantages that time alone can develop. What would you do to America? Would you restore her to slavery again? Would you give her back her chains? Instead of overwhelming her with such misfortunes, let the governments of Europe, by leaving her at peace, diffuse over that vast continent blessings the more easily bestowed as they will cost nothing; let them reflect on the innumerable generations which free America must call to perfection; let them calculate what Europe must gain by this increase in the number and the civilisation of Americans; let them, if possible, compute all the good which Europe and America may mutually confer on each other by cultivating the most intimate, and, at the same time, the most disinterested relations. Such are the only ideas worthy of occupying the principal Powers of Europe; such are the only ideas which can satisfy the demands of the present and future, and, above all, of justice and humanity."

IRELAND.

We need not express the satisfaction we feel in copying the following paragraph from the Dublin Evening Post of Thursday last.—Courier.

"Intelligence from all quarters confirm the statement we formerly made as to the returning, we might say indeed the returned, tranquility of the country. Letters we understand, have been received from the first authorities, confirming the statement we have already made."

That point seems to be now attained, at which we have long wished to see the affairs of Ireland arrive. A pause in the career of tumult and strife—a period of repose and confidence. It is the dawn after a tempestuous night, and though as yet glimmering but faintly, there will be light enough to discern what path should be taken, and time before us to make considerable progress. The firm, but not therefore less conciliatory, policy of the Marquis of Wellesly is beginning to shew its fruits, seconded. as that policy has been by the cordial co-operation of the Government at home, and of the Legislature. We shall perhaps be told that this tone of congratulation is too hastily assumed, but we confidently trust it will not be found so. We must either sink into the incredulous apathy with regard to Ireland, and see knowledge that her disease is hopeless, or we have a right to hail with satisfaction the first symptoms of amendment—the slightest indications of returning health. Besides, it would be a mere factious scepticism, to admit that turbulence and outrage are evidences of bad government, and of sore grievances which exist somewhere, and yet to deny that the restoration of tranquility is not equally an evidence of the removal of those grievances and of an amelioration in the system of government.

LORD HOLLAND AND THE AUSTRIAN DOMINIONS.

We cannot yet learn that there has appeared any disavowal from the imperial Embassy here, of that placard, or hand-bill, or whatever else it professed to be, forbidding Lord HOLLAND, and some three or four ladies, by name, to trespass on the Austrian territories.—At first, we really did not conceive such a flight to be with in the range of even the most Imperial intellect, and accordingly we treated it with contempt. What, to declare war against a single English nobleman—an unwilling traveller, during the summer season, to whom exercise and change of climate have been prescribed for ill-health?—Against four ladies, and those unconnected women? To warn them off from the purlieus of the great Austrian prison-house, like poachers from a manor?—"Spring-guns for Lord HOLLAND!"—"Lady Oxford beware of man-traps!"—"No blue stockings here, my Lady MORGAN!" And is this the dignity of the oldest empire in Europe? Is it came to this pass with the representative of the CÆSARS, the Lord of Germany and (alas!) of Italy too? Prince METTERNICH, we fear, the profound Prince METTERNICH, has plunged on this occasion into a depth to which common sense can never follow him. He wishes at once to terrify and to punish; but he merely proves the activity of his own fears, and the impotency of his revenge.—He leads the whole world directly to a conclusion the most mortifying to these ancient dynasties, and to the cause of all "paternal Governments"—namely, that their subjects are without the shadow of loyalty—that their power has not one grain of stability—that Despotism totters to the very earth, since it stands at the mercy of even a passing stranger male or female, to subvert it.

There is one other point of view in which this jealous extravagance of Austria seems to call for a more serious notice. Had Prince METTERNICH been satisfied with warning off a British nobleman, because he feared that his outrageous "radicalism" would cut up the Austrian empire by the roots, he had the power to do so, it was a breach of national courtesy, no doubt—a violence to the laws and habits of civilization, and a slight to the friendly Government whose subject he sought to chastise;—but his right so to degrade his own Sovereign was unquestionable, if he pleased to exert it; at least so far as England was concerned. Not thus with the second reason assigned by the author of the Austrian ordinance for his attack upon Lord HOLLAND in PARLIAMENT was a substantive cause of the prohibition. No British senator, then, is to exercise that privilege of free discussion, which his own Sovereign dares not impugn, without incurring the open vengeance of a foreign Power! Has this presumption, we beg to know, in its full force, and with all its eventual and inevitable consequences, pressed upon the minds of His Majesty's advisers? Is it to be borne that, in a public document, addressed to every Government, and to that of GEORGE IV. King of England, at the head of them, a foreign Court shall presume to tell an hereditary counsellor of our gracious Sovereign, in what manner he shall discharge its senatorial duty to his own King and country? Is it to be endured, that foreign despots shall attempt to controul the free agency of English legislators, or infuse by terror their own hateful and unmanly spirit into the very sanctuary of our laws? This, we affirm, is not merely an insult to the honest and patriotic Peer against whom it has been formally directed, it is a grave offence to the Legislature of England, and to the KING himself, as a part of it.—Mr. CANNING, if he sees the aggression in this light, has nerve and ability to enforce a proper atonement.—Let the Right Honourable Secretary look to it, the system so begun has no definite termination—it must be rebuked at once.

As for the charge of radicalism upon Lord HOLLAND, we at first construed it into ignorance, but it is pure and pitiful malice. Prince METTERNICH cannot be so ill-informed himself, or have employed such utterly ineffective agents, as to rank Lord HOLLAND with a party to which he has ever been decidedly opposed. They want a nick-name for the noble Lord, and "radical" as being the bitterest, was the first they thought of. [Times.

FALLS OF NIAGARA.

Notwithstanding the number of people, who constantly visit Niagara, from all parts of the country, yet there are those with whom it is a matter of some doubt, whether a man may go beneath the falls, and live Many, when they look upon this scene, are overcome with terror and cannot approach it. Others of firmer nerves, have ventured into the ancillary dropping of this queen of waters, and, confounded by the noise, wind, and spray, still more by their own imagination, scrambled into day-light fully persuaded that they could not have lived there a moment longer.

But effectually to achieve this performance, it is only necessary that we have confidence. The scene itself is dreadful enough, and its natural terrors, if armed with the persuasion that our design cannot be accomplished, will inevitably defeat it.

It is a general impression, that, to go under the falls, we must walk upon the level where they spend their fury, and within arms length of the torrent; but it is not so; our path lies upon the top of a bank at least thirty feet above the bottom of the abyss, and as far in a horizontal line from the course of the falls, and close under the immense rock which supports them. This bank overhangs and forms one side of an irregular arch, which the corresponding side is formed by the sheet of water, and thus, instead of grouping our way at the foot of a narrow passage, we stand mounted in a stupendous cavern.

On a morning in August last, soon after sunrise, I set out with a friend and a guide to visit the sublime scene. The first thing to be done, after descending the tower of steps, is to strip ourselves of all clothing, except a single covering of linen, and a silk handkerchief tied tight over the ears. This costume, with the addition of a pair of pumps, is the court-dress of the palace of Niagara.

We passed about fifty feet under the table rock, beneath whose brow and crumbling sides we came to a stop to shudder, our minds were at once so excited and impressed, as we approached that eternal gateway, which nature has built of the motionless rock and rushing torrent, as a fitting entrance to her most awful magnificence. We turned a jutting corner of the rock and the chasm yawned upon us. The noise of the cataract was most deafning; its headlong grandeur rolled from the very skies; we were drenched by the overflowings of the stream; our breath was checked by the violence of the wind, which for a moment scattered away the clouds of spray, when a full view of the torrent raining down its diamonds in infinite profusion, opened upon us. Nothing could equal the flashing brilliancy of the spectacle. The weight of the falling waters made the very rock beneath us tremble, and from the cavern that received them issued a roar, as if the confined spirits of all who had ever been drowned, joined in a united scream for help!—Here we stood in the very jaws of Niagara, deafened by an uproar, whose tremendous din seemed to fall upon the ear in tangible and ceasless strokes, and surrounded by an unimaginable and oppressive grandeur. My mind recoiled from the immensity of the tumbling tide; and thought of time and of eternity, and felt that nothing but its own immortality could rise against the force of such an element.

The guide now stopped to breathe. He told us, by hallooing in our ears at the top of his voice, "that we must turn our heads away from the spray when it blew against us, draw the hand down wards over the face it we felt giddy, and not rely too much on the loose piece of rock." With these instructions he began to conduct us, one by one, beneath the sheet A few steps further and the light of the sun no longer shone upon us. There was a grave like twilight, which enabled us to see our way, when the irregular blasts of wind drove the water from us, but most of the time it was blown upon us from the sheet, with such fury that every drop seemed a sting, and in such quantities that the weight was almost insupportable. My situation was distracting; it grew darker at every step, and in addition to the general tremor with which every thing in the neighbourhood of Niagara is shuddering could feel the shreds and splinters of the rock yield as I seized them for support, and my feet were continually slipping upon the slimy stones. I was obliged, more than once, to have recourse to the prescription of the guide to cure my giddiness, and though I would have given the world to retrace my steps, I felt myself following his darkened figure, vanishing before me, as the maniac, faithful to the phantoms of his illusion, pursues it to his doom. All my faculties of terror seemed strained to their extreme, and my mind lost all sensation, except the sole idea of a universal, prodigious, and unbroken motion.

Although the noise exceeded by far the extravagance of my anticipation. I was in some degree prepared for this. I expected too, the loss of breath, from the compression of the air, though not the suffocation of the spray; but the wind, the violence of the wind, exceeding as I thought, in swiftness and power the most desolating hurricane; how came the wind there? There too, in such violence and variety, as if it were the cave of Eolus in rebellion. One would think that the river above, fearful of the precipice to which it was rushing in the folly of its desperation, had seized with giant arms upon the upper air, and in its half-way course, abandoned it in agony.

We now came opposite a part of the sheet, which was thinner, and of course lighter. The guide stopped and pointed upwards: I looked, and beheld the sun "shorn of his beams" indeed, and so quenched with the multitudinous waves, that his faint rays shed but a pale and silvery hue upon the cragged and over hanging walls of the cavern.

Nothing can be looked at steadily beneath Niagara. The hand must constantly guard the eyes against the showers which are forced from the main body of the fall, and the head must be constantly averted from a steady position, to escape the sudden and vehement blasts of wind. One is constantly exposed to the sudden bursting of the spray, which bursts up like smoke from a furnace, till it fills the whole cavern, and then, condensed with the rapidity of steam, is precipitated in rain, in addition to which there is no support but flakes of rock, which are constantly dropping off, and nothing to stand upon but a bank of loose stones covered with innumerable eels.

Still there are moments when the eye at one glance can catch a glimpse of this magnificent scene. On one side the enormous ribs of the precipice arch themselves with Gothic grandeur more than one hundred feet above our heads, with a rotieness more threatening than the waters under which they groan From their summit is projected, with incalculable intensity, a silvery flood, in which the sun seems to dance like a fire fly. Beneath, is a chasm of death; an auvil, upon which the hammers of the cataract beat with unsparing and remorseless might; an abyss of wrath, where the heaviest damnation might find new torment and howl unheeded.

We had now penetrated to the inmost recess. A pillar of the precipice juts directly out into the sheet, and beyond it no human foot can step, but to immediate annihilation. The distance from the edge of the fall, to the rock which affords our progress, is said to be 45 feet, but I do not think this has ever been accurately ascertained. The arch under which we passed is evidently undergoing a rapid decay at the bottom, while the top, unwasted, juts out like the leaf of a table.—Consequently a fall must happen, and, judging from its appearance, may be expected every day; and this is probably the only real danger in going beneath the sheet. We passed to our temporary home, through the valley which skirts the upper stream, among gilded clouds and rainbows and wild flowers, and felt that we had experienced a consummation of curiosity; that we had looked upon that, than which earth could offer nothing to the eye or heart of man more awful or more magnificent. O. W.

EXTRACT FROM DR. CHARTERS—ON DEBT.

"To be out of debt," says the Rev. Author, "is accounted a part of happiness. Debt haunts the mind; a conversation about justice troubles it; the sight of a creditor fills it with confusion; even the sanctuary is not a place of refuge. The borrower is servant to the lender. A life at another man's table is not to be accounted for a life. It is mean to flatter the rich. It is humility to be the object of envy. To be the slave of unattainable desires is despicable and wretched. Independence, so essential to the virtues and pleasures of a man,—independence, can only be maintained by setting bounds to your desires, and owing no man any thing. A habit of boundless expense undermines and destroys the virtues even in a mind where they seemed to dwell. It becomes difficult, and at last impossible to pay punctually. At the first breach of a promise compunction is felt. When a man of sensibility thinks of the low rate at which his word must henceforth pass, he is little in his own eyes, but difficulties prompt him to study deceiving as an art; and at last he lies to his creditors without a blush. How desolate and woeful does his mind appear now that the fence of truth is broken down? Friendship is next dissolved. He felt it once, and he now insinuates himself by means of sentiments and professions which were once sincere. He seizes the moment of unsuspecting affection to ensnare the friends of his youth, borrowing money which he will never pay, and binding them for debts which they must hereafter answer. At this rate he sells the virtuous pleasure of loving and being beloved. He swallows up the provision of aged parents, and the portion of sisters and brothers. The loss of truth is followed by the loss of humanity. His calls are still importunate. He proceeds to fraud, and walks on precipices. Ingenuity which in a better cause might have illustrated his name, converted to evade the law—to deceive the world—to cover poverty with the appearance of wealth—to sow unobserved the seed of fraud. As bankruptcy approaches, temptations thicken. He makes a last grasp with his expiring credit, and takes what he can, once more from friends and neighbours; from the ignorant and unsuspicious; purchasing goods at any rate from all who will trust him, and selling them for immediate payment at any undervalue; thus he ripens all for the day of bankruptcy. Even to a man of principle, upon whom guiltless calamity has brought that evil day, it is a day of sore temptation; an effort of virtue is required to stop when he ought, to keep nothing back; to be impartial To the unprincipled man that day is the triumph of iniquity. He surrenders nothing which he can secret, tramples on human laws, and takes God's name in vain. He is partial to his creditors; insults those whom he has injured, and piques himself on the tranquility with which he can bear to be called a villain. One would think, when the bustle of affairs is over, painful reflections must arise on friends whom he has deceived; on relations whom he has brought to want; on neighbours whose kindness he has abused; on the saving of the frugal labourer which he has seized; frustrating their hopes of temperate honest joy; on the staff of the aged which he has withdrawn, casting them on the cold and scanty arm of public charity; on the portion of the poor, the widow, and the fatherless, on which he has laid his sacrilegious hand. But his heart is hardened against the relentings of humanity; he reaps the harvest he has sown, and proudly riots on the wages of iniquity.

Poetry.

TO THE SKY-LARK.

From Barry Cornwall's Floating Thready.

O earliest singer! O care charming bird,
Married to Morning by a sweeter hymn
Than priest e'er chanted from his chancel dim
At midnight,—or veiled virgin's lonier word
At sunrise or the paler evening heard.—
To which of all Heaven's young and lovely hours,
Who breathe soft light in hyacinthine bowers,
Beautiful Spirit, is thy soul prefered?
Unlike the creatures of this low dull earth,
Still dear thou wou, although thy will be won;
And thus thy universe bright is pleased ever.

Oh! lose not thou this mark of finer birth—
So may'st thou yet live on, from sun to sun,
Thy joy unshack'd, thy sweet song silent never.

ON A GENTLEMAN, WHO MARRIED A THIN CONSUMPTIVE LADY.

With a warm skelton so near,
And wedded to thy arms for life,
When death arrives, it will appear
Less dreadful—'tis so like thy wife.

A spouse so thin, though all agree
Had better much be let alone;
Flesh of thy flesh she cannot be,
Who is made up of only bone.

Domestic.

CANADIAN LAND COMPANY.

The Montreal Herald of the 13th instant gives the following extract from a Pamphlet recently published in England, entitled, "Information relative to the Canadian Company" It, in the first place, (says the Herald) proceeds to state the causes which have operated most in retarding the improvement and settlement of UPPER CANADA, viz:—

1st. The effects, immediately attending the late war; 2d. the stagnation in the demand and depreciation of price in agricultural produce, which ensued after peace; 3d, the great delay which has taken place in obtaining a compensation from the Mother Country for the damages sustained during the late war—about 200,000£ have however, been allowed, and arrangements made to pay them; 4th, the existence of the Crown and Clergy Reserves; 5th, the mode in which fresh settlers have been introduced into the Colony.

The advantages which are to follow, are then mentioned in the words subjoined:—

'The proposed company will make a wonderful alteration in a country so gifted and so circumstanc

'1st. It will throw into the country that stimulus which alone is wanting—capital.

'2d. It will direct the tide of emigration into an incomparably more beneficial and useful channel.

'3d. The certainty of finding immediate employment, and that in cultivated districts, without having to go into the wilds for it, will attract a greater number of emigrants into the colony.

'4th. The settling of these upon lands partly cleared and built on, will much sooner call their energies into action, and will enable them to make a much quicker progress towards independence and wealth.

'5th. The extra demand for agricultural produce will encourage the old settlers to increased exertions and the employment that will be given to them in clearing the lands, will enable them to become purchasers themselves of many of the lots.

'6th. The attention of small capitalists in this country will be attracted to the colony. There are at present in Great Britain a number of persons of small fortune, who, since the fall in the value of money, and the difficulty of employing it to advantage, are at a loss to support themselves and families, and have, therefore, been looking out for countries to emigrate to. As matters have hitherto been conducted, however, no one of that description would ever entertain an idea of going to Canada to place himself and family in a wilderness, at a distance from all habitations, with no neighbours but the wild beasts of the forests, out of reach of a church, and equally so of a market, either for the disposal of his surplus produce or the purchas of the necessaries he may require; but inform such a man that he may purchase, at a very moderate rate, a lot of rich and fertile land, free of tithes and poor-rates, with little or no taxes, situated in a cultivated district with neighbours on each hand, and where a very little labour will open a communication with both church and market, and he will immediately think of going to such a quarter.

'7th. The capital of the company, and its power of acting, will enable it to do more in ten years, than could be effected by individuals in half a century.

'If such be the results that will flow from the operations of this company, its gains will be in proportion. The value of the lands will rise very considerably, in a short time it will be doubled, tripled, quadrupled. Before the war, it was calculated that the price of land doubled every five years Since the peace, it has, for the reasons given, been almost stationary; but it will now rise rapidly.

'It would be doing great injustice, however, to the highly respectable gentlemen who have already come forward in support of this measure, or to those who may be expected to do so, to suppose that they would confine their views of the benefits to be derived from it to pecuniary ones, without taking at all into consideration the political, which it is conceived will be still greater and more brilliant.

'1st. By filling up the blanks in the old settlements the population will be concentrated, and the physical strength of the colony greatly augmented.

'2d. By the stimulus given to cultivation of all kinds, the productions of the colony will be proportionally increased, and consequently its riches, so that it will soon be able to relieve the mother country from a part, and in future from the whole expenses of the administration of both Provinces.

'3d. The increased population along the line of the river St. Lawrence and the lakes where the old settlements principally lie, will multiply the natural means of defence, and, by augmenting the militia, will do away with the necessity of keeping a large military force in the country, and so save in that expense also.

'4th. The increase in population and wealth will create an increased demand for the manufactures of the mother country.

'5th. The same causes will increase the exports from the Province, and it is calculated that it may soon be able to supply Great Britain with all the lumber, flax, hemp &c. she may require, and thus prevent her from being under the necessity of applying for those articles to the countries of the Baltic, the governments of which are taking such pains to exclude her manufactures and produce from their ports.

'6th. A more certain, easy, and beneficial channel will be opened to relieve that redundance of population, under which this country has been labouring for some years past, than any that has yet been offerd, and a considerable annual expense will, in a great measure, be saved to Government, while, at the same time, the emigrants will be much better provided for.

'It has been thought necessary to submit these hasty sketches, because very little is known respecting Upper Canada."

Proportion of Duties.—We understand that the Honorable Mr. IRVINE of this City, has been appointed Commissioner to treat with the Honorable Mr. BAIY, now in this City, relating to the proportion of duties to be allowed to Upper Canada under the Canada Trade Act.—Neilson's Gazette.

THE UNION.—A letter received in this City, dated at London on the 6th and 19th August, from a person lately resident in this Province, and who is in a situation to obtain correct information, states

That an amended Union Bill has been prepared and taken into consideration by Ministers, that no final decision had then been made, but that it had been ordered to be printed for the use of the Members of Parliament with several documents and papers relating to the Bill, particularly the Petitions for and against the measures; Observations in support of the Union, Messrs. PAPINEAU and NEILSON's objections to the Bill of 1822, Mr STUART's reply thereto, and the same gentleman's objections to a partial Union &c. that the final decision respecting the bringing in of the Bill, would not, however, be had till November next.

We confess that we are not in the least surprised at the above intelligence, since under all circumstances it must have been expected that Ministers, anxious to apply some immediate remedy to the violent differences which have distracted our Legislature, should recur to the Union as affording a change, if not a relief to the difficulties in which the Executive Government is placed.—Whether this measure, which it now appears nearly certain is to be carried through the Imperial Parliament, will answer the end proposed experience must determine. For our own part we look to its opperation rather with fear than hope. A large proportion of the population of this Province is opposed to the Union Bill in the form in which it has hitherto been generally circulated, and Upper Canada, though more nearly divided is also averse to it. Can it be expected that both parties will lay as dead their antipathies and harmonize upon an act of the Imperial Parliament? the contrary we should think would ensue.—Q. Mer'y.

Upper Canada Gazette.

New Series.

VOL. III. YORK U. C. THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 4th. 1824. No. XLV.

By Authority.

UPPER CANADA.

P. MAITLAND,
Lieut. Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

TO our Beloved and Faithful Legislative Counsellors of our Province of Upper Canada; and to our Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses of our said Province, to our Provincial Parliament at our Town of York, on the Sixteenth Day of September instant, to be Commenced, Held, Called and Elected, and to every of you—GREETING:

WHEREAS, our Proclamation bearing date the Tenth Day of September last, We thought fit to Prorogue our Provincial Parliament to the Twenty Fifth day of October, instant, at which time at our Town of York, you are held and constrained to appear, NOW KNOW YE, that WE, taking into our Royal consideration the ease and convenience of our loving Subjects, have thought fit by and with the advice of our Executive Council, to relieve you and each of you of your attendance at the time aforesaid, hereby convoking, and by these presents enjoining you and each of you, that on Thursday the Second Day of December next ensuing, you meet Us, in our Provincial Parliament, in our Town of York, there to take into consideration the state and welfare of our Province of Upper Canada, and therein to do as may seem necessary, and herein fail not.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces in North America, at York, this Twenty Third day of Oct. in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty-four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign.

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command.
JNO. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.
CAMERON, Secretary.

Upper Canada.

P. MAITLAND, PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come—GREETING:

WHEREAS by Proclamation bearing date the Fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventeen, our trusty and well beloved FRANCIS GORE Esquire, late our Lieutenant Governor of our Province of Upper Canada, by and with the advice of the Executive Council thereof, and by virtue of the Authority in him vested in that behalf, did declare and appoint the Port of Ernestown, others in commonly called the Port of Bath, within the Midland District of this Province, to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for all Goods and Merchandize, not being entirely prohibited and for the payment of all Duties, liable to be paid on all Goods and Merchandize brought into this Province from the United States of America

AND WHEREAS by a certain Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the Third Year of our Reign, entitled, "An Act to Regulate the Trade of the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, and for other purposes relating to the said Provinces," it is among other things Enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the Governor Lieutenant Governor, or person Administering the Government of either of our said Provinces respectively, by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council thereof for the time being, from time to time to diminish or increase, by Proclamation, the number of Ports or Places, which then were, or thereafter might be, appointed in such Province for the Entry of Goods, Wares, and Commodities, imported from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS it appears expedient for the avoiding expence in the Collection of our Revenue, that the said Port of Ernestown shall no longer be a Port of Entry and Clearance—NOW KNOW YE, that by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of our Province of Upper Canada, We have thought fit to declare, and do hereby declare that from and after the date of this Proclamation, the said Port of Ernestown shall cease to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the purposes aforesaid, and shall be and remain, and the said Proclamation hereinbefore recited, and appointing the same to be a Port of Entry and Clearance, had never been made.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York this Twentieth day of March, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign. P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,
D. CAMERON, Secretary.
JNO. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

NOTICE.

Government House,
October 30th, 1824.

A COMMUNICATION has been recently received by His EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR from the SOCIETY established in England, for the ENCOURAGEMENT of ARTS, MANUFACTURES, and COMMERCE, which holds out to the Agriculturists of this Colony the following Premiums:—viz.

Cultivation of Hemp in Upper and Lower Canada, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick.

I. To the person who shall sow with Hemp the greatest quantity of land in the above-mentioned Provinces, not less than six arpents, (each four Mi les of a statute acre) in the year 1824, and shall at the proper season cause to be plucked the summer Hemp, (or male Hemp bearing no seed,) and continue the winter Hemp (or female Hemp bearing seed) on the ground until the seed is ripe; the Gold Medal, or Two Hundred Dollars.

II. To the person who shall sow with Hemp the next greatest quantity of land in the same Provinces, not less than five arpents, in the year 1824, in the manner above-mentioned; the Silver Medal, or One Hundred Dollars.

Certificates of the number of arpents, the method of culture, of the plucking of the Hemp, with a general account whether sown, broad-cast, or in drills, and of the expense, soil, cultivation, and produce, to be transmitted to the Society, certified under the Hand and Seal of the Governor or Lieutenant Governor, or the resident Magistrates or other competent local Authorities, together with 28lbs of the Hemp, and two quarts of the seed, on or before the last Tuesday in April, 1826.

Importation of Hemp from Canada, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick.

III. To the person who shall Import to this country the greatest quantity of marketable Hemp, not less than One Hundred Tons in the year 1824, the produce of Canada, or one of the above-mentioned Provinces;—the Gold Medal.

IV. To the person who shall import the next greatest quantity, not less than Fifty Tons;—the Silver Medal.

Certificates, satisfactory to the Society, to be produced by the Master of the Vessel on or before the last Tuesday in April, 1825, to testify that such Hemp was grown and prepared in Canada, Nova Scotia, or New Brunswick.

Extirpating the Stumps and Roots of Trees.

V. To the person who shall invent, and discover to the Society, the best method, verified by actual experience, of raising out of the earth, and removing the Stumps, and Roots of Trees, which have been left after felling the Timber, so as to Clear the Land for the purposes of Cultivation.—the Gold Medal or Fifty Guineas.

Certificates that the method has succeeded with at least Fifty Trees of Large Girth, and a full description of the means employed, to be delivered to the Society, on or before the last Tuesday in April, 1825.

Communications relative to any of the above subjects may be addressed to His Excellency's Private Secretary. 46-6w.

GLEBES.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in Council, having taken into consideration the system hitherto practised, of Granting Licences of Occupation for GLEBE LANDS, is pleased to Order, that in future the Glebes in the several Townships, with the exception of One Lot in each Township, for the accommodation of the Incumbent, shall be Leased on the same terms as Clergy Reserves.

NOTICE is therefore given to those Persons who hold Licences of Occupation for any of the said Glebe Lots, that the same will not be Renewed; and unless they do make application, by Petition, for Leases in the usual manner, through the medium of the Corporation for superintending the Clergy Reserves, before the Twenty-ninth day of September next ensuing, the Lots so held by Licence of Occupation will be Leased to other Applicants.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office,
York, 29th April, 1824. 19-tf.

Executive Council Chamber,
York, 31st January, 1824.

PRESENT,

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,

IN COUNCIL,

HIS Majesty's Government having recently extended their assistance to the class of Emigrants, which it was intended to relieve by gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres of Land, in conveying them to their respective locations;

IT IS ORDERED, that from the first day of May next, no gratuitous Grants of Land shall be issued to any Emigrant or other person, except to Officers and Soldiers entitled to Grants of Land, and to the Widows and Children of Officers and Soldiers entitled to Grants of Land, and to other than privileged persons.—And that as the Fee on Two Hundred Acres was raised, in order to defray the gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres the consideration being, the future Fee on Two Hundred Acres is reduced to Eight Pounds Four Shilling and One Penny Sterling; the existing Fee before 1819, and the Fee on all other Grants, in Townships surveyed since that time, to be the same as established by the Order in Council, of 5th January, 1819.

N. B. Possessors of gratuitous Grants for Fifty Acres, may, by paying the Fee on One Hundred Acres, receive a Grant of the adjoining Fifty Acres if vacant.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Ex'v. Council.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL CHAMBER,
AT YORK, 26th JAN. 1824.

PRESENT:

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,

In Council.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR submitted to the consideration of the Board, the Sheriffs' Reports of their respective Gaols, together with other Documents relating to a Winter Circuit, by which it appeared that the House of Assembly had addressed His Excellency to that effect, for this Session only; and obviously for the Delivery of the Gaols in the several Districts.

THE limitation of such a measure to one season seeming to militate with the Provision of the Law, that when the Communication from the Seat of Government admitted, and the circumstances of the Province required, there should be a regular Second Circuit, the Board would prefer to recommend that Special Commissions to deliver particular Gaols should issue where requisite; but, as the respective Reports from the Sheriffs' do not, in the opinion of the Board, require any unusual interposition, His Excellency, with advice of the Council, postpones a Second Circuit until the circumstances of the Province more decidedly require it

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Executive Council.

WHEREAS by the Tenor of the Location Tickets a Certificate is required to be lodged of the Settlement Duty being done within two Years, or that the said Location should be forfeited, and in case of Locations not gratuitous, that one third of the Patent Fee be lodged with such Certificate; AND WHEREAS it is represented, that in many instances, Certificates of performance of the Settlement Duty have been withheld from the inability of the Settler to deposit such proportion of the Patent Fee, it is deemed expedient to relieve the Settler from forfeiture of his location, when he may actually have performed his settlement duty.—Notice is hereby given that in all cases where Settlement Duty has been performed within the limited period, the settler shall, on filing Certificate thereof within six Months of this date, be exempted from forfeiture notwithstanding the non-payment therewith of such portion of the Patent Fee, provided the Patent is issued within One Year from the filing of such Certificate.

And further; His Excellency, in the hope of avoiding the necessity of prescribing any of the Militia grants is pleased to direct this Public Notification; that all Lands granted to Militia Men, upon which the Settlement Duties shall not have been performed within the limited period, will in pursuance of general instructions given to the Surveyor General in all similar cases, be declared vacant, and will be granted within Six Months after the expiration of that period, to the first applicant, unless the Original Nominee, shall before such subsequent application, have lodged a Certificate of his having performed the Settling Duties.

JOHN SMALL, Clk. Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office,
York, 7th Nov. 1821.

WHEREAS it is become expedient to establish a line of communication through certain remote Townships, for encouragement thereof, Grants will be issued to Settlers in the Townships hereinafter named on the condition of Settling within two years from the date of the Location, at the reduced Scale of 5th January, 1819, viz

A Township North of Mariposa, advertised from the Surveyor General's Office on the 19th of October, as

Zeta, to be called Eldon

N. of Eps		Benelon
N. of Emily advertised as	Emily	Verulam
N. of Smith	Lake	Harvey
E. of do.		Douro
N. of Asphodel	Alma	Dummer
N. of Seymour	Mc	Belmont
N. of Dummer	Y	Burleigh
N. of Marmora	Nima	Lake
N. of Madoc		Tudor
N. of Ebzever	No	Grimsthorpe
N. of Kaladar	Aye	Anglesea
N. of Kennebec	Jus	Barrie
N. of Norna	Olden	Clarendon
N. of Oso	Et	Palmerston
N. of Belmont	Carlos	Methuen

JOHN SMALL, C. E. C.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District To Wit. } ON Tuesday the 18th day of January, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Silas Ormsby, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of D'Arcy Boulton, Esq. viz:—

The East half of Lot No. 2 in the 12th Concession of the Township of Huntingdon, in the County of Hastings, containing 100 Acres more or less.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
October 18th, 1824.

N B. All Persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 45—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District To Wit. } ON Tuesday the 18th day of January 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands and Tenements, as belonging to William Durkies, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Charles Bowman, viz:—

Lot No. 6 in the 2d Concession of the Township of Loughborough, containing 200 Acres; also Town Lot No. 260 in the Town of Kingston, with a large two story Frame House erected thereon.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office Kingston,
October 18th, 1824.

N. B. All Persons having claims on the above land or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale 45—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District To wit. } BY virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed against the Lands and Tenements of William Pheonix, in favour of Ralph Leeming and James Hamilton, I have seized and taken in execution, North half of Lot No Ten in the First Con. of the Township of Trafalgar, North side of Dundas Street, containing one Hundred Acres, on which are some improvements, and the Lot is beautifully situated, and which I shall offer for Sale on Saturday the Fourth Day of December next, at one o'clock P. M. at Mr. Carpenter's Inn, near the Premises, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for Cash, subject

TITUS G. SIMONS
Late Sheriff, G. D.

late Sheriff's Office,
24th Sept. 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any claim on the above described Property by Mortgage, or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber on or before the Day of Sale.

T. G. SIMONS
Late Sheriff.

No. 44—6 wks.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District To wit. } BY virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Abraham R. Smith, at the Suit of Robert Gillespie, Esquire, I have seized and taken in execution Lots No. Eleven, in the First Range, and Twenty-Two in the Second Range, in the Town of Hamilton, and in the Township of Barton, situate on the North side of the Road leading from Dundas to Niagara, each Lot containing One Fourth of an Acre, on the Former is Erected a beautiful Two-Story House, well finished, and fit for any Gentleman's residence, all this valuable Property I shall offer for sale on Monday the Sixth Day of December next, at 10 o'clock, A. M. and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for Cash only.

TITUS G. SIMONS,
Late Sheriff, G. D.

Late Sheriff's Office,
24th Sept. 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any claim on the above described Property by Mortgage or other right of incumbrance, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office, on or before the Day of Sale.

T. G SIMONS
Late Sheriff, G. D.

No. 44,—6 wks.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

NIAGARA DISTRICT To Wit: } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the lands and tenements of John D. M'Kay, at the suit of Peter M'Gill, I have seized and taken the following Lands, viz:—

Lot No. 13, in the 8th Concession of Clinton.

Lot No. 5, 6, 7, & 12, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Grimsby. } 400 acres

Lot No. 37, & 39, in the 8th & 9th Concession of do. } 200 acres

Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 1st Concession of Bertie. }

Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 2d Concession of do. } 495 acres

Lot No. 12 & 14, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Gainsboro. } 400 acres

Lot No. 4, in the 2d Concession of do. } 200 acres.

Lot No. 74, 95, 96, & 4, of 201, in the town of Niagara —All of which property I shall offer for sale on the 2d day of August, 1824, at the Court House in the town of Niagara, at 12 o'clock, noon, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for cash only.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

By PETER T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Niagara,
July 31st, 1823. 4.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claims on the above named premises, by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

☞ The sale of the above property is postponed until the 13th of September next, at one o'clock P. M. at Mr. Carpenter's Inn, near the premises, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for Cash, subject

TITUS G. SIMONS
Late Sheriff, G. D.

late Sheriff's Office,
24th Sept. 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any claim on the above described Property by Mortgage, or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber on or before the Day of Sale.

T. G. SIMONS
Late Sheriff.

No. 44—6 wks.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District To wit. } BY virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed, against the lands and tenements of Liza, alias, Eliza Skinner, widow of the late Haggie Skinner, deceased, at the suit of James Maclem, and James Cummings, Executors of the late John Faning, deceased, I have seized and taken, as belonging to the said Liza, alias, Eliza Skinner Lots No. 172, and 161, in the Township of Stamford, 323 acres—Lots No. 2, 3, 6 and 7 in the Township of Pelham, containing 563 acres:—All of which property I shall offer for sale on the second Monday in March, in the year 1825, at twelve o'clock noon, at the Court House in the Town of Niagara, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for cash only.

RICHARD LEONARD, Sheriff.

By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Niagara,
March 2nd, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim to the above mentioned premises by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

43—6w. R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Eastern District, To wit. } BY Virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the Lands and tenements of Richard Loucks, at the Suit of John Richardson, John Forsyth, and Alexander Thain, I have seized and taken in execution, Lot number 35, and East half of Lot number 36 in the Front or First Concession of the Township of Osnabruck, containing 300 Acres, with a good frame Dwelling House and Barn with Stables and Out Houses thereon erected, and about 80 Acres of which are well improved and in the highest state of cultivation.—Also Lots number 35, and half of 36 in the Second Concession of the said Township of Osnabruck, containing likewise 300 Acres All which I will sell at Public Auction at the Court House in the Town of Cornwall on Monday the Twenty Ninth day of November next ensuing, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for Cash.

DONALD McDONELL,
Sheriff E. D.

Sheriff's Office, Cornwall
September 22nd 18 4

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above mentioned Property by Mortgage, or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office, previous to the day of Sale. 42—tf

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Eastern District To Wit } BY Virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Henry Barnhart, at the Suit of William Blackburn and Francois A. Laroque, I have seized and taken in execution Lot number 15 on the South side of Front Street, in the Town Plot of Cornwall, with a good Frame Dwelling House thereon erected.—Also, the North half of Lot number 16 in the Front or First Concession of the Township of Cornwall containing One Hundred Acres more or less.

All which I will sell at Public Auction at the Court House in the Town of Cornwall, in the said District, on Monday the Twenty Ninth day of November next ensuing, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to the highest bidder for Cash.

DONALD McDONELL,
Sheriff, E. D.

Sheriff's Office, Cornwall
September 22nd, 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any Claim on the above Property, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my office previous to the day of sale. 42—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE

NIAGARA DISTRICT To Wit: } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the lands and tenements of Liza, alias, Eliza Skinner, widow of the late Haggie Skinner, deceased, at the suit of James Maclem, and James Cummings, Executors of the late John Faning, deceased, I have seized and taken, as belonging to the said Liza, alias, Eliza Skinner Lots No. 172, and 161, in the Township of Stamford, 323 acres—Lots No. 2, 3, 6 and 7 in the Township of Pelham, containing 563 acres:—All of which property I shall offer for sale on the second Monday in March, in the year 1825, at twelve o'clock noon, at the Court House in the Town of Niagara, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for cash only.

RICHARD LEONARD, Sheriff.

By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Niagara,
March 2nd, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim to the above mentioned premises by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

43—6w. R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Eastern District, To wit. } BY Virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the Lands and tenements of Richard Loucks, at the Suit of John Richardson, John Forsyth, and Alexander Thain, I have seized and taken in execution, Lot number 35, and East half of Lot number 36 in the Front or First Concession of the Township of Osnabruck, containing 300 Acres, with a good frame Dwelling House and Barn with Stables and Out Houses thereon erected, and about 80 Acres of which are well improved and in the highest state of cultivation.—Also Lots number 35, and half of 36 in the Second Concession of the said Township of Osnabruck, containing likewise 300 Acres All which I will sell at Public Auction at the Court House in the Town of Cornwall on Monday the Twenty Ninth day of November next ensuing, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for Cash.

DONALD McDONELL,
Sheriff E. D.

Sheriff's Office, Cornwall
September 22nd, 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any Claim on the above Property, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my office previous to the day of Sale. 42—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District To wit. } ON Wednesday the 17th day of November next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands, and tenements, as belonging to Thomas Chittle, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of William Usher—viz:—

All that part of Town Lot No 6 in Barriefield, laid out on Lot No. 21, East side of the great river Cataraqui, Pittsburgh, containing 4 of an Acre and five Perches, with the exception of a piece of thirty six feet square, from the North East Corner of the same

N B. Any person or persons having claims on the above Lands, or upon any part of them by Mortgage, or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Kingston, July 13th, 1824. 40—t d.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit: } ON Saturday the 18th day of December next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, all the right, title, claim and interest of Wm. Bayard Smyth, of Kingston, to the following Town Lots, with the buildings thereon erected, seized by virtue of a Writ of Execution issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench at the suit of C. A. Hagerman, Esq viz:—Lot No 110, and the North West half of Lot No 107, in the Town of Kingston, containing three tenths of an acre.

N B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above property, or upon any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff M. D.

Kingston, Sept. 14th, 1824.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

District of London To Wit. } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of John W. McIntire, at the suit of Thomas Cooper, I have taken in execution the following land which I will offer for sale at the Court House in Vittoria, on Saturday the 6th of November now next, at one o'clock, viz: the West half of Lot No. 23 in the Second Concession of the Township of Zora, containing Five Hundred Acres of Excellent Land, Sale to commence at one o'clock,

A. A. RAPELJE,
Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office
Sept. 13th, 1824.

N B. Any person or persons having any legal claims either by mortgage or any other right of incumbrance will make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

A. A. R.
40—t. d.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

District of London To Wit. } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of John Bostwick, at the suit of Messrs. Crooe & Fisher, I have taken in execution as the Property of the said Bostwick, Lot No. seven in the second Concession of the Township of Woodhouse, said Lot is situated in a very flourishing part of said Township, about Fifty Acres of improved Land, a good frame Barn &c.—said land I will offer for sale at the Court House, on Saturday the sixth day of November now next, at one o'clock P. M.

A. A. RAPELJE,
Sheriff L. D.

Sheriff's Office,
Sept. 13th, 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any legal claims either by Mortgage or any other right of incumbrance on the above stated Premises will make the same known to me before the day of Sale.

A. A. R.
40—td.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT.

FOR

FIRE-WOOD

NOTICE is hereby given, that Tenders will be received at this Office until the 16th day of November next, at Noon, from such Persons as are desirous of Contracting for the Supply of the undermentioned quantity of FIRE WOOD for the use of the Troops at York, viz.—

400 CORDS,

To be delivered into the Government Fuel-Yard at this Post, and Corded by the 1st Day of February, 1825. The Wood to be of Sound and Merchantable quality, consisting of—

MAPLE, HICKORY, BEECH,	IRON-WOOD, BLACK & YELLOW BIRCH,

And to be of the following dimensions, viz.—The Stick to be cut full four feet long, and the Cord to be piled feet long, by four feet four inches in height. Further conditions and particulars may be known upon application at this Office; sufficient Security will also be required for the due fulfilment of the Contract entered into, and the parties making Proposals will be required to attend at the time of opening the Tenders which must be Sealed and Endorsed "Tender for Fire Wood."

F. T. BILLINGS,
Dep't. Ass't. Com'y. Gen'l.

Commissariat Office
York, October 14, 1824. 43—4w.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT
FOR BEEF.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that Tenders will be received at the Commissariat Office, at York, from Persons who may be willing to furnish the Royal Naval Establishment at Penetanguishine, with such quantities as may be required of

FRESH BEEF

for Twelve Months, commencing the 1st of January, 1825, and ending the 31st of December following.

Sealed Tenders to be delivered into this Office by the 12th of November at noon. No Tender will be noticed, unless the Party and his Sureties, or an Agent on their behalf, attend at the opening of the Tenders, which must be endorsed. Tenders for supplying the Royal Naval Establishment at Penetanguishine with Provisions.

The Conditions of Contract, and other particulars, may be known on application at this Office.

F. T. BILLINGS.
D'y. Ass't. Com'y. General.

Commissariat Office, York,
October 4th, 1824. No. 41.—5w.

NOT OFFICIA .

FIRE INSURANCE.

THE Sun Insurance Company of New York, having appointed George Crookshank, Esquire, their Agent in Upper Canada—he is ready to Insure against Loss or Damage by Fire, on Dwelling Houses, Stores, Merchandise, House-hold Furniture, and other Personal Property; at moderate Rates of Premium.— Persons wishing to Insure must send a plan of their Buildings, when wanted out of the Town of York, a respectable reference will be required, and Letters Post Paid —Application to be made to

R. W. PRENTICE.
York, 28th Sept. 1824. No. 39—t. f.

FIRE INSURANCE.

THE SUBSCRIBER having been appointed Agen in Upper and Lower Canada, for

"The Farmer's Fire Insurance
AND LOAN COMPANY."
OF NEW YORK.

is ready to Insure against loss or damage by Fire, in Dwelling Houses, Stores and Buildings in general Merchandize, Household Furniture, and other Personal Property, at moderate rates of Premium,

This Company was Incorporated in 1821, with a Capital of Five Hundred Thousand Dollars, all paid in, and secured on Stock, Loans and Mortgages, and has subsequently by its liberality and promptitude in the settlement of Losses, fully secured the confidence of the public.—A List of its present Board of Directors is subjoined, which, on enquiry, will be found to comprise names of such respectability as amply guarantee that all engagements of the Company will be honourably fulfilled.

Applications for Insurance on Property not in the City of Montreal, should be accompanied with Plans, and a reference to some person in this place

ROBERT ARMOUR, Agent.
Montreal, 28th May, 1824.

DIRECTORS.

John T. Chaplin	Benjamin Bailey
President.	John Johnson
Richard Harrison	Thomas S. Townsend
James Magee	Francis Saltus
George Griswold	Frederick A Tracy
Ben. Marshall	John S. Crary
Jas. D'Wolf Junior	Joseph S. Shotwell
Henry Wheaton	Wm Osburn
G. L. Lewis	David S Kennedy
James McBride	Henry Cary
A. B. Lawrence	Gideon Lee

No.—124—6ms

Stop! Stop!!

RAN AWAY from the Subscriber on the night of the 26th Ultimo, GEORGE HYLAND, an indented Apprentice. He is a native of Ireland, upwards of 18 years old, about four feet eight inches high, broad made, big face, curly hair, grey eyes, attempts to smother his brogue in conversation, and sly and artful in his proceedings.

Any information that may lead to his discovery will be thankfully received by.

JOSEPH ROGERS, Hatter.
York, Nov. 1st, 1824. 45—3w.

THE CANADIAN FARMER'S ALMANAC
AND GENERAL MEMORANDUM BOOK, FOR 1825.

IS NOW PUBLISHED, and may be had by the Dozen, or single Book, at the U. C. Gazette, Office, and all the principal Stores in Town, and Country.

THE "ROYAL CALENDAR of U. C." for 1825, improved and enlarged,—is in the Press, and every exertion will be used to have it ready for early Publication. In the mean time, Orders will be thankfully received.—

THEATRE.

MR. TALBOT respectfully acquaints the Inhabitants of York, and its Vicinity, that he has taken the entire upper part of Mr. SCHOFIELD'S Mansion House, for the purpose of a Theatre,—and he trusts that in every respect he shall be enabled to fulfil his promise, as respects the Concern, the Company, the Scenery, and the Wardrobe.—He pledges himself to use every exertion, on his part, and if only supported "as he has hitherto been," to offer to the Inhabitants of this Town, a Theatre, which shall be handsome in itself, and shall be conducted with propriety.

Mr. Talbot leaves this Town for Buffalo, in order to make arrangements for Performers, and shall return to his friends and patrons here in Ten or Twelve Days.—The Theatre is expected to be in operation in Three Weeks.

FOR SALE.
IN WOODHOUSE.

LOT No. 6, in the front or First Concession in the Township of Woodhouse, in the District of London, containing 200 Acres, with 70 improved, and a Framed Barn of large Dimensions. The above Lot will be Sold Cheap—VERY Cheap for ready money.

Application to be made to JOHN HARRIS, Esq Charlotteville, or to the Proprietor at his Office, in York.

S. WASHBURN.
York, 1st November, 1824. No. 45—3 w.

FOR SALE.

A Farm on Yonge Street, Lot No. 32 in Markham, One Hundred and Ninety Acres, of which ninety Acres are under cultivation with a Frame House and Barn on the same, a stream of water runs across the Lot, and Purdy's Saw and Grist Mills are on the Lot opposite to the same.—Terms of payment will be made easy.—Application to be made to,

GEORGE CROOKSHANK.
York, 17th Oct. 1824.
N. B. Should the above mentioned Farm not be Sold by the 1st March next, it will then be leased.

43—tf.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the County of Dundas, intend presenting a Petition to the Legislature at its next Session, for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Dundas, and the Town of Cornwall alternately.

Also to have the Concession line between the fourth and fifth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg in the Eastern District, to have the said line run upon the true course of No. 66 E. and completed.

And also the side lines in the said fourth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg aforesaid, to have the said side lines to run upon the original course No. 24 W.

43—26w.

LAND IN PERTH.

A VERY valuable Lot of Land, consisting of 200 Acres, being No. 7 in the 2nd Concession of the Township of Percy, in the Newcastle District, and not far from the River Trent, in the midst of a good settlement may be had for 2$ per Acre, with an indisputable title, and immediate possession.—Inquire at the U. C. Gazette Office. 43—tf.

A LADY having lately arrived from England, and considering an opportunity presents for establishing a SEMINARY of respectability in King ton, U C. solicits the patronage of those Ladies who may feel disposed to place their daughters where the most useful and polite Branches of Education are taught; having been accustomed to the best established method of Tuition, she trusts that an assiduous and unremitting attention to her Pupils and their Interests may ensure her success.

☞ For Cards of address and Terms, apply (if by letter, post paid,) to Mr. Henry Smith, King street, Kingston, and to the office of this paper. 42—3w.

TO DISTILLERS & BREWERS.

ROBERT Todd Dean having made Chemistry the study of his life, and having for himself and others both in Scotland and Ireland, for sixteen years, conducted a Chemical Manufactory, (Testimonials of the most satisfactory kind can be produced from many respectable individuals to that effect) and having like others of his Countrymen come to Canada for the purpose of bettering his condition in life, finds himself so situated, now, as to be obliged to offer his services to persons engaged in the Brewing and Distilling business, both of which branches, together with the Manufactory of Cordials &c he professes, with all their late improvements, to perfectly understand.

Any Person desirous of having his sevices by addressing a letter to him (post paid) to the care of Matthew Crooks Esq. Ancaster Upper Canada, may depend upon its meeting with a ready attention from

Signed,
R. T. DEAN.

N. B. Terms will be moderate, and such as will be within the reach of every one, doing even a moderate business, immediate employment is an object to,

R. T. D.
40—13w.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the First Concession of Sophiasburgh South west of Green Point.—by reason of the material damage they have sustained these numbers of years back, on account of the erroneous original Survey of the Second Concession Line. Are determined to Petition the Legislature of this Province at the ensuing Session of Parliament for the alteration of the said Line, and to settle all the differences relating thereunto.

Sophiasburgh, Oct 7th, 1824. No. 44.—6 m.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the EASTERN DISTRICT will at the next Session of the LEGISLATURE make application to be authorised to effect a Loan to enable them to erect a Gaol and Court House in the Town of Cornwall.

37—6m.

NOTICE.

AN APPLICATION will be made to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for an Act imposing a tax on Dogs in the TOWN of YORK and its vicinity, he proceeds of which to be applicable to the police purposes.

By Order of the Magistrates in Adjourned General Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the Home District assembled on the 6th day of Sept. 1824.

(Signed,)
S. HEWARD.
Clk. Peace Home District.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the COUNTY of GLENGARY intend presenting a Petition to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Glengary and the Town of Cornwall alternately.

37—6m.

TO BE SOLD,
(And possession given at a short notice.)

THAT ELEGANT, and COMMODIOUS MANSION, Built, and lately occupied, by

A. N. McNABB, ESQUIRE.

Situated in King-Street, East, about half way between the Don Bridge and Town of York.—With a Large GARDEN, Spacious Yard, and every necessary Out-Building,—occupying altogether One Acre of Land.

The House is of Two Stories, besides the Ground Floor, and has the following Rooms and conveniences viz:—A PARLOUR, DRAWING-ROOM, FOUR LOBBY ROOMS, and DRESSING ROOM, STUDY, STORE ROOM SERVANTS ROOM, KITCHEN, BACK KITCHEN, CELLAR LOFT, &c &c. Water is conducted by Pipes into the KITCHEN, where are the necessary Fixtures.

Amongst the Out Offices, are, Stables, Harness Room, Cow House, Coach and Cart House, Bake and Smoke House, &c. &c.

The Garden, which contains more than half an acre of Land, has been lately well stocked with various kinds of valuable Fruit Trees.

For Terms and further particulars, apply to the U. C Gazette Office. t. f.

TOWN LOTS IN PORT HOPE.

SEVERAL valuable building Lots, in the flourishing village of PORT HOPE, are for Sale, by private Contract, on the most liberal Terms, and on a credit of several Years, provided the first instalment be paid down. Either Produce or Manual Labour will be received, if desired, in Payment.—For further particulars apply at the U. C. Gazette Office, York, or to Messrs. C. & J. Stowe, Merchants,—Port Hope.

No. 40 —t f.

SADDLE, AND HARNESS MANUFACTORY.

MESSRS BALL AND GIBBONS beg leave respectfully to inform the Inhabitants of York, and its Vicinity, that they carry on the Business of Saddle and Harness-Making, in all its branches, next door to Mr. Patterson's, Merchant, in the Market Square, York;—and they hope, by strict attention to the orders, with which they may be favoured, to merit a share of the Public Patronage.

York, Oct 21st, 1824. No. 44.—6w.

NOTICE.

THE Plan and Estimate of a STEAM BOAT, (to be Built by Mr. Amos S. ROGERS) about One Hundred Tons Burthen, intended to Ply between this Port and Niagara, may be seen at this Office.—Her Engine is intended to be of Twenty Five Horse Power. The whole Cost is estimated at Two Thousand Two Hundred and Five Pounds Currency. She is to be Built by Stock, made up of Shares, of Twenty Five Pounds each A few Shares are still wanting. Subscriptions for which will be received at this Office, and at the Office of the Niagara Gleaner, where Estimates and Conditions will be exhibited to those who wish to become Stockholders.

Gazette Office, York,
August 26th, 1824. No. 35.—t. f.

FOR SALE.

LOT No. Twenty in the First Concession of the Township of York, with the Broken Front, containing about Two Hundred and Forty Acres of Land.

Application to be made to

J. B. MACAULAY
York, 12th June, 1824. 25.—t. f.

NOTICE.

ALL Persons indebted to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire, of Stamford, are requested to make immediate payment to the Subscriber at Vittoria, London District, and those having claims on the Estate, will be pleased to furnish him with their respective Accounts properly authenticated.

(Signed) WALTER NICHOL,
Administrator to the Estate of the Late ROBERT NICHOL, ESQUIRE.
Niagara, 29th May, 1824.

NOTICE.

WANTED, for FOURTEEN YEARS, or not less than TEN, a LOAN of TWO THOUSAND POUNDS, Halifax Currency, for the building of a PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH of ENGLAND, in the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada.

The Subscriber is authorized to offer Efficient Legal Securities (or the Repayment of the Loan, at the end of the period, and for the Annual Payment of the Interes accumulating thereon, at Six per Cent. per annum.

(By Order of the Committee.)
GEORGE O'KILL STUART,
19—tf. SECRETARY, pro tem.

NOTICE.

FOR SALE, by private Contract, the House and Lot lately occupied by Mr. O'Sullivan, Saddler, King's-Street, in the Town of York, the Lot is 26 feet fronting King's-Street, by 112 feet deep.

Also.—A Lot adjoining the above on the West side, 54, by 112 feet.

Also.—A Lot adjoining Mr. Duggan's, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—Three Lots on Stuarts Land, each 40, by 60 feet.

Should the above Property and Lots not be sold by Private Contract, the five last described Lots will be sold at Public Sale, on the first day of July ensuing.

Application for Terms of Sale, to be made to

ALEXANDER WOOD, ESQ.
York, 17th March, 1824. t. f.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Inhabitants of the Township of TOWNSEND intend Petitioning both Houses of the Provincial Legislature at its next Session, to pass a Law, Establishing a Line Surveyed in the year 1823, between the 12th and 13th Cons. of the said Township.

TOWNSEND, 20th May, 1824. No. 21—1 m. t. f.

VALUABLE LANDED PROPERTY FOR SALE.

TWENTY SEVEN TOWN LOTS, eligibly situated in the Village of Cobourg, in Hamilton, Upper Canada, on one of which, a Store and Dwelling House are erected.

Two Neat Small FARMS, contiguous to the above Village, containing, one, about Twenty eight Acres the other, about Fifty Acres, with a House and other Buildings on each of them.—A Plan of the above may be seen on application to Mr. J. G. BETHUNE, Cobourg (who will shew the Premises,) or to the Subscriber.

Two TOWN LOTS in Picardville, adjoining to the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada, with Houses and other Buildings thereon, being Lots No. 21 and 22.

200 Acres of Land being No. 1, 8th Con. of Murray.
200 do do being No. 4, 4th do of Hungerford.
200 do do being No. 1, 8th do of Winchester.
200 do do being No. 24, 8th do of Mountain.
200 do do being the West halves of No. 31 and 32 in the 2d Concession of Hawkesbury.

Liberal Terms of Payment will be granted.

For particulars apply to

FRS. ANT. LAROQUE.

N. B. The above mentioned Town Lots in the flourishing Village of Cobourg, and the two adjoining Farms, will be disposed of by Public Sale, in the said Village on the 24th May next.

F. A. L. R.
Montreal, 15th May, 1824.

INTERESTING NOTICE.

THE Surveyor General begs leave to inform the Public, that he has obtained the permission of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, to publish a of the Province, on a large Scale. It is to be engraved in London, in the best style, and will be ready for delivery in a few months.

CORRECT MAP

This information, the Surveyor General thinks it necessary to make, in order to prevent those persons, who are desirous of having an authentic MAP of Upper CANADA, from being imposed upon by a Surreptitious Copy, said to be on the eve of Publication.

Surveyor General's Office,
York, 2d April, 1823. 14—tf

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the County of Prince Edward, in the Midland District, intend Petitioning the Legislature, at the next Session thereof, to have the said County set off, and made into a separate District from the said Midland District, and to be called the District of Maitland. No. 24—6ms.

NOTICE.
VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE.
VIZ.—

In the Township of Vaughan
Lots No. 22, 23, 24, in the 7th Con. and Broken Lot No. 5, in the 30th Concession.	}	620 Acres.
Township of York
Lot No. 13, 5th Concession, and Brocken Front West of Yonge Street on the Humber, West half of No. 15, in 2d Con. West of Yonge St.	}	800 Acres.
Township of Percy
Lot No 20, in 3d Concession.	}	400 Acres.
Lot No. 21, in 4th Ditto.

For particulars apply to Guy C. Wood, Esq. Cornwall, or the Subscriber in York.

R. G. ANDERSON.
19th July, 1824. 30—tf.

TERMS
OF THE U. C. GAZETTE AND WEEKLY REGISTER.

FOUR DOLLARS per annum (Postage included) payable half yearly in advance. Three months notice is required previous to the discontinuance of any Subscription.

PRICE OF ADVERTISING,

Six lines and under, two shillings and six pence, and seven pence half penny, every subsequent insertion.

Six to ten lines, five shillings, and one shilling and the pence subsequently.

All exceeding ten lines, four pence per line for the first insertion, and one penny subsequently.—Rule and Figure work charged Double.—A discount of 25 per cent. allowed to those who advertise by the year.—Advertisements cannot be received after 1 o'clock on the Wednesday afternoon immediately preceding the day of Publication.—Advertisements unaccompanied with positive directions as to the exact number of insertions to be given them, will be continued until expressly forbidden.—or until the day of Sale (if alluding to Sales) and regulated accordingly.

☞ Advertisements from the Country must be post paid, with the price of insertion; or, a reference in Town who will pay when demanded, or discontinued.

☞ Any Agent obtaining 5 Subscribers has a paper for himself at half price;—if he obtains 6, he has his own paper gratis;—and, for as many as he obtains above 6, he will receive, besides his own paper, a Commission of 5 per cent. upon the whole amount.

BLANK DEEDS AND MEMORIALS
For Sale at this Office.

WEEKLY REGISTER.

Vol. III. Our endeavour will be to "stamp the very body of the time—its form and pressure"—we shall extenuate nothing, nor shall we set down aught in malice. No. 45.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 4th, 1824.

Editorial Commentary.

By the late London papers we perceive that, at length, a company is formed, and about to act upon the magnificent plan proposed nearly twenty years ago by Dr. Barthanett, of filling baths with salt water, with the actual ebb and flow of the tide, from the sea on the coast of Essex, to London;—for the purpose of creating Salt-water Baths; and realising most of the advantages of marine watering places, to the inhabitants of that vast metropolis, without the trouble and expense of a long journey. As the original plans and proposals are in our possession, and as they are to be adopted by the new Company, with very few alterations, we shall, at our earliest leisure, give an outline of one of the most splendid and useful designs that was ever realized either in an ancient or modern, times.

Our limits are too much narrowed by advertisements, this week, to admit of those remarks we had intended to make upon the very unfair and uncandid animadversions cast upon us, in his usual hickety-pickety style, by the Lyon of Question, in a late number of his ADVOCATE; with which, however we shall certainly favour him, for the benefit of both his temporal and spiritual concerns, in an early number of our Register.

SELECTIONS FROM BRITISH AND FOREIGN JOURNALS.

Sea Bathing in London!—A company is forming with an immense Capital, to supply the city of London with salt water baths, hot and cold, of different forms, and adapted to different classes of society. A constant supply of water is to be brought from the sea in pipes under ground. There is to be one large swimming bath, of an acre, covered in with a glass roof. Libraries, Reading and Music Room, &c. &c. will be attached to this establishment.

Internal Improvements of England!—M. Dupin says, the number of our harbors, docks, piers and lighthouses extend over more than 600 leagues of coast, our canals in length 1600 leagues, our roads 46,000 leagues, and that even the pipes for conveying gas and water through the streets of London reach to 400 leagues.

Rail Roads and Loco Motive Engines.—Hitherto rail roads have been used for very limited purposes, and whenever they are spoken of it is in connexion with coal-pits and stone quarries, but they are now about to be applied to the purpose of conveying merchandize over very extended lines of country, and thus they are becoming an object of great national interest. Rail roads, as hitherto worked by horses, possess very little if any, advantage over canals, but rail roads worked by the loco motive steam engine, have so decided a superiority, both as regards time and expense, that there can be no question but they will be generally adopted whenever a new line of conveyance has become necessary, either from an increasing trade, or from the exorbitant demands of canal proprietors.

By the loco-motive engine any ton of goods may be conveyed by a ten horse power engine, on a level road at the rate of six miles an hour, and lighter weights at a proportioned increase of speed. Carriages for the conveyance of passengers, at the rate of twelve or four teen miles per hour. For canals it is necessary to have a dead level, but not so for rail roads, an engine will work goods over an elevation of one eighth of an inch to the yard. Where the ascent or descent is rapid, and cannot be counteracted by cuttings or embankments a source must be had to permanent engines and inclined planes just as resource is had to locks for canals, but here again the rail road system has a great advantage, the inclined plane causes no delay whilst the locks create a great deal.

Two Acts of Parliament have already been obtained namely, the Stockton and Darlington Act, and the Moreton Act. On these lines, which exceed thirty miles each, it is intended to adopt the loco motive engine, and they will both be very soon ready for conveyance of goods. There are also three or four other rail-roads projected.

The discovery of the loco motive engine it is said will be almost as important to the trade and commerce of this country, as the discovery of the steam-engine itself.

Arctic Expedition.—The British surveying vessel Snap, arrived at St. John's Newfoundland, informs that she left the Griper at Hudson's Straits, not being able to proceed further with the land expedition than Cape Sedley, owing to the ice.

Lord Cochrane.—It was understood that Lord Cochrane would return to England in January.

It is conceived that Lord Cochrane's return to this country is connected with an intention of again offering himself for Westminster in the event of a dissolution of Parliament.—Morning Paper.

Sir Hudson Lowe.—Sir Hudson Lowe has been appointed Governor of Antigua, and was about to sail to that place.

Proposed restoration of the Jews.—The Gazette of Spires, assures its readers, that the house of Rothschilds has recently received proposals from the Sublime Porte for a loan to a considerable amount, and an offer of the cession of Palestine as a security for the payment.—In consequence, adds the paper, a confidential agent has been despatched by that house to Constantinople, to examine into the validity of the pledge offered by the Turkish cabinet.

Religious Census.—The present Census of the whole World is said to stand thus:—

Jews,	4,000,000	Christians,	200,000,000
Pagans,	456,000,000
Mahomedans,	140,000,000	Total...	800,000,000

Deists and Atheists are comprehended, but not distinguished in either of these enumerations, as they do not avow themselves by any formation into bodies.

The most ancient congregation, viz., Pagans, still subsist through the globe, and comprise more than one half of its general population, the second in order of time, viz Jews, have, since the destruction of their temple and city in A. D. 70, fallen to so near decay as to comprise only a 200th part of the world, the third denomination, viz Christians, now include one fourth part of the whole, and the Mahomedans, who sprang six centuries after the Christians, and threatened to annihilate them, occupy the space of one sixth part of the whole. It is also observable, that when an estimate of this kind was made about fifty years since, it was supposed that the Christians amounted to one sixth part, and now they have increased to one fourth.

A step further in this enquiry disposes of the Christians thus in their subdivisions.—

The Greek and Eastern Churches,	86,000,000	Protestants including all sects.	70,000,000
Roman Catholics	100,000,000
		Total,	200,000,000

Those have all arisen since the promoting of the Universal Christian Church, 4000 A. M. of which

The Western and Eastern Churches began and united in the	6th Century
Their separation,	9th do.
Mahomed,	7th do.
Christianity in Great Britain,	7th do.
Darkness of Popery & Mahomedanism	6th to 16th do.
Waldenses,	12th do.
Wickliffe, Huss, and Jerome,	13th to 15th do.
Luther and Calvin,	16th do.
Reformation,	16th do.
Remonstrants,	17th do.
Protestant Sects,	17th & 18th do.

British Ministerial Opinions.—The relations between colonies and a parent state have this affinity to filial and parental relations, that the dependence and subjection continue very little longer than the absolute necessity for them. And it is for the advantage of the political world that their duration should be thus defined, just the same as the other is morally beneficial. As a general proposition it may be affirmed, that when a colony has closely arrived at that state which qualifies it to administer its own affairs, it ought to do so. That it will do so, all experience teaches us. What, then, are to be the proofs of this capacity for self management? Not always, we allow, the disposition or the attempt, to throw off the authority of the mother country; but the fact of doing it, and the fact of being able to maintain the separation after having effected it.

Lon. Courier.

From the London Courier, Sept 16.

"We have received this morning New York Papers to the 23d ult. and Charleston to the 15th.—They contain no further intelligence from South America; but they are filled with details of the reception of General La Fayette. We may, perhaps, make a few selections from them to-morrow, to shew how little essential difference there is between republican and monarchial honours.—The same flattery; the same pomp; the same ceremony; the same parade; but more servility and infinitely more of burlesque self-importance. That thing miscalled equality, engenders all sorts of idle pretentions, for as there is no real equality either in nature or in society, while the assumption of it is so grateful to weak minds, we constantly see, where every man thinks himself equal to those about him, the most preposterous efforts to sustain the delusion with plausable appearances. Hence it is that your democrats, and your levellers, of all descriptions, are so profuse of mutual civilities; hence they so be praise and so be-dash each other; and hence, though differing, perhaps, upon all other subjects, they are so cordially unanimous upon that of their own superlative merits. Gen. La Fayette, for example, says, whatever he may think, that the Americans are the most exalted people in the world; and the Americans cannot say less in return, whatever th y may think too, than that there never was such a man as Gen. La Fayette. And so they go on, keeping their countenances all the while, as if the rest of the world were not looking on with scorn and derision at their foolery.

Curious Discovery.—Last week, as some workmen in the employ of John Day, Esq. were digging the foundation of a farm-house near Biggleswade, they suddenly struck upon something hard, which, upon investigation, proved to be a helmet of most exquisite workmanship. After the earth had been partially cleared away, they discovered some human bones, this induced them to make further search, and shortly after they turned up a ponderous metallic substance of an oval form, like a shield, a few inches lower they found more human bones, and before night, when the whole was cleared away, they distinctly made out the skeleton of a man and horse, the man appeared to have been clothed in a complete suit of armour, which was nearly perfect, though some what disjointed. He appeared to have been of gigantic stature, the sword, which was very good too, lay at the feet of the horse. On the following morning, whilst pursuing their occupation, the men discovered some other skeletons of men and horses, all standing in an erect position, clothed in armour, and nearly as perfect as the first which was discovered. Mr. Day, with great liberality, is proceeding in a further search, as from the position of the skeletons already found, and the marshy nature of the ground little doubt is entertained but many more will be found, all that it must have been a whole body of horse which unfortunately fell into some snare of an enemy, and were thus swallowed up. People are flocking from all the neighbourhood to view the relics.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

FRANCE.

An eminent Banker in Paris assures his Correspondents in London, that the French Ministers will imitate in future, as nearly as possible, the foreign policy of England, and that the commerce and prosperity of the French people will consequently, be the first of their consideration.

PORTUGAL.

On Friday last (3d inst.) his Majesty's ship Genoa, captain Sir Thomas Livingstone, Bart, arrived at this port from the Tagus, after a tedious passage of three weeks, having, till Tuesday morning se enight, seldom experienced any but north easterly winds. The Genoa fell, laying in the Tagus, his Majesty's ship Windsor Castle (bearing the flag, protempore, of Vice Admiral the Right Hon. Lord Amelius Beauclerk, K. C. B. Commander in Chief), Ocean, and Lively. His most faithful Majesty and the Princesses generally resided at the Palace of Bemposta, and the Queen at the Palace of Queluz. When the Genoa left the Tagus nothing of importance was passing in Lisbon; and excepting naval and military preparations for an intended expedition against the Brazils, every thing wore a pacific appearance; and there apparently existed that happy unanimity of all parties which is the basis of a good government, and tends more to unite a King to his people, than the arbitary measures of a despotic administration. Every possible mark of respect is paid to our squadron to his Faithful Majesty and the Princesses; and whenever they pass up or down the river which they generally do once or twice a day in the royal barge) the yards are manned, the ship's company cheer, and the flag ship fires a royal salute and hoists the Portuguese standard at the main. His Majesty's peculiar regard for the English, and the services rendered him by our Gracious Sovereign, is conspicuous on every occasion, both public and private; and Court his marked attention, to our naval officers, is constantly the theme of conversation invariably reciving them with the most unaffected urbanity. During the Genoa's stay in the Tagus, his Majesty was graciously pleased to honour her with a visit, accompanied by his three Royal daughters and suite. His Majesty, his Royal Highnesses, attended by Sir Thomas Livingstone and his officers, inspected every part of the ship, and expressed their admiration of her warlike appearance, discipline, and order. His Majesty and the princesses afterwards partook of an elegant entertainment, prepared for them by Sir Thomas and Lady Livingstone. The august and Royal visitors on leaving the Genoa, expressed to Sir Thomas Livingstone in the most affable and flattering terms, the high gratification they had derived from their visit, and the deep sense they should entertain of the respectful attention they had received from him and the officers. Prior to their departure, the officers of the Genoa gave an elegant ball and supper, which was attended by Lord Amelius Beauclerk, Sir Thomas and Lady Livingstone, the captains and officers of the English and French ships of war, and some of the principal inhabitants of Lisbon.—Plymouth Journal.

GREECE.

There is a report, but as yet without confirmation, that the fate of the Turkish Fleet, under the Capitan Pacha, is either taken or destroyed;—and, that Pacha of Egypt has recalled his expedition in aid the Turks.—If so, Grecian Independence is secure.

AFRICA.

The Ashantee War.—We find that serious apprehensions as to the result, are entertained in London. The Courier estimates the whole British Force, including the tribes in alliance, at 7100 men; and adds—"But this is too small a force to cope with the King of Ashantee in person, at the head of 16,000 armed men. Besides, the King, if he should find himself in want of men, will instantly call upon the people of Dutch Elmina to join him; and as they have acknowledged themselves his slaves, it is more than they dare to refuse him. The Elmines are brave determined men, and can turn out 6,000 muskets."

IRELAND.

ASSIZE INTELLIGENCE.

(From the Dublin Freeman's Journal.)

CONVICTION OF SIX ASSASSINS.

At the Assizes of Kilkenny, on Monday six unfortunate men were convicted of the murder of Mr. Mahon which excited so great a sensation when it occurred. The trial lasted 15 hours, three and a half of which the Lord Chief Justice (who presided) occupied in charging the Jury and recapitulating the evidence, from 118 pages of notes. His Lordship was upwards of 16 hours on the Bench. The verdict was returned, and sentence of death passed, at 6 o'clock on Tuesday morning. The scene was awful beyond any thing which has occurred for many years.

The following is an abstract report of the trial alluded to:—

On Monday (the 23d inst) this most important trial came on before the Lord Chief Justice, in the County Court house, Kilkenny. We have ample notes of the proceedings, but find ourselves quite unable to transcribe them for the press this day, even if our previous arrangements had left space for the report. The persons charged with this attrocious offence were Michael Campion, Robert Marshall, Patrick Whelan, Thomas Sales, William Whelan, and William Delany. The miserable men were given in charge by ten o'clock on Monday, and the Jury did not retire until one o'clock on Tuesday morning. The patience and impartiality of the Learned Judge his anxiety to unravel the mystery, and to ascertain the truth, during the whole of this protracted and fatiguing trial, was highly honourable to the Irish Bench; Every prisoner had his alibi witnesses, and what was to us a novelty, one of them brought forward three witnesses to prove that the informer was innocent of the murder with which he accused himself and the prisoners, and that he was idling at Kilkenny, 16 miles from the fatal scene, at, and for days before and after the time it was committed. About 11 o'clock P. M. the Lord Chief Justice began to sum up the evidence. His preliminary remarks were eloquent forcible, and lucid. He had not gone over the whole of the evidence before one o'clock and he waited on the bench till a quarter past 2 when the Jury not being agreed as to two of the prisoners, he retired. At 6 o'clock he returned to the Judgment seat, and the Jury were called out, when they gave in a verdict of Guilty against all the prisoners.

The scene in the crowded court now surpassed any thing we had ever witnessed. A great number of women and some men began to cry aloud, clapping their hands and tearing their hair at the same time. When the Chief Justice began his solemn and affecting address, it produced a temporary calm, but when he put on the black cap to pronounce sentence of death, the screeching and loud hysterics sobbing were renewed.—The unhappy men are to be executed to morrow (Thursday last, 26 inst.) in Galtmoy on the spot where they committed that dreadful crime which has brought them to a premature and ignominious end. Their bodies are to be brought back to the County Hospital, to be dissected and anatomized. Some of them exclaimed "I innocent!" One called for a long day & one of them threw his hat indignantly from him to the ground.—The crowd rushed out of Court as the prisoners descended through the dock, and the loud and terrific symptoms of affliction were doubly manifested in the street, till they passed up James's street (the entrance of which was guarded against the multitude) to the County goal. The only indifferent persons were the prisoners.

GRAND REVIEW IN THE PHŒNIX PARK.

Monday 23rd August, there was a splendid military spectacle in the Phœnix Park, Dublin—two Regiments of Cavalry, and four of Infantry, with Artillery, &c. having been reviewed by Lord Combermere. General GRANT commanded.

At two o'clock the regiments marched into the Park, and the ground was kept by Infantry, stationed along the extensive review ground, at proper distances.

The 4th (or Royal Irish) Dragoon Guards, flanked by Artillery, formed on the right, next them the 1st Battalion of the 3d Guards.

The 79th Highlanders, the Bath, the Rifle Brigade and the 9th Lancers, and Artillery, were paraded in ordinary succession.

At a quarter past three o'clock, discharges of artillery announced the arrival of the Commander of the forces. His Lordship rode along the magnificent and varied line, escorted by a party of Lancers. After passing along the line in front and rear, his Lordship took up a position in front, where a large Union Flag was erected by some of the Waggon Train.

The troops formed in close columns, and thus advanced over the ground until they arrived within a short distance of Lord Combermere, then, forming into open columns, they passed first in slow, and afterwards in quick time, before him. When ordered to reform as before, they executed some movements in echelon, which produced a charming effect—and thereby, with amazing expedition, resumed their rank and station with the most admirable regularity and discipline.

A sham battle then commenced, all the horrors of the "sanguinary field" were harmlessly described to admiration.—Having thrown out videttes, engagements commenced on the right and left, the Flying Artillery (they well merited that appellation) galloped, dismounted, primed, loaded, fired, reloaded, remounted, and galloped again, with a degree of military celerity, which showed the high state of improvement they have attained.

A charge of Cavalry was admirably conducted by the assailing and defending parties, the whole line of Infantry at this period advanced to the charge, and covered the retreat of the reuring squadrons of Cavalry with a brisk and well sustained discharge of musketry; wheeling again into columns, they formed into four solid squares, the front rank kneeling, the rear firing, and all surrounding their Officers, enclosed within those animated chevaux de frize, precisely as at the memorable battle of Waterloo, which covered Wellington with undying laurels, and overwhelmed the greatest of all modern despots.

In this manner the squares withstood repeated charges of cavalry, and reformed into line by a new and dexterous manœvre. Another discharge of musketry along the whole line was followed by a charge of cavalry, and discharges of artillery.

The battle over, the Commander of the Forces advanced, and the whole line presented arms, the various bands playing "God save the King."

In the advances of infantry, before alluded to, the general effect was greatly enhanced by the ancient music of Scotland—the pipers of the 79th Highlanders struck up the pibroch with great animation.

A vast number of carriages were on the ground, in many of them were ladies of rank and fashion.

NATURAL HISTORY.

The England Marmot.—This wonderful Hyberanimal is found only in the northern parts of Europe and Asia, and is sometimes seen in immense numbers corresponding large tracts of countries, in Norway, Sweden, and England. But as its appearance is at very uncertain periods, and the matter from whence it is derived has not been hitherto explored by any naturalist, its existence has been entirely attributed by superstitious ignorance, to the generation of clouds, from whence, it has been supposed, it was poured down in showers of rain. Myriads of them march together, and, like a torrent which nothing can resist, their course is marked with ruin and desolation. Neither fire nor water prevent their progress. They go straight forward, in regular lines, about three feet asunder, and generally in a south-east, direction; they swim across lakes and rivers; no opposition impedes them. If thousands are destroyed, thousands supply their places; the void is quickly filled up; and their number does not appear diminished. They persist in their course, in spite of every obstacle; and if prevented from proceeding, they either by assiduity surmount it or die in the attempt. Their march is mostly in the night. They rest during the day, and devour every root and vegetable they meet with. They infect the very herbage, and cattle are said to perish that feed upon the grass they have touched.

Owl.—Besides the white owl, and the grey owl there is another that remains in Hudson's Bay all the year, and is called by the Indians Cob-a-dee-coorh. It is so like the [illegible] that it seldom weighs half a pound; is of a mottled brown the feathers long, and of a most delicate soft and silky quality. In general this species feed on mice, and birds they find dead; and are so impudent at times, that they light on a partridge when killed by the hunter, but not being able to carry it off, are often obliged to relinquish the prize. Like the white owl, at times, though but seldom, they follow the report of a gun, and by so frequently skimming round the sportsman, frighten the game nearly as much as the hawk. They seldom go far from the woods, build in trees, and lay from two to four eggs. They are never fat, and their flesh is eaten only by the Indians.

Removal of natural antipathies.—A curious instance of reconciliation of supposed natural antipathies in animals was lately witnessed by many persons in Shrewsbury, England. W. Jones, having taken a nest of seven rabbits, in the fields, put one of them into a box in which he kept a female ferret, then rearing three young ones. Instead of instantly devouring the helpless young rabbit, the ferret carried it to her nest, and adopted it as one of her own family. The man put another rabbit into the box, which the ferret carried also to her nest! The other rabbits he gave to other ferrets, which instantly devoured them. During five subsequent days the two adopted strangers were suckled by this ferret with the same kindness as her three legitimate offspring; but, either in consequence of the new sustenance, or the frequent handlings, (to gratify the curiosity of strangers) the two rabbits died. Maternal affection, however, was not even then extinct in the ferret; for she repeatedly carried the dead bodies to her nest whenever they were removed, and betrayed to the last all the anxiety of a parent.

Domestic.

CANADIAN LAND COMPANY.

The following Queries, with their Answers, from the pamphlet published in London—explanatory of the designs of the great Canadian Land Company, cannot fail to prove interesting to our readers.

"QUERIES answered by the Hon. and Rev. DR. STRACHAN, and J. P. ROBINSON ESQ. Members of the Council of the Province of Upper Canada

"Has the improvement of Canada, particularly of the Upper Province, with respect to the value of property, and the increase of population been in any degree considerable within the last seven years?

"The population has increased prodigiously during the last seven years, but the emigrants have been chiefly persons of little or no property, with the exception of half-pay officers, who are entitled to gratuitous grants. Lands in Canada, being in some degree a circulating medium, are estimated in the market high or low, in proportion to the value of their produce, the increase of which for several years back, has caused much distress to many who were not prepared when it was high; consequently persons forced to sell have seldom got the value of their property, sometimes not half the value, but those who are not in distress will not dispose of their property at an under price.

"To what extent may emigration have been carried during the last seven years?

"The average number of emigrants who have landed at Quebec during this period, may be taken at upwards of 10,000 annually. In one year more than three thousand orders for land were granted by the present Excellent Lieutenant Governor.

"Suppose a Company were formed in England to promote the agricultural improvement and population of Canada, from what sources would they derive any return for their capital?

"If we, such a Company in possession of the Crown Reserves in any District, a new impetus would be given to the Province. By good roads and building mills on the blocks or tracts, the lands would immediately become valuable. Offices for the sale of the lands might be opened in London, Edinburgh and Dublin, furnished with correct maps and description. The character of the Company would guarantee the safety of the purchaser in respect to his title—and to shew fairness, the Company might direct their lands to be shewn, free of all expense, to the agents of any private associations or small capitalists, who might be disposed to purchase. In many of the populous Townships, the Reserves would be purchased by the native inhabitants in order to settle their children near themselves; for example, in many of the Townships, there are from 50 to 200 families, most of which possess one lot of 200 acres; but we shall suppose, that the 200 families possess, among them only, 150 such lots. Now the grantable lots in a Township are about 240, and 90 Reserved lots, that is, 45 for the Crown, and 45 for the Clergy. The population from emigration and natural increase doubles in about 20 years, so that in that time the 200 families would be 400 families, and require at least 150 more lots of land. This supposition is placing the matter in the most disadvantageous point of view, because many of the unoccupied lots belong either to the inhabitants of the same Township or other individuals, who, knowing the value of lands in the midst of a populous settlement, hold their lots [illegible] so that the Company would, in all probability sell the Reserves, much sooner than is now anticipated, (being attended with a moderate profit.) In fine, were a little capital thrown into the Province and the public attention drawn towards it, lands would rise four-fold, and yet be cheap to the actual settler, as the produce would rise in proportion. Under the rapid advancement of commerce, of enterprise, and increase of circulating medium

"What is the cause of that difference which all travellers have remarked between the United States and Canada, where the soil and climate are so similar; in the former every thing is represented as alive, active, and prosperous; in the latter all dull and languid?

"This question admits of a most satisfactory answer. Upper Canada was first settled by refugees from the United States after the peace of 1783, all of whom were destitute and wholly without capital; every accession of inhabitants has been nearly of the same description. Whatever wealth is to be found in the Province, has been made entirely from the soil; none yet had one single capitalist come into the country, purchased a large tract of land, built mills, made roads, and, as the American say prepared it for settlement. The consequence has been apparent languor, compared with the neighbouring States, many persons living comfortably, but never acquiring great wealth. But in the American States, many purchased large tracts, spent many hundred thousand dollars in their preparation for location, sold at high prices, and after a few years, recovered the capital laid out with gold. The same may be done in Canada at this moment, and with the certainty of speedier returns than the speculators on the other side, as the population of Canada is much greater than the parts of the country were, where they commenced their operations."

"QUERIES answered by the Right Reverend Father MCDONELL, Bishop of Rhodiopolis

"What do you conceive would be the most effectual mode of encouraging emigrants possessed of a little Capital to settle in Canada, independent of the cheapness of the land?

"Were twenty or thirty acres cleared in lots of 200, it would be a great inducement to that class of emigrants to sit down at once in Canada; but certainly the most efficacious way of inducing emigrants to go to Canada and remain in the country, would be to help them with the means of clearing the lands and settling themselves.

"Suppose a company were formed in England for this purpose, what would be the source of income, or the return for the capital so invested?

"The company should have lands on easy terms from government; it should agree with settlers to take their lands at a certain regulated price, and assist the settlers to clear them in the American way, taking an obligation from the settler to repay the money advanced, and the price of the land, within a certain period of years. Thus the difference of the price paid by the company to Government, and the price which the company would receive from the settlers, would in my opinion constitute a certain source of return to the Company.

"What is the cause of that difference which all travellers have remarked between the United States and Canada, where the soil and climate are so similar; in the former every thing is represented as alive, active, and prosperous; in the latter all dull and languid in comparison?

"In the United States the lands are all bought in large tracts by speculators, men of capital. The first thing these gentlemen do, is to open roads in different directions, through the tracts which they purchase, and to build mills in favourable situations, thus attracting settlers to their lands; and by disposing of lots along the roads and in advantageous situations, giving encouragement to build villages. These speculators help the new settlers many who were not provided when it was high; consequently persons forced to sell have seldom got the value of their property, sometimes not half the value, but those who are not in distress will not dispose of their property at an under price.

"To what extent may emigration have been carried during the last seven years?

"The average number of emigrants who have landed at Quebec during this period, may be taken at upwards of 10,000 annually. In one year more than three thousand orders for land were granted by the present Excellent Lieutenant Governor.

"Suppose a Company were formed in England to promote the agricultural improvement and population of Canada, from what sources would they derive any return for their capital?

"If we, such a Company in possession of the Crown Reserves in any District, a new impetus would be given to the Province. By good roads and building mills on the blocks or tracts, the lands would immediately become valuable. Offices for the sale of the lands might be opened in London, Edinburgh and Dublin, furnished with correct maps and description. The character of the

"But you have said there are no speculators of capital in Canada, similar to the Americans; of what avail then will it be, that these waste lands are brought to sale, when the money is wanting that is required to animate the country?

"If those obstructions of which I have spoken, were removed, and the lands free to be sold, capitalists would soon rise to render them profitable subjects of speculation. I do even conceive that men of capital would come from England and Europe, and deal in the American manner with those lands; besides the natural progress of the agricultural population of the Province would create a market; for it may be justly said, that the youth of Canada all aspire to become possessors of land, and there are no spots so desirable as those very Reserves which are a dead weight on the prosperity of the Province.

"Do you know any thing of the Pulteney lands on the American side of the St. Lawrence?

"Yes; I had an opportunity many years ago of reading the correspondence of the agent of Sir W. Pulteney, respecting those settlements. From that correspondence it appears that the progress of their operations were, as I have described the process of the American speculators. Sir William and his associates had laid out large sums of money, perhaps as much as sixty or eighty thousand pounds in building inns, and mills, and making roads and bridges, before they got much return. But now the lands which were not worth half a dollar an acre when they began their operations, are worth on an average, from thirty to forty dollars an acre.

"How long had these operations been going on before the lands came to make so great a return?

"There was very little return made for the first eight or ten years. The return for the succeeding five was considerable, and the profit has since continued to increase in a prodigious ratio, quite incalculable.

"Do you conceive, if similar undertakings were instituted in Canada, that similar results would follow from them?

"I think that the result would be quite equal; for the natural facilities in Canada are more favourable than those on the American side.

"What are those superior natural facilities?

"The great channel of internal navigation, the St. Lawrence from Montreal to Amherstburgh, a distance of nearly 800 miles, might be rendered navigable for vessels coming across the Atlantic, and steam boats, by cutting a canal, first from the Cascades to Coteau-du Lac, a distance of thirteen miles, and from Cornwall to the head of the rapid Plat, a distance of forty miles, and from Burlington Bay, at the head of Lake Ontario, to the mouth of the grand river that flows into Lake Erie, a distance of about thirty miles. Government is excavating a canal to avoid the great rapids of the Ottawa; and besides these, the whole country is intersected by streams and lakes in a manner quite peculiar to itself, affording the means of inland navigation in every direction.

"QUERIES answered by WILLIAM GILKISON, ESQ. long resident in Upper Canada.

"What is the average cost per acre of clearing land in Upper Canada in favourable situations, and what may be called unfavourable situations?

"Lands are cleared of their standing timber and brushwood, (not of roots,) including fencing, for the average price of about seventy-five shillings per acre. It is immaterial to the labourer where the lands may be situated, but the quality of its timber fixes the rate. Lands covered with oak, ash, elm, hickory or maple, and the like, are the most easily cleared, and may be called favourable: those with white pine, cedar, &c. unfavourable.

"What is the average value of land, generally per acre, after it has been cleared?

"There are but few lots (lots consisting of 200 acres) cleared of more than half its number; and when sales or valuations are made, this is done by average of the whole quantity in the lot; their price varies according to situation and state of buildings.—Average may be £350.

"What would be the difference in comparitive value of a lot of 200 acres in a state of nature, and the same lot when any acres shall have been cleared?

"I have about 2000 acres in a state of nature, some of them exceedingly well situated, which I would not sell under fifteen shillings an acre; but tracts of land have been sold for three shillings an acre. Last winter I sold 200 acres in the Township of Cornwall, with a house and barn on it, for £420. This lot had been several years in the market; it had sixty acres of cleared land, but no fences.

"What would be the value of a lot of 200 acres cleared, with a house, &c thereon?

"A 200 acres lot is in no case ever cleared of more than half its timber. The value, taking it with the first houses barns, &c. may be estimated from £250 to £300. The answer to this query applies to land settled within eight years, during which the first buildings are seldom changed.

"In what districts do you consider the most desirable Reserved lands to be situated, bearing in mind that the inquiry is made with reference to operations on a large scale?

"It is impossible to give a satisfactory answer to this query. A reference to the Surveyor General's maps, &c. and to the field notes of his deputies, can alone be relied on. I have always heard the Districts of Niagara, Gore, and Midland District, named as containing the most valuable of the Crown and Clergy Reserves.

DIED,

On Thursday the 28th Ult. CAPT. JOHN DENISON of this Town, aged 70 years.

PRINTED BY CHARLES FOTHERGILL,
GAZETTE OFFICE.

Upper Canada Gazette.

New Series.

VOL. III. YORK U. C. THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 11th. 1824. No. XLVI.

By Authority.

UPPER CANADA.

P. MAITLAND,

Lieut. Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

TO our Beloved and Faithful Legislative Counsellors of our Province of Upper Canada; and to our Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses of our said Province, to our Provincial Parliament at our Town of York, on the Sixteenth Day of September instant, to be Commenced, Held, Called and Elected, and to every of you—GREETING:

WHEREAS, our Proclamation bearing date the Tenth Day of September last, We thought fit to Prorogue our Provincial Parliament to the Twenty Fifth day of October, instant, at which time at our Town of York, you are held and constrained to appear, NOW KNOW YE, that We, taking into our Royal consideration the ease and convenience of our loving Subjects, have thought fit by and with the advice of our Executive Council, to relieve you and each of you of your attendance at the time aforesaid, hereby convoking, and by these presents enjoining you and each of you, that on Thursday the Second Day of December next ensuing, you meet Us, in our Provincial Parliament, in our Town of York, there to take into consideration the state and welfare of our Province of UpperCanada, and therein to do as may seem necessary, and herein fail not.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces in North America, at York, this Twenty Third day of Oct. in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign.

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,
JNO. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.
D. CAMERON, Secretary.

Upper Canada.

P. MAITLAND,

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come—GREETING:

WHEREAS by Proclamation bearing date the Fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventeen, our trusty and well beloved FRANCIS GORE Esquire, late our Lieutenant Governor of our Province of Upper Canada, by and with the advice of the Executive Council thereof, and by virtue of the Authority in him vested in that behalf, did declare and appoint the Port of Ernestown, otherwise commonly called the Port of Bath, within the Midland District of this Province, to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for all Goods and Merchandize, not being entirely prohibited and for the payment of all Duties, liable to be paid on all Goods and Merchandize brought into this Province from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS by a certain Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the Third Year of our Reign, entitled, "An Act to Regulate the Trade of the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, and for other purposes relating to the said Provinces," it is among other things Enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the Governor Lieutenant Governor, or person Administering the Government of either of our said Provinces respectively, by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council thereof for the time being, from time to time to diminish or increase, by Proclamation, the number of Ports or places, which then were, or thereafter might be, appointed in such Province for the Entry of Goods, Wares, and Commodities, imported from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS it appears expedient for the avoiding expence in the Collection of our Revenue, that the said Port of Ernestown shall no longer be a Port of Entry and Clearance.—NOW KNOW YE, that by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of our Province of Upper Canada, We have thought fit to declare, and do hereby declare, that from and of the date of this our Proclamation, the said Port of Ernestown shall cease to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the purposes aforesaid, and shall be and remain, as if the said Proclamation hereinbefore recited, and appointing the same to be a Port of Entry and Clearance, had never been made.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York this Twentieth day of March in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign. P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,
D. CAMERON, Secretary.
JNO. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

Government House,
Sept 20th, 1824.

HIS Excellency the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, has been pleased to appoint MARCUS F. WHITEHEAD, Esq to be Register of the Surrogate Court, Newcastle District, Vice Ward.

NOTICE.

Government House,
October 30th, 1824.

A COMMUNICATION has been recently received by His EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR from the SOCIETY established in England, for the ENCOURAGEMENT of ARTS, MANUFACTURES, and COMMERCE, which holds out to the Agriculturists of this Colony the following Premiums:—viz.

Cultivation of Hemp in Upper and Lower Canada, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick.

I. To the person who shall sow with Hemp the greatest quantity of land in the above-mentioned Provinces, not less than six arpents, (each four fifths of a statute acre) in the year 1824, and shall at the proper season cause to be plucked the summer Hemp, (or male Hemp bearing no seed,) and continue the winter Hemp (or female Hemp bearing seed) on the ground until the seed is ripe; the Gold Medal, or Two Hundred Dollars.

II. To the person who shall sow with Hemp the next greatest quantity of land in the same Provinces, not less than five arpents, in the year 1824, in the manner above-mentioned; the Silver Medal, or One Hundred Dollars.

Certificates of the number of arpents, the method of culture, of the plucking of the Hemp, with a general account whether sown, broad-cast, or in drills, and of the expense, soil, cultivation, and produce, to be transmitted to the Society, certified under the Hand and Seal of the Governor or Lieutenant Governor, or the resident Magistrates or other competent local Authorities, together with 25lbs. of the Hemp, and two quarts of the seed, on or before the last Tuesday in April, 1825.

Importation of Hemp from Canada, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick.

III. To the person who shall Import to this country the greatest quantity of marketable Hemp, not less than One Hundred Tons in the year 1824, the produce of Canada, or one of the above mentioned Provinces;—the Gold Medal.

IV. To the person who shall Import the next greatest quantity, not less than Fifty Tons;—the Silver Medal.

Certificates, with factory to the Society, to be produced by the Master of the Vessel on or before the last Tuesday in April 1825, to testify that such Hemp was grown and prepared in Canada, Nova Scotia, or New Brunswick.

Exterpating the Stumps and Roots of Trees.

V. To the person who shall invent, and discover to the Society, the best method, verified by actual experience, of raising out of the earth, and removing the Stumps, and Roots of Trees, which have been left after felling the Timber, so as to Clear the Land for the purposes of Cultivation;—the Gold Medal or Fifty Guineas.

Certificates that the method has succeeded with at least Fifty Trees of Large Girth, and a full description of the means employed to be delivered to the Society, on or before the last Tuesday in April, 1825.

Communications relative to any of the above subjects, may be addressed to His Excellency's Private Secretary. 45-6w.

Executive Council Office,
York, February 7th 1821.

WHEREAS it has been represented, that many persons who have received Locations of Land, have, from Sickness, and other legitimate causes, been unable to fulfil the Settlement Duty in the time required by the Location Ticket, and have neglected to apply to His Excellency in Council for an extension of the period, for performance of such duty.

BE it known that the period for completing the Settlement Duty, is hereby extended to Two Years, from the date of Locations until further notice shall be given.

JOHN SMALL. C'k Ex. Coun.

GLEBES.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in Council, having taken into consideration the system hitherto practised, of Granting Licences of Occupation for GLEBE LANDS, is pleased to Order, that in future the Glebes in the several Townships, with the exception of One Lot in each Township, for the accommodation of the Incumbent, shall be Leased on the same terms as Clergy Reserves.

NOTICE is therefore given to those Persons who hold Licences of Occupation for any of the said Glebe Lots, that the same will not be Renewed; and unless they do make application, by Petition, for Lease, in the usual manner, through the medium of the Corporation for superintending the Clergy Reserves, before the Twenty-ninth day of September next ensuing, the Lots so held by Licence of Occupation will be Leased to other Applicants.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk Ex. Coun,

Executive Council Office,
York, 29th April, 1824. 19-tf.

Executive Council Chamber,
York, 31st January, 1824.

PRESENT,

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,

IN COUNCIL,

HIS Majesty's Government having recently extended their assistance to the class of Emigrants, which it was intended to relieve by gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres of Land, in conveying them to their respective locations:

IT IS ORDERED, that from the first day of May next, no gratuitous Grants be made of any quantity of Land to other than privileged persons —And that as the Fee on Two Hundred Acres was raised, in order to defray the gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres he consideration failing, the future Fee on Two Hundred Acres is reduced to Eight Pounds Four Shilling and One Penny Sterling; the existing Fee before 1819, and the Fee on all other Grants, in Townships Surveyed since that time, to be the same as established by the Order in Council, of 5th January, 1819.

N. B. Possessors of gratuitous Grants for Fifty Acres, may, by paying the Fee on One Hundred Acres, receive a Grant of the adjoining Fifty Acres if vacant

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Ex'v. Council.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL CHAMBER,
AT YORK, 26th JAN. 1824.

PRESENT:

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
In Council

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR submitted to the consideration of the Board, the Sheriffs' Reports of their respective Goals, together with other Documents relating to a Winter Circuit, by which it appeared that the House of Assembly had addressed His Excellency to that effect, for this Session only; and obviously for the Delivery of the Goals in the several Districts.

THE limitation of such a measure to one season seeming to militate with the Provision of the Law, that when the Communication from the Seat of Government is admitted, and the circumstances of the Province required, there should be a regular Second Circuit, the Board would prefer to recommend that Special Commissions to deliver particular Goals should issue when requisite: but, as the respective Reports from the Sheriffs do not, in the opinion of the Board, require any musical interposition, His Excellency, with advice of the Council, postpones a Second Circuit until the circumstances of the Province more decidedly require it

JOHN SMALL.
Clk Executive Council

WHEREAS by the Tenor of the Location Ticket a Certificate is required to be lodged at the Settlement Duty being done within two Years, or that the said Location should be forfeited, and in case of Locations not gratuitous, that one third of the Patent Fee be lodged with such Certificate; AND WHEREAS it is represented, that in many instances, Certificates of performance of the Settlement Duty, have been withheld from the inability of the settler to deposit such proportion of the Patent Fee, it is deemed expedient to relieve the settler from forfeiture of his location, when he may actually have performed his settlement duty—Notice is hereby given that it all cases where Settlement Duty has been performed within the limited period, the settler shall on filing Certificate thereof within six Months of this date, be exempted from forfeiture notwithstanding the non-payment therewith of such portion of the Patent Fee, provided the Patent is sued out within One Year from the filing of such Certificate.

And further; His Excellency, in the hope of avoiding the necessity of rescinding any of the Militia grants, is pleased to direct this Public Notification; that all lands granted to Militia Men, upon which the Settlement Duties shall not have been performed within the limited period, will in pursuance of general instructions given to the Surveyor General in all similar cases, be declared vacant, and will be granted within Six Months after the expiration of that period, to the first applicant, unless the Original Nominee, shall before such subsequent application, have lodged a Certificate of his having performed the Settling Duties.

JOHN SMALL, Clk Ex. Coun

Executive Council Office,
York, 7th Nov. 1821

WHEREAS it has become expedient to establish a line of communication through certain remote Townships, for encouragement thereof, Grants will be made to actual Settlers in the Townships hereinafter named on the condition of Settling within two years from the date of the Location, at the reduced Scale of 5th January, 1819, viz.

A Township North of Mariposa, advertised from the Surveyor General's Office on the 19th of October, as

	Zeta, to be called Eldon
N. of Eps		Fenelon
N. of Emily advertised as	Emir	Verulam
N. of Smith	Lake	Harvey
E. of do.		Dysart
N. of Asphodel	Alma	Dummer
N. of Seymour	Mora	Belmont
N. of Dummer	Yea	Burleigh
N. of Mariposa	Ninia	Lake
N. of Moloc		Tudor
N. of Elizever	No	Grimsthorpe
N. of Kalador	Aye	Anglesea
N. of Kenebec	Jus	Barrie
N. of Norma	Oden	Clarendon
N. of Oso	Et	Palmerston
N. of Belmont	Carlos	Methuen

JOHN SMALL, C. E. C.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit } ON Saturday, the 5th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Peter Grant, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Jerry Whitehead, viz.

The eastern half of Lot No. 10, in the First Concession of the Township of Truelow, containing 100 acres more or less

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
November 2d, 1824 }

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit } ON Saturday the 5th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Zechariah Simmons, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Thomas Parker, viz.

Part of Lot No. 16, in the First Concession of the Township of Sidney, containing three acres and thirty one perches.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
November 2d, 1824 }

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To WIT. } ON Saturday the 12th day of March, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Theophilus Lockwood, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Thomas Parker, viz.

Part of the east half of Lot No. 22, in the Third Concession of the Township of Sidney, in the County of Hastings, containing 19½ acres.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
October, 1824 }

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To WIT. } ON Saturday, the 5th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands, as belonging to Lewis Day, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Alexander Simpson, viz.

The rear two fifths of Lot No. 15, containing 80 acres, and the north or rear two fifths of the westerly quarter of Lot No. 16, in the Fourth Concession of the Township of Kingston, containing 20 acres and the south easterly quarter of the west half of Lot No. 16, in the Second Concession of the Township of Kingston, containing 25 acres

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
November 2d, 1824. }

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Lands, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To WIT. } ON Thursday the 28th day of October next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to the estate of the Late Duncan McDonald, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Duncan McDonell, viz.

Lot No 406 in the Town of Kingston, containing one sixth of an acre

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
July 27th, 1824. }

N. B. Any person or persons having claims on the above lot of land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, or be forever barred.

The above Sale is postponed till Saturday the 18th day of December next, at the same hour and place.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
November 2d, 1824. }

46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To WIT. } ON Saturday the 5th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Lewis Rosebush, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Duncan McDonell, viz.

A part of Lot No 18, in the Second Concession of the Township of Rawdon, containing 70 acres of Land, described as follows, viz. commencing at the south-west angle of the said Lot in front, where a post has been planted, thence running north sixteen degrees west forty-nine chains and forty links, then south seventy-four degrees north fifteen chains to the centre of the said Lot, thence south, sixteen degrees east, to the allowance for road in front of the said Concession, thence west seventy four degrees south fifteen chains to the place of beginning.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
November 2d, 1824. }

N. B. All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To WIT. } ON Saturday the 19th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Daniel Lyon, seized by virtue of an Execution, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of the Hon. G. H. Markland, and John Kirby, Esq Executors to the estate of the late Lawrence Herchimer, viz:—

Lot No. 25 in the 7th Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
18th October, 1824. } No. 46,—t. d.

N. B All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To WIT. } ON Saturday the 19th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Solomon Orser, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Allan McLean, Esq. viz:—

The front part of Lot No. 18, in the 2d Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
18th October, 1824 }

N. B All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale. 46—tf

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District To Wit. } ON Tuesday the 18th day of January, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Silas Ormsby, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of D'Arcy Boulton, Esq. viz:—

The East half of Lot No. 2 in the 12th Concession of the Township of Huntingdon, in the County of Hastings, containing 100 Acres more or less.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
October 18th, 1824. }

N B. All Persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 45—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District To Wit. } ON Tuesday the 18th day of January 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands and Tenements, as belonging to William Purkiss, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Charles Bowman, viz:—

Lot No. 6 in the 2d Concession of the Township of Loughborough, containing 200 Acres; also Town Lot No 260 in the Town of Kingston, with a large two story Frame House erected thereon.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office Kingston, }
October 18th, 1824. }

N. B. All Persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale. 45—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District to wit. } BY virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed against the Lands and Tenements of William Pheoms, in favour of Ralph Leeming and James Hamilton, I have seized and taken in execution, North half of Lot No Ten in the First Con. of the Township of Trafalgar, North side of Dundas Street, containing one Hundred Acres, on which are some improvements, and the Lot is beautifully situated, and which I shall offer for Sale on Saturday the Fourth Day of December next, at one o'clock P. M. at Mr. Carpenter's Inn, near the Premises, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for Cash only.

TITUS G. SIMONS
Late Sheriff, G. D.

late Sheriff's Office, }
24th Sept. 1824. }

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any claim on the above described Property by Mortgage, or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber on or before the Day of Sale.

T. G. SIMONS
Late Sheriff.
No. 44—6 wks.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District to wit. } BY virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Abraham R Smith, at the Suit of Robert Gillespie, Esquire, I have seized and taken in execution Lots No. Eleven, in the First Range, and Twenty-Two in the Second Range, in the Town of Hamilton, and in the Township of Barton, situate on the North side of the Road leading from Dundas to Niagara, each Lot contains One Fourth of an Acre, on the Former is Erected a beautiful Two-Story House, well finished, and fit for any Gentleman's residence, all this valuable Property I shall offer for sale on Monday the Sixth Day of December next, at 10 o'clock, A. M. and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for Cash only.

TITUS G. SIMONS.
Late Sheriff, G. D.

Late Sheriff's Office, }
24th Sept. 1824. }

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any claim on the above described Property by Mortgage or other right of incumbrance, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office, on or before the Day of Sale.

T. D. SIMONS
Late Sheriff, G. D.
No. 44,—6 wks.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

NIAGARA DISTRICT To WIT } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the lands and tenements of John D. M'Kay, at the suit of Peter M'Gill, I have seized and taken the following Lands, viz:—

Lot No. 13, in the 8th Concession of Clinton.
Lot No. 5, 6, 7, & 12, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Grimsby. } 400 acres
Lot No. 37, & 39, in the 8th & 9th Concession of do. } 200 acres
Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 1st Concession of Bertie. } 495 acres
Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 2d Concession of do.
Lot No. 12 & 14, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Gainsbor'o } 400 acres
Lot No. 4, in the 2d Concession of do. } 200 acres
Lot No. 74, 95, 96, & ½, of 201, in the town of Niagara —All of which property I shall offer for sale on the 2d day of August, 1824, at the Court House in the town of Niagara, at 12 o'clock, noon, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for cash only.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff
By PETER T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Niagara, }
July 31st, 1823. 4. }

N. B. Any person or persons having any claims on the above named premises, by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

☞ The sale of the above property is postponed until the 13th of September, next, at the same place and hour.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff
The Sale of the above Property is postponed until the second Tuesday in January, 1825.
RICHARD LEONARD, Sheriff.
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.
43—6w.

SHERIFF'S SALE

NIAGARA DISTRICT To WIT } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the lands and tenements of Liza, alias, Eliza Skinner, widow of the late Haggie Skinner, deceased, at the suit of James Macklem, and James Cummings, Executors of the late John Faning, deceased, I have seized and taken, as belonging to the said Liza, alias, Eliza Skinner Lots No. 172, and 161, in the Township of Stamford, 323 acres—Lots No. 2, 3, 6 and 7 in the Township of Pelham, containing 563 acres:—All of which property I shall offer for sale on the second Monday in March, in the year 1825, at twelve o'clock noon, at the Court House in the Town of Niagara, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for cash only.

RICHARD LEONARD, Sheriff.
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Niagara. }
March 2nd, 1824. }

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim to the above mentioned premises by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

43—6w. R, LEONARD, Sheriff.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Eastern District, To wit. } BY Virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the Lands and tenements of Richard Loucks, at the Suit of John Richardson, John Forsyth, and Alexander Thain, I have seized and taken in execution, Lot number 35, and East half of Lot number 36 in the Front or First Concession of the Township of Osnabruck, containing 300 Acres, with a good frame Dwelling House and Barn with Stables and Out Houses thereon erected, and about 80 Acres of which are well improved and in the highest state of cultivation.—Also Lots number 35, and half of 36 in the Second Concession of the said Township of Osnabruck, containing likewise 300 Acres. All which I will sell at Public Auction at the Court House in the Town of Cornwall, on Monday the Twenty Ninth day of November next ensuing, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for Cash.

DONALD McDONELL,
Sheriff E. D.

Sheriff's Office, Cornwall. }
September 22nd, 18.4. }

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above mentioned Property by Mortgage, or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office, previous to the day of Sale. 42—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Eastern District To Wit } BY Virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Henry Barnhart, at the Suit of William Blackburn and Francois A. Larocque, I have seized and taken in execution Lot number 15 on the South side of Front Street, in the Town Plot of Cornwall, with a good Frame Dwelling House thereon erected.—Also, the North half of Lot number 18 in the Front or First Concession of the Township of Cornwall containing One Hundred Acres more or less.

All which I will sell at Public Auction at the Court House in the Town of Cornwall, in the said District, on Monday the Twenty Ninth day of November next ensuing, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to the highest bidder for Cash.

DONALD McDONELL,
Sheriff, E. D.

Sheriff's Office, Cornwall }
September 22nd, 1824 }

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any Claim on the above Property, my Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my office previous to the day of sale. 42—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Eastern District To Wit. } BY Virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the Lands and Tenements of John Loucks, at the Suit of John Forsyth, John Richardson and Alex ander Thain. I have seized and taken in Execution as belonging to the said John Loucks, Lots number 3, 4, and East half of number 5 in the Fourth Concession of the Township of Osnabruck, containing 400 Acres, with a good Frame Dwelling House and Barn, with out-houses, and a Saw and Grist Mill thereon erected. All which I will sell at Public Auction at the Court House in the Town of Cornwall, on Monday the Twenty Ninth day of November next ensuing, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to the highest bidder for Cash only.

DONALD McDONELL,
Sheriff, E. D.

Sheriff's Office, Cornwall }
September 22nd, 1824. }

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any Claim on the above Property, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office previous to the day of Sale. 42—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District to wit. } ON Wednesday the 15th day of November next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands, and tenements, as belonging to Thomas Chittle, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of William Usher—viz:

All that part of Town Lot No 6 in Barriefield, laid out on Lot No. 21, East side of the great river Cataraqui, Pittsburgh, containing ½ of an Acre and five Perches, with the exception of a piece of thirty six feet square, from the North East Corner of the same.

N. B. Any person or persons having claims on the above Lands, or upon any part of them by Mortgage, or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Kingston, July 13th, 1824. 40—t d.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit: } ON Saturday the 18th day of December next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, all the right, title, claim and interest of Wm. Bayard Smyth, of Kingston, to the following Town Lots, with the buildings thereon erected, seized by virtue of a Writ of Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at the suit of C. A. Hagerman, Esq viz:—Lot No 110, and the North West half of Lot No. 107, in the Town of Kingston, containing three tenths of an acre.

N B Any person or persons having any claim on the above property, or upon any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me onor before the day of sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN
Sheriff M. D.

Kingston, Sept. 14th, 1824.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT.

FOR

FIRE-WOOD

NOTICE is hereby given, that Tenders will be received at this Office until the 16th day of November next, at Noon, from such Persons as are desirous of Contracting for the Supply of the undermentioned quantity of FIRE WOOD for the use of the Troops at York, viz.—

400 CORDS,

To be deliver-d into the Government Fuel-Yard at this Post, and Corded by the 1st Day of February, 1825. The Wood to be of Sound and Merchantable quality, consisting of—

MAPLE,	IRON-WOOD,
HICKORY,	BLACK &
BEECH,	YELLOW BIRCH,

And to be of the following dimensions, viz.—The Stick to be cut full four feet long, and the Cord to be eight feet long, by four feet four inches in height. Further conditions and particulars may be known on application at this Office; sufficient Security will also be required for the due fulfilment of the Contract entered into, and the parties making Proposals will be required to attend at the time of opening the Tenders which must be Sealed and Endorsed "Tender for Fire-Wood."

F. T. BILLINGS,
Dep't. Ass't. Com'y. Gen'l.

Commissariat Office York, October 14, 1824. } 43—4w.

NOT OFFICIAL.

FIRE INSURANCE.

THE Sun Insurance Company of New York, having appointed George Crookshank, Esquire, their Agent in Upper Canada—he is ready to Insure against Loss or Damage by Fire, on Dwelling Houses, Stores, Merchandise, House hold Furniture, and other Personal Property; at moderate Rates of Premium.—Persons wishing to Insure must send a plan of their Buildings, when wanted out of the Town of York, a respectable reference will be required, Letters Post Paid.—Application to be made to

R. W. PRENTICE.

York, 28th Sept. 1824. No. 39—t. f.

NOTICE.

CHARLES HAYES, Esq. of Marmora, having by his deed bearing date the Sixth day of September last, conveyed to the undersigned all his Estate, real and personal, in trust for the benefit of his Creditors, it is requested that such persons as have claims against him, will present the same without delay for adjustment.

The business at Marmora will be continued as heretofore, for the account of the Trustees, by Mr. Hayes.

PETER M'GILL.
A. MANAHAN.
ROBERT HAYES.

Kingston, Oct. 24th, 1824. 46—6w.

Stop! Stop!!

RAN AWAY from the Subscriber on the night of the 26th Ultimo, GEORGE HYLAND, an indented Apprentice. He is a native of Ireland, upwards of 18 years old, about four feet eight inches high, broad made, big face, curly hair, grey eyes, attempts to smother his brogue in conversation, and sly and artful in his proceedings.

Any information that may lead to his discovery will be thankfully received by,

JOSEPH ROGERS, Hatter.

York, Nov. 1st, 1824. 45—3w.

THE CANADIAN FARMER'S ALMANAC

AND

GENERAL MEMORANDUM BOOK, FOR

1825.

IS NOW PUBLISHED, and may be had by the Dozen, or single Book, at the U. C. Gazette Office, and all the principal Stores in Town, and Country.

THE "ROYAL CALENDAR of U. C." for 1825, improved and enlarged,—is in the Press, and every exertion will be used to have it ready for early Publication. In the mean time, Orders will be thankfully received.—

FOR SALE.

IN WOODHOUSE.

LOT No. 6, in the front or First Concession in the Township of Woodhouse, in the District of London, containing 200 Acres, with 70 improved, and a Framed Barn of Large Dimensions. The above Lot will be Sold Cheap—VERY Cheap for ready money.

Application to be made to JOHN HARRIS, Esq. Charlotteville, or to the Proprietor at his Office, in York.

S. WASHBURN.

York, 1st November, 1824. } No. 45—3 w.

FOR SALE.

A Farm on Yonge Street, Lot No. 32 in Markham, One Hundred and Ninety Acres, of which ninety Acres are under cultivation with a Frame House and Barn on the same, a stream of water runs across the Lot, and Purdy's Saw and Grist Mills are on the Lot opposite to the same.—Terms of payment will be made easy.—Application to be made to

GEORGE CROOKSHANK.

York, 17th Oct. 1824.

N. B. Should the above mentioned Farm not be sold by the 1st March next, it will then be leased. 43—tf.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the County of Dundas, intend presenting a Petition to the Legislature at its next Session, for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace held in the said County of Dundas, and the Town of Cornwall alternately.

Also to have the Concession line between the fourth and fifth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg in the Eastern District, to have the said line run upon the true course of No. 66 E and completed.

And also the side lines in the said fourth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg aforesaid, to have the said side lines to run upon the original course No. 24 W. 43—26w.

LAND IN PERCY.

A VERY valuable Lot of Land, consisting of 200 Acres, being No. 7 in the 2nd Concession of the Township of Percy, in the Newcastle District, also not far from the River Trent, in the midst of a good settlement may be had for 2$ per Acre, with an indisputable title, and immediate possession.—Inquire at the U. C. Gazette Office 43—tf.

TO DISTILLERS & BREWERS.

ROBERT Todd Dean having made Chemistry the study of his life, and having for himself and others both in Scotland and Ireland, for sixteen years, conducted a Chemical Manufactory, (Testimonials of the most satisfactory kind can be produced from many respectable individuals to that effect) and having like others of his Countrymen come to Canada for the purpose of bettering his condition in life, finds himself so situated, now, as to be obliged to offer his services to persons engaged in the Brewing and Distilling business, both of which branches, together with the Manufactory of Cordials &c he professes, with all their late improvements, to perfectly understand.

Any Person desirous of having his sevices by addressing a letter to him (post paid) to the care of Matthew Crooks Esq. Ancaster Upper Canada, may depend upon its meeting with a ready attention from

Signed,
R. T. DEAN.

N. B. Terms will be moderate, and such as will be within the reach of every one, doing even a moderate business, immediate employment is an object to,

R. T. D
40—13w.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the First Concession of Sophiasburgh South west of Green Point—by reason of the material damage they have sustained these number of years back, on account of the erroneous original Survey of the Second Concession Line Are determined to Petition the Legislature of this Province at the ensuing Session of Parliament for the alteration of the said Line, and to settle all the differences relating thereunto

Sophiasburgh, Oct 7th, 1824. } No. 44—6 m.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the EASTERN DISTRICT will at the next Session of the LEGISLATURE make application to be authorised to effect a Loan to enable them to erect a Gaol and Court House in the Town of Cornwall. 37—6in.

NOTICE

AN APPLICATION will be made to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for an Act imposing a Tax on Dogs in the TOWN of YORK and its vicinity, the proceeds of which to be applicable to the police purposes.

By Order of the Magistrates in Adjourned General Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the Home District assembled on the 6th day of Sept. 1824.

(Signed,)
S. HEWARD.
Clk. Peace Home District.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the COUNTY of GLENGARY intend presenting a Petition to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Glengary and the Town of Cornwall alternately. 37—6m.

TOWN LOTS IN PORT HOPE.

SEVERAL valuable building Lots, in the flourishing village of PORT HOPE, are for Sale, by private Contract, on the most liberal Terms, and on a credit of several Years, provided the first Instalment be paid down. Either Produce or Manual Labour will be received, if desired, in Payment.—For further particulars apply at the U. C. Gazette Office, York, or to Messrs. C. & J. Stowe, Merchants,—Port Hope.

No. 40—t f.

SADDLE, AND HARNESS MANUFACTORY.

MESSRS BALL AND GIBBONS beg leave respectfully to inform the Inhabitants of York, and its Vicinity, that they carry on the business of Saddle and Harness Making, in all its branches, next door to Mr. Patterson's, Merchant, in the Market Square, York;—and they hope, by strict attention to the orders, with which they may be favoured, to merit a share of the Public Patronage.

York, Oct 21st, 1824. No. 44.—6w.

NOTICE.

THE Plan and Estimate of a STEAM BOAT, (to be Built by Mr. ANDREW S. ROBERTS) that One Hundred Tons Burthen, intended to Ply between this Port and Niagara, may be seen at this Office.—Her Engine is intended to be of Twenty Five Horse Power. The whole Cost is estimated at Two Thousand Two Hundred and Five Pounds Currency. She is to be Built by Stock, made up of Shares, of Twenty Five Pounds each. A few Shares are still wanting. Subscriptions for which will be received at this Office, and at the Office of the Niagara Gleaner, where Estimates and Conditions will be exhibited to those who wish to become Stockholders.

Gazette Office, York, August 26th, 1824. } No. 35.—t. f.

FOR SALE.

LOT No. two, in the First Concession of the Township of York, with the Broken Front, containing about Two Hundred and Forty Acres of Land.

Application to be made to

J. B. MACAULAY

York, 12th June, 1824. 25—t. f.

NOTICE.

ALL Persons indebted to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire, of Stamford, are requested to make immediate payment to the Subscriber at Victoria, London District, and those having claims on the Estate, will be pleased to furnish him with their respective Accounts properly authenticated.

(Signed) WALTER NICHOL,
Administrator to the Estate of the Late ROBERT NICHOL, Esquire.

Niagara, 29th May, 1824.

NOTICE.

WANTED, for FOURTEEN YEARS, or not less than TEN, a LOAN of TWO THOUSAND POUNDS, Halifax Currency, for the building of a PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH of ENGLAND, in the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada.

The Subscriber is authorized to offer Efficient Legal Securities for the Repayment of the LOAN, at the end of the period, and for the Annual Payment of the Interes accumulating thereon, at Six per Cent. per annum.

(By Order of the Committee.)
GEORGE O'KILL STUART,
SECRETARY. pro tem.

12—tf.

NOTICE.

FOR SALE, by private Contracts, the House and Lot lately occupied by Mr. O'Sullivan, Saddler, King's-Street, in the Town of York, the Lot is 26 feet fronting King's-Street, by 112 feet deep.

Also.—A Lot adjoining the above on the West side, 24, by 112 feet.

Also.—A Lot adjoining Mr. Duggan's, 24, by 112 feet.

Also.—Three Lots on Stuarts Land, each 40, by 60 feet.

Should the above Property and Lots not be sold by Private Contract, the five last described Lots will be sold at Public Sale, on the first day of July ensuing.

Application for Terms of Sale, to be made to

ALEXANDER WOOD, ESQ.

York, 17th March, 1824. t. f.

NOTICE.

THE remainder of Stock required for completing the Welland Canal from the River Welland to Lake Ontario, having been subscribed at New York, the Directors will put that part of it, from the Welland to Lock No one, (2 miles) under the contract. Proposals will be received at their office, St. Catherines, until the 15th day of November next, for the execution of the whole, or any one section, of it (which are laid out in 20 chains each.) One mile and 54 chains of the above, is from 25 to 35 feet deep, for which part they will receive proposals for both tunnelling and cutting open, and be guided by the offers received, which method they will adopt.

Any information on the subject may be obtained from Mr. HALL, Engineer, at Queenston, or at the Canal office.

(Signed,)
GEORGE KEEFER.
President W. C. Company.

St. Catherines, 1st Nov 1824 46—tf.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Inhabitants of the Township of TOWNSEND intend Petitioning both Houses of the Provincial Legislature at its next Session, to pass a Law, Establishing a Line Surveyed in the year 1823, between the 12th and 13th Conc. of the said Township.

TOWNSEND, 20th MAY, 1824. } No. 21—1 m. t. d.

VALUABLE LANDED PROPERTY FOR SALE.

TWENTY SEVEN TOWN LOTS, eligibly situated in the Village of Cobourg, in Hamilton, Upper Canada, on one of which, a Store and Dwelling House are erected.

Two Neat Small FARMS, contiguous to the above Village, containing, one, about Twenty eight Acres, the other, about Fifty Acres, with a House and other Buildings on each of them.—A Plan of the above may be seen on application to Mr. J. G. CHEWETT, Cobourg, (who will shew the Premises,) or to the Subscriber.

Two TOWN LOTS in Picardville, adjoining to the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada, with Houses and other Buildings thereon, being Lots No. 21 and 22.

200 Acres of Land being No. 1, 8th Con. of Murray.

200 do do being No. 4, 4th do of Hungerford.

200 do do being No. 1, 8th do of Winchester.

200 do do being No. 24, 8th do of Mountain.

200 do do being the West halves of No. 31 and 32 in the 2d Concession of Hawkesbury.

Liberal Terms of Payment will be granted.

For particulars apply to

FRS. ANT. LAROQUE.

N. B. The above mentioned Town Lots in the flourishing Village of Cobourg, and the two adjoining Farms, will be disposed of by Public Sale, in the said Village on the 24th May next.

F. A. L. R.

Montreal, 15th March, 1824. t. f.

INTERESTING NOTICE.

THE Surveyor General begs leave to inform the Public, that he has obtained the permission of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, to publish a of the Province, on a large Scale. It is to be engraved in London, in the best style, and will be ready for delivery in a few months.

CORRECT MAP

This information, the Surveyor General thinks it necessary to make, in order to prevent those persons, who are desirous of having an authentic MAP of UPPER CANADA, from being imposed upon by a Surreptitious Copy, said to be on the eve of Publication.

Surveyor General's Office, York, 2d April, 1823. } 14—tf

WEEKLY REGISTER.

Our endeavor will be to "stamp the very body of the time—its form and pressure"—we shall extenuate nothing, nor shall we set down aught in malice.

VOL. III. No. 46.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 11th, 1824.

Editorial Commentary.

It appears that Louis XVIII. did not expire until the 16th of Sept at 4 o'clock in the morning. There is now no doubt of his death, nor of the accession of Charles X.

The news from Greece is cheering. The Turks appear to fail in every attempt, both by sea and land, and the prospect of Greek Independance is more certain than ever.

An excellent arrangement has been recently made for the convenience of Emigrants from Great Britain either to the Canadas or the United States.—"The process is very simple, and requires nothing more than that the party should pay his money into the Commercial Bank of Scotland, or to any of its agents, from whom he will receive an order for the same upon a respectable house either at Quebec, Montreal, or New-York, whichever may be his destination. The money, will be paid on demand at the highest rate of premium and without deduction."

We are sorry that we are still obliged to postpone the publication of many valuable communications;—as well as some strictures of our own on the recent conduct of the Advocate, and a charge made against us by GOURLAY,—which it is our intention to give at an early period.

SELECTIONS FROM BRITISH AND FOREIGN JOURNALS.

North Carolina Gold.—The Western Carolinian, of Sept. 21, says, "We learn from a correspondent in Cabarrus county, and also verbally from other sources, that upwards of two thousand penny-weights of pure virgin gold, were found near Parker's Ferry, in Montgomery county, on the 28th ult. One lump weighing four pounds eleven ounces, was found by a small boy, about ten feet below the surface of the earth. This, we believe, is the largest piece ever found in this State. There are, we learn, more than one hundred men working at this mine, or, as those engaged in the business more appropriately term it, "digging for gold:" for nearly all this precious metal that has yet been obtained, has been found in loose, sandy, loamy earth.

The Pirates.—The captain and crew of the Brig Henry, belonging to this city, and lately captured by the pirates, reached their homes last week. Although every arrival brings an account of new outrages committed by the buccaneers of the West-Indies, yet it is only when they are inflicted upon our near neighbours and personal acquaintances that brings the subject home to our feelings. It is with horror we contemplate the narrow, hair breadth escape of Capt Rhodes and his men, who were every man of them to have been coolly murdered the morning after they were rescued by Capt. Graham, of the British sloop of war. These men have all of them their wives and children, or parents and brothers and sisters in this city and neighbourhood. One of them returned with his arm broken by a blow, with the back of a sword, another his cheek sliced down with a sabre, and all emaciated by starvation and thirst. The account given of these pirates by Capt. Rhodes, is truly alarming to every one whose business may call him to adventure on these seas. They appear to be a well organized body of outlaws. They appear to be a well organized body of outlaws. They contemned, if not aided by the Spanish government. The port where they were carried to was within sixty miles of Havana a city not much inferior to New-York, and the seat of government. It is impossible this establishment should have been under the very eye of the governor for more than two months without his connivance. Should any one doubt the fact, it shows them to be inhabitants of the Havannah, and to have associated with respectable society. Nothing but their cruelty and mode of life distinguishes them from the first men of that city. They are between twenty and thirty-five years of age, well dressed, temperate in drinking, and not uncivil in their language. This is a description of men not easily to be diverted from their money making trade. They are unlike those desperadoes whose intemperance and other vices would soon terminate by death. On the contrary they are men of resources, careful of life, and when routed from one place can settle down unmolested in an other, and at any time find a refuge under the regular government of the Island. While Captain Rhodes was unloading his mules, there came on board daily one or more men to purchase, who appeared like regular bred merchants or planters. From these facts the conclusion is irresistible that the government of the Island is privy to these outrages upon the law of nations and of all civilized society. The government should be made responsible for them. Such were the sentiments of Captain Graham, that on his return to Havana with a long train of boats which had belonged to vessels burnt by the pirates, that he threatened the governor with making such a representation to the British government as would induce it to take possession of the Island unless a speedy check was put to these piracies. The last account from there was that an embargo was laid at Havannah for three days to prepare an expedition against these freebooters.—Connecticut Courant.

Singular case of suspended animation.—A European Medical Journal relates the following case, communicated by M. Bourquet, head surgeon to the hospitals of Beziers; 'I was called,' says he, 'to visit a boy twenty eight years old, who exhibited the following symptoms. As soon as the sun appears upon the horizon, I was told he dies, and at sunset he resuscitates. I wished to see this myself, and in consequence, I remained with him until six o'clock in the morning. He slept very tranquilly. I waked him, made him speak, and amused him until the sun began to rise. It was in winter. The young invalid, who was up to that moment very gay, then said to me—Now, Sir, the sickness seizes me; and he lay down upon the bed, when I saw him wearing all the appearance of death. He had no sensible respiration, no pulse, no motion of the heart, no feeling even though the child was pricked. The body remained extremely cold for at least two hours, after which the cold diminished, without, however, ceasing entirely, and the only apparent sign of life was a convulsive movement of the right eye-lid. I forcibly raised one of the arms, and it remained in the upright position, one of the legs, also; the members were like soft wax that takes every impression. He remained thus without swallowing, till the sun had disappeared from the horizon, when he recovered his senses by degrees, and rose without any symptom that could indicate his having been ill. This singular patient had already had ten similar paroxysms. His cure was effected by portions of kina and sublimate zinc."

Professor Porson.—This celebrated scholar frequently wrote letters to the Morning Chronicle, under the assumed name of S. England and answered them the next day, without signature, or a different one. About 1796 the wits of the day amused themselves by composing short compositions in Greek Iambics, and putting them off as newly discovered fragments of Euripides—Porson made a most successful hit against them by turning a well known school-boy's tale into Greek, passing it off as a fragment of some newly discovered plays of Sophocles; unlike the others whose defects proved their humbler origin, Porson's Jeu d'esprit, by the purity of its language and metre, and singular tact of its style, deceived many and delighted all the genuine Hellenists of the day. The following is the original as afterwards published by Porson, when he explained the hoax to the infinite mortification of those, who really believed his Greek to have been written by the ancient dramatist.

Three childrenne slydinge onne the ice,
Upponne a summer's daye,
It so felle out, they alle felle inne;
The reste they ranne awaye,
Now hadde these childrenne been at home,
Or slydinge onne dry grounde,
Ten thousande pounde to one pennie
They hadde not alle been drownde.
You parents that have childrenne deare,
And eke you that have none,
Ifle you would have them safe abroade,
Pray keep them alle at home.

Wife Whipping.—Extract of a letter from the editor of the Cheraw Intelligencer, now in New Jersey.

"While at Patterson, a circumstance occurred which to me was of a most novel and extraordinary nature.—I was told, however, it was a custom of that place—A man flogged his wife severely. He was arrested and taken before a jury of twenty one women. They sentenced him to be whipped until he should appear perfectly penitent and beg his wife's pardon on his knees. He refused. Seven cowskins were accordingly provided, and actively employed by seven of the twenty one woman, on the back of the criminal. He still continued stubborn.

Seven others then took the cowskins and lashed him well. Still he remained refractory. The remaining seven with much energy commenced operation, they fleeced him so severely, he was at length compelled to 'surrender at discretion" They then ducked him, and compelled him, on his knees, to ask forgiveness of his injured wife —Whether or not, the parties were authorized, in this extraordinary measure by law, I cannot say. It was generally considered a just and salutary punishment. I should suppose that one or two repetitions of this summary and degrading punishment would effectually put a stop to wife whipping."

[We think the above method, if adopted in this town, (Niagara) would have a salutary effect upon a certain gentleman of the long robe, who, for a year or two past, has been in the habit of caning his wife; and feeding her in a way unknown, we think, since the destruction of the Bastile in Paris.]—The Canadian.

DISCOVERIES IN THE MOON!

VIENNA, July 19.

Professor Gruithausen, in Munich, has now published the third part of his essay on the plain indications of inhabitants in the moon, and especially of a colossal building. The Munich Gazette communicates some of the most remarkable results derived from a great number of observations made last year. They answer three questions.

1 To what latitude in the moon are there indications of vegetation?

2 How far are there indications of animated beings?

3 Where are the greatest and plainest traces of art on the surface of the moon?

With respect to the first questions, it appears from the observations of Schröter and Gruithausen, that the vegetation on the moon's surface extends to 56 north latitude. Many hundred observations have shewn, in the different colours and monthly changes of the parts evidently covered with plants, three kinds of the phenomens can not possibly be explained, except by the process of vegetation. To the second question it is answered, that the indications from which the existence of living beings is inferred, are found from 50 north latitude, to 37 and perhaps 47 south latitude

The answer to the third question relates to the observations pointing out the places in the moon's surface in which are appearances of artificial causes, altering the surface. The author here examines the appearances that induce him to infer that there are artificial roads in various directions, and he also describes the great collossal edifice resembling our cities, on the most fertile part near the moon's equator, it is remarkable that it is exactly according to the four cardinal points, and that the main cities are in angles of 45 deg and 90 deg, and a building resembling what is called a star redoubt, is attached to it, which the discoverer presumes to be dedicated to religious purposes, and as they can see no stars in the day time, (their atmosphere being so pure,) he thinks that they worship the stars, and consider the earth as a natural clock The essay is accompanied by several plates.—Vienna Gazette, July 20.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

FRANCE AND SPAIN.

PARIS, Sept 10.—On the 9th of February, 1824, a Convention was concluded between his most Christian Majesty and the Minister of his Catholic Majesty for the stay of the French troops in Spain. The first article stipulates that the French army left in Spain should consist of 45,000 men.

By the second article it is agreed that the French army shall occupy the following garrisons—Cadiz, Isle of Leon and dependencies, Burgos, Aranda del Duero, Leon and dependencies, Santona Bilboa St Sebastian, Vittoria, Tolosa, Pampeluna, San Fernando de Figueras, Gerona, Hostalrich, Barcelona, the Seu d'Urgel, and Lerida.

The military Command of each of these cities and places belong to a French officer, provided with credentials to command them. He will be invested, as to military affairs, with the same powers which are granted to Spanish Governors.

The arsenals and artillery establishments of these places are to be under the direction of French commanders.

AFRICA.

Some of the causes of the present unhappy dispute with the Ashantees may be learned from the following interesting work, lately announced.

Journal of a residence in Ashantee.—By Joseph Dupuis, Esq. late His Britannic Majesty's Envoy With an account of the origin and causes of the present war

The origin of the war is briefly told—Mr D in his can cery of Consul, had out certain expectations to the Ashantee King, and his negro monarch resolved to send an embassy to England; his dream was thwarted and Mr. Dupuis who came to England four years ago does not appear to have held weight enough to incite the Colonial Department, to fulfil his promises towards the King of Ashantee, while the commercial people at Cape Coast Castle (according to him) added to their insults and aggressions to the scale already too much to be borne by Ashantee passions. The consequence is unhappily before us—The death of Sir Charles Mc Carthy, the massacre of his force, and the entire hostile of our establishments on the Gold Coast of Africa.

NATURAL HISTORY

Discovery of Living Frogs in a Solid Rock.—(From Mr. Hall's History of Waterford, just published)—"The Workmen employed to sink for water in the limestone stratum at the Rev Mr Dickson's, near Dungarvan, discovered at the depth of thirty-six feet large quantities of living frogs: the rock appeared to be a solid mass, without any opening through which the animals could be supposed to have come in."

Horse Spider.—One day last week (says the Hertford, Conn. Mirror) the workmen in Mr Peck's machine shop, in Southington, discovered under one of the factory benches a black, [illegible] spider, which was about six inches long, suspended by the web of a spider. The spider was of the common house sort, and not uncommonly large. When first discovered, the little insect had raised his victim about half a foot from the floor, and had him hung by a single thread. The ingenuity and power of a spider were truly wonderful. Passing rapidly down upon his line, he would fasten his cordage around the neck of a snake, pass back to his own nest on the under-surface of the bench, then going again down, "cast a hitch" around the tail, and returning to his nest would avail himself of the contortions of the snake, alternately hauling up his lines so as to bring his game nearer home. In this manner he continued his labour until evening, leaving the snake alive, but so completely exhausted and secured as to be sure for the night; in the morning he was dead.

A Demonstration in Natural Philosophy.—There is a man travelling in England, and exhibiting in one cage, a dog, a cat, a mouse, and a sparrow; they live together like brothers and sisters. These four animals sleep in the same bed, and eat at the same dish, the dog indeed serves himself first, but does not forget the cat, who has the complaisance to give to the mouse certain tid bits to his taste, and to leave to the sparrow the crumbs of bread, which the others do not envy him The dog licks the cat, and the cat combs the dog, the mouse plays with the cat's paw, and the sparrow flutters high and low, pecking sometimes one and sometimes another. This man with his age may be very properly designated by the appellation given him at the head of this article He proves that the dog and cat are not belligerents by instinct, but by prejudice and practice. But, again, he proves, that if these animals are by nature belligerous, their antipathies may be removed by making them better acquainted with each other. What an ocean of blood—how many millions of lives—how many fair cities, might be saved to the world every century, by the world's taking a lesson from this Philosopher, and shutting its belligerent inhabitants up in cages till they become better acquainted with one another. We are enemies only because we are strangers.

ARTS AND SCIENCES.

——Science has sought, on weary wing,
By sea and shore, each cattle and living thing.

CAMPBELL.

Curious Natural Phenomena.—In Lieutenant Hood's Account of the journey from Cumberland House to Fort Chepewyan, as given to Capt Franklin's Journey to the Polar Sea," may published, or London he states as the greatest annoyance, the clouds of huge ful grown mosquitoes, which forming forth at once, so essentially tormented the traveller to a degree unknown even in the tropical regions; "we had (says Mr. H.) sometimes before procured a little rest, by closing the tent, and burning wood or flashing gunpowder within, but the smoke driving the mosquitoes into the recesses of the ground But this remedy was now ineffectual, though we employed it so perseveringly as to hazard suffocation they swarmed under our blankets, gorging us with their envenomed stings, and steeping our clothes in blood. We rose at daylight in a fever, and our misery was unmitigated during our whole stay. The food of the mosquito is blood, which it can extract by penetrating the hide of a buffalo, and, if it is not disturbed, it gorges itself so as to swell its body into a transparent globe. The wound does not swell, like that of the African mosquito, but it is infinitely more painful and where multiplied an hundred fold, and continued for so many successive days, it becomes an evil of such magnitude, that old famine and every other concomitant of an inhospitable climate, must yield the preeminence to it It chases the buffalo to the plains, infuriates him to madness, and the remainder to the sea shore, from which they do not return till the scourge has ceased"

There are good grounds for believing that the musquitoes, which appear in a frozen state during the winter, and in spring, are not the produce of that season, but have remained in a frozen state during the winter, which is the case, not with them only, but with others of the insect tribe. Mr Edes mentions a black frozen mass of a turf like substance, which, when thawed produced a swarm of musquitoes, and Hearne says, that spiders, if frozen so hard as to bound from the floor like a grey pea, were revived by being brought to the fire. These accounts were, for some time, disbelieved, at least strong doubts were entertained of the correctness of the facts, but it was found, by experiment, that leeches, snails grubs and frogs, could be frozen to a certain degree, by artificial cold, and revived. Similar experiments, we understand, have been repeated, in the course of the severe weather of the late winter, by which it was ascertained that frogs would revive even if the heart was frozen, but that if the brain was congealed, life became extinct, and so far from the animal being recovered by the application of warmth, it was not capable of being affected by the galvanic action. It should be recollected, however, that the animal had been awakened out of a torpid state, to undergo the experiment, and that it was not frozen in the ordinary manner chosen by itself when in its vigour. Hearne observes, that these animals burrow under the moss at a considerable distance from the water, where they remain in a frozen state till the spring. "I have frequently," says he, "seen them dug up with the moss, frozen as hard as ice, in which state the legs are as easily broken off as a pipe-stem;" and after stating that by warmth they will gain their usual activity, he adds, "but if they be permitted to freeze again, they are past all recovery." We have no doubt, therefore, of Mr. Hood being correct, when he says "the noise made by the frogs, which this inundation (the melting of the snow) produced, is almost incredible. There is strong reason to believe that they outlive the severity of winter. They have often been found frozen, and revived by warmth, nor is it possible, that the multitude which incessantly filled our ears with its discordant notes, could have been matured in two or three days."

Captain Franklin also incidently states a curious fact with regard to fish, without being aware that the question of resuscitation had been agitated among physiologists "It may be worthy of notice here, that the fish froze as they were taken out of the nets, and, to a short time became a solid mass of ice, and, by a blow or two of the hatchet, were easily split open, when the intestines might be removed in one lump. If in this continues might be removed in one lump. If in this completely frozen state they were thawed before the fire, they recovered their animation This was particularly the case with the carp, and we had occasion to observe it repeatedly, as Dr Richardson occupied himself in examining the structure of the different species of fish, and was always, in the winter, under the necessity of thawing them before he could cut them We have seen a carp recover so far as to leap about with much vigour, after it had been frozen for thirty-six hours."

USEFUL RECEIPTS.

Preservation of Grain, &c., from Mice.—Mr. Macdonald of Scalpa, in the Hebrides, having some years ago suffered considerably by mice; put at the bottom, near the centre, and at the top of each stack, or one, as it was raised, three or four stalks of wild mint, with the leaf a-top gathered near a brook, in a neighbouring field; and never after had any of his grain consumed. He then tried the same experiment with his cheese and other articles kept in store, and often injured by mice, and with equal effect, by laying a few leaves, green or dry, on the article to be preserved.

Paste.—Dr Mac Culloch, in a paper on the power of perfumes in preventing mouldiness, gives the following directions for the preparation of a paste, which as it will keep any length of time, and is always ready as it will keep any length of time, and is always ready for use, may be of great service to mineralogists and others "That which I have long used in this manner is made of flour in the usual way, but rather thick, with is made of flour in the usual way, but rather thick, with a proportion of brown sugar, and a small quantity of a proportion of brown sugar, and a small quantity of corrosive sublimate. The use of the sugar is to keep it flexible, so as to prevent its scaling off from smooth surfaces, and, that of the corrosive sublimate, independently of preserving it from mice, is an effectual check against its fermentation This salt, however, does not prevent the formation of mouldiness, but, as a drop or two of the essential oils such as lavender, peppermint, anise, bergamot, &c is a complete security against this, all the causes of destruction are effectually guarded against. Paste made in this manner and exposed to the air, dries without change to a state resembling horn, so that it may at any time be wetted again, and applied to use. When kept in a close covered pot, it may be preserved in a state for use at all times

Anecdote.

Anecdote of Garrick.—A sharp genius for dramatic fame, introduced himself to the late Mr. Garrick for the purpose of displaying his imaginary talents. Altho' he had scarcely in his life been off his shop board, yet such was his opinion of his abilities as an actor, that he thought himself sufficiently competent to the arduous task of rehearsing a part before so judicous, severe, and discriminating a judge of acting as Mr. Garrick.

This Cockney by birth and taste by profession, addressed our Roscius:—

Sir, I am your most in de fat obligati humble servant—I shall be vastly happy and very proud of the hop portunity of hacting.

Well, said Mr. Garrick, and pray what part would you like to have the hopportunity of hacting.

Romo, sir—Romo, sir: replied the tailor—I should like to perform the part of Romo—for my wife says I read Robison Cruso vastly well: and as how I have so sweet a voice that she's vastly sure and very certain I should make a monstracious moving lover.

Well, sir, asked Garrick, are you perfect in the part of Romo, as you call it.

O yes sir, answered Snip—I am main certin I can go through every stitch of it from the beginning to the end on't

Pray sir, Mr. Garrick asked—Do you recollect a passage in that play where he describes a huge Colossus bestriding the lazy pacine clouds, and sailing on the bosom of the air?

O yes sir, replied Snip, vastly well.

Then pray tell me sir, continued Mr. Garrick, when he was bestraddling those clouds, supposing his strides to have been about the extent of a moderate sized rainbow, which way would you go to work to measure him for a pair of breeches?

Lord have mercy on us, cried the tailor, here's a pretty job of journey work! Make a pair of breeches for a rainbow! Why I don't believe two tailors in London ever did such a thing in their lives—and I'm sure I could as soon make a pair for the man in the moon.

Then pray sir, asked Mr. Garrick, most indignantly, how come you to think of undertaking my business when you are not master of your own?

Lord, sir, replied the frightened tailor, I only vonted—

You only vonted, repeated Mr. Garrick, didst thou ever behold Macbeth, with boisterous rage, bully the ghost of Banquo off the stage?

No sir, says Snip.

You shall behold it now, then, said Mr. Garrick.

Avaunt and quite my sight! thy shears are edgeless,
And thy goose is cold—thou hast no thread,
Nor needles in those paws that thou dost stitch withal,
What manager dare, I dare—approach thou like the Grim and greasy lamp lighter, or armed chimney sweeper,
With brush and soot bag—take any form but that,
And my rich ward-robe shall yet escape cabbaging;
Or dare me to thy shop board with thy shears;
If trembling I inhabit, then protest me
Thou botch of a button hole—Hence horrible tailor, hence.

Avaunt was the word, and the tailor was off in a tangent, perfectly cured of his passion for the stage, which he resolved never to think of more, but to attend to his shop-board.

Poetry.

For the Weekly Register.

TO A HUSBAND.

Oh! were I in my dying hour,
And thou beside me mourning stood,
Still should I own affection's power,
And scarcely wish a dearer good.

Though Heaven were open to my eyes,
And bliss supreme awaited me,
My struggling soul would grieve to rise,
Dreaming earth heaven while blest with thee.

And oh! if in the spheres above,
Souls have one spark of earthly feeling,
Still would my thought's be with thee, love,
And from celestial regions stealing

For one short hour I'd earthward stray,
To snatch thee from a world of cares;
Point to my home the safest way,
Nor call it Heaven till thou wert there.

THE KISS.

'Tis the test of affection, the sweetest and surest;
'Tis the offspring of tenderest love:
'Tis a blessing from Heaven, the chastest and purest,
Ever came from the spirit above.

'Tis the holiest pledge that a lover can give;
'Tis the first, and the fondest, and dearest,
'Twixt the lips that bestow and the lips that receive,
'Tis the bond that doth bind them sincerest.

And oh then how cold and how hard is that heart—
How poor and unworthy the bliss
That feels not the pleasure that pledge can impart,
And knows not the worth of a kiss.

EPITAPH.

On Coleman, a plotting papist, in the reign of Charles II.

If heav'n be pleas'd when sinners cease to sin;
If hell be pleas'd when sinners enter in:
If earth be pleas'd when ridded of a knave;
Then all are pleas'd—for Coleman's in his grave

Domestic.

Canadian Land Company.—Several rumors are current, which have been brought by this vessel. Lieut. Col. COCKBURN, is said to have been appointed Crown Commissioner, to treat with the Canada Land Company for the sale of the Reserved Lands. It is also mentioned in private circles, that Lieut. Col. HARVEY is to be honored with a distinguished mark of Royal approbation, and will return in the spring. We mention these rumors as they are talked of in private, without any authority to state that they may be depended on.—Quebec Official Gazette.

Navigation of the St. Lawrence.—A subscription has been commenced in this City for the purpose of ascertaining by an experiment the practicability of ascending the rapids of the St. Lawrence, between Montreal and Kingston, by means similar to those now in operation on some of the navigable rivers of the United States. We understand that vessels not drawing more than the depth of water in the rapids of these rivers, are towed up by boats constructed with paddle wheels which are turned by the descending current, and wind round a windlass a rope or other fastening, one end of which is fixed at the head of the current; in this way obtaining from the current a power against itself which can be encreased to any extent within the strength of the materials employed. The St. Lawrence is already for the purpose of descending navigation, a cheaper channel of conveyance than a canal, and if it can be made as advantageous as a canal for ascending navigation, no artificial water conveyance will ever be able to compete with it. The proposed experiment will not cost much, and at first sight, it appears sufficiently reasonable to be worth a trial.—Montreal Herald.

Mineralogy and Geology of Lower Canada.—A gentleman who lately returned to this city from the Labrador Coast, and whose attention has been successfully turned to the Mineralogy of the Gaspé district, from which some very valuable and beautiful specimens of the Quartz family, particularly the different varieties of Cornelian, Agate, Opal and Jasper have been introduced into the Province, and cut into different ornamental articles by Mr. Smillie, Lapidary, of this city, brought up some beautiful specimens of a sky blue variety of the Labradors feldspar, a mineral first, and as yet almost exclusively found on that Coast The others, and almost all the different varieties of this mineral it is stated are found on the same Coast, viz: green, yellow, red, and pearl-grey: the present specimen, as stated above, is of the blue; it is hard and takes a fine polish; the changeability of a colour, from a dark grey to the most bright and vivid sky-blue, is beautiful, and makes it very valuable and well adapted for cutting into snuff-boxes, ring-stones, &c.

The specimens alluded to were found at Mingan, and appear to be imbedded in a granitic rock

The character of the whole North Shore of the St Lawrence, from Quebec to its mouth, and the Labrador Coast, offers to the Geologist and Mineralogist a field for research, such as we believe cannot be met with in any other country. It has never been examined by scientific men, or at least, we have seen no work in which it was intimately spoken of. The greater part of it, bordering on the Gulf of St. Lawrence, appears to be primitive, with generally, along the rivers, the earlier formations of rocks. The Saguenay is, however, a remarkable exception to this, and as far up as Chicoutimy, 25 leagues from its mouth, the foot of the high, sometimes bald and scantily wooded, granite mountains are washed on both sides by its waters. The pointe aux boulleaux, and this side of its mouth, is an alluvial deposit, and is perhaps the rich-[illegible] being composed [illegible] grey marl of thirty or forty feet in depth.—Neilson's Gazette.

Strange indeed!!!—E. A. Talbot, Esq. who has published in London, two volumes of Travels in Canada and the United States, relates that in Canada, flies are so numerous that a child can scarcely open its mouth without running the risk of being suffocated by the quantity of them "which eagerly try to descend down its throat." The bullfrogs, according to the tourist, are so big that they can destroy "a gosling of a month old"—the humming birds kill the ravens at a stroke, "by darting with the speed of lightning, their slender bills into the bodies of their sable antagonists," and the boys ride the large sturgeons in the River St. Lawrence. "True," pon honour—"U. C. Herald.

SOUTH AFRICA versus
UPPER & LOWER CANADA.

We extract the following paragraph from an entertaining article, 'SETTLERS IN SOUTH AFRICA,' which we met with in the British American News Letter, it serves to shew the ludicrous misrepresentations which are current in Britain respecting the actual state of these Provinces; the writer in comparing the relative advantages of the Cape of Good Hope with other Colonies as an asylum for emigrants, says,—

"True, the Cape is exposed to droughts, rust, storms of hail, excesses, diseases in cattle, marauding Caffres, Bushmen, beasts of prey, serpents, and so forth, but after a pretty long experience of all these annoyances I am convinced that they are not worse than others of a similar or analogous description which prevail more or less in all the new colonies. In New South Wales, for instance, they have also their droughts, deluges, and destructive hurricanes, which have more than once reduced the earlier colonists to the verge of famine; and they still have hosts of caterpillars, the barbarous Aborigines, and the more barbarous "Bush Rangers," to destroy their property, and disturb their quiet. They have, moreover, scarcely any other servants but convicts, and little society that is much superior. In Canada, again, they have an iron winter to endure, and an endless forest to hew down; besides rattle snakes, bounces, bears, treacherous Indians, and strifes and bush fighting with brother Jonathan, to molest the tranquil happiness of a leg but retreat from the troubles of Europe. A settler, in whose hospitable cabin I spent a night near the Kapp River, and who had formerly resided some years in Canada, assured me, that he counted all the natural defects of South Africa ballanced by its mild and salubrious climate, as but slight, when compared with the appalling winters and woods of that colony."

We should not recognise any part of either Canada from the above description, there is no accounting for tastes, but the origin of the antipathy the settler on the Kapp River entertains to the woods of Canada, may perhaps be found in the concluding lines of an old epigram upon the Bursar of a College ordering some venerable trees to be cut down.—

"A rogue the gallows as his fate foresees,
And bears a like antipathy to trees."

Parliament of Lower Canada.—By Mr. Neilson's Gazette it appears that the Parliament of Lower Canada, "will be called together for the dispatch of public business early in next January."

PRINTED BY CHARLES [illegible]OTHERGILL
GAZETTE OFFICE.

Upper Canada Gazette.

New Series.

Vol. III. YORK U. C. THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 18th, 1824. No. XLVII.

By Authority.

UPPER CANADA.

P. MAITLAND,
Lieut. Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

TO our Beloved and Faithful Legislative Councellors of our Province of Upper Canada; and to our Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses of our said Province, in our Provincial Parliament at our Town of York, on the Sixteenth Day of September instant, to be Convened, Held, Called and Elected, and to every of you—GREETING:

WHEREAS, our Proclamation bearing date the Tenth Day of September last, We thought fit to Prorogue our Provincial Parliament to the Twenty Fifth day of October, instant, at which time at our Town of York, you are ordered and constrained to appear. NOW KNOW YE, that We, taking into our Royal consideration the ease and convenience of our loving Subjects, have thought fit by and with the advice of our Executive Council, to relieve you and each of you of your attendance at the time aforesaid, hereby revoking, and by these presents enjoining you and each of you, that on Thursday the Second Day of December next ensuing, you meet Us, in our Provincial Parliament, in our Town of York, there to take into consideration the state and welfare of our Province of Upper Canada, and therein to do as may seem necessary, and herein fail not.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces in North America, at York, this Twenty Third day of Oct. in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign.

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,

JNO. B ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

D. CAMERON, Secretary.

Upper Canada.

P. MAITLAND,

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come—GREETING:

WHEREAS by Proclamation bearing date the Fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventeen, our trusty and well beloved Francis Gore, Esquire, late our Lieutenant Governor of our Province of Upper Canada, by and with the advice of the Executive Council thereof, and by virtue of the Authority in him vested, did declare and appoint the Port of Erieus, otherwise the township called the Port of Bath, within the Midland District of this Province, to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the payment of all Duties, liable to be paid on all Goods and Merchandize brought into this Province from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS by a certain Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the third Year of our Reign, entitled, "An Act to Regulate the Trade of the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, and for other purposes relating to the said Provinces," It is, among other things Enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the Governor Lieutenant Governor, or person Administering the Government of either of our said Provinces respectively, by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council thereof for the time being, from time to time to diminish or increase, by Proclamation, the number of Ports or places, which then were, or thereafter might be, appointed in such Province for the Entry of Goods, Wares, and Commodities, imported from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS it appears expedient for the avoiding expence in the Collection of our Revenue, that the said Port of Erieustown shall no longer be a Port of Entry and Clearance.—NOW KNOW YE, that by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of our Province of Upper Canada, We have thought fit to declare, and do hereby declare that from and at the date of this our Proclamation, the said Port of Erieustown shall cease to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the purposes aforesaid, and shall be and remain, as if the said Proclamation hereinbefore recited, and appointing the same to be a Port of Entry and Clearance, had never been made.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K.C.B Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York this Twentieth day of March in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign. P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,

D. CAMERON, Secretary.

JNO. B ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

NOTICE.

Government House, }
October 26th, 1824. }

A COMMUNICATION has been recently received by His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor from the Society established in England, for the Encouragement of Arts, Manufactures, and Commerce, which holds out to the Agriculturists of this Colony the following Premiums:—viz.

Cultivation of Hemp in Upper and Lower Canada, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick.

I. To the person who shall sow with Hemp the greatest quantity of land in the aforementioned Provinces, not less than six arpents, in the year 1824, to the manner above mentioned; the Silver Medal, or Fifty Pounds.

II. To the person who shall sow with Hemp the next greatest quantity of land in the same Provinces, not less than five arpents, in the year 1824, in the manner above mentioned; the Silver Medal, or One Hundred Dollars.

Certificates of the manner of preparing the method of cultivating of the Hemp, with a special reference whether a water, broad-cast, or in drills, and of the expence of it, with the value, and produce, to be transmitted to the Society, certified under the Hand and Seal of the Governor or Lieutenant Governor or the resident Magistrates or other principal local Authorities, together with Specimens of the Hemp, and some of the seed, on or before the last Tuesday in April, 1825.

Importation of Hemp into Canada, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick.

III. To the person who shall import to this country the greatest quantity of marketable Hemp, not less than One Hundred Tons in the year 1824 the produce of Canada, or one of the above mentioned Provinces;—the Gold Medal.

IV. To the person who shall import the next greatest quantity, not less than Fifty Tons;—the Silver Medal.

Certificates, satisfactory to the Society, to be produced by the Master of the Vessel on or before the last Tuesday in April, 1825, to testify that such Hemp was grown and prepared in Canada, Nova Scotia, or New Brunswick.

Exterpating the Stumps and Roots of Trees.

V. To the person who shall invent, and discover to the Society, the best method, verified by actual experience, of raising out of the earth, and removing the Stumps, and Roots of Trees, which have been left after felling the Timber, so as to Clear the Land for the purposes of Cultivation;—the Gold Medal or Fifty Guineas.

Certificates that the method has succeeded with at least Fifty Trees of Large Girth, and a full description of the means employed, to be delivered to the Society, on or before the last Tuesday in April, 1825.

Communications relative to any of the above subjects, may be addressed to His Excellency's Private Secretary. 45-6w.

Executive Council Office, }
York, February 7th 1821. }

WHEREAS it has been represented, that many persons who have received Locations of Land, have, from Sickness, and other legitimate causes, been unable to fulfil the Settlement Duty in the time required by the Location Ticket, and have neglected to apply to His Excellency in Council for an extension of the period, for performance of such duty.

BE it Known that the period for completing the Settlement Duty, is hereby extended to Two Years from the date of Locations until further notice shall be given.

JOHN SMAEL, C.P.& Ex. Coun.

GLEBES.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in Council, having taken into consideration the system hitherto practised, of Granting Licences of Occupation for GLEBE LANDS, is pleased to Order, that in future the Glebes in the several Townships, for with the exception of One Lot in each Township, for the accommodation of the Incumbent, shall be Leased on the same terms as Clergy Reserves.

NOTICE is therefore given to those Persons who hold Licences of Occupation for any of the said Glebe Lots, that the same will not be Renewed; and unless they do make application, by Petition, for Leases in the usual manner, through the medium of the Corporation for superintending the Clergy Reserves, before the Twenty-ninth day of September next ensuing, the Lots so held by Licence of Occupation will be Leased to other Applicants.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk Ex. Coun,

Executive Council Office,
York, 29th April, 1824. 19—tf.

Executive Council Chamber,
York, 31st January, 1824.

PRESENT,

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,

IN COUNCIL,

HIS Majesty's Government having recently extended their assistance to the class of Emigrants, which it was intended to relieve by gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres of Land, in conveying them to their respective locations;

IT IS ORDERED, that from the first day of May next, no gratuitous Grants be made of any quantity of Land to other than privileged persons.—And that as the Fee on Two Hundred Acres was raised, in order to defray the gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres the consideration failing, the future Fee on Two Hundred Acres is reduced to Eight Pounds Four Shilling and One Penny Sterling; the existing Fee before 1819, and the Fee on all other Grants, in Townships surveyed since that time, to be the same as established by the Order in Council, of 5th January, 1819.

N. B. Possessors of gratuitous Grants for Fifty Acres, may, by paying the Fee on One Hundred Acres, receive a Grant of the adjoining Fifty Acres of vacant

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Ex'v. Council.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL CHAMBER,
AT YORK, 26th JAN. 1824.
PRESENT:

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
In Council.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR submitted to the consideration of the Board, the Sheriffs' Reports of their respective Gaols, together with other Documents relating to a Winter Circuit, by which it appeared that the House of Assembly had addressed His Excellency to that effect, for this Session and obviously for the Delivery of the Gaols in the several Districts.

The limitation of such a measure to one season seeming to imitate with the Provision of the Law, that when the Communication from the Seat of Government is obstructed, and the circumstances of the Province require, there should be a regular Second Circuit, the Board would prefer to recommend that Special Commissions to deliver particular Gaols should issue where requisite; but, as the respective Reports from the Sheriffs do not, in the opinion of the Board, require any immediate interposition, His Excellency, with advice of the Council, postpones a Second Circuit until the circumstances of the Province more decidedly require it

JOHN SMALL,
Clk Executive Council.

WHEREAS by the Tenor of the Location Ticket or a Certificate is required to be lodged or the Settlement Duty being done within five Years, or that the said Location should be forfeited, and in case of Locations not gratuitous, that one third of the Patent Fee be lodged with such Certificate; AND WHEREAS it is represented, that in many instances, Certificates of performance of the Settlement Duty, have been withheld from the inability of the settler to deposit such proportion of the Patent Fee, it is deemed expedient to relieve the settler from forfeiture of his location, when he may actually have performed his settlement duty—Notice is hereby given that in all cases where Settlement Duty has been performed within the limited period, the settler shall, on filing Certificate thereof within six Months of this date, be exempted from forfeiture notwithstanding the non-payment therewith of such portion of the Patent Fee, provided the Patents sued out within One Year from the filing of such Certificate.

And further; His Excellency, in the hope of avoiding the necessity of re-enacting one of the Militia grants, is pleased to direct this Public Notification; that all lands granted to Militia Men, upon which the Settlement Duties shall not have been performed within the limited period, will in pursuance of general instructions given to the Surveyor General in all similar cases, be declared vacant, and will be granted within Six Months after the expiration of that period, to the first applicant, unless the Original Nominee, shall before such subsequent application, have lodged a Certificate of his having performed the Settling Duties.

JOHN SMALL, Clk. Ex. Coun

Executive Council Office,
York, 7th Nov. 1821.

WHEREAS it has become expedient to establish a line of communication through certain remote Townships, for encouragement thereof, Grants will be made to actual Settlers in the Townships hereinafter named on the condition of Settling within two years from the date of the Location, at the reduced Scale of 5th January, 1819, viz.

A Township North of Mariposa, advertised from the Surveyor General's Office on the 19th of October, as

	Zeta, to be called	Eldon
N. of Eph		Fenelon
N. of Emily advertised as	Emir	Verulam
N. of Smith	Lake	Harvey
E. of do.		Douro
N. of Asphodel	Alma	Dummer
N. of Seymour	Mora	Belmont
N. of Dummer	Yea	Burleigh
N. of Marmora	Nisia	Lake
N. of Maloc		Tudor
N. of Elizever	No	Grimsthorpe
N. of Kaladar	Aye	Anglesea
N. of Kennebec	Jus	Barrie
N. of Norma	Oden	Clarendon
N. of Oso	Et	Palmerston
N. of Belmont	Carlos	Methuen

JOHN SMALL, C. E. C.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Newcastle District, } BY virtue of a Writ of Fieri
to wit. } Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of Kings Bench, and to the Sheriff of the Newcastle District directed, against the Lands and Tenements of David McGregor Rogers Esq. at the suit John Strachan, Thomas A. Dobbs, and Thomas H. Cartwright, Executors of the late Richard Cartwright, Esq. I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said David McGregor Rogers the following Lands, viz.

S. half of Lot No. 3 Broken Front,	A.
Lot No. 3 do.	do. B.	330 Acres.
Lot No. 3 do.	do. C.
Lot No. 23 2 Concession,		200 do.
Lot No. 26 3 do		200 do.

of the Township of Haldimand, in the county of Northumberland, which Property I shall offer for sale at Public Auction, at the Inn now occupied by Mr N. W. Mack, in the village of Coburg, on the ninth day of February next at 12 o'clock, at noon.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff,
By EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above described Premises, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber, on or before the day of Sale.

NOTE.—The sale of the above Lots, No. 3, Concession A., B., and C., 330 Acres, is postponed until 11th day of January next (1825) at the same place and at 6 o'clock in the Evening.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
BY EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Cobourg, } 47—td.
November 3d, 1824.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, } ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb.
To Wit. } 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Peter Grant, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Jerry White, viz.

The easterly half of Lot No. 10, in the First Concession of the Township of Thurlow, containing 100 acres more or less.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
November 2d, 1824. }

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale 45—tf.

Executive Council Office,
York, 7th Nov. 1821.

WHEREAS it has become expedient to establish a line of communication through certain remote Townships, for encouragement thereof, Grants will be made to actual Settlers in the Townships hereinafter named on the condition of Settling within two years from the date of the Location, at the reduced Scale of 5th January, 1819, viz.

A Township North of Mariposa, advertised from the Surveyor General's Office on the 19th of October, as

	Zeta, to be called	Eldon
N. of Eph		Fenelon
N. of Emily advertised as	Emir	Verulam
N. of Smith	Lake	Harvey
E. of do.		Douro
N. of Asphodel	Alma	Dummer
N. of Seymour	Mora	Belmont
N. of Dummer	Yea	Burleigh
N. of Marmora	Nisia	Lake
N. of Maloc		Tudor
N. of Elizever	No	Grimsthorpe
N. of Kaladar	Aye	Anglesea
N. of Kennebec	Jus	Barrie
N. of Norma	Oden	Clarendon
N. of Oso	Et	Palmerston
N. of Belmont	Carlos	Methuen

JOHN SMALL, C. E. C.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Newcastle District, } BY virtue of a Writ of Fieri
to wit. } Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of Kings Bench, and to the Sheriff of the Newcastle District directed, against the Lands and Tenements of David McGregor Rogers Esq. at the suit John Strachan, Thomas A. Dobbs, and Thomas H. Cartwright, Executors of the late Richard Cartwright, Esq. I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said David McGregor Rogers the following Lands, viz.

S. half of Lot No. 3 Broken Front,	A.
Lot No. 3 do.	do. B.	330 Acres.
Lot No. 3 do.	do. C.
Lot No. 23 2 Concession,		200 do.
Lot No. 26 3 do		200 do.

of the Township of Haldimand, in the county of Northumberland, which Property I shall offer for sale at Public Auction, at the Inn now occupied by Mr N. W. Mack, in the village of Coburg, on the ninth day of February next at 12 o'clock, at noon.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff,
By EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above described Premises, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber, on or before the day of Sale.

NOTE.—The sale of the above Lots, No. 3, Concession A., B., and C., 330 Acres, is postponed until 11th day of January next (1825) at the same place and at 6 o'clock in the Evening.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
BY EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Cobourg, } 47—td.
November 3d, 1824.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, } ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb.
To Wit. } 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Peter Grant, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Jerry White, viz.

The easterly half of Lot No. 10, in the First Concession of the Township of Thurlow, containing 100 acres more or less.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
November 2d, 1824. }

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale 45—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, } ON Saturday the 5th of Febru-
To Wit } ary, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Zachariah Sinmons, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Thomas Parker, viz.

Part of Lot No. 16, in the First Concession of the Township of Sidney, containing three acres and ninety one poeches

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office Kingston, }
November 2d, 1824 }

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, } ON Saturday the 12th day of
To Wit. } March, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Theophilus Lockwood, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Thomas Parker, viz.

Part of the east half of Lot No. 22, in the Third Concession of the Township of Sidney, in the County of Hastings, containing 19½ acres.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
October, 1824 }

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, } ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb.
To Wit } 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Daniel Lyons, seized by virtue of an Execution, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of the Hon. G. H. Markland, and John Kirby, Esq Executors to the estate of The late Lawrence Herchimer, viz.;—

Lot No. 25 in the 7th Con. of the Township of Kingston.

acres, and the north or rear two-fifths of the westerly quarter of Lot No. 16, in the Fourth Concession of the Township of Kingston, containing 20 acres and the south easterly quarter of the west half of Lot No. 16, in the Second Concession of the Township of Kingston, containing 25 acres

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston. }
November 2d, 1824. }

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Lands, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, } ON Thursday the 29th day
To Wit. } of October next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to the estate of the late Duncan McDonald, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Duncan McDonell, viz.

Lot No. 406 in the Town of Kingston, containing one sixth of an acre.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
July 27th, 1824. }

N. B. Any person or persons having claims on the above lot of land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale,

☞ The above Sale is postponed till Saturday, the 16th day of December next, at the same hour and place.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
November 2d, 1824. } 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, } ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb.
To Wit. } 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Lewis Rosebush, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Duncan McDonell, viz.

A part of Lot No. 18, in the Second Concession of the Township of Rawdon, containing 70 acres of Land, described as follows, viz. commencing at the south-west angle of the said Lot in front, where a post has been planted, thence running north sixteen degrees west forty-nine chains and forty links, then south seventy-four degrees north fifteen chains to the centre of the said Lot, thence south, sixteen degrees east, to the allowance for road in front of the said Concession, thence west seventy four degrees south fifteen chains to the place of beginning.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
November 2d, 1824. }

N. B. All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT } ON Saturday the 19th of
TO WIT } February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to William Lyons, seized by virtue of an Execution, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of the Hon. G. H. Markland, and John Kirby, Esq Executors to the estate of The late Lawrence Herchimer, viz.;—

Lot No. 25 in the 7th Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
18th October, 1824. } No. 46,—t. d.

N. B All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT } ON Saturday the 19th o
TO WIT. } February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Solomon Orser, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Allan McLean, Esq viz:—

The front part of Lot No. 18, in the 2d Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
18th October, 1824. }

N. B All persons having claims on the above Land or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District } ON Tuesday the 18th day of
To Wit. } January, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Silas Ormsby, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of D'Arcy Boulton, Esq. viz:—

The East half of Lot No. 2 in the 12th Concession of the Township of Huntingdon, in the County of Hastings, containing 100 Acres more or less.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
October 18th, 1824. }

N B. All Persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 45—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District } ON Tuesday the 18th day of
To Wit. } January 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands and Tenements, as belonging to William Purkiss, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Charles Bowman, viz:—

Lot No. 6 in the 2d Concession of the Township of Loughborough, containing 200 Acres; also Town Lot No 260 in the Town of Kingston, with a large two story Frame House erected thereon.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M D.

Sheriff's Office Kingston, }
October 18th, 1824. }

N. B. All Persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale 45—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District } BY virtue of at writ of fieri facias,
to wit. } issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed against the Lands and Tenements of William Phenix, in favour of Ralph Leeming and James Hamilton, I have seized and taken in execution, North half of Lot No Ten in the First Con. of the Township of Trafalgar, North side of Dundas Street, containing one Hundred Acres, on which are some improvements,

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
18th October, 1824. } No. 46—tf.

N. B All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT } ON Saturday the 19th o
TO WIT. } February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Solomon Orser, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Allan McLean, Esq viz:—

The front part of Lot No. 18, in the 2d Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
18th October, 1824. }

N. B All persons having claims on the above Land or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District } ON Tuesday the 18th day of
To Wit. } January, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Silas Ormsby, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of D'Arcy Boulton, Esq. viz:—

The East half of Lot No. 2 in the 12th Concession of the Township of Huntingdon, in the County of Hastings, containing 100 Acres more or less.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
October 18th, 1824. }

N B. All Persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 45—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District } ON Tuesday the 18th day of
To Wit. } January 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands and Tenements, as belonging to William Purkiss, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Charles Bowman, viz:—

Lot No. 6 in the 2d Concession of the Township of Loughborough, containing 200 Acres; also Town Lot No 260 in the Town of Kingston, with a large two story Frame House erected thereon.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M D.

Sheriff's Office Kingston, }
October 18th, 1824. }

N. B. All Persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale 45—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District } BY virtue of at writ of fieri facias,
to wit. } issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed against the Lands and Tenements of William Phenix, in favour of Ralph Leeming and James Hamilton, I have seized and taken in execution, North half of Lot No Ten in the First Con. of the Township of Trafalgar, North side of Dundas Street, containing one Hundred Acres, on which are some improvements, and the Lot is beautifully situated, and which I shall offer for Sale on Saturday the Fourth Day of December next, at one o'clock P. M at Mr. Carpenter's Inn, near the Premises, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for Cash only.

TITUS G. SIMONS
Late Sheriff, G. D.

late Sheriff's Office, }
24th Sept. 1824. }

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any claim on the above described Property by Mortgage, or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber on or before the Day of Sale.

T. G. SIMONS
Late Sheriff.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District } BY virtue of a writ of fieri fac- to wit. } ias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Abraham R. Smith, at the Suit of Robert Gillespie, Esquire, I have seized and taken in execution Lots No. Eleven, in the First Range, and Twenty-Two in the Second Range, in the Town of Hamilton, and in the Township of Barton, situate on the North side of the Road leading from Dundas to Niagara, each Lot contains One Fourth of an Acre, on the Former is Erected a beautiful Two-Story House, well finished, and fit for any Gentleman's residence, all this valuable Property I shall offer for sale on Monday the Sixth Day of December next, at 10 o'clock, A. M. and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for Cash only.

TITUS G. SIMONS,
Late Sheriff, G. D.

Late Sheriff's Office, }
24th Sept. 1824. }

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any claim on the above described Property by Mortgage or other right of incumbrance, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office, on or before the Day of Sale.

T. G SIMONS
Late Sheriff, G. D.
Nov. 4—6 wks.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

NIAGARA DISTRICT } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri
To Wit: } Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the lands and tenements of John D. M'Kay, at the suit of Peter M'Gill, I have seized and taken the following Lands, viz:—

Lot No. 13, in the 8th Concession of Clinton.
Lot No. 5, 6, 7, & 12, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Grimsby.	400 acres
Lot No. 37, & 39, in the 8th & 9th Concession of do.	200 acres
Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 1st Concession of Bertie.	495 acres
Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 2d Concession of do.
Lot No. 12 & 14, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Gainsboro'o	400 acres
Lot No. 4, in the 2d Concession of do.	200 acres

Lot No. 74, 95, 96, & 1, of 20?, in the town of Niagara.—All of which property I shall offer for sale on the 2d day of August, 1824, at the Court House in the town of Niagara, at 12 o'clock, noon, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for cash only

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.
By PETER T. PAWLING, Dep'y Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Niagara, }
July 31st, 1823. 4. }

N. B. Any person or persons having any claims on the above named premises, by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

☞ The sale of the above property is postponed until the 18th of September, next, at the same place and hour.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff

The Sale of the above Property is postponed until the second Tuesday in January, 1825.

RICHARD LEONARD, Sheriff.
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.
43—6w.

SHERIFF'S SALE

NIAGARA DISTRICT, To Wit: BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the lands and tenements of Liza, alias, Eliza Skinner, widow of the late Haggie Skinner, deceased, at the suit of James Macklem, and James Cummings, Executors of the late John Fanning, deceased, I have seized and taken, as belonging to the said Liza, alias Eliza Skinner Lots No. 172, and 167, in the Town ship of Stamford, 323 acres—Lots No. 2, 3, 6 and 7 in the Township of Pelham, containing 363 acres:—All of which property I shall offer for sale on the second Monday in March, in the year 1825, at twelve o'clock noon, at the Court House in the Town of Niagara, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for cash only.

RICHARD LEONARD, Sheriff,
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.
Sheriff's Office, Niagara, }
March 2nd, 1824. }

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim to the above mentioned premises by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.
43—6w. R. LEONARD, Sheriff

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Eastern District, }
To wit. } BY Virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the Lands and tenements of Richard Loucks, at the Suit of John Richardson, John Forsyth, and Alexander Thain, I have seized and taken in execution, Lot number 35, and East half of Lot number 36 in the Front or First Concession of the Township of Osnabruck, containing 300 Acres, with a good frame Dwelling House and Barn with Stables and Out Houses thereon erected, and about 80 Acres of which are well improved and in the highest state of cultivation—Also Lots number 33, and half of 36 in the Second Concession of the said Township of Osnabruck, containing likewise 300 Acres—All which I will sell at Public Auction at the Court House in the Town of Cornwall, on Monday the Twenty Ninth day of November next ensuing, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for Cash.

DONALD McDONELL,
Sheriff E. D.

Sheriff's Office, Cornwall }
September 22nd 1824. }

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above Property, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my office previous to the day of Sale. 42—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Eastern District }
To Wit. } BY Virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the Lands and Tenements of John Loucks, at the Suit of John Forsyth, John Richardson and Alexander Thair, I have seized and taken in Execution as belonging to the said John Loucks, Lots number 3, 4, and East half of number 5 in the French Concession of the Township of Osnabruck, containing 400 Acres, with a good Frame Dwelling House and Barn, with out houses, and a Saw and Grist Mill thereon erected. All which I will sell at Public Auction at the Court House in the Town of Cornwall, on Monday the Twenty Ninth day of November next ensuing, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to the highest bidder for Cash only.

DONALD McDONELL,
Sheriff, E. D.

Sheriff's Office, Cornwall }
September 22nd, 1824. }

N B Any Person or Persons having any Claim on the above Property, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office previous to the day of Sale 42—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, }
To Wit: } ON Saturday the 18th day of December next will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, all the right, title, claim and interest of Wm. Bayard Smyth, of Kingston, to the following Town Lots, with the buildings thereon erected, seized by virtue of a Writ of Execution issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench at the suit of C. A Hagerman, Esq viz:—Lot No 110, and the North West half of Lot No 107, in the Town of Kingston, containing three tenths of an acre.

N B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above property, or upon any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff M. D.

Kingston, Sept. 14th, 1824.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Commissariat Officer at York, will be ready to enter into Contract with any person or persons willing to

BAKE BREAD

from Government Flour, for the use of His Majesty's Troops at this Post, for one year, from the 25th December, 1824, to the 24th December, 1825.

Sealed Tenders to be delivered into this Office on the 14th December next, at noon, and they must express in Words, at length, the number of pounds of Bread that will be given for every hundred and twelve pounds of Flour.

Security will be required for the due fulfilment of the Contracts entered into, and the parties making Proposals will be required to attend at the time of opening the Tenders, which must be sealed, and endorsed Tender for Baking Bread.

Commissariat Office, York, 12th, 1824. 47—4w.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT.

FOR

FRESH BEEF.

NOTICE is hereby given, that Tenders will be received at the Office on the 14th day of December next at noon, from such Persons as may be willing to supply for the use of the Garrison and Staff at York, for the period of Twelve Months, commencing 25th December next.

FRESH BEEF,

The Conditions of Contract, Form of Tender, and other particulars, may be known on application at this Office.

No Tender will be noticed, unless the Party and his Sureties, or an Agent on his behalf, attend at the time of opening the Tenders, which must be sealed and endorsed,—"Tenders for the Supply of Fresh Beef."

T. T. BILLINGS,
Dep'y. Ass't. Com'r. Gen'l.

York, Nov. 12th, 1824. 47—4w.

NOT OFFICIAL.

FIRE INSURANCE.

THE Sun Insurance Company of New York having appointed George Crookshank, Esquire, their Agent in Upper Canada—he is ready to insure against Loss or Damage by Fire, on Dwelling Houses, Stores, Merchandise, House hold Furniture, and other Personal Property; at moderate Rates of Premium — Persons wishing to Insure must send a plan of their Buildings, when wanted out of the Town of York a respectable reference will be required, and Letters Post Paid —Application to be made to

R. W. PRENTICE

York, 28th Sept. 1824. No. 39—tf.

NOTICE.

CHARLES HAYES, Esq. of Marmora, having by his deed bearing date the Sixth day of September last, conveyed to the undersigned all the real, real and personal, in trust for the benefit of his Creditors, it is requested that such persons as have claims against him, will present the same without delay for adjustment

The business at Marmora will be continued as heretofore, for the account of the Trustees, by Mr. Hayes.

PETER M'GILL.
A. MANAHAN
ROBERT HAYES.

Kingston, Oct. 24th, 1824. 46—6w.

Stop! Stop!!

RAN AWAY from the Subscriber on the night of the 26th Ultimo, GEORGE HYLAND, an indented Apprentice. He is a native of Ireland, upwards of 18 years old, about four feet eight inches high, broad made, big face, curly hair, grey eyes, answers to the name of his brogue in conversation, and sly and cunning in his proceedings.

Any information that may lead to his discovery will be thankfully received by

JOSEPH ROGERS, Hatter.

York, Nov. 1st, 1824. 45—3w.

THE CANADIAN FARMER'S ALMANAC

AND

GENERAL MEMORANDUM BOOK, FOR

1825.

IS NOW PUBLISHED, and may be had by the Dozen, or single Book, at the U. C. Gazette Office, and all the principal Stores in Town, and Country.

THE "ROYAL CALENDAR of U. C." for 1825, improved and enlarged,—is in the Press, and execution will be used to have it ready for early Publication. In the mean time, Orders will be thankfully received.

FOR SALE,

IN WOODHOUSE.

LOT No. 6, in the front or First Concession of the Township of Woodhouse, in the District of London, containing 200 Acres, with 70 in front of a Framed Barn of Large Dimensions. The above Lot will be Sold Cheap—VERY Cheap for ready money.

Application to be made to JOHN HARRIS Esq. Charlotteville, or to the Proprietor at his Office, York.

S. WASHBURN.

York, 1st November, 1824. } No. 45—3 f.

FOR SALE.

A Farm on Yonge Street, Lot No. 32 in Markham, One Hundred and Ninety Acres, of which ninety Acres are under cultivation with a Frame House and Barn on the same, a stream of water runs across the Lot, and Purdy's Saw and Grist Mills are on the Lot opposite to the same—Terms of payment will be made easy.—Application to be made to

GEORGE CROOKSHANK.

York, 17th Oct. 1824.

N. B. Should the above mentioned Farm not be sold by the 1st May next, it will then be leased. 43—tf.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the County of Dundas intend presenting a Petition to the Legislature at its next Session, for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace held in the said County of Dundas, and the Town of Cornwall alternately

Also to have the Concession line between the fourth and fifth Concession of the Township of Williams up to the Eastern District, to have the said line run upon the true course of No 66 E and completed

And also the side lines in the said fourth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg aforesaid, to have the said side lines to run upon the original course No. 24 W. 43—26w

LAND IN PERCY.

A VERY valuable Lot of Land, consisting of 200 Acres, being No. 7 in the 2d Concession of the Township of Percy, in the Newcastle District, and not far from the River Trent, in the midst of a good settlement may be had for 2$ per Acre, with an indisputable title, and immediate possession.—I quire at the U. C. Gazette Office 43—tf.

TO DISTILLERS & BREWERS.

ROBERT Todd Dean having made Chemistry the study of his life, and having for himself and others both in Scotland and Ireland, for sixteen years conducted a Chemical Manufactory, (Testimonials of the most satisfactory kind can be produced from many respectable individuals to that effect) and having also others of his Countrymen come to Canada for the purpose of bettering his condition in life, finds himself so disgusted, now, as to be oblig d to offer his services to persons engaged in the Brewing and Distilling business, both of which branches, together with the Manufactory of Cordials &c he professes, with all their late improvements, to perfectly understand.

Any Person desirous of having his services by addressing a letter to him (post paid) to the care of Matthew Crooks Esq Ancaster Upper Canada, may depend upon its meeting with a ready attention from

Signed,

R. T. DEAN.

N. B. Terms will be moderate, and such as will be within the reach of every one, doing even a moderate business, immediate employment is an object to,

R. T. D
40—13w.

PUBLIC NOTICE

THE Inhabitants of the First Concession of Saphiasburgh South west of Green Point—by reason of the material damage they have sustained these number of years back, on account of the erroneous original Survey of the Second Concession Line Are determined to Petition the Legislature on this Province at the ensuing Session of Parliament for the alteration of the said Line, and to settle all the differences relating thereto

Saphiasburgh, Oct 7th, 1824 } No. 44 —6 m.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the Eastern District will at the next Session of the Legislature make application to be authorized to effect a Loan to enable them to erect a Gaol and Court House in the Town of Cornwall. 37—6m.

NOTICE

AN APPLICATION will be made to the Legislature at its next Session for an Act imposing a Tax on Dogs in the Town of York and its vicinity, the proceeds of which to be applicable to the police purposes.

By Order of the Magistrates in Adjourned General Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the Home District assembled on the 6th day of Sept. 1824.

(Signed,)

S. HEWARD.
Clk. Peace Home District.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the County of Glengarry intend presenting a Petition to the Legislature at its next Session for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace held in the said County of Glengarry and the Town of Cornwall alternately. 37—6m

TOWN LOTS IN PORT HOPE.

SEVERAL valuable building Lots in the flourishing village of Port Hope, are for Sale, by private Contract, on the most liberal Terms, and on a credit of seven Years, provided the first instalment be paid down Either Produce or Mannufactured ware will be received, if desired, in Payment —For further particulars apply at the U. C. Gazette Office, York, or to Messrs. C. & J. Stowe, Merchants,—Port Hope.

No. 40 —tf

SADDLE AND HARNESS MANUFACTORY.

MESSRS. BALL AND GIBBONS beg leave respectfully to inform the Inhabitants of York, and its Vicinity, that they carry on the Business of Saddle and Harness Making, in all its branches, next door to Mr. Patterson's, Merchant, in the Market Square, York;—and they hope, by strict attention to the orders, with which they may be favoured, to merit a share of the Public Patronage

York, Oct 21st, 1824. No 44.—6w

NOTICE.

THE Plan and Estimate of a STEAM BOAT, (to be Built by Mr. AMOS S ROGERS) about One Hundred Tons Burthen, intended to Ply between this Port and Niagara, may be seen at this Office—Her Engine is intended to be of Twenty Five Horse Power The whole Cost is estimated at Two Thousand Two Hundred and Five Pounds Currency. She is to be Built by Stock, made up of Shares, of Twenty Five Pounds each A few Shares are still wanting. Subscriptions for which will be received at this Office, and at the Office of the Niagara Gleaner, where Estimates and Conditions will be exhibited to those who wish to see some Stockholders.

Gazette Office, York, }
August 26th, 1824. } No. 35.—t f.

FOR SALE.

LOT No. Two, in the First Concession of the Township of York, with the Broken Front, containing about Two Hundred and Forty Acres of Land.

Application to be made to

J. B. MACAULAY

York, 12th June, 1824. 25—t f.

NOTICE.

WANTED, for Fourteen Years, or not less than that, a Loan of TWO THOUSAND POUNDS, Currency, for the building of a PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH of ENGLAND, in the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada.

The Subscribers are authorized to offer Efficient Legal Securities for the Repayment of the LOAN, at the end of the period, and for the Annual Payment of the Interest accumulating thereon, at Six per Cent. per annum.

(By Order of the Committee.)

GEORGE O'KILL STUART,
SECRETARY, pro tem.

19—tf.

NOTICE

FOR SALE, by private Contracts, the House and Lot lately occupied by Mr. O'Sullivan, Saddler, King's Street, in the Town of York, the Lot is 26 feet fronting King's Street, by 112 feet deep.

Also.—A Lot adjoining the above on the West side, 24, by 122 feet.

Also.—A Lot adjoining Mr. Duggan's, 34, by 118 feet.

Also —Three Lots on Stuarts Land, each 40, by 60 feet.

Should the above Property and Lots not be sold by Private Contract, the five last described Lots will be sold at Public Sale, on the first day of July ensuing.

Application for Terms of Sale, to be made to

ALEXANDER WOOD, ESQ.

York, 17th March, 1824 t f.

NOTICE.

VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE.

Viz:—

In the Township of Vaughan

Lots No. 22, 23, 24, in the 7th Con. and broken Lot No 5, in the 10th Concession } 620 Acres.

Township of York

Lot No. 13, 8th Concession, and Broken Front West of Yonge Street on the Humber, West half of No. 15, in 2d Con. West of Yonge St. } 300 Acres.

Township of Percy

Lot No 20, in 3d Concession. } 400 Acres.

Lot No. 21, in 4th Ditto.

For particulars apply to Guy C. Wood, Esq. Cornwall, or the Subscriber in York.

R. G ANDERSON.

19th July, 1824. 30—tf.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the County of Prince Edward, in the Midland District, intend Petitioning the Legislature, at the next Session thereof, to have the said County sett off, and made into a separate District from the said Midland District, and to be called the District of Maitland. No. 24—6ms.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Inhabitants of the Township of Townsend intend Petitioning both Houses of the Provincial Legislature at its next Session, to pass a Law, Establishing a Line Surveyed in the year 1823, between the 12th and 13th Cons. of the said Township.

Townsend, 20th May, 1824. } No. 21—t m. t. f.

VALUABLE LANDED PROPERTY FOR SALE.

TWENTY SEVEN TOWN LOTS, eligibly situated in the Village of Colbourg in Hamilton, Upper Canada, on one of which, a Store and Dwelling House are erected.

Two Neat Small FARMS, contiguous to the above Village, containing, one, about Twenty eight Acres, the other, about Fifty Acres, with a House and other Buildings on each of them —A Plan of the above may be seen on application to Mr. J. G. Bernuse, Cobourg, (who will shew the Premises,) or to the Subscriber.

Two TOWN LOTS in Picardville, adjoining to the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada, with House and other Buildings thereon, being Nos. 21 and 22

200 Acres of Land being Lots No. 1, 8th Con. of Marray

200 do do being No. 4, 4th do of Hungerford

200 do do being No. 1, 8th do of Winchester.

200 do do being No 24, 8th do of Mountain.

200 do do being the West halves of No. 31 and 32 in the 2d Concession of Hawkesbury.

Liberal Terms of Payment will be granted.

For particulars apply to

FRS. ANT. LAROQUE.

N B. The above mentioned Town Lots in the flourishing Village of Colbourg, and the two adjoining Farms, will be disposed of by Public Sale, in the said Village on the 24th May next.

F. A. L. R.

MONTREAL, 15th March, 1824. t f.

BLANK DEEDS AND MEMORIALS

For Sale at this Office.

WEEKLY REGISTER.

Vol. III. Our endeavor will be to "stamp the very body of the time—its form and pressure"— we shall extenuate nothing, nor shall we set down aught in malice. No. 47

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 18th, 1824.

Editorial Commentary.

We have no foreign news of importance this week.—It is true there is a report of a great victory having been gained by BOLIVAR, over the royalists, in Peru—which is said to be decisive—but it wants confirmation, and we are without the particulars.

Information has been received in Montreal that serious disturbances continue in the N. West territory;—that a general confusion of the Indian Tribes, to the amount of many thousands has taken place;—that they attacked the ill-fated settlement on the Red-River;—that the assailed made a desperate, and, in the end, a successful resistance; but not without serious loss. When the express came away, the white population were able to maintain their ground, and keep the hostile tribes at a respectable distance. We shall look with anxiety for further particulars.

A Correspondent of the OBSERVER's, who signs himself "A FRIEND OF TRUTH" having been pleased to say, (in reference to a scandalous production published in the Advocate of the 14th of October) "it must be in the recollection of every person, that, upon the insertion of that communication, which Mr. Pothergill (as Mackenzie states) called a Junius-like production, and refused to publish on account of its truth and libellous tendency," &c. &c. &c.—We beg to assure this Friend of Truth that the communication received by Mr. F. and to which he had reference in his Commentary of Oct. 7th, is not the same with that published by Mackenzie; that, whilst in his own proper senses Mr. F. never could apply the terms of "capital," "Junius-like," &c. to such an accumulation of trash, mis-representation, and falsehood—as that which issued from the Queenston press under the signature of "a Spanish Freebooter"—Mr. MACKENZIE knows very well, himself, that in this instance, if in no other, he has been guilty of the most wicked, here-fhood, and pre-meditated misrepresentation, for the purpose of engendering that mischief in which a little distorted soul always takes so much delight.—He knows very well that there is not a man in the Province, can be brought to acknowledge that Caliban's bantling of his, "The Spanish Freebooter," unless it be himself.—He knows very well that he distorted truth, and that his pen was dropping ills, blacker than the ink through which they were distilled, when he dared to insinuate that the communication to which Mr. F. alluded in his commentary, was the same with that which was partly, or wholly, put together by MACKENZIE himself, in one of his subsequent Advocates. How could Mr. F. or any other man, allude to a production he had never seen, nor heard of, a fortnight before it came to light?—At this rate MACKENZIE, or any other unprincipled scribbler may take advantage of an acknowledgement to a correspondent, and, by making use of the same signature, or with nearly like it, father, by insinuation, the most infamous conclusions!—It would appear from some parts of the writings of this crack-brained demagogue that he would be thought a pious man!—Is it consistent with piety to prevaricate wilfully, to make false deductions, and dishonor the fair face of truth by the foul patches of hypocritical cant?—Let this pious scribbler, this caterer of loathsome food for depraved appetites, remember the awful denunciation to him who shall take away, or attempt to take away, the words of everlasting truth!—It is too awful for us to repeat on such an occasion, and in such a place:—But, should he continue in his present evil course, it is our purpose, hereafter, to shew this little hero, this would be "muckle mon"—in his true colours, for the edification, at least, of those who look up to his wild, and incoherent, and egotistic, and slanderous lucubrations as more than oracular!—In the mean while we hope he will seek his repentance in a more honest livelihood than that which may be picked up from the broad and filthy highway of public detraction, or from the darker purlieus of private assassination!

SELECTIONS FROM BRITISH AND FOREIGN JOURNALS.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 26.—The following extraordinary and nearly fatal case occurred at Ninove, (an inn) a few days ago:—"A lady, who is daughter of an Irish Earl, was walking in the park, in company with a gentleman of rank, when a Major General of high fame in his profession, in passing said something offensive to the lady, who spat in his face, and complained to the gentleman with whom her Ladyship was walking. Some angry words ensued, and then blows, which brought together a concourse of people. It being evident that the matter could not stop here, the police was applied to, but declined taking any part in the affair. Two days afterwards a meeting took place in the wood of Soignes, near where the battle of Waterloo was fought. The seconds tried to bring about a reconciliation after the second brace of pistols were charged, but without effect; three times they were fired, and it was believed that neither of the parties was hit; when an apology was made, and the parties left the ground; upon going away, however, the Major General's boot appeared to overflow with blood, and upon examination it was found that he was wounded just above the knee, and the ball could not be extracted for a considerable time. He now lies at his lodging in this city, attended by doctors Tobin and Parkins, and surgeon Van Mods, in a very dangerous state, a high fever having taken place after the ball was extracted."

Mineral Tallow.—This rare substance, which was discovered in Finland in 1736, has lately been found in a bog on the borders of Loch Fyne, in Scotland. It has the colour and feel of tallow, and is tasteless. It melts at 118 degrees, and boils at 200 degrees; when melted, it is transparent and colorless; on cooling becomes spongy and white, though not so much so as at first. It is insoluble in water, but soluble in alcohol, oil of turpentine, olive oil, and naphtha, while these liquids are hot; but it is precipitated again when they cool. Its specific gravity, in its natural state, is 0.6078, but the tallow is full of air bubbles; and after fusion, which discharges the air, the specific gravity is 0.983, which is rather higher than tallow. It does not combine with alkalies, nor form soap. Thus it differs from every class of bodies known—from the fixed oils in not forming soap, and from the volatile oils and bitumens in being tasteless and destitute of smell. Its volatility and combustibility are equal to those of any volatile oil or naphtha.

Edinburgh Philosophical Journal.

By a clause in the New Street Act, the fronts of all the houses from Carlton place to Portland place are to be renovated, and made white, once in three years.

Tales of the Crusaders were originally intended to be published previously to the Red gauntlet, but accidental circumstances occasioned the prolific author to change his mind. Those who pretend to be in the secrets, report the Crusaders to contain the result of all the chivalrous and antiquarian enthusiasm peculiar to the early and favorite studies of the author.

Great fish pond.—The fish-pond at Logan, or Nesbock, in Scotland, formed in 1800, and re-peopled since by many successive generations of cod, is neither more nor less than an artificial basin of salt water, 30 feet deep by 100 in circumference, reckoning from the top to the bottom of the rock. The area within is wholly hewn from the solid rock, and communicates with the sea by one of those fisures, or natural tunnels, so common on bold and precipitous coasts. Fishes bear as well as see, and the moment the fisherman crosses his threshold, the pond is agitated by the action of some hundred fins, and otherwise thrown in state of perfect anarchy and confusion Darting from this, that, and the other corner, the whole population here, as if it were to a common centre, elevate their snouts, lash their tails, and jostle one another with such violence, that, on a first view, they actually appear to be meaning attack on the poor fisherman Many of the fishes are so tame that they will feed greedily from the hand, and bite your fingers into the bargain, if you are too slow enough to let them; while others, again, are so shy, that the fisherman discourses of their different tempers as a thing quite as palpable as the gills they breathe through or the fins they move by. One gigantic cod, which seems to answer to the name of Tom, and may be well described as the patriarch of the pond, very forcibly arrests attention. This unfortunate, who passed his youth in the open sea, was taken prisoner at the age of 4, and has since sojourned at Port Nessock, for the long period of twelve years, during all which time he has gradually increased in bulk and weight.—He is now, however, so wholly blind, from age or disease, that he has no chance whatever in the general scramble. The fishermen, however, are very kind to him, and it is really affecting, as well as curious, to see the huge animal raising himself in the water, and then resting his head on the flat stone, allow it to be gently patted or stroked, gaping all the while, to implore that food which he has no means of obtaining. The flocks which live on worms and other insects, shew the light, by burrowing in the sand at the bottom, and never ascend to the top in quest of food. Salmon, which at spawning-time, visit the highest rivers, could not, of courses, obey their instincts here, and, accordingly, there is only one specimen of this favourite fish in the pond at present. Still, however, he is one among a hundred, for, as the fisherman remarked, "he is for soupler than ony o' the rest;" and, by virtue of this quality, chases, bites, and otherwise annoys, a whole battalion of gigantic cod, that have only, one would think, to open their mouths and swallow him. To apply them with food is an important part of the fisherman's duty, and, with this view, he must ply the net, and heave the line, during two or three days of every week.

REMARKABLE FACT.

It is rather singular that the following "Very Remarkable Fact," taken from the Alexandrian Herald, should have been quoted in a serious way by several respectable editors in these Provinces, as well as in the United States, without comment.—It has, however, been ridiculed with considerable success in the Canadian Courant.—We subjoin the burlesque.

On the passage of General LA FAYETTE to York, an Eagle, the bird of Jove, flew from the bluff about two miles below this town, and hovered over the steamboat Petersburgh which the General was on board of. It followed him to Mount Vernon—and, we are told, continued flying over the tomb of Washington, to which the General was devoting his soul with the holy feelings of grief. It seemed to have an inspiration in its actions; it displayed those feelings which would seem to indicate that it was a special messenger, sent to welcome our illustrious guest on his visit to the sacred repose of the first of men—his friend and the friend of mankind. After the General had fulfilled his pious devotions, this bird, representing the gratitude of a nation, took its final departure from that spot which contains the relics of LA FAYETTE's dear companion.

There is no doubt whatever of the fact which we communicate above. We could give the testimony of hundreds of the most respectable names of its correctness. Besides it would be too palpable a story to invent at least in the very face of La Fayette himself.—Alex Herald

A Pretty Considerable d—d Tough Remarkable Fact.

Some years ago a regiment which was raised in Canada, found a difficulty in filling its ranks with British subjects and as numbers were the chief object, to those interested in its recruiting, American Citizens and other Foreigners were freely enlisted. The Yankee recruit, to ensure a more favourable reception, frequently exchanged his patronymic for some high sounding High land name, culled from the nomenclature of the most distinguish clans. It was a practice with these soi-disant Macs, when they had pocketed the King's guineas, to avail themselves of a dark night, the geographical knowledge they had obtained in their lumbering occupations and the assistance of confederate friends, to bid adieu to His Majesty's service. Indeed so common had the practice grown that it was considered a fine conclusion of a summer's rolling to speculate in enlisting, and after tarrying awhile with the red coats, to clear right out, and start clean of the real arrair for Vermont, taking with them their kits, and any odd notions of their comrades which chanced to be handy and of course not forgetting the bounty money received. It so happened, that one Habakuk Hardhammer, had engaged in this traffic, and aided by a carroty head and fire red whiskers, passed without much suspicion as a hero of real Highland lineage, tho' his language was a little tainted with Jonathanism, but as his occupation and frequent intercourse with his Yankee neighbours accounted for this, he was readily attested for the ——Regiment, under the name of Hector Mc Phitlbeg, and speedily became a great favorite in the corps.—Whether the Yankee was less chancy or less cute in the choice of his confederates than his race generally are, it seems that his trade failed altogether for having covenanted with some raitsmen returning to Lake Champlain for a passage in their skiff, and paid them in advance, the perfidious crew concealed, that as fifty dollars reward could be obtained for apprehending a deserter it would be no bad spec to conduct the unfortunate Habakuk Hector Hardhammer Phillbeg, back again and deliver him up to his Regiment Thus they most readily reconciled to their conscience, as they knew Habakuk Hector to be such a d——d slippery sprig not to escape, that he could clear a stone jug as quick as wink, and would soon be off again as stuck as may be. But alas poor Habakuk Mc Phillbeg thought himself destined to no such good fortune when he was brought before a Court Martial his guilt fully proved and the sentence of death directed to be carried into execution, with an intimation that the frequency of the crime he was charged with, left no room for mercy, and that no lenity could be extended to him. The fatal morning arrived, the guard was paraded, and the culprit clothed in a white suit ornamented with black rosettes, was led out to undergo the penalty of the Law. Scarcely had he left the dungeon when a wild goose of gigantic proportions was seen hovering in the air, directly above the escort which guarded the prisoner, and, unintimidated by the martial array, or the doleful notes of the dead march (to which the unhappy culprit faltered to the scene of his last suffering), his wings seem d to flap in just time to the hollow peal of the muffled drums, and the flapping flight kept pace with the procession till it arrived at the ground in the old French works at the Citadel of Quebec, where military punishments are usually inflicted. Whilst the preliminary ceremonies were performing this wonderful bird directed its course towards the spot where Montgomery fell, over which it remained almost stationary, absorbed in holy grief and displaying feelings far above what are usually attributed to its race—when suddenly it returned to the place of execution, and set my house in my town of the Province. An interference whirred in rapid gyrations above the half dead Habakuk Hector Hardhammer Mc Phillbeg who was now kneeling on the coffin, in dread expectation of the fatal shot. The Clergyman had finished his benevolent task, the Provost had drawn the cap over his eyes, and the firing party were advancing, when the mammoth goose, having first thrown itself into an attitude similar to that in which "the bird of Jove" is represented on the best executed coins of the United States, darted suddenly upon Hardhammer, and uttering screams of no earthly sound, snatched the victim of military vengeance from an impending fate and bore him off triumphantly towards the south, apparently with as much ease as an ordinary goose would carry a ball frog, whilst his resounding pinions proudly proclaimed that it bore a kindred spirit.

What became of our hero after this extraordinary preservation has never been distinctly ascertained, nor has it ever been satisfactorily explained whether, this bird was really a goose or a special messenger or ambassador extraordinary, sent to rescue a citizen of the first republic in the world, from the murderous chastisement of British tyranny; these points must probably remain for ever involved in mystery, but there is no doubt of the fact we have related—or should any impertinent sceptic dare to doubt its authenticity we can add hundreds of respectable names as witnesses of [illegible]

THE BRITISH COLONIES.

From a late London Paper.

The following extract must be read with lively interest by all those who are alive to the Colonial prosperity of Great Britain.

As the Colonies of Great Britain are not only integral parts of our Empire, but administer, in a primary degree, to our trade and commerce, and more particularly to our shipping and navigation, it is a very important point, that these sources of trade and revenue should be well administered; and more particularly, when it is considered, that at least one million of British subjects are under these local Governments. By the law of the land, almost all these Governments are vested entirely in the Crown, and are, in fact, military stations. It is almost a necessary inference, that inasmuch as they want the Constitutional securities against the abuse of power, their form of administration is less perfect than we are accustomed to see amongst ourselves at home. But, on the other hand, as Parliament is always open to hear any particular grievance, or to receive any remonstrance against any odorious act of all government, there is an unquestionable check and a very effective one, against any act of oppression exercised by these local Governors.

Under such circumstances, it is not to much to expect that these Colonial Governments should on the whole, be at least properly administered. It is true that military men are not, generally speaking, the best qualified by education to exercise civil Government; and that, in almost all cases in which large powers have been entrusted to them, they have given very little satisfaction to the persons subject to them. But the effect of these appointments is controlled by the character of the Colonial Secretary at home, and by the active consultation and correspondence which the Colonial Office requires on the part of all Colonial Governors.

With so many checks and constraints, it does excite a surprise in us, that there exist so many, and apparently such just cause of complaints against the Governors of our Colonies, and that some of them are of a nature which affect not only the peace of the Colony and the happy condition of its inhabitants, but even the general well being of the Empire.

The Colony of New South Wales is now nearly the first in order and importance. The Governor of this Colony is Sir T. Brisbane, a man of whom we are disposed to think most favourably. We perceive, however, by the Sidney papers and letters, that some of his recent acts have given great cause of offence, and that a general remonstrance will most probably be sent home. One of these acts certainly appears most extraordinary. By a private ordinance, signed with his name, it is commanded, that henceforth no one shall sue in the Courts of Law or Equity in any town or the Colony, without the previous permission of the Governor. An interference with private property most extraordinary, and more revolting to British feelings than the act of a British Governor. It is added, in the same account, that the Governor is a military man of considerable state. That the Governor should wish to have a handsome establishment, and be treated with respect, is natural enough; but that he should require that the Town Council of Parramatta, on their being asked by the constable on duty, his name, on business,—his residence,—and his intended term of stay. Several other minor heads of complaint are added in the letter from which we deduce our information, and particularly the fact, that the current money of the Colony is allowed to pass at four different values. The dollar is issued by the Government to the settler in payment for wheat and cattle, at five shilling—to the troops, at four shillings and eight pence; whilst it is paid to the Government officers for their salaries at four shillings only.

Whilst such is the state of things in the Colony of New South Wales, in the Cape of Good Hope it is still worse. In this Colony, the administration of Lord Charles Somerset has given such great and general offence, that the Government has found it necessary to send four Commissioners to examine into the acts alleged. In the mean time, there is nothing but misery and dissension between different branches of the local Government, and both seem to look toward the Governor.

In the island of which the Earl of Huntingdon is Governor, there are the same dissensions between his Lordship and the inhabitants, and which have been carried to such an extent that the British Government has found it necessary to withdraw his Lordship. The papers of the island, which have just arrived, contain a most insolent letter, purported to have been written by one of the principal inhabitants of the island to the Earl,—who had found it necessary to expel him from the Magistracy. The Magistrate in turn reminds the Earl that the King and British Government had deemed it advisable to recal him (the Earl) from the insular Government, and that in (the Magistrate) had only to add the expression of his most fervent wish, that his Lordship might have a speedy and favourable voyage from the island. That no unfavourable winds might arise to detain him, but that his departure might be as quick as his best friends at home could desire And this letter was published in all the papers of the island.

We cannot conclude these observations without the confident expectation, that these complaints of the Colonies will meet the suitable attention from the Government at home, and something effectual and conclusive will be done for the better administration of our foreign settlements generally. Of Sir Thomas Brisbane we know nothing but what is good and honourable,—of the two other Governors there may be something in the complaints against them, although certainly not to the extent stated. The misrepresentation, indeed, for this conclusion is that the Earl of Huntingdon is recalled, and that it is expected that Lord Charles Somerset will be that it is expected but Lord Charles Somerset will be also too. Perhaps, however, for no other cause, than to heal the dissensions in the Colony.

THE UNCALLED AVENGER.

The return of the victorious Russian army which had conquered Finland, under the command of General Buxhoeden, says Mr. O'Meara at St. Petersburgh, was attended with a circumstance, which, if it is true, has at all times been usual in the train of large armies, but which naturally took place to a much greater extent in these high northern latitudes, where the hand of man has so imperiously subdued the original savageness of the soil. Whole droves of famished beasts and wolves followed the troops on their return to the south, to feed on the chance prey afforded by the carcasses of the artillery and baggage horses that dropped on the road. In consequence of the proximity of Lapland, to which several regiments directed their march, was so overrun with those animals, as greatly to endanger the safety of travellers. Hence it is said a circular to the government, (unless that fatal) persons of different ranks were commanded, who had been detained during the winter by these ravenous beasts. It became hazardous to venture alone and unarmed into the uninhabited parts of the country; even children, or a female country woman boldly undertook a journey to a distant relation, if not only without any male companion, but with three children, the youngest of which was still at the breast. A light sledge drawn by one horse received the little party; the way was narrow, but well beaten; the snow on each side deep and impassable, and to turn back without danger of sticking fast, not to be thought of.

The first half of the journey was passed without accident. The road now ran along the skirts of a pine forest, when the traveller suddenly perceived a suspicious noise behind her. Casting back a look of alarm, she saw a troop of wolves trotting along the road, the number of which her fears hindered her from estimating. To escape by flight is her first thought; and, with unsparing whip she urges into a gallop the horse, which itself snuffs the danger. Soon a couple of the strongest and most hungry of the beasts appear at her side, and seem disposed to stop the way. Though their intention seems to be only to attack the horse, yet the safety both of the mother and of the children depends on the preservation of the animal. The danger raises its value; it seems entitled to claim for its preservation an extraordinary sacrifice. As the mariner throws overboard his richest treasures to appease the raging waves, so here has necessity reached a height at which the emotions of the heart are dumb before the dark commands of instinct; the latter alone suffers the unhappy woman to act in this distress. She seizes her second child, whose bodily infirmities have often made it an object of anxious care, whose cry even not offends her ear, and threatens to whet the appetite of the blood-thirsty monsters—she seizes it with involuntary motion, and before the mother is conscious of what she is doing, it is cast out, and—enough of the horrid tale!—The last cry of the victim still sounded in her ear, when she discovered that the troop, which had remained some minutes behind, again closely pressed on the sledge—The anguish of her soul increases, for again the murder-breathing form are at her side. Pressing the infant to her heaving bosom, she casts a look on her boy, four years old, who crowds closer and closer to her knee.—"But, dear mother, I am good, am I not? You will not throw me into the snow, like the bawler?"—"And yet! and yet!" cried the wretched woman, in the wild tumult of despair, "Thou art good, but God is merciful!—Away!" The dreadful deed was done. To escape the furies that raged within her, the woman exerted herself, with powerless lash to accelerate the the gallop of the exhausted horse. With the thick and gloomy forest before and behind her, and the nearer and nearer trampling of her ravenous pursuers, she almost sinks under her anguish, only the recollection of the infant that she holds in her arms—only the desire to save it, occupies her heart, and with difficulty enables it to bear up. She did not venture to look behind her. All at once, two rough paws are laid on her shoulders, and the wide open bloody jaws of an enormous wolf hung over her head. It is the most ravenous beast of the troop, which having partly missed its leap at the sledge, is dragged along with it, in vain seeking with its hinder legs for a resting place, to enable it to get wholly on the frail vehicle. The weight of the body of the monster draws the woman backwards—her arms rise with the child: half torn from her, half abandoned, it becomes the prey of the ravenous beast, which hastily carries it off into the forest. Exhausted, stunned, senseless, she drops the reins, and continues her journey, ignorant whether she is delivered from her pursuers or not.

NATURAL HISTORY.

Petrified Man and Horse.—In the course of 1823 Colonel Jumker and Doctor Gauss, when hunting, discovered in a chasm in the middle of the rocks, which supplied the free stone of Fontainbleau, a petrifaction, which, by its form and nature, appeared to them to be a human figure, partly reclined on a horse, which was also petrified. These gentlemen caused it to be dug out, and Mr. Barruel, informed of the discovery, obtained some fragments of the petrified man, which he analysed. It was ascertained that they contained phosphate of lime, which is one of the component parts of all bones. It is considered one of the most curious and rare petrifactions ever discovered.

Esquimaux White Owl and Rein Deer.

St. George's Day at Igloolic—April 23d 1823. Being St. George's day our ships were dressed in flags, and at one P. M. we fired a royal salute, in honour of his Majesty's birth-day. Our guns were arranged in a little battery along side, as it would not have been prudent to have fired them on board, while the ships were so firmly sealed up in the ice. A large party of natives were invited down, as we were in hopes that so novel a display might make some impression on them, and by giving them something to talk of, be the means of keeping up a remembrance of us at some future time. Three or four "hey yaws," however, the sum total of their remarks; and before the salute was fired, the whole party became tired of it, although none of them had ever before heard a great gun, or seen a flag. I led an old woman to the side of one of our twenty-four-pounder-cannonades, and entered into conversation with her, when I observed, that at the explosion she did not even wink her eyes, but very earnestly continued a long story about a pair of boots for which some of our people had not contented her. A second report caused one of our snow-washing-houses to fall in, on which the good lady uttered her "hey yaw," as if it was the most curious part of the ceremony.

"To-morrow," the Captain said, "if the weather is fine, I will go out and try if I can find a few ducks, but if I do not arrive, although he had threatened to bring his gun, in hopes that he might find some of our powder, after it had been fired out of the guns; for he complained sadly, that in the event of birds flying near, he had no ammunition to kill them.

The snowy owl of Igloolic.—I was so fortunate as to shoot a snowy owl, an extremely rare and beautiful bird, and seldom seen in these regions. Naturalists place it between the eagle and the owl; and, indeed, all its motions, when first wounded, bore far greater resemblance to the former than to the latter bird; its size was immense. It is remarkable that the white owl sees equally as well as other birds in the most bright weather, and always takes his prey by daylight.

Maternal Affection of the Rein Deer.—From Capt. Parry I learned an interesting anecdote of a doe and her fawn, which he had persued across a small inlet. The mother, finding her young one could not swim so fast as herself, was observed to stop repeatedly, so as to allow the fawn to come up with her, and having landed first, stood watching it with trembling anxiety, as the boat chased it to the shore. She was repeatedly fired at, but remained immoveable until her offspring landed in safety, when they both cantered out of sight.

Poetry.

MY MISTRESS IS THE SEA.

Oh! for that manly soul of old,
Who sung with heart-felt glee:—
My love, it is my vessel bold,
My mistress—is the sea.

Let landsmen say each shining wave
May death be while we rove;
'Tis true, but dearer far that grave,
Than woman's fickle love.

Swell on, thou breeze, and fleet unfold
My sails' white wings to flee;
My love, it is my vessel bold,
My mistress—is the sea.

Oh! what can be a lovelier sight
Than you concave of blue,
The waves all sparkling in the light—
The beams of golden hue?
My canvass shines like purest snow,
My streamers in the sun
Seem crimson wiggs, and to and fro
The shrieking sea-birds run.

Long, long may I, o'er ocean roll'd,
Sing on with heart-felt glee,
My love, it is my vessel bold,
My mistress—is the sea.

From boy to man, I learn'd to prize
The freedom of the deep;
I've sail'd beneath far sultry skies,
I've seen the snow-drift's heap.
No woman's love allur'd my heart
From its accustom'd rest,
The joy to meet, and pangs to part,
Lie unwork'd in this breast.

I would not change for heaps of gold
This life that suits the free;
My love, it is my vessel bold,
My mistress—is the sea.

Domestic.

His Excellency, the Lieutenant Governor, and family, arrived on Friday last, in the Richmond Packet from the Cottage at Stamford;—The Hon. & Rev. Dr. Strachan returned from his late visit to England, viâ, the United States, by the same vessel.

THE UNION.

Having been always favourable to the plan alluded to in the following paragraph, we cannot help wishing that it may be realized.

Montreal, Nov. 6.

It is now reported that another letter has been received from one of the gentlemen whose communication from England respecting the Union was lately before the Public, and that according to this letter the Union between the Canadas is no more thought of, but a system of confederation between all the British Provinces is under consideration, connected with which a measure of this nature would have important consequences. It is probable the internal Governments would be considerably affected in the first instance by it; and that it would ultimately produce a change in the whole condition of America.—Canadian Spectator.

RED RIVER SETTLEMENT.

Montreal, 3d November.

The following extract of a letter from a quarter whose local history has excited so much interest during the first attempts made to settle it, will, we are sure, be read with considerable interest.

"Red River Settlement, Aug. 27, 1824,

"The Governor who is a most active and persevering man this year, in continuation of his general Tour, visits the Columbia. He passed last winter here. He and the Chief Factor, had their hands full to reduce matters into order. Mr P Dean is appointed to the Arctic Expedition, at Capt. Franklin's request. Mr Black is sent to explore the country west of the Rocky Mountains, lying parallel with Mackenzie's River. The Snake Country yields good returns and the trade of it is resumed with redoubled vigour. The dead list amounts to about fifteen, in all throughout the Country. Six of these in the Snake Country;—men who braved the savage arrow for many a day—now are gone in addition to one hundred and twenty more, whose bones whiten those unhospitable climes since the opening of that trade. I shall now talk to you of the Red River, although I must say, it is a topic on which I feel rather weary from the noise it has made, and the doubts that still hang round it. At the present day, however, it is very certain the views of the Company are most humane. The state of things seem the reverse of what they were—according to report—and the inhabitants must feel the change;—for every support and benefit which circumstances can admit, are extended to them with a generous and unsparing hand. From the highest in London to the lowest in the trade, each adds his mite and has his shoulder to the wheel. The former, as in duty bound—the latter in hopes to secure a future home to themselves and families. The servants in general think of no other plan of rest; and many among the better classes talk of ending their days in Red River. Various causes lead to this conclusion. In Red River the climate is healthy; the soil productive; the plains abound with Buffaloes; the waters with excellent fish.—Domestic animals are getting plentiful; population is increasing fast, and the price of labour is on the decline. Petty merchants are encouraged; they receive their outfits from the Bay at cost and charges. Besides we have a general store suitable to all demands at a much lower rate than known perhaps, in Canada. Men of skill are employed ameliorating the communications from the Factory. No costs are spared no address is wanting to insure the friendship and good will of the surrounding tribes; and their is a tacit understanding with the American Commanders to keep the Sioux Tribes within their boundaries. A paper currency is put in operation for the facility of traffic, and hitherto 7s 6d sterling, has been the price allowed by the Company for a bushel of grain;—in a word all seems in a prosperous train.—But once the Company have taken their supplies, where will the aspiring and (prosperous farmer) find a market for the surplus?—Ay, there's the rub. Here I need your assistance to help me on; or I must stick."—Montreal Herald.

Upper Canada Gazette.

New Series.

Vol. III. YORK, U. C. THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 25th, 1824. No. XLVIII.

By Authority.

UPPER CANADA.

P. MAITLAND,

Lieut. Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

TO our Beloved and Faithful Legislative Councellors of our Province of Upper Canada; and to our Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses of our said Province, to our Provincial Parliament at our Town of York, on the Sixteenth Day of September instant, to be Commenced, Held, Called and Elected, and to every of you—GREETING:

WHEREAS, our Proclamation bearing date the Tenth Day of September last, We thought fit to Prorogue our Provincial Parliament to the Twenty Fifth day of October, instant, at which time at our Town of York, you are held and constrained to appear. NOW KNOW YE, that We, taking into our Royal consideration the ease and convenience of our loving Subjects, have thought fit by and with the advice of our Executive Council, to relieve you and each of you of your attendance at the time aforesaid, hereby convoking, and by these presents enjoining you and each of you, that on Thursday the Second Day of December next ensuing, you meet Us, in our Provincial Parliament at, in our Town of York, there to take into consideration the state and welfare of our Province of UpperCanada, and therein to do as may seem necessary, and herein fail not.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces in North America, at York, this Twenty-Third day of Oct. in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty-four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign. P. M.

By His Excellency's Command.

JNO. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

D. CAMERON, Secretary.

Upper Canada.

P. MAITLAND,

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come—GREETING:

WHEREAS by Proclamation bearing date the Fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventeen, our trusty and well beloved FRANCIS GORE Esquire, late our Lieutenant Governor of our Province of Upper Canada, by and with the advice of the Executive Council thereof, and by virtue of the Authority in him vested in that behalf, did declare and appoint the Port of Ernesttown, otherwise commonly called the Port of Bath, within the Midland District of this Province, to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for all Goods and Merchandize, not being entirely prohibited and for the payment of all Duties, liable to be paid on all Goods and Merchandize brought into this Province from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS by a certain Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdoms of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the Third Year of our Reign, entitled, "AN ACT to Regulate the Trade of the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, and for other purposes relating to the said Provinces," it is among other things Enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the Governor Lieutenant Governor, or person Administering the Government of either of our said Provinces respectively by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council thereof for the time being, from time to time to diminish or increase, by Proclamation, the number of Ports or places, which then were, or thereafter might be, specified in such Province for the Entry of Goods, Wares, and Commodities, imported from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS it appears expedient for the avoiding expence in the Collection of our Revenue, that the said Port of Ernesttown shall no longer be a Port of Entry and Clearance.—NOW KNOW YE, that by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of our Province of Upper Canada, We have thought fit to declare, and do hereby declare that from and of the date of this our Proclamation, the said Port of Ernesttown shall cease to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the purposes aforesaid, and shall be and remain, as if the said Proclamation hereinbefore recited, had never been made.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York this Twentieth day of March in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign. P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,

D. CAMERON, Secretary.

JNO. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

NOTICE.

Government House,
October 30th, 1824.

A COMMUNICATION has been recently received by His EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR from the SOCIETY established in England, for the ENCOURAGEMENT of ARTS, MANUFACTURES, and COMMERCE, which holds out to the Agriculturists of this Colony the following Premiums:—viz.

Cultivation of Hemp in Upper and Lower Canada, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick.

I. To the person who shall sow with Hemp the greatest quantity of land in the above-mentioned Provinces, not less than six arpents, (each four fifths of a statute acre) in the year 1824, and shall at the proper season cause to be plucked the summer Hemp, (or male Hemp bearing no seed,) and continue the winter Hemp (or female Hemp bearing seed) on the ground until the seed is ripe; the Gold Medal, or Two Hundred Dollars.

II. To the person who shall sow with Hemp the next greatest quantity of land in the same Provinces, not less than five arpents, in the year 1824, in the manner above-mentioned; the Silver Medal, or One Hundred Dollars.

Certificates of the number of arpents, the method of culture, of the plucking of the Hemp, with a general account whether sown, broad-cast, or in drills, and of the expense, soil, cattle varion, and produce, to be transmitted to the Society, certified under the Hand and Seal of the Governor or Lieutenant Governor, or the resident Magistrates or other competent local Authorities, together with 2Slbs. of the Hemp, and two quarts of the seed, on or before the last Tuesday in April, 1825.

Importation of Hemp from Canada, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick.

III. To the person who shall Import to this country the greatest quantity of marketable Hemp, not less than One Hundred Tons in the year 1824, the produce of Canada, or one of the above mentioned Provinces;—the Gold Medal.

IV. To the person who shall Import the next greatest quantity, not less than Fifty Tons;—the Silver Medal.

Certificates, satisfactory to the Society, to be produced by the Master of the Vessel on or before the last Tuesday in April, 1826, to testify that such Hemp was grown and prepared in Canada, Nova Scotia, or New Brunswick.

Exterpating the Stumps and Roots of Trees.

V. To the person who shall invent, and discover to the Society, the best method, verified by actual experience, of raising out of the earth, and removing the Stumps, and Roots of Trees, which have been left after felling the Timber, so as to Clear the Land for the purposes of Cultivation;—the Gold Medal or Fifty Guineas.

Certificates that the method has succeeded with at least Fifty Trees of Large Girth, and a full description of the means employed, to be delivered to the Society, on or before the last Tuesday in April, 1825.

Communications relative to any of the above subjects, may be addressed to His Excellency's Private Secretary. 45-6w.

Executive Council Office,
York, February 7th 1824.

WHEREAS it has been represented, that many persons who have received Locations of Land, have, from Sickness, and other legitimate causes, been unable to fulfil the Settlement Duty in the time required by the Location Ticket, and have neglected to apply to His Excellency in Council for an extension of the period, for performance of such duty.

BE it Known that the period for completing the Settlement Duty, is hereby extended to Two Years, from the date of Locations until further notice shall be given.

JOHN SMALL, C'k Ex. Coun.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in Council, having taken into consideration the system hitherto practised, of Granting Licences of Occupation for GLEBE LANDS, is pleased to Order, that in future the Glebes in the several Townships, with the exception of One Lot in each Township, for the accommodation of the Incumbent, shall be Leased on the same terms as Clergy Reserves.

NOTICE is therefore given to those Persons who hold Licences of Occupation for any of the said Glebe Lots, that the same will not be Renewed; and unless they do make application, by Petition, for Leases in the usual manner, through the medium of the Corporation for superintending the Clergy Reserves, before the Twenty-ninth day of September next ensuing, the Lots so held by Licence of Occupation will be Leased to other Applicants.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office, 19-tf.
York, 29th April, 1824.

Executive Council Chamber,
York, 31st January, 1824.

PRESENT,

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,

IN COUNCIL,

HIS Majesty's Government having recently extended their assistance to the cause of Emigration, which it was intended to relieve by gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres of Land, in conveying them to their respective locations:

IT IS ORDERED, that from the first day of May next, no gratuitous Grants be made of any quantity of Land to other than privileged persons.—And that as the Fee on Two Hundred Acres was raised, in order to defray the gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres the consideration failing, the future Fee on Two Hundred Acres is reduced to Eight Pounds Four Shilling and One Penny Sterling; the existing Fee before 1819, and the Fee on all other Grants, in Townships surveyed since that time, to be the same as established by the Order in Council, of 5th January, 1819.

N. B. Possessors of gratuitous Grants for Fifty Acres, may, by paying the Fee on One Hundred Acres, receive a Grant of the adjoining Fifty Acres if vacant

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Ex'v. Council.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL CHAMBER,
AT YORK, 26TH JAN. 1824.
PRESENT;
HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
In Council.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR submitted to the consideration of the Board, the Sheriffs' Reports of their respective Gaols, together with other Documents relating to a Winter Circuit, by which it appeared that the House of Assembly had addressed His Excellency to that effect, for this Session only; and obviously for the Delivery of the Gaols in the several Districts.

The limitation of such a measure to one season seeming to militate with the Provision of the Law, that when the Communication from the Seat of Government admitted, and the circumstances of the Province required, there should be a regular Second Circuit, the Board would prefer to recommend that Special Commissions to deliver particular Gaols should issue where requisite; but, as the respective Reports from the Sheriffs do not, in the opinion of the Board, require any musual interposition, His Excellency, with advice of the Council, postpones a Second Circuit until the circumstances of the Province more decidedly require it

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Executive Council.

WHEREAS by the Tenor of the Location Tickets a Certificate is required to be lodged of [illegible] should be forfeited, and in case of locations not gratuitous, that one third of the Patent Fee be lodged with such Certificate; AND WHEREAS it is represented, that in many instances, Certificates of performance of the Settlement Duty, have been withheld from the inability of the settler to deposit such proportion of the Patent Fee, it is deemed expedient to relieve the settler from forfeiture of his location, when he may actually have performed his settlement duty—Notice is hereby given that in all cases where Settlement Duty has been performed within the limited period, the settler shall, on filing Certificate thereof within six Months of this date, be exempted from forfeiture notwithstanding the non-payment therewith of such portion of the Patent Fee, provided the Patent is sued out within One Year from the filing of such Certificate.

And further; His Excellency, in the hope of avoiding the necessity of rescinding any of the Militia grants, is pleased to direct this Public Notification; that all lands granted to Militia Men, upon which the Settlement Duties shall not have been performed within the limited period, will in pursuance of general instructions given to the Surveyor General in all similar cases, be declared vacant, and will be granted within Six Months after the expiration of that period, to the first applicant, unless the Original Nominee, shall before such subsequent application, have lodged a Certificate of his having performed the Settling Duties.

JOHN SMALL, Clk. Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office,
York, 7th Nov. 1821.

WHEREAS it has become expedient to establish a line of communication through certain remote Townships, for encouragement thereof, Grants will be made to actual Settlers in the Townships hereinafter named on the condition of Settling within two years from the date of the Location, at the reduced Scale of 5th January, 1819, viz.

A Township North of Mariposa, advertised from the Surveyor General's Office on the 19th of October, as-

	Zeta, to be called	Eldon
N. of Ep[illegible]		Fenelon
N. of Emily advertised as	Emir	Verulam
N. of Smith	Lake	Harvey
E. of do.		Douro
N. of Asphodel	Alma	Dummer
N. of Seymour	Mora	Belmont
N. of Dummer	Yea	Burleigh
N. of Marmora	Ninia	Lake
N. of Madoc		Tudor
N. of Ebzever	No	Grimsthorpe
N. of Kaladar	Aye	Anglesea
N. of Kennebec	Jus	Barrie
N of Norma	Oden	Clarendon
N.of Oso	Et	Palmerston
N.of Belmont	Carlos	Metnuen

JOHN SMALL, C. E. C.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Newcastle District, to wit. BY virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of Kings Bench, and to the Sheriff of the Newcastle District directed, against the Lands and Tenements of David M'Gregor Rogers Esq. at the suit John Strachan, Thomas A. Dobbs, and Thomas H. Cartwright, Executors of the late Richard Cartwright, Esq. I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said David M'Gregor Rogers the following Lands, viz.

S. half of Lot No. 3 Broken Front, A. — 330 Acres.
Lot No. 3 do. do. B.
Lot No. 3 do. do. C.
Lot No. 23 2 Concession, 200 do.
Lot No, 26 3 do 200 do.

of the Township of Haldimand, in the county of Northumberland, which Property I shall offer for sale at Public Auction, at the Inn now occupied by Mr N. W. Mack, in the village of Coburg, on the ninth day of February next at 12 o'clock, at noon.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff,
By EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.

N. B. Any person or persons having claims on the above described Premises, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber, on or before the day of Sale.

NOTE.—The sale of the above Lots, No. 3, Concession A., B., and C., 330 Acres, is postponed until 11th day of January next (1825) at the same place and at 6 o'clock in the Evening.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
BY EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.
Sheriff's Office, Coburg, 47—td.
November 3d, 1824.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit. ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb. 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Peter Grant, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Jerry Whitehead, viz.

The easterly half of Lot No. 10, in the First Concession of the Township of Thurlow, containing 100 acres more or less.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1824

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit ON Saturday the 5th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Zachariah Simmons, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Thomas Parker, viz.

Part of Lot No. 16, in the First Concession of the Township of Sidney, containing three acres and thirty-one perches.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To WIT. ON Saturday the 12th day of March, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Theophilus Lockwood, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Thomas Parker, viz.

Part of the east half of Lot No. 22, in the Third Concession of the Township of Sidney, in the County of Hastings, containing 19½ acres.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
October, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To WIT ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb. 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands, as belonging to Lewis Day, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Alexander Simpson, viz.

The rear two fifths of Lot No. 15, containing 80 acres, and the north or rear two-fifths of the westerly quarter of Lot No. 16, in the Fourth Concession of the Township of Kingston, containing 20 acres, and the south-easterly quarter of the west half of Lot No. 16, in the Second Concession of the Township of Kingston, containing 25 acres.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Lands, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To WIT. ON Thursday the 28th day of October next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to the estate of the late Duncan McDonald, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Duncan McDonell, viz.

Lot No. 406 in the Town of Kingston, containing one sixth of an acre.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
July 27th, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having claims on the above lot of land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale.

☞The above Sale is postponed till Saturday, the 18th day of December next, at the same hour and place.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1824. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To WIT. ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb. 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Lewis Rosebush, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Duncan McDonell, viz.

A part of Lot No. 18, in the Second Concession of the Township of Rawdon, containing 70 acres of Land, described as follows, viz. commencing at the south-west angle of the said Lot in front, where a post has been planted, thence running north sixteen degrees west forty-nine chains and forty links, then south seventy-four degrees north fifteen chains to the centre of the said Lot, thence south, sixteen degrees east, to the allowance for road in front of the said Concession, thence west seventy-four degrees south fifteen chains to the place of beginning.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT TO WIT ON Saturday the 19th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Daniel Lyons, seized by virtue of an Execution, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of the Hon. G. H. Markland, and John Kirby, Esq Executors to the estate of the late Lawrence Herchimer, viz:—

Lot No. 25 in the 7th Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff, M, D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
18th October, 1824. No. 46,—t. d.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT TO WIT. ON Saturday the 1 th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Solomon Orser, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Allan McLean, Esq. viz:—

The front part of Lot No. 18, in the 2d Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
18th October, 1824

N. B All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District To Wit. ON Tuesday the 18th day of January, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Silas Ormsby, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of D'Arcy Boulton, Esq. viz:—

The East half of Lot No. 2 in the 12th Concession of the Township of Huntingdon, in the County of Hastings, containing 100 Acres more or less.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
October 18th, 1824.

N B. All Persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 45—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District To Wit. ON Tuesday the 18th day of January 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands and Tenements, as belonging to William Purkiss, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Charles Bowman, viz:—

Lot No. 6 in the 2d Concession of the Township of Loughborough, containing 200 Acres; also Town Lot No 260 in the Town of Kingston, with a large two story Frame House erected thereon.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M D.

Sheriff's Office Kingston,
October 18th, 1824.

N. B. All Persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale 45—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District to wit. BY virtue of at writ of fieri facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed against the Lands and Tenements of William Pheonix, in favour of Ralph Eeeming and James Hamilton, I have seized and taken in execution, North half of Lot No Ten in the First Con. of the Township of Trafalgar, North side of Dundas Street, containing one Hundred Acres, on which are some improvements, and the Lot is beautifully situated, and which I shall offer for Sale on Saturday the Fourth Day of December next, at one o'clock P. M. at Mr. Carpenter's Inn, near the Premises, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for Cash only.

TITUS G. SIMONS
Late Sheriff, G. D.

late Sheriff's Office,
24th Sept. 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any claim on the above described Property by Mortgage, or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber on or before the Day of Sale.

T. G. SIMONS
Late Sheriff.

No. 44.—6 wks.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District to wit. BY virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Abraham R. Smith, at the Suit of Robert Gillespie, Esquire, I have seized and taken in execution Lots No. Eleven, in the First Range, and Twenty-Two in the Second Range, in the Town of Hamilton, and in the Township of Barton, situate on the North side of the Road leading from Dundas to Niagara, each Lot contains One Fourth of an Acre, on the Former is Erected a beautiful Two-Story House, well finished, and fit for any Gentleman's residence, all this valuable Property I shall offer for sale on Monday the Sixth Day of December next, at 10 o'clock, A. M. and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for Cash only.

TITUS G. SIMONS,
Late Sheriff, G. D.

Late Sheriff's Office,
24th Sept 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any claim on the above described Property by Mortgage or other right of incumbrance, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office, on or before the Day of Sale.

T. G SIMONS
Late Sheriff, G. D.
No. 44,—6 wks

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Niagara District, To Wit. BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Liza, alias, Eliza Skinner, widow of the late Haggie Skinner, deceased, at the suit of James Maclem, and James Cummings, Executors of the late John Fanning, deceased, I have seized and taken, as belonging to the said Liza, alias, Eliza Skinner, Lots No. 172, and 161, in the Township of Stamford, 323 acres—Lots number 2, 3, 5, 6, and 7, in the Fourteenth Concession of the Township of Pelham, containing 563 acres:—All of which property I shall offer for sale on the second Monday in March, in the year 1825, at twelve o'clock noon, at the Court House, in the Town of Niagara, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for cash only.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff,
By P. T. FAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Niagara,
March 2d, 1824.

N B. Any Person or Persons having any claim to the above mentioned premises by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

48—tf. R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Niagara District, To Wit. BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of William Chisholm, at the suits of John Jammerson and John McKenzie, I have seized and taken the following lands, viz:

Part of Lot No. 16 in the 5th Concession of Grantham, Acres. 50

Part of Lot No. 17 in the 7th Concession of Grantham. 2½
Part of Lot No. 18 in the 7th Concession of Grantham. 80
Lots Nos. 2 and 3 in the Village of St. Catharines. 2
Lots Nos. 3 and 4 in do. do. do. ¾
Lot No. 9 in the Town of Niagara. ¼
Lots No. 14 and 15, in the 5th Concession of Grimsby. 200
Part of Lots Nos. 9 and 10 in do. do. do. 100

All of which property I shall offer for Sale on the last Tuesday in March, (being the 30th day of the month) at the Court House, in the Town of Niagara, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for Cash only

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Niagara, 2d March, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim to the above mentioned premises by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

48—tf. R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

NIAGARA DISTRICT, To Wit: BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the lands and tenements of John D. M'Kay, at the suit of Peter M'Gill, I have seized and taken the following Lands, viz:—

Lot No. 13, in the 8th Concession of Clinton.
Lot No. 5, 6, 7, & 12, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Grimsby. 400 acres
Lot No. 37, & 39, in the 8th & 9th Concession of do. 200 acres
Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 1st Concession of Bertie.
Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 2d Concession of do. 495 acres
Lot No. 12 & 14, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Gainsbor'o 400 acres
Lot No. 4, in the 2d Concession of do. 200 acres
Lot No. 74, 95, 96, & 1, of 201, in the town of Niagara.—All of which property I shall offer for sale on the 2d day of August, 1824, at the Court House in the town of Niagara, at 12 o'clock, noon, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for cash only

R. LEONARD, Sheriff

By PETER T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Niagara, July 31st, 1823. 4.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claims on the above named premises, by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

☞ The sale of the above property is postponed until the 15th of September, next, at the same place and hour.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff

The Sale of the above Property is postponed until the second Tuesday in January, 1825.

RICHARD LEONARD, Sheriff.

By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.

43—6w.

SHERIFF'S SALE

NIAGARA DISTRICT, To Wit: BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the lands and tenements of Liza, alias, Eliza Skinner, widow of the late Haggie Skinner, deceased, at the suit of James Madem, and James Commings, Executors of the late John Faning, deceased, I have seized and taken, as belonging to the said Liza, alias Eliza Skinner. Lots No. 172, and 161, in the Township of Stamford, 323 acres—Lots No. 2, 3, 6 and 7 in the Township of Pelham, containing 563 acres:—All of which property I shall offer for sale on the second Monday in March, in the year 1825, at twelve o'clock noon, at the Court House in the Town of Niagara, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for cash only.

RICHARD LEONARD, Sheriff,
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Niagara, March 2nd, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim to the above mentioned premises by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

43—6w. R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Eastern District, To wit. BY Virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the Lands and tenements of Richard Loucks, at the Suit of John Richardson, John Forsyth, and Alexander Thain, I have seized and taken in execution, Lot number 35, and East half of Lot number 36 in the Front or First Concession of the Township of Osnabruck, containing 300 Acres, with a good frame Dwelling House and Barn with Stables and Out Houses thereon erected, and about 80 Acres of which are well improved and in the highest state of cultivation.—Also Lots number 35, and half of 36 in the Second Concession of the said Township of Osnabruck, containing likewise 300 Acres All which I will sell at Public Auction at the Court House in the Town of Cornwall, on Monday the Twenty Ninth day of November next ensuing, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for Cash.

DONALD McDONELL, Sheriff, E. D.

Sheriff's Office, Cornwall, September 22nd, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above mentioned Property by Mortgage, or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office, previous to the day of Sale. 42—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Eastern District To Wit BY Virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Henry Barnhart, at the Suit of Willian Blackburn and Francois A. Laroque, I have seized and taken in execution Lot number 15 on the South side of Front Street, in the Town Plot of Cornwall, with a good Frame Dwelling House thereon erected.—Also, the North half of Lot number 18 in the Front or First Concession of the Township of Cornwall containing One Hundred Acres more or less.

All which I will sell at Public Auction at the Court House in the Town of Cornwall, in the said District, on Monday the Twenty Ninth day of November next ensuing, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to the highest bidder for Cash.

DONALD McDONELL, Sheriff, E. D.

Sheriff's Office, Cornwall, September 22nd, 1824

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any Claim on the above Property, my Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my office previous to the day of sale. 42—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Eastern District To Wit. BY Virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the Lands and Tenements of John Loucks, at the Suit of John Forsyth, John Richardson and Alexander Thain, I have seized and taken in Execution as belonging to the said John Loucks, Lots number 3, 4, and East half of number 5 in the Fourth Concession of the Township of Osnabruck, containing 400 Acres, with a good Frame Dwelling House and Barn, with out houses, and a Saw and Grist Mill thereon erected All which I will sell at Public Auction at the Court House in the Town of Cornwall, on Monday the Twenty Ninth day of November next ensuing, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to the highest bidder for Cash only.

DONALD McDONELL, Sheriff, E. D.

Sheriff's Office, Cornwall, September 22nd, 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any Claim on the above Property, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office previous to the day of Sale. 42—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit: ON Saturday the 18th day of December next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, all the right, title, claim and interest of Wm. Bayard Smyth, of Kingston, to the following Town Lots, with the buildings thereon erected, seized by virtue of a Writ of Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at the suit of C. A. Hagerman, Esq. viz:—Lot No 110, and the North West half of Lot No. 107, in the Town of Kingston, containing three tenths of an acre.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above property, or upon any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN. Sheriff M. D.

Kingston, Sept. 14th, 1824.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Commissariat Officer at York, will be ready to enter into Contract with any person or persons willing to

BAKE BREAD

from Government Flour, for the use of His Majesty's Troops at this Post, for one year, from the 25th December, 1824, to the 24th December, 1825.

Sealed Tenders to be delivered into this Office on the 14th December next, at noon, and they must express in words, at length, the number of pounds of Bread that will be given for every hundred and twelve pounds of Flour.

Security will be required for the due fulfilment of the Contracts entered into, and the parties making Proposals will be required to attend at the time of opening the Tenders, which must be sealed, and endorsed Tender for Baking Bread.

Commissariat Office, Nov. 12th, 1824. 47—4w.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT.

FOR

FRESH BEEF.

NOTICE is hereby given, that Tenders will be received at this Office on the 14th day of December next at noon, from such Persons as may be willing to supply for the use of the Garrison and Staff at York, for the period of Twelve Months, commencing 25th December next.

FRESH BEEF,

The Conditions of Contract, Form of Tender and other particulars, may be known on application at this Office

No Tender will be noticed, unless the Party and his Sureties, or an Agent on his behalf, attend at the time of opening the Tenders, which must be sealed and endorsed,—"Tenders for the Supply of Fresh Beef."

F. T. BILLINGS,
Dep'y. Ass't. Com's Gen'l.

York, Nov. 12th, 1824. 47—4w.

NOT OFFICIAL.

FIRE INSURANCE.

THE Sun Insurance Company of New York, having appointed George Crookshank, Esquire, their Agent in Upper Canada—he is ready to Insure against Loss or Damage by Fire, on Dwelling Houses, Stores, Merchandise, House-hold Furniture, and other Personal Property; at moderate Rates of Premium.— Persons wishing to Insure must send a plan of their Buildings, when vaated out of the Town of York, a respectable reference will be required, and Letters Post Paid —Application to be made to

R. W. PRENTICE.

York, 28th Sept. 1824. No. 39—t. f.

NOTICE.

FOR Sale, an Elegant Grecian SOFA completed with Elastic Spring Seat, at THOMAS WALLI's, Chairmaker, York, Nov. 22d, 1824. 48—3w.

NOTICE.

CHARLES HAYES, Esq. of Marmora, having by his deed bearing date the Sixth day of September last, conveyed to the undersigned all his Estate, real and personal, in trust for the benefit of his Creditors, it is requested that such persons as have claims against him, will present the same without delay for adjustment.

The business at Marmora will be continued as heretofore, for the account of the Trustees, by Mr. Hayes.

PETER M'GILL.
A. MANAHAN.
ROBERT HAYES.

Kingston, Oct. 24th, 1824. 46—3w.

THE CANADIAN FARMER'S ALMANAC

AND

GENERAL MEMORANDUM BOOK, FOR

1825.

IS NOW PUBLISHED, and may be had by the Dozen, or single Book, at the U. C. Gazette Office, and all the principal Stores in Town, and Country.

THE "ROYAL CALENDAR of U. C." for 1825, improved and enlarged,—is in the Press, and every exertion will be used to have it ready for early Publication In the mean time, Orders will be thankfully received.—

FOR SALE.

A Farm on Yonge Street, Lot No. 32 in Markham, One Hundred and Ninety Acres, of which ninety Acres are under cultivation with a Frame House and Barn on the same, a stream of water runs across the Lot, and Purdy's Saw and Grist Mills are on the Lot opposite to the same.—Terms of payment will be made easy.—Application to be made to,

GEORGE CROOKSHANK.

York, 17th Oct. 1824.

N. B. Should the above mentioned Farm not be sold by the 1st March next, it will then be leased.

43—tf.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the County of Dundas, intend presenting a Petition to the Legislature at its next Session, for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Dundas, and the Town of Cornwall alternately.

Also to have the Concession line between the fourth and fifth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg in the Eastern District, to have the said line run upon the true course of No. 66 E. and completed.

And also the side lines in the said fourth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg aforesaid, to have the said side lines to run upon the original course No. 24 W.

43—26w.

LAND IN PERCY.

A VERY valuable Lot of Land, consisting of 200 Acres, being No. 7 in the 2nd Concession of the Township of Percy, in the Newcastle District, and not far from the River Trent, in the midst of a good settlement may be had for 2½ per Acre, with an indisputable title, and immediate possession.—Inquire at the U. C. Gazette Office. 43—tf.

TO DISTILLERS & BREWERS.

ROBERT Todd Dean having made Chemistry the study of his life, and having for himself and others both in Scotland and Ireland, for sixteen years, conducted a Chemical Manufactory, (Testimonials of the most satisfactory kind can be produced from many respectable individuals to that effect) and having like others of his Countrymen come to Canada for the purpose of bettering his condition in life, finds himself situated, now, as to be obliged to offer his services to persons engaged in the Brewing and Distilling business, both of which branches, together with the Manufactory of Cordials &c. he professes with all the improvements, perfectly understand.

Any Person desirous of having his sevices by addressing a letter to him (post paid) to the care of Matthew Crooks Esq. Ancaster Upper Canada, may depend upon its meeting with a ready attention from

Signed,

R. T. DEAN.

N. B. Terms will be moderate, and such as will be within the reach of every one, doing even a moderate business, immediate employment is an object to,

R. T. D.

40—13w.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the First Concession of Sophiasburgh South west of Green Point,—by reason of the material damage they have sustained these number of years back, on account of the erroneous original Survey of the Second Concession Line, Are determined to Petition the Legislature of this Province at the ensuing Session of Parliament for the alteration of the said Line, and to settle all the differences relating thereunto

Sophiasburgh, Oct 7th, 1824. No. 44.—6 m.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the EASTERN DISTRICT will at the next Session of the LEGISLATURE make application to be authorised to effect a Loan to enable them to erect a Gaol and Court House in the Town of Cornwall. 37—6m.

NOTICE.

AN APPLICATION will be made to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for an Act imposing a TAX on Dogs in the TOWN of YORK and its vicinity, the proceeds of which to be applicable to the police purposes.

By Order of the Magistrates in Adjourned General Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the Home District assembled on the 6th day of Sept. 1824.

(Signed,) S. HEWARD.
Clk. Peace Home District.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the COUNTY of GLENGARY intend presenting a Petition to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Glengary and the Town of Cornwall alternately. 37—6m.

INTERESTING NOTICE.

THE Surveyor General begs leave to inform the Public, that he has obtained the permission of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, to publish a of the Province, on a large Scale. It is to be engraved in London, in the best style, and will be ready for delivery in a few months.

CORRECT MAP

This information, the Surveyor General thinks it necessary to make, in order to prevent those persons, who are desirous of having an authentic MAP of UPPER CANADA, from being imposed upon by a Surreptitious Copy, said to be on the eve of Publication.

Surveyor General's Office, York, 2d April, 1823. 14—tf

NOTICE.

ALL Persons indebted to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire, of Stamford, are requested to make immediate payment to the Subscriber at Vittoria, London District, and those having claims on the Estate, will be pleased to furnish him with their respective Accounts properly authenticated.

(Signed) WALTER NICHOL,
Administrator to the Estate of the Late ROBERT NICHOL, ESQUIRE.

Niagara, 29th May, 1824.

THE YORK ALMANACK,

AND

ROYAL CALENDAR

OF

UPPER-CANADA,

For the Year 1824.

Much Enlarged, and Improved from the Edition of last Year.

A FEW Copies of this Work being left on hand may now be had at half the usual Price, on application at the U. C. Gazette Office, York.

August 26th. 1824. 1-1.

THE Canadian Annual Register.

UNDER THE PATRONAGE OF HIS EXCELLENCY,

SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

To whom the Work is Dedicated by Permission.

AS the Projector and Editor of this Great National Work is confident of its ultimate success, if but a moderate share of encouragement is given to its outset,—he takes this opportunity of requesting those Agents of this Paper who have received the names of any Subscribers to the Work to transmit them, together with their address, without delay, to the U. C. Gazette Office, in order that they may be added to those already received in the larger Prospectus about to be issued.

The names and residences of the earliest patrons of this Great Undertaking, will be published, alphabetically arranged, in the first volume of the work, as a perpetual record of their liberality, public spirit, and sound patriotism.

It is again repeated, that no money will be demanded, until the work, which will not exceed the price of the meanest newspaper, is delivered.

A New Type is ordered from Great Britain expressly for this work.

U. C Gazette Office, November 20, 1823.

VALUABLE LAND IN OTONIBEE,

FOR SALE ON A CREDIT OF YEARS.

ONE of the most valuable Lots in the beautiful Township of OTONIBEE, on the Rice Lake, consisting of two Hundred Acres, being Lot No. 10, in the Ninth Con. The quality of the Land is first rate, (Maple, Beech, Bass, Elm, and Oak.) It has a Log House, and some small improvements upon it, and is not quite a mile distant from the Rice Lake, and from the Town Plot.—It has also the advantage of being well watered by a Creek that never fails

Price, two dollars per Acre; and terms of payment, One Eighth at the time of concluding the bargain, and Seven Years Credit, by annual instalments, with interest for the remainder, if desired —Inquire at the Gazette Office.

TOWN LOTS IN PORT HOPE.

SEVERAL valuable building Lots, in the flourishing village of PORT HOPE, are for Sale, by private Contract, on the most liberal Terms, and on a credit of several Years, provided the first instalment be paid down. Either Produce or Manual Labour will be received, if desired, in Payment —For further particulars apply at the U. C. Gazette Office, York, or to Messrs. C. & J. Stowe, Merchants,—Port Hope.

No. 40 —t f.

SADDLE, AND HARNESS MANUFACTORY,

MESSRS BALL AND GIBBONS beg leave respectfully to inform the Inhabitants of York and its Vicinity, that they carry on the Business of Saddle and Harness-Making, in all its branches, next door to Mr. Patterson's, Merchant, in the Market Square, York;—and they hope, by strict attention to the orders, with which they may be favoured, to merit a share of the Public Patronage.

York, Oct 21st, 1824 No. 44.—6w.

NOTICE.

THE Plan and Estimate of a STEAM BOAT, (to be Built by Mr. Amous S. Rosekrs) about One Hundred Tons Burthen, intended to Ply between this Port and Niagara, may be seen at this Office — Her Engine is intended to be of Twenty Five Horse Power. The whole Cost is estimated at Two Thousand Pounds, and Five Hundred and Five Pounds Currency. She is to be Built by Stock, made up of Shares, of Twenty Five Pounds each. A few Shares are still wanting. Subscriptions for which will be received at this Office, and at the Office of the Niagara Gleaner, where Estimates and Conditions will be exhibited to those who wish to become Stockholders.

Gazette Office, York,
August 26th, 1824. } No. 35.—t. f.

FOR SALE.

LOT No. Two, in the First Concession of the Township of York, with the Broken Front, containing about Two Hundred and Forty Acres of Land.

Application to be made to

J. B. MACAULAY

York, 12th June, 1824. 25.—t. f.

NOTICE.

WANTED, for Fourteen Years, or not less than Ten, a Loan of TWO THOUSAND POUNDS, Halifax Currency, for the building of a PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH of ENGLAND, in the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada.

The Subscriber is authorized to offer Efficient Legal Securities for the Repayment of the Loan, at the end of the period, and for the Annual Payment of the Interes accumulating thereon, at Six per Cent. per annum.

(By Order of the Committee.)

GEORGE O'KILL STUART,
Secretary, pro tem.

19—tf.

NOTICE.

FOR SALE, by private Contracts, the House and Lot lately occupied by Mr. O'Sullivan, Saddler, King's-Street, in the Town of York, the Lot is 26 feet fronting King's-Street, by 112 feet deep.

Also.—A Lot adjoining the above on the West side, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—A Lot adjoining Mr. Duggan's, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—Three Lots on Stuarts Land, each 40, by 60 feet.

Should the above Property and Lots not be sold by Private Contract, the five last described Lots will be sold at Public Sale, on the first day of July ensuing.

Application for Terms of Sale, to be made to

ALEXANDER WOOD, ESQ.

York, 17th March, 1824. t. f.

NOTICE.

VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE.

VIZ:—

In the Township of Vaughan.

Lots No. 22, 23. 24, in the 7th Con. and Broken Lot No. 5, in the 10th Concession. } 620 Acre

Township of York

Lot No. 13, 5th Concession, and Broken Front West of Yonge Street on the Humber, West half of No. 15, in 2d Con. West of Yonge St. } 380 Acres.

Township of Perey

Lot No. 20, in 3d Concession. } 400 Acres.

Lot No. 21, in 4th Ditto.

For particulars apply to Guy C. Wood, Esq. Cornwall, or the Subscriber in York.

R. G. ANDERSON.

19th July, 1824. 30—tf.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the County of Prince Edward, in the Midland District, intend Petitioning the Legislature, at the next Session thereof, to have the said County sett off, and made into a separate Distric from the said Midland District, and to be called the District of Maitland. No. 24—6ms.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Inhabitants of the Township of Townsend intend Petitioning both Houses of the Provincial Legislature at its next Session, to pass a Law, Establishing a Line Surveyed in the year 1823, between the 12th and 13th Cons. of the said Township.

Townsend, 20th May, 1824. } No. 21—1 m. t. d.

VALUABLE LANDED PROPERTY FOR SALE.

TWENTY-SEVEN TOWN LOTS, eligibly situated in the Village of Cobourg, in Hamilton, Upper Canada, on one of which, a Store and Dwelling House are erected.

Two Neat Small FARMS, contiguous to the above Village, containing, one, about Twenty-eight Acres, the other, about Fifty Acres, with a House and other Buildings on each of them.—A Plan of the above may be seen on application to Mr. J. G. Bethune, Cobourg, (who will shew the Premises,) or to the Subscriber.

Two TOWN LOTS in Picardville, adjoining to the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada, with Houses and other Buildings thereon, being Lots No. 21 and 22.

200 Acres of Land being No. 1, 8th Con. of Murray.

200 do do being No. 4, 4th do of Hungerford.

200 do do being No. 1, 8th do of Winchester.

200 do do being No. 23, 4th do of Mountain.

200 do do being the West halves of No. 31 and 32 in the 2d Concession of Hawkesbury.

Liberal Terms of Payment will be granted.

For particulars apply to

FRS. ANT. LAROQUE.

N. B. The above mentioned Town Lots in the flourishing Village of Cobourg, and the two adjoining Farms, will be disposed of by Public Sale, in the said Village on the 24th May next.

F. A. L. R.

Montreal, 15th March, 1824. t. f.

TERMS

OF THE U. C. GAZETTE AND WEEKLY REGISTER.

Four Dollars per annum (Postage included) payable half year ly in advance. Three months notice is required previous to the discontinuance of any Subscription.

Price of Advertising,

Six lines and under, two shillings and six pence, and seven...ce halfpenny, every subsequent insertion.

Six to ten lines, five shillings, and one shilling and the eepence subsequently.

All exceeding ten lines, four pence per line for the first insertion, and one penny subsequently.—Rule and Figure work charged Double.—A discount of 25 per cent. allowed to those who advertise by the year.—Advertisements cannot be recieved after 1 o'clock on the Wednesday afternoon immediately preceding the day of Publication.—Advertisements unaccompanied with positive directions as to the exact number of insertions to be given them, will be continued until expressly forbidden.—or until the day of Sale (if alluding to Sales) and charged accordingly.

☞ Advertisements from the Country must be post paid, with the price of insertion; or, a reference in Town who will pay when demanded, or discontinued.

☞ Any Agent obtaining 3 Subscribers has a paper for himself at half price;—if he obtains 6, he has his own paper gratis;—and, for as many as he obtains above 6, he will receive, besides his own paper, a Commission of 5 per cent. upon the whole amount.

WEEKLY REGISTER.

Vol. III. Our endeavor will be to "stamp the very body of the time—its form and pressure"—we shall extenuate nothing, nor shall we set down aught in malice. No. 48.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 25th, 1824.

Editorial Commentary.

As our advertisements extend beyond the fifth page, we this week present our country friends with a supplement, according to our former custom on like occasions, not wishing to deprive them of their usual quantum of political or literary information.

It is with much pleasure we announce the following notice, which came too late for insertion in its proper place.

"The first Subscription Assembly, for the season, will be given at Thompson's Hotel on St. Andrew's Evening, Tuesday the 30th Inst.

Tickets to be drawn at 7 o'clock—Dancing to commence at half past 7.

Subscriptions will be received by J. Radenhurst, Esq. Treasurer.

York, Nov 18th, 1824. } J. B. Robinson, J. B. McAulay, John Radenhurst, Esquires } Managers.

A confirmation of the news of a decisive victory having been gained in Peru, by Bolivar over Canterac, has arrived, via Baltimore.—The latter General is said to have been killed and his army completely routed; Bolivar lost 6,000 men in killed and wounded; his entire army being 15,000. He has possession of Lima and Callao.—When the express came away he was driving all before him.

If general rumour is to be credited the Greeks are every where successful. It is said that the brave Canaris had fulfilled the oath which he took previous to his departure from Hydra, and had blown up the Admiral's vessel with the Captain Pacha on board. It is added that Canaris perished in the attempt. Very strange news were in circulation at Belgrade, early in October, which asserted that the Greek Patriarch and all the Synod had been hanged; that the Sultan had been arrested in the streets of Constantinople by the Janissaries, who had accompanied him to the Seraglio with the most violent menaces; in short, that the ferment was increasing every hour. Every thing seems to progousticate the speedy downfall of the Musselman Power in Europe.

Charles X —the new monarch of France, has made himself very popular amongst the liberals by abolishing the censorship of the Press.

A ship canal from Portsmouth to London is in agitation!—

There has been found in Greece, in digging in the ruins of a temple dedicated to Saturn, a great number of M. S. S. that date from very remote periods.

X. Y. Z. shall have a place in our next Register for his address "To a Wife."

We stop the press to add the following rumour of important news from our East Indian possessions.

Philadelphia, Nov. 9.

The supercargo of the ship Factor, 107 days from Calcutta, has arrived in Philadelphia. He brings the following information. The Birmese war was still raging with no prospect of its early termination The British army had been drawn from Chittagong, for the purpose of a general junction of forces in Rangoon, which they succeeded in capturing Rangoon is the principal port of the Birman empire, has from 30 to 40,000 inhabitants, and contains some Christian missions; among them, one of the American Baptist Society The Birmese, taking advantage of the withdrawal of the British force, had approached Chittagong with an army of upwards of 50 000 men, but hearing of the fall of Ragoon, retired towards Ava. The British army rescued many of the missionaries who had been ordered to execution by the Birmese commanders. The publication of the official accounts of the war had been suspended at Calcutta.

SELECTIONS FROM BRITISH AND FOREIGN JOURNALS.

London, Sept. 27.

The King continues at Windsor, amusing himself daily with riding in the Park, or excursions to Virginia Water, where his Majesty and suite frequently remain two or three hours, engaged in fishing.

The members of the high nobles of Hanover have been officially informed, that the advanced season will not permit King George IV. to visit his German dominions this year, but that his Majesty intends to make this journey at the beginning of the summer in 1825.

His Majesty has lately sent a number of very choice plants from Kew Gardens to St Petersburgh, as a present to the Emperor of Russia.

Cartwright the Reformist.—Major Cartwright, died in England on the 23d of October, in the 84th year of his age.

Sadler, the Æronaut.—Mr. Sadler, the æronaut, who ascended from Bolton, on the 30th September, had been thrown from the car, by coming in contact with a chimney, and fell to the ground from a considerable height, after hanging some time by a rope. Letters had been received in Liverpool, announcing that he expired the following morning.

American Loyalists.—The London Gazette states that the payment and allowances to the American loyalists will be resumed on the 13th of October.

Extensive Forgery.—A Mr. Fountleroy, the acting partner in the house of Marsh & Co has been detected in extensive plans of forgery which he has carried on for 16 years.

London, Sept. 26.

Yesterday morning pursuant to notice, the first meeting of the creditors of Messrs. Marsh, Stracy, Fountleroy & Co. took place, when it was learnt with great satisfaction, that to meet the existing claims of £460.000, Messrs Marsh & Co. had assets in cash and securities, to the amount of more than £530,000.—This is exclusive of interest of money due to the house, which, as it could not be correctly calculated, was not made an item in the assets. The whole leaves a balance of £82,000 to meet claims not included in the amount debitted.

The three bankrupts, Messrs. Marsh, Stracy and Graham, surrendered in the usual manner under the commission and received the form of protection generally given to bankrupts on their surrender. During the day they conversed familiarly with their creditors, and seemed anxious to give every explanation. They were remarkably well received, and treated with much respect and politeness.

English travellers in Africa.—It is probable that we shall receive some new and interesting details from the English travellers in the centre of Africa A trunk was lately sent from Tripoli, in Barbary, full of manuscripts and papers, which is not to be opened till it arrives in London. Dr. Oudney, after reaching Soudan, died from the climate, and Mr. Toole also died of a fever at Kouka, in the kingdom of Bornou Major Denham and Mr Tyrwhitt were both there last May, while Lieutenant Chapperton was proceeding alone through Sedan, beyond the Nile of the Negroes. These details are contained in a letter written by M. Grasserg de Hemse, Consul-General of Sweden and Norway, and Correspondent of the French Institute. His letter is dated Tripoli in the West, August 20, 1824.—French Paper.

General Mina.—General Mina is completely recovered from the indisposition with which he was afflicted when he arrived in this country He has had the advantage during that time of the skill and attentions of Sir Astley Cooper and Dr Gaitskell who have both, in the...onest manner, refused to accept any remuneration.

Gas-wheel carriages!—A new Company, upon a large scale, has just been formed in the City for the purpose of applying Mr. Brown's Gas Engine to the propelling of wheel carriages. The capital is 200,000l in shares of 10l. each, of which ten per cent is to be deposited in advance, and no more will be required until the projecters shall have driven a carriage from London to York and back again, at the rate of ten miles an hour. All the shares are already subscribed for, and they expect to be enabled to start their first carriage in about two months from this date.—We have always looked upon Mr Brown's invention as the first discovery of the age in which we live, and we have not the slightest doubt of the success of the experiment as the power applied is so portable, that a man of ordinary strength might carry an engine of two horse power on his back; and the quantity of power, therefore, to give velocity, need only be limited by the necessity of studying the safety of the passengers and the public at large If, therefore, it is found that a carriage can travel, without danger, at the rate of twenty miles an hour, the necessary power can be applied quite as easily as if it was only required to propel it at the rate of ten.—British Press.

Owen the Philanthrophist.—The Glasgow Journal has the following paragraph respecting Mr. Owen, who is among the passengers in the New York.

"Mr. Owen set off from Derby to embark for the U. States, for the express purpose of treating for the purchase of Rapp's celebrated settlement of Harmony, including all the landed property and buildings upon it — The property contains more than 20,000 acres, 3000 of which are already under cultivation.—About 1000 acres more of rich meadow land on the banks of the Wabash. His object is to erect communities upon it similar to the plan to be put in execution at Motherwell. The colony is situated upon the southern extremity of the State of the Illinois."

Glasgow, Sept. 27.—There has been pretty hard frost the two last nights, and this morning, we understand, the whole of the Argyllshire hills are covered with snow.

Campbell, the Poet.—Campbell, the poet, has written a Poem, which is greatly appreciated in the higher literary circles. It is entitled Reul-mor (as a female name in Gælic it signifies, "Beautiful Star.") It is of considerable length, and will appear in a day or two.

Gourlay.—Mr. Gourlay is still in the house of Correct for the assault upon Mr. Brougham, he has sent a letter to the visiting magistrates, complaining of the bad quality of the bread served to the prison, and that his health is injured thereby.

Beautiful Green Marble!—A quarry of most beautiful green marble has been within the last six months discovered in the county of Galway, Ireland. Some of the most scientific men in England, to whom specimens have been shown, with merely the Galway polish upon them, designate the marble as "precious serpentine," more beautiful in shade and colour to the much admired "Verd Antico."

Governor of New York.—Dewitt Clinton has been elected Governor, and James Tallmadge Lieutenant Governor of the State of New York.

Cowes, Sept. 18.

The Royal Yacht Club!—The squadron of the Royal Yacht Club, under Commodore Lord Yarborough, are this day returned. The squadron sailed on Sunday, the 29th ult. about one o'clock, with a fine breeze. In the evening, a thick fog coming on, the Commodore made the fog signal to anchor, and the squadron lay all night off Limington. On Monday they sailed with light winds, but an unusually thick fog prevented them from making the French coast till the next morning, when, on the fog clearing, the Commodore and the rest of the yachts were within two miles of Cherbourg. On entering Cherbourg, Lord Yarborough made the signal "Anchor as convenient." On anchoring, his Lordship sent ashore a list of the yachts, with the information to the French Admiral that it was the squadron of the Royal Yacht Club, merely on pleasure, wishing to visit that port, and to inform him that the Club were anxious to pay their respects to him by firing a salute. On the return of the Gentleman, the answer from the Naval and Military Officers in command, with a politeness characteristic of their nation, signified their ready acquiescence.

At half-past one o'clock Lord Yarborough made the signal—"Prepare to salute—seventeen guns," which was returned from the fort, with fifteen guns Lord Yarborough then landed, and called on the Admiral, and also paid his respects to the General, the Mayor, and other Authorities, and received the greatest civilities. The Club spent the rest of the day on shore, mixing with the Officers and gentlemen, and received the greatest kindness and attention from all the inhabitants. On the succeeding day the Governor, General, and French Officers waited on the Commodore and members of the squadron, on board their yachts, who received them with all due respect and hospitality, in return for the handsome reception given them on shore. At two o'clock a review took place on shore.

After staying at Cherbourg three days, during which the yachts were visited by all the inhabitants of the port and its vicinity, who expressed great delight at the size and elegance of the vessels, and the hospitable urbanity of their owners, the Commodore made signal to weigh, and the squadron having reached the outer roadstead, another signal was hoisted for Guernsey, where they arrived next morning, at six, and remained three days. It coming on to blow a gale of wind, the squdron was obliged to remain at anchor instead of weighing for Jersey, and as soon as it moderated, sailed for England The following yachts composed the squadron on this occasion:—

Falcon, Commodore Lord Yarborough
Louisa, Earl of Craven.
Swallow, Duke of Norfolk.
Mary, Viscount Deerhurst.
Emma, Sir William Curtis.
Ruby, Sir George Leeds, Bart.
Frisk, the Hon. William Hare.
Jack-o'-Lantern, T. A. Smith, Esq.
Sabrina, James Maxse, Esq.
Arrow, Joseph Weld, Esq.
Unicorn, Henry Perkins, Esq.
Eros, Thomas Allen, Esq.
Giulia, C. Talbot, Esq.
Jane, Captain Wyndham, R. N.
Cygnet, Joseph Reynolds, Esq.
Admiral Cornwallis, Captain Symonds, R. N.
Nautilus, W. H. Saunders, Esq.
Roxabelle, Frederick Pare, Esq.
Hind, Capt. Herringham, R. N.

The national importance of the Royal Yacht Club is increasing daily with its growth; and in addition to the good effects resulting from the promotion of nautical science and the employment of so many seamen, it will be obvious that a visit like this, productive as it is of cordiality and an interchange of civilities between the subjects of kingdoms now in a state of amity, and cherishing the friendly spirit already manifested by the French Government, in allowing the yachts of the Club to enter their ports free of harbour dues, cannot fail to tend most beneficially to the interests of both countries.

Presence of Mind.—After receiving his rents, Lord C was in the habit of retiring with his steward to his study, and there, after settling his accounts, of depositing the money in his strong box till the next day, when the steward was sent with it to the bank. This man had lived with this Lord's father, and was beloved by the family, that they placed implicit confidence in his integ rity and worth. For some time his Lordship had, upon inspecting the Banker's book, and upon reference to his private account, found that the sum they credited him was always short of that he sent. This being continued, led to severe investigations, but no result that came out satisfied him how the deficiency could happen. Some of his servants came under his displeasure, and they were at various periods dismissed.

On one particular rent day he placed the money in a different room, still having for his confident the old steward, who, of course, joined with his lord in regretting his late losses. On the same night, the house maid went to this room to see that the shutters were safe; and, recollecting that she had to clean it out very early, she thought it not worth while to go to bed, but determined to lay herself down and sleep on the sofa.—She did so, and put out the candle.

When half asleep she was awaked by a noise at the door, and she was just going to start up and ring the bell,—thinking it was thieves, when it slowly opened, and in walked the old steward. He looked cautiously round and hesitated, but, seeing no object, went to the escritoire where his lord had locked his rents up—after opening the lock, took out what he pleased, and then re-locking the drawer, was going out, when, the reflection of the candle upon the servant's clothes caught his eye! He started, but—she might be asleep, and his transgression not witnessed.

To be assured of this, he went to the sofa, and flashed the candle back and forwards before her eyes.—The girl lay still. He put his hand into his pocket, drew out a clasp knife, and opened it. He flashed it before her eyes.—The girl lay still.—He then put it to her throat—drew it across and across it—till she could feel the edge almost cut her. She was now aware that silence could alone save her life, for did she move, he would of course murder her. She had presence of mind to lay still as death. Satisfied after this terrible trial that she must be fast asleep, he closed the knife, and walked out of the room.

The frighted girl waited till she heard his footsteps faint away, and then she rushed up to the chamber of her lord, and awakening him, she detailed the whole of the scene, begging his Lordship to satisfy himself of the truth. She had no sooner told her story than she fainted. Lord C. hardly credited her, but he arose, leaving Lady C. to take care of the girl, and, after raising up his valet and other servants, proceeded to search for the steward.

His apartments being in a different wing of the house they looked all about, and then cautiously made their way to his room. One of the men climbed up to the window, and saw the old man counting money. He descended and told this, and then they rushed into the room, and before the villain could hide his prize, they had him a prisoner. His Lordship identified the bank notes found upon him, and he was, after a severe examination, sent to prison.

Afraid of being executed, and dreading to face his injured Lord and various other gentlemen who had placed confidence in him he put an end to his life by cutting his own throat, not before he left a letter detailing the sums he had purloined and where his master could find them. Justice being frustrated by his not being made an example of, his Lordship was not sorry to be spared accusing his old and hitherto supposed faithful servant, and the whole was hushed up as much as possible.

We return to the poor girl. After a great deal of care, she recovered so as again to repeat before the steward her evidence, but when she came to that part where she felt the knife touch her throat, the horror of the circumstance threw her into convulsions and she went mad.—News of Literature and Fashion.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

FRANCE.

PARIS, Sept 25.

The funeral of his late Majesty took place on Thursday. The road by which the procession was to pass, and particularly the Faubourg St Denis, was thronged by an unexpected multitude, and notwithstanding the immense concourse, and the absence of troops to skirt the route, the greatest order prevailed. The troops wore crape on the arm, the drums were muffled and the instruments of music ornamented with the symbols of mourning. The procession set out with the sound of cannon, and the bells of all the churches pealed the funeral knell. The carriages occupied by the great officers were covered with black cloth. At the doors and on the hammer-cloths were suspended the arms of France and Navarre, richly emblazoned. The housings of the horses were black, adorned with fleurs de lis in gold, and tears in silver. The carriage occupied by the Dauphin, the Duke of Orleans, and the Duke of Bourbon, was covered with black cloth; the housings of the horses were of black cloth, with silver fringe, and magnificent plumes. The funeral car was remarkably rich. The upper part formed a canopy, surmounted by the Crown of France, supported by four seated genii each holding an inverted flambeau. The canopy was adorned with velvet, enriched with fleurs des lis in gold, and supported by four angels bearing plain brass [illegible]. The coffin was covered with a rich pall, ornamented with a silver cross. At the head was the Crown of France, and at the feet the sceptre and hand of justice. The number of troops was about 11,000 men. The rain, which threatened to fall during the procession, held off till after its arrival at St. Denis. Upon reaching that ancient burial-place of the Kings of France, the Royal remains were presented by the Grand Almoner to the Dean of the royal Chapter, preceded by the Canons and Clergy. The Royal coffin was temporarily placed under a canopy erected in the midst of the choir, ornamented with the Royal mantle of cloth of gold, and surmounted by the crown covered with crape. In advance of the coffin were the sceptre, the hand of justice, and the sword, and it was surrounded by two Gardes de la Manche, five Heralds at Arms, and four of the King's Body Guards. The body was followed by Prince Talleyrand, Grand Chamberlain; the Duke d'Avray, Captain of the Guards; the Duke d'Aumont, and the Duke de Blacas, Chief Gentlemen of the Chamber, and the Chief Gentlemen of Honor near the King. Next came the Dauphin, the Duke of Orleans, and the Duke of Bourbon, in deep mourning, and wearing long mantles. At the reception of the remains the usual prayers were recited. After the magnificat the body was conveyed into the Chapel of Saint Louis, which has been converted into a chapelle ardente, and where it will remain for thirty days, before it is deposited in the vault of Bourbons. In the procession it was remarked that the clergy with flambeaus, as announced in the programme, did not attend.

It is remarked, that this is the third time in the history of France that three brothers have successively ascended the throne. In the fourteenth century three sons of Philip le-Bel reigned successively, under the names of Louis 10th, Philip 5th, and Charles 4th. In the sixteenth century the three sons of Henry II. also bore the crown in turn. They were Francis the 2d, Charles 9th, and Henry 3d.

THE FRENCH IN SPAIN.

The following proclamations are said to be secretly, but extensively, circulated in Spain. We have received printed copies of them from Gibraltar, and have given a literal version of one of them. It is proper to state, however, that they are without date or signature. If the sentiments they express become general, the French occupation of Spain will soon be no sinecure:—

"TO THE SPANIARDS.

"A year of mournful experience is sufficient to make known to us the true object which brought the French into Spain. Without having offended them, they invaded our soil under the pretext of restoring tranquility to the nation and liberty to the King. We were tranquil and happy, till they sowed the seeds of discord with their corrupting gold and their fallacious and malicious offers. The king was always free when among Spaniards and never experienced imprisonment till it was imposed upon him by the French. Those Frenchmen who, on the memorable day of May 2d, 1808, dragged him off from Madrid, bedewing the streets with the blood and tears of its inhabitants, are the very same who in September, 1823, drew him out of Cadiz by deceit and perfidy, after having bombared its walls, and covered whole provinces of this wretched nation with sorrow and misery. What liberty is that which Ferdinand has since enjoyed? What tranquility do the Spaniards enjoy? You Spaniards see and lament it. You see your monarch continually surrounded by Frenchmen—guarded by Frenchmen even in the interior of his palace—escorted by Frenchmen in his rides—and deprived of every other attendance, or guardianship, without even the permission of being spoken to by his oldest servants. Since that time, you see thousands and thousands of families, the most illustrious and venerated, proscribed and banished, or suffering the horrors of a dungeon, without declaration of the cause of their banishment.

"Your fortresses have been from that time in the power of the eternal enemies of Spain—your armies are disbanded, and the brave men who composed them are pining in hunger and nakedness; your navy is ruined; your artillery is pillaged and carried off to France; your public prosperity is annihilated in all its branches, and you yourselves are borne down with contributions to pamper your oppressors, and loaded with debts which will avail as little as the fertile soil watered with the sweat of your brow to secure a support of which your enemies deprive you. From that time you have seen your external commerce ruined by corsairs, whom the whole absolute power of the monarchy and the vaunted protection of the French could not drive from your coasts.—You see your internal trade attacked with impunity on the highways, loaded with shackles and imposts which raise the prices of articles of the first necessity to double their value, at the same time that you see all your money carried off to France by means of the robberies and impositions which the Army of Occupation protects; while at the same time America, now independent, deprives us of our silver, prohibits our commerce, refuses all communications with us, and carries on a war against us even on our coats, in consequence of the changed situation into which we have fallen. To what must we at last come, if we endure for a longer term such tyranny and oppression? It excites our horror to think of our situation; but it is necessary to know the evil in order to apply the remedy. The French—the French—the eternal enemies of the Spanish name—are the agents who move this machine of suffering, till they overwhelm us with such despair as to induce us to except of their sway as the only relief from calamity. The throne of Ferdinand is not—no! it is not—the object of their care, but of their conquest. Those who kept him for six years a prisoner at Valencay are the sentinels who now guard him; and those who endeavoured to force upon us Joseph Buonaparte as a king are now pointing out to us the Duke of Angouleme. Ye blinded and misled Spaniards! who perhaps, hoped for good where you have met with calamity, compare with the present epoch the times which have just passed, and which it is wished to blot from your memory. You then saw the throne of your Kings shine with imposing splendour and majesty—Your commerce, free and protected, spread its flag on all seas—the precious metals attracted to the Peninsula circulated and multiplied within them—the productions of our country were exported with security to foreign nations—entire provinces of America were reconciled to us and others offered us many millions in exchange for peace; many families coming from other countries, and bringing us their property and industry, increased our population. The arts advanced, all branches of the public prosperity were encouraged, and all announced a happy futurity, in which the Spanish name would become respected and feared among the nations. For the equitable order of the contributions there have now been substituted new and exorbitant imposts, and the old arbitary system of passports, police exactions, licences to fish, to hunt: and to use arms, which for personal defence had always been permitted, is renewed. For the personal security which you enjoyed, have been substituted the most atrocious oppression, exile, and imprisonments; for your domestic tranquility, that discord which fanaticism introduces into the bosom of families. In fine, to prosperity has succeeded misery, to knowledge ignorance, to justice tyranny, to virtue crimes, to reason force, and to liberty slavery. Behold the sad picture which your disbanded army presents! forced to rob or to beg their bread, while the nation is delivered over, miserable and defenceless, to its greatest enemies, who make use of the King's name as a pretext for their op-

(see Supplement)

Supplement to the U. C. Gazette.

VOL. III. THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 25th, 1824. No. 48.

pressions, and employ his absolute will that we may be placed under the absolute sway of Frenchmen.

"Spaniards awake! open your eyes, consult your honour,—your independence,—your true interests.—The French are your sole oppressors: they alone have prepared for you a new King. Those who, from 1808 to 1814, kept your King a captive, sacked your towns, and set fire to your houses, profaned your temples, and covered your land with desolation—those are the same who now endeavour to keep you in subjection by deceitful trickeries. They pretend to respect the religion which they detest—they pretend to respect the King, while they are preparing his death. In proportion as they acquire the mastery over Spain, they endeavour to rob it, that they may return to France with their booty. Already has their Government compelled the pretended authorities of Madrid to recognize a debt of 800 millions, as the expences of an unjust invasion; and it will soon demand more for the labour of oppressing and plundering us. In proof of the infamous intentions of the French behold the Afrancesados, who, in the time of Napoleon, were traitors to their country, and declared enemies of religion and the King, occupying now the chief posts in the state; behold them in the councils, in the ministry, in the tribunals, in the police, to avenge themselves now on the loyalty and patriotism which then frustrated their designs. Do you then wish to live miserable and oppressed, and to endure the ignominious dominion of the French? Will your abasement and your infamy reach this point? Remember what you have been—blush for what you are—and break the infamous yoke of those who are unable to contend with you when you put forth your strength.

"To arms! people of Spain, to arms! Inundate the plains with your guerillas—pursue to death your oppressors,—bedew with their blood your fields, rendered barren by their oppression. Avenge yourselves for the scarcity which they have occasioned, by fattening with their carcasses the soil which Heaven has parched to chastise your submission to the enemies of the alter! The French and the Afrancesados have drawn down upon us the wrath of God. Let us make pence with God and our country, by exterminating the enemies of both. God and justice are on our side; let not courage be wanting, and victory will be easy. Our triumph is in our resolution. War, war, war, till we obtain peace by recovering our independence—our liberty—our honour."

The address to the Spanish military is of similar import, and filled with similar incentives to rise against the French oppressors of their country. It would therefore be superfluous to transcribe it. The following is its first paragraph:—"Spanish Soldiers!—Return to arms and to honour. You have been deceived by false promises. The wretches who dared not to fight you, stained your honour by calling your credulity cowardice. You were credulous—you were not cowards.—Traitors deceived you with false promises of peace and the public good, and, confiding in the capitulation and the faith of Frenchmen, you surrendered the field without a combat. Perjured Generals sold you for the vile price which tyrants ever offer, but never pay. Timid mians, who desire to imitate the Ipsariots, have destroyed every thing on the coast, and have now retreated to the mountains, so that it will require great sacrifices to conquer the island. News of great importance is expected every hour. From Negropont it is said 6,000 Turks advanced to Athens, but they found the Acropolis occupied by the Greeks. The Seraskier appears as unfortunate as his predecessors, for almost all his army has perished in the straits of Thermopylæ. The efforts made by the Ottoman Porte this year will not produce the expected result—that of reducing the insurgents to entire submission. The internal state of the empire is as much a subject of uneasiness to the Porte as the continuation of the contest with the Greeks. The Sultan seems threatened with the greatest danger. The Janissaries murmured, were discontented, and demanded the removal of their Aga. It was necessary to comply instantly with their demand. On the 20th, placards were fixed up, threatening the Sultan with death, and demanding that his eldest son should be shewn to the people, and should accompany him to the Mosque. The youth is eleven years of age. The Janissaries say that the young Prince is in a good state of health, but the Sultan says he is troubled with epilepsy, and as they appeared convinced, after having seen him, they were the authors of these placards. As the Sultan acquiesced in the Janissaries demand, this proves that he does not believe himself in safety. At the same time the artizans of the dock-yard revolted, and also required that their Aga should be dismissed, which was granted them. When to these facts is added a prediction spread abroad by design to announce that this year is to decide the fate of the Ottoman Government, you will easily judge of the state of uneasiness in this capital. Fortunately the relations of the Divan with foreign powers are in the best state. Lord Strangford has received from St. Peteraburg an assurance that his conduct has been quite satisfactory. M. Ottenfels continues to exert himself to obtain the evacuation of the principalities; and apparently he has succeeded, though the result is not in accordance with the Russian Ultimatum.

ALGIERS.

The Algerines are said to have a fleet at sea, capturing all merchant vessels they fall in with. The Dey stated to Captain Spencer, in the early part of the differences, that it was of no consequence if the British squadron did bombard the town as the inhabitants had gone into camps, and the Jews are under tribute to repair all damages that might be done, being permitted to trade there upon these terms alone.

SOUTH AMERICA.

(From the N. Y. Spectator.)

"PANAMA, Sept. 7.

"I send you herewith a despatch from the army of Peru. The campaign is opened gloriously by Bolivar, and you may rest assured that he will wind it up equally so. The first Brigade of the division under General Valero is arrived here—the second is expected in a few days. This reinforcement will enable the Liberator to consummate his work in Peru. We expect composed of European Spaniards, admirably mounted and long inured to war; made to the climate, accustomed to, and well acquainted with all the difficulties of the country; their frequent marches between Upper and Lower Peru, their numerous advances and retreats, had informed them of every pass, and they were thus enabled successfully to forage for, and to cover the movements of the royal infantry. Deprived of this important army, it is easy to see that Canterac loses a shield which he cannot recover—such a loss leaves the remnant of his army exposed to certain destruction, as soon as it comes in contact with any thing near an equal force commanded by Bolivar, whose genius, skill, and intrepidity, seem on every occasion in the field to make fully up for a deficiency of numbers. In this victory he obtained a great advantage, not merely in destroying so important a portion of his enemy, but in capturing three hundred horse, finely trained and equipped for service. This operates doubly against Canterac, and the consequence may be expected to be fatal to him. He may, no doubt, have made another stand, but the first general battle he fights subsequent to this loss, will in all probability, be his last in Peru. That the victory was obtained as stated in the official account published yesterday, there is no reason whatever to doubt; the possession of the field after the battle, the flight of Canterac, and the well known fact, that Bolivar, in the whole course of his military career, has never published a false or exaggerated account of a victory, are sufficient evidence of its truth; and that it was achieved by an inferior force, appears equally certain, because the amount and quality of the royal cavalry have been long matters of notoriety and boast; and it is well known that Bolivar had, or indeed could have but a small cavalry corps with him. We now look forward with more than usual confidence, to the speedy emancipation of Peru from the royal yoke of Spain, an event important to the world, and particularly so to the commercial interests of our country.

Should the force already with him not enable Bolivar to terminate the war, the reinforcements destined for the service and which have most likely joined him before this time, must accomplish the purpose.

THE SNAKE-CATCHERS OF INDIA.

The snake-catchers of India are called Conjoors, a word which has been corrupted by Europeans into Conjurors. The animal to whose instinct they are the most indebted in their calling, is the Mungoose, or Ichneumon; which conducts its conflict with the Cobra de Capello, the most venomous tribe of snakes, with astonishing dexterity. It is curious to observe, says Mr. Johnson, in his Sketches of Field Sports in India, with what dexterity these little animals conduct the fight, always attacking the tail first, and by that means disabling the enemy with the least danger to themselves; they then approach nearer and nearer, towards the head taking off a scale or two at a time; at last, they seize him behind the head and destroy him. I have reason to think that the people who exhibit the fight, in most cases, first deprive the snake of his venomous teeth, as they very unwillingly allow the Mungoose to attack a snake fresh caught. I have had a dozen fowls bitten came out satisfied him how the deficiency could happen. Some of his servants came under his displeasure, and they were at various periods dismissed.

On one particular rent day he placed the money in a different room, still having for his confident the old steward, who, of course, joined with his lord in regretting his late losses. On the same night, the house maid went to this room to see that the shutters were safe; and, recollecting that she had to clean it out very early, she thought it not worth while to go to bed, but determined to lay herself down and sleep on the sofa.—She did so, and put out the candle.

When half asleep she was awaked by a noise at the door, and she was just going to start up and ring the bell, thinking it was thieves, when it slowly opened, and in walked the old steward. He looked cautiously round and hesitated, but seeing no object, went to the escritoire where his lord had locked his rents up—after opening the lock, took out what he pleased, and then re-locking the drawer, was going out, when, the reflection of the candle on the servant's clothes caught his eye! He started, but—she might be asleep, and his transgressions not witnessed.

To be assured of this, he went to the sofa, and flashed the candle back and forwards before her eyes.—The girl lay still. He put his hand into his pocket, drew out a clasp knife, and opened it. He flashed it before her eyes.—The girl lay still.—He then put it to her throat—drew it across and across it—till she could feel the edge almost cut her. She was now aware that silence could alone save her life, for did she move, he would of course murder her. She had presence of mind to lay still as death. Satisfied after this terrible trial that she must be fast asleep, he closed the knife, and walked out of the room.

The frighted girl waited till she heard his footsteps faint away, and then she rushed up to the chamber of her lord, and awakening him, she detailed the whole of the scene, begging his Lordship to satisfy himself of the truth. She had no sooner told her story than she fainted. Lord C. hardly credited her, but he arose, leaving Lady C. to take care of the girl, and, after raising up his valet and other servants, proceeded to search for the steward.

His apartments being in a different wing of the house they looked all about, and then cautiously made their way to his room. One of the men climbed up to the window, and saw the old man counting money. He descended and told this, and then they rushed into the room, and before the villain could hide his prize, they had him a prisoner. His Lordship identified the bank notes found upon him, and he was, after a severe examination, sent to prison.

Afraid of being executed, and dreading to face his injured Lord and various other gentlemen who had placed confidence in him he put an end to his life by cutting his own throat, not before he left a letter detailing the sums he had purloined and where his master could find them. Justice being frustrated by his not being made an example of, his Lordship was not sorry to be spared accusing his old and hitherto supposed faithful servant, and the whole was hushed up as much as possible.

We return to the poor girl. After a great deal of care, she recovered so as again to repeat before the steward her evidence, but when she came to that part where she felt the knife touch her throat, the horror of the circumstance threw her into convulsions and she went mad.—News of Literature and Fashion.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

FRANCE.

PARIS, Sept 25.

The funeral of his late Majesty took place on Thursday. The road by which the procession was to pass, and particularly the Faubourg St Denis, was thronged by an unexpected multitude, and notwithstanding the immense concourse, and the absence of troops to skirt the route, the greatest order prevailed. The troops wore crape on the arm, the drums were muffled and the instruments of music ornamented with the symbols of mourning. The procession set out with the sound of cannon, and the bells of all the churches pealed the funeral knell. The carriages occupied by the great officers were covered with black cloth. At the doors and on the hammer-cloths were suspended the arms of France and Navarre, richly emblazoned. The housings of the horses were black, adorned with fleurs de lis in gold, and tears in silver. The carriage occupied by the Dauphin, the Duke of Orleans, and the Duke of Bourbon, was covered with black cloth; the housings of the horses were of black cloth, with silver fringe, and magnificent plumes. The funeral car was remarkably rich. The upper part formed a canopy, surmounted by the Crown of France, supported by four seated genii each holding an inverted flambeau. The canopy was adorned with velvet, enriched with fleurs des lis in gold, and supported by four angels bearing palm branches. The coffin was covered with a rich pall, ornamented with a silver cross. At the head was the Cross of France, and at the feet the sceptre and hand of justice. The number of troops was about 11,000 men. The rain, which threatened to fall during the procession, held off till after its arrival at St. Denis. Upon reaching that ancient burial-place of the Kings of France, the Royal remains were presented by the Grand Almoner to the Dean of the royal Chapter, preceded by the Canons and Clergy. The Royal coffin was temporarily placed under a canopy erected in the midst of the choir, ornamented with the Royal mantle of cloth of gold, and surmounted by the crown covered with crape. In advance of the coffin were the sceptre, the hand of justice, and the sword, and it was surrounded by two Gardes de la Manche, five Heralds at Arms, and four of the King's Body Guards. The body was followed by Prince Talleyrand, Grand Chamberlain; the Duke d'Avray, Captain of the Guards; the Duke d'Aumont, and the Duke de Blacas, Chief Gentlemen of the Chamber, and the Chief Gentlemen of Honor near the King. Next came the Dauphin, the Duke of Orleans, and the Duke of Bourbon, in deep mourning, and wearing long mantles. At the reception of the remains the usual prayers were recited. After the magnificat the body was conveyed into the Chapel of Saint Louis, which has been converted into a chapelle ardente, and where it will remain for thirty days, before it is deposited in the vault of Bourbons. In the procession it was remarked that the clergy with flambeaus, as announced in the programme, did not attend.

It is remarked, that this is the third time in the history of France that three brothers have successively ascended the throne. In the fourteenth century three sons of Philip le-Bel reigned successively, under the names of Louis 10th, Philip 5th, and Charles 4th. In the sixteenth century the three sons of Henry II. also bore the crown in turn. They were Francis the 2d, Charles 9th, and Henry 3d.

THE FRENCH IN SPAIN.

The following proclamations are said to be secretly, but extensively, circulated in Spain. We have received printed copies of them from Gibraltar, and have given a literal version of one of them. It is proper to state, however, that they are without date or signature. If the sentiments they express become general, the French occupation of Spain will soon be no sinecure:—

"TO THE SPANIARDS.

"A year of mournful experience is sufficient to make known to us the true object which brought the French into Spain. Without having offended them, they invaded our soil under the pretext of restoring tranquility to the nation and liberty to the King. We were tranquil and happy, till they sowed the seeds of discord with their corrupting gold and their fallacious and malicious offers. The king was always free when among Spaniards and never experienced imprisonment till it was imposed upon him by the French. Those Frenchmen who, on the memorable day of May 2d, 1808, dragged him off from Madrid, bedewing the streets with the blood and tears of its inhabitants, are the very same who in September, 1823, drew him out of Cadiz by deceit and perfidy, after having bombared its walls, and covered whole provinces of this wretched nation with sorrow and misery. What liberty is that which Ferdinand has since enjoyed? What tranquility do the Spaniards enjoy? You Spaniards see and lament it. You see your monarch continually surrounded by Frenchmen—guarded by Frenchmen—even in the interior of his palace—escorted by Frenchmen in his rides—and deprived of every other attendance, or guardianship, without even the permission of being spoken to by his oldest servants. Since that time, you see thousands and thousands of families, the most illustrious and venerated, proscribed and banished, or suffering the horrors of a dungeon, without declaration of the cause of their banishment.

"Your fortresses have been from that time in the power of the eternal enemies of Spain—your armies are disbanded, and the brave men who composed them are pining in hunger and nakedness; your navy is ruined; your artillery is pillaged and carried off to France; your public prosperity is annihilated in all its branches, and you yourselves are borne down with contributions to pamper your oppressors, and loaded with debts which will avail as little as the fertile soil watered with the sweat of your brow to secure a support of which your enemies deprive you. From that time you have seen your external commerce ruined by corsairs, whom the whole absolute power of the monarchy and the vaunted protection of the French could not drive from your coasts.—You see your internal trade attacked with impunity on the highways, loaded with shackles and imposts which raise the prices of articles of the first necessity to double their value, at the same time that you see all your money carried off to France by means of the robberies and impositions which the Army of Occupation protects; while at the same time America, now independent, deprives us of our silver, prohibits our commerce, refuses all communications with us, and carries on a war against us even on our coats, in consequence of the changed situation into which we have fallen. To what must we at last come, if we endure for a longer term such tyranny and oppression? It excites our horror to think of our situation; but it is necessary to know the evil in order to apply the remedy. The French—the French—the eternal enemies of the Spanish name—are the agents who more this machine of suffering, till they overwhelm us with such despair as to induce us to except of their sway as the only relief from calamity. The throne of Ferdinand is not—no! it is not—the object of their care, but of their conquest. Those who kept him for six years a prisoner at Valencay are the sentinels who now guard him; and those who endeavoured to force upon us Joseph Buonaparte as a king are now pointing out to us the Duke of Angouleme. Ye blinded and misled Spaniards! who perhaps, hoped for good where you have met with calamity, compare with the present epoch the times which have just passed, and which it is wished to blot from your memory. You then saw the throne of your Kings shine with imposing splendour and majesty—Your commerce, free and protected, spread its flag on all seas—the precious metals attracted to the Peninsula circulated and multiplied within them—the productions of our country were exported with security to foreign nations—entire provinces of America were reconciled to us and others offered us many millions in exchange for peace; many families coming from other countries, and bringing us their property and industry, increased our population. The arts advanced, all branches of the public prosperity were encouraged, and all announced a happy futurity, in which the Spanish name would become respected and feared among the nations. For the equitable order of the contributions there have now been substituted new and exorbitant imposts, and the old arbitary system of passports, police exactions, licences to fish, to hunt and to use arms, which for personal defence had always been permitted, is renewed. For the personal security which you enjoyed, have been substituted the most atrocious oppression, exile, and imprisonments; for your domestic tranquility, that discord which fanaticism introduces into the bosom of families. In fine, to prosperity has succeeded misery, to knowledge ignorance, to justice tyranny, to virtue crimes, to reason force, and to liberty slavery. Behold the sad picture which your disbanded army presents! forced to rob or to beg their bread, while the nation is delivered over, miserable and defenceless, to its greatest enemies, who make use of the King's name as a pretext for their op-

(see Supplement)

Supplement to the U. C. Gazette.

VOL. IX. THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 6th, 1824 No. 48.

pressions, and employ his absolute will that we may be placed under the absolute sway of Frenchmen.

"Spaniards awake! open your eyes, consult your honour,—your independence,—your true interests.—The French are your sole oppressors: they alone have prepared for you a new King. Those who, from 1808 to 1814, kept your King a captive, sacked your towns, and set fire to your houses, profaned your temples, and covered your land with desolation—those are the same who now endeavour to keep you in subjection by deceitful trickeries. They pretend to respect the religion which they detest—they pretend to respect the King, while they are preparing his death. In proportion as they acquire the mastery over Spain, they endeavour to rob it, that they may return to France with their booty. Already has their Government compelled the pretended authorities of Madrid to recognize a debt of 800 millions, as the expenses of an unjust invasion; and it will soon demand more for the labour of oppressing and plundering us. In proof of the infamous intentions of the French behold the Afrancesados, who, in the time of Napolean, were traitors to their country, and declared enemies of religion and the King, occupying now the chief posts in the state; behold them in the councils, in the ministry, in the tribunals, in the police, to avenge themselves now on the loyalty and patriotism which then frustrated their designs. Do you then wish to live miserable and oppressed, and to endure the ignominious dominion of the French? Will your abasement and your infamy reach this point? Remember what you have been—blush for what you are—and break the infamous yoke of those who are unable to contend with you when you put forth your strength.

"To arms! people of Spain, to arms! Inundate the plains with your guerillas—pursue to death your oppressors,—bedew with their blood your fields, rendered barren by their oppression. Avenge yourselves for the scarcity which they have occasioned, by fattening with their carcasses the soil which Heaven has parched to chastise your submission to the enemies of the alter! The French and the Afrancesados have drawn down upon us the wrath of God. Let us make peace with God and our country, by exterminating the enemies of both. God and justice are on our side; let not courage be wanting, and victory will be easy. Our triumph is in our resolution. War, war, war, till we obtain peace by recovering our independence—our liberty—our honour."

The address to the Spanish military is of similar import, and filled with similar incentives to rise against the French oppressors of their country. It would therefore be superfluous to transcribe it. The following is its first paragraph:—"Spanish Soldiers!—Return to arms and to honour. You have been deceived by false promises. The wretches who dared not to fight you, stained your honour by calling your credulity cowardice. You were credulous—you were not cowards.—Traitors deceived you with false promises of peace and the public good, and, confiding in the capitulation and the faith of Frenchmen, you surrendered the field without a combat. Perjured Generals sold you for the vile price which tyrants ever offer, but never pay. Timid and venal authorities involved you in confusion; and, being misled, you abandoned the defence of the cause which you held so sacred."

TURKEY.

Constantinople Aug 26.—The Captain Pacha has at length directed his course for Samos. The Greek fleet, which kept him in view all the time, has taken, it is said, twenty of his transports, and two thousand troops. It is said that he has effected a landing at Samos, but as yet there is no official news. The Samians, who desire to imitate the Ipsariots, have destroyed every thing on the coast, and have now retreated to the mountains, so that it will require great sacrifices to conquer the island. News of great importance is expected every hour. From Negropont it is said 6,000 Turks advanced to Athens, but they found the Acropolis occupied by the Greeks. The Seraskier appears as unfortunate as his predecessors, for almost all his army has perished in the straits of Thermopylæ. The efforts made by the Ottoman Porte this year will not produce the expected result—that of reducing the insurgents to entire submission. The internal state of the empire is as much a subject of uneasiness to the Porte as the continuation of the contest with the Greeks. The Sultan seems threatened with the greatest danger. The Janissaries murmered, were discontented, and demanded the removal of their Aga. It was necessary to comply instantly with their demand. On the 20th, placards were fixed up, threatening the Sultan with death, and demanding that his eldest son should be shewn to the people, and should accompany him to the Mosque. The youth is eleven years of age. The Janissaries say that the young Prince is in a good state of health, but the Sultan says he is troubled with epilepsy, and as they appeared convinced, after having seen him, they were the authors of these placards. As the Sultan acquiesced in the Janissaries demand, this proves that he does not believe himself in safety. At the same time the artizans of the dock-yard revolted, and also required that their Aga should be dismissed, which was granted them. When to these facts is added a prediction spread abroad by design to announce that this year is to decide the fate of the Ottoman Government, you will easily judge of the state of uneasiness in this capital. Fortunately the relations of the Divan with foreign powers are in the best state. Lord Strangford has received from St. Petersburg an assurance that his conduct has been quite satisfactory. M. Ottenfels continues to exert himself to obtain the evacuation of the principalities; and apparently he has succeeded, though the result is not in accordance with the Russian Ultimatum.

ALGIERS.

The Algerines are said to have a fleet at sea, capturing all merchant vessels they fall in with. The Dey stated to Captain Spencer, in the early part of the differences, that it was of no consequence if the British squadron did bombard the town as the inhabitants had gone into camps, and the Jews are under tribute to repair all damages that might be done, being permitted to trade there upon these terms alone.

SOUTH AMERICA.

(From the N. Y. Spectator.)

"PANAMA, Sept. 7.

"I send you herewith a despatch from the army of Peru. The campaign is opened gloriously by Bolivar, and you may rest assured that he will wind it up equally so. The first Brigade of the division under General Valero is arrived here—the second is expected in a few days. This reinforcement will enable the Liberator to consummate his work in Peru. We expect transports every day."

Late Victory in Peru.—The ample official details which we gave yesterday, (says the Baltimore Federal Gazette,) of Bolivar's brilliant victory in Peru, are on many grounds very satisfactory, and the event, though not immediately decisive of the fate of the royal army, is extremely important. The cavalry corps was the pride and boast of that army; it long led by Canterac in person, and frequented by them, the under part is worn smooth composed of European Spaniards, admirably mounted and long inured to war; made to the climate, accustomed to, and well acquainted with all the difficulties of the country; their frequent marches between Upper and Lower Peru, their numerous advances and retreats, had informed them of every pass, and they were thus enabled successfully to forage for, and to cover the movements of the royal infantry. Deprived of this important army, it is easy to see that Canterac loses a shield which he cannot recover—such a loss leaves the remnant of his army exposed to certain destruction, as soon as it comes in contact with any thing near an equal force commanded by Bolivar, whose genius, skill, and intrepidity, seem on every occasion in the field to make fully up for a deficiency of numbers. In this victory he obtained a great advantage, not merely in destroying so important a portion of his enemy, but in capturing three hundred horse, finely trained and equipped for service. This operates doubly against Canterac, and the consequence may be expected to be fatal to him. He may, no doubt, have made another stand, but the first general battle he fights subsequent to this loss, will in all probability, be his last in Peru. That the victory was obtained as stated in the official account published yesterday, there is no reason whatever to doubt; the possession of the field after the battle, the flight of Canterac, and the well known fact, that Bolivar, in the whole course of his military career, has never published a false or exaggerated account of a victory, are sufficient evidence of its truth; and that it was achieved by an inferior force, appears equally certain, because the amount and quality of the royal cavalry have been long matters of notoriety and boast; and it is well known that Bolivar had, or indeed could have but a small cavalry corps with him. We now look forward with more than usual confidence, to the speedy emancipation of Peru from the royal yoke of Spain, an event important to the world, and particularly so to the commercial interests of our country.

Should the force already with him not enable Bolivar to terminate the war, the reinforcements destined for the service and which have most likely joined him before this time, must accomplish the purpose.

THE SNAKE-CATCHERS OF INDIA.

The snake-catchers of India are called Cunjoors, a word which has been corrupted by Europeans into Conjurors. The animal to whose instinct they are the most indebted in their calling, is the Mungoose, or Ichneumon; which conducts its conflict with the Cobra de Capello, the most venomous tribe of snakes, with astonishing dexterity. It is curious to observe, says Mr. Johnson, in his Sketches of Field Sports in India, with what dexterity these little animals conduct the fight, always attacking the tail first, and by that means disabling the enemy with the least danger to themselves; they then approach nearer and nearer, towards the head taking off a scale or two at a time; at last, they seize him behind the head and destroy him. I have reason to think that the people who exhibit the fight, in most cases, first deprive the snake of his venomous teeth, as they very unwillingly allow the Mungoose to attack a snake fresh caught. I have had a dozen fowls bitten by the same snake; the first died in a few seconds, and so on, each in a proportionably longer time, to the twelfth, which was more than an hour dying. The method these people adopt to catch snakes is as follows:—as snakes never make holes for themselves, but inhabit those made by other animals, such as lizards, rats, mice, &c. in order to ascertain if they are occupied, by the snake passing over it, with sometimes a little sliminess; whereas, if frequented by any animal having feet, they cause a roughness in the earth. When they discover a hole frequented by a snake, they dig into it very cautiously, and if they can lay hold of its tail, they do it with the left hand, at the same instant grasping the snake with the right hand, and drawing it through with the left, with astonishing rapidity, until the finger and thumb are brought up by the head, when they are secure. I have seen two or three in a year taken in this manner while gliding fast on the ground.

REPEATED

Whenever they attempt to catch snakes, there are always more than one present, and a second person carries with him a goor goorie, which is a smoking machine, made generally of a cocoanut below, with an earthen funnel above, containing fire-balls: in this fire they have always secreted a small iron instrument about the size of a prong of a table-fork, curved into the shape of a snake's tooth, tapering from above, and whenever they are bitten, they first put on a tight ligature above the bite, then suck the part, and as soon as blood appears, they introduce this instrument red hot into the two orifices made by the teeth, and take some bazar spirits, if they can procure any, in which they infuse a small quantity of bang, (a species of wild hemp,) which mixture by the natives is called gongeah, but sometimes they use tobacco instead of bang.

As far as I could learn, these are the only remedies that they ever adopt, and according to their account, often succeed. It is a great many years since I saw Fontana on poisons; but, as well as I can recollect, he gives a drawing and description of the formation of a viper's venomous tooth; however, as few of my readers may be acquanted with its mechanism, I will attempt a short description of it. There are generally two in the upper jaw, perforated through their centre from the root to within a line or two of their point, acting as a conductor for the poison: these teeth are extremely sharp and small,—the snakes also have the power of elevating or depressing them. In a large snake they can penetrate the flesh at least a fourth of an inch, and the poison is introduced about the sixth of an inch deep into the flesh of a person bitten: the glands near the eyes, which secrete the poison, have strong muscles attached to, or rather acting on them, which muscles act at the will of the animal, forcing the poison through a cysted conductor into the hollow of the tooth, and through it into the person bitten; which clearly shows that any external application, unaccompanied with incision or burn, will have little effect in stopping the progress of the poison. The apertures made by the teeth are filled with the venom, which being glutinous, chokes them, and prevents any blood from flowing, so that the person bitten cannot often discover the exact places of their insertion.

Mr. J adds, that he has seen one kind of snake in India, of a sluggish nature, with beautiful marks on its skin resembling the eyes in a peacock's tail, which has four venomous teeth, the usual number being only two; and that he has also met with a viper with three venomous teeth on one side, and one on the other, perfect, and all surrounded at their roots with the usual cyst.

THE UNCALLED AVENGER.

(Concluded.)

Meantime the forest grows thinner, and an insulated farm-house, to which a side-road leads, appears at a moderate distance. The horse, left to itself, follows this new path; it enters through an open gate, panting and foaming it stands still; and amidst a circle of persons who crowd around with good natured surprise, the unhappy woman recovers from her stupefaction, to throw herself, with a loud scream of anguish and horror, into the arms of the nearest human being, who appears to her as a guardian angel. All leave their work—the mistress of the house the kitchen, the thresher the barn, the eldest son of the family, with his axe in his hand, the wood which he has just cleft—to assist the unfortunate woman; and, with a mixture of curiosity and pity, to learn, by a hundred inquiries, the circumstances of her singular appearance. Refreshed by what ever can be procured at the moment, the stranger gradually recovers the power of speech, and ability to give an intelligible account of the dreadful trial which she has undergone. The insensibility with which fear and distress had stecked her heart, begins to disappear; but new terrors seize her—the dry eye seeks in vain a tear—she is on the brink of boundless misery. But her narrative had also excited conflicting feelings in the bosoms of her auditors; though pity, commiseration, dismay, and abhorrence, imposed alike on all the same in voluntary silence. One only, unabled to command the overpowering emotions of his heart, advanced before [illegible] were pale with affright—his wildly rolling eyes flashed ill omened fire. "What!" he exclaimed: "three children—thy own children! the sickly innocent—the imploring boy—the infant suckling—all cast out by the mother to be devoured by the wolves! Woman, thou art unworthy to live." And at the same instant, the uplifted steel desends with resistless force on the skull of the wretched woman, who falls dead at his feet. The perpetrator then calmly wipes the blood off the murderous axe and returns to his work.

The dreadful tale speedily came to the knowledge of the magistrates, who caused, the uncalled avenger to be arrested and brought to trial. He was of course sentenced to the punishment ordained by the laws; but the sentence still wanted the sanction of the Emperor Alexander caused all the circumstances of this crime, so extraordinary in the motives in which it originated, to be reported to him in the most careful and detailed manner.—Here he thought himself called on to exercise the godlike privilege of mercy, by commuting the sentence passed on the criminal, into a condemnation to labour not very severe; he accordingly sent the young man to the fortress of Dunamunde, at the mouth of the Duna, in the Gulf of Riga, there to be confined to labour during his majesty's pleasure.

FRANCE.

HORRIBLE MURDER.

The Court of Assize at Rouen, has been occupied with the trial of a barber of that town named Veilliere, for the murder of his wife, on the 28th of April last. The principal facts as detailed in evidence, were as follow:—

On the day above mentioned, Veilliere, whose wife had been living separate from him, in consequence of the cruelty and depravity of his conduct, called at the house of a Madame Padais, where his wife happened to be, and insisted upon seeing her. He affected a calm and penitent air, and intreated his wife to be reconciled to him. This, however, she refused, but without using any irritating expressions, she endeavoured to leave the apartment, but was prevented by her husband, who still continued talking with Madame Padais. All of a sudden, and without the slightest word or look that could have intimated his intention, he drew his hands from his pockets, where he had held them since his entrance, and rushing upon his wife, seized her by the hair of the head, dragged her into a corner of the room, and stabbed her twice with a knife in the neck. At her cries, Madame Padais ran towards them, seized Veilliere, and tore him from his victim, but not until he had inflicted another wound upon her. Madame Padais and he then struggled for a long time, until they both fell, when he escaped from her grasp, leaving the skirt of his coat behind. With redoubled fury, he returned to his expiring wife, and taking the blade of the knife, for the handle had been broken off in the struggle, he plunged it into her belly, in which he made a circular incision of 4 or 5 inches in diameter. Some woman who had been present at the commencement of this horrid scene, fled away, terrified, and crying out for help. Their cries brought the other lodgers in the house to the scene, and as they were about to seize Veilliere, he gave himself several stabs with the knife, exclaiming "I wish to die with her."

Veilliere sought to establish that the crime was unpremeditated, saying, that when he endeavoured to kiss his wife, she spat in his face, and that exasperated at such treatment, he had struck at her with a knife, not knowing what he did. But this account was falsified by the witnesses, and other facts brought forward to prove his premeditation; his having been on the watch for some days; his having purchased a knife the day before the murder. During the trial he exhibited a firmness and assurance that did not desert him for a single moment.

The jury, after a few minutes deliberation found him Guilty unanimously. He heard his sentence without the slightest emotion. Since his condemnation, he refused to appeal, and gave in writing, his determination which he wrote with a firm hand. The interval between his sentence and execution he passed, except the time devoted to sleep, in playing cards. He had an inordinate passion for gambling, which was the primary cause of his depravity and ruin. To get his fellow prisoners to play with him, he used to threaten, when they refused, to haunt them after his death.—The day before his execution the cards were never out of his hands, till he went to bed, when he slept soundly. Next morning, after breakfasting heartily, he resumed his card playing, and did not leave off till the fatal moment came for him to go to the chapel, on his way to the scaffold. He then entreated that his fellow prisoners, who had been playing with him, might be allowed to accompany him to chapel. He confessed, with great calmness, and listened with attention to the discourse of the clergyman. On his way to the scaffold, he showed the same unshaken firmness. Just before submitting to the fatal knife, he addressed the people, and recited a few lines of poetry which he had written since his trial.

Poetry.

The following exquisite verses are from the pen of a young and accomplished English Lady.—None can doubt the correctness of the advice they convey, when it is considered who is the adviser.

WHEN SHOULD LOVERS BREATHE THEIR VOWS?

When should lovers breathe their vows?
When should ladies hear them?
When the dew is on the boughs,
When none else are near them;

When the moon shines cold and pale,
When the birds are sleeping,
When no voice is on the gale,
When the rose is weeping;

When the stars are bright on high,
Like hopes in young Loves' dreaming,
And glancing round the light clouds fly,
Like soft fears to shade their beaming.

The fairest smiles are those that live
On the brow by star-light wreathing;
And the lips their richest incense give
When the sigh is at midnight breathing.

Oh, soft is the cheek's love ray
When seen by moon light hours,
Other roses seek the day,
But blushes are night flowers.

Oh, when the moon and stars are bright,
When the dew drops glisten,
Then their vows should lovers plight,
Then should ladies listen.

Domestic.

Wolverine.—An Animal of this species was killed yesterday morning in the Orchard of William Buell, Esq. near the center of this town. What should have induced this tenant of the forest to forsake its native wilds and present itself in a thickly inhabited place of this description, is a circumstance for which we cannot easily account. It was first discovred near the Cider Press, early in the morning, but was not particularly noticed; about 10 o'clock it was again observed in an Apple tree near the shop of Mr Prevost, and taken to be a Raccoon, when it was shot and proved to be a female of the Wolverine tribe. Animals of this class are seldom seen in this part of the country and are considered by many as a curiosity.—Brock. Recorder.

Valuable Custom House Seizure.—We understand that in the fore part of last week the Custom House Officer at Prescott made a seizure of 25 chests of tea, 5 barrels of whisky and a quantity of shoes, leather, and other merchandise, supposed to be worth about 300*l.*—ib.

Large Radish.—A Radish was this season raised in the garden of Mr. Willet Casey, of Adolphustown, which weighed thirteen and a half pounds. Good sound Apples, of the growth of 1823, may be seen at Mr. Casey's.—U. C. Herald.

Upper Canada Gazette.

New Series.

Vol. II. YORK, C. THURSDAY, DECEMBER 25, 1823. No. XLIX.

By Authority.

UPPER CANADA.

P. MAITLAND,
Lieut. Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

TO our Beloved and Faithful Legislative Councellors of our Province of Upper Canada; and to our Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses of our said Province, to our Provincial Parliament at our Town of York, on the Second Day of December next, to be Commenced, Held, Called and Elected, and to every of you—GREETING:

WHEREAS, by our Proclamation bearing date the Twenty Third Day of October, last, We thought fit to Prorogue our Provincial Parliament to the Second day of December next, at which time at our Town of York, you were called and constrained to appear, NOW KNOW YE, that We, taking into our Royal consideration the ease and convenience of our loving Subjects, have thought fit by and with the advice of our Executive Council, to relieve you and each of you of your attendance at the time aforesaid, hereby convoking, and by these presents enjoining you and each of you, that on Tuesday the Eleventh Day of January now next ensuing, you meet Us, in our Provincial Parliament, in our Town of York, FOR THE ACTUAL DESPATCH OF PUBLIC BUSINESS, there to take into consideration the state and welfare of our Province of Upper Canada, and therein to do as may seem necessary, and herein fail not

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces in North America, at York, this Twenty Sixth day of November in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign.

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,

JNO. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

D. CAMERON, Secretary.

Upper Canada.

P. MAITLAND,

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come—GREETING:

WHEREAS by Proclamation bearing date the Fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventeen, our trusty and well beloved FRANCIS GORE Esquire, late our Lieutenant Governor of our Province of Upper Canada, by and with the advice of the Executive Council thereof, on the by virtue of the Authority in him vested in that behalf, did declare and appoint the Port of Queenstown, otherwise commonly called the Port of Bath, within the Midland District of this Province, to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for all Goods and Merchandize, not being entirely prohibited and for the payment of all Duties, liable to be paid on all Goods and Merchandize brought into this Province from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS by a certain Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdoms of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the Third Year of our Reign, entitled, "An Act to Regulate the Trade of the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, and for other purposes relating to the said Provinces," it is among other things Enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the Governor Lieutenant Governor, or person Administering the Government of either of our said Provinces respectively, by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council thereof for the time being, from time to time to diminish or increase, by Proclamation, the number of Ports or places, which then were, or thereafter might be, appointed in such Province for the Entry of Goods, Wares, and Commodities, imported from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS it appears expedient for the avoiding expence in the Collection of our Revenue, that the said Port of Queenstown shall no longer be a Port of Entry and Clearance—NOW KNOW YE, that by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of our Province of Upper Canada, We have thought fit to declare, and do hereby declare, that from and after the date of this our Proclamation, the said Port of Queenstown shall cease to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the purposes aforesaid, and shall be and remain, as if the said Proclamation hereinbefore recited, and appointing the same to be a Port of Entry and Clearance, had never been made.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York this Twentieth day of March in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign.

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,

D. CAMERON, Secretary.

JNO. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

NOTICE.

Government House,
October 30th, 1824.

A COMMUNICATION has been recently received by His EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR from the SOCIETY established in England for the ENCOURAGEMENT of ARTS, MANUFACTURES, and COMMERCE, which holds out to the Agriculturists of this Colony the following Premiums:—viz.

Cultivation of Hemp in Upper and Lower Canada, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick.

I. To the person who shall sow with Hemp the greatest quantity of land in the above-mentioned Provinces, not less than six arpents, (each four fifths of a statute acre) in the year 1824, and shall at the proper season cause to be plucked the summer Hemp, (or male Hemp bearing no seed,) and continue the winter Hemp (or female Hemp bearing seed) on the ground until the seed is ripe; the Gold Medal, or Two Hundred Dollars.

II. To the person who shall sow with Hemp the next greatest quantity of land in the same Provinces, not less than five arpents, in the year 1824, in the manner above-mentioned; the Silver Medal, or One Hundred Dollars.

Certificates of the number of arpents, the method of culture, of the plucking of the Hemp, with a general account whether it was broad-cast, or in drills, and of the expense, soil, cultivation, and produce, to be transmitted to the Society, certified under the Hand and Seal of the Governor or Lieutenant Governor, or the resident Magistrates or other competent local Authorities, together with 20lbs of the Hemp, and two quarts of the seeds, on or before the last Tuesday in April, 1826.

Importation of Hemp from Canada, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick.

III. To the person who shall import to this country the greatest quantity of marketable Hemp, not less than One Hundred Tons in the year 1824, the produce of Canada, or one of the above mentioned Provinces;—the Gold Medal.

IV. To the person who shall import the next greatest quantity not less than Fifty Tons;—the Silver Medal.

Certificates, sail-factory to the Society, to be produced by the Master of the Vessel on or before the last Tuesday in April, 1826, to testify that such Hemp was grown and prepared in Canada, Nova Scotia, or New Brunswick.

Exterpating the Stumps and Roots of Trees.

V. To the person who shall invent, and discover to the Society, the best method, verified by actual experience, of raising out of the earth, and removing the Stumps, and Roots of Trees, which have been left after felling the Timber, so as to Clear the Land for the purposes of Cultivation;—the Gold Medal or Fifty Guineas.

Certificates that the method has succeeded with at least Fifty Trees of large Girth, and a full description of the means employed, to be delivered to the Society, on or before the last Tuesday in April, 1825.

Communications relative to any of the above subjects, may be addressed to His Excellency's Private Secretary. 25-6w.

Executive Council Office,
York, February 7th 1824.

WHEREAS it has been represented, that many persons who have received Locations of Land, have, from Sickness, and other legitimate causes, been unable to fulfil the Settlement Duty, in the time required by the Location Ticket, and have neglected to apply to His Excellency in Council for an extension of the period, for performance of such duty.

BE it Known that the period for completing the Settlement Duty, is hereby extended to Two Years from the date of Locations until further notice shall be given.

JOHN SMALL, C'k Ex. Com.

Adjutant General's Office York, U. C.
22d November, 1824.

MILITIA GENERAL ORDERS.

HIS EXCELLENCY the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR is pleased to make the following Promotions and Appointments in the Militia Forces, viz —

FIRST REGIMENT OF FRONTENAC

To be Captains,
Commission dated.

Capt Owen McDougall, from the 2d Frontenac, vice Pringle who exchanges — 22d Nov. 1824
Lieut Sam Shaw, vice David Smith who has left the County. do do

To be Lieutenants

Ens Wm Baker, vice Shaw promoted do do
Ens Jas H Samson, vice Grant deceased 23 do

To be Ensigns

James Meagher, Gent vice Baker promoted 22 do
James McFarlane, Gent vice Cartwright do 23 do
Wm Stennet, Gent vice Whittaker left the County 24 do
Robert Deacon Gent, vice Samson promoted, 25 do

SECOND REGIMENT OF FRONTENAC

Capt Alex Pringle, from the 1st Frontenac, to be Captain vice McDougall who exchanges 22 do

To be Adjutant with the rank of Lieutenant

Denis Fredrick Mahony, vice Brown deceased. do do

SECOND REGIMENT OF EAST YORK

To be Captains,

John B Warren, Esquire, do do
Benjamin Thorn, Esquire. 23 do
Joseph Wenham, Esquire. 24 do

To be Lieutenants,

Lawrence Heyden, Gent 22 do
Wm Warren, Gent 23 do
Peter Matthews, Gent 24 do
Callaghan Holmes, Gent 25 do
Ens. Wm Gamble, from the 1st East York 26 do
Ens. Jno S Cartwright from the 1st Frontenac 27 do
James Hall, Gent 29 do
John Farquharson, Gent 30 do

To be Ensigns,

Charles Robinson Heward, Gent 22 do
John W Spragge, Gent 23 do
John Ridout, Gent 24 do
Wm King, Gent 25 do
Sandford Martin, Gent 26 do
Robert Sullivan, Gent 27 do
George McGill, Gent 29 do
Charles Ridout, Gent 30 do

To be Quarter Master

Wm F Moore, Gent 22 do

HIS Excellency has been further pleased to permit a Troop of Cavalry to be raised within the limits of this Regiment to be attached thereto, and to appoint Capt. John Kerr to the command thereof.

SECOND REGIMENT OF LINCOLN

Ens Jno Street, to be Lieutenant, vice Boughner deceased. 22d Nov 1824
Wm Macklem Gent to be Ensign, vice Street promoted, do do

THIRD REGIMENT OF LINCOLN

To be Captains,

Lieut Benjamin Hardison, vice Buchner resigned 22 do
Lieut John Putman, vice Hardy do 23 do
Lieut Wm D Miller, vice Nichol transferred to the 1st Norfolk 24 do
Lieut Ozias Buchner, to fill a vacancy 25 do
Lieut David Davis, do 26 do
Lieut Jacob Gander, do 27 do
Lieut Henry Weishuhn, do 29 do
Adjt. Samuel McAfee, to have the rank only 30 do

To be Lieutenants,

Ens Benjamin Learn, vice Hardison promoted 22 do
Ens Hiram Humphrey, vice Putman do 23 do
Ens Peter Dell, vice Miller do 24 do
Ens Daniel Buchner, vice Ozias Buchner do 25 do
Ens Peter Miller, vice Davis do 26 do
Ens Willson Haun, vice Weishuhn do 27 do
Ens Edmund Rystay, vice Gander do 29 do
Qr Master Henry Fitch, to fill a vacancy 30 do
John Holmes, Gent do 1st Dec.
George Meyer, Gent do 2 do

To be Ensigns,

Edgeworth Usher, vice Learn promoted 22d Nov.
Richard Yokelum, Gent vice Humphrey do 23 do
John McGown, Gent vice Dell do 24 do
Jacob Willson, Gent vice Buchner do 25 do
John B Wintemute, Gent vice Miller do 26 do
Wm Wintemute, Gent vice Haun do 27 do
Jacob Miller, Gent vice Rysay do 29 do
Lewis Palmer, Gent to fill a vacancy 30 do
Cyrenius Hall, Gent do 1 Dec.

To be Quarter Master

Wm Buck, Gent vice Fitch promoted 22d Nov.

FIRST REGIMENT OF ESSEX

Lieut Daniel Pastorius, to be Captain, vice Brush resigned do do

To be Lieutenants,

Ens Jos Malotte, vice Pastorius promoted do do
Ens Peter Young, vice Richardson do 23 do
Ens Alexander Duff, vice Ambridge appointed Adjutant 24 do

To be Ensigns,

Alexander Ogilvie Innes Gent vice Maiotte promoted 22 do
John Patton, Gent vice Young do 23 do
Robert Ironside, Gent vice Duff do 24 do

To be Quarter Master,

Charles Fortier, Gent vice Innes resigned 22 do

By Command of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor.

N. COFFIN.
Adjt. Genl Militia Forces.

GLEBES.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in Council, having taken into consideration the system hitherto practised, of Granting Licences of Occupation for GLEBE LANDS, is pleased to Order, that in future the Glebes in the several Townships, with the exception of One Lot in each Township, for the accommodation of the Incumbent, shall be Leased on the same terms as Clergy Reserves

NOTICE is therefore given to those Persons who hold Licences of Occupation for any of the said Glebe Lots, that the same will not be Renewed; and unless they do make application, by Petition, for Leases in the usual manner, through the medium of the Corporation for superintending the Clergy Reserves, before the Twenty-ninth day of September next ensuing, the Lots so held by Licence of Occupation will be Leased to other Applicants.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk Ex. Coun,

Executive Council Office,
York, 29th April, 1824. 19—tf.

Executive Council Chamber,
York, 31st January, 1824.

PRESENT,
HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
IN COUNCIL,

HIS Majesty's Government having recently extended their assistance to the class of Emigrants, which it was intended to relieve by gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres of Land, in conveying them to their respective locations:

IT IS ORDERED, that from the first day of May next, no gratuitous Grants be made of any quantity of Land to other than privileged persons.—And that as the Fee on Two Hundred Acres was raised, in order to defray the gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres the consideration failing, the future Fee on Two Hundred Acres is reduced to Eight Founds Four Shillings and One Penny Sterling; the existing Fee before 1819, and the Fee on all other Grants, in Townships surveyed since that time, to be the same as established by the Order in Council, of 5th January, 1819.

N. B. Possessors of gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres, may, by paying the Fee on One Hundred Acres, receive a Grant of the adjoining Fifty Acres if vacant.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Ex'v. Council.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL CHAMBER,
AT YORK, 26th JAN. 1824.
PRESENT:
HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
In Council.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR submitted to the consideration of the Board, the Sheriffs' Reports of their respective Gaols, together with other Documents relating to a Winter Circuit, by which it appeared that the House of Assembly had addressed His Excellency to that effect, for this Session only; and obviously for the Delivery of the Gaols in the several Districts.

THE limitation of such a measure to one season seeming to militate with the Provision of the Law, that when the Communication from the Seat of Government admitted, and the circumstances of the Province required, there should be a regular Second Circuit, the Board would prefer to recommend that Special Commissions to deliver particular Gaols should issue where requisite; but, as the respective Reports from the Sheriffs' do not, in the opinion of the Board, require any immediate interposition, His Excellency, with advice of the Council, postpones a Second Circuit until the circumstances of the Province more decidedly require it

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Executive Council.

WHEREAS by the Tenor of the Location Tickets a Certificate is required to be lodged of the Settlement Duty being done within two Years, or that the said Location should be forfeited, and in case of Locations not gratuitous, that one third of the Patent Fee be lodged with such Certificate; AND WHEREAS it is represented, that in many instances, Certificates of performance of the Settlement Duty, have been withheld from the inability of the settler to deposit such proportion of the Patent Fee, it is deemed expedient to relieve the settler from forfeiture of his location, when he may actually have performed his settlement duty—Notice is hereby given that it all cases where Settlement Duty has been performed within the limited period, the settler shall, on filing Certificate thereof within six Months of this date, be exempted from forfeiture notwithstanding the non-payment therewith of such portion of the Patent Fee, provided the Patent is sued out within One Year from the filing of such Certificate.

And further; His Excellency, in the hope of avoiding the necessity of rescinding any of the Militia grants, is pleased to direct this Public Notification; that all Lands granted to Militia Men, upon which the Settlement Duties shall not have been performed within the limited period, will in pursuance of general instructions given to the Surveyor General in all similar cases, be declared vacant, and will be granted within Six Months after the expiration of that period, to the first applicant, unless the Original Nominee, shall before such subsequent application, have lodged a Certificate of his having performed the Settling Duties.

JOHN SMALL, Clk. Ex. Coun

Executive Council Office,
York, 7th Nov. 1821.

WHEREAS it has become expedient to establish a line of communication through certain remote

Townships, for encouragement thereof, Grants will be made to actual Settlers in the Townships hereinafter named on the condition of Settling within two years from the date of the Location, at the reduced Scale of 5th January, 1819, viz.

A Township North of Matipoua, advertised from the Surveyor General's Office on the 19th of October, as-

Zeta, to be called	Eldon
N. of Ep	Fenelon
N. of Emily advertised as Emir	Verulam
N. of Smith Lake	Harrey
E. of do.	Douro
N. of Asphodel Alma	Dummer
N. of Sevenoor Mora	Belmont
N. of Dummer Yea	Burleigh
N. of Marmora Ninia	Lake
N. of Madoc	Tudor
N. of Elzever No	Grimsthorpe
N. of Kaladar Aye	Anglesea
N. of Kennebec Jus	Barrie
N of Norma Odeu	Clarendon
N. of Oso Et	Palmerston
N of Belmont Carlos	Methuen

JOHN SMALL, C. E. C.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Newcastle District, to wit. BY virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of Kings Bench, and to the Sheriff of the Newcastle District directed, against the Lands and Tenements of David McGregor Rogers Esq. at the suit John Strachan, Thomas A. Dobbs, and Thomas H. Cartwright, Executors of the late Richard Cartwright, Esq. I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said David McGregor Rogers the following Lands, viz

S. half of Lot No. 3 Broken Front, A. — Lot No. 3 do. do. B. } 330 Acres.
Lot No. 3 do. do. C.
Lot No. 23 2 Concession, 200 do.
Lot No. 26 3 do 200 do.

of the Township of Haldimand, in the county of Northumberland, which Property I shall offer for sale at Public Auction, at the Inn now occupied by Mr. N. W. Mack, in the village of Coburg, on the ninth day of February next at 12 o'clock, at noon

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff,
By EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above described Premises, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber, on or before the day of Sale.

NOTE. The sale of the above Lots, No. 3, Concession A., B., and C., 330 Acres, is postponed until 11th day of January next (1825) at the same place and at 6 o'clock in the Evening.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
BY EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Coburg, 47—td.
November 5th 1824.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit. ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb. 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Peter Grant, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Jerry Whitehead, viz

The easterly half of Lot No. 10, in the First Concession of the Township of Thurlow, containing 100 acres more or less

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1824

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale 46—tf

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit. ON Saturday, the 5th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands, as belonging to Lewis Rosebush, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Duncan McDonell, viz.

A part of Lot No. 13, in the Second Concession of the Township of Kenyon, containing 70 acres of Land, described as follows, viz. commencing at the south-west angle of the said Lot in front, where a post has been planted, thence running north sixteen degrees west forty-nine chains and forty links, then south seventy-four degrees north fifteen chains to the centre of the said Lot, thence south, sixteen degrees east, to the allowance for road in front of the said Concession, thence west seventy four degrees south fifteen chains to the place of beginning

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1 24.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale: 46—tf

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To WIT. ON Saturday the 19th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Daniel Lyons, seized by virtue of an Execution, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of the Hon. G. H. Markland, and John Kirby, Esq Executors to the estate of the late Lawrence Herchimer, viz:—

Lot No. 25 in the 7th Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN
Sheriff, M, D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
18th October, 1824. No. 46,—t. d.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District To Wit. ON Tuesday the 18th day of January 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands and Tenements, as belonging to William Purkiss, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Charles Bowman, viz:—

Lot No. 6 in the 2d Concession of the Township of Loughborough, containing 200 Acres; also Town Lot No 260 in the Town of Kingston, with a large two story Frame House erected thereon.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon,

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office Kingston,
October 18th, 1824.

N. B. All Persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale 45—tf

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District to wit. BY virtue of a writ of fieri facia, issued out of His Majesty's

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To WIT. ON Saturday the 12th day of March, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Theophilus Lockwood, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Thomas Parker, viz.

Part of the east half of Lot No 22, in the Third Concession of the Township of Sidney, in the County of Hastings, containing 19½ acres.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
October, 1824

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To WIT. ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands, as belonging to Lewis Day, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Alexander Simpson, viz.

The rear two fifths of Lot No. 15, containing 80 acres, and the north or rear two fifths of the westerly quarter of Lot No. 16, in the Fourth Concession of the Township of Kingston, containing 20 acres, and the south easterly quarter of the west half of Lot No. 16, in the Second Concession of the Township of Kingston, containing 25 acres

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Lands, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To WIT. ON Thursday the 28th day of October next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to the estate of the late Duncan McDonald, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Duncan McDonell, viz.

Lot No. 406 in the Town of Kingston, containing one sixth of an acre

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
July 27th, 1824.

N B. Any person or persons having claims on the above lot of land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale.

☞ The above Sale is postponed till Saturday, the 18th day of December next, at the same hour and place.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1824. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To WIT. ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb. 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Lewis Rosebush, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Duncan McDonell, viz.

A part of Lot No. 13, in the Second Concession of the Township of Kenyon, containing 70 acres of Land, described as follows, viz. commencing at the south-west angle of the said Lot in front, where a post has been planted, thence running north sixteen degrees west forty-nine chains and forty links, then south seventy-four degrees north fifteen chains to the centre of the said Lot, thence south, sixteen degrees east, to the allowance for road in front of the said Concession, thence west seventy four degrees south fifteen chains to the place of beginning

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1 24.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale: 46—tf

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT To WIT. ON Saturday the 19th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Daniel Lyons, seized by virtue of an Execution, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of the Hon. G. H. Markland, and John Kirby, Esq Executors to the estate of the late Lawrence Herchimer, viz:—

Lot No. 25 in the 7th Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN
Sheriff, M, D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
18th October, 1824. No. 46,—t. d.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District To Wit. ON Tuesday the 18th day of January 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands and Tenements, as belonging to William Purkiss, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Charles Bowman, viz:—

Lot No. 6 in the 2d Concession of the Township of Loughborough, containing 200 Acres; also Town Lot No 260 in the Town of Kingston, with a large two story Frame House erected thereon.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon,

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office Kingston,
October 18th, 1824.

N. B. All Persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale 45—tf

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District to wit. BY virtue of a writ of fieri facia, issued out of His Majesty's

Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed against the Lands and Tenements of William Pheonix, in favour of Ralph Leeming and James Hamilton, I have seized and taken in execution, North half of Lot No. Ten in the First Con. of the Township of Trafalgar, North side of Dundas Street, containing one Hundred Acres, on which are some improvements, and the Lot is beautifully situated, and which I shall offer for Sale on Saturday the Fourth Day of December next, at one o'clock P. M at Mr. Carpenter's Inn near the Premises, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for Cash only.

TITUS G. SIMONS
Late Sheriff, G. D.

late Sheriff's Office, }
24th Sept. 1824. }

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any claim on the above described Property by Mortgage, or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber on or before the Day of Sale.

T. G. SIMONS
Late Sheriff.
No. 44 —6 wks.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To wit. } ON Saturday the 11th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Solomon Orser, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Allan McLean, Esq viz:—

The front part of Lot No 18, in the 2d Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
18th October, 1824 }

N. B All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale. 46—tf

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit. } ON Tuesday the 18th day of January, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Silas Ormsby, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of D'Arcy Boulton, Esq viz:—

The East half of Lot No. 2 in the 12th Concession of the Township of Huntingdon, in the County of Hastings, containing 100 Acres more or less,

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock. noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

*Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
October 18th, 1824 }*

N B. All Persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 45—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District, to wit. } BY virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Abraham R Smith, at the Suit of Robert Gillespie, Esquire, I have seized and taken in execution Lots No. Eleven, in the First Range and Twenty-Two in the Second Range, in the Town of Hamilton, and in the Township of Barton, situate on the North side of the Road leading from Dundas to Niagara, each Lot contains One Fourth of an Acre, on the Former is Erected a beautiful Two-Story House, well finished, and fit for any Gentleman's residence, all this valuable Property I shall offer for sale on Monday the Sixth Day of December next, at 10 o'clock, A. M and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for Cash only.

TITUS G SIMONS.
Late Sheriff, G. D.

Late Sheriff's Office, }
24th Sept. 1824. }

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any claim on the above described Property by Mortgage or other right of incumbrance, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office, on or before the Day of Sale.

T. G SIMONS
Late Sheriff, G. D.
No. 44,—6 wks.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Niagara District, To Wit. } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Liza, alias, Eliza Skinner, widow of the late Haggie Skinner, deceased, at the suit of James Maclem, and James Cummings, Executors of the late John Faning, deceased, I have seized and taken, as belonging to the said Liza, alias, Eliza Skinner, Lots No. 172, and 161, in the Township of Stamford, 323 acres—Lots number 2, 3, 5, 6, and 7 in the Fourteenth Concession of the Township of Pelham, containing 563 acres:—All of which property I shall offer for sale on the second Monday in March, in the year 1825, at twelve o'clock noon, at the Court House, in the Town of Niagara, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for cash only.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Niagara, }
March 2d, 1824. }

N B. Any Person or Persons having any claim to the above mentioned premises by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

48—tf R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Niagara District, To Wit. } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of William Chisholm, at the suits of John Jammerson and John McKenzie, I have seized and taken the following lands, viz:

	Acres.
Part of Lot No. 16 in the 5th Concession of Grantham,	50
Part of Lot No. 17 in the 7th Concession of Grantham.	2½
Part of Lot No 13 in the 7th Concession of Grantham.	80
Lots Nos. 2 and 3 in the Village of St. Catharines.	2
Lots Nos. 3 and 4 in do do. do.	¾
Lot No 9 in the Town of Niagara.	¼
Lots No 14 and 15, in the 5th Concession of Grimsby.	200
Part of Lots Nos. 9 and 10 in do. do. do.	100

All of which property I shall offer for Sale on the last Monday in March, 1825, at Twelve o'clock noon, at the Court House, in the Town of Niagara, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for Cash only

R LEONARD, Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Niagara, }
2d March, 1824. }

N B. Any person or persons having any claim to the above mentioned premises by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

48—6w. R LEONARD, Sheriff

SHERIFF'S SALE.

NIAGARA DISTRICT, To Wit: } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the lands and tenements of John D. M'Kay, at the suit of Peter M'Gill, I have seized and taken the following Lands, viz:—

Lot No. 13, in the 8th Concession of Clinton.

Lot No. 5, 6, 7, & 12, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Grimsby. } 400 acres

Lot No. 37, & 39, in the 8th & 9th Concession of do. } 200 acres

Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 1st Concession of Bertie.

Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 2d Concession of do. } 495 acres

Lot No. 12 & 14, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Gainsbor'o } 400 acres

Lot No. 4, in the 2d Concession of do } 200 acres

Lot No. 74, 95, 96, & ¼, of 201, in the town of Niagara.—All of which property I shall offer for sale on the 2d day of August, 1824, at the Court House in the town of Niagara, at 12 o'clock. noon, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for cash only

R. LEONARD, Sheriff
By PETER T. PAWLING, Dep'y Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Niagara, }
July 31st, 1823 4. }

N. B. Any person or persons having any claims on the above named premises, by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

☞ The sale of the above property is postponed until the 13th of September, next, at the same place and hour.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff

The Sale of the above Property is postponed until the second Tuesday in January, 1825

RICHARD LEONARD, Sheriff.
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.
45—6w.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit: } ON Saturday the 18th day of December next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, all the right, title, claim and interest of Wm Bayard Smyth, of Kingston, to the following Town Lots, with the buildings thereon erected, seized by virtue of a Writ of Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at the suit of C. A Hagerman, Esq viz:—Lot No 110, and the North West half of Lot No 107, in the Town of Kingston, containing three tenths of an acre.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above property, or upon any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me once before the day of sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Kingston, Sept. 14th, 1824.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Commissariat Officer at York, will be ready to enter into Contract with any person or persons willing to

BAKE BREAD

from Government Flour, for the use of His Majesty's Troops at this Post, for one year, from the 25th December, 1824, to the 24th December, 1825.

Sealed Tenders to be delivered into this Office on the 14th December next, at noon, and they must express in words, at length, the number of pounds of Bread that will be given for every hundred and twelve pounds of Flour.

Security will be required for the due fulfilment of the Contracts entered into, and the parties making Proposals will be required to attend at the time of opening the Tenders, which must be sealed, and endorsed Tender for Baking Bread.

Commissariat Office, Nov. 12th, 1824. 47—4w.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT.

FOR

FRESH BEEF.

NOTICE is hereby given, that Tenders will be received at this Office on the 14th day of December next at noon, from such Persons as may be willing to supply for the use of the Garrison and Staff at York, for the period of Twelve Months, commencing 25th December next.

FRESH BEEF,

The Conditions of Contract, Form of Tender and other particulars, may be known on application at this Office.

No Tender will be noticed, unless the Party and his Sureties, or an Agent on his behalf, attend at the time of opening the Tenders, which must be sealed and endorsed,—"Tenders for the Supply of Fresh Beef."

F. T. BILLINGS,
Dep'y. Ass't. Com's Gen'l.

York, Nov. 12th, 1824. 47—4w.

NOT OFFICIAL.

FIRE INSURANCE.

THE Sun Insurance Company of New York, having appointed George Crookshank, Esquire, their Agent in Upper Canada—he is ready to Insure against Loss or Damage by Fire, on Dwelling Houses, Stores, Merchandize, House hold Furniture, and other Personal Property; at moderate Rates of Premium.—Persons wishing to Insure must send a plan of their Buildings, when applied out of the Town of York a respectable reference will be required, and Letters Post Paid.—Application to be made to

R. W. BRENTICE

York, 28th Sept. 1824. No. 39—tf.

A Large Yellow Cow, with a short Tail and Gathered Horn, the owner is requested to bring her from No 16 in the 3d Concession, Township of York

FRANCIS BROCK.

Nov 27th, 1824 49—3w.

VALUABLE LEASEHOLD PROPERTY.

FOR SALE BY AUCTION.

ON Thursday the 23rd of December, 1824 at 12 o'clock noon, an unexpired term of 36 years in a Lease of Twelve Acres of Land, and with a newly erected Frame House, Tannery and other improvements, on the banks of the River Don, and within half a mile of the New Catholic Church in York.—The Premises are opposite to the residence of the late Mr. Scadding and form part of the Castle Frank Estate—The rent is exceedingly low.—Further particulars will be made known at the time of Sale

T. MOSELEY.
Auctioneer.

No. 49—4 w

ALBION NEWSPAPER.

A GENTLEMAN wishing to complete a File of the Albion Newspaper is in want of the following Numbers, for which he will gladly pay a fair compensation.

Volume 1 ——Nos. 4 & 18.
" 2 ——Nos. 16, 18, 19, 20, 21, & 51.
" 3 ——Nos. 4 & 7.

Apply at the U C Gazette Office.

No. 49.—t f

WELLAND CANAL NOTICE.

WANTED TO EMPLOY

FROM 50 TO 100 LABOURERS,

ON the Tunnel for the Welland Canal, in this District Sappers and Miners who have been accustomed to Tunnelling in Europe, will have a preference, if men of steady habits.

ALFRED HOVEY.

*Thorold, Niagara District, }
November 10th 1824 }*

N. B Editors of papers in the Provinces will please insert this four times, with a reference under the Editorial Head, and send their accounts to Francis Hall Esquire, Engineer, Queenston, U. C.

49.—4w A. H.

BANK NOTICE.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Bank of Upper Canada has established an Office of Discount and Deposit in the Town of Niagara, under the superintendance of the undermentioned persons

JOHN CROOKS, Esquire,
JOHN ROSS, Esquire, & } DIRECTORS
ADAM CRYSLER, Esquire
THOMAS McCORMICK, Esquire, CASHIER

The said office will commence on the 1st day of December next and will be open for business from 10 o'clock in the morning to 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the usual holy days excepted.

By Order,
THOMAS G. RIDOUT,
Cashier.

Bank of Upper Canada, }
York, 25th Nov 1824. } 49—3w.

TERRY AND CATTERMOLE,

WATCH MAKERS,

Silversmiths, & Jewellers,

FROM LONDON,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public, that they have commenced business in that Central Store, in the Market Square, two doors north of Mr. Patterson

To a perfect knowledge of the above arts, T. and C have added an extensive assortment of materials necessary in their business, and their friends may rest assured that every exertion will be made to give general satisfaction, and merit, for their establishment, a continuation of public patronage.

Watch Cases Gilt to imitate Gold,—Musical Clocks, Watches, &c. carefully repaired and cleaned.

Produce received at cash prices in payment for work

York, Nov. 25th 1824 49tf.

NOTICE.

St, Catherines, 20th November, 1824,

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that pursuant to a Resolution of the President and Directors of the Welland Canal Company, held 15th ult, an Instalment of 2½ Per Cent upon the Capital Stock Subscribed is required to be paid into the Treasurer at this place, on or before the 1st January, next, as provided by the 26 clause of the Act of Incorporation.

By Order
GEORGE KEEFER, Jun.
Secretary.

N, B, Subscribers will pay their instalments to the Agents in the different Districts, who will remit the same,

December 2d, 1824, No, 49,—t, f,

NOTICE.

FOR Sale, an Elegant Grecian SOFA, completed with Elastic Spring Seat, at THOMAS WALLI's, Cabinet Maker.

York, Nov 22d, 1824. 48—3w.

NOTICE.

CHARLES HAYES, Esq. of Marmora, having by his deed, bearing date the 8th day of September last, conveyed to the undersigned all his Estate, real and personal, in trust for the benefit of his Creditors, it is requested that such persons as have claims against him, will present the same without delay for adjustment.

The business at Marmora will be continued as heretofore, for the account of the Trustees, by Mr. Hayes.

PETER M'GILL,
A. MANAHAN.
ROBERT HAYES.

Kingston, Oct. 24th, 1824. 46—6w.

THE CANADIAN FARMER'S ALMANAC

AND

GENERAL MEMORANDUM BOOK, FOR

1825.

IS NOW PUBLISHED, and may be had by the Dozen, or single Book, at the U. C. Gazette Office, and all the principal Stores in Town, and Country.

THE "ROYAL CALENDAR of U. C." for 1825, improved and enlarged,—is in the Press, and every exertion will be used to have it ready for early Publication In the mean time, Orders will be thankfully received.—

FOR SALE.

A Farm on Yonge Street, Lot No. 32 in Markham, One Hundred and Ninety Acres, of which ninety Acres are under cultivation with a Frame House and Barn on the same, a stream of water runs across the Lot, and Purdy's Saw and Grist Mills are on the Lot opposite to the same—Terms of payment will be made easy.—Application to be made to,

GEORGE CROOKSHANK.

York, 17th Oct. 1824.

N. B. Should the above mentioned Farm not be sold by the 1st March next, it will then be leased. 43—tf.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the County of Dundas, intend presenting a Petition to the Legislature at its next Session, for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Dundas, and the Town of Cornwall separately.

Also to have the Concession line between the fourth and fifth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg in the Eastern District, to have the said line run upon the true course of No 66 E and completed.

And also the side lines in the said fourth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg aforesaid, to have the said side lines to run upon the original course No. 24 W. 43—26w.

LAND IN PERCY.

A VERY valuable Lot of Land, consisting of 200 Acres, being No, 7 in the 2nd Concession of the Township of Percy, in the Newcastle District, and not far from the River Trent, in the midst of a good settlement may be had for 2$ per Acre, with an indisputable title, and immediate possession.—Inquire at the U. C. Gazette Office 43—tf.

TO DISTILLERS & BREWERS.

ROBERT Todd Dean having made Chemistry the study of his life, and having for himself and others both in Scotland and Ireland, for sixteen years, conducted a Chemical Manufactory, (Testimonials of the most satisfactory kind can be produced from many respectable individuals to that effect) and having like others of his Countrymen come to Canada for the purpose of bettering his condition in life, finds himself so situated, now, as to be obliged to offer his services to persons engaged in the Brewing and Distilling business, both of which branches, together with the Manufactory of Cordials &c he professes, with all their late improvements, to perfectly understand.

Any Person desirous of having his sevices by addressing a letter to him (post paid) to the care of Matthew Crooks Esq Ancaster Upper Canada, may depend upon its meeting with a ready attention from

Signed,
R. T. DEAN.

N. B. Terms will be moderate, and such as will be within the reach of every one, doing even a moderate business, immediate employment is an object to,

R. T. D
40—13w.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the First Concession of Sophiasburgh South west of Green Point —by reason of the material damage they have sustained these number of years back, on account of the erroneous original Survey of the Second Concession Line, Are determined to Petition the Legislature of this Province at the ensuing Session of Parliament for the alteration of the said Line, and to settle all the differences relating thereunto

Sophiasburgh, Oct 7th, 1824 } No. 44 —6 m.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the EASTERN DISTRICT will at the next Session of the LEGISLA...ture make application to be authorised to effect a Loan to enable them to erect a Gaol and Court House in the Town of Cornwall. 37—6m.

NOTICE.

AN APPLICATION will be made to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for an Act imposing a TAX on Dogs in the Town of York and its vicinity, the proceeds of which to be applicable to the police purposes.

By Order of the Magistrates in Adjourned General Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the Home District assembled on the 6th day of Sept. 1824.

(Signed,) S. EDWARD.

Clk. Peace Home District.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the COUNTY of GLENGARY intend presenting a Petition to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Glengary and the Town of Cornwall alternately. 37—6m.

NOTICE.

ALL Persons indebted to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire, of Stamford, are requested to make immediate payment to the Subscriber at Vittoria, London District, and those having claims on the Estate, will be pleased to furnish him with their respective Accounts properly authenticated.

(Signed) WALTER NICHOL,

Administrator to the Estate of the Late ROBERT NICHOL, ESQUIRE.

Niagara, 29th May, 1824.

THE

Canadian Annual Register.

UNDER THE PATRONAGE OF HIS EXCELLENCY,

SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

To whom the Work is Dedicated by Permission.

AS the Projector and Editor of this Great National Work is confident of its ultimate success, if but a moderate share of encouragement is given to its outset,—he takes this opportunity of requesting those Agents of this Paper who have received the names of any Subscribers to the Work to transmit them, together with their address, without delay, to the U. C. Gazette Office, in order that they may be added to those already received in the larger Prospectus about to be issued.

The names and residences of the earliest patronsof this Great Undertaking, will be published, alphabetically arranged, in the first volume of the work, as a perpetual record of their liberality, public spirit, and sound patriotism.

It is again repeated, that no money will be demanded, until the work, which will not exceed the price of the meanest newspaper, is delivered.

A New Type is ordered from Great Britain expressly for this work.

U. C. Gazette Office,
November 20, 1823.

VALUABLE LAND IN OTONBEE,

FOR SALE ON A CREDIT OF YEARS

ONE of the most valuable Lots in the beautiful Township of OTONBEE, on the Rice Lake, consisting of two Hundred Acres, being Lot No. 10, in the Ninth Con. The quality of the Land is first rate, (Maple, Beech, Bass, Elm, and Oak.) It has a Log House, and some small improvements upon it, and is not quite a mile distant from the Rice Lake, and from the Town Plot.—It has also the advantage of being well watered by a Creek that never fails

Price, two dollars per Acre; and terms of payment, One Eighth at the time of concluding the bargain, and Seven Years Credit, by annual instalments with interest for the remainder, if desired —Inquire at the Gazette Office.

TOWN LOTS IN PORT HOPE.

SEVERAL valuable building Lots, in the flourishing village of Port Hope, are for Sale, by private Contract, on the most liberal Terms, and on a credit of several Years, provided the first instalment be paid down. Either Produce or Manual Labour will be received, if desired, in Payment —For further particulars apply at the U. C. Gazette Office, York, or to Messrs. C. & J. Stowe, Merchants,—Port Hope.

No. 40—t f

SADDLE, AND HARNESS MANUFACTORY.

MESSRS BALL AND GIBBONS beg leave respectfully to inform the Inhabitants of York, and its Vicinity, that they carry on the Business of Saddle and Harness-Making, in all its branches, next door to Mr. Patterson's, Merchant, in the Market Square, York;—and they hope, by strict attention to the orders, with which they may be favoured, to merit a share of the Public Patronage.

York, Oct 21st, 1824 No 44.—6w

NOTICE.

THE Plan and Estimate of a STEAM BOAT, (to be Built by Mr. AMOS S ROGERS) about One Hundred Tons Burthen, intended to Ply between this Port and Niagara, may be seen at this Office —Her Engine is intended to be of Twenty Five Horse Power. The whole Cost is estimated at Two Thousand Two Hundred and Five Pounds Currency. She is to be Built by Stock, made up of Shares, of Twenty Five Pounds each A few Shares are still wanting. Subscriptions for which will be received at this Office, and at the Office of the Niagara Gleaner, where Estimates and Conditions will be exhibited to those who wish to become Stockholders.

Gazette Office, York, }
August 26th, 1824. } No. 35.—t. f.

FOR SALE.

LOT No. Two, in the First Concession of the Township of York, with the Broken Front, containing about Two Hundred and Forty Acres of Land.

Application to be made to

J. B. MACAULAY

York, 12th June, 1824. 25.—t. f.

NOTICE.

WANTED, for FOURTEEN YEARS, or not less than TEN, a LOAN of TWO THOUSAND POUNDS, Halifax Currency, for the building of a PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH of ENGLAND, in the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada.

The Subscriber is authorized to offer Efficient Legal Securities for the Repayment of the LOAN, at the end of the period, and for the Annual Payment of the Interes accumulating thereon, at Six per Cent. per annum.

(By Order of the Committee.)

GEORGE O'KILL STUART,

19—tf. SECRETARY, pro tem.

NOTICE.

FOR SALE, by private Contracts, the House and Lot lately occupied by Mr. O'Sullivan, Saddler, King's-Street, in the Town of York, the Lot is 26 feet fronting King's-Street, by 112 feet deep.

Also.—A Lot adjoining the above on the West side, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—A Lot adjoining Mr. Duggan's, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—Three Lots on Stuarts Land, each 40, by 60 feet.

Should the above Property and Lots not be sold by Private Contract, the five last described Lots will be sold at Public Sale, on the first day of July ensuing.

Application for Terms of Sale, to be made to

ALEXANDER WOOD, ESQ.

YORK, 17th March, 1824. t. f.

NOTICE.

VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE.

VIZ:—

In the Township of Vaughan

Lots No. 22, 23, 24 in the 7th Con. and Broken Lot No. 5, in the 10th Concession. } 620 Acre

Township of York

Lot No. 13, 5th Concession, and Broken Front West of Yonge-Street on the Humber, West half of No 15. in 2d Con. West of Yonge St. } 380 Acres.

Township of Percy

Lot No. 20, in 3d Concession. }
Lot No. 21, in 4th Ditto. } 400 Acres.

For particulars apply to Guy C. Wood, Esq. Cornwall, or the Subscriber in York.

R. G ANDERSON.

19th July, 1824. 30—tf.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the County of Prince Edward, in the Midland District, intend Petitioning the Legislature, at the next Session thereof, to have the said County set off, and made into a separate District from the said Midland District, and to be called the District of Maitland. No. 24—6m.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Inhabitants of the Township of TOWNSEND intend Petitioning both Houses of the Provincial Legislature at its next Session, to pass a Law, Establishing a Line Surveyed in the year 1823, between the 12th and 13th Cons. of the said Township.

TOWNSEND, 20th }
MAY, 1824. } No. 21—1 m t. d.

VALUABLE LANDED PROPERTY FOR SALE.

TWENTY-SEVEN TOWN LOTS, eligibly situated in the Village of Cobourg in Hamilton, Upper Canada, on one of which, a Store and Dwelling House are erected.

Two Neat Small FARMS, contiguous to the above Village, containing, one, about Twenty eight Acres, the other, about Fifty Acres, with a House and other Buildings on each of them —A Plan of the above may be seen on application to Mr J. G. BETHUNE, Cobourg, (who will shew the Premises,) or to the Subscriber.

Two TOWN LOTS in Picardville, adjoining to the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada, with Houses and other Buildings thereon, being Lots No. 21 and 22.

200 Acres of Land being No. 1, 8th Con. of Murray.

200 do do being No. 4, 4th do of Hungerford:

200 do do being No. 1, 8th do of Winchester.

200 do do being No. 24, 8th do of Mountain.

200 do do being the West halves of No. 31 and 32 in the 2d Concession of Hawkesbury.

Liberal Terms of Payment will be granted.

For particulars apply to

FRS. ANT. LAROQUE.

N. B. The above mentioned Town Lots in the flourishing Village of Cobourg, and the two adjoining Farms, will be disposed of by Public Sale, in the said Village on the 24th May next.

P. A L. R.

MONTREAL, 15th March, 1824. t. f.

TERMS

OF THE U. C. GAZETTE AND WEEKLY REGISTER.

FOUR DOLLARS per annum (Half value included) payable half yearly in advance. Three months notice is required previous to the discontinuance of any Subscription.

PRICE OF ADVERTISING,

Six lines and under, two shillings and six pence, and seven pence halfpenny, every subsequent insertion.

Six to ten lines, five shillings, and one shilling and three pence subsequently.

All exceeding ten lines, four pence per line for the first insertion, and one penny subsequently.—Rule and Figure work charged Double—A discount of 25 per cent. allowed to those who advertise by the year.—Advertisements cannot be recieved after 1 o'clock on the Wednesday afternoon immediately preceding the day of Publication.—Advertisements unaccompanied with positive directions as to the exact number of insertions to be given them, will be continued until expressly forbidden,—or until the day of Sale (if alluding to Sales) and charged accordingly.

☞ Advertisements from the Country must be post paid, with the price of insertion; or, a reference in Town who will pay when demanded, or discontinued.

☞ Any Agent obtaining 3 Subscribers has a paper for himself at half price;—if he obtains 6, he has his own paper gratis;—and, for as many as he obtains above 6, he will receive, besides his own paper, a Commission of 5 per cent. upon the whole amount.

WEEKLY REGISTER.

Our endeavour will be to "stamp the very body of the time—its form and pressure"—we shall extenuate nothing, nor shall we set down aught in malice.

VOL. III. No. 49.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 2d, 1824.

ERRATUM

For Supplement to the U C. Gazette of last week, Read Supplement to the Weekly Register.

Editorial Commentary.

We have seen [illegible] with the visit of [illegible] Gen. Sir [illegible] Gordon, Esq. of Quebec, (a gentleman to whose patriotic exertions on many important occasions this country is already deeply indebted)—from which it appears the St. Laurence Association, for improving the navigation of that noble river, has every prospect of success if this Province lends it that assistance which is so justly due—Mr G has brought his inquiries to this point—with that three neat Tow-Boats, on Mr. ANDERSON'S plan, will be the cheapest and speediest method that can be devised; they can be made of 20 or 30 horse-power, and pass through the Locks taking three or four Durham-Boats in Tow; and, on coming to the rapids, by application of the chains to a wheel, or windlass, go up with the greatest ease, and proceed with their Tow to any place required.—he further remarks—"I hope to get the business brought to this point soon, we have already found a fund of £5,000 which ought to be appropriated to this purpose, so that only about £11 000 will be required to be raised by both Provinces" Such is the vast importance of this subject, by cheapening and expediting the transport of good- to, and from, this Province—that we trust it will find every encouragement and assistance it is in the power of our more wealthy neighbours to lend agriculturists to [illegible] below. It will be seen, by a notice under our domestic head, that several gentlemen of the first respectability in Kingston have been formed into a committee in aid of the parent association—and we hope to see something of the kind done here and at the head of the Lake, and at Niagara;—for all our interests are concerned in this great undertaking—which it appears can be accomplished at, comparatively, a very moderate expense.

Our thanks are due to A. H. BURWELL Esquire, of Port Talbot, for another of his valuable communications on the subject of domestic manufacture and internal improvement. It will be found in this days Register. Having nothing more at heart than the prosperity of the Canadas, we are always particularly thankful for communications of this nature, which have so directa tendency to develope our resources; and, at the same time to stimulate the few capitalists we have, to success ful enterprize.

It was our intention, this week, to have enlarged on a proposition of vast consequence to the inhabitants of York, and its neighbourhood—; but, the press of matter already set up, for our present number, obliges us to postpone a sketch of the plan until next week. In the mean while, as it relates to an improvement of our harbour.—draining the great marsh of the Don,—and rendering our local atmosphere more salubrious, we beg to direct the attention of our readers, in a close and particular manner, to the two letters, taken from the Transactions of the Royal Society of London, which are published in this days Register. But, if the testimony of such men as DR. PARKYNS, Dr Percy, and Sir J. PRINGLE should fail to convince any sceptic, as to the true cause of the great insalubrity of such a situation as that of York let him visit the great marsh in our vicinity, as soon as the ice is strong enough to bear him, and, pulling up a fragment of the turf which covers the quagmire let him apply his nose to the under part and we are satisfied he will be no longer doubtful of the dangerous effects that must be produced by the rays of a vertical sun operating on such a mass!

AFTER the unequivocal and ample refutation given in our Register of the 16th ult to the false inferences and deductions of the Advocate and the Observer, relative to an obnoxious and slanderous communication signed "A Spanish Freeholder," we did not expect to have been called upon for any further remark, or denial, on the subject —But, as a direct question has been put to Mr Fothergill, by the Advocate of last week, we deem it necessary, (much as we detest all such dirty broils,) so far to return to the subject, as to say, there was no tardiness whatever on the part of Mr F. in rebutting the foul assertion that was set upon him.—He never saw the amiable critique with which the Advocate was pleased to favour the world, until the 3d of Nov —it was immediately noticed. (in the Register of the following day) and on his return from a journy, upon which he was then leaving York, he could into that strong and full refutation which so much injustice and baseness seemed to require. The tardiness is, indeed, on the side of Mackenzie himself, for never have we seen any publication so tardily and irregularly conducted as that under his management; for our own part, we have not seen more than half his twenty numbers, and one of them, so far back as the fifth, we are told has never been published at all—and those we have seen, with the exception of one number, were long after date.—But to the question.—Mr F is not "without any hesitation. "lay his hand on his left breast "and say, I have made no such acknowledgment," and so far from having spoken with fifty persons on the pretended similarity of the two productions alluded to, he can solemnly aver, that, in the face of the Canadian public, that he has spoken with but one person on the subject, and that only in reply to a question put to him when he made the same denial in private, that he has since done in so public a manner. If we are troubled with any further annoyance on this head, we shall have recourse to a very effectual, though to us a very painful, mode of putting the affair to rest, at least so far as we are concerned.

We also pamphlet in answer to the "Spanish Freeholder," under the signature of "DIMOND," is said to be in possession of [illegible] able to furnish a copy [illegible] when more successful, we promise its contents to our readers

SELECTIONS FROM BRITISH AND FOREIGN JOURNALS.

From late London Papers.—It is stated that during the next session of Parliament, Mr. Canning will introduce a bill rendering it incumbrary that any servant of the Crown in Ireland shall swear that he does not belong to any political society."

Mr. Canning arrived on the 28th September at Gloucester Lodge. He left it on the following day for Windsor, in order to pay his respects to his Majesty, on his return from Ireland. He was closeted with his Sovereign for two hours at this interview.

The trial of Mr. Fauntleroy, of London, who had been detected in practicing the most extensive forgeries, was expected to take place at the Old Bailey on the 20th of last month.

The length of the present water and gas pipes under the pavement in London, is said to exceed 1200 miles.

War Rockets.—Parbly, model master, at Calcutta, has so far improved the native war rocket of Hindoostan, as to excel the Congreve Rocket Yesterday (1st Dec.,) one of the small experimental rockets, denominated a 1½ pounder, was thrown by Capt. Parbly in the distance of 1,473 yards, where it penetrated the soil three feet. It is expected that the larger rockets will range 3000 yards. Capt. P has, been able to communicate the rotatory motion of a rifle ball to his rockets, which makes them range in very true lines.

Deepening Rivers.—Such is the power of the new machine applied to the deepening of the river Clyde in Scotland, that in the course of a few days it dug out a bove 7000 tons of earth, and cleared away the bank extending opposite Fimnie-ton, to the length of 140 yards and 40 feet wide, thereby deepening the river nearly two feet in all that space. The consequence is a safe navigation where formerly apt to take the ground.

MR. OWEN, of Lanark, has arrived in New York, and will soon proceed to the settlement of Harmony, upon the Wabash. The American of the 6th instant says, Manufacture of Opium in England.—Opium is now made in considerable quantities in England, and is pre ferred by physicians and surgeons to the best that can be obtained from Turkey and the East Indies The capsule is sacrificed, and the sap collected as soon as it appears, and left until it grows hard It is collected in a phial with a little tunnel fixed in the mouth.

Russian Discoveries.—Count Romanzoff has sent out travellers from the ern coast of Asia to cross the ice to America.

Hindoo Widows.—The official "abstract statement of the number of Hindoo widows who were burnt or buried alive in Zellah and Cities," between the years 1816 and 1822, is as follows—

Grand total for 1817—707 widows; 1818, 839; for 1819, 605; for 1820, 597; for 1821, 954.

Three thousand four hundred and two widows, thus sacrificed in these five consecutive years, within the British dominions!

One of the principal magistrates observes, in an official letter,—"For a few years more (I cannot say how many) we must be content to permit a continuance of this practice of burning."

Modest Confession.—When Mr. Wilberforce was candidate for Hull, his sister, an amiable and witty young lady offered the compliment of a new gown to of each the wives of those freemen, who voted for her brother; on which she was saluted with a cry of "Miss Wilberforce forever!" When this pleasantly observed, "I thank you gentlemen—but I cannot agree with you, for truly I do not wish to be Miss Wilberforce forever."

Jews.—The Jews who have heretofore occupied the principal streets of Warsaw, are commanded by an imperial Ukase, to remove, by the 1st of May, into the remote streets.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

FRANCE.

The contents of the French papers of Wednesday are most gratifying, for they prove that France at last possesses a Monarch who respects her institutions.—It is true that Louis the XVIII gave her the Charter, but almost every subsequent act of his reign tended to curtail its powers or to suspend their exercise Charles X on the contrary, no sooner mounted the throne than he repeated the oath which he had taken to the Charter, and voluntarily pledged himself to employ the whole power which he had inherited "in consolidating the grand act which he had promised to maintain." This pledge, to a great extent, is already redeemed. The suspension of the liberty of the press was one of the most flagrant and recent violations of the Charter; that suspension no longer exists. By an ordinance dated the 29th of September, and published in the Monteur of the 30th, the Censorship of the press is abolished, and the new King commits himself and the measures of his Government to the free discussion of all his subjects. This is not only honourable, it is wise and politic. It is a mark of confidence in his people, which cannot fail to create confidence in return.

The Duke of Bordeaux, (who is only three years old,) is appointed by the new King of France, Col. Gen. of the Swiss Guards.—The King of France has publishec an ordinance granting pardon to all soldiers belonging to the French Army who have deserted.—

A Bordeaux paper of the 27th Sept mentions that a Courier has brought news from Spain of the arrival at Majorca of a Russian squadron of 25,000 men, from which an officer was despatched to Madrid.

FRANCE AND HAYTI.

A Proclamation of the President of Hayti has been received at New-York, announcing the failure of the Mission to France—the refusal of the French government to acknowledge the Independence of the Republic—and exhorting the inhabitants to be prepared to resist any attempts that France may contemplate with a view to its subjugation.

PORT AU PRINCE, OCT. 6, 1824.

(Circular.)—JOHN P. BOYER, President of Hayti, to the Commandants of the Departments.

The Envoys, who, upon the request that was made to me I sent to treat in France for the recognition of the independence of Hayti, have returned. Their mission has not resulted in the manner we had a right to expect it would, because the French government, incredible as it may appear, still pretend to the chimerical right of sovereignty over this country. This pretension, which it appeared to have renounced, is forever indissipable. it is a new proof of what I have before declared, that our only safety is in our own unshaken resolutions, and how well grounded were the apprehensions which induced the measure I have adopted. Under these circumstances it becomes you more than ever to refer to the directions of my proclamation of the 6th January last, and the private instructions which have followed it. Press with activity all the necessary works; put in good order the artillery and munitions of every kind. Let nothing be neglected. Put in requisition the workmen of the army, and even if it be necessary private individuals to have in readiness the gun carriages which are yet unfinished. Do every thing in such a manner that in case of invasion by the enemy, you may not be retarded in any point. Remember your duties, your responsibility, and act accordingly. The national honour demands, (you will not lose sight of this,) that safety and quiet be assured to those strangers, who upon the public faith, guaranteed by the constitution may be residing in this country. Protect them and their property, so that as much as the moral nature of civility. It will be a sufficient reflection to be sensible of the infamy which will be thrown upon the nation, if under any circumstances we shall act otherwise. Destroy the unplacable enemies who shall place their sacrilegious feet upon our territory—but let us never disgrace our cause by a dishonorable action. In sending deputies to arrange the forms of a recognition of our independence, I yielded to the request made to me by the agents of the government of the king of France. It was necessary to perform this act, to take from malevolence every pretext for taxing me with obstinacy. It was necessary to do it, for my own peace of mind, and in fact to fix the opinion of the nation upon this important point. I believe in this respect, that I performed my duty, but I have the satisfaction of declaring that I have not been deceived.

"The Republic is free, it is for ever Independent—since we are determined to bury ourselves under its ruins, rather than submit to a stranger. In the meanwhile the enemies of Hayti rashly count upon divisions among us. What folly, and at the same time what duplicity! Let us be eternally united. Faithful to our duties, we shall be, with the assistance of the Almighty, forever invincible. "BOYER."

Upon this subject the London Courier contains the following paragraph:

"We gave, on Tuesday, in our City article, the particulars of an expedition which was said to have sailed from Brest four or five weeks ago, for the alledged purpose of recovering possession of St. Domingo.—We have since received, from various quarters, information connected with this intelligence, which leaves no doubt upon our minds as to the fact of troops having been despatched. A portion of this information we subjoin in the following private letter.

"Soon after the dismissal of the Haytien Commissioners, sent to France to negociate the acknowledgment of St. Domingo as an Independent State, orders were given by the French Government to prepare an expedition against the Island. Four thousand men, forming part of it were ordered to Brest, and there embarked on the 28th of August. The expedition then set sail to join Admiral Duperre off Martinique, where an additional number of troops collected for several months past, were to be taken on board, and the whole to proceed to St. Domingo. On arriving off the Island, it was intended to undertake any thing decisive in the first instance, which the smallness of the forces would not admit of, but to get possession of some strong places on the most healthiest part of the coast, throw up additional fortifications, and then enter into negociations with some of the Chiefs, many of whom are still attached to France. Should these fail, then strong reinforcements would be sent from France and hostilities commence, whilst the fleet would establish the strictest blockade before the principal ports of the Island.

"Communication respecting this armament was, it is added, made several months ago to the British Cabinet, which objecting upon the principle that every nation has an undoubted right to attempt to recover her colonies, started no objection. The journey of a certain Lord (H——by,) to Paris some months ago, it is even said, was not altogether un-connected with this object

"Spain claiming part of Hispaniola, it is confidently asserted, will act in concert with France, and probably extend her views to the Gulf of Mexico."

SPAIN.

A letter from Seville of the 18th ult. states that the Spanish government had engaged six transports, lying at Port St. Mary's, to proceed to Terril, where 3000 troops would embark for Havanna.—Letters have been received from Barcelona, which state that business is much suspended, in consequence of the disturbances in Catalonia.—It is asserted in the private letters from Madrid, that, on the 17th ult. Ferdinand VII. at a Council of his Ministers again declared to them his fixed resolution never to acknowledge any portion of the loans made by the Cortes—

GREECE.

Glorious and animating intelligence has been received from Greece. The long threatened attempt upon Samos has been made, and the result has been the conflagration of part of the Turkish fleet, and the total destruction of the forces landed there, the crews of which, before it had time to obtain possession of any place, or to commit any ravages. This signal victory has been gained by the heroism of the Greeks on the sea and land, and by the admirable concert which prevailed in their operations. The Captain Pacha, it appears, was either allowed to throw his troops on the shore, or had succeeded in landing them, when the Grecian fleet, commanded by the brave and gallant Admiral Miaulis, who had watched all his movements since the recapture of Ipsara arrived in his rear, and attacked him before he had recovered from the disorder occasioned by the operation which had just been completing, or was then accomplishing. A tremendous conflict ensued, both between the fleets and on the shore. For the Samians, seeing the retreat of the invaders cut off, and their audacity appalled by the contest behind them, on the inside of which the enemy well knew that their existence must ultimately depend, rushed upon them with a fixed determination not to suffer one of them to escape. Miaulis and his gallant companions, who had promised to perish or to save Samos and avenge Ipsara, fought on the other hand, with no less enthusiasm than skill, and victory at last declared for the just cause. Notwithstanding the courage with which the Turks on board the fleet defended themselves, they could not escape the fire vessels heroically led amongst them by the Greek sailors, and one ship of the line, three frigates, and thirty gun boats were destroyed. Some of the latter ran aground to avoid a more terrible fate, but the crews spared by the flames fell a prey to scarce a milder death for the Samians had also triumphed over the wild and terrified hordes so lately advancing with howls of joy a thirst for blood and plunder, and "all the Turks who landed on the Island, whether soldiers or crews of the grounded vessels," we are told, "were put to the sword."

Mr. Blaquiere, the indefatigable agent of the London Greek Committee, has arrived at Zante on his return to England. M. B. has on board with him several young Greeks, who are about to prosecute their studies in London, and, so we are informed, two Ipsariot Amazons, who, after having killed their children to prevent them from falling into the hands of the barbarians, fought with extraordinary valour, and escaped from the fury of their enemies. Mr. Blaquiere stated at Zante, that of the Turkish fleet only 17 vessels escaped to Boudroun, (anciently Halicarnassus,) and he further added, that in a few days we may expect now unequalled in history

"A letter from Smyrna of Sept. 23d, asserts that the Turkish camp at Scala Nuova had broken up, that 8000 fugitives from it had arrived there in the most deplorable state, without arms or clothing, and that the rest had dispersed through the province of Natolia, after the loss of numbers from want and disease,

"The same letter states further, that a report is much in circulation of the defeat of the Egyptian fleet; though the source of that report is not known."

AFRICA

DEFEAT OF THE ASHANTEES.

PORTSMOUTH, Sept. 23,—Arrived His Majesty's frigate Tweed, of 46 guns, Sir John Poo Beresford Knight, with despatches from Cape Coast Castle, announcing that the Ashantees were totally defeated in an action which took place on the 11th of July, between their force, commanded by the King in person, and a British allied force under the command of Lieut. Colonel Sutherland, to which our force sustained a loss of about 500 men killed and wounded, principally of the Fantee force. Lieut. Swanzy was the only officer killed. The amount of the loss of the Ashantees is not known. Their force was estimated at about 15,000 men. We had an opportunity, in this battle, of witnessing the use of field-pieces, from which were fired grape and canister shot, which caused great havoc among the enemy, and so much surprised them that they showed no disposition whatever to renew the battle. They came down with a determination to take the Castle. The battle was fought about three quarters of a mile from the shore. Parties of marines and seamen were landed from the Thetis to aid in the contest. The loss of the British amounted to 105 killed and 400 wounded. When the Thetis left Cape Coast, on the 22d of July, nothing had been heard or seen of the enemy since the battle, although parties had been sent out in search of them. It was, therefore, supposed, that they had given up the contest, and had retired to their own country. Colonel Sutherland came home in the Thetis.

WASHINGTON IRVING.

We think it very probable this fine prose writer, from the peculiar character of his genius, and the felicitous manner in which he embodies the creations of his fancy, will be the means of rendering fashionable a species of story-telling that has, for many years, gradually declined in general estimation, except in nurseries and the schools of Germany.—IRVING'S "Tales of a traveller" have not yet found their way to this country.—From amongst the specimens given of them, by the periodical writers of England and the U. S.—we select the following, as by much the most interesting we have seen. —ED.

THE ADVENTURES OF A GERMAN STUDENT.

On a stormy night, in the tempestuous times of the French revolution, a young German was returning to his lodgings, at a late hour, across the old part of Paris. The lightning gleamed, and the loud claps of thunder rattled through the lofty narrow streets—but I should first tell you something about this young German Gottfried Wolfgang was a young man of good family. He had studied for some time at Gottingen, but being of a visionary and enthusiastic character, he had wandered into those wild and speculative doctrines which have so often bewildered German students. His secluded life, his intense application, and the singular nature of his studies, had an effect on both mind and body. His health was impaired; his imagination diseased. He had been indulging in fanciful speculations on spiritual essences, until, like Swedenborg, he had an ideal world of his own around him. He took a notion, I do not know from what cause, that there was an evil influence hanging over him; and an evil genius or spirit seeking to ensnare him and ensure his perdition. Such an idea working on his melancholy temperament produced the most gloomy effects. His friends discovered the mental malady that was preying upon him, and determined that the best cure was a change of scene; he was sent, therefore, to finish his studies amidst the splendours and galeties of Paris.

Wolfgang arrived at Paris at the breaking out of the revolution. The popular delirium at first caught his enthusiastic mind, and he was captivated by the political and philosophical theories of the day; but the scenes of blood which followed shocked his sensitive nature; disgusted him with society and the world, and made him more than ever a recluse. He shut himself up in a solitary apartment in the Pays Latin, the quarter of students. There in a gloomy street not far from the monastic walls of the Sorbonne, he pursued his favourite speculations. Sometimes he spent hours together in great libraries of Paris, those catacombs of departed authors, rummaging among their hoards of dusty and obsolete works in quest of food for his unhealthy appetite. He was, in a manner a literary ghoul, feeding in the charnel-house of decayed literature.

Wolfgang, though solitary and recluse, was of an ardent temperament, but for a time it operated merely upon his imagination. He was too shy and agnorant of the world to make any advances to the fair, but he was a passionate admirer of female beauty, and in his lonely chamber would often lose himself in reveries on forms and faces which he had seen, and his fancy would deck out images of loveliness far surpassing the reality

Supplement to the Weekly Register.

VOL. III. THURSDAY, DECEMBER 2d, 1824. No. 49

While his mind was in this excited and sublimated state, he had a dream which produced an extraordinary effect upon him. It was of a female face of transcendent beauty. So strong was the impression it made, that he dreamt of it again and again. It haunted his thoughts by day, his slumbers by night; in fine, he became passionately enamoured of this shadow of a dream. This lasted so long, that it became one of those fixed ideas which haunt the minds of melancholy men, and are at times mistaken for madness.

Such was Gottfried Wolfgang, and such his situation at the time I mentioned. He was returning home late one stormy night, through some of the old and gloomy streets of the Marais, the ancient part of Paris. The loud claps of thunder rattled among the high houses of the narrow streets. He came to the Place de Greve, the square were public executions are performed. The lightning quivered about the pinnacles of the ancient Hotel de Ville, and shed flickering gleams over the open space in front. As Wolfgang was crossing the square, he shrunk back with horror at finding himself close by the guillotine. It was the height of the reign of terror, when this dreadful instrument of death stood ever ready, and its scaffold was continually running with the blood of the virtuous and the brave. It had that very day been actively employed in the work of carnage, and there it stood in grim array amidst a silent and sleeping city, waiting for fresh victims.

Wolfgang's heart sickened within him, and he was turning shuddering from the horrible engine, when he beheld a shadowy form cowering as it were at the foot of the steps which led up to the scaffold. A succession of vivid flashes of lightning revealed it more distinctly. It was a female figure, dressed in black. She was seated on one of the lower steps of the scaffold, leaning forward, her face hid in her lap, and her long dishevelled tresses hanging to the ground streaming with the rain which fell in torrents. Wolfgang paused. There was something awful in this solitary monument of woe. The female had the appearance of being above the common order. He knew the times to be full of vicissitudes, and that many a fair head, which had once been pillowed on down, now wandered houseless.—Perhaps this was some poor mourner whom the dreadful axe had rendered desolate, and who sat heart broken on the strand of existence, from which all that was dear to her had been launched into eternity.

He approached, and addressed her in the accents of sympathy. She raised her head and gazed wildly at him. What was his astonishment at beholding, by the bright glare of the lightning, the very face which had haunted him at his dreams. It was pale and disconsolate, but ravishingly beautiful.

(To be Continued.)

TWO LETTERS on the NOXIOUS EFFECTS of MARSHY SITUATIONS from the PAPERS of the ROYAL SOCIETY of LONDON.

No. I.

On the noxious Quality of the Effluvia of putrid Marshes. In a Letter from the Rev. Dr. Priestly to Sir John Pringle.

(Read, Dec. 16, 1773.)

Since the publication of my Papers I have read two treatises, written by Dr. Alexander of Edinburgh, and am exceedingly pleased with the spirit of philosophical inquiry which they discover.

They appear to me to contain many new, curious and valuable observations: but one of the conclusions, which he draws from his experiments, I am satisfied, from my own observations, is ill founded, and, from the nature of it, must be dangerous. I mean his maintaining, that there is nothing to be apprehended from the noxious influence of putrid marshes.

I was particularly surprised to meet with such an opinion as this in a book inscribed to yourself, who have so clearly explained the great mischief of such a situation in your excellent treatise on the diseases of the army. On this account I have thought it not improper to address you the following observations and experiments, which I think clearly demonstrate the fallacy of Dr. Alexander's reasoning, indisputably establish your doctrine, and, indeed, justify the apprehensions of all mankind in this case.

I think it probable enough, that putrid matter, as Dr. Alexander has endeavoured to prove, will preserve other substances from putrefaction; because, being already saturated with the effluvium, they cannot readily take any more, but Dr. Alexander was not aware, that air, thus loaded with putrid effluvium, is exceedingly noxious when taken into the lungs. I have lately however, had an opportunity of fully ascertaining how very noxious such air is.

Happening to use, at Calne, a much larger trough of water, for the purpose of my experiments, than I had done at Leeds, and not having fresh water so near at hand as I had there, I neglected to change it, till it turned black, and became offensive, but by no means to such a degree, as to deter me from making use of it. In this state of the water, I observed bubbles of air to rise from it, and especially in one place, to which some shelves, that I had in it, directed them: and having set an inverted glass vessel to catch them, in a few days I collected a considerable quantity of this air, which issued spontaneously from the putrid water, and, putting nitrous air to it, I found that no change of colour or diminution ensued, so that it must have been in the highest degree noxious. I repeated the same experiment several times afterwards, and always with the same result. After this I had the curiosity to try how wholesome air would be affected by agitation in this water; when, to my real surprise, I found, that, after one minute only, a candle would not burn in it; and, after three or four minutes, it was in the same state with the air which had issued spontaneously from the same water.

I also found, that common air, confined in a glass vessel, in contact only with this water, and without any agitation, would not admit a candle to burn in it after two days.

These facts certainly demonstrate, that air which either arises from stagnant or putrid water, or which has been for some time in contact with it, must be very unfit for respiration; and yet Dr. Alexander's opinion is rendered so plausible by his experiments, that it is very possible that many persons may be rendered secure, and thoughtless of danger, in a situation in which they must necessarily breathe it. On this account, I have thought it right to make this communication as early as I conveniently could; and, as Dr. Alexander appears to be an ingenuous and benevolent man, I doubt not but he will thank me for it.

That air issuing from water, or rather from the soft earth, or mud, at the bottom of pits containing water is not always unwholesome, I have also had an opportunity of ascertaining. Taking a walk about two years ago, in the neighbourhood of Wakefield, in Yorkshire, I observed bubbles of air to arise, in remarkably great plenty, from a small pool of water, which upon enquiry, I was informed had been the place where some persons had been boring the ground in order to find coal. These bubbles of air having excited my curiosity, I presently returned, with a bason, and other vessels proper for my purpose, and having stirred the mud with a long stick, I soon got about a pint of this air; and examining it, found it to be a good common air, at least a little better in every way. I could not then discovered the method of ascertaining the goodness of common air by a mixture of nitrous air. Previous to the trial, I had suspected that this air would have been found to be inflammable.

I shall conclude this letter with observing, that I have found a remarkable difference in different kinds of water, with respect to their effect on common air agitated in them, and which I am not yet able to account for. If I agitate common air in the water of a deep well, near my house in Calne, which is hard, but clear and sweet, a candle will not burn in it after three minutes. The same is the case with the rain water, which I get from the roof of my house. But in distilled water, or in water of a spring well near the house, I must agitate the air about twenty minutes before it will be so much injured. It may be worth while to make farther experiments with respect to this property of water.

In consequence of using the rain water, and the well water above mentioned, I was very near conclu ding, contrary to what I have asserted in my printed papers, that common air suffers a decomposition by great rarefaction. For when, I had collected a considerable quantity of air, which had been rarefied about four hundred times by an excellent pump made for me by Mr. Smeaton, I always found that when I filled my receivers with the water above mentioned, though I did it so gradually as to occasion as little agitation as possible, a candle would not burn in the air that remained in them. But when I used distilled water, or fresh spring water, I undeceived myself.

No. II.

Farther proofs of the Insalubrity of marshy Situations.

In a Letter from the Rev. Dr. Price to the Rev. Dr. Horsley.

(Read, Jan. 13, 1774.)

DEAR SIR,

Dr. Priestley's paper on the noxious effects of stagnant water, read last Thursday to the Royal Society, brought to my remembrance a table exhibiting the rate of mortality in a parish situated among marshes, which I had seen in Mr. Muret's Observations, published in the Memoirs of the Economical Society at Bern, for 1770. I have since reviewed this table, and found that it affords a full confirmation of Dr. Priestley's assertions. This parish is part of the district of Vaud, belonging to the canton of Bern in Switzerland, and contains 169 families, and 696 inhabitants. Mr. Muret's table of the rate of mortality in it, is formed from a register of the ages at which all died in it for fifteen years. With this table he has also given tables from like registers, of the rates of mortality in seven small towns; in 36 country parishes and villages; in 16 parishes situated in the Alps; in 12 corn parishes, and in 18 vintage parishes. From comparing these tables, it appears, that the probabilities of life are highest in the most hilly parts of the Province, and lowest in the marshy parish just mentioned. The difference is indeed remarkable, as will appear from the following particulars. One half of all born in the mountains, live to the age of 47. In the marshy parish, one half live only to the age of 25. In the hills, one in 20, of all that are born, live to 80. In the marshy parish only one in 52 reaches the age. In the hills, a person aged 40 has a chance of 30 to 1, for living a year. In the marshy parish, his chance for living a year is not 30 to 1. In the hills, persons aged 20, 30, and 40, have an even chance for living 41, 33, and 25 years respectively. In the fenny parish, persons, at these ages, have an even chance of living only 30, 25, and

15 years. In short, it appears, that, though the probabilities of life in all this country, except this one parish, are much higher than in London; yet here, after 30 they are much Lower Before the age of 36 they are, indeed, higher in this parish; the reason of which must be, that the London air and customs are particularly noxious to children *

I am sensible, that observations, for only 15 years, in one small parish, do not afford as decisive and ample an authority, in the present case, as there is reason to wish for; and that, therefore, the perfect exactness of the particulars I have recited cannot be depended on. They are, however, sufficiently near the truth to demonstrate, in general, the unhealthfulness of a marshy situation, and as the register from whence they are derived is the only one, in such a situation, which I have ever met with, and Dr. Alexander's experiments may lead some to very wrong conclusions on this subject, I could not help thinking that there would be no impropriety in sending you the account I have now given. If you think it of any importance, I shall be obliged to you for reading it to the Royal Society.

I cannot help taking this opportunity to add my wishes, that such registers of mortality, as those published by Mr. Maret were established in every part of this kingdom. We might then determine immediately every such question as that which has occasioned this letter; and know certainly, what influence different airs, and different situations, have on the duration of life. Two ingenious physicians, Dr. Percival at Manchester, and Dr. Haygarth at Chester, have lately, with much zeal, promoted institutions of this kind; and a great deal of information may be expected from the accurate and comprehensive registers of mortality, which, under their direction, have been established in these towns. But the instruction arising from these establishments cannot be complete, till they become universal.

I am, Sir,
Your most obedient and humble Servant,
RICHARD PRICE.

Newington-Green,
Dec. 21, 1773.

* In London, one half of all that are born, die under three years of age. But this is not peculiar to London. In Berlin, the same proportion dies under three; and at Vienna, under two.

Poetry.

TO A WIFE.

Occasioned by reading the beautiful lines, "to a husband," in a late Weekly Register.

"Oh! were I in my dying hour,"
And thou beside me lingering,
My soul would spurn death's withering power,
And mount to heaven on fastest wing.

Then high, to happy realms above
I'd bear affection's golden chord,
And link thy heart and fix our love,
Fast to the eternal throne of God.

Then would this guardian spirit bear
Heaven's choicest blessings down to thee,
And thither waft thy artless prayer,
Mingled with angel's minstrelsy.

And, when I caught that spirit flown,
And bore the precious boon above,
Then, side by side, before that throne
We'll chaunt the eternal song of love.—

X. Y. Z.

Nov. 15th.

Mr. Fothergill will oblige a Correspondent by giving a place to the above in the Weekly Register.

Domestic.

The Parliaments of Canada.—The Provincial Parliament of Lower Canada are to meet for the Despatch of business on Saturday the 8th day of January next.

Our Parliament, as will be seen by the Proclamation in this day's Gazette, meets on the 11th of January next.

REMARKABLE CAVERN.

Being much interested in the Natural History of this Country, we should be happy to receive some further, and more authentic, account of the place alluded to in the following notice, which we have extracted from an American Paper.—Ed.

Remarkable Cavern.—In the Township of Lanark, near the Perth Settlement, U. C a cavern has been lately discovered, containing an immense quantity of bones, chiefly of the Elk, Buffalo and Moose Deer bones, chiefly of the Elk, Buffalo and Moose Deer. The cave commences with a perpendicular descent of from six to eight feet, and extends a great way under ground. It has not yet been sufficiently explored to promote the interests of science. We hope some persons will feel curiosity enough in the discovery to induce them to examine it more carefully, and to state the result to the public.—Upper Canada paper.

Iluons of Loratte.—These Indians, having lately received, with a considerable sum, the purchase of their lying near Quebec, and which was granted to their ancestors in 1651, have despatched their Chiefs, on a Mission to England, for the purpose of recovering their long neglected rights.

The St. Lawrence Navigation.—Messrs. ALLAN MCLEAN, JOHN KIERY, JOHN MCLEAN, C. A. HAGERMAN and JOHN MACAULAY, Esquires, of Kingston, have been constituted a Committee, with Mr. JAMES MCFARLANE as their Secretary, for the purpose aiding the St. Lawrence Association, lately formed at Quebec, in their operations for surveying the river between Prescott and LaChine, and for improving the navigation of the rapids.

Frightful Death.—Two men, whose names we have not learned, were reported to have been precipitated over the Niagara Fall, on Tuesday the 9th inst. One of them was a blacksmith, lately employed at Chippawa. They were going across to the American side, in a boat loaded with apples and cider; but how they got into the rapids, we have not heard. Our informant was told by the Ferryman at Lewiston, that some of the apples had been observed floating down the river, by that place.—Pieces of the boat, have also, been picked up below the Falls. The bodies are not yet found.

WELLAND CANAL.

We learn that cotracts have been entered into, for completing that part of the Welland Canal extending from New Holland to Lock No. 1; and that they have been taken by most respectable and responsible men Mr Alfred Hovey, of Montezuma, who has contracted for the tunnel, has taken stock to the amount of ten thousand dollars. Messrs. Horne, Kennedy, & Co have two sections of the open cut, and a Mr. Lampson, of Niagara, the other. The meeting was numerously attended, and a number of proposals were given in,—the contracts were taken on the estimates of the engineers, with very little variation—the whole is to be completed by the 1st of May, 1826. The excavation will commence on Tuesday the 30th inst. at 12 o'clock.

The Contractors will be ready to commence their operations on the Welland Canal, at New-Holland, on the 30th inst.; on which day, at 12 o'clock, the first earth will be removed. A public dinner will be prepared on the occasion, at Badgeley's Tavern Any gentlemen wishing to celebrate the event, will send their names to Mr B. previous thereto.—Communicated.

New-Holland, 17th Nov. 1824.

Terrible explosion at Gainsborough.—On Monday the 7th inst. at 2 o'clock, P. M. the frame Store of John M'Gill Esq. on the twenty-mile creek, was blown up with six persons in it, viz: Dr. Samuel Woodruff, Mr. Wilcox, Mr. Malatte, Mr. M'Gill, his clerk, and a serving woman. The first four were sitting by the fire—a keg containing 53lb of powder was between Mr M'Gill and the chimney, who was picking some lumps out of it within five feet of the fire. Another keg with 47lb. stood open beside him Also, other two kegs in a different part of the store, not unheaded. Some of these gentlemen were amusing themselves, producing explosions, by throwing small lumps of the damaged powder into the fire—this caused a coal to start into one of the kegs, which immediately blew up. The four sides of the store went different ways—the roof was blown up about eight feet perpendicular, and then fell down, but left room for the unfortunate inmates to crawl out below, very much hurt. The clerk was behind the counter, and by a miracle, sustained no serious injury, nor did the serving woman get much hurt, she was in a lobby which communicated with the dwelling house. Our informant thinks the sufferers will all recover—and we hope this will be a warning to others to guard against similar accidents It is really astonishing that they were not all destroyed, either by the force of the explosion, or by the falling of the beams which supported the roof

P. S. We have learned since writing the above, that Dr Samuel Woodruff, who was unfortunately hurt when Mr. M'Gill's Store blew up, is since dead. Society, in him, has lost a very valuable member, he was diligent and assiduous in his profession, and his amiable disposition endeared him to all who had the honour of his acquaintance It is said, that, he to lived, the 19th inst. being the day of his funeral, was intended for his wedding day.—C. Advocate.

To the Editor of the Weekly Register.

Sir,

A few days past I visited Brayn's Woollen Factory lately established in Southwold, six miles from Port Talbot, the same distance from St. Thomas, and near the confluence of Kettle Creek with Lake Erie, of which I beg leave to submit to you a short account.

About three years ago, Mr Richard Brayn, and his son John (late of Lancashire, England) went into the woods and put in operation a Saw-Mill, on a beautiful branch of Kettle Creek, preparatory to the erecting of this Woollen Factory. The year following they set going a Carding Machine, and now they have completed the cloth Manufactory, taking wool in the fleece, and returning it ready for the Tailor. They have in operation a picking machine; a double Carding Machine, which cards about 100lbs. of wool per diem; A Billy or roping machine, with 30 spindles, drawing 5 threads of 5 feet length per minute, and capable of working 60lbs. of wool per day; A Jenny for spinning yarn, with 60 spindles, drawing 4 threads of 7 feet length per minute; and making about 25lbs of yarn per diem; Two looms in operation, which can turn off about 50 yds. cloth per day, and a fulling and dressing apparatus sufficient to finish the proceeds of the Factory, together with what customers work they may receive.

They informed me that they had received this season about 2000lbs. of wool for manufacture; had carded about 6,500 lbs, for customers, and taken in 100 pieces of cloth for fulling and dressing.

They made the whole of the machinery on the spot, except the spindles, which came from England. The Brayn's themselves were the artists, except for the heavy blacksmith's work, which however was performed under their immediate inspection. They are ingenious enterprising mechanics, and deserve much praise, as well as the generous support of the public, for their industry and perseverance in erecting such valuable works in this new settlement, which, as far as my information extends, are the first that have been altogether made in the Province. Since the projection of the above mentioned and other works to assist in the manufacture of wool, sheep have increased in this settlement nearly, if not more than, four fold; and in consequence the Brayn's intend doubling the extent of their works in the course of two years.

The works are situated in one of the most delightful portions of the Talbot Settlement, both as respects the quality of the Land, the excellence and quality of its fine Oak timber, its proximity to the Lake, its beautiful chrystalline rivulets, and the pleasing variety of scenery it now presents, but which will admit of infinite improvement. Some of the finest views in the District of London are to be found along the banks of Kettle Creek.

I am,
Sir,
Port Talbot,
18th Nov. 1824. Yours most respectfully,
A. H BURWELL

DIED.

On the 6th ult. after a long and painful illness, aged about 80 years, the Rev. Richard Pollard, Rector of Sandwich, County of Essex, Western District. His remains, at his request, were interred under the Chapel of the Episcopal Church at Sandwich. The Rev. Mr. Rolph of Amherstburgh read the funeral service, and the Rev. Mr. Kaddle, an Episcopalian Minister from Detroit, preached on the occasion, a sermon, so pathetic, that it brought tears from many of his audience.

Upper Canada Gazette.

New Series.

Vol. II. TORONTO, MONDAY, DECEMBER 9th, 1824. No. 1.

By Authority.

UPPER CANADA.

P. MAITLAND,
Lieut. Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

TO our Beloved and Faithful Legislative Councellors of our Province of Upper Canada; and to our Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses of our said Province, to our Provincial Parliament at our Town of York, on the Second Day of December next, to be Commenced, Held, Called and Elected, and to every of you—GREETING:

WHEREAS, by our Proclamation bearing date the Twenty Third Day of October, last, We thought fit to Prorogue our Provincial Parliament to the Second day of December next, at which time at our Town of York, you were held and constrained to appear, NOW KNOW YE, that We, taking into our Royal consideration the ease and convenience of our loving Subjects, have thought fit by and with the advice of our Executive Council, to relieve you and each of you of your attendance at the time aforesaid, hereby convoking, and by these presents enjoining you and each of you, that on Tuesday the Eleventh Day of January now next ensuing, you meet Us, in our Provincial Parliament, in our Town of York, FOR THE ACTUAL DESPATCH OF PUBLIC BUSINESS, there to take into consideration the state and welfare of our Province of Upper Canada, and thereon to do as may seem necessary, and herein fail not.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces in North America, at York, dated the Twenty Sixth day of November in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty-four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign.

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command.
JNO. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.
D. CAMERON, Secretary.

Upper Canada.

P. MAITLAND,

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come—GREETING:

WHEREAS by Proclamation bearing date the Fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventeen, our trusty and well beloved FRANCIS GORE Esquire, late our Lieutenant-Governor of our Province of Upper Canada, by and with the advice of the Executive Council thereof, and by virtue of the Authority in him vested in that behalf, did declare and appoint the Port of Ernestown, otherwise commonly called the Port of Bath, within the Midland District of this Province, to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for all Goods and Merchandize, not being entirely prohibited and for the payment of all Duties, liable to be paid on all Goods and Merchandize brought into this Province from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS by a certain Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdoms of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the Third Year of our Reign, entitled, "An Act to Regulate the Trade of the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, and for other purposes relating to the said Provinces," it is among other things Enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the Governor Lieutenant Governor, or person Administering the Government of either of our said Provinces respectively, by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council thereof for the time being, from time to time to diminish or increase, by Proclamation, the number of Ports or places, which then were, or thereafter might be, appointed in such Province for the Entry of Goods, Wares, and Commodities, imported from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS it appears expedient for the avoiding expence in the Collection of our Revenue, that the said Port of Ernestown shall no longer be a Port of Entry and Clearance.—NOW KNOW YE, that by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of our Province of Upper Canada. We have thought fit to declare, and do hereby declare, that from and of the date of this our Proclamation, the said Port of Ernestown shall cease to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the purposes aforesaid, and shall be and remain, as if the said Proclamation hereinbefore recited, had appointing the same to be a Port of Entry and Clearance, had never been made.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York this Twentieth day of March in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign. P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,

D. CAMERON, Secretary.

JNO. B ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

NOTICE.

Government House,
October 30th, 1824.

A COMMUNICATION has been recently received by HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR from the SOCIETY established in England, for the ENCOURAGEMENT of ARTS, MANUFACTURES, and COMMERCE, which holds out to the Agriculturists of this Colony the following Premiums:—viz.

Cultivation of Hemp in Upper and Lower Canada, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick.

I To the person who shall sow with Hemp the greatest quantity of land in the above-mentioned Provinces, not less than six arpents, (each four fifths of a statute acre) in the year 1824, and shall at the proper season cause to be plucked the summer Hemp, (or male Hemp bearing no seed,) and continue the winter Hemp, (or female Hemp bearing seed) on the ground until the seed is ripe; the Gold Medal, or Two Hundred Dollars.

II To the person who shall sow with Hemp the next greatest quantity of land in the same Provinces, not less than five arpents, in the year 1824, in the manner above-mentioned; the Silver Medal, or One Hundred Dollars

Certificates of the number of arpents, the method of culture, of the plucking of the Hemp, with a general account whether sown, broad-cast, or in drills, and of the expense, soil, cultivation, and produce, to be transmitted to the Society, certified under the Hand and Seal of the Governor or Lieutenant Governor, or the resident Magistrates or other competent local Authorities, together with 20lbs of the Hemp, and two quarts of the seed, on or before the last Tuesday in April, 1825.

Importation of Hemp from Canada, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick.

III To the person who shall Import to this country the greatest quantity of marketable Hemp, not less than One Hundred Tons in the year 1824, the produce of Canada, or one of the above mentioned Provinces;—the Gold Medal.

IV. To the person who shall Import the next greatest quantity not less than Fifty Tons;—the Silver Medal.

Certificates, satisfactory to the Society, to be produced by the Master of the Vessel on or before the last Tuesday in April, 1825, to testify that such Hemp was grown and prepared in Canada, Nova Scotia, or New Brunswick.

Exterpating the Stumps and Roots of Trees.

V. To the person who shall invent, and discover to the Society, the best method, verified by actual experience, of raising out of the earth, and removing the Stumps, and Roots of Trees, which have been left after felling the Timber, so as to Clear the Land for the purposes of Cultivation;—the Gold Medal or Fifty Guineas.

Certificates that the method has succeeded with at least Fifty Trees of Large Girth, and a full description of the means employed, to be delivered to the Society, on or before the last Tuesday in April, 1825.

Communications relative to any of the above subjects, may be addressed to His Excellency's Private Secretary. 45-6w.

Executive Council Office,
York, February 7th 1821.

WHEREAS it has been represented, that many persons who have received Locations of Land, have, from Sickness, and other legitimate causes, been unable to fulfil the Settlement Duty in the time required by the Location Ticket, and have neglected to apply to His Excellency in Council for an extension of the period, for performance of such duty.

BE it Known that the period for completing the Settlement Duty, is hereby extended to Two Years, from the date of Locations until further notice shall be given.

JOHN SMALL, Clk Ex. Coun.

GLEBES.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in Council, having taken into consideration the system hitherto practised, of Granting Licences of Occupation for GLEBE LANDS, is pleased to Order, that in future the Glebes in the several Townships, with the exception of One Lot in each Township, for the accommodation of the Incumbent, shall be Leased on the same terms as Clergy Reserves.

NOTICE is therefore given to those Persons who hold Licences of Occupation for any of the said Glebe Lots, that the same will not be Renewed; and unless they do make application, by Petition, for Leases in the usual manner, through the medium of the Corporation for superintending the Clergy Reserves, before the Twenty-second of Sept. after expiring, the Lots so held by Licence of Occupation will be Leased to other Applicants.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Ex. Coun,

Executive Council Office,
York, 29th April, 1824. } 19—tf.

Executive Council Chamber,
York, 31st January, 1824.

PRESENT,
HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
IN COUNCIL,

HIS Majesty's Government having recently extended their assistance to the class of Emigrants, which it was intended to relieve by gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres of Land, in conveying them to their respective locations:

IT IS ORDERED, that from the first day of May next, no gratuitous Grants be made of any quantity of Land to other than privileged persons.—And that as the Fee on Two Hundred Acres was raised, in order to defray the gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres the consideration failing, the future Fee on Two Hundred Acres is reduced to Eight Pounds Four Shilling and One Penny Sterling; the existing Fee before 1819, and the Fee on all other Grants, in Townships Surveyed since that time, to be the same as established by the Order in Council, of 5th January, 1819.

N. B. Possessors of gratuitous Grants for Fifty Acres, may, by paying the Fee on One Hundred Acres, receive a Grant of the adjoining Fifty Acres of vacant

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Ex'v. Council.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL CHAMBER,
AT YORK, 26th JAN. 1824.
PRESENT;
HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
In Council

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR submitted to the consideration of the Board, the Sheriffs' Reports of their respective Gaols, together with other Documents relating to a Winter Circuit, by which it appeared that the House of Assembly had addressed His Excellency to that effect, for this Session only; and obviously for the Delivery of the Gaols in the several Districts.

THE limitation of such a measure to one season seeming to militate with the Provision of the Law, that when the Communication from the Seat of Government admitted, and the circumstances of the Province required, there should be a regular Second Circuit, the Board would prefer to recommend that Special Commissions to deliver particular Gaols should issue where requisite; but, as the respective Reports from the Sheriffs do not, in the opinion of the Board, require any immediate interposition, His Excellency, with advice of the Council, postpones a Second Circuit until the circumstances of the Province more decidedly require it.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Executive Council.

WHEREAS by the Tenor of the Location Tickets a Certificate is required to be lodged of the Settlement Duty being done within two Years, or that the said Location should be forfeited, and in case of Locations not gratuitous, that one third of the Patent Fee be lodged with such Certificate; AND WHEREAS it is represented, that in many instances, Certificates of performance of the Settlement Duty, have been withheld from the inability of the settler to deposit such proportion of the Patent Fee, it is deemed expedient to relieve the settler from forfeiture of his location, when he may actually have performed his settlement duty—Notice is hereby given that in all cases where Settlement Duty has been performed within the limited period, the settler shall, on filing Certificate thereof within six Months of this date, be exempted from forfeiture notwithstanding the non-payment therewith of such portion of the Patent Fee, provided the Patent is sued out within One Year from the filing of such Certificate.

And further; His Excellency, in the hope of avoiding the necessity of rescinding any of the Militia grants, is pleased to direct this Public Notification; that all lands granted to Militia men, upon which the Settlement Duties shall not have been performed within the limited period, will in pursuance of general instructions given to the Surveyor General in all similar cases, be declared vacant, and will be granted within Six Months after the expiration of that period, to the first applicant, unless the Original Nominee, shall before such subsequent application, have lodged a Certificate of his having performed the Settling Duties.

JOHN SMALL, Clk. Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office,
York, 7th Nov. 1821.

WHEREAS it has become expedient to establish a line of communication through certain remote Townships, for encouragement thereof, Grants will be made to actual Settlers in the Townships hereinafter named on the condition of Settling within two years from the date of the Location, at the reduced Scale of 5th January, 1819, viz.

A Township North of Mariposa, advertised from the Surveyor General's Office on the 19th of October, as-

	Zeta, to be called	Eldon
N. of Eps		Fenelon
N. of Emily advertised as	Emir	Verulam
N. of Smith	Lake	Harvey
E. of do.		Douro
N. of Asphodel	Alma	Dummer
N. of Seymour	Mora	Belmont
N. of Dummer	Yea	Burleigh
N. of Marmora	Ninia	Lake
N. of Madoc		Tudor
N. of Ebzever	No	Grimsthorp
N. of Kaladar	Aye	Anglesea
N. of Kennebec	Jus	Barrie
N of Norma	Oden	Clarendon
N. of Oso	Et	Palmerston
N. of Belmont	Carlos	Methuen

JOHN SMALL, C. E. C.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Newcastle District, to wit. } BY virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of Kings Bench, and to the Sheriff of the Newcastle District directed, against the Lands and Tenements of David M'Gregor Rogers Esq. at the suit of John Strachan, Thomas A. Dobbs, and Thomas H. Cartwright, Executors of the late Richard Cartwright, Esq. I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said David M'Gregor Rogers the following Lands, viz

S. half of Lot No. 3	Broken Front,	A.
Lot No. 3	do. do.	B. } 330 Acres.
Lot No. 3	do. do.	C.
Lot No. 23	2 Concession,	200 do.
Lot No. 26	3 do	200 do.

of the Township of Haldimand, in the county of North umberland, which Property I shall offer for sale at Public Auction, at the Inn now occupied by Mr N. W. Mack, in the village of Coburg, on the ninth day of February next at 12 o'clock, at noon

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff,
By EBENEZER PERRY, D'y Sheriff

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above described Premises, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber, on or before the day of Sale.

NOTE.—The sale of the above Lots, No 3, Concession A., B., and C., 330 Acres, is postponed until 11th day of January next (1825) at the same place and at 6 o'clock in the Evening.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
BY EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.
Sheriff's Office, Cobourg, } 47—td.
November 3d, 1824.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit. } ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb. 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Peter Grant, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Jerry Whitehead, viz The easterly half of Lot No. 10, in the First Concession of the Township of Thurlow, containing 100 acres more or less.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1824

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit } ON Saturday the 5th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Zachariah Simmons, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Thomas Parker, viz.

Part of Lot No. 16, in the First Concession of the Township of Sidney, containing three acres and thirty-one perches.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office Kingston,
November 2d, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To Wit. } ON Saturday the 12th day of March, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Theophilus Lockwood, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Thomas Parker, viz.

Part of the east half of Lot No. 22, in the Third Concession of the Township of Sidney, in the County of Hastings, containing 19½ acres.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
October, 1824

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To Wit } ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb. 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands, as belonging to Lewis Day, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Alexander Simpson, viz.

The rear two fifths of Lot No. 15, containing 80 acres, and the north or rear two-fifths of the westerly quarter of Lot No. 16, in the Fourth Concession of the Township of Kingston, containing 20 acres, and the south-easterly quarter of the west half of Lot No. 16, in the Second Concession of the Township of Kingston, containing 25 acres.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Lands, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To Wit. } ON Thursday the 28th day of October next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to the estate of the late Duncan McDonald, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Duncan McDonell, viz.

Lot No. 406 in the Town of Kingston, containing one sixth of an acre.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
July 27th, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having claims on the above lot of land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale.

☞ The above Sale is postponed till Saturday, the 18th day of December next, at the same hour and place.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1824. } 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To Wit. } ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Lewis Rosebush, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Duncan McDonell, viz.

A part of Lot No. 18, in the Second Concession of the Township of Rawdon, containing 70 acres of Land, described as follows, viz. commencing at the south west angle of the said Lot in front, where a post has been planted, thence running north sixteen degrees west forty-nine chains and forty links, then south seventy-four degrees north fifteen chains to the centre of the said Lot, thence south, sixteen degrees east, to the allowance for road in front of the said Concession, thence west seventy-four degrees south fifteen chains to the place of beginning.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To Wit } ON Saturday the 19th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Daniel Lyons, seized by virtue of an Execution, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of the Hon. G. H. Markland, and John Kirby, Esq Executors to the estate of the late Lawrence Herchimer, viz:—

Lot No. 25 in the 7th Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN
Sheriff, M, D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
18th October, 1824. } No 46,—t. d

N. B All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District To Wit. } ON Tuesday the 18th day of January 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands and Tenements, as belonging to William Purkiss, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Charles Bowman, viz:—

Lot No. 6 in the 2d Concession of the Township of Loughborough, containing 200 Acres; also Town Lot No 260 in the Town of Kingston, with a large two story Frame House erected thereon.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office Kingston,
October 18th, 1824.

N. B. All Persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale 45—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, TO WIT. } ON Saturday the 1th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Solomon Orser, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Allan McLean, Esq viz:—

The front part of Lot No. 18, in the 2d Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
18th October, 1824

N. B All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District To Wit } ON Tuesday the 18th day of January, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Silas Ormsby, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of D'Arcy Boulton, Esq viz:—

The East half of Lot No. 2 in the 12th Concession of the Township of Huntingdon, in the County of Hastings, containing 100 Acres more or less.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
October 18th, 1824

N B. All Persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 45—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Niagara District, To Wit. } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of William Chisholm, at the suits of John Jamieson and John McKenzie, I have seized and taken the following lands, viz:

		Acres.
Part of Lot No. 16 in the 5th Concession of Grantham,	}	50
Part of Lot No. 17 in the 7th Concession of Grantham.	}	2½
Part of Lot No 13 in the 7th Concession of Grantham.	}	80
Lots Nos. 2 and 3 in the Village of St. Catharines.	}	2
Lots Nos 3 and 4 in do do do.		¾
Lot No 9 in the Town of Niagara.		¼
Lots No. 14 and 15, in the 5th Concession of Grimsby.	}	200
Part of Lots Nos. 9 and 10 in do. do. do.	}	100

All of which property I shall offer for Sale on the last Monday in March, 1825, at Twelve o'clock noon, at the Court House, in the Town of Niagara, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for Cash only.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.
Sheriff's Office, Niagara,
2d March, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim to the above mentioned premises by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

48—6w. R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Niagara District, To Wit. } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Lizx, alias, Eliza Skinner, widow of the late Haggie Skinner, deceased, at the suit of James Maclem, and James Cummings, Executors of the late John Faning, deceased, I have seized and taken, as belonging to the said Lizx, alias, Eliza Skinner, Lots No. 172, and 161, in the Township of Stamford, 323 acres—Lots number 2, 3, 5, 6, and 7 in the Fourteenth Concession of the Township of Pelham, containing 563 acres:—All of which property I shall offer for sale on the second Monday in March, in the year 1825, at twelve o'clock noon, at the Court House, in the Town of Niagara, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for cash only.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff,
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Niagara,
March 2d, 1824.

N B. Any Person or Persons having any claim to the above mentioned premises by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

48—6w. R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

NIAGARA DISTRICT, To Wit } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the lands and tenements of John D. M'Kay, at the suit of Peter M'Gill, I have seized and taken the following Lands, viz:—

Lot No. 13, in the 8th Concession of		Clinton.
Lot No. 5, 6, 7, & 12, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Grimsby.	}	400 acres
Lot No. 37, & 39, in the [illegible] 9th Concession of do.	}	200 acres
Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 1st Concession of Bertie.	}	495 acres
Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 2d Concession of do.
Lot No. 12 & 14, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Gainsbor'o	}	400 acres
Lot No. 4, in the 2d Concession of do	}	200 acres

Lot No. 74, 95, 96, & ¼, of 201, in the town of Niagara —All of which property I shall offer for sale on the 2d day of August, 1824, at the Court House in the town of Niagara, at 12 o'clock, noon, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for cash only.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff
By PETER T. PAWLING, Dep'y Sheriff,
Sheriff's Office, Niagara,
July 31st, 1823 4.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claims on the above named premises, by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

☞ The sale of the above property is postponed until the 13th of September, next, at the same place and hour.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff
The Sale of the above Property is postponed until the second Tuesday in January, 1825
RICHARD LEONARD Sheriff.
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff
48—6w.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, } ON Saturday the 18th day of
To Wit: } December next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, all the right, title, claim and interest of Wm. Bayard Smyth, of Kingston, to the following Town Lots, with the buildings thereon erected, seized by virtue of a Writ of Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at the suit of C. A. Hagerman, Esq viz:—Lot No 110, and the North West half of Lot No. 107, in the Town of Kingston, containing three tenths of an acre.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above property, or upon any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me one month before the day of sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff M. D.

Kingston, Sept. 14th, 1824.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Commissariat Officer at York, will be ready to enter into Contract with any person or persons willing to

BAKE BREAD

from Government Flour, for the use of His Majesty's Troops at this Post, for one year, from the 25th December, 1824, to the 24th December, 1825.

Sealed Tenders to be delivered into this Office on the 14th December next, at noon, and they must express in words, at length, the number of pounds of Bread that will be given for every hundred and twelve pounds of Flour.

Security will be required for the due fulfilment of the Contracts entered into, and the parties making Proposals will be required to attend at the time of opening the Tenders, which must be sealed, and endorsed Tender for Baking Bread.

Commissariat Office, Nov. 12th, 1824. 47—4w.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT.

FOR

FRESH BEEF.

NOTICE is hereby given, that Tenders will be received at this Office on the 14th day of December next at noon, from such Persons as may be willing to supply for the use of the Garrison and Staff at York, for the period of Twelve Months, commencing 25th December next.

FRESH BEEF,

The Conditions of Contract, Form of Tender and other particulars, may be known on application at this Office

No Tender will be noticed, unless the Party and his Sureties, or an Agent on his behalf, attend at the time of opening the Tenders, which must be sealed and endorsed,—"Tenders for the Supply of Fresh Beef."

F. T. BILLINGS,
Dep'y. Ass't. Com'n Gen'l.

York, Nov. 12th, 1824. 47—4w.

NOT OFFICIAL.

FIRE INSURANCE.

THE Sun Insurance Company of New York, having appointed George Crookshank, Esquire, their Agent in Upper Canada,—he is ready to Insure against Loss or Damage by Fire, on Dwelling Houses, Stores, Merchandise, House hold Furniture, and other Personal Property; at moderate Rates of Premium.—Persons wishing to Insure must send a plan of their Buildings, when wanted out of the Town of York a respectable reference will be required, and Letters Post Paid —Application to be made to

R. W. PRENTICE

York, 26th Sept. 1824. No. 39—t. f.

FOR SALE.

A SET of SUPERB, London-made, CRIMSON MOREEN CURTAINS, for THREE WINDOWS, with festoons, bindings, fringe, &c. &c. &c made very full; and in the newest fashion. The very lowest price is £63.—The cost in London was much higher, and they are quite new.—Inquire of Messrs. M. & R. MEIGHAN.

Market Square, York, 9th Dec. 50—tf.

NOTICE.

IF JOHN QUICK, late of Whitby, does not, within Twenty Days, take possession of the Cattle left for him in my charge by Surtham Gibbs, late of said place, they will be sold by Public Auction for the benefit of all concerned.

(SIGNED.)
JOHN B. WARREN.

Whitby, Home District, }
November 3d, 1824. } No 50—3

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that Application will be made at the next Session of the Provincial Parliament, for an Act to establish Dundas Street as the division of the Townships of Ancaster and Flamboro West, in the District of Gore, from the Village of Coots Paradise, in Lot No. 53, 1st Con. of Ancaster, to the Marsh lying to the Eastward thereof, commonly called, Coots Paradise.—

Dundas, 2d. December, 1824.

No 50.—6 w.

A Large Yellow Cow, with a short Tail and Gathered Horns, the owner is requested to bring her from No. 18 in the 3d Concession, Township of York.

FRANCIS BROCK.

Nov. 27th, 1824. 49—3w.

VALUABLE LEASEHOLD PROPERTY.

FOR SALE BY AUCTION.

ON Thursday the 23rd of December, 1824 at 12 o'clock noon, an unexpired term of 36 years in a Lease of Twelve Acres of Land, and with a newly erected Frame House, Tannery and other improvements, on the banks of the River Don, and within half a mile of the New Catholic Church in York.—The Premises are opposite to the residence of the late Mr. SCADDING and form part of the Castle Frank Estate—The rent is exceedingly low.—Further particulars will be made known at the time of Sale

T. MOSELEY.
Auctioneer.

No. 49.—4 w.

ALBION NEWSPAPER.

A GENTLEMAN wishing to complete a File of the Albion Newspaper is in want of the following Numbers, for which he will gladly pay a fair compensation.

Volume 1 ——Nos. 4 & 18.
" 2 ——Nos. 16, 18, 19, 20, 21, & 51.
" 3 ——Nos. 4 & 7.

Apply at the U. C. Gazette Office.

No. 49 —t. f.

WELLAND CANAL NOTICE.

WANTED TO EMPLOY

FROM 50 TO 100 LABOURERS,

ON the Tunnel for the Welland Canal, in this District. Sappers and Miners, who have been accustomed to Tunnelling in Europe, will have a preference, if men of steady habits.

ALFRED HOVEY.

Thorald, Niagara District, }
November 16th 1824 }

N. B. Editors of papers in the Provinces will please insert this four times, with a reference under the Editorial Head and send their accounts to Francis Hall Esquire, Engineer, Queenston, U. C.

49.—4w A. H.

BANK NOTICE.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HERBY GIVEN, that the Bank of Upper Canada has established an Office of Discount and Deposit in the Town of Niagara, under the superintendance of the undermentioned persons.

JOHN CROOKS, Esquire,
JOHN ROSS, Esquire, &
ADAM CRYSLER, Esquire. } DIRECTORS.
THOMAS McCORMICK, Esquire, CASHIER.

The said office will commence on the 1st day of December next and will be open for business from 10 o'clock in the morning to 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the usual holy days excepted.

By Order,
THOMAS G. RIDOUT.
Cashier.

Bank of Upper Canada, }
York, 24th Nov. 1824. } 49—4w.

TERRY AND CATTERMOLE,

WATCH MAKERS,

Silversmiths, & Jewellers,

FROM LONDON,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public, that they have commenced business in that Central Store, in the Market Square, two doors north of Mr. Patterson.

To a perfect knowledge of the above arts, T. and C. have added an extensive assortment of materials necessary in their business, and their friends may rest assured that every exertion will be made to give general satisfaction, and merit, for their establishment, a continuation of public patronage.

Watch Cases Gilt to imitate Gold,—Musical Clocks, Watches, &c. carefully repaired and cleaned.

Produce received at cash prices in payment for work

York, Nov. 25th 1824 49tf.

NOTICE.

St. Catherines, 20th }
November, 1824, }

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that pursuant to a Resolution of the President and Directors of the Welland Canal Company, held 15th inst, an Instalment of 2½ Per Cent upon the Capital Stock Subscribed is required to be paid into the Treasurer at this place, on or before the 1st January, next as provided by the 26 clause of the Act of Incorporation.

By Order
GEORGE KEEFER, Jun.
Secretary.

N. B, Subscribers will pay their instalments to the Agents in the different Districts, who will remit the same,

December 2d, 1824. No. 49,—t f,

NOTICE.

FOR Sale, an Elegant Grecian SOFA, completed with Elastic Spring Seat, at THOMAS WALLI'S, Cabinet Maker.

York, Nov. 22d, 1824. 48—3w.

NOTICE.

CHARLES HAYES, Esq. of Marmora, having by his deed bearing date the Sixth day of September last, conveyed to the undersigned all his Estate, real and personal, in trust for the benefit of his Creditors, it is requested that such persons as have claims against him, will present the same without delay for adjustment.

The business at Marmora will be continued as heretofore, for the account of the Trustees, by Mr. Hayes.

PETER M'GILL,
A. MANAHAN.
ROBERT HAYES.

Kingston, Oct. 24th, 1824. 46—6w.

FOR SALE.

A Farm on Yonge Street, Lot No. 32 in Markham, One Hundred and Ninety Acres, of which ninety Acres are under cultivation with a Frame House and Barn on the same, a stream of water runs across the Lot, and Purdy's Saw and Grist Mills are on the Lot opposite to the same.—Terms of payment will be made easy.—Application to be made to,

GEORGE CROOKSHANK.

York, 17th Oct. 1824.

N. B. Should the above mentioned Farm not be sold by the 1st March next, it will then be leased.

43—tf.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the County of Dundas, intend presenting a Petition to the Legislature at its next Session, for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Dundas, and the Town of Cornwall alternately.

Also to have the Concession line between the fourth and fifth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg in the Eastern District, to have the said line run upon the true course of No 66 E and completed.

And also the side lines in the said fourth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg aforesaid, to have the said side lines to run upon the original course No. 24 W.

43—26w.

LAND IN PERCY.

A VERY valuable Lot of Land, consisting of 200 Acres, being No. 7 in the 2nd Concession of the Township of Percy, in the Newcastle District, and not far from the River Trent, in the midst of a good settlement may be had for 2$ per Acre, with an indisputable title, and immediate possession.—Inquire at the U. C. Gazette Office 43—tf.

TO DISTILLERS & BREWERS.

ROBERT Todd Dear having made Chemistry the study of his life, and having for himself and others both in Scotland and Ireland, for sixteen years conducted a Chemical Manufactory, (Testimonials of the most satisfactory kind can be produced from many respectable individuals to that effect) and having like others of his Countrymen come to Canada for the purpose of bettering his condition in life, finds himself so situated, now, as to be obliged to offer his services to persons engaged in the Brewing and Distilling business, both of which branches, together with the Manufactory of Cordials &c he professes, with all their late improvements, to perfectly understand.

Any Person desirous of having his sevices by addressing a letter to him (post paid) to the care of Matthew Crooks Esq Ancaster Upper Canada, may depend upon its meeting with a ready attention from

Signed,
R. T. DEAN.

N. B. Terms will be moderate, and such as will be within the reach of every one, doing even a moderate business, immediate employment is an object to,

R. T. D
40—13w.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the First Concession of Sophiasburgh South west of Green Point.—by reason of the material damage they have sustained these number of years back, on account of the erroneous original Survey of the Second Concession Line Are determined to Petition the Legislature of this Province at the ensuing Session of Parliament for the alteration of the said Line, and to settle all the differences relating thereunto

Sophiasburgh, Oct 7th, 1824. } No. 44.—6 m.

NOTICE.

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the EASTERN DISTRICT will at the next Session of the LEGISLATURE make application to be authorised to effect a Loan to enable them to erect a Gaol and Court House in the Town of Cornwall. 37—6m.

NOTICE.

AN APPLICATION will be made to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for an Act imposing a TAX on Dogs in the TOWN of YORK and its vicinity, the proceeds of which to be applicable to the police purposes,

By Order of the Magistrates in Adjourned General Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the Home District assembled on the 6th day of Sept. 1824.

(Signed,)
S. HEWARD.
Clk. Peace Home District.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the COUNTY of GLENGARY intend presenting a Petition to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Glengary and the Town of Cornwall alternately. 37—6m.

NOTICE.

ALL Persons indebted to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire, of Stamford, are requested to make immediate payment to the Subscriber at Vittoria, London District, and those having claims on the Estate, will be pleased to furnish him with their respective Accounts properly authenticated.

(Signed) WALTER NICHOL,
Administrator to the Estate of the Late ROBERT NICHOL, ESQUIRE

Niagara 20th May, 1824 43—26w.

VALUABLE LAND IN OTONIBEE,

FOR SALE ON A CREDIT OF YEARS

ONE of the most valuable Lots in the beautiful Township of OTONIBEE, on the Rice Lake, consisting of two Hundred Acres, being Lot No. 10, in the Ninth Con. The quality of the Land is first rate, (Maple, Beech, Bass, Elm, and Oak.) It has a Log House, and some small improvements upon it, and is not quite a mile distant from the Rice Lake, and from the Town Plot.—It has also the advantage of being well watered by a Creek that never fails

Price, two dollars per Acre; and terms of payment, One Eighth at the time of concluding the bargain, and Seven Years Credit, by annual instalments with interest for the remainder, if desired —Inquire at the Gazette Office.

TOWN LOTS IN PORT HOPE.

SEVERAL valuable building Lots, in the flourishing village of PORT HOPE, are for Sale, by private Contract, on the most liberal Terms, and on a credit of several Years, provided the first Instalment be paid down. Either Produce or Manual Labour will be received, if desired, in Payment —For further particulars apply at the U. C. Gazette Office, York, or to Messrs. C. & J. Stowe, Merchants,—Port Hope.

No. 40 —t f.

NOTICE.

THE Plan and Estimate of a STEAM BOAT, (to be Built by Mr. AMOS S. ROBERTS) about One Hundred Tons Burthen, intended to Ply between this Port and Niagara, may be seen at this Office —Her Engine is intended to be of Twenty Five Horse Power The whole Cost is estimated at Two Thousand Two Hundred and Five Pounds Currency. She is to be Built by Stock, made up of Shares, of Twenty Five Pounds each. A few Shares are still wanting. Subscriptions for which will be received at this Office, and at the Office of the Niagara Gleaner, where Estimates and Conditions will be exhibited to those who wish to become Stockholders.

Gazette Office, York, }
August 26th, 1824. } No. 35.—t. f.

FOR SALE.

LOT No. Two, in the First Concession of the Township of York, with the Broken Front, containing about Two Hundred and Forty Acres of Land.

Application to be made to

J. B. MACAULAY

York, 12th June, 1824. 25—t. f.

NOTICE.

FOR SALE, by private Contracts, the House and Lot lately occupied by Mr. O'Sullivan, Saddler, King's-Street, in the Town of York, the Lot is 26 feet fronting King's-Street, by 112 feet deep.

Also.—A Lot adjoining the above on the West side, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—A Lot adjoining Mr. Duggan's, 34, by 119 feet.

Also —Three Lots on Stuarts Land, each 40, by 60 feet.

Should the above Property and Lots not be sold by Private Contract, the five last described Lots will be sold at Public Sale, on the first day of July ensuing.

Application for Terms of Sale, to be made to

ALEXANDER WOOD, ESQ.

YORK, 17th March, 1824. t. f.

NOTICE.

WANTED, for FOURTEEN YEARS, or not less than TEN, a LOAN of TWO THOUSAND POUNDS, Halifax Currency, for the building of a PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH of ENGLAND, in the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada.

The Subscriber is authorized to offer Efficient Legal Securities for the Repayment of the LOAN, at the end of the period, and for the Annual Payment of the Interes accumulating thereon, at Six per Cent. per annum.

(By Order of the Committee.)

GEORGE O'KILL STUART,
10—tf. SECRETARY. pro tem.

NOTICE.

VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE.

VIZ:—

In the Township of Vaughan

Lots No. 22, 23, 24 in the 7th Con. and Broken Lot No. 5, in the 10th Concession. } 620 Acre

Township of York

Lot No. 13, 5th Concession, and Broken Front West of Yonge Street on the Humber, West half of No 15. in 2d Con. West of Yonge St. } 380 Acres,

Township of Percy

Lot No. 20, in 3d Concession. } 400 Acres,
Lot No. 21, in 4th Ditto.

For particulars apply to Geo. C. Wood, Esq. Cornwall, or the Subscriber in York.

R. G. ANDERSON.

19th July, 1824. 30—tf.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the County of Prince Edward, in the Midland District, intend Petitioning the Legislature, at the next Session thereof, to have the said County sett off, and made into a separate District from the said Midland District, and to be called the District of Maitland. No. 24—6ms.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Inhabitants of the Township of TOWNSEND intend Petitioning both Houses of the Provincial Legislature at its next Session, to pass a Law, Establishing a Line Surveyed in the year 1823, between the 12th and 13th Cons. of the said Township.

TOWNSEND, 20th }
MAY, 1824. } No. 21—1 m. t. d.

VALUABLE LANDED PROPERTY FOR SALE.

TWENTY SEVEN TOWN LOTS, eligibly situated in the Village of Cobourg, in Hamilton, Upper Canada, on one of which, a Store and Dwelling House are erected.

Two Neat Small FARMS, contiguous to the above Village, containing, one, about Twenty-eight Acres, the other, about Fifty Acres, with a House and other Buildings on each of them —A Plan of the above may be seen on application to Mr. J. G. BETHUNE, Cobourg, (who will shew the Premises,) or to the Subscriber.

Two TOWN LOTS in Picardville, adjoining to the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada, with Houses and other Buildings thereon, being Lots No. 21 and 22.

200 Acres of Land being No. 1, 8th Con. of Murray.

200 do do being No. 4, 4th do of Hungerford.

200 do do being No. 1, 8th do of Winchester.

200 do do being No. 24, 8th do of Mountain.

200 do do being the West halves of No. 31 and 32 in the 2d Concession of Hawkesbury.

Liberal Terms of Payment will be granted.

For particulars apply to

FRS. ANT. LAROQUE.

N B. The above mentioned Town Lots in the flourishing Village of Cobourg, and the two adjoining Farms, will be disposed of by Public Sale, in the said Village on the 24th May next.

F. A. L. R.

MONTREAL, 15th March, 1824. t. f.

WEEKLY REGISTER.

Vol. III. Our endeavor will be to "stamp the very body of the time—its form and pressure"— we shall extenuate nothing, nor shall we set down aught in malice. No. 50.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 9th, 1824.

Editorial Commentary.

In the Commentary of last week we announced our intention of republishing an anonymous answer to the Advocate's—"Spanish Freeholder" under the signature of "DIGGO," rumour having assigned it to an eminent Lawyer from whom a performance of great ability might have been expected.—We have since perused it with much attention; but, setting aside its singular and lengthy verbosity, which alone would be a serious objection to its admission into these columns; we have the following reasons for refusing it a place in this Journal:—First, it would be extremely inconsistent in us to publish an anonymous answer to a very censurable publication, in the advertisement of which so much stress is still laid on a su a sed allusion to libellous matter, the knowledge of which we have disclaimed in so public a manner;—Secondly, DIGGO's paper contains insinuations extremely injurious to the character of an individual who is assumed, (it does not appear how truly) to have written the obnoxious communication; and, anonymous defamation of so a harming a nature, would ill become the character we are anxious to obtain for our Journal:—and, lastly, we are resolved to avoid any further participation in a controversy with which, we consider, we had nothing originally to do.—We did not publish the "Spanish Freholder," nor did we allude to it in our Commentary of October 7th; and, therefore we are not bound to publish any answer to it.—We have utterly disclaimed it in language one would think sufficiently strong; and, for ourselves, we shall say nothing further.

But there is yet a duty, and it is an important one, to perform, which is, to shew what steps have been taken in the affair by Government. This has been rendered the more necessary through the wilful pertinacity of certain publications, still adhering to the injurious construction given by them to our first commentary:—We have obtained permission to publish the following letters; and, with this explanation, we shall close our remarks, leaving the field to those combatants who delight in dishonourable; and illicit; and bush-fighting; ANONYMOUS warfare.

Under the impression that Mr Fothergill was concerned directly or indirectly in promoting, or at least publicly approving, an atrocious libel, said to be aimed at a dignified individual high in the confidence of his Sovereign, and of the People of this Province—an official communication was addressed to him in his public capacity, as director of the Government Press, very naturally calling upon him for an explanation. To explanation Mr. Fothergill felt it incumbent upon him to give in the most explicit manner, and he wrote the following answer.

To Major Hillier, Priv. Sec'y. U. C. Gazette Office, November 13th, 1824.

To His Excellency the Lt. Governor.

SIR,

I have had the honor to receive your note of this morning on the subject of a communication which the Chief Justice has seen fit to lay before His Excellency, the Lieutenant Governor, relative to an editorial paragraph which appeared in one of the late numbers of the Weekly Register, of which I am the editor; with a request that I will inform you what notice I have taken of the Chief Justice's letter, and also that I will transmit to you any explanation upon the subject, which I may desire to lay before His Excellency.

It is exceedingly kind and considerate on the part of this Excellency to give me an opportunity of repelling one of the most extraordinary charges ever made, and which has filled me with astonishment, and which can be justified only by a similarity in the feigned signatures to two compositions of a different nature and tendency; the one evidently a mere piece of pioneering contest, and merely acknowledged in the Journal of which I have the management; whilst the other appears to strike at the character of a great Public Officer, and was actually published in a journal of a very odious description, with which I have no manner of concern or approval, either directly or indirectly, and in which it is impossible I ever can have.

I trust the copy of my letter to the Chief Justice, in answer to the communication with which he was pleased to honor me, and which is enclosed, will be sufficient to remove from the mind of His Excellency, all suspicion that I could have any intention, or even the most distant idea, (a thing in this case impossible,) either to insult the office or character—or to wound the feelings of the Chief Justice, for whom I have always entertained the very highest respect.

I know not what further explanation I can give of this strange affair, other than that it must be apparent to all those who read the Advocate, that its editor takes every opportunity of evincing his rancour towards the editor of the Register, for having attempted to remove some of those abominable aspersions which, in his first numbers, he threw upon the Executive of this Province, and its illustrious head, very few of his publications being without some abuse or misrepresentation towards me; and there is little doubt that he has seized what appeared to him so favourable an opportunity (by some similarity of cognomen) of throwing out an insinuation which he doubted not would produce that mischief, in some quarter or other, in which he appears to take so much delight,—an insinuation the vileness of which was noticed, the moment it was perceived, in a subsequent Register, and which it has been intended to notice at greater length, and with more severity.

Now, SIR, I can only repeat that I am wholly innocent of any, and all, intention of the kind attributed to me; and, that I have the honor to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient
Humble Servant,
Charles Fothergill.

To this letter, we have thus made public, was sent the following reply; which in our opinion, is a remarkable proof of the readiness with which His Excellency, the Lieutenant Governor, attends to the complaint of any who seek justice at his hands, and the impartial character of his decisions.—

Government House, Nov. 19th, 1824.

SIR,

With reference to your letter to me of the 13th inst I have received the commands of the Lieutenant Governor to acquaint you, that had you rested your vindication of yourself upon that letter, distinctly denying that the paper, of which in your editorial commentary of the 7th October, you spoke in terms of approbation, was, in any respect, the same libellous production which afterwards appeared in the Colonial Advocate;—His Excellency might have felt it due, as well to yours lf, as to the Government, under the particular circumstances, to call for some confirmation of your statement.

But the Lieutenant Governor perceiving that in your paper of yesterday, you have, in an unequivocal manner, declared that the two articles were altogether different; and have thus openly and publicly contradicted the inference which had been founded on your first paragraph, His Excellency considers that any further step must be left to your own sense of what is just; and does not feel it incumbent upon him to exact [illegible] proof, such a might have been easily and properly afforded; and which, before such public denial, seemed to be due;—under the particular circumstance of your having so long permitted the remarks of the Colonial Advocate respecting your perusal to insert this paper, to remain without contradiction.

The Lieutenant Governor trusts that you will, in future, bear in mind, that so long as you conduct the Gazette, and are allowed the use of the Government Types for the publication of your Journal, it may be fairly expected that not only libels upon the Government, but publications of that description, affecting any individual, public or private, shall not only be excluded from your paper, but should not be spoken of in terms of approbation, and acknowledged with a promise that they may probably be published at another time, or under other circumstances—

I am further directed to inform you that in His Excellency's opinion, you owe it to yourself to insert in your Journal, the explanation contained in your letter to me of the 13th inst.

I have the Honour to be
SIR,
Your most obedient
Humble Servant,
(Signed,) G. Hillier.

To Charles Fothergill, Esq. &c. &c. &c.

Having run to this length, it is totally out of our power to publish those outlines of a plan for draining the great marsh of the Don, and for rendering more salubrious the atmosphere of this, our, metropolis, which we had intended to give this week;—but which shall certainly appear.—

Our readers will recollect a capital burlesque on a certain "Remarkable Fact" relative to the Marquis LA FAYETTE, wherin one Hector Mc. Phillibeg was the hero—, and which was published in our 47th number of the present volume. We copied it from the Canadian Courant, but finding that it originated with the Quebec Mercury, an exceedingly well conducted paper, it is proper that journal should have the credit which is due to it.

THEATRICAL.

"Mr. & Mrs. Talbot has arrived in our town by the Kingston Packet on Thursday Evening last, we understand Mr. T. has procured a respectable company, and intends during the winter to remain amongst us.—From the preparations already making at Mr. Schofields we believe Mr. T. intends offering something worthy the attention of the lovers of the drama."—Communicated.

SELECTIONS FROM BRITISH AND FOREIGN JOURNALS.

A late London Gazette did not contain a single notice of bankruptcy.

British and Foreign Bible Society.—This society is engaged in printing or distributing the scriptures in one hundred and forty different languages, in 55 of which they were never printed before. The whole number of bibles and testaments issued by the society is 4 222,365, and the whole expenditure from its commencement, has been £5,172,438.

Discovery Ships—The discovery ships were seen in the middle ice, July 17, lat. 70, lon. 5, by a vessel which left Davis' Straits Sept 9. The master thinks the prospect was very favourable, the weather having been uncommonly fine.

National Monuments.—We are happy to hear it whispered that a national monument, now being erected, will be made to commemorate the victories of Nelson and the glories of our Navy. The Army having its fame already recorded on the Bridge of Waterloo, the Navy also will have a structure to commemorate their glories and their country's gratitude. For it is intended, we understand, to change the unmeaning appellation of London to that of Trafalgar-Bridge. And as it will face those forests of masts, which are the pride of Old England, we cannot imagine a better name or more appropriated place. We are glad to hear that this has originated, where all great and good things should originate, with the ship at pennant of the Realm.—(Sun)

MONSIEUR AND THE COMTE D'ARTOIS.

The following slight notice of the characters of the last and present King of France in their youth, (then distinguished by the titles of Monsieur, and the Comte d'Artois) will be found in Madame de Campan's Memoirs of Marie Antoinette

"MONSIEUR had more dignity of demeanour than the King, but his size and corpulency rendered his gait inelegant. He was fond of pageantry and magnificence. He cultivated the belles-lettres, and under borrowed names repeatedly contributed verses, of which he himself was the author, to the papers.

His wonderful memory was the handmaid of his wit, furnishing him with the happiest quotations. He knew every thing by heart, from the finest passages of the Latin Classics, to the Latin of all the prayers: from the works of Racine to the Vaudeville of "Rose et Colas"

In a note it is added, that "this prince always loved and protected literature. The judicious favour which he extended to talent was known to all France.

The COMTE D'ARTOIS had an agreeable countenance, was well made, active in bodily exercises lively, sometimes impetuous, fond of pleasure, and very particular in his dress.

Some happy observations made by him were repeated with pleasure, several of them gave a favourable idea of his heart. The Parisians liked the free and open air of this prince, regarding it as an attribute of the French character, and shewed real affection for him.

In a work of that time, there is to be found a reply which does honour to the Prince's humanity. The question was respecting the treatment of prisoners, the Comte d'Artois insisted that their adversity should be respected, that men who were only accused should not be made to undergo the treatment of culprits convicted by the Laws. The matter is thus related:—The Abbe de Besplas, a celebrated preacher, delivered a sermon before the King, the subject of which was On the marks of Charity in a King, in which was a passage upon jails, which made a most lively impression, the Abbe remarked, amongst other things, that "a place of security can not without flagrant injustice become the abode of despair." He feelingly described the loathsome dungeons in which prisoners were confined, previous to, as well as after their trial so horrid, he said, were these infectious dens, that the prisoners blessed the moment which led them to execution, relieving them from greater sufferings, and concluded with these words: "Great God, can there be under a good Prince, subjects who long for the scaffold? Blessed be this immortal day, I have fulfilled the wish of my heart—that of depositing this weight of grief in the bosom of the best of monarchs.

It was observed that the discourse had sensibly affected the King and his brothers. The next day a selfish and venal courtier remarked to the Comte d'Artois that the Abbe de Besplas had complained improperly of the manner in which prisoners were treated in the jails, since it might be considered as a part of the punishment which their crimes deserved. The Prince interrupted him indignantly, exclaiming, "How is it known that they are guilty? that is never known till the sentence is passed.

Population.—A woman named Tribondeau (instead of Quatre-bondeau,) of Vire (Seithe,) whose existence we are sure Mr. Malthus would consider an outrage upon humanity, was delivered of four children at a birth in 1823; and it seems not being properly punished for this offence, she repeated it in August last, by bringing three girls and a boy into this breathing world.

Cultivation of the potatoe.—After dropping the potatoes, take a large table spoonful of air slacked lime and put on the potatoes, and cover them. There will be more potatoes and very few small ones among them.—Rich moist land is preferred, but it will answer well on any land, and particularly on sandy dry land, which will make large mealy potatoes.

Life Preserver.—Mr. Scheffer has made trial of his life preserver. He threw himself into the water at Temple gardens, and buckled a preserver under his arms; he then swam through Blackfriars-bridge with great velocity. At different times, as he proceeded, he unbuckled the preserver, squeezed the wind out of it, and filled it and buckled it on. All this running, and tying was the work of a moment. Crowds of boats accompanied Mr. Scheffer, and four or five lads swam over to him and supported themselves down the river upon his preserver, without the slightest effort. As soon as he approached near to London bridge he obliged the boys to leave him. He had determined to leap from London bridge into the water, but was dissuaded from so dangerous an experiment, by the argument that his preserver might, by preventing him from sinking deep enough, shake him by the violence of the concussion. He swam to the centre arch and darted through it with impetuosity. When he reached the eddies in the river he felt great action, and is convinced that he would have been overwhelmed, had he not had the preserver on. He carried a bottle of spirits and a glass in his hand. He was two hours in the water.

Venetian Police!—Venice was anciently famed for its admirable police. It happened one day that a French nobleman, in taking a few turns in the square of St. Mark, had his pocket picked of a valuable watch. Instantly on ascertaining his loss, he repaired to the police department, and expressed, with little discretion and in immeasured terms, his surprise that under its vaunted regulations such a circumstance should have occurred in the middle of the day, and in so public a place. "Be careful how you speak of the police of Venice," said the commissary to whom he had addressed himself. "Your character of foreigner will not shelter you, if you indulge in invectives. Deposit here four zechins, and repair to-morrow morning at the same hour, to the spot where you lost your watch, with an assurance that it will be restored to you." The Frenchman was punctual, and waited three hours without any tidings of his watch. Still more enraged than before, he again presented himself to the commissary, venting the bitterest imprecations, and swearing he had been most shamefully plundered and duped, having not only lost his watch, but his zechins, together with his time, which he held to be equally valuable.—"Look to your fob," said the commissary, and there to his utter astonishment, he found his watch! "You have still to learn something further of the Venetian police," added the commissary, "for which purpose here is an officer who will accompany you." Having descended to a subterraneous apartment, his guide led him by several gloomy vaulted passages, in crossing which he became more and more anxious as to what was to befal him, to a chamber, dimly lighted by a lamp, where, in a recess, the curtain of which was drawn aside for his inspection, suspended by a cord he saw the thief.—London Paper.

House set on Fire by Rain.—However paradoxical this title may appear, it is certainly founded in truth.—During the heavy rain on Wednesday the 8th Sept. at Bolton-le-Moors, the mill belonging to Mr. Thomas Pickering, the bleach mill belonging to Mr. Jedburgh, an out house with its Commodale, near Jedburgh, an out house with its contents, a cart, waggon, ploughs, &c. were all nearly destroyed by the rain communicating with some unslacked lime contained in the building, which soon ignited, and the fire had made considerable progress before it could be overcome.—Tyne Mercury.

Polite Hanging!—At the Sligo Assizes a man named John Brehe te was found guilty of robbery, and recommended by the Jury to mercy, when the Judge in answer to the recommendation, said—"He should be hanged in the gentlest way possible.—W. Luminary.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

FRANCE.

PARIS October 1.

The Press is once more free! The effect has closely followed the august promises of Charles X.—France did not expect any thing less from a prince, all whose deeds have ever been the movements only of a magnanimous heart, superior to fear and to distrust. Charles the Tenth can never doubt the expression of the public feeling. What truth is there which he would not receive with pleasure? Near the throne, he had been the love and the hope of the French; possessor of the Crown for only a few days, his reign has been manifested only by acts of clemency and reparation. A prince who has placed wisdom and moderation by his side in council, in the person of his augu t son; who, in rendering royalty visible has rendered it at the same time accessible and popular, and wishes for no intermediate step between the complaint of the citizen and his royal person—such a prince has now given substantial guarantees for the future.

A king who has once spoken these admirable words: "My confidence in my subjects is entire," is sure of not speaking to Frenchmen in vain. The confidence of the nation corresponds with his own; and this noble declaration of the monarch, the spontaneous oath to maintain and consolidate our fundamental institutions, has announced the happy day when we are fully to enjoy the rights it has consecrated and when all odious obstacles will cease to be interposed between our free homage and the throne of Charles X * * * *

The present King of France and the Duke of Bourbon had a meeting, and fought in the Bois de Boulogne a few years before the revolution. The Duke of Bourbon was the challenger; his dutchess having complained to him of being insulted by the King then Count d' Artoise, who forced off her mask, either through ignorance of her person, or mere levity, at a court ball. The Count d' Artois behaved with gallantry, both in the field and to the lady. The duel over, he apologized to her for his conduct.

Paris—The report of a Russian squadron being at the Island of Majorca with 24,000 men, which was published in the Constitutionel of the 1st October, is contradicted in the Etoile of the following day, which says it is wholly without foundation.

On the 1st October a splendid Review took place in the Champ de Mars of all the troops in Paris, with twelve legions of the National Guard. His Majesty was present, attended by the Dauphin, the Dukes of Orleans and Bourbon; the Marshals of France, the Minister at War, and the principal officers, followed the King.

A London paper states that the French fleet which had sailed from Brest with 4000 troops will, according to report, take on board 4000 more at Martinique, and seize some of the strong places on the Haytien coast, for the ultimate subjugation of that empire!

UNION OF THE DANUBE AND ELBE.

A project is at present under consideration for uniting the Danube and the Elbe, by a canal to pass from Linz to the Moldau, a river in the south of Bohemia. A survey, for the purpose, has been made by an Austrian engineer; when this work is accomplished, a loaded boat will be enabled to pass from the German Ocean through the heart of Europe to the Black Sea.

TURKEY AND GREECE.

The following intelligence from Constantinople is of the 11th ult.: "A severe earthquake is said to have taken place at Jerusalem, which has destroyed the greatest part of that city, shaken down the mosque at Omar, and reduced the Holy Sepulchre to ruins from top to bottom. It is said that two Hassegis have been despatched to put the Captain Pacha to death. This admiral caused the commander of a frigate that was ordered to be beheaded, notwithstanding that he had a high reputation as a mariner. The Capudan Bey has also been beheaded by the same admiral's orders.—The Captain Pacha, who had only 11 vessels, has effected a junction with the flotilla of Haseim Bey, consisting of 17 vessels of Constantinople, which reported to have sailed against Samos at the head of these 22 ships. An action had taken place at Ath ens between the Greeks and the Turks, in which the former gained the advantage at first, but were afterwards repulsed by the Turks."

AFRICA.

African Legitimate.—"This Monarch (king of Ashantee) was seated on a massive gold throne, under the shade of an artificial tree with golden leaves. His body, extremely lean, and inordinately tall, was smeared over with tallow mixed with gold dust. A European hat, bound with broad gold lace, covered his head; his loins were encircled with a sash of golden cloth.—From his neck down to his feet, ornaments, agate and lazulites, were crowded in the form of bracelets and chains, and his feet rested on a golden basin. The grandees of the realm lay prostrate on the ground, with their heads covered with dust. A hundred complainers and accused persons were in a similar posture: behind them twenty executioners, with drawn sabres in their hands, waited the royal signal, which generally terminated each cause by the decapitation of one or other of the parties. The Danish Envoy, passing a number of heads recently separated from the body, approached the throne. The magnificent flaming prince addressed him with the following most gracious questions:—'I would willingly detain thee for some months in my dominions, to give you an idea of my greatness. Had thou ever seen any thing to be compared with it?'—'No! lord and king, thou hast no equal in the world!'—'Thou art right, God in Heaven does not much surpass me!'"—M. Malte Brun.

INDIA.

CALCUTTA, April 12.

Capture of Gowahatty.—Official intelligence has, we understand, been received from Brigadier Mac Morine, dated Camp Pundoonauth, on the left bank of the Berhampooter, March 28, reporting the occupation, by our troops, of Gowahatty, the capital of Assam.

"It is supposed that no further resistance will be made by the enemy. Several of the Assamese tribes had assembled to cut them up, and prevent their passage through their country to Ava. The Rajah Dring, had accepted our protection, together with a number of petty chiefs. The Rajah of Luckey Dewah, and some others, had been carried away by the Burmese.

Interesting Spectacle.—At the capture of Rangoon in India by the British, a part of the soldiers were lodged in the celebrated temple of Shoedagon or Dagoung and the manner of the habitation is thus described in a letter from an officer.

"On the 12th, a party proceeded to take possession of the Pagoda, about two miles from the town, and found Mr. Roy, Capt. Hill, and others, confined in a dungeon from which they were instantly released. Two guns planted on the top of the steps leading to the Pagoda were repeatedly fired at the party but without effect, being pointed too high. This Pagoda and the grounds about it, are now crowded with European Infantry and Artillery, being one principal point without the town, which is garrisoned chiefly by the Madras Sepoys. The scenes that now occur at this extensive and gorgeous Temple, are of a nature singularly odd, and amusing. For want of quarters, the men and officers thrust themselves into every little shrine and niche, some of these are sufficiently spacious to admit a table and chair, or a cot, others serve as receptacles for boots and shoes, beef and biscuit. Round the neck of one divinity is suspended a belt and bayonet, while another has its lap full of knapsacks and cartridge boxes. The ears of others offer convenient pegs for a hat or a tinpot, and their shoulders for a soldier's jacket. In short, never were a set of poor Deities so meanly employed or so familiarly treated. The great Gaudma in particular, has his hands full of business, and much charge of old clothes. I was particularly diverted with one figure of a size larger than life, placed in an erect posture to bestow a blessing apparently on another prostrate at his feet. The hand and arm raised for the above purpose supported one end of a hammock, while boxes and canteens hung round his neck, and the poor supplicant's back served as a good seat for a soldier quietly cleaning his accoutre-celebrated Pagoda, it far exceeded my expectations in extent and splendour, as well as in the richness, delicacy, and I may say taste of the ornaments and carved work with which the principle temple, and hundreds of others that surround it are loaded. In the human figure only taste and execution are defective."

MEXICO.

The arrival of the English mining agents is said to have given great satisfaction to the Mexicans, and it was found practicable to convey to the mines, by the roads already formed, any weight which did not exceed two tons. These associations will soon afford productive labour to a great number of the surrounding inhabitants, and by w[illegible] temporarily, but only transient, to Great Britain abundance of the precious metals, but also create a demand for British manufactures in Mexico, by employing the people, and enabling them to pay for some of the necessaries and luxuries of life.

BRAZIL.

If we may believe private accounts from Pernambuco, it appears that Lord COCHRANE, after a keen struggle of about a week, has been completely successful in bringing that place once more to a sense of their allegiance to His Imperial Majesty of the Brazils. The following are a few of the particulars, relative to this important event:—"On the 5th of Sept after both armies had been reinforced, a severe battle commenced, and the whole of the fleet, consisting of 5 frigates and 5 smaller vessels, commenced bombarding the town, and the bombardment and fighting on both sides continued without intermission for four days, with the exception of three short periods for the purpose of receiving flags of truce, sent by our distressed forts, demanding terms of capitulation—but the terms required being a surrender of the President and Government, with all the General Officers, of course were not complied with.—The President escaped in a jongada, a raft of logs, and went on board the English Frigate Tweede, and asked for protection, which was granted him; and on the night of the 12th, the army retreated to Olinda, four miles from town, and the firing ceased on both sides. The same night the fleet landed 300 English sailors, and took possession of the recife and forts, without firing a gun; but previous to the surrender of the place, the soldiers sacked the houses and destroyed the furniture of the European Portuguese."

REPUBLIC OF PERU.

General Administration, Huancayo, Sept. 9.

TO THE PREFECT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF TRUXILLO.

The Secretary General of his Excellency the Liberator gives us the following information:—

Head Quarters, Huanta, Aug. 27th, 1824

To Dr. Don Jose Sanchez Carrion, Minister of State for Peru.—

SIR,—After the events of the 6th, at Junin, the enemy continued to retreat. At the present time they have lost six provinces and more than half their forces, so that according to all accounts received by his Excellency, the enemy's army is reduced to 2300 or 3000 men, broken, and without any materials. In proportion as our advanced corps approach the enemy, they retreat, so that it is impossible to follow with the precipitation with which they fly. We have already taken large quantities of military stores, and hope hereafter to take more. The liberating army is daily augmented by deserters from the enemy. The Viceroy has formed a junction with Canterac, in Anna huyalas, having only his guard of halberdiers. General Valdez is nearer to Potosi, observing with 2 or 3000 men Gen. Olaneta, who is in Tupiza, with 4000. By the proclamation of the former, we have recent information that Gen. Olaneta has declared for the cause of independence, and that he is operating in combination with the patriots of Salta. One of our corps marching from Huamanca velica to Huamange, took 472 new English muskets, and a considerable number of ammunitions of war, coming from Ica to Huancaro, in charge of Lieut Col. Don Ramon Dias, who is made prisoner. Our vang and entered Huamange five days ago, and some of its corps are observing, and pursuing the enemy close.

By various officers of the enemy's army who have passed here, and from persons recently from Cuzco, important details have been ascertained respecting the situation of the enemy. Confiding in these, and in the means which he has taken to destroy them at one blow, his Excellency desires me to assure you, that whatever be the final combinations of the Spanish chiefs, whatever their hopes, the liberty of Peru shall be completed this year, and irrevocably confirmed by the liberating army. I have particular pleasure in assuring you that every where his Excellency is received with demonstrations expressive of gratitude and joy, and that the troops are succoured with an alacrity, that leaves nothing to be desired. His Excellency prays you to have this communication circulated among the authorities of the country, in order that all may be impressed with the good results which will accrue from the sacrifices made for the liberty and independence of Peru.

TOMES DE HERES, Secretary.

The following is a copy of the spirited address of Bolivar:

TO THE LIBERATING ARMY.

SOLDIERS—You are going to complete the greatest undertaking ever intrusted to men, that of saving a whole world from slavery. Soldiers! the foes you are to destroy boast of fourteen years of triumphs; they therefore must be worthy of measuring their arms with yours, which shone in a thousand combats. Soldiers! Peru and all America expect from you peace as the fruits of Victory, and liberal Europe herself fixes with delight her eyes upon you, because the liberty of the new World is the hope of the Universe. Will you disappoint her? No! You are invincible.

BOLIVAR.

A letter from Truxillo of Oct. 1, states, on the authority of letters from the mountain of Yanricocha, that 200 dead bodies, 100 horses, and 600 lances have been found beside those mentioned in the official accounts of the battle. The chiefs Marcilla and Bedoya were killed. The enemy flies so precipitately, that they travelled 8 leagues in four hours after their defeat. They came out to meet us with so much confidence, that they left at Jauja and Tarma all the preparations for celebrating the victory. The Liberator has treated the wounded and prisoners in the most noble and generous manner. He ordered that they should be treated like our own men, indeed like himself. The prisoners are undeceived and astonished. In the retreat from Jauja to Conception, the enemy lost 150 of their infantry by fatigue. They shoot any that gets tired, while our officers gives their horses to those who are fatigued.—Canterac has ordered the flints to be taken from the guns of corps of Bingos, Castre and Centre.

JAMES II. AND WILLIAM III.

Orange Societies.

The following pungent remarks are made by the John Bull newspaper when treating of the late re-interment of the remains of JAMES II., in Paris.

We duly appreciate and honour the magnanimous feelings which prompted these marks of respect to the remains of a departed foe; but when it is recollected under what circumstances James II. abdicated the throne of his country—when it is recollected that Popery, which, in his person was expelled the nation, is rearing its head boldly and audaciously in various parts of the Kingdom at present, it may perhaps appear that private feelings, however high and honourable, should have yielded to public consideration.

When it is recollected, moreover, that in Ireland, all expressions of party spirit (as it is called) are rigidly prohibited—when it is recollected, that on the very day upon which this possession was made in Paris in honour of James the Second, it was laid down and ruled in Court at an Irish assize, that any respect paid publicly to the memory of King William the Third was illegal!—when it is recollected that members of the Vice Regal Household in Dublin have been actually removed for indulging in such expressions; it will be also perhaps seen that as a public measure the public tribute to the honour of King James the Second was at least uncalled for.

Supplement to the Weekly Register.

VOL. III. THURSDAY, DECEMBER 9th, 1824. No. 50

We speak fervently and sincerely from our heart for the good of the country which we love; and since by the law the praise of king William is prohibited, and since by authority the praise of King James has been celebrated, we will take the liberty of drawing a brief comparison between the merits of the two kings.

James the Second committed more legal murders than any Monarch who ever filled the throne—he had a Jesuit for a Confessor—he sent an Ambassador to the Pope—he imprisoned the Archbishop of Canterbury and six other Bishops—he attacked our Colleges—he attempted the overthrow of our religion—he attainted by name three thousand Protestants in Ireland—he shut up the people of our religion in churches and other strong buildings, that he might murder them whenever he obtained the ascendancy. He was a pentioner of France—he personally exerted himself in fitting out a fleet to destroy the naval greatness, and thence the existence of England, and he died amongst Priests, Friars, and Jesuits, bequathing to this country his curses and his sons, to stir up sanguinary wars amongst us. It was treason to pronounce his name or that of his family, and the glories of the House of Brunswick itself were enhanced by the victories gained over his rebellious and surviving partizans.

William the Third freed our Church from thraldom—gave us the Bill of Rights—saved the Irish Protestants—put down the Bourbon confederacy against us—restored the privileges of our Colleges and Corporations—reigned a free King over a free People—and above all founded the Dynasty now upon the throne.

Yet we are to honor the remains of the Popish King James the Second, and to treat as rebels those who toast the memory of the Protestant William the Third.

On our table at this moment are heaps of phamphlets, published at Stoneyhurst; proceedings of meetings at Preston, and in various parts of the country—all of which are characterized by a boldness derived from the encouragement which the Papist have met with, and which we shall submit next week. We are not babbling idly—we have no interest in deceiving ourselves or others—We love our country—and, as we said in the beginning of this article, having an extended intercourse with the different parts of the kingdom, we are assured that, however noble and generous the system of liberality and conciliation may be in private life, its end, if publicly persisted in, will be the loss of every thing which we have been taught to hold most dear as Christians and Englishmen.

IRELAND.

It appears by official documents lately laid before the British Parliament, that there are four hundred and twenty seven non-resident clergy in Ireland, of the Episcopal persuasion and that five of them enjoy bishoprics valued at 530,000 pounds sterling, about two millions three hundred thousand dollars! A Vicar who had not visited his parish for the last six years, possessed no less than 15 vicarages, three rectories, one prebendary, a glebe house, with four acres of land, and two or three churches.

The Primate, Lord J. Beresford, Archbishop of Armagh, has above 68,000 acres, of which more than 50,000 are arable. His Grace is a man in middle life, and of healthy constitution. Suppose him to run his life against the leases let by his predecessor, he would have power of ruining perhaps a hundred families and obtaining for himself a rack rent of not less than 70 or £80,000 per annum.

The See of Dublin has upwards of 20,000 acres.—Much of this being near the metropolis, must be considered as of extraordinary value.

But every thing is eclipsed by Derry; there we have 94,000 Irish acres appropriated to my Lord the Bishop, little short of 150,000 English acres! and should his Lordship, at the begining of his incumbency, have thought fit to run his life against the tenants, he would now, at the expiration of 20 years, possess a larger rent roll than any subject in the world. Yet it was this very See which begged assistance towards repairing its own cathedral! but which by the horror into which it threw Mr Dawson on the occasion, has produced, we suspect, this salutary exposure of an evil which must be removed.

A territorial survey is about to commence in Ireland, for the purpose of effecting a more equal apportionment of the local burdens of that country. The surface of Ireland is said to contain near twenty millions of English acres. The new survey will give the separate town lands, in addition to the counties and parishes. The maps are to be executed by officers of the ordinance.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.—Mr. Martin is at present in Dublin, endeavouring to humanize the Bullock Drivers there, he appears not to have found any great assistance from the well known Major Sirr, who (informed the Philanthropist that they had not time at that establishment (the head office of police,) to discuss codes of humanity and settle scales of fines. Mr. Martin on leaving the office, stated that he should endeavour to arrange a mode of proceeding that would be convenient to the Magistrates, as he expected to bring a great deal of business, before them during his stay amongst his countrymen.

THE ADVENTURES OF A GERMAN STUDENT.

(Concluded.)

Trembling with violent and conflicting emotions, Wolfgang again accosted her. He spoke something of her being exposed at such an hour of the night, and to the fury of such a storm, and offered to conduct her to her friends.—She pointed to the guillotine with a gesture of dreadful signification.

"I have no friends on earth!" said she.

"But you have a home," said Wolfgang.

"Yes—in the grave!"

The heart of the student melted at the words.

"If a stranger dare make an offer," said he, "without danger of being misunderstood, I would offer my humble dwelling as a shelter; myself as a devoted friend. I am friendless myself in Paris, and a stranger in the land; but if my life could be of service, it is at your disposal, and should be sacrificed before harm or indignity should come to you."

There was an honest earnestness in the young man's manner that had its effect. His foreign accent, too, was in his favour; it showed him not to be a back neyed inhabitant of Paris. Indeed there is an eloquence in true enthusiasm that is not to be doubted. The nomeless stranger confided herself to the protection of the student.

He supported her faltering steps across the Pont Neuf, and by the place where the statue of Henry the Fourth had been overthrown by the populace. The storm had abated, and the thunder rumbled at a distance. All Paris was quiet; that great volcano of human passion slumbered for a while, to gather fresh strength for the next day's eruption. The student conducted his charge through the ancient streets of the Pays Latin and by the dusky walls of the Sorbonne to the great dingy hotel which he inhabited. The old portress opening bolt which he inhabited. The old portress who admitted them stared with surprise at the unusual sight of the melancholy Wolfgang with a female.

On entering his apartment, the student, for the first time, blushed at the meanness and indifference of his dwelling. He had but one chamber—an old fashioned saloon—heavily carved and fantastically furnished with faded remnants of former magnificence, for it was one of those hotels in the quarter of the Luxembourg palace which had once belonged to nobility. It was lumbered with books and papers, and all the usual apparatus of a student, and his bed stood in a recess at one end.

When lights were brought and Wolfgang had a better opportunity of contemplating the stranger, he was more than ever intoxicated by her beauty.—Her face was pale, but of a dazzling fairness, set off by a profusion of raven hair that hung clustering about it. Her eyes were large and brilliant, with a singular expression that approached almost to wildness. As far as her black dress permitted her shape to be seen, it was of perfect symmetry. Her whole appearance was highly striking, though she was dressed in the simplest style. The only thing approaching to an ornament which she wore was a broad black band round her neck, clasped by diamonds.

The perplexity now commenced with the student how to dispose of the helpless being thus thrown upon his protection. He thought of abandoning his chamber to her, and seeking shelter for himself elsewhere. Still he was so fascinated by her charms, there seemed to be such a spell upon his thoughts and senses, that he could not tear himself from her presence. Her manner, too, was singular and unaccountable. She spoke no more of the guillotine. Her grief had abated.—The attentions of the student had first won her confidence, and then, apparently, her heart. She was evidently an enthusiast like himself, and enthusiasts soon understand each other.

In the infatuation of the moment Wolfgang avowed his passion for her. He told her the story of his mysterious dream, and how she had possessed his heart before he had ever seen her. She was strangly affected by his recital, and acknowledged to have felt an impulse toward him equally unaccountable. It was the time for wild theory and wild actions. Old prejudices and superstitions were done away; every thing was under the sway of the "Goddess of reason." Among other rubbish of the old times, the forms and ceremonies of marriage began to be considered superfluous bonds for honourable minds. Social compacts were the vogue. Wolfgang was too much of a theorist not to be tainted by the liberal doctrines of the day.

"Why should we separate?" said he "our hearts are united; in the eye of reason and honor we are as one. What need is there of sordid forms to bind high souls together?"

The stranger listened with emotion: she had evidently received illumination at the same school.

"You have no home nor family," continued he, "let me be every thing to you, or rather let us be every thing to one another. If form is necessary, form shall be observed—there is my hand. I pledge myself to you for ever."

"For ever!" said the stranger solemnly.

"For ever!" repeated Wolfgang.

The stranger clasped the hand extended to her: "Then I am yours," murmured she, and sunk upon his bosom.

The next morning the student left his bride sleeping, and sallied forth at an early hour to seek more spacious apartments, suitable to the change in his situation. When he returned, he found the stranger lying with her head hanging over the bed, and one arm thrown over it. He spoke to her, but received no reply. He advanced to awaken her from her uneasy posture. On taking her hand, it was cold—there, was no pulsation her face was pallid and ghastly. In a word—she was a corpse

Horrified and frantic, he alarmed the house. A scene of confusion ensued The police was summoned. As the officer of the police entered the room, he started back on beholding the corpse.

"Great Heaven!" cried he, "how did this woman come here?"

"Do you know any thing about her?" said Wolfing eagerly.

"Do I?" exclaimed the police officer; she was murdered yesterday!"

He stepped forward; undid the black collar round the neck of the corpse, and the head rolled on the floor! The student burst into a frenzy.

"The fiend! the fiend has gained possession of me!" shrieked he "I am lost! I never!"

They tried to sooth him, but in vain. He was possessed with the frightful belief, that an evil spirit had animated the dead body to ensnare him. He went distracted, and died in a madhouse.

Poetry.

THE TORCH OF LIBERTY.

BY MOORE

I saw it all in Fancy's glass—
Herself, the fair, the wild magician,
That bid this splendid day-dream pass,
And nam'd each gliding apparition.
'Twas like a torch-race—such as they
Of Greece perform'd, in ages gone,
When the fleet youths, in long array,
Passed the bright torch triumphant on.
I saw th' expectant nations stand,
To catch the coming flame in turn—
I saw, from ready hand to hand,
The clear, but struggling glory burn.
And, oh! their joy, as it came near,
'Twas in itself a joy to see—
While Fancy whisper'd in my ear,
"That torch they pass is Liberty!"
And each, as she received the flame,
Lighted her alter with its ray,
Then, smiling to the next who came,
Speeded on its sparkling way

Domestic.

CANADIAN LAND COMPANY.

We are gratified by the manner in which the London Papers are at length making our country better known to the good folks at home.—The following is from the "London Press" Ed.

Upper Canada which in the course of a few years, must become one of the most valuable Colonies possessed by this country, is from an unaccountable apathy which seems inherent in the people of England in regard to all their colonial possessions, as little known to the great mass of the population of this country as the interior of Africa, some short account of it is absolutely necessary as a preface to our remarks.—From the River de Lisle to the Detroit River, a space occupying about five hundred miles, the cultivated and inhabited part of Upper Canada extends in breadth between the 49th and 42d parallel of north latitude—that is between the parallels of Rouchefort and Philadelphia—and along the whole of this space the soil is good, and the soil rich and deep.—When the attention of the government was first called to the province, about 30 years ago, a rough survey was made of it, and the land was divided into townships—as in this and other cultivated countries, separated by the natural boundaries of rivers, brooks or mountains—but as is uniformly the case throughout America by straight lines arbitrarily drawn from one point to other. These townships were again, and in the same manner divided into lots of 200 acres each; and this done so regularly, that but for the streams which bisected it, the map of any one township might serve for that of any other, and all bear a very close resemblance to a chess board, the checkers represented the different lots. When Government granted to different individuals, two sevenths of the whole were uniformly reserved; one-seventh for the behoof of the crown, the proceeds of which were to be applied as the Government should see fit, and the other for the clergy; that is to provide the means of religious instruction to the community, (without regard to sect or persuasion,) and to establish schools throughout the province for the instruction at a cheap rate of the children of the settlers When the whole township was a wilderness these crown and clergy reserves were of little value; but being chosen in such a manner, as that each reserve was surrounded on every side by lots granted to private individuals when roads were cut, hedges built, pens and mills established, and the surrounding country brought into cultivation, these lots originally valueless, rose in price, and not only were they desirable purchases for the farmer, but as uncultivated patches scattered in the midst of each town, they stood in the way of improvement paid nothing towards forwarding the general progress of the country, and were considered as public nuisances, as the local government had no power to sell or cultivate them. The Canadian company propose gradually to purchase these reserves from Government at a valuation to be estimated by commissioners appointed by both parties, to sell them to farmers, taking a certain per centage of the price in hand, receiving for the remainder of the sum due, six per cent. per annum, the legal interest of the colony, and retaining as security in their own hands the title deeds of the lot; so that they become possessors with all the improvements that have been made, in case the purchaser fails to fulfil his engagement.—From a thorough investigation of the plans of this Company, and an intimate knowledge of the country on which these are to be put in practice, we are of opinion that for a person who will be satisfied with a fair and steady return for the capital he invests, the Canadian Company's is a desirable stock. For those who expect to double their principle in a short time, we cannot recommend it. But we think that sober people had better invest their money in such a concern, where there is every prospect of an adequate return from solid security, than to cast their bread upon the waters of a foreign loan, to raise a bubble, which as is naturally to be expected, generally terminates into a squeak.

We think the following excellent communication richly deserves a re-publication in this Province.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE QUEBEC MERCURY.

Sir,—As it may be thought necessary that some idea of the views and intentions of the gentlemen who organized the St. Lawrence Association should be given to the public, permit me to trespass on your useful paper by offering a few hasty remarks on the subject for insertion.

The objects of the Association will extend generally to inquire into the most feasible methods of improving the navigation of the river St. Lawrence, throughout its whole extent, in connection with steam machinery, railways, canals, deeping channels, or other methods that may be suggested in the course of research. The improvement of the navigation of the Ottawa, as well as of all other the smaller rivers and streams that empty themselves into the St. Lawrence, will also claim the attention of the Association, and in like manner such other improvements for the general benefit of the country as may in any way increase its resources in a commercial point of view.

The views therefore, of the Association will not certainly be confined to the mere inquiry of improvement in the method of ascending the rapids between LaChine and Johnstown; this, however, is a subject of primary importance and claims immediate attention. The facilitating of the conveyance of produce from one Province to the other will prevent its taking a direction through foreign channels, and will thereby promote that profitable intercourse which should subsist between Provinces whose interests are so intimately connected.

It appears upon inquiry that produce, upon the contemplated improvements, can with facility be brought from Niagara to Quebec in the short space of 60 hours. A vessel may, with a fair wind, cross Lake Ontario in 24 hours; a boat from Kingston can descend the river to Montreal in 20; and a steam-boat to Quebec in 16, making in all the 60 hours.

These contemplated improvements could be carried into effect by the 1st of July next and it only remains for the discerning inhabitants of the two Provinces, who are more immediately interested, to yield their support with zeal in promoting a measure of such unprecedented advantage to the whole country; for it will appear evident, that in the article of flour alone, with the protecting duty in our favour, no country can enter into competition with us in supplying the West India Islands, and sister Provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, &c.

Not being in the habit of writing for public view, I trust the magnitude of the object will be a sufficient apology for obtruding these remarks on their attention.

I am, your's truly,

JAMES GEORGE.

Quebec, 27th Nov. 1824

SHIPPING INTELLIGENCE.

As the present advanced state of the season precludes the probability of our having any more arrivals from sea, the following statement of the number of vessels with their total burthen of tonnage since the opening of the navigation, compared with that of last year, may not be considered uninteresting:

Nov. 15, 1823—Vessels, 543—Tonnage, 131820.
Nov 16 1824—Vessels, 600—Tonnage, 148477.

From the above statement it will be seen that the arrivals during the past season, have exceeded those of 1823 by fifty-seven, giving an excess in tonnage of 16657, which, considering the number of vessels lost in the early part and during the navigation, is a fair increase to the trade of this year.

The number of settlers which have arrived this year is 6515, being less than that of the last by 3743.

The only vessels which remain in port are the Mary Jane, Trent, Wm. Mc Gilliveray and Robert, the two latter were towed down from Montreal by the Hercules, and arrived last night. The Trent and Wm Mc Gilliveray are in the stream, ready for sea, and will probably sail this day The Robert is taking in part of her cargo, which she was obliged to put on board the Swiftsure owing to her getting aground, she will be able to sail to-morrow or Monday, and the Mary Jane, now loading, early in the week. When these vessels have sailed, the clearances from this port, during the season, will amount 678, in which are included the vessels built here and at Montreal during the same period.—Neilson's Gazette.

Charles R Ogden, Esquire, Solicitor General, is now in this City. He paid his respects to His Excellency the Lieut Governor this morning. Mr. James Stuart has not arrived, and will not leave England for some months. The mistake originated in the arrival of Dr. Stewart.—Official Gazette.

PRINCE EDWARD'S ISLAND.

ARRIVAL OF HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND, OCT. 23.—With feelings of lively satisfaction we have to congratulate our readers on the arrival of His Excellency Colonel READY, to assume the Government of this Island He arrived here early on Thursday Morning in the Brig JOHN from Bristol, after a passage of 28 days. His Excellency landed on Thursday at 11 o'clock, under a salute from the Vessel and George's Battery. He was loudly cheered on landing by a great concourse of spectators, and was received on the wharf by a guard of the 81st Regt. and a number of the most respectable inhabitants. His Excellency then proceeded to the Barracks, the residence of the late Governor, where he was received by him and the Members of His Majesty's Council. About an hour afterwards, the guns of the garrison announced that His Excellency had taken the oaths of Office In the evening the town was very generally illumirated which had a very brilliant and pleasing effect, and we are happy to observe that on this occasion, when the inhabitants seemed to give a loose to their joy, we did not hear a single instance of tumult or disorder. On the contrary this ebullition of public feeling, while conducted with much spirit and cheerfulness was tempered throughout with a degree of decorum regularity and good sense, highly creditable to all classes of the inhabitants.

Upper Canada Gazette.

New Series.

Vol. III. YORK, U.C. THURSDAY, DECEMBER 16th, 1824. No. LI.

Upper Canada.

UPPER CANADA.

P. MAITLAND,
Lieut. Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

TO our Beloved and Faithful Legislative Councellors of our Province of Upper Canada; and to our Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses of our said Province, to our Provincial Parliament at our Town of York, on the Second Day of December next, to be Commenced, Held, Called and Elected, and to every of you—GREETING:

WHEREAS, by our Proclamation bearing date the Twenty Third Day of October, last, We thought fit to Prorogue our Provincial Parliament to the Second day of December next, at which time at our Town of York, you were held and constrained to appear, NOW KNOW YE, that WE, taking into our Royal consideration the ease and convenience of our loving Subjects, have thought fit by and with the advice of our Executive Council, to relieve you and each of you of your attendance at the time aforesaid; hereby convoking, and by these presents enjoining you and each of you, that on Tuesday the Eleventh Day of January now next ensuing, you meet Us, in our Provincial Parliament, in our Town of York, FOR THE ACTUAL DESPATCH OF PUBLIC BUSINESS, there to take into consideration the state and welfare of our Province of Upper Canada and therein to do as may seem necessary, and herein fail not.

IN TESTIMONY, WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces in North America, at York, dated the Twenty Sixth day of November in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign.

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,

JNO. B ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.
D. CAMERON, Secretary,

Upper Canada.

P. MAITLAND,

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come—GREETING:

WHEREAS by Proclamation bearing date the Fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventeen, our trusty and well beloved FRANCIS GORE Esquire, late our Lieutenant Governor of our Province of Upper Canada, by and with the advice of the Executive Council thereof, and by virtue of the Authority in him vested by that behalf, did declare and appoint the Port of Ernestown, otherwise commonly called the Port of Bath, within the Midland District of this Province, to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for all Goods and Merchandize, not being entirely prohibited and for the payment of all Duties, liable to be paid on all Goods and Merchandize brought into this Province from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS by a certain Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the Third Year of our Reign, intitled, "An Act to Regulate the Trade of the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, and for other purposes relating to the said Provinces," it is among other things Enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the Governor Lieutenant Governor, or person Administering the Government of either of our said Provinces respectively, by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council thereof for the time being, from time to time to diminish or increase, by Proclamation, the number of Ports or places, which then were, or thereafter might be, appointed in such Province for the Entry of Goods, Wares, and Commodities, imported from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS it appears expedient for the avoiding expenses in the Collection of our Revenue, that the said Port of Ernestown shall no longer be a Port of Entry and Clearance.—NOW KNOW YE, that by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of our Province of Upper Canada, We have thought fit to declare, and do hereby declare, that from and of the date of this our Proclamation, the said Port of Ernestown shall cease to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the purposes aforesaid, and shall be and remain, as if the said Proclamation hereinbefore recited, and appointing the same to be a Port of Entry and Clearance, had never been made.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K.C.B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York this Twentieth day of March, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign. P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,

D. CAMERON, Secretary.
JNO. B ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

Government House,
Dec 14th 1824.

HIS Excellency, the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, has been pleased to appoint the following GENTLEMEN additional TRUSTEES of the Public Schools in the Home and Midland Districts respectively:—

FOR THE HOME DISTRICT.

The Honorable JAMES BABY, and
REV DR. STRACHAN,
J. B. ROBINSON,
and
D'ARCY BOULTON, Esquires.

FOR THE MIDLAND DISTRICT.

The Honorable GEORGE H. MARKLAND,
The Venerable, THE ARCH DEACON OF YORK,
JOHN MACAULAY,
CHRISTOPHER A. HAGERMAN,
JAMES SAMPSON, Esquires.

Executive Council Office,
York, February 7th 1821.

WHEREAS it has been represented, that many persons who have received Locations of Land, have, from Sickness, and other legitimate causes, been unable to fulfil the Settlement Duty in the time required by the Location Ticket, and have neglected to apply to His Excellency in Council for an extension of the period, for performance of such duty.

BE it Known that the period for completing the Settlement Duty, is hereby extended to Two Years, from the date of Locations until further notice shall be given.

JOHN SMALL. Clk Ex. Coun.

GLEBES.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in Council, having taken into consideration the system hitherto practised, of Granting Licences of Occupation for GLEBE LANDS, is pleased to Order, that in future the Glebes in the several Townships, with the exception of One Lot in each Township, for the accommodation of the Incumbent, shall be Leased on the same terms as Clergy Reserves

NOTICE is therefore given to those Persons who hold Licences of Occupation for any of the said Glebe Lots, that the same will not be Renewed; and unless they do make application, by Petition, for Leases in the usual manner, through the medium of the Corporation for superintending the Clergy Reserves, before the Twenty-ninth day of September next ensuing, the Lots so held by Licence of Occupation will be Leased to other Applicants.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk Ex. Coun,

Executive Council Office.
York, 29th April, 1824. 19—tf.

Executive Council Chamber, }
York, 31st January, 1824. }

PRESENT,

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
IN COUNCIL,

HIS Majesty's Government having recently extended their assistance to the class of Emigrants, which it was intended to relieve by gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres of Land, in conveying them to their respective locations:

IT IS ORDERED, that from the first day of May next, no gratuitous Grants be made of any quantity of Land to other than privileged persons.—And that as the Fee on Two Hundred Acres was raised, in order to defray the gratuitous Grants of Fifty acres the consideration being, the future Fee on Two Hundred Acres shall be Twenty Eight Pounds Four Shillings and One Penny Sterling; the existing Fee before 1819, and the Fee on all other Grants, in Townships Surveyed since that time, to be the same as established by the Order in Council, of 5th January, 1819.

N. B. Possessors of gratuitous Grants for Fifty Acres, may, by paying the Fee on One Hundred Acres, receive a Grant of the adjoining Fifty Acres if vacant.

JOHN SMALL,
Cl'k. Ex'v. Council.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL CHAMBER,
AT YORK, 26th JAN. 1824.
PRESENT;

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
In Council.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR submitted to the consideration of the Board, the Sheriffs' Reports of their respective Gaols, together with other Documents relating to a Winter Circuit, by which it appeared that the House of Assembly had addressed His Excellency to that effect, for this Session only; and obviously for the Delivery of the Gaols in the several Districts.

THE limitation of such a measure to one season seeming to militate with the Provision of the Law, that when the Communication from the Sent of Government admitted, and the circumstances of the Province required, there should be a regular Second Circuit, the Board would prefer to recommend that Special Commissions to deliver particular Gaols should issue where requisite; but, as the respective Reports from the Sheriffs' do not, in the opinion of the Board, require any unusual interposition, His Excellency, with advice of the Council, postpones a Second Circuit until the circumstances of the Province more decidedly require it

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Executive Council.

WHEREAS by the Tenor of the Location Tickets a Certificate is required to be lodged of the Settlement Duty being done within two Years, or that the said Location should be forfeited, and in case of Locations not gratuitous, that one third of the Patent Fee be lodged with such Certificate; AND WHEREAS it is represented, that in many instances, Certificates of performance of the Settlement Duty, have been withheld from the inability of the settler to deposit such proportion of the Patent Fee, it is deemed expedient to relieve the settler from forfeiture of his location, when he may actually have performed his settlement duty—Notice is hereby given that in all cases where Settlement Duty has been performed within the limited period, the settler shall, on filing Certificate thereof within six Months of this date, be exempted from forfeiture notwithstanding the non-payment therewith of such portion of the Patent Fee, provided the Patent is sued out within One Year from the filing of such Certificate.

And further; His Excellency, in the hope of avoiding the necessity of rescinding any of the Militia grants, is pleased to direct this Public Notification; that all Lands granted to Militia Men, upon which the Settlement Duties shall not have been performed within the limited period, will in pursuance of general instructions given to the Surveyor General in all similar cases, be declared vacant, and will be granted within Six Months after the expiration of that period, to the first applicant, unless the Original Nominee, shall before such subsequent application, have lodged a Certificate of his having performed the Settling Duties.

JOHN SMALL, Clk. Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office,
York, 7th Nov. 1821.

WHEREAS it has become expedient to establish a line of communication through certain remote Townships, for encouragement thereof, Grants will be made to actual Settlers in the Townships hereinafter named on the condition of Settling within two years from the date of the Location, at the reduced Scale of 5th January, 1819, viz.

A Township North of Mariposa, advertised from the Surveyor General's Office on the 19th of October, as

Zeta, to be called Eldon

N. of Ep-		Fenelon
N. of Fairly- advertised as	Emit	Verulam
N. of Smith	Lake	Harvey
E. of do.		Douro
N. of Asphodel	Alma	Dummer
N. of Seymour	Mora	Belmont
N. of Dummer	Yea	Burleigh
N. of Marmora	Ninia	Lake
N. of Madoc		Tudor
N. of Ebzever	No	Grimsthorpe
N. of Kaladar	Aye	Anglesea
N. of Kennebec	Jus	Barrie
N of Norma	Olden	Clarendon
N.of Oso	Et	Palmerston
N.of Belmont	Carlos	Methuen

JOHN SMALL, C. E. C.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Newcastle District, to wit. } BY virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of Kings Beuch, and to the Sheriff o the Newcastle District directed, against the Lands and Tenements of David M'Gregor Rogers Esq at the suit John Strachan, Thomas A Dobbs, and Thomas H. Cartwright, Executors of the late Richard Cartwright, Esq. I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said David M'Gregor Rogers the following Lands, viz

S. half of Lot No. 3	Broken Front, A.
Lot No. 3	do. do. B.	330 Acres.
Lot No. 3	do. do. C.
Lot No. 23	2 Concession,	200 do.
Lot No. 26	3 do	200 do.

of the Township of Haldimand, in the county of Northumberland, which Property I shall offer for sale at Public Auction, at the Inn now occupied by Mr. N W. Mack, in the village of Coburg, on the ninth day of February next at 12 o'clock, at noon.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff,
By EBENEZER PERRY, D'y Sheriff

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above described Premises, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber, on or before the day of Sale.

NOTE.—The sale of the above Lots, No. 3, Concession A., B., and C., 330 Acres, is postponed until 11th day of January next (1825) at the same place and at 6 o'clock in the Evening.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
BY EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Cobourg, }
November 3d, 1824 } 47—td.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit. } ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb. 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Peter Grant, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Jerry Whitehead, viz

The easterly half of Lot No. 10, in the First Concession of the Township of Thurlow, containing 100 acres more or less.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
November 2d, 1824 }

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit } ON Saturday the 5th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Zachariah Simmons, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Thomas Parker, viz.

Part of Lot No. 16, in the First Concession of the Township of Sidney, containing three acres and thirty-one perches.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office Kingston, }
November 2d, 1824. }

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, } ON Saturday the 12th day of
To Wit. } January, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Theophilus Lockwood, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Thomas Parker, viz.

Part of the east half of Lot No. 22, in the Third Concession of the Township of Sidney, in the County of Hastings, containing 19½ acres.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
October, 1824. }

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, } ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb.
To Wit } 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands, as belonging to Lewis Day, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Alexander Simpson, viz.

The rear two fifths of Lot No. 15, containing 80 acres, and the north or rear two fifths of the westerl quarter of Lot No. 16, in the Fourth Concession of the Township of Kingston, containing 20 acres and the south easterly quarter of the west half of Lot No. 16, in the Second Concession of the Township of Kingston, containing 25 acres.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston. }
November 2d, 1824. }

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Lands, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, } ON Thursday the 28th day
To Wit. } of October next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to the estate of the late Duncan McDonald, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Duncan McDonell, viz.

Lot No. 466 in the Town of Kingston, containing one sixth of an acre.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
July 27th, 1824. }

N. B. Any person or persons having claims on the above lot of laud, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, } ON Saturday the 11th of
TO WIT. } February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land as belonging to Solomon Orser, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Allan McLean, Esq viz:—

The front part of l ot No 18, in the 2d Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
18th October, 1824 }

N. B All persons having claims on the above Land or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District To Wit } ON Tuesday the 18th day of January, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Daniel Lyons, seized by virtue of an Execution, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of the Hon. G. H. Markland, and John Kirby, Esq Executors to the estate of the late Lawrence Herchimer, viz:—

Lot No. 25 in the 7th Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff, M, D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
18th October, 1824. } No. 46,—t. d.

N. B All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District To Wit. } ON Tuesday the 18th day of January 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands and Tenements, as belonging to William Parkiss, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Charles Bowman, viz:—

Lot No. 6 in the 2d Concession of the Township of Loughborough, containing 200 Acres; also Town Lot No 260 in the Town of Kingston, with a large two story Frame House erected thereon.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office Kingston, }
October 18th, 1824. }

N. B. All Persons having claims on the above land or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale 45—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT } ON Saturday the 11th of
TO WIT. } February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land as belonging to Solomon Orser, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Allan McLean, Esq viz:—

The front part of l ot No 18, in the 2d Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
18th October, 1824 }

N. B All persons having claims on the above Land or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District To Wit } ON Tuesday the 18th day of January, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Daniel Lyons, seized by virtue of an Execution, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of the Hon. G. H. Markland, and John Kirby, Esq Executors to the estate of the late Lawrence Herchimer, viz:—

Lot No. 25 in the 7th Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff, M, D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
18th October, 1824. } No. 46,—t. d.

N. B All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Niagara District To Wit. } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of William Chisholm, at the suits of John Jamneson and John McKenzie, I have seized and taken the following lands, viz:

Part of Lot No. 16 in the 5th Concession of Grantham,	}	Acres. 50
Part of Lot No. 17 in the 7th Concession of Grantham.	}	24
Part of Lot No 13 in the 7th Concession of Grantham.	}	20
Lots Nos. 2 and 3 in the Village of St. Catharines.	}	2
Lots Nos. 3 and 4 in do do. do.		1
Lot No. 9 in the Town of Niagara.		1
Lots No 14 and 15, in the 5th Concession of Grimsby.	}	200
Part of Lots Nos. 9 and 10 in do. do. do.	}	100

All of which property I shall offer for Sale on the last Monday in March, 1825, at Twelve o'clock noon, at the Court House, in the Town of Niagara, and djudge be same to the highest bidder, for Cash only.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Niagara, }
2d March, 1824. }

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim to the above mentioned premises by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

48—6w R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Niagara District, } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri
To Wit: } Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the Lands and Tenements of John D M'Kay, at the suit of Peter M'Gil, I have seized and taken the following Lands, viz:—

Lot No. 13, in the 8th Concession of Clinton.
Lot No. 5, 6, 7, & 12, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Grimsby.	}	400 acres
Lot No. 37, & 39, in the 8th & 9th Concession of do.	}	200 acres
Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 1st Concession of Bertie.	}
Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 2d Concession of do.	}	495 acres
Lot No. 12 & 14, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Gainsbo'o	}	400 acres
Lot No. 4, in the 2d Concession of do.	}	200 acres

Lot No. 74, 95, 96, & ½, of 201, in the town of Niagara —All of which property I shall offer for sale on the 2d day of August, 1824, at the Court House in the town of Niagara, at 12 o'clock, noon, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for cash only

R. LEONARD, Sheriff
By PETER T. PAWLING, Dep'y Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Niagara, }
July 31st, 1823. 4. }

N. B. Any person or persons having any claims on the above named premises, by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

☞ The sale of the above property is postponed until the 18th of September, next, at the same place and hour.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff

The Sale of the above Property is postponed until the second Tuesday in January, 1825.

RICHARD LEONARD, Sheriff.
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.
48—6w.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, } ON Saturday the 18th day of
To Wit: } December next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, all the right, title, claim and interest of Wm. Bayard Smyth, of Kingston, to the following Town Lots, with the buildings thereon erected, seized by virtue of a Writ of Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at the suit of C. A. Hagerman, Esq viz:—Lot No 110, and the North West half of Lot No. 107, in the Town of Kingston, containing three tenths of an acre.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above property, or upon any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff M. D.

Kingston, Sept. 14th, 1824.

Eliza Skinner, Lots No. 172, and 161, in the Township of Stamford, 323 acres—Lots number 2, 3, 5 6, and 7 in the Fourteenth Concession of the Township of Pelham, containing 563 acres:—All of which property I shall offer for sale on the second Monday in March, in the year 1825, at twelve o'clock noon, at the Court House, in the Town of Niagara, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for cash only.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff,
By P. T PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Niagara, }
March 2d, 1824. }

N B. Any Person or Persons having any claim to the above mentioned premises by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of Sale.

48—6w. R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

NIAGARA DISTRICT } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri
To Wit: } Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the lands and tenements of John D M'Kay, at the suit of Peter M'Gil, I have seized and taken the following Lands, viz:—

Lot No. 13, in the 8th Concession of Clinton.
Lot No. 5, 6, 7, & 12, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Grimsby.	}	400 acres
Lot No. 37, & 39, in the 8th & 9th Concession of do.	}	200 acres
Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 1st Concession of Bertie.	}
Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 2d Concession of do.	}	495 acres
Lot No. 12 & 14, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Gainsbo'o	}	400 acres
Lot No. 4, in the 2d Concession of do.	}	200 acres

Lot No. 74, 95, 96, & ½, of 201, in the town of Niagara —All of which property I shall offer for sale on the 2d day of August, 1824, at the Court House in the town of Niagara, at 12 o'clock, noon, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for cash only

R. LEONARD, Sheriff
By PETER T. PAWLING, Dep'y Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Niagara, }
July 31st, 1823. 4. }

N. B. Any person or persons having any claims on the above named premises, by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

☞ The sale of the above property is postponed until the 18th of September, next, at the same place and hour.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff

The Sale of the above Property is postponed until the second Tuesday in January, 1825.

RICHARD LEONARD, Sheriff.
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.
48—6w.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, } ON Saturday the 18th day of
To Wit: } December next, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, all the right, title, claim and interest of Wm. Bayard Smyth, of Kingston, to the following Town Lots, with the buildings thereon erected, seized by virtue of a Writ of Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at the suit of C. A. Hagerman, Esq viz:—Lot No 110, and the North West half of Lot No. 107, in the Town of Kingston, containing three tenths of an acre.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above property, or upon any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff M. D.

Kingston, Sept. 14th, 1824.

NOT OFFICIAL.

FIRE INSURANCE.

THE Sun Insurance Company of New York, having appointed George Crookshank, Esquire, their Agent in Upper Canada—he is ready to Insure against Loss or Damage by Fire, on Dwelling Houses, Stores, Merchandise, House hold Furniture, and other Personal Property; at moderate Rates of Premium.— Persons wishing to Insure must send a plan of their Buildings, when wanted out of the Town of York, a respectable reference will be required, and Letters Post Paid —Application to be made to

R. W. PRENTICE.

York, 25th Sept. 1824. No. 39.—t. f.

FRONTENAC STEAM-BOAT.

IMPORTANT SALE.

ON MONDAY, the tenth day of January, 1825 at the hour of twelve o'clock at noon, at the Government wharf in Kingston, will be sold by Public Auction, to the highest bidder, without reserve — THE STEAM VESSEL FRONTENAC of 700 Tons burthen, with an Engine of 50 Horse Power (Bolton & Watt's) together with Anchors, Cables, Sails, Rigging, Cabin furniture, &c. &c. &c.

(Signed)

D JOHN SMITH,
Treasurer.

Kingston, 6th Dec. 1824. 51—td.

WANTED

TO Purchase, or to Hire for a few Months, a good PIANO FORTE.

Enquire at this Office. No. 51.—3 w.

FOR SALE.

A SET of SCREENS, London-made, CRIMSON MOREEN CURTAINS, for THREE WINDOWS, with festoons, bindings, fringe, &c. &c. &c made very full; and in the newest fashion. The very lowest price is $63 — The cost in London was much higher, and they are quite new.—Inquire of Messrs. M. & R. MEIGHAN.

Market Square, York, 9th Dec. 50—tf.

NOTICE.

IF JOHN QUICK, late of Whitby, does not, within Twenty Days, take possession of the Cattle left for him in my charge by Surtham Gibbs, late of said place, they will be sold by Public Auction for the benefit of all concerned.

(SIGNED.)
JOHN B. WARREN.

Whitby, Home District,
November, 5th, 1824. No. 50 —3 w.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that Application will be made at the next Session of the Provincial Parliament, for an Act to establish Dundas Street as the division of the Townships of Ancaster and Flamboro West, in the District of Gore, from the Village of Coots Paradise, in Lot No 53, 1st Con. of Ancaster, to the Marsh lying to the Eastward therof, commonly called, Coots Paradise.—

Dundas, 2d. December, 1824.

No 50.—6 w.

A Large Yellow Cow, with a short Tail and Gathered Horns, the owner is requested to bring her from No 16 in the 3d Concession, Township of York.

FRANCIS BROCK.

Nov. 27th, 1824. 49—3w.

VALUABLE LEASEHOLD PROPERTY.

FOR SALE BY AUCTION

On Thursday the 23rd of December, 1824 at 12 o'clock noon, an unexpired term of 36 years in a Lease of Twelve Acres of Land, and with a newly erected Frame House, Tannery and other improvements, on the banks of the River Don, and within half a mile of the New Catholic Church in York.—The Premises are opposite to the residence of the late Mr. SCADDING and form part of the Castle-Frank Estate.— The rent is exceedingly low.—Further particulars will be made known at the time of Sale

T. MOSELEY.
Auctioneer.

No. 49.—6 w.

ALBION NEWSPAPER.

A GENTLEMAN wishing to complete a File of the Albion Newspaper is in want of the following Numbers, for which he will gladly pay a fair compensation.

Volume 1 —Nos. 4 & 18.
" 2 —Nos. 16, 18, 19, 20, & 21,
" 3 —Nos. 4 & 7.

Apply at the U. C. Gazette Office.

No. 49.—t. f.

WELLAND CANAL NOTICE.

WANTED TO EMPLOY

FROM 50 TO 100 LABOURERS,

ON the Tunnel for the Welland Canal; in this District Sappers and Miners, who have been accustomed to Tunnelling in Europe, will have a preference, if men of steady habits.

ALFRED HOVEY.

Thorald, Niagara District,
November 16th 1824

N. B Editors of papers in the Provinces will please insert this four times, with a reference under the Editorial Head, and send their accounts to Francis Hall Esquire, Engineer, Queenston, U. C.

49.—4w A. H.

BANK NOTICE.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HERBY GIVEN, that the Bank of Upper Canada has established an Office of Discount and Deposit in the Town of Niagara, under the superintendance of the undermentioned persons

JOHN CROOKS, Esquire,
JOHN ROSS, Esquire, & } DIRECTORS.
ADAM CRYSLER, Esquire.
THOMAS McCORMICK, Esquire, CASHIER

The said office will commence on the 1st day of December next and will be open for business from 10 o' clock in the morning to 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the usual holy days excepted.

By Order,
THOMAS G. RIDOUT.
Cashier.

Bank of Upper Canada,
York, 24th Nov 1824. 49—4w.

TERRY AND CATTERMOLE,

WATCH MAKERS,
Silversmiths. & Jewellers,
FROM LONDON,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public, that they have commenced business in that Central Store, in the Market Square, two doors north of Mr. Patterson

To a perfect knowledge of the above arts, T. and C have added an extensive assortment of materials necessary in their business, and their friends may rest assured that every exertion will be made to give general satisfaction, and merit, for their establishment, a continuation of public patronage.

Watch Cases Gilt to imitate Gold,—Musical Clocks, Watches, &c. carefully repaired and cleaned.

Produce received at cash prices in payment for work

York, Nov. 25th 1824 49tf.

NOTICE.

St. Catherines, 20th
November, 1824.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that pursuant to a Resolution of the President and Directors of the Welland Canal Company, held 15th ult, an Instalment of 2½ Per Cent upon the Capital Stock Subscribed is required to be paid into the Treasurer at this place, on or before the 1st January, next as provided by the 26 clause of the Act of Incorporation.

By Order
GEORGE KEEFER, Jun.
Secretary

N, B, Subscribers will pay their instalments to the Agents in the different Districts, who will remit the same,

December 2d, 1824, No. 49,—t f.

NOTICE.

CHARLES HAYES, Esq. of Marmora, having by his deed bearing date the Sixth day of September last, conveyed to the undersigned all his Estate, real and personal, in trust for the benefit of his Creditors, it is requested that such persons as have claims against him, will present the same without delay for adjustment.

The business at Marmora will be continued as heretofore, for the account of the Trustees, by Mr. Hayes.

PETER M'GILL.
A. MANAHAN.
ROBERT HAYES.

Kingston, Oct. 24th, 1824. 46—6w.

FOR SALE.

A Farm on Yonge Street, Lot No. 32 in Markham, One Hundred and Ninety Acres, of which ninety Acres are under cultivation with a Frame House and Barn on the same, a stream of water runs across the Lot, and Purdy's Saw and Grist Mills are on the Lot opposite to the same —Terms of payment will be made easy.—Application to be made to,

GEORGE CROOKSHANK.

York, 17th Oct. 1824.

N B. Should the above mentioned Farm not be sold by the 1st March next, it will then be leased

43—tf

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the County of Dundas, intend presenting a Petition to the Legislature at its next Session, for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace held in the said County of Dundas, and the Town of Cornwall alternately.

Also to have the Concession line between the fourth and fifth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg in the Eastern District, to have the said line run upon the true course of No 66 E and completed.

And also the side lines in the said fourth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg aforesaid, to have the said side lines to run upon the original course No. 24 W.

43—26w.

LAND IN PERCY.

A VERY valuable Lot of Land, consisting of 200 Acres, being No. 7 in the 2nd Concession of the Township of Percy, in the Newcastle District, and not far from the River Trent, in the midst of a good settlement may be had for 2$ per Acre, with an indisputable title, and immediate possession.—Inquire at the U. C. Gazette Office 43—tf.

TO DISTILLERS & BREWERS.

ROBERT Todd Dean having made Chemistry the study of his life, and having for himself and others both in Scotland and Ireland, for sixteen years, conducted a Chemical Manufactory, (Testimonials of the most satisfactory kind can be produced from many respectable individuals to that effect) and having also others of his Countrymen come to Canada for the purpose of bettering his condition in life, finds himself so situated, now, as to be obliged to offer his services to persons engaged in the Brewing and Distilling business, both of which branches, together with the Manufactory of Cordials &c. he professes, with all their late improvements, to perfectly understand.

Any Person desirous of having his sevices by addressing a letter to him (post paid) to the care of Matthew Crooks Esq. Ancaster Upper Canada, may depend upon its meeting with a ready attention from

Signed,

R. T. DEAN.

N. B. Terms will be moderate, and such as will be within the reach of every one, doing even a moderate business, immediate employment is an object to,

R. T. D

40—13w.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the First Concession of Sophiasburgh South west of Green Point —by reason of the material damage they have sustained these number of years back, on account of the erroneous original Survey of the Second Concession Line Are determined to Petition the Legislature of this Province at the ensuing Session of Parliament for the alteration of the said Line, and to settle all the differences relating thereunto

Sophiasburgh, Oct 7th, 1824 } No. 39 —6 t.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the EASTERN DISTRICT will at the next Session of the LEGISLATURE make application to be authorised to effect a Loan to enable them to erect a Gaol and Court House in the Town of Cornwall. 37—6m.

NOTICE.

AN APPLICATION will be made to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for an Act imposing a Tax on Dogs in the TOWN of YORK and its vicinity, the proceeds of which to be applicable to the police purposes.

By Order of the Magistrates in Adjourned General Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the Home District assembled on the 6th day of Sept. 1824.

(Signed,)

S. HEWARD.
Clk. Peace Home District.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the COUNTY of GLENGARY intend presenting a Petition to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Glengary and the Town of Cornwall alternately. 37—6m.

NOTICE.

ALL Persons indebted to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire, of Stamford, are requested to make immediate payment to the Subscriber at Vittoria, London District, and those having claims on the Estate, will be pleased to furnish him with their respective Accounts properly authenticated.

(Signed) WALTER NICHOL,
Administrator to the Estate of the Late ROBERT NICHOL, ESQUIRE

Niagara, 29th May, 1824.

VALUABLE LAND IN OTONIBEE,

FOR SALE ON A CREDIT OF YEARS.

ONE of the most valuable Lots in the beautiful Township of OTONIBEE, on the Rice Lake, consisting of two Hundred Acres, being Lot No. 10, in the Ninth Con. The quality of the Land is first rate, (Maple, Beech, Bass, Elm, and Oak.) It has a Log House, and some small improvements upon it, and is not quite a mile distant from the Rice Lake, and from the Town Plot.— It has also the advantage of being well watered by a Creek that never fails

Price, two dollars per Acre; and terms of payment, One Eighth at the time of concluding the bargain, and Seven Years Credit, by annual instalments with interest for the remainder, if desired —Inquire at the Gazette Office.

TOWN LOTS IN PORT HOPE.

SEVERAL valuable building Lots, in the flourishing village of PORT HOPE, are for Sale, by private Contract, on the most liberal Terms, and on a credit of seven Years, provided the first Instalment be paid down. Either Produce or Manual Labour will be received, if desired, in Payment —For further particulars apply at the U. C. Gazette Office, York, or to Messrs. C. & J. Stowe, Merchants,—Port Hope.

No. 40.—t. f.

NOTICE.

THE Plan and Estimate of a STEAM BOAT, (to be Built by Mr. AMOUS S ROBERTS) about One Hundred Tons Burthen, intended to Ply between this Port and Niagara, may be seen at this Office —Her Engine is intended to be of Twenty Five Horse Power. The whole Cost is estimated at Two Thousand Two Hundred and Five Pounds Currency. She is to be Built by Stock, made up of Shares, of Twenty Five Pounds each A few Shares are still wanting. Subscriptions for which will be received at this Office, and at the Office of the Niagara Gleaner, where Estimates and Conditions will be exhibited to those who wish to become Stockholders.

Gazette Office, York,
August 20th, 1824. No. 33.—t. f.

FOR SALE.

LOT No. Two, in the First Concession of the Township of York, with the Broken Front, containing about Two Hundred and Forty Acres of Land.

Application to be made to

J. B. MACAULAY

York, 12th June, 1824. 25—t. f.

NOTICE.

FOR SALE, by private Contracts, the House and Lot lately occupied by Mr. O'Sullivan, Saddler, King's-Street, in the Town of York, the Lot is 26 feet fronting King's-Street, by 112 feet deep.

Also.—A Lot adjoining the above on the West side, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—A Lot adjoining Mr. Duggan's, 34, by 112 feet.

Also —Three Lots on Stuarts Land, each 40, by 60 feet.

Should the above Property and Lots not be sold by Private Contract, the five last described Lots will be sold at Public Sale, on the first day of July ensuing.

Application for Terms of Sale, to be made to

ALEXANDER WOOD, ESQ.

YORK, 17th March, 1824. t. f.

NOTICE.

VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE.

VIZ—

In the Township of Vaughan
Lots No. 22, 23. 24 in the 7th Con. and Broken Lot No 5, in the 10th Concession. } 620 Acre

Township of York
Lot No. 13, 5th Concession, and Broken Front West of Yonge Street on the Humber, West half of No 15, in 2d Con. West of Yonge St. } 380 Acres.

Township of Percy
Lot No 20, in 3d Concession. } 400 Acres.
Lot No. 21, in 4th Ditto.

For particulars apply to Guy C. Wood, Esq. Cornwall, or the Subscriber in York.

R. G ANDERSON,

19th July, 1824. 30—tf.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the County of Prince Edward, in the Midland District, intend Petitioning the Legislature, at the next Session thereof, to have the said County sett off, and made into a separate District from the said Midland District, and to be called the District of Maitland. No. 24—6ms.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Inhabitants of the Township of TOWNSEND intend Petitioning both Houses of the Provincial Legislature at its next Session, to pass a Law, Establishing a Line Surveyed in the year 1823, between the 12th and 13th Cons. of the said Township.

TOWNSEND, 20th May, 1824. } No. 21—1 m. t. d.

VALUABLE LANDED PROPERTY FOR SALE

TWENTY SEVEN TOWN LOTS, eligibly situated in the Village of Cobourg in Hamilton, Upper Canada, on one of which, a Store and Dwelling House are erected.

Two Neat Small FARMS, contiguous to the above Village, containing, one, about Twenty-eight Acres, the other, about Fifty Acres, with a House and other Buildings on each of them —A Plan of the above may be seen on application to Mr. J. G. BARNES, Cobourg, (who will shew the Premises,) or to the Subscriber.

Two TOWN LOTS in Picardville, adjoining to the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada, with Houses and other Buildings thereon, being Lots No. 21 and 22.

200 Acres of Land being No. 1, 8th Con. of Murray.

200 do do being No. 4, 4th do of Hungerford.

200 do do being No. 1, 8th do of Winchester.

200 do do being No. 14, 8th do of Mountain.

200 do do being the West halves of No. 31 and 32 in the 2d Concession of Hawkesbury.

Liberal Terms of Payment will be granted.

For particulars apply to

FRS. ANT. LAROQUE.

N. B. The above mentioned Town Lots in the flourishing Village of Cobourg, and the two adjoining Farms, will be disposed of by Public Sale, in the said Village on the 24th May next.

F. A. L. R.

MONTREAL, 15th March, 1824. t. f.

THE
Canadian Annual Register.

UNDER THE PATRONAGE OF HIS EXCELLENCY,

SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

To whom the Work is Dedicated by Permission.

AS the Projector and Editor of this Great National Work is confident of its ultimate success, if but a moderate share of encouragement is given to its outset,—he takes this opportunity of requesting those Agents of this Paper who have received the names of any Subscribers to the Work to transmit them, together with their address, without delay, to the U. C. Gazette Office, in order that they may be added to those already received in the larger Prospectus about to be issued.

The names and residences of the earliest patrons of this Great undertaking, will be published, alphabetically arranged, in the first volume of the work, as a perpetual record of their liberality, public spirit, and sound patriotism.

It is again repeated, that no money will be demanded, until the work, which will not exceed the price of the meanest newspaper, is delivered.

A New Type is ordered from Great Britain expressly for this work.

U. C Gazette Office,
November 20, 1823.

TERMS
OF THE U. C. GAZETTE AND WEEKLY REGISTER.

FOUR DOLLARS per annum (Postage included) payable half yearly in advance. Three months notice is required previous to the discontinuance of any Subscription.

RATES OF ADVERTISING,

Six lines and under, two shillings and six pence, and sevenpence sterling, every subsequent insertion.

Six to ten lines, five shillings, and one shilling and threepence sterling each.

All exceeding ten lines, four pence per line for the first insertion, and one penny subsequently—Rule and Figure work charged Double —A discount of 25 per cent. allowed to those who advertise by the year —Advertisements cannot be received after 10 o'clock on the Wednesday afternoon immediately preceding the day of Publication —Advertisements unaccompanied with positive directions as to the exact number of insertions to be given them, will be continued until expressly forbidden.— or until the day of Sale (if alluding to Sales) and charged accordingly.

☞ Advertisements from the Country must be post paid, with the price of insertion; or, a newspaper in Town who will pay when demanded, or discontinued.

☞ Any Agent obtaining 3 Subscribers has a paper for himself at half price;—if he obtains 6, he has his own paper gratis; —and, for as many as he obtains above 6, he will receive, besides his own paper, a Commission of 5 per cent. upon the whole amount.

WEEKLY REGISTER.

VOL. III. Our endeavor will be to "stamp the very body of the time—its form and pressure"—we shall extenuate nothing, nor shall we set down aught in malice. No. 51.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 16th, 1824

Editorial Commentary.

Such is the miserable state of our roads that the Mail, for north, was [illegible] hour yesterday evening; and we were compelled to put our present number to press without seeing the latest foreign news.

One piece of intelligence, however, of a very satisfactory nature has reached us, and from a source that is not to be doubted. The Greeks have revoked the Proclamation empowering their cruisers to destroy neutral vessels, (with their crews,) employed in the transport of munitions of war in aid of the Turks; consequently, the retaliatory Proclamation of the Ionian Government is also revoked! The report of this news we consider more cheering than that of many victories.

SELECTIONS FROM BRITISH AND FOREIGN JOURNALS.

From London Papers to the 10th October.

The British revenue continued to increase, and every indication of national prosperity appeared undiminished.

Three per cents had advanced towards par, being 95 ¾. to 96 ¼.

Commissions in the Army.—A new code of regulations concerning the appointment of persons to Commissions in the Army, has been issued; the principal of which is, that no person shall be eligible till he has attained the age of 16, and that all recommendations shall certify the eligibility of the person in respect to education, character, connexions, and bodily health, and that he is prepared immediately to join any regiment to which he may be appointed.

Irish Linen Manufactory.—We understand that three hundred and thirty thousand pieces of fine linen have been bleached this season, within six miles of Belfast.

Poor Laws in Ireland.—A Dublin paper says,—"We announce to the Irish people, that all the necessary arrangements have been made by Mr. Goulburn at the express desire of the Lord Lieutenant, for the purpose of introducing, early next session, the poor laws into Ireland."

The Late Miss Bathurst.—After six months and twelve days the body of this unfortunate and lamented young lady has been found. At 6 o'clock, on the 26th ult two waggons passing over the Milvino bridge, perceived a body which the waters had just thrown up upon the bank. The magistrates were immediately informed of the circumstance, and many persons hastened to the spot, and recognized the body as that of Miss Bathurst, although less by the disfigured features, than by the dress and jewels which she wore. It appears that it has been long buried in the sand by which it was preserved. The flesh was perfect, and the face retained its roundness but the contact of the air, soon occasioned decomposition. When an attempt was made to take off the bonnet which was still tied under the chin, all the hair adhered to it. Surgeons have been ordered to cleanse it from the sand and dirt. The Hanoverian Minister and the French Charge d'Affaires have taken charge of the remains. A sum of 1200 fr. had been offered for the picking up of the body.

Curious Bequest.—Mr. MERRY, surgeon, had a bequest made him by a blind Clergyman of both his eyes, in order that he might discover the cause of his blindness, for the common good of mankind

LONDON, Oct. 14.

Largest Tunnel in the World.—It is with great satisfaction we are enabled to announce that the grand union between the rivers Thames and Medway, will be effected very shortly by means of the largest tunnel we believe in the world.

Capt. Cochrane, the Pedestrian.—Captain J. D. Cochrane, the indefatigable traveller, arrived at Barbados on the 8th of August last. He is on his way to South America, intending to explore on foot the yet untravelled part of that country, and to ascend the Andes.

Portrait of Lord Byron.—We learn, from a correspondent in Italy, that a most beautiful portrait, representing the above noble poet after his death, has just being finished by M. Pezzana, who is said to have been with that illustrious author the moment before he expired

Committal of Mr. Hale.—Wednesday M. George Hale was taken by Keeble, the constable, to the police-office at Woolwich, before Sir John Webb, physician to the garrison, the Rev. John Messiter, chaplain to the garrison, and Mr. Marsh, door keeper of the Royal Arsenal of Woolwich, magistrates acting in that division, for final examination, charged with submitting libellous pamphlets, entitled "The Two Opinions," to the soldiers in the Woolwich Barracks, intended to incite them to acts of insubordination, &c.

Sir John Webb said the charge was, that he had unlawfully distributed publications amongst the soldiery, calculated to excite insubordination and discontent in their minds, and to induce them to throw down their arms.

Mr. Hale.—In the pamphlet I have published, there is not one word but what is taken from God's word, the Bible is the foundation of the Christian religion, and I can have done no more wrong than if I had distributed the Bible amongst the soldiers.

His object was to prevent war in this and every country where the Christian religion was sanctioned by the existing Government.

Mr. Messiter observed, that the most offensive passage was the following:—"Each of you have souls, and never-dying souls, too; and if you live and die in opposition to the commandments of Christ, you are undone to all eternity! If your fellow-creatures teach and command you to hate and fight against your enemies, they, by so doing, are leading you on, in the most wicked and wilful opposition to the holy religion which they themselves profess to believe in and defend, and in a manner that must end in your own inevitable and eternal ruin! • If any man hath an ear, let him hear. He that leadeth into captivity, shall go into captivity: he that killeth with the sword, must be killed with the sword.'. It is your duty, your interest, and your privilege to obey God rather than man; and while you are fighting, or even learning to fight against your fellow-creatures, you are acting contrary to the Christian religion, and disobeying the commands of the only Saviour of sinners! Whatever engagements or obligations you may be under to your fellow creatures, remember that will not excuse you at the last and terrible day of reckoning! It is your plain duty to obey God in preference to man! and where God commands you to love and pray for your enemies, and your fellow creatures teach you to hate and fight against them, it is your duty to obey God, and not man! For all they that take the sword, shall perish with the sword!"

Mr. Hale said there was nothing in the above illegal, or that could be charged as libellous.

Repeated attempts were made to prevail on the accused to desist from the course he was pursuing, but to no purpose.

Mr. Hale said that the commands of God were to be observed in preference to all human engagements, and boasted that his opinions and wishes were opposite to those of Carlile, for he (the accused) wished to propagate those opinions which were founded on the Bible and on the Christian religion, which had been decided by Courts of law to be part and parcel of the law of the land.

Mr. Hale said here, that he was convinced no jury would find him guilty of the offence of which he stood accused, and he would find no bail.

His commitment was then made out. The Magistrates told him that a few day's imprisonment might alter his tone, and he could then put in bail either in Maidstone, or before a Judge in London.

Corn Laws.—It is generally supposed that Ministers will avail themselves of the first opportunity to effect an alteration of the Corn Laws; proposing to keep the ports constantly open to Foreign Grain at a high duty. The present average prices are.—Wheat, 54s. 6d. Barley, 30s. 10d. Oats, 22s. 7d Rye, 29 1d.

Descent of a young Lady in an Air Balloon.

An extraordinary sensation was produced the other day at Cuckfield fair, in Sussex, by the descent of a large balloon in the midst of the crowd assembled at the fete. It being a great horse and cattle fair, as well as one of amusement, there was a vast assemblage of persons of all classes, and the aeronauts, whose names we have not learnt, descended in the very heart of the fair. The first sensation produced on the crowd of peasants, many of whom had never seen a balloon before, was very great, and their astonishment was considerably increased by seeing an elegant young lady step out of the car. The parties immediately set off in a post chaise for London. We have not heard whence the balloon ascended. Going up in air balloons has of late become a very fashionable recreation. It is a remarkable circumstance, that more ladies have ventured to make this, than almost any other novel experiment, in which there is certainly some little danger. Upwards of forty five female aeronauts may be enumerated, out of which only two have met with any accident. Morning Paper

Witticisms.—One sharp frosty day, his present Majesty, when Prince of Wales, went into the Thatched House Tavern, and ordered a beef steak, but the weather being very cold, desired the waiter to bring him first a glass of brandy and water. He emptied that in a twinkling, then a second, then a third. 'Now,' said his Royal Highness, 'I am warm and comfortable, bring me my steak.' On this Mr. Sheridan, who was present, wrote the following impromptu,—

The Prince came in and said 'twas cold,
Then put his head the rummer;
Till swallow after swallow came,
When he pronounc'd it summer.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

FRANCE.

PARIS Oct. 15.

Mr. B. Constant had become an attendant at Court. The French Stocks were improving and the project of reducing the rates of interest on the National paper was again in agitation.

A very judicious measure has been adopted in France with regard to the intended new coinage. A prize of 10,000 francs, is offered for the best engraving of a head of his present Majesty, so that the common circulating coin of the country will not only remind the countenance of the King amiable to his subjects, but will also serve as a memorial of the progress of the arts in France.

The funeral of Louis XVIII, was made remarkable by an accident which has not been till now publicly mentioned, but which at present, is a topic of very general conversation in every circle in Paris. Several battallions of the Garde Nationale marched at the head of the funeral procession, the commanding officer having promised, that on their arrival at St. Dennis they should form the ranks of each side the way that the convoi was to pass, that they might themselves enjoy the sight of a spectacle which no person now living had ever an opportunity of seeing. Notwithstanding this promise thus given, these battallions had hardly arrived at St. Denis, when they were ordered to file off to the left by a lateral road, and march back to Paris. The National Guards, instead of obeying this command, broke their ranks, and began to place themselves on the side of the road, for the purpose of seeing the procession. General Larochejaquelin (son of the famous Vendean Chief), on witnessing the manœuvre, approached the National Guards and [illegible] the [illegible] the [illegible] the [illegible] the [illegible] same time cried out to the gens d'armes to charge them if they did not obey. This order was no sooner heard by these Guards than they fixed their bayonets, and marched towards the General with crossed bayonets, saying, "*sat ca toi, mauvais Chouan, qui nous fera charger?" "Is it you, base Chouan, that dare to charge us?" The General not expecting to find he had to do with persons si peu endurans, retired, leaving the National Guards masters of the field.

* Chouan was a name of reproach given to the Vendeans in the time of the Revolution.

SPAIN.

Disturbances still continued in Spain. A party of Constitutional Guerillas entered the town of Tarancon, (about 12 leagues from Madrid,) on the 1st October, and put to death the Alcade, three officers of the civil authorities, and eleven of the town's people. This daring act was in revenge for punishment of 2 of their comrades who had been put to death at Madrid for being concerned in a movement in favour of the constitution. The Guerillas effected their retreat from Tarancon without molestation.

MADRID, Sept. 27.—The Executive Commission proceeds with celerity; scarcely a day passes without the condemnation of some unfortunate wretch to be hanged or shot.

The Spanish Police still continues to send away from the capital the wives of the Ex-Deputies of the Cortes, and of a great many others, some of whom take refuge in Gibralter. These persons are granted but 24 hours to prepare for their voyage, and the 24 hours begin to be counted from the moment when the order to set out is transmitted to their habitations. New arrests take place every day. Of this number is the arrest of Gen. St. Marc, Ex-Captain of the kingdom of Valencia, who had been arrested at Madrid, and is now strictly guarded.—Intelligence from different parts of the Peninsula, and particularly from Andalusia, Aragon and Navarre, speak of partial massacres which occur in various places. Terror is spread every where, and seeing the indifference of the authorities, they entertain the design of disposing secretly of those men whom the sword of the law cannot reach. The band of insurgents, who are stationed, to the amount of 200 men, in the mountains of Cuenca, increase daily, by the addition not only of the military of the ancient army, but also by the national volunteers, who are proscribed.

GREECE AND TURKEY.

Accounts from Smyrna, which furnish the best information, are to Sept. 2. The Greeks have burnt a frigate of the Turks, and occasioned them the loss besides of a corvette and two brigs. The Musselmen were frightened. The Turkish troops appeared to be in a disordered state.

A letter from Smyrna, Sept 2, represents the Turkish army as discontented, and as having partly disbanded itself. The Greek prospects had brightened, but the measures of the British may cloud them again

A letter from Navarino states, that the plague prevails on board the Egyptian squadron.

A Greek frigate has arrived in England.

EXTRACTS OF OUR LETTERS.

"SMYRNA, SEPT. 2.—We are very quiet here not withstanding the defeat which the Turks have met with at Samos. Notwithstanding the fears entertained that the Samians would not be able to resist the Captain Pacha, we are extremely happy to say they have done it. The Turks having commenced an attack on the land batteries at Samos, a Greek fleet, consisting of about 20 Ipsariot brigs, &c. under Ad. APOSTOLINA, fortunately arrived in time to succor the island. The foremost ships of the Turkish fleet, consisting of a razee, frigates, &c. having got well in with the land, in the channel, a Greek brig passed under the stern of the razee, and did her considerable damage, and escaped without much injury.—By this time several other vessels were engaged, when the Greeks brought up four fire-ships, which, taking the advantage of a favorable time, they launched on the razee, a frigate of 50 guns, and two sloops of war, with unexampled boldness, and on witnessing the manœuvre, approached the National [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] been extinguished. At present Mike Shuck claims a portable citizenship, or a floating title to a residence that he locates for the time being, wherever he may chance to lay himself down for the night. His subsistance he draws from nature's grand storehouse, by means of an old rusty rifle that has been his constant companion since his first campaign under Gen. George Rogers Clark.

He possesses, in an eminent degree, a knowledge of all the minutiæ of trapping, and he appropriates his autumns, the proper season for this branch of his business, in exploring the small creeks that put in to the Missouri above the settlements. He is frequently discovered "at the peep of dawn," barefooted and barefooted, pursuing the meanderings of these water courses, bending under a load of traps, to learn whether or not the beaver had visited his nocturnal cache, or for the purpose of locating his traps more advantageously.

Such is the accuracy of his skill that Mike Shuck can make up a pack of beaver where an Indian, with all his rude knowledge of natural history, would esteem the prospect hopeless. A gentleman who was in pursuit of elk, about the middle of November last, discovered this modern Crusoe at evening, laden with his effects, that by great good fortune at this time amounted to about a pack horse load. He proposed to encamp with him for the night. Mike muttered a kind of grumbling assent, and led the way, first through an extensive hazle thicket, thence descending into a ravine, he proceeded by a devious route through a compact grove of swamp ash, and at length arrived at a cheerful fire that had previously been lighted up by our hero; but for which the place would have been as dreary as purgatory is represented to be. The owls themselves, however, pressing their necessities, could scarcely have flapped their way into this dismal labyrinth. But Mike and his plunder, as he very properly termed it in this instance, (for it was the legitimate property of the Indians) was safe. Mike Shuck threw down his burthen, and turned to his follower with a malicious smile, or rather hysteric grin, and desired him to be seated. The hospitality of his board, if a bear skin spread on the ground deserved the name, was tendered with very little ceremony, and consisted of a beaver tail and an elk marrow bone, both of which were prepared on the coals by mine-host in his own proper person.

Mike, as I have before remarked, claims no family connexions; and, if he ever had any, he has outlived them: he is, therefore, making no provisions for legacy hunters. But he is always, when he deigns to make use of his tongue, grumbling about his arrangements for an easy independant old age, and speaks of it as if it was yet very far distant, although he has almost attained four score. When the trapping season is over, he betakes himself to his craft as he is pleased to term a cotton wood cannoe, and proceeds to market with his usual indifference towards the elements. On one occasion when his cargo was fairly afloat on the angry current of the Missouri, and Mike had extended his weather worn limbs upon the shore for repose, his bowfast (a grape vine) parted, and his frail barque put to sea without a pilot. On making this discovery in the morning he was chagrined, but not discouraged by the event. He lost no time, but instantly set off in pursuit of his fortune, and having coasted down the river on the third day discovered his craft well moored under the lee of a raft of drift wood, without having sustained the smallest injury, in hull, rigging, or cargo. Michael was so much rejoiced, that, by inspiration or instinct, he was induced to offer a hasty prayer of thanksgiving; but whether it was directed to God, Man or the Devil; I have not been informed. As old Michael disdains to decorate his pericranium with the beaver he may entrap, his hair has been suffered to grow into a matted grisly substitute and at present very much resembles the borrowed wig of a strolling player. His features, too, are worn, by time and the storms of nearly eighty winters, into the inflexibility of a harber's block. With all these evidences to the contrary, he professes to be exceedingly happy. He insists that he relishes his meals infinitely better than a professed epicure; and he contends that Madeira, by no means, beat a comparison with spring water.

FRENCH REVOLUTION.

BATTLE OF THE NILE.

How necessary it is for nations, as well as individuals, to put their trust in God has been finely illustrated by the result of the great contest, betw en England and France, emanating from the French Revolution, during which the metropolitan Church of Notre Dame, at Paris, was convert-d into a Temple of Modern Philosophy, and, at a Grand Festival of Reason and Truth held in it—GOBERT, who had been Archbishop of Paris, having the Red Cap of Liberty on his head—actually went about with a hammer in his hand and demolished all the images of Jesus Christ, and of the Virgin, and other Saints. The different spirit of the two nations, at that time and long afterwards, is finely alluded to in the following elegant lines.—Ed.

An English Gentleman long resident in a retired manner at Naples was so animated by the splendid victory gained by Admiral Nelson as to give a magnificent dinner on the occasion at Posilipo, where the glorious Admiral was welcomed by the most flattering reception. The following Latin verses depicted on the walls in gold letters upon dark blue paper, in our opinion possess so much Classical Elegance that we have though it right to give them insertion.

Georgius ipse pius, fidem defende re natus
Et Charlotta fuis moribus, pietateque clara
Precantur Dominum savos everiere Gallos.
Annuit illoreus votis, et præsaa parat:
Prudens et fortis Nelson venit, Auspice fausto;
Ut Deus omnipotens Satanicas eruit Artes
Sic, favente Deo, fudit Nelsonius heros
Superbos Gallos lapsos pietate paterna.
Ut scripsit Cæsar nic Nelson dicere potest
Veni, vidi, vici—Egypti Littora testes,
Et victoria Nelson totum pervolat orbem.

TRANSLATION.

Our Gallic foe the Christian faith denies
Our British George on heaven's-aid relies,
The Christian faith the Cause of Kings defends,
Intrepid Seamen, valiant Chiefs he sends,
Nelson Commands and victory attends.
Sovereign's unite let bright Examples fire
To Arms strike home let Christian zeal inspire,
The British Nelson rivals Cæsar's fame
Like him, he came, he saw, he overcame,
To God the glory pious Nelson gave
In conquest modest and in action brave.

Poetry.

For the Weekly Register.

The hours of my life are run my love,
And my spirit shall soon be fled;
And deep in the darkness of death's dreary grave,
Where slumber the monarch, the beggar, the slave,
My body shall lie; for that fathomless cave,
Is mortality's dreamless bed my love—
Is mortality's dreamless bed.

Thy face I shall see no more, my love,
Nor thine eyes so lovely and bright!
For soon as the last-longing sigh of my breath
Hath left my poor body to coldness and death,
Mine eyes shall be shut by some friends in their sheath,
And shall never more meet with the light, my love—
And shall never more meet with the light.

Thy voice I shall hear no more, my love,
Nor the music that flowed from thy tongue;
For the tomb of the dead is gloomy and deep,
And high on their bosoms gathered the heap;
And they y se'er shall be roused from their long long sleep,
Till the angel's peal shall be rung, my love—
Till the angel's peal shall be rung.

But yet if thy heart was mine, my love,
If our vows have not yet been forgot,
I ask—I conjure thee—some time to come near
To the grave, where thy bosom has nothing to fear:
To make holy and hallowed the spot, my love—
To make holy and hallowed the spot.

Domestic.

The Annual Meeting of the SOCIETY OF FRIENDS to STRANGERS IN DISTRESS was held at the Mansion House Hotel, on Thursday the 9th instant, at which, His Excellency the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, Patron of the Society, presided.

The Meeting was numerously attended and after the usual business of the day was disposed of, His Excellency was pleased to propose a vote of thanks to Dep'y Ass't Com'y. Gen. BILLINGS, for his active and meritorious services in carrying into effect the objects of the Institution, which was carried unanimously.

On motion of His Excellency, the thanks of the society were also voted to Doctor Blackwood, and to the Barrack Master, Mr. Hartney, whose care and attention to the objects of the Society have been unremitting.

The Honorable Justice CAMPBELL, and the Honorable Justice BOULTON, were then unanimously elected Vice Presidents of the Society.

It is truly gratifying to be able to state that there was a very great accession of new members, and that the subscriptions amounted to more than at any former meeting. On a reference to the transactions of the Society during the year it was evident that a great deal of good had been effected at a comparatively small expense, many distressed families actually preserved from starvation, and a number afflicted by disease restored to health.

In addition to his usual donations in aid of the funds of the Society, His Excellency has been pleased to place at its disposal a quantity of old Barrack Bedding, which has been eagerly sought after by poor settlers, and contributed exceedingly to their comfort.

(Signed,) JAMES FITZGIBBON,
SECRETARY.

Welland Canal.—The ground is broken and the work will be unremittingly carried on through the winter, and it is expected that all the alloted sections will be completed early in the year of 1826.

One of the Contractors for the Tunnel—A. Hovey, Esq from the State of N York, has taken Canal-Stock to the amount of Ten Thousand Dollars!

The Remarkable Cavern in the Township of Lanark.

Two gentlemen from our quarter, (says a letter from a respectable source in Perth) have just returned from exploring it as far as they found it practicable. They report it to be a great natural curiosity. They could not penetrate farther than about 40 feet, when the passage was obstructed by some loose earth which had fallen in from above; but it appeared evident that it extended considerably beyond this. The entrance is quite perpendicular, in a solid rock, and about two and a half feet in diameter, and about eight feet deep. The general height from the bottom to the roof inside from five to five and a half feet—the latter consists of the sulphuriate of lime in a crystallized state, specimens of which they have brought in with them. The bones of a very large animal, supposed to have been a Moose Deer, were found immediately under the entrance of the Cavern. These were carefully collected and brought into Lanark. The bones when put together prove the animal to have been about 5 feet 10 inches in height. Dr. Wilson, one of the gentlemen who went from this, has a memorandum of the dimensions in every way, and it is probable the y will give a little more information on the subject. It appears curious how an animal of such dimensions could have got or been brought into so small an aperture.

Climate.—The weather is so mild, warm and open, that instead of Frost and Snow, we have gentle showers of rain and inudly roads, whilst the Packets between York and Niagara, and Youngstown, continue to ply with the same regularity as in the midst of Summer.—

PRINTED BY CHARLES FOTHERGILL
GAZETTE OFFICE

Upper Canada Gazette.

New Series.

Vol. III. YORK U. C. THURSDAY, DECEMBER 23d, 1824. No. LII.

By Authority.

UPPER CANADA.

P. MAITLAND,
Lieut. Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

TO our Beloved and Faithful Legislative Councellors of our Province of Upper Canada; and to our Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses of our said Province, to our Provincial Parliament at our Town of York, on the Second Day of December next, to be Commenced, Held, Called and Elected, and to every of you—GREETING:

WHEREAS, by our Proclamation bearing date the Twenty Third Day of October, last, We thought fit to Prorogue our Provincial Parliament to the Second day of December next, at which time at our Town of York, you were held and constrained to appear, NOW KNOW YE, that WE, taking into our Royal consideration the ease and convenience of our loving Subjects, have thought fit by and with the advice of our Executive Council, to relieve you and each of you of your attendance at the time aforesaid, hereby convoking, and by these presents enjoining you and each of you, that on Tuesday the Eleventh Day of January new next ensuing, you meet Us, in our Provincial Parliament, in our Town of York, FOR THE ACTUAL DESPATCH OF PUBLIC BUSINESS, there to take into consideration the state and welfare of our Province of Upper Canada and therein to do as may seem necessary, and herein fail not

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces in North America, at York, dated the Twenty Sixth day of November in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign.

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,
JNO. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.
D. CAMERON, Secretary.

Upper Canada.

P. MAITLAND,

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come—GREETING:

WHEREAS by Proclamation bearing date the Fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventeen, our trusty and well beloved FRANCIS GORE Esquire, late our Lieutenant Governor of our Province of Upper Canada, by and with the advice of the Executive Council thereof, and by virtue of the Authority in him vested in that behalf, did declare and appoint the Port of Kingston, otherwise commonly called the Port of Bath, within the Midland District of this Province, to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for all Goods and Merchandize, not being entirely prohibited and for the payment of all Duties, liable to be paid on all Goods and Merchandize brought into this Province from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS by a certain Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdoms of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the Third Year of our Reign, entitled, "An Act to Regulate the Trade of the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, and for other purposes relating to said Provinces," it is among other things Enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the Governor Lieutenant Governor, or person Administering the Government of either of our said Provinces respectively by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council thereof for the time being, from time to time to diminish or increase, by Proclamation, the number of Ports or places, which then were, or thereafter might be, appointed in such Province for the Entry of Goods, Wares, and Commodities, imported from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS it appears expedient for the avoiding expence in the Collection of our Revenue, that the said Port of Kingston shall no longer be a Port of Entry and Clearance—NOW KNOW YE, that by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of our Province of Upper Canada, We have thought fit to declare, and do hereby declare from and after the date of this our Proclamation, the said Port of Kingston shall cease to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the purposes aforesaid, and shall be and remain, as if the said Proclamation hereinbefore recited, had never been made.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K.C.B Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York this Twentieth day of March, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign. P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,
D. CAMERON, Secretary.
JNO. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

Executive Council Office,
York, February 7th 1821.

WHEREAS it has been represented, that many persons who have received Locations of Land, have, from Sickness, and other legitimate causes, been unable to fulfil the Settlement Duty in the time required by the Location Ticket, and have neglected to apply to His Excellency in Council for an extension of the period, for performance of such duty.

BE it Known that the period for completing the Settlement Duty, is hereby extended to Two Years, from the date of Locations until further notice shall be given.

JOHN SMALL, Cl'k Ex. Coun.

GLEBES.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in Council, having taken into consideration the system hitherto practised, of Granting Licences of Occupation for GLEBE LANDS, is pleased to Order, that in future the Glebes in the several Townships, with the exception of One Lot in each Township, for the accommodation of the Incumbent, shall be Leased on the same terms as Crown Reserves.

NOTICE is therefore given to those Persons who hold Licences of Occupation for any of the said Glebe Lots, that the same will not be Renewed; and unless they do make application, by Petition, for Leases in the usual manner, through the medium of the Corporation for superintending the Clergy Reserves, before the Twenty-ninth day of September next ensuing, the Lots so held by Licence of Occupation will be Leased to other Applicants.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk Ex. Coun,

Executive Council Office,
York, 29th April, 1824. 19-tf.

Executive Council Chamber,
York, 31st January, 1824.

PRESENT,
HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
IN COUNCIL,

HIS Majesty's Government having recently extended their assistance to the class of Emigrants, which it was intended to relieve by gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres of Land, in conveying them to their respective locations:

IT IS ORDERED, that from the first day of May next, no gratuitous Grants be made of any quantity of Land to other than privileged persons.—And that as the Fee on Two Hundred Acres was raised, in order to defray the gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres be considerately taking, the future Fee on Two Hundred Acres is reduced to Eight Pounds Four Shillings and One Penny Sterling; the existing Fee bill of 1819, and the Fee on all other Grants, in Townships surveyed since that time, to be the same as established by the Order in Council, of 5th January, 1818.

N. B. Possessors of gratuitous Grants for Fifty Acres, may, by paying the Fee on One Hundred Acres, receive a Grant of the adjoining Fifty Acres if vacant.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Ex'v. Council.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL CHAMBER, AT YORK, 26th JAN. 1824.

PRESENT:

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
In Council.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR submitted to the consideration of the Board, the Sheriffs' Reports of their respective Gaols, together with other Documents relating to a Winter Circuit, by which it appeared that the Judge of Assembly had addressed His Excellency to that effect, for this Session only; and obviously for the Delivery of the Gaols in the several Districts.

The limitation of such a measure to one season seeming to militate with the Provision of the Law, that when the Communication from the Seat of Government admitted, and the circumstances of the Province required, there should be a regular Second Circuit, the Board would prefer to recommend that Special Commissions to deliver particular Gaols should issue where requisite; but, as the respective Reports from the Sheriffs do not, in the opinion of the Board, require any personal interposition, His Excellency, with advice of the Council, postpones a Second Circuit until the circumstances of the Province more decidedly require it

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Executive Council.

WHEREAS by the Tenor of the Location Tickets a Certificate is required to be lodged of the Settlement Duty being done within two Years, or that the said Location should be forfeited, and in case of Locations not gratuitous, that one third of the Patent Fee be lodged with such Certificate; AND WHEREAS it is represented, that in many instances, Certificate of performance of the Settlement Duty, have been withheld from the inability of the settler to deposit such proportion of the Patent Fee, it is deemed expedient to relieve the settler from forfeiture of his location, when he may actually have performed his settlement duty—Notice is hereby given that in all cases where Settlement Duty has been performed within the limited period, the settler shall, on filing Certificate thereof within six Months of this date, be exempted from forfeiture notwithstanding the non-payment therewith of such portion of the Patent Fee, provided the Patent is sued out within One Year from the filing of such Certificate.

And further; His Excellency, in the hope of avoiding the necessity of rescinding any of the Militia grants, is pleased to direct this Public Notification; that all Lands granted to Militia Men, upon which the Settlement Duties shall not have been performed within the limited period, will in pursuance of general instructions given to the Surveyor General in all similar cases, be declared vacant, and will be granted within Six Months after the expiration of that period, to the first applicant, unless the Original Nominee, shall before such subsequent application, have lodged a Certificate of his having performed the Settling Duties.

JOHN SMALL, Clk. Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office, York, 7th Nov. 1821.

WHEREAS it has become expedient to establish a line of communication through certain remote Townships, for encouragement thereof, Grants will be made to actual Settlers in the Townships hereinafter named on the condition of Settling within two years from the date of the Location, at the reduced Scale of 5th January, 1819, viz.

A Township North of Mariposa, advertised from the Surveyor General's Office on the 19th of October, as

Zeta, to be called Eldon

N. of Ep[illegible]		Fenelon
N. of Emily advertised as	Emir	Verulam
N. of Smith	Lake	Harvey
E. of do.		Douro
N. of Asphodel	Alma	Dummer
N. of Seympur	Mora	Belmont
N. of Dummer	Yea	Burleigh
N. of Marmora	Ninia	Lake
N. of Madoc		Tudor
N. of Elzever	No	Grimsthorpe
N. of Kaladar	Aye	Anglesea
N. of Kennebec	Jus	Barrie
N. of Norma	Olden	Clarendon
N. of Oso	Et	Palmerston
N. of Belmont	Carlos	Methuen

JOHN SMALL, C. E. C.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

DISTRICT OF JOHNSTOWN, To Wit: BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, of our Sovereign Lord the King, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Abiathar Boyce in favour of James E. Campbell, I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said Abiathar Boyce Lot number Four, in the Ninth Concession of the Townships of Bastard, [illegible] and will expose the same for Sale at the Court House in Brockville, on Saturday the 19th day of March next, at the hour of eleven of the clock in the forenoon.

JOHN STUART.
Sheriff.

District of Johnstown.

Brockville Dec. 10*th*, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above property by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

52—6w. JOHN STUART.

SHERIFF'S SALE

DISTRICT OF JOHNSTOWN, To Wit: BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, of our Sovereign Lord the King, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of George Richard Ferguson, in favour of Peter Mc Dougall, I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said George Richard Ferguson Lots number 8 and 10, in the Fifth Concession of the Township of Ritley, containing Two Hundred Acres, each, be the same more or less, which I shall expose for Sale at the Court House in Brockville, on Saturday the twelfth day of March next, at the hour of eleven of the clock in the forenoon.

JOHN STUART.
Sheriff.

District of Johnstown.

Brockville Dec. 10*th*, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above Property by Mortgage, or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me on or before the day of Sale.

52—6w. JOHN STUART.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

DISTRICT OF JOHNSTOWN, To Wit: BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, of our Sovereign Lord the King, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Jonathan Buell, in favour of Elisathan Hubbell I have taken in Execution Seventeen Acres of Land as belonging to the said Jonathan Buell, being part of Lot number thirteen, in the first Concession of the Township of Elizabethtown, which I shall expose for Sale at the Court House in Brokville, on Thursday the twentieth day of January next, at the hour of eleven of the clock in the forenoon.

JOHN STUART.
Sheriff.

District of Johnstown.

Brockville Dec. 10*th*, 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any Claim on the above Property, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my office previous to the day of sale.

52—6w. JOHN STUART.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Newcastle District, to wit. BY virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of Kings Bench, and to the Sheriff of the Newcastle District directed, against the Lands and Tenements of David M'Gregor Rogers Esq at the suit of John Strachan, Thomas A. Dobbs, and Thomas H. Cartwright, Executors of the late Richard Cartwright, Esq. I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said David M'Gregor Rogers the following Lands, viz.

S. half of Lot No. 3 Broken Front, A. 330 Acres.
Lot No. 3 do. do. B.
Lot No. 3 do. do. C.
Lot No. 23 2 Concession, 200 do.
Lot No. 26 3 do 200 do.

of the Township of Haldimand, in the county of Northumberland, which Property I shall offer for sale at Public Auction, at the Inn now occupied by Mr. N. W. Mack, in the village of Coburg, on the ninth day of February next at 12 o'clock, at noon.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
By EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above described Premises, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber, on or before the day of Sale.

NOTE.—The sale of the above Lots, No. 3, Concession A., B., and C., 330 Acres, is postponed until 11th day of January next (1825) at the same place and at 6 o'clock in the Evening.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
BY EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Coburg, November 3d, 1824. 47—td.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit. ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb. 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Peter Grant, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Jerry Whitehead, viz

The easterly half of Lot No. 10, in the Fifth Concession of the Township of Thurlow, containing 100 acres more or less

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, November 2d, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit ON Saturday the 5th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Zachariah Simmons, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Thomas Parker, viz.

Part of Lot No. 16, in the First Concession of the Township of Sidney, containing three acres and thirty-one perches.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office Kingston, November 2d, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To Wit: ON Saturday the 12th day of March, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Theophilus Lockwood, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Thomas Parker, viz.

Part of the east half of Lot No. 22, in the Third Concession of the Township of Sidney, in the County of Hastings, containing 19½ acres.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, October, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To Wit: ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb. 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands, as belonging to Lewis Day, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Alexander Simpson, viz.

The rear two fifths of Lot No. 15, containing 80 acres, and the north or rear two fifths of the westerly quarter of Lot No. 16, in the Fourth Concession of the Township of Kingston, containing 20 acres and the south easterly quarter of the west half of Lot No. 16, in the Second Concession of the Township of Kingston, containing 25 acres

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN 1824.
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, November 2d, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Lands, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To Wit ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb 1825 will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Lewis Rosebush, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Duncan McDonell, viz.

A part of Lot No. 18, in the Second Concession of the Township of Rawdon, containing 70 acres of Land, described as follows, viz. commencing at the south-west angle of the said Lot in front, where a post has been planted, thence running north sixteen degrees west forty-nine chains and forty links then south seventy-four degrees north fifteen chains to the centre of the said Lot, thence south, sixteen degrees east, to the allowance for road in front of the said Concession thence west seventy four degrees south fifteen chains to the place of beginning

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN[illegible] Lot No.
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, November 2d, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To WIT ON Saturday the 19th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Daniel Lyons, seized by virtue of an Execution, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of the Hon. G. H. Markland, and John Kirby, Esq Executors to the estate of the late Lawrence Herchimer, viz:—

Lot No. 25 in the 7th Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, 18th October, 1824. No 46,—t d

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District To Wit. ON Tuesday the 18th day of January 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands and Tenements, as belonging to William Purkiss, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Charles Bowman, viz:—

Lot No. 6 in the 2d Concession of the Township of Loughborough, containing 200 Acres; also Town Lot No 260 in the Town of Kingston, with a large two story Frame House erected thereon.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M D.

Sheriff's Office Kingston, October 18th, 1824.

N. B. All Persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale 45—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To WIT. ON Saturday the 1th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Solomon Orser, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Allan McLean, Esq viz:—

The front part of Lot No 18, in the 2d Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, 18th October, 1824

N. B All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District To Wit. ON Tuesday the 18th day of January, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Silas Ormsby, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of D'Arcy Boulton, Esq viz:—

The East half of Lot No. 2 in the 12th Concession of the Township of Huntingdon, in the County of Hastings, containing 100 Acres more or less.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, October 18th, 1824

N. B. All Persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale 45—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Niagara District, To Wit. BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of William Chisholm, at the suits of John Jammerson and John McKenzie, I have seized and taken the following lands, viz:

Part of Lot No. 16 in the 5th Concession of Grantham,	Acres. 50
Part of Lot No 17 in the 7th Concession of Grantham.	24
Part of Lot No 13 in the 7th Concession of Grantham.	80
Lots Nos. 2 and 3 in the Village of St. Catharines.	2
Lots Nos 3 and 4 in do do do.	¾
Lot No 2 in the Town of Niagara.	¼
Lots No 14 and 15, in the 5th Concession of Grimsby.	200
Part of Lots Nos. 9 and 10 in do. do. do.	100

All of which property I shall offer for Sale on the last Monday in March, 1825, at Twelve o'clock noon, at the Court House, in the Town of Niagara, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for Cash only

R. LEONARD, Sheriff

By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Niagara, 2d March, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim to the above mentioned premises by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

48—6w. R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Niagara District, BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Liza, alias, Eliza Skinner, widow of the late Haggie Skinner, deceased, at the suit of James Maclem, and James Cumming, Executors of the last Will and Testament of the said Haggie Skinner, deceased, I have seized and taken, as belonging to the said Liza, alias, Eliza Skinner, Lots No. 172, and 161, in the Township of Stamford, 323 acres—Lots number 2, 3, 5, 6, and 7 in the Fourteenth Concession of the Township of Pelham, containing 563 acres:—All of which property I shall offer for sale on the second Monday in March, in the year 1825, at twelve o'clock noon, at the Court House, in the Town of Niagara, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for cash only.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Niagara, March 2d, 1824.

N B. Any Person or Persons having any claim to the above mentioned premises by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

48—6w. R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

NIAGARA DISTRICT, To WIT: BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the lands and tenements of John D M'Key, at the suit of Peter M'Gill, I have seized and taken the following Lands, viz:—

Lot No. 13, in the 8th Concession of Clinton.
Lot No. 5, 6, 7, & 12, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Grimsby.	400 acres
Lot No. 37, & 39, in the 8th & 9th Concession of do.	200 acres
Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 1st Concession of Bertie.
Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 2d Concession of do.	495 acres
Lot No. 12 & 14, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Gainsboro	400 acres
Lot No. 4, in the 2d Concession of do.	200 acres

Lot No. 74, 95, 96, & ½, of 201, in the town of Niagara —All of which property I shall offer for sale on the 2d day of August, 1824, at the Court House in the town of Niagara, at 12 o'clock, noon, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for cash only

R. LEONARD. Sheriff

By PETER T. PAWLING, Dep'y Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Niagara, July 31st, 1823 4.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claims on the above named premises, by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

☞ The sale of the above property is postponed until the 13th of September, next, at the same place and hour.

R. LEONARD, She iff.

By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff

The Sale of the above Property is postponed until the second Tuesday in January, 1825.

RICHARD LEONARD, Sheriff.

By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.

48—6w.

NOT OFFICIAL.

FIRE INSURANCE.

THE Sun Insurance Company of New York, having appointed George Crookshank, Esquire, their Agent in Upper Canada—he is ready to Insure against Loss or Damage by Fire, on Dwelling Houses,

Stores, Merchandise, House-hold Furniture, and other Personal Property; at moderate Rates of Premium.— Persons wishing to Insure must send a plan of their Buildings, when wanted out of the Town of York, a respectable reference will be required, and Letters Post Paid —Application to be made to

R. W. PRENTICE

York, 28th Sept. 1824. No. 39—t. f.

GRAIN.

THE Subscribers will purchase WHEAT, RYE, and INDIAN CORN, at the highest market prices, for Spring delivery—one half Cash, and the remainder in Goods at Cash prices.

ASHES

Taken as usual, at their POTASH MANUFACTORY, near the Don Bridge.

They have lately received a well selected assortment of Goods, which will be sold low for cash or country produce.

(Signed) WOOD & ANDERSON.

York Dec. 16th, 1824. 52—6w.

FRONTENAC STEAM-BOAT.

IMPORTANT SALE.

ON MONDAY, the tenth day of January, 1825 at the hour of twelve o'clock at noon, at the Government wharf in Kingston, will be sold by Public Auction, to the highest bidder, without reserve — THE STEAM VESSEL FRONTENAC of 700 Tons burthen, with an Engine of 50 Horse Power (Bolton & Watt's) together with Anchors, Cables, Sails, Rigging, Cabin furniture, &c. &c. &c.

(Signed) D. JOHN SMITH,
Treasurer.

Kingston, 6th Dec. 1824. 51—td.

WANTED

TO Purchase, or to Hire for a few Months, a good PIANO FORTE.

Enquire at this Office. No. 51.—3 w.

FOR SALE.

A SET of SUPERB, London-made, CRIMSON MOREEN CURTAINS, for THREE WINDOWS, with festoons, bindings, fringe, &c. &c. &c made very full; and in the newest fashion. The very lowest price is $63 — The cost in London was much higher, and they are quite new.—Inquire of Messrs. M. & R. MEIGHAN.

Market Square, York, 9th Dec. 50—tf.

NOTICE.

IF JOHN QUICK, late of Whitby, does not, within Twenty Days, take possession of the Cattle left for him in my charge by Surtham Gibbs, late of said place, they will be sold by Public Auction for the benefit of all concerned.

(SIGNED.) JOHN B. WARREN.

Whitby, Home District, November, 3th, 1824. No, 50.—3 w.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that Application will be made at the next Session of the Provincial Parliament, for an Act to establish Dundas Street as the division of the Townships of Ancaster and Flambro West, in the District of Gore, from the Village of Coots Paradise, in Lot No 53, 1st Con. of Ancaster, to the Marsh lying to the Eastward thereof, commonly called, Coots Paradise.—

Dundas, 2d, December, 1824.

No 50.—6 w.

VALUABLE LEASEHOLD PROPERTY.

FOR SALE BY AUCTION.

ON Thursday the 23rd of December, 1824 at 12 o'clock noon, an unexpired term of 36 years in a Lease of Twelve Acres of Land, and with a newly erected Frame House, Tannery and other improvements, on the banks of the River Don, and within half a mile of the New Catholic Church in York.—The Premises are opposite to the residence of the late Mr. SCADDING and form part of the Castle-Frank Estate.—The rent is exceedingly low.—Further particulars will be made known at the time of Sale

T. MOSELEY.
Auctioneer.

No. 49.—4 w.

ALBION NEWSPAPER.

A GENTLEMAN wishing to complete a File of the Albion Newspaper is in want of the following Numbers, for which he will gladly pay a fair compensation

Volume 1 ——Nos. 4 & 18.
" 2.——Nos. 16, 18, 19, 20, & 21,
" 3 ——Nos. 4 & 7.

Apply at the U. C. Gazette Office.

No. 49.—t. f.

WELLAND CANAL NOTICE.

WANTED TO EMPLOY

FROM 50 TO 100 LABOURERS,

ON the Tunnel for the Welland Canal, in this District Sappers and Miners, who have been accustomed to Tunnelling in Europe, will have a preference, if men of steady habits.

ALFRED HOVEY.

Thorald, Niagara District, November 16th 1824.

N. B Editors of papers in the Provinces will please insert this four times, with a reference under the Editorial Head, and send their accounts to Francis Hall Esquire, Engineer, Queenston, U. C.

49.—4w A. H.

BANK NOTICE.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Bank of Upper Canada has established an Office of Discount and Deposit in the Town of Niagara, under the superintendance of the undermentioned persons.

JOHN CROOKS, Esquire,
JOHN ROSS, Esquire, & } DIRECTORS.
ADAM CRYSLER, Esquire.
THOMAS McCORMICK, Esquire, CASHIER.

The said office will commence on the 1st day of December next and will be open for business from 10 o' clock in the morning to 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the usual holy days excepted.

By Order,
THOMAS G. RIDOUT.
Cashier.

Bank of Upper Canada,
York, 24th Nov 1824. } 49—4w.

TERRY AND CATTERMOLE,
WATCH MAKERS,
Silversmiths. & Jewellers,
FROM LONDON,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public, that they have commenced business in that Central Store, in the Market Square, two doors north of Mr. Patterson To a perfect knowledge of the above arts, T. and C have added an extensive assortment of materials necessary in their business, and their friends may rest assured that every exertion will be made to give general satisfaction, and merit, for their establishment, a continuation of public patronage.

Watch Cases Gilt to imitate Gold,—Musical Clocks, Watches, &c. carefully repaired and cleaned.

Produce received at cash prices in payment for work

York, Nov. 25th 1824 49tf.

NOTICE.

St, Catherines, 20th November, 1824, }

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that pursuant to a Resolution of the President and Directors of the Welland Canal Company, held 15th ult, an Instalment of 2½ Per Cent upon the Capital Stock Subscribed is required to be paid into the Treasurer at this place, on or before the 1st January next, as provided by the 26 clause of the Act of Incorporation.

By Order
GEORGE KEEFER, Jun.
Secretary.

N, B, Subscribers will pay their instalments to the Agents in the different Districts, who will remit the same,

December 2d, 1824, No, 49.—t. f.

FOR SALE.

A Farm on Yonge Street, Lot No. 32 in Markham, One Hundred and Ninety Acres, of which ninety Acres are under cultivation with a Frame House and Barn on the same, a stream of water runs across the Lot, and Purdy's Saw and Grist Mills are on the Lot opposite to the same.—Terms of payment will be made easy.—Application to be made to,

GEORGE CROOKSHANK.

York, 1st Oct. 1824.

N. B. Should the above mentioned Farm not be sold by the 1st March next, it will then be leased.

43—tf.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the County of Dundas, intend presenting a Petition to the Legislature at its next Session, for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Dundas, and the Town of Cornwall alternately.

Also to have the Concession line between the fourth and fifth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg in the Eastern District, to have the said line run upon the true course of No 66 E and completed.

And also the side lines in the said Fourth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg aforesaid, to have the said side lines to run upon the original course No. 24 W. 43—26w.

LAND IN PERCY.

A VERY valuable Lot of Land, consisting of 200 Acres, being No. 7 in the 2nd Concession of the Township of Percy, in the Newcastle District, and not far from the River Trent, in the midst of a good settlement may be had for 2$ per Acre, with an indisputable title, and immediate possession.—Inquire at the House in the Office 43—tf.

TO DISTILLERS & BREWERS.

ROBERT Todd Dear having made Chemistry the study of his life, and having for himself and others both in Scotland and Ireland, for sixteen years, conducted a Chemical Manufactory, (Testimonials of the most satisfactory kind can be produced from many respectable individuals to that effect) and having like others of his Countrymen come to Canada for the purpose of bettering his condition in life, finds himself so situated, now, as to be obliged to offer his services to persons engaged in the Brewing and Distilling business, both of which branches, together with the Manufacture of Cordials &c he professes, with all their late improvements, to perfectly understand.

Any Person desirous of having his services by addressing a letter to him (post paid) to the care of Matthew Crooks Esq Ancaster Upper Canada, may depend upon its meeting with a ready attention from

Signed,
R. T. DEAN.

N. B. Terms will be moderate, and such as will be within the reach of every one, doing even a moderate business, immediate employment is an object to,

R. T. D.

40—13w.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the First Concession of Sophiasburgh South west of Green Point.—by reason of the material damage they have sustained these number of years back, on account of the erroneous original Survey of the Second Concession Line. Are determined to Petition the Legislature of this Province at the ensuing Session of Parliament for the alteration of the said Line, and to settle all the differences relating thereunto.

Sophiasburgh, Oct 7th, 1824. } No. 44.—6 m.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the EASTERN DISTRICT will at the next Session of the LEGISLATURE make application to be authorised to effect a Loan to enable them to erect a Gaol and Court House in the Town of Cornwall. 37—6m.

NOTICE.

AN APPLICATION will be made to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for an Act imposing a Tax on Dogs in the TOWN of YORK and its vicinity, the proceeds of which to be applicable to the police purposes.

By Order of the Magistrates in Adjourned General Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the Home District assembled on the 6th day of Sept. 1824.

(Signed,)
S. HEWARD.
Clk. Peace Home District.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the COUNTY of GLENGARY intend presenting a Petition to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Glengary and the Town of Cornwall alternately. 37—6m

NOTICE.

ALL Persons indebted to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire, of Stamford, are requested to make immediate payment to the Subscriber at Victoria, London District, and those having claims on the Estate, will be pleased to furnish him with their respective Accounts properly authenticated.

(Signed) WALTER NICHOL,
Administrator to the Estate of the Late ROBERT NICHOL, ESQUIRE

Niagara, 29th May, 1824.

VALUABLE LAND IN OTONIBEE,

FOR SALE ON A CREDIT OF YEARS.

ONE of the most valuable Lots in the beautiful Township of OTONIBEE, on the Rice Lake, consisting of two Hundred Acres, being Lot No. 10, in the Ninth Con. The quality of the Land is first rate, (Maple, Beech, Bass, Elm, and Oak.) It has a Log House, and some small improvements upon it, and is not quite a mile distant from the Rice Lake, and from the Town Plot.— It has also the advantage of being well watered by a Creek that never fails

Price, two dollars per Acre; and terms of payment, One Eighth at the time of concluding the bargain, and Seven Years Credit, by annual instalments with interest for the remainder, if desired —Inquire at the Gazette Office.

TOWN LOTS IN PORT HOPE.

SEVERAL valuable building Lots, in the flourishing village of PORT HOPE, are for Sale, by private Contract, on the most liberal Terms, and on a credit of several Years, provided the first Instalment be paid down. Either Produce or Manual Labour will be received, if desired, in Payment —For further particulars apply at the U. C. Gazette Office, York, or to Messrs. C. & J. Stowe, Merchants,—Port Hope.

No. 40 —t f.

NOTICE.

THE Plan and Estimate of a STEAM BOAT, (to be Built by Mr. AMOUS S. ROBERTS) about One Hundred Tons Burthen, intended to Ply between this Port and Niagara, may be seen at this Office —Her Engine is intended to be of Twenty Five Horse Power The whole Cost is estimated at Two Thousand Two Hundred and Five Pounds Currency. She is to be Built by Stock, made up of Shares, of Twenty Five Pounds each A few Shares are still wanting. Subscriptions for which will be received at this Office, and at the Office of the Niagara Gleaner, where Estimates and Conditions will be exhibited to those who wish to become Stockholders.

Gazette Office, York, August 26th, 1824. } No. 35.—t. f.

FOR SALE.

LOT No. Two, in the First Concession of the Township of York, with the Broken Front, containing about Two Hundred and Forty Acres of Land.

Application to be made to

J. B. MACAULAY

York, 12th June, 1824. 25.—t. f.

NOTICE.

FOR SALE, by private Contract, the House and Lot lately occupied by Mr. O'Sullivan, Saddler, King's-Street, in the Town of York, the Lot is 26 feet fronting King's-Street, by 112 feet deep.

Also.—A Lot adjoining the above on the West side, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—A Lot adjoining Mr. Duggan's, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—Three Lots on Stuarts Land, each 40, by 60 feet.

Should the above Property and Lots not be sold by Private Contract, the five last described Lots will be sold at Public Sale, on the first day of July ensuing.

Application for Terms of Sale, to be made to

ALEXANDER WOOD, ESQ.

YORK, 17th March, 1824. t. f.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the County of Prince Edward, in the Midland District, intend Petitioning the Legislature, at the next Session thereof, to have the said County set off, and made into a separate District from the said Midland District, and to be called the District of Maitland. No. 24—6ms.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Inhabitants of the Township of TOWNSEND intend Petitioning both Houses of the Provincial Legislature at its next Session, to pass a Law, Establishing a Line Surveyed in the year 1823, between the 12th and 13th Cons. of the said Township.

TOWNSEND, 20th May, 1824. } No. 21—1 m. t. d.

VALUABLE LANDED PROPERTY FOR SALE.

TWENTY SEVEN TOWN LOTS, eligibly situated in the Village of Cobourg, in Hamilton, Upper Canada, on one of which, a Store and Dwelling House are erected.

Two Neat Small FARMS, contiguous to the above Village, containing, one, about Twenty-eight Acres the other, about Fifty Acres, with a House and other Buildings on each of them —A Plan of the above may be seen on application to Mr J. G. BETHUNE, Cobourg, (who will shew the Premises,) or to the Subscriber.

Two TOWN LOTS in Picardville, adjoining to the Town of Kingston, Upper Canada, with Houses and other Buildings thereon, being Lots No. 21 and 22.

200 Acres of Land being No. 1, 8th Con. of Murray.

200 do do being No. 4, 4th do of Hungerford.

200 do do being No. 1, 8th do of Winchester.

200 do do being No. 24, 8th do of Mountain.

200 do do being the West halves of No. 31 and 32 in the 2d Concession of Hawkesbury.

Liberal Terms of Payment will be granted.

For particulars apply to

FRS. ANT. LAROQUE.

N. B. The above mentioned Town Lots in the flourishing Village of Cobourg, and the two adjoining Farms, will be disposed of by Public Sale, in the said Village on the 24th May next.

F. A. L. R.

MONTREAL, 15th March, 1824. t. f.

TO BE SOLD,

(And possession given at a short notice.)

THAT ELEGANT, and COMMODIOUS MANSION, Built, and lately occupied, by

A. N. McNABB, ESQUIRE.

Situated in King-Street, East, about half way between the Don Bridge and Town of York.—With a Large GARDEN, Spacious Yard, and every necessary Out-Building,—occupying altogether One Acre of Land.

The HOUSE is of Two Stories, besides the Ground Floor, and has the following Rooms and conveniences [illegible] FOUR LOWER ROOMS, FOUR LOFT ROOMS, and DRESSING ROOM, STUDY, STORE ROOM SERVANTS ROOM, KITCHEN, BACK KITCHEN, CELLAR LOFT, &c. &c. &c. Water is conducted by Pipes into the KITCHEN, where are the necessary Fixtures.

Amongst the Out Offices, are, Stables, Harness Room, Cow House, Coach and Cart House, Bake and Smoke House, &c. &c.

The Garden, which contains more than half an acre of Land, has been lately well stocked with various kinds of valuable Fruit Trees.

For Terms, and further particulars, apply to the U. C. Gazette Office. t. f.

THE

Canadian Annual Register.

UNDER THE PATRONAGE OF HIS EXCELLENCY,

SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

To whom the Work is Dedicated by Permission.

AS the Projector and Editor of this Great National Work is confident of its ultimate success, if but a moderate share of encouragement is given to its outset,—he takes this opportunity of requesting those Agents of this Paper who have received the names of any Subscribers to the Work to transmit them, together with their address, without delay, to the U. C. Gazette Office, in order that they may be added to those already received in the larger Prospectus about to be issued.

The names and residences of the earliest patronage of this Great Undertaking, will be published, alphabetically arranged, in the first volume of the work, as a perpetual record of their liberality, public spirit, and sound patriotism.

It is again repeated, that no money will be demanded, until the work, which will not exceed the price of the meanest newspaper, is delivered.

A New Type is ordered from Great Britain expressly for this work.

U. C Gazette Office, November 20, 1823.

TERMS

OF THE U. C. GAZETTE AND WEEKLY REGISTER.

FOUR DOLLARS per annum.—Experience having shewn the necessity of Subscribers paying the amount of Postage, these Terms are independant of Postage, payable half yearly in advance Three months notice is required previous to the discontinuance of any Subscription.

PRICE OF ADVERTISING,

Six lines and under, two shillings and six pence, and sevenpence subsequent, every subsequent insertion.

Six to ten lines, five shillings, and one shilling and threepence subsequently.

All exceeding ten lines, four pence per line for the first insertion, and one penny subsequently.—Rule and Figure charged Double —A discount of 25 per cent. allowed to who advertise by the year —Advertisements cannot be after 1 o'clock on the Wednesday afternoon immediately preceding the day of Publication—Advertisements not with positive directions as to the exact number of be given them, will be continued until expressly or until the day of Sale (if adding to Sales) and ordingly. 41tf

☞ Advertisements from the Country must be post-paid the price of insertion; or, a reference in Town which when demanded, or discontinued.

☞ Any Agent obtaining 3 Subscribers has a paper for all at half price;—if he obtains 6, he has his own paper gratis—and, for as many as he obtains above 6, he will receive, besides his own paper, a Commission of 5 per cent. upon the whole amount.

WEEKLY REGISTER.

Vol. III. Our endeavor will be to "stamp the very body of the time—its form and pressure"—we shall extenuate nothing, nor shall we set down aught in malice. No. 52.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 23d, 1824.

Editorial Commentary.

A Great Boat Race between a fast row boat belonging to Capt. [illegible] Boatmen of White-Hall, New York, for $1000 aside has been decided in favour of the latter.

The last New York Spectator contains the MESSAGE from the PRESIDENT of the U S to both Houses of Congress, from which it was intended to have made a few interesting extracts, had the health of the Editor permitted him to attend to his duty this week.

SELECTIONS FROM BRITISH AND FOREIGN JOURNALS.

From Late London Papers.

On the 20th October, the Lord Mayor of London gave a dinner at the Mansion house to a large party. Four young Greeks, the sons of some of the principal directors of the affairs of Greece, were among the guests. They were dressed in their native costume, and danced and sung some of the airs of their country. Their music and dancing was incomparable.

Some of the London papers announce the following diplomatic changes "as likely to take place":—

Mr. Hamilton, our present Minister at Naples, will be recalled, and replaced by Mr. Hill, our present Minister at Turin.

Mr. Hill, the present Ambassador at Turin, will be succeeded by Mr. Foster, our Minister at the Court of Copenhagen

Mr. Wynn, at present at Stutgard, will replace Mr. Foster in the Danish capital

Lord Erskine succeeds Mr. Wynn at the Court of Wirtemberg.

Mr. Cathcart, who has long been Secretary to the British Embassy at St. Petersburgh, is appointed our Minister at Frankfort, in the place of the Hon Frederick Lamb, who resigned that mission some time since, on having been appointed Ambassador to Madrid But Mr. Lamb will not proceed to that capital until the Court of Spain appoints its Minister to the Court of London.

The Courier says the majority of these "likely" appointments were announced in the London Gazette of Sept 14 The others are very "unlikely."

Lord Byron's Conversations were to appear on the 23d of October. It is said the volume teems with all the great names of the age—sparing neither friend nor foe.

Mr. Fauntleroy continues to command much of the public interest and attention. He is not to be tried on the first day of Term. Mr. Harmer is his counsel, and has free communication. A turnkey is constantly in the room with him, and when not engaged in looking over his papers, and preparing for the awful hour which awaits him he converses freely.

A very extraordinary advance in the price of iron has taken place within a short period, that articles ing risen from £8 to £13 the ton. A London Al an, whose chief property lies in the mines of this will, it is said derive an addition of the sum of £90,000 to his annual income from this provided the increased value is maintained—turn of iron ore smelted at his works is estiat 5,000 tons ore weekly.

e Ex King of Sweden is dwelling at Aix-la-Cha le in a back part of a respectable print shop, near some gambling rooms. He is occasionally attended by a servant not his own—lives without show, and without substance.

Fear.—The passion of fear sometimes shews itself upon the slightest occasion, and in persons the most unlikely to entertain such a guest. A French author relates a whimsical instance of this kind. Charles [illegible] tavus, the successor of Christina of Sweden, was besieging Prague, when a boor of most extraordinary visage desired admittance to his tent, and being allowed entrance, offered, by way of amusing the king, to devour a whole hog weighing two cwt in his presence. The old General Konigsmarck, stood by the king's side, and who, soldier as he was, had not got rid of the prejudices of his childhood, hinted to his royal master, that the peasant ought to be burnt as a sorcerer.—"Sir," said the fellow, irritated at the remark, "if your majesty will but make that old gentleman take off his sword and spurs, I will eat himself up before your face, before I begin the pig." Konigsmarck, who had performed wonders against the Austrians and who was looked upon as one of the bravest men of the age, could not stand this proposal, especially as it was accompanied by a most hideous and preternatural expression of the frightful peasant's jaws. Without uttering a word, the veteran suddenly turned round, ran out of the tent, and thought not himself safe until he had arrived at his quarters, where he remained above twenty-four hours locked up securely, before he got rid of the panic which had so severely affected him.

Curious cause of War.—In 1005 some soldiers of Modena ranaway with a bucket from a public well, belonging to the state of Bologna. This bucket might be worth a shilling, but it produced a quarrel which was worked up into a long and bloody war Henry, the King of Sardinia, son of the Emperor Henry the Second, assisted the Modenese to keep possession of the bucket, and he was made prisoner in one of the battles. His father, the Emperor offered a chain of gold that would encircle Bologna, which is seven miles in compass, for his son's ransom, but in vain. After 22 years of imprisonment his father being dead, he pined away and died. This fatal bucket is still exhibited in the tower of the Cathedral of Modena, inclosed in an iron cage. The offer of the gold chain seems a prodigious brine, but there are many artists in London who could make a very few ounces of gold answer the purpose, as a single grain can be hammered until it is the thirty thousandth part of a line in thickness, and will cover 50 square inches, and each square inch may be divided into two hundred stripes, reaching more than one eighth part of a mile. The Bolognese were probably aware of the ductility of this metal, and were not to be duped into such a bargain.

REMARKABLE PRESERVATION.

A wonderful instance of the preservation of human life, when in imminent danger, occurred at Geneva, in the State of New York, on the 22 ult. Mr James Gerry, an Irishman, had descended a well for the purpose of removing some obstructions The well was 61 feet deep, and some of the stones in the well, near the bottom had been loosened by the washing of quick sands. Having descended between 40 and 50 feet, as he was standing with one foot in the bucket, and the other resting upon the side of the wall, on a sudden the stones below gave way and closed together, and the whole mass of the walls above sunk down upon him and buried him beneath the ruins.

The shock, says the Geneva Gazette, produced by such a disaster, can be imagined, but not described. A groan issued from beneath the stones and earth, which proved that life was not extinct, and inspired a feeble hope of extricating the unfortunate man alive! Hundreds immediately collected around the spot, in painful solicitude, all anxious to bear a part in rescuing a fellow mortal from so terrible a grave! The most prompt and active exertions were made to excavate as soon as possible, the stones and earth that had fallen in. It was half past four o'clock, P. M. before the catrophe happened. In fifteen minutes a windlass and bucket were procured and put in operation. No less than 80 tons of stone were to be drawn up, before relief could be given But few could labour at a time, and though they proceeded with the utmost activity, the removing of so great a quantity of stones, mingled with the earth that had fallen in, was a task slow and tedious. As they proceeded, occasional groans could still be heard issuing from the cold damp earth beneath. When night approached, they had penetrated but a few feet below the surface, and the prospect seemed gloomy and doubtful. A crowd of two or three hundred anxiously waited the issue of the event. Every thing was soon put into a systematic train; persons were appointed to make all necessary provision, and preserve order and silence amongst the crowd The night was dark and unpleasant; but, by the assistance of lamps, they vigorously prosecuted the work Those in the well would, at intervals, call to the buried man, to ascertain if he could hear them; but no answer could as yet be heard. A general silence and solemnity prevailed, broken only by the occasional murmur of enquiry among the crowd, the hollow noise of the stones tumbled into the bucket in the well—the voice of the workmen—and now and then the groans of the distressed man beneath! It was now towards midnight, and they had gone about twenty feet below the surface—the workmen in the well called again to Gerry; a breathless silence prevailed, and a distinct answer was returned. At this a murmur of joy ran through the crowd, and the countenances of all were lighted up with hope They now toiled with renewed ardour, occasionally calling to Gerry as before, and receiving in return distinct responses They asked him what distance he thought he was down? He rationally replied, 'between forty and fifty feet.'

There now remained not a doubt but he might be extricated alive, provided the stones were not arched above him in such a manner as to fall upon him when loosened; they now proceeded with the utmost caution. Between two and three o'clock, when they had come to within twenty feet of him, they stopped about fifteen minutes to take some refreshment. The poor sufferer below, who for some time had been conscious of the exertions of his sympathising fellows, perceiving that the noise from the rumbling of the stones into the bucket no longer continued, now fancied they had ceased their exertions, and felt him to expire in that terrible situation! In this moment of despair, he burst out into a pitiful tone of wailing, and begged them 'for God's sake not to leave him!' They informed him of the cause of their stopping—and he was soon gladdened by the returning sound of the rattling of the stones into the bucket They asked him 'in what situation he was?' and he answered, that 'he was wedged in all round by the stones.' When they had come within three or four feet of him, he called for some water to drink. This thirst was the natural result of his protracted agony. About daylight, they had loosened the mass down even with his head. They found him forty eight feet below the surface, in an erect position, completely wedged in, as he had said. A large stone weighing eighty pounds, rested on his head, which was turned a little up, making a considerable gash, though not producing a fracture in the skull; a stone on each side of his head, pressing like a vice, and one or two smaller ones covered with blood, about his face—leaving a small aperture for his mouth, so that he could just breathe and speak. His arms were raised in the position in which he held the rope; one foot was in the bucket, and the other, fortunately was at his [illegible] so that he could move it; no other part of his body could stir! So tight was he wedged in, that it was necessary to remove the stones down as low as his feet. At a quarter before nine o'clock in the morning, having continued sixteen hours and fifteen minutes in the well, he was drawn up in a crate, and welcomed by an admiring and joyful crowd, to this upper world, as one rescued from the grave—as one arisen from the dead. Shivering with cold, he cast a wistful look around upon his deliverers, and was borne into the house. He was followed by the three faithful men who had toiled incessantly for thirteen hours in the well, and who received as they came up, the hearty cheers of the surrounding multitude, for their indefatigable and praise-worty exertions. Two or three medical gentlemen were in waiting to receive the unfortunate man—and it was found on examination, that providentially, not a bone was fractured or broken! His face and head were badly bruised and cut, as well as other parts of his body. The contusion on his head produced insensibility for a few hours after the accident, as he says he knew nothing for some time. He is now in a fair way to recover, and will probably in a few days, by the blessing of God, be enabled to resume his usual avocations.

The British Empire.—This immense and mighty Empire is at present thus constituted;—England, Wales, Scotland, Ireland, and their adjacent islands, Gibraltar, Malta, Ionian Islands, Sierra Leone, Cape Coast, St Helena Ascension Island, Cape of Good Hope, Algoa Bay Colony, Mauritius, Bombay and its dependencies, Ceylon, Madrass, &c. Bengal, &c. Sincapore, New Holland, Island of Van Diemans, Demerara, Jamaica, Bermuda, Barbadoes, Grenada, Dominica, and other Islands; Newfoundland, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, the Canadas, Heligoland, Bencoolen and Prince of Wales Island.

From Corfoh.—After one of those political brawls at Paris, one of those little revolutions of parties that took place, there was a French physician who saved himself by getting off to America in a Philadelphia ship. Upon his arrival he found that the Quakers were the richest part of the community; he put on a buttonless coat and a hat with a brim eight inches broad, and a French lady and lady had her preach in the great meeting house in Philadelphia. He could not speak English; but had an interpreter! But to make short of my story, John Marselack became the Quaker physician He got a deal of money, nobody was heard of among the Friends but John Marselack. In about two years, John Marselack's party having got upper most again in France, and John having got some pretty good sacks of dollars, and being tired of the restraint in which he was compelled to live, he prepared to return to France. At last the day came, and with thousands of silent squeezes by the hand, and sweet meats enough to serve twenty families for a year, off he came in a fine merchant ship, but not without six elders to accompany friend John down to the mouth of the river Delaware. There they took leave. They went back in the pilot-boat; and John, before they were half a mile from the ship, went down into the cabin stripped off his Quaker garb, put on a suit, uniform of the National Guard of France, and came upon the deck with a fiddle in his hand.

About the second year of the late king's reign, a man of the name of George King was convicted in Dublin of a capital felony He drew up a memorial to the King, which he forwarded with the following lines:—

George King to King George sends his humble petition
Hoping King George will pity poor George King's condition
If King George to George King will grant a long day,
George King for King George for ever will pray.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

SPAIN.

The pensions hitherto bestowed on three hundred of the Spanish Refugees, by the British government, have been suspended with regard to two hundred of them. These unfortunate people have been plunged into the deepest distress.

A letter from Cadiz of the 1st of October mentions, that an order had been received from Madrid, permitting the exportation of cochineal, at a duty of one per cent, or about one dollar per Arrobe, instead of 15 dollars, the previous duty.

FRANCE.

The late able correspondence from Paris, in the Courier, is re-translated and published in some of the French papers. Some of the French editors attribute the letters to M. Villele, which opinion is encouraged by the Courier. The London Eclipse contradicts this "from authority," and ascribes the letters to the discarded Minister Chateaubriand.

It is said to be the intention of France to diminish the amount of the military force she now has in Spain One fourth of the troops we are told is to be placed in the principal fortresses, another fourth is to be maintained on the frontiers as an Army of Observation, and the remainder disbanded. Such is the "rumour; but, [illegible] reasons assigned for marching troops into Spain, we can with difficulty comprehend any that would justify, at the present moment marching them out again.

GREECE.

The accounts of the Greek victory over the Egyptian fleet, are amply confirmed. The action took place between Cos and Rhodes, lasted seven hours, and ended in the total defeat of the Egyptians!

"Several Egyptian vessels were burned, and some transports sunk with the troops they had on board.—The Captain Pacha lost the Reala Bey's (Vice Admiral) and two other vessels. The rest of the Egyptian fleet was pursued by the Greeks in the direction of Alexandria; some transports which were overtaken in the bay of Rhodes were destroyed; a small number of the Egyptian vessels being cut of from the rest, took refuge in the harbour of Suda, in the Island of Candia Nearly a fourth part of the troops of Mehmed Ali Pacha, with which he threatened to invade the Peloponesus, perished in the flames or in the waves. Before this, another portion had been the prey of a contagious disorder which had broken out in the Egyptian fleet After this second defeat, the Captain Pacha ran off, and took refuge in the harbour of Olivier, in the Island of Mitylene, the usual retreat of the Turks after a defeat. Miaulis went after him; his squadron was seen in the neighbourhood of Scio By such disasters the Turks have brought the fourth campaign to a close. The grand fleet of Constantinople, the Egyptian fleet, the numerous army of Echelle Neuve, the disciplined troops of the Viceroy of Egypt, have all disappeared, and vanished before the Greeks. Victorious both by sea and land, the latter are now ready to follow up their victories. The Samiots are preparing an expedition against the coast of Asia, which the Asiatic army having dispersed is quite unprotected."

An article dated Odessa, September the 25th states that the naval successes of the Greeks have created great sensation in the Turkish capital, even among the Janissaries, who, it is said would now show themselves more moderate. A letter from Constantinople of the 16th, however, states that the Janissaries had taken the field to the throne from his father, an event which created the greatest apprehension. "Should this be confirmed, it is probable that the events which have so long been expected at Constantinople, will take place. We must observe, however, that other letters of the 18th and 20th of Sept are wholly silent respecting this event, and it will therefore be most advisable to wait for the confirmation of it."

There is considerable confusion in our accounts from Greece, says the Courier, arising partly from the want of general names, and partly from the difference between the names given by the Greeks, and those given by Europeans to the same places, for instance, Napoli di Romania, the Greeks call Nauplion; Napoli di Malvesia, Monembasia, Patras, Mopatra The celebrated island which we have in the habit of calling Ipsara, the Greeks call Psarra, (a plural name,) and the inhabitants Psarriens (not Ipsariotes); Spezzia, Petza, the inhabitants Petzotes. In a number of minor instances the differences are much more puzzling.

The Greek Senate, at Napoli di Romania has revoked its decree which ordered the capture and confiscation of foreign vessels freighted for the Turkish service. The revocation took place before the proclamation of Sir Frederick Adam was known by them, and which is now of course null and void.

A letter from Semlin, of the 1st of October, speaks of new troubles at Constantinople, in which the Sultan himself is said to have been in great danger, but a Tartar who arrived from Constantinople, after the letter in question, has not brought any confirmation of this news.

A letter received in London from one of the principal Turkish merchants in Smyrna, has the following postscript:

"I am sorry to inform you, that very unfavourable intelligence has been received here; I fear the Greeks have been very successful.

The same house has hitherto communicated the most favourable news for the Turks, and appears reluctantly compelled to admit the reverse.

The Asiatic troops have committed great excesses in the neighbourhood of Smyrna. From this circumstance, it was expected that the fruit season would be very unfavourable particularly in figs, as the barbarians had destroyed almost all the plantations round that city, as well as in the interior. An advance in fruit this season may therefore be looked for.

RUSSIA.

Advices from St. Petersburgh, are to the 25th of September.

"The Ministry have just received a very detailed report from General Sebaniell Commander in Chief of the Russian forces stationed in Bessarabia, upon the actual situation of Moldavia. This report has made the greater impression on the minds of the members of our Cabinet, as it completely contradicts the proceeding accounts sent to the office of Foreign Affairs, relative to the departure of the Turkish Troops.—We are now certain that they still occupy the principality, and that they are not even taking any steps which indicate that they will soon evacuate it. It is not doubted that this news will make the emperor extremely discontented with the Turkish Government, and lead to great changes in the policy of the Russian Cabinet.

PRESIDENT DWIGHT'S LAST ADVICE TO HIS PUPILS.

During his last sickness, he composed a sermon from Psalm xciv. 17, 18, 19, "Unless the Lord had been my help my soul had almost dwelt in silence," &c. intending if his health should be restored, to state to his pupils the feelings of his soul in view of death. At the end of twelve weeks, his disease assumed a more favourable appearance, and he was able to preach in the Chapel. The following truths, on the true character of worthly good, are from the conclusion of the sermon, and are published in his Life.

"To him who stands on the brink of the grave, and the verge of eternity, who retains the full possession of his reason, and who at the same time is disposed to serious contemplation, all these things become mighty changed in their appearance. To the eye of such a man, their former alluring aspect vanishes, and they are seen in a new and far different light.

"Like others of our race, I have relished several of these things, with at least the common attachment—Particularly I have coveted reputation, and influence, to a degree which I am unable to justify. Nor have I been insensible to other earthly gratifications; rather to such, as, when enjoyed with moderation are innocent; or, such as cannot be pursued without sin.

"But in the circumstances to which I have referred, all these things were vanishing from my sight. Had they been really valuable in any supposable degree, their value was gone. They could not relieve me from pain; they could not restore me to health; they could not prolong my life; they could promise me no good in the life to come. What then were these things to me?

"A person, circumstanced in the manner, which has been specified, must necessarily regard these objects however harmless or even useful, they may be and used in their nature, as having been hostile to his peace and pernicious to his well being. In all his attachment to them, in all his pursuit of them it is impossible for him to fail of perceiving that he forgets the interests of his soul and the commands of his Maker; becomes regardless of his duty, and his salvation; and hazarded for those of dirt, the future enjoyment of glorious immortality. It is impossible not to perceive that in the most unlimited possession of them, the soul would have been beggared, and undone; that the gold of the world would not have made him rich; nor its esteem honourable; nor its favour happy. For this end he will discover, that nothing will suffice but treasure laid up in heaven; the loving kindness of God: and the blessing of life eternal.

"Let me exhort you, my young friends, now engaged in the ardent pursuit of worldly enjoyments, to believe that you will one day see them in the very light in which they have been seen by me. The attachment to them which you so strongly feel, is unfounded, vain, full of danger, and fraught with ruin. You will one day view them from a dying bed. There, should you retain your reason, they will appear as they really are. They will then be seen to have two totally opposite faces. Of these you have hitherto seen but one. That gay, beautiful and alluring as it now appears, will then be hidden from your sight, and another, which you have not seen, deformed, odious, and dreadful, will stare you in the face, and fill you with amazement, and bitterness. No longer pretended friends, and real flatterers; they will unmask themselves, and appear only as tempters, deceivers, and enemies, who stood between you and Heaven; persuaded you to forsake your God; and cheated you out of eternal life."

"But no acts of obedience will then appear to you to have merited, in any sense, acceptance with God. In this view, those acts of my life concerning which I entertained the best hopes which I was permitted to entertain, those, which to me appeared the least exceptionable; were nothing, and less than nothing. The mercy of God as exercised towards our lost race, through the all-sufficient and glorious righteousness of the Redeemer, yielded me the only foundation of hope for good beyond the grave. During the long continuation of my disease, as I was always, except when in paroxisms of suffering, in circumstances entirely fitted for solemn contemplations; I had ample opportunity to survey this most interesting of all subjects on every side. As the result of all my investigations, let me assure you, and that from the neighbourhood of the Eternal World, Confidence in the Righteousness of CHRIST, is the only foundation furnished by earth, or Heaven, upon which, when you are about to leave this world, you can safely or willingly, rest the everlasting life of your souls. To trust upon any thing else, will be to feed upon the wind and sup up the East wind. You will then be at the door of eternity; will be hastening to the presence of your Judge; will be just ready to give up your account of the deeds done in the body; will be preparing to hear the final sentence of acquittal or condemnation; and will stand at the gate of Heaven or of Hell. In these amazing circumstances you will infinitely need; let me persuade you to believe, and to feel, that you will infinitely need, a firm foundation, on which you may stand and from which you will never be removed. There is no other such foundation, but the Rock of Ages—Then you will believe, then you will feel, that there is no other. The world, stable as it now seems, will then be sliding away from under your feet. All earthly things on which you have so confidently reposed, will recede and vanish. To what will you then betake yourselves for safety?"

THE BOLD DRAGOON.

From Washington Irving's Tales of a Traveller.

"My grandfather was a bold dragoon, for it's a profession I've see, that has run in the family. All of my fore-fathers have been dragoons and died upon the field of honor except myself, and I hope my posterity may be able to say the same; however, I don't mean to be disagreeable. Well, my grandfather, as I said was a bold dragoon, and had served in the Low Countries (fact, he was one of that very army, which, according to my uncle Toby, "swore so terribly in Flanders." He could swear a good stick himself; and, moreover, was the very man that introduced the doctrine of Corporal Trim mentions, of rarefied heat and rarefied moisture; or, in other words, the mode of keeping out the damps of ditch-water by burnt brandy. But that as it may, it's nothing to the purport of my story. I only tell it to shew you that my grandfather was a man not easily to be humbugged. He had seen service; or, according to his own phrase, "he had seen the devil"—and that's saying every thing.

Well, gentlemen, my grandfather was on his way to England, for which he intended to embark at Ostend; bad luck to the place for one where I was kept by storms and head winds for three long days, and the devil of a jolly companion or pretty face to comfort me. Well, as I was saying, my grandfather was on his way to England, or rather to Ostend—no matter which, it's all the same. So one evening towards nightfall, he rode jollily into Bruges.—Very like you all know Bruges, gentlemen—a queer, old fashioned Flemish town, once, they say, a great place for trade and money matking, in old times, when the Mynheers were in their glory; but almost as large and as empty as an Irishman's pocket at the present day. Well, gentlemen, it was the time of the annual fair. All Bruges was crowded; and the canals swarmed with Dutch boats, and the streets swarmed with Dutch merchants; and there was hardly any getting along for goods, wares, and merchandizes, and peasants in big breeches, and women in half a score of petticoats.

Well, gentlemen, it being the time of the annual fair, all the town was crowded; every inn and tavern full, and my grandfather applied in vain from one to the other for admittance. At length he rode up to an old racketty inn that looked ready to fall to pieces, and which the rats would have run away from, if they could have found room in any other house to put their heads. It was just such a queer building as you see in Dutch pictures, with a tall roof that reached up into the clouds; and as many garrets one over the other, as the seven heavens of Mahomet. Nothing had saved it from tumbling down, but a stork's nest on the chimney, which always brings good luck to a house in the Low Countries; and at the very time of my grandfather's arrival there were two of these long legged birds of grace, standing like ghosts on the chimney top.—Faith, but they've kept the house on its legs to this very day; for you may see it any time you pass through Bruges, as it stands there yet: only it is turned into a brewery—a brewery of strong Flemish beer; at least it was so when I came that way after the battle of Waterloo.

My grandfather eyed the house curiously as he approached. It might not altogether have struck his fancy, but he not have seen, in large letters over the door.

HIER VERKOOPT MEN GOEDEN DRANK.

My grandfather had learnt enough of the language, to know that the sign promised good liquor. "This is the house for me," said he, stopping short before the door.

The sudden appearance of a dashing dragoon was an event in an old inn, frequented only by the peaceful sons of traffic. A rich burgher of Antwerp, a stately ample man, in a broad Flemish hat, and who was the great man and the great patron of the establishment, sat smoking a clean long pipe on one side of the door; a fat little distiller of genevra from Schiedam, sat smoking on the other, and the bottle nosed host stood in the door, and the comely hostess, in crimped cap beside him, and the hostess's daughter, a plump Flemish lass, with long goeden pendants in her ears, was at a side window.

"Humph!" said the rich burgher of Antwerp, with a sulky glance at the stranger.

"Dereluyed!" said the fat little distiller of Schiedam.

The landlord saw, with the quick glance of a publican, that the new guest was not at all at all to the taste of the old ones, and to tell the truth, he did not himself like my grandfather's saucy eye. He shook his head. "Not a garret in the house but was full."

"Not a garret," echoed the landlady.

"Not a garret," echoed the daughter.

The burgher of Antwerp and the little distiller of Schiedam continued to smoke their pipes solemnly, eyed the enemy askance from under their broad hats, but said nothing.

My grandfather was not a man to be browbeaten. He threw the reins on his horse's neck, cocked his hat on one side, stuck one arm a kimbo, slapped his broad thigh with the other hand—

"Faith and troth," said he, "but I'll sleep in this house this very night."

My grandfather had on a tight pair of buckskins—the slap went to the landlady's heart.

He followed up his vow by jumping off his horse, and making his way past the staring mynheers into the public room.—May be you've been in the bar-room of an old Flemish inn—faith but a handsome chamber it was as you'd wish to see; with a brick floor, a great fire-place, with the whole bible history in glazed tiles; and then the mantle piece, pitching itself head foremost out of the wall, with a whole regiment of cracked teapots and earthen jugs paraded on it; not to mention half a dozen great Delft platters hung about the room by way of pictures; and the little bar in one corner, and the bouncing bar maid inside of it with a red calico cap and yellow ear-drops.

My grandfather snapped his fingers over his head, as he cast an eye round the room; Faith, this is the very house I've been looking after, said he, "but never a some farther show of resistance on the part of the garrison, but my grandfather was an old soldier, and an Irishman to boot, and not easily repulsed, especially after he had got into the fortress. So he blarney'd the landlord, kissed the landlord's wife, tickled the landlord's daughter, chuckled the bar maid under the chin; and it was agreed on all hands that it would be a thousand pities, and a burning shame to the bargin, to turn such a bold dragoon into the streets. So they laid their heads together—that is to say, my grandfather and the landlady—and it was at length agreed to accommodate him with an old chamber that had for some time been shut up.

"Some say it's haunted!" whispered the landlord's daughter, "but you're a bold dragoon, and I dare say don't fear ghosts."

"The devil a bit!" said my grandfather, pinching her plump cheek;—but if I should be troubled by ghosts, I've been to the live Sea in my time, and have a pleasant way of laying them, my darling!"

And then he whispered something to the girl which made her laugh, and give him a good humored box on the ear. In short, there was nobody knew better how to make his way among the petticoats than my grandfather.

In a little while, as was his usual way he took complete possession of the house; swaggering all over it: into the stable to look after his horse; into the kitchen to look after his supper. He had something to say or to do with every one; smoked with the Dutchmen; drank with the Germans; slapped the men on the shoulders, tickled the women under the ribs:—never since the days of Ally Crooker had such a rattling blade been seen. The landlord stared at him with astonishment; the landlord's daughter hung her head and giggled whenever he came near; and as he turned his back and swaggered along, his tight jacket setting off his broad shoulders and plump buckskins, and his long sword trailing by his side, the maids whispered to one another —" What a proper man!"

(To be Continued.)

Poetry.

LOVE AND REASON.

Was ever man plagued with such quarrels and strife
Betwixt reason and love about taking a wife?
Love urges me on, and still bids me pursue,
And reason exclaims, "you're a fool if you do!"

Love says she is lovely, love says she is fair,
That her mind is as pure as a spirit of air;
But reason replies, "she's a terrible shrew;
You may wed if you please—you'll be fool if you do."

Love has the advantage for waking or sleeping,
In each nook of my bosom I find him still creeping,
While reason in slumbers will oft close his eye:
This is always the case when Augusta is by.

Then love, who is always a busy young knave,
Will point out the beauties—the cants where they wave
Bids me revel in breeze-the sweet, meadow lore,
And triumphantly asks me "oh what would you more?"

But reason awakes from his slumbers again,
And pours such a torrent of eloquence then;
Through the dictates of love I would gladly pursue,
I'll take reason's advice advice—I'll be hanged if I do!

DIED

Here yesterday morning, of small pox, Isabel, only daughter of Mr. W. L. MACKENZIE, editor of the Advocate, aged nineteen months.

Upper Canada Gazette.

New Series.

Vol. III. YORK U. C. THURSDAY, DECEMBER 30th. 1824. No. LIII.

By Authority.

UPPER CANADA.

MAITLAND,
Lieut. Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

TO our Beloved and Faithful Legislative Councellors of our Province of Upper Canada; and to our Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses of our said Province, and Provincial Parliament at our Town of York, on the Second Day of December next, to be Convened, Held, Called and Elected, and to every of them—GREETING:

WHEREAS, by our Proclamation bearing date the Twenty Third Day of October, last, We thought fit to Prorogue our Provincial Parliament to the Second day of December next, at which time at our Town of York, you were held and constrained to appear, NOW KNOW YE, that WE, taking into our Royal consideration the ease and convenience of our loving Subjects, have thought fit by and with the advice of our Executive Council, to relieve you and each of you of your attendance at the time aforesaid, hereby revoking, and by these presents enjoining you and each of you, that on Tuesday the Eleventh Day of January now next ensuing, you meet Us, in our Provincial Parliament, in our Town of York, FOR THE MUTUAL DESPATCH OF PUBLIC BUSINESS, as are to take into consideration the state and welfare of our Province of Upper Canada, and therein to do and may seem necessary, and herein fail not TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces in North America, at York, dated the Twenty Sixth day of November in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign.

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,

JNO. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

D. CAMERON, Secretary.

Upper Canada.

P. MAITLAND,

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come—GREETING:

WHEREAS by Proclamation bearing date the Fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventeen, our trusty and well beloved FRANCIS GORE Esquire, late our Lieutenant Governor of our Province of Upper Canada, by and with the advice of the Executive Council thereof, and by virtue of the Authority in him vested in that behalf, did declare and appoint the Port of Ernestown, otherwise commonly called the Port of Bath, within the Midland District of this Province, to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for all Goods and Merchandize, not being entirely prohibited and for the payment of all Duties, liable to be paid on all Goods and Merchandize brought into this Province from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS by a certain Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the Third Year of our Reign, entitled, "An Act to Regulate the Trade of the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, and for other purposes relating to the said Provinces," it is among other things Enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the Governor Lieutenant Governor, or person Administering the Government of either of our said Provinces respectively, by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council thereof for the time being, from time to time to diminish or increase, by Proclamation, the number of Ports or places, which they were, or thereafter might be, appointed in such Province for the Entry of Goods, Wares, and Commodities, imported from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS it appears expedient for the avoiding expence in the Collection of our Revenue, that the said Port of Ernestown shall no longer be a Port of Entry and Clearance.—NOW KNOW YE, that by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of our Province of Upper Canada, We have thought fit to declare, and do hereby declare, that from and at the date of this our Proclamation, the said Port of Ernestown shall cease to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the purposes aforesaid, and shall be and remain, as if the said Proclamation hereinbefore recited, and appointing the same to be a Port of Entry and Clearance, had never been made.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—Witness our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K.C.B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York this Twentieth day of March in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign. P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,

D. CAMERON, Secretary.

(Sec. 3 ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

Government House,
Dec 29th 1824.

HIS Excellency, the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, has been pleased to make the following appointments: viz—

ROBERT NELLES, Esq. to be a Commissioner for carrying into effect the Act authorising the construction of a Canal between Burlington Bay and Lake Ontario, vice CLARK, resigned.—

and,

WALTER BOSWELL, Esq. to be Chairman of the Land Board of the Newcastle District, vice ROGERS deceased.

GLEBES.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in Council, having taken into consideration the system hitherto practised, of Granting Licences of Occupation for GLEBE LANDS, is pleased to Order, that in future the Glebes in the several Townships, with the exception of One Lot in each Township, for the accommodation of the Incumbent, shall be Leased on the same terms as Clergy Reserves.

NOTICE is therefore given to those Persons who hold Licences of Occupation for any of the said Glebe Lots, that the same will not be Renewed; and unless they do make application, by Petition, for Leases in the usual manner, through the medium of the Corporation for superintending the Clergy Reserves, before the Twenty-ninth day of September next ensuing, the Lots so held by Licence of Occupation will be Leased to other Applicants.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk Ex. Coun,

Executive Council Office,
York, 29th April, 1824. 10-tf.

Executive Council Chamber,
York, 31st January, 1824.

PRESENT,
HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTANANT GOVERNOR,
IN COUNCIL,

HIS Majesty's Government having recently extended their assistance to the class of Emigrants, which it was intended to relieve by gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres of Land, in conveying them to their respective locations:

IT IS ORDERED, that from the first day of May next, no gratuitous Grants be made of any quantity of Land to other than privileged persons.—And that as the Fee on Two Hundred Acres was raised, in order to defray the gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres the consideration failing, the future Fee on Two Hundred Acres is reduced to Eight Pounds Four Shilling and One Penny Sterling; the existing Fee before 1819, and the Fee on all other Grants, in Townships surveyed since that time, to be the same as established by the Order in Council, of 5th January, 1819.

N. B. Possessors of gratuitous Grants for Fifty Acres, may, by paying the Fee on One Hundred Acres, receive a Grant of the adjoining Fifty Acres if vacant.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk Ex'v. Council

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL CHAMBER,
AT YORK, 26th JAN. 1824.
PRESENT:
HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
In Council.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR submitted to the consideration of the Board, the Sheriffs' Reports of their respective Gaols, together with other Documents relating to a Winter Circuit, by which it appeared that the House of Assembly had addressed His Excellency to that effect, for this Session only; and obviously for the Delivery of the Gaols in the several Districts.

The limitation of such a measure to one season seeming to militate with the Provision of the Law, that when the Communication from the Seat of Government and the more distant parts of the Province acquired, there should be a regular Second Circuit, the Board would prefer to recommend that Special Commissions to deliver particular Gaols should issue where requisite; but, as the respective Reports from the Sheriffs do not, in the opinion of the Board, require any immediate interposition, His Excellency, with advice of the Council, postpones a Second Circuit until the circumstances of the Province more decidedly require it

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Executive Council.

WHEREAS by the Tenor of the Location Tickets a Certificate is required to be lodged of the Settlement Duty being done within two Years, or that the said Location should be forfeited, and in case of Locations not gratuitous, that one third of the Patent Fee be lodged with such Certificate; AND WHEREAS it is represented, that in many instances, Certificates of performance of the Settlement Duty, have been withheld from the inability of the settler to deposit such proportion of the Patent Fee, it is deemed expedient to relieve the settler from forfeiture of his location, when he may actually have performed his settlement duty—Notice is hereby given that it all cases where Settlement Duty has been performed within the limited period, the settler shall, on filing Certificate thereof within six Months of this date, be exempted from forfeiture notwithstanding the non-payment therewith of such portion of the Patent Fee, provided the Patent is sued out within One Year from the filing of such Certificate.

And further; His Excellency, in the hope of avoiding the necessity of rescinding any of the Militia grants, is pleased to direct this Public Notification; that all Lands granted to Militia Men, upon which the Settlement Duties shall not have been performed within the limited period, will in pursuance of general instructions given to the Surveyor General in all similar cases, be declared vacant, and will be granted within Six Months after the expiration of that period, to the first applicant, unless the Original Nominee, shall before such subsequent application, have lodged a Certificate of his having performed the Settling Duties.

JOHN SMALL, Clk. Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office,
York, 7th Nov. 1821.

WHEREAS it has become expedient to establish a line of communication through certain remote Townships, for encouragement thereof, Grants will be made to actual Settlers in the Townships hereinafter named on the condition of Settling within two years from the date of the Location, at the reduced Scale of 5th January, 1819, viz.

A Township North of Mariposa, advertised from the Surveyor General's Office on the 19th of October, as

Zeta, to be called Eldon

N. of Ep		Fenelon
N. of Emily advertised as	Emir	Verulam
N. of Smith	Lake	Harvey
E. of do.		Douro
N. of Asphodel	Alma	Dummer
N. of Seymour	Mora	Belmont
N. of Dummer	Yea	Burleigh
N. of Marmora	Ninia	Lake
N. of Madoc		Tudor
N. of Elzever	No	Grimsthorpe
N. of Kaladar	Aye	Anglesea
N. of Kennebec	Jus	Barrie
N. of Norma	Olden	Clarendon
N. of Oso	Et	Palmerston
N. of Belmont	Carlos	Methuen

JOHN SMALL, C. E. C.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

DISTRICT OF JOHNSTOWN, To Wit: BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, of our Sovereign Lord the King, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Abiathar Boyce in favour of James E. Campbell, I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said Abiathar Boyce Lot number Four, in the Ninth Concession of the Townships of Bastard, containing Two Hundred Acres, be the same more or less, which I shall expose for Sale at the Court House in Brockville, on Saturday the 19th day of March next, at the hour of eleven of the clock in the forenoon.

JOHN STUART.
Sheriff.
District of Johnstown.

Brockville Dec. 10*th*, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above property by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

52—6w. JOHN STUART.

SHERIFF'S SALE

DISTRICT OF JOHNSTOWN, To Wit: BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, of our Sovereign Lord the King, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of George Richard Ferguson, in favour of Peter Mc Dougall, I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said George Richard Ferguson Lots number 8 and 10, in the Fifth Concession of the Township of Ritley, containing Two Hundred Acres, each, be the same more or less, which I shall expose for Sale at the Court House in Brockville, on Saturday the twelfth day of March next, at the hour of eleven of the clock in the forenoon.

JOHN STUART.
Sheriff.
District of Johnstown.

Brockville Dec. 10*th*, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above Property by Mortgage, or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me on or before the day of Sale.

52—6w. JOHN STUART.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

DISTRICT OF JOHNSTOWN, To Wit: BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, of our Sovereign Lord the King, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Jonathan Buell, in favour of Elnathan Hubbell I have taken in Execution Seventeen Acres of Land as belonging to the said Jonathan Buell, being part of Lot number thirteen, in the first Concession of the Township of Elizabethtown, which I shall expose for Sale at the Court House in Brockville, on Thursday the twentieth day of January next, at the hour of eleven of the clock in the forenoon.

JOHN STUART.
Sheriff.
District of Johnstown.

Brockville Dec. 10*th*, 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any Claim on the above Property, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my office previous to the day of sale.

52—6w. JOHN STUART.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Newcastle District, to wit. BY virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of Kings Bench, and to the Sheriff of the Newcastle District directed, against the Lands and Tenements of David McGregor Rogers Esq. at the suit John Strachan, Thomas A. Dobbs, and Thomas H. Cartwright, Executors of the late Richard Cartwright, Esq. I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said David McGregor Rogers the following Lands, viz.

S. half of Lot No. 3 Broken Front, A. } 330 Acres.
Lot No. 3 do. do. B. }
Lot No. 3 do. do. C. }
Lot No. 23 2 Concession, 200 do.
Lot No. 26 3 do. 200 do.

of the Township of Haldimand, in the county of Northumberland, which Property I shall offer for sale at Public Auction, at the Inn now occupied by Mr. N. W. Mack, in the village of Coburg, on the ninth day of February next at 12 o'clock, at noon.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
By EBENEZER PERRY, Dep. Sheriff.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above described Premises, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber, on or before the day of Sale.

NOTE.—The sale of the above Lots, No. 3, Concession A., B. and C., 330 Acres, is postponed until 11th day of January next (1825) at the same place and at 6 o'clock in the Evening.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
BY EBENEZER PERRY, Dep. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Cobourg,
November 3d, 1824. 47—td.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit. ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb. 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Peter Grant, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Jerry Whitehead, viz.

The easterly half of Lot No. 16, in the First Concession of the Township of Thurlow, containing 100 acres more or less.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1824

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit ON Saturday the 5th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Zachariah Simmons, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Thomas Parker, viz.

Part of Lot No. 16, in the First Concession of the Township of Sidney, containing three acres and thirty-one perches.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To Wit. ON Saturday the 13th of March, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Theophilus Lockwood, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Thomas Parker, viz.

Part of the east half of Lot No. 22, in the Third Concession of the Township of Sidney, in the County of Hastings, containing 19½ acres.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
October, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To Wit. ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb. 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands, as belonging to Lewis Day, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Alexander Simpson, viz.

The rear two-fifths of Lot No. 15, containing 80 acres, and the north or rear two-fifths of the westerl quarter of Lot No. 16, in the Fourth Concession of the Township of Kingston, containing 20 acres, and the south-easterly quarter of the west half of Lot No. 16, in the Second Concession of the Township of Kingston, containing 25 acres.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Lands, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To Wit ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb 1825. will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Lewis Rosebush, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Duncan McDonell, viz.

A part of Lot No. 18, in the Second Concession of the Township of Rawdon, containing 70 acres of Land, described as follows, viz. commencing at the south-west angle of the said Lot in front, where a post has been planted, thence running north sixteen degrees west forty-nine chains and forty links, then south seventy-four degrees north fifteen chains to the centre of the said Lot, thence south, sixteen degrees east, to the allowance for road in front of the said Concession, thence west seventy four degrees south fifteen chains to the place of beginning

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To Wit ON Saturday the 19th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Daniel Lyons, seized by virtue of an Execution, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of the Hon. G. H. Markland, and John Kirby, Esq Executors to the estate of the late Lawrence Herchimer, viz:—

Lot No. 25 in the 7th Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
18th October, 1824. No. 46,—t. d.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District To Wit. ON Tuesday the 18th day of January 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands and Tenements, as belonging to William Purkiss, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Charles Bowman, viz:—

Lot No. 6 in the 2d Concession of the Township of Loughborough, containing 200 Acres; also Town Lot No. 260 in the Town of Kingston, with a large two story Frame House erected thereon.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office Kingston,
October 18th, 1824.

N. B. All Persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale 45—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To WIT. ON Saturday, the 19th day of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Solomon Orser, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Allan McLean, Esq viz:—

The front part of Lot No. 18, in the 2d Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
18th October, 1824

N. B All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District To Wit. ON Tuesday the 18th day of January, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Silas Ormsby, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of D'Arcy Boulton, Esq. viz:—

The East half of Lot No. 2 in the 12th Concession of the Township of Huntingdon, in the County of Hastings, containing 100 Acres more or less.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
October 18th, 1824.

N B. All Persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 45—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District to wit. BY virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed against the Lands and Tenements of William Pheonix, in favour of Ralph Leeming and James Hamilton, I have seized and taken in execution, North half of Lot No Ten in the First Con. of the Township of Trafalgar, North side of Dundas Street, containing one Hundred Acres, on which are some improvements, and the Lot is beautifully situated, and which I shall offer for Sale on Saturday the Fourth Day of December next, at one o'clock P. M. at Mr. Carpenter's Inn, near the Premises, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for Cash only.

TITUS G. SIMONS
Late Sheriff, G. D.

late Sheriff's Office,
24th Sept. 2824

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above described property, or upon any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale.

T. G SIMONS,
Late Sheriff, G. D.

☞ The above Sale is postponed until Monday the Seventh day of March next, at the same hour and place.

T. G. SIMONS
Late Sheriff G. D.

Late Sheriff's Office,
6th Dec. 1824 No. 53—td.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District to wit. BY virtue of a writ of fieri facias, to me issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Abraham R. Smith, at the Suit of Robert Gillespie, Esquire, I have seized and taken in execution Lots No. Eleven, in the First Range, and Twenty-two in the Second Range, in the Town of Hamilton, and in the Township of Barton, situate on the North side of the Road leading from Dundas to Niagara, each Lot contains One Fourth of an Acre, on the Former is erected a beautiful Two Story House, well finished, and fit for any Gentleman's residence, all this valuable Property. I shall offer for sale on Monday the 29th Day of December next, at 10 o'clock, A. M. and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for Cash only.

TITUS G. SIMONS,
Late Sheriff, G. D.

Late Sheriff's Office,
24th Sept. 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any claim on the above described Property by Mortgage or other wise, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office, on or before the Day of Sale.

T. G. SIMONS,
Late Sheriff, G. D.

☞ The above Sale is postponed until Monday the Seventh day of march next, at the same hour, at the Court House in the said Town of Hamilton.

TITUS G. SIMONS,
Late Sheriff G. D.

Late Sheriff's Office,
6th Dec. 1824. No. 53—td.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Niagara District, To Wit. BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of William Chisholm, at the suits of John Jamieson and John McKenzie, I have seized and taken the following lands, viz:

Part of Lot No. 16 in the 5th Concession of Grantham,	Acres. 50
Part of Lot No. 17 in the 7th Concession of Grantham.	24
Part of Lot No 13 in the 7th Concession of Grantham.	60
Lots Nos. 2 and 3 in the Village of St. Catharines.	2
Lots Nos 3 and 4 in do do. do.	2
Lot No. 9 in the Town of Niagara.	1
Lots No 14 and 15, in the 5th Concession of Grimsby.	200
Part of Lots Nos. 9 and 10 in do. do. do.	100

All of which property I shall offer for Sale on the last Monday in March, 1825, at Twelve o'clock noon, at the Court House, in the Town of Niagara, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for Cash only.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Niagara,
2d March, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim to the above mentioned premises by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

48—6w. R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Niagara District, To Wit. BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Eliz., alias, Eliza Skinner, widow of the late Haggie Skinner, deceased, at the suit of James Macleth, and James Cummings, Executors of the late John Fanning, deceased, I have seized and taken, as belonging to the said Eliz., alias, Eliza Skinner, Lots No. 172, and 161, in the Township of Stamford, 323 acres—Lots number 2, 5, 6, 6, and 7, in the Fourteenth Concession of the Township of Pelham containing 565 acres:—All of which property I shall offer for sale on the second Monday in March, in the year 1825, at twelve o'clock noon, at the Court House, in the Town of Niagara, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for cash only.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff,
By P. T. FAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.
Sheriff's Office, Niagara, March 24, 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any claim to the above mentioned premises by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.
48—6w.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

NIAGARA DISTRICT, To Wit: By virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, and to me directed against the lands and tenements of John D. M'Kay, at the suit of Peter M'Gill, I have seized and taken the following Lands, viz:—

Lot No. 13, in the 8th Concession of Clinton.
Lot No. 3, 6, 7, & 12, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Grimsby. } 400 acres
Lot No. 37, & 39, in the 8th & 9th Concession of do. } 200 acres
Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 1st Concession of Bertie. } 495 acres
Lot No. 1, & 2, in the 2d Concession of do.
Lot No. 12 & 14, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Gainsbor'o } 400 acres
Lot No. 4, in the 2d Concession of do. } 200 acres
Lot No. 74, 95, 96, & ¼, of 201, in the town of Niagara.—All of which property I shall offer for sale on the 2d day of August, 1824, at the Court House in the town of Niagara, at 12 o'clock, noon, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for cash only

R. LEONARD, Sheriff
By PETER T. PAWLING, Dep'y Sheriff.
Sheriff's Office, Niagara, July 31st, 1823. 4.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claims on the above named premises, by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.

☞ The sale of the above property is postponed un til the 13th of September, next, at the same place and hour.

R. LEONARD, Sheriff.
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff

The Sale of the above Property is postponed until the second Tuesday in January, 1825.

RICHARD LEONARD, Sheriff.
By P. T. PAWLING, Dep'y. Sheriff.
48—6w.

NOT OFFICIAL.

FIRE INSURANCE.

THE Sun Insurance Company of New York, having appointed George Crookshank, Esquire, their Agent in Upper Canada—he is ready to Insure against Loss or Damage by Fire, on Dwelling Houses, Stores, Merchandize, House hold Furniture, and other Personal Property; at moderate Rates of Premium.—Persons wishing to Insure must send a plan of their Buildings, when wanted out of the Town of York, a respectable reference will be required, and Letters Post Paid.—Application to be made to

R. W. PRENTICE.
York, 28th Sept. 1824. No. 39—t. f.

MAIL CARRIER.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY given, that sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Subscriber until Tuesday the 4th January next at 12 o'clock, noon, for carrying the mail between Ancaster and Port Talbot, for one year, ending the 5th January 1826. The mail will be put up at Ancaster every Tuesday at 4 o'clock P. M. and must be delivered at Port Talbot on Friday following by 10 o'clock A. M. touching at the several offices on the way, and will remain at Port Talbot until Saturday at 10 o'clock A. M. and return to Ancaster on Tuesday following. Sureties will be required for the due performance of the contract.

(Signed) JOHN BURWELL.
Post master.
Ancaster 20th, Dec. 1824. 53—td

NOTICE.

WANTED by the Subscriber, immediately, Two JOURNEYMEN HARNESS MAKERS, none but good Workmen need Apply.

THOMAS SULIVAN.
York, 20th December, 1824. No. 53—1w

GRAIN.

THE Subscribers will purchase WHEAT, RYE, and INDIAN CORN, at the highest market prices, for which they will pay one half CASH, and the remainder in Goods at Cash prices.

ASHES

Taken as usual, at their POTASH MANUFACTORY, near the Don Bridge.

They have lately received a well selected assortment of Goods, which will be sold low for cash or country produce.

(Signed) WOOD & ANDERSON.
York Dec. 16th, 1824. 52—6w.

FRONTENAC STEAM-BOAT.

IMPORTANT SALE.

ON MONDAY, the tenth day of January, 1825 at the hour of twelve o'clock at noon, at the Government wharf in King-ton, will be sold by Public Auction, to the highest bidder, without reserve.—THE STEAM VESSEL FRONTENAC of 700 Tons burthen, with an Engine of 50 Horse Power (Bolton & Watt's) together with Anchors, Cables, Sails, Rigging, Cabin furniture, &c. &c. &c.

(Signed) D. JOHN SMITH,
Treasurer.
Kingston, 6th Dec. 1824. 51—td.

WANTED

TO Purchase, or to Hire for a few Months, a good PIANO FORTE.

Enquire at this Office. No. 51.—3 w.

FOR SALE.

A SET of SUPERB, London-made, CRIMSON MOREEN CURTAINS, for THREE WINDOWS, with festoons, bindings, fringe, &c. &c. &c made very full; and in the newest fashion. The very lowest price is $63.—The cost in London was much higher, and they are quite new.—Inquire of Messrs. M. & R. MEIGHAN.
Market Square, York, 9th Dec. 50—tf.

NOTICE.

IF JOHN QUICK, late of Whitby, does not, within Twenty Days, take possession of the Cattle left for him in my charge by Surtham Gibbs, late of said place, they will be sold by Public Auction for the benefit of all concerned.

(SIGNED.) JOHN B. WARREN.
Whitby, Home District, November 3th, 1824. No, 50.—3 w.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that Application will be made at the next Session of the Provincial Parliament, for an Act to establish Dundas Street as the division of the Townships of Ancaster and Flamboro West, in the District of Gore, from the Village of Coots Paradise, in Lot No 53, 1st Con. of Ancaster, to the Marsh lying to the Eastward thereof, commonly called, Coots Paradise.—

Dundas, 2d. December, 1824.
No. 50.—6 w.

ALBION NEWSPAPER.

A GENTLEMAN wishing to complete a File of the Albion Newspaper is in want of the following Numbers, for which he will gladly pay a fair compensation.

Volume 1 ——Nos. 4 & 18.
" 2——Nos. 19, & 21,
" 3——Nos. 4 & 7.

Apply at the U C. Gazette Office.
No. 49.—t. f.

TERRY AND CATTERMOLE,
WATCH MAKERS,
Silversmiths, & Jewellers,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public, that they have commenced business in that Central Store, in the Market Square, two doors north of Mr. Patterson.

To a perfect knowledge of the above arts, T. and C. have added an extensive assortment of materials necessary in their business, and their friends may rest assured that every exertion will be made to give general satisfaction, and merit, for their establishment, a continuation of public patronage.

Watch Cases Gilt to imitate Gold,—Musical Clocks, Watches, &c. carefully repaired and cleaned.

Produce received at cash prices in payment for work
York, Nov. 25th 1824 49tf.

NOTICE.

St, Catherines, 20th } November, 1824, }

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that pursuant to a Resolution of the President and Directors of the Welland Canal Company, held 15th ult. an Instalment of 2½ Per Cent upon the Capital Stock Subscribed is required to be paid into the Treasurer at this place, on or before the 1st January, next as provided by the 26 clause of the Act of Incorporation.

By Order
GEORGE KEEFER, Jun.
Secretary.

N, B, Subscribers will pay their instalments to the Agents in the different Districts, who will remit the same,
December 2d, 1824, No, 49,—t, f,

FOR SALE.

A Farm on Yonge Street, Lot No. 32 in Markham, One Hundred and Ninety Acres, of which ninety Acres are under cultivation with a Frame House and Barn on the same, a stream of water runs across the Lot, and Purdy's Saw and Grist Mills are on the Lot opposite to the same.—Terms of payment will be made easy.—Application to be made to,
GEORGE CROOKSHANK.
York, 17th Oct. 1824.

N. B. Should the above mentioned Farm not be sold by the 1st March next, it will then be leased.
43—tf.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the County of Dundas, intend presenting a Petition to the Legislature at its next Session, for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Dundas, and the Town of Cornwall alternately.

Also to have the Concession line between the fourth and fifth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg in the Eastern District, to have the said line run upon the true course of No. 66 E. and completed.

And also the side lines in the said fourth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg aforesaid, to have the said side lines to run upon the original course No 24 W.
43—26w.

LAND IN PERCY.

A VERY valuable Lot of Land, consisting of 200 Acres, being No. 7 in the 2nd Concession of the Township of Percy, in the Newcastle District, and not far from the River Trent, in the midst of a good settlement may be had for 2$ per Acre, with an indisputable title, and immediate possession.—Inquire at the U. C. Gazette Office. 43—tf.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the First Concession of Sophiasburgh South-west of Green Point.—by reason of the material damage they have sustained these number of years back, on account of the erroneous original Survey of the Second Concession Line. Are determined to Petition the Legislature of this Province at the ensuing Session of Parliament for the alteration of the said Line, and to settle all the differences relating thereunto.

Sophiasburgh, Oct 7th, 1824. } No. 44.—6 m.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the EASTERN DISTRICT will at the next Session of the LEGISLATURE make application to be authorized to effect a Loan to enable them to erect a Gaol and Court House in the Town of Cornwall. 37—6m.

NOTICE.

AN APPLICATION will be made to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for an Act imposing a Tax on Dogs in the Town of YORK and its vicinity, the proceeds of which to be applicable to the police purposes.

By Order of the Magistrates in Adjourned General Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the Home District assembled on the 6th day of Sept. 1824.
(Signed,) S. HEWARD.
Clk. Peace Home District.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the COUNTY of GLENGARY intend presenting a Petition to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Glengary and of the Town of Cornwall alternately. 37—6m.

NOTICE.

ALL Persons indebted to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire, of Stamford, are requested to make immediate payment to the Subscriber at Vittoria, London District, and those having claims on the Estate, will be pleased to furnish him with their respective Accounts properly authenticated.

(Signed) WALTER NICHOL,
Administrator to the Estate of the Late ROBERT NICHOL, ESQUIRE.
Niagara, 29th May, 1824.

VALUABLE LAND IN OTONIBEE,

FOR SALE ON A CREDIT OF YEARS.

ONE of the most valuable Lots in the beautiful Township of OTONIBEE, on the Rice Lake, consisting of two Hundred Acres, being Lot No. 10, in the Ninth Con. The quality of the Land is first rate, (Maple, Beech, Bass, Elm, and Oak.) It has a Log House, and some small improvements upon it, and is not quite a mile distant from the Rice Lake, and from the Town Plot.—It has also the advantage of being well watered by a Creek that never fails

Price, two dollars per Acre; and terms of payment, One Eighth in the time of entering the Patent, and Seven Years Credit, by annual instalments with interest for the remainder, if desired.—Inquire at the Gazette Office.

TOWN LOTS IN PORT HOPE.

SEVERAL valuable building Lots, in the flourishing village of PORT HOPE, are for Sale, by private Contract, on the most liberal Terms, and on a credit of several Years, provided the first Instalment be paid down. Either Produce or Manual Labour will be received, if desired, in Payment.—For further particulars apply at the U. C. Gazette Office, York, or to Messrs. C. & J. Stowe, Merchants,—Port Hope.
No. 40.—t. f.

FOR SALE.

LOT No. Two, in the First Concession of the Township of York, with the Broken Front, containing about Two Hundred and Forty Acres of Land.

Application to be made to
J. B. MACAULAY
York, 12th June, 1824. 25.—t. f.

NOTICE.

FOR SALE, by private Contracts, the House and Lot lately occupied by Mr. O'Sullivan, Saddler, King's-Street, in the Town of York, the Lot is 26 feet fronting King's-Street, by 112 feet deep.

Also.—A Lot adjoining the above on the West side, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—A Lot adjoining Mr. Duggan's, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—Three Lots on Stuarts Land, each 40, by 60 feet.

Should the above Property and Lots not be sold by Private Contract, the five last described Lots will be sold at Public Sale, on the first day of July ensuing.

Application for Terms of Sale, to be made to
ALEXANDER WOOD, ESQ.
York, 17th March, 1824. t. f.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the County of Prince Edward, in the Midland District, intend Petitioning the Legislature, at the next Session thereof, to have the said County set off, and made into a separate District from the said Midland District, and to be called the District of Maitland. No. 24—6ms.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Inhabitants of the Township of TOWNSEND intend Petitioning both Houses of the Provincial Legislature at its next Session, to pass a Law, Establishing a Line Surveyed in the year 1823, between the 12th and 13th Cons. of the said Township.

TOWNSEND, 20th MAY, 1824. } No. 21—1 m. t. d.

TO BE SOLD,

(And possession given at a short notice.)

THAT ELEGANT, and COMMODIOUS MANSION, Built, and lately occupied, by

A. N. McNABB, ESQUIRE.

Situated in King-Street, East, about half way between the Don Bridge and Town of York.—With a Large GARDEN, Spacious Yard, and every necessary Out-Building,—occupying altogether One Acre of Land.

The House is of Two Stories, besides the Ground Floor, and has the following Rooms and conveniences viz:—A PARLOUR, DRAWING-ROOM, FOUR LODGING ROOMS, and DRESSING ROOM, STUDY, STORE ROOM SERVANTS ROOM, KITCHEN, BACK KITCHEN, CELLAR LOFT, &c. &c. &c. Water is conducted by Pipes into the KITCHEN, where are the necessary Fixtures.

Amongst the Out Offices, are, Stables, Harness Room, Cow House, Coach and Cart House, Bake and Smoke House, &c. &c.

The Garden, which contains more than half an acre of Land, has been lately well stocked with various kinds of valuable Fruit Trees.

For Terms, and further particulars, apply to the U. C. Gazette Office. t. f.

WEEKLY REGISTER.

VOL. III. Our endeavor will be to "stamp the very body of the time—its form and pressure"— we shall extenuate nothing, nor shall we set down aught in malice. No. 53.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 30th, 1824.

Editorial Commentary.

No foreign news of importance this week, other than what is contained under the head of "Foreign Intelligence.

When we first established the "Weekly Register" it was our intention, every week, to give an "Original Communication" written expressly for this work—on the plan which has been adopted with so much success in BELL'S Weekly Messenger, of London—; which should treat of some subject of vital importance, either to the commerce, agriculture, or internal improvement of this country, or on whatever might concern its interests generally. In pursuance of that resolution some fourteen or fifteen papers were published in the first, and in the early part of the second, volume of this work. It is our intention to resume it, and to make the projected improvements on the Don-marsh the subject of our next paper of that class, which shall be published as soon as the reduced number of our advertisements will permit.

SELECTIONS FROM BRITISH AND FOREIGN JOURNALS.

COLONIAL PRESS.—The English Journals are much filled with invective on the attempts made to crush the liberty of the Press in the East Indies, and at the Cape of Good Hope. A Mr BUCKINGHAM seems to be the object of persecution in India, and a Mr. EDWARDS a the Cape. In allusion to the conduct of the India Directors, and their Government, the Times remark "There is nothing more odious than subaltern tyranny. Their is no form of tyranny more dreadful than that which displays itself in a contempt for those rights of property, which opinion, law, and usage, in every other portion of this empire, have all conspired to watch over with peculiar tenderness, and to keep sacred from the most daring assaults of power. But in the present instance it would appear, that vindictive passions have, by some unfortunate concurrence, come in aid of arbitrary principles, and that personal liberty, private property, and the press itself, the natural guardian of both, have been overwhelmed in one common ruin."

But matters are much worse at the Cape, where LORD CHARLES SOMERSET appears to be involved in circumstances, events, and details, of such a nature as must eventually lead to very serious inquiry. We are sorry the statements are so lengthy as to preclude an insertion of even a part of them in this place. But we shall no doubt have them in a more condensed form.

NEW STOCK.—A creation of Stock at 2½ per cent, by funding Exchequer Bills will shortly take place.—The inevitable effect of which will be to advance 3 per cents above par, should the present happy state of peace and prosperity continue.

SINGULAR CASE OF RESUSCITATION.—The following singular occurrence, which happened a few days since in the neighbourhood of Woodford, has excited very considerable sensation there.—Elizabeth Cave, an interesting young woman, about 19 years of age, who lived in the service of——Forest, Esq. a gentleman residing at Woodford, in consequence of getting her feet wet, caught a severe cold, which brought on a fever. She was confined to her bed several days, when to all appearance she died. The next day she was placed in a coffin, and the intelligence of her supposed death conveyed to her mother. From her good con-dent while in the service of Mr. F., that gentleman had resolved to defray the expenses of the funeral, which it was arranged should take place on Sunday last, a week after her supposed death. On that day her mother and several other relatives came to pay the last tribute of respect to her memory; and, previous to the coffin being screwed down, went to take a last "long, long-ring look," when one of them observed, she had not undergone the change usual on such occasions, and that her face appeared rather flushed. A surgeon was sent for, who ordered her to be placed in a warm bath, and applied the remedies usually resorted to to recover persons apparently drowned, and which were happily crowned with complete success, as the young woman in a few hours was able to speak, and is now in a fair way of recovery.—Courier, Oct. 2.

The Odd Family.—In the reign of William the Third of England there lived in Ipswich, in Suffolk a family, which, from the number of peculiarities belonging to it, was distinguished by the name of the Odd Family. Every event remarkable good or bad happened to this family on an odd day of the month, and every one of them had something odd in his or her person, manner, and behaviour: the very letters in their christian names always happened to be an odd number. The husband's name was Peter, and the wife's Rabah; they had seven children, all boys, viz. Solomon Roger, James, Matthew, Jonas, David and Ezekiel. The husband had but one leg, his wife but one arm. Solomon was born blind of the left eye; and Roger lost his right eye by accident; James had his left ear pulled off by a boy in a quarrel, and Mathew was born with only three fingers on his right hand; Jonas had a stump foot, and David was hump backed; all these, except David, were remarkably short, while Ezekiel was six feet two inches high, at the age of nineteen; the stump footed Jonas and the hump backed David got wives of fortune, but no girl would listen to the addresses of the rest. The husband's hair was as black as jet, and the wife's remarkably white, yet every one of the children's were red. The husband had the peculiar misfortune of falling into a deep sawpit, where he was starved to death, in the year 1701, and his wife, refusing all kind of sustenance, died in five days after him. In the year 1705, Ezekiel enlisted as a grenadier, and although he was afterwards wounded in twenty-three places, he recovered.—Roger, James, Matthew, Jonas, and David, died at different places, on the same day, in 1713, and Solomon and Ezekiel were drowned together in crossing the Thames in the year 1725.

"WHA WANT'S JOOSTERCE!"—Thirteen hundred and ninety seven Justices of the Peace were appointed by the Legislature of Vermont at the last session. Justice should run down their streets like a stream!

THE INTERESTING TRAVELLERS.—Messrs. Wortley and Stanley, Members of the British Parliament, arrived at Louisville, Ky. on the 28th ult.

A FEW OF THE AGREABLES IN LONDON!—Mr. Colquhoun, a member of Parliament, estimated that about 11,000 persons were engaged in the plundering of merchandize at the London shows; and that their depredations amounted annually to more than twenty two hundred thousand dollars.

The same gentleman enumerated eighteen kinds of cheats and swindlers, besides gamblers, coiners, robbers, &c.

There are in London, more than 30,000 common prostitutes.

There are supposed to be 3000 receivers of stolen goods; and the amount of property pilfered in the small way from house keepers, is estimated at nearly two million of dollars annually.

Regular markets are held in public and private houses where bankers, pedlers, &c get supplied with counterfeit money, with the advantage of nearly 100 per cent, in their favour.

Robbery and theft are reduced to a regular system. The robbers are often supplied with coaches, to aid them to escape, or cheat the police.

There are many female sharpers, who dress elegantly, personate women of fashion, attend masquerades; and instances have been known, in which they have forced their way into the circles at St. James's. One is said to have appeared in a state of peculiar elegance, on the king's birth day, in 1765, and to have pilfered, in conjunction with her husband, who was dressed as a clergyman, to the amount of 4,500 dollars, without discovery or suspicion. Houses are kept where female cheats, dress and undress, for public places.

There have been, and probably are, schools to teach the art of picking pockets, which was done by means of experimenting on pockets hung up with bells set round, and the pupil graduated, when he could take a purse contained in the pockets without jungling the bells.

LARGE OX.—The wonderful ox, bred and fed by Sir William Maxwell, of Monteith, on his lands in Galloway, was slaughtered at Ayr last week. He exceeded almost every beast of the kind lately reared in Scotland, not only in bulk, but surpassed them likewise in beauty of skin and symmetry of form. Indeed he was considered so singular, that he has been carried through the kingdom in a caravan, and exhibited as a public spectacle, and was well known to the world by the name of "Fat Charley." He was about eight years old when brought to the shambles. The four quarters weighed 150 stone of 16lbs. to the stone, and 16 oz. to the lb. The tallow weighed 23 st. 5 lb. and the hide 7 st. 8 lb. and, exclusive of the offals, the beast weighed 125 st. 13 lb. Through the rib the thickness measured 9½ inches, and the fat alone down the back 4½ inches, and on the back bone five inches.

HANDSOME TRIBUTE.—We are glad to learn (says the Gazette) that a public dinner is to be given to the gallant Capt. Harris, of the British frigate Hussar, as an expression of feeling which has been excited on account of his success against the pirates, the protection of American lives and property, and an acknowledgement of his acceptable deportment during his visit to this city.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.—It will be seen by last night's Gazette, that Parliament was prorogued, at the Cabinet Council held yesterday by His Majesty, at Windsor, from the 4th of November next, to the 6th of January 1825. As the usual announciation of its being then called upon to meet for the despatch of business is not made, a still further prorogation will take place.—London paper Oct. 20.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.—A patent has been granted to Mr. Simeon Broadmeadow, civil engineer, for his important discovery which supercedes the necessity of the retort'd mouth-pieces, hydraulic mains, purifiers and other expensive articles and erections hitherto used. On his plan the gas is generated in a common brick oven, and conveyed through the condenser into the gas holder in its impure state, where, by the introduction of atmospheric air, it is rendered perfectly pure and not to be excelled in quality. The coke thus manufactured is of the best quality, and calculated to cover the expense of the cost and labour.—New York, paper.

THE LONG LOST PEROUSE!—We have been favoured with the following curious extract of a letter from Van Dieman's Land:—Extract of a letter from Mr. Thomas Scott, Deputy Surveyor, Van Dieman's Land, addressed to Mr. James Dixon, Leigh, and dated 1st March, 1824—

"On a small island near to Moroton Bay, by the expedition that went to view the large river lately discovered in New Holland, the wreck of a large vessel supposed to have been lost thirty years ago, was discovered. There is scarcely a doubt but this is the Astrolabe, M. de la Perouse, who sailed from Botany Bay to the north when the colony was first established, and has not since been heard of.—Edinburgh Star.

SIR FREDERICK FALCONER.

SICILY.—Extract of a Letter from Naples, Sept. 16, 1824.—"Sir Frederick Falconer, an Irish gentleman, who has been resident here several years, put a period to his existence, in a melancholy manner on Tuesday last, the 14th instant. Ever since his arrival here, in 18.9 he had been labouring under great pecuniary embarrassments; he had been repeatedly arrested for debts and as frequently, almost immediately, liberated by the kindness and generosity of the English residents with whom he was acquainted. A rapid succession of these circumstances, and his own unpardonable imprudence at length tired even the warmest hearted and the best intentioned of his friends, who, one, by one, had refused to lend him any further assistance. Last week he was on the point of being carried to prison for the paying sum of 56 ducats, and was relieved by a Neapolitan Nobleman, to whom he was already deeply indebted. On Tuesday morning, the Hussiers and the Juge de Paix surprised him in bed, at his lodgings at the Riviera di Chiaja, and presented him a fresh writ for a debt of 600 ducats. He requested them to wait while he dressed. They retired into another room accordingly; and after waiting more than a quarter of an hour, they re-entered his chamber, and found him in bed, with the sheet stained with blood, drawn over his head. They removed it, and found him dead! His throat was dreadfully mangled, he had repeated the stroke three times. The razor with which he had committed the deed lay beside him. The judicial authorities, at the instance of Mr. Hamilton, our Minister, were put under arrest on account of some irregularities, incompatible with our treaty with this country, which they had committed in the arrest. They were, however, admitted to bail, after a day's confinement. The wife of the unfortunate man, Lady Falconer, who is connected with some of the first families of Ireland, has had the most humane attention paid to her."

Expeditious Commerce!—The following is given in the Liverpool Mercury of the 1st October, as an instance of expeditious manufacture. "A mercantile gentleman, who arrived here a week or two ago, from South America, proceeded, the day after landing, to Manchester, where he ordered 800 pieces of calico to be made according to a pattern which he brought with him. He requested that the order might be executed as speedily as possible, that the goods might be forwarded by the first vessel. His directions were so well obeyed, that within a week of the time when the order was given, the calicoes were finished, packed, sent to Liverpool, and stowed on board the vessel. Such are the wonders of commerce!"

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

FRANCE.

We learn that there is now every prospect of a speedy agreement between France and Hayti. One great difficulty in the way of it arose out of the demand of a place of strength in the Island, as a security for the payment of the indemnification to be agreed on. This difficulty has been got rid of by the offer of the Haytien Government to pay the whole sum at once; and we understand that a house in this metropolis has offered to procure the requisite sum for that purpose.

AN UNHEARD OF ATROCITY.

Letters from Angoulême contain the following account of an horrible outrage committed near Confolens:—A young couple who were on the point of being married, went together to invite their relations to the nuptials.—The girl was mounted on her lover's horse, followed by him on foot. On their arrival at a village where the young man wanted to see some person, he left his destined bride to wait his return in the road. Immediately afterwards three ruffians arrived, who after grossly insulting the young girl, obliged her to alight from the horse stripped her naked, committed outrages on her person which decency will not permit us to relate, and threatened to murder her, they then killed the horse, cut open his belly, took out the entrails, and in their place put the unfortunate young woman, sewed up the animal's skin, and made off. Some children who were passing by afterwards heard cries issuing from the bowels of the horse, and immediately ran in great fright to tell their parents that the devil was in a dead horse lying on the road. In the mean time the young man arrived and heard the groans of his expiring mistress. She was dragged out of the horrid situation where the villians had placed her, transported to the nearest barn, where every attention was paid to her. The police set directly about pursuing the horrid monsters who had committed the offence, new in the annals of crime, and were fortunate enough to arrest them. They were recognized by the young woman upon confrontation. The unfortunate victim could not survive the outrages which had been perpetrated upon her, and expired five days afterwards.

We insert the above (almost incredible) horror on the authority of a respectable Correspondent.

Ed. Alorn. Chron.

SUPPLEMENT

TO THE FIFTY THIRD NUMBER OF THE

WEEKLY REGISTER.

VOL. III. THURSDAY, DECEMBER 30th, 1824. No. 53.

CONFLAGRATION OF THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY!

After our present number of the Register was put to press, a fire broke out in the northern wing of the House of Assembly, (between midnight and one o'clock this morning), which burnt with such irresistable fury as to defeat every effort to save that wing, and the main body of the building;—the southern wing was saved by dint of long continued and strenuous exertion, but not without considerable injury being done to it.

As the fire originated in the rooms appropriated to the use of Dr. POWELL, and his Clerks—the whole of his papers are lost; but, the LIBRARY, the FURNITURE, and all the VALUABLES of the centre, or main body, of the building, and of the southern wing are saved. Nevertheless, the total loss and damage, exclusive of what has been destroyed in Dr Powell's suit of apartments, cannot be estimated at less than £2000;—which, in the Present state of the finances, and debt, of the Province, cannot be considered as a trifling affair.—No part of the property was insured—Indeed, one would have thought that if any building was safe, that was, isolated, as it is, and a massive brick building, free from the usual liabilities to danger of this kind.

Along with many other inhabitants, spectators and assistants as we were from the first discovery of this fire, we could not but feel grieved at the want of an able director and efficient gang to work the Engine belonging to this Town; which is a powerful, and a good, one, if in proper repair, and ably managed. But, until there is a properly organised company of Fire-men, it matters little what engine is brought forward.—More than one Captain in a ship never did, and never can, succeed. We have no hesitation in saying that an able director—nay even a man possessed of ordinary common sense with 30 or 40 men under him to obey his orders, might have saved the main body of this edifice, with the greatest ease. As to the difficulties in the way of constituting an efficient body of Firemen, 'tis all fiddle faddle, nothing is more easy. We have never seen that the men of York differ from the rest of their species in one characteristic, at least—to wit—in any lack of self-interest;—play upon that, and the business is done. Borrow as much as is necessary, and no more, from the London institutions of a similar kind, and the scheme becomes feasible. When the Market Square, and all that curious nest of curiously wrought, and curiously fashioned, wooden edifices in its near vicinity, are seen, some stormy winter's evening, wrapped in one universal conflagration, and the business is brought nearer home to men's bosoms and pockets—we guess something efficient will then be done, on the shrewd maxim of honest old Hodge, who very sagaciously placed a double padlock on his stable door, after his horse was stolen!

We mock not, neither do we deride, public nor private calamity; but, we do think, and have always thought, that there is a practised folly on this subject, so inconceivably blind and childish, that we confess our Knowledge of the mother tongue too limited to find language sufficiently strong to designate it.

The whole Province has sustained a loss.—May our Legislators and Police Magistrates benefit by the lesson which has just been so calamitously exhibited.

1825

Upper Canada Gazette.

New Series.

Vol. IV. YORK U. C. THURSDAY, JANUARY 6th, 1825. No. I.

By Authority.

UPPER CANADA.

P. MAITLAND,
Lieut. Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

TO our Beloved and Faithful Legislative Councillors of our Province of Upper Canada; and to our Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses of our said Province, in our Provincial Parliament at our Town of York, on the Second Day of December next, to be Convened, Held, Called and Elected, and to every of you—GREETING:

WHEREAS, by our Proclamation bearing date the Twenty Third Day of October, last, We thought fit to Prorogue our Provincial Parliament to the Second day of December next, at which time at our Town of York, you were held and constrained to appear, NOW KNOW YE, that We, taking into our Royal consideration the ease and convenience of our loving subjects, have thought fit by and with the advice of our Executive Council, to relieve you and each of you of your attendance at the time aforesaid, hereby revoking, and by these presents enjoining you and each of you, that on Tuesday the Eleventh Day of January now next ensuing, you meet Us, in our Provincial Parliament, in our Town of York, FOR THE DESPATCH OF PUBLIC BUSINESS, there to take into consideration the state and welfare of our Province of Upper Canada, and therein to do what may seem necessary, and herein fail not

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces in North America, at York, dated the Twenty Sixth day of November in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign.

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,
JNO. B ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.
D. CAMERON, Secretary.

Upper Canada.

P. MAITLAND,

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come—GREETING:

WHEREAS by Proclamation bearing date the Fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventeen, our trusty and well beloved ERASMUS JAMES Esquire, late our Lieutenant Governor of our Province of Upper Canada, by and with the advice of the Executive Council thereof, and by virtue of the Authority in him vested in that behalf, did declare and appoint the Port of Ernestown, otherwise commonly called the Port of Bath, within the Midland District of this Province, to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for all Goods and Merchandize, not being entirely prohibited and for the payment of all Duties, liable to be paid on all Goods and Merchandize brought into this Province from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS by a certain Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdoms of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the Third Year of our Reign, entitled, "An Act to Regulate the Trade of the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, and for other purposes relating to the said Provinces," it is among other things Enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the Governor Lieutenant Governor, or person Administering the Government of either of our said Provinces respectively, by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council thereof for the time being, from time to time to diminish or increase, by Proclamation, the number of Ports or places, which then were, or thereafter might be, appointed in such Province for the Entry of Goods, Wares, and Commodities, imported from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS it appears expedient for the avoiding expence in the Collection of our Revenue, that the said Port of Ernestown shall no longer be a Port of Entry and Clearance.—NOW KNOW YE, that by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of our Province of Upper Canada, We have thought fit to declare, and do hereby declare, that from and after the date of this our Proclamation, the said Port of Ernestown shall cease to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the purposes aforesaid, and shall be and remain, as if the said Proclamation hereinbefore recited, and appointing the same to be a Port of Entry and Clearance, had never been made.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K.C.B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York this Twentieth day of March in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign. P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,

D. CAMERON, Secretary.

JNO. B ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

Executive Council Office,
York, 7th February, 1821.

WHEREAS it has been represented, that many persons who have received Locations of Land, have, from Sickness, and other legitimate causes, been unable to fulfil the Settlement Duty in the time required by the Location Ticket, and have neglected to apply to His Excellency in Council for an extension of the period, for performance of such duty.

BE it Known that the period for completing the Settlement Duty, is hereby extended to Two Years, from the date of Locations until further notice shall be given.

JOHN SMALL, Clk Ex. Coun.

GLEBES.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in Council, having taken into consideration the system hitherto practised, of Granting Licences of Occupation for GLEBE LANDS, is pleased to Order, that in future the Glebes in the several Townships, with the exception of One Lot in each Township, for the accommodation of the Incumbent, shall be Leased on the same terms as Clergy Reserves

NOTICE is therefore given to those Persons who hold Licences of Occupation for any of the said Glebe Lots, that the same will not be Renewed; and unless they do make application, by Petition, for Leases in the usual manner, through the medium of the Corporation for superintending the Clergy Reserves, before the Twenty-ninth day of September next ensuing, the Lots so held by Licence of Occupation will be Leased to other Applicants.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office,
York, 29th April, 1824. 19-tf.

Executive Council Chamber,
York, 31st January, 1824.

PRESENT,
HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
IN COUNCIL.

HIS Majesty's Government having recently extended their assistance to the class of Emigrants, which it was intended to relieve by gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres of Land, in conveying them to their respective locations:

IT IS ORDERED, that from the first day of May next, no gratuitous Grants be made of any quantity of Land to other than privileged persons.—And that as the Fee on Two Hundred Acres was raised, in order to defray the gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres the consideration failing, the future Fee on Two Hundred Acres is reduced to Eight Pounds Four Shilling, and One Penny Sterling; the existing Fee before 1819, and the Fee on all other Grants, in Townships surveyed since that time, to be the same as established by the Order in Council, of 5th January, 1819.

N. B. Possessors of gratuitous Grants for Fifty Acres, may, by paying the Fee on One Hundred Acres, receive a Grant of the adjoining Fifty Acres if vacant.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Ex'v. Council.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL CHAMBER,
AT YORK, 28th JAN. 1824.
PRESENT:
HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
In Council.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR submitted to the consideration of the Board, the Sheriffs' Reports of their respective Gaols, together with other Documents relating to a Winter Circuit, by which it appeared that the House of Assembly had addressed His Excellency to that effect, for this Session only; and obviously for the Delivery of the Gaols in the several Districts.

THE limitation of such a measure to one season seeming to obliviate with the Provision of the Law, that under the Commission from the Seat of Government admitted, and the circumstances of the Province so required, there should be a regular Second Circuit, the Board would prefer to recommend that Special Commissions to deliver particular Gaols should issue where requisite; but, as the respective Reports from the Sheriffs do not, in the opinion of His Excellency, with advice of Council, postpone a Second Circuit until the circumstances of the Province more decidedly require it

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Executive Council.

WHEREAS by the Tenor of the Location Tickets a Certificate is required to be lodged of the Settlement Duty being done within two Years, or that the said Location should be forfeited, and in case of Locations not gratuitous, that one third of the Patent Fee be lodged with such Certificate; AND WHEREAS it is represented, that in many instances, Certificates of performance of the Settlement Duty, have been withheld from the inability of the settler to deposit such proportion of the Patent Fee, it is deemed expedient to relieve the settler from forfeiture of his location, when he may actually have performed his settlement duty—Notice is hereby given that in all cases where Settlement Duty has been performed within the limited period, the settler shall, on filing Certificate thereof within six Months of this date, be exempted from forfeiture notwithstanding the non-payment therewith of such portion of the Patent Fee, provided the Patent is sued out within One Year from the filing of such Certificate.

And further; His Excellency, in the hope of avoiding the necessity of rescinding any of the Militia grants, is pleased to direct this Public Notification; that all Lands granted to Militia Men, upon which the Settlement Duties shall not have been performed within the limited period, will in pursuance of general instructions given to the Surveyor General in all similar cases, be declared vacant, and will be granted within Six Months after the expiration of that period, to the first applicant, unless the Original Nominee, shall before such subsequent application, have lodged a Certificate of his having performed the Settling Duties.

JOHN SMALL, Clk. Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office,
York, 7th Nov. 1821.

WHEREAS it has become expedient to establish a line of communication through certain remote Townships, for encouragement thereof, Grants will be made to actual Settlers in the Townships hereinafter named on the condition of Settling within two years from the date of the Location, at the reduced Scale of 5th January, 1819, viz.

A Township North of Mariposa, advertised from the Surveyor General's Office on the 19th of October, as

	Zeta, to be called	Eldon
N. of Eps		Fenelon
N. of Emily advertised as	Emily	Verulam
N. of Smith	Lake	Harvey
E. of do.		Douro
N. of Asphodel	Alma	Dummer
N. of Seymour	Mora	Belmont
N. of Dummer	Yea	Burleigh
N. of Marmora	Nina	Lake
N. of Madoc		Tudor
N. of Elzevier	No	Grimsthorpe
N. of Kalader	Aye	Angleses
N. of Kennebec	Jus	Barrie
N. of Norma	Odes	Clarendon
N. of Oso		Palmerston
N. of Belmont	Carlos	Methuen

JOHN SMALL, C. E. C.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

DISTRICT OF JOHNSTOWN } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, of our Sovereign Lord the King, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Abathar Boyce in favour of James E. Campbell, I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said Abathar Boyce Lot number Four, in the Ninth Concession of the Townships of Bastard, containing Two Hundred Acres, be the same more or less, which I shall expose for Sale at the Court House in Brockville, on Saturday the 10th day of March next, at the hour of eleven of the clock in the forenoon.

JOHN STUART.
Sheriff.
District of Johnstown.

Brockville Dec. 10th, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having anyclaim on the above property by morigage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

52—6w. JOHN STUART.

SHERIFF'S SALE

DISTRICT OF JOHNSTOWN } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, of our Sovereign Lord the King, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at York, and to me directed against the Lands and Tenements of George Richard Ferguson, in favour of Peter Mc Dougall, I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said George Richard Ferguson Lots number 8 and 10, in the Fifth Concession of the Township of Ritley, containing Two Hundred Acres, each, be the same more or less, which I shall expose for Sale at the Court House in Brockville, on Saturday the twelfth day of March next, at the hour of eleven of the clock in the forenoon.

JOHN STUART
Sheriff.
District of Johnstown.

Brockville Dec. 10th, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above Property by Mortgage, or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me on or before the day of Sale.

52—6w. JOHN STUART.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

DISTRICT OF JOHNSTOWN } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, of our Sovereign Lord the King, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Jonathan Buell, in favour of Elnathan Hubbell I have taken in Execution Seventeen Acres of Land as belonging to the said Jonathan Buell, being part of Lot number thirteen, in the first Concession of the Township of Elizabethtown, which I shall expose for Sale at the Court House in Brockville, on Thursday the twentieth day of January next, at the hour of eleven of the clock in the forenoon

JOHN STUART.
Sheriff.
District of Johnstown.

Brockville Dec. 10th, 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any Claim on the above Property, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my office previous to the day of sale

JOHN STUART.

52—6w.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Newcastle District, to wit. } BY virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of his Majesty's Court of Kings Bench, and to the Sheriff of the Newcastle District directed, against the Lands and Tenements of David McGregor Rogers Esq. at the suit of John Strachan, Thomas A. Dobbs, and Thomas H. Cartwright, Executors of the late Richard Cartwright, Esq. I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said David McGregor Rogers the following Lands, viz.

S. half of Lot No. 3 Broken Front, A. } 330 Acres.
Lot No. 3 do. do. B.
Lot No. 3 do. do. C.
Lot No. 13 2 Concession, 200 do.
Lot No. 26 3 do 200 do.

of the Township of Haldimand, in the county of Northumberland, which Property I shall offer for sale at Public Auction, at the Inn now occupied by Mr. N. W. Mack, in the village of Cobourg, on the ninth day of February next at 12 o'clock, at noon.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.

By EBENEZER PERRY, D'y Sheriff

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above described Property, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to the Subscriber, on or before the day of Sale.

NOTE.—The sale of the above Lots, No. 3, Concession A., B. and C., 330 Acres, is postponed until 11th day of January next (1825) at the same place and at 6 o'clock in the Evening.

JOHN SPENCER, Sheriff.
BY EBENEZER PERRY, D'y. Sheriff.
Sheriff's Office, Cobourg, 47—td.
November 3d, 1824.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit. } ON Saturday, the 5th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Peter Grant, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Jerry Whitehead, viz.

The easterly half of Lot No. 10, in the First Concession of the Township of Thurlow, containing 100 acres more or less.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1824

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, To Wit } ON Saturday the 5th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Zachariah Simmons, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Thomas Parker, viz.

Part of Lot No. 16, in the First Concession of the Township of Sidney, containing three acres and thirty one perches.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, } ON Saturday the 12th day of
To Wit. } March, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Theophilus Lockwood, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Thomas Parker, viz.

Part of the east half of Lot No. 22, in the Third Concession of the Township of Sidney, in the County of Hastings, containing 191 acres.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
October, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, } ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb.
To WIT } 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands, as belonging to Lewis Dayl, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Alexander Simpson, viz.

The rear two-fifths of Lot No. 15, containing 80 acres, and the north or rear two fifths of the westerl quarter of Lot No. 16, in the Fourth Concession of the Township of Kingston, containing 20 acres, and the south easterly quarter of the west half of Lot No. One, in the Second Concession, of the Township of Kingston, containing 25 acres.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Lands, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, } ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb
To Wit. } 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Lewis Rosebush, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Duncan McDonell, viz.

A part of Lot No. 18, in the Second Concession of the Township of Rawdon, containing 70 acres of Land, described as follows, viz. commencing at the south-west angle of the said Lot in front, where a post has been planted, thence running north sixteen degrees west forty-nine chains and forty links, then south seventy-four degrees north fifteen chains to the centre of the said Lot, thence south, sixteen degrees east, to the allowance for road in front of the said Concession, thence west seventy four degrees south fifteen chains to the place of beginning

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1 24.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above land, or any part therent, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT } ON Saturday the 19th of
TO WIT } February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Daniel Lyons, seized by virtue of an Execution, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of the Hon. G. H. Markland, and John Kirby, Esq Executors to the estate of the late Lawrence Herchimer, viz:—

Lot No. 25 in the 7th Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN
Sheriff, M, D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
18th October, 1824. No. 46,—t. d

N. B All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District To Wit. } ON Tuesday the 18th day of January 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands and Tenements, as belonging to William Parkins, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Charles Bowman, viz:—

Lot No. 6 in the 3d Concession of the Township of Loughborough, containing 200 Acres; also Town Lot No. 260 in the Town of Kingston, with a large two story Frame House erected thereon.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office Kingston,
October 18th, 1824.

N. B. All Persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale 45—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT } ON Saturday the 11th of
TO WIT. } February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Solomon Urser, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Allan McLean, Esq. viz:—

The front part of Lot No. 18, in the 2d Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
18th October, 1824

N. B All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District } ON Tuesday the 18th day of
To Wit. } January, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Silas Ormsby, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of D'Arcy Boulton, Esq. viz:—

The East half of Lot No. 2 in the 12th Concession of the Township of Huntingdon, in the County of Hastings, containing 100 Acres more or less.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
October 18th, 1824.

N B. All Persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 45—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District } BY virtue of a writ of fieri facias,
to wit. } issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of William Pheonix, in favour of Ralph Leeming and James Hamilton, I have seized and taken in execution, North half of Lot No Ten in the First Con. of the Township of Trafalgar, North side of Dundas Street, containing one Hundred Acres, on which are some improvements, and the Lot is beautifully situated, and which I shall offer for Sale on Saturday the Fourth Day of December next, at one o'clock P. M. at Mr. Carpenter's Inn, near the Premises, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for Cash only.

TITUS G. SIMONS
Late Sheriff, G. D.

late Sheriff's Office,
24th Sept. 2824

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above described property, or upon any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale.

T. G SIMONS,
Late Sheriff, G. D.

☞ The above Sale is postponed until Monday the Seventh day of March next, at the same hour and place.

T. G SIMONS
Late Sheriff G. D.

Late Sheriff's Office,
6th Dec. 1824 No. 53—td.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District } BY virtue of a writ of fieri facias,
to wit. } issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Abraham R. Smith, at the Suit of Robert Gillespie, Esquire, I have seized and taken in execution Lots No. Eleven, in the First Range, and Twenty-two in the Second Range, in the Town of Hamilton, and in the Township of Barton, situate on the North side of the Road leading from Dundas to Niagara, each Lot contains One Fourth of an Acre. the Former is erected a Beautiful Two Story House, well finished, and fit for any Gentleman's residence all this valuable Property. I shall offer for sale on Monday the Sixth Day of December next, at 10 o'clock, A. M. and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for Cash only.

TITUS G. SIMONS,
Late Sheriff, G. D.

Late Sheriff's Office,
24th Sept. 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any claim on the above described Property by Mortgage or other wise, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office, on or before the Day of Sale.

T. G SIMONS,
Late Sheriff, G. D.

☞ The above Sale is postponed until Monday the Seventh day of march next, at the same hour, at the Court House in the said Town of Hamilton.

TITUS G. SIMONS,
Late Sheriff G. D.

Late Sheriff's Office,
6th Dec. 1824. No. 53—td.

NOT OFFICIAL.

BANK OF UPPER CANADA.

NOTICE TO STOCKHOLDERS.

THE STOCK and TRANSFER BOOKS will be closed from this day until Wednesday the 12th January, next; and a semi annual Dividend of Four per cent will be payable at the Bank on and after Wednesday the 26th of that month on the Capital paid in.

(Signed) THO'S. G. RIDOUT,
Cashier.

Bank of Upper Canada,
York Dec 29th 1824 No. 1—4in.

FIRE INSURANCE.

THE Sun Insurance Company of New York, having appointed George Crookshank, Esquire, their Agent in Upper Canada—he is ready to insure against Loss or Damage by Fire, on Dwelling Houses, Stores, Merchandise, House hold. Furniture, and other Personal Property; at moderate Rates of Premium.— Persons wishing to insure must send a plan of their Buildings, when wanted out of the Town of York, a respectable reference will be required, and Letters Post Paid —Application to be made to

R. W. PRENTICE.

York, 28th Sept. 1824. No. 39—tf.

FRONTENAC STEAMBOAT.

IMPORTANT SALE.

ON MONDAY, the tenth day of January, 1825 at the hour of twelve o'clock at noon, at the Government wharf in Kingston, will be sold by Public Auction, to the highest bidder, without reserve — THE STEAM VESSEL FRONTENAC of 700 Tons burthen, with an Engine of 50 Horse Power (Bolton & Watt's) together with Anchors, Cables, Sails, Rigging, Cabin furniture, &c. &c. &c.

(Signed) D JOHN SMITH,
Treasurer.

Kingston, 6th Dec. 1824. 51—td.

WELLAND CANAL.

At a Meeting of the Inhabitants of the town of Niagara, held at Brown's Mansion House Hotel, on Wednesday evening the 24th November, 1824, pursuant to Public Notice, Mr. Holme was appointed Chairman, and Mr. Breakenridge, Secretary.

George Keefer, Esq. President, and Thomas Butler, Esq. one of the Directors of the Welland Canal Company, were present, and communicated to the Meeting very important information as to what has already been done by the present Board of Directors.

Whereupon it was Resolved,

That the spirited co-operation of the Stock of the Welland Canal Company has, with great liberality, been subscribed in Lower Canada, and the City of New York, by Gentlemen unacquainted with the localities of the proposed routes, and who, therefore, must depend in a great measure upon information obtained from this Province, in making up their minds as to the most advantageous place for the termination of the said Canal. Therefore, it is due to them, as well as to the interests of the country at large, to give such information on that subject before the election of Directors in April next, as this Meeting can procure and furnish, and as will enable them so to dispose of their votes for Directors for another year, as totally to defeat mere Sectional interests, and the objects of individual speculators.

Resolved secondly,

That to carry into effect the foregoing Resolution, a Committee be formed, consisting of the following Gentlemen, viz:—

Mr. Holme,	Mr. Ross,
Mr. Breakenridge,	Mr. Jones,
Mr. R. M. Chrysler,	Mr. Millar,
Mr. John Crooks,	Mr. Clement,
Mr. Mc Bride,	Mr. R. Starkwather,
Mr. Tannahill,	Mr. James Wilson,
Mr. Heron,	Mr. Long,
Mr. Butler,	Mr. A. Chrysler,
Mr. Keefer,	Mr. Fitzgerald,
Mr. Daily,	Mr. Stewart,
Mr. King,	Mr. Peter T. Pawling,
Mr Mc Dougall,

Resolved thirdly,

That the thanks of this Meeting are due to George Keefer, Esquire, President for this year, of the Welland Canal Company, and Thomas Butler, Esquire, one of the Directors, for the information they have so obligingly furnished as to what has already been done, and what are their views regarding the interests of the Company and the Community in future.

(Signed) J. HOLME, Chairman.

J. BREAKENRIDGE, Secretary.

At a Meeting of the General Committee held on the 8th of December, 1824, for the purpose of conferring with Mr. Hall, an experienced Engineer, already employed by the Welland Canal Company, and in constructing the Canal at Burlington Outlet, and the Monument at Queenston Heights—he was requested,

First.—To give a comparative and general view of the two proposed routes of the Welland Canal, the one terminating in the harbour at Niagara, and the other, at the Mouth of the Twelve Mile Creek, with a probable estimate of each.

Secondly.—To state what description of harbour at the Mouth of the Twelve Mile Creek was contemplated in his Estimate furnished by request of the Board of Directors, and what kind of vessels could be admitted into it.

Thirdly.—What additional expense would be necessarily incurred in erecting a pier and break-water at the Mouth of the Twelve Mile Creek, sufficient to protect such vessels as navigate Lake Ontario.

Fourthly.—How far it was intended, in his Report to the Board of Directors, to adhere to the Channel of the Twelve Mile Creek; and if it is advantageous to make use of a natural stream in preference to a cut?

Fifthly.—Could Mill Seats be obtained at the termination of the Canal in the harbour of Niagara, by making a suitable reservoir?

Sixthly.—What would be the probable effects of the ice upon the artificial works, which must necessarily be erected in the bed of the Twelve Mile Creek and at its mouth, provided that the route should be adopted?

Seventhly.—Mr. Hall is requested to give his candid opinion, as an Engineer, on the comparative advantages and disadvantages of the two routes.

At another Meeting of the General Committee, held on Friday evening, the 10th December, 1824, to receive and take into consideration Mr. Hall's Report, and Answers to the preceding Queries (they being received and read,) were unanimously concurred in and ordered to be printed; and are as follows:—

Queenston, 10th Dec. 1824.

Gentlemen,

In compliance with your request, I have considered the Queries submitted, and beg leave to offer the following replies:—

Query 1.—That the comparative merit of these lines may be more fully understood, I have enclosed separate descriptions of each route; also, detailed copies of both Estimates.

The expense of the Niagara Line, from the Chippawa River, including ten per cent, for contingencies, is, £45,365 9s. 3½d. Halifax Currency.

The expense from the Chippawa to Ontario, by the Valley of the Twelve Mile Creek, is £42,616 7s 0d. Halifax Currency Extreme length from the Chippawa to Niagara River, is 20 miles 154 yards.

Extreme length from the Chippawa to Ontario, by the Valley of the Twelve Mile Creek, is, 21¼ miles.

General descent from the Chippawa to Ontario is 330 feet.

The accompanying Estimates being founded upon a similar principle, bear a correct comparison with each other.

Query 2d.—It will be observed by the description, that upon raising an embankment of 3½ feet, across the Beach, sufficient depth of water will be obtained in the Twelve Mile pond to admit vessels drawing from six to seven feet water.

Query 3d.—The Estimate for making a cut and pier at the Outlet of the Twelve Mile Creek, was intended to admit vessels of a moderate draught of water. No protection from the Lake winds whatever was then contemplated.

But we may conclude from a similarity between Burlington Outlet and that of the Twelve, that a sum not exceeding £7,000 would be adequate to afford permanent protection for vessels navigating Lake Ontario.

Query 4th.—The Canal line by the Valley of the Twelve, adheres to the Channel of the Creek with slight deviations for a distance of fourteen miles.

The nature of the adjoining banks render it inexpedient to proceed upon any level superior to the bed of this stream.

The comparative advantages between a natural stream and an artificial Canal, where Lockage is indispensable, appears so obviously in favour of the latter that I conceive it unnecessary to occupy your time further than stating one instance in point.

In the County of Norfolk, between Ipswich and Needham Market, a Canal has been formed by adhering to a stream peculiarly adapted to improvement by lockage, after several years' experience, the Directors have abandoned this river, and are now making an artificial and parallel Canal.

Query 5th.—An affirmative reply to this query will depend in a great measure, upon the trade and extent of the Canal Pond at the Plains of Niagara—by encreasing the general dimensions of the Canal at this place, a considerable supply of water may be obtained, with a head of forty feet to Ontario—this supply may be diverted by side cuts from one series of machinery to another.

Query 6th.—Upon an artificial Canal, the effects of ice can be guarded against, by having the regulation of water supplies under control, the contrary is the case with natural streams, where an accumulation of water and ice, in most cases, cannot be prevented. There fore, a greater proportional injury will always be sustained by artificial works connected with a natural stream.

Query 7th.—By an inspection of the documents enclosed, it will appear, that no material difference occurs as to distance or expense by adhering to either line of Canal.

The Line by the Valley of the Twelve, will in execution be the least expensive. That at Niagara, will be more permanent, and subject the Stockholders to less annual repairs.

These considerations, combined with the favourable termination of the Niagara line, as to secure and commodious Harbours already provided, have great weight with me in giving this Route a decided preference.

I am, Gentlemen, very respectfully,
Your Ob'd't. Serv't
(Signed) FRANCIS HALL.

It was then Resolved,

That the following extract from Mr. Hall's Report to the President and Directors of the Welland Canal Company of the 7th August last, on that part of the Niagara Line, from the termination of the summit level at Lock No. 1, to the Harbour at Niagara, and the Report of Nathan S. Roberts, Esq. (an Engineer of much experience on the Western Section of the Erie Canal,) on the same, dates 20th August last, at St Catherines, be printed with the foregoing proceedings and documents, and circulated with them as generally as possible.

Extract from Mr. Hall's Report:—

"According to the subjoined descriptions of the routes from the summit level to Lake Ontario, at the Niagara River, and by the Valley of the Twelve Mile Creek, it would appear that nothing of an unfavourable nature occurs by adhering to either direction; the descent of the mountain by both lines is uncommonly favourable, and the soil generally well adapted to Canal operations.

"The mountain descent, by either line, will afford peculiar advantages for hydraulic operations, not only in the immediate vicinity of the Canal line, but by Feeders carried to a great distance. The main Feeder from the Chippawa being inexhaustable, machinery to any extent, and capital to any amount may be constantly employed."

Extract from Mr. Robert's Report from Lock No. 1 to Niagara:—

"This line presents unusual facilities for constructing a Canal, but, from its requiring to be wholly excavated with a very small share of embankment, will necessarily cost a considerable sum more for its completion than the other route; but, when completed, will be a far more elegant Canal, and less liable to be impaired by spring floods and freshets, to which the bed of every stream is liable

And it was further Resolved,

That,

John Holme,
Thomas Butler, and } Esquires,
John Breakenridge,

Be appointed a Committee of Correspondence, to transmit the General Resolutions of the 24th November, and the proceedings of this Meeting to the Stockholders in Lower Canada and the United States.

Recapitulation of Mr. Hall's Estimate.

Estimate by the Valley of the Twelve Mile Creek, without any Break-water to protect Vessels from Lake winds.	£42,616 7 0
Estimate to erect a Pier and Break-water, to protect Vessels navigating the Lake.	7,000 0 0
	£49 616 7 0
Estimate to the Harbour at Niagara,.....	£45,368 9 3
Difference,.....	£4,247 17 9

FOR SALE.

A Set of Superb, London-made, Crimson Morees Curtains, for Three Windows, with festoons, bindings, fringe, &c. &c. &c made very full; and in the newest fashion. The very lowest price is £63.—The cost in London was much higher, and they are quite new.—Inquire of Messrs. M. & R. Meighan. Market Square, York, 9th Dec. 50—tf.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Is hereby given, that Application will be made at the next Session of the Provincial Parliament, for an Act to establish Dundas Street as the division of the Townships of Ancaster and Flamborough West, in the District of Gore, from the Village of Coots Paradise, in Lot No. 53, 1st Con. of Ancaster, to the Marsh lying to the Eastward thereof, commonly called, Coots Paradise.—

Dundas, 2d. December, 1824. No 50.—6 w.

ALBION NEWSPAPER.

A Gentleman wishing to complete a File of the Albion Newspaper is in want of the following Numbers, for which he will gladly pay a fair compensation.

Volume 1 ——Nos. 4 & 18.
" 2.——Nos. 19, & 21,
" 3 ——Nos. 4 & 7.

Apply at the U. C. Gazette Office.
No. 49.—t. f.

GRAIN.

The Subscribers will purchase Wheat, Rye, and Indian Corn, at the highest market prices, for which they will pay one half Cash, and the remainder in Goods at Cash prices.

ASHES

Taken as usual, at their Potash Manufactory, near the Don Bridge.

They have lately received a well selected assortment of Goods, which will be sold low for cash or country produce.

(Signed) WOOD & ANDERSON.
York Dec. 16th, 1824. 52—6w.

NOTICE.

St, Catherines, 20th November, 1824.

Public Notice is hereby given, that pursuant to a Resolution of the President and Directors of the Welland Canal Company, held 15th ult, an Instalment of 2½ Per Cent upon the Capital Stock Subscribed is required to be paid into the Treasurer at this place, on or before the 1st January, next, as provided by the 26 clause of the Act of Incorporation.

By Order
GEORGE KEEFER, Jun.
Secretary.

N, B, Subscribers will pay their instalments to the Agents in the different Districts, who will remit the same,
December 2d, 1824, No, 49,—t, f,

FOR SALE.

A Farm on Yonge Street, Lot No. 32 in Markham, One Hundred and Ninety Acres, of which ninety Acres are under cultivation with a Frame House and Barn on the same, a stream of water runs across the Lot, and Purdy's Saw and Grist Mills are on the Lot opposite to the same.—Terms of payment will be made easy.—Application to be made to,

GEORGE CROOKSHANK.
York, 17th Oct. 1824.

N. B. Should the above mentioned Farm not be sold by the 1st March next, it will then be leased. 43—tf.

NOTICE

Is hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the County of Dundas, intend presenting a Petition to the Legislature at its next Session, for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Dundas, and the Town of Cornwall alternately.

Also to have the Concession line between the fourth and fifth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg in the Eastern District, to have the said line run upon the true course of No. 66 E and completed.

And also the side lines in the said fourth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg aforesaid, to have the said side lines to run upon the original course No. 24 W. 43—6w.

LAND IN PERCY.

A very valuable Lot of Land, consisting of 200 Acres, being No. 7 in the 2nd Concession of the Township of Percy, in the Newcastle District, and not far from the River Trent, in the midst of a good settlement may be had for 2$ per Acre, with an indisputable title, and immediate possession.—Inquire at the U. C. Gazette Office. 43—tf.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

The Inhabitants of the First Concession of Southwest at of Green Point—by reason of the material damage they have sustained these number of years back, on account of the erroneous original Survey of the Second Concession Line. Are determined to petition the Legislature of this Province at the ensuing Session of Parliament for the alteration of the said Line, and to settle all the differences relating thereunto.

Sophiasburgh, Oct 7th, 1824. } No. 44—6 m.

NOTICE

Is hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the Eastern District will at the next Session of the Legislature make application to be authorised to effect a Loan to enable them to erect a Gaol and Court House in the Town of Cornwall. 37—6m.

NOTICE.

An application will be made to the Legislature at its next Session for an Act imposing a Tax on Dogs in the Town of York and its vicinity, the proceeds of which to be applicable to the police purposes.

By Order of the Magistrates in Adjourned General Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the Home District assembled on the 6th day of Sept. 1824.

(Signed,) S. HEWARD.
Clk. Peace Home District.

NOTICE

Is hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the County of Glengary intend presenting a Petition to the Legislature at its next Session for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Glengary and the Town of Cornwall alternately. 37—6m.

NOTICE.

All Persons indebted to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire, of Stamford, are requested to make immediate payment to the Subscriber at Vittoria, London District, and those having claims on the Estate, will be pleased to furnish him with their respective Accounts properly authenticated.

(Signed) WALTER NICHOL,
Administrator to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire.
Niagara, 29th May, 1824.

VALUABLE LAND IN OTONIBEE,

FOR SALE ON A CREDIT OF YEARS.

One of the most valuable Lots in the beautiful Township of Otonibee on the Rice Lake, consisting of two Hundred Acres, being Lot No. 10, in the Ninth Con. The quality of the Land is first rate, (Maple, Beech, Bass, Elm, and Oak.) It has a Log House, and some small improvements upon it, and is not quite a mile distant from the Rice Lake, and from the Town Plot.—It has also the advantage of being well watered by a Creek that never fails

Price, two dollars per Acre; and terms of payment, One Eighth at the time of concluding the bargain, and Seven Years Credit, by annual instalments, with interest for the remainder, if desired.—Inquire at the Gazette Office.

TOWN LOTS IN PORT HOPE.

Several valuable building Lots, in the flourishing village of Port Hope, are for Sale, by private Contract, on the most liberal Terms, and on a credit of several Years, provided the first Instalment be paid down. Either Produce or Manual Labour will be received, if desired, in Payment.—For further particulars apply at the U. C. Gazette Office, York, or to Messrs. C. & J. Stowe, Merchants,—Port Hope.
No. 40.—t. f.

FOR SALE.

Lot No. Two, in the First Concession of the Township of York, with the Broken Front, containing about Two Hundred and Forty Acres more or less.

Application to be made to
J. B. MACAULAY
York, 12th June, 1824. 25—t. f.

NOTICE.

For Sale, by private Contracts, the House and Lot lately occupied by Mr. O'Sullivan, Saddler, King's-Street, in the Town of York, the Lot is 26 feet fronting King's-Street, by 112 feet deep.

Also.—A Lot adjoining the above on the West side, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—A Lot adjoining Mr. Duggan's, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—Three Lots on Stuarts Land, each 40, by 60 feet.

Should the above Property and Lots not be sold by Private Contract, the five last described Lots will be sold at Public Sale, on the first day of July ensuing.

Application for Terms of Sale, to be made to
ALEXANDER WOOD, ESQ.
York, 17th March, 1824. t. f.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

The Inhabitants of the County of Prince Edward, in the Midland District, intend Petitioning the Legislature, at the next Session thereof, to have the said County sett off, and made into a separate District from the said Midland District, and to be called the District of Maitland. No. 24—6m.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Is hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the Township of Townsend intend Petitioning both Houses of the Provincial Legislature at its next Session, to pass a Law, Establishing a Line Surveyed in the year 1823, between the 12th and 13th Cons. of the said Township.

Townsend, 20th May, 1824. } No. 21—1 m. t. d.

TO BE SOLD,

(And possession given at a short notice.)

That Elegant, and Commodious Mansion, Built, and lately occupied, by

A. N. McNABB, ESQUIRE.

Situated in King-Street, East, about half way between the Don Bridge and Town of York.—With a Large Garden, Spacious Yard, and every necessary Out-Building,—occupying altogether One Acre of Land.

The House is of Two Stories, besides the Ground Floor, and has the following Rooms and conveniences, viz:—A Parlour, Drawing-Room, Four Lodging Rooms, and Dressing Room, Study, Store Room Servants Room, Kitchen, Back Kitchen, Cellar Lofty, &c. &c. &c. Water is conducted by Pipes into the Kitchen, where are the necessary Fixtures.

Amongst the Out Offices, are, Stables, Harness Room, Cow House, Coach and Cart House, Bake and Smoke House, &c. &c.

The Garden, which contains more than half an acre of Land, has been lately well stocked with various kinds of valuable Fruit Trees.

For Terms and further particulars, apply to the U. C. Gazette Office. t. f.

WEEKLY REGISTER.

Vol. IV. Our endeavor will be to "stamp the very body of the time—its form and pressure"—as shall exterminate nothing, nor shall we sit down aught in malice. No. 1.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 6th, 1825.

Editorial Commentary.

THE 6th of January, and still no snow,—and but little frost; a fine, delightful, open season, where are the seven months of winter of the declaimers against our climate? In a little more than two months from this time, in all probability, our winter's snow will be finally melting away—and yet we are said to endure the hardships and severity of at least a six months winter! Hitherto, during the present season, there has not been a single day in which a labouring man could not perform his out-door work.

We have to congratulate the Public on a material improvement in the Population Returns for this Province since last year. From the official documents kindly lent to us, and now upon our table, for the purpose of completing that department of the "ROYAL CALENDAR OR UPPER CANADA" for 1825; and, through the operation of the Census Act passed the last Session of Parliament, and a greater attention and accuracy in making the returns, (for we cannot suppose so great an increase from emigration, and the ordinary operation of the population principle a-lone) we have an actual increase of TWENTY-ONE THOUSAND AND TWENTY-SEVEN SOULS over and above the numbers officially returned last year!—This is glorious news, and proves, as we would humbly hope, that the blessing of the MOST HIGH is with us, and our country.

The new Theatre, under the management of Mr. TALBOT, was opened on Monday night with BICKERSTAFF'S Comedy of the Romp, and the Farce of the Village Lawyer. Mr. TALBOT deserves great credit, not only for the manner in which he has fitted up the Theatre itself, which is commodious and well arranged, but, for the assiduity and judgement with which he has, in so short a time, got together so respectable a Company of Performers.—Although Mrs. TALBOT must still be the chief attraction.—Mrs. FOX ans cannot fail to draw many admirers by her singing and dancing.—Mr. FORBES displayed a good deal of talent as Old Barnaby in the play, and as Scout in the Farce. He is clearly above mediocrity; but as it is evident he has been accustomed to perform in larger Theatres, we would recommend him to moderate the tones of his voice on this stage; particularly as the room where he has now to perform, has a canopied ceiling which reverberates the sound upon the audience in a powerful manner; Mr. PEMBERTON was an excellent Sheep face; though a little too merry on the subject of hanging, which is generally considered rather a serious business—particularly to the person upon whom the experiment is about to be tried!—

WE had the good fortune, some five and twenty years ago at Old Drury, to witness the attitudes and never-to-be-forgotten phiz of the original Sheep-face, he for whom the part was first written, the inimitable DICK SUETT, and we can assure Mr. PEMBERTON that HE looked much more like a sheep than a man—when hanging was talked of—DICK had as little of the immortal spark in the lengthened white of his narrow visage—as he had c-self to his legs—when we beheld the remnant of his days, yet was he most intimable, and could more than any man we ever saw, (as SHARE PEARE has it,) "out-face a man as it were with no face."—Our limits forbid us to say more.

BEFORE we close this commentary we cannot help expressing our sorrow that no more than Five, out of Eleven, Returns from the several Districts, of Assessments of Rateable Property, for 1824, have yet been made; for which cause our Statistical Tables for 1825 will necessarily be very imperfect. The Districts returned, are, the Home, Newcastle, Ottawa, Johnstown, and the Western—six remain behind!!

Mr. Fauntleroy has been tried and sentenced to death. We do not learn whether any defence was attempted.

SELECTIONS FROM BRITISH AND FOREIGN JOURNALS.

GEORGE IV.—His Majesty with a feeling that does him the highest honour as a man and a sovereign, has conferred a pension from his own private purse, on the widow of his old friend Mr. Fox, whose circumstances were stated to be unequal to the comforts to which she was entitled. Never was a mark of royal kindness better judged.

ARRIVAL OF THE COLUMBUS.

A London paper of October 28, says—We learn from Deal that the timber ship Columbus, from Quebec, arrived yesterday afternoon in the Downs, and cast anchor near the Grand Ship Ramilies; notwithstanding this man of war is of the first class, she appears no larger than a canal boat, alongside this Leviathan of the New World. At the moment that the Columbus appeared in sight, she appeared like a floating Island, and her masts like Church steeples. She is to be towed to Deptford by Steam Boats, to be discharged.

A CHARMING EXCURSION.—A subscription is about to be opened in England, to form a company of 30 ladies and gentlemen, to proceed in a packet to visit the coasts of the Mediterranean, the Isles of Greece, Asia Minor, Syria, Egypt, and the Black Sea. The vessel is to be equipped with elegance and provided with every thing which can contribute to the pleasure of the passengers. The expedition will occupy three years, and the expense will be £800 sterling each passenger.

ST. VINCENT, October 16.

Assassination of Major Champion!—It is our painful duty to record in this day's Gazette, the melancholy death of Major Champion, 21st Royal North British Fuziliers, commanding the troops in this garrison.

On returning to the Fort on Wednesday evening last, at about 7, P. M. he was shot by the centry posted at the drawbridge, and expired before ten on the same evening.

The wretch who committed this diabolical actis now given over to the civil authority, and as this is a second in-stance of a similar nature, which he has endeavoured (though in the first instance happily unsuccessfully) to perpetrate, it is hoped that he will soon meet with that fate which he so richly deserves.

Use of Alum in London!—Upon a moderate calculation, upwards of seven hundred thousand pounds of alum are used annually by the London bakers.

Loss of a French Frigate.—A Letter from Antigua of the 25th September, states that a French Frigate was lost at Guadaloupe about the 20th of that month, and that not one of the crew was saved.

Conscience.—A Taylor, an Englishman, in New York, has given to the police office in that city, £50, sterling, being the amount of property he had defrauded a person of in London, and which his conscience compelled him to refund. The money has been lodged with the British consul.

Civilization of the Indians.—The Creek Indians have, "on a deep and solemn reflection, determined with one voice, not to sell one foot of their land, neither by exchange nor otherwise!"—They say they are fast progressing in the arts and civilization, and state as a proof of it, that upwards of 30 000 yards of cloth have been manufactured by those only inhabiting the waters of the Coosa and Tallapoosa, during the past year.

The Cherokee Indians have made great progress in civilization and the arts; they have established something like a judiciary system, and the following statement of the Cherawa Intelligencer, shows how they treat such frivolous complaints, as often detain our courts of justice for many days, at great expense.

"An Indian assaulted another, of which regular information was made. The judge ordered the sheriff to bring the parties before him. The sheriff went in pursuit of the [illegible] are your prisoners,' said the judge. 'I caught them,' replied the sheriff. 'What did you do with them?' 'I gave the defendent fifteen lashes.' 'What did you do with the plaintiff?' 'Gave him fifteen too.' 'What with the informer, or witness?' 'Why I gave him twenty-five lashes; for had he held his tongue, there would have been none of this fuss and trouble.'

A Century of Hard Labour.—A Paris paper furnishes the following remarkable anecdote:—About 100 years ago a man aged 18, was condemned to the gallies for one hundred years and a day. The man has suffered in full the sentence of the law, and has now returned to Lyons in France, where claiming an estate belonging to his family, the proprietor, M. Berthelon, who had thought his purchase very fair and safe, agreed, by the advice of his lawyer to settle the contestation matter by giving the real proprietor £4,500 sterling, (nearly $20,000.) This wonderful old man, at the age of 118, has lately offered his hand to a woman and is shortly to be married.

Suicide.—A very erroneous notion prevails that this crime is more frequent in England than elsewhere.—The truth is, that it most prevails where the vice of gaming is at its height.—Loss at play causing a greater number of violent deaths than any other cause whatever.—Ed.

German papers give the number of suicides in Prague at about one in forty in the total number of deaths. In London, in the year 1821, (the first of the bills of Mortality on which we lay hands,) there were but 82 suicides out of 18,458 deaths, or one in 225. In Paris there were, last year, about 360, to 370 out of a population smaller than that of London, so false is the notion that we are, as compared with our neighbours, an eminently self killing people. We are, in truth, not above a quarter part as suicidal as the people of Paris, and not much more than a sixth part so as the people of Prague. In 1822, we see there were only 33 suicides in London Bills of Mortality. It may be remarked, however, that there is the less inducement to suicide in London than in Paris, from the superior liberality of our criminal laws, in the article of hanging.—Examiner.

The Squirrel Trade of Ohio!—Cooked squirrels are said to be an article of export from Ohio. No doubt they could be preserved, as other cooked meats are, for a long time, in tight tin boxes. It is troublesome to prepare squirrels for cooking.

A Juvenile Mrs. Thornton!—At a horse race at Crobirgen on the 25th of Sept. the winning horse was rode by a girl only 12 years old.

THE SILK TRADE.

Every day affords new proofs of the advantages that will result from removing all restrictions on trade.—The silk trade has been increasing ever since the last new measures respecting it were adopted, and has now arrived at a degree of prosperity unknown for many years preceding. It was predicted by many sensible members of the trade, on the adoption of the new legislative provisions, that the time was not far distant when English manufacturers would be able to surpass those of France in that commodity where it was before supposed that rivalry was out of the question. There existed, it was felt, nothing but the injudicious system of duties to prevent our superiority over our neighbours taking place long before. In abundance of capital, union of capitalists, ingenuity of artists, and that very important point the security of property, there can be no comparison. Those who know nothing of the interior of France, will, perhaps, hardly credit, that at the last election for the Chamber of Deputies, a manufacturer residing at a village in the south, who had interfered actively to procure the return of a liberal deputy, was in consequence marked out for Ministerial retribution. His ruin was easily effected by the turning a stream of water that ran through his premises, by which his machinery was put in motion, and this being done under the plea that the rivers in France are Royal property, no redress could be obtained, nor was it attempted, by an appeal to the courts of law. That most important article, labour is higher, we understand, at present than at Manchester. But England, we hear, is shortly to reap the advantages of the services of French manufacturers, some of whom are of the first class.—We know already of an instance of the latter description, whose arrival may form an æra in the commercial history of this country. This Gentleman, who has for many years conducted a silk manufactory to a large extent in France, has determined on forming a manufactory on a large scale in this country, for the fabric of silks after the French manner, and on giving to it the aid of his own practical experience. He found no difficulty in uniting himself with individuals capable of advancing the requisite capital; a partnership is already formed, assistance is proffered from one of the first capitalists of the city to an almost unlimited extent, and large manufactories are erecting in Norwich and Manchester. The result of this experiment with be regarded with much interest by the trade in general.—Times.

Rather Unlucky.—A singular incident occured last week on a hundred miles from Rickergate. The postman delivered a letter, by mistake, at a certain house, in the absence of the lord of the mansion;—the 'gude wife' laid hold of it with avidity, stopt not to read the superscription, but dived at once to the marrow of it, and that did such a tale unfold, that it harrowed up a thousand feelings, and inflicted as many tortures. A female of Longtown, complained that though she had sworn an illegitimate child to another person, under promise of a douceur, now that the job was done, the money was not forthcoming, then followed upbraidings and threatenings in great profusion. What perfidy—double perfidy! involuntarily, exclaimed the reader:—Oh, what a partner I am cursed with! At this moment the unfortunate husband entered, and instead of the salutation of 'love arrayed in smiles,' rap came the poker upon his crown, and down he came almost senseless. Having, however, collected his scattered faculties, he resumed that posture which nature had assigned him as a distinction from meaner animals, and his first impulse was a return of love's salutation, with all the strength of his fist, so the aggressor measured her length upon the floor, and for once was silent. At length a few broken sentences partially developed the cause of these (to the husband) mysterious hostilities, the letter excited his attention, he looked at, and—discovered that it was not directed to him, but to another person living hard by!—Carlisle Patriot.

Dean Swift's barber one day told him that he had taken a public house. 'And what's your sign?' said the Dean. 'Oh, the pole and basin, and if your worship would just write me a few lines to put upon it, by way of motto, I have no doubt but it would draw me plenty of customers.' The Dean took out his pencil, and wrote the following couplet, which long graced the barber's sign:—

Rove not from pole to pole, but step in here,
Where nought excels the shaving, but the beer.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

FRANCE AND SPAIN.

The London Morning Chronicle of the 27th observes. "The question of the occupation of Spain beyond the term fixed by the treaty is now on the carpet, and it is supposed that the English government, in common with other nations, will require of the French cabinet an unequivocal explanation of her intentions; for the policy of this cabinet, with respect to Spain, is certainly mysterious and inexplicable, especially as she has not made remonstrances to Ferdinand against the cruel persecutions to which the subjects of that sovereign are at present exposed by the acts of a vindictive and merciless faction."

GREECE.

The Augsburgh Gazette contains an account from the borders of the Danube, dated the 21st of October, which says, "The last transactions in the Archipelago render the Greek cause safe. It is asserted that a great power has come out in their favour, and that important events will take place next spring."

There is a singular dearth of foreign news. The Greek campaign seems to be near its close. The following is as accurate, and interesting, sketch of the life of the Chief Director of Grecian affairs.

PRINCE MAUROCORDATO.

[The following account of the chief and his family, from the British Traveller, is much fuller than the one which we gave yesterday from the French papers.]—London Times.

This distinguished Greek Chief is descended from John Nicolas Alexander Maurocordato de Scarlati, Waywode of Walachia, whose father, Alexander, was interpreter to the Porte, and negotiated the peace of Carlowitz. John Nicolas, upon an incursion of the Imperialists into Walachia, was made prisoner, and was detained some years in Transylvania. During his captivity, he wrote a treatise de officiis, in the ancient Greek, which was published, with his portrait prefixed, in 1722, at Leipsic. His descendant, Alexander Maurocordato, the subject of this brief memoir, was at an early age Secretary to Caratza, then Waywode of Walachia. When Caratza was compelled to retire from Turkey, in consequence of having incurred the displeasure of the Grand Seignor, Maurocordato followed him to Pisa—the place he fixed upon for his residence. Shortly after this, the revolution broke out in the Morea and the islands; and the subject of our notice having been appointed to take charge of some ammunition, &c. which had been purchased with the money raised in different parts of Europe for the assistance of the Greek cause, he arrived at Missolonghi early in August, 1821, when he began to fortify that place, and has since rendered it one of the greatest importance to the whole of Western Greece.

In the first national Congress which was held at Epidaurus, the talents and knowledge of Maurocordato were displayed in the most conspicuous manner; so much so, indeed, that the choice for President of the Executive (which was then to be determined) fell upon him. During the whole year of his Presidency, he discharged the duties of his high office with the strictest honesty and the most unquestionable talent—incontestably proving, by his whole conduct, that the prosperity of his country, and the success of her great cause, were the sole objects he had in view. The year following that of his Presidency, he was appointed Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs. This appointment, however, excited against him considerable jealousy in the minds of some of the Chiefs of the Morea, and parin ularly of Colocotroni, who, having observed that his (Maurocordato's influence with the people became every day greater, professed to look upon him with suspicion, and did all he could to oppose his whole proceedings. At last, indeed, the patience of Colocotroni became exhausted, and he openly menaced Maurocordato with his vengeance, unless he instantly quitted the Morea, which country Colocotroni professed to consider as his property, and that no other chief had any pretence to interfere in its affairs. Circumstances were such, at the period now alluded to, that Maurocordato thought it best not to risk an open quarrel, and accordingly he retired to Hydra, where he found a stanch friend in the person of that honest, zealous, and firm hearted patriot, J. Orlando, one of the Greek deputies now in London. Shortly after the period now alluded to, Maurocordato was again called upon to take a distinguished part in the struggle of his country—being appointed Director General of the affairs of Western Greece. On this he again repaired to Missolonghi; and his name may be considered as in some degree connected with the two brilliant victories obtained in two successive campaigns, by the incomparable Marco Bozzaris, whose loss, in the last of these victories, Greece will not soon cease to deplore. Maurocordato, being a man of considerable learning and accomplishments, attracts to him all persons of letters and education, foreign as well as native, who are now in Greece. Besides which, notwithstanding his active engagements in the political affairs of his country, he finds time to interest himself in her moral prosperity also, by establishing national schools in various parts, conducted on the Lancasterian principles; being convinced that the true happiness of a people depends no less on its moral than its political condition.

UNITED STATES.

President Monroe, in his late Message, states the national debt of the United States to be 82 millions of dollars, which is less than 20 millions of pounds sterling. The annual expenditure of Great Britain is near 50 millions, the revenue this year more than fifty millions sterling, almost three times the amount of the [illegible] States, besides [illegible] Debt not to be discharged in the course of ten years, without any additional taxes. The United States, we believe, never before stood in so favourable a situation, in respect to their finances.

New President.—From every information we can learn it appears almost certain that JACKSON will gain the election.

Extract of a letter from a distinguished member of Congress, dated Washington, December 7.

"Gen. Jackson will be elected the next President without a doubt. He will have the whole of the west and states in the House, and, I doubt not Connecticut and Massachusetts, in due season."

MEXICO.

Slavery abolished in Mexico.—The Sovereign General Constituent Congress of the Mexican United States have been pleased to decree as follows;

1 The commerce and traffic of slaves, under whatsoever notion or flag, is for ever prohibited in the territories of the Mexican United States.

2 The slaves that may be introduced against the tenor of the above article, shall become free by the fact of touching the Mexican territory.

3 Every and each vessel, be they national or foreign in which slaves are transported on the Mexican territory, shall be immediately confiscated, together with the remainder of their cargoes, and the owner and purchaser, the captain and pilot, will suffer ten years imprisonment.

Budget of Valuable Receipts.

No 12.

61. Excellent Method of Salting Meat.—The following recipe may prove acceptable to many private families, and from trial can be strongly recommended.—To three gallons of spring water, and six pounds of common salt, four pounds of bay salt, two pounds of common loaf sugar, and three ounces of saltpetre; boil the whole over a gentle fire, and whilst boiling, carefully scum it; when quite cold it is fit for use. Rub the meat to be cured with fine salt, and put it to drain for a day or two, in order to free it from the blood, then immerse it in the above brine in the tub, taking care every part is covered. Young pork should not remain more than three, four, or five days in the pickle, but hams for drying must be immersed a fortnight at least before they are hung up, and tongues the same period. Beef may remain according as it is to be more or less flavoured with the salt. A little practice will soon prove the time every meat will require. When the pickle has been in use about three months, boil it up again gently, and after scumming it well, whilst boiling, add three pounds of common salt, three pounds of bay salt, half a pound of sugar, and one or two ounces of saltpetre, when cold it will be as good as at first. This brine may appear expensive, but ultimately it will be found the cheapest mode of salting, with the certainty that the meat, &c. cannot spoil, that the flavour will be excellent, and be juicy and tender.

To preserve Fish.—Fish may be preserved dry an fresh with sugar alone, by applying it inside to the muscular part, and hanging the fish up 2 or 3 days, till it is penetrated. A table spoon full of brown sugar will be sufficient for a salmon of 5 or 6 pounds, and will communicate no taste to it.

83. Pickled Beets.—The following method of preparing pickled beets has been so highly recommended to us, that we think it our duty to offer it to the ladies. Parboil some of the finest red beet roots in water, then cut them into a saucepan with some sliced horse radish, onions, shallots leaves, pounded ginger, beaten mace, white pepper, cloves, allspice and salt, and boil the whole in sufficient vinegar to cover it for at least a quarter of an hour. Strain the liquor from the ingredients, put the slices into a jar pour the strained liquor over them, and if higher colour be wanted, add a little powdered cochineal when the pickle is quite cold, and keep it closely covered with bladders or leather. A little oil may be poured on the top of this pickle which will assist the better to preserve it without prejudice to the beet root, which is commonly served up in oil, its own liquor, and a small quantity of powdered loaf sugar pounded. Some use a little mustard, but this is by no means necessary, and certainly does not improve the colour of this fine pickle.

84. Spots of Ink.—To take them out of linen, lemon juice is sometimes used, but the spots do not wholly disappear, and a hole follows. The best and safest method is, to take a candle, melt it, dip the spotted part in the melted tallow, then put it to wash, and it will become white and no hole follow.

85. Linen, muslin, paper, wood, straw, &c. may be rendered uninflamable by being dipped in a solution of phosphate of ammonia or acidulous phosphate of lime. Clothes, valuable documents, pannels, roofs, awnings, &c. exposed to fire, may thus be rendered less liable to destruction.

86. To secure the blossoms of Fruit Trees against destruction by late frosts.—Place around the roots of the trees, banks of snow or ice. The blossoms will be retarded, and thereby escape the late frosts, which are so destructive to our fruit trees in this climate.

Domestic.

Indian Civilization!—Before there is any chance of success for the plan alluded to in the following paragraph, as it respects the Mississaugas and other wandering tribes, these people must become more addicted to agriculture, and less partial to hunting; which is a revolution exceedingly difficult to bring about.—Ed.

We have been favoured with a pamphlet just issued from the New-York press written by Mr. BUCHANNAN, His B. M. Consul at New-York and addressed to the Earl of Dalhousie. It is a continuation of that gentleman's work on the "History, manners and customs of the North American Indians," and is intended to submit a plan to the British public for the melioration and civilization of the American tribes. The plan itself is to locate the different tribes, upon a grant from his Majesty of the extensive ground lying between the 44th parallel of North lat. and lakes Huron and Simcoe; the Indians to be governed by a council of their own &c. The subject is one deserving of attention.—The natives of this extensive continent are fast disappearing, and where civilization has extended itself are now not to be seen incorporated with the inhabitants; but we imagine that it is a difficult one, and that Mr Buchannan's plan would be attended with many serious obstacles.—Neilson's (Quebec) Gazette

Flourishing state of the Fisheries in Newfoundland.

ST. JOHN, N F. Nov. 16.

Important.—Cleared out from the Custom house here, on five days between the 9th and 15th instant, 27, 324 quintals of Cod Fish, 93 casks of Salmon, 344 tons of Oil, 45 barrels of Herrings, and 25 barrels of Mackarel. Value, £19,000.

In allusion to the above, we most cordially unite in the following excellent remarks from the last Acadian Recorder.—Ed.

COLONIAL AND DOMESTIC.

Our readers will observe in this day's Recorder an account of the quantity of fish, &c. exported from St. John's, Newfoundland, in five days, of the last month, amounting in value to £19,000. Every one must be gratified by so tangible a proof of the importance and benefits of the fishery to that island. It evinces also the zeal and activity of their merchants and fishermen, a zeal which we would do well to emulate. What is there to prevent our participating largely in the fisheries on the Banks and at the Labrador? If we were even to make use of the advantages more immediately within our reach, we should derive an increase of revenue—and besides that, would obtain a staple for export beyond our present trade. This province has been blessed by nature, and that, not in her most parsimonious mood. We are not deficient in capital—witness the many wealthy individuals among us, and the readiness with which every article of luxury finds sale. Other Provinces without half our opportunities, are gaining gradually an ascendancy over us in commercial pursuits, by adopting a liberal system—by giving bounties to the fishermen, and by establishing banks, canals, and other great public works, which give employment to a great variety of persons, and cause a rapid diffusion of money.

Holland in former times, drew an immense accession of strength from her successful herring fishery. It was stated in a memorial presented to Charles II. by Dr. B. Worsely, then secretary to the Committee of Council for Plantations and Trade, that the least valuation put on the herring fishery of the Dutch, amounted to three millions sterling per annum; and De Witt calculated in 1669, that 450,000 persons were employed in it. If such profits have been realised it would be imprudent in us to throw away, from any fine spun theories, a branch of business which all other countries have found highly advantageous; a business for the prosecution of which, Nova Scotia is peculiarly fitted by her proximity to the greatest fishing stations in the world—by her numerous harbours, and by the hardy and adventurous disposition of her inhabitants. It was not the value of the lands in Cape Breton and Acadia, that led to the settlement of the French at Louisbourgh; it was the valuable fishery carried on there, and it became the object of attraction to the British Government; which after repeated attempts, succeeded in dislodging the Acadians, and then planted the colony at Halifax for the express purpose of obtaining the traffic lost by the French. Agriculture is doubtless important, but the fisheries are a permanent and inexhaustible source of wealth, and have ever supported a large portion of the inhabitants of this colony.

WELLAND CANAL.

We are sorry that our limits will not permit us to give Mr. Hamilton Merritt's Speech on the first breaking ground for the Welland Canal, entire, but the remainder shall be given next week.

W. H. Merritt, Esq. one of the Directors, and principal agents to the Company, delivered the following very appropriate address:—

GENTLEMEN,

Having been appointed an agent by the President and Directors of the Welland Canal Company, to manage affairs for the time being. They have honoured me with an opportunity of addressing you at this time, and I assure you, nothing could afford me greater satisfaction was I not conscious from want of ability, and not being in the habit of speaking, I shall fall far short from doing common justice to the occasion.

We are assembled here this day for the purpose of removing the first earth from a Canal which will, with the least and by the shortest distance, connect the greatest extent of inland water in the world—and it gives me peculiar pleasure to find the line of this canal has been located at this neighbourhood—the inhabitants of which have turned out on all occasions, with a zeal and alacrity worthy of the undertaking. The first attempt that was made to level this route was in 1816. A meeting was held at the Beaver Dams, a plan drawn out and a petition sent to the Legislature, requesting they would send an Engineer to explore the route—its advantages were not at that time comprehended, and our request was not attended to. In 1822, the Legislature appropriated a sum of money to explore the country between Lake Erie and Ontario. Commissioners were appointed, to whom we applied, stating the natural advantages of the route, and requesting it should be explored—they considered it too near the frontier, and we were again disappointed. Having failed in all our applications, we were sensible if we did not make use of great personal exertions we could never bring the subject properly before the public.—We were fully aware of the supposed magnitude of the undertaking. We were sensible that the personal interest of the capital and talent of the district was against us, and that we had co operation to expect from them (which the result has fully proved.) Every attempt has been made to get this project taken up by able hands, but not one individual in the Province of extensive capital, or in any high official station, has given us the least assistance, excepting the Hon John H. Dunn, (he came forward at an early day, and has given us his steady and warmest support.) At the same time we were conscious if disinterested capitalists were aware of the natural facilities of the route, the simple fact of uniting so great an extent of water at so trifling an expense, would be sufficient inducement to embark in it—we, therefore, determined to depend on others no longer, but apply our shoulders to the wheel and set about it in good earnest.

A subscription paper was made out, at the April sessions 1825, a small sum to satisfy Talbot, the Engineer employed, and a report of the same laid before the public the 10th of May following, an Act of Incorporation was obtained, the next sitting of the Legislature, in February, 1824. Subscriptions were made at Quebec and this place in May following, to the amount of near 50,000 dollars. It was our intention, at that time, to follow it up immediately and commence at this point in June last;—however as some gentlemen in this district, who were wholly uninformed respecting the situation of the route, thought proper to write below stating the whole scheme to be entirely visionary, and would most probably result in a total loss to the subscribers, we were under the necessity of suspending our operations until surveys and reports were obtained by different Engineers, which have already been published and have given perfect satisfaction.—We then sent to New York and obtained the aid required to cover the first estimate and have now put this part of the line under contract as was the original design. We have had difficulties and prejudices to contend with, but not as many as were apprehended; and taking every thing into consideration we have commenced as soon as reasonably could be expected.

A report having been recently circulated that the Stockholders in Quebec, refused to pay the amount of their subscriptions, we beg leave to read you an extract of a letter received from the Committee in Quebec, through our agents Messrs Irvine, Macnought & Co. addressed to the president, George Keefer, Esq.

"Sir, At a general meeting of the Stockholders resident in the district of Quebec, held on Monday last, the Reports, Letters, and Documents, received from you and Mr. Merritt were submitted, and the whole gave great satisfaction. The General meeting having every confidence in the judgement, discretion, and prudent management of the Directors, in conducting the general concerns of the Welland Canal Company, as well as in the economical expenditure of the funds confided to their direction, have withdrawn the restrictions heretofore thought necessary. The directors need not entertain any doubt of the due payment by the Stockholders (they mention this not only with a view of satisfying the public; but more especially the contractors, as we wish them to retain every confidence in the directors, and to rest assured of the punctual fulfilment of our engagements,) in Quebec, of the instalments when called for—their confidence in the expediency and advantage of the undertaking being quite removed, and as already stated, in the integrity of your management they may rest with implicit reliance."

There still remains about 30,000 dollars to be subscribed to fill up the amount of our capital, it was the wish of the directors to have 100 000 dollars taken up in the Province, and 50,000 elsewhere, that we might have a greater interest in a work which so materially concerns us. It will be a peculiar satisfaction to you, one and all, to go to your own mills and machinery—every thing you take to them, besides your convenience, will be putting so much in your own pockets. There is not the least doubt but it will be the most profitable description of stock—this is the opinion of almost every intelligent man who has given himself the trouble thoroughly to examine the subject.

(To be Continued.)

PRINTED BY CHARLES FOTHERGILL GAZETTE OFFICE.

Upper Canada Gazette.

New Series.

VOL. IV. YORK U. C. THURSDAY, JANUARY 13th, 1825. No. II.

By Authority.

Upper Canada.

P. MAITLAND,

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come—GREETING:

WHEREAS by Proclamation bearing date the Fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventeen, our trusty and well beloved FRANCIS GORE Esquire, late our Lieutenant Governor of our Province of Upper Canada, by and with the advice of the Executive Council thereof, was by virtue of the authority in him vested in that behalf, to erect, declare and appoint the Port of Ernestinne, other-wise commonly called the Port of Bath, within the Midland District of this Province, to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for all Goods and Merchandize, not being entirely prohibited and for the payment of all Duties, liable to be paid on all Goods and Merchandize brought into this Province from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS by a certain Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdoms of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the Third Year of our Reign, entitled, "An Act to Regulate the Trade of the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, and for other purposes relating to the said Provinces," it is among other things enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the Governor Lieutenant Governor, or person Administering the Government of either of our said Provinces respectively, by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council thereof for the time being, from time to time to diminish or increase, by Proclamation, the number of Ports or places, which then were, or thereafter might be, appointed in such Province for the Entry of Goods, Wares, and Commodities, imported from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS it appears expedient for the avoiding expence in the Collection of our Revenue, that the said Port of Ernestown shall no longer be a Port of Entry and Clearance.—NOW KNOW YE, that by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of our Province of Upper Canada; We have thought fit to declare, and do hereby declare, that from and after the date of this our Proclamation, the said Port of Ernestown shall cease to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the purposes aforesaid, and shall be and remain, as if the said Proclamation hereinbefore recited, and appointing the same to be a Port of Entry and Clearance, had never been made.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PERE GRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York this Twentieth day of March in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign. P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,

D. CAMERON, Secretary.

JNO. B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

Executive Council Office, York, February 7th 1821.

WHEREAS it has been represented, that many persons who have received Locations of Land, have, from Sickness, and other legitimate causes, been unable to fulfil the Settlement Duty in the time required by the Location Ticket, and have neglected to apply to His Excellency in Council for an extension of the period, for performance of such duty.

BE it Known that the period for completing the Settlement Duty, is hereby extended to Two Years from the date of Locations until further notice shall be given.

JOHN SMALL, Clk Ex. Coun.

GLEBES.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in Council, having taken into consideration the system hitherto practised, of Granting Licences of Occupation for GLEBE LANDS, is pleased to Order, that in future the Glebes in the several Townships with the exception of One Lot in each Township, for the accommodation of the Incumbent, shall be Leased on the same terms as Clergy Reserves.

NOTICE is therefore given to those Persons who hold Licences of Occupation for any of the said Glebe Lots, that the same will not be Renewed; and unless they do make application, by Petition, for Leases in the usual manner, through the medium of the Corporation for superintending the Clergy Reserves, before the Twenty-ninth day of September next ensuing, the Lots so held by Licence of Occupation will be Leased to other Applicants.

JOHN SMALL,
Clk Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office, York, 29th April, 1824. 19—tf.

Executive Council Chamber, York, 31st January, 1824.

PRESENT,

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTANANT GOVERNOR,

IN COUNCIL,

HIS Majesty's Government having recently extended their assistance to the class of Emigrants, which it was intended to relieve by gratuitous Grants of Fifty Acres of Land, in conveying them to their respective locations:

IT IS ORDERED, that from the first day of May next, no gratuitous Grants be made of any quantity of Land to other than privileged persons.—And that as the Fee on Two Hundred Acres was raised, in order to defray the gratuitous Grants of Fifty acres the consideration failing, the future Fee on Two Hundred Acres is reduced to Eight Pounds Four Shilling and One P my Sterling; the existing Fee before 1819, and the Fee on all other Grants, in Townships surveyed since that time, to be the same as established by the Order in Council, of 5th January, 1819.

N. B. Possessors of gratuitous Grants for Fifty Acres, may, by paying the Fee on One Hundred Acres receive a Grant of the adjoining Fifty Acres of vacant

JOHN SMALL,
Clk. Ex'v. Council.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL CHAMBER,
AT YORK, 26th JAN. 1824.

PRESENT;

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,

In Council.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR submitted to the consideration of the Board, the Sheriffs' Reports of their respective Gaols, together with other Documents relating to a Warrant of Survey which it appeared that the House of Assembly had addressed His Excellency to that effect, for the Session only; and obviously for the Delivery of the Gaols in the several Districts.

THE limitation of such a measure to one session seeming to militate with the Provision of the Law, that when the Communication from the Seat of Government admitted, and the circumstances of the Province required, there should be a regular Second Circuit, the Board would prefer to recommend that Special Commissions to deliver particular Gaols should issue where requisite; but, as the respective Reports from the Sheriffs do not, in the opinion of the Board, require any musical interposition, His Excellency, with advice of the Council, postpones a Second Circuit until the circumstances of the Province more decidedly require it.

JOHN SMALL, Clk Executive Council.

WHEREAS by the Tenor of the Location Tickets a Certificate is required to be lodged of the Settlement Duty being done within two Years, or that the said Location should be forfeited, and in case of Locations not gratuitous, that one third of the Patent Fee be lodged with such Certificate; AND WHEREAS it is represented, that in many instances, Certificates of performance of the Settlement Duty, have been withheld from the inability of the settler to deposit such proportion of the Patent Fee, it is deemed expedient to relieve the settler from forfeiture of his location, when he may actually have performed his settlement duty—Notice is hereby given that in all cases where Settlement Duty has been performed within the limited period, the settler shall, on filing Certificate thereof within six Months of this date, be exempted from forfeiture notwithstanding the non-payment therewith of such portion of the Patent Fee, provided the Patent is sued out within One Year from the filing of such Certificate.

And further; His Excellency, in the hope of avoiding the necessity of rescinding any of the Militia grants, is pleased to direct this Public Notification; that all lands granted to Militia Men, upon which the Settlement Duties shall not have been performed within the limited period, will in pursuance of general intimations given to the Surveyor General in all similar cases, be declared vacant, and will be granted within Six Months after the expiration of that period, to the first applicant, unless the Original Nominee, shall before such subsequent application, have lodged a Certificate of his having performed the Settling Duties.

JOHN SMALL, Clk Ex. Coun.

Executive Council Office, York, 7th Nov. 1821.

WHEREAS it has become expedient to establish a line of communication through certain remote Townships, for encouragement thereof, Grants will be made to actual Settlers in the Townships hereinafter named on the condition of Settling within two years from the date of the Location, at the reduced Scale of 5th January, 1819, viz.

A Township North of Mariposa, advertised from the Surveyor General's Office on the 19th of October, as-

	Zeta, to be called	Eldon
N. of Ep		Fenelon
N. of Emily advertised as	Emir	Verulam
N. of South	Lake	Harvey
E. of do.		Douro
N. of Asphodel	Alma	Dummer
N. of Seymour	Mora	Belmont
N. of Dummer	Yea	Burleigh
N. of Mariposa	Nina	Lake
N of Muloc		Loon
N. of Eleazer	No	Grimsthorpe
N. of Kaladar	Aye	Anglesea
N. of Kennebec	Jus	Barrie
N of Norma	Oden	Clarendon
N of Oso	Et	Palmerston
N.of Belmont	Carlos	Methuen

JOHN SMALL, C. E. C.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

DISTRICT OF JOHNSTOWN
To Wit:

BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, of our Sovereign Lord the King, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Abiathar Boyce in favour of James E. Campbell, I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said Abiathar Boyce Lot number Four, in the Ninth Concession of the Townships of Bastard, containing Two Hundred Acres, be the same more or less, which I shall expose for Sale at the Court House in Brockville, on Saturday the 19th day of March next, at the hour of eleven of the clock in the forenoon.

JOHN STUART.
Sheriff.
District of Johnstown.

Brockville Dec. 10th, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having anyclaim on the above property by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

JOHN STUART.

52—6w.

SHERIFF'S SALE

DISTRICT OF JOHNSTOWN
To Wit:

BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, of our Sovereign Lord the King, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of George Richard Ferguson, in favour of Peter Mc Dougall, I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said George Richard Ferguson Lots number 8 and 10, in the Fifth Concession of the Township of Ritley, containing Two Hundred Acres, each, be the same more or less, which I shall expose for Sale at the Court House in Brockville, on Saturday the twelth day of March next, at the hour of eleven of the clock in the forenoon.

JOHN STUART
Sheriff.
District of Johnstown.

Brockville Dec. 10th, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above Property by Mortgage, or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me on or before the day of Sale.

JOHN STUART.

52—6w.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

DISTRICT OF JOHNSTOWN
To Wit:

BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, of our Sovereign Lord the King, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Jonathan Buell, in favour of Elnathan Hubbell I have taken in Execution Seventeen Acres of Land as belonging to the said Jonathan Buell, being part of Lot number thirteen, in the first Concession of the Township of Elizabethtown, which I shall expose for Sale at the Court House in Brockville, on Thursday the twentieth day of January next, at the hour of eleven of the clock in the forenoon

JOHN STUART.
Sheriff.
District of Johnstown.

Brockville Dec. 10th, 1824.

N. B Any Person or Persons having any Claim on the above Property, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my office previous to the day of sale

52—6w. JOHN STUART.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District,
To Wit.

ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb. 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Peter Circut, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Jerry Whitehead, viz.

The easterly half of Lot No. 10, in the First Concession of the Township of Thurlow, containing 100 acres more or less

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District,
To Wit

ON Saturday the 5th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Zachariah Simmons, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Thomas Parker, viz.

Part of Lot No. 16, in the First Concession of the Township of Sidney, containing three acres and thirty one p-iches.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office Kingston,
November 2d, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT,
To Wit.

ON Saturday the 12th day of March, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Theophilus Lockwood, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Thomas Parker, viz.

Part of the east half of Lot No. 22, in the Third Concession of the Township of Sidney, in the County of Hastings, containing 19½ acres.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
October, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT,
To Wit

ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb. 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands, as belonging to Lewis Day, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Alexander Simpson, viz.

The rear two-fifths of Lot No. 15, containing 80 acres, and the north or rear two-fifths of the western quarter of Lot No. 16, in the Fourth Concession of the Township of Kingston, containing 20 acres, and the south easterly quarter of the west half of Lot No. 16, in the Second Concession of the Township of Kingston, containing 25 acres.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Lands, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT,
To Wit.

ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb. 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Lewis Rosebush, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Duncan McDonell, viz.

A part of Lot No. 18, in the Second Concession of the Township of Rawdon, containing 70 acres of Land, described as follows, viz. commencing at the south-west angle of the said Lot in front, where a post has been planted, thence running north sixteen degrees west forty-nine chains and forty links, then south seventy-four degrees north fifteen chains to the centre of the said Lot, thence south, sixteen degrees east, to the allowance for road in front of the said Concession, thence west seventy four degrees south fifteen chains to the place of beginning.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
November 2d, 1824.

N. B All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf

---

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT
TO WIT

ON Saturday the 19th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Daniel Lyons, seized by virtue of an Execution, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of the Hon. G. H. Markland, and John Kirby, Esq Executors to the estate of the late Lawrence Herchimer, viz:—

Lot No. 25 in the 7th Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
18th October, 1824. No. 46,—t. d.

N. B All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District
To Wit.

ON Tuesday the 18th day of January 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands and Tenements, as belonging to William Purkiss, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Charles Bowman, viz:—

Lot No. 6 in the 2d Concession of the Township of Loughborough, containing 200 Acres; also Town Lot No 260 in the Town of Kingston, with a large two story Frame House erected thereon.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff.-M D.

Sheriff's Office Kingston,
October 18th, 1824.

N. B. All Persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale 45—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT
TO WIT.

ON Saturday the 14th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land as belonging to Solomon Orser, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Allan McLean, Esq. viz:—

The front part of Lot No. 18, in the 2d Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
18th October, 1824

N. B All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District
To Wit.

ON Tuesday the 18th day of January, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Silas Ormsby, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of D'Arcy Boulton, Esq. viz:—

The East half of Lot No. 2 in the 12th Concession of the Township of Huntingdon, in the County of Hastings, containing 100 Acres more or less.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston,
October 18th, 1824.

N. B. All Persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 45—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District
to wit.

BY virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed against the Lands and Tenements of William Phœnix, in favour of Ralph Leeming and James Hamilton, I have seized and taken in execution, North half of Lot No Ten in the First Con. of the Township of Trafalgar, North side of Dundas Street, containing one Hundred Acres, on which are some improvements, and the Lot is beautifully situated, and which I shall offer for Sale on Saturday the Fourth Day of December next, at one o'clock P. M. at Mr. Carpenter's Inn, near the Premises, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for Cash only.

TITUS G. SIMONS
Late Sheriff, G. D.

late Sheriff's Office,
24th Sept. 2824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above described property, or upon any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale.

T. G SIMONS,
Late Sheriff, G D.

☞ The above Sale is postponed until Monday the Seventh day of March next, at the same hour and place.

T. G. SIMONS
Late Sheriff G. D.

Late Sheriff's Office,
6th Dec. 1824 No. 53—td.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District
to wit

BY virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Abraham R. Smith, at the Suit of Robert Gillespie, Esquire, I have seized and taken in execution Lots No. Eleven, in the First Range, and Twenty-two in the Second Range, in the Town of Hamilton, and in the Township of Barton, situate on the North side of the Road leading from Dundas to Niagara, each Lot contains One Fourth of an Acre, on the Former is erected a beautiful Two Story House well finished, and fit for any Gentleman's residence, all this valuable Property. I shall offer for sale on Monday the Sixth Day of December next, at 10 o'clock, A. M. and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for Cash only.

TITUS G. SIMONS.
Late Sheriff, G. D.

Late Sheriff's Office,
24th Sept. 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any claim on the above described Property by Mortgage or other wise, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office, on or before the Day of Sale.

T. G SIMONS,
Late Sheriff, G. D.

☞ The above Sale is postponed until Monday the Seventh day of march next, at the same hour, at the Court House in the said Town of Hamilton.

TITUS G. SIMONS.
Late Sheriff G. D.

Late Sheriff's Office,
6th Dec. 1824. No. 53—td.

NOT OFFICIAL.

BANK OF UPPER CANADA.

NOTICE TO STOCKHOLDERS.

THE STOCK and TRANSFER BOOKS will be closed from this day until Wednesday the 12th January, next; and a semi-annual Dividend of Four per cent will be payable at the Bank on and after Wednesday the 26th of that month on the Capital paid in.

(Signed)
THO'S. G. RIDOUT,
Cashier.

Bank of Upper Canada,
York Dec 29th 1824 No. 1—4w.

FIRE INSURANCE.

THE Sun Insurance Company of New York, having appointed George Crookshank, Esquire, their Agent in Upper Canada—he is ready to Insure against Loss or Damage by Fire, on Dwelling Houses, Stores, Merchandise, House-hold Furniture, and other Personal Property; at moderate Rates of Premium.— Persons wishing to Insure must send a plan of their Buildings, when wanted out of the Town of York, a respectable reference will be required, and Letters Post Paid —Application to be made to

R. W. PRENTICE
York, 28th Sept. 1824. No. 39—t f.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Register Office for the Home District, is removed to the Brick-building next door to Mr. Proudfoot's Store, in King's Street York; where regular attendance will be given, from 9 o'clock in the morning, until 1 o'clock P. M agreeable to the Statute in such case made and provided.

York, Jan. 10th, 1825. No. 2,—t. f.

NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN to all those who are either Debtors to, or Creditors of, the Estate of the late Mr. WILLIAM ROBINSON, of the Township of Markham, who died last Spring, to come to an immediate settlement of accounts with the EXECUTRIX, Mrs. ELIZABETH ROBINSON, resident in the said Township of Markham, who by consent of the Executors, pays the amount of all just demands against, and receives all sums due, to the said Estate.

ELIZABETH ROBINSON, Executrix,
PETER REESON,
WILLIAM BROWN. Executors.

Markham, Jan. 12th, 1825 No. 2,—4 wks.

FOR SALE.

A SET of SUPERB, London-made, CRIMSON MOREEN CURTAINS, for THREE WINDOWS, with festoons, bindings, fringe, &c. &c. &c. made very full; and in the newest fashion. The very lowest price is £65.— The cost in London was much higher, and they are quite new.—Inquire of Messrs. M. & R. MEDMAN. Market Square, York, 9th Dec. 50—tf.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that Application will be made at the next Session of the Provincial Parliament, for an Act to establish Dundas Street as the division of the Townships of Ancaster and Flamboro West, in the District of Gore, from the Village of Coots Paradise, in Lot No. 53, 1st Con. of Ancaster, to the Marsh lying to the Eastward thereof, commonly called, Coots Paradise.—

Dundas, 2d. December, 1824.

No. 50.—6 w.

ALBION NEWSPAPER.

A GENTLEMAN wishing to complete a File of the Albion Newspaper is in want of the following Numbers, for which he will gladly pay a fair compensation.

Volume 1 ——Nos. 4 & 18.
" 2 ——Nos. 19, & 21,
" 3 ——Nos. 4 & 7.

Apply at the U. C. Gazette Office.

No. 49.—t. f.

GRAIN.

THE Subscribers will purchase WHEAT, RYE, and INDIAN CORN, at the highest market prices, for which they will pay one half CASH, and the remainder in Goods at Cash prices.

ASHES

Taken as usual, at their POTASH MANUFACTORY, near the Don Bridge.

They have lately received a well selected assortment of Goods, which will be sold low for cash or country produce.

(Signed)
WOOD & ANDERSON.

York Dec. 16th, 1824. 52—6w.

FOR SALE.

A Farm on Yonge Street, Lot No. 32 in Markham, One Hundred and Ninety Acres, of which ninety Acres are under cultivation with a Frame House and Barn on the same, a stream of water runs across the Lot, and Purdy's Saw and Grist Mills are on the Lot opposite to the same.—Terms of payment will be made easy.—Application to be made to,

GEORGE CROOKSHANK.

York, 17th Oct. 1824.

N. B. Should the above mentioned Farm not be sold by the 1st March next, it will then be leased

43—tf.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the County of Dundas, intend presenting a Petition to the Legislature at its next Session, for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Dundas, and the Town of Cornwall alternately.

Also to have the Concession line between the fourth and fifth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg in the Eastern District, to have the said line run upon the true course of No. 66 E and completed.

And also the side lines in the said fourth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg aforesaid, to have the said side lines to run upon the original course No. 24 W. 43—26w.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the First Concession of Sophiasburgh South west of Green Point.—by reason of the material damage they have sustained these number of years back, on account of the erroneous original Survey of the Second Concession Line. Are determined to Petition the Legislature of this Province at the ensuing Session of Parliament for the alteration of the said Line, and to settle all the differences relating the reunto

Sophiasburgh, Oct 7th, 1824. No. 44—6 m.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the EASTERN DISTRICT will at the next Session of the LEGISLATURE make application to be authorised to effect a Loan to enable them to erect a Gaol and Court House in the Town of Cornwall. 37—6m.

LAND IN PERCY.

A VERY valuable Lot of Land, consisting of 200 Acres, being No. 7 in the 2nd Concession of the Township of Percy, in the Newcastle District, and not far from the River Trent, in the midst of a good settlement may be had for 2$ per Acre, with an indis putable title, and immediate possession.—Inquire at the U. C. Gazette Office. 43—tf.

NOTICE.

AN APPLICATION will be made to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for an Act imposing a Tax on Dogs in the Town of YORK and its vicinity, the proceeds of which to be applicable to the police purposes.

By Order of the Magistrates in Adjourned General Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the Home District assembled on the 6th day of Sept. 1824.

(Signed,)

S. HEWARD.

Clk. Peace Home District.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the COUNTY of GLENGARY intend presenting a Petition to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Glengary and the Town of Cornwall alternately. 37—6m

NOTICE.

ALL Persons indebted to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire, of Stamford, are requested to make immediate payment to the Subscriber at Vittoria, London District, and those having claims on the Estate, will be pleased to furnish him with their respective Accounts properly authenticated.

(Signed) WALTER NICHOL,

Administrator to the Estate of the Late ROBERT NICHOL, ESQUIRE.

Niagara, 29th May, 1824.

VALUABLE LAND IN OTONIBEE,

FOR SALE ON A CREDIT OF YEARS.

ONE of the most valuable Lots in the beautiful Township of OTONIBEE, on the Rice Lake, consisting of two Hundred Acres, being Lot No. 10, in the 1st [illegible] of the Township of [illegible] (Maple, Beech, Bass, Elm, and Oak.) It has a Log House, and some small improvements upon it, and is not quite a mile distant from the Rice Lake, and from the Town Plot.—It has also the advantage of being well watered by a Creek that never fails

Price, two dollars per Acre; and terms of payment, One Eighth at the time of concluding the bargain, and Seven Years Credit, by annual instalments with interest for the remainder, if desired —Inquire at the Gazette Office.

TOWN LOTS IN PORT HOPE.

SEVERAL valuable building Lots, in the flourishing village of PORT HOPE, are for Sale, by private Contract, on the most liberal Terms, and on a credit of several Years, provided the first Instalment be paid down. Either Produce or Manual Labour will be received, if desired, in Payment —For further particulars apply at the U. C. Gazette Office, York, or to Messrs. C. & J. Stowe, Merchants,—Port Hope.

No. 40.—t. f.

FOR SALE.

LOT No. Two, in the First Concession of the Township of York, with the Broken Front, containing about Two Hundred and Forty Acres of Land.

Application to be made to

J. B. MACAULAY

York, 12th June, 1824. 35—t. f.

NOTICE.

FOR SALE, by private Contracts, the House and Lot lately occupied by Mr. O'Sullivan, Saddler, King's-Street, in the Town of York, the Lot is 26 feet fronting King's-Street, by 112 feet deep.

Also.—A Lot adjoining the above on the West side, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—A Lot adjoining Mr. Duggan's, 34, by 112 feet.

Also—Five Lots in the Garrison Reserve, each 66 by 99 feet.

Should the above Property and Lots not be sold by Private Contract, the five last described Lots will be sold at Public Sale, on the first day of July ensuing.

Application for Terms of Sale, to be made to

ALEXANDER WOOD, ESQ.

YORK, 17th March, 1824. t. f.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the County of Prince Edward, in the Midland District, intend Petitioning the Legislature, at the next Session thereof, to have the said County set off, and made into a separate District from the said Midland District, and to be called the District of Maitland. No. 24—6ms.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Inhabitants of the Township of TOWNSEND intend Petitioning both Houses of the Provincial Legislature at its next Session, to pass a Law, Establishing a Line Surveyed in the year 1823, between the 12th and 13th Cons. of the said Township.

TOWNSEND, 20th MAY, 1824. } No. 21—1 m. t. d.

WEEKLY REGISTER.

VOL. IV. Our endeavor will be to "stamp the very body of the time—its form and pressure"— we shall extenuate nothing, nor shall we set down aught in malice. No. 2.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 13th, 1825.

Editorial Commentary.

ON Tuesday last, at two o'clock precisely, in pursuance of the Proclamation to that effect, His Excellency the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, proceeded in the usual state to the Legislative Council Chamber; where, being seated on the Throne, and the House of Assembly being present—the Honourable the SPEAKER of the Legislative Council informed the Members of the House of Assembly at the Bar, that the opening of the present Session of Parliament by a Speech from the Throne, was adjourned until Thursday, (this day,) at one o'clock, in order to give them time for the Election of a Speaker; when their attendance, at the Bar of that House, would be required. On which the House of Assembly retired, and the Election, for the Speakership, immediately commenced.

AND we have been informed that after GEORGE HAMILTON, Esq. had been proposed by JOHN WILSON, Esq and had lost it by one or two only, he proposed JOHN WILSON, Esq (seconded by CAPT. MATHEWS,) who is said to have carried it by a majority of three, and that Gentleman was therefore declared duly elected—The House then adjourned 'till this day at half past 12 o'clock.

A-it is not desirable, for the sake of our country friends, to detain the publication of the Gazette beyond the usual hour, a GAZETTE EXTRAORDINARY, with his EXCELLENCY'S SPEECH, and an account of this day's proceedings in Parliament, will be published either this evening, or tomorrow, and regularly forwarded through the country by the next mail.

FROM some cause, unknown to us, and not a little extraordinary, for the weather is remarkably fine, the mails of yesterday did not arrive until a very late hour.—We have only time, therefore, briefly to notice the following interesting particulars:—

COL. STANHOPE has been ordered from Greece, by his own Government, in consequence of a Turkish remonstrance to that effect.—

THE success of the Greeks greatly transcend every thing that had been anticipated;—and we are now sanguine as to their ultimate independence, and the perpetuity of their national glory. If ever statue, column, temple, or cenotaph, was due from men to one of their species—the brave, the immortal, CANARIS, is entitled to that honour!—

GREAT part of the French army is on the point of evacuating Spain—and the dismay of FERDINAND, the Embroiderer, rapidly increases.

IT is very remarkable that, notwithstanding the singular mildness of the season here,—storms and hurricanes, accompanied with the utmost severities of Winter, in their most terrific form have prevailed, and are prevailing, in the north.—Insomuch that the Griper, Capt. LYON, one of the vessels employed in the North-West Expedition has been compelled to return to England to refit.

THE Columbus, or the Leviathan of the deep, as she is called, has reached Blackwall, London, and is there the wonder of thousands. She is, like all other great sights in England, converted into a source of profit. Multitudes visit her from morning to night, at two shillings a head. She is certainly calculated to awaken the most lively sensations of pride and astonishment at the spirit and enterprise of the rising off-pring of IMPERIAL BRITAIN in the West!

FROM a London paper we learn that a consultation was lately held at the Colonial Office, between Mr WILMOT HORTON and the Crown Lawyers on one part, and Mr. GALT and the CANADIAN LAND COMPANY'S council on the other, concerning the granting of the Charter; WHEN IT WAS AGREED THAT IT SHOULD BE COMPLETED FORTHWITH. It is further stated that the Commissioners will probably sail for America in January! Now, indeed, does the day begin to dawn upon us, and the gloom that has so long hung upon our forests, and the "green and yellow melancholy" that has so long tinged our lean and hollow cheeks with a sallow hue, begin to dissipate—Yes, we trust that the sun of a better day than ever yet dawned upon our Canadian wilderness is already peering above the horizon, never again to set, but in the last convulsive throws of expiring nature, and the crash of the universe!

SELECTIONS FROM BRITISH AND FOREIGN JOURNALS.

Mr. FAUNTLEROY.

Mr. Fauntleroy was sentenced to death on Tuesday the 2d of November, after an unsuccessful application had been made for an arrest of judgement, on the ground that the jury convicted him only of "uttering," the deed, which was charged as a "forgery" in the indictment. He was not to be executed until December

The judge in charging the jury was so much affected as almost to prevent utterance.

Before sentence of death was passed on him, he addressed the Court as follows:—

"My Lord—I am well aware that no emergencies, however pressing—that no embarrassments, however great—can be listened to as an excuse for the crime of which I have been found guilty; but I trust it may be considered as some palliation in a moral point of view, that a desire to preserve myself and others from bankruptcy, and not personal aggrandizement or selfish gratification alone, urged and impelled me to the acts I have committed; and when I first deviated from rectitude, it was owing to an acute, although, I admit, mistaken feeling, to obtain temporary relief; and not from any deliberate intention to defraud.—God knows my heart, and the truth of my present declaration, that I hoped and fully intended to make restitution immediately the expected prosperity of the house would have enabled me. This must, I think, my Lord, appear evident, from my having frequently replaced the money withdrawn; and the bank books will prove, that many of the sums mentioned in the document written in 1816, have been sincere—invested by me to the credit of the parties. That document, my Lord, has been supposed to have been prepared in contemplation of flight; this idea is, however, erroneous, and is sufficiently refuted by my continuance at my residence and business for years subsequently. The only object and intention of that paper was in the event of sudden death, before the whole of the money should be re-invested, to absolve every one but myself, even from suspicion.

Unfortunately for me, a succession of adverse events, which I could neither avert nor control (and part of which I detailed at length on my trial,) led on from one false step to another, until the affairs of the house became so involved that extrication was impossible. In these difficulties, I offered myself as the only sacrifice; and it is my duty, as a man and as a Christian, to resign myself to my fate. For me, my Lord, fallen and degraded as I am life has no allurements; and a momentary pang will at once put an end to my mental agonies and to my earthly existance. But, my Lord, I have numerous relations,—amongst them my dear and venerable mother, whose feelings I reverence; and for their sakes more than my own, I venture to supplicate that I may not be doomed to suffer a violent and ignominious death. It crime, my Lord, can be atoned for by suffering, my offences, heavy as they are, have long been expiated, not merely by the overwhelming embarrassments of the concern in which I was engaged, but by years of anxious terror and agonizing apprehension; and if, my Lord, the anguish of mind I have endured for the last 16 years of my life, and the peculiar circumstances in which I have been placed ever since I arrived at man's estate, could be made known to my most Gracious Sovereign, I venture to hope that his Majesty's benevolent and feeling heart would be touched with compassion for my situation, and that I should not be considered an object wholly undeserving the Royal Clemency. May I therefore, my Lord presume to solicit your Lordship's humane interposition to communicate for his Majesty's merciful consideration the circumstances to which I have alluded: and on behalf of my dearest, relations I supplicate that the punishment of death may be remitted."

The unhappy man read, audibly and distinctly, except at that part of the address which alluded to his mother: there his voice faltered, and he struck his hand forcibly on the bar. When he concluded, he resumed the calm demeanor which had previously characterized him.

Cobbet!—The Dublin Star says that a seat in Parliament is to be procured for Mr. Cobbet, as the advocate of emancipation, the expense to be paid out of the Catholic rent.

It is the intention of the Catholic Association to have their general petition ready to be presented by Sir Francis Burdett, on the opening day of Parliament, and to pour in three or four petitions every week during the Session.

Hell in St James's Street!—It has been asserted, on what may be deemed competent authority, that the profits of the celebrated Hell in St. James-street during the last season amounted to upwards of £150,000 over and above the expenses of the establishment, which are calculated at £100 a day; and that there was actually £1000 given to be divided among the waiters at the close of the season

PARLIAMENTARY ADVICE.

An Old Member to a Young Member of Parliament.—Enter the House of Commons as the Temple of Liberty; do not dishonour that Temple; preserve your freedom as the pledge of your integrity. Read, inquire, hear, debate, and then determine. Do not without inquiry approve of, nor without good cause oppose, the measures of the Court. The true patriot will lend his assistance to enable the King to administer justice, to protect the subject, and to aggrandize the nation Avoid bitter speeches; you meet not to revile, but to reason. The best men may err, and therefore, be not ashamed to be convinced yourself, nor be ready to reproach others. Remember, that your electors did not send you to Parliament to make your fortune, but to take care of theirs. When you do speak, take especial care that it is to the purpose; and rather study to confine yourself to the subject with brevity and perspicuity, than to indulge yourself with the unnecessary display of a flowery imagination. If you feel all right within, you will scorn to look round the House for support; for be assured that God, your conscience, and your country, will support you.

A faint idea of the regions below!—Parson M——, in preaching, recently, at Oakham (England) where there are several furnaces, told his congregation that their furnaces could give them but a faint idea of Hell. "Take a man," said he, "out of Hell, and put him in one of those furnaces and he would soon die of ague fits.

AN UNLUCKY PUSS.

The Lady and the Cat.—We have heard in England of carrier pigeons, and in Japan of carrier cuckoos, but we never remember to have before met with a carrier cat. A poor little tortoiseshell kitten has been, most unintentionally we are persuaded, made the vehicle of a billet d'amor this week, which has set the neighbourhood of Manchester-square (London) in an uproar.—As this funny affair is represented to us, we understand that the wife of a retired tradesman, some sixteen summers younger than himself, fell very much in love with a neighbouring batchelor's pet kitten; and as she was "in the way that ladies wish to be who love their lords," nothing could be denied her, and therefore it was soon decreed that pretty little tabby should change owners. Tuesday morning accordingly pussey was sent, very snugly housed in a small rent hamper, with a well-aired bed of clean straw Unluckily the lady's lord had not quitted home at his usual hour, and he expressed a good deal of surprise at the unexpected visitor; but a few "my dears, you know how much we want a cat," and the exposition of half a dozen half gnawed candles in support of the premises laid in the above declaration, soon silenced his scruples, and pussey was quietly extracted from her willowy abode, and placed on the gaudy rug. Unhappily the lady's solicitude for the kitten was equalled by her anxiety to preserve the basket, that it might be returned quite clean to the owner which, somewhat raising the old gentleman's suspicions, induced him to take it under his own charge. The lady's embarrassment now became palpable—and, dire mishap! the straw was thrown out, and disclosed a velvet nest, pretty looking little letter. The lady fainted; he has read the fatal billet; and luckless pussey was thrown out of a two pair of stairs window. Proceedings are immediately to be commenced; but in the midst of this distressing affair, it gives us pleasure to state that pussey is in a fair way of recovery, and again under the hospitable shelter of her former home.

Curious Charter.—In a Church at Prague is a Charter, said to be the original one, of Alexander the Great, which, if genuine, is undoubtedly the most ancient record in Europe. The following is a translation of its tenour.

"We, Alexander the Great, son of King Philip, founder of the Grecian Empire, Governor of the Persians, Medes Syrians, Indians, &c, and the whole world from East to West and from North to South, son of great Jupiter by, &c. so called, to you, the noble stock of Sclavonians, and your lineage, because ye have been unto us a help true in faith and valiant in war, we confirm all that tract of earth from North to the South of Italy, from us and our successors to you and your posterity for ever: and if any other nation be found there let them be your slaves.

"Dated at Alexandria, the 12 of the Goddess Minerva

"Witness, Ethra and the eleven Princes whome we appoint our successors."

Newspapers.—A.—How does it happen, neighbour B that your children have made so much greater progress in their learning, and knowledge of the world, than mine? They all attend the same school, and for aught I know, enjoy equal advantages.

B.—Do you take the Newspapers, neighbour A.?

A.—No sir, I do not take them myself; but I now and then borrow one, just to read. Pray, sir, what have newspapers to do with the education of children?

B. Why, sir, they have a vast deal to do with it, I assure you. I should as soon think of keeping them from school, as to withhold from them the newspapers. Indeed, a newspaper is a little school itself. Being new every week, it attracts their attention, and they are sure to peruse it. Thus while they are storing their minds with useful knowledge, they are at the same time acquiring the art of reading, &c. I have often been surprised, that men of understanding should overlook the importance of a newspaper in a family.

A.—In truth, neighbour B. I frequently think I should like to take them; but I cannot well afford the expense

B.—Can't afford the expense!—what, let me ask, is the value of five or six dollars a year, in comparison with the pleasure and advantages to be derived from a well conducted newspaper? As poor as I am, I won't do not, for fifty dollars a year, deprive myself of the happiness I enjoy in reading, and hearing my children read, and talk about what they have read in the papers. And then the reflection, that they are growing up intelligent and useful members of society—O, don't mention the expense!—pay it in advance every year, and you will thank no more of it.

A.—I believe you are right I now begin to see my folly. I will go home and order the printer to send me his paper immediately.

The pride of Boulogne.—The pride of Boulogne is an attendant at the baths—a young creature who has spent some years in the coarse employment of a bathing woman, but whose beauty is so dazzling, that she not only surpasses all her companions, but may vie with the proudest of the Court. Her face is a model of Grecian beauty, not a coarse line about it; it is all softness, refinement—and one may add dignity. She is called by her friends, the Venus de la Mer, from her occupation—and, what is most gratifying to add to the praises of her person, her character is irreproachable; her manners gentle and unassuming, though she has been accustomed to flattery to turn a wiser girl's head, and assailed with offers to prevert her principles. Genevieve, for that is her proper name, says she is now completely happy, as she has been lately married, after five years attachment, to a jolly young fisherman of the port. She tatied the English ladies to give them an appetite, while he fished John Dories to indulge it, until they made up a little purse sufficient to pay the wedding finery—the indispensable broad gold pendants for her ears and a bridal dinner. She is twenty, and her husband five and twenty; they are admitted to be the finest couple in Boulogne. She still continues her humble duties at the baths, while he takes his turn out to sea—one of the happiest young fishermen in the world.

Mimicking Blackbird.—A blackbird, at present in the possession of Mr Date, of the King's Head Inn, Cirencester, (Eng.) possesses the very extraordinary faculty of mimicking the crowing of a cock, and the mewing of a cat.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

UNITED STATES.

The subject of Slavery in the United States is beginning to assume a very serious aspect:—Should the independence of St. Domingo or Hayti be recognised, and commercial intercourse between that Island and the United States be once freely established, the subject will become still more embarrassing. We take the liberty of admonishing our countrymen not to trifle with it.—American Paper.

The following extract from an address to the Executive of South Carolina is very uneuivocal—It is in allusion to a late outrage on the rights of nations, and a severe censure passed on the Government of the U. S.

"There should be a spirit of concert and of action among the slave holding States, and a determined resistance to any violation of their local institutions.—The crisis seems to have arrived when we are called upon to protect ourselves—The President of the United States and his law adviser, so far from resisting the efforts of a foreign ministry, appear to be disposed by an argument drawn from the overwhelming powers of the General Government, to make us the passive instruments of a policy, at war, not only with our interests, but destructive also of our national existence. The evils of slavery have been visited upon us by the cupidity of those who are now the champions of universal emancipation; to resist at the threshold every invasion of our domestic tranquility, and to preserve our independence as a state, is earnestly recommended, and if an appeal to the first principles of the right of self government be disregarded, and reasons be successfully combatted by sophistry and error, there would be more glory in forming a rampart with our bodies on the confines of our territory, than to be the victims of a successful rebellion, or the slaves of a great consolidated government

Respectfully, your Fellow Citizen,
JOHN L. WILSON.

Provision for La Fayette!

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22

The La Fayette Bill granting $200,000, and one township of land, passed this day, after considerable discussion, 168 to 26. A movement was in operation against this grant from a quarter which none would believe, if an Apostle were to tell them I will not hazard my veracity by naming it.—American Papers.

From the Democratic Press.

A Dreadful Situation.—Much sensibility is expressed as to the distressing and miserable situation in which the Governor of Kentucky is placed by the conduct of his son. He is committed to prison, and, under violent presumptions accused of Murder in the first degree. On looking at the Constitution of Kentucky, we find that the Governor of that state is entrusted with the sole power "to give reprieves and pardons except in cases of impeachment." How deplorable will be the situation of the Father, if the Governor shall be called upon to sign the death warrant of his son! Without the public, powerful and pressing considerations which moved Brutus, Gov. Desha is likely to be placed in nearly the same trying and heart rending situation. He cannot now resign, because to resign would be to prejudge his son's guilt, by presuming his conviction, which is the only thing which can compel him to act upon the case.—His situation is indeed heart-rending and most pitiable.

FEROCITY OF A MOOSE.

From the Somerset (Maine) Journal.

NARROW ESCAPE.

On the 12th of September last, Mr John Ellis, of Mercer, a celebrated hunter, being on a hunting expedition, on Moose river, had a very remarkable and dangerous encounter with a Moose.

While employed in taking muskrats from his traps he heard a loud cracking of the brush on the opposite side of the river, which he supposed was caused by a carabou; seizing his gun he immediately entered his birch and proceeded to the spot where the noise was heard. On his approach the animal retreated, and was followed by Mr. Ellis ten or fifteen rods when it took to the river. He now discovered the animal to be a very large bull moose, and immediately returned to his canoe, which lay about fifty rods below where the moose entered the river, and started in pursuit of him. Having by great exertion approached within six or eight rods of him, he levelled his gun and fired, and the ball taking effect, the moose made for the shore. Ascending a low pine bank he proceeded about fifty rods into an alder swall, tearing every thing before him as he went with his huge horns. Mr. Ellis remained in the canoe till the noise ceased; when having reloaded his gun he proceeded in search of him. the moose was soon come up with, and rather unexpectedly. Mr Ellis having approached within twenty or thirty feet of the enraged animal before he discovered him:—He instantly fired; but being somewhat agitated, by sudden-ly seeing himself so near the animal, that the aiming position which he assumed, missed his object, the ball entering a small tree which intervened between them; whereupon the moose immediately made at him with desperate fury, taking him between his horns, one of which entered his clothes near the waistband of his pantaloons in front, and passed out near his chin, and the other at the small of his back taking the skin in its course. While in this dangerous and critical situation, suspended eight or nine feet in the air the moose made four or five bounds with him, clearing a rod or more at a leap, when his clothes giving away, he fell to the ground. The moose passed over him without striking him, and after going fifteen or twenty rods fell and expired.

Mr. Ellis received considerable injury, but trifling to what might have been expected from the circumstances in which he was placed.

We had these facts from the mouth of Mr. Ellis himself, and have no reason to doubt the correctness of them.

THE BOLD DRAGOON.

From Washington Irving's Tales of a Traveller.

(Concluded.)

At supper my grandfather took command of the table d'hote as though he had been at home; helped every body, not forgetting himself; talked with every one, whether he understood their language or not; and made his way into the intimacy of the rich burgher of Antwerp, who had never been known to be sociable with any one during his life. In fact he revolutionized the whole establishment, and gave it such a rouse, that the very house reeled with it. He outsat every one at table excepting the little fat distiller of Schidam, who sat soaking for a long time before he broke forth; but when he did, he was a very devil incarnate. He took a violent affection for my grandfather: so they sat drinking, and smoking, and telling stories, and singing Dutch and Irish songs, without understanding a word each other said, until the little Hollander was fairly swamped with his own gin and water, and carried off to bed, whooping and hiccuping, and trolling the burthen of a Low Dutch love song.

Well, gentlemen, my grandfather was shewn to his quarters, up a huge staircase, composed of loads of hewn timber; and through long rigmarole passages, hung with blackened paintings of fruit, and fish, and game, and country frolics, and huge kitchens, and portly burgomasters, such as you see about old fashioned Flemish inns, till at length he arrived at his room.

An old times chamber it was, sure enough, and crowded with all kinds of trumpery. It looked like an infirmary for decayed and superannuated furniture; where every thing diseased and disabled was sent to nurse, or to be forgotten. Or rather, it might have been taken for a general congress of old legitimate moveables, where every king and country had a representative. No two chairs were alike: such high backs and low backs, and leather bottoms and worsted bottoms, and no bottoms; and cracked marble tables with curious carved legs, holding bells in their claws, as though they were going to play ninepins.

My grandfather made a bow to the motley assemblage as he entered, and having undressed himself, placed his light in the fire place, asking pardon of the tongs, which seemed to be making love to the shovel in the chimney corner, and whispered soft nonsense in its ear.

The rest of the guests were by this time sound asleep; for your Mynheers are huge sleepers. The house maids, one by one, crept up yawning to their attics, and not a female head in the inn was laid on a pillow without dreaming of the Bold Dragoon.

My grandfather, for his part, got into bed, and drew over him one of those great bags of down, under which they smother in the Low Countries; and there he lay, melting between two feather beds, like an anchovy sandwich between two slices of toast and butter. He was a warm complexioned man, and this smothering played the duce with him. So, sure enough, in a little while it seemed as if a legion of imps were twitching at him, and all the blood in his veins was in a fever heat.

He lay still, however, until all the house was quiet, and every body was snug in bed, each one in a different chambers; who answered one another in all kinds of tones and cadences, like so many bull frogs, in a swamp. The quieter the house became the more unquiet became my grandfather. He waxed warmer, until at length the bed became too hot to hold him.

"Faith there's no standing this any longer," says he; so he jumped out of bed and went strolling about the house.

Well, my grandfather had been for some time absent from his room, and was returning perfectly cool, when just as he reached the door he heard a strange noise with in. He paus-d and listened. It seemed as if some one was trying to hum a tune in defience of the asthma. He recollected the report of the room's being haunted; but he was no believer in ghosts. So he pushed the door jar, and peeped in.

Egad, gentlemen, there was a gambol carrying on within enough to have astonished St. Anthony.

By the light of the fire he saw a pale, weazen-faced fellow in a long flannel gown and a tall white night cap with a tassel to it, who sat by the fire, with a bellows under his arm by the way of bagpipe; from which he forced the asthmatical music that had bothered my grandfather. As he played, too, he kept twitching about with a thousand queer contortions: nodding his head and bobbing about his tasseld night cap.

My grandfather thought this very odd, and mighty presumptuous, and was about to demand what business he had to play his wind instrument in another gentleman's quarters, when a new cause of astonishment met his eye. From the opposite side of the room a long-backed bandy-legged chair, covered with leather, and studded all over in a coxcomical fashion with little brass nails, got suddenly in motion: thrust out first a claw foot, then a crooked arm, and at length, making a leg, slided gracefully up to an easy chair, of tarnished brocade, with a hole in its bottom, and tied it gallantly out in a ghostly minuet about the floor.

The musician now played fiercer and fiercer, and bobbed his head and night-cap about like mad. By degrees the dancing mania seemed to seize upon all other pieces of furniture. The antique, long bodied chairs paired off in couples and led down a country dance; a three legged stool danced a hornpipe, though horrible puzzled by its supernumerary leg;—while the amorous tongs seized the shovel round the waist, and whirled it about the room in a German waltz. In short, all the moveables got in motion, capering about; pirouetting hands across, right and left, like so many devils, all except a great clothes press, which kept curtseying and curtseying, like a dowager, in a corner, in exquisite time to the music; being either too corpulent to dance, or perhaps at a loss for a partner.

My grandfather concluded the latter to be the reason; so, being, like a true Irishman devoted to the sex, and at all times ready for a frolic, he bounced into the room, calling to the musician to strike up "Paddy O' Rafferty," capered up to the cloths press and seized upon the two handles to lead her out:—When, whiz! —the whole revel was at an end. The chairs, tables, tongs, and shovel sunk in an instant as quiet into their places as if nothing had happened; and the musician vanished up the chimney, leaving the bellows behind him in his hurry. My grandfather found himself seated in the middle of the floor, with the clothes press sprawling before him, and the two handles jerked off and in his hands.

"Then, after all, this was a mere dream!" said the inquisitive gentleman.

"The divil a bit of a dream!" replied the Irishman; "there never was a truer fact in the world. Faith, I should like to see any man tell my grandfather it was a dream."

Well, gentlemen, as the clothes press was a mighty heavy body, and my grandfather likewise particularly coming to the ground would make a bit of a noise.—Faith, the old mansion shook as though it had mistaken it for an earthquake. The whole garrison was alarmed. The landlord who slept just below, hurried up with a candle to inquire the cause, but with all his haste his daughter had hurried to the scene of uproar before him. The landlord was followed by the landlady, who was followed by the bouncing bar maid, who was followed by the simpering chambermaids, all holding together as well as they could such garments as they first laid hands on; but all in a terrible hurry to see what the devil was to pay in the bedroom of the bold dragoon.

My grandfather related the marvellous scene he had witnessed, and the prostrate clothes press, and the broken handles bore testimony to the fact. There was no contesting such evidence; particularly with a lad of my grandfather's complexion, who seemed able to make good every word either with sword or shilelah. So the landlord scratched his head and looked silly, as he was apt to do when puzzled. The landlady scratched—no, she did not scratch her head, but she knitted her brow, and did not seem half pleased with the explanation. But the landladie's daughter corroborated it, by recollecting that the last person who had dwelt in that chamber was a famous juggler who had died of St. Vitus's dance and no doubt had infected all the furniture.

This set all things to rights, particularly when the chambermaids declared that they had all witnessed strange carryings on in that room; and as they declared this "upon their honors," there could not remain a doubt upon the subject.

"And did your grandfather go to bed again in that room?" said the inquisitive gentleman.

That's more than I can tell. Where he passed the rest of the night was a secret he never disclosed. In fact, though he had seen much service, he was but indifferently acquainted with geography, and apt to make travels about inns at nights, that would have puzzled him sadly to account for in the morning.

"Was he ever apt to walk in his sleep?" said the knowing old gentleman.

Never that I heard of.

FACETIÆ.

So we'll live,
And pray, and sing, and tell old tales, and laugh
At gilded butterflies, and hear poor rogues
Talk of Court News; and we'll talk with them too,
Who loses and who wins; who's in and who's out;
And take upon us the mystery of things,
As if we were God's spies. SHAKSPEARE.

CONVIVIAL CLUBS OF FORMER DAYS.

The Surly Club was established near Billingsgate to keep up the genuine vernacular—the vulgar tongue. Coachmen, watchmen, carmen, and such like, met the gentlemen once a week, to exercise in the art and mystery of fine language, that they might not be at a loss to abuse those whome they drove, &c. If any of these members had by mistake uttered a civil expression, or was suspected to be corrupted with good manners, he was looked upon as an effeminate coxcomb, who had sucked in too much of his mother's milk, and was most likely expelled. By this society was erected the bum pug post at Billingsgate, to harden the latter ends of the members once a year, in order that through a cowardly fear of being kicked, they should be thus used to it.

The Club of Ugly Faces.—This society consisted of those to whome Nature had been exceedingly unkind. The first member had a nose of immense magnitude; the second a chin like and as long as a shoe horn; the third, disfigured with a mouth like a gallon pot, when both the sids are nearly squeezed together; a fourth, with eyes like a tumbler, and one bigger than the other; a fifth, with a pair of convex cheeks, as if like Æolus the god of the winds, he had stopped his breath for a time, to be the better able to discharge a hurricane; a sixth, with as many wens and warts as there are knots and prickles upon an old thornback; a seventh, with a pair of skinny jaws, that wrapped over in folds like the hide of a rhinoceros, and that with a tusk strutting beyond his lips, as if he had been bagged by a man tiger; a eighth with a hare lip that had drawn his mouth into several corners; the ninth, with a huge "Lauderdale" head, as big in circumference as the golden ball under St. Paul's Cross, and a face so fiery, that the ruddy front of the orbicular lump which stood so elevated upon his lofty shoulders, made it look like the flaming urn on the top of the Monument, &c. &c. and such like who might resemble barber's blocks in expression. These gentlemen seldom distinguished one another by their names, but generally saluted each other, when they drank round after the following manner, viz. Here Nose, my service to you; Thank ye, Chin, Her's to you, Bubberlip; Your servant Mr Squint. My love to you, neighbour Goggle; I am yours, neighbour All over. "Here's success, brother Underjaw; I'll pledge you, brother Plumpcheeks.

None were admitted into this club who by their general appearance, could not make a woman miscarry, or frighten children into fits. And it was proposed that every new member should, upon his inauguration, make a speech in favour of Æsop, whose portrait should hang over the chimney; and also, that they should purchase the heads of Thersites, Dan Scotus, Scarron, (who compared his body to the letter Z) and Hudibras, with all the celebrated ill faces of antiquity as furniture for the club room. We are here reminded of Agesilaus, the 2d King of Lacedemon, who was ill formed and lame. He was always the first to jest upon these deformities, which is the usual way of other men of wit in like circumstances. By that means they became the ridicule. "You deprive (says Seneca both the ill natured and the facetious of their jest, if you begin first yourself. Nobody ever gave room to another to laugh at him, who began of his own accord. Vatinius is said to be a man born both for laughter and hatred, but at the same time he was a pleasant fellow, and ready at a joke. He had always a great deal to say upon his feet and ugly face, by which means he avoided the banter of his enemies, who were more numerous than his deseases, and Cicero in particular."

NATURAL HISTORY.

FASCINATION OF SERPENTS.

In every country where much credulity prevails on any local subject, numerous stories are detailed in support of the general opinion; and such of those tales as abound in the marvellous, and have any ingenuity in their structure are currently propogated in gaping wonderment. Half a century ago, every village had its traditionary accounts of local ghosts and apparitions; and any literary champion disposed to support their credit, might have found in any country, ample instances in proof of his visionary beings.

That at present is strictly the case with the fascination of serpents. A very large proportion of the population has been reared in its belief, and almost every book writer can recite wonderful instances of its existence. A thousand such tales may be picked up in this country, where the charming by serpents is the current subject of marvellous recital; but certainly the climax of absurdity was never carried higher than in one case, making the eyes of a viper erect a man into an immoveable statue, and, in another, the eyes of man immoveable statue, and, in another, the eyes of man himself bring the rushing spring of an infuriated bull or himself bring the rushing spring of an infuriated bull or buffalo to a stand-still. The only wonder in such relations is, that any person can be found so imbecile in mind as to give them the slightest credence. Surprise and fear are alleged to be the cause of fixing the fascinated animal; but that is contradicted by the whole history of animated nature. Civilized man, indeed, and the animals he has domesticated, will frequently be thrown into disconcerted confusion, by the sudden rencounter of imminent danger, but the same thing never happened to any animal in a state of nature. The former, unaccustomed to the contemplation of unseen danger, are surprized into sudden confusion on its approach; but the latter, ever on the alert for self-preservation, have every mental faculty called into vigor ous activity on the instant of its appearance in any shape; and the weakest and least defensible animal bewer, appears to greater advantage than in the display of its marvellous adroitness to escape impending peril.

A hare before a couple of grey hounds, her superiors in speed, never for an instant loses her presence of mind, but to the last turn directs all her physical powers with the correct observance of place and existing peril. A winged partridge or pheasant, although struck to the ground in the moment of their imagined security, and in a way that they never could have contemplated, instantly run off in covering concealment, and lodge themselves as distantly and artfully in cover, as often to elude all the address of the sportsman and his pointers. The same steady and firm exercise of mind in the exercise of peril pervades every species of animals, and with all the feeble classes, furnishes the only means of their security and escape. Against the silly and puerile accounts, therefore, of birds and other animals leaping down into the expanded jaws of a voracious serpent, and [illegible] through all her works."

"All nature cries aloud through all her works."

Of all men, the serpent jugglers of India, and the viper catchers of Egypt are the most conversant with all the natural habitudes of the reptile brood. They are daily familiar with all their haunts and various modes of existence, and are infinitely the best qualified to decide on any question respecting their natural history; but so far are they from assigning any powers of fascination to the hateful race, that they actually assume it to themselves, and allege that they can sooth down into harmless quiescence the most irritable and poisonous of the tribe. Their pretended charming is all juggling trickery, but it is executed with such an artful address as baffles even conjecture as to the mode of conducting it, and we are yet strangers to the management which enables them to handle, with impunity, creatures so fatally gifted

The investigation of natural history, in all its various branches, well merits the exercise of a powerfully philosophical mind, but in its progress, such a mind will have to encounter far more of difficulty in the detection of established errors than in the development of new truths. There is a noble display of instructive wisdom in the varied branches of natural science, that carries conviction to all ingenious and capable intellects the instant it is correctly perceived, but superstition and credulity have heaped up so many impure obstacles in the way, as to require herculean power and means to cleanse away the sugean filth.

Green Monkeys of South America.—An English officer, serving in the Colombian army, gives the following particulars of the Green Monkeys of South America. By night the trees were visited by groupes of green monkeys, who kept up such horrid chattering as prevented our enjoying a single moment's repose until day, when we were beset by immense flocks of parrots, paroquets, and macaws, more noisy than our nocturnal visiters. I had an opportunity of witnessing the ingenuity and cunning of the Indian guides, one of whom proposed to rid us of the monkeys, provided he got a handsome pen knife as a reward. He went outside the trees with a bottle, in which he put some peas; putting down his fingers now and then, he took out some, which he eat with seeming satisfaction; leaving a few strewed around, he retired; and the monkeys, who are very minute in their observance of man's actions, descended very cautiously, and having found some of the peas, a quarrel ensued; but one, more crafty than the rest, peeped into the bottle, and, determining to secure a good handful, thrust down his hand, and, filling it, he set up a titter, as he found he could not withdraw his hand. The Indian now ran and secured him, and all the tribe fled from branch to branch in evident agitation. Part of an old red jacket being procured, all hands went to work to make him a new suit of clothes, and, after being dressed, he was let loose in the branches among his astonished companions, who collected round him, and, gazing on him with curiosity for about five minutes, a busy scene ensued; the other monkeys plucking branches, and flogging the soldier monkey, who jumped from branch to branch, pursued by the whole commonwealth of monkeys, until they were out of sight. Thus the Indian rid us of those pests.—We daily saw different tribes, perhaps three tribes of different colours in one day; some were very mischievous, throwing pistachios, limes, and other fruits, at us. her women rode on donkeys, one of which getting tired, and as beating would not make him go, he was a handsome by the monkeys, as usual. were attentive spectators, and seeing the donkey left, they descended to have a ride; three or four dozen mounted together, on his ears, neck, and every other part, and even two clung to his tail, while the others whipped and scratched him The donkey, frightened by his novel treatment, acquired new speed, and began cantering, while his purchasers as nimbly plied him, until he came up to our rear braying. The monkeys now abandoned him, so dreadfully scratched and torn, that he never attempted to stop afterwards.

Poetry.

ON DYING FOR LOVE.

[illegible] Marian T—, when she was lovely and lively a girl as ever lead a blushing cheek on a sunny pillow, and sank into dreams of innocence and joy. I remember her too, when the rose was fading from her cheek, and solace and happiness had vanished for ever from her forsaken heart. There was the impress of blighted hope upon her brow, the record of the villain's faithlessness upon her sunken cheek. Her eye told of long suffering, and her constant, but melancholy smile, evinced how patiently she endured it. Day by day the hue of mortality waxed fainter and fainter; her beautiful form wasted away, and she became at last like a spirit of heaven dwelling among, but scarcely holding communion with, the sons and daughters of the earth. The latter part of her life seemed an abstraction—a dream—an unconsciousness of what was passing around her. The sister of S—(of S— who had broken the vows that were pledged with such seeming fidelity to Marian) abhorred her brothers perfidy, and was fonder than ever of the poor heart broken girl. She sincerely pitied her—

For [illegible] renneth soone in gentil harte; and sought by every means in her power to revive her past energies, and recall her to lost happiness and peace But it was too late; although she complained not, her spirit was broken for ever; and in the effort of raising herself to give a last kiss to her friend, she sank back and died without a struggle or a sigh.—There were some lines in a periodical work shortly after her death evidently written by a person acquainted with the parties, which, I think, may not improperly be inserted here.

To G— S—.

There's a stain on thee that can never fade,
Tho' bathed in the tears of future years,
And this world will be but a world of shade,
Of sorrow and anguish, and bitter tears.
Thou hast seen a flow'ret pine away,
Thou, low'd by thee, would have blossom'd fair
And thou shalt meet with a worse decay,
And wither and die in thy soul's despair.

Like the Summer's breath was the gentle tale
With which thou told'st of thy love and truth,
But thy falsehood came, like the wintry gale,
And blighted the flow'ret in its youth.
It has sunk to earth, but never can sigh
Has e'er betray'd thy bosom's pain,
Yet a day will come when thou would'st die
To call it back from the grave again.

Had'st thou cherish'd it with the smile that won
Its tender love in Spring's blooming hour;
Had thy love beam'd o'er it like the sun,
Whose rays are life to the drooping flow'r;
It had still been fair, and thou had'st now
Been calm as the lake that sleeps in rest,
But the ray of Joy shall ne'er light thy brow,
Nor pleasure dwell in thy lonely breast.

For the lovely one whom thou left'st to lorn,
A deep lament shall be;
But no heart will sigh, and no bosom mourn
And no eye e'er weep for thee.

Thou wilt pass away to the realms of death
In solitude and gloom,
And a curse will cling to thy parting breath,
As sweet as thy doom.

IRISH CHARACTER.

His God, and his friends, and his own native hills,
The maid that he loves, and his sons in wadding rills,
Are grateful to Pat of the Emerald Isle,
His graves and his lawns, and all purity and love,
Where nothing molests, but the sound of the dove,
His sweet limpid fountains, his rivers and lakes,
Are never infested with lizards and snakes;
Pat roams without fear, through his Emerald Isle
Some foreigners mock him, and say that he's 'wild,'
Some call him a 'savage,' and nature's rude child,
That blunders and boasts in his Emerald Isle
And grant it, ye sons of self-knowledge and pride,
That Pat be your friend, and let friendship be tried,
He'll stand at your back, with the 'spring of the roe,'
But Paddy's the devil, when Paddy's your foe;
For hot runs the blood of the Emerald Isle
The oaths and the bumpers to which he gives birth,
His speech and his clothing are subjects of mirth,
When wandering far from his Emerald Isle.
But pardon his rudeness, nor smile at his slips,
Nor laugh at the language that flows from his lips,
Pat owns he has failings; and Patrick's a man,
And he that is perfect in life's brittle span,
Is more than poor Pat of the Emerald Isle

Domestic.

(Mr. Hamilton Merritt's Speech Concluded)

Gentlemen.—This canal, from its peculiar and most favourable situation, will be the means of creating within itself, or by its own erection, a greater amount of transportation than will pay the interest of the capital expended, over and above the transit, it will draw from Lake Erie and the profits of its Hydraulic situations.

It is well known to you, that the Banks of River Welland and Grand River abounds with an almost inexhaustible supply of pine timber now useless, which will be floated down to our establishment, converted into lumber, and transported to the entrance of the American channel at Tonewanta, where it must ever find a constant and ready demand, as their borders are destitute of the article. There is likewise immense quarries of the purest white Gypsum or plaster, on the borders of the Grand River, which will soon become profitable articles of commerce. Staves can be conveyed from thence to Lake Ontario for two or three dollars a thousand. All the produce from the most remote townships on that river and west of it, which now passes to Burlington, will now come through this Canal; the transit of these articles, and many more too numerous to mention, will be created by its erection, besides thousands of barrels of flour which will be drawn from the surrounding country to its mills. By entering the mouth of the Grand River one month earlier every spring, we will draw all the early transit from the American shore, even should they join their own canal again at Tonewanta, this is an advantage of the greatest importance, and one which this will ever retain, as nature has placed such a barrier to the entrance of Buffalo by the ice, that with all their enterprize and ingenuity, they will never be able to overcome it. In case it should hereafter be found expedient, by the erection of one lock with a four foot lift at Fort Erie or Waterloo, and making a tow path on the Niagara and Chippawa Rivers, which can be accomplished at a small expense, vessels can be towed of any burden from Lake Erie to the entrance of the cut.

This Peninsula is wholly destitute of a situation for Mills that can even be considered mercantile—the falls of Niagara excepted This Canal having the Niagara for its Feeder at the commencement will afford the best and most numerous situations for machinery, within the same distance in America, wet or dry, warm or cold, we will always have the same steady and abundant supply of water, which will be alternately made use of without any detriment to transportation, until terminating in Lake Ontario.

The very idea of those contemplated improvements, has a tendency to exhilerate our spirits instead of remaining in their dull supine state in which we have been for years past, we will mingle in the bustle and active scene of business. Our commodities will be enhanced in value, and a general tide of prosperity will be witnessed on the whole line and surrounding country.—In short, Gentlemen we are situated in a country favoured with every advantage, both in soil, climate, and situation; its resources only remain to be known to draw men of capital to us, and we trust, now improvements have commenced it will increase and that we may witness the same spirit of enterprise here, which our neighbours the Americans possess in so eminent a degree.

We have now stated the local advantages of this Canal, and the reasonable expectation we have to think it will become a profitable speculation to the Stockholders.—You may think we are hazarding a bold assertion, but I verily believe it to be as great a national object to the Province as the Erie Canal to the State of New York. They have appropriated 8,000,000 dollars, for the purpose of connecting Lake Erie with Hudson River, or the Ocean We will effect the same object for one fifteenth part of the money, and will reap equal if not superior advantages by the Welland.—This Canal is the commencement of a similar undertaking—it is the most important link in that chain of communication we hope to see effected within three years. We remove the only natural barrier of importance, the Fall of Niagara.—The Rapids between Prescott and Lachine command the next consideration—if the subject is properly brought up before the Legislatures of the two Provinces this winter, it can be commenced the year following. There is nothing novel or intricate in the undertaking, or the method to be pursued; let us only follow the plan adopted by that celebrated and enlightened Statesman, De Witt Clinton, and it will succeed without taxing the Country one farthing. If they can make a Canal 450 miles without taxation, I trust we can do the same for 50 miles, by pursuing similar means. When we contemplate the natural advantages we possess over the Americans in our water communication, it is astonishing to think of the apathy and indifference that has hitherto prevailed amongst us on the subject. If we inquire into the cause, nine tenths of us would censure the Government—there [illegible] ready to remove the burden from our own shoulders, but can only blame ourselves. Can or ought we to suppose our Governors are as immediately interested in any part or portion of the country, as the inhabitants, who are living on the spot? If you were asked in what branch of the Legislature should those measures emanate? You would readily answer, the branch composed of the Commons—they are sent from among us, their interest is ours, and if we do not find exertion among them, where are we to look for it; show me a measure that has passed that Body for the improvement of the Country, and you will find it has received the concurrence and sanction of the other branches. It is a rare occurrence that the measures of great national improvement, originate from the Administration of the Government. It was not the Governor of New York who first recommended the Erie Canal—it was brought forward by the people, who were the most interested, the system or plan was matured by Mr. Clinton, in an early day, and the Act finally passed in 1817, during the Administration of Governor Tompkins.

I mention this circumstance more particularly, as a most unfounded idea is entertained, not only among ourselves, but in the United States, that the cause of our negligence, and inattention to improvement of the Country, originate in the Government of the Colony, and has a tendency to prevent people of capital from making it their residence.

We shall soon begin to realize the benefits arising from the American Canal, this will create a competition between the rival markets, New York, and Montreal or Quebec, and be a general benefit to the Country above us. All the produce from the American side will be carried down the St. Lawrence, for we will have nearly the same advantage in transit as heretofore. It will be the means of more closely uniting the interests of the two Provinces, and increasing the character and reputation of our Country abroad.

The Directors have reason to believe they have been fortunate in obtaining contractors every way qualified for the undertaking; and, it is hoped, in your future choice, you will select men of integrity and perseverance, who will carry on the work as rapid as under existing circumstances it has commenced that they may command the perfect confidence of the Stockholders and be so fortunate as to obtain Contractors who will be entitled to the confidence of their men. In that case every branch will harmonize, and there will be no difficulty in completing the all important undertaking. That it may have a speedy and successful termination is the most ardent wish of the Welland Canal Company.

Longevity of Indians.—Within these last eight years, there have died in the village of Cognawaga, ten Indians, each of them past one hundred years of age. Some days ago, the Curate buried a woman, aged 106. There is now living, a Squaw who has her descendants to the fifth generation; in other words the child has now living, her mother, grandmother, grandmother's mother, and grandmother's grandmother It may be worthy of remarking, that the life of these people, is made up of a singular mixture of idleness and hardship, and upwards of ninety meals in an hundred consist of Indian corn (maize) cooked in a way peculiar to Indians.—Can. Spect.

BIRTH.

On Tuesday morning, Mrs. G. Powell of a Daughter.

Upper Canada Gazette.

EXTRAORDINARY.

YORK U. C. THURSDAY EVENING, JANUARY 13th, 1825.

By Authority.

Provincial Parliament of UPPER-CANADA,

At One o'clock this day, His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor proceeded in the usual state, to the Legislative Council Chamber, in pursuance of the adjournment on Tuesday last, when, being seated on the Throne, and the House of Assembly being present at the bar, he was pleased to open the Session with the following

SPEECH.

Honourable Gentlemen of the Legislative Council,

And Gentlemen of the House of Assembly.

In the absence of any urgent occasion for your deliberations at an earlier period. I have called you together at the time which best accords with the ordinary course of the Public Business.

The accident which has deprived you of the Buildings erected for the use of the Legislature has been attended with the destruction of documents, the loss of which may produce temporary inconvenience, though I trust it will not render your labors less effectual for the general good.

Since the Legislature was last assembled, a very considerable sum has been dispensed from the Imperial Treasury to the Sufferers by the late War, and the recommendation of His Majesty upon the prayer of this Province, has procured such a modification of the East India Company's Charter, as will, it is hoped, admit of our being supplied henceforward with a most important article of consumption, in a manner that must equally contribute to the increase of lawful commere, and the suppression of an illicit trade which has been alike injurious to the Revenue, and prejudicial to public morals.

In the success of your Joint Address, praying for a deduction from the British Import Duty on a principal production of the Western District, another instance of the Royal consideration has been afforded, by which much encouragement will be given to the Agricultural exertions of the inhabitants of that portion of the Province; who, though enjoying a fertile soil, and genial climate, sustain in a commercial point of view, much comparative inconvenience from their inland situation.

Gentlemen of the House of Assembly,

I have given directions that the Public Accounts and the Estimates for the present year shall be laid before you. You will find that a very considerable debt remains charged against the funds of the Province, notwithstanding the receipt and application of the arrears awarded by the last Arbitrators. I trust that [illegible] by the improvement of the Revenue, [illegible] our population becomes more numerous, [illegible] sures which you may find it expedient to devise, with a view to accelerate its increase, the receipts will be made at no distant period, to exceed so far the necessary charges as to afford the prospect of speedy relief from this incumbrance In the mean time you will find me always disposed to confine our expenditure within the narrowest limits which a prudent regard for the essential interests of the Province will permit; and I fully confide in your readiness to make just provision for the maintenance of the Public Service.

Honorable Gentlemen, and Gentlemen,

You are met to deliberate on the affairs of the Province at a moment when happily for the interests of mankind, a variety of circumstances have concurred in raising the Great Empire to which we belong, to a heigth of power and prosperity, not exceeded at any period of her history. Under the auspicious Reign of a beloved Monarch, the Royal Councils and the measures of an United Parliament, have, by the favor of Divine Providence, placed our Parent State in a situation, which claims the respect and admiration of other Countries; and which, while it displays in a remarkable degree the blessings of internal happiness and tranqullity, holds, forth the best assurance of security and peace to the remotest portion of her Dominions.

The King views with lively interest the efforts which the Colony has directed to the improvement of its Internal communications, and it is a great satisfaction to me to inform you, that His Majesty's Government is disposed to afford its co-operation in a manner that would materially facilitate the completion of those great works projected by the Commissioners for the improvement of our Inland Navigation, whose report, with my recommendation, I was happy to transmit at the request of the Legislature, to His Majesty's Secretary of State for the Colonies. The details of the correspondence which has passed on this subject shall be laid before you. They will exhibit an additional proof of the favorable disposition with which His Majesty's Government regards this Province; and I cannot forbear expressing the persuasion which experience permits me to indulge, that from the continuance of unanimity in your proceedings, and from a mutual confidence between the Government and the People, His Majesty will receive the most convincing assurance that the advantages extended to you, are duly appreciated, and will be judiciously and effectually improved.

Upper Canada Gazette.

New Series.

VOL. IV. YORK U. C. THURSDAY JANUARY 20th, 1825. No. III.

By Authority.

York, U. C. January 17th, 1825.

This day, at Eleven o'clock, the Honourable the Legislative Council waited upon His EXCELLENCY the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, with the Address, of which the following is a copy:—

To HIS EXCELLENCY SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, Knight Commander of the Most Honourable Military Order of the Bath, Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada, and Major General Commanding His Majesty's Forces in North America, &c. &c. &c.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY,

WE, His Majesty's most loyal and dutiful Subjects, the Legislative Council of Upper Canada, beg leave to approach your Excellency with our most respectful acknowledgements for your very gracious Speech from the Throne, at the opening of the present Session of the Provincial Parliament.

WE regret that the accident which has deprived us of the Buildings erected for the use of the Legislature, has been attended with the loss of documents which may produce temporary inconvenience, though not we hope such as to render our labours for the public good less effectual.

THE paternal affection evinced by our most Gracious Sovereign, in directing a very considerable sum to be dispensed from the Imperial Treasury to the sufferers by the late war, not only calls forth our warmest gratitude, but refreshes and strengthens that deep attachment which we have always felt for His Royal Person and Government.

NOR are we less deeply affected with His Majesty's condescension in attending to the prayer of this Province, and procuring by His Royal recommendation such a modification of the East India Company's Charter, as will admit of our being supplied hereafterward with a most important article of consumption, in a manner that must equally contribute to the increase of lawful Commerce, and the suppression of an illicit trade which has been alike injurious to the Revenue, and prejudicial to public morals.

IN the success of our Joint Address praying for a deduction from the British Import Duty on a principal production of the Western District, we most gratefully acknowledge another instance of the Royal consideration, by which much encouragement will be given to the agricultural exertions of the Inhabitants of that remote portion of the Province.

WE rejoice that we are met to deliberate on the affairs of the Province at a moment when, happily for the interests of mankind, a variety of circumstances have concurred in raising the great Empire to which we belong, to a height of power and prosperity not exceeded at any period of her history, and daily feeling her genial influence and fostering care, we are anxious to attain something of that wisdom in our local arrangements which, under the auspicious name of a beloved monarch, the Royal Councils, and the measures of an United Parliament, has by the power of Divine Providence placed our Parent State in a situation which claims the respect and admiration of other Countries, and which, while it displays in a remarkable degree the blessings of internal happiness and tranquility, holds forth the best assurances of security and peace to the remotest portion of her dominions.

THE lively interest with which our most Gracious Sovereign views the efforts which the Colony has directed to the improvement of its internal communications, may well encourage us to redoubled exertion, and while we participate in the great satisfaction felt by your Excellency in the disposition evinced by His Majesty's Government, to afford its co-operation in a manner that would materially facilitate the completion of those great works, projected by the Commissioners for the improvement of our Inland Navigation, whose report you were pleased to transmit with your recommendation to His Majesty's Secretary of State for the Colonies, we shall feel highly gratified in perusing the details of the correspondence which has passed on this subject, when laid before us, as they will doubtless exhibit an additional proof of the favourable disposition with which His Majesty's Government regards the Province, we cannot be insensible to the great obligations we are under to your Excellency for contributing, by your strong recommendation, to the success of our various prayers, thus adding fresh proofs of your Excellency's ardent desire to promote by every means in your power the happiness of the Province.

Cherishing the same persuasion which experience permits your Excellency to indulge that from the continuance of unanimity in our proceedings, and from a mutual confidence between the government and the People, His Majesty will receive the most convincing assurance that the advantages extended to us are duly appreciated, and will be judiciously and effectually improved, we are happy in assuring your Excellency that it shall be our earnest study to preserve this unanimity and confidence which have guided our deliberations so harmoniously for many years, and which have never been interrupted since your Excellency assumed the Government of the Colony.

Legislative Council Chamber, 15th January, 1825.

J. BABY,
Speaker.

To which HIS EXCELLENCY was pleased to make the following reply:—

Honourable Gentlemen,

YOUR sentiments of dutiful and affectionate attachment to His Majesty, and the sense you entertain of the genial influence and fostering care of the Parent State, give me the greatest satisfaction; and your concurrence with my wishes to preserve that unanimity and mutual confidence which have happily prevailed in the intercourse of this Legislature for many years, is highly agreeable to me, and affords the best founded hopes that your labours will continue essentially to advance the interests of your country.

York, U. C. January 17th, 1825.

This day, at Eleven o'clock, the House of Assembly waited upon His EXCELLENCY the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, with the Address, of which the following is a copy:—

To HIS EXCELLENCY SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, Knight Commander of the Most Honourable Military Order of the Bath, Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada, and Major General Commanding His Majesty's Forces in North America, &c. &c. &c.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY,

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal Subjects the Commons of Upper Canada in Provincial Parliament Assembled, humbly beg leave to thank your Excellency for your gracious Speech from the throne at the opening of the present Session.

WE very much regret the injury the Province has sustained in the destruction of the building erected for the use of the Legislature, and lament that it has been attended with the loss of documents, the want of which, will no doubt prove inconvenient, though we trust it will not so materially obstruct our labours as to render them less efficient for the public good.

WE recognize with feelings of the warmest gratitude the proof which His Majesty has afforded of His most gracious attention to the wants of this Province in directing to be dispensed from the Imperial Treasury a very considerable sum towards relieving the sufferers by the late War. And we are deeply sensible of His Majesty's goodness in procuring, upon the prayer of this Province, such a modification of the East India Company's Charter as it is hoped will admit of our being supplied, hereafter, with a most important article of consumption in a manner that must equally contribute to the increase of lawful Commerce, and the suppression of illicit Trade, which has been alike injurious to the Revenue, and prejudicial to public morals.

WE deem it by no means an inconsiderable addition to these important benefits, that, through His Majesty's gracious recommendation, an abatement has been made in the British import duty on a principal production of the Western District, since we anticipate from that indulgence much encouragement to the agricultural interests of the inhabitants of that portion of the Province, who, though enjoying a fertile soil and genial climate, sustain, in a commercial point of view, much inconvenience from their inland situation.

THE Public accounts, and the Estimates for the present year, shall receive our earnest attention.

WE regret to learn from your Excellency that notwithstanding the receipt and application of the arrears awarded by the late arbitrators, a very considerable debt remains charged against the fund of the Province. We trust that either by the improvement of the Revenue, as the population becomes more numerous, or by measures which we may find it expedient to devise to accelerate its increase, the excess of the receipts above the necessary charges will afford the prospect of speedy relief from this incumbrance. In the mean time we receive with much satisfaction the assurance of your Excellency's disposition to confine the expenditure within the narrowest limits, which a prudent regard for the essential interests of the Province will permit, a disposition which we assure Your Excellency, will be met by a perfect readiness on our part, to make just provision for the maintenance of the public service.

We acknowledge with the most humble and sincere gratitude to Divine Providence, our peculiar happiness in being called to deliberate on the Affairs of the Province, at a moment when fortunately for the interests of mankind, a variety of circumstances have concurred in raising the Great Empire, to which we belong, to a height of prosperity and power exceeded at any period of her history. Though far removed from the Seat of this Glorious Empire, we feel an equal pride, and have an equal interest, with any of her subjects in observing, that under the auspicious Reign of a beloved Monarch, the Royal Councils and the Measures of an United Parliament, have placed our Parent State in a situation which claims the respect and admiration of other Countries, while it displays in a remarkable degree the blessings of internal happiness and tranquillity, and holds forth the best assurance of security and peace to the remotest portion of her Dominions.

We receive with great thankfulness from your Excellency the information that His Majesty views with lively interest, the efforts which this Colony has directed to the improvement of its internal Communications, and we regard it as a matter deserving our most grateful acknowledgments that His Majesty's Government is disposed to co-operate in a manner that may materially facilitate the accomplishment of those great works, which have been projected by the Canal Commissioners.

The details of the Correspondence which has passed on this subject will be received by us with peculiar interest, and we beg your Excellency to accept the assurance of our sincere conviction that the Province is deeply indebted for this flattering instance of His Majesty's Gracious attention to its welfare, to the earnest recommendation with which your Excellency has been pleased to second the prayer of the Legislature.

However gratifying it must be to the People of Upper Canada to receive so many successive proofs of the Royal Consideration, we entreat your Excellency to believe, that no additional instance was necessary to confirm the belief which has ever been entertained of the favourable disposition with which His Majesty's Government regards this Province, and it would be to us a source of the most painful regret if we could entertain for a moment the apprehension that the just expectations of your Excellency are likely to be disappointed, and the best interests of those whom we represent defeated, by any want of that unanimity in our proceedings, or of that mutual confidence between the government and the people, which we are fully sensible must afford to His Majesty the best assurance that the advantages extended to this Province are duly appreciated, and will be judiciously and effectually improved.

Commons House of Assembly,
15th January, 1825.

(Signed) JOHN WILLSON,
Speaker.

To which His Excellency was pleased to make the following reply :—

Gentlemen of the House of Assembly,

Your very loyal and affectionate Address demands my warmest acknowledgments, I cannot recognize without deep interest, the genuine British feeling with which you take part in the common glory and prosperity of the Empire, as the welfare of this portion of that mighty dominion, is the object of my particular attention, and of my most ardent wishes. I receive with peculiar satisfaction the assurance that you will enter on the consideration of public business with a disposition so favourable to its advancement; and I trust that the result of your deliberations will equally conduce to your own honour, and the public good.

Upper Canada.

P. M. [illegible]

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come—GREETING.

WHEREAS by Proclamation bearing date the Fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventeen, our trusty and well beloved FRANCIS GORE, Esquire, late our Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada, by and with the advice of the Executive Council thereof, and by virtue of the Authority in him vested in that behalf, did declare and appoint the Port of Kingston, otherwise commonly called the Port of Bath, within the Midland District of this Province, to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for all Goods and Merchandize, (the same being entirely prohibited and for the payment of all Duties liable to be paid on all Goods and Merchandize brought into this Province from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS by certain Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdoms of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the Third Year of our Reign, entitled, "An Act to Regulate the Trade of the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, and for other purposes relating to the said Provinces," it is among other things Enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, or person Administering the Government of either of our said Provinces respectively, by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council thereof for the time being, from time to time to diminish or increase, by Proclamation, the number of Ports or places, which then were, or thereafter might be, appointed in such Province for the Entry of Goods, Wares, and Commodities, imported from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS it appears expedient for the enabling expence to the Collection of our Revenue, that the said Port of Kingston shall no longer be a Port of Entry and Clearance—NOW KNOW YE, that by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of our Province of Upper Canada, We have thought fit to declare, and do hereby declare, that from and after the date of this our Proclamation, the said Port of Kingston shall cease to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the purposes aforesaid, and shall be and remain, as if the said Proclamation hereinbefore recited, and appointing the same to be a Port of Entry and Clearance, had never been made.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K.C.B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York this Twentieth day of March, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign. P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,

D. CAMERON, Secretary.

JOHN B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

Government House,
York, Jan. 15th, 1825.

HIS Excellency, the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, has been pleased to appoint the Hon JAMES BABY to be Speaker of the Honourable the Legislative Council, during pleasure, on account of the indisposition of the Hon the Chief Justice.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

DISTRICT OF JOHNSTOWN } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri
To WIT: } Facias, of our Sovereign Lord the King, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Abiathar Boyce in favour of James E. Campbell, I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said Abiathar Boyce Lot number Four, in the Ninth Concession of the Township of Bastard, containing Two Hundred Acres, be the same more or less, which I shall expose for Sale at the Court House in Brockville, on Saturday the 19th day of March next, at the hour of eleven of the clock in the forenoon.

JOHN STUART.
Sheriff.
District of Johnstown.

Brockville Dec 10th, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above property by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

JOHN STUART.

52—6w.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

DISTRICT OF JOHNSTOWN } BY virtue of a writ of
To WIT: } Fieri Facias, at our Sovereign Lord the King, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of George Richard Ferguson, in favour of Peter Mc Dougall, I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said George Richard Ferguson Lots number 8 and 10, in the Fifth Concession of the Township of Bitley, containing Two Hundred Acres, each, be the same more or less, which I shall expose for Sale at the Court House in Brockville, on Saturday the twelth day of March next, at the hour of eleven of the clock in the forenoon.

JOHN STUART
Sheriff.
District of Johnstown.

Brockville Dec. 10th, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above Property by Mortgage, or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me on or before the day of Sale.

JOHN STUART.

52—6w.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

DISTRICT OF JOHNSTOWN } BY virtue of a writ of
To WIT: } Fieri Facias, of our Sovereign Lord the King, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Jonathan Buell, in favour of Elnathan Hubbell I have taken in Execution Seventeen Acres of Land as belonging to the said Jonathan Buell, being part of Lot number thirteen, in the first Concession of the Township of Elizabethtown, which I shall expose for Sale at the Court House in Brockville, on Thursday the twentieth day of January next, at the hour of eleven of the clock in the forenoon.

JOHN STUART.
Sheriff.
District of Johnstown.

Brockville Dec. 10th, 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any Claim on the above Property, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my office previous to the day of sale

JOHN STUART.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, } ON Monday the 14th day of
To Wit: } March 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the town of Kingston, the following lots of Land, as belonging to Silas Ormsby, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of D'Arcy Boulton, Esq. viz:—

Lots No. 1, 2, and 4, in the 12th concession of the township of Huntingdon, in the County of Hastings, containing 600 acres more or less.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Kingston, Oct. 18th, 1824. 3—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, } ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb
To Wit. } 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following

Land, as belonging to Peter Grant, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Jerry Whitehead, viz.

The easterly half of Lot No. 10, in the First Concession of the Township of Thurlow, containing 100 acres more or less.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
November 2d, 1824 }

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, } ON Saturday the 12th of March
To Wit } 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Zachariah Simmons, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Thomas Parker, viz.

Part of Lot No. 16, in the First Concession of the Township of Sidney, containing three acres and thirty-one perches.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
November 2d, 1824. }

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

DISTRICT OF JOHNSTOWN } BY virtue of a writ of
To WIT: } Fieri Facias, of our Sovereign Lord the King, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Jonathan Buell, in favour of Elnathan Hubbell I have taken in Execution Seventeen Acres of Land as belonging to the said Jonathan Buell, being part of Lot number thirteen, in the first Concession of the Township of Elizabethtown, which I shall expose for Sale at the Court House in Brockville, on Thursday the twentieth day of January next, at the hour of eleven of the clock in the forenoon.

JOHN STUART.
Sheriff.
District of Johnstown.

Brockville Dec. 10th, 1824.

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any Claim on the above Property, by Mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my office previous to the day of sale

JOHN STUART.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, } ON Monday the 14th day of
To Wit: } March 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the town of Kingston, the following lots of Land, as belonging to Silas Ormsby, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of D'Arcy Boulton, Esq. viz:—

Lots No. 1, 2, and 4, in the 12th concession of the township of Huntingdon, in the County of Hastings, containing 600 acres more or less.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Kingston, Oct. 18th, 1824. 3—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, } ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb
To Wit. } 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Peter Grant, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Jerry Whitehead, viz.

The easterly half of Lot No. 10, in the First Concession of the Township of Thurlow, containing 100 acres more or less.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
November 2d, 1824. }

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, } ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb
To Wit. } 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Lewis Rosebush, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Duncan McDonell, viz.

A part of Lot No. 18, in the Second Concession of the TOWNship of Loughboro, containing 70 acres of Land, described as follows, viz. commencing at the south-west angle of the said Lot in front, where a post has been planted, thence running north sixteen degrees west forty-nine chains and forty links, then south seventy-four degrees north fifteen chains to the centre of the said Lot, thence south, sixteen degrees east, to the allowance for road in front of the said Concession, thence west seventy four degrees with fifteen chains to the place of beginning.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
November 2d, 1824. }

N. B. All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District } ON Saturday the 19th of
To wit } February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Daniel Lyons, seized by virtue of an Execution, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of the Hon. G. H. Markland, and John Kirby, Esq Executors to the estate of the late Lawrence Herchimer, viz:—

Lot No. 25 in the 7th Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, } No. 40,—t. d.
18th October, 1824. }

N. B All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District } ON Saturday the 12th of
To wit. } February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Solomon Oruer, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Allan McLean, Esq viz:—

The front part of Lot No. 18, in the 2d Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
18th October, 1824 }

N. B All persons having claims on the above Land or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District } ON Tuesday the 18th day of
To Wit. } January 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands and Tenements, as belonging to William Purkiss, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Charles Berczan, viz:—

Lot No. 6 in the 2d Concession of the Township of Loughborough, containing 200 Acres; also Town Lot No. 200 in the Town of Kingston, with a large two story Frame House erected thereon.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office Kingston, }
October 18th, 1824. }

N. B. All Persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District } BY virtue of a writ of fieri facias,
to wit. } issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed against the Lands and Tenements of William Phenix, in favour of Ralph Leeming and James Hamilton, I have seized and taken in execution, North half of Lot No Ten in the First Con. of the Township of Trafalgar, North side of Dundas Street, containing one Hundred Acres, on which are some improvements, and the Lot is beautifully situated, and which I shall offer for Sale on Saturday the Fourth Day of December next, at one o'clock P. M. at Mr. Carpenter's Inn, near the Premises, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for Cash only.

TITUS G. SIMONS
Late Sheriff, G. D.

late Sheriff's Office, }
24th Sept. 1824. }

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above described property, or upon any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale.

T. G SIMONS,
Late Sheriff, G. D.

☞ The above Sale is postponed until Monday the Seventh day of March next, at the same hour and place.

T. G. SIMONS
Late Sheriff G. D.

Late Sheriff's Office, }
6th Dec. 1824 } No. 53—td.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District } BY virtue of a writ of fieri facias, in to wit } sued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Abraham R. Smith, at the Suit of Robert Gillespie, Esquire, I have seized and taken in execution Lots No. Eleven, in the First Range, and Twenty-two in the Second Range, in the Town of Hamilton, and in the Township of Barton, situate on the North side of the Road leading from Dundas to Niagara, each Lot contains One Fourth of an Acre, on the Former is erected a beautiful Two Story House, well finished, and fit for any Gentleman's residence, all this valuable Property, I shall offer for sale on Monday the Sixth Day of December next, at 10 o'clock, A. M. and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for Cash only.

TITUS G SIMONS,
Late Sheriff, G. D.

Late Sheriff's Office, }
24th Sept. 1824. }

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any claim on the above described Property by Mortgage or other wise, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office, on or before the Day of Sale.

T. G. SIMONS,
Late Sheriff, G. D.

☞ The above Sale is postponed until Monday the Seventh day of march next, at the same hour, at the Court House in the said Town of Hamilton.

TITUS G. SIMONS.
Late Sheriff G. D.

Late Sheriff's Office, }
6th Dec. 1824. } No. 53—td.

SECOND SUPPLEMENTARY RETURN OF CLAIMS for Losses sustained during the Late War with the U. States of America, as Awarded by the Commissioners appointed under the Provincial Statute of 4th Geo. IV. Chap. IV. on which Twenty-Five per cent has been ordered to be paid to the undermentioned Claimants.

HIS Majesty's Receiver General will commence to pay, on Monday 14th February next, to the undermentioned Persons, or their Assigns, Twenty-Five Per Cent, on the Amount awarded by the Commission appointed by the Provincial Statute passed in the fourth year of His Majesty's Reign, Chap. IV. for Losses Sustained during the late War with the United States of America, agreeable to the following Schedule:—

When the demand is made for Payment in Person, the individual will be required to produce an Affidavit, sworn by him before a Justice of the Peace, in the following form:—

I, A. B. of the Town of in the District of do solemnly swear on the Holy Evangelists, that a Claim was prefered on my behalf, for Losses sustained during the Late War with the United States of America; and that according to the best of my knowledge and belief, I am the person by the name of A. B. in whose favour a sum appears to have been allowed by the Commissioners, according to the Notice thereof published in the Upper-Canada Gazette.

Sworn, &c.

When an Agent is authorized to receive the Payment, it is required that a Certificate shall be produced from the nearest Justice of the Peace, in this form:—

I, A. B. of the Town of in the District of one of His Majesty's Justices of the Peace, do hereby Certify, that I am acquainted with C. D. of the Town of in the District of who is a Claimant for Losses sustained in this Province during the Late War with the United States of America, and who constituted his Attorney, (or Attornies,) to act for him in obtaining payment of the same, as I have been informed, and believe; that I have seen the said C. D. within the last past six months, and that I verily believe the said C. D. to be now living.

When the Executors, Executrix, or Administrators of any person shall claim, it is necessary to produce a Certificate under the Seal of the Surrogate, that he, she, or they are the Executors, Executrix, or Administrators to the Will of A. B.

N. B. All Powers of Attorney are required in Duplicate.

NAMES OF CLAIMANTS.	TOTAL AMOUNT AWARDED.			TWENTY FIVE PER CENT.
A
Askin, John Estate of	33	0	0	8	5	0
B
Burch, David	14	0	0	3	10	0
Baiyer, Jacob	18	5	0	4	11	3
Brink, Nicholas	15	0	0	3	15	0
Boismier, Laurent	44	15	0	11	3	9
Bertram, Francois	31	4	9	7	16	2¼
Blaney, James	23	10	0	5	17	6
Burtch, Absolom	23	10	0	5	17	8
Brown, James	12	10	0	3	2	6
Brown, Henry,	37	0	0	9	5	0
Brouillard, Antoine	75	0	0	18	15	0
Bird, William	10	0	0	2	10	0
C
Cook, Noah	33	18	0	8	9	6
Campeau, Antoine	18	1	0	4	10	3
Chapel, Gordon	7	10	0	1	15	0
Current, William sen'r,	10	5	0	2	11	3
Clark, Mary	74	10	0	18	12	6
Canfield, Samuel	23	7	6	5	16	10½
Chase, Mark,	13	7	6	3	6	10½
D
Downs, Seth	78	15	0	19	13	9
Duvan, or Duval, Augustine,	25	0	0	6	5	0
Doumi, Henry	49	0	0	12	5	0
Degarisis, Albert	12	0	0	3	0	0
Dobie, James,	17	0	0	4	5	0
Dolson, John	71	10	0	17	17	6
Darkey, Christen F.	295	0	0	73	15	0
E
Ellsworth, Francis	47	15	0	11	18	9
Emerson, Joseph	32	15	0	8	3	9
Edward Isaac	8	0	0	2	0	0
Emmett, Stephen	25	7	0	6	6	9
Edwards, John	46	0	0	11	10	0
F
Flanigan, Joseph B.	31	10	0	7	17	6
Flanigan, Barnabas	11	4	0	2	16	0
Foreman, Francis	57	0	0	14	5	0
Finley, William	21	5	0	5	6	3
G
Gardner, David	20	0	0	5	0	0
Gage, Letitia	17	15	0	4	8	9
H
Henner, John	28	0	0	7	0	0
House, Nicholas	20	15	6	5	3	10½
Heather, John	25	0	0	6	5	0
Hodgkinson, William	47	3	0	11	15	9
Hall, Eve	22	10	0	5	12	6
Hawley, Henry	9	10	0	2	7	6
J
Johnston, John	145	6	0	36	5	0
Johnston, Ralph	31	0	0	7	15	0
Jessup, Susannah	533	7	0	133	6	9
K
Keeler, Mary, now Mary Morris	39	15	0	9	18	9
Kitchen, Henry	4	0	0	1	0	0
Konkle, Adam Estate of	10	0	0	2	10	0
Kilborn, Aaron	10	0	0	2	10	0
Kilburn, Timothy	12	18	0	3	4	6
Kirby, William	126	0	0	31	10	0
L
Lurridson, Laurence	12	10	0	3	2	6
Lewis, Orasha	22	7	6	5	11	10½
Laframbois, Jean B.	49	0	0	12	5	0
Lick, Daniel	6	0	0	1	10	0
Lawson, Bazill	10	0	0	2	10	0
Leaberry, Angelique Estate of	100	0	0	25	0	0
Little, Robert	246	5	0	61	11	8
M
Miller, David	14	15	0	3	13	9
Maxter, Daniel	35	0	0	8	15	0
Meeks, John	96	0	0	24	0	0
McGill, John	25	0	0	6	5	0
N
Nelson, Jonathan	142	15	0	35	13	9
O

NAMES OF CLAIMANTS.	TOTAL AMOUNT AWARDED.			TWENTY FIVE PER CENT.
Parlow, John	26	0	0	6	10	0
Pearson, Andrew	5	0	0	1	5	0
Pixley, Cooper	12	10	0	3	2	6
Pool, Thos & Catharine Pool, formerly widow Thompson	25	0	0	6	5	0
Poirier, Jean B.	28	0	0	7	0	0
R	8	5	0	2	1	3
Rogers, Alexander Estate of	300	0	0	75	0	0
Reaveley, Thomas	5	10	0	1	7	6
Robinson, William	22	0	0	5	10	0
Reynolds, Catharine	37	10	0	9	7	6
Ross, John	112	0	0	28	0	0
S
Sandwich Church,	90	0	0	22	10	0
Smith, John	44	15	0	11	3	9
Secord, David	10	7	0	2	11	9
Stevens, Garrett	33	5	0	8	6	3
Shoff, William P.	12	10	0	3	2	6
Sheek, David	80	9	8	20	2	4½
Soubere, Jean B.	28	10	0	7	2	6
Serres, Nicholas	33	12	6	8	3	1½
Stoffelmire, or Toffelmire William	25	0	0	6	5	0
Schram, William	0	0	0	0	15	0
Smith, Edward	43	10	0	10	17	6
T
Thomas, Sarah	25	0	0	6	5	0
V
Van Every, David	51	15	0	12	18	9
Van Sickle Isaac	12	10	0	3	2	6
W
Weller, Asa	80	2	0	20	0	7½
Wismer, Samuel	18	10	0	4	12	6
Willer, Ehakim	40	0	0	10	0	0
Y
Young, John	30	0	0	7	10	0

THIRD SUPPLEMENTARY RETURN OF CLAIMS for Losses sustained during the Late War with the U. States of America, as Awarded by the Commissioners appointed under the Provincial Statute of 4th Geo. IV. Chap. IV. on which Twenty-Five per cent has been ordered to be paid to the undermentioned Claimants.

NAMES OF CLAIMANTS.	TOTAL AMOUNT AWARDED.			TWENTY FIVE PER CENT.
H
Huntley, Enoch	18	17	0	4	14	3
M
McKenney, Elijah	47	5	0	11	16	3
S
Shenick, Jacob	15	0	0	3	15	0
W
Woodhull, Benjamin	18	15	6	4	13	10½

NOT OFFICIAL.

VALUABLE CHAMBER ORGAN.

For Sale by Private Contract.

A FINE-TONED, and handsomely ornamented, Chamber Organ—standing about 9 feet high by 4½ feet wide and calculated for a Church, Chapel, or other public building—may be had on very reasonable terms by applying to Mr. Richard Coates, the maker, in York.

York U. C. Jan. 17th 1825 3—3wks.

BANK OF UPPER CANADA.

NOTICE TO STOCKHOLDERS

THE STOCK and TRANSFER BOOKS will be closed from this day until Wednesday the 12th January, next; and a semi annual Dividend of Four per cent will be payable at the Bank on and after Wednesday the 26th of that month on the Capital paid in.

(Signed) THO S. G. RIDOUT, Cashier.

Bank of Upper Canada, York Dec 29th 1824 No. 1—4w.

NOTICE.

THE holders of Stock in the Steam Boat now building in this place, are hereby required to pay in to the hands of the Treasurer, twenty five per cent on each share, on or before the fifteenth day of February next ensuing. And further notice is hereby given, to all those Subscribers who have not as yet paid their first and second instalments, that unless they are paid up by the said 15th February, that their names will be struck off the list of subscribers

By order of the Committee,

S WASHBURN, Secry

York 19th, January 1825 3—3wks.

NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN to all those who are either Debtors to, or Creditors of, the Estate of the late Mr. William Robinson, of the Township of Markham, who died last Spring, to come to an immediate settlement of accounts with the Executrix, Mrs. Elizabeth Robinson, resident in the said Township of Markham, who by consent of the Executors, pays the amount of all just demands against, and receives all sums due, to the said Estate.

ELIZABETH ROBINSON, Executrix,
PETER REESON, } Executors.
WILLIAM BROWN. }

Markham, Jan. 12th, 1825. No. 2.—4 wks.

FOR SALE.

A Set of Super, London-made, Crimson-Morrea Curtains, for Three Windows, with festoons, bindings, fringe, &c. &c. &c made very full; and in the newest fashion. The very lowest price is £63.—The cost in London was much higher, and they are quite new.—Inquire of Messrs. M. & R. Meighan Market Square, York, 9th Dec. 50—tf.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that Application will be made at the next Session of the Provincial Parliament, for an Act to establish Dundas Street as the division of the Townships of Ancaster and Flamboro West, in the District of Gore, from the Village of Coots Paradise, in Lot No 53, 1st Con. of Ancaster, to the Marsh lying to the Eastward thereof, commonly called, Coots Paradise.—

Dundas, 2d. December, 1824.

No. 50.—6 w.

ALBION NEWSPAPER.

A GENTLEMAN wishing to complete a File of the Albion Newspaper is in want of the following Numbers, for which he will gladly pay a fair compensation.

Volume 1 ——Nos. 4 & 18.
" 2 ——Nos. 19. & 21,
" 3.——Nos. 4 & 7.

Apply at the U. C. Gazette Office.

No. 49.—1. f.

ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS REWARD!

STOLEN from the Dwelling House of the Subscriber, on the night of the 11th January instant, the following Property, viz.—Four Chests of Hyson Skin Tea, Four Quarter Chests of Young Hyson ditto, and One Box containing five pair of Boots and eleven pair of Shoes.—The above Reward will be paid to any person or persons, who will discover the above mentioned property, and will give such information as may lead to the conviction of the thief or thieves.

M. F. WHITEHEAD.
Collector, Port Hope.

Port Hope, 12th Jan. 1825. 3—tf.

FOR SALE.

A Farm on Yonge Street, Lot No. 32 in Markham, One Hundred and Ninety Acres, of which ninety Acres are under cultivation with a Frame House and Barn on the same, a stream of water runs across the Lot, and Purdy's Saw and Grist Mills are on the Lot opposite to the same.—Terms of payment will be made easy.—Application to be made to

GEORGE CROOKSHANK.

York, 17th Oct. 1824.

N B. Should the above mentioned Farm not be sold by the 1st March next, it will then be leased.

43—tf.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the County of Dundas, intend presenting a Petition to the Legislature at its next Session, for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace held in the said County of Dundas, and the Town of Cornwall alternately.

Also to have the Concession line between the fourth and fifth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg in the Eastern District, to have the said line run upon the true course of No. 66 E. and completed.

And also the side lines in the said fourth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg aforesaid, to have the said side lines to run upon the original course No. 24 W. 43—26w.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the First Concession of Sophiasburgh South-west of Green Point.—by reason of the material damage they have sustained three number of years back, on account of the erroneous original Survey of the Second Concession Line [illegible] vince at the ensuing Session of Parliament for the attention of the said Line, and to settle all the differences relating thereunto

Sophiasburgh, Oct 7th, 1824. } No. 44.—6 m.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the Eastern District will at the next Session of the Legislature make application to be authorised to effect a Loan to enable them to erect a Gaol and Court House in the Town of Cornwall. 37—6m.

LAND IN PERCY.

A VERY valuable Lot of Land, consisting of 200 Acres, being No. 7 in the 2nd Concession of the Township of Percy, in the Newcastle District, and not far from the River Trent, in the midst of a good settlement may be had for 2$ per Acre, with an indisputable title, and immediate possession.—Inquire at the U. C. Gazette Office. 43—tf.

NOTICE.

AN APPLICATION will be made to the Legislature at its next Session for an Act imposing a Tax on Dogs in the Town of York and its vicinity, the proceeds of which to be applicable to the police purposes.

By Order of the Magistrates in Adjourned General Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the Home District assembled on the 6th day of Sept. 1824.

(Signed,)

S. HEWARD.

Clk. Peace Home District.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the County of Glengarry intend presenting a Petition to the Legislature at its next Session for the purpose of moving the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace, held in the said County of Glengary and the Town of Cornwall alternately. 37—6m.

NOTICE.

ALL Persons indebted to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire, of Stamford, are requested to make immediate payment to the Subscriber at Vittoria, London District, and those having claims on the Estate, will be pleased to furnish him with their respective Accounts properly authenticated.

(Signed) WALTER NICHOL,

Administrator to the Estate of the Late Robert Nichol, Esquire.

Niagara, 29th May, 1824.

FIRE INSURANCE.

THE Sun Insurance Company of New York, having appointed George Crookshank, Esquire, their Agent in Upper Canada—he is ready to Insure against Loss or Damage by Fire, on Dwelling Houses, Stores, Merchandise, House-hold Furniture, and other Personal Property; at moderate Rates of Premium.— Persons wishing to Insure must send a plan of their Buildings, when wanted out of the Town of York, a respectable reference will be required, and Letters Post Paid —Application to be made to

R. W. PRENTICE

York, 29th Sept. 1824. No. 39—t. f.

TOWN LOTS IN PORT HOPE.

SEVERAL valuable building Lots, in the flourishing village of Port Hope, are for Sale, by private Contract, on the most liberal Terms, and on a credit of several Years, provided the first Instalment be paid down. Either Prudence or Manual Labour will be received, if desired, in Payment —For further particulars apply at the U. C. Gazette Office, York, or to Messrs C. & J. Stowe, Merchants,—Port Hope. No. 40.—t f.

FOR SALE.

LOT No. Two, in the First Concession of the Township of York, with the Broken Front, containing about Two Hundred and Forty Acres of Land.

Application to be made to

J. B. MACAULAY

York, 12th June, 1824. 25.—t. f.

NOTICE.

FOR SALE, by private Contracts, the House and Lot lately occupied by Mr. O'Sullivan, Saddler, King's-Street, in the Town of York, the Lot is 26 feet fronting King's-Street, by 112 feet deep.

Also.—A Lot adjoining the above on the West side, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—A Lot adjoining Mr. Duggan's, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—Three Lots on Stuarts Land, each 40, by 60 feet.

Should the above Property and Lots not be sold by Private Contract, the five last described Lots will be sold at Public Sale, on the first day of July ensuing.

Application for Terms of Sale, to be made to

ALEXANDER WOOD, ESQ.

York, 17th March, 1824. t.f.

WEEKLY REGISTER.

VOL. IV. Our endeavour will be to "stamp the very body of the time—its form and pressure"—we shall extenuate nothing, nor shall we set down aught in malice. No. 3.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 20th, 1825.

Editorial Commentary.

We patiently waited until a very late hour last night in expectation of the eastern mail; which, from some unaccountable cause or other did not arrive in time for us to make any extracts from the latest foreign news for this day's Register. We are still without snow, and have a double portion of Indian Summer, so that the mail-carriers are without the usual excuse of bad weather to account for any delay on the road.

Having always considered it highly impolitic to renounce our claim to the Columbia River, to say nothing of the rights of the North west company—, we cannot congratulate our own public on the fact that a Bill has passed the House of Representatives, in the United States, authorising the establishment of a military station at the mouth of that noble river. It seems that the original Indian name of Oregon is to be restored to the river.—A change greatly to be approved,

It is a pleasing and very extraordinary fact that, a short time ago, there was not a single prisoner in gaol, in the city of New York for debt; although that city has now a population of upwards of 130,000 souls. This circumstance is a certain proof of improved morals and flourishing times.

SELECTIONS FROM BRITISH AND FOREIGN JOURNALS.

The British Parliament was not expected to meet before the beginning of February. The King had had another attack of the gout, which prevented him from going abroad. He was recovering. Sir Charles Stuart the Ambassador to France, had returned to London, and Viscount Granville had been appointed his successor. Sir Charles Bagot, to be Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary to the King of the Netherlands. Mr. V Fitzgerald, it is said, will proceed early in the spring to take on himself the duties of Minister Plenipotentiary to the U. States.

Mr Brougham has been appointed one of the King's council.

Fire in London.—A dreadful fire had taken place in Fleet street, London. It commenced in the shop of Mr Bond, linen draper, No. 87, and extended to several of the adjoining premises, and caused a destruction of property to nearly the amount of 100,000*l.* sterling. No lives were lost. Another fire, the following day, totally destroyed the premises of Messrs Wilkinson & Son, cabinet makers and upholsterers, No. 14 Ludgate street, and considerably injured the adjoining buildings. One fireman was missing, who was supposed to have perished in the flames.

Fire in Edinbro.—A most destructive fire has occurred in Edinburgh, destroying a great number of lofty buildings, and unhousing many poor families in the vicinity of Parliament close. A long and circumstantial account of this fire may be seen in the N. York Spectator.

Mr. Fauntleroy.—The case of the unfortunate Fauntleroy was the great subject of public interest up to the latest dates. Every exertion had been made to save him, but without success. A motion for a writ of error had been argued before the Twelve Judges. The argument lasted for several days, and was concluded on the 24th. On the same day the Judges proceeded with closed doors to consider their judgement, which was delivered to a Cabinet Council convened for the occasion. The result is thus announced in a postscript to the evening papers of that day:—"At five minutes after 5 o'clock, the Privy Council broke up, after a long deliberation, and the final result was that Henry Fauntleroy is to be EXECUTED on Tuesday next." We give an outline of the proceedings of the Court, below. The following is given as a correct statement of signatures to the different petitions on behalf of Mr. Fauntleroy.

Signatures to the General Petition,	11,943
Friends Petition,	233
Petition, on the ground that forgery ought not to be punished with death—in two days,	1,449
Total,	13,625

These were presented to the King in Council previously to their deliberations.

From the British Traveller, Nov. 16.

A paper of which the following is a copy, is now circulating with a view of instructing such persons as may desire to recommend this gentleman to mercy, in the proper form of a petition to his Majesty.

Many intelligent persons have expressed a desire to recommend Mr. Fauntleroy to mercy on a different ground to what has hitherto been suggested, namely, because they consider the punishment of death for forgery ought to be abolished, a petition has accordingly been prepared, embodying this sentiment, and the same is now lying for signature, at the same places in London as the other general petition. The inhabitants of any provincial town who are of opinion that the law is too severe in the case of forgery, have now the opportunity of expressing that opinion, by preparing and transmitting to London, a petition similar to the following:

"To the King's most Excellent Majesty.

We, the undersigned, most humbly and respectfully beg permission to state that we consider the criminal laws of this country to be far too severe, and the punishment in many instances unjustly apportioned, especially in those cases where the offender, who deprives another of his property, is doomed to suffer the same ignominious death as the deliberate murderer. And firmly hoping that the legislature will, in its wisdom and humanity, very speedily reverse, and ameliorate the criminal law, so that the punishment of death may no longer be attached to the crime of forgery, we most humbly and earnestly supplicate your gracious majesty, that the unfortunate Mr. Henry Fauntleroy may not be added to the number of sufferers, under what we consider an unnecessarily severe and cruel law."

Alarming increase of Lawyers!—It appears, from the notices posted up near the Law Courts in Westminster, that no fewer than 154 persons intend to apply in the approaching term to be admitted as attornies at law. Of these seven are applications for re-admission from parties who have been attornies before.

Alderman Garratt has been elected Lord Mayor of London, and was sworn into office on the 8th of October.

The estates of the Earl Kenmare in Ireland, are worth £100 000 per annum; yet such is the equitable spirit in which they are let, that they only produce £34,000; and the tenants to whom these enormous bargains were given have lately experienced a further reduction.

DARIEN, (Geo.) Dec. 14.

Something Novel.—A mulberry tree before our door is now yeilding ripe fruit, and a friend of ours on the Hopeton plantation plucked a ripe damson plum from one of his trees on the 9th inst.

Tunnel under the Thames.—Operations have actually commenced for this extraordinary undertaking; the bed of the river has been ascertained to be quite favourable.

A Pugilist killed.—On Tuesday last two fights took place at Colebrook, near Windsor, the first between Turner and Inglis, in which the former beat his antagonist till "nature was exhausted;" and the second between Brown and Scott, in which the latter, who is a Windsor man, was so dreadfully injured, that he expired at an early hour the following morning. He had received tremendous blows on the throat and head which produced a fatal injury to the brain; and though he had immediate surgical assistance, it was ineffectual. On Friday, an inquest was held on a view of the body, when the jury returned a verdict of manslaughter against Brown.

An inhabitant of Corfu, who recently returned from Spitzbergen, after an absence of 38 years, found his wife in good health, but the widow of three husbands!

Mr. Maturin.—The Rev. R. C. Maturin, author of Bertram, and some other works, Rector of St. Peters, Dublin, died on the 30th of October. He was a very eccentric man, and prided himself much on his dancing. He believed that in a quadrille "he excelled every clergyman in the Established Church!"

The mighty Napoleon!—"A Sailor," informs us, that he has recently arrived in this country from St Helena, that the house in which the Ex-Emperor of France was imprisoned has been converted into a barn; and that in the room in which he breathed his last there is now a machine erected for thrashing corn.—"Sic transit gloria mundi!"

Taxes in England!—The amount of taxes which have been repealed in England, since 1821 is 8,520,000*l.*

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

SPAIN.

In regard to the evacuation of Spain, the statements continue very contradictory—a pretty good evidence that nothing certain is known as to the determination of the cabinet. From the various speculations about, however, we think there is no doubt that a partial evacuation has been determined on. A letter from Bayonne, of the 14th November, states, that the French army was expected to arrive almost immediately at that place. In return from Spain. A corps of observation, 40,000 strong, it is said, to be stationed between Bayonne and the Bidassoa; the head quarters to be at Bayonne. On the 13th, three couriers from Madrid, and two from Paris, passed through Bayonne. All the artillery belonging to the army of occupation will be left, and divided among the different French garrisons. A letter from Bayonne of the 17th says, that the two Swiss Regiments which had been in garrison at that place for many months were to set out immediately for Burgos, there to receive new instructions; it appears also that two other Swiss regiments would soon follow. It is surmised that these troops are to pass into the service of the king of Spain. Another account states that they will form the garrison at Madrid.

Arrests in Spain continue without intermission, and many of the richest land proprietors and merchants, accused of freemasonry and other fancied delinquencies, have been incarcerated.

There had been another abortive attempt at revolution in Portugal instigated by the partisans of Prince Miguel. Having been suppressed, the king, who appears to be very popular with the army generally, and with the people, passed over the occurrence as slightly as possible.

GREECE.

We have not only additional accounts confirming the glorious termination of the fourth year's struggle of the Greeks with their Turkish oppressors, but it appears by advices from Constantinople of the 21st of October, that that capital was in the greatest consternation, having been blockaded by the Greek fleet at the mouth of the Dardanelles. The supply of corn and provisions is consequently cut off. The Greeks also have recently been successful on shore as well as at sea; and such are the paralising effects of their victories on their brutal enemies, that the Turkish Empire may be said to be shaken to its base. The spirit of sedition is fermenting at Constantinople; different parties agitating their private interests, while the enemy is at the gates. Fortune is now dealing out so just a measure to the city of Constantine, that it presents very nearly the same spectacle as in the times of the last Emperors of the East, when it was besieged by Mahomet II. The Turks are also divided into factions.

It now appears certain that Ibrahim Pacha son of the vice-roy of Egypt, and Ismael Gibraltar, vice admiral of the Egyptian fleet, are prisoners; and a letter from a friend of the Pacha of Egypt, addressed to one of the subscribers of the Journal des Debats, contains the following paragraph.

"You will do me the greatest favour by writing to your influential friends at Naples, that these two personages may be treated with respect and consideration. You do not know how much I am attached to the Pacha of Egypt: I wish you therefore to do for his son all the good you can, without delay and without limiting yourself—the ransom of these prisoners will be worth more to the Greeks than a loss. Act—talk—do all you can—do not consider any thing a sacrifice."

The German papers contain extracts of letters from Constantinople to Oct. 22d, by which it appears that the Turkish government is determined to abandon the Morea after the pres-nt campaign.

A letter from Naples of Nov. 6, announces the receipt of intelligence, from Constantinople, of the deposition of the Grand Signior—an event which is said to have taken place without any disturbance. This wants confirmation.

The brave Canaris.—This Greek Captain who has destroyed so many vessels of the Turks with his fire ships in going in his fire boat against the Captain Pacha's ship in the Canal of Scio, he was, as he informed the English commander who saw him at Psara, becalmed in sight of two Turkish corvettes. His sailors were afraid they should be observed and massacred, and became mutinous. "What would you have?" he cried. "If you are afraid, throw yourselves into the sea, and swim to Psara; for myself I shall remain. Let not calm frighten you," he continued, "it will detain the enemy's vessel as well as our own; at ten o'clock we shall have wind." At half past nine the breeze sprung up, and at midnight the Captain Pacha was on fire. When he was seen at Psara by the captain to whom we have already alluded, his wife was employed in assisting the women, in making cartridges; but though poor he has refused pecuniary rewards, as well as superior commands.

AFRICA

CAPE COAST.

Accounts from Sierra Leone of the 24th Aug. state, that the war at Cape Coast with the Ashantees had been terminated. No particulars are given, but the inhabitants at the Cape are represented to be in a state of want and misery. One letter says,—"Several have been lying in the streets, faint and dead from starvation;—and I have myself seen poor wretches lying with the skin almost cut by the bones, and unable to rise from disease and want. The houses are unroofed; and, in fact, the whole place in a state of ruin. The Castle is in a sickly state. Of eleven officers who came out lately, seven are either dead or ill of a fever.

SOUTH AMERICA.

It is stated in some of the American papers that the new governments in Spanish America contemplate the project of opening a canal between the Atlantic and the Pacific across the isthmus between North and South America. This long talked of project, if carried into effect, would produce a great change in the navigation and commerce of the world, and do honor to the Spanish American States.

UNITED STATES.

SPANISH ACCOUNT OF THE AFFAIR AT PORTO RICO.

Translated for the Boston Palladium from the Gazette of the Government of Porto Rico of the 23d November, 1824.

SCANDALOUS ATTEMPT of the Commandant, N. D. PORTER, of the U. S. Frigate John Adams, in violation of the law of nations.

On the 14th inst the Commandant of the U. S. Frigate John Adams, under the shelter of the flag of the nation with whom we are in full peace, and very far from thinking that she was declared war against us, cast anchor in the port of Fajardo, with two schooners, landed a number of armed men, and putting himself at their head, threatened with a total destruction that town and the lives of its inhabitants, (who have no other defence than their own hearts, nor any other authority at this head than that of an Alcalde and an officer of a company of militia in its district,) under specious pretexts. He carried his boldness, availing himself of the surprise and state of peace with the nation, whose flag waved at his topmast, to spike the cannon, re embarking as soon as the people began to assemble, by which he avoided the chastisement which his action merited. If his precipitate embarkation, and the weakness of that Alcalde, whom we do not determinately announce as guilty, as the data that are to prove him so, have not yet been collected preserved the Commandant Porter from the indignation of a faithful people atrociously insulted, and for the present from the punishment that the laws of society imposed upon him. The sensate world will judge of the criminality of said Porter in both cases, as a public man, Commandant of the naval forces of a civilized nation, and as a private individual, as results from the facts that we are about to relate.

Under date of the 30th of October, the Alcalde of the said town of Fajardo gave information, that on the 26th, at 7 o'clock, P. M. the American schr. of war Beagle, Mr Charles S. Pratt, Commander, had cast anchor in that port, bringing on board of her Mr. Geo. Heffer-

Clerk of the house of Cubbott & Bailey, of the Island of St. Thomas; that he came with orders and recommendations for Don Juan Campas, of that town, in quest of some goods which he stated had been robbed of said house in the night between the 24th to the 25th.

The capt. of the port, to whom as to the other military authorities, a vigilance as to a number of privateers which we were informed had been fitted in the United States under the flag of one of those called insurgent States, had been recommended, had suspicions of the said vessel, and asked assistance of the Alcalde to examine the documents of her navigation, and having found them in order, he left clear the said schooner on the same day for her voyage.

In the information of the 14th, he says at 7 o'clock A. M of that day, he was apprized that there were coming by the inland of Pescadores, which is opposite the port, two American schrs. having long boats at their sterns; that these boats, with American colours both landed one hundred and fifty armed men, and drum beating, marched to the port, where the people of the adjacent country began to assemble, armed with whatever they could find; and, that like good Spaniards, they were resolved to sell dear the ground which they occupied, when they observed that they carried a white flag and a Cornet in front; they were ordered to halt, and on going to meet them, they found an officer bringing to the Alcalde the note in English, the literal translation whereof is as follows

"U. S. Frigate John Adams, 12th Nov. 1824.

SIR.—I have been officially informed that an officer under my orders, who visited the town of Fajardo, of which you are the chief, in search of brigands or freebooters, who were supposed to have taken shelter there, with a large quantity of American property, and carrying with him sufficient testimonials of his object and character, was, after making you fully acquainted with the whole, arrested by your order, by armed men, and shamefully insulted and abused in your presence by the Commandant of the Port, after which he was sent, by his orders under arrest, and being set at liberty was again insulted and abused by the inhabitants of the place.—His object in visiting Fajardo has been frustrated in this manner, and for these offences no attonement or satisfaction has as yet been made.

The object of my visit is to obtain both things, and I have it entirely to your election, either do come with the Captain of the Port and the other officers to me, to satisfy me for the part you all have taken in this shameful transaction, or wait for my visit in your town. If you decline coming to me, I shall take a competant armed force to chastise the aggressors, and if any resistance should be offered, the total destruction of Fajardo will be the certain and immediate consequence.

If the atonement for the injury should be offered promptly, the innocent in the offence shall escape free from all punishment, but this atonement is absolutely necessary, and if I am impeded, they shall be involved in the general punishment.

I shall keep the town and vessels in the port to answer for any detention or ill treatment offered to the Officer, bearer of this Letter.

I grant you an hour to decide on the subject of the atonement and satisfaction; at the end of which time if you do not appear personally before me, I shall march to Fajardo

I have the honor to be, with great respect, Your very obedient servant,

Signed, N. D. Porter, commandant of the Naval forces of the U. States, on the coasts of Africa and Florida, in the Antilles and Gulf of Mexico.

To the Alcalde of Fajardo."

The Alcalde says that in order to avert the consequences with which he saw the people threatened he resolved to go and speak with the commandant Porter with whom he had an interview in the most polite manner, every thing being settled, and they retired; after which he heard that they had spiked the four pieces of artillery which they have in that port.

Several persons who were present say, that the Commandant Porter and the Alcalde having reciprocally invited each other, the former accepted the invitation of the latter, and was proceeding to the town; but as soon as he approached the place where the inhabitants were assembling, who already had one cannon ready with a match lit, and observed their gallantry and resolution, he excused himself under various pretences and retired immediately.

"The people of the United States," says Blackwood, "know their interest. They do not want any body to flatter them. They do not want Miss WRIGHT, or Miss any body else (whether she wear a hat or a bonnet, slippers or spurs) to go all over the world, prattling or gossipping about any of their institutions—for no better reasons, five times out of six, than because the she-traveller in America, has been treated every where with pound cake, hyson tea, and the debates in Congress." Now we are much of this way of thinking. Miss Wright is again in this country, chasing along in the wake of LaFayette, and, as rumor says, preparing to gratify the public with another book. We are sorry for this. We are sorry that Miss W. after the little success of her first book, which, though it pretended to give a picture of American Society and manners, was a mere daub—and after the failure of the second volume sent here, which could not find a publisher—that the lady, who is, no doubt very amiable and very patriotic, should not have taken the hint, and given us no more books about ourselves. While here, we hope she will be treated with all kindness and attention, and every thing given to her that her heart can desire—save and exceept pens ink and paper.

CUSTOMS OF THE FANTEES,

At present Allies of Great Britain.

ON CAPE COAST, AFRICA.

A work possessing much information as to the manners and customs of the inhabitants of the country extending from Cape Palmas to the River Congo, has recently been published in London. The author, Capt. John Adams, visited every important place along that extensive coast, and in some instances penetrated a great distance into the interior. The following is the account which he gives of one of the horrid funeral ceremonies of the Fanteys, called a "Custom:"—

"The period had arrived when Tacky Mensa, a wealthy trader and inhabitant of Annamaboo, had to make custom for his ancestors. Five unfortunate victims were to be immolated to the manes of the deceased and gunpowder, brandy, cloth, and provisions distributed to the multitude. A vast number of persons assembled at Annamaboo, from different parts of the republic of Fantee, to assist at and give importance to the ceremony. A little before daybreak in the morning, when the obsequies for the deceased commenced, volleys of muskets, the noise of drums, and savage shouts, were heard in every direction; and about eight o'clock a large concourse of persons, of both sexes and all ages, had collected at and near Tacky Mensa's house, to whom brandy was distributed in large quantities. Firing, shouting, and drinking continued till mid day, when the five victims were brought out from a hut, with their hands bound, and with ligatures made of the bine of a creeping plant surrounding their heads, and which came over their eyes and noses, and by introducing pieces of stick, twisting them round, making what sailors call Spanish windlasses, the bones of their noses were forced in, and their eyes sunk deeper into their sockets. One of these unfortunate beings was a very old Ashantee man remaining four were natives of Chambe, and all men; two of whom were middle aged, one very old, the other young. Before they were led to execution, every effort was made by the Europeans to purchase them without effect. The poor creatures, in this state of suffering, were paraded through the town, and received every ignominy that savage cruelty could devise or inflict, without a sigh escaping them, and were ultimately taken to the beach, under the very walls of the fort, where they were butchered, amidst the most savage and diabolical shouts of the multitude. Females assisted at the horrid ceremony, and marked themselves with the blood of the wretched victims as it flowed from their headless trunks and, horrible to relate, libations of brandy were poured into and drank from human skulls, which a few minutes before had life and being. Volleys of musketry were fired, savage dances performed, and intoxication was carried to excess during three days and three nights, when the custom makidg ceased. Their customs, or obsequies to the manes of their deceased ancestors, are often carried to such an excess by individuals, as to leave them in a state of extreme poverty; but all men of consequence are compelled, at some period of their lives, to perform this savage act of duty to those who have long been numbered with the dead, or they would be degraded and held in the lowest estimation by their countrymen; but more especially by their own townsmen."

At Lagos we hear of another dreadful festival.—"The horrid custom of impaling alive a young female, to propitiate the favour of the goddess presiding over the rainy season, that she may fill the horn of plenty, is practised here annually. The immolation of this victim to superstitious error, takes place upon the vernal equinox; and along with her are sacrificed sheep and goats, which, together with yams, heads of maize and plantains, are hung on stakes on each side of her. Females destined thus to be destroyed are brought up for the express purpose in the king's seraglio, and it is said that their minds have previously been so powerfully wrought upon by the fetiche men, that they proceed to the place of execution with as much cheerfulness as those infatuated Hindoo women who are burnt with their husbands. One was impaled while I was at Lagos, but of course I did not witness the ceremony. I passed by where the lifeless body still remained on the stake a few days afterwards."

Poetry.

WOMAN'S LOVE.

A woman's love deep in the heart,
Is like a violet flower,
That lifts its modest head apart,
In some sequestered bower;
And bless'd is he who finds that bloom
Who sips its gentle sweets;
He heeds not life's oppressive gloom
Nor all the cares he meets!

A woman's love is like the spring,
Amid the wild alone,
A burning wild o'er which the wing,
Of cloud is seldom thrown;
And blest is he who meets that fount,
Beneath that sultry day;
How gladly should his spirit mount!
How pleasant be his way!

A woman's love is like a rock,
That every tempest braves,
And stands secure amid the shock,
Of ocean's wildest waves;
And blest is he who knows repose,
Within its shade is given;
The world, with all its cares and woes,
Seems less like Earth than Heaven.

Domestic.

Parliamentary Intelligence.

Great unanimity has prevailed hitherto in our House of Assembly, which it is to be hoped will continue to the end of the Session. Very little of general interest, with the exception of the Law Term Bill, and the Petitions from the Counties of Durham and Northumberland, has yet been brought before the consideration of the House, nor has there been any thing done, up to the period in which we are now writing, relative to the appointment of a Reporter or Reporters, or the printing of the Jounals, during the present session—But seven Members have been appointed a committee to decide on these matters.

Monday the 31st inst is fixed for going into and trying the merits of the Durham Contested Election—and the following day for that of Northumberland. Both these cases are of vital interest to the public. But any discussion of their merits is at present premature—all that is necessary to be generally known shall be published hereafter.

Upper Canada Gazette.

New Series.

Vol. IV. YORK U. C. THURSDAY JANUARY 27th, 1825. No. IV.

By Authority.

Government House,
York, Jan. 15th, 1825.

HIS Excellency, the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, has been pleased to re-appoint the Hon WILLIAM DUMMER POWELL, Chief Justice, to be Speaker of the Legislative Council; that Gentleman having reported himself able to resume the duties of the office.

Upper Canada.

P. MAITLAND,

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come—GREETING:

WHEREAS by Proclamation bearing date the Fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventeen, our trusty and well beloved FRANCIS GORE Esquire, late our Lieutenant Governor of our Province of Upper Canada, by and with the advice of the Executive Council thereof, and by virtue of the Authority in him vested in that behalf did declare and appoint the Port of Ernesttown, otherwise commonly called the Port of Bath, within the Midland District of this Province, to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for all Goods and Merchandize, not being entirely prohibited and for the payment of all Duties, liable to be paid on all Goods and Merchandize brought into this Province from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS by a certain Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdoms of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the Third Year of our Reign, entitled, "An Act to Regulate the Trade of the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, and for other purposes relating to the said Provinces," it is among other things Enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the Governor Lieutenant Governor, or person Administering the Government of either of our said Provinces respectively, by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council thereof for the time being, from time to time to diminish or increase, by Proclamation, the number of Ports or places, which then were, or thereafter might be, appointed in such Province for the Entry of Goods, Wares, and Commodities, imported from the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS it appears expedient for the avoiding expence in the Collection of our Revenue, that the said Port of Ernesttown shall no longer be a Port of Entry and Clearance—NOW KNOW YE, that by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of our Province of Upper Canada, We have thought fit to declare, and do hereby declare, that from and after the date of this our Proclamation, the said Port of Ernesttown shall cease to be a Port of Entry and Clearance for the purposes aforesaid, and shall be and remain, as if the said Proclamation hereinbefore recited, had appointing the same to be a Port of Entry and Clearance, had never been made.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York this Twentieth day of March, in the Year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty four, and in the Fifth Year of our Reign.

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,

D. CAMERON, Secretary.

JOHN B. ROBINSON, Attorney Gen.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

DISTRICT OF JOHNSTOWN } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, of our Sovereign
To Wit: } Lord the King, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Abiathar Boyce in favour of James E. Campbell, I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said Abiathar Boyce Lot number Four, in the Ninth Concession of the Township of Bastard containing Two Hundred Acres, be the same more or less, which I shall expose for Sale at the Court House in Brockville, on Saturday the 19th day of March next, at the hour of eleven of the clock in the forenoon.

JOHN STUART,
Sheriff
District of Johnstown.

Brockville Dec. 10th, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above property by mortgage or otherwise, must make the same known to me at my office on or before the day of sale.

JOHN STUART.

52—6w.

SHERIFF'S SALE

DISTRICT OF JOHNSTOWN } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, of our So-
To Wit: } vereign Lord the King, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of George Richard Ferguson, in favour of Peter Mc Dougall, I have taken in Execution as belonging to the said George Richard Ferguson Lots number 8 and 10, in the Fifth Concession of the Township of Ridley, containing Two Hundred Acres, each, be the same more or less, which I shall expose for Sale at the Court House in Brockville, on Saturday the twelfth day of March next, at the hour of eleven of the clock in the forenoon.

JOHN STUART
Sheriff.
District of Johnstown.

Brockville Dec. 13th, 1824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above Property by Mortgage, or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me on or before the day of Sale.

JOHN STUART.

52—6w.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

DISTRICT OF JOHNSTOWN } BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, of our So-
To Wit: } vereign Lord the King, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench at York, and to me directed against the Lands and Tenements of Jonathon Buell, in favour of Elnathan Hobbell I have taken in Execution Seventeen Acres of Land as belonging to the said Jonathan Buell, being part of Lot number thirteen, in the first Concession of the Township of Elizabethtown, which I shall expose for Sale at the Court House in Brockville, on Thursday the twentieth day of January next, at the hour of eleven of the clock in the forenoon.

JOHN STUART.
Sheriff.
District of Johnstown.

Brockville Dec. 10th, 1824,

N. B. Any Person or Persons having any Claim on the above Property, by Morigage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me at my office previous to the day of sale

52—6w. JOHN STUART.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, } ON Monday the 14th day of
To Wit: } March, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the town of Kingston, the following lots of Land, as belonging to Silas Ormsby, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of D'Arcy Boulton, Esq. viz:—

Lots No. 1, 2, and 4, in the 12th concession of the township of Huntingdon, in the County of Hastings, containing 600 acres more or less.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Kingston, Oct. 18th, 1824. 3—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, } ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb.
To Wit. } 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Peter Grant, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Jerry Whitehead, viz.

The easterly half of Lot No. 10, in the First Concession of the Township of Thurlow, containing 100 acres more or less.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, }
November 2d, 1824 }

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Midland District, } ON Saturday the 12th of March
To Wit } 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Zachariah Simmons, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Thomas Parker, viz.

Part of Lot No. 16, in the First Concession of the Township of Sidney, containing three acres and thirty-one perches.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, November 2d, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To Wit. ON Saturday the 12th day of March, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Theophilus Lockwood, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Thomas Parker, viz.

Part of the east half of Lot No 22, in the Third Concession of the Township of Sidney, in the County of Hastings, containing 19½ acres.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, October, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To Wit. ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Lands, as belonging to Lewis Day, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Alexander Simpson, viz.

The rear two-fifths of Lot No. 15, containing 80 acres, and the north or rear two fifths of the western quarter of Lot No 16, in the Fourth Concession of the Township of Kingston, containing 20 acres and the south easterly quarter of the west half of Lot No 16, in the Second Concession of the Township of Kingston, containing 25 acres.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, November 2d, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above Lands, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To Wit. ON Saturday, the 5th of Feb 1825 will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land, as belonging to Lewis Rosebush, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Duncan McDonell, viz.

A part of Lot No. 18, in the Second Concession of the Township of Rawdon, containing 70 acres of Land, described as follows, viz. commencing at the south west angle of the said Lot in front, where a post has been planted, thence running north sixteen degrees west forty-nine chains and forty links, then south seventy-four degrees north fifteen chains to the centre of the said Lot, thence south, sixteen degrees east, to the allowance for road in front of the said Concession, thence west seventy-four degrees south fifteen chains to the place of beginning.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN,
Sheriff M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, 18th October, 1824.

N. B. All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To WIT. ON Saturday the 19th of February, 1825, will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston the following Lot of Land, as belonging to Daniel Lyons seized by virtue of an Execution, issued out of his Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of the Hon. G. H. Markland, and John Kirly, Esq Executors to the estate of the late Lawrence Herchimer viz:—

Lot No. 25 in the 7th Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff, M, D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, 18th October, 1824. No. 46,—t. d.

N. B All persons having claims on the above land, or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

MIDLAND DISTRICT, To WIT. ON Saturday the 11th of February, 1825. will be sold at the Court House in the Town of Kingston, the following Land as belonging to Solomon Orser, seized by virtue of an Execution issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at the suit of Allan McLean, Esq viz:—

The front part of Lot No. 18, in the 2d Con. of the Township of Kingston.

Sale to commence at 12 o'clock, noon.

JOHN McLEAN.
Sheriff, M. D.

Sheriff's Office, Kingston, 18th October, 1824

N B All persons having claims on the above Land or any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise are required to make the same known to me, on or before the day of Sale. 46—tf.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District, to wit BY virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of William Pheonix, in favour of Ralph Leeming and James Hamilton, I have seized and taken in execution, North half of Lot N Ten in the First Con. of the Township of Trafalgar North side of Dundas Street, containing one Hundred Acres, on which are some improvements, and the Lot is beautifully situated, and which I shall offer for Sale on Saturday the Fourth Day of December next, at one o'clock P. M. at Mr. Carpenter's Inn, near the Premises, and adjudge the same to the highest bidder for Cash only.

TITUS G. SIMONS
Late Sheriff, G. D.

late Sheriff's Office, 24th Sept. 2824.

N. B. Any person or persons having any claim on the above described property, or upon any part thereof, by mortgage or otherwise, are requested to make the same known to me on or before the day of sale.

T. G SIMONS,
Late Sheriff, G. D.

☞ The above Sale is postponed until Monday the Seventh day of March next, at the same hour and place.

T. G. SIMONS
Late Sheriff G. D.

Late Sheriff's Office, 6th Dec. 1824. No 53—td.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Gore District, to wit BY virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench, at York, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of Abraham R. Smith, at the Suit of Robert Gillespie, Esquire, I have seized and taken in execution Lots No. Eleven, in the First Range, and Twenty-two in the Second Range, in the Town of Hamilton, and in the Township of Barton, situate on the North side of the Road leading from Dundas to Niagara, each Lot contains One Fourth of an Acre, on the Former is erected a beautiful Two Story House, well finished, and fit for any Gentleman's residence, all this valuable Property I shall offer for sale on Monday the Sixth Day of December next, at 10 o'clock, A. M. and adjudge the same to the highest bidder, for Cash only.

TITUS G SIMONS,
Late Sheriff, G. D.

Late Sheriff's Office, 24th Sept. 1824.

N B. Any Person or Persons having any claim on the above described Property by Mortgage or other wise, are requested to make the same known to me at my Office, on or before the Day of Sale.

T. G. SIMONS,
Late Sheriff, G. D.

☞ The above Sale is postponed until Monday the SEVENTH day of march next, at the same hour, at the COURT House in the said Town of Hamilton.

TITUS G. SIMONS.
Late Sheriff G. D.

Late Sheriff's Office, 6th Dec. 1824. No. 52 td

Home District, To Wit NOTICE is hereby given, that a COURT of GENERAL QUARTER SESSION of the Peace and Home District Court in and for the said District, will be holden at the Court House in the Town of York, on Tuesday the First day of February now next ensuing, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of the same day, of which all Justices of the Peace, Coroners, Gaolers, Constables and Bailiffs and those otherwise concerned are desired to take notice, that they be respectively then there present, with their Rolls, Records, and other Memoranda, to do and preform those things which to their several offices belong.

SAMUEL RIDOUT,
Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, York. January 25th, 1825.

SECOND SUPPLEMENTARY RETURN OF CLAIMS for Losses sustained during the Late War with the U. States of America, as Awarded by the Commissioners appointed under the Provincial Statute of 4th Geo. IV. Chap. IV. on which Twenty-Five per cent has been ordered to be paid to the undermentioned Claimants.

HIS Majesty's Receiver General will commence to pay, on Monday 14th February next, to the undermentioned Persons, or their Assigns, Twenty-Five Per Cent, on the Amount awarded by the Commission appointed by the Provincial Statute passed in the fourth year of His Majesty's Reign, Chap IV. for Losses Sustained during the late War with the United States of America, agreeable to the following Schedule:—

WHEN the demand is made for Payment in Person, the individual will be required to produce an Affidavit, sworn by him before a Justice of the Peace, in the neighbourhood of his residence, in this form:—

I, A. B. of the Town of in the District of do solemnly swear on the Holy Evangelists, that a Claim was prefered on my behalf, for Losses sustained during the Late War with the United States of America; and that according to the best of my knowledge and belief, I am the person by the name of A. B. in favour a sum appears to have been allowed by the Commissioners, according to the Notice thereof published in the Upper-Canada Gazette.

Sworn, &c.

WHEN an Agent is authorized to receive the Payment, it is required that a Certificate shall be produced from the nearest Justice of the Peace, in this form:—

I, A. B. of the Town of in the District of one of His Majesty's Justices of the Peace, do hereby Certify, that I am acquainted with C. D. of the Town of in the District of who is a Claimant for Losses sustained in this Province during the Late War with the United States of America, and who constituted his Attorney, (or Attornies,) to act for him in obtaining payment of the same, as I have been informed, and believe; that I have seen the said C. D. within the last past six months, and that I verily believe the said C. D. to be now living.

When the Executors, Executrix, or Administrators of any person shall claim, it is necessary to produce a Certificate under the Seal of the Surrogate, that he, she, or they are the Executors, Executrix, or Administrators to the Will of A. B.

N. B. All Powers of Attorney are required in Duplicate.

NAMES OF CLAIMANTS.	TOTAL AMOUNT AWARDED.	TWENTY FIVE PER CENT.
A
Askin, John Estate of	33 0 0	8 5 0
B
Burch, David	14 0 0	3 10 0
Baiyer, Jacob	15 5 0	4 11 3
Brink, Nicholas	15 0 0	3 15 0
Boismier, Laurent	44 16 0	11 3 9
Bertram, Francois	31 4 9	7 16 2¼
Blaney, James	23 10 0	5 17 6
Burtch, Absolam	23 10 0	5 17 6
Brown, James	12 10 0	3 2 6
Brown, Henry,	37 0 0	9 5 0
Brouillard, Antoine	75 0 0	18 15 0
Bird, William	10 0 0	2 10 0
C
Cook, Noah	33 18 0	8 9 6
Campeau, Antoine	18 1 0	4 10 3
Chapel, Gordon	7 10 0	1 15 0
Current, William sen'r,	10 5 0	2 11 3
Clark, Mary	71 10 0	18 12 6
Canfield, Samuel	23 7 6	5 16 10½
Chase, Mark,	13 7 6	3 6 10½
D
Downs, Seth	78 15 0	19 13 9
Dovau, or Duval, Augustine,	25 0 0	6 5 0
Daunal, Henry	49 0 0	12 5 0
Degarisis, Albert	12 0 0	3 0 0
Dobie, James,	17 6 0	4 5 0
Dolson, John	71 10 0	17 17 6
Darsey, Christen F.	295 0 0	73 15 0
E
Ellsworth, Francis	47 15 0	11 18 9
Emerson, Joseph	32 15 0	8 3 9
Edward Isaac	8 0 0	2 0 0
Emmett, Stephen	25 7 0	6 6 9
Edwards, John	46 0 0	11 10 0
F
Flanigan, Joseph B.	31 10 0	7 17 6
Flanagan, Barnabas	11 4 0	2 16 0
Foreman, Francis	57 0 0	14 5 0
Finley, William	21 5 0	5 6 3
G
Gardner, David	20 0 0	5 0 0
Gage, Lætitia	17 15 0	4 8 9
H
Henner, John	28 0 0	7 0 0
House, Nicholas	20 16 6	5 3 10½
Heather John	25 0 0	6 5 0
Hodgkinson, William	47 3 0	11 15 9
Hall, Eve	22 10 0	5 12 6
Hawley, Henry	9 10 0	2 7 6
J
Johnston, John	146 6 0	36 5 0
Johnston, Ralph	31 0 0	7 15 0
Jessup, Sussanah	533 7 0	133 6 9
K
Keeler, Mary, now Mary Morris	39 15 0	9 18 9
Kitchen, Henry	4 0 0	1 0 0
Kockle, Adam Estate of	10 0 0	2 10 0
Kilborn, Aaron	10 0 0	2 10 0
Kilburn, Timothy	12 18 0	4 4 6
Kirby, William	126 0 0	31 10 0
L
Lurridson, Laurence	12 10 0	3 2 6
Lewis, Orasha	22 7 6	5 11 10½
Laframbois, Jean B.	49 0 0	12 5 0
Lick, Daniel	6 0 0	1 10 0
Lawson, Bazill	10 0 0	2 10 0
Leaberry, Angelique Estate of	100 0 0	25 0 0
Little, Robert	246 5 0	61 11 3
M
Miller, David	14 15 0	3 13 9
Mixter, Daniel	35 0 0	8 15 0
Meeks, John	96 0 0	24 0 0
McGill, John	25 0 0	6 5 0
N
Nelson, Jonathan	142 15 0	35 13 9
O

NAMES OF CLAIMANTS.	TOTAL AMOUNT AWARDED.	TWENTY FIVE PER CENT.
Parlow, John	26 0 0	6 10 0
Pearson, Andrew	5 0 0	1 5 0
Pixley, Cooper	12 10 0	3 2 6
Pool, Thos & Catharine Pool, formerly widow Thompson	25 0 0	6 5 0
Poirier, Jean B.	28 0 0	7 0 0
	8 5 0	2 1 3
R
Rogers, Alexander Estate of	300 0 0	75 0 0
Reaveley, Thomas	5 10 0	1 7 6
Robinson, William	22 0 0	5 10 0
Reynolds, Catharine	37 10 0	9 7 6
Roach, James Odell	112 0 0	28 0 0
S
Sandwich Church,	90 0 0	22 10 0
Smith, John	44 15 0	11 3 9
Secord, David	10 7 0	2 11 9
Stevens, Garrett	33 5 0	8 6 3
Shoff, William P.	12 10 0	3 2 6
Sheck, David	80 9 6	20 2 4½
Soubere, Jean B.	28 10 0	7 2 6
Serares, Nicholas	33 12 6	8 8 1½
Stofflemire, or Toffemire William	25 0 0	6 5 0
Schram, William	8 0 0	0 15 0
Smith, Edward	43 10 0	10 17 6
T
Thomas, Sarah	25 0 0	6 5 0
V
Van Every, David	51 15 0	12 18 9
Van Sickle Isaac	12 10 0	3 2 6
W
Weller, Asa	80 2 6	20 0 7½
Wismer, Samuel	40 0 0	10 0 0
Wilier, Eliakim
Y
Young, John	30 0 0	7 10 0

THIRD SUPPLEMENTARY RETURN OF CLAIMS for Losses sustained during the Late War with the U. States of America, as Awarded by the Commissioners appointed under the Provincial Statute of 4th Geo. IV. Chap. IV. on which Twenty-Five per cent has been ordered to be paid to the undermentioned Claimants.

NAMES OF CLAIMANTS.	TOTAL AMOUNT AWARDED.	TWENTY FIVE PER CENT.
H
Huntley, Enoch	18 17 0	4 14 3
M
McKenney, Elijah	47 5 0	11 16 3
Shenick, Jacob	15 0 0	3 15 0
W
Woodhull, Benjamin	18 15 6	4 13 10½

NOT OFFICIAL.

VALUABLE CHAMBER ORGAN.

For Sale by Private Contract.

A FINE-TONED, and handsomely ornamented, CHAMBER ORGAN—standing about 9 feet high by 4½ feet wide and calculated for a Church, Chapel, or other public building—may be had on very reasonable terms by applying to Mr. RICHARD COATES, the maker, in YORK.

York U. C. Jan. 17th 1825 3—3wks.

BANK OF UPPER CANADA.

NOTICE TO STOCKHOLDERS.

THE STOCK and TRANSFER BOOKS will be closed from this day until Wednesday the 12th January, next; and a semi annual Dividend of Four per cent will be payable at the Bank on and after Wednesday the 26th of that month on the Capital paid in.

(Signed) THO'S. G. RIDOUT, Cashier.

Bank of Upper Canada, }
York Dec 29th 1824 } No. 1—4w.

NOTICE.

THE holders of Stock in the Steam Boat now building in this place, are hereby requested to pay in to the hands of the Treasurer, twenty five per cent on each share, on or before the fifteenth day of February next ensuing. And further notice is hereby given, to all those Subscribers who have not as yet paid their first and second instalments, that unless they are paid up by the said 15th February, that their names will be struck off the list of subscribers.

By order of the Committee,
S WASHBURN, Secry

York 19th, January 1825. 3—3wks.

NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN to all those who are either Debtors to, or Creditors of, the Estate of the late Mr. WILLIAM ROBINSON, of the Township of Markham, who died last Spring, to come to an immediate settlement of accounts with the Executrix, Mrs. ELIZABETH ROBINSON, resident in the said Township of Markham, who by consent of the Executors, pays the amount of all just demands against, and receives all sums due, to the said Estate.

ELIZABETH ROBINSON, Executrix,
PETER REESON, }
WILLIAM BROWN. } Executors.

Markham, Jan. 12th, 1825. No. 2,—4 wks.

FOR SALE.

A SET of SUPERB, London-made, CRIMSON MOREEN CURTAINS, for THREE WINDOWS, with festoons, bindings, fringe, &c. &c. &c. made very full; and in the newest fashion. The very lowest price is $63.—The cost in London was much higher, and they are quite new.—Inquire of Messrs. M. & R. MEIGHAN Market Square, York, 9th Dec. 50—tf.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that Application will be made at the next Session of the Provincial Parliament, for an Act to establish Dundas Street as the division of the Townships of Ancaster and Flamboro West, in the District of Gore, from the Village of Coots Paradise, in Lot No 53, 1st Con. of Ancaster, to the Marsh lying to the Eastward thereof, commonly called Coots Paradise.—

Dundas, 2d. December, 1824.

No. 50.—6 w.

ALBION NEWSPAPER.

A GENTLEMAN wishing to complete a File of the Albion Newspaper is in want of the following Numbers, for which he will gladly pay a fair compensation.

Volume 1 —— Nos. 4 & 18.
" 2 —— Nos. 19. & 21,
" 3 —— Nos. 4 & 7.

Apply at the U. C. Gazette Office.

No. 48.—t. f.

ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS REWARD!

STOLEN from the Dwelling House of the Subscriber, on the night of the 11th January instant, the following Property, viz.—Four Chests of Hyson Skin Tea, Four Quarter Chests of Young Hyson ditto, and One Box containing five pair of Boots and eleven pair of Shoes.—The above Reward will be paid to any person or persons, who will discover the above mentioned property, and will give such information as may lead to the conviction of the thief or thieves.

M. F. WHITEHEAD.
Collector,
Port Hope.

Port Hope, 12th Jan. 1825. 3—tf.

FOR SALE.

A Farm on Yonge Street, Lot No. 32 in Markham, One Hundred and Ninety Acres, of which ninety Acres are under cultivation with a Frame House and Barn on the same, a stream of water runs across the Lot, and Purdy's Saw and Grist Mills are on the Lot opposite to the same.—Terms of payment will be made easy.—Application to be made to,

GEORGE CROOKSHANK.

York, 17th Oct. 1824.

N. B. Should the above mentioned Farm not be sold by the 1st March next, it will then be leased.

43—tf.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the County of Dundas, intend presenting a Petition to the Legislature at its next Session, for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace held in the said County of Dundas, and the Town of Cornwall alternately.

Also to have the Concession line between the fourth and fifth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg in the Eastern District, to have the said line run upon the true course of No. 66 E. and completed.

And also the side lines in the said fourth Concession of the Township of Williamsburg aforesaid, to have the said side lines to run upon the original course No 24 W.

43—26w.

LOST,

ON the 1st day of January 1825, a Red Morocco pocket book containing between forty five and fifty Dollars in Montreal and York Bank Notes, with sundry obligations and other papers viz :—

One note of hand given by William Purdy of Yonge Street for fifty five pounds and some shillings.

One receipt given by George Ridout for forty pounds H C. for obligations deposited in his hands for collection.

One note given by Samuel Bender, for eighty bushels of wheat.

One note given by Santford Martin for twenty seven pounds ten shillings.

One note given by David Gardner for eighteen pounds.

One note given by Lawrence Smith for forty two pounds.

One note given by William Cornwall for twenty pounds ten shillings.

One note given by John Carr for twelve pounds ten shillings.

Two notes given by John Pickle for thirty seven pounds ten shillings.

One note given by Jared Kinball for fifteen pounds.

One note given by Erasmus Fowke, Smith's Creek.

Pelentiah Souper's note for three pounds.

Paul Hayward's note for fifteen pounds—Smith's Creek.

One note given by Russell Hoeg for ten pounds.

One note given by Abraham Brown for three pounds three shillings and nine pence.

One note given by John Steritt (of Esquising) for five pounds.

One note given by Soloman Churchell for five pounds.

Two notes given by John Still one for two pounds ten shillings, and the other for one pound eleven shillings and three pence.

Whoever has found said pocket book, and will return it, with its contents, or give information so that it can be obtained, shall receive twenty Dollars, and all necessary expenses, on application to,

(Signed) JABEZ LYNDE.

January 27th 1825. No. 4—tf.

WESTERN INLAND TRANSPORTATION COMPANY.

UNDER the above style and firm, an association has recently been formed in the city of New-York, for the purpose of conveying persons and property on the Hudson river. As agent for the same in the city of Albany, the subscriber gives public notice, that so soon as the river opens the new and elegant furnished Steam Boat.

HENRY ECKFORD,

will proceed from N. York to Albany, accompanied by two commodious and burthensome vessels of easy draught, fitted up in the manner of our Albany sloops, for freight and passengers. Thenceforward during the season of navigation she will ply unceasingly between the two cities, having always in tow two of the above described vessels, while two will remain in New-York and two in Albany, for the reception of Merchandise and Produce. Her trips will be accomplished probably in sixteen, certainly in less than twenty four hours, and every thing that can reasonably be expected from skilful and experienced officers, civil and obliging agents and attendants, may be confidently relied upon by the friends and supporters of this establishment. Passage in the vessels is fixed at one dollar per adult. The steam boat rate will be regulated by that of stage boats equally respectable—but freight will be taken on terms unusually advantageous to the shippers.

No storage at Albany will be demanded on produce, unless the same is actually taken in store; and merchandise or upward freight destined for either of the canals, will be contracted for in New York and Albany by the cwt. and forwarded according to order, without any additional charge, except necessary cooperage. In all cases property will be faithfully delivered to the consignees. For more particular information apply in New-York to MOWAT, BROTHERS & Co. and in Albany to, CHARLES SMYTH.

January 4, 1825. 4—6w.

NOTICE.

PUBLIC Notice is hereby given, that pursuant to a Resolution of the President and Directors of the Welland Canal Company, held the 2nd Inst, an Installment of five per cent, upon the Capital Stock Subscribed, is required to be paid into the Treasurer at this Office on or before the 25th day of March next, as provided by the 26th Clause of the Act of Incorporation.

By Order,
(Signed)
GEORGE KEEFER, jun'r
Secretary.

Welland Canal Office, }
St. Catherines Jan. 4th, 1825 }

EXCHANGE OF VALUABLE PROPERTY.

THE Owner of the MANSION-HOUSE and PREMISES, situated in King's Street, East—in the Town of YORK, advertized in another part of the GAZETTE, has no objection to exchange that valuable property for a sufficient quantity of wild or improved Land, favourably situated, either in the HOME or NEWCASTLE DISTRICTS; but, the latter would be preferred.

Farther particulars may be know by application at the U. C. Gazette Office in York.

No 4—tf.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Inhabitants of the First Concession of Sophiasburgh South west of Green Point.—by reason of the material damage they have sustained three number of years back, on account of the erroneous original Survey of the Second Concession Line. Are determined to Petition the Legislature of this Province at the ensuing Session of Parliament for the alteration of the said Line, and to settle all the differences relating thereunto.

Sophiasburgh, Oct 7th, 1824. } No. 44.—6 m.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the EASTERN DISTRICT will at the next Session of the LEGISLATURE make application to be authorized to effect a Loan to enable them to erect a Gaol and Court House in the Town of Cornwall.

37—6m.

NOTICE.

AN APPLICATION will be made to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for an Act imposing a Tax on Dogs in the Town of YORK and its vicinity, the proceeds of which to be applicable to the police purposes.

By Order of the Magistrates in Adjourned General Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the Home District assembled on the 6th day of Sept 1824.

(Signed,)
S. HEWARD.
Clk. Peace Home District.

NOTICE

IS hereby given, that the Inhabitants of the COUNTY of GLENGARY intend presenting a Petition to the LEGISLATURE at its next Session for the purpose of having the District Court and General Quarter Session of the Peace held in the said County of Glengary and the Town of Cornwall alternately.

37—6m.

FIRE INSURANCE.

THE Sun Insurance Company of New York, having appointed George Crookshank, Esquire, their Agent in Upper Canada—he is ready to insure against Loss or Damage by Fire, on Dwelling Houses, Stores, Merchandise, House hold Furniture, and other Personal Property; at moderate Rates of Premium.—Persons wishing to Insure must send a plan of their Buildings, when wanted out of the Town of York, a respectable reference will be required, and Letters Post Paid —Application to be made to

R. W. PRENTICE.

York, 28th Sept. 1824. No. 39—t. f.

FOR SALE.

LOT No. Two, in the First Concession of the Township of York, with the Broken Front, containing about Two Hundred and Forty Acres of Land.

Application to be made to

York, 12th June, 1824. 25—t. f.

NOTICE.

FOR SALE, by private Contracts, the House and Lot lately occupied by Mr. O'Sullivan, Saddler, King's-Street, in the Town of York, the Lot is 26 feet fronting King's-Street, by 112 feet deep.

Also.—A Lot adjoining the above on the West side, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—A Lot adjoining Mr. Duggan's, 34, by 112 feet.

Also.—Three Lots on Stuarts Land, each 40, by 60 feet.

Should the above Property and Lots not be sold by Private Contract, the five last described Lots will be sold at Public Sale, on the first day of July ensuing.

Application for Terms of Sale, to be made to

ALEXANDER WOOD, ESQ.

YORK, 17th March, 1824. t. f.

GRAIN.

THE SUBSCRIBERS will purchase WHEAT, RYE, and INDIAN CORN, at the highest market prices, for which they will pay one half CASH, and the remainder in GOODS at Cash prices.

ASHES

Taken as usual, at their POTASH MANUFACTORY, near the Don Bridge.

They have lately received a well selected assortment of Goods, which will be sold low for cash or county produce.

(Signed) WOOD & ANDERSON.

York Dec. 16th, 1824. 52—6w.

TERMS

OF THE U. C. GAZETTE AND WEEKLY REGISTER.

FOUR DOLLARS per annum.—Experience having shown the necessity of Subscribers paying the amount of Postage, these Terms are independant of Postage, payable half yearly in advance Three months notice is required previous to the discontinuance of any Subscription.

PRICE OF ADVERTISING,

Six lines and under, two shillings and six pence, and seventpence halfpenny, every subsequent insertion.

Six to ten lines, five shillings, and one shilling and threpence subsequently.

All exceeding ten lines, four pence per line for the first insertion, and one penny subsequently.—Rule and Figure work charged Double.—A discount of 25 per cent. allowed to those who advertise by the year.—Advertisements cannot be received after 1 o'clock on the Wednesday afternoon immediately preceding the day of Publication.—Advertisements unaccompanied with positive directions as to the exact number of insertions to be given them, will be continued until expressly forbidden.—and until the day of Sale (if alluding to Sales) and charged accordingly.

☞ Advertisements from the Country must be post paid, with the price of insertion; or, a reference in Town who will pay when demanded, or discontinued.

☞ Any Agent obtaining 3 Subscribers has a paper for himself at half price;—if he obtains 6, he has his own paper gratis;—and, for as many as he obtains above 6, he will receive, for the six or his own paper, a Commission of 3 per cent. upon the whole amount.

WEEKLY REGISTER.

VOL. IV. Our endeavour will be to "stamp the very body of the time—its form and pressure"—we shall extenuate nothing, nor shall we set down aught in malice. No. 4.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 27th, 1825.

Editorial Commentary.

As there are many persons who see this publication, but who do not purchase the "ROYAL CALENDAR OF UPPER CANADA,"—to whom the following information must prove highly interesting, as shewing, in the most unostentatious manner, the rapid growth of this Province,—we cannot refuse to insert in this place, a few of the results of our statistical inquires during the past year;—drawn from authentic and official documents;—and which, with many other interesting particulars, will be found in detail, in the STATISTICAL TABLES prepared for the above mentioned work for 1825, which is about to be issued.

Upper Canada, (little more than thirty years ago an entire wilderness) from the best evidence that can be obtained, has now nearly One Million of Acres of Land under Cultivation.

9,067—Dwelling Houses of a Superior description to the common Log Houses of the country, (which, not being rateable, are not enumerated)
306—Merchants Shops—(exclusive of Store-Houses.).
304—Grist Mills.
386—Saw Mills.
73—Stone Horses for covering Mares, for hire or gain.
20,774—Horses fit for service.
27,614—Working Oxen.
67,044—Milch Cows.
34,975—Young Horned Cattle from 2 to 4 years old.
469—Carriages for Pleasure.—

The Total Valuation of Assessed Property in the Province, on which the rate of one penny in the Pound is collected for the public service,—or rather for the service of the several Districts,—is £1,999,074. 13s. 1d

The White Population is not greatly short of 200,000 Souls.

These items, it is probable, would have received a considerable augmentation had the Assessment Rolls from the Eastern, the London, and the Gore Districts (for the year 1824) been received in time for this publication. The remarks that were made last year on the negligence of certain Officers in regard to the population returns seem to have had the desired effect; but, there is still very inexcusable neglect and delay in making the Assessment Returns; as if they were not the most important documents we could possess, in regard to the Political Economy, and as a sort of weather gage to mark the gradual internal improvement, of the Country.

The ROYAL CALENDAR OF UPPER CANADA for the Year 1825, —greatly improved and enlarged—will be ready for the bookbinder next week—and those persons who are desirous of copies will be pleased to forward their orders, as early as possible, (the present edition being small), post paid—to the U. C. Gazette Office, York.—The price, both for the fine and the common paper copies, is the same as last year.

We have been favoured with the second number of the "Canadian Review and Literary and Historical Journal," for which the Editor has our warmest thanks and congratulation—which are due on patriotic, if on no other, grounds. We shall take the earliest opportunity of reviewing this meritorious, able, and well-conducted Review, which deserves highly, and well, of the Canadian Public. Two papers, in particular, from the hasty perusal we have, as yet, been able to give the present number—merit extraordinary praise and consideration:—we allude to that "On the utility and design of the Science of Geology, &c"—and the one entitled "Observations on the rejection of the ancient Indian Names of Places in Canada." With the latter, in particular, we have been delighted; as expressing the sentiments we have long entertained on a subject of much greater importance than appears on a superficial view—and we shall resume, and enter into it, hereafter with no little zest—having long considered the matter even worthy of Legislative notice.—We were first seriously roused to a consideration of the vanity or importance of local names, by having to pay, several years ago, Four Guineas for the scarce and ponderous Quarto of Major RENNELL'S dissertation on the African Typography of HERODOTUS—which is nearly altogether taken up with disputes on the names of places which have been changed. Having much to say on this subject, which we are quite sure is of national importance, we long for a more favourable and leisure opportunity of discussing it.—

We hope to incur no censure for publishing poor Brown's communication from the jail of York.—We know nothing of the circumstances of the case;—but, this we know, that we will cheerfully contribute our mite towards liberating a fellow creature from "durance vile" a durance so contrary to the laws of God; of NATURE; and of COMMON SENSE.

We have received a Communication, or perhaps rather an Advertisement, from Mr. DALTON of Kingston—which, (even had we been strangers to the parties,) would have been wholly inadmissible in our columns, from the apparent malignancy of its character. Surely, if the statements are correct, justice can be had without the display of so much of the "Satanalia!"

By the latest advices just received from Europe, we learn the following interesting particulars:—

"From a London paper of the 24th November last, under the head "London money Market. It is gratifying to find that English Capitalists have hopes of a profitable investment of their funds in the Canadas, and we sincerely wish the speculation of the Canada Company may prove as advantageous as those engaged in it appear to be sanguine.

"Canadian shares in demand, and command a premium of £8 per cent

We understand that letters are in town which positively state that the Commissioners for the disposal of the Reserves in Upper Canada to the Canada Company will sail from Liverpool during the present month."

The most horrid murder that ever stained the annals of human nature, is said to have been perpetrated in France—the particulars of which will appear in our next.

The votes for Mr. BROUGHAM and Sir WALTER SCOTT, for the Lord Rectorship at the University of Glasgow, were equal—The late Lord Rector, SIR JAMES MACINTOSH, has the privilege of giving the casting vote.

Some interesting particulars on the canal system must be reserved till our next.

We have just heard, and we know not how true—and we hope "'tis not true" that THO'S. DICKSON, Esq. His Majesty's Collector of Customs at Queenston, is dead.

SELECTIONS FROM BRITISH AND FOREIGN JOURNALS.

It is said that the Right Honorable W. Vesey FITZGERALD, is appointed Envoy to the United States.—LORD GRANVILLE succeeds Sir CHARLES STUART at PARIS. Sir CHARLES BAGOT goes to BRUSSELS, and Mr. S. CANNING to RUSSIA.

It is said that Sir CHARLES STEWART is to be appointed Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

The King of Prussia had just been married to the Countess Augusta of Harrach.

Mexican Mine Shares had advanced within a few days at London from £400 to £650 in consequence of favorable intelligence of the prospect of success in working them.

MR. FAUNTLEROY.—Previously to the recent interview between Mrs Fauntleroy and her husband, the lady who had some time lived with him, and by whom he has two children, was in the constant habit of visiting him at Newgate. Some of his friends, however, having hinted to him the propriety of such visits being discontinued under present circumstances, he immediately concurred with their suggestion, and she has not called since to see him: his son has scarcely omitted for a single day to spend some hours with him. Mr. Fauntleroy's health, which had been particularly good now, to use his own words, "to-day, to-day, to-day," has, in consequence, suffered some slight degree of depression. By his own desire, he sees fewer of his friends than heretofore, and is daily visited by one or other of two very respectable clergymen, whose benevolent attention appears to be highly acceptable to him. On Sunday last, when Mr. Cotton, the Ordinary of Newgate, was performing divine service in the Chapel, which was extremely crowded with prisoners, a female convict who had been sentenced to die was dreadfully affected. She fell into hysterics, and was taken from the chapel; but those who remained behind heard her shrieks for half an hour afterwards. The circumstance was awful beyond description. Mr. Fauntleroy, and other convicts, whose cases are considered desperate, were listening with solemn attention to the Ordinary, who was delivering a sermon calculated to fix the attention of common hearers. The effect was such that the Ordinary could scarcely proceed. Mr Fauntleroy covered his face with his hands, and seemed quite overwhelmed with affliction.

ARMY.

Captain THOMAS ATCHISON, and Lieut. GEO. DAWSON, of the Royal Artillery, have been tried at Malta by General Court Martial, for hesitating and declining to carry into execution the Orders they had received for firing salutes from Fort St. Angelo, in that Island, on the 9th and 10th of August, 1823, and for writing to their commanding officer, Major Addams, letters remonstrating against such Order. Against the Lieutenant two other charges arising out of the foregoing, were also preferred. They were separately tried, and in the first instance, Lieut. Dawson, whose insubordination appears to have been aggravated by further remonstrance and a determined spirit of opposition to his Commanding Officer, was sentenced to be "Cashiered and rendered incapable of ever serving His Majesty in any Military capacity whatever" Captain Atchison was sentenced to be "dismissed His Majesty's service."

The Court Martial assembled in March last, but a revision having been ordered in consequence of a communication from the Judge Advocate General, the Court was re convened on the 19th, and on the 21st July following, when the delinquents were severally sentenced to be "dismissed his Majesty's service."

This extraordinary proceeding arose out of religious scruples on the part of these officers, the salutes directed being in honour of a day observed as a Catholic Festival, and forming a part of the ceremonies on that occasion. The following remark appears on the face of the Court Martial:

"In approving and confirming the Finding and Sentence of the Court, in both these Cases, His Majesty was pleased to observe, that an Occurrence of a nature so extraordinary, as that of the direct Disobedience of Orders committed by Captain Atchison, and Lieutenant Dawson, of the Royal Artillery, should not be promulgated to the Army, without the expression of His Majesty's decided reprobation of the mistaken principles that have led these Officers to sacrifice the feelings of subordination, which, as Soldiers, they ought to have cherished, and upon which the Discipline of the Army depends, and His Majesty was further pleased to observe, that if religious principles were allowed to be urged by Individual Officers, as a plea for Disobedience of Orders, the Discipline of the Army would sustain an Injury which might be dangerous to the Welfare of the State; and that it is the Duty of all those placed in Authority, to oppose a decided check to a like departure from that principle of Obedience which forms the first Duty of a Soldier."

EDINBURGH FIRES.—The extent of the desolation now that the crisis is past, and that we have leasure to survey the scene of ruin, appears more frightful even than we could have imagined. Along the front of the High street there are destroyed four lands of six stories each, besides the sunk stories: from these down towards the Cowgate, by Con's close, two wooden lands; in the Old Assembly close, four lands of six or seven stories; six smaller tenements in Borthwick's close; four lands of six stories in the Old Fishmarket-close. Downwards, nearly as far as the Cowgate, nothing is to be seen but frightful heaps of ruin, to which on applying the scorched and tottering fragments, the walls which are still left standing in different places, but in an extremely tottering condition. Along the front of the Parliament-square, four double lands, of seven to eleven stories each, have been destroyed, great part of the walls of which are fallen; other parts are still standing, but in such a shattered condition, that they threaten destruction to the remaining houses near them; in consequence of which, it was on Friday judged expedient to order their being pulled down—it is difficult to estimate the number of families that have been rendered houseless by the present calamity. But when we consider the height of some of the buildings, and the density of the population in this quarter, six or seven families being sometimes crowded together into one floor, the number cannot fall short of 250; indeed we have little doubt, that, if an accurate calculation could be made, they would be found to exceed that number.—Such a scene of calamity as this is seldom paralleled in the annals of domestic life."

LORD BYRONS MEDAL.—We have just seen a Greek medal of Lord Byron, which presents an authentic and highly finished portrait of the illustrious poet, struck upon the principal of the Syracusan medals of antiquity, by Mr A Stothard. Its fidelity has been acknowledged by several of his Lordship's intimate friends, and the medal promises to be worthy of a place among the finest productions of modern art.—Lit. Chron

REWARD OF BRITISH SKILL AND INDUSTRY.

The Aurora frigate, and the Pilot sloop of war, are now on their passage from the Pacific, with upwards of four millions of dollars, in payment of British labour already exported into those regions. This is only a small part of the remittances which America makes for labour to the United Kingdoms. One lb of American cotton which cost 3s 6d is by the labour of Nottingham manufacturers, converted, without any expense except that of labour, into a manufactured article, which sells for 31£ 10s and which, when exported, leaves a clear profit to the state of the sum, between the cost price of the cotton and the wages of the labourer, and that for which it is sold in the foreign market.

Thirty eight thousand four hundred and seven firkins of butter are already shipped from Belfast this season.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

FRANCE AND SPAIN.

LONDON, Nov 22, 1824

Friday's Paris papers arrived last night. They state, that the preparations for the departure of the French troops had already commenced at Madrid. A foretaste of the consequences was also experienced there. The rabble of the Servile party, conceiving there was already an impunity for crime, began the work of assassination upon persons suspected of Constitutionalism. This was not confined merely to the capital. In several other places disorders and violent animosities broke loose in contempt of the public authority, and even of the French garrison. The Spanish Ministry itself described as now alarmed at the departure of the French, and it is said that this would still be counterordered upon one condition—that is, the observance of the capitulations made by the Duke of Angoulême with the Spanish Generals who betrayed their trust. But this seems a pitiful attempt to redeem the character of the Duke d'Angoulême from the disgrace of those transactions. It is lately there is something of the kind on foot, as MOSELLO (not BALLASTEROS, as stated in the French papers of Wednesday) had an audience of this Prince. It is not the departure of the French alone that embarrasses the Spanish Government. The troops, about 3000, destined for South America, have, it is said, revolted at Corunna, to avoid embarking. Many have deserted, not only there, but in some of the inland places, where they had not a foreign expedition to think of. Great efforts are, it is said made to raise a Spanish Army to replace the French—but with little success—the treasury being empty from the failure of the expected loans.

PARIS, NOV. 24.

The following mysterious occurrence is said to have taken place in the environs of Paris. A person exercising public functions, having been appointed guardian to a young lady, was unwilling to his trust, and in order to conceal his dishonesty, contrived a match between his son and his ward. The latter constantly refused, on account of a secret attachment to another young man. The guardian was the more mortified at the refusal as the time approached for surrendering his accounts. He came to Paris with his son, leaving in and she went to the chamber of her companion, saying that she was come to sleep with her. The latter ridiculed her for cowardice, and in order to prove that there was no danger offered to exchange beds for the night—the offer was accepted—the grave destined for the victim was finished, for it was the digging of this that the ward heard. The assassins entered the chamber where they imagined they should find their prey. They were armed, not with a dagger, but with a mask of softened pitch, which they applied to the face of the sleeping girl, and when assured that she was dead transported her to the garden and buried her. The agitation of father and son was extreme on the following morning when they saw the ward, whom they supposed to be murdered, come into breakfast. The latter being filled with fear ran to seek her friend, and not finding her, went out and informed the Magistrates, who ordered the murderers to be apprehended. The affair is now in a course of investigation.

PARIS, NOV. 23

The German papers contains extracts of letters from Constantinople to October 22d, by which it appears determined to abandon the Morea after the present that the Turkish government is campaign.

GREECE AND TURKEY.

Extract of a private letter of the 14th ult. from Constantinople:—"The Captain Pacha has disappeared, without doubt forever, from the Asiatic castle of the Dardanelles. Of a superb fleet of 120 armed vessels or transports, only 30 have returned to the Hellespont, and these are so perforated with balls, that the wretched condition of those left behind may be easily imagined. Perhaps by this time they have been burned by the intrepid Canaris, who has sworn to set fire to them under the very cannon of the Dardanelles. The disconfiture of the Captain Pacha took place at Mytelene. At the moment when his fleet was passing along the canal which leads to the anchorage, the Greek armed vessels entered pell mell with him, and by this manœuvre neutralized the fire of the Turkish batteries, which could not fire upon the Hellenist vessels without damaging their own. In this state of confusion the fire ships hooked to themselves all the Ottoman vessels they could reach, and the conflagration was so terrible, that it was visible to an immense distance at sea. It is rumoured upon good authority, that the Turkish power. One of the latest acts of the Porte indicates the financial extremities to which the Sultan is reduced. He will no longer pay the expense of victualling the garrison of Patras. Whether this be regarded as an abandonment of the Morea, on account of the hopelessness of its subjugation, or as an act of absolute necessity, from the exhaustion of the Imperial Treasury, it equally reveals the fact of the decline of the Turkish Power.

A costly Snuffer stand.—The snuffer stand alone of the Grand Seraglio at Constantinople is worth 16,000 purses. This snuffer stand dates from the reign of Mahomed the 1st. It has already caused the impalement of more than a dozen individuals, black eunuchs as well as white, who had made attempts to steal it.—A remarkable fact in its history is that every time it has been found, it was almost always on the sea shore in a woman's slipper. The eunuchs being nearly naked, had no other means of carrying off this so much coveted pri....—News of Literature.

The Burmese War.—The following extract of a letter from an officer engaged in active operations against the Burmese, appears in the London Times. It is dated Rangoon, May 21.

"In the affair of Ramoo, the Burmese fought well, and lost about 70 or 80 killed, for no quarter was given, nor do I think it will be given during the war on either side, for if you save a Burman's life, it is ten to one that he returns the favour by taking yours. From all appearances, this will be a bloody and protracted warfare. We are about to send an expedition against Syriam and the ancient city of Pegu in a few days.—It is 70 miles up the river, and we shall have bush-fighting all the way. We are now busy in preparing fire booms, and arranging for the boats to go up the river. I do not think we shall be ready for the expedition up the Irrawaddy river to Prome in less than a month. The Captain of the Larne will then hoist his pendant on board of the steam boat. Sir A. Campbell, with the major part of the forces, will join him, and only a sufficient garrison will be left to protect Rangoon. If we reach Prome, all will be well; but it is an extremely difficult undertaking to transport in open boats a force of 6 or 7000 men up a rapid river, within a stone's throw of the beach, and a determined enemy annoying us the whole way. It must, however, be done; and if they do not come to terms, we must go up to Ummerapoora. The mode of annoyance on the part of the enemy is by fire rafts and war boats; and as the heavy rain season is now coming on, they will have the advantage of the dark nights. With these they oblige us to keep a sharp look out. They also sink large boats to the gun vales and turn them adrift upon us. The force with which they come down, aided by the current is very great. One nearly came on board of us the other night: it caught a rope, and the rope cut off a boy's leg as clean as if it had been amputated. We are going to send twelve of the Madras vessels for 3000 men, and for provisions."

East India Burial Service.—During the funeral ceremony, which is solemn and affecting, the Brahmins address the respective elements in words to the following purpose:

O Earth! to the we commend our brother: of thee he was formed, by thee he was sustained and unto thee he now returns.
