Editorial Commentary.

Our readers must be highly gratified by a perusal of the SPEECH which has been delivered by His EXCELLENCY the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR at the opening of our present Session of the Provincial Parliament—To say nothing of its perspicuity and elegance as a composition, its tone throughout is so mild and breathes such a deep interest in the concerns and welfare of this Colony, that we hope it will be received and acknowledged in the manner it so well deserves by those to whom it is addressed—We have felt strongly inclined to comment, paragraph by paragraph, but, as it has not yet been read in our Assembly, for want of a Quorum, and consequently no address has been moved, any indulgence of this kind, on our part, would be both premature and indelicate; and, therefore, we abstain.

We hope our friends will be pleased with the changed appearance of this publication—It is our intention to enlarge still further, and give an Imperial sheet; but, for that improvement, we must wait till the commencement of our next Volume, in order that some uniformity may be maintained, as a larger sheet than the present one could not be conveniently bound along with the preceding numbers of this volume On the 5th of January next, we hope to present our readers with a work in a new type, on fine paper, and an enlarged sheet, in every way worthy of the patronage of this interesting colony.

An accident, and the length and number of our advertisements, together, have prevented the admission of several articles of general interest this week—for which we shall endeavour to make amends hereafter Amongst these one of the most interesting is the Manifesto of the Greek Nation by which that eminent people hope to place themselves under the British protection; at all others the most ample, powerful, and effective. Nothing can be more honourable to our national character than the favourable consideration of this important Manifesto, and the two articles by which it is followed and for which we must here make room.

"Considering, lastly, that ever a special favor of Providence has placed the forces of Great Britain so near us, Greece ought to take advantage of it in time, and sending its hopes on the justice and humanity which animate that great power—

For these reasons, and in the intention of placing in safety the sacred rights of the liberty of the state and of our political existence, which is sufficiently consolidated the Greek nation prescribes, resolves, decrees, and approves, as follows:

"Art. 1. By virtue of the present act, it voluntarily places the sacred deposit of its liberty, its national independence, and its political existence, under the absolute defence of Great Britain.

"Art. 2. This fundamental act of the Greek nation shall be accompanied by an explanatory memorial, addressed in duplicate to the Government of his Britannic Majesty."

We are extremely sorry to learn by late arrivals that New South Wales is in a very turbulent and unsettled state; that the different authorities are divided amongst themselves, and, that every thing was in the utmost confusion. After all, give us the frosts and snows of happy Canada rather than the hurricanes, droughts, parched deserts, wild beasts, and Caffres of Africa, or the wilder beasts, and still wilder, and more irreclaimable convicts of Australasia

We beg to call the attention of all class es to the awful calamity which has befallen our fellow subjects in New Brunswick We have not room to enlarge, but we trust that something effective will be done in this Province, both privately and publicly, in behalf of the sufferers Very liberal subscriptions have been entered into in the Lower Province, and we hope and trust this Province will not be lacking, according to her means

We have the pleasure to announce the return of Mr DWYER to York; and, that it is his intention to give both Public Recitations, and Private Lectures, during the ensuing winter; and most sincerly do we wish him success, since none in his profession is more deserving Launch of the Princess Charlotte.

A dreadful accident happened at Portsmouth, on the 22d ult. at the launching of the Princess Charlotte, ship of the line; by which sixteen persons lost their lives The following extract is from an official account:

On Wednesday, the 22d of September, the day of the launch, the tide rose so rapidly and to so unusual a height, that the ship was obliged to be launched sooner than was anticipated; the same great rise of water occasioned such a powerful pressure against the gates of the south great dock in the basin as to cause them to burst inward and to carry with impetuous violence into the empty dock, the bridge which rested upon the gates, and, with the bridge, the persons who were unfortunately passing over it at the time, on their way to see the launch. The torrent of water which rushed into the vacant dock below, overwhelmed the unhappy individuals, and I grieve to say, that, notwithstanding the active and prompt exertions of those who behold the dreadful catastrophe, and of the boats which immediately hastened to the spot, but few persons were rescued from their perilous situations. The proper means were immediately resorted to for the recovery of those who were picked up

The Princess Charlotte has been built on the enlarged lines of his Majesty's ship Victory, having the dimensions encreased.—Length, from 186 to 197 feet; breadth, from 51 feet six inches to 52 feet nine inches; and burthen, from 2,146 to 2,417 tons. She is fitted on the new principle of working the cables in the middle, instead of the lower gun deck and has the improved round stern.

Mexican Athenæum —An Athenæum, on a large scale, is about to be established in the city of Mexico, by Mr. Ackermann of the Strand.

Canadian Chiefs —The following is an extract from a very interesting account of the departure of the Lorette Chiefs from England which has lately appeared in various public prints.—

The Grand Chief, in taking leave of the writer, said that himself and the 3 other Chiefs left Great Britain deeply impressed with its greatness, its liberality and its magnificence; that the attention which had been shown to them could never be forgotten; and especially the condescension of his Majesty in honouring them with a most gracious interview and presenting a large gold medal to each, as well as a portrait of himself; these would remain a lasting memorial, and be handed down from generation to generation in their respective families. The Grand Chief added that he had served this country under his late Majesty George III, which he never expected to see; but his visit to England had created an attachment, and produced a feeling towards it which he had not language to express; but summed it all up by saying, he was now ready whenever called upon to serve his Majesty George IV. his Great Father, and this he would do with the affection and devotedness of a son; and though they did not return to their country having obtained the object of their visit, yet they felt confident that a Government of uprightness would take their claims into consideration, and meet their wishes.

Foreign Intelligence.

EAST INDIES.

Intelligence had been received in England, of the capture of Arracan, the chief town of the province of that name, in the Burmese Empire, and that Donoo-bew had taken into the lands of the British forces without opposition. The struggle on the part of the Burmese appears to be much less vigorous, than that formerly made by Tippoo Sultan in defence of his dominions. There is very little doubt it will terminate first or last, in the conquest of the natives, and probably the annexation of the Empire to the British dominions.

GREECE.

The affairs of the Morea have taken a more favorable turn, but to what extent it is impossible to say Accounts received at Constantinople from Smyrna of the 18th of August, state, that "Ibrahim Pacha after being joined by the corps brought into by Hussein Bey, undertook a second expedition against Napoli di Romania, and had already arrived before the walls of that fortress. On his approach, the Greeks, who were in a most critical situation, declared by a formal act, and, as is generally believed here, at the instigation of Commodore Hamilton, they implored the protection of England.—Ibrahim Pacha, discovered by this event, applied to Commodore Hamilton for an explanation; but instead of any answer being given him, the Greeks, impelled by despair, made an unexpected attack on the Arabs, who were already dispirited. After several partial but sanguinary combats, Ibrahim Pacha hastily retreated to Tripolizza. This news, and the reverses at Missolonghi, have produced a very great sensation here."

This account is confirmed through various channels

It appears indeed, certain that the Government of Napoli has solicited the protection of Great Britain, but what encouragement they had for so doing, remains to be seen. And according to accounts from Zante of the 25th of August, the deputies from Greece, one of whom is the son of Admiral Mauli, had arrived there They are going with passports from Commodore Hamilton, and from the Lord High Commissioner, Sir Wm. Adam, to England in order to solicit its protection Commodore Hamil on is said to have advised the Greeks previously to this, in case of extreme necessity to hoist the English or the Ionian flag.

The Algemeine Zeitung of September 18, also speaks of these negociations, as having given great displeasure to the officers of the Porte, and the measure resolved upon at Napoli excites an extraordinary sensation throughout the Archepelago, and especially among the squadrons of the other European powers The negociations are also said to prove that the English party in Greece has obtained a complete preponderance over the Russian party.

The Austrian Observer, which never publishes or prophecies good of the Greeks if it can avoid it, contains an article from Constantinople of the 23d of August. Ibrahim Pacha is represented to have established his head quarters firmly at Trippolizza in spite of the Greek chiefs, who harass, but cannot dislodge him — This article contains nothing later from Missolonghi than our former advices It admits the gallant defence which the Greeks, in their fortress, have made, and the raising of the seige by water, on the appearance of the Greek fleet. The account of the death of Ypsilanti, we are happy to find, is not confirmed. The report was caused by the death of two other Greek officers in the engagements of the 20th and 21st of July.

On the 12th of June died Gen. Ulysses or Odysseus; he had been taken prisoner by the troops of government and confined in a high tower, charged with treason; from this tower he attempted to make his escape, by letting himself down with a rope which broke, and precipitated him from an immense height upon the rocks below, in him, Greece has lost one of her bravest, but most dangerous sons; the fact of his guilt cannot be questioned, and by his death the tumults of Attica are hushed.

July 14.—News from the Morea better and better: it grows certain that Ibrahim Pacha is in great trouble; he has made several ineffectual attempts to escape from the plains of Tripolizza, but has been prevented by the Greeks who to the number of about 15,000, fill the passes — Four days since they cut off 100 horses with provisions destined for his camp.

Corfu, August 14.

The defeat of the Barbarians before Missolonghi seems to have been altogether owing to the firmness of Bozzaris and the glorious example which he set to the other Greek Chiefs.

The Capt. Pacha sent 100 small armed vessels, with 5000 men, who began the attack by sea, whilst Reschid Pacha, with 30,000 as it is generally said, seconded him by land. The engagement was obstinate; the sky was hidden by the smoke, and the earth trembled from the shock of the cannon. The battle lasted six hours, during which time the European commanders could see nothing on account of the smoke. At last the cannonading ceased, and 2 hours after when the smoke had a little subsided, they saw the standard of the Cross still remaining on the fortress of Missolonghi. Then the Commanders approached in their boats, and saw how terrible the defeat of the barbarians had been. The trenches were filled, and the sea covered with dead bodies. They say there were fifteen thousand killed and wounded. In the meantime arrived Miaulis, and the Captain Pacha was obliged to flee to Castra, on which the Greeks burned one frigate, one corvette, one schooner, and took all of the 100 small vessels which had been engaged in this affair.—Thus ended this famous expedition against Missolonghi.

ADDRESS FROM MONTREAL.

On Saturday, the 15th inst. at 12 o'clock, the Hon. C. W. Grant, John Forsyth, Thos. Porteous, Geo. Garden, Peter McGill, Jno. Molson, Senr. F. A. La Rocque, and Henry McKenzie, Esquires, being appointed at a Public Meeting, to present a congratulatory address to His Excellency the EARL OF DALHOUSIE, from the inhabitants of Montreal, on his return from England, to resume the Government of these Provinces, waited on his Lordship at the Castle of St. Lewis, and delivered to him the following ADDRESS.

To His Excellency, the Right Honorable GEORGE, EARL OF DALHOUSIE, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Honorable Military Order of the Bath; Governor in Cheif in and over the Province of Lower Canada, &c. &c. &c

May it please Your Lordship.

We, the subscribers, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, inhabitants of the city and vicinity of Montreal, most respectfully approach your Excellency to offer our cordial congratulations on the happy return of your Lordship and Lady Dalhousie to this Province.

It is justly esteemed a fortunate circumstance for the distant possessions of the Empire, when their Governments are administered by men of public integrity and private worth, qualities which in a preeminent degree distinguish your Excellency, and while your Lordship's return to this Province marks the approbation and confidence of your Royal Master, our beloved Sovereign, we hail the auspicious event with the warmest expression of those feelings which peculiarly belong to grateful and loyal subjects.

The results of the last session of the Imperial Parliament, while they show that the concerns of this part of the British Empire have occupied more than the usual portion of the labours of His Majesty's Ministers, (whose favourable intentions we gratefully acknowledge,) cannot fail to convince us that we are indebted to the benevolent exertions of your Lordship for much of the interest which has been felt for our welfare. And although the enactments to which we allude, might in some instances, be susceptible of advantageous modification, seeing that no human system can be free from defect, we nevertheless perceive, on reviewing the whole, that we have cause to rejoice much at what has been done, and reason to anticipate still greater benefits under the auspices of your Lordship.

Permit us therefore to express to your Excellency our fervent prayers, that, on resuming the administration of the Government which you have hitherto exercised with honor to yourself and benefit to the country, your Lordship may meet with that support which your laudable conduct so justly merits, from all who duly appreciate the value of that constitution under which we have the happiness of live,—always remembering that we from but a small though interesting portion of a great and powerful empire, whose principles and practice it should ever be our pride to study and imitate.

Montreal, 24th September, 1825.

To which His Excellency was pleased to return the following

ANSWER.

GENTLEMEN,

I accept with great pleasure your kind congratulations upon the return of Lady Dalhousie and myself to this Province; the respectable inhabitants of Montreal and its vicinity, whose names are subscribed to this address, will, I am sure do me the justice to believe that I am truly sensible of this expression of their feelings and of their good opinion.

I am happy to think, Gentlemen, that the liberal views and policy of His Majesty's Government are so generally and justly acknowledged, in the measures adopted in last session of Parliament in regard to the Colonies; and I will venture to assure you, that if certain points have not been so well adjusted as we could wish, our representation of them will not be disregarded in the proper quarter.

But Gentlemen, we can scarcely ask or expect that favourable attention of His Majesty's Ministers unless we also, united among ourselves, will contribute our best exertions towards the public welfare. I most cordially join with you in the hope, that I shall receive that support which I claim for His Majesty's Government by an upright and faithful discharge of those duties which His Majesty has entrusted to me.

To you gentlemen personally, I must offer my best thanks for the trouble you have taken in coming here; I regret to have given cause for it, but circumstances have not permitted me to be so long absent from this, as to reach Montreal at present.

Great Fires in New-Brunswick &c.

On Friday the 7th inst. the Inhabitants of Fredericton were alarmed by the appearance of fire in the woods, surrounding the Surveyor General's new building, and hurried with the fire engines to the spot, which is about three miles distant. At this period when the most active inhabitants were at a distance, a fire commenced in town at Mr. Ring's Buildings, and spread with such amazing rapidity to the neighbouring houses that very little property was saved. We understand that 41 dwelling houses and 41 shops and barns, in all 82 buildings were consumed, together with the King's stores and fuel yard.—The amount of the losses by individuals is estimated at £32,522

In addition to the above calamity at the seat of Government, we learn that dreadful fires are raviging the forest around Fredericton, and in the settlements of New Ireland and New Jerusalem in the rear of Gatetown. Alarming fires are also stated to be spreading devastation in Miramichi. Thirty houses are said to have been destroyed at that place. The long series of dry weather has so completely parched the earth in many places that the fire runs through it with astonishing rapidity.

Many of our poorer fellow subjects are thus, by the visitation of the Almighty, driven from their homes, merchants and mechanics deprived of the produce of their industrious labours, and many other individuals suffer extensive losses.

FREDERICTON, Sept. 20.

Fire.—Yesterday morning the roof of the Government House caught fire, and the whole building with the exception of the N. W. wing, was in a short time consumed. In consequence of the fire commencing on the roof ample time was afforded for the removal of furniture, &c. from the house, which we believe was affected without being materially damaged

FIRE AND HURRICANE.

MIRAMICHI, Oct. 11, 1825

On the night of the 17th inst. this place exhibited the terrific spectacle of a general conflagration The air for the two preceding days had been so intensely close, as to excite suspicion of the existence of large fires in the woods; but no particular alarm was felt until about half past seven, when a rumbling noise was heard to the north, which encreased rapidly with pitchy darkness—there being at that time a dead calm—at 8 o'clock a few sparks and cinders were perceived, and a breeze from the north west led the inhabitants to suppose that the woods must suffer, but no idea was entertained of the horrible calamity which was impending. Suddenly a dreadful hurricane poured down upon the whole north side of the river, bringing with it immense masses of flames, cinders, ashes and hot sand, and scouring the settlements with such amazing rapidity as to render it impossible to preserve any species of property. To describe the scene at this awful period is beyond the powers of language. The flames, of such magnitude and so furious, seemed unlike the fires of this world, whenever they grasped a building instantaneous destruction was the consequence, and the shrieks of the flying inhabitants, the bellowing of the terrified horses, oxen, &c. the roaring of the flames, with the general illumination presented a scene which cannot be imagined.

At Douglastown, scarcely any kind of property escaped the ravages of the fire; the extensive mercantile establishments of Messrs. GILMOUR, RANKIN, & Co. Messrs. WM ARRAMS & Co together with their vessels then on the stocks, as also all the property of numerous others were consumed, leaving but time for the unfortunate inhabitants to fly to the shore, and there by means of boats, canoes, rafts of timber, logs, or any boyant article, however ill adapted for the purpose, endeavour to escape from the dreadful element, and reach the town of Catham—numbers of men, women and children perishing in the attempt

The town of Newcastle with all the surrounding settlements, became a total waste, excepting about fourteen buildings; amongst those which were laid in ashes, were the Court House, Church, Barracks, and Gaol, and for miles through the interior, where mercantile, farming, and timber business was carried on extensively, the greatest desolation took place.

The remote settlements from the entrance of the river upwards, present to the eye the dreadful havoc of this most calamitous event particularly those of the North West Branch, Ballibog and Nappan some of which have scarcely a place of habitation left; and the lives which have been lost at those places are innumerable; the shores at almost every change of wind exhibiting dreadful spectacles of the burst and drowned

In some parts of the country the Cattle have all been destroyed or have suffered greatly, and the very soil in many places has been parched and burnt up, and no provisions have been rescued from the flames, either at Newcastle, where almost every important mercantile establishment (except Messrs. LEDDEN and ABBOTT'S) perished, as at Douglastown.

The hurricane raged with such dreadful violence that bodies of ignited timber, as also trees from the forest, and parts of the flaming houses and stores were carried to the rivers with amazing velocity, and affected the water in such a manner, as to occasion in the shallow places large quantities of salmon, and other fish to resort to the land; hundreds of which are scattered on the shores of the North and South West branches.

Among the vessels in the river, a number were cast on shore three of which, namely, the ships Concord and Canada, together with the brig Jane, were consumed, others were fortunately saved after the fire had attacked them.

Catham at present contains about three hundred of the unfortunate sufferers who have resorted to it for relief, and are experiencing some partial assistance, and almost every hour brings with it great numbers from the back settlements, burnt wounded, or in the most abject state of distress, and nearly one hundred bodies have been already discovered.

The heart sickens to see the widows, widowers and orphans without clothing, homes, or the means of subsistence, and it is impossible at this early period to say how many hundreds have been added to the dead, or have survived to knew that a father, mother, sister or brother has been devoured by the flames or perished by the waters; not only from the circumstance of numerous families in the back settlements not having been yet heard of, but also from the want of information regarding the fate of late lumbering parties in the interior of the woods, who, it is feared have fallen victims to the flames.

In a situation therefore of such unparalleled distress and calamity, it is hoped the hand of humanity will be extended to alleviate the miseries attendant on this awful dispensation of Providence, and administer a balm to the torn feelings and necessities of those, who have in this most distressing manner been deprived of their all, and cast beggars, on the world.

VOL. IV. YORK, U. C. THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1825 No. XLVI.

By Authority.

York, U. C. Nov. 10th, 1825.

This day, at One o'clock, the Honourable the Legislative Council, waited upon His Excellency, the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, with their Address, of which the following is a Copy:—

To His Excellency Sir Peregrine Maitland, Knight Commander of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath, Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada, and Major General Commanding His Majesty's Forces therein: &c. &c. &c.

May it Please Your Excellency,

We, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal Subjects the Legislative Council of Upper Canada in Provincial Parliament assembled, beg leave to present to Your Excellency our grateful acknowledgments for your very gracious Speech at the opening of this Session.

Sharing in the happiness and prosperity which the general tranquillity has poured on the British Empire, we feel its value to be greatly enhanced, as a subject of congratulation, by the opportunity which it has afforded to the Imperial Government, of framing measures which can scarcely fail to excite throughout the dominions of the Crown, an emulation of that spirit of industry and enterprise so eminently conspicuous in the Parent State.

Our Mother Country, ever more generous to her Colonies than any other Nation, from the change which she has recently made in her Commercial system, enables us to anticipate a material advancement of our Public Interests, as this change has avowedly for its object, to constitute the Colonies an integral part of the British Empire, and to give to our Ports the character and privileges of those of the United Kingdom

This enlightened policy, so liberal and conciliating, we receive with the deepest gratitude, and are convinced that the tendency of the measures which it embraces, is to confer upon us all the Commercial privileges of subjects of the United Kingdom while we are exempted from those burthens, by which the Fleets and Armies are maintained, which protect our trade and defend our soil, and especially grateful ought the Canadas to be when even in these general measures, they discover additional proofs of the attention of His Majesty's Government to their peculiar situation, by admitting exceptions in order to regulate our intercourse with the United States of America, and to adjust more conveniently the Navigation Laws of the Empire to the trade upon our inland waters

We fervently hope that the temporary act which has recently passed for the admission of the wheat of the North American Provinces into the United Kingdom may be found reconcileable with the general interests of the Empire, and that the result of the experiment may be such as to enable the Imperial Government to place upon a more permanent and more beneficial footing an indulgence which would be so advantageous to these Colonies

We rejoice that the good consequences which it was hoped would follow the permission of a direct importation of Tea from China have been already in a great measure realized, and that there no longer exists a temptation to that illicit trade which has been deeply prejudicial to the public welfare.

In directing our attention to such Laws as are about to expire, we shall feel it an agreeable duty to concur in the renewal of the Act under which the Militia Pensions are paid.

Deeply sensible how much every description of improvement may be accelerated by the diligent and judicious aid of the Legislature, it is most satisfactory to reflect upon the rapid increase of the Revenue, not only from Tea, and the expansion of trade which necessarily attends the increase of population, but from the larger proportion of duties collected at the Port of Quebec, awarded by the Arbitrators appointed under the Statute of the Imperial Parliament, because such increased resources will not only lighten or remove the existing pressure on the Revenue, but afford more abundant means of cherishing that ardor for public improvement which appears so generally to prevail.

Your Excellency does justice to the Legislative Council in believing that we rejoice in every demonstration that the safety and welfare of this Colony are objects constantly present to the attention of the Parent State, and it is gratifying, as well as interesting, to learn that within the present year, His Majesty has caused a Survey to be made of the British North American Provinces by Officers of eminent Military skill, in order to ascertain the state of their defences, and by what means their security can most effectually be provided for.

Feeling deeply the responsibility that attaches to the several branches of the Legislature in the advancement of a Colony, which under the blessing of Providence, enjoys so many advantages, and how much may be effected by a zealous and cordial application to the public interests, and having experienced for many years Your Excellency's readiness at all times to concur in such enactments as may appear to promise benefit to the Country, it shall be our study to follow so wise an example.

And when we reflect upon the affectionate confidence in Your Excellency's Paternal Administration, which is cherished through the whole Province, the encouraging prospects before us, and the increased peace and harmony which must spring from a measure so extremely desirable as that which shall set at rest the just apprehensions, with respect to their civil rights, which affect a very considerable portion of our population, and which Your Excellency has now the power, by the consent of His Majesty to propose, a result for which the Province must ever feel indebted to Your Excellency, we cannot but anticipate the most happy consequences from the labors of this Session of the Provincial Parliament.

(Signed) WILLIAM CAMPBELL,
SPEAKER.

Legislative Council Chamber, 9th November, 1825.

To which His Excellency was pleased to give the following Answer:—

Honourable Gentlemen,

It will be very grateful to me to transmit to your Sovereign, in the course of my duty, this Address, in which I continue to find that same good spirit of Loyalty, and that warm attachment to the interests of your Country, which have at all times governed your Proceedings; and I must not omit to assure you that I am very sensible of the kind import of those expressions, in which you allude to myself, and which demand my very cordial acknowledgments.

York, U. C. Nov 15th 1825.

This day at one o'clock, the House of Assembly waited upon His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, with their Address, of which the following is a Copy:

To His Excellency Sir Peregrine Maitland, Knight Commander of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath, Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada, and Major General Commanding His Majesty's Forces therein, &c. &c. &c.

May it Please Your Excellency,

We, His Majesty's dutiful and Loyal Subjects, the Commons of Upper Canada in Provincial Parliament Assembled, humbly beg leave to thank Your Excellency for your most gracious Speech from the Throne, at the opening of the present Session.

We sincerely participate in the satisfaction expressed by Your Excellency at the continuance of the general tranquillity which has been so propitious to the happiness and prosperity of the British Empire.

We have rejoiced to observe the Councils of the Imperial Parliament occupied, during this season of peace, in measures, which have particularly for their object, to promote the welfare of the Colonial possessions of the Crown, and to excite in them that spirit of industry and enterprize, of which, the Parent State exhibits so glorious an example

We anticipate a very material and almost immediate advancement of the public interests of this Province from those great and liberal measures which have been recently passed by the Imperial Parliament for regulating the Colonial trade. And which have proceeded upon the avowed principle of constituting the Colonies integral portions of the Empire, and of giving to their Ports the character and privileges of Ports of the United Kingdom

We avail ourselves, with the most sincere satisfaction, of this early opportunity of assuring Your Excellency, as the Representative of our Most Gracious Sovereign, under whose benign and glorious rule these advantages have been extended to us, that in common with the people of this Province we feel and acknowledge most gratefully, as becomes us, these invaluable proofs of the protecting care of our Parent State and that we do not fail to recognize a policy liberal and generous beyond example in a system which tends to confer upon His Majesty's Colonial Subjects all the commercial privileges of subjects of the United Kingdom, while they are exempt from those burdens by which the Fleets and Armies are supported which could alone effectually protect their trade and defend their soil.

We thankfully acknowledge as additional proofs of the gracious consideration of His Majesty's Government those modifications of the general Colonial system which apply to the regulation of our commercial intercourse with the United States of America, and of the navigation upon our inland waters.

We receive with the most lively interest the communication which Your Excellency has been graciously pleased to make with respect to the relaxation of the British Corn Laws in favor of the British North American Colonies, in this Province, more perhaps than in any other, that measure, and every consideration attending it, claims peculiar interest. We perceive in the Act which has been recently passed the most convincing proof of a desire to promote the welfare of the Colonies by establishing a system of which some apprehensions appear still to be entertained that it may be found prejudicial to the great domestic interests of the empire. It is, however, upon their conviction of the soundness of those principles which His Majesty's Ministers have avowed, that the people of this Province would alone desire to rest their hope of this great measure being placed upon a footing more permanent and more beneficial, since they can neither be so ungrateful, nor so insensible to their own interest, as not to feel that nothing ought to be desired by them which would be inconsistent with the vital interests of that great and glorious Empire, from which they have descended and to which they owe the great blessings of security and freedom

We learn with much satisfaction that the direct importation of Tea from China, has been attended with those very desirable consequences which it was hoped would result from it.

We will bestow our attention upon the Public Accounts and Estimates, which Your Excellency may be pleased to lay before us, and we beg to assure Your Excellency of our readiness to make the necessary provision for the Public Service.

We will direct our attention to the Laws that are about to expire, and will not fail to take into our early consideration the Act which governs the payment of Militia Pensions, as it concerns an object for which it must be equally grateful to all branches of the Legislature to provide

Sensible how much it is in the power of the Legislature to advance the improvement of the Colony by a judicious application of public aid, we entertain with great satisfaction the expectation of a rapid increase of Revenue from the causes to which Your Excellency has adverted.

We are much gratified to learn that the Arbitrators appointed under the Statute of the Imperial Parliament have awarded to this Province a share of the duties which are received at Quebec more in proportion to its increase in trade, and population than that which we have hitherto received,

Under these circumstances we may confidently expect that our Revenue will be soon relieved from those incumbrance which in less prosperous times it was found necessary to incur, and we rejoice particularly in this prospect of more abundant means at a moment when a prevailing ardour for public improvement can not fail to present ample opportunities for their beneficial employment.

Your Excellency did us justice in supposing that we should learn with much pleasure that His Majesty has within the present year directed a survey to be made of the British North American Provinces, by Officers of eminent and military skill, for the purpose of ascertaining the state of their defence and by what means their security can be most effectually provided for.

We are gratified by every such demonstration that the safety and welfare of this Colony are objects constantly present to the attention of our Most Gracious Sovereign, and we rejoice more particularly in those measures which are calculated to impress upon the people of this Province the entire conviction which we entertain that their interests as a portion of the British Empire will never be abandoned, but that so long as they and their posterity continue to exhibit that Loyal attachment to the Crown which has already been proved on the part of this Province, the strength of the British Empire will constitute their security, and they will be allowed to the latest times, to share in the glories of the British name.

As one branch of the Legislature we readily and fully avow our obligation to contribute our best exertions towards the advancement of a Colony; which, under the blessings of Providence enjoys so many advantages.

We trust that we shall evince our sense of that obligation by a zealous and cordial application to the Public Intersts, and our experience of Your Excellency's administration will not permit us to doubt of Your Excellency's desire to give effect to all such enactments as may appear to Your Excellency to promise benefit to the Country

We will wait with much interest the communication which Your Excellency intends to make to the Legislature respecting a measure so important in its character as that to which Your Excellency alluded in Your Most Gracious Speech at the opening of this Session.

(Signed)

JOHN WILSON,

SPEAKER.

Commons House of Assembly, November 14th, 1825.

To which His EXCELLENCY was pleased to give the following answer:—

Gentlemen of the House of Assembly.

I thank you for this assurance of faithful and generous attachment to the Mother Country, and to the King's Paternal Government, which is conveyed in such grateful terms, that I shall have particular satisfaction in transmitting your Address to His Majesty.

The resolution you avow to apply with zeal and cordiality to the Public Affairs, and the belief you express of my readiness to give effect to all such enactments as shall appear to me to promise benefit to the Country, are very acceptable to me; indeed a just sense of the obedience due to my Sovereign's wishes must permit me to yield to no branch of the Legislature in zeal for the advancement of the true and lasting interest of the Province, which is so much the object of His Majesty's Council.

MEETING OF THE COUNTY OF HALTON.

At a Meeting of the Magistrates, Freeholders, and other Inhabitants of the County of Halton, District of Gore, held at the hotel of Mr. John Gamble in Dundas, on Saturday the Nineteenth day of October last, having been convened by public notice, for the purpose of taking into consideration certain matters of great importance to the welfare of the county.

TITUS G. SIMONS, of Flamboro' Cottage, late Sheriff of the Gore District, was unanimously called to the chair, and Mr WILLIAM L. MACKENZIE chosen Secretary.

When the following resolutions, moved by Colonel James Crooks and seconded by James Hamilton Esquire, were unanimously adopted.

1st Resolved,—That it is the undoubted right of the Freeholders of this, and of every other County, blessed with the same Free Constitution of Government that we enjoy, on all occasions when the Public Weal is at stake, to instruct their Representatives in the Legislature.—Adopted

2nd Resolved,—That such instructions are at this time in a very particular manner called for, from the circumstance of an intended application to the Legislature of the Province, for authority to borrow the sum of £3000 wherewith to erect a Gaol and Court House in the Town of Hamilton.—Adopted.

3d Resolved,—That it is the opinion of this Meeting, that a sum not exceeding £3000 is fully adequate to the erection of the Buildings required for the Public purposes of the District, and to exceed that sum would unnecessarily load the District with a heavy debt, the repayment of which, with the Interest, would entail a lasting evil upon the District and increase the burdens of the present Inhabitants beyond what they could well bear.

4th Resolved, —That to erect the said Buildings in the Town of Hamilton would not only be inconvenient and partial, but unjust towards a very large Majority of the Inhabitants of the District, in as much as being at one corner thereof, the great body of them are excluded from equal access thereto, with the other Inhabitants, and thus violence is done to the just rights and privileges of the people.

5th Resolved,—That over and above the inconvenience of its situation as regards the District at large, the Town of Hamilton is also exposed to have the Public Records and buildings destroyed by the incursion of a Foreign Enemy, for being in front of the natural Barrier of the Country, Burlington Heights, it receives no protection therefrom, and although not lying upon any Navigable water, it is yet exposed to attack from Lake Ontario and Burlington Bay; moreover the situation enjoys no advantage similar to itself as a County Town, nor is it so healthy as many other situations more in the centre of the District possessing every material for building, and sites for Manufactories, which the other is wholly without.

6th Resolved,—That as regards the health of Prisoners, it is a duty incumbent on those in authority, as far as possible, to pay every attention to it, in as much as those whose crimes or misfortunes might cause their becoming inmates of a Prison are more particularly entitled to the consideration of the humane; their detention there being comphulsatory, a change is out of their choice; whilst the confined air of a Gaol adds to the malignant tendancy of an unhealthy atmosphere.

7th Resolved,—That to appoint a Commission by Law, of persons of Intelligence and Respectability, living without the District, and having no interest in property therein, (to be paid out of the District Funds) who upon due examination and reflection, and with all impartiality, should fix upon a site whereon to erect a Gaol and Court House in this District, and as much as possible, in the centre thereof, appears to this Meeting, a mode at once unobjectionable in itself, and just towards all the people of the District.

8th Resolved,—That the County of Halton, (having no large extent, (being capable that of Wentworth) from its fertile soil, fine streams of water, fit for Machinery and Manufactories of all kinds, the Salubrity of its air, number and respectability of its Inhabitants, its extensive Trade, and the productions of its Agriculture, is entitled to a share fully equal to that of the other County, of which the District of Gore is composed, in all the advantages, Privileges, and Immunities enjoyed by it.

9th Resolved,—That to continue the Town of Hamilton as the place of meeting in this District, of the Courts of Justice, District School, &c. would operate as a grievance upon the people of the County of Halton, and virtually disfranchise a large proportion of them, in as much as the distance to its extremity, is upwards of Sixty miles from the said Town of Hamilton; whilst in the opposite direction it is only from Ten to Fifteen miles to the extremity of the County of Wentworth, and the evil will be greatly extended when those large and fertile tracts of Land, in the County of Halton, are filled with people by the Canada Land Company.

10th Resolved,—That the objections urged by this Meeting, against the erection of the Public Buildings in the Town of Hamilton, proceed from no ill will or hostility towards our fellow Subjects of the County of Wentworth, but from a sense of the great public evil which will thereby be entailed upon the people of this District, and the just right we have, by every fair and constitutional means in our power, to prevent so great a wrong being done to us, and to seek its removal.

11th Resolved,—That the interest of this County in particular, and the Province in general, would be greatly promoted by the late Act of the Imperial Parliament, for permitting the importation of Wheat into Great Britain, being extended to flour; an article which from the number and excellence of the Mills in the County for Manufacturing it, is one on which its prosperity greatly depends, at the same time that our great distance from the Sea, and number of reshipments prevent the Exportation of Wheat. It therefore becomes the imperious duty of our Representatives in the Legislature to make such Representations to the Government of the Mother Country, through the Executive Government of this Province, as will tend to acquire this great additional benefit to us.

12th Resolved,—That the interest of this County and Province would be promoted if Raw Hides were permitted to be imported into the British Colonies in North America free of Duty, as also if Yellow Bees wax, Apples and other fruits not preserved were allowed to be imported into Great Britain from the said Colonies free; or subject to a very low advalorem duty.

13th Resolved,—That our Representatives in Parliament be instructed to promote by every means in their power, the completion of the Communications of this District already begun, and to interest themselves in the construction of others as well as of Roads and Bridges.

14th Resolved,—That much good would result to the Province in general, and to this District in particular, were a law passed, making it the duty of the different District Treasurers to receive the Assessment upon Lands in Districts other than their own, which may be owned by persons residing in that to which they are appointed, and accounting for it to the District where the said Land may be situated

15th Resolved,—That a Copy of the Resolutions adopted by this Meeting be sent to each of our Representatives in the House of Assembly, and the Two Members of the Honourable the Legislative Council, (Messrs Clark & Dickson) who are particularly interested in the prosperity of this County, from the large possessions they hold therein, with a request that they will be pleased to forward the views of this Meeting (as expressed in said Resolutions) and to give their active and decided opposition to any measures brought into their respective Houses, militating against the spirit, and the sentiments expressed therein

16th Resolved,—That the foregoing Resolutions be inserted once in the Upper Canada Gazette, and Colonial Advocate.

(Signed) T. G SIMONS,
Chairman.

The Chairman having left the chair, it was taken by Manuel Overfield, Esq when the two following Resolutions were moved, and seconded as above, and unanimously adopted

17th Resolved,—That the thanks of this Meeting be given to Colonel Simons, for his able and impartial conduct while in the chair

18th Resolved,—That the thanks of this Meeting be given to Mr. William L. Mackenzie, as Secretary thereof, for his able assistance.

(Signed) M. OVERFIELD.
A True Copy,
Wm. L. MACKENZIE,
Secretary

A Petition founded on the above Resolutions was then drawn up, and received numerous signatures.

Editorial Commentary.

The only article of Foreign Intelligence of any particular interest, received by the late arrivals, are, a confirmation of the fact that Greece has actually claimed the protection of Great Britain; and that the Chiefs of the Island of Mombassa, on the eastern coast of Africa, famous for its extensive trade in ivory and gum copal, have likewise solicited to be put under the paternal government of His Majesty George the IV;—we have, also, the additional news that the Independance of Brazil has been recognised

The second reading of the Bill for the relief of the sufferers by fire in New Brunswick comes on this day, in our House of Assembly and it is hoped the feeling and voice will be unanimous in favour of a measure so just, necessary, and benevolent. The cargo of the ship St Lawrence despatched from Quebec with so much promptitude as soon as intelligence of the calamity reached that city is estimated by some of the Lower Canada papers at £5,000, and it is said that it consists of Sheets, Blankets Shoes, Stockings, and other things nece sary to guard against the approaching cold; together with Pork, Flour, and other provisions of which the poor sufferers stand so much in need, having been deprived of their stock—Besides which, the inhabitants of Quebec have subscribed many hundreds of Pounds The subscriptions of Montreal already amount to £1200. Halifax besides much contributed to the amount of several thousand pounds;—and such of the towns and villages of New Brunswick as have escaped the calamity of the late fire have contributed their thousands.—We trust the Province will not loiter behind any of its sister communities, under the crown, in this great and meritorious work of charity, in which the neighbouring States of America have already taken an active and most praise-worthy part

The first number of a Parliamentary Register, containing the Journals of our House of Assembly during its present Session will appear in our next.

Notices have been already given for the introduction of many Bills of general interest, and of importance to this Colony;—and, if the rocks and shoals and whirlpools of Party can only be avoided—there is clearly a sufficiency of talent and industry within the walls of our present Assembly to render much good to the country, the Members, generally do but preserve the single mindedness, single-rightedness, honesty, zeal, and perseverance which is the characteristic of sound patriotism, and which so well becomes that true and genuine loyalty, of which we are all so proud.

An advertisement in this day's paper will shew what are the designs of Mr Dwyer formerly of London, and of much celebrity on the boards of Old Drury We can only say that if the public generally were as well acquainted with the merits of this Gentleman as we consider ourselves to be, he would not fail in obtaining all the patronage he could desire.

Selections from British and Foreign Journals.

It is reported in the Naval circle, that a ship of war, probably the Java, is to be fitted to take out a new Governor-General to India; and that this grace the Duke of Buckingham has accepted that appointment.

London University.—The managers of the new London University have, it is said, purchased seven acres and a half of ground near Gower-street, on which to erect their College.

Sufferings of the Quaker's.—It is stated in the Quakers Annual Epistle, for 1825 that "the (pecuniary) sufferings of us Members," arising with a very few exceptions, from their Christian testimony against tithes and other ecclesiastical

...lions, have amounted, during the last year, to £13,000."

Consumption of Cheese.—It appears by a late speech of the Governor of North Holland, that the quantities of cheese exported from the Netherlands, to England chiefly, is prodigious, amounting, in 1824, to 11,564,720lbs

Canals in Great Britain.—It is stated by the Register of Arts and Sciences, that there are in Great Britain 103 canals the total extent of which is 2682 1-4 miles, which cost thirty millions sterling. This estimate of the cost gives an average of something more than eleven thousand pounds per mile. There are in the various canals 48 subterranean passages, 40 of which have an extent of 55 miles. None of these works were projected prior to the year 1755.

Johanna Southcott.—Two prophets of the Southcottian flock made their appearance here during the course of last week, with the intention, we suppose, of making proselytes. On their arrival they issued advertisements to the following effect:—"This is to give notice, that John Wise, a servant of God, who has travelled in foreign nations, will preach the Everlasting Gospel of the redemption of the body in the Brickfield, Ordnance-ground, on Sunday, Sept. 4, 1825!"—On the Sunday, according to announcement, these wise men appeared on the spot selected; they were both bareheaded, and had an extraordinary appearance. One of them, the speaker, our informant observed, had his arm bound in iron rod, the latter of which he constantly flourished, to the no small dismay of those standing near him. There were many persons assembled, for motives of curiosity, to witness their conduct. The horn, we are given to understand, is emblematical of the ram's horns, spoken of in the Bible, and which the orator stated, when he sounded, the regenerated world assembles together from all quarters of the world, and he gathered under Johanna's wings. His address was a mixture of absurdity and ignorance. One can scarcely credit that the present era can be the 19th century of enlightened England. How disgraceful is the scene we above alluded to; and what perversion of the truths contained in that sacred book, from which these persons maintain they have their authority, does such conduct display!—Plymouth Paper.

Sporting Extra.—On the favourite horse Cleaver, which was to run at the last Doncaster races in England, bets to the amount of one million sterling were depending.

MISCHIEVOUS LOQUACITY.

It would be well for the world at large, if the mischievous loquacity alluded to in the paragraph below were confined, peculiar, to St. Helena.—ED.

Women are often accused of gossipping, but we are not aware that it has ever been the subject of legal penalties, except at St. Helena, where, among the ordinances promulgated in 1700, we find the following:—"Whereas, several idle, gossipping women, make it their business to go from house to house, about this island, inventing and spreading false and scandalous reports of the good inhabitants, and thereby sow discord and debate among neighbours, and often between men and their wives, to the great grief and trouble of all good and quiet people, and to the utter undoing of many families in this unity and good neighbourhood; for the punishment and suppression whereof, and to the intent that all strife may be ended, charity revived, and friendship continued, we do order, that if any woman from henceforth shall be convicted of idle bearing, mischief making, scolding, or any other notorious vices, they shall be punished by ducking or whipping, or such other punishment as these crimes or transgressions shall deserve, or the governor and council shall think fit."

Stirling Journal

Estates of the Marquis of Anglesey.—The sale of the large estates of the Marquis of Anglesey, last week, at Hillsboro' Fort, was by no means numerously attended, and the great part of the property is still unsold. The Clifton estate was knocked down at £50,000; Mr. Bridge, the Goldsmith, is said to be the purchaser. The Broad Leys property was sold at £45,000 and the extensive farm of Sherborne Wyke at £18,000, but neither had bidders.

Legal Presumption.—Baldus, a very eminent lawyer of the 14th century, and Menochius, who lived in legal presumption in the 16th century, both lay it down as a clear law, that "if it be proved that a certain man's head has been cut off, a legal presumption will follow from thence, that that man is dead!

Blindness in Chancery.—The longest suit on record in England, is one which existed between the heirs of Sir Thomas Talbot, Viscount Lisle, and the heirs of a Lord Berkely, respecting some property in the county of Gloucester, not far from Wotton-under-Edge. It began at the end of the reign of Edward the Fourth, and was ending until the beginning of that of James the First, when it was finally compounded, being a period of not less than one hundred and twenty years!

Craniological Philosophy.—A famous craniologist strolling through a church-yard, perceived a grave digger tossing up the earth among which were two or three skulls; the craniologist took one, and, after considering it a little time, said, "Ah, this was the skull of a Philosopher." "I beg your honour," said the grave digger, "for I see it is somewhat cracked.

Improvement in making Shot.—A patent has just been taken out for a new method of making shot, the improvement consists in mixing a small proportion of quicksilver with the lead, by which means the shot is rendered harder and heavier, and divested of the arsenic, which was one of the chief objections to the original patent shot—Other advantages are stated to be, that a shot of a smaller size is procured for guns of smaller calibre, yet equal to large drops; that it is as clean as silver to handle, and may be carried loose in the pocket; and that it has less friction in firing

Foreign Intelligence.

FRANCE.

FATE OF LA PEROUSE.

Admiral Manby, recently arrived at Paris brings information, supported by strong presumptive proofs, that the place so long unknown where the brave Perouse perished about forty years ago with his gallant crew, has been at length ascertained.

An English whaling vessel has discovered a long and low island, surrounded by innumerable shoals, between New Scotland and New Guinea, and almost equally distant from both. The natives came on board, and one of the chiefs had a cross of St. Louis attached to one of his ears. Other natives wore swords, on which the word Paris was seen, and some had also in their hands coins of Louis XVI. When it was asked how they obtained the things, one of their chiefs, about fifty years of age, said that, when he was very young, a large vessel had been wrecked in a violent tempest on the coral reef, and that all on board perished. The sea cast on the shore of their island some chests containing the cross of St. Louis and many other things. During his voyage round the world Admiral Manby has seen many medals of the same kind, which Perouse had distributed among the natives of California; and, as he had declared that he intended to set sail for the northern part of New Holland, in order to explore the great Archipelago of Islands thereabouts, it is too much to be feared that the shoal before mentioned occasioned the destruction of this great man and his entripid crew. The cross of St. Louis is on its way to Europe, directed to Admiral Manby.—Journal des Debats.

GULPH OF MEXICO.

It is said the waters of the Gulph of Mexico and the Atlantic can be united through Florida, by a Canal of 18 miles, over low ground, from river to river.—The writer say this measure would, in a manner, bring the mouth of the Mississippi to the Atlantic.

United States.

Browere the Sculptor.—The following letter we received from that eccentric genius, Browere, who it seems, is in Virginia, pursuing his successful method of taking plaster casts:—

"Monticello, Oct. 18, 1825.

"You will perceive by this, that I have been 'successful again' The venerable Thomas Jefferson has submitted to my ordeal: the effect has been—a perfect bust. Having, a few days previous, taken a most exquisite bust of James Madison, he kindly presented me with a letter of introduction to Mr Jefferson, expressing therein his satisfaction at my success. It may not be uninteresting to know, that I had previously determined to take a mask only of the philosopher and sage of Monticello, owing to his very advanced age, and the usual infirmities which attend it, yet, finding that by a proper attention to one particular subject, I might venture to take a full bust. I did so, and succeeded; but just as I was removing the material from the head and shoulders of the venerable patriot, four ladies came into the room, accompanied by a gentleman, and troubled me with their exclamations and surmises, and thereby retarded my progress considerably. The good old man stood it like a hero, and yod know it is no trifle, yet could not altogether overcome the sensation of feeling faint.—Finding the ladies did not retire at my request, I determined that they should leave me alone to my own operations, and spoke rather peremptorily—and all was as it should be, a perfect model; and the American people will be presented with a fac simile of the man they delight to honor.

I should do wrong to myself did I not say, that owing to the intrusion of the ladies, I had to pull the old gentleman's ears a little. We supped together a half hour after, and we all laughed heartily at the scene. He is perfectly satisfied, and happy that I have succeeded. He has presented me with an original cast of Gen La Fayette, executed by Houdon in France, which, when it gets to New York, will substantiate the correctness of the one, I lately took from the person of the general. Let Winkleman, in the American, dare to repeat his assertions, depreciating my plan, when he finds Jefferson, Madison, Clay, Porter, Brown, &c. have not been ashamed to sit for Browere, and have their "heads plloticed," as he calls it.—Nook's Advocate.

Natural History.

Wild Horses.—A Mulade, or drove of Mules, consisting of 1200 arrived at Natchitoches, Louisiana, in Aug. from Mexico. They were under the care of 80 men, caporals, drivers or swimmers. They had to be inclosed every night to prevent their being carried off by the Estampilla or gangs of wild horses.

It is a well known fact, that horses of travellers of the most domestic habits, will immediately join and follow a drove of wild horse.

FROM THE INDIANPOLIS GAZETTE.

Something for Ancionists.—Not long ago an ox belonging to Mr Custis, Malary, of Hamilton county, (Ind.) died of what is called the bloody Murrain. A neighbour expressed a belief that there were leeches in the liver of the ox; to test which he was opened in the presence of Dr. Palmer, Mr. Potts, Mr. Minor, Mr. Mallary and several others,—The liver being examined on the outside, a black spot was discovered, in which they made an incision, and took out a large leech—and on a thorough examination, three others were found, all perfectly secreted within the liver; alive and enjoying excellent health and provision.—I traces of their courses through the liver in various directions were plainly seen. Now the question is how came they there? Were they swallowed by the ox? and did they afterwards find a passage or make one to the liver? or are we to suppose leeches to be a natural product of the liver? I am told they are often to be found in the liver of deer.

Chickweed.—The common chickweed, with white blossoms, afford a notable instance of what is called the sleep of plants; for every night the leaves approach in pairs, so as to include within their upper surface the tender rudiments of the new shoots, while the uppermost pair, but one, at the end of the stock are furnished with longer leaf stalks than the others, so that they close on the terminating pair, and protect the end of the branch.

Poetry.

There is something indescribably touching in the following exquisite lines from LORD BYRON's, Hebrew Melodies'—Little indeed are the feelings of that man to be envied who could be insensible to their deep and overpowering tenderness.—ED.

SONG

Oh weep for those.

Oh weep for those that wept by Babel's stream,
Whose shrines are desolate, whose land a dream,
Weep for the harp of Judah's broken shell—
Mourn where their God hath dwelt—the Godless dwell!

And where shall Israel lave her bleeding feet?
And when shall Zion's song again seem sweet?
And Judah's melody once more rejoice
The hearts that long'd before its heavenly voice?

Tribes of the wandering foot and weary breast!
How shall ye flee away and be at rest?
The wild dove hath her nest—the fox his cave—
Mankind their Country—Israel but the GRAVE.

Statement of Arrivals, &c. since the opening of the navigation:

Arrivals, 755—Tonnage, 191,077—Settlers, 9,026—The clearances during the same period amount to 707.

The St. Lawrence, Capt. Harby, is loading, by Government with Provisions and cloathing for the soldiers at Mirimichi to the amount of near, by £6000, every exertion is made to despatch her, a party of the military are employed in putting the stores on board, and were at work on Sunday, so great is the anxiety of Government to forward these supplies which the (old) Quebec Gazette says, it is thought will afford subsistence and even comfort to 1000 individuals for six months, the same paper gives the amount of the subscriptions at Montreal on Saturday at £650, and nearly an equal sum at Quebec.—Mercury

Commissary General Turquand.—We are happy to hear that the COMMISSARY GENERAL is as well as can be expected after his very extraordinary escape from destruction. He has slept well, is free from fever, and his general health, notwithstanding the pain he has suffered, is good.

THE 37th REGIMENT.

The remaining divisions of the 37th Regiment are expected to sail about Sunday next. The following highly flattering order has been issued by the Commander of the Forces on their approaching departure

HEAD QUARTERS, Quebec, 28th Oct. 1825.

GENERAL ORDER.

The Commander of the Forces has great pleasure in conveying to Lieutenant Colonel BURR, an expression of the high opinion he entertains of the 37th Regiment on its embarkation to return from Canada to England

In spite of the most circumstances having occurred within these last few years, Lord Dalhousie adverts to them on this occasion, only for the purpose of recording in General Orders, that while the circumstances did exist, they never interfered with the discipline, or Soldier-like conduct and appearance of the Regiment; but these circumstances (he hopes and believes) have now passed away, and the Commander of the Forces feels on the departure of the 37th the love of one of the best disciplined and most efficient Regiments under his Command, such are the terms in which he shall report to His Royal Highness the Commander in Chief.

Lord Dalhousie has only to assure Lieut Colonel Burer, the Officers, and non commissioned officers, and soldiers of the 37th, that they carry with them his most cordial good wishes for the happiness and honor of the Regiment wherever it may be called to serve.

DAVIDITES.

The following lively sketch of these Maniacs and their Freaks is we believe, from the pen of Mr F Hall of N. York.—Ed.

The New York Commercial Advertiser of Saturday contains a letter from a gentleman travelling in the West in which we find the following account of a singular sect of people called Davidites or the Children of Peace, who are located about 36 miles from York U C

The founder and present leader is David Wilson. He was formerly a member of the society of Friends, as were many of his followers. They emigrated from the state of Pennsylvania, about 25 years ago, and they have now a society of from 160 to 200 souls. They reside in families and close to each other, forming a community something like the Shakers. Although called the Children of Peace, David has fifty of them completely armed, and I understand a part of their worship consists of military drilling. They have recently commenced the building of a Temple, which, like that of Solomon, is to be seven years in building. The frame is 60 feet square, and was prepared at a distance and brought and put together without "the sound of an hammer or an axe being heard." It is to be ornamented within and without, and although it will be costly, yet the treasure they will not spare in the splendour which was displayed by Solomon.—The building is to be three stories high, with a steeple. From the base to the top, of the first story is 20 feet. The frame that was completed twenty four females ascended and sung an evening anthem just as the sun was sinking in the west. They have a small place of worship, in which there is a good organ. They go in procession to their place of worship the females leading the band, being preceded by banners and two of their number playing on the flute. They have two nunneries for those of the age of 9 and under 16, and the other for those above 16. These together people occupy a rich tract of country about five miles in length by two in breadth. They use the plain language, but I have not been able to ascertain what are their peculiar doctrines; they do not object to take the ordinary oaths in courts of justice. On the Sabbath that I spent at York, they were to hold a "Love Feast," and many were out to be present. It is not like the Love Feast of the Moravians and Methodists, where bread and water are only made use of, but they partake of the best which the country affords.

The Directors have, with great care and research, ascertained the true law of mortality for various climates and diseases.

The Company is supported by a Capital of £24,000 in 2,000 shares of £120 each of which 25 per cent. has been advanced, and the Shareholders have entered into sufficient securities for payment of the remainder. This Capital is fully sufficient for the security of the assured.

The importance of LIFE ASSURANCE to those who in professional and mercantile pursuits, derive limited or fluctuating incomes from personal exertions, or who are in the possession of places, the emoluments of which die with the holder, has long been acknowledged both in Europe and the United States of America. In the full conviction, that the inhabitants of the Canadas would not be slow, in perceiving the advantages to be derived from the introduction of such an Institution amongst them, the undersigned communicated to the Directors of the ASYLUM COMPANY, such information as a long residence in various parts of both Provinces has enabled him to collect, and the Board with the view of affording additional facilities, to those who may be desirous of availing themselves of the benefits of Life Assurance, have in consequence, appointed him their Agent, for the Provinces of Upper and Lower Canada. He will accordingly be prepared to receive proposals, and negotiate Policies upon Lives, as soon as he is in possession of the scale of premiums (which he daily expects,) this has been calculated with great care and attention, to adapt it to next, Fifty Acres of Land, 33 of which intend to present a Petition to the Legis- of New York, incorporated with a Capi- the peculiar localities of the Canadas, are under good improvement—being part lature of this Province at its next Session, tal of 250,000 Dollars, having appointed and will, on comparison, be found considerably lower for young and middle aged risks than that of any other Office

A Physician or consulting Surgeon of eminence will be appointed in the principal Towns in either Province, before, whom persons in the country, wishing to effect Insurances may appear, on sending their proposals by letter to the Company's Agent at Quebec

The names of the Medical Referees and all other necessary information will be given in a future advertisement.

Errata.—In HIS EXCELLENCY the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR's answer to the Address of the House of Assembly, published in the last Gazette, fourth line from the bottom, instead of reading "interest" &c read "interests," &c.—And last line but "Council" read "Councils."

Editorial Commentary.

By the last arrivals, we learn that the Greek Deputies, charged with the proposals at their Government, relative to the British protection, had reached London; and that the son of Admiral MIAULIS was one of them. His Majesty's proclamation which enjoins a strict observance of neutrality, as well towards the Greeks as towards the Ottoman Porte, and all other belligerents, with whom Great Britain may be at peace, on pain of fine and imprisonment, is said to have induced LORD COCHRANE to abandon his late projected expedition in favour of Greece. It is some consolation, however, to the friends of that injured and oppressed, but noble, people, to know that their affairs have again brightened, and that the barbarious have again been, every where, defeated.

A late paper from Grenada, in Spain, states that on the 9th of September a lodge of Free Masons detected in that city, by the Police, in the act of receiving an apprentice—were every one of them hanged! and that the unfortunate apprentice had been sentenced to eight years imprisonment.

The St. Ledger Stakes at Doncaster, on which it was said a sum of not less than ONE MILLION Sterling, depended—has been won by the horse Memnon, for which it is said the enormous price of 10,000 guineas was given!

We are happy to state that our Assembly have voted the sum of £1000, in aid of the unfortunate sufferers in New Brunswick, in whose behalf there is also a private subscription going forward in this Town to a considerable amount—The Kingston subscriptions, at the last date, amounted to £590 6 6—and those in Montreal, to £1329 4 4 The Acadian Recorder states that, in regard to the loss of human life—the number of wounded was three fold that of the dead, and that at the lowest estimate 2,000 human beings were left in total destitution.

The Provincial Parliament of Lower Canada is again prorogued to the 3d of January—Our own Legislature is proceeding steadily with business, and we are in great hopes that the harmony which has been happily preserved thus far, will continue throughout the Session.

The Parliamentary Register for this Session, the first number of which is given in this weeks paper, will be regularly continued until the whole is completed; without any go-bing, or abbreviation, whatever; by which means the Electors of Upper Canada will have an official, and indubitable test, to which to bring the Legislative conduct of their Representatives—Next Week we shall be much more voluminous under this head.

Selections from British and Foreign Papers.

Cautions in visiting sick rooms—Never venture into a sick room in a violent perspiration, (if circumstances require a confinement for some time,) for the moment the body becomes cold, it is in a state likely to absorb the infectious matter the disease. Nor visit a sick person, (especially if the complaint be of a contagious na-tore) with an empty stomach, as this disposes the system more readily to receive the infection.—In attending a sick person, stand where the air passes from the door or window to the bed of the diseased, not between the diseased person and any fire that is in the room, as the heat of the fire will draw the infectious vapor in that direction, and much danger would arise from breathing.

The luxuries of our Ancestors.—Holinshed who wrote in the time of Queen Elizabeth, thus describes the rudeness of the preceding generation in the arts of life:—"There were very few chimneys, even in the capital of name; the fire was laid to the wall, and the smoke issued at the roof, or door, or window. The houses were wattled and plastered over with clay; and all the furniture and utensils were of wood. The people slept on straw pallets, with a log of wood for a pillow." Lord Kaimes says, that Henry II. of France at the Marriage of the Duchess of Savoy, wore the first silk stockings that were made in France. Queen Elizabeth, the third year of her reign, received in a present a pair of black silk knit stockings, and Dr Howell reports that she never wore cloth hose any more. Before the Conquest, there was a timber bridge upon the Thames between London and Southwark, which was repaired by William Rufo, and was burnt by accident in the reign of Henry II. At that time, (A D 1176) the present London bridge was projected, though not finished until the year 1212 In the former part of the reign of Henry VIII., there did not grow in England, cabbage, carrot, turnip, or other edible root, and even Queen Catherine herself could not command a salad for dinner, till the King brought over a gardener from the Netherlands. About the same time, the artichoke, the apricot, and the damask rose, made their first appearance in England. Turkies, carps, and hops were first known here in the year 1524. The mulberry shrub was brought from the island of Zante in the year 1553; and 1540 in cherry trees from Flanders was first planted in Kent. It was in the year 1563, that knives were first made in England. Pocket watches were brought here from Germany in 1577. About the year 1580, coaches were introduced, before which time, Queen Elizabeth on public occasions rode behind her chamberlain. A saw mill was erected near London in the year 1633; but afterwards demolished, that it might not deprive the labouring poor of employment.

Number of Christians.—By a calculation ingeniously made, it is found that, were the inhabitants of the known world divided into thirty parts, 19 of them are still possessed by Pagans, six by Jews and Mahommedans, two by Christians of the Greek and Eastern Churches, and three by those of the Church of Rome and Protestant communion. If this calculation be accurate, Christianity, taking in its largest latitude bears no greater proportion to the other religions than 5 to 25, or 1 to 5. If we regard the number of inhabitants on the face of the globe, the proportion of Christians to other religionists is not much greater; for, according to a calculation made in a pamphlet published originally in America, and re-published in London in 1818, the inhabitants of the world amount to about 600,000,000, and its Christian population to only 200,000,000, viz; in Asia 2,000,000; Africa, 2,000,000; Europe, 177,000,000; America, 20,000,000; the Greek and Eastern Churches, 30,000,000; the Papists, 100,000,000; the Protestants 70,000,000 The Pagans are estimated at 361,000,000, the Mahommedans at 120,000,000; the Jews at 2,000,000 If a generation last 30 years, then in that space 600,000,000 will be born and die, consequently 74,088 suffer death every day, 3,046 every hour, 51 every minute, and a fraction more than a fraction every moment.

New mode of fastening Bedsteads.—Amongst the improvements of the present day, our attention has been called to a new mode of fastening bedsteads, by which the present tedious process is entirely superseded. By the new method, a bedstead is put together and effectually secured, by a contrivance as simple in its character as it is expeditious in the operation The inventor is Mr. John M'Child, of Chambersburg, Pennsylvania; who, we understand, has taken out a patent, and is now engaged in the disposal of the rights thus vested in him.—National Journal

Query, which is the man?—In the ranks of the Sutherland Regiment of 1793 there were one hundred and four William Mackays; and seventeen in one company, Captain Seekville Sutherland's.

A Veteran's opinion of his Master.

A soldier, who had served in the Protector's army, after the Restoration was tenant of an Irish bishop, who, knowing what the man had been, always severely reproached him with having supported the cause of an usurper. The veteran apologized on the plea of necessity, but the bishop constantly resumed his reproaches when the man came to pay his rent. On the last occasion the bishop said to his tenant, "Your old master is gone to hell." The soldier, still keeping his temper, calmly answered, "I am sorry for it," "Sorry" said the bishop, "for such a scoundrel!" "No," rejoined the soldier, "I am sorry on the Devil's account, for wherever master is he'll be uppermost.

Improvement in Printing.—We are informed that the re-printing of French works, which has never been carried on to such an extent in the Belgic Provinces as at present, will soon be adopted by printing the French Journals by a lithographic process. It is calculated that the subscription to these papers, which now costs, with postage and tribe stamp, 31 francs 20 cents per quarter, not including the porterage, will be only 10 francs, which will be a great injury to the Journals of the Netherlands. The re-print of the French Journals will be executed by lithographic and chemical process, to which the inventor has given the name of Autographie. Every foreign Journal, for which there shall be subscribers shall be re-printed, and the re-print shall appear two hours after the arrival of the Mail. The difference in prices will be from 25 to 30 per cent less than the present.

Action of Libel!—Mr Power, an Irish barrister has obtained £300 damages for a libel, from the proprietor of the Dublin Evening mail The libel held forth Mr. Power, generally as a wretched contemptible character; and insinuated that he was in such a state of abject poverty, that he dined at a cheap coffee house on a sixpenny dinner, of which they doubted not he ate heartily, as people often do who live upon one meal!".

Natural History.

Remarkable Sagacity.—Sometime ago, a child was walking out with the maid-servant in George's square, Edinburgh, where, it would appear, the dogs are remarkable for wisdom and benevolence; the child was throwing a ball before it, which happened to run into the middle of the street, and the child followed it The servant just then happened to meet some one with whom she stopped to converse, and at the same moment a carriage came quickly round the corner of the square towards the child. A large Newfoundland dog, which was lying upon the pavement, darted forward seized the child by the clothes, and laid it safely down at the feet of the servant. No wonder we have epitaphs on Newfoundland dogs.

An immense Cavern.—A discovery has lately been made of an immense cavern, situated in the Secondary Limestone, at Matlock, Derbyshire, described by geologists as the grandest continuation of caverns hitherto explored The access to and through it is perfectly easy, and after traversing various windings (fine cave scenery), you arrive at a beautiful archway, from which a passage is made through to daylight, where the subterraneous visitors arrive at an elevated terrace, nearly on the summit of the mountain in which the cavern is situated, commanding one of the finest views of the neighbouring romantic scenery It has been named the Devonshire Cavern.

Extraordinary Meteor.—From a private letter of recent date, from Guelderland, in Holland:—"The rains we had in August have contributed much to the improvement of the crops in general: especially after the great and intolerable heat of which I gave you an account in one of my former letters. In the latter end of August, a singular aeriel phenomenon took place at eleven o'clock in the evening, viz: a very considerable blue light was seen, which gave a most extraordinary appearance to all surrounding objects: so much so, notwithstanding it was a full moon, and fine clear weather, it so frightened the servants, who were standing in the garden behind our house that one of them came running into our room, in the greatest state of alarm, to mention the circumstance. The same appearance was noticed at the very moment through the whole country, which proves that the substance or combustable fluid which emitted it must have been at great elevation."

Remarkable Phenomenon.—At six o'clock p. m of Saturday, 10th September, (says the Chester Courant.) the sun being due west, two primary rainbows made their appearance, each having a secondary bow, the one very perfect, the other, occasionally, only partially so, but the primary ones were extremely vivid, and of long duration, one of them forming a larger segment of a circle than the other; both, however, appearing to spring from the same base They immediately succeeded a storm of wind and rain, from S. S. E; but at that time the sky was bright and clear towards the sea from Park gate. A similar phenomenon made its appearance on the 9th July, 1792; and a philosophical solution was attempted. A correspondent, however, has requested, that some one who made the observation, or who may understand the description he has given, would account for the extraordinary spectacle.

Rapid flight.—The rapidity with which the hawk and many other birds occasionally fly, is probably not less than at the rate of 150 miles in an hour; the common crow, 25 ditto; a swallow, 92 ditto; and the swift, three times greater. Migratory birds probably about 50 miles per hour.

VOL. IV. YORK, U. C THURSDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1825 No. XLVIII.

By Authority.

In Council 21st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as Settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepared in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District.

2. All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and not appropriated for public purposes, will be offered for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3. All persons proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts on payment of a fee of 2s 6d.

4. All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5 The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments, as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement.—A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready-money payments.

6. On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply, in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8. Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions.

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing, through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form, Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres.

11. No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending in the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12. A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase.

13. The quit rent will be redeemable within the first 25 years next following the grant, on payment of a sum equal to twenty times the annual amount of it.

14 Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it.

15 Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hundred Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On failure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16 No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessary expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17. Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprized in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18. Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of these general Rules.

19. U. E. Loyalists and other persons entitled to gratuitous Grants by the general regulation of His Majesty's Government, are not to be affected by these Rules.

The above Rules to take effect from the first of January 1826.

GREAT MEETING AT ANCASTER.

A MEETING of the Freeholders and Inhabitants of the Township of Ancaster, Gore District, was held on Monday, 7th Nov. at the Ancaster Hotel, pursuant to requisition, for the purpose of taking into consideration certain matters affecting the welfare of the District, and the Province at large.

At which MATTHEW CROOKS Esquire, was appointed Chairman, and ROBERT BERRIE Esquire, Secretary.

When the following Resolutions were proposed, and carried.

Whereas the buildings at present appropriated for the purpose of a Jail and Court House for this District have been found to be incommodious and totally inadequate to the purposes for which they were designed, therefore, it is

Resolved—That application be forthwith made to the Provincial Legislature, praying them to pass a law authorizing the Magistracy of this District to borrow on its credit, a sum of money not exceeding three thousand pounds, for the purpose of erecting, a new Jail and Court House in said District.

Resolved—That the Village of Hamilton, in which the Public buildings are at present Located—from its situation, at one extremity of the District, remote both from the centre of territory and of population—from its exposed and unprotected situation, and consequent liability to attack in time of war—from its want of good water, and inferiority in point of salubrity to many other more central parts of the District—is not, in the opinion of this meeting, the most suitable position for the transaction of the public business of said District; and that, therefore the Court House and Jail thereof ought no longer to be continued therein.

Resolved—That this meeting—disclaiming all local prejudice or partiality, and desiring only, that equal justice should be done to all the inhabitants of the District by placing its public buildings in the most eligable situation which said District may afford; and believing that this object can only be attained by the appointment of some disinterested person or persons to select the site of the proposed buildings. Do, in their petition to the Legislature, recommend the appointment of a commission of three or more disinterested persons, to determine such situation; whose report shall be final with regard to their site. And that the expenses incurred by such commission be defrayed out of the public funds of the District, in such manner and form as the Honourable the Provincial Legislature, may see fit to direct.

Resolved—That, although by the removal of the Jail and Court House from their present situation, individual interests may in some few instances suffer, yet, in the opinion of this meeting, that circumstance ought not to prevent such removal, if it should appear that public utility and convenience require it It being an indisputable, just, and universally admitted axiom, that, private interests must always yield to the paramount claims of Public Good.

Resolved—That Petitions founded on the foregoing Resolutions be now drawn up, and forwarded to the two branches of the Provincial Legislature. And that Messrs. MATTHEW CROOKS, ROBERT BERRIE, and GEORGE GURNETT, be requested to draft the same

Resolved—As very great abuses do notoriously exist in the Post Office Department of this Country; Abuses, subjecting the inhabitants of the neighbourhood, in common, it is believed, with those of every other part of these Provinces, to very great and continued inconveniences; and which, under the present constitution of that department, admit of no redress,—That, therefore, our Representatives in the Provincial Parliament be requested to use their utmost exertions to procure the adoption, by said Parliament, of such measures as it may in its wisdom deem best calculated to remedy or mitigate the evil complained of.

Resolved—That the Act of the 44th Geo 3d. intituled "An Act for the better securing the Province against seditious attempts" &c. &c. is viewed by this meeting as an unnecessary infringement on the liberties of the subject; inasmuch as it arms the Officers of Government with extraordinary powers, not recognized by the British Constitution; and as being clearly unnecessary at the present moment when the evils contemplated in the provisions of said Act, have ceased to exist: and being, moreover, utterly ineficient for the very objects aimed at in its enactment. And that therefore, the said Act ought, in the opinion of this meeting, to be forthwith repealed.

Resolved—As much difficulty and inconvenience is continually resulting to very many of his Majesty's subjects in this Province, from certain provisions of the Assessment Law relative to real estate; That our Representatives be requested to use their exertions to procure such a modification of said Law, as to enable persons holding lands in other Districts than those in which they may reside, to pay the taxes on such Lands into the Treasury of the District in which they reside; the Treasurer of said District, being accountable to those in which the lands be situated, for the same.

Resolved—That the Representatives of this County be desired to support the prayer of a petition, about to be presented to the Provincial Legislature, requesting the passage of a Law, authorizing Creditors to attach the property of absconding Debtors.

Resolved—That our Representatives be also requested to use their influence in getting a Petition passed their Honourable House, to be laid before His Majesty's Government, praying them to allow the importation into Great Britain, of Flour, as well as of Corn, from these Colonies; as this Province is but partially benefited by allowing the importation of Corn only: its great distance from the Sea-board rendering the transportation of so bulky an article exceedingly expensive.

Whereas, no provision at present exists for the payment of the balance due for losses, to sufferers by the late war; and as certain propositions have been made by His Majesty's Government at Home, offering to provide for the payment of the whole balance due, if, the Provincial Legislature would make provision for the payment of from four to five thousand pounds, in part of the sum heretofore annually granted by the Imperial Parliament in aid of the payment of the civil list of this Province. And whereas, from the encreasing revenue of the Province, arising from a participation in the Tea Trade, an increased proportion of the Import duties at Quebec—and the improved state of Trade generally—our means have improved to an extent beyond that of former years, the practicability and propriety of agreeing to the said proposition of His Majesty's Government, appears to this meeting evident—therefore, it is

Resolved—That our Representatives in the Provincial Legislature be instructed to use their best endeavours to procure the adoption, by their Honourable House, of such measures as may appear to them best calculated to effect the extinction of the claims of sufferers by the late war.

Whereas, Canals, Roads and Bridges add to the improvement and importance of every Country and none presenting greater facilities than this for such improvements—it is, therefore

Resolved—That our Representatives be requested to give their support to every proposition for such improvement as that may be brought forward, provided it will not lead to direct Taxation of the people of this Province, nor implicate the public Revenue thereof, to an inconvenient extent.

Resolved—That a Copy of the foregoing Resolutions be forwarded to each of our Representatives in the Provincial Legislature, and that a Copy of the same be transmitted to the Editor of the Upper Canada Gazette for insertion in that paper.

(Signed) MATTHEW CROOKS
Chairman.

(Signed) ROBERT BERRIE
Secretary

Mr. Crooks having left the chair, and Mr. Gurnett being called thereto, it was further,

Resolved—That Matthew Crooks, Esq and Mr John Findlay be a deputation for the purpose of delivering the petition adopted at this meeting, into the hands of such Members of the two Houses of Parliament, for presentation thereto, as they may think proper; and that they do also deliver a copy of the foregoing Resolutions to each of our County Members.

Resolved—That the thanks of this meeting are due, and are hereby given to MATTHEW CROOKS, Esq for his upright and able conduct in the chair.

Resolved—That the thanks of this meeting be also given to ROBERT BERRIE, Esq for his assistance at this meeting, and that he be requested to forward a copy of the Resolutions to the Gazette Office.

Editorial Commentary.

It appears by the late New York papers that KEAN has been triumphant in that City, not with standing a very formidable opposition.

It is currently reported, from good authority that Dr. STEWART has been consecrated Bishop of Lower Canada; and, that he is expected soon to arrive, in Quebec, from London.

The subscription of the city of Montreal, alone in aid of the sufferers of Miramichie, amounts to upwards of £1000.

No foreign news of importance this week.

On Monday next comes on the discussion of the great Alien question, in our House of Assembly; and, most earnestly do we hope it will be carried on with that temper, moderation, and coolness, deliberate, dispassioned, judgment which the consideration of such an important subject so much requires That it would have been better to have settled this great question by an enactment of the Imperial Parliament, and by Proclamation from the Throne,—there can be no doubt; but, let us not therefore reject the gracious boon that is offered—if it is in the range of our Legislative powers to attain an object which has been so frequently and so ardently desired

We beg to call the attention of those, of this town and neighbourhood, who may require such professional aid—to the merits of Mr GUNDRY, Surgeon Dentist, at present residing at the Mansion House Hotel, whose talents are of the very first rate in his profession—and whose recommendations and manners are such as cannot fail to give universal satisfaction

The following communication arriving too late for insertion in its proper place is given here.

DIED—On the 30th ult at Pine Grove, Elizabeth, relict of the late Capt. James Andrews, formerly Commanding Officer of H. M. Squadron on Lake Ontario, aged 78 years.

Selections from British and Foreign Journals.

New King's Palace—The plan and elevation of the New Palace presents a most beautiful, but not gorgeous appearance. One striking feature is conceived in the finest taste; an extensive and circular basin will occupy the foreground, in the centre of which a magnificent temple is to be erected, enclosing a celebrated statute, on an elevated pedestal, accessible by a flight of marble steps.—London Sun.

Inoculating for Scarlet Fever—A German Physician has announced that he has discovered a mode of inoculation for the scarlet fever, so mild, it is said, as the vaccine against the small pox. Ten or twelve grains of extract of Belladona is to be mixed with a pint of water, and four spoons of this mixture is to be administered to children during ten successive days. This produces red spots on the skin, like those of the scarlet fever, a contraction and burning in the throat, and a slight fever, which are also symptoms of that disorder.—Child on who have contracted this fastidious scarlet fever, are it is said, protected from the real one, and may, with impunity, sleep in the same bed with persons ill of the malady. The discovery appears to be additional one, and some of the most eminent of the European Physicians have adopted it in practice.

Voltaire.—An English paper says, the period approaches for the opening of the museum sacrilegious at Paris—namely, the apartments of Voltaire, which have been locked up at his desire ever since his death.

Remarkable preservation.—The following instance of extraordinary preservation happened a few years since, to a gentleman formerly residing in Massachusetts state, but now one of the most eminent merchants in London.

Passing one night on the ocean he was suddenly aroused by a tremendous shock. Springing instantly on deck, he was met by something at the head of the gangway, which, though not perfectly awake, he instinctively seized hold on, and clung to. It proved to be the bowsprit of a larger ship which had run foul of them, and which passed directly over the vessel in which he was a passenger. It was instantly sunk, and every soul on board, besides himself, perished in the general destruction, leaving him alone to tell the sad and untimely fate of all his companions. He then formed the resolution never more to risk the dangers of the sea, to which he has thus far, rigidly adhered.

Foreign Intelligence.

FRANCE.

Paris dates are to the 8th October. On the 6th, the Envoys from Hayti, dined with the Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. Mackau. M. de Creig, and four Ministers were present at the dinner. The Envoys, soon after their arrival had an audience of the President of the Council. They were then presented to the Minister for Foreign Affairs, and successively to all the other Ministers. Col Fremont, one of these envoys, is mentioned as having been present at the Royal Academy of Music, in Paris, at the same time as the King of Prussia, who frequently visits the Theatres.

GREECE.

It appears that on the 30th of August an attempt was made by Canaris to burn the Turkish fleet in Alexandria. Three fire ships entered the harbor disguised as European vessels. The first was soon recognized, and those on board perceiving this, set it on fire in the middle of the harbour, and to the windward of 100 European merchantmen and a French brig. The crew got into their long boat and fled, leaving the pilot on board the fire-ship, which burst into flames, but, fortunately, did not explode, perhaps for want of sufficient combustibles; passing through the forests of masts it ran around. The other two fire ships seeing this, took flight; a couple of balls which the French brig fired at the long-boat of the first reached, but did not injure it. If this attempt had succeeded, not a ship would have escaped.

The Sun of the 12th September, has the following paragraph:

"A report is prevalent, and it appears upon very good authority, that the Russian Consul and another gentleman of the Russian Embassy, waited on Saturday on the Greek Deputies (this being their first interview) stating that political circumstances prevented them from calling before, but that certain obstacles being removed, it was expected that the Court of St. Petersburg would take a favourable view of the affairs of the Greeks."

A letter from Trieste mentions a rumour that Ibrahim Pacha had received instructions to declare in case of his subduing the Morea, that his father was independant of the Porte, and that the Isle of Candia and the Morea should be governed according to the Egyptian system of administration.

Domestic.

New Brunswick.—Sir Howard Douglas.—The truly estimable and patriotic Governor of New Brunswick thus concludes one of his addresses on the late calamity in that province—on the eve of his departure to the scene of danger and distress.

"What good I may be able to effect there, I know not, but I obey the impulses of feelings, a sense of duty, which tell me, that where the people are in calamitous difficulties that admit of alleviation, which by any possibility may be within his power, the Governor ought to be."

Our Parliament.—The last Quebec Mercury, after noticing the Speech of His Excellency on the opening of the present Session—thus alludes to the Parliamentary absentees.

"The Patriotic members consulting the interests of their constituents by staying at home, a measure, which it would have been wise for many of them to have adopted when they offered themselves as candidates for a situation, of the duties of which they possess so imperfect an idea."

Had the call of the House been made sooner than on Monday last—a list of names would have appeared as absentees—that must have astonished the learned commentator; and, from the style of his remark, such an one as we are disposed to think he would have been loth to stigmatize how much soever those to be found in it might really deserve censure!

No. II.

FRIDAY, November 11th, 1825.

Agreeably to notice, Mr. HAMILTON, seconded by Capt. Matthews, moved for leave to bring in a bill to repeal an Act passed in the 44th year of His late Majesty's Reign, entitled, "An Act for the better securing this Province against all seditious attempts or designs to disturb the tranquility thereof."

Which was granted and the bill read.

Mr. HAMILTON, seconded by Capt. Matthews, moved that the sedition Law Repeal Bill should be read a second time on Tuesday next.—Which was ordered.

Agreeably to notice, Mr. BIDWELL, seconded by Mr. Rolph, moved for leave to bring in a bill allowing persons tried for felony the benefit of full defence by Counsel.

Which was granted and the bill read.

Mr. BIDWELL, seconded by Mr. Rolph, moved that the bill allowing persons tried for felony the benefit of full defence by Counsel should be read a second time on Tuesday next.

Which was ordered.

Agreeably to the order of the day, the House prepared to consider the Speech of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor at the opening of the present Session, and the Speech was read.

Agreeably to notice, Mr. ATTY GENERAL, seconded by Mr. Thompson, moved that the House should resolve itself into a Committee of the whole to take into consideration the Speech of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor at the opening of the Session.

Which was carried, and Mr. Thomson was called to the chair.

The House resumed.

Mr. THOMSON reported that the Committee had agreed to several Resolutions, which he was directed to submit for the adoption of the House.

The Report was order to be received, and the Resolutions were severally put and carried as follows.

Resolved,—That an humble Address be presented to His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, to thank His Excellency for His most Gracious Speech from the Throne, at the opening of this Session.

That in the said Address this House do assure His Excellency that they sincerely participate in that satisfaction which His Excellency has expressed at the continuance of the general tranquility which has been so propitious to the happiness and prosperity of the British Empire.

That they have rejoiced to observe the Councils of the Imperial Government occupied during this season of peace in measures which have particularly for their object to promote the welfare of the colonial possessions of the Crown, and to excite in them that spirit of industry and enterprize of which the Parent State exhibits so glorious an example.

That this House does anticipate a very mature and almost immediate advancement of the Public Interests of this Province from those great and liberal measures which have been recently passed by the Imperial Parliament for regulating the Colonial Trade, measures which have proceeded upon the avowed principle of constituting the Colonies integral portions of the Empire, and of giving to their Ports the character and privileges of ports of the United Kingdom.

That this House with the most sincere satisfaction avail themselves of this early opportunity of assuring His Excellency, as the Representative of the most Gracious Sovereign under whose benign and Glorious rule these advantages are extended, that the people of this Province feel and acknowledge most gratefully, as becomes them, these invaluable proofs of the protecting care of their Parent State, and that they can not fail to recognize a policy liberal and generous beyond example in a system which tends to confer upon them all the commercial privileges of subjects of the United Kingdom, while they are exempt from those burthens by which the Fleets and Armies are supported, which could alone effectually protect their Trade and defend their Soil.

That this House thankfully acknowledges as additional proofs of the gracious consideration of His Majesty's Government those modifications of the general colonial system which apply to the regulation of our commercial intercourse with the United States of America and of the Navigation upon our inland waters.

That this House receives with the most lively interest the communication which His Excellency has been graciously pleased to make of His sentiments and anticipation with respect to the relaxation of the British Corn Laws in favor of the British North American Colonies.

That in this Province, more perhaps than in any other, the relaxation in question and every consideration attending it, claims peculiar interest.—That this House of Assembly hails the measure, which has recently passed, as the most convincing proof of a desire to promote the welfare of the Colonies by establishing a system of which some apprehension appears still to be entertained that it may be found prejudicial to the great domestic interests of the Empire. That it is upon their conviction of the soundness of these principles which His Majesty's Ministers have avowed that the people of this Province would alone desire to rest their hope of this great measure being placed upon a system more permanent and more beneficial, since they can neither be so ungrateful nor so insensible to their own interests as not to feel that nothing ought to be desired by them which would be inconsistent with the vital interests of that Great and Glorious Empire from which they have descended, and to which they owe the great blessings of security and freedom.

That this House learns with much satisfaction that the direct importation of Tea from China has been attended with those very desirable consequences which it was hoped would result from it.

That this House will bestow their attention upon the Public Accounts and Estimates, which His Excellency will cause to be laid before them, and that they beg to assure His Excellency of their readiness to make the necessary provisions for the public service.

That this House will direct its attention to the Laws which are about to expire, and will not fail to take into their early consideration the Act which governs the payment of Militia Pensions as it concerns an object for which it must be equally grateful to all Branches of the Legislature to provide.

That this House, sensible how much it is in the power of the Legislature to advance the improvement of the Colony by a judicious application of public aid, entertains with great satisfaction the expectation of a rapid increase of Revenue from the causes to which His Excellency has adverted, and that they are much gratified to learn that the Arbitrators appointed under the statute of the Imperial Parliament have awarded to this Province a share of the duties which are received at Quebec, more in proportion to the consumption of our people than that which we have hitherto received.

That under these circumstances we may confidently expect that our Revenue will be soon relieved from those incumbrances which in less prosperous times it was found necessary to incur, and that we rejoice particularly in this prospect of more abundant means at a moment when a prevailing ardor for public improvement cannot fail to present ample opportunities for their beneficial employment.

That His Excellency does this House justice in supposing that they should learn with much pleasure that His Majesty has, within the present year, directed a survey to be made of the British North American Provinces, for the purpose of ascertaining the state of their defences and by what means their security can be most effectually provided for.

That this House does very greatly rejoice in every such demonstration that the safety and welfare of this Colony are objects constantly present to the attention of our most Gracious Sovereign, and more particularly in those measures which are calculated to impress upon the people of this Province that entire conviction which this House entertains that their interests, as a portion of the British Empire, will never be abandoned in compliance with the suggestions of an ungenerous policy, but that so long as they and their posterity continue to exhibit that loyal attachment to the Crown, which has already been proved on the part of this Province, the strength of the British Empire will constitute their security and they will be allowed to the latest times to share in the glories of the British name.

That as one Branch of the Legislature this House readily and full avows its obligation to contribute their best exertions towards the advancement of a Colony, which, under the blessing of Providence, enjoys so many advantages, and they trust they will evince their sense of that obligation by a zealous and cordial application to the public interests. That experience of His Excellency's administration will not permit us to doubt of His Excellency's desire to give effect to all such enactments as may appear to His Excellency to promise benefit to the Country.

That this House will await with much interest the communication which His Excellency intends to make to the Legislature respecting a measure so important in its character as that to which His Excellency alluded in His Most Gracious Speech at the opening of this session.

Mr. ATTY. GENERAL, seconded by Mr. Burnham, moved that a Committee should be appointed to prepare an Address in conformity to the Resolutions of the Committee of the whole House upon the Speech of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor at the opening of this Session, and that Messrs. Rolph, McDonell and Ingersol should be a Committee to prepare the same—Which was ordered.

Mr. FOTHERGILL gave notice that he would, on Wednesday next, move for leave to bring in a bill for the gradual augmentation and preservation of the Library belonging to this House, and for the appointment of a Librarian.

Mr. FOTHERGILL gave notice that he would move, on Monday the 21st November inst. for a Committee to take into consideration the expediency of addressing His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor relative to a consolodation or bringing nearer together the various Offices connected with the Land granting department, and to report by address or otherwise.

Mr. FOTHERGILL gave notice that he would move, on Monday the 28th of November inst. for leave to bring in a bill for the purpose of establishing a Turnpike road from York to the Mouth of the River Trent, and to the Carrying Place in the Bay of Quinte, and for the Incorporation of a Joint Stock Company to carry the same into effect.

Mr. ROLPH gave notice that he would, on Thursday next, move for leave to bring in a bill to continue and amend an Act entitled, 'An Act for assigning limits to the respective Gaols in this Province.

Mr. ROLPH gave notice that he should, on Monday next, move for leave to bring in a bill to grant a sum of Money to the Sufferers in New Brunswick.

The House adjourned.

Died.

On Friday the 25th of November, aged 40 years, Mrs. Ann Phillips, wife of the Rev. T. Phillips, D. D. Head Master of the Royal Grammar School in this Province.

The death of this truly amiable and pious Lady is most severely felt by her near and dear relatives—who lately accompanied her to these distant shores in the full expectation of enjoying many happy years in her interesting society and improving conversation—but man appoints and God disappoints—because he knows what is best for his creatures in all circumstances and in whatever situation they may be placed.

NOT OFFICIAL.

DEFAMATION.

IT having been maliciously reported that the Subscriber killed a HEIFER, not his own, from improper motives; he thinks it necessary to declare the truth in the following statement:—A Stray HEIFER was so seriously injured by a Colt, the Property of the Subscriber, that it became necessary to kill her, in order to prevent a total loss of the value of her hide and carcass; and, not knowing to whom she belonged, he advertised her at the Market House, in the Town of York, the same day; by which he discovered that Mr. George Denison was the owner, to whom he made ample satisfaction by paying her value as realized by me

B. BULL.

Additional Testimony.

B. BULL brought me a hide some time ago, at the same time exhibiting certain marks, and stated that the HEIFER, from which it had been taken, was not his own, but that it had run for some time with his cattle and had met with a serious accident;—on which account he had butcher'd her and was desirous to find out her owner to whom he might pay her value.

No 70, CORNHILL, LONDON.

THE Business of the Asylum Company is confined exclusively to insuring the lives of Officers of the Army and Navy (including risks of battles and sea) and of persons going to or residing beyond the limits or Europe, or predisposed to hereditary, or other constitutional maladies—of delicate health—of peculiarity of form whether natural or accidental—labouring under any kind of chronic disorders, unaccompanied with actual danger, or engaged in occupations which render subject them to rejection in an uncertain rate of premium at other Offices.

The Directors have, with great care and research, ascertained the true law of mortality for various climates, and diseases.

Assurances will be granted at premiums accurately graduated to the risks proposed, not only with reference to the general healthiness of the climate, but to the particular service intended.

The Company is supported by a Capital of £250,000 in 2,000 shares of £125 each, of which 25 per cent has been advanced, and the Shareholders have entered into sufficient securities for payment of the remainder. This Capital is fully sufficient for the security of the assured

The importance of LIFE ASSURANCE to those who in professional and mercantile pursuits, derive limited or fluctuating incomes from personal exertions, or who are in the possession of places, the emoluments of which die with the holder, has long been acknowledged both in Europe and the United States of America. In the full conviction, that the inhabitants of the Canadas would not be slow, in perceiving the advantages to be derived from the introduction of such an Institution amongst them, the undersigned, commissionated to the Directors of the ASYLUM COMPANY, such information as a long residence in various parts of both Provinces has enabled him to collect, and the Board with the view of affording additional facilities, to those who may be desirous of availing themselves of the benefits of Life Assurance, have in consequence, appointed him their Agent, for the Provinces of Upper and Lower Canada. He will accordingly be prepared to receive proposals, and negotiate Policies upon Lives, as soon as he is in possession of the scale of premiums (which he daily expects) this has been calculated with great care and attention, to adapt it to the peculiar localities of the Canadas, and will, on comparison, be found considerably lower for young and middle aged risks than that of any other Office.

A Physician or consulting Surgeon of eminence will be appointed in the principal Towns in either Province, before whom persons in the country, wishing effect insurances may appear, on sending their proposals by letter to the Company's Agent at Quebec.

The names of the Medical Referees and all other necessary information will be given in a future advertisement.

Editorial Commentary.

No foreign news of importance this week.

We are sorry to have occasion to announce the death of the amiable and pious Joseph Octave Plessis—the Right Reverend Catholic Bishop of Quebec who departed this chequered life on Sunday the 4th instant—At classes and persuasions in that city and neighbourhood unite in deploring the loss of that truly estimable man.

The private subscriptions in York, in aid of the New Brunswick Sufferers, under the patronage of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, as will be seen by this day's Gazette, already amount to the liberal sum of £415 16 6—and the subscription is still open.

The Petition signed, "A Friend to the People," addressed to the Common House of Assembly, and sent to us for insertion, arrived two late even for an attentive perusal before our present number went to press. It shall have our most serious consideration; but, in matters of such a nature, and of so much importance, it is always necessary that we, at least, should be put in possession of the name and address of the parties forwarding it. The timely communication received from Mr. Orton, relative to the privileged despotism of Mr. Robinson's settlers in the Newcastle District, also came too late—but it shall have an insertion next week.

Selections from British and Foreign Journals.

One of the London Morning papers says it is confidently reported that Mrs. Patterson, an American Lady of great beauty, is speedily to be united to the Marquis of Wellesley. [Mrs. P. was formerly of Baltimore, and wife of Jerome Bonaparte, from whom the Emperor Napoleon caused her to be divorced, on account of her plebian blood, when he placed Jerome upon the throne of Westphalia.]

Captain Parry.—The North-Western expedition, under Capt. Parry, has again failed, and Capt. P. has returned to London. The expedition wintered in Prince Rupert's Inlet. No new discoveries of importance have been made.

Discovery in Central Africa.—We have received accounts of a recent discovery in Central Africa, which will soon be laid before the public in greater detail; but of which the following outline is sufficiently curious.—Major Chappers and Capt. Denham, in the course of their late expedition in that quarter of the world, arrived in the territory, and subsequently resided for some weeks, in the capital of a nation whose manners and history seem likely to be, copy, to no trivial extent, the ancient of the public of this country.—We might safely say of the whole civilized world. They found a nation jet black in colour, but not in our sense of the term negroes, having long hair and fine high features. The people were found to be in a state of very high civilization; and above all, the British travellers evidenced a review of Seven Thousand cavalry, divided into regular regiments, and all clothed in complete armour. Six thousand were the perfect counterpart of the early Norman Knights; most strange by far of all, one thousand appeared in perfect Roman armour.

The conjectures to which this has given rise are various. We confess for ourselves that, looking to the polished and voluptuous manners ascribed to these people, the elegance of their houses, &c. &c.; in a word, the total difference between them and any other race as yet discovered in the interior of "Africa the mother of monsters," our own opinion is strongly that here we have a fragment of the old Numidian population; a specimen of those tribes, who, after long contending and long co-operating with imperial Rome, were at last fain to seek safety in the central desert, upon the dissolution of the empire. In these squadron Messrs. Clapperton and Denham probably beheld the liveliest image that ever has been witnessed by modern eyes, of the legions of Jugurtha—may we not say of Hannibal?

The armour, we understand, is fabricated in the most perfect style of the art; and the Roman suits might be mistaken for so many Herculanean or Pompeian discoveries, if it were possible for us to imagine the existence of genuine antiques possessing all the glossy finish of yesterday's workmanship.

One of these travellers has already set off on his return to this sable court.

South Pole.—Mr. Weddle, a master in the British Navy, has lately penetrated 200 miles nearer the South pole, than any former navigator. After penetrating several barriers of ice, hitherto insuperable, he found an open sea within the Antarctic circle.

Scott's Life of Napoleon.—Sir Walter Scott has not been in France, but is at Rome, seriously engaged in writing the life of Napoleon Bonaparte. It is soon to appear, Mr. Lockhart is engaged in writing a life of Burns. His son has recently been made an aid-de-camp to the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

Lord Cochrane has collected many valuable curiosities in South America.—One of them, the dagger of Montezuma, his Lordship has presented to Sir Walter Scott.

The Baron of Renfrew.—The following is posted at Lloyd's on the 15th of October:—"Last night on shore in the Long room, but expected to be got off." A letter from Hamburgh, of October 19, states that the ship floated off at three o'clock in the evening of the preceeding day.—She rode out the gale of the 19th at anchor about eight miles E. S. E. of the Sunk Light. It is gravely asserted that this ship, which measures 9000 tons, has been engaged, after delivering her cargo, to convey the Duke of Buckingham to India.

Resignation of Chief Justice Abbot.—The resignation of Lord Chief Justice Abbott is mentioned as a probable event, in consequence of ill health. The Attorney General is spoken of as his successor.

HELL.

"Bellarmin makes sweating and crowding one of the chief torments of Hell, which Lessius (no doubt after an actual and careful survey) affirms to be greater by a Dutch mile! (about a league and a half English) in diameter. But Ribera, grounding his map on deductions from the Apocalypse, makes it 200 Italian miles.—Lessius, it may be presumed, was a Protestant, for whom of course a smaller Hell would suffice."

In the early part of the last century an inquiry was published, by the Rev. Tobias Swinden, into the nature and place of Hell. The former, according to this divine, had been accurately ascertained, being "both the punishment and the duration without end;" but here the "habitation" of the reprobate, all opinions had been erroneous. Dr. Swinden had estimated the sum total of the damned at one hundred thousand millions, all of whom (like Lessius) he calculated might be contained within a square German mile, and not stowed closer than negroes in a Liverpool slave ship; but this appeared to the English theologian "a poor, mean, and narrow conception both of the numbers of the damned and of the dimensions of hell;" for if their inmates reality and compressibility were to be al-lodged, you might as well, he said, squeeze them at once into a common basket's oven. His ideas were upon a grander scale. There was not room enough, according to him, in the centre of the earth for "eternal Tophet." Bonnet's absorpt sun he thought a much more noble idea of such a furnace of fire. But his own opinion was, that Tophet was our very sun, which must be acknowledged by all to be capacious enough for the purpose. The time of the sun's creation is a strong reason for admitting the hypothesis, being just after the fall of the Devil and his angels. It is true that the sun is said to have been made on the fourth day; but light, and evening and morning, are mentioned as having previously existed; now these, as proceeding from the sun, could not have been before it; making on the fourth day therefore can only mean putting it in motion.

The darkness which is predicated of Tophet may at first, he admits, seem an objection, but it exists in the maculæ, the spots of the sun, which may be deep caverns and dens, proper seats of the blackness and darkness. Upon this hypothesis, the reason why sun worship has been found so widely extended, he comes manifest; it would be as peculiarly acceptable to Satan, as serpent worship is known to have been.

This was indeed making the souls of the wicked of a piece, as Nero did the Christians, when he rolled them in tow, dipt them in pitch, and set fire to them, as torches to light up the streets of Rome. They were so many living wicks of Asbestos, fed with the inextinguishable oil of Divine vengeance, that they might be burning and shining lights to the world. If Jonathan Edwards had seen this book he might have adopted its hypothesis as a new proof of "the glory of God in the damnation of sinners."

With what feelings could the man have looked at the setting sun?—Southey's Omniana.

Singular advertisement.—I, Achen, Chinaman, native of Pekin, return his thanks to the religious of most worships in Bengal since his first begin business. Foreign Intelligence.

GREECE.

It is rumored that the Greeks have ceded the Isle of Paros to the Americans, in acknowledgment of the services rendered to their cause by the United States.

The Glasgow Free Press says in a letter from a private correspondent, that notwithstanding the late orders in council, three steam boats are building for Greece, one of which is "to have several long carronades and small guns, and two of Perkin's steam guns, so that she will in fact be a complete floating battery of immense power. Lord Cochrane himself is said to be in direct and close communication with the deputies, but government having made several inquires respecting him, it has become essential that a place of rendeave should be as little known as possible."

INDIA.

It is reported that Sir David Ochterlony, whose conduct in the war against Nepaul obtained him the warm thanks of the Indian Company, and so much military reputation, has resigned his command in India, in disgust at some measures of the Bengal Government, and has come to Calcutta for the purpose of repairing to England. The northern provinces of India are said, in private letters, to be the scenes of constant confusion and revolts.

MEXICO.

A letter from Mexico, Aug. 13, states that the great banker, Baring, has purchased 900,000 square leagues of land, with mines, and 2 0,000 head of sheep upon it, for 950,000 dollars. One of the London papers says there must be a mistake in this, as 300,000 square leagues would make it equal to 1800 miles long by 1500 miles broad, or 2,700,000 square miles—a trifle larger, we guess, than all Europe. The estate does not seem to be overstocked, as, according to the letter, there are four sheep for six square leagues, or one leg of mutton for 6? square miles.

UNITED STATES.

Statesman Office, Boston, Nov. 19.

Death of Gen. Hull.—We learn from good authority that Brigadier Gen. William Hull, died this morning at Newton.

A fish upwards of five feet in length, has been caught in the Canal at Lockport it having strayed away from Lake Erie. It was served up for a village thanksgiven dinner.

INDIAN LETTER.

The following letter was written by the Choctaw who was delegated by his tribe, to conduct twenty one Indian youths to the Great Crossing, in Kentucky, for their education at that place, under the general superintendence of Col. R. M. Johnson.

Blue Springs, (Scott county,) Kentucky, November 6, 1825.

Hon Jas Barbour, Secretary of War

Sir—I have delivered over to Col. Richard M. Johnson, twenty one youths, for the purpose of education, in conformity to the resolution of the Choctaw Nation, to whom I belong. I approve of this measure, because I was educated in the bosom of our white brethren, in Tennessee, and I know how to appreciate the inestimable blessings arising from an education among them. It is my decided opinion, that the promising youths of our nation should be educated in this method, leaving the mass of our population to the honorable and benevolent exertions of the Missionaries who are settled among us—for we acknowledge, with gratitude, their pious and benevolent labours; and nothing is intended to depreciate their merits. I came here with high expectations from the high character we had of our friend, Col. Johnson. But, notwithstanding these expectations, I am agreeably disappointed in finding every arrangement to exceed these expectations; and I feel confident that numerous blessings will flow to the Choctaw Nation from this institution; and I consider it deserving the confidence and patronage of the General Government and the Choctaws. I have deemed it my duty to communicate this to you, as our guardian and friend, under the advice and control of the President of the United States.

I have seen and conversed with the Rev. Thos Henderson, who has been selected to teach them, and from my own observations, and from information, I consider him eminently qualified to teach our children, and to form their manners, improve their minds, and to inculcate the principles of the Christian religion.

With sentiments of great respect, your obedient servant.

LORD BYRON.

The name Byron is immortalized by the splendour of his genious and the transcendant beauty of his poetical compositions, no less than by his ardent love of liberty, which led him to volunteer his services, his purse, and his person, and yield his dying breath in the cause of the Greeks. It is no wonder, therefore, that the spot of ground which contains the dear depositum of his body, should be visited by many who honor his name, and are desirous of paying a tribute of respect to his memory. Some of those distinguished foreigners who had the happiness of being acquainted with him in other countries, have on their arrival in Britain, with eager haste sought for his grave, kneeled upon his tomb, and bedewed the hallowed ground with their tears. But these have not been alone in their mourning—many of his countrymen who have read his works, have felt their souls inspired by the ever living fire which pervades his writings, and acknowledging the triumph of the mighty pen, in the use of which he had no compeer, they have also paid their silent homage at his last earthly resting place. Amongst these, a stranger whose name we know not, presented himself at Hucknall, in July last, a few days before the monument of inscription to the memory of Lord Byron was fixed in its destined place. The stranger inquired of the clerk of the church whether there was not a book in which strangers who visited the tomb of this great man might inscribe their names; and on finding that there was no such record he promised to send one, and in a few days afterwards that promise was fulfilled. The clerk of the parish has been so obliging as to show us the book; it is a small octavo very neatly bound, and in the first three pages is an inscription and a few stanzas. There are many blank pages to receive the names of visiters, and there are some very respectable names both of Englishmen and foreigners already inscribed; but the stranger who furnished the book has not given his name neither have we any key to it, further than the initials "J. B."

SOPHIA HYATT, THE WHITE LADY.

We record the death of this unfortunate female, who was, in consequence of her extreme deafness, run over by a carrier's cart, and killed, at the entrance of May Pole inn yard, on Wednesday week, because some very singular and mysterious circumstances are connected with the melancholy accident.

The unfortunate deceased Sophia Hyatt had been for the last three or four years, a lodger in one of the farm-houses belonging to Col. Wildman at Newstead abbey. No one knew exactly from whence she came, nor what were her connexions. Her days were passed in rambling about the gardens and grounds of the abbey, to which, from the kindness of Colonel Wildman, she had free access; her dress was invariably the same—and she was distinguished by the servants at Newstead as the "White Lady." She had ingratiated herself with the Newfoundland dog which came from Greece with the body of Lord Byron by regularly feeding him; and on the evening before the fatal accident which terminated her existence, she was seen, on quitting the grounds to cut off a small lock of the dog's hair, which she carefully placed in her handkerchief. On the same evening also she delivered to Mrs. Wildman a sealed packet, with a request that it might not be opened till the following morning. The contents of the packet were no less interesting than surprising; they consisted of various poems, in manuscript, written during her solitary walks, and all of them referring to the mighty hand to whom Newstead once belonged, and who's fame is imperishable. A letter, addressed to Mrs. Wildman, was enclosed with the poetry, written with much elegance of language and native feeling; it described her friendless situation, alluded to her pecuniary difficulties, thanked the family for their kind attention towards her, and stated the necessity she was under of removing for a short time from Newstead. It appeared from her statement that she had connexions in America; that her brother had died there, leaving a widow and family, and she requested Colonel Wildman's assistance to arrange certain affairs which she was under the necessity to transact. She concluded with declaring, that her only happiness in this world consisted in the privilege of being allowed to wander through the domain of Newstead, and to trace the various spots which had been consecrated by the genius of Lord Byron. A most kind and compassionate note was conveyed to her immediately after the perusal of this letter, urging her either to give up her journey, or to return to Newstead as quickly as possible.—With the melancholy sequel our readers have already been acquainted; and it now only remains to say, that Colonel Wildman took upon himself the care of her interment, and that she has been buried in the church-yard of Hucknall, as near as possible to the vault which contains the body of Lord Byron. We have been favoured with a sight of the last poem she composed. It seems to have been dictated by a melancholy foreboding of what was so shortly to take place.

Poetry.

HOME.

Where burns the lov'd hearth brightest,
Cheering the social lover?
Where beats the fond heart lightest,
Its humble hopes possess'd?
Where is the spirit of sadness,
Of meek eyed Patience born,
Worth more than those of gladness,
Which Mirth's bright cheek adorn?—
Pleasure is marked by fortune,
To those who ever roam;
While grief itself has sweetness
At Home! dear Home!

There bound the ties that strengthen
Our hearts in being's glow,
The dives links that lengthen
Joy's visits when most brief;
There eyes in all their splendour,
Are veiled to the heart,
And glances gay or tender
Fresh eloquence impart;
Then, dost thou sigh for pleasure?
Or do not widely roam;
But seek that hidden treasure
At Home! dear Home!

Does pure religion charm thee
Far more than ought below?
Would'st thou that star should arm thee?
Against the blow of woe?
Think not she dwelleth only
In temples built for prayer;
For Home itself is lonely
Unless her smiles be there;
The devotee may falter,
The bigot blindly roam;
If wor'shipp'd, be her altar
At Home! dear Home!

Love over it presideth
With mock and watchful awe,
Its daily service guideth,
And shows its perfect law;
If there thy faith shall fail there,
If there no bribe be found,
What can thy prayers avail thee
With unfeeling crowds around?
Go! leave thy gift on Earth,
Before th' Eternal Dome,
And be he, it at fruits prefer'd
At Home! dear Home!

MR. SPEAKER,

The Honourable the Legislative Council request a conference with the Commons House of Assembly on the subject matter of the Bill entitled, "An Act to raise a sum of money by debentures for the relief of the Sufferers in New Brunswick, by the late fire," and have appointed a Committee of two Members, who will be ready to meet a Committee of that House, in the Joint Committee Room this day, at one o'clock P. Mr. C. Jones in the Chair

The Chairman reported progress and obtained leave to sit again the same day.

Mr. ATTY. GENERAL from the Committee of conference on the subject matter of the Bill, entitled, "An Act to raise a Sum of money by debentures for the relief of the Sufferers in New Brunswick by the late fire," reported as follows:

The Committee of Conference on the part of the House of Assembly, met the Committee of Conference on the part of the Legislative Council, on the subject of a bill passed by the Honourable Legislative Council, intitled, "An Act to raise a sum of money by debentures for the relief of the Sufferers in New Brunswick by the late fire," and were informed by the said Committee that the Conference was requested for the purpose of representing to the House of Assembly, that it was received in the Preamble of the said Bill, "that the people of Upper Canada were mindful of the contribution of the people of New Brunswick to the Sufferers in Upper Canada in the late war," and that it was not within the knowledge of the Legislative Council that the people of New Brunswick had so contributed, but on the contrary they had reason to believe that the contribution intended to be alluded to was made by Nova Scotia and not by New Brunswick, which error, if it be an error, the Legislative Council conceives it would be expedient to correct.

Also that in the fourth clause of the said Bill the words, "or by the direction of the said House of Assembly," appear to have been inserted by mistake and to have no connection with the subject matter of the said clause, and also that in the fifth clause of the said Bill, in the fifth line thereof, the words "an account thereof" appear to have been omitted—and that it appears by error, the words, "Commons House of Assembly" have been added instead of the words, "Legislature of this Province," in the sixth line of the last mentioned clause

JOHN SMALL,
Clk Ex Council

In Council 21st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as Settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, have been prepared in conformity to instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District

2 All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and not appropriated for public purposes, will be offered for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3. All persons proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts on payment of a fee of 2s 6d

4. All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5 The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement —A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6. On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply in writing, through the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8 Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions.

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing, through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form, Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres

11. No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending on the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12 A settlement fee of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase

13. The quit rent will be redeemable within the first 25 years next following the grant, on payment of a sum equal to twenty times the annual amount of it.

14 Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it.

15. Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before-mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hundred Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On a lure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within the period the condition of cultivation and improvation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16. No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessary expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17 Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprised in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18 Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of these general Rules.

19. U. E. Loyalists and other persons entitled to grants as grants by the general regulation of His Majesty's Government, are not to be affected by these rules

The above Rules to take effect from the first of January 1826.

The Directors have, with great care and research, ascertained the true law of mortality for various climates and diseases.

Assurances will be granted at premiums accurately graduated to the risks proposed, but only with reference to the general healthiness of the climate, but to the particular service intended.

The Company is supported by a Capital of £250,000 in 2,000 shares of £100 each of which 25 per cent has been advanced, and the Shareholders have entered into authentic securities for payment of the remainder. This Capital is fully sufficient for the security of the assured.

The importance of Life Assurance to those who in professional and mercantile pursuits, derive limited or fluctuating incomes from personal exertions, or who are in the possession of places, the emoluments of which die with the holder, has long been acknowledged both in Europe and the United States of America. In the fall convention, that the inhabitants of the Canadas would not be slow, in perceiving the advantages to be derived from the introduction of such an institution amongst them. The undersigned commissioned by the Directors of the ASYLUM COMPANY, such information as his residence in various parts of both Provinces has enabled him to collect, and the Board with the view of affording additional facilities, to those who may be desirous of availing themselves of the benefits of Life Assurance, have in consequence, appointed him their Agent, for the Provinces of Upper and Lower Canada. He will accordingly be prepared to receive proposals, and negotiate Policies upon Lives, as soon as he is in possession of the scale of premiums (which he daily expects) this has been calculated with great care and attention, to adapt it to the peculiar localities of the Canadas, and will, on comparison, be found considerably lower for young and middle aged risks than that of any other Office.

A Physician or consulting Surgeon of eminence will be appointed in the principal Towns in either Province, before whom persons in the country, wishing to effect Insurances may appear, on sending their proposals by letter to the Company's Agent at Quebec.

The names of the Medical Referees and all other necessary information will be given in a future advertisement.

Cenotaph to the memory of the Princess Charlotte.

Nearly eight years have now elapsed since the sudden and unexpected death of the Princess Charlotte spread an universal gloom over the land. The readiness with which a public subscription for a Cenotaph to her memory was commenced, and completed, spoke a language that could not be misunderstood, and testified in the most honorable manner the just appreciation of her virtues by the nation at large. The task of designing and executing this Cenotaph, was entrusted to Mr. Matthew C. Wyatt; and from the known talents of that gentleman, and his eminence both as painter and sculptor, the highest expectations were raised. This National Monument is now completed, and in our opinion the very highest expectations that have been formed have been fully justified. The Cenotaph will shortly be opened to the public, but previously to that taking place, we have been favoured with a view of the work. The part chosen for the erection of the Cenotaph, is the best that could have been selected for the purpose. The spot selected as the most fit for the erection of this Cenotaph, has been the south west corner of the nave of St. George's chapel, Windsor. The tomb is formed of the finest white marble, and represents an elegant female figure reclining on a couch, covered only with some thin drapery. This drapery does not conceal the languor of death which is most truly and naturally expressed both in the face and the figure. The head reclines on the arm hung down by the side of the body, and presents the perfect view of one hand, which is marked by the same lively expression and truth of language. Around the figure are those female weeping. These females and the drapery with which they are covered are very splendid specimens of sculpture. In the back ground of the group are two angels kneeling, one of whom presents to her bosom a new born child.—Between these is a figure supposed to represent the disembodied spirit of the Princess ascending to heaven. Too much attempt to convey such an idea to the mind of the spectator, of course the subject lies under considerable disadvantage. The inhabitant of the air is of too unsubstantial a nature to be correctly represented by marble, the only appearance of which can never be changed or worked off into the shadow or thin air, the colours of painting. In that respect the latter has decidedly the advantage. Still, what could be done has been effected. The figure, though rather formed just at the same time so elegantly moulded, as to deprive it of much of its beauty of face, while the expression of her face is so angelic as full of hope, is marked by anticipations of heavenly joy, as to add materially in producing the delusion which the artist required. Behind this figure the space is dark and gloomy, serving to the imagination the picture of a being bursting from the grave of death, and springing anew to fight and happiness. Above the Cenotaph is a light Gothic screen, on which are emblazoned the arms of the Prince and the Prince of Coburg. This screen is highly gilt and perhaps on that account might be objectionable, but that it is so small and elegant as to offer but a very slight contrast to the other portions of the Cenotaph, and certainly nothing sufficient to render it at all displeasing to the eye. The windows of this small chapel are all of stained glass, and with the whole of the other parts of the Cenotaph are the work of Mr. Wyatt. In six of these windows are the figures of the number of the Apostles, & in the fleur de lis surmounting the centre window, is a Cross, surrounded by the hollow of the glory: this is most beautifully executed. The ceiling of the chapel is moulded painted and gilt, and the middle moulding contains the cypher of the present king. The two extreme side windows are simple coloured glass, and in the shape of the colours, Mr. Wyatt has exhibited the advantage of blending a knowledge of painting with that of sculpture in the most striking manner. The northern window is of a deep purple colour, and the effect produced is of a most striking and novel kind. The whole of the figures seem to be enveloped in a kind of unearthly light, that adds a peculiar beauty to the whole. The emotion is produced in all on seeing the curtain which concealed the Cenotaph suddenly withdrawn were extremely powerful We felt the place was sacred, and we hesitated for some time to resolve on breaking into this melancholy sanctuary It almost seemed that we were disturbing the repose of the dead.

Extensive Publishers.—The house of Longman and Co in London, sells five millions of volumes yearly They employ 60 clerks, pay £35,000 a year for advertisements, (remarkable enough!) and give constant employment to at least 250 printers and bookbinders.

One hundred and forty years of inebriety.

A surgeon called Palm-Tirman, who lived in the small town of Vendemiont in Lower Italy, has just died, at the age of 140 years. The evening before his death he had with much dexterity and address of hand performed the operation for cancer on an old woman. He was never married, was never bled, never took any medicine, and never had any illness, although he had never passed a day of his life without getting intoxicated at supper; a repast which he never missed to the close of his life.

THE NOTED BERGAMI.

The following account of the present residence and mode of living of this noted character (Count Bergami) is from the pen of a gentleman of talent and information, who has permanently in Russia,) we extracted from the Portfolio of Literature of Saturday last:—

Captain Price, of the Ramilies trader, was at St. Petersburg in June last, and having business with a merchant at Volsky, a village about sixty werests up the banks of the Neva, he rode there on a fine English blood horse. Having transacted his affairs, he mentioned to the merchant his desire to dispose of his horse, and intention of returning by a boat down the Neva. The merchant gave him a note to Count Leonwich, a Hungarian nobleman who had a seat in the neighbourhood, and was a great sportsman, and moreover a member of the new racing club at St. Petersburgh, and very likely to become a purchaser of his horse. Captain Price was introduced to him in his garden, and instantly knew him to be the far-famed Baron Bergami, the paramour of the late Queen Caroline, of unfortunate memory. Captain Price formerly commanded a vessel that traded to the port of Trieste, and there he knew Bergami intimately, from having sold him several times ale and porter for the use of the Princess, who then resided at Pesaro; he used to dine with Bergami whenever he went to the house. He now addressed him in the Italian language, and after a little equivocation Bergami's party he acknowledged his old acquaintance, and invited him into his house; but cautioned him not to make known who he was to any of the Russians, who all took him for an Englishman, which his great size and strength made appear very plausible.—Captain Price remained with him to dinner, which consisted of two courses, served up on silver plate, and cooked after the Italian fashion His wife and daughter dined with them; the letter was on the eve of being married to a Swedish noble man. The wife appeared sixty years of age, whilst Bergami did not appear more than fifty. Captain Price thought the daughter very handsome. Their dinner was splendidly luxurious, though it was evidently his common mode of living, as no preparations were made for one they did not expect. The house was elegantly furnished, but not a book was to be seen in it. Whilst they drank their claret and hock, the young lady played several airs upon the harp, and sung with a tolerable voice. Bergami said he had sold the Baroni, near Milan, for 13,000l. and purchased the estate where he then resided, and also the title of Count, He wore the star, and also another German order, not that of St. Caroline. The house was full of guns, fishing nets, and sporting materials of every description. In the hall lay several pointers and greyhounds, and on perches were a large assortment of hawks; he had a kennel of fine fox-hounds, and a stud of twelve horses.—Upon a heap of stones near the chateau was a staff, bearing the Russian flag, a distinguishing mark to show he was an officer of justice; for he held a situation similar to that of an English Justice of the Peace, to which there is a salary attached of two hundred roubles, Captain Price saw him exercise his authority over a drunken fellow, who was making a noise in the streets of Volsky; he ordered him to be gagged, and put in the stocks, which was done in a most savage manner—Bergami wore the Russian uniform, green and gold, a gold lace cap and feather, a sword by his side, and pistols in his belt; he appeared to have twelve or more domestics, and in the lawn before his door, four females were employed in milking cows He was much pleased with the horse, for which he paid more than was demanded. His estate appeared well cultivated, and thickly wooded; he had several fish ponds, or small lakes, on the borders of which were little wooden huts, filled with nets and lines. He appeared like a little prince, but withal quite unostentatious. He said he would have liked to see England, had he not been afraid of his life by venturing thither. Captain Price assured him no one there would injure him; but he shook his head in doubt, and smiled He attended the Captain to a passage boat, and saw him embark on the Neva, bidding him a most cordial farewell. When they had sailed some hours, the Captain observed his name upon a large hamper, and upon opening it, found it to contain six fine large bear hams, and several rein deer tongues; he remembered praising those things at dinner, and Bergami took this handsome way of gratifying his appetite He asked Captain Price if the people in England ever said any thing about him; for he had heard it was believed he had left his wife and family in Italy to desert, and gone to Canada with all his fortune to America.—Sun Oct 18.

FRANCE.

The Parisians say that Charles X. is not inimical to M. de La Fayette. A few days ago, at a royal breakfast, the old nitrate, who compose the intimate society of the land, were not a little scandalized on hearing his majesty say, "I cannot conceive why M de La Fayette should excite so much alarm —He is a very amiable man; I have often played at tennis with him; he was then a fine young fellow, and an excellent horseman.

GREECE.

"Letters from Hydra say that the affairs of the Greeks are still prosperous in the Morea, although Tripolizza continues in the hands of the Egyptians.—Nothing more is said of the assassination of Ibrahim Pacha, which was reported; but the Augsburgh Gazette states that Hussein Bey has probably lost his life, which must produce disorder in the Egyptian army

"Several letters from Corfu, and several other of the Ionian Islands, to the 18th and 19th September, agree in confirming the report of the assassination of Ibrahim Pacha. They say that he fell dead by a pistol shot at him by the nephew of Hussein Bey, whom he had reproached for quitting Candia, knowing that an insurrection was about to break out in the Island. Ibrahim, in an excess of anger, had killed Hussein with his own hand.—This event, which every body believes at Corfu, has produced trouble among the Egyptians and Turks, who are returning to Navarino.

"The Journal of Trieste, repeats these accounts on the 9th of October, and adds that the Greeks have yielded the island of Paros, opposite Hydra, to the Americans, who are fortifying it for a position in the Archipelago. The capture of several Austrian and French vessels is spoken of, by the Greeks."

TITLES AND ATTRIBUTES OF THE BURMESE EMPEROR.—"I am lord of a whole people, and of 101 countries, and my titles are rajah Chatt riary (i. e. sitting under a canopy) and rajah Surrey Burkaree (i. e. descendant of the sun.) Sitting on the throne with a splendid canopy of gold, I hold in subjection to my authority many rajahs; gold, silver and jewels are the produce of my country; and in my hand is the instrument of war, as the lightning of heaven, humbles and subdues my enemies: my troops require neither injunctions nor commands, and my elephants and horses are without number. In my service are ten pundits learned in the Shaster, and 104 priests, whose wisdom is not to be equalled; agreeably to whose warning and intelligence, I execute and distribute justice among my people, so that my mandates, like the lightning, suffer no resistance nor control. My subjects are endowed with virtue and the principles of justice, and refrain from all immoral practices, and I amas the sun blessed with the light of wisdom, to discover secret designs of men; the word of my mouth is dreaded as the lightning from heaven. I am as a great sea, among 2000 rivers, and as the mountain Shumeroo, surrounded by 40,000 hills; and like unto these is my authority, extending itself over 101 rajahs; further, 10,000 rajahs pay daily attendance at my durbar, and my country exceeds every country of the world; my palace, as the heavens studed with gold and precious stones, is revered more than any other palace in the universe. My dominion resemble the business of the chief of the angels.

Domestic.

We are glad to find that the St. Lawrence, Harby, with the provisions and stores from Quebec, had arrived at Miramichi before the 20th. Supplies from the United States and the British Provinces were pouring into Miramichi.

The Editor of the Nova Scotian, on the 23d ult. in summing up the subscriptions from private sources, for the Miramichi sufferers exhibits an amount of £23,000 This is exclusive of many sums subscribed, of which he could not then have heard. The subscriptions on this side of the Atlantic will much exceed £30,000; a donation which redounds to the credit of the British Provinces and the United States

Canada Potatoes.—A gentleman of this town has rendered a very acceptable service, by importing from Quebec, a quantity of potatoes, of a quality far superior to those raised in this vicinity. They are sought for eagerly, we believe, by all who have made trial of them Our motive for noticing this fact, is to hint to the farmers of this vicinity, the expediency of taking advantage of the present opportunity to supply themselves with seed, of a quality much better than the potatoes which they are accustomed to send to market.—Boston Mystery.

Parliament of Lower Canada.—It is now pretty generally said that our Provincial Parliament will meet for the dispatch of business about the middle of next month; it is added, that the detailed accounts of the monies expended under the authority of the supply bill, which are to be presented to the Assembly fifteen days after the meeting of the Legislature, will not probably be ready before that time.

LONDON, Oct 19

Report of Canada W[illegible]t in London.—A circular from one of the first firms of corn factors, after giving its opinion as founded in correct returns, and chiefly on information taken with great care, that the prices will not materially decline during the ensuing year, adds, "The Canada wheat that has arrived (in London, we suppose) under the late Acts of Parliament and admitted for consumption at 5s duty is but of ordinary quality and most of it in bad condition. The quantity arrived is between 7000 and 8000 quarters."

Drummond Island.—The military post, situated at the head of Lake Huron has been declared to be within the Limits of the United States, by the decision of the boundary commissioners under the treaty of Ghent, and that decision has been ratified by the government Still the island is not abandoned by the British, but is occupied by their troops, and is the head-quarters of their intercourse with the Indians in the north west. We are wholly unacquainted with the reasons which have induced the United States government so long to neglect the occupation of the island, as the British are probably only waiting until a request is made to them to break up their establishment. It is important to the north west trade, and to the American government that this island should soon be occupied by our troops.—Detroit paper

New Custom House Regulations.—We understand that Mr. Woodhouse, Inspector General of His Majesty's Customs, who lately arrived at Halifax, in the Esperanza brig, and that an examination of the department in Lower Canada will take place The rumour of a determination on the part of His Majesty's Government, to place the custom-house officers in the Colonies upon salary, as they are generally in Great Britain is repeated — There is no doubt, that the system of fees was established at a time when the commerce of the Colonies was generally unimportant, and when in fact the fees formed a moderate remuneration, as a reference to some of the present colonial outposts will still exemplify. The great increase of trade has made these fees considerably above what the inhabitants of several of the Colonies thought right and due in compensation of services.—Complaints have accordingly been made; and it now appears pretty certain, that the plan upon which the salaries in the customs are generally managed in Great Britain, will be introduced into the Colonies—we think, upon the whole, with ultimate advantage both to the Colonies and to the officers.

P. MAITLAND.

The Lieutenant Governor thanks proper to acquaint the House of Assembly that in consequence of their address presented to Him in the last Session he has solicited and obtained the permission of

His Majesty's Government to lay before them in the ordinary detailed form, an account of the Receipts and expenditure of His Majesty's casual and territorial Revenue for 1821, 1822, 1823 and 1824, which is transmitted herewith

By this account it will appear that the total receipt arising from the Grant and Lease of the Crown Lands within that period has been £5754 19s 9d, and that the annual allowance of £1000 to the Lieutenant Governor instead of Fees has amounted to £4000, that the Fees to the officers employed in preparing the Land patent for U E Loyalists and other privileged persons have amounted to £1736 7 9½ (over and above £864 1 7 paid from the Military Chest), and that further payments have been recently made from this fund for similar patents issued within the period in question amounting to £1266 1 11½.

It will further be seen that His Majesty's casual revenue arising from fines forfeitures and forries for the four years referred to has amounted to £3684 3 1 and that all payments made there from have been for objects of public utility, sanctioned by His Majesty's Government.

The annual amount of presents to the Indian Tribes in Upper Canada, the greater part of which is on account of Cessions of Territory made at different times to the Crown, exceeds Twenty thousand pounds—and this Treasury of the Mother Country looks to His Majesty's casual and territorial Revenue in this Province for relief from this charge.

P. MAITLAND,

The Lieutenant Governor transmits to the House of Assembly a copy of the Report of the Arbitrators appointed under the Canada Trade Act for deciding the proportion of duties to be paid to this Province from Imports at Quebec.

The Lieutenant Governor has no doubt that the House of Assembly will recognise, in these Documents, the zeal and ability with which the negociation has been conducted on the part of this Province, and that the House will perceive the propriety of enabling Him to afford an adequate remuneration to the officers employed on that important duty by placing at his disposal for that purpose a sum not less than six hundred pounds.

The Report was ordered to be received and the Resolutions were adopted as follows:—

Resolved,—That the sympathy expressed by the Legislature of Lower Canada for the great losses and sufferings which so many Individuals, Inhabitants of Upper Canada, sustained in the late contest with the United States of America afford, strong grounds to hope that the Legislature of Lower Canada will, as soon as the Commercial circumstances of this Province render it practicable, concur in the imposition of new Taxes for the relief of the Sufferers.

Resolved,—That since the adoption of the before mentioned Resolution, it appears by the returns of the Trade and Revenue of the Ports of Quebec and Montreal, that a great improvement has taken place in the commerce of Lower Canada That it also appears by An Act of the last Session of the Imperial Parliament, that direct Trade has been permitted between that Province and China, whereby still greater improvements may be reasonably expected.

No. 51—4wks.

In Council 21st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as Settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepared in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District.

2 All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and not appropriated for public purposes, will be offered for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3. All persons proposing to purchase land must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts, on payment of a fee of 2s. 6d.

4. All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5 The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments, as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement —A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6. On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply, in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8. Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions.

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form, Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres.

11. No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending in the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12. A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase.

14 Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it

15 Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hundred Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On failure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16 No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessary expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17. Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprized in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18. Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of these general Rules.

19 U. E. Loyalists and other persons entitled to gratuitous Grants by the general regulation of His Majesty's Government, are not to be affected by these Rules

The above Rules to take effect from the first of January 1826.

The importance of LIFE ASSURANCE to those who in professional and mercantile pursuits, derive limited or fluctuating incomes from personal exertions, or who are in the possession of places, the emoluments of which die with the holder, has long been acknowledged both in Europe and the United States of America. In the full conviction, that the inhabitants of the Canadas would not be slow, in perceiving the advantages to be derived from the introduction of such an institution amongst them, the undersigned communicated to the Directors of the ASYLUM COMPANY, such information as a long residence in various parts of both Provinces has enabled him to collect, and the Board with the view of affording additional facilities, to those who may be desirous of availing themselves of the benefits of Life Assurance, have in consequence, appointed him their Agent, for the Provinces of Upper and Lower Canada. He will accordingly be prepared to receive proposals, and negotiate Policies upon Lives, as soon as he is in possession of the scale of premiums (which he daily expects) this has been calculated with great care and attention, to adapt it to the peculiar localities of the Canadas, and will, on comparison, be found considerably lower for young and middle aged risks than that of any other Office

A Physician or consulting Surgeon of eminence will be appointed in the principal Towns in either Province, before whom persons in the country, wishing to effect Insurances may appear, on sending their proposals by letter to the Company's Agent at Quebec

The names of the Medical Referees and all other necessary information will be given in a future advertisement.

Editorial Commentary.

The Meeting of Parliament in Lower Canada, for the actual despatch of public business is fixed for the 21st of next month.

Neilson's Gazette says it is rumoured that intelligence has just been received from England, which states that Mr. CALDWELL, the late Receiver General of Lower Canada, has been allowed a delay of fifteen years for the settlement of his accounts, and that he is to be reinstated into the office.

The famous Castle of St Juan de Ulloa commanding the port of Vera Cruz, and the last place of strength held by Spain on the eastern coast of South America, is said to have surrendered to the Mexicans on the 17th of November.

Late arrivals mention very formidable preparations for the invasion of Cuba, a being on foot in Colombia; and the prospects of success on the part of the invaders, who expect a general rising in their favour, are said to be flattering.

Our readers will find two communications in this days paper, on the subject of Mr. Robinson's emigrants from Ireland, which we give as we have received them; not only to oblige the respective correspondents, but because we really believe the statements to be generally correct, having ourselves inquired on the spot, about two months ago, into the truth of the alleged desertions and found that the number had been greatly exaggerated.—Nevertheless, we cannot believe that the Colonial Advocate has been guilty, in this instance, of any wilful or slanderous misrepresentation, since we are well acquainted with the source from whence he derived his information—which was of too respectable a character to be doubted—and which was calculated, however innocently, to mislead any inquirer who was not more intimately acquainted with the facts than the informants themselves were.

We cannot help expressing our sincere regret that Mr. DAVIS, the enterprising, spirited, and really meritorious Manager of the present Theatricals in this Town should, hitherto, have met with so little success and encouragement—having had but one tolerable House since the arrival of his Company in this metropolis.—He has made great exertions to please;—he has at great expence embodied much talent in his numerous corps, and has arrived at a season when the navigation is closed, and he must necessarily remain for some time as it were imprisoned amongst us; for, to remove his Company and effects, by land, would be attended with an expence two enormous to be thought of;—he is thrown on the generosity of a British Public, which has been seldom appealed to in vain, and we trust he will be yet rewarded as he deserves. He has himself greatly improved in his style of acting since he was here with Mr. ARCHBOLD;—and so has GILBERT, (who is a very meritorious performer) and TROWBRIDGE—Mrs GILBERT, formerly Miss Allen, has also made great advances in her profession;—and Mrs. SMITH, (who we understand has conducted concerts in many respectable communities of the United States) besides a very agreeable manner, as an actress, is really much above mediocrity as a singer.—She gave a favourite song of the celebrated Miss Tree's, between the Play and the Farce, a few evenings since—in a style that called forth the repeated and well deserved plaudits of her audience.—Upon the whole we do not hesitate to say that Mr D's. Company at least equals those which have preceded it in this Town—with the exception of one single female performer, Mrs. Talbot, whose talents were really of a very superior cast, entitling her to rank with names of eminence in her profession, even on the London Boards.

Selections from British and Foreign Journals.

The late Failure.—The Paris Quotedienne makes the following remarks on the late failure of Mr. Williams. "Singular state of things! Our ous changes in the manners! The bankruptcy of a merchant now produces more sensation than the death of a king; and the English House which has just failed, will occupy Europe more than the house of Batavia which has lost a Prince."

Delectables.—Mr O'Connell, in a long letter to the editor of the Dublin Morning Register, denounces Colbett as a "villavagabond," "a liar," and one "who has outlived his intellect."

Negative Qualifications.—A little man observed, he had two negative qualifications, which were that he never lay long in bed nor wanted a great coat.

Bergami.—In regard to the cock and bull story respecting Bergami, a person just returned from Italy, saw him lately. He yet "lives at Pesara, in the Duchy of Urbin, in the Roman States, and bears the title of Baron Francbina, a barony situated in Sicily. It is true, as the journals mention, that he lives in great splendour, for the Italian tribunals have adjudged to him all the property which the Queen of England possessed in Italy, and left to him in her will. He bears also several decorations, but does not dress in uniform. His daughter is but twelve years old, and in no way remarkable.—In the midst of a numerous hunting train, given up to amusements, and occasionally employing his time in agricultural employments, Bergami seems to pass an agreeable sort of life enough."

New Inventions.—The British Society of Arts has awarded a premium to an ingenious carpenter, named Gladwish, for the invention of a plane, so constructed as to answer all the purposes of the jack plane, the pannel plane, the sin othing plane, and the mould ng plane. A farmer of Moravia has invented a new plough which a though drawn by a single horse, produces four furrows. The agricultural society of the country has presented him with a gold medal.

Infallible cure for chopped lips.—Dissolve a lump of Bees-wax in a small quantity of Sweet oil over a candle, let it cool and it is ready for use. Rubbing it warm on the lips two or three times, will effect a complete cure.

Paper making.—A discovery has been made in France of a material capable of superseding the use of rags in paper making. It is a composition that resembles a preparation of the finest quality of rags, and is readily converted into a pulp, without the employment of any kind of machinery; and by which the best kinds of paper are made. This material can be provided at so cheap a rate, that it is estimated its whole cost including its preparation, will be less than sixpence per pound.—[Lon. Jour. Arts and Sciences.

SHIPWRECK OF THE OGLE CASTLE EAST INDIAMAN.

Downs, Nov. 3.—Extract of a letter I was roused from bed at half past six o'clock in the morning, to behold a large and beautiful ship, which had, at that moment, in endeavouring to reach the Downs from the westward, struck on the Goodwin Sands, about the western extremity. At the termination of about twenty minutes from the period of grounding, her foremast having previously lowered, or sunk into the sand, she inclined so much on her starboard side as to bring the masts within 10 or 12 feet of the water. In this situation she continued for five or six minutes, when her masts having come in contact with the waves, were all carried shore. She struck at half past six in the morning, and before half past seven she was a perfect wreck. I cannot accurately describe the scene which took place on board, having been distant about three miles; but I could perceive, with the assistance of a good glass, that no sooner was the misfortune perceived by the crew and passengers, than the utmost consternation and confusion prevailed on deck. Persons were seen running in every direction. Some took to the cross trees, others to the rigging, while the bowsprit and poop were crowded. The cross-trees, seemed the principal asylum, where they all flocked around the stump of the mizen mast, to which some I presume were lashed.—One man clung to the broken extremity of the mast, where he remained for more than an hour. While in this perilous situation, from which Providence alone could have saved them, a boat hovered round in all directions, evidently with a view of affording assistance, but, alas, she was unable to approach nearer than one hundred yards. A second boat made her appearance, and in vain attempted to approach. Two others made desperate efforts, and one more determined than the rest, hovered to windward, passing and repassing within eighty or one hundred yards; but, notwithstanding the determination which the brave crew evinced they were unable to afford the necessary assistance, so great was the surge, and violent the gale. Several boats came up now, but to no purpose, they were unable to approach on any side.—About seven o'clock several tremendous waves washed over her deck, and the crowd on the poop was considerably diminished; many no doubt having been washed off. The boatmen continued their praiseworthy exertions with unremitting dexterity and courage until half past seven o'clock, when the severity of the gale obliged them to forsake the pursuit, and make for the shore."

A letter has been received from a naval officer dated Deal, 6th Nov.—

"It is reported to-day that 17 of the crew of the unfortunate ship Ogle Castle were taken off the floating wreck by a French fishing boat, and have since arrived at Calais."

According to reports from Deal, several females, on the poop of the Ogle Castle, were seen distinctly from the boats. A tremendous wave buried the vessel, and hid it for some moments—when she re-appeared to view, the females were no longer visible—all had been swept away!

The Fops of Antiquity.—What could exhibit a more fantastical appearance than an English Beau of the Fourteenth century? He wore long pointed shoes, fastened up his knees by gold or silver chains; those of one colour on one leg, and of another colour on the other; short breeches, which did not reach, to the middle of his thighs, and disclosed the shape of all the parts included in them; a coat, one half white, and the other half black or blue; a long beard; a silk hood buttoned under the chin, embroidered with grotesque figures of animals, dancing men, &c. and sometimes ornamented with gold, silver, and precious stones. This dress, which was the very top of the mode in the Reign of Edward III. appeared so ridiculous to the Scots (who probably could not afford to be such egregious fops) that they made the following satirical verses upon it,

Long bel de hirtlifess,
Peynted whoods whittes,
Gay cotes gracelies,
Maketh England thrittelies.

Coquettes of Former Days.—The dress of the gay and fashionable Ladies who frequented the public diversions of those times was not more decent or becoming. It is thus described by Knyghton A. D. 1348:

"These Tournaments are attended by many ladies of the first rank and greatest beauty, but not always of the most untainted reputation. These ladies are dressed in party coloured tunics, one half being of one colour, and the other half of another; their hirtippes or tippets are very short; the cups of their backsby little, and wrapt about their heads with cords; their girdles and pouches are ornamented with gold and silver; and they wear short swords, called daggers, before them, a little below their navels, they are mounted on the finest horses, with the richest furniture. Thus equipped, they ride from place to place, in quest of tournaments, by which they dissipate their fortunes, and sometimes ruin their reputations." The head dresses of the ladies underwent many changes in the course of this period. They were sometimes enormously high, rising almost three feet above the head, in the shape of sugar loaves, with streamers of fine silk flowing from the top of them to the ground. Upon the whole I am fully persuaded, that we have no good reason to pay any compliments to our ancestors of this period, at the expense of our contemporaries, either for the frugality, elegance, or decency of their dress.

Interview with a Whale.—A singular and perilous rencontre took place in the Firth, a few days ago, between a pleasure boat belonging to Mr John Greig, or Kircaldy and a large whale. The following letter from Mr. Greig to his brother, Mr. John Greig of Burnt Island, giving an account of this adventure, has been put into our hand:—"Dear John—After leaving Burntisland harbour, which is between two and three o'clock, we passed the Inchkeith and Kinghorn, a good number of sea fowls; and having my mackarel lines off board, thought of fishing while passing them, and just on arriving at the spot where the fowls were in the thickest, my boat stuck fast on the belly of a large whale. In about half a minute one of her fins rose out of the water to about fourteen feet projecting over the boat side among the rigging. You may conceive my astonishment at being in such a situation as I every moment expected to be upset. However, after the monster had struck two hard strokes with her fin, she canted upon her belly, and darted majestically away from me without doing me any injury, except tearing the foretack of my fore sail. She left a deal of sway upon the side of my boat, and on my rigging. She was the largest I have ever seen, being, I suppose, between fifty & sixty feet long.

I have sent some of the scales she left on my boat. I was going at boat six knots, and right before the wind, so that I must have struck the whale very hard—my boat being shod with iron, and very sharp in the keel—I think that the fowls had been picking small sea insects off her belly, as there were a good deal of them left in the boat among the slimy stuff, such as the small crab and lobsters, all fully formed and quite soft.—Edinburgh paper.

UNITED STATES.

THE MAIDEN'S ROCK.—The following account of a very interesting and tragical incident, which gave the above name to a remarkable promontory on Lake Pepin, is extracted from the journal of Major Long's Second expedition; lately published:

Speaking of Lake Pepin, which the Missisippi, enters about forty miles from the falls of Saint Anthony, the writer of the narrative of Major Long's second expedition, observed:

"There is in it what we meet on no other point of the far stretching valley of the Mississippi, a high projecting point, a precipitous crag resting upon a steep bank, whose base is washed by a wide expanse of water, the calmness of which contrasts with the savage features of the lanscape; but this spot receives an additional interest from the melancholy tale which is connected with it, and which casts a deep gloom over its bright features. Cold and callous must be the heart of the voyager who can contemplate unmoved and uninterested as the huge cliffs that enclose this lake, for "wild as the accents of lovers farewell, are the hearts which they bear, and the tales which they tell."

"There was a time, our guide said, as we passed near the rock, when this spot which you now admire, for its untenanted beauty, was the scene of one of the most melancholy transactions that has ever occurred among the Indians. There was in the village of Keoza, in the tribe of Wapasha, during the time that his father lived and ruled over them, a young Indian female whose name was Winona, which signifies 'the first born.' She had conceived an attachment for a young hunter who reciprocated it; they had frequently met, and agreed to an union in which all their hopes centered; but on applying to her family, the hunter was surprised to find himself denied; and his claims superceded by those of a warrior of distinction, who had sued for her. The warrior was a general favourite with the nation; he had aquired a name by the services he rendered to his village when attacked by the Chippewas; yet notwithstanding all the ardour with which he pressed his suit, and the countenance which he received from her parents and brothers, Winona persisted in preferring the hunter. To the usual commendations of her friends in favour of the warrior, she replied, that she had made choice of a man, who being a professed hunter, could spend his time with her, and secure to her comfort and subsistence, while the warrior would be constantly absent, intent upon martial exploits. Winona's expostulations were of no avail, and her parents having succeeded in driving away her lover, began to use harsh measures in order to compel her to unite with the man of their choice. To all her entreaties that she should not be forced into an union so repugnant to her feelings, but rather be allowed to live a single life, they turned a deaf ear. Winona had at all times enjoyed a greater share in the affections of her family, and she had been indulged more than is usual with females among Indians. Being a favourite with her brothers, they expressed a wish that her consent to this union should be obtained by persuasive means, rather than that she should be compelled to it against her inclination. With a view to remove some of the objections they took means to provide for her future maintenance and presented to the warrior all that in their simple mode of living an Indian might covet.—About that time a party was formed to ascend from the village to lake Pepin, in order to lay in a store of the blue clay which is found upon its banks, and which is used by the Indians as a pigment.—Winona and her friends were of the company. It was on the very day that they visited the lake that her brothers offered their presents to the warrior.—Encouraged by these he again addressed her, but with the same ill success. Vexed at what they deemed an unjustifiable obstinacy on her part, her parents remonstrated in strong languages, and even used threats to compel her into obedience. "Well," said Winona, "you will drive me to despair; I said I loved him not; I could not live with him; I wished to remain a maiden; but you would not. You say you love me; that you are my father, my brother, my relations, yet you have driven from me the only man with whom I wished to be united; you have compelled him to withdraw from the village;—alone, he now ranges through the forest, with no one to assist him; none to spread his blanket;—none to build his lodge; none to wait on him;—yet he was the man of my choice. Is this your love? But even it appears that this is not enough; you would have me do more; you want me to rejoice in his absence; you wish me to unite with another man, with one whom I do not, cannot love, with whom I can never be happy. Since this is your love, let it be so; but soon you will have neither daughter or sister, nor relation to torment with your false professions of affection." As she uttered these words, she withdrew, and her parents heedless of her complaints decreed that she should that day be united with the warrior. While all were engaged in the busy preparations for the festival, she wound her way slowly to the top of the hill; when she had reached the summit, she called out with a loud voice to her friends below; she upbraided them for their cruelty to herself and her lover.—"You," said she, "were not satisfied with opposing my union with the man whom I had chosen, but you endeavoured by deceitful words to make me faithless to him; but when you found me resolved upon remaining single, you dared to threaten me; you knew me not if you thought I would be terrified into obedience; you shall soon see how well I can defeat your designs." She then commenced to sing her dirge; the light wind which blew at the time wafted the words towards the spot where her friends were. They immediately rushed, some towards the summit of the hill to stop her, others to the foot of the precipice to receive her in their arms, while all with tears in their eyes, entreated her to desist from her purpose; her father promised that no compulsory measures should be resorted to. But she was resolved, and as she concluded the words of the song, she threw herself from the precipice, and fell a lifeless corpse, near her distressed friends. "Thus," added our guide, "has this spot acquired a melancholy celebrity; it is still called the Maiden's Rock, and no Indian passes over near it, without involuntarily casting his eye towards the giddy height, to contemplate the place, whence this unfortunate girl fell a victim to the cruelty of her relentless parents."

GERMANY.

The death of the King of Bavaria is an event of the highest importance to the States of the German confederation, the vote of Bavaria under him had the greatest weight in the Diet next to those of Austria and Prussia, and the States of the second order always experienced from him a salutary protection.

PORTUGAL & BRAZIL.

The Morning Herald of Nov. 3d, contains the treaty between Portugal and Brazil, on the acknowledgment of the Emperor Don Pedro, dated August the 29th, 1825. The treaty was concluded under the mediation of the British Government, represented by Sir Charles Stuart.

INDIA.

A letter from Calcutta, of May 30th, says, "the war is drawing to a close, and the Burmese are flying in all directions. Ava and Ummerapoora only remain to be taken possession of, and the instant the British army moves forward, they are sure to be evacuated."

POPULATION OF CHINA.

The population of the 18 provinces of China Proper, is stated in a document from that Empire, lately received in England, to 146,280,163. It was estimated by Hassel to be 188,500,000,—and by Sir George Staunton, 333 000,000. The army is stated as follows: Infantry, 820,000; Cavalry 410,000; Marine 34,000, besides 7,802 military officers.

Communications.

To the Editor of the Weekly Register.

York, 26th Dec. 1825.

Sir,

In the Colonial Advocate of the 8th inst. an article was published, of which the following is a copy:—

"MR. ROBINSON'S IRISH SETTLERS.—We have information which may be depended on stating that these people have an ardent desire to go to the United States, and that they frequently desert—No less than EIGHTY of them decamped lately in one night.

"To how much more useful a purpose might £30 :0: have been expended, than in recruiting in Ireland for United States soldiers by Canadian Counsellors."

Public duty requiring my presence at Coburg, on the 19th inst. I took advantage of my vicinity to Mr. Robinson's Settlement to visit it and ascertain what truth, if any, there was in the above statement, and I have ascertained that out of the Two Thousand Settlers brought out this year, one family only remained in Montreal. That while at Kingston they were rapidly deserting to the United States. I have it in my power to contradict the same. Within a few days past recommended to go to the United States, yet not one did so. That while waiting at Coburg until accommodations were provided for them North of the River Lake, two families embarked in a Schooner and went to the United States, and one family returned to Kingston. It was known that these who went to the United States had relatives there. These three families left Coburg in September, and I take it for granted that the writer of the above article had no knowledge of these facts or he would have been more particular and would have stated them. With these exceptions not one of the Settlers has left Mr. Robinson since his arrival at Quebec.

When it is considered that some of these Settlers are Mechanics, and all of them utter strangers to the Forests of America, that the men and women could find employment and good wages every where between the Settlement and the City of New York, it is only to be wondered at that many of them have not spread themselves over these Provinces and the neighbouring States. This, however, they have not done, nor have I learned that they have done any other act, since their arrival amongst us, for which I or any other countryman of theirs, need blush. They have been received with kindness by the very respectable Gentry and other Inhabitants residing in and around Coburg, and to the good feeling and friendly disposition manifested by their countrymen in Cavan and Monaghan, the Rev. Mr Creely, a Roman Catholic Clergyman, who recently visited them bears ample testimony.

I am a native of that part of Ireland whence these Settlers came, I speak their own language, and have conversed with many of them, and I do assure those who feel an interest in the welfare of these poor people that they make a very just estimate of the circumstances in which the Government has placed them, and are grateful in the highest degree for all that has been done for them. They are almost all settled on their Lots and are making great exertions, some of them to an extent almost incredible.

Should any person wish to give an answer to the Editor's question as to "how much more useful a purpose might £30,000 have been expended," I recommend him to visit these Settlers and witness their condition before he gives it. He may then also ascertain, for the information of the Advocate and its Readers, how a Canadian Councillor discharges an important public trust, under circumstances of extraordinary and peculiar difficulty. To that Councillor I, as an Irishman, am grateful. Under his guidance my Countrymen are proving, to all honest men in this Province, that they are better deserving their favourable opinion than such Slanderers as the Editor of the Colonial Advocate would have the world believe.

Let him acquaint the Public who his Informant was, upon whose information he reserves his readers "dependence may be placed," or be taken to be the fabricator of the slander he has published.

I leave it to those Editors in the Province who love justice, and statement no unworthy prejudice against my countrymen, to re-publish this Letter in their respective Newspapers.

I am,
Sir,
Your most Obedient Humble Servant
JAMES FITZGIBBON.

Land Register Office, Port Hope, December 19, 1825.

MR. EDITOR,

Sir,

Observing a statement in the Colonial Advocate, asserting that the Settlers brought out by the Hon. Peter Robinson, were rapidly deserting to the United States. I have it in my power to contradict the same. Within a few days past

I have visited the Township of Smith, &c. &c. and I find the Emigrants are for the greater part gone onto their Lands allotted to them, and the Gentleman above mentioned pays every attention to their comfort. It cannot be otherwise than that amongst so great a number there should be some dissatisfied individuals.—But if we cannot ourselves add to the prosperity of this fine Country, let us not damp the energies of others.

Your Obedient Servant,
THOMAS TURNER ORTON.

VOL. I. YORK, U. C. THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1826 No. 4.

By Authority.

Government House, 19th January 1826.

HIS EXCELLENCY the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, has been pleased to appoint ROBERT STANTON, Esq to be Printer to the King's Most Excellent Majesty in this Province, Vice FOTHERGILL.

In Council 21st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as Settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepared in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District.

2 All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and not appropriated for public purposes, will be offered for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3. All persons proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts, on payment of a fee of 2s. 6d.

4. All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5 The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement.—A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6. On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8 Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form, Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres.

11. No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending in the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12. A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase.

14 Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it

15 Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hundred Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On failure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16. No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessary expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17 Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprized in such second Grant immediately from the date of it

18 Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of these general Rules.

19 U. E. Loyalists and other persons entitled to gratuitous Grants by the general regulation of His Majesty's Government, are not to be affected by these Rules

The above Rules to take effect from the first of January 1826.

The Directors have, with great care and research, ascertained the true law of mortality for various climates and diseases.

Assurances will be granted at premiums accurately graduated to the risks proposed, not only with reference to the general healthiness of the climate, but to the particular service intended.

The Company is supported by a Capital of £24,000 in 2,000 shares of £120 each of which 25 per cent. has been advanced, and the Shareholders have entered into sufficient securities for payment of the remainder. This Capital is fully sufficient for the security of the assured

The importance of LIFE ASSURANCE to those who in professional and mercantile pursuits, derive limited or fluctuating incomes from personal exertions, or who are in the possession of places, the emoluments of which die with the holder, has long been acknowledged both in Europe and the United States of America. In the full conviction, that the inhabitants of the Canadas would not be slow, in perceiving the advantages to be derived from the introduction of such an Institution amongst them, the undersigned communicated to the Directors of the ASYLUM COMPANY, such information as a long residence in various parts of both Provinces has enabled him to collect, and the Board with the view of affording additional facilities, to those who may be desirous of availing themselves of the benefits of Life Assurance, have in consequence, appointed him their Agent, for the Provinces of Upper and Lower Canada. He will accordingly be prepared to receive proposals, and negotiate Policies upon Lives, as soon as he is in possession of the scale of premiums (which he daily expects,) this has been calculated with great care and attention, to adapt it to the peculiar localities of the Canadas, and will, on comparison, be found considerably lower for young and middle aged risks than that of any other Office.

A Physician or consulting Surgeon of eminence will be appointed in the principal Towns in either Province, before, whom persons in the country, wishing to effect Insurances may appear, on sending their proposals by letter to the Company's Agent at Quebec.

The names of the Medical Referees and all other necessary information will be given in a future advertisement.

An Act to Repeal part of an Act passed in the Thirty sixth Year of His late Majesty's Reign, entitled, "An Act for the better regulation of certain Coins Current in this Province, and to make further Provision for the regulation of the British Silver and Copper Coinage Current in this Province.

[Passed 30th Jan. 1826]

WHEREAS an Act was passed in the Thirty sixth Year of His late Majesty's Reign entitled, "An Act for the better regulation of certain Coins Current in this Province, by which it is enacted that among other Silver Coins by the said Act made current in this Province the Silver Coins hereinafter mentioned shall pass Current, and be deemed a legal tender at the rates following, that is to say:—The British Crown at Five Shillings and Six Pence—The British Shilling at One Shilling and a Penny—The Spanish milled Dollar at Five Shillings, equal to Four Shillings and Six Pence sterling money of Great Britain—The American Dollar at Five Shillings, and all the higher and lower denominations thereof in the same proportion respectively:—And whereas it appears by an Official Communication from His Majesty's Government that according to the contents in pure silver, and of the value computed at the rate of Five Shilling and Two Pence per ounce, Troy of British standard fineness the Spanish Dollar, and also the Dollar of the United States of America, are only equal in value to the sum of Four Shillings & Four Pence, sterling money of Great Britain, and that the same Coins are issued at those rates, when the British Coin is not in the Military chest for the pay of the British Troops in the Colonies: And whereas His Majesty's Government having taken into consideration the expediency of establishing the British metallic currency as the circulating medium of all the Colonial Possessions of the Crown, an order of His Majesty in Council has been made declaring that a tender or payment of British Silver Coin to the amount of Four Shillings and Four Pence should be considered as equivalent to the tender or payment of One Spanish Dollar, and so in proportion of any greater or less amount of debt, and also, that British Copper money should be made a legal tender to the amount of Twelve Pence in one payment for its due and proper proportion of British Silver money. And whereas measures have been taken by His Majesty's Government for facilitating the Currency of British Silver Coin within this Province, on terms highly advantageous to the holders of such Coins, and in order to give effect to the intentions of His Majesty's Government it is expedient to give to such British Silver Coin its fair relative value in respect to other Silver Coins whose value has been fixed by Law in this Province

Be it therefore enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Legislative Council and Assembly of the Province of Upper Canada, constituted and assembled, by virtue of and under the authority of an Act passed in the Parliament of Great Britain entitled, "An Act to repeal certain parts of an Act passed in the fourteenth year of His Majesty's Reign, entitled, "An Act for making more effectual Provision for the Government of the Province of Quebec in North America, and to make further Provision for the Government of the said Province," and by the authority of the same, That from and after the passing of this Act, the Silver Coins hereinafter mentioned shall pass current and be deemed a legal tender in payment of all debts and demands whatsoever in this Province at the rates following, that is to say:—The British Crown at Five Shillings and Six Pence—The British Shilling at One Shilling and a Penny—The Spanish milled Dollar at Five Shillings, equal to Four Shillings and Six Pence sterling money of Great Britain—The American Dollar at Five Shillings, and all the higher and lower denominations of the said Silver Coins shall also pass current and be deemed a legal tender in payment of all debts and demands whatsoever in this Province in the same proportions respectively

II. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That British Copper money shall pass current and be deemed a legal tender in payment of all debts and demands whatsoever in this Province according to the due and proper proportion of such Copper money to the British Silver Coins hereinbefore mentioned, Provided always, that no person shall be obliged to receive, at any one payment, more than the sum of one shilling currency of this Province in Copper money, and that in all payments not exceeding one shilling current money of this Province, Ten Pence shall be deemed equivalent to One Shilling, and all higher and lower denominations in the same proportion.

III. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the sum of Seventeen Shillings and Four Pence, of British Silver and Copper money, shall pass as equivalent and be equal to the sum of Twenty Shillings of the current money of this Province.

IV. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That so much of the said Act, passed in the Thirty sixth year of His said late Majesty's Reign, as declared the value at which any British Silver Coins shall pass current in this Province, shall be and the same is hereby repealed.

In Council 21st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as Settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepared in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District.

2 All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and not appropriated for public purposes, will be offered for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3. All persons proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts, on payment of a fee of 2s. 6d.

4. All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5 The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments, as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement —A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6. On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply, in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8 Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions.

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing, through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form, Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres.

11. No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending in the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12 A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase.

13. The quit rent will be redeemable within the first 25 years next following the grant, on payment of a sum equal to twenty times the annual amount of it.

14. Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it.

15 Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hundred Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On failure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16. No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessary expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17. Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprized in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18. Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of the general Rules.

19. U. E. Loyalists and other persons entitled to gratuitous Grants by the general regulation of His Majesty's Government, are not to be affected by these Rules

The above Rules to take effect from the first of January 1826.

By Order of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor.

CHAP IV.

An Act to Repeal part of an Act passed in the Thirty sixth Year of His late Majesty's Reign, entitled, "An Act for the better regulation of certain Coins Current in this Province, and to make further Provision for the regulation of the British Silver and Copper Coinage Current in this Province.

[Passed 30th Jan. 1826]

WHEREAS an Act was passed in the Thirty sixth Year of His late Majesty's Reign entitled, "An Act for the better regulation of certain Coins Current in this Province, by which it is enacted that among other Silver Coins by the said Act made current in this Province the Silver Coins hereinafter mentioned shall pass Current, and be deemed a legal tender at the rates following, that is to say:—The British Crown at Five Shillings and Six Pence—The British Shilling at One Shilling and a Penny—The British Shilling and Two Pence, and that all the high and lower denominations thereof in the same proportion respectively:—And whereas it appears by an Official Communication from His Majesty's Government, that according to the contents of pure silver, and of the value computed at the rate of Five Shillings and Two Pence per ounce, Troy of British standard fineness the Spanish Dollar, and also the Dollar of the United States of America, are only equal in value to the sum of Four Shillings & Four Pence, sterling money of Great Britain, and that the same Coins are to be issued at those rates, when the British Coin is not in the Military chest for the pay of the British Troops in the Colonies: And whereas His Majesty's Government having taken into consideration the expediency of establishing the British metalic currency as the circulating medium of all the Colonial Possessions of the Crown, an order of His Majesty in Council has been made declaring that a tender or payment of British Silver Coin to the amount of Four Shillings and Four Pence should be considered as equivalent to the tender or payment of One Spanish Dollar, and so in proportion of any greater or less amount of debt, and also, that British Copper money should be made a legal tender to the amount of Twelve Pence in one payment for its due and proper proportion of British Silver money. And whereas measures have been taken by His Majesty's Government for facilitating the Currency of British Silver Coin within this Province, on terms highly advantageous to the holders of such Coins, and in order to give effect to the intentions of His Majesty's Government it is expedient to give to such British Silver Coin its fair relative value in respect to other Silver Coins whose value has been fixed by Law in this Province

Be it therefore enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Legislative Council and Assembly of the Province of Upper Canada, constituted and assembled, by virtue of and under the authority of an Act passed in the Parliament of Great Britain entitled, "An Act to repeal certain parts of an Act passed in the fourteenth year of His Majesty's Reign, entitled, "An Act for making more effectual Provision for the Government of the Province of Quebec in North America, and to make further Provision for the Government of the said Province," and by the authority of the same, That from and after the passing of this Act, the Silver Coins hereinafter mentioned shall pass current and be deemed a legal tender in payment of all debts and demands whatsoever in this Province at the rates following. That is to say:—The British Crown at Five Shillings and Nine Pence—The British Shilling at One Shilling and Two Pence, and that all the high and lower denominations of the said Silver Coins shall also pass current and be deemed a legal tender in payment of all debts and demands whatsoever in this Province in the same proportions respectively.

II. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That British Copper money shall pass current and be deemed a legal tender in paymgnt of all debts and demands whatsoever in this Province according to the due and proper proportion of such Copper money to the British Silver Coins hereinbefore mentioned, Provided always, that no person shall be obliged to receive, at any one payment, more than the sum of one shilling currency of this Province in Copper money, and that in all payments not exceeding one shilling current money of this Province, Ten Pence shall be deemed equivalent to One Shilling, and all higher and lower denominations in the same proportion.

III. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the sum of Seventeen Shillings and Four Pence, of British Silver and Copper money, shall pass as equivalent and be equal to the sum of Twenty Shillings of the current money of this Province.

IV. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid. That so much of the said Act, passed in the Thirty sixth year of His said late Majesty's Reign, as declared the value at which any British Silver Coins shall pass current in this Province, shall be and the same is hereby repealed.

In Council 21st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as Settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepared in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District.

2. All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and not appropriated for public purposes, will be offered for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3. All persons proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts, on payment of a fee of 2s 6d

4. All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5 The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments, as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement —A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6. On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply, in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8 Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Governor, in writing through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form, Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres

12 A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase

13. The quit rent will be redeemable within the first 25 years next following the grant, on payment of a sum equal to twenty times the annual amount of it.

14 Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it.

15 Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hundred Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On failure of such proof his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16. No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessary expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17 Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Land comprized in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18 Persons desirous to receive Grant of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of these general Rules.

By Authority.

The Humble Address of the Magistrates, Professional Gentlemen, Merchants, and Yeomanry of the County of Durham, To His Excellency Sir Peregrine Maitland, K C. B. Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada, and Major General Commanding the Forces therein, &c. &c &c.

The Magistracy, Professional Gentlemen, Merchants, and Yeomanry of the County of Durham, approach Your Excellency with sentiments of unfeigned attachment, respect, and devotion; congratulating Your Excellency on Your auspicious appearance amongst a loyal and grateful people. Your Excellency on your intended route to visit the northern part of this County will perceive a vast tract of Fertile Soil but lately reclaimed from a boundless Forest, and inhabited by an industrious, contented, and happy Yeomanry, natives of our Paternal Soil, and continuing in undiminished attachment to the Land of their Nativity These blessings, under Divine Providence, are to be attributed to the fostering protection of a Peaceful Empire, and to your Excellency's Prudent and Wise Administration; this reflection to a mind of such refined sensibility as Your Excellency's, must be a continual source of peculiar gratification Impressed, as we are, with the truth of these sentiments, it is painful to advert to the proceedings of a band of Factious Demagogues, whose actions, perceptibly tend to disorganize Society, to subvert Legitimate Authority, and to alienate mens' minds from the Constitutional Government. Unprincipled and designing men, under the dark mantle of specious patriotism, have dared to malign the purity of Your Excellency's Imperial Administration, and excite the frenzy of popular commotion in the untutored and unreflecting mind, by appealing in strong language to the passions of the ignorant, and thereby deluding the many. But your Excellency may be assured the Enlightened Portion of our Community will use their exertions to counteract the base designs of these artful men by every lawful expedient, and endeavour to reclaim the wayward from their erroneous impressions. That our Gracious and Beneficent Monarch may long continue You in the exercise of your high functions, is the fervent prayer of Your Excellency's Obedient and very Humble Servants.

To which His Excellency was pleased to give the following Reply:—

Gentlemen,

I beg you to believe that I have not received your Loyal and Affectionate Address without much satisfaction; nor shall I view, without deep interest, the improvement in those parts of your County which I am about to visit, and in which the extensive settlements recently formed have added many faithful and loyal subjects to this Colony.

It is scarcely possible that among an intelligent and virtuous people, enjoying every blessing of peace and freedom, under the Government of a great and bountiful Sovereign, any efforts to excite discontent can be either long or extensively successful; and I have the fullest confidence that the people of the County of Durham will ever continue to manifest the loyal and dutiful sentiments which you have expressed.

Be assured, Gentlemen, that I fully appreciate the honour you have done me in assembling to welcome my arrival in your County; and that to have it in my power to advance its prosperity, by any measure of my Government, will ever afford me peculiar satisfaction.

To His Excellency Sir Peregrine Maitland, K. C. B Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada, and Major General Commanding the Forces therein, &c. &c. &c.

We, the Magistrates, Clergy, and other Inhabitants of the County of Northumberland, in the District of Newcastle, beg leave most respectfully to express to your Excellency our high sense of the honour conferred on this District, by your present visit.

Your Excellency's intention of visiting the Seutlements which have been recently formed in the Northern Townships, manifests the Interest you are pleased to take in the prosperity of the Province.

We avail ourselves of this opportunity to assure your Excellency of our gratitude to the Government of the Mother Country for the generosity it has ever evinced towards this Colony, and particularly for promoting the emigration of many useful European Settlers to our District under the superintendance of the Hon Peter Robinson.

We cannot refrain from bearing testimony to the good conduct of those Settlers during their residence at Cobourg, which was of sufficient length to enable us to estimate their general character, and to warrant an expectation of their becoming a valuable acquisition to the Province.

We trust that the gracious and generous feeling which supplied the means for that Emigration may be cherished, till the beautiful and extensive tracts of unoccupied land shall be filled with an industrious and loyal population.

We beg leave to assure your Excellency of our attachment to the Constitution under which we have the happiness to live, and to express our ardent hope that that Constitution may be handed down to posterity unimpaired.

The pleasure we have in addressing your Excellency is much enhanced by the recollection of the mild, yet firm and judicious manner in which the Government of the Province has been for so many years administered, and the wisdom which has directed Your Excellency's measures, as well as the kindness with which those measures were intended to be carried in to effect, in regard to persons whose rights are questionable, of whom many of the most grateful and respectable reside in this District, and join in this address.

To which His Excellency was pleased to give the following Reply:—

Gentlemen,

I have much pleasure in being greeted on my arrival in your District by so respectable a deputation from the County of Northumberland.

The feelings of gratitude to the Government of our Parent State, which you have so warmly expressed, are most acceptable to me, and do honour to yourselves. I am particularly happy in receiving your testimony of the good conduct of the Emigrants from Ireland who have lately arrived among you. "Meeting with a kind welcome from you their fellow subjects, and assisted as they have been by their Government, they will, I doubt not, soon overcome the difficulties of a new Settlement, and will speedily add much to the opulence and strength of this very Flourishing District.

For the sentiment you have expressed towards myself I beg you will accept my most sincere thanks. I cannot but feel that I can never so well fulfil the wishes of my Sovereign, as when I add to the happiness and content of his subjects under my Government.

Your particular allusion to a measure, which it recently became my duty, in fulfilment of the commands of His Majesty, to recommend to the Legislature is so far satisfactory, that it confirms the impression I have ever entertained, that by the people at large His Majesty's gracious intentions have not been misunderstood and I am most happy to receive this proof of it, in a District containing so many persons whose interests were involved in that measure, and who by their truth and loyalty, had proved themselves so fully worthy of the unreserved confidence of their Government, that I cannot but regret that any measure should have failed which was intended for their security and relief.

CHAP IV.

An Act to Repeal part of an Act passed in the Thirty sixth Year of His late Majesty's Reign, entitled, "An Act for the better regulation of certain Coins Current in this Province, and to make further Provision for the regulation of the British Silver and Copper Coinage Current in this Province.

[Passed 30th Jan. 1826]

WHEREAS an Act was passed in the Thirty sixth Year of His late Majesty's Reign entitled, "An Act for the better regulation of certain Coins Current in this Province, by which it is enacted that among other Silver Coins by the said Act made current in this Province the Silver Coins hereinafter mentioned shall pass Current, and be deemed a legal tender at the rates following, that is to say:—The British Crown at Five Shillings and Six Pence—The British Shilling at One Shilling and a Penny—The Spanish milled Dollar at Five Shillings, equal to Four Shillings and Six Pence sterling money of Great Britain—The American Dollar at Five Shillings, and all the higher and lower denominations thereof in the same proportion respectively;—And whereas it appears by an Official Communication from His Majesty's Government that according to the contents in pure silver, and of the value computed at the rate of Five Shillings and Two Pence per ounce, Troy of British standard fineness the Spanish Dollar, and also the Dollar of the United States of America, are only equal in value to the sum of Four Shillings & Four Pence, sterling money of Great Britain, and that the same Coins are to be issued at those rates, when the British Coin is not in the Military chest for the pay of the British Troops in the Colonies: And whereas His Majesty's Government having taken into consideration the expediency of establishing the British metallic currency as the circulating medium of all the Colonial Possessions of the Crown, an order of His Majesty in Council has been made declaring that a tender or payment of British Silver Coin to the amount of Four Shillings and Four Pence should be considered as equivalent to the tender or payment of One Spanish Dollar, and so in proportion of any greater or less amount of debt, and also, that British Copper money should be made a legal tender to the amount of Twelve Pence in one payment for its due and proper proportion of British Silver money. And whereas measures have been taken by His Majesty's Government for facilitating the Currency of British Silver Coin within this Province, on terms highly advantageous to the holders of such Coins, and in order to give effect to the intentions of His Majesty's Government it is expedient to give to such British Silver Coin its fair relative value in respect to other Silver Coins whose value has been fixed by Law in this Province.

Be it therefore enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Legislative Council and Assembly of the Province of Upper Canada, constituted and assembled, by virtue of and under the authority of an Act passed in the Parliament of Great Britain entitled, "An Act to repeal certain parts of an Act passed in the fourteenth year of His Majesty's Reign, entitled, "An Act for making more effectual Provision for the Government of the Province of Quebec in North America, and to make further Provision for the Government of the said Province," and by the authority of the same, That from and after the passing of this Act, the Silver Coins hereinafter mentioned shall pass current and be deemed a legal tender in payment of all debts and demands whatsoever in this Province at the rates following, that is to say:—The British Crown at Five Shillings and Nine Pence—The British Shilling at One Shilling and Two Pence, and that all the high er and lower denominations of the said Silver Coins shall also pass current and be deemed a legal tender in payment of all debts and demands whatsoever in this Province in the same proportions respectively.

II And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That British Copper money shall pass current and be deemed a legal tender in payment of all debts and demands whatsoever in this Province according to the due and proper proportion of such Copper money to the British Silver Coins hereinbefore mentioned, Provided always, that no person shall be obliged to receive, at any one payment, more than the sum of one shilling currency of this Province in Copper money, and that in all payments not exceeding one shilling current money of this Province, Ten Pence shall be deemed equivalent to One Shilling, and all higher and lower denominations in the same proportion.

III And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the sum of Seventeen Shillings and Four Pence, of British Silver and Copper money, shall pass as equivalent and be equal to the sum of Twenty Shillings of the current money of this Province.

IV And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid. That so much of the said Act, passed in the Thirty-sixth year of His said late Majesty's Reign, as declared the value at which any foreign Silver Coins shall pass current in this Province, shall be and the same is hereby repealed.

In Council 21st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as Settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepared in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District

2 All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and not appropriated for public purposes, will be offered for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3. All persons proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts on payment of a fee of 2s 6d

4. All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5 The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments, as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement—A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6. On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply, in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8 Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing, through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form, Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres

11. No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending in the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12 A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase.

14 Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it

15 Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hundred Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On failure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16. No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessary expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17. Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprized in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18 Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of these general Rules.

19. U. E. Loyalists and other persons entitled to gratuitous Grants by the general regulation of His Majesty's Government, are not to be affected by these Rules

The above Rules to take effect from the first of January 1826.

By Order of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor.

To His Excellency Sir Peregrine Maitland, K. C B Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada, and Major General Commanding His Majesty's Forces &c &c &c.

May it please your Excellency.

We, His Majesty's dutiful and Loyal Subjects, inhabitants of this part of the Newcastle District, beg leave to congratulate Your Excellency on your safe arrival and to express our gratitude for the Kindness manifested by you on this occasion, conscious, as we are, of the difficulties and fatigue to which you have been exposed in the visiting this part of your Government, we the more sensibly feel and appreciate Your Excellency's kindness.

Impressed, as we shall always be, with feelings of Loyalty to our Beloved and Gracious King and authority, and attachment to His Government, we approach Your Excellency with sentiments of a nature which can only be equalled by those which have so eminently distinguished the actions of Your Excellency in the administration of the Government committed to your charge.

We are, as we trust we shall always prove Loyal to our King and firm, in support of the Constitution and Laws, under which we are happily governed, Subjects deserving the bounty and protection we have received.

Uninfluenced as we are by party prejudice or feeling, we avail ourselves, as individuals, of conveying these sentiments which are always paramount to all other consideration with us, Subjects of a Gracious Monarch, enjoying, by the fostering law of Your Excellency, the mild administration of the Laws, and the privileges afforded by the Constitution of the Mother Country.

We have lately perceived, with feelings of honest indignation, an attempt base, malicious, and unfounded, of rendering the Government of Your Excellency an object hostile to the best interests of the Province, we embrace this occasion to publicly convey to Your Excellency, and the Country, our abhorrence at the foul attempt, and beg most respectfu ly to avow that our sentiments are truely different to those expressed by some of the Representatives of the people. We are faithful to our King, honest to His Government, and we shall with the assistance of him whose protection we pray for, merit a continuance of Your Excellency's favor.

Supported by Your Excellency we hope to live under your government, we hope to prosper, and by your direction we hope to become a firm Bulwark to this Province in repelling an invading foe and barbing any republican inroad to the Constitution of the Government we have the happiness to live under.

And with feelings of Loyalty to our beloved King, and attachment to Your Excellency we subscribe ourselves,

Your Excellency's,
Most faithful, and
Most obliged, and Obedient Servants,
JOHN HUSTON, &c.

To which His Excellency was pleased to reply,

Gentlemen,

I receive with much pleasure your loyal and affectionate address. From what I have already seen of the newly settled parts of this valuable District, I am convinced I shall experience much pleasure in witnessing the progress of improvement in that portion of it which I shall be enabled to visit.

The very grateful sentiments you express towards your Government give the strougest assurance of the soundness of your principles and would afford me a sufficient proof, if any were wanting, that I may rely on your steady and cordial support in maintaining that unrivalled Constitution of which the excellence has been proved by the experience of ages, and which those who can appreciate it as you do will even be found ready to vindicate and defend.

You may be assured that nothing will be more satisfactory to myself than to contribute, by all means in my power, to your happiness and welfare.

I feel, Gentlemen, that my acknowledgements are due to you personally for the pains which you have taken to anticipate my desire in your settlement by attending here to convey to me this acceptable testimony of the kind feeling of your neighbors.

To His Excellency Sir Peregrine Maitland, Knight Commander of the Most Honorable Military Order of the Bath, Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada, and Major General Commanding His Majesty's Forces Therein, &c. &c &c

May it please your Excellency,

We His Majesty's dutiful and Loyal subjects the Inhabitant Freeholders of the Township of Smith and Otonibee, beg leave to welcome your Excellency and to express the Gratification we feel at seeing your Excellency among us.

At a period, when opinions have been elsewhere publicly expressed tending to bring into contempt the Institutions of our Native Land, we deem it peculiarly incumbent upon us, as honest Men, and British subjects, to come foward and assert to your Excellency our abhorrence of them and of those who disseminate them.

We beg of Your Excellency to believe that we are too sensible of the advantages we enjoy under a Paternal Government, too grateful for the comforts afforded us in a Canadian home, to allow the efforts of disaffected men to mislead, or cause us for a moment to forget that we are the Subjects of a Soverign, whose dearest wish is the Happiness of his People. In respectfully taking leaves, we beg to offer our fervent wishes for the health and happiness of your Excellency and Family.

To which His Excellency was pleased to give the following Reply:—

Gentlemen,

I am much gratified by the kind welcome conveyed by this address of the Inhabitants of Smith and Otonibee. My visit to these new settlements has given me great pleasure—they possess many natural advantages, I anticipate with much satisfaction the period not far distant when they will exhibit every comfort of the oldest and most improved parts of the Province.

You set, Gentlemen, a great value on your possession of a Constitution, the most perfect in the world: and it is no small satisfaction to me to reflect that with the vivid recollection which you retain of its blessings, in the happy Country you have left, your firm and loyal support will never be wanting to the just and Paternal Government of your Sovereign.

You must accept my acknowledgements for the good wishes you have expressed towards myself, and you may be assured, that it will ever give me much pleasure to promote your happiness and welfare.

To His Excellency Sir Peregrine Maitland, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada, and Major General Commanding the Forces therein, &c. &c. &c.

We, the Irish Emigrants, recently brought out by Colonel Robinson to this Country feel grateful to our Gracious good King, and to His Majesty's worthy, good, and humane Government, for all they have, and, we hope yet, intend to do for us

We also are well pleased with and certain the best wishes for our worthy Chief, Mr Robinson, for all he has done for us; and we are fully sensible that his due and humane feelings will not permit him to leave any thing undone that may forward our welfare.

Please Your Excellency, we are totally at a loss for words adequate to express the thanks & gratitude we owe Dr Reed, for his active, skilful, and unremitting care, &c. &c. of us; we are likewise thankful to, and well pleased with the officers placed over us

Please Your Excellency, we agree very well and are pleased with the proceedings of the old settlers amongst us, as it is the interest of us all to do the same. And should an Enemy have the presumption ever to invade this portion of His Majesty's Dominions, Your Excellency shall find that we, when called upon to face and expel the common foe, will, to a man, follow our brave Commanders. Not an Irish soul shall stay behind, and, if we have no better weapons in our hands, mow them down with our Irish Shilela.

Please Your Excellency, we labour under a heavy grievance, which we confidently hope your Excellency will redress and then we will be completely happy, viz.—The want of good Clergymen to administer to us the comforts of our Holy Religion, and good School Masters to Instruct our Children.

We, now beg leave to retire, wishing your Excellency, long life, good Health, and every Success.

God save the King.

To which His Excellency was pleased to give the following Reply:—

Gentlemen,

My visit to Peterboro' the head quarters of your new settlement has been highly satisfactory in every respect. I am pleased to find you so thankful for all that has been done for you, and no less pleased to observe, that you have such abundant cause to be so.

The grateful terms in which you speak of those who had it in charge to provide for your comfort, shew that the attention and zeal with which they studied your welfare have not been lost upon you. They have had equal pleasure, in representing to me your general good conduct, which has enabled them to fulfil the benevolent intention of your Government, with satisfaction and effect.

With the good dispositions you have expressed, I have no doubt, your friendly intercourse with your neighbours will continue uninterrupted, and as the best means of causing this, I trust both the earlier settlers and yours-lves will feel the propriety of dropping, in this Country, all associations which have their rise in a difference of Religion, or in differences of any kind, and that you will henceforth consider yourselves as one people.

I shall do all in my power to afford you the means of Education and Religious Instruction, and am glad to find you sensible of their importance to your happiness.

I have too often had Irish Soldiers for my companions in the field not to know that in time of danger you would be

CHAP IV.

An Act to Repeal part of an Act passed in the Thirty sixth Year of His late Majesty's Reign, entitled, "An Act for the better regulation of certain Coins Current in this Province, and to make further Provision for the regulation of the British Silver and Copper Coinage Current in this Province.

[Passed 30th Jan. 1826]

WHEREAS an Act was passed in the Thirty sixth Year of His late Majesty's Reign entitled, "An Act for the better regulation of certain Coins Current in this Province, by which it is enacted that among other Silver Coins by the said Act made current in this Province the Silver Coins hereinafter mentioned shall pass Current, and be deemed a legal tender at the rates following, that is to say:—The British Crown at Five Shillings and Six Pence—The British Shilling at One Shilling and a Penny—The Spanish milled Dollar at Five Shillings, equal to Four Shillings and Six Pence sterling money of Great Britain—The American Dollar at Five Shillings, and all the higher and lower denominations thereof in the same proportion respectively:—And whereas it appears by an Official Communication from His Majesty's Government that according to the contents in pure silver, and of the value computed at the rate of Five Shilling and Two Pence per ounce, Troy of British standard fineness the Spanish Dollar, and also the Dollar of the United States of America, are only equal in value to the sum of Four Shillings & Four Pence sterling money of Great Britain, and that the same Coins are to be issued at those rates, when the British Coin is not in the Military chest for the pay of the British Troops in the Colonies: And whereas His Majesty's Government having taken into consideration the expediency of establishing the British metallic currency as the circulating medium of all the Colonial Possessions of the Crown, an order of His Majesty in Council has been made declaring that a tender or payment of British Silver Coin to the amount of Four Shillings and Four Pence should be considered as equivalent to the tender or payment of One Spanish Dollar, and so in proportion of any greater or less amount of debt, and also, that British Copper money should be made a legal tender to the amount of Twelve Pence in one payment for its due and proper proportion of British Silver money. And whereas measures have been taken by His Majesty's Government for facilitating the Currency of British Silver Coin within this Province, on terms highly advantageous to the holders of such Coins, and in order to give effect to the intentions of His Majesty's Government it is expedient to give to such British Silver Coin its fair relative value in respect to other Silver Coins whose value has been fixed by Law in this Province.

Be it therefore enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Legislative Council and Assembly of the Province of Upper Canada, constituted and assembled, by virtue of and under the authority of an Act passed in the Parliament of Great Britain entitled, "An Act to repeal certain parts of an Act passed in the fourteenth year of His Majesty's Reign, entitled, "An Act for making more effectual Provision for the Government of the Province of Quebec in North America, and to make further Provision for the Government of the said Province,' and by the authority of the same, That from and after the passing of this Act, the Silver Coins hereinafter mentioned shall pass current and be deemed a legal tender in payment of all debts and demands whatsoever in this Province at the rates following, that is to say:—The British Crown at Five Shillings and Nine Pence—The British Shilling at One Shilling and Two Pence, and that all the higher and lower denominations of the said Silver Coins shall also pass current and be deemed a legal tender in payment of all debts and demands whatsoever in this Province in the same proportions respectively.

II. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That British Copper money shall pass current and be deemed a legal tender in payment of all debts and demands whatsoever in this Province according to the due and proper proportion of such Copper money to the British Silver Coins hereinbefore mentioned, Provided always, that no person shall be obliged to receive, at any one payment, more than the sum of one shilling currency of this Province in Copper money, and that in all payments not exceeding one shilling current money of this Province, Ten Pence shall be deemed equivalent to One Shilling, and all higher and lower denominations in the same proportion.

III. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the sum of Seventeen Shillings and Four Pence, of British Silver and Copper money, shall pass as equivalent and be equal to the sum of Twenty Shillings of the current money of this Province.

IV. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That so much of the said Act, passed in the Thirty-sixth year of His said late Majesty's Reign, as declared the value at which any British Silver Coins shall pass current in this Province, shall be and the same is hereby repealed.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the Court of Assize and Nisi Prius, Over and Terminer, and General Gaol Delivery in and for the Home District, will beheld, at the Court House in the Town of York, on Monday the third day of April next—of which the Sheriff's Coroners, Gaoler, Constables, Bailiffs, and other Peace Officers are commanded to take Notice.

6. On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply, in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8. Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions.

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form, Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres.

11. No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending in the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12 A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase

13. The quit rent will be redeemable within the first 25 years next following the grant, on payment of a sum equal to twenty times the annual amount of it.

14. Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it.

15. Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hundred Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On failure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16. No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessary expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17. Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprized in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18 Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of these general Rules.

19. U. E. Loyalists and other persons entitled to gratuitous Grants by the general regulation of His Majesty's Government, are not to be affected by these Rules

The above Rules to take effect from the first of January 1826.

By Order of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To our beloved and faithful Legislative Councellors of our Province of Upper Canada, and to our Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses of our said Province; to our Provincial Parliament at our Town of York on Thursday the 9th day of March inst to be Commenced, Held, Called, and Elected, and to every of you.—

GREETING:

WHEREAS on the Thirteenth day of January last we thought fit to prorogue our Provincial Parliament to the Ninth day of Marchinstant, at which time, at our Town of York, you were held and constrained to appear.

NOW KNOW YE, that we taking into our Royal consideration the ease and convenience of our loving subjects, have thought fit, by and with the advice of our Executive Council, to relieve you and each of you of your attendance at the time aforesaid, hereby convoking and by these presents enjoining you and each of you that on Monday the Seventeenth day of April next ensuing, you meet us in our Provincial Parliament at our Town of York, there to take into consideration the state and welfare of our Province of Upper Canada, and therein to do as may seem necessary, and herein fail not.

In testimony whereof, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—Witness our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York, this 8th day of March in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty-six, and in the Seventh Year of our reign.

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command.
John B. Robinson, Attorney General.
D. Cameron, Secretary.

To His Excellency Sir Peregrine Maitland, Knight Commander of the Most Honorable Military Order of the Bath, Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada, and Major General Commanding His Majesty's Forces therein, &c. &c &c.

May it please your Excellency,

We, the undersigned inhabitants of the town of Belville, cannot remain conscious of your Excellency's presence among us, without thus publicly tendering to your Excellency our profound respect and regard. The rapid advancement which the town of Belville has made under your Excellency's Administration in population, in improvement, and in wealth, must afford your Excellency sincere gratification, while it remains an earnest to us of the future endeavours of your Excellency's Government to forward our prosperity and happiness.—Knowing, as we do, the unremitting exertions of your Excellency for the welfare of this Province—the alacrity with which your Excellency seized, and the ardour with which you pursued the measure for removing restrictions on the trade of the Colony—we should be wanting, not only in the respect which we owe to your Excellency, but in the duty we owe to our Country and ourselves, did we not avail ourselves of the present opportunity of testifying to your Excellency the high sense we entertain of the liberality, wisdom, and justice, which govern your Excellency's Councils. That a beneficent Providence may long preserve your Excellency, and render the discharge of your high and important duties the source of pleasure to your Excellency, as it has been of advantage to the community, is the sincere desire and heartfelt prayer of us all.

To which His Excellency was graciously pleased to make the following reply:—

Gentlemen,

Your loyal & affectionate address gives me much satisfaction. I regret that a longer stay than I expected to have made in the new settlements of the adjoining District deprived me of the pleasure of being met by you on entering your County as you kindly intended.

You do me justice in supposing that I rejoice very sincerely in witnessing the rapid growth of this town—it affords me an interesting example of the general improvement of the Province, which it can not but be extremely gratifying to myself to find ascribed by you, in any degree, to the measures of my Government. I trust, Gentlemen, that the town of Belville may continue to participate largely in that general happiness which must follow the liberal measures of the Mother Country in regard to the Trade of this Colony, for which you feel so justly gratified. You may be assured that my most anxious endeavours shall be exerted to promote your prosperity; and that they must necessarily be animated, in no small degree, by the sentiments which you have so kindly expressed.

To His Excellency Major General Sir Peregrine Maitland, Knight Commander of the Most Honorable Military Order of the Bath, Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada, and Major General Commanding His Majesty's Forces therein, &c. &c. &c.

May it please your Excellency,

We, the Magistrates, Clergy and other inhabitants, of the Town of Kingston, most respectfully beg leave to express the sense we entertain of the deep interest which your Excellency has always taken in the improvement and welfare of the Province; and which is in a particular manner evinced by the occasion of your Excellency's present visit to the newly settled Townships, in the Districts of Bathurst and Newcastle.

The recent emigration from Europe, under the support and encouragement of His Majesty's Ministers calls for our acknowledgements, as a most gratifying proof of the steadfast anxiety which that bounteous and beneficient Government has ever manifested in cherishing the interests of this favored Colony; and we hail it as the first fruits of a system, which, while it may relieve the United Kingdom of a redundant population, will, at the same time, transform our solitary wastes into fruitful fields and accelerate our progress in the road to prosperity, and political importance.

We beg leave to assure your Excellency, that, as Inhabitants of the most considerable Town in the Province, we feel a just gratitude for the liberal policy exhibited by the Imperial Parliament in its late Acts, regulating Colonial commerce; and though, in their numerous and comprehensive provisions, those Acts may in some respects, operate unfavorably on our trade we are confident that such modifications will readily be made in them, as circumstances, when fairly represented, may appear to require.

We cannot disguise from your Excellency the profound regret we experienced, on observing the manner in which the late gracious recommendation of His Majesty, in behalf of certain Inhabitants of this Province, whose civil rights are questioned, was met by the Representatives of the People. It has always been our most earnest wish that those persons, whom the Law denominates Aliens, and who, by their attachment and devotion to our beloved Monarch in the late War with the United States, proved themselves worthy of his gracious protection, should be admitted to a full and equal participation in the high and envied privileges of British subjects. It was, therefore, with joy that we saw a prospect of our wishes being realized in the generous measure recommended to the Legislature by His Majesty's Ministers, at the urgent solicitation of your Excellency—a joy, equalled only by our disappointment at the extraordinary failure of the measure, in a quarter where it ought to have been most zealously supported. While we deplore an event, which thus leaves a respectable portion of the Inhabitants of this Province exposed, as formerly, to the danger of being regarded as Aliens, we feel assured that all persons, who are not under the influence of a momentary delusion, will gratefully acknowledge the benevolence of His Majesty's Government, in proposing the measure which has been unhappily rejected, as well as the anxious assiduity with which your Excellency, in pressing it on the consideration of that Government, labored to obviate every cause of disquietude.

Fully sensible that it is the first desire of your heart to develope the resources, arouse the dormant energies, and futher the general welfare of the Province committed to your charge, we crave permission to declare the perfect confidence we have in the wisdom, integrity, and beneficence, of your Excellency's Administration, and our ardent hope that, high as your Excellency justly stands in the esteem and favor of our most gracious Sovereign, Upper Canada may long continue to enjoy the felicity of beholding its Councils guided by your Excellency's auspicious and fostering influence.

To which His Excellency was pleased to make the following Reply:—

Gentlemen,

I am much gratified by your Loyal and affectionate Address.

The satisfaction I have derived from inspecting the new settlements, which was the principal object of my journey, has been much increased by the assurances I have every where received of the just sense entertained by the People of this Colony of the protection and assistance afforded to them by the Mother Country.

In nothing, perhaps, are these advantages more remarkable, than in that wise, humane, and liberal, policy, which has removed, at the expense of the British Treasury, so many of your fellow subjects from a portion of the United Kingdom, to become peaceable and industrious Inhabitants of this Province, and to transform, as you have truly expressed it, our solitary wastes into fertile fields. Had you all possessed the opportunity I have just enjoyed, of witnessing the present condition of these emigrants, and of judging from thence of their future prospects, your admiration of that policy and your confidence of its beneficial results, could not fail to be increased.

I am happy to observe your gratitude for the eminent advantages conferred upon this Colony by the great changes, recently adopted by Great Britain, in her system of Colonial Trade. The liberal spirit which has dictated these changes, can be best discerned by comparing the regulations, to which the Trade of the British American Colonies is now subject, with those which were formerly in force: their effect is abundantly seen in the increased commerce of these Provinces; and while the general principles are so highly advantageous, if from our geographical position there are some inconveniences in the particular application of them to ourselves, the people of Upper Canada are the last portion of His Majesty's subjects who will doubt the readiness of the Imperial Government to admit of any modification, which they may reasonably desire, and which would not be incompatible with the general interests of the Empire.

I trust that in every reflection on this subject, we shall not fail to remember, that from the extensive and various Colonial Possessions of Great Britain, and her maritime ascendancy, the People of Upper Canada enjoy commercial advantages in their connection with the Empire, which the Government of no other Country could possibly confer upon its subjects.

The sentiments you have expressed upon a subject, which has lately occupied much public attention, coincide with those which have been conveyed to me, by a great portion of very respectable Inhabitants, in my progress through the Province. It is evident that when, at the desire of His Majesty's Government, I suggested the measure intended for the relief of that portion of our Inhabitants who had come from the United States of America, I could not have supposed that there was room for any feeling, but that of thankfulness to the Government for its solicitude to remove every ground of inconvenience, and disquiet. If His Majesty's gracious recommendation can have been made the occasion of exciting in the minds of any individuals a distrust of the Government, as little congenial to the feelings of the people of this Province, as it is conducive to their true interests, it proves only how the best intentions may be perverted; and what difficulties are to be encountered in accomplishing the most desirable public objects.

The explicit declaration of your opinion, shews that you have not failed to understand, or to appreciate the conduct and intentions, of His Majesty's Government, beneficient, on this, as on every other occasion, in which the welfare of Upper Canada is involved.

For your kind expressions of confidence in my Government, I beg you will accept my sincere thanks. I feel how much is due from me to the interests of a Colony, so valuable in itself, and so particularly the object of His Majesty's paternal regard. I have seen with pleasure its very rapid improvement, and my most anxious endeavours shall continue to be devoted to promote its interests.

In the erection of your public buildings, and in the general appearance of this Town, I perceive very gratifying proofs of its increasing prosperity and importance, to which I shall be most happy, at all times, to contribute.

CHAP IV.

An Act to Repeal part of an Act passed in the Thirty sixth Year of His late Majesty's Reign, entitled, "An Act for the better regulation of certain Coins Current in this Province, and to make further Provision for the regulation of the British Silver and Copper Coinage Current in the Province.

[Passed 30th Jan. 1826.]

WHEREAS an Act was passed in the Thirty sixth Year of His late Majesty's Reign entitled, "An Act for the better regulation of certain Coins Current in this Province, by which it is enacted that among other Silver Coins by the said Act made current in this Province the Silver Coins hereinafter mentioned shall pass Current, and be deemed a legal tender at the rates following, that is to say:—The British Crown at Five Shillings and Six Pence—The British Shilling at One Shilling and a Penny—The Spanish milled Dollar at Five Shillings, equal to Four Shillings and Six Pence sterling money of Great Britain—The American Dollar at Five Shillings, and all the higher and lower denominations thereof in the same proportion respectively;—And whereas it appears by an Official Communication from His Majesty's Government that according to the contents in pure silver, and of the value computed at the rate of Five Shilling and Two Pence per ounce, Troy of British standard fineness the Spanish Dollar, and also the Dollar of the United States of America, are only equal in value to the sum of Four Shillings & Four Pence, sterling money of Great Britain, and that the same Coins are to be issued at those rates, when the British Coin is not in the Military chest for the pay of the British Troops in the Colonies: And whereas His Majesty's Government having taken into consideration the expediency of establishing the British metalic currency as the circulating medium of all the Colonial Possessions of the Crown, an order of His Majesty in Council has been made declaring that a tender or payment of British Silver Coin to the amount of Four Shillings and Four Pence should be considered as equivalent to the tender or payment of One Spanish Dollar, and so in proportion of any greater or less amount of debt, and also, that British Copper money should be made a legal tender to the amount of Twelve Pence in one payment for its due and proper proportion of British Silver money. And whereas measures have been taken by His Majesty's Government for facilitating the Currency of British Silver Coin within this Province, on terms highly advantageous to the holders of such Coins, and in order to give effect to the intentions of His Majesty's Government it is expedient to give to such British Silver Coin its fair relative value in respect to other Silver Coins whose value has been fixed by Law in this Province.

Be it therefore enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Legislative Council and Assembly of the Province of Upper Canada, constituted and assembled, by virtue of and under the authority of an Act passed in the Parliament of Great Britain entitled, "An Act to repeal certain parts of an Act passed in the fourteenth year of His Majesty's Reign, entitled, "An Act for making more effectual Provision for the Government of the Province of Quebec in North America, and to make further Provision for the Government of the said Province,' and by the authority of the same, That from and after the passing of this Act, the Silver Coins hereinafter mentioned shall pass current and be deemed a legal tender in payment of all debts and demands whatsoever in this Province at the rates following, that is to say:—The British Crown at Five Shillings and Nine Pence—The British Shilling at One Shilling and Two Pence, and that all the higher and lower denominations of the said Silver Coins shall also pass current and be deemed a legal tender in payment of all debts and demands whatsoever in this Province in the same proportions respectively.

II. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That British Copper money shall pass current and be deemed a legal tender in payment of all debts and demands whatsoever in this Province according to the due and proper proportion of such Copper money to the British Silver Coins hereinbefore mentioned, Provided always, that no person shall be obliged to receive, at any one payment, more than the sum of one shilling currency of this Province in Copper money, and that in all payments not exceeding one shilling current money of this Province, Ten Pence shall be deemed equivalent to One Shilling, and all higher and lower denominations in the same proportion.

III. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the sum of Seventeen Shillings and Four Pence, of British Silver and Copper money, shall pass as equivalent and be equal to the sum of Twenty Shillings of the current money of this Province.

IV. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That so much of the said Act, passed in the Thirty-sixth year of His said late Majesty's Reign, as declared the value at which any British Silver Coins shall pass current in this Province, shall be and the same is hereby repealed.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To our beloved and faithful Legislative Councellors of our Province of Upper Canada, and to our Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses of our said Province; to our Provincial Parliament at our Town of York on Thursday the 9th day of March inst to be Commenced, Held, Called, and Elected, and to every of you—

GREETING:

WHEREAS on the Thirtieth day of January last we thought fit to prorogue our Provincial Parliament to the Ninth day of March instant, at which time, at our Town of York, you were held and constrained to appear.

NOW KNOW YE, that we taking into our Royal consideration the ease and convenience of our loving subjects, have thought fit, by and with the advice of our Executive Council, to relieve you and each of you of your attendance at the time aforesaid, hereby convoking and by these presents enjoining you and each of you that on Monday the Seventeenth day of April next ensuing, you meet us in our Provincial Parliament at our Town of York, there to take into consideration the state and welfare of our Province of Upper Canada, and therein to do as may seem necessary, and herein fail not.

C. B Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York, this 8th day of March in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty-six, and in the Seventh Year of our reign.

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command.
John B. Robinson, Attorney General.
D. Cameron, Secretary

To His Excellency Major General Sir Peregrine Maitland, K. C. B Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada, &c. &c. &c.

May it please your Excellency,

We, His Majesty's dutiful and Loyal subjects, the Magistrates and other Inhabitants of the Town of Perth, and its vicinity, respectfully beg leave to approach your Excellency, to express our congratulations on your arrival in this remote part of the Province.

Since your Excellency's last visit to this District, the population has nearly doubled; and we are happy in being able to bear testimony to the orderly and industrious character of all classes of the settlers sent here by His Majesty's Government.

The causes which at a particular period produced a degree of public ferment and alarm, were removed, when a few disorderly and idle persons left this part of the Country.

We hope your Excellency's time and convenience may permit you to visit different parts of the Settlement, that your own observation may confirm our statements, in favor of the industry of almost every individual settler, whether discharged soldier or emigrant.

On the present occasion we cannot forbear informing your Excellency, that notwithstanding the many difficulties which retard the prosperity of the people of this inland section of the Country, and the consequent depreciated value of all kinds of agricultural produce, they feel the most entire confidence and satisfaction in all the measures pursued by His Majesty's Government for the benefit of the country generally, and the liveliest gratitude for the interest which is manifested towards the part which they inhabit in particular.

We feel proud in being able to assure your Excellency at this time of the most unshaken Loyalty of the people of the Bathurst District, and of their perfect contentment with your Excellency's Administration of the Provincial Government.

That your Excellency may long enjoy health and every other blessing, is our sincere desire.

To which His Excellency was pleased to make the following Reply:—

Gentlemen,

Your Loyal and affectionate address is highly acceptable to me.

I am much gratified by the expression of your confidence in the measures of His Majesty's Government: they will speedily, I hope, be found to produce effects in every part of the Province, answerable to the liberal and beneficial views which led to their adoption.

I am happy to find that the people of this District have been so justly alive to the importance of that great object of internal improvement, which his Majesty's Government has so liberally offered to promote; and I trust the day is not far distant when so desirable a measure may be happily accomplished.

The very rapid increase of population in this District, gives additional importance to your satisfactory testimony of the orderly and industrious character of all classes of its inhabitants. Where this character prevails, the progress of improvement in a British Colony cannot be slow or uncertain. Indeed, the change in the appearance of your Town, and its vicinity, afford a gratifying specimen of these interesting Settlements, to the welfare of which it will always give me particular pleasure to contribute. With the disposition to industry and good order, every where observable, I can foresee nothing likely to retard the prosperity or interrupt the peace of this very flourishing District: more particularly if there, as in other parts of the Province, those Associations are discontinued, which have their rise in distinctions of religion and which there can be no reason in this Country for maintaining.

Gentlemen, I set a due value on the favourable sentiments with which you have regarded my Administration of the Government; and for the good wishes you have so kindly expressed towards myself, I beg you to accept my sincere acknowledgements.

To His Excellency Sir Peregrine Maitland, Knight Commander of the Most Honorable Military Order of the Bath, Lieutenant Governor in and over the Province of Upper Canada, and Major General Commanding His Majesty's Forces therein, &c &c &c.

May it please your Excellency,

We, His Majesty's most dutiful and Loyal subjects, Freeholders of the County of Carleton, in the Bathurst District, beg leave to approach your Excellency, to offer our warmest expressions of thanks for the great interest which your Excellency has so often evinced, for our prosperity, and which is so strongly exemplified in the visit with which you have now been pleased to honor us.

We entreat Your Excellency to be assured, that we now do, and ever shall, hold in grateful remembrance, the fostering care of His Most Gracious Majesty and His Government, through which, under Divine Providence, we are now enjoying every comfort, which our most sanguine expectations could have anticipated.

We cannot avoid expressing to Your Excellency the indignation which we have felt, on witnessing the base and malicious attempts of a few disaffected individuals in this Province, to excite discontent amongst a portion of its inhabitants; but we entertain a firm confidence, that the experience which the Province has had of the wise, benign, and impartial Administration of its Government by your Excellency, will fully defeat such wicked designs, and in the end entail on their authors that infamy which is so much their due

We have proud satisfaction in declaring to your Excellency, and we do so with confidence of being believed, that no such feeling exists amongst the inhabitants of this County.

And with sincere wishes for your Excellency's prosperity, and a safe and happy return to your family, we subscribe ourselves,

Your Excellency's
Most faithful and obdt. Servants.

To which His Excellency was pleased to make the following reply:—

Gentlemen,

I have been exceedingly gratified in this visit to the County of Carleton, to observe the great improvements which a very few years have produced in that part of it through which I have passed. It will ever be matter of just congratulation to His Majesty's Government, whose policy in the commencement and fostering of these Settlements has been so marked with kindness and liberality, to learn with what industry you have improved the advantages extended to you, and how grateful a recollection you retain of His Majesty's goodness.

I have every reason to believe that the feelings of contentment & satisfaction which you have expressed, and which I am aware you entertain, prevail very generally throughout this Province; and with this conviction, and the knowledge of the many blessings which his Majesty's subjects enjoy, in this highly favored Colony, I cannot but persuade myself, that any efforts to excite discontent will be soon discountenanced, as equally hostile to their character, and to their welfare.

I thank you, Gentlemen, for the kind wishes you have expressed towards myself personally: and you may be assured that it will ever afford me great satisfaction, to advance your happiness and prosperity.

To His Excellency Major General Sir Peregrine Maitland, K C B. Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada, &c. &c. &c.

May it please your Excellency,

We, the undersigned Inhabitants of the District of Ottawa, humbly beg leave to approach Your Excellency with our loyal congratulations upon your arrival in the District.

In declaring to Your Excellency the satisfaction which we experience on the occasion; we should do injustice to our own feelings if we did not at the same time express our gratitude for the many blessings and advatages which we enjoy, in common with the rest of His Majesty's loyal subjects in this Province, under your Excellency's Administration.

We consider the District in which we reside as being more particularly bound to make this acknowledgement as several of the projected public improvements which have either originated or been most warmly supported in Your Excellency's Counsels are calculated to operate most beneficially upon the District of Ottawa in particular. Amongst these improvements we would mention the proposed Canal on the Rideau—a plan which is honourable alike to your Excellency's Administration and to the liberality of the Imperial Government.

In surveying the magnificent tract of country which surrounds your Excellency, some regret must undoubtedly be felt at the consideration that so much fertile land should remain as yet untenanted and unimproved; but this regret will, we are sure, be amply balanced by the gratifying certainty that the Ottawa District, finely peopled as it is, yields to no other in the Province in the loyalty and peaceableness of its inhabitants, or the proportionate extent of capital and industry which it contains. And further, we are confident, that the Statute commonly called the 'Absentee Land Tax Bill,' and which, of itself, entitles the Administration of your Excellency to the lasting gratitude of the Province, will effect a most pleasing change in the appearance of the District.

On themes so agreeable we might much longer expatiate; but the activity and enterprise which Your Excellency witnesses throughout the Country, are a better eulogium than any pen could furnish—We pray that the labours and designs, which so anxiously occupy the consideration of Your Excellency for the benefit of the Province, may be crowned with the success they merit and the satisfaction which they ought to bestow.

To which His Excellency was pleased to make the following Reply:—

Gentlemen,

I beg you to accept my sincere thanks for this loyal and affectionate address.

I have derived the greatest satisfaction from my journey through this part of my Government; the District which you inhabit possesses so great advantages of soil & situation that population must be inevitably attracted to it, and its cultivation can not fail to be rapidly accelerated however it shall be found practicable to carry into effect the great work to which you allude. Of this the very liberal disposition of the Mother Country affords the most encouraging prospect, and you may be assured that no effort of mine shall be wanting to its accomplishment, or for promoting any other object that can add to your welfare.

In Council 21st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as Settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepared in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District.

2. All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and not appropriated for public purposes, will be offered for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3. All persons proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts, on payment of a fee of 2s. 6d.

4. All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5. The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments, as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement—A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6. On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply, in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8. Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions.

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing, through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form. Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres.

11. No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending in the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12. A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase.

14. Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it.

15. Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hundred Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On failure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant. It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16. No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessary expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17. Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprized in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18. Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of these general Rules.

19. U. E. Loyalists and other persons entitled to gratuitous Grants by the general regulation of His Majesty's Government, are not to be affected by these Rules.

The above Rules to take effect from the first of January 1826.

By Order of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor.

Also, saving and excepting a small piece containing about one half Acre of Land, Leased or intended to be Leased by the said Anthony McCrady, to one John Schoefield,) which I shall expose for occasion; we should do injustice to our own feelings if we did not at the same time express our gratitude for the many blessings and advatages which we enjoy, in common with the rest of His Majesty's loyal subjects in this Province, under your Excellency's Administration.

We consider the District in which we reside as being more particularly bound to make this acknowledgement as several of the projected public improvements which have either originated or been most warmly supported in Your Excellency's Counsels are calculated to operate most beneficially upon the District of Ottawa in particular. Amongst these improvements we would mention the proposed Canal on the Rideau—a plan which is honourable alike to your Excellency's Administration and to the liberality of the Imperial Government.

In surveying the magnificent tract of country which surrounds your Excellency, some regret must undoubtedly be felt at the consideration that so much fertile land should remain as yet untenanted and unimproved; but this regret will, we are sure, be amply balanced by the gratifying certainty that the Ottawa District, finely peopled as it is, yields to no other in the Province in the loyalty and peaceableness of its inhabitants, or the proportionate extent of capital and industry which it contains. And further, we are confident, that the Statute commonly called the 'Absentee Land Tax Bill,' and which, of itself, entitles the Administration of your Excellency to the lasting gratitude of the Province, will effect a most pleasing change in the appearance of the District.

On themes so agreeable we might much longer expatiate; but the activity and enterprise which Your Excellency witnesses throughout the Country, are a better eulogium than any pen could furnish—We pray that the labours and designs, which so anxiously occupy the consideration of Your Excellency for the benefit of the Province, may be crowned with the success they merit and the satisfaction which they ought to bestow.

To which His Excellency was pleased to make the following Reply:—

Gentlemen,

I beg you to accept my sincere thanks for this loyal and affectionate address.

I have derived the greatest satisfaction from my journey through this part of my Government; the District which you inhabit possesses so great advantages of soil & situation that population must be inevitably attracted to it, and its cultivation can not fail to be rapidly accelerated however it shall be found practicable to carry into effect the great work to which you allude. Of this the very liberal disposition of the Mother Country affords the most encouraging prospect, and you may be assured that no effort of mine shall be wanting to its accomplishment, or for promoting any other object that can add to your welfare.

In Council 21st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as Settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepared in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District.

2. All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and not appropriated for public purposes, will be offered for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3. All persons proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts, on payment of a fee of 2s. 6d.

4. All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5. The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments, as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement—A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6. On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply, in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8. Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions.

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing, through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form. Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres.

11. No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending in the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12. A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase.

14. Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it.

15. Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hundred Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On failure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant. It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16. No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessary expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17. Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprized in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18. Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of these general Rules.

19. U. E. Loyalists and other persons entitled to gratuitous Grants by the general regulation of His Majesty's Government, are not to be affected by these Rules.

The above Rules to take effect from the first of January 1826.

By Order of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To our beloved and faithful Legislative Councellors of our Province of Upper Canada, and to our Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses of our said Province; to our Provincial Parliament at our Town of York on Thursday the 9th day of March next to be Commenced, Held, Called, and Elected, and to every of you.—GREETING:

WHEREAS on the Thirtieth day of January last we thought fit to prorogue our Provincial Parliament to the Ninth day of March instant, at which time, at our Town of York, you were held and constrained to appear.

NOW KNOW YE, that we taking into our Royal consideration the ease and convenience of our loving subjects, have thought fit, by and with the advice of our Executive Council, to relieve you and each of you of your attendance at the time aforesaid, hereby convoking and by these presents enjoining you and each of you that on Monday the Seventeenth day of April next ensuing, you meet us, our Provincial Parliament at our Town of York, there to take into consideration the state and welfare of our Province of Upper Canada, and therein to do as may seem necessary, and herein fail not.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York, this 8th day of March in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty-six, and in the Seventh Year of our reign.

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command.
JOHN B. ROBINSON, Attorney General.

Cornwall, 25th Feb. 1826.

This day a number of the Magistrates and respectable Inhabitants of the Eastern District, waited upon His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, at the residence of His Lordship the Catholic Bishop of Upper Canada, and presented the following Address:—

To His Excellency Sir PEREGRINE MAITLAND, &c. &c. &c.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY—

We, The Magistrates, Clergy, and others, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, in the Eastern District, beg leave respectfully to congratulate your Excellency on your arrival in this District, and to express our regret that the public business should compel your Excellency to make so short a stay in a portion of the Province, which we feel a pride in saying is surpassed by none other in attachment to your Excellency, and that glorious Constitution the inestimable boon of our late revered Sovereign, under which, and the fostering care of our present beloved Monarch, we enjoy every blessing a free and loyal people can desire.

Your Excellency's journey through the Province at an inclement season, gives an additional proof of that paternal regard and earnest solicitude, which your Excellency has upon every occasion evinced for the welfare of this infant but thriving colony.

We feel truly grateful for the many marks we have received of His Majesty's gracious consideration for this distant portion of His Dominions The wisdom and liberality that have directed His Councils, are abundantly manifested in the late Acts that have been passed for the regulation of our trade: in the encouragement that has been given to emigration; and in the gracious intentions of His Majesty, communicated by your Excellency at the opening of the late Session of the Provincial Parliament, to confer upon a numerous and highly meritorious class of the Inhabitants of this Province, the transcendently enviable rights and privileges of British subjects.

Though there be few amongst us of this class, yet we feel grateful to your Excellency that the attention of our Most Gracious Sovereign has been called by your Excellency to that important and highly interesting subject—and we regret that His Majesty's gracious intentions have been frustrated (but we trust only for a time) by those from whom the people of this Colony had a right to expect a better proof of regard for their welfare

Confident that the wisdom, firmness, and mildness, that have distinguished your Excellency's Administration, will be persevered in, we beg leave to assure your Excellency, that nursed, as we have been, in the lap of loyalty, and possessing the most enthusiastic attachment to our glorious and invaluable Constitution, no earthly consideration will induce us to swerve from principles so strongly inculcated by our fathers, and that, grateful for the blessings we experience, we will always be found contented under, and ready to support, a Government so warmly alive to the best interests of its people.

[To which the signatures of the Magistrates, Clergy, and about four hundred of the most respectable inhabitants of the District were attached.]

It may be proper to remark, that could it have been known that His Excellency would have been detained beyond the period at which his arrival was expected, three times the number of signatures would have been obtained.]

His Excellency was graciously pleased to return the following answer:—

GENTLEMEN,

I am heartily obliged to you for the very cordial manner in which you have welcomed my arrival in this District. It has given me much pleasure to find so many of you assembled to indulge in a demonstration of loyal feeling to your Government, equally gratifying to me, and honorable to yourselves—and I regret that my detention in an earlier part of my route has subjected you to additional inconvenience, in fulfilling your kind intentions.

The loyal and affectionate sentiments you have expressed could not fail to confirm, were such confirmation wanting, the high idea I have ever entertained of your uniform attachment to His Majesty's Government. It is most satisfactory to me to know that His Majesty's gracious intentions towards a certain class of the inhabitants of this Province are so gratefully acknowledged by you, as I have reason to believe they are by the people in general—and it will be gratifying to you to learn that the same just sentiments which you have expressed have been publicly avowed by many, who have a personal interest in the measure recommended.

I beg, you Gentlemen, to accept my sincere acknowledgements for your kind expressions respecting myself, & to be assured that I deeply feel the conviction that I cannot better discharge my duty to the King, or more gratify my own inclinations, than in promoting the prosperity of the people under my government.

My most anxious endeavours have hitherto been devoted to that end: and I am sure you will readily perceive with how much more effect the interest of the people can be advanced, when those, to whose care they are confided, are supported by that honest and manly confidence, which, I am well aware, it is not your disposition to withhold.

I have observed with much pleasure the indications of a prosperous and contented population, which your District presents; and I shall always continue to take a warm interest in its advancement.

CHAP IV.

An Act to Repeal part of an Act passed in the Thirty sixth Year of His late Majesty's Reign, entitled, "An Act for the better regulation of certain Coins Current in this Province, and to make further Provision for the regulation of the British Silver and Copper Coinage Current in this Province.

[Passed 30th Jan. 1826]

WHEREAS an Act was passed in the Thirty sixth Year of His late Majesty's Reign entitled, "An Act for the better regulation of certain Coins Current in this Province, by which it is enacted that among other Silver Coins by the said Act made current in this Province the Silver Coins hereinafter mentioned shall pass current, and be deemed a legal tender in payment of all debts and demands whatsoever in this Province at the rates following, that is to say:—The British Crown at Five Shillings and Nine Pence—The British Shilling at One Shilling and a Penny—The Spanish milled Dollar at Five Shillings, equal to Four Shillings and Six Pence sterling money of Great Britain—The American Dollar at Five Shillings, and all the higher and lower denominations thereof in the same proportion respectively:—And whereas it appears by an Official Communication from His Majesty's Government that according to the contents in pure silver, and of the value computed at the rate of Five Shilling and Two Pence per ounce, Troy of British standard fineness the Spanish Dollar, and also the Dollar of the United States of America, are only equal in value to the sum of Four Shillings & Four Pence, sterling money of Great Britain, and that the same Coins are to be issued at those rates, when the British Coin is not in the Military chest for the pay of the British Troops in the Colonies: And whereas His Majesty's Government having taken into consideration the expediency of establishing the British metallic currency as the circulating medium of all the Colonial Possessions of the Crown, an order of His Majesty in Council has been made declaring that a tender or payment of British Silver Coin to the amount of Four Shillings and Four Pence should be considered as equivalent to the tender or payment of One Spanish Dollar, and so in proportion of any greater or less amount of debt, and also, that British Copper money should be made a legal tender to the amount of Twelve Pence in one payment for its due and proper proportion of British Silver money. And whereas measures have been taken by His Majesty's Government for facilitating the Currency of British Silver Coin within this Province, on terms highly advantageous to the holders of such Coins, and in order to give effect to the intentions of His Majesty's Government it is expedient to give to such British Silver Coin its fair relative value in respect to other Silver Coins whose value has been fixed by Law in this Province.

Be it therefore enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Legislative Council and Assembly of the Province of Upper Canada, constituted and assembled, by virtue of and under the authority of an Act passed in the Parliament of Great Britain entitled, "An Act to repeal certain parts of an Act passed in the fourteenth year of His Majesty's Reign, entitled, "An Act for making more effectual Provision for the Government of the Province of Quebec in North America, and to make further Provision for the Government of the said Province," and by the authority of the same, That from and after the passing of this Act, the Silver Coins hereinafter mentioned shall pass current and be deemed a legal tender in payment of all debts and demands whatsoever in this Province at the rates following, that is to say:—The British Crown at Five Shillings and Nine Pence—The British Shilling at One Shilling and Two Pence, and that all the higher and lower denominations of the said Silver Coins shall also pass current and be deemed a legal tender in payment of all debts and demands whatsoever in this Province in the same proportions respectively.

II. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That British Copper money shall pass current and be deemed a legal tender in payment of all debts and demands whatsoever in this Province according to the due and proper proportion of such Copper money to the British Silver Coins hereinbefore mentioned, Provided always, that no person shall be obliged to receive, at any one payment, more than the sum of one shilling currency of this Province in Copper money, and that in all payments not exceeding one shilling current money of this Province, Ten Pence shall be deemed equivalent to One Shilling, and all higher and lower denominations in the same proportion.

III. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the sum of Seventeen Shillings and Four Pence, of British Silver and Copper money, shall pass as equivalent and be equal to the sum of Twenty Shillings of the current money of this Province.

IV. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That so much of the said Act, passed in the Thirty-sixth year of His said late Majesty's Reign, as declared the value at which any British Silver Coins shall pass current in this Province, shall be and the same is hereby repealed.

At a numerous Meeting of the Inhabitants of the Townships of Bastard, Leeds and Landsdown (in rear) North and South Crosby, held at Beverly, in the County of Leeds, in the District of Johnstown, pursuant to Notice, on the 4th of March, 1826, Joseph K. Hartwell Esq was nominated and appointed Chairman, and Captain Levi Soper, Secretary to the Meeting.

The Chairman explained the object of the Meeting as follows:—

Gentlemen,

The object of this meeting, as I conceive it, is, to take into consideration a subject that cannot fail to interest that portion of the Inhabitants of this Province, who have emigrated from Foreign Countries, and more particularly from the United States since the treaty of 1783.

I am perfectly aware that from the earliest Settlement of Upper Canada, which commenced soon after the peace of 1783, many persons came into this Province from the United States expecting to enjoy, (with no other restrictions than those imposed by our Provincial Legislature,) all the rights and privileges of British born Subjects; but in consequence of not having complied with the naturalization laws of this Province, I deeply regret that my claim, as well as the claim, of many of you present, and others in this Province, to the rights of British Subjects, are by a late decision of the Courts of Law in England, liable to be impeached.

His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor of the Province being well aware that such a decision would seriously affect quite a large portion of the Inhabitants of Upper Canada, and having most evidently their interest at heart, has earnestly pressed the subject upon the consideration of His Majesty's Government, and by Message informed both Houses of our Provincial Parliament in the last Session, that he had received His Majesty's express sanction to assent to an enactment of our own Legislature conferring upon all persons then in this Province all the rights of British Born Subjects.

A Bill was sent down from the Honorable the Legislative Council to the House of Assembly, the object of which was to secure those rights which we have hitherto enjoyed:—and had this Bill been received by a majority of the House in the same spirit in which His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor so kindly communicated it, this political question would have been set at rest, but to my great surprise, it was received in an extraordinary manner, and ultimately lost.

Gentlemen, we are told by the solemn decision of His Majesty's Judges in England, that many persons now in this Province are liable to have their rights, which they have hitherto enjoyed, impeached, and yet the majority of the House of Assembly say, that they need no aid:—How far the majority of the House of Assembly are liable to censure on this, or other important subjects, I leave you to decide. I will ask if you would believe that Physician, who tells you, when you are labouring under an alarming disease, that you are not ill, that no remedy is necessary; no Gentlemen, such conduct carries a conviction of its absurdity with it.

It gives me much pleasure, in having it in my power, to inform such of you, whose rights as I before mentioned, are liable to be questioned, that notwithstanding the majority of the House of Assembly has not given the subject that attention it deserved, that we, (I say because I number myself with you,) are not left without a remedy, those flattering hopes which we have so long cherished are by no means blighted; our most gracious and much beloved Sovereign is willing to receive us as his subjects, is willing we should enjoy, without restriction, those rights and privileges, which must ever remain dear to ourselves and posterity.

I have recently witnessed with lively satisfaction and gratitude, the deep interest which His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor expressed in our behalf, in the kind and affectionate answer made to the Address of the Court in Brockville; and what cannot fail to afford us infinite pleasure, is to find that the minority of the House of Assembly and more particularly the Members of the District of Johnstown on this, as on all other occasions have not lost sight of the real interest of their constituents; the opposition made by them to the resolutions which I hold in my hand adopted by a majority of the House of Assembly on the Alien question, must, I am sure, induce you to concur in my belief, and if any further evidence is necessary to establish this fact and confirm our confidence in them, as our representatives, I will merely name the Rideau Canal, in favour of which the Members of this District were unremitting in their exertions

After which the following Resolutions were then proposed by the Chairman and unanimously adopted.

The following ADDRESS was presented to His Excellency, Sir Peregrine Maitland, at Prescott on the 28th of February, 1826.

May it please your Excellency,

We, the undersigned Magistrates, Clergy, and Inhabitants of the County of Grenville, embrace with great satisfaction the occasion of your Excellency's appearance among us, at a moment when our neighboring Towns and Counties in this section of the Province, are unanimous in their expressions of loyalty and attachment to your person and government, to join in the general voice, by assuring your Excellency, that in no part of this Province is the upright and paternal administration of your Government more sensibly appreciated, than in the County of Grenville: and being conscientiously able to ascribe such attributes to your Excellency, we have therein additional reason to congratulate ourselves, that your Excellency is the organ of imparting to us the wise and beneficent measures and institutions of the great and powerful state to which we owe our allegiance, and which have lately in an eminent degree flowed from the Councils of our beloved Sovereign.

Among the numerous acts of solicitude for the best interests of every class of people in this Province, constantly evinced by His Majesty, we cannot omit this occasion to acknowledge to your Excellency, that, of the gracious communication made through your Excellency to the Legislature in recent Session, having for its object to relieve from doubts and apprehensions of their political condition, a most loyal and respectable part of the Inhabitants of Upper Canada, which we perceive, with the deepest regret, has been frustrated by proceedings equally unsuited to the paternal sentiments of the Royal mind, and the actual situation and merits of those concerned. We derive a consolation, however, from the conviction that the great mass of these deserving persons, cherish a grateful desire that these sentiments may still obtain effect through a higher parliamentary medium.

The anxiety which your Excellency evinces for the prosperity of our infant settlements, by your recent visits to them, demands our warmest gratitude, and we trust, will be auspicious in their future advancement, and accelerate them in the attainment of that state of comfort, contentment and political strength, which under the fostering care of a generous government, aided by the wholesome accession of settlers from the United Kingdom, they, with the whole of this Province, cannot fail ere long to arrive at.

We beg to conclude, by assuring your Excellency, that while we sincerely declare a unanimity and cordiality of feeling throughout the country on our public interests, whatever political agitations may eventually arise, we will never swerve from a firm undeviating support of the great leading principles of our constitution and laws, on which our distinct privileges and enjoyments, as members of the British family are founded.

To which His Excellency was pleased to make the following Reply:—

Gentlemen,

Your Loyal and affectionate Address demands my warmest acknowledgements.

It has afforded me the highest satisfaction to receive in those parts of the province which I have recently visited, the same assurance of a grateful sense of the fostering care of your beloved Sovereign, and of contentment under the Administration of the Government of this Colony, which I have so cordially expressed.

The very rapid improvements which I observe in this County is the best proof that you diligently avail yourselves of the many advantages which the present happy state of this Province presents to its peaceful and industrious inhabitants.

The wise and liberal measures recently pursued by the parent state for aiding emigration from Ireland cannot fail to add much to the strength and resources of this Province, and is a striking additional instance of His Majesty's paternal care for its welfare.

The sentiments you have expressed in relation to a measure recommended by me to the Legislature in the last session, by His Majesty's command, are extremely satisfactory. I am aware that the County of Grenville contains many intelligent and meritorious inhabitants who have a personal concern in the question involved; and I am gratified to learn that they have the good sense rightly to appreciate the kind intention of the government towards them.

I feel no doubt, gentlemen, of your strong attachment to our excellent constitution, and that I shall ever find you ready to maintain it: and you may rest assured that no exertions on my part shall be wanting to contribute to your welfare.

On Tuesday evening, the 28th ult. His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor arrived in this Town; and on the morning of the 1st inst the following Address was presented by Mr. Justice Sherwood, accompanied by a number of Magistrates and Gentlemen of the place.

To His Excellency Sir Peregrine Maitland, K. C. B Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada, &c. &c &c

May it please your Excellency,

We, the Inhabitants of the Town of Brockville, beg leave, humbly to address your Excellency upon your again visiting this District; and to express our approbation of your Excellency's administration of the Government of this Province, as the Representative of our most Gracious King. An administration the results of which cannot fail to produce the most beneficial and lasting effects to this portion of His Majesty's dominions.

The continued improvement, and the growing wealth and prosperity of this Colony, call for the grateful acknowledgements of a loyal and contented people. The internal navigation of the Province, commenced and carried on under the auspicious of your Excellency, the equal assessment of the wild lands of the Province, an Act in which your Excellency exerted a most lively interest, and the extensive settlements of the waste lands of the Crown, made under the superintendance of your Excellency, must ever be considered as showing most satisfactorily the disposition of your Excellency to pursue measures eminently tending to increase the welfare and prosperity of the Province; while the emigration from Great Britain and Ireland, under the fostering care of His Majesty's Government, affords a cheering prospect of an increasing accession to our loyal population.

The munificence of His Majesty's government in sending to our happy soil, and supporting for a period after their arrival here, great numbers of emigrants, will ever receive our sincere acknowledgements. The anxiety on the part of your Excellency, manifested by your repeated applications (unaided by the support of either branch of the Provincial Legislature) to the Imperial Government, graciously to confer all the rights and privileges of British Born Subjects on all persons settled in the Province, from whencesoever, or under whatsoever circumstances they may have come, will ever receive our warmest thanks, and the thanks of those who stand in need of the boon and are willing to accept it as such; and we humbly request that your Excellency will continue your praise worthy and disinterested exertions in behalf of that portion of the Inhabitants of this Province who were born in foreign countries, to procure an Imperial enactment conferring upon such of them as stand in need of, and desire them, all the civil and political rights which they have hitherto enjoyed unquestioned in as full and ample a manner as the same are now enjoyed by natural born British subjects.

To which His Excellency was pleased to make the following Reply:—

Gentlemen,

I thank you very sincerely for your Loyal and affectionate Address.

I have observed with much satisfaction the great & evident improvement, which, within a few years, has been effected in the several parts of this District which I have had it in my power to visit: and I have not less pleasure in finding that you so gratefully appreciate the many blessings you enjoy, and that you possess that feeling of contentment, which can alone give value and security to the most prosperous condition

With respect to those particular measures of which you have spoken in terms of warm approbation, you do me justice in believing that my most zealous exertions were used for their accomplishment, and you may be assured that I shall continue to notice, with the most anxious solicitude, their effects upon the welfare of this valuable and highly favoured Colony.

The very munificent policy of the mother country displayed on many occasions that deeply concern our interests, and particularly in affording such liberal assistance to persons emigrating from the United Kingdom to this Colony, has made that impression upon you, which it might have been expected to produce on the minds of an intelligent and grateful people.

The candid and decided manner in which you have expressed your sentiments upon a measure which has been made the occasion of much misrepresentation, are highly satisfactory to myself personally, and cannot but have a tendency beneficial to those for whom, in common with the Government, you feel a natural and warm interest.

You may be assured, that upon every occasion which can affect the peace and welfare of this province, it will continue to be my most ardent wish to pursue the course most likely to lead to a happy result; and it is entirely unnecessary that I should remark to you with how much more effect a government can act, when it receives the just and cordial support of those whose welfare it studies to promote.

To His Excellency Sir Peregrine Maitland K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada, &c, &c, &c

May it please Your Excellency

We, Justices of the Peace, Grand and Petit Jury of the General Quarter Sessions, and other Inhabitants of the District of Johnstown attending at the Court, beg leave to congratulate your Excellency, upon your appearance in this part of the Province, and to assure you, that this visit cannot fail to give pleasure to every person who feels an interest in the welfare of the country, in as much as it affords your Excellency an opportunity of personally witnessing the general prosperity, and what is not less essential, of becoming intimately acquainted with the wants of this portion of His Majesty's Province.

We feel ourselves called upon to acknowledge that we have witnessed with lively satisfaction, the zeal and interest which your Excellency has upon all occasions manifested, where the general improvement of this Province has been in question; we not only allude to the beneficial alterations made by the Imperial Legislature in respect to the trade of this Province; but we also, allude more particularly to internal improvements by Canal Navigation. By the Trade Laws we have already experienced many beneficial results, by the high price we receive for our Agricultural productions, when compared to the prices received by our neighbours on the opposite side of the St Lawrence; and should any part of the regulation referred to, be found to affect our trade unfavourably, we entertain no doubt but the government of the Mother Country will, most readily, make any reasonable and necessary amendments when applied for by the two branches of the Legislature of this Province, and recommended by your Excellency—and we come to this conclusion the more readily, as we have witnessed with much satisfaction and heartfelt gratitude to our benign Sovereign, that all application thus made, within the last six years, have never failed of producing the desired effect.

The proposed Rideau Canal, and the improvement of the navigation of the St. Lawrence, if carried into execution, cannot fail of being productive of incalculable benefits to the Province: and we trust that these improvements will continue to receive the warm support and encouragement of your Excellency.

The continual and extensive emigration to this Province from the Mother Country, fostered and encouraged by the Imperial Government, must contribute largely to the improvement and resources of this Colony.

The interest which your Excellency was pleased to take in the Act making permanent the Land Assessment Law, and providing effectual means for the recovery of the taxes, is in our opinion, a strong evidence of your Excellency's determination to promote equal justice under your administration

By this Act not only the non resident proprietors of Lands in this Province are compelled to pay their just proportion of taxes, for the benefit of roads and general purposes of the District, but the resident extensive Land holders are taught that they cannot, as heretofore, evade the payment of large sums by forfeiting the trifling penalty of forty shillings; they must now pay in proportion to the property they possess

We regret that the gracious recommendation of His Majesty's Government, as communicated by your Excellency to the two branches of the Legislature, to confer upon all persons settled in this Province, coming from the United States and elsewhere, (whose claims as British subjects are liable to be impeached,) all the rights and privileges of natural born subjects was not received by a majority of the House of Assembly in the same spirit in which it was made and communicated.

Under the solemn decision of His Majesty's Judges in England; and after the light which has been elicited by the discussions in the House of Assembly, we feel constrained to acknowledge, that the rights of some of the inhabitants of this Province are liable to be called in question, in consequence of their not having strictly complied with the naturalization laws; at the same time we beg leave to assure your Excellency, that we feel the most unqualified confidence in the wisdom, liberality, and justice of His Majesty's Government; and that we, therefore, rest assured that whenever an application shall be properly and respectfully made, that the Imperial Parliament, under the recommendation of His Majesty, will no hesitate to confer upon all the inhabitants of this Province, all the rights and privileges of British born Subjects; and if any other evidence were necessary to induce this confidence and belief, the generous offer communicated by your Excellency to both Houses of the Legislature most abundantly affords it; an offer emanating, no doubt, from the earnest and repeated solicitations of your Excellency, unaided by either branch of the Legislature.

We are unwilling to believe that a majority of the House of Assembly could have been upon this occasion, or would upon any other, be governed by improper feelings: on the contrary we are led to believe that many individuals who voted with the majority, were impressed with a belief that they were pursuing the course best calculated to promote the interests of the inhabitants in question: but in this we apprehend they were mistaken.

We trust that your Excellency will not cease to interest yourself for that class of individuals, by making such representations to His Majesty's Government as may lead to the removal of all doubts upon this important political question; and we hope that the Imperial Parliament may deem it expedient, to pass an act conferring upon all persons residing in this Province, whose political rights are liable to be impeached, (and who deserve it) all the rights and privileges possessed and enjoyed by British born subjects.

And now may it please your Excellency, we beg leave to be permitted to wish you a safe return to your family at the seat of Government, and at the same time to express our satisfaction at your past, and our confidence in your future administration of the Government of this Province: and may you long continue as the Representative of His Majesty to preside over this happy and flourishing Province; enjoying, as you now do, the confidence of your beloved Sovereign and of all the Loyal inhabitants of the Colony.

To which His Excellency was pleased to make the following reply:—

Gentlemen,

Your Address is received by me with much satisfaction.

The kind and affectionate manner in which you have expressed yourselves towards me personally, and the justice you have done to the motives which have actuated me in the administration of the Government, have not failed to make a very grateful impression; and I beg to assure you on my part, that I am not insensible in how great a degree that contentment and prosperity, to which you bear such flattering testimony, and which are indeed so happily evident, may be attributed to the influence which a Loyal enlightened magistracy, and a correct administration of justice by all those to whom it is immediately committed, must necessarily have upon the character and condition of a people.

I have derived great satisfaction from my tour through this portion of the province, in no part of it have I observed more clearly, the effects of the many happy circumstances, which from the kind consideration of our Parent State, combine to promote the prosperity of Upper Canada, than in the impulse which they appear to have imparted to the exertions and industry of the inhabitants of this District. I cannot but think, Gentlemen, that the very just views which you have taken of the measures of His Majesty's Government which affect this colony, do much honor to your understanding, and the warm terms of gratitude in which you have conveyed them, speak not less favourably of your hearts. How highly beneficial are the general effects of the late British Trade Acts to the Commerce and Agriculture of this Province, is abundantly proved by the appearance which this town presents; and it is most gratifying to reflect that whatever particular improvements can be suggested, will meet, if respectfully and properly urged, with the consideration of a Sovereign most solicitous to advance the happiness of his people, and to whom you may be assured your generous expressions of gratitude and confidence will be in a high degree acceptable.

The sentiments which you have so distinctly and candidly expressed in relation to a measure, which I am aware possesses particular interest in this District leave me in no doubt that your feelings and opinions respecting it are in entire accordance with the views which I had taken of it, and upon which I had acted with that sincere desire of which you have so entirely expressed your conviction, to remove all grounds of uneasiness from every class of the Inhabitants of this favoured Colony. I confess the consciousness of being actuated by the best intentions, however satisfactory it might have been to me on mere personal grounds, would not have been entirely satisfactory if, after all that has passed, the people of this Colony had failed to appreciate, generally, both the motives and the character of the measure which I had so long and anxiously solicited, and on account of the open and manly avowal of your sentiments affords me peculiar satisfaction.

You may be assured, Gentlemen, that my conduct, in relation to this measure, shall be governed by the same desire to consult the best interests of the province which it is my study to evince in other acts of my administration. And I cannot forbear avowing that, besides the personal pleasure it affords me to receive this kind expression of your confidence, I set a particular value upon it, from the conviction that the cordial co-operation of the people with their Government, is the best means of ensuring the happiness and advancement of any country.

Bath, 3 March, 1826.

On Thursday the 2nd inst the Magistrates and Principal Inhabitants of Bath, and its Vicinity, waited upon His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, when the annexed Address was presented to him, by the Rev. Mr. Stoughton.

To His Excellency Sir Peregrine Maitland, Knight Commander of the Most Honorable Military Order of the Bath, Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada, and Major General Commanding His Majesty's Forces therein, &c &c. &c.

May it please Your Excellency,

We His Majesty's loyal subjects, the Clergy, Magistrates, and other Inhabitants of the Counties of Lenox and Addington, feel happy in having an opportunity of personally addressing the Representative of our Most Gracious Sovereign, under whose Administration this Province has reaped so many signal benefits

The firmness and wisdom by which your Excellency's conduct has been distinguished on many important occasions, secure us that it will be your Excellency's constant determination to maintain unimpaired, that happy constitution from which the people have derived so many blessings, and to which they look for the security and continuance of those they now possess — the measures which we see in daily progress for the good of the country, command our grateful acknowledgement, and present a cheering prospect of the rapidly increasing prosperity of this highly favoured portion of the British Empire — The Government having expressed their readiness to admit certain persons resident in this Province to all the privileges of British Subjects, and thereby to remove all doubts that may have been entertained as to their civil rights. We cannot but express our deep regret that any circumstance should have occurred to prevent the acceptance of the boon thus graciously offered: and we most heartily appreciate any suspicion that may have been imbibed as to the purity and kindness of the motives which led to this proffer of the British Government.

We take great pleasure in congratulating your Excellency on the improvements that have lately been made in the new settlements by those who have left the land of their fathers to live among us, thereby adding strength to our population, attention to our commerce, improvement to our agriculture, and animation to our industry. And we humbly desire to tender our grateful thanks to your Excellency for the efforts you have so successfully made to increase the emigration from the Mother Country, and the arrangements you have so wisely planned to ensure the comfort, and secure the interest of those who have been induced to seek a home in a distant land.

That your Excellency when you have returned to the bosom of your family, may continue in the enjoyment of health and every other blessings) and that you may long be spared to preside over a people sensible of the advantages they possess under your mild and just administration, is the prayer of all those who have now the honour of addressing you.

Signed by 777 persons, living in these Counties.

His Excellency was graciously pleased to return the following answer:—

Gentlemen,

I thank you for your loyal and affectionate address, and am much gratified by the mark of respect which you have shewn me in assembling to welcome my arrival in your County. I fear that my unavoidable detention in the lower districts, may have produced inconvenience in the arrangements which you had kindly made for that purpose

In those parts of the Province which I have recently visited, I have also served with the greatest satisfaction, every proof of a prosperous and contented population, and it gives me much pleasure to find in the language of your address, that I may entertain fully the same assurance with respect to this portion of the country.

I am happy in perceiving that you so justly appreciate the many causes for congratulation which the people of Upper Canada enjoy; and that the measures of the Parent State ever distinguished by their justice and liberality, have not failed to produce in your minds the most grateful impressions. The kind manner in which you have assured me of your confidence in the motives which govern my administration, and your approbation of the course I have pursued, are highly satisfactory to me: and you do me only justice in believing that I have in nothing more sincerely and ardently desired to promote your interest, than in the measure to which you particularly allude, and which you regret it is not in the power of the Government to effect.

You may be assured, Gentlemen, that I ever have a most entire reliance that the loyalty and good feeling of the people of this Province, will when they are rightly informed, prompt them to do justice to the intentions of their Government and to yield that willing assistance and support, without which advantages the most favourable, must be in a great measure lost.

Hallowell, 1st March, 1826.

On Thursday afternoon the 2d instant, at 4 o'clock, His Excellency Sir Peregrine Maitland, accompanied by his Private Secretary, Major Miller, His Majesty's Attorney General, and the Honourable Peter Robinson, arrived at this place on their return to head quarters.

An Address was presented to His Excellency, signed by a respectable body of the Inhabitants of Hallowell, of which the following is a copy.

To His Excellency Sir Peregrine Maitland, Knight Commander of the Most Honorable Military Order of the Bath, Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada, and Major General Commanding His Majesty's Forces therein, &c &c. &c.

We, His Majesty's dutiful and Loyal subjects the Inhabitants of the Township of Hallowell, beg leave to address your Excellency on your auspicious arrival in this part of the country, from your benevolent tour, which shows that you are alive to the interest and improvement of this infant colony.

Born and brought up under the protection of the British Constitution, and educated in a firm attachment to its principles, we rejoice to see the paternal solicitude displayed by His Majesty and the Imperial Parliament for the prosperity and happiness of their subjects in every part of the world, and cordially hope it may prove a stimulous to our Colonial Legislature, to strive for the improvement of the country and the benefit of the people—laying aside all party intention and discord

We cannot avoid expressing our unfeigned satisfaction at the liberal policy of the British Government, in offering a loan to assist in constructing a Canal from Kingston to the Ottawa, thereby developing the resources of a fertile tract of country, and of an industrious population.

It is with regret we perceive that the much discussed Alien question has not met with that calm and dispassionate discussion in our Legislature which a question of such vital importance to the community merited; yet we have every confidence that the wisdom of the Imperial Parliament will determine it satisfactorily.

With regard to other matters which occupy the public attention, we have no opinion to express, confiding entirely in that wisdom and good policy which has hitherto characterized your Excellency's administration.

To which His Excellency was pleased to return the following answer.

Gentlemen,

I thank you for your Loyal and affectionate Address. The appearances of prosperity which I have every where observed, in my tour through the Province, have given me great satisfaction; and it is sufficiently evident that this County has not made less rapid advances in improvement than other portions of the country

I am happy, gentlemen, to find that you so justly appreciate the very liberal measures which have uniformly characterized His Majesty's Government; and you may be assured, that the confidence with which you rely upon my administration, shall be met by a constant desire on my part to promote the public welfare, by every means in my power.

To His Excellency Sir Peregrine Maitland, Knight Commander of the Most Honorable Military order of the Bath, Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada and Major General Commanding His Majesty's Forces therein, &c &c. &c.

May it please Your Excellency,

We the undersigned, inhabitants of the Carrying Place, and its Vicinity, beg to approach your Excellency to express our attachment to that Constitution, from which we derive advantages such as no other Country has ever experienced from a Parent State; and although not favoured with an earlier opportunity of addressing your Excellency during your present visit to the New Settlements, we assure you that in undisguised respect for your Excellency's person, and unqualified approbation of your administration, we stand second to none.

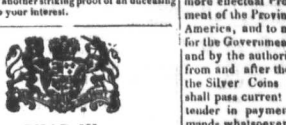
The extensive improvements which you have witnessed in various parts of the Province since you entered upon the Government of this Province, must have afforded your Excellency a high degree of satisfaction; while, to us, they remain standing evidences of the unparalleled benevolence and liberality of that Government whose fostering care and parental affection have been so long bestowed upon us.

We had anticipated the hapiest results from your Excellency's recommendation, and the kind offer of His Majesty's Government in favour of those inhabitants of the Province who now labour under legal disabilities, but we regret that your Excellency's generous views and exertions should have been, for the present, frustrated. We trust, however, that ere long all the branches of our Legislature will cordially co-operate in every measure for the advancement and prosperity of the Province.

We rejoice in the liberal policy adopted by the Mother Country, not only in respect to the trade of the Colonies, but in promoting and supporting an extensive emigration from the United Kingdom, and which we hope, under the auspicious of your Excellency's direction will afford an evidence that such settlements, after the lapse of a few years, will not be inferior to those of an equal standing from any other country.

That your Excellency may enjoy the confidence of a loyal and affectionate people, and long continue to execute the functions of your exalted situation, is our sincere and ardent prayer.

To which His Excellency was pleased to make the following reply:



Gentlemen,

In returning you my hearty acknowledgements for your loyal and affectionate Address, I cannot refrain from expressing my gratification, unlooked for circumstances, occasioning a change in my arrangements, should have deprived me of the opportunity of receiving your Address with in the limits of your County, and of acknowledging in person, the satisfaction afforded me by the just manner in which you express your sense of that paternal solicitude for your welfare, which the measure of His Majesty's Government directed to accelerate the advancing prosperity of the Colony, have so conspicuously evinced

It would have been also more gratifying to me, to have enjoyed the same opportunity of assuring you, how much I appreciate and am affected by your very cordial avowal of the contentment and satisfaction with which you have regarded my administration of the Government.

This unreserved expression of your acquiescence in the principles which have governed my public conduct affords me an additional motive for exertion, as it tends to confirm the indulgence of a hope, that my future endeavours to promote the general welfare will continue to be animated and assisted by the generous concurrence of a loyal and contented people.

Your sentiments, Gentlemen, in relation to a measure intended for the relief of a certain portion of the Inhabitants of the Province, convince me, that you have not failed to regard, justly, the views and conduct of the Government in the matter you refer to, and that you have rightly viewed the gracious recommendation of His Majesty's Government which led to its introduction, as another striking proof of an unceasing attention to your interest.

CHAP IV.

An Act to Repeal part of an Act passed in the Thirty sixth Year of His late Majesty's Reign, entitled, "An Act for the better regulation of certain Coins Current in this Province, and to make further Provision for the regulation of the British Silver and Copper Coinage Current in this Province.

[Passed 30th Jan. 1826.]

WHEREAS an Act was passed in the Thirty sixth Year of His late Majesty's Reign entitled, "An Act for the better regulation of certain Coins Current in this Province, by which it is enacted that among other Silver Coins by the said Act made current in this Province the Silver Coins hereinafter mentioned shall pass current, and be deemed a legal tender at the rates following, that is to say:—The British Crown at Five Shillings and Six Pence—The British Shilling at One Shilling and a Penny—The Spanish milled Dollar at Five Shillings, equal to Four Shillings and Six Pence sterling money of Great Britain—The American Dollar at Five Shillings, and all the higher and lower denominations thereof in the same proportion respectively:—And whereas it appears by an Official Communication from His Majesty's Government that according to the contents in pure silver, and of the value computed at the rate of Five Shilling and Two Pence per ounce, Troy of British standard fineness the Spanish Dollar, and also the Dollar of the United States of America, are only equal in value to the sum of Four Shillings & Four Pence, sterling money of Great Britain, and that the same Coins are to be issued at those rates, when the British Coin is not in the Military chest for the pay of the British Troops in the Colonies: And whereas His Majesty's Government having taken into consideration the expediency of establishing the British metallic currency as the circulating medium of all the Colonial Possessions of the Crown, an order of His Majesty in Council has been made declaring that a tender or payment of British Silver Coin to the amount of Four Shillings and Four Pence should be considered as equivalent to the tender or payment of One Spanish Dollar, and so in proportion of any greater or less amount of debt, and also, that British Copper money should be made a legal tender to the amount of Twelve Pence in one payment for its due and proper proportion of British Silver money. And whereas measures have been taken by His Majesty's Government for facilitating the Currency of British Silver Coin within this Province, on terms highly advantageous to the holders of such Coins, and in order to give effect to the intentions of His Majesty's Government it is expedient to give to such British Silver Coin its fair relative value in respect to other Silver Coins whose value has been fixed by Law in this Province.

Be it therefore enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Legislative Council and Assembly of the Province of Upper Canada, constituted and assembled, by virtue of and under the authority of an Act passed in the Parliament of Great Britain entitled, "An Act to repeal certain parts of an Act passed in the fourteenth year of His Majesty's Reign, entitled, "An Act for making more effectual Provision for the Government of the Province of Quebec in North America, and to make further Provision for the Government of the said Province,' and by the authority of the same, That from and after the passing of this Act, the Silver Coins hereinafter mentioned shall pass current and be deemed a legal tender in payment of all debts and demands whatsoever in this Province at the rates following, that is to say:—The British Crown at Five Shillings and Nine Pence—The British Shilling at One Shilling and Two Pence, and that all the higher and lower denominations of the said Silver Coins shall also pass current and be deemed a legal tender in payment of all debts and demands whatsoever in this Province in the same proportions respectively.

II. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That British Copper money shall pass current and be deemed a legal tender in payment of all debts and demands whatsoever in this Province according to the due and proper proportion of such Copper money to the British Silver Coins hereinbefore mentioned, Provided always, that no person shall be obliged to receive, at any one payment, more than the sum of one shilling currency of this Province in Copper money, and that in all payments not exceeding one shilling current money of this Province, Ten Pence shall be deemed equivalent to One Shilling, and all higher and lower denominations in the same proportion.

III. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the sum of Seventeen Shillings and Four Pence, of British Silver and Copper money, shall pass as equivalent and be equal to the sum of Twenty Shillings of the current money of this Province.

IV. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That so much of the said Act, passed in the Thirty-sixth year of His said late Majesty's Reign, as declared the value at which any British Silver Coins shall pass current in this Province, shall be and the same is hereby repealed.

In Council 1st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as Settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepared in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District.

2 All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and not appropriated for public purposes, will be offered for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3. All persons proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts, on payment of a fee of 2s 6d.

4. All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5 The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments, as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement —A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6. On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply, in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8. Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form, Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres.

11. No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending in the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12. A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase.

14. Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it.

15 Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land, a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hundred Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On failure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16. No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessary expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17. Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprized in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18. Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of these general Rules.

Meeting of the Inhabitants of the Townships of Bastard, Leeds and Lansdown (in rear) North and South Crosby, &c.

1. Resolved,—That by the declaration of Independence of the United States in 1776, subsequently acknowledged by Great Britain by virtue of a Treaty founded upon the authority of an act of Parliament, all such persons as took up arms against the Mother Country, and opposed the Royal Cause, during the contest, or who subsequently by holding office and abjuring allegiance to the King of Great Britain, or by other acts unequivocally made their election to become Citizens of the United States, are in the opinion of this meeting Aliens to Great Britain, and this opinion is confirmed by the decision of His Majesty's Courts of Law in England.

2. Resolved,—That any other construction of the said Treaty would be followed by the monstrous absurdity, (which this meeting cannot admit,) that all persons now in the United States born before the year 1783 and their children and grand children are at this moment British subjects.

3. Resolved,—That many persons who have emigrated to the Province from those States, considered themselves at the time, Citizens of the United States; and were, and still are desirous of becoming Subjects to the King of Great Britain.

4. Resolved,—That many of us from ignorance of the Law, or neglect of compliance to its requisitions, or inability to conform to its provisions, are not naturalized, but in truth are liable to be regarded as Aliens; although, we have heretofore enjoyed all the rights and privileges of British Born subjects, unquestioned.

5. Resolved,—That this meeting with feelings of deep gratitude, saw the recommendation of the Imperial Government communicated to the two Houses of the Legislature by message from the Lieutenant Governor.

6. Resolved,—That the object of the said communication was to induce the Provincial Parliament to pass an Act, by which all persons now residing in this Province coming from the United States or elsewhere, should be immediately naturalized

7. Resolved,—That the high sense of gratitude entertained by this Meeting to the Imperial Government for this offered boon, and to His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, for his repeated applications upon the subject, are equalled only by those feelings of regret which we individually experienced on witnessing the spirit in which this gracious boon, gratuitously proffered, was received by the House of Assembly

8. Resolved,—That the Address to His Majesty proposed by Mr. Bidwell and adopted by the House of Assembly, is, in the opinion of this meeting, highly objectionable; and that the Address moved in amendment by the Attorney General and seconded by Mr Jonas Jones, most fully accords with the sense and wishes of this meeting, inasmuch as it is couched in respectful language and contains no propositions liable to be disproved.

9 Resolved,—That in the opinion of this meeting the Inhabitants of this favoured Colony, have every reason to repose unbounded confidence in the wisdom, liberality and justice of His Majesty's Government

10. Resolved,—That this meeting feel themselves called upon to express their satisfaction at the past, and their confidence in the future administration of the Government of this flourishing Province, under His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, Sir Peregrine Maitland.

11. Resolved,—That an Address from this meeting be presented to His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, embodying the substance of the foregoing resolutions, and humbly requesting that His Excellency will be pleased to continue his exertions in behalf of that class of the Inhabitants of this province, whose political rights, as British subjects, are liable to be impeached, by soliciting our most Gracious Sovereign, to recommend to His Imperial Parliament to pass an Act conferring upon them all the rights and privileges of British Born subjects.

12 Resolved,—That this meeting most cordially approves of the Parliamentary conduct of the Representatives of this District, in advocating the Rideau Canal; and they trust the said Representatives, will, in future, zealously persevere in advocating this and every other measure in which the interest of their constituents and the general interests of the Province may be involved.

13 Resolved,—That the Chairman and Secretary, and Uri Scovil, Esquire, be a Committee to draft an Address founded upon the foregoing Resolutions

[The Chairman reported an Address which was read]

14. Resolved,—By this meeting that the Address reported by the Chairman be adopted and signed

[This was accordingly done without a dissenting voice. The Chairman having left the Chair.]

15. Resolved,—That the thanks of this meeting are due to the Chairman for his able conduct on this occasion.

16 Resolved,—That the thanks of this meeting are due to the Secretary for his manly conduct on this occasion.

The Address to His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor is as follows:—

To His Excellency Sir Peregrine Maitland, Knight Commander of the Most Honorable Military Order of the Bath, Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada, and Major General Commanding His Majesty's Forces therein, &c. &c. &c.

May it please your Excellency,

We, the Militia Officers and other Inhabitants of the Townships of Bastard, Leeds, & Lansdown, (in rear,) North and South Crosby, at a Meeting in the village of Beverly, in the Johnstown District, are most happy to avail ourselves of the present opportunity to testify, in common with many other loyal inhabitants, the gratification we have experienced at the visit which you have been pleased to make to this part of the Province; we receive it as an additional proof, among many others, of your Excellency's disposition; and it has had the effect of more deeply impressing upon our minds the conviction, that your Excellency is actuated by that kind of solicitude and interest for the welfare and prosperity of this province which cannot fail of producing the most beneficial results

Upon this occasion we beg leave to state to your Excellency that there is a grave and important subject, which came under the consideration of our Provincial Parliament at its last Session in which, and we do not wish to disguise it, we feel a very deep interest.

By the Declaration of Independence on the part of the British Colonies in America in 1776, subsequently acknowledged and confirmed by Great Britain, by virtue of the Treaty of 1783, founded upon the authority of an Act of Parliament, all such persons as took up arms against the Mother Country or opposed the Royal Cause during the Revolutionary War; or, who subsequently by holding Office, and abjuring allegiance, to the King of Great Britain; or by other acts unequivocally made their election to become citizens of the United States, are, in our opinion, Aliens to Great Britain; and this opinion is most fully confirmed, by the decision of His Majesty's Courts of Law in England.

Any other construction of the Law would be followed by the monstrous absurdity, which we cannot for a moment admit, that all persons now in the United States born before the year '83, and their Children and Grand Children, are, at this moment, bona fide British Subjects.

Many persons who have emigrated to this Province, considered themselves, at the time, as Citizens of the United States, and were, and still are, desirous to become Subjects to the King of Great Britain.

We are aware that many of us from ignorance of the Law, or neglect of compliance to its requisitions, or from inability to comform to its provisions, are not naturalized, but in truth, are liable to be regarded as Aliens; although we have heretofore enjoyed all the rights and privileges of British born Subjects, unquestioned.

We view with feelings of deep gratitude, the recommendation of the Imperial Government, upon this subject, communicated to the two Houses of the Legislature, by message, from your Excellency.

We are satisfied that there would be no object in the communication, other, than to induce the Provincial Parliament to pass an Act by which all persons now residing in this Province, coming from the United States and elsewhere, should be immediately naturalized, under the restrictions only, provided, by the Acts of our Provincial Parliament.

The high sense of gratitude entertained by us to the Imperial Government for this offered boon, and to your Excellency, for your repeated applications upon the subject, are equalled only, by those feelings of regret, which we experienced on witnessing the spirit in which this gracious boon, gratuitously proffered, was received by the House of Assembly.

The Address to His Majesty proposed by Mr. Bidwell, and adopted by the House of Assembly, is, in our opinion, highly objectionable, & that the address, moved in amendment, by the Attorney General, and seconded by Mr J. Jones most fully accords with our wishes, and our sense of propriety; inasmuch as it is couched in respectful language, and contains no propositions, liable to be disproved.

In our opinion, the Inhabitants of this favoured Colony, have every reason to repose unbounded confidence in the wisdom, liberality, and justice of His Majesty's Government; and we are happy to have it in our power to assure your Excellency that the inhabitants of this District, do so, to the fulest extent; they are animated by an ardent attachment to their King and Country; and we can further assure your Excellency, that they are satisfied and content under our present happy form of Government; and we feel ourselves called upon to express our satisfaction of the past, and our confidence in the future administration of the Government of this flourishing Province, under the auspicious of your Excellency.

We humbly requst that your Excellency will be pleased to continue your exertions in behalf of that class of the Inhabitants of this Province whose political rights, as British subjects, are liable to be impeached, by again soliciting our most gracious Sovereign to recommend, to His Imperial Parliament to pass an Act conferring upon them, all the rights and privileges of British Born Subjects

No. 1.—6m. C. E. C.

In Council 21st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as Settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepared in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District.

2 All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and not appropriated for public purposes, will be offered for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3. All persons proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts, on payment of a fee of 2s. 6d.

4. All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5. The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments, as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement —A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6. On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply, in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8. Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions.

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing, through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form, Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres.

11. No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending in the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12 A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase.

13. The quit rent will be redeemable within the first 25 years next following the grant, on payment of a sum equal to twenty times the annual amount of it.

14. Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it.

15 Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hundred Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On failure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16. No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessary expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17. Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprised in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18. Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of these general Rules.

19. U. E. Loyalists and other persons untitled to gratuitous Grants by the general regulation of His Majesty's Government, are not to be affected by these Rules.

The above Rules to take effect from the first of January 1826.

Upper Canada Paper Mill.

THE Subscriber having in view the erection of a PAPER MILL at this place, to be in operation in the course of the month of May ensuing, solicits the patronage of the Public in supplying RAGS sufficient to keep the same in full employment, for which he will give as high a price as is usually given by the Paper-Makers in the adjacent parts of the United States and means will be taken to send for the same, when a quantity is collected at any one point in any part of the Province, which will be paid for either in Money or Paper, as may best suit the proprietor.

The advantages to this Colony from the establishment of a Paper-Mill, are so obvious and so numerous that the Subscriber hopes that persons to whom the value of RAGS may be no object, will (from patriotic motives) lend their assistance in securing a domestic supply; otherwise one great object in establishing such a manufacture, namely, that of keeping money among the colonists, will be defeated.

No. 1,—6m. C. E. C.

In Council 21st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as Settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepared in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District.

2. All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and not appropriated for public purposes, will be offered for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3. All persons proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts, on payment of a fee of 2s 6d.

4. All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5. The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments, as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement.—A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6. On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply, in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8. Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions.

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing, through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form, Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres.

11. No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending in the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12 A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase.

13. The quit rent will be redeemable within the first 25 years next following the grant, on payment of a sum equal to twenty times the annual amount of it.

14. Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it.

15 Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hundred Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land.—On failure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant. It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16. No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessary expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17. Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprized in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18. Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of these general Rules.

19. U. E. Loyalists and other persons entitled to gratuitous Grants by the general regulation of His Majesty's Government, are not to be affected by these Rules.

The above Rules to take effect from the first of January 1826.

By Order of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor.

Upper Canada Paper Mill.

THE Subscriber having in view the erection of a PAPER Mill at this place, to be in operation in the course of the month of May ensuing, solicits the patronage of the Public in supplying RAGS sufficient to keep the same in full employment, for which he will give as high a price as is usually given by the Paper-Makers in the adjacent parts of the United States and means will be taken to send for the same, when a quantity is collected at any one point in any part of the Province, which will be paid for either in Money or Paper, as may best suit the proprietor.

The advantages to this Colony from the establishment of a Paper-Mill, are so obvious and so numerous that the Subscriber hopes that persons to whom the value of RAGS may be no object, will (from patriotic motives) lend their assistance in securing a domestic supply; otherwise one great object in establishing such a manufacture, namely, that of keeping money among the colonists, will be defeated.

The importance of LIFE ASSURANCE to those who in professional and mercantile pursuits, derive limited or fluctuating incomes from personal exertions, or who are in the possession of places, the emoluments of which die with the holder, has long been acknowledged both in Europe and the United States of America. In the full conviction, that the inhabitants of the Canadas would not be slow, in perceiving the advantages to be derived from the introduction of such an Institution amongst them, the undersigned communicated to the Directors of the ASYLUM COMPANY, such information as a long residence in various parts of both Provinces has enabled him to collect, and the Board with the view of affording additional facilities, to those who may be desirous of availing themselves of the benefits of Life Assurance, have in consequence, appointed him their Agent, for the Provinces of Upper and Lower Canada. CHAP. V.

An Act to encourage the progress of Useful Arts within this Province.

[Passed 30th Jan. 1826.]

WHEREAS it is expedient for the encouragement of Genius, and of Arts in this Province, to secure an exclusive right to the Inventor of any New and Useful Art, Machine, Manufacture or Composition of Matter: Be it therefore enacted, by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and Assembly of the Province of Upper Canada, constituted and assembled by virtue of and under the authority of an Act passed in the Parliament of Great Britain intituled, "an Act to repeal certain parts of an Act passed in the Fourteenth Year of His Majesty's Reign intituled, "an Act for making more effectual provision for the Government of the Province of Quebec, in North America, and to make further provision for the Government of the said Province," and by the authority of the same, That when any subject of His Majesty, being an inhabitant of this Province, shall allege that he has invented any new and useful Art, Machine, Manufacture or Composition of Matter, not known or used before the application, and shall present a Petition to the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, or Person Administering the Government of the Province, for the time being, signifying a desire of obtaining an exclusive property in the same, and praying that a Patent may be granted therefore, it shall and may be lawful for the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, or Person Administering the Government of the Province, for the time being to direct that Letters Patent shall be made out, under the Great Seal of this Province, and passed in the usual form, reciting the substance of the said Petition and giving a short description of the said invention or discovery, and granting therefore to the said Petitioner, or Petitioners, his, her, their Executors, Administrators or Assigns, for a term not exceeding Fourteen Years, the full and exclusive right and liberty of making, constructing, using, vending to others to be used, the said Invention or Discovery, which Letters Patent, so far as the same may be conformable to this Act, shall be good and available to the Grantee or Grantees after the same shall have been recorded in a Book to be kept for that purpose in the office of the Secretary and Register of this Province, and the same shall, when so recorded, be delivered by the proper Officer to the Patentee or his order.

II. Provided always, and be it further enacted by the autority aforesaid, That any Person who shall have discovered an Improvement in the Principle of any Machine, or Composition of Matter, which shall have been Patented and shall have obtained a Patent for such improvement, shall not be at liberty to make, use, or vend the original discovery but the Improvement only, nor shall the first Inventor be at liberty to use the Improvement; and it is hereby enacted and declared that simply changing the form or the proportion of any Machine or Composition in any degree shall not be deemed a discovery

III. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That every Inventor before he can receive a Patent shall swear, or being a Quaker, Menonist, Tunker, or belonging to the Society called United Brethren, or Moravians, affirm that he does verily believe that he is the true Inventor or discoverer of the Art, Machine, or Improvement for which he solicits a Patent, (which oath or affirmation may be made before any Justice of the Peace) and shall deliver a written description of his Invention or Improvement, and of the manner or process of compounding the same in such full, clear, and exact terms as to distinguish the same from all other things before known, and to make any person skilled in the Art or Science of which it is a branch, or with which it is most clearly connected, to make, compound, and use the same, and in the case of any Machine, he shall fully explain the principle, and the several modes in which he has contemplated the application of that principle, or character, by which it may be distinguished from other Inventions, and he shall accompany the whole with drawings and written references, where the nature of the case admits of drawings, or with the specimens of the ingredients or of the composition of matters, sufficient in quantity for the purpose of experiment, which description, signed by himself and attested by two witnesses, shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of the Province, and certified copies thereof shall be competent evidence in all Courts where any matter or thing touching Patent Right shall come in question: Provided always nevertheless, That such Inventor shall moreover deliver a model of the Machine by him invented, provided the Secretary shall deem such model to be necessary.

IV. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That it shall be lawful for any Inventor, his Executors, or Administrators, by an Instrument under Seal duly executed, to Assign the Title and Interest in the said Invention at any time, and the Assignee or Assignees, and his or their Assignee or Assignees after any number of such Assignments subsequently made, which Assignments shall be entered of record in the office of the said Secretary of the Province, upon proof of the execution thereof, by affidavit made by a subscribing witness before any Judge of the Court of King's Bench, or a Commissioner for taking affidavits in the said Court, shall stand and be to all intents and purposes in the place of the original Patentee of such Invention.

V. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That if any person shall make or Manufacture for Sale any article or Composition so Invented, or shall make or Manufacture, or make use of any Instruments or Machinery so Invented or Specified, the exclusive right of which shall aforesaid have been secured to any person by Patent, without the consent of the Patentee, his Heirs and Assigns, or other Lawful representatives first obtained in writing, every person so infringing such Patents shall be liable to an Action for the same, in which, besides such damages as shall be awarded by the Jury, the parties injured shall also recover treble costs to be taxed by the Master.

VI. Provided always and be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That if upon trial in any such Action it shall be made apparent to the satisfaction of the Court, the Defendant having specially pleaded the same, that the specification filed by the Plaintiff does not contain the whole truth relative to his discovery or that it contains more than is necessary to produce the described effect, which concealment or addition shall fully appear to have been made for the purpose of deceiving the Public or that the thing thus secured by Patent was not originally discovered by the Patentee but had been in use or had been described in some public, Work anterior to the supposed discovery of the Patentee or that he had surreptitiously obtained a Patent for the discovery of another person, then in either of these cases a verdict shall be rendered for the Defendant and such Patent shall be declared void.

VII. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That in case of interfering applications the same shall be submitted to the arbitrations of three persons, one of whom shall be chosen by each of the Applicants and the third person shall be chosen by the said Secretary of the Province, or person appointed to do the duty of that Office; and the decision or award of such arbitrators, delivered to the said Secretary in writing and Subscribed by them, or any two of them, shall be final as far as respects the granting the Patent, and if either of the applicants shall refuse or fail to choose an arbitrator the Patent shall issue to the opposite Party, and when there shall be more than two interfering applications and parties applying shall not all unite in appointing three arbitrators, it shall be in the power of the said Secretary of the Province, or person appointed to do the duty of that Office, to appoint three arbitrators for the purpose.

VIII And whereas it is necessary to provide a convenient remedy in cases where Letters Patent issued under the authority of this Act have been fraudulently or surreptitiously obtained, or have issued improvidently, or upon false suggestion; Be it therefore further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that at any time within three Years, after the issuing of any such Patent as aforesaid, it shall and may be lawful for any person or Persons, desirous of impeaching the same for any such cause as aforesaid, to obtain an exemplification of such Patent under the Great Seal of this Province, and to have the same filed by the Clerk of the Crown and Pleas in this Province, and that upon such exemplification being so filed, the Letters Patent so exemplified shall be considered as remaining of record in the Court of King's Bench so that a writ of Scire Facias under the Seal of the said Court may issue, grounded upon the said Record, for the purpose of repealing the same for legal cause as aforesaid, if upon the proceedings which shall be had upon the said writ of Scire Facias, according to the Law and practice of the Court of King's Bench in England, the same shall be declared void.

IX. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That a Certificate of the Judgment by which any such Patent as aforesaid shall have been declared void under the Seal of the Court of King's Bench, shall at the request of any party be entered upon the margin of the enrolment of such Patent in the Office of the Secretary and Register of this Province, whereupon the said Patent shall be considered to be cancelled and made void.

X. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That every Person claiming to be an Inventor as aforesaid, and presenting a Petition signifying his desire to obtain a Patent pursuant to this Act, shall pay into the hands of the Secretary of the Province, or other person appointed to do the duty of that Office, the like fee as is paid for other special Instruments issued under the Great Seal of this Province in full of all fees due payable for the said Patent, and that for every copy which may be required of the enrolment of any such Patent, the person requiring the same shall pay the fee ordinarily charged for the obtaining a warrant for that purpose from some one of His Majesty's Justices of the Peace and to render the overplus, if any there shall be, over and above the said rate, to the owner thereof, after the legal charges of the distress and sale.

V. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That all sums of money accruing under the provisions of this Act, shall be applied under the direction of the Magistrates to the improvements of the streets of the several Towns in which they shall be raised, and to no other purpose.

VI. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That if any person or persons shall, when duly called upon, neglect or refuse to give a correct list of the Dog or Dogs which he or she may usually keep, every such person or persons shall, upon being thereof convicted before two or more of His Majesty's Justices of the Peace, pay a sum not exceeding Twenty Shillings Currency, which fine shall be disposed of in the same manner as the Tax-s accruing under the provisions of this Act.

VII And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the Collector appointed under this Act, shall head the list, which he is required to make for the purpose of this Act with a certificate in these words, that is to say:—

We do hereby severally certify that we have since the day of in the last year, been in possession of the number of Dogs set opposite to our respective names and no more.—And that if it shall be proved upon complaint on oath, before any two Justices of the Peace, in and for any District of this Province respectively, that any person has certified falsely with respect to the number of Dogs in his or her possession, such person shall forfeit a sum not exceeding Three Pounds upon conviction before such Justices, which shall be levied by warrant of distress under the hand and seal of such Justices, and a default of such distress the offender may be committed to Gaol for any time not exceeding one month.

VIII And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That this Act shall be and remain in force for the space of four years, and from thence to the end of the then next ensuing Session of Parliament.

No. 1,—6m. C. E. C.

In Council 21st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as Settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepared in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District.

2 All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and not appropriated for public purposes, will be offered for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3. All persons proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts, on payment of a fee of 2s. 6d.

4. All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5. The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments, as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement—A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6. On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply, in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8. Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions.

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing, through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form, Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres.

11. No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending in the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12. A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase.

13. The quit rent will be redeemable within the first 25 years next following the grant, on payment of a sum equal to twenty times the annual amount of it.

14. Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it.

15 Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hundred Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On failure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16. No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessary expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17. Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprized in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18. Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of these general Rules.

19. U. E. Loyalists and other persons entitled to gratuitous Grants by the general regulation of His Majesty's Government, are not to be affected by these Rules.

The above Rules to take effect from the first of January 1826.

Upper Canada Paper Mill.

THE Subscriber having in view the erection of a PAPER MILL at this place, to be in operation in the course of the month of May ensuing, solicts the patronage of the Public in supplying RAGS sufficient to keep the same in full employment, for which he will give as high a price as is usually given by the Paper-Makers in the adjacent parts of the United States and means will be taken to send for the same, when a quantity is collected at any one point in any part of the Province, which will be paid for either in Money or Paper, as may best suit the proprietor.

An Act to encourage the progress of Useful Arts within this Province.

[Passed 30th Jan. 1826.]

WHEREAS it is expedient for the encouragement of Genius, and of Arts in this Province, to secure an exclusive right to the Inventor of any New and Useful Art, Machine, Manufacture or Composition of Matter: Be it therefore enacted, by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and Assembly of the Province of Upper Canada, constituted and assembled by virtue of and under the authority of an Act passed in the Parliament of Great Britain intituled, "an Act to repeal certain parts of an Act passed in the Fourteenth Year of His Majesty's Reign intituled, 'an Act for making more effectual provision for the Government of the Province of Quebec, in North America, and to make further provision for the Government of the said Province,'" and by the authority of the same, That when any subject of His Majesty, being an inhabitant of this Province, shall allege that he has invented any new and useful Art, Machine, Manufacture or Composition of Matter, not known or used before the application, and shall present a Petition to the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, or Person Administering the Government of the Province, for the time being, signifying a desire of obtaining an exclusive property in the same, and praying that a Patent may be granted therefore, it shall and may be lawful for the Governor Lieutenant Governor, or Person Administering the Government of the Province, for the time being to direct that Letters Patent shall be made out, under the Great Seal of this Province, and passed in the usual form, reciting the substance of the said Petition and giving a short description of the said invention or discovery, and granting therefore to the said Petitioner, or Petitioners, his, her, their Executors, Administrators or Assigns, for a term not exceeding Fourteen Years, the full and exclusive right and liberty of making, constructing, using, vending to others to be used, the said Invention or Discovery, which Letters Patent, so far as the same may be conformable to this Act, shall be good and available to the Grantee or Grantees after the same shall have been recorded in a Book to be kept for that purpose in the office of the Secretary and Register of this Province, and the same shall, when so recorded, be delivered by the proper Officer to the Patentee or his order.

II. Provided always, and be it further enacted by the autority aforesaid, That any Person who shall have discovered an Improvement in the Principle of any Machine, or Composition of Matter, which shall have been Patented and shall have obtained a Patent for such improvement, shall not be at liberty to make, use, or vend the original discovery but the Improvement only, nor shall the first Inventor be at liberty to use the Improvement: and it is hereby enacted and declared that simply changing the form or the proportion of any Machine or Composition in any degree shall not be deemed a discovery.

III. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That every Inventor before he can receive a Patent shall swear, or being a Quaker, Menonist, Tunker, or belonging to the Society called United Brethren, or Moravians, affirm that he does verily believe that he is the true Inventor or discoverer of the Art, Machine, or Improvement for which he solicits a Patent, (which oath or affirmation may be made before any Justice of the Peace) and shall deliver a written description of his Invention or Improvement, and of the manner or process of compounding the same in such full, clear, and exact terms as to distinguish the same from all other things before known, and to make any person skilled in the Art or Science of which it is a branch, or with which it is most clearly connected to make, compound, and use the same, and in the case of any Machine, he shall fully explain the principle, and the several modes in which he has contemplated the application of that principle, or character, by which it may be distinguished from other Inventions, and he shall accompany the whole with drawings and written references, where the nature of the case admits of drawings, or with the specimens of the ingredients or of the composition of matters, sufficient in quantity for the purpose of experiment, which description, signed by himself and attested by two witnesses, shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of the Province, and certified copies thereof shall be competent evidence in all Courts where any matter or thing touching Patent Right shall come in question: Provided always nevertheless, That such Inventor shall moreover deliver a model of the Machine by him invented, provided the Secretary shall deem such model to be necessary.

VIII And whereas it is necessary to provide a convenient remedy in cases where Letters Patent issued under the authority of his Act have been fraudulently or surreptitiously obtained, or have issued improvidently, or upon false suggestion; Be it therefore further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that at any time within three Years, after the issuing of from and after the First day of April next, any such Patent as aforesaid, it shall and may be lawful for any person or Persons, desirous of impeaching the same for any such cause as aforesaid, to obtain an exemplification of such Patent under the Great Seal of this Province, and to have the same filed by the Clerk of the Crown and Pleas in this Province, and that upon such exemplification being so filed, the Letters Patent so exemplified shall be considered as remaining of record in the Court of King's Bench in this Province, and by the authority of the same, That any such Patent as aforesaid, it shall and every person residing within the Limits of any Town in this Province, which now is or hereafter may be subject by law to Police Regulations, or within One Mile thereof, shall pay or cause to be paid, for each and every Dog of the age of Six Months and upwards, which shall be kept by any such person, the sum of Five Shillings, Annually.

CHAP. X.

An Act to impose a Tax upon Dogs in certain Towns in this Province.

[Passed 30th January, 1826.]

WHEREAS it is expedient to impose a Tax upon Dogs in certain Towns in this Province: Be it therefore enacted, By the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and Assembly of the Province of Upper Canada, constituted and assembled by virtue of and under the authority of an Act passed in the Parliament of Great Britain intituled "an Act to repeal certain parts of an Act passed in the Fourteenth Year of His Majesty's Reign intituled 'an Act for making

In Council 21st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as Settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepared in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District.

2 All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and not appropriated for public purposes, will be offered for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3. All persons proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts on payment of a fee of 8s. 6d.

4. All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5. The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement—A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6. On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply, in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8 Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing, through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form, Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres.

11. No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending in the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12 A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase.

13. The quit rent will be redeemable within the first 25 years next following the grant, on payment of a sum equal to twenty times the annual amount of it.

14. Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it.

15 Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value; as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hundred Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On failure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16. No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessary expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17. Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprized in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18. Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of these general Rules.

19 U. E. Loyalists and other persons entitled to gratuitous Grants by the general regulation of His Majesty's Government, are not to be affected by these Rules

The above Rules to take effect from the first of January 1826.

By Order of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor.

Upper Canada Paper Mill.

THE Subscriber having in view the erection of a PAPER MILL at this place, to be in operation in the course of the month of May ensuing, solicits the patronage of the Public in supplying RAGS sufficient to keep the same in full employment, for which he will give as high a price as is usually given by the Paper-Makers in the adjacent parts of the United States and means will be taken to send for the same, when a quantity is collected at any one point in any part of the Province, which will be paid for either in Money or Paper, as may best suit the proprietor.

The advantages to this Colony from the establishment of a Paper-Mill, are so obvious and so numerous that the Subscriber hopes that persons to whom the value of RAGS may be no object, will (from patriotic motives) lend their assistance in securing a domestic supply; otherwise one great object in establishing such a manufacture, namely, that of keeping money among the colonists, will be defeated.

An Act to encourage the progress of Useful Arts within this Province.

[Passed 30th Jan. 1826.]

WHEREAS it is expedient for the encouragement of Genius, and of Arts in this Province, to secure an exclusive right to the Inventor of any New and Useful Art, Machine, Manufacture or Composition of Matter: Be it therefore enacted, by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and Assembly of the Province of Upper Canada, constituted and assembled by virtue of and under the authority of an Act passed in the Parliament of Great Britain intituled, "an Act to repeal certain parts of an Act passed in the Fourteenth Year of His Majesty's Reign intituled, 'an Act for making more effectual provision for the Government of the Province of Quebec, in North America, and to make further provision for the Government of the said Province,'" and by the authority of the same, That when any subject of His Majesty, being an inhabitant of this Province, shall allege that he has invented any new and useful Art, Machine, Manufacture or Composition of Matter, not known or used before the application, and shall present a Petition to the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, or Person Administering the Government of this Province, for the time being, signifying a desire of obtaining an exclusive property in the same, and praying that a Patent may be granted therefore, it shall and may be lawful for the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, or Person Administering the Government of the Province, for the time being to direct that Letters Patent shall be made out, under the Great Seal of this Province, and passed in the usual form, reciting the substance of the said Petition and giving a short description of the said invention or discovery, and granting therefore to the said Petitioner, or Petitioners, his, her, their Executors, Administrators or Assigns, for a term not exceeding Fourteen Years, the full and exclusive right and liberty of making, constructing, using, vending to others to be used, the said Invention or Discovery, which Letters Patent, so far as the same may be conformable to this Act, shall be good and available to the Grantee or Grantees after the same shall have been recorded in a Book to be kept for that purpose in the office of the Secretary and Register of this Province, and the same shall, when so recorded, be delivered by the proper Officer to the Patentee or his order.

II. Provided always, and be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That any Person who shall have discovered an Improvement in the Principle of any Machine, or Composition of Matter, which shall have been Patented and shall have obtained a Patent for such improvement, shall not be at liberty to make, use, or vend the original discovery but the Improvement only, nor shall the first Inventor be at liberty to use the Improvement; and it is hereby enacted and declared that simply changing the form or the proportion of any Machine or Composition in any degree shall not be deemed a discovery.

III. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That every Inventor before he can receive a Patent shall swear, or being a Quaker, Menonist, Tunker, or belonging to the Society called United Brethren, or Moravians, affirm that he does verily believe that he is the true Inventor or discoverer of the Art, Machine, or Improvement for which he solicits a Patent, (which oath or affirmation may be made before any Justice of the Peace) and shall deliver a written description of his Invention or Improvement, and of the manner or process of compounding the same in such full, clear, and exact terms as to distinguish the same from all other things before known, and to make any person skilled in the Art or Science of which it is a branch, or with which it is most clearly connected, to make, compound, and use the same, and in the case of any Machine, he shall fully explain the principle, and the several modes in which he has contemplated the application of that principle, or character, by which it may be distinguished from other Inventions, and he shall accompany the whole with drawings and written references, where the nature of the case admits of drawings, or with the specimens of the ingredients or of the composition of matters, sufficient in quantity for the purpose of experiment, which description, signed by himself and attested by two witnesses, shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of the Province, and certified copies thereof shall be competent evidence in all Courts where any matter or thing touching Patent Right shall come in question: Provided always nevertheless, That such Inventor shall moreover deliver a model of the Machine by him invented, provided the Secretary shall deem such model to be necessary.

IV. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That it shall be lawful for any Inventor, his Executors, or Administrators, by an Instrument under Seal duly executed, to Assign the Title and Interest in the said Invention at any time, and the Assignee or Assignees, and his or their Assignee or Assignees after any number of such Assignments subsequently made, which Assignments shall be entered of record in the office of the said Secretary of the Province, upon proof of the execution thereof, by affidavit made by a subscribing witness before any Judge of the Court of King's Bench, or a Commissioner for taking affidavits in the said Court, shall stand and be to all intents and purposes in the place of the original Patentee of such Invention.

V. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That if any person shall make or Manufacture for Sale any article or Composition so Invented, or shall make or Manufacture, or make use of any Instruments or Machinery so Invented or Specified, the exclusive right of which shall aforesaid have been secured to any person by Patent, without the consent of the Patentee, his Heirs and Assigns, or other Lawful representatives first obtained in writing, every person so infringing such Patents shall be liable to an Action for the same, in which, besides such damages as shall be awarded by the Jury, the parties injured shall also recover treble costs to be taxed by the Master.

VI. Provided always and be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That if upon trial in any such Action it shall be made apparent to the satisfaction of the Court, the Defendant having specially pleaded the same, that the specification filled by the Plaintiff does not contain the whole truth relative to his discovery or that it contains more than is necessary to produce the described effect, which concealment or addition shall fully appear to have been made for the purpose of deceiving the Public or that the thing thus secured by Patent was not originally discovered by the Patentee but had been in use or had been described in some public, Work anterior to the supposed discovery of the Patentee or that he had surreptitiously obtained a Patent for the discovery of another person, then in either of these cases a verdict shall be rendered for the Defendant and such Patent shall be declared void.

VII. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid. That in case of interfering applications the same shall be submitted to the arbitrations of three persons, one of whom shall be chosen by each of the Applicants and the third person shall be chosen by the said Secretary of the Province, or person appointed to do the duty of that Office; and the decision or award of such arbitrators, delivered to the said Secretary in writing and Subscribed by them, or any two of them, shall be final as far as respects the granting the Patent, and if either of the applicants shall refuse or fail to choose an arbitrator the Patent shall issue to the opposite Party, and when there shall be more than two interfering applications and parties applying shall not all unite in appointing three arbitrators, it shall be in the power of the said Secretary of the Province, or person appointed to do the duty of that Office, to appoint three arbitrators for the purpose.

VIII. And whereas it is necessary to provide a convenient remedy in cases where Letters Patent issued under the authority of his Act have been fraudulently or surreptitiously obtained, or have issued improvidently, or upon false suggestion; Be it therefore further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that at any time within three Years, after the issuing of any such Patent as aforesaid, it shall and may be lawful for any person or Persons, desirous of impeaching the same for any such cause as aforesaid, to obtain an exemplification of such Patent under the Great Seal of this Province, and to have the same filled by the Clerk of the Crown and Pleas in this Province, and that such exemplification being so filed, the Letters Patent so exemplified shall be considered as remaining of record in the Court of King's Bench so that a writ of Scire Facias under the Seal of the said Court may issue, grounded upon the said Record, for the purpose of repealing the same for legal cause as aforesaid; if upon the proceedings which shall be had upon the said writ of Scire Facias, according to the Law and practice of the Court of King's Bench in England, the same shall be declared void.

IX. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That a Certificate of the Judgment by which any such Patent as aforesaid shall have been declared void under the Seal of the Court of King's Bench, shall at the request of any party be entered upon the margin of the enrolment of such Patent in the Office of the Secretary and Register of this Province, whereupon the said Patent shall be considered to be cancelled and made void.

X. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That every Person claiming to be an Inventor as aforesaid, and presenting a Petition signifying his desire to obtain a Patent pursuant to this Act, shall pay into the hands of the Secretary of the Province, or other person appointed to do the duty of that Office, the like fee as is paid for other special Instruments issued under the Great Seal of this Province in full of all fees demandable for the said Patent, and that for every copy which may be required of the enrolment of any such Patent, the person requiring the same shall pay the fee ordinarily charged for copies in the said Office, and the further sum of Ten Shillings for the affixing the Great Seal to the exemplification of any such Patent, and that for every such Certificate of Judgment as is herein before mentioned, declaring any such Patent as aforesaid to be void the Clerk of the Crown and Pleas shall be entitled to receive the sum of Five Shillings, and the sum of Two Shillings and six pence may be charged and taken by the Register of the Province for the entry of the same, and that the said Register may also charge the sum of One Shilling per Folio, of seventy two words for Recording every Assignment as is mentioned in this Act.

MOST GRACIOUS SOVERIGN,

WHEREAS an Act Passed in the Second Year of your Majesty's Reign intituled, "An Act to Repeal an Act passed in the Fifty Fifth year of His late Majesty's Reign, intitled 'An Act to explain and amend an Act passed in the Fifty Third year of His late Majesty's Reign, intituled An Act to provide for the maintenance of Persons disabled, and the widows and children of such persons as may be killed in His Majesty's service, and also, An Act passed in the Fifty Sixth year of His late Majesty's Reign, intituled An Act to repeal part of, and to alter and amend the Laws now in force, for granting Pensions to persons disabled in the service, and the widows and children of persons who may have been killed in the service, and to extend the provisions of the same; and an Act passed in the Fifty Seventh year of His late Majesty's Reign, intituled An Act to repeal part of and amend an Act passed in the Fifty Sixth year of His late Majesty's Reign, intituled An Act to repeal part and to alter and amend the Laws now in force for granting Pensions to persons disabled in the service, and the widows and children of persons who may have been killed in the service, and to extend the provisions of the same," and to make provision for granting Pensions to persons disabled in the service, and to the widows and children of persons who may have been killed in the service, or who may have died while in captivity with the enemy, during the late War with the United States of America, is about to expire, and it is expedient to continue and amend the same, May it therefore please your Majesty that it may be enacted, And be it therefore enacted, by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and Assembly of the Province of Upper Canada, constituted and assembled by virtue of and under the authority of an Act passed in the Parliament of Great Britain intituled "an Act to repeal certain parts of an Act passed in the Fourteenth Year of His Majesty's Reign intituled 'an Act for making more effectual provision for the Government of the Province of Quebec, in North America, and to make further provision for the Government of the said Province," and by the authority of the same, That such parts of the said Act as are now in force, except in so far as the same are hereby repealed or altered, shall be and continue in force for the space of four years.

II. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That a list of all persons receiving Pensions under the above recited Act, shall be published three several times in the Upper Canada Gazette, in the Month of March in every second year after the passing of this Act, the first publication thereof to be made in the month of March next after the passing of this act, and that the officer paying such Pensions shall furnish an abstract thereof for that purpose, specifying the name of such Pensioners, the District in which he or she resides, and the account on which the said Pension is Payable, namely, whether an account of being disabled in action with the enemy, or as the widow remaining unmarried of Militia Man killed in action with the enemy, or by casualty while on service; stating the name of Militia Man, or as the Guardian or other Person acting on behalf of the child or children of a Militia Man killed in action with the enemy, or by casualty while on service, naming such Militia Man and also naming the child of such Militia Man, stated to be still under the age of sixteen years.

III. And whereas certain persons have represented by Petition to the Legislature that being entitled by law to Pensions on account of disability from wounds received in action with the enemy, and being from this Province at the time of the passing of the Statute hereinbefore recited, and ignorant of the provisions therein contained, they have been precluded from receiving the bounty intended to be bestowed upon persons under similar circumstances with themselves: be it therefore further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that it shall be in the power of the Governor, Lieut Governor, or Person administering the Government of this Province, upon application of any person, stating by petition and proving satisfactorily, that from any cause it has not been in the power of such applicant to make his application, or to present himself for examination within the period presented by law, it shall and may be lawful for the Governor, Lieut. Governor, or Person administering the Government of this Province, to authorize the examination of such person by the Medical Boards and that upon the production of the certificate of such Board, declaring that the applicant is a proper person by reason of disability to be placed upon the Pension List of this Province, the name of such applicant shall be placed upon the Militia Pension list, and the payment of his pension shall take date from the time of his application, by Petition, either to the Government or to the Legislature of this Province, since the passing of the act hereby continued.

IV. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that the eleventh clause, and all other provisions of the aforesaid recited act, relative to the appointment of Pension Agent, and the several duties to be performed on account of the appointment of such Agent be, and the same are hereby repealed.

V. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that the several Pensions authorised to be paid by this act shall be paid by the Receiver General of this Province out of any Monies that now are, or which may hereafter come into his hands, subject to the disposition of the Parliament of this Province and in discharge of such warrant or warrants as may be issued by the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, or Person administering the Government of this Province, and it shall and may be lawful for the Governor Lieut. Governor, or person administering the Government, to order and direct that the said Pensions authorised to be paid by this act shall be paid either in advance or by quarterly or half yearly payments, as to him shall seem proper, and the said several sums of money, when so paid, shall be accounted for to His Majesty, His Heirs or Successors, through the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, in such manner and form as His Majesty, His Heirs and Successors, may please to direct.

VI. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that when and so often as the Governor, Lieut. Governor, or Person administering the Government shall order and direct a proportion of the Pensions authorised to be paid by this act, the aforesaid Receiver General shall insert a notice thereof in the York Gazette, for three Months immediately after such aforesaid order and direction.

VII. And whereas it is inexpedient unnecessarily to multiply warrants, be it therefore further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that it shall and may be lawful for the Governor, Lieut. Governor, or Person administering the Government of this Province by one or more warrant or warrants, to order and direct the payment and appropriation of the several sums therein named by the said Receiver General to the purposes of this act.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as Settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepared in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District.

2. All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and not appropriated for public purposes, will be offered for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3. All persons proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts, on payment of a fee of 2s. 6d.

4. All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5. The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments, as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement—A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6. On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply, in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8. Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions.

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing, through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form, Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres.

11. No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending in the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12 A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase.

13. The quit rent will be redeemable within the first 25 years next following the grant, on payment of a sum equal to twenty times the annual amount of it.

14. Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it.

15 Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hundred Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On failure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16. No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessary expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17. Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprized in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18. Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of these general Rules.

19. U. E. Loyalists and other persons entitled to gratuitous Grants by the general regulation of His Majesty's Government, are not to be affected by these Rules.

The above Rules to take effect from the first of January 1826.

Upper Canada Paper Mill.

THE Subscriber having in view the erection of a PAPER MILL at this place, to be in operation in the course of the month of May ensuing, solicits the patronage of the Public in supplying RAGS sufficient to keep the same in full employment, for which he will give as high a price as is usually given by the Paper-Makers in the adjacent parts of the United States and means will be taken to send for the same, when a quantity is collected at any one point in any part of the Province, which will be paid for either in Money or Paper, as may best suit the proprietor.

The advantages to this Colony from the establishment of a Paper-Mill, are so obvious and so numerous that the Subscriber hopes that persons to whom the value of RAGS may be no object, will (from patriotic motives) lend their assistance in securing a domestic supply; otherwise one great object in establishing such a manufacture, namely, that of keeping money among the colonists, will be defeated.

An Act to encourage the progress of Useful Arts within this Province.

[Passed 30th Jan. 1826.]

WHEREAS it is expedient for the encouragement of Genius, and of Arts in this Province, to secure an exclusive right to the Inventor of any New and Useful Art, Machine, Manufacture or Composition of Matter: Be it therefore enacted, by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and Assembly of the Province of Upper Canada, constituted and assembled by virtue of and under the authority of an Act passed in the Parliament of Great Britain intituled, "an Act to repeal certain parts of an Act passed in the Fourteenth Year of His Majesty's Reign intituled, 'an Act for making more effectual provision for the Government of the Province of Quebec, in North America, and to make further provision for the Government of the said Province,'" and by the authority of the same, That when any subject of His Majesty, being an inhabitant of this Province, shall allege that he has invented any new and useful Art, Machine, Manufacture or Composition of Matter, not known or used before the application, and shall present a Petition to the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, or Person Administering the Government of the Province, for the time being, signifying a desire of obtaining an exclusive property in the same, and praying that a Patent may be granted therefore, it shall and may be lawful for the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, or Person Administering the Government of the Province, for the time being to direct that Letters Patent shall be made out, under the Great Seal of this Province, and passed in the usual form, reciting the substance of the said Petition and giving a short description of the said invention or discovery, and granting therefore to the said Petitioner, or Petitioners, his, her, their Executors, Administrators or Assigns, for a term not exceeding Fourteen Years, the full and exclusive right and liberty of making, constructing, using, vending to others to be used, the said Invention or Discovery, which Letters Patent, so far as the same may be conformable to this Act, shall be good and available to the Grantee or Grantees after the same shall have been recorded in a Book to be kept for that purpose in the office of the Secretary and Register of this Province, and the same read, when so recorded, be delivered by the proper Officer to the Patentee or his order.

II. Provided always, and be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That any Person who shall have discovered an Improvement in the Principle of any Machine, or Composition of Matter, which shall have been Patented and shall have obtained a Patent for such improvement, shall not be at liberty to make, use, or vend the original discovery but the Improvement only, nor shall the first Inventor be at liberty to use the Improvement and it is hereby enacted and declared that simply changing the form or the proportion of any Machine or Composition in any degree shall not be deemed a discovery.

III. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That every Inventor before he can receive a Patent shall swear, or being a Quaker, Menonist, Tunker, or belonging to the Society called United Brethren, or Moravians, affirm that he does verily believe that he is the true Inventor or discoverer of the Art, Machine, or Improvement for which he solicits a Patent, (which oath or affirmation may be made before any Justice of the Peace) and shall deliver a written description of his invention or Improvement, and of the manner or process of compounding the same in such full, clear, and exact terms as to distinguish the same from all other things before known, and to make any person skilled in the Art or Science of which it is a branch, or with which it is most clearly connected, to make, compound, and use the same, and in the case of any Machine, he shall fully explain the principle, and the several modes in which he has contemplated the application of that principle, or character, by which it may be distinguished from other Inventions, and he shall accompany the whole with drawings and written references, where the nature of the case admits of drawings, or with the specimens of the ingredients or of the composition of matters, sufficient in quantity for the purpose of experiment, which description, signed by himself and attested by two witnesses, shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of the Province, and certified copies thereof shall be received as evidence in all Courts where competent evidence in all Courts where any matter or thing touching Patent Right may come in question: Provided always nevertheless, That such Inventor shall not ever deliver a model of the Machine by him invented, provided the Secretary shall deem such model to be necessary.

IV. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That it shall be lawful for any Inventor, his Executors, or Administrators, by an Instrument under Seal duly executed, to Assign the Title and Interest in the said Invention at any time, and the Assignee or Assignees, and his or their Assignee or Assignees after any number of such Assignments subsequently made, which Assignments shall be entered of record in the office of the said Secretary of the Province, upon proof of the execution thereof, by affidavit made by a subscribing witness before any Judge of the Court of King's Bench, or a Commissioner for taking affidavits in the said Court, shall stand and be to all intents and purposes in the place of the original Patentee of such Invention.

V. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That if any person shall make or Manufacture for Sale any article or Composition so Invented, or shall make or Manufacture, or make use of any Instruments or Machinery so Invented or Specified, the exclusive right of which shall aforesaid have been secured to any person by Patent, without the consent of the Patentee, his Heirs and Assigns, or other Lawful representatives first obtained in writing, every person so infringing such Patents shall be liable to an Action for the same, in which, besides such damages as shall be awarded by the Jury, the parties injured shall also recover treble costs to be taxed by the Master.

VI. Provided always and be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That it upon trial in any such Action it shall be made apparent to the satisfaction of the Court, the Defendant having specially pleaded the same, that the specification filled by the Plaintiff does not contain the whole truth relative to his discovery or that it contains more than is necessary to produce the described effect, which concealment or addition shall fully appear to have been made for the purpose of deceiving the Public or that the thing thus secured by Patent was not originally discovered by the Patentee but had been in use or had been described in some public, Work anterior to the supposed discovery of the Patentee or that he had surreptitiously obtained a Patent for the discovery of another person, then in either of these cases a verdict shall be rendered for the Defendant and such Patent shall be declared void.

authority of his Act have been fraudulently or surreptitiously obtained, or have issued improvidently, or upon false suggestion; Be it therefore further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that at any time within three Years, after the issuing of any such Patent as aforesaid, it shall and may be lawful for any person or Persons, desirous of impeaching the same for any such cause as aforesaid, to obtain an exemplification of such Patent under the Great Seal of this Province, and to have the same filled by the Clerk of the Crown and Pleas in this Province, and that upon such exemplification being so filed, the Letters Patent so exemplified shall be considered as remaining of record in the Court of King's Bench so that a writ of Scire Facias under the Seal of the said Court may issue, grounded upon the said Record, for the purpose of repealing the same for legal cause as aforesaid, if upon the proceedings which shall be had upon the said writ of Scire Facias, according to the Law and practice of the Court of King's Bench in England, the same shall be declared void.

IX. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That a Certificate of the Judgment by which any such Patent as aforesaid shall have been declared void under the Seal of the Court of King's Bench, shall at the request of any party be entered upon the margin of the enrolment of such Patent in the Office of the Secretary and Register of this Province, whereupon the said Patent shall be considered to be cancelled and made void.

X. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That every Person claiming to be an Inventor as aforesaid, and presenting a Petition signifying his desire to obtain a Patent pursuant to this Act, shall pay into the hands of the Secretary of the Province, or other person appointed to do the duty of that Office, the like fee as is paid for other special Instruments issued under the Great Seal of this Province in full of all fees demandable for the said Patent, and that for every copy which may be required of the enrolment of any such Patent, the person requiring the same shall pay the fee ordinarily charged for copies in the said Office, and the further sum of Ten Shillings for the affixing the Great Seal to the exemplification of any such Patent, and that for every such Certificate of Judgment as is herein before mentioned, declaring any such Patent as aforesaid to be void the Clerk of the Crown and Pleas shall be entitled to receive the sum of Five Shillings, and the sum of Two Shillings and six pence may be charged and taken by the Register of the Province for the entry of the same, and that the said Register may also charge the sum of One Shilling per Folio, of seventy two words for Recording every Assignment as is mentioned in this Act.

MOST GRACIOUS SOVEREIGN,

WHEREAS an Act Passed in the Second Year of your Majesty's Reign intituled, "An Act to Repeal an Act passed in the Fifty Fifth year of His late Majesty's Reign, intitled 'An Act to explain and amend an Act passed in the Fifty Third year of His late Majesty's Reign, intituled An Act to provide for the maintenance of Persons disabled, and the widows and children of such persons as may be killed in His Majesty's service, and also, An Act passed in the Fifty Sixth year of His late Majesty's Reign, intituled An Act to repeal part of, and to alter and amend the Laws now in force, for granting Pensions to persons disabled in the service, and the widows and children of persons who may have been killed in the service, and to extend the provisions of the same; and an Act passed in the Fifty Seventh year of His late Majesty's Reign, intituled An Act to repeal part of and amend an Act passed in the Fifty Sixth year of His late Majesty's Reign, intituled An Act to repeal part and to alter and amend the Laws now in force for granting Pensions to persons disabled in the service, and the widows and children of persons who may have been killed in the service, and to extend the provisions of the same," and to make provision for granting Pensions to persons disabled in the service, and to the widows and children of persons who may have been killed in the service, or who may have died while in captivity with the enemy, during the late War with the United States of America, is about to expire, and it is expedient to continue and amend the same, May it therefore please your Majesty that it may be enacted, And be it therefore enacted, by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and Assembly of the Province of Upper Canada, constituted and assembled by virtue of and under the authority of an Act passed in the Parliament of Great Britain intituled "an Act to repeal certain parts of an Act passed in the Fourteenth Year of His Majesty's Reign intituled 'an Act for making more effectual provision for the Government of the Province of Quebec, in North America, and to make further provision for the Government of the said Province," and by the authority of the same, That such parts of the said Act as are now in force, except in so far as the same are hereby repealed or altered, shall be and continue in force for the space of four years.

II. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That a list of all persons receiving Pensions under the above recited Act, shall be published three several times in the Upper Canada Gazette, in the Month of March in every second year after the passing of this Act, the first publication thereof to be made in the month of March next after the passing of this act, and that the officer paying such Pensions shall furnish an abstract thereof for that purpose, specifying the name of such Pensioners, the District in which he or she resides, and the account on which the said Pension is Payable, namely, whether an account of being disabled in action with the enemy, or as the widow remaining unmarried of Militia Man killed in action with the enemy, or by casualty while on service; stating the name of Militia Man, or as the Guardian or other Person acting on behalf of the child or children of a Militia Man killed in action with enemy, or by casualty while on service, naming such Militia Man and also naming the child of such Militia Man, stated to be still under the age of sixteen years.

III. And whereas certain persons have represented by Petition to the Legislature that being entitled by law to Pensions on account of disability from wounds received in action with the enemy, and being from this Province at the time of the passing of the Statute hereinbefore recited, and ignorant of the provisions therein contained, they have been precluded from receiving the bounty intended to be bestowed upon persons under similar circumstances with themselves: be it therefore further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that it shall be in the power of the Governor, Lieut Governor, or Person administering the Government of this Province, upon application of any person, stating by petition and proving satisfactorily, that from any cause it has not been in the power of such applicant to make his application, or to present himself for examination within the period presented by law, it shall and may be lawful for the Governor, Lieut. Governor, or Person administering the Government of this Province, to authorize the examination of such person by the Medical Boards and that upon the production of the certificate of such Board, declaring that the applicant is a proper person by reason of disability to be placed upon the Pension List of this Province, the name of such applicant shall be placed upon the Militia Pension list, and the payment of his pension shall take date from the time of his application, by Petition, either to the Governament or to the Legislature of this Province, since the passing of the act hereby continued.

VI. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that when and so often as the Governor, Lieut. Governor, or Person administering the Government shall order and direct a proportion of the Pensions authorised to be paid by this act, the aforesaid Receiver General shall insert a notice thereof in the York Gazette, for three Months immediately after such aforesaid order and direction.

VII. And whereas it is inexpedient unnecessarily to multiply warrants, be it therefore further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that it shall and may be lawful for the Governor, Lieut. * N. B. No Guardian appointed, nor has any application for the Guardianship been made.

The Receiver General will commence to pay at his Office, in York, the above Pensions on the 1st of July next, and will require, when Powers of Attorney are granted, and the necessary Certificates pointed out by the Provincial Statute, passed in the 2nd Year of His Majesty's Reign, Chap. 4. to be in Duplicate.

In Council 21st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as Settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepared in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District.

2 All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and not appropriated for public purposes, will be offered for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3. All persons proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts, on payment of a fee of 2s. 6d.

4. All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5. The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments, as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement —A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6. On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply, in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8. Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions.

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing, through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form, Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres.

11. No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending in the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12. A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase.

14. Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it.

15 Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hundred Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On failure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16. No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessary expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17. Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprized in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18. Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of these general Rules.

19. U. E. Loyalists and other persons entitled to gratuitous Grants by the general regulation of His Majesty's Government, are not to be affected by these Rules.

The above Rules to take effect from the first of January 1826.

By Order of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor.

Upper Canada Paper Mill.

THE Subscriber having in view the erection of a PAPER MILL at this place, to be in operation in the course of the month of May ensuing, solicits the patronage of the Public in supplying RAGS sufficient to keep the same in full employment, for which he will give as high a price as is usually given by the Paper-Makers in the adjacent parts of he United States and means will be taken to send for the same, when a quantity is collected at any one point in any part of the Province, which will be paid for either in Money or Paper, as may best suit the proprietor.

The advantages to this Colony from the establishment of a Paper-Mill, are so obvious and so numerous that the Subscriber hopes that persons to whom the value of RAGS may be no object, will (from patriotic motives) lend their assistance in securing a domestic supply; otherwise one great object in establishing such a manufacture, namely, that of keeping money among the colonists, will be defeated.

No 2—tf. Clk Ex. Council

In Council 21st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as Settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepared in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District.

2 All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and not appropriated for public purposes, will be offered for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3. All persons proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts, on payment of a fee of 2s. 6d.

4. All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5. The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments, as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement—A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6. On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply, in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8. Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions.

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing, through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form, Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres.

11 No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending in the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12 A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase

13. The quit rent will be redeemable within the first 25 years next following the grant, on payment of a sum equal to twenty times the annual amount of it.

14. Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it.

15. Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hundred Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On failure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16. No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessary expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17. Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprized in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18. Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of these general Rules.

19. U. E. Loyalists and other persons entitled to gratuitous Grants by the general regulation of His Majesty's Government, are not to be affected by these Rules.

The above Rules to take effect from the first of January 1826.

Upper Canada Paper Mill.

THE Subscriber having in view the erection of a PAPER MILL at this place, to be in operation in the course of the month of May ensuing, solicts the patronage of the Public in supplying RAGS sufficient to keep the same in full employment, for which he will give as high a price as is usually given by the Paper-Makers in the adjacent parts of he United States and means will be taken to send for the same, when a quantity is collected at any one point in any part of the Province, which will be paid for either in Money or Paper, as may best suit the proprietor.

The advantages to this Colony from the establishment of a Paper-Mill, are so obvious and so numerous that the Subscriber hopes that persons to whom the value of RAGS may be no object, will (from patriotic motives) lend their assistance in securing a domestic supply; otherwise one great object in establishing such a manufacture, namely, that of keeping money among the colonists, will be defeated.

No 21f . Clk Ex Council

In Council 21st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as Settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepared in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District.

2 All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and not appropriated for public purposes, will be offered for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3. All persons proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts, on payment of a fee of 2s. 6d.

4. All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5. The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments, as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement.—A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6. On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply, in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8 Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing, through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form, Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres.

11. No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending in the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12. A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase.

14. Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it.

15 Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before-mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hundred Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On failure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16. No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessary expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17. Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprized in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18. Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of these general Rules.

19. U. E. Loyalists and other persons entitled to gratuitous Grants by the general regulation of His Majesty's Government, are not to be affected by these Rules.

The above Rules to take effect from the first of January 1826.

Upper Canada Paper Mill.

THE Subscriber having in view the erection of a PAPER MILL at this place, to be in operation in the course of the month of May ensuing, solicits the patronage of the Public in supplying RAGS sufficient to keep the same in full employment, for which he will give as high a price as is usually given by the Paper-Makers in the adjacent parts of the United States and means will be taken to send for the same, when a quantity is collected at any one point in any part of the Province, which will be paid for either in Money or Paper, as may best suit the proprietor.

The advantages to this Colony from the establishment of a Paper-Mill, are so obvious and so numerous that the Subscriber hopes that persons to whom the value of RAGS may be no object, will (from patriotic motives) lend their assistance in securing a domestic supply; otherwise one great object in establishing such a manufacture, namely, that of keeping money among the colonists, will be defeated.

CHAP. XXI.

An Act to Authorize certain Persons therein named, and their successors to hold certain Lands for the purpose therein mentioned.

[Passed 30th Jan'y, 1826.]

WHEREAS Thomas Carfrae the younger, Peter McPhail and other inhabitants of the Town of York, have by their Petition set forth that owing to the rapid influx of inhabitants of the Town of York, and the small portions of Ground hitherto allotted for the purpose of cemeteries, it has become desirable that a plot be obtained for the purpose of a General Burying Ground, as well for strangers as for the inhabitants of the Town of whatsoever sect or denomination they may be. That several meetings of the inhabitants of the said Town have been held in order to fix upon some plan to obtain the required land for that purpose, and that arrangements have been made for purchasing and inclosing by means of a private subscription, a Tract of six acres of Land in the vicinity of the Town of York; and whereas it is prayed by the said Petition, that Peter Paterson, John Ewart, Thomas Carfrae the younger, Thomas David Morrison, and Thomas Hallowell, who have been nominated by the Subscribers as Trustees, may be enabled to hold to them and their successors in a corporate capacity, the six acres of Land which shall be purchased for the purpose aforesaid, and that Power be given to make such Rules and Regulations as may be necessary respecting the same. Be it therefore enacted, by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and Assembly of the Province of Upper Canada, constituted and assembled by virtue of and under the authority of an Act passed in the Parliament of Great Britain, intituled "An Act to repeal certain parts of an Act passed in the Fourteenth Year of His Majesty's Reign, intituled 'An Act for making more effectual provision for the Government of the Province of Quebec, in North America, and to make further provision for the Government of the said Province," and by the authority of the same, That it shall and may be lawful for the said Peter Paterson, John Ewart, Thomas Carfrae the Younger, Thomas David Morrison, and Thomas Hallowell, to purchase, have, hold, receive, and take a conveyance of any such convenient parcel or Tract of land in the Township of York not exceeding six acres in the whole as they may be enabled to contract for, for the purpose aforesaid, and that it shall and may be lawful for the said Trustees so purchasing such Parcel or Tract of Land, and their successors to be appointed as hereinafter mentioned, to have, and to hold the same to and for the use and purpose aforesaid in perpetuity for ever.

II. And in order to prevent the failure of such estate in succession, be it therefore enacted, that whenever it shall happen that more than two of the Trustees herein named, shall die or shall become resident abroad, or become incapable of acting in the said trust, it shall be in the power of the Inhabitant Householders of the Town of York, upon notice thereof being given in the Government Gazette, at least Thirty days before such meeting by the remaining Trustee or Trustees to elect at a meeting to be held on the first Monday in the month of January, by the vote of the majority of such householders, the requisite number of trustees from among the Inhabitant Householders of the said Town of York, to complete the number of five Trustees, and that immediately upon such election, the six acres of land so to be purchased as aforesaid shall become legally voted in such Trustees.

III. And be it further enacted, by the authority aforesaid, That the trustees for the time being for the purposes of this Act, shall have power at all times hereafter to make such rules and regulations not repugnant to the Laws of this Province, as may be necessary for the due management of the said land for the purpose aforesaid.

CHAP. XXV.

Executive Council Office,
York, 23rd March, 1826

NOTICE is hereby given, by ORDER of His EXCELLENCY the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in COUNCIL, that in future, the First Wednesday in every Month will be a regular Council day.

JOHN SMALL.
No. 9 1. f. C. E. C.

In Council 21st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepard in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District.

2 All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and appropriated for public purposes, will be offerd for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3 All persons proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts on payment of a fee of 2s. 6d.

4 All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5 The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement—A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6 On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply, in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8. Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions.

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form, Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres.

11. No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending in the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12. A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase.

14. Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it.

15. Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hundred Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On failure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant. It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16. No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessarry expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17. Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprized in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18. Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of these general Rules.

19. U. E. Loyalists and other persons entitled to gratuitous Grant by the general regulation of His Majesty's Government, are not to be affected by these Rules.

The above Rules to take effect from the first of January 1826.

RECOLLECTIONS OF INFANCY.

How pleasing are the tales of memory!
The joys of Childhood, happy Infancy,
How sweet the thoughts that pensiveness delight,
When glow anew to fancy's raptured sight
The days of Innocence! the smiling hours
When boyhood roved in hope's unfading bowers,
When all was happiness, serene and gay,
And joy unceasing led the hours away.

Oh is there one who ne'er delights to meet
The blissful spot where strayed his infant feet,
Again to wander o'er his native fields,
And taste the pensive pleasures memory yields!
Who never loves again the scenes to roam
Affection's fondest, Friendship's dearest home!
Ah no, the smile that blessed his early years,
By memory cherished, every scene endears;
Though haply to some distant clime removed,
Still turns his heart to every haunt he loved
In joyous youth; still charm his musing hours,
The thoughts of earliest times; his happy native bowers.

LINES

ON THE LOSS OF THE COMET STEAM BOAT.

The boat stole o'er the dark blue sea,
To the silver strains of minstrelsy;
And the hearts on board were gay and light,
As the fairy forms that sport by night:
The sire and son, and maid and bride,
Parted o'er the deck as time swept the tide;
Ah! little they deemed that wave would be
The gate that led to eternity!
Sudden the crash, the waters dark
Opened their bosom for that lorn bark;
And sire and bride, and son and sire,
Were hurried to the eternal bourne.
Many a foot shall pace the shore,
To welcome those who will come no more;
Many an eye be all wetched in vain
For those whom they ne'er will see again!
Many a widowed heart shall thrae,
As its dreams of night re-whisper woe;
And oh how loud be the orphan's wail
When in days to come it shall hear the tale!
Yet ah, how calmly the waters sweep
O'er the fair one's rest, the brave one's sleep!
Cold is the billow that passes by,
But colder the hearts that beneath it lie!
We who here seem the young and gay
Pass in the spirit of life away,
May mourn and shudder how short the space
From life to the deathly dwelling place;
And memory, too, in years to come,
Shall still relate of their helpless doom;
And pause, when passing that cold cold wave,
To weep the fate of the fair and brave.

MISCELLANEOUS.

COMPLAINT AND PETITION OF THE PUBLIC.

To the very learned, tasteful, and industrious, the Editor of the European Magazine,

The Complaint and Petition of his well wishers and admirers, the British Public.

Sheweth and Prayeth:—

That whereas, from time immemorial, various parties and individuals have been, and continue to be in the daily habit of usurping our name, or pretending to engage in schemes and perform acts for our benefit, while not only to us generally, but to every one of us severally, excepting the said parties themselves, the said schemes and actions have not only been of no use whatever, but have been invented and carried on by the said parties for their own benefit, and to the intent that they might profit by this their imposture upon our credulity, we feel it a duty incumbent on us to state to you, as one of our choicest benefactors (meaning thereby, since in your New Series you became one of us, and known and loved as such) the great loss and grievance that we have thus sustained, to the end that you may interpose, and save us from those scandalous usurpations of our name, and daring impositions upon our good nature.

It would be tedious to set forth the whole, or even a reasonable portion of those impostures or impositions, which have been perpetrated in our own name against us; and therefore we, as both your time and ours is precious, shall only mention a few as a specimen. In the first place, numerous persons have advertised meetings, and dinders, sung songs, made bad speeches, and done a variety of matters, by which our true interests, instead of being futhered, as the parties have falsely alleged, have never been consulted. In the second place, more especially during the last year, the gamblers of Bartholomew Lane, whose actions instead of being in any way authorized by us, have been carfully concealed in their origin and object, have nevertheless by every dissimulation and gloss which depraved imaginations could invent, brought forward schemes and projects whereby we have, to an enormous amount, been spoiled of our property, and spoiled too by those who never could render us any service, and who, though they had had the means, never would have had the intention. In the third place, many authors, printiers, and booksellers, have, for many year hye-gone, but more especially during the last one, proiended to publish for our benefit a variety of books which we have found it impossible to read, even though the whole materials of which the said books have been composed have been well known, and highly prized by us in a former shape. In the fourth place, we have been grevi-ously imposed upon by the proprietors and publishers of newspapers and magazines; which during the period aforesaid have hawked about and tried to represent as ours, a great variety of matters, which must have been pilfered from the private repositories of individuals, and which as they could be of no manner of use except to the parties interested, were really not worth the stealing.

In the course of the said period too, we have been grossly misrepresented, in as much as it has been alleged that we have been in various places which we solemnly declare we have not frequented, and do not intend to frequent; and that we have been alleged to encourage and patronize various individuals with whom we are not at all acquainted, and of whose names we have heard only by the most vague and accidental rumour. It has, for instance, been reported that we have been at all the theatres, great and small, metropolitan and provincial, during every night of their performance; whereas we solemnly declare that our taste for scenic representation is very much abated, and that instead of regularly attending such places, we have not been collectively and substantially there for a very long period, nor until authors and managers so alter their systems as to become a little more worthy of us, do we intend even once to visit them. Again, it has been said that we have given ourselver a great deal of trouble in attending the meetings of the Mechanic's Institution, and establishing the East London College, and the West London Academy. Now we solemnly protest that no such institutions ever originated with us, were patronized by us, or so much as entered our heads. Certain pretenders, whom we had found useless, and therefore discarded, set up establishments, for the purpose of bestowing upon each other those praises and encomiums of which we thought them entirely undeserving; and therefore these, and all other combinations of the same class, ought and should be described, not as originating with us, or being in any way conducive to our good, but rather as being the efforts of discarded and desperate persons, whom we could not avoid parting with in consequence of uselessness or vice.

With regard to persons again, there is not a pretending fool in the whole country that has not been, by himself or his emissaries, attempted to be palmed upon us. We solemnly declare that we know no such names as Joseph Hume, George Birkbeck, William Cobbett, Henry Hunt, Alexander Galloway, Robert Waitham, Jeremy Bentham, Goss, and Co. Robert Warren, or Alderman Wood; and yet persons of that description have caused it to be proclaimed at meetings, printed in newspapers, carried about on placards, and scratched upon walls, that we were very much their debtors for a number of very meritorious services; whereas we should never have lamented a single moment although the whole bevy, and hundreds other that we could name, had been at the bottom of the Thames, or even in that more appropriate dwelling place the moon, or any other lunatic asylum.

But it would be absolutely endless to recapitulate all the impostures of which we have been the victims; and so your own imagination and ingenuity must be left to supply what we have not stated.

We pray that you may be pleased to do so, and tell us, the Public, what really is the Public, and what is not; for in the confusion of so many impostors, we have absolutely lost the feeling of our own identity, and taking us individually we are altogether at a loss to know whether we are, or are not the Public. Will you just protest for us, that a few half-drunken apprentices in the pit of a minor theatre; a few gossiping old women rendered nervous by tea, and put in breeches; a few blackguards at the ring or the pit, or a few fools bandying about a sentence of unmeaning and unmerited thanks, are not the Public, and having told this, we the party imposed on shall, as in duty bound, ever read, &c.

THE BRITISH PUBLIC.

ENGLAND.

THE REVENUE.

We lay before our readers to day a complete series of the Financial Documents for the Quarter just terminated; and we rejoice to find that, notwithstanding the late storm of commercial distress which has assailed the national resources, the Revenue is in a favourable state. When, between one given period and another, large amounts of Taxes are repealed, and when, in the interval, convulsions of a serious nature occur in the trading world, it would be idle to suppose that the produce of the Revenue should remain undiered. Every person of common sense knew that the Revenue of the Quarter ending yesterday must be less than that ending on the 5th of April, 1825; it was distinctly so stated by the Chancellor of the Exchequer on opening his budget. The actual difference is £682,799, of which £554,000 arises from the Customs and Excise; and upon referring to what fell from the Right Hon. Gentleman on the 13th of March, it will be found that this comparitive diminution is less than he had anticipated. The Chancellor of the Exchequer calculated that the whole loss which was to be expected to arise in the year 1826, from the reduction that took place in those duties last year, would fall upon the first quarter of the present year (that is to say, on the Quarter which we are now revising;) and he estimated that loss at £350,000. He expected further, that additional loss from diminished consumption would occur upon the Customs and Excise, during this year, to the amount of £1,300,000. Supposing therefore that one fourth of that loss had fallen also upon the first Quarter of the year, it would have amounted to £325,000; and consequently the total loss which Mr. Robinson anticipated in the quarter just ended, on the Customs and Excise, was £675,000; but the actual loss being already stated only £554,000, there has been in these important branches of Revenue an improvement over the Chancellor's estimate to the amount of £121,000. We are aware that the Right Hon. Gentleman's reasoning applied to the Revenue of the United Kingdom; whereas the returns upon which we are commenting refer solely to Great Britain. The Irish returns for the whole Quarter are not yet received; but if we are correctly informed, the last accounts show no loss at all upon the Customs and Excise in Ireland. With respect to the diminution that has occured under the heads of Stamp and Taxes, this, we understand, is mainly to be attributed to the orders given by the Treasury to those departments, to abstain as much as possible at the present moment from pressing for payment, where circumstances seem to warrant such an indulgence. A fact which has come to our knowledge appears very striking: it is this—the duties on British and Irish Spirits have undergone a reduction since March 1825; and yet the produce of the present Quarter (up to the 25 of March) has actually exceeded that of the corresponding period in the former year. This surely shows that the comforts of the lower classes—for they are the great consumers of spirits—have not been curtailed, so far as regards one important article.—But there is another fact more curious. After the loud complaints of Mr. Malachi Malagrowther, it would naturally be supposed that poor Scotland was in the last stage of a decline. To our surprise we learn that, taking her whole gross receipt of Excise Duties for the period above-mentioned in 1825 (including articles reduced in duty, as well as others, and setting decrease against increase,) the produce of the same period in the present year is above £100,000 better!—Courier, April 6.

Parliament was expected to be prorogued about the 2d or 3d of June.

Dissolution of Parliament.—The dissolution of Parliament will, we understand, take place in the first or second week of June, the Commons intending to rise at the end of May, and have the elections over before the harvest, unless some very unusual and unexpected occurrence should take place.

The Duke of Devonshire had taken his farewell interview of Mr. Canning, previous to his departure for Russia, as the new ambassador.

The Liverpool and Manchester Rail Road Bill has passed the House of Commons and been sent up to the House of Lords, where it has been read once. It will undoubtedly become a law.

It was reported in London, on the authority of private letters from China, that fire had broken out in the suburbs of Canton, in four different places at the same time. It is supposed to be the work of incendiaries.

An interesting conversation upon the subject of Negro Slavery in the West Indies, took place in the House of Lords on the 17th of April. The grand debate, however, will not come on until the 11th of May, when Mr. Brougham's motion is to be taken up.

A long and animated debate took place in the House of Commons on the 16th of April, on the subject of the corn laws. The resolution for the House to go into committee to consider the propriety of a revision of the corn laws, negatived by 169 majority!

Lord Byron, for the first time, took his seat in the House of Lords on the 10th, as the successor of his immortal kinsman.

The Blonde frigate, Capt. Lord Byron, when refitted, will it is said, proceed to St. Petersburgh, to take on board the Duke of Wellington, and return with his Grace about the month of July.

The Royal Theatre, in London, was destroyed by fire on the 11th of April. The theatre was principally of wood, and so rapid was the burning, that nothing was saved. It is supposed to have caught from some sparks from the scene of Mount Vesevius, that must have lodged in the canvass work.

The Duke of Devonshire was to proceed to Russia, as ambassador extraordinary at the coronation of the Emperor. At St. Petersburg the Duke of Wellington and Nicholas frequently appeared in public together.

The London Times of the 7th says, "Mr. Stratford Canning has received orders to make such pressing remonstances to the Turkish government, against their cruel war with the Greek, that it is probable he will prevail upon him to comply; or if not, to declare, immediately the Independence of Greece, at least to cause a suspension of Military operations until the definite negotiations could be made. It is even expected that the news of an armistice will soon reach London."

A Constantinople paper of the 11th March say, Mr. Canning had already had an audience with the Reis Effendi, and that he had sent him a note in favour of the Greeks.

In regard to the precise objects of the mission of the Duke of Wellington to St. Petersburgh, but little is known. A thousand rumours and speculations are afloat, at least ninety-nine hundredths of which are entitled to no consideration whatever.

SCOTLAND.

GLASGOW, April 6.

Commercial affairs amongst us are not worse, but we cannot say that these have taken any decided turn for the better. Much distress nearly prevails amongst all classes, more especially those classes who are out of employment. To particularize it is unnecessary, indeed not practicable. We learn that there were considerable remittances and also account sales of goods, received by the Leeward Island mail. The general impression is, that markets abroad are not glutted with goods, and as the shipments for many months past have been upon a limited scale, we may reasonably conclude that sales will be readily effected and the demand become considerable.

Trade, we are happy to state, has somewhat revived in Leith within these few days. There have been several arrivals from foreign ports, and considerable bustle on the quays. The approach of the season for the spring sailings will materially contributed to enliven our port.—Edinburgh Paper.

Foreign Intelligence.

INDIA.

PEACE WITH THE BURMESE.

From the Salem Gazette.

We have received by the George a file of the Bengal Hurkaru, printed at Calcutta, to the 19th of January, and also a hand-bill issued on the morning of the 20th, containing intelligence of peace with the Burmese, and the conditions of the treaty, by which it seems the British have extended their possessions considerably.—The handbill is as follows:—

Calcutta, Jan. 20.

We this morning received an extra shipping report, announcing the arrival of the enterprise steam vessel from Rangoon 14th inst. She brings the satisfactory intelligence of peace with the Burmese. After the battles of the 24, 3d, and 5th, Sir Archibald Campbell moved on to Tatmagoe, 120 miles in advance of Prome, through a country fortified with the strongest stockades, but which had been defeated. The enemy had suffered severe loss, by the cholera and the ground was strewed with dead, in groupes of 20 and 40. Immediately on the arrival of Sir Archibald at Tatmagoe, he was met by the first minister Zootoo, sent expressly from Ava to sue for peace, and after several conferences this boon was granted on the following conditions:—The cession of Merque, Tavoy, Zea and Arracan to the British: Ava to receive a Resident, and Rangoon a Consul, together with the payment of one Coroe of Rupees (ten millions). The preliminary treaty is negotiated, and 15 days allowed for the ratification to arrive from Ava.

When the army advanced from Prome, Sir James Brisbane, in the Diana, moved up with the flotilla, and passed several batteries, mounting 15 to 30 guns of heavy calibre, without molestation, so great was the dread of provoking farther vengeance.

His Majesty's ship Champion left Rangoon on the 10th inst. having on board Capt. Snodgrass, with the dispatches, but was not seen by the Enterprize.

The papers contain accounts of repeated success of the British previous to the conclusion of the treaty of peace, of which it appears they were in daily expectation.

The Hurkaru of the 19th contains the following report of the surrender of the fortress of Bhurtpore to the British. This fortress has for many years defied the British power, and has acquired no little celebrity for its being almost the only strong place in India which has ever successfully opposed the British arms. Its fall has for some time been considered certain, and consequently a complete and lasting peace in India is anticipated; an event, says the Hurkaru, 'which her friends must ardently desire, and the obtaining of which will be accounted not the least glorious achievement of the British arms.'

The unconditional surrender of Bhurtpore, on the morning of the 8th inst. was yesterday very generally reported and believed. It is not correct, however, for we have seen letters of the 8th which state the storm was to take place that night or early on the morning of the 9th. One of these letters, however, mentioned that Durjunt Sal had offered to surrender his person to the discretion of the Commander in Chief, but not the fort. Permission was given him to come into our camp, but he was informed that the fort would, notwithstanding, be forthwith dismantled. This answer would no doubt determine Durjunt to remain where he was, as it would perhaps be the means of enabling him to pacify the refractory inmates of the fort, who have all along and very correctly, considered him the cause of strife between them and us. They have latterly treated him accordingly, and perhaps compelled him to make this unconditional surrender of his person. Had they done so sooner it might have had the desired effect, but we presume it is now too late.

Should we be mistaken in our conjecture that Durjunt did not voluntarily offer himself up to satisfy our wrath, and should he come into our camp, we presume an unconditional surrender will immediately be made, or rather by the influence of the opposite party, the gates will be thrown open, and we shall be invited to enter as friends, in which case, of course, we shall be able fully to indemnify ourselves for the expenses of the war; and, to prevent the necessity of another army ever being required to sit down before it, the walls will, no doubt, be demolished, or it will be garrisoned by British troops.

We should be happy to hear that any less fatal means than a storm gave us full possession of the fort and its treasures. We shall not be much longer kept in suspense, for we fully expect that before this day elapses, we shall have to announce its capture or unconditional surrender."

The superiority of the British forces in the present siege, compared with the siege of 1805, is immense, and such as to warrant a belief that the events cannot be alike. When Lord Lake encamped before Bhurtpore on the 2d of January, 1805, his cavalry did not exceed 2,000; and the number of his infantry was about 5,400; Lord Combermere, who commands the present siege, has 8,000 cavalry, and 24,000 infantry. The artillery in the first siege consisted of six 18 pounders, and four 8-inch, and four 5 1-2-inch mortars. It is now sixteen 24-pounders, thirty 18-pounders, four 12's, twelve 8-inch howitzers, and two 13-inch, twelve 10-inch, and forty-six 8-inch mortars.

GREECE.

Fall of Missilonghi.—The heroic defenders of Missolonghi have ceased to live! Reduced to 1,400 men, who were reduced to four ounces of biscuit, they saw, till the 17th of February, the storm gathering which was to swallow them up; the Egyptians, directed by Europeans, among whom there were unhappily some Frenchmen, having at that time completed the pontoons, by means of which they were to cross the shallows to attack Missolonghi on the side of Mavri Aliki, at which point there were no fortifications, because the lagoon defended the town on that side. On the 18th the enemy examined the ground, and the Turkish fleet having re-appeared at Procopopanistos, at the entrance of the Gulf of Missolonghi, there was every reason to expect an attempt to storm. From that day every individual prepared himself for death; and from the 19th to the 21st of February all the Christians celebrated their obsequies. The Bishop Joseph administered the sacrament to them, and, the service for the dead having been recited, every one repaired to his post.

From the 22d to the 25th all was tranquil in the camp of Ibrahim, and the enemy began in the night to place his pontoons. Two hours after sun-rise the European engineers had succeeded in approaching within 100 toises of the town and shouts announced the attack. Two lines of pontoons ending at the same point joined, the cannon of the Christians began to roar, the firing of the musketry commenced, and at eleven o'clock, two pontoons having been destroyed, the barbarians retired in disorder. Acclamations and cries of joy announced to the inhabitants of Missolonghi the triumph of the Cross.

The 26th of Feb. Ibrahim, having united all his forces, made a second attack, but without success.

On the 2d of March, in a third attack, the barbarians made themselves masters of the head of the causeway, and from that moment, the pontoons having been united at that point, the destruction of the Christians, who had only 427 able to fight, was considered inevitable; yet no thought of surrender entered any body's mind, and no mouth prohounced the word, capitulation: every one seemed only to think of selling his life dear. At length, on the 8th of March, (20th of March, new style,) the last hour of the Christians sounded. At ten o'clock the Turks had taken Missolonghi by storm, the Bishop Joseph had been burnt by a slow fire, all the men had been put to the sword, and the number of corpse drowned women and children choked up the lagoons.

The fatal assault on Missolonghi, it appears, was made by a force of 20,000 men, 185 cannons, and 48 mortars. The majority of the garrison was killed, and the place in ruins before it surrendered. The Governor of the citadel blew it up with 2,000 Turks. The writer of the letter of which this is an extract, was one of 3,000 who fought their way out of the garrison. Upwards of 4,000 Greeks were destroyed.

" St. Anne's near Lepanto, March 14.

Missolonghi has fallen. That heroic city, which for eighteen months had defeated the power of the Infidels and repulsed 82 attacks, was taken by storm on the 10th. Poor St. Aubyn fell on the occasion, but he died nobly. On the 8th, while we were rejoicing for our late victory, Ibrahim having been reinforced by 8000 troops, appeared before the place, and again summoned us to surrender, promising favorable conditions, which being refused, a sharp affair took place, the result of which was that he fell back, having lost 700 killed, 200 wounded, 400 prisoners, 4 pieces of cannon, and two standards. On the 9th he returned with 20,000 men, and a formidable train of artillery, surrounding the town on all sides.

We had only 7,000 men to oppose to him, and those worn out with fatigue, but all resolved to conquer or die. In the evening we received the Sacrament in the church of St. Sophia, and marched to our posts, from which few returned. At 10 o'clock the enemy opened a tremendous fire from 185 cannons and 48 mortars, which continued, without intermission, till 10 o'clock next morning, when the walls became a heap of ruins. The enemy then vigorously attacked us in four directions, and after two hours fighting, forced their way into the town. The conflict was now raging in the most deadly form. The streets were choked with the dead and wounded, whilst the blood was running in streams. The slaughter of the Turks was excessive, as every house was a complete fortress, and the ground disputed at the point of the bayonet, inch by inch. Our gallant French volunteers did wonders. Three times, headed by our brave and lamented St. Aubyn, they charged and drove back the enemy with great loss, taking a number of prisoners; but in making a fourth attack, our gallant St. Aubyn was shot in the breast, and died in my arms, leaving me with his last breath, to die rather than yield.

In the mean time the Governor defended himself with heroic obstinancy in the great Church, but the doors being forced, and most of his men killed or wounded, he sprung the mine, which destroyed both that and the citadel, overwhelming himself and two thousand Turks in one tremendous ruin. The enemy having now entire possession of the third fought town, we collected about 3,000 of the brave fellows who had fought so well, and after a hard contest, we succeeded in cutting our way out, leaving them in possession of a heap of ruins, which I have learned has cost Ibrahim nine thousand of his best troops in the last attack alone. I joined General Gouras on the 12th, with 2,000 men, 150 prisoners, six cannons, and nine standards taken from the enemy during the last fatal attack. We brought the body of St. Aubyn off with us, which will be interred to day with military honours. I received three slight wounds, but am now fast recovering."

RUSSIA.

St. Petersburgh, March 8.—The Duke of Wellington excites in this city, as elsewhere, a general interest. Every day, about eleven o'clock, a crowd of people of all ranks assemble before his hotel, waiting for an opportunity to see the illustrious commander. On his first audience at the Imperial Court, the Duke wore the insignia of the order of the Garter, and those of the order of St. George, which latter only two distinguished personages in Europe, besides himself, possess. On the 4th he and Prince Wrede were present at a public examination of the noble ladies of the Institution of St. Catharine. The following day the Duke's suit were presented at Court.

SUMMARY.

From English Papers, &c. to the 14th Ap.

At Nottingham the Lace Manufacture is reviving. The stocking trade continues much depressed.

The Spinners of Stockfort have turned out for an increase of wages; the masters have refuse to employ them, and the greatest distress has ensued.

Scarcely a twelve month has elapsed since the affairs in this town and neighbourhood seemed in the hey-day of prosperity. The labouring classes were all fully employed (many of them at greatly advanced wages in consequence of the competition which existed for their labour;) and they little expected the terrible reverse they were so soon to experience. They derived scarcely any real benefit from their advanced wages; they worked less and spent more, but they made little or no provision for their further support.—Manchesters Guardian.

On Wednesday, a Court of Directors was held at the East India House, when Edward Lawford, Esq. was appointed Solicitor to the Company, in the room of Henry Smith, Esq. deceased. The following ships were taken up, and thus stationed, viz. Lady Raffles, Florentia, Abberlon, and Rockingham, for Bengal; Asia and Ann, and Amelia, for China and Quebec; and Lord Amherst, for China and Halifax.

It is stated that there has not been one application to the Bank of England, for an advance of money on goods, from Britol.

The Coaches from Leeds to London now travel at a degree of speed unprecedented. On Wednesday last "the Union" and "the Rockingham" both reached Samford in seven hours fifty-two minutes, the distance being nearly 110 miles.

The new railroad coach between Stockton and Darlington, with one horse and twenty passengers, performs the journey, a distance of eleven miles, in one hour and a quarter, the inside fare being a shilling, the outside ninepence.

A tolerable idea may be formed of the profits, or rather plunder, derived from a gaming-house, when it is stased that the keeper of a certain hell actually lost and paid £18,000 to a noble Earl in one bet at the Doncaster races.

Weber, the composer of the Freyschutz, is the great curiosity in London. He has received, on various occasions, fifty guineas an evening for attending the concerts of the nobility. The copy-right of the music of his own opera, Oberon, has been purchased for 1000 guineas.

Cobbett held another feast of the Gridiron on the 7th April, at the City of London Tavern. We have only space to remark that the feast was by much the most rational part of the entertainment.

Port of London.—The trade of London employs about 3,500 ships, the cargoes entering the port being annually not less than 13,500. On an average 1,100 ships are in the river at one time; together with 3,-419 barges and other small craft, employed in lading and unlading them; 2,208 barges and other craft, engaged in the inland trade, and 3,000 wherries or small boats for passengers. To this active scene which the port of London exhibits, are to be added about 8,000 watermen actually employed in navigating the wherries and craft, 4,000 labourers lading and unlanding ships, and 1,200 revenue officers constantly doing duty on the river, beside the crews of the several vessels. This scene occupies a space of six miles on the Thames, from two miles above to four miles below London Bridge and Limehouse.

His Majesty has, with his characteristic munificence, made a second donation of One thousand Pounds to the Spitalfield's Committee.

COURT OF APPEALS.

APRIL TERM, 1826.

JUDGMENT delivered by the Honorable Mr. Justice Kerr, in the case of Francois Desrivieres, Esquire, Appellant, and the Honorable John Richardson and others, Respondents.

PRESENT:—The Honorables Jame Kerr, Olivier Perrault, William Smith, John Hale, Charles De Léry.

MR. JUSTICE KERR,

This case comes before the Court in such a shape that we are enabled to give a complete judgement on all the points, and as regards all the parties; and though it is not likely that the Respondents and Appellant will both be disposed to acquiesce in our judgment, in whatever scale our opinion may be cast, yet it becomes us to consider, and that maturely, whether the Judgment of the Court below can or cannot be supported in Law

In order to understand the different points which arise out of the pleadings and evidence, it is necessary to state this case at large.

Mr. McGill, a gentleman of large real and landed estate, made his Will at Montreal on the 8th of January 1811, by which he left a good share of his fortune to the defendant, Mr. Desrieres, who was in no degree related to him by blood; and to shew his love of learning, and to perpetuate his name, he bequeathed to Mr Richardson and others a land called Burnside, containing forty-six-acres, situated in the neighbourhood of the city of Montreal, in trust, that they should convey and assure the same to the "Royal Institution for the advancement of learning," constituted or to be constituted under an Act of the Provincial Parliament of the 41st of His late Majesty, c. 17, intituled, "An Act for the establishment of Free Schools and the advancement of learning in this Province;" upon condition that the Royal Institution, to use the words of the testastor, "do and shall within the space of ten years, to be accounted from the time of my decease, erect and establish, or cause to be erected and established upon the said last mention tract or parcel of land an University or College, for the purposes of education and the advancement of learning in this Province, with a competent number of professors and teachers to render such an establishment effectual and beneficial for the purposes intended, and if the said Royal Institution for the advancement of learning should so erect and establish, or cause to be erected and established an University, then upon condition also, that one of the Colleges to be comprised in the said University, should be named and perpetually be known and distinguished by the appellation of McGill College; and if the said Royal Institution for the advancement of learning should not so erect and establish or cause to be erected and established an University, but should erect and establish or cause to be erected and established a College only, then, upon the further condition that the said College should be named and perpetually be known and distinguished by the appellation of McGill College."

The testator further provides, that until such University or College shall be erected, the said Royal Institution, to use the testator's words, "shall permit my said wife, and in case of her death the said Francois Desrivieres to hold, possess and enjoy the said last mentioned dwelling house, buildings and premises, and to recover, have and receive all and every the rents, issues and profits thereof, to and for her and his use and benefit. And upon this other and further express condition, that if the said Royal Institution for the advancement of learning, should neglect to erect and establish or cause to be erected and established such University or College as aforesaid, in manner aforesaid, within the said space of ten years, to be accounted from the time of my decease," then in such a case, the said conveyance to the Royal Institution, shall after the expiration of the ten years be absolutely void, and upon trust, that the Respondents (Plaintiffs in the Court below,) and the survivor of them shall permit the testator's widow and the Appellant after her death, to enjoy the said land, dwelling house and premises, and recover, have and receive the rents and profits thereof, until the making and executing of the said conveyance and assurance to the Royal Institution. And its provided by the testator's will that if the Royal Institution should refuse to accept the said conveyance and assurance upon the said condition, or should after the making and accepting of the said conveyance, "neglect to erect and establish or cause to be erected and established such University or College as aforesaid, in manner aforesaid, within the said space of ten years, to be accounted from the time of his decease; or if from any legal cause, matter or thing, the said trust so as aforesaid, to convey and assure the said last mentioned tract or parcel of land and premises to the said Royal Institution for the advancement of learning, in the manner herein before directed, should be incapable of being accomplished, or carried into effect, or otherwise become or be deemed or be construed to be invalid, illegal or inoperative, then and in either or any of those cases," upon trust, that the Respondents or the survivor or survivors of them, or their heirs, &c. do and shall and from after the expiration of the ten years as aforesaid, by a good and sufficient Conveyance, convey the said tract of land to the Appellant, Mr. Desrivieres, (if then living) and to his heirs and assigns for ever, or if dead to his legal heirs and assigns for ever.

The testator further directs, that out of the rest of his estates, real and personal, which shall or may remain after satisfaction of all the legacies, the sum of £10,000 shall be paid to the Honorable John Richardson and James Reid of Montreal, the Revd. John Strachan, and James Dunlop, Esquire, their heirs, executors and curators to and for the purposes and upon the conditions following, that is upon trust, that they "do and shall pay the said sum of 10,-000*l.* with the interest to them thereon, from and after three years from the decease, to the said Royal Institution for the advancement of learning, when and as soon as the said Royal Institution for the advancement of learning shall have erected and established, or cause to be erected and established, a University or College, upon the last mentioned tract or parcel of land hereinafter directed to be conveyed to the said Royal Institution for the advancement of learning, in manner aforesaid, to be, by the said Royal Institution for the advancement of learning, paid and applied towards defraying the expense incurred in erecting and establishing the said University or College, and towards maintaining the same after it shall be erected and established in such manner and form, and under such regulations as the said Royal Institution for the advancement of learning shall, in this behalf, prescribe: Provided always, that such University or College be erected and established within ten years, to be accounted from the time of his death." It goes on to provide, that if such College should not be erected within the said space of ten years, then upon trust, that Mr. Richardson and the other Respondents, their survivors or survivor, or their heirs, &c. from, and immediately after the expiration of the said ten years, do and shall pay over the said £10,000, with interest accruing thereupon, to Mr. Desrivieres, if alive, to and for his use and benefit, or if dead, then to his legal heirs then living, to their use and benefit.

The Testator died on the 19th Dec. 1813.—On the 8th of October 1818, His Majesty, by his Letters Patent under the great Seal of the Province, constituted and established the corporation referred to in the Provincial Statute 41st, Geo. III, cap. 17, by the name of the "Royal Institution for the advancement of Learning;" —and on the 13th December, 1819, other Letters Patent passed the great Seal, by which a President was appointed to the Royal Institution who was made an integral part of the same.

The Royal Institution being thus erected, His Majesty was graciously pleased, by writ of Privy Seal, dated at Westminister, the 31st of March, in the second year of his reign, to ordain and grant, that upon the land and in the buildings described in the Testator's will, "There shall be established, from this time, "one College, at least, for the education of youth and students in the Arts and Faculties, to continue for ever, and that the first College to be erected thereon, shall be called McGill College;" and His Majesty was also pleased therein to appoint certain high Colonial Officers to be, with the Principal, elected by the same Governors of the said "McGill College;" "and to declare that the same, and four professors to be also elected, shall be a body politic and corporate in deed and in name, by the style and title of 'The Governors, Principal and Fellows, of M'Gill College."

These are the facts out of which this cause has arisen, wherein the plaintiffs below, (now respondents,) trustees under Mr. M'Gill's Will, seek to recover from the executors and residuary legatee, the sum of £10,000 and interest. Mr. Desrivieres, who is one of the defendants, and who has the money in his hands, intervenes also in the character of residuary legatee, and prays that the money may be declared to belong to him, the legacy having become lapsed.

The demand on the part of the Trustees has been contested with great pertinaciousness, and several points have been made in the argument both of the principal and cross-demand.

First,—That the legacy is null, as having been made in contravention of the Ordinance of 1743.

Secondly,—That no corporation was in existence, neither at the time of making the Will nor at the Tesiator's death, and, that having no capacity to receive the legacy, it became lapsed.

Thirdly,—That the erection of a material College, to be called "McGill College," on the land of Burnside, within ten years after the Testator's death, being a condition precedent to the legacy's attaching, and no such College having been erected within the said period, the legacy had become utterly defeated and determined.

Fourthly,—That the object of the bequest, namely, the erection of the College within the period prescribed in the Will, having become inoperative, Mr. Desrivieres was entitled to retain the £10,-000, as the special and substituted legatee under the Will.

1. As to the first ground of objection, whatever might have been the effect of the Ordinance of the French King of the year, 1743, the Provincial Statute of the 41st of His late Majesty granted full power to the Governor, by an Instrument under the great Seal of this Province, to establish free schools for the advancement of learning, and declared that the trustees and their successors, to be named as therein directed, shall be a Body corporate and politic, by the name of "The Royal Institution for the advancement of learning."—This statutary provision, by giving such licence to the Governor, completly does away with the ancient law in this respect, and renders this ground of objection unavailable.

2. The second objection is also untenable, for though it is admitted that a legacy is elapsed (i. e. caduc,) when left to an individual or to a body politic or corporate, not in esse, yet the principle does not apply to this case, inasmuch as the Trustees were alive when the Testator made his Will, and they received the bequest for the benefit of the Royal Institution so soon as it should please the Provincial Government to give to "airy nothing a local habitation and a name."

This mode of settlement, by appointing trustees to preserve contingent remainders was devised by Sir Orlando Bridgman and other eminent lawyers, during the time of the civil wars in England, and after the death of Charles the First, and these gentlemen maintained and enforced it after the restoration, from which period it has been the prevailing mode of conveyance.

It was to that expedient the Testator resorted to carry his Will into effect, and it would ill accord either with the principles of French or of English Law were the Court to lay down a rule which would defeat his intentions plainly manifested in his Will by the words "constituted or to be constituted."—But this mode of settlement was perhaps unnecessary to give effect to the bequest, for it was a rule of law, recognized and confirmed in the case of Sutton's Hospital, that "a thing which is not in esse, but in apparent expectancy, is regarded in law;" and the erection of free Schools, under the licence granted by the 41st Geo. III. was a measure of which there was an apparent expectancy.

3. This ground of objection requires a more minute examination, as holding a specious ground of defence;—and in order to give full effect to the answer to this objection, it is proper to refer to the words of the writ of Privy Seal, dated the 1st March, 1821, by which His Majesty ordains and grants, that upon the land in the building," described in the Testators's Will, "there shall be established, from this "time, one College, at the least, for the "education of Youth and Students in the "Arts and Faculties, to continue for ever, "and that the said first College to be erected thereon, shall be called 'M'Gill College."

The legal effect of these Letters Patent, was to convert the buildings and land appertaining to it into a M'Gill College in intendment, which (in the quaint language of Lord Coke) "is all that sufficeth."

The College was thereby called into a corporate and political existence, and all the benefits and advantages contemplated by the Testator in making his bequest of this money, attached to it in as great a degree as if the fabric had been originally raised and fitted up for the purposes of a Seminary for the Education of Youth.

This principle was laid down in the case of Bridewell's Hospital in Queen Elizabeth's reign; nor was it then a principle newly received, for so early as the reign of Henry the Fifth it was held, that "a void place or soil in which a house is "intended to be built, may, by the King's "Charter, be named a house, and this "nominative house shall be sufficient, as "there it was, to support the name of an "incorporation." In Camden's Britannia 311, it is shewn (says Lord Coke in the case of Sutton's Hospital,) "that a "void place, to support the name of a corporation may, by the King's Charter, "be named an Hospital or Temple, and "it is not requisite that there be always "truth in the name of the Incorporation, "either of an Hospital or of any other "body political."—There are a variety of instances referred to in the same report, as that of the Knights Templars of St. John of Jerusalem, and the Savoy Hospital, in which, though neither the fabric of the Temple or Hospital was founded and built yet the King's intendment, so expressed in the Charter, created a body politic and corporate.

4. The fourth ground of objection, that the object of the bequest, namely, the erection of the College within the ten years described in the Will having become inoperate, Mr. Desrivieres is entitled to retain the £10,000. This is disposed of in the answer to the third objection. But if any doubts could be entertained, that his Majesty's Charter alone did not virtually give an existence to McGill College as a body politic capable of receiving this bequest, this is an objection which is the more ungracious as coming from the lips of one, who after having participated so largely in the bounty of Mr. McGill, is himself the guilty cause that an edifice has not been actually founded and built on the lands of Burnside. To him who has wrongfully detained the property, the maxim of Law cited at the Bar, "in omnibus causis pro facto accipitur id, in quo per alium mora fit, quominus fiat," applies with great force. The Royal Institution having done quantum in illa fuit to raise an edifice in stone, and having been prevented from building it by the refusal of Mr. Desrivieres to give them possession of the land, the Respondents are in law, placed in the precise situation they would have stood had they litterally carried into effect the Testator's Will, and erected the walls and fitted up the building for the reception and accommodation of scholars.

There were other grounds of defence urged in the Court below, such as, the Royal Institution on its original creation had no head, and that there was no Royal Licence to take it in Mortmain; but these are also unavailing, inasmuch as the collegiate Church of Soutewell in Nottinghamshire consists of prebendaries without a head, and the Governors of Sutton's Hospital have no President or Superior, but are all equal in authority; so were at first the greater number of corporations.

As to a Licence in Mortmain, if to the Royal Institution, whenever it should be created, an express licence had not been granted by the 41st Geo. III. and the power had not been given up to the Corporation, in their charter, to take and receive moveable and immoveable property in Mortmain, still the Royal Grant of the 31st March, 1821 erecting "McGill College" into a body politic, having recited the bequest of the late Mr. M'Gill as the cause moving his Majesty to grant the Charter of Incorporation, must be held equivalent to an express licence to take and receive in Mortmain; and besides, it may be observed, that the statutes of Mortmain (which are part of the public Law of the Province) make no mention of personal property, and therefore the powers of corporations aggregate in general to take such property remains unlimited.

On every ground, the Court is of opinion that the judgment of the Court below ought to be confirmed and it is confirmed accordingly, with cost to the Respondents.

Counsel for the Appellants, Mr. Plamondon—for the Respondents, Mr. Valieres de St. Real and Mr. Ogden.

The U. E. Loyalist.

YORK, U. C. SATURDAY, JUNE 3, 1826.

☞ The arrangement we have decided upon, of publishing our paper, on the same sheet with the Gazette, is one, which we hope, will meet with the approbation of our readers, when we state, that in consequence of it, we have procured a larger sheet, and give nearly as much matter, as if it had been separate. The appearance of our first number as to the material, will we trust convince our patrons, that our trouble has not been spared, in this respect, to render it acceptable.

We shall at all times be happy to hear from our friends, whose contributions to the support of the "U. E. Loyalist," are most respectfully solicited.

We take this opportunity of expressing our thanks, to our several agents, for their attention to our wishes.

☞ Subscriptions to the paper, at York, will be received at the Gazette Office.

Lower Canada and New York papers, have brought us London dates to 16th, and Liverpool, to 21st April—To these we are indebted for our extracts of foreign news.

His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor arrived here, on Wednesday afternoon, on board the Frontenac, Capt. McKenzie, from Kingston. His Excellency landed at the King's Wharf, under a salute from the Garrison—Major Hillier, and Captain Maitland accompanied His Excellency. On Thursday morning His Excellency embarked on board the Frontenac for Niagara.

The arrival of the Honorable and Right Rev. Dr. Stewart, Lord Bishop of Quebec, at New York, is announced in the Spectator of the 23, May, in the packet ship Pacific, which sailed from Liverpool on 1st April. We notice the arrival of His Lordship with more than ordinary satisfaction, it having been supposed that he was a passenger in the Crisis, which there is every reason to fear has been lost.

The new Steam Boat "Canada," was towed into port this week by the "Toronto," from the mouth of the River Rouge, where she was built during the last winter. She will shortly be fitted up for her intended route, which we understand will be from York and Niagara round the Head of the Lake, and will add another to the increasing facilities of conveyance in Upper Canada. Six Steam Boats now navigate the St. Lawrence and Lake Ontario in this Province, beside the Canada, and a boat nearly ready for launching at Brockville.

We feel ourselves particularly fortunate in being called to our Editorial labours at a time when there is such abundant cause for congratulating the Country, on the auspicious era which is dawning upon it. Though all the Colonies of Great Britain derive many advantages from their being members of that powerful Empire, Canada appears in a particular manner to be distinguished, by the favors and benefits which are conferred upon her. These, if received in the same spirit of kindness, with which they are tendered to us, cannot fail, of very rapidly hastening our advance, in national prosperity. The result in a great measure depends upon ourselves, and our own exertions, and we feel a pleasing confidence, that the advantages which are so generously held out to us, are duly appreciated by the people of the country, and that in a matter which so deeply concerns their interst, and welfare, independent of the patriotic motives by which they are actuated, they will be found, most cheerfully performing their duty, both to themselves and to the country, by using their best endeavours, to give full effect to the beneficent intentions of the Government. The advantages already given, if properly improved and acknowledged, will ensure to us a continuance of favors and support from the mother country, who, from her immense wealth, exalted power, and generosity, possesses both the means, and inclination, of contributing to the happiness of all classes of her people. The efforts of all those, who feel a sincere interest in the welfare of the country, will be exerted in furthering the gracious intentions displayed towards us, for which the best return we can make, is a temperate and grateful use of the many favors conferred upon us, and evincing by our conduct, that we are indeed sensible of the distinguished privileges, we enjoy as British Subjects.

THE TEA TRADE.

The Roxbury Castle, from Canton, 21, Janv. arrived at Quebec 10, May, with a Cargo of Teas.—The advantages which are likely to result from the direct Trade in this article, by the Hon. the East India Company, to Canada, have in some measure been realised by the importation of the last year, both as to the reduced price of the article, and its superior quality, independent of the increase it has brought to our revenue, and the consequent decrease of the perilous, and unlawful practice of smuggling. The Company, it appears, are determined that the people of Canada shall have the benefit of this trade to its greatest possible extent, by sending out cargoes this year, which it is said they intend shall be sold, at costs and charges. When reflecting on the good which has already resulted from this measure, and anticipating the probable profits which it may yet afford, and when congratulating each other, on the successful turn which has been given in our favor, to so important and general an article of commerce, we should not lose sight of, or forget the persons, by whose means so desirable an object has been accomplished. The former Parliament of Upper Canada have the merit of having succeeded, in procuring this trade for us. To them the thanks of the country are most justly due, and though some of the persons who advocated this, & other measures of public utility, have retired from our Legislative Halls, it is to be hoped, the county will bear in grateful remembrance their valuable labours on this important subject.

TIMBER TRADE ON THE OTTAWA.

Persons engaged in this Trade in the Ottawa District, will see by the Proclamation of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, that a remedy is provided for the abuses which have heretofore occurred in that part of the Country, by persons trespassing on the unconceded Lands. A Commissioner is to be appointed to receive the rates and duties enumerated in the Proclamation, for any Timber which may be cut. These are as follows:—

Oak Timber, per 1000 feet	0	5	0	1-12 per S.
Red Pine, ditto.	4	3	4	1 do.
Yellow Pine, ditto.	2	1	8	1-12 do.
Saw Logs for Deals,				2 each.
Staves, standard thousand	4	1	8

And for the purpose of preventing any Timber being cut, before it has attained a suitable growth, double the amount of these duties is to be charged, upon all Timber, that shall not square more than eight inches. Persons authorized by previous Royal Licence are exempt from this duty, to the extent of such Licence, and those who have cut without Licence, previous to the date of the Proclamation, may upon payment of the Duties, carry the Timber away. If the duties are not paid, the Timber is to be seized, and detained for the use of the Crown.

The very equitable provisions which this Proclamation contains, are such, as should for ever set at rest, the difficulties which have heretofore existed on the subject, in that part of the Country, and it is satisfactory to state, that from their being so considered by persons engaged in the Lumber Trade, and a similar arrangement having been adopted by the Government of Lower Canada, for its possessions on the Ottawa, the appointment of a Joint Commission on the part of both Provinces, will prevent any collision on the part of either, in the collection of its Revenue.

MR. PAPINEAUS' SPEECH.

If the doctrines advocated by this Hon. Member of the House of Assembly of Lower Canada should prevail, what, we would ask, becomes of the supremacy of the Imperial Parliament over a conquered Colony? Can any reasonable man suppose, that Great Britain, is to content herself with the empty honor of calling this Colony hers, and at the same time admit, that she has no right whatever to share in the councils of the country—that she is to have no direction in its affairs—that her thousands, and tens of thousands are to be lavished for our improvement—that we are to participate in the benefits of her extended commerce, and share her powerful protection, without being at any cost for it, and that the return she has to expect, when she thinks it necessary to direct us, in the right way of improving all those things to the best advantage, is to be told, that all she has to give, we are willing to take, but that once given, the management must be left entirely to ourselves, and that she must not expect any thing in return. This would be gratitude indeed. Mr Papineau may make use of the opportunity which the freedom of speech in Parliament affords him, to attack those in high and honorable situations. The shaft of his satire will fall harmless at the feet of those against whom it is aimed, and few there are we should hope, who will be found to deny, as he has done in his speech, the right which the Mother Country, has to direct the Councils and energies, of this her colony. A Colony most emphatically hers, for she gained it by dint of her valor—the price she paid for it, some of the best of her blood. The people of Canada have, however, too long witnessed, and felt the advantages arising from their connection with Great Britain, the remembrance of conquest being forgotten in the multitude of benefits conferred, to be deceived into the belief, that after all that has been done and is yet doing for them, it is there duty, to treat their liberal benefactor, and best friend, with insult and rudeness. If Great Britain is to call Canada hers, on the terms which Mr. Papineau would dictate, we should begin to be inclined to think, that the advice of Mr. Hume was wise, and proper to be taken, and that the glory, of having many such Colonies, would indeed, cost more than they were really worth.

The Government too, satisfied as it is, from its acts towards us, that the people of Canada are truly grateful, for the liberal support which has been afforded them, and that they have given many proofs, of their sincere attachment, and veneration, for the Laws and Institutions conferred upon them, pursuing the even tenor of its way in doing good, will still continue to cherish, and foster us, and Canada under the protection of its powerful arm—her necessities relieved from its abundance—and her wants supplied from its fullness, continue in its present enviable situation, despite the carping and ill natured sallies of those, who it appears, would willingly, receive it enjoy, all the benefits that could be heaped upon them, without acknowledging themselves, to be debtors for them.

✓ From the Montreal Gazette..

We have just perused a low, canting, bigoted and abusive REVIEW, in the last Colonial Advocate, of a Sermon, preached by the Hon. and Rev. JOHN STRACHAN, D. D. at York, on the death of the late Lord Bishop of Quebec. This Review is both professedly and confessedly written by a "Methodist Preacher;" and we can assure our readers that the designation does ample justice to the talents displayed on the occasion. Not having seen the Sermon reviewed, it is not our intention at present, at least, to enter upon a formal refutation of the fanaticism and sectarian zeal betrayed by this article miscalled a Review, to which, in truth, it has no more pretensions than it has to an essay on the evidences of Christianity. Two things are made manifest in this production, which is quite enough for us. The author admits his ignorance as a scholar, but particularly his total ignorance of the original languages of the New-Testament, and defends the general ignorance of the Methodist Preachers as to classical matters! How such a man could have the presumption to review or criticise a production coming from the pen of a scholar, a gentleman, and a most respectable Clergyman of the Church of England, can only be attributed to the presumption peculiar to the cause in which it is employed, and to those narrow prejudices which are the bane of true christian meekness and liberality. The whole production, in short, is a tissue of the vilest and stupidest trash that ever came from the pen of a bigot or a partyman. It does not contain one generous sentiment, nor one sensible reflection. As to its literary merits, little need be said after the confessions of the author. As a specimen, we cannot, however, forbear to gratify our readers with one quotation, which we have no doubt will be sufficient to stamp the production as one entirely destitute of every thing deserving the notice of a divine, a scholar, or a gentleman. In a paragraph at once derogatory of the sermon and writer under Review, and in praise of the apostolic zeal of the Methodists of Upper Canada, the author makes this truly sublime and edifying remark "They" (the Methodists have something else to do—than meddle with politicks.) "They leave others to attend to temporal affairs, that they may give themselves to prayer and the ministery of the word. They find as much as they can do in HUNTING up the lost sheep of the house of Israel." Who ever heard before of HUNTING either UP or DOWN a LOST sheep? But we leave this Methodist zealot for the present in the hope that some of our Upper Canada friends may favour us with a copy of Dr. Strachan's sermon, when we may be induced to enter upon some more detailed observations with regard to both it and the silly trash termed a Review of it.

We regret to state that the last arrivals confirm the accounts previously received of the death of Colonel Delancy Barclay. This highly meritorious officer was Aid-de-Camp to the King, and had repeatedly distinguished himself, particularly on the field of Waterloo. He was the son of Colonel Barclay, formerly his Majesty's Consul at this place, and late British Commissioner for settling the Boundary Line, and was, we believe, born in New-York. He died after a very short and sudden illness, and is sincerely lamented by a large and extensive family connection.—Albion.

THE Subscriber having in view the erection of a

at this place, to be in operation in the course of the month of May ensuing, solicits the patronage of the Public in supplying RAGS sufficient to keep the same in full employment, for which he will give as high a price as is usually given by the Paper-Makers in the adjacent parts of the United States, and means will be taken to send for the same, when a quantity is collected at any one point in any part of the Province, which will be paid for either in Money or Paper, as may best suit the proprietor.

The advantages to this Colony from the establishment of a Paper-Mill, are so obvious and so numerous that the Subscriber hopes that persons to whom the value of RAGS may be no object, will (from patriotic motives) lend their assistance in securing a domestic supply; otherwise one great object in establishing such a manufacture, namely, that of keeping money among the Colonists, will be defeated.

CHAP. XXI.

An Act to Authorise certain Persons therein named, and their successors to hold certain Lands for the purpose therein mentioned.

[Passed 30th Jan'y. 1826.]

WHEREAS Thomas Carfrae the younger, Peter McPhail and other inhabitants of the Town of York, have by their Petition set forth that owing to the rapid influx of inhabitants of the Town of York, and the small portions of Ground hitherto allotted for the purpose of cemeteries, it has become desirable that a plot be obtained for the purpose of a General Burying Ground, as well for strangers as for the inhabitants of the Town of whatsoever sect or denomination they may be. That at several meetings of the inhabitants of the said Town have been held in order to fix upon some plan to obtain the required land for that purpose, and that arrangements have been made for purchasing and inclosing by means of a private subscription, a Tract of six acres of Land in the vicinity of the Town of York; and whereas it is prayed by the said Petition, that Peter Paterson, John Ewart, Thomas Carfrae the younger, Thomas David Morrison, and Thomas Hallowell, who have been nominated by the Subscribers as Trustees, may be enabled to hold to them and their successors in a corporate capacity, the six acres of Land which shall be purchased for the purpose aforesaid, and that Power be given to make such Rules and Regulations as may be necessary respecting the same. Be it therefore enacted, by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and Assembly of the Province of Upper Canada, constituted and assembled by virtue of and under the authority of an Act passed in the Parliament of Great Britain, intituled "An Act to repeal certain parts of an Act passed in the Fourteenth Year of His Majesty's Reign, intituled 'An Act for making more effectual provision for the Government of the Province of Quebec, in North America, and to make further provision for the Government of the said Province," and by the authority of the same, That it shall and may be lawful for the said Peter Paterson, John Ewart, Thomas Carfrae the Younger, Thomas David Morrison, and Thomas Hallowell, to purchase, have, hold, receive, and take a conveyance of any such convenient parcel or Tract of land in the Township of York not exceeding six acres in the whole as they may be enabled to contract for, for the purpose aforesaid, and that it shall and may be lawful for the said Trustees so purchasing such Parcel or Tract of Land, and their successors to be appointed as hereinafter mentioned, to have, and to hold the same to and for the use and purpose aforesaid in perpetuity for ever.

II. And in order to prevent the failure of such estate in succession, be it therefore enacted, that whenever it shall happen that more than two of the Trustees herein named, shall die or shall become resident abroad, or become incapable of acting in the said trust, it shall be in the power of the Inhabitant Householders of the Town of York, upon notice thereof being given in the Government Gazette, at least Thirty days before such meeting by the remaining Trustee or Trustees to elect at a meeting to be held on the first Monday in the month of January, by the vote of the majority of such householders, the requisite number of trustees from among the Inhabitant Householders of the said Town of York, to complete the number of five Trustees, and that immediately upon such election, the six acres of land so to be purchased as aforesaid shall become legally voted in such Trustees.

III. And be it further enacted, by the authority aforesaid, That the trustees for the time being for the purposes of this Act, shall have power at all times hereafter to make such rules and regulations not repugnant to the Laws of this Province, as may be necessary for the due management of the said land for the purpose aforesaid.

CHAP. XXV.

An Act to grant to His Majesty a certain sum of Money to be applied in making, repairing, and amending Highways and Bridges in this Province.

[Passed, 30th Jan'y. 1826.]

MOST GRACIOUS SOVEREIGN.

WHEREAS it is desirable to afford aid towards repairing Roads, and erecting Bridges in certain parts of this Province, may it please your Majesty, that it may be enacted, and be it enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and Assembly of the Province of Upper Canada, constituted and assembled by virtue of and under the authority of an Act passed in the Parliament of Great Britain, intituled 'An Act for making more effectual provision for the Government of the Province of Quebec, in North America, and to make further provision for the Government of the said Province," and by the authority of the same, that from and out of the rates and duties already raised levied and collected or hereafter to be raised levied and collected and unappropriated, there be granted to Your Majesty, Your Heirs and Successors, the sum of One Thousand Two Hundred pounds which said sum of One Thousand Two Hundred pounds shall be appropriated and applied as follows, that is to say:

In aid of the society for improving the public road in a part of the Townships of Ernestown and Kingston, One Hundred Pounds.

In aid of erecting a Bridge across the River Thames, between Lot Number Three in the Township of Camden; and Lot Number Three in the Township of Howard, Three Hundred pounds.

In aid of building a Bridge across the River Rideau, at the foot of the Rapid commonly called Daniel Burrits Rapid, from Lot number Twenty five, in the first concession of the Township of Malborough, to Lot number Five in the first Concession of Oxford, in the District of Johnstown—One Hundred pounds.

In aid to improve the road between Mr. Tolman's in Kitley, and Perth in the Bathurst District, and to improve the roads in the Township of Burgess, and the Townships of North and South Crosby, in the Johnstown District—One Hundred pounds.

To be expended on the Road leading through the County of Glengary to Hawkesbury in the Ottawa District—One Hundred pounds.

II. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the monies hereby granted shall be laid out and expended under the direction of such persons as the Governor, Lieuteuant Governor, or person administering the Government of this Province, shall appoint as Commissioners to carry the provisions of this Act into effect, and shall be paid by the Receiver General in discharge of such Warrant or Warrants, as shall be issued by the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, or Person administering the Government of the said Province for that purpose, and be accounted for to His Majesty, His Heirs, and Successors through the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury for the time being in such manner and form, as His Majesty, His Heirs and Successors shall be graciously pleased to direct—and that an account of the expenditure thereof in detail shall be submitted to the Legislature at its next session.

Executive Council Office,
York, 23rd March, 1826

NOTICE is hereby given, by ORDER of His EXCELLENCY the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in COUNCIL, that in future, the First Wednesday in every Month will be a regular Council day.

JOHN SMALL.
No. 9 1. f. C. E. C.

In Council 21st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepard in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District.

2 All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and appropriated for public purposes, will be offerd for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3 All persons proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts on payment of a fee of 2s. 6d.

4 All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5 The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement—A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6 On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply, in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8. Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions.

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form, Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres.

11. No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending in the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12. A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase.

14. Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it.

15. Every Grant without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hunded Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On failure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant. It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16. No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessary expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17. Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprized in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18. Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of these general Rules.

19. U. E. Loyalists and other persons entitled to gratuitous Grant by the general regulation of His Majesty's Government, are not to be affected by these Rules.

The above Rules to take effect from the first of January 1826.

By Order of His EXCELLENCY the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

Lieut. Col. BYE, Royal Engineers, who arrived from England on Tuesday last, in the Bark Endeavour, is, we learn from good authority, about to proceed to Upper Canada, having being selected to superintend the execution of the Canal from Kingston to the Ottawa, which is to be immediately commenced. —Quebec Official Gazette.

The U. E. Loyalist.

YORK, U. C. SATURDAY, JUNE 10, 1826.

THE papers received by the last mail do not contain any later intelligence from Europe, than has already been given. Several vessels had arrived at Quebec within the week. More than two hundred sail in all, have arrived at that Port, since the opening of the navigation. The number of settlers landed in the space of three days, is stated to have exceeded a thousand.

We have much pleasure in announcing the arrival, at this place, of the Head Quarter Division of the 70th Regiment, under the command of Lt. Colonel McGregor. They landed from the Steam Boat Frontenac yesterday morning, and marched into the York Garrison. The distinguished character of this fine Regiment, and the honorable testimony which has been given, of their uniformly correct, and praise-worthy conduct, wherever they have been stationed, affords the most perfect assurance, that from the esteem in which they have so deservedly been held, during a period of more than thirteen years service in Canada, their stay at this Garrison will be rendered highly satisfactory to the inhabitants, and we should hope pleasant to themselves.

The detachment of the 76th Regiment under the command of Lieut. Grubbe, embarked on board the Frontenac yesterday, on its destination to join the Regiment at Montreal. Lieut. Grubbe takes with him the cordial regard of the inhabitants of York, and the exemplary conduct of the detachment under his command, has been such as to merit from them, their best wishes for their future prosperity.

THE Rev. Mr. Hudson, Military Chaplain, who accompanied the Lord Bishop from England, arrived here in the Queenston on Tuesday last. Mr. Hudson is appointed Chaplain to the Garrison at York.

THE Steam Boat, Martha Ogden, arrived at this Port on Wednesday, and is, we understand, to make a daily passage between York and Niagara, during the remainder of the season. We are not informed at what particular hour, she will leave each of those places.

IT was not without surprize and regret, that we observed in the last Colonial Advocate, a notice purporting to be given, by the inhabitants of the District of Gore, in the following words:—

"Notice is hereby given that the inhabitants of the District of Gore intend petitioning the Legislature at its next ensuing session, to institute an enquiry into certain serious charges made in the late addresses to His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor from the Newcastle and other Districts, accusing some persons, not therein designated, with sedition, disaffection, and an intention of overthrowing the constitution of the Province, to the end that such evil disposed persons may be brought to condign punishment, or should the charges prove unfounded, that the persons making the same, their aiders, and abbettors, may suffer the punishment due to the crime of wickedly wantonly, and maliciously slandering their fellow subjects; which, to make use of an expression of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor to a former parliament had "not only begun to affect us here but defame us abroad." Although it has not appeared that either at the time, or since, that the executive have bro't, the persons then alluded to, to trial or conviction, as also to obviate the necessity, upon every trifling occasion, of addressing His Majesty's Representative in this Province of constantly assuring him of their unshaken loyalty; assurances, after the manifestation during the late war by deeds, not words, as superfluous as unnecessary; and tending to excite doubts on the subject either of themselves, His Majesty's Representative of them, or of their fellow subjects, contradistinguished more by performance than profession."

It is some time since the manuscript of this notice, was handed into our office, with a request that it should be inserted in the Official Gazette. Its tendency to libel a respectable portion of the inhabitants of the Province, being evident, and the suspicion of its being intended for that purpose, receiving additional strength, from the circumstance of its being presented by the editor of the Advocate, accompanied by none other than his own signature, and not having heard of any meeting held in the District, from whence it purports to come, in the absence of an official signature, or letter from constituted authority, its publication was suppressed.

The inhabitants of the District of Gore will, we are sure, appreciate our motives, in having withheld the publication of such a document, and we are confident too, they will feel not a little surprised and grieved, when we assure them, that we have in our possession such proof, as may be considered unquestionable, to shew, that it emanates from a quarter, least to be expected, and from a person in whose hands, their suffrages have placed the honor, welfare, and best interests of their respectable District.

CANALS.

"The Shubenacadie Canal in Nova Scotia, appears at length likely to be executed; the sums voted by the legislature, together with the subscriptions amount to £31,575. In noticing the enterprise of N. Scotia, to this interesting object of provincial utility, we have deeply to regret the lapse of a corresponding energy in New Brunswick. The Shubenacadie canal is entirely local in its advantages—the Baie Verte canal is also local, as far as Shubenacadie canal is beneficial to that immediate part of the Province it runs through, but its great benefits in rendering a speedy and easy communication to the whole of the Gulph shore, including Miramichi, must turn to be of invaluable service, both to the settlements on its northern boundaries, and the revenue it would speedily produce to repay its first expenditure; but so it is, the great and best object that ought to stimulate, not only the legislature, but the private and public feeling of that rapidly thriving colony, is to be delayed until the maturation of a new scource of revenue can be spared from the advantage the present one now renders to her trading community, and her fisheries? In the Canadas they remain very differently; they have studied the inland resources of the country so for that they have borrowed £70,000 in aid of carrying their projected canal undertakings into effect, from the mother country".—N. S. Royal Gazette.

WE regret exceedingly, that the compliment paid to Canada, in the latter part of this paragraph, is one, of which she is not deserving. True it is, that through the representations of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, Sir Peregrine Maitland, who in making them, was actuated by an anxious desire, to improve the vast inland resources of the country, the British Government, in its solicitude for our welfare, made the offer of a loan, of £70,000, to Upper Canada, on the most advantageous and reasonable terms, for the purpose of being expended, in that great national work, "the Rideau Canal."—The Parliament of the Upper Province, conceiving that Lower Canada, was equally interested, in the accomplishment of this work, passed certain resolutions, declaring their acceptance of the liberal offer which was made, provided the legislature of Lower Canada, would join them in the repayment of the loan, by imposing additional duties, on certain articles imported into Quebec.

The Parliament of Lower Canada, however, objecting to this proposal, on the ground, that taxes should not be imposed on the people of that Province, for the improvement of Upper Canada, the offer so generously made has not been accepted, and we cannot help thinking, that to this refusal, on the part of the Parliament of Lower Canada, must in a great measure be attributed, the cause of regret, which is expressed by persons, feeling an interest in the improvement of the Country, that this great work, is not now in the course of prosecution. At the same time, we cannot but express our astonishment, that Lower Canada, should consider the interests of those, who have heretofore been styled "Sister Provinces," so widely different, and distinct, as to refuse us its assistance, in an undertaking, the object of which, is to benefit both.

That such would be the result, and in a large proportion to the Lower Province, in the case before us, will not we think be denied, when it is considered that it is to Upper Canada, the Lower Province must look for an increasing commerce, and when it is remembered too, that her wealth and consequence, in a commercial point of view, has been promoted, in an equal ratio, to the increase of population, and improvement, of Upper Canada. Whatever tends to our improvement, must naturally be productive of benefit to the Lower Province, because to Lower Canada, this Province is a storehouse of wealth. To U. C. it is that her Merchants chiefly look, for the sale of their imports—from her it is that they expect her return produce, and the profit on both transactions, constitutes the commercial welfare of Lower Canada. To a "Sister Province," who holds out such advantages to her, we should suppose her, to possess a kindly feeling, and as a matter of self-interest, if no other consideration moved her to it, ready at all times, to afford that assistance, which she had herself, so essentially contributed, to give her the power of bestowing.

If the Parliament of Lower Canada think differently on this subject, we hope enough has been said at present, to convince our readers, that they do not think correctly. At all events, the notice of the article before us, leads to the conclusion, that as far as the assistance of the Government, can be of any service to us, it is cheerfully offered, and that the great cause of regret after all, is, that its liberally should be frustrated, by any difference of opinion, among ourselves.

CANADA LAND COMPANY.

We are truly gratified to have it in our power to state, from information derived by the late arrivals from England, that the differences which interrupted the final arrangements between his Majesty's Government and the Company have been so far removed that the first instalment of £25,000 has been paid by the latter to the former. The points yet to be adjusted have, we understand, been submitted to the arbitration of two gentlemen, one to be chosen by the Clergy and the other by the Company; the umpire to be chosen by Earl Bathurst. We have only heard the name of the umpire, Mr. John Richardson of Montreal, a gentleman not less known for his ability and patriotic attachment to the Canadas, than for the spotless integrity of his character. The proposed Lower Canada Land Company we believe has yet made but little progress—this is to be regretted, for apart from every other consideration, rivalry even in Land Companies may be productive of much good, and would in the present instance undoubtedly have the effect of bringing settlers into the country, and developing the resources of those fruitful provinces.—(N. Y. Albion.)

The Albion gives the following extract from a Sermon preached at the consecration of the Honorble and Right Reverend Dr. Stewart, Lord Bishop of Quebec, by Dr. Madan, Prebendary of Lincoln:—

It is really a circumstance of high gratification to our feelings, to observe what happy results will sometimes arise from causes unforeseen.

'Twenty years ago, (or nearly so) without a view or a thought of professional advantages, but with a willing expenditure of his own income, the zealous champion buckled on his armour, the whole armour of God, his loins girt about with truth, and having on the breastplate of righteousness, his feet shod with the preparation of the Gospel of Peace; above all, taking the shield of faith, the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the spirit, which is the word of God. Wholly regardless of personal dangers and discomforts, whether from the immense ocean, the severe climate, or from a state of temporary exile, he went boldly forth and began his pious work. We cannot trace him, through his various labors; we cannot enumerate his disinterested sacrifices; we cannot fully estimate the extent or the magnitude of his services! The annual Reports of our venerable society may give an outline of the liberal system on which he has been acting for many years past; that of establishing the fear and worship of God; that of promoting the erection of Churches, and of houses to dispense the blessings of Christianity, the special missionary went forth, and traversed many thousand miles to animate, to encourage, to instruct and comfort the Christian families around him, wheresoever they might be scattered! In journeyings often, in perils of water, in weariness and painfulness, in hunger and thirst, wandering across the trackless desert or penetrating the gloomy forest, that he might communicate to them who were walking in darkness the means of salvation, the light of life. He literally might be said to have upon him the care of all the churches; and (as in the instance of his great prototype) he strove abundantly to render the Gentiles fellow-heirs, and of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the Gospel. Bright and glorious is the prospect now before him, in the ripening harvest to which he is called.'

(From the Quebec Gazette by Authority.)

In the Report of the Debate on the Abolition of Negro Slavery, which took place in the House of Commons on the 1st March, we find the following observations respecting the right of the Imperial Parliament to legislate on the internal affairs of the Colonies. Mr. W. Smith, the member whose sentiments on this subject are here given, has been rewarded with thirty years a Member of the House of Commons, one who has always been in the Whig interest, or rather whose principles have been considered Democratic and who by the popular party has, for some years past, been returned for the city of Norwich, he is however, a well informed temperate and liberal man, one by no means likely to be the advocate of any harsh or arbitary measure. Where, therefore, such a character maintains the right of the British Parliament, to interpose and restrain the violent and prejudiced measures of the Colonial Legislatures, we anticipate that no very serious division would take place in either House should the conduct of the Assembly of Jamaica or of any other Colony, call for the exercise of this indubitable right, and the question of that right be brought in form before the British Parliament.

Mr. Smith addressed the House. He wished to know whether there was any way by which the degrees of refractoriness, on the part of the Colonial Assemblies, could be ascertained, so that, when they passed beyond it, the interference of Parliament would be justified. If such a line had ever been prescribed he was sure that the Colonial Legislature of Jamaica would be found to have passed the prescribed limits, and have fulfilled every condition which would justify interference. He then adverted to the speech to the Assembly, of which he read a considerable portion. "All the recommendations of the government had entirely failed." was the language of the Duke of Manchester to the legislature of the island. He was called on by his instructions to enforce on the house the necessity of doing something, if not to disarm their enemies, at least to conciliate their friends. The language he was using was not his own, it was that of the Duke of Manchester. Had the assembly of Jamaica intimated any symptoms of repentence? In the decimate, said he, use a vulgar word, tickish situation in which the colonies stood, some interposition was absolutely necessary; it was necessary, to save the assemblies from that perdition in which they would otherwise soon be overwhelmed. The conduct of the assembly of Jamaica had been contemptuous in the highest degree, and it was the duty of Parliament, as it had the power, to put down that spirit.

This house had done every thing in its power to gain its end in peace, and he thought that there was no merit whatever in making such trials any longer. He was pleased to hear the bold explanation which the right honourable gentleman had given of his sentiments spoken on a former occasion, but should be much better satisfied, if the right hon. gentleman would now act up to the letter of them.

at this place, to be in operation in the course of the month of May ensuing, solicits the patronage of the Public in supplying RAGS sufficient to keep the same in full employment, for which he will give as high a price as is usually given by the Paper-Makers in the adjacent parts of the United States, and means will be taken to send for the same, when a quantity is collected at any one point in any part of the Province, which will be paid for either in Money or Paper, as may best suit the proprietor.

The advantages to this Colony from the establishment of a Paper-Mill, are so obvious and so numerous that the Subscriber hopes that persons to whom the value of RAGS may be no object, will (from patriotic motives) lend their assistance in securing a domestic supply; otherwise one great object in establishing such a manufacture, namely, that of keeping money among the Colonists, will be defeated.

Executive Council Office,
York, 23rd March, 1826.

NOTICE is hereby given, by ORDER of His EXCELLENCY the LIEUTENAT GOVERNOR, in COUNCIL, that in future, the First Wednesday in every Month will be a regular Council day.

JOHN SMALL.
No. 9 1. f. C. E. C.

In Council 21st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepard in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District.

2 All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and appropriated for public purposes, will be offerd for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3 All persons proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts on payment of a fee of 2s. 6d.

4 All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5 The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement—A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6 On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee sample to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply, in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8. Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions.

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form, Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres.

11. No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending in the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12. A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase.

14. Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it.

15. Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hunded Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On failure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant. It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16. No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessary expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17. Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprized in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18. Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of these general Rules.

19. U. E. Loyalists and other persons entitled to gratuitous Grant by the general regulation of His Majesty's Government, are not to be affected by these Rules.

The above Rules to take effect from the first of January 1826.

By Order of His EXCELLENCY the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

Upper Canada Paper Mill.

THE Subscriber having in view the erection of a PAPER MILL at this place, to be in operation in the course of the month of May ensuing, solicits the patronage of the Public in supplying RAGS sufficient to keep the same in full employment, for which he will give as high a price as is usually given by the Paper-Makers in the adjacent parts of the United States, and means will be taken to send for the same, when a quantity is collected at any one point in any part of the Province, which will be paid for either in Money or Paper, as may best suit the proprietor.

The advantages to this Colony from the establishment of a Paper-Mill, are so obvious and so numerous that the Subscriber hopes that persons to whom the value of RAGS may be no object, will (from patriotic motives) lend their assistance in securing a domestic supply; otherwise one great object in establishing such a manufacture, namely, that of keeping money among the Colonists, will be defeated.

☞ The Editors of all the newspapers within the Province will please insert the above in their respective papers for three months, and send their bills to the Subscriber for payment. He hopes he will not be disappointed in looking to them as his best customers, and also for their support and assistance, in successfully adding to his other establishments a manufacture, the tendency of which must be to retain a large sum of money in the Province, and thereby contribute to its prosperity.

POETRY.

THE FALL OF IPSARA.*

Ancient then Greece ! see ! see ! again
The turban'd host besprent thy plain,
The crescent gleams afar !
Hark, " Illah Allah " reods the sky,
The hoarse shout, " Death or Victory !"
Awakes again the War.

The glittering blades flash to the sun,
The Pacha shouts, " on Moslem on !
And bow the Grecian low !
Lay waste Ipsara's rebel towers,
Let her gay ports and myrtle bowers
Echo with groans and woe."

Now bigot rage, revenge and shame,
Alternately their breasts inflame,
And fire their murderous mood ;
On, on, they rush, with hedious yell,
Like fiends escaped from nether hell,
To glut their souls with blood.

Ho ! ho ! Ipsariots, man your wall !
Be bravely firm or soon you'll fall
Beneath their blood-stained hands !
Let dout your standard cross on high,
Your cry be " death or liberty,"
And foil the barbarous bands.

As when the flood hath burst its mounds,
And rushes o'er the neighbouring grounds,
The foe comes sweeping on ;
The deafening cannon's horrid roar,
Spattering the walls with Grecian gore,
Tumbles the bulwarks down.

Midst rattling steel's contending clash,
The trumpet's fury, the sulphurous flash,
Nobly Ipsara falls ;
Yet still some brave hands man the fort,
Where wives and babes a last resort
Have found within its walls.

Around they looked with wild amaze,
Their fate laid waste, their cities a blaze,
Their batteries sunk or riven :
The thronging foe press deadly on,
No hope is left to sire or son,
Save where the fixed on Heaven.

They think on Scio's horrid groans,
Her ravished maids her slaughtered sons,
Her babes' and widows' wail !
Who then could paint their soul despair
When furiously the Turks prepare
The lofty walls to scale ?

But why this awful pause within ?
Why shrink the Greeks from battle din ?
They'll never blanch with fear !
One hurried prayer ascends to Heaven,
One desperate shriek :—the Fort is riven,
And thundering leaves the air.

As though from blazing Etna hurld,
On high their shivering limbs are whirled,
Mingled with foes and flame ;
* Wild waving ruin lords it wide,"
And Greek and Moslem side by side,
Drop dashing on the plain.

Thus did thy sons, Ipsara, fall,
Nor shrunk dismayed from death's dark pall,
They would, they would be free !
And now they sleep in glory's bed,
And ne'er to Moslem's haughty head
Shall bend the dastard knee.

Oh had the Bard of freedom lived
To see the glorious deed achieved,
His harp had tuned their praise !
And Greenan war-cries long had burst
In rapture on the ear accurst,
To quench the crescent's rays.

* This Island was taken by the Turks from the Greeks in the summer of 1824; when the remaining defenders, rather than yield, blew themselves up in the fort.

MISCELLANEOUS.

NATURAL PHENOMENA.

THE WHITE WATER.

This phenomenon is regularly periodical in the seas near Amboyna, and has never been satisfactorily accounted for. The most particular account of it is to be found in Valenty's " Beschryving van Oost Indien," Vol. II. p. 137 and Vol. III. part ii. p. 10. He calls it het wit water, (the white water) and states that it occurs twice every year in the seas around Banda ; the first time, when it is denominated the little wit water, it takes place at the new moon in June ; it is but slight in July, but does not entirely subside before the same appearance occurs again at the new moon in August, when it is called the great wit water. In the day time the sea appears as usual ; but in the night it assumes a milk white hue, and the reflection of it in the air is so great that the sky cannot be distinguished from the water. Land is very easily discerned by night in it, the land appears very black in the middle of the whiteness.. Very little fish is caught during the time it lasts ; the fish do not like the water, and the clearness of it makes them easily see the fishing tackle and boats, and consequently avoid them. It has likewise been observed to rot the bottoms of vessels which are much in it. It throws up, on the shores where it reaches, a great deal of slime and filth, and likewise different species of blubber, or mollusca, bezaantjes (holothura physalis,) &c. It is dangerous for small vessels to be at sea in the night where it comes, as, though it may be calm, the sea always rolls with heavy surges, enough to overset boats, which seems as if they were occasioned by subaqueous exhalations pressing upwards for a vent. It is chiefly seen between Banda and the south eastern islands to the southward of the islands of Aroe and Keys down to Tenimber, where the heaviest rolling of the sea is observed, and Timorlane ; it runs westward as far as Timor, and to the north it is met with on the south coast of Ceram, keeping, however, to the south of the Ulassers and Amboyna, where it appears in large stripes. This milk sea, as Valentyn quaintly calls it, is clearly seen at night from the hills at Amboyna stretching towards Banda. It does not often reach as far as Amboyna itself. The more tempestuous the weather proves the more it rains ; and the harder the south east trade wind blows, the more this white water is seen. It is entirely unknown whence it proceeds, but it has generally been supposed to come from the gulf of Carpentaria. Some have considered the whiteness as occasioned by myriads of animalculæ ; and others have ascribed it to a subtile, sulphureous, marine exhalation, which they have supposed to arise from the bottom of the sea, and to become condensed in the water. Brimstone is in fact produced in considerable quantities at Amboyna and Banda, and likewise upon Nila, Teeuwer, and Dammer, (three islands south of the two former, and between them and Timor, little known to any but the Dutch) and elsewhere in these regions ; yet, remarks Valentyn, if the white water were caused by that circumstance, it would be observed wherever sulphur is found in large quantities. He says a similar phenomenon has been observed at the Comorra islands, and between Madagascar and Zanguebar. Stavorinus, in his voyage to Surat, observed the same singular appearance in latitude 17° 30 nor h, in which he describes the sea as having lost during the day its usual azure clearness, appearing darker and browner than usual, and looking at night as white as if the whole sea were covered with a sheet, or exactly like the appearance in the night time of a flat country overspread with snow. This phenomenon, he remarks, was entirely distinct from the luminous appearance which is frequently observed in the water of the ocean, as, instead of giving any light, the whole was of a deadly paleness, excepting close to the vessel, where it seemed mixed with some sparks of light. No ground was found with a line of a hundred and fifty fathoms. Some of the water was taken up and examined immediately with a microscope, but nothing could be perceived in it by a glass of great magnifying power. To the naked eye it appeared as clear as chrystal, and on tasting it, it seemed to have lost something of its briny and bituminous nature. An English navigator, Captain Newland, once observed the same appearance in the same part of the ocean, with this difference, however, that he saw it intermixed with black stripes, running in a serpentine direction through the whiteness.

Stealing Bodies for Dissection.—Taunton, March 30.—William Clarke, alias William Taylor, was indicted for stealing four dead bodies from the church-yard of Walcot, in Bath. It appeared partly from the evidence, and partly from the prisoner's own confession, that he had been accustomed to the resurrection buisness since he was six years of age ; and from that time to the present, had assisted in the procuring of 2000 bodies for anatomical purposes. For these, when subjects were scarce, he had been paid as high as 10 guineas, a-piece. He had been tried 23 times for this description of offence, but, from various causes, had escaped from all but two of the indictments ; on those he was convicted and punished. The particular offence in question was only one of a class committed by the prisoner, as a part of his system.—He with an understrapper, hired a small house in a yard, which commanded a view of Walcot burial ground, so that when people were buried, he and his companions were fully aware of time, place, and subject ; and they had acted with such industry and regularity, that between October and February they had plundered Walcot burial ground of at least 45 bodies These were packed up in hampers, and forwarded to London by the Bath coaches. On a discovery being made, the prisoner's house was searched ; and three bodies were found packed in hampers for conveyance by the coach ; and a fourth in a closet, covered with straw. In the cellar, there was found an immense quantity of human bones, admittedly in a state of preparation to make skeletons.—The prisoner, in his defence, did not deny the charge ; but complained bitterly of the medical gentlemen not coming forward in his support as they had promised—he was found guilty, and before judgment begged very hard for mercy. He represented that subjects must be had for purposes of medical science ; that the obtaining and acting upon them was very advantageous to the living ; and he even drew some connexion between his profession and loyalty to the Sovereign ; for he assured the Court, that when his Majesty (God bless him) had a complaint which required surgical operation necessary, he, the prisoner, had procured four subjects for a preliminary operation, two of which were for the exclusive use of Sir A Cooper.—Mr. Justice Burrough, in passing judgment, expressed his disgust at the conduct of the prisoner. He (the judge) cared not who were of opinion that such practices ought to be tolerated ; the law forbade them ; and his own feelings entirely accorded with the law. He was sorry if inconvenience was sustained by the practisers of medical science ; but it could not be endured that such conduct as that of the prisoner, denounced as it was by the existing law, should pass unpunished. His lordship then sentenced the prisoner to pay a fine to the king of £100 ; and be imprisoned for the space of 12 calendar months.

ENGLAND.

On the 20th April it was announced that a good deal was doing, both in British and foreign money markets, attended with an advance in almost every description of securities. But there was a decline on the 22d. An express from Paris on the 20th, announced that the French Funds had declined about 10 cents.

It was expected that the dissolution of Parliament would take place some time from the middle of May to the second week in June, but the precise time was not fixed.

From the London Courier, of April 20.

A more important State Paper than the Message of President Adams, on the Panama Mission, has rarely been submitted to public consideration. It announces, with great distinctness, the policy intended to be pursued by the United States in their intercourse with the new nations of America ; and its tone (with some slight exceptions) is sufficiently calm and moderate.—Our only doubt is, whether the actuating spirit of the whole be not a larger ambition than perhaps the President would, even to himself, be disposed to own.

We have always found a great awkwardness and difficulty in speaking of the United States as a nation, for want of one simple and expressive term by which they designate them. Now that America is divided into several independant Sovereignties, it becomes absurd to call any one of them the American Government ; but the word Philadelphia is at once harmonious in the sound, and pleasing in association ; it calls to mind, the venerable Penn, and his friendly brethren ; it is the name of the ancient capital of the Union ; and may, therefore, as in the instances of Rome, Naples, Mexico, &c. be not unfitly used to designate the nation.

The Philadelphians (for so we shall style the people of the United States, in the ensuing remarks,) are now, for the first time, surrounded by communities just rising into political existence, each of which is far inferior to themselves in population, in wealth, in military and naval force, in science, in experience, in all the elements of power, physical and moral. These nations must of course form a system of international communion with each other, and of that system the Philadelphians evidently wish to place themselves at the head. We do not say that the desire of influence thus evinced is unnatural—we do not assert that it is absolutely impolitic ; but it does not appear to us to demand the vigilance of the other great Powers, and more especially of the greatest Power at present existing, our own.

It is perhaps a flattering reflection to those who speak the tongue [hold]
That Shakspeare spoke, the faith and morals
That Milton held—

to consider that in each hemisphere the nation manifestly outshining all the others is of British birth and language, and spirit. If the Continent of America, with its dependant islands, could be wholly separated in views and interests from the other quarters of the globe, we should feel a just national pride, that the sons of our ancestors held in those remote regions the balance of power, and guided the march of civilization. Perhaps some such political vision may have crossed the mind of Mr. Adams ; for he says, "America has a set of primary interests, which have none or a remote relation to Europe ; and, therefore, the interference of Europe in those concerns should be spontaneously withheld." To this doctrine we cannot entirely subscribe. We admit that there are many modes in which the European powers ought not to interfere. For instance, the Members of the Holy Alliance should not pretend to dictate to the Ex-Colonies of Spain any terms of concession, much less of submission, to the Mother Country ; but it is by no means so clear to us that there are not many primary interests of the American nations, with which it would be no less just and polite in us than in the Philadelphians to interfere ; and at all events we should have an undoubted right to oppose the interference of any power whatever, if it were pushed so far as to conflict with our own welfare.

The President says, the first principle which will guide the United States in their intercourse with the new nations is disinterestedness. This is no doubt highly laudable in intention ; and we have only to hope that it will be constantly followed in practice. The next principle is good will ; which we see no reason to question. The third, or rather more tangible, principle is reciprocity. These are all the principles which Mr. Adams enumerates ; but it appears to us, we confess, that the objects which he afterwards states as likely to come into discussion at Panama, do not all lie within quite so narrow a circle.—Those objects as we collect them from different parts of the Message, are the following :—

1. The abolition of privateering.
2. The principle of Free Ships Free Goods.
3. A curtailed enumeration of Contraband.
4. The laws of Blockade.
5. The prohibition of future colonization in America.
6. The resistance of invasion from Europe.
7. The abolition of the Slave Trade.
8. The question of recognising the independence of Hayti.
9. The situation of Cuba and Porto Rico.
10. The establishment of Religious Liberty.

1. To begin with the first—Mr. Adams thinks and it is here that his language is more inflated than suits a diplomatic style, that he "cannot exaggerate to himself the unfading glory with which, the United States will go forth in the memory of future ages, if, by their friendly counsel, by their moral influence, by the power of argument and persuasion alone, they can prevail upon the American nations at Panama to stipulate by general agreement among themselves, and so far as any of them may be concerned, the perpetual abolition of private war upon the Ocean. We are extremely sorry that the Columbian and other flags have been abused to purposes of piracy ; but really, to advise nations which have no navies, and whose only mode of annoying their enemy is by maritime warfare, not to employ privateers, will "go forth in the memory of future ages," we fear, as any thing but sagacious counsel.

2. In fact, the President himself doubts whether his "powers of argument and persuasion" are strong enough to produce this effect ; and he will therefore be satisfied, for the present, if the whole of America will but adopt a principle somewhat scouted, indeed, by the best writers on the Law of Nations, but advocated long ago in a pamphlet of his own—the principle, that "the friendly flag shall cover the cargo." The operations of such a rule at present would be this, that as the Colombians, Mexicans, and Brazilians, &c. are all belligerents, and the Philadelphians are neutrals, the cruisers of the former could not touch any property under the flag of the latter,(cases of contraband and blockade excepted,) and consequently the Colombians, Mexicans, Brazilians, &c. would all be losers, and the Philadelphians would be the sole gainers—we do not very clearly see the disinteresiedness of such advice ; and even the reciprocity appears to us to be all on one side.

3. Nations have frequently settled the enumeration of contraband of war by treaty ; and there can be no great difficulty in such a course with the American nations ; but it does not seem very well calculated for discussion in a general Congress of Ministers.

4. The Laws of Blockade are perfectly intelligible, and they have become known to all the world since the luminous judgments of Lord Stowell, upon which we know the Philadelphians themselves were content to act in their blockades of the Barbary ports.

5. More is said on the prohibition of future colonization in America, than the subject seems to require ; for, after all, it comes only to this, that each Power is to agree not to permit any colonial establishments of European jurisdiction on its soil, a rule which every one has an undoubted right to make, and which we should suppose very few would be disposed to infringe.

6. In like manner, the resistance of European invasion takes a very diluted consistency in the President's Message. Each Power, it should seem, may resist the invadors of its own territory ; and the new nations, in general, may put forth a declaration in the nature of a protest against such invasion ; but the Philadelphian Government has not quite made up its mind whether it will even go so far as to join in such a declaration.

7. A concert of measures having reference to the more effectual abolition of the Slave Trade, appears to us to be a very legitimate subject for discussion at the Congress of Panamma, as, in fact, it has been deemed at most of the European Congresses since the war.

8. The recognition of Haytien independence, is also very fit to become a subject of discussion : but we cannot say that the manner in which it is treated by President Adams, is quite satisfactory. He may possibly have in store some valid objections against the recognition : but those which he mentions are altogether frivolous.

9. His advice as to Cuba and Porto Rico is no doubt very good ; it is in short, to let them alone. How far it may be necessary to send a Minister to Panama for the purpose of arguing this point, we are not prepared to say.

10. Lastly there can be no doubt but that, in advocating the principals of religious liberty, any Minister, Philadelphian, British or other, would be laudably and usefully employed. The President, however, takes even this question upon a narrow ground. He proposes to confine it to the demanding of a toleration for citizens of the United States, who happen to become occasional residents in the territory of any of the new nations.—Surely a more ample scope might be given to this part of the discussion !

It appears, from the brief review that we have thus taken of the Message, that there is little of real utility to the new nations among the objects which the President has in view : there are some things directly adverse to their interests ; and if the Philadelphian Minister confine his efforts within the circle here traced out for him, we own, it appears to us that he is not likely to add much to the influence, whatever that may be, which his Government at present possess among the Transatlantic Nations.

POLITICAL IMPORTANCE OF THE BRITISH COLONIES.

From the Quarterly Review, No. 66. just received.

CONTINUED.

Let us now advert to our North American Colonies. 'We defy, say our modern economists, 'any one to point out a single benefit, of any sort whatever derived by us from the possesion of Canada, and our other Colonies in North America.' They are productive of heavy expense to Great Britain, but of nothing else.—We done much to cripple and destroy the advantageous commerce we formerly carried on with the Baltic,'—and 'for whom,' it is asked, 'are the people of Britain made to pay a high price for inferior timber ? The answer is obvious. Every man of sense, whether in the cabinet or out of it, knows that Canada must, at no distant period, be merged in the American republic ;' and the conclusion is, 'that John Bull discovers no very great impatience of taxation, when he quietly allows his pockets to be drained, in order to clear and fertilize a province for the use of his rival, Jonathan.'

We are ready and willing to take up the defiance so cavalierly thrown out, and we do so in the confidence that we shall be able to shew the folly and the fallacy of those gratuitous assertions.

We think it will not be denied that maratime power can alone spring from and be matured among maratime states, and that it will increase and be supported with the increase of a maratime population. We suppose it will also be admitted, that whatever adds to the means of strength of a rival power is equivalent to the diminishing of the means and strengh of that power from which that addition has been made. If this be true, and if Canada and the other provinces must 'merge, as every body knows, in the American republic,' it is quite clear that America will gain, and that England will lose, just as great an advantage as Canada, and the other colonies, are capable of bestowing ; and that the evil to England will be far more serious and important than any advantage she could hope for in getting rid of the expense incurred by the possession of them. But let us descend to particulars.

If Canada and the northern provinces 'must merge in the American republic,' this can only happen by conquest or by cession—As to the latter, we should be grieved, indeed, if we saw the slightest disposition to support his Majesty's government ever for a moment contemplated such a voluntary sacrifice. We are well aware, at the same time, that a very general, but erroneous, opinion has prevailed as to the policy of giving them up, rather than engage in a contest for their preservation—we have been told by many, and reasoned that they are a mill-stone round our neck—that they are not worth retaining, &c. If there be any real grounds for such an opinion, the sooner, undoubtedly, the sacrifice is made the better :—but as we devoutly believe it to rest on no foundation at all, we do hope and trust that his Majesty's ministers will positively declare their firm determination to encourage, protect, and defend, by all the means and resources of the nation, the Canadas, and the sister provinces—which is due to them ; and by so doing discountenance at once the mischievous doctrines of the new school of political economy, which are too well calculated to make up the erroneous impression. This as Mr Haliburton justly observes, 'cannot be too early refuted, because the promulgation of it has a strong tendency to weaken the tie between the mother country and her colonies.'

'A sort of uneasy feeling has been created among country gentlemen in particular, because the Americans are and have been building some of the native huge unwieldy ships of the line ; as if these few large floating masses of timber were destined to annihilate the British navy. But these nervous people, we suspect, have never given themselves the trouble of inquiring how even this limited number of ships are to be manned—whether the maratime states of the union are ever will be, able to produce seamen enough for even the little fleet they have already decreed to build ? The author of the 'Observations' has taken, as we think, a just view of this part of the subject.

'It must be admitted, that a country so situated (as America) may become very powerful upon the ocean ; and it is highly probable that the navy of the United States will very soon be a valuable addition to the fleets of any of the European powers in future wars. But let it be recollected that France and Spain possess all the advantages which have been enumerated, and yet their united naval force has never been equal to overpower that of Great Britain. And to what is it owing, that thirty millions of Frenchmen, aided by ten millions of Spaniards, are unable to equip and man fleets sufficiently powerful to destroy the navy of an island which does not possess one fifth part of their population ? It is owing to this—that the inhabitants of the inland parts of France and Spain, which form so large a portion of their population, reside in a country which affords them the means of subsistance without obliging them to seek it abroad, and they are therefore indisposed to encounter the perils of the sea and of war ; whereas Great Britain is every where surrounded by the ocean ; the most inland parts of the island are not very distant from the sea ; and as the productions of the soil would not suppport a very numerous population, a large proportion, of its people are compelled to seek their subsistance by engaging in the fisheries, or in the coasting and foreign trade, and it is from this hardy and enterprising portion of her subjects, that Great Britain derives the means of establishing and maintaining her superiority upon the ocean.

'Now it is evident that the United States of America, even now, resemble the countries of France and Spain in this particular, more than Great Britain ; and as their people increase from the ocean, and plant themselves in the vallies beyond the Alleghany Mountains, the resemblance will still be greater : for by far the greater part of the inhabitants of these distant regions will live and die without ever having placed their feet upon the deck of a ship, and will consequently add nothing to the maritime population of the country ; the rich productions of their fertile vallies will find their way to New Orleans, and there provide abundant means of carrying on foreign trade ; but the carriers of these productions to the foreign market will either be foreigners, or natives of the Atlantic States'—Observations, &c. p. 5—7.

Mr. Haliburton concludes, therefore and we think fairly enough, that to these states, and chiefly to those of New York and New England, most America look for the means of manning a navy. Although the southern states, of Virginia, the Carolinas, and Georgia, carry on an extensive foreign trade, they have no commodious harbours for ships of war of the lager classes ; their climate and the nature of their population equally unfit them to produce hardy and enterprizing sailors ; and they have few, if any vessels engaged in the fisheries, which are every where the great and unfailing nursery for seamen.

Admitting then, as we must that the North-eastern states, by the habits and pursuits of their population, are the main props of the American navy, let us next follow Mr. Haliburton in his inquiry as to the present situation of these states, and the probability of their being able to increase the means they already possess of giving naval strenght to their country.

'The states of New York and New England are now old settled countries ; the population of the former may become more numerous in the back parts of the country, but an increase in this quarter will add but little to her maritime strength. But New England and the southeastern parts of New York, are already so fully peopled that frequent emigrations take place from them to the inland states. Massachusetts does not, and we believe we may say, cannot raise within herself bread to support her present population, and therefore can never expect to increase her numbers very rapidly, while the western territory offers to her youth the tempting prospect of obtaining a livelihood in that rich country, upon easier terms than they can procure it within their limits.

'Let it not then be deemed chimerical to say, that America has no immediate prospect of becoming a great naval power.

'If the conclusion drawn from these states continue, they will do doubt become rich and powerful to a degree that may defy all aggression ; but it does not follow that they will acquire a naval force that will prove formidable to the powers of Europe. Germany has been among the most powerful nations of Europe, and Austria is the country which produces valuable articles of export, but these countries, from their geographical situations, cannot produce a maritime population ; other nations have therefore become the carriers of their productions, and they have never possessed any power upon the ocean.—The inland states of America are precisely in the same situation, and I close my observations by repeating, first, that the sources of the naval power of America must be principally derived from the states of New York and New England ; and secondly, that there will be no great increase of the maritime population of those states until the western territory is fully occupied, and no longer hold out a temptation to the youth of the Atlantic States to remove thither, then they must follow the example of their ancestors in Great Britain ; and if the soil of their native country will not afford them subsistence, they must seek it from the sea and from war. When this period arrives, I think it will be admitted by all, is far distant. Ages must elapse before that vast country through which the Ohio, the Missouri, and the Mississippi roll, will afford no further room for the enterprising emigrant.'—Observations, &c. pp. 6, 7.

'The Americans themselves are beginning to be aware of the truth of these observations, and are feeling and confessing the difficulty of manning their ships of war, few as they are.' We have now before us the report of the minister of the department of the navy (of the 2d of December last ;) in which the great difficulty of procuring and enlisting seamen is particularly stated—with sore complaints of the consequent detention of vessels and increase of expense.—The minister urges strongly the necessity of having some system devised to ensure voluntary enlistments sufficient to meet their increasing wants ; admitting, and apparently regretting, that their free institutions militate against the manning of the fleet. 'Two of the features of this system,' he observes, 'will probably be, not mere boys in the character of apprentices, and enlist robust and healthy landsmen in the interior, so long as five dollars worth of land will afford as much pork and poultry, boundary and Jhonny-cake as will maintain a whole family.

Now let us see to what extent the surrender of our North American Colonies to the United States, as recommended by these economists, would be able the latter to increase their naval power. America would, in the first place, gain an additional sea-coast, equal in extent to that which she already possesses, and of a description very superior to it for the formation of a navy and the support of a maritime population. Commencing at the noble bay of Passamaquody and its islands, where the American line now terminates, we find the inhabitants mostly sea-faring men. The town of St. Andrew's is rapidly rising into mercantile importance, and is resorted to by numbers of European fishing and coasting vessels. Hard by is the town of St. John's, at the mouth of the fine river of the same name, down which timber is floated in such quantities as to engage upwards of one hundred vessels in exporting it to Great Britain, and bringing back those supplies of British goods, which the wants of a rapidly increasing population annually demand. Ship-building is also carried on in the river to a great extent.

The colonies of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, whose shores surround the bay of Fundy, can scarcely be exceeded, for the most part, in point of fertility. Gypsum and coal abound on all these coasts: and difficult as the navigation is, on account of the rapid tides, there is scarcely a house of a farmer in which some member of the family will not be found capable of taking charge of the coasting vessels, and conducting them in safety up or down this unguiescent bay.

'The southern and eastern sides of Nova Scotia, from Cape St. Mary's to Cape North, on the island of Cape Breton, may be called the fishing coast, and are peculiarly adapted to produce hardy and enterprising seamen.—They abound with numerous and commodious harbors, capable of affording shelter to the largest vessels.

Mr. Haliburton tells us that the Gulph of St. Lawrence may be said to be whitened with the canvass of vessels engaged in the timber trade, in the Labrador and coasting fisheries, and in carrying supplies of European and West India produce, not only for the consumption of the inhabitants of this coast, but of the rapidly increasing population of Upper and Lower Canada.' Seven hundred sail of vessels he informs us, proceed annually up the river St. Lawrence, and as many nearly to the ports on the shores of the Gulph. In the year 1825, the author of the 'Reflections' says, that 1600 sail of vessels ascended the St. Lawrence.

Now let us suppose the United States to be in possession of this immense line of sea-coast and of all this territory, one part of which indeed deems to the inhabitants a subsistence from the sea, but at the same time affords them not merely a subsistence, but the means of acquiring affluence from the sea; while all the rest is not only capable of supporting from the numerous population, but abounds more or less in various and useful minerals, and inexhaustible forests of timber for ship-building, and furnishes other supplies for an immense foreign and coasting trade;—

'Let us contemplate the numerous inhabitants of this extensive coast, who, from their pursuits, their habits, their laws, their language, their religion, and their feeling, bear a greater resemblance to the inhabitants of Great Britain than any other portion of the known world, and who are now well disposed to continue her subjects. Let us, I say, view these persons ranged upon the side of her enemies—let us see them manning the fleets of hostile America, and engaged in endeavouring to subvert that power which they are now desirous to support—let us see the treasures of Great Britain invested to carry on a maritime war with America, in which, but for this accession of strength, the latter would not perhaps have engaged—and then let us ask ourselves if it would be wise in those who can retain them as subjects of Great Britain, to relinquish them to America, merely because they do not directly pay into her treasury a revenue equal to the expense of their establishment.'—Observations, p. 19.

We may well join our author in asking, 'Should a country, which will be capable of adding so much to her own maritime strength, and the loss of which would add somuch to that of another, and a rival nation, be voluntarily abandoned by Great Britain!' and for what, because, forsooth, 'the retention of it would lead to contests between Great Britain and America, and the cession of it to the latter would remove all causes of future differences.

With what amiable simplicity does this 'most exact of moral sciences' inspire its votaries! with what complacency do they regard the aggrandizement of every nation except their own! how ready are they to ascribe to any other people the virtues of charity and forbearance and loving kindness which they deny to their fellow countrymen! This hatred of the country breaks out on every occasion, whether it be to encourage the importation of sugar from Cuba, the Brazils, or the East Indies, to the detriment of our West India planters, or of Norway timber timber to the exclusion of that which is the growth of our American colonies—(for ours they still are)—and which 'has done much to cripple and destroy the advantageous commerce we formerly carried on with the Baltic.'

To show that these professors of the 'most exact of moral sciences' have but little regard for facts, whenever a bold assertion will suit their purpose, we subjoin a statement, taken from official documents, which will prove to what a lamentable extent our Baltic commerce has been crippled and destroyed. From this it appears, that there pas- p and down the Baltic, the first year after the conclusion of the war, that is to say, in

1816	- -	1848 British ships; but in
1820	- -	3597
1822	- -	3497
and in—1825	- -	5186—!!!

Every man of common understanding then must consider it as the height of madness to think of relinquishing our colonies to the Americans, whose national pride, since they obtained some partial successes in single naval actions, (with a force, however, in every case superior to their opponents,) has been enlisted on the side of a military marine. We should bear in mind that they no longer adhere to the doctrine of Jefferson, to which taught them that it was their best policy to remain at home, and dispose of their native productions to the foreigners who might come to their own shores in search of them. Their policy now is, in imitation of Bonaparte, to have ships colonies and commerce—they, their navy has already induced them to believe that they will soon be capable of disputing with us the empire of the seas. This alone should make us more tenacious of holding our northern colonies as the surest means of keeping down their naval power. That that power is respectable we are not disposed to deny: that it may be extended beyond its present scale, we are equally ready to admit; but that it ever can become formidable to us, so long as we preserve our northern colonies, has, we humbly think, been sufficiently disproved.

LATEST FROM ENGLAND.

His Majesty has given £1,000 for the relief of the suffering manufacturers of Macclesfield.

The late Bishop of Durham has left, by his will £24,000 to public charities, among which £500 to the B. & F. Bible Society.

The news of the Peace in India, between the Company's troop's and the Burmese, had not reached England. The London Gazette of the 20th, contains a mass of official documents of the operations and successes of Sir Archibald Campbell, and Commodore Sir James Brisbane, down to the 6th of December. There had been hard fighting and much blood-shed, and the Burmese, in immense numbers, were driven from all points, routed and dispersed.

The King has been pleased to sanction the reversal of the Attainders of five Scotch Treasons.—Lord Liverpool has brought in bills for that purpose on behalf of the descendants of the Earls of Carnwath and Airlie, and the Lords Ogilvie, Lichc, and Duffus, and the Baroncy of Fingals. The editor of the Sun expresses a hope, that all other Lineal Representatives of titles forfeited during times, which ought to be forgotten, who may be worthy of such an act of Grace, may be restored to the honours of their ancestors at no distant period.

In the House of Commons on the same evening, Mr. George Lamb brought forward his promised motion to allow persons tried for felony to be defended by counsel. The motion was supported by the mover, Mr. Brougham and Mr. Denman, and opposed by Mr. Peel and Mr. Canning, and negatived, 105 to 36.

On the same evening Mr. Brougham presented a petition from the Catholic Association.

Mr. Hume had spoken in insolent terms of the Bishop of London, against which the House of Commons expressed their disapprobation, by a unanimous vote, and he was glad to retract very humbly.

It is supposed that the House of Commons will not set after the 12th of May. They will adjourn from that day to the 20th, when it is expected Parliament will be prorogued, and that the Proclamation of dissolution will immediately follow.

In the House of Commons on the 20th of April, Mr. Hume and Mr. Bright, pressed for information respecting the Burmese war, which the latter described as scandalous and unprovoked. Mr. C. Wynn stated, in reply, that he did not think the present a fit opportunity for discussing the merits of the question, but that an occasion would present itself during the progress of the bill for defraying the expense of the additional naval force to be employed.

An interesting discussion had taken place on the usury laws; ministers were anxious to repeal them, so as to give unrestrained freedom to the activity and circulation of the monied capital of the country.

Lord Liverpool, in reply to a question put by Lord Grosvenor, announced the determination of the Government to maintain a neutrality in the war between the Greeks and the Turks.

The Duke of Wellington arrived at Berlin on the 18th from St. Petersburg, on his return to England.

"A public subscription is about to be set on foot in Liverpool, for the relief of the distressed manufacturers and weavers in the interior of the country, and a public meeting for this purpose was convened for the 2d of May, by the chief magistrate. The Rev. D. Raffles brought the state of the Blackburn weavers before his congregation on the 30th of April. After a powerful appeal to their humane and charitable feelings, the sum of £67 1s. 6d. was collected for their relief. The good example deserves to be imitated by other clergymen. And the King, in addition to his munificent donation of £1000 to the distressed poor of Macclesfield, has given a similar donation to those of Manchester and Blackburn, and one of £500 to the unemployed in Rochdale."

The question of Parliamentary reform, has been agitated with much warmth in the House of Commons.

Detachments belonging to the 68th, 70th and 76th regiments of Infantary, embarked on the 24th of April, on board of the Pamelia transport, at Portsmouth, for Quebec. The same transport afterwards sailed for Jersey and Guernsey, for the purpose of receiving on board other detachments for conveyances to the above destination.

The Duke of Wellington has arrived in London, from St. Petersburg, and has had an audience of the King, and two hours with Mr. Canning.

Foreign Intelligence.

SOUTH AMERICA.

From Cuba.—We have a letter from an American gentleman resident in Cuba, which says—"The Spaniards are trying to counteract the plans of the South Americans—troops are distributed all over the island—two hundred arrived at Barracoa the day before the Margaret sailed; and men of war are stationed at every port of any consequence. A few days ago the Governor received some private information from St. Jago—what it is, is not known; but upon the strength of it he ordered the militia to hold themselves in readiness for marching down the coast. I fortunately started for Moa before this news arrived; still I apprehend no danger of invasion—at least not this place. If the Island is attacked at all, the whole force will be divided between Havana and St. Jago, and the instant they surrender, the Island is conquered."

GREECE.

The Greek War.—We rejoice to say that the news of the fall of Missolonghi was premature, notwithstanding the particularity with which it was given, and there was reason to believe that that fortress had not surrendered at the last dates. The Paris Etoile states, upon the authority of letters from Corfu of the 25th and 26th of March, that the garrison of Missolonghi still held out. The same letters give the details of the assault and capture of Anatolico, which correspond, in point of date, with the account we before copied from a London paper, of the alleged fall of Missolonghi.—Where the truth lies, we know not; but certain it is, that the Earl of Liverpool, in the House of Lords, in answar to an inquiry respecting the letter which has been published in many of the papers, purporting to be from an English colonel, [see Commercial Advertiser of May 19,] said, "the facts mentioned in the letter could not therefore be true, for it represented Missolonghi to have fallen at a time when it had certainly not fallen." It was asserted in the London papers, on the authority of a letter from France, that M. Villele had declared that England, France and Austria had agreed on dictating to Turkey an arrangement with Greece, and in consequence, for the observance of neutrality, France would not allow of open contributions for the Greeks. We hope this intelligence may prove true, but the hope is a very feeble one.

There is much difficulty in reconciling these conflicting accounts, arising from the confusion of dates. For instance, the Corfu dates are after the new style, and the Greek dates the old. According to our account from the Gulf of Lepanto, Missolonghi fell on the 10th of March O. S. or the 21st of March N. S.; and our latest accounts now, are from Corfu, March 26, N. S. The question then arises, might not Missolonghi have fallen on the 21st, and the event not have been known at Corfu on the 26th? It is hardly to be expected, however, that Lord Liverpool would have spoken so positively, upon vague information; but after this comparison of dates, we confess we cannot find any positive authority for the contradiction. Again, under date of Corfu, March 23, we find an article which describes Ibrahim Pacha to be on the point of making a grand attack on Missolonghi from different quarters, and with every prospect of success. Now this preparation evidently alludes to the exertions which were said by our last accounts, to have preceded the last and fatal assault of the Turks. We trust, however, that all will prove as we could wish.

The following paragraph, also dated Corfu, March 23rd, bears too strong a resemblance to manufactured news, for us to place much reliance upon it:

"Greece is stated to be in great danger, but it is mentioned that the Lord High Commissioner of the Ionian islands had acted in such a manner as to create an impression that he had received instructions to prevent Missolonghi from falling into the hands of the Turks. Russia, France and England are said to concur in wishing to bring the contest to a close. It is added that on the 20th Sir Frederick Adam had required that the operations against Missolonghi should be suspended, as he understood an order to conclude an armistice, if not already received, might be expected from Constantinople. To this Ibrahim Pacha objected, on account of the sacrifices which had been made by the Porte. Sir F. Adam, as rep seen ed to have replied, that if he did not yield with a good grace, to the common wish of the Allies, submission would be compelled."

UNITED STATES.

BLACK ROCK HARBOR.

On Saturday evening last, about one hundred feet of the pier composing Black Rock Harbour, was carried away. The breach took place a short distance above J. L. Barton's store house. Four cribs were removed one of them to the foundation, and the others to a considerable depth—a fifth is much damaged, and started from its original position. The effect was instantaneous upon the head of water in the harbour, which was soon reduced 22 inches below the usual level. A column of water rushes through the aperture with fearful violence, and extends obliquely across the Niagara for nearly one fourth of its width. Some idea may be formed of the strength of the current created within, when we state that the Henry Clay, after landing her cargo and wood, with the full power of machinery, aided by a fair wind and sails, with an anchor and tow line ahead, was hardly able to surmount it. The struggle was long and doubtful, and lasted several hours. She eventually arrived in our harbour, from whence, we understand, she will in future make her clearances, or until such time as the pier is again repaired.

In repairing this breach, we apprehend the necessity of an independent canal will be deeply felt and acknowledged. To do it in a safe and substantial manner, (and no other work will resist the lateral pressure,) a temporary dam must be erected above the gap. The effect of this will be at least to cut off all communication with this place from the canal; and we have our doubts whether it will not suspend the navigation as far east as Lockport, and perhaps farther.

Canal Breach.—The Rochester Telegraph of the 30th ult. states that there is a breach in the canal about two miles this side of Lockport, which will take two or three days to repair.

The U. E. Loyalist.

YORK, U. C. SATURDAY, JUNE 17, 1826.

The account of the capture of Missolonghi, notwithstanding the circumstantial manner, in which it was given, is stated in the late papers, to be incorrect. At the latest dates they say, that Fortress still held out, against the attacks of the enemy.—The contradictory nature of the reports from Greece is such, that it appears impossible, to form any correct opinion, of the true state of its affairs.

The Albion states, that Captain Brooks of the British army, had given the intelligence, that a Counter Revolution, under General Paez, had broken out in Colombia, the intention of which is said, to erect Venezula into a separate Republic. Paez had been ordered to Bogota, to explain some part of his conduct—this order he answered, by placing himself at the head of his troops, and overthrowing the legal authorities. Paez is represented, as a bold, and sanguinary leader, at the head of a badly paid, and discontented army, and from such a character, Colombia may anticipate much trouble. This counter revolution is the more to be regretted, as it may produce an effect, in the commercial relations, with the new republic, in which many salutary changes, it appears had been made.

From the N. Y. Spectator of the 9th inst. we regret to learn that serious disturbances had taken place in several of the manufacturing Districts in England. To so formidable an extent had they reached, that in some places it had been found necessary to call in the aid of the Military for the protection of private property, and during the affray some lives were lost. At Blackburn and its vicinity, the power looms in several of the factories were destroyed. At Manchester, Chorley, Addington, and Wakefield, there had been disturbances. At Liverpool apprehensions were entertained, but at the latest dates, it remained quiet, and on the 1st May a Letter from Liverpool says "the accounts from Manchester up to this evening are pacific." The insufficient example of our Gracious Sovereign, will no doubt be followed by all classes who gave it in their power to relieve the distresses of the people—It is satisfactory to learn that feelings of political discontent have no share in the present disturbances, and the Liverpool Albion of 1st May says:—

"Nor is the country cursed with the baleful presence of demagogues—those pests who traversed the country at the eventful period to which we have alluded, and who, like demons, inflamed the minds of the unfortunate wretches whom distress had rendered desperate, and goaded them on to the committal of acts of sedition and treason. These harpies have not fo- the lessons of experience; and they will, we trust, be prudent enough to continue in their native obscurity. If, however, any of these pestiferous wretches should attempt to take advantage of the times, and recommence their mischievous vocation, we trust that the unemployed population of the manufacturing districts will have sufficient sense to treat them with the contempt which such agitators deserve."

By a letter received from Kingston, we are sorry to hear, that the Steam Boat Toronto, on her first trip, from that place to Prescott, had unfortunately got aground several times, and that in consequence, it had been found necessary to haul her out of the water at Brockville, to be repaired. The damage is stated, not to be very great, but the delay, besides occasioning inconvenience, must be attended with some loss to the proprietors. The navigation of the St. Lawrence, for Steam Boats, between Kingston and Prescott, is in many places extremely difficult, and requires that the most skilful, and experienced Pilots should be employed.

The Farmers' Journal, published at St. Catharines, mentions, that the Salt Works at that place, are much improved, and in successful operation, under the ma-agement of Mr Chace.

The manufacture of this necessary article of consumption, within the Province, is much to be desired, and from the number of Salt Springs with which the country abounds, in different parts, we have every reason to hope, that the immense sums, which have been heretofore annually paid for this Article, to our neighbours, will ere long be expended in the Country, and the necessity of depending on a foreign market, for so indispensable an article, be entirely obviated. Tea, Salt, Tobacco, and Leather, are we believe, among the most general articles of consumption.—The first of these, we are now Supplied with on the most advantageous terms, and it is satisfactory to know, that the supply of the three latter articles, may be provided within ourselves, and that individual enterprize, and industry, have already done much, toward effecting such an object.—The Establishment of Paper Mills too, from the encouragement held out by the Provincial Parliament, may soon be expected, to furnish a sufficient quantity of that article, for the use of the Province, whereby another great saving will be made to the country, and large sums of money retained among us. The Paper Mill in West Flamborough, erected by that enterprising individual, James Crooks, Esq. is, we understand, in operation, and the proprietor is now ready to receive orders for paper. It affords us real pleasure to notice these improvements, and we take this opportunity, of requesting the favor of information from such of our readers, as may have an opportunity of witnessing their progress, in different parts of the Province. Our columns shall be most cheerfully devoted to such subjects.

The Observer has been pleased, to notice in very flattering terms, the appearance of our first number, as being creditable to us, in point of taste, and arrangement—at the same time, however, differing with us on the more important part, namely, its matter. The manner of it "suits him well," but because its matter, exposed to "naked view," some errors, which the Observer seems to have laboured under, with respect to the Tea Trade; and because we stated the fact, that the merit of having procured that Trade for us, was due to the former Parliament of Upper Canada, towards whom, for some reason unknown to us, the Observer seems to have no very kindly feeling, fault is found with our article on that subject, and we are very gravely told, that "we are now in fact paying, and must continue to pay, 50 per cent more on the article, than would be demanded, by private individuals." The Observer will allow us, to correct an error he has here fallen into. If the East India Company are to furnish us with Tea, at cost and charges, we should be happy to know, what private individual would give it to us, 50 per cent lower. That those "Merchant Kings," the Hon. the East India Company, have it in their power to be liberal, we can easily conceive, and though we are at all times disposed to admit, that there is much public spirit, and individual enterprize, among ourselves, we must confess, that we are unwilling to give our assent to the idea, however powerfully public spirit might operate, and however great might be the exertion of individual enterprise, that either would be very profitably employed, in furnishing Canada with Tea, at 50 per cent under cost and charges. If the Observer means, that private individuals in Canada, could afford to build, and man Ships, and make voyages to China, at a cheaper rate than the East India Company, he must give some data for such an opinion. We for our part, are inclined to doubt it.

Our remarks on the subject, went simply to state the facts; that, a very desirable change for the country, had taken place, in this particular branch of commerce, by giving us better tea, at a lower price, increasing our revenue, and retaining large sums of money in the country, which were formerly paid to foreign merchants; and, that for what had been done, the thanks of the country were due to those, by whose means, a measure, attended with such favourable results, had been effected. These things we thought at the time, and still think, to be undeniable, and we hope the Observer is not so callous to conviction, as to persist in error, when it is clearly pointed out to him, that his opinions are not deduced from sound reasoning, and are at variance with facts, of which he may have been heretofore unacquainted.

We are happy to state that letters have been received, from the Hon. and Rev. Dr. Strachan, announcing his safe arrival at Liverpool on 20, April.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

The Communication of "Castigator," has been received, but as it is "inconsistent with our plan," to give such Letters "a place in our paper," we must decline inserting it. Disapproving as we do of its tenor, and conceiving that we should in some measure render ourselves accessory toits publication, if it should appear in print on being "handed over," by us, we must tell "Castigator" plainly, that to avoid this, as far as we are concerned, we have not, complied with his request.

An arrival at Boston has brought us London dates to the 22d April, a day or two later than our former advices. The only intelligence furnished by this vessel is a contradiction of the reported fall of Missolonghi. Still there is much confusion about dates, created by the old and new styles of reckoning, which would be unfavorable to the Greeks, had not the Earl of Liverpool stated in the House of Lords, that the celebrated fortress had not fallen at the dates mentioned in the letter said to have been written by an English Colonel. At the latter dates, we must wait for more authentic advices before we can form any conclusive opinion upon the subject.

Business appears to be somewhat reviving in England, and the funds keep up to 79 and upwards.

LOWER CANADA.

On Sunday the Lord Bishop of this Diocese was installed in the Cathedral Church with the usual formalities, adapted in some points to local necessity. As this ceremony, which is partly a legal form, and partly an ecclesiastical solemnity, is a novelty to many persons in this country, it may not be uninteresting to describe it. The Christian Religion is ordained to pass through different stages, and subject by the appointment of Providence to great varieties of outward circumstances. The Church of Christ, as well as her ministers individually, ought to "know how to be abased and how to abound." In such a condition as is enjoyed by that branch of the Church which is in connexion with the British Empire, it is suitable in itself, and subservient to a general reverence for religion, that particular occasions should be marked by a certain degree of Form and State, and it is believed that the distinction with which the new Bishop was received in the Cathedral, were regarded with interest and satisfaction by the whole of a crowded congregation. An interest, however, and a satisfaction which derived their highest zest from the feeling universally entertained that the subject of these distinctions is an approved and laborious servant of the Gospel.

His Lordship having arrived at the principal entrance of the Church, and having descended from his carriage with his attendants, his Chaplain knocked for admission at the door. The Clergy and inferior Church officers being assembled within, it was demanded who was there? in answer to which, the Bishop of Quebec was announced. The doors were then opened, and while a voluntary was played by the Organist, the procession moved up the centre aisle in the following order;—the Clergy attached to the Cathedral Establishment wearing their surplices with the distinctions of their respective Clerical rank, or academical degree, and those who attended upon the Bishop being in their robes the Choir and inferior Church Officers also wearing their respective habits,

The Sexton,

The boys of the Choir two and two,

The men of the Choir two and two,

The Church Clerk,

The Assistant Minister of Quebec, and the Minister of the Chapel of Ease, (being a dependency of the Cathedral,) abreast,

The Evening Lecturer of the Cathedral,

The Archdeacon,

The Bishop's domestic Chaplain and acting Chaplain for the occasion—abreast,

The Verger, with his staff,

THE BISHOP.

As soon as the procession reached the rails of the Communion-table, at the upper end of the Church, the sexton, choristers, Verger, and Church Clerk filed off in the rear of the pulpit, and proceeded to their respective places. The Bishop and Clergy passed within the rails where the Chair of Ceremony was placed at the north side of the altar. The Royal Mandate under the Great Seal, directing the Archbishop of Canterbury to consecrate the Honorable and Reverend Charles James Stewart, D. D. to the Bishoprick of Quebec, was read by His Lordship's Chaplain, the Seal being supported by the Rev. and Hon. S. J. Mountain, from Upper Canada, acting for the occasion. An Oath was then administered to His Lordship by the Archdeacon, relating to his faithful Government and Guardianship of the Establishment of the Cathedral Church, (the ordinary powers of a Dean and Chapter being in this instance, is a great measure vested in the Bishop.) The Archdeacon then conducted His Lordship to the Throne or Episcopal Seat.

The Bishop afterwards read the Communion Service, and discharged the principal part in the solemn administration of the Sacrament.—Quebec Mercury.

THE Subscriber having in view the erection of a

at this place, to be in operation in the course of the month of May ensuing, solicits the patronage of the Public in supplying RAGS sufficient to keep the same in full employment, for which he will give as high a price as is usually given by the Paper-Makers in the adjacent parts of the United States, and means will be taken to send for the same, when a quantity is collected at any one point in any part of the Province, which will be paid for either in Money or Paper, as may best suit the proprietor.

The advantages to this Colony from the establishment of a Paper-Mill, are so obvious and so numerous that the Subscriber hopes that persons to whom the value of RAGS may be no object, will (from patriotic motives) lend their assistance in securing a domestic supply; otherwise one great object in establishing such a manufacture, namely, that of keeping money among the Colonists, will be defeated.

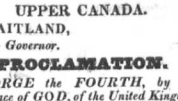
VOL I. YORK, UPPER CANADA, SATURDAY, JUNE 24, 1826. NO, 4.

BY AUTHORITY.

Government House, }
York, June 10th, 1826. }

HIS Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, has been pleased to appoint Mr. James B. Stenett, to be a Deputy Land Surveyor. in this Province.

By Authority.



HIS Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, desirous that it may be publicly known, that the case of the conviction of an Indian, (Shawanakiskie) under sentence of death for the murder of another Indian, at Amherstburgh, in the Western District, having, in consequence of objections which had been raised to the jurisdiction of the Court, on the ground, that Indians were not amenable to our Laws, for offences committed amongst themselves, been referred by His Excellency, to the consideration of His Majesty, a despatch has been received from the Right Hon. the Secretary of State for the Colonies, informing His Excellency, that the Law Officers of the Crown, had reported in favour of the Conviction.

The Prisoner having escaped since his case was referred, His Excellency deems it, nevertheless, important that it should be generally known, that the legality of the conviction was confirmed, and that the sentence was directed to be carried into execution, with a discretionary power to His Excellency, to commute the punishment for transportation, or imprisonment for life, and that to that end a Warrant has been received in the following terms.

"WHEREAS Shawanakiskie, an Indian of the Ottawa Tribe, was, at the Assizes, holden for the Western Circuit, in our Province of Upper Canada, in or about the Month of August, in the year of our Lord, One thousand eight hundred and twenty-two, tried and convicted of the murder of an other Indian, at Amhersburgh, in our said Province, and had sentence of Death passed upon him for the same, but Execution was Respited by our Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, until our pleasure should be known, on the ground of there being no precedent on record in that Province, of a similar case, and of doubts, whether the Indians were answerable by Law to our Courts, for offences committed within our Territory against each other. And Whereas, We thought fit to refer the proceedings in the said case to our Advocate, Attorney, and Solicitor General, for their opinion, who have reported unto us that the Conviction of the said Shawanakiskie was Proper; and that no valid objection exists against the jurisdiction of the Court, before which the said Shawanakiskie was tried.

NOW WE, considering the heinousness of the offence, think it just that the said Sentence should be carried into full effect, and Our Will and Pleasure therefore is, that execution be done thereupon, unless in the case herein after next provided for; But inasmuch as some circumstances unknown to Us may be known to you, Our Governor &c. &c.

(Here follows a discretionary power to mitigate the punishment.)

UPPER CANADA.
P. MAITLAND,
Lieut. Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

GREETING

WHEREAS by our Proclamation bearing date the Fifteenth day of April last, we thought fit to prorogue our Provincial Parliament to the Twenty-seventh day of May inst. at which time, at our Town of York, you were held and constrained to appear.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York, this 20th day of May in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty-six, and in the Seventh Year of our reign.

GEORGE the FOURTH by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come

WHEREAS for the more effectual preventing the recurrence of such abuses as have heretofore prevailed in the prosecution of the Trade in Timber in the parts of this Province bordering upon the River Ottawa, and to the end that the Public Interest may be more certainly advanced, the Commerce in that important article of exportation the better regulated, and more equal Justice observed with regard to all Our Subjects desirous of participating in the said Trade. Provided always, That for the better preventing the said Timber being Cut before it has attained a suitable growth, double the amount of Duty herein specified shall be charged upon all such Timber as shall not Square more than Eight Inches. And it is our further Will and Pleasure, that all such Timber or Wood which shall have been Cut as aforesaid upon Our Unconceded Lands in Upper Canada, upon which the Duties shall not be paid, when exacted by Our Officer so to be appointed as aforesaid, shall be seized and detained to Our Use as forfeited.

Provided always nevertheless, That all Persons, properly authorized by or under Our Licence granted in manner heretofore, used to Cut Timber in Our said Province shall be permitted to carry away and export the same, to such extent as their Licences may specify, without the exaction of any rate hereby imposed, and that all such Timber as may have been heretofore Cut upon Our Unconceded Lands as aforesaid, without Our express Licence, may upon payment of the Duties hereby specified, be suffered to pass through Our said Province of Upper Canada.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of Our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS Our trusty and well beloved, SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of Our said Province, and Major General Commanding Our Forces therein, at York, this third day of May in the year of Our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty-Six, and in the Seventh Year of Our Reign.

Executive Council Office, }
York, 23rd March, 1826 }

NOTICE is hereby given, by ORDER of His EXCELLENCY the LIEUTENAT GOVERNOR, in COUNCIL, that in future, the First Wednesday in every Month will be a regular Council day.

JOHN SMALL.

No. 9 1. f. C. E. C.

In Council 21st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepard in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District.

2 All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and appropriated for public purposes, will be offerd for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3 All persons proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts on payment of a fee of 2s. 6d.

4 All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5 The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement—A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6 On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply, in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8. Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions.

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form, Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres.

11. No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending in the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12. A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase.

14. Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it.

15. Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hunded Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On failure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant. It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16. No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessary expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17. Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprized in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18. Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of these general Rules.

19. U. E. Loyalists and other persons entitled to gratuitous Grant by the general regulation of His Majesty's Government, are not to be affected by these Rules.

The above Rules to take effect from the first of January 1826.

By Order of His EXCELLENCY the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

(ORIGINAL.)

Lines occasioned by the death of Mrs. Crysler, of Niagara.

Death gazed on her charms with his pale greedy
Tho' thousands were marching before her; [eyes,
An seizing the hand of his beautiful prize,
From the arms of the Bridegroom he tore her.

Hell follow'd close in the footsteps of Death,
For the precious immortal within her;
With fury he grasp'd when she sigh'd her last breath,
As it were for some perishing sinner.

But a bright band of Seraphin swift from the sky
Was there in full time to relieve her;
The fiend started back as they fronted his eye,
And he fled as they came to receive her.

Fell murderer begone! for a Saviour hath died,
They exclaim'd—the forlorn are defended;
And she bath'd in the fountain that flows from his
While the day of his grace was extended. [side,

Her Judge is her Counsellor—who shall accuse?
Her Saviour, her great Mediator,
Hath purchased her life with his own;—and his dues
He now claims of her Sovereign Creator.

Then rapid as thought they enrobed her in bright
Flowing vestments of heavenly splendor:
Her chains are removed, and shine pure as the light,
While a concert of angels attend her.

Then, to Death they replied:—Thou hast fail'd
In
'Tis but clay thou hast gotten beside thee:
And the day draweth nigh when thy channel-house
Will spurn at thy rule and deride thee. [game

For the trumpet of Gabriel shall waken the dead
When the journey of time is completed:
Then where is thy sting!—all its venom is fled,
And the malice of hell is defeated.

The body that forms thy proud revel to day
Shall be fil'd with you Seraph to-morrow;
And glory immortal shall crown the poor clay
That was once a frail mansion of sorrow.

STANZAS.

To an Infant, aged 15 months.

EMMA! the light of thy hazel eye
Never shall part from memory,—
Emma! the spell of thy angel smile
Many a weary hour shall beguile!

I have often looked on childhood's face,
And joyed to mark its playful grace,
But never yet met such witchery
As now wakes my heart and harp for thee!

Emma! thy wordless voice shall dwell
In my soul's most sad and secret cell,
Where feeling's chosen treasures lie,
Shut out from the world's cold, careless eye!

There,—with thoughts of things that yet may be,
And dreams of bliss ne'er meant for me,
Thy image, dear and beautiful child,
Shall lie concealed and undefiled!

Emma! the spell of thy angel-smile,
And each infantine, endearing wile,
And thy murmured tone, and thy radient eye,
Never shall part from memory!

MISCELLANEOUS.

TAUNTON, March 30.

Samuel Gilbert, a young man, employed in a manufactory at Frome, was indicted for the highway robbery of a young woman named Charlotte Smith. This case was extraordinary in many respects, but particularly on account of the determined and effectual resistance offered by the young woman to the savage attacks of the prisoner, whose object in the first instance, was not to rob, but to violate her. The circumstances, as stated by her, and which in many respects were corroborated by other testimony, were to the following effect:

On the second day of the fair at Frome, being the 26th of November, I was walking with one of my brothers in search of the others. I went into a public-house called the Castle, where I saw my brothers and the prisoner. I had never seen him before. I remained there while my brothers drank some cider. The prisoner asked me to sit down. I remained a few minutes, and then went away. The prisoner followed me towards my father's house, took my arm and proceeded to converse with me in civil and proper language. He went with me into my father's house. My father left us at home with my younger brother, while he went to look for my other brothers, who had not returned. After we had sat a short time, the prisoner asked me to walk down again to the fair with him. I consented, and we walked together arm-in-arm. While we were at the fair, he said he had an aunt who lived at Coalash-walk, and proposed that we should go and see her. This place is a short way out of Frome.—At first I refused to go with him, as he was a stranger to me, but he urged me, saying that it was a pleasant evening, would be a fine walk, and that he would see me safely back to my father's. Upon this I agreed to go; but when we got to the end of the houses, I again refused. He however, repeated his request earnestly, and I was over-persuaded. We had not got far beyond the houses when he took me by both my shoulders and threw me down, using at the same time a very improper expression. I asked him if he knew who I was? He replied, "Yes, you are Mr. Smith's daughter." He then repeated the bad language; and said, "if you don't submit, I'll murder you." I said, I'll die first." He then took several liberties, which distressed me much and I cried out for help. He said, "D—n thy mouth," and thrust his hand into it. He also put his fist against my throat until my breath was almost gone, and nearly choked me. His actions in other respects convinced me of what his intentions were, I was in this state for upwards of three quarters of an hour, struggling with him. I was still on the ground, and could not get away. A man at length passed by, and called out, Holloa; have you any one there besides yourself?" The prisoner answered, "No." As the man advanced, the prisoner took his hands from my throat, I then screamed out for help. The man said. "You murderous villian, why you have got a woman there; are you going to kill her? The prisoner jumped up and said to the man, "I'll Murder thee, if thou don't make thy way off." I now got up, but the prisoner threw me down again before the man's face, and continued his brutal liberties. The man then struck him with a stick, and tried to force him off. The prisoner got up and flew at him with his fists. I ran up to the man caught him round the waist, and begged him to protect me; he made me let go, and loosed my hands. Thinking there was no one to protect me, I ran away as fast as I was able. I ran more than a mile, but not knowing the way, instead of going towards Frome, I went towards Warminister. I had got about a mile and a quarter, when the prisoner overtook me again on the turnpike road, and said I was going wrong. I thought I was going right, and I said I was. He then repeated his determination to do as he pleased with me, saying that if I did not give up to him he would throw me in the river. I resisted, and he took me up in his arms and carried me towards the river. When he got to the river with me, I called to him for mercy, and he put me down. He then took and dragged me up a lane. On getting to a white gate he said I must get over it; I refused, when he said "D—n thy eyes, thou shalt," took me up and threw me over. He next dragged me towards some brambles, and threw me into a ditch of mire. He swore what he would do; and kept me there for several hours. He beat me, and struck his blows so heavily that my eyes struck fire. The blows were principally upon my head, and directed as if he had a man to fight with. I found myself becoming insensible; and taking some of the blood from my face and mouth I asked him how he could have the heart to do it? He said "he'd be d—d if he cared; he would murder me if I would not give up to him." I told him if he would not murder me I had a shilling, or thereabouts, in my pocket, which I would give him. He said "d—n his eyes if he would not have it then." He then tore off my pocket, by main force; then he got up stamped upon me, and tore off my clothes; I was then in black for my mother: he tore the clothes in slips, under clothes and all; there was no shape of clothes left; he then forced my head under the water, and kept it there till I was nearly drowned. While my head at one time was nearly under the water, he unclasped one of my ear-rings, and took it out. He then let my head go. I said, "The Lord be praised, here is my father." This I said to intimidate him. on hearing a dog bark at no great distance. Beside my ear rings, and a pocket containing a sixpence and some copper, the prisoner took a black handkerchief and a frill from my neck. After this he went away.—I followed in the same direction, because I did not know the way. I was so bad, I don't know how I got home. It wanted a few minutes to three when I got home.—My brother let me in, and I went up stairs to my room immediately, without saying what had happened. My brother is not here. The next morning my father saw me; I was blind, and remained so for a week. No woman saw me that night. I did not go before the Magistrate; he came to our house; for I was bed-ridden, I think for nearly three weeks.

Cross-examined—My father is a clothworker. It was about eight in the evening when I went down to the fair, to look for my brothers. the fair is but a short distance from my father's house. While I was sitting in the public house, the prisoner behaved with civility. My father did not know the prisoner, but he left me and a young brother in the house with him.—My father was not angry with me for being out so late when he saw how ill I was. The man who came up when I was first attacked is named Chilcot. He could see my situation by the brightness of the moon. The prisoner was not drunk; his whole attempt was to ruin me.

James Chilcot confirmed the above testimony: and on cross-examination said—I know nothing of either of the parties. It was between half past ten and eleven when I saw them. My mind was so much agitated that I could not attend to the girl. I was really afraid of my own life. I afterwards reflected that I ought to have looked to her, seeing her situation; but I could not do it at the time. On my road home I met some persons, to whom I told the circumstance, and desired them to push on after the girl; and I undertook to have the man secured if I should meet with him.

Joseph Smith, the father of the prosecutrix, proved his having left the prisoner with her and her brother in his house, and described the state in which she appeared when she came home in the morning. In the morning he scarcely knew her, she was so beaten. There was scarcely a feature left.

The remnants of her dress were produced in Court. They were a collection of torn rags, and covered with mud, bearing ample testimony to the violence with which she had been attacked.

Mr. Bush, a surgeon, examined,—Visited the prosecutrix in the morning: she was in bed; her face much swollen, and both her eyes closed. Her neck showed marks of considerable violence, as if pressed by heavy and strong hands. There was a great deal of inflamation all about the head and face; and there were other marks of violence about her person.

The prisoner on being called upon for his defence, entered into a statement which confirmed that of the prosecutrix. He seemed to attribute the injuries which she had received, to her own obstinacy and resistance.

The Jury returned a verdict of Guilty.

Mr. Justice Burrough, in passing sentence, observed, that the conduct of the prisoner, surpassed in atrocity, that of any person who had ever appeared in a Court of Justice under such a crime as that of which he had been convicted. He had drawn an artless girl from her home for a brutal purpose, which alone, if effected, would have been capital felony; but which had been prevented on the part of the girl, with a courage and perseverance which would reflect credit upon her during the remainder of her life. Finding he could not accomplish one bad purpose, he proceeded to another, and robbed her, accompanying the robbery with a brutality seldom heard of before. He could not but have known, that if taken and convicted of this offence, his life would be forfeited, and that it could not be spared. He must now prepare to depart from this world in a very few days, of which he would do well to make the best use by a sincere repentance. The learned Judge, having then told him not to mislead himself with any hope of mercy, which certainly would not be extended to him, proceeded to pass sentence of death upon the prisoner in the usual form.

During the whole of the trial, the prisoner showed a dread of his situation, amounting almost to pusillanimity. He wept repeatedly and loudly, especially while the Judge was passing sentence.

SUMMARY.

The principal officers, engineers and manufacturers in Egypt are Frenchmen. General Boyer commands the Arab troops, Major Seve commands the operations in Greece, and M. Jumelle manages the muslin and cotton manufactures in Cairo. The cotton is manufacured by the slaves, woven by Arabs, and printed by Frenchmen, under the direction of M. Gunnie. The cannon foundry of Cairo and some of the manufactories of arms are managed by Frenchmen.

Capt. Bodberry who has arrived at Beverly, from the Coast of Africa, reports that the Ashantees were daily expected down when she sailed, to make an attack on the Cape Coast Castle, with a stronger force than at any pervious attack.

In July last, the Polux Dutch sloop of war, Captain Eeg, discovered a new and well peopled Island in the Pacific to which the name of Nederlandich island was given. Its latitude and longitude laid down at 7 deg. 10 min. S. and 177 deg. 33 min. 15 sec. E. from Greenwich. The natives were athletic and fierce, great thieves, and from their showing no symptoms of fear when muskets were discharged, evidently unacquainted with fire arms.

The horrid fact was stated in the French Chamber of Deputies early in April, that three thousand slaves were annually thrown overboard to escape detection.

The late Musical Festival at York, (Eng.) gave a profit to the Managers of 190,000*l.* which they have determined to divide in equal portions amongst the Infirmaries of York, Leeds, Hull and Sheffield, making 47,500*l.* each.

Death of Dowager Viscountess Cremorne.

On Friday the 14th inst. died at her house in stanhope street, May fair, in the 86th year of her age, the Right Honourable Philadelphia Hannah relict of the late Thomas Viscount Cremorne, and Baron Dacres of the Kingdom of Ireland. Her ladyship was the grand daughter of William Penn founder of Pennsylvania, in North America, and was born in its capital of Philadelphia, after which city she was named.

Iron Trade.—At the Shropshire and Staffordshire Iron Master's quarter day last week a full of prices took place of 10s. per ton on melting pigs, and other kinds experienced a still greater reduction. About 17 furnaces, employing 300 men, are lately stopped, or blown out, in Staffordshire, and the supply is calculated to diminished weekly about 750 tons.

The Silk Trade.—At a meeting of the Dock Committee of Liverpool on Tuesday, a petition to the House of Commons was directed to be presented against the Bill now before the House, for restricting the importation of foreign manufactured silk to the port of London, and praying that the port of Liverpool may be admitted to a participation in that trade.

Purser's of the Royal Navy.—We understand that about 160 Pursers, in accordance with the orders issued by the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, have returned themselves unfit for duty, and that in consequence an arrangement is about to be made for their retirement.

We learn that the vessels which have this season sailed hence to the Baltic availed themselves of the Act lately passed, which allows a small quantity of rum, say twenty gallons, to be run off in the warehous, duty free, as ships stores. This is likely to put an end to the usual practice of purchasing, at Elsinore, the inferior spirit which gets the name of gin, as well as encourage the trade of our own West Indian colonies.—Montrose Review.

Whitehall, March 30.—The King has been gracious pleased to constitute and appoint D. Cathcart, Esq. one of the Lords of Session, to be a Lord of Justiciary in Scotland, in the room of G. Fergusson, Esq. resigned.

Whitehall, April 3.—The King has been pleased to order a conge d'elire to pass the Great Seal, empowering the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral Church of Durham to elect a Bishop of that See, the same being void by the death of the Right Rev. Father in God Doctor Shute Barrington, late Bishop thereof; and his Majesty has also been pleased to recommend to the said Dean and Chapter the Right Rev. Father in God Dr. W. Van Mildert, now Bishop of Llandaff, to be by them elected Bishop of the said See of Durham.

ENGLAND.

Capt. Sebor, of the Brighton, states, that he received a letter from London at the moment of sailing, stating that affairs were more tranquil in the disturbed districts, and that on the 3rd an improvement had taken place in the price of cotton at Liverpool, of 1-2d per lb.; and altogether things looked more cheerful.

While the Brighton was lying at Cowes, two days previous to sailing, intelligence was received there, that an Indiaman from Calcutta had passed up the Channel, bearing information of the conclusion of the Burmese war, and that the principal articles in the treaty of peace were the accession of Six Provinces, and the payment of a Million sterling, to the British Government.

The subscriptions of the King, for the relief of the the poor of the manufacturing districts, from his private purse, amount to upward of 7000*l.*

Manufacturing Districts.—The disturbances in all parts of the manufacturing districts are of the most serious kind; whole columns of the English journals are filled with the details; civil authority having been found insufficient, the military aid has been called in. Troops are coagregating from every quarter of the empire.—Government expresses its determinator to surpress all violent proceedings by the promptest measures. At the same time an ardent desire exist throughout the administration and the country to lighten the weight of suffering. Donations and Subscriptions are thronging in from every side. At a great public meeting in London, nearly 18,000*l.* (about $80,000) was almost immediately subscribed. In the list of contributions we find, the King of England 2000 pounds; Marquis of Stafford 1000; Sir Robert Peel 500; Mr. Peel 300; Lord Chancellor 200; Mr. Canning 100; Lord Beuly 100; Chancellor of the Exchequer 100; Mr. Huskisson 100; Lord Liverpool 200; Lord Harrowby 200; Prince Leopold 500; Lord Sondes 500; the Bank of England 1000; West India Planters in London 500; Duke of Devonshire 500; Earl of Darlington 1000; Earl of Grosvenor 200; Duke of Wellington 300; Duke of Northumberland 1000; Stationers Company 50; Proprietors of the Courier 20; New Times 10 "10" Editor of Observer 10; British Observer 10 10; Sunday Monitor 5. "The tide of charity," says the Courier, "must be full and ample: it must be commensurate with the necessity: and the necessity is great. There are thousands and thousands who are to be sustained—not for a few days or weeks—but for months—and it were better the relief should exceed their wants by a hundred thousand pounds, than that it should fall short by the amount of a single guinea."

The English papers confirm the account of the loss of the British brig of war Algerine, with the whole of her crew.

Accounts are in town which left Manchester at nine o'clock, when every thing was tranquil.

We are sorry to have to record the stop-page yesterday of an East Indian House of some consequence.

On the 4th of May, a Cabinet Coucil was held at the Foreign Office; summonses for the assembling of which were issued at a late hour at night. The Council did not break up before four o'clock in the morning.

London, April 25.

THE KING.

The King's health continues to improve daily. It was sufficiently re-established on Friday to permit him to dine with the party at the Royal Lodge.

Dover, April 27.

At eight o'clock this morning, His Majesty's packet the Fury came into the roads, and shortly after landed his Grace the Duke of Wellington, with Lord Fitzroy Somerset, Lord Dunglass, the Hon. Mr. Cathcart, Dr. Hume, &c. under a salute from the guns at the Rodoubt. Carriages were sent to the water's edge by Mr. Wright to convey his Grace and suite to the Ship Hotel, but his Grace did not avail himself of them preferring to walk.

His Majesty, who is, in right of his duchy of Lancaster, lord of the manor of Salford, has been gracious pleased to contribute to the relief of the poor of that township the sum of 105. This fact was announced on Friday to the poor people who were assembled to receive the relief, distributed in provisions, and excited amongst them the livlest expressions of gratitude.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, April 17th.

Criminal Justice Bill.

On motion of Mr. Secretary Peel, the House went into Committee on this bill.

Mr. Secretary Peel said, that he had an alteration to make in two clauses, which were of an important character. He wished in one to enlarge the authority of the Magistrates with respect to the power of admitting to bail in certain cases. At present that power rested on very slender ground, a statute of Edward I.—He wished to put it on more sure grounds, and to define more clearly in what case persons charged with felony should be admitted to bail, and in what cases, speaking generally, bail should be refused. The clause which he should propose would enact, that where a party was charged with felony on oath of a credible witness, which charge was not answered, and of course left a strong presumption of guilt, the party should be committed: but in cases where it appeared to the Magistrates (supposing it to be brought before a single Magistrate) that a strong case was not made out, and that a strong presumption of guilt did not exist, then the Magistrate would have the power, and it would be his duty, to remand the party, until his case could be considered by two Magistrates, and who would in such case have the power, if they took the same view of it, of admitting the person to bail, or of discharging if have good and substantial bail. The experience of years had shewn, and he would not go further back than the commitments of the last seven years, that a vast number of persons were acquitted or discharged for want of prosecution, who had been imprisoned for considerable periods for felony.—Now, if the Committee looked to the effect of imprisoning for a long period, in a common gaol, an innocent man on a charge of felony, and considered that in almost all cases such persons came out a much worse man in point of moral character than he was when he went in—(hear—they would not), he thought that the grant of a power to Magistrates, which would prevent in many cases, the chance of an innocent man being exposed to such a contamination. He inserted the word "felony" and that was a most important alteration, because at present, where a man was charged with felony, the Magistrate, even though he might not think it a case strongly presumptive of guilt, had not the power to admit to bail, but must commit or discharge the prisoner.

Mr. Scarlett said that, in point of fact, Magistrates had already, on many occasions, exercised the power of admitting persons to bail in doubtful cases.

Mr. Denman said, that the word "competent" witness should be inserted instead of the word "credible."

Mr. Secretary Peel said, that he proposed to reprint the whole of the Bill, with the additions.

After a few words from the Att'y. General, Mr. C. Wilson, Mr. Tremaine, and Sir G. Chetwynd, the clause was agreed to.

On the clause not to commit for misdemeanor unless the depositions should be taken in cases of felony,

Mr. Secretary Peel said he hoped the Committee would have no objection to adopt this provision as a safeguard to the liberty of the subject, although he admitted the clause was altogether a new one—(Loud cheers—These depositions should be transferred to the Court where the offence was tried, and though it gave perhaps a little more trouble to the Magistrates, he had not the least doubt the Magistrates would accede to this point.

Upon the next clause, Mr. Peel hoped he should shortly be able to present a Bill for abolishing the distinction between clergyable and not clergyable felony; which clause was also agreed to.

Mr. Secretary Peel, in proposing the clause, that "if the offences of Accessary and Principal be committed in different counties, the Accessary might be tried in either," said it was suggested to him by a clebrated case which occurred at Hertford, and where considerable difficulty presented itself to bring the criminal to justice. in consequence of a defect in the law, which was supplied by the present clause. [The Right Hon. Gentleman, we believe, alluded to the case of Turpin, who was an Accessary in the robbery to Lord Crowper's, in Hertford, for which he was executed.]—Agreed to.

The clause in its original form, after a few words from Mr. Scarlett and the Solicitor General, was agreed to.

The Bill then went through the Committee; the Report was brought up, and ordered to be taken into consideration on Friday.

POLITICAL IMPORTANCE OF THE BRITISH COLONIES.

From the Quarterly Review, No. 66. just received.

CONCLUDED.

It is fearlessly assumed that the power of America is advancing and has become considerable more formidable than it was, and that therefore she is by so much the more dangerous neighbour—but what is the fact? In the same report of the minister for her marine it appears, that the whole of her ships of war on the lakes Erie, Ontario and Champlain, have been sold, the establishments broken up, and the public property either sold or transported to the navy yards on the Atlantic. On the other hand again, have our own North American colonies been stationary? Have not they too increased in population, strength and resources? We shall discuss this point presently. In the mean time, are we sure, it may be asked, if the number of confederated states of which America consist, would feel a common interest in adding the Canadian and other provinces to their already immense republic? or, are we not sure that such an addition would very materially clash with the dearest interests of some of the most wealthy and populous states? The author of the 'Observations' remarks, and we entirely agree with him:

'The southern states, on the Atlantic, have no desire to increase the political influence of New York or New England—the Virginians, who take the lead among the former, look with great jealousy upon Massachusetts, which state has twice wrested the presidency from her hands; and the inhabitants of the western territory begin to look upon both as usurpers of that power and influence in the tire general government, which they were in no force to accomplish it. While the Americans boast of their liberties and their free constitutions—while they regard with jealousy, and obstinately resist the expense of a standing army, (as difficult for them to raise, as we have seen them confess it is to man their navy,) they are in no condition to undertake foreign conquests.

Their militia will fight for the protection of their fire-sides; but the American citizen will not easily be persuaded to quit his farm and his family, mount his knapsack on his back, subject himself to military discipline, and march in the ranks into the heart of an enemy's country—and for what?—to incorporate a rival province into a confederation of which he is not, any more than they themselves are, desirous that they should become members.

The talk, therefore, of conquering Canada, is not, we apprehend, quite so easy as those political economists would have the world to believe. The author of the 'Reflections,' who speaks from local knowledge, informs us that Lower Canada contains a population of nearly half a million of souls, and affords a militia of 76,000 able bodied men, accustomed to the use of arms; that they are a moral, industrious, sober, and contented people, attached to their own customs, laws, language, and religion, and though Roman Catholics, their Clergy are educated in Canada, and have no foreign predilections whatever; that the whole cost of the Catholic church establishment to the mother country is annual by £1000—the rest being paid out of a twenty-sixth part of the grain lands; that the income of the cures averages £300 a year, which affords them, in a cheap country, the means of living most respectably, and even of exercising a very liberal hospitality, Contented and happy, these worthy pastors inspire the same feeling into their flocks. It is not, therefore, as we said before, quite so clear, that 76,000 men in arms not scattered, like the Americans, over a vast extent of country, but thickly settled on the banks of the St. Lawrence, and easily assembled) will be disposed to crouch under a newfangled power towards which they have an hereditary enmity, and which maintains no regular army worth mentioning.'

From the same author we learn, that Upper Canada contains a population of about 160,000 souls, and has 44,000 men enrolled and embodied as militia; and though this colony is yet in its infancy, the fertility of the soil, the comparative mildness of its climate, and the luxuriance of its vegetation, must unquestionably render it, ere long, a province of the greatest value. The population of New-Brunswick is stated at 70,000; the militia, 11,000. Nova Scotia contains 86,000 inhabitants, and has 12,000 very respectable militia. On account of the harbor and dockyard of Halifax, this province is rapidly improving, and being the nearest and readiest point of communication with Great Britain, is of the utmost importance. Prince Edward's Island, near its coast, has a population of about 24,000 souls, and 4,000 embodied militia. Thus, the five colonies of Upper and Lower Canada, New-Brunswick, Nova Scotia, and Prince Edward's Island, have an armed force of able-bodied militia, amounting to no less than 147,000 men.

If it be clear that, with such a force, assisted by a few regular troops from home, our North American provinces must be conquered by the arms of the United States, whenever it may be convenient for them to attack those provinces—we acknowledge ourselves ready to subscribe to the opinion of the political economists we have to deal with, that the sooner the former merge in the latter—that the sooner we abandon them, so much the better.

There is still a third possible case, to wit—that the Canadians may throw themselves into the hands of the United States. To this we answer that neither force nor flattery were wanting on the part of the American government, in the last contest, to overcome or undermine the resistance and the loyalty of our colonists, left, as they necessarily were, for a time to their own resources. Had the peace been disposed to quit the side of the mother country, the declaration of that wish would then have ensured its accomplishment. Since that time restrictions have been removed from commerce, and other benefits conferred. In fact, they know of what little influence or importance they would be, if merged in the confederation of the United States; and all their habits and feelings induced them to look for protection to Great Britain. Why indeed should our North American colonies feel any desire to sink themselves into the states of New York and Maine, when these states are themselves complaining of their little influence in the councils of their own body, and the head of the supreme government rapidly travelling westward; and when it is evident that, should the Union continue to subsist, the Atlantic states must reconcile themselves to receive laws from the leading men of that immense valley, which is watered by the Ohio, the Missouri, and the Mississippi?

As to their voluntary separation from the parent state, and becoming independent, no man acquainted with their feelings and condition could for a moment entertain such an idea; and Mr. Hume may be assured that he will not get the thanks of the natives of our Northern colonies, for an officious interference in a matter so contrary to every wish of their hearts.

We have all along been supposing, according to old fashioned ideas, that colonies created commerce, commerce shipping, and shipping seamen; it used to be so in olden times, but—'on a change tout cela;' the modern school shows the fallacy and the futility of such a doctrine. It has usually been supposed,' says the great northern teacher, 'that an extensive mercantile marine is absolutely necessary to the possession of a great warlike navy, and the most vexatious and injurious restraints have been laid on commerce for the sake of forcing the employment of ships and sailors.'—'We are satisfied, however,' he continues, 'this idea is wholly without foundation. All that is required for the attainment of naval power is the command of convenient harbors, and of wealth sufficient to build and man ships. However paradoxical it may appear, it is nevertheless unquestionably true, that the many of Great Britain might be as formidable as it now is, or if that was deemed, infinitely more so, though we had not a single merchant ship.' This, we will venture to say, is one of the grandest discoveries that the most exact of moral sciences has yet brought to light; why, indeed, take that 'roundabout method,' as it is termed, of manning the fleet with sailors trained in merchant ships, instead of breeding up sailors in men of war!' The thing is so self-evident, that the great teacher recommends, 'instead of keeping so small a force as twenty or thirty thousand able-bodied seamen afloat, during peace, that number ought to be increased to at least fifty or sixty thousand.' To be sure, it is admitted, that 'it would be a very inconsiderable species of economy (and of course contrary to the infallible principles of political economy) to hesitate about incurring such an expense. This notable plan, we are assured, 'has been highly approved by many distinguished naval officers.' We should rather think that some jocular old admiral has been playing off a hoax on the great teacher. Did it never once occur to him that, after we had abandoned our colonies and our shipping, and entrusted ourselves entirely to the loving-kindness of foreigners for every article of foreign supply, this great fleet of his would have nothing left to protect—would be wholly useless?

But why, it may be asked, should we waste words on the day-dreams of a drivelling projector, whose profoundest speculations might be the laughter of children? The ludicrous character of the visions does not escape us—but when we find them coupled, in the vehicle which setts them forth, with a persevering and inveterate abuse of all our institutions, whether moral, religious, or political, we cannot help thinking that the conductors and contributors of that Journal* are not working without a design. Thus, we are triumphantly told, in their very last publication, that the lower orders are making prodigious progress in the wonder-working science of political economy; and a very broad hint is given that the working classes are likely, through means of it, and Ricardoe's lectures, and 'mechanics' institutions,' to become 'more intelligent than their employers;' and that this will end, undoubtedly, as it ought to end, in a mutual exchange of property and condition; but could not fail, in the mean time, to give rise to great and unseemly disorders.'—The meaning of these is obvious enough; to wit, that the new philosophy, and its institutions, and its lectures, are to inculcate into the minds of the lower orders, principles of insubordination and sedition, in order that, when a proper occasion arrives, they may be found in a fit state to insist upon, and by their numerical force to compel, a 'mutual exchange of property.' And, in sober truth, we know of nothing that would contribute more directly to such a catastrophe as these persons contemplate, than the loss of our foreign commerce, which would most infallibly and most rapidly follow the loss of our colonies, and the consequent destruction of our shipping.

Let us have something more weighty than a few sounding assertions to place in the balance against the whole history of the civilized world, before, as the author of one of these pamphlets expresses it, we 'SPOKE WITH OUR PALLADIUM.

(From the London Courier of 29th April.)

GENERAL ORDER.

Horse-Guards, April 25, 1826.

The arrangement detailed in the annexed Official Memorandum, having received the approval of the King, and the same having been adopted with a view to the general efficiency of the service, and to meet the immediate advantage and convenience of the respective classes of Regimental Officers holding Brevet rank, to which its provisions exclusively apply. His Royal Highness, the Commander in Chief, communicates to the Army His Majesty's gracious intention, upon this occasion, in order that Officers on Regimental full pay, who shall be entitled to profit thereby, may have the opportunity of doing so without delay.

By Command of His Royal Highness the Commander in Chief.

HENRY TORENS, Adj't. Gen'l.

His Majesty has been graciously pleased to approve of the following arrangements, with a view to the general efficiency of the Service, in the Regimental ranks of Major and Captain, on full pay, of the Infantry, and to the advantage and convenience of Officers who now hold their Regimental rank, with superior Brevet rank in the Army.

Regimental Officers on full pay, who hold Brevet rank in the Army, superior to their Regimental rank, shall have the option of retiring upon an unattached commission, on half pay of the next effective rank, above that which they hold Regimentally, and shall afterwards be permitted, if they should feel so disposed, to avail themselves of the regulations of the 25th April last, by selling that unattached half pay Commission.

The actual Regimental Commissions, from which the individuals are thus promoted, are to be in every instancefilled from the half pay.

The Commissions of Captains, by Captains from the half pay, having no Brevet rank, higher than that of their Regimental Commissions.

The future claim of Officers retiring to half pay under this arrangement, shall, in consideration of their service, not be effected by such retirement; and as the arrangement is made with a view to convenience and advantage of the service, they shall be considered as standing on the same footing with respect to provision for their widows and children, as Officers placed on half pay by reduction, or on account of wounds and infirmities.

The three months will be allowed to each individual from the date on which he accepts the promotion to the Regimental rank or half pay, to enable him to determine whether he is desirous of selling his commission.

It must be understood that the sale of half pay Commissions, consequent on this measure, is distinct from that allowed by the regulation of 25th April last, and that the period fixed by those regulations, will not be extended with respect to the individuals to whom they refer; also, that no Officer above the age of sixty years, who shall avail himself of the option of promotion to the higher Regimental rank or half pay, shall be allowed to dispose of that half pay; Certificates of age must, therefore, in every case, accompany the application to sell.

The individuals who shall be disposed to take advantage of the first part of this arrangement, upon the terms specified, will make application to the Commander in Chief, through the Military Secretary; such application to be transmitted by their respective Commanding Officers, within one month after they shall have become acquainted with the arrangement.

As one of the objects of this arrangement, is to secure to Regiments the service of effective andefficient Field Officers and Captains, it is His Majesty's pleasure that the arrangement, so far as it provides for the removal of Brevet Officers to half pay, with promotion to the Regimental rank shall be imperative with respect to those holding Staff situations, unless they should prefer giving up their Staff situations and returning to Regimental duty, in their Regimental rank, and upon this point they are required to make an immediate communication to the Military Secretary, for His Royal Highness the Commander in Chief's information.

WEST INDIES.

A letter dated at Calcutta, the 30th December, has been received, which announces the receipt of letters there of the 5th December, from Prome, giving an account of the actions fought between the troops under the command of Sir Archibald Campbell, and the Burmese, on the 1st, 2nd, and 5th December, in which the enemy were totally defeated. Sir Archibald Campbell, was to advance immediately to Meady, where it was supposed the Burmese would make another stand.

The following is an official return of the killed and wounded, during the above engagements with the enemy, which we are happy to find is not very severe:—

Killed.—Lieutenant T. P. M. Sutherland; Lieutenant W. Gossip, of His Majesty's 41st regiment; Ensign J. Campbell, of the Royals; Lieutenant Proctor, of His Majesty's 38th regiment; Lieutenant Baylee, of His Majesty's 87th regiment; and Captain Dawson, of the Royal Navy.

Wounded.—Lieutenant J. Smith, 1 battalion Madras prisoners, dangerously; Lieutenant Abbott, Bengal Engineers, slightly; Lieutenant Underwood, Madras Engineers, severely, not dangerously; Captain Backhouse, of His Majesty's 47th regiment, ditto ditto; Lieutenant J. Gordon, 47th regiment, ditto; Major Gully, of His Majesty's 87th regiment, slightly; Captain Bowes, of the 87th foot, slightly; and Captain Lumsdain, of the Bengal Horse Artillery, severely.—Privates, Europeans, and Natives, Killed, 25—Wounded, 107.

GREECE.

Horror of the Contest in Greece.—A gentleman has just landed at Dover from Calais, who left Constantinople on the 23rd ult. He states that Missolonghi was not then taken, but it was expected to fall daily. The scenes of inhuman butchery between the Turks and Greeks he describes as shocking in the extreme. In one of the Greek islands which was conquered by the Turks, the whole of the inhabitants, 2000 souls, were put to death; after which the Greeks retook it, and find there about 4,000 Turks, massacred them without quarter. The bodies were left in heaps above ground, but did not become offensive on account of their being literally parched, by the intense heat of the sun.

The London Courier of the 3d of May, states that the Paris Papers of Sunday and Monday, contains intelligence from Greece of so positive a character, that its authenticity cannot be doubted; according to which Missolonghi has successfully withstood the attacks of the Egyptians under Ibrahim Pacha. The account of the death of Ibrahim Pacha had been officially received at Corfu, from Prevesa, on the 4th of April. Three Turkish couriers dispatched to the latter place for Surgeons, but before they could return with medical aid, this celebrated chieftain expired. The news is said to be confirmed under dates from Leghorn, Corfu, Zante, Trieste, Rome, Ancona, &c.

The Vienna papers mention that Ibrahim Pacha was before Missolonghi on the 26th of March. Gen. Adam had a conference with Ibrahim for two hours in his tent, soliciting him to allow the women, children and old men to leave Missolonghi unmolested. Ibrahim declared himself ready to do this if Missolonghi was surrendered, and the garrison laid down their arms. This proposal was rejected and the fortress was left to its fate.

The Berlin Stats Gazette contains an invitation from Dr. Hufeland, Counsellor of State and Physician to the King, for the inhabitants to come forward and subscribe for the relief of the Greeks. The Clergy are called upon to aid in the christian work of charity. Three of the Clergy had issued a similar notice.

RUSSIA.

St. Petersburgh, April 5.

On the 31st March his Majesty addressed the following rescript to the Duke of Wellington:

"To our Field Marshal General the Duke of Wellington.

"In order to testify to you my particular esteem for your great qualities, and for the distinguished services by which you have rendered to all Europe, it will be highly agreeable to me if one regiment of my army bears your name. On this day, the 19th (31st) of March, on which Paris was taken twelve years ago, and an ever-memorial contest, in which the good cause, indebted to you for such splendid triumph.., was terminated. I have given orders that the Smolensko Regiment of Infantry, formed by Peter the Great, and one of the most distinguished of my army, which was formerly under your command in France, shall henceforward be call the Duke of Wellington's Regiment, as I wish hereby to give you a proof of my constant and sincere regard.

Signed, NICHOLAS."

LOWER CANADA.

Colonel Byr, of the Royal Engineers, has been in Montreal some days. The object of this officers visit to Canada is, we understand, to construct and superintend the completion of a Canal intended to be cut between Kingston in the Upper Province, and the Ottawa River, a work which will greatly increase the prosperity of the country. When this and the Welland Canal will be finished, there will then be an uninterrupted line of navigation from the upper lakes to the ocean, which will draw the commerce of the extensive Western country through these provinces; as the facility of transporting property by this route will be infinitely superior to that of the New York Canal independently of the advantange which it will afford our fellow subjects in Upper Canada for making their remittances to the cities of Montreal and Quebec. But another important benefit will be derived from this intended improvement, should this country at any future period (which we hope is very remote) be engaged in a war with the United States.—Arms, and military stores of all descriptions can then be forwarded with safety from one extremity of Canada to the other, without any risque of their falling into the enemy's hands, as was the case during the last war, by which both the government and the individuals suffered materially. As this great work will be undertaken, and carried on by the British Government, there is no-necessity for saying that it will be well and speedily executed, and that the vast sum which will necessarily be expended in the country, will be a seasonable relief to the inhabitants in these times of pecuniary distress. We are informed that no less than between two and three hundred thousand pounds sterling have been appropriated for the accomplishment of this desirable purpose, for which act of bounty towards Canada, (just to please our brother of the Spectator) we feel no disposition of blaming either the Canadians, or the economical gentleman of the House of Assembly, as he insinuated in his truly independent paper of Saturday.—Montreal Courant.

The U. E. Loyalist.

YORK, U. C. SATURDAY, JUNE 24, 1826.

By the latest dates from Europe it appears that the Greeks, instead of having lost Missolonghi, had been completely victorious over the army of Ibrahim Pacha, whose death, from wounds is said to be officially announced. This information seems to require additional strength, from its being vouched for by the accounts of different persons, and the French papers speak of it as without doubt.

The defeat of the Turks, on this occasion, is represented as being so decisive, that if the news should be confirmed, we may be led to suppose that the Greek cause has at last triumphed, and that the great efforts which have been made, are likely, ere long, to be crowned with the blessings of peace, and the re-establisment of Grecian Liberty. If such should be the case, the Greeks will have added another to the page of that history, which already abounds with instances of their heroism.

We hope the next arrivals will enable us to give further particulars.

The disturbances in the manufacturing districts, in England, have in some measure subsided. The distress of the labouring classes had drawn forth the charity of almost every part of the country.—The subscriptions are large, and appeals continue to be made to the liberality of those, whose means enable them, to alleviate the general suffering.—His Majesty's subscription amounts to more than £7000 sterling, for the relief of the distressed, in various parts of the country.

While individual benevolence is thus exercised, towards relieving the distress of the country, the Government seem determined to prevent a repetition of those occurrences, which took place at the commencement of these disturbances, in the destruction of the very means, which would hereafter, when the adversity which has visited them, should have passed away, afford to the mis-guided, employment and support. We allude to the destruction of the manufacturing machinery, in the disturbed districts.

The active measures pursued on the part of the Government, has had the effect of staying this wanton destruction of private property, and from all the accounts to the latest dates, it appears, that a greater degree of tranquillity prevailed, and apprehension was beginning to subside. The efforts made in behalf of those, who are unfortunately deprived of the usual means of providing for themselves and families, from causes, from which it would be unreasonable to expect a manufacturing country, such as England to be exempt, and the prospect of returning prosperity, and active employment, will, we hope, have the effect of restoring the country to tranquility and order.

We have copied from the Albion, a letter to the Editor of that paper, from a gentleman who left England 2d May, and who had travelled through the scene of these disturbances—we beg leave to refer our readers to it, as it tends to show that they have been rather exaggerated.

We have inserted a Communication, from the Rev. Mr. Campbell, at Belleville, which we think will be read with interest, as it corrects some errors, which the writer of the Pamphlet he alludes to, seems to have fallen into, by giving too implicit credence, to the information of his correspondent, with respect to the Congregation, of the Belleville Episcopal Church.

We have seen the Pamphlet, and cannot help thinking, that the writer of it, has very materially injured his own cause, by the use of harsh epithets, and pointed personalities, against the Clergy of the Church of England.

If our time, and limits permitted, we could point out several inconsistencies, and some misstatements, which this "Letter" of "A Protestant of the Church of Scotland," contains. We must content ourselves, by pointing out, one or two of them.

In the first place, we think it rather an extraordinary way, of coming to a decision on a point of law, to refer to the speeches of Members, when discussing the several clauses, of an Act of Parliament, before it became law. The fallacy of this, will be more fully perceived, if we imagine to ourselves, that our Courts of Justice, and Bench of Judges, when making their decisions, instead of referring to the law itself, and giving it the construction which it bears, should take a volume of the Annual Register, and ground those decisions, on the conflicting opinions, reported in the speeches, of the several Members, who spoke, for or against the provisions of a Bill, while under discussion.—We have only to suppose such a case, to place the thing before us, in all its absurdity.

The writer of the pamphlet, has alternately, a very contemptible, and very exalted opinion, of the Legislature of Upper Canada. In one place he says, they, "either do not understand, or disregard the rights, of the Church of Scotland," and very soon after tells us that the House of Assembly, "in 1824, with a knowledge, that does them honor, laid the claims of the Church of Scotland, at the foot of the Throne." We never before heard of men who neither "understood" or, "disregarded" a thing, possessing nevertheless, a "knowledge" of it, and acting upon it, with a "liberality," that did them "honor."

This union of Ignorance and disrespect—knowledge and Liberality—is certainly something new. As an instance of the perversion of fact we will just mention one instance. The writer of the Pamphlet (p. 19.) says, "the Members of the Legislative Council being ALL Episcopalians." Now we take upon ourselves to state most positively, that the Members of the Legislative Council, are not all, Episcopalians, and of this we think the writer must have been aware.

But we must leave him—He appears to have written in an ill humour, and this with the belief, that he was smarting under recent disappointments, must account in some measure, for the asperity of his language. We have no doubt, that by this time, he is heartily ashamed of his "Letter," and regrets, that when writing it, his zeal had not been tempered, with a little more discretion.

The hasty expressions of passion, are in most cases excusable, but the deliberate act of penning and printing personalities, and invective, may be considered as unpardonable.

THE Upper Canada Herald has commenced a sort of catechetical career with us, as though it could be supposed, that we were under the necessity, of giving answers to every silly question, which may be put to us. If he supposes, that he is to give, "information and instruction," to the people, by asserting what is not fact, and then calling upon us to vouch for his misstatements, he is very much deceived.

The remarks we made in our first number, on the "Tea Trade" has afforded the Herald an opportunity, by stringing together some detached expressions we then made use of, of "instructing" its readers, to believe, on its own bold, and broad assertion, that the U. E. Loyalist is the organ of Government, for the communication of "instruction and information" to be people. The U. E. Loyalist, we hope, will never be any thing else, than what at its outset it promised to be—Loyal, and deeply interested in the welfare of the country.—This character, like that of those whose name it bears, it shall always be its endeavour to maintain—conscious that this is the path of "honor," the "profit" if honorable pursuits are likely to be attended with any, will not be despised—if it is only to be procured, by pursuing a different course, our motto would be, "honor without profit, before profitable dishonor." In this path then, the Herald will always find us, which in its course, will, we hope, afford us many opportunities, of conveying, "information and instruction," to the people, to whom we shall at all times, fearlessly submit our remarks, aware that our endeavours will not be the less estimated, because we happen to hold a situation under a Government, which in all its acts towards them, has ever evinced, the most ardent desire for their welfare.

As to the notice we took of the Speech of that "truly constitutional" gentleman, Mr. Papineau, the Herald has added nothing, to our stock of information on this subject. The term "truly constitutional," according to the ideas of the Herald, appears to be applicable to those only, who like Mr. Papineau, as we before observed, would deny the right of interference, on the part of the Imperial Parliament, over the Colonies of Great Britain, and who leave out of their sordid calculation, the many benefits received from the Mother Country. We are inclined to think differently from such persons, and believe that we have the very best reasons, for this difference of opinion. If we call Great Britain, our "Mother Country," we think she has some claim, on the affections of her Canadian family, and that these affections, are not likely to be very much strengthened, by the distorted representation, and violent declamation, made use of in such speeches, as that of the member of the Commons of Lower Canada.

As to our alluding to the "Conquest" of Canada, we can only say, if the Non-reminiscence of facts should ever have a place, in the catalogue of virtues, we know of some persons, who, in whatever estimation they may now be held, bid fair to be handed down to posterity, as the most virtuous, mis-placing—mis-dating—mis-stating, gentry, the age has produced.

We thank the Editor of the Herald, for his kind wishes for our "profit and honor," and though we may not agree, as to the "source" from whence these spring, one thing appears pretty evident, from the manner in which he has "tilted at us," before we had scarcely time to buckle on our armor, that in agreeing to disagree on certain other matters, there can be no two persons who more perfectly understand each other.

We have been politely favoured with a Report made by Mr. David Thomas, Principal Engineer, relative to the progress of the work on the Welland Canal, which we take the earliest opportunity of inserting. From the ability and experience of the Contractors engaged on the most important part of the Canal, "The Deep Cut," and the satisfactory report given of the personal knowledge of them generally, we think the work promises to be rapidly advanced.

When the "Welland" and "Rideau Canals" are completed on the grand scale contemplated, Canada will be able to boast of possessing, one of the most extensive inland water communications in the world. COLONEL BYE of the Royal Engineers, whose arrival at Quebec was noticed in a former number, has proceeded from thence to Montreal. The Rideau Canal, for which it is said a liberal appropriation has been made, by the British Government, will be executed under his inspection.

Mr. Thomas Reports from St Catharines under date of 13th June, 1826—as follows:

"That since the middle of last month, Alfred Barrett, the resident Engineer, has made a careful estimate of the work performed throughout the line of said Canal; and by great and unusual exertion, is reducing the work to order, and the business of his department to a regular system. He is fully competent to the charge, and his services have been very satisfactory.

The situation of the Deep Cut above the tow-path, are at an angle of 45°. These are steeper than it has been usual to cut Canal banks, but the clay is so firm, that the frosts and rains of two seasons, have occasioned no slip worthy of notice. The tow-path on one side, and the Deep Cut on the other, will receive the earth that crumbles or washes down, which may be cheaply removed in boats, when the Canal shall be completed.

With a velocity of half a mile an hour, nearly 10,000 cubic feet of water per minute will pass through this section of the Canal, and furnish an ample supply for hydraulic purposes.

The dimensions now proposed, are 26 feet on the bottom, with slopes of 2 to 1 up to the tow-path; and a breadth of 56 feet on the top water line.—This is sufficient for vessels of 22 feet beam to pass each other, and no larger can enter the Locks.

The prices agreed to be paid to each Contractor on the line of the Canal, have been examined by the subscriber, and he has no hesitation in saying, that should the work be finished for these prices, it will be cheaper than any similar work on the Erie Canal.

It affords him much satisfaction that the Deep Cut, the most important part of the work, is in the hands of Contractors of acknowledged abilities and experience; and whose plan of operations, combining expidition with economy, is, perhaps unequalled. The construction of the Locks requires, great care, attention, and mechanical ingenuity, and their management could not be placed in better hands. In short, from his personal knowledge of most of the Contractors on the line, he is confident that no better selection could be made.

Particular attention has been paid to procuring at the proper season, the timber for constructing the Locks; the labourers of the Contractors have been directed to such points as first require excavation and embankment; and the estimate for last month shews that the works are advancing with rapidity.

The line of the Canal is very favourably and singularly situated for combining an extensive navigation with hydraulic advantages. Another prominent feature in this work, is the descent of the mountain ridge by a succession of single Locks, placed at sufficient distances from each other, to admit the passing of vessels without detention, or the hazard attending a combination of Locks. The Harbour is in a state of forwardness, and will be commodious, extensive, and safe.

DAVID THOMAS,
Principal Engineer.

The Albion gives the following extract of a Letter from a Gentleman who came passenger in the "Canada."

To the Editor of the Albion.

SIR,—Seeing much exaggeration in the papers relative to the popular disturbances in England, I beg leave to state for your information, a few facts, which as they are derived from my own personal observation, may be entitled to some respect.

It is generally believed that when the last accounts left England, the riotous proceedings still continued, which was certainly not the case, as I travelled through the whole line of the disturbed districts in my journey from Leeds to Liverpool on the 30th of April, and found them perfectly tranquil. Indeed, such had been the precautions taken, it was supposed that further disturbances to any great extent could not take place.

On the 30th in the afternoon, I passed thro' Bury, the streets were patrolled by the 13th Dragoon Guards—every thing quiet.

At Henley a large mill was guarded by the officers and marines of a vessel of war lying in Liverpool. It was the opinion of the Lieutenant (commanding) that no attack would be made there in consequence of a large military force arriving.

On Sunday a detachment of the 73d Foot arrived from Dublin, and left Liverpool for Manchester on Monday morning—the remainder of the regiment arrived on Monday evening, and would proceed immediately to Blackburn.

In Yorkshire every precaution was taken to prevent disturbances; the yeomanry were called out on the 29th for exercise. This step was necessary in consequence of all the troops, consisting of the 1st and 5th Dragoons, being called away from the neighborhood of Leeds.

The state of the labouring classes in Leeds and its vicinity, has been greatly improved by the immense orders issued for the East India Company, which alone would be sufficient to keep them from starving for some months.

The prevailing opinion in Liverpool and Manchester on the 1st May was, that there would be nothing more to fear from the rioters, they having received so great a check by the celerity with which troops were marched into the disturbed districts.

It is certainly not true that so many people are in absolute want of food as is represented, although I do not deny that it was the case in some instances. You will observe by the Leeds paper that the rioters were in some instances offered money and food which would not satisfy them—their determined object being to destroy all the power looms, which they imagine are the cause of the present want of employment. A great part of the robberies mentioned in the Manchester paper of the 26th of April, were perpetrated by the London pick pockets, who had purposely come down to prosecute their honorable calling.

Accounts were received in Liverpool on the evening of the 1st of May from the whole line of disturbed districts up to the morning of the same day, at which period all was tranquil. A letter from Manchester was received at the same time, written at noon, when every thing was quiet. We sailed 2d of May.

Summary from the N. Y. Spectator of 16th June, just received

French papers received in London 4th May say that new disorders had broken out in Spain —Charles V had been proclaimed at no great distance from the Capital. Six person had been shot.

Since 1st Jan. last 2000 Officers of the French Army, had solicited leave to retire.

Lisbon dates of 15th April state that the command of the Portuguese troops would be confided to an English General.

The Colonel Mahon, or the field of Waterloo is finished—it is 18 feet high and 17 feet long.

Lord Liverpool had announced on 5th May, that the Bank of England had come to the very important decision of establishing Branch Banks,—from which very beneficial results are expected.

The amount advanced to manufactures by the Bank is between £370,000 and £400,000.

London dates to 6th May, are highly favorable to the Greek cause.—The report of Ibraiim's death is repeated.

In England the accounts from the Country are generally better.

The annual expts of the British and Foreign Bible Society, have fallen off during the last year £10,000.

Liverpool May 6—The manufacturing districts continue tranquil up to yesterday.

With a view of releiving the distress, Government has determined to release the bonded Flour and Corn for home consumption at a duty of 12s. per quarter for Wheat—and 2s. and 3d. bll. for Flour, which it is to be hoped will give some impulse to trade generally.

A revival had taken place in the demand for Cotton—price had advanced 1-4 a 1-2 per lb. There is a better feeling in the market, and some improvement in trade at Manchester.

COMMUNICATION.

To the Editor of the U. E. Loyalist.

Sir,

I have lately seen a pamphlet, published at Kingston, entitled, "A Letter to the Right Honorable, the Earl of Liverpool &c. &c. relative to the Rights of the Church of Scotland in British North America, from a Protestant of the Church of Scotland," in which the following statement respecting the Episcopal Church, at this place, appears.

"In Belleville, the professors of the Church of England, and who attend Church two or three times a year, are about 50, in a population of 600; and the communicants last year were 16. On Good Friday, the Clergyman preached to a congregation of nine, one of whom came to hire a pew, and three were Presbyterians."

The above extract renders it incumbent on me, in order to shew the total disregard of truth which pervades the whole of it, to request that you will be good enough to permit me to lay before the public, in your valuable paper, the following facts.

In the year 1824 a census of the population of Belleville was taken, pursuant to the provisions of a Provincial Statute, which shewed a total of eighty families, amounting to five hundred individuals.—Among these were enumerated seven families, containing a population of fifty six souls, who then did, and still continue to reside, not in the Town of Belleville, but in its vicinity; to these were added thirty four shanty-men, then in the employment of two merchants of this place, who were considered as forming a portion of their families; although, it is likely, many of them were then employed in the woods, at a distance of, perhaps, thirty or forty miles from Belleville, the greater part of whom never were, and in all probability never may become residents of this town; so that instead of five hundred, the actual population, at that period, amounted to no more than four hundred. Since the taking of the above census in 1824, twenty-three families, including the above named seven, have ceased to live in Belleville. During the same period, however, thirty-four other families have been added to the population, by marriage and other causes; therefore, the present population amounts to ninety-one families, two of which consist, each, of a solitary individual, eight consist, each, of two individuals, and a larger number still, contains, not more than three souls each. Now reckoning the ninety-one families at five souls each, the whole would amount to little over four hundred and fifty, which I believe to be very near the real amount of the present population. Of these, about ten families are Roman Catholics, which, according to the above mode of computing at five to a family, would reduce the Protestant Population to about four hundred souls at the present moment; and it is a well know, though melancholy fact, that a considerable portion of these, is not in the habit of attending any public place of religious worship whatever.

The Episcopal Church at Belleville contains in the body of it thirty pews, each capable of accommodating six or seven persons, they have not been sold, but are let, subject to an annual rent of ten shillings each, besides two large pews capable of accommodating from twenty five to thirty persons, one of these is intended for the use of the Clergyman's family, the other for the use of the public; there are also comfortable seats on the gallery, not subject to any rent, capable of accommodating about eighty persons. The first named thirty pews, in the body of the Church, are all occupied, several of them by more than one family, and, with a few exceptions, are generally about two-thirds filled; the large pew, intended for the use of the public, is sometimes crowded, and the gallery frequently contains from twenty-five to forty persons. It is usual for strangers, when they come to the place, to apply to me for a pew in the Church, to whom I am often obliged to say, there is none vacant at present, but my pew is large and my family small, in the mean time you may have the use of it; and at no period within the last four years, was it not occupied by one family or more under these circumstances. The congregation averages, I think, from seventy to one hundred souls; and is, I believe, oftener above one hundred, than below seventy, and sometimes, when the weather is fine, exceeds one hundred and fifty.

The writer of the communication respecting the Church at this place, as it appears in the above named precious pamphlet, goes on to state, that "the number of communicants last year was 16." Now, Sir, had he stated double the amount, he would have been below the real number, they being from thirty-five to forty, altho' it is true, that not more than nineteen have ever communicated at any one time. But it will be recollected, that in the Church of England, the Lord's supper is administered at least four times a year, and that, unhappily, many do not think it expedient to receive it so often, consequently we never have as many communicants at any particular time as we would, were it administered only once or twice a year. The writer farther states, that, "on Good Friday the Clergyman preached to a congregation of nine, one of whom, came to hire a pew, and three were Presbyterians."

In this we have a remarkable instance of that candour which is so conspicious, throughout the whole of the communication. The true number was twelve, which in all conscience might have seemed to the writer, small enough to answer the purpose of any representation he could have wished to make, but no, he cuts off a fourth, and at the same time forgets to mention a few very important circumstances, viz. that continued and heavy rain fell during the whole day, that the streets in Belleville at that time, were nearly half leg deep with mud, and that a greater degree of sickness then prevailed, than has been experienced since the place was known by the name of Belleville. My impression was, if I went to Church myself, (such was the inclemency of the weather) that I should not meet another individual there, yet I was mistaken, twelve others did come, and among them this pious soul, whose object it seems was to act as a spy. This gentleman has, I believe, resided nearly three years at Belleville, and therefore had it in his power to give the Editor more correct information had he been so inclined. I have seen this same gentleman more than once, leave the pew into which he first entered upon coming to Church, because it became too crowded for all, to sit with convenience.

When the Hon. and Rev. Dr. Stewart, now Lord Bishop of Quebec, preached in the Church of Belleville about thirteen months ago, I am persuaded there were above two hundred souls in it, yet that was not the largest congregation it ever contained.

The writer of the extract at present under consideration, acknowledged to me that "his statement was uncandid, and that he himself was ashamed of it," and apologized for it by saying, that "he did not think the pamphlet would have been published in this country, as it was intended chiefly for Lord Liverpool's eye;" he then produced to me a letter from a correspondent of his who resided at Bath, which he said induced him to have any concern whatever with the matter. I asked him for a copy of this letter, that I might be able to lay a correct statement of the whole affair before the public, this he declined until he would consult his correspondent at Bath. But I shall endeavour to give the substance of it as correctly as I can from memory, after having read it a few times over, if, however, contrary to my inclination, I should fall into error upon this point, it is in their power to set me right. The following I consider to be pretty nearly the substance of it, and perhaps, on comparison, would not be found to differ widely from the diction of the Bath correspondent.

"An application has been made to me, to obtain the number of the congregations of Bath and Belleville, it comes from the Bothwell Brig side of the question, and may be of service to the Presbyterian cause, it is hoped that it may be as correct as possible, I do not know the direct object, but I believe the intention is, to shew his Majesty's Ministers that Presbyterianism would better suit the palates of the Upper Canadians, than the skim-milk doctrines of our prelatice neighbours."

If I have mistaken the meaning of the letter from which the above quoration is made, they have it in their power to shew wherein, which if they decline to do, the public will be justified in concluding that it is a tolerably fair approximation to the original. The letter bears no date, but I take it for granted, that it was written before the Good Friday of redoubtable memory already alluded to; this, however, they may deny if they think proper, because I have not the means of refuting the denial.

As the Episcopal Churches of Belleville and Bath are the only two honored with a particular description in the letter to Lord Liverpool, and as I firmly believe, that the number both of the congregation and communicants is much underrated at the latter place, as well as at Belleville, I think it but fair to state, that since I came to this country, I have preached five or six times there, and that upon more than one of these occasions I found the Church crowded; and that upon another, when the day was rainy, I met with a congregation of at least fifty persons, when I had no reason to expect half the number.

When the Editor of the letter to Lord Liverpool contrasts these two Episcopal Churches in small country towns, with the Presbyterian congregation at Kingston, one of the largest towns in the Province, he boasts that it contains 114 communicants, but at the same time, he takes good care to conceal from His Lordship, that two families which form a portion of the 114 reside at Belleville, a distance of nearly sixty miles from Kingston, nor does he inform his Lordship how many of them reside at Napanee, and other distant parts of the Province; while with the same candour and modesty he withholds an incontrovertible fact, that twenty-five of the sixteen communicants at Belleville reside within an English mile of the Church.—These facts would not answer his purpose, and therefore he wisely passes them over in silence. Nor does he venture to compare the Presbyterian Church at Kingston, with the Episcopal Church of the same place. No, Sir, this would not answer his purpose either.

I should like to hear this Editor put the question to his Bath and Belleville correspondents:—Who, my worthy friends, since you both came into the Province, have been your best and most useful friends? In what ranks do they stand? in what Church are they to be found? I reply for them, "they are to be found in the Church of England." And I know they dare not deny it.

Having thus, Sir, endeavoured to submit to the public, a correct and not inflated statement of facts, as far as I had the means of ascertaining them, I forbear to make any comment upon them, leaving to the public to form such conclusions as they may consider fairly deducible from the premises.

I have the honor to be, Sir,
Your ob't. Serv't.

Died,

At his residence in Delaware on the 15th instant, aged 66, DANIEL SPENCER, Esquire, after a very short illness. He was taken the day before with severe convulsions, and after enduring 12H in succession, he expired. He had long been a respectable inhabitant, and an active and useful magistrate; and his loss will be sincerely felt by a large circle of friends and acquaintance. He was one of the earliest settlers in this Province, and a U. E. Loyalist. His steady and uniform attachment to his King and Country is in strict unison with many other excellent traits in his character.

The U. E. Loyalist.

YORK, U. C. SATURDAY, JUNE 24, 1826.

By the latest dates from Europe it appears that the Greeks, instead of having lost Missolonghi, had been completely victorious over the army of Ibrahim Pacha, whose death, from wounds is said to be officially announced. This information seems to require additional strength, from its being vouched for by the accounts of different persons, and the French papers speak of it as without doubt.

The defeat of the Turks, on this occasion, is represented as being so decisive, that if the news should be confirmed, we may be led to suppose that the Greek cause has at last triumphed, and that the great efforts which have been made, are likely, ere long, to be crowned with the blessings of peace, and the re-establisment of Grecian Liberty. If such should be the case, the Greeks will have added another to the page of that history, which already abounds with instances of their heroism.

We hope the next arrivals will enable us to give further particulars.

The disturbances in the manufacturing districts, in England, have in some measure subsided. The distress of the labouring classes had drawn forth the charity of almost every part of the country.—The subscriptions are large, and appeals continue to be made to the liberality of those, whose means enable them, to alleviate the general suffering.—His Majesty's subscription amounts to more than £7000 sterling, for the relief of the distressed, in various parts of the country.

While individual benevolence is thus exercised, towards relieving the distress of the country, the Government seem determined to prevent a repetition of those occurrences, which took place at the commencement of these disturbances, in the destruction of the very means, which would hereafter, when the adversity which has visited them should have passed away, afford to the mis-guided, employment and support. We allude to the destruction of the manufacturing machinery, in the disturbed districts.

The active measures pursued on the part of the Government, has had the effect of staying this wanton destruction of private property, and from all the accounts to the latest dates, it appears, that a greater degree of tranquillity prevailed, and appreshension was beginning to subside. The efforts made in behalf of those, who are unfortunately deprived of the usual means of providing for themselves and families, from causes, from which it would be unreasonable to expect a manufacturing country, such as England to be exempt, and the prospect of returning prosperity, and active employment, will, we hope, have the effect of restoring the country to tranquility and order.

We have copied from the Albion, a letter to the Editor of that paper, from a gentleman who left England 2d May, and who had travelled through the scene of these disturbances—we beg leave to refer our readers to it, as it tends to show that they have been rather exaggerated.

We have inserted a Communication, from the Rev. Mr. Campbell, at Belleville, which we think will be read with interest, as it corrects some errors, which the writer of the Pamphlet he alludes to, seems to have fallen into, by giving too implicit credence, to the information of his correspondent, with respect to the Congregation, of the Belleville Episcopal Church.

We have seen the Pamphlet, and cannot help thinking, that the writer of it, has very materially injured his own cause, by the use of harsh epithets, and pointed personalities, against the Clergy of the Church of England.

If our time, and limits permitted, we could point out several inconsistencies, and some misstatements, which this "Letter" of "A Protestant of the Church of Scotland," contains. We must content ourselves, by pointing out, one or two of them.

In the first place, we think it rather an extraordinary way, of coming to a decision on a point of law, to refer to the speeches of Members, when discussing the several clauses, of an Act of Parliament, before it become law. The fallacy of this, will be more fully perceived, if we imagine to ourselves, that our Courts of Justice, and Bench of Judges, when making their decisions, instead of referring to the law itself, and giving it the construction which it bears, should take a volume of the Annual Register, and ground those decisions, on the conflicting opinions, reported in the speeches, of the several Members, who spoke, for or against the provisions of a Bill, while under discussion.—We have only to suppose such a case, to place the thing before us, in all its absurdity.

The writer of the pamphlet, has alternately, a very contemptible, and very exalted opinion, of the Legislature of Upper Canada. In one place he says, they, "either do not understand, or disregard the rights, of the Church of Scotland," and very soon after tells us that the House of Assembly, "in 1824, with a knowledge, that does them honor, laid the claims of the Church of Scotland, at the foot of the Throne." We never before heard of men who neither "understood" or, "disregarded" a thing, possessing nevertheless, a "knowledge" of it, and acting upon it, with a "liberality," that did them "honor."

This union of Ignorance and disrespect—knowledge and Liberality—is certainly something new.

As an instance of the perversion of fact we will just mention one instance. The writer of the Pamphlet (p. 19.) says, "the Members of the Legislative Council being ALL Episcopalians." Now we take upon ourselves to state most positively, that the Members of the Legislative Council, are not all, Episcopalians, and of this we think the writer must have been aware.

But we must leave him—He appears to have written in an ill humour, and this with the belief, that he was smarting under recent disappointments, most account in some measure, for the asperity of his language. We have no doubt, that by this time, he is heartily ashamed of his "Letter," and regrets, that when writing it, his zeal had not been tempered, with a little more discretion.

The hasty expressions of passion, are in most cases excusable, but the deliberate act of penning and printing personalities, and invective, may be considered as unpardonable.

THE Upper Canada Herald has commenced a sort of catechetical career with us, as though it could be supposed, that we were under the necessity, of giving answers to every silly question, which may be put to us. If he supposes, that he is to give, "information and instruction," to the people, by asserting what is not fact, and then calling upon us to vouch for his misstatements, he is very much deceived.

The remarks we made in our first number, on the "Tea Trade" has afforded the Herald an opportunity, by stringing together some detached expressions we then made use of, of "instructing" its readers, to believe, on its own bold, and broad assertion, that the U. E. Loyalist is the organ of Government, for the communication of "instruction and information" to the people. The U. E. Loyalist, we hope, will never be any thing else, than what at its outset it promised to be—Loyal, and deeply interested in the welfare of the country.—This character, like that of those whose name it bears, it shall always be its endeavour to maintain—conscious that this is the path of "honor," the "profit" if honorable pursuits are likely to be attended with any, will not be despised—if it is only to be procured, by pursuing a different course, our motto would be, "honor without profit, before profitable dishonor." In this path then, the Herald will always find us, which in its course, will, we hope, afford us many opportunities, of conveying, "information and instruction," to the people, to whom we shall at all times, fearlessly submit our remarks, aware that our endeavours will not be the less estimated, because we happen to hold a situation under a Government, which in all its acts towards them, has ever evinced, the most ardent desire for their welfare.

As to the notice we took of the Speech of that "truly constitutional" gentleman, Mr. Papineau, the Herald has added nothing, to our stock of information on this subject. The term "truly constitutional," according to the ideas of the Herald, appears to be applicable to those only, who like Mr. Papineau, as we before observed, would deny the right of interference, on the part of the Imperial Parliament, over the Colonies of Great Britain, and who leave out of their sordid calculation, the many benefits received from the Mother Country. We are inclined to think differently from such persons, and believe that we have the very best reasons, for this difference of opinion. If we call Great Brttain, our "Mother Country," we think she has some claim, on the affections of her Canadian family, and that these affections, are not likely to be very much strengthened, by the distorted representation, and violent declamation, made use of in such speeches, as that of the member of the Commons of Lower Canada.

As to our alluding to the "Conquest" of Canada, we can only say, if the Non-reminiscence of facts should ever have a place, in the catalogue of virtues, we know of some persons, who, in whatever estimation they may now be held, bid fair to be handed down to posterity, as the most virtuous, mis-placing—mis-dating—mis-stating, gentry, the age has produced.

We thank the Editor of the Herald, for his kind wishes for our "profit and honor," and though we may not agree, as to the "source" from whence these spring, one thing appears pretty evident, from the manner in which he has "tilted at us," before we had scarcely time to buckle on our armor, that in agreeing to disagree on certain other matters, there can be no two persons who more perfectly understand each other.

We have been politely favoured with a Report made by Mr. David Thomas, Principal Engineer, relative to the progress of the work on the Welland Canal, which we take the earliest opportunity of inserting. From the ability and experience of the Contractors engaged on the most important part of the Canal, "The Deep Cut," and the satisfactory report given of the personal knowledge of them generally, we think the work promises to be rapidly advanced.

When the "Welland" and "Rideau Canals" are completed on the grand scale contemplated, Canada will be able to boast of possessing, one of the most extensive inland water communications in the world. COLONEL BYE of the Royal Engineers, whose arrival at Quebec was noticed in a former number, has proceeded from thence to Montreal. The Rideau Canal, for which it is said a liberal appropriation has been made, by the British Government, will be executed under his inspection.

Mr. Thomas Reports from St Catharines under date of 13th June, 1826—as follows:

"That since the middle of last month, Alfred Barrett, the resident Engineer, has made a careful estimate of the work performed throughout the line of said Canal; and by great and unusual exertion, is reducing the work to order, and the business of his department to a regular system. He is fully competent to the charge, and his services have been very valuable.

The slopes of the Deep Cut above the tow-path, are at an angle of 45°. These are steeper than it has been usual to cut Canal banks, but the clay is so firm, that the U. E. Loyalist is the organ of Government, for the communication of "instruction and information" to the people. The U. E. Loyalist, we hope, will never be any thing else, than what at its outset it promised to be—Loyal, and deeply interested in the welfare of the country.—This character, like that of those whose name it bears, it shall always be its endeavour to maintain—conscious that this is the path of "honor," the "profit" if honorable pursuits are likely to be attended with any, will not be despised—if it is only to be procured, by pursuing a different course, our motto would be, "honor without profit, before profitable dishonor." In this path then, the Herald will always find us, which in its course, will, we hope, afford us many opportunities, of conveying, "information and instruction," to the people, to whom we shall at all times, fearlessly submit our remarks, aware that our endeavours will not be the less estimated, because we happen to hold a situation under a Government, which in all its acts towards them, has ever evinced, the most ardent desire for their welfare.

REPEATED

On the 30th in the afternoon, I passed thro' Bury, the streets were patrolled by the 13th Dragoon Guards—every thing quiet.

At Henley a large mill was guarded by the officers and marines of a vessel of war lying in Liverpool. It was the opinion of the Lieutenant (commanding) that no attack would be made there in consequence of a large military force arriving.

On Sunday a detachment of the 73d Foot arrived from Dublin, and left Liverpool for Manchester on Monday morning—the 11th Regiment of the regiment arrived on Monday evening, and would proceed immediately to Blackburn.

In Yorkshire every precaution was taken to prevent disturbances; the yeomanry were called out on the 29th for exercise. This step was necessary in consequence of all the troops, consisting of the 1st and 5th Dragoons, being called away from the neighborhood of Leeds.

The state of the labouring classes in Leeds and its vicinity, has been greatly improved by the immense orders issued for the East India Company, which alone would be sufficient to keep them from starving for some months.

The prevailing opinion in Liverpool and Manchester on the 1st May was, that there would be nothing more to fear from the rioters, they having received so great a check by the celerity with which troops were marched into the disturbed districts.

It is certainly not true that so many people are in absolute want of food as is represented, although I do not deny that it was the case in some instances. You will observe by the Leeds paper that the rioters were in some instances offered money and food which would not satisfy them—their determined object being to destroy all the power looms, which they imagine are the cause of the present want of employment. A great part of the robberies mentioned in the Manchester paper of the 29th of April, were perpetrated by the London pick pockets, who had purposely come down to prosecute their honorable calling.

Accounts were received in Liverpool on the evening of the 1st of May from the whole line of disturbed districts up to the morning of the same day, at which period all was tranquil. A letter from Manchester was received at the same time, written at noon, when every thing was quiet. We sailed 2d of May.

Summary from the N. Y. Spectator of 16th June, just received

French papers received in London 4th May say that new disorders had broken out in Spain —Charles V had been proclaimed at no great distance from the Capital. Six person had been shot.

Since 1st Jan. last 2000 Officers of the French Army, had solicited leave to retire.

Lisbon dates of 15th April state that the command of the Portuguese troops would be confided to an English General.

The Colossal Lion, or the field of Waterloo is finished—it is 18 feet high and 17 feet long.

Lord Liverpool had announced on 5th May, that the Bank of England had come to the very important decision of establishing Branch Banks, from which very beneficial results are expected.

The amount advanced to manufactures by the Bank is between £370,000 and £400,000.

London dates to 6th May, are highly favorable to the Greek cause.—The report of Ibrahim's death is repeated.

In England the accounts from the Country are generally better.

The annual receipts of the British and Foreign Bible Society, have fallen off during the last year £10,000.

Liverpool May 6—The manufacturing districts continue tranquil up to yesterday.

With a view of relieving the distress, Government has determined to release the bonded Flour and Corn for home consumption at a duty of 12s. per quarter for Wheat—and 5s. and 3d. bll. for Flour, which it is to be hoped will give some impulse to trade generally.

A revival had taken place in the demand for Cotton—price had advanced 1-4 a 1-2 per lb. There is a better feeling in the market, and some improvement in trade at Manchester.

COMMUNICATION.

To the Editor of the U. E. Loyalist.

SIR,

I have lately seen a pamphlet, published at Kingston, entitled, "A Letter to the Right Honorable, the Earl of Liverpool K. G. &c. relative to the Rights of the Church of Scotland in British North America, from a Protestant of the Church of Scotland," in which the following statement respecting the Episcopal Church, at this place, appears.

"In Belleville, the professors of the Church of England, and who attend Church two or three times a year, are about 50, in a population of 600; and the communicants last year were 16. On Good Friday, the Clergyman preached to a congregation of nine, one of whom came to hire a pew, and three were Presbyterians."

The above extract renders it incumbent on me, in order to shew the total disregard of truth which pervades the whole of it, to request that you will be good enough to permit me to lay before the public, in your valuable paper, the following facts.

In the year 1824 a census of the population of Belleville was taken, pursuant to the provisions of a Provincial Statute, which shewed a total of eighty families, amounting to five hundred individuals.—Among these were enumerated seven families, containing a population of fifty six souls, who then did, and still continue to reside, not in the Town of Belleville, but in its vicinity; to these were added thirty four shanty-men, then in the employment of two merchants of this place, who were considered as forming a portion of their families; although, it is likely, many of them were then employed in the woods, at a distance of, perhaps, thirty or forty miles from Belleville, the greater part of whom never were, and in all probability never may become residents of this town; so that instead of five hundred, the actual population, at that period, amounted to no more than four hundred. Since the taking of the above census in 1824, twenty-three families, including the above named seven, have ceased to live in Belleville. During the same period, however, thirty-four other families have been added to the population, by marriage and other causes; therefore, the present population amounts to ninety-one families, two of which consist, each, of a solitary individual, eight consist, each, of two individuals, and a larger number still, contains, not more than three souls each. Now reckoning the ninety-one families at five souls each, the whole would amount to little over four hundred and fifty, which I believe to be very near the real amount of the present population. Of these, about ten families are Roman Catholics, which, according to the above mode of computing at five to a family, would reduce the Protestant Population to about four hundred souls at the present moment; and it is a well know, though melancholy fact, that a considerable portion of these, is not in the habit of attending any public place of religious worship whatever.

The Episcopal Church at Belleville contains in the body of it thirty pews, each capable of accommodating six or seven persons, they have not been sold, but are let, subject to an annual rent of ten shillings each, besides two large pews capable of accommodating from twenty five to thirty persons, one of these is intended for the use of the Clergyman's family, the other for the use of the Public; there are also comfortable seats on the gallery, not subject to any rent, capable of accommodating about eighty persons. The first named thirty pews, in the body of the Church, are all occupied, several of them by more than one family, and, with a few exceptions, are generally about two-thirds filled; the large pew, intended for the use of the public, is sometimes crowded, and the gallery frequently contains from twenty-five to forty persons. It is usual for strangers, when they come to the place, to apply to me for a pew in the Church, to whom I am often obliged to say, there is none vacant at present, but my pew is large and my family small, in the mean time you may have the use of it; and at no period within the last four years, was it not occupied by one family or more under these circumstances. The congregation avarages, I think, from seventy to one hundred souls; and is, I believe, oftener above one hundred, than below seventy, and sometimes, when the weather is fine, exceeds one hundred and fifty.

The writer of the communication respecting the Church at this place, as it appears in the above named precious pamphlet, goes on to state, that "the number of communicants last year was 16." Now, Sir, had he stated double the amount, he would have been below the real number, they being from thirty-five to forty, altho' it is true, that not more than nineteen have ever communicated at any one time. But it will be recollected, that in the Church of England, the Lord's supper is administered at least four times a year, and that, unhappily, many do not think it expedient to receive it so often, consequently we never have as many communicants at any particular time as we would, were it administered only once or twice a year. The writer farther states, that, "on Good Friday the Clergyman preached to a congregation of nine, one of whom, came to hire a pew, and three were Presbyterians."

In this we have a remarkable instance of that candour which is so conspicious, throughout the whole of the communication. The true number was twelve, which in all conscience might have seemed to the writer, small enough to answer the purpose of any representation he could have wished to make, but no, he cuts off a fourth, and at the same time forgets to mention a few very important circumstances, viz. that continued and heavy rain fell during the whole day, that the streets in Belleville at that time, were nearly half leg deep with mud, and that a greater degree of sickness then prevailed, than has been experienced since the place was known by the name of Belleville. My impression was, if I went to Church myself, (such was the inclemency of the weather) that I should not meet another individual there, yet I was mistaken, twelve others did come, and among them this pious soul, whose object it seems was to act as a spy. This gentleman has, I believe, resided nearly three years at Belleville, and therefore had it in his power to give the Editor more correct information had he been so inclined. I have seen this same gentleman more than once, leave the pew into which he first entered upon coming to Church, because it became too crowded for all, to sit with convenience.

When the Hon. and Rev. Dr. Stewart, now Lord Bishop of Quebec, preached in the Church of Belleville about thirteen months ago, I am persuaded there were above two hundred souls in it, yet that was not the largest congregation it ever contained.

The writer of the extract at present under consideration, acknowledged to me that "his statement was uncandid, and that he himself was ashamed of it," and apologized for it by saying, that "he did not think the pamphlet would have been published in this country, as it was intended chiefly for Lord Liverpool's eye;" he then produced to me a letter from a correspondent of his who resided at Bath, which he said induced him to have any concern whatever with the matter. I asked him for a copy of this letter, that I might be able to lay a correct statement of the whole affair before the public, this he declined until he would consult his correspondent at Bath. But I shall endeavour to give the substance of it as correctly as I can from memory, after having read it a few times over, if, however, contrary to my inclination, I should fall into error upon this point, it is in their power to set me right. The following I consider to be pretty nearly the substance of it, and perhaps, on comparison, would not be found to differ widely from the diction of the Bath correspondent.

"An application has been made to me, to obtain the number of the congregations of Bath and Belleville, it comes from the Bothwell Brig side of the question, and may be of service to the Presbyterian cause, it is hoped that it may be as correct as possible, I do not know the direct object, but I believe the intention is, to shew his Majesty's Ministers that Presbyterianism would better suit the palates of the Upper Canadians, than the skim-milk doctrines of our prelatice neighbours."

If I have mistaken the meaning of the letter from which the above quotation is made, they have it in their power to shew wherein, which if they decline to do, the public will be justified in concluding that it is a tolerably fair approximation to the original. The letter bears no date, but I take it for granted, that it was written before the Good Friday of redoubtable memory already alluded to; this, however, they may deny if they think proper, because I have not the means of refuting the denial.

As the Episcopal Churches of Belleville and Bath are the only two honored with a particular description in the letter to Lord Liverpool, and as I firmly believe, that the number both of the congregation and communicants is much underrated at the latter place, as well as at Belleville, I think it but fair to state, that since I came to this country, I have preached five or six times there, and that upon more than one of these occasions I found the Church crowded; and that upon another, when the day was rainy, I met with a congregation of at least fifty persons, when I had no reason to expect half the number.

When the Editor of the letter to Lord Liverpool contrasts these two Episcopal Churches in small country towns, with the Presbyterian congregation at Kingston, one of the largest towns in the Province, he boasts that it contains 114 communicants, but at the same time, he takes good care to conceal from His Lordship, that two families which form a portion of the 114 reside at Belleville, a distance of nearly sixty miles from Kingston, nor does he inform his Lordship how many of them reside at Napanee, and other distant parts of the Province; while with the same candour and modesty he withholds an incontrovertible fact, that twenty-five of the sixteen communicants at Bellville reside within an English mile of the Church.—These facts would not answer his purpose, and therefore he wisely passes them over in silence. Nor does he venture to compare the Presbyterian Church at Kingston, with the Episcopal Church of the same place. No, Sir, this would not answer his purpose either.

I should like to hear this Editor put the question to his Bath and Belleville correspondents:—Who, my worthy friends, since you both came into the Province, have been your best and most useful friends? In what ranks do they stand? in what Church are they to be found? I reply for them, "they are to be found in the Church of England." And I know they dare not deny it.

Having thus, Sir, endeavoured to submit to the public, a correct and not inflated statement of facts, as far as I had the means of ascertaining them, I forbear to make any comment upon them, leaving to the public to form such conclusions as they may consider fairly deducible from the premises.

I have the honor to be, Sir,
Your ob't. Serv't.

Died,

At his residence in Delaware on the 15th instant, aged 65, DANIEL SPRINGER, Esquire, after a very short illness. He was taken the day before with severe convulsions, and after entering into his session, he expired. He had long been a respectable inhabitant, and an active and useful magistrate; and his loss will be sincerely felt by a large circle of friends and acquaintance. He was one of the earliest settlers in this Province, and a U. E. Loyalist. His steady and uniform attachment to his King and Country is in strict unison with many other excellent traits in his character.

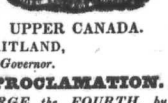
VOL I. YORK, UPPER CANADA, SATURDAY, JULY 1, 1826. NO, 5.

BY AUTHORITY.

By Authority.



HIS EXCELLENCY the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, desirous that it may be publicly known, that the case of the conviction of an Indian, (Shawanakiskie) under sentence of death for the murder of another Indian, at Amherstburgh, in the Western District, having, in consequence of objections which had been raised to the jurisdiction of the Court, on the ground, that Indians were not amenable to our Laws, for offences committed amongst themselves, been referred by His Excellency, to the consideration of His Majesty, a despatch has been received from the Right Hon. the Secretary of State for the Colonies, informing His Excellency, that the Law Officers of the Crown, had reported in favour of the Conviction.

The Prisoner having escaped since his case was referred, His Excellency deems it, nevertheless, important that it should be generally known, that the legality of the conviction was confirmed, and that the sentence was directed to be carried into execution, with a discretionary power to His Excellency, to commute the punishment for transportation, or imprisonment for life, and that to that end a Warrant has been received in the following terms.

"WHEREAS Shawanakiskie, an Indian of the Ottawa Tribe, was, at the Assizes, holden for the Western Circuit, in our Province of Upper Canada, in or about the Month of August, in the year of our Lord, One thousand eight hundred and twenty-two, tried and convicted of the murder of an other Indian, at Amherstburgh, in our said Province, and had sentence of Death passed upon him for the same, but Execution was Respited by our Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, until our pleasure should be known, on the ground of there being no precedent on record in that Province, of a similar case, and of doubts, whether the Indians were answerable by Law to our Courts, for offences committed within our Territory against each other. And Whereas, We thought fit to refer the proceedings in the said case to our Advocate, Attorney, and Solicitor General, for their opinion, who have reported unto us that the Conviction of the said Shawanakiskie was Proper; and that no valid objection exists against the jurisdiction of the Court, before which the said Shawanakiskie was tried.

NOW WE, considering the heinousness of the offence, think it just that the said Sentence should be carried into full effect, and Our Will and Pleasure therefore is, that execution be done thereupon, unless in the case herein after next provided for; But inasmuch as some circumstances unknown to Us may be known to you, Our Governor &c. &c.

(Here follows a discretionary power to mitigate the punishment.)

UPPER CANADA.
P. MAITLAND,
Lieut. Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GREETING

WHEREAS by our Proclamation bearing date the Twentieth day of May last, we thought fit to prorogue our Provincial Parliament to the Fifth day of July next, at which time, at our Town of York, you were held and constrained to appear.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. To all to whom these Presents shall come

Provided always, That for the better preventing the said Timber being Cut before it has attained a suitable growth, double the amount of Duty herein specified shall be charged upon all such Timber as shall not Square more than Eight Inches. And it is our further Will and Pleasure, that all such Timber or Wood which shall have been Cut as aforesaid upon Our Unconceded Lands in Upper Canada, upon which the Duties shall not be paid, when exacted by Our Officer so to be appointed as aforesaid, shall be seized and detained to Our Use as forfeited.

Provided always nevertheless, That all Persons, properly authorized by or under Our Licence granted in manner heretofore, used to Cut Timber in Our said Province shall be permitted to carry away and export the same, to such extent as their Licences may specify, without the exaction of any rate hereby imposed, and that all such Timber as may have been heretofore Cut upon Our Unconceded Lands as aforesaid, without Our express Licence, may upon payment of the Duties hereby specified, be suffered to pass through Our said Province of Upper Canada.

Executive Council Office,
York, 23rd March, 1826.

NOTICE is hereby given, by ORDER of His EXCELLENCY the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in COUNCIL, that in future, the First Wednesday in every Month will be a regular Council day.

JOHN SMALL,
No. 9 1. f. C. E. C.

In Council 21st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepard in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District.

2 All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and appropriated for public purposes, will be offerd for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3 All persons proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts on payment of a fee of 2s. 6d.

4 All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5 The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement—A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6 On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply, in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8. Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions.

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form. Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres.

11. No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending in the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12. A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase.

14. Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it.

15. Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hunded Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On failure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant. It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16. No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessary expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17. Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprized in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18. Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of those general Rules.

19. U. E. Loyalists and other persons entitled to gratuitous Grant by the general regulation of His Majesty's Government, are not to be affected by these Rules.

The above Rules to take effect from the first of January 1826.

By Order of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor.

POETRY.

ON RETURNING HOME FROM A RECENT TOUR.

HAIL to thee, home, thou favoured spot!
I prize thee as our dearest treasure!
Midst all my wanderings, unforgot
The joys that marked thy hour of pleasure.

Through fairer, lovelier groves I've traced,
Where Nature, wildest magic throwing
On all around us, richly graced
A scene with Heaven's own colours glowing;

In every vale, and hanging wood,
By torrents rude, or lake wide streaming,
Dark forest deep, or rushing flood,
Thou wert the subject of my dreaming.

Tho' many a storm has o'er thee past,
Tho' many a tender tie is riven,
Which once affection round thee cast,
Which in thy brightest day was given;

Tho' fickle friendship's flattering train
Pours not, as once, its incense round thee,
Yet my cold bosom warms again,
As dearer, lovelier joys surround thee!

Yes, round thy hearth's pure altar still
A thousand kindling flames are burning,
Thou art our shield from every ill,
Our refuge in the hour of mourning.

Let the world smile in senseless scorn,
And vent its spleen, in vain reviling,
We laugh—to see its venom borne
Back on its source—the shaft recoiling.

We heed not—tho' the idle throng
May deem it visionary dreaming,
Still dear shall be to memory's song,
From painful thoughts each hour redeeming.

Then welcome, Home, thou art all to me—
My beacon-light, mid storms of sorrow;
My shrine of hope, where memory
Still from the past can rapture borrow.

For all I love is centered there,
All that the world's rude strife has left me;
I joy to think its withering care
Of thee, and peace have not bereft me.

SCIENTIFIC NOTES.

NATURAL PHENOMENA.

On the Diminution of the waters of the Sea.

We do not want proofs, (says a writer in the "Acts of the Academy of Upsal") to convince us that Sweeden, as well as many other countries, has been formerly covered by the waters of the sea. We need only imagine how a violent inundation might overwhelm a soil composed of sand, clay, mould, forests, entire mountains, &c. and how this inundation, forcibly driven from east to west, might carry along with it, and confound, all those substances: so that, on the waters diminishing, and gradually retiring, this soil will be found to have all the properties we see in our globe. Might we not attribute to the violence of inundations the formation of all the great mountains of sand, whose direction is commonly from north to south, and which are, for the most part, steepest on the west. Who but sees that it is by rolling and friction that the fragments of angular stones have become round and smooth, and have formed plain surfaces, or produced considerable heaps, which were afterwards covered by clay and earth. This is what formed the principal strata of different matters found placed upon each other; roots, fishes, and other animals, have been covered up in the clay; those bodies have been carried along by the waters, and have formed great mountains; and afterwards the subterraneous heat has indurated the clay, as well as the fishes contained in it. We see, in our continent, entire mountains, which are only heaps of shells; and those shells are, sometimes, found at a very great depth in the earth. Trunks of Trees are very often met with on the tops of the mountains, as well as buried deep in the ground. Some districts of Siberia abound with elephant's bones, which are buried under the earth. We see, in fine, that the mountains are full of a mixture of an infinite number of different substances. All these facts are attested by the observations of naturalists. I purpose only, for the present, to shew, that, on the coast of Sweden, the sea deserts every year a portion of its bed, which becomes ground fit for cultivation This augmentation of the continent might have been produced by the sand and mud thrown up by the waters of the sea, from time to time, upon the coasts. Yet it is certain, and experience demonstrates, that the waters diminish in reality, and that the level of the sea falls relatively to some places of the continent. I also remark that all the roads and ports, whereof the coasts are not steep, become less deep in time; so that the greater part of the ports in the gulph of Bothnia are now so far from the sea, that the ships can no longer put in at them. We see that some straits, where large ships passed freely seventy years ago, afford now scarce more than a passage to small barges. In the eastern Bothnia are seen entire rows of rocks standing out of the water, where, a few years since, scarce one or two stones appeared: the same may be said of a rock at Gudmund, in the District of Bahus, on which a fisherman, eighty-three years old, assures us, he had only room to place his hat when he was young; but now this rock stands above four feet out of the water. Other old fishermen have likewise assured us, that they had cast their nets, and taken fish, at Hudickswall, in a place which is now dry. The fishermen that inhabit the lower coast of the eastern Bothnia have have been obliged, within these sixty years, to rebuild three different times their houses near the sea shore. Several towns and villages, now inland, retain the termination of wike and sund, which shows that there had been formerly water where they stand. And some of these places are called isles, or holm, though they are on terra firma, or, at least are but peninsulas, or tongues of earth. Hay is now grown and gathered in the gulph of Fiellbanka, in a place where, within these fifty years, boats passed with oars. The Sound, contracts itself from one year to another, between the isles and the continent. About an hundred years ago, the inhabitants of Geffle passed through Iggesund with their barks, to go and return from Nortland, whereas, at present, they are obliged to pass through another strait, and to return about Iggan. Stones which have been mentioned in ancient documents, and which served as bounds of estates, and about which sea calves were accustomed to assemble, are now entirely laid dry. Examples of this may be seen near Geffle, Hudickswall, Wasa, and Abo. These examples prove clearly that the waters fall, but they are not sufficient to make known to us how much they diminish in a space of time given. However, by accurate observations on stones standing out of the water, it has, in some measure, been discovered, that the waters of the sea fall in one hundred years, forty-five geometrical inches, which makes about half an inch in a year. Two reasons may be alledged for this diminution of the waters of the sea. All know that a great quantity of water goes off continually by evaporation, and that the vapours occasioned thereby, form clouds. A part of these vapours falls in rain on the sea; another part is carried on the mountains, and produces therein rivers, which return also to the sea. But the rain that waters the earth, and is the cause of the growth of trees and plants, does not return to the sea, remaining in vegetables, and, perhaps, converting itself, with them, into soil, by putrefaction. Sir Isaac Newton concludes from thence that the solid parts of the earth are always on an increase, whilst the fluid parts as constantly diminish, and will at last totally disappear, unless comets, by approaching to the earth, restore to it the moisture it shall have lost by evaporation. Thus the sea will become lower every year about half an inch. There is also another way of explaining the diminution of the waters of the sea, which seems very plausible: and this is, by supposing that several abysses open in the bottom of the sea, through which those waters pass, and lose themselves in the centre of the earth. For want of sufficient observations, it cannot be decided which of these two opinions is the better founded: for this purpose, observations should have been made in all the seas, during several ages together. It might, likewise, be, that these two causes concur at the same time. Neither can it be decided, whether the sea was formerly diminished, or will continue to diminish hereafter in the same proportion. This proportion may vary, from time to time, by several different causes; and, indeed, the evaporation may not always be the same: vegetables may not grow in the same abundance, the continents may be cultivated or disposed different ways; the water may press the earth in a manner little uniform in regard to its greater or less depth; the holes and abysses may vary in bigness and number; lastly, the seas vary as to form, &c. Supposing that the diminution of the waters of the sea follows constantly the progression which has been observed in our time, it will amount to 4½ lines in one year, 4½ inches in ten years, and three feet nine inches in a hundred years, at which rate the diminution of the waters of the sea in ten thousand years would be three hundred and seventy-five feet.* If we were fully assured of the height of the principal places above the level of the sea, we might nearly know what parts of the continent were discovered about two thousand years ago, because then the waters were seventy-five feet higher than at present; and if we were desirous to know what might hereafter be the effects of the diminution of the waters of the sea, it seems that the boundaries of Sweden, and most maritime countries, will extend more and more toward the coasts, and this augmentation may be more or less prompt according to the greater or less depth of the bed of sea. There are examples that prove, that the sea coasts in some places, have increased a quarter of a league in a hundred years; and the coasts of Sweden, particularly, must be more and more covered with isles and rocks; so that pilots will be obliged to sound, at least every twenty years, the depth of the passage, and not rely on the observations of their predecessors. In fine, with time the Baltic sea will totally disappear; which may come to pass in the space of between three and four thousand years;† since, according to the marine chart of John Maensson, the depth of the Baltic sea scarce exceeds from twenty to thirty fathoms.‡

* In the original paper, the decrease of the waters is erroneously estimated at four inches and a half in ten years, four feet five inches in the century, and four hundred and fifty feet in ten thousand years. This arithmetical error, which runs through the whole essay, makes, as the reader will see, a very considerable difference. Ed. P. M.

† Assuming twenty-five fathoms as the average depth, the desiccation of the Baltic will be completed in exactly four thousand years. Ed. P. M.

‡ It is perhaps more than doubtful, whether the waters of the ocean, generally speaking, are now subsiding, whatever may have formerly been the case. That the waters of the Baltic, however, are sinking seems to be proved by a variety of evidence. This circumstance, perhaps, arises from the rivers furnishing more scanty supplies, in consequence of Scandinavia, Russia and Poland being less wooded than they formerly were. In America, it has been found that, since the land has been cleared of the forests, the volume of water in several rivers have been much diminished. Ed. P. M.

We find the following paragraph in the Liverpool advertiser of April 29th: "Mr. Jacob was sent by government to the Continent, to make careful inquiries concerning the state of the agriculture, the stock of grain, kind, the prices at which it might be grown in those quarters, from which chiefly, in the case of an alteration in our corn laws, England might be expected to be supplied with corn. Mr. Jabob has produced a voluminous report on the subject. Generally speaking, it is to be inferred from that report that the fear of the agriculturalists in respect of a competition with the Continent in the supply of the home market, are in a great measure without foundation. No considerable supply can be at any time procured from the Continent, and the lowest price at which it could be procured, is such as a duty of ten or twelve shillings being added would raise it to the common average remunerating price of British grain."

Restored Peerages, &c.—The following are the titles of the Bills, introduced last night by the Earl of Liverpool, into the House of Lords, by command of his Majesty:—

1. An Act for the restoration of Major General Robert Alexander Dalzele, to the dignity and title of Earl of Carnwath.

2. An Act to restore David Ogilvie, Esq. and others, from the effects of the Attainder of James, eldest son of David, Earl of Airlie, and of David Ogilvie, taking upon himself the title of Lord Ogilvie.

5. An Act for the restoration of Patrick Murray Thripeland, of Fingask, to the dignity of Baronet.

The several Bills, previously to being introduced, were signed by his Majesty, April 26.

Limerick and Waterford Railway.—The liberal spirit of his Majesty's Government, and the anxiety shown to promote the welfare of every part of the empire, cannot be better evinced than by the fact, that it has been determined to give the most effective assistance to the above named public work, by the advance of £120,000—this is true patriotism.

Capt. Ross, of the Royal African Corps, and Aid-de-camp, to Major General Turner, and two of the Governor's nephews, have already fallen a sacrifice to the climate of Sierra Leonne. There is good reason to apprehend that governments will ere long abandon this unhealthy spot.

An accurate idea of the immense value of property annually disposed of by auction in this country, may be formed by the inspection of an account printed by order of the House of Commons. It appears by this return, that the amount of sales by auction, on which duty was paid in Great Britain, on estates, &c. at the rate of 7d. in the pound, and on furniture, &c. at 1s. per pound, was as follows, during the undermentioned periods:—

	On Estates.	On Furniture.
Year ending July 5, 1824	£4,322,379	£2,606,648
Do. July 5, 1825	6,196,837	2,819,615

A letter from Gibraltar of April 29, says, "The crops of grain in Spain and Barbary promise to be abundant, and prices of wheat are now very low here, with a large stock for sale."

"Fresh flour is wanted; old abundant, and the article will be in little demand during the summer, the crops in the neighbourhood being promising."

The share holders in the "American and Colonial steam Navigation Company," had a meeting in London on the 24th of April, when the Directors were authorised to pay from the funds the amount agreed to be accepted by the owners of the steam vessel "United Kingdom," to cancel their contract for the sale. A member expressed a hope that the Company would yet go on, and had no doubt of its success. He stated, that in Canada there was two vessels prepared to meet the vessels of this Company, and to cooperate with them; and that there were three ships built at Boston for the same purpose.

A universal feeling of sympathy prevails throughout England to relieve the unhappy sufferers. In Dublin some political demagogues have labored to chock the tide of public benevolenco.

It is confidently stated about the Government Offices, that the dissolution of Parliament will take place on 25th of May. Three more Bills, that have been before the House since Febrnary, were last night postponed, on the ground that there would not be time this Session to give them a chance of being passed.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, April 17th.

LARCENY BILL.

Mr. Secretary Peel, in moving the order of the day for the further consideration of the Larceny Bill, said it was his intention to propose considerable alterations to the present state of the Bill. He had proposed to consolidate all offences relating to property under one law, but he now intended to make a division of them, under two Acts. The first should relate to acts of larceny, and felonious violations of the rights of property; and the second was to relate solely to the malicious destruction of property. He had found this division necessary upon a due consideration of the subject. He did not relinquish all hope of being able to carry the Bill through Parliament during the present Session; but if this were found to be impracticable, the Bill would be proposed at the earliest future opportunity.—He wished the Bill to pass through the Committee, in order that it might be seen whether it could pass into a law.

Mr. Scarlett said, that the bill was of great importance, and he thought it better that the summer should be allowed for its consideration.

The House then went into a Committee upon the Bill.

Mr. Secretary Peel said, that throughout the present Bill it would be seen that his constant endeavour was still further to reduce the number of sentences inflicting the punishment of death—(Hear, hear.) By the old law, the stealing from a Church was punishable by death; but he doubted if stealing a prayer-book, for instance, from a place of Worship ought to be visited with any such consequences. He did not imagine that it would at all lessen the security of Churches by putting them on the footing of dwelling-houses.—He wished to make the offence capital only when the Church was feloniously entered. The robbing of booths at fairs would be also made a capital offence. Another more important subject was the robbing of dwelling-houses to the amount of 40s. This sum had been fixed in the reign of Queen Anne, and he thought that the raising of it to £5 would not lighten the prohibition of the offence. This, of course, alluded to stealing, independent of burglary. In the case of stealing fish, by the law, as it now stands, no distinction was made between stealing at night, or breaking down mounds, or robbing under any other circumstance. The punishment for breaking down mounds was seven years' transportation. He certainly wished to protect the angler from such consequences, for, by the common consent of mankind, the angler was reckoned an exceedingly harmless sort of a Gentleman—(A laugh.)—He wished to enact, that all persons who catch fish, or who try to catch fish—(a laugh)—by angling, should be obliged, if required, by proper authority, to divulge their names and places of residence, under a penalty of £20. He also was desirous of putting the stealing of deer or venison upon the same footing as the stealing of mutton or any other meat. At present, any person in the possession of venison was liable to be cited before a Magistrate, and the onus proband, as to his becoming possessed of it, was thrown entirely upon the accused. The result of the Bill would be, to comprise about one hundred Statutes within the compass of thirty pages. This would of itself be a great advantage, but it was of still greater importance to render the laws intelligible and certain, and to approximate punishment to the nature and degree of offence.—The Bill then went through the Committee, the Report was brought up, and ordered to be taken into consideration to-morrow.

On the 20th of April, Mr. Peel announced, amidst cheers, that Government did not mean to apply for a renewal of the Alien Act, which would expire. All that was meant to be proposed was, that the names of Aliens should be registered. He moved for leave to bring in a bill to that effect. Mr. Hobhouse observed that the abandonment of the act would be hailed with delight by all Europe, for it was always deemed a measure that connected England with the Holy Alliance. Sir R. Wilson and Denman joined in praising the conduct of Ministers, and leave was given to bring in the bill.

Thursday April 27.

Shipping Interest.—Mr. Ellis presented a petition from ship owners and persons employed in the carrying trade, belonging to the town of North Shields, in the county of Durham. The petitioners complained of the effects of the reciprocity acts, represented the distressed situation of the ship owners and prayed to be relieved from burdens, to which even foreigners were not subject.

Mr. Huskisson took this opportunity of giving notice that, on Tuesday next, he would bring the subject of the shipping interest and reciprocity acts formerly before the House; and he trusted that he would then be able to show that the shipping and trading interests were not in the perilous state it had been described. He hoped to be able to lay such an exposition before the House, as would be satisfactorily to Parliament; and show the parties more immediately concerned that their interests had not been neglected.

Lord John Russell brought forward his annual motion for a reform in Parliament. It, was lost, as it always was, and always will be, by a large majority. For the motion 123, against it 247, majority 124.

[FROM THE LONDON COURIER, MAY 1.]

We have received, this morning, private letters, and other communications, from Manchester, Bolton, Bury, Blackburn, Oldham, Bradford, Skipton, &c. &c. and we observe, with unmixed satisfaction, that they all concur in representing the state of the disturbed districts as greatly improved.

Private letters from Manchester assure us, that there was an increasing demand in the market there, on Tuesday, for both goods and yarns, and that some extensive orders had been received, which would speedily enable the manufacturers to give employment to many who are now out of work.

Corn Exchange, London, May 5.—The resolutions of Parliament for the release of bonded corn have had the effect of causing a complete stagnation for the present in our trade, and the business done since Monday has been trifling in the extreme. The greatest reduction is in wheat, which is offered 5s. per quarter lower, but the consumers do not seem disposed to take it off at this abatement. Barley is somewhat cheaper, but the quantity in hand not being large, the reduction is trifling; and the same remark applies to beans. Of oats there is a large supply at market, and it being known there is a considerable quantity bonded, scarcely any sales can be effected; what few were made may be stated at a decline of full 2s. per quarter. In other articles there is no material variation; but we must again repeat that while the trade is in that unsettled state it is difficult to ascertain the exact state of our prices.

Manchester Corn Exchange, May 8.—The unexpected change which has taken place in the measures proposed by ministers for liberating the bonded grain and the intended partial suspension of the corn laws at ministerial discretion, has occasioned the utmost confusion and uncertainty in the trade, in this and the neighboring districts. The arrivals of all kinds of grain are extremely small, and either consumers are low in stock, our slender supplies are more than adequate to the demand—at this day's market we had very few buyers and no arrivals on offer could be quitted, but a serious reduction from last week's currency. Wheat has declined full 8d. per pushel, and flour 2s. per sack.

LONDON, May 6.

The news of the subscription for the relief of the distressed manufacturers has been received by them with gratitude, and produced among them generally a visible improvement of feeling.

By a bill now under consideration in Parliament, Wood, Goods and Ashes, if imported inland into Canada, will be treated on importation into Great Britain in the same manner as if Canadian produce.—Beef and Pork sent inland into Canada, may be warehoused at Quebec, but for exportation only to Newfoundland.

THE MARKETS.

LIVERPOOL, May 6.

Ashes have again declined—about 300bls. have been sold at 21s. 6d. a 28s, for Montreal Pots, and 24s. a 25s. for Pearls. The last sale of wheat and oats were made at a small decline.

Corn Exchange.—The market for every description of Grain very flat, the attention of the dealers and factors being chiefly occupied by the means about to be carried into effect as relative to Foreign Corn; Wheat has declined 4s. Barley and Oats 2s. and Peas and Beans 1s. per qr.

The Liverpool papers of the 6th May state that no fresh excesses had been committed at Manchester, nor was their much apprehension for their renewal. The Liverpool Commercial Chronicle says, "the various accounts of the outrages committed, with which the newspapers have teemed, appear to have been exaggerated in the extreme, as well as the number of lives lost in the efforts of the military to restrain them. The only authenticated list of sufferers in that way which we have, up to this time, been enabled to obtain, is that of the six unfortunate persons killed in the suppression of the riot at Chadderton on the occasion of the attack on Mr. Atkin's factory, viz: Richard Lund, a blacksmith; James Rothwell, a weaver; John Ashworth, a weaver; James Lord, a fulling miller; James Whitacre, a dresser; and Mary Simpson, wife of a weaver.

It is proposed in England, instead of the law for seizing vessels from on board of which a seaman may have smuggled any article into the country, to absolve the owner or master from penalty, and inflict punishment on the real delinquent, by prosecuting the sailor, lumper, &c. and fining him £100. This will have great effect in the prevention of smuggling by the crews of ships.

LIVERPOOL, May 8.

The Manufacturing Districts.—We have great pleasure in stating, that the manufacturing districts continued tranquil up to yesterday. We flatter ourselves indeed with the belief that there is not now any reason to anticipate a renewal of the outrages which have taken place within the last fortnight.

Extract of a letter, dated Liverpool, May 8.

Since our circular of the 1st inst. the riots and disturbances in the manufacturing districts have been suppressed and tranquility in a great measure restored. With a view of relieving the distresses, the government has determined to release the bonded corn and flour for home consumption, at a duty of 1s. per qr. on wheat, and 5s. and 9d. per bbl. for flour, which, it is to be hoped, will give some impulse to trade generally. The ministers have also made application to Parliment for authority to open the ports by order in Council for foreign supplies at the same rate of duty, should circumstances render it expedient, but it is very questionable whether such authority will be given them, and still more doubtful whether the necessity will arise for the exercise of it. It is supposed that the bonded flour when released, will be worth about 55s. per bbl. From the above causes we have had a revival in the demand for cotton, and prices have advanced 1-4 a 1-2 per lb. The sales for the last four days have exceeded 2000 bales per day, and there is altogether a better feeling in this market, as well as some improvement in trade at Manchester, which we would willingly hope may continue. There is but little change to notice in other articles. Ashes continue dull, as well as Tar, Turpentine, and Bark, and the two last are lower in value; 2000 bbls. very good Turpentine have been forced of at 8s. 9d. About 450 hhds. Tobacco have been sold the last week at a trifling advance.—There have been no late transactions in Flaxseed; a large public sale of Indigo took place on the 5th inst. at which E. India sold 4s a 8s 7d and Caraccas at 4s 2d a 5s 5d per lb. as in quality.

Facility of Internal Intercourse in England.—Some common, yet curious calculations, evince the singular facility and frequency of this intercourse. The mail coaches of England run over 12000 miles in a single night, half the circumference of the globe!" A newspaper published in the morning, is on the same night read 120 miles off! The two penny post revenue of London is said to equal the whole post office revenue of France! The traveller going at night from London, sleeps on the second night, 400 miles off! The length of canal navigation in the vicinage of London, is computed to equal the whole canal navigation of France.

Foreign Intelligence.

GREECE.

Lausanne, April 23.

The Lausanne Gazette gives the following news from Corfu, of the 1st of April. The most recent letters from Zante and Prevesa confirm the news that Ibrahim Pacha was mortally wounded in the last attack made upon Missolonghi, 22d March, N. S. An English vessel arrived yesterday from Malta; the Captain has stated to the Magistrates that he met near Cerigo, the Greek fleet, which had captured that a large convoy of Turkish vessels was on their way from Egypt to the Morea, had sailed in quest of it and captured almost the whole. This explains the delay of the Greek fleet in proceeding to Missonghi, but it is hoped that nothing will now retard it.

A letter of the 8th of April says, that Missolonghi still holds out and even triumphs.

London, May 6.

Our extracts from the French papers, received last night, are but few, but if they are to be credited, they are highly favorable to the great cause of Greece. It is asserted in the private correspondence of both the Journal des Debats and the Etoile, that the renegade, Selves, had evacuated Tripolitza, and though the first represent him as having fallen back on Modon, and the latter on Patras, the dispreprency is not material, although the two places are rather at opposite points from Tripolitza, since the error might arise from the difficulty of obtaining correct information as to the real point of retreat.—The Journal des Debats attributes the retreat of the renegade Frenchman to famine, while the Etoile expressly says it was in consequence of orders from the Pacha. From whichever of these causes it proceeded, we shall rejoice to find it confirmed. The report of the death of Ibrahim is repeated.

(From the Paris Etoile, of May 3.)

We have just learnt that Soliman Bey (the renegade Selves) has received orders from Ibrahim to evacuate Tripolitza. He has executed this order and has set fire to Tripolitza. This news gives us reason to believe that Ibrahim was really repulsed in the attack of the 24th of March. While letters from Corfu, of the 8th of April, affirm that Missolonghi still resisted, accounts from Bucharest of the same date, received through Vienna, announce that Missolonghi is taken. Every thing is therefore contradictory in the news received from that country, and we must still wait for more exact information before we can affirm any thing respecting the affairs of Greece.

The following is an extract of a letter from the Chief of a Greek battalion at Missolonghi, to a friend in Paris, dated the 9th of April:

"My dear Friend—I have to inform you that we were attacked at all points on the 24th March, by the barbarians commanded by Ibrahim. I was posted on the sea side. The reiterated attacks had brought down a part of our fortifications. We were forced to fill some hogsheads with sand, and to entrench ourselves behind them with our guns. In this state was I was wounded. At length the Egyptians and the others were repulsed, some of them were burnt with their vessels. These furiods barbarians having advanced to mount a second time to the assault, were once more repulsed. Ibrahim, seeing the prey escape from his hands, rushed them with the head of his soldiers, in the hope of reanimating them. A Greek who recognized him, took aim at him, and gave him a wound of which he died some days after.—At this moment my countrymen perceived the troops commanded by the brave Fabvier, Gouras, and other Chiefs, to the number of 3000. The Turks frightened ran away. They were so routed by the beseiged, and left Mehemet Pacha in the hands of Gouras. The others took refuge in Lepanto, and wherever they could. Only about 500 men got off by sea. The fleet entered the fort and recaptured Vassillades."

Ancona, April 17.

According to the details we have received from the different islands and Prevesa, respecting the memorable day which crowned with success the perseverance and heroic valour of the soldiers of Missolonghi, we can no longer doubt of the complete dispersion of the army of Ibrahim Pacha. It appears, in fact, there were two very obstinate combats. Towards evening, on the 24th of March, the Garrison alone opposed the entire force of the Arabs, who were attacking them on all sides, and particularly on the sea side. Ibrahim, tempted no doubt by the easy victory gained over Vassiladi, and seeing Missolonghi without fortification on the side towards the sea, hazarded a perilous enterprize by embarking all his disciplined troops on bridges constructed for that purpose; but disappointed in this attempt, and after receiving a mortal wound, he retreated from the position to the camp, after losing two thousand five hundred men.

The greatest consternation prevailed during that whole night in the army, and his batteries responded not to the salvoes of artilery, which from the high ramparts of Missolongi, announced the victory and joy which exhilarated its children.

The night was already advanced when the brave Missolonghiotes, projected a sortie: and midnight was the hour fixed upon by the intrepid Botzaris. Notwithstanding all their tactics, the Barbarians, now buried in sleep, dreamt not of their being in presence of an active enemy, who had acquired fresh courage from the success of their recent efforts. Two thousand Suliots were therefore unheeded, till they fell precipitately on their enemy's camp. The gloom of night favoured their enterprize; and after having seized upon and killed the advanced posts, they set fire to the Arabian camp. The carnage now became dreadful.—The barbarians have annihilated each other to arms, but their efforts were ineffectual—for after spending two full hours in steeping the ground with blood, and possessing themselves of two batteries, the cannon of which they took to their own fortress, the Suliots retired flushed with triumphs. Thus passed the night of the 24th—but greater misfortunes still awaited the fierce conquerors of the Peloponnesus.

On the 25th, at sun-rise, the Greek troops, which had been so long expected were seen from the ramparts.

Fabvier was leading his young patriots on to victory; he was accompanied by the elite, of the brave men of Roumelia. The Arabs placed themselves between two fires, and without a leader, knew not how to oppose the enemy, nor how to escape from them. Redschid Mehemet Pacha, who last year so closely invested Missolonghi, succeeded Ibrahim in command. He advanced against Fabvier with 3000 Turks, whilst the remainder of the forces sustained the fight against the garrison, which having sallied out from the fort, repulsed them with a courage almost incredible. Victory declared in favour of the beseiged. Redschid was made prisoner, with a part of his army, while the remainder fell beneath the well aimed blows of the Greeks. The second body, attacked by the the united forces of the garrison and of Fabvier, did not make resistance long. All was destroyed, and the inhabitants of Missolonghi soon received back into the city, amid songs of joy, the brave liberators of their country.

Such was the issue of this memorable siege. A small number of heroes in want of every thing necessary, not only for fighting, but even for existance, knew how to surmount all obstacles, having on their side only justice, religion, and the good wishes of all noble hearts, while they had against them the Asiatics, Austrians, Egyptian barbarians, and the efforts of some Ministers of the Holy Alliance!

Let what has just now taken place in Greece, arrest the attention of those who are called upon to govern kingdoms—they will learn the wonderful deeds that despair can perform.—This is the nation which for four hundred years has endured the chains of the most horrible tyranny. That Greece, which people in modern times visit, merely to walk over and inspect the tombs of its illustrious dead, exhibits this greatest example in the present day of patriotism and independence. In vain are attempts made to repress its ardour, in vain would the Austrians, at any price, restore Greece to the Brigands of Asia; Greece, without money, and without bread, is nevertheless victorious, and must be free. We can no longer doubt it, for every thing noble and sacred amongst men combine in its favor.

RUSSIA.

A change in the Russian ministry has been rumoured. It is said that Count Nesselrode was to retire.

* The Emperor's coronation is fixed for the 7th of July, on which day he will be 50 years of age. The Empress' mother is about leaving Taganrog for St. Petersburgh. On the 31st of March, being the anniversary of the entry of the allied troops into Paris, a grand review of the entry of the Russian guards took place. They amounted to nearly 40,000 men. Medals, together with a portrait of the late Emperor, have been presented to all the soldiers who were present at the entrance into Paris.

Much remark has been caused by the difference of the treatment of the British and French ambassadors at St. Petersburgh.—The one has been feasted and honored in every way, whilst the other has not been noticed beyond the ordinary diplomatic courtesies.

The German newspapers, as well as the French, continue to insist on the probability of a rupture between Russia and the Pope; and it is only strange that there is not a demonstration on the part of a single European Cabinet, to countenance this opinion. Whilst approaching war is the prevailing topic with the former, the latter are apparently as quiet as in times of the most settled tranquility; and in the military department of every state there is the same repose visible as in the political.—If the public journals, however, are right in their warlike conclusions, we can only say that the different powers betray an unaccustomed degree of apathy, for formerly they would have been all in a state of the greatest bustle upon a less important occasion. The Porte too evinces an unaccountable inaction, as all its energies, it is well known, are directed against the Greeks, whilst it has not taken a single measure, as yet, to defeat the hostile designs of Russia. On the part of the latter too the warlike preparations, supposing them to exist, are conducted with such a wonderful degree of secrecy, as to have hitherto eluded the lynx-eyed vigilance of European diplomacy. We are well aware that intelligence has reached town, in the course of the present week, of the departure of one fourth part of the garrison of St. Petersburgh, for the south; but it announces that the troops, consisting of several regiments of infantry and cavalry of the Imperial Guards, are to make part of a gay pageant, and not of a warlike expedition. They are to assist at the coronation at Moscow; instead of proceeding to cut the throats of the Turks; and in the mean time the rest of the Russian army is as quiet as possible in its cantonments; and we would defy a professed alarmist to draw from the present aspect of that empire even a faint inference of a hostile character.

"It appears, however, that the Court of St. Petersburgh has taken decided steps to terminate the uncertainty, which for these five years, has marked its relation with the Porte. In this course it seems to be guided wholly by a desire to consolidate peace and not to violate it. Russia is, probably, anxious to see her old intercourse, commercial and political, re-established with Turkey; and has for this purpose made new and earnest overtures to the Porte, based, of course, upon the stipulations, contained in successive treaties, respecting Moldavia and Wallachia. These proposals have not only the concurrence of the other great powers, but will be backed by them with all their influence; and the result, therefore, may be easily anticipated. This, we believe, is the real state of the pending negotiations between Russia and the Porte. With respect to the war between the Greeks and Turks, we think it highly probable that Russia declines all direct interference, as a question, more properly European than Russian."

LATEST FROM COLOMBIA.

"An arrival at Philadelphia brings Caraccas papers to the 10th of May. Tranquility had been restored in Venezuela. Gen. Paez had been invested with the supreme authority in Valencia and Caraccas, and would retain it until the return of Gen. Bolivar.

Translation of a letter, dated May 19.

"As I suppose the recent occurrences in this province have been greatly exaggerated, I will give you a succinct detail of the whole. In consequence of General Paez having, two months since, ordered out patrols to compel all persons to repair to St. Francis to be enrolled in the militia, information thereof was forwarded to Bogota by the intendent General Escalona and by the corporation, painting the act in the blackest colours. The accusation was admitted by the senate, and General Escalona appointed to succeed Paez in the command of the army. The latter immediately proclaimed his successor, and was preparing to depart for Bogota; but the people of Valencia, thinking that Paez was the only person capable of preserving tranquility among the troops, and apprehensive of what might happen after his departure, requested a meeting of the corporation. This body decreed that General Paez should remain in his present command, until the return of General Bolivar, to whom an officer has been despacthed to Panama, where the president liberator ought to be by this time. General Paez will enter Caraccas this afternoon. The utmost tranquility prevails."

LOWER CANADA.

The Lord Bishop of Quebec received on Thursday morning the Address of the Clergy of the Archdeaconry of Quebec. The resident Clergy of the City, with such of the Clergy Reserve Corporation as were in attendance upon the annual meeting, waited, on this occasion, in their full robes upon his Lordship, who received them in the usual manner, attended by his domestic Chaplain and Secretary, the Reverend Crosbie Morgell, and by the Reverend S. J. Mountain, nephew of the late Bishop, whom his Lordship with his accustomed delicacy and kindness, has appointed since his arrival, to one of his Chaplains, a gentleman too well known in this province, and of which his health obliged him some years ago to resign his charge, to make the slightest remark necessary with respect to his title to this unsolicited compliment.

MY LORD,

We, the Clergy and Archdeaconry of Lower Canada, beg leave most respectfully and most cordially to felicitate Your Lordship upon your recent appointment to the see of Quebec, vacated by the death of the late Reverend Diocesan—an appointment which we regard as highly auspicious for those sacred interests which we have at heart, and which it is the business of our lives to promote.

Your Lordship, as it is not for us to inform you, enters upon a field of fair promise in itself, and one which affords ample scope for the utmost exertions of a far more numerous body of Clergy than are now placed under your jurisdiction. In the mean time the great and greater resources than lie at your command; (not altho' our number (in the whole Diocese) during the occupation of the See by your Lordship's predecessor was increased from 9 to 53, the supply has kept no pace whotever with the demand on the part of the people for the Clergy of our Church. But we feel, my Lord, that while "it is not for us to know the times and the seasons which the Father hath put in his own power," we are entitled on behalf of our Zion, to hope for some advantages in the propagation of Religion, which hitherto we have but imperfectly and partially enjoyed. Although agreeable to that characteristic principle of our Institutions at the seat of Empire, by which, as desires a Christian State, our Kings are made the "nursing fathers" of the Church, His late Majesty having previously secured to the prior occupants of the soil, who, in this division of your Lordship's Diocese are the great body of the people, the full and unfettered enjoyment of their own religion, and provided for its legal support, was pleased to constitute these two Provinces a Diocese forming a regular portion of the English Establishments and connected with the Archiepiscopal See of Canterbury "in the same manner" as any Bishopric within the Province of Canterbury in England—and although provision is made by law, not only for the sufficient support of a Protestant Church but expressly for the foundation and endowments of that Church, according to the establishment of the Church of England; yet, from a variety of causes, your Lordship finds us, under some points of view, still in a state of depression—wanting that complete establishment, and effective condition, which these measures were intended to convey to us. Our Clergy, with a very few exceptions, are merely upon the footing of missionaries, chargeable upon the bounty of a benevolent Society at home, and the youths among us who aspire to the service of the Gospel, are debarred from all Academical, and Collegiate Institutions. It is under the above blessings, to the influence and encouragement of your Lordship, that we may now look for the prospects of being raised gradually to a more efficient footing; we would hope that it may be reserved for your Lordship to carry us on to that improved state of things, as yet lying only in the land of promise, which your venerable predecessor, the first leader of our host in the wilderness, laboured hard to attain, but was permitted only to contemplate from afar. But we desire to assure your Lordship, that whatever may be ordained by Providence, with respect to the inferior consideration of our external prosperity, it is our first hope and prayer that, acting under your auspices, and confiding in a higher protection, we may become instrumental to the salvation of the souls committed to us, and approve ourselves as faithful labourers, who have put their hands to the plough, and will never, never look back.

It would ill become us my Lord, to approach you with the language of adulation, as it would be offensive to your Lordship to receive it—but we cannot forbear from saying, that we are sure the declaration will be supported by the voice of the people at large, that the eminent services which you have rendered to religion, the distinguished example of your unwearied zeal, the intimate and extensive local experience which you have acquired, (particularly in the office of visiting missionary,) and the respect and high regard attached to your name among all classes of the community—constituted altogether a claim to the charge of this Diocese, the recognition of which on the part of H. M. Government, was the subject before hand of universal anticipation, as it now is of universal satisfaction.

You came to this country my Lord, with no such views and anticipations on your own part. You came as a simple Missionary, and seated yourself in a remote retirement, with views indeed of an exalted character, but not fixed on any earthly object. You left houses and brethren, and sisters and lands—you left your country, your home, your high connections, your prospects of preferment, FOR THE KINGDOM OF GOD'S SAKE, and in imitation of the great "Shepherd of our souls," you have in every sense of the words "gone about doing good." We fervently pray that you may receive in the more arduous and elevated post to which you are now called, what we are sure that you have already experienced in an inferior field of duty "manifold more" happiness "in this present time" than those which you sacrificed, or than any earthly blessings could have afforded you, and that "in the world to come" you may have "EVERLASTING LIFE."

His Lordship was pleased to reply in the following terms:—

QUEBEC, JUNE 5, 1826.

To the Archdeacon and the Clergy of the Archdeaconry of Quebec.

MR. ARCHDEACON AND REV. CLERGY—

Accept my best acknowledgments for your Address. I thank you for the kind expressions of regard which it contains, and for the affectionate manner in which you have received me.

The interest invariably taken by the late Bishop, in every thing that could promote the welfare of the Church in Canada, animates me to follow his steps; and its increase during the time of his incumbency encourages me to hope for a like success.

That the number of our Clergy is quite inadequate to supply the spiritual wants of those who desire to benefit by their Ministry in those Provinces, is well known, and must be a source of sincere regret to us all, and to every advocate and well wisher of that Holy Religion established amongst us upon the rock of recorded apostolic truth, and fostered by the bounty and protection of his late Majesty, and our present gracious Sovereign.

The provision made for the Clergy of this Diocese in the lands granted for that purpose by His Majesty's Government is such, as may reasonably be expected to relieve, at some future time, the funds of the liberal society which now supports them. The duties are arduous, however, very unproductive, and it is to be lamented, are likely to continue so for many years.

To a similar cause also, the deficiency of our means may be traced, the want we labour under of institutions for theological education. We must still, therefore, look to the benevolence of the venerable society for the propagation of the Gospel in Foreign parts. But we must at the same time remember that its funds are low, and have of late been much diminished in consequence of its operations being now upon a more enlarged scale than formerly.

In a Diocese so extensive, as that to which I have succeeded, much of my time must necessarily be devoted to distant visitations, but as my residence will be for part of the year in this Archdeaconry, the commnications between you, my Reverend Brethren, and myself, will, I trust, be frequent, and contribute to our mutual usefulness in the great cause in which we are engaged.

I am happy to renew the pledge which I have already in the most solemn manner given, at my consecration, to exert every effort in my power for the promotion of true religion and piety in the land. The further augmentation, and a permanent provision for the decent maintenance of the Clergy, I will ever have deeply at heart.

My prayer continually to Almighty God is, that the Lord of the harvest will send forth more labourers into his harvest—and that the work of those already called, may be found worthy of good and faithful servants.

Hopeful in the co-operation of your prayers and services, and in the blessings of ALMIGHTY GOD upon our united labour, I faithfully look forward to an increase to our Church, and to our joint reward in time and eternity, through our LORD and SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST.

J. C. QUEBEC.

The U. E. Loyalist.

YORK, U. C. SATURDAY, JULY 1, 1826.

The late papers afford us no additional intelligence to what has been before communicated. We are therefore disappointed in not being able to present our readers with a confirmation of the news from Greece.

The temporary excitement produced in England from the distressed state of trade in some of the manufacturing districts, was rapidly subsiding, and the improvement which has taken place in several departments of commerce, was again affording employment to the people. Whatever additional statements have appeared on the subject, they tend only to show that the disturbances have been much exaggerated. In several parts of the country, distress has no doubt prevailed, but wherever this exists, the humanity of the British public has ever been actively employed, and in this instance, it has had the effect of producing the liveliest gratitude from those, on whose behalf it was engaged.

The number of vessels arriving at the port of Quebec with settlers, serves to show that the tide of emigration continues to flow into Canada. It has been stated that a proportion of the Emigrants who came into this country, afterwards left it for the United States. This, at the time, was true perhaps, with respect to some of those who came out, not under the protection of the Government, but on their own resources, and the reason of their having done so, may be accounted for, from the facility with which labourers found employment, during the cutting of the Canal in the State of New-York. This inducement is now done away, and from the encouragement held out Emigrants in Canada, we may expect that the number of those, leaving the country, after having arrived in it, will in future be less. Should the contemplated improvements, in this Province, be carried into execution, the inducement to remain will be strengthened, as labourers will meet with sufficient employment. A short residence among us would satisfy the Emigrant, that in this country, perseverance and industry, will soon place him above the reach of want. To satisfy himself on this subject, he has only to refer to those, who have been in the country but a few years, and from them he will learn, that Canada, is perhaps the most desirable residence in the world, for a man who wishes to improve his fortune, and make a comfortable provision for his family.

At first the Emigrant must expect to meet with some difficulties and privations, it would be only deceiving him to conceal this. The first three years, however, being surmounted, he will begin to feel himself comfortable and independent.

What inducements can be stronger, for a man to make Canada his home, than the certainty, that industry will meet with an ample reward—that perseverance will render him independent, and that these and many other blessings, may be securely enjoyed, in a land, governed by the most mild and equitable laws, and possessing the same glorious institutions, which have so highly exalted the land of his fathers.

The government of this Province, has taken unwearied pains, to promote the interest of Emigrants, in the granting of lands, on the most favourable terms, and any deserving man may be sure of meeting every support and encouragement. As a proof of this, we have only to refer to the great accession which Upper Canada has made in her population, during the last few years. The wilderness has indeed been converted into fruitful fields, and the busy hum, of an industrious, a contented and happy people, enjoying in peaceful security, all that renders life desirable, is heard, where not long since, "the silence of the desert reigned."

It cannot but afford pleasure to reflect on these things, conscious, that under an administration, which has already produced such beneficial changes, the advancement of the country, in wealth and population, will be "natural, wholesome, and regularly progressive."

The great improvement which has been made, within a few years in the Streets of the Town, reflects the highest credit on the York Police. The whole extent of King Street is well graveled, and affords a good carriage road—many others are undergoing the same process, and several are preparing for it, by being first turnpiked, and allowed time to settle. Some regulation with respect to the improvement of the side walks, may be considered as necessary.

✓ In other respects, too, the Town is rapidly improving. The two handsome buildings, the Court House, and Jail, are in an advanced state, and while they serve as an ornament to the principal town of the Home District, and the Capital of Upper Canada, afford at the same time, the most satisfactory testimony of the increasing prosperity, of the inhabitants of the district.

✓ While on the subject of these improvements, we would take the opportunity of suggesting, that a Public Walk, somewhere in front of the town, on the Bank, would be a very desirable object. We are aware however, that the necessary funds, when so much is doing on the streets, could not, perhaps, be well spared for such a thing, but the comfort and convenience of it, we think, would be so highly appreciated that few would refuse to contribute their aid, towards carrying it into effect.

✓ We are happy to hear that a number of spirited individuals, are taking the necessary steps, for forming themselves into a Fire Company, under the provisions of an Act passed during the last Session of Parliament. The necessity of such a Company, having been severely felt on former occasions, much praise is due to those, who come forward to enroll themselves, as the protectors of the property of their fellow townsmen, when visited by the most dreadful of all calamities.

✓ Too much attention cannot be paid by the Police of a Town, in their regulations for the prevention of Fires, and particularly where the buildings are principally of Wood. At the commencement of the Winter Season, more especially, when Stoves are put up, the greatest attention is necessary, in the manner in which they are placed, and the observance of regulations, which relate to them, should be most strictly enforced. In carrying such regulations into due effect, much depends on the efficiency of the Police Officers. In the event of Fire breaking out, the offer of a Premium, to the person who shall bring the first Puncheon of Water, has been found of infinite service. Carters and others, are by this means induced to exert themselves, to be early on the spot, and an immediate supply of water is procured, the great essential on such occasions.

✓ His EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, arrived in town on Sunday morning, on board the Frontenac. On Tuesday His EXCELLENCY inspected the Division of the 70th Regt. under the command of Lieut. Col. McGregor, and was pleased to express his approbation of the high state of discipline observed in the Corps.

✓ His EXCELLENCY embarked on board the Queenston, on Thursday evening, for Niagara, and will, we understand, proceed from thence by land, to be present at the opening of the Burlington Canal, which takes place to day.

✓ We regret to learn that Sergt. J. McDonald, of the Bo. . of the 7th Regiment, was unfortunately drowned, on Thurs ay night last.

The circumstances attending this accident, we are informed, are particularly distressing. Sergt. McDonald, it appears, was crossing the gang-way, from the Wharf to the Queenston, when a plunge was heard in the water, which was mistaken for some person having fallen overboard, and some one calling out that it was an Officer, the Sergt. supposing it to be one of the Officers of his own Regiment, jumped into the water for the purpose of saving him. In this attempt, which was uncalled for, the night being dark, and the confusion unavoidable on such occasions, prevailing at the moment, before assistance could be rendered to him, his own life was lost. His conduct, under the impression, that his efforts might save the life of his Officer, is highly creditable to his memory as a man and a soldier.

Sergt. McDonald was much esteemed in his Regiment, in which he had been a non-commissioned Officer the last fourteen years.

✓ In having hitherto abstained from remark, on the subject of a late occurrence in this Town, to the destruction of the Adjutants Barn, we have been actuated by motives, which we think, will on due consideration, be considered as the proper ones, which should influence a Public Press, on such occasions.

A Riot or Outrage, as it is called, takes place—Rumour, with her thousand tongues, gives the most contradictory accounts of the affair. In the mean time, the party aggrieved, appeals to the Laws of his Country for redress. The matter is represented by Contemporary Journals, in the most aggravated manner, who not content, with giving a simple relation of the fact, and wilfully forgetting, that the strong arm of the Law, whose Majesty has never yet been insulted with impunity, has taken cognizance of the affair, would nevertheless, boldly, and presumptuously compel the people—those who hereafter, may be called upon, as the Arbiters of Justice, between the Parties, to prejudge the case. At the same time, the most unjustifiable assertions are made use of, to prejudice the public mind, by endeavouring to impress it with a belief, that the outrage is countenanced, and supported by official connivance. Under such circumstances, we conceive it unnecessary for a Press, which "Would nought extenuate,

Or aught set down in malice," either, on the one hand, to palliate a violation of Law, or on the other, to enter into a refutation of assertions, the utter worthlessness of which, the good sense of the people, will no doubt duly appreciate.

We are told, that by our silence, we "appear to consider, and treat the thing as unworthy of notice." In reply we can only say, that it is not at the Tribunal of the U. E. Loyalist, or any other public journal, that judgment is to be pronounced upon it. We have every confidence in those, who are the dispensers of Justi—in the Land. To them the matter is referred—to them we leave it. It is at the Tribunal of the Laws of the Country—that tribunal, where impartial justice has ever been administered, that the solemn decision must be given, and in this instance, as we hope we shall in every other, we would be governed by the maxim, "If they have offended the Laws of their Country, let them be answerable to the Law for it." When the Advocate was complained of, as having perverted the Liberty of the Press into licentiousness, we were silent. "If he offended the Laws of his Country, let him be answerable to the Law for it."

The Government sensible of what is due to its own dignity, will, we have no doubt, at all times preserve it unsullied, however the weak attempts of bad men, and the unworthy insinuations of those, who are themselves lost to every sense of true dignity, would attempt to tarnish its lustre.

COMMUNICATION.

To Capt. Bampton, 76th Regiment.
Commanding at Amherstburgh.

SIR,

After a residence amongst us of nearly four years, we cannot see you depart from this place, without expressing the feeling of sincere regard, we entertain towards yourself, and the Officers of the 76th Regiment, who have been stationed at this post during that period.

Situated as we are, in a remote part of the Canadas, with but a limited society, the perfect harmony that has existed between you Sir, and the Inhabitants of this place, has no doubt conduced to relieve our Society, and make us see the day of your departure draw near with sincere feelings of regret, which feeling, will no doubt be felt by the Inhabitants of every place where you may in future be stationed; but we trust, by none more, than the Subscribers to this address.

The uniform good conduct of the Detachment under your orders, while it reflects the highest credit on yourself and the Officers, who have heretofore Commanded them, at the same time commands our esteem towards the men, which we beg you will communicate to them.

We have the honor to be,
&c. &c.

Signed by the Magistrates, Merchants, and other respectable Inhabitants of Amherstburgh.

Amherstburgh, 12th June, 1826.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F. May. 16.

Extract of a letter dated Bonavista, May 14.

"A dreadful accident happened at a place called Spiller's Cove, in this neighbourhood, in the snow storm, night before last —a schooner, with her whole crew, being lost. We have not been able to discover the name of the vessel, she being literally dashed to pieces; but she was in all probability fitted out by Mr. Cozins, of Brigus —her powder kegs being marked with his name; the oars, and some other of the materials, were marked T. R. and I. T. R; a powder-horn marked "James James," and a keg marked "Patrick Synnot." Three of the bodies of the crew have been picked up, and I think it very probable that the rest will be got in the course of the day. A great part of the materials, and about 200 seals, have been saved.

Extracts of a letter from Mr. Wm. Hudson, to his father Capt. Hudson, Superintendant of Sable Island, now in Halifax, dated May 15, 1826.

"On Thursday night, April 27, the brig Traveller, Capt. Pernice, from Liverpool for Halifax, with a cargo of salt, &c. was cast away on the outer end of the N. E. bar, and on Saturday following the master and crew got safe on shore in two boats, about half a mile below the middle house. We instantly used our best endeavours to get the boats secured, and the clothing, &c. of the people brought to the House; making them all as comfortable as possible. Capt. P. wishing to proceed to Halifax with the least possible delay, we assisted his Carpenter in fitting out one of the boats for that purpose. We have been completely round the Island; but found nothing of the wreck, excepting some few small pieces.

"On Saturday the 13th inst. saw a ship on the N. W. Bar, and instantly endeavoured to ascertain her situation:—Two boats, crowded with people, were seen coming from her—37 of whom got on shore; but 7, (5 men and 2 women) unfortunately perished in the surf. The ship was bound from Ireland for Quebec; with 240 passengers; upwards of 80 including the Capt., were left on board: and the long boat being stove on the beach, it was indeed most dreadful, to see men, women, and children, to whom we could then give no assistance. On Monday, May 15, sent two boats off, hoping to save the unfortunate people yet on the wreck; which is a considerable distance from the land—as far as the little Island. We shall look anxiously for relief.

The ship was the Nassau, Capt. Kenny, from Dublin, with passengers only.

The Halifax papers, received by yesterday's mail, announce the arrival in that port of the Hon. East India Company's ship the Countess of Harcourt, with a valuable cargo of 7000 chests of Teas of various descriptions. She is the first ship direct from Canton to Nova Scotia, and was greeted with cheers from the crowds assembled to witness her arrival.—Quebec Gazette.

MONTREAL, June 17.

Melancholy consequence of the long drought.—From every part of this district we hear the most lamentable complaints of the crops. One farmer has acquainted us that, in a piece of meadow land, where in former years he used to cut nearly 4000 bundles of hay, it is his opinion he will not have any crop, and that if rain does not speedily come to the relief of the pasturage, he will be obliged to turn his cattle into the place fenced off as meadow. The grain crops are actually perishing for want of moisture, and unless Providence, in the plentitude of its bounty, does not interfere, the prospects before us are alarming in the extreme,—We are now beginning to feel the effects of the depreciation of trade in England; the recent failures there have deprived many Canadian merchants of the resources they formerly possessed, which has reduced the circulation of money in these provinces lower than it has been known for the last 20 years. Although this is a gloomy picture, yet it is not only a true one, but a darker shade may still be added. From the appearance of our country at this advanced season, there is no cause for expecting an abundant harvest, but, on the contrary, there is great reason to doubt that the supply of provisions for the ensuing winter will be insufficient for the consumption of our population!!—Courant

Quebec, June 20.

On Sunday the Annual Collection was made in the Cathedral Church, in aid of the Society for promoting Christian Knowledge and of the National School established in this City. Nearly 200 of the Protestant Children, educated in the School, were present upon the occasion. They were ranged, as usual, in the centre aisle, on each side of the reading desk, and sung an appropriate hymn during the service. An excellent Sermon was preached by the Rev. C. Morgell, A. B. Chaplain and Secretary to the Lord Bishop, from Dan. c. xiii. v. 5 —Many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased. The Hon. the Chief Justice, V. P. of the Committee of General Management, the Hon. James Irvin and Col. Durnford, Com. R. E. who are Members of the Committee, and Lt. Col. Foster of the Adjutant General's Department, in the absence of Sir J. Harvey who is also a Member, were kind enough to act as Collectors. The Collection in Church amounted to £65 5 2, but a great many additional sums were afterwards received from the munificence of His Excellency the Earl of Dalhousie, who although he had already contributed in church, was prompted by the statements contained in the sermon, respecting the objects, proceedings, and actual necessities of the charity, to send, in the name of the Countess and his own, a further sum of £50. The total sum received thus amounted to £115 5 2, which very considerably exceeds any previous collection.

A private Ordination was afterwards held in the Cathedral, when the Bishop, assisted by several of the Clergy, admitted the Rev. A. Ansley, A. M. of the University of Edinburgh, to the Order of Priest. Mr. Ansley returns immediately to Hull, L. C. upon the Ottawa River, of which place, together with March, U. C. he has the pastoral charge.—Mercury.

SUPPLEMENT TO
The U. E. Loyalist,
OF SATURDAY, JULY 1, 1826.

LATE NEWS FROM ENGLAND.

From the Supplement of the N. Y. Albion of June 24.

FALL OF MISSOLONGHI!

By the arrival of the packet ships Manchester and Silas Richards, we have received London papers to the 22d May.

The fate of Missolonghi seems at length to be decided, as will be seen from the extract which we subjoin from the Courier, stating that official despatches had reached the Colonial Office from His Majesty's Lord High Commissioner of the Ionian Islands, announcing that the celebrated Greek fortress had been carried by the Turks on the night of the 22d and 23d of April. There are persons, however, who still doubt the accuracy of the intelligence.—Albion.

From the Courier, 15th May.

FALL OF MISSOLONGHI.—Despatches have been received this morning at the Colonial Office, from Major General the Honorable Frederick Ponsonby, the Lord High Commissioner, pro tempore, in the Ionian Islands, announcing that the fate of the long disputed fortress of Missolonghi, was finally decided on the night of the 22d and 23d ultimo.

It appears that the garrison having become desperate from the total want of provisions, and the failure of the Greek fleet, under Admiral Miacles, to throw supplies into the town, determined to retire from the place. A sortie was accordingly made by 800 men, under two chieftians, with the hope to gain possession of one of the batteries upon the sea shore, which was defended by a large body of Arabs—and the town was partially set fire to, at the same time, with the view of diverting the attention of the besiegers.

It was hoped that by this attack a way would be opened for the remainder of the garrison; but this plan had been foreseen by the Turks, and their posts so strongly reinforced, that after attempting in vain to force a passage by carrying the battery, the body led by the two chieftians dispersed, and endeavoured to save themselves by gaining the mountains.

They then poured into the town and put to the sword or made prisoners all who opposed them.

The loss sustained by the Turks on this occasion is not reported; but the obstinacy of the conflict may be estimated by the fact, that although between two and three thousand Greeks perished in the town, and at the foot of the mountain, only 150 are reported to have been taken alive. Of the women and children, a considerable number are said to have destroyed themselves, or to have been drowned; but above 3000 have been returned as prisoners.

The alarm created by their dispersion was quickly communicated to those who were to follow in this hazardous enterpize, who now abandoned their posts, and sought shelter in small numbers in the most tenable places in the neighbourhood of the town. In the midst of the confusion, the Turkish troops rushed on from the sea and land side, and took possession of the fortifications, to which, as a signal of victory, they set fire.

On the 2d of April the two commanders, Ibrahim Pacha and the Seraskier, had, it appears, sent a summons to the Inhabitants that their lives should be spared on giving up their arms, and that they should be at liberty to proceed to any part of the Turkish dominions, but these proposals were promptly rejected.

Missolonghi fell on the 22d of April, after new prodigies of valour. At the last moment, all the remaining Greeks formed a kind of square battalion, the women and children were placed in the centre, and all endeavoured to open them a passage through the Turks. All were massacred.

The Importation Corn Bill, and Warehouse Corn Bill were both read a third time in the House of Commons, on the 18th ult. passed and sent to the House of Lords where they received their first reading, on the 19th.

The House of Commons adjourned, on the 19th to the 26th to allow the House of Lords time to finish the business before them. It was expected Parliament would be Prorogued on the 27th, and immediately after dissolved.

We regret to learn by these arrivals, that the long established house of Fries & Co. of Vienna had stopped payment. This event was preceded by the disappearance of Mr. David Parish, a partner in the house, who is well known in this country. His body was found a few days afterwards in the Danube, near Vienna, which leaves no doubt that he committed suicide. It seems from an article in a Paris paper, that he had premediated the act, as letters had been found at his house, addressed to Prince Metternich—the young Count de Fries, his partner—M. Geymuller, the banker—his father—his brothers, &c. It is added that his brother Leuftemberg has also disappeared, without its being known what had become of him. The deficit of Fries' house is said to be 1,600,000 florins—about 3,520,000 francs.

Lieutenant General Sir Frederick Adam K. C. B., Lord High Commissioner of the Ionian Islands, and his family, have arrived in London from Corfu, via Paris. Sir Frederick would leave London in a few days for Scotland, and his absence from the Ionian Islands would be about six months.

Major General Sir Charles Turner, the recently appointed Governor of the British Colonies on the Coast of Africa, had fallen a victim to that horrible climate. The Gazette announces Sir Neil Campbell as his successor. [Sir Neil was the British Commissioner who accompanied Buonparte to Elba after his dethronement.]

The lady of Sir Walter Scott, died at Abbotsford on the 14th of May. Sir Walter was married in 1797 and his lady was the daughter of John Carpentier of the city of Lyons.

Colonial Office, May 12.—The King has appointed Major General Sir Neil Campbell, Knt. C. B. to be Governor of Sierra Leone.

The Army.

60th Regiment of Foot.—Assistant Surgeon J. Winterscale, from the 71st Foot, to be Surgeon, vice Glasco, promoted, dated 20th April, 1826.

76th ditto.—Ensign R. Shepherd, to be Lieutenant, by purchase, vice Grubbe, promoted: W. Ray, gent. to be Ensign, by purchase, vice Shepherd: both dated May 13, 1826.

Staff.—Lieutenant Colonel Hon. C. Gore, to be Deputy Quarter Master General to the Forces serving in Canada, vice Cockburn; and Lieut. Colonel F. Cockburn, to be Deputy Quarter Master General to the Forces serving in Jamaica, vice Gore, both dated April 20, 1826.

VOL I. YORK, UPPER CANADA, SATURDAY, JULY 8, 1826. NO, 6.

BY AUTHORITY.

TO HIS EXCELLENCY SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada and Major General commanding His Majesty's Forces therein, &c. &c. &c.

May it please Your Excellency,

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the undersigned Officers of Militia, Magistrates, Gentlemen, Yeomen, and other Inhabitants of the Gore District, beg leave to greet your arrival amongst us with a most cordial and hearty welcome, and to assure you of the high sense we entertain of the interest your Excellency has taken in the welfare and prosperity of this Colony.

We felicitate your Excellency on the present occasion: It affords to you the peculiar satisfaction of seeing realized, during your administration, the fruits of the first dawn of enterprize in this province. The vessels that this proud day are seen floating over the limpid waters which unite Ontario's lake with the Bay of Burlington, foretell the future importance of this beautiful section of Upper Canada; nor is it too bold to presage that but few years will elapse ere it will be the Emporium and Grand Depôt of the industry of extensive, fertile and populous Regions.

To effect this great object, the God of nature has been all bounuful, and the pleasing task is left for man to accomplish, by the application of practical science and enterprize, his most sanguine wishes.—Your Excellency is surrounded by a faithful and loyal people, who know how to appreciate duly, the civil and political advantages of their present constitution.—The experience before their eyes of the convulsed volcanic state, of almost every Government of Continental Europe, whilst the dazzling sun of liberty is blazing in various experimental shapes over the greater portion of this Western world, presents to their view no tempting example that could induce a wish to change their allegiance from their beloved Sovereign, the King of the Seagirt Isles of Britain. Long may it be their happy lot, as it is their most fervent desire, to enjoy his powerful and generous protection, and may future generations to the latest times, feel as grateful as the present, united inseparably with heart and hand to support the glorious constitution that has given birth to us as a people. We wish your Excellency every earthly happiness, and entreat you to accept our assurances of profound respect.

Gore District, July 1st, 1826.

To which His Excellency was pleased to give the following reply:—

GENTLEMEN,

I request you to accept my warm acknowledgments for this dutiful and loyal address. I receive with much pleasure the cordial welcome with which you have greeted my arrival in your District.

You do me justice in believing, that I derive very peculiar satisfaction from the new proof of our increasing prosperity, which has been afforded me in my visit to the important work which unites Lake Ontario with the safe and commodious Bay before us.

Be assured, Gentlemen, it will always afford me very sincere gratification to promote, by any means in my power, the welfare of your flourishing District.

TO HIS EXCELLENCY SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada, Major General commanding His Majesty's Forces therein, &c. &c. &c.

May it please your Excellency,

WE, the Burlington Bay Canal Commissioners, beg leave to offer your Excellency our sincere congratulations, on your arrival at this place, to witness the partial completion of the work committed to our superintendance, a work begun under your Excellency's auspices, and which will remain a monument of your administration of the Government of this Province, to the latest posterity, as well as give effect to the measures adopted by your Excellency to bring into cultivation the extensive and fertile regions in its vicinity.

That your Excellency may long continue to enjoy the confidence, of our beloved Sovereign, is the sincere prayer of

Your Excellency's
Most obedient, and
Most humble Servants,

JAMES CROOKS,
MANUEL OVERFIELD,
W. CHISHOLM,
ROBERT NELLES,
WILLIAM M. JARVIS,
Commissrs.

Burlington Beach,
1st July, 1826.

To which his Excellency was pleased to give the following reply:—

GENTLEMEN,

I have been highly gratified by my visit to your District, and by the opportunity afforded me of viewing the interesting work, which has been conducted to its present state of advancement and efficiency under your superintendance—a work, well deserving the attention, which you have manifestly bestowed on its progress, and which I doubt not, will confer very important benefits on your District.

I request you to accept my acknowledgments for the wishes towards myself which you have so kindly expressed.

York, Upper Canada,

AT THE COUNCIL CHAMBER.

Present,

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

THIS day James Buchanan Macaulay, Esquire, was sworn of His Majesty's Honorable Executive Council and took his place at the Board accordingly.

Government House,
York, June 29th, 1826.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR has been pleased to appoint by Letters Patent under the Great Seal, the Members of the Honorable Executive Council; the Judges of the Court of King's Bench; the Surveyor General of the Crown Lands, and their respective successors in office, to be Commissioners under the Heir and Devisee Act.

UPPER CANADA.

P. MAITLAND,
Lieut. Governor.

PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE the FOURTH, by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To our beloved and faithful Legislative Councellors, of our Province of Upper Canada, and to our Knights Citizens, and Burgesses of our said Province; to our Provincial Parliament at our Town of York on Wednesday the Fifth day of July next, to be Commenced, Held, Called, and Elected, and to every of you

GREETING

WHEREAS by our Proclamation bearing date the Twentieth day of May last, we thought fit to prorogue our Provincial Parliament to the Fifth day of July next, at which time, at our Town of York, you were held and constrained to appear.

NOW KNOW YE, that we taking into our Royal consideration the ease and contenience of our loving subjects, have thought fit, by and with the advice of our Executive Council, to relieve you and each of you of your attendance at the time aforesaid, hereby convoking and by these presents enjoining you and each of you that on Monday the Fourteenth day of August now next ensuing, you meet us in our Provincial Parliament at our Town of York, there to take into consideration the state and welfare of our Province of Upper Canada, and therein to do as may seem necessary, and herein fail not.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed—WITNESS our trusty and well beloved SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, and Major General Commanding our Forces therein, at York, this Twenty-seventh day of June in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty-six, and in the Seventh Year of our reign.

P. M.

By His Excellency's Command.

JOHN B. ROBINSON, Attorney General.

By Authority.

HIS EXCELLENCY the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, desirous that it may be publicly known, that the case of the conviction of an Indian, (Shawanakiskie) under sentence of death for the murder of another Indian, at Amherstburgh, in the Western District, having, in consequence of objections which had been raised to the jurisdiction of the Court, on the ground, that Indians were not amenable to our Laws, for offences committed amongst themselves, been referred by His Excellency, to the consideration of His Majesty, a despatch has been received from the Right Hon. the Secretary of State for the Colonies, informing His Excellency, that the Law Officers of the Crown, had reported in favour of the Conviction.

The Prisoner having escaped since his case was referred, His Excellency deems it, nevertheless, important that it should be generally known, that the legality of the conviction was confirmed, and that the sentence was directed to be carried into execution, with a discretionary power to His Excellency, to commute the punishment for transportation, or imprisonment for life, and that to that end a Warrant has been received in the following terms.

"WHEREAS Shawanakiskie, an Indian of the Ottawa Tribe, was, at the Assizes, holden for the Western Circuit, in our Province of Upper Canada, in or about the Month of August, in the year of our Lord, One thousand eight hundred and twenty-two, tried and convicted of the murder of an other Indian, at Amherstburgh, in our said Province, and had sentence of Death passed upon him for the same, but Execution was Respited by our Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, until our pleasure should be known, on the ground of there being no precedent on record in that Province, of a similar case, and of doubts, whether the Indians were answerable by Law to our Courts, for offences committed within our Territory against each other. And Whereas, We thought fit to refer the proceedings in the said case to our Advocate, Attorney, and Solicitor General, for their opinion, who have reported unto us that the Conviction of the said Shawanakiskie was Proper; and that no valid objection exists against the jurisdiction of the Court, before which the said Shawanakiskie was tried.

NOW WE, considering the heinousness of the offence, think it just that the said Sentence should be carried into full effect, and Our Will and Pleasure therefore is, that execution be done thereupon, unless in the case herein after next provided for; But inasmuch as some circumstances unknown to Us may be known to you, Our Governor &c. &c.

(Here follows a discretionary power to mitigate the punishment.)

UPPER CANADA.

P. MAITLAND,
Lieut. Governor.

GEORGE the FOURTH by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come GREETING:

WHEREAS for the more effectual preventing the recurrence of such abuses as have heretofore prevailed in the prosecution of the Trade in Timber in the parts of this Province bordering upon the River Ottawa, and to the end that the Public Interest may be more certainly advanced, the Commerce in that important article of exportation the better regulated, and more equal Justice observed with regard to all Our Subjects desirous of participating in the said Trade. Provided always, nevertheless, That in consideration of the authority and permission hereby given, the several Rates and duties hereinafter specified, shall be paid to Us, Our Heirs and Successors, (that is to say,) Upon every Thousand Feet of Oak Timber, the Sum of Six Pounds and Five Shillings, being at the rate of One Penny Half-penny per Foot. Upon every Thousand Feet of Red Pine Timber, Four Pounds Three Shillings and Four Pence, being at the rate of One Penny per Foot. Upon every Thousand Feet of Yellow Pine Timber, Two Pounds One Shilling and Eight Pence, being at the rate of One Half-penny per Foot. Upon Saw Logs of the proper length to be cut into Deals, Two Pence upon each Log—and upon every Thousand of Standard Staves, Four Pounds One Shilling and Eight Pence—which Duties are to be paid in lawful money of Our said Province of Upper Canada, and to be levied and received by such Person as We shall for that purpose Appoint by Commission under the Great Seal of Our said Province; and at such place or places upon the said River Ottawa as We shall declare through Our Officer to be appointed as aforesaid, to be most fitting and convenient.

Provided always, That for the better preventing the said Timber being Cut before it has attained a suitable growth, double the amount of Duty herein specified shall be charged upon all such Timber as shall not Square more than Eight Inches. And it is our further Will and Pleasure, that all such Timber or Wood which shall have been Cut as aforesaid upon Our Unconceded Lands in Upper Canada, upon which the Duties shall not be paid, when exacted by Our Officer so to be appointed as aforesaid, shall be seized and detained to Our Use as forfeited.

Provided always nevertheless, That all Persons, properly authorized by or under Our Licence granted in manner heretofore, used to Cut Timber in Our said Province shall be permitted to carry away and export the same, to such extent as their Licences may specify, without the exaction of any rate hereby imposed, and that all such Timber as may have been heretofore Cut upon Our Unconceded Lands as aforesaid, without Our express Licence, may upon payment of the Duties hereby specified, be suffered to pass through Our said Province of Upper Canada.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of Our said Province to be hereunto affixed.—WITNESS Our trusty and well beloved, SIR PEREGRINE MAITLAND, K. C. B. Lieutenant Governor of Our said Province, and Major General Commanding Our Forces therein, at York, this third day of May in the year of Our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty-Six, and in the Seventh Year of Our Reign. P. M.

By His Excellency's Command,
J. B. ROBINSON, Attorney General.
D. CAMERON, Secretary.

Executive Council Office, York, 23rd March, 1826.

NOTICE is hereby given, by ORDER of His EXCELLENCY the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in COUNCIL, that in future, the first Wednesday in every Month will be a regular Council day.

JOHN SMALL.
No. 9 1. f. C. E. C.

In Council 21st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepared in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District.

2 All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and appropriated for public purposes, will be offered for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3 All persons proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts on payment of a fee of 2s. 6d.

4 All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5 The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement—A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6 On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, is 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply, in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8. Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions.

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form, Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres.

11. No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending in the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12. A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase.

13. The quit rent will be redeemable within the first 25 years next following the grant, on payment of a sum equal to twenty times the annual amount of it.

14. Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it.

15. Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before-mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hunded Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On failure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant. It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16. No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessarry expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17. Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprized in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18. Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of these general Rules.

19. U. E. Loyalists and other persons entitled to gratuitous Grant by the general regulation of His Majesty's Government, are not to be affected by these Rules.

The above Rules to take effect from the first of January 1826.

By Order of His EXCELLENCY the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

POETRY.

THE ISLAND OF ATLANTIS.

BY THE REV. G. CROLY.

Oh thou Atlantic, dark and deep,
Thou wilderness of waves,
Where all the tribes of earth might sleep
In their uncrowded graves!

The sunbeams on thy bosom gake,
Yet never light thy gloom;
The tempests burst, yet never shake
Thy depths, thou mighty tomb!

Thou thing of mystery, stern and drear,
The secrets who hath told!—
The warrior and his sword are there,
The merchant and his gold.

There lie their myriads in thy pall
Secure from steel and storm;
And he, the fenster on them all,
The cankerworm.

Yet on this wave the mountain's brow
Once glowed in morning beam;
And, like an arrow from the bow,
Out sprang the stream;

And on its bank the olive grove,
And the peach's luxury,
And the damask rose—the nightbird's love—
Perfumed the sky.

Where are thou, proud Atlantis, now,
Where are thy bright and brave?
Priest, people, warrior's living flow?
Look on that wave!

Crime deepened on the recreant land,
Long guilty, long forgiven:
There power upreared the bloody hand,
There scoff'd at Heaven.

The word went forth—the word of wo—
The judgment thunders pealed;
The fiery earthquake blazed below;
In deeps was sealed.

Now on its halls of ivory
Lie giant weed and ocean slime,
Burying from man's and angel's eye
The land of crime.

MISCELLANEOUS.

From a Work, lately Published in Jamaica Entitled "SIX MONTHS IN THE WEST INDIES."

REASONS FOR GOING ABROAD.

The doctors disagreed. According to four first-rate opinions, I groaned at one and the same time under rheumatick proper, rheumatism gout, gout proper, and an affection in the spinous process.—The serious signs of one were the favourable symptoms of another, and the prescriptions of the first in direct opposition to the principles of the last. To-day I was to drink water at Buxton, the morrow to drink water at Bath, on Wednesday I was to go to Italy, and on Thursday I had better stay at home.

The fact was, the doctors could not make out my case.

Reader, if by mischance thou art one of those unhappy persons whom the climate of our famous mother England, in punishment of many sins in chattering French, instead of thy kindly vernacular, in giving half-a-guinea to Italians instead of three shillings and sixpence to Britons, in cleaving to wine and eschewing beer, hath touched with her insular cramp in shoulder, elbows, wrists, fingers, backs, loins, knees, ankles, or toes—if such be the case, go not, I entreat thee for thy good, to any of the faculty, whether physician, surgeon, apothecary, or druggist, licensed, or unlicensed; save thy good coin, gentle rheumatic, for thy purse for better merchandize and laissez aller les choses; torment not the creature with drenches and handlings, and peradventure it will ache thee some months the less for being entertained civilly: at all events thou wilt have economized so much money, escaped so much physic, and it will go harder with thee than with any body else, if thou get not well again every whit as soon.

True it is, though I speak it to my shame, that I did, in the impatience of my heart, betake myself to medicine for relief. It was promised to me abundantly. I am ready to communicate to any earnest enquirer, twenty and five infallable prescriptions, every one of which has effected so many cures, that it is somewhat surprising that the combined action of all of them together has not, a long time ago driven rheumatism clean out of the United Kingdom. I never met with any of these redeemed ones, but as Sancho says, he, who told me the story, said that it was so certain and true, that I might well, whenever I told it to another, affirm and swear that I had seen them all myself. There was, indeed, no resisting the kindness of my friends; I was all things to all men and to all women; I ate this to please my cousin Lucy, and drank that to oblige my cousin Margaret; I was steamed by one, showered by another, jest escaped needling by a third, and was the airy basket to the consistency of a pudding for the love of an oblong gentleman of Ireland, who had cured so many of his tenants on a bog in Tipperary by that process, that he offered to stake his salvation upon the success of the experiment. It failed, and, the article not being transferable, I forgave him the debt.

A GALE OF WIND AND SEA SICKNESS.

Imaginative reader! have you ever been in a gale of wind on the edge of the Bay of Biscay? If not, and you are fond of variety, it is really worth your while to a trip to Lisbon or Madeira for the chance of meeting with one. Calculate your weather well in December or January, when the southwester has properly set in, and you will find it one of the finest and most uncomfortable things in the world. My gale lasted from Sunday till Wednesday evening, which is something long perhaps for amusement, but it gave ample room for observation, and philosophy. I think I still hear that ineffable hubub of plates and glasses breaking, chairs and tables falling, women screaming, sailors piping, officers swearing, the wind whistling, and the sea roaring, which awakened me about two o'clock on Monday morning from one of those sweet dreams, wherein, through infinite changes and indistinct combinations of imagery, thy loved form, Eugenia, for ever prevails in its real and natural beauty. The Atlantic was gushing in through my port in a very refreshing manner, and ebbing and flowing under and around my bed with every roll of the ship. My clothes were floating on the face of the waters. I turned to sleep again, but the sea came with that awful dead sledge hammer beat, which makes a landsman's heart tremble, and the pertinent quotation of some poor scholar in the cabin about quatuor aut septem digitos brushed every atom of Morphic dust from my eyes. I sat bolt upright, and for some time contemplated, by the glimmering of the sentry's lantern, the huge disarray of my pretty den. I fished for my clothes, but they were bathing; I was sayed to rise, but I could find no resting-place for the sole of a rheumatic foot. However, I was somewhat consoled by a sailor who came to bale out the water at day-break; "a fine breeze, Sir, only its dead on end for us; and to be sure, I minds the Apollo and thirty-two marchnantmen were lost some where in these here parts." It was kindly meant of Jack, no doubt thought he was out in his latitude by eight degrees at least.

I think I shall never forget the scene of beauty and terror which presented itself to me on deck. Every thing, indeed, becomes tame by long familiarity, and the old mariner has no eye for any thing in a gale except his topmasts; but to the fresh and apprehensive mind what is there on land so unspeakably grand as a storm on the ocean? The lone ship under treble reefed topsails and staysails lay groaning like a gigantic skeleton in agony; a dreadful hedge or wall of waters confined the horizon to a hundred yards around us; the sea as black as death, save when, as each enormous wave rose on high, the furious blast caught up its long crest of foam, and dashed it into atoms of smoky mist. The sun also shone out with a wild appearance at intervals, and the rays of light, refracted by the spray-shower, formed themselves into fairy arches of prismatic colouring in every direction as far as the eye could reach. On Tuesday the wind lulled for some time, but at night it blew again as before; and on Wednesday we had a succession of squalls at intervals of a quarter of an hour, each sharper than the other; which exceeded in violence any thing I could have imagined. Under the last of them the top-gallantmasts quivered like reeds, the shrouds gave music like Eolian harps, and the eyes of the silent veterans were fixed anxiously aloft. It was the dying blast of Africus: the rain came down in torrents, the wind fell, and we were left at the mercy of a dead mountainous swell of a furlong in length, which put the good ship almost on her beam ends.

Buonaparte had the credit of saying that there was but one step from the sublime to the ridiculous: there were precisely seven on board His Majesty's ship. On deck all was terrible or lovely, in the cabin every thing was absurd or disgusting. It is idle to attempt the description, for the thing has been done before; carpets cut up, water dashed to and fro, dead lights in, a lack-lustre lamp, sea-pye, men and women hungry and thirsty, and nauseatic, projections of plates, chairs, knives, servants, soup, wives together with husbands and all other appurtenances under a lee lurch, ill-humour, hatred, vomiting, malice, and all unchastibleness, formed the grand features of the picture. I cannot go on with the details; mem refrain; I dislike dwelling on the infirmities of humanity.

ENGLAND.

Liverpool Cotton Market.—Monday, May 22. Our market opened on Monday with a good demand, at the full prices of the preceeding week; since which there has been a good attendance of both dealers and consumers, and the freedom with which they have purchased induces the hope that the tide of distress is beginning to ebb, and the return of the flood will bring in its current fresh means of industry, comfort and prosperity to the manufacturing districts and to the country at large. The operations of the week have amounted to nearly 18,000 bag, generally at an advance of 1-4d. per lb, except on Egyptian, which have scarcely maintained their currency.

The anniversary dinner of the Dury Lane Theatrical Fund, took place in London on the 13th of May, the Duke of Sussex in the chair. The subscriptions amounted to eight hundred pounds. Mr Price the American Manager, who was present on the occasion contributed 10l. and ten guineas. The Duke of Sussex drank the health of Mr. P. and made a complimentary address to him, to which Mr. Price replied.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, May 9th,

Mr. Huskinson moved for a return of the number of ships built in the British dominions between 1814 and 1825, and in a speech which occupies one whole side of a London paper, advocated the liberal navigation system adopted by the ministry. He endeavoured to show that the alterations recently made in the navigation laws, had not been injurious to the British shipping interest generally, nor to any particular branch. In conclusion, Mr. H. said, he could see no danger from any maratime competition with other countries, and acting upon this principle, he felt it would be better to say to the whole world, that we would tender equal advantage in commerce, to all ships bringing productions of their own soil into the ports of this country; he thought it better to remove all discriminating duties, to make the introduction of foreign produce only, as the means of levying duties for the service of the state, and to impose duties would afford sufficient protection to our own trade, but not to act upon a prohibitory system.——With respect to the colonial system, after the peace with America in 1783, it was found difficult and even hazardous to allow the colonies to draw all their supplies from this country, and the Americans were jealous at the products of their country being carried to the colonies, exclusively in English ships; Turk's Island was then fixed upon for the Americans to take the goods intended for the West India markets, at which place they were transhipped in British vessels. Subsequently, the Americans were allowed to take their goods direct to the West Indies, but were not permitted to bring the produce of those colonies to Europe. The Trade being open to the United States, on the same principles which actuated that measure, he Mr. H. last year proposed to throw open the trade to vessels of all the nations of Europe, provided they confined themselves to articles of their own growth, carried from their country, and limiting the colonial trade from this country to British shipping. With regard to British shipping it was well known that last year the shipping was overemployed, and freights were raised to an amount inconvenient to the interests of commerce. This high price of freight materially injured the coasting trade, and foreign ships were employed when British shipping was exhausted by the mad speculations engaged in by the people. It was surprising that the importation of bulky articles from the Baltic during the last year greatly exceeded that of 1822; in 1822 there were imported 110,000 loads of timber, and in 1826, 300,000 loads. In 1822 there were imported from Canada in masts and spars 6000 loads, and in 1826, 14,000 loads. The importation of flax in 1822 was 497,000 cwt. and in 1826, 1,050,000 cwt; Hemp in 1822, 250,000 cwt. and in 1826, 891,000; Linseed in 1822, 1,094,000 bushels, 1826, 2,662,000 bushels.

In the House of Lords, on the 18th, a petition was presented from various land holders against the measure before Parliament on the subject of the Corn Laws. A debate arose on the petition. The Earl of Liverpool, in reverungto the above bills, said they were only to be considered as temporary measures.

The Earl of Malmesbury rose, to observe, that he wished the disclaimer of the Noble Earl (Liverpool) had gone farther on the present measures. He meant, that he thought it should go to the point, that the duty of 12s. now proposed was not to have any bearing on the decision of the general question.

The Earl of Liverpool said he had no objection to say so. When the duty of 12s. was laid on the corn now in bond, and the same amount was imposed on any corn to be imported under those measures, it was never meant by that to decide, that the sum of 12s. was to be the permanent duty, ner that if Parliament came to a decision that the imposition of the duty was the proper course to be adopted, that that or any other sum was defined by them. He would have a more proper opportunity of giving his opinion when the Bills came up from the other House, and if they came up this week, he would fix Tuesday for the second reading.

The above Corn Bills passed their first reading in the House of Lords. These resolutions give to Ministers the right of admitting 500,000 quarters of foreign grain (4,000,000 bushels)—they fixing the main price and the rate of duty.

The cause of the Greeks was incidentally touched upon in the House of Commons on the 12th. Sir Robert Wilson and Mr. Hobhouse spoke in favor of the Government taking some measures in their favor before another year should come round. Mr. H. said the ruin of the Greek cause was not necessarily to be inferred from the downfall of Missolonghi. On the contrary, the best possible results ought to be predicted, from the courage and desperate valour with which the Greeks had defended that fortress.

On the same evening Mr. Brougham brought forward his long promised motion on the subject of slavery in the West Indies, which was to the following effect:

"That the house had observed with deep regret that nothing had been done by the Assemblies, in compliance with the wishes of Lord Bathurst's instructions, and of the wishes of that House, expressed in its Resolution of May 1823, touching the condition of slaves; and that the House, early in the next Session of Parliament, will take into its serious consideration the means of carrying the resolution of 1823 into effect."

Mr Canning, at a late hour, closed the debate, by taking a luminous review of all the arguments which had been urged, and deprecating any departure from that system of conciliation which had hitherto been pursued, unless it should be met by such a spirit of contumacy and resistance by the Colonial Assemblies, as would justify the employment of a more decisive one. The Right Hon. Gentleman repeated his former declarations, that it was the fixed determination of Government to come to Parliament for powers to give full effect to its intentions, should the necessity for such a step unfortunately occur. We trust, however, it will not. The colonists must see and feel that their own interests are closely indentified, in this question, with the policy of the Parent State, and that whatever may be supposed or real evils attendant upon acting in conformity with that policy, those that would result from opposition to it, must be infinately greater.

Mr. Brougham's motion was lost by a majority of sixty-two.

Every thing is comparatively quiet and tranquil among the manufacturers, and it is not unlikely that the accounts of riots have been considerably exaggerated. A letter from Manchester, May 18, says:

"I scarcely need say that all is quiet here, though according to a writer in a certain Sunday paper, the people of this town are almost upon the point of breaking out into open rebellion. The walls, he says, are covered with political inscriptions, amongst which are predominant, "No Corn Laws"—"Bread or Blood."

"I said some time ago, that there were no political inscriptions on the walls, and I now repeat it. But really there appears to be a class of persons who delight in the invention and propagation of falsehood, and who sit down to write lies with as much zest as a glutton eats his turtle soup, or a school boy enjoys his holiday."

Foreign Intelligence.

GREECE AND TURKEY.

Liverpool, May 24.

We fear that there is no reason to doubt the fact of the termination of the heroic defence of Missolonghi, by the fall of that fortress. Human endurance, it would seem from the pressure of famine, could hold out no longer; and to the want of food in the garrison, and not to their own bravery, the Turks owe their success. It is an advantage which has been bought dear, and has left the glory wholly on the side of the conquered. What effect this may have upon the general fate of Greece, cannot, however, be confidently anticipated. Even if the Greeks should still be left to themselves—it seems too much to conclude, that the fate of this fortress must seal the fate of the struggle. The effect is disheartening, it is true; but whether it will produce despair remains to be seen: Greece has often, of late, mocked calculations both on the side of hope and fear.

We have before us intelligence from Vienna of the 17th May, which announces that the "Ottaman Porte has fully acceded to all the conditions stipulated in the Ultimatum of the Emperor Nicholas. The Turkish Cabinet has already designated two plenipotentiaries to proceed to the frontiers. The hostages moreover have been set at liberty, and positive orders given for the evacuation of Moldavia and Wallachia."

We regret to state, on the authority of letters from the Levant, that the brave Canaris has perished off Missolonghi, with the vessel which was under his command.

When the news of the fall of Missolonghi reached Constantinople, the Turks gave themselves up to the most barbarous expressions of joy. The Janissaries proceeded to the hotel of the Russian Consulate, and threw several heads and ears of Greeks into the windows.

The Augsburgh Gazette contains the following intelligence of the 3d of May, from Odessa:—

"Letters of the 26th ult. from Constantinople announce that the Honorable Stratford Canning received a courier from St. Petersburgh with dispatches from the Duke Wellington, enjoining his Excellency to employ his utmost efforts to induce the Porte to accede to the ultimatum of Russia. The French, Austrian, and Prussian Ministers second Sir Stratford warmly, at the same time carefully separating the cause of the Greeks from the affairs of Russia. Mr. Canning has hitherto employed his good offices vain; and it is to be lamented, that the influence of England with the Porte has been on the decline for some time. Intelligence has arrived at Constantinople of two Turkish Frigates having been burned on the 14th or 15th ult. and several smaller vessels captured or destroyed. At Sebastopol, upon the Black Sea, the principal naval station of Russia, there are at this moment, sixteen armed vessels fully equipped, and ready to set sail."

Great exertions are making to aid the Greek cause by subscriptions in various parts. The reigning Duke of Brunswick had prepared for a journey, but being informed that the proceeds of the Theatre on a certain night was for the aid of the Greeks, he put off his journey to be present at the Theatre. The King of Prussia has authorized the Journals of his kingdom to publish lists of the subscriptions raised for the Greek cause. At Berlin, the magistrates and clergy are actively engaged in collecting money, &c. for the same cause.

At Paris the Ladies' Committee have collected 50,000 fr. At Munich a considerable sum has been raised, one individual gave 45,000 fr. A public collection has been made at Geneva. On the 18th of May there was to be a grand concert of vocal and instrumental music in the Dutch Reformed Church, at Schidam, for the benefit of the Greeks.

The Paris papers state that Lord Cochrane had quitted Brussels for Greece.

A letter from Tjieste of the 7th of May, mentions that a vesssel had just arrived at that port from Alexandria, which announced that, in the course of the month of March, a Greek squadron disembarked at a short distance from Bairut in Syria, and seized about three millions of piastres.—It would have made a similar attempt at Cyprus, but was prevented by adverse winds.

Extract of a private letter of the 1st of May, from Bucharest:—"Our Hospodar has delivered to the Seraskier 200,000 kilos of corn, which is destined for victualling the Turkish fortress on the Danube."

"Ancona, May 8.—What melancholy and afflicting news! I hear on my arrival at Ancona that Missolonghi no longer exists! I am overwhelmed, annihilated! I arrived full of hope, and find that all is over! That population of heroes is no more. The following are the particulars, too positive facts, which I have been able to collect:—

"On the 15th of April the Greek fleet had an engagement with the Turkish squadron. The combat was terrible; the Greeks had the advantage; yet it was not so decisive as to enable them entirely to drive away the Turks, and throw provision into Missolonghi. Miaulis therefore waited for fresh divisions to renew the combat. Ibrahim, wearied out by so many fruitless attacks, in which he had sustained such severe losses, directed all his attention to prevent the arrival of supplies sent in small vesseles from Zante.

"On the 16th, all the communications were cut off by means of rafts, and flat-bottomed boats, armed with heavy artillery. From that time the provisions which were at Petala and Porto Sore could not arrive; the besieged, who maintained themselves only by means of a few supplies which they daily received, began to be in the most deplorable situation. On the 17th and 18th, several women, children and old men died of hunger. On the 19th the evil increased. Notwithstanding the horrors of this situation, nobody thought of surrendering, all still placed their hopes on the fleet; but every one prepared to sacrifice his life. Several parts of the town were selected to receive the women, the children, and the aged, and every preparation was made to blow up the place. On the 21st and 22d, no prayers were performed, several parts of the town were undermined, and the inhabitants determined that all those who should not be able to make a sally, as well as the wounded, the women, and children, should bury themselves by springing the mines.

"On the 21st and 22d, Miaulis again attacked the Turkish fleet, but what could a number of little vessels do against 6 ships of the line, 10 frigates, and 90 other vessels which had the advantage of the wind? All their efforts were useless; it was impossible to get a vessel laden with provisions into the town, and the Greek fleet in vain lost its best vessels, exposed to the fire of the large Turkish men of war. The unfortnate besieged, seeing their last hopes vanish, thought only of executing their heroic project. Every thing was prepared for the sacrifice; the women and children were placed over the mines. Somp of the most intrepid old men promised to set fire to the mines the moment the signal should be given. The men who are still able to carry arms resolved to make a sally, to force their way through Ibrahim's army, to join their brethren, and revenge, if possible, the women and children whom they abandoned to death. About 2,000 attempted to execute this design, 130 or 140 men remained in the town, and retired into a house, which they converted into a fortress.

"On the 23d in the evening their departure took place, and at the same moment the frightful volcano blew up the population, which was reduced to 6,000 souls. The Turks, who knew the project of the unhappy besieged, made a very great resistance to the sally of the Greeks. A dreadful carnage took place, and at least the half of the sacred battalion perished. It is hoped, however, that about 700 or 800 may have gained the mountains. On the following day the heroic town and its inhabitants no longer existed. The Turks on entering the town found only ruins and dead bodies: however, the 130 men who had fortified themselves in the house, defended themselves the whole day, making a great carnage of the Egyptians. At length, exhausted by fatigue and want of food, they blew themselves up at the moment when the Turks were going to take them.

"Almost every week, and since the 5th of April every day English vessels entered Missolonghi. Sir F. Adam, before his departure for London, had interposed between the town and Ibrahim, and exerted all his efforts, as a private individual, to bring about a capitulation. The inhabitants of Missolonghi had consented to leave the town with their arms, baggage, &c. and with Drums beating. Ibrahim refused; he promised that property should be respected, and their lives spared, but he insisted that the whole garrison should be prisoners of war. Our heroes indignantly refused, and declared they would blow themselves up. The English, seeing that Missolonghi was not tenable, and that it was impossible for the Greeks to throw in supplies, made the Greatest efforts to induce Missolonghi to surrender; but all was in vain," Accounts from Constantinople, dated the 20th of April, state, that the Reis Effendi had replied by a formal refusal to the proposals of Mr. Stratford Canning in favor of the Greeks. Private letters add that the English Ambassador, on his return from his conference on this subject with the Reis Effendi, had been insulted by the Turkish populace, who had collected in the streets. As for M. Minziscky it is considered as certain that in a case of formal refusal, in answer to the ultimatum, presented to him, he will quit Constantinople one day after the expiration of the six weeks' delay given to the Porte. The Divan will hardly come to a decitive resolution before that time.

SPAIN.

The latest dates from Madrid are of the 12th of May. From a letter of the 11th, we extract the following:—

"Our Cabinet had refused, upon different pretexts, to recognise the Regency of Portugal. This refusal appears to have been the cause of the movement of the Portuguese troops, which, under the denomination of Sanitary Cordon, were sent into the province of Alemtejo, which skirts the Spanish territory. Through the combined efforts of the Portuguese and British Ambassadors, however, all obstacles have been removed, and the regency of Portugal solemly recognized by our Government. Nevertheless, a coolness prevails in the diplomatic relations of the two countries, which proceeds from the efforts of our Cabinet to induce the Infant Don Miguel to Madrid. At this moment, when it was believed that a moderate system was established, at least for a time, an order from the King has been communicated to M. Rocacho, Director General of Police, enjoining him to send out of Madrid, to a distance of at least twenty leagues, all the persons included in the decree issued at Port Santa Maria, on the 1st of October, 1823. The number that, in pursuance of this order, will be compelled to quit the capital is computed at 25,000. Mr. Rocacho, instead of prescribing measures for the execution of this order, set out immediately for Aranjuez, to make a representation against it to the King, and since his departure a crowd has constantly surrounded the police office under the utmost anxiety to learn whether his Majesty has been induced to abandon so disastrous a measure. Letters from Andalusia represent in most deplorable colors, the wretchedness which prevails in that province, and particularly in that part called the kingdom of John. In the town of John a number of carts go through the streets every morning to pick up the bodies of those who have died of famine upon the highway or in the houses. By letters from Seville we learn that the inhabitants of Marchena, driven to despair by excise officers, came to a determination to pay no duties. A few days ago they took arms and put the officers to flight. The entrance of the town was then open to every body, and a good stock of provisions was soon brought in. The officers, however, have since returned, accompanied by troops to protect them."

PRUSSIA.

The following intelligence is given in the German papers, on the commercial state of Prussia:—"After the late storms a dead calm now prevails on our Exchange. The distrust which had seized the commercial world begins to vanish in real transactions for the sale of merchandize; but the dealings in the funds are still very limited. Persons well acquainted with the subject, ascribe this not to the uncertainty of political relations, but rather to the scarcity of ready money, which has been caused in a great degree by the large remittances to England. An amicable arrangement has already been concluded and carried into execution with the creditors of the house of Riechenback and Meixner, here at Berlin. In Liepsig too, where M. Riechenback meets with great sympathy, the arrangement has also proceeded so far, that it is confidently hoped that the house will be saved. It appears that the fall of this celebrated house was not owing, as was at first stated, to extravagant speculations in the funds by the partner here, but chiefley to the fall of several English houses. The situation of our landowners becomes daily worse, though the Government does its utmost to relieve them. They not only obtain considerable loans on deposits of wool, but the Minister of Finance issued, at the end of last year, two rescripts in their favor, which have been wholly unnoticed in foreign countries.—By the first they obtain a considerable drawback (or rather bounty) on all brandy which they sell out of the kingdom. By the second they are credited to the amount of 600 dollars annually of their taxes on deposits of the brandy they have distilled."

TURKEY.

The British ambassador (Mr. Canning) was received by the Grand Vizier with great pomp. The presents made to him and his suite, in pursuance of the Turkish etiquette, were of considerable value. The intelligence from Constantinople does not state the precise effect of the interviews of Mr. Canning with the Turkish ministers.

LISBON.

Private letters from Lisbon state that a great Panic has been excited in Lisbon in consequence of the bank having suspended its cash payments as well as its usual discounts of Treasury bills.

GERMANY.

The Leipsic fair, which is the great resort of traders from all parts of Europe, has been more brisk than might have been expected. German woolens and English cottons have sold very briskly.

SUMMARY.

We had yesterday the pride and pleasure of announcing the splendid donation of His Majesty to the distressed weavers of Dublin.—George the Fourth posseses certainly the most munificent and princely disposition of any Monarch existing. In the week that has just expired, he bestowed five hundred pounds on seven manufacturers, two hundred and ten pounds on the literary fund for the relief of distressed authors, and one hundred guineas each to benevolent institutions in London, and his subscriptions for the artizans since the distresses were first announced in Spitalfields, now amount altogether to seven thousand seven hundred pounds.—Freemans' Journal.

His Majesty has sent £1000 to the relief of the Manufacturers at Glasgow, £500 to those of Paisley, and a like sum to the Mechanics of Dublin, for all of whose subscriptions are in progress throughout the British Empire.

The Right Hon. Mr. Freemantle is to be the new Treasurer of the Household, and Mr. William Yates Peel succeeds Mr. Freemantle at the India Board.

The sale of the late Lord Radstock's pictures, realized nearly £34,000.

Returns have been printed by order of the House of Commons, showing the number of officers of the army of each rank on full and half pay, respectively on the 25th of March 1822 and 1826; the general result is as follows:—

Number of officers on full pay	1822 5,379	1826 5,173
On half-pay	2,342	7,666

The estimated charge of army half-pay was, in 1822, £758,821, and in 1826, £771,538, being on an average only about £93 per annum, or rather more than 5s. a day each unemployed officer.

A plan is said to be in agitation for appointing Lords Lieutenants of the different counties in Ireland, one condition of the appointment being, that the persons holding it shall actually reside not less than six months in every year within his county.—Dublin paper.

Important Discovery.—One of the greatest discoveries yet made in navigation has transpired, and the Patent has been abandoned in consequence of the technicalities of the Patent Laws. Three fourths of the fuel now used in steam navigation, will be saved. The vapour of quicksilver is substituted for steam with similar machinery, and a few precautions to prevent any waste of the metal by a pipe on the safety valve. The bottom of the boiler, which is very small and strong, as compared with that now in use for producing steam, is conical, and the termination of the cone is in contact with the burning coals which surround it.—Their heat is communicated almost instantaneously to the quicksilver in the boiler, throwing it into vapour at the temperature of 656 deg. Fahrenheit. Its elasticity and power can be indefinitely increased by heat, and the greater the elasticity produced, the greater the vacuum in the cylinder on opening the valve communicating with the well. The saving of stowage will be very considerable, and a ton of quicksilver will be sufficient for propelling a vessel to India and back again with 140 horse power.

A numerous squadron of the Yacht Club, under the command of Lord Yarborough in his new splendid vessel, are to cruise in the Mediterranean during the ensuing summer.

It is understood that it is in contemplation to place a statue, as a national monument, to the memory of the great circumnavigator Cook, in the Hall at the Greenwich Hospital—the execution to be confided to Chantrey.

The Marquis of Salisbury and Lord Beresford, as directors of the late fancy ball at Covent-Garden Theatre, have paid £5000 to the committee for the relief of the Spitalfields weavers, being the amount of the receipts on that occasion.

We can positively state (says the Leeds Intelligencer) that the publishers paid down £8,000 for the copy-right, before they got possession of a single sheet of Woodstock. The original autograph MS. copies of the former, Waverly Novels and Romances, presented to Mr. Constable of Edinburgh, by the author, as the works appeared, and in their splendid morocco bindings, will shortly be disposed of among that gentleman's effects.

On the 8th May, a public meeting was held at York, for the purpose of promoting a subscription for the relief of the suffering part of the community. The Lord Mayor presided, and, at the close of the meeting, the subscription lists were handed round, when, in five minutes, the sum contributed amounted to between £15,000 and 16,000.

The cause of the Greeks is gaining ground in Europe, and the German papers state that in the provinces, considerable sums have been raised by subscriptions and donations. In Prussia, too, there is a general feeling in favor of Greece, and the efforts to serve that country seem not only to be tolerated, but even countenanced by the highest authorities.

We learn that the great house in which David Parish, (well known in this country) was a partner, has failed, and that subsequently Mr Parish was drowned in the Danube.

In order to assist the Silk Trade, many of the Candidates for Parliament, at the approaching Election, have resolved to distribute silk handkerchiefs among their supporters.—Should this become general, it will occasion the expenditure of several hundred thousand pounds in this branch alone.

There is a strong opposition in the House of Lords against the importation of foreign grain. At its head are the Duke of York, Beaufort and Northumberland, and the Marquisses of Salisbury and Hertford.

The Princess Leopold had given a grand entertainment at Marlborough house, to a party of 600 fashionables. The Courier speaks thus of this display:—"The dresses of the ladies were extremely splendid, being of the richest silks and satins, with lace or gauze net over them. The prevailing colours were pink or geranium. Large dress hats, (chiefly white,) were very prevalent, with a profusion of feathers and diamonds in them.—The Duchess of Gloucester's dress was of rich white satin, crepe lisse over it; her hair was ornamented with a profusion of rich diamonds. The Princess Augusta wore a blue silk dress, with a white dress hat, and a profusion of diamonds and feathers. The Duchess of Kent's dress was a rich striped white silk; her Royal Highness's hair was ornamented with diamonds. The Duchess of Clarence's dress was a white satin, with a white lace dress over it; headdress, diamonds and flowers. The Princess Feodor's dress was of rich white satin. Among the company were most of the Foreign Ambassadors and Ministers, the Archbishop of York, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, the Secretary at War, the Vice Chancellor, Prince Esterhazy, Prince Polignac, the President of the Royal Academy, &c.

The unrolling, deciphering and printing of the Herculaneum MSS. is proceeding with more diligence than heretofore, and the following are in the press, and nearly ready for publication:—Two Treatises on Rhetoric and one on Ethics, by Philodemus; two on Nature, by Epicurus; one by Chrysippus, on Providence. These will be succeeded by one of Camiscus, one of Polistratus, and one of Epicurus. It is not a little remarkable that the celebrated treatise on Politics, always attributed to Aristotle, is ascribed by Philodemus to Theophrastus.

The Pope has issued a new bull against all secret societies, and particularly against the Freemasons.

Grand Ball.—The number of tickets sold for the Grand Ball for the relief of the Spitalfield weavers, was 4800, and the clear profit was about £4,000.—Most of the Royal Family were present.

The Oriental Spectator of the 5th April, announces that Sir Hudson Lowe had quitted Smyrna on board an English Brig, bound for Alexandria, from whence he intended to proceed by the Red Sea to the East Indies. The town of Norkoping, in Sweden was nearly destroyed by fire on the 28th April. By this lamentable Catastrophe 1,600 persons are left without a home.

The Emperor Nicholas has issued a manifesto, announcing that his Coronation will take place in June. Two hotels have been hired at Moscow at the rate of £2000 per month for the British and French Ambassadors.

The 50th regiment, which had entered upon its eight year of service in Jamaica, has lately received orders to return to England, where this respectable corps expect to be quartered in a short time from the Depot at the Regiment, three hundred and fifty strong, under the command of Major Anderson, has its head-quarters, consisting of three companies, in Drogheda, and the fourth company in Dunkalk.

Died at Sierra Leone, Major General Turner. He entered the service on the 21st October, 1795, as an Ensign in the second regiment of foot; obtained, on the 18th of October, 1797, a Lieutenancy in the same Corps, and was promoted on the 8th June, 1803, to a Company in the Royal African Corps. While serving with his Regiment in Ireland, as a Lieutenant, General Turner took Napper Tandy, (for whose apprehension a reward was offered) prisoner, but refusing to accept the reward, the government immediately presented him with a Captain's commission in the Royal African Corps. He lost his arm while serving in the Portuguese Army, at the siege of Badajoz, and his valuable life, on the 7th of March, 1826, in the arduous and zealous discharge of his duty to his country.

On Tuesday, the 20th instant, an Address was presented to the L Bishop of Quebec, by a deputation from the Clergy of Upper Canada, headed by the Archdeadon of York.

MY LORD,

With animating prospects arising from the knowledge we possess of your Lordship's character, from your zeal and abilities, from the support of a faithful and obedient Clergy, and above all from the aid and influence of the Divine Spirit, promised by our Lord and Master Jesus Christ, we are encouraged to hope and to pray, for a wider and further extension of the Catholic Church, and the consequent felicity of all Christ's faithful and obedient disciples.

To the Archdeacons and the Clergy of the Archdeaconry of York, Upper Canada.

Mr. Archdeacon and Reverend Clergy,

Since my return to Canada I have experienced many things to encourage me in my new and arduous office, the reception I have had from my Reverend Brethren of the Clergy stands foremost in the number, and I value his proof of your esteem very particularly.

To fulfil, to the best of my ability, the intentions of our gracious Sovereign, who has been pleased to nominate me to the superintendance of the Church in this Diocese, and to meet the hopes and wishes of the Clergy, shall ever be my earnest desire and endeavour, and my prayer is, that grace may be given to me to bring the same to good effect.

The distinguished talents, and unfeigned piety of my excellent predecessor, cannot fail to endear his memory to us all: and the important services, which he conferred upon the Church, affords a proof in themselves that his exertions were prospered from above.

Trusting in the assurance of our blessed Lord (and He is faithful that promised,) that he would be with his Church unto the end of the world; and happy in the support of a zealous Clergy, I sincerely join in your aspirations of prayer for the divine blessing, and implore the aid of God's holy spirit upon our united efforts.

Quebec, 29th June, 1826.

Major York, A. D. C. to his Excellency Sir James Kempt, with Major Perceval and Captain Power, of the Rifle Brigade, arrived yesterday, on a tour from Halifax. His Majesty's ship Menia, Captain Stewart, sailed thence, for this port, on the 3d inst. her arrival may therefore be almost hourly expected. We understand that his Lordship the Governor in Chief will pay his intended visit to Nova-Scotia before he returns to Sorel.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

Extract of a Letter dated Drummonville, 24th June, 1826.

"We have undergone all the horrors and sufferings of the Maramichi settlers, except loss of lives. On Wednesday, fire was reported to be in the woods, two miles above the village, in the evening the sound of the Tocsin called us to the Roman Catholic Church, the fire having come within a few hundred yards of it; a change of wind, however, allowed us to return to our homes, with the hopes of security. On Thursday morning the wind springing up, we were again alarmed, and this time it was to witness the burning of every house in the town, except three, which, with the Churches were saved; thirty buildings, with all the fences, were consumed in less than two hours. Scarcely a Merchant lost a house and a large building in the village, but his dwelling has escaped, and affords shelter to some of the sufferers. The fire is still round his farm, but some rain having fallen the apprehension of further danger is lessened. The Episcopal Church was three times on fire. Five hundred stand of arms deposited here for the use of the malitia have been destroyed."

The passengers, 120 in number, on board of the Nassau, Kenny, from Ireland, for this port, wrecked on Sable Island, have all been saved except seven. More than 90 arrived on the 3d inst. at Halifax; they were very much distressed, and subscriptions were generously commenced by the merchants of Halifax for their relief.—Mercury.

The Hon. Mr. Chief Justice Sewell and his family were passengers in the Roxburgh Castle, Denny, which sailed lately for London. The Quebec bar, we understand, unite in regretting Mr. Sewell's absence from the bench.—Ib.

YORK, U. C. SATURDAY, JULY 8, 1826.

By late arrivals from England, we receive the intelligence of the fall of Missolonghi.

This information is communicated in a Despatch, from the Lord Commissioner of the Ionian Islands, to the Foreign Minister.

The fate of this important Fortress is then decided, but though it has fallen, the heroism displayed by the Greeks in its defence, and the steady valour they have exhibited throughout the desperate struggle, in which they are engaged, may, besides exciting admiration of their bravery, serve to draw the attention of the world, to the sufferings they have so nobly endured, in the attempt to rescue their country, from a merciless tyranny.

The sympathy of Europe if generally excited on their behalf, would soon furnish them with those means, of which they have hitherto, in a great measure been destitute, and which would enable them to rid themselves, and their country, of the enemy. In various parts of Europe, it is true, sums of money have been raised by subscription, and sent to their aid—this mode, however, has been but occasional, and it may be easily supposed, in no respect proportionate to their wants.

It is reported that the Hon. Mr. Stratford Canning had been insulted in the streets of Constantinople. Should this be true, we should suppose that an insult offered to the Nation, in the person of its Ambassador, would be speedily resented. The success of the Turks in the capture of Missolonghi, may induce them to listen with less attention, to the mediatory efforts which appear to be made, to bring the war to a termination, but should their barbarous expressions of joy, on the occasion, lead them to forget the respect which is due, to the Ambassador of a great, and powerful Nation, they may have cause to repent it.

The Russian Consul, it is also said, had not escaped their resentment, and the most brutal conduct had been exhibited towards him. The Janisaries proceeded to his house, and threw into the windows, the heads and ears of several of the unfortunate Greeks who had fallen in battle.

The disturbances in England had altogether subsided, and trade was improving. Tranquility was again happily restored.

Opening of the Burlington Canal.—This ceremony took place on Saturday 1st instant, and the novelty of such a thing in U. Canada, attracted a number of people, from different parts of the country.

The Gore Militia were called out, and furnished a Guard of Honour, which received His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor. The Band of the 70th Regiment was also in attendance.

His Excellency with the Canal Commissioners in a Barge, passed through the Canal uniting the waters of Ontario with the Burlington Lake. Two schooners then passed through the Canal.

His Excellency afterwards proceeded in company with the Commissioners to Burlington Heights, where he was met by the Magistracy and inhabitants of the District of Gore, who presented His Excellency with a most loyal and dutiful Address. The Canal Commissioners also presented His Excellency with an Address on the occasion. The Addresses and answers will be seen in this day's Gazette,

His Honor Mr. Justice Boulton, arrived in town last week from England, via New York. His Honor came passenger in the ship Brighton to the latter place, and we are happy to state that his health appears much improved after his journey.

We have inserted in this day's paper a Communication from Mr. Samson of Belleville, and most fully concur in the opinion, that the writer of the Pamphlet in question, has as Mr. Samson observes, "in a great measure defeated his own object." The want of candour, in withholding "fair and general information," on the subject, by taking Bath and Belleville two inconsiderable Villages where the Congregations are small," and not saying "a word of York or Kingston, and many other places where the Congregations are numerous and respectable," must be pronounced "an unfaithful statement" by every person; and we repeat, that by this time we think the author of the Pamphlet himself is heartily ashamed of it; at least, if he has any compunction whatever, he ought to be.

Whether the perversion of Mr. Samsons language, so far as his "Letter differs from the account given in the Pamphlet," in stating 16 to be the "total number that partook of the Holy Sacrament in the course of a year" at Belleville, instead of that being "the number of communicants ordinarily assembled," took its rise with the "Bath Correspondent" in supplying the information to "A Protestant of the Church of Scotland," or with that worthy Pamphleteer himself, they alone can explain. The difference is certainly a very great one. If it has its origin with the Bath Correspondent, his zeal for the "Bothwell Brig side of the question" has caused him wilfully to misstate facts, without any excuse for so doing. If with the writer of the Pamphlet, how does he suppose, the rest of his Letter will be received by the Noble Lord to whom it is addressed, when an instance of such utter perversion is pointed out to him.

A very passive writer in the Kingston Chronicle, has now "the other side" of the question fully before him, of which we can easily believe what is his simplicity he has told us, he "did not wish to bear any thing about." The information given by the Bath Correspondent, (we do not know who he is, perhaps it may be this same passive Gentleman himself) if correctly transcribed in the Letter to Lord Liverpool, has certainly led the writer of it, to state some things not exactly correct. In this case he has fallen into error, as we before said by "giving too implicit credence to the information of his Correspondent."

If on the other hand, that information has been incorrectly transcribed, and wrested to serve an unworthy purpose, the Bath Correspondent, whoever he is, should be as much ashamed of such "unmanful statements," and the comparisons drawn from them, as are his friends. If he is not we pity him, and can assure him, that a departure from truth, such as the Letter writer has been guilty of in his Pamphlet, will never "suit the palates of the Upper Canadians."

We also assure the mild, factious and non residing writer in the Chronicle, that notwithstanding his attempt to draw attention from the question, we for our parts, shall continue to resist the attacks of those who would by "personality and invective"—by the misrepresentation of some, and the concealment of other facts, endeavour to bring into contempt and disrepute, a body of men, so highly respectable, and exemplary, as are the Clergy of the Established Church of England, in Canada—that we shall consider it our duty at all times, to point out the malice, and expose the absurdities, contained in such unworthy productions, as the Pamphlet of "A Protestant of the Church of Scotland."

During the progress of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, through the Eastern parts of the Proviace, the last winter, after having prorogued the Parliament, it must no doubt have afforded gratification to His Excellency, to learn from the loyal and affectionate addresses of the people, which were presented to him, wherever he went, that their attachment to British Laws, and principles, was unimpaired, and their confidence in His Government, unabated. At that time, His Excellency had not an opportunity, of visiting the more Western Districts, of the Province. On the late occasion, of His Excellency's presence at Burlington, at the opening of the first Canal in Upper Canada, the people of the District of Gore have had an opportunity, in common with their fellow subjects, of expressing their sincere attachment to their Sovereign, and the glorious Constitution we enjoy—as well as their entire confidence in His Excellency's administration, and their personal respect towards him

The spontaneous expression of such sentiments, emanating from the people, wherever they have had an opportunity of meeting His Excellency, are the best and most honorable testimonials, that in the excellent language of the Gore Address, "His Excellency is surrounded by a faithful and loyal people, who know how to appreciate duly, the civil and political advantages, of their present Constitution."

A Letter just received informs us, that the new Grist Mill, near the mouth of the River Gananoque, in the Midland District, lately erected by those enterprising individuals, Messrs. Charles & John McDonald, is now in full opera ion, with four run of stones, and that one hundred and ten barrels of Flour, of superior quality, have been manufactured by them in the course of twenty-four hours.—The great exertions made by Messrs. McDonalds, to improve the character of this Staple article of our Country, when carried to Market, is highly creditable to them, and we sincerely hope their laudable endeavors will meet with every encouragement and success.

We congratulate the inhabitants of the District of Gore, on the approaching importance which their District is likely to assume in this Province, on the completion of the first work of the kind, among us, the Burlington Canal.

The scenery of the mountain Lake Burlington, and the surrounding country, memorable in the History of this Province, is well worthy of the traveller's attention, and the advantage which the Canal will now afford of a safe and commodious harbor, together with the increasing facilities of conveyance, which are daily augmenting among us, will no doubt afford additional inducements to many, to visit so interesting a part of the country.

The advantages in a commercial point of view, will also be very great, and the enterprise, industry, and sincere attachment of the inhabitants of the District of Gore, to the Government under which they live, afford the most flattering hopes of their advancement in wealth and prosperity.

COMMUNICATION.

To the Editor of the U. E. Loyalist.

SIR—

Having observed in the Loyalist of the 24th inst. that the Reverend Mr. Campbell, Episcopal Missionary of Belleville, had thought it incumbent on him, in order to show the total disregard to truth which pervades an extract from a Pamphlet, entitled "A Letter to Lord Liverpool, &c." to allude to a conversation which took place between him and me, relative to that publication, I am most unwillingly compelled to request that you will give publication to the following statement of facts.

On the 31st of March or 1st of April last, I received a letter from a friend, part of which Mr. Campbell has published, nearly verbatim, requesting I would furnish him with the number of the Episcopal Congregation of Belleville, and the number of Communicants.

Being upon intimate terms with my correspondent, and not looking upon the affair in a very serious light, I replied as follows:

"From my own observation, and the partial information I have been able to obtain since the receipt of yours, I reply: that in Belleville the Congregation, or rather those who profess to belong to the Church of England, without attending more than twice or thrice a year, are about fifty. Of the above fifty, we have seldom more than thirty, and often less than twenty in Church. On Good Friday, Mr. Campbell preached to a congregation of nine, one of whom came to hire a pew, and three were Presbyterians. The number of communicants generally about sixteen, I am told."

At the time that the letter, from which this extract is taken, was written, it certainly never entered into my mind, nor do I think, that the information it contained, was requested from any unworthy motive (for if I had thought so, I can truly affirm, that my respect, for the members of the Episcopal Church generally, would have determined me against supplying it) neither did nor could I suppose, that even if the answer to the inquiries of my friend were published, that they would be with just cause of offence to any one—believing as I did, and still do, that they were substantially correct.

That Mr. Campbell himself will admit this, with respect to the number of communicants, I am inclined to believe, as he will see that my letter so far differs from the account given in the Pamphlet, that it refers to the number of communicants ordinarily assembled, and not to the number that partook of the Holy Sacrament, in the course of a year.

If I have erred in numbers, it is from information, upon which I had every reason to rely, and which I have no doubt, was perfectly correct.

Leaving this part of the subject to which I have no desire to recur, unless further circumstances should require it, I at once proceed to that part of Mr. Campbell's letter which most claims my particular notice—and I here beg (though reluctantly) to premise, that little evidence of either his taste or his generosity is evinced by the imputation he seems to cast upon me, of being a hypocrite and a spy. Such aspersions, from such a quarter, I must and can honorably consoling myself with the full belief, that these unworthy sentiments, would never have been uttered by a man, who had a true knowledge of my character.

Mr. Campbell says that I acknowledged, that "my statement was uncandid, and that I was ashamed of it, and apologized to him by saying, that I did not think the Pamphlet would ever be published in this country, being chiefly intended for the eye of Lord Liverpool.

The obvious inference to be drawn from this statement, is, that I had no objection to utter a falsehood, provided that it could be managed so that I should escape detection. In charity to Mr. Campbell, I would fain hope, that he misunderstood the expressions used by me, on the occasion referred to. To say that he has given them incorrectly, is not enough. I positively deny that I used any words that could justify him in supposing that I had made the disgraceful admission he imputes to me. The following is the true statement of the conversation that passed between us.

When I understood that my information had been published, I hastened to explain to Mr. Campbell my motives in giving it, and the circumstances under which it had been given.

After my explanation, he seemed somewhat appeased, so far as I was concerned, but imputed a good deal of blame to my "Bath correspondent." I told Mr. Campbell that I was sure my friend was actuated by no malicious or invidious motives; and that he was impressed with a belief that the Pamphlet would never be published in this country, being chiefly intended for the eye of Lord Liverpool.

Mr. Campbell remarked that such distorted statements should not remain unanswered, as the world would believe them, if uncontradicted. I replied, that in my opinion he had nothing to fear: for I thought the Author of the Pamphlet had, in a great measure, defeated his own object. That as it seemed to be the writer's wish to show Lord Liverpool that Presbyterianism would be more favoured in Upper Canada than Episcopacy, he ought to have given his Lordship fair and general information. Instead of which, I continued, he has taken Bath and Belleville, two inconsiderable villages, where the congregations are small, but he has said not a word of York or Kingston, and many other places where the congregations are numerous and respectable. This, I pronounced an uncandid statement, and said I was ashamed of it. I always maintained to Mr. Campbell that I believed my information was correct, in every particular.

Having given this explanation to the public, I shall leave the subject where it is, without using the advantage to retaliate, which Mr. Campbell has afforded me.

J. H. SAMSON.

Kingston, 29th June, 1826.

P. S.—It may be inquired, as Mr. Campbell has named no one, why I should thus thrust myself before the public. I beg leave therefore to remark, that I have made no secret of the affair; and as I believe Mr. Campbell has himself informed no inconsiderable number, it is quite as well known, at least in this District, to whom he makes such charitable allusions, as if he had given my name in full. GEORGE the FOURTH by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:

To all to whom these Presents shall come

GREETING:

WHEREAS for the more effectual preventing the recurrence of such abuses as have heretofore prevailed in the prosecution of the Trade in Timber in the parts of this Province bordering upon the River Ottawa, and to the end that the Public Interest may be more certainly advanced, the Commerce in that important article of exportation the better regulated, and more equal Justice observed with regard to all Our Subjects desirous of participating in the said Trade. We have thought fit to order and direct, and We do hereby order and direct that, until Our pleasure herein shall be further made known, it shall and may be lawful for all Our Subjects inhabiting Our Provinces of Upper or Lower Canada, freely to enter into Our Woods and Forests in such parts of Our said Province of Upper Canada, situate along the Banks of the River Ottawa, or upon the Banks of the Waters running into the said River and within a convenient distance from the same, as shall not have been Surveyed and divided into Concessions and Lots, and to Cut and carry away such Oak and Pine Timber as may be fit for the purposes of Exportation.

Upon Saw Logs of the proper length to be cut into Deals, Two Pence upon each Log—and upon every Thousand of Standard Staves, Four Pounds One Shilling and Eight Pence—which Duties are to be paid in lawful money of Our said Province of Upper Canada, and to be levied and received by such Person as We shall for that purpose Appoint by Commission under the Great Seal of Our said Province; and at such place or places upon the said River Ottawa as We shall declare through Our Officer to be appointed as aforesaid, to be most fitting and convenient.

Provided always, That for the better preventing the said Timber being Cut before it has attained a suitable growth, double the amount of Duty herein specified shall be charged upon all such Timber as shall not Square more than Eight Inches. And it is our further Will and Pleasure, that all such Timber or Wood which shall have been Cut as aforesaid upon Our Unconceded Lands in Upper Canada, upon which the Duties shall not be paid, when exacted by Our Officer so to be appointed as aforesaid, shall be seized and detained to Our Use as forfeited.

Provided always nevertheless, That all Persons, properly authorized by or under Our Licence granted in manner heretofore, used to Cut Timber in Our said Province shall be permitted to carry away and export the same, to such extent as their Licences may specify, without the exaction of any rate hereby imposed, and that all such Timber as may have been heretofore Cut upon Our Unconceded Lands as aforesaid, without Our express Licence, may upon payment of the Duties hereby specified, be suffered to pass through Our said Province of Upper Canada.

NOTICE is hereby given, by Order of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, in Council, that in future, the First Wednesday in every Month will be a regular Council day,

JOHN SMALL.

No. 9 1. f. C. E. C.

In Council 21st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepard in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District.

2 All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and appropriated for public purposes, will be offerd for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3 All person proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts on payment of a fee of 2s. 6d.

4 All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5 The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement—A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6 On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which

given them incorrectly, is not enough. I positively deny that I used any words that could justify him in supposing that I had made the disgraceful admission he imputes to me. The following is the true statement of the conversation that passed between us.

When I understood that my information had been published, I hastened to explain to Mr. Campbell my motives in giving it, and the circumstances under which it had been given.

After my explanation, he seemed somewhat appeased, so far as I was concerned, but imputed a good deal of blame to my "Bath correspondent." I told Mr. Campbell that I was sure my friend was actuated by no malicious or invidious motives; and that he was impressed with a belief that the Pamphlet would never be published in this country, being chiefly intended for the eye of Lord Liverpool.

Mr. Campbell remarked that such distorted statements should not remain unanswered, as the world would believe them, if uncontradicted. I replied, that in my opinion he had nothing to fear; for I thought the Author of the Pamphlet had, in a great measure, defeated his own object. That as it seemed to be the writer's wish to show Lord Liverpool that Presbyterianism would be more favoured in Upper Canada than Episcopacy, he ought to have given his Lordship fair and general information. Instead of which, I continued, he has taken Bath and Belleville, two inconsiderable villages, where the congregations are small, but he has said not a word of York or Kingston, and many other places where the congregations are numerous and respectable. That, I pronounced an uncandid statement, and said I was ashamed of it. I always maintained to Mr. Campbell that I believed my information was correct, in every particular.

Having given this explanation to the public, I shall leave the subject where it is, without using the advantage to retaliate, which Mr. Campbell has afforded me.

J. H. SAMSON.

Kingston, 29th June, 1826.

P. S.—It may be inquired, as Mr. Campbell has named no one, why I should thus thrust myself before the public. I beg leave therefore to remark, that I have made no secret of the affair; and as I believe Mr. Campbell has himself informed no inconsiderable number, it is quite as well known, at least in this District, to whom he makes such charitable allusions, as if he had given my name in full. York, 23rd March, 1826 }

NOTICE is hereby given, by ORDER of His EXCELLENCY the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in COUNCIL, that in future, he First Wednesday in every Month will be a regular Council day.

JOHN SMALL.
No. 9 1. f. C. E. C.

In Council 21st November, 1825.

FOR the information of persons arriving in Upper Canada as settlers, the following Summary of the Rules which His Majesty's Government has thought fit to lay down for the future Regulation of Grants of Land in the Province, in conformity to the system which has been recently adopted with respect to other Colonies of His Majesty, has been prepard in conformity to Instructions from Earl Bathurst.

1. A valuation will be forthwith made of the lands throughout the Colony, and average prices will be struck for each District.

2 All the lands in the Colony not hitherto granted, and appropriated for public purposes, will be offerd for sale at the average prices thus fixed.

3 All person proposing to purchase lands must transmit a written application to the Government through the Office of the Surveyor General, in a certain prescribed form, which will be delivered to the party applying, by the Surveyor General, or by an officer to be appointed by him for that purpose, in the several Districts on payment of a fee of 2s. 6d.

4 All correspondence with the Government respecting Grants of Land must take place through the same Office.

5 The purchase money is to be paid by four quarterly, or five annual instalments as the party applying may desire, but in the latter case legal interest shall be charged, and shall be payable annually from the time of making the agreement—A discount of Ten per Cent will be allowed for ready money payments.

6 On payment of the money a grant will be made in fee simple to the purchaser at the expense of the Crown, with the usual reservations of Mines and Minerals, and of White Pine Timber.

7. The largest quantity of Land which will be sold to any Individual, in 10,000 Acres, and when put up to sale, it will be offered in such tracts, not less than 100 Acres, as may be directed. Persons wishing more extensive purchases must apply, in writing, through the Lieutenant Governor in Council, to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, with full explanations of their objects and means.

8. Lands may also be obtained without purchase, but upon different conditions.

9. Persons desirous to acquire Lands without purchasing will make their application to the Government, in writing through the Surveyor General's Office, in a prescribed form, Copies of which will be furnished by the Surveyor General upon payment of 2s. 6d.

10. The largest grant that will be made without purchase is 1200 Acres, the smallest 100 Acres.

11. No grant will be made to any person without purchase, unless the Government is satisfied that the Grantee has both the power, and the intention of expending in the cultivation of Lands a Capital equal to half the estimated value, or, in case the grant do not exceed 200 Acres, that he intends to reside upon, and improve the same.

12. A quit rent of £5 per cent per annum upon the estimated value, will be fixed upon the Land granted without purchase.

13. The quit rent will be redeemable within the first 25 years next following the grant, on payment of a sum equal to twenty times the annual amount of it.

14. Until the expiration of the first seven years next succeeding each grant without purchase, no quit rent will become due upon the Lands comprised in it.

15. Every Grantee without purchase, must, at the expiration of the before mentioned term of seven years, prove to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, that he has expended in the Cultivation and Improvement of his Land a Capital equal to half its value, as that value was estimated at the time of his Grant, or, in case the Grant shall not exceed two hunded Acres, that he has during that time, resided on, and improved his Land—On failure of such proof, his claim to the Land shall be forfeited, and the same may be granted to another applicant. It is to be understood, however, that if at any time within that period the condition of expenditure and cultivation shall have been complied with, the Patent may immediately issue.

16. No additional Grant of Land will be made to any person who has not proved, as last mentioned, the necessary expenditure of Capital on the Lands already Granted to him.

17. Persons receiving a second Grant of Land, without purchase, will become liable to pay a quit rent upon the Lands comprized in such second Grant immediately from the date of it.

18. Persons desirous to receive Grants of Land without purchase, on terms different from those above stated, must lay before the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a full explanation in writing of the circumstances which they may conceive to exempt them from the fair operation of these general Rules.

19. U. E. Loyalists and other persons entitled to gratuitous Grant by the general regulation of His Majesty's Government, are not to be affected by these Rules.

The above Rules to take effect from the first of January 1826.

THE WEE FLOWER.

A bonny wee flower grew green in the wuds,
Like a twink'ling star amang the cluds,
And the langer it keevit the greener it grew,
For 'twas lulled by the winds, and fed by the dew;
O! fresh was the air where it reared its head,
Wi' the radiance and odours its young leaves shed—
When the morning sun rose frae his eastern ha',
This bonny wee flower was the earliest of a'
To open his cups, sealed up wi' the dew,
And spread out his leaves of yellow and blue.

When the winds were still, and the sun rode high,
When the clear mountain stream ran whamplin' by,
When the wee birds sang, and the wildcreatures bee
Was floatin' awa' like a cloud o'er the sea,
This bonny wee flower was blooming unseen,
The sweet child of summer in its rokely green.

And when the night cloud grew dark on the plain,
When the stars were out and the moon in the wane,
When the bird and bee had gane to rest,
And the dews of the night the green earth prest,
This bonny wee flower lay smiling in sleep,
Like a beautiful gem in the dark green deep.

When autumn had come and the summer had passed,
And the sweet leaves were strewn on the whistling blast,
This bonny wee flower grew pallied and bare,
And its wee leaves shrunk in the frozen air;
Wild darnel and nettles sprung green from the ground,
But the rose and the lilies were dying around,
And this bonny wee flower was drooping its head:
The bright morning sun flung its beams on its bed,
But the stars looked out, and the wee flower was dead.

SIGHS.

There is a sigh—that half suppress'd,
Seems scarce to heave the bosom fair;
It rises from the spotless breast,
The first faint dawn of tender care.

There is a sigh—so soft, so sweet,
It breathes not from the lips of woe;
'Tis heard where passion lovers meet,
Whilst yet untold yoing passion's glow.

There is a sigh—short, deep, and strong,
That on the lip of rapture dies;
It flees mild evening's shade along,
When meet the fond consenting eyes.

There is a sigh—that speaks regret,
Yet e'en scarce conscious of its pain;
It tells of bliss remembered yet,
Of bliss that ne'er must wake again.

There is a sigh—that, deeply breathed,
Bespeaks the bosom's secret woe;
It says, the flowers that love had wreathed
Are withered, ne'er again to blow.

There is a sigh—that slowly swells,
Then deeply breathes its load of care;
It speaks, that in that bosom dwells
That last, worst pang—fond love's despair.

THE FAMILY DINNER.

A SKETCH FROM LIFE IN VIENNA.

"I wish you would come and dine with me some time in a friendly way," said, continually to me, a young man whom I used to meet at the Coffee-houses and the Theatres, and who fastened himself upon me in every place, offering me civilities which I did not feel much inclined to accept. He was just such a personage as we see hundreds of every day; and therefore I shall not describe him more particularly, lest my readers should fix upon some one of their acquaintance as the original of the portrait. "You must," said he, "come to my house, and be acquainted with my wife—there are not ten like her in the whole world; and my children too—though I say it who should not say it—such children as mine are real blessings. I must show you how I live. I am the happiest master of a family alive, and a proper example to young men who don't like matrimony. Come and dine with me once. We shall only give you a family dinner; but I will answer for it you will be pleased."

Although I am by no means averse to splendid tables, sumptuous viands, and numerous guests, yet there is a quiet family dinner, particularly nothing which I enjoy more than when invited by an old friend, for the purpose of having a little tranquil conversation. It is refreshing to the mind, to leave for a few hours the tumult of the great world, to be a transient partaker of the unostentatious pleasures of domestic intercourse—and in such circumstances, a glass of old Rheinish tastes better than the Bourdeaux, Saunterne, and Champagne at tables where I hear no conversation but that relating to the opera of yesterday, and see nothing but artificial faces, and still more artificial manners.

I met my above-mentioned friend in the street a few days ago. The moment he saw me he ran up to me, laid hold of arm, and asked me where I was going. "To dinner," was my reply. "Good! good!" he replied; "now I have caught you, I shall not let you go; now I have caught you, I shall not let you go; you must take a family dinner with me. It was in vain that I pleaded a prior invitation as an excuse—my too hospitable friend would not admit of it, and I was obliged to follow. I consoled myself with thinking that I might dine better than I expected, and that my host might really have a pleasant wife, well-behaved children, and a good table.

We reached the house, which was in the suburbs, and ascended to the third story. As we went up stairs we were greeted by the noise of children crying and fighting. "O you hear my my conductor, laughing, "do you hear my little darlings! The poor sweet fellows are hungry, and have been waiting for me." Now thought I, if the little darlings make as much noise during our dinner, I shall have to repent my weakness.

We knocked; a thin, sallow-faced woman opened the door, and on seeing me started back, with marks of no very agreeable surprise. "My dear," said my host, "this is Herr C, my friend, whom I have so often mentioned to you—he his going to take his chance with us to-day of a family dinner." The lady's long visage became still longer at these words; she made a curtsey which resembled a contrition of anger, and drawled out "Happy to see you," in so gloomy a tone, that it sounded very much like "I wish you were hanged." Nothing can be more unpleasant than to feel ourselves unwelcome in houses whither we come against our inclinations. I wished myself ten miles off: but my new acquaintance said, "Now let us leave the mistress to make her preparations," and led me into an adjoining room, to shew me his dwelling. "I have not many apartments," continued he, perfectly self-satisfied, "but every thing is neat and orderly." I was then obliged to stoop to get into a cabinet, which two little dirty brats seemed to have turned topsy-turvy. The floor and furniture were covered with snips of paper, pictures, knives, spoons, and toys of all kinds. "This is the only time my happiness—be a father!" said my host, while he cleared a chair to offer it to me. "Hey, Charles! Louis! come and ask the gentleman how he does." "I sh'a'nt," said Charles, and the father whispered in my ears, "Full of spirit; quite a character.—Come to me directly," continued he to the boy, somewhat more severely. The boys laughed, and remained still. The father went and pulled them towards me by the ears, assuring me all the time of their obedience. "Now Charles, have you learned your lesson? repeat your fable." The boy muttered—

> "I was resolved one day to go,
> To see the wild beast at the show."

and ran off directly to his play. "Very well," said the father; "now it is your turn, Louis. Ah! you shall see the boy's a genius; he says such things, they are quite surprising. Tell me, Louis, what is the greatest wonder in the world?" "A mince-pie!" answered the boy pertly. The father laughed long and loudly. "Did I not tell you so? you did not expect such a witty answer, did you? I shall bring him up to politics."

At last the pale-faced mistress thrust her head in at the door, squeaking out, "Dinner's ready!" and immediately shut the door again with a bang. Dinner, dinner!" bawled the children, and rushed over the room before us. We followed, and the father placed me at table between his two sprouts, telling me they would amuse me in a thousand different ways. A great spaniel immediately began pawing me to beg something of me, and a starling jumped down on the table, and hopped from plate to plate; while the lady handed me a napkin, which would have been white but for the service it seemed to have rendered to more than one predecessor. Mamma helped the soup, which proved too little salted. Papa took notice of this in the following polite remark:—"My Julia is as sparing of her salt in her soup as in her words." Julia was accordingly obliged to rise from table to fetch the salt, which had been forgotten. She excused herself, saying that her servant had been away all day to attending a sick mother. "That's a fib," cried Charles; "we have not had a servant these three weeks." A smart rap on the knuckles with a spoon rewarded his comment—he began to bellow, and would not be quiet till mamma gave a bit of sugar-candy, which he sucked instead of soup. "You must excuse our fare," said the lady; then turning to me, and offering me a dish of vegetables with a fried sausage in it, "I did not know my husband intended bringing a guest home—but he is always playing me such tricks." I coloured up to the eyes. "Hey! what!" said the husband, "O, friends will make allowances; Herr C will, I know, enjoy his family dinner." The lady answered him with a most angry glance.

The family dinner consisted of a thin, watery soup, thickly powdered with saffron, some radishes, and a little bit of butter, so small that the children clamoured in vain for their allowance of it to their bread; next followed beef, in which my eyes looked in vain for fat; then appeared the sourkraut, warmed up for the second time with a single sausage; and at last a dish in which I could discover nothing but sauce. "This is a fricassee-chicken," said my amiable and agreeable host; "my wife has no equal in cooking it." I rejoiced at first in the hopes of getting something I could eat; but after fishing a long time in a sea of liquid, I could only bring up one chicken's drumstick. My host kept urging me to drink, with the assurance that his wine was not strong, but had a very rich flavour, and was perfectly innocent. I took his word readily enough for the last qualification, as the taste led me to suspect that my economical landlady had made two bottles out of one.

My charming little neighbours annoyed me not slightly during dinner. Charles amused himself with kicking my shins under the table; and Louis, with imperturbable coolness, wiped his fingers on my clothes. The catastrophe of the family party at length approached. Charles, in endeavouring to take a bone which his brother was gnawing, knocked down his own plate, and spilled the greasy water, which was substituted for gravy, over my new blue coat. Mamma instead of assisting me, began to bewail her broken plate, and ran after the child to beat him, while Papa began to scold his father; the father rose to appease his wife—the dog howled—Louis grined—Charles screamed—the lady scolded—and the starling quietly perched himself upon my head, and began pecking my hair.

At last my friend resumed his seat, and said laughing:—"This you see, my friend, is my way of life: and I feel myself more happy under my lowly roof than a king in his palace." He asked me if I was accustomed to take coffee after dinner; for though there was none ready, he had a machine which would make it in five minutes. I thanked him, saying that coffee made me ill, that I had taken a most excellent dinner, and was obliged to go.—"Farewell, then," said my friend; "I hope I shall see you again soon. You know the way to my house now—you know my family, and the fashion we live in—as it is to-day, so it is every day; I hope you will come and dine with a family dinner with us." I hardly know what I said in return; but I hastily seized my hat, muttered some compliments, ran out of the door—and shudder still at the recollection of the "Family Dinner."

LONDON, May 2.

Destruction of the Royal George, Indiaman, (of 1200 Tons.)

"Canton, Jan. 1.—Betwixt 4 and 5, A. M, of 25th ult. asleep in my cot, I was suddenly roused by the cry of "Fire" in the gun-room, and leaping out, I rushed to the steerage, where I found the chief, 3d and 6th officers, attempting to force open the grating of the gun-room scuttle, which was locked and covered with a tarpaulin. There was not at this time much smoke, but the smell was dreadfully suffocating, and the crackling of fire was heard distinctly, and the instant the tarpaulin was removed, the smothered flame could be perceived below, through the smoke, which began to issue slowly in dense black volumes. The first impression I felt, led me to hope the mischief would be only partial, and though I imagined considerable damage might be done, the total destruction of our ship never crossed my mind as a possibility. But it soon forced itself upon me. The sudden, rapid, and awful progress of the flames can scarcely be conceived, and it is impossible to be described. They burst forth like a mighty torrent, which gathers strength as it rolls on, spreading desolation, mocking human power, and sweeping before it every resistance. In less than ten minutes from the first alarm, we were driven from the steerage and the poop, and the whole of the afterpart of the ship was in a blaze—naked as we were, we flew upon deck; the whole of the ship's company had previously been roused, and every man at his post, exerting every energy to repel the fury of the devouring element. So rapid were its ravages, that even at this period we had received no assistance, for, although the alarm bell was rung, and the boats Scaleby Castle, and other ships, had put off, with the greatest and most praiseworthy promptitude, they were unable to get along side, until the flames were rushing up the after hatchway, and had burst through the mizen stays. The interval of time which elapsed, just before their arrival, was perhaps the most awful of the whole trying scene. A partial explosion of gunpowder had taken place in the gun-room; the spirit room had burst; the fire was making quick and sure progress between the lower decks, and had seized upon the rigging; and the Hoppo man, in freeing himself from his fastenings, had cut our boats adrift. Thus that we saw them slowly floating down with the tide, leaving us almost without hope of escape or succour, and with the prospect before us of a speedy and terrible destruction. This was an awful moment—it seemed an eternity of time. I cannot describe the feelings of others, indeed I can hardly recall my own; but I can recollect my tongue felt dry, and rattled in my mouth, that I could scarcly articulate as I tried to encourage the men around me, and that I drank greedily from the fire bucket as I handed it along.—Yet even in this moment of despair, no man shrunk from the hopless labour in which he was engaged, but continued to struggle boldly with the resistless element.

It was not yet fifteen minutes since the first alarm, and the boats of the Scaleby Castle, and other ships above us, in the reach, now got alongside; those from below having to row against the strong tide, arrived at a late period; but all of them did whatever could have been expected. The greatest order and regularity was observed by our own men, as well as by the boats' crews which came to our aid. While some were employed in getting powder from the magazine and throwing it overboard, and some in slipping the ship's bridles, others were engaged in protracting by every possible means, the work of total destruction, which was now too apparently without a remedy. At last, about 6, only an hour and a half after the fire was discovered, every effort having been made in vain to subdue the flames, which had now seized on every part of the ship, and advanced so near the magazine as the bulk head of the lazeretto, the danger being eminent, and it was resolved by the Commanding Officer, with the advice of Captain Delafons, who had come on board, to abandon her to her fate, and seek only the safety of the crew. Accordingly, the order being given, the men were regularly into their boats, the last of which had not left the ship 500 yards when she blew up, scattering far and wide her blazing fragments. This second explosion, though it tore up the forecastle, was, however, only partial, and was the magazine, most probably, by three or four barrels of powder, which had been deposited in the magazine were forced to leave on the gundeck, when called to forsake the ship. As she dropped majestically down with the tide, her hull in one complete blaze of fire, and every mast, yard, sail and rope burning, the sight was awfully grand and sublime, but at the same time, to us, heart-breaking. There was a noble ship which had carried us safely so far from home, through so many dangers, which we expected would have conveyed us so soon and safely back again to the shores of Old England, and which so lately claimed not only our praise, but the admiration of all who saw her. There she was dropping helplessly away, piece by piece, into that element over which she had so lately floated in pride and splendor, the prey of another and more terrible one.—Thus affording a sad and melancholy example of the transitory nature of all earthly things. Her bridles had been slipped, as I have mentioned above, with the purpose of leaving her on shore, but that intention having failed, from the rapidity of her destruction, she drifted past the Company's Ship Windsor, at about the distance of a cables' length and at last took the ground, about a mile below her former anchorage, her mainmast still standing. Finally, about 7, A. M. the magazine exploded, completely tearing out her bows; the hull, already consumed to the waters' edge, parted abreast; the foremast and mainmast fell, burnt to a cinder, and one of the finest ships of her class in the whole world, had become a shapeless mass of smoking ruin.

Most providentially, during the whole progress of this awful catastrophe, not a single life was lost; and it was only owing to the rapacity of the Chinese having overcome their fear of death, that human blood was shed towards the final conclusion. Tempted by the hope of plunder, they ventured near the wreck, and were engaged in stripping the copper from her bows, not aware of the powder still remaining in the magazine, which, suddenly exploding, and carrying every thing before it, killed and wounded upwards of twenty.

No one saved a single article out of all they possessed; every thing the ship contained was destroyed even to her papers. Our sails were bent, and sea stores nearly completed. We had 3000 chests of the Company's tea on board, besides private trade, and we were to have dropped down the river in two days, to complete our cargo at Second Bar. No trace of the cause of it has yet been discovered, although the Select Committee, at the request of Captain Timms, have been endeavouring to investigate the matter by the strictest inquiry—all agree that it must have been burning for hours before it was discovered—[he means the tarpaulin was removed, and a current of fresh air supplied, the flame burst forth beyond all human controul. Our ship is totally lost—further than this, we know nothing. Our Captain, at the time of the accident, lay dangerously ill at Canton, and the news of it, as might have been expected, reduced him to the last extremity. For some days little hope was entertained of his recovery, but he is now out of danger."

SUMMARY.

The Liverpool and Manchester rail-road bill passed the House of Lords on Tuesday, without opposition, and on Friday it received the Royal-assent.

In a paper read at the last meeting of the Royal Society of Literature, the Bishop of Salisbury adduced many arguments to show that the Treatise on Christian Doctrine, lately discovered, and published as the work of that great poet.

Liverpool and Manchester Railway.—We are happy to learn that this grand undertaking will be commenced in about two months. It is said that it will require at least three years to complete it.

The royal canal of the Pyrenees, a plan of which has been presented to the French government, is to continue that of Languedoc, from Tolouse to Bayonne. The surveys are all finished, and extend over more than seventy leagues, in the whole of which line there is not a single obstacle of importance. This canal will pass through five fertile departments, the produce of which it will be the means of spreading. A free navigation from one sea to the other, from the Mediterranean to the Western Ocean, will be the immediate consequence of this great undertaking.

Lord Charles Somerset, Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, of whom so much has been said in disparagement, has returned to England and challenged his traducers to bring forward their charges. Before leaving the colony, a public dinner was given to his Excellency by the inhabitants; addresses presented signed by all classes of people, expressive of their esteem for his person and character, and indignation at the conduct of his accusers. The investigation is not to take place before next year.

In consequence of the perfection to which machinery is now brought, a variety of cotton goods sell for a less price than was formerly paid for weaving them.

Joseph Hume, Esq. has most munificently subscribed to the distressed manufacturers one hundred shillings!

Mr. Reynolds, the Dramatist, has been so fortunate as to obtain His Majesty's gracious permission to dedicate to him his forthcoming auto-biography. It will form a complete budget of humorous anecdote; and from the high class of some of the personages who figure in it the perusal will doubtless revive many agreeable recollections of old times in the mind of His Majesty.

It is thought that the common sort of tobacco might be cultivated with success in many parts of England; and such is its prolific nature, that one plant has been known to produce 360,000 seeds.

Sir Thomas Brisbane, with his lady and family, arrived yesterday morning at Greenock, from his late government in New South Wales.—Glasgow, May 19.

A London paper says, that Mr. O'Connell, in his petition to Parliament, declaring the incompetency of Lord Norbury to preside as judge in the Irish courts, in consequence of his falling asleep on the bench, &c. omitted one important fact, namely; that he, Mr. O'Connell, himself, was addressing the court when his lordship was overtaken by his slumbers; thereby overlooking the main cause of the visitation.

Distressed Manufacturers.—The example of the King, in affording timely succour to his distressed subjects, has been followed by the members of the Royal family, nobility and citizens. The papers abound with lists of benefactions. Amusement has united with Charity in the good work, and a full dress fancy ball was held in Covent Garden, on Friday night, under the patronage of the King, the dukes and Duchesses of York, Clerence, Kent, and Sussex, the princesses, and a long list of Duchesses, Marchionesses, Countesses, & Ladies of quality. The tickets were one guinea, and the net proceeds exceeded £3000. The Marchioness of Wellesley took the lead in Dublin in the charity, and patronized a ball; at which the Ladies and Gentlemen were invited to appear in silks of Irish manufacture. The ball room was crowded, and the scene as splendid as the purpose of it was praiseworthy.

Lord Mount-Sanford has abolished the tolls and Customs of Castleren, County of Roscommon, and forgiven his tenants £16-000 arrears.

The Committee on emigration has been busily employed during the season, and has collected a mass of information, which will, we understand, at no distant period be acted upon in regard to the Canadas.

Messrs. Stanley, Wordley and Dennsion the members of the House of Commons, who visited these provinces in the summer of 1824, are of this committee.

An experiment was lately made in the armory of the Tower of London, in which the most intense light ever yet produced by art, was exhibited. It was excited by directing a jet of alcohol, or the flame of a spirit lamp, upon a piece of lime, by the action of a stream of oxygen gas. The light thus produced is calculated as being eighty times more intense than an equal area of light emitted by the cumbustion of an Argand lamp.—Another new steam engine has been projected, in which spirit of wine or aether is substituted for water. The necessity of a boiler is superseded, the liquid being continued in the cylinder, and raised into vapour by the heat of an Argand lamp.

It is not generally known that Captain Maitland, of the Royal Navy (who commanded His Majesty's ship Bellerophon, when Buonaparte surrendered himself,) kept a journal of the events which transpired during Napoleon's residence on board that vessel, between the 24th of May and 8th of August 1815. From various reasons, it has not hitherto been judged advisable to give this interesting document to the world; but, it having lately been seen by Sir Walter Scott, who strongly urged the necessity of its publication, as a memoir of great historical importance, Capt. Maitland has obtained the concurrence of His Majesty's Government in laying it before the public.

ENGLAND.

Two days later from London.—By the arrival at this port of the British ship Cosmo, Capt. Gillespie, we have received the London Courier of the 25th of May. It contains no later advices from the continent than we received by the Lewis, from Havre.

We are gratified to learn that advices had been received in London from Constantinople, dated the 5th of May, confirming the accounts received by the French papers, that the Turkish government has acceded to the demand of Russia. On the 24th, the Earl of Aberdeen presented a petition, in the House of Lords, praying that some exertions should be made to save the Greeks from extermination.

The accounts from the Manufacturing Districts continue favorable.

Petitions are continued to be presented to Parliament, praying against negro slavery in the West Indies.

An experiment has been made with Mr. Brown's newly invented Pneumatic Engine for propelling a carriage against the ascent, of a sharp acclivity, which was successfully tried upon the steepest part of Shooter's Hill, where the ascent gains 13 1-2 inches in 12 feet. Mr. Brown's Engine is constructed upon a four horse carriage, ascending the Hill seven persons sat on the shafts.

A new iron roof, 55 feet in span and 150 in length, nearly completed over Mr. Mandesley's extensive premises at Lambeth, London, suddenly fell in, by which 2 or 3 persons were killed, and about twenty wounded. The weight of the roof is was about 50 tons.

The Spitalfields weavers have been rewarded with 5 guineas by the Society of Arts, for a specimen of velvet equally perfect on both sides.

The journeymen spring-knife cutlers of Sheffield, as appears from an advertisment, in the Iris, have for some of the past years, when trade was good, been accumulating funds to be used in providing for those of their own profession upon whom the want of employment might bear heardest in depressed times like the present. This is an example which cannot enough be pressed upon other manufacturers for imitation. By the payment of weekly subscription their committee came to be in possession of a considerable sum; and, from October last, when commercial embarrasments first began to be felt, till the beginning of the present month, upwards of £1,000 has been paid for the relief of members out of work. At first 6s. a week was allowed for a man, 2s. for a woman, and 1s. 6s. for each child; but, since the pressue has been so heavy, 6s. only has been allowed for a man, and the scale of the women and children as before. If we take the allowance at 6s. which is much above the average, we shall find that more then 3,000 persons have been, by means of these funds, kept from being a burden to the Parish for a space of seven months.

LIVERPOOL, May 24.

Business generally has improved, and for many of the principal articles of product, the demand has become much more regular and extensive, with every prospect of a continuance.

Pot ashes have declined considerable; sales have been made of Canada at 22s. and a few at 22s. 6d. Canada Pearls have been inquired for and a few have been sold at 25s. an advance of 1Rs. per cwt. States Pearls are inquired for by export buyers, but holders are not willing to accept present prices. Sales have been made in States' Pots at 25s. per cwt.

A good deal of business has been done in Wheat bonded previous to the 2d inst. as free, under the acts now passing, at 6s. a 6s. 6d. per 70 lbs.: but for parcels now landed 4s. 6d. a 5s. is asked. The price of Flour is nominal.

[This Gazette notifies that Earl Pembroke was re-sworn Governor of the Island of Guernsey and the Island thereunto belonging. The Earl of Abington is appointed to be Lord Lieutenant of the County of Berks, and took the oaths appointed to be taken thereupon, instead of the oaths of allegiance and supremacy. Also contains an order in Council revoking a former order of the 10th March 1824, for charging all French vessels which should enter any of the ports of the United Kingdom a duty of three shillings and sixpence per ton. The revocation is stated to be in consequence of a Convention of Commerce between His Majesty and the King of France, signed at London on the 26th of January last, by which it is stipulated that British vessels shall not be subject to any higher duties in any of the ports of France than French vessels. The exportation of arms or ammunition to any part of the coast of Africa, except within the Straits of Gibralter, is prohibited for six months longer. The Rev. Doctor Frederick William Blomberg is appointed Chaplain in Ordinary to the King, in the room of the Reverend Doctor Charles Richard Sumner, promoted.]

[This Gazette also contains an order in Council continuing the order prohibiting the exportation of powder or saltpetre, or any arms or ammunition to the Coast of Africa within the Straits of Gibraltar, for six months longer, commencing the 3d instant.]

An instance of the happy effects resulting from Mr. Hume's interference in the affairs of the Nation.—It will, we doubt not, be remembered that some time ago the honorable and calculating Member made a prodigious stir about the fees usually paid to our Foreign Consuls; and which, in fact, constituted the source from which the emoluments were principally derived. This appeared to every body except Mr. Hume a very suitable mode of remunerating these functionaries; it afforded to each of them a reward proportioned to the services required of him; they were paid by the Merchants and Travellers for whom their services were performed. Now it seemed to most people extremely proper that the remuneration of the Consuls should be measured by the extent of their labours; and should come out of the pockets of those who employed them. The Hon. Member for Montrose discovered that on this point all the world were mistaken; he harrangued for three quarters of an hour on the impolicy of Consular fees; and prevailed upon Parliament, in a moment of most unaccountable ocstitancy, to consent to their abolition, and to substitute in lieu of them payments out of the English Treasury, amounting to the sum of £61,000 per annum. Here we have a very pretty specimen of what our beloved countrymen may expect from Mr. Hume's blundering attempts to regulate what he does not understand. He mars every thing which he attempts to mend. The real effect of his interference in this business has been to take £61,000 per annum out of the pockets of the people of this country for the relief of foreigners. While the merchants at the different foreign ports paid the Consuls by fees for the work done on their account, the amount so paid went to enhance the price of the goods sold in the foreign market. The Consular charges thus fell—not ultimately on merchants themselves—but upon the foreign purchasers of the goods on which they were levied. To Mr. Hume belongs the merit of having overturned what we still consider an equitable and convenient arrangement; he is entitled to the praise of having saddled our Exchequer with the payment of £61,000 for the sole advantage of the inhabitants of foreign countries. We trust that his trumpeters at the approaching election will not forget this essential service, when they enumerate his claims on the gratitude of the public.—Lon. pa.

CANADA.—The London Times of the 3d May, in an article on the money market and stock, says:

Some of the transactions in the shares of the Canada Company are placed in a very peculiar situation, by the delay which has occurred in the completion of their charter. Until that is the case no transfers can be legally effected; but purchases and sales to an immense extent have been made contingent on that event, most of which are of several months standing; in which no settlement can take place, and no money be either received or paid. The fluctuation in their value during this period have been considerable, and the jobbers of the market have made themselves responsible, or have incurred an implied responsibility, for the taking or delivery of all these transactions in which they have been concerned. The parties out of doors however, have become excessive impatient under the delay, and threaten to declare void all bargains they have made unless the transfer be completed. Others, both in the house and out of it, become diffidents, and resolved incapable of fulfilling any engagements, the liability of which, however, must rest somewhere, while the period of bringing them to account remains indefinitely postponed. In this state of things it has been under discussion to declare void all bargains in such shares, or to fix some time at which, if the charter is not completed, they shall become so.

GREEKS.

In the House of Commons on the 19th of May, Sir R. Inglis presented a petition numerously and respectably signed, from White Rounding, on behalf of the Greeks. He called the attention of the House to it, as, with one solitary exception; four years ago, the only expression of the public feeling in this cause, which had reached the House since the commencement of the Greek revolution. The petitioners did not pray that this country would interfere by going to war: nor did he advocate such an extremity. They asked, and he asked, that His Majesty's Government would interfere with the Turkish Government, by firm expostulation and remonstrance. Further he would not go, for he would not use a threat which he was not prepared to execute; and he felt the difficulty and delicacy of the duty which the circumstances of the Greek revolution imposed on his Majesty's government, bound, as England was by treaties, to respect the independence of Turkey. If any treaty, or any engagement could be more binding than another upon nations, or upon individuals, it was that between one which was powerful, and one which was weak, a christian and an infidel; it was, in these cases, that we were bound to manifest the superiority of our principles, and the generosity of our strength.—He therefore would not wish to threaten Turkey, or to interfere with her in any compulsory manner; but he trusted, that both with Turkey and every other power near the spot, his Majesty's government had used, and would continue to use, every means which might finally obtain for the Greeks, not merely protection and security, but he trusted, he might still say, revival and independence as a nation.

Mr. W. Smith envied his hon. friend the pleasure of presenting a petition so worthy of the spirit of Englishmen, and of the attention of the House.

Sir R. Wilson contended, that the conduct of France in the contest between the Greeks and Turks, was decidedly favourable to the latter.—By the foreign enlistment bill, British Officers were prevented from entering into the service of any foreign power, while in the present case, the French Officers, even on half-pay, were in the service of Ibrahim, whose army they had organized. He hoped his Majesty's Minister's would, before next session, take into consideration some means of arranging the Foreign enlistment bill—so that some discrimination might be made between the various officers who might be desirous of entering into Foreign service.

Mr. Hobhouse deprecated the discussion of the subject, which might cause the Right hon. Secretary opposite, to make any observations unfavourable to the objects of the petition.—It was true the Greeks had lately suffered a great blow in the fall of Missolonghi; but it is far from being a fatal one, for if they persevered, and even if they fortified themselves within the cavern of ——, they might defy all the efforts of Ibrahim, whose forces could not be drawn another long campaign to make the fortress. The conduct of the French government was disgraceful; for, under pretence of neutrality, it gave succour most effectually to the Turks. If he had supposed that the question would have been agitated, he could have brought down to the House, accounts of the French half-pay officers in the service of Ibrahim; of the Austrian ships, men of war, acting for him, and removing his money from Alexandria to the Ports of the Morea. He was far from thinking the situation of the Greeks as desperate, but desperate valour was now known from what had occurred in Missolonghi, and their cause would gain from the conviction of all Christians, that brave men, animated with the love of liberty, would perish, rather than again submit to the yoke of tyrants.

The petition was then ordered to be printed.

EAST INDIES.

From the London Gazette, May 13.

TERMINATION OF THE WAR WITH THE BURMESE.

A despatch, dated the 17th of January, 1826, has been this day received at the East India House, from the Secretary to the Government at Fort St. George, inclosing a copy of a despatch from Brigadier-General Willoughby Cotton, to that Government, of which the following is an extract:—

Patanagoh, January 1, 1826.—I have the honor to acquaint you, for the information of the Honorable the Governor in Council, that the pursuit of the scattered columns of the enemy was continued from Meaday to Patanagoh, by forced marches, by the Madras division, accompanied by the body guard and a troop of horse artilery, and the Commander of the Forces. On reaching Neaugla, five miles below this place, we ascertained the enemy had crossed their whole force to the right bank of the river, and that they occupied the position of Malloon, consisting of a series of strong fortified heights and a formidable stockade, with from 10 to 12,000 men. It was also ascertained, the King's brother-in-law, and most of the men of rank who had assisted at Zeabengash, were at Malloon; they despatched a woondoole on the 28th, with a flag of truce and a letter, stating it to be the wish of their Chiefs to put a period to hostilities, and that a Minister had arrived from Ava, with full powers to treat and ratify, and requesting a meeting for that purpose. Lieut. Colonel Tidy and Lieutenant Smith, of the navy, were accordingly despatched to arrange a conference to be held in a boat on the centre of the river, moored between Malloon and Patanagoh. Accordingly, the Commander of the Forces and the Second Commissioner, Mr. Robertson, attended by myself and most of the Brigadiers, met the two Burmese Commissioners, Kelien Menjee and the Kee Woonjee, on the 30th ult, and I am most happy to state, that the result of the conferences of that day and yesterday has been a satisfactory adjustment, as far as regards territory and money, between the British and Burmese nations. The ratification by the Commissioners of the Treaty takes place this day at two o'clock, and the terms of peace are as follows:—

"The four provinces of Arracan to be ceded in perpetuity to the Honorable Company.

"The provinces of Mergui, Tavoy and Zea to be ceded to the Honorable Company in perpetuity.

"The Burmese Government engage to pay the Honorable Company one score of rupees, by instalments, the periods for the payment of which, to be settled this day.

"The provinces or kingdoms of Assam, Cechar, Zeatung and Munipore, to be placed under Princes to be named by the British Government.

"Residents, with an escort of fifty men, to be at each Court; British ships to be admitted into Burmese ports to land their cargoes free of duty, not to unship their rudders or land their guns; Burmese ships to have the same privileges in British ports; no person to be molested for their opinions or conduct during the war hereafter; but I hope the Honorable the Government in Council will here permit me to express the unanimous grateful feeling of the Madras army for the considerate comforts the Madras Government have, upon every occasion, forwarded to their army here; comforts which have been the means of saving many valuable lives, and which will be ever most gratefully acknowledged by every officer and man.

It will, of course, take a long period to arrange the movement of the troops from hence to Rangoon, with the materials and stores.

The ratification of the treaty by the King of Ava, and the English prisoners now at Amarapoorah, are to arrive at Patanagoh in 15 days, (15th January) on the receipt of which we shall immediately retrograde to Prome. The route across the Arracan mountains present difficulties which will oblige the Bengal army to retire to Rangoon.

P. S. JAN. 3.—Owing to prolonged discussions, the treaty was not signed until this day, (January 3) at 4 P. M.

TURKEY AND RUSSIA.

Constantinople, May 5.—The Porte yesterday informed M. de Minciaky, and the Envoys of France, Austria, England and Prussia, of his reply to the demands of Russia.

The propositions presented by M. de Minciaky, at the conference on the 5th of April, rested on the following points, which His Majesty the Emperor of Russia had determined upon as the indispensable conditions for the complete re-establishment and consolidation of the amicable relations between Russia and the Porte:

1. The complete re-establishment of the same state of affairs as existed in Moldavia and Wallachia before the insurrection in 1821—principally as regards the number and organization of the provincial militia (beschlis).

2. The Liberation of the deputies of Servia, detained, since 1821 in the palace of the Grand Signior at Constantinople and satisfaction for the representations and demands of Servia.

3. The Envoy and Plenipotentiaries to be sent to the Russian frontiers there to enter into negociations with Russian Commissioners, upon the points which have been treated on from 1816 to 1821, and to conclude a definitive arrangement.

The Reis-Effendi yesterday sent for the interpreter of the Russian Legation, and informed him, in presence of the Kiayabey, (Minister of the Interior) that the Porte acceeded very willingly, and without the least restriction, to the demands of Russia; and that an answer in writing would be sent to M. de Minciaky, after the feast of Bairam, (the 9th of May.)

Yesterday evening, the Deputies of Servia repaired to the Palace. Couriers set out at the same time, carrying instructions to the Princes of Moldavia and Wallachia to re-establish, without loss of time, the beschlis, who were still in the principalities, on the same footing as before the insurrection.

The Foreign Legations have also been informed that the Sultan had named as Plenipotentiaries the ci-devant Beglikdge (Director of the Chancery of the Divan), Hadi-Effendi, and Ibrahim Effendi, Members of the Ulemas, with the rank of Mollah of Scutari; and given them orders to enter into negociation with the Russian Plenipotentiaries, at such places as may be designated by the Court of Russia.

The Russian Charge d'Affaires has signified his satisfaction as well to the tenor of the resolution as to the form in which the first communication was made. He immediately despatched a courier to St. Petersburgh.

UNITED STATES.

From the Albany Daily Adevrtiser.

MOHAWK AND HUDSON RAIL ROAD.—That the public here have confidence in the utility of this project, may be inferred from the fact, that a fill proportion of the Promo to pass the Canal; but unfortunately, when about midway, she grounded; and endeavouring to get off, swung round into a position, which rendered it impossible for any of the other vessels to pass her; a circumstance much to be regretted, as a number of Gentlemen from York and Niagara and about thirty American Gentlemen, had come up in the Steam Boat for the purpose of witnessing the ceremonies, and partaking of the festivities of the day, which they were now prevented from doing.

After this accident a six oared Barge belonging to Mr. Strowbridge, the Canal Contractor, was fitted up, the Union Jack was hoisted; and His Excellency and Suite embarked in it, passed through the Canal, and proceeded across Burlington Bay to Sheldons Wharf; followed by the Canal Commissioners in their boats.

The Guard of Honour, having the Regimental Colors, borne by Ensign's McKay and Robertson, and accompanied by the Band of the 70th Regt. the whole under the orders of Captain Crooks, were stationed on the wharf, and on the landing of His Excellency, received him in a handsome style; the Company presented arms, and the Band playing the National Air. After this His Excellency and Staff, proceeded by an escort in waiting, consisting of Capt. Robertson, Lieut. Coulson, Qr. Mr. Mulhollan, and Surgeon Bell, of the 2nd Gore; and followed by the Guard of Honour, proceeded to Burlington Heights; where the Militia, under arms, had been some time waiting His Excellency's arrival. The Brigade, consisting of the 1st Regt. on the right, the 2nd. on the left, and the 3rd in the centre, (the attendance of the 4th Regt. having been dispensed with in consequence of the great distance of the mens' residence from Burlington) had taken up its alignement in front of the Bay; and formed together, a very respectable and numerous body of men.

In addition to the Militia, an assemblage, scarcely less numerous, certainly more gay, and far more interesting; seeing that it numbered in its ranks all the "beauty and fashion" of the Gore District, were seen promenading in front of the Brigade, and watching with an interest, no less intense, the arrival of His Excellency. It was about half past two o'clock when "the Governor" was announced; when the order for the General Salute was instantly given and promptly executed; the Band, which had now taken its position in front of the Centre of the 1st Gore, playing God save the King. His Excellency passed down the front of the line uncovered, followed by his Staff, and returning again to the right, dismissed the Guard of Honor, and immediately proceeded to the Dinning apartments at the Northern point of the Heights. His Excellency was evidently highly gratified at the appearance of the men, and was frequently heard to remark that, they were "the finest body of un-picked men, he had ever seen."

After the dismissal of the men, which took place immediately upon the departure of the General; the Militia Officers, accompanied by a great number of the Gentlemen of the District, waited upon His Excellency with a congratulatory address.*

[The Canal Commissioners also presented an Address to His Excellency.]

After the presentation of the Addresses, several Gentlemen, among whom were Wm. Crooks, Esq. of Grimsby, Captains Matthew Crooks and George Gurnett, Lieutenants Finlay, Norman, and Burwell, of the 1st Gore, had the honour of being introduced to His Excellency by Colonel Crooks.

About 4 o'clock, dinner was announced, and about an hundred persons, including the Lieutenant Governor and Suite, Captain Boyd, and one or two other Gentlemen of the 70th, the Militia Officers, and a number of the Gentlemen of the Country; sat down to an excellent repast. Colonel Simons presided and Colonel Crooks officiated as Vice President. His Excellency took his seat on the Presidents right and Col. Coffin on the left, and the Band was placed in an area, without the apartment.

After the removal of the Cloth, the President gave "The King; God bless him," which was drank with four times four, the Band playing 'God save the King.' After which the National Anthem was sung, the whole Company standing and joining in the chorus.

"The Duke of York and the Army" was then drank, the Band playing the 'Duke of York's March.'

"The Duke of Clarence and the Navy" followed, Tune, 'Rule Britannia' and a Song—Hearts of Oak, by Lieut. Coulson.

His Excellency next proposed as a toast, "Prosperity to the Gore District and its Gallant Militia" which was drank with three times three; and immediately afterwards, accompanied by the Officers of his Staff, His Excellency withdrew on his return to Grimsby, at which place, it was understood, he would continue during the Sunday and return to Stamford Cottage on Monday.

After the Lieutenant Governor's departure, the President gave "Our distinguished Guest, His Excellency Sir Peregrine Maitland" which was followed by a hearty three times three, the Band playing the 'British Grenadiers.'

The following Toasts were subsequently given from the Chair.

"The Burlington Canal" may its advantages exceed the highest expectations at its most sanguine supporters, Tune; 'the Meeting of the Waters.'

"The Projectors and Commissioners of the Burlington Bay Canal." Upon this Toast being drank Colonel Crooks, spoke to the following purport:—"The Burlington Bay Canal Commissioners through me, return you their sincere thanks, for the notice you have been pleased to take of their humble endeavours to improve the Communications of this fine District. Your approbation, if a stimulous had been wanting, could not have failed to produce that effect." "They beg leave to offer as a Toast, 'Prosperity to the District of Gore.'"

"The Governor General" was next given, Tune, 'Dalhousies March.'

"Lady Sarah and the Canadian Fair" Tune, 'Lord Lennax March.'

"His Majesty's Ministers, may they long continue, to direct the Councils of the truly Great Nation," Tune, 'Hearts of Oak.'

Several other Toasts were given, and a variety of National and Military Airs performed by the Band, during the remainder of the evening, until near 12 o'clock, when the Company dispersed; and thus terminated one of the pleasantest days, that has ever been spent in the Gore District.

The occurrences of such a day as this, without magnifying their real importance; cannot but present, to the patriotic mind, many a theme for grateful reflection; and to the lover of Natures beauties, a rich repast, such as could be rarely transcended. The delightfully varied scenery which at all times presents itself in the neighbourhood of Burlington Heights, can never be viewed with indifference, by the most unpoetic imagination: But when taken in connexion with the scenes of busy life which were enacted upon this occasion; becom truly animating; when nature exhibited herself in her gayest attire; and every living thing, appeared in Holiday humour.
