MISSION STATEMENT

We advance the safety of Ontario's diverse communities by setting evidence-based standards for police training, education and assessment of learning.

VISION STATEMENT

The police training provider of choice

CORE VALUES – CODE OF HONOUR

Integrity

Integrity guides people to exemplify high ethical and moral behaviour

SUPPORTING VALUES

Accountability

We are committed to responsibly managing the public resources entrusted to us through the practice of risk-management and acknowledge accountability for our stewardship.

1. We are responsible for our actions and are accountable for all we do.
2. We reduce our carbon footprint and use "green technology" to deliver training and education wherever possible.
3. We mitigate risk to our stakeholders, to ensure the safety of all.

Diversity

We value a diverse, respectful and inclusive workplace.

1. We value our similarities and differences, recognizing there is strength in all.
2. We act in accordance with principles of honour, policies and law.
3. People are treated with respect and consideration.

Empowerment

We value our staff as our most important resource.

1. We encourage the contributions of all in a climate of openness, trust, mutual respect, and shared decision-making.
2. We commit the necessary resources to staff training that is timely, specific to the needs and relevant to the job requirements.
3. We employ effective and efficient human resource management to support our employees to become their best.

Professionalism

We are committed to upholding the highest standards of professional integrity.

1. We live and practice our code of honour – Integrity, Knowledge and Courage.
2. We embrace self-improvement to enhance our knowledge, skills and abilities
3. We are proud members of the Ontario Public Service and value ourselves as a centre of excellence.

Knowledge

Knowledge must be a life-long quest to better serve our diverse communities. Sharing knowledge results in confident decisions and competent actions.

SUPPORTING VALUES

Innovation

We encourage innovation in the delivery of training and education courses and programs, supported by high quality applied research.

1. We pledge the validity, reliability and defensibility of our courses.
2. Our courses will deliver the most current content available in compliance with ministry regulations and best practice models.
3. We use a blended-learning approach to provide an innovative learning environment for our stakeholders.

Partnership

We value our stakeholders and seek out new partners to achieve our mission through strategic interaction and collaboration.

1. We monitor issues and trends in policing and changes in law to provide best practice models for our stakeholders.
2. We model excellence in policing to our stakeholders through successful strategic and business planning execution.
3. We are proactive in dealing with issues that may affect our positive relationship with our stakeholders.

Courage

Courage is the inner strength that enables a person to do what is right and commit themselves to a higher standard of personal conduct.

SUPPORTING VALUES

Communication

We commit to open and honest communication with our stakeholders.

1. Communication with our stakeholders will be direct, sincere and respectful.
2. Communication with our stakeholders will be conducted in a timely fashion.
3. Communication technology will be continuously reviewed for improvements that will assist us to meet stakeholder needs.

Leadership

We demonstrate the dignity of our profession by conducting ourselves honourably while assuring the worth of others.

1. We are loyal and faithful to our mission.
2. We demonstrate our commitment to our stakeholders, through honesty, trust and respect.
3. We are devoted to justice incorporating ethical and moral behaviour.

MESSAGE FROM THE A/DIRECTOR

It is my pleasure to introduce the 2011 course offerings for the Ontario Police College.

Staff and management at the Ontario Police College have worked together with our policing partners to identify the most up-to-date police training courses available.

The Ontario Police College is in a period of transformation. We are proudly moving ahead with a new Mission, Vision and Values statements and we continue work on a three year strategic plan which will guide us into the future. The college is moving forward with a new senior management structure, including a Deputy Director of Transformation and Distance Learning and a Deputy Director of Administration. We are also in the process of developing a new e-learning unit for the organization.

We are excited about the future, and we welcome your input as we position the college to meet your training needs.

Bill Stephens,
A/Director

GENERAL INFORMATION

TRAINING VOLUME

In the year 2010 the College anticipates we will have trained over 9,680 senior students and 820 police recruits. Since the college opened in 1962, over 40,000 recruits have been training at OPC.

STAFFING

The College employs 170 full and part-time employees, including support staff and instructors. The 49 permanent instructors are supplemented by police officers from various police services, usually contracted for a two-year period. Currently, there are 43 seconded and contract instructors. Please consult the organizational chart to see specific areas of responsibility

HISTORY

The idea of creating a central police college in Ontario was conceived by the members of the Ontario Association of Chiefs of Police in the early 1950s. In 1957, the forerunner group of the OACP, the Chief Constables' Association, agreed on a strategy to advance the formation of a compulsory police training institution for the Province. In January of 1959, the Attorney General appointed an advisory committee on police training and on July 12, 1962 announced the formal establishment of the College. Its first classes were held on January 7, 1963 in the temporary wartime training quarters of an abandoned RCAF base near Aylmer, Ontario. In 1976, the College expanded to its present facilities.

CLIENTS

Our primary clients are police and civilian members of all police services in the Province of Ontario, including municipal, regional, First Nations services and the Ontario Provincial Police. Additional clients include government personnel from a variety of provincial ministries and other law enforcement agencies. As training space is available, other domestic and international students are also accepted for training

HOLIDAYS

The College will be closed for statutory holidays as listed in the table. (Please note some dates are in lieu of, as the college may not be able to close on the actual date)

SERVICES AND FACILITIES

ACCOMMODATION

The College provides 549 individual student rooms, 12 apartments and 24 suites for seconded instructors.

AUDIO-VISUAL SERVICES

Responsibility for the College's telephone system, maintenance of computerized/ electronic controls at the Firing Ranges, and the in-house info channel rests with the audio-visual staff. In addition to on-going maintenance of the College's audio-visual equipment, this section ensures the availability and quality of various electronic teaching aids, produces and edits multimedia for training purposes using state-of-the-art non-linear editing technology. The A/V unit houses over 3000 police training videos, and DVD's, which are available to Police Services across the Province of Ontario

CLASSROOMS

Thirty regular classrooms, supplemented by three portable classrooms, are available for academic instruction.

Six classrooms are dedicated to computer-based training:

- The communications classroom is equipped for recruit and specialist training in the use of Canadian Police Information Centre (CPIC) and emergency telecommunications equipment and procedures.
- The Forensic Identification Unit has a dedicated computer-equipped state of the art classroom.
- Two classrooms are equipped for specialized training in the Criminal Investigations field including justice-networked computers for the delivery of Major Case Management training.
- The library has 26 computers linked to the Internet to allow students to learn and stay in touch with family.
- There is a renovated basic computer classroom used for all other training.
- New in the Fall 2010, is a web-based training classroom capable of accommodating 24 students. In partnership with the OPP, five sites have been designated across Ontario.

A number of other classrooms are devoted to proficiency in areas such as defensive tactics, firearms and police vehicle operations. A new and growing dynamic simulation building permits more realistic training for day-to-day situations an officer will face.

The Ontario Police College has two auditoriums, a 350-seat auditorium and a 125-seat auditorium, to provide space for larger groups, and a drill hall that is used for drill practice and March Past and Review ceremonies.

FOOD SERVICES

In 2010, the Food Services staff will prepare and serve over 360,000 meals. Meals are prepared on a four-week menu rotation with a Nutrition consultant. It is based on the Canada Food Guide and a number of special dietary needs. In one year we will serve approximately 13,000 litres of fruit juice, 40,000 litres of milk, 270,000 eggs, 88,000 chicken breasts and other protein needs, over 4,000 kg of pasta. Mennill Hall, the student dining room, can seat 500 people at one time. We have two full salad bars, full cereal and juice bars and fresh fruit to help serve student needs.

LIBRARY

The primary purpose of the library is to support the training and research needs of staff and students at the college and the sharing of information resources through inter-library loans with the police community. The library collection consists of approximately 13,800 volumes of books, law reports, government documents, over 200 journal titles, and on-line access to legal databases. Users have on-site access to the Online Public Access Catalog, which contains a complete book collection, selected journal articles and audio-visual materials. Twenty-six public Internet workstations are also available for use in the library. Library services and collections are available to use and access by all members of the police forces within Ontario.

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY SERVICES

Information Technology Services is responsible for much of the college's information technology infrastructure including network and internet connections, 3 workgroup servers and 175 workstations, database analysis and design, helpdesk and information services, and custom software development. This keeps the college at the leading edge of innovation in its core activities of instructing, learning and research. Wireless technology is currently available in various areas of the college.

HEALTH CENTRE

The Health Centre at the Ontario Police College provides exemplary patient care and fosters excellence in health care delivery. Health teaching to the basic recruits, senior course students and the staff is a priority as preventative medicine is the key to a healthy lifestyle. With that mission statement in mind, the nurses are able to administer immunization requirements. Some police services require several different vaccines for employment. The registered nurses assist students in the management of their non-occupational/ occupational illnesses and injuries. Venipunctures for blood work that are ordered by family doctors or by the physician that oversees the Health Centre, can be performed Monday through Friday. A high degree of confidentiality is always maintained. Last year, the Health Centre had over 8,600 visits.

PHYSICAL FITNESS

This unit provides officers with the physical training required to enable safe completion of the physical aspects of the job. In addition to this job specific focus, the unit organizes various programs that promote general health, fitness and wellness. Physical training facilities include a gymnasium, a 23 metre indoor swimming pool, weight training and stationary cardiovascular areas, locker and shower rooms. Outdoors facilities include: baseball diamond, a running track, tennis courts, soccer field, volleyball, and badminton courts.

POLICE VEHICLE OPERATIONS

This unit provides officers with police driver training, including instruction in safe vehicle operation, suspect apprehension pursuit training, emergency response, collision avoidance and stopping violators on public roadways. PVO has a fleet of more than 50 training vehicles, which are maintained by three full-time mechanics. Approximately 3 km of track facilities include, flooding capabilities for skid control, ABS training and a controlled traffic light intersection.

PRINTING SERVICES

A staff of three produces recruit and senior course material, promotional study guides, examinations, office forms and numerous other documents. In 2010 the print shop will produce over 6 million images, most of the material in book form, totaling over 140,000 volumes

PROMOTIONAL EXAMINATIONS

Ontario Police College Promotional Examinations are offered at three levels (Constable to Sergeant, Sergeant to Staff Sergeant, and Staff Sergeant to Inspector) to compliment police services' internal promotional processes. The written examinations (all multiple choice) are designed to assess a candidate's knowledge in the areas of Community Policing, Supervision and Management, Provincial and Federal Law.

The 2011 examinations will be held on Sunday, March 27, 2011 at various locations across the province. Participation is restricted to Ontario police officers. For further information, check with your police service contact person or visit the OPC website at www.opconline.ca (select Resources/Promotional Exams/2011).

RESEARCH AND EVALUATION UNIT

The Research and Evaluation Unit provides research and evaluation support to the College and the police community in Ontario in a number of areas including: curriculum design, program evaluation, policing practice, human resources, public policy, leadership and race relations. The services and information provided by the full-time social science researchers help OPC, municipal police services, and the Ontario Provincial Police address the broad spectrum of training as it relates to ensuring effective and efficient policing.

USE OF FORCE FACILITIES

The indoor use-of-force complex houses defensive tactics practice rooms, classrooms, four use-of-force judgment simulators, and a 16-booth firing range. There is also a 16-booth outdoor firing range.

TRAINING

Basic Constable Training

This program is designed to provide candidates with a sound knowledge of the laws and procedures that front-line officers are required to apply in the performance of their duties. Particular emphasis is placed on the core functions of police services as found in section 4(2) of the Ontario Police Services Act;

- Crime Prevention
- Law Enforcement
- Assistance to victims of crime
- Public order maintenance
- Emergency response

Essential knowledge and skills are developed through simulation exercises, classroom discussion and case studies.

TOPICS	PRACTICAL TRAINING	APPLIED POLICE LEARNING
▪ Community policing ▪ Defensive tactics ▪ Domestic violence ▪ Drill ▪ Ethics ▪ Federal statutes ▪ Firearms ▪ Physical fitness ▪ Police vehicle operations ▪ Provincial statutes ▪ Race Relations ▪ Tactical communications ▪ Use of force	Students not successfully completing any of the following subject areas, must be re-examined/tested at the request of the police service within 6 months unless special consideration is obtained from the Director. Defensive Tactics: Students must meet standard in a series of tests. Firearms: Students must meet standard in a series of tests. Tests will include judgment and proficiency. Police Vehicle Operations: Students must meet standard in a series of practical tests and must obtain a final mark of 75% on a written examination. Police Physical Fitness: Students must achieve a "meets standard" level rating on the Physical Readiness Evaluation for Police (PREP) test.	Students must complete a series of cumulative written tests and final examinations. A mark of 75% per subject is required. In order to rewrite, students cannot fail more than two academic subjects. Students are allowed one opportunity to rewrite each of the two failed subjects within six months at the request of the police service.
PRE-REQUISITES	MISCELLANEOUS NOTES	DRESS
Must be a member of a police force as defined in s. 2 of the Ontario Police Services Act (PSA); a police cadet as defined in section 51 of the PSA; or a First Nations Constable appointed under s. 54(1) of the PSA. The student must possess a valid "G" Class License. The Director may allocate positions to other agencies or ministries, where resources permit, and on terms acceptable to the Director. Note: S.44 (4) of the Ontario Police Services Act sets out exemptions to requirements for completion of the BCT program.	All components of the basic constable course are essential for the initial development of a police officer. Therefore, after 10 training days of non-participation, the training continuum is jeopardized to the extent that the College may return the student to the respective police service. Pre-course material contains a list of dress, textbook and equipment requirements, personal items and a general information sheet for each candidate.	Basic constable students are required to attend the college with a full uniform issue suitable for wearing in the classroom, indoor and outdoor range, police vehicle operations and on parade.

Coach Officer Training Course

A coach officer's job is to assist the newly graduated recruit apply the knowledge and skills acquired during basic constable training to the reality of policing the streets of the province. The primary function of coaching is to improve the performance of specific duties assigned to front line police officer trainees. The 3-day Ontario Police College Coach Officer Training course (COT) provides the necessary tools to achieve this goal.

Recognizing that new officers need to know information unique to their jurisdictions, the Ontario Police College encourages an outreach delivery format. College staff is available to assist police service trainers in adapting the program to meet their individual needs.

The Coach Officer Training Course is offered in three (3) formats:

OPC delivered course, 3 – days with the fourth day being an option for trainers.

The police service delivered program is sufficiently flexible to be delivered in modular format to meet the needs of individual services. Police services may apply to have their police service designated as a Coach site. (see protocol for procedures.) Host sites are encouraged to make spaces available to neighbouring police agencies. Criminal Investigation Progression Chart

Progressive Training

History

Duplication and redundancy in the criminal investigation modules delivered by Ontario Police College (OPC) has resulted in an examination of the delivery of many criminal investigation courses at the OPC.

The progressive training model provides senior police management a recommended road map for training and succession planning that begins with the General Investigation Training Course (GIT) within criminal investigation unit(s).

The OPC encourages police managers to consider this progressive training model for criminal investigators as they forecast training needs within criminal investigation units of their police services.

The model recognizes that GIT is the foundation for training in criminal investigation work. With GIT as a foundation, officers would be expected to steadily progress through the courses in the model as their experience provides.

Clandestine Laboratories Investigation Course

The Clandestine Laboratories Investigation Course is designed to meet the needs of an experienced drug officer who is actively conducting investigations into various types of clandestine labs. Successful completion will ensure the officer possesses the core competencies of investigation, entry, assessment processing, dismantling, decontamination and the hazards associated with different types of clandestine labs.

Officers participating on the course will be fit tested for an Air Purifying Respirator and Self Contained Breathing Apparatus face piece by a qualified instructor. This test is to ensure the officer has a proper seal of the face piece while performing practical exercises. The officers will participate in a number of exercises over several days to become familiar with proper donning procedures as well as to ensure overall confidence in the equipment.

FORENSIC IDENTIFICATION TRAINING

The Forensic Identification Training Unit of the Ontario Police College develops and delivers comprehensive forensic training programs including instruction in the use of the latest techniques and technologies. The Ontario Police College will provide opportunities for continuing education for the Forensic Specialist through courses of study as outlined in the calendar.

The Forensic Identification Unit will also support the Identification Community with Workshops on topics that are current in the Identification field. These workshops will be advertised via an All Chiefs Memo as they become available.

All Forensic Identification Officers in the Province of Ontario must meet the following requirements for the Ministry Accredited Standards as per Ontario Regulation 3/99 Adequacy and Effectiveness.

Successful completion of the Ontario Police College or Canadian Police College Forensic Identification Officer Course

- Successful completion of the Ontario Police College Field Training Log, with assistance from an experienced Forensic Identification Officer.
- Successful completion of a re-certification examination of core competencies every three years, commencing in 2008.

Those Forensic Identification Officers who complete their initial certification after 2008 are required to comply with re-certification requirements commencing in 2011 and every three years thereafter.

Two examination dates will be available to those who require re-certification.

- Sunday March 27th 2011 in conjunction with venues selected for the Provincial OPC promotional examination.
- Thursday September 22nd 2011, venues to be announced.

Basic Bloodstain Pattern Recognition Course

This course will assist crime scene investigators in recognizing the value of bloodstain evidence. All theories are proven through hands-on experimentation. Recognition of patterns will provide leads for further investigation (is this a suicide or a homicide?) Should an analyst not be available to attend a specific crime scene, graduates of this course will be able to properly record the scene for analysis and subsequent court presentation by a qualified analyst.

TOPICS	ASSESSMENT STANDARDS	MISCELLANEOUS NOTES
- History of bloodstain pattern analysis - Theory - Special photographic requirements - Measurements of bloodstains - Developing trace bloodstain evidence with chemicals - DNA requirements - Case reviews - How to visualize an impact pattern by using strings, mathematics and computers - Using bloodstain patterns to reconstruct crime scenes	There will be a practical and a written examination. CERTIFICATION A certificate and evaluation will be issued upon successful completion of course requirements. DRESS Uniform or court attire plus clothing suitable for practical exercises.	Bring clothing suitable for practical exercises. Lab coats will be provided. Although not required, students may find it an advantage to bring camera equipment to record experiments. Bloodstain Pattern Analyst Understudy Program

This training is designed to instruct students on an individual basis. It is a combination of distance education and on-site training at the OPC. The course of study for this program is approximately one year. Only those who expect to respond to several bloodletting scenes a year should enter the program. The goal is to enable the student to present himself/herself to the court in order to be qualified as an expert witness in bloodstain pattern analysis.

TOPICS	ASSESSMENT STANDARDS	CLASS SIZE
- The study of various books and articles. These studies will be outlined and monitored by the OPC; - Review of relevant case files, provided by the mentor; - Analysis of mock scenes complete with a written report; - Attend actual crime scenes with mentor; - Successfully complete an advanced bloodstain course, to be held at the OPC	Submit written case reports to the mentor concerning actual crime scenes attended Prior to the end of the program, successfully complete a written exam. Successful completion of an oral board examination, simulating a trial. CERTIFICATION A diploma will be issued upon successful completion of program requirements; successful completion of Basic Bloodstain Pattern Recognition Course, Math & Physics for Bloodstain Pattern Analysis course, and Advanced Bloodstain Pattern Analysis course.	Individual participation FEES/DURATION $2,145. Approximately one year. The duration of this program is dependant on case exposure and the understudy's progress. COURSE DATES/LOCATION The final exams will not be administered without consent of the understudy, the mentor and the program coordinator. Examination held at OPC.

Delivering Service Excellence in Policing

The manner in which all police service personnel communicate and interact with clients and each other influences the quality of the interaction and the level of job satisfaction experienced. Effective customer service differentiates between the satisfactory perception of a police service and complaints.

Delivering Service Excellence in Policing is designed to assist uniform and civilian personnel in further developing their interpersonal service competencies and to help meet the quality assurance needs of the police service. This is accomplished by case scenario reviews, practical exercises, classroom instruction, and group discussions of real-life policing examples. The course is targeted to front-line police personnel, uniform and civilian, regardless of rank/position. Participants will review past practices, assess their personal behaviours, determine effective service delivery strategies, and design a plan for effective implementation.

TOPICS	ASSESSMENT STANDARDS	DRESS

Influential Police Leadership:

Gaining Commitment and Getting Results

No police service will ever achieve significant success in crime prevention, law enforcement, assistance to victims of crime, public order maintenance and emergency response without outstanding leadership. Outstanding leadership will never result from copycat leadership. Outstanding leadership requires authentic connection and presence. Authentic connection and presence develop from the ability to be attentive to the environment and “resonant” with others rather than “dissonant” or reactive to perceived threats.

This program is designed to enhance police leaders’ ability to be powerfully present and authentically connected to others in ways that would allow the leader to invoke leadership in others.

Upon completion, participants will understand how to integrate who we are and how we live with what we do to enliven the desire for teamwork, magnify the capacity to achieve results and deepen satisfaction.

Managing Service Excellence in Policing

The police manager has a significant influence on customer service behaviours. The way police leaders manage and interact with front-line staff influences the quality and manner in which front-line personnel interact with clients. The role of the police manager is critical in fostering a climate of service excellence.

Managing Service Excellence in Policing is designed to help meet the quality assurance needs of police services by assisting police managers, both uniform and civilian, to cultivate the spirit of service excellence within their respective unit. Such behaviour will then be demonstrated by staff in their daily interactions. The training is comprised of police case scenarios, practical exercises, classroom instruction, and group discussions. Managing Service Excellence in Policing is highly recommended before engaging in broad customer service training at the front-line level.

RACE RELATIONS AND ADULT EDUCATION TRAINING

To support the college's mandate, the RRAE unit offers both training and supporting roles. The unit trains college instructors and police service trainers in the content, knowledge and skills necessary for the integration of anti-racism/anti-discrimination and adult learning principles and techniques into courses of study.

The unit delivers training that reflects current societal issues and trends and the needs of the Ontario police community, pertaining to all forms of harassment, discrimination, and adversity in the workplace and within the diverse communities they serve.

The unit ensures that train-the-trainer courses offered by the Ontario Police College emphasizes to the trainer the adult learning principles and techniques, the role of the trainer as a police leader, and ensures the integration of ethics in all aspects of training they deliver.

The unit also updates curriculum on a continuous basis to include current methods and trends in training, advises and consults with instructors, serves as an anti-racism/anti-discrimination advisory body and assists in monitoring quality of delivery.

CANADIAN POLICE KNOWLEDGE NETWORK

The Ontario Police College has collaborated with the Canadian Police Knowledge Network (CPKN) to offer select OPC courses in a blended learning format. Using this approach, the Advanced Patrol Training Course, the General Investigation Training Course, and Suspect Apprehension Pursuits now integrate online training (e-learning) with traditional classroom sessions to provide learners with a comprehensive learning experience. The OPC and CPKN have also co-developed stand-alone training courses on Diversity issues, CPIC Query Narrative and Coach Officer.

e-Learning is an innovative training tool that allows a learner to work at his or her own pace, according to his or her own schedule. Accessible from any Internet-connected computer, e-learning significantly streamlines the time required to complete training while providing consistent, up-to-date information. CPKN's courses also use a range of multimedia applications including interactive tutorials, animations, and graphics to create an engaging learning environment.

Created in 2004, CPKN is a not-for-profit organization that is governed and guided by members of Canada's policing sector. CPKN collaborates with police services and training institutions across the country to develop e-learning options for police and other sectors of the law enforcement community. During the development process, content for courses is provided by nationally recognized Subject Matter Experts from the police sector while CPKN provides technical expertise around development and delivery platforms. CPKN is also a portal for training courses from other third party providers such as the Canadian Emergency Management College and St. John Ambulance.

In addition to a wide range of blended and stand-alone training options, CPKN provides learners with more than thirty e-working tools to support day-to-day operational activities. CPKN's current courseware catalogue includes:

- Aboriginal and First nations Awareness
- Advanced Patrol Training Course - Part 1
- Basic Investigation Skills
- Canadian Firearms Registry Online: A Tool for Officer Safety
- Characteristics of an Armed Person
- Coach Officer Training
- CPIC Query/Narrative Online Course
- Collision Investigation Level II - Part 1
- Counterfeit Travel and Identity Documents
- Criminal Use of Diamonds
- Critical Incident Stress Management
- Domestic Violence Investigations
- Evidence –based, Risk-focused Domestic Violence Investigations
- Evidence Gathering from Financial Institutions
- Excited Delirium Syndrome
- Explosives Awareness
- Standard First Aid - Part 1 (St. John Ambulance)
- Forensic DNA Evidence
- General Investigation Training Course - Part 1
- Hate Awareness in the Workplace
- In-Car Camera Operator Training
- Introduction to Disclosure
- Introduction to Human Sources
- LGBT Issues
- Meth Lab: First Responder

OPC Guide to Coordination of Satellite and Police Service Delivered Courses

In order to better meet training needs of police services in Ontario, the OPC has elected to offer a number of courses using alternative delivery modes. Five (5) options are available for high demand courses:

- Traditional delivery at OPC
- Satellite Delivery
- Delivered by OPC staff at a location away from the OPC campus in Aylmer
- Partnership Delivery
- Delivered at a location away from the OPC campus
- OPC provides one (1) instructor to assist the Police Service facilitators
- Police Service Delivered
- OPC provides course material
- Police service staff facilitate instruction
- Canadian Police Knowledge Network
- Blended training combining e-learning and classroom training

The Ontario Police College may impose limits (minimum/maximum) on the number of students in any course. The remainder of this document outlines the responsibilities of OPC and the host agency for these four delivery modes.

HOW TO BECOME A SITE FOR THE DELIVERY OF OPC COURSES

If you intend to offer courses at your home service, or you wish access to resource materials The Chief of Police / Commissioner or designate should:

1. Review Ontario Police College Protocol;
2. Decide on delivery options as indicated above;
3. Indicate during the needs assessment review, or allocation process interest in hosting or at other times communicating a request to the Director of the Ontario Police College, indicating a desire to deliver a course or courses;
4. Identify at least one (1) person as an "in-house" coordinator for each course. The coordinator for partnership or police service delivered courses is not required to participate as a student on the course, but may be required to understudy one (1) course at either an on- or off-site facility;
5. Review the requirements of each off-site course as detailed in the course description.

For satellite courses the host agency is responsible for:

1. Ensuring adequate resources are provided, including:
 - Classroom(s) – equipped with writing boards
 - Access to a photocopying machine
 - One (1) VHS format video cassette player (for classroom viewing) – changes are forthcoming as we move to DVD format with a VHS option

 - One (1) flip chart for each group of five (5) students
 - One (1) overhead projector
 - One (1) data projector
 - Suitable space for practical exercises to be staged – i.e. classroom, hallways, offices, parking lot, etc
2. Providing the OPC Registrar's office with the following information:
 - Whether meals, coffee etc. are provided for students
 - Where to obtain accommodation if required
 - Directions to the site location / parking
 - Confirmation of dates and times of course
 - Contact information for local site coordinator
 - Advising of dress requirements (eg: uniform, court attire or other)
3. Providing the following:
 - Rental of classroom space

- Parking
- Course equipment
- Class photographs, if desired
- Other necessary equipment as required for specific courses
- Any costs related to the classroom / scenario locations

For partnership courses the host agency is responsible for:

1. Ensuring adequate resources are provided including:
 - Classroom(s) - equipped with writing boards
 - Access to a photocopying machine
 - One (1) VHS format video cassette player (for classroom viewing) – changes are forthcoming as we move to DVD format with a VHS option
 - One (1) monitor (for classroom viewing)
 - One (1) flip chart for each group of five (5) students
 - One (1) overhead projector
 - One (1) data projector
 - Suitable space for practical exercises to be staged - i.e. classroom, hallways, offices, parking lot, etc.
2. Providing the OPC Registrar's office with the following information:
 - Whether meals, coffee etc. are provided for students

- Where to obtain accommodation if required
- Directions to the site location / parking
- Confirmation of dates and times of course
- Contact information for local site coordinator
- Advising of dress requirements (eg: uniform, court attire or other)

3. Providing the following:

- Rental of classroom space
- Parking
- Course equipment
- Class photographs, if desired
- Other necessary equipment as required for specific courses
- Any costs related to the classroom / scenario locations

For police service delivered courses the host agency is responsible for:

1. Ensuring that lessons are delivered as designed.
 - Any deviation from the O.P.C. Facilitator Guides must be approved prior to the course
 - Electives are chosen by the host agency
2. Ensuring adherence to conditions and pre-requisites as set out in the current course calendar, allocating positions on courses.
3. Ensuring adequate resources are provided including:
 - Instructional staff including volunteers, guest lecturers
 - Classroom(s) – equipped with: writing boards, one (1) monitor (for classroom viewing), flip charts, overhead projector, VCR
 - Access to a photocopying machine
 - One (1) VHS format video cassette player (for classroom viewing) – changes are forthcoming as we move to DVD format with a VHS option
 - One (1) data projector
 - Duplication of lesson plans and study guides
 - Suitable space for practical exercises to be staged – i.e. classroom, hallways, offices, parking lot, etc.
 - Class photograph
 - Issuing name tags and desk cards, if so desired

Sending out joining instructions with the following information to the participants:

- Meals, accommodation, site directions, parking
- Dates and times of course
- Phone number and contact name to call for further direction or questions
- Dress code

4. The host agency coordinator is responsible for:

- Submitting a course syllabus to the OPC Coordinator for approval prior to each course being offered
- Forwarding the following documentation to the OPC Registrar, within two weeks of completion of the course:
 - Location of training and name of host agency and coordinator
 - Completed application forms
 - Class lists indicating attendance and ensuring correct spelling of names
 - Examinations including all answer sheets
 - Course syllabus with names of instructors
 - Indication of met standards / did not meet standard or pass / fail including confirmation that the course was delivered in accordance with OPC course training standards
